Russia Takes Up Treatment Of Prisoners

Appeal Made To Japs For British

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 25.—The Soviet union has made representations to Japan on behalf of British war prisoners, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden revealed in Commons today.

Eden said he requested Russia to approach the Japanese and while the Soviet replied that these matters usually were left to the protecting power (Switzerland), Russia had agreed to intercede.

U. S. ALSO INVOLVED

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP) — State department officials revealed tonight that the Soviet Union in making representations to Japan on behalf of war prisoners is acting for the United States as well as for Great Britain.

The foreign secretary said the three points on which satisfaction was wanted were:

1. The right of the protecting power and the International Red Cross to visit the camps.

2. A complete list of British prisoners and internes and a list of those who have died.

3. That the Japanese should agree to receive Red Cross supplies sent by neutral ships and to distribute them .

REVISION OF TERMS WITH ITALY INDICATED

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's statement that he found it "difficult to nourish animosity against the Italian people" suggested today that a revision of Armistice terms with Italy is under consideration.

It was learned here that one of the main problems concerning Italy is the status of 50,000 Italian war prisoners in the United States and other thousands held by the British.

Many of them are already working for the Allied cause, but on strictly behind-the-lines jobs and both they and the Italian government would like to see them back on front-line duty.

The Italian government has been casting about for some new move to acquire additional prestige in Italy and diplomatic sources here thought it might take the form of an armstice revision.

Some of the terms have already become obsolete ,such as turning over the Italian fleet to the Allies.

The Italian government would like to become a full ally as well as to secure the return of war prisoners to Italy as front-line soldiers.

It is virtually out of the question that Italy's dual status as a defeated nation and a co-belligerent will be changed but some move may be made to return proven anti-facist Italian prisoners in this country to the front.

WLB Authority Is Challenged

DETROIT, May 25. (AP)—The regional War Labor board acted today in hopes of ending one Michigan strike while participants in another walkout challenged authority of the national WLB to forbid negotiations between company and union while a strike was in progress.

Calling on officials of the AFL Teamsters union to order back to work 1,000 drivers for 46 Detroit bakeries, the regional board warned them it would not act on a pending wage adjustment until the strike was ended.

Challenge to the authority of the national WLB came from Chester Adamczyk, president of local 176, United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers of America (CIO), representing 1,900 employes on strike at two plants of Parke- Davis & Co. The strike has affected production of penicillin and other medical supplies.

No-Strike Pledge Cited

William H. Davis, national WLB chairman, telegraphed union leaders that nothing in the act relieved them of their no-strike pledge and directed them and the company to refrain from negotiations until the strikers returned to work.

Adamczyk telegraphed Davis today denying the WLB chairman's power "to interfere with or prevent negotiation between the union and the company to settle this dispute," and challenged Davis to "point out to us which paragraph or section of the war labor disputes act or any other act gives you such power.

Union demands in the strike, which began Tuesday, include a union shop, 10-cent general wage increase and reclassification of jobs.

U. S. Almost Unopposed In Raids On Marcus And Wake

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

American carrier forces lashed almost unopposed at Marcus and Wake islands, on the Central Pacific seaway to Tokyo, while United States submarines sank 15 more Japanese ships in enemy waters, the Navy announced yesterday.

Only two Nipponese planes were seen in the two day strike at Marcus last Friday and Saturday. One was shot down and the other wrecked on the ground. Marcus, 1,137 miles southeast of Tokyo, is supposed to be an air base and aerial reconnaissance post.

Similarly weak opposition was encountered Tuesday at oft-bombed Wake, but that was expected.

Only four American planes and three airmen were lost in the two-pronged strike. Japanese buildings and installations were left shattered and in flames. One enemy ship was sunk.

When and if Marcus and Wake are knocked out as aerial reconnaissance posts, as was indicated by the two-edged strike, the American fleet will be free to roam the northwestern Pacific up to Japan's inner defense line without detection.

Submarines, which regularly penetrate all enemy defense lines, sank a destroyer, four transports, three tankers and seven freighters in their latest toll. They have definitely sunk 41 Japanese ships this month and 573 since the start of the war. More than 150 others have been damaged and perhaps sunk.

Southwest Pacific

U. S. Army infantrymen, supported by tanks, artillery and Australian-flown Kittyhawks, drove to the edge of the partially completed Japanese Maffin airdrome in western New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today. When taken it will be the ninth New Guinea airfield captured since the landings April 22 at Hollandia and Titape on New Guinea.

MacArthur reported that the Japanese have suffered 3,222 casualties in the Hollandia and Titape campaigns where they lost five airdomes.

Boston attack planes flew 250 miles beyond Maffin to bomb Noemfoor island airdromes, west of the Schouten Islands. Nineteen Nipponese planes were destroyed on the ground in attacks Sunday and Wednesday.

Tokyo Claims Loyang

On the land fronts Tokyo claimed the capture of Loyang, ancient capital of China, but met reverses elsewhere.

Chinese commanders admitted Loyang was surrounded, under incessant artillery, tank and infantry attack, but claimed the defending garrison still clung to the isolated city. The ill-equipped Chinese had only mortars, grenades and rifles to fight off the mechanized invaders.

Chungking conceded its revived offensive in other sections of Honan province had been stopped by superior enemy forces.

But in extreme southwestern China, American-trained Chinese troops stormed into the mountain village of Tatangtzu, wiping out the garrison of more than 1,000 men. The vallage is only 29 miles from Tengchung, one of the Salween river bases from which the Japanese are trying to block the drive into Burma.

On the other end of the Allied drive to reopen the Burma road, American and Chinese troops continued their bloody house to house fight through the muddy streets of Myitkyina, main enemy base in North Burma. Chinese drove five miles down the Mogaung valley toward the secondary base of Mogaung.

Counterattacks were repulsed both in North Burma and in southeast India where other Japanese units were isolated.

Gilchrist, New President Of A. & M. Asserts School Will Meet Great Challenge

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLLEGE STATION, May 25. (AP)—Gibb Gilchrist, dean of Texas A. and M. college's school of engineering since 1937 and a former state highway engineer, today became the college's 15th administrative officer by unanimous vote of the board of directors.

Before a special meeting of the board and deans and directors of the college, Gilchrist accepted the appointment as president with the statement:

"My only purpose is to help lead this institution to greater things. Texas A. and M. is already a great institution and to make it greater is a challenge I'm sure we can and will meet."

"Without your cooperation I can accomplish nothing. I'm sure I will have it."

Begins Tenure Saturday

The 57-year-old native Texan will begin his tenure Saturday, succeeding Dean Frank C. Bolton who has served as acting president since August 7 when the board failed to re-elect Dr. T. O. Walton, president since 1925.

The naming of Gilchrist drew an opinion in Houston from J .P. Hamblen, outgoing president of the A. and M. Ex-Students association that his election would be approved generally by former students of the college and he association.

Also, at San Angelo, State Senator Penrose Metcalfe, chairman of a Senate educational committee which received testimony on the school's administrative affairs, commented that Gilchrist had handled the state highway department in a most efficient and commendable manner, and "I hope he'll be able to handle the situation at the college as well."

There had been a controversy over the college's presidency since last March.

In an interview after his election, Gilchrist said:

"I don't have any plans to announce just now. I'm going to start in and do the best I can. We're going to try to go forward with the school. I realize the tremendous responsibility of the position."

Meeting with the board of directors to hear the announcement of Gilchrist's appointment, deans and directors of the college expressed gratification with the board' action and pledged their

Lt. Samuel Archer Missing In Action

Lt. Samuel O. Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Archer of 1922 Fourteenth street, has been missing in action over Germany since May 8, according to a telegram from the War department received by his parents. He was engaged as a navigator in the Army Air forces with base in England.

ARCHER

Lt. Archer entered the service in February of 1943. He received his training at Hondo Army Air field, and had been overseas about a month. Formerly a school teacher at Shallowater and Seagraves, Lt. Archer received his degree from West Texas State Teacher's college at Canyon.

Red Planes Sink Two More Nazi Transports

LONDON, May 25. (AP) — Destruction of two more German transports in the gulf of Finland by Russian planes was announced tonight in the Broadcast Moscow communique.

The two vessels, one of 4,000 and the other of 3,000 tons, were reported discovered by the air arm of the Red banner Baltic fleet and promptly destroyed.

The lull in ground fighting continued and the communique said there had been "no essential changes at the front.'

Soldier Blamed In Dual Slaying

ABILENE, Texas, May 25. (AP)—Justice of the Peace W. J. Cunningham found today that 1st Lt. Donald K. Bush, 25, shot his wife to death and then killed himself at the home of Mrs. Bush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brooks, here yesterday.

Cunningham said his finding was based upon sworn testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks taken in a court of inquiry held in the office of assistant District Attorney Dan Abbott.

The act was committed, the peace justice stated, while Lt. Bush was under severe nerve strain and near a nervous breakdown, a condition that had existed since his return from overseas duty.

War On Guadalcanal

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks both testified that the Army lieutenant "had not been natural" since he returned after 15 months on Guadalcanal island, he added. They told the court that Bush had frequent weeping spells.

Cunningham gave this story of the shooting, as revealed by the testimony at the court of inquiry:

Mrs. Brooks said Lt. and Mrs. Bush and their baby had planned to go to Independence, Mo., to visit his parents yesterday. He was to go from there to his new station at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., and his family was to join him as soon as he found a place for them to live.

Mrs. Brooks testified that she saw Bush shoot his wife and that she ran with the baby to a neighbor's. When Brooks arrived, he said, he found his daughter lying at the front door, her pulse barely beating, and found Bush dead, with a pistol at his side.

Restrictions Lifted From Lard Entirely

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — All rationing restrictions were removed from lard today by the Office of Price administration because the present supply is considered adequate for purchase of lard since March 3, but as a result of today's action all restrictions on the amount of lard that may be acquired by industrial or institutional users are removed and all record keeping and reporting requirements under OPA regulations eliminated.

Fleeing Nazis Are Pounded Mercilessly

Battle For Rome Is Believed Near

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 25.—Americans of the Anzio beachhead forces joined with Americans of the main Fifth Army front in a dramatic, long-awaited meeting in the Pontine marshes below Rome today after 14 days of a whirlwind offensive that had cracked the back of the German defenses in Italy.

Tank-supported United States infantrymen crumpled German positions at the heart of Cisterna, enemy stronghold on the Appian Way, and were battling to wipe out the last sniper nests there athwart the road to Rome. Lt. Eugene Bacon of Danville, Ill., forceast that all the Germans left in the city would be dead or captured within a few hours.

Close On 60-Mile Flank

Tonight the united Fifth Army forces closed in along a 60-mile flank of the hard-pressed German armies, which had relinquished the entire west coastal area of Italy southward from the Molletta river, only a score of miles below Rome.

Allied warplanes were pounding the retreating Germans ceaselessly, taking a terrific toll of men and material .

The battle of the beachhead, which had raged intermittently for four months, and the battle of the Hitler line, which required only a few days, were finished, and the final, decisive battle for Rome and the extermination of the Germans in Italy appeared to be already beginning.

Official reports indicated that the enemy was massing in several places for new counterattacks to break the force of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's thrust toward the Italian capitol.

Relentlessly Hammered

As the Nazis reeled back upon their "last ditch" defense line before the Eternal City, they were relentlessly hammered by Allied infantry and armor and harassed by clouds of Allied warplanes.

From north of Rome long columns of enemy reinforcements were seen rushing toward the unequal battle, a last-minute expedient of Field Marshal Albert Kesselring as he sought to avert a rout. Allied fighter planes and bombers were sweeping low and taking a terrible toll of these reserves. In two days more than 1,000 German vehicles had been destroyed or damaged from the air.

(A Swedish correspondent quoted a German military spokesman in Berlin as declaring that "Rome will be defended." The German high command daily communique said Kesselring was withdrawing to a new line "northeast of the Appian Way.")

Epic Of Anzio Ends

The four-month epic of the Anzio beachhead ended officially at 7:31 a. m. today, when Capt. Ben Souza of Honolulu, a member of the beachhead forces, halted his patrol of 20 men at a point a few miles below Littoria on the coastal road. Approaching him he saw Lt. Francis X. Buckley of Philadelphia and Pvt(AP). Lupe Sabala of Salinas, Calif.

"Where are you going?" demanded Souza.

"To make contact with the beachhead," replied Buckley.

"You've already made contact," grinned Souza.

Two-Way Air Blows Crush Nazi Centers

Raiders Hit Unprecendented Rocket Barrage Over Coast

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 25—More than 6,000 Allied planes attacked German airdromes and transportation centers on the continent with over 8,000 tons of bombs today in a crushing two-way assault during which American Fortresses and Liberators, storming the west wall, ran into an unprecedented concentration of exploding rockets thrown up by suddenly-increased ground defenses.

At least 21 rail centers and 15 air fields upon which Germany has been leaning heavily for defense of Fortress Europe were pounded in this seventh day of furious pre-invasion air onslaught, a day in which the attacks ranged from Toulon in southern France to the German capital itself.

From Britain and Italy

From 750 to 1,000 American heavies based in Britain slammed explosives on four air fields, nine freight yards and other military targets in northeastern France and Belgium, another American daylight fleet from Italy attacked the Mediterranean port of Toulon and the rail center of Lyons, 200 miles farther north, the funnel to the southeastern French defense zone.

A U. S. Strategic Air forces communique reported that nine enemy aircraft were destroyed in the sweep against the west wall, against a loss of four American bombers and 12 fighters.

There was no fighter opposition to this assault, the American planes going down before the strong anti-aircraft fire and a spectacular rocket defense.

The luftwaffe, frayed from coping with yesterday's simultaneous assaults on Berlin and Vienna and last night's RAF armada of 500 heavy bombers, did not risk their air force to defend today's targets, but augmented anti-aircraft batteries throughout the occupied lands threw up a terrific barrage of flak, including green and black fields of exploding rockets.

No reports were available as yet on the attack by the Mediterranean force on southern France, during which, Liberator crewmen reported, the Carnoules yards, 15 miles northeast of Toulon, and the

Contracts Let On Two School Jobs

Bids On New Building Rejected As "Too High"; Local Firms Get All Contracts

The Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night awarded contracts for construction of an 4-room addition to Sanders Ward school and an 8-room addition to Dunbar High school for negroes, but rejected as "too high" all bids offered for construction of a new ward school building in the Friend addition just northwest of the city limits.

Guy Gilstrap was awarded the general construction contract on the Sanders addition, in the sum of $12,670, agreeing to finish the work in 120 days. Bell Plumbing and Heating Co. got the work in its field in the sum of $1,592; while electrical work went to Neill & Henry, in the sum of $392.60. Total cost of the Sanders work will be $14,654.60. All three were low bidders and all are located in Lubbock.

All Contracts To Low Bidders

The Dunbar addition's general contract went to Carl Maxey in the sum of $34,445; The Anthony Co. got the plumbing contract for $4,850; the electrical contract, at $862.82, went to Lowrey Electric Co. All successful bidders were low and all are located in Lubbock. The Dunbar addition, while to be a part of the present negro high school building, will be utilized to teach grade school children. Total cost of the project will be $40,157.82. Contract time for completion is 150 days.

Approximately 20 men, representing various interested bidders and handlers of construction materials were present at the opening of bids. Unsuccessful bidders included: (general) Sampson Bros., Lubbock; James I. Barnes & Co., and Samuel Johnson Co., both of Dallas; Linbeck & Dederick, and Thomas Bate, and Sons, both of Houston; (plumbing and heating) Roche Newton Co., and Bell Co., both of Lubbock; (electrical) Ansley Co., Hensley Co. and J. D. Nelson, all of Lubbock; and Sands Electric Co., Dallas.

Six members of the seven man Board of Trustees were present, including Vice-Chairman W. G. Alderson, Secretary R. F. Bayless, E. J. Parsons, Paul Hardwick, H. L. Allen and Chas. A. Guy. The

Swancutt Avers He Loved Girl

CAMP ANZA, Calif., May 25. (AP) — Testimony that he and 19-year-old Dorothy Douglas were in love with each other was given today by 2nd Lt. Beaufort G. Swancutt at his courtmartial on charges of slaying her and three other persons in an outburst of gunfire March 5.

The officer, whose wife has testified in his defense, told a 12-man military court that Miss Douglas "was the only woman I ever lover or ever could love."

"I had this feeling for her when I returned from overseas and I have it right now," he declared. "She knew it and I knew it."

Defense Ends Case

The defense rested late today and the hearing adjourned until tomorrow. A verdict tomorrow was indicated when prosecution counsel announced that only about an hour more would be required for testimony.

Regarding the night of the shooting, when he was wounded by an arresting officer, Swancutt testified:

"Everything was sort of black. I thought I was overseas in some kind of battle. I thought that I was fighting Japanese soldiers. The next I remembered was being wheeled down the corridor in

Food Outlook In U. S. Said Good

OWI Fears Canned Vegetables Short

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — The Office of War Information predicted tonight that the nation's food situation "should remain good for the next several months" but that the civilian supply of canned vegetables during the year starting July 1 would be "the shortest in years."

The OWI report, analyzing the food outlook for the 1944-45 farm year, gave this summing-up: "We will probably have rationing of one type of food or another, off and on, until the war is won."

The present ration-free status of most meats should prevail for several months, OWI said, but the choicer cuts and grades of beef, pork, veal and lamb may be more scarce later in the year.

Most Items Adequate

"Our supplies of fresh vegetables and fruits are adequate, as well as those of milk, eggs, poultry, fats and oils," the report said.

"The sugar situation, however, is still difficult and civilian supplies of the principal commercially canned vegetables for the pack year beginning July 1 will be the shortest in years.

"The amount of canned fruits allocated to civilians will be about the same as last year's short supply."

The present point-holiday on canned vegetables was termed only temporary, and points will be restored at a date now unpredictable. Twenty per cent less canned vegetables will be available for civilians in the year starting July 1 than in the current year while a 15 per cent drop will be felt in tomato and other vegetable juices. The reason, OWI said, is an estimated 70 per cent greater demand by the Army and Navy.

Specialties To Increase

On the other hand, there will be a 28 per cent increase in the civilian supply of baby foods, canned soups, baked beans and other canned specialties.

Other highlights:

There will be six to eight per cent less butter in the last half of this year than in the first, and 15 per cent less lard. But there will be 12 per cent more margerine and six per cent more shortening.

Civilians may expect less chicken this year than last, and slightly less milk and cream.

No increase in sugar rations appears possible.

Egg production, at an all-time high, calls for a high rate of civilian consumption.

New Policy Aids Sustained Power

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The sustained power which has kept American troops rolling in the Italian offensive was attributed by Secretary of War Stimson today to the new Army policy of immediate combat replacements.

Under the new system, fresh troops are kept in readiness immediately behind the fighting line, and casualties in front line units are replaced at once.

The innovation, which officials said has had a marked effect on the morale of the fighting men, was adopted only recently after the unit strength of the Army was completed.

Italian Drive Cited

Stimson, at a news conference, called attention to the plan's success in the Italian drive as "a demonstration of the importance of the efforts to obtain for our Army young and vigorous replacements which the War department has emphasized so strongly during recent months."

Discussing the junction of American patrols from the Anzio beachhead with south front troops, Stimson said:

"We can now begin to see the extent and scope of our operations in Italy and the first fruits of our progress."

The American elements, he noted, have advanced more than 60 miles in 13 days.

Selective Service Prescribes Guide To Reemployment Of Vets In Former Jobs

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP) — Selective Service tonight provided a guide for the reemployment of war veterans in their former jobs.

In the first codification of the guarantees of the Selective Service and training act, the agency told local draft boards and their reemployment committeemen assigned to handle veterans' problems that:

During a veteran's period of active service his seniority rights accumulate in the same manner they would if he had remained continuously at his civilian job.

It was pointed out, however, that in order to qualify for reinstatement in a former position, veterans must be qualified to handle the job.

In the event a veteran is not qualified for a better position, "he is nevertheless, entitled to a position equal in seniority, status and pay to the one he left," the memorandum said.

Job guarantees of the act apply not only to men drafted, but to all persons, men and women, who entered military or naval service subsequent to May 1, 1940. Evidence of satisfactory completion of service qualifies a veteran for reemployment.

Selective service made it clear that veterans who left a temporary position are not entitled to reemployment.

A private employer is not required to reinstate a veteran if his circumstances have changed to make it "unreasonable or impossible" for him to do so.

The memorandum also points out that:

Qualified veterans are entitled to reinstatement even though it necessitates the discharge of a non-veteran with greater seniority.

A selective service spokesman said, however, that this would not mean that there would be wholesale dismissals of older employes to find spots for veterans, since the veteran would be restored insofar as possible to the job he formerly held and which had been temporarily filled.

In a provision understood to be aimed at union contracts, the memorandum says:

"If, upon a veteran's return from military service, he finds that his employer has entered into employment agreements with others setting up conditions of employment different from those which existed at the time the veteran left, the veteran cannot be deprived of his reemployment rights by reason of these agreements."

MORNING ESSAY

ONE of the most appealing of America's postwar plans is the promise of the manufacture of many articles that today either are made solely for the war effort or are locked in blue prints in laboratories. But also appealing is the thought there will be manufactured many products which today are dormant in minds of certain human being but which will be awakened by a crisis or incentive, or both.

Lately we read an excellent article on the ambitions of James F. Lincoln whose Celeveland company bearing his name makes generators and welding machines and who has gone to court because his idea of industry and economics conflict with those of the government's. We're pretty confused about this whole mess between labor and management and Lincoln's thoughts on free enterprise seemed lucid and logical.

LINCOLN believes there is tremenduous latent ability in almost every normal individual. This is developed in two way, he says: The coming of a crisis or through incentive. For the former he cites the examples of Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant who previous to the Civil war were respectively a country lawyer, admittedly lazy, and a drunken loafer. Crises made them great. An example of the latter he cites in the history of his plant, built on the incentive method and fair play. The law of hard work, with a labor thought worthy of his hire, is as great as any creed or constitution, Lincoln believes.

Whether peole know it or not, we are going through a revolution, the most serious America has ever experienced, this company president declares. The fight is whether the government shall be the servant of the people or the people the servant of the government. To date bureaucracy is winning over free enterprise but Lincoln believes that this handicap is merely temporary. A country whose industrial system has made her the arsenal of democracy will vote out the short-sighted policies of present bureaucrats, he believes.

A legion of men must have gone to their graves without developing their capabilities; men who were potential Fords, Edisons, Wrights and Steinmetzes. If crisis and incentive will bring these capabilities to the surface and make them usable to the profit of all concerned, then it seems important to us that management should know it. Will America have a greater postwar plan?

Famed Quad Sister To Wed Sergeant Early In June

OKLAHOMA CIT, May 25. (AP)—The last of Oklahoma's beautiful and long-celebrated quadruplet sisters, Mary Keys, will march to the altar on June 9 to climax a romance that began a year ago at Camp Hood, Texas, shortly after she became an Army hostess.

She will be married to Sgt. Jack P. Anderson of Plano, Texas, former Baylor university and New York Giants football player. Announcement of their engagement was made here by Miss Keys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flake M. Keys.

Miss Keys and Sgt. Anderson, both Baylor graduates, for a time attended the university simultaneously but did not meet until they reached Camp Hood.

The marriage ceremony will be performed at the camp.

To Wear Sisters' Gown

Miss Keys will be wed in the same gown her sisters used and the ceremony will duplicate that of the previous weddings — one sister, Mrs. Robert T. Hall, will be matron of honor and the other two, Mrs. Robert Fowler and Mrs. Roland Torn, will be bridesmaids.

The bride-to-be will follow the footsteps of Mrs. Hall, also a hostess at Camp Hood, who was married to a master sergeant of the camp last October.

Mrs. Fowler, the former Mona Keys, was the first of the quads to wed and the first to become a mother. She was married in 1940 and a daughter, Gloria, was born in 1942. Second to take the vows was Roberta, who became Mrs. Torn in 1941.

The quads, long described as Oklahoma's "Bunch of Keys," were acclaimed the first in medical history to attain maturity.

Born In Oklahoma

They were born on June 4, 1915, at Hollis, Okla., where their parents lived until the girls were graduated from Baylor. Until the first was married, the quads were inseparable companions.

Sgt. Anderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Anderson of Plano, was employed by an oil company in Texas before entering service two years ago.

Officiating at the ceremony will be Chaplain John P. Neal, formerly of Wellington, Texas, close friend of the Keys family.

Plan For Uniting Of Presbyterian Churches To Be Proposed Today

MONTREAT, N. C., May 25. (U.P.)—A report asking study of a plan of uniting Northern and Southern Presbyterian churches is expected to be one of the chief issues tomorrow of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

The assembly opened its 84th session tonight with an address by the Rev. Donald W. Richardson, D. D., Richmond, Va., moderator, and with election of a 1944 moderator, to preside at business sessions of the six-day convention.

A report of the permanent committee on cooperation and union of the North-South segments, to be presented tomorrow, does not ask for a vote on the subject but that a reunion plan, sent down to ministers, be studied for future guidance.

BIBLE IS STUDIED

Mrs. H .W. Holyfield led a devotion at a meeting of Women's Missionary society of East Side church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. T. Meek taught a lesson from St. Matthew: 12. She and Mrs. Hershel Hinkle led closing prayers.

Churchman Urges Economic Justice

CHICAGO, May 25. (U.P.)—The Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, president of the Union Theological seminary at New York, today recommended that the Presbyterian church take a definite stand calling for economic justice in the world.

"Obsolete economic structures must be torn down and carted off," Dr. Coffin said in the opening address of the 156th general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States. "Our generation has shown the intimate connection between the political and economic arrangements of a nation and of mankind."

Between 1397 and 1814, Norway and Denmark were united as one state.

Subs Sink 15 More Ships; New U-Boat Weapon In Use

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Cutting down the Japanese merchant fleet at the rate of better than a ship a day, American submarines have sunk 15 more vessels. And to protect Allied ships from U-boats the Navy has a new weapon—rockets.

This was disclosed today in a communique listing the latest bag by American submersibles operating in the Pacific, and in the first announcement that rockets, fired from torpedo bombers have ben used to destroy a German undersea raider.

U-Boat Sunk Quickly

"Attacking with rocket projectiles developed by the U. S. Navy and backing up this new-style onslaught with older weapons, the American aircraft apparently destroyed the enemy without damage to themselves," the Navy reported in telling of the probable sinking of "a big German U-boat in a matter of minutes."

The communique telling of American submarine successes added another Japanese destroyer to the 46 Nipponese warships they already had been credited with sinking. It, with the 14 other vessels sunk, brought to 41 the number of Japanese ships reported sent to the bottom by submarines this month.

Japs Trying Convoys

Inclusion of the destroyer — fifth warship announced sunk this month — indicated strongly that the Japanese are trying desperately, but unsuccessfully, to convoy merchant craft in movement of supplies and men to their garrisons in the Central and Southwest Pacific areas.

In addition to the destroyer, the latest bag of the American submarines includes three tankers, three cargo transports, seven cargo vessels and a small transport. This brought to 724 the number of Japanese ships sunk, probably sunk or damaged by U. S. submarines since the war started.

In Sight Of Shoreline

No information was given on where or when the American submarines made their successful assaults upon Japanese convoys. However, the submarines are known to have operated within sight of the Japanese shore line.

Likewise, the Navy gave no information on where two Grumman Avenger torpedo bombers equipped with rockets located and sank the German U-boat in a brief but furious action in the Atlantic "early this year."

The Navy also gave no description of the rocket firing devices.

Sheep Shipments To Fort Worth At Peak

FORT WORTH, May 25. (AP)—Certainty that financial records, as well as numerical ones, will be smashed by Texas sheepmen's shipments to Fort Worth in May was disclosed by a check of receipts through the first four days of marketing this week. Goal of 500,000 sheep in the month was in easy reach after Thursday's arrivals had been tabulated and it appeared that the figure would be nearer 600,000.

Well lover $4,000,000 is being paid the growers for the sheep and lambs in the month of May as receipts now total 487,518 through the first 25 days of the month. This figure is 333,360 above arrivals the same dates a year ago. Since January 1 a total of 746,711 sheep were handled at the market, a gain of 299,270 above the 1943 figures for the same period.

Monday's revised total showed 48,056 sheep handled, a new one day record, and the third consecutive Monday on which the all time record was smashed.

South America contains about 14 per cent of the globe's land surface.

Vaccine Designed To Check Gas Gangrene

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—A new vaccine designed to check the "deadly menace" of gas gangrene when our armies land on the "contaminated soil of Europe" will be ready when needed, says Dr. A. Newton Richards of the U. S. Office of Scientific Research and Development (OSRD).

A group (of scientists) in Cincinnati has been working hard and with good success to develop a vaccine which will prevent infection with the gas-gangrene bacilli," he told the House appropriations committee.

"The problem is complicated," he said, "but enough progress has been made to make us feel sure that with the combination of a protective vaccine plus penicillin, we shall be able to do something that was utterly impossible in the last war.

"There are companies being indoctrinated now in the making of the vaccine so that it will be ready in reasonable quantity when the times comes."

(Gas Grangrene, a deadly complication of war wounds, is caused by germs which are present in the soil of fertile lands.)

Rural Schools Close With Commencements

Idalou, Frenship and New Deal rural high schools held commencement exercises Thursday night and the Idalou grade school graduation is set for tonight at 9:15 o'clock at the school.

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the Lubbock First Methodist church, addressed the Idalou graduates. H. A. Harrison presented awards to the honor students. Evalyn Brunson and Aretta McCoy, and Supt. L. K. Kinsey presented diplomas to the graduates.

New Deal school commencement at Monroe featured four talks by seniors and D. L. James, principal, recognized the honor students, Bettye Jo Jackson and Felicia Goebel. Diplomas were presented by Supt. A. L. Faubion.

Frenship commencement was held in the Wolfforth Baptist church and diplomas were presented to thirty-one graduates.

9-Column Classified Pages Being Adopted

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers association reported today that a check-up of 421 daily newspapers indicated 54 had changed classified advertising pages to nine columns from the normal eight in order to print more advertisements without using more newsprint paper.

The ANPA noted that a printing machinery concern found net saving of space from such a change apparently was approximately 2 per cent.

HOPING FOR BEST

WASHINGTON, May 25. (U.P.)—Speaker Sam Rayburn said today that he is still without complete knowledge of what occurred at the Democratic state convention split in Texas, but "I think everything will work out all right in Texas. It always does—Texas always lands on both feet."

Texans Silent On Demo Split

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP)—Most of the 23-member Texas Democratic delegation in Congress today had nothing to say concerning the discord in their party's state convention this week over the fourth term question but a few asserted they would support the party's presidential nominee, whoever he might be.

At his press conference, Speaker Sam Rayburn said he had no official word of his selection as a delegate by the rump group and expressed the conviction "everything will work out all right in Texas."

"Texas always lands with its feet on the ground," said Rayburn, who has served, with Majority Leader McCormack of Massachusetts, in a liaison capacity between the White House and recalcitrant Democrats in the House.

O'Daniel's "Second Front"

An anti-fourth termer, Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex), said "about a year ago we opened a second front down in Texas. We closed in and established a beachhead at Austin. The real Democrats didn't ask the Army to come in and oust the New Dealers. They just chased them out."

Rep. Thomason of El Paso, chairman of the congressional delegation, said, "I don't know anything about the pros and cons of the convention. I'm going to support the nominee of the party, regardless. I'm neither criticizing nor applauding the action at the Austin convention."

Rep. Patman of Texarkana, said, "Certainly, I'll support the nominee of the party. I don't have enough information on the situation to comment further."

Rep. Poage of Waco said he also would support the nominee. Rep. West of Brownsville, opponent of many administration measures, commented, "I've never bolted the regularly constituted Democratic party and I see no reason for doing so now."

"I never did like to play with rattlesnakes for a pastime," asserted Rep. Fisher of San Angelo, who is unopposed in the coming primary.

Rep. Lyndon Johnson, ardent New Deal supporter, is in Austin and Rep. Sumners, frequent administration critic, in Dallas.

Other Texas members replied "no comment" when asked their views. They said they had no idea at this time as to the identity of members of the regular and rump conventions and that among each group may be friends whose support they expect in their own races for re-election to Congress.

Novelist Recovering After Minor Accident

LONDON, May 25. (U.P.)—Novelist Ernest Hemingway was recovering in St. George's hospital today from scalp injuries received when an automobile in which he and two other persons were riding crashed into an emergency water supply tank.

Hospital attaches said Hemingway's condition was improving rapidly after a minor operation.

WPB Plans X-Day When Nazis Beaten

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The War Production board has taken a major step toward planning for "X-day"—the day when Germany capitulates — by forming a new inter-agency board to be called the production planning and adjustment committee.

Organization of the group, headed by executive vice chairman Charles E. Wilson, is not complete. Official sources said its aim is to handle the problem of arms production cutbacks by planning the military or civilian uses to which the freed plants, labor and materials can be devoted when war contracts are terminated.

The committee also will seek to obtain from the Army, Navy and Maritime commission advance information on proposed arms curtailments. Working with this data, the group will advise those agencies on which plants could best suffer the contract cancellations from the standpoint of prompt reconversion to civilian goods or other military work, and the rapid absorption of the displaced workers.

Wilson has estimated that 35 per cent of the plant capacity now devoted to war goods will be freed for civilian output either of the major enemies, Germany or Japan collapses.

Figures Given On Ads Backing War Effort

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—Daily and Sunday newspaper advertising in support of the war effort totaled $2,436,567 in February and $36,923,546 for the seven months ended Feb. 29, the American Newspaper Publishers association's advertising bureau reported today.

The February figure does not include Fourth War loan advertising from Feb. 1 to 15, which was credited to January at the request of the Treasury, the bureau said. Weekly newspaper war-effort advertising also was not included.

Total Of 144,824 From Texas In Navy Service

DALLAS, May 25. (U.P.)—Enough Texans to man a good-sized invasion fleet are serving in the United States Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, the Navy department announced today.

As of January 31, 1944, officers and enlisted personnel from the Lone Star state totaled 144,284.

Other ranking states are New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio.

POWER STRIKE ENDS

ST. LOUIS, May 25. (AP)—Striking production and maintenance employes of the union electric company of Missouri returned to work late today, ending a power shortage which had shut down or curtailed operations of war plants in the St. Louis area.

Admiral Fitch Named To New Naval Post

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch is the Navy's choice for the post of deputy chief of naval operations for air. The man who recently returned from the South Pacific where he commanded air forces which Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal said "drove the Japanese out of the air," succeeds Vice Admiral William S. McCain, whose new post was not disclosed.

Meanwhile there were reports today of another change in Navy personnel.

Forrestal, asked whether a new assignment for Admiral William F. Halsey, jr., aggressive Navy commander of the South Pacific area, had been decided upon, said he could not comment but added: "You can take it for granted that Admiral Halsey will not become an emeritus chracter."

Bill Would Hike Debt Limit To 260 Billion

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The Senate finance committee today approved a bill increasing the public debt limit to $260,000,000,000, in lieu of the $240,000,000,000 voted by the House.

The present limit is $210,000,000,000.

President Roosevelt estimated in his budget message last January that the national debt would reach $198,000,000,000 by June 30, 1944, and $258,000,000,000 by the same date next year.

Derrick Scaffold Falls Killing One

TYLER, May 25. (AP)—One man was killed instantly and another is in serious condition at a local hospital following the crash of a derrick scaffold on the Skelly Oil company's Chisholm No. 1, lease near here.

The dead man is R. L. Lord of Shreveport. The injured man is Charles D. Flint, also Shreveport.

Both men were employed by the Bayou Construction company of Shreveport and were engaged in tearing down a derrick owned by J. R. Roberts Drilling company. The men fell about 50 feet when the scaffold on which they were standing gave way.

Flint's condition was undetermined. He is being treated for shock.

Lord is survived by his widow and two children, Lou Etta, 6, and Eric, one year old; his father, W. T. Lord of Henderson, Tex.

Nazis Apparently In Full Retreat To Avert Disaster

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The foreshadowed Nazi retreat in Italy to escape yawning Allied traps is in full swing by Berlin's admission although the exact line upon which the German commanders hope to halt is not yet indicated.

SIMPSON

Unopposed junction across the Pontine plains by American elements of the Fifth Army, linking the Anzio beachhead and the southern front, followed a German night time flight from the whole coastal area.

Canadian occupation of Pontecorvo near the head of the lower Liri valley and unofficial Nazi reports that Aquino and Piedmonte, inshore anchors of the collapsed Hitler line above Cassino, also have been evacuated, tend to confirm the impression that the whole German front is being pulled back.

May Fight For Rome

There is yet no intimation that the foe intends to abandon Rome for Allied occupation, however. On the contrary, Allied air scouts have reported heavy Nazi reinforcements filling the roads north of Rome and moving southward. Seven of the reputed 25 Nazi divisions in Italy have been reported held in reserve to the north and deployed to curb Italian anti-Nazi operations in aid of the advancing Allied armies.

German accounts indicate that the retreat from the Pontine plain was ordered to set up a temporary covering front along the lower side of the Sacco valley route to Rome from the south. Canadians and French on the right flank of the Fifth Army are knocking at the southern entrance to that valley.

Line Shortening Seen

If the Nazi grip on Aquino and Piedmonte on the southern slopes of Mount Cairo has also been relaxed it indicates a line-shortening German readjustment of the entire trans-peninsular front is in progress. Mount Cairo dominates the lower Liri valley from the north. Its loss would mean Nazi retirement to the massive ridges of the Appenines east of Rome to cover both the upper Liri valley and flank the Sacco route to Rome with a minimum troop deployment while main forces were concentrated in the flat lands of the Rome region itself for the final battle for the city.

board chairman, Dr. J. T. Huichinson, is out of the city. Also present were Supt. R. W. Mattherws and Business Manager A. C. Jackson.

Study Of Plans Ordered

In declining to consider any of the bids offered on the proposed new 9-room-and-kitchenette building to the northwest, the board was unanimous, pointing out that total bids exceeded by 50 per cent or more the cost of similar construction before the war. Bids on the two additions were well in line with pre-war costs, although, in aggregate, were slightly higher due to increased cost to some materials and of labor.

W. T. Strange and S. B. Haynes, architects, were present and school officials will meet with them in the near future to go over plans drawn for the proposed new building with the aim of making changes to decrease the cost. Bids for the structure will be called for at a later date, Alderson said.

The board also heard a report by its three-man committee charged with directing the district's legal opposition to a federal court suit brought by nine members of a religious sect, called "Jehovah's Witnesses," to be heard before U. S. District Judge Whit Davidson here on June 5. The sect seeks to break the board's order barring from school children whose parents direct them not to take the pledge of allegiance to the Flag and the Government of the United States. Members of the committee were H. L. Allen, chairman, Chas. A. Guy and E. J. Parsons. Allen was directed to continue as the board's representative to work with its attorney, Owen W. McWhorter, and with special counsel employed for the "Witnesses'" suit, Charles C. Crenshaw and George W. Dupree. The sect is to be represented by a San Antonio lawyer, T. S. Williams.

the hospital."

The La Crosse, Wis., Army man, father of two boys, told also of three marriages to Gertrude Swancutt, of an unhappy married life and an early career that was "pretty rough."

Three Other Slayings

Swancutt is charged with slaying, besides Miss Douglas, Miss Lourdine Livermore, likewise 19; Capt. Aubrey S. Serfling, his superior officer, and Arthur D. Simpson, Riverside policeman, in a gun foray that started in the camp officers' club.

Previously officers conducting his courtmartial denied a motion of his counsel for a directed verdict holding him innocent.

Sgt. Frederick C. Dockweiler, defense counsel, said Swancutt's plea for acquittal would be based on testimony that he does not remember anything about the fatal shootings.

Germans Cling To Ruins Of Cisterna

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN FORCES AT CISTERNA, May 25.—The last German resistance in the center of Cisterna was crumpling tonight under the blows of tank-supported American infantrymen as a swift sequel to the historic union of two Allied fronts in Italy today.

Enemy snipers are fighting to the death in tumbling heaps of what once were three and four-story buldings.

A thick-walled "castle" facing the Appian Way which bisects Cisterna is still a hot bed of enemy fire, but one American tank destroyer is hitting it from 75 yards with three-inch shells.

Red-bearded Lt. Eugene Bacon, of Danville, Ill., whose men hug broken masonry and inch their way forward, predicted that all Germans left in this stronghold would be dead or capured within hours.

Air Bombardments

Lyon rail installations, were well covered with bombs.

Heavies attacking northeastern France and Belgium struck at marshalling yards at Mulhouse, Belfort, Saffegulemines, Metz, Thionville, Charleroi and Blainville in France; Brussels and Liege, in Belgium, and airfields near Nancy and Bretigny in France and Antwerp and Brussels in Belgium.

Today's attacks matched the day's assault for May 20, when 6,000 planes dropped an estimated 8,000 tons of bombs on European targets, but on that day all the attacks were made by bombers based in Britain.

Allied aircraft droned monotonously over the channel from 7:30 a. m. until late in the afternoon, and one correspondent reported that "nothing like it had been seen or heard before" in the Dover Strait area.

Areas Still Smoulder

As the American bombers streamed out to attack the west wall, Berlin and the German transportation center of Aachen still smouldered from pre-dawn attacks by 500 British heavy bombers, which also hit targets in occupied territory.

One of the most significant features of the tactical operations now in progress from British bases is that, out of approximately every 400 planes sent out by the Allied Expeditionary Air force (medium, light and fighter-bombers), 399 have come back.

This rate of loss is a quarter of one per cent and has been held to that figure for the last month.

Among targets hit during the day by British medium and lighter bombers operating in the AEAF were Lille, Valenciennes, Le Grand Verdret, Amiens and Formerie, all communications objectives which have been struck repeatedly before.

Nazis In Flight

directed the successful three-day-old attack from the beachhead, came along a few minutes later with a retenue of officers and correspondents and stopped beside the small but historic group.

Called Eventful Day

"This is an eventful day for the Fifth Army," declared the tall American commander.

Canadian forces, who yesterday ripped through the heart of the Hitler line in the Liri valley, captured Pontecorvo and were reported mopping up German resistance along the Melfa river, five miles further along the road to Rome.

(A German broadcast said that Aquino, another Liri valley bastion of the Hitler line, had been evacuated.)

The Poles were reported still fighting grim street battles in Piedimonte, in the foothills five miles west of Cassino, and a combined French-American force pressed on northwest from Pico against bitter resistance.

Fighting For Escape

Some of the hardest fighting of the entire campaign was raging day and night around Cisterna, where the Nazis were holding on desperately so that their divisions which formerly held the eastern flank of the beachhead and those from the Terracina sector could be extricated and withdrawn into a new defense line before Rome.

For the first time since the bloody fighting at Salerno, the Allied armies were getting a chance to use armor as a real striking force in comparatively open country, with the result that the final decisive battle for Rome appeared to have begun.

Gilchrist Named A&M President

cooperation to the new president.

Said Dean Bolton: "My years of association with President Gilchrist have shown me his many fine qualities, and it is a pleasure to pledge my cooperation and a continuation of my best efforts to make the college a greater and more useful institution."

Statement By Law

Board President F. M. Law of Houston, speaking to the deans and directors, stated: "All the board wishes me to express its appreciation to Dr. Bolton. We express to you men our appreciation for your loyalty and devotion to duty. Your fidelity and devotion is appreciated."

Mentioning Dean E. J. Kyle of the school of agriculture, Law said: "No man has made a greater contribution to the school than Dean Kyle, who has been associated with the institution since 1898."

Said Dean R. P. Marsteller of the school of veterinary medicine: "We look forward to our president to put us over the top."

One Director Absent

All directors attend today's meeting with the exception of D. S. Buchanan, who is serving overseas with the Marines. The other members are F. M. Law of Houston, president; R. W. Briggs, San Antonio; A. H. Demke, Stephenville; Neth L. Leachman, Dallas; Major Gen. H. J. Brees, San Antonio; John C. Burns, Fort Worth; H. L. Kokernot, jr., Alpine, and G. R. White, Brady.

The controversy over the college presidency hit the front pages in March when Dr. Walton threatened legal action against the board.

The growing school, said the board later in a meeting at Fort Worth, had "outraced and outreached" Dr. Walton.

Dr. Walton's proposed legal action, according to a statement in March by his counsel, J. M. Combs of Beaumont, would probably take the nature of a suit which he said would probably seek to uphold Walton's contenton of a contract with the college which would pay him for service as president Emeritus.

Graduate Of Texas U.

A graduate of the University of Texas engineering school, Gilchrist is a former president of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Born at Wills Point, Van Zandt county, he attended Southwestern university at Georgetown in 1905-06 and was graduated with a civil engineering degree from the University of Texas in 1909.

The new A. and M. president received the honorary degree of doctor of science from Austin college, Sherman, in 1939. From 1910 to 1917 he was a construction engineer for the Santa Fe railroad. During World war I he was an engineer in the United States Army, first as a lieutenant and later as a captain.

Highway Engineer

Returning to civilian life, Gilchrist was resident and division engineer for the state highway department from 1919 to 1923 at San Antonio and San Angelo.

In 1927 he was appointed state highway engineer, resigning nine years later to accept the engineering deanship at A. and M.

In 1936, the year Gilchrist was president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, he was appointed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull as a representative of the United States on the permanent international association of road congress.

GILCHRIST CONSIDERED FOR TECH PRESIDENCY

Gibb Gilchrist, newly named president of Texas A&M college, has been prominently mentioned as a successor to Dr. Clifford B. Jones, who has resigned the presidency of Texas Technological college here, subject to the naming of a new president by the institution's board of directors.

Members of Tech's directorate will meet on June 6 in Fort Worth to discuss a successor to Doctor Jones, whose resignation was brought about by the condition of his health.

Whether Gilchrist's election at A&M will affect plans for the June 6 meeting was not known here this morning. Names of at least six other men have been interjected into discussions of Doctor Jones' successor but Tech's directors have not met officially to discuss the problem since Doctor Jones' resignation was accepted in April.

Among those whose names also have been prominently connected with the Tech post are Dr. J. C. Dolley, of the faculty of University of Texas; Dr. Law Sone, president of Texas Wesleyan college, of Fort Worth, and Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso.

Lampasas Inundated After Cloudburst

LAMPASAS, Tex., May 25 (AP)—The business district of Lampasas was inundated late today with from two to five feet of water as the result of a cloudburst which caused a flash flood on Sulphur creek.

The courthouse square, in the center of the flooded area, was under water from two to five feet deep at the height of the flood, which began receding about 7 p. m.

Businessmen protected their stores with bags of salt and flour. Even then the courthouse basement and the basements of many buildings were flooded. No casualties were reported.

Actual loss was considered not great and will come mostly from mud damage.

Residents recalled the 1936 flood, when the creek overflowed, but said that today's water lacked several inches of attaining the height of the previous flood. On that occasion the flood occurred on Sunday and residents were not prepared for it.

UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER—British and Americans understand each other perfectly as General Eisenhower discusses military strategy with Generals Tedder, left, and Montgomery, right. Britons like Eisenhower's "selflessness."

An Englishman's-Eye View Of General Eisenhower—

He's Called "Ike" By Most Britons . . . And The British Are "We" To Him

By JOHN CASHEL
British War Correspondent
Written for NEA Service

LONDON, May 25.—Millions of British and Empire families have a stake in SHAEF, where supreme invader General "Ike" Eisenhower plots Hitler's overthrow. To most of them, this self-effacing American, whose one concession to popularity is his easy-going family nickname, is no more than a round, ruddy, broad-grinning face they see pictured in newspapers.

Does he hand out the same treatment to their men fighting under him as he does to his own Americans? Just how has he brought his Western Front one-party war machine to its highest pitch of harmony at Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force? Few know the answers, for nothing has happened before in history quite like SHAEF.

There, I found the two-letter "We" is Ike's operative word. He insists on everyone using it, and seldom refers to British and Americans even as Allies.

He dislikes the term "opposite number" to describe those of us of the two nationalities sitting beside each other. "What's opposite about us?", he asks. "We're a team, aren't we?"

Of an American who can't cooperate with his teammates he says, "Send him home on a slow boat unescorted!" A British "can't" officer is handed over to his own authorities for equally unceremonious disposal.

Doing what no commander has done before, Ike has built up a combination of two different military systems after the pattern begun in North Africa so that each side understands the orders, terms and methods of the other.

Share Battle Experiences

Battle experience was shared from the first, on his orders, in Western Front training. Seasoned American troops were infiltrated into British and British into American units for the common gain.

When he found his 37 mm. guns, in the Mediterranean theater, manned by troops new to them, weren't stopping the enemies Tiger tanks, he borrowed and rushed into the breach 100 British 6-pounders which stopped them. To test his own guns he used veteran British troops, who found them effective. His men had a good gun, but in battle for the first time they weren't holding their fire long enough.

The British Inteligence Chief at SHAEF, whose staff is integrated roughly half and half, irrespective of nationality, told me Ike puts his favorite word "selflessness" as the top quality of a commander.

"He gets his personal touch with the troops by just driving around and chatting with them," added this general. "He has a minimum of guards; no escort of armored cars, no mounted police. Only, as guides, a motorcyclist in front and another behind. Far from being a 'papers general' he spends every hour he can forward at his command post and among the men."

Besides the four stars of rank on his car or jeep, Ike sports as a gesture and emblem of the oneness of his "party" a miniature Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. On bigger occasions, when inspecting by train or with a convoy of staff cars, he still insists on nothing special being "laid on."

One good old British Army custom gives him a real lift. That's when, as he leaves his train, troops line the road, wave their hats, give him a cheer. Almost every man he chats with comments afterward on his direct scrutiny, the habit he has of "looking you in the eye." His usual questions touch welfare: "How's your food? Satisfied with your equipment?"

Makes Immediate Decision

He sees both British and American infantrymen 'lost in the headlines" because the airmen's job is more romantic; goes out of his way to sing the foot-slogger's praises for the way they fought in the cold and bitter mountain conditions of Tunisia and Italy.

His own toughness in his most critical hour is shown by this bit of secret history: The heavily-laden Allied invasion fleet was bound for Salerno when word came by wireless that Hitlerite machinations to wreck Badoglio's plan were at this 11th hour on the point of succeeding.

The die was cast. The fleet was on the high seas. They might have to land without Italian support. Go back? Ike's decision was resolute and immediate. He calmly wrote a wire to the Italian government that the Allies were coming whether or not the Italians surrendered as agreed.

He has told his staff that he hopes that when they bury him they'll shape his coffin like a landing craft—all his operations having been amphibious, with landing craft giving him his worst headache, owing to the vast numbers required and the success of their landing being so dependent on the weather's whims.

The Royal Navy carried him on all his sea trips as Allied Commander in the Mediterranean. Those times he'd often be found on the lower deck chatting away with all the bluejackets. To British airmen he talks in their own language. Himself a licensed pilot (he learned to fly at 45) he sometimes takes over the controls of a Fortress. He won't chance landing so big a craft, but he'll bring it in to circle over an airfield.

To Prime Minister Churchill he described an officer who sought undue popularity as a "glory hopper." Churchill, coining his own version, later told an American general, "The reason I like Ike is that he's no 'glory grabber.'"

Texas Criticized For Latin-American Stand

DALLAS, May 25 (AP) — Mrs. Pauline R. Kibbe of Austin, executive secretary of the Texas Good Neighbor commission, said here today that Texas is "the stumbling block to genuine continental solidarity of Anglo-American and Latin American relationship."

This state, she said, is the only one in the union to which the Mexican government is refusing to send emergency agricultural workers.

Mrs. Kibbe, speaker at a meeting of the Phi Eta sorority of Dallas, asserted: "In the prosecution of the war, the American republics are in perfect accord and the governments of this hemisphere realize that genuine American unity, during the war and after, is imperative for our mutual progress and security."

EL PASO, May 25. (AP)—Sale of gasoline in Juarez, Mexico, to drivers of United States automobiles was halted today by an agreement announced by Mayor Arturo Chavez of Juarez and wholesale gasoline dealers.

Scarcity of gasoline in northern Mexico for industry and farming was cited as the reason for the ban.

Aircraft Carriers In Fleet Total 65

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Artemus L. Gates, assistant secretary of the Navy for air, disclosed tonight that 65 aircraft carriers are in active service with the fleet.

He gave the figure in an address prepared for the "March of Time" program, and to picture the magnitude of the carrer fleet, he said their combined flight deck area is equal to that of 120 football fields, or to an airstrip seven mile slong.

Gates also disclosed that Navy airplanes of all types "will soon total some 37,700" and declared 1,000-plane raids against the Japanese by carrier-based planes are "only the beginning."

About half of all the lumber produced in the United States now goes into boxing and crating.

Time Element Foils Police In Slaying

DETROIT, May 25 (AP)—Police investigating the church-slaying of Mrs. Jean Long said tonight they were in possession of valuable clues but admitted they were without definite information about the one hour between 8 and 9 p. m. Tuesday, during which they believe the woman was stabbed and beaten to death.

Detective Inspector John O. Whitman said the woman's estranged husband, Kenneth, 42-year-old war worker, told police he drove Mrs. Long to the home of the Rev. Newell C. Liesemer, pastor of the Twelfth Street Evangelical church, at 7 p. m. The pastor said Mrs. Long worked with him preparing a church news bulletin until 8 p. m. and then went to the church to make copies.

Al Simpson, salesman for a Chicago meat company, told police, Whitman said, that after 9 p. m. he went to the church three times but received no answer to his knocks at the church door. Police said Mrs. Long had made an appointment with Simpson to meet or call her at the church.

The woman's watch, broken during her struggle with her assailant, stopped at 8:32.

Whitman said police had uncovered no discrepancies in the accounts of either Long or Simpson. Long told police he went back to his motel after leaving Mrs. Long a the pastor's home and did not see his wife after that.

Britons Told Train Service Uncertain

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Thousands of British families have cancelled plans for the traditional Whitsun holiday weekend travel under the stern warning that train service is subject to stoppage without notice as the hour for the invasion of Hitler's Europe nears.

Germans tried to probe the secrets of the gathering Allied storm, by E-boat patrol dashes across the channel today and by spy-plane coastal raids.

A Tass dispatch from Moscow said it was rumored in Berlin that Heinrich Himmler, German gestapo chief, had left suddenly for France. Virtually the entire Nazi hierarchy with the exception of Hitler himself, have been reported in France during the last month, checking the defense system and tightening control over the restive population.

Evidence Introduced In Conspiracy Trial

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The government managed to get its first two exhibits into evidence today as the trial of 29 persons on charges of conspiring to undermine the morale of the armed forces wound up its sixth week.

Defense attorneys estimate that 4,000 such exhibits will be offered, although prosecutors O. John Rogge and Joseph W. Burns merely say the number will run into "thousands."

The first government exhibit is a letter in German from the files of the McCormack-Dickstein committee of the House which investigated Nazi propaganda in this country a decade ago. The second is an English translation of the same letter.

The convention will open here on July 19.

Authoritative quarters in Washington reported recently that Hannegan favored Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma for the post of temporary chairman and keynoter.

Navy Nine Makes Up Another Major Team

GREAT LAKES, Ill., May 25 (AP)—There's no room for another major league baseball team and naval rules forbid, but many experts and fans are of the opinion that a 17th big time squad is operating this season — at the Great Lakes Naval Training center.

Most of the 22 young sailors at the world's biggest naval station on the Bluejacket roster would be strangers in major league uniforms—for 17 of them were playing in the National and American league last season. The remaining five were on top minor league clubs in 1943.

For the third successive year, Lt. Mickey Cochrane has fielded an entirely new team. Many baseball experts agree this season's squad isn't going to be pushed around by any opposition, including big league clubs. The Bluejackets have won their first six games, including victories over the Philadelphia Phillies and the Boston Red Sox.

Cochrane has an infield composed of former National leaguers—Johnny McCarthy, Boston, first; Billy Herman, Brooklyn, second; Merrill May, Phillies, third, and Al Glossop, Dodgers, shortstop.

Outfielders are Gene Wooding, Cleveland; Dick West, Cincinnati, and Mizell Platt, Chicago Cubs, with Schoolboy Rowe, who pitched in both big leagues, available for outfield as well as pitching assignments. Other ex-major league hurlers are Virgil Trucks, Detroit; Junior Thompson, Cincinnati; Bill Brandt and Bob Klinger, Pittsburgh; Si Johnson, Phillies, and Ed Wieland, Chicago White Sox.

Catchers from the big time are Clyde McCullough, Cubs; Bill Baker, Pirates and Joe Glenn, New York Yankees.

Phillies Face Loss Of Three Key Stars

PHILADELPHIA, May 25 (AP)—A crop of new manpower problems grew up in Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons' visioned path to the National League pennant today with word that catcher Ben (Baldy) Culp has passed a draft physical and slugging outfielder Ron Northey and pitcher Ken Raffensberger—both key cogs in the Phillies' machine—also come up for examinations tomorrow.

Culp, who is 28, married and the father of five, was accepted by the Navy today. "I'd like to finish the season," he said, "but the Navy is okay with me."

The news came to Fitz while he sought a replacement for shortstop Ray Hamrick, who also has passed a physical and awaits a call to service.

"Things," said Fitz, not smiling, "will be considerably upset if we lose more players.

"But you'll hear no gripes from me. We feel lucky to be playing at all this season."

There have been rumors that Fitz might try to strengthen the team through a deal with the Chicago Cubs, but the Phillies said that wasn't so.

NATIONAL ANTHEM

BOSTON, May 25. (U.P.) — The banning of Igor Stravinsky's dissonant version of "The Star Spangled Banner" here recently sent Boston Public Library attendants scurrying through their files. Up came music-wise Richard G. Appel with proof that there have been more than 100 variations of the national anthem, 53 of them written during the first 50 years of its existence.

Ward Seizure Recounted By Man Who Took Over Plant

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP) — The man who seized the Montgomery Ward plant in Chicago for the government testified today that company officials, "always courteous," opposed the action because they were seeking to "establish and maintain" their legal rights.

Wayne Chatfield Taylor, undersecretary of commerce and former Chicago investment banker, told the House committee investigating the seizure how he took possession of the property but failed to obtain any "cooperation" from Sewell Avery, chairman of the board, and other officials of the firm.

Courteous, But No Help

"They were extremely courteous but when it came to carrying out the terms of the order, there simply was no cooperation," Taylor remarked.

He said he had known Avery personally for 20 years and had urged him to accept the dictum of the government laid down by presidential order after the company defied a War Labor board directive.

"I got the impression at all times that Mr. Avery wished to do whatever was necessary to establish and maintain his legal rights," Taylor continued.

Taylor said he did not contemplate ordering troops into the plant in the beginning but that he finally did so upon the advice of Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, Attorney General Biddle and Undersecretary of War Patterson.

Biddle Advised Step

It was Biddle, he said, who "advised" that the step was necessary after Avery refused to recognize the authority of U. S. marshals.

Rep. Elston (R-Ohio), suggesting that Avery and the other company officials were "exercising their legal rights as they saw them," asked Taylor if he would not do the same thing.

"If you mean, would I have done the same as Mr. Avery under the circumstances, I would rather not answer that," Taylor replied.

Stevenson Turns Off Political Suggestion

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson first commented facetiously, then seriously today on the suggestion of a former Oklahoma Republican congressman that Stevenson be nominated for vice-president on the Republican ticket.

Facetiously, he remarked at his press conference:

"Wasn't that a crack. I don't know what he has against me."

Seriously, he said:

"I haven't been interested in the vice-presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket, much less on the Republican."

The suggestion was made by U. S. Stone at Oklahoma City yesterday. He said he made it in telegrams sent Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. John H. Bricker of Ohio.

Clovis Rail Project Approved By WPB

DENVER, May 25. (AP) — The regional office of the War Production board announced today the WPB has approved the following proposed construction projects:

By U. S. grazing service; reconstruction of 38 miles of highway consisting of grading, drainage, etc., in McKinley county, New Mexico; cost $62,400.

By Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company; construction of a second main track through terminal at Clovis, N. Mex., including turnouts, necessary signals, extension of two station platforms; cost $59,972.

Even In Air Combat, Innocent Bystander Is One Who Gets Hit

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC AIRBASE, May 22. (Delayed) (AP)—Even in air combat it often is the innocent bystander who gets hurt.

A Navy four-engined bomber sighter a Japanese cargo ship and three small gunboats near Satawan last Saturday. It scored two near misses on the cargo vessels, and set one gunboat afire on a strafing run. Four enemy fighters attacked and one was shot down.

The Liberator took one 40mm. hit forward of the tail, a three-inch hit amidship, a 20mm. hit below the bow turret and half a dozen small caliber hits elsewhere.

But all of the crew escaped injury and brought the ship home over almost 600 miles of ocean.

A Navy Seabee who had thumbed his way into the plane was however severely hurt by fragments.

The plan was piloted by Lt. Paul J. Bruneau of San Diego, Calif. co-pilot was Eng. Davis West of Pampa, Tex. A second plane on the same strike reported scoring hits on the same convoy.

These Navy one- and two-plane strikes into the Carolines—Satawan is 189 miles southwest of Truk—are among the most perilous jobs of the war, sometimes requiring flights of more than 1,000 miles over water.

Marshall Flier Fails To Return On May 7

LONDON, May 25. (AP)—Lt. William H. Wood, route four, Jefferson road, Marshall, Tex., failed to bring his Thunderbolt fighter back from his twenty-third mission on May 7, but no details are available on how he went down, it was announced today.

American heavies went to Berlin that day with Thunderbolts among the escorts, and it was presumed that Wood's ship was one of five fighters reported missing in action. Two days after he was lost his promotion to first lieutenant came through.

His record included a locomotive damaged on March 29, three others damaged on April 22, and a Heinkel 111 damaged on April 23. Wood wore the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster, and had been recommended for a second cluster.

His wife's address was listed as El Dorado, Ark.

Telephone Workers Ask Wage Increase

FORT WORTH, May 25. (AP)—A demand by the Southwestern Telephone Workers union for a general increase of 17½ cents an hour for more than 30,000 non-supervisory employes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company in five states was announced today by D. L. McCowen of Fort Worth, president of the union.

McCowen said bargaining negotiations are expected to start immediately.

The union represents telephone workers of the Southwestern Bell company in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas.

War Contributions By Young Scientists Cited By Director

WASHINGTON, May 25 (U.P.)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, feels that the mostly-young scientists and researchists in his office have contributed nobly to prosecution of the war.

Publication today testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee on the war agencies supply bill revealed that Bush cited the accomplishments of his aides as demonstrating the manifold value of their work:

1. Methods for producing on a mass basis the new explosive now generally used by the Allies which is more powerful and generally more desirable than tnt.

2. A fuel which sheds no light while burning.

3. A method for more precise appraisal of damage done by bombing.

4. New rocket projectile including bombs.

5. New insecticides which will kill any insect that touches treated materials for weeks after treatment.

Raids Still Possibility

It's a toss-up whether Los Angeles or Chicago is the country's "worst congested area," according to Corrington Gill, director of the committee for congested production areas. He said his agents now wehe working in 10 badly-crowded areas—including Orange-Beaumont, Tex.

• • •

Lt. Gen. William N. Haskell, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, said the War department feels that enemy raids on either coast still are within the range of possibility. Blackouts are a thing of the past in the interior, he said, but they will continue to be called about once every three months on the coasts just to keep our people in practice; otherwise they might think the war is over."

Northern Baptists Adopt Resolution

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 25. (U.P.)—The Northern Baptist convention today adopted a resolution placing the church fully in line with the war effort of the United Nations.

The 500-word resolution, presented by Rev. Daniel J. Poling, pastor of the Philadelphia Baptist temple and president of the World's Christan Endeavor union, was adopted after nearly an hour of tumultous debate.

More Skilled Workers, Better Materials Are Needed In Oil Industry

TULSA, Okla., May 25 (AP) — The oil industry must have more skilled manpower and better materials if the current upswing in drilling activities is to be maintained, a committee on drilling practices reported today at the Mid-Continent district meeting of the American Petroleum institute.

The committee, headed by W. H. Morrison of the Shell Oil Co., inc., of Tulsa, made its report after a widespread survey among oil companies, drilling contractors and equipment manufacturers.

Use of inferior grades of steel in drilling materials, the committee said, has increased the costs and the hazards of deep well drilling and resulted in too much shut-down time.

"The search for new reserves," the report said, "is now largely directed to the drilling and completion of wells from 8,000 to 15,000 feet in depth. If the trend to deeped drilling is continued, it will be necessary to have the best possible alloys with the highest strength and best wearing qualities in every part of a rotary rig."

Draft inroads on skilled manpower, the committee said, has caused a critical shortage particularly among experienced roughnecks, and resulted in "a general over-all slow up and an alarming increase in the accident rate."

About 300 oil men from Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma were registered for the meeting, which continues through Friday.

Raging Battles On Slav Front Reported

LONDON, May 5. (AP) — The irregular Yugoslav front has erupted into a mass of flashing guns and raging battles, with many Germans slain, a communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

Units of the army of liberation surged forward in Hercegovina, and one brigade defeated enemy forces at Cemerno and threw them back with heavy losses, the broadcast bulletin said.

Units of the 29th Yugoslav division attacked so fiercely in the Stolac sector in southern Yugoslavia that 6,500 Germans and Chetniks were routed, the communique declared.

The Germans and Chetniks are being pounded on the borders of Montenegro and Sandjak in violent battles, and in all other sectors, the communique added.

The SPORTS EYE

By Mack Turner

JEWEL WALLACE, coach of the San Angelo Bobcats, state football champions of Texas, gave us a report on the hitch hiking question Thursday afternoon, and reported it was "not so good."

Wallace passed his pre-induction physical examination Thursday morning at the West Texas Induction Station and is awaiting either action on a deferment sought by San Angelo school officials or his call to the Army after passing the test here with flying colors.

Wallace, who will be 36 years old in a few days, returned from his hitch hiking venture in trying to rush his return to the Bobcat's lair, and took the time to confirm some of the stories that have been floating from the potent typewriter of our old crony, Blondy Cross, sports editor of the San Angelo Standard Times.

The rotound sage of the "sheep and goat country" has been beating the drums of the Bobcats with stories of the "greater Bobcats of 1944" and has freely predicted that the boys would repeat.

Of course, Wallace don't speak in the confident tones of Cross, but the popular grid mentor don't mind admitting that his boys are looking good, and that he is pleased. He sums up the matter that they will be better in some ways, and not so good in others.

THEN there creeps an old familiar story into the conversation as Wallace explains to us that San Angelo faces the toughest schedule in Texas for this fall. He points out that the Bobcats play Amarillo, Denison and Lubbock in a row, then plunge into their always tough district race.

The way everybody around here points with horror to having to face those mighty Westerners, we are beginning to become suspicious of J. Mule Davis, Dixie White and E. J. "Pinky" Lowrey, and before long we are going to be believing those gentlemen are holding out something on us.

First, it was Putt Powell up at Amarillo, and now Jewell Wallace down at San Angelo. But then we discovered that Wallace had not heard that we lost Homer Lawson, Robert Haley, Bueron Lindsey and Foy Grimes, and Wallace never brought up the subject again after we told him this.

Then the conversation drifted around to the great season the Bobcats had last year when they stormed through to a state championship with one of the finest schoolboy elevens in the history of the Interscholastic League.

That was when we found Wallace willing to back up our belief, and the San Angelo mentor paid tribute to that great coach, Rusty Russell, and was quick to say that Russell, in his mind, was one of the smartest coaches in the business.

Wallace also backed up our opinion in another matter, and that is that state titles are not always won in th final game of the playoffs, but often the two best teams in the race meet before the finals.

Wallace said that after the Bobcats won the district flag, Russell's Highland Park Scotties with "Pitchin' " Bobby Layne was the toughest foe the Bobcats met down the December Trail that led to the state title.

"Those Scotties were tougher than Lufkin," Wallace said. "They gave us a tough afternoon, and after playing Highland Park, Lufkin was a breeze."

IF, or when, Wallace is called into the Army, San Angelo will be facing a coaching shortage, it has been revealed. "Puss" Erwin, the Lufkin boy who helped coach the Bobcats to the state title over his home town Lufkin Panthers, resigned at San Angelo last Monday to "go home."

Erwin is returning to Lufkin as an assistant coach with the high school team where he starred before he played with Coach Meyer's Horned Frogs at Texas Christian. Now Erwin is going back to his piny woods.

There has been no announcements about filling the post vacated by Erwin.

I'll be seeing you.

AAU Meet To Be Scheduled Saturday If Too Wet Today

DALLAS, May 25 (AP)—Texas stars of track and field, headed by Charles Parker, one of the greatest sprinters in the state's history, Burl Gene Moore, the nation's fastest 440-yard dash man of the year, and Pete Watkins, mighty high jumper from Fort Sam Houston by way of Texas A. and M. and Iowa Park High school, will perform here Friday night — weather permitting—in the Southwestern AAU meet at Dal-Hi field.

Steady rain with a promise of more tomorrow caused Director P. C. Cobb to announce that the meet will be postponed until Saturday if there is too much moisture at the appointed time.

Forty-seven entries were poised for the big meet that will qualify contestants in the National AAU at New York next month.

All first place winners will qualify for the National AAU but only those with the times and distances deemed good enough for participation in the New York meet will have their expenses paid by the Southwestern A. A. U.

The plan is to use the proceeds to send as many stars as there is money available to the National A. A. U.

There will be thirteen events with only the relays and the javelin throw of regular meets not included.

It had been hoped that Ralph Ellsworth, great University of Texas sprint star, would enter but Ellsworth and his running-mate, Leo Culbertson, found they could not participate due to scholastic duties.

Card Skipper Gives Praise To Cub Star

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP)—Andy Rafko is the best looking young ball player Billy Southworth has seen in the National League this year and that's a pretty fair recommendation coming from the skipper of the 1942-43 pennant winners.

After looking over new talent that dots every senior circuit roster, the St. Louis Cardinal manager today rated the Chicago rookie outfielder, who led the Pacific Coast League hitters while with Los Angeles in 1943, as the best of the crop. Rafko was hitting .306 through games of May 24.

Southworth is also high on his own second baseman, Emil Verban, who is making good as a replacement for Lou Klein, lost to the service.

"You match Verban out there and you'll see some fancy fielding," said the Card pilot. "He may not have as much power as Klein but he is a better fielder."

Southworth's present starting pitcher alignment is Max Lanier, Mort Cooper, Al Jurisich, Ted Wilks and George Munger Wilks, a strong armed fellow, has been promoted from the relief ranks and Harry Gumbert and Harry Brecheen have been relegated to bull pen duty.

"That kid Jurisich has plenty on the ball," Southworth raved. "A strep throat knocked him down right after he shutout Cincinnati and he hasn't got all his strength back yet but he's ready to go."

Max Lanier's six straight victories can be credited to more poise, according to Billy The Kid who plans to pitch him every fifth day.

"Four days rest are just what he needs," the skipper ruled. "I tried him with less and with more but it didn't work. You'll see him out there every fifth day, hot or cold."

Texan To Get Second Crack At Lou Nova

TULSA, May 25 (AP)—Lou Nova, who squeezed out a split decision over Jack Marshall in a ten-round battle here a week ago, has agreed to meet the Texas heavyweight champion again in a 12-rounder at the coliseum June 7.

Marshall, only opponent to stay the limit with Nova in the Californian's surrent comeback tour, said he had cancelled a fight with Jimmy Webb scheduled for May 30 in Galveston to prepare for the return bout with Nova.

Stewart Sets Pace In Dallas Golf Meet

DALLAS, May 25 (AP)—Cpl. Earl Stewart of Dallas, now stationed at Fort Worth Army Air Field and former National Inter-collegiate champion, paced qualifiers in the first annual Glen Lakes Country club-Dallas Athletic club invitation golf tournament by posting a steady 71 over a rain-sodden course today.

Bob O'Connor of Glen Lakes carded a 71 earlier in the week, but the score was not considered in the medal competition.

Three players tied for runner-up honors with 72s. They were Dick Martin, Mally Reynolds, and David (Spec) Goldman, all of Dallas. Four others were a blow back with 73s. These included Harry Todd and Dick Lehms, Dallas; L. L. Taylor, Corsicana, and Col. Earl D. Irons of Arlington.

Cage Coaches To Curb Rough Play

CHICAGO, May 25. (AP)—Western Conference football coaches today reached a gentlemen's agreement to abolish deliberate out-of-bounds kickoffs while the basketball coaches sought an agreement to make their games next season more gentlemanly.

One long-time Midwest basketball official accused several Big Ten cage coaches of teaching illegal body blocks and said that "higher ups" would urge such tactics be elminated. It was reported some coaches would not agree to schedule games with a certain conference school because of that school's rough type of play on the courts last season.

"Basketball as now played in the conference is nothing more than semi football," said the official, who requested to remain anonymous.

"The teaching of body blocks has been going on so long that Big Ten players who later have become high school coaches are showing their prep boys how to use them. The sport is becoming stained and hard to control, and I have it on good authority that suggestions have been passed down Big Ten coaches to clean up the sport or else."

Weather Again Fogs Tournament Schedule

DALLAS, May 25 (AP)—Dallas High School Athletic Director P. C. Cobb announced tonight that if weather conditions improve the state high school baseball tournament will be resumed at 11 a. m. tomorrow with two doubleheaders scheduled.

The schedule cards the Crozier Tech (Dallas)-New Braunfels game, halted by last night's cloudburst, for Reverchon park at 11 a. m., while the same hour Hearne meets St. Thomas, victor over Wilmer-Hutchins, at Rebel stadium. At 1 p. m. the Hondo-Highland Park game, also rained out last night, will be played at Reverchon and W. H. Adamson of Dallas, a 10-0 winner over Allen, makes its second bid against the strong Abilene nine at the Texas League park.

Other games: winner of the Tech-New Braunfels melee meets the Hondo-Highland Park winner at Reverchon and the winner of the Hearne-St. Thomas affair takes on the Adamson-Abilene victor at Rebel stadium at 3:30 p. m.

The elimination events will go into their final stages next week when the two remaining teams will be paired with Nocona and Austin, two new entries.

Harris Pitches, Bats A's To Victory Over Detroit

DETROIT, May 25. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers suffered their 11th defeat in 12 games at Briggs Stadium when Luman Harris pitched a three-hitter and drove in the winning run today to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 2 to 0 decision.

Harris didn't permit a Tiger to reach third base while gaining his fourth victory and second shutout. Meanwhile, the A's gathered ten hits off Johnny Gorsica, who was charged with his third defeat.

The game was scoreless until the seventh when Irvin Hall doubled, advanced on Edgar Busch's sacrifice and scored on Harris' line single to left. In the eighth Ford Garrison singled for his third hit, moved up on Frank Hayes' sacrifice and scored on Dick Siebert's double.

Giants Pitcher To Wed Oklahoma Girl

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — William S. Voiselle, 25-year-old New York Giants pitcher, and Virginia E. Bowlware, 24, of Oklahoma City, obtained a marriage license today.

They said they would be married tomorrow, but did not disclose where the ceremony would be held.

West Schedules School Review

Just about time the kids get over the exams at school, they stumble into another "review" as Instructor Sam West scheduled a general review of the first two days of the baseball school for Friday's schedule of events.

The attendance at the school jumped Thursday to more than 100 boys with about 60 of the younger kids and 40 of the older kids answering roll call for the second day of the four-day school.

Games Saturday

Intra squad games will be scheduled Saturday as the finale of the four-day school for the junior baseball kids of Lubbock.

The boys have been handicapped by the rough field, but a number of the boys have been showing up as very bright prospects for the summer leagues. There has been some flashy fielding shown during the two days, and some lusty hitting.

Cope Hits Ball

In the last department, Bill Cope stole the show Thursday as the flashy first sacker was slamming the ball to the far corners of Chapman Field. Several others were hitting the ball sharply, but none of them were getting the same punch behind their swings as the flashy first sacker.

The line ups of the teams is expected to be taken care of today at the school and lineups for the two big games Saturday will be lined up at the close of today's workouts.

Alfred Parker's By Jimminy collected $18,485 as a two-year-old and his major feat was winning the Grand Union Hotel Stakes at Belmont.

A Subject For Meditation

IF Americans are capable of being amused by anything the Japs might do, then amusement probably was the general U. S. reaction to Tokyo's announcement the other day of the "peace terms" to be "imposed upon the United States."

Particularly appealing to the American sense of the ridiculous was Tokyo's bland announcement that it would require the surrender of the entire American Navy—the same Navy which prowls virtually at will in the Pacific, while the Japanese Imperial fleet dares not leave its own coastal waters. To say that the outburst is remindful of a mouse which might plan the capture of a lion does not exaggerate.

Obviously, these announced "peace terms" could have only one purpose. They could be designed only for the bolstering Jap morale. Almost certainly it is the sort of "big talk" that Japan's militarists use in their efforts to divert the attention of their masses from what actually is taking place on the fighting fronts of the war.

But, ridiculous though the "peace terms" may be, they properly might cause Americans to do some solemn meditating. In these proposed terms, Americans can catch a glimpse of what would happen to them and to the United States if the Japanese should be victorious. If the Japs should win, the Americans who died would be the fortunate ones.

Naturally, Tokyo's "peace terms" aren't going to make any difference in the outcome of the war. But, if it is possible that there are any Americans who do not already appreciate the necessity for complete victory, Japan's newly disclosed plan for peace should awaken the realization that, in this war, death would be far better than defeat.

An Unproven Pudding!

THE stress that administration spokesmen have been laying upon the word, "painless," in their references to the new federal tax bill is remindful of a similar technique employed by them last war.

However, the word they couldn't use often enough last year was, "forgiven." Yes, indeed, the government was "forgiving" some taxes. From the manner in which the taxing authorities fondled the word, the taxpayers had done something wrong, but the big-hearted administration was "forgiving" them. The term was repeated to the point of nausea. In the income tax report forms, the word, "forgiven," appeared repeatedly—usually capitalized.

Whether the constant repetition of the term caused taxpayers to believe they actually were being "forgiven" for something, and whether it blinded them to the realization that they actually were being double-taxed by being required to pay two year's taxes in one year, is questionable.

It also is questionable as to whether they will accept the terms, "painless" and "simplified" as being correctly applicable to the new taxes. Most of them may be inclined, as result of experience, to wait until they can form their own opinion as to whether the tax bill is painless and simplified.

Unfortunately, they won't have full opportunity to form personal opinions until after next January 1. The new tax bill won't go into effetc until then. If the taxing system has been simplified, it will be nearly a year before the taxpayer has the benefit of the simplification. Congress apparently wasn't equal to the job of providing simplification at once.

Or is it possible, perchance, that Congress and the administration don't want the taxpayer to know the full import of the new tax bill until next January, which, most conveniently, will be long after the next election?

If the tax bill actually is "painless" and "simplified," unquestionably it might be helpful to administration candidates who will be seeking reelection next November. But taxpayers aren't going to be given any personal experience with the net tax system before election. That will come after election. If they should discover then that taxation is neither painless nor simplified, there will be nothing they can do about it at the polls.

They are placed in the position now of being asked to take the word of Congress and the administration's taxers that the new tax bill is as pretended. For many people, these assurances may be enough. Others will wait to see for themselves. They have been disappointed too often in the past to accept assurances without actual proof from such sources.

Emergency call: Will some one please come to our rescue and tell us how to stretch an inflated dollar?

Some of those who write scripts for radio comedians should be called "paragrafters."

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

NO PERSON CAN OWN A CEMETERY LOT

Cemeteries have an exceptional legal status. Burial lots cannot be seized for debt, nor can a mortgage be established on them. Mortuary laws preclude the ownership of a single lot. What is termed the "ownership" of a cemetery lot is merely "an easement for the sepcific purpose of burying the dead, and for no other purpose whatsoever."

THE CYCLONE CELLAR

XXIV

FOR a moment Norma seemed puzzled. " 'A cyclone cellar is a nice thing to have, Symanthia, even when the storm is over,' " she repeated.

"That is all."

Norma's eyes flew wide. Wide with surprise. "Link!" she gasped. "I know!"

"I imagined," Link told her, "it might have some special meaning for you."

"It's a code!" Norma was excited. "The cyclone cellar is a secret vault under old Tom Fung's house in Singapore. Only Kip and Tom Fung and I knew about it. We used to laugh about it, call it the cyclone cellar."

Link looked steadily at Norma. He began having an unpleasant creepy sensation. "A secret hiding place?" he said.

"Yes."

"One the Japs couldn't find,"

"Oh, no, they wouldn't find it, ever. Link, do you see what this means? you do, don't you?"

"I'm afraid I do," Link muttered.

"It surely means," said Norma, "that Kip hid the movable assets, his own and the clients of our bank, in that secret spot under old Tom Fung's house in Singapore."

"Where the Japs couldn't find it?"

"Yes."

The creepy sensation went up Link's back, through his arms. "Could the Japs find out such a treasure had been hidden?"

"Yes, easily, I suppose."

• • •

WITHOUT speaking, Link whirled and leaped across the room to the door. He opened the door. The next room was empty. He began searching all the rooms. He pushed aside the sliding paper and bamboo partitions that formed most of the walls. He looked into closets. He found no one. No one at all in the inn, other than Norma and Courtright and himself.

Link hurried out on the veranda. From there, he saw the wrinkled prune of an innkeeper talking to Captain Azaraski. They were near the two cars, about a hundred yards distant.

Tilda Courtright joined Link. Her face was pale. "Was anybody listening?" she asked.

"I'm not sure yet," Link said. "Let's look for hidden microphones."

They went back into the room where they had been talking. Norma had been searching, too, and she had found nothing. "Link," she said. "Link, did they—"

"Sure," Link said. "That is why they got us acquainted."

It was almost bizarre, their search for a concealed microphone. The inn was so genuinely ancient Japanese, every part of it There was not a modern touch anywhere. And a microphone was such a modern thing.

They even dug into the thing which Norma called a ro. It was a square hole in the floor for a charcoal fire. They probed the ornate bird nests under the eaves, the bird nests which were there, Courtright explained, for the Japanese children to pray to, as their ancestors had done.

"I do not believe there is any hidden microphone," Norma said.

"Maybe not," Link admitted.

"Oh Lord," Norma breathed. "I'm glad the Japs didn't overhear that."

LINK could not feel relieved. He did not credit the Japs with being dumb enough to overlook a simple thing like a microphone. It would have been such an easy way for them to get the story. They had a way of getting the story, he was sure.

He made another quick, desperate inspection of the inn, but he found nothing suspicious. He observed that the innkeeper and Azaraski were still talking near the cars.

He watched for a chance, and got Tilda Courtright cornered alone. He had quite a time doing that. It was fairly obvious she did not want to talk to him.

"You knew Kip Greer, Courtright," Link said. "How much would he be likely to have hidden?"

"The Greers had a big bank in Singapore, Link."

"How much?"

Courtright said, "No one thought Singapore would fall, at first. Wealth from all the Orient had been shipped there for safekeeping, gold and jewels and anything like that which was easily transported. And all the Greer funds which the Japs hadn't taken were there."

"How much?"

"A lot, Link," Courtright said. "I don't really know, of course. Five or ten of fifteen. Maybe fifty. It would be safe to guess high."

"Five or ten of fifteen what?" Link asked.

"Millions," Courtright said, "of dollars."

An evening breeze had sprung up, stirring the lighter branches of the big pine trees and rifling the paper inn curtains. What surprised Link was that the breeze, even far out here in the country, seemed to have the fishy odor that pervades all of Japan He should have been thinking about all those dollars. But the figure was a little big for easy thought.

"For that dough," Link said, "we rate something elaborate. It looks like we got it."

Courtright left him quickly, without saying anything more. He was sure that she was determined not to give him a chance to talk to her too much. He wondered what she was afraid he would ask her.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IN taking a walk through the woods I came across an old horse-chestnut tree on which there was carved a heart with an arrow through it and the words "Louis loves Mary, 1912."

The carving was pretty faint and you had to look closely to be able to read it.

Thirty-two years ago two lovers must have stood at this same tree, probably vowing eternal love, telling the world about it "Louis loves Mary."

Who was Louis, who Mary?

Where are they now, what has become of them?

Is Mary still Louis' Mary, or was that carved inscription just part of a beautiful spring dream?

• • •

I remember once, many years ago, I carved my initials and those of my at that time one and only adored on a park bench.

I remember we swore to be forever true, no matter what might befall us.

I remember she put her little head upon my manly shoulder (I was 16 and a great resolve welled up in my heart—forever to cherish and protect this frail and lovely creature.

I remember it all so plainly—but for the life of me I can't remember the fair lady's name, or what she looked like, or even her initials.

• • •

YOU must have seen hundreds of these carved initials and dates and hearts and arrows on trees and rocks and building walls and benches and sidewalks and in other places.

Probably most of them are long forgotten, probably most of them were only passing fancies.

And yet they meant so much at the time, just as so many little things that today seem so unimportant were of such vital essence when they happened.

So, while Louis may not have seen Mary since 1912 when he carved the inscription on that horse chestnut tree, maybe that very day was the noblest of his life, maybe it was the one day on which Louis was a shining knight and Mary the beautiful princess high up in the castle.

Maybe many of the things carved in our memories have left much more lasting imprints on our characters and careers than we realize.

And while I have forgotten my park bench sweetheart's name and presence, I do remember that it was beautiful while it lasted!

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt has quietly arranged for the transfer of an unknown number of American cruisers to the Soviet Union. This latest deal involving our warships has been kept secret in White House and Navy circles; but congressional complainants may soon force a full disclosure of the facts.

Secretary James V. Forrestal and his professional aides grumbled when the transaction was broached to them, but they bowed to the decision somewhat reluctantly. They took the position that the usefulness of the craft would be limited while operating under the Red banner because Moscow is not at war with Japan. As units of our fleet, they can be thrown against either member of the Axis.

The gift became a diplomatic as well as a military necessity, in the State department's view, because of the embarrassment resulting from the London-Washington announcement that Russia would be allotted a certain portion of the surrendered Italian naval vessels. Anti-Mussolini groups collaborating with the United Nations protested fiercely against this disposition of their erstwhile fleet.

When FDR was asked about the proposal, he gave the impression that Stalin would not get Italian ships, but an equivalent number from the British or us. It is not known here whether England has made a similar contribution to our great land Ally in Europe.

The President is obviously playing for high stakes in making this practical gesture. He apparently seeks to placate the Italian people as the Anglo-American forces prepare to press and expand the gains south of Rome to the Alps. He also aims to soothe the Russians, who grow more restless every day at the delay in mounting the grand assault on Festung Europa.

MISSION: Revelation of the details of Vice President Henry Wallace's ambassadorial trip to China and Siberia convinces the politicos that President Roosevelt will demand the Iowan's renomination if there is to be a fourth-term try.

The VP, as revealed here May 5 in a discussion of official concern over Chungking's military and economic weaknesses, has been sent to assure Chiang Kai-shek's people that the Yanks and Yankee supplies are coming. He will also serve as a messenger of good will, a presidential representative, to the dwellers in Stalin's "Wild East."

Obviously his visit would lose most of its international meaning and significance if, immediately upon his return, he was summarily dropped from the slate and the official household. The Chinese and Russians, who put a great deal of emphasis on "face", would presumably feel that they had been let down.

If Mr. Roosevelt does not intend to ask a convention vote of confidence in his No. 2 man, it is the belief of the party strategists that it would have been wiser not to let Wallace go abroad on such an important mission.

STRENGTH: Recent primary results also strengthen the VP's political stock. Forces are operating in his favor almost precisely as he predicted when he set out some months ago to sell himself to FDR as "indispensable man No. 2." He told friends then that he would demonstrate the extent of his popularity with several powerful voting elements.

He has. The surprising defeat of two Dies committee members—Representatives Joe Starnes of Alabama and John Costello of California—is attributed to the work of the Hillman-Murray CIO-ers. Wallace is their candidate as the President's running mate, and they have conveyed that decision to the White House. According to them, the Iowan's name on the ticket will help to bring out the labor vote, including groups which resent Mr Roosevelt's seeming switch to conservatism.

The Vice President has undoubted strength with radicals of all stripes, especially the American Labor party element. In fact, Capital wags forecast his renomination with the semi-humorous observation that Stalin "insists on it."

• • •

FARM: The third group which prefers the former Secretary of Agriculture is made up of government workers. He was their pal when he presided over that department, and they have rallied around him now. With their friends and families they comprise a formidable bloc, and they know how to exert pressure.

The three categories of voters—factory employes, liberals and federals—happen to be most numerous in the cities whose votes control electorally important states—New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California, to mention only a few. And the fourth-term ticket may have to scrape the bottom of the ballot barrel to nose out the GOP in those commonwealths.

Ironically enough, the area where Wallace should be strongest—the farm belts—is conceded to the Republicans.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

SIMULTANEOUSLY with the carnage in this war, the science of healing is making advances that will be blessings to humanity for generations.

Penicillin and the sulfas, besides their magic qualities, have opened entirely new fields of investigation that may result in the cure of many diseases not mastered by the original drugs.

Doctors still need more blood donations for battle requirements. But in the past months they obtained amounts that permitted them to conduct experiments on by-products.

Red corpuscles, once considered waste, are now made into plastics. A substance resembling silky rubber is employed as a temporary coating for the outer layer of the brain in delicate cranial operations. Another can be applied to minor wounds and cuts to stop hemorrhages in a few seconds.

• • •

NERVOUS: But the conflict has brought serious problems as well as boons. The latest figures show that more than 40 per cent of the men discharged by the War and Navy departments suffer from neuropsychosis. At least 300,000 have been released because of this and 1,000 more are added each day.

Spokesmen at the recent session of the American Psychiatric association in Philadelphia revealed that the most evident characteristics of these veterans are extreme restlessness and slowness in adjusting to civilian work. A New York shipbuilding corporation reports that the turnover of ex-servicemen not-previously employed by the company was 100 per cent.

So disturbing is the number of workers with nervous scars from the war that the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Committee for Mental Hlgiene are promoting factory clinics to deal with the cases. Well rounded programs of rehabilitation in cooperation with the government are encouraged by industry.

So disturbing is the number of workers with nervous scars from the war that the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Committee for Mental Hygiene are promoting factory clinics to deal with the cases. • • •

AFFLICTION: It is essential for the public to understand the ailment and not assume that the mind of a returning soldier in this state is unbalanced.

No more cruel stigma could be fastened on him by the ignorant. It is not considered a sign of mental illness if the boss of a million-dollar firm loses his temper or a sweet wife on occasion has a mild attack of hysterics.

Men from the hell of battle, or from plague-ridden jungles where they lived in fear of succumbing to strange tropical diseases, have endured greater and longer strains than civilians have undergone.

They need time and intelligent guidance in their period of recuperation. They should feel no more shame of the affliction than they would of honorable wounds. The kindest attitude on the part of their old friends and relatives is one of patience and common sense.

Only the worst cases are incurable. This is also true in normal life.

Returned Veterans To Get Educational Advantages

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BACK to school will be the schedule for many returning servicemen who require vocation training to find a place in civilian work.

Under the United States Employment service's vocational training and rehabilitation program special attention will be devoted to physically handicapped veterans to ease their home adjustment problems.

All members of the armed forces, however, including women, are eligible to apply for vocational training. To qualify the veteran must show that some disability was incurred in service which renders him unfit for his old trade or vocation.

"Training is complete in the vocation or profession selected," says B. B. Watson, rehabilitation placement officer of USES. "It includes a four year college course for those qualifying and shorter periods for others. Even those with only seven grades or less of schooling may learn mechanical or service trades in carefully selected schools."

• • •

Tech To Co-Operate

Schools that will participate in the training include Texas A. and M., Southern Methodist university, University of Texas, Texas Technological college, North Texas State Teachers college, Baylor university, Prairie View college and a number of junior colleges.

Agricultural course, apprenticeship on-the-job training and commercial courses will be available, says Watson.

"Eventually we expect to expand the number of professions and trades available to 250", he states. "We want the man to be happy and enjoy the work he is going into."

• • •

PHYSICALLY handicapped veterans are trained under a Congressional act of July 5, 1943.

"If they are hospitalized at the Texas center, McCloskey hospital in Temple, we interview them before they leave," explains Watson. "A rating board goes over their claim and if the board rejects it, the serviceman may appeal."

Veterans must submit an application before their eligibility may be considered.

Disability compensation is based on $1 for each one percent of total disability. The minimum is $10 for 10 per cent of disability.

• • •

May Borrow Funds

Veterans accepted for training who need funds may borrow from a veterans loan fund. The veteran can borrow as much as $100 without interest to be repaid from his compensation check at $10 a month.

"If a serviceman made application for benefits before July 5, 1943 and was turned down, tell him to make a new application," suggests Watson. "Under the present law he will probably qualify."

Disability may be service incurred or service aggravated, explains Watson.

FIRST LT. WALTER C. A. BENEKE, jr., of Orange, home on leave after more than a year with the famous 531st Dive Bombardment squadron of the U. S. Army, wonders about the Japanese Navy. He says he has not seen it, and he has flown a substantial stretch of the Pacific.

"And I've never seen a Japanese ship in the Pacific that has not been sunk."

It was Beneke who distinguished himself in the South Pacific in January when he took home his flaming plane, one wing ablaze and fire licking the cockpit. It burned when he reached base, he said. The 22-year-old Orange man was wounded in the arm, back and leg while on duty with "the only dive bomber squadron in the Army flying Douglas A-24's, the most effective weapon in the war, according to our commanders." His squadron averaged 92 per cent on hits in the target area, 30 per cent higher than any other outfit, he said. But Beneke, although he declared his desire to return to the Pacific, would not like to return to fly single-engined planes.

Boys Fight To Get Home

The European war is far from the thoughts of fighters in the Pacific, and there is no general attitude toward it, he said. There is only a fierce pursuit of a job there and an "awful hatred, hatred for anything Japanese." The whole idea back of the fighting is getting home, he insisted.

One encouraging feature in the Pacific is the teamwork of the Army, Navy and Marine corps, he declared, explaining that rivalry does not exist. No longer is it; "I'm the Navy, I'm the Army, I'm a Marine. But just a bunch of men protecting one another and one another's rights."

Beneke chuckled over the Army's favorite entertainment, Radio-Tokyo, "a far stronger propaganda setup than ours—30 minutes of the best American dance music, a skit deploring American loss of life; then, 30 minutes more of dance music." A boost to the American morale, he called it, as he described "Tokyo Rose" as a "Japanese woman who speaks beautiful English."

STANDARD FACTS

SEA POWER...
Unites the United Nations, makes them strong
Look at your world map. Without the power to move freely over the face of the seas, what could the United Nations accomplish? They would be isolated—and destroyed one by one—because they could not help one another.

SEA POWER
STRENGTHENS PEACE, TOO!

Consider foods for poultry and livestock. Grains alone, without the helpful quality nutrients, VITAMINS and FOOD MINERALS, are not "strong," meaning simply that rations of grain alone will not produce the maximum amounts of meat, milk and eggs per pound of feed. You waste time and money when you feed "weak" feeds. The sea is our richest potential source of the very proteins, vitamins and food minerals needed to balance up the grain and mill feeds produced on land, to help them give best feeding results.

STANTON'S FEEDS CONTAIN MANAMAR

The ManAmar contained in Stanton's Feeds is produced by Philip R. Park, Inc., San Pedro, Calif. This research organization specializes in "sea farming" . . . gathering, concentrating and blending always-healthy ocean fish (and their by-products) and "Sea Alfalfa" or Kelp. The fish are rich in proteins and also in health- and growth-promoting vitamins. Kelp supplies food minerals which may be lacking in land feeds.

Try Stanton's feeds, enriched with ManAmar, and increase your production schedule and profit. Get all the facts, today.

Texas Flier Wearing Three Sets Of Wings

FORT LOGAN, Colo., May 25 (AP)—Lt. Grover C. Blissard of Big Spring, convalescing at Fort Logan, wears not one but three sets of wings—his own and two pairs given him after a vicious air fight with Germans over Italy in which he lost a leg.

Blissard was co-pilot on one of seven Fortresses sent to bomb a railroad marshalling yard in Italy. The formation was jumped by more than 100 Me 109's but fought on to its objective.

An enemy shell severely injured Blissard in the legs, and his Fortress after dropping its bombs headed for Sardinia, not occupied then by the Allies but the nearest spot that offered emergency treatment. He was given first aid by Italian doctors.

There, an Italian general unpinned his gold wings and pinned them on the Texas' flyer's torn shirt. Back at his African base, Blissard's group commander took the wings off his own blouse and added them to the pair already worn.

Blissard is also holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, Purple Heart, Air Medal, and three campaign bars.

STOCK PRICES ERRATIC

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — Assorted specialties, including several senior stocks, exhibited strength in today's market but rails and many industrial leaders retreated before profit takers.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 52.7, with the industrials and utilities unchanged and the rails down .3 of a point. Transfers totalled 804,210 shares compared with 1,090,100 Wednesday.

Laclede Gas preferred closed up 10½ points to a peak for the year. At 1944 highs also were Macy and Firestone Tire. Socony-Vacuum, up ⅛, was a lively mover on a birght earnings estimated. 130,000 tanks and other combat vehicles.
1,300,000 military trucks.

Complaint Is Voiced Against Behavior Of Troops In England

LONDON, May 25. (AP)—As the House cheered, Home Secretary Herbert Stanley Morrison told Commons today that the complaint one member made against behavior of American troops in Britain "did not give either a fair or accurate picture."

House Member William D. Kendall, an independent, had declared "It is unfit for a woman to walk unescorted through a town at night, due to the ineffectiveness of American military authorities to deal with the improper behavior of American forces, and the complete failure to prevent unconcealed immorality and give proper protection to women."

In reply the home secretary said "In particular the innuendo that United States authorities are failing to assist to the utmost in disciplining their troops and checking misbehavior is quite unjustified.

"They have at all times cooperated to the fullest possible extent with our police."

Kendall had asked, "Will the home secretary bring to the notice of United States authorities, that while we are more than anxious to extend our hospitality to United States troops, will these troops extend to our womenfolk the same chivalry and courtesy they extend to their own womenfolk in their own country?"

"If there are any specific complaints made I will examine them," the home secretary replied.

Ten Thousand Poppy Sales Is Goal Here Of VFW, Auxiliary

The sale of 12 million poppies is the 1944 national goal set by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and it is hoped that 10,000 of that number will be sold in Lubbock by the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW Poppy Day which is Saturday.

Total proceeds of the poppy sale go to the care and comfort of veterans and their dependents, whose needs are mounting daily, Mrs. W. H. McDonald, chairman of sales, said Thursday. It is believed that the sale of 10,000 poppies will not be difficult when the people of the community realize that the money goes to those men, or the families of those men, who have been in the foxholes, or on the battlefields or piloting bombers and fighters.

Mrs. McDonald asks that all members of the auxiliary who plan to assist in sales meet at 7 a. m. Saturday at the VFW hall in the Myrick building and they will be issued poppies. Mrs. Lorene Womack is co-chairman of sales.

Mrs. Blanche Neihoff of Slaton, president of the auxiliary, will be in Slaton to sell poppies until noon Saturday and then she will be in Lubbock for the remainder of the day.

Seventy-Mile Winds Damage San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, May 25. (AP) — Winds which reached a velocity of 70 miles per hour in brief second-long gusts struck San Antonio at 8:45 p. m. Wednesday to wreak damage to power lines and shingle roofs and to uproot scores of trees through the city.

Accompanied by a driving rain, thunder and lightning, the storm was the second of gale proportions to strike San Antonio in less than a week. Sunday's storm caused more extensive damage because the wind, although not so strong, was of longer duration.

Boerne, 30 miles northeast of here, was visited by severe winds which blew off roofs and knocked over trees in some sections of the city. A 2-inch rain was reported there. Kerrville, 65 miles northwest, reported 2.57 inches of rain with strong winds and some hail. Fredericksburg, also in that section, recorded 3.36 inches.

Meeting Of Two Yanks At Junction Related

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—The first two Fifth Army men to shake hands at the junction with the Anzio beachhead were Lt. Francis Buckley of Philadelphia who came from the south and Capt. Ben Zimmemer of Honolulu, a SBC broadcast from Italy said today.

Zimmemer saw Buckley walking up the road about five miles south of the Mussolini canal and said, "Where the hell do you think you are going?" the broadcast narrated.

"I came up here to make contact with the Anzio forces," Buckley replied.

More Waste Paper Is Needed To Fill Car; Officer Issues Appeal

Approximately 25,000 pounds of waste paper is needed to complete a carload at South Plains Army Air field, according to an appeal issued through the chamber of commerce Thursday afternoon.

Request was made that anyone with substantial quantities of such waste paper—from 100 pounds up—call Lt. Edward Degginger, salvage officer at SPAAF, telephone 0361, extension 302.

First on the list desired is corrugated paper, Lt. Dessinger reported. He asked that business establishments save and bundle such paper, and call him. Other kinds of waste also are desired.

He added that army trucks will be used to make pickups two or three times per week if the quantities of paper will justify.

Potatoes Are Vitamin-Rich

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Potatoes belong in the spring diet. Eaten daily, they provide one-fourth of your vitamin C quota—also some B vitamins, iron and other minerals an starch. One medium si potato contains no more calories than an apple or banana and only half as much as a piece of pie or a hamburger and roll. They are superabundant and cheap.

Keep potatoes cool, but not cold, and dark. Light gives them green spots that are harmful to eat. And although you can cut off the greenish part and eat the rest, it's wasteful. So cover your stored potatoes well with cloth or paper. You can eat sprouted potatoes if you peel them. But never eat the sprouts. They have the same harmful substance contained in green spots.

Potato Hot Pot

Three cups sliced or diced potatoes, 1 medium-sized onion, sliced, 2 tablespoons fat, 3½ cups tomatoes, 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper.

Cook the potatoes and onions in the fat 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes, or until potatoes are tender. For variety, add a cup of cooked green beans during the last ten minutes of cooking or add a dash of chili powder or a few sprigs of thyme, or sprinkle with a little grated cheese, just before serving.

Potato Pancakes

Two cups raw potatoes, ¼ cup milk, 1 egg, beaten slightly, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion.

Grate potatoes and put immediately into milk. Add egg, flour, salt, pepper and onion. Drop from a tablespoon into a greased frying pan. Cook until well browned and crisp on both sides. Serve hot.

Let's begin on the "ground" floor! Ground meat is especially economical since it serves 4 people to the pound. When ingredients such as spaghetti, vegetables or rice are added, it may even serve 5 to the pound. A two-pound loaf will serve a family of 6 with leftovers for cold slicing. By the way, don't keep fresh ground meats longer than one or two days without cooking.

Be a wise buyer! Allow ¼ pound per serving for boneless cuts and ground meat, ½ pound per serving for cuts with some bone, 3 ounces per serving for canned, cooked, boneless meats like corned beef, and 2 to 3 ounces per serving for sausage products like bologna and luncheon meat.

Use Pan-Broiling For Small Cuts Of Meat

Panbroiling, one of the most common meat cookery methods, is a convenient way to prepar small steaks, shops and patties from beef and lamb, smoked ham slices bacon.

These meats are cooked uncovered in a heavy frying-pan without the addition of fat or water. It is sometimes desirable, however to add a small amount of fat when cooking beef or lamb patties to prevent sticking.

Panbroiled chops, steaks or patties are browned on both sides and then seasoned with salt and pepper. (All meats are more easily turned if they are allow to brown thoroughly before turning.)

The meat may be started in a cold frying-pan. After it is browned, the temperature should be reduce and the meat turned occasionally. This will cook it more uniformly. A spatula or fork may be used for turning, but if a fork is used it should be inserted into the fat rather than the lean to prevent loss of juice.

If fat collects in the pan, it should be poured off, because when meat cooks in fat it being fried rather than pa broiled, and there is a resulting difference in flavor.

The time required for panbroiling is approximately the same, or slightly less, than the time required for broiled meats. The following is based on meat cookery experiments coducted by the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Beef steak, ¾ to 1-inch thick, allow about 15 minutes for rare, 20 minutes for medium; lamb steaks, ¾ to 1-inch thick, allow 15 to 20 minutes, and lamb patties, 18 to 20 minutes; smoked ham slices ½ to ¾-inch thick, allow 12 to 15 minutes.

Ground meat bits: Bake ground meat loaves in low oven for a long time. Broil or pan fry meat patties with a moderate fire just long enough to cook them through. If hamburgers have no pork in them, they may be cooked rare. Never press meat patties tightly together. They'll be more tender if loosely packed.

Serve no-point liver once a week. It's concentrated in iron, rich in vitamin A and G, a good source of vitamin B1 and C, and even contains some vitamin D. Veal and lamb liver are delicious broiled, while beef and pork liver are at their best braised with tomato juice, lemon juice, vinegar, or sour cream. One pound of liver serves 4 people.

PICNICS—1944 STYLE—Backyard picnics can be just as much fun as pre-war country outings as long as the food is kept traditionally picnic-like. From cabobs to cookies, the meal pictured above will get the enthusiastic vote of picnic fans. Cabobs can be fixed in a jiffy. Picnickers need only slices of meat, tomatoes and onions to string up their own combinations on wooden sticks, ready for roasting or broiling. For dessert, fruit and cookies from the store will save kitchen work, too. A refreshing drink is the final touch to this quickly-prepared backyard picnic.

"I wish my mother would get it into her head that used fats are to be sent to the butcher and not directly to me!"

Complement veal with sausage, bacon, celery, spiced fruits, dill pickle, cheese, and delicate vegetables such as peas, asparagus, green limas, and new potatoes. And remember the fine flavor of soup stock made from veal shanks. It's a grand beginning for a whole meal soup.

With roasts on the fire again, take tips on care of leftovers. Keep roasts in the regrigerator and tightly covered to prevent drying. Cooked meat will keep this way for a week. Don't let roasts stand uncovered in your oven or cupboard. If roast is large, cut all meat from bones, leaving pieces as large as possible, and put into a pan or dish and cover.

When sizable pieces from a roast are all used, grind remaining meat, mix with salad dressing, and put in covered jar for sandwich filling.

Variety meats (kidney, sweetbreads, tongue, brains, and heart) are rich sources of minerals and vitamins — second only to that found in liver. They're excellent sources of top quality protein and are good sources of phosphorus and iron (especially heart and kidneys). Also they stand at the top of the food list, along with liver, as a source of thiamin, riboflavin, and niacin. Kidneys are a good source of vitamin A.

If you don't broil because you hate to wash the broiler, make a small removable broiler. Fit a wire rack into a small pan. It'll work well for small amounts of food. Be certain the wire rack is set up high enough so that fat can drain from the food as it cooks.

For overworked feet, rub with castor oil and put on little white cotton socks with draw strings run through the cuffs.

Honor Medal Awarded Texan Posthumously

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Lieut. William D. Hawkins, USMC, of El Paso, Texas, who, at point-blank range led a successful attack on a Japanese position on Tarawa which was fortified by five machine guns, has won the Medal of Honor posthumously. Hawkins was shot in the chest in this skirmish but continued his fight against others of the enemy and was mortally wounded.

The citation by President Roosevelt reads in part:

"For valorous and gallant conduct above and beyond the call of duty . . . the first to disembark from the jeep lighter, First Lieut. Hawkins unhesitatingly moved forward under heavy enemy fire neutralizing emplacements in coverage of troops assaulting the main beach positions . . . He repeatedly risked his life through the day and night . . . His relentless fighting spirit in the face of formidable opposition and his exceptionally daring tactics were an inspiration to his comrades during the most crucial phase of the battle . . . He gallantly gave his life for his country."

The air strip on Betio island has named in his honor. He was the son of Mrs. C. Jane Hawkins, El Paso.

Heidelburg Well Is Biggest Producer

JACKSON, Miss., May 25 (U.P.) —The new T. D. Lewis well of the Gulf Refining Co. in the Jasper county Heidelberg field today became the largest petroleum producer east of the Mississippi river.

State gas and oil director H. M. Morse said that complete figures on the new find were not complete but that the well would surpass the 1,400 barrels a day coming from the Lewis-Morrison hole, previously the largest producer this side of the Mississippi.

The new producer was put down just across the highway from the big Lewis-Morrison project, which had caused oil men to agree that the Heidelberg area would probably become the biggest oil field in the state and perhaps the largest east of the Mississippi river.

To protect valuable minerals, vegetables should be cooked in covered utensils and should not be stirred.

SPAAF To Be Host To Young Farmers

More than 300 4-H Club Boys from 20 surrounding counties will be special guests at South Plains Army Air field Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9, as the field pays tribute to them for outstanding farm production achievements.

These young men, each of whom has produced enough food to feed a soldier for a year, will be given opportunity to see how their contributions to the war effort are being put into actual use.

They will be given a day's visit at SPAAF.

In 1943, SPAAF played host to approximately 80 of the 4-H Club Boys and The Extensioner, agriculture magazine published at College Station, praised the visit at the field as one of the most empressive of any made by 4-H Club Boys in the entire state.

This year, the boys again will be shown the men in field work, routine training tasks, link trainer building, mess halls where the food they helped produce is now being used, the ordnance sections and the flight line where men are training in big cargo and troop carrying gliders.

One half the group will visit the field Thursday, June 8, and the other half will visit the field Friday, June 9. Trucks will meet the young men at the gate and will conduct them through the large field.

The counties from which the boys have been chosen include Bailey, Borden, Briscoe, Castro, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Lamb, Palmer, Scurry, Swisher, Terry and Yoakum.

To distribute wear on large and small sized rugs, turn them about from time to time.

Young Farmers Must Go Up For Physicals

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—All class 2-C and potential 2-C registrants (agricultural deferments) under 26 years of age will be forwarded for pre-induction physical examination the same as other registrants under 26, according to a directive sent to local boards today by state Selective service headquarters.

Pointing out that the pre-induction physical examination of class 2-C and potential 2-C registrants does not necessarily mean that they will be inducted immediately, General J. Watt Page, state director, said these examinations are a part of an over-all policy to ascertain the number of physically fit young men under 26 years of age who have not been inducted.

Save the bone from a roast! Put it in cold water to cover, add salt, an onion, a carrot, a bay leaf, and a bit of parsley and simmer for a couple of hours to get fine stock for soup or scalloped dishes.

Troops In Italy Don Khaki And Thereby Hangs A Story

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF IN ITALY, May 15. (Delayed)—After living with soldiers for a long time you come to look on them as the same sort of individuals they were in civilian life and almost forget that the Army and its regulations control their every movement.

Then something happens to remind you of regimentation. Yesterday the Naples streets swarmed with the winter's woolen olive drab uniforms. Today, as though a gian hand had reversed every wardrobe, the same thousands of soldiers appeared in their summer cotton khakis.

OD's Hold In Combat

Up on the combat line, however, the O. D. still reigns supreme. For one thing, they stand up much better under wear and tear. But the main reason is that they're better camouflage.

The switchover in uniforms was not exactly unexpected. The Army public relations officials issued an announcement about it a couple of days ago. It was sent over from Algiers and has become the most hilarious handout of the week.

Whoever wrote it must have been either an advertising man in pre-war life or else bitten by the testimonial bug in bygone days.

First, he said that the swapping of uniforms was about due because hot weather was upon us.

Plug For Khaki

Then he obviously went out on the streets and snagged some luckless private whom he quoted as saying "I prefer the khakis because they're much cooler."

However, he suddenly must have realized that some of the guys wouldn't like to change to khaki, what with being up there in the line and having to fight the war, so he scurried back out on to the street and nipped him another enlisted man just back from the front.

It wasn't enough to point out that the O. D's were better camouflage. This unfortunate GI, who probably just wanted to be left alone, anyhow, was described as giving the uniform situation a good serious think, whereupon he was quoted as solemnly saying:

"I prefer the woolen O. D's because in the long run they're more cool than the khaki."

Here's His Clincher

By now the handout had the whole headquarters press gang in the aisles, but its enterprising author took no chances on his point not being driven home to the most stupid scribe.

He located a third luckless lad who was quoted (all of them with full name and home town) as agreeing wholeheartedly with the Army's regulation because sometimes he considered the khaki cooler, but in a judicious afterthought he added:

"Other times I prefer woolens."

And that was that.

AMENDMENT ADOPTED

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—An amendment to price control extension legislation tying the price of raw cotton to that of finished textiles was adopted by the Senate banking committee today, 12 to 5.

News Briefs

Mayor O. W. Ribble announced Thursday that the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission, scheduled to be held Thursday afternoon, had been postponed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The commission will take up other business after a public hearing set for that time on the proposed city budget, the mayor explained.

George W. Ray, 32, pleaded not guilty when arraigned this week before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner for the Lubbock division of the northern district of Texas, on charges of feloniously and corruptly endeavoring to influence, intimidate and impede one Rachel Ray who had theretofore been designated as a government witness. Ray has been held in the Lubbock county jail since March 10 on federal charges of illegally transporting a female from one state to another. Additional bond was set at $500.

James L. White who is in the Navy and stationed at Farragut, Idaho, is spending a 15-day leave in Lubbock with his wife and daughter, Shelley, 1514 Twenty-eighth street, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. White, 1411 Eighth street. He is a master electrician.

Arriving here Wednesday to join Lt. Clare A. Frederick, director of Marine corps recruiting for women in West Texas, were Sgt. Mary Nugent and S/Sgt. Bob Ruoff of Albuquerque, N. M., as member of a recruiting party who will interview applicants for enlistment in the Marine Women's reserve. Lt. Frederick will return to her headquarters in El Paso today, but Sgts. Nugent and Ruoff will remain here until Saturday. They are making their headquarters in the Marine recruiting office here.

A homecoming of the Emma community in Crosby county will be held Tuesday at Ralls and all pioneers of the plains are invited to attend, R. L. Travis, president of the homecoming, has announced. There will be talks by pioneers and a memorial service at the Emma cemetery. A basket dinner will be served at the noon hour.

Promotions to the rank of Captain were announced at the West Texas Recruiting and Induction station Thursday of two officers of the station. Those receiving promotions were Raymond J. Dees, induction officer, and Edmond E. Bailey, classification officer.

Texas Voter Most Puzzled Individual In Party Split

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 25—Leaders of both factions of Texas' sharply split Democratic party today were looking into the state's election laws in an effort to determine where they stand, but both sides were reluctant to comment...

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, titular head of the party organization which was in the saddle at the convention that voted to send an uninstructed delegation to Chicago, and which named presidential electors left free to vote for any Democrat who holds views in accord with that convention if the national convention failed to meet certain qualifications, referred questioners to the law.

Law Is Quoted

The law provides:

1. That the chairmen of the State Democratic Executive committee and the committee's secretary shall on Oct. 18 certify to the secretary of state the names of the electors. He in turn certifies them for printing on the November election ballot.

2. That "there shall be elected by the voters of the state, as many electors for President and Vice-President . . . as the state of Texas may at that time be entitled to . . ."

Electors' Names On Ballot

3. That "a vote for the candidates of any political party for both President and Vice-President of the United States shall be conclusively deemed to be a vote for candidates of the same party for presidential electors, and shall be so counted and recorded for such electors as the state shall be empowered to elect."

Customarily, the names of the candidates are not printed on the Texas ballot, just the names of the electors. The undetermined question is whether the amended law as passd by the lgislature in 1931, in the third point above mentioning the candidates, means that the names of the national Democratic candidates, as well as the electors, should be printed on the ballot.

Will Not Be Obligated

Assuming that the Chicago meeting failed to meet the conditions imposed by resolutions passed at the uninstructed convention, leaving the electors named by the Texas uninstructed convention free to vote for "democrats holding views in accord with those here expressed," these electors would not be obligated to vote for Prsident Roosevelt if he is re-nominated, if their views and his did not coincide.

No official source was willing to try to interpret the law, and the prospect was increasingly good that a court interpretation would be necessary to clarify the situation.

Voter Is Most Puzzled

The most puzzled party in the entire muddle was the Democratic voter himself, who still had no clear-cut idea of where he would stand.

As the situation stands, Texas has two sets of electors—one named at the pro-Roosevelt session, the other at the uninstructed session—and two sets of national delegates. What the Chicago convention will do, and what ultimate interpretation of the unique situation the courts might make, is open to wide speculation.

But the pro-Roosevelt Democrats thus far do not have an executive committee; no executive committee chairman; no executive committee secretary. They have announced no plans for setting up such organization.

Plans Not Announced

Leaders of the bolt movement, however, said they were looking into the legal aspects of the situation, but they were not yet ready to announce specifically what they would do.

The pro-Roosevelt rump session flatly turned down a proposition that the group call itself anything but Democrats.

This suggestion would have had the effect of creating a third party column, and simplified the legal procedure in getting the names of the elcetors on the ballot.

Latham Plans Study

Secretary of State Sidney Latham, whose duty it will become to certify the electors, said "I will cross that bridge when I come to it," and added that he would make a thorough study of all legal angles of the situation before commenting further.

Several Roosevelt-Democrat convention leaders indicated they would if necessary carry their fight for a place on the ballot to the highest courts. They admitted there were numerous legal obstacles that would have to be overcome in view of the fact that the uninstructed group has the party organization ready to follow the usual statutory procedures.

Meanwhile, the resolutions passed at the convention which voted to send an uninstructed delegation to Chicago, drew comment from John U. Barr, national chairman of the Draft-Byrd-for-President committee.

In a formal statement issued here, Barr said that the resolutions embodied principles advocated by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.)

"The results of the Texas convention prove conclusively that the Democratic party is resolved to keep to its traditions," he said.

He added that after studying results of Democratic conventions in Louisiana, Florida, South Carolina and Texas he finds his predictions that President Roosevelt will not seek a fourth term is shared by more and more people.

Blalock To Seek Party Harmony

AUSTIN, May 25. (U.P.)—Col. Myron Blalock of Marshall, elected Democratic national committeeman from Texas by both of the rival state Democratic conventions held here Tuesday, said today he accepted the election by both. He declined to take a stand as between them.

While no concrete program has been worked out regarding bringing the two factions together, Blalock said he was engaging himself toward that end.

Hopes For Harmony

"I am hoping when the smoke of battle clears away we will find both sides working and voting in the election for the party nominees," Blalock said.

He said he would confer with individuals who might have influence and would have talks and conferences, though he did not expect anything to be done in a few days.

If the factions are not brought together and there is to be a contest before the convention, Blalock said he will use his efforts to see that each has a fair hearing.

Survey Of Eligibles For WAC In Area Is Planned By Office

A county wide survey of eligible women to join the Women's Army Corps will be conducted in every county of this district, starting this week, according to word received here Thursday.

Hundreds of eligible women, not engaged in essential industry will be contacted by Sgt. Mary Kimpel and Sgt. Helen R. Cunnison of the Lubbock recruiting office who will spare no effort to furnish these women with all the information at hand to show the many opportunities available in the WAC.

Counties to be included in the survey outside of Lubbock are: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cochran, Hockley, Crosby, Dickens, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza and Kent. Major towns in each county will be visited and information literature left with the respective WAC civilian chairman in each city.

More than 239 different jobs are now being filled by women of the Army and thousands more women are needed to replace the men who are being shipped overseas so rapidly.

Complete information and details may be secured by calling 6212 for appointments or visiting the Army recruiting station, room 203 in the federal building in Lubbock.

Facetious Motorists Are Without Licenses

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 25 (U.P.)—Two facetious motorists who thought it quite a joke to give wrong addresses to the highway patrol found themselves afoot today.

The state safety department announced it had cancelled the licenses of two Oklahoma City men for giving their addresses as a golf course and a cemetery when applying for their driving permits.

A Guy Has To Be Choosy About His Foxhole Friends

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY BEFORE TERRACINA, May 25.—You learn in a hurry that you have to be very choosy about picking fox hole companions when the shells start dropping.

That lesson was brought home clearly by Lt. Col. George M. Davis, a slim tank man from Milford, Tex., who moves fast, especially when jerry's artillery opens up.

The last time I saw him was at the western edge of Formia last week when we both landed in the same hollow as shells dropped all around. In the first lull we separated, he taking off in one direction and I in another.

The next time we collided it was in front of Terracina and he told me he had been shelled several more times that same day.

"Everywhere I went along the road in my tank jerry followed me with hot stuff," Col. Davis said. "I realized suddenly he had been tuning in my radio to my tank company and zeroed his artillery on me as if he had my home address.

"I was through broadcasting for the day right then. Incidentally, those were five-inch naval shells he was throwing at us that day from Gaeta, not 88's as we thought."

The normal width of the Prut river is 650 feet to 1,000 feet.

Six Engagements Are Booked For Governor

AUSTIN, May 23. (U.P.)—Speaking dates for Gov. Coke R. Stevenson announced today are:

Saturday night, Men's Bible class in Methodist church, Sulphur Springs.

Sunday afternoon, memorial service at Denison High school.

Tuesday, welcome address to Knights of Columbus state conventions, Austin.

Wednesday, afternoon address at Gonzales Warm Springs foundation and night address to service clubs at East Bernard.

He will attend a destroyer launching at Orange at noon June 1 and deliver the high school commencement address at Orange that night.

On June 3 he is to go to Junction to attend the quarterly meeting of the directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association.

Texas Memorial In Italy Is Planned

BROWNWOOD, May 25 (AP)—If plans of the Brownwood American Legion and Veterans of Foreign War posts are successful, a monument of Texas granite will stand at Salerno, Italy, as a memorial to fighting Texans of the 36th division.

Officials of the two organizations are seeking now to determine whether Burnet, Texas, granite—similar to that of which the state capital was constructed is available for the monument. They said as soon as the granite has been obtained, permission will be sought from the War department to ship the marker to Italy.

Fireman Of Oklahoma Town Resign After Pay Raise Dispute

McALESTER, Okla., May 25 (U.P.)—McAlester, a city of 12,000 with two large military centers nearby, was without trained fire protection today after fourteen firemen resigned over a salary dispute.

The fourteen men quit their jobs at 8 a. m. today, the deadline they set yesterday in an ultimatum to the city council. They asked an increase in the minimum fireman's salary from $140 to $150 a month.

Fire units at an Army prisoner of war camp and a naval ammunition depot will be called into the city if a major emergency arises, City Manager C. A. Bentley said.

Outlook Said Encouraging For Summer Term At Tech

Summer school at Texas Technological college opens at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning. Registrar W. P. Clement said yesterday regarding enrollment figures that "the outlook is very encouraging."

Student conferences with deans and heads of departments are scheduled for Monday, with girls' dormitory No. 1 opening that day, serving its first meal at noon. Tuesday is registration day and Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, classes for the '44 session will begin.

Two Plans Offered

As in the past few summers, two plans will be offered this summer. Plan 1 enables the student to go two terms, with each term consisting of six weeks, and plan 2, known as the accelerated plan, made for students wishing to finish college work in two years, eight months, enables the student to go two terms, one six-week term, and one nine-week term. Those going under plan 1 will get out of school Aug 16, and school for those under plan 2 will terminate Sept. 1. The '44-45 fall semester begins Sept. 13.

Only holiday during the summer session will be a one-day observance on the Fourth of July.

119 On Summer Faculty

Approximately 119 faculty members will be on the teaching staff this summer, according to Dean J. M. Gordon, dean of the arts and sciences division and chairman of the summer school committee. This is about 63 per cent of the regular teaching staff, he stated.

The first term, that of six weeks, is the same for students on both plans 1 and 2. This term will close on July 7, with both second terms beginning on July 7.

War Vet Named Navy Air Operations Chief

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Secretary of the Nav. Forrestal has announced that Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, back from four years' duty in the Pacific, will become deputy chief of naval operations for air.

When Fitch will take over the office, now held by Vice Admiral William S. McCain was not disclosed. Meantime, the Navy secretary said, Rear Admiral A. W. Radford is acting deputy chief of naval operations for air.

"Seeing Eye" Dogs To Be Given Blind Vets

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Soldiers, sailors and marines blinded in warfare will have "Seeing Eye" dogs as life companions and helpers, if they deserve it.

President Roosevelt today signed into law the act authorizing the Veterans administration to provide the dogs without cost, and sanctioning a first expenditure of $1,000,000 to this end.

Annual Band School Also Opens Monday

Eleventh annual band school of Texas Technological college will open Monday, as Tech's summer school session begins, according to Professor D. O. Wiley, professor of music and director of the Texas Tech band. The school will continue through July 7.

Monday will mark the registration of pre-college students, with college students and others registering Tuesday. Registration will be in the Textile building on Tech campus.

A total of 30 out-of-town students have already registered, Professor Wiley said. Of this total, 13 are from Seminole, 9 are from Odessa; 6 are from Lamesa, and 2 students from Olton. The Rotary club of Seminole is giving one Seminole boy his band school expenses, with room and board, as a scholarship prize.

Higher Enrollment Seen

Believing the band school at its lowest ebb last summer with an enrollment of 60, Professor Wiley expects many more this summer. Highest enrollment of the school was 250, during pre-war days.

Instructors for this '44 band summer session include Milburn E. Carey, director of the Phillips university band at Enid, Okla., who will teach oboe work, and act as guest conductor. D. W. Craine of Abilene Christian college will be in charge of the brasses, and R. A. Dhossche of San Antonio will direct flutes and other woodwind instruments. Jerome Zoeller, of San Antonio, known as one of the outstanding clairinetists of the southwest, will instruct clarinet players, and Charles Senning of the Tech band will also aid with the clarinet section.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Armour's Star Ready-To-Eat Meats... Delicious!

It's a grand idea for supper on a broiling hot night. You can fix it in a jiffy, using slices of three different Armour's Star Ready-to-Eat Meats. It's cool and refreshing for your family or guests and as nourishing as a meat meal can be. For Armour makes these meats of fresh, wholesome, choice cuts. They're delicately seasoned, thoroughly cooked, all ready to slice and serve.

In center of large chop plate, place three green peppers or tomatoes which have been hollowed to form cups. Fill them with gherkins, stuffed olives and pickled onions respectively. Around edge arrange chilled slices of Armour's Star Old Fashioned Loaf (a blend of beef and pork) and Armour's Star Braunschweiger Liver Sausage. Alternate with Armour's Star Bologna Rolls—made by simply spreading slices of bologna with a mixture of cream cheese and horseradish, rolling and fastening with toothpicks. 1 lb. to 1¼ lbs. of Armour's Star Ready-to-Eat Meats will serve 4 people generously. U.S. Causalties Total 47,605 Dead, 77,868 Wounded

WASHINGTON, May 25 (U.P.) — Announced casualties among the American armed forces, not including losses in the current Italian drive, total 206,227, it was revealed today.

This total comprises 47,605 dead, 77,868 wounded, 44,522 missing and 36,232 prisoners.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson told a press conference Army casualties through May 6—prior to launching of the new Fifth Army push—totalled 161,113, of which 28,059 were killed, 65,779 wounded, 35,496 missing and 31,779 prisoners. He said 38,856 of the wounded have returned to action.

Navy Has 19,546 Dead

A Navy casualty list released today showed a total of 45,114, of which 19,546 were dead, 12,089 wounded, 9,026 missing and 4,453 prisoners.

The last overall compilation of casualties for both services, made two weeks ago, showed a total of 201,454, or 4,773 less than today's total. The May 11 Army figures, however, were for casualties through April 28, so that only nine days' Army action was covered by the 4,773 increase.

The War department later issued the following theater-by-theater breakdown of army casualties through April 30:

Kiwanis Hears Head Of City Recreation

Guest-speaker at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club Thursday noon in the Lubbock hotel was Mrs. Grace Dyess, head of the newly formed city recreation department.

Mrs. Dyess urged the members of the club to continue to give their support in the work the department is doing stating "it is a cooperative job that cannot be handled by the department alone."

E. D'Acosta, business man from Mexico City and a guest at the luncheon of G. P. Kuykendall, spoke briefly, giving an incite on the labor situation in Mexico.

Also appearing on the program was Miss Marcella Berg, soprano, who sang two numbers. She was accompanied by Miss Eleanor Jackson.

Program chairman was A. C. Jackson, while T. E. Buckner, president of the club, presided.

URGES COOPERATION

AUSTIN, May 25. (U.P.)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today issued a proclamation asking Texans to co-operate in the annual sale of "buddy poppies" on May 30, sponsored by the Veteran of Foreign Wars.

Fourth Termers To Lay Plans

AUSTIN, May 25 (U.P.)—Former Secretary of the Interior A. J. Wirtz, recognized leader and "brains" of the pro-Roosevelt Democrats who bolted the original Democratic state convention here Tuesday, said today he had not decided how that faction will proceed to get its presidential electors' names on the election ballot in Texas next November.

"I think it can be done," Wirtz said, "but I have not had time to study the procedure, and I am not sure that if I had decided I would be willing to make the plan public at this time."

Meantime the opposing faction lost no time. Its list of 23 electors was filed yesterday afternoon with Texas Secretary of State Sidney Latham. It was certified by Convention Chairman Roy Sanderford, Convention Secretary Chas. E. Simons and by State Democratic Chairman George A. Butler.

Latham Declines Comment

Latham declined comment upon what he will do if the rival list of electors is presented. It was generally believed that a court test would result.

Under a Texas act of 1931, passed to permit a shorter ballot, names of party nominees for president and vice president may be voted upon and the law says in that event a vote for a party's nominees for president and vice president shall be counted as a vote for the party's elecotrs.

That, however, would only defer a show-down. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, under the same law, would be the person to certify the electors to the electoral college. He would then have to choose. Stevenson took no part in either convention here Tuesday. His personal secretary, Ernest Boyett, is a delegate-at-large from the so-called anti-Roosevelt convention to the national Democratic convention.

Resent Anti-Roosevelt Name

Leaders of that convention resent the anti-Roosevelt name. They say they expect Roosevelt to be nominated and sent an uninstructed delegation to give force to their demand for a return to nomination of president and vice president by two-thirds convention vote, and for the right to control state elections and primaries.

Some of the leaders say frankly that they believe Texas with other affronted southern states can make the national convention see things their way. There is open talk that if the regular convention delegates are not seated at Chicago, Texas may go Republican. It did so once before on a combined religious and prohibition issue, and many believe feeling now is as strong.

TO CLOSE JUNE 3

AUSTIN, May 25. (U.P.)—Texas state departments generally will close June 3 for "Memorial day" instead of May 30. It was pointed out that May 30 is not designated as a statutory state holiday, but that June 3 is so named. It is designated both as a Memorial day, and for observance of the birthday of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate states.

Retribution For Axis And Satellites Urged

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP) — Seventy-two well known Americans have signed a petition urging the United Nations again to warn Axis and satellite nations of "swift retribution" for persecution of minorities. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, one of the signers, announced today.

Governors of 18 states, members of Congress, educators, clergymen, business men, labor leaders, authors, and U. S. Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy were among the co-signers of the petition.

New Indictment Is Drawn Against Bell

CROSBYTON, May 25. (Special) —A 72nd district grand jury of which W. K. Dendy was foreman this morning required but one hour to reindict A. J. Bell, sr., on a charge of kidnaping 4-year-old Margaret Sue Coward April 14.

Judge Blair will conduct court here Monday, but did not announce whether Bell's trial would be called on that date.

Trial of a similar indictment naming Bell was summarily ended Monday when it was learned the indictment was defective, and Judge Blair ordered the grand jury recalled for today.

Bell, a Stamford cotton buyer and former federal convict, will be required to execute a new bond of $2,000 conditioning his appearance for trial.

The girl, daughter of Eugene Coward of the U. S. Navy and Mrs. Coward of Crosbyton, was taken into Bell's car under promise he would buy her ice cream, officials had charged, further telling District Attorney Burton S. Burks he had let her out a quarter-mile past Crosbyton's limits on the road to Lubbock, after his car had been overhauled by one driven by three women, including Aline Coward, the child's mother.

The new indictment has three additional counts to the two formerly voted, court officials said.

Headquarters Opened For War Loan Drive

Preparations for the Fifth War Loan drive starting June 12 entered the home stretch with the opening of headquarters in the chamber of commerce Thursday.

Mrs. Joreta Thurman was announced by County Chairman Neil H. Wright as the drive secretary in charge of headquarters.

The total quota of $4,685,000 assigned to Lubbock county in the drive is the largest of any of the war loan campaigns. The Series E quota of $1,110,000 represents a slight reduction from the $1,195,000 assigned in the Fourth drive last February.

About 4,000,000 extra farm workers are needed in 1944.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
