Midwest Tornadoes Kill 35, Injure 250

Two Suspects In Holdup At Lamesa Held

TWO Oklahoma City men were held in Lubbock county jail early today after making signed statements admitting connection with the hijacking of a Lamesa service station and the abduction of Leon Edwards, 25, station attendant, early Saturday, law enforcement officials here said.

Dawson County Attorney Vernon Adcock said shortly before midnight that charges of armed robbery in connection with the hijacking would be filed early today against Lewis Ables, 26, and Earl Sydney Abbott, 21, who had implicated themselves in the robbery by signed statements made to Adcock at the Lubbock county jail Saturday night.

Two other men involved in the alleged hijacking fere still being sought by officers early this morning

Two Arrested Here

Ables and Abbott were arrested at 6:15 a. m. Saturday in 2200-block Ave. H by Police Patrolmen Robert Brasher and A. R. Mason.

Earlier, Patrolmen B. L. Cummings and W. J. Hunnicut sighted a 1940 Buick being driven southward on Texas Ave. It turned eastward on Thirtieth, went wo blocks and turned north. Its lights were snapped off, arousing suspicion of the patrolmen that it wa sattempting t oavoid detection.

Retracing their route, the police found the car, abandoned, and the suspects gone. An Oklahoma license tag was stuck in the top of the trunk, they said.

Shotgun Is Found

Later, a call to police headquarters from an unknown person reported an abandoned suitcase at 606 Twenty-ninth, in the yard. The address was one block from the abandoned car. In the suitcase were men's and women's clothing and a "sawed-off shotgun, fully loaded."

Edwards, the service station attendant at Lamesa, said the robbery occurred as follows:

He was about to close the doors to the station operated at 805 South Dallas in Lamesa by W. C. Emfinger, when four men drove up in what he thought was a 1939 Buick. It was 12:50 a. m.

They ordered gasoline and oil. Edwards pumped 12.7 gallons of gasoline into the car, and put in two quarts of oil. The men went

Lubbock High Program Set

TWO hundred ninety graduates of Lubbock Senior High school will take part in commencement sermon exercises at 2:30 p.m. today in the Senior High school auditorium, the first step in graduation procedure which will be completed at 8 p.m. Thursday at graduation exercises to be held at the Chapman field gymnasium, according to Floyd Honey, principal.

The class of 1949 is the smallest graduating class to complete work in Senior High school in several years, due to the change from an 11 to a 12 year system in all Texas schools. At that time students in the fourth grade were promoted to the sixth grade, thereby leaving no class for 1949, but some students were sick and forced to drop back a year, some students transferred into Lubbock from other states, and some students went to summer school to hasten their graduation, Superintendent R. W. Matthews said.

The graduation class in 1948 contained 420 students, and the class for 1950 will be equally large. This is not a condition existing in Lubbock alone, since graduating classes all over the state will be small this year, Matthews explained.

Highest scholastic honor for the entire class will be awarded on graduation night to Coleen Baldwin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Baldwin of 2014 Thirty-sixth street as the highest honor student, and to Van Scott, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Scott of 2119

Soviet Zone Police Fire On Strikers

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Sunday May 22—German police from Russian-occupied eastern Berlin opened fire last night and early today on striking railway workers at two train stations in the American sector, West Berlin police reported.

Western sector police said several persons were wounded by the gunfire.

A train coming from the adjoining Soviet sector with a large number of Russian zone police and Russian-controlled railway police aboard entered the Neukoelln station in the American sector about 2:30 a.m. (German time), western police said.

Reds Open Fire

The Russian zone police opened fire immediately on strikers in the station, the western police reported. The number of casualties could not be determined at once because the eastern police occupied the entire station and announced anybody approaching within more than 30 yards would be fired on without warning.

Within minutes after the gunfire, the strikers rallied and attacked eastern police with heavy clubs, stones and fists. They forced Communist police to reboard their train and withdraw to the Russian sector.

This was done without further shooting. Western police occupied the station for a while. Finding the situation quiet, they turned the building over to the strikers.

Strikers Repulsed

Both strikers and police began checking on casualties. Meanwhile, the police reported practically all western Berlin elevated stations were either occupied by strikers or completely deserted.

Earlier German police from the Russian sector had fired pistol shots as railway strikers tried to seize the Wannsee elevated station, also in the American sector. There was one casualty, a young man was scratched on the arm.

The gunfire broke out when scores of strikers tried to sneak across darkened railway tracks and break into the Wannsee station.

Damage Is Heavy In Four-State Section

Many Towns Hit; Toll May Go Higher In Missouri, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois

(By The Associated Press)

TORNADOES tossed death and destruction at the Midwest Saturday night, killing at least 35 persons and injuring more than 250. The death count was expected to rise when communications in the shattered areas are restored.

The twisters struck at Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Iowa. They damaged homes and airplanes, uprooted trees, toppled gravestones, cut power lines, smashed windows and crippled water supplies.

The dead included at least 14 in the Cape Girardeau, Mo., area; at least four at Shelburn, Ind., although state police reported 10 to 15 dead; two at Terre Haute, Ind.; four near Palestine, Ill.; four in the Wood River, Ill., area, and one at Clarksville, Mo.

Many Homes Leveled

From 150 to 220 persons were injured at Cape Girardeau, from 60 to 100 persons as Shelburn, 40 more near Wood River, three near Palestine, and two in Witt Springs, Ky., where a tornado-type storm left a two-mile-long path of destruction.

The Indiana twister whipped across the eastern sector of Terre Haute, and then struck at Shelburn, to the south.

It leveled 200 homes in the west end of Shelburn. State police, who reported that 12 to 15 persons had been killed, said they had no details.

Early in the evening, 52 persons from Shelburn were brought in to nearby Sullivan hospitals. A nurse said casualties were "filling the halls and basement."

The twisters struck Illinois from both sides. One hit near Palestine, just across the Illinois-Indiana line, and another skipped across the Mississippi river from the west and struck in the vicinity of Alton, Wood River and Hartford.

In Poplar Bluff, Mo., late Saturday night, Capt. O. L. Wallis of the Missouri Highway patrol headquarters said he was informed by Patrolman Percy Little that he had counted 14 bodies in one of the two Cape Girardeau hospitals. Little said the casualty list might go higher, since he had not checked the second hospital.

Little reported that from 150 to 220 persons were injured.

Stage Set For Big Four Talks

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, May 21 — U.S. Secretary of State Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky arrived in Paris today for the important Big Four conference on Germany opening Monday.

Observers do not expect a full settlement to emerge, but believe there is a chance for some preliminary agreement on vital questions that have split the Allies ever since the war ended in 1945.

Acheson met for nearly three hours with Anglo-French leaders, and a spokesman said later newsmen will be "briefed" on developments during the main talks next week.

Agenda Reported

This announcement by a French spokesman was not confirmed by British informants who said their delegation was committed to secrecy—at least in the initial stages of the conference.

An authoritative French informant said the three western ministers agreed on an agenda which will stress the economic unification of Germany. The informant listed the western agenda ideas in this order:

1. Questions relative to Germany—the economic aspects and the political aspects.
2. The Berlin problem, including currency disputes.
3. The question of preparing a peace treaty with Germany.
4. The question of achieving a

Warm Weather Is Forecast For Area

South Plains farmers, badly needing a break in the long siege of bad weather, Saturday took advantage of fair and warm weather to get more cotton and feed into the saturated ground, and the Lubbock Weather station predicted that the bright sun and clear skies would continue at least through Monday.

While most of the farmers were busy replanting cotton washed out or covered up by recent torrential rains, others were seeding sorghums.

The weatherman said temperatures today and Monday should be slightly higher than the 85 degree high marked up Saturday. Some scattered clouds may appear tomorrow, the forecaster said, but generally fair is predicted.

Flooding Trinity Crumbles Levee

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

The flooding Trinity river surged through a levee break near Rosser Saturday and flooded 11,600 fertile acres of farmland.

Hundreds of volunteers who had worked feverishly day and night since Thursday, strengthening the levees, watched grimly as the swollen, relentless river won the battle.

About 12:30 a. m. Saturday the Trinity crest of 38.03 feet topped the 37.50 feet levee and a short time later the river broke through.

Workers used boats to hurl timbers and sandbags into the break. Through the night and into the morning they labored.

But at 11:15 a. m. they abandoned all hope. By then the break was 30 feet wide and was widening and deepening by the minute as the waters coursed down to

Red Attempt To Grab Shanghai Repulsed

SHANGHAI, May 21 (INS) (Censored)—Chinese Nationalists announced tonight they repulsed one Communist attempt to hurdle the Whangpoo river and grab the heart of besieged Shanghai.

The government claimed that 20 junks laden with Communist troops were smashed.

(A Hong Kong dispatch quoted U. S. Vice-Consul John Stutman, who arrived from Shanghai, that foreign residents now are sealed off in the city and that further evacuation is impossible.

(Communist troops were reported to have crashed through to the lower Whangpoo river east bank between Shanghai and the Yangtze river escape route.

(With their artillery controlling the Whangpoo exit Shanghai is effectively cut off from the sea and the rear defenses of Woosung fortress at the Whangpoo-Yangtze confluence are threatened).

Business Census Is Delayed Here

Lubbock's census of business is moving slightly behind schedule, District Supervisor L. D. Whiteley said Saturday.

One cause of the delay, Whiteley said, is that some businessmen have been reluctant to supply information needed to complete census of business statistics.

Urging complete co-operation of all businessmen, Whiteley pointed out that businesses are required by law to supply the necessary information. By the same law, they are protected from "information leaks" which might prove harmful to their businesses. All census information regarding individual businesses is kept in strict secrecy.

Carry Official Cards

Whiteley said census enumerators here have had difficulty convincing some businessmen of the authenticity of the project. All enumerators, he explained, carry official Bureau of the Census identification which may be accepted as proof of their authorization to gather information for the census.

Whiteley this past week attended a conference of West Texas census officials in Fort Worth. He said the decision was made there to have enumerators leave blank forms with businessmen and advise them on the proper method of completing the forms, after which the forms will be mailed to census offices. In this way, he said, it is hoped that the procedure may be accelerated.

It is to Lubbock's advantage, Whiteley stated, to complete the

Lubbock Man Is Drowning Victim

Body of Clark Webster Gravitt, about 65, of Lubbock route 7, was found face downward Saturday morning in the water of an earthen tank at near of Plains Cooperative Oil mill, 2901 Ave. A.

Morticians and Dr. Fred P. Kallina, county health officer, estimated the body had been in the water from five days to a week.

Mrs. Gravitt said her husband had been last seen Tuesday night. He donned hip boots and left the house, she said. She told officials she had not reported him missing, because he frequently was absent from home several days.

Planned Fort Worth Trip

Officials were told by bus and taxi company personnel that Gravitt had discussed with them a desire Tuesday night to go by bus to Fort Worth and "see how much water" had been left by approximately 12 inches of rainfall and a rampaging Trinity river. He found he did not have enough money for a ticket, and failed to borrow any money for that purpose, officials said they were informed.

Investigators said they theorized that Gravitt had someone take him to near his home and let him out. Confused in the darkness, he turned eastward instead of westward in efforts to go to his residence between Aves. B and C on

CITY ATTRACTS NEW INDUSTRY

Air Conditioner Firm To Set Up Plant At Former Air Base Here

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

COMPLETION of the first major step in developing a large portion of the former South Plains Army air field into an industrial area of highest type was announced Saturday by city and Chamber of Commerce officials.

They announced that a plant of the Palmer Manufacturing company, of Phoenix, described as the largest builder of evaporative air conditioners and heaters in the world, will be located on a 10-acre tract there.

Oscar C. Palmer, co-founder and head of the company, a resident of Phoenix, confirmed the announcement in a long distance telephone conversation with The Avalanche-Journal.

He said his Texas representative, Sam J. Keeble, already has moved from Dallas to Lubbock to supervise the preliminary preparations for getting the Lubbock plant into operation.

Palmer was exceedingly cautious in mentioning figures of any kind in connection with plans pertaining to this city. The plans are too tentative, he said, to permit

'HERR TOM' EVADES STEWPOTS

Black Tomcat Reaches Lubbock After Plane Trip From Germany

"HERR TOM," late of Germany, is probably the most cosmopolitan feline in Lubbock catdom.

His sleek ebony fur and crystal-green eyes are topped off by well-mannered boredom, the sure sign of a seasoned man-of-the-world.

The 15-pound tomcat appears to know his way around. He should, for he escaped the stewpots of Germany, and that's supposed to be quite a feat for any cat.

Herr Tom arrived in Lubbock by air, alone, from Germany to join his owner, Mrs. Myrl Dabov, a native of Lubbock who is now staying with her sister at Carlisle.

Mrs. Dabov, whose husband is a coast artillery first lieutenant in Germany, recently flew home during the final illness of her mother, the late Mrs. Winnie Kimbrell.

Tom came last week, by military aircraft to New York, by Pan American plane to Dallas. When he arrived in Dallas, Mrs. Dabov was advised to go there to clear him through customs. Fortunately, American Express took care of that detail for her.

RAIL LINES READY FOR HARVEST

Major Wheat Problem This Year May Be Storage Space Shortage

By T. E. APPLEGATE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 21.—If grain piles up on the ground in the wheat belt this summer, take a second look before blaming the railroads.

Wheat for your next year's bread is just starting to flow to processing points. This movement will swell to a flood in July and August, overtaxing mill and elevator facilities.

Ground-piling at that time—they call it "open storage"—is not unusual. Modern methods have compressed the bulk of harvesting into a short period. That is the season of outcries for more cars to carry the grain.

Spot 20,000 Cars

Here's what the railroads have done to get ready for their big task of hauling the winter crop:

Late in April they assembled more than 20,000 box cars at country loading stations. Fully loaded, these cars will carry nearly 35,000,000 bushels of wheat on each trip.

Thus the railroads hope to move from storage quickly much of the 1948 wheat held under government loan and purchase agreements that expired April 30. And do it before the new crop movement is in full swing.

The 1949 winter wheat harvest, by latest estimates, will total 1,021,467,000 bushels, second largest on record.

Storage Space Short

Despite this, the Association of American Railroads this week expressed confidence its member roads could "move every bushel of grain for which storage space is available."

Storage space—or the lack of it—is the real problem.

That it is serious was emphasized by the recent government offer to pay farmers 10 to 11.5 cents a bushel if they would hold in farm storage for another year some 60,000,000 bushels stored under the 1948 price support program.

Officials said this was intended to help relieve the commercial storage situation.

At the end of April more than half the public elevator capacity in the winter wheat belt was reported filled with last year's crop.

Embargoes Set Up

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said there was available on that date in seven winter wheat states only 76,000,000 bushels of storage space. A year earlier these states—Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and Nebraska—had available 177,000,000 bushels of space.

Reports of the AAR car service division show 18,700 more box cars on western railroads than at the same time a year ago, with 7,300 more box cars ready for service in the wheat belt.

It appears the railroad has taken heed of the barrage of criticism aimed at them by shippers clamoring for cars in recent years—especially in 1947.

And the new target may be the lack of adequate storage space. The AAR points out that if terminal elevators and mills are unable to keep up with the flow of grain from the farms and country elevators, it will be necessary to embargo additional shipments to those points until the situation eases.

British Officials Deny Monarch Treated For Ailment in U.S.

LONDON, May 21 (AP) — A Buckingham palace spokesman said today reports that King George VI had his leg ailment treated at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., this month were "absolutely untrue."

"The King has not left the country," the spokesman said.

He added the monarch received Prime Minister Clement Attlee on May 3, his doctors on the fourth, and other physicians on May 17.

"In the intervening time he was either in London or at Windsor (Windsor castle, outside of London.)" the spokesman explained.

It was "palpably absurd," the spokesman added, to think that the King could make a foreign journey without being recognized early and often

Texas Marks Up Eight New Labor Disputes For April

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP) — Eight new labor disputes involving 492 workers were recorded during April, the Texas Employment commission reports.

Carry-over disputes brought the total number of workers affected by labor difficulties in April to 1,242 for the 37 cases. Five of the April and three of the carry-over cases were settled, TEC said.

The 29 disputes pending at the end of April involved 1,058 workers, TEC said.

Sixteen of the disputes brought work stoppages while another eight partially curtailed work.

Single disputes were recorded during April in Corpus Christi, Elgin, Galveston and Texarkana. Houston and Wichita Falls had two new disputes each, but Wichita Falls settled both of its Galveston also settled its April dispute.

Governor Can't Release Debtors

RUTLAND, Vt., May 21 (AP) — Hope of executive intervention faded for three veterans jailed as poor debtors under a century old Vermont law.

Governor Ernest W. Gibson said he has no legal authority to move for the release of the former GI's. Two are combat veterans and were German prisoners of war.

The three — Ralph J. Fugatt, 29, of Springfield, Mass.; Bernard J. Smith, 23, of Fairhaven, Vt., and Frederick L. Lapan, 34, of Marshfield, Vt. — were committed for non-payment of court awards in automobile accident cases.

Legal authorities said it was possible — although not probable —for them to spend the rest of their lives in jail under the law, if the judgments are not satisfied.

The governor said in an interview at Springfield, Mass., Friday night that he does not have power to intervene in civil actions.

He pointed out that the law under which the veterans were sent to jail can only be invoked when a judge and jury has found there has been "wilful and malicious intent" to avoid payment of civil damages.

The governor's statement was made shortly after Fugatt and his young wife met in a joyous but tearful reunion in the Rutland jail where he and Smith are confined. He broke down when he saw his infant son for the first time. The child was born after he was committed.

"This will all be straightened out in a few days," he assured his bride through tear-filled eyes, "and I'll be back home with you."

The governor indicated the men might obtain release through regular legal channels by appealing to jail commissioners or by habeas corpus proceedings.

The commissioners have been known to release prisoners who took a pauper's oath. Under habeas corpus proceedings the men would have to prove they are being held illegally.

Texas Candidates Now Have To Sign Loyalty Affidavits

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP) — Legislationlation requiring candidates to sign loyalty affidavits before being allowed a place on the ballot at general primary and special elections was signed into law Saturday by Gov. Beauford Jester.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas, changed present law passed in 1941, which only required candidates to file affidavits prior to the general election. The measure becomes effective immediately.

Leader Says VFW Against Rent Decontrol On Statewide Basis

AUSTIN, May 21 (AP)— S. A. Childress, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, today put his organization on record as "bitterly opposed" to statewide rent decontrol in Texas.

"Decontrol of rents in Texas," Childress said, "would result in untold hardships to thousands of ex-service men."

He added that the VFW will oppose decontrol on a statewide scale and will favor keeping it on a city or local option basis.

"Many thousands of our veterans are renters," Childress said. "Because of excessive building costs, these men have been unable to buy or build their own houses."

FULL PROBE OF AEC IS STUDIED

Atomic Group To Hear Secret Reports On Missing Uranium

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.) announced today the Congressional Atomic Energy committee will meet behind closed doors Monday to receive secret reports from its own agents on missing uranium.

McMahon, committee chairman, said the group also will hear in open session testimony by Isadore S. Edelman, recipient of a $3,750 atomic scholarship, who failed to get security clearance from the FBI.

The chairman said that the committee will "receive and discuss" reports on disappearance of uranium 235, atomic bomb ingredient.

AEC Probe Studied

There have been two instances involving disappearance or removal of the vital material.

One was the disappearance of 32 grams of uranium from Chicago laboratories of the Atomic Energy commission. The commission said all but 25 grams were subsequently recovered in waste material.

At Hanford, Wash., a security officer removed two five-pound slugs of the material as a surveillance test. The AEC conceded that eight days passed before it was missed.

McMahon indicated that the result of the closed-door meeting will determine whether the committee will launch a full-dress probe of security methods in the AEC.

To Hear Own Agents

He said that any action the committee may take probably will be decided after the investigators have presented their reports. The senator added:

"We simply will hear our own agents on uranium 235. I can say nothing beyond that at this time."

McMahon declared that the Edelman hearing is being expedited because of the desire of the scholarship recipient to testify.

Edelman denies that he is a Communist.

McMahon made clear that the committee wishes the Edelman hearing to be without "theatrics."

Red Given Scholarship

Edelman's case came in the wake of a congressional uproar detonated by discovery that avowed Communist Hans Friestadt had been awarded an atomic energy scholarship.

McMahon's announcement that Edelman will testify came as Republican senators demanded full loyalty investigations for all atomic scholarship candidates.

The Republicans charged that the award of fellowships to Communists emphasize the lack of security in the atomic energy program.

Senate GOP leader Wherry declared that Congress should order FBI investigations of scholarship aspirants or cancel the entire government-financed scholarship program.

Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), ranking GOP member of the Senate Appropriations committee, described the congressional disclosures of scholarship awards to at least three Communists as "shocking and frightening, to say the least."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Awarded Divorce In Nevada

MINDEN, Nev., May 21. (INS)—Mrs. Ethel Du Pont Roosevelt won a divorce from Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., at a brief closed hearing today in Minden, 40 miles south of Reno.

The Du Pont heiress charged incompatibility and mental cruelty.

District Judge Harry Watson of Ely, sitting temporarily in Minden, granted the decree at a hearing behind closed doors attended only by Mrs. Roosevelt, the attorneys for the couple and the assistant manager of the dude ranch where Mrs. Roosevelt has been staying.

Mrs. Roosevelt, wearing a brown suit and small brown hat with accessories to match, left Minden immediately after the hearing. It was expected she would leave Nevada within 24 hours for her home in the East.

She maintained tight-lipped silence concerning her plans for the future.

Mrs. Roosevelt was awarded custody of the couple's two children, Franklin III and Christopher Du Pont Roosevelt, but the father was given the right of reasonable visitation.

Their support and a property settlement were arranged in a sealed agreement, the details of which Mrs. Roosevelt and her attorney refused to discuss.

"You Washed Those Venetians In Only 3 Minutes?"

Mrs. Dudley Brown of Leawood, Kansas says: "My Sunchek Venetian blinds are seven years old, yet they look like new. The slats are easily cleaned; they resist dirt, and fading due to either washing or sunshine; and after all these years the mechanism, cords and tapes are apparently in perfect condition."

New Kind of Plasticized Venetians--Successors to Heavy, Noisy, Hard-To-Clean Old Style Blinds

A patented new slat material is the secret! It combines a fabric as strong, yet fine as linen with a new plastic. Gives amazing new strength, lightness, costly appearance, "cleanability."

Wash all the Sunchek Venetians in your house more easily than washing curtains! Slip them out of header in 10 seconds — wash in lukewarm suds in sink or tub — spray with bathtub hose! — They're colorfast, fade-resistant — even working parts are water-proof.

A "Beauty Bonus!" Suncheks give full privacy. Yet they transmit light — with same soft glow as a real-parchment lampshade.

Suncheks weigh only 1/3 as much as old-style blinds. Mechanism, cords, tapes often wear up to ten years.

So Light! So Quiet! No straining, no tugging to raise or lower. Silent plasticized fabric, ends nerve-jarring clatter of wooden or metal blinds.

No Costly Installation. So simple, light, and easy to handle you could install them yourself.

Building Of Soap Box Racers To Occupy Youngsters' Attention

With the closing of public schools this week, attention of more than 308 youngsters of the South Plains will be concentrated on the building of racers for Lubbock's second annual Soap Box Derby on Monday, July 4.

Assurance that every boy who builds a racer for the Derby will have a sponsor was given the past week by members of the Lubbock Exchange club, who with The Avalanche-Journal and Kuykendall Chevrolet company, are sponsors of the Derby. A concerted drive for sponsors was apparently successful, Exchange club members said Saturday.

Certificates Being Issued

Certificates for wheel and axle steering gear sets are being issued at Kuykendall Chevrolet company, 1902 Texas avenue, and boys may take the certificates either to the Firestone store, 1112 Broadway, or the Goodrich Silvertown store, 1112 Main, for their sets.

Issuance of the certificates is expected to be completed this week.

Should Have Pictures Made

All Derby entrants, who have not had their pictures taken are also requested to go by Dallas Studio, 1114 Nineteenth. Each boy in the race is to have his picture in The Avalanche-Journal the day of the big event.

As the boys start building their cars they are reminded by Derby officials that sportsmanship is foremost in the minds of the race sponsors and every boy must abide by the letter and spirit of the rules.

Must Be Boy Built

One of the most important of these rules is that every Derby racing car must be built entirely by the boy himself, and must be driven in the race by the boy who built it.

There can be no hedging on this rule. Your father may give you some advice; your older brother, too, can give advice only. Your manual training teacher in school can help smooth your way with advice and suggestions. But the work has to be done by you.

Study All The Rules

Study all the rules. That's the "first heat" of the race. Note that you can use no power tools. This puts every boy on an equal footing, so that one boy who has access to power machinery won't have an edge. Another rule to equalize contestants is that no boy may spend more than $6, plus the cost of a commercially-made wheel and axle set and steering gear, on material for his car.

It's a good idea to design your car on paper first, then start to work with the saws, hammers and drills. To get material visit lumber yards and other sources of used wood or hardware. Explain your problem to dealers, and they will usually be glad to help you. Your mother may have some material around the house you can use for upholstery.

The local winners will receive many prizes, to be announced later, topped by the W. F. Armstrong trophy, a handsome plaque donated by Chevrolet in honor of the general manager of the organization.

But perhaps the biggest prize is the trip to Akron to compete in the National Finals August 14. The local champion receives a free trip to the rubber capital of the world, where Derby Downs is located. And in addition to competing in the All-American Soap Box Derby against champs from 150 other cities, he has a four-day weekend packed with fun and excitement.

The national champion receives a four-year college scholarship, the runner-up receives a new Chevrolet sedan, and handsome prizes and trophies go to other top winners and to those who win special prizes.

Gross Receipts For Demo Barbecue Here Totals Over $24,000

Gross receipts for the recent Jefferson-Jackson day barbecue of West Texas Democrats here May 7 totaled more than $24,000, Arch S. Underwood, co-chairman with Wesley Read on the barbecue announced Saturday.

The barbecue was a $10-a-plate affair and the third of a series of fund-raising events staged by the party in Texas this spring. Two other events both $25-a-plate dinners, were held at Austin and Corpus Christi.

After expenses which included the cost of the sumptuous barbecue served by the Lubbock Lions club to more than 1,400 persons in the Texas Tech gymnasium, the local committee will send in more than $19 000 to the treasury of the National Democratic party.

Coupled with receipts of a "Victory" dinner staged here last November after the national elections, which netted more than $2,000, West Texas Democrats have raised a total of more than $21,000 for the party.

When plans were made for erasing the party's campaign deficit and building up a surplus for next year's Congressional elections, Texas leaders pledged approximately $100,000 to the cause.

West Texas' two events appear to have raised the area's share of the state's total.

Howard Davison, Lubbock attorney, was general chairman of the local arrangements for the barbecue and members of his committee were: C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder; Clarence Whiteside, Geo. S. Berry, G. H. Nelson and Homer D. Grant.

Yallagatta, an Australian town of more than 1,000 population, will be moved to make way for an $8,000,000 hydroelectric project at the Hume Weir on the Murray River.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS 1873 - 1949

Nothing illustrates the development of Lubbock and the South Plains more strikingly than the area's saga of transportation.

Nearly all the early day supplies were freighted in by wagon from Colorado City, the trip requiring several days. Various stage lines provided other outlets. It was quite an event when the stage started bringing in mail every other day instead of once each week. Stage service for Lubbock became good by the standards of those days.

But it was big news—almost sensational news—in 1907 when the late Rollie Burns announced the establishment of an automobile line between Lubbock and Amarillo. The traveled was assured, with pride, that he could leave Lubbock after breakfast one day and reach Amarillo in time for supper the next day. Before long, the trip was being made in one long day.

However, the residents of the area frankly recognized that, to have a future, the city and region had to obtain railroad outlets. They were necessary to really "open the country." Numerous possibilities were investigated from time to time. Some seemed promising. Invariably as in 1893, they ended in disappointment.

But the men and women who believed in Lubbock and the South Plains would not give up. And finally their persistence was rewarded. The Santa Fe railway was coming to Lubbock.

SPENDING-TAXES ISSUE UNSOLVED

Texas Legislators Seek Way To Close Long 51st Session

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 21 — Legislators tired of working at $5 a day are looking for a road leading to final adjournment of the 51st session.

There was some talk it had been found, but there was more talk that final solution of the finance-taxation issue may take another three or four weeks.

Many Plans Offered

All sorts of plans have been proposed to make spending fit income. These included:

1. Enactment of some form of expanded omnibus tax measure;

2. Submission of a constitutional amendment putting on a special ad valorem levy to finance eleemosynary buildings;

3. Passage of the eleemosynary bill without the buildings, necessitating a special session to work out the question of how to pay for such buildings. Gov. Beauford H. Jester promised last week that he would call a special session if provision was not made for eleemosynary buildings by this legislature.

Money Bills Held Up

Even if the $21 million eleemosynary building item is deleted, there was considerable doubt whether the legislature could balance the budget.

The House was unhappy this past week because the Senate failed to take up the pending major money bills that must be passed before the legislature can quit. The Senate Finance commtitee then substituted its figures for House figures in the big money bills and sent them to the floor for debate.

The Senate could jump on them Monday. Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers was scheduled to be back in the chair then. Meanwhile, the stock pile of work done by the 51st session mounted.

266 Bills Approved

Gov. Jester has signed a total of 266 bills—76 from the Senate, 150 from the House. He let three become law without his signature and vetoed one local measure at the request of the author. Jester has on his desk 26 house bills and seven Senate bills.

Three major measures were approved by the Senate and returned to the House for concurrence in amendments during the past week. They were the proposed removal of the ceiling on welfare spending, the eleemosynary board bill and the underground water bill.

The House passed a rent decontrol bill and sent it to the Senate, where it will be given public committee hearing Tuesday. The House let a horse race betting bill live only 20 minutes, debated the driver responsibility law, and approved the junior college appropriation bill totalling $4,200,000.

SEEKS RENT DECONTROL

EL PASO, May 21 (AP) — The first far West Texas community to seek rent decontrol is Ascarate, small town that won a bitter fight last year against annexation by El Paso. The council approved asking Gov. Beauford Jester to decontrol rents yesterday.

Householders Help Selves To Carpets Drying After Flood

DALLAS, May 21. (AP)—Police were literally trying tonight to call someone on the carpet.

It started about 10 a.m. when the Paramount Rug & Carpet cleaning company got $50,000 worth of fine carpets and rugs from a Fort Worth firm hit by the flood.

The rugs were watersoaked. They were spread out on a vacant lot to dry for cleaning.

The cleaners left for a few minutes.

No one knows how it got started, but a run started on the rugs.

Collectors Swarm Lot

Within minutes, the lot was a hive of rug collectors.

Police said a black truck drove up and loaded on three rolls of carpeting. A red truck came and got five rolls. A green pick-up truck tried to load up but could only handle one load. A red Ford carried off a load.

The callers soon began to get more selective. Witnesses said about a dozen persons drove up, measured off the carpet and began to cut it up to fit rooms.

Jerry Collander and John Cawthon were watching. They told police one man was carefully computing the size of his living room.

"But I'll allow myself an extra six inches either way," he said cheerfully, chopping into a roll of $16-a-square-yard carpeting.

Then the men from the cleaning company came back and the crowd vanished.

"They were hauling away carpeting on bicycles," said one of the employes.

As night came on, Manager E. H. Durham had guards on the lots.

Bullet-Riddled, Bludgeoned Body Of Detroit Man Found

DETROIT, May 21 (INS) — The body of Edward H. Martino, born Edward Hamud, who associated with the late gambling king Bugsy Siegel, was found bullet-riddled and bludgeoned in a vacant Oakland county lot today.

Detroit and state police joined forces in a search for the killer and took into custody Gust Pappas, the proprietor of a suburban Royal Oak cleaning establishment, for questioning.

The police also were seeking Fred Awn, because, they said, Martino had identified Awn and Pappas as his companions in a burglary in Berkley.

Waddell and Gregg will compete with nominees from the other nine Texas districts when the Future Farmers meet at Dallas, July 20-22. Waddell will seek state Star farmer honors. Gregg will compete for state president. Those who assisted in making the conference a success were; O. T. Ryan, area FFA administrator; L. M. Hargrave and T. L. Leach, Texas Tech; R. L. Barron, state FFA administrator and some 30 vocational agriculture teachers of area one. (Staff Photo by Edward Welsh.)

Detroit Musician Attempts Suicide After Killing Daughter

DETROIT, May 21. (INS)—A Detroit Symphony orchestra bass player admittedly killed his crippled 29-year-old daughter today and then tried vainly to take his own life by pumping six bullets into his chest.

Eugene Braunsdorf, 51, who has played string instruments in the orchestra since 1921, told police he killed his daughter, Virginia, because she had been crippled since birth and he had to sell flowers during the day to care for her.

The girl suffered a brain injury only a few months after her birth and since has been unable to feed herself.

The murder and attempted suicide occurred in Braunsdorf's car while he pretended to drive his daughter to a hospital.

Czech Catholics Break Off Negotiations With Commies

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 21 (AP) — The Roman Catholic church broke off political negotiations with the Communist-dominated Czech government when a recording device was discovered in the conference room, Archbishop Josef Beran charged Friday.

A circular letter from the archbishop charged that the talks—looking to a church-state understanding—"had to be interrupted when it was discovered that the confidential privacy of the negotiations had been disrupted by recording devices placed in the conference room." The talks ended abruptly March 23.

House Farm Leaders Plan Own Program

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — House farm leaders are writing their own farm price program—repecting both the administration's "production payment" proposal and the Aiken "flexible" price support which goes into effect in 1950.

Their plan is expected to hold the present rigid 90 percent of parity support for major crops, with continued production controls.

In the administration's plan, parity would have no effect on the consumer price for some perishable crops, the price of which would be allowed to drop below support levels.

The farmer would be paid a fair return by making up the difference between market price and consumer price with direct government payments.

Under the Aiken law, passed by the last Congress, price supports would vary from 60 to 90 percent of parity

Rep. Pace (D Ga), chairman of the Agriculture subcommittee, said the 90 percent of parity is the least the farmers can ask and the least the nation can afford to pay if the nation wants to continue prosperity. His committee will discuss the farm plans behind closed doors for several days before announcing any results.

ANTI-SUBVERSIVE BILLS STUDIED

Senator Subpoenas Records On 166 'Foreign Agents' In U.S.

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 21—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), today subpoenaed from the State and Justice departments records on 166 alleged foreign agents he said are "laying the foundation for overthrow of the U. S. government."

The senator threatened spectacular disclosures if the files are not produced.

Solon Sounds Warning

McCarran acted as chairman of an immigration subcommittee. As chairman of the full judiciary committee he is in charge of anti-subversive legislation under current consideration. He said:

"These 166 files are the first in a series of several hundred files which I shall subsequently demand.

"If I am unsuccessful in compelling production of these files I shall publicly reveal information in the files of the subcommittee, which has thus far been confidential, respecting subversive activities which are being carried on in this country under the active direction and leadership of agents of foreign countries.

"This information is extensive, conclusive and alarming, and includes names, places and events.

"It is high time for a showdown on whether or not the American people can be told the facts and I am confident that when the facts are revealed, the American people will insist on decisive action."

Battle Is Foreseen

McCarran said there are United States employes and United Nations figures among the 166. He added that leaders of foreign spy rings and details of their activities are included.

The senator said these activities add up to "laying the foundation for overthrow of the United States government." He explained:

"These agents are busy building cells, disseminating anti-American propaganda, and seeking to weld all our foreign language population groups into a force opposing our principles of democracy."

McCarran conceded he is in for a battle in his move to obtain government records on the 166 individuals.

President Truman has consistently opposed transmission of federal files on individuals to congressional committees. He has instructed all department heads to refuse such requests unless approved by him.

HST May Hold Files

The chief executive has engaged in several running fights with committees. Outstanding was his successful retention of the loyalty file on Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

The President in that controversy finally had the Condon file spirited to the White House for safekeeping. As far as is known, it is still there.

A judiciary subcommittee on Friday completed hearings on bills by Sens. Mundt (R-S.D.), and Ferguson (R-Mich.), to curb subversive activities.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.), said today the group will meet soon to decide whether such legislation should be sent to the Senate for consideration, and whether the two measures should be combined or re-written.

McCarran has been holding hearings in another subcommittee on his own anti-subversive bill. He announced today that these deliberations will be renewed this week.

Anti Subversive Bills Studied

McCarran has been holding hearings in another subcommittee on his own anti-subversive bill. He announced today that these deliberations will be renewed this week.

All these bills would require registration with the Justice department by members of any American group dominated by a Foreign government, and by officers of "front" organizations.

All publications of such groups would have to bear labels showing their organization.

The Mundt measure would establish an anti-subversive commission which would decide if a party or group was dominated by a foreign government.

Failure to comply with provisions of the legislation would result in criminal penalties.

Escapee From North Dakota Jail Killed By Possee In Montana

GLENDIVE, Mont., May 21. (AP)—A man said to be Walter Axel Johnson, 38, escapee from the county jail at Fargo, N. Dak., was shot and killed at a ranch north of here this morning.

He was shot several times after he fired a bullet and refused to leave a barn manger, Montana highway patrolman Douglas A. Hardesty said.

Johnson escaped Monday night from the Fargo jail, slugging a jailer and immigration border patrolman.

Hardesty said sheriff's officers and a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent traced Johnson to the barn ten miles from Glendive, using a plaster cast of a footprint.

"The footprints led to a barn on Ralph Newton's ranch," Hardesty said. "The ranch was searched and it was found Johnson was hiding under hay in a manger in the barn. Johnson fired a shot and possemen took cover. Johnson was warned repeatedly to come out. When he didn't, several shots were fired."

Hardesty said the man was wounded in both arms and in the chest.

A gun found in the manger was one taken from the border patrolman in Fargo, Hardesty said.

An autopsy was planned this afternoon.

HURRY, HURRY, HURRY—The show is now going on. It is the nationally famous Morris Miniature Circus, which opened Saturday at 1207 Main Street. The pigmy circus will be shown all of next week under the sponsorship of the Lubbock Lions club and the proceeds will go to the Girl Scout camp fund. The circus, which required 15 years to construct, is complete in every detail. There are hundreds of animals, performers, wagons, tents and even spectators. No detail has been overlooked. The seven big tents are cut away to show the interior and the performers in action. The circus was built as a hobby but quickly gained national attention by winning many prizes at state fairs.

Detectives Seek To Unravel Puzzling Death Of Dallas Man

DALLAS, May 21. (AP)—Homicide detectives today investigated a puzzling death in a Dallas residential district following a justice of the peace verdict which attributed death to a brain hemorrhage caused by violence.

Horace H. Shelton, jr., 35, Austin salesman who had entered a two-week naval reserve training program here, was found unconscious Wednesday night at a bus stop in the Lakewood area. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Justice of the Peace Pierce McBride said death was caused by a "severe traumatic subdural hemorrhage of the brain, means of injury unknown."

Police attempted to determine whether Shelton suffered a blow prior to Wednesday or was struck that night, either by a person or a vehicle. A Navy autopsy report yesterday corroborated McBride's verdict that death was due to a brain hemorrhage caused by a blow on the skull.

Maintenance Crew Wades Mud

The Pictures

Repairmen had to wade through mud and water and carry their equipment to make the repair shown in the top picture. Shown are repairmen putting on a clamp that will make it possible for natural gas service to be continued to customers until permanent repairs can be made. Mud was so deep that repair equipment could not be transported to the break to make permanent repairs.

Shown at the left are members of the maintenance crew carrying a section of pipe to the scene of the break. The arrow points to the line break more than a quarter of a mile from the men.

To Maintain Good Gas Service

Pipe line maintenance crews are but one of many divisions behind your natural gas service. A crew's job is to keep transmission pipe lines, carrying natural gas to your home, in good repair and to work during such emergencies that might occur.

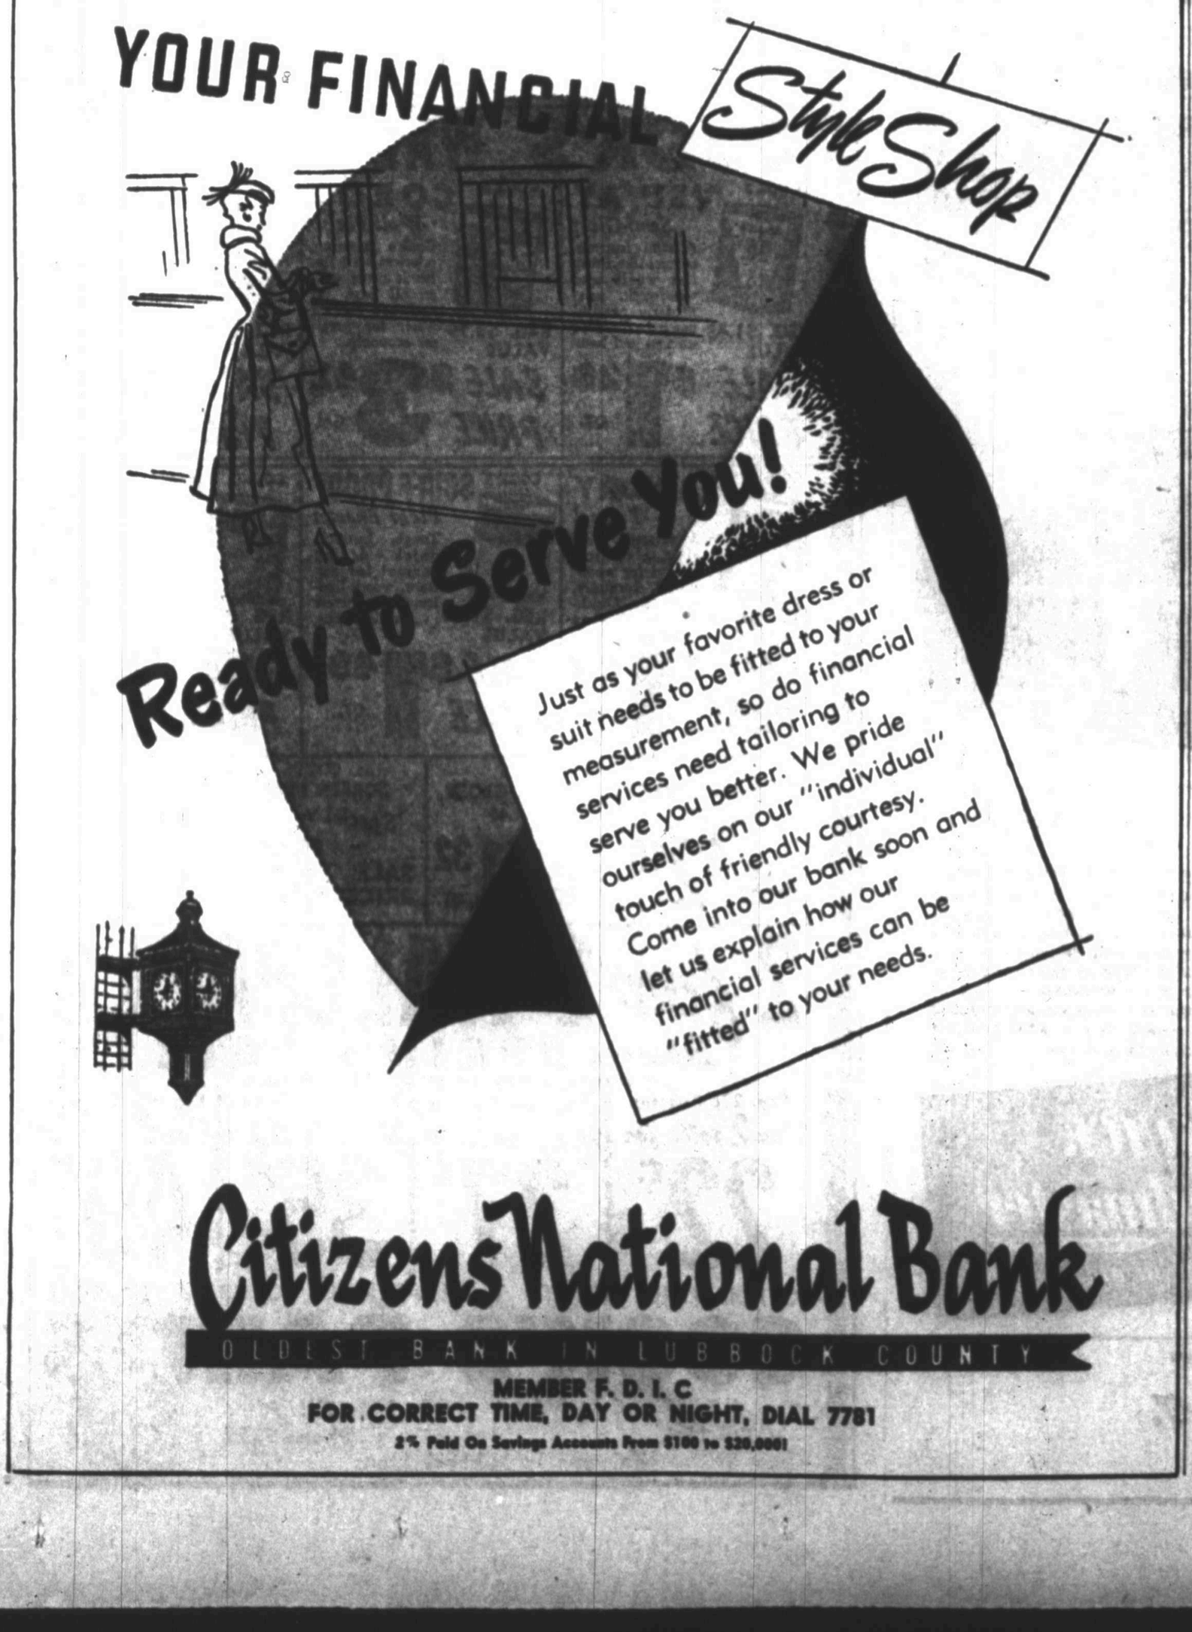

The pictures, shown above, were made of a maintenance crew repairing a line break. Maintenance crews are trained to meet such emergencies, and due to their training the customers of the town this line serves continued to have good gas service although the natural gas flow was cut while the repair was being made.

Yes . . . maintenance of pipe lines is very important to good gas service.

Maintenance of pipe lines is but one of many functions of West Texas Gas Company . . . all of which are designed to furnish you good natural gas service, high in quality, low in price . . . the best bargain in the family budget.

TAFT LEADS APPROPRIATIONS CUT

Solid GOP Support Predicted In Move To Slice National Budget

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) forecast nearly solid Senate Republican support today for a bipartisan move to slice about $2,000,000,000 off appropriations.

Announcing that GOP members are abandoning their unsuccessful efforts to trim separate money bills, the Ohio senator said he will ask his party members to get behind a proposal being drafted by Senators Russell (D-Ga.) and Cordon (R-Ore.).

Russell and Cordon are working out a formula for percentage cuts. These would be applied to most of the appropriations to run the government for the year beginning next July 1. They expect to effect reductions of from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 in this way.

Plan Explained

Russell told a reporter the plan is to hang the proposal on the last regular money measure which goes before the Senate.

If Congress approves the measure with this rider, the authors think they will have a form of insurance against any presidential veto. They argue that President Truman wouldn't be likely to veto an important money measure just to strike out the economy move.

Mr. Truman has contended that his $41,856,000,000 budget is a rock bottom figure.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, said he thinks the Democrats will work out an "equitable" formula to get some economies before the session ends. He did not go into details.

Lucas Declines Comment

Lucas insisted in an interview, however, that Congress ought not to give government departments the authority to pick the spots where they will economize.

Asked whether he feels the budget can be balanced without higher taxes, Lucas declined comment. But he observed that "the way appropriations are going, there either will have to be a cut in expenditures, or a tax bill."

President Truman, submitting his budget last January, urged a $4,000,000,000 tax increase to avoid a deficit and further reduce the national debt.

Congressional tax experts last week estimated that the Truman-requested expenditures would mean a deficit of $3,000,000,000 because of expected decline in revenues from present taxes.

Two Stowaways Taken From Ship Sailing Out Of New York

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—An immigration official said tonight two stowaways were removed from the ship Federal Pioneer as it left New York harbor.

The spokesman, enforcement officer Peter Esperdy, said the captain radioed that he had discovered the stowaways shortly after the ship sailed.

A Coast Guard boat was sent to pick them up and was returning them here.

Esperdy said so far as he knew they were "just two ordinary stowaways."

SECRET ORDER

Anderson 'Vote' Material Piles Up

SANTA FE, N. M., May 21 (INS) — Somebody better tell New Mexico's Senator Clinton Anderson that he's running for president.

Reports from Washington today said Anderson knew nothing about his candidacy. But in a Santa Fe print shop, letter heads, envelopes and stickers were piling up bearing the bold legend: "Clint Anderson for President."

Officials of the printing firm said they were sworn to secrecy as to who had ordered the campaign material. They did hint, however, that nationwide distribution is planned.

British Organization Launches Drive To Free Gerhardt Eisler

LONDON, May 21 (AP) — The British Council for German democracy pushed a campaign tonight to free German-born Communist Gerhardt Eisler. The council says it is a non-party and anti-Fascist organization.

The British Communist party also called a protest meeting for tomorrow behind Brixton prison, where the 52-year-old Eisler is held.

Eisler was dragged off the Polish liner Batory at Southampton a week ago today by four British policemen on a warrant asked by the United States. The Communist jumped bail in the United States and stowed away on the liner.

Eisler is scheduled to appear in Bow street court Tuesday for a hearing on extradiction. Home Secretary Chuter Ede has said he would decide whether Eisler would be treated as a political refugee.

USE OF 'MASS KILLERS' IN NEW WAR FORESEEN

Total Destruction In Bacterial Warfare Detracts From Importance Of Atom Bomb, Scientist Says

By DR. THEODOR ROSEBURY
(Written Especially for INS)

NEW YORK, May 21 — One ounce of botulinus toxin, as crystalized by U. S. bacterial warfare scientists, is thought to be potent enough to kill more than 200 million persons.

Other agents of biological warfare—disease agents and viruses—are known to be considerably more potent.

The common streptococcus that causes sore throat and blood poisoning, if it were freed from extraneous material, would be much more active by weight in producing disease of man than crystalline botulinus toxin. Many bacteria are more ineffective for man than the streptococcus.

Deadly Virus Produced

Certain viruses, because they are more ineffective and much smaller than the streptococcus, would be even more active.

One fluid ounce of the virus of psittacosis (parrot fever) — in an ordinary run - of - the - laboratory preparation, without being purified or concentrated—would contain enough to infect nearly half a billion human beings.

Biological warfare has been called more "horrible" than other forms of war, but name-calling solves no problems. From the human point of view there are many ways of being injured or killed; who wants to choose among them?

Moral Issue Lost

From the military point of view one weapon is more or less effective than another, or more or less suited to a particular military job. The moral issue is swallowed up and lost in the need to defeat the enemy.

Present-day biological warfare has never been used in a military operation and nobody knows just how effective it would be. But the potential activity of its weapons is staggering, and there is no valid reason to doubt that it would be practicable from the military view.

It is likely to be used in another major war.

It would probably be used not only to kill and incapacitate human beings and economically important animals, but to destroy growing crops. It might also be used to produce profound and widespread demoralization.

Demoralization Inevitable

Demoralization would be expected because of great difficulties in defense, in spite of modern advances in medicine and public health; because of the insidious nature of biological warfare, which would retard recognition of an attack; because of the use of rare, deliberately changed, or mixed diseases, or of disease spread by unnatural means; and because of the possibilities of epidemic spread from even a few initial casualties.

What the effect might be can be imagined by extension to a military scale of the 1947 smallpox scare in New York City.

Stockpiling Easy To Conceal

International control of atomic energy, if it can be achieved—as it must be to insure its peaceful development—would still neither prevent nor significantly mitigate war while other "major weapons adaptable to mass destruction" remain uncontrolled.

Biological warfare is so different from atomic warfare that there is no basis for the hope that a technical scheme for the control of one would bring us any closer to control of the other.

The production and stockpiling of bacterial weapons is comparatively easy and cheap, and could readily be disguised as part of the normal medical and biological-industrial activity upon which the welfare of al lcivilized nations depends.

International Control Unlikely

Control by an international authority, or by any procedure based on inspection, seems out of the question. But even atomic energy has not yielded to our proposals for technological control, and it now seems clear that this problem can likewise not be solved all by itself.

If an understanding of biological warfare demonstrates the futility of an approach through technology alone to the complex political and economic problem of war, perhaps it will point the way to peace.

We may find that we cannot buy peace by controlling weapons alone—certainly not by controlling any one weapon, however potent.

We may find it unavoidable to make a frontal attack on the whole problem of war—on the political and economic rivalries of nations that lead to war.

Alternate Proposals Argued

Atomic scientists and other men of good will are coming increasingly to recognize that the problem of peace can be oversimplified.

The discouraging log jam in the UN, which seems to have piled up around the block in its Atomic Energy commisison, has persuaded most observers that the paths along which we are now moving do not lead to peace.

Hence, alternate proposals have been argued, and some have enlisted almost as much support among scientists as did the Lilienthal-Baruch proposals of 1946. Among these are the suggestion for a moratorium on large-scale atomic energy development and the idea of world government now.

The former would be as dependent upon international accord as a workable atomic development authority, and even if it were desirable would be at least equally unattainable.

Armament Race Proceeds

World government must be our ultimate goal if stable peace is to be assured, but in today's world of intensified national rivalries the attempt to achieve it directly can result only in widening the gulf between East and West.

Meanwhile, the race for armaments proceeds.

We proclaim that the purpose of our international policy is the "containment" of the Soviet Union. Russia in effect does the same.

Biological warfare can be developed by any nation, large or small, rich or poor, to which the resources of modern bacteriology are available.

Its existence dispels the last doubt that our monopoly of weapons of mass destruction is an illusion. If it were possible otherwise to escape the conclusion that World War III, if it comes, would cost more than we or any other nation could pay over many generations, bacterial warfare closes the last pathway.

Mutual 'Respect' Needed

A World War III, whose principal antagonists would be the U. S. and Russia, is neither inevitable nor necessary.

That there is an essential conflict of purpose and method between the two greatest nations on earth cannot be denied; but it need not prevent these nations from living together in peace and working toward its destiny in its own way.

No plan for world peace can be workable unless both the U. S. and Russia participate in it.

Mutual respect and tolerance between them, and among all nations, must be the first major objective on the road to peace. The road may seem rough and uninviting, but the possibility that it is the only way to peace must be weighed against the alternatives.

Four Terry County Youths To Attend Legion Meeting

BROWNFIELD, May 21 (Spl.)—Four Terry county high school boys, all junior class members, have been selected to attend the American Legion's annual Boys' State at Austin in June. They are John Thompson of Brownfield, Billy Smith of Wellman, Dan Roberts of Meadow and Derrel D. Lewis of Union.

Howard-Henson Post 269 of the American Legion, Hand Bros. Post 6794 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Brownfield Rotary and Lions club are sponsoring the boys' attendance at Boys' State.

The four youths were selected by the superintendents and teachers of their respective schools on the basis of leadership, scholarship and other qualities.

Revolutionary Television Set Developed By Germans In War

DAYTON, Ohio, May 21. (U.P.)—German scientists during World War II developed a television device very similar to the human eye for use in controlling guided missiles or aircraft but never put it into use, the Air Materiel command at Wright field disclosed today.

Announcement that the device had been de-classified by the AMC indicated that the Air Force had either made a similar eye superior to the German product or had discarded the mechanism as unusable.

The German-made eye, AMC officials said, had units similar to the human eye. It was built into missiles such as bombs and guided the missile toward a pre-set target without outside help.

Winners Announced In Essay Contest Conducted By Co-Op

AMARILLO, May 21. (Special)—Vernon Goldston of Clarendon and Marshall Lazarine of Nacogdoches have been announced as the winner of four-year college scholarships as a result of the annual essay contest conducted by Consumer Cooperative Associated, a regional wholesale cooperative organization made up of over 100,000 farmers and ranchers in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Leonard F Cowden, general manager and executive vice-president of Consumers Cooperatives Associated, announced the winners at the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the southwest's largest farm organization on May 18.

GOLDSTON

Goldston was first prize winner, and Lazarine was judged second prize winner. However, both places received an award of a four-year scholarship in the college of each winner's choice.

Presentation of the first prize award was made to Goldston on May 18 over a special radio broadcast over KGNC, with Bob Izzard, news commentator, as master of ceremonies. The award was presented by Mr. Cowden in the presence of the directorate, which consists of R. B. Gist of Canyon, Harold H. Hogue of Dalhart, G. M. Cooper of Perryton, G. E. Sonntag of Frisco, Bill Finkner of Petersburg, Wood Johnson of Brownfield, Harold Hansen of Danevang, R. M. Yowell of Elm Mott, J. M. Spicer of Stuttgart, Ark., Bill Martin of House, N. M. and Howard Wright of Harlingen.

In making the presentation, Mr. Cowden stated: "We appreciate the opportunity of extending a helping hand to aggressive young men, for we realize that in them and in their generation lies, not only the future of agriculture, but the future of our nation."

Austin Man Assumes Duties With Brownfield Radio Station

BROWNFIELD, May 21 (Special)—Conrad Verpon, formerly of radio station KNOW at Austin, has assumed his new duties here as manager of station KTFY, which is expected to be on the air around Sept. 1, operating at 1050 kilocycles and with 250-watt power.

The Terry County Broadcasting Co. has contracted with A. H. Pierce, local contractor, for construction of the studio on an eight and one-half acre site two miles east of the business district. A water well has been drilled and a complete ground system installed for the antenna.

A truck horse parade in Regent's Park, London, drew 353 entries.

Five Felony Cases To Be Called Monday

William Thomas Merimon, burglary Jan. 24 of Haberer Motor company in Ralls;

Morgan Fullbright, 17, of Crosbyton, forgery Feb. 21 of a $10 check passed the same day to L. M. Rainwater.

In statements given to the state soon after the burglary, Moses, Terry and Hansford admitted burglary of the store. They said they got approximately $25 to $30 in money, as well as cigarets and a box or two of candy.

In a spurt to test the air-lift radar system, 1,383 Allied air-lift planes recently moved a record 12,940 tons of supplies — equal to 22 50-car trainloads, into Berlin in a 24 hour period.

GOP, ADMINISTRATION ROASTED

HST, Other Public Leaders Are Targets At Gridiron Club Meet

WASHINGTON, May 21 (INS)—President Truman and other public leaders saw themselves caricatured tonight in everything from the Atlantic pact to domestic squabbles in Congress at the annual spring dinner of the Gridiron club.

Good-natured ribbing was in the ancient gridiron tradition for the pleasure of the President and 500 guests of the club, composed of Washington top news correspondents and analysts.

Sparkling Skits Given

Sparkling musical skits and acts centered around the administration's supposed November mandate, Republican hopes of returning to power and the "deep-sea court of Neptune," where international statesmen gathered.

The GOP-Southern Democratic coalition at the capitol got the spotlight on the stage at Washington's Statler hotel.

So did the plight of the American taxpayer.

Generalissimo Stalin, portrayed by a club member, faced new problems and "bright Foreign Minister Bevin" sang a jolly tune about the security alliance.

The smiling President and other guests saw the administration "roasted" over glowing gridiron coals.

Mr. Truman responded with the time-honored off-the-record presidential speech.

Welfare Program Lampooned

The classic "speech in the dark" was delivered by Richard L. Wilson, chief of the Washington bureau of the Cowles publications. Wilson observed:

"President Truman this year reached his 65th birthday. Next year the Gridiron club will be the same age, and we both will be eligible for social security."

Wilson remarked that "it is truly a wonderful age—the age of the welfare state." He added:

"Everybody gets a little something. CBS gets Benny and Crosby, Aly Khan gets Rita Hayworth and President Truman gets Byrd. Even Gov. Dewey gets a trip to Europe—but at his own expense."

The famous gridiron quartet lampooned the President's "welfare state" in a marching song which ended:

"We're the new non-partisan welfare society and fair-deal-we-rule by-crony band."

Taxpayer Ribbed

Foreign affairs were "razzed" in a musical skit with King Neptune's bottom-of-the-ocean court—complete with mermaids.

This court was peopled by statesmen of the world. British Foreign Minister Bevin called the Atlantic pact something "about which we're all ecstatic." The British statesman was depicted as singing, to the tune of a Gilbert and Sullivan melody:

"It's very, very voluntary,
"Ah, it's such a voluntary,
"Very, very voluntary pact."

Stalin emerged to say that "these satellite nations are so hard to fleece, I can't make a nickel—not even in Greece." Stalin concluded:

"Why, sometimes I think I'd just better make peace."

High Officials Attend

"All of me—why not take all of me?"

The club produced an old-time minstrel show, in which Sen. Taft, Ohio, Senate Republican policy leader, was the interlocutor. The skit was based on the GOP-Southern Democratic coalition. The theme song was "Voting in the Senate on a Summer Afternoon."

Distinguished guests included Vice President Barkley, Chief Justice Vinson and other Supreme court justices, members of the cabinet, top figures in the military establishment and the diplomatic corps and congressional leaders.

Supreme court justices present included Reed, Black, Frankfurter, Douglas, Jackson, Rutledge and Burton. The cabinet was represented by Treasury Secretary Snyder, Johnson, Attorney General Clark, Postmaster General Donaldson, Interior Secretary Krug, Agriculture Secretary Brannan and Commerce Secretary Sawyer.

From newspaperdom came William Randolph Hearst, jr., Seymour Berkson, general manager of International News Service; Roy Roberts, of The Kansas City Star, and many others.

NEWS BRIEFS

R. D. Cole of 2012 Twenty-ninth, who entered Lubbock Memorial hospital last Sunday night after suffering a heart attack, is improving in condition. Mr. Cole returned home from Scott and White clinic in Temple May 8.

Cpl. Andrew Harrell, USMC, of Spur, is scheduled to arrive in Norfolk, Va., May 24, after a five month cruise in the Mediterranean aboard the light anti-aircraft cruiser USS Spokane. Earlier this month he visited the French Riviera and Oran, Algeria, prior to bidding farewell to Europe at the Rock of Gibraltar and sailing for home.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president at Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker at the graduating exercises at the Anton High school Friday.

R. B. McMillen, sales manager of the Rocky Mountain division of the Industrial Tape corporation of New Brunswick, N. J., will speak to Lubbock Sales Executives club at its monthly dinner at 7 p.m. Thursday in Hilton hotel. The Sales Executives club has invited Lubbock Advertising club members to be guests to hear the outstanding sales and advertising executive.

Dick Jackson, disaster chairman of Lubbock county chapter of The American Red Cross, has called a meeting of the disaster committee for 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Colonial Room at Hilton hotel. The group hopes to bring local disaster plans, which would be used in event of disaster, up to date.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president at Texas Technological college, will deliver the commencement address to the graduating class at the Colorado City High school Friday.

Lubbock singers contributed to the program at the Gay Nineties revue of the Pioneer Roundup at Plainview Saturday night with members of the Barber Shop chorus and the Plainsmen quartet presenting numbers. The Lubbock group went to Plainview Saturday afternoon in a chartered TNM&O bus.

First Western Hemisphere Jade Mine Starts Operation In Remote Regions Of Wyoming

LANDER, Wyo., May 21. (INS)—Between Muddy Gap and Lander in Wyoming, within sight of the old Oregon trail, the only jade mine in the western hemisphere has started operation.

Out of the huge deposit—which is expected to result in a new market for the semi-precious stone—chunks as large as 3 feet long, 18 inches wide and 18 inches deep have been taken.

Previously, the use of jade has been limited to jewelry and carvings, or for small inlays in expensive furniture.

Unlimited Market Seen

Development of the big Wyoming deposit means that the home builder, who wants a touch of luxury, or the designer of a building or theater which needs an "extra touch" can order jade in place of marble.

Harrison S. Cobb of Boulder, Colo., mine operator and a partner in the American Jade company, developer of the deposit, believes that the market is unlimited, although supply will still be limited. Processing of the stone is expensive, since it must be cut out of the rough natural shapes by jewelers' tools.

'Outcroppings' Common

A peculiarity of geology provided jade in a 15 by 30 mile area in Wyoming—the only deposit of its kind known in North America. The fact of existence of some jade in that area has long been known, and about eight tons of the stone have been taken out of Lander in the past 20 years.

All this was found on the surface of the ground. Cobb and other mining men call it "float" or "outcropping."

The new development is a quarry-type operation, and production started just a month ago.

Deposit Found By Accident

The large deposit was accidently discovered by Ted Graham of the historic Graham ranch, as he was riding the range a few years ago. Graham sold the property to a group of Denver businessmen.

The mining engineer, who had experience in gold, tungsten and fluorspar mines in Boulder county in Colorado, joined the firm to mine "something different."

The site of the unique mine is near Split rock, an important landmark on the Oregon trail, where covered wagon trails rolled westward in search of wealth 100 years ago. The area is still primitive. Antelope graze nearby and coyotes howl in the morning and evening.

Shipped To China

Wyoming jade, Cobb said, has long been shipped to China, where it was carved by expert craftsmen, and then shipped back to the United States for sale as "oriental jade." He recently saw in Cheyenne a jade statuette, 15 inches tall, for sale at $300.

The North American product is technically "nephrite," as distinguished from the Burma jade which is "jadeite." From the Wyoming mine it is shipped to Denver, where processing includes sawing into slabs and cutting into shapes, to order. All of the finished polished products are custom made to order.

Now the business tycoon or Hollywood star can specify in home plans—"the bathroom and front hall shall be trimmed in jade."

YOUTH KILLED AT DALLAS

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—James Floyd Nicholson, 6, died yesterday in a fall from a bicycle near his home. His head struck the sidewalk after the bicycle hit loose sand and threw him.

Jimmy Stewart Announces Plan To Marry Socialite In August

HOLLYWOOD, May 21 (INS)—Hollywood's No. 1 bachelor—Jimmy Stewart—announced today that he is going to wed socialite Gloria Hatrick McLean next August.

Stewart said that he popped the question to the attractive New York divorcee at his 41st birthday party last night. Said the actor: "To my surprise, she said 'yes.' I'm as happy as a kid."

Stewart and Mrs. McLean have been keeping company for the past twelve months.

Recently when they accompanied friends on a week's fishing trip to Mazatlan, gossip was rife that the two would be married during their Mexican holiday.

Stewart, however, promptly scotched the reports when he returned to the film city. Said he at the time:

"We didn't even talk about marriage. Besides, I'm a confirmed bachelor."

TREES ARE INJURED

New Plant Will Be Opened Here

accurate speculation upon when the plant may be in operation, the investment required to get the work started, the number of employes and anticipated growth in the future.

$8,000 Paid To City

His initial investment in the enterprise was disclosed as being $8,000, paid to the city to bind a sale-lease deal for the local site.

The amount covers the outright purchase of 10 acres of land at $75 an acre and two years' rental of four warehouse buildings aggregating 40,000 square feet of floor space which were acquired by the city as war surplus from the wartime SPAAF.

The buildings will require some alterations to adapt them to the purposes of his plant, Palmer said. Machine installations also will be necessary. He would not estimate the cash outlay necessary to carry out this planning because, as he said, "we don't know ourselves, as yet."

Local Labor To Be Used

But he said plans are to get the plant into operation not later than during the early winter, concentrating initially upon the assembly and distribution of evaporative coolers marketed under the trade name "Sno-Breeze."

The first operating personnel, he continued, may not number more than 25 or 30 persons, all employed locally except two or three of the key personnel who will be transferred from Phoenix.

"Business then will determine the pace and extent of future expansions," he commented, adding tersely that "I wouldn't be spending money in Lubbock if I was not confident that the investment is sound."

A. B. Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that Palmer is starting out in Lubbock on a scale vastly larger than in Phoenix.

Original Plant Expands

Palmer was reared in that city. His father established and operated a sheet metal works there for years. Father and son were among the earliest pioneers in the air conditioning field, developing most of the features now incorporated in the Palmer products.

From the original "tin shop" the business has grown into a modern manufacturing plant spread over 20 acres, employing an average of about 300 persons, with an investment exceeding $3,000,000 and a business volume which has grown steadily from year to year. The volume last year totaled more than $3,000,000, he said, the largest in the company's history—and represented a substantial gain when business in the nation as a whole was receding from postwar boom levels.

The principal products of the firm were explained as being the "Sno-Breeze" coolers and heating units known as "Palmaire." Coolers are manufactured during the winter and heaters during the summer, which means a stabilized payroll, in each case for market during the approaching season. They have retail outlets throughout the United States and Mexico.

Sheet Steel Used

Sheet steel is the principal raw material used in the Phoenix plant —and planned for use in the new plant here. Stamping machines fashion the metal into desired shapes for coolers and heaters. Parts then are assembled on moving production lines into complete units.

The stamping machines are huge and expensive pieces of equipment, costing approximately $300,000 per unit. The tentative planning calls for the installation of as many of these units in the Lubbock plant as the demand may justify.

Initially, however, the stamping units at Phoenix will serve the needs there and in Lubbock. The stamped parts handled in Lubbock will be shipped from Phoenix for assembly into completed units which will be distributed from this city to Texas and adjacent southwestern markets.

Interest Grows

The negotiations which resulted in Saturday's announcement started more than a year ago. The Chamber of Commerce got wind last summer that Palmer was contemplating expansion. Many cities have competed for the plant—Dallas, Amarillo and Little Rock, Ark., among others.

Lubbock wasn't even considered as a possibility at the start. But Palmer's first casual interest became intensified as he investigated the possibilities here until he became convinced that Lubbock most perfectly fitted the picture of the site he was seeking.

"I am deeply and most favorably impressed with your city, your people and the future possibilities of your territory," he remarked.

The possibilities of competing successfully for the plant were strengthened immeasurably when the land and most of the buildings which comprised the wartime SPAAF were restored to the city last year. The land was owned by the city and leased to the government at $1 a year for wartime use. The government erected the necessary buildings at a cost exceeding $4,000,000.

The SPAAF land area totals more than 1,400 acres. Of this, 640 acres comprise Municipal airport and will be used permanently for that purpose.

That leaves about 800 acres available for other uses. The planning envisioned for it by city and civic officials are exceedingly ambitious.

Industrial Development Seen

The long-range program proposes to make as much of the land as may be needed—all of it if necessary—available for industries of superior type. This means businesses of the type which employ a highly desirable type of citizen.

It is a policy which would exclude plants which would be objectionable because of junky appearance, odors or for other reasons.

The program envisions the completed development as creating an area where plants will be set in park-like landscaping, free of the grime and dingy appearance usually associated with industrial districts.

Expectation is that the personnel of such establishments will, in large part, be provided homes in the residential districts which could be developed in any direction adjacent to their places of employment. Several convenient additions are in the process of development.

Chamber officials said interest in securing sites at SPAAF for industrial enterprises is considerably more widespread than most residents of Lubbock realize.

Care Exercised In Choice

City officials have made clear, however, that those to whom the land and facilities will be made available will be chosen with much care. Factors to be weighed heavily in connection with applications for sites will be the class of people the proposed businesses would employ and whether they would be detrimental in any way to that portion of suburban Lubbock as a place to work and reside.

Officials have emphasized, too, that the $75 an acre for which land was sold to Palmer does not set a standard for future land sales.

That price is exceedingly low in comparison with conservative appraisals of land values in that area.

But the development of the program depends, in its present stage, upon getting a few plants of desirable type located on the tract. A few plants, officials believe, will tend to attract others.

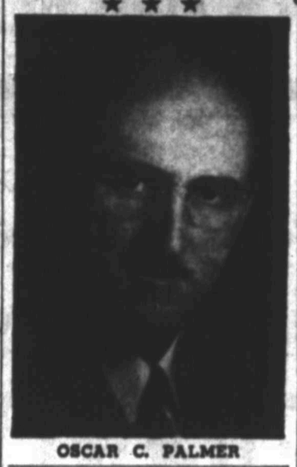

"I am not wondering whether we have too much land for the developments to be expected in that area," Mayor W. H. Rodgers remarked. "The big question in my mind is: Do we have enough?"

The mayor is the official who actually closed the deal in the Palmer negotiations.

With the unanimous approval of other members of the city commission, he signed the sale-lease agreement with Palmer and accepted his $8,000 check on behalf of the city. Other members are Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler, and Clarence Whiteside.

SCENES IN PLANT—These scenes in the Palmer Manufacturing co. at Phoenix, Ariz., are suggestive of plans for the plant scheduled to go into operation during the early winter on a 10-acre site on the former South Plains Air field, for which a deal was closed Saturday. At left, assembly line workers put finishing touches upon an array of evaporative air conditioners marketed under the trade name of "Sno-Breeze" coolers. At right, the units undergo final inspection before leaving the plant. The coolers and heating units known as "Palmaire" are featured products of the company. At left is Oscar C. Palmer, owner of the company.

Four Persons Hurt In Wreck Near City

Four persons were treated about 9:20 p. m. Saturday at Lubbock memorial hospital for injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding "nose dived" off the washed-out bridge in the canyon on North College Ave., approximately one mile north of the intersection of the Littlefield highway and the Plainview cutoff road.

Driver of the car, Edward Robert Bradford, 34, of Flake addition received lacerations and bruises on the face and arms. He received emergency treatment at the hospital and was dismissed.

Two women identified by hospital attendants as Gertrude Wilson and Mrs. Pearl Brown, both about 35, remained in the hospital last night for observation and treatment. Miss Wilson received lacerations, contusions, and abrasions on the face and neck, an injured right knee, and a possible fractured right ankle. Mrs. Brown, of Avinger addition, suffered contusions, abrasions, and small lacerations on the face and head, but had no fractures.

A second man in the automobile at the time of the accident was treated at the hospital for a cut on the forehead and later dismissed. His name was not known by hospital officials.

The victims were taken to the hospital by Sanders Funeral home ambulance.

Cat Reaches Lubbock

years, and Tom has been with them nearly all that time. They have lived in Kassel, Fritzlar, Badwildugen, Bamberg and Karlsruhe.

Germans Ate Cats

Herr Tom was born in Kassel.

Mrs. Dabov, the former Myrl Kimbrell, says cats are somewhat of an oddity in Germany at present. Most of them, during the late unpleasantness and afterwards, were served up roasted, boiled or stewed, she says.

She recalls one German who looked Herr Tom over appraisingly and said, "He wouldn't be so good. He's eaten too much fish."

But Tom got by his sojourn in Germany without losing any of his nine lives, so far as Mrs. Dabov knows.

Strangers Become Friends

He seems to be completely unconcerned about his change of environment. He accepts strangers readily, without more than a passing and slightly scornful glance.

However, Tom won't accept food from strangers, which means that his entire flight from Germany probably was made without food, Mrs. Dabov believes.

The cat, unusually large, looks like a panther, Mrs. Dabov thinks.

"He's really very happy now," she remarks. "Herr Tom doesn't like the Army life, and he doesn't like to travel. He likes to stay home and sleep.

"His favorite place is the kitchen sink. He spends a lot of time there. He likes to play in the water running out of the tap, which is unusual for a cat. He likes to sleep in the sink too."

Mrs. Dabov is happy to be home. She has seen a great deal of Germany, France and Switzerland in her time abroad, but she finds Germany depressing after so long.

She is not planning to go back to Germany, since her husband will be up for release in September and will join her in this country.

Congratulations to:

Twenty-ninth, and fell into the water of the surface pool that was approximately 20 feet deep when scooped out years ago. Water that filled his boots made it more difficult for him to swim out, it further was explained.

Boys Find Body

The body was discovered by three youngsters who had gone to the pool to "sail our boats." They were Charles Mosely, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Mosely of 106 East Thirty-third; Dewey (Donnie) Wayne Rinehart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rinehart of Lubbock route 6; and Jerry Lee Zeibig, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Zeibig of Lubbock route 6. They rushed away and informed Morris Wayne Deatherage, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Deatherage of 203 East Thirty-third, and Jerry Robison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Robison of 514 Ave. D. Mrs. Deatherage ran to the cooperative mill. Roy B. Davis, manager, called the sheriff's department.

Investigation Is Made

Sheriff Grady Harrist, deputies, C. E. Lynn, justice of peace and coroner, police, a Rix ambulance crew, and A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, went to the scene and commenced an investigation.

There were no signs of external violence on the body, Dr. Kallina's report, submitted to Justice Lynn, said. "Death apparently was from natural causes or drowning," he said.

Lynn said he probably would adopt that explanation for his inquest verdict.

Funeral services will be read at 10 a.m. today, at Plains Funeral Home chapel, Plains Funeral home announced. Burial will follow in Lubbock Memorial cemetery.

Survivors other than the wife are a son, D. W. Gravitt of Levelland; three daughters, Mrs. Robbie Morgan, and Mrs. Wilma Freeman, both of Lubbock, and Mrs. Alice Abell of Levelland; and six grandchildren.

Berlin Strike

es said the police inside the Wannsee station were not the regular railway guards.

"I recognized them as Communist police from the Russian zone wearing railway uniforms," one German said.

Earlier Russian machine gunners had been posted aboard elevated trains after hours of bloody rioting in West Berlin. Part of the elevated resumed operation.

Both freight and passenger trains were stalled by the strike.

Five thousand young Communist strike-breakers and Soviet sector railway police battled with the 12,000 strikers and, on occasion, with West Berlin's city police.

The rail strike, by 12,000 West Berlin workers, paralyzed both freight movements and the elevated passenger trains in this divided city of 3,000,000.

9,000 Attend Annual Old Timers Roundup Event At Plainview

PLAINVIEW, May 21 (Special) — Pioneer costumes and Wild West regalia was the order of the day at the 21st annual Pioneer Roundup here today.

The annual affair, sponsored by the Plainview Business and Professional Women's club, is in honor of old-timers and pioneer settlers of this area.

The celebration was launched this morning with a reception and get together in City hall, which served as headquarters for other activities throughout the day.

A parade through downtown Plainview was held at 2 p.m today. Heading the parade were Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry of Austin, adjutant general of Texas, who represented Gov. Beauford Jester at the event; Judge Mead F. Griffin, of Austin, Hale county resident who is an associate justice of the Texas Supreme court; Mrs. Charley Ward of Houston, president of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs; and Hale county Sheriff Ted Andrews, who was parade marshal.

Old-timers and long-time residents were honored at a chuck wagon supper tonight in City hall. An estimated 9,000 persons attended. Following, a "Gay Nineties Review" was held, at which "Uncle Jay," Amarillo radio entertainer, interviewed various pioneer residents. The interviews were broadcast over radio station KVOP.

An old-fashioned square dance tonight concluded the day's activities.

Trinity Levee Breaks

inundate some of the richest acres in all Texas.

The scene was in Kaufman county, in levee district No. 4, on the east side of the river. Lands flooded were between the river and the town of Rosser.

It was believed the major break would take considerable pressure off other endangered places in the levees.

River men felt that, because of the breach, the level of the river would fall several feet.

While floodwaters coursed through the break, hundreds of volunteers worked at weak-levee spots in the area. The volunteers included National Guardsmen, called out by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

Three miles downstream from Rosser, on the west or Ellis county side of the river, a floodgate was opened to relieve pressure and water inundated 1,500 to 2,000 acres of uncultivated land.

treaty of peace with Austria.

The decision of the Western Allies to stress economic aspects before political questions indicates maintenance of the position taken by them at the last foreign ministers meeting, which ended in failure in London in December, 1947.

This will involve such controversial issues as Russian demands for $10,000,000,000 in reparations, removing economic barriers between the occupation zones, and the pooling of German resources.

If Vishinsky agrees to this agenda it means that the first test of the conference may come over basic economic issues, including the question whether Russia will relax her economic stranglehold on eastern Germany.

Tornadoes Kill 35, Injure 250

treme west central edge of the city of some 20,000 and roared up Broadway avenue, a business street, the patrolman reported.

He said a tourist court, an automobile agency and the Medical Arts building were badly damaged.

Many of those injured lived in an industrial section of the city on the banks of the Mississippi.

In Wood River, Ill., a newspaper editor said that four persons had been killed and 40 hurt in the twister which hit near Wood River, Meadowbrook and Roxana in the area immediate south of Alton. He estimated damage between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. He said more than 200 homes and a theater were damaged and that all power service, including light and phone lines was cut off.

The Missouri tornado whined and roared through scattered sections in the eastern part of the state before hopping the Mississippi toward Illinois.

In northwest St. Louis county, a twister struck the Bridgeton area. There were no immediate reports of casualties, but property damage was expected to be heavy. The twister lashed at Cyrene, Eolia, Perry, and Bowling Green, all north of St. Louis, and damaged trees, roofs, and window glass at Hannibal, Mo. At least one home was reported destroyed in both Cyrene and Eolia.

Keosauqua, in southeastern Iowa, was shaken by a tornado which left a narrow path of damaged homes, outbuildings, and uprooted trees. Farms north and west of the towns were damaged. No one was reported injured. Torrential rains accompanied the twister.

Oklahoma Hard Hit

The new tornadoes followed by a day a series of twisters and windstorms which took eight lives Friday night. Oklahoma was hardest hit, but tornadoes also churned scattered communities in Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska Friday night. An isolated twister whistled through two small Tennessee towns.

Heavy rains soaked the smitten localities and floods welled out of choked streams in a widening area.

Five of the deaths resulted from the wind. Three persons were drowned in flood waters.

Floods Also Take Tolls

The weather has hit hard at the south plains states for four days.

In Texas the Trinity river won a three-day battle with hundreds of workers who had feverishly patrolled strained levees.

The high water crisis continued as rains continued in the mid-Mississippi valley and in the Nebraska-South Dakota region. However, the downpours were largely over in Oklahoma where the Washita river overflow put three fourths of Linday in soak and sent hundreds of residents to higher ground.

In Kansas, tornadoes and wind storms killed two persons, injured more than eight others, one seriously, and caused extensive damage in widely scattered sections.

to the rest room and, when they returned, one caught him by the arm and another wrapped a piece of cloth about his face, obscuring his view.

Ordered Into Car

"As a result, I barely saw the men at any time, either at the station or later," Edwards said.

"One of them ordered me to open the register, but another decided to do it himself. I had counted the receipts, $44.30. They took that money and about $2 in change I had in my pockets.

"Then they told me we were going for 'a little ride' but that I wouldn't be hurt if I kept my hands in front of me. We rode out of town, but I was confused as to where.

"Finally they pulled off on a dirt road and drove awhile, stopped, then drove a little farther.

"Then they told me to get out. One of them held me by the arm while the car was turned around. When it came back, he told me I was on my own and turned me loose, jerking the cloth from my face and jumping into the car as it came by.

"They had discussed tying me up out there in the country, but another one said, 'No, he's got a wife and a kid waiting for him.' I had told them earlier, when they discussed taking me to New Mexico, that I had a wife and baby who would be worried if I didn't show up by 1 o'clock at home.

"I didn't know where I was, but I walked two or three miles and found myself on the highway. A motorist—he formerly was a highway patrolman he said—picked me up and I was back in town almost within an hour after the robbery."

Edwards had not been able to identify either of the two men in custody here, stating that he was in the dark or his head covered most of the time he was with the hijackers.

Both Ables and Abbott had given investigating officers false names, but admitted their true identity when confronted with evidence against them.

Abbott admitted his real name when his fingerprints tallied with those on a driver's license issued to him in California.

A birth certificate found among the belongings in the abandoned suitcase identified Ables.

The two suspects were under almost continual questioning throughout the day Saturday by Adcock, Chief Deputy Sheriff Sam Floyd of Lamesa, Texas Rangers, Lubbock detectives and Lubbock county deputies sheriff.

The men finally agreed to make statements to Adcock early Saturday night, after the circumstantial evidence against them had been presented.

Adcock, Floyd and Edwards returned to Lamesa early this morning, where the county attorney said he intended to file charges immediately

Texas Solon Favors European Aid Limit

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex) said today he will propose a limitation on European recovery funds.

Congress has authorized approximately $5,500,000,000 for foreign aid this year. An appropriation bill is in the making.

Thomas, a member of the appropriations committee, told a reporter he believes the cost of rearming Europe, if Congress approves expenditures for that purpose, should be deducted from the aid fund.

Furthermore, he said, if we are going to be short of money at home, the Europeans should share our economies. There has been talk of limiting appropriations or increasing taxes.

"Of course," Thomas said, "we've got to help those people arm. It's just good national defense on our part. If an enemy threatened, they should be able to block an invasion until we can get under way."

He said that, since Congress has made no decision on the arms matter, it isn't possible to withhold any specific amount from the appropriation for this purpose but he thinks restrictive language might be written which would hold back $750,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 until the arms question is settled and the domestic economic picture more clear.

Levelling Off Of Employment In April Reported By Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 21 (INS)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced today that employment in non-agricultural establishments leveled off at 43,900,000 in mid-April, arresting the decline of the preceding three months.

The bureau reported that substantial seasonal gains in building and trade employment offset further sharp declines in the manufacturing industries.

BLS added that non-farm employment continued over two million below the all-time peak of last December and about 400,000 under the year-ago level. BLS declared:

"Despite the overall decrease, construction, trade, finance and government employed more workers than in April last year."

At the same time, the bureau reported that average weekly earnings for the 12,100,000 manufacturing employes decreased from $53.63 in March to $52.62 in April.

Texas, Oklahoma Hardest Hit By Twisters

Deaths, Destruction Mount As Tornado Season Hits Peak

By ROBERT J. SEITZ
INS Staff Correspondent

DENVER, May 21.—At least 46 persons have died and more than 1,000 have been injured in twisters which have swept across states in the tornado belt since the first of the year. The totals were given before Saturday's storms hit.

Property damage has been so extensive that a compilation of total destruction is incomplete, but the figure tops $50 million.

Texas and Oklahoma have been hardest hit by tornadoes this year. Arkansas, Kansas and Mississippi follow in order.

Storm Kills 28

The largest death toll from one tornado in 1949 resulted from a twister which swept Oklahoma and parts of Texas in March. The storm left 28 dead and an undetermined number injured.

On January 4, 300 persons were injured in a twister at Warren, Ark. The first Kansas twister of the year was also reported on that date.

Meteorologists say that the twisters occur mostly in the spring. This is because cold air masses moving from the west meet warm gulf air east of the Rocky mountains, often resulting in the whirling action which gives birth to the tornado "vortex."

Actual Vortex Small

Not only the temperature of the air masses, but pressure and humidity are important factors. When the heavier, colder air moves into an area occupied by the warmer gulf air, tornadoes are likely to result in the low pressure area.

The actual path of the "vortex" or funnel is small, covering up to 200 feet. It is accompanying winds that cause most of the destruction.

When the funnel passes over a building, the difference in air pressure in the building and the partial vacuum of the funnel causes the building to explode.

Start In Texas, Oklahoma

The states in the tornado belt lie under a giant mixing chamber for the warm and cold air masses. In the spring, the pressure-temperature-humidity differential is greatest.

Twisters start in Texas and Akransas during January, and reach their peak in Oklahoma, Kansas and eastern Colorado around June.

As the western air masses become warmer, the likelihood of tornadoes decreases. There is a slight increase in the number of tornadoes in the fall, but they diminish as cold weather takes over.

The only safe shelter from a twister is a cave or other underground chamber. Buildings are not safe.

Even heavy stone buildings can fly apart from the terrific inner pressure caused when a funnel passes over. Frame buildings can be blown apart by accompanying winds.

To avoid injury in open, flat country, it is best to lie flat, face down.

Recess Ordered In Damage Suit Arising From Texas City Blast

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—Participants in the $200,000,000 Texas City disaster damage suit mass trial will get a breathing spell starting Wednesday.

Federal District Judge T. L. Kennerly will recess the trial Tuesday until May 31 when it will be resumed in Galveston.

The trial, to determine the federal government's liability for damages suffered from the disaster, began here April 25.

New Tax On Gas Goes Into Effect In New Mexico June 10

SANTA FE, N. M., May 21 (INS) — Better fill up that gas tank before 11:59 a.m. if you're in New Mexico June 10

That's the date the gasoline pump meters will start ticking off an extra two cents per gallon for New Mexico's bureau of revenue.

State officials are attempting to ignore referendum petitions being circulated to set aside the two cent gas tax increase. They say the tax increase cannot be made subject to referendum because it is to be used to pay off "a public debt."

Backers of the referendum, on the other hand, say the public debt provision does not apply in this case, and they plan a court contest. They say they already have enough petition signatures to bring the gas tax hike to a vote of the people next election.

If the new law goes into effect, New Mexico's gas tax will total seven cents per gallon.

Westerners, Wichita Falls To Meet In Bi-District Playoff Friday

Heavy Barrage Of Base Hits Give Hubs 19 To 11 Victory

First Tilt Scheduled For Spudder Park At 2:30 P.M.

The baseball playoff between the District 1-AA Champion Westerners and Wichita Falls, District 2-AA winner, will be held Friday and Saturday, May 27-28, Coach C. R. Pattison said Saturday.

Announcement of the games came after a telephone conference with Joe Golding, coach at Wichita Falls. The first tilt will be played at 2:30 p.m. Friday at Spudder park in Wichita Falls. The second, and third tilt if needed, will be played at Rosenthal field in Lubbock. The time of the second game is tentatively set at 2:30 p.m., and a third game would follow if needed.

Won The Hard Way

Lubbock won the district playoff with Amarillo the hard way after taking the south half bracket with six wins and no losses. The first game, played at Chapman field was won by Amarillo, 7-3, after three postponements, and the other two contests were played in Amarillo.

With a very strong showing Lubbock took the initial game of a doubleheader, 15-8, at Gold Sox park and were well on the way to winning the second when rain intervened and stopped the contest with the Westerners leading 4-0 in the second inning with no outs and the bases loaded. The final game, also played in Amarillo, was a close 8-6 victory for Fred Taylor's nine although Lubbock led all the way after picking up a run in the second inning.

Batting stars of the playoff series were Bob Brown, Charles Galey, Morris Turner, Powell Hinson, Jessie Fullerton, and Jimmy Hamilton. In the three games Brown, shortstop, led hitting with seven safe blows in 10 official trips, including a triple and two doubles. Galey, second baseman, had four hits in seven trips, including a home run, triple and a double. In the first game he was walked five times.

Hinson made five hits in 13 appearances, and two of the hits were doubles. Turner also had five hits in 13 official trips to the plate with two doubles.

Coming out of a slump which had plagued him in the last two or three games of the season, Fullerton made four hits in 10 trips. One hit was a long home run, and one was a double.

The victories over Amarillo ran the season's total to 17 victories and three defeats. The team batting average is .267 over the season, and several boys are hitting above .300. In district play Galey has an average of .619; Brown has .529; Hinson is batting .444; Turner has .400; and Berry Allen batted .500 with one hit in two trips.

Lions Golf Meet Slated

While the District convention of the Lions club being held here today through Tuesday will have its serious side, it also will have its sporting side for the first time.

The sporting side consists of a golf tournament open to all members of Lions clubs throughout the district and the golfer who doesn't bring his clubs along is in for a disappointment.

Play At Country Club

The Lubbock Country club will be the site of the Lions tournament Tuesday afternoon, although the privileges of the course will be open every day throughout the convention.

Golfers will tee off at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon for an 18-hole tournament that promises to send seven Lions home happy. Chick Trout, tournament chairman, has worked hard to make the tournament, limited in time, as attractive as possible.

Prizes for winners have been arranged for by Trout and each of the seven handsome trophies to be given away have been sponsored by a member of the Lubbock Lions club.

Seven Trophies Slated

The seven trophies will be given for the following achievements: championship low medal trophy, presented by Wayne "Mickey" Henly, president of the Lubbock club; low net score trophy, presented by Trout; blind bogey trophy, presented by Robert Bean; most pars trophy, presented by Ruel Martin; most 5s trophy, presented by O. A. Terry; most 6s trophy, presented by Elmer Tarbox; and longest drive trophy, presented by Raymond Burford.

The tournament committee has planned the tournament so that no one player may win more than a single trophy.

Twelve-Run Third Frame Is Devastating To Borger Club

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Busting loose for the heaviest barrage of base hits seen at Rosenthal Field this year, the Lubbock Hubbers completely and entirely demolished any symptom of an attack the Borger Gassers may have had last night, while 1,238 paying customers whooped in delirious delight at a 19 to 11 victory.

The fence-busting spree, as welcome as the flowers in May, found the Hubbers pounding out 24 assorted safeties off the slants of the vaunted Vallie Eaves and Marion Grant, his successor. And included in the debris was a 12-run third inning, the likes of which Hubber fans haven't seen in a long time.

Every Hubber Hits

Every Hubber in the lineup last night hit and every Hubber drove in at least one run, but Mike Dooley again topped the potent, punch - packing Hubbers. The slender catcher pounded out three extra base hits, a homer, triple and double in that order, to drive in four runs.

At that, Dooley had to yield one honor to Don Hensiek, the hurler who went all the way for the victory. Hensiek, with only one hit before last night, came up with four consecutive safeties to wind up with four hits in five trips.

The third inning was wild and wooly, with Bo Dempsey the only Hubber failing to hit safely. A total of 17 men batted that inning, collecting 12 hits and getting two bases on balls. Joe Wisniewski had a double and single that frame, Jim Prince doubled and walked, Dooley tripled and doubled, Buddy McCallum had a pair of singles and Hensiek had a double and single.

The fireworks that frame ended whatever resemblance to a ball game there was, although the Gassers kept fighting back. They had men on base in every inning, but couldn't manage to get them around enough to stay in the thick of the fight.

Open Up In First

Hubber artillery opened up in the first inning, when Nelson Davis slammed a home run over the leftfield barrier. Prince walked and Dooley poled a tremendous drive to the same spot and the Hubbers were three-up on the visitors.

Borger came back to score twice in the second and then went ahead in the third on three runs. It was the last time they came close.

Dempsey, hitless all night, finally found the range in the seventh and drive a pitch against the Avalanche-Journal scoreboard to count two mates ahead of him. That four-run seventh was the clincher, if any was needed.

Bob Ferguson hit for the circuit in the eighth with a man aboard for Borger and Manager Eddie Carnett followed suit in the ninth with one on the sacks. But the two blows were lost in the welter of scoring by Lubbock.

The two teams meet again at 3 p. m. today with Chris Haskins, recovering from a chest ailment, scheduled to hurl.

Hit Happy Hubbers!

Sunbeamers Win Two Games

Lubbock Team Leads In League

CRANE, May 21 (Special)—Lubbock's Bluebonnet - Sunbeamers softball team swept into undisputed possession of first place in the Texas Softball league with a pair of victories over the Crane Oilers, 1-0 and 6-4, in a doubleheader here tonight.

Warren "Stringbean" Pope, handed a bad beating last week by Red Denham and the Oilers, came back to hurl a two-hit shutout that took nine innings to play.

G. W. Warden, who beat the Oilers 1-0 last week, lost his shutout tonight, but still throttled the losers on five hits to win his fourth game without defeat this season.

The first tilt was a thriller all the way, with neither team able to dent the rubber over the regulation distance. Lefty Wells doubled in the first inning for Crane, but was left stranded. And Denham singled in the third, only to die on the bases.

But in the ninth, Wally Fowler led off with a clean single for Lubbock. James Abbott dumped a sacrifice, Fowler moving to second, and Don Allen followed suit, moving Fowler to third. Willis James fanned, but Havens let the ball go through him and Fowler crossed the plate with the winning tally.

Pope, in rare form, fanned 18 Oilers and never was in serious trouble, while Denham chalked up 14 whiff victims.

The second game was more loosely played, with the Sunbeamers taking a lead in the first inning and never trailing. Warden led off the big fourth with a single, Claude Bagwell was safe on an error and Jiggs Jackson also reached first on an error to load the sacks. Fowler promptly unloaded them with a booming triple to rightfield and he scored on Allen's bingle.

The line scores:

Cat Nine Blanks Dallas, 5 To 0

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—Fort Worth blanked arch rival Dallas, 5-0, tonight in a series transferred from Fort Worth because of fire and flood damage to the Cat's park.

Fort Worth broke loose three runs in the first inning when Cal Abrams walked, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Preston Ward's double. Sam Di Blasi's double scored Bunday, who had singled, and Ward.

The Cats added another run in the third on an error, sacrifice and Alex Carrasquel's double. Their final run came in the eighth when Di Blasi tripled and an error.

SAN ANTONIO NOSES OUT HOUSTON CLUB, 8-7

SAN ANTONIO, May 21 (AP)—The San Antonio Missions survived a ninth inning home run assault tonight and defeated the Houston Buffs, 8 to 7 in the opening game of a three game series.

Lefty Al Gerheauser received credit for his fifth victory, but he wasn't around at the finish. He was derricked in the ninth after Don Bollweg and pinchhitter Eddie Green nicked him for successive home runs. Earl Reid came to the rescue and fanned Lou Ortiz for the final out with the tying and winning runs on base.

Solly Hemus also homered for the Buffs with the bases empty in the third.

OKLAHOMA CITY INDIANS SCALP TULSA NINE, 7-2

TULSA, Okla., May 21 (AP)—Oklahoma City's Indians, on the Texas league warpath, scalped their Tulsa cousins tonight, 7 to 2, with a flurry of extra base hits.

The offerings of three Tulsa pitchers were no mystery to Oklahoma City which banged out 14 hits, two of them for round trippers.

It was the 15th victory in the last 17 games for the Redskins, breathing down Fort Worth's neck for fourth place in standings.

Tommy Reis, veteran righthander, held the Oilers to a half dozen blows and was never in serious trouble except for the sixth inning when Tulsa slipped across two runs.

CHARLES OPENS TRAINING

MOMENCE, Ill., May 21 (INS)—Ezzard Charles opened training today for his heavyweight title bout with Joe Walcott and weighed in at 187 pounds, ten pounds more than he figures to carry against Walcott at Chicago's Comiskey Park the night of June 22. Charles will begin boxing Tuesday.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Opal Dixon's timely question the other day in The Inquiring Reporter brought forth the answers from baseball fans that it might be expected to bring forth. The question asked the public that day was "Do you think extremely rowdy fans should be ejected from baseball crowds?" Every one of the persons answering the question agreed that rowdy persons should be ejected. It was the natural answer.

We wish the question had been more general. We doubt if there is anyone who wants to sit at a game of any nature and hear one or more persons using vile language. We doubt if anyone enjoys sitting near slobbery drunks, who are rowdy or who become even more offensive than they already are. No one likes to expose his wife or family to conditions that are unpleasant and rowdy individuals certainly create that atmosphere. There is only one answer to that question by anyone with an ounce of decency.

But the question "Do you think that fans who heckle ball players, managers or umpires should be ejected from baseball crowds?" might have brought other answers. After all, the fan pays his money to see a game and the right to heckle has been accepted as part of the game. But abusive language uttered with intent to intimidate players, managers or umpires, or accompanying foul language, with direct aspersions on the player's birth, family or descendants, is not part of the fan's right. And we think anyone will agree that swearing audible throughout the stands is not included in the price of admission.

Good-natured ribbing and riding is part and parcel of the great game of baseball. We've heard it at every game to which we've ever gone, including sandlot and college, as well as pro. Players who hear the catcalls and let it get under their skin are given the name "Rabbit Ears," because they do hear everything the fans yell. Umpires are not adverse to hearing comment, but you'll notice that, from time to time, they threaten certain players in dugouts. In fact, it probably is the player's habit of bench jockeying that gives rise to the fans getting on players.

There's also more to it than a desire on the part of the fan to hurt anyone intentionally. We think that a large part of the heckling is caused by the fan, hopped up over the game and eager to see the home team win, feeling momentarily that he is in the place of the player. He sees himself getting the hit that drives in the run, or making the fielding gem that stops a rally. Then when a home town player strikes out with men on the bases, or fails to come up with a double play ball, he takes out his disappointment in heckling the player the next time he comes within range.

Ejection of fans who heckle isn't going to stop the practice, although it may tame it temporarily. Fans are human and they also are inhuman. They want the home team to win, which is natural. But the use of foul language isn't good for the game. There was one character at Rosenthal Field the other night who could be heard all over the diamond and the stands. When he used clean language, he was humorous, but too often he inserted profanity that was ill-chosen and abusive, not only to the ball players, but also to the crowd. That's the fan who should be ushered out and invited not to return. The club has lost nothing by losing his patronage, possibly.

The Major and Minor leagues are concerned over the use of abusive language, not only by the fans, but also by the ball players. After all, what's wrong for one is wrong for the other. The Majors and Minors also are concerned over actual physical attack on ball players. The recent brawl between Leo Durocher and a fan is the subject of a long dissertation by A. B. "Happy" Chandler. He checks the responsibility up to the New York Giant Baseball club. The fan should not have been allowed in a box seat when he had a general admission ticket in the first place and in the second, the club should not have permitted him on the playing field until after the players had cleared the field.

Lamesa Defeats Gold Sox, 12-6

LAMESA, May 21 (Special)—The Lamesa Loboes exploded nine runs across the plate in the first frame and went on to defeat the Amarillo Gold Sox, 12-6, in the opener of a three-game series here tonight before 1,400 satisfied customers.

Lobo Manager Jay Haney, making his debut as a starting pitcher, breezed to his second win of the season. The Gold Sox tagged Haney's offerings for 12 hits, but only four of their runs were earned, and he held them scoreless in six frames.

The Loboes counted more than enough runs to win in the opening inning, blasting eight hits including homers by new Left Fielder D. C. Miller and First Baseman Glenn Selbo. Miller, making his first appearance in the Lobo lineup, hit a terrific line drive four-bagger over the 375 foot center field wall with one aboard on his first time at bat. Selbo's blow came with the bases empty.

Blue Sox Defeat Albuquerque

ABILENE, May 21 (AP)—Abilene's Blue Sox collected a dozen hits off two Albuquerque pitchers and defeated the league leading Dukes 11-6 in a West Texas-New Mexico league series opener here tonight.

The victory brought Abilene within shooting distance of the Dukes, who still have three games to play here, including a Sunday doubleheader.

Rudy Lorona may have set some sort of a record when, pitching for Abilene, he and his mates got the first two men out in seven straight innings, then faltered to walk or allow a hit to let the third man in each instance go safe.

Abilene knocked out a two-run lead in the first inning, went behind when Albuquerque scored three times in the third on a double by McClain, followed by the first two Abilene errors in

Takes Withers By Six Lengths

Olympia Wins Mile

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., May 21 (INS)—Olympia, notorious flop at the Kentucky Derby, restored some lustre in his lost prestige today with a smashing six-length triumph in the $25,000 Withers mile. His time was 1:36 4/5.

Nothing in the six-horse field got close to the flying Olympia after the first quarter and, though Eddie Arcaro had the horse eased off all through the final eighth, he still kept running away from everything, save perhaps Ocean Drive. The latter came fast in the stretch to get second place and make it a one-two finish for the Fred W. Hooper entry.

But even Ocean Drive and One Hitter, which roared up from last to third in the final half, made any visible impression on Olympia's winning margin, half-throttled down as he was. It was the type of performance that had sent him to the post the hot favorite two weeks ago at Churchill Downs.

Moreover, with the historic Withers a recognized "prep" for the $100,000 Belmont, Olympia's speed, under restraint, today left the 38,444 crowd fully convinced he'll take a lot of beating, June 11, in the big stake that will decide the three-year-old championship.

Notable absentees today were Ponder, the Calumet's Derby winner; and the two-three pair which ran one-two in the record Preakness last week, namely—Capot and Palestinian.

A distinguished starter, however, was Noble Impulse, which ran a blazing mile at the Preakness—a fifth-second under today's time—to finish third behind Capot's record 1:56 for the mile and three-seventeenths.

This time the Crispin Oglebay colt seemed to stumble slightly under D. Gorman, coming out of the barrier.

Gorman got Noble Impulse righted quickly into contention, but they were through after the run up the backstretch and faded back to last. However, Olympia's was that kind of a pace. The Hooper entry paid $2.90, $2.80, $2.30.

LIONS CLUB TROPHIES—Chick Trout, tournament chairman for the golf tournament to be held by the Lions club Tuesday afternoon for the district convention visitors, is shown looking at the handsome trophies to be awarded. Trout, a fine golfer himself, has worked hard to make the tournament a highlight of the visiting Lions. The seven trophies shown here have been presented to the Lions by Lubbock club members and will be given for winners in seven different categories. Play opens Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Lubbock Country club and will cover the 18-hole route. (Staff Photo.)

Prince Holding Lead

First Sacker Has Top .378 Average

Jim Prince, hefty Hubber first baseman, continues to set the pace for the sixth-place Hubbers with a gaudy .378 batting average through Friday night's game against Clovis.

Prince has collected 45 hits in 119 trips to the plate including eight doubles and four home runs, with a total of 33 runs batted in. It is the top performance on a Hubber team that collectively is pounding the ball at a .298 clip.

Pepper Martin, who joined the Hubbers for a five-day look, was hitting .434 in his five games, .010 points under Pedro Dunabettia, who also came to Lubbock for a five-day look earlier in the season.

Jim Has Most Hits

Among the regulars, five of the so-called starters were hitting over the .300 mark, while others showed signs of getting close. Only Manager Jackie Sullivan, Buddy McCallum, Mike Dooley and Joe Wisniewski were under the charmed mark.

Prince had the most hits, 45, just four more than Nelson Davis, while Dooley was tops in doubles with 11. Sullivan still led the team with triples with three and Dooley, who slammed another home run Friday night, led the team in fourmasters with six.

In the important runs batted in department, Prince again was the top Hubber with 33. McCallum had thieved the most bases, eight, and Prince and Dooley had scored the most runs, 27 each.

Royce "Rooster" Mills leads the Hubber pitchers in the most victories with three, while losing two, but Chris Haskins and Ray Reichelt each had perfect records, winning one and losing none. Other hurlers in order were Cotton Russell, two and two; Charles Willis and Don Hensiek, one and two; Bill Grafton and John Myers, one and three; and Herby Pitts, none and three.

JIM PRINCE
Still Slugging Hard

In the loop generally, Robert Fernandez of Abilene had compiled the top batting average with a startling .522 on 35 hits in 67 trips to the plate. Manager Hershel Martin of Albuquerque was next with .440, Glen Selbo of Lamesa was next with .425, Doug Lewis of Amarillo was fourth with .408 and Manager Jay Haney of Lamesa was fifth with .402.

The averages through May 16 also showed Martin in first place in doubles with 11, Ken Sears of Borger leading in home runs with five, Len Attyd of Albuquerque leading in triples with four, Haney tops in runs with 28, Verdon Gilchrist of Borger ahead in stolen bases with 12 and Frank Okrie of Albuquerque tops in runs batted in with 24.

Lubbock, as a team, held an edge on most of the offensive honors, leading in hits, total bases, doubles, home runs, hit batters, runs batted in and strikeouts. In fielding, the Hubbers were two double plays behind Lamesa, the league leaders in that department, and fourth in team batting.

Seagraves Leads In Oil Belt Loop

Oil Belt league baseball continues its Sunday play today with games at Brownfield, Sundown, Seagraves, and Denver City. All tilts are scheduled at 3:30 p.m.

In midweek games the past week Post defeated Brownfield, 14-11, Tuesday night before a home crowd to hand Brownfield its sixth consecutive defeat without a win. Boren took the decision although his team was outhit, 15-12. Leading hitters for Brownfield were Graham, Vinson, and Draine, each with three hits in five times at bat. Post's leading batter was Simpson with three for four.

Levelland also won a home game, 17-8, defeating Tahoka. Nineteen hits were registered by the Levellanders to seven for Tahoka, and Gage made four hits in five times up while Pearcy was hitting three for five. Thetford was the winner and Pierce the loser.

In a close contest Friday night Jackie Martyn pitched Denver City to a 5-4 win over Sundown. Getting his share of Denver City hits was Jones, third baseman, with two for five. Wright batted two for two, Lewis two for three, and Joiner two for four for Sundown. Metford was charged with the loss.

In games today Post travels to Brownfield; Levelland goes to Sundown; Tahoka moves to Seagraves; and Slaton plays Denver City.

Connie Mack Recalls 1895 Game Ejection

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—Connie Mack recalled a bit or forgotten baseball history today.

Sports editor Morris Frank of the Houston Post several days ago was asked how long it has been since the 86-year-old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics has been chased from a game for disputing a decision.

Frank sent the question on to Philadelphia.

Connie Mack today replied by letter:

"The one and only time I was ejected from the grounds by a baseball umpire was in 1895, when Hank O'Day made what I thought was a wrong decision at second base.

"I objected in such a strenous manner the umpire decided to put me out of the game."

Mack has been in professional baseball 65 years, 48 of them as manager of the Athletics.

of you fellows, as I have found it necessary to contact you previously this season. But even at the expense of a little more time, stationery, postage and patience, I want us thoroughly to understand each other. I do not like to fine a player or manager. The League does not want your money. But unless the game gets a little more consideration, respect and a better break from some of our fellows there must be more fines, and larger ones.

"There are going to be more close games, close plays and even a difference of opinion among players, managers and umpires (and fans) on certain calls. If there were not "close ones" the game would not need umpires. A hard-playing, competitive-type player or manager, is going to make a squawk when he feels he has one coming. It is readily recognized that is part of the game. But must such beefs be highlighted by vicious name calling, verbal lambasting, which is deliberately offensive and abusive? By "offensive" we do not mean something slightly questionable; by abusive, something a mere half tone off color.

"On a precious few occasions there have been angry, harsh affronts and indignities, marked by coarse, vile, indecent and disgraceful language. And on occasions complaints have reached us that some of your scurrilous language has been audible to, and heard by, the patrons in the stands. This is most regrettable. It must be stopped immediately. Club management can control the manager and the manager can control his players, and the result will be gratifying to and appreciated by everyone who has the interests and welfare of the game at heart. There will be no more letters from here on the subject. The limits of reason and patience are already overtaxed."

MATHEWS HURLS CLOVIS TO 4-0 WIN OVER PAMPA

PAMPA, May 21. (AP)—Lefthander George Mathews hung a beautiful three-hit whitewash job on the Pampa Oilers here tonight, as the Clovis Pioneers won the first game of a three-game battle for the cellar position, 4 to 0. Mathews faced 18 men, the minimum number for the first six innings.

The Pioneers scored all of their runs in the big fifth inning. Six solid singles, mixed with an error and a wild pitch accounted for all the scoring in the ball game. An odd feature of the game was the fact that although both teams garnered 13 hits, none were for extra bases.

Racers Qualify At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21. (INS)—Four more racers were qualified today for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

The speed today did not stack up with the first two days of qualifications last weekend in which 20 cars were qualified at an average of 128.075 miles an hour. The fastest time trial today was turned in by Jackie Holmes, of Indianapolis, driving the six-wheeled Pat Clancy special.

Holmes negotiated the 10-mile test at an average speed of 128.087 M.P.H.

Full Of Excitement

The day was full of excitement, however, with two cars spinning and a third catching fire. No one was injured seriously.

Besides Holmes, other qualifiers were rookie drivers, Troy Ruttmann, Ontario, California, in the Carter Special at an average speed of 125.945 MPH.; Tonny Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Illinois, in the six cylinder Flavell Special at 125.764; and Pat Flaherty, of Los Angeles in the Grantaelli Grancor V-8, at 120.846.

The Bettenhausen car is the same which the late Jimmy Snyder of Chicago accelerated to the first 130 M.P.H. ever turned in at Indianapolis.

Driver Tommy Hinnerschintz, of Oley, Pa., received a bad cut on his neck when the car owned by Milt Marion of Hempstead, L.I., N. Y., spun in the northwest turn and crashed into some unoccupied bleachers. The car was not damaged extensively.

Mattson Hits Wall

Another rookie driver, Tommy Mattson, of Wilmington, Pa., hit the wall at the pits when he attempted to enter the garage area at too fast a speed. Mattson was not injured seriously but the car is believed to have been damaged too much for further efforts at Indianapolis this year.

Chet Miller, of Detroit, took a ride in the car in which Doc Williams qualified last weekend and it caught fire in the south turn. Miller was uninjured but the car was damaged considerably.

Would Form Own Organization

Official Wants Dixie Out Of NCAA Setup

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 21 (AP)—Southern schools should withdraw from the NCAA, a Southeastern conference athletic director said before he met with officials Saturday to discuss the "Sanity Code."

Furthermore, the athletic director added, "All NCAA members who try to develop competitive athletes help their men in one form or another, us included."

The director, one of the best known athletic figures in the south, asked that his name not be used. The meeting he was about to attend involved representatives of the 12 southeastern colleges.

They were scheduled to consider proposals which could lift SEC teams from NCAA ranks. The National Association's controversial "Sanity Code," called by some the "Sham Code" and "Insanity Code," does not permit financial aid for college athletes simply because they play a good game of football.

After saying Dixie schools should leave the NCAA, the athletic director added, "We should form our own athletic organization which would mean more to our students and colleges than the NCAA.

"We aren't dependent on the NCAA. We can work out an all-around athletic program better for our students. After all, what does the NCAA mean to individual institutions down here? We pay $100 a year in dues and pay the expenses of our athletes to tournaments which in most cases are held a long way off. Name a national meeting held in the South in recent years," he challenged.

"The Sanity Code isn't workable. The SEC wants to deal with boys open and above board and not be put in a position of certifying he's worked on a job that's necessary to the college and at a rate of pay that's usually paid other students."

Four Teams Tie In City League

First week's play in the City recreation softball program failed to establish a sure bet for the team to finish first, but several teams in both leagues appeared strong and hard to beat.

Four teams are currently tied for first place in the City league with two wins and no defeats. They are Barber College, Thomas Tinkers, VFW, and Cloverlake. Three teams lost both their games the first week, and the other two split with one win and one loss.

In the Commercial league things are a bit closer, and only two teams own perfect records, Post Office and Calvary Baptist have a 2-0 record in games.

Semi-Finals Set In Handicap Golf

Golfers are expected to crowd the links today at Lubbock Country club and Meadowbrook Publinx if the weather is as warm and balmy as it was Saturday, but golfers will be lucky to match the four holes-in-one turned in last week on the two courses.

Play in the handicap tournament at Lubbock Country club has reached the semi final stage, and in a close match Saturday Dick Jennings advanced to the finals with a 1-up victory over Chick Trout. Jennings toured the course in a four-under-par 67, and Trout carded 68. The winner of the match today between Jimmy Goldman and Amos Howard will meet Jennings in the finals.

Qualification rounds for the Ladies Golf association match play next week will continue at the country club. Those already qualified in the 18-hole flight are Mesdames T. E. Patterson, Fenner Tubbs, John Markham,

Joe Dobson Holds Indians To Seven Hits As Sox Win, 4 To 0

Athletics Trounce Tiger Nine, 15-7

BOSTON, May 21. (INS) — Joe Dobson of the Boston Red Sox blanked Cleveland, 4 to 0, today for his second successive shutout. He held the Indians to seven hits.

A crowd of 35,961, largest ever seated in Fenway Park, saw the Sox take sixth place in the American league away from the Indians.

Vern Stephens and Ted Williams led Boston's attack. Stephens, the leading home run hitter of the majors, knocked in three runs with his tenth homer and a double. Williams hit a double and two singles.

This pair personally conducted the Sox to their first two runs. Williams singled in the first frame and scored on the Stephens double. Ted singled again in the fourth and Stephens homered.

Birdie Tebbets doubled, took third on a single by Dobson and scored Boston's other run in the fifth as Dom DiMaggio was hitting into a double play.

The Indians, who advanced only one runner as far as third base, suffered their ninth defeat in their last 11 games and their sixth shutout of the year. They were whitewashed only seven times during the entire 1948 season.

Representatives from all Brownfield civic and service organizations, including the Quarterback club, are expected to attend the mass meeting.

Members of the Brownfield Athletic Council are S. P. Cowan, superintendent of schools; Tracy Kellow, high school football coach; Ike M. Bailey, school board member; Homer Winston; Darrell P. (Stuffy) Moorhead; and Eunice Jones. The latter three represent the Rotary club, Junior Chamber of Commerce and Lions club.

WICHITA, Kans., May 21. (AP)—Another Texas league in the National Baseball Congress has been formed—the Hill Country circuit made up of seven clubs.

Boerne, Stonewall, Comfort, Camp Stanley, Harper, Sisterdale and Fredericksburg made up the loop of which Elton Jordan of Fredericksburg is president.

Tech Athletes To Be Feted

Letter winners in five spring sports at Texas Tech, usually overlooked in the year-ending rush before graduation, will be honored Wednesday night at the Mexican Inn.

Members of the Red Raider track and field squad, the tennis squad, the basketball squad, the golf squad and the fencing squad will be given due recognition for their achievements.

The dinner, sponsored by the ex-Lettermen of Tech, is open to all members of the Double T club and all former and present lettermen are urged to be present.

D. M. McElroy, alumni executive secretary, will preside and all coaches and officials of the college will be present. Awards will be made to the various squads and to the outstanding individuals.

The basketball squad placed second in the Border Conference cage race and went to the quarter finals of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament in Kansas City, Mo.

The track team finished third in the recent Border Conference meet at Albuquerque, N. M.

The doubles team from the tennis squad won the doubles, both Class A and Class B, title at the same time.

The golf team finished third at the Border Conference competition.

The fencing team also had a busy season and engaged in several matches away from Lubbock in a sport that seldom receives recognition.

Eight Gridders Will Graduate

Successful Athletic Year Closes At Tech

Texas Tech's most successful athletic school year came to a close in the recent Border Conference meeting in Albuquerque.

Tech last fall won the Border crown in football for the eighth time. In basketball, the Red Raiders finished highest of Texas teams—in second place—and represented the State of Texas well in the NAIB tournament in Kansas City.

Third In Track

At Albuquerque, Tech won third in track, third in golf, and second in tennis, walking away with the Class A and Class B doubles championships. The tennis wins broke a nine-year strangle hold on all court titles held by the University of Arizona. Jake Broyles of Lamesa, and Glen Ivy of Sweetwater took the Class A crown, 8-6, 6-0, giving Tom Van Fleet and Gordon Vidal of Arizona seven points in the last set. David Hester of Lubbock and Carl Schmidt of Mexico City won the Class B title by defeating Tom Drummond and I. Iccisino, Arizona, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Ed Clepper, Mobeetie senior, was high point man of the Border Conference track meet with 14 points gained on wins in the high jump and high hurdles and third places in the broad jump and low hurdles. Clepper was the 1947 high point man and missed first place last year by half a point.

James Mullins, Ackerly, picked up six points for Tech at Albuquerque with a win in the 100-yard dash and fourth in the 220.

Tech will lose eight men from the football team, six from basketball, two on the golf team, three in tennis and four from the track team through graduation. Football men include Bill Kelley of Idalou; Glenn Lewis of Quitaque; J. L. Gulley and Zac Henderson of Quanah; Dorrell McCurry of Lubbock; Frank Ottmers of Fredericksburg; Charles Reynolds of Odessa; and Don Orr of Graham.

Lost in basketball are Don Grove of Monument, N. M.; James Hill of Amarillo; Ardis Barton of Hart; William Banks of Vernon; C. W. Dukes of Tyler; and Wayne Bowles of Lubbock.

Henderson and John Trout, Lubbock, will be lost in golf; Ivy, Schmidt and Hester in tennis; and Clepper, Reynolds, Costin Bufkin of Hobbs, N. M., and Seth Murphey of Levelland in track.

Georgia Tech's Track Team Captures Southeastern Meet

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 21. (AP)—Georgia Tech's well rounded team strength won the Southeastern Conference track meet today with 39-1/5 points.

Louisiana State clinched second place when the Tigers' relay team won from Tech. L.S.U.'s total was 35½ points. Auburn was third with 33-1/5 points.

Parker Lost To Longhorns

AUSTIN, May 21. (AP)—Charles Parker, ace University of Texas sprinter, will not run again this season.

Parker was expected to compete in the Southwest Conference-Big Seven meet June 4 in Kansas City and in the NCAA track meet June 17-18 in Los Angeles, but trainer Frank Medina advised him to put away his running shoes.

An injury to his left leg early in March kept Parker off the cinders until one week before the conference meet. He won the conference 220 for the third time in a row and finished second in the 100 but he still had no "spring" in the injured leg.

Parker placed second to Mel Patton of USC in the NCAA 220 last year. He has one more year of eligibility.

Sprinter Perry Samuels and high jumper Robert Walters will be the university's only entries in the NCAA meet.

Eight Longhorns will participate in the Kansas City competition. They are shot putter George Petrovich, javelin thrower Ray Marek, distance runners Bobby Whisenant and Dick Brooks, discus thrower Clay Krames, and Samuels and Walters.

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs have signed Bobby Willard, Rice Institute baseball catcher, and assigned him to Decatur, Ill., of the Class B Three-I League.

Second-Place Braves Trounce Pittsburgh's Pirates, 8 To 2

Robinson Big Gun As Bums Win 15-6

PITTSBURGH, May 21 (INS) — Boston's second-place Braves climbed to within half a game of the idle New York Giants in the National league today by walloping Pittsburgh, 8 to 2.

The Braves sewed up the game with a seven-run rally in the eighth inning when they knocked Murry Dickson and Hugh Casey out of the box. It was Dickson's sixth defeat this season.

A two-run nomer by Pete Reiser, and a double by Alvin Dark with the bases loaded were the key blows in Boston's big rally.

Homers by Eddie Stevens and Eddie Bockman accounted for Pittsburgh's runs.

Warren Spahn was credited with the victory, his fifth of the season.

LOS ANGELES, May 21. (INS)—Dave Bloxom, former Texas Christian university blocking-back, today was signed by the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America Football Conference.

Signing of the 210-pound Bloxom brought to 22 the number of rookies signed to date by coach Jimmy Phelan.

Double Main Go Slated At Arena

Old faces and new mingle on the weekly Wednesday night wrestling card at Sled Allen's arena this week, with a double main event slated for the entertainment of the patrons.

In the first main go, George Curtis of Vicksburg, Miss., meets Billy Goelz of Chicago, Ill., in a two out of three falls event with a one-hour time limit. In the second, or final, main go, Dean Detton, former world's heavyweight champion and brother of the Amarillo promoter, Dory Detton, meets George Dusette of Boston, Mass.

Bruckman In Prelim

The preliminary brings together Jack Pappenheim of Troutdale, Ore., and George Bruckman of Washington, D.C. It will be a one fall match with a 20-minute time limit.

Dusette brushed aside the challenge of Rod Fenton last week to win a shot at Detton, who had challenged the winner of that match. Detton carries with him the title of an ex-champion and he has ability to back up his former title.

Both Detton and Dusette are strong men and both are agile in the ring. They have been around a long time and know the intricacies of wrestling. It should be one of the best matches local grappling fans have seen in a long time.

Pappenheim Victorious

Curtis and Goelz staged a great match last week and this is one match that the two men themselves wanted. They asked for another match and it was granted. Goelz won the only fall last week, after the two wrestlers had used up all the time alloted them.

Pappenheim hasn't lost a match since his return to this territory, but Bruckman stands as a big test, even in a preliminary match. Bruckman is no stranger to local fans, nor to the ring, and it should be a good curtain-raiser.

H-SU Cagers Set Schedule

ABILENE, May 21. (Special)—A 16-game Border conference basketball schedule will start January 4, 1950, for the Hardin-Simmons university basketball squad, according to basketball coach Jack Martin.

The Cowboys finished strong last season to pull up into third place on the conference ladder by winning six out of their last seven games. Starting their second season under Coach Martin the Cowboys will be operating with experienced personnel under a system with which they are familiar.

The conference schedule:

Jan. 4, Texas Mines, El Paso; Jan. 5, New Mexico Aggies, Las Cruces; Jan. 14, New Mexico U., Abilene; Jan. 17, Texas Tech, Abilene; Feb. 2, West Texas, Abilene; Feb. 4, Texas Tech, Lubbock; Feb. 6, Flagstaff, Abilene; Feb. 9, Tempe Abilene; Feb. 20, New Mexico Aggies, Abilene; Feb. 21, Texas Mines, Abilene; Feb. 27, Arizona university, Abilene; March 6, Arizona university, Tucson; March 7, Tempe, Tempe; March 8, Flagstaff at Flagstaff.

SPRUILL JOINS SUL ROSS

ALPINE, May 21 (AP)—Jim Spruill, star Rice tackle in 1948 and last year with Baltimore of the All-American Conference, was announced today as new line coach of Sul Ross State college.

Mrs. Goldthwaite To Participate

Women's Golf Meet Slated Here June 14

Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, of Fort Worth, first champion of the Women's West Texas Golf Association, will participate in the 12th annual tournament here, June 14 to 19.

Such was the announcement by co-chairmen of the tournament to be staged at the Lubbock Country Club, Mrs. E. A. Patterson and Mrs. Fenner Tubbs. Mrs. Goldthwaite, a member of the Rivercrest Country Club of Fort Worth, announced her intention of coming to Lubbock during the Texas State Women's championships several weeks ago.

The entrance of Mrs. Goldthwaite will add to an already colorful tourney being planned by Lubbock Country Club women. A fast field is expected to tee off here on June 14 in the first event, a mixed foursome play. Qualifying round for the tourney proper is to be staged June 15, 18 holes for all but two flights of low and high handicap players. These matches will be nine holes.

Social program is being outlined to the detail and will be announced within the week, the two chairmen have announced. This will include buffet suppers, breakfasts, the usual Calcutta Pool and informal dances and gatherings. Mrs. C. L. Dean and Mrs. Guy L. McAfee are co-chairmen of this feature.

These two ladies will be directly related to Mrs. Goldthwaite's coming here, for they were the founders of the Women's West Texas tournament in 1935 when the Fort Worth golfer won the first title. Since then five women have won the championship. Mrs. R. E. Winger, Colonial Ft. Worth won it from 1936 through 1939. Mrs. G. E Shows, Odessa, was the 1940 winner. Mrs. F. C. Rochon, Ft. Worth won in 1941. And Miss Polly Riley, Ft. Worth, in 1942. No tourneys were held from 1942 until 1946 when Mrs. Sam O'Neal, Odessa, became the champion. Mrs. O'Neal won the titles in 1947 and 1948.

Boxing Combine To Hold Bouts In June

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Boxing's newest combine showed the power of its muscles today as it tentatively listed three championship fights for June and announced it had gained exclusive use of the Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds for fights.

Acting swiftly, the New York-Chicago-Detroit axis virtually tied up world middleweight and welterweight title fights to go with its NBA heavyweight championship show between Ezzard Charles and Jersey Joe Walcott in Chicago June 22.

The two world title scraps will send middleweight champion Marcel Cerdan of France against Jake La Motta at Detroit June 15, and welterweight king Ray Robinson against Kid Gavilan of Cuba in the Polo Grounds, either June 17 or 21.

Hamilton Dominates SWC Baseball Play

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—Big Tom Hamilton of Texas dominated Southwest Conference baseball in the season just closed, leading in batting, hits, runs, homers and total bases and fielding flawlessly at first base.

Final averages released today by executive secretary James H. Stewart showed Hamilton tops in batting with a prodigious .474 in 15 games. He got 28 hits in 59 times at bat, finishing 95 points ahead of his teammate, Ed Kneuper, who hit .379.

Hamilton had 22 runs, seven homers and 57 total bases.

Wally Moon of Texas A. and M. topped in doubles with seven and Guy Wallace of Texas A. and M. led in stolen bases with 11.

batted in the most runs with 27.

The statistics showed plainly why Texas was the Conference champion. The Longhorns led in club batting with .303 and in club fielding with .953. Texas had 155 hits and 125 runs. Baylor was second in club batting with .286 while A. and M. was runner-up in fielding with .952.

MEN READ CAREFULLY
I want to talk to ten men who are really ambitious in securing a position that will give them steady employment the year around. In other words there are no laying off periods. Consistent income is the income that really counts.
It doesn't matter what your past employment has been; we teach you our work. It will be necessary that you be willing to get along on $75 or $80 per week for the first four to six weeks while learning our work.
If you are mechanically inclined or can handle men in a supervisory capacity, or your present income is not satisfactory, answer this now. You must be able to give the name of three persons who will vouch for your honesty and integrity.
We prefer men who are married or who have some sense of responsibility and have a car.
We will present our plan only if wife accompanies you. Her happiness is contingent upon your success, and we feel that she should know completely from the first, what you will be offered.
Therefore if you are honest and of good character, a willing worker and neat in appearance, apply Hotel Lubbock, Monday evening 8:00 p. m. only. Ask for Mr. L. W. Givens.
This applies to men living in Lubbock and surrounding towns.

Plans For Tech Programs Pushed

Final plans for the commencement exercises of the largest graduating class in the history of Texas Technological college will be completed early this week according to Dean James G. Allen, dean of men at the college, who is in charge of arrangements.

The registrar's office at the college has announced that approximately 985 February and June graduates will receive diplomas in Jones Stadium May 30. A complete list will not be available until graduating seniors have finished their final examinations Thursday.

Seniors are being allowed to take their finals early for the first time this year in order to speed up graduation arrangements, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, said.

Sermon Set Next Sunday

The baccalaureate sermon has been set for Sunday night, May 29 and will also be held in Jones Stadium. Dean Allen said in case of inclement weather both services would be moved to the Tech gym.

It was announced earlier that Dr. John Banister, pastor of the Sears and Summit Church of Christ in Dallas, would deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Dr. Banister has been a minister in the Church of Christ for 21 years.

The principle address for the graduation exercises will be given by Bates Thornton, former Texas Tech student who is now an executive for the Howard Hughes Airplane company in California. Thornton is also an ex-resident of Lubbock.

Undergraduates will begin their final examinations at the college Thursday. The week of restricted social activities began at Tech the past Thursday. The commencement exercises May 30 will mark the end of the spring semester. The summer school session will begin June 5.

Historic New Mexico Town To Install Parking Meters

TAOS, N. M., May 21 (INS)—If you're planning to give your all for art in Taos, art center of the Southwest, be sure to save out a nickel.

It'll cost you that to linger in this historic town

Strawberry Plant Here 'Doubles Up' With Siamese Fruit

Mrs. C. A. Putman, of 2726 N. Sixth, has a strikingly unique strawberry plant.

Instead of producing ordinary strawberrys the plant, which is growing alongside normal plants, produces what might be called "Siamese" strawberries. The fruit appears to be several strawberries grown together, and occurs in groups of various numbers up to seven. All the fruit of the plant is of this nature.

Dr. W. W. Yocum, professor of horticulture at Texas Tech, said he had never seen strawberries of that kind growing in such large numbers. He said there are two possible explanations. One, that the plant, due to unusually good growing conditions, has developed fasciated stems, in which case the stems do not branch, and the flowers and fruit develop in a cluster. Or, he said, perhaps the plant is a mutation, in which case the hereditary characteristics have been altered.

If the plant continues to produce unusual strawberries over a long period of time, Dr. Yocum said, the theory that it is a mutation is strengthened.

Mrs. Putman purchased the plant in a group of "everbearing" variety.

Jury Dismissed In Investors' Suit Against Power Company

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—A deadlocked federal jury was dismissed today after failing to reach a verdict in the $250,000 suit of a group of 20 Dallas and Fort Worth investors against the American Power & Light company.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson discharged the jury when it remained deadlocked after the sixth ballot.

Joe C. Thompson and 19 other Texans are suing APL for alleged fraud. They accused the company of misrepresenting the amount of property in the Texas public utilities corporation still deductable for income tax returns when they bought it from APL two years ago.

Seizure Powers For President Favored

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — Senator Douglas (D-Ill) said today he favors giving the President restricted power to seize strike-bound or strike-threatened facilities in key industries in national emergency situations.

The Illinois senator thus became the first Democrat on the Senate Labor committee to call publicly for a specific change in the administration's labor bill.

Douglas voted for that bill in the committee when the Democratic majority pushed it through, 8 to 5, after refusing to consider amendments proposed by the Republican members.

Since then some of the Democrats have said they would be willing to modify the measure a little, but there were no concrete proposals.

The administration bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and replace it with a slightly revised version of the old Wagner act.

The bill has no provision for court injunctions against strikes which imperil national health or safety, nor does it provide for seizure.

However, a Republican-written substitute for the administration bill provides for both courses.

Three Years May Be Needed To Clear Trinity River Dam Site

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—Army engineers said today it would take three years and cost $7,350,000 to clear the Garza-Little Elm reservoir site of persons, farm homes, highways and utility lines.

It is the engineers' job to clear the 35,000-acre site and build the $26,000,000, six-mile long earthen structure on the upper Trinity river watershed—22 miles northwest of Dallas.

Of the $7,350,000 clearance fund, $4,293,000 is to acquire lands in the reservoir area. Before the dam is finished 351 farm families totaling 1,512 persons must abandon lands settled in the 1840's.

Southern Baptists Explain Reason For Northern Meeting

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 21—The Southern Baptist convention tip-toed up to a discussion of "common problems with northern Baptists" today—a delicate item in view of the southerners' decision to meet next year in northern-Baptist-dominated Chicago.

The Rev. T. C. Gardner, Dallas, was slated to report on a year's study of the northern-southern situation at the 92nd convention's concluding business session.

A youth rally tonight and an evangelistic service Sunday night will close the five-day convention.

Move Is Explained

The president, Dr. Robert G. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., hastened last night to clarify the southern Baptists' decision to go to Chicago in 1950.

In 104 years, the convention has not gone farther north than St. Louis.

"I acknowledge that this may be misinterpreted and labeled as religious imperialism," he said. "But the southern Baptist convention is not meeting in Chicago to flirt with any northern Baptist convention church or Baptist body with the purpose to get their affiliation with the southern Baptist convention."

The decision to meet in Chicago was one of several incidents which led some churchmen to believe the southerners were embarking on a drive to spread their sphere of influence to all parts of the United States.

They voted to meet two years hence in San Francisco.

To Take In Other Churches

The southern Baptists passed up Harrison, Ark., to locate a summer assembly camp in Glorieta, N. M., near Santa Fe.

And the convention voted unanimously yesterday to welcome into the southern Baptist fold 24 churches in Oregon and Washington—heretofore strictly northern Baptist territory.

The red hot issue of southern Baptists' fraternization with organizations linked with the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America flared again.

A committee headed by Dr. Louie D Newton, Atlanta, Ga., recommended a change in by-laws defining the right of Baptist churches to affiliate with anyone they please.

The report was promptly rejected after the Rev. Bunyan Smith, Nashville, Tenn., charged it was a move to sanction Baptist churches affiliating, directly or indirectly with the federal council.

"BATTLE OF THE POLICE CHIEFS"—Things have returned to normal in Litchfield, Ill., as the "battle of the police chiefs" ended through a city council vote. The town had two police patrolling the streets for several days when the new mayor appointed Leroy Franklin, right. R. G. Stiefel wouldn't give up his keys until Franklin was confirmed by the council. Stiefel checks his watch against the almost expired parking meter while Franklin waits to write the ticket. Top Communists' Trial To Continue

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP) — The 11 top U.S. Communists get their chance next week to speak out at their conspiracy trial, and nobody doubts they will have plenty to say

With the government's case completed, the trial record is 11,000 pages. A good portion of that comprises defense attacks on the government counsel, its witnesses and even the presiding judge.

The defense made no secret of the fact that it was taken by surprise when the government unveiled one undercover agent after another from within the Communist ranks

U.S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey rested on Thursday his effort to prove the defendants sought the violent overthrow of the government.

Federal judge Harold R. Medina now has under advisement a defense motion to strike out as improper the testimony of seven undercover agents for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Medina probably will rule on the issue Monday.

The government's 13 witnesses have turned out 6,000 pages of testimony. Much of it came from the seven informers, who included a New York bank clerk, a Cleveland forge plant inspector, a Boston theater chain advertising man and a St. Louis business man.

Medina said the government "made out a prima facie case" although he has yet to rule on a defense motion to dismiss the indictment on the ground the defendants are protected by constitutional free speech guarantees.

Boy Offers Pony At Auction To Pay For Mother's Funeral

JAMESTOWN, Pa., May 21 (AP)—He was a skinny kid of 12 and small for his age. The sorrel pony was all he had.

He tried hard to be brave but tears trickled down his cheek as he rode the pony into the auctioneer's ring.

Jackie Lilie had had the pony for six years—half of his own life. It was his sole playmate on his family's small farm at Kinsman, O., just over the Pennsylvania-Ohio line.

During the long months of his mother's final illness Jackie often had only the pony—Cocoa—to talk to. His father, Homer, worked in the mill during the day and spent the evenings at the hospital. Jackie's mother died a week ago.

Family Savings Gone

Her illness had eaten up the family savings. There wasn't any money to pay for the funeral. Jackie thought about it and reached his unhappy decision. He would sell Cocoa.

John Reimold, the auctioneer at the Earvin Payne farm here, knew Jackie's story. That's why he tried hard to get up the bids for the pony last night. Bidding was sluggish. The crowd apathetic. Finally Reimold accepted a bid for $155.

Then he decided to let the crowd know what it was all about. Someone suggested they pass a hat.

The people came to life. "I'll give $20," shouted one. "I'll give $10," cried another.

They collected $190. The man who bought the pony and the auction-farm owner, Earvin Payne, agreed to forget a deal ever had been made. They gave Jackie back his pony and the $190.

12 New Professors To Be Added To Faculty At SMU

DALLAS, May 21 (INS) — The faculty of Southern Methodist university has been expanded.

Twelve new professors were appointed to take up positions July 1.

Dean H. M. Hosford, dean of the university was appointed vice-president in charge of academic administration. In other action of the board of trustees, a 37-year-precedent was broken when it voted to allow sorority houses to be built on the campus.

Band School To Open On June 6

The sixteenth annual summer band school at Texas Technological college will be held June 6 through July 16 according to Prof. D. O. Wiley, head of the Tech band and director of the summer band school.

Classes on instrumentation, direction, theory and band techniques will be taught students from the upper level of junior high schools, senior high students and also to college graduates and college students of this area, Prof. Wiley said.

Campus Housing Provided

Pre-college students who attend the school will be housed in separate quarters on the campus. Wiley said committee members who will select the music to be used in the 1950 Texas Interscholastic league band contest are expected to attend the band school. They will hear several of the pieces which are now under consideration for use in the state contest.

Dr. A. A. Harding, director emeritus of the University of Illinois bands, and Michael Balnemenes, who held the first clarinet place in the Berlin State Opera orchestra for 22 years, are returning this year as faculty members for the band school.

Faculty Members Named

Dr. Julien Paul Blitz, professor of music at the college, will teach elementary music for public school teachers and also music history and appreciation and string instruments for minor instrument requirements for band majors.

To date a faculty of 16 specialists in band and music has been named to help with the summer school. Joe L. Hadden, of the Tech faculty will serve as assistant band school director and teach baritone and trombone; G. T. Gilligan of Kermit will teach trombone; J. W. King of Big Spring will be the French horn instructor and Nelson G. Patrick of San Benito will act as lecturer for courses in administration of a band school program. Patrick will also teach bascon.

Others include R. A. Dhossche, director of the Vocational and Technical High school band of San Antonio; John James Haynie of Cisco, who will instruct cornet; Paul Branom, director of the Lubbock Senior High school band, who will teach students interested in the brass instruments; and Frank Herring, director of the Carroll Thompson Junior high band, instructor in French horn.

Charles A. Wiley, son of Prof. Wiley, will teach oboe and theory; Vic Williams, director of the Slaton High school band, will instruct in saxophone and theory; Harry Horn, director of the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school band, instructor in baritone; and Lannes Hope, director of the O. L. Slaton junior high will act as an instructor in cornet.

WAA Delays Action On Sale Of Navy Shipyard At Orange

WASHINGTON, May 21. (AP) — The War Assets administration isn't expected to act for at least two weeks on the $1,001,000 offer by a U.S. Steel subsidiary for the wartime Navy shipyards at Orange, Tex.

Because the transaction involves more than $1,000,000, the sale would have to be approved by WAA administrator Jesse Larson.

A WAA spokesman said yesterday it probably will be at least two weeks before the WAA property disposal board receives and acts on the proposal. The board's recommendation then goes to Larson, who in turn submits the entire case to the Justice department to decide whether there would be any violation of the anti-trust laws.

MARKET TRADING SLOW

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—A four-day decline came to a full stop today in the slowest Saturday stock market in more than seven months.

Only 230,000 shares changed hands, the smallest total since 190,000 on Oct. 9. A week ago volume amounted to 360,000 shares. changed hands, the smallest total since 190,000 on Oct. 9. A week ago volume amounted to 360,000 shares.

Railway and motor stocks were among the steadiest. Steels, which recently have been pounded down to, or within a fraction of, the year's lowest prices, were wobbly.

Bethlehem Steel, for instance, dropped to a new bottom with a loss of just ¼ point and closed ⅛ off at 27½. U. S. Steel hovered over its low for a while but came back and finished with a gain of ⅛ at 70.

Marked up ½ each were Chrysler at 89¾, Packard at 5¾ and Studebaker 19¾. General Motors closed ¼ to 97½.

Gains were posted for Santa Fe at 87, Southern Pacific 41¾, Baltimore and Ohio 9⅞, Chesapeake and Ohio 35¾, and Illinois Central 37.

Holding back were U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, North American Co., Curtis Pub., Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, and Gulf Oil.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 61.9, a low since April 29. The industrial group headed downward but rails and utilities inched ahead.

Bond trading shrank to the lowest in nearly 25 years.

Grain Shipment Embargo Urged

DALLAS, May 21 (AP)—A speedy embargo on rail movement of all grain was asked by the southwest shippers advisory boards as the group wound up its 26th annual meeting here with election of officers.

C. C. Dehme, manager of the Arkansas rice traffic bureau at Stuttgart, Ark., was named general chairman to succeed Frank Cross, General Mills, Inc., traffic manager at Oklahoma City.

System Is Needed

"Some system of embargo is going to have to be put on grain movement before we start cutting the present crop," said Frank W. Higinbotham, traffic manager of the Producers Grain corporation at Amarillo.

Coincidentally with wind-up of the board's meeting late yesterday, the Texas wheat harvest began—the first dribble in the tremendous harvest that will march north to Canada before fall.

The shippers said that if there is no embargo, there will be freight congestion and a tangle of tied-up, loaded box cars with no place to go. The board has said the 1949 harvest finds storage space already partly filled with the 1948 crop

Officers Are Named

Other officers named: Alternate general chairman, V. W. Appleby, traffic manager, Southern Alkali corporation, Corpus Christi, Tex.; general secretary, H. F. Easterling, traffic manager, Brown Paper Mill Co., Monroe, La.; secretary, J. W. Leggett, Dallas, Association of American Railroads.

Named chairman of terminal grain committees were: Higinbotham at Amarillo; C. J. Harriss, traffic manager of the Enid, Okla., board of trade, Enid chairman; R. L. George, traffic manager of the Ralston Purina Mills, Fort Worth, Fort Worth chairman; F. G. Robinson, traffic manager of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, Galveston chairman, and E. E. Wyatt, general traffic manager of the Arrow Mills at Houston, Houston chairman.

Brownfield Jaycees To Discuss Plans For Rodeo Set June 23-25

BROWNFIELD, May 21. (Special)—Plans for "going western" just before and during the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce rodeo in the new arena here June 23-25 will be discussed by Jaycees at their regular weekly luncheon Monday.

Preliminary plans for the program, which would include growing of beards, wearing of western togs and decorating the city in rodeo fashion, were made at last week's luncheon.

Meanwhile, other plans are continuing for the annual event, which is expected to attract outstanding rodeo performers from throughout the Southwest. Stock will be furnished by Howard Brown of Dublin, and contestants' purses will amount to $1,500 plus entrance fees.

Added attractions will include personal appearances by Monte Hale, western motion picture actor; a clown, taximeter mule, and four rodeo dances, the first to be held the night before the rodeo opens. Only night performances will be held at the new rodeo arena, where seating capacity has been increased by several hundred.

The Jaycees are planning "booster" tours throughout the area to advertise the rodeo.

Fort Worth Firm To Exhibit Toys At Dealer's Show Here

The latest developments in toys will be seen in a special toy showing at Lubbock hotel today through Tuesday, but the children will have to wait awhile, 'cause the show is being held for dealers of the South Plains.

Dolls that cry when you lay them down and hush when you pick them up again and cowboy six-shooters that look more convincing than the real thing are among toys that will be seen at the showing, said F. E. Crume of Lubbock, South Plains representative of Nash Hardware company, which is conducting the showing.

David B. Nash of Fort Worth, vice president of the firm, also will be here for the showing, which is to be held in room 316 of the Lubbock hotel.

Crume said there will be electric stoves that actually cook, metal doll houses complete with matching furniture, new doll dishes, doll carriages and doctor kits with plastic instruments. There are electric mixers, games of all kinds and mechanical toys.

Terry County TB Association Names Officers At Brownfield

The association's board will be formed of the officers and representatives from the various civic organizations and other groups in Brownfield and Terry county.

Approximately $1,026 was raised in the recent Christmas seal sale sponsored by the association. All but 18 percent of this amount was retained by the county group for use in combatting tuberculosis.

Sightseeing In Europe In 1949 Can Be Readily Done

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles written by the Avalanche-Journal woman's editor, who, accompanied by Miss Ruth E. Ford, has just returned from a two months' vacation in Europe).

EUROPE in 1949. What will the American tourist, who is flocking over in greater numbers now than at any time since 1939, find? Well it will depend in large measure on what he is looking for.

If you wish you can see devastation everywhere, for the most disastrous war the world has ever known has left its scars in city and hamlet. But the debris is being cleared, more systematically in some countries than others, and we found Europe more advanced toward recovery than we had believed possible. There are shortages; there is very little in the way of clothing one would wish to buy and there is rationing. Yet, with the exception of England, we ate well and plentifully.

We saw no one who appeared to be actually starving and yet there must be many people in the cities who do not get enough to eat. The best answer to that is that we seldom see misery anywhere unless we look for it. Times Square is only 15 minutes by subway from Lower East Side slums, but the visitor to New York does not get down there if he stays among the tourist sights of the city. The analogy with Europe is clear.

THERE are Europeans who bear deep scars of war that will never heal. Yet, unless one could be around them long enough to gain their confidence, he would not know the thoughts that go on in the minds of these people who are building back largely through our help.

During the last few days before the Germans were routed from Vienna, Allied planes bombed beautiful St. Stephens and the State Opera house. Eddie, our cauffeur and guide in the city that once marked the center of European culture, said the people wept openly when they saw the turquoise tiled roof of St. Stephens falling in tiny pieces. When we expressed regret that those particular spots were bombed he sighed and answered that perhaps it was just a case of bad sighting that day.

To prove that something good can come from even such a devastating thing as bombing, many new buildings are being altered in reconstruction, in order to give way to more traffic in downtown Vienna.

Hotels are crowded in Europe, but transportation seems normal and food, as we have said, is plentiful in most places. Hotel accomodations may not be on the American standard, but there is no need to accept American standards in every respect. For instance, many Americans want single rooms with baths. And yet one would be unable to find such a room in the whole city of Edinburgh, Scotland.

COSTS are up, but in view of the fallen value of many European currencies, they have not gone up in terms of the American dollar as might be expected. John Robbins told us that many American students studying in Paris under the GI bill of rights live on their allotment, without much financial help from home. He finds it possible on his monthly seventy-five dollars to rent a comfortable apartment and buy food on the market, although he says there is not enough left over to buy clothes.

We found ourselves asking: "Where do the fashionable European women hide themselves?

We saw few smart women in Paris. Women in the audiences at shows and in the restaurants and shops wore dull dresses, cheap furs and slouchy hats.

In the smartest stores skirts were short; some of them almost to the knees. Most of the French girls wore long bobs. Evidently, Christian Dior was more successful in influencing the American women to lengthen her hem and bob her hair than he was with his own countrywomen. And yet short bobs were being featured in the beauty shops.

NOT A SMALL factor in making our two months' trip a pleasant one was the thoughtfulness and good manners of public and private servants. The waiters were kind to translate the menu items that appeared to be so much Chinese to us and to offer suggestions on ordering. In Paris a policeman drew a picture of the Eiffel tower on his notebook and showed it to the taxi driver after we had despaired of making him understand us. When we asked directions in stores, we were escorted to the door and sometimes halfway down the block by a gracious employe.

In London our hearts were warmed at the sight of bobbies stopping traffic to lead children across an intersection.

And when we returned to America and took a taxi to Greenwich village we were astonished at the courtesy of the driver. The address was unknown to him and after a few blocks it was obvious he was uncertain. He stopped three times to inquire the way, putting the flag down at each stop. In our previous visits to New York such a thing was unknown.

At long last it seems the American tourist is once more coming into his own, at home and abroad. Truly happy days are here again!

"through the Coral Doors"

Hi Folks,

I'm always finding something new and things changed when I open that coral door at Broadway and N. This time they had just received four new dining room chairs done in lip stick red color that are very comfortable and really striking. One client liked them so much when they were unpacked that she is going to get one for a desk chair.

Fredda and James were just leaving for Odessa and Midland with the station wagon loaded down. They had a couch that had been slip covered by Lillie and Lena in the station wagon that was a honey.

Rosa was unpacking a shipment of Winfield purple pottery which is the first shipment that they had had of this pattern in some time since they have gotten the factory rebuilt.

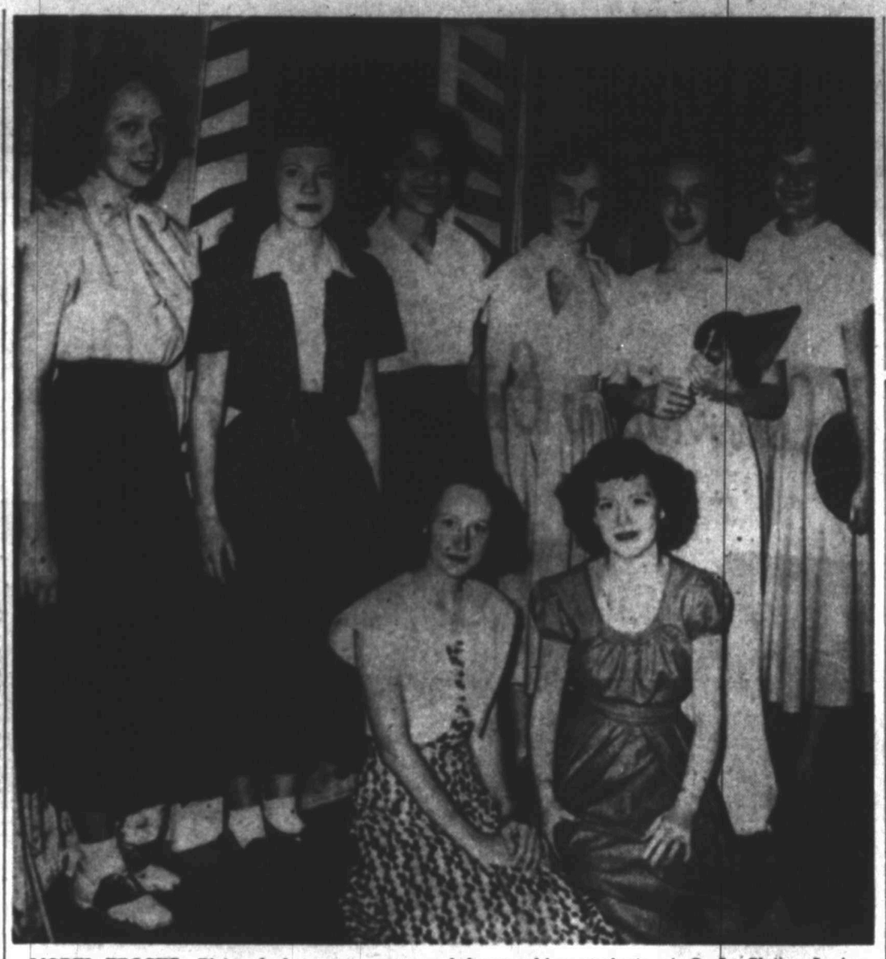

Josie was all excited over a new china pattern that is being made exclusively for Decorators Studio. The factory liked the design so much they have asked if they might have permission of placing the pattern on the East and West coast; however the permission was not been granted yet. Everyone at the Studio is anxiously awaiting the arrival of the boat that will bring them the first shipment of their pattern, which by the way will be an open stock pattern.

Durwood was getting ready to make a delivery and had the car filled with beautiful packages for brides and graduates. They certainly sparred nothing in the gift wrappings.

The blushing bride has returned meaning Bee of course. From all reports they had quite an exciting honeymoon, which was all topped off when she casually drove her car in Decorators Studio driveway. The staff at the Studio thought she would appreciate purple and yellow paint which was carried to the wedding and not used so some artistic sign painting went on while Bee was visiting inside.

What remained of the staff at the Studio was planning a nice surprise for James who is leaving by plane Sunday morning on his way to France where he will be studying this summer.

See ya next week,
Grand Pa Nosey. adv.

Club Celebration Scheduled

Mrs. Beatty To Be Honor Lunch Guest

FROM FIRST TO LAST—At a luncheon to be given in Navajo room of Hilton hotel Tuesday at 1 p. m., the 40th anniversary of Twentieth Century club, the oldest women's study club in Lubbock, will be observed. Mrs. George L. Beatty, above right, organized the club and was its first president. Mrs. Leroy T. Patton, left, is retiring president of the organization. The two women are looking at the club's first year book.

MRS. GEORGE L. BEATTY, organizer and first president of the Twentieth Century club, will be honored at a 40th anniversary luncheon to be held by the club Tuesday at 1 o'clock in Navajo room of Hilton hotel. The study club is the oldest in Lubbock and one of the oldest on the South Plains. Other past presidents of the organization and Mrs. Leroy T. Patton, this year's president, will be special guests. Mrs. James H. Goodman is in charge of arrangements.

Past presidents of the club now living in Lubbock are Mesdames Beatty, H. A. Davidson, C. M. Ballenger, Roscoe Wilson, G. C. Wolffarth, J. S. Johnson, James H. Goodman, G. N. Atkinson, Allan L. Carter, J. I. Kilpatrick, J. H. Hankins, W. O. Stevens, M. C. Overton, T. R. Prideaux and W. B. Price.

A sextet composed of Mesdames A. W. McKee, C. J. Wagner, W. W. Royalty, W. C. Rylander, W. O. Stevens, and G. N. Atkinson, and directed by Mrs. McKee, will sing old ballads at the luncheon.

Mrs. Roscoe Wilson is to be accompanist.

Honoree To Speak

Mrs. Goodman will introduce Mrs. Beatty, who is to speak, Miss Mamie Crump, a charter member of the club, and past presidents who are to speak briefly on their terms in office Mrs. H. F. Godeke, president-elect, will discuss "The General Federation's Projects 40 Years Ago and Now." The invocation will be by Mrs. Wilson and the benediction by Miss Mae Murfee, pioneer club member.

Assisting Mrs. Goodman with arrangements are members of the entertainment and reservation committee, Mesdames Howard Hampton, W. B. Price and J. R. Jameson; members of the invitation committee, Mesdames J. H. Hankins, Lee C. O'Neil and M. C. Butler; and members of the courtesy committee, Mesdames Butler, A. G. Barsh, M. L. Shepherd, J. B. Rountree, Ivy Savage, William V. Stone, Thord Dockray, J. Ben Cole, jr., and O'Neil. Serving on the finance and ticket committee are Mesdames J. I. Kilpatrick, Stevens and Roy Riddell, and on the publicity committee are Mesdames Cole and Shepherd.

Active, associate and past members of the club are to attend the luncheon.

In 1922, Twentieth Century club organized Junior Twentieth Century club and in 1925 the group formed the Sorosis club.

Pioneer Of Plains Organizes Club

A pioneer of the Plains of Texas, Miss Willie Steadman, was teaching elocution in Plainview when she met the late Judge George L. Beatty, a pioneer lawyer of Lubbock. Miss Steadman and Judge Beatty were married and made their home in Lubbock.

In the brochure published recently by First Methodist church is a picture of an early 1900 Sunday school class of boys and girls called "Children's Brigade" and taught by Mrs. Beatty. While telling the story of her work in Lubbock, Mrs. Beatty said, "I had heard that new towns were always very wicked, so when Judge Beatty and I moved here, I resolved to put all my strength on the side of the right."

Mrs. Beatty, in 1909, returned to Arkansas, her native state, to direct a program for a study club, and after realizing the value of clubs to the community, she organized the Twentieth Century club of Lubbock, the first study club here. During that year, the club became affiliated with the General Federation of Women's clubs.

Today Mrs. Beatty makes her home at 1317 Ave. N. Judge Beatty died in 1934.

Roses, ribbons and other trimmings snipped off dated hats by New York singing star Lorraine Browning (above) are put to new use as neckwear. Pink silk rose brightens white ascot (top right). Velvet leaves are used to ornament string of pearls (bottom right).

Millinery Trimmings May Be Added To Neckware

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

SNIP off those French silk roses, violets, velvet leaves and good millinery ribbons from dated hats before you discard them and put those choice millinery trimmings to new use as smart neckwear.

Tuck the colorful silk rose which is worth salvaging into a velvet ribbon neckliner which you tie at the opening of a collar. Or pin the rose to a fur scarf or to a white pique ascot.

Crushed roses or violets snipped from an old hat can be freshened up by fingering petals over a kettle's steaming spout. Violets can be grouped into a more charming nosegay if you will frame the cluster with loops of matching velvet ribbon.

Velvet foliage with wire stems will make effective ornaments for any old string of pearls. If an old hat will yield as many as six velvet leaves, wind these, one at a time, by their individual wires to a string of pearls. Attach velvet leaves to necklace at well-spaced intervals.

Since millinery ribbons are apt to be good ribbons, they are well worth salvaging for old hats. These can be freshened up by pressing with a hot iron shielded by a slightly damp cloth placed over the ribbon, and can be used as hair ribbons and ribbons to lace through eyeleted necklines and petticoat flounces. Little odds and ends of ribbons released from millinery bows and fancy loops can be used to tie on broken-down strands of pearls and other necklaces that need new fasteners. So think before discarding old hats.

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By WAYNE D. GROCE

A NOTE OF CHARM

Look at the above illustration for a minute. It has everything a furniture group should have . . . charm, comfort and utility . . . a perfect example of scale and balance in the modern home.

If you're planning on rearranging your living room, pay particular attention to the overall size and weight of the pieces used and where you place them. And, unless you want a very formal room, do not have everything evenly matched.

In many cases, where both large and small pieces are used, you'll find you can get the desired effect by counterbalancing the large piece within a group. A sofa, for example, may be balanced by two large chairs, or by a chair and a table.

The subject of scale can be explained in a few words. It means nothing more than the keeping of the pieces in each group in proportion to one another . . . and remember, furniture has height as well as width. Irregular heights may sometimes be attractively balanced by pictures, mirrors and other wall hangings. But by all means avoid grouping very large and very small pieces together.

If you have any furniture problem that's bothering you, please feel free to stop in anytime and discuss it with us. There is no charge for our service.

Hearings On National Health Insurance Program To Commence In Senate And House Committee

By CHARLES T. LUCEY
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 21. — Health will break out all over Capital Hill next week.

Both Senate and House committees will buckle down to exploring a hatful of bills for a national pay-in-advance medical care program.

The big battle isn't on whether to have national prepared health insurance, but whether it's to be on a compulsory basis and under broad federal government controls or on a basis of voluntary membership in non-profit private groups.

Hearings Are Slated

Both sides will get in their first licks quickly. The Senate labor and public welfare committee will hear representatives of more than two dozen important organizations in health, labor and public welfare fields in sessions lasting until June 8. Then, on June 20, it will begin another two weeks of hearings.

The health bills in the House have landed in the House interstate and foreign commerce committee. A subcommittee headed by Rep. Percy Priest (D., Tenn.) began its exploration of the subject yesterday and will hold further hearings Tuesday and Wednesday.

Still further sessions will be scheduled subsequently.

The Senate hearings will open with testimony by chief sponsors of various measures which have been introduced—Senator Elbert Thomas (D., Utah), committee chairman, on behalf of the Truman administration's compulsory insurance bill; Senator Robert A. Taft (R., O.) and Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) on behalf of voluntary health bills they have introduced; and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (R., Mass.), on behalf of his bill to provide free distribution of expensive medicines and medical services to the needy.

Officials To Testify

Then, day after day, the Senate subcommittee headed by Senator James E. Murray (D., Mont.) will hear the views of spokesmen of these groups:

The Federal Security agency, the CIO, American Medical assn., American Hospital assn., American Federation of Labor, Blue Cross and Blue Shield commissions, American Public Health Ass., American Protestant Hospital Assn., American Dental assn.

'Also the co-operative Health Federation of America, Assn. of American Medical colleges, American Association of Universities, Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, National Association of State universities, American Dental Schools Assn., Association of Schools of Public Health, Veterans administration, National Public Health Nursing Assn., American Nurses Assn.

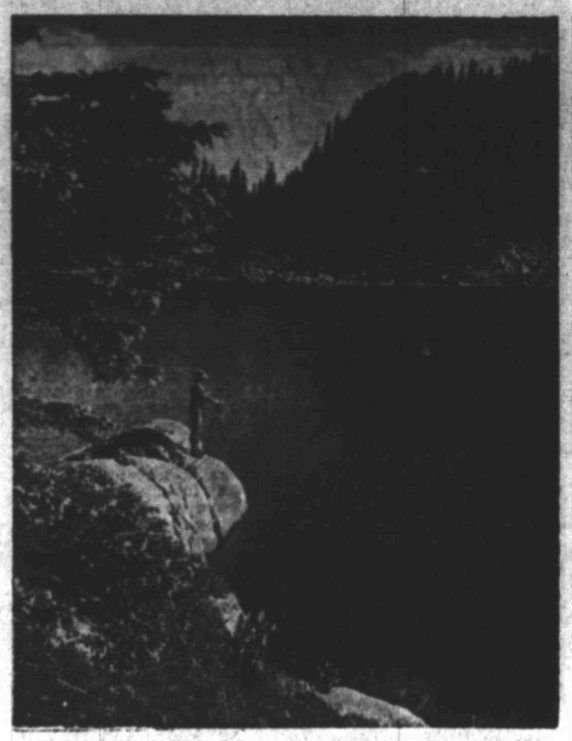

The subcommittee to hold hearings is composed of Senators Murray, Claude Pepper (D., Fla.), Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.), Matthew Neely (D., W. Va.), Taft (R., O.), H. Alexander Smith (R., N. J.) and Forest Donnell (R., Mo.).

Rep. John Dingell (D., Mich.), House author of legislation embodying the administration's compulsory health plan, opened fire on the American Medical Assn. by charging that the dictors' group is conducting "one of the shrewdest, most calculating and cold-blooded lobbying operations in American history" against national health insurance.

Mr. Dingell contended the public relations firm running the AMA's $3,500,000 campaign against health insurance had asked doctors to "take advantage of their special, confidential relationship with their patients, including particularly members of Congress, to lobby against what President Truman and many members of Congress feel is a health program in the interests of the nation."

As the hearings begin, the President's compulsory health plan is given little chance of passage this year. It is doubtful that there will be any legislation on any kind of health insurance at all—voluntary or compulsory. But Congress possibly could act on separate bills providing financial aid to medical schools and students in order to get more doctors, and on increased aid to hospitals.

FISHERMAN'S PARADISE—Lakes and streams of northern New Mexico beckon anglers each year about this time.

Streams And Lakes In Northern New Mexico Offer Choice Of Settings For Fishermen

SANTA FE, N. M., May 21 (Special—Fishing in northern New Mexico is an adventure in wild mountain beauty, swift-flowing streams, placid, high-altitude lakes, And the fish bite, too!

The variety in a network of some 100 miles of trout streams and 50 lakes tucked away in the high mountains offers angler's choice on setting, type of fishing and kind of piscatorial diet preferred.

Novice Can Have Fun

Northern New Mexico fishing waters offer fun for the novice with a rod in his hand for the first time as well as for the seasoned fisherman. Since many of the streams have their origin in the Sangre de Cristo, Sandia and Jemez Mountains, it is possible to fish near the turbulent source or follow a stream to its quiet flow on the floor of a valley.

Most of the lakes in this section must be reached by pack trip to altitudes from 9,000 ft. up to 13,000 ft. and any vacationer who can possibly arrange it should not miss the thrill of escaping into the wilderness for several days' fishing or rest or both. The lodges and ranches scattered through the region will arrange pack trip for the adults and see that the children are kept happy at the ranch while their parents are trekking.

Trout Big And Game

This northern section of the state is famous for its German brown trout, first stocked from Austria in territorial days, but all of the streams and lakes are well-stocked with rainbow and-speckled trout, black and white bass, bream perch, blue gill, sunfish and rarer varieties. The New Mexico native trout grow big and game and can't be topped for fun in landing and flavor in eating.

Fishing season on all but special waters opened May 15th, closes November 21st. Since this region has a May through October summer season, the weather can be depended upon to be both warm and cool enough through fishing season for the finest kind of vacation.

Licenses On Seasonal Basis

As for types of angling, there is plenty of scope here for dry-fly, wet-fly, spoon and, of course, the old fashioned worm. The Royal Coachman is one of the most popular flies on these streams.

Non-resident licenses can be had on a seasonal basis ($5) or on a ten-day arrangement ($3) and can be ordered ahead of your holiday from the Game and Fish Warden, Capitol Bldg., Santa Fe or bought when you arrive from your lodge host or other agent. Limits are: on trout, 15 fish or 8 lbs. and one fish; bass, 15 fish or 15 lbs. and one fish. And you can ship your catch home if you've a mind to.

The Northern New Mexico Resort Association, Box 1403 Santa Fe will send further fishing information and lists of ranches and lodges on request.

United States Outmaneuvered

WASHINGTON, May 21 (U.P.)—Foreign diplomats today credited Russia's Andrei Gromyko with politically outmaneuvering the United States on the Greek civil war issue.

Even U. S. officials admitted that Moscow caught them completely by surprise with its announcement to the world that Gromyko and U. S. and British representatives had been discussing ways and means of solving the Greek problem.

Talks Kept Secret

The surprise was the more embarrassing because the United States had not told the Greek government about the informal talks, although it had every intention of doing so.

Diplomats said that Russia's announcement conveyed the impression that Russia was eager to reach a fair settlement in Greece, and consequently gave fresh impetus to the Soviet propaganda peace offensive. Coming on top of lifting of the Berlin blockade, they said, it lent support to Moscow's contention that the Kremlin was actively seeking peace on a world-wide basis.

This has been the basis of Moscow's propaganda campaign preliminary to the opening of the Big Four conference in Paris Monday.

Proposals Not New

Actually, U. S. officials pointed out, there was nothing new in the Soviet proposals for settling the Greek problem save a vague offer to serve on a Greek frontier commission, whose functions were not clear and whose ability to control the mountainous Greek border would be doubtful, unless Moscow gave bona fide orders to all Balkan Communists to cease aid to their Greek brethren.

Beyond that, Moscow wanted the guerrilla "democratic" government to have equal status with the Athens government in the conduct of new elections. This, U. S. officials pointed out, would mean Communists in key posts in the resultant coalition government. In the light of history, they said that such a coalition only would pave the way for the Communists to take over the country within a year or so.

Houston Sheriff Says Negroes Confess To Raping Young Girl

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—Sheriff C. V. (Buster) Kern Saturday said two negroes have made verbal confessions that they raped a 16-year-old white girl here May 14.

Their confessions, Kern said, implicated a third negro who now is being sought in Port Arthur and Louisiana where he formerly lived.

The young girl earlier told police she and a 20-year-old companion were parked on a highway near Houston when three negroes approached the vehicle, knocked the youth in the head with a hammer and forced her to cross a field. She said each of the negroes raped her twice.

In the receiving line were Mesdames Galbraith, Clayton, the honored guests, and their mothers, Mrs. H. S. Weiss and Mrs. H. B. Golding.

Mrs. David Zacharias presided at the tea table which was laid with a white Italian cutwork cloth and centered with a bouquet of pink rosebuds in a crystal bowl. Graduated lavender tapers burning in crystal holders formed a background for the floral arrangement. A floral block of ice was placed in the clear crystal punch bowl.

Others in the houseparty were Miss Billye Catherine Weiss and Mrs. Ross Hester.

Miss Golding will marry Leon Maples of Albuquerque, N. M., June 3, and Miss Weiss is to marry Charles B Fraser, jr., of Fort Worth, June 4.

Substitute Gossipy Statements With Praise Or Flattery

By ALICIA HART, NEA Staff Writer

The girl who waxes sarcastic or resorts to gossip in order to capture an audience can use better methods of attracting attention.

The sarcastic or gossip-relaying Miss is apt to gain an unsavory reputation for maliciousness which will make her friends distrust her or fear her tongue.

The best substitute for a sarcastic or gossipy remark about a person, if you ever feel inclined to make one, is a statement of praise or flattery.

As a rule, the more information you can gain from reading, studying or listening to the talk of intelligent people, the less need you will have to resort to petty gossip. The better informed you are, the easier it will be for you to engage in smooth, effortless and impersonal conversation.

It is a well-established fact that the girl who gossips, who "embroiders" her stories, or who builds up sensational rumors as facts, is the one who has limited conversational resources.

New Labor-Savers Lessen Summer Upkeep Of House

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

WHAT American spit-and-polish enthusiasts will cheer this spring are quicker and better labor-saving devices and the longer-lasting results which many aids promise.

A unique water-power scrubbing brush, for example, whisks dirt or oily soot satins from windows, screens, painted or clapboard exterior walls of porches with no more effort than it takes to guide bristles over the surface.

Inner circle of bristles on this new scrubbing brush is rotated by pressure of water flowing through garden hose to which the device is attached.

This brush, which may be equipped with a three-foot aluminum attached to the nozzle of a garden hose. Water pressure rotates an inner circle of bristle sat a furious pace and a stationery outer row of bristles prevents splashbacks.

Promising quicker clean u p s along the rug routes are new vacuum cleaners, both upright and tank-type models, which are equipped with disposable paper bags instead of conventional cloth bags or paper filters. When filled with dirt, bags may be slipped off vacuum and tossed away without soiling hands or rugs.

Liquid masking tape brushed on window panes (top) protects glass from paint splatters. When painting is finished, tape peels off easily (bottom).

Simplifying work for the amateur painter is a new liquid masking tape. When brushed over surfaces such as glass window panes, the liquid tape protects these from splatters of paint applied to narrow frames. The vinyl resin-based solution dries in 10 seconds and peels off like adhesive tape when painting is finished.

Worth noting, too, by the amateur touch-up artist, is a new synthetic luster finish for use on wood or metal, indoors or outdoors. One coat covers most surfaces without need for prime or undercoat. The resulting finish boasts the gleam and easy washability of baked-on enamel.

Longer-lasting effects from a home clean-up campaign are promised by a clear plastic protective finish which can be sprayed on everything from fleshly polished garden tools and lawn furniture to decorative accessories and newly-enameled woodwork. Packaged in a can wth a spray-top for easy application, the plastic coat will according to manufacturers' claims, make surfaces resistant to tarnish, water, oil, grease and alkalis.

Fine spray of clear plastic evenly coats surfaces of garden tools to make metal more resistant to corrosion.

Oregon Won't Send Prisoner To Comanche, Sheriff Peeved

COMANCHE, May 21. (LP) — Sheriff Otis Shaw of Comanche county today blasted Oregon authorities for their decision to keep William H. Franks 28, in Oregon prison, instead of returning him to Comanche county to answer to several charges.

The sheriff received a telegram today from R. M. Randall, Oregon state parole board director, which stated that Franks was being committed to the Oregon prison for five years as a parole violator of an armed robbery sentence.

Franks, along with Stella May Yarborough, 19, both of whom were arrested in Salem, Oregon, are wanted in Comanche county on a charge of smuggling a pistol to another convict. Franks also is under indictment on four charges of forgery and passing.

Climax To Romantic Odyssey Set May 27

"Simple" Wedding Planned By Rita And Aly At Chateau

By CHARLES A. SMITH
INS Staff Correspondent

CANNES, France, May 21—All the world who loves a lover will breathe a lot easier on May 27th when the romantic odyssey of Rita and Aly finally winds up in a "simple, old-fashioned home ceremony."

After taking one of the more extensive Cook's tours together in lieu of the old front-parlor courtship, the Hollywood queen of pinups and the Indian prince of multimillions are going to do the right thing by their fans with a wedding steeped in sentiment, tradition and orange blossoms.

Wear Simple Gown

"We don't want any fuss," the happy pair insists. "We just want to be treated like any ordinary couple."

Miss Hayworth will wear the most simple of ten wedding gowns created for her by Paris coutourier Jacques Fath.

The guests will assemble in the salon of the prince's villa and the Communist mayor of the nearby town of Vallauris will do the honors.

After the civil ceremony the head of the Paris mosque will perform the Moslem religious rites.

And then Rita and Aly will be as free to roam the four, fashionable corners of the earth as they ever were.

The chantes are that they will hang around the prince's little 40-room Chateau De L'Horizon, where they've been waiting for Aly's divorce and Rita's trousseau, at least for a few days.

Plans Top Secret

The honeymoon plans are top secret but Scandinavia seems to have the inside track. That's one of the few places they missed during their prenuptial travels.

The only flaw in the carefully laid plans for a grand finale—decorous and quiet—is the insistence of the world that followed their trail across two continents and several abashed islands in being among those present.

Reporters and photographers now outnumber the natives and the members of the international set along this chic strip of the riviera.

In an attempt to insure the dewey-eyed quality of the nuptuals the prince has spent a good deal of his allowance and time recruiting the local police and the more muscular members of his household into a military brigade pledged to defend the privacy of his luxurious preserves.

All guests have been issued special passes which will be checked at road blocks leading to Chateau L'Horizon. Platoons will patrol the grounds to repulse any attempt to establish a beachhead from the sea.

Both Rita and Aly have been working hard at presenting a united front of sheer simplicity to the world.

Georgia Begins Rush On Uranium Deposits

ATLANTA, May 21. (LP)—The prospector is back on the job in Georgia, but he' not a grizzled old old man carrying a pick.

Likely as not, the modern '49er is a housewife who scoops up a bag of sand or rock somewhere in North Georgia and sends it to the geology department at Emory University here to be tested for uranium ore.

Dr. J. G. Lester, head of the geology department at Emery, said an average of six packages a day arrive to be tested.

"The rush began with publication of the Georgia Mineral Society bulletin several weeks ago," Lester said. "The bulletin indicates that the area between the mountains of North Georgia and the fall line at Columbus, Macon, and Augusta had uranium possibilities."

Forty seven thousand United States firm had group life insurance plans for employes by the end of 1947, compared with 25 firms in 1913.

City Swimming Pool At Mackenzie State Park To Be Opened; $25,000 Spent On Improvements

The city swimming pool in Mackenzie State park will be opened next Sunday at 1:30 p. m. under supervision of the City Recreation department which has announced plans for operation of the pool.

Approximately $25,000 has been spent on improvements at the pool in the last three months. Improvements include installation of filters, new scum gueter, hard surfacing of the area around the pool, building of 100 basket shelves, installation of volley ball, deck tennis and badminton courts, two shuffleboard courts, three concrete ping pong tables and two teather ball poles, an overhead ladder chinning bar and parallel bars and twelve flood lights.

Temperature Higher

Water can be sent through the new filters and returned to the pool every six to eight hours. "With the new equipment, we will not have to drain our water; in other words we will use the same water all summer long," said A. C. Hamilton, superintendent of city recreation. "After the water goes through the filters and is returned to the pool it will be more pure than our drinking water," he said

In past years, the pool has been drained every two days and temperature of the water has ranged from 65 to 68 degrees, but this year the temperature will be from 78 to 80 degrees

As the water goes through the filters, it will be chlorinated with gas chlorine and the required amount of chlorine can be kept in the water In the past, chlorine had to be added by hand and most of the time the amount exceeded that needed.

Water Testing Regular

Four samples of water will be taken to the city laboratory each day to be tested for bacteria and the results will be posted in room 106, City hall, for public inspection. Six to eight chlorine tests will be made each day and will keep chlorine residual between amounts recommended by the State Health department and the entire pool area will be sprayed with D. D. T as often as needed, it was announced.

The recreation department will sponsor a "Learn to Swim" program for all age groups the entire summer The pool will be closed to the public from 9 a. m. to 12 noon for swimming classes. Instruction will be free, but regular pool admission price will be charged. Schedule of swimming classes follows: Ages 12 up 9 to 10 a. m., May 30 through July 31; ages 6 through 8, 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., May 30 throught July 31; ages 9 through 11, 11 a. m. to 12 noon, May 30 through July 31. New classes will start every two weeks through June and July, but persons can start taking instruction any day they wish. Instruction will be under supervision of qualified Red Cross swimming instructors.

Life saving classes, both junior and senior, will be offered in August for those who can qualify. Classes will be arranged for special groups in the later afternoons and for nurses and working girls and boys.

Admission prices in the past have been nine cents for children 12 years and younger and 25 cents for adults. This year's pool admission prices will be nine cents for children, as before, and 35 cents for adults tax included.

Private Parties Possible

All life guards and instructors will be qualified and have had the senior life guard course, according to announcement. Personnel will be Bill Floyd, manager; Dewitt Alexander, assistant manager; Floyd Pector, Ed Wilson, and Mrs Hannah Spruance, instructors; Cecil Caddel, Costin Bufkin, Donald Decker, Ben Wilson, Jim Wilson Bobby Davis, life guards; Miss Pat Bolinger, women's dressing room attendant, and Mrs. Martha Lou Gamble, cashier.

Last year, there were approximately 50,000 paid admissions and about 70,000 are enticipated this year, said Hamilton.

The pool will be decorated with 40 or more beach umbrellas.

The concession will be operated by Luther Faulkner.

For the first time, private clubs and other groups may reserve the pool for private parties. Reservations may be made for the period from 9 p m to midnight. For private parties ,regular admission will be charged plus $1 an hour for life guards. As many as a thousand persons can attend a party and a minimum of 25 is required. Reservations already are being made. The number of life guards will depend on size of a party.

First Two Weeks Of May See Vegetable Crop Improvements

AUSTIN, May 21 (U.P) — The first two weeks in May saw improved conditions over most commercial vegetable growing areas in Texas, the United States Department of Agriculture reports.

Field work on the lower Valley tomato crop was interrupted by rains. However, active harvest of the South Texas onion crop was resumed in most areas, and the movement of snap beans, sweet corn, cucumbers and potatoes was fairly active.

The North Texas onion crop was showing a decided improvement, the USDA said. Except for the Yoakum area, the late spring tomato crop was "in good condition and fairly well advanced."

Uneasy Peso Weakens Again As Mexican Banks Open Saturday

MEXICO CITY, May 21 (AP) — The peso weakened slightly further as banks opened Saturday.

The dollar was bought at 8:10 and sold at 8.25. It closed officially Friday at 8.10 and 8.20.

The peso's new drop came Friday just before banks closed and immediately after the Bank of Mexico stopped furnishing dollars. Mexican financial men generally attributed the fall to New York dispatches saying the peso probably would go to 8.25. However, the drop impressed most bankers as indicating lack of confidence here since the money fell when support was withdrawn.

FEW HEAR PROGRAMS

Surveys show that in Western Europe from four to five per cent of the population listen to British broadcasts, the number increasing to 15 or 20 per cent during a crisis, while "in Russia there is a fairly substantial audience among the educated classes."

Sales Whittling Down Stocks Of New Autos

DETROIT, May 21 (AP)—Field stocks of new cars appear to be declining under the pressure of increased sales

In January they reportedly numbered about 600,000 units. Today they probably do not exceed 400,000.

The figures are estimates. Auto makers with cars in storage don't want to talk about them. It can be said, however that sales pressure—and perhaps some discount trimming—has moved out a lot of vehicles held in storage through the winter.

The field stocks are mainly of cars in the medium price field. Probably when the current buying surge has spent itself the stocks will rise again. For the present the manufacturers are watching them level off—and hoping the decline will continue well into the summer.

One company that a few months ago had more than 23,000 cars in the field now has less than 14,000; another whose unsold stock at one time reached into the 30,000 level has noted a substantial decline.

Actually a 400,000 unit field stock isn't as large as it sounds. Included in the count is every car en route from the factory to the distributor or retailer as well as units the dealer is preparing for delivery.

Dutra, Truman Agree On New Program Between Brazil, U. S.

WASHINGTON May 21 (AP)—The White House announced today that the presidents of the United States and Brazil have agreed on a new five-point program designed to draw the two nations even closer together.

The program mainly involves U. S. economic, financial and technical help to Brazil, joint efforts to eliminate double taxation, and Brazilian measures to stimulate American private investment in that republic

Announcement of the agreements was made a few hours before President Furio Gaspar Dutra of Brazil was scheduled to leave here for New York where he will spend part of a ten-day visit to this country.

BATTLE CONDITIONS REVEALED

Plans For Test Of Giant B-36 Against Navy Fighters Pushed

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The joint chiefs of staff today rushed to completion plans for the Air Force bomber vs. Navy fighter "war" with a Navy spokesman declaring the U. S. will be in peril if the bombers win.

Official silence was enforced on both services but many details of the valuation test were reliably learned. The contest to determine vulnerability of America's "Sunday punch" B-36 bomber against Navy jet interceptors was ordered by Congress on Wednesday.

As the joint chiefs of staff assistants worked out "rules and conditions" of the mock combat, a high-ranking naval aviator told International News Service.

Rules Lining Up

"We feel that there is a definite danger that if our fighters fail to shoot down the B-36, there will be a surge toward a lopsided military establishment. That would be most critical for the national security."

The officer expressed complete confidence, however, that the Navy fighters would triumph. He said "we've been working successfully against a harder target than the B-36."

Rules and conditions for the mock aerial war were lining up like this:

Place: Somewhere over the Caribbean with the fighters, operating from aircraft carriers, seeking to smash an "intercontinental" sneak attack by the giant six-engine bombers.

Several Tests Planned

Time: Soon, perhaps within 10 days.

Number of tests: Several, all under exact combat conditions. The intercepting force will not know where the bombers are until, and unless, the Navy's surface radar screen detects them.

Equipment for Air Force: B-36s carrying bomb and fuel load for about 12 hours at 40,000 feet. These are the conditions which would have to be met if the B-36s attacked Russia. Soviet industrial targets are at least six hours from coastal areas where the bombers would be detectable by radar and easily interceptible by fighter under 40,000 feet.

Equipment for Navy: Banshee F2H, Panther F9F and Corsair F4U fighters armed with camera guns. The fighters will not carry radar, depending upon the ships of the task force to pick up the B36s and inform them by radio. The bombers will be equipped with radar to watch out for the fighters as they rise to intercept.

Film To Decide

Personnel: Regular pilots and crews of both services who have been engaged in high altitude flying. No "ace" flyers will be chosen but the men must be expert in oxygen use, vital to life eight miles in the sky.

Conclusions will be drawn from film in the camera guns of both fighters and bombers.

The Navy task force will be disposed within an outlying screen of radar picket ships. When one of these detects the bombers, it will radio the carriers and the fighters will be launched at once. They will be directed to the bombers by the picket ship until contact is made or lost. If the bombers penetrate the picket screen, control of the fighters will pass back to the interceptor radio center aboard the carrier being attacked.

No representatives of foreign powers will be permitted to observe the tests. Decision on news coverage has not yet been reached.

Navy Practices

The Navy's operational development force has been working for some time on the problem of intercepting attacking bombers at 40,000 feet. It has employed the jet-powered Banshee against Banshees used as "target bombers" with consistent success.

Navy pilots have reported that despite the glare at great altitudes it is not dark, as frequently reported. They said vapor trails from the "bombers" helped them find their targets.

The Panther is also pet-powered. The Corsair, a development of the famed World War II fighter, employs conventional power but has been officially credited with out-fighting the Air Force F-80 at 40,000 feet.

The Navy fears Air Force victory might result in decimation of its service to a point where the U. S. world lose control of the sea. The Navy spokesman said:

"If Russia had controlled the Atlantic, the Berlin airlift could not have succeeded. The supplies it carried could not have been gotten to Europe to fly in the last 250 miles. Russia might have controlled all of Europe by now."

Eyeshadow Is Changed From Jar To Stick

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

EYESHADOW is the latest cosmetic to swap its little jar for a streamlined stick.

Swiveling out of a gold-like case exactly like a lipstick's is a new eyeshadow stick which is firmly molded but creamy enough in texture to slide color over the lid. The stick tints the lid the instant it touches the skin.

Women who know that the use of eyeshadow requires a craftsmanlike touch will welcome this little tool that improves makeup technique. The use of the stick not only promises to keep nails safe from messy daubs of color but guarantees the clumsiest amateur more professional-looking results.

The make-up artist who likes to apply a deft but subtle line of color along the roots of lashes will be able to accomplish that aim with a few well-directed strokes. The point of the stick slopes so that color, which is available in a choice of four tints, may be applied with sure-handed strokes.

Illinois Boy, 16, Admits 60 Burglaries In Three States

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 21 (U.P.)—A state police official said today that a 16-year-old Colchester, Ill., youth has admitted more than 60 burglaries in Illinois, Texas and Iowa.

Roger W. Hayes, state's attorney for McDonough county, said charges will be filed today against Lewis Brown, 16, who was brought here for questioning.

The interrogration was made by R. T. Piper, superintendent of the state criminal identification and investigation bureau, and two of his aides.

Piper said Brown signed a statement admitting ten house burglaries in Macomb, Ill., since December, and also told of making 50 others in 18 days while in Texas and seven or eight in Iowa.

Marine Killed, Two Injured In Longview Auto Accident

LONGVIEW, May 21. (AP)—A car which skidded and rolled more than 300 feet out of control killed Marine T/Sgt. Roy Temple Harris, jr., of Richmond, Va., near here late Friday night.

Harris' wife and daughter, Jayne, riding with him, were not hurt. R. T. Cross of Daingerfield, who was also in the car, was injured.

Harris was stationed at the Naval aerodynamics laboratory at the Lone Star Steel plant site in Daingerfield. He is the son of Mrs. Mable Blanch Adams of Richmond, Va. The body will be sent there Saturday night.

TRACK-TREADS PUT ON BOMBERS

Air Force Lays Plans For New Hit-Run Guerrilla Air Attacks

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP) — The Air Force indicated today that in a future war guerrilla air raids might be launched from hidden, unimproved fields thrown up quickly near enemy territory.

An announcement said the first ground tests of a track-tread landing gear for the 164,000-pound B-50 bomber have been completed at the Seattle plant of the Boeing Airplane company, and that similar tests are contemplated for transports and tanker planes.

The track-tread device — which permits operations from rough, unpaved runways — has been used experimentally on medium size transport planes. This was the first disclosure that the Air Force is trying it on bombers.

Hints At New Tactics

The announcement's association of bombers, tankers and transports suggested that planners are thinking of task forces able to attack from sketchy, temporary runways, hastily constructed at remote spots close to enemy territory.

Hard, level ground is found in various parts of the world, including the far northern section of this continent and the steppes of the Eurasian land mass.

In this plan, strategists see several advantages.

A greater variety and number of fields could be used in a large air offensive. The fields could be widely dispersed and could be moved quickly to new locations if enemy air attack made one spot too hot.

Force Self-Sustaining

If a situation warranted such guerrilla-like operations, hidden bases could conceivably be established within an enemy country for one or two quick strikes at a distant vital target.

The task force would be virtually self-sustaining. Fuel for the bombers could be brought in to the forward bases by the tankers. The transports could ferry maintenance and field construction personnel and supplies.

The bombers could take off, be refueled by the tankers on the way to their destination, then meet again at a rendezvous point for refueling on the inbound trip from the target.

The earthworm is blind, deaf and voiceless.

Body Of Pvt. William L. Shields Returned To U. S. For Reburial

MORTON, May 19 (Special) — The body of Pvt. William L. Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Smith of Mosquero, N. M., formerly of Morton, has been returned to the United States from Europe for reburial.

PVT. SHIELDS

Pvt. Shields was born May 31, 1922, in Haileyville, Okla. He attended Meadow High school and prior to entering the service in August of 1944, made his home in Terry county.

He left the United States in March, 1945, after receiving his basic training at Camp Crowder, Mo. He was awarded the marksmanship and good conduct medals, in addition to the Purple Heart.

Survivors in addition to the parents include a brother, Walter W. Shields of Morton.

Special Booklet To Give Timely Tips On Being Skilled Shopper

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 20—Don't be afraid a store clerk will "give you a funny look" if you watch the figures when he's adding up your bill.

Count the change you get back at a restaurant—the waiter will respect you for it.

In returning unused goods to a store, you'll get best results with a reasonably cheerful approach, free from sarcasm or recriminations."

These are tips from a booklet, "Effective Shopping," to be used by high school students in home economics and commercial courses.

Shopping Called Skill

Published by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, it was written chiefly by Mrs. Mildred Weigley Wood of Phoenix, Ariz., Union High school and Fred T. Wilhelms of San Francisco State college.

Good shopping is a skill that anyone can develop, the booklet says. Some of its elements:

1. Plan your buying in advance. Decide on the maximum amount to be spent for a particular item, and stay within the limit. Learn the characteristics of the product you plan to buy so you can evaluate it intelligently.

2. Keep a file of booklets, advertisements and informational articles from newspapers and magazines. Use ads as a guide to buying.

Shopper Should Be Pleasant

3. Have a smile and a pleasant greeting for the salesperson, and clearly describe to him what you want. Shop around from store to store. Avoid rush periods and rush days. Compare sales prices with regular prices. Avoid bargains for which you have no need.

4. Inspect goods and labels.

5. Pay bills promptly. Use a charge account or the installment plan if conditions advise them — but don't lose your shopping drive or become a "captive customer" thereby.

The booklet's advice to the nation's high school students:

"Make use of advertising. It's like a giant newspaper from the trade to you.

"As a shopper you can't do without advertising. Merchants commonly advertise their best values, and you need to know about those.

"They give some specific facts about their goods and their prices —and more and more of them are swinging to highly informative copy. If you want to be a well-informed consumer, don't neglect to make discriminating use of advertising."

VEGETARIANS UNHAPPY

Vegetarians in South Africa are complaining that since white bread came back, bakers won't make whole wheat or bran bread and they have to buy costly imported crispbreads to get their vitamins and mineral salts.

Style Cycles Explained By Designer

Glamor Girl Of 1999 Will Dress In Fashion Of 1890

By MARGARET WEIL
INS STAFF WRITER

NEW YORK, May 21. — The glamor girl of 1999 will look exactly like the glamor girl of 100 years before.

She'll have the same wasp waist, choker collar, boned bodice and bustle that grandma had when she was a girl.

So predicts designer Adele Simpson who peered into her crystal ball and said:

"The girl of '99 may rocket off to Mars on a 20th century date, but she'll be just as prim as the gay nineties belle who pogged along in a horse and buggy."

Cycle Is Explained

To Miss Simpson, it's clear—as crystal.

"Anyone who looks back into the history of fashion can also look ahead," the petite designer said.

Looking back, she saw:

Three silhouettes—bell, bustle and tubular—that have rotated every 100 years.

Skirts that have graduated up and down again every 20 years.

Shoulders that have gone out and in again every 5 years.

And minor trim details that have followed the general pattern, but have varied enough to create the illusion of new styles every year.

New Styles Revealed

Miss Simpson exclaims the so called "new" slim silhouette, for instance, was in vogue in 1796. It was also in vogue in 1900 and is so "new" that it has been around for 48 years—13 more than its allotted time!

Wars, Miss Simpson said, either kick cycles ahead or step on their tails.

The "boyish silhouette" that followed World war I delayed the current tubular cycle nine years. The last war again delayed the evolution process by muzzling Parisian designers.

There are clear signs now, however, that the long-slighted bell cycle is about to be "discovered" again.

"Cycles have nothing on common with cyclones," Miss Simpson said. "They ease in and out so quietly that they pull the wool over women's eyes."

Details Are Given

The technique is to mix outgoing and incoming trends at the crucial moment. In the confusion, women are tricked into the old story about "new styles."

The long, full skirts that appeared last year, for instance, belong to the bell cycle. The V-neckline is also an incoming trend although planted on the tubular silhouette as a comouflage.

In spite of the confusion, waistlets, and hopped skirts will return within the next few years.

The bell-shaped skirts will be ankle length at first. Then, they will slowly inch their way up to the knee and half-way down again, given a normal 33-year cycle.

Chief interest, however, will be in the width of the skirts.

Miss Simpson predicts that they will be modest at first and then become unwieldly. At this point, they will begin to taper down again—until they merge with the incoming bustle era slated for 1990.

That is where the girl of 1999 segs in as the "tin-type" of grandma's youthful portrait.

The six pounds of reading matter with its more than 5,000,000 words is called Texas Unlimited. Printing of advance sections was completed Saturday.

The News says the only larger edition was one of slightly more than 500 pages printed some years ago by the Miami (Fla.) Daily News.

The edition sections literally are bulging in the corridors of the large new Dallas News plant. Five police officers are on guard against fire and theft.

The edition will sell for 50 cents a copy. The edition aims at "telling the world the story of Texas."

Chiang Regime Must Make Change To Receive More United States Help

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is a tendency in some Chinese Nationalist circles to find encouragement in Secretary of State Acheson's statement to a Senate committee that America won't recognize a Communist regime in China as long as a Nationalist government exists.

However, it strikes me as rather grasping at straws for Nationalists to try to extract much satisfaction from such a general remark. True, the statement seems to indicate that Washington has no intention of recognizing a Communist regime at this time. That in itself must be a matter of gratification for the Chinese Nationalists, since there has been much speculation whether the United States might recognize the Red Chinese if they dominated the country.

No Definite Pledge

Still, it should be noted that Mr. Acheson didn't pledge himself very far in any direction. He appears to be pursuing a course of watchful waiting.

This much seems clear from recent developments: Washington has no present intention of rushing to the aid of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's refugee Nationalist government. The generalissimo, whose personal stock is below par in Washington, will have to produce a far more liberal and progressive form of government before he can win much further support.

This doesn't mean that Uncle Sam is going to put the stamp of approval on any Communist government and give it his support. We are against Communism. However, we recognize numerous Communist governments, and maintain representatives in their capitals. Thus there's no reason for anyone to assume that the United States wouldn't recognize a Chinese Communist government if it was an established and going concern.

New Regime May Get Help

By the same token there's no reason to assume—at least as I see it—that the United States might not even give support to some new government, should such be formed by substantial and progressive elements and demonstrate that it could pull its weight. That idea, by the way, may not be so far fetched as might seem.

Generalissimo Chiang gets much of his support from powerful warlords. Those warlords might regroup and establish a new regime. As a matter of fact, Chiang might be smart if he encouraged just such a move in view of the political bankruptcy of his own government.

However, the generalissimo long ago demonstrated that he is a fighter. He has given no indication that he intends to withdraw from the picture, but appears to be exceedingly active in directing the defense against the Communist offensive from the north.

Return To Chungking

I hear from a good source that the Nationalists may abandon the project of establishing the government on the big island of Formosa. They are said to have concluded that while Formosa would make an admirable defensive position, yet it would be too far removed from the heart of activities to make a good base for general purposes.

Therefore, the Nationalist high command is said to have decided to move the government back to the war-time capital of Chungking, if the Communists are able to continue their drive southward. Chungking would make a better rallying point, especially since the public associates it with victory against the Japanese in the world war.

LEVELLAND, May 21 (Special)—More than a dozen races tentatively are scheduled for a Quarter horse racing program scheduled for 2 p. m. Sunday at the Levelland Rodeo arena.

Founder Of Shamrock Oil Co. Dies Following Long Illness

WICHITA FALLS, May 21. (U.P.)—The founder of the Shamrock Oil Co., C. H. Clark, oilman and civic leader, died Friday after a long illness.

Besides starting the Shamrock company, Clark, 80, founded the Red River Oil company, which later became a part of the Magnolia Oil Co. For the last few years he was an independent oil operator. He owned a ranch north of Pampa.

A native of College Grove, Tenn., Clark moved to Iowa Park in 1890.

ANOTHER NEW SCHOOL TO BE STARTED SOON—East Broadway school, shown in an aerial view by the architect, will be the next in a series of new school buildings which Lubbock Independent School district is building to meet Lubbock's heavy growth. The board of trustees will receive construction bids at regular meeting Tuesday night. The 18-classroo mbuilding will feature abundant window space, with a library, toilets and office. It will have a four-hour fire rating. Corridors will be of glazed tile, floors of asphalt tile. Lockerobes will be installed in classrooms. In the first and second grade classrooms, toilets will be situated between classrooms for better teacher supervision. The flat roof with overhanging eaves will shade the windows in the summer but allow the winter sun to strike them. The heating plant will be housed in a separate building O. R. Walker is architect of the building. When it is finished, the present temporary structure built of war surplus buildings will be removed except for one wing in which the existing cafeteria will remain.

National Press Club History Delayed

Newsmen Humiliated As Their Work Tossed Back

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 21—Bigshots. I am happy to report, have their bad moments, too.

Take the great minds of the National Press club. They decided it was time to get out a serious book on the history of the club, which was founded in 1908, and while they were at it to tell the folks around the country how big league reporters work.

Writers Lined Up

It was to be a labor of love, so to speak, with the big wheels of the club contributing chapters for free and the club gathering in the profits, if any. Doubleday, Doran, the publishers, agreed to put the thing out provided these writers met a certain deadline. So Cabell Phillips of the New York Times, the appointed editor, lined up an impressive list of writers—one for each chapter.

Lyle C. Wilson, veteran manager of the Washington bureau of the United Press; Bascom N. Timmons, who represents a flock of papers; Homer Joseph Dodge, a charter member of the club and a fixture thereof; Fletcher L. Knebel of the Cleveland Plain Dealer; Ted Koop of the Columbia Broadcasting system; Freddy Othman, the funny man of the United Features syndicate; Hugh Morrow of the Saturday Evening Post; Tom Stokes of United Features; among others in the 16 chapters.

Copy Tossed Back

Well, sir, Editor Phillips, who always has a sharp pencil behind his ear, couldn't have had a rougher time with cityroom full of cubs.

Every one of these big shots missed the deadline. Lyle Wilson was the first one in with his copy—after deadline. The editor and his assistants gave it a short going over and asked Lyle to do it over. (Pardon me, boss, for bringing it up.)

But Lyle can smile. He wasn't the only one. Every last man got his copy tossed back at him—like he has pitched many a page back to many a neophyte.

Pensioner Gets Windfall, But State Will Save On Payroll

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 21. (U.P.)—More than a year ago, 68-year-old George Harnden found a wad of bills amounting to $3,800 in a money belt while searching for kindling near his shabby trailer home.

County officials took the money in custody for 12 months pending claims by the loser. No one claimed it.

So the county turned the money back to Marnden as the finder. But at the same time, the county cut down its monthly overhead.

Harnden was an old age pensioner. California law denies assistance to any elderly citizen worth more than $1,500. The county delivered Harnden his windfall, along with notice that he was off the pension rolls until he reduced his capital below the legal maximum.

Mexico plans to standardize lumber sizes, to facilitate United States sales.

Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees is the only active American Leaguer who enters the 1949 season with more than 300 home runs.

Edwin, The Silent Senator, Makes Law Short And Sweet

DENVER, May 21 (U.P.) — State Senator Edwin A. Rogers is an unusual man among his colleagues. He is a legislator of few words.

To prove his terseness, Rogers introduced a bill in the state senate which was just 31 words long.

The bill:

"An act relating to fishing and hunting. Section 1. It shall be lawful for a rancher or farmer to fish or hunt on property owned by him without purchasing a license."

Congress Still Passing Money Bills Despite Economy Talks

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 21. — If your shirt's too short to stuff into your pants, you're going around with some skin showing.

And that's about what all the talk of government economy boils down to: How to get your shirt and pants together.

In this case government expenses are the pants, and government revenue is the shirt. It's beginning to look too short.

But the whole picture gets hazier as the days pass and the arguments about economy increase. So here's an ABC on it.

Dept Is Problem

Take the government debt first, since the whole argument revolves around that. The debt now is around $251,500,000,000.

That debt is the money the government has had to borrow over the years, particularly the war years, to keep going.

It borrowed because government expenses were greater than its revenue — the money collected in taxes from people and businesses.

What President Truman and Congress want is to see revenue

So that, after paying expenses, some money will be left over to pay off some of the debt.

If expenses become greater than revenue again, the government will have to borrow more money to keep going and get deeper into debt

Estimate Is Given

Last January Mr. Truman told Congress that for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1949 (that's when the government's business year starts) this was the picture:

Expenses would run around $42 billion and revenue around $41 billion — or $1 billion more going out than was coming in.

So he asked Congress to raise taxes about $4 billion, mostly on corporations and higher-income people.

This chilled Congress to the bone. Instead of raising taxes, it said to Mr. Truman, expenses would have to be cut.

Then along came some other proposed expenses — like giving Europe arms—that Mr. Truman hadn't even listed in January.

This made the picture look even a little worse. But something else happened in the meantime that it look worse than that:

This was a drop in prices, together with an increase in unemployment. That meant the government would be able to collect even less tax money.

Economy Drive Pushed

So the cries in Congress became even stronger for cutting government expenses. The lawmakers said things like this:

"We may be heading into a bit of a business recession — if it's not already here — and that's no time to talk of raising taxes. So let's cut expenses."

Then a week ago Congress' own tax experts — called the staff of the joint congressional tax committee — came up with a prophecy that made Congress cry even louder for chopping down expenses. The experts said:

Because of the drop in business, in the fiscal year beginning July 1 the government will take in only around $39 billion in taxes, not the $41 billion Mr. Truman figured on last January.

So whereas Mr. Truman figured revenue ($41 billion) would be about $1 billion less than expenses ($41 billion), the experts figure it will be $3 billion less (with revenue only $39 billion).

Meanwhile, as bill after bill (to pay expenses, starting July 1) goes whistling to the Senate, the senators pass them right merrily, not cutting them, but talking loudly of economy.

If at this point you can't figure out what Congress is really going to do about cutting expenses, that's all right. Congress doesn't seem to be making much progress in figuring it out, either.

Posts With Internal Revenue Group Open

Collector of Internal Revenue John B. Dunlap announced from Dallas Saturday that examinations for filling vacancies in the positions of zone deputy collector and office auditor in the Internal Revenue service will be conducted by the Civil Service commission very shortly. These are career positions and pay starting salaries of $2,974.80 per annum.

The examination will be held in various cities convenient to the applicants simultaneously on the same date.

Applications from those persons who wish to take the examination must be mailed to the 14th Regional Office, Civil Service Commission, Dallas, in time to reach that office before the close of business June 7, 1949.

Full information and proper application forms may be obtained from any first- or second-class post office in the state of Texas, or from any local office of the Collector of Internal Aevenue.

The list of eligibles established as a result of this examination will be used to fill positions of deputy collectors of internal revenue at such offices as Lubbock, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Abilene, San Angelo, Big Spring, Odessa, Tyler, Longview, Sherman, Texarkana, Paris, Dallas, Fort Worth, and many other cities. Only the Dallas office employs office auditors.

The examination will be written, and the experience and educational qualifications of those who pass the written test will determine their eligibility.

This will be the third time this examination has been given since 1946. Those persons who passed either of the two earlier examinations but have not been appointed must file for this examination if they desire further consideration as all old eligibility registers will be expired upon the establishment of the new list.

The Collector stated that his office has encountered considerable difficulty in filling positions away from Dallas because qualified persons in other cities had failed to take the other two examinations. He is particularly anxious that qualified people in the cities listed above file for the examination.

Lions International was organized in 1917 with a charter membership of only 58 members. Since that time there are over 7200 Lions Clubs in 24 countries and with a total membership of over 400,000 members. Last year there were over 100,000 activities started and completed by all clubs in the association. The slogan of LIONS is "Liberty Intelligence Our Nations Safety." This slogan alone carries out the true spirit of Lionism and is the background on which each club is founded.

Texas Oilmen Tired Of Carrying Load In Fight Against Surpluses

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, May 21. — Texas oilmen say they are tired carrying the load in the fight against surplus stocks of crude and petroleum products.

Other states, they say, have shown little cooperation while Texas has been slashing its crude production allowables approximately 840,000 barrels daily since January 1.

The complaints broke out briefly during Thursday's statewide proration hearing which ended with Texas drawing its sixth consecutive cutback in crude allowables.

U. S. Bureau of Mines figures for the week ending May 7 show domestic crude stocks increasing 1,340,000 barrels to a total of 272,505,000.

Crude Stocks Jump

During that week, crude stocks of Texas origin declined 744,000 barrels, while California climbed 1,079,000, Oklahoma jumped 421,000, Louisiana increased 103,000 and the Illinois-Indiana area jumped 346,000 barrels.

Maston Nixon, Southern Minerals corporation, Corpus Christi, advised the commission domestic crude and petroleum products stocks in six weeks have increased 8,115,000 barrels, with California accounting for 5,226,000.

"This indicates our sister states are not working as we are in Texas," commented Commissioner Olin Culberson. "Other states are not doing their part of the job."

The commission, despite ordering a June allowable cut of 32,225 barrels as compared with the May 14 figure, gave indication the supply-demand crisis has been met adequately.

June's daily allowable of 1,987,157 it was explained, carries out the commission's desire to hold allowables at a level approximating that of May 1 when the state's permissible crude flow totaled 1,982,492 barrels daily.

Texas cut backs in production have been attributed to declines in market demand and increases in foreign crude imports.

Oil products declines which have accompanied the surplus stocks continue to cause anxiety.

Refineries Shut Down

Four independent refineries along the Texas Gulf coast are reported to have shut down completely in recent weeks because of the demand decline. Other refineries are said to be operating as le was one-third capacity.

American Petroleum institute reports for the week ending May 14 show the nation's refineries as operating at 82.3 per cent of potential, or 10 per cent below December.

The fight of southwestern independent oilmen against foreign crude imports moves to Texas next Wednesday and Thursday when the House small business committee holds a hearing in Dallas.

Otis H. Ellison committee counsel, said the committee will seek testimony on problems created in the United States by the imports, and on whether increased domestic allowables combined with import decreases would deplete the nation's reserves and affect defense potentials.

The hearing wase asked by the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners association.

Compromise Is Talked

Talk of a compromise settlement was revived this week as the Supreme court authorized the federal government to sue Texas and Louisiana for paramount rights to the tidelands of the two states.

The decision had been expected. Most Texas and Louisiana officials announced intentions to continue the battle. Lieut. Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas was an exception.

"We might as well be practical and see if we can work out some kind of compromise," he said. "We've lost all of our legal skirmishes and it looks like we may lose those that are yet to come."

A proposal for compromise settlement of the tidelands ownership controversy is expected to be placed before Congress within a few weeks.

Its supporters say there is no chance for passage of bills calling for state or federal ownership and that final Supreme court disposition of the Texas-Louisiana case can not be expected until late next year.

Sale Is Completed

A compromise in Congress now, Washington sources say, would overcome the congressional stalemate and slow progress in the legal battle and lead to immediate full scale development of the valuable oil lands.

Arabian American oil has placed Saudi Arabia's April crude production at 523,555 barrels daily . . . recent sale of 122 tracts for $1,508,000 brings to $44,225,046 the total revenue from oil and gas leases on University of Texas land . . . Stanolind oil and gas has brought in the eleventh producing well in Utah's Ashley valley field. . . . Plymouth Oil is completing arrangements for purchase of capital stock of General Oil Sales corporation, the deal to include 100 per cent ownership of Republic Oil Refining company.

Youth Asks To Be Sent To State School To "Learn About Crime"

DALLAS, May 21. (AP)—Send me to the state training school at Gatesville, a 16-year-old would-be bad man told police, so "I can learn more about being a criminal."

He was arrested yesterday after locking several women in a rest room under city hall.

The North Carolinian said he had stolen money from about 200 parking meters in Tyler. Officers there said someone had been stealing the money, throwing away the money boxes and locking the meters back up.

"I've pulled 300 burglaries in my time," the tall bushy haired boy said, "then I have to get caught locking some old women up in a rest room. I was just doing it for fun.

"I ain't going to tell you about all them jobs. I'll just tell you you about enough to get me to Gatesville. I hear you can learn a lot about crime there."

Police withheld the boy's name.

Playwright Sues Author For Comment About Broadway Hit

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—Defending the originality of his Broadway hit, "Anne of The Thousand Days," playwright Maxwell Anderson has filed a $100,000 libel suit against author Francis Hackett.

Anderson charges that Hackett gave news interviews in which he accused the playwright of lifting material from Hackett's books on the Henry VIII period to use in the Broadway play.

Any allegations of plagiarism, Anderson said in the suit Friday, are "false" and made "maliciously."

Rex Harrison and Joyce Redman are starred in Anderson's play at the Shubert theater here.

The American Indian, whose dogs drew sledges, did not have the crudest wagon or wheelbarrow.

The puppy, Lady English, three months old, is owned by Mrs. Brown's father, Joe N. Nislar, and will be entered in the match by Mr. and Mrs. Brown. (Staff Photo).

Hearings On Seminole Field Set June 10 By Commission

AUSTIN, May 21. (AP) — The Railroad commission has set the following public hearings:

June 9 — application of the Scurlock Oil company for discovery oil allowable rights and a new field designation to apply to the 4,600-foot reservoir from which its Diebele well No. 1 and its Hornburg well No. 1 are producing in the Victoria field, Victoria county.

June 10—application of J. G. McMilliam and others to determine if the 40 acres assigned for proration purposes to their S. R. Simpson well No. 1, Seminole field, Gaines county, are all productive of oil.

Mexico's Offshore Patrols Are Strengthened By Air Squadron

MATAMOROS, Mexico, May 21 (U.P.) — Mexico's offshore patrols were enlarged today with the addition of a flotilla of coast guard cutters and a squadron of planes.

The planes will be based at Tampico for patrol duty along the north Mexican coast to enforce fishing and naval regulations. The planes will make regular flights from Tampico to the Rio Grande north.

Kennel Club Slates Puppy Show May 29

Heart of the Plains Kennel club will hold a puppy match at 2 p. m. May 29, near the Party House in Mackenzie State park.

All puppies seven months and younger that are pure bred dogs subject to registration will be eligible. It is not required that they be registered if they are subject to registration.

Entrance fee will be $1. There will be no admission charge and the public is welcome to attend.

Mrs. L. E. Murray of Fort Worth, widely known dog breeder and owner, will judge the show.

A children's handling class will be held with the show and any child will be eligible to enter, whether or not they have a dog entered. No entry fee will be charged in that class. Children will be judged on how they handle someone else's dog.

The dog match will be open to all breeds recognized by the American Kennel club. There is much interest in Pure Bred dogs in Lubbock, particularly since formation of two dog clubs here. Some club members have shown dogs throughout the Southwest.

Persons wishing further information concerning the match may telephone Cecil Paschall, match chairman.

Hearing Tests Save Children From Home For Feeble-Minded

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Newly developed hearing tests may save untold numbers of unresponsive children from being committed to homes for feebleminded, a Baltimore specialist says.

Dr. William G. Hardy of Johns Hopkins hospital told the opening day session of the middle Atlantic zone conference of the American Hearing society Friday that the new tests already have spared 100 children from such a fate.

All of the 100, he said, previously had been diagnosed as feebleminded.

The new hearing test is based on involuntary responses of the subjects tested. Its chief advantage is that it can be used to test children too young to cooperate in present hearing tests. He said early diagnosis, between the ages of three and six, is important.

Lifelong Dream Smashed For Carlos When Little Dog Killed

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—"Dry your tears, little boy, and forget," they said.

But Carlos Ortiz, 12, could not forget today, or tomorrow or for a long time.

Only a month ago, a lifelong dream came true for Carlos when his sister gave him a dog.

It was what he had wanted most for as long as he could remember, but his family had neved been able to afford to get one.

Friday, the little whie dog, Linda, dashed into the street on lower Second avenue and was killed by a car.

Carlos fell to the pavement beside the dog, touching it gently, sobbing, calling to it.

They had to pull him back to the street side out of the traffic. As he cried over his dead dog, they tried to comfort him.

Maybe he could get another dog, they said.

"I don't want no other dog," cried Carlos. "I just want my own one. My own one."

Due to recent heavy rains in Lubbock private well owners are urged to Test Water for Contamination!
WELCOME LIONS
RAW WATER IS DANGEROUS!
Chlorinate With SURECLOR

RAW WATER is water from any source—surface, streams, lakes, tanks shallow or deep wells. Any water that has not been tested for purity at least every 30 days, or treated by Health Department approved methods is not safe for human or farm animal consumption. Many human and animal diseases such as typhoid, dysentary, cholera, hook worm, summer complaint, tuberculosis, anthrax, glanders, and stomach intestinal worms are often caused by contaminated water. Don't take chances—RAW WATER IS DANGEROUS.

INEXPENSIVE: SURECLOR, the automatic water operated hypo-feeder, is especially designed to sterilize contaminated or questionable domestic pressure water supplies, and small community water systems. Lowest Cost. Easy to Install. Simple to Operate.
LOW MAINTENANCE: Fabricated of transparent plastics. Complete operation visible through unit. Resists corrosive action or chlorine and water.
With exception of ball check valves, no moving parts to wear out. Chlorinating agent—household bleach (Sodium Hypochlorite 5.25% available chlorine). Available at most any grocery store. Cost less than 1½¢ per 1000 gallons water sterilized. The amount of chlorine usually required is between a trace and 1 part per million, to make water safe for human or animal consumption without boiling or other treatment.
DEPENDABLE: Operates by water pressure. Fully automatic and on the job 24 hours a day. Positive check on correct chlorine content is quickly and easily determined by a color density test. Built-in test set with each SURECLOR. Many municipal water works install SURECLOR as emergency standby unit for gaseous chlorinators.

Locations For Three Wildcats Are Staked On South Plains; Amerada Company To Drill Three Miles Northwest Of Idalou

Locations were staked for three wildcats on the South Plains over the past week, two of which may be carried into the Ellenburger.

In the Garza field of central Garza county, where production is from the San Andres-Permian around 3,000 feet, Comanche corporation, et al, are to drill 8,500 feet with their No. 1-A-Garza-Deep Montgomery-Davies.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and 910 feet from west lines of section 5, block 5, K. Aycock survey, about one mile south of Post.

The projected depth is scheduled to carry the venture at least into the Pennsylvanian and possibly into the Ellenburger. Rotary tool drilling is to begin by June 1.

Equipment Moved In

Ryan, Hays and Burke of San Antonio are starting immediately on an 8,500-foot rotary wildcat in northeast Borden county as their No. 1 W. H. Miller.

It will be at the center of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 418, block 97, H&TC survey.

The contract depth may take it into the Ellenburger. The location is on a seismograph high. It is on acreage secured in a farmout from Standard Oil company of Texas.

Carl B. King Drilling company of Midland has the contract and is moving in equipment to spud.

This wildcat is about eight miles southeast of superior Oil company No. 1 Jordan, northwest Scurry county wildcat being drilled "tight." The Superior venture is understood to be drilling ahead below 7,850 feet. Unofficial reports say it has encountered no indications of commercial production.

Wildcat Near Idalou

The other new wildcat is Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 C. D. Bradford, projected to 6,000 feet in central-east Lubbock county, three miles northwest of the town of Idalou.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 35, block D-7, EL&RR survey.

Starting immediately, rotary equipment to be moved in and drilling is to commence.

Pacific Western Oil corporation was preparing to make tests of the northwest Gaines county Devonian with its No. 1 Oil Development, deep wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields in northwest Gaines county.

After showing prospects of oil in coring to 11,571 feet, operator set a string of 5½-inch casing at 11,490 feet. Cement plug is to be shortly and tests are to be made of the open hole.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Doss, slated Ellenburger wildcat in southeast Gaines county, 10 miles south of the Cedar Lake field and 4,620 feet from east, 7,430 feet from south lines of league 292, Lynn CSL survey, was drilling ahead from 13,350 feet in lime.

Outpost Is Slated

Approximately three-quarters of a mile southeast outpost to the Flanagan pool is south-central Gaines county is slated by Magnolia Petroleum company.

It will be the concern's No. 2 Flanagan estate, staked 660 feet from south and west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey, 10 miles south of Seminole.

With rotary tools, the venture is starting by May 22 toward 13,000 feet to test into the Ellenburger, pay formation of the one-producer field.

The other four explorations in this area were all making new hole.

Magnolia No. 1 Flanagan, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey, was under 10,041 feet in lower Mississippian lime and chert. It is projected to 13,000 feet.

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Joe Head, also contracted to the Ellenburger adjacent to the Flanagan field, was continuing from 10,183 feet in lime.

It is 631 feet from north and 610 feet from west lines of section 12, block A-23, psl survey.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Andrews, outpost to the discovery, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block A-23, psl survey, was making hole rom 5,905 feet in lime toward the deep zone.

The other prospector in the Flanagan area, Shell No. 2 W. L. Hawkins, is contracted to 7,300 feet for an exploration into the Clear Fork section of the Permian.

It was drilling ahead from 4,075 feet in lime and anhydrite.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block A-2, psl survey.

In the same general territory of south-central Gaines county, Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation was running a water locater at its No. 1 Mrs. Ike Morton, outpost to the Texas company No. 1 Wharton discovery from the Glorieta-Permian.

Following a 2,000-gallon acid treatment on open hole at 5,975-6,015 feet in the Glorieta recovered an abundance of water. Operator now is attempting to locate the source of the unwanted fluid. If it can be shutout, testing is to be resumed.

Location is 660 feet from west and 600 feet from south lines of the southwest quarter of section 23, block A-21, psl survey.

In southwest Gaines county, about 10 miles southwest of Seminole, Ralph Lowe was making hole with his No. 1 Cunningham-Shell, prospective discovery from the Pennsylvanian.

Last report had it beyond 9,810 feet in lime. Projected depth is 10,000 feet.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 4, block A-24, psl survey.

Materials Moved In

An outpost to the West Seminole field of West-Central Gaines county has been staked by Cities Service Oil company.

It will be the concern's No. 1 Richardson, spotted 660 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 370, CCSD—RGNG survey. Elevation is 3,460 feet.

Contract depth is 5,200 feet with rotary tools. Guy Mabee Drilling company of Midland has the contract and is moving in materials to start operations.

Extension to San Andres-Permian production in the West Seminole field has been completed at Cities Service No. 1 Northrup, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of the lease in section 355, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

The well flowed 24 hours through a 32/64-inch choke to make a potential of 527 barrels of oil, with gas-oil ratio 740-1. Total fluid recovered was cut eight per cent drilling mud.

Production was natural from the open hole section at 5,050-6,140 feet. Top of pay was picked at 5,060 feet.

Failure Is Developed

A failure apparently has developed at Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 15 American Warehouse, deep wildcat in the Cedar Lake area of Northeast Gaines county, 1,650 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey.

The venture drilled to 13,186 feet in barren Ellenburger and reduced hole to the Devonian, which showed possibilities of production when penetrated.

On plug-back depth of 12,354 feet, operator drillstem tested the Devonian with packer at 12,295 feet. The tool was open four hours using a 750-foot water blanket.

Recovery was the water blanket followed by 270 feet of drilling mud, 2,913 feet of sulphur water and 1,460 feet of heavy mud.

The exploration was waiting on further orders. It is due to be plugged and abandoned.

Well is Plugged

H. L. Hunt has plugged and abandoned his No. 2-B Clayton & Johnson, outpost to the recently-opened North Gail field in Northeast Borden county, 11 miles northeast of Gail.

The prospector drilled to 5,800 feet, encountered no prospects of production and was left on that depth.

The dry hole is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 22, block 31, T-6-N, TP survey.

In Northwest Borden county, 11 miles northwest of Gail, Sinclair Oil company was drilling ahead with its No. 1 Sinclair Prairie Oil company was drilling ahead with its No. 1 Sterling Williams, slated 9,000-foot wildcat.

Last report had it below 9,618 feet in lime.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

Sinclair No. 1 George C. Lindley, South-Central Lynn county wildcat projected to 11,500 feet, one mile north of O'Donnell and 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section

Approximately seven miles due north of this venture, Barnsdall Oil company was making hole with its No. 1 Billie Williams, Central Lynn county wildcat, from 3,815 feet in lime and anhydrite.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 8, EL&RR survey.

Water Is Recovered

Water resulted from a drillstem test at The Ohio Oil company No. 1 Emery, Northwest Kent county wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Spur and 1,980 feet from north, 819 feet from east lines of section 191, block 1, TP survey.

The examination was in the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian, with the tool open one hour at 6,171-6,185 feet. Recovery was 1,140 feet of salt water and 180 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

The prospector was drilling ahead under 6,586 feet in lime and chert.

Drilling was continuing toward the Devonian in Cochran county by two explorations in unproven territory.

In the southwest part of the county, six miles southwest of Lehman, Humble Oil & Refining company was making hole with its No. 1 Masten, slated 12,000-foot wildcat.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 18, league 135, Armstrong CSL survey.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 2 Holt, outpost to the discovery well of the Landon-Devonian field in South-Central Cochran county, was beyond 7,947 feet, penetrating lime.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block L, psl survey.

More hole was being made at Seaboard No. 2-D Shafer, outpost to the one-producer Spraberry-Deep field in East-Central Dawson county, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 48, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

Last report had it below 6,105 feet in lime.

Nashville Police Lead Fund Drive For Penitent Robber

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 21 (U.P.)—The Nashville police force took up a collection of around $500 to help a self-confessed loan company robber repay the money he stole when his family faced "utter starvation."

Not only did the police come up with the money but the penitent robber also got his freedom and a new job to boot.

INNOVATIONS FEATURED IN OLDS BUILDING—Interesting departures from the usual design are embodied in this automobile agency building for Womble Olds at Nineteenth and Ave. L. Work has started on the structure and completion is expected about August 1. Bob Womble, owner, said the second-floor penthouse will be available to organizations for meetings, and out-of-town groups will be particularly welcome. The tower will have a 50-foot height and will be visible from Nineteenth and College Ave. Max Tidmore is general contractor, Atcheson and Atkinson architects.

New Womble Olds Building To Have Unusual Features

A 50-foot tower that will be visible the entire length of Nineteenth street and a penthouse that will be available for public use as a meeting place are two of the many features the new Womble Olds building at Nineteenth and Ave. L will incorporate in its unusual design.

Bob Womble, owner of the Oldsmobile agency here, is erecting the structure.

One of the most interesting innovations is a canopy for used cars that joins the building and 50-foot tower, giving the entire space an appearance of unity. The tower and canopy alone cost more than $12,000.

Plate glass is used generously, with showroom windows extending from floor to ceiling level. Exterior walls will be of Austin stone, block masonry and stucco, with redwood siding.

Work Now In Progress

Work is already in progress on the building. Max Tidmore is the General contractor. Plans were drawn by Atcheson and Atkinson, architects.

The second floor penthouse and patio will contain a kitchenette with refrigerator and stove, and folding tables seating 50 persons.

"We will urge organizations to use our facilities, particularly groups from towns surrounding Lubbock," Womble said.

The service entrance is on Nineteenth, the service exit on Ave L.

With nearly 12,000 square feet of floor space, the building proper will have a frontage of 67 feet on Nineteenth and a depth of 132 feet nine inches, plus a 125 foot paint and body work wing.

The frontage of the building and canopy on Nineteenth will be 187½ feet.

Former Yacht Of Nazi Admiral Will Represent Navy In Race

NORFOLK, Va., May 21. (U.P.)—A trim sailing craft, once the pride of the Nazi fleet admiral Karl Doenitz, is being made ready here for a race from California to Pearl Harbor in July as the official United States Navy entry.

The yawl East Wind, built in Bremen in 1939 and seized as a prize of war in 1945, will carry a crew of 18 under command of Capt. John A. Holbrook. Here the vessel is being stripped of excess equipment for additional speed.

It will be towed to San Pedro, Calif., through the Panama Canal while its mast and rigging are shipped overland. The 61-ton yawl has a length of 86 feet, a 17-foot beam and a 2,670 square foot sail area.

It was Doenitz's private sailing craft.

Nearly 30 per cent of the total United States work force was protected by group life insurance at the close of 1947.

Research Project To Drop Cost Of Home Construction Underway

COLUMBUS, O., May 21 (U.P.)—A housing research project seeking to achieve a 20 per cent cut in present housing costs has been set up at Ohio State University.

Prof. Galen F. Oman, director of housing research at the engineering experiment station, said the 20 per cent cut could be achieved through standardization of materials, reduction of parts and manhours of work. He said it probably could be done by improving "traditional" home building procedures through better use of materials and streamlining conventional construction methods.

By the end of 1947 American firms had $33 billion worth of group life insurance for their employes.

Poll Shows Stassen Has Minnesota Aid

MINNEAPOLIS, May 21. (U.P.)—If Minnesotans know their ex-governor, Harold E. Stassen is going to run for the presidency again in 1952.

And while they're not so sure about their junior senator, a sizeable chunk of the voting age population believes Hubert H. Humphrey also will seek his party's presidential nomination.

Those are findings of the Minneapolis poll of public opinion, one of the nation's few polling agencies that forecast correctly in its area the 1948 election outcome. It is conducted by the Minneapolis Tribune.

And if the wildly improbable came about and Republican Stassen and Democrat Humphrey were nominated, Stassen would have the edge among Minnesota voters.

The poll showed that 69 per cent of the voting-age population figured Stassen, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, as a sure bet to run in 1952. Those believing that Humphrey will run totalled 35 per cent.

When asked which they would support if the two men ran against each other, 44 per cent said Stassen, 39 per cent said Humphrey and the others were undecided.

Death Of 9,110 Babies Less Than One Year Old Reported

AUSTIN, May 21 (U.P.)—A total of 9,110 babies less than one year old died in Texas last year, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, announced today.

Deaths averaged about 46 babies per 1,000 live births, he said.

Premature birth claimed 2,698 of the total figure. Diarrhea and entiritis numbered 1,435 and pneumonia 1,078.

STOMACH TROUBLE

She came to this office as a last resort. The cause of her trouble was located and corrected. She immediately began to improve. Today she is completely well and feels that the correct Chiropractic Adjustment saved her life. She now weighs 128 pounds.

HEAD TROUBLE

Case History No. 1603, Lady, age 40 who had severe soreness in her neck, and a bearing down sensation at the base of her brain. She had suffered from this trouble for 14 years and had tried almost everything with no results. She began Chiropractic Adjustments after the exact cause of her trouble was located. She is greatly improved and feels that she has been saved from much suffering.

CHIROPRACTIC PRINCIPLES

To those who have had little or no experience with Chiropractic let us ask this question, "Do you believe that there is such a thing as fallen arches?" If you do, then you are admitting that bones can slip out of normal relationship with each other, because a fallen arch is a dis-relationship between the bones of the foot. The spinal column is a series of 24 bones, placed one on top of another. It is a scientific fact that the spinal column is the body's chief shock absorber. Every shock to the body is transmitted to this column. It is subjected to more strain each twenty-four hours than the arches. Therefore, if the bones of the arch slip from their normal relationship with each other, it must be admitted that the bones of the spine can, and they do. That is a proven fact. When bones of the spinal column slip from their normal positions, there is interference with the normal action of the nerves that pass between those bones—nerves which control the activity of every organ of the body. Dis-ease is the primarily abnormal activity. If you do not know the cause of your condition, see a Chiropractor today and let him help you locate and correct that cause and normal health will be the natural result.

Rural Telephones Fewer Than They Were 30 Years Ago, Service Poorer, REA Administrator Claims

BY CLAUDE R. WICKARD
REA Administrator
(Written For INS Special Selvice)

WASHINGTON, May 21 — We Americans like to boast that as a nation we have more phones than all the rest of the world put together. But so far as the 27,000,000 Americans who live on farms are concerned, we have made no progress in this respect in the past thirty years.

There are actually fewer telephones on farms today and the service in many instances is much poorer than it was 30 years ago. The 1920 census reported 2,498,493 farms with telephones; we estimated that 2,473,000 farms had telephones on January 1 of this year. That is about 42 percent—considerably less than half—of all the farms in the country.

3 Million Without Phones

In arriving at this estimate, all farms with telephones were included whether the service is really satisfactory or not. Since many still have the same instruments that were hanging on the wall thirty years or more ago, the number of farms with dependable telephone service is much smaller. Approximately 3 1/3 million farm families have no telephone service at all.

Rural telephone service is in sharp contrast with that in the cities. A large part of the rural service is provided by small telephone organizations. There are estimated to be more than 50,000 of these small companies and farmer-owned lines, many of them with less than 100 patrons each. Operations of these companies have been so small as to make them unattractive to investors.

Lacked Capital

As a result, they have lacked capital to modernize their facilities, or even in many instances, to maintain them in satisfactory working order. Telephone wires tacked to fence posts and trees, broken poles tied together, wires lying in fields without support—these are common sights along the country roads close to town.

A telephone is an important business tool to the farmer. The farmer who produces food and fiber must have facilities for rapid communication if he is to operate efficiently.

This business need for telephone service is only one of the many reasons why farmers should have it. To summon help, often from long distances, in time of fire, illness or other emergency, farm telephones are an essential rather than a luxury.

REA Finances Companies

The lag in rural telephone development has been in marked contrast to the rapid expansion of rural electrification during the past 14 years under the stimulus of the federal government's REA loan program.

The Rural Electrification administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, makes loans to independent local business organizations to finance construction of power facilities for service to rural people who do not have central station electricity.

The government has loaned nearly $2 billion in the REA program. These loans are being repaid with interest, somewhat ahead of date due, and less than one per cent of the amount due is as much as 30 days in arrears.

The program has been responsible for much of the recent progress in rural electrification. When REA was created in 1935, only 10.9 percent of our farms had power. Since then, the percentage has increased to almost 75 percent.

Situation Reversed

In 1935 the number of farmers having telephones was approximately double the number having electricity. Today, the situation is just about the reverse, with almost twice as many having electricity as have telephones. And, as I have already indicated, a large proportion of the telephones in use today are not giving satisfactory service.

The urgency of the farm telephone situation and the success of the REA program in the electric field have given rise to a widespread demand from farmers and farm organizations that the "REA pattern" be applied to the rural telephone problem. Congressional proposal are now under consideration that would authorize REA to make self-liquidation loans for the expansion and improvement of rural telephone service.

Such a program would not only mean a great deal to farmers and to business and professional people in town with whom they need rapid, dependable communication service, but it would also be of special benefit to the many small independent and mutual telephone companies which are in need of adequate financing to improve and expand their service in rural areas.

No federal grants would be involved. All money advanced would be in the form of loans, to be repaid at 2 percent interest over a maximum period of 35 years from operating revenues of the borrower.

Fate Of Pooch Who Bit Owner To Be Decided By Psycho Test

LOS ANGELES, May 21. (AP)—The fate of Congo, a Great Dane dog that attacked his mistress two weeks ago, will be decided by psychoanalysis.

The 180-pound animal will be turned over Monday to Larry Thimble, dog trainer and authority on problem pooches. The county department of animal regulations planned to destroy Congo as an ill-tempered and unsafe pet after he serverely bit his owner, Mrs. Frances McDermott.

But letters and telegrams began pouring in protesting Congo's death sentence. So the department decided to try the psycho treatment. Mrs. McDermott agreed yesterday to the plan.

A form of earthworm in Australia grows to be as much as 10 feet long.

ELECTRIFICATION ADVISER—Mrs. Harry Morckel, above, is the newly chosen home electrification adviser for the Floyd County Rural Electric cooperative, which serves an area extending over portions of six counties of Floyd, Hale, Briscoe, Swisher, Crosby and Dickens, and has 3,000 members. Prior to accepting the newly-created job Mrs. Morckel was secretary to the Extension service agents of Floyd county for six years. She is a farmer's wife.

In rich ground there may be a million earthworms in an acre.

"Treasure Hunt" Slated In Park

AMARILLO, May 21. (Special)—Governor Beauford H. Jester will snip a ribbon May 28 at 2 p. m. to start the 1949 Palo Duro Canyon State Park "Treasure Hunt."

Just before the governor cuts the ribbon, 10,000 numbered goldine coins will be dropped into the Canyon from an airplane. One thousand of the coins—all those ending in the number "seven"—will be listed prize-winning coins.

Other Prizes Valuable

All other coins will be potential winners of such prizes as a Chevrolet car, an expense paid trip to Rio de Janeiro and two trips to Havana, Cuba, via Braniff International Airways, a $250 diamond ring, two registered quarterhorses from Glen L. Casey's famous herd, and other supplemental and grand prizes valued at over $20,000.

The Kwahadi Indians and Will Rogers Range Riders will participate in the opening ceremony as will a Queen from the radio show "Queen for a Day." Exhibition square dances will be held the night of the opening.

On the agenda for May 29 is a spectacular horse show and parade at 3:30 p. m. by the Will Rogers Range Riders, boys from Boys Ranch, and the Kwahadi Indians. Over 100,000 spectators can view this event, which will be held atop the mesa below Coronado Lodge, from the rim of the Canyon.

The Treasure Hunt will last from 28 through Labor Day, Sept. 5. All grand prizes and unawarded prizes will be awarded Sept. 11 at 4 o'clock p. m. at Coronado Lodge.

Usual gate fees will be the only admission during the Treasure Hunt season. Gate fees are 42 cents for driver and car, 24 cents for additional adults, and 12 cents for children.

Judge To Rule Monday On Dismissal Of Reds' Trial

NEW YORK, May 21. (INS)—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina reserved decision Saturday on a defense motion to dismiss the conspiracy indictment against Communist party national board members.

The jurist indicated he will rule against the defense motion Monday by declaring he believed the government has made a "prima facie" case.

Medina also stated he would hand down a decision Monday on another defense motion to strike from the record all testimony given by seven FBI undercover agents in the Communist party.

The government compelted its case Friday after presenting 13 witnesses. The 11 national board members went on trial January 17, accused of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

THE QUESTION

Do you think automobile drivers are courteous to school children?

(That question was answered by sixth grade students at East Broadway school Many students attending the East Broadway school must cross the busy highway east of the city and until about a month ago no stop light was in use and school patrols held much of the responsibility for seeing that students crossed the highway safely The pupils also kept a wary eye upon the highway to be sure the drivers were going to stop. No serious accident involving children of the school has occurred. The school is ending its second year of operation.)

THE ANSWERS

JAMES JOBB. Lubbock route 7, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Clark: "Most of the drivers out here are pretty courteous to us. They usually stop for the red light now, but 'teen-agers will come along with some souped up hot rod, as they call it, and try to show off. They usually don't pay any attention to the red light and go on past. The patrols usually watch for them."

SARA REDMAN. East Broadway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A J. Redman: "Yes, I think they're courteous because they're all ready to stop when the child appears. Before we got our red light, a lot of cars were ready to stop and let the children go by. We had our patrols and there were a few that would go on by when they weren't supposed to, but now we don't have any trouble with that since we have our light."

THOMAS EDWARDS. Lubbock route 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards: "Yes, I do. I was on the patrol last year and some of them were courteous and others didn't care. Sometimes when you would call to them to stop they would just keep going. Some of them would notice the school children and stop and wait until they received the signal to go. Sometimes, a driver would ask, 'What right have you to stop me?', and just keep going."

DAN HOWARD. Lubbock route 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Howard: "Yes. Whenever you're not crossing with patrols, they usually will slow down and give you time to get across, but we usually cross with patrols. They'll slow down and wave you on and smile whenever you get across. There are some who won't pay any attention. You'll walk across and get across half way and they won't notice. You have to watch, because you can't trust some of them. Most of them will stop, but a few won't."

YVONNE BRADFORD. 2504 East Broadway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bradford: "Well, I think that in general most of them are. Down here on the highway, even before we got our light up, most of them were courteous and drove slowly so they could pay attention to our patrols. One time, there was a car that went on through and the patrol had to get his license number. I was crossing the street just after he had gone through."

NANCY JONES. Experiment station, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Jones: "Some of them are. Most of the old ones are courteous, because they know the younger children a lot better and they are more interested, but most of the young drivers don't care about anything because they're in such a hurry to go no place. They're not looking any place and the children may be going across and not see him."

Mayor Of New York Denies Charges He Covered Up Frauds

NEW YORK, May 21. (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer has denied that he covered up official reports on frauds in city departments.

Two other high city officials also disputed the charges, aired yesterday by millionaire crusader Clendenin Ryan in his weekly newspaper, the Public Guardian.

Ryan, a bitter foe of the O'Dwyer administration, said he had presented evidence on his allegations to a grand jury investigating wiretapping in the city. When the jury adjourned May 6, its records were turned over to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan. The latter said he is looking into the charges.

No Details Given

Ryan did not give details of his claims made before the jury.

He said he asked the jury to find out whether O'Dwyer suppressed reports on investigations of various city departments that might reflect on the mayor's political friends or lead to criminal charges.

The reports on frauds Ryan claimed were drawn up by city Investigations Commissioner John M. Murtagh.

Murtagh and Hogan both joined O'Dwyer in denying that any such reports had been suppressed.

Charge Is Denied

"The mayor has never asked, he has never even suggested that a report of this department be suppressed," Murtagh said.

Hogan said his office still is investigating records turned over by the grand jury. He said O'Dwyer has not interferred in any way with the investigation.

The district attorney refused to discuss Ryan's charges before the jury on grounds the jury records are secret.

O'Dwyer, asked by newsmen if he had ever surpressed any of the investigation commissioner's reports, replied: "No."

SENIOR GIFT COMMITTEE—The gift committee of the graduating class of Lubbock Senior High school the past week voted to make a gift of a 16-by-16 foot mural to the school cafeteria. A contest, open to all members of the class, currently is underway to select a sketch to be used as a general design for the mural. After the winning sketch is selected on July 1, a professional artist will be commissioned to paint the mural when the school cafeteria is completed. Gift committee members shown above are, left to right, Marilyn Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Williamson of 2221 Sixth; Denton Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Lambert of 2307 Twentieth; Anne Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bentley of 720 Ave. M; Ann Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards of 3011 Twenty-fourth; Jimmy Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Richards of 2213 Twenty-first; Frank Poynor, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Poynor of 3724 Twenty-sixth; and Nancy Herrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Herrington of 2202 First. Jack King, chairman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John King of 2826 Thirty-third, was not present when the picture was made. (Staff Photo.)

Stage Employes Union Signs Contract With Movie Studios

HOLLYWOOD, May 21. (AP) — The International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes has won a major battle in its four-year jurisdictional dispute with the Conference of Studio unions.

The IAATSE signed individual contracts yesterday with the 10 major movie studios. Roy Brewer, international representative, said the agreements give the IATSE "sole jurisdiction over all machine and mechanical work in the industry."

The two AFL groups, each made up to craft unions, have feuded over such matters as who would put movie sets together. The CSU, which has long been on strike, was joined by the Independent International association of Machinists.

Herbert K. Sorrell, head of the CSU, branded the contracts a "conspiracy between the companies and IATSE to destroy the confidence of unions still on strike," adding:

"There are still pickets at the studios. Eventually a showdown will come."

The contracts were signed with Paramount, MGM, RKO, Columbia, Republic, Warners, Universal-International, 20th Century Fox, United Artists and Hal Roach.

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 21 — Sad news today for Hedy Lamarr, Bob Hope and Jimmy Durante.

Not one of their famous proboscises made the list of the 10 most compelling noses in the movies, issued today by Hollywood's Plastic Surgery Institute.

Johnson

Personally, I had never given a second thought to Jane Russell's nose. Or even a first one.

Come to think of it, I've been indifferent about the noses of Glenn Ford, Lana Turner, Jennifer Jones, Danny Kaye, Gene Autry, Wanda Hendrix, Audie Murphy, Bing Crosby and Mae West, too.

But I have it straight from Dr. Robert Alan Franklyn, spokesman for the plastic surgery boys, that the noses of these stars have beauty and character plus.

Lana Turner's snub tip strikes the facial architects as being "flowerlike" and Mae West sends 'em with "flaring magnificence of nostrils."

I never knew till now that Danny Kaye possesses "the long, romantic type of nose," that Jane Russell's is "triumphantly modified" and that Bing Crosby and Gene Autry have been going around with "forthright noses in the American tradition."

Glen Ford's nose was described as an "exuberant" appendage, Jennifer Jones' as "sculptured drama," Wanda Hendrix rated "sprightliness" and Audie Murphy "stoicism."

The plastic surgeons are thinking of sending each star a gold-plated miniature nose to be known as a "Cyrano."

Good idea. It would be refreshing to see actors, instead of movie audiences, holding their noses.

Carson Feuding?

IS Jack Carson feuding with Warner Brothers because Doris Day rates top billing over him in "My Dream Is Yours"? . . . Milton Berle is George Jessel's choice for the top role in "Moon Over the Catskills" . . . Paramount needed a typical Sunset Boulevard mansion for Gloria Swanson's home in "Sunset Boulevard." They finally found one—the J. Paul Getty mansion on Wilshire Boulevard.

Television network bosses are convinced that kinescope recordings will be developed to the near-perfect mark by fall, spurring on cross-country television, stymied at the moment by the lack of transcontinental cables. I hope so. Between the smog and blurry kinescoping, I'm going blind.

Walter Plunkett, the M-G-M fashion designer, tells one of the funniest first-day-in-Hollywood stories I've ever heard.

He was hired by RKO and told to spend his first few days on the lot visiting sets and looking at costumes. "Don't worry about 'No Admittance' signs," he was told. "Just walk in." Plunkett visited several sets, then came to a sound stage door with the warning, "Positively No Admittance."

Plunkett pushed the door open, walked in, looked around and fled in terror. The set was for a Tarzan picture and he had walked smack into a jungle set full of lions.

Another Birth In Britain's Royal Family In '49 Rumored

SYDNEY, Australia, May 21 (AP) —The Sydney Daily Telegraph reported today that British court circles anticipate another baby for Princess Elizabeth near the end of the year.

A telegraph dispatch from London noted that Sir William Gilliatt, royal obstetrician, who attended the princess at the birth of Prince Charles on Nov. 14, had made two recent calls at Buckingham palace. The dispatch added:

"Palace officials will neither confirm nor deny that engagements of the princess after August will be tentative and subject to cancellation. No engagements after July have been entered into yet."

BANKRUPTCY CLAIMED

LOS ANGELES, May 21 (AP) — Financially, actor Peter Lorre apparently isn't doing so well as a portrayer of sinister characters on stage and screen. He filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in federal court yesterday.

Increase In Phone Rates Not Allowed

JEFFERSON CITY, May 21 (AP) —Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair today declared illegal the $3,228,000 increase in rates now charged to Missouri customers by Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

In an involved decision, Judge Blair held the state public service commission did not have authority over the case when it granted the increase.

The telephone charges by Southwestern Bell will return to the lower schedule in effect in January of this year.

The higher rates have been charged off and on since Feb. 1 when the public service commission's original order granting the increase became effective.

On Feb. 21, Judge Blair overruled the order, holding the commission did not give protesting cities time to file motions for re-[illegible].

But in the weeks between the two actions, Southwestern Bell was charging rates under the $3,228,000 increase and another legal question arose as to what to do with the money.

Judge Blair, in separate action today, held that his court had authority to order repayment and refund all money colected by Bell in the three week period.

There's "shilling shortage" in East Africa, because of natives' hoarding.

If You Want To Be A Star, You're Nuts, Says Actress

BY PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 21 — So you'd like to be a movie star? Your're crazy, says Lucille Ball.

Just spend one day living the Hollywood life, Miss Ball says; and you'll scoot back home and stay. A day in the life of a movie star shouldn't happen even for a million dollars.

Here, for example, is what Miss Ball claimed was just an ordinary, typical, everyday day.

Up at 5 a. m., a quick cup of coffee and off in her car to Columbia, where she is working in "Miss Grant Takes Richmond." While she is worrying about how to steal the day's scenes, a tire goes flat.

She's halfway between her ranch and the studio, there's no gas station in sight, she left her spare to be patched the day before, and the few people up at that hour are not stopping even for a redhead.

A man on a scooter reports her plight to the nearest open service station, five miles away, but the attendant can't come just then. He has to wait for his assistant to arrive.

When she gets to the studio, her shaking hands drop her false eyelashes in her face cream. A wait, while a new pair is made.

Sliding under the hair-drier, she bumps her forehead. Another wait, while the skin-repairman arrives to make her look like new.

On the set, and the day's shooting schedule has been changed. So have Miss Ball's lines, then, and so has her wardrobe.

At 3 p. m., she brushed against a desk in the set. Three runners in her nylons. Messengers set out to get another pair in her size and color, for they had to be matched exactly so the change wouldn't show on the screen.

By the time the new nylons came back and the scene was finished it was 6 p. m. Miss Ball headed home, sad and shaken. But still another unpleasant surprise awaited her.

The maid's husband was sick and the maid went home early. There wasn't any dinner in the house that night.

First Judy Garland, Now Betty Hutton Holds Up 'Annie' Movie

HOLLYWOOD, May 21 (AP) — Now its Betty Hutton who's retarding production of a Hollywood version of the stage hit "Annie Get Your Gun."

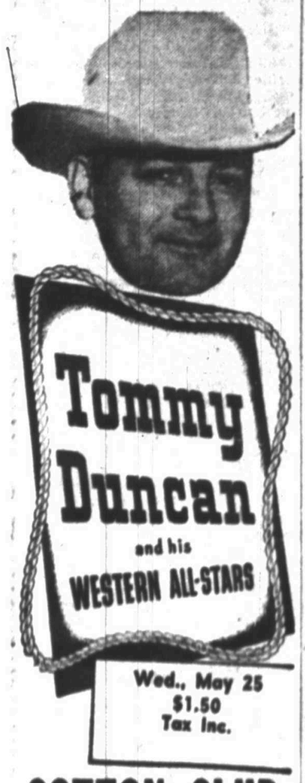

Judy Garland halted work on the film when she didn't report back after lunch recently. MGM suspended her and hired "blond bombshell" Hutton from Paramount for the role.

Yesterday executives from the two studios put their heads together then announced that "Annie" will be postponed until Miss Hutton makes "Let's Dance" for Paramount. The reason: Fred Astaire is available as a co-star now but won't be later.

Baby Sitter Costs More Than Juror Makes, Mother Excused

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 21 (AP) — Mrs. Mary Alves, a housewife, won't have to sit on a jury any longer — because a juror gets paid less than a baby-sitter.

State Supreme Court Justice Frank H. Coyne released her from further service Friday after she explained that for a week it had cost $5 a day to hire a sitter for her three children, while she got only $3 a day as a juror.

Atomic Commission Needs Overhauling; Belgian Post Tendered Morrow

IT'S A MESS

Oust The Bunglers!

TO MOST Americans, it may appear more serious that Atomic Energy commission funds have been used to provide scholarship for an acknowledged Communist than that a small quantity of uranium has disappeared. But both occurrences are serious. Both are acknowledged and they cannot do other than weaken public confidence in the commission.

No excuse is likely to justify, in the eyes of patriotic people, the use of government funds to finance university training for a radical who brazenly said he would be against the United States in case of war. If the commission operates in such a way that a scholarship can be provided to an individual of that type, most Americans will agree that not only the practices, but also the personnel, of the whole AEC organization are in urgent need of complete overhauling in the interests of national security.

If the commission's explanations as to the missing uranimum are correct, the loss is not serious. The trouble is that no one knows how much reliance can be placed in the truth of the explanations made public after the loss had been exposed by media outside the government. The masses of Americans do not know how many Communists the AEC may be educating, or aiding in other ways. They don't know whether other atomic materials have disappeared and may be in the hands of potential enemies.

But common sense tells any American that there must be some fire to cause all the smoke of rumors and, in several instances, proven facts relating to the relationship of radicals with some of the AEC personnel. The recent incidents do other than aggravate further the fears shared by many patriotic people that the nation's most precious secret—if it still is secret—is in irresponsible, if not untrustworthy, hands.

A New Era Dawns

FOR 50 YEARS or longer, authoritative opinion has held a somewhat matter-of-fact view that an era of gigantic industrial development is inevitable for the South sooner or later.

The most recent of many evidences that this era actually has begun is contained in a report, "New Industry Comes to the South." This report has been issued recently by the Committee of the South of the National Planning association, a non-profit, non-political organization with headquarters in Washington.

The report is detailed, but the clinching evidence of the trend is contained in one sentence. Since the end of the war, the committee said, 88 large corporations have established industries in various of the 11 Southern states, several at costs exceeding $10,000,000. And the committee's opinion is that this merely is the beginning.

The reasons for the trend are of common knowledge to casually informed Southerners. The South is one of the greatest sources of many kinds of raw materials. It has fuel—oil, gas and much more coal than many people may realize; it has climate, labor, adequate transportation and the huge potential market for finished products which logically would result from the increased purchasing power represented by new industrial payrolls. Tax structures are favorable in most Southern states—a most important factor. Inducements are, in fact, so numerous to justify surprise that the industrial boom did not begin long ago.

While the optimistic outlook applies to all the South, agreement seems unanimous that Texas is setting the industrialization pace and probably will continue to do so, simply because this State has the most to offer.

If this be true, Opportunity assuredly is battering at the South Plains door. If this region fails to obtain a generous share of any new industry moved into Texas, one reason probably will be our failure to inform those who would be interested of the advantages we possess in raw materials, fuel, climate, transportation and a large and growing population with one of the biggest per capita purchasing powers in the world.

Trying to kindle the fires of idealism in the world today is comparable to trying to light a candle in a cyclone.

WITHDRAWAL OF OCCUPATION FORCES TO BE OPPOSED

West Must Be On Guard Against Soviet Maneuvers

By JOHN FISHER
Special Correspondent

VIGILANT statemen forewarn that Russia may try a new trick to shoo us out of Europe.

They suspect that slippery Vishinsky, as evidence of his conversion to peace, may propose at the meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers in Paris that both the Soviet Union and the Western power withdraw their troops from Germany.

They are apprehensive that the American public might impulsively second the motion as proof of our good faith.

Such folly could be fatal. If we quit Germany before European security is assured, a double fear would sweep the Continent—terror at exposure to Soviet aggression and fright over a revived German militarism.

Keep Atmosphere Of Peace

Just last week a rumor that American forces would be withdrawn to German seaports scared the French government. Ministers did not calm down until Dr. Philip C. Jessup, United States Ambassador-at-Large, emphatically denied that Washington had suggested this policy.

The incident reveals how greatly Europe relies on American might to guarantee peace. The French, thrice victims of German invasion, would never agree to the rebirth of industrial and political Germany unless they were convinced that Allied force could prevent a resurgence of German militarism. They are alarmed by the prospect of a "Second Hitler" cropping up, this one sufficiently smart to link armed forces with Stalin.

This twin dread turns dreams into nightmares. Europeans know that if our troops were on the other side of the Atlantic and the Russian troops at home, the Soviet army would be near enough for a sudden leap at their throats.

THE beating of Russian war drums still is heard. Soviet patrols are skirmishing with Iranian border guards. Moscow is building airfields and forts in captive Baltic states. It has integrated the airfields and armies of its satellites in the Soviet defense system.

Such measures, viewed in one light, are protections which every great power must make, as we acquire bases and advance the Atlantic Pact. But the record of Russian aggression is so bad that Europeans worry over the extent of Soviet rearmament. It means that the Red alliance always is geared for menacing gestures and possible shooting.

As foreign ministers grope for a peace formula they will not forget that Russia has sealed the frontier between Poland proper and the Polish and Soviet zones of East Prussia. Fugitives, however, manage to slip through and reach the American zone in Germany—some of them even emembers of the MVD, sent to police the captured territories but who risk death to gain freedom.

Germans Sent To Siberia

They report that many German residents have been deported to Siberia, their homes now occupied by Mongulians from the Asiatic republics of the U. S. S. R. Approximately 500,000 slave laborers, fully half of them Ukranian and White Russian political prisoners, are building flying fields and fortifications.

Military preparations are afoot in Estonia. When the Nazis retreated they wrecked the oil shale and phosphorite workings. But the Russians are restoring them ahead of peacetime industries because shale yields tuluol for explosives and phosphorite is used in incendiary bombs. Tallinn shipyards are building schnorkel-type subs, capable of cruising under water for long periods.

A fresh development in the military tie-up with Poland has just been disclosed by young Poles who reached Allied areas. They had been compelled to join the newly organized "Service to Poland" for

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

FOR how old do people take you?

(I don't know whether my grammar is correct in that question, grammar and I having parted company a long time ago, but if it should be "how old do people take you for?" please make your own correction without telling me about it.)

The reason I am asking you is that I had a rather annoying experience at the Publishers' Convention in New York recently.

My wife and I had gone to a cocktail party given by my syndicate to visiting editors and publishers at the Waldorf-Astoria. One of the syndicate's salesmen came up to me and said:

"Mrs. Soandso of Soandso, has asked me to introduce you to her. She is a faithful reader of your column and thinks you must be a delightful old man."

Mrs. Soandso being the wife of an important publisher in whose paper my column appears, I naturally obeyed the command.

"Here is old man Brandeis," said the salesman and left me alone with her.

The charming lady blushed a delightful carmine red, and said: "Oh that awful fellow! But, really, from your column I had pictured you as a man of about seventy. How can anyone crowd so much common sense into the apparently few years that you have been on this earth?"

Sounds a bit conceited, doesn't it? But that is what the lady actually said, and if you don't believe it, I'll give you her name and address and you can ask her yourself.

But there is a reason why I tell you about this episode.

It made me think. I want it to make YOU think.

Why is it that so many of us are being taken for much older than we are?

Is it that we take life too seriously?

Is it that we let little, unimportant things worry and fret us and put wrinkles of age on our foreheads and into our minds?

Is it that we throw our young years and our young ideas to the winds long before we should?

WHY did this woman take me for so much older than what I am?

I am not old. I am too young to be Peggy Joyce's father and if Methuselah were alive I couldn't even yet be his great-grandson.

I never saw Abraham Lincoln and don't even remember the Spanish-American war.

I still dance occasionally, I still believe in love and, if everything goes all right, I hope to be alive when a quince tree I am planting tomorrow bears fruit.

But I have made a mistake. I don't want you to make. I have borrowed too much trouble that never occurred and worried about too many things that never happened.

Would you believe it? The greatest blessing I ever had was my heart attack a year ago.

It taught me to enjoy every day on its own merit and to let tomorrow take care of itself.

Thus, I am getting younger every day, and in twenty years from now I may again drink milk out of a nippled bottle.

HST Plans Program

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt used to have a file of what he called "B. C." Democrats—meaning those who had the courage to be for him "before the Chicago convention." With President Truman, however, friends say that "B. C. means big contribution"—no matter when the money comes in.

Curtis Calder, now asked to be Secretary of the Army, made his contribution of $3,000 on Nov. 23—well after the election. Another Texan, Wright Morrow, is now getting the royal plush-carpet treatment, though he did his best to block Truman's nomination.

PEARSON

Morrow still has the technical title of Democratic National committeeman from Texas, due only to the fact that Chairman McGrath snuggled him to his breast after election. McGrath, however, staged his cuddling act despite the fact that Morrow was thrown out by the second Democratic convention in Texas because he had teamed up with the Dixiecrats. What Morrow said about Truman at that time couldn't be printed.

May Get Position

Finally, pro-Truman Democrats, led by Mayor Tom Miller of Austin, Judge Clancy of Brownsville, Harry Seay of Dallas, with Maury Maverick and Woodville Rogers of San Antonio, managed to put Morrow in his place. Thanks partly to them, Truman won out in the primary.

After the Texas primary it was all over but the shouting. Final elections don't mean too much in Texas. So, with the Texas outcome in the bag, Morrow came out for Truman—and made a contribution.

Now Chairman McGrath not only has cuddled up to the black-sheep Texan, while cold-shouldering many of the loyal Texas Trumanites, but has offered him the ambassadorship to Australia, a close friend of the U. S. A. Morrow, however, turned it down. The job was not important enough.

McGrath therefore is now coming up with a new appointment—probably the ambassadorship to Belgium. It will be interesting to see whether the man who fought Truman when it hurt most will now consider Belgium sufficiently important to recompense him for his services to Truman.

PRESIDENT Truman is now all set to "kick off" on his far-flung program of aid to backward nations, and will soon send a special message to Congress asking for the necessary funds and authority.

The President heard some convincing talk on the need for early action from David A. Morse, brainy director-general of the International Labor office, just returned from a two-month tour of undeveloped areas in Latin America.

"From the standpoint of cost, this is the most inexpensive kind of foreign relations," Morse told him, "but it is the most constructive of all in getting results. Most countries in Latin America have done something about developing their backward areas, but it is far from enough."

Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and Bolivia have a crying need for industrial development and the situation is much worse in most of Asia and the Middle and Near East, Morse told the President.

He added that the first phase of the Truman program, which will be directed by the international labor office in cooperation with the United Nations and the world bank, should be the training of backward-area peoples in working skills, so they can take jobs in new industries to be set up.

This, he said, would mean the establishment of vocational schools and other training centers in undeveloped countries.

"Your program will be a godsend in lifting the living standards of those parts of the world that can't help themselves and it will more than pay for itself in promoting goodwill and new trade markets for America," predicted Morse.

Note—While Truman and Morse were posing for pictures, a photographer's flash bulb exploded. "Help! Get the Secret Service," exclaimed the President, with mock dismay, "somebody wants to shoot me."

Dixiecrats and old-guard Republicans have now organized one of the smoothest-working alliances on Capitol hill. With many signals across the aisle, there two groups vote almost as one. They also think alike, consort together, and have more in common than most northern Democrats and Liberal Republicans.

Leaders of the Dixiecrat-G. O. P. alliance are well known. Their names—Gene Cox of Georgia, Howard Smith of Virginia, John Wood of Georgia—are frequently in the headlines. But the rank and file members, whose votes make the coalition click, are not well known.

Here is the rollcall of the gentlemen who, on such vital issues as Taft-Hartley repeal and rent control, make the alliance work:

From Georgia—Cox, Davis, Preston, Wheeler and Wood; Passman, Louisiana; from Mississippi—Abernathy, Colmer, Rankin, Whitten, Whittington and Winstead.

From North Carolina—Barden, Chatham, Doughton, Redden; from South Carolina — Hare, McMillan, Richards; Murray of Tennessee; Smith of Virginia.

FROM Texas—Fisher, Gossett, Kilday, Lucas, Pickett, Poage, Regan, Teague, Wilson.

Republicans: From California—Allen, Anderson, Bramblett, Phillips, Scudder, Werdel, Jackson; Hill, Colorado; Sanborn, Idaho.

From Illinois—Allen, Arends, Chiperfield, Mason, McMillen, Reed, Simpson, Velde, Vursell, Church; from Indiana—Halleck, Harden, Harvey, Wilson.

TOTALITARIAN CROSSFIRE

"Target: You"--Provocative Book

"TARGET: YOU," by Leland Stowe: (Knopf).

LELAND STOWE is an internationally known newspaperman who has roamed five continents for the last 20 years in search of news and its meaning. His remarkably rich background gives authority to his newest book, "Target: You" which attempts to provide the average, middle-of-the-road American with defenses against extremists of both the left and the right. Both Communist and Fascist groups have made the average American the target in a campaign to capture his mind and allegiance, Stowe says.

"The fact," Stowe writes, "is this: in any industrialized nation where fear of Communism (or even of Socialism) becomes a phobia a certain percentage of important industrialists and other capitalists will always support a Fascist dictatorial movement, without regard for the destruction of democracy and other peoples' liberties."

But Dictators May

Stowe says he is convinced that the Communists cannot seize governmental, nation-wide power in the United States at any time in the next 25 years, unless the country should be thrown into chaos by atomic war and destruction. On the other hand, he believes that a "Fascist-style dictatorship" may find a way of dominating the United States in the next 25 years—and possibly within 10 or 12 years.

Against the totalitarian crossfire from both left and right, Stowe says, the average American can raise defenses by being against nationalism and the philosophy of "boom-and-bust," and by being in favor of civil liberties, tolerance and a genuine world government. His book is provocative, thought-inspiring.

"Father Of The Bride"

"FATHER OF THE BRIDE," by Edward Streeter: (Simon & Schuster).

"YOU just don't understand," says Kay, the bride-to-be, to her father, Stanley Banks, as she shoos him out of the way.

And that's the truth, the anything but sober truth, about Stanley all through this short novel. He realized that his darling daughter's wedding would have to be more than a visit to a justice of the peace, but he learns the hard way about announcements, parties, caterers, clothes, champagne, cake, guest lists, procession, ceremony, reception, send-off . . . and college.

Father Has Worries

He hadn't really wanted Kay to marry. When boys flocked around the Fairview Maner home in droves, he made fun of them and tried to keep them away; when none of them stuck it out for long, he worried and tried to encourage them. When Kay finally decided on Buckley, he got indignant . . . why, "that big overgrown ham with the shoulders" probably couldn't earn his own living, maybe couldn't even hold a job. Stanley would positively not shell out all the time, and as for the young intruder's parents, Stanley acted as though he expected the worst.

The distance to the altar, he discovers to his cost, is not just the length of the church aisle, and the way is strewn with roses only for the last stretch. At one point Stanley shamelessly offers Kay $1,500 to elope. It would have been cheaper and easier. The announcement party, with cocktails, is the first big expense. Stanley doesn't like the way the women spend money on clothes, they don't like the $480 he spends for champagne.

Guest List Is Problem

The guest lists have them at one another's, and the guests', throats. Make it 30 or 300, says Stanley. Kay calls 300 crazy, she wants just her own close friends; starting out easily, they arrive at 206, then 572, then cut the sheep from the goats and plan on 123 more than the house can possibly hold; all set finally, they get Buckley's list, which they had forgotten, and the reasonable fellow "only wants 125."

Streeter writes it all deadpan, and with a most careful simplicity. While Father gives away the bride, Streeter gives away everything. Williams' pictures illustrate it all perfectly. It's a dual Book-of-the-Month choice.

"High Jungle"

"HIGH JUNGLE," by William Beebe: (Duell, Sloan & Pearce).

IN the great unfinished palace of deceased President Gomez of Venezuela, high in the Andean jungle away from the people Gomez distrusted, Beebe has spent many months in the midst of the wild life he loves.

When birds, insects and even beasts wouldn't come up on his terrace of their own accord, he fooled them into paying visits, or went after them in ingenious ways. He dug pits in which he could watch them on their eye level; he set out lures of honey, or a plain basin of water; he imitated woodland sounds; he turned on lights to attract night fliers . . . there were 13,000 moths one morning.

Drama In The Jungle

The most unlikely subjects often prove the most interesting. Beebe finds drama and thrill in the smallest, clumsiest or most repugnant forms of life. He describes the battle of five-inch horn beetles, and their very active sex life; he tells of the great gray marsupial frog which raises its young through several evolutionary stages beneath the skin on its back, until they tumble out fully formed; and there's an unbelievably smart bell moth which lays 300 eggs and builds a palisade to protect them.

There are inconveniences, like bookworms in shaving paper. But Beebe pooh-poohs the dangers. He says it's at least as safe as New York. In a year the only mishaps in his party were a couple of wasp stings, a grasshopper pinch, one scorpion nip, a beetle plague, a quick rash from plants. He makes light of the time a leaf almost fell on him . . . a 30-foot palm leaf weighing many pounds, and makes light also the boa constrictor which flicked its tongue a couple of times at the plaster cast on his, Beebe's broken leg, and slithered on indifferently.

Earwig, bee, daddylonglegs, ant, butterfly, cacique, bat falcon . . . these and scores of other living things are as thrilling and dramatic, in Beebe's account, as people are in the hands of many novelists. We have had to wait five years for this latest Beebe book. He should be given to understand that we don't intend to wait that long again.

Churchmen To Study System In America

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP) — A two-man team has been named by the federal council of Churches of Christ in America to make a three year study of the relation of Christian principles to American economic life.

They are Howard R. Bowen, dean of the school of commerce and business administration of the University of Illinois, and the Rev Alfred Dudley Ward, of Brooklyn, a former University of Iowa economics professor.

The study, made possible under a $100,000 grant by the Rockefeller foundation, was announced yesterday by Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, former council president and head of the study committee.

Aim of the study is to "discover how important economic decisions are influenced or tempered by ethical considerations or by a regard for the social interest," the announcement said.

The inquiry is being carried out under the council's department of the church and economic life.

Ward, an ordained Methodist deacon now completing studies for the ministry, has been nominated as director of the church and economic life department. His nomination will be acted on at the council executive committee's next meeting.

Banquet At Church To Honor Graduates

A banquet honoring junior high and senior high school graduates will be held at 6 o'clock this evening in the Fellowship hall of First Christian church.

Guest speaker for the gathering will be Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church.

Junior high school, Jerre Bedford, Joce Beckman, Jenelle Clift, Melvin Deardorff, Carolyn DeSpain, Patsy Haynes, Nancy Holmes, Clara Hooten, Emma Hooten, Barbara Ann Key, Victor McAllister, Shirley Mitchell, Wanda Roberts, Melba Shearer, Betty Shockley, Betty Witt, Donald Steward, David Smith, Gloria Sue Clark, Gloria Leaverton, and Sammy Sayer.

Senior High school, Norman Bantz, Blair Hankins, Jack Hensley, Juanita Lancaster, Bob Rooker, Van Scott, and Marilyn Williamson.

CONDUCTING REVIVAL — Evangelist Judy Chavez, of Los Angeles, currently is conducting revival services at the Foursquare chapel, 922 Thirty-fourth. Rev. Sidney Westbrook, pastor, has announced that services will be conducted each day this week, except Monday, at 8 p. m.

O. L. Slaton Chorus To Sing At Service

The O. L. Slaton Junior High school chorus will sing at the evening worship service of the First Christian church tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The chorus, under direction of Miss Imogene Webster, will sing "Love Divine," "Holy Spirit, Light Divine," "Unfold Ye Portals," "Evening Prayer," and "Vesper Hymn."

Miss Wanda Roberts is accompanist for the group.

At the service, Rev. Travis A. White, pastor of the First Christian church, will deliver a message entitled "Second Hand Religion." A baptismal service will be held at the close of the worship hour.

Presbyterian Church Wants Unification Of All Branches

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—The 2,300,000-member Presbyterian Church U.S.A. will seek a union with all branches of the church.

This was the assurance Friday of Dr. Ralph Waldo Lord, president of Maryville (Tenn.) college and chairman of the church's department of church cooperation and union. It came after the 161st general assembly of the church approved overwhelmingly his department's recommendation for a unity drive.

training in manual labor, Communist doctrine and military drill.

They were given uniforms and rifles and told to report at Lwow, a city in the section of Eastern Poland ceded to Russia. They escaped. Most of their associates were taken over by the Soviet Army; their whereabouts is unknown.

ANOTHER portent that keeps Europe on the anxious seat is the revival of organized Russian partisan fighters. This informal movement was disbanded after lost territory had been regained.

Its new name is "Volunteer Service for Cooperation with Army," known by the initials DOSARM. Colonel General Kuznetsov, its leader, explained in an article in Izvestia that it was neded because of "the increasing menaces of western warmongers against the Soviet Union."

Recruits are young people who are coached in the handling of rifles, machine guns and motorcycles and in partisan tactics. A military school directed by war veterans teaches advanced students flying, parachute jumping and radio transmission to make them effective guerrillas.

From German prisoners of war repatiated to the American zone from eastern Siberia comes word that Russia is expanding her war industries In one area on the Asiatic side of the Urals a lake was drained and a tank factory constructed in the empty basin. Nearby a mysterious factory is being built in extraordinary secrecy. By night searchlights rake the sky. By day captive balloons girdle the spot and often the military conceal the work by artificial fog.

Guards patrol the area. Everywhere are posters showing a Russian soldier with his forefinger pressed against his lips as a reminder to keep mum. The POWs suspect that a very important modern weapon is to be manufactured, hence the super-hush-hush.

Moscow does not cease its efforts to flaunt the martial spirit. On May 9, the fourth anniversary of Germany's defeat, Marshal Sokolovsky bragged that Russia won the war.

America and Britain, he sneered, merely 'conducted limited actions in secondary theatres"—and only then because we knew that otherwise the Soviet Union would have liberated Europe singlehanded. Then he boasted that his country is the only state capable of winning World War III.

These glimpses of renascent Russian militarism are reasons why Europeans find it difficult to switch overnight from distrust of Stalin's military intentions to confidence in his peace feelers. Although the dove flutters over Paris, at home the Russians show no sign of chaining the dogs of war.

America and Britain, he sneered, merely 'conducted limited actions in secondary theatres"—and only then because we knew that otherwise the Soviet Union would have liberated Europe singlehanded. Then he boasted that his country is the only state capable of winning World War III.

These glimpses of renascent Russian militarism are reasons why Europeans find it difficult to switch overnight from distrust of Stalin's military intentions to confidence in his peace feelers. Although the dove flutters over Paris, at home the Russians show no sign of chaining the dogs of war.

UNDERWATER FLYERS

Penguins "fly" under water. The birds use their flattened wings to drive them through the water, swiftly and gracefully, extending their head behind them as rudders.

WHITE TO BLACK

In contrast to the snowy owl, which is black when young, there is the booby, a species of gannet, which grows from a snow-white fledgling into a black-plumed adult.

Zoo Puts An International Tag On West's Horse Tradin' Custom

By MURRAY M. MOLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

SALT LAKE CITY, May 21. (U.P.) —The superintendent of parks for Salt Lake City, Joseph L. Sloan, has revived the old western tradition of horse trading on an international basis. However, he is doing it with animals and birds instead of horses.

From Sloan's municipal zoo and aviary a stream of boxes and cages is flowing by train, plane and boat to far-off points on five continents.

It's a two-way stream. Back to the Hogle Gardens zoo and the Tracy aviary here are coming rare specimens of wild life from North and South America, Europe, Asia and Australia.

Take as an example the trading deal Sloan has lined up with the war-ravaged Ueno boo at Tokyo.

It started months ago when some Japanese-American children in Utah called on Sloan and said they'd like to make a present to the Salt Lake City zoo of some specimen from Nippon — say a giant salamander.

Salamanders Sent

Sloan got in touch with the director of the Ueno zoo at Tokyo. The Japanese zoologist was willing to find the salamander and soon sent a pair to Utah.

For the salamanders, Sloan sent by air two boxes containing eight turtles ,four snappers and four "eastern boxers."

On the next turn, Koga will ship from Tokyo some Japanese monkeys, copper pheasants, "racoon-like dogs," mandarin ducks, fairy blue birds and whiteneck cranes.

Sloan, meantime, is waiting clearance to send by air to Japan a miscellaneous batch of water fowl, a pair of cougar cubs, an alligator and a pair of African lion cubs. The lion cubs will come to Salt Lake City from the Houston, Tex., zoo on another trade deal. The alligator may come from Brookfield zoon at Chicago on a similar exchange.

From Australia, a cargo of 300 finch, representing six different species, recently arrived in Salt Lake City after a 13,000-mile sea-air trip in exchange for pairs of skunk, bobcat ad puma or mountain lions.

More On Way

A boat cargo of other Australian trading stock bound for Salt Lake City also left Australia. Aboard were two species of kangaroo, a pair of wombat—"an ugly little animal, but rare"—and a batch of various cockatoo birds, parrots, corella, rosella and parakeets. Also coming is another air shipment of plumed pigeon, ducks, doves and kookaburro or giant laughing kingfisher.

The exchange for these calls for Salt Lake City to ship to Australia some macaw, bobcats, spider monkeys and white-bearded gnu. "Probably a lot of other stuff, too," Sloan added.

In addition to watching to planes and boats from Japan and Australia, Sloan is checking air freight schedules to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

"We're buying, with funds obtained from selling such things as seagulls, a long list of things from Rio," the superintendent explained.

He also has exchange arrangements completed or pending with zoos in Calcutta, Honolulu, London and Dublin.

Trapped Bird Is Rescued By New Orleans Fyemen, Police

NEW ORLEANS, May 21. (AP) — The police emergency truck, then a fire ladder truck with an ear-bealing whine pulled up to a tourist court here.

Little boys ran up and a crowd gathered.

A crime? An accident? maybe a fire?

Nope, none of that.

Just a busy little sparrow who got himself all tied up in his work.

The sparrow was building a nest atop a 30-foot palm tree when he added a long piece of string. But as he flew away the string coiled about his wings and than a palm branch.

Trapped high above ground, he beat his wings furiously as he fluttered about helplessly.

Paul Chambers, a tourist from Exeter, Calif., heard the excited chatter of other sparrows who came to the scene and investigated.

He phoned police and told the desk sergeant about the bird in the tree.

The sergeant was leary at first, after all, a bird was supposed to be in a tree. But once persuaded, he sent the works.

Police and firemen went up the first ladder, caught the sparrow, examined him for injuries, then tossed him back in the sky as the crowd grinned happily.

36 Ocean-Going Passenger Ships Bringing European DP's To New Life In New World

GENEVA, May 21. (U.P.)—The International Refugee Organization now operaes,the largest mass civilian transport fleet in the world, consisting of 36 ocean-going passenger ships.

One IRO ship carrying displaced persons to overseas countries to resettle leaves a European port every day. The agency spends $185,000 daily on their transport.

Up to the end of March, the agency had transported in 21 months of operation approximately 130,000 refugees to new homelands overseas. During the next 15 months its plans fall for sending 355,346 additional displaced persons on its ships bound for the United States, Australia, Canada, Brazil and many other countries.

At present, 20 United States Army transports and 16 vessels operated by private companies fly the IRO flag, a life preserver on a dark blue field.

Language Taught

All IRO ships carry escort officers to care for the refugees. Duties of these officers include organizing work details among the displaced persons; classes in English with lessons given by those refugees familiar with the language; lectures on the United States and concerts.

Movies, canteens selling cigarettes and candy, and deck games make refugee crossings similar to those of any tourist ship.

Refugees take everything they own and baggage sometimes creates problems. Farmers have shipped ploughs. One vaudeville performer took along a flock of pigeons, which created quarantine difficulties with the Argentine customs. When another trouper wanted to take his trained dog along, arrangements had to be made to transfer him in other than an army ship, which prohibits transport of animals.

IRO often moves expectant mothers, infants and invalids by air, since regulations prevent their being transported by ship.

In the past year 8,587 persons have been flown to their new homelands. 4,242 to Venezuela, 3,625 to Canada, and the remainder to the United States, Brazil, Peru and other countries.

IOR's latest mass-scale shipping headache was the problem of emergency removal from Shanghai of some 6,000 White Russian refugees threatened by the advancing Communist armies. The Philippine government offered them a temporary haven on the Island of Samar.

A senior official of IRO's shipping division flew to the Far East and arranged to charter two ships and several airplanes. In three and a half months, 3,000 person were moved to Samar by sea and 1,200 others went by air.

War Criminal Executions Halted Pending Malmedy Probe Outcome

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—The Army has halted the execution of all war criminals condemned by American war crimes courts at Dachau, Germany, pending the outcome of the Senate investigation into the Malmedy trials.

A Senate armed services subcommittee is looking into charges that U. S. Army interrogators used brutal methods in obtaining confessions from Nazi soldiers involved in the massacre of American prisoners of war during the Battle of the Bulge.
