NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

Carla Jo joins her parents Mr. and Mrs. Cleo A. Nipper in extending a hearty wish for a Happy New Year to all the folk in Our Town.

She would say, if her vocabulary permitted, "It's a great big dizzy world we live in—with more wonderful things happening than any youngster could possibly conjure. But here in our youthful, optimistic, smiling community I'm sure that tomorrow will keep its promise of a bright, shiny new world. So here we are, waiting for the New Year, wishing all of you the very best in the days to come.

You can't win for losing . . .

The following bit of philosophy is taken from the 1963 edition of Changing Times Calender and Engagement Book published by Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine.

January is a good time to think about the law of perverse opposites—or Gumperson's law. It will refresh your understanding of the universe and steel you for the year ahead, a year that is not going to be any better than the last one, as you know perfectly well. Why not? Gumperson's law is still unrepealed.

Gumperson's law neatly explains a number of things that might otherwise be put down to mere chance. It is Gumperson's law that couses bluegrass to grow in the cracks of concrete sidewalks but not on your lawn.

It accounts for the fact you can throw a burnt match out the window of your car and start a forest fire, while you can use two boxes of matches and a whole Sunday paper without being able to start a fire under the dry logs in your fireplace.

The law is that the contradictory of a welcome probability will assert itself when such an eventuality is likely to be most frustrating. Readers will recognize another version of the law: The outcome of a given desired probality will be inverse to the degree of desirability.

A brief elucidation of the law, with details, is presented for the benfit of the lay reader:

Dr. R. F. Gumperson, internationally famous divicist, began serious work in 1938 on a phenomenon long known to scientists but up until then considered as a mere curiosity. This was the fact that the forecasting record of the weather bureau, despite use of most advanced equipment and trained personnel, was not as good as that of the old Farmer's Almanac. After four years of research, Dr. Gumperson enunciated his now famous law and was able to make a series of prediction later confirmed by other scientific workers in the field. Some of the better known of there are:

—After a raise in salary you will have less money at the end of each month than you had before.

—The girl at the race track who bets according to the color of the jockey's shirt will pick more winners than the man who has studied the past pperformance of every horse in the races.

—Children have more energy after a hard day of play than they do after a good night's sleep.

—The person who buys the most raffle tickets has the least chance of winning.

—A child can be exposed to mumps for weeks without catching them but can catch the disease without exposure the day before the family goes on vacation.

—The dishwasher will break down the evening you give a dinner party for 10 people.

—Good parking places are always on the other side of the street.

Gumperson served as consultant to the armed services during World War II and evolved the procedure whereby the more a recruit knew about a given subject the better chance he had of receiving an assignment involving some other subject.

There is no knowing to what glittering heights Dr. Gumperson's genius would have led him had it not been for his untimely death in 1947. Strolling along the highway one evening, he was obeying the rule of walking to the left facing traffic. He was struck from behind by a Hillman-Minx driven by an English visitor hugging the left side of the road.

Capt. James Leath left last week for Thailand, where he will be with the U.S. army. He is a career chaplain. Mrs. Leath and daughter Linda and son Gary are living at 204 Hope Lane while Chaplain Leath is on a one year tour of overseas duty.

Mr. and Mrs. James Todd and sons Gene and Edwin are visiting in east Texas during the holidays. Edwin attends East Texas State college, Commerce.

New Year

by Hazel George

Christmas in Iowa Park was a beautiful time with all the bright and unique Christmas lights, trees and decorations. Many families made their own decorations. Besides being original, they were all beautiful.

Churches offered wonderful programs of worship. Families got together, friends enjoyed the hospitality of other friends.

Some had out-of-town guests, and some went away to visit relatives and friends.

Children almost got to make snowmen. (It just didn't snow enough.)

Iowa Park has been blessed this year with several new businesses, and a large number of new families and homes. We welcome each and every one of them and hope they have found or will find their places to serve in the community.

Good-bye to 1962, welcome to 1963, in Iowa Park, the growing town of friendly living.

Grandma's Rocking Chair

Here it is 3:30 Christmas afternoon and all is serene. Cold rain driven against the windows forms background music for Christmas songs coming over television. Dinner guests have gone home and Grandpa is taking his nap.

This has been a delightful season. Ever since Thanksgiving every minute has been filled with rush and preparation, but the climax always comes with distribution of gifts from the family tree at our house after Christmas dinner.

This year we had as guests an air force family who are far away from home and grandma and grandpa. We sorta did some pinch hitting in that department. During the hectic days just before Christmas I paused long enough to observe several incidents which struck me as amusing, and to remember a friend who is no longer with us.

Many of the amusing situations developed as a group of friends, my family and I strove madly to hold a surprise openhouse Sunday for Mom on her 80th birthday. This took a bit of maneuvering as she was quite put out because she did not hear from some members of the family. I'm not so sure we succeeded in our efforts!

One amusing incident I saw was in Parker Square where a Salvation Army lady was busily ringing a bell and soliciting funds for her kettle, and then turning around consoling a carful of youngsters left at the curb in a car by their mother as she completed her shopping. A free-for-all had developed, and the SA lady was acting as referee in addition to her other duties!

Again, in a store a toy player-piano was being demonstrated to a stately dowager, but standing nearby were two children with rapt faces and big eyes. Younger of the two was enthralled and totally unconscious of the fact he was doing a bang-up Twist to the tune "Old Piano Roll Blues."

Decorating the church also provided quite a bit of amusement. I showed up at the church just as choir practice was over, and thereby gained several volunteer helpers. We had two ladders. One was too long and required handling and moving of all pulpit furniture. The other was too short and quite shaky. Several prominent men of our church lost their dignity completely and had a real good laugh as they struggled to get everything just right amid wise cracks from a group of supervising wives.

A sad not has just been added. I have just seen the story "The Littlest Angel" on television. My good friend Lella Grace Cornforth Livingston often told this story at the Christmas program of our church. I hadn't heard it since her death. It brought back the good times she and I shared as we worked to make angels out of some of the youngsters who were not at all angelically inclined!

I also had a disappointing experience. I worked so late wrapping packages I missed the candlelight service Christmas Eve. Sorry I did not get to hear Boyd Schlenther again deliver Peter Marshall's sermon "Let's Keep Christmas." It is wonderful. Hope you heard it.

During this season many people have told me they enjoy reading my humble efforts. I'm glad, and thanks for being so nice as to tell me. You are very kind. And now — A Happy New Year to Everyone!

New Year Service

Boyd Schenther, minister of Iowa Park Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon during the annual Wichita Falls area Council of Churches New Year's Eve communion service, to be held in Wichita Falls at the First Presbyterian church next Monday at 11:00 p.m.

Several other Iowa Park ministers will participate.

Three churches in Iowa Park are members of the area council. All church members in the area are invited to attend this special service of worship.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Martin and daughters of Lake Charles, La., were guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brubaker. Two other daughters and families were here for Christmas Day: Dr. and Mrs. Theron Baber and children; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickey and sons, all of Wichita Falls.

Noon Lions had as guest speaker Tuesday, Sgt. Ralph Briscoe of the highway patrol. Guests were Cecil Smith of Houston, Lion Pop Work of Wichita Falls, and Arthur Coffman of Wichita Falls.

Pres. Keith Swim reported the committee is working on the 1962 Follies, to be presented in March. He urged members to attend the mid-winter conference at Stephenville, Jan. 27.

Club members welcomed Lion D. O. Smith after ill health had caused him to be absent for a long period.

Briscoe was introduced by Lion Swim. He is a resident of the Iowa Park area.

The speaker said law enforcement has changed to meet the times. All agencies work together to give the public greater protection.

"There is no need of ill feelings on contact with officers on the highways. Drivers know the rules, and the patrolman is there for your protection. He tries to give courteous service and assistance.

Fans Rename Booster Club

The Quarterback club met Monday night, Jan. 8, and decided to add a new word to its name, making it Quarterback Booster club.

Members voted to support boys and girls basketball teams as well as other sports in the school.

Both teams are playing good basketball and plan to come out in top positions this year. The club urges everyone to attend the games and see how well our teams are playing.

The boys lost a district game here Tuesday, Jan. 19, to Seymour by one point. This drops them to a .500 standing in the district.

This Thursday the Archer City boys will be here for a game.

Saturday the boys will play a district game at Jacksboro.

Next Tuesday the Electra boys will come here.

Friday, Jan. 26 our boys play at Nocona.

Something to think about

Finally after months of work the invention was ready to be unveiled. The inventor plugged in the wire and pulled the switch. Wheels of all sizes began to turn, bells rang and chains pulled. A newspaper reporter standing by said: "There's lots of movement, sir, but what does it do?"

"Nothing," came the reply from the inventor, "it just goes is all."

We need a religion that will work. If our religion works it brings peace and satisfaction to us. It works through us to bless other people's lives.

With high church membership and great buildings where crowds are in attendance, we should do more than the machine which did nothing but go.

Worship with us. Won't you?
