SIMMONS QUITS KLAN AND FORMS ANOTHER ORDER

Everything He Has Striven For Goes As Naught, Ex-Leader Says

KNIGHTS KAMELIA NOW

All Klansmen Invited To Join Him In New Organization

Associated Press Dispatch

ATLANTA Ga., June 5.—Establishment of the order of Knights of Kamelia, as "the primary order of Knighthood," with a government now controlling and directing the affairs of the first or the probationary order of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," was proclaimed tonight by William Joseph Simmos, "in the exercise of the authority vested in me only as emperor of the Knights of Ku Klux Klan, Inc."

"Everything that I have striven to build during the years gone by is in peril of being subverted to personal, political and sordid ends," Emperor Simmos said in a statement. "To save the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan from spoliation and destruction, I have determined to establish Knights of Kamelia and thereby give the klansmen of the invisible empire at least the opportunity to transfer to this primary order of knighthood and establish themselves upon the foundation as laid in the beginning."

The establishment of the "primary order Knights Kamelia" means, the statement declared, "that the members now on probation in the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan are under the administration of the emperial wizard and the imperial kloncilium, while the order knights kamelia will be under my control and direction, with such men as I may designate as members of my cabinet. The order knights kamelia will, therefore, be absolutely free to inaugurate its policies, to establish its principles and to release its ideals under my supervision and direction and free from interference from any source of hostility within or without the invisible empire.

No Progress Made

"I am impelled to promulgate the knights kamelia because of the restiveness that obtains among probationary klansmen through the country. There has been no way opened to advancement, no progress has been made, no construction work has been done. Klansmen identified with the organization from its foundation have been held in a state of probation for years. They have not been endoctrinated with the principles of the philosophies of the order. They are unfamiliar with the purposes of the great order. They have been given no definite objects to be attained. Meanwhile there has been a continuous demand for another and higher, that the worthy American citizens might pass from the probationary

EDUCATION BILL CARRYING 11 MILLION PASSED

NO REDUCTIONS

Judiciary Bill Cut Nearly $50,000 And Then Approved

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, June 5.—The general educational appropriation bill was passed finally by the senate late today, 14 to 6 with three pairs. The bill carries the same appropriations as passed at the last session, amounting to approximately $11,800,000. The house judiciary appropriation bill, with slight increases, also was passed finally, 25 to 0.

Long Debate.

The educational bill was debated throughout the morning session and finally engrossed. Suspension of rules was voted late today. Efforts to itemize the bill and to cut the appropriations five and ten per cent were defeated, and the measure passed in lump sum as vetoed by Governor Neff. Amendments to strike out allowances for the extension division of the A. & M. college were voted down.

Rules Suspended.

The judiciary bill was reported by the finance committee and passed on suspension of rules. Only minor additions were made to the measure which now goes back to the house for concurrence in senate amendments. The bill is a reduction of nearly $50,000 over that passed last session.

Then senate debated at length the Cowen gasoline tax bill which was reported favorably by the state affairs committee with amendments this morning. The bill was set as special order tomorrow afternoon.

EMERGENCY SCHOOL AID BILL CARRIES

AUSTIN, June 5.—The Greer rural school aid bill and the Henderson emergency school aid bill were passed finally late today in the house under suspension of the rules.

The rural aid bill was engrossed by a vote of 96 to 6. The appropriation is the same as that passed by the last session and vetoed by Governor Neff on grounds of insufficient funds.

School Bill Debated.

Several attempts to change the tax requirement provided in the bill before a rural school can obtain aid were made. As passed, each district obtaining aid must vote a minimum of 75 cents on each $100 valuation. An amendment by Representative Pope of Nueces, which would have eliminated the tax requirement entirely, was lost 13 to 86.

The emergency school bill was debated but a short time. As reported by committee, the appropriation was fixed at $4,000,000. An amendment by Patman to increase the amount to $6,000,000 was adopted 81 to 21. This is the same amount contained in the bill vetoed by Governor Neff. It is conceded by house members, however, that the appropriation will be cut in conference committee.

Income Bill Engrossed.

The Price income tax bill, which was reported unfavorably by the revenue committee this afternoon was ordered printed on minority report by vote of 64 to 7. The minority report was signed by Price, Cable, Maxwell, Mathes, Looney, Simpson, and Edwards.

SHRINERS DROP FROM WILTING SUMMER HEAT

Many Retire From Parade As Mercury Hits High Mark

HARDING IN STAND

Largest Parade In History Winds Through Streets Of Washington

International News Dispatch

WASHINGTON, June 5. — The burning desert sands of ancient Arabia were no hotter than the sizzling asphalt of historic Pennsylvania avenue today as upward of 100,000 nobles of the Mystic Shrine joined in the greatest parade ever staged by the order.

Scores of Shriners, burdened with their heavy, colored plush regalia had to retire from the line of march during the trek down the famous old avenue from the capitol to the White House, where President Harding sat in the reviewing stand, returning the salutes of the marchers.

Heat Intense

The heat was so intense that even the spectators, who lined the avenue by the thousands, were uncomfortable and many of them voluntarily forsook long cherished seats in order to escape to cooler surroundings. Heat waves shimmered and danced down the avenue ahead of the marchers, while the music of 110 bands and 60 drum corps reverberated from the capitol to the executive mansion.

Longest In History

The parade was one of the longest of history. Starting at 9:30 a. m. only half of it had passed the reviewing stand at 12:30 p. m., and the avenue presented a spectacle of endless marching men, resplenent in their brilliantly colored uniforms of green, red, blue, yellow and gold trappings.

Up to noon, the police had given first aid treatment to two score of the marchers, who had been forced to fall out. Of these, according to the police, only one was in serious condition, George Barnard of Acca Temple, Richmond, Va.

No Texans

Others who received first aid treatment were: F. R. McKelvey, Syria Temple, Cincinnati; Paul Mannis, Kismset Temple, Brooklyn; Simeon Bookman, Kismet Temple, Brooklyn; Andrew W. DRY SLEUTHS CAN'T SEARCH

Milwaukee Demands That They First Produce Warrants

Associated Press Dispatch

MADISON, Wis., June 5.—The supreme court today held that prohibition enforcement officers may not lawfully search the person of anyone suspected of violating the liquor laws without first obtaining a search warrant.

Chief Justice Vinje, writing the opinion, said that since it is not unlawful either as a misdemeanor nor as a felony to have a bottle in one's possession, the search cannot be justified on the ground that the person searched, was committing an unlawful act and hence could be lawfully searched.

"It is also said that if searches such as this cannot be made, the prohibition law cannot be enforced. This may be true in part or it may be true in whole. There is an article of the constitution having its origin in the spirit if not in the letter of the magna charta, preventing it, and that it is the duty of the court to sustain and enforce the constitution in its entirety and not to permit what may seem to be presently a desirable mode of procedure to annul such fundamental portions of our organized law as the freedom from unlawful searches.

"The importance of such a provision may be lost sight of in times of peace in a well organized and well administered state in times of stress or dissensions, its value is as great as those who inserted it in the constitution conceived it to be."

GEN. LEE GIVEN 2 YEARS AND 2 OTHERS DRAW 10

Aged Man Duped And Used As Tool Also Must Pay $6,000 Fine

GOVERNMENT WINNER

Schwartz and Sherrin Both Face Long Terms And $15,000 Fine

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, June 5.—The government won its first victory in its drive against alleged fraudulent oil promoters tonight when Charles Sherwin and H. K. Schwarz were sentenced to serve ten years in the federal penitentiary and pay fines of $15,000 each, and "General" Robert A. Lee was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $6,000.

The sentences were imposed on the defendants by Judge Benjamin Bledsoe after the jury returned a verdict of guilty against all three defendants shortly after 8 o'clock tonight.

Maximum Sentence.

Sherwin and Schwarz were given the maximum sentence on the first five counts of the indictment of five years and a $1,000 fine, but Judge Bledsoe specified that only the first two should run consecutively and that the other three should run concurrently with the first two. He also gave them the maximum sentence of two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine on the sixth count of the indictment, but specified that the prison term should run concurrently with the first two. It was later explained by government attorneys that the defendants would only have to serve 10 years and pay $15,000 fines.

Lee Merely "a Tool."

In the cast of "General" Lee, Judge Bledsoe pronounced a sentence of two years and $1,000 fine on each of the six counts, but specified that the prison terms should run concurrently, making two years that the defendant Lee will have to serve in the penitentiary, however, the defendant will have to pay the total fine of $6,000, according to Judge Bledsoe's ruling.

They were charged with using the mails to defraud and conspiring to defraud in connection with the General Lee Oil companies.

In pronouncing sentence of the defendant Lee, Judge Bledsoe announced that he gave him a lighter sentence than Sherwin and Schwarz because "it was evident he was a tool and in the hands of men of more astuteness." He added, however, that Lee was a "willing tool."

He announced he would not acquiese to the suggestion made by David Cahill, assistant attorney general, in closing the argument for the government late today that the defendant Lee only be admonished and "allowed to go hence." Judge Bledsoe explained that he could not see this way, that though the defendant Lee was evidently a dupe and an aged man, he could not let him go without punishment.

To Sherwin and Schwarz, Judge Bledsoe gave the limit allowed under the laws governing the counts of the indictment, which he read before he passed sentence.

The case was given to the jury at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon and court was recessed until 8 o'clock, when the jury was brought in the foreman announced that they had reached a decision. It was read by the clerk and Judge Bledsoe dismissed the jury, thanking them both "officially and personally."

Then he had the defendants, Sherwin, Schwarz and Lee stand.

"The ocnse with which you are charged and which has been proven is very aggravated and scorus not only the laws of decency and morality but of the government," he said.

"You have not only violated the law, but you have desecrated the honored dead. You have used the name of General Robert E. Lee—in my judgment his name is a byword of chivalry and manliness—to nmulct the people of this country.

"I am convinced that Sherwin and Schwarz were the brains of the unuertaking and that they used this old gentleman as a willing tool."

its Return Will Hinge On Introduction Of New Traffic Laws

The fire whistle is coming back, Chief McClure having announced that he would give it another try just as soon as the new traffic laws of the police department became effective.

The whistle was cut out about a week ago after traffic congestion around fires became too great to allow the firemen to work efficiently, but with more stringent regulations governing motorists in the vicinity of fires, Chief McClure hopes to be able to put his men in action with no delay.

He declares, however, that a vigorous prosecution will be made of anyone who in any way interferes with the fire department while it is in action.

Three little boys had the time of their young lives during the filming of the Cosmopolitan picture, "Little Old New York," in which Marion Davies is starred, when they were lined up 10 feet in front of Duchaillu Delton, who was held in the old-fashioned stocks that were used to punish offenders in New York a century ago, each with a generous stack of rotten tomatoes, and told to "Go to it!"

WONDER DOG AT WORK IN CANADA—

Strongheart, the wonder dog, who is really a star, has been up in northern Canada making exteriors for his new pictures, "The Phantom Pack," and Jack London's "White Fang."

Lillian Rich, his leading lady in "The Phantom Pack," wears a smile these days that grease paint won't cover. The reason: After four months in Canada on location, where her only garb the whole time was pants, sweater and mackinaw, Miss Rich again is in civilization, and she has had time for a shopping spree. Now she is reveling in all the pretty, fluffy things so dear to the heart of milady.

Alma Bennett has wanted to be an actress since she was five years old, and got a chance to sing in a church concert. When she was 16, she landed in Hollywood and was told by casting directors she was too young. Nothing daunted, she applied for a bathing girl's part, though she couldn't swim a stroke. She glibly fibbed to the casting director, and was accepted, and for the next few days lived in a bathing suit. When she went on location, three days later, she could give a fair imitation of a fish.

Miss Bennett, though just 18, has recently signed a contract with Jesse L. Lasky, production manager of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, for five years' duration.

Pretty little Vera Reynolds, who is playing in the Trimble Murfin production, "The Sign," under the direction of Jane Murfin, has changed the old line, "For want of a nail, the shoe was lost," to "For want of her gum, the scene was lost." During one of the scenes in which she is Tim Callaghan's jazz-loving little wife, Vera chews gum—but right in the middle of the scene she swallowed her gum. And then the scene had to be shot all over again!

MOVING DAY SCENES DIRECTED BY WOMAN—

William DeMille was preparing for scenes of "Only 38," his Paramount picture, featuring Lois Wilson, May McAvoy, Elliott Dexter and George Fawcett, recently, and he foresaw that the opening shots, showing the condition of a house on moving day must be absolutely correct to pass the critical eyes of millions of women who will see the picture.

He was distractedly hunting a technical director who would know about these details, when Lois Wilson laughingly said, "Let me tell you how to arrange it. I just helped a girl friend move into a new home in Hollywood."

DeMille didn't even wait for her to "roll up her shirt sleeves," but put her right on the job. When the pay checks came in, Miss Wilson received two—one labeled "Star," and the other "Assistant Technical Director."

Maude Turner Gordon, who played the mother role with Thomas Meighan in his Paramount picture, "Back Home and Broke," will have a similar part in "Homeward Bound," Mr. Meighan's latest picture, which Ralph Ince is directing at the Long Island studio. The story is an adaptation by Jack Cunningham from Peter B. Kyne's "The Light to Leeward."

Chillicothe Voices Regret After Girl Shoots Herself

Special Dispatch to Record News

CHILLICOTHE, June 5.—The entire town here is expressing its sympathy over the recent shooting of Bertha Morgan. Sympathy is being extended by everyone to J. J. Morgan, uncle of the girl, who is deeply grieved over the tragedy and whose only hope is that little Bertha will recover. Bertha, of a moody disposition, attributed to the fact that she has been an orphan since she was seven years of age, has been carefully raised and she has always worn good clothes and has not worn cotton hose for the last three years, according to friends who know her.

The girl shot herself because she was unhappy, but she could give no definite reason for being so.

In an interview, her uncle stated that he did not allow Bertha to indulge in the common "joy riding" in late hours of the night, but explained that he wanted to rear her right and would not permit any conduct in her that he would not approve of in his own. However, he said, she had not given him any trouble in this respect. She has always seemed well pleased with her home and opportunities and it was her uncle's intention to educate her in a way that she would be capable to earning her own way.

The general public in this city has stood close by the uncle and the youthful victim in their hours of criticism. They have always associated with the best people and the day of the shooting, Bertha was in one of the best homes in the city.

It was just a case of despondency, caused by poor health and the utter loneliness of being an orphan.

PANHANDLE IS EXTENDED AGAIN

Whittington No. 1 Sanford Sprays Oil Over Top Of Derrick

Special Dispatch to Record News

PANHANDLE, Texas, June 5.—The Panhandle field was extended the second time within two weeks when Whittington No. 1 Sanford, in southwest Hutchinson scratched the pay late last week and oil sprayed to the top of the derrick. The Whittington represents a 10-mile extension of the field and has attracted hundreds of operators to the field. It will be completed at once. Weatherly well, in south Hutchinson, drilled by Plains Oil company of Amarillo, is being drilled in this week, with the hole half filled with crude.

The McGee, or Smith-Capers, well in south Hutchinson, which has been completed as a fair producer and has been shut in awaiting pipe line connections, was opened a few days ago and started spraying oil. Due to the Plains getting the pay at a lower depth than that at which the McGee is now producing, owners of the McGee, have decided to drill the well deeper at once.

Drilling report for the field:

Hutchinson county: Emerald Oil Co., No. 1 Coble, section 10, block 47, at Plemons, is spudding. Humphreys Oil Co., No. 1 Johnson, section 4, block Y2, is spudding. The O'Guinn No. 1 Whittenburg, section 73, block 46, is spudding. Barnum-O'Guinn No. 1, Johnson ranch, section 37, block Y, is drilling at 200 feet. Whittington No. 1 Sanford, section 82, block 46, is "drilling in." Plains No. 1 Weatherly, section 17, block Y, is "drilling in." McGee No. 1 Smith, section 10, block Y, is preparing to drill deeper, now producing from 2,835 feet.

Carson county: Humphreys Oil Co., No. 1 Sanford, section 11, block 3 ABM, is drilling at 1,000 feet. Groom Oil Co. No. 1 Harrell, in south Carson, is drilling at 300 feet. Silk No. 2 Burnett, in north Carson, is "drilling in." Gulf No. 3 Burnett is gassing at 2,435 feet and drilling. Texas No. 2 Burnett is gassing heavily at around 2,900 feet and drilling. W. W. IRRIGATION

By A. M. M'PHERSON
Kahn Bldg., 8th and Indiana
Consulting Engineer

Are They Going to Irrigate Any More Land Than Is Now Included in the Two Irrigation Districts?

Second Installment

Yesterday we discussed the land lying in Clay county subject to irrigation and pointed out that it would be necessary to form a new district; that some of the land was rough; that much of it drained into the Little Wichita instead of the Wichita; and that long expensive canals would have to be constructed to reach it.

There is other land that can be reached more easily than the land we have been discussing. It lies mainly in Archer county and is known as the Lake Creek country. This tract of land should not be confused with the land lying around Lake Wichita and along Holliday creek. It is an entirely separate country. It gets its name from the creek which drains it called Lake creek. This creek flows into the Little Wichita.

This beautiful tract of land lies several miles south of Lake Wichita and the canal that would reach it would takee out of the main canal at a point west of Holliday and would flow south and west until it enters Lake Creek valley about 1¼ miles north of Huff, a station on the Wichita Falls & Southern, about 10 miles south of Wichita Falls.

This valley probably covers 50,000 or 60,000 acres and most of it lies wonderfully well for irrigation.

The soil has been classified by the United States soil survey as Vernon loam, which is a sandy loam soil. It is a soil that would be far easier to cultivate and farm than much of the soil included in the present district No. 2.

Tomorrow we will discuss other features of Lake Creek valley in regard to irrigation.

HIRSCHI TO BUILD

A beautiful residence to be built by John Hirschi at an estimated cost of $25,000 will be added to the many new costly homes now being erected in Wichita county. The Hirschi home will be located on the paved road a short distance east of Iowa Park.

BURTON-RUFF OPENS TERRITORY

Opening up a vast hitherto wildcat territory in Archer county between the McCarty wells in the Peterson pool and the Panther field the Burton-Ruff Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil company No. 1 well on section 82, L. F. Wilson in the American Tribune colony lands survey, is believed to be a paying producer and will be placed on the pump.

A rich sand testing 40 gravity in oil was socked up 1,593 feet.

AMERADO SPUDS IN AT TEMPLE

16-Inch Hole Started For Deep Test Near Town

Special Dispatch to Record News

TEMPLE, Okla., June 5. — The test well of the Amerada Petroleum corporation on the Baber farm, in 29-4-10, nine miles southwest of town, was spudded in the first of last week and began with a 16-inch hole, which will enable them to make a deep test. This well is being drilled with cable tools and a careful test is to be made.

The T. and P. Oil and Gas company test in 34-3-9, six miles east and south of town, is reported to be drilling in a hard lime formation at around 2,200 feet, and expects to find a sand when the lime formation is drilled through.

The McBern test on the West farm, is 36-4-11, 13 miles southwest of Temple, is only using a day shift, consequently is making hole slowly. However, they expect to put on a double shift a little later on, which will send the drill down about twice as fast as it is now going.

BATTERY D MEMBERS MAY RE-ENLIST SOON

An opportunity will be given all members of Battery D, 131st Field Artillery, whose term has expired to reinlist at the regular drill practice, which will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the corner of Eighth and Scott streets.

Plans are being made to recruit the battery up to its full strength before the unit leaves for the encampment in San Antonio in July. Any young men who are permanent residents of Wichita Falls are urged to apply for the encampment.

Applications may be made either at room 324 Waggoner building, or Call Field Sunday afternoon.

NEW GEMS BY

O. HENRY

A Treasure Trove of Humor From His Newly Discovered Newspaper Writings.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT.

There is an item going the rounds of the press relative to the well known curiosity of woman. It states that if a man brings a newspaper home out of which a piece has been clipped his wife will never rest until she has procured another paper to see what it was that had been cut out.

A Houston man was quite impressed with the idea, so he resolved to make the experiment. One night last week he cut out of the day's paper a little two-inch catarrh-cure advertisement, and left the mutilated paper on the table where his wife would be sure to read it.

He picked up a book and pretended to be interested, while he watched her glance over the paper. When she struck the place where the piece had been cut she frowned and seemed to be thinking seriously.

However, she did not say anything about it and the man was in doubt as to whether her curiosity had been aroused or not.

The next day when he came home to dinner she met him at the door with flashing eyes and an ominous look about her jaw.

"You miserable, deceitful wretch!" she cried. "After living all these years with you to find that you have been basely deceiving me and leading a double life, and bringing shame and sorrow upon your innocent family! I always thought you were a villain and a reprobate, and now I have positive proof of the fact."

"Wh-Wha-what do you mean, Maria?" he gasped. "I haven't been doing anything."

"Of course you are ready to add lying to your catalogue of vices. Since you pretend not to understand me—look at this."

She held up to his gaze a complete paper of the issue of the day before.

"You thought to hide your actions from me by cutting out part of the paper, but I was too sharp for you."

"Why that was just a little joke, Maria. I didn't think you would take it seriously, I—"

"Do you call that a joke, you shameless wretch?" she cried, spreading the paper before him.

The man looked and read in dismay. In cutting out the catarrh advertisement he had never thought to see what was on the other side of it and this was the item that appeared to one reading the other side of the page to have been clipped:

"A gentleman about town, who stands well in business circles, had a high old time last night in a certain restaurant where he entertained at supper a couple of chorus ladies belonging to the comic opera company now in the city. Loud talking and breaking of dishes attracted some attention, but the matter was smoothed over, owing to the prominence of the gentleman referred to."

"You call that a joke, do you, you reptile," shrieked the excited lady. "I'm going home to mamma this evening and I'm going to stay there. Thought you'd fool me by cutting it out, did you? You sneaking old snake you! I've got my trunk nicely packed and I'm going straight home—don't you come near me!"

"Maria" gasped the bewildered man. "I swear I—"

"Don't add perjury to your crimes sir!"

The man tried unsuccessfully to speak three or four times, and then grabbed his hat and ran down town. Fifteen minutes later he came back bringing two new silk dress patterns, four pounds of caramels, and his bookkeeper and three clerks to prove that he was hard at work in the store, on the night in question.

The affair was finally settled satisfactorily, but there is one Houston man who has no further curiosity about woman's curiosity.

ART WELL MAKES 150

Another wildcat to come into its own is the Art and Haynes, Archer county test, section 41, block 12, of the White land, which Monday came in for 150 barrels at a depth of 1,447 feet. Location for a second test has already been made by the Art and Haynes company and interest in surrounding acreage is keen.

CETTI NO. FOUR IS STANDING IN OIL

An interesting development in the Texhoma drilling operations in the Cetti pool in Archer county is the fact that the company's Cetti No. 4 is standing 1,000 feet in oil and that no water has shown up yet. In all other wells drilled in this district considerable water has been encountered.

Standardization of Cetti No. 4 is now being made preparatory to bringing in the well. In the Electra field Texhoma's Waggoner No. 4 is equipping to pump, the well being estimated at 75 barres.

HARRISON TALKS ON ZONING PLAN

Chamber of Commerce Discusses Various Features Of Regulations

"The only restrictions against erecting business houses in the residential parts of cities in Texas are that the house concerned must be sanitary, that it shall not be immoral and that it is not a nuisance," according to Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, when he spoke at the weekly luncheon of the University club on "City Zoning Regulations."

Mr. Harrison pointed out several instances in Wichita Falls where the value of beautiful homes had depreciated because of erections of grocery stores, gasoline stations and other business places on property adjoining valuable homes.

Thousands Spent.

Mr. Harrison pointed out the fact that the city had spent many thousands of dollars on the Kessler plan and this was useless at present, because it could not be enforced. In concluding his talk Mr. Harrison urged the members of the club to consider the situation and give thought to some ordinance which would prohibit the erection of business buildings in the residence part of the city.

Judge R. O. Kinley, acting as chairman of the meeting, appointed Judges J. P. Marrs, F. G. Swanson, and W. J. Townsend to work in connection with a committee from the chamber of commerce to try to frame an ordinance to regulate the zoning law in Wichita Falls.

Y W BUILDING FUND PLANS TO START WITH LUNCHEON

Letters were being sent out Tuesday by W. D. Cline, president of the chamber of commerce, and Mrs. B. L. Fain, president of the Y. W. C. A. board, calling a meeting and luncheon for next Monday noon at which time plans would be started for the Y. W. C. A. building fund campaign.

The week of June 11 has been set aside as the time in which the drive for approximately $35,000 will be made for additional funds for the new Y. W. C. A. building.

Legion Post to Take Up State Drive at Meeting

A meeting to discuss plans for the state membership drive of June 15 will be discussed Thursday by Pat Carrigan post, American Legion, in a called meeting at legion hall. Word has been received here by Sam Beattie, post commander, that all posts of Texas are to make a membership drive on the above date.

Texas now stands thirty-first in the union in point of legion membership, it is said, and it is hoped to materially increase this rating. The total state membership is 12,285.

A personal visit will be made to every ex-service man in the city in an effort to secure his membership, Mr. Beattie says.

BRITAIN WILL BE TOASTMASTER

400 Expected To Attend Banquet Given Water Delegates

Judge A. H. Britain will preside Monday, June 18, at the banquet to be tendered by the chamber of commerce to delegates at the Southwest Waterworks Association convention. This will be the first big event on the four-day program, and it is expected that over 400 will be in attendance at the dinner.

Addresses by prominent visitors as well as local men will feature the affair.

All delegates will be taken on Tuesday, June 19, to the irrigation dam where they will be guests of the Callihan Construction company at a barbecue. An inspection of the dam will follow.

PERSONAL ATTENTION FOR DISABLED VETS

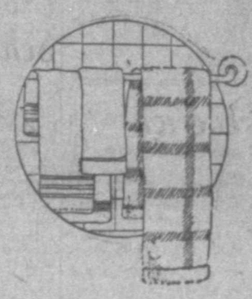

Personal attention for all disabled veterans in this city will be given soon by J. E. Wylie, traveling representative of the United States Veterans Bureau office at Fort Worth, according to word received here. Mr. Wylie will be in Wichita Falls about June 20, it is announced, and will spend such time as is necessary in the investigating of compensations cases and the adjustment of claims.

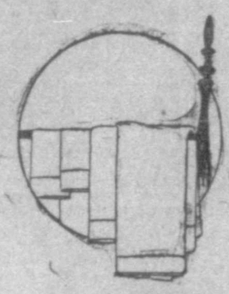

Numerous compensation cases have been brought to the attention of legion officials here and these will be turned over to Mr. Wylie.

HIGH COST OF OFFICE

John F. Hylan is mayor of the city of New York. He is serving in his fifth year. He has three years to serve. The New York legislature increased his salary from $12,000 to $25,000 a year. Hylan never wavered. He never ran up the white feather, he never once exhibited the yellow badge of political cowardice. He signed the bill. All local measures which affect the city of New York are sent from Albany to New York for the approval or disapproval of the mayor of that city.

Hylan is a unique character. He was born on a farm. He made his way from the farm to the cab of an engine and became a driver. Then he begun the study of law and was admitted to the bar. Then he jumped into politics and became a judge. Five years ago he defeated John Purroy Mitchel, for the office of mayor of New York.

Most of the New York newspapers said that Mitchell was the best mayor New York ever had. New York editors poked fun at him. Some of them called him "Red Mike." Others said he was a rank demagogue. Nearing the close of his first term they pitted against Hylan, another intellectual Henry K. Curran.

Curran is a contributor to the Saturday Evening Post. He writes articles telling the people how to vote and then they will be happy and prosperous ever afterwards. Hylan defeated Curran by three or four hundred thousand majority. It was almost a complete sweep for the former farm hand and engine driver.

Then the New York legislature advanced his salary to $25,000 a year in order to place Hylan in a hole. They knew he had to veto the bill or accept the advance. Hylan crawled out of the hole. He said he was a poor man, that he had made many sacrifices for the people, that he intended to sign the bill in order that Mrs. Hylan would have a few dollars at her command if anything happened to him.

This makes the office of mayor the best paying job in the state of New York. A governor of New York only takes down $12,000 a year, a supreme court justice $17,500 a year and a senator or congressman $7,500 a year.

There is never a day that Mayor Hylan fails to break into print. There is never a day that he isn't pictured in the newspapers of Gotham. There is never a day that his hide isn't tanned artistically by some of the pungent writers of the Gotham press.

But why should Hylan worry. He jumped from a farm to an engine cab. He jumped from the cab to a place on the bench. He jumped from a place on the bench to the office of mayor of the greatest city of the world where in days agone Father Knickerbocker wielded the sceptre of power. He defeated the "best mayor New York ever had."

He defeated many of the great newspapers of New York bent upon throwing him into the discard. He defeated a proud intellectual who is a contributor to the Saturday Evening Post. He attends national conferences of farm blocers who are lawyers and economists and who ar epoliticians.

Now he has approved a bill that advanced his salary from $12,000 to $25,000 a year because Mrs. Hylan may need the money when he is gone. Texans pay their governor $4,000 a year, cheer him when he is inaugurated and then later on. Mayor Hylan takes down $25,000 a year and when his political or personal enemies cuss him he cusses back.

He never turns the other cheek. He admits that the plutocrats are all against him; that the proletarians are all for him and as the ninety and nine are poletarians, why should Hylan worry?

FORD AND HIS FUTURE

"Henry Ford undoubtedly is a figure to be reckoned with in the pre-convention presidential fight," writes a Washington correspondent. "The story comes here from Detroit that he does not intend to allow himself to be used as a third party candidate on the ground that to do so would only aid one of the major parties and weaken his own prestige. Believing that the republican platform will declare for an association of nations and participation in a world court and that the democrats can win greater favor by confining themselves to domestic issues, friends of Ford are credited with the intention to enter the democratic national convention pledged to democratic principles and the stimulation of foreign trade through credit and the creation of branch banks in foreign countries. Ford, it is asserted, will oppose foreign policies favored by the Harding administration, as well as by such democrats as Underwood and McAdoo."

James A. Stillman, speaking through a friend, says he put aside Flo Leeds because of the notoriety in it, and not because he had found a new affinity. His latest, he says, is nothing more than a business friend." Stillman has millions; why should he be deprived of "business friends?"

HE WAS A GENTLEMAN FARMER

Prohibition prohibits in Georgia W. C. Godman, formerly of Boston but known in Georgia for several years as a gentleman farmer, was fined $5,000 and sentenced by Judge Barrett in the federal court to serve a year and a day in prison upon conviction of conspiracy to violate the dry law. Godman had shipped a car of liquor from Savanah to Chicago which was labeled potatoes. In the Irish Free State they make a fine brand of whiskey out of potato mash but in Georgia it just can't b done. It is a crime to make it and it is a crime to sell it, and the gentleman-farmer got his because the jury declared that he was guilty of the offense charges in the indictment. It is better to have a thirst and freedom than to operate a still and win a convict's garb.

Judge William F. Connolly is a member of the democratic national committee from Michigan. He is said to have expressed the opinion to democratic leaders in the city of Washington last Henry Ford would not permit his men to go before the democratic convention, that Ford had never declared his affiliation with the democratic party; that he became a democratic candidate for United States senator against Truman H. Newberry, at the urgent solicitotion of Woodrow Wilson but that he had not admitted that he was a democrat.

All the big politicians of the republican party are hostile to Ford. All the congressional leaders of the republican party are hostile to Ford. All the great captains of industry of the republican party are hostile to Ford.

Their influence prevented the acceptance by the republican congress of Ford's Muscle Shoals proposal. Many of the political leaders of the democratic party are hostile to Ford, but they would take Ford as their standard bearer if they thought they could win and place all th offices withine win and place all the offices within the reach of the democratic bands regardless of all the political chatter. It requires the votes of two-thirds of the delegates to a democratic national convention to nominate a candidate for the presidency. This rule shut McAdoo out three years ago. This rule may shut out favorites in 1924. This rule may force the nomination of a dark horse after the deadlock has been broken in 1924.

There are many dark horses in the stables. Perhaps Henry Ford is a dark horse candidate. Warren G. Harding is to be the standard bearer of the republicans. His re-nomination is a foregone conclusion. As for the democrats they are up in the air, so to speak, but anything may happen between this time and the coming of the spring months of 1924.

Men die. Idols fade. Burning issues come to the surface. All in a day.

COPELAND—DARK HORSE

Senator Royal S. Copeland is for an economist conference to help rehabilitate Europe. He would revive that country with bread. He brands the Harding world court as an iceberg. Labor in Europe, he says, has become pauperized by conditions there. Woman's garments, hand-made, are being imported and sold in New York at a profit for $40 which would cost $70 to make in this country. These imported garments, Senator Copeland says, are made by women in European countries who are getting one cent a day.

All kinds of building materials are coming in from abroad. Bricks made in England are being laid down in New York for $22 a thousand which would cost $29 to make on this side.

Senator Copeland wants something done to protect American industry and labor. He wants something done that will restore the economic life of Europe, and recreate a market for American products. He would like to see President Harding immediately convene an economic conference and promptly go to work on the restoration of the world.

Senator Copeland is a democrat. He is one of the Hearst syndicate writers. He says if the presidential election were held now Henry Ford would be nominated by the democrats and elected president but he favors Governor Al Smith of New York for the democratic nomination next year.

If there is a deadlock convention next year, and all the political prophets are predicting one, Senator Royal F. Copeland of New York hopes to get the nomination. He is a remarkable man. He managed to win and retain the friendship of Charles F. Murphy, Governor Al Smith and William Randolph Hearst, and this too, without provoking a local riot. A man must be remarkable who is capable of accomplishing a feat like this.

France cannot be starving. France has the largest standing army in the world. All the little republics born since the signing of the armistice have large standing armies. All the Balkan nations have large standing armies. Greece has a huge array of fighting men.

WHY NOT?

Calvin W. Hills is secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He has appealed to the members of this society to use their influence to eliminate or reduce the numbers of stories of crime printed in the daily press of America. More than 8,000 murders were committed in the United States last year according to the sapient secretary and only 93 were punished. He should have appealed to the members of the society to do jury service whenever asked in order that convictions may follow and criminals punished. Why not hammer the negligent jurors? Why not criticize the prominent citizens who refuse to do jury service? Why not condemn the maudlin sentimentalists who are forever asking clemency for criminals?

Otto H. Kohn of New York favors a league of nations if force is repudiated. How would it be possible to keep peace without a big policeman?

UNCOMMON SENSE
BY JOHN BLAKE

THE MENTAL PACIFIST

We do not quarrel with the pacifist.

Few people believe in war.

But when war comes it must be fought. Fighting is cheaper than concrete.

Still the pacifist, if he is sincere, which he sometimes is, has at least an argument—up to the time when not only he but his family and friends and country are in peril of defeat.

But the pacifist habit, if it were universal in any country, would soon result in making that country the prey of any neighboring country which was disposed toward conquest.

The same is true of the mental pacifist, who believes that the best way to get through the world is to avoid trouble of every sort.

If he had his way, we should still be living in caves, for it is troublesome and sometimes dangerous to go into the woods and fell trees and saw them up for habitations.

Most of the world's population would be huddled in a small section of its surface, because it is troublesome and always dangerous to go out and find new lands.

There would have been no crossing of the seas—America would have never been discovered. The wealth of the world in most part would still lie hidden in lands where it has been found—lands all distant from centers of population in the early days of history.

Mental pacifism is nothing but mental cowardice.

It is still prevalent, and, because it is prevalent, civilization advances about half as fast as it ought to advance.

School teachers find difficulty in getting their classes above the road to knowledge because about fifty per cent of the pupils composing the classes are afraid of mental work.

A strange study, like mathematics affrights the average mind.

Boys and girls, who could master it if they gave their minds to it, hang back because tackling a new study involves labor and labor of this kind scares them.

The mental pacifist will remain on one side of the streams that beset the pathway to advancement rather than risk a crossing.

They will pitch their camps in the easy valleys, even if the soil is sterile, rather than seek more fertile lands beyond the mountain range.

Cowardly races have remained in their own countries, and stagnated while brave and adventurous races have gone forth and settled the world.

In civilized countries the mental pacifist lets others fight his own battles for him and he reaps some of the rewards. But the real rewards go to those who are willing to fight with their minds as well as with their brains.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU
BY MARY BLAKE

GEMINI

Today is one of generally uncertain omen. Even ordinary duties will appear more troublesome than usual and there will be a tendency to put off until tomorrow those things that require too much effort today.

A child born today will be quiet and extremely imaginative and it should be raised with sympathetic appreciation.

This day produces two distinct types and if it is the anniversary of your birth you are either of the high or low order. The higher type is at times, inspired. You are a lover spiritual, progressive, original and of flowers, and the arts and the refinements of life generally.

The lower type is suspicious, shallow, fickle, changeable and untruthful, with a tendency to begin many things and finish nothing.

Both types however should avoid excitement and worry. You should study the laws of diet and hygiene and above all things, sleep as much as possible.

You are versatile and perhaps a bit eccentric. Some of you will become brilliant through education while others, seemingly alert and ingenious, will be in the midst of trouble and vexation nearly all of their lives.

Born under the sign of Gemini and if true to type, you are a person of straight, tall body, sanguine complexion, brilliant eyes and light hair. You should have a lively temperament and very good understanding.

You are genial and affable in disposition but actually hold your inner self remote from your associates and even from most of your friends. You are fond of society because you are naturally entertaining and you enjoy the study of human nature under all conditions, great or trival. You are intuitively a good judge of character.

You are fond of home and children and you should marry at an early age for you will find your true fulfillment only in the old fashiane home life of your forebearers.

Well known people born on this date are: Bruno Oscar, composer and pianist; Thomas L. Bradford physician and author; Henry Mosler, artist.

Former Supreme Court Justice John H. Clarke has joined the gloom family. He predicts that a German-Russian alliance will lead to another war. As Russia has been outlawed by all the nations of the earth, and Germany has been blacklisted by most of the nations, why should a German-Russian alliance create surprise?

GETTING BEYOND CONTROL

The BLOOD SHIP

By NORMAN SPRINGER

THE ACTION UP TO THIS POINT

Captain John Shreve, a commander of sailing ships, tells the story. It is the tale of a voyage, his first as an able seaman in the clipper ship The Golden Bough. Shreve, just come to sea manhood, becomes a lodger at the "Knitting Swede's" one of the lowest sailors' resorts in San Francisco. He notes one lodger of quite, austere manner with a scar on his face. Young Shreve defeats the Swede's runner and wins his girl, but determines to go back to sea. He and the mysterious man, known as Newman, sign for a voyage in The Golden Bough, in spite of the ship's reputation for cruelty. Shreve encounters a wreck named Beasley and Newman sees him. Beasley confesses to Newman his part in many dirty plots against Newman. He speaks of a Mary and an unprincipled man who is master of a ship. Taken aboard the Golden Bough by the Swede, Shreve and Newman learn that there is a lady aboard.

Captain Swope lives up to his reputation as a brutal master by beating Nils, a young sailor. Swope's wife appears on deck. The men learn that she is the angel of the floating prison.

When the watches are told off Newman appears on deck for the first time during the voyage. Captain Swope is shocked at the man who calls him Angus. The lady greets Newman as Roy.

The Lady warns Newman, by means of a lote, to be on his guard. By order of Swope she is restricted to her cabin. "Boston" and Blackie," two tough members of the crew, are rebuffed by Newman and hint that he has been a convict.

"Boston" and "Blackie" fan the hatred among the crews for the officers over the ill treatment of Nils, the boy beaten by Swope, and other cruelties. An apparent attempt by the captain on Newman's life nearly ends Shreve's. "The Lady" acts as nurse to the abused members of the crew. "Boston" hints that Newman is being "double crossed." Shreve goes in search of him.

Newman is put in irons.

Desperation.

"Not so fast, my lad. I think I should like to look you over," said Swope as I moved away.

I stopped, of course and faced him.

He looked me over slowely, from head to foot. Fitzgibbon walked around behind me, and I knew that the attack would come from that direction.

I tried hard to appear unconcerned.

"What is your name?"

"Jack? S-hreve, sir," I answered.

"Shreve? Now, what signboard did you rob? Shreve is a good name, too good for a foc'sle rat. Did you come by it honestly? Did you have a father by that name? I dare say not. A gutter product would not know his father, eh, my lad?"

There was no mistaking the deliberate intent of the insult, or its foul meaning.

"I was told you had a long tongue, but you do not seem very glib this minute," Captain Swope went on. "Having a long tongue is a very bad habit, my lad, and I do not allow my hands to have bad habits. I correct them—so!"

He struck me then not a heavy, stunning blow but a short-armed, slashing uppercut, which ripped the flesh off my cheek and sent me stumbling backward against the mate's body.

I took that blow meekly. I took Fitzgibbon's harder blow meekly. I stood there and let the two of them pummel me and knock me down and kick me!

I took my medicine! I did not lift a hand against them. I grovelled on the deck like a cur, and did not fight back.

I got dizzily to my hands and knees and then to my feet and staggered forward.

I made my way into the for'sle, and my watchmates grabbed me and swabbed and kneaded my hurts and swore.

I was in far better case, they told me, than poor Holy Joe. He was lying in his bunk unconscious that very moment; he had a broken arm and most of his teeth were gone.

I saw at once that the men were wild with rage. I knew that the peace could be kept in that foc'sle. Perhaps Newman could have composed the crowd but I doubt it.

I was of course, much concerned for the parson. I appealed to the crowd.

"We've got to get Holy Joe fixed up. Any of you know anything about bone setting? Who'll lend a hand?"

To my surprise, Boston volunteered. "I worked in a hospital once," he said.

He set to work immediately in an efficient businesslike manner. I was astonished.

"A clean break; no trick to set it," he announced, after examining the arm. Nor was it.

We cut up a bunk-board for splints used the blanket for bandages, and fixed the injured member in short order.

We carried him into the starboard foc'sle and placed him in my bunk.

"Now you see what he got?" said Boston. "And you see what you got. And you know what happened to New man. Well, how about it, Shreve? Do you stand with us?"

I made a plea for peace, knowing forehanded it was useless. "How about Newman?" I said. "You know as well as I that the skipper is out to kill him. And I have Newman's word for it that the Old Man wants to kill the Lady too. He's just waiting for an excuse. That's why he's dressing us down this way and hazing us raw—so we'll mutiny and give him the excuse he needs. Can't you see that?

"The last thing Newman said to me when I relieved him," I went on, "was a command to prevent this trouble. He said his life and hers, depended on our keeping quiet.

"And how about us, how about our lives?" demanded Boston. "That damned murderer aft is out to croak us, too, ain't he—all of us he can spare?" He plucked me by the sleeve "Me and Jack are goin' to have a few words private," says he to the rest. "He's with us—no fear—a feller like Jack Shreve stands by his mates. Come on, Jack."

Boston led me up on the foc'sle head, and we sat down upon an anchor stock.

"We ain't such fools as you think Blackie and me," he commenced abruptly. "We ain't goin' to face guns with knives—not us. But guns to guns—well that's different now, ain't it?"

"What do you mean?" I demanded. "Have you got a gun?"

"Two brace we came on board with."

He paused and looked at me inquiringly. "Well? I asked.

"We'll do the best we can for Newman," says Boston. "We need him. We'll try and get the Old Man first pop—and if we have decent luck plunkin' the mates, it'll be over so quick nobody can hurt the big fellow."

I thought, and was silent.

"What's holdin' you back?" demanded Boston. "You can lay your last cent that Swope will get him, if we don't get Swope."

"Boston give me a gun," I said.

He drew from under his clothes a long-barreled heavy calibre service Colt's. I thrust it out of sight beneath my own waistband.

"Now, I'm boss," I said. "I'll give the word."

His smile widened. This was what he wanted.

"What you goin' to do?" he asked.

"Make sure that Newman will be safe when we make the attack," I explained. "We must make sure of that—he's our navigator."

"That's so," he agreed. "But how will you do it?"

"I'll kill Captain Swope," I said.

I was in earnest. I meant to do the murder. I intended to creep aft in the night and shoot down the captain.

I planned Yankee Swope's murder in spite of self-sacrifice. Aye, truly I did! I dare say few acts in my life have had a finer, cleaner less selfish motive.

I did not expect to escape after the killing, I was tossing away my life, you see, with a grand gesture to help my friend. I was dying for my friend's sake. My imagination gave my death nobility.

After 8 o'clock muster when my watch was sent below, I slipped around the corner of the roundhouse where the tradesmen lived (it was on the main deck, between the mainmast and the afterhatch) and crouched there in the darkness while my mates trooped forward.

As I lay there on the deck, pressed against the forward wall, I saw the muzzles of shotguns stick out of the portholes above my head. They were covering the deck with guns; and I knew they would continue to cover the deck throughout that night.

Oh, Swope was canny, as canny as he was cruel. He would provoke mutiny, but he would run no chance of losing his ship or his life. He was prepared.

I might have picked him off at that very moment, if I aimed carefully. For as my mates' footsteps died away forward, I edged around the corner of the roundhouse, and saw the enemy standing on the poop. The three of them were there, both mates with the skipper standing between them.

"I'm going down to take a look at him now," he said, and the three of them, moved aft, out of sight.

Aye, I might have picked him off then. But I meant to face him in his own lighted cabin.

The door of the roundhouse was closed, so I did not fear the intimates would observe me entering the cabin.

I opened the door and stepped in backward. My eyes assured me I was unseen. I closed the door, all save a crack, through which I meant to watch for the coming of my victim.

I heard a gasp behind me. I shut the door tight and wheeled about—and found myself staring into the wide-open eyes of the Lady.

She was on her knees at the other end of the room. Aye, I had blundermed into the lady's own quarters, no less.

The Lady crouched on her knees, with her skirts spread wide and her hands hidden behind her back.

Then she saw the revolver in my hand and fear leaped into her eyes. Aye, fear and comprehension. "That—oh, Boy, what do you mean to do?"

Just then we heard Captain Swope's voice. He told the steward to open the lazaret hatch.

"I'm going out there and get him," I said. "Don't be afraid ma'am. I wont make a miss of it. He isn't going to hurt Newman, or you, or anyone after I've finished."

"That is not the way," she said. "It is never the way. You must not!" and she took my revolver.

"But — I must do something," I added, miserably. "I can't see him butchered without doing something to prevent it. Newman is my friend."

"He is my life!" said she. Her voice was low and I hardly caught the words. "But I would not buy his life with murder; it would lower him to their level."

I shook my head. "It's too late," I informed her. "The men will not listen to the parson, or me; they are too afraid."

"What time have they set?" she asked, quickly.

"Next eight bells," I told her.

"Then we have time," was her verdict. "And you must help me."

She pointed to the deck. My eyes followed her gesture, and my gaze encountered an auger and a pattern of holes in the floor. There were two rows of them, parrallel, each about 18 inches long, and the same distance apart. The holes overlapped each other, and made a continuous cut in the deck.

She did not need to explain. The sight of the holes and the auger told me enough to set me to work instantly.

I was boring my way to Newman.

The plot was this: We were to get Newman out of the lazaret through this hole we were making.

When he was out of the lazaret the situation would be handled by Mister Lynch. The ship's longboat was ready for the water. They planned, she and Newman to sail away together.

"When my—my husband tried to kill Roy he violated James Lynch's very strict code," she added. "He considered that attempt a serious blot upon his honor."

At length softly we lifted out the piece of flooring and peered through the hole.

A sound came forth that caused me to grind my teeth with rage. It was a long, drawn-out sigh, the moan of a man in agony of flesh or spirit. It was Newman's voice. Mingling with it, and following it, came the low, demoniac chuckle of Captain Swope.

The lady sketched the lay of the land for me.

"God bless you, Boy—and, oh, be careful," she whispered.

Pay Up Week

Associated Press Dispatch

DENTON, Texas, June 5.—"Pay Up Week," a semi-annual affair at the College of Industrial Arts, was observed last week on the campus, and students were expectedto square fully all accounts owed to local merchants, roommates and friends. The custom was started five years ago, and has met with excellent results.

TRAIN KILLS TWO.

International News Dispatch

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 5.—Charles Atolasky, 42, Mrs. Margaret Panarch, 43, and Charles Blair, 16, were killed early today at Barking, Pa., by a Pennsylvania railroad express train. All three were Barking residents. They started walking across the track just after a freight train had passed and did not see the Buffalo-Pittsburgh flyer approaching.

More Truth Than Poetry

VARYING CUSTOMS

(London policemen have been warned by the authorities never to argue with people they arrest.)

Unlike his American brother
The London policeman is meek.
He is not allowed when dispersing a crowd,
To show any symptoms of pique.
To muss up a citizen's clothing
Or mess up a citizen's face,
Would be classed as a rough and ill-mannered rebuff,
Which would cost Mr. Bobbie his place.

Whenever disorderly persons
The bluecoats of London arrest,
They turn a deaf ear to the language they hear
When the persons ni question protest.
The lawbreakers freely abuse them,
But the bitterest verbal attack
No venom must draw from the British John Law,
For the Bobbie can never talk back.

In cities on this side the water,
The tongues of policemen are free
To wag as they will, and they never lack skill
In the art that is called repartee.
And if the offender still argues
A night stick is rapped on his chest,
And the spleen that he meant on the copper to vent
For the nonce is profundly suppressed.

The rule is reversed in this country,
It is not the policeman who's told
That he musn't get cross, for speech is but dross,
While silence is unalloyed gold.
The citizen finds it is safer
All forms of discussion to drop
And snappy replies, for it's always unwise
To be guilty of sassing a cop.

Comus Club Will Open Summer Season With Unique Revelry Dance

Prominent among the announcements for early June social activities is the Comus club revelry dance to be given at Lake Wichita Friday evening. For some time there has been a lull in the activities of the younger social set and this dance has been planned to awaken the members of the possibilities of the summer season.

The affair will especially honor the many Jupe visitors who are here from other Texas cities, and the returned college students, and is expected to be the most brilliant affair of the month.

Dancing will begin promptly at 9 o'clock and will continue until 1 o'clock and special features will be the decorations and refreshments.

The club officers have been fortunate in securing Jimmie Joy's seven-piece novelty orchestra for the occasion. This group of dance musicians needs no introduction to local society as they have played for the Comus and other clubs on numerous occasions. The orchestra is headed by Jimmy Maloney, who is reputed to play two clarinets at the same time. The members are all University of Texas students, and have just completed a circuit contract with Keith's vaudeville where they were featured in a number of cities.

While in New York on a recent tour, Jimmie's Joys alternated with Paul Whitman's Columbia dance orchestra at Mrs. Whitney's dance of the "400," which cost her $40,000.

Invitations have been sent to members of the Avoleh and Cypher clubs as well as a number of out-of-town guests and a large attendance is expected.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair will include Messrs. and Mesdames H. F. Weldon, J. T. Mongomery, H. O. Cravens, C. W. Reid, L. H. Cullum, and Mrs. E. C. Harlin, Mrs. Alex Kahn, Mrs. C. L. Anderson and Mrs. M. M. Adickes.

Two Charming Dresses for Milady's Wardrobe

I wonder if the lowly grub discards his dingy shell and comes forth a lovely butterfly, or moth any more joyously than milady throws aside her more or less somber winter garments and dons gay colored summer finery. Will the time ever come, I wonder, when women will allow their craze for strictly utility clothes, knickers, and such, which allow perfect freedom of movement and can be worn in all weathers to banish the dainty, if not always practical clothes in which they now indulge. I think not, and if they do you may be sure they will find some way of expressing their love of the dainty and colorful in their raiment. I am sure Eve, arrayed in her fig leaf gown saw to it that the leaves were as fresh and green as possible and were becomingly draped about her.

Soft, clinging georgette always seems to contain the very essence of feminity and grace and the black and white creation on the left is no exception to this rule. It is made of black pleated georgette crepe with panels of white, bead trimmed. It is a long sleeved model with a most unusual feature in the loose, butterfuly effect from elbow to wrist. A simple ribbon belt trimmed at the left side with ribbon rosettes finishes this simple but most effective gown. It can be worn at any season of the year and makes an especially practical addition to milady's summer wardrobe as it can be slipped on when a dressy gown is needed and one's very best voile or dimity is at the cleaners.

At the right is a dainty white voile from Paris. It is embroidered elaborately in rose and sky and has the new cape collar cut on the bias to give a ruffle effect. Rows of fine tucks run horizontally across the blouse and form a belt at the waist, with a fetching rose at the extreme left of the belt. The dress is sleeveless although the cape collar forms a cap for the upper part of the arm. A hat with a turban-like crown and transparent brim with a large drooping bow that hangs to milady's shoulder is worn with this dainty summer dress.

The hat in the center is an illustration of what may be done with a plain hat in the way of making it suitable for wear with more dressy costumes. The addition of silver leaves outlined against the black velvet band around the crown of this simple straw and the roses dangling with apparent nonchalance from the brim is a smart idea which our French sisters have suggested.

Where Will You Go On Your Vacation? Vacation Camps Grow in Popularity

"Where are you going on your vacation?" with the first warm days is now being heard in the subway, bus and the new yellow open-air cars of the elevated. To that question over 50,000 girls yearly answer, "To a Y. W. C. A. camp!" As a vacation investment vacations of the camp variety yearly grow increasingly popular. From Maine to California Y. W. C. A. camps on picturesque sites in the mountains, on lakes or by the sea, dot the landscape.

From $9 to $13 a week pays all expenses. With a lively recreational program of contests, beach parties, over-night hikes, swimming and canoe races and other sports, a young girl camper may be as indolent or active as she desires. At each camp under the direction of the camp leader is a staff of a trained nurse and college girl councilors. Nature study, handiwork and instruction in water sports vary the daily program.

Within easy reach of New York, Boston and Philadelphia and other eastern cities are camps in Maine, Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut. Camp Magua which is picturesquely situated near Poland, Me., in the heart of the best known camping ground in America, is one of the most popular association camps in the country. Week-end White Mountain trips, camping in the open, are features of camp life there.

In the Berkshire Hills near Cornwall bridge, Connecticut, is Camp Shadow Brook. On Nepahwin Lake in Pennsylvania, Camp Nepahwin is already preparing for its early campers and in the Heldeberg Hills in New York state, Camp Altamont yearly welcomes back girls by the score who return each year. At Camp Canadohta in northwestern Pennsylvania girls between the ages of 12 and 18 may spend the entire summer.

Y. W. C. A. camps open in June and early July. Information may be had from the Camp Secretary, National Board Young Womens Christian Association, 600 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Zone Law Test By Texas Cities Watched Here

A copy of the pleadings was received here Tuesday of the case in which a number of Texas cities, including Wichita Falls, are seeking relief from a decision of the court of civil appeals effecting the zoning powers of a city. Inasmuch as the supreme court decision on the matter will limit this city's power on zoning affairs, the result is of peculiar interest locally.

The case in question arose in Dallas when a business house was erected in a zone designated as being only residential. When the city sought to remove the building, the owner carried it to the court of civil appeals and the zoning law was held unconstitutional. The Dallas city attorney was then joined by the city attorneys of Fort Worth, Houston, Wichita Falls, Austin and Sherman in taking an appeal to the supreme court.

In case this tribunal upholds the findings of the court of civil appeals, the zoning laws of the various cities will be of no value.

Children Got All of Croker's Money, His Widow Testifies

DUBLIN, June 5.—Mrs. Eula Edmundson Croker, widow of the late Richard Croker, testifying on direct examination today in the will contest suit brought by Croker's children by a previous marriage, declared her husband told her his children had taken from him $14,000,000 of his $15,000,000 estate.

Mrs. Croker described her late husband as a "Saint." "He told me he had been worth $15,000,000 but that his children had robbed him of $14,000,000," swore the witness. "Mr. Croker had a million dollars when we were married in 1914."

Mrs. Croker said that within five years after the marriage Croker had transferred virtually all his property to her. She declared Florence Croker was the only child who inquired after her father's condition during his illness.

Your Heart and Home Problems Solved By Elizabeth Thompsun

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl in my teens. I am quite short, but not so terribly fat. It seems so queer that none of the fellows care for me. When I get acquainted with them or see them on the streets they all speak. I think it is queer they never care to take me home or make a date with me. I know girls who are much fatter than I am and they go out every week with some friend.

I am considered a very sweet girl and nice-looking. All the girls think it is funny I don't go out with anyone, but they blame it onto my mother. She doesn't care if I go with fellows. I know many married men who say that I must have a lot of boy friends. I try to be real pleasant to all. Please advise me what to do.

I love all my girl friends and try to do as much for them as I can and they all seem to like me except one or two.

TROUBLESOME GIRL.

The reason you are not popular lies with you yourself and not with your mother. If you were pursued by suitors and she refused to let you have company, it might be her fault. But since she is willing you should have company and no one comes it is ridiculous to blame her.

You spend too much time comparing yourself with other people, judging them by their bad points and yourself by your good ones. Watch other people, by all means, and decide for yourself why certain ones are popular and others are not. You will see that there is reason for popularity—a pleasing personality, a gentleness of manner, beauty, a sympathetic nature, cleverness. Also, there is reason for lack of popularity—conceit mental laziness, an untidy person, crude manners, silliness, a mean disposition, lack of imagination, selfishness, deceitfulness. I have mentioned only a few good and a few bad points. Try to develop charm and a good character and you will certainly make friends.

Forget about boys for the time being and find other interests. Read more, work harder, learn to be sweeter at home and elsewhere. If you develop the right qualities your face will grow more beautiful as the years pass. But if you spend your time in self-satisfaction, wondering at the blindness of others for not appreciating you, the massage your features will carry will not be winsome.

My answer will probably seem harsh. But not knowing you, I have to look on the dark side of your problem and give all sorts of disagreeable possibilities merely as suggestions of what might wrong. Perhaps you are merely young and undeveloped and later you will enoy greater popularity. It is not always the popular young girl who marries.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 14 years of age and am good friends with a boy who stays with his sister. This boy likes me and I like him. There is another girl in this town who is very jealous of me and she isn't very well liked. I have often talked to this boy's niece and to him and they both say he does not like the other girl. What would you advise me to do, drop the boy or tell the girl that do does not like her. He is always joking with me, but when he sees her he turns up his nose and won't pay any attention. Do you think he likes her better than me?

JEAN.

The fact that another girl is jealous of yo uis no reason to give up the friendship of a boy you like. Neither should you go to the girl and tell her that he does not like her. Simply pay no attention to her jealousy and od not talk about the matter to any one. It is smal' to make a fuss over another person's jealousy and to do so would make the boy like you less. From all you say he seems to like you better than the other girl.

Steers Drop Fourth Straight To Spudders

LOCAL GANG GETS NEXT TO MORRIS POUNDING HIM FOR SEVEN RUNS IN ONE INNING

Bescher Starts Scoring That Results in 11 to 3 Win For Salmite Crew; Bischoff Hits Triple.

By DON WELDON

The Spudders started pounding Morris in the seventh inning of yesterday's battle, and made a race track of the bases, breaking a tied game and running seven counters across the plate before three went out, and sweeping the series by beating the Dallas Steers in the last of four games, 11 to 3. Morris, who hurled a splendid game in the first stanzas was humbled before the slugging attack of the Salmites in the big inning, and retired in favor of Freeman, who finished in the box.

The win gives the locals a grip on second place that will make them hard to displace. At the beginning of the Dallas series they stood third in the loop, but by duplicating a feat accomplished in the earlier part of the season, they wrested the place from Dallas by sir tight baseball, taking all of the four games played here.

Morris Blows Up.

The battle, which started off with promises of little scoring, was tied in the third when the Spudders made three runs to tally with those made in the first and third by the Steers. After that in which the local gang got next to Morris for three hits, the Steer hurler pitched shut out ball allowing no hits until the eventful seventh, when he went down before a deluge of slugging, allowing seven hits and as many runs. He gave way to Freeman, who had scarcely better luck, the Spudders counting another in the eighth, bringing the total to eleven.

Rip Wheeler, Spudder twirler, who stuck through the entire contest, hurled good ball, allowing only seven hits, for the greater part scattered. After the first three stanzas he warmed up and had the Steers in the palm of his hand, the best they could do being to get as far as second base and stay.

The walking of Conolly in the opener gave the Steers their first chance to count. With the lead off man on first, Wano went out on a long fly to Grigsby, but Mathes came through with a single to deep center that put Conolly on third. He scored on Vache's high one to center field.

Steers Score Three

In the third the visitors made it three when Conolly and Vache crossed the plate. Conolly got on with a single to right field, and Wano sacrificed him to second. Vache again accounted for a run when he hit a smashing drive to left field, Conolly crossing. Vache went to first, stole second, and made third on Tanner's error at first. On the overthrow from Tanner, Donohue got to first, and a few moments later a perfectly timed double steal sent Vache across. The decision of the umpire in calling Vache safe as he slid in under Bischoff's hands brought a wave of protest from the stands, and a rush of the Spudder players to the receiver's side, but Kane sent the whole bunch to their places and called it a run.

The Spudders knotted the count in their half of the third when Bescher, Coombs and Tanner scored in a row. After Wheeler went out at first, the big end of the Spudder attack was in a position to start the ball rolling toward a win, and Bob Bescher cracked out a two-base hit to deep center field that gave Vache a run to the green boards. A timely single to left over the shortstop's head by Coombs sent Bescher to third, and he scored on Tanner's hard single to left field.

Elliott sent a hot one to the infield what was good for a base, but Morris made a poor throw to first that let Coombs across and put Buddy Tanner on third. With only one out, Grigsby sent a long fly to the outfield that let Tanner across, evening up the count.

The scoring stopped in that inning and for a time it looked as though the battle would go to extra stanzas, until the Steers' moundsman blew up in the eventful seventh.

Spuds Break Up Game.

The seventh rolled around with the big end of the Spudder lineup as a starter, and Bescher promptly got on first via the four balls route. Coombs accommodated with a crack to left field that sent Bob to second, putting the batter on first. Tanner failed to deliver and went out on a high fly to Segrist, but Elliot smashed a liner to deep right that scored Bescher, Coombs taking second. Morris blew up and walked Grigsby, filling the bases, and White tried to knock the center field fence down with a smashing double that counted Coombs and Elliot, Grigsby taking third.

Bischoff, not content with winning one game with a home run, hit a terrific three-bagger to deep right, cleaning the bases and putting him in a position to score on Wheeler's single over Mathe's head. Bescher hit safely again but failed to get around. Coombs and Tanner being out at first.

Several minor squabbles resulting from decisions of the umpires fail to develop into real trouble, but an unprecedented action in the local field was taken by Kane when he sent Freddy Boone, Spudder mascot, to the club house. The umps got riled at the boy's remarks concerning some questionable decisions, and ran him from the grounds.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports

What care do clubs require?

Answered by

LAURIE AYTON

Always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments—National Open, Metropolitan Open, Western Open, and sectional tournaments. Famed for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

After playing, it is a good practice to wipe the clubs free of any moisture which might cause them to warp. The shafts should be lightly oiled every week or so. Any fraying of the grip or binding threads should be tended to immediately by an expert. The best way to keep the clubs when not in use is to place them across a table as shown above.

Spudders Go On Road For Seventeen Games

Yesterday's battle was the last of the home games for the Spudders and last night they went to Dallas with the Steers, to play two games there today and Thursday. Then they will make a swing of the loop, staying on the road until June 23, when they come back to the old stamping ground to meet the Beaumont Exporters for three games.

Following the first two games of the road trip at Dallas, the Spudders will Journey to Shreveport for a trio of games with the Gassers, thence to Beaumont for three, June 11, 12 and 13.

Invade Bears' Camp

They will invade the Bears' camp at San Antonio on the fourteenth for three contests before going to Houston for three more with the Buffs. The three-day halt at Galveston will end the trip and the gang will head back home after the game June 22, playing the Exporters here Saturday, June 23, opening a home stay. The exporters are due for three games.

The Spudders ought to have a good trip, and bring back the bacon, for with the exception of Houston and Dallas, they will play teams that have kept nearer the bottom of the loop than the top. The Dallas bunch has not shown any trouble in the series here and the locals stand a good chance of taking things there in the two-game stay.

Miss Fort Worth

They skip Fort Worth this trip, the Cats being the only team they will not meet. Houston is hot after second position and will makee every attempt to hand the Salmite gang some losses at teh epiney woods town, but with a capable staff of hurlers the Spudders should be able to get more than an even break.

However, they will be playing against the road trip jinx, and will not have things entirely their own way. They will find some bad bumps and som fast opposition, but on the whole stand a good chance to steer back home witeh an array of games won.

SUGGESTS SPLIT IN BALL SEASON

Shreveport Manager Favors Play Off to Find League Winner

FORT WORTH, June 5.—The first rumors of "split season" plans were heard here today in local baseball circles. Ira Thomas, Shreveport manager, favors cutting the race in halves.

Spudder officials refused to comment late last night when informed of the rumor circulated in Fort Worth that the present baseball season may be split. They expressed surprise that the question should arise at this stage of the pennant race but refused to state the stand the Wichita Falls club will have in the controversy should it arise.

Last season the split season plan, finally adopted, stirred up a large amount of opposition among officials of the league, and it was not expected that the suggestion that the present season be split would be brought up so soon. With the exception of Ira Thomas, manager of the Shreveport team, who made the suggestion, none of the league officials have made their position on the matter known.

NEW FREDERICK GOLF PLAYERS CHALLENGED

Special Dispatch to Record News

FREDERICK, June 5. — Hardly had the Frederick Golf club been organized and the members learned to distinguish between a niblick and a mid-iron, when comes a challenge for the Frederick club to put up its best players and meet the Grandfield club in a dual match. The Frederick links have been open for a little over a week, but at that there are several players who rather fancy themselves on this nine-hole course and it is believed that the Grandfield players will be given a run for their gold balls. No date has been set for the match.

May Change Date of Fight

International News Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 5.—Although official confirmation could not be obtained, it was reported on good authority today that Tex Rickard intends to advance the date of the Jess Willard-Luis Firpo bout from July 7 to July 12. This decision, it is said, is prompted by a desire to avoid conflict with the Dempsey-Gibbons bout at Shelby, Mont., July 4.

Dempsey Chooses Prelim Fighter

International News Dispatch

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 5.—Jack Burke, Pittsburgh light heavyweight sparring partner of Jack Dempsey's camp and Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul, one of the Gibbons' party, were tentatively announced today for one of the preliminaries on July 4.

Dempsey expects to hold the surplus weight annexed during his fishing trip until final training periods just before the title bout. Light routine work is the program this week in the Dempsey camp.

Wheezes From The Press Coop

By Don Weldon

One-two-three-four! If the Spudders don't quit winning we are going to have to get an adding machine.

* * *

But maybe we could use the one we keep up with the Fort Worth gang on.

* * *

And two more games with the Steers at Dallas. Looks like a couple more wins, unless the Dallas gang shows something we didn't see in the games here. They looked badly outclassed in every department, in the battles they gave the Spudders on the local diamond. It may have been due to the fact that they were away from home and again it may have been that the Spudders just naturally have a better ball club. It might be either, but somehow we don't think much of the first reason!

* * *

The Dallas gang came strutting
Right into Spudder town.
They came up here above us
But promptly they went down!

* * *

Play ball is something those Spudders can't do nothing else but! They struck their real stride in the Dallas games. It was not luck that they won, for they played against the breaks in nearly every game. They just naturally have the stuff!

* * *

Bob Bescher made a mighty pretty one-handed catch of Lingle's low one in the second inning, when he barely managed to reach it on the run. Bob's playing mighty good baseball, if anyone happens to ask you.

* * *

He is hitting the old apple, too. Got a single and a double yesterday and walked twice. You couldn't ask much more than that!

* * *

Bisch picked up his war club,
And stepped right up to bat;
He hit one for three bases—
Now what do you think of that?

* * *

We think the same thing!

* * *

Freddy Boone, Spudder mascot, got chased from the park yesterday when his nibs, the umps, got sore at a few random remarks. Freddy is starting early. He didn't leave till he got in a few more remarks, though. He is learning. The boy is going to make a ball player if he keeps that up!

* * *

Well, folks, they're off again! The Spuds will be gone 17 days this time, and will meet every club in the loop with the exception of Fort Worth. If they can break the road trip jinx they ought to come home lugging the old bacon, and they have been playing just the brand of ball to do it, too.

* * *

We hear from Fort Worth that there are hints of a split season again. Shreveport is said to favor it. Whazzamatter, shreveport? Think it might do you some good?

* * *

Wonder what Fort Worth thinks of the idea?

* * *

Walter Salm left with his charges on the eleven o'clock train last night. Both the Dallas gang and the Spudders took the same train, and so they will get an even break this afternoon after a night's ride.

AUTO DEALERS ENJOY BANQUET

Local Association Gathers For Annual Frolic At Kemp

Bad transmission in the left rear axle of an automobile was only one of the matters discussed by C. C. McDonald, local attorney and principal speaker at the regular monthly banquet held by 75 members and visitors of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers association at the Kemp Tuesday night.

Repair Bills.

Mr. McDonald stated he had been selected as the speaker of the occasion because the automotive men wanted to hear a discussion from a member o fthe laity who "knew absolutely nothing about machinery." The speaker suggested among many things that the dealers try to be more uniform in repair charges and to always give the customer a correct estimate as to the repair bill before the work was begun.

Dealers Speak.

W. S. Langford, president of the association and toastmaster, introduced a number of local members and officers of the association who made short addresses. L. L. Dixon made a report of some of the proceedings of the recent state association annual meeting he attended. Two former presidents of the local association, Frank Keim and Frank Queisser, made short addresses. Other local dealers making talks were Loyd Weaver, L. O. Brown and E. V. Leslie. Thanks to C. C. Randle, chairman of the entertainment committee and to Secretary A. L. Weissenborn were expressed by the body.

Preceding the program an elaborate dinner wa served, interspersed with special selections by "Eddie's Trumpeters" with pianologues by "Happy Ray" Thomas, who has just come to Wichita Falls after seven years association with the Neil O'Brien minstrels.

El Paso Editor Sues Klan For $50,000 After Paper Libels Him

Associated Press Dispatch

EL PASO, June 5.—The ku klux klan is named in a suit for $50,000 damages filed in state court here today by Hal F. Kelly, city editor of the El Paso Times. C. L. Sirmans, S. J. Isaacks, Charles De Groff, J. A. Borders, J. M. Crawford and W. J. Moran, named in the petition as defendants, "with many others" whose names are unknown to the plaintiffs, are alleged to be publishers of a "sheet" weekly known as the Frontier Klansman.

It is alleged that Sirmans, who "purports to be the owner and editor of the Frontier Klansmen, is hired by the defendant and the defendants are responsible for the acts complained about."

W. J. Moran is alleged in the petition to be the owner of the printing establishment "where said sheet" is published.

"Dark and Secret."

It is alleged that the "organization meets in the dark and secret and refuses to disclose the names of its members, while at the same time it makes claims that its members are all 100 per cent Americans; that it possesses a power for good in the community, it has had the opposite effect in this community and that where before there existed a spirit of harmony and co-operation there is now suspicion and distrust.

C. L. Sirmans is named as one of the few who admits his membership and calls himself kligerap and as such has charge of the roster or roll of membership.

Basis for Suit.

This is followed in the petition by a demand that he and the defendants produce the roll of said membership as of May 11, 1923.

It is alleged that the following libelous article about the plaintiff appeared in the Klansman on that date:

"It is reported that Hal F. Kelly, city editor of the El Paso Times, was arrested last Sunday for driving a car while intoxicated. The police station reports he was placed in Jail and kept there until bond was furnished. Kelly is very anti-klan as is shown in his writings. This type of man is always anti-klan. No wonder some men object to the all-seeing eye of the klan."

The petition further states that the publication "meant" to convey that the plaintiff "had committed the crime of operating a motor vehicle while drunk and that such charge was false."

21 Horses in English Derby Track Classic

Associated Press Dispatch

EPSOM DOWNS, Eng., June 5.—Twenty-one horses will sport silk tomorrow for the annual running of the historic derby, the blue ribbon event of the English turf. Although tonight the weather is dull and cold, large crowds already have gathered, as is customary, to await the bugle which calls the highly trained animals to the post preparatory to their being sent over hill and down dale for the one-mile and a half race. And thousands of others are on the roads hither, travelling through the night in every conceivable kind of vehicle.

This afternoon many of the enthusiasts lined the course to watch the final workouts of some of the horses which tomorrow are to face the barrier. Among those that were sent over the track were Papyrus, the favorite, which will be ridden by Donohue, who had the leg up on the 1922 winner of the classic event; Town Guard, owned by Lord Woolavington, second choice in the betting, ridden by the American jockey Archibald; and Legality, owned by G. Hulme, which has not ben overlooked by the bettors and whose odds have been considerablely lessened owing to wagers made that he will show the way home to the field.

Just as Town Guard was brought to the post to be sent away his trainers discovered on the track an iron hoop and several huge stones which might have injured the horse had he struck them during his gallop. They scoffed at the idea that the things had been placed on the track with the intention of injuring their horse. Town Guard performed well in his gallop.

Enormous sums have been wagered on the race, each one of the 21 entrants having been well backed. That there are many favorites and near favorites in the race is indicated by the fact that there are few long shots in the big field.

London Secures Ad Convention Over Houston

Associated Press Dispatch

ATLANTIC CITY, June 5.—London in 1924.

This was the unanimous decision reached at the meeting of the club presidents of the Associated Advertising clubs of the World following a dinner tendered them tonight by the Atlantic City Advertising club.

The decision in form of a recommendation will be placed before the convention Thursday afternoon, the final session, and it is regarded as almost certain that the delegates will place the seal of approval on the action of their presidents.

Houston, Texas, whose delegation has been waging a fight to land the big gathering will interpose no opposition for tonight, since its president, C. Howard, seconded the nomination of London, bringing shouts of applause not only from the Britishers, but also from the entire assemblage.

Delegates generally seemed to be of the opinion that Howard's action placed Houston in an excellent position to secure the 1925 convention of the ad clubs.

CORN LANDS TWO BLACKS IN JAIL

A profusion of profanity in the presence of white women, induced by too much corn whiskey, caused the arrest of Ben Jackson and Monty Mitchell, negroes, about 10 o'clock Tuesday night in front of the Zihlman garage on Scott street and charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace made against them by city officers.

Jackson, negro service car driver, was attacked by Mitchell and both indulged in plenty of cursing, according to officers. The arrests were made by Officers Wright, Lay and Jensen, who confiscated the car the negroes were driving and lodged both in the city hall for the night.

It's Easier to Raise Ducks Than Chicks, But Few Here Realize It

By AL OLSTON

Poultry Editor, Record News, Poultry Extension, Mariele Coal and Feed Company, Phone 4331

The raising of ducks and geese is one part of poultry industry in this part of the state that receives very little attention. If the farmers in particular could and would only try to realize the profits in raising well bred ducks and geese, they would soon begin to reap a fat dividend. I personally know of two farmers living in East Texas, who have early 100 men have paid for their farms, supported their families, and paid their help through the returns alone derived from the marketing of geese and ducks. The money received from the rice crops was spent in building materials and farm machinery.

Ducks Easier to Raise

It is amusing to hear so many farmers bewail this cry, "If I could only have had a little rain at such and such a time," or "if the wind hadn't done this or that." There is no need of this wailing and you never heard of it from a practical farmer who takes an interest in his poultry as he does his crop.

To a certain exteni ducks are more profitable than chickens. They are easier to raise, less subject to disease and take much less room. Ducks from the well bred varieties should lay from 100 to 160 eggs per year. The laying season usually begins about the last of January. They grow in weight very fast and in a very short while they are weighing from four and a half to six pounds.

Ducks are never troubled with lice or mitees unless they are housed with other poultry. Although ducks take naturally to water, their housing should always be dry. Dampness or filth are the main causes for diseases. Ducks rarely lay in nests, preferring the floor. They usually lay from 6 to 10 a. m. and should be kept in their pens until this time to prevent them from sealing their nests. For breeding be sure to select birds that have plenty of vigor and vitality. Those used for breeding purposes should have access to some pond or creek in order to get plenty of exercise. A duck must have exercise to produce fertile eggs. I would suggest five or six hens to each drake for breeding purposes.

What to Feed

Feed the young ducklings only damp mashes for the first three weeks and after this time you can let them start having some solid grain foods with the mashes.

Do not let the ducklings get wet before their plumage is wet enough to protect them. Be sure that you have oyster shells, charcoal and sand before them at all times.

Geese are called the grass-eating birds. Be sure to have dry quarters, a low shed is also essential. One drake to four hens should do well for breeding purposes. Breeding geese should be allowed the runs of the pasture.

After a goose has laid a setting of eggs, she will gradually become broody. Break her up the same way you would a setting hen and she will soon start laying again. Remember it takes moisture to have a good bunch of goslings. Chicken chowder, dampened, is a wonderful food for ducklings or goslings.

Answers to Questions

Question: If a chicken is an egg, what is an egg? Will Burbank, Burkburnett.

Answer: To make a long story short, a chicken.

Question: Who is the director of the poultry department of the Texas-Oklahoma fair? Miss Robb Harris, City.

Answer: Mrs. Ira D. Brown, In care of Kemp & Kell, Morgan building.

Harry Thornberry, Texline, Texas.

Answer: The Cornish Game is not a fighting bird. Your scheme is great, caponize the surplus birds if your local market will take care of them. It will pay to send that number to Kansas City, Mo. I am forwarding you a price list of that before Thanksgiving of last year.

I am sure you could find an opening to work at the poultry game here. I would suggest that you insert an ad in this paper.

stage into actual knighthood and into active service in the invisible empire. These citizens cannot be detained longer upon the threshold of the order, but must be admitted and elevated to another realm in which they may find exercise for their restrained and abated forces.

"Another motive for forming the knights kamelia at this particular time is that my original plans, purposes and principles in founding the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan may be observed and consummated. Everything that I have striven to build during the years gone is in peril of being subverted to personal, political and sordid ends. To save the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan from spoliation and destruction, I have determied to establish the knights kamelia and thereby give the klansmen of the invisible empire at least the opportunity to transfer to this primary order of knighthood and establish themselves upon the foundation so laid in the beginning.

Refuge for the Exposed

"The order knights kamelia will also afford a refuge to klansmen who are exposed to the exercise of arbitrary and capricious power. A large number of excellent klansmen of the probationary order have already been banished without trial and without defense, simply because they did not yield in subserviency to authority running mad or lend themselves without protest to policies of tyranny."

The statement of Emperor Simmons then refers to his founding the kamelia, "an organization to be composed of native born, white, pretestant Christian women," and says this met with the instantaneous disapproval of the imperial wizard, and with the recent disfavor of a majority of the kloncilium." He declared this order is present in 20 states. He declares the kamelia, is "as much my child as the klan," and he proposes to see that the two orders are kept separate, but working along parallel lines for the "same great ends." In addition, therefore he says "I am establishing another and separate order of klansmen, from which the order of kamelia expects to receive protection and co-operation."

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 5.—Loss which it is estimated may approximate $300,000 resulted today from the derailment of a southbound Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe train on the Cimarron river bridge near here which sent six cars of gasoline into the river and turned it into a blazing flood.

Two trainmen and three women, who had come down to the river to watch the fire, were slightly injured when one of the cars exploded. The flames extended down the river nearly a mile and had not burned themselves out at 1:30 o'clock.

Efforts at resuscitating him were unavailing.

A general pickup order for all unidentified tramps alleged to have been seen in the vicinity where Moore's body was found a short while before a man answering Moore's description passed the spot has been issued. Otherwise the investigation today had apparently reached a standstill.

OIL STOCKS DROP LOWER

Steels Improve; Copper Firm And Leather Stocks Are Weak

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 5.—Price movements in today's stock market threw little light on the speculative attitude regarding the future course of business. The line of least resistance seemed to be on the upward side with chief interest centered in a few specialties and a select assortment of steels, equipments, oils and low priced rails.

Commission houses reported little public interest in the market, the day's total transaction, with one exception, being the smallest for any full day session this year.

Several times during the course of the day brokers reported a wide spread between the bid and asked prices, even of some of the most active stocks.

Unfavorable conditions in the leather industry were reflected in the weakness of these stocks, American Hide and Leather preferred and Central Leather preferred, each falling about 3½ points, to new low records for the year.

Steels showed moderate improvement. Coppers were firm on reports of better trade conditions. Oils were inclined to sell off, Phillips Petroleum dropping nearly three points and California Petroleum closing a point lower at 112 3-8 after having touched 116.

Speculative expectations of favorable dividend action by several roads in the near future brought fresh buying power into the rail shares.

Call money opened at 4¾ per cent, but advanced to five before the close. Banks are offering time money at five per cent but brokers seem well supplied and are bidding only 4¾.

Foreign exchanges displayed a better tone. Demand sterling held fairly steady around $4.62½ and French francs advanced four points to 6.45. German marks got above .0015 cents but slipped back later to .0014.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 5.—There was renewed nervousness over crop prospects in the cotton market today which led to active covering by recent sellers, and sent the price of October contracts up to 23.91, or 8 points net higher and 121 points above the low price touched on the decline of yesterday morning. October closed at 23.87, with the general market closing firm at net advances of 65 to 81 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 9 to 21 points. There was enough realizing by recent buyers to cause temporary reactions, and the weather map showing less than the expected rain fall was followed by reactions of 20 to 25 points from the best during the middle of the day. The market steadied during the afternoon on numerous reports concerning the appearance of boll weevil, the weather details showing more or less general showers in sections which had too much rain last week, reports of a better demand for new crop shipments from the southwest and rumors that sales of cotton were made out of the local stock. The market worked up to 26.80 for July and 23.55 for December, or 78 to 85 points above yesterday's closing quotations. The close was within a few points of the best. As stocks abroad are small, local bulls expect that the improvement in the demand at Liverpool, if it continues, will soon be reflected by export buying in the southern markets. Port receipts today were 3,780 bales. U. S. port stocks 370,170. Export, 4,400, making 4,465,597 so far thi season.

WHEAT PRICES SCORE GAINS

Closing Up Although Rather Unsettled; Corn Takes Advance

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, June 5.—Helped by a bulge in the value of corn and by gossip that a new reparations offer from Germany might bring about a settlement with France, the wheat market today scored a moderate advance. Closing prices for wheat, although unsettled, were at ⅝ to ⅞ net gain, with July 1.09¼ to 1.09¾ and September 1.09 to 1.09¼. Corn finished half to 2 cents up, oats ⅛ to ⅝ advance and provisions at a rise varying from 7 to 12 cents.

A reaction which took place in the corn market in the final trading, led to a set back also for wheat.

Buoyancy in the corn market resulted from continued scarcity of available supplies and from good shipping demand here. July showed an ascent of 7 cents since last week, before profit-taking set in. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were firmer in sympathy with corn.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, June 5.—Choice yearlings and good fed steers were in demand Tuesday and sold at prices that were fully steady. Two cars of weighty beeves were disposed of at $9.15, a new top for the season on caked cattle and four cars of desirable yearlings were snapped up at $9.00; calves were also disposed of to a good call at unchanged rates. Cows, heifers and medium yearlings also lost 15 to 25 cents and were mostly 25 cents below last week's selling basis. Receipts were estimated at 4,000 head of cattle and 500 calves.

Although most of the hog supply had to sell around five to 10 cents lower, the market opened steady to 5 cents higher to shippers, about 1,000 head being on offer. The shipper top was $7.05, but the best going to packers stopped at $7.00. Pigs brought $5.00 to $5.50.

Sheep house receipts consisted of 500 head, most of the run being yearlings which sold at a decline of 50 cents.

RAIN STOPS TRADE TRIP

Journey Will Be Made By 30 Cars On Thursday This Week

GRAHAM, June 5.—On account of the heavy rain last night, the trade trip which had been planned for today will be postponed until Thursday.

The trip had been promoted by the Retail Merchants' association, indirectly with the chamber of commerce, for the purpose of better advertising Graham as a trading center.

Thirty cars had signed up to go, to be accompanied by the Graham high school band. The route includes South Bend, Elbaville, Cristal Falls and Woodson, coming back by way of Murray. The trip was also to advertise the prizes to be given in Graham July 3, among them being a five-passenger Buick, a Victrola, a complete radio set, and an all-steel kitchen cabinet.

It's a Nice Idea but —
ALL men aren't equal and neither are all valve cups. Far from it.
Two of either may look alike at the start. It's only after they've been going awhile that the difference hits you between the eyes.
You see then that genuine Darcova Valve Cups are putting oil in the pipe line after the other cups have worn out. While you are pulling out and recupping the other valves at a big expense of time, labor and lost oil, the Darcova Cups are working along as well as ever and earning good money for you.
You want trustworthy men and those trustworthy Darcova Valve Cups. It pays to be particular.
Look for the label, and insist on getting genuine Darcova from your dealer.

OUTLAWS SOON TO FREE CAPTIVES

Associated Press Dispatch

TIENSTIN, June 5.—Latest advises from Tsao-Chwang indicate that negotiations with the Paotzuku bandits for the release of eight foreigners still held by them are progressing satisfactorily. The Tsao Chwang messages state that only delay has been caused by discussion among the bandits themselves, but this is diminishing rapidly, as their enrollment in the Chinese army continues. These outlaws who do not wish to join the army are being permitted to depart with their booty and are passing through the military cordon as ordinary coolies.

GALVESTON, June 5.—Tom Connolly, veteran second baseman of the Sand Crabs, has been sold outright to the Dallas club, it was announced here today. Connolly was recently in a mix-up with Manager Pat Newnam at Wichita Falls, and it is thought here he has been wanting a change of atmosphere for some time.

PARIS, June 5.—Mme. Walska's pilgrimage to Warsaw, capital of her native land, to make her debut in grand opera was cancelled today. According to announcement made some time ago, Mme Walska was going to Warsaw at the special invitation of the Polish government.

Friends of the beautiful Polish singer told International News Service the cancellation was due to the fact that Mme Walska's costumes could not be completed in time.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR FELT

Monday Rain Delays Reaping For Several Days Here

Contrary to conditions existing in this section of the state for the past three years, local farmers report that there is a shortage of laborers this spring. Reaping of the grain began in this county about a week ago and the farmers have been handicapped to a certain extent through the shortage of labor.

It is expected, however, with the opening of the harvest season about the middle of this month, that laborers from other sections of the state will come to Wichita county, which is recognized as one of the best grain producing counties in Texas.

The farmers have been at one advantage in the reaping of their grain during the past few days in this section of the state and that advantage is the favorable weather conditions. With the exception of the rain which fell Monday night and early Tuesday morning, there has been no rain for the past ten days.

The rain Monday night, only delayed the reaping for a few brief hours and by noon Tuesday the reapers were again busy in the fields. It is expected that all the grain will be reaped in this county not later than the middle of this month.

WICHITANS LEAVE FOR LEAGUE CONVENTION

Several Epworth league members will leave Wichita Falls this morning en route to Gainesville, where they will attend the North Texas Epworth League convention, which will be in session in that city five days, starting Wednesday. The delegation will meet at the First Methodist church, South, and will make the trip in cars. They will be joined along the route by other league delegations who plan to attend the convention.

Those who will make the trip are: Misses Ida Baggett, Margaret Haney, Lugna Liggett, and Mrs. A. H. Gray, Rev. J. D. Pinkston, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorn, O. Hughes, and Bob McCulloch.

JOHN TARLETON BAND AT GRAHAM

Special Dispatch to Record News

GRAHAM, June 5.—The 30-piece band of the John Tarleton college of Stephenville came here at 11 o'clock yesterday in the interest of the college. They were met by officials of the chamber of commerce and representatives of the civic bodies and entertained at a banquet in the Masonic club rooms at noon. Forty plates were laid, 10 of them being for local citizens. Judge Buck Walker, secretary of the chamber of commerce, acted as master of ceremonies. Short talks were made by Mayor Stinson, by S. Boyd Street, representing the chamber of commerce, County Attorney John B. Rhea, representing the Lions' club, and by Representative W. D. McFarlane, representing the Retail Merchants' association. Rev. Mr. Colpepper responded for the band.

At 1:30 the band gave a concert in the public band stand that attracted quite a crowd. Rev. Mr. Colpepper again spoke on the advantages of an education and especially of the kind John Tarleton had to offer.

The band left at 2:30 for Olney and Archer City.

PICNIC TODAY FOR 200 KIDS

Salvation Army Will Entertain; "Pa" and "Ma" Burdick Transferred

"Hey Skinnay! The gang is going to get lots of good eats and drinks this morning at Scotland Park at 9:30."

The occasion for bringing good cheer to more than 200 Wichita children who rarely enjoy the privilege of eating all the sandwiches, ice cream and salad they want is the annual picnic o fthe Salvation Army this morning. Everybody will gather at the Salvation Army headquarters at 9 o'clock for the picnic.

The kiddies are expected to be there a hundred per cent strong. The fact that "Ma" and "Pa" Burdick will this morning be on the job for the last time in Wichita Falls at the annual picnic makes it important that all the children be given an opportunity to enjoy the outing to the fullest.

The Burdicks, who have been in charge of the local Salvation Army post for three years have been transferred to Chicago where their duties will begin June 15, next. Everyone is expressing genuine regret at the loss to Wichita Falls of these popular Army workers.

Suspended Five Year Term for Negress Slayer

A verdict of guilty and a 5-year, suspended sentence was returned Tuesday afternoon against Willie Anderson, negress, on trial in the Eighty-ninth district court for murder in connection with the death of her husband, Aubrey Anderson who was shot September 6, 1922, at his home on Eleventh street and his wife was immediately arrested.

The case reached the jury's hands at 3 o'clock and a verdict was returned an hour later.

Testimony in the case was started Monday and concluded Tuesday morning. In testifying in her own defense, the negress told of alleged abuses she had suffered at the hands of her husband and of the manner in which he had neglected her. She declared that on the night of the shooting, he had attacked her and she had fired in self defense.

City Threatened By Loss of 20 Refineries Thru Proposed Law

Texas Plants Would Be Taxed $33 Car, Outsiders Pay Not One Dime, Says Act

The refusal of a majority of the senate state affairs committee Tuesday to report favorably on the Patman amendment to the Cowen gasoline tax bill, providing a tax on all refiners was received here by local refiners with much enthusiasm. This refusal of the affairs committee to favorably endorse the Patman amendment is regarded as a first line victory for the refiners of Texas who are opposed solidly to the passage of the amendment. This, by no means, is final, however.

Wichita Falls may be legislated out of her 20 remaining oil refineries, if plans of Representative Wright Patman to secure the passage of a bill requiring a tax of one-third of a cent on all gasoline refined in Texas materializes, according to opinions being expressed by leading oil men of this city.

Such a tax as provided for by the Patman bill, if passed, is taken in the nature of an affront by local refiners who have looked into the situation from all angles. Instead of encouraging the refining of oil in Texas the Patman bill seems designed to make the refiners pay a high price for the privilege of making gasoline in Texas.

Competition Impossible.

Instead of allowing the refiners all the latitude possible to bring to Texas more refineries and place these in close proximity to the oil fields, the Patman bill is making it practically impossible for Texas refiners to compete with those of the neighboring states, it is shown.

W. B. Hamilton, president of the Texhoma company, in discussing the proposed Patman bill states that a tax of one-third cent on the gallon for all gasoline refined would result in an additional cost of $33 on each car of gasoline shipped by Texas refiners. This tax of $33 would make it practically impossible to compete with refiners from Oklahoma, Louisiana and other states, who of course, would not have to pay the additional increase, Mr. Hamilton shows. Naturally, he points out, the Patman bill will be a boon to out of state refiners while it practically ruins the Texas refiners.

21 Already Forced Out.

"Wichita Falls in the past four years has had 41 refineries. Of this number 21 have already been forced to go out of business. There are at present 20 operating refineries here. If this bill should be passed every refinery in Wichita Falls would be forced to either quit business or move into Oklahoma or some other state. Again the Patman bill is fundamentally wrong in that it attempts to curb gasoline production instead of encouraging it,' Mr. Hamilton continued.

Refiners to Protest.

Arrangements are being made by practically every refinery in Wichita Falls to send a representative to Austin when the Patman bill comes up for discussion. It is learned that every means will be used to convince the legislators that such a bill will drive from Texas most of its refineries.

Particularly will it effect Wichita Falls should the 20 now operating refineries have to close. It is hard to estimate the number of people now on the payroll of local refiners that would be put out of employment and the millions of dollars loss that would accrue to the city, if the Patman bill with its alleged defects should become a law, oil men aver.

SPEED LIMIT IS SET AT 20 MILES

25 Will Be Limit On Country Roads In Few Days

A uniform speed limit of 20 miles an hour through the entire city, fire limits, business district and all, is to become effective within the next few days, according to an announcement Tuesday by City Attorney E. M. Mann. At the same time, speed will be reduced on county roads from 35 to 25 miles an hour.

Mr. Mann's announcement was made after he had received a copy of new speed regulations passed by the last legislature. At just what date the laws were to become effective, Mr. Mann did not know but stated that he would have further information on this when he returned Thursday from Dallas.

Heretofore, the city speed limit has been 20 miles an hour in residential sections and 10 miles an hour in the fire districts. Under terms of the new laws, the fire limit restrictions are removed.
