The Snyder Chamber of Commerce hopes all local merchants and their employes will participate in the seminar Tuesday on shoplifting and hot checks. These two clandestine activities constitute a serious economic problem almost everywhere these days. Store personnel who are aware of some of the tricks of the trade and are thus able to detect shoplifters and hot checkers can help save their firms a lot of losses.

Mickey Nunley, Chamber of Commerce Manager, said that it was hoped that the seminar here would attract wide participation and that the word would get out. If potential hot checkers and shoplifters are aware that store personnel are schooled in detecting their misdeeds, they are not as likely to play their trade here.

I just got my first peek at a new book, "History of Fisher County, Texas," authored by E. L. Yeats and E. H. Shelton.

The authors know this area well and they have drawn upon their own knowledge as well as a big variety of other sources to compile the history of the county just to the east of us. Yeats spent 46 years as pastor of churches in this area, while Shelton is a Fisher County native and has spent his life in newspaper publishing. He published the Roby Star-Record and Rotan Advance until his retirement last Jan. 1, and his father was a publisher before him. Shelton now lives in Rotan while Yeats lives in Roby.

Their 208-page, hardback book has recorded the period from Indian days to the present, and, of course contains a list of facts about Fisher County that are not generally known. For example, I was surprised to learn that no less than six railroads have operated a fashion and at one time or another in Fisher County.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, Oct. 31, the 304th day of 1971. There are 61 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1517, the church reformer Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses on the chapel door at Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany.

On this date:

In 1674, Dutch forces evacuated New York City.

In 1754, Columbia University had its beginning as a royal charter was granted to King's College in New York City.

In 1864, Nevada became the 26th state.

In 1955, Britain's Princess Margaret said in a radio broadcast: "I would like it to be known that I have decided not to marry Group Captain Peter Townsend."

In 1959, an ex-Marine from Texas, Lee Harvey Oswald, told newsmen in Moscow that he would never return to the United States.

Ten years ago: A great cloud of radioactive debris was moving southeast across central Siberia after the Soviets exploded the biggest man-made nuclear bomb.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson, on an extensive Asian trip, got his biggest reception in Seoul, South Korea.

One year ago: President Nixon said in a speech in Phoenix that appeasement of violence is the reason why thugs and hoodlums have gained such prominence in American society.

JUDGING ART SHOW — Bud Biggs, well-known artist of Richardson, looks over entries in the Snyder Palette Club Art Show at the Scurry County Coliseum. Looking on are Mrs. Melvin Lee, right, and Mrs. Gerald Crawford. Biggs judged the entries in the show Friday afternoon. The show continues today between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. and awards will be presented at 3:30 p.m. today.

Abilene Artist Wins Top Award

A painting by James Campbell of Abilene titled "Birl and Blue Vase" was named winner of the top purchase award of $500 at the Snyder Palette Club Art Exhibition in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The show, which attracted 290 pieces of art entered by artists from Snyder and 32 other towns, will be open to the public again today between the hours of 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

The entries were judged Friday afternoon by Bud Biggs of Richardson.

Campbell's painting was named best of show. The other purchase awards selected by the juror included first place, $200, to Pat Smith of Sweetwater for a painting titled "Moore's Farm;" second place, $100, to Floy Friend Hunie of San Angelo for a painting titled "Root Power;" third place, $50, Glenna Goodacre of Lubbock, "Still Life;" fourth place, $25, Toni Arnett of Lubbock, "Tucumcari Relic;" Fifth place, $15, Jancy Moore of Fort Worth, "From the Field."

Receiving merchandise awards were Myrtle B. Neilon of San Angelo, Dan Brown of Benbrook and James Campbell of Abilene.

Receiving honorable mention were Jean Johnson of Odessa, Toni Arnett of Lubbock, J. Robert Miller of Abilene, Ray McGuffin of Menard, Myrtle B. Neilon of San Angelo, John Stone of Fort Worth and Kirke McKenzie.

Selected for purchase awards by donors are Alan Kinney's "One Is A Lonely Number," selected by G. B. Clark; Arnold Lial's "Ranch House," selected by Mrs. Com Ezell; and Jess Everett's "Water Hole," selected by Mrs. Wayne Boren.

Kirke McKenzie's "Wautusi Warrior," which received honorable mention, was the only piece of sculpture cited in the judging.

Inauguration Of Thieu Today

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu will be inaugurated to a second four-year term Sunday in the face of accelerated U.S. troop withdrawals and the threatened loss of American economic aid.

The U.S. military shield is quickly being dismantled, and there is strong speculation that President Nixon soon will announce a total U.S. combat withdrawal from Vietnam by next July, leaving a residual force of 40,000 to 50,000 American troops and minimum air cover.

Peak U.S. strength was 543,000 troops during Thieu's first term in office and it has dropped to 200,000 in a little more than two years.

On the eve of Thieu's inauguration the U.S. Senate stunned officials here by voting to end all American foreign aid.

While the Senate action does not affect military aid to South Vietnam, it means a loss of $549 million in economic aid for the fiscal year unless Congress reconsiders.

U.S. officials said today there is not enough money available in the aid "pipeline" to carry South Vietnam through the current fiscal year ending next June 30. "Continuing resolutions" from Congress have kept economic aid flowing into the country, and the current one expires in two weeks.

The announcement of the Senate vote came as Treasury Secretary John B. Connally was landing in Saigon to represent Nixon at Thieu's inauguration. Twenty-nine other nations also have sent representatives.

Sources said Connally would discuss with Vietnamese leaders the effect of the current cutbacks in aid programs and the general reduction in U.S. spending on the war.

Connally will leave Monday for Bangkok, the second stop of his official Asian tour that also includes Indonesia, the Philippines and Tokyo.

Leaders from other countries also are using the inauguration as an occasion for high-level conferences with Vietnamese officials.

They include Premier Kim Jong-pil of South Korea, Vice President Yen Chia Kan of Nationalist China and Australia's foreign affairs minister, Nigel Bowen. All three countries provide assistance to the South Vietnamese.

For his inauguration, Thieu has granted amnesty to nearly 3,000 Viet Cong prisoners of war, all of them from South Vietnam. Officials hope it ill lead to a reciprocal move by the Communist side which holds hundreds of American POWs.

Young Tells Of Threats

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — State Democratic Committeeman Jess Young says he has received political threats for supporting the new state Democratic chairman, Roy Orr, it was reported here.

Young, who lobbied for clients in the last legislative session, is the only committeeman from the San Antonio area who voted for Orr.

Orr defeated Agriculture Commissioner John White in Dallas last week when the State Democratic Executive Committee voted on a successor to Elmer Baum. Gov. Preston Smith had backed White.

The San Antonio Express quoted Young as saying that just before the vote was taken, Smith's former aide, Larry Teaver, told Young, "You guys who are always up here wanting favors are through."

Young told the Express he became committed to support Orr after Smith originally said, in effect, that he didn't care who was named SDEC chairman.

G. W. Snyder Dies Saturday

George W. Snyder, 62, who lived at 304 Twentieth Street, died at 2 a.m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Mr. Snyder, a retired oilfield worker, had lived in Snyder the past five years.

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Monday at the Bell-Seale Chapel, with the Rev. L. W. Hatfield, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale.

Mr. Snyder is survived by his wife; his father, Lee Snyder of Albany; two daughters, Mrs. Jean O'Connor of Gallup, N. M., and Mrs. Georgia Ellis of Sundown; a son, Gerald Lee Snyder of Snyder; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild; three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Redwine of Uvalde, Mrs. Betty Jo Brothers of Lubbock, Mrs. Dorothy Sanders of Snyder; six brothers, Virl Snyder of Denver City, R. B. and Billy Snyder, both of Albany, Wesley Snyder of Oklahoma City, Ed Snyder of Cisco and Jack Snyder of Corpus Christi.

White House Eyes Move To Restore Aid

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stunned by the Senate vote Friday night to kill the foreign aid bill, the White House Sat. moved to express "in the strongest terms" the need for quick restoration of a coordinated overseas assistance program.

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler said the administration was "making every effort Sat. to ... explain the serious ramifications of this action by the Senate."

"A general assessment is going on as to what this means and what effort we will undertake to encourage the Senate and Congress in strongest terms to restore foreign aid," Ziegler said.

Ziegler indicated that a continuing resolution would be acceptable to the administration to keep the foreign aid program alive past the Nov. 15 expiration date.

While various procedures to extend foreign aid remain possible, Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said any effort to keep it going would be met with extended debate.

The government still has $4.7 billion in unspent foreign aid funds appropriated before last July, but when that runs out so does aid to foreign nations.

President Nixon was quick to decry the Senate action, calling for an "immediate restoration of the absolutely vital foreign assistance program."

In a statement related by a White House aide, Nixon called the Senate vote "a highly irresponsible action which undoes 25 years of constructive bipartisan foreign policy and produces unacceptable risk to the national security of the United States."

The Senate vote came as a climax to long years of grumbling over the aid program. National polls have always shown it one of the government's least popular undertakings.

In the showdown, liberals who contended aid led the United States into involvements such as the Vietnam war teamed up with conservative critics of the billions spent on the program to kill the bill.

The bill, which would have provided $1.3 billion for economic aid and $1.6 billion for military aid until July 1, 1973, is for all purposes dead. The Senate tabled a motion to reconsider, thus killing the bill. No conference committee compromise is possible with the House, which passed a different bill.

Revival of the aid program before Congress quits for the year seems especially questionable. Leaders hope to end the session in late November.

An entire new foreign aid bill could be proposed, but it would take a long time to formulate and is considered unlikely to pass. Aid for specific purposes could be attached to other measures, but they are also expected to meet stiff resistance.

And, most likely, foreign aid could be extended through a continuing resolution—a temporary appropriations measure that is used to keep programs going until their regular money is provided. But Mansfield said such action would be fought.

A filibuster against a continuing aid measure would require a two-thirds vote to bring it to a vote—and chances of that are considered slim.

Aid Cut Surprises U. N. Officials

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.N. officials expressed surprise and dismay over the Senate's vote to end U.S. foreign aid, and American officials in Saigon said without the appropriation South Vietnam can't get through the fiscal year.

The vote stirred no immediate official reaction in Europe, the Middle East and Africa, where because of the time difference most people were asleep. But some British newspapers viewed the Senate move as a slap against countries which supported the ouster of Taiwan from the United Nations.

The measure would have provided $549 million in economic aid to South Vietnam, although war appropriations under the $1.9 billion military procurement bill were not affected by the Senate action.

"We ought to go back to Congress and say, 'Do you really want to cut such things as refugee relief'" said one American official in Saigon.

The aid program for South Vietnam breaks down this way:

—$315 million for commercial imports which include a wide variety of machinery, equipment and raw materials for industry, and some consumer goods. Of the total amount, $15 million is earmarked for land reform.

—$150 million for an "economic support fund" to stabilize the loss of dollar revenues to the South Vietnamese government as the result of the continuing withdrawal of American troops.

Analysts in Saigon said there is not enough economic aid money available in the "pipeline" to carry South Vietnam through the current fiscal year. The foreign aid bill would have provided $143 million for U.N. voluntary funds. The general U.S. assessment of $56.3 million was not affected by the Senate action.

A spokesman for the U.N. development program, which would have received $100 million of the U.S. money, said, "We are, of course, extremely concerned. We desperately need the United States for our multilateral aid."

He added that "a great country cannot abandon both its leadership and its responsibility. We just don't believe it will."

An official of the U.N. Children's Fund remarked of the Senate's action: "I think it's very regrettable. Clearly, it's the children around the world who will suffer."

Historical Panel Earn High Award

DEL RIO — Kudos for an outstanding local history preservation program were bestowed Saturday upon the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, headed by Hugh Boren, Jr. of Snyder.

At the Annual Meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee in Del Rio, 35 county survey committees received the Distinguished Service Award for organizing progressive and well-rounded local history programs during the past year.

Among the rigorous requirements for the Distinguished Service Award are that the local survey committee (1) sponsor at least four official historical markers or spend $600 for markers during the year, (2) present at least six talks on local history to other civic groups, (3) conduct at least three historical tours in the county, (4) publish a phamphlet, brochure, etc. showing sites of local historical interest, (5) sponsor at least one annual history appreciation observance, (6) secure at least $100 in investments in the Texas Historical Foundation (private affiliate of the Survey Committee), and (7) publish a county committee newsletter at least quarterly.

The complete list of counties whose committees were named Distinguished Service Award winners is as follows: Anderson, Bexas, Bowie, Brooks, Burleson, Carson, Coke, Crockett, Crosby, Dewitt, Fort Bend, Freestone, Galveston, Garza, Grayson, Harris, Hill, Houston, Kaufman, Kimble, Lavaca, McMullen, Marion, Midland, Mitchell, Polk, Potter, Robertson, Runnels, Scurry, Travis, Waller, Washington, Williamson and Wise.

The chairman and each committee member of D.S.A. counties will receive a two-color certificate signed by Governor Preston Smith. The county judge and county commissioners will also be given a certificate as ex officio members of the county committee.

2 Individual Awards Won By Snyderites

DEL RIO — The Scurry County Historical Survey Committee carried off two top awards at the statewide Annual Meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee held October 29 and 30 in Del Rio.

Mrs. Jess Everett of Snyder received an honorable mention as Best Member of a County Historical Survey Committee. This award calls attention to the member, who by faithful and unremitting service, has contributed greatly to the overall success of the group.

Mrs. June McGlaun of Snyder received an honorable mention as Best Chairman of a County Historical Survey Subcommittee. This award recognizes the most effective leadership in developing one particular phase of county survey committee activities in historic preservation.

Hugh Boren, Jr. of Snyder is the chairman of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee.

Winners of the various county committee competitions were announced at the awards luncheon of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its private affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation, both meeting in Del Rio at the Convention Center.

Service For Fred Bowers Here Today

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Sunday at the East Side Church of Christ for Fred Bowers, 78, of Dunn. Mr. Bowers died at 11:26 a.m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

A native of Panola County, Mr. Bowers had been a resident of Dunn since 1914. He was a retired farmer.

Mike Ezell will officiate at the funeral service. Burial will be in the Dunn Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Masons will be in charge of graveside rites. Nephews will serve as pallbearers.

Mr. Bowers was married in 1915 at Dunn to Miss Laura Bell Richardson. Mrs. Bowers survives.

Also surviving are one daughter, Mrs. James Patterson of Seminole; two sons, Frederick Bowers of Dunn and Forrest Bowers of Lubbock; four sisters, Mrs. Marvin Handson of Snyder, Mrs. Jimmy Champion of Fort Worth, Mrs. Lizzie Griffin of Gatesville and Mrs. Oleen Jones of Tenaha; two brothers, John and Jim of Center; five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

HYPO FINDS HOME — Hypo, who roamed the grounds of Northwest Texas Hospital for nearly two years found a home Friday. His new owner is Mrs. J. C. Wilhite of Amarillo. The dog was picked up and held by the Amarillo Animal Control Shelter after complaints were lodged against him. (AP Wirephoto)

Dockers Deny Any Violation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — West Coast longshoremen and employers deny they are violating a Taft-Hartley antistrike injunction in a manpower dispute.

In a three-hour hearing Friday, which was recessed until Sat, the government charged both sides are violating the order for an 80-day cooling off period that interrupted a record 100-day strike.

The government urged U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert to levy fines of up to $250,000 per day against the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association.

Attorneys for both sides denied they are violating the injunction issued Oct. 6, which sent some 15,000 ILWU members back to work in 24 Pacific ports.

Richard Ernst, attorney for the 120-member PMA employer group, said the refusal of the union to provide "steady men" dock specialists by name violates the injunction.

Ernst said the injunction requires that work be carried on under the provisions of the five-year contract which expired June 30.

He said employers under the old contract asked for and received such specialists by name on request, but the union has been refusing to continue the practice in Oakland and Los Angeles-Long Beach.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. sought the contempt action after the dispute halted loading Oct. 23 of five ships in Oakland with cargo for Vietnam, Okinawa and Korea.

The Oakland work resumed Thursday night a few hours after the contempt action was filed.

IRA Blows Up 8 British Posts

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish Republican Army guerrillas blew up eight British customs posts along the Irish border today and bombed a British army post in Belfast, killing one soldier and wounding eight civilians.

The soldier, a cook, died as he was making lunch for Scots Guards troops. The civilians, including their children, were injured when their house next door collapsed in the Roman Catholic Springfield Road district.

The IRA, which refuses to recognize the border between Northern Ireland and the Irish republic, struck in a half-hour coordinated bomb attack.

Police said raiders armed with submachine guns drove up to the posts, ordered the customs officers out of danger, stopped all oncoming cars and blew up the small wooden buildings. At least one band of guerrillas escaped across the frontier into the republic.

Border stations were blown up at Killeen and Tullydonnell in County Armagh, Annamartin and Aghalene in County Fermanagh, and at Fathom, Carrickduff, Colntivrin and Cullaville.

Police in Belfast arrested nine men during arms searches in the capital, where IRA terrorists intensified their attacks on Ulster police overnight by bombing three homes and a precinct station.

The raids followed a powerful blast Friday which ripped apart a Belfast police station and killed an inspector, bringing the British province's death toll in more than two years of civil strife to 141.

A sergeant, his wife and two children narrowly escaped when their home in the Finaghy district was blown up late Friday night. They had left it minutes earlier. An adjoining police house was badly damaged.

The third house hit no longer belonged to police. "A case of bad IRA intelligence," the British army commented.

A precinct house in Belfast's Antrim Road was bombed early Sat. but was only slightly damaged. An electricity company office next door suffered worse damage.

Several civilian targets also were picked out by the bombers.

The owner of a Belfast liquor store who tried to defend his property by hurling bottles at masked raiders was shot in the head. Hospital authorities said the man's condition was serious.

A bar in the Protestant stronghold of Springfield Road was badly damaged by an explosion. Another bomb started a fire nearby.

Tito To Visit Space Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Tito of Yougolavia met with President Nixon Saturday before taking off for Houston, Tex., on the first leg of a three-day tour of the United States.

Yugoslav sources said the presidents would issue a joint communique to which the 79-year-old Communist leader attaches great importance. The document reportedly will endorse the principle of noaligned nations.

The talk today was expected to deal primarily with bilateral issues in contrast to their meeting Thursday in which they discussed international problems, including the Middle East.

The aging marshal said Friday Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev told him the Soviet Union intends to withdraw its forces from the Middle East after the crisis in that area has been resolved.

Brezhnev visited Tito last month in Belgrade.

Despite his interest in the region and his long-time sympathy for the Arab cause, Tito apparently rebuffed a Nixon administration suggestion that he help the United States try to bring about an interim settlement in the Middle East.

"I have no intention to be a mediator, nor to play a backstage role," he said.

Damage Minor In Auto Mishaps

Minor damage resulted in two motor vehicle mishaps investigated Saturday morning by City Police.

The first one occurred at 1:30 a.m. in the 1900 block of Twenty-fifth Street. Involved were the 1958 Model Ford of Bobby Glen Moore, Lubbock, and the 1969 Model Ford of Ricky Ward Golden, Route 1. Officer Brain Blair investigated this mishap.

Officer James Curtis Hudson, driving a police patrol unit, accidentally struck a utility pole in the 1700 block of College Avenue at 3:27 a.m. The unit is a 1971 Model Chevrolet. Sergeant Les Wilkerson investigated this mishap.

Kentucky is fourth in the nation in rehabilitation of the handicapped.

Symposium Set By SPE

LUBBOCK — The South Plains Section and Texas Tech University Student Chapter of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will host the 1½-day biennial Production Technology Symposium Nov. 11-12 in Lubbock.

The technical program includes papers ranging from workover economics and petroleum industry financing to miscible flooding and field case histories.

A highlight of the meeting will be the Friday noon luncheon address by Byron Tunnell, Chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Registration proceedings and the entire technical program will be conducted in the Koko Palace Convention Hall.

Technical papers to be presented at the meeting will report the latest innovations in production technology and were selected from the society's fall meeting in New Orleans. People interested in the petroleum industry are encouraged to attend.

Amtrak In Need Of More Funds

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak, the corporation established to take over the nation's ailing rail passenger industry, needs more government financing or it will go $72.2 million into debt by December 1972, the Interstate Commerce Commission says.

In a bulky report to President Nixon, the commission also detailed Friday complaints about the new national service and said it also needs "substantial sums" for capital improvements.

"The financial needs of Amtrak will almost certainly have to be met by direct government funding and by loans backed by government guarantees," the commission said, adding unguaranteed receiving funds from private investors is unlikely.

Amtrak had initial funding of $40 million, Congress voted another $100 million in loan guarantees, and the Nixon administration asked for another $170 million last week.

The commission said that unless the funds are arranged for, the service will go $5.2 million into the red this year and $72.2 million by Dec. 13, 1972.

But more money is needed to improve roadbeds and equipment, and for refurbishing and relocating terminals, the commission said. "If additional funds are merely provided to subsidize operating losses, this will not promote the use of rail passenger service," the report said.

And the report said Amtrak will face even more financial problems in 1974, when it will no longer have one of its main income sources—payments made by railroads for their no longer having to provide intercity passenger service.

Among complaints about Amtrak service, the report listed poor connections involving long layovers to meet trains, illogical fare structures in which some shorter distances cost more than some longer distances, and insufficient equipment to handle more summer and holiday weekend travelers.

Other complaints listed included air conditioning failures, broken windows and passenger stations in need of refurbishing.

But the report said: "All Amtrak personnel concerned with the operation of passenger trains, ticket sales, reservation desks and information counters were extremely courteous, well informed and enthusiastic about their duties."

Graham Stricken

LONDON (AP) — American evangelist Dr. Billy Graham, stricken with sudden abdominal pains, suspended plans Saturday to make a movie in Britain.

British doctors ordered Graham to stay in bed in his hotel room while they tried to diagnose his ailment.

A spokesman for Dr. Graham's organization said the 52-year-old evangelist was felled by severe abdominal pain Friday while he was making a film in London with Cliff Richard, a British pop singer.

The stomach pains were accompanied by fever, a spokesman said.

Graham arrived in Britain Thursday to address a meeting of the Institute of Business Directors next week.

The University of Northern Colorado began with 96 students in 1890.

Husband's infidelity poses problem for mom

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am married to the kind of man who can never be faithful to just one woman. I have left him several times because of this, but I always took him back because of the children. Tell me, Abby, is a woman a fool to stay married to a man for the sake of her children?

MEADOWDALE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A man's faithfulness [or the absence of it] is only a part of his total behavior. What kind of man is he otherwise? What kind of husband is he? What kind of father has he been? Has he been discreet? Do the children love and respect him? How much have his extra curricular affairs affected your family life? Many a woman has stayed married to a man for the sake of her children when she should have left him for the same reason.

DEAR ABBY: I love to cook, and my specialty is Hawaiian chicken. Last night we had company for dinner and everyone raved about my chicken, whereupon my husband launched into an assault on my mother's cooking. He stressed the point that, altho my mother was a "farm girl," she never learned how to cook a chicken. Then he described with much exaggeration and ridicule the way my mother's chicken came out.

I was terribly hurt and embarrassed. I'll admit my mother was not a very good cook, but she tried. Besides, HIS mother was no better, but I wouldn't dream of ridiculing her cooking.

Later I let my husband know how I felt, and he said he thought it was "funny." Is there something wrong with my sense of humor? I don't like people laughing at my mother. I'd like your opinion.

PUZZLED IN VERMONT

DEAR PUZZLED: Some people don't care whom they ridicule as long as they get a laugh. Your husband sounds like that kind of person. You let him know you didn't like it. Good for you! In the future I think he'll be more careful.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful man. We have four children. The oldest is nine and the baby is two. My husband is in Korea in the service.

When he's home, he is the most loving and understanding man around, but when he's away, he never writes.

I have had only two letters from him in six weeks. I write to him every single night. I tell him about the children and myself and send him newspaper clippings, and I really try to make my letters newsy and cheerful. And I always tell him how much I love him and miss him.

I got in touch with the Red Cross to see if he was all right. That's how worried I was about him.

I have decided to quit writing to him until I hear from him, and see how he likes it. I love him very much, and deep down I know he loves me. So what should I do?

LONELY WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Keep writing to him. It is possible that he has been writing, but you're not getting his letters.

DEAR ABBY: How are you? Nobody ever asks you how YOU are, they just start right in by telling you their troubles.

I was taught that when one writes a letter of a personal nature, it is only common courtesy to inquire about the health of the person to whom he is writing, and to omit this small formality is extremely rude.

So I would like to make up for all who have failed you in this regard and ask, how are you, Abby?

RESPECTFUL IN MENDOCINO

DEAR RESPECTFUL: I'm just great. And grateful, thank you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Reagan Doubles As Deliveryman

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan doubled as a florist deliveryman, carrying a dozen long-stemmed roses to the wife of a Sacramento airman stationed in Vietnam.

"Hello, I'm Ronald Reagan. Your husband asked me to deliver these flowers to you and tell you that he loves you," the governor told Mrs. Earl Huffman.

"I kind of cried just a bit. It's like a dream," Mrs. Huffman said Friday in disclosing Reagan's visit the previous day.

Reagan said the visit was prompted by a letter he had received from Huffman asking Reagan's aid as a means of finding "a dramatic way to show my wife how much I love her."

Martin Turned Down Tip

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Friday he turned down a National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock tip from Frank Sharp in 1970 because the company was "shaky."

Martin said in an interview the millionaire Houston promoter invited him to his office while Martin was visiting his son in Houston.

Sharp suggested Martin buy several hundred thousand dollars worth of the stock in January 1970, when the price was at its peak, the attorney general said.

"He told me he knew where I could make some money. . . He thought it would be a good buy and make me a lot of money. I told him, 'Frank, it is selling for 29 and that is as high as it is liable to go,' and he said it would go higher....I knew the company was shaky. I got that information from the Insurance Commission long before he offered me the tip," Martin said.

Besides, he said, "I don't deal in that kind of money. I didn't feel I could finance such a matter....I never bought any insurance stock or speculative stock in my life and don't intend to."

He said he reported the tip to state Banking Commissioner Robert Stewart and U.S. Atty. Eldon Mahon of Dallas after the stock scandal broke this January.

Martin said Sharp did not offer him any financing arrangements to buy the stock. Testimony taken by the Securities and Exchange Commission established that loans from Sharpstown State Bank enabled Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Gus Mutscher, former state Democratic Party Chairman Elmer Baum and Reps. W. S. Heatly and Tommy Shannon to make speculative profits from National Bankers Life stock in 1969.

The SEC alleged in a civil suit that the stock price was artificially inflated in 1969.

"I don't think he (Sharp) was trying to help me as much as he was trying to unload some of his company's stock that Ling and Co. (Dallas stockbrokers) had," Martin said.

"Folks don't look you up to give you something, and that threw up a red flag immediately," he added.

Martin said there was no mention during his conversation with Sharp of "any action I might take prior, or after, or anything else."

City Street Name Changed

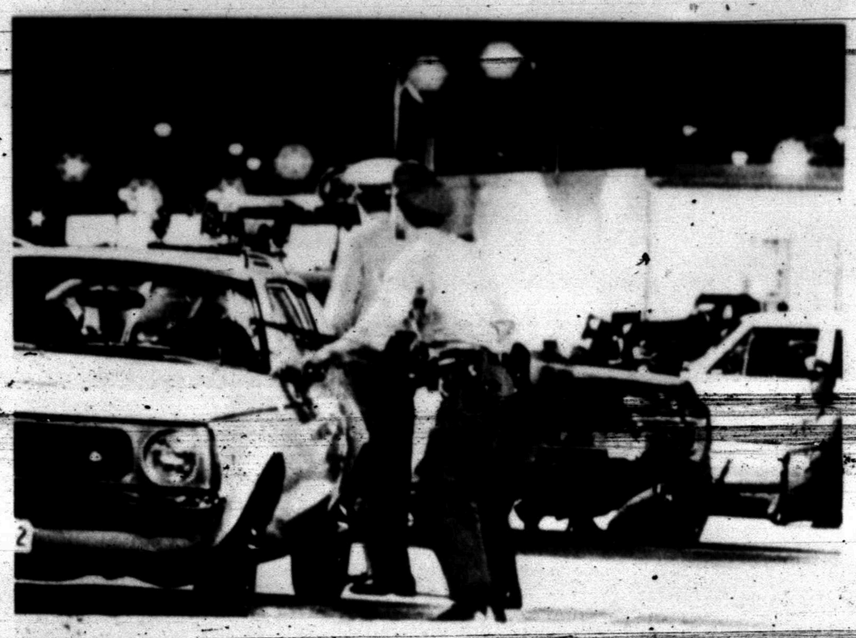

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Responding to a complaint by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the Memphis-Shelby County Airport Authority has changed the name of a city street.

Agnew was openly dismayed last fall when he arrived for groundbreaking ceremonies for a $14-million Internal Revenue Service computer center and found the facility was to be built on Democrat Road.

E. W. Cook, airport authority chairman, said Friday the authority chairman, said Friday the authority has changed the name of a street just west of the IRS center to Republican Road.

Now, the center, on Airport Authority property, will be on the corner of Democrat and Republican roads.

The Washington Huskies returned five kickoffs for touchdowns last season.

SNIPER HUNT — Police take cover behind cars as they search for signs of the gunman who killed one officer and wounded a second outside a Fort Worth nightclub early Friday. Officers said they thought the sniper was perched atop a building in a shopping center. (AP Wirephoto.)

Hearing Set Tuesday In Houston On Bay

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency and the Texas Water quality Board, still feuding over the best way to clean up Galveston Bay and the Houston Ship Channel, square off in public again here Tuesday.

The EPA and the state agency will conduct a federal enforcement hearing based on four months of joint private study.

The joint study was ordered after a heated hearing on the same subject last June ended in a jumble of contradictions. The basis for that earlier hearing was a black-bound study of the effects of pollution on the Galveston Bay oysters.

Federal authorities claimed in the report that little or no progress was being made in cleaning up the bay or its chief source of pollution, the industry-choked Houston Ship Channel.

State officials, led by WQB Executive Director Hugh Yantis Jr., claimed much progress had been made under state guidance and that data used in the so-called federal "black paper" was outdated.

After six days of testimony, Murray Stein, the EPA conference chairman, called a halt and ordered federal and state technicians to get together and settle the differences in their data.

Recommendations released from that series of meetings indicate that the EPA and the state board found common ground on all but one major issue--the plans for a 5,000 megawatt power plant.

The plant, being built in stages by the Houston Lighting and Power Co., was designed to use 3.2 billion gallons of water daily from a marshy inlet beside Galveston Bay.

Company officials said the water would be pumped through the plant to cool turbines, then channeled down a long canal and dumped into Trinity Bay, miles from where it was pumped into the plant.

Yantis and the WQB favor the power company plan, particularly since it calls for careful monitoring to detect any damage the cooling water might do to marine life in the bay.

The EPA, however, feels that the water, which would become very hot during its trip through the power plant, should not be dumped into the cooler waters of the bay.

The EPA wants the plant to either cool and reuse the water, or discharge it back into Galveston Bay near its point of origin, keeping it out of the relatively unpolluted Trinity Bay.

Otherwise, said the federal agency, future power generating units of the plant should be located elsewhere.

Part of the multi-million dollar power plant is already operating. Long range plans of Houston Power and Light call for the final units to be added by 1975. The plant, located on Cedar Boyou next to Galveston Bay and not far from the Houston Ship Channel, is a major unit in HP&L's plans to keep the rapidly expanding City of Houston supplied with power.

The conflict between the WQB and the federal agency goes goes much beyond their differences over one power plant.

Yantis, in a speech here last week, said that the EPA is backing legislation which would create "a water quality system run from Washington."

He said the legislation, which would ammend the federal Water Pollution Control Act, is backed by "very vocal people who are making noises for legislation which would restore our environment to the pristine conditions of 200 years ago. We all know that simply cannot be done."

A representative of EPA in a regional office in Dallas declined comment on the speech.

He noted that basic issues will be brought up and aired thoroughly in the conference starting Tuesday.

Kentucky Seeks Land For Trail

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky may have a new state park 17 miles long and 30 feet wide.

It is the right-of-way between Frankfort and Georgetown in the Bluegrass area, belonging to the Frankfort & Cincinnati Railroad, but not used for years.

Burglar No Killer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — "Look here, man, I'm a burglar. Get that? I'm a burglar, but I ain't no killer," an anonymous telephone caller told police.

The caller said he was burglarizing a shoe store when he found a dead man. "I know he was dead because I kicked him and he was real hard," police quoted the man as saying.

Police went to the store and found a mannequin wrapped in paper and tied with cord.

"I kicked him. The burglar was right," homicide detective Joseph Powell said.

HARRISON RAMBLES — Snyder High School's Sammie Harrison (40) goes up the middle for valuable yardage against the Colorado City Wolves. The Tiger Tailback gained 38 yards on 11 carries Friday night in the Tigers' 41-16 victory. Here; Sammie breaks a tackle by the Wolves' Larry Kinard (51) with Tim Stansel (6) and Gene Hunt (71) in pursuit. A Tiger tackle blocks David Matthews (22).

Tigers Triumph 41-16

COLORADO CITY — Striking for quick, long touchdowns, Snyder's Tigers blitzed the Colorado City Wolves 41-16 here Friday night in a District 3-AAA football match to remain in contention for the championship.

The win leaves Snyder with a 3-1 district record and tied for second place. The Tigers now are 3-3-1 for the season. Colorado City is 0-3-1 in league action and 1-5-1 for the campaign.

Four of the six Tiger touchdowns were for long distance. They covered 97, 65, 82 and 60 yards. The visitors tallied two touchdowns in each of the first three periods to completely dominate the game. The hosts were behind 35-0 with the game out of reach before they finally got on the scoreboard.

Again, there was not any one individual standout for the Tigers. It was a great team effort. Five different Tigers scored touchdowns, and 10 different ball carriers got into the action.

If there had to be an outstanding individual, it would have to be quarterback Butch Buchanan. He scored one touchdown and threw two touchdown passes. The leading rusher was halfback Jimmy Dyess, who netted 66 yards on just two carries. Fullback Mike Glasscock gained 62 yards on nine runs—all in the first half. The leading rusher for Colorado City was quarterback Dewain Nix, who posted 46 yards on nine runs.

The Tigers wasted little time in taking the upperhand. They drove 38 yards in eight plays on their first possession in the opening period.

Buchanan scored the touchdown on a run to the left from the 14. Glasscock, tailback Travis Bunch, and tailback Sammie Harrison gained most of the yardage in the drive. The biggest gain was an 11 yard blast by Glasscock to the 20 when the Tigers faced a fourth and three situation.

The Wolves took over following the kickoff and drove from their 36 to the Tiger 27, but safety Jackson Brewster intercepted a Nix pass at the three to halt the drive.

On first down, the Tigers struck like lightning. Buchanan fired a quick pass to swing man Gary Patterson who made the reception near the west sidelines at the 30. He stiff-armed the safety at about the 50 and ran the remainder of the distance unmolested down the west sidelines to the goal. The play covered 97 yards.

Sandy Land's kick following the first touchdown had been blocked, so the Tigers went for two points this time, and it worked. Buchanan drilled a quick pass to Jackie Murray in the end zone for the bonus points. Snyder was ahead 14-0 as the opening stanza closed.

On their second possession in the second quarter, the Tigers put over another big play. The drive began at their own 22. Buchanan was stopped for no gain, then Glasscock rambled up the middle for 13 yards for a first and 10 at the 35. Then Dyess got his first call, and he took the ball over the left side on a counter play, broke a tackle at the 50 and went 65 yards for a touchdown. Land's kick made it 21-0. There was 7:31 remaining in the half.

The Wolves couldn't sustain a drive, and the Tigers were stopped at their 15 after they took over. Dyess punted to the 40, and Colorado City fumbled the ball. The Tigers recovered at the 40. They spanned the 60 yards to pay dirt in nine plays.

Harrison sliced over left tackle to the 49. Then Bunch threw a halfback pass to Patterson at the Colorado city 30 for a 21-yard gain. Harrison ripped for five more; but a 5-yard penalty put the Tigers back on the 30. Glasscock put together 9 yard and 8 yard runs to the 13. Dyess added one. Then Buchanan lofted a pass to Murray, who was slanting into the west corner of the south end zone. The ball was just off his fingertips. Then, on fourth and one, Glasscock cracked the line for an eight yard gain to the four with time running out. With 15 seconds remaining in the half, the big Tiger fullback charged over left guard for the final four yards. Land's kick for extra point was blocked by Larry Kinard, leaving the count at 27-0 in favor of Snyder.

Snyder tried an onside kick which backfired with Colorado City taking over at the Tiger 48. Nix scrambled for 18 to the 29 on first down. Then, with three seconds left, Nix passed deep, but Tim Holder intercepted at the five to stop the drive on the last play of the first half.

More fireworks were in order as the second half begun. Bunch fielded the kickoff at the 17 halfway between the center of the field and the east sidelines. He charged straight up field, found a hole at the 50, and cut towards the east sidelines. He emerged into the clear and went all the way for the touchdown. The play covered 83 yards. Only 15 seconds had elapsed in the third quarter as Glasscock plowed over left guard for two bonus points to make the count 35-0.

Neither team could move after that, and after a couple of fumbles, the Wolves drove 77 yards in seven plays with wingback Wayne Banks getting a touchdown on a 35 yard ramble. The biggest gain in the drive besides the touchdown play was a 14-yard run by tailback Rickey Parks. Nix, fullback Larry Dearen, and David Matthews, who took over for Nix at quarterback, all contributed yardage. Parks took a pitch out to the right and ran for the two extra points to shave the margin to 35-8.

Snyder took over following the kickoff and drove 66 yards in four plays. The touchdown was of the spectacular variety. Operating at the Tiger 40, Buchanan fired a quick pass to Patterson who made the reception at the Colorado City 49 near the east sidelines. Gary hustled on downfield with the safety in hot pursuit. He caught the Tiger receiver just as he fell into the end zone. Land's kick was blocked as Snyder took a 41-8 lead.

The Tiger reserves played on offense throughout the fourth quarter. However, the Wolves scored their second touchdown in this period against the first team defense, going 34 yards in nine plays. Matthews, the big quarterback, scored the TD on a bootleg to the left from the three. Banks swept left end for the two extra points.

The drive was kept in motion by an 8-yard (half the distance to the goal) penalty at the 16.

Earlier in the fourth quarter, Sandy Land came up with a fumble recovery at the Tiger 25 to halt a Wolf drive that had carried from the Colorado City 27. The drive included long passes from Matthews to Banks and to wingback Bob Benson.

The Tiger offensive line did a great job of opening holes for the backs. It was an outstanding team effort. Perfect execution on offense and alertness and aggressiveness marked the defense.

The Tigers face another "must" game Friday night when Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes come to town.

Elsewhere in the league Friday night, Estacado shaded Lamesa 14-12, Dunbar nipped Brownfield 10-6, and Sweetwater put down Lake View 20-7.

Ira Whips Hobbs35-14

HOBBS — Ira's Bulldogs whipped Hobbs' Panthers 35-14 here Friday night in a District 3-B Six-Man football game. With the win, Ira remained in contention for the district crown.

The Bulldogs took a 14-0 lead in the first quarter and never relinquished the lead.

Dale Wiggins returned the kickoff 60 yards for Ira to take a 6-0 lead.

Wiggins scored on a 50 yard run later in the period, and Ricky Cox kicked for two extra points.

Hobbs narrowed the gap to 14-6 on a two-yard run by David Martinez.

Also in the second period, Cox scored on a two yard run for Ira, and Richard Day tallied on a 30-yard run. Cox scored one extra point after his touchdown to give Ira a 27-6 lead at halftime.

The third quarter was scoreless, but Wiggins got loose on a 40 yard run in the fourth quarter. Cox added two points for a 35-6 advantage.

Later in the quarter, Hobbs' Hal Guinn tackled an Ira back in the end zone for a two-point safety, and Randy Gordon threw a three-yard touchdown pass to Rudy Aguilar.

Hornets Sting Buffs, 66-42

FLUVANNA — Outscoring Fluvanna's Buffaloes in the first, third and fourth periods, Blackwell's Hornets took a 66-42 triumph in a District 3-B Six-Man gridiron contest here Friday night.

Fluvanna took an early lead on a 35 yard touchdown pass from Richard Gill to Larry White.

The lead was short-lived however, as Blackwell benefitted from touchdown runs by Zane McNeil, Don Boyd and Jim Bob Watts in the first quarter. Boyd kicked a two-point conversion.

McNeill scored for the Hornets on a 30 yard pass in the second quarter, and Watts kicked for two points. Fluvanna tallied again on a one-yard run by J. W. White. The visitors led 28-12 at halftime.

J. W. White returned the kickoff opening the third quarter 66 yards for a touchdown, and he ran for another TD later in the period. Larry White kicked two-point conversions after both touchdowns.

McNeill scored three times for Blackwell in the third quarter, and Joe Tubbs tallied on a 25-yard pass. Watts kicked two conversions.

J. W. White took a touchdown pass from Gill in the fourth quarter, and Larry White kicked a two-pointer. Chuck Jones also tallied for the Buffs on a nine-yard run.

Blackwell's Don Boyd caught a 44 yard scoring pass, and Watts caught one for 15 yards in the final period.

Baytown Upsets Ball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baytown Sterling convincingly beat Galveston Ball, the state's No. 3 ranked Class AAAA high school football team, 21-10 Friday night to fashion the biggest upset of the evening in schoolboy football action.

Only one other top ten team in the four schoolboy classes met defeat against an unranked team, while two other Top Ten teams were tied.

George West whipped the ninth-ranked Class AA team, Woodsboro, 36-18, while San Antonio Churchill, No. 10 in AAAA, and Ennis, No. 6 in AAA, were tied 7-7 by San Antonio Lee and 6-6 by Wilmer-Hutchins, respectively.

In games involving ranked teams, the No. 4 team in AA, Klein, stopped 10th-ranked Di-Boll, 27-3; No. 1 in Class A, Sonora, whipped No. 9 Mason 27-13; and No. 7 Crowley shut out No. 8 Forney 12-0 in Class A action.

In other Class AAAA play Friday, No. 2 Wichita Falls defeated Fort Worth Castleberry 27-3, No. 4 Dallas Carter mauled Dallas Sunset 42-6, No. 7 Port Arthur Lincoln beat Orange Stark 21-10, No. 8 Odessa Permian whipped Midland Lee 21-11 and Thursday night Houston Westchester shut out Houston MacArthur 7-0. Saturday night in the top-ranked AAAA team, Port Arthur Jefferson, plays unranked Nederland, while in the AAAA feature of the week, No. 6 Arlington High will meet No. 5 Hurst Bell.

In other AAA action Friday night, top-ranked Silsbee beat Liberty 32-14, second-ranked Gregory-Portland had little trouble beating West Oso 42-6, No. 3 Brownwood stopped Weatherford 41-12, fourth-ranked Brenham stomped Houston Elmore 59-6, No. 5 Cuero beat Floresville 35-6, No. 7 Plano slashed South Grand Prairie 53-7, eighth-ranked Uvalde shut out Fredricksburg 26-0, No. 9 Lubbock Estacado edged Lamesa 14-12, and 10th-ranked Iowa Park beat Graham 23-12.

In AA action Friday night, Eastland solidified its top ranking position with a 41-6 triumph over Ballinger. No. 2 Refugio beat Bloomington 15-2, third-ranked Jacksboro whipped Fort Worth Nolan 40-21, No. 5 Kirbyville defeated Kountze 27-8, No. 6 Hondo topped Medina Valley 21-7, seventh-ranked Tomball whipped Katy 34-19, and No. 8 Needville beat Boling 23-6.

Celtics Gain Tie In NBA

The Boston Celtics, parlaying a natural seven-eleven combination, have gained a tie for the lead in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division—the first time they have held or shared the top spot in three years, when they had the great Bill Russell.

The Celtics, who had lost 11 consecutive games to Milwaukee, ended the Bucks' winning streak at seven this season, handing the defending champions their first loss 125-114 Friday night.

The victory, coupled with Philadelphia's 137-135 double overtime loss to Phoenix, moved the Celtics into a tie for the Atlantic Division lead with the 76ers, each with 6-2 records.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Atlanta nipped Cleveland 98-97, Detroit beat Baltimore 119-105, Golden State trimmed Chicago 99-83, Buffalo edged Portland 124-119, and Los Angeles trounced Cincinnati 119-107.

WTC Is In 6th Place

LEVELLAND — Western Texas College fired a 469 to take sixth place in a Western Athletic Conference golf match here Friday.

Howard County Junior College won the meet with a sparkling 440 team total. Second was Odessa with 451. Other scores: New Mexico JC 454, New Mexico Military Institute 458, South Plains JC 461, Amarillo JC 478, Frank Phillips JC 483, and Clarendon JC 505.

Steve Crawford of HCJC was medalist with a 108-one over par. HCJC also had the two runnerup medalists--Tim Hamilton and Kevin Harper with two-over-par 109's.

Scores of the WTC Golfers: Barry Hays 112, Blake Arnwine 115, Tim Stuerzenberger 119, Max Tenorio 123, and Bobby Wine 123.

The next conference match will be held two weeks from now with Odessa Junior College as the host.

Western Texas College now is in sixth place

Props Found

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A local theater group, faced with recreating a Georgia home circa 1945 for the production of "The Member of the Wedding," found almost everything it wanted at a local Goodwill shop.

BUNCH SCORES — Snyder's Travis Bunch (30) returned the kickoff opening the second half of the Tigers' game at Colorado City Friday night 83 yards for a touchdown. Here, he eludes the Wolves' Skeet Kimbrell (63) and Mark Waldrip (5). Jimmy Dyess, who scored on a 65-yard run for the Tigers (27), charges up to lend assistance.

Raiders Host Chiefs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Football League's annual face-to-face meeting for ownership of the American Conference West gets underway Sunday in Oakland as the Raiders take on the Kansas City Chiefs.

The two powerhouses, who won't meet again until Dec. 12 in Kansas City, have each reeled off five successive victories following season-opening setbacks and, as usual, have left the rest of the division in the dust.

The rest of the Sunday slate has Miami at Los Angeles, Atlanta at Cleveland, Minnesota at the New York Giants, Pittsburgh at Baltimore, DAllas at Chicago, Cincinnati at Houston, St. Louis at Buffalo, New Orleans at Washington, New England at San Francisco, Denver at Philadelphia, the New York Jets at San Diego and, in Monday night's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST(game, Detroit at Green Bay.

The Raiders have history on their side, winning seven of the past 10 regular-season games, but the Chiefs have the AFC's No. 1 passer in Len Dawson and No. 2 receiver in Otis Taylor.

Since 1967, Oakland and Kansas City have finished 1-2 in the West—usually going down to the wire to decide the race—although in 1969 the Chiefs beat the Raiders in a playoff en route to the Super Bowl. And this year's race will apparently be no different.

A tough ground game appears in store at Los Angeles as the Dolphins go with Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, who piled up 258 yards against the Jets a week ago, while the Rams counter with Willie Ellison and Les Josephson.

With Bob Berry still out with a hamstring pull, the Falcons again go with Dick Shiner, who quarterbacked them to victory over New Orleans. The Browns, blanked a week ago for the first time since 1950—a 275-game stretch—are trying to retain their one-game AFC Central Division lead.

Injuries have wrecked the Giants' running game but help appears on the way with the possible return of Ron Johnson and Tucker Fredrickson. But they'll be going against a Vikings' defense that is No. 2 in the NFC.

The Colts are at full strength and raring to get back on top in the AFC East, the spot they lost by losing to the Vikes. Victories by Pittsburgh and Atlanta would put the Steelers back in a tie with the Browns.

Coach Tom Landry will try anything to keep the Cowboys on Washington's trail. This time he plans to call the game from the bench, sending in quarterbacks Roger Staubach and Craig Morton on alternate plays. Bobby Douglass goes again for the Bears after his winning 1971 starting debut against Detroit a week ago.

If rookie quarterback Ken Anderson's rib injury keeps him out of action, the Bengals will start with Dave Lewis. The Oilers have added strength to their running game with the acquisition of Dickie Post and Robert Holmes.

Jim Hart may have to start at quarterback for the Cardinals if a bruised right shoulder hampers Pete Beathard. The Bills are still looking for victory No. 1. They haven't won since last Nov. 1, a 13-game span.

Archie Manning has a pulled leg muscle, which may force the Saints to start Edd Hargett at quarterback against Washington. The Redskins lost wide receiver Charley Taylor with a broken ankle when they lost to Kansas City—but they've still got Boyd Dowler. And they've added Clifton McNeil to the roster, although a rib injury may keep him out of action.

Jim Plunkett returns to the Bay Area, where he performed his college heroics for Stanford. But wide receiver Ron Sellers is definitely out and Hubi Bryant may miss the game with a pulled hamstring. The virtually injury-free 49ers are still one-half game back of the Rams in the tight NFC West.

The Broncos, who hand't won in a 13-game stretch, have now taken two in a row, thanks to a defense that was airtight against the Browns last Sunday. Rick Arrington, who took over at quarterback in the second period as the Eagles recorded their first victory of the season, is likely to start in place of former Broncos' passer Pete Liske.

At one time, the Jets had hoped the game against San Diego would feature the return of Joe Namath, but the quarterback's injured knee has not healed as quickly as expected. Both New York and the Chargers take 2-4 records into the game.

The Lions trail Minnesota by a game in the typically rough-and-tumble NFC Central loop while the Packers are the only team among four seemingly out of contention.

Football Knee Is Common

DALLAS (AP) — Texas undergoes an annual epidemic of "football knee," Dr. George Truett James, a leading Dallas orthopedic surgeon, said in a recent interview.

"This injury which strikes heavily during the football season is more serious than the public realizes," Dr. James said.

"It does not destroy the knee. However, severe cases require surgery and if often leaves the boy with a weakened knee and the strong possibility of arthritic disorders later on in life."

Dr. James, one of a team of consulting surgeons to the SMU Mustangs and a number of Dallas high schools, says the injury is common to all types of football games

Coyotes Clip 'Horns, 74-38

LOOP — Borden County's Coyotes clipped the Loop Longhorns 74-38 in a District 3-B Eight-Man football contest here Friday night.

Charles Billeck was outstanding for Gail. He scored on runs of 9 and 70 yards and threw four touchdown passes. He hit Randy Hensley on 33 and 18 yard TD passes. He fired a 16-yard scoring pass to Randy Crittenden, and he connected with Don Jones on a six-yard TD pass.

Crittenden also scored on a 1-yard run. Hensley also scored on a 55-yard run, and he added four extra points.

The other Coyote tallies resulted from runs of two and 59 yards by Ross Sharp.

For Loop, Wayne Freeman scored on runs of 18, 21 and 6 yards while Craig Ancinec hit Roy Tovar on touchdown passes of 55 and 65 yards.

Gorillas Rip Cards' 60-18

HERMLEIGH — The Trent Gorillas man-handled Hermleigh's Cardinals 60-18 here Friday night in a District 3-B Six-Man football game.

The Cards now are 2-3 in district and 2-6 for the season while Trent is 3-2 in league play and 4-4 for the campaign.

Tommy Vineyard threw a 15-yard touchdown pass to Dan Collier and Ronny Roemisch tossed a 40 yard touchdown pass to Mike Coonrod for two of the Hermleigh scores. The other one came on a 45-yard run by Vineyard.

Monty Heatly scored four touchdowns, and Bill Hamner scored three for the winners. Heatly also added 16 points on conversion plays.

LBJ Back In Limelight

Editor's Note: Frank Cormier, AP White House correspondent, covered Lyndon Baines Johnson during his entire presidency. Here he takes a look at Johnson's memoirs of his years as chief executive.

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's open season again on Lyndon B. Johnson.

For 24 months, the former president has kept out of the limelight at the cloister of his choice, the LBJ Ranch in the Central Texas hill country. He has emerged just occasionally for such events as University of Texas football games, an intimate Washington dinner with old friend Spiro Agnew, and a series of television interviews with Walter Cronkite of CBS.

But it's back to the limelight now for the 36th president. He has interrupted the quiet of his retirement to author 636 pages of memoirs—plus 72 pages of notable photographs—to be published Monday as "The Vantage Point."

LBJ's old friends and foes, not to mention the literary critics, already are choosing up sides. The first prominent dissenter is Arthur J. Goldberg who has accused his former boss of writing untrue statements about Goldberg's 1965 departure from the Supreme Court.

Johnson's book, published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, is packed with details enough to trigger scores of arguments.

It should be noted, however, that the former chief executive makes no claim to objectivity as he reviews his busy five years in office. He writes that his purpose is not to say, "This is how it was" but rather, "This is how I saw it from my vantage point."

Here, in summary, are the principal reactions of one newsman who covered the Johnson White House and, in the process, spent many hundreds of hours in the company of the man who was president:

Johnson tells his story now like he told it to us when history was in the events. He hasn't changed his account but he has rummaged through the still-secret archives of the LBJ Library at Austin, Tex., to lace his text with documented surprises.

The "real Johnson" is rarely glimpsed in his many pages of reminiscences. With rare exceptions, his statesmanlike prose is devoid of the sparks and acid that matle him the most volatile and colorful of recent presidents.

LBJ does deserve a high mark for candor in making no effort to disguise his poor relations with the late Robert F. Kennedy. He writes:

John Kennedy and I had achieved real friendship. I doubt his younger brother and I would have arrived at genuine friendship if we had worked together for a lifetime."

Many readers inevitably will regard "The Vantage Point" as Johnson's reply to "The Pentagon Papers." Surely his Vietnam chapters constitute an important part of the book and add rather significantly to the public history of that tragic war.

Whereas the Defense Department study was based on Pentagon and State Department records, Johnson has been able to turn to his own still-classified files to flesh out a picture of how Vietnam policy was fashioned and executed at the summit.

Of course, Johnson's account of Vietnam is self-serving. But it is equally obvious that no president can be expected to acknowledge error on any matter so vital. Indeed, there is every reason to believe that LBJ truly feels in his heart that he was right every step of the way.

For students of politics and domestic policy, the Johnson manuscript is equally detailed in offering LBJ's version of how he won enactment of his far-reaching "Great Society" legislation.

Any reading of the Johnson memoirs is apt to revive memories of "credibility gap." Some of his accounts verge on the unbelievable—yet may well be true in every respect.

An example: Johnson writes at length about agonizing over whether to be a candidate for election in 1964—at a time when almost no one else in Washington would have put the slightest credence in the possibility of an abdication.

Quoted in the memoirs is a lengthy, warm and very human memo to the President from wife Lady Bird, who musters all the arguments against withdrawal from the race, her final reason being that a retired LBJ might "drink too much—for lack of a higher calling."

Improbable as it may seem that Johnson gave serious thought to retirement after 1964, the agonizing he describes does have a ring of truth to it.

After all, any man who could agonize over whether to make a weekend trip to Texas surely would have had second thoughts about running for President.

SKYDIVING OLDSTER — Glen Gardner of Cincinnatus, N. Y., says he has "been wanting to jump out of an airplane since 1919." In 1966, he got his chance - and has been skydiving regularly since then. Here, he adjusts his helmet before a flight from Greene Airport in Cortland Count. Glen Gardner is 75 years old. (AP Wirephoto)

ON UN MATTERS

Name Selection Of Importance

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Now that Red China has notified the United Nations it will send a delegation, U.N. officials want to know how the Peking government would like to be formally addressed.

The name Peking selects will decide a number of administrative matters, including when it will hold the rotating presidency of the U.N. Security Council.

If the Communists choose to beknown under the name People's Republic of China, they will be in alphabetical line to head the council for the month of November.

However, if they choose to be simply China, their flag will fly further up the row of standards outside U.N. headquarters but they will have to wait their turn to sit in the council president's chair. Poland currently is due to replace Nicaragua, whose chief delegate Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa is president for October.

A member of the council had said Sevilla-Sacasa would call a meeting today, primarily to uphold the principle that the council can meet in the absence of a permanent member such as China, but no meeting was scheduled.

Diplomatic sources said the U.N. Secretariat sent a message Friday to Peking requesting it to designate its official title. The note also was a reply to the cable from Red China's acting foreign minister, Chi Peng-fei, saying his government would send a delegation in the "near future."

In his cable Friday, Chi acknowledged receipt of an earlier message from Thant notifying him of the assembly's Monday night decision to admit the Communists and expel the Nationalist Chinese.

"I have also noted," Chi said, "that you have notified all the bodies and related agencies of the United Nations of this resolution ... and believed that the above mentioned resolution will be speedily implemented in its entirety."

As if in response, the executive board of the U.N. Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization in Paris voted a few hours later to recognize Communist China as "the only legitimate representative of China in UNESCO." The decision by UNESCO, formed in 1945 to promote peace by collaboration in education, science and culture, set a precedent for other independent U.N. agencies.

Brush Control Tour Set In Garza County

A brush control research tour will be held on the Post-Montgomery ranch in Lynn County on Thursday, Nov. 4. The tour will start at 9 a.m. at the Graham Community Center, located 7 miles west and 2 miles south of Post, on highway 380.

Observation and discussion of new findings in chemical control of mesquite and redberry juniper will be observed on the morning tour. A "Dutch treat" barbecue lunch will be served at the Graham Community Center at noon.

The afternoon program will consist of a discussion on conversion of mesquite to livestock feed by bacteria. Observation and discussions is scheduled on the uses of fire, new shredder designs, chaining, aerial spraying and basal treatment of mesquite with experimental chemicals.

The tour is being sponsored by Texas Tech University, Brush Control and Range Improvement Association, Garza and Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Ranchers and farmers interested in brush control and range improvement are urged to attend.

Paper Ceases Publication

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Telegram, founded 95 years ago, ceased publication Saturday.

In announcing last month that the paper was closing, publisher John Bassett said it lost $2 million in 1969 and 1970, and estimated another $1 million loss for this year.

"In recent years a total of $8.3 million has been made available from other sources to the newspaper in order to keep it alive," he said. But since the September announcement, attempts to revive the paper have failed.

The Telegram had 226,000 daily readers and 1,200 employes.

Sonic Booms Are Costly

LONDON (AP) — The British Government says it has paid $29,522 in claims to angry citizens whose property was damaged by sonic booms from the Concorde airliner's summer test flights.

Not counting the damage claims, aviation sources estimate that costs of research and development for the faster-than-sound Concorde are likely to be $250 million more than the latest estimate, $2.212 billion.

Inflation Curbed In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Figures for the first month of the price freeze show it is working to curb inflation in Texas, but there is considerable doubt whether it will achieve its second objective of stimulating the economy, the Bureau of Business Research reports.

Personal income rose 2 per cent in September from the August figure, while consumer prices moved up from 142.1 to 142.2 on the index.

"Business at best is sluggish in its recovery," the University of Texas agency says.

The manufacture of durable goods—a "sensitive" barometer—declined 3.9 per cent from the August figure for the whole country.

The bureau called construction "the brightest spot" in the economic picture for both Texas and the nation, but although it was up 29 per cent for the first nine months of 1971, it dropped 6 per cent in September from August.

Electric power use rose 2 per cent and bank debits advanced 10 per cent in September over August.

"The announcement of Phase II of the operation emphasizes the difficulty of getting out a price and wage freeze and suggests that it may be much more difficult to get out of it than it was to get into it," the bureau says.

AF Squadron Pulled Out

SAIGON (AP) — A second squadron of U.S. Air Force F4 supersonic fighter-bombers has been pulled out of Indochina combat in preparation for return to the United States.

The pending withdrawal of the 480th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Phu Cat air base on the central coast will cut U.S. strength by another 650 men, the U.S. Command said today.

The Command also announced the withdrawal from combat of the Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, Americal Division artillery, resulting in a cut of 215 men. The Americal Division is being disbanded.

By the end of next month, U.S. troop strength in Vietnam is expected to be down to about 175,000 from its present 200,000. President Nixon will make another troop withdrawal statement about Nov. 15.

High Spots

DENVER (AP) — The Continental Divide through Colorado is marked by 53 Rocky Mountain peaks 14,000 feet high or higher, ranging from 14,001-foot Sunshine Peak in the Uncompahgre National Forest in the southwestern part of the state to Colorado's geographic center.

SPARKED BY GREEN BEAN RECALL

Legislation Urged On Food Safety Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — A recall of canned green beans amid reports that some evidence of botulism was found in a hospitalized child has sparked renewed criticism of federal food safety policies.

"It is obvious that legislation is needed because existing administrative remedies have not been taken to properly safeguard the American public," Chairman Paul G. Rogers of the House public health subcommittee said Friday night.

The Florida Democrat commented after the Food and Drug Administration reported that Stokely-Van Camp Inc. had started recalling a shipment of more than 15,000 cans of green beans. FDA issued an urgent warning to consumers who may have the eight-ounce cans on their shelves. The FDA said a Florida man, identified as Marine Capt. William Cleveland Jr., 27, and his eight-year-old son William III, noticed a distasteful flavor after eating a few beans from a swollen can at their home in Pensacola.

They were hospitalized and their stomachs were pumped, with blood tests showing some evidence of botulism in the boy, but neither had developed any outward symptoms of the disease, the FDA said.

At Stokely-Van Camp's Indianapolis headquarters, David McVey, senior vice president, said efforts were being made to determine where the 650 cases had been distributed. FDA said the batch of "finest French style sliced green beans" carried on each can code No. SB 72-E213D, and was packed Aug. 1, 1970, in the firm's plant at Scottsville, Mich.

McVey said the firm expressed grave concern "over the alleged possibility a can of its ... green beans might be contaminated with botulism."

He added that the firm was acting as though the allegation is true even though he said it suspects it is a false alarm.

Meanwhile, Rogers, whose subcommittee made lengthy investigations of cases involving Bon Vivant and Campbell's soups earlier this year, said his panel is expected to begin work soon on proposed legislation.

Rogers said he was encouraged by a canners' request to FDA for stricter regulations, "but despite these very commendable actions I think that it is not something that can be left on a strictly voluntary basis for this is becoming all too frequent and already is an all too serious situation."

Cubans Ask Aid From Czechs

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Twenty-two Cubans who arrived in New Orleans without U.S. entry visas to attend a sugar cane convention and defied State Department orders to go home have asked for legal aid from Czechoslovakia.

They requested legal assistance from the Czechoslovakian Embassy in Washington Friday and a spokesman there said "we will go" if Havana approves. The United States maintains no direct diplomatic relations with Cuba, but handles communications through the Czech embassy.

The Cubans flew into New Orleans on Tuesday to attend the two-week Congress of the International Society of Sugar Cane Technologists, scheduled to end Nov. 5.

A State Department spokesman said they were refused visas under a policy which denies Cubans the right to attend private meetings in this country.

Customs officials took custody of the 19 sugar scientists and three plane crewmen upon their arrival, and asked them to return home voluntarily. But the Cubans said they would not leave without direct orders from their government.

They are being housed at the Belle Chasse Naval Air Station. A State Department spokesman said "they're under detention."

The Immigration and Naturalization Service held a hearing at the station Friday which federal officials called the first step toward formal expulsion of the Cubans.

Charles W. Bray, a spokesman for the State Department in Washington, said it was impossible to say how long the procedure would take, but that the Cubans eventually will be sent back to Havana.

Methodist Ministers Are Split On Course

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An unorthodox course for budding pastors, involving explicit sex films and field trips to homosexual households, split Texas Methodist ministers in two camps over its merits this weekend.

The 26-week course, called Church and World, aims at familiarizing future ministers with the another side of life that they are bound to run up against. It is conducted at the Perkins School of Theology in Southern Methodist University here.

"If the students do not know the real people they're going to serve, with the real problems they're going to face, then all this biblical knowledge is beside the point," says Perkins' dean, Dr. Joseph D. Quillian Jr.

But to the Rev. Edward C. Blythe, pastor of suburban Lake Highlands Methodist Church, and the Rev. Gordon Casad, superintendent of the Dallas-McKinney district, the films shown smacked of pornography.

They carried their protest to Dean Quillian in person. Blythe said they acted after he had received "three highly charged negative reactions" to the films within 36 hours.

Blythe said Dean Quillian assured him that the course, whose general validity he did not question, would be given continued "re-evaluation."

Last Monday, about a week after the protest, the same films were shown again. The Rev. Mr. Blythe, tipped off by a student, went along to the university to see for himself. He came away deeply shocked.

Two of the films, one heterosexual and the other homosexual, he described as "just raw pornography." The third, which was made by a local television station and has been publicly shown, did not offend him to the same extent.

"I have no objections to the stated intent and purpose of the course as outlined in the curriculum," the minister said. "My questions have to do with the value and purpose of raw pornography in equipping men and women to minister with any greater effectiveness to their people. I seriously challenge the rationale and justification of this type of material."

One theological student, who asked that his name be withheld, said he saw no reason for the films to be shown.

"There's no value to be gained from them; if anything it makes you sick to your stomach," he said. "It's supposed to be preparing us for the ministry—showing us what life really is. If it taught us how to deal with such people it might be justified."

There are about 80 students taking the required Church and World course and they are divided in four groups. Human sexuality is dealt with during only one week of the 26-week curriculum.

The field trips, called "exposures", give students a choice. They can ride all night in a police prowl car, spend some hours in the emergency ward at the city's Parkland Hospital, sit in at the juvenile, domestic or criminal courts, see the city jail, and thus get to grips with basic problems in the lives of others.

One field trip, for which about half with students signed up, was to visit a homosexual home and rap with the residents about their particular problems.

Dean Quillian thinks the course instills an "earth-bound" theology and is a valid part of the Perkins curriculum that he would change only to improve it.

"I think it's a very essential course," said the dean. "When somebody from the outside raises questions, we cannot do what any of these people want without first being sure that we are working toward the best ends of our students.

"We study all kinds of sin around here," he added, "but we don't advocate any of it."

Dr. Harville Hendrix, instructor in pastoral theology and coordinator of the course, said the films are optional.

"The students know of them in advance and do not have to attend," he said.

Dr. Hendrix said the films are discussed in separate classes before and after each showing, but there is no narration while they are shown.

"We study all kinds of sin. One is called "Unfolding" and deals with relations between a man and a woman, while the other "Vir Amat" depicts homosexual acts. Both were produced by the Glide Memorial Foundation of San Erancisco, an educational foundation associated with the church.

"They are not dug up out of the porno house," Hendrix stated. "they depict the dimensions of human sexuality in a different way."

Several students said they found what some jokingly called flicks" beneficial. One said the film about homosexuality had opened his eyes. "I thought I looked at homosexuality with an open mind," he said, "but found I was very prejudiced against it."

Bishop Kenneth Pope, who is a university trustee, considered the films issue had been "played up out of all proportion to its significance."

"When people understand the full facts, they will continue to have full confidence in the Perkins School of Theology," he said.

Weapons Balance Is Tilting

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The weapons balance is tilting toward the Soviet Union at a time when the United States is "substantially cutting back on military forces," says Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff.

"The implications of a clearly discernable shifting in the balance of military power ... should concern all Americans," Westmoreland told the Mother Lode Chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army Friday.

American defense spending is at its lowest level since 1951 and about half of Russia's military budget, Westmoreland said.

The Vietnam War has "stretched the Army to its elastic limits in recent years and subjected it to unprecedented stresses in the process," he added.

Grand Jury In Recess

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating the financial affairs of Frank W. Sharp recessed for 10 days Friday without returning indictments.

The grand jury whose term was due to expire Oct. 26 after a year's service, had been held over to continue its investigation into the collapse of the Sharp empire.

It held five days of hearings behind closed doors this week and wound up Friday again listening to Welcome Wilson, who had been called first Monday.

Wilson is head of Timewealth, Inc., a Houston developer with extensive resort property developments in Galveston.

Time Wealth has a $3.1 million note at Sharp's now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank which is secured by its Galveston property.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which took over the closed bank, attempted to foreclose on the property last month but was forestalled after the corporation sought the shelter of federal bankruptcy laws.

More than 11,000 students are enrolled at the University of Northern Colorado.

Firm Put Under State Control

AUSTIN (AP) — Insurance Commissioner Clay Cotten has placed Family Saving Life Insurance Co. of Sherman under full state control.

Cotten signed the conservatorship order Friday with consent of the firm's directors, who admitted the first known violation of the state's 1971 Holding Company Act.

The insurance liquidator-receiver Tom I. McFarling was placed in full charge of the firm which has 180 policy holders.

The commissioner agreed to drop proceedings to cancel or suspend the firm's certificate of authority to do business in Texas.

The firm already was under McFarling's supervision and its assets were frozen.

William Osborne, board chairman of the firm, acknowledged that a $50,000 check was drawn on the company's account in September and paid into Unified Control Systems, Inc. Both firms are owned by USC Holding Corp., Cotten said.

The Holding Company Act—passed in the wake of the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock scandal—forbids major transactions between an insurance company and other firms in the same holding company system without the insurance commissioner's approval.

"We did not try to hide anything. We did not know we were breaking the law," Osborne said at a hearing before Paul D. Connor, the insurance commissioner's deputy.

Osborne is board chairman of Unified Control Systems and an executive of UCS Holding.

Cotten is expected to enter an order next week directing Unified Control Systems to repay the $50,000, although this already has been promised.

Osborne said $5,000 had been repaid already, and "we feel it will take the month of November to pay back" the rest. He said the money was used "for paying bills" of Unified Control Systems.

Osborne said an individual, whom he declined to name, had expressed an interest in buying the insurance company.

E. Fred Chaffant, who was fired Thursday as the insurance firm's president, reported the $50,000 drain on American Family Life's assets, McFarling said.

6 Clinics Are Slated For Breeders

Livestock producers in Scurry County who are interested in actual in-depth field training in artificial insemination and pregnancy determination are encouraged to register now for one of the seven clinics being sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the American Breeders Service.

The clinics are scheduled as follows: San Angelo, Nov. 9-12; Athens, Nov. 15-18; Sealy, Nov. 15-18; Mercedes, Dec. 13-16; Waco, Mar. 13-16, 1972; Tyler, Apr. 17-20, 1972; and Brenham, June 12-15, 1972.

According to County Agricultural Agent Billy Roach, the clinics offer detailed information on management of the breeding herd covering nutrition, disease prevention, selection and records in addition to training in artificial insemination and pregnancy determination. Participants receive a comprehensive manual on AI and numerous Extension publications and papers on breeding and herd management.

A certificate of certification is awarded to each student at the completion of the four-day clinic, adds Roach.

Registration fee for the AI course is $125 while the training in pregnancy determination is an additional $100. Registration is limited to about 30 at each of the seven clinics. For advance registration contact John Quinn, Rt. 2, Box 250, La Grange 78945 (713-249-3033) or Jimmie Travis, P. O. Box 232, Weatherford 76086 (817-594-7020). Additional information is also available at the county agent's office.

Extension Service personnel conducting the clinics will be Dr. John R. Beverly, animal reproduction specialist, College Station; Dr. Jerry J. Cowley, area livestock specialist, Weslaco; and Dr. Randall D. Grooms, area livestock specialist, Overton.

Tax Cuts Approved Tentatively

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has tentatively approved $9.7 billion in tax cuts for individuals over the next three years, but members say they probably will try to increase the figure.

The panel accepted Friday the tax breaks for individuals included in the House-passed $13.5 billion tax reduction bill virtually without change, but Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said the committee probably won't finish its work until next week.

The major cuts given tentative approval would increase the personal exemption this year from $650 to $675, raise that to $750 in 1972 and grant a 15 per cent standard deduction next year instead of the 14 per cent under present law.

The minimum standard deduction, designed primarily to benefit low-income families, would be increased from $1,000 to $1,300 next year.

Virginia offensive line coach Turnley Todd coached Navy linebackers three years ago.

Air Force senior fullback Kevin Brennan of Chicago is a nephew of former Notre Dame halfback Johnny Lattner, 1953 Heisman Trophy winner.

MR. AND MRS. DREWELL DEAN CLARK
(Photo by Craft)

Couple Wed At Ira

Quida McCallister and Drewell Dean Clark were united in marriage Oct. 23 at 4 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barbeeof Ira. Rev. Jessie Dea, minister of Union United Methodist Church, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McCallister of Jacksboro, Texas. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clark of Ira.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a brocaded floor length sheath gown. The gown featured an empire waist outlined with satin cord, a molded bodice, appliqued with seed pearls and long fitted sleeves tapered to a point over the hands. The elbow length veil of imported silk illusion was held with a queen's crown of pearls enhanced with teardrops.

The bride carried a bouquet of feathered mums and carnations with royal blue streamers.

Mrs. Joe Blevins, sister of the bride of Snyder, was maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length royal blue velvet gown.

Kelton Clark served as his brother's best man.

A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barbee following the ceremony.

The serving table was centered with a gold memory candle with royal blue velvet streamers. The two tiered wedding cake, served by Mrs. Bob Barbee, was decorated with tiny white roses and topped with silver and white wedding bells. Mrs. Kelton Clark registered wedding guests.

The couple willl make tneir home in the Ira Community.

The bride is a graduate of Jacksboro and the bridegroom is a 1968 graduate of Ira and attended Sul Ross at Alpine. He is presently engaged in farming and ranching.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McCallister and Rex of Jacksboro and Jim Hall of San Angelo.

Modular Home Project Opens

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The first factory-built modular homes for United States military families—25 townhouse units—have been opened for occupancy at George Air Force Base, Calif. By the end of the year an additional 175 units will be available.

The completed project will occupy 37 acres.

A second modular family housing project is being planned at Norton AFB, Calif., at a cost of $5.5 million.

Tires Don't Mix

NEW YORK (AP) — If your car is less than three years old chances are you may need fiber glass-belted snow tires for safe winter driving.

A report from the National Highway Safety Bureau cautions tire buyers against installing snow tires that are constructed differently from the tires already on the car. The report states that mixing types of tires on the same car could seriously affect the car's handling characteristics.

During the past three years, nearly 20 million new cars have been equipped with fiber glass-belted tires.

EASY CHICKEN TETRAZZINI

½ pound spaghetti
1 envelope (1½ ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
1 cup chicken broth
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk or light cream
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 to 3 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) sliced mushrooms
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti; drain and arrange on bottom and around sides of buttered 2-quart casserole. Meanwhile combine contents of envelope of sauce mix, broth, milk and butter; heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Lower heat and simmer 5 minutes. Add chicken and mushrooms (including liquid) to sauce. Pour chicken mixture over spaghetti; sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until lightly browned and bubbling hot—about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Toll Roads Help

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A legislative study of Kentucky's toll roads indicates the decision to build the network of turnpikes in the past decade may have been "one of the wisest decisions ever made."

It cited statistics showing that economic benefits to formerly isolated areas are greater than those accruing to cities along interstate highways.

Junior Troop 327 Mrs. Bill Hunter and Mrs. Dale Shiard) October has been a busy month for us. We went to Camp Boothe Oaks for an overnight the first weekend. [illegible] Camp Suits and Patrol leader cords were given to the girls after a talent show and sing-song around the campfire. We thank all the mothers, Mrs. Holder, Mrs. Rottler, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Head, Mrs. Sewell, and Mrs. Perry, who helped with the transportation and other duties. The overnight was great fun!

On October 12th we hiked to Towle Park from the Scout House, played some games, had refreshments brought by Brenda Clifton, and hiked back to the Scout House.

Our third meeting this month was spent in learning and playing some new games. In our business session it was decided we would give $5.00 to the United Fund. Hostess for this meeting was Andra Crenshaw.

The meeting this week was used for badge work. As a requirement in badges they are working on, Sherry Neves had three of her paintings on display. Kim Cummings shared her rock collection and Grace Ann Holder showed us her coin collection. The Goolie Green Goblins had a sketch to show five ways to help a person who has been hurt in an accident. Kim Cummings served refreshments.

Troop 327 will not meet next Tuesday, Nov. 2nd.

Pregancy Weight Gain

COLLEGE STATION — For decades, pregnant women in America have traditionally followed doctor's orders to keep down their weight gain.

But now there is increasing nutritional and medical evidence that such weight limitations may not only be unhealthy for the baby, but may even contribute to America's relatively high rate of infant deaths, reports Sally Springer, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

America now ranks 15th in world infant mortality rates, she continues. Nations such as Finland, Hungary and Holland have better records.

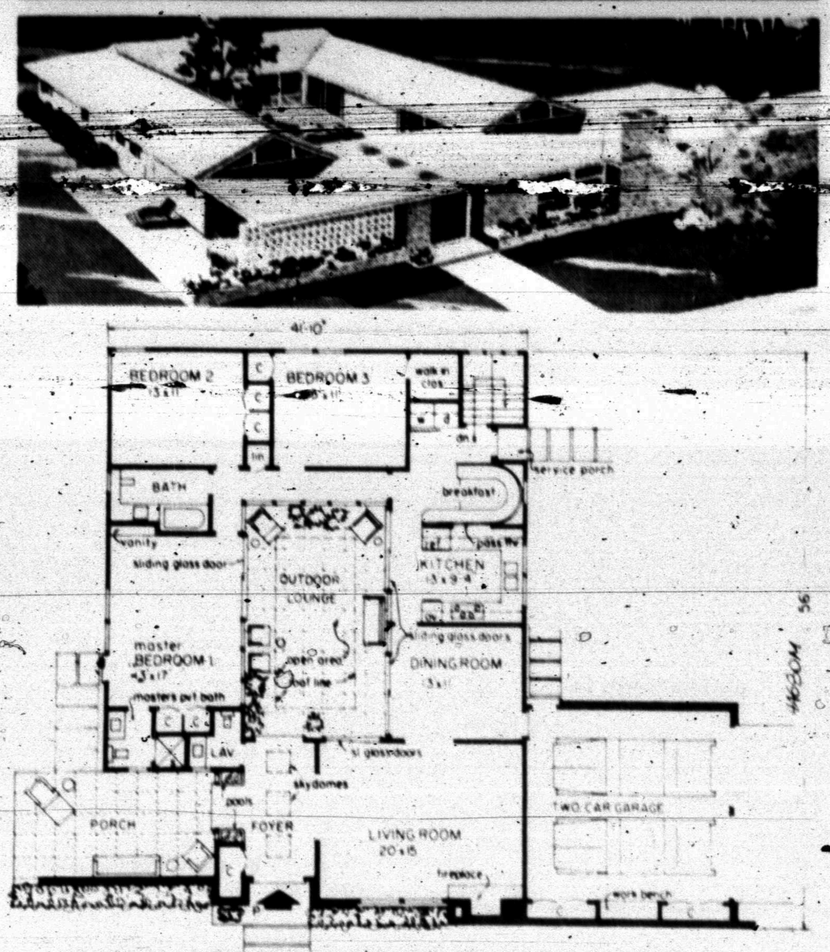

According to the specialist, a major nutritional study of Guatemalan mothers by the Institute of Nutrition for Central America and Panama has provided the first solid evidence a mother's diet during pregnancy is directly related to her baby's eventual birth weight. During the study, mothers were given just one cup of high protein supplement a day throughout pregnancy. This procedure cut the infant mortality record almost in half. Babies also weighed nearly a pound more at birth than babies from a similar control group.

The test showed, for the first time, the birthweight of babies can be influenced markedly by a high protein diet, Miss Springer notes. And it also suggests infant mortality rates, both in America and in developing countries, might be cut by improved maternal nutrition.

Miss Springer reports the U. S. National Academy of Sciences' National Research Council recently advised American doctors to drop the traditional weight limits for pregnant women and to allow a maternal weight gain of approximately 24 pounds.

According to the Council, she explains, limiting weight gain of normal women to 10-14 pounds is not justified because of possible adverse effects on birth weight and neurological developments.

Abortions Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly half of American men and women over 16 favor permitting abortions when parents have all the children they want, a federally sponsored Opinion Research Corp. survey says.

The survey released Thursday reported 49 per cent of those questioned are now in favor, 42 per cent opposed and 9 per cent have no opinion. Three years ago, 80 per cent opposed the proposal.

About 1,700 persons were polled.

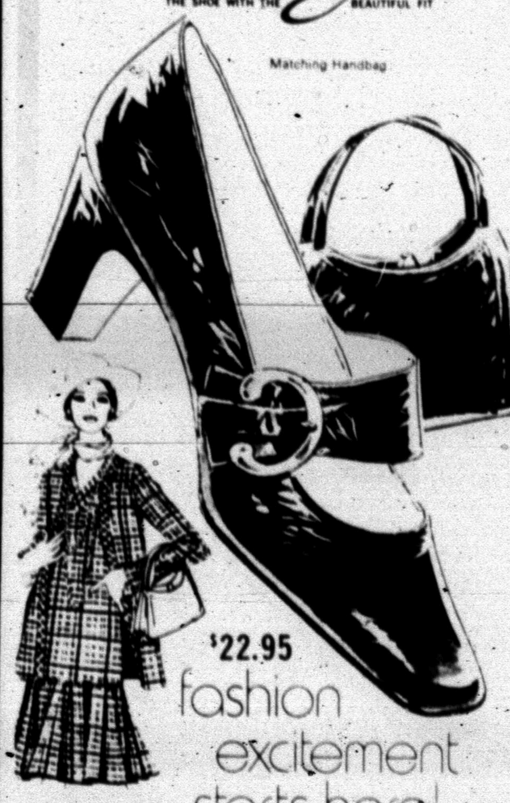

The Navajo Reservation has nearly 16 million acres of range lands extending through Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.

WHY CHIROPRACTIC?
We have been asked by many of our patients to write some sort of articles concerning chiropractic. Chiropractic is a science that is little understood by most people and misunderstood by many. It shall be the purpose of these articles to inform you about chiropractic and what it may be able to do for you. Chiropractic treats a wide range of disorders. The reason many different kinds of disorders respond to chiropractic treatment is because the nervous system controls and coordinates all bodily functions. Disturbances in spinal balance and nervous equilibrium will have important effects. Your chiropractor works directly and indirectly with both the spinal column and nervous system to restore normal function. Chiropractic is a drugless, natural science.

Marketing Tips For The Week

COLLEGE STATION — Trying to stretch your food dollars yet serve appetizing, nutritious family meals?

Here are some ideas and marketing suggestions from Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Watch food ads for good buys on chuck roasts. At retail store counters, look for best values on ground beef, boneless stew meat, liver, round steaks and various boneless roasts.

Fresh pork is frequently specialed this week. Pork values include Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, fresh picnic roasts, loin roasts, smoked hams and picnics.

At the poultry counter, fryer chickens remain an excellent bargain, with markets featuring specials on whole birds and parts. Eggs, also an excellent protein value, are plentiful. Grade A large eggs offer the most economy and quality for your egg money.

Apples are the big news in the fresh fruit market. October is the month when supplies are largest, the fruit is top quality and prices are moderate. Best buys are all-purpose Jonathans and smaller size Red Delicious. Texas juice oranges are also on the market in limited quantities, but harvest is progressing. Tokay grapes have attractive prices, while the white seedless grapes are a bit higher. Other economical fruit choices include bananas, avocados and pears. Although melon season is almost over, good quality honeydew melons are still available.

Best vegetable selections include carrots, cabbage, salad size tomatoes, yellow onions, potatoes, cooking greens and sweet potatoes.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

The rule in watering is "be thorough." This holds true in preparation for winter as it does for spring and summer.

Pre-winter care can save garden items from winter kill.

Prepare plants for cold weather by saturating them. Enhanced by late fall root feeding, this will be an investment toward spring.

Consider your evergreens and all plantings that keep their needles and foliage all winter. These especially should have their roots thoroughly watered. They continue to give off moisture through their leaves and needles.

Mrs. Ross Ethel Daniels of West Des Moines, Iowa, a specialist in root feeding, reminds that the source of water at the root level is blocked by the cold and the tree or shrub may dry out. Rhododendrons and other broadleaved evergreen species also are severely affected. Winter sun and wind often cause leaves to brown.

When the soil is cold and the roots are inactive, water is lost faster than the roots can replace it. Pay attention especially to young trees and shrubs under overhanging eaves or where rain doesn't reach readily.

For plantings neglected in summer, says Mrs. Daniels this fall root feeding is a revival-survival program. You've got to act before the ground freezes.

You can't depend on late autumn rain to supply the large amount of water deep-rooted plants need. In clay loam, for instance, it will take 2½ inches, or 15 gallons of water to penetrate 12 inches, and 30 gallons to penetrate 24 inches.

In cold weather, don't encourage tender new growth in the fall. New growth needs hardening to survive sudden drops in temperature.

Research, says Mrs. Daniels, has established that roots continue to grow in winter when the sub-soil temperature is above 45 degrees; and roots will absorb fertilizer given them in the fall. Limb and trunk growth in spring is largely derived from food stored in the roots in fall and winter. Food applied after the leaves have fallen will show up the next spring and summer.

Our shurbs and trees got a fine boost this season from feedings and water administered with a root feeder that attaches to the garden hose. The long hollow spike is inserted at intervals along the drip line—the line below the longest and lowest branches.

Suttle, Kubena Wed At St. Elizabeth Catholic Church

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was the setting for the nuptial mass Oct. 23 at 4 p.m. uniting Marsha Marguerite Suttle and Donald Gene Kubena. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Suttle of Snyder and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kubena of Hermleigh.

Father Arnold Boeding, pastor of the church, officiated in the double ring ceremony as the couple knelt on a white satin prayer bench. Two tapered candelabras and baskets of white flowers completed the setting.

Miss Venna Beth Genuchi, organist, accompanied Miss Susan Ferrell as she sang "Ave Maria."

Miss Christy Lynn Suttle, sister of the bride was maid of honor. Mrs. Randy Williams and Miss Jo Ellen Kubena, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of blue dacron crepe with full sleeves and blue crushed velvet boleros. Juliet caps of blue crushed velvet tied with a velvet bow on the side completed their attire. They each carried a single blue carnation.

Miss Fonda Rochelle White, cousin of the bride of Vernon was flower girl. Her dress was designed like that of the attendants.

Robbie Barnhill of Abilene and Curt White of Vernon, cousins of the bride were candle lighters. Mide Wimmer, cousin of the groom and David Zajicek were altar boys.

Bill Kubena of Dallas served as his brother's best man. Randy Kubena of Hermleigh, brother of the groom and Jim Rannefeld of Bryan were groomsmen.

Tony Suttle, brother of the bride, of Odessa and Terry Kubena, brother of the groom of Hermleigh were ushers.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of bridal satin with a lace bodice, full bishop sleeves and appliqued lace bordering her skirt and front of the gown. Her floor length veil of imported illusion fell from a ruffled Juliet cap. Her gown was designed and fashioned by her mother. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of split carnations.

A reception was held in the cafetorium following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white organdy cloth and centered with a memory candle surrounded by white carnations. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells. Appointments of silver complimented the table.

The groom's table was laid with a blue linen cloth and centered with a basket of fruit. Chocolate cake and coffee were served.

Assisting in the house party were Mmes. Leland Hobbs, R. P. Mitchell, Troy Greenlee and Misses Shalan White, cousin of the bride of Vernon, Vicki Ruth Johnson, cousin of the bride of Corpus Christi, Gail Turner, Judy Terrell and Suzan Greenlee of Snyder.

When the couple return from the wedding trip to Ruidoso, they will be at home in the Hermleigh community where the groom is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were from Odessa, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, Abilene, Sweetwater, Roscoe, Irving, Lubbock, Dallas, Bryan, Vernon and Hermleigh.

Parents of the groom hosted the rehearsal supper in their home.

Horse Jumps In Swimming Pool

PALATINE, Ill. (AP) — "John!" called out Agnes Armstrong to her husband who was shaving in the bathroomm

"John, there's a horse in the swimming pool!"

Armstrong put down the razor and walked to the window.

There was a horse in the swimming pool.

The Armstrong's daughter, Barbara, 17, came to look.

Yes, there certainly was a horse in the swimming pool.

David Niles of the Cook County sheriff's department was the next person to confirm that the bay gelding had jumped through a nylon cover and was standing in three feet of water at the shallow end of the pool.

Niles and the Armstrong family rigged a ramp of flagstone and led the shivering but placid horse out of the water.

Armstrong's 30-acre estate is in a rural area and he assumed the horse belonged to a neighbor.

He began telephoning:

"Hello, this is John Armstrong ... I've got this horse in my swimming pool and I was wondering...."

The owner of the horse was not immediately located.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

This is the time of the year to check the outside of your house for defects that require attention.

Making the repairs now will prevent more serious damage when winter makes its onslaught. Even-in areas where the climate is mild the entire year, autumn is a good time to fix whatever is wrong, since you will be less inclined to do so when spring fever sets in.

The most important of the fall inspections is that of the outside walls of the house. Few things can cause as much damage to the inside of a home as openings on the outside. Caulking the trouble spots when they are small will prevent leaks that ruin inside walls, ceilings, floors, rugs and furniture. Using an inexpensive caulking gun into which cartridges are fitted makes the task one that anyone can handle.

Look for cracks and other breaks in sidewalks, patios, walkways and driveways. Here again, the job is made easier by the use of ready-mixed concrete to which only water need be added, although when major repairs must be made, it is cheaper to do the mixing yourself.

If there is any brickwork on your property, inspect it to see whether any of the mortar between the bricks had started to crumble or otherwise deteroriate. This applies to brick walls and barbecues as well as the house itself.

Replace any cracked or broken window panes, regular or the storm type. If you haven't mastered the knack of cutting glass, you can get it cut to size at many hardware stores, lumber yards or building supply dealers. Be sure to use gloves when removing the old glass.

Among the other things to check are gutters and downspouts, outdoor furniture, cracked or loose roof and siding shingles, stuck doors and weatherstripping.

The inspection of gutters and downspouts is particularly vital. If any of the hangers have come loose, the pitch will be off and result in overflowing water during storms. If the gutters and downspouts are clogged with leaves and other debris, the same thing will happen. It is unfortunate that many persons who are conscientious about repairing most things about the house will neglect overflowing gutters. Yet it is one of the most common causes of flooded basements.

In making your inspection on the outside, take along a pencil and pad with you, marking down each defect that you see. It may be a bit discouraging when you finish the checkup and discover that you have a long list of things that have to be fixed. But it may save you hundreds of dollars in more serious repairs later on.

(Caulking, squeaky floors and repairing brickwork are among the 35 subjects in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Whitecap Sole with Pears
Potatoes Green Peas
Salad Bowl Bread Tray
Chocolate Mousse Beverage

WHITECAP SOLE WITH PEARS

Fancy up that fish!
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons minced dill pickle
2 tablespoons minced sweet pickle
½ teaspoon onion powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon celery seed
1 egg, separated
1 tablespoon milk
4 small or 2 large sole fillets (about 1 pound)
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
Butter
1 fresh Bartlett pear
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Combine first 6 ingredients. Beat egg yolk with milk. Roll fillets in egg-yolk mixture, then in crumbs. Pan-fry on both sides in butter until golden brown. Place on heat-proof platter. Pare, halve and core pear; thinly slice. Beat egg white until stiff but not dry; fold in ¼ cup of the mayonnaise mixture and the Parmesan. Spread fish with remaining mayonnaise mixture and top with pears. Cover with egg-white mixture. Bake in a preheated 425 degree oven until lightly tinged with brown—5 to 7 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Quotable Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"We won't stop war until women unite and their virtues of sensitivity and love are imposed on the public scene."—Dianne Feinstein, candidate for mayor of San Francisco.

"When I started medical school, it was a disgrace for a woman to be a nurse. She had to see and do things around patients that a woman wasn't supposed to see or do. My family encouraged me to go to medical school. But it was hard. The boys in class would have been happy to throw me out."—Dr. Lena F. Schreier, a Utah "country doctor" for 60 years.

"I'm in a whirlwind of undisciplined behavior, so I'm trying very hard to keep her on a very definite schedule. I don't want the vibes of hysteria around her."—Singer Lainie Kazan, in an interview, speaking of her 4-month-old daughter.

"It's honest work. It is much less of a hassle than working in a bank or an office. It's something I can do, there are no problems with dress and it's certainly no more mindless than being a file clerk or something."—Carol Roberts, a former doctoral candidate in linguistics at Harvard, working as a cleaning lady.

"The widespread use of birth control devices had a lot to do with launching the women's liberation movement now. There's an equality in relationships that didn't exist before .... Now a woman is both master of body and destiny. She has a certain sense of self."—Rita Hauser, U.S. representative to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, in a talk at Cedar Crest College.

"Dropouts" Find Way Back Not Always Easy

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

Hippies was the word once used to describe them.

They were the dropouts—long hair, beads and bells, rejection of the straight world. They left their schools, jobs and homes to find a new life through drugs, communal living, a return to nature.

Paul tried college for a year, then dropped out to travel, eventually ending up in San Francisco where he started taking drugs to increase his spiritual consciousness.

Lilly, child of divorced parents, failed in her bid for a master's degree and dropped out in search of adventure and a family.

Martha was turned on by Timothy Leary, the LSD prophet and quit the straight world with her husband, Roger, to live on a commune and find an answer to the question of who she was.

Now, years later, these four have returned to society. Other flower children have joined them. For some, the drugs had palled, the dreams of a new revolution of love had crashed. Even the communes, they found, had their share of hypocrites and liars.

But for others, it was not a return of despair. They had found answers by their experimentation, and in traveling full circle, they found they could be more accepting of the very world they once rejected.

According to Berkeley sociologist Benjamin Zablocki, about 350,000 people are now living in the alternate society. At least a million-and-a-half, he figures, move in and out of the straight world. About one-half eventually return to society.

It's not always easy to come back.

"Each subculture has its myth to justify it as the best way of life, and when these kids learn it's not for them, they feel lost," says Zablocki, who has been studying communes for six years.

"There are those who tried to solve a lot of problems that way, by merely dropping out, and they couldn't," says Dr. Peter Weiss, a clinical psychologist in Madison, Wis. "But then there are those who come out of it with some understanding of the importance of community, compassion and sharing with others."

Interviews with several of these self-described returnees to the straight world reveal that while they didn't solve all their problems, they are all thankful for the experience and agree it was a necessary part of their growing up.

All have jobs now, some have cut their hair, and almost all have renounced drugs.

"Drugs woke us up to the spiritual and invisible side of life, and for that I'm grateful. But drugs eventually can make you crazy and blind to the outside world," says Paul Hawken, 25, who dropped out in 1965.

He now lives in Boston and is president of a macrobiotic food company, Erewhon, which he says is worth well over a half a million dollars. In a button-down shirt, corduroy slacks, he looks nothing like his former hippie self.

"I cut my hair because I saw that it created a shield between me and other people. I asked myself what was important, what's inside or outside? I want to be able to talk to everybody, soldiers, bankers."

"There's not enough wonder about nature," Paul said as he ran his fingers through a mound of sunflower seeds. "Drugs, wars, it's all a death trip. I believe in creation and life."

Steven Katona still has hair well below his shoulders, but he likes it that way. He dropped out in 1967 when he visited a commune in Colorado. "It seemed like such a great life. No one was working. It really blew my mind."

He founded the Manera Nueve commune in New Mexico whose sole purpose, he admits, was experimentation with drugs.

Now the owner of a bar in Placitas, he says he works too hard to find time for drugs. He has money in the bank, a car, and lives with Sky and a little daughter, Happy. He dropped back in because he wanted to provide for his family and because he saw that meaningful work had a lot to do with happiness.

"Everything turned sour. There I was supporting the commune, and those jerks were just sitting around. I guess I did lose faith in my brothers," says Steve. "I used to think that the best in people would surface if no requirement was made on them, but that wasn't true."

"But I'm not bitter," says Steve. "I'm glad I did everything I did because I learned so much about myself."

The quest for personal discovery is often a hard road to travel. Lilly—that was the name they gave her on the commune—was afraid. Her master's thesis in archeology had been rejected. She was lonely and confused.

"Dropping out was the first real decision I made in my life, and at the same time I was frightened, ecstatic and joyous," she recalled.

She joined a commune called The Family near Taos, N.M. It was experimenting with encounter techniques.

"We were creating a new society. We were to concentrate on the present experience and experience everything. Our leader told us that was the only way to be a healthy human being," said Lilly.

Everyone had to give up all their possessions, change their names, give up their identity, "let it all hang out." Fifty people lived in a 5½-room house. It was a group marriage with sexual experimentation. But no drugs were allowed.

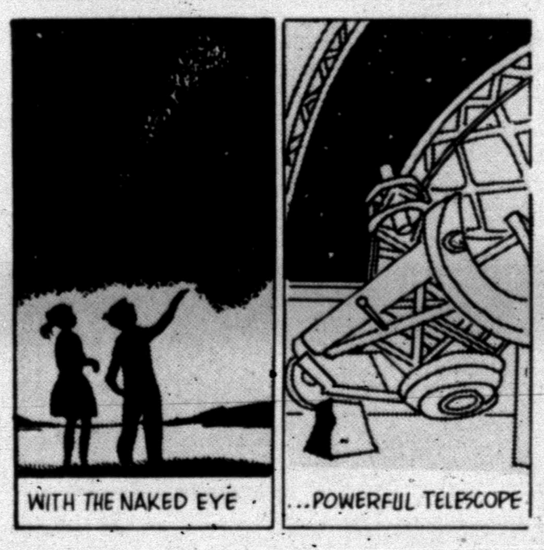

"Some people there were beautiful," Lilly recalled. "Sweet and vulnerable. But the leaders were unprincipled, I thought, and then for many reasons I became disillusioned."

The commune was $20,000 in debt. There was sickness and filth. In spite of the talk of love and honesty, Lilly saw the people as hustlers, con men.

"The people on the commune were told—we are the losers, the misfits. They had no alternatives in life, no place to go but The Family. At first I thought I was a loser, too, because my thesis had been rejected, my parents were divorced and I had very few friends. I thought the family could give me a home, growth, a realization of my self."

But then Lilly realized that she did have alternatives. "I had my inner resources. My mind, my education, my background were all important and I had been told to strip all these away."

A Junior Editors Quiz on HALLEY'S COMET

QUESTION: When was Halley's Comet discovered and how?

• • •

ANSWER: About three or four times in a century, a comet passes so close to the sun that its glowing tail can be seen. Most comets can be seen only through a telescope. A few may be seen with the naked eye if one knows the portion of the sky where they are likely to appear. A comet has a head and a tail. The head is called the "coma." The coma may be more than one million miles in diameter. In the coma a small shining light may be seen. This is called the nucleus of the comet. A comet is really a large cloud of glowing gases. Early in the formation of the solar system, astronomers think, comets were formed out of ice and dust which were floating in space. When a comet passes close to the sun, this mass of ice and dust is heated and turns into a gas. Radiation from the sun causes these gases to glow with light. The most famous of the comets which travel around the sun is Halley's Comet. It can be seen by the naked eye. Edmund Halley, a famous English astronomer who lived from 1656 to 1742, observed the comet in 1682 and through mathematical calculation, predicted it would appear every 75 to 77 years. It was last seen in 1910. It should appear again in 1985 or 1986.

Committee Discloses Holdings Of Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court nominee Lewis F. Powell Jr. is a millionaire and owns more than $300,000 worth of stock in a company that has a case pending before the high court, a Senate committee report says.

The holdings of Powell, a Richmond, Va., lawyer, and President Nixon's other nominee, Assistant U.S. Atty. Gen. William H. Rehnquist, were disclosed Friday by the Senate Judiciary Committee. Rehnquist's net assets were put at $77,050 in a statement submitted by the Justice Department.

The liberal Americans for Democratic Action, meanwhile, announced it will oppose Rehnquist's confirmation by the Senate because the former Phoenix lawyer "has shown neither the respect for minority aspirations nor the devotion to the Bill of Rights which should be the hallmark of a Supreme Court justice.

The ADA said it is continuing its investigation into Powell's record.

The largest single stock holding Powell listed was 8,462 shares of Sperry & Hutchinson currently worth $318,284. A major pending Supreme Court case pits the Federal Trade Commission against S&H in a dispute over the company's regulation of its trading stamps.

Powell presumably would have to disqualify himself from the case.

Altogether, Powell listed holdings in 30 corporations as of Sept. 30. He also listed $1,000 in bonds and debentures, a $10,000 partnership in Connoco Exploration Ltd. and unvalued interests in farm and timber land and a condominium apartment. He said a bank holds $150,000 for him in securities maturing within a year.

Powell said his wife owns shares in nine corporations and $20,000 in bonds, and his son has 10 corporate holdings, principally Sperry & Hutchinson stock.

Three irrevocable trusts also principally are common stocks with S&H the largest single item.

The Virginia lawyer listed 190 firms for which his law firm did principal work during the fiscal year ended March 31 and said he was a director of 11 companies, most of which he owns stock in.

Rehnquist's holdings include a net equity of $24,900 in his McLean, Va., home; a 60-acre farm near Cedaredge, Colo.; and about $13,000 worth of land in Arizona.

The Justice Department statement said his personal property was valued at $12,000.

Rehnquist's wife was listed as having acquired several securities from the estate of her father who died in 1962, most of them mutual fund shares.

Raids Staged In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A series of seven gambling raids between midnight Friday and 6 a.m. Saturday netted police 79 suspects charged with gaming.

Vice Division Director B. L. Burgess said the raids staged on cafes and bars were part of a stepped up program.

Most of those arrested were involved in crap games, Burgess said. All were charged with gaming and bail was set for each at $27.50.

Strongman Is Missing

DARWIN, (AP) — A strongman who bet he would eat an auto from bumper to bumper in four years is missing and there are no gnawed cars around.

It was in November, 1967, that Leon Sampson bet $23,000 with Darwin businessman John Katapodis. It is recorded on paper.

"I haven't seen him since we made the bet," said Katapodis as the four-year dealine drew near.

At the time of the bet Sampson was working the country show circuit doing a strong man act in which he munched razor blades and electric light bulbs.

FPC Puts New Ceiling On Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — New ceilings on natural gas rates are in effect today in the so-called "other Southwest" area.

The Federal Power Commission established the rates Friday in the first step toward setting rates for the entire [illegible].

The new rate ceiling bars increases before July 1, 1976.

The FPC said its new rates will inspire development of new gas resources in the area.

Old rates varied from a low of 11 cents to a high of 21.5 cents. The increases amount to three to five cents per thousand cubic feet, or from 14.4 cents to 26 cents per thousand cubic feet.

The "other Southwest" area includes all of Mississippi and Arkansas, parts of Northwest Alabama, North Louisiana, Northeast Texas, East and Southeast Oklahoma.

The FPC said its decision is "another major step taken by the commission to reverse the imbalance of gas supply which has been steadily worsening for years." The FPC said the natural gas supply situation in the "other Southwest" area is worse than for the nation as a whole. But, the FPC said, the area has undiscovered reserves of perhaps 15 to 18 trillion cubic feet.

The commission said the increases would provide incentives to producers to find gas and dedicate it to interstate commerce.

Rowers Now On Washington Island

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — British long-distance rowers John Fairfax, 33, and Sylvia Cook, 31, have sent word they are on Washington Island in the mid-Pacific and expect to resume their 8,000-mile pull to Australia.

The information was relayed to the Coast Guard by Ivan Sharpe, an associate of Fairfax and Miss Cook, who said he heard from Fairfax.

Sharpe said Thursday the pair, who left San Francisco on April 26 in the 35-foot rowboat Brittania II, arrived at the island Oct. 6 with radio trouble.

CHECKED — Susan Solomon, a 15-year-old junior at Chicago's Von Steuben High School, ponders her next move after being dropped from the school's chess team. The Chicago Board of Education ordered Susan dropped from the team, citing a rule which rules women ineligible from interscholastic competition. Susan is taking her case to court. (AP Wirephoto)

IPAA To Review Action Requests

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Independent oil operators contend their segment of the industry must be revitalized if the nation's petroleum reserves are to be restored to a healthy level.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America is to spend Monday and Tuesday reviewing the status of corrective action requests submitted to the Nixon administration and to Congress.

Independents once accounted for 85 per cent of the nation's oil and gas discoveries but their exploration and development expenditures have been slashed by more than 48 per cent since 1956.

Robert E. Mead of Dallas, Tex., president of the nation's largest trade group for independent operators, sent a Sept. 9 letter to President Nixon saying existing government policies and prevailing economic conditions are leading to an intolerable dependence on foreign oil.

In mid-October, Mead sent a position paper to Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., saying Congress should move now to correct policies that are leading to intolerable oil and gas shortages.

Jackson's Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee has initiated a two-year fuels and energy study. Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., ranking minority member of the committee, is to speak before the independents Tuesday.

The position paper called for legislation establishing a "peril point" for dependence on foreign oil and for legislation to relieve Natural gas producers from unrealistic price regulation by the federal power commission. It also called for enactment of a special incentive such as an investment tax credit to stimulate exploration and development. It also asked for laws designed to encourage maximum participation by the independent segment in exploration and development on public lands.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., a backer of several such incentive bills, also is to speak at the Tuesday session.

Mead's letter to Nixon said an analysis by the association concludes that the peril point for the nation's dependence on oil imports is reached when total imports exceed 20 per cent of total U.S. oil consumption and when imports from Eastern Hemisphere sources exceed 5 to 10 per cent of U.S. consumption.

"When the limits are exceeded, the analysis shows, any substantial loss in imports requires rationing that probably would not be long tolerated except under wartime conditions," Mead's letter said.

Another Tuesday speaker is to be Nixon's top advisor on oil imports, Gen. George A. Lincoln, who is chairman of an inter-agency oil policy committee that has primary responsibility for the government's mandatory oil import control program.

Technical committee sessions Sunday are to be followed Monday by deliberations by policy committees.

F. Allen Calvert of Tulsa, Okla., immediate past president of the association, heads a special offshore study committee searching for procedures that would permit more independents to participate in offshore explorations.

Construction Volume Dips

DALLAS (AP) — Construction volume dipped to $60,672,051 during October, according to the Texas Contractor, but the trade review regards the outlook as bright.

It ascribes the drop mainly to the absence of orders from the Texas Highway Department, but expects highway lettings for the remainder of the year to be record-breakers.

"The October (highway) awards were not included in the October total because the letting was held in the final week of the month," the Texas Contractor explains. "November is expected to be in the $40 million plus volume, and December is anticipated to be the largest month ever in the $70 million class."

Even with the low October figure, the 10-month total reached $1,347,479,597 and "there's every reason to believe that 1971 will wind up as the biggest year ever," the Contractor commented. This is less than $140 million off the alltime annual mark set in 1969.

Another important factor for making this a good year, says the Contractor, is the expected Nov. 23 award for one of the biggest concrete paving jobs in the world—some $50 million—for the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Top October Texas job was the $3,759,671 award to Robert L. Guyler of Lampasas for modernization of 854 apartments in the Austin Housing Authority program. Second honors went to Southwestern Construction Co. of Houston for its $3,005,000 job to build Phase IV of the Richmond State School.

It is essential, when working with a lathe, not to wear long-sleeved clothing or a tie.

TIPRO Sets Houston Meet

AUSTIN (AP) The national energy policy committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) will meet in Houston Nov. 10.

Heading the agenda will be plans for presenting wellhead price data to officials of the Office of Emergency Preparedness and the Oil Policy Committee in Washington.

The committee also will consider a TIPRO policy stand on such questions as the "renewed interest in a quota-allocation directed to domestic producers and explorers" and direct sale of quota tickets.

Special attention will be given the effort in Congress to incorporate the tax investment credit into a House-passed administration tax bill, giving a 7 per cent credit for oil and gas companies expenditures for domestic exploration and development.

The committee chairman is George P. Mitchell of Houston.

Program To Aid Mentally Ill

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The State Mental Health Department has started a pilot program for criminal offenders who are mentally ill.

It will operate programs at a diagnostic center near Louisville and open a unit at the state penitentiary near Eddyville for prisoners with psychiatric problems.

Athletes Excel In Academics

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The days of the athlete taking a back seat academically to classroom intellectuals are gone, says a Baylor University law professor.

"An increasing number of athletes are stepping to the forefront in both the world of sports and the world of the professional arts," Edwin M. Horner said.

Horner, who is chairman of Baylor's Athletic Council, cites the fact that 16 college gridiron graduates currently are enrolled in Baylor's School of Law.

The group includes Gilbert Beall of Seymour; Brian Blessing and Derek Davis of Dallas, Alvin Flynn of Tyler, John Kelly of Texas City, John Mosley of Elkhart, Pinkie Palmer of Olney, Barry Phillips of Abilene, Greg Pipes of Fort Worth, Russell Sarafin of Pasadena and Dennis Watson of Marshall, all former Baylor football players.

Other ex-football players attending Baylor Law School are Tom Deaton of Dallas and Buster Adami of Freer, Texas A&M University graduates; Wesley Evans of Mexia, Texas Christian University; Joe Baron of Borger, Rice; and John La Grone of Borger, Southern Methodist University.

Law School Dean Angus S. McSwain Jr. has only complimentary words for the athletes.

"My experience with these players has always been an excellent one, and I believe this has occurred to a certain degree because of the personality characteristics they usually carry over into becoming good law students," he said.

Horner, speaking as a teacher, expressed similar thoughts. "I gain much pleasure dealing with young people, such as these, who have goals in life and are steadfastly pursuing their education beyond their athletic careers," he said.

Parents often worry that some form of extra-curricular activity, such as football will interfere with their child's education, Horner said.

In my opinion, athletics strengthened these students, maturity," he said.

Employes Get Extra Day Off

SYDNEY (AP) — One of Australia's largest finance companies is giving 1,300 employes a holiday with pay every fourth Monday.

"There is no catch in it," said managing director William M. Edmends. "A greater part of our work is being done by computer and we can afford to give our employes more leisure time."

The company made $9.7 million profit last year.

Lion Is Recaptured

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — Police say they have captured a mountain lion discovered roaming on the beach in this shore community adjacent to Boston.

Patrolman Robert Hunter described the animal as fairly small but "with claws as big as my head." It was taken to the Stoneham Zoo.

Patrolman Richard Nazzaro was bitten on the right hand and leg before the animal was subdued. He was taken to a Boston hospital, but was not believed seriously injured.

Hunter said he, Nazzaro and Sgt. Anthony Loconte went to the beach in response to a telephoned tip, and, using a snare normally used with stray dogs, captured the animal.

Hunter said he had no idea where the mountain lion came from, and that there were no reports of missing lions.

Not Making Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew says she and the vice president aren't making firm plans for another four years in Washington.

To walk By FAITH

Often we have seen a blind person walking down a street. His whole life is based upon faith in what he cannot see. Of necessity, he seems to be truly following Paul 's admonition to walk by faith and not by sight (II Cor. 5:7).

But Paul wasn't talking about the physically blind at all. He was referring to the spiritually blind, to those who can only believe in what they actually see. Unfortunately such people don't realize that what they are seeing will not last forever. Only the unseen God will last. And the unseen God is the heart of Paul's statement.

Don't center your faith around temporary things which you can see; center it around the lasting God whom you cannot see, knowing as Paul knew, that one day you will see Him.

Don't be spiritually blindfolded by the sights of the world. Remove the blindfold. Develop true vision. Have faith in God.

FBI Job Fill In Available

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: What kind of jobs in the FBI or police department are available for a girl with a high school diploma? Also, I ran away from home once for about 8 hours, and the police have a record of it. Will that hurt me when I apply for a job? – T.S., Washington, D.C.

Mainly clerical positions unless you want to be a policewoman or meter maid. Get details directly from personnel office of your local police department – they'll be glad to answer your questions. For a fill-in on FBI jobs, you can write to Personnel Office, FBI, 9th St. and Pennsylvania Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20535.

Unless you robbed a bank or something during your 8-hour runaway, your single disappearing act won't adversely affect your chances for employment.

Dear Joyce: A neighbor has asked me to entertain at her son's Halloween party for pay. I'm a magician, 16 years old. I don't know how much to charge. – K.T., Austin, Tex.

When you become an accomplished entertainer, you could charge $5-10 plus travel expenses. Until then, charge only a few dollars, including your fee for the Halloween party. Speaking of chill-gotten gains, "Weird Sidney" Abrams, a party entrepreneur in Cleveland, spooks guests year-round with his "Rent-a-Witch" service. For $25-35/hour, his package includes one witch who reads palms, cards and horoscopes, and, if desired, a warlock – Weird Sidney himself.

Dear Joyce: I would appreciate your discussing becoming a basketball referee. – D.D., Fullerton, Calif.

There's no recommended formal study for basketball officials, according to the NBA (National Basketball Association) and the ABA (American Basketball Association), which hire the pro referees. The usual route is refereeing elementary and high school games . . . to college or industrial league games . . . to pro basketball. The main thing is to gain experience "blowing the whistle."

Professional basketball officials earn between $12,500-40,000, plus good fringe benefits. Travel expenses are paid – you can live where you please.

After you've gained adequate experience and want to referee pro ball, you apply to the 2 leagues: ABA (1700 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10019) and NBA (2 Pennsylvania Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10001). Prime recruitment age is 28-35. The leagues mail you application forms which you return with a schedule for the following year of games which you'll officiate.

Advance talent scouts look you over in action, and if you're promising, a league will invite you to its rookie camp where you show your stuff. Each league picks the best from its rookie camp to appoint or consider further. Not many are chosen; during the last screening process, ABA found 4 new referees; NBA found 6.

More details are available in "Officiating Basketball" by John Nucatola, supervisor of officials of NBA. In paperback, the book costs $2.25 postpaid from Republic Book Co., Box 25, Station 68, Flushing, N.Y. 11368.

You're not the only one who wants to blow the whistle. The NBA has not received any requests for consideration from women yet, but last week received a letter from an 11-year-old boy who wrote, "I'm ready. Send me the application forms." NBA sent him the forms.

Anthropologist Visits WTC Class

The anthropology class of Western Texas College was visited the past week by Miss Mackie Allgood of Oklahoma City. She is an assistant to Dr. Clyde Snow, a physical anthropologist who works with the Federal Aviation Authority in Oklahoma city.

Their major concern is the protection and survival of the human body in modern day transportation, especially air traffic. They make other related studies as to the physical capabilities of pilots and air traffic controllers, which involves careful physical measurement related to visibility, distance of reach and number of buttons one may be responsible for.

They have just finished recommending the desired measurements for airline stewardess.

Miss Allgood brought with her the skull of a cat (common house), a spider monkey, a squirrel monkey, a dog, a man and a baboon. The differences and similarities were explained. She said that her office is called upon quite often to identify bones. Should they turn out to be human bones, they attempt to classify the individual as to age, sex and race. Also, they may be asked to reconstruct the face so that others may assist in the final identification.

She said that one duty they never enjoy is the assorting of the remains of people killed and often burned in air crashes so that the proper names may be assigned to the bodies.

Miss Allgood told of a problem encountered during one burned crash investigation. The mystery was solved when the vertebrae were classified as those of a bear and it was learned that a biologist had been on board and the bones were in his luggage.

Miss Allgood is a personal friend of Miss Frances Clegg, WTC biology instructor. She holds a bachelor of arts degree with a major in biology from North Texas State University, and a master of science degree with a major in micro biology from the University of Oklahoma at Norman. Her immediate supervisor, Dr. Snow, is a former archaeological "dig" mate of J. Merrill Kayser, WTC anthropology instructor.

Jersig To Seek Probe Of Agency

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Parks and Wildlife Commissioner Harry Jersig says he will call for the resignation of commission Executive Director James Cross and will seek a probe of the agency.

Jersig's remarks followed a disclosure that the agency has sent a special invitation to legislators to hunt in wildlife management areas.

The San Antonian said he will recommend that both Cross and George Cook, liaison man between the department and the legislature, resign.

In Austin, Parks and Wildlife Chairman Pearce Johnson said the commission had never approved the invitation, which was sent to legislators, the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker under Cross' signature.

"I believe it was just a mistake, something that will have to be corrected," Johnson said.

Jersig said he previously had approached Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes about launching a probe of the department. He said Barnes told him the state government already was involved in too many investigations.

"We're just not accomplishing the things that we need to and there are not enough knowledgeable people in this department," Jersig said.

The invitation offers hunts in areas where the general public must participate in a drawing to get permits. The letter with the invitation said its purpose was to allow the officials to "better understand the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department."

The idea reportedly originated with Cook, whom the San Antonio Express quoted as saying: "The attorney general says it is legal." Cook said Friday he never claimed the attorney general called it legal.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Friday, "We never to my knowledge had any request on that at all.

Ruling Set Monday On Test Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge is expected to rule Monday on a move by environmentalists to halt a giant underground nuclear blast set to go off next week on Amchitka Island.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart indicated at a brief hearing Friday he would rule on the appeal for an injunction at 10 a.m. EDT Monday after spending the weekend studying secret government documents dealing with the planned test.

The Atomic Energy Commission, meanwhile, made final preparations for the explosion by stopping up a 6,080-foot hole housing the five-megaton warhead, making it impractical to retrieve the device.

Environmentalists hope the documents, turned over to Hart by order of a three-judge appeals court, will prove the blast could set off earthquakes and tidal waves, kill wildlife and leak radioactivity.

The AEC, which has President Nixon's personal authorization to make the test, denies there is a potential for danger.

Citizen protests have mounted in Alaska and Canada in efforts to halt the blast on the remote Pacific island.
