Al Smith Boomers Launch Drive To Win Texas Jury Expected To Get Jones Murder Case Early Today

Defense Lawyers Bring Jones And Mother On Stand

Both Sides Close Cases Tuesday Afternoon As Day of Evidence Ends In District Court.

JUDGE MULLICAN TO CHARGE JURY EARLY

Talismen Will Begin On Deliberation Near 11 O'clock This Morning Is Indication.

With the state and the defense entirely through with the introduction of evidence and Judge Mulligan expected to read his charge to the jury shortly after the third day of the trial opens at 9 o'clock this morning, the case of Tom Jones, Lubbock realtor, charged with the murder of his stepfather, William Zaluski, will go to the jury by 11 o'clock today.

That was the indication at 4:45 p. m. Tuesday when the defendant left the stand after recounting his version of a fatal shooting which took place on a downtown street shortly after noon on September 8, of this year.

State Starts Tuesday Morning. State testimony occupied the entire day of Tuesday morning, as the case went on in the District Court before Hon. Clark M. Mulligan, judge. The defense, however, followed yesterday afternoon with its big inning. Mrs. Olive Zaluski, mother of the defendant and widow of the slain man, and Mr. Jones himself, being the principal witnesses. They recounted the family difficulties which led up to the tragedy and Mr. Jones gave his version of the fatal shooting.

Although the courtroom, with the exception of the balcony, was filled with spectators yesterday afternoon, it was so this morning. The trial began with much interest on the part of the public when displayed Senator W. H. Bradley and his law partner, Charles C. Crenshaw, are defense attorneys and District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley is prosecuting. Since there were no eye-witnesses to the fatal shooting, Mr. Bradley had to rely on the testimony of his case against Jones.

The morning session of the trial was given over to the testimony of state witnesses with defense attorneys cross-examining them after state's Prosecutor Durwood Bradley finished with his questioning to bring out the clearest evidence.

Alton Hutton, 22, a Texas student and an employee of the local drug company, was the first witness called after the session was begun shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and Mr. Bradley read the grand jury indictment which charged murder against the state and dignity of the state. Mr. Hutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hutton, 1211 19th street, told the jury that he knew Mr. Jones and that he heard the first shot and ran to the Avenue K entrance.

Major Locke, Held For Murder, Was Dazed

ANTLERS, Okla., Nov. 15 (AP)—Enraged by the advances of Abner Battiest, young Choctaw Indian, to two young Indian women, whose mother his father had befriended, and dazed by knowing that Battiest had struck his aged father, Major Victor M. Locke, Jr., was not aware that he shot and killed Battiest, he testified at his murder trial here today.

Did you kill Battiest? He was asked in the course of his examination.

"I don't know," answered Locke, with an expression of apparent bewilderment in his eyes.

Locke, former superintendent of the Five Civilized Tribes, a member of the Choctaw tribe, high in its councils and a man prominent in Republican politics in Oklahoma, is charged with shooting Battiest to death with a rifle on Battiest's front porch, this fall.

"Blue Blizzard" Only A Pale Azure Late Last Night, Reports From Varied Cities Say.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 15. — Although still showing its teeth and menacing the state more or less directly, the heralded "bluenorther" had reached a pale azure stage today. Panhandle points were the only ones reporting what could be called winter weather while South Texas was still waiting to be shown that the unprecedented warm fall weather had been broken.

Amarillo, which experienced a sharp drop in temperature Monday night, reported "clear and cold." Abilene reported "colder weather with frost predicted Tuesday night and Wednesday." Wichita Falls had clear weather with a temperature around 45 degrees after a light rain Monday night after which the temperature dropped about 25 degrees. The temperature at Dallas with freezing predicted by morning. Tuesday morning the temperature was down to 40 degrees. Waco reported rain and temperature falling.

Some rain fell over the greater part of Central Texas and a flurry of snow fell at Georgetown, melting as it touched the ground.

The lower Rio Grande valley is still waiting for the first winter weather. Skies continued cloudy Tuesday but the sun shone warmly.

"No cold wave" was admitted by Houston, characterizing the weather merely as "cooler." Heavy showers accompanied the drop in temperature.

The fall in temperature was most pronounced at San Antonio when government thermometer showed a drop of 29 degrees, in three hours. At 6 o'clock this afternoon the reading was 54 degrees and at 7 p. m. it registered 51.

At Galveston light showers were falling at 7 p. m. with predictions of cooler weather Friday.

Powerful Lights Trained On Debris As Rescuers Work

Two More Bodies Taken From Wreckage of One Of Chief Sufferers In Costly Explosion.

ONE OF INJURED MEN DIES IN SANITARIUM

Still Higher Toll Is Feared by Workers In Jumbled Mass As Yet Untouched.

(By Associated Press) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15.—With the removal tonight of two more bodies from the explosion-torn Pittsburgh Clay Pot plant and the death in a hospital of one of the injured, the known death toll in yesterday's disastrous gas-tank explosion has reached 25.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 15.—Under the glare of powerful flood lights, the monotonous search for additional victims of yesterday's gas-tank explosion went forward tonight in the ruins of the devastated lower north side district. Although hundreds of workmen cleaned up tons of debris during the day, only two more bodies were recovered, bringing the known death toll to 25. All but three of these have been identified.

Rescue workers, generally, however, believed the fatalities would mount when the task of clearing away the jumbled wreckage of the Pittsburgh Clay Pot Company has been completed.

32 Were Missing. Officials of this concern, one of the chief sufferers in the first blast that killed more than a score injured 500 others and caused a property damage running into the millions, announced late today that a revised check up had revealed that thirty-two of the 117 men at work in this plant at the time of the explosion were missing.

Six were killed outright, a dozen or so are in hospitals and some seventy reported themselves safe. Plant officials pointed out, however, that many other forms of relief work were necessary.

SEEK MISSING MAN

Large Party Searches The Brush Near De Leon

DE LEON, Tex., Nov. 15 (AP)—A searching party of more than 100 men were searching the woods and underbrush around Leon river tonight in an effort to find the body of E. O. Norton, 32, who mysteriously disappeared yesterday while en route from his home in the Highland community and this town.

The Leon river was dragged this afternoon, but the body was not found. Mrs. Norton believes her husband was slain, robbed, and his body hidden to cover up the crime. She is prostrated and was under the care of a physician last night.

Norton, a prominent farmer of this section, left early yesterday morning in a small motor truck, intending to come to De Leon. When he failed to return home late yesterday afternoon his brother in law began a search. Norton's abandoned truck was found near the Leon river bridge. Beside the car were found Norton's empty tin foil and a blood stained pocket knife, its large blade open. What appeared to be blood stains also were found on a tree limb near the place where the truck was abandoned.

ROAD AID GIVEN

Guarded Allotments Are Made by Highway Dads

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—Guarded allotments of future road money promised without help from the federal aid bureau because the fund from that source temporarily is exhausted, were made in ten counties by the state highway commission today as it closed a two-day hearing in which nearly $2,000,000 was allocated and promised. Although it promised state and federal money alike Monday the commission did not make a single federal allotment today, Mr. Johnson saying that the federal fund is exhausted for this year, and practically gone until July 1929.

The members wound up details incident to early beginnings on contracts for eleven projects in eight counties last Monday at prices aggregating more than $400,000.

Red Cross Drive Will Start Today

112 Men Take Streets At 9 In Morning To Raise Funds for 1928 Charity Work In Lubbock.

On the eve of the time when they will take the streets for a canvass of the downtown district in a drive for funds for the local chapter of the American Red Cross leaders of the drive directed the attention of the public to the work which the organization has been doing in Lubbock. The Red Cross roll call begins this morning at 9 o'clock.

The work done by the Red Cross includes aid to all community or national disasters, assistance to ex-servicemen, assistance to orphan care to delinquents, aid to the unemployed, education in health and hygiene, and many other forms of relief work.

The report of Miss Mae Murfee, secretary of the local chapter, shows that 715 families have been assisted this year. Two hundred visits have been made to sick people, ten orphanages were assisted, twenty delinquent children homes, ten destitute children, employment.

RUTH, HUBBY PART

Husband Denies Rumor They Have Separated

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Ruth Elder, mid-Atlantic flier, matched a few moments from her business conferences today to bid farewell to her husband, Lyle Womack, as he embarked for his home in Balboa, Panama. As she had to hurry back to another business meeting the farewell took place on the pier before a crowd of some 200 interested travelers, storekeepers and newspaper photographers. She left the pier half an hour before the boat sailed.

"Everything is all right," Womack told reporters after posing with his wife. "I've got a date with Ruth in Balboa. She's going through with her present program—I think it's a better one—and then she says she's coming back to me. People can forget all about this talk of our being separated. I've had a long serious talk with Ruth and we understand each other. There's nothing to the talk of separation."

Two Texans to Serve In Federal Oil Confab

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The three representatives of the oil industry which will serve on the committee of nine selected by Secretary Work to consider methods of meeting the problems of over production and waste were announced today at the interior department.

The three selected by American Petroleum Institute are: Thomas O'Donnell, of California, identified with Pacific Coast Oil interests; J. Edgar Poe, of the Southern Oil Company of Texas and W. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining Company of Texas.

Farmers Opposed To Reduction On Duty For Imports

Agriculturists Concur In Coolidge Opinion That Relief Will Be From Other Source.

HIT AT COMPETITION OF COLONIAL CROP

President Unfavorable to Plan Suggested by Committee Headed With Charles Nagel.

(By Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15.—Any general reduction of import duties at this time was opposed in a declaration adopted by the resolutions committee of the American Farm Congress here today after sentiment had developed at a general session against permitting the American market to be opened to foreign importations of agricultural and livestock products.

The stand was in line with the position taken by President Coolidge, who, it was said at the White House today, feels that agriculture would not be aided by a reduction of the tariff, such as suggested by the committee for the relief of agriculture, headed by Charles Nagel, former assistant secretary of commerce.

R. W. Dunlap, assistant secretary of agriculture and C. F. Curtiss, dean of Iowa Agricultural college, won applause by advocating the preservation of the home market for the American farmer and livestock raiser.

The resolutions committee went further than striking at imports from foreign nations, by adopting

CUBA TAKES LEAD

Country Now Is In Van of Sugar Interests

PARIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Cuba took effective lead of the world's sugar interests today when suggestions of Colonel Jose Tamarit, head of the Cuban defense committee, were incorporated in an agreement signed by the biggest exporters of the sugar world to permit the industry to wait for consumption to catch up with production.

An agreement which is for the control of exportation of sugar production is effective for one year and is renewable at the end of that period. It provides for the admission of all sugar exporting countries. Only the general outlines of the agreement were given out today as the Cuban committee was in the process of explaining the details to other sugar interests likely to come into the combination before the details are given to the general public.

MARCHERS HALTED

Workmen Tramping Long Road To London Rest

NEWBURY, Eng., Nov. 15 (AP)—The marchers en route to London to call the attention of parliament to the distress of the unemployed tonight into this old town where King John granted the Magna Carta of English liberty in 1215. They were so tired they did not care what Moscow might think of their basking within building that bear a royal title.

The unemployed army from Wales found rest in buildings that are a part of almshouses called King John's court. The shelter was turned over to the men by the municipality.

REMUS WINS POINT

Double Court Victory For Ex-Booze King

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15 (AP)—George Remus gained what he regarded as one of his outstanding court battles today when he finally won the double right to qualify the jurors who will set in judgment upon him and to refuse to set up a claim as to his mental status at this time.

Remus waited until the jury box was half filled with tentative jurors before he raised his voice in the interruption of venemmen. When the prosecution tendered Joseph Trautman, farmer and storekeeper to the defense, the court added Charles P. Taft II, Hamilton county prosecutor, leaped to his feet with a determined objection.

Bullets Will Greet Pickets, Colorado

Strikers Are Told

(By Associated Press) DENVER, Colo., Nov. 15.—Faced with a warning that pickets would be met with bullets on at least one mining property, I. W. W. strikers in Colorado are told tonight awaited the outcome of an appeal for all "footloose" rebels in the country to come to their aid.

The situation was described as "acute" by William H. Young, a member of the state industrial commission.

Demonstrations by pickets have continued for several days at the Columbine and several miners were stopped when on their way to work. The Columbine is owned by the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company.

MARRS IS SPEAKER

Makes Address At Meet Of P. T. A. In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 15 (AP)—No person should be a parasite regardless of his wealth, S. M. N. Marrs, of Austin, superintendent of public instruction, told the Texas congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Associations at its convention here tonight and added that the world owes no man a living unless he renders service enough to collect the bill.

Mr. Marrs was speaking from the subject of the "child's challenge to the school." Previously he had defined the challenge as the child's right to expect the school to be a complement of the home and to receive such training as will develop the three fold nature—the physical, the intellectual and spiritual.

Steps in this program, the speaker said, included the right to demand of the school such environment and such training as will contribute to his physical well being, make him socially efficient and economically valuable and train him in the field of citizenship.

THE WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

Do you get any particular pleasure from gaining upon a female head covered with living hair to stuff the overstuffed living room suites of an entire town? Or when you see the picture of a girl who won the Long Hair contest with her hair trailing down to the floor, 10 feet in length, five pounds in weight, do you envy her at all? Neither do I. In fact I feel crawly.

The woman with long hair today, especially when it's too long to be about as unsanitary and repulsive as a patriarch with a long beard that dangles into the soup. Once upon a time, much hair was prized as a sign of extreme femininity. But femininity is at no premium today—at least it is symbolized in more sanitary and beautiful ways.

MARRIAGE

"The Breakdown of Marriage" by Will Durant, is an unusually interesting article on an always fascinating subject. It is interesting to note the similarity of Durant's reasoning with that of Judge Ben Lindsey who recently got himself into much trouble by daring to suggest some improvements in marriage customs of today. Durant says:

"Sexual desire matures in us as early as before, but economic and mental maturity—alas, that comes to the modern man rather at 40 than at 20. Love comes, and youth, finding its pockets empty, dares not marry. Love comes again, and yet the pockets do not bulge enough for marriage. Love comes again with only half of its early freshness and power (years have passed), and lo, the pockets are full now, and marriage celebrates the death of love."

The deferment of marriage is the initial factor in this wild flux of moral character which is sweeping away half the moorings of our lives."

WHY THEY STEAL

Did you know that more shoplifting in women's wear stores exists today than ever before, and that store owners explain it by the change from voluminous heavy garments to diaphanous, chiffony ones which will easily slip into a coat sleeve or hand bag? Here's an argument against the evil of today's styles that the moralists have missed:

BLUE CHINS

Do all healthy men have blue chins? So said Mr. Patrick Campbell, the great actress, according to George Arliss' autobiography. "Up the Years from Bloomington." He tells of Mrs. Campbell's request that all the men in the company make up with blue chins instead of pink ones which made them look like girls. But the blue chins stayed only one night. The manager told the leading lady that she seemed surrounded by burglars and other crooks.

MORE MARRIAGE

Can you stand another dose of marriage observations? They come from "Wholesome Marriage" by Ernest and Gladys Groves. "The time when marriages were thoroughly satisfying if the man of the house was content. The woman's inclinations were made little of. A complete somersault has come and it has come suddenly. Woman now expects just as much as man does of marriage. Often she is even less willing than he to put up with hard circumstances."

She Ran $13 Into $100,000 Every Year

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Fifteen years ago, her husband incapacitated by an accident, and with a growing daughter to educate, Mrs. Blanche R. Green became the breadwinner for the family. Today she makes $100,000 yearly and is America's highest salaried business woman.

Born in Virginia—the eldest of six children—she was raised under the traditions of the Old South and married when very young. The Green's settled in New York state, where a daughter was born to them. Six years later Mr. Green met with an accident which rendered him unfit for work.

Doctor bills and other expenses soon exhausted their financial resources and Mrs. Green faced the task of caring for an invalid husband and a small daughter.

"TOO PROUD"

"I had been devoted entirely to the work of my home. I felt too proud to go back to my family and ask for help," says Mrs. Green.

With only $13 and a lot of determination she took a job selling corsets in the little town of Chatham, New York. Today she is vice president and general manager of the corset company and supervises 4000 sales people.

"What I have done any woman can do," she says. "Marriage and a career are possible to any woman who will plan her work and the work her plans. That has always been my motto and I have yet to see it fail."

"Too many ambitious and alert American business women permit the petty worries and discouragements of domestic life to enter in their business and defeat them. If a competent housekeeper is secured and the husband's permission given

CENTRAL TEXAS CLUB TO STAGE PICNIC THURSDAY

Gathering at the administration building at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon the members of the Central Texas club will go to the Canyon east of town where they will hold their fall term picnic. Various forms of entertainment will occupy the guests' time until five can be prepared where "weenies" and other picnic eats will be prepared. The party will return to Lubbock about 8 o'clock.

SEWING BOX

A convenient addition to the sewing room is a curtain rod inside the scrap box, on which are strung all the spools of cotton, silk and other thread.

Westerner Offense Brushed Up For Quanah Invasion

Seven Lads Will Be Playing Final Game In Lubbock

Friday Contest Will Be Last Home Appearance For Captain Les Smith, And Others.

"Scalp the Westerners." "The Redman is coming." They're not only Indians, but they are Chiefs at that, and Coach Henry Frink and Del Morgan, handlers of the high school team, are pounding this to the heads of the high school team. The Friday game will be the last contest the Westerners will be seen on their home lot and the mentors want to exhibit a real offense for the benefit of the customers.

Hoping to leave nothing undone in an offensive way the Westerners are working hard to develop a more colorful running and passing attack. The defense encounter of the Westerners has been more satisfactory to the coaches than the offense and they are hoping that a marked improvement will be seen in the contest Friday afternoon.

Several of the Westerners will be playing in their last high school game on the local field. Les Smith, fullback, will turn in his last day of football for Lubbock high school on the home lot. Peg Patch, Dickenson, James, the Whitesides, Trent Campbell, Curtis Allen, Cap Parkin, and Delballe, are also, lining up on the home gridiron for the last exhibition. These lads, all of them, hope to rise to heights in the game, so that it will be history for them.

Since the Mustangs have a rest week the high school game is the only football classic the fans will have a chance to see here. The largest attendance ever given the lads will be expected Friday.

Slaton Tigers Are Working For Tilt Against Floydada

Record of Whirlwinds Is Bit More Impressive But Tigers Have Mood To Win Turkey Day.

(Special To The Avalanche) SLATON, Nov. 15.—The Slaton Tigers are going through a series of hard practices this week getting ready for the Whirlwinds, who are slated here for the Turkey Day gridiron classic. Not only is it a Thanksgiving game but it means the championship of the Class B schools of the South Plains district. For the fourth time these two eleven have met for the title in the past few years.

This year the Whirlwinds present themselves a much the stronger machine, for they have trampled everything in the district by decisive scores, while the Tigers have barely moved out on several of the games, and in one contest, the game with the Fort High eleven, they were held to a 13-12 tie. Recently the Whirlwinds romped to a 44-0 score over the Ford team, which indicates, by the count, the Green and White is due to take the check with the Tigers here.

Couch (Edna) Mitchell, four letterman of the W. T. S. T. C. staff, who has brought out several of the best flashy crews over the Panhandle since his days in the Teachers College, has taken a green crop of prospects and produced a battling and scrapping team. The local interest for the team has been better than it has in years.

Preparations are being made by the officials of the local schools for the largest football attendance of the season. Hundreds of boosters of the Floydada team will accompany the Whirlwinds on their championship invasion.

TO SEAT EVERYONE
Ample Accommodations Made at Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15.—"We'll seat everybody." This welcome announcement for the members of the Texas Christian University alumni was confidently released today by athletic Director L. C. "Pete" Wright while discussing plans for the first annual home-coming football game to be staged here Thanksgiving Day between the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. and the Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Although reservations already made assure the breaking of all former attendance records for a football game here, Wright believes that the additional seats being constructed in the Frog stadium will help care for the crowd.

The athletic director also announced today that the game will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

Headlines tell of Harvard holding a "long dummy" practice for Penn eleven. The girl-friend thinks it rather rude to compare Penn to a dummy.

Dope Points to Battle Between Whirlwinds, and Tigers for Title In District Two.

FLOYDADA, Nov. 15.—It looks like Floydada and Slaton again. This is the expression heard every day on the streets of Floydada. For three consecutive years the Slaton Tigers and Floydada Whirlwinds have gone into the finals for championship of class B District 2, and twice the Tigers have emerged victorious. By defeating Post last week the Floydada eleven ran their total number of victories for the season to seven and to date their goal line has not been crossed by a class B team. Line plunging has been outstanding. Without doubt this man has gained more ground and been a bigger asset to his team than any one man playing in District 2. Many of the high school coaches have seen "Steve" in action and all declare him to be one of the outstanding players in this section.

This Billy Kern is one of the outstanding tackles in the eastern grid sector this year. He is part of the secret of Pitt's success on the gridiron. Kern is consistently good at opening holes in the line and equally good on defense. He weighs 180 pounds. Kern is sure to be considered seriously this season when the experts get to picking their All-American selections.

second string men will get a chance.

In "Steve" Marshall, star fullback on the Whirlwind squad, Floydada fans believe they have a man deserving of credit as an All-South-Plains Star. Marshall is playing his last year with the green and white and while he is a splendid passer, an extra good punter, his broken field running and line plunging has been outstanding. Without doubt this man has gained more ground and been a bigger asset to his team than any one man playing in District 2. Many of the high school coaches have seen "Steve" in action and all declare him to be one of the outstanding players in this section.

Mann And Dawson Baseball Council Play Last Game Against T. C. U.

Many S. M. U. Stars Will Shine for Final Time In Tilt with Frogs at Fort Worth.

(Special To The Avalanche) DALLAS, Nov. 15.—When the Mustangs of Southern Methodist university ran up 24 points on the Baylor Bears Saturday they registered the largest score that either team had ever made against the other in 11 years of playing.

Last year the Mustangs scored 31 points which was three points more than the highest scoring ever done by Baylor. In 1921 the Bears made four touchdowns against S. M. U. to win the Southwest Conference championship.

The Bears were easy meat for the Mustangs but a much harder battle face them in the T. C. U. Thanksgiving when they tangle with the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. The Frogs have always played sensational ball against the Mustangs, holding them last year to a one-point win when the dope had the Mustangs as heavy favorites. The next day will be spent by Coach Morrison in developing ways which he hopes will penetrate the Frog defense. The defense that stopped Joel Hunt and the Aggies dead in their tracks to say nothing of the Longhorn backs. It will be a great offensive team against a strong defensive team and a battle from the first to the last whistle.

The game at Fort Worth will see the passing of Gerald Mann, the finest quarterback ever in the southwest. Along with him will go Doc Dawson, Spot Tatum and Buddy Craig. If fight ran put it over, the passing combination of Mann and Dawson will not be stopped as these two performers are determined to give the best performance of their career as they make their last appearance.

Slaton "Kittens" Desire Test for Their Mettle

SLATON, Nov. 15.—The Kittens, second team of the Slaton high school Tiger football squad, are "yearning" for a tilt with some other second team of some South Plains high school to be played Friday of this week in other words, the Kittens are playful but have no playmates, so far, and are broadcasting their plight in the hope that some response will be made to their proposal. Any team desiring to meet the Kittens should communicate with Coach Odus Mitchell.

Baseball Council Again Organized

Barnard Represents The American and Heydler National League With Advisory Body.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The major league baseball advisory council, established when K. M. Landis became commissioner, but operating only spasmodically while Ban Johnson remained head of the American League, reorganized today with E. S. Barnard in Johnson's place, and John K. Heydler, representing the National League.

The Rogers Hornsby-St. Louis Cardinals stock controversy was settled by the two league presidents and Judge Landis by enunciation of a rule that no player shall retain stock in one club after his transfer to another club in the same league, or else he becomes ineligible either to play or manage on his new club.

A player can hold stock in the club for which he is playing, the rule continues, only under a specific agreement approved by the advisory council.

The new rule formulated by the advisory council must first be ratified at the joint meeting of major league club owners at New York next month, but when that formality is completed, Hornsby will become ineligible.

8 Louisiana Grid Players Expelled

Alleged Participations In Hair Cutting Spree Bring Dismissals At State University.

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 14.—Eight Louisiana State university varsity football players were expelled from the institution today for their alleged participation in hair cutting spree last Tuesday night, in violation of university regulations. These expelled according to an announcement posted on the bulletin board are:

G. A. Freeman, Natchitoches, star tackle, and end on the football squad; T. H. Holden, Fleuryville, Miss., end; Austin F. Akin, Haynesville, Tiger tackle; L. E. Haik, Bogalusa, scrub football player; and four other students, J. R. Herbert, of Milton, John W. Pollard, of Leesville, F. C. Ratcliff, of Slidell and R. W. Reeder, of Wichita Falls, Texas.

The investigation began immediately with the appearance on the university campus of the entire freshman class, all shorn of their locks.

Formation Of Positions Set

BY E. J. O'BRIEN

It is necessary that, at the moment when a ball is put in play, at least seven players on the side having the ball shall be on the line of scrimmage and that all other players, with the exception of quarterback, must be a yard or more behind the line of scrimmage.

The players on the line of scrimmage must also conform to the rule which states that no part of their bodies shall be ahead of the line of scrimmage, with the exception of the center, and they must also conform to the rule which states that they must have both feet, both hands, or one foot and the opposite hand up to within a foot of the line of scrimmage.

There are two lines of scrimmage: one for each team. It is an imaginary line or plane drawn through both ends of the ball, parallel to the goal line.

The space between these two lines, which is exactly the length of the ball, is the so-called "neutral zone." Several years ago it was the habit of players on the defense to invade this neutral zone and step on the hands and otherwise interfere with players of the defense.

Now there is a rule which states that no player may invade this neutral zone after the teams have lined up, until the ball is put in play.

ance of the drug store and saw Mr. Zatlouk slumped toward the sidewalk, then turn and take several steps away from Mr. Jones. He fired from approximately 200 feet north of the store entrance. He then turned and fired at the sidewalk, where additional evidence showed he dropped a bullet. He then turned and fired at the sidewalk, where additional evidence showed he dropped a bullet. He then turned and fired at the sidewalk, where additional evidence showed he dropped a bullet.

J. M. Marshall, Lubbock attorney, was next called to the stand. He said he had been practicing law here for a period of about 10 years. He testified that he was returning from his home to the office in the Temple Hotel building in his car and that the course of travel led him to the entrance of the hotel on Avenue K. As he drove along the street at the entrance of the hotel on September 8, he heard a pistol shot, and, upon looking in the direction of the sound, he saw a man with a pistol in his hand, standing in the door of the (Mr. Jones) office. Mr. Marshall testified that he saw Mr. Jones fire a second shot but did not see Zatlouk at any time. Mr. Marshall said that he saw Mr. Jones' car but instead drove directly to his office and went to work.

J. T. Inman, Police Sergeant J. T. Inman was the next witness called. He said he was acquainted with the defendant and had been in Lubbock for several years. He said he was attracted to the scene of the shooting when he was riding to work in the automobile of E. O. Smith, Lubbock policeman. He heard the report of the shot from the intersection of Main and Avenue K. The defendant passed the center of the intersection and was moving east. Mr. Inman testified, so he directed Mr. Smith to drive to the south to Broadway and on that thoroughfare he reached the hotel corner where he was jumped from the still moving car and rushed to the door of Mr. Zatlouk. Mr. Inman's testimony indicated that he was the first man to reach the scene of the shooting. He testified that he saw Mr. Zatlouk lying face downward and that he felt his pulse beat three times after he picked up the body. He testified that when he was alone that he had left the body lying on its back, and he found the wound in the left breast. He then covered the wound in the back with his hand. Mr. Inman testified that a Lubbock motorcycle patrolman ran up and searched the dead man's pockets, turning his findings over to Mr. Inman. The police sergeant said there was no weapon found on Mr. Zatlouk. He said the body was placed into an ambulance that he went to his business at the police station and that he did not see the body any more.

Harry Meyer, proprietor of J. J. Meyer's Fashion shop, was called to the stand. Mr. Meyer said he was waiting the hotel when he heard reports, which sounded to him from a cap pistol. He paid no attention to them, he said, but drove away without knowing that shooting had occurred almost at his very nose.

Roy Sanford, Tech student and employee of the Powell Undertaking company, came to the stand and said he, with an assistant, made an ambulance call and brought the body to the mortuary, where it was later prepared for burial by Mr. Powell, owner of the establishment.

Dr. J. W. Rolfe, city health officer, came to the stand next. He said he had resided in Lubbock for many years and had been city health officer for a period of 18 months. He said he examined Mr. Zatlouk's body at the mortuary and found the wound located in the left breast two inches below and two inches to the right of the left nipple, and that the bullet which had entered the wound passed diagonally through the body, coming out just below the right shoulder blade. The wound, he said, would not have been instantaneously fatal but might have brought death at a later time. The other wound was in the back of the head, about an inch below the crown, Doctor Rolfe said, and came out through the crown, he testified. That wound probably caused instantaneous death, the physician said.

Arthur M. Howard, manager of the Merrill Hotel, was called to the stand. He said he had resided in Lubbock for 13 years. Mr. Howard told of registering Mr. Zatlouk at the Merrill Hotel shortly after 11 a. m. of the day he was killed. Mr. Howard said Mr. Zatlouk went to the room assigned him but soon returned to the lobby and asked to use the telephone. He made a call, the witness testified, and then left the hotel. Mr. Howard said he did not see the man again until he viewed the body in the mortuary.

Mrs. A. T. Block, owner of the Lubbock drug store, was called to the stand and told of knowing Mr. Zatlouk when she lived in Grayson county, near Maricopa, Texas. He was a cruder and kinder there, she said, and her acquaintance with him came as the result of purchasing supplies. She testified that the body which she viewed in the mortuary was being that of William Zatlouk, and said she had not seen Mr. Zatlouk since she moved from Grayson county seven years ago.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Cunniff, who has resided in the Shawnee neighborhood for 11 years, took the stand. He told of Mr. Jones' surrendering his pistol to him in the courtroom, immediately after the shooting when Sheriff H. L. Johnston was absent from the office. He said the pistol was given by him to Chief Deputy Vernice L. Ford on the afternoon of the day the shooting occurred.

Vernice Ford, Deputy Ford was called to the stand and produced the pistol, a .38-caliber nickel-plated six-shooter. The gun was unloaded in the presence of the jury and contained three cartridges and two exploded shells. Mr. Ford said the cartridges and shells taken from the gun were those which were in the gun when it was given to him by Mr. Crump. After cautioning the jury not to discuss the case, Judge Mullican recessed the court until 1:30 p. m. Bradley said at the opening of the recess that all of the state's direct evidence had been produced.

Afternoon Session. The afternoon session began at 1:30 p. m. and the defense first called Mrs. Ollie Zatlouk, the mother of the defendant and widow of the slain man, was called to the stand. Mrs. Zatlouk was visibly shaken and her son's lawyers and Judge Mullican all stopped to give comforting advice to her and stress the fact that her testimony must be given in a clear voice so the jury might miss no word. Mrs. Zatlouk said it was her first experience in the courtroom but despite the harrowing and nerve-racking situation for her she rallied and told her story plainly.

Mrs. Zatlouk testified that she was born in Roundrock, Williamson county, and was the daughter of D. H. Snider. She lived throughout her early life in Williamson county and was married to Dr. W. T. Jones, of Georgetown, father of the defendant. She said that Doctor Jones died in 1911 and that in April of 1912, she was married to William Zatlouk in Denver. She and Mr. Zatlouk went to Arlington, Okla., near Pague, a Bohemian town, where her husband was engaged in the gaming business. In 1917, due to the ill health of her father, they went to Georgetown. She then sketched the movements of herself and Mr. Zatlouk, explaining that they resided in Dallas, Maricopa, Georgetown, McAllen county and Waco, although they were passing great part of the time Mr. Zatlouk leaving her repeatedly, she testified. Estranged from her husband, Mrs. Zatlouk said she came to Lubbock to live with her son in December of 1925.

Testifies To Man's Temper. Mrs. Zatlouk testified that her husband was a man of violent temper and powerful physique and that he often used physical violence toward her. She told of his striking her in the face with his fist at Abilene, Oklahoma, and forcing her from their buggy and leaving her to walk home several miles when she refused to advance him some money for business deals. She also told of his throwing a can of axle grease at her in the store which they operated in Maricopa. The can struck her in the back of the head, rendering her unconscious, and she testified that she lay prone on the floor until regaining her senses and that she then went to her room and went to bed. The attack, Mrs. Zatlouk said, came when she remonstrated with her husband for giving groceries to people whom he knew from past experiences would not pay for them.

The witness next told of an attack made against her by her husband in Dallas when he sought to get from her approximately $2,000 to invest in cotton futures. Mrs. Zatlouk said he choked her until she was forced to call the bank and instruct men there to honor her husband's signature when checks against her account. He took the money, realized from the sale of a gin which she financed, and three or four weeks later left their home and wrote her a note from Fort Worth, telling her that he had lost the money and was going to seek work somewhere, she stated. He went to the hotel in Dallas, home in the note, which was sent special delivery; the testimony said Mrs. Zatlouk also said her husband was insanely jealous of her people and would be unkind to her after her visits with them. She said the slain man had used physical violence upon her person a great many times throughout the fourteen years of their married life.

W's Powerful Man. The witness testified that Mr. Zatlouk was the most powerful man she had ever seen. She told of his feats of strength, chief among which were leading him of great many times throughout the large piece of ginning machinery from the gin to the blacksmith shop. She said this piece of machinery looked to her to weigh about half a ton but that she didn't suppose it was that heavy.

The witness said she had made an effort to bring about a reconciliation between them but when she found it impossible she came to live with her son in December of 1925. Upon questions by Bradley, Mrs. Zatlouk said that her husband sent her some money from time to time during their estrangement, the sum averaging $40 per month for some period of time. She also said that he had sent her some personal presents since her coming to Lubbock but said that she had only received $40 in money from him since coming here. She said that she financed him in various business deals.

Tried To Make Reconciliation. Mrs. Zatlouk said in July of this year she made her last attempt at reconciliation with her husband. She went to Stamford, spending one night with him, there and testified that he told her that if she ever came back he would call officers and have her put in jail and that he did not wish to live with her. He also said at that time, however, the testimony continued, that if she ever sought to divorce him that he would kill her and then himself. She went to Waco from Stamford, Mrs. Zatlouk said, returning shortly to Lubbock. A divorce petition was filed by her in the 99th district court here, the testimony said, and a hearing was set before Hon. Clark M. Mullican, judge, for September 8.

When Mr. Bradley sought to introduce as evidence Mr. Zatlouk's reply to the divorce allegations the jury was sent from the room as the defense attorneys' objections to the entrance of the testimony were upheld by Judge Mullican. The jury and returned and the case was resumed.

In answer to Mr. Bradley's interrogations Mrs. Zatlouk said that before Doctor Jones' death Mr. Zatlouk was an employee of her husband and that she first became acquainted with him while he was in her husband's service. She also testified that she did not write or have any correspondence with him and that she did not see him several weeks later. She testified that Mr. Jones was not averse to the marriage and that prior to the shooting the two men had always been upon friendly terms. She did not tell Mr. Jones of her husband's cruel treatment until after her return to Lubbock last July after seeing Mr. Zatlouk in Stamford, she said. She testified that she had made every human attempt to reach a reconciliation with Mr. Zatlouk before "the divorce petition."

Tells of Events. Mrs. Zatlouk next told of the events leading up to the fatal shooting. She was at home during the morning of September 8, she said, and along about 11 o'clock answered a ring of her telephone. She did not recognize the first time since her marriage the voice of her husband at first and when she did that he seemed to be in a rage. After talking for a few moments she recognized her husband's voice, Mrs. Zatlouk said and when he asked her for a personal audience she refused. "I want to see you for the last time," she quoted her husband as saying but she refused to see him, because she was afraid of him.

Mr. Zatlouk then asked the whereabouts of Mr. Jones, Mrs. Zatlouk said, and she pleaded with him not to see her son, the testimony continued. The conversation ceased with Mr. Zatlouk saying "I'll go see Tom and settle all this trouble with him," the witness testified.

Mrs. Zatlouk said she was very much frightened at the tone of her husband's voice and immediately attempted to find her son. She located Mr. Jones at the Whaley Lumber yard and he came directly home, she said.

Mrs. Zatlouk had not been feeling well that morning and had not eaten any breakfast, the testimony said. After Mr. Jones arrived home and heard her story of the telephone conversation he decided that if he procured some food for his mother he might feel better, so he left for the house in the face with his fist at Abilene, Oklahoma, and forcing her from their buggy and leaving her to walk home several miles when she refused to advance him some money for business deals.

Tom Jones, the defendant, came to the stand in his own defense. He testified that he has been in Lubbock about two years and three or four months. He came here after a seven or eight months stay in Waco, which was from his residence here, was the only time he had lived outside of his birthplace, Williamson county, Texas. He gave his age as 25 years.

Mr. Jones told of leaving school in the spring of 1912 and testified that he went from school to the home of his mother in Texas. He said that when his mother told him of her marriage to Mr. Zatlouk he was not overjoyed but that he was satisfied if she was pleased with his choice. He told of being a city commissioner in Texas. He said that he did not fear of his mother's difficulties with her husband until he was in Waco. Just prior to coming here and that he had not heard of Mr. Zatlouk's cruel treatment until after his marriage to Mrs. Zatlouk last July. He told of instances of cruel treatment accorded Mrs. Zatlouk by her husband other than those told by Mrs. Zatlouk on the stand and said that she had told them to him last summer after her return from Waco. He said that his mother had told him Mr. Zatlouk had threatened to choke her to death and then cut her own wrist artery if she filed a divorce petition. He told of Mr. Zatlouk's great strength and said his stepfather and talked about like she said they were together. He testified that Mr. Zatlouk had told him that while in the German army he learned how to handle men without the use of weapons and told of Mr. Zatlouk's leading him of cotton without assistance. Mr. Bradley asked as this, pointing out the state admitted Mr. Zatlouk's unusual strength and physique and then Mr. Jones testified that Mr. Zatlouk said he was a Bohemian but was born in Arabia. He said that his relations with Mr. Zatlouk had always been friendly and pleasant prior to the tragedy.

Takes No Events. Mr. Jones then took up the events leading up to the shooting. His testimony coincided with that of Mrs. Zatlouk until the place where he left the house in search of the sandwiches. He left his mother in the back room of their home, he said, and upon passing through his room took his gun, purchased a number of years ago, and put it on. Mr. Jones testified that he took the gun for his own defense and that he did not expect to see Mr. Zatlouk while down town.

He told of driving to the Hotel Lubbock and parking his car. He entered the Hotel Dining, purchased a cold drink entered the lobby of the hotel and chatted for a few minutes with a friend, the testimony said. Intending to purchase the sandwiches in the hotel coffee shop he found that place filled and decided to buy them at a nearby cafe. He passed through his office on the ground floor of the hotel building and as he stepped from his office to the Avenue K sidewalk saw Mr. E. LaFon, manager of the hotel, a few feet up the sidewalk to the north. Mr. Jones said as he turned from Mr. LaFon he perceived Mr. Zatlouk coming toward him, probably as he stepped from his office upon Mr. Zatlouk to stop and that he did not stop but first seemed to hesitate and then quickly his stride toward him. Mr. Zatlouk had his right hand up at his chin and made a motion toward his right side. Mr. Jones fired the first shot. He said he didn't know at the time whether it took effect or not. He said he was terribly excited and was trying to protect himself. He said he did not see Mr. Zatlouk shoot toward the sidewalk but from him after the first shot but that as he recollected the man was continuing to face him. Mr. Jones testified that after the first shot he cocked his pistol and fired again. Then he saw Mr. Zatlouk fall to the sidewalk. Mr. Jones testified that he turned into the hotel, saw Mr. LaFon and told him to ask Mr. LaFon to go to his mother. Then he told a nearby person to call an ambulance, he testified. He then left the hotel, got in his car, went to the courthouse and surrendered his pistol to Deputy Crump.

Mr. Jones testified that he would not have shot Mr. Zatlouk had he not been afraid for his own safety. He testified that his mind was not clear at what happened during the shooting and that he was very nervous.

Stamford Men Testify. Mr. Bradley then called the following Stamford citizens as character witnesses for the dead man. They were: E. E. Conroy, railway shop worker who worked under Mr. Zatlouk; J. E. Duncan, merchant; J. D. Shubert, banker; O. G. Lewis, lumberman; and F. E. Hamey, wholesale grocer. All testified that Mr. Zatlouk's general character and reputation were good in Stamford. Defense attorneys challenged the statements in cross examination with some success.

Senator Hudson, for the defense, and Mr. Bradley, for the state, both announced that they had closed their testimony and the session was recessed until 9 o'clock this morning.

Judge Mullican will read his charge to the jury and the lawyers will make their jury speeches this morning. The case will go to the jury immediately after.

WET CANDIDATE LEADS IN COLORADO ELECTION. DENVER, Colo., Nov. 12 (AP).—R. Harrison White, "wet" Democrat, has a substantial lead over his Republican opponent, Francis J. Knapp when 200 out of 773 precincts had been counted in the special election to select a congressman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William N. Valle, Republican.

Mr. Jones then took up the events leading up to the shooting. His testimony coincided with that of Mrs. Zatlouk until the place where he left the house in search of the sandwiches. He left his mother in the back room of their home, he said, and upon passing through his room took his gun, purchased a number of years ago, and put it on. Mr. Jones testified that he took the gun for his own defense and that he did not expect to see Mr. Zatlouk while down town.

FLOOD CONTROL. Convention Seeks Servant, Not Menace, of Rivers. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15 (AP).—The Mississippi Valley Association in the closing session of the ninth annual convention here today unanimously committed itself to a general policy that will urge conversion of the nation's waterways system from a menacing monster to an utilitarian servant.

Resolutions adopted by nearly a thousand delegates representing many states urge that flood control plans be worked out by the federal engineering agencies take first place in the waterways program; that the navigation improvement and harbor development be continued; and that the promotion of waterways transportation. The resolution also called for the development of far inland waterways for navigation and flood control.

SIFT TAX CHANGES. Some Recommendations Accepted, Few Refused. WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—The House ways and means committee today approved six and recommended the Senate to accept the suggestions approved were those relating to inheritance taxes, consolidated returns, federal estate taxes, transfers of property, the bar of the statute of limitations and the period of limitations. The committee rejected the advisory board proposal for revision of Section 220 of the revenue law which deals with accelerated, holding corporations or corporations which fail to declare dividends. Chairman Green said that several substitutes were offered but none adopted and there was a possibility that this section might be left as it is.

ASK FLOOD RELIEF. Federal Government Is Declared Responsible. WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—The view that under the constitution the federal government is obligated to control Mississippi river floods was emphasized today before the House flood committee by Jacob N. Dickinson, of Chicago, former secretary of war and a former president of the American Bar Association.

With Alfred H. Stone, a cotton planter of Dupleth, Mississippi and Robert H. Ellis of Memphis, Tenn., Dickinson presented the flood problem to the chamber of commerce of the United States. Because the chamber's delegation, the committee also heard views of eleven residents from the Red River valley in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas on methods of controlling the high waters of that tributary of the Mississippi.

The chamber's recommendations for flood control, Mr. Dickinson declared, were "that the federal government should pay the entire cost of levee construction and the protection of the valley against future inundations and that an adequate appropriation be made to insure efficient and continuous work should be made available as needed."

Gas On Stomach Quickly Relieved. Gas on the stomach, an attending ailment of digestive troubles, may be quickly relieved by "Gordon's," the discovery of a well-known Dallas pharmacist.

"Gordon's" goes right to the heart of the trouble. It relieves gas on the stomach, acid dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating after meals, excess with constipation, tones up the digestive organs and stimulates the stomach and bowels to their normal functions.

"Gordon's" is sold by good druggists—$1.50 per bottle of sixty-four doses—less than three cents a dose.

Baptist Laymen's Conference Held At Wichita Falls

Plan To Revive Interest In Mission School And Stewardship Endorsed By Delegates.

(By Associated Press) WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 15.—Increasing wholeheartedly a plan for reviving interest in schools of missions and stewardship, outlined in a set of resolutions submitted by Dr. J. W. Lowe, foreign mission worker from Tashan, China, the pastors and laymen's conference of the Baptist church in this Tuesday night session unanimously adopted the resolution. Delegates of Texas mission workers stood at the call for volunteers who established the schools in their churches.

The resolutions provide that the missionary schools shall be sponsored by the church, the Baptist Young Men's Union and the Woman's Missionary Union, that they are to be held annually, and that the report of the activity of each school shall be forwarded in the form of a report to Dr. P. S. Stoner, Dallas, general secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The introduction and adoption of the resolutions was preceded by a short analysis of the foreign mission situation by Dr. Lowe, who with Dr. W. H. Glass has spent several years in China, mission work. Dr. Glass who was stationed at missions in Hwangshien, China, dwelt in his address on the need of foreign missions for money to keep missionaries in necessities and to maintain tents and equipment.

The night session of the conference opened with a song service led by Robert Coleman and the invocation given by Dr. H. A. Burdon, W. S. Dickinson, evangelist, sang a solo.

The pastors' conference got under way here Tuesday morning in the new municipal auditorium with the Rev. Jefferson Davis, president, in the chair.

The assembly, as well as that of Woman's Missionary Union, which convened Monday at First Baptist church, is regarded as an adjunct to the convention proper which is scheduled to open here Wednesday at 7 p. m.

Pat M. Neff and scores of officials arrived Tuesday in preparation for the general convention.

PECOS WELL BIGGEST. New Producer Is Largest In History of U. S. TULSA, Okla., Nov. 15 (AP).—The Number 2-C Yates well in the Yates pool of southwestern Pecos county, Texas, today had developed into the third largest oil well ever found in the world and the largest ever developed in the United States.

This afternoon's test showed it flowing at the rate of 53,850 barrels a day. Its developers, the Transcontinental Oil Company and the Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas company, announced.

Records show that it is exceeded in size by only the Mexican Petroleum company's Number 4, Cerro Azul, which came in May 1919, for an initial flow of 290,555 barrels and the world's largest oil well, the Lakeview gusher, came in March 1926, for 60,000 barrels a day, and the sixth day it quit entirely.

CUT WORKING HOURS. Women State Employees to Work Only Legal Limit. AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (AP).—Women employees of state institutions will work only the legal 64 hours weekly, if a plan mapped out today by the board of control and other agencies wins Governor Moody's approval.

Dr. W. C. Caster, superintendent of the Wichita Falls state hospital, has been charged by Charles McAnany, labor commissioner, with violating the 34-hour law.

Gas On Stomach Quickly Relieved.

Gas on the stomach, an attending ailment of digestive troubles, may be quickly relieved by "Gordon's," the discovery of a well-known Dallas pharmacist.

"Gordon's" goes right to the heart of the trouble. It relieves gas on the stomach, acid dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating after meals, excess with constipation, tones up the digestive organs and stimulates the stomach and bowels to their normal functions.

"Gordon's" is sold by good druggists—$1.50 per bottle of sixty-four doses—less than three cents a dose.

FARMERS GATHER. Equality Is Need In Agriculture, Said

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15 (AP).—Declaring that "too much has been said about farm relief and too little about equality in agriculture," Harry Cato, Catochian, master of the Ohio State Grange today presented a program favoring the export debenture plan before 4,000 Ohio farmers at the state grange meeting here.

"To secure equality for agriculture," Cato declared, "we must combine the behind a program that will provide for economic and orderly production, elimination of waste and utilization of farm crops in new ways, cooperation, taxation relief and legislation including the export debenture plan."

State Road Board Puts In Busy Day $730,000 In Aid Let Contracts Totalling Up To $616,585 Are Made At Monday Session Highway Commission.

(By Associated Press.)
AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—The state highway commission went through one of the busiest days in its history today, granting state road aid totaling about $730,000, a few thousand in federal aid and letting contracts running to $616,585 for 11 projects in as many counties.

A sharp discussion, which the commission had in its last regular meeting over the proposal to grant aid along the "Hug-the-Coast" highway apparently came to a settlement because the commission today granted aid to Calhoun and Tarrant counties for the project. Calhoun, given aid: Jackson, $44,000, state aid $44,000, federal aid to match like county sums for grading and drainage structures on 23 miles of highway number 12, through the county (state engineer R. A. Thompson also was authorized to appoint resident engineer to make preliminary survey and estimate cost of paving the road); Cameron, about $72,000 state aid to supplement $72,000 county money for grading and drainage structures on eight miles of highway number 96 from Hartington north to Wilkey county line; Tarrant, about $23,000 state aid, $44,000 state aid to go with the $23,000 county funds for creation of two bridges on Fort Worth-Dallas highway; Bowie, $39,000 additional maintenance money for highway number 5; Atascosa, maximum of $718,000 state aid with $218,000 county money to gravel base and asphalt 25 miles of highway number 9, from Pleasanton to Liverpool county line; Calhoun, $125,000 state aid with $125,000 from county for building $25,000 bridge over "Hug-the-Coast" highway and for grading and drainage structures on six and eight-tenth miles of same highway from Tivoli to Longmott; Lamar, about $48,000 state aid, $48,000 federal aid to go with $48,000 county money for topping with asphalt eight miles of highway number 72 from Sweet Home to Hallettsville; Knox, $14,000 state, $14,000 federal to match $14,000 county for grading and drainage structures on 15 miles of highway from Baylor county line to Haskell county line; Blanco, $70,000 state aid, supplemental $70,000 county money for grading and drainage structures on highway number 148 from Johnson City to Burnet county line.

Contracts let:
Walsh, Burney and Moore, San Antonio: grading and drainage structures on 11 miles of highway number 41, on Kerr county; $50,000; W. R. Thompson, San Antonio: grading, culverts and concrete sidewalks on 15 miles of highway number 9, in Tom Green county; $38,475; Garnett Jones, Fort Worth: construction of "Iron Ore" on five miles of highway number 1, in Case county (section A), $18,444; C. W. Burgess, New Boston: same type surface on seven miles of same highway (section B), $9,675; and on nine miles of same highway (section C), $15,556. (Highway department engineers recommended that Burgess be let two bids be awarded all three contracts, was overruled); J. R. Moore and son, Laufkin: grading and drainage structures on six miles of highway number 19, in Houston county; $28,250; grading and drainage structures on nine miles of highway number 15, in Houston county; $18,541; grading and drainage structures on two miles of highway number 106 in Polk county; $12,515; sign-tenths mile of grading and drainage structures on highway number 35, $4,500; E. R. Brown, Sherman: grading and drainage structures on three miles of highway number 96, in Grimes county; $19,382; Thomas Ratcliff, Rogers: surface course on 15 miles of highway number 41, in Real county; $64,582.

A survey with proposal to relocate highway number 58, in Brazoria county was authorized and the commission instructed the department to repair and maintain highway number 58, from Houston to Alvin, the road having been "born up" by heavy traffic diverted from Houston-Galveston route because construction has been under way on the latter highway.

TAX CLAUSE KEPT Retain Old Provisions In Plan New Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Retention of the new tax bill of present provisions for taxing capital gains and capital losses tentatively was decided upon today by the House ways and means committee. This action was taken at the first of a series of executive meetings during which the committee will draft the new revenue measure that will be presented to congress when it convenes.

Chairman Green in making the announcement and the committee adopted as the basis of its work the two more or more recommendations for simplification of administration of the tax laws recently presented by the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

The chairman, who earlier in the day visited the White House, declined to say what he had discussed with President Coolidge, but would indicate whether he believed the committee would adhere to the treasury recommendation in total tax reduction in 1928, $40,000,000.

Supply Here Exceeding Demand At Present

The supply of farm labor here is above the demand, according to R. F. Nelson, special agent of the U. S. Employment Bureau Service, who is stationed here. Mr. Nelson declares that there is an abundance of pickers, but a scarcity of jobs. Again he issued a plea that farmers inform him of their needs in order that the laborers may be kept in this section.

FINISH CONTRACTS FOR SWEETWATER WHITE WAY

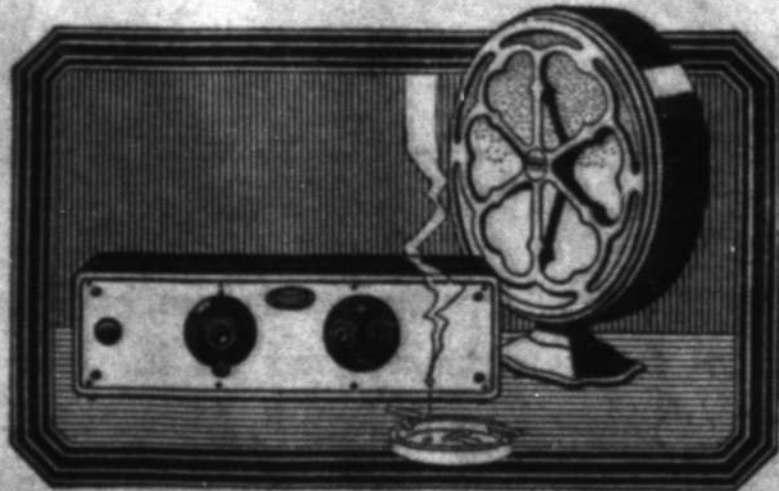

SWEETWATER, Nov. 15.—A contract has just been entered into between the city commission and the Texas Electric Service Company which will make possible the extension of a White Way system of the street lights throughout the entire business section of this city. The White Way system now circles the court house square and the new City Hall and another extension is being made along three blocks on Oak Street.

The Light Company has ordered 75 additional light standards and will have these additional lights ready for installation within the very near future.

MADE OF THE CREAM OF THE TOBACCO CROP

Harry Pollard, Director of Feature Photoplays, writes:

"The completion of my latest feature 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' for Universal Pictures Corporation, has once more proven to me that Lucky Strikes are the ideal cigarettes for those of us whose voices are under continuous and intense strain. In making this picture, I was, for many hours at a time, shouting directions to a host of players. At the same time I smoked many Lucky Strikes. I never felt the slightest throat irritation, and the delicious flavor of these cigarettes was a welcome relaxation in my work."

Harry Pollard

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

As told to Gordon Hines

The seven gunmen heard Furey's exultant cry and, at the same time, the hum of the approaching car. They ran quickly to the roadside and lined up, four on one side, three on the other, guns ready.

My heart rose into my throat, choking off my breath.

Furey, if those thugs harm that boy in any way, it's a dose of lead for you!"

He bawled out like a bleeding rail, but the gunmen were too far away to hear his stifled voice. The car rushed on and the men stood, guns ready, waiting.

I yelled, foolishly, to Pete, but he could not hear me. I pressed my gun to Furey's ear and waited, my trigger-finger tensed and ready to press.

I aged 10 years in three minutes. My mind pictured gruesome things happening to my boy. I couldn't realize that he was a man and I was full of angry resentment that the thugs should attempt to harm a child. Actually, the boy was a better man than his father and better equipped to protect himself, for the fluid of life, aggressive youth, ran in his veins. He was probably a better man than any three of the gangsters, although he was smaller than any of them. His virile plains life had made him hard as nails.

The car rushed on toward the firing squad. Three of the men turned to watch Furey and me; the others waited, watching the car.

Furey was moaning and groaning and crying out wildly to the men, but they seemed to pay no attention to him. The car drew nearer, the men at the road and I could see Pete straining up the situation.

Before he could decide upon a plan of action, I saw the wild eyes of the negro chawfleur dilate; but the car swept forward with a new urge of speed, dashing into the armed men and on down the

"That's strange," I said. "A deputy sheriff at Jacksonville told me to come out here and flag the train. I came out here and stop, and let me take this man aboard."

The man was positive. "I live near here," he said, "and that train would not stop if you flagged all night."

I was stunned. Official duplicity! Here it was again. I wondered if there was an officer in the whole United States whom a man could trust. I looked at Pete and a grin slowly met me.

"Sort-a looks like we got help out on the wrong foot, Dad."

There was resolution and a determination in his eyes. I knew that his Texas danger was up and his courage strengthened my own.

The man in the buggy started to leave and his words were drowned in the roar of the passing train.

CRAZYER THIRTY-THREE

Furey had come directly to the Mason hotel and to room 1099 where he found seven men very busy packing their belonging and all kinds of paraphernalia such as bulletin boards, telegraph instruments and business stationery. The room was filled with one the gang had fitted up as a temporary headquarters.

As Pete entered, one of the men came forward and the boy asked Mr. Weinstrot, to whom Furey had been treated, the note.

"Well," he believed the stairs," the man answered, "I'll run down and get him for you."

Several minutes passed and the man did not return.

Another man, noticing Pete at the door, inquired his business and the latter replied:

"Get him," the man replied "I'll get him for you."

This performance was repeated until ever man was gone. Pete was quite nervous, realizing that he might get back here before sundown, but he hurried the place for the men to whom he had spoken, but every one had disappeared.

The manager of the hotel told me afterward that 12 rooms were vacated that afternoon within an hour and ordered the driver to follow ever he could get hold of in his rush. Toilet articles and soiled linens were found in every room.

Pete realized that he could accomplish nothing, so he hurried back to the car, picked up our luggage, and uttered a few words to the driver in order to reach our rendezvous before sundown.

"Furey!" I pointed my thumb across my shoulder. "See that sun?"

The frightened man was almost afraid to look up. The minute hail had slipped more than half out of sight below the horizon. I could almost hear his heart thump, between the wild, jumping beats of my own.

No sign of Pete. My ears were constantly alert for the sound of an approaching car. I almost wished he wouldn't come, for we might find the gang of gunmen too much for us. The tall pine, silhouetted, darkly presaged tragedy.

Silly, the boy must come! I had sworn to take a job if he was not back by sundown! My hands were clammy and cold perspiration stood out on my brow.

Furey turned away from the lowering sun, too frightened to watch it. Long shadows crept closer and closer, us, wrapping us in dark shrouds.

The gunman crept, step by step, into the circle which would surround us and expose my back to a party shot. They were still out of range, for their short-barrel guns didn't reach their circle was complete, they would dash in quickly. I knew I would precipitate a bloody fight if I fired now. I would wait. Something might happen.

"Oh, Norriet," Furey groaned in a voice that was barely audible, "Wait! Wait! Wait! Wait! Wait! Wait! This gang's coming. Wait!" Then he raised his voice: "Men! Why don't you go back? You're going to get me killed! Go back! For God's sake!"

Then an eternity of waiting in dark stillness. We'll manage.

"Norriet! Listen!" Furey's voice was almost pious.

I strained my ears and heard what seemed to be the hum of a gasoline motor. I drew nearer, then a greater fear clutched my throat.

A faint glimmer of possibility, a faint chance for saving

If there is one point on which all physicians are agreed it is that woman's nervous system is more highly organized and, therefore, more sensitive to pain than man's. Especially during the colder months of the year women suffer much with neuralgia and periodic pains, headaches, and pains in the back and sides.

To relieve these pains some women have unfortunately resorted to opiates and habit-forming drugs. This is entirely unnecessary for Capudine relieves these pains quite as well as opiates and without the slightest possibility of creating a habit. Capudine reduces nervous strain or nerve tension, thus removing the cause of these pains. Every woman who suffers with pains of this kind should get acquainted with Capudine. She will find it a most helpful friend. All drug stores sell Capudine in 50c and 30c sizes. (adv.)

Tech Prexy To Dedicate New Floydada School

FLOYDADA, Nov. 15.—Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College of Lubbock, will deliver the principal address at the Harmony Dedication Banquet to be held in the auditorium of the new Harmony school building Wednesday evening. The new building, which is nearing completion, cost $18,000 and will be one of the most modern in the county. Two hundred plates are being prepared and a delegation numbering between fifty and seventy-five will attend the event from Floydada.

Including the Harmony school Floyd county has one of the best rural schools and what has been termed by school inspectors as one of the best rural school systems in the Lone Star State.

LAYING GAS MAINS

Pipes Being Put Down In Thalia and Crowell

CROWELL, Nov. 15.—Construction on the distributing systems for supplying Crowell and Thalia with natural gas will start Wednesday according to A. H. Culbertson of Culbertson Brothers of Fort Worth, who have the gas franchise in these cities. Some material has already arrived and fourteen additional carloads are expected to reach Crowell this week.

Arrangements for starting work are being completed by Mr. Culbertson and his construction superintendent, Z. W. Smith. A building has been rented from C. P. Bandier of Crowell for storing material and for construction headquarters. A contract for welding of the lines has been let to Jack Nichols of Panhandle, Texas, however, Culbertson Brothers own ditching machines will be used in the construction of a line to connect the structure of the lines.

MANY - HUED CORN GROWN BY EXPERT

SHREVEPORT, Ill., Nov. 15.—The corn country of the middle-west may be transformed into rolling plains of vari-colored beauty if farmers adopt the discoveries of Harvey J. Scowee, agricultural scientist and author. Scowee has developed varieties of corn in colors that would do credit to any flower garden.

Purple, green, bronze, yellow, red, lavender and pink cornstalks, and leaves are a few of the shades that decorate his 2500-acre farm near here. Graduated from the agricultural school of the University of Illinois, Scowee started his section and breeding in 1902. He has developed cobless corn, potted corn and "chrysanthemum corn."

While some of the varieties are of value only as curiosities, others have genuine economic value. Scowee was one of the guests sent by President Wilson to the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome in 1926.

"GOLD FINDER" ON TRAIL OF PIRATE

ANCON, Panama.—Pirate gold which legend says amounts to $50,000,000 is the subject of the latest quest of George Williams and his "scientific gold finder." His mysterious machine, the secrets of which he closely guards, is said to have uncovered several small finds in Central America.

The new expedition is heading for Cocon Island, where some of Sir Henry Morgan's treasure is supposed to have been buried. Williams holds a four-year treasure-hunting concession on certain portions of Panama and has been delving in the ruins of old Porto Bello.

PAVING BONDS SOLD

High Premium Received On $40,000 Issue

HIGH SPRING, Nov. 15.—The $40,000 bonds for the paving of thirty blocks of the residential district were sold at a premium of $1108.00. The bid of $102.51 was the highest price ever received for bond issue of this city, and was purchased by Roger Caldwell of Nashville, Tenn.

According to City Manager Montin this paving will begin as soon as petitions are filed by the property owners.

INLAND WATERWAY

Hoover Sees River Traffic System Farmer Boon

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 15.—A modern inland waterway system that would solve the transportation problem and give aid to farmers by reducing grain shipment costs was visualized here tonight by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, in an address before the Mississippi Valley Association's 5th annual convention.

"I believe the statement that by the modernization of the Mississippi and Great Lakes systems of waterways we shall decrease freight on grain to world markets by ten cents a bushel is not far wrong," declared Secretary Hoover.

Secretary Hoover characterized the spring flood in the Mississippi valley as the "most important event in our national life during the past year and one which bears directly upon development and control of our great rivers."

"Control of waterways is as important to people in the flood districts as elsewhere," he said. "We should deepen our rivers to permit modern large transportation, deepen the outlet to the Great lakes to permit ocean going shipping and to connect them all together into a definite transportation system."

CHICAGO TRIAL ON

British Banquet History Teachers, Is Charge

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15.—The constitution of persusasion and good will—the banquet—was employed by the British government to influence 100 American history professors to deal generously with the island empire in depicting Anglo-American relations. The William McAndrew school trial recorded today. And in making that event a part of the presentation of McAndrew, superintendent of schools who is charged with insubordination, the minutes of the British parliament were quoted.

Charles Grant Miller, president of the Patriotic League for the Preservation of American History, denounced the star witness against the suspended school head was the only witness.

He only substantiated the claim of John J. Gorman, former congressman that English propaganda had entered the Chicago school rooms through the history courses. Gorman had been employed by Mayor William Hale Thompson to ascertain if Angelican influences was in the schools. The mayor claimed it was, and that McAndrew was a party to it admittance.

CHINA STRIFE ENDS

Victory for Nanking Will Aid Government

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—The conflict between Nanking and Hankow seems to be ended with complete victory for Nanking, which will greatly strengthen the Nanking government. It is expected a settlement will be effected, thus terminating all efforts of Hankow to put up an independent government.

In the meantime the disorders in the Wuhan cities—Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang—are dying down.

CHAPLIN WINS SUIT

Film Star Wins $50,000 Plagiarism Action

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin emerged two victor today in a $50,000 plagiarism suit, brought by Leo Loeb, who charged the film comedian had stolen the plot of his play, "The Rookie," to use in his production of "Shoulder Arms."

Loeb's suit was brought twice, the first having ended in a jury disagreement. The plaintiff, a war veteran, said he had sent the manuscript of "The Rookie" to Chaplin's studio and that it was rejected. Chaplin denied ever having seen Loeb's manuscript.

TO "IGNORE" NORRIS

Baptist Leaders To Have No Hearing For Pastor

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 15. (AP)—Rev. J. Frank Norris, of Fort Worth will be "ignored" by the Texas Baptist general convention which officially opens its sessions here Wednesday night. This statement was made by Dr. E. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, whom Mr. Norris has repeatedly attacked, and George Green, pastor of the First Baptist church of Austin.

The leaders take the position that as Rev. Norris is not a member of the convention he has no right to appear on the floor of it and that they will enter into no discussion of or with him.

The pastors' and laymen's conference of Texas will assemble tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with the Rev. Jefferson Davis of the First Baptist church of San Benito in the chair.

PLANE PATROLS FOREST

TRENTON, N. J.—Use of airplanes as a means to combat eastern forest fires has saved thousands of acres of woodland from burning, according to Col. Leonidas Cole state fire marshal. Flying over the burning sectors, observers chart the extent of the blaze on a map and drop it at the nearest lookout station. This saves hours of time that would have been consumed by men scouting on foot.

A Bridge Game Nearly Ruined! Right Here in Lubbock, Too!

Some Player Was Suffering With

"Gas-O-Leenos"

Even His Best Friend Wouldn't Tell Him!

You Can Avoid It!

Call the Master Cleaners:

the hand causes "Gas-O-Leenos"

"Gas-o-Leenos" isn't a disease of the body—but it gets awful close to it some times. It's a disease so often found in clothes that have been "hand-dipped and squeezed" in plain gasoline. Clothes that when cleaned that way, then hang out in the sunshine to catch dust and all kinds of germs, while drying—suffer from "Gas-o-Leenos."

"They positively smell 'bad'—was what one friend said to another about a mutual friend's clothing. It wasn't a thing but "Gas-o-Leenos."

Gas-o-Leenos" is easy to avoid—and in every instance it pays to avoid it.

Here we employ a very expensive mechanical cleaning system in which cleaning liquids are continuously FLOWING—then when removed from the cleaner—they are WHIRLED dry in what is known as a near-vacuum process. This, in addition to drying clothes, makes sure that all manner of sand, grit and other foreign particles are removed.

A de-odorizing machine is next used to make sure that none of our customers will suffer from "Gas-o-Leenos."

Now to give our customers still better value we HAVE LOWERED CLEANING and PRESSING costs—in many instances as much as 33 1-3 per cent.

You used to pay $1.50 to get our services for cleaning and pressing a man's suit. Today and hereafter you are only asked to pay $1 for the same service. Cash did that!

DAILY MARKETS

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15. (P)—The cotton market was slightly firmer here today on account of favorable cables, but weather inland, better trade demand and more inquiry for spots. The general market closed 13 to 19 points net higher. After trading in the early morning, the market advanced to a high of 20.12 in the late afternoon which was 21 points above the low and closed at 20.06. Liverpool was 2 to 4 penny points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 2 to 3 points. The advance continued until December rose to 18.92 and March to 20.07, or 7 to 8 points above yesterday's close. During the first hour however, the market eased off, 6 to 8 points on December liquidation.

Trade buying and price fixing brought about a rally and prices improved slowly until near the end of the session when December sold at 20.05 and March at 20.20.

In the final trading the market eased off 4 to 7 points on a little realizing and closed steady with spring months showing the largest gain.

Exports for the day were 77,589.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (P)—The cotton market closed a steady tone today recovering a good part of yesterday's losses on less favorable weather reports and relatively steady Liverpool cables. January contracts sold up to 19.30, or 20 points net higher, and closed at 19.35, the general market closing steady, at net advances of 15 to 22 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 7 points. Further December liquidation caused irregularity after the call. Offerings were absorbed by spot buyers buying against sales of later deliveries, however, and prices turned steeper on covering by shorts in the southwest. The apparent willingness of spot houses to buy December at about 25 points under March, appeared to make favorable impression on sentiment. Business was only moderately active but there appeared to be some trade buying and covering while southern selling was very little in evidence. December contracts bit up to 19.34 and March to 20.16, during the morning, net advances of 20 to 23 points. The close was within 4 to 5 points of the best part of the buying here was said to be for European trade interests, presumably in the way of fixing prices and there was buying for both Liverpool and New Orleans account which was supposed to be on the difference between the two local markets. December liquidation was largely in the way of switching from early to late months, and the selection of near month contracts at the recent difference between months was regarded by some traders as indicating that a basic feeling on the position had been re-established.

Cable advances reported India buying in the Liverpool market on heavy rains which were checked by belching and liquidation.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (P)—The cotton seed market was quiet today, reflecting narrowly on mixed trade. Active months closed 1 to 4 points lower, the decline being the result of further December liquidation and hedging by refiners against crude purchases. Sales 14,700 barrels. Prime crude 912½; prime summer yellow spot 16.70; December closed 16.75; January 16.85; March 11.00; May 11.10; June 11.20.

CLOTH MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (P)—The gray cloth market was quiet today and quotations were softer through resale of offerings at under mill levels. However, silk and cotton mixtures, all cotton and other dress goods moved too slowly to afford covers a profit. Turf prices in California were firm to a shade higher, and unchanged in the local market, business being quiet.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Nov. 15. (P)—Dealers' stock of wool on September 20, amounted to 751,700,000 pounds, according to quarterly official reports issued today. The figures show 35,500,000 pounds less than for June 20, and 32,000,000 less than for September 20, a year ago. Mills show 175,400,000 pounds of wool on hand September 20. This is 8,000,000 pounds greater than for June 20, 1926, and 30,000,000 pounds lighter than in June 1915, 600,000 pounds lighter than September 20, a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (P)—Corn as well as wheat scored a sharp advance in price today with grain futures better, however, for corn than for wheat. Corn was in active speculative demand, based on extreme shortness of receipts, persistent adverse, husking reports. Closing quotations on corn were strong, 2-3-4c to 3-1-2c net higher, with wheat 1-1-2c to 1-1-2c up, oats showing 5-4c to 1-1-2c to 2 cents advance, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 1-1-2 to 3 cents. Oats went up with corn. Provisions rallied from down turns at the start. Cash interests were purchasers of nearby deliveries.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (P)—The hog trade here today was generally steady. In the cattle market, steers and cows were steady, while some grades of calves were strong to 25c higher. Sheep were steady and lambs steady to strong.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (P)—Cattle, steers, steady to 25 cents lower, cows and heifers steady to strong. Hogs steady. Under the new price new high top paid for heavy steers: bulk $13.00@16.50; western steers $10.50@12.00; cubs $5.10@5.25; bulls $7.65@7.75; vealers $12.00@13.00.

Hogs 44000; steady to 10 higher; top $9.70; butchers $9.50@9.65; medium $9.20@9.50; lights $8.90@9.20; pigs $8.50@9.00; sows $8.10@8.50; estimated holdover, 10,000; sheep 19,000; fat lambs steady to strong; natives $12.25@12.50; buck lambs $17.00@17.50; culls 10.25@10.75; sheep steady; fat ewes $6.25@6.65; feeding lambs weak at $12.25@12.75.

NUMBER SHEEP IN HALE COUNTY SHOW INCREASE

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 15.—The number of sheep on the farms of Hale county has increased forty per cent during the past twelve months according to D. P. Sanson, veteran livestock buyer of Plainview, who has completed a survey of the sheep industry in this section.

Sanson says that sheep are one of the most profitable livestock businesses because of the small amount of food necessary for them. That sheep are profitable in Hale county and in the Plainview country is evidenced by the experience of several sheep raisers, notable among whom is John McGarr of Plainview who is Hale county's entrant in the 1927 Master Farmer Contest sponsored by The Progressive Farmer of Dallas. McGarr says that his sheep make one hundred per cent annually on the investment. Another farmer, according to Sanson, finds that he has made 130 per cent off sheep during nine months' time. He purchased mature ewes nine months ago, and counting the price of the ewes, and the lambs raised with the wool clipped he made this large profit. Sanson is advocating the raising of more sheep in the Plains country and points out that they consume very little food. A sheep will pass over the best grass and grab the toughest weed in the field.

A quarter section of Hale county land will accommodate fifty ewes, Mr. Sanson says.

Hot BISCUITS in less time

2 new time-saving suggestions

Whenever I want to serve hot biscuits and haven't the time to roll and cut them, I make drop biscuits.

I use my master biscuit recipe—simply making the batter a little softer by adding extra milk and dropping this batter on baking pans with a spoon. No need to touch the dough with my hands—no table, rolling-pin or sticky hands to wash afterwards! A real saving of time and trouble!

On this page I am giving recipes for both rolled and drop biscuits—also for some fancy biscuits, all variations of the master recipe.

I make all these biscuits with Crisco—for Crisco gives me the lightest, flakiest biscuits I have ever had and in the years I have been cooking I have tried almost everything.

You can mix all the ingredients in the recipe except the milk, keep this mixture in the ice-box and have fresh hot biscuits without taking time to mix them just at meal time. As Crisco itself stays sweet and fresh so long, the mixture will keep a week or longer.

Really I do not know how I could keep house without all the good things to eat that Crisco gives me: Cakes that you cannot tell from butter cakes; tender, flaky pie crusts; light, feathery muffins; and all kinds of wonderful fried foods, without smoke, unpleasant odor or waste.

Master Recipe

For both "Drop" and "Rolled" Biscuits

2 cups bread flour	1/2 cup milk or water
5 teaspoons baking powder	for "Drop" biscuits
1/2 teaspoon salt	or 1/2 cup milk or water
4 tablespoons Crisco	for "Rolled" biscuits

Sift dry ingredients together 3 times. Work Crisco in with fork. Add liquid gradually.

FOR "DROP" (Emergency) BISCUITS: drop by spoonfuls on Criscoed baking pan. Brush top of biscuits with melted Crisco or milk. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

FOR ROLLED BISCUITS: form dough into shape, roll 1/2 inch thick, cut. For cone-shaped biscuits, cut squares, then diagonally in half. Brush top of biscuits with melted Crisco or milk. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 12 biscuits.

To use buttermilk or sour milk beat in 1/2 teaspoon soda for each cup of milk. (If milk is very thick, use a little more milk.) Use same amount of baking powder and follow method for either "drop" or "rolled" biscuits.

Whole Wheat Biscuits (Rolled)

with or without raisins

Use one cup whole wheat flour in place of 1 cup bread flour. Add 1/2 cup Sultana Raisins before adding milk.

Lemon or Orange Tea Biscuits (Dropped or Rolled)

Sift in 1 teaspoon grated rind before adding milk.

Maple Nut Biscuits (Rolled)

Roll dough 1/4 inch thick, spread with 1/2 cup shaved maple sugar mixed with 5 tablespoons Crisco. Roll and cut as for cheese biscuits. Lay in pan, sprinkle maple sugar over each and bake with 1/2 walnut in center.

Peanut Biscuits (Rolled)

Sift 1 tablespoon sugar with dry ingredients. Beat two eggs, add enough milk to make 1/2 cup. Stir in 1/2 cup chopped peanuts before adding milk.

An Astonishing Blindfold Test

SEE if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!

Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other fat to taste.

Now, did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of raw cooking fats? Think what an improvement Crisco's sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.
