Ag secretary sets visit

Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman will be in Mitchell and Scurry counties next week with Congressman Charles Stenholm to view drought-ravaged farms and ranches.

Glickman, a farmer and former congressman from Wichita, Kan., is tentatively scheduled to visit the Woody Anderson Farm, off of Interstate 20, with Congressman Charles Stenholm about 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

Then the secretary will go to Snyder with a group of Mitchell County farmers and ranchers to attend a conference on the drought at Lorber Industries from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Secretary Glickman will be the guest of honor at a noon luncheon at the textile mill and then travel with Congressman Stenholm to Stephenville on the fact-finding tour.

He is scheduled to be in Lamesa Monday afternoon.

Anderson said Glickman, a former member of the House Agriculture Committee, has been told that the Agriculture Department needs ad hoc, or special case, authority to make direct appropriations to farmers and ranchers whose finances have been crippled by the drought.

Anderson was with Glickman during a tour of Oklahoma and the College Station area last week, and he said Monday that the secretary has been quick to understand the situation.

"He's an extremely smart, astute individual with a quick grasp for the issues that we presented to him," Anderson said.

Official says: no rationing

Colorado City's water supply has never been in doubt during this drought-stricken summer, and City Manager Steve Shutt said Tuesday that water rationing would still not be logical.

Shutt said the city uses about two million gallons of water daily while TU Electric Co.'s Morgan Creek Plant south of here needs 14 million a day and evaporation takes three million a day.

So even if the city cut back to 1.5 million a day and saved 30 million gallons in two months, that would only be put Lake Champion and Lake Colorado City about two days ahead of the demands of TU and evaporation losses, he said.

And in the meantime the city would lose a large amount of water revenues.

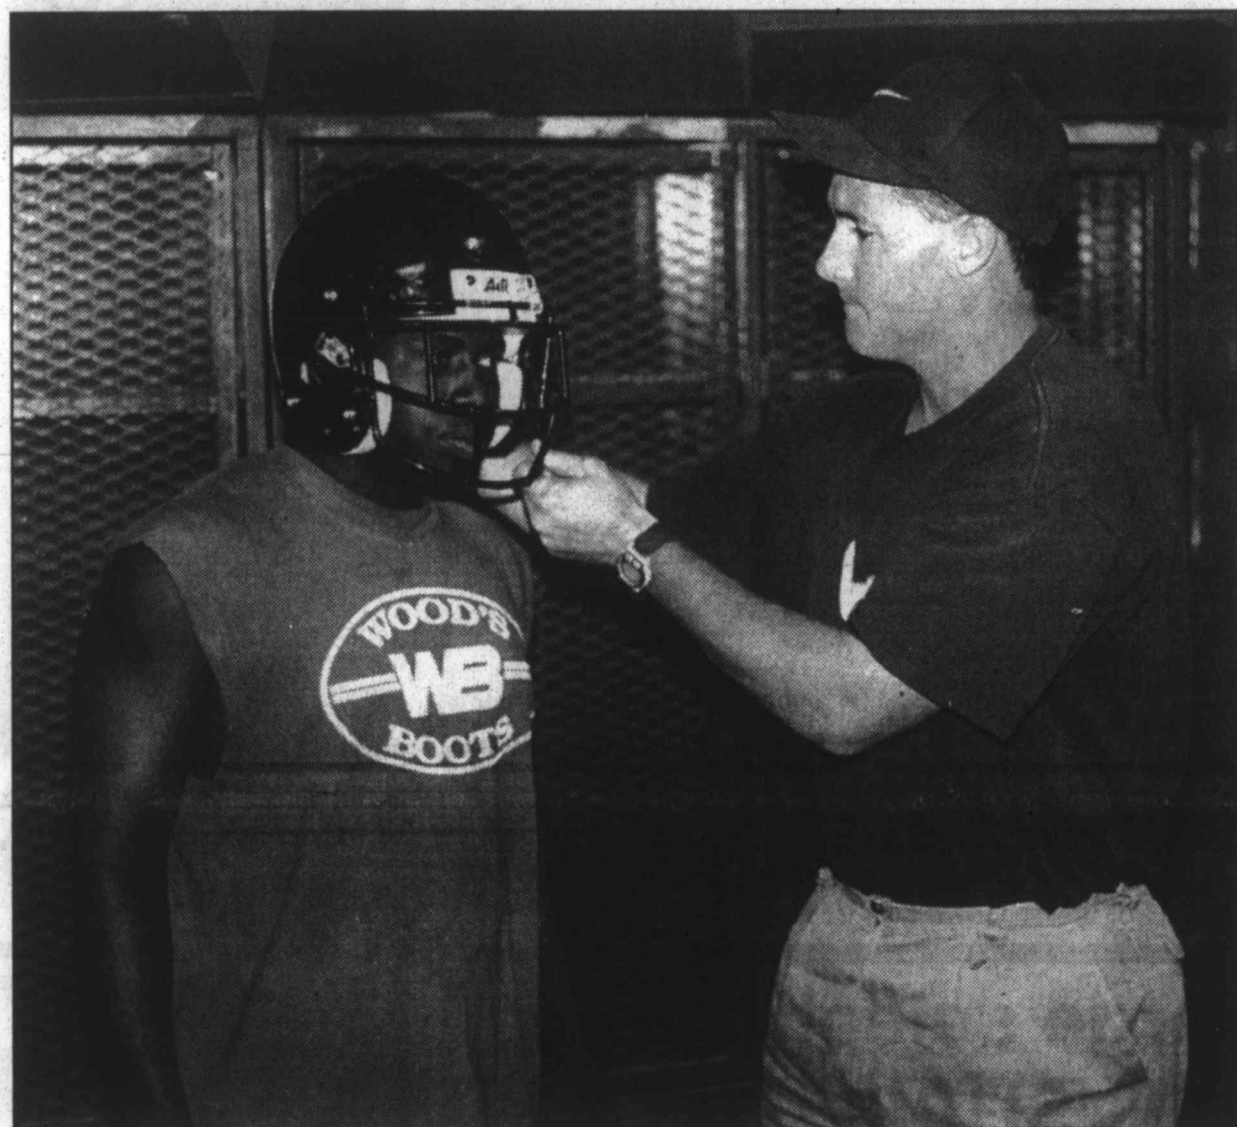

Shutt said the two lakes, although standing at 40 percent or less of their capacity, still "have billions" of gallons of water in them and they would last well into 1999 even if no rain fell by then.

The city manager said he is making progress with the city council's initiative to drill new water wells between here and Loraine.

He said some land is being surveyed for possible purchase and that he will apply for $2 million in state and federal grants to drill four or five new wells.

He said each new well should produce 200 gallons per minute for a total of a million gallons a day.

Schools primed to open

During the proverbial long, hot summer, Mitchell County schools have been remodeled, computerized, re-painted and thoroughly made ready for the start of the 1998-99 school year next week.

Football and volleyball seasons and cool fall weather are on the way, and even the students are probably ready to come back.

New teachers and coaches have been hired, administrators have been cheered up by the

The sales are listed by location.

Fair hangs on meeting

If you enjoy the Mitchell County Fair, there is a meeting you should attend Thursday night.

If you don't go to the 7 p.m. gathering at the Chamber of Commerce at 157 W. Second St. and state your support, there might not be a fair next year.

This year's fair Sept. 17-19 will be held regardless of the consensus of the Thursday night meeting.

Chamber spokeswoman Penny Wheeler said Monday that local support for the fair has dwindled in recent years, causing some organizers to doubt its future viability.

"We need to come up with ideas or suggestions to make the fair more fun for everyone," Ms. Wheeler said.

She said there has been little interest in exhibits of arts and crafts, fruits and vegetables, homemade jellies and jams and other merchandise in the Schools pass in TEA ratings

Every school in Mitchell County was rated "academically acceptable" in the annual statewide Texas Education Agency school ratings Monday.

In an academically acceptable school, at least 40 percent of the students passed every subject on the TAAS Test, six percent or less dropped out and there was a 94-percent daily attendance rate.

Colorado Supt. Russell Merket said Colorado Middle School, in particular, came close to the 80-percent passing mark at which a school is given a "recognized" rating, or next to the top "exemplary" rating.

Supt. Merket said he will make a detailed report on the ratings at CMS, Colorado High School and Kelley and Hutchinson elementary schools at a Monday night school board meeting.

"The criteria for being an acceptable school have gone up every year," he said. "We were in the 20's and 30's five years ago."

"We're pleased, but we're certainly not satisfied. The gains get harder now when you get closer to the top."

Supt. Kenneth Kendall of Loraine said students in the eastern Mitchell County town are a mix of those who easily make very high scores and those for whom academic achievement comes only with great effort.

"Some of the areas were strong, and there are some others that we're not satisfied with," Supt. Kendall said.

WALLACE UNIT staff members were putting their backs into the annual tug-of-war with Ware Unit staffers Saturday at Ruddick Park, where the annual TDCJ Day in the Park was being held. The Ware Unit won, dragging the first few Wallace Unit tuggers into Lone Wolf Creek.

LONE WOLF CREEK had much more water two weeks ago when Record photographer John Martinez found city parks employee Jesse Flores considering it from the Ruddick Park bridge.

MICKEY GREEN, left, and Eric Jackson forlornly viewed Lone Wolf Creek in the same location this week, noting how much the water had receded.

Man caught by officers; Arizona doesn't want him

Mitchell County law enforcement officers arrested a 33-year-old Tucson, Ariz., man on a motor vehicle theft charge about 1 p.m. Sunday on Interstate 20 near Loraine.

Deputy Sheriff Felix Pantoja noticed the 1995 Isuzu pickup truck in downtown Colorado City, he said, because the driver appeared to be confused.

After checking the license plate number and finding the truck to be reported stolen in Arizona, Deputy Pantoja stopped the driver at a roadside park east of Loraine.

He was backed up by Colorado City policeman Thomas Calzada and Loraine officer Edgar Halton.

The suspect, Terry H. Capes, was incarcerated in the county jail and then released Monday when Arizona officers told Sheriff Patrick Toombs that Capes would not be extradited.

Sheriff Toombs said a hitchhiker, 33-year-old Robbie J. Walker of St. Petersburg, Fla., was riding with Capes but was not involved in the vehicle theft.

"He didn't find out it was stolen till they were fixing to get stopped and the other guy said, 'Hey, this truck's stolen!'" the sheriff said.

Walker was taken to the sheriff's office and then released.

Sheriff Toombs said the pickup will be impounded here until the owner travels from Tucson to claim it.

Other recent police business has included a 10 p.m. Monday mugging of a 32-year-old Colorado City woman in the 200 block of East Ninth Street.

Peggy Arellano was reported to have been accosted from behind by a man who knocked her unconscious and fled with her purse and some cash.

Ms. Arellano was taken by ambulance to Mitchell County Hospital, where she was treated, observed for a few hours and released early Tuesday.

Police Investigator Charles Rice said she did not see the man and was unable to describe him.

Beef checkoff okayed by TSCRA

FORT WORTH -- In a resolution related to a controversy in West Central Texas earlier this year, the board of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association (TSCRA) has approved a resolution pertaining to low-level military flights.

Ranchers in Mitchell, Scurry, Fisher and other area counties last spring protested planned low-level flights over their land from Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene.

A meeting was held on the subject at Scurry County Coliseum in Snyder, and ranchers won a delay in the flights when U. S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford and other West Texas congressmen took up their cause.

In the TSCRA's summer meeting recently in Ruidoso, N. M., directors approved a resolution to protect the property rights of landowners affected by military aviation training missions.

Other business in the meeting included approval of each sale of beef cattle into a fund administered by the Cattlemen's Beef Board.

Feet still dragging on day care center

BETTY CASAREZ, left, director of New Discovery Child Care Center, and her assistant, Melissa Lara, will move the center into this new day care building that is being constructed in the 1100 block of East Ninth Street.

Work on the new New Discovery Child Care Center in the 1100 block of East Ninth Street has been moving at a toddler's crawl since the City of Colorado City approved funding to complete it on June 30.

Spokesmen for the operator, People for Progress Inc. (PPI) of Sweetwater, and contractor, D&D Construction Co. of Abilene, said it would be finished and open for business for the start of school in September.

The opening date has now been pushed ahead to "toward the end of the year."

"It's not a business-like situation," said Mayor Pro-tem Bob Reily, who has been working closely with the project. "They're dragging their feet."

"But we have dragged our feet some, too."

Reily referred to a long delay, this spring and summer while City Manager Steve Shutt sought financial help from Colorado Independent School District and Mitchell County.

Supt. Russell Merket told Shutt at a school board meeting that the district would have had to show a more direct educational benefit.

But county commissioners contributed $20,000 to go with $40,000 from city reserves and a $130,000 tax note the city council eventually okayed to fund the construction.

Shutt said a large new day care center is one of the city's most important future needs.

PPI Director Gladys Gerst of Sweetwater said last week that her group spent $63,000 to lay the foundation and erect the basic structure of the 10,000-square-foot building a year ago.

That's $253,000 for a building that she estimates will be worth $750,000 when finished, and that is the problem -- getting that much done for so little money.

"We're on a real tight budget," said Ms. Gerst. "Four or five people have been working there every day."

TEA

"They set a mark for you to hit, and by the time you work toward making that mark, they raise the bar another notch and you start trying to jump a little higher."

"I guess that's part of their plan."

Kendall said the TAAS Test-driven ratings run contrary to Loraine's purpose of developing citizens who can be successful in society.

"Any time you have test-driven standards, there is a small group of people dictating the standards," he said.

"We're trying to put kids out there who can perform in a real environment, adults who can contribute to our community."

"These kids have got to do more than take tests out there."

Westbrook Supt. Tommy Hancock and Principal Doc Rowell were out of the county Tuesday and were not available to comment.

They come in early in the morning and break off at 2, when it's hot, till 5."

She said the contract was not awarded to D&D on a competitive bid basis because the project was going to be done for the bargain rate of $25 per square foot.

"Donnie's doing other things," she said, referring to company head Donnie Ladner. "They had to start other projects. They had one in Big Spring."

"This is going to be a huge building."

The architect is PPI official Mondel Rogers, who said the usual cost of construction these days is $60 per square foot, more than twice what the new day care center is costing.

Rogers said the lack of visible progress is mainly attributable to the recent unavailability of inmate crews from the Wallace Unit prison to help.

"We can't do it for this price if we don't have the prisoners helping us," he said. "They've been busy with school projects."

Inmates helped lay the concrete foundation last summer.

Rogers said D&D should receive metal roofing in a week or two and the installation of that and inside sheetrock will bring the job along significantly.

The first thing workmen did after the city approved its tax note was to re-attach black tar paper that had blown off during the many months the project had lain idle.

About 130 children will be cared for in the center, which replaces the dilapidated New Directions Child Care Center at 1106 Watson St.

Rogers said it will probably end up being a 24-hour-a-day operation for the children of Texas Department of Criminal Justice employees and other night workers.

It will have two Head Start classrooms, a classroom for children who come there after school, separate classrooms for 4 and 5-year-olds and 2 and 3-year-olds, two classrooms for toddlers, a nursery for infants, an office area, five restrooms, a kitchen, a laundry room with washers and dryers and a recreation and dining room.

PPI has already bought $9,000 in lighting fixtures for the center and paid $10,000 for the metal roofing, Rogers said.

"We have to do it as economically as possible with no waste of time or labor," he said. "We're waiting mainly on the laborers."

"There has been some delay, but I think as quick as we get the extra labor, the work is going to move. But we have to have that free labor to do it for the price."

"This is going to be a big, nice building, as good as you'll find in Dallas or Houston or anywhere else. I think the people of Colorado City are going to be proud of it."

New Discovery Director Betty Casarez and her staff of 15 will move to the new center, and she plans to add two teachers, for toddlers and the nursery, and a full-time custodian.

The staff currently includes two cooks, four Head Start teachers and 10 other staff members.

With about 40 children, the Head Start program is the key to the operation because it provides most of the funding. The center is caring for 100 children now.

The basic daily fee of $8.50 will not be changed. Parents of Head Start children pay $4 to $40 per week.

Although PPI will run the center, the city will own it.

1997 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN MITCHELL COUNTY

THIS NOTICE CONCERNS 1998 PROPERTY TAX RATES FOR MITCHELL COUNTY. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's EFFECTIVE tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's ROLLBACK tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case, these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

SCHEDULE C: EXPECTED REVENUE FROM ADDITIONAL SALES TAX

(For counties and cities with additional 1/2 cent sales tax)

In calculating its effective and rollback tax rates, the unit estimated that it will receive $163,625 in additional sales and use tax revenues. The county has excluded any amount that is or will be distributed for economic development grants from this amount of expected sales tax revenue.

Shutt said the old wells should be re-drilled or cleaned and problems with iron and dissolved solids in the water corrected.

"I hope to have flowing water within 18 months," he said of the proposed new field.

"It could be as long as two years."

He said bonding agent Joe Smith of the First Southwest Co. in Abilene and Ken Martin of Abilene engineering firm Jacob & Martin are already involved.

"Even if the lakes fill up, that just gives us a short reprieve," Shutt said. "It doesn't solve the long-term problem."

summer's preparations and students are sporting a summer's growth along with sun-tans and new clothes.

Classes start on Wednesday, Aug. 12, in Loraine and Westbrook and Aug. 13 in Colorado City.

Football and volleyball workouts have already begun, as have band practices for the loud and colorful Friday night games.

"There is a lot of new paint over here," said Colorado High School Principal Buddy Compton.

"The inmates painted the foyer to the auditorium and painted a lot of classrooms," Compton said, referring to inmate crews from the Wallace Unit prison. "They put new stripes in the parking lot."

"They did a super job. They're really handy. They painted the fieldhouse and drew wolves back in the front."

Compton said a bid will probably be awarded this month for the projected $120,000 fieldhouse addition that the Colorado School Board has approved in Wolf Stadium.

"We're going to have a real good year," the principal said. "We're looking forward to everybody getting back and making this the Wolf Den again."

Hutchinson Elementary School Principal Beau Rees said the extensive remodeling that his 440 Cedar St. school has been undergoing will only be partially finished.

The third and fourth grade boys' and girls' restrooms will not be ready, so the rebuilt and retrofitted fifth grade restrooms will have to suffice for the time being, Rees said.

He said the new cafeteria floor should be ready, and Wardroup & Associates Construction Co. of Lubbock has completed the new handicapped-accessible front porch.

Teachers' lounge restrooms have been retiled at Hutchinson, and school maintenance men have remodeled the library with new carpeting and paint.

Wardroup is installing a new three-story elevator at Colorado Middle School and is not expected to be through until late in the first semester.

Inmates have also done extensive painting and cleaning at the 312 E. 12th St. school.

Kenneth Kendall, superintendent of Loraine schools, said the new $90,000 computer system that was installed there this summer has given the school a boost, as has the hiring of new football coach Jerry Miller.

"We've been painting and cleaning and polishing and getting ready for next week," Supt. Kendall said.

Along with Coach Miller, a noted Texas six-man football coach from Dell City, Loraine has hired vocational agriculture teacher Scott Brewer, formerly of Seagraves, and science teacher Ann Stroman, formerly of Sterling City.

Miller's wife Anna will be a teacher's aide in reading improvement classes.

Westbrook schools have also received a new computer system with a $99,000 grant from the state, and two new faculty members have been hired -- girls' head basketball coach and history teacher Mark Chauveaux and assistant girls' coach and elementary P. E. teacher Traci Slaughter.

House acts on drought

WASHINGTON -- Acting to relieve effects of the drought, the House of Representatives has passed the Emergency Farm Relief Act to accelerate payments from the 1999 Agricultural Market Transition Act (AMTA).

U. S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford said the bill "is a modest first step in recognizing the major problems facing our producers."

Under current law, producers who enter into an AMTA contract may choose to receive a payment once or twice a year.

"Contrary to some reports, this legislation does not give producers $5.5 billion in disaster assistance," Rep. Stenholm said.

"It merely allows producers to receive, three to 12 months earlier, the payments they were already expecting."

The congressman, who represents Mitchell County in the 17th District, said producers may get 50 percent of their total projected payment on Dec. 15 or Jan. 15 and then receive a final 50-percent payment in September.

"We are experiencing one of the worst droughts in decades, and many farmers and ranchers in Texas and other parts of the country are facing disastrous conditions," Stenholm said.

"This bill does not in any way begin to solve the real problems caused by low prices and drought. We in Congress are going to have to provide real relief to our producers as soon as possible."

If a producer who gets the maximum allowable AMTA amount chooses to take his payment immediately, he could receive three months' additional interest on 50 percent of his payment and twelve months' interest on 50 percent of it, Stenholm said.

"Advancing AMTA payments has been characterized by some as putting a band-aid on a bullet wound," he said.

"While this bill does not begin to address the severity of the current problems, it certainly cannot hurt."

"I am hoping it will cause some of my colleagues to begin to focus on the very real problems facing our producers."

away the secretary's discretionary authority for ad hoc disaster programs," the eastern Mitchell County farmer said.

"There is not anything on the books that allows the secretary to assist on an ad hoc basis other than some emergency loans."

Secretary Glickman met with the dean of the Texas A&M University School of Agriculture and an agricultural economics professor last week about the effects of the drought.

He also stopped with Stenholm in Decatur, in Wise County on the eastern end of Stenholm's 17th District, and southeastern Oklahoma.

Although emergency low-interest federal loans have approved for producers in Texas, with the whole state having been declared a disaster area, Anderson said more debt is not what most farmers and ranchers need.

"We don't need any more loans," he said. "We need some help."

Housing development markets more homes

The Hillcrest Addition housing development in the "Sands" area of northwestern Colorado City has three families living in the projected 72-home addition and 10 more whose mortgage applications are pending.

General Manager Dell Toelkes said Monday that the addition of two new mortgage companies to the development should speed up the application process.

Toelkes said McAfee Mortgage Co. in San Angelo and Texas Star Mortgage Co. in Austin will replace a Houston firm that had been moving too slowly.

"We have found two new mortgage companies who we think will help us get a quicker turnaround and better service," he said.

"If we're going to make promises to the public and our prospects that come in, we want to be able to back up what we tell these people. How do you explain to somebody in Houston, Texas, that we're in the middle of a drought?"

Toelkes said the two new families that have just moved into the development are with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, whose Wallace and Ware Units are close by just west of town.

The development was designed to help TDCJ employees find housing, along with other prospective buyers.

"The TDCJ has welcomed us with open arms," he said. "They have been extremely helpful to us to distribute literature, pamphlets and brochures."

Hillcrest offers three sizes of pre-manufactured homes -- a three-bedroom, two-bathroom home, a bigger three-bedroom, two-bath home and a four-bedroom, two-bath home for monthly payments averaging from over $500 per month to as little as $408 a month.

"It's time for us to get more families out there and let this community continue to grow," Toelkes said.

Loans full of hazards

What do professional athletes have to do with taking out a home equity loan?

It's a good question nowadays if you watch television and see Jim Palmer, Dan Marino, George Foreman, Terry Bradshaw, Dan Dierdorf and other current or retired star athletes encouraging you to take out such a loan.

Yes, you can use it for home improvements or college tuition, but what they don't say is that you can also lose it -- your home, that is.

And the main thing home equity loans are being used for is to pay off big credit card debts.

State Rep. Rob Junell of San Angelo was one of only 25 of the 150 members of the Texas House of Representatives in Austin to vote against putting the pertinent proposed constitutional amendment on the statewide ballot last year.

"I was worried about pitching people out on the street," Rep. Junell said.

"We'd never had it since we became a nation in 1836. We had always been a state that protected homes and families."

Junell said states that began to allow home equity loans in recent years "have had a record number of foreclosures" and 85 percent of such loans are to satisfy credit card debts.

"I hope it's not going to happen," he said. "We put a number of safeguards in the legislation as to how loans and foreclosures are made and what has to be in the paperwork to make sure people are protected."

"It would have been easier to vote for it, but I didn't believe in it."

Asked who primarily sought the change, Junell said, "The banks."

However, he said it was principally out-of-state banking corporations who wanted the law changed because the five biggest banking companies in the state are owned by non-Texas firms.

The amendment, Proposition 8, passed by 59.56 percent last November, 698,870 votes to 474,443. It rewrites Section 50 of Article 16 of the Texas Constitution.

All three Mitchell County banks, First Bank of West Texas in Lorraine and City National Bank and the First National Bank in Colorado City, are making home equity loans.

The bank officers say it is better to use a local bank than an out-of-state bank that you deal with on the telephone.

Most of the TV ads that have clogged the airwaves lately are paid for by out-of-state companies, said First National Bank President Mark Waldrip.

"You don't really know who you're dealing with, so you've got to be careful," Waldrip said.

"With a local bank, if you get down the road and have a problem, you can go in and work it out."

"It's a little harder to do over the phone."

Among restrictions that state legislators put into the amendment are that closing costs cannot exceed three percent of the loan amount and a loan cannot be for more than 80 percent of the amount of the first mortgage, minus what is still owed.

Using your equity, or the amount you have paid into your mortgage, to borrow money requires 12 calendar days before the deal may be signed and another three business days in which the borrower may back out -- usually about 20 days before the loan can go through.

Bobby Lemons, vice president of City National Bank, said he has been "making quite a few," mostly for credit card debts and home improvements.

A second mortgage on a home that has not been paid for requires the borrower to begin making two payments on the same property.

Bill Crockett, president of First Bank of West Texas in Lorraine, said he, too, has been making home equity loans.

"There are guidelines so that people know specifically what pitfalls are involved," Crockett said. "If it comes to foreclosure, it's more involved."

"It gives the customer pretty fair warning about what he's putting up as collateral. They vary in size. The requests we've had have been from the small to the large."

"People were lobbying for it for a number of years. It was always beaten down, but they finally got it through. It's going to be interesting to see in future years if we're pleased with it or not."

The amendment did open up billions of dollars in loan collateral in Texas, but legislators apparently were concerned about the possible downside because it runs 18 pages and is full of restrictions.

A loan may only be foreclosed on with a court order, and a borrower does not have to repay a loan earlier than was agreed on solely because his or her home's fair market value decreases or because he or she defaults on another loan that is not secured by the home.

A loan may be pre-paid without penalty or interest, no additional collateral may be required, and it may not be secured by agricultural homestead property unless such property is used mostly for milk production.

The loan must be voluntarily created with the consent of each owner of the property and the spouse of each owner.

During legislative debate, opponents argued that other home equity-lending states have observed lenders "engaging in high-pressure tactics to encourage homeowners to risk their homes for questionable purposes."

"Because elderly people are more likely to have paid off their homes or to have a greater amount of equity, these people are one of the largest markets for homestead mortgage loans," they said.

"Elderly people, however, are more susceptible to unscrupulous or uncaring lending practices. For this reason, it is likely that a large proportion of people who lose their homes will be elderly."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

In regard to your fine article on Terry McAdams, I would like to clear up a misconception on her former husband.

Jim is the assistant general manager of Spade Ranches, Inc. This includes Renderbrook Spade Ranch, Borden Spade Ranch and Wagon Creek Spade at Throckmorton and Seymour. Also it includes Chappell Spade Ranches in Tucumcari and Elida, N.M.

Jim has no connection with Ellwood Spade Ranch in Colorado City. In the late 40's the I.L. Ellwood family split off from the other ranches and has been operating as a separate entity since that time.

Ellwood Spade is currently owned by Sheila Ellwood Skaggs and Gale Ellwood Blundell. It is operated by Anne Ellwood and her two daughters.

Thanks for the opportunity to set the "Record" straight.

Sincerely,
Bob Northcutt

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) -- A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new roll-on lotion form. Arthur Itis, is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Long drought puts farmers on ropes

Heat-befuddled and staggering, Mitchell County's agricultural economy is on the ropes in its uneven contest with the Great Texas Drought of 1998.

The only things that have kept farmers and ranchers in the fight are crop insurance and herd liquidation sales.

City National Bank Vice President Bobby Lemons said the county's cotton crop is usually worth $11 million to $14 million, but this year it is probably going to produce $750,000 to $1 million.

Grain sorghum makes $200,000 to $300,000 most years, and it might not make anything this year, Lemons said.

Although a lot of grain sorghum has been planted and lies waiting for rain in fields where farmers gave up on cotton, the prospects are poor even if a deluge falls this week.

Lemons said the growing season is getting too short and midge eggs in the kernels would probably keep the grain crop from developing at this late date.

He said cattle prices have fallen from about 40 cents a pound to 30 and ranchers have liquidated much of their herds to reduce overhead.

A good rain would still have benefits, the banker said, because it would help grow grass, enable farmers to plant winter wheat and store sub-soil moisture for next year's cotton crop.

Oil prices are also down to $11 and $12 a barrel and trophy deer will probably be fewer this fall and winter, dampening the county's usually vibrant hunting industry.

"It used to be if one part of the economy was down, another would be up and it would smooth out the rough spots," Lemons said.

"Having them all hitting together doesn't help."

Mike Sweatt, county manager for the federal Farm Service Agency, said crop insurance benefits are about all that have kept Mitchell County farmers solvent this year.

FSA Farm Loan Manager Dennis Cumbie of Sweetwater was in Colorado City visiting Sweatt Friday, and he said the emergency farm disaster loans approved by President Clinton may not be much help.

Cumbie favors an ad hoc disaster program with direct payments to producers.

"It would help if Congress would appropriate money," he said. "There has been a lot of publicity on Texas and the drought."

"Maybe they're looking at it."

Cumbie said the 3.75-percent loans offered in the president's program may be made for one year's operating expenses or up to seven years to refinance capital.

But he said loans are not what most farmers and ranchers need and he does not expect many applications from the area he serves -- Mitchell, Nolan, Coke and Sterling counties.

Mitchell County Agent Vance Christie of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said 1998 so far "has been devastating to local producers."

"With 90 percent of the cotton acreage already zeroed out and most of the sorghum that was planted headed in the same direction, many are looking for ways to develop some sort of cash flow," Christie said.

"Hopefully with the pending hurricane season, we will soon find some relief."

He has found two positive elements in the crisis, however -- boll weevil populations have been retarded by the heat and cotton prices have improved.

The Texas Farm Bureau's Young Farmers and Ranchers' Program has scheduled a marketing meeting at 6 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 13, to discuss using Data Transmission Network (DTN) machines, look at current markets and review the Extension Service's risk management program.

A more in-depth look at risk management and the service's Farm Assist Program will be provided in a 7 a.m. Friday, Aug. 14, meeting at Collum's Restaurant at 989 S. Hwy. 208.

Christie said there will be a brief joint meeting of the Mitchell County Master Marketer's Club and Ag and Natural Resources Committee after the Friday meeting.

Cattlemen have received invitations to take part in a Wednesday, Sept. 23, beef cattle management seminar and sale at the Big Spring Livestock Auction Barn.

Sponsored by the Texas Beef Industry Council, the 1:30 p.m. sale will offer above-average prices for high quality cows and bulls.

Money allocated for weather relief

SWEETWATER -- People for Progress Inc. has received $127,000 from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Development to help citizens in four area counties pay utility bills.

The money will also be used to provide air conditioning and weatherize homes in Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry and Fisher counties.

Gladys Gerst, executive director of the community assistance agency, said the action is being taken "in response to the extreme heat wave."

"Last week, President Clinton released $32.7 million in federal emergency funds to Texas to help low-income people get some relief," Ms. Gerst said. "I can assure everyone that the people and families needing help in each county will get that help."

"On our own initiative, PPI has been collecting donated fans that we have been distributing to people who have had nothing to get them through these hot days."

"We are going to continue that program and still distribute the fans to those who cannot meet the guidelines for this federal money."

PPI Director of Energy Programs Olga Balderas said people should call the agency to set up an appointment at 800-592-7433.

A representative will be in Colorado City at 1325 West Point Ave., behind the Cable-Comm Co., at various times to review applicants' qualifications, Ms. Balderas said.

Meetings are also being scheduled in Snyder and Rotan.

Applicants must bring a copy of the Social Security cards of each member of their household, proof of income for all members, copies of the previous 12 months of utility bills and copies of previous income tax returns.

"I know people are suffering, and we will help as quickly as possible," Ms. Balderas said. "Households that meet the income guidelines and have elderly or handicapped people or children under age 6, or meet certain medical conditions, are eligible to receive an air conditioner that will cool one room."

Eligibility is determined by maximum annual incomes of $10,063 for one person, $13,563 for two, $17,063 for three, $20,563 for four, $24,063 for five, $27,563 for six, $31,063 for seven and $34,563 for eight.

Applicants may also come by the PPI office here at 301 W. Arkansas St.

Interviews will be conducted at the West Texas Utilities office at 107 E. Sammy Baugh St. in Rotan and the Snyder Park Club at 1212 37th St. in Snyder.

they received only one deficiency regarding some paperwork. Last year they received only one deficiency again, which was a need for one policy and procedure form. Last week once again we had another excellent inspection. Once again receiving no deficiencies. We are proud of the staff and once again thank them for their hard work.

First of four part series

Women and high blood pressure

By Mary McMullen-CEA-FCS
Part 1 of 4 Part Series

Many people think of high blood pressure or hypertension as a "stress disease" or the end result of an overworked, overfed and under exercised society. The fact is, doctors don't know what causes high blood pressure except in some rare cases. Over the next few weeks, I will share with you the facts that are known about "Women and High Blood Pressure".

Over 50 million Americans suffer from high blood pressure or hypertension - 25 million of these are American women. Only a small portion of these women are being treated. There are no reliable symptoms or clues that you have this disease, so many women go untreated and die from this "silent killer" behind many heart attack and stroke deaths. Here are some ideas to help detect and deal with the disease.

1. Know your blood pressure! Even if you don't have high blood pressure now it could be lurking in your future. Blood pressure is a simple, quick and painless test. A blood pressure cuff is placed on the arm and records two measurements in blood pressure. Systolic pressure, the top number is measured when your heart contracts or beats.

Diastolic pressure is the minimum pressure that occurs when the heart it relaxed between beats. A reading of less than 140/90 is considered normal and a reading of 140/90 or higher usually indicates a "high" or "problem" blood pressure. Have your blood pressure checked often!

2. Know your risks! Some of these risks are uncontrollable and some are controllable. This week we will look at uncontrollable risks:

Age - As a woman grows older, her chance of having high blood pressure increases. Although many women may have normal blood pressure most of their life the chance of getting high blood pressure greatly increases after menopause. The number one killers of American women ages 35 and older are heart attack, brain attack (stroke) and other diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

Race - Nobody knows why, but studies show that black women - even very young black women - are much more susceptible to high blood pressure than white women. Not only is the disease more common among black women, but it often tends to be more serious. In fact, more than one in every three black Americans over 18 is estimated to have high blood pressure.

Studies have also shown the 14% of Mexican American females have high blood pressure and that 62% of all Hispanic females lead a sedentary lifestyle that leads to hypertension. Hispanic women face a lower risk for heart attacks than white women, but a higher risk for stroke.

Heredity and family history - If your parents and other close relatives have had high blood pressure, there's a good chance that you have it or may develop it, too. And if you have it, it's quite possible that your children may also develop it. Like adults, children should have regular blood-pressure checks.

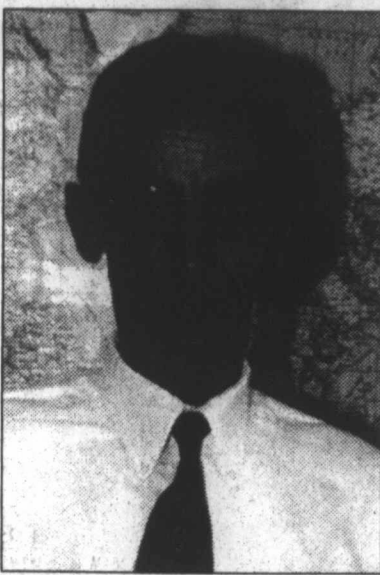

Diabetes - Often people with diabetes also have high blood pressure, which increases stroke risk even more. If you are diabetic, have regular check ups and work closely with your doctors to control these other risk factors.

Pregnancy - Physicians usually keep a close watch on blood pressure during pregnancy, because hypertension can develop rapidly in the last three months. It is dangerous to mother and baby if not treated. This kind of hypertension usually disappears after delivery, but if it doesn't, it should be controlled with careful, long-term treatment as recommended for all other hypertension.

For women who already have high blood pressure, pregnancy may make the condition more severe, but again, it may not. Careful treatment allows a normal pregnancy and a normal baby.

Next week we will cover risks you can control. Please note and take advantage of the opening reception for Cardio Care Conditioning at Mitchell County Hospital on Thurs., Aug. 6, 1998 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the HealthStyles Center. Free blood pressure checks are among the numerous Free Cardio-Vascular Risk Screens that will be offered.

Foy joins Kiker-Seale

Fred Foy

Funeral director Fred Foy has joined the Kiker-Seale Funeral Home staff at 338 Locust St.

Foy, a 53-year-old Baird native, comes here from Abilene, where he was part-owner of a monument company before attending the Dallas Institute of Funeral Service 1 1/2 years ago.

He has been working at North's Funeral Home in Abilene.

Foy graduated from Baird High School in 1963, attended Texas Tech University in Lubbock and worked as a salesman for Paymaster Feeds.

He then worked in accounting and finance for West

Texas Utilities in Abilene.

"The people I have met in Colorado City have been as nice and cordial and friendly as any place I've ever been, and that includes my hometown," Foy said.

"One of the stipulations Bill made was that he wasn't interested in someone who didn't care for the families," he said.

"I do, and I appreciate the opportunity to work with Bill and that attitude because he really does care."

Foy and his wife Lynda have three children, Ferree Rhodes of Austin, Beth Foy of Dallas and Hank Rhodes of Baird.

1998 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN CITY OF COLORADO CITY

This notice concerns 1998 property tax rates for City of Colorado City. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$257,348
Last year's debt taxes	$211,420
Last year's total taxes	$468,768
Last year's tax base	$68,460,830
Last year's total tax rate	.684724/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$468,768
+ This year adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$66,616,576
= This year's effective tax rate	.703680/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$396,953
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$66,616,576
= This year's effective operating rate	.595877/$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	.643547/$100
+ This year's debt rate	.363081/$100
= This year's rollback rate	1.006628/$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines.

- Sales tax adjustment rate	.206107/$100
= Rollback tax rate	.800513/$100

SCHEDULE A - Unencumbered Fund Balances

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
General Fund	$888,272

SCHEDULE B - 1998 Debt Service

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid from Property Taxes	Interest to be Paid from Property Taxes	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment
Certificate of Obligation
1994	$95,000	$130,945	0	$225,945
1998	$15,000	$4,987	0	$19,987
Total required for 1997 debt service				$245,932
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A				0
- Excess collections last year				0
- State aid for facilities				0
= Total to be paid from taxes in 1998				$245,932
- State aid for facilities				0
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only 100% of its taxes in 1998				0
= Total Debt Levy				$245,932

SCHEDULE C - EXPECTED REVENUE FROM ADDITIONAL SALES TAX
(For hospital districts, cities and counties with additional sales tax to reduce property taxes) In calculating its effective and rollback tax rates, the unit estimated that it will receive $139,606 in additional sales and use tax revenues.

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback tax rates' calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at City Hall, 180 W. 3rd, Colorado City, Texas.

School Lunch/Breakfast Program

Colorado ISD today announced its policy for providing free and reduced-price meals for children served under the National School Lunch Program and/or School Breakfast Program. Each school and/or the central office has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

The household size and income criteria identified below will be used to determine eligibility for free and reduced-price benefits. Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-price meals. Foster children who are the legal responsibility of a welfare agency or court may also be eligible for benefits regardless of the income of the household with whom they reside. Eligibility for the foster child is based on the child's income.

Application forms are being distributed to all households with a letter informing households of the availability of free and reduced-priced meals for their children. Applications also are available at the principal's office or in the business office at the school. To apply for free and reduced price meals, households must fill out the application and return it to the school. Applications may be submitted anytime during the school year. The information households provide on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and verification of data. Applications may be verified by the school official at any time during the school year.

For the school official to determine eligibility for free and reduced-price benefits, households receiving food stamps or TANF only have to list their child's name, food stamp or TANF case number, and an adult household member must sign the application. Households who do not list a food stamp or TANF case number must list the names of all household members, the amount and source of the income received by each household member and the social security number of the adult household member who signs the application. If the adult who signs the application does not have a social security number, the household member must indicate that a social security number is not available by writing the word "NONE". The application must be signed by an adult household member.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced-price meal policy the reviewing official will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the reviewing official on an informal basis. Parents wishing to make a formal appeal for a hearing on the decision may make a request either orally or in writing to Russell Merket, 534 East 11th Street, Colorado City 79512, 915-728-3721.

Households that list a food stamp or TANF case number must report when the household no longer receives these benefits. Other households approved for benefits based on income information must report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size. Also, if a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size increases, the household should contact the school. Such changes may make the children of the household eligible for benefits if the household's income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of child feeding programs administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, national origin, age, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Greetings to all. I washed the car. I did a little dance. I spit on a penny and threw it over my left shoulder. I crossed my fingers and one eye. I prayed a little prayer and will do it again, all this to help make it rain! You remember, rain! Do you have any ideas?

Millie Rose has just returned from a California trip where she visited with several family members. Her visits took her to San Francisco, Oakland, Lake Tahoe and Folsom. Family members were daughter Sandra Kay Harris and husband, sister's Louise Kinde and Vivian Goffney and back in Texas, son and family, Sidney Lee Rose in Ft. Worth. Millie reported having a wonderful time.

Teresa Shelby and daughter from Merkel spent last Saturday with her aunt Irene Kidd in Loraine. The ladies went shopping and enjoyed each other's company.

I spoke with Mary Rose Bowen Monday morning and she and Charles had recently been to the Opera House in Abilene, where they saw the Merry Widow and enjoyed it immensely.

Minister James McLeod and family visited the Baptist Church in Loraine last Sunday. Several people attended a luncheon with them.

Visiting with Wanza Graham over the weekend was her niece Dee Brantly and daughter Jo Alvie, her son Wesley Davis, all of Clarksville. Later they met another daughter from El Paso, Linda Gibbs, and her children, Alisha and Tony. Also visiting was her sister Adelle Smith of Clarksville.

Jean and Troy Keagan, Mary Love and Jack Allbright visited with Syble Walker and Juanice Butler last Sunday taking the Loraine ladies out for lunch and a nice visit.

We have concerns for Rev. Glenda Johnson at this time. She is in Dallas to see an optomologist specialist about eye surgery. Our prayers go to her.

Eva Wells spent the weekend in Abilene with daughter Katrina and husband Cecil Robinson. They celebrated Katrina's birthday with a host of friends from Washington, Kemp, Snyder, Dallas, and Colorado City.

Our condolences go out to the family and friends of Mary Lee McPeters. Her grandbaby was killed in an automobile accident last week. Verna Mae Adkins is great grandmother. Best wishes for the speedy recovery of other passengers that were injured.

Vennie (Bill) and Levi Rushing visited in the home of Zelma Crenshaw last week. While here, Levi became ill and Zelma drove them home to Clarksville, Texas. In Clarksville, another sister, Adell Smith and family, came home with her. The group also visited Bobby and Wanza Graham.

Danny and Pam Butler, accompanied by her parents, Marion and Verna Hughes, left July 16, 1998 for a two week vacation to Ohio and Canada with many interesting stops along the way.

The foursome spent one night in Hot Springs, Arkansas seeing the sights and two nights in Nashville taking in the special attractions there. The highlights of Nashville was a tour of Opryland Hotel with a fantastic water fountain light show; attending the Grand Ole Opry and having a meal and attending a show on the General Jackson cruise. While in Ohio visiting Pam's brother, A.J. Hughes and wife Amy, the group crossed into Canada at Buffalo, New York to tour the Niagara Falls area, Ontario, Canada and returning through Detroit, Michigan. They enjoyed lovely bed and breakfast lodging.

Pam and parents especially enjoyed sitting and watching the tremendous amount of water coming over the falls and getting wet on the "Maid of the Mist" boat ride up into the Horseshoe Canadian Falls. Danny's highlight was to observe a Russian freighter's journey through the Welland Canal at lock three. He spent an hour filming and learning that the well and canal is the source of transportation from Lake Ontario to Lake Erie. Another enjoyable event was eating fresh lake Erie "Walleye" on the dock at Leamington, Ontario, Canada. After touring the Amish countryside (everything is manicured and very green and the temperature in the mid 80's) and the old hardware store where A.J. works, the group enjoyed seeing cheese factories in Ohio. On the return trip, Pam, Danny and her parents enjoyed State Park camping in West Virginia and hiking up a stream to see a waterfall (miniature Niagara Danny called it). Jackets were required for the hike and the cookout observing the beautiful sunset.

After a long drive through the smoky mountains another night was spent camping in Clinton, Mississippi. Then the return to dry, hot west Texas. It is wonderful to be home but we pray the Lord would provide rain and cooler weather here that we enjoyed in Ohio and Canada.

Activities director, Minnie Brisenio, reports that a band, large or small, playing most any type music, would be appreciated by staff and residents. Call Minnie at 737-2209 if you are able to volunteer your time in this manner.

Senior Center News
Last Wednesday, we had a nice crowd congregate at the Center for a tasty turkey and dressing meal and also to hear Ken Northcutt sing.

Interior designers waved their magic wands and pleased us with a nice new design focus that is fresh and refined on Wall's at the center. Waving wands last week were Doris Henderson, Yvonne Sadler and Shirley Kendall.

Last Friday we were very pleased to have Vida Mae McDaniel, Charles Dunn and Gus Armstrong entertain us with their music.

While Millie is away on vacation, Irene Gordon is working her job. Irene owns the Dairy Fluff in Roscoe. It has recently reopened.

"What To Wear"
I just read in the Abilene Reporter that clothing fashion returns to the 50's.

What's not hot this season is pleather; Don't ask me, I couldn't find the word in the dictionary. I feel sure I have some of it though.

Grunge; I assume it means yukky. I sure hate to hear Grunge is out because I have a lot of it in my closet.

Micro mini-skirts; This is bad news for senior ladies who in the past have made a strong fashion statement while wearing them.

Bell Bottoms are also out. I don't care at all because my bottoms are bigger than bells.

The Goth Look; I'm ignorant about this fashion, but it sounds naughty and expensive.

Granny Glasses are out. Well, this is where I draw the line. Don't mess with my Grannies!

What is hot?
Leather, shine, cat's eye sunglasses, deep blue jeans, anything from the 50's or khaki's are "in". Overalls are still ok. (kids stuff).

Take good care and see you around town.

BUDGET HEARING NOTICE

Loraine Independent School District

The Loraine ISD Board of Trustees is having a public hearing for the purpose of offering the patrons of the school district an opportunity to view and ask questions about the 1998-99 proposed school budget. Anyone wishing to address the board and/or administration may do so under the procedures set forth by board policy. The date/time of the meeting is August 10, 1998 at 6:30 p.m., and it will be held in the school cafeteria located at 800 South Lightfoot St., Loraine, Texas.

1998-1999

School Lunch/Breakfast Program

Loraine ISD today announced its policy for providing free and reduced-price meals for children served under the National School Lunch Program and/or School Breakfast Program. Each school and/or the central office has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party. The reduced price for lunch is .40 cents and the reduced price for breakfast is .30 cents.

The household size and income criteria identified below will be used to determine eligibility for free and reduced-price benefits. Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-price meals. Foster children who are the legal responsibility of a welfare agency or court may also be eligible for benefits regardless of the income of the household with whom they reside. Eligibility for the foster child is based on the child's income.

Household Size	Annual	Monthly	Weekly
1	14,893	1,242	287
2	20,073	1,673	387
3	25,253	2,105	486
4	30,433	2,537	586
5	35,613	2,968	685
6	40,793	3,400	785
7	45,973	3,832	885
8	51,153	4,263	984

For each add'l member add + 5180 +432 +100

Application forms are being distributed to all households with a letter informing households of the availability of free and reduced-price meals for their children. Applications also are available at the principal's office or in the business office at the school. To apply for free and reduced price meals, households must fill out the application and return it to the school. Applications may be submitted anytime during the school year. The information households provide on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and verification of data. Applications may be verified by the school official at any time during the school year.

For the school official to determine eligibility for free and reduced-price benefits, households receiving food stamps or TANF only have to list their child's name, food stamp or TANF case number, and an adult household member must sign the application. Households who do not list a food stamp or TANF case number must list the names of all household members, the amount and source of the income received by each household member and the social security number of the adult household member who signs the application. If the adult who signs the application does not have a social security number, the household member must indicate that a social security number is not available by writing the word "NONE". The application must be signed by an adult household member.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced-price meal policy the reviewing official will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the reviewing official on an informal basis. Parents wishing to make a formal appeal for a hearing on the decision may make a request either orally or in writing to Kenneth Kendall, Superintendent, Loraine ISD, P.O. Box 457, Loraine, Texas 79532.

Households that list a food stamp or TANF case number must report when the household no longer receives these benefits. Other households approved for benefits based on income information must report increases in household income of over $50 per month or $600 per year and decreases in household size. Also, if a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size increases, the household should contact the school. Such changes may make the children of the household eligible for benefits if the household's income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In the operation of child feeding programs administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, national origin, age, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.
