Lefty's Lariat Ropes Saddle

A southpaw roper whose career is with Texas Department of Public Safety's License Division is the new Mitchell County roping champ.

Wayne Smith, 23, won the annual event in Western Riding Club competition Saturday night with the best time for four calves.

His roping earned him a hand-tooled saddle, a traditional award prized by ropers for decades.

He is the first left handed roper ever to win the event and his championship came exactly one year after his return from Vietnam warfare.

Smith, son of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Forrest Smith, figured he would be rusty after a three-year layoff from competition. But he had times of 15.8, 16.2, 17.4 and 22.5 seconds to win over his nearest competition, Bobby Grisham.

The 1969 champ resides with his wife in Odessa.

Sale Effective Sunday

Fuller Buys Village

Fuller Foods has purchased Colorado City's Village Food Store, East Second at Hickory, and will operate the super market under the Fuller name.

The sale becomes effective Sunday, Oct. 12, after the close of business Saturday.

Raymond Fuller, owner-operator of Fuller Foods, and Byron Baker, representative for Village Markets Inc. of Sweetwater, announced the deal Wednesday.

Fuller, who has been in the grocery business here since 1947, will close the present Fuller Foods location across from City Hall after Saturday.

Included in the transaction is the sale to Fuller, of all stock and fixtures in the Village location. The building and parking area will be leased by the new owner.

"This is a major expansion for Fuller Foods," Fuller said, "and is the result of our confidence in the prosperity and progress of the combined Colorado City-Mitchell County community."

"This new Fuller Foods location at East Second and Hickory will provide our customers with even more convenience and accessability."

"In addition, our increased building area will afford our customers even more variety and choice in shopping."

"And our pledge is that Fuller Foods will be even more a principal force in the business and shopping environment of Colorado City with the finest foods and super market merchandise at lowest possible cost."

Baker, who heads the Village operations in this area of West Texas, said Village is confident the super market would continue under Fuller's ownership and management as a key factor in community shopping.

"The new owner has the experience, capability and the initiative necessary for a successful super market operation with hometown ownership."

Fuller said the store would continue its usual hours of operation, including Sunday opening.

"We will continue to offer the same major nationally advertised brands and will continue as member of Affiliated Foods, an organization composed of 450 independently owned stores with headquarters in Amarillo.

Fuller Saturday night will close his store's present location at West Third and Oak which he and his mother, Mrs. Mae Fuller, opened in 1950 after three years at another downtown location.

He purchased his mother's interest in 1967.

The groceryman is past president of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and is currently president of Colorado Country Club. He is a past director of Texas State Retail Grocers Association and is now a director of Affiliated Foods.

During World War II Fuller served as a tank company commander in Europe after graduation from Texas A&M.

Banquet Principals

Texas Electric Service Company President Burl B. Hulsey Jr., right, chats with Colorado City's G. W. Massengale, right, member of the honored group of TESCO Quarter Century Club employees, and Rev. Robert Bracy, center, TESCO employee who spoke the invocation at the banquet in Civic House Monday night.

Dedication Marks Pioneers' Reunion

Dedication of a marker commemorating the first Sunday sermon ever preached in Colorado City will add the finishing touch here Saturday to Mitchell County Old Timers Reunion.

Mitchell County pioneers, their descendants and other long - time residents will actually begin their annual get-together Friday morning at 8:30 a.m. in Civic House.

But the final event will be the dedication of the county's 23rd official Texas Historical Marker at 2 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church.

It was more than 88 years ago when the Rev. O. F. Rogers, a Presbyterian minister and school teacher from Mississippi, preached that historic sermon.

The day was the second Sunday of January, 1881, and the church scene was in a saloon, the only large place available in the frontier boom town.

From that sermon, preached while the saloon bar was covered with wagon sheets, came the organization of Colorado City's first church in a dug-out floored with corn sacks and equipped with boxes for seats.

Registration, 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., will open the old-timers reunion Saturday. Refreshments will follow from 9 until 9:45.

Master of ceremonies for the morning program will be City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr.

Among morning highlights will be the modeling of a Pilgrimage dress by Mrs. Sam Geisenberger, a talk by J. Goss II and presentation of special awards to reunioners by Chamber of Commerce Manager Sefton Pickens.

A memorial service, led by Rev. Elra Phillips, a native of Westbrook and now minister of North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church, in Big Spring will conclude the morning program.

At the afternoon dedication at 2 o'clock, Mrs. Roxie Witten will register visitors at Fist will register visitors at First Presbyterian.

Dr. Douglas McMurry of Midland will be master of ceremonies and Rev. Jack Parse will deliver the invocation. Guests will be recognized by Mrs. A. L. Geer and Dr. John Elliott of Fort Worth will relate the history of the community's first church.

Cutting of marker ribbon, reading of the inscription and dedication will be by Mrs. H. D. Womack, J. O. Jarman and Mrs. Roland Burchard, who will come from Sacramento, Calif.

Host Fish, Sell Wraps

Thirty-six Colorado High freshman football players and their parents were honored Tuesday night by Colorado City Quarterback Club.

Introducing the team were Coaches Caddo Matthews and Stanley Moore. Varsity Assistant Coach Doug Chitsey spoke briefly to the young players on their future in athletics.

The special recognition of the freshmen opened the regular weekly meeting of the club in Colorado High Cafeteria.

In a business session the Quarterbacks voted to sell "Snug-Bugs." stadium wraps for feet and legs. Chairman of the project is Baker Hallford.

QB members will sell the wraps personally. However, "Snug-Bugs" also will be available at Jeff Taylor Enco Station and Eddie's Pharmacy.

Booster of the week is Moose Montgomery and Dad of the Week, for the Colorado High-Levelland game Friday night, will be Leon Light.

Head Coach Truman Nix left the hospital temporarily for the Quarterback Club meeting and spoke briefly, praising the splendid play of the Wolves in their 20-14 victory last week over Snyder.

Next Tuesday night the QB's will honor the Wolf Varsity and Junior Varsity. Plans are being formulated for ex-Colorado High football players to speak to the teams concerning the opening of District 3-AAA championship play.

Grid Guessing Goes Feminine

Top winner in the Record's Football Guessing Contest for last weekend's games is Mrs. Orvel Griffith, 903 Rusk.

She won the $10 first prize with only five misses in the list of 33 games.

Second prize of $8 goes to Bill Morris, 841 East 12th St., who was wrong on six guesses.

Randy Kemp of Roscoe, who is the $5 third prize winner, also missed six games but did not come as close to the score in the key game as did Morris.

This week's official entry for the Football Guessing Contest is on Page 8 of this edition of the Record.

Exec Says Firm's Power Is People

Texas Electric Service Company President Burl B. Hulsey Jr. told TESCO employes from three counties here Monday night they are the real power for the company.

Three hundred fifty employes and their guests heard the praise in Civic House at the company's annual Quarter Century Club banquet for the Colorado City - Sweetwater - Snyder division of TESCO.

"People power is the real power" behind the company, giving TESCO its vitality, direction and purpose in addition to shaping its distinctive quality and character, Hulsey said.

"It is you. . .the people," the executive spoke, "who made the difference between just an ordinary company and a really good one--a company that has earned the respect and confidence of its customers."

"In this era of sophsicated machines that seeminly do our work for us, and computers that seemingly do our thinking for us, there is a tendency to lose sight of the importance of the people."

"But machines and equipment are only as good as the people who control and operate them," Hulsey emphasized.

The TESCO president was introduced by B. L. Brown, division manager of Sweetwater, who was master of ceremonies.

Sharing the banquet's head table with Hulsey and Brown were Charles C. Thompson, Colorado City member of the company's board of directors, and Mrs. Thompson; Miss Vivian Brashear of Sweetwater, Mrs. Hulsey and Mrs. Brown.

Miss Brashear, who completed 25 years of service with the company during the last year, was cited by the president and presented a Quarter Century Club award watch.

Rev. Robert Bracy, local minister and TESCO employe, spoke the invocation.

Entertainment was by the Slumtown Symfunny of Lamesa, a musical organization composed of business men, teachers and housewives.

Already members of the Quarter Century Club and honored guests at the banquet were these TESCO employes and their wives; Mr. and Mrs.

New Loan Plans

Cotton Marketing Change

Full understanding of the new features of the Form A Cotton Loan Program is needed by cotton producers, their marketing agents, and others participating in loan transactions, Eddie R. Braswell of the Mitchell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service emphasized Wednesday.

New features of the program are designed to reduce cotton marketing costs, speed up redemption of loan cotton, permit cotton to move more freely into trade channels, and reduce government costs, he reported.

"Leaflets explaining the program will soon be mailed to Mitchell County cotton producers and will be available to others in the industry," he said.

"It is more important that the program details be fully understood. The folks in the County ASCS Office will be happy to answer any questions about them," Braswell said.

Form A is used for cotton price-support loans by the Commodity Credit Corporation to individual producers. For approved cotton cooperative marketing associations, a Form G is used and a different administrative procedure is followed. Loan rates are the same for both Forms A and G programs, Braswell said.

A new feature in the Form A Cotton Loan Program permits a producer's agent to pool loan cotton with other producers' cotton for marketing purposes and to distribute marketing proceeds on a pro rata basis.

Another provides that after a producer has put his cotton under price-support loan he can contract to sell the loan equity at a set price with the buyer redeeming the cotton at a later date. A producer may not first sell or agree to sell his cotton and then place it under loan.

A third new provision sets a 30-day period in which cotton may be redeemed by authorized persons after the cotton producer signs a release.

The ASC Office manager said that as in prior years, a producer may go to the county ASCS office to fill out loan papers, or he may go to approved loan clerks at such places as banks, cotton gins and warehouses, and cotton trade offices. All Form A cotton loans will be disbursed by county ASCS offices by issuing a draft which may be cashed the same as a check.

"I have only been outlining the general procedure and the new features," said Braswell. "That's why I urge all interested persons to obtain the leaflet explaining the Form A Cotton Loan Program and if more information is needed to inquire at the county ASCS office."

Open For Fair Visitors

Here is the Texas Department of Agriculture's Agri-Tour mobile unit which will be a feature, Friday and Saturday at Loraine's Mitchell County Fair. The exhibit highlights Texas food and fiber products.

Friday, Saturday At Loraine

Agri-Tour For Fair

Texas Department of Agriculture is sending its popular Agri-Tour mobile unit to Loraine's Mitchell County Fair Friday and Saturday.

The 56-foot long traveling slide show will be one of the major attractions of the fair--only one in Mitchell County this year.

There's a big list of eye-catchers for the 1969 fair including agriculture exhibits, an antique show, livestock and horse show, flower show, art show, concessions, commercial and club displays, foods judging, parade and home demonstration club cake sale.

It all will be in the Loraine Agriculture Building, a block south of Loraine State Bank.

Fair officials are requesting fair entries to be delivered to the exhibit hall Thursday. Contest entries deadline will be Friday at 10 a.m. except for the flower show with an 11 a.m. deadline Friday.

Traditional parade will be Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

With the absence of usual Mitchell County Fair in Colorado City this fall, cancelled until 1970, Loraine leaders are expecting a full-county flavor for their event with entries from all across the county.

Indicative of the county-wide enthusiasm, is the cake sale by eight home demonstration clubs -- Buford, Looney, Fairview, North Loraine, Plainview, Carr, Spade and Baumann. Women from these clubs will sell slices of cake and iced tea or whole cakes during the entire fair.

The Agri-Tour mobile unit from Texas Department of Agriculture will be making its first visit to the Loraine fair.

Deadline Near For Punt, Pass & Kick

Time is running out for Colorado City area boys to register in the Punt, Pass and Kick Competition.

This competition, now in its ninth year, is open to boys 8 through 13 and is absolutely free.

They will be competing for 18 handsome all-metal trophies to be awarded during the local competitions which are sponsored by Hutchins Ford Sales and Colorado City Jaycees.

Contestants will be competing against boys in their own age group in three football skills--punting, passing and kicking. Gold trophies will be awarded to the first place winners of each age group, silver to the second place winners, and bronze to the third place winners.

There is no body contact and participating does not affect a boy's amateur standing.

Registration closes Thursday at 5:00 p.m., so all boys 8 through 13 are urged to go with their mom, dad or legal guardian to registration headquarters at Hutchins Ford Sales, East Highway 80.

Everything is free and each boy gets a copy of the PP&K Tips Book which contains stories and tips by Don Meredith and Mike Clark of the Dallas Cowboys and Billy Lothridge of the Atlanta Falcons, and an introduction by Don Shula, the coach of the Baltimore Colts.

The local competition is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. at Wolves Stadium Saturday. Local first place winners then go on to Zone and then, possibly, District, Area, Division and National contests where they compete for more trophies.

Also, all District winners go with their parents to Area competitions held in NFL team stadiums. The 12 National finalists compete during half-time in the annual NFL Play-Off Game in the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida. They and their parents also take an exclusive tour of Cape Kennedy, the history-making site of the Apollo moon shorts, and the Air Space Museum.

Punt, Pass & Kick is a nationwide program that is sponsored nationally by Ford Dealers and the National Football League.

Visit In Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Pete White visited Friday in Lubbock with their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rayburn White.

Pastoral Course At Big Spring

An introductory clinical pastoral education course will be offered at Big Spring State Hospital in Big Spring Oct. 9 through Dec. 4.

Lee Butler, chaplain of the hospital, said the course will include unit assignments in learning better how to relate and work with emotionally disturbed people.

"The pastor will be introduced to various kinds of treatment in mental illness including milieu therapy, aomatotherapy and psychotherapy," Chaplain Butler announced.

One major emphasis of the course will be group therapy in which the minister will become acquainted with his own identity and theological role.

Interested persons should contact Chaplain Butler, Box 231, Big Spring.

Rev. Billy Wilkinson, president of Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance, Wednesday encouraged all county ministers to take advantage of the training opportunity.

CONVERSATION CORNER

OPEN LETTERS

DEAR Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis—

That was the most unflattering photograph of your posterior with a news photographer sprawled at your feet, the other night when that photo—still covered the TV screens of this country.

According to news reports you are staging a private war against news reporters and photographers. Only your private war became very public last week when, in another incident, you had your strong men (body guards) smash a camera for another news picture-taker in Central Park.

As one of your greatest admirers, past tense, I felt sorry for you. Sorry because when you knocked the photographer down with your handbag in front the theater where you went to see a thing called "I Am Curious, Yellow," you got your picture taken from a very unglamorous angle by other indignant photographers, trying to make a living in New York City, USA.

In an instant of anger you became a caricature, a burlesque of a former First Lady.

Now you don't know me, Mrs. Onassis. But as a country newspaper woman who once wept for and with you for days, it amazed me to find myself laughing out loud at the picture of your back in a mini-skirt, stretched tightly six inches above your knees.

As one of the richest women in the world—if not THE richest—you probably couldn't care less.

But if you are truly sincere in wanting an immediate relief from publicity and photographs, here are a few suggestions. Suggestions are absolutely free and offered with your best interest at heart.

This is a "great, big, beautiful, wonderful world." As wife of a billionaire you have access to most of it by land and sea and air. Privacy is available to you if privacy is what you really want. It simply is not available to you in New York City—nor is it likely to be in this era.

Unlike most people, you can afford to make mistakes. But you made a doozy, this time. Every news reporter and photographer in the country is indignant. And that's not to your advantage, present or future.

Let's face it. You look better wearing that half-shy smile than you do from the behind, with no face but with a working man of the press down on his knees. . .in the least possible attitude of worship a knocked-down man can assume.

You may as well accept the fact. From now on you and your menage will be the number one target. You asked for it. Greta Garbo, movie great, has managed through the years, somehow, to live her life in privacy. But then Miss Garbo must have meant it when she said "I want to be alone."

If you want so much to be LET alone, there are ways. Ever thought of a long blond wig? Or having theater casts put on a private performance for you in mid-ocean?

Your right to personal privacy? Privacy in public, that is? No woman who was the wife, then the widow of a President, and next the wife of Greek shipping magnate is going to find privacy on the sidewalks of New York, Mrs. Onassis. There are not enough paid body guards in the nation to assure it for you.

So? So, smile. You're always on candid camera. It sounds tough. Tough all over.

Just one woman in America could get bigger laughs than you did when you decided to get tough, yourself. Her name is Phyllis Diller. And she gets paid for being ridiculous on camera. Good luck!

* * *

DEAR Art Linkletter—

You don't know me, either, but I know you. First started watching your afternoon Houseparty TV show while recovering from a serious accident.

You are a man of great personal courage. You are a decent man and from this distance seem a loving father and husband.

Fate has handed you a cruel blow in the senseless death of your youngest daughter, Diane. Cruel and hard to understand.

It took an innate honesty for you to make that statement to the press saying "Diane was murdered by LSD and by the people who make and sell it."

You have made me laugh one million times—especially in your book "Kids Say the Darnest Things." Your open love for children has always been you most charming facet. And I thank you.

That you should lose your own youngest daughter to the current and crazy youth rebellion is ironic, is too, too tragic. It should prove to every parent in the United States that it can happen here—to any family, rich or poor.

There are no words of sympathy strong enough to tell you and your family how so many of us feel. But as parent and grandparent I want to say "I'm sorry."

Sunday night you made me cry. May the certainty of God's eternal love somehow comfort you and yours.

* * *

DEAR Omar Burleson—

What Congress needs to do for citizens who receive Social Security checks is not so much to vote an increase of 10 percent in their monthly stipends, but rather to vote for a lifting of that ceiling on the amount they can earn.

Under the present law a man or a woman can make only $1680 a year and after that, half of every extra dollar earned goes to the Government.

Where, Congressman, is the incentive to keep working? Even the most energetic citizen comes to feel that after $1680 above Social Security checks, he's slaving away for half-pay!

Please help to lift that meager earnings ceiling. And please tell George Mahon, Congressman for this district until this state was re-districted, he's getting a carbon copy of this letter. Ditto Senator Ralph Yarborough.

* * *

DEAR Candy-makers, one and all—

The other day I had a yen for a famous chocolate bar with almonds. Dessert after a cheese burger it was meant to be.

I laughed when the cashier handed it to me. It is now less than the size of one homemade piece of fudge, at the price of one nickel.

Next day, decided to squander a hard-earned nickel on a package of butter-rum Life-Savers. Know what? Nickel Life-Savers are now seven cents.

What this country needs is a good five cent candy bar. One you can SEE!

* * *

DEAR Coach Truman Nix—

Hear tell you've been in the hospital.

If that Wolf victory over the Tigers didn't cheer you up, Coach, we're all worried about you.

Did you know there was an epidemic of hoarse voices and scratchy throats all over C-City Saturday?

Tuned in a little bit late for the Sunday morning First Baptist sermon over KVMC and got plumb worried about that Baptist preacher named Glen Roenfeldt. His voice sounded different.

Aha, thinks this listener, he saw that game, too! Turned out it was Brother Glen's brother Cecil, also a Baptist preacher, preaching the guest sermon.

Saw the two Roenfeldt brothers in front of the Baptist parsonage doing a little football kicking on their own, Monday, though.

* * *

DEAR Lone Star Gas Co.—

We're gonna holler our heads off again.

And it won't be at the football game this time. It's gonna be all winter long—if and when you boost the gas rates.

* * *

DEAR Wolves—

We love you.

* * *

DEAR BOYS, all of you now in Vietnam—

We love you. We pray to see you again just as fast as Washington D. C. can work it out.

On that one point there is no generation gap here in America.

* * *

DEAR Mitchell County Old-Timers—

See you Saturday?

Saturday is your day in Civic House starting with registration at 8:30 a.m.

You do not have to put on your old gray bonnet to come. For that matter, you do not even have to be a real Old-Timer to join the fun.

See you Saturday? Y'all come!

* * *

DEAR Column Readers—

Reason there isn't a Seen Latelys part to this column is simple.

Haven't seen anybody lately—unless you care to count the Dallas Cowboys via TV and this football family.

How was it the poet Robert Frost said it? What with the rain making Monday a stay-home day, have been too busy to go see-and-tell. Frost called it "Busy with being."

Male voices, tenors and basses particularly, are needed said Baker, who heads the vocal music department of Colorado High School.

Mmes. Brown, Tiller Direct Self Culture Club Program

Mrs. John Brown was leader for a program concerning home life Friday afternoon when Self Culture Club members met in the home of Mrs. C. P. Gary.

Mrs. Brown presented her views about "How Far Should Government Programs Go On Planned Parenthood."

Mrs. Brown compared present population explosion with the early 1900's when it was said that "young women were attending college and studying not only arts and letters, but such practical subjects as bookkeeping, stenography, medicine, nursing and that they would want to work rather than marry, bear children and spend all their time taking care of husbands and children at home."

The change, Mrs. Brown explained, has been brought about by many factors - years added to life expectancy, fewer women die in childbirth, fewer infants die before one year of age, many serious diseases almost wiped out.

"Even cancer can often be removed by surgery."

"Only causes of death which we are not conquering are war and accidents on our highways," the group heard.

"Admitting that too many people is becoming a serious problem," she continued, "the question is what to do about it. The most sensible answer is family planning."

"The Children's Bureau has been allowed some funds to be used in teaching safe methods of birth control," Mrs. Brown reported. "Family planning services are included in state maternal welfare programs."

Mrs. E. L. Tiller discussed "How We Can Prevent Home Accidents."

Mrs. Tiller reported that more than 20 million persons are injured and approximately 28,000 killed annually in American homes in accidents in which appliances and products are involved.

"Accidental poisonings, electric shock, burns, cuts, bruises and broken bones are some of the results of these accidents," she explained.

The speaker told of establishment of National Commission on Products Safety by Congress in 1957 and about the committee's work in protecting consumer against injuries from hazardous household products.

Mrs. Tiller emphasized the importance of purchasing products mindful of reputation of merchant and manufacturer and established standards such as Underwriters' Seal of Approval, Blue Seal of American Gas Association and Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers.

"Of course there are many things we might think of to promote safety in the home," members were told. "We can look for labeling, which has become more simplified and direct concerning the use and instructions that insure safety in it's use and during storage."

"Proper design of products, more adequate information concerning their use and knowledge and acceptance of personal responsibility on the part of users can be combined to save many lives and eliminate many injuries occuring in our homes."

"The General Federation of Women's Clubs contribute significantly to this effort,' Mrs. Tiller concluded.

During a business session of the club, nine members registered reservations for District GFWC board meeting set Oct. 18 in Albany.

Ten lap robes were turned in for patients at Root Valley Fair Lodge.

HERITAGE

Maybe the years have a way of adding up and impressing you more with heritage. Maybe not.

But I'm always especially appreciative of our pioneer forebearers who cleared the way for this great community that was to become West Texas.

Somehow that's why I think we have these Old-Timers Reunions like that coming up Saturday. We want to remember. . .to acknowledge a debt to those who walked ahead.

And, isn't it worth particular note, that a sermon and a church came with the first of them, too.

As It Looks From Here

By Omar Burleson

Perhaps there is no such thing as a fair distribution of the Federal tax burden. In fact, there are some who feel that there is no such thing as a "just" tax at any level.

During the course of the recent hearings on tax reform, a definite conclusion can be reached that those representing the Treasury Department took at the total revenue losses and gains first, and equity second. Referring to the income tax burden for single persons, a knowledgeable Committee member admitted that the single person is really in a bind but added that the loss of tax revenue probably rules out relief. At the same time, the purpose of tax reform means the establishment of equity.

What is fair and equitable is subject to opinion.

There are approximately 19 million single taxpayers--young people working their way through college, elderly widows trying to make ends meet on meager incomes, school teachers, nurses, telephone operators, secretaries, stenographers, factory workers and thousands of retired people across the Country who now pay an average of about 40 percent more than married couples in the middle income brackets filing joint returns.

Under present law, married couples pay lower taxes than others because the Law enables them to split their income and take advantage of the lower rate. Widows, widowers, and certain other single persons with dependents are taxed at head-of-household rates midway between those for single and married persons.

The reform bill would extend head-of-household treatment to all widows, widowers, and those single persons over 35. Widows and widowers with dependent children would be permitted to pay the married rate as if their spouses were still living.

Actually, there is no law that says single people must pay higher income taxes just because they are not married. Congress has never passed, nor does it contemplate passing such a provision because of the Constitutionality question.

If people have to pay higher income taxes because they are single then it would follow they should pay higher property taxes for the same reason.

The present tax treatment of single people came about more than 20 years ago under the community property law. It orginally applied for Federal income tax purposes, only to those States having community property laws. At that time only 36 of the 48 States had such a law. Subsequently the law was changed to permit the community property treatment for the other 12 States.

Since the enactment of the Federal income tax in 1913, arguments have persisted as to the moral rightness or wrongness of the graduated income tax system. The "ability to pay" has been legally sustained throughout the years but the contention exists that the penalty is placed on those who are able to pay by reason of industry, ability, and possibly, luck. A percentage of taxable income appears to be the only way to apply an income tax. The "blood out of the turnip" still holds, but nothing can erase the moral issue.

There are, however, glaring discrepancies in tax treatment and that of the single person is one of them. Perfection, of course, can never be reached in any tax treatment but there can be the application of reason and logic to work toward the old paraphrased adage of "it is not as good as it ought to be, not as good as we would want it to be, but thank goodness it might be better than it used to be."

Winning

McKnight Makes Change

McKnight State Tuberculosis Hospital, eldest Texas TB hospital, has been redesignated as San Angelo Center, a residential center for retarded persons.

As of Sept. 1, the center is a home for ambulatory persons, aged 35 or older and have an IQ of 25-55.

Local announcement of the change was made by Mrs. A. J. Hooks, chairman of board for Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Only eight tuberculosis patients are presently hospitalized at the Center, a September issue of TB-RD newspaper, "Here and There" reported.

It is expected that the San Angelo Center will have about 250 residents this year and the number will grow until there are about 1,000.

The center is one of nine which is under the direction of Texas Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation.

"There is a current waiting list of 1,400 for admission to the residential center operated by the department," Mrs. Hooks quoted the paper.

Facing Levelland

Wolves Lose Guard Boyd

Colorado High Wolves, already with a coach on the hospital list, lost a junior lineman Tuesday as they prepared for another weekend of accomplishing what 3-AAA football experts said they couldn't do.

They travel to Levelland Friday night for a non-zone 3-AAA clash with Levelland. And their opportunity for victory No. 4 wasn't enhanced a bit when Junior Lineman Tommy Boyd broke a hand in practice Tuesday.

He will be out for season and the Wolves, with a roster heavy with non-lettermen, need all the experience they can muster in that front four defense.

The Wolves, fresh from a startling 20-14 success over favored Snyder, worked out Monday and Tuesday with Head Coach Truman Nix in the hospital trying to recuperate from a serious ulcer attack. He was given a brief leave of absence from the hospital bed Wednesday to join the mid-week workout, but was visibly ailing.

The Wolves, who have been more accustomed to the underdog's life in pre-game measurements, will find themselves in the favorites role in Levelland despite the hospital list.

Levelland has lost three times this season, while winning only once. Last weekend they fell to Dunbar of Lubbock, 48 to 0.

Just the opposite, the Wolves have only a lone defeat to Sweetwater marring their win sheet.

Football weekend will begin actually for Colorado City Thursday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock with Colorado High Freshmen playing Stamford Freshmen here in Wolf Stadium.

At 7 p.m. Thursday, Colorado Junior High 8th Grade tangles with Stamford 8th Grade on the same C-City field.

Kicking off at the same 7 p.m. time Thursday in Stamford will be Colorado Junior Varsity and Stamford Junior Varsity.

Final for the week comes Saturday morning at 9 o'clock with Seventh Grade Black Shirts vs. White Shirts in an intra-squad game at Wolf Stadium.
