Bill On Tax Freeze Signed By President

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—President Roosevelt "reluctantly" signed today a bill freezing social security taxes for another year at the one per cent rate.

He announced he planned soon to recommend "a comprehensive plan for broadening and improving the Social Security system."

In a formal statement, Mr. Roosevelt rapped the knuckles of Congress for freezing the Social Security tax. This tax is now one per cent each on the payrolls of employers and the paychecks of employes. Without the legislation, the rate would have automatically increased on January 1 to two per cent on each.

Must Review Methods

Declaring it would be incumbent upon the next Congress to review thoroughly methods of financing Social Security benefits, the Presidential statement added:

"At an early date I plan to submit to the Congress a comprehensive plan for broadening and improving the Social Security system."

The executive branch of the government, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, will always stand ready to help Congress work out a satisfactory solution.

Congress had expected a veto of the freezing legislation. It had, however, enacted the bill by margins greater than the two-thirds necessary in each house to override a veto.

Cheers Greet Report

When Speaker Rayburn announced the President's action to the House, cheers arose in the chamber and many members who had been delaying a departure in expectation of a roll call on the question of overriding a presidential veto, prepared to leave at once for the Christmas holidays.

The President's statement, released at the White House, said he had felt in the past and still felt that scheduled increases in the Social Security tax, which have been repeatedly deferred by Congress, should be allowed to go into effect. Long-run financial requirements of the security system justified sticking to the schedule, he said, and an increase was consistent with wartime fiscal requirements.

Less Disturbed Now

He said he was sure Congress did not intend to jeopardize benefit rights built up in the past and due to grow in the future. But he said he was less disturbed about comprehensive coverage under old-age and survivors' insurance in view of expressed commitments of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

"Two matters should be clearly understood," the chief executive

Ward Pay Scale Flayed By Davis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (AP) — Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor board said tonight the "under-paid workers" of Sewell Avery, board chairman of Montgomery Ward, are "still waiting for justice to be done them."

Davis said Avery "draws a veil" over the company's "refusal to increase its sub-standard wages" by "deliberately repeating all of his former misstatements regarding maintenance of membership."

Newspaper Statement

Th WLB chairman said Avery had published in newspaper advertisements a statement to his employes "in which he gives the impression that maintenance of membership is the only issue involved in the Detroit strike."

The statement followed by one day an order by the WLB to Montgomery Ward to comply with its directives in its stores and properties in six cities in addition to Detroit — Chicago, Denver, St. Paul, Portland, Ore., San Rafael, Calif., and Jamaica, N. Y. — by next Monday.

The WLB had stated that, failing in compliance, the case would be certified to economic Stablization Director Fred M. Vinson.

San Jose Taken By Yanks In Steady Advance On Mindoro

Tokyo Says Four Transports Sunk, 21 Ships Damaged

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

AMERICAN forces of liberation, operating on Mindoro island within 155 miles of Manila, scored advances of from seven to nine miles inland from their beachheads and took the town of San Jose, Gen Douglas MacArthur reported today.

The Yanks, meeting only negligible Japanese opposition, pushed toward Mindoro's central mountain range from the island's southwest coast where they landed Friday morning, Manila time. American and Australian engineers were rushing work on an airfield in the invasion sector.

Japs Say Fighting Heavy

San Jose, five miles inland from the beachheads, has an air field.

Radio Tokyo, in a propaganda broadcast, said heavy fighting was in progress on Mindoro and that Japanese fliers continued their attacks on the invasion fleet. It added that 280 Yank carrier planes struck against Luzon again Saturday, Japanese time, blasting airfields in the Manila area and at other points on that strategic island. Tokyo also reported American air raids south of Mindoro.

Tokyo claimed that Japanese fliers sank four transports off Mindoro and damaged 21 vessels, including two battleships and eight transports.

None Are Confirmed

None of the Japanese broadcasts was confirmed by American sources.

At Pearl Harbor, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed that Yank carrier planes, heavily supporting the Mindoro invasion, delivered round-the-clock paralyzing blows against Japanese air centers on Luzon island and enemy shipping Dec. 14, 15 and 16 (Manila time).

The naval fliers sank or damaged 17 ships, destroyed 235 planes and damaged 138 aircraft. Four destroyers or destroyer escorts were among the vessels damaged. The Yank airmen also hit

County Goes Over In Bond Campaign

Lubbock county had gone "over the top" in the Sixth war loan by the time the drive ended officially last night.

Tribute was paid to the efforts of the county's residents by Nathan Adams, Texas War Finance committee chairman, in a telegram to Neil H. Wright, Lubbock county chairman:

"I am delighted to note from daily sales reports that the citizens of Lubbock county are as usual doing a splendid job of soundly financing the war during the Sixth War Loan. Your men in service on all battle fronts can be proud of the way you are backing them up.

War Bond Christmas

"Let's make this a war bond Christmas by giving war bonds. The gift with a future."

Up to Dec. 14, the Federal Reserve bank reported the county had purchased a total of $3,695,000 in all types of bonds with $740,000 in E bonds. Since that time the nearly one million dollars yet to go was raised. The local processing agencies and drive workers have sold enough to put the county well over the top of the $4,370,000 quota, according to Wright.

Slaton, the first county town to reach its goal had sold a total of $308,749.50 with $76,300 in E bonds. Slaton's chairman, W. R. Sewell, said Slaton hoped to double their E quota of $42,500 by Saturday night. Their overall quota was $196,650.

Rural And Texas Tech

County rural chairman, Roy Boyd, did not have reports from rural communities other than Shallowater which had already exceeded its quota of $32,775 with a total of $34,862.50. Reports on others was expected the first part of the week.

Texas Tech also went over its quota with a total of $7,500 in Series G bonds and $24,719 in E bonds—cash purchases—reported W. T. Gaston, Tech business manager.

Lubbock's school students, soliciting subscriptions in the residential districts, had raised $210,044.25 by Friday night. A final report on their bond sales will be made Monday afternoon, Floyd Honey, principal, announced.

Wright highly praised the more than 20 men who comprised the teams covering the downtown district from Thursday morning to Saturday evening. All business and professional men and heads of firms were approached by them. Employe sales were carried on by the firm heads promoting sales among the workers in the stores and offices.

"Everyone's cooperation to put Lubbock over the top has been magnificent," drive officials stated. "The work of the bond salesmen and school students and the willingness of householders and businessmen to receive them are highly commended."

The sale of E bonds will still be stressed until the end of the month, it is pointed out. All such purchases will be credited toward the county's quota.

'Daters' Go Tiger Hunting In Burma

MYITKYINA, Burma, Dec. 15. (Delayed) (AP) — Dancing is too tame for American boys and girls in Myitkyina so when they have dates here they sometimes go tiger hunting.

Cuban Girl Ousted From LSU Over Sex Question Pamphlet

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 16 (AP) — Pretty Gloria Jeanne Heller, 18, of Havana, Cuba, resigned from Louisiana State university today, she said, "because President W. B. Hatcher objected to my attempt to learn campus opinion on the sex question—and because he requested me to leave."

President Hatcher told the LSU board of supervisors that he had given Miss Heller the choice of "resigning or being dropped from school after she admitted writing a leaflet in which he said she discussed the university's attitude toward sex."

"I told her," he said, "that we couldn't have promiscuous kissing on the campus . . . couldn't have people who advocated free love."

Miss Heller denied she advocated free love."

"All I did—and Dr. Hatcher wouldn't let me explain—was to attempt to show that I thought the university dealt with sex problems in such a way as to overemphasize them."

Miss Heller, who is five feet and seven inches tall and weighs 125 pounds, added:

"We had been told by other school officials that a goodnight kiss was all right if it wasn't of the passionate kind, but Dr. Hatcher just said 'no kissing.'"

Friends Reported

The American-born girl said she had the university's own shop print the leaflets, and explained she wrote the leaflets "because some of my friends had been reported for kissing their dates goodnight and sitting with them on park benches on the campus."

In the 300-word article, Miss Heller wrote:

"Students of LSU, remember this is not our home. We are here to continue studying but not to continue life. Do not act as if you were at home, for now we have new advisors and consider our natural instinctive behavior as ill-bred and misbehavior . . .

Taught To Be Robots

"We are meant and taught to be robots and for this purpose certain rules are exercised. In our pursuit of knowledge, we give our new advisors a right to censor our way of living, a right to tell us that what we have been taught by our parents is wrong, a right to make us think as they desire us to, a right to make our minds dull to the facts of life.

"Yes, do it the right way. Make

Scobie Turns Down Peace Plan Of EAM

By Stephen Barber
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATHENS, Dec. 16. — Lt. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie rejected peace proposals of the EAM (leftwing national liberation front party) today because the leftists' offer failed to provide immediate cessation of resistance and fighting continued in the capital.

A British headquarters statement said, "General Scobie must continue to insist upon satisfactory fulfillment of this condition."

Demands Fighting Stop

Scobie, the British commander in Greece, has demanded that all ELAS (fighting branch of the EAM) supporters in Athens and its port, Piraeus, stop fighting against British and Greek government troops and surrender their arms.

The tone of his reply to the EAM peace offer today, however, was regarded as hopeful.

The headquarters statement said Scobie "does not believe there will be any difficulty in Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander's being able to initiate necessary steps to bring the turmoil to an end and restore to all Greeks, whatever their opinions, the enjoyment of their democratic liberties."

EAM's Conditions

Scobie earlier had pledged that Alexander, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, would take over the task of ending the conflict within Greece when the armed civil strife is ended.

The EAM peace offer included these conditions:

That a new government be formed to deal with the question of disarming guerrilla forces.

That suspected Axis collaborators be prosecuted promptly.

That Greek government troops be removed from Athens.

In regard to the latter, the British statement said that Scobie was prepared to order these troops to return to the barracks where they were when hostilities with the ELAS began if his requirements were carried out by the EAM and ELAS.

Progress In Battle

A communique from Gen. Scobie's headquarters said "good progress" was made in clearing areas in Piraeus, including a strongly-held feature east of the main harbor. In Athens, the bulletin added, there "is no change in the situation."

Fighting is continuing in western Greece, the communique said, with casualties to both sides. Ground troops were receiving support from British warships.

(AP) —Applications of Continental and American Airlines for flights connecting Wichita Falls and Lubbock, Tex., with Oklahoma City will be reconsidered at a hearing in early January, the Civil Aeronautics board (CAB) today informed Reps. Mahon and Gossett (D-Tex). The permit was denied last month.

Churchill Has 'Lapse Of Memory' In Speech

LONDON, Dec. 16. (AP)—One of Winston Churchill's private secretaries told the Associated Press today that the prime minister had a "lapse of memory" in speaking on Poland yesterday and confused the wording of the Atlantic Charter with a British government statement on foreign policy drafted in 1940.

Churchill's sensational statement that there was an insertion in the Atlantic Charter that territorial "changes mutually agreed" upon could be made before the peace table, brought this explanation at No. 10 Downing street:

"Mr. Churchill was speaking from memory and just made a slip.

"What he attributed to the Atlantic Charter was actually in the British government's statement of foreign policy laid down in 1940. Later during yesterday's debate Foreign Secretary Eden pointed out that Mr. Churchill had erred."

Apparent Effort Made To Draw Off Duren Pressure

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, Dec. 16. — German counterattacks were opened today at a dozen points on the 70-mile first U. S. Army front between Duren and Trier, the heaviest fighting occurring in the Ardennes forest.

The counter thrusts were an apparent effort to draw off pressure against the Duren sector.

Although the full extent of the assault can not yet be determined, it included attacks at widely separated points including the area of Monschau, the neighborhood of Krewinkel, eight miles north of Prum, at Peterskirche, 14 miles southwest of Prum, and Echternach, 19 miles northwest of Trier.

Pointed At Ardennes

The drive was pointed at the Ardennes region or mountain forests through which the German Army passed in 1940.

The Germans drew an armored division from another front and hurled it today at the U. S. Seventh Army, which poured more troops into the Reich's Palatinate smashing the enemy stand in the French frontier city of Lauterbourg.

All along a front of more than 200 miles, where four American armies have invaded Germany, the enemy loosed artillery barrages which reached an intensity of 1,000 shells an hour on some U. S. First Army sectors, and up to 250 an hour on the U. S. Third Army front in the Saar basin.

Bridges Destroyed

The thunder of explosions set off by the Germans destroying the last bridges across the Roer river indicated that they had given up hope of holding back the First Army on the first time in two weeks against the U. S. Ninth Army north of Linden, but were thrown back.

A German broadcast said the U. S. Ninth Army had turned on giant loudspeakers which blared out "advertising" of an impending offensive.

The U. S. Third Army bored 300 yards deeper into the Siegfried line in the western Saarland, and infantry crossed the southern border of the basin at a new point nine miles east of Sarreguemines.

Heavy fighting inside Germany was reported on Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army front as infantry took on the first Siegfried line pillboxes and supporting artillery answered the Siegfried's guns.

Red Forces Pushing On Toward Vienna

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, Dec. 17. — The Red Army salient 100 miles northeast of Budapest was extended virtually to the Slovak border at a new point yesterday while other Russian tanks and infantry smashed westward towards Vienna from the newly-won bridgeheads at Ipolysag in western Slovakia northwest of the Hungarian capital.

Moscow's broadcast communique last night restricted itself to reporting gains some 27 to 30 miles north and northeast of Miskolc, which is 85 miles northeast of Budapest, but the Germans announced withdrawals to new positions north and west of Ipolysag in the face of continual Russian assaults.

Unofficial Moscow dispatches also said the Russians were strengthening their bridgehead over the Ipoly river at Ipolysag and thrusting toward the Slovak capital of Bratislava, 87 miles to the west, and towards Vienna, 115 miles in the same direction.

The communique listed the capture of 30 towns, including Barakony, directly north of Miskolc and less than four and a half miles from the Slovak frontier and within 24 miles southwest of the already outflanked Nazi eastern Slovakian stronghold of Kassa (Kosice.)

The Germans were reeling backward along a 125-mile front into Slovakia extending from Ipolysag to Satoraljaujhely, and last night's communique listed the capture of Sarospatak, a large town on the Miskolc-Satoraljaujhely-Kassa railway seven miles southwest of Satoraljaujhely.

Three Destroyers Sunk

The naval section of the communique announced the sinking of three German destroyers by the Red fleet in the Baltic.

Possibly heralding the final big push to wipe out the remnants of the German Baltic armies pocketed on the Baltic coast of Lithuania and Latvia, the communique reported also the sinking of six German transports and the damaging of a seventh in a raid on the Germans' "Dunkerque" port of Liepaja.

Malinovsky's drive into Slovakia turned attention from the battle for Budapest, where the Russians bored in upon the two-thirds encircled capital from the northeast and north through mazes of German traps and fortifications. They continued to encounter the bitterest resistance. Berlin admitted two breaches were carved in the city's defensive arc, but said they were sealed off later.

Stuttgart Rail Yards Battered

LONDON, Dec. 16. (AP) — A force of 100 U. S. heavy bombers dumped explosives on railroad yards north of Stuttgart today, blasting the enemy transportation hub for the second time in eight days in support of Seventh Army columns invading Germany north of Strasbourg.

Pilots of 100 Mustangs which escorted the Flying Fortresses reported the Germans failed to intercept the attack concentrated on freight yards at Kornwestheim, northern Stuttgart suburb. One group of heavies bombed visually. Others used the "magic eye" in the overcast.

Heavier From Italy

Today's mission was the smallest dispatched by the Eighth Air force in many months, but warnings from the German radio indicated much heavier attacks were being carried out by bombers of the 15th Air force, which sent its heavyweights from Italy toward Munich and into Czechoslovakia.

Late in the afternoon, the RAF sent a force of Lancasters against the industrial and railway center of Siegen, about 45 miles east of Cologne. Fighters went along. First reports did not indicate what opposition was encountered.

Buddy Beasley Is Missing In Crash

Flight Officer Buddy Beasley, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beasley of 2008 Seventeenth, is listed as missing following the crash Friday of a B-24 bomber into Lake Pepin near Pepin, Wis., the Associated Press reported Saturday night.

Two other crew members are also officially listed as missing. F/O Beasley was stationed at Fairfax field, Kansas City.

The parents were informed last night that the plane exploded before it plunged into the lake. The War department said the men are listed as missing pending examination of the plane wreckage.

At first it was reported two or more parachutes had been seen in the air before the crash, but a careful search failed to locate any of the men, the Associated Press said.

The crew members included Capt. Dan D. Mitchell, pilot, son of Mrs. Lois Mitchell of Houston, Tex. F/O Beasley was co-pilot.

Beasley, who was graduated from Lubbock High school and who attended Texas Tech, began flight training in March, 1942, and received his wings and commission at Douglas, Ariz.

NAVY "SWEETHEART"

AUSTIN, Dec. 16. (AP) — A Sherman girl, Helen Burleson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Burleson, was crowned "Sweetheart of the Navy" at a dance on the University of Texas campus tonight.

Civilian Flying Bans Lightened

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (AP)—Civilian aviation today returned to virtual pre-war flying conditions.

The Civil Aeronautics board announced amendments to emergency flight rules, substantially reducing war-time restrictions.

The amended rules provide in part:

Requirements have been waived for the maintenance of guards or for leaving aircraft in an inoperative condition when unguarded.

The requirements that aircraft land only at formally designated landing places is being abandoned. Henceforth formal designation will be required only for those fields at which aircraft are to be based regularly. Occasional landings and take-offs may be made elsewhere at the pilot's discretion.

Designated Bases

Owners of aircraft needing to base them at points not now regularly designated as landing areas may henceforth apply to the administrator of civil aeronautics for the designation of areas which they wish to use.

No change is made in the requirement that in eastern and western vital defense areas each individual flight of civil aircraft must be approved by the defense command.

The CAB pointed out that in certain congested areas, and particularly in vital defense areas, military authorities may require establishment of local flying areas to reach designated landing area in order to avoid conflict with adjacent military activities.

Thirteen Area Counties Gain 28.06 Per Cent In Population In 3 Years

Led by Lynn county's top-heavy 73.8 per cent and Hockley's 71.1 per cent, 13 of the 16 South Plains counties increased their population 28.06 per cent from April 1, 1940 to Nov. 1, 1943, compliations disclosed by Texas Business Review revealed last week.

The other three South Plains counties showed a decrease in population over that period, of 16.7 per cent.

The 13 counties with a population increase when added to the three showing a population decease adds to a total 16-county South Plains increase of 19.66 per cent—remarkable when viewed in comparison with other sections of the state.

Lynn Second In State

Further, with an increase of 8,806 persons, Lynn county's per cent increase ranked second among all counties of the state, and Hockley's lacked only .7 per cent of placing third. Moore county was first, adding 5,181 for a percentage of 116.1.

The South Plains bloc of counties was the greatest "black area" of the entire state.

Only 60 of the 254 counties of Texas showed increases in population, most of them in West Texas.

There is a bloc of 26 population increase counties hinging at Lubbock—and you can drive uninterruptedly from one to the other without getting into a county of decreased population. Eight such counties hinge at Amarillo, seven at El Paso, four at Galveston and two each at Orange, Dallas and Waco. Nowhere else do two counties of increased population touch.

Drawing a line southward from Knox county to Webb county on the Rio Grande, leaving Western Texas proper, you find 42 of the 60 counties of increased population lying on the west side of the line.

Broken down into population and percentage increases, the South Plains shows on the map issued by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas thus:

County	Population Increase or Decrease	Percentage Increase or Decrease
Lynn	8,806	73.8
Hockley	9,019	71.1
Cochran	1,548	42.0
Dawson	6,352	41.3
Lubbock	14,453	27.9
Garza	1,397	22.8
Terry	2,346	21.2
Lamb	3,082	17.3
Crosby	1,540	15.5
Bailey	396	14.3
Hale	1,535	8.2

Floyd	350	2.4
Yoakum*	2,601	30.6
Gaines*	1,483	18.2
Motley*	97	1.7

(*) Decrease.

Looking over the map, one is impressed with the high index of growth of West Texas as compared with other sections of the state—induced, naturally, "by population shifts of civilians the last four years as a result of high concentration of war activity, such as ordnance, shipbuilding, aircraft, synthetic rubber, and high octane gasoline production and the establishment of airfields and military camps in a comparatively small number of communities," the Review points out.

Further Movement Indicated

"When the basic economic stimuli which occasioned this tremendous population shift are modified or removed, a further great movement of people will occur. Where will they go? More specifically, which communities will continue to grow in the postwar era and to what degree? There appears to be no answers to such questions except through careful analysis and unbiased appraisal of all demographic, sociologic and economic factors applicable within a given community in the period under review.

"One of the factors to be considered is manpower distribution among the industries of Texas and the trend of employment in each group during the war period."

Factors which will influence employment in Texas during the transition from war to peace were listed as restoration of the 40-hour week and greater availability of raw materials and equipment for use in civilian production; returned to home duties of a large percentage of the 310,000 women who have entered gainful occupations, as well as over-age men to their life of leisure and 80,000 school and college students to their normal pursuits; as well as the effectiveness of management, far-sightedness of labor leaders, efficiency of government in detecting and meeting problems presented in rapidly changing economic conditions lying immediately ahead, and other factors.

Tables showed that Lubbock, hub of the greatest population increase center of the state, ranked on representative months from sixth to 13th among the 40 largest population centers of Texas in building permits issued, and 14th in postal receipts.

Lubbock's 27.9 percentage increase in population in the four years compares with 7 per cent for Potter county (Amarillo), 8.2 percent for El Paso, a minus .8 percent for Wichita, 11 per cent for Midland, .7 percent for Odessa, 15.6 per cent for Taylor (Abilene), .6 per cent for Tom Green (San Angelo), 18.8 per cent for Tarrant (Fort Worth), 11.2 per cent for Dallas, 1.3 for McLennan (Waco), 13.7 for Harris (Houston), 15.3 per cent for Bexar (San Antonio), and 18.2 for Galveston.

Only other counties with population increases listed were: Dallam, Hansford, Hartley, Hutchinson, Oldham, Randall, Hall, Childress, Cottle, King, Knox, Martin, Howard, Reeves, Pecos, Brewster, Val Verde, Kinney, Maverick, Webb, Palo Pinto, Bowie, Brown, Bell, Medina, Brazos, Jefferson, Brazoria, Matagorda, Victoria, Nueces and Kleberg.

Chicago Women To Help Carry Mail

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—Chicago women are going to help carry the mail—for the first time in the history of the postoffice.

Earlier this week, Chicago's first woman mail truck driver began her job of collecting mail and Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said "this has worked out so well," he planned to have several women deliver mail during the Christmas holidays.

Kruetgen said he had scraped the bottom of the manpower barrel. Among temporary employes are more than 1,200 soldiers and sailors from nearby service stations.

The woman mail truck driver is Mrs. Jeannette Lee, 22 year old widow and mother of a 3-year old daughter.

"It's the best job I ever had," she said. "I hope I can keep it."

WPB Orders Freeze On Civilian Production And Wool Processing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (U.P.) — The War Production board has put a general stop on increases in civilian production and in a new order today halted all processing of wool for civilian clothes for six months.

The general civilian production freeze order allows for exemptions to be made, but was designed to prevent interference with war work by upsurges in civilian production. It came shortly after the agency had virtually scrapped its "spot authorization" plan for reconversion.

High Requirements

Samuel Anderson, WPB programe vice chairman, signed the general stop order, which was circulated among all personnel of the agency and directed that no authorizations should be granted for any increases in production of civilian goods until further notice, except under certain conditions.

In a specific action of more drastic type, WPB prohibited for five months beginning Jan. 14 the processing of wool tops except to produce yarn for "rated" or priority orders.

The action was taken on recommendation of the WPB woolen and worsted manufacturers industry advisory committee to meet calls for worsted yarns needed for greatly increased production of military uniforms, battle jackets, socks and other types of clothing.

No Worsted Garments

WPB said this means that no yarn for men's suits, sweaters and other worsted garments will be manufactured during the freeze period, which will end June 2, 1945. It emphasized, however, that no shortage of these items was expected since existing civilian stocks can meet requirements until next fall.

A similar industry recommendation to freeze woolens for military blankets, overcoats and similar items is being considered, WPB said.

A WPB spokesman said the general civilian goods order actually applies more to durable goods than to "soft" merchandise since some of the latter do not require materials that are under WPB control.

The order, issued early in December, prohibits WPB officials from authorizing increases in civilian goods in excess of the quantities "clearly required" to maintain war-supporting activities in the civilian economy and to fulfill essential export requirements.

Must Be Essential

It provides machinery for additional civilian authorizations in cases where it is determined that a program is below "essential requirements."

In the past, the general practice has been to attempt to replace military cutbacks with a civilian contract if it would not interfere with war work.

But under the new policy, this practice will be restricted.

The order specified that in the case of 17 items, no increases may be authorized for civilian use unless the area production urgency committee determines in each factory the fact that a decrease in total production would not release workers either locally or inter-regionally.

This phase of the order will apply to the following items: trucks and truck tractors, off-the-highway trucks, truck trailers, motorcycles, power cranes and shovels, heavy motor graders, truck-laying tractors, bicycles and power cycles, commercial electric food equipment, cutlery, industrial power trucks, typewriters, commercial laundry machinery, 35 mm. motion picture equipment, steam and diesel powered locomotives, railroad cars, buses and bus bodies.

WPB said that any production authorized in excess of the "approved" level shall be done under the "spot" authorization plan. This production, the agency said, would be given virtually no priority assistance.

The order said that it will be the general WPB policy to reject revisions of orders now in effect which restrict the number of civilian items which can be made.

President Of Humble Is Presented Plaque

HOUSTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—H. C. Wiess, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, has been presented a plaque describing him as the "major oil company executive who has done the most in 1944 to aid the war effort."

It was presented by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association at a luncheon attended by more than 100 oil operators, representatives of the Texas Railroad commission, Petroleum Administration for War and the Army and Navy.

Maston Nixon of Corpus Christi, association president, praised Wiess for his work in building the Humble company and for his efforts in the preparation of a plan by which the Texas oil industry is contributing to the war effort.

Gasoline Rations To Continue Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (AP) — The Petroleum Administration for War today announced a civilian gasoline allocation calculated to permit a continuance of present consumer rations during the first quarter of 1945.

The allocation is 1,144,000 barrels, a decrease of 29,000 barrels daily from the fourth quarter of 1944. The cut allows for the seasonal decline in the use of automotive gasoline.

Deputy PAW Administrator Ralph K. Davies said the allocation "should not be interpreted as meaning that gasoline is abundant."

"On the contrary," he said, "the position is not a comfortable one because transportation facilities for hauling civilian supplies are barely sufficient to support the program. However, the oil industry and the transportation companies can, by skillful management, attain this objective barring unforeseen accidents or further upward revisions in the military requirements."

The breakdown for various regions for the first three months of 1945 includes:

District 3 (South)—149,000 barrels daily, an increase of 3,000 barrels. This increase is due to larger demands for farm use in the region.

Levelland Soldier Helps Write New Legend Of Jungle Warfare In Pacific; His Patrol Wipes Out Entire Jap Garrison In Battle

WITH THE AMERICAL INFANTRY DIVISION Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific — Pfc. Guy R. Hughes, Route 3, Levelland, Tex., helped write a new legend of jungle warfare when he and other members of a small patrol wiped out an entire Japanese force without the loss of a man.

Striking far into the enemy held part of this jungled island, a reconnaissance squad located an area used by hiding Nipponese forces. They radioed for help. Pfc. Hughes and his platoon were dispatched as reenforcements.

HUGHES

They arrived in time to meet the scouts after the Japanese area had been thoroughly mapped. Hiding in the jungles for a full day, the men laid off a space exactly similar to the enemy camp. They then practiced their attack, with every man carrying out his part as if it were the real thing.

Advanced In A Line

Early the next morning, just before dawn, the little file of men moved into position. They advanced in a line, silently, guiding on the automatic weapons. Every mand had a target, each group was assigned a definite mission. At a signal, all opened fire.

The buildings were riddled. The Americans advanced, halted to straighten their lines, and then advanced again, firing as they went. They moved through the village, blasting everything in sight. Most of the Nipponese were found still wrapped in their blankets. Ambushes along every escape route prevented a single Jap escaping. Quantities of supplies were destroyed.

The lone American casualty was a man bitten by a centipede.

Twenty-three dead Japanese were counted in the area.

Said Pfc. Hughes: "I was the first man they moved into position. I was carrying a BAR. I looked in front of me and saw a Jap raising up about 30 yards ahead, then he leaned down again. I was afraid he had heard us, but he must not have been sure. We then moved to about ten yards from the nearest hut and opened fire. I shot about 190 rounds, spraying the huts. It was about the smoothest attack that will ever be pulled."

Farm Labor Problems To Be Aired By County Leaders Here Monday

Farm labor problems in Lubbock county will be discussed at a meeting Monday in the second floor courtroom of the courthouse here beginning at 10 a. m. and adjourning about 4 p. m., according to Jason O. Gordon, county agricultural agent.

Among out-of-county people to attend will be C. Hohn, state farm labor supervisor; D. A. Adam, Plainview, district farm labor leader; D. D. Steele, state migratory field assistant; Mrs. Pauline Kibbe, executive secretary of the good neighbor commission of Texas, and W. N. Williamson, district agricultural agent.

Farm Leaders Invited

Invitations have been sent to farmers, farm labor leaders and other interested parties of the county, Gordon said. Among farm labor leaders urged to attend are members of the county Agricultural Victory council and the farm labor sub-committee.

The victory council is composed of W. O. Perkins, chairman; Earl Davis, Ray Ferguson, W. B. Copeland, G. K. Horton, S. S. Allcorn, Willie Wilke, C. M. Doyle, C. E. Lilley, George Eklund and H. A. Sullivan.

Members of the farm labor subcommittee are W. O. Rieger, chairman; Mrs. Leo Davis, Cacy Day, Mrs. O. R. Patterson, F. H. Cannon, Mrs. E. W. Smith, E. R. Evans, and Mrs. W. C. Vaughn.

An effort will be made at the meeting to develop plans for a more effective farm program in the county in 1945, Gordon said, and added that it is hoped that all people attending the meeting will participate freely in the discussion.

Although invitations were sent to only 68 persons, anyone interested in the farm labor program is invited to attend, he said.

The following is a partial list of the problems that were experienced by the Farm Labor office in directing migatory labor in 1944:

Lack of understanding of purpose of emergency farm labor program of migrants.

Lack of confidence of migrant in personnel of farm labor office which resulted in leaving an area of work before completing the job, loss of time by going to another area too soon, failure to go to area suggested by field men and loss of much valuable and needed manpower.

Poor standards of living among some Latin-American and Mexican national migrants caused by economic and educational disadvantages, resulting in some cities discriminating against all migratory farm workers because of undesirable habits of some.

Lack of preparation on the part of farmers and communities to provide adequate facilities with which to receive and care for migratory farm workers, such as housing and sanitary facilities in communities and on farms, eating facilities in communities, lack of sufficient water and fuel supplies, lack of recreational and religious facilities and failure to provide suitable parking and camping space in commiunities.

Lack of understanding and appreciation of the migrants' position in our agricultural economy as shown by segregation and signs at public places posted so as to have the effect of discrimination and lack of consideration and understanding on the part of some law enforcement officers.

Transportation and other economic problems have resulted in too large crews which cannot be placed very rapidly.

Solutions to these and many other problems regarding the farm labor program will be sought at Monday's meeting, Gordon said.

Medals Given In Review At LAAF

In an all-post formal review held at Lubbock Army Air field yesterday afternoon the Air Medal and Distinguished Flying Cross were presented to Rupert H. McCasland, a teacher in the Bledsoe school, and an Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters was presnted to Mrs. R. A. Metcalf, 2016 Tenth.

McCasland received the awards for his son, 2nd Lt. Darwin D. McCasland of the 8th Fighter Command, and Mrs. Metcalf accepted the awards for her brother, 1st Lt. Weems D. Jones, an Eighth Air Force bomber pilot. Both pilots are prisoners of war in Germany.

Honors Paid WASPS

Another outstanding feature of the review was the honors paid to the nine WASPs now stationed at LAAF, who will leave the service when the WASPs are deactivated on Dec. 20. The WASP squadron, Mrs. Metcalf, Bledsoe, their military escorts and accompanying parties octupied positions of honor in the reviewing stand as the officers and men of the post passed in review before them. In addition, the WASPs accompanied Col. Howell M. Estes, jr., in trooping the line.

Music was furnished by the South Plains Army Air field band.

In announcing the ceremony honoring the WASPs, Col. Estes said, "I personally am very glad of this opportunity to pay respect to the very outstanding job the WASPs have done for the AAF in this county, and the valuable assistance they have rendered us at this station. Their mission has been to perform for the AAF such flying duties as they are qualified for, thereby releasing male pilots for more essential service. This mission, they have accomplished in a commendable manner. They have proved to be excellent pilots and thoroughly devoted to duty. The Women Airforce, Service Pilots branch is being deactivated, as it has served its purpose during a period when every pilot, both civilian and military, was urgently needed by the armed forces. With the return of experienced combat pilots from overseas, the pilot training program is being revised and the WASP program discontinued. The local ceremony was a farewell gasture made as a part of a Nationwide tribute to the unselfish contribution that has been made by these women pilots."

Those honored were: Anita Bronken, Colfax, Wis.; Nadine Virginia Canfield, Chapman, Kas.; Bonnie Jean Dorsey, Los Angeles; Lucy Gladson, Maplewood, N. J.; Winnie Lee Jones, Ballinger; Merilyn Hughes, Reedley, Calif.; Virginia Krum, Lowell, Mich.; Lela Loudder, Canyon; and Dortha Sexton, Columbus, O.

Citations Are Given

The Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters, presented by Col. Estes to Mrs. Metcalf, were won by her brother for participation in more than ten separate bomber combat missions over continental Europe. The citation accompanying the awards to Lt. Jones is as follows: "For exceptionally meritorious achievement in over ten separate bombing combat missions, and in accomplishing with distinction several aerial missions over enemy-occupied Continental Europe. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this individual in the face of determined opposition materially aided in the successful completion of these missions. His actions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

The Distinguished Flying Cross, awarded to Lt. McCasland and received by his father, carried the following citation: "For exceptional achievement and heroism in aerial combat and the destruction of two enemy airplanes over enemy-occupied Continental Europe. The skillful and zealous manner in which Lieutenant McCasland has sought out the enemy and destroyed him, his devotion to duty, and courage under all conditions serve as an inspiration to his fellow fliers. His actions on all these occasions reflect highest credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

The Air Medal and two Oak Leaf Clusters were awarded to Lt. McCasland for over 20 operational sorties in the same theater. The third Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal was awarded him "for meritorious achievement while piloting a P-25 on an escort mission over Germany, 16 March 1944. A burst of flak directly beneath his plane damaged both wings, riddled the fuselage and horizantal stabilizers, and rendered the trim tabs useless. Though his craft became exceedingly difficult to control, Lt. McCasland skillfully flew it back to his base in England and accomplished a safe landing."

S. K. Witten Returns From Pacific After 20 Months Service

Nip bombings—approximately 50 of them—apparently didn't do anything to S. K. Witten, Coxswain of the Seabees, except build him up from 145 to 160 pounds of tough hombre.

WITTEN

The former paint and paper contractor of 2507 Walnut is back home on 30-day leave expiring Dec. 18, when he will report to the West coast for reassignment. He visited here with his uncle, R. L. Petty of Lubbock route 6 and with his 3½-year-old son, after 20 months in the South Pacific, mostly on Guadalcanal.

He, interrupting his service as presiding officer of the International Order of Oddfellows to get into the armed service, was honored upon his return by a special breakfast at which the following members of the lodge attended: E. E. Terrell, noble grand-elect, N. M. Gosdin, C. E. Woods, M. E. Stone, C. C. Jones, J. W. Chism, Dr. H. H. Bidwell, J. B. Christian, J. F. Richardson, C. L. Brock, Jack Thompson, O. L. Plyer, H. C Boese and Troy Pierce

The lodge had voted him the honored office of past noble grand when he left, in recognition of his services.

Coxswain Witten dismisses his service with: "It's much different where I was from the earlier days there. The Seabees are testimony to the fact that great volumes of heavy equipment to fight this war are moving in to our advanced bases. All the stuff, from blood plasma to bulldozers and airplanes and heavy guns, are designed for one purpose—to kill Japs at a minimum cost to U. S. servicemen."

Witten said his number had not been on anything dropped in his vicinity—"as a matter of fact, our forces have so discouraged the little yellow men that we haven't had any Jap bombings since Oct. 11, 1943." Health conditions have been so improved in the meantime that Witten didn't even contract malarial fever.

"We don't even have to work so hard as we once did in unloading and loading ships," he said.

FDR At Least Partly Committed To Free Government In Poland

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—President Roosevelt's secret Polish policy, on which Prime Minister Winston Churchill is attempting to smoke him out, goes today at least as far as the use of moral force to obtain a free choice of government in Poland at the earliest opportunity.

The gap between Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill appears to relate to the events leading up to the choice of government and the "practical" methods of shaping those events.

Churchill complains gently that Mr. Roosevelt has not made any public announcement of this government's attitude toward what the prime minister endorses as the "practical" realignment of Polish borders on the east and west as desired by Russia.

Polish-Americans Reassured

On Oct. 11, about one month before the presidential election, Mr. Roosevelt told a politically pocans that "Poland must be reconstituted as a great nation" since "it ed as a great nation" since "it is very important that the new Poland be one of the bulwarks of the structure upon which we hope to build a permanent peace."

Polish-American reaction to any American endorsement of the realignment of Polish frontiers probably would be instant and prolonged.

Polish and other problems confronting the anti-Axis leaders apparently will force an early meeting of Churchill, Marshal Josef Stalin and Mr. Roosevelt soon after the latter's inauguration on Jan. 20 for a fourth term.

Political Machinery Suggested

Some persons suggest that one objective of an early meeting should be creation of machinery which would enable future political problems to be disposed of as they develop with less ocasion for the firing of moderately tart or pointed remarks back and forth across the Atlantic.

The United Press was reliably informed some time ago that the administration was of a mind to press for free post-war Polish elections while at the same time acknowledging the special interests of the Soviet union in insisting that friendly relations with her neighbor be on a solid basis.

The administration's commitment to free Polish choice of government was made public and official on Dec. 5 in a statement in which the State department rebuked Great Britain for its interference in the formation of an Italian cabinet. Analysis of that statement may explain why Churchill has had no expression of opinion from the United States on British and Russian agreements and expressions of opinions with respect to Poland.

Italian Policy Reaffirmed

The department's statement said that, "since Italy is an area of combined responsibility, we have reaffirmed to both the British and Italian governments that we expect the Italians to work out their problems of government along democratic lines and without influence form the outside."

But the kicker in the statement, which has special significance in the Polish dispute, was the next sentence, reading as follows:

"This policy would apply to an even more pronounced degree with regard to governments of the United nations in their liberated territories."

Poland Being Liberated

Poland is a United Nations government and its liberation has begun. Whatever public position Mr. Roosevelt may take with respect to the allotment of eastern Poland to the Soviet Union with compensatory allotment of German territory to a newly-delimited Polish state, the administration is on record against influence from the outside. That question could arise any time after the Germans leave. Well informed officials are quick to say that any thought of the use of United States armed force would be absurb. But the suggestion is made that the United States might be able to support its views with friendly and effective persuasion.

The State department's rebuke of British talian policy was a jolt to London. Churchill's pointed invitation to Mr. Roosevelt to take a public position on the Polish question seems to pack equal force. There also was considerable impact in this week's announcement by British Labor Minister Ernest Bevin that Mr. Roosevelt had initialled at the last Quebec conference an agreement with respect to Greece which has been interpreted by the British as justifying, at least to some extent, the minor war now underway between British forces in that country and the leftist ELAS troops.

Methodists Set Amarillo Meet

A general meeting for the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church in the interest of the church's $25,000,000 Crusade for Christ program, will be held at Polk Street Methodist church, Amarillo, Monday, it was announced here last night by Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district Methodist superintendent.

The five-point Crusade for Christ program, outlined and approved at the last quadrennial general conference of the church sets five primary objectives: A new world order, world relief and rehabilitation, increased enrollment and attendance at church school, evangelism, and stewardship. The program extends over four years.

Church Editor To Speak

The day's program at Amarillo, for which three sessions are scheduled—morning, afternoon and night—will be presided over by Bishop Charles C. Selecman, and will feature three addresses by Dr. Roy L. Smith, editor of the Christian Advocate, church paper, of Chicago. Dr. Smith will fly from Chicago Sunday night for the sessions.

All pastors from over the conference, which embraces most of the territory from Putnam, near Abilene, and Midland on the south, through the Panhandle, are expected to attend, Dr. Lipscomb said, and it is anticipated that at least five lay delegates from each charge in the conference also will attend. There are approximately 217 charges in the conference.

Radicals Blamed For Fight On Poll Tax

DALLAS, Dec. 16. (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) asserted today that there are radicals in Congress who, in his opinion, are trying to use the poll tax elimination fight to their own ends.

At a luncheon by Texas women Democrats, honoring State Democratic Chairman Harry L. Seay, Patman said opponents of the poll tax are easterners who hope to bring about the defeat of members of Congress from Texas who have gained positions of honor and authority.

Seay told the audience that in the last Democratic campaign "the women not only outnumbered the men—they outworked them."

Turning to Robert Calvert, floor leader at last September's state Democratic convention, Seay said the Hillsboro man had "saved Texas for the Democratic party."

Seay said a Democratic machine must be built up in Texas so that "if any other set of self-seekers shall try to steal the Democratic party we shall be better prepared."

Sergeant Insists On 'Clean' Farewell For Longtime Pal

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
United Press War Writer

A FRONTLINE EVACUATION HOSPITAL 10 Miles Inside Germany, Dec. 16—This story didn't rate mention in the communiques because no important hill was stormed, not a town was captured, no enemy column was annihilated, no battle was won.

It's just a simple testimonial to the tenderness of an American soldier who tried to erase from his memory the picture of what sudden violent death did for his best friend.

A medical captain at this advanced hospital told me the story, with the stipulation that all names would be left out.

"You will understand why," he said.

Began Three Years Ago

The story began three years ago when a medical staff sergeant and an infantry sergeant, both 23, came into an armored infantry regiment.

Through French Morocco, Sicily, Normandy, northern France, Belgium, Holland and Germany they had been inseparable.

They took their passes together, drank beer together, went to the same bull sessions, shared parcels from home, showed each other pictures of their mothers, sweethearts and "that little French gal in Oran."

In combat they sort of looked out for one another. The medic always inquired from other boys in the company where his friend's squad had gone into action. And the sergeant always made certain that the medic approached the wounded by way of the best "covered" routes.

In a mopping-up operation in Merzenhausen, Germany, on December 1, the sergeant's squad, which had been following some tanks, was part of a group that took shelter in a brick building to avoid heavy shelling and mortar fire.

Then a terrific explosion blew out the side of a booby-trapped house. The tank platoon commander radioed immediately for medics.

Despite heavy, continuous mortar and artillery fire on the town, the medical sergeant and a half dozen stretcher bearers went forward. They recovered from the debris the bodies of six dead and brought back 15 wounded.

From the wounded the medical sergeant learned that the other sergeant had been among those who entered the building. Still hopeful, he pleaded with his captain for permission to go back alone to search.

"He's beyond help," the captain told him.

"I know," the medic replied, "But I want to make sure."

Hours later he found the broken body of his friend under a pile of rubble 20 yards away. With the aid of another soldier he tenderly brought the body back to an empty room at the shell-ripped house that served as an aid station.

There he wiped away the blood, set the broken bones and dressed the dead sergeant in one of his own clean uniforms. He even combed and brushed his hair.

Then he picked up a field telephone.

"There's a dead soldier at the dispensary," he told the captain. "He always lived clean. I always want to remember him peaceful and quietly at rest."

Labor Is Needed For Texas Textile Mills

DALLAS, Dec. 16. (U.P.)—Texas textile mills at Dallas, McKinney and Waco can run three-shift capacity production as soon as sufficient labor is available, Bryan Miller, assistant manager, said today.

Miller, whose statement came as Army service forces sought to relieve a 40 per cent shortage in textile needed immediately at the front, said 800 additional workers would be needed to put the three plants on a 24-hour, seven-day-week schedule.

Interstate Oil Group Names New Officers, Smooths Controversy

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 16 (AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact commission today adjourned the winter quarterly meeting after electing Governor Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas chairman for the third consecutive year. J. C. Hunter of Abilene, Tex., was reelected first vice chairman and Warwick M. Downing of Denver, Colo., was named second vice chairman.

Official representatives to the commission from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana were named to the executive committee. They are Governors Kerr and Schoeppel, Hunter, Hiram W. Dow of New Mexico, and former Governor Sam H. Jones of Louisiana. Louisiana formerly was represented by Joseph L. McHugh.

Next Meeting Pending

Governor Schoeppel said he will announce at a later date in what state the next compact meeting will be held.

No outstanding resolutions were adopted.

Aftermath of the war will bring the "urgent need" for greater discoveries of new oil and for careful management of many war-depleted fields, William R. Byrd, jr., told the meeting.

Byrd, chairman of the Petroleum Industry War council, and president of American Petroleum institute, said that many members of the IOCC, "knowing full well that your petroleum future would be impaired thereby," have been forced by demands of war "to tolerate and even order the production of petroleum at excessive and wasteful rates from some of your best fields."

Demands Greatly Up

The American oil industry, he added, is supplying 73 percent of the total world petroleum production, while the United States military demands for gasoline have reached 34,000,000 gallons daily in 1944—an increase of 433 percent in the three years since Pearl Harbor. He said that the combined military and civilian demand is 84,000,000 gallons daily.

Crude oil production increased 20 percent since 1941, and 18 percent more crude oil was run to refineries than in 1943, he disclosed.

The commission settled down to regular business at the final session today after settling a controversial issue which brought a warning from Louisiana that the state might withdraw from the commission if certain action was taken.

Former Governor Sam Jones, representing Louisiana, said his state was under legislative mandate opposing federal contro' of sale and distribution of natural gas as suggested in a resolution by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

Jones said that under the mandate his state would be forced to withdraw from the 13-state commission should the group favor the Texas association's resolution.

The controversy was settled when Governor Schoeppel and Hunter explained that no state holding membership in the compact was bound by any suggestion or recommendation that the commission might propose.

Hunter pointed out that the reports to th commission by Wallace Hawkins, Dallas, chairman of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, and Theo F. Morgan of Kansas, were "informal and personal reports," and said that it was not the commission's policy to "adopt, approve or reject" committee reports of the various trade associations.

Christmas Mail Here Handled 'With Ease'

Nearing the end of the biggest year in the history of the Lubbock post office, the handling of the Christmas mailing rush here has been with ease, Postmaster Amos H. Howard said Saturday.

No congestion has been evidenced at any time, he said, thanks to the fast-working trained personnel who are handling the bulk of Christmas mailing, and no congestion is expected between now and Saturday night, Howard said.

When figures are checked at the close of this month he expects to report postal receipts far in excess of $400,000, estimating the total would reach $440,000, almost $100,000 more than receipts in 1943 which was a record year.

The local office has been handicapped by lack of personnel, the same as most other businesses, and Howard had high praise for his personnel for their work in this banner year, particularly in handling Christmas mail. He added that the post office would be open at regular hours this week, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., and would not keep open later, due to limited personnel.

Three Lubbock State Guardsmen Promoted

Three Lubbock members of the 39th Battalion, Texas State Guard, were approved for promotions this week and will receive official commissions, signed by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, commander - in - chief, TSG, it was announced by Adj. Gen. Arthur B. Knickerbocker.

First Lt. William Paul Willis, promoted to the grade of captain, was assigned to duty as supply and transportation officer of the commanding service detachment. Second Lt. Joseph E. Pattilo, assigned to duty as assistant supply and transportation officer of the service detachment, was promoted to first lieutenant.

First Sgt. Orville D. Click was appointed to the grade of second lieutenant and assigned to duty with Co. A.

Tech C. Of C. To Issue Information Bulletins

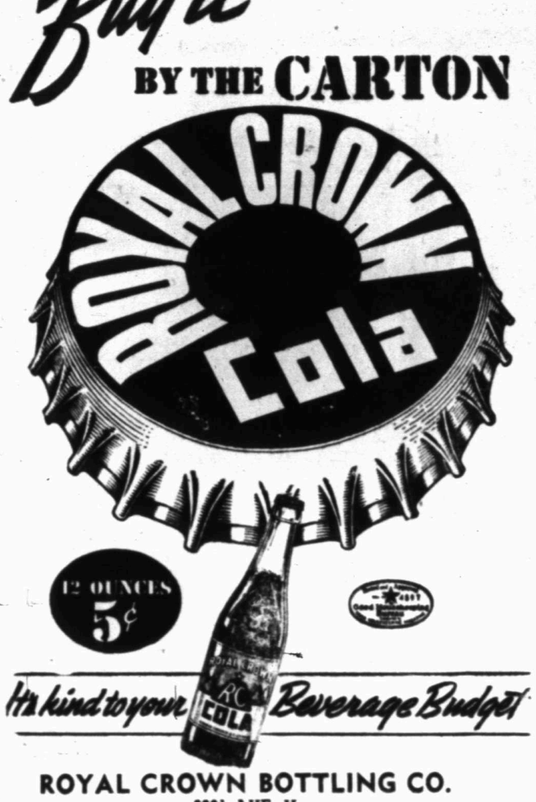

First in a series of steps to promote territorial publicity concerning Texas Tech will be taken by the Texas Tech chamber of commerce at 1 p. m. Tuesday when they issue bulletins of college information to all dormitory residents, it was announced by P. Le Payne, president of the organization and senior commerce student.

In this publicity drive, individuals and civic organizations will be contacted for the purpose of boosting Tech. Information provided students is to acquaint them with divisions other than ones they are enrolled in.

Payne said every effort will be made during the holidays to make surrounding towns conscious of Tech and its progress.

TO ALL MONTGOMERY WARD PEOPLE

1 The reason given for the strike in Wards four Detroit stores is that Wards has refused to comply with an order of the National War Labor Board. This order seeks to impose upon Wards a closed shop in the form of maintenance of membership together with the check off of union dues from wages.

2 The court of appeals of the District of Columbia has held that orders of the War Labor Board are merely "advice" which no one has any legal duty to obey. The court held that anyone who refuses to comply with orders of the War Labor Board is not defying a command of the Government and that since the orders are merely advisory, no government official has the right to impose punishments of those who do not comply. The Supreme Court has refused to alter this decision.

3 Wards has refused to agree to any form of closed shop, or compulsory union membership. The closed shop, including maintenance of membership, violates the American principles of Liberty and freedom. Liberty requires that every employee be free to join, refuse to join, or resign from a union without losing his job. Liberty requires that Wards be free to employ workers, and to continue to employ them, on a basis of merit . . . union members and non-members alike.

4 Each employee at Wards is free to join or not to join a union, as he wishes. Wards fully recognizes this privilege and assures all employees that their opportunity with the company will be the same whether they are union members or not.

Germans See Nothing But Defeat As Christmas Season Draws Near

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

There is no rift in the war clouds gathering over Nazi Germany as the Christmas season draws near.

Look where they would, the people of the beseiged Reich could see nothing but portents of coming defeat in the battlefront news. Only in the intra-Allied policy and political discords could they find a ray of hope that the blood - bath resistance their Nazi masters have decreed for them might conceivably win for them something less than unconditional surrender.

SIMPSON

That hope probably is as illusory as the reliance Nazis placed in robot bombs to turn the tide of defeat. Whatever the divergence of views between London, Moscow and Washington as to ad interim treatment of liberated or half-liberated nations in Europe or as to post war European boundaries or peace plans, big three unity in military action against the common foe still is the dominating factor on European battle fronts.

Apparent In Events

That was apparent in the events that have brought elements of six Allied armies in the west on to German soil from the Karlsruhe corner on the central Rhine to the Arnheim gateway in Holland. It was clearly demonstrated, too, in the Russian sweep through Hungary to clutch closely at doomed Budapest and threaten Vienna.

Implicit in the tangled and troublesome situation in Greece which has brought the Churchill war ministry under fire and British troops of liberation into armed conflict with Greek factionists are circumstances which set it apart from the Anglo-American rift over Italian political developments. Liberated Italy below the Allied-Nazi battle-line is a military zone of action only in the sense that Allied supply lines far behind the front run through it.

ODT Issues Warning On Christmas Travel

Warning that Christmas travel will be difficult and beset with trouble was given Saturday by N. F. Nelson, manager of the district Office of Defense Transportation.

From his Lubbock office the ODT official also pointed out that transportation of troops and war equipment and holiday furlough trips of service men will be made more difficult by crowding of trains, buses and terminals.

The ODT also repeated warnings that travel to southern winter resorts may strand many persons away from home. Although the situation is most critical in Florida, it was pointed out that all Gulf points are crowded and that special equipment will NOT be available this year to haul tourists back home.

The government agency continues its efforts to get organizations to forego holding conventions unless they are helpful in the prosecution of the war. Cities have been asked to emulate San Francisco in advertising to residents of other parts of the country to stay away until after the war.

Professor Says Texas Must Build Shipping

AUSTIN, Dec. 16. (U.P.)—Texas must build up her Gulf shipping lines if she expects to compete with Eastern ports for trade with Mexico and Central America after the war, Eastin Nelson, assistant professor of Latin-American economies at the University of Texas, said today.

"Although Texas' limited industrial development will restrain her sending bulk exports to Latin America, her favorable location near Mexico and Central America invites distributor company expansion in exporting to Latin America," Nelson said.

J. D. Riddle To Take New Post

J. D. Riddle, two years educational director of the First Baptist church of Lubbock will assume duties as secretary-director of the newly-created Church Music department for the Baptist General convention of Texas, Jan. 1.

Headquarters for the department will be in the Baptist building in Dallas. Riddle will be in the office approximately 1/3 of the time and spend the remainder of the time in the state territory, which is composed of 3,100 Baptist churches, emphasizing and promoting music in Baptist colleges.

Southwestern Seminary is the only denominational college working extensively with this church music program and it is hoped other colleges will begin teaching these courses. Riddle will visit schools and outline programs for them, conduct music institutes, church music festivals, encampments, and help educate students of Baptist state colleges to use a good type of church music.

Has Broad Experience

Riddle was three years director of music and work of the young people of the Amarillo First Baptist church, served two and one-half years in the Fort Worth College Avenue church as director of music education. Eight years he was director of music education at the Abilene First Baptist church, was teacher of voice and theory in Montezuma Baptist college, N. M., an approved worker for two years in the Baptist Sunday school department, and was graduated with a BA degree from the Seminary and Montezuma college.

This is the fourth time the general convention has appointed a state leader from the Lubbock church. Dr. W. R. White, and Dr. R. C. Campbell, former pastors, were appointed executive secretaries in 1929 and 1936 respectively. R. A. Springer, former educational director, was appointed treasurer and brotherhood secretary in 1937.

State Checks Will Be Delayed This Season

AUSTIN, Dec. 16. (U.P.)—State employes will not receive their usual before Christmas paychecks from the state treasury this year.

A state auditing committee put a stop to issuance of pay before the end of the month after discovering last summer that it was illegal practice of many department heads to certify payrolls before end of the month.

No exception can be made for the December payroll, Comptroller's Chief Clerk Bob Calvert said today. "If it is the law in August, it is the law in December. Sorry."

The Sports Eye

By Mack Turner

AS FAR as this part of West Texas is concerned, the football season is over, and the final whistle has been blown on a great year of ups and downs, that has found the old Sports Eye more down than up.

But all the way around, the season has been a success, and we only hope that the basketball season turns out to be just as big a success for us.

Although the All-District 1-AA team is not quite ready for the announcement, we have most of the votes counted. We refuse to pick a All-District team of our own, largely for the reason that we did not see all of the teams in action, namely the Amarillo Golden Sandies.

Since the Sandies were champions of the district, it is only right to believe that they have a few of the best players in the league. But what we want to pick today is OUR All-West Texas team, picked from the players we SAW in action.

(We make this explanation so our friend Putt Powell in Amarillo won't make remarks about the absence of Sandies from this team.)

To begin with, we want to say that there are a number of good boys over the area who will not be named on our team, even though we watched them in action. There have been too many good lads.

THERE would be no better a place to start picking this All-West Texas team than over in Littlefield where that combination of Billy Lyman to Homer Peel would take care of two places on the first team, and would leave the coach no worry about quarterback and left end.

We might also add that our greatest pleasure this season has been watching this pair in two ball games of the season.

We don't know a better man to play alongside of Lyman than this youngster from down Merkel way—Billy Wayne Frazier. Even with a bad shoulder that hampers his play, Billy Wayne is one of the smoothiest running backs we have looked at since the days of Dick Todd, Tolly McKown and Burns McKinney, and Frazier looks more like these three than any we have ever watched, and completes our Four Horsemen of all time.

The only time we saw this lad George Graham play from down San Angelo way, he was pretty well bottled up by a Lubbock line that played bang up ball all the way. But we saw enough of Graham to put him at the fullback alot on our All-West Texas team.

There has been a lot of good backs paraded before us this season to contest for that other backfield post, but from the lot we will give the nod to Plainview's Jack Weldon, who is perhaps one of the best blocking backs we have seen, and also a good ball carrier and pass receiver.

THE backfield wouldn't be complete without three specialty artists that we want to include with the team for spot plays. Johnny Davis of Lubbock is about the best punter we know of in these parts, and also a pretty good all around player. Jack Williams of Plainview is still tops with us as a passer, but Lyman is crowding him pretty badly.

The lad who has been unsung this season, yet has been one of the top players in the District 1-AA race is Johnny Cole. Cole is a pretty good blocker, never carries the ball, and for this reason has been overlooked as one of the greatest defensive backfield stars to ever show up in these parts.

WE HAVE seen a lot of good linemen this year, but there have been three of them who have stood out before the wandering gaze of the Sports Eye. We will take those three boys for the center section of our line.

Charles Pressley at center and Johnny Pearson at guard for the Lubbock Westerners have been as good as any we have seen. The closest thing to them has been Jimmie Terrell that tackling master from the Pampa Harvesters. Put those three lads in the center of your line, and it would take nothing short of Walter Schlinkman to get through them.

We haven't seen any tackles this season who would be any better than R. W. Moyers of Lubbock and A. L. Hodge of Tahoka. We didn't see so much of Moyers at tackle, for he only played that position a short time at the end of the season, but we saw plenty of it then.

That leaves another end position to be cared for, and we can't think of an end we had rather have around than Jim Groom from down Denver City way, and along with Peel, we would have some ends it would be hard to beat anywhere.

A quick peep at the second team would be in order. At ends would be Benefield of Lubbock and Fischer of Plainview; tackles would be Hendrickson of Littlefield and O. C. Foster of Lubbock; guards would be Gene Pratt of Littlefield and Gene Streety of Denver City; center would be Callan of San Angelo; backs would be J. A. Chambliss of Brownfield, Merle McCracken of Pampa, Jimmy Terrell of Denver City and LaVaughn Caraway of Tahoka.

I'll be seeing you.

San Angelo Cops Amarillo Thriller

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 16. (AP)—The San Angelo High school Bobcats staved off late rallies, that is, some of them, by the Amarillo Sandies here this afternoon in Texas Interscholastic league quarter-final football combat and won, 20 to 13.

As result the defending state champions advanced to semi-final round with Highland Park (Dallas) in Highland Park next weekend.

The sorely crippled San Angelo team took to the air to offset a bristling and hustling attack by the Panhandle contingent with Vernie Horner and Wingback Max Box making sensational catches of passes by quarterbacks Duwain Dodson and Barney Johnson.

Passing Brings Scores

Aerial pyrotechnics, some of which backfield, accounted for all the game's touchdowns.

The defending champions scored first early in the second quarter on a pass, Dodson to Horner, in the end zone. Horner made a spectacular catch. It was a 17-yard play.

Amarillo evened it up in the third, Richard Mixon passing from the Bobcat 36 to Houston who took the ball on the three and spun across.

The Cats broke the tie shortly before the third period closed, moving from their own 20 on passes, Dodson to Horner, and on two passes from Johnson to Box.

The defending champs ran it up to 20 to 7 early in the fourth on overhead shots, Dodson to Horner, who lateraled to Box, and Johnson to Horner in the end zone.

Shortly thereafter the Bobcats were on the Sandie 12, second down and two yards to go. Johnson tossed a flat zone pass that Maurice Essary of Amarillo intercepted on his seven and Essary raced down the east sideline 93 yards to the other Sandie touchdown.

Amarillo in the fourth quarter lost a touchdown on a penalty. Mixon pitched a pass to Paul Miller who broke into the clear and raced over the goal line, but the Sandies were offside, penalized five yards and the play was called back.

As the game ended Amarillo was on the Bobcat 10, first down and goal to go.

Both teams fumbled frequently. An Amarillo fumble recovered by Guard Hunter Strain on the Sandie 20 set up the first Bobcat touchdown. The Bobcats in turn fumbled time and again and twice inside their own 20 but on these occasions successfully blockaded the goal line and took over on downs.

San Angelo made 15 first downs to 10 for Amarillo, gained 182 yards on the ground while Amarillo's rushing total was 167 yards. The Cats completed six passes for 171 yards and Amarillo five for 99.

Ramblers Nose Past Superbombers, 13-6

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. (AP) — The Randolph Field Ramblers, playing their football in installments and flirting with trouble too often for their own good, squeezed through with a 13-6 victory over the Second Air Force Superbombers in a treasury bond bowl game at the Polo Grounds today to end their season undefeated and untied.

A sparse crowd of 8,356 saw the two air force rivals in a bitter battle on a slick field, with the first half of the game being played under a salting of snowflakes. Despite the disappointing attendance, however, the game realized approximately $79,000,000 in war bonds, due to the sale of blocks of bonds to large investors.

The underdog Superbombers practically stole the show and had the profitless satisfaction of winning the statistics by a wide margin and the solace that the clock at the end of the first half was all that stopped them from what seemed a certain score.

The publicized duel between the Ramblers' Bill Dudley and the Second Air Force's Glenn Dobbs failed to materialize. Although both failed to materialize. Although both stars scintillated on occasion, the scoring marches were linked together with little help from these two men. In fact, Dobbs was not in the game when the Superbombers drove 66 yards for their lone touchdown.

Porker Giant Leads Arkansas To Victory

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—With six-foot, ten-inch George Kok pouring in 25 points, the University of Arkansas pulled away in the last half to defeat City college 59 to 47 in the nightcap of a basketball double-header at Madison Square Garden tonight after Muhlenberg had trimmed St. Francis 56 to 18 for its seventh straight triumph.

Kok started finding the range late in the first half and led the attack in the early minutes of the final period as the Razorbacks pulled away to a 43-26 margin with less than ten minutes played. City college closed in but Ocie Richie paced the next Arkansas drive and the lead was widened again to 17 points at the 10-minute mark.

The Southwest conference five was deadly from the free throw line, dropping in 13 out of 14 fouls attempts. Harold Korovin, who played opposite Kok, was the leading scorer for the losers with 17 tallies.

Highland Park Blasts Sunset

DALLAS, Dec. 16 (AP) — Highland Park's Golden Avalanche, spearheaded by versatile Doak Walker, bounced Sunset out of the state schoolboy football race 20-0 today to advance to the semi-finals against San Angelo.

The slender Walker turned in his greatest game of the year as he passed and ran the burly Bisons into the sod before a crowd of 17,000. He scored two touchdowns, passed for another and kicked two extra points.

Highland Park limited Sunset to 25 yards both on the ground and in the air while the Avalanche rolled up 220. Only once did the Bisons get inside the Highlander 20-yard line and that came as the result of a fumble. In fact, Sunset reached Highland Park territory only three times and all came from Avalanche fumbles.

It was late in the game before Sunset was able to make a first down—its only one. Highland Park got 13.

Highland Park scored midway of the first period after an intercepted pass had put Sunset in a hole. The Bisons kicked out to their 46 and from there the Scotties paraded to a touchdown with Walker doing most of the work. From the 15-yard line Walker passed to Bill Elliott who fell on the Sunset two, then Walker rapped right guard for the score. He missed the conversion.

The second Highlander score was on a pass from Walker to giant Harold Clark that gained 48 yards. Walker added the point.

Walker intercepted a Sunset pass to set up the final Highlander counter, taking the throw and running to his 48-yard line. He passed to Bill Moxley for a first down on the 35, then to Jimmy Flowers for nine. Walker rapped right tackle for a first down on the 24. Next Walker fumbled in a try at the line but Bobby Duke recovered for Highland Park on the 15. Walker then pitched to Clark for eight and a first down. In two tries Walker went over for the score and kicked the extra point.

In the third period Walker missed a field goal from the Sunset 20.

Sunset got down to the Highland Park five-yard line late in the game but four tries lost two yards.

Abernathy, New Deal Capture Cage Honors

Abernathy's boys and the hostess New Deal girls captured the top honors in the annual pre-Christmas cage tournament at the New Deal High school gym Saturday night as Abernathy defeated Idalou in the finals and New Deal won over Cooper.

Abernathy moved into the finals by nosing out the Plainview Bulldogs, 23 to 19, then went on to annex the crown by drubbing Idalou by a more comfortable margin in the finals, 32 to 22.

Plainview, which had beaten Idalou earlier in the tournament, went on to win second honors by beating New Deal 33 to 21 in the remaining boys game on the card, shoving Idalou back to third place honors.

In the girls semi-finals, Cooper defeated Petersburg 29 to 10 in the battle of favorites. In the other semi-final game, New Deal defeated Idalou, 20 to 9, to reach the finals.

Idalou won third place in girls play by nosing out Petersburg, 19-14, in the night's curtain raiser, New Deal then captured the top honors by beating the favored Cooper girls, 25 to 20.

Dutch Meyer Pleased With Teams Drills

FORT WORTH, Dec. 16. (AP) — Although he lost one reserve halfback, Wayne Roberts, who suffered a broken leg, Coach Dutch Meyer announced today that he believes the week of preliminary practice will make his TCU football team much stronger for the Cotton Bowl game with Oklahoma A and M.

"I think we have improved our reserve strength a good deal by the special attention given all of this week to boys who did not get to play a great deal during the regular season," Meyer said. "The help given by Abe Martin and Luther Scarbrough, TCU exletter-men who are now coaching in Fort Worth high schools and now volunteered their services, has been invaluable. They have given the boys instruction that our short-handed coaching staff could never have done."

Only the reserves were required to take part in the practices. A great deal of attention was put on blocking and tackling.

All of the squad members will drill next week until Saturday when they will be turned loose for three and a half days.

Offsetting the loss of Roberts, a Navy trainee who entered school in November, may be the return to action of Monroe Harrellson, a back who suffred a cracked leg November 1.

Approximately 2,200 people in the United States died from accidental gas poisoning in 1943.

WINGED COMMANDO CAGERS—Five starters from South Plains Army Air Field's red-hot basketball team from last season will again be hoopin' the points through for the glider school this year. The five sharpshooters pictured here are: Upper left, Maj. John Kline of Ohio university who was runner-up at forward for high-point honors last season; upper center, Cpl. Douglas Wakeland of Waxahachie who plays a lot of center for the Commandos; upper right, S/Sgt. Leason "Stormy" McCloud, All-American forward from Colorado university who was high-point man last year; lower left, S/Sgt. Ed Kalfain, guard from San Francisco university and Randolph Field; and lower right, Sgt. Bob Edwards of Monahans, the other guard. The Commandos opened Thursday night, in Austin with the University of Texas Longhorns, losing the game by one point in the final seconds.

Red Raiders Win Over TCU, 41-36

FORT WORTH, Dec. 16. (Special)—Staging a thrilling last half scoring spree, Texas Tech's Red Raiders surged to a 41-36 triumph over the Texas Christian Horned Frogs Saturday night at the Frog's fieldhouse to even the two game series, and close the Red Raider's four day road trip.

The Frogs won the opener Friday night, 45-28.

Both clubs did more offensive than defensive play in the first half with Gene Schmidt and Leroy Pasco scoring freely for the Frogs, while Don Grove and Jiggs Jackson did the honors for the Red Raiders.

The lead was exchanged several times throughout the half and the Frogs came off the floor at halftime holding a 22-20 margin.

With Coach Hub McQuillan mixing up his Frog lineup early in the second half, the Red Raiders' high geared offense began to clock, and began to whittle down the Frogs lead, gained through an early period scoring spree by the Frogs.

With only five minutes remaining in the tilt, the Red Raiders roared to a one point lead.

Playing cautiously toward the end of the game, the Raiders made their own breaks and two last minute field goals by Grove and Ernest Hawkins iced the game for the Lubbock aggregation.

It was the Frog's fifth setback in seven starts, and the season's first win for the Red Raiders. Gene Hardey and Grove tied for individual scoring honors with 12 each, while Schmidt and Pasco paced the Frogs with 10 points each.

Coach Dell Morgan will take his Texas Tech Red Raiders to Austin on Oct. 6 to play the Texas Longhorns of Coach Dana X. Bible, it was announced Saturday afternoon in joint statements from Bible and Morley Jennings, athletic director at Texas Tech.

The addition of the always powerful University of Texas eleven to the Red Raider schedule will give the Lubbock team five games with Southwest Conference foes this season.

Rice, Texas Christian and the Texas Aggies have been added to the schedule again this year, and Baylor university has replaced Southern Methodist on the schedule.

Baylor's Golden Bears will play in Lubbock on Oct. 20, Morley Jennings announced.

Jennings also announced that the two powerful Oklahoma schools, Coach Henry Frnka's bowl playing Tulsa Golden Hurricanes and this year's Cotton Bowl team, Oklahoma A. & M. Cowboys, would be back on the Tech schedule again.

Jennings also announced that the Tulsa eleven would be on the Tech home schedule, but the date was not announced.

The Owls led at halftime 22-6, but found a new-spirited McCloskey team facing them in the second half and had to battle hard to stop the Macs sudden scoring drive.

Henry led the Owl scoring with 15 points, making four field goals and seven free throws. Roach held second with 10 points.

Business In Texas To Set Pace For Nation

DALLAS, Dec. 16. (AP) — Business in Texas during the first six months of 1945 will set the pace for the rest of the nation, Leonard Spangenberg, vice president of Babson's statistical organization, told a group of clients here yesterday.

Payrolls, employment and volume of consumer spending will show an increase throughout Texas, he said, in direct contrast to a general business decline over the country.

Texas as a whole appears to be in an enviable position to meet the future with every reason to expect further industrial expansion and growth than that brought on by the war, Spangenberg said.

MEXICO U. READY

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 16. (AP) — Representatives of the University of Mexico have tentatively accepted an invitation for the university's unbeaten football team to meet Southwestern university of Georgetown, Tex., in the Sun Bowl on New Year's day.

GREAT LAKES WINS

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — The Great Lakes Naval basketball team opened a two-day invasion of Minnesota tonight with a 46-42 victory over Minnesota. The Sailors play St. Thomas college Sunday at St. Paul.

SPAAF To Face Test This Week

Lubbock basketball fans will have an opportunity this week to compare the cage teams of South Plains and Lubbock Army Air Fields — Tuesday by comparative scores as SPAAF plays Big Spring Army Air Field which LAAF already has defeated, and Friday when SPAAF and LAAF meet for the first time this season.

SPAAF has played one game so far; the Winged Commandos lost to the Texas university Longhorns in the last 15 seconds of play 51 to 50 at Austin Thursday night.

LAAF, however, is undefeated and has taken the measure of Texas Tech, West Texas State, Dalhart AAF, Midland AAF and Big Spring without any trouble.

LAAF beat the Big Spring team which SPAAF faces Tuesday night at Big Spring by the seore of 43 to 33 Friday night.

The SPAAF-LAAF game is expected to be one of the best of the year here. An unusual twist to the game will be the rivalry between SPAAF's All-American Leason McCloud and his brother, Billy McCloud of LAAF. The LAAF McCloud was an all-state cager in Kansas and has been outstanding on the Flier quintet.

Roy Cox, captain of the Texas basketball team last year, is playing for SPAAF this year and saw quite a bit of action against his old teammates. McCloud was high point man for the Commandos against Texas with 14 points.

The LAAF game Friday night will be the Commandos first appearance in this neck of the woods and a large contingent of SPAAF fans is expected to make the crosstown trek to see their team in action for the first time in the LAAF Recreation hall.

Hunters May Lose Ammunition Ration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (AP)—Hunters may lose their ammunition rations again.

The War Production Board is taking steps to conserve civilian supplies since most of the small arms ammunition is required to meet a shortage in military needs, particularly in the assault against Germany.

Manufacturers meet today with WPB and military officials to try to determine the quantities of shotgun shells and rifle bullets which can be produced next year for hunters, farmers and law-enforcement officers.

Already WPB has ordered civilian ammunition shipments halted at factories. It was stated that hunters probably will lose their rations, equal since last August to those of farmers.

Waco AAF Beats SMU To Remain Unbeaten

WACO, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Waco Army Air field defeated Southern Methodist university here tonight 60-45, to remain undefeated and to win their third Southwest conference victory in a week.

Although the taller Mustangs held the lead often in the first half and threatened until the final minutes, the air field Wolves' speed and experience was too much for them.

Vide Kriste led the scoring with 19 points, followed by Hoot Evers, WAAF, and Dennis Haden, SMU, 14.

Score at halftime was 27-23 in favor of WAAF.

Rugged Seahawks Roll Over Sooners

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 16 (AP) — The tall, rugged Iowa Seahawks rolled smoothly over Oklahoma university of the Big Six 52 to 40 tonight in a basketball tussle in Kansas City's Municipal auditorium.

Led by T. S. Ary, former South Carolina U. forward, and Joe Holland, who accounted for 35 points, between them, the Navy boys had too much height and class for the hard-working Sooners.

IRISH BEST BADGERS

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 16 (AP) — Notre Dame's aggregation of cage opportunists made it four straight victories and broke up Wisconsin's own two-game win streak tonight by beating the Badgers, 57 to 46.

Lufkin's Passes Smothers Waco

Austin Beaten By Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 16. (AP)—Port Arthur's Yellow-Jackets struck quickly for touchdowns in the third and fourth periods here today to come from behind and defeat the Austin Maroons, 13-7, advancing into the semifinals of the state playoffs.

Port Arthur's next opponents will be the colorful Lufkin Panther, who mauled Waco today. Port Arthur and Lufkin officials will meet Sunday at Woodville to make all plans for the game. Early in the season, Lufkin whipped Port Arthur, 20-6, in a game here.

Austin Scores First

Their first threat repulsed on the Port Arthur 21 yard line in the second period, the Maroons came right back as Bobby Wiswell intercepted a pass and carried to the Port Arthur nine. The Jackets shoved the Maroons back to the 30 but from the 25 yard line, Wilton Davis passed to Sonny Wyatt in the end zone for the first score. Billy Drey converted, and Austin was in front, 7-0, at the half.

But early in the third, Port Arthur got back into the thick of the battle, going 84 yards in two plays, with Ike Neumann ramming for 24, and Don Campbell running through the middle for sixty and a touchdown. Neumann's kick for point was blocked and the score was 7-6 for Austin.

Thrower Pulls Fake

Early in the fourth quarter, the Jackets were on Austin's 41. It was fourth down with one yard to go.

Tommy Thrower, back in punt formation, walked forward as if to check signals, got down in position.

But Thrower received the ball from center, spun around and circled the Austin left end to go streaking down the sidelines 41 yards for a touchdown.

This time, Neuman split the uprights to make the score 13-7.

Austin led in first down 7-5 and in passing with 99 yards to none for Port Arthur. The Yellow-Jackets were ahead in rushing with 198 yards to 12.

Sam Snead In Front In Richmond Tourney

RICHMOND, Calif., Dec. 16. (AP) Slammin' Sam Snead, the home run hitter of the golfing world, kept up his sub-par golf today to lead the 72-hole Richmond Open tournament with a 54-hole total of 208.

One of the tournament choices and making a comeback after 26 months of Navy service, Snead's 69 for the third round was overshadowed by better individual performances but he held what the rest were after, the role of pace setter.

The Hot Springs, Va., long hitter led Charles Congdon, Tacoma, Wash., by a single stroke, the latter moving up with a nifty 67 for a 209. Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, followed with a 210 and Leonard Ott, Denver, was fourth with 211.

An even dozen contestants came in with scores below standard requirements. Besides McSpaden and Ott with their near bottom figures, and Congdon's 35-32 which gave him temporary leadership among the early finishers, there were three in the 68 brackets. John Geertsen, Salt Lake City, put together 33-35 for his total 215; Denny Shute, Akron, O., had 34-34 for 217 and Mike De Massey, San Jose, Calif., coupled 35-33 for 222.

The most important blow-up was charged to Jimmy Walkup, jr., of San Antonio, who teed off tied with Snead at 139. Walkup faltered under pressure to take a 36-37—73, dropping him to a four way tie for fifth place at 212 with Nelson; Ky Lafoon, Chicago, and Bruce Coltart, New Jersey entry.

Denver To Replace Texas In Tournament

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 16. (AP)—Denver university accepted an invitation today to the ninth annual All-College basketball tournament here Dec. 27 to 29, filling a gap created when Texas university announced it could not compete.

Texas' decision came after Navy trainees of the team voted to take their Christmas holiday leaves at their homes instead of playing here. The field includes Oklahoma, Oklahoma Aggies, Arkansas, Rice Institute, Baylor university, West Texas State Teachers and Texas Tech.

Two Ramblers Sign With Detroit Lions

DETROIT, Dec. 16. (AP) — The Detroit Lions today announced that Halfback Bob Cifers and Fullback Elmer (Tippy) Madarik of the Randolph Field football team had been signed to pro grid contracts and would report to the Detroit National League club following completion of military service in the Army Air Force.

Cifers played college ball in 1941 and 1942 at the University of Tennessee, and Madarik was a star at the University of Detroit at the same time.

WACO, Dec. 16. (AP)—Harmon Carswell, Lufkin's mighty passer, flipped three for touchdowns today as the purple-jerseyed East Texans humbled Waco's previously undefeated Tigers 33-6.

The Panthers outplayed the Waco lads in every department, the Lufkin line shoving the Tigers forward wall back on its heels and the protection afforded the Panther passer was excellent.

The Panthers scored the first time they got possession of the ball. Taking a Waco fumble on their nine, the Panthers rolled along easily with Carswell's passes carrying to the Tiger six where H. J. Shands drove through center for the score. Carswell kicked the extra point.

That concluded the scoring for the first period—a period that saw the Panthers consistently on the offense.

Shortly after the second quarter opened, Carswell drove through the center of the line for six yards and a touchdown but failed to convert. He had moved the ball into scoring position with a series of passes originating on the Waco 45.

The Panthers blocked a Tiger punt on the Waco four-yard line near the end of the first half and Carswell whipped a pass, to Shands, who was in the open, for a touchdown. Carswell then kicked the extra point.

Lufkin started on its way to the next touchdown by recovering a Waco fumble on the Panther 32. Carswell passed three times and the ball was on the Waco three, then he leaped over center for the score. His try for point was good.

Lufkin's final score came in the fourth quarter when Carswell fired a 30-yard pass to Leroy Ivy and the latter stepped across the goal line. Carswell converted.

Waco's score came in the closing minutes of the fourth period after Lufkin's second stringers had gone in. Clifford Lindloff drove over from the one-yard line after the Tigers had blocked a Lufkin kick on the Pather 20-yard line. Lindloff missed the conversion.

Meadow, O'Donnell Victors At Tahoka

TAHOKA, Dec. 16. (Special)—Tournament favorites, the O'Donnell boys and Meadow girls, ruled as kings and queens of the pre-Christmas cage tournament at the Tahoka High school invitation meet tonight after both teams had waded through tough battles to win the crowns.

Both teams found the toughest tests in the semi-finals, and in the case of the boys, in the quarter-finals, as the teams battled through a busy day today.

Semi-Final Results

In the girls semi-final round, Meadow squeezed by Whiteface by a 17-12 victory, with Winsler setting the pace for the winners with nine points. Bowden captured the honors for Whiteface with five points.

In the other semi-final game, the New Home girls eliminated the hostesses, beating Tahoka 23 to 14 to reach the finals. Roberson scored enough points for the winners to win the game single handedly, accounting for 16 points. Wyatt, with eight points, paced the losers.

Meadow took control in the finals, and won by the one score of 20 to 4. Pat Walker flipped in six points for scoring honors, while Roberson accounted for all her team's points.

The boys had two games to play this morning to move the bracket into the semi-finals, and New Home won the opener, defeating Slaton, 30 to 23. Timmons almost made a one man show of the game, firing in 21 points for the top scoring honors of the day in leading New Home to the win. Burnett paced the losers with nine points.

Levelland Five Tough

O'Donnell found the rugged Levelland Lobos were tough to handle, but nosed out a close 22 to 21 thriller. Brownlow was high point man for O'Donnell with nine points, closely pressed by Levelland's Darrell, who counted eight times.

Both winners in morning games came back in the afternoon and moved into the finals in a pair of thrillers. With Pierce piling up 15 points, O'Donnell nosed by the scrappy Meadow boys, 37 to 32, but it was a Meadow lad to cop scoring honors of the game, Nettie getting 18 points.

New Home moved into the finals by besting Tahoka in a well played duel, 28 to 25. Coursey copped the scoring honors for the winners, getting 14 points, while W. T. Hines of Tahoka was pressing him close with 14.

Brownlow began hitting the net in the finals, and with him dropping in 15 points, the O'Donnell five continued to play championship ball and bounced out New Home, 32 to 17. Timmons, with eight points, was high for the losers.

CAMP BOWIE WINS

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Dec. 16 (AP) —The Camp Bowie Wolves defeated the Goodfellow Field basketball team 62 to 49 here tonight. Bowie took an early lead and was never behind. Francis Gregg of the Wolves was high point man with 16 points.

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Lamb Discovery Well Pumps 140 Barrels On 24-Hour Test; East King Wildcat Flows 80 Barrels An Hour

FEATURED developments for the petroleum activity of the North Permian Basin area, and adjoining territories during last week were the pumping test of the Humble Oil & Refining company discovery in Lamb county for a yield of 140 barrels of oil plus 60 barrels of water, in 24 hours, and the prolific showing made in east King county by a wildcat nine miles east of nearest production, when it tested for approximately 80 barrels of good oil per hour on a rather extended testing period.

Other crude oil explorations over the district continued to make hole, and some possible new discoveries were still testing with no marked changes in results.

Pumped Three Days On Test

Humble's No. 1 Jackson, section 119, block A, Thomason survey, the Lamb county discovery from the lower Permian zine at 5,348-6,006 feet, made a settled 24-hour pumping test during the week — after the well had pumped for a full three days prior to the test.

A total of 200 barrels of fluid was recovered — 70 per cent or 140 barrels was oil, and the other 30 per cent, or 60 barrels was water.

Following that investigation operations were shutdown for machinery repairs. The operator likely will continue trying to more fully clean the hole of cavings before taking an official potential test.

Many qualified observers insist that the water showing in No. 1 Jackson is not from the producing formation but is from some other zone in the well.

Test Near Guthrie

While the Ohio Oil company No. 1 W. R. Ross, in section 24, R. B. Masterson survey, Abstract A-1163, 16 miles east of Guthrie, is not in the Permian Basin, exactly, it is adjoining the region, and its showings are of much importance.

That project had oil saturation in the Strawn lime series at 5,239-57 feet, from which it produced almost 80 barrels of oil per hour, natural, for several hours.

This discovery was shutin for an outlet at the end of the week. It is about nine miles east of the Bateman area, and has 5½-inch casing landed at 5,236 feet. The section at about 5,124-33 feet, had shown for some production, when drilled through.

Ohio has a block of about 6,200 acres of leases surrounding the new well.

Shutdown For Pump

Fikes and Murchison, No. 1 Alexander, northwest Terry county discovery for a new producing area, was shutdown for a pump at the end of the week. It had swabbed some oil earlier, but a satisfactory test was lacking when a choke in the bottom of the tubing worked loose and floated up the pipe.

This project had treated the pay section at 5,088-5,157 feet, with 3,000 gallons of acid, and had tested for about six barrels per hour, after the acid and residue had been removed from the hole.

During tht testing the well made some flows, but would not produce by flowing consistently. The operators thought that a through swabbing might kick it off — and they likely will try that method before they finally put the well on the pump.

At Least 100 Barrels

Unofficially, but informed quarters say the results of tests so far made indicate that the well will pump for at least 100 barrels per day. No definite signs of formation water have been indicated.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1-9 Hudson, southeast Cochran county development, which had shown for a fair amount of oil, swabbing plus a small amount of water, when tested above the plugged-back total depth at 5,127 feet, had put in a four-foot plastic plug, which has pushed the hole back up to 5,123 feet, and will test to see if the water has been eliminated.

Located in section 9, block P, psl survey, about two and one-half miles southwest of closest production in the Slaughter field, No. 1-9 Hudson, likely will be completed for about 100 barrels per day, pumping.

Lubbock County Tests

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Johnston, section 88, block C, D&W survey, in east-central Lubbock county, had progressed below 9,145 feet, and was drilling ahead in lime.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Cravens, north Lubbock county wildcat, in section 16, block D, L&SV survey, was drilling below 8,256 feet, in shale and lime.

Norwalk company No. 1 Nislar, section 23, block AK, psl survey, in southwest Lubbock county, was bottomed at 5,516 feet, in lime, and was trying to recover twisted off drill pipe.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1-A Bartley, section 1372, block 1, EL survey, in east-central Lynn county, was digging in lime under 9,550 feet.

Changing Drilling Rigs

D. D. Feldman No. 1 Edwards, section 132, block 3, EL survey, in northwest Lynn county, had made hole to a total depth of 8,976 feet, in lime, and was changing drilling rigs.

Honolulu and Devonian Oil company No. 1 Hitt, northwest Garza county wildcat, in section 2, block 1, HE&WT survey, slated to drill to 5,500 feet, had spudded and reached 165 feet, and was going ahead from there.

The Texas Company No. 1 Johnson, southwest Borden county exploration, in section 41, block 42, TP survey, T-4-N, had reached 7,000 feet, and was continuing in lime.

Progress In Other Tests

Texaco No. 1 Higginbotham, in west Dawson county, and in labor 16, league 479, Hutchinson county school land survey, is rigging up drilling equipment, and drilling water wells.

Stanolind No. 1 Slaughter, central Cochran county prospector, in labor 49, league 101, Jeff Davis county school land survey, had progressed past 8,212 feet, in lime.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 1 Rucker, labor 15, league 43, Rains county school land survey, in west-central Hockley county, which missed pay in the Slaughter zone, and is now drilling ahead to test the lower Permian, had penetrated past 5,306 feet, and was going ahead, in lime.

Making Rig Repairs

Texaco No. 1 Montgomery, central Hockley county possible new discovery, five miles north of the Slaughter field, and about the same distance west of Levelland, was bottomed at 4,883 feet, in lime, and was making rig repairs.

This project had a fair indication of oil in the zone at 4,823-32 feet, and had 100 feet of free oil accumulate during a three-hour period of shutdown. Operator ran a test on that, results of which have not been revealed, and then started drilling ahead. No increase in oil has been reported since going below 4,932 feet.

The test is reported to have been high on most geological markers so far, and may make a well in the Slaughter zone.

To Abandon Test

Honolulu No. 1 McLane, section 324, block D, John H. Gibson survey, northeast Yoakum county wildcat, scheduled to drill to 7,500 or 8,000 feet, had reached 6,451 feet, and was going ahead in lime. Skelly Oil Company No. 1 W. S. Hodges, section 446, block D, John H. Gibson survey, in central-west Yoakum county, had filed formal application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, to abandon and plug.

The project has been shutdown for several weeks, on a plugged-back bottom of 5,312 feet, in the San Andres-Permian lime.

The zone above that horizon had been tested through casing perforations, after acid treatment, but no commercial oil was developed. Total depth of the hole, before the plug back was 7,700 feet. No. oil shows of any size were encountered between 5,312 feet and the 7,700-foot level.

Terry Test Drilling Ahead

DeKalb Agricultural association No. 1 Jenkins, southwest Terry county prospector, in section 29, block DD, John H. Gibson survey, was drilling below 5,220 feet, in lime.

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Coombes, section 460, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, outpost to the Russell lower Permian pool, in northwest Gaines county, was treating with second-stage acid injection, in pay section from 7,426 feet to the total depth at 7,604 feet.

Following initial treatment the well swabbed 87 barrels of fluid in 18 hours. It was cut with an average of three precent basic sediment, but the contamination at the end of the 18 hours was less than one per cent.

Bay Petroleum corporation No. 1 Cox-Humble, section 468, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, in west Gaines, which was dry at 5,223 feet, and was temporarily abandoned at that depth, has a rotary back on the hole, and is reaming out to the present bottom before starting to drill ahead to test through the middle Permian.

J. F. Smith No. 1 Dodge, northeast Gaines county exploration, in section 36, block H, D&W survey, cemented a string of 5½-inch casing at 5,246 feet.

After bailing that tube dry, operator perforated with 40 shots at 5,120-40 feet, and produced sulphur water at the rate of 11 barrels per hour. It will be plugged and abandoned.

Rowan Drilling company No. 1 Schumacher, southeast Gaines exploration to around 5,500 feet, in labor 2, League 298, Reagan county school land survey, was bottomed at 4,400 feet, in lime, fishing for cones from the rotary bit.

Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Johnson, southwest Gaines county development, in section 16, block A-28, psl survey, was at a total depth of 3,244 feet, in anhydrite, fishing to recover twisted-off drill pipe.

Gas Conservation Is Major Problem For Texas, Jester Says

TYLER, Dec. 16. (U.P.)—The major problem before the Texas oil industry is the conservation of natural gas, in the opinion of Beauford Jester, retiring chairman of the Texas Railroad commission.

Jester made the declaration last night in a speech before a buffet dinner held in East Texas—seat of the nation's largest oil field—to honor him and incoming Chairman Olin Culberson of the commission.

Jester said Texas has oiled the mechanized war, and that more oil has been produced than the amount required for military demand. He pleaded for continued cooperation of Texas oil men to insure that conservation of natural gas is carried out.

The incoming chairman pledged the state's cooperation with governmental agencies in supplying the oil needed for war.

Congress May Bring Changes, But—

Public Sentiment Gains For Post-War Military Training

American Institute of Public Opinion
By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 16 — Public sentiment in favor of post-war military training of youth has shown an increase in the last three months, the latest Institute poll indicates.

In September, 63 per cent of all persons interviewed on the subject favored the post-war universal training program. Today the proportion is 70 per cent.

GALLUP

The House Committee on Post-War Military Policy is scheduled to meet next month to hold hearings which may serve as a basis for possible legislation on the subject.

Many educational leaders have expressed opposition to the plan, on the grounds that it might interfere with the work of high schools and colleges. There is also a good deal of argument over whether post-war youth training should be purely military or should include vocational training, citizenship training and other features. All in all, the Congressional hearings should produce plenty of arguing and some fireworks.

It may be that public sentiment will be changed as a result of discussion and debate on various details of the plan. That remains to be seen. But the evidence from polls to date shows that the public has been in favor of some kind of military training of youth for a good many months.

The first Institute poll on the subject was taken in July, 1943, and found 66 per cent in favor at that time. The trend since then has been as follows:

"After this war is over, do you think every able-bodied young man should be required to serve one year in the army or navy?"

	Yes	No	Undec.
July, 1943	66%	27%	7%
Nov., 1943	63	29	8
Sept., 1944	63	23	14
Today	70	25	5

The survey found some differences of sentiment by geographical areas, the least in favor of the measure being the West Central states, a farming area. But more important than the difference is the remarkably high affirmative vote and its general uniformity from section to section, as shown in the following.

	Yes	No	Undec.
N. Eng.	69%	26%	5%
M. Atl.	73	23	4
E. Cent.	72	25	3
W. Cent.	63	33	4
South	71	21	8
Mountain	64	33	3
Pac. Coast	71	25	4

The interviewing revealed no difference in attitude as between men and women, and only small variations as between age groups in the adult population.

Rural and farm communities throughout the country showed less enthusiasm for the plan than urban areas. This has been true also in earlier surveys on the subject. Many city people like the idea of peacetime military training because they think boys and young men will benefit by the physical training and muscular building up which accompanies military service. Farmers are apparently less inclined to feel that farm youngsters, brought up in the open, need physical build up.

Finland's Offer To Pay May Be Refused

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (A.P.) — Finland offered to pay today her $235,445 war debt installment but apparently it will not be accepted.

The Treasury department, which would have to grant a license before Finland could use part of her frozen funds to pay the installment, said it had asked the State department for guidance but a Treasury spokesman said:

"We have received a letter from the State department which appears on the surface to state a new policy but the policy is not clear to us. We will have to study it before we can make any statement."

It was understood the State department felt the government should accept the payment, even though it had broken off diplomatic relations and officially considers Finland "enemy territory."

It was also understood the Treasury is opposed to releasing the frozen assets on the grounds that by so doing it would set up the U.S. government as a preferred creditor of Finland.

New Chairman To Be Named By Rail Body

AUSTIN, Dec. 16. (U.P.)— Selection of the next chairman of the Texas Railroad commission likely will be announced at the statewide oil and gas hearing in Austin, Dec. 19, it was said here today.

It is customary to name the commission member who holds the expiring term—in this instance Olin Culberson.

The three-member commission selects the chairman semi-annually.

Girl Reunited With Her Dog; Recovery May Be Speeded

EL PASO, Dec. 16 (U.P.)—Pauletta and Teddy are together again today.

Pauletta is the 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Westfall. She was brought out here from Fairmont, W. Va., by her parents in the hope that the West Texas Climate would make her strong and healthy again after the lingering effects of a severe illness.

Teddy is the frisky black spitz dog the family next door gave Pauletta two years ago when she had the bad case of pneumonia.

Pauletta and Teddy had been inseparable until Mr. and Mrs. Westfall decided to bring her out west. Westfall took a leave of absence from his railroad job and packed up the family for the long train ride. Teddy was carted down to the Fairmont depot in his crate.

An that—two months ago—was when Pauletta and Teddy were separated.

Teddy's crate took up too much room in the baggage car, so he was left behind with friends.

Pauletta responded quickly to the healthful West Texas climate. But then a few weeks ago she began to pine for Teddy, and it showed up in the progress of her recovery.

The little girl wrote her friend and former boss, Sutton Sharp, editor of the Fairmont Times, for which she used to sell papers. Then last week she got a telegram from the editor saying that he'd see Teddy was sent out to Texas.

Yesterday, Teddy arrived in El Paso and was delivered to the Westfalls' trailer house.

Pauletta put aside the toy dog her daddy had bought for her in Juarez; now she's got the real thing.

Nazis Lash Back At Dozen Points

lages, a dispatch from Thoburn Wiant and Robert C. Wilson, Associated Press correspondents, reported. They also said that Wissenbourg and Lauterbourg, Alsatain border cities, had been seized by the Seventh).

There were four crossings on a 17-mile front into the old Bavarian Palatinate, a region of war industry and agriculture, and already the Seventh was drawing off German strength and relieving pressure farther north on the Western fornt.

The German high command was aware that to leave the Siegfried line lightly defended here was to invite a breakthrough that not only would menance such arsenal cities as Ludwigshafen and Mannheim, 35 miles farther down the Rhine, but might outflank the entire Saar basin, a coal and steel region of the first importance.

79th Sector Heaviest

The 45th division was believed to be about two miles inside the Palatinate west of Wissembourg, the 103rd division invaded in the same general area, and the 79th forged two bridegeheads across the borderline Lautern river near Lauterbourg, near the Rhine.

The heaviest fighting appeared to be on the 79th sector, where the Germans had the advantage of the bunker-studded forest of Bien Kald.

Twenty-three miles west of Wisembourg around Bitche the Germans were fighting fiercely from the Maginot line, swinging the fortifications' guns around and blazing away at the Americans attacking from the south.

Other diversionary attacks were aimed by the Germans far to the south in Alsace around Colmar, but there the French First Army and elements of the U. S. Seventh held foothill positions and, fighting from behind flooded streams, could not be dislodged easily.

First Army Sector

Rapidly squeezing the Germans from their last footholds west of the Roer, the First Army's 83rd division captured Berzbuir, near the river three miles south of Duren, and made other gains up to 1,000 yards opposite that river stronghold.

The Fifth Armored division coming up on the flank occupied more of the Roer's west bank.

In the Monschau sector 20 miles southwest of Duren the Second and 78th divisions pressed eastward along both banks of the Roer through pillboxes, barbed wire and minefields of the west wall.

Heavy enemy shelling was reported from the southern end of the First Army's positions along the long-dormant front at the Luxembourg-German border.

Promotions for four enlisted men at Lubbock Army Air field, all of whom are student weather observers, was announced Saturday. Pfc. Edward Hofgesang, East Orange, N. J., was promoted to corporal. Promoted to private first class were Pvts. George W. Shook, Mount Kisco, N. Y., who played on the LAAF football team this season; Robert F. Gasaway, Chicago, and John A. Weeks, Albion, N. Y.

Cpl. and Mrs. O. D. Raifsnyder, 908 Ave. M, returned from Canada on Thursday where the corporal had been stationed for 18 months. He will spend a 22-day delay en route at his home. His mother, Mrs. Fannie Raifsnyder, is employed at the Hilton hotel. His wife's mother, Mrs. Billie Kizziar, is employed at the Hotel Lubbock.

Billie Jo Archer is getting along very nicely, according to a report from Lubbock General hospital where the 15-year-old Matador High school senior underwent an operation on Tuesday to remove a .22 rifle bullet from her back. The girl was accidentally shot on Dec. 2 near the family home. Surgery was postponed because the girl had pneumonia, physicians said.

Five West Texans attending the University of Texas were included in the summer-fall semester honor roll in the College of Engineering. They are Rollin McCoy of Abernathy, Carl Thomas Hester of Lubbock, James Thomas Carter of Plainview, Charles N. Simmons and Fredrick Arthur Simens, both of Seagraves.

Two Women's Army Corps officers from the Abilene WAC Recruiting office will be in Lubbock Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to conduct interviews for prospective servicewomen. They will be available in room 208 of the postoffice building, according to Sgt. J. R. Maples of the Army recruiting office.

Two Lubbock men are among a list of several hundred announced by the War department Saturday as wounded in action in the Mediterranean area. They are Pfc. Hilbern D. Cope, son of Mrs. James E. Cope, 2302 Twenty-Eighth; and Pfc. Elwood C. Bogard, son of Claude E. Bogard.

Pvt. Melvin E. Harvey, who has been stationed at Camp Lee, Va., and now transferred to Camp Beale, Calif., will spend the Christmas holidays with his wife and two-year-old daughter who reside at 1318 Twenty-sixth. Prior to entering the service March 25, 1944, Pvt. Harvey was a civil service employee at Lubbock Army Air field.

S/Sgt. Robert C. Elliott, a former German prisoner in Stalag 17-B, arrived Saturday to visit his sister, Mrs. L. E. Parsons of 2503 Twenty-fourth. After spending a week here, Sgt. Elliott and Mrs. Parsons will visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Richards of Dalhart. Sgt. Elliott, gunner on a B-17, has been awarded the Air Medal and the Purple Heart.

Many producers have not yet made application for September and October dairy feed payments, said Walter Y. Wells, secretary of Lubbock county Agricultural Conservation association. He said that applications should be in by Dec. 30 if the producer is to be eligible for payment. The payment for those two months will be 10 cents a pound for butter fat and 70 cents per hundred pounds of whole milk.

Kerosene being used for washing purposes was ignited by a nearby stove Saturday morning in the wash and grease department of a filling station at 1119 Main, causing a sudden, spectacular blaze but negligible damage, firemen said.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (AP) — President Roosevelt signed today a bill extending six months beyond Dec. 7, 1945, the deadline for starting court martial or other proceedings growing out of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Man Protests Arrest For Drunken Driving After "Wild Spree"

A 21-year-old Follet, Tex., man who protested his arrest because, he said, he recently served in the Merchant marine was jailed for drunken driving by highway patrolmen after he allegedly speeded wildly through the downtown area, Saturday night, finally smashing into a parked car at Tenth and Ave. K.

Officers said he narrowly missed hitting at high speed several pedestrians and automobiles, including those driven by arresting patrolmen Tom Laws and B. J. Patterson and Glynn Hudgens, vice officer.

The parked car, which records show as registered to H. T. Cooper, a salesman of 2011 Twenty-eighth, received a caved-in fender, patrolmen said.

The sheriff's office held a 38-year-old employe of a Lubbock lumber concern who, officers said, blandly admitted ignoring Selective service regulations for four years. They said he did not possess even a registration card. Officers learned of his background after they jailed him for drunkenness.

An army officer asked police protection upon advice of OPA rent officials, complaining that his landlord, who lives at Lamesa, had threatened to move into his house "by force."

Police last night received a complaint from Green Acres addition that youngsters "with two cases of rotten eggs" were chunking them at passing cars.

railroad rolling stock and fuel and ammunition dumps.

The Japanese offered only meager air opposition. They attempted an attack on carrier task force surface units but all eight Japanese planes trying to break through to the ships were shot down.

Admiral Nimitz also reported air raids on the Iwo Jima airfield and in the Palaus and the Marshalls.

In Kwangsi Province

Pursuing the retreating Japanese southward in China's Kwangsi province, the counterattacking Chinese were reported by their highcommand to have reached the Hochih region, 95 miles from Liuchow. The Chinese outflanked Hochiih on the south and pushed 18 miles beyond the town. Other Chinese columns were threatening Hochih from the north and west.

Some Chinese quarters in Chungking expressed the belief Japanese operations in China already may have been affected by the American advance to Mindoro island. These sources think the Japanese, knowing that the Yanks will hit into China eventually, have been holding their reserve strength in southeast China at strategic points for quick movement to the China coast. Thus the reserves have been withheld from the Chinese war zones westward.

In northern Burma, Japanese suicide remnants at Chinese captured Bhamo were expected to be liquidated momentarily. The crushing of the last Nippon resistance there may be marked by a powerful Chinese thrust toward the old Burma road.

LSU Girl Ousted

sex the basis and the important factor in the minds of every college student. Make every girl feel that she is doing something wrong when she kisses a boy on the campus because standing and sitting is considered a weapon to immoral acts.

Students Ask Inquiry

"But have our advisors thought where they are sending the majority of college students who are only human in their thoughts and desires? Perhaps, I can tell you. Some make their life mean a drinking place; others go elsewhere to enjoy a man's companionship; others being driven from their own homes because of severe restriction on what is the purpose of life, forget the moral learnings they once had."

Tonight three LSU student organizations voted to ask the Civil Liberties union and others to investigate the case.

Miss Heller, who was born in New York City but has resided in Havana since she was three months old, said she planned to move from her dormitory "as ordered."

against violence and interference with its non-striking employes

Petitioning for a temporary injunction in Wayne (Detroit) county circuit court, the company alleged that threats and violent acts had been directed against employes.

Circuit Judge John V. Brennan deferred action until Monday, asserting he wanted to study the petition thoroughly.

Friday the company obtained from Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty a temporary order restraining striking members of the United Retail, Wholesale & Department Store Employes (CIO) union from interfering with or molesting employes of its store in suburban Royal Oak. This action followed picket line disturbances in which three Ward employes were reported injured.

FURLOUGH RATIONS

DALLAS, Dec. 16. (AP) — Soldiers, sailors and Marines who get furlough or leave extensions will be entitled in the future to one gallon per day additional furlough gasoline rations, the Office of Price administration said here today. Total amount of furlough rations must not exceed 30 gallons, the OPA stated.

Fifteen-Year-Old Post Youth Wins 4-H Trip To Chicago In His Third Year Of Club Work

POST, Dec. 16.—Joe Stokes, 15-year-old Post High school junior who has been in 4-H club work the past three years, won one of the 19 trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago offered Texas boys by the Santa Fe Railroad company.

This year Joe has fed out a 920-pound steer, four 220-pound hogs, raised a registered Poland-China gilt which he won in the Sears "Cow-Hog-Hen" essay contest, with the gilt he won 100 baby chicks in the Sears development contest.

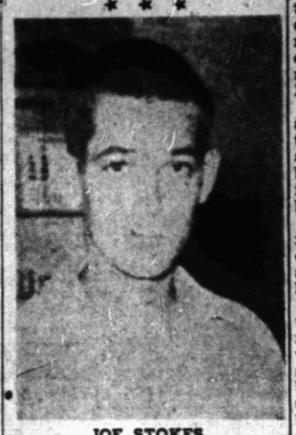

Raised Grain, Cotton

He raised 30 acres of grain sorghums and five acres of cotton and served as one of the "War Emergency Cotton Insect Pest Reporters" for Texas A&M College Extension Service this summer.

Young Stokes won the medal in Garza county this year for having the outstanding meat animal demonstration and will receive the Wilson meat animal award. He also went to the district encampment at Ceta Glen last summer as one of the county's outstanding club boys. Joe has produced enough food and feed to be equivalent of feeding five fighters in 1944

During the past three years Joe has fed out seven head of beef cattle, four top hogs, raised one brood sow, had five acres of cotton and 30 acres of grain sorghums with a total receipts of $1,547.14 with a net profit of $701.59. He served as president and as secretary-treasurer of his 4-H club.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stokes.

Security Tax Freeze

declared. "The Congress should realize that this bill deferring a statutory increase in contributions toward existing Social Security merely defers until next year the necessary fiscal receipts to pay the benefits. Also, it does not seem to me wholly sound to enact a tax law and then defer the taxes year after year."

Pleased At Recognition

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee said he was "pleased that the President recognized the overwhelming majorities for the Social Security freeze in Congress as the sentiment of the people of the country in the first major issue since his reelection."

Mr. Roosevelt previously had endorsed a broader Social Security system. He gave no idea of what he had in mind specifically, but for some time the question of bringing into the plan farmers, domestics and other groups now outside the system has been under consideration.

API SETS SESSION

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. (AP) — The American Petroleum institute announced today its 25th annual meeting will be held in November of 1945 in Chicago at a date to be set later. The meeting, originally scheduled last month, had been called off at the request of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Eight Injured In Streamliner Wreck

AMARILLO, Dec. 16. (AP)—Eight persons were injured, three seriously, in a collision of the streamlined Zepher and two freight cars one mile south of Memphis last night.

Seriously injured were:

L. C. Dubuque, 42, Amarillo; M. S. Ridgeway, 60, Denver; an unidentified soldier.

Five others were slightly injured. They were Mrs. B. L. McCullough, 36, and 12-year-old daughter Helen of Seattle, Washington; Robert Gibson, 11; Amarillo; Jimmie Lee Garrison, 31, Amarillo; and a WAC, unidentified.

The two freight cars were knocked into a creek but the Zephyr, although badly damaged, was not derailed.

Building Permits Here Pass Million

Building permits for the city of Lubbock passed the million-dollar mark Saturday, with $1,006,130.40 being totaled at that time. Of this amount, $607,932.76 was for the construction of 84 new residences.

While this figure is much smaller than that of normal years, due to shortages of material and labor, and government restrictions on private construction, building in Lubbock compares favorably with other leading cities in Texas, a city official said.

OIL WORKER KILLED

KERMIT, Tex., Dec. 16. (AP) — Clabe A. Dempsey, 40, was injured fatally today whe na heavy metal part from a drilling rig where he was working in the Keystone field struck his head. A metal helmet he was wearing prevented a skull fracture but doctors said that concusion proved fatal. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dempsey of Texas City.

Allied Troops Close On Strategic Faenza

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP)—British and Polish troops and tanks, closing a ring around strategic Faenza on the edge of the Po plain, gouged out a foothold today on a dominating ridge two miles west of the city as heavy fighting flared abruptly along nearly half of the Italian front.

The ridge runs between Celle, a mile and a half west of Faenza, to Pideura, four miles southwest, and the Germans tried vainly to blast the British Eighth army forces from it with an artillery barrage.

Steadily clearing the enemy from all high ground west of Faenza in this sector, Poles stormed and captured strongpoints and a height southwest of Pideura.

Enemy reaction was equally violent and just as futile to a rising peril northeast of Faenza, where the Canadians maintained and widened to 3,000 yards a bridgehead over the Naviglio Canal, one of the waterways blocking attack on the city from the east.

The Germans attacked all day yesterday, and then gave ground slowly under Canadian blows.

Crop Insurance Bill Goes To President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16. (AP) — The Senate completed legistlative action today on a bill reviving the federal crop insurance program which was dropped last year. The bill now goes to the White House.

Broader than the old law, the measure would provide insurance next year on wheat, cotton and flax.

In addition, the measure carries a $30,000,000 fund to spur the production of flax, needed to remedy a linseed oil shortage. Incentive payments would go to farmers who cooperate in a flax planting program.

She Makes Faces, So He Just Shoots Her

YORK, Pa., Dec. 16. (AP) — Police Chief Nelson Shultz today quoted William Quiggle as saying he "got tired of" Mrs. William Hoffman "making faces at me so I just shot her."

Quiggle, 61, is being held on assault and battery charges.

At the York hospital, Mrs. Hoffman's condition was said to be satisfactory. She was wounded with buckshot while hanging laundry in her yard.

Congratulations To:

Sgt. and Mrs. Luther A. Bennett, Shallowater, on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 10 ounces at 6:58 a. m. Saturday in St. Mary's hospital. The father is serving overseas in France.

Texan Finds New Way To Capture Japanese

WITH THE DIXIE DIVISION ON MOROTAI. (AP)—There's more than one way to stop a Jap.

Tech Sgt. Claude Varnell, who has just been awarded a Bronze Star medal for heroic achievement, used an unorthodox method.

The sergeant, son of Mrs. Lucy Varnell of Afton, Tex., had orders to silence an enemy sniper who was harassing his company as they were digging in. He made his way through jungle undergrowth with his squad. Suddenly they came upon the Jap sniper, concealed at the base of a tree.

Seeing the Jap close his bolt on a shell in his rifle, and realizing that he himself was in no position to beat the sniper to the shot, the sergeant hurled his rifle at him. It knocked the Jap out.

Then Varnell returned to his own lines carrying the enemy soldier with him as a prisoner.

Police Chief Warns On Forger Activity

Chief of Police Don Reeder Saturday issued a reminder to merchants that it is in the rush of the holiday season that the check thief and the forger enjoy the easiest "pickings."

"Now is the time for merchants to talk these matters over with their employees," Reeder said. "Caution them to be more careful in accepting either government or commercial checks, especially from strangers. Have them initial any check they accept, and jot down some memo as to what was used for identification. This fixes responsibility and serves to remind one of the transaction."

Reeder advised a policy of "knowing your endorser" and requiring identification.

Draft Riots Force Curfew In Catania

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP)—A 6 p. m. curfew was instituted in Catania today after renewed demonstrations in that Sicilian city in protests against conscription for the Italian army.

The Rome paper Il Tempo said 11 persons were wounded by Catania police Friday after a crowd attacked them with hand grenades and stones.

One person was killed and several public buildings were set afire in riots Thursday.

INCREASED PRODUCTION of essential crops is a vital "must" in our war program. Government figures prove there are two ways you can boost crop production—(1) Plant, cultivate and work more land...or (2) Irrigate the land you are now working.

AVERAGE YIELD PER ACRE	CALIFORNIA	ARIZONA
Barley
Irrigated	14.0*	3.5*
Non-Irrigated	7.3*	2.0*
One irrigated acre equals the unirrigated production of	1.92 acres	2.75 acres
*100-pound bags
Oats
Irrigated	41.7 bu.	34.9 bu.
Non-Irrigated	27.3 bu.	12.4 bu.
One irrigated acre equals the unirrigated production of	1.49 acres	2.82 acres

Official Govt. Figures, 1940 Census.

In the chart above compare the production of irrigated and non-irrigated lands when planted to typical crops. Note how irrigation boosts production far above the per-acre yield of non-irrigated lands. You plant no more seed, work no more land, require no more manpower—yet you substantially increase your production over the same land, unirrigated.

And by taking the Pomona road to increased crop production, you not only conserve seed and manpower, but you also gain a priceless advantage that will insure your crops for years to come... protection from crop loss through drought!

FAST, STRONG WEEK COMPLETED

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. (AP)—The stock market today concluded one of its fastest and strongest weeks since last June with recently climbing rails and assorted industrials meeting sufficient selling resistance to stall the rise.

Dealers were speedy from the start and turnover of 1,021,340 shares compares with 1,044,800 a week ago and was the second largest Saturday aggregate since June 17. It was the twelfth consecutive session in which turnover exceeded the million-share level. Total for the week of 8,328,310 was a record figure since the period ending July 1.

Owing to declining rails, the Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .1 of a point at 58.1 but on the week showed a net gain of .8 of a point. The market again was broad, 852 issues registering, of these, 327 were up against 325 down or unchanged.

Steels, motors and rubbers were narrowly lower over the short stretch. Losers included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, Westinghouse, American Telephone, United Aircraft and Sears Roebuck. Ahead were Alleghany Corp., American Can, eneral Electric, Douglas Aircraft, J. C. Penny, Philip Morris and Allied Chemical.

In the curb support was accorded Noma Electric, Northwestern Airlines, Polaris, Pressed Metals and Raytheon. Sales here were 192,155 shares versus 264,380 last Saturday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP) — The cotton futures market developed a steadier tone late in today's session on mill buying and local demand. Trading was quiet reflecting dullness in the spot markets and a disposition to await recommendations on cotton policy which may arise from the peace conferences at Washington last week.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale lower to 35 cents higher.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 16. (AP)—The new crop wheat contracts were firm today, supported by short covering, but the may and December deliveries were on the off side most of the season. Other grains were steady to firm with corn at times holding gains of nearly a cent.

Trade sources attributed purchases of July wheat to a report that Secretary of Agriculture Wickard had denied he would advocate a two-price system for the grain which would guarantee parity only for that portion of the crop used domestically for food. A rumor that such a plan was being considered caused heavy liquidation Thursday.

At the close wheat was ⅛ higher to 1 cent lower than yesterday's finish, December $1.68¾. Corn was unchanged to ⅛ higher, December $1.14. Oats were up ⅛ to ⅜, December 69¾. Rye was ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.11⅛-¼. Barley was ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.13⅛.

Goal Is In Sight On Christmas Seal Sales

The quota of $7,500 in the annual Christmas Seal sale in Lubbock county is expected to be reached by the end of this week, it was announced Saturday by the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association. Through Saturday sales had totaled $5,790.26, only $1,-709.74 short of the quota.

Mrs. T. C. Ingram and Mrs. R. C. Harvey, in charge of booth and bangle sales, reported total sales of $472.25. Two high school clubs and one at Texas Tech participated in the bangle sales. They were: Sub Debs, of which Lois Cone is president, and Las Cresas club, Jane Lawson, president, high school, and the Ko-Shari club of Tech, Jane Oliver, president.

Curtis Curry, publicity director of the association, stated the group appreciates the effort put forth by all organizations in the county who have aided in the campaign.

Lt. Chas. A. Hans Is Said Missing In Action

MORTON, Dec. 17. (Special)—Lt. Charles A. Hans, Yoakum, has been reported missing in action in Italy since Nov. 11, according to a War department message received by his wife. He is a first pilot of a B-17 based in Italy and was on his fifth mission. He had been overseas only three weeks.

Lt. Hans received his wings at Lubbock Army air field on Sept. 6, 1942, a member of class 42-H. He was stationed at Midland, San Angelo and Childress and took his bomber training at Sebring, Fla., and combat training at Gulfport, Miss.

Mrs. Hans is the former Tommye Bea McAlister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom McAlister, formerly of Lubbock, now residing at Morton. She and her 15-months-old son, Terry, are living with her parents.

Two-Day Band Clinic Is "Most Successful"

A "most successful" second annual two-day band clinic, sponsored by Texas Tech and Lubbock High school bands was concluded Saturday afternoon with a two-hour rehearsal by the college band in the Tech band room.

"Directors knew what to expect this year and interest was high," D. O. Wiley, Tech band director, reported of the 23 directors of school musical organizations who attended the conference. No date was set for the 1945 clinic since it is a locally sponsored, and an invitation affair.

The high school and college bands hold this event as a service to other school bands. They have the opportunity to become familiar with music they do not become acquainted with in the regular school routine, Wiley said.

We Wonder, Too

Dixon Calls Up Memories Of Veterans

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY, Dec. 7. (Delayed)—Three years of war have gone by, taking deeper into the past the kaleidoscopic flashes of thousands of faces of men, women and children who have passed quickly in the turbulent ebb and flow of this worldwide conflict.

DIXON

I wonder where they are today.

There was that gang of paratroopers who went to Washington on borrowed money. They wanted to parachute onto the White House lawn as a gag.

I wonder what happened to Lt. Bill Everett of Baltimore, Md., who stood wtih me at the rail looking back as our Liberty ship sailed from Virginia at sunset. Somewhere aft a phonograph was playing "as times goes by."

And Archie MacArthur, sr., stock bosun's mate of New York who had fought with the Gordon Highlanders—the Gay Gordons—in the last war. Twice torpedoed in this war, he still was as tough as he had been when he followed the bagpipes over the top at the age of 17.

And W. L. (Sparks) Brownell of Kitter, Me., the radio man whose parrot took fright at a crowd of friendly soldiers one stormy sunset and flew off the bridge. She flew back and forth over the ship, squawking "Hello, boy! Hello, boy!" until weariness pulled her down to the waves. Every heart aboard ship was a little heavier as Sparks stood at the rail and watched the convoy steam ahead while his parrot fluttered futilely in its wake.

I wonder where Sgt. Ernie Ameen of Lubbock, Tex., is now and if he still is writing his story of this war painstakingly in long-hand in his journal each night the way he did in Tunisia.

AMEEN

And the air corps lieutenant who interrupted his Thanksgiving dinner in Naples more than a year ago to say grace—and asked a blessing on his enemies despite the fact they had tried to shoot him down the day before.

I wonder what has become of that 90-day wonder who led his infantry platoon on his and their first time in battle when the May push opened in Italy. He was supposed to lead them over a hilltop in the attack, but was pinned down by mortar fire and the rookies wouldn't move until he had a flash of inspiration in all that hell and shouted, "Come on boys, it's safer on the other side!" Once moving, they never stopped.

I wonder if Antonio is happy. The diminutive Neapolitan taxi driver herded us all over Naples in his wheezing cab. Then through sheer loyalty he hauled our equipment to Rome. But Rome is to a Neapolitan like New York is to a Texan and Antonio began to long for the thickly-peopled hills under Vesuvius. So, sadly, he said goodbye and returned to Naples bay.

Wondering, the pictures flash by faster—the nurses at Anzio, the Rangers at Cisterna, the pilots at Corisca and Sardinia. And the Texans at Salerno and San Pietro, the Iowa and Minnesota boys at Cassino, the paratroopers floating down over the Riviera.

The doughboys and Roman girls walking by the Vatican in white moonlight. The doctor sobbing outside an aid station because a soldier on a litter inside accused him of "just trying to patch me up quick to set a new record and get me back into the combat line."

I wonder where they all are today.

Many Veterans Will Attend Tech After War, Inquiries Indicate

By GEM BOB CALLEY
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Texas Technological college will be ranked high among first-rate universities by popular choice of returning veterans wanting vocational training or the chance to resume an interrupted education, according to W. P. Clement, registrar.

CALLEY

From all over the world, inquiries about Tech's post-war program have reached the registrar's office. Approximately eight "information please" letters arrive daily, and a great per cent of them are from out-of-state residents, Clements said.

"Many GI Joe's desire the carefree and easy qualities of Texas living in contrast with an accelerated war existence," Clements said in explaining the Army survey which reveals the majority of veterans expect to attend Texas schools. Approximately 40 per cent of all Army men have received training in some part of Texas and indicate they wish to return at some future date.

May Swamp Texas Schools

Late reports from this Army survey show that 1,250,000 servicemen will attend college after the war under the G. I. bill. A postwar poll taken by the Veteran's Administration office at Waco, which covers Texas territory south of Hale county and handles one out of every 10 veterans, indicates that 100,000 to 125,000 servicemen and women will enroll in Texas colleges and universities.

Of the total of 401 veterans enrolled in the three major Texas colleges, Tech has 58, or 15 per cent of this number and an estimated 10 per cent of all veteran students in Texas colleges and universities. Calculations made by the registrar's office show if 10 per cent of the 100,000 who have indicated their intention of attending Texas colleges, were to come to Tech a sudden postwar enrollment increase would result.

At the present, approximately 30 veterans are awaiting the opening of Tech's spring semester and the influx of veteran enrollments will be determined by the discharge rate, Clements asserted. Some colleges are stressing a short course for returning servicemen, but according to Clements, Tech recommends they enroll for regular degree programs.

Tech Alive To Problem

College officials realize the task of reinstating veterans cannot be postponed until after the war; it is already here. Discharges for disability are running at the rate of about 60,000 a month and increasing. At the beginning of the present year more than half a million men had already been discharged because of wounds or sickness. That is approximately three times the number medically discharged throughout World War I.

The vast majority have refused to remain inactive casualties; they are working and attending school today and a greater number will be in the future. The expected influx of veterans to Tech is a problem at hand which requires action and planning that is being handled with commendable foresight by Tech officials. Main problem will be providing adequate housing facilities for these new students, but Clements said he felt that civic-minded citizens of Lubbock, through combined efforts and whole-hearted support, would help the college find a solution.

Seventeen of the 58 veterans now attending Tech are disabled and the majority have served in combat zones. "They are a serious-minded group of boys with a high scholastic record," Clements declared, "and they are here for a purpose." While enrolled in this training program, veterans receive a substitute payment of $50 per month if without dependents, or $75 per month with dependents.

Should the serviceman have a disability incurred in, or aggravated by active service after Sept. 16, 1940, which constitutes a vocational handicap, the base payment will be increased to $92 per month if single and more if he has dependents. In addition to subsistence payments paid directly to ex-servicemen, the Veterans administration will pay all tuition, laboratory and incidental fees, and furnish all books, supplies and necessary equipment.

It may be harder to find jobs for disabled veterans during the post-war readjustment period. But for any serviceman with a 10 per cent vocational handicap due to war, the Veterans' administration will provide up to four years of shop, trade school or college training, according to individual capability. The only stipulation is that courses must be completed within seven years after the war. More than 125,000 men completed similar courses after the last war.

Meanwhile, an advance guard—bare 1,234—is proving the worth of the scheme, with nearly half of the boys training for professional, technical and managerial jobs. Tech is now serving a part of these future-minded veterans and will have a major role in constructive educational work of the postwar era.

Love Letters From Last War Turned Into Paper Drive

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 16. (U.P.) — Teachers were fearful that Roscoe Reeder, jr., 6, and his brother, Clay, 8, had been a little too enthusiastic in the salvage drive when they showed up with ten pounds of love letters their father had written their mother during World war I.

But a call to the mother drew the reply that it was all in the Reeder's part in the war effort. They have a boy overseas, a daughter in a war plant and three children at home. Mrs. Reeder is working in a war plant, and giving blood to the Red Cross and buying bonds besides. Today, is the Reeder's 25th wedding anniversary and they thought that the letters, stuffed in bullets, would make a nice present for A. Hitler and Hirohito.

The Woman's Angle

WANT an idea for trimming that tree? Peanuts in the shell that have been dipped in bright water color paints make pretty chains. Paste dots and stars on them for variety . . . Before sewing peanuts together to make a Santa Claus, dip them in red water color paint or lacquer them with nail polish. Sew together with buttonhole thread, using darning needle. Use cotton batting to trim Santa's hat and to make his beard.

SCATTERINGS

ONE of our biggest disappointments is that experts are deciding the synthetic vitamin does not play much part in maintaining health. And just when we had decided our daily pills would guarantee health, longevity and help to ward off old age! . . . The folks at home who have worried about overseas packages for GI Joes and Janes, will receive about two or three million dollars worth of Christmas presents from soldiers and WACs in the European theater of operations. Others are sending money home and lots of love and letting it go at that . . . Christmas folders from the 131st field artillery batallion bore the words, "Merry Christmas Greetings from France," and stamp of the fleur-delis and the famed shoulder-patch.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS—If you are baffled over selections of books for children, you may be interested to learn pointers are available upon request from the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. The pamphlet, which is yours for the writing, is entitled "For The Children's Bookshelf (Publication No. 304). Books, old and new, from many publishers are listed and classified according to children's interests; they range from ABC and Mother Goose books through the classics that are favorites with teen-agers. The guide quotes Edmonds' observation that a really good book for children should have "enough stuff, humor, reality, wisdom, excitement to be interesting to an adult mind."

One of our ambitions for downtown Lubbock Christmas observances after the war is a tree of light on the courthouse square . . . If you really want to be good to the postman, Uncle Sam suggests you give war bonds—easy to buy, easy to mail and easy to deliver . . . Mr. and Mrs. L. L. (Bill) Watson have sold their attractive farm east of town and are moving to a ranch near San Angelo and Lubbock county's loss will certainly be Tom Green's gain because you'll not find a more likeable couple than the Watsons. The Thiel brothers of near Shallowater bought the farm . . . Before the war they used to cancel postage stamps in England with the slogan "British Goods Are Best"—until it was learned the cancellation machine had been manufactured in the United States.

CHRISTMAS poinsettias should go to Mrs. Elois Elliott and Mrs. Mary A. Ware for their splendid work with Junior and Senior High school glee clubs in singing Christmas carols . . . Perfume buying as Christmas gifts seems to be bigger and better than ever this year with everyone except the butcher in the business.

SURPRISE UNION

A few days ago on an island in the South Pacific that must remain unnamed for security reasons there was a reunion of two Lubbock musicians who have postponed their futures in the ministry and in light opera because of fulfilling contracts with Uncle Sam. The men were Lt. Charles Fike, U. S. Navy chaplain and Pfc. Elton Plowman, with the Army Special Service branch, who last were together in New York when they shared a room while Lt. Fike studied toward a master of arts degree at Columbia university and Mr. Plowman continued vocal lessons.

Chaplain Fike met Sgt. Bruce Collier, former staff member at KFYO and now with army special service, soon after he went ashore and he told him that Elton was on the island. The two jumped in Lt. Fike's jeep, picked up Elton and went to a radio station which boasted a fine piano. There they gave an impromptu concert, which we suppose was much like the numbers they used to present here before town and college groups with Elton's fresh tenor voice flowing with such ease and Charles' remarkable and understanding accompaniment.

Elton is one of the outstanding artists in the show "Yanksapoppin'" that is being given for men stationed in that area and he brought the show on board Charles' ship and the next Sunday sang at church service for his Lubbock friend.

In 1940 the two young men presented a concert here, alternating singing and playing the piano. We've been wondering if Elton sang the song he received such an ovation for at that time, "The World Is Mine Tonight."

THE boys came through Lubbock in October and tossed a letter from the train window which described their emotional state. We're glad the Texas girls helped them to forget their loneliness.

Howdy Folks:

Ready for delivery two lovely heavy Chenille rugs. One of these is 12'x13' and the other is 19' x 28'. These are at the Decorators Studio, 1302 Ave. N. That is something let me tell you when most people are waiting six and eight months for rugs and carpets.

Wedgewood china is still coming in. Another shipment was unpacked the past week. The studio still has many silver services and serving pieces that will be happily received by any wife, mother or sweetheart on Christmas morning. International sterling flatware services in several patterns are available, too.

Those of you who are familiar with Fager pieces of furniture will be glad to know the Studio has just received tables and mirrors. One of the tables is a low, square coffee table in bleached Mahogany with Chinese design decorated top. The Chinese method fo decorating has been used—putting the design under the glass. This one is in tones of green with gold. Two end tables from the same studio are round in the bleached Mahogany with tops in the Chinese influence in blue and gold. A pair of exquisite mirrors which will be lovely over a pair of chests have gold bamboo frames and chinese designs in colors that enhance their beauty.

Again let Grandpa Nosey remind you that you must pick up your packages at the Studio before One O'Clock Saturday, December 23rd. The girls are taking off that afternoon and as Alma is the only one who has a telephone and a key she says she is going into seclusion and you will not be able to find her. How about surprising the girls and clearing the Studio of all packages left there before that time?

Alma and Fredda had a card from Mary Ellis who is having a grand time in New York. She thinks though that in order to acquaint herself with the wholesale market she is necessarily going to have to do a lot of walking. Fredda has always said this and Mary Ellis is getting initiated early in the game.

Yours,
Grandpa Nosey,

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: Norma Lee Thornton was simply beaming when she received a diamond Elgin wrist watch from Lt. Bob Abbott for her birthday. She began dating Bob when he was stationed at LAAF and they have been keeping up a big correspondence ever since. He is from Houston. . . Billy Cass Stevens is getting very anxious for France Groce to come home for the holidays. Frances is attending Hockaday school in Dallas . . . Robert Guirette from Mexico City has quite a number of co-eds swooning. His latest date was Jane "Dodo" Dominge . . . Walter Dennison dates Mary Jane Horton quite frequently . . . Attractive roommates are Helen Mack Hume and Monda Hamilton. Both are brunettes, are friendly and well-liked . . . Jerry Howard, ex-Techsan, was visiting the campus recently.

Christmas gifts are coming to the girls' dormitories by the dozens now and Nancy Everline couldn't wait for the 25th so she opened her most special gift. It was a beautiful sapphire bracelet. . . . George Wilson, Centaur pledge, is to leave soon for Fort Bliss to take his physical examination . . . Billye Lackey met A/C Herman Fletcher at his incoming dance recently and they got along so well that he was the important person to present her at the Sans Souci presentation dance Saturday. She made a very pretty picture . . . Ted Crager, former Techsan, came to town to escort his fiancee, Ada Ruth Hilburn to the same dance . . . Gene Gray, who is home on leave from the Navy, was seen dating Nell Anthony. Double dating with them were Joe Ann Bailey and Homer Lawson.

Here And There

Joe King is a constant visitor in the La Ventana office and his main interest seems to be "Chief" Merrilyn Snider . . . Many co-eds have been commenting on what a cute boy is Billy "Tuney" Whitaker, Socii pledge . . . Bill Benner was Lynn Blackwell's date to the Christmas dance at Doak hall Saturday night. Lee Lincoln and Rusty Ritter were also there together. . . . Buddy Boles and Clifton Riek were in Dallas this week-end . . . Oleeta "Candy" Cummings will go to her home in Richmond, Calif., during the holidays. Clayton Roberts will probably be very lost (is our guess) because much of their spare time is spent together! . . . Billie Bob Cannedy received a beautiful diamond ring for her third finger left hand recently from her Navy man, who is overseas.

We always knew Earlyne Reid had plenty of "oomph" but it has been proved now doubly when a certain lieutenant drives 104 miles to get her and takes her to Big Spring to attend an officers' dance where Jan Garber and his orchestra were playing . . . Alice Bell received some very pretty flowers when she was ill . . . A constant caller at the dorm asking for Peggy Lewis is R. L. Heath . . . Paul Haskins gets his dates by his moods. One night he dates Doris Cornelius, then Frances Cloninger, and next Elizabeth Davis. He must be enjoying a last fling before he leaves for the Navy . . . Among Tech co-eds to attend the Christmas dance at LAAF Friday night were Norma Barnes, Polly Cook, Betty Summers, Pat Dumas, Ruth Bayles, May Belle Bonner and Jane Chambers.

RUTH Spikes was having trouble with A/C Ben Taraskavicz and her date Del Gardiner Saturday night at the Souci dance . . . Special guests attending the Souci presentation dance were Billie Grace Webb, Allene Bevill, Nancy Everline, Jodie Woffard, Betty Bob Diltz, Helen Rippey, Pat Smith, Maxine Craddock, Fran Buchanan, Jane Oliver, Moreene Roberts and Bettye White . . . Lt. Bryan Austin of Hobbs Air field was very impressed with Lulu Vanlandingham on a blind date recently. He called her from Hobbs every night last week and sent her 15 American Beauty roses Thursday. He is here visiting her this week-end . . . Marilyn "Maidy" Claiborne sang "I Dream of You" during the dance Saturday night and her number certainly went over . . . Virginia Anthony admits she has the "taffy" on Troy Caldwell and we think they make a perfect couple . . . Pat Pasley's boy friend, Bobby Lane made a special trip from A. and M. to present her at the Souci dance . . . Mary Sparks, Tech 1943 graduate is home for Christmas to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Sparks. She is employed by Eastman in Hollywood, Calif.

Love,
Lou.

Chaplains Under Orders To Make Christmas Home-Like

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—Ten thousand chaplains are under orders to make Christmas as home-like as possible for America's 11 million soldiers, sailors and Marines.

Wherever war conditions permit, Army and Navy chaplains will arrange for Christmas parties, wrapping and marking of presents and trimming of trees as well as customary religious services, group singing of carols and reading of the old, old story of Bethlehem.

To Provide Entertainment

Doughboys in dugouts will unwrap packages marked "Do not open 'til Christmas." Chaplains will help Red Cross workers and welfare officers provide special entertainment and gifts for men who fail to receive mail from home.

Yanks, kneeling on moonlit beaches on Pacific isles, will commemorate the birth of Christ at midnight services held 10,000 miles from home. Battle-hardened youngsters will join in singing: "It came upon the midnight clear, that glorious song of old."

Folding Christmas Tree

At Yuletide parties on submarines, a folding Christmas tree will center a holiday feast on the mess table. Marines and army men in tropical jungles will decorate coconut "Christmas" trees with scraps of colored paper, worship in log and tent chapels they themselves built.

American service men and women will crowd Old World cathedrals. Others will sing carols for the sick and wounded in hospitals at home and abroad.

To Play Santa Claus

Bluejackets and soldiers will play Santa Claus to orphans and evacuees of war-torn areas. Ships' and company cooks will make barrels of candy and mountains of cookies for poor children. In some areas, Santa will arrive by plane with toys and sweets for orphan guests.

From a hospital chaplain came this typical report on Christmas a year ago: "The Christmas season was eminently successful due to the cooperation of all in this command. Two ward tents thrown together furnished us with a large chapel, fittingly decorated and lighted. The Christmas crib was beautifully executed by one of the enlisted men, the music furnished by a group of enlisted men who trained for more than a month in their spare time for that purpose.

"In an atmosphere of peace and reverence, men sick and wounded came in to kneel down . . . and were able to forget their tired bodies and the roar of guns."

Never Forget Service

A chaplain on a crowded Army transport wrote:

"Our Christmas service was one which the men said they never will forget. We made an altar in the dining room of two boards covered with a clean white table cloth. On this we put the altar decorations in which were lit two red candles. Our services were simply the singing of Christmas carols, the reading of the Christmas story. . . . Nurses, soldiers and sailors of many faiths knelt on the floor of the packed room to pray. . . ."

Brig. Gen. William E. Arnold, chief of Army chaplains, says: "More men and women of our armed forces than ever before will be away from home this Christmas but, wherever they are, they will make an effort to capture the Christmas spirit of their homeland."

Capt. R. D. Workman, director of Navy chaplains, says: "Many more ships will be far from home port this Christmas, but there will be no lack of remembrance. There's something about the spirit with which men and women in the Navy greet the holy season of Christmas that makes it a memorable experience to 'all hands.'"

Distinguished Flying Cross Is Awarded Capt. Emory Ralls

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, England — Captain Emory G. Ralls, 24, of Ralls, Tex., pilot of the B-17 Flying Fortress, "Madam Shoo-Shoo," has won the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement . . . cool courage and devotion to duty" during Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on military and industrial targets in Nazi Germany and enemy-occupied Europe.

RALLS

Capt. Ralls is a member of the 34th Bomb Group, a unit of the Third Bombardment Division, the division cited by the President for its now historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany. He is a veteran of many aerial assaults on Nazi airfields, oil refineries, bridges, railroad yards and tactical targets.

The heavy bomber pilot has participated in attacks on such well known centers of Nazi industry as the Messerschmitt plant at Fallersleben, oil docks at Hamburg, and railroad yards at Ludwigshafen and Munster. He also has taken part in assaults on Nazi gun positions at St. Lo, Metz, Caen and the Aachen-Duren area.

"Every troop support mission gave me a big thrill," he said. "We were very close to our boys on the ground and were helping them clean up in their immediate area and gain the momentum for thrusts into the very heart of Germany."

Capt. Ralls also holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters for "meritorious achievement while participating in the air offensive against the enemy over continental Europe."

His wife, Mrs. Doris M. Ralls, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Ralls, live at Ralls. A graduate of Ralls High school, he attended Texas A. & M. college, College Station, and Texas Technological college, Lubbock. He was farming before entering the AAF in October, 1940.

Lubbock Man Lauds Platoon Sergeant

McCLOSKEY GENERAL HOSPITAL, Temple—The heroic exploits of his platoon sergeant were told by Pvt. Marvin Clark of Lubbock, Texas upon his arrival at McCloskey General hospital.

"One morning about five o'clock our platoon was ordered to move out and relieve the 2nd platoon on a road block about a mile from our resting place.

"We were attacked by German troops about half way to the road block. Our platoon sergeant was leading us into the thick of battle when he stepped on a land mine, completely destroying his left foot. He told the assistant platoon leader to take over, then with perspiration breaking out on his face and body, the sergeant took his belt and bayonet and made a tourniquet which he put on his leg; he then proceeded to take command of his platoon again."

Pvt. Clark participated in the North African campaign, the Sicilian campaign, and the French campaign. He lost his left leg in France when he was hit by aerial bomb fragments.

News From The Men Serving In The Armed Forces Of Uncle Sam

Dalton Maurice Teague, seaman second class, U. S. Naval Reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Teague, Shallowater, has been pronounced dead by the Navy department, according to a letter from Secretary James Forrestal. He had been missing since Nov. 24, 1943. "Your son," the letter stated, "has been carried on the official records of the Navy Department in the status of missing in action as of 24 November, 1943. He was serving on board the USS LISCOMB BAY when that vessel was torpedoed while participating in the capture of the Gilbert Islands. The carrier went down shortly after the torpedo explosion occurred. Favorable weather conditions enabled nearby United States vessels to make a prompt and complete search for survivors. "In view of the length of time that has elapsed without any indication that your son survived, and because of the strong presumption that he lost his life at the time of the explosion or shortly thereafter, I am reluctantly forced to the conclusion that he is deceased" . . . Seaman Teague enlisted in the service on April 5, 1943 and took his training at San Diego. He was sent overseas on Sept. 1, 1943. He was a graduate of Shallowater High school and was employed by Douglas Aircraft company. His two brothers are also in the Navy having just completed their boot training. Lowell is now

T/4 J. L. Russell of Route 6, Lubbock, is now fighting in France with the famous fighting 712th Tank battalion which is the armored spearhead of the famed 90th division. Lt. (j.g.) Ralph K. Cocanougher, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, 1711-B Fourteenth, has a feature role in the book, "Helldiver Squadron," by Robert Olds, just published by Dodd, Mead & Co, New York. Lt. Cocanougher was a member of Bombing Squadron 17, based aboard a giant new Essex-class flat-top. The squadron was the first combat team to go into battle with the new big Helldiver dive bombers. He joined the unit in the Southwest Pacific as a replacement, but saw much action, including the first carrier plane raid on the Marianas Islands. For his bravery during the Truk and Tinian raids, he was awarded the Air Medal by the Navy. Bombing 17 went into action just as the war in the Pacific was shifting from the defensive to all-out offensive. With their comrades in Hellcat fighters and Avenger torpedo planes, the squadron played a dramatic, smashing role in driving the Japs back across the Pacific. There was scarcely time for rest between actions. When the big flat-top was not making daring raids deep into enemy waters in the Southwest Pacific, its pilots were engaged in the great pile-driver assaults with famed Task Force 58 in the Central Pacific. Rear Admiral John J. Ballentine, who at the time was captain of the aircraft carrier (her name is withheld by censors) declared that: "No crew of any carrier has accomplished more or seen more action in so short a space of time."

The group's fighter pilots destroyed 36 enemy planes and damaged 52 others in the first such long-range, low-level strafing attacks in strength. An Oak Leaf Cluster was added for an escort mission over enemy rail yards at Aversa, Italy, where the P-38 pilots beat off an enemy attacking force estimated at 75 planes, enabling a 15th AAF heavy bomber formation to reach the target. The second cluster was for a withdrawal cover mission in support of a heavy bomber attack on the Roamno Americano oil refineries at Ploesti, Romania, where the fighter pilots engaged and drove away 80 enemy planes attacking the bombers at a loss of only one P-38. Ten enemy planes were shot down in the battle.

At The USO

One of the busies. places in town particularly during the Christmas season is the Lubbock USO center, 1211 Thirteenth, which is buzzing constantly with many activities.

Julia Cook was recently talking to an English navigator in RAF training, who was on leave just visiting the states. He dropped in the USO for a bit of entertainment and Julia found out while she was talking with him that he was disappointed in Lubbock because he had seen no ten gallon hats and plaid shirts. He admitted that Lubbock was more civilized than he expected after hearing tall tales from a Texan in his group who had been spreading the wild and woolly West on a little thick. Julia said the young man was about 18, attractive and had "gorgeous" manners. He was hitch-hiking his way to California by air. She tried to convince him that the people in Lubbock are quite hospitable and would probably ask you to dinner instead of being the type of characters he described.

Breakfast call will be held at 10 a. m. this morning and this afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock, the Ladies Country Club association will be hostesses.

A very shy, blushing soldier came in the center recently and ask Miss Leona Gelin if he could put some cookies in the cookie jar because his mother had sent him more than he could eat.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16.—Exclusively Yours: For the first time Hollywood is about to link a great motion picture of the past with the present. It's Preston Sturges' idea for Harold Lloyd's return to the screen. The new flim will open with the final scene of Lloyd's 20-year-old comedy "The Freshman," and then continue from there. It's another first in recent weeks for Lloyd, who recently debuted on the air as host of the "Comedy Theater" program.

Ida Lupino, "resting" between films in her usual manner, is up to her neck in a new camp show idea with Monte Woolley, who is coaching her in "Macbeth.'

Ruth Hussey is headed for a glamor girl buildup in Andrew Stone's new movie "Bedside Manner."

PUPPET PARTNERSHIP

NOW it's plastic cartoon characters. Two of Walt Disney's former artists, Larry Morey and John Sutherland, have formed a "Daffy Ditty" company, starring plastic puppets.

Leave it to Hollywood to put showmanship into the blood bank drive. Ingrid Bergman and Jennifer Jones registered donors at the Selznick studio, and a Marine combat team staged a sham battle on the studio's front lawn.

Bachelor 'Finds' In Films Are Few

By HAZEL HARTZOG
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16 — In silent film days, no young actor was seriously considered for a build-up in romantic roles unless he was single. Not so today. Studios now regard it as a lucky accident if a promising masculine "find" is a bachelor.

Usually they have found that by the time he has learned how to act convincingly in front of a camera and beneath a michrophone, he has not only a wife, but probably a family.

Eythe Is Exception

An exception is tall, dark William Eythe, featured in the Ernst Lubitsch romantic comedy, "A Royal Scandal."

Eythe is in his middle 20s and unmarried.

Turned down by the armed forces because of punctured eardrums, he was grabbed by the movies—20th Century-Fox—after a successful role in the Broadway version of "The Moon Is Down."

Studio Kept Him Quiet

The studio kept this "find" quiet for several months. Then he went into "The Song of Bernadette" as a young peasant who discovered the miraculous spring. Next came the romantic lead in "The Eve of St. Mark," then a Princeton football player in "Wilson," and junior hero in "Wing and a Prayer."

In "The Royal Scandal," a number which treats the life and times of Catherine the Great in a humorous manner, he plays the young lieutenant of hussars who is the heart interest of both Tallulah Bankhead and Anne Baxter.

Has Been Only One

Eythe has the usual romantic ups and downs in this film—as can be imagined with both Miss Bankhead and Miss Baxter involved.

But in private life, Eythe admits, there has been only one girl—so far.

The only trouble, he says, and the only reason he isn't married, is that the young lady married somebody else.

"I didn't realize in time that she was the kind of girl I wanted for a wife. In fact, I didn't realize it until she eloped with someone else."

Eythe says he won't make that mistake again—if he meets the right girl, who, incidentally, would be one something like the one who married the other guy. Meanwhile he's quite content to make love to Miss Bankhead and Miss Baxter and other screen lovelies in films.

Liquor Board Exempt From Price Control

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 16 (AP) — The U. S. Fifth circuit court of appeals has held that price control is not applicable to sale of forfeited liquor by the Texas Liquor Control board.

The court affirmed judgment of the western Texas district court which refused an injunction asked by Chester Bowles, Office of Price administration administrator, seeking to halt the sale of about 100 cases of forfeited whiskies and wines for "the best available price" on Oct. 15, 1943.

The court said the sales were made only to persons licensed by the state and not to consumers, and that purchasers assumed full responsibility to the OPA for any resale.

Former Chef Is One Of Hollywood's Busiest Actors; He Acts In The Films Now For Fun

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16—A 53-year-old Italian-born chef, who in seven years ran a three-buck investment into a $1,000,000 enterprise, then retired to play in movies as a hobby, today is one of Hollywood's busiest actors.

He is Joseph Leopoldi Milani, who chose to be a first cook rather than a second Caruso, as was his family's wish back in Naples.

Playing In 13th Picture

His father once was a wealthy jeweler under appointment to the Royal House of Italy and his brother became director of the private symphony orchestra for the King of Egypt.

By day, tall, bighearted Milani currently is playing in his 13th picture within a year.

By night, he is chef at the Hollywood Canteen, where he recently fed his two millionth service man with food he personally persuades grocery stores to donate for the cause.

Patriotic Thanks

And, when he goes home at midnight, Milani, who only recently became a naturalized citizen, gets down on his knees and offers thanks for being an American.

"God, he no pay you justa on Saturday nights," says Milani. "He watches over you always."

Recently he baked a gigantic cake and gave it to volunteer musicians who play at the Canteen. Weighing a ton and containing 16 layers, it stood 10 feet square and 38 inches high and fed 9,000 persons.

At 20, Milani arrived in this country and became a noted hotel chef. Then he came to Hollywood where he bought a home and planked down $10,000 cash for a restaurant the first day. Only one couple dined there next day.

"The owners had hired people to eat there to make it look good," Milani says.

Illness Intervenes

But he soon built his restaurant into one of Hollywood's most popular. Then he took sick, sold out and moved to Seattle for his health.

However, he couldn't stand idleness or illness. With $3 worth of ingredients, Milani propped himself up beside the kitchen stove to make some of the finest enchilades Seattle ever saw. He added other dishes, including a canned chicken and noodle combination which alone developed into a million dollar business.

Opened Cooking Schools

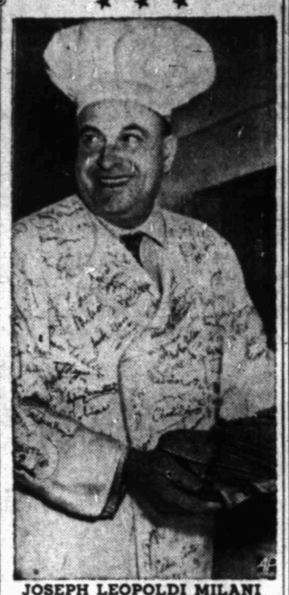

Seven years later Milani sold out and from coast to coast opened cooking schools. While he cooked he sang old arias, to the accompaniment of an orchestra.

One day a director friend of Milani's prevailed upon him to play a restaurant proprietor in a movie. And the cameras claimed him regularly.

But his heart still is in food. Recently, Eddie Cantor offered him $50,000 to open a restaurant here.

Milani said maybe — after the war.

If a dish becomes too heavily salted by mistake, the addition of small amounts of sugar may be helpful in counteracting the flavor.

Bradley Cites Heavy German Casualties

U.S. TWELFTH ARMY GROUP Advanced Headquarters, Dec. 16. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, U. S. Twelfth army group commander, said today that German battle casualties are anywhere from three to five greater than American and that the offensive is being pressed despite poor weather because the Germans cannot long stand these losses.

Remarking that the Yanks are capturing a considerable number of "green" enemy troops, Bradley pointed out the advantage of attacking them now instead of waiting until they get several months' experience.

"If we had three months of good weather, it would make a whale of a difference," he told a press conference. "We are going ahead as best we can without it because time is playing in favor of the enemy."

The heavier German attrition rate is due, he said, to American superiority in air support, artillery, equipment and infantry. However, he warned against over-optimisim, saying, "we are now suffering from the optimism of August, September, and October and the war is being prolonged on account of it."

'Payroll Padding' Is Charged In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 16. (AP) — Gov. James H. Davis last night refused newsmen permission to see the payrolls of the state Civilian Defense department and told them they would see the records "when I'm ready for you to see them."

Reporters had asked Davis, at the mansion, for permission to see the rolls after they had been described today by P. A. Juneau, resigning OCD coordinating, as containing "a lot" of employes who were not working.

Davis later called the capitol press room and added that the OCD appropriations "will not be exceeded."

The former state senator from Lafayette, who plans to return to the wholesale drug business there, said he never saw the OCD payroll, but learned from cancelled checks that it included among others, "at least two band boys at "$300 a month," in comparison with his own salary of $325.

Juneau, who volunteered no statement but answered all questions by reporters, said the state OCD's "only function" now was as custodian of OCD property, work which he and his secretary handled.

Texas Textile Mills Seek To Boost Output

DALLAS, Dec. 16 (AP)—Texas textile mills are trying to increase production sharply to relieve a 40 per cent shortage of textiles needed on battlefronts, Bryan Miller, assistant manager of mills in Dallas, McKinney and Waco said here yesterday.

Miller said a labor shortage is the only obstacle. He said if workers can be obtained a three-shift capacity production will be assured.

Maximum output of nine Texas plants is being sought by Army Service forces, working with War Production board and War Manpower commission. Efforts are being made to obtain 800 additional workers in Dallas, Waco and McKinney, and to boost the minimum wage rate of 45 cents an hour paid by the Dallas textile mills plant.

War Veteran In High School Is Decorated

TEMPLE, Dec. 16 (AP)—Charles M. O'Connor, jr., now a Temple High school student, was decorated here today for gallantry in action in the Pacific war.

He was presented the Bronze Star in a special retreat ceremony at McCloskey general hospital for his courageous conduct on Guadalcanal. He was in the Army three years and four months. Disabled, he was discharged from the Army and enrolled in high school here under provisions of the GI Bill of rights.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

GALVESTON, Dec. 16 (AP) — George Phillips has been charged with murder and assault to murder in connection with the fatal shooting Tuesday of Mrs. Marie Charbonnet, 21, and the wounding of Tony Garcia in an establishment police said was owned by Phillips.

Twenty insect types are potential enemies of the guayule, rubber producing plant.

We Can't Afford Another War!; Ceiling Prices Seen For Live Cattle

U. S. Must Keep Strong

A Trained Youth Is The Answer

BY the time both ends of the current global war have been won, the United States will have spent at least $300,000,000,000 (yes, 300 billions of dollars) at the task.

That is a tremendous amount of money, which is only one of about a thousand ways to say that modern war is a costly pursuit.

But you haven't heard the worst. Not yet.

In addition to the $300,000,000,000 it will cost us to whip the Germans and the Japs, into the lap of the God of War also will be poured 1,000,000 men—dead and wounded.

The cost in dollars, no matter how high, can be calculated.

The cost in blood and in corpses cannot be. That is the expenditure from which we can never recover, because blood and lives, when once lost, cannot be replaced.

It requires neither the mind of an eminent humanitarian, nor of an expert financier, to come to the quick conclusion that not even the U.S.A. may be able to afford, in lives, blood, or dollars, another such war. Yes, we have the richest country under the shining sun in intelligent manpower, natural resources and productive ability. But even so, we cannot survive another war—at least for several generations, and perhaps not ever.

Therefore, it will occur to anyone who thinks that all our wealth, and all our brains, and all our industrial brawn should be pointed, in the postwar era, to prevention of another war.

That must be our first policy. It must be our dominating policy. It must become with us a national fetish.

Recent excursions of our British and Russian allies into the worn fields of power politics should make us Americans wary of depending too greatly upon international cooperation, alone, to safeguard the future peace. At its best, such a peace guarantee is a theory as yet unproven in practice. Therefore, we should devise safeguards all our own.

One way we may make our inclusion in any future war less likely is to keep our defenses so strong that (1) our force may be able to prevent warring on the part of other nations; and (2) our strength may discourage other nations from attacking us. This we can do, partially, at least, by universal compulsory military training.

Let the American people realize that. Let them not be misled by the more aesthetic who, however well meaning, already are crying against national preparedness and for a return of the extreme pacifism which so nearly proved fatal at Pearl Harbor.

It's All In A Good Cause

THE fact that Lubbock put its Tenth Annual Goodfellow Christmas fund over the $1,500 goal in record time—and topped the sum asked by well over one-third—paints a familiar, but none-the-less vivid picture of the over-all generosity of this community.

For each consecutive year of the past decade, the Goodfellow fund has been easier to put over than it has been to stop. It is a movement of universal appeal—that of an underprivileged child at Christmas — and it has firmly established itself as the most popular of all the many publicly-supported efforts here.

The Avalanche-Journal had one letter this year from a reader who sincerely questioned the need for a Goodfellow fund under current conditions. A farmer, this reader said he didn't believe there were 2,000 "indgent" children in the city and we agree with him that there are not, assuming that he meant the word to carry its extreme meaning. Our friend pointed out the high wage scales prevailing in town and in the cotton patches and he undoubtedly meant well when he said that if the "steam" used on the Goodfellow drive had been applied to the war effort, it would have been better used.

Well, the Goodfellow leadership thought of all those things. But they knew, too, that while there are not as many hungry kiddies in Lubbock this year as there have been at times in the past, there are many who will need a Goodfellow gift if their Christmas Day is to be complete. They knew many widows who, though working, were just "barely getting by" and who would welcome Goodfellow aid for their youngsters. They knew, too, of many other cases where lazy, shiftless parents were working no more than necessary to "just get by," yet saw no reason why innocent children of such laggards should be made to pay the penalty of an unhappy Christmas.

So the Goodfellows rode again—and the rank and file of the Lubbock public rode knee-to-knee with them.

For our part, we think it better that some undeserving youngsters get a gift package on Christmas morning than for even one deserving child to be left out.

One-Minute Sermon

Let brotherly love continue. But not forgetful to entertain stranger: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.—Hebrews 13:1-2.

Memories March Down The Corridor Of Time In Recent Probe

Senate Caucus Room Has Seen Much History Made

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Places become associated with eras of history.

The caucus room of the Senate Office building is such a place in the era of our history beginning with the Roosevelt regime in 1933, even though it does not have the atmosphere of rampant democracy. It's somewhat ornate and rather old-fashioned, a huge vault of a room, like a mausoleum of some ancient king, with great windows ice.

It has cold marble floors and across it have tapped the feet of those who have come here in the last dozen years to tell on one side, and high ceilings from which four chandeliers drip handsomely, like inverted fountains spewing much of the history of our times, like echoes down some long and far-off corridor.

Here at the long table there sat, one after another, in the early days of the New Deal the big figures of banking and finance to relate, under harrying questions, the sordid story of our reckless age of the '20's, that fevered orgy of speculation that finally brought the house down about our ears and started the political revolution that put the new deal into power.

It was a confession of sorry stewardship before the Senate Banking committee. You could almost hear that angry roar of the mob far away.

Much that has happened since was in reaction from that shock, some things that needed to be done, some that were overdone, some that were stopped.

Willkie There, Too

One of the last category was President Roosevelt's Supreme Court "Packing" bill, and it was in this very same room, with the Senate Judiciary committee in session, that the wily and adroit Senator Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona, committee chairman, dragged out the long public hearings that finally smothered that project.

Here also thundered the prelude of war, for it was in this room that the committee debate over the Lend-Lease bill took place, and here it was, too, that the late Wendell L. Willkie gave American political language another phrase, with an airy wave of his big right hand: "Merely campaign oratory."

HERE, month after month, the Truman committee drew out the story of the fumbling and bumbling that democracy goes through in making ready the implements of war, ferreting out the weak links in the endlessly rolling chain of production, and showing that some men are greedy even in the hour of their country's crisis.

It was quite proper, then, that this now historic room should be the scene in another chapter in the history of our times. The people asked for an accounting, through their representatives, of the new men appointed to the State department to assist the President and the Secretary of State in the formulation of what they hope is a people's peace.

It was a healthy gesture of democracy when a number of senators rose up, a few days back, to ask some questions about what Secretary Stettinius calls his "team," and to demand that the members of the team, themselves, be called up to answer, for some of them come from backgrounds of big business and great wealth.

To get the men before the committee, out in public, was quite a gain.

But the show didn't quite come off. In fact, it came closer to being a farce, one of those dressed-up farces, stiffly acted. This was due partly to the skillful stage managing of Senator Tom Connally (D., Tex.), Foreign Relations committee chairman, who didn't like all this questioning anyhow. He got his committee to limit questioning to members of the committee.

FOR the most part, they seemed tongue-tied and stage-struck in the presence of the diplomats, at least for the first four officials who appeared the first day. Other senators who attended not members of the committee, were constrained to keep quiet.

Senator "Happy" Chandler (D., Ky.) who started all this business with an angry outburst in the Senate that he thought the "poor folks" had won the election, sat, like a round-faced youngster chock full of questions who was being disciplined by the teacher.

Perhaps it all adds up to the fact that we can deflate our bankers, but we can't yet get up nerve to deflate our diplomats.

Maybe the very fact that they were called on the carpet will help.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

SOMETIMES I wonder if this column of mine should deal with more important things, if it should talk about the great problems of war and politics and economics and industry and finance.

Sometimes I envy Westbrook Pegler and Drew Pearson and George Sokolsky and Paul Mallon and even Walter Winchell who is at home in the Waldorf-Astoria, while I, simple Connecticut ruralist, look at these gilded palaces in awe.

But then, just when I am getting ready to talk to you about post-war problems or the Fourth Term, my mail arrives and I get a letter from a girl who has a 19-year-old sister who is hopelessly in love with a married man.

The girl tells me that she showed a column of mine to her sister and how that column got her out of the glooms and made her see life in its true meaning again, and then I say to myself: "Let Pegler and Winchell and Mallon and Pearson write about the important things and I'll just keep on talking about the little things that mean so much to so many people. May be I'll never be as famous as they, may be I'll never make as much money, may be, the owner of a night club, will never send champagne to my table or give my wife a bottle of $10 perfume. But I'll have helped some people to get a little more happiness out of life and to make their chores a little easier for them, and I am satisfied."

I just read Lin Yutang's book "The Importance of Living" for the third time. Only I don't read the whole book in one sitting. I read a chapter then.

And, somehow, things always become more simple after the reading and life seems a little more pleasant to live.

SO, when I was thinking about the importance of being important and writing about important things, I came, in Lin Yutang's book, across these epigrams of Chang Ch'ao, the great Chinese philosopher:

"To be born in times of peace in a district with hills and lakes when the magistrate is just and upright, and to live in a family of comfortable means, marry an understanding wife and have intelligent sons—this is what I call a perfect life."

"To have hills and valleys in one's breast enables one to live in a city as in a mountain wood, and to be devoted to clouds transforms the continent into a fairy isle."

"To sit alone on a quiet night—to invite the moon and tell her one's sorrow—to keep alone on a good night—and to call the insects and tell them one's regrets—."

Or would you rather hear about politics and taxes?

OPA Faces Meat Puzzle

(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The controversial question of ceiling prices on cattle on the hoof was postponed before election, but is now due for a real showdown. Behind this are strikes by small meat packers in New York and New Jersey, plus increasing strikes by meat dealers. If the question is not settled, the entire meat price structure is faced with complete breakdown.

PEARSON

Bringing the question to a head, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles sent Economic Stabilizer Vinson and War Food Administrator Jones emphatic demand's for setting of ceiling prices on live cattle. He told them bluntly that if this is turned down the price control of meat will no longer be possible.

Difficulty is that there is strict price control on slaughtered meat, from the slaughterer through the retailer. But there is no ceiling on live cattle. Meat packers claim that they have to pay so much for live cattle that there is no margin of profit if they sell within the ceiling price.

FARMERS ARE LOSING, TOO

FARMERS, however, claim that there is something wrong some place, because they are not getting enough for live cattle to pay for feed. The meat packer claims he has to pay 18½ cents a pound for live cattle, but receives only 21 to 23 cents a pound from the Army—which leaves no profit for him. However, farmers claim that instead of receiving 18½ cents a pound on the hoof, the net price paid them by the slaughterers runs several cents less.

Most meat packers claim they are selling at a loss. What they don't admit, however, is that some of them sell the meat which they don't sell to the Army to civilians in the black market. About 60 per cent of their choice cuts go to the Army and about 40 per cent of their choice cuts are left over for civilians.

Meanwhile, the small butchers, forced to stick to ceiling prices, cannot afford to buy black market meat and are up against it.

This is the knotty problem which OPA Boss Chester Bowles has dropped in the lap of Food Administrator Jones and Price Stabilizer Vinson.

CAPITOL CHAFF

DESPITE the terrific manpower shortage, the U. S. employment service is certifying many job applicants to the Census bureau for work instead of to war plants . . . One reason why Nelson Rockefeller may be having so little trouble getting appropriations is the fact that Budget Director Harold Smith's wife is on the payroll of Rockefeller's office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs . . . First things Ed Stettinius did after getting his new post was to call his wife, then tell his staff what happened and then order Secretary Hull's office completely repainted and redecorated . . . Stettinius also ordered the removal of Hull's aspidistra plants which lent an early Victorian atmosphere to the ex-secretary's inner sanctum . . . The group which knows most about the inner workings of the State department personnel are nurses who do first aid in the dingy State department health room. They handle everything from the Secretary's sore throats to messengers' stubbed toes . . . Principal keepsake Cordell Hull will take from the department is his swivel chair which traditionally is given each outgoing Secretary.

U. S. BOSS OF NEAR EAST?

GENERAL Benjamin Frankin Giles, the U. S. army's gift to the Near East, has issued an order banning State department, UNRRA, FEA, and other U. S. civilian officials from coming in through the front door of his Cairo headquarters. All U. S. civilian officials were ordered to use the back entrance.

When State department officials squawked the order was finally rescinded.

General Giles also banned civilians as patients in the Army hospital for a while, forced UNRRA to set up its own clinic in Cairo to take care of American government employees who became ill. Most distressing single morale-breaker imposed on civilians by Giles was an order preventing them from using the Army postal service to send and receive mail. This meant Americans in Cairo had to wait for the painfully slow regular mail service to hear from home. After enough protests came into Washington, civilian agencies put pressure on the Army, finally got the order revoked.

NOTE—General Giles is the man who ordered U. S. newsmen not to cable home anything critical of the British, especially during the early stages of the Greek-British crisis. That was one reason why the American public got news of the Greek turmoil with such a thud. Actually it had been brewing for some time.

DEMOCRATS LOOK AHEAD

DEMOCRATIC leaders have been telling Democratic Chairman Bob Hannegan that he will occupy one of the toughest spots in public life for the next two years. While their tone is semi-joking when they say this, actually they are in dead earnest. Hannegan's job will be to prevent the backsliding of 1938 and 1942 when the congressional elections come up two years hence.

He will have a good deal more help in the job than his predecessors, just as he had a good deal more help in the recent presidential election. Democratic politicos, no matter how they feel personally about Sidney Hillman, admit privately that, without the aid of the PAC and other strong independent committees, including Leon Henderson's Independent Progressive committee, a Republican congress would have been elected and perhaps a Republican President.

Party machinery, they admit, did not function well throughout the campaign; they were constantly dissatisfied with the operation of the national committee; and meetings of the Senate and House campaign groups were the scene of constant crabbing about poor publicity. But now that the election is over, the bitterness is disappearing, with veteran solons willing to charge it off to inexperience.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION PLANNED

HANNEGAN will work now to develop a network of local Democratic groups which will see to it that registration for voting is built up in 1946 and that the vote aims for another Democratic House. There are even hopes that the Senate majority will be increased, with tough fights looming for Republicans Butler of Nebraska, Johnson of California, Shipstead of Minnesota, Vandenberg of Michigan, Willis of Indiana, and Progressive Bob La Follette of Wisconsin.

Unless the Democratic National committee can do this job itself, it will have to rely again upon the non-party groups which won the election for it last month. Meanwhile, the southern wing of the party and the middle-of-the-roaders are preparing to fight against dependence upon non-party elements. They fear that the party will become too definitely the liberal party.

That's why, in many towns and cities—and even in rural districts—where the Democratic party usually shows its head only every two years, it will have to continue active. A giant financing drive is getting under way now to back this activity—with liberals approached on the basis of keeping the Republicans out of control in 1946, and Old-Line Democrats approached on the basis of keeping Sidney Hillman out of the driver's seat.

"How Dear To My Heart"—Latest Kimbrough

Carol Brink's "Buffalo Coat" Tells Of Fight Against Typhoid

EMILY KIMBROUGH grew up in Muncie, Ind., in the midst of the most high-spirited and numerous relatives ever to bless a future author. She tells about them in her new book, "How Dear to My Heart." (Dodd, Mead, N. Y.). The book also contains delightful reminiscences of school days as mis-adventurous as the famous trips to Paris and Hollywood Miss Kimbrough and Cornelia Otis Skinner described in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," and "We Followed Our Hearts to Hollywood." But it is about Grandma Wiles, Emily Kimbrough's grandmother, that we would like to tell you.

Grandma Wiles' name may go down in history as the woman who honored a President in a truly memorable fashion. It was all because Grandma Wiles was a great friend of President and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. The Wileses and Harrisons lived right next door in Indianapolis. After Harrison was elected to the presidency, he and his wife went to Washington to live, and their house stood empty. One night some time after they had gone, Grandma Wiles was watering her garden. Suddenly a key turned in the lock of the garden gate and there stood President Harrison.

Turned Hose On President

"Why Benjamin," Grandma Wiles cried. In her astonishment she turned the hose right into the President's face. He was astounded, too, and staggered from the impact into the shrubbery Thus Mrs. Harrison was revealed right behind him.

"Why Mary," Grandma Wiles called. Then, in her pleasure, she diverted the nozzle of the hose with a jerk to Mrs. Harrison's countenance.

But even so, the Harrisons accepted the invitation to a reception Grandma and Grandpa Wiles wanted to give in their honor. Grandma, however, never did quite recover from that reception. She engaged a French hairdresser to come to the house and give her a coiffure that would be worthy of the President of the United States. Unfortunately, after the man arrived and was working on her hair, Grandma decided that the room was stifling. When bells and calls did not produce anyone who could do anything about it, Grandma took it upon herself to give the furnace her personal attention. She had probably never seen a furnace in her life before, but that stopped her not a moment. You only had to look at it to see it was too hot.

So, she filled a pail full of water, opened the furnace door, and threw the water on the white-hot coals. Then came the explosion which sent Grandma flying halfway across the cellar. When Grandma sat up, she didn't seem to be hurt and the fire looked much lower. She hurried upstairs to get her hair finished. The Frenchman fainted dead away on seeing her. Grandma was black from head to foot all except the top of her head. That was bare and shiny as a darning egg. Not a bit daunted, Grandma had the Frenchman revived and ordered her hair done in a manner to cover the bald spot. Half an hour later, she and Grandpa Wiles received their guests. But Grandma carried the foot-print of history right to her grave. The top of her head was more or less bald ever after the reception for President and Mrs. Harrison.

DO you remember the fight against typhoid that A. J. Cronin described in "The Citadel"? Remember how the young doctor and his friend finally dynamited the town's sewage disposal system when they couldn't get the health authorities to put in a new, hygenic one? In Carol Brink's new novel, "Buffalo Coat," there is also a fight to conquer typhoid in a small town, but the dynamite in "Buffalo Coat" is a bewitching and spirited girl named Jenny Welden.

A young girl like the Reverend Walden's daughter, Jenny, made a sensational crusader in the thriving town of Opportunity, Idaho, 70 years ago. Hugh Allerton, the young doctor who had recently settled in the town with his wife, had convinced Jenny that a new water and disposal system would rid Opportunity of its yearly typhoid epidemic. And Jenny took up Hugh's cause, and made it her own crusade. What Hugh lacked in the popular touch, Jenny more than supplied.

Faced Powerful Opposition

They needed every bit of support they could muster for they faced powerful opposition. Old Doc Hawkins was against the new system and the people of Opportunity were inclined to listen to him. Hawkins had been the leading doctor in town for 20 years and his energy had brought Opportunity its courthouse, its cemetery, the Opera House and the high school. The town had made Doc prosperous. He owned much of its real estate, but even this showed his belief in his community. Hawkins, the townspeo-

HANG ON!

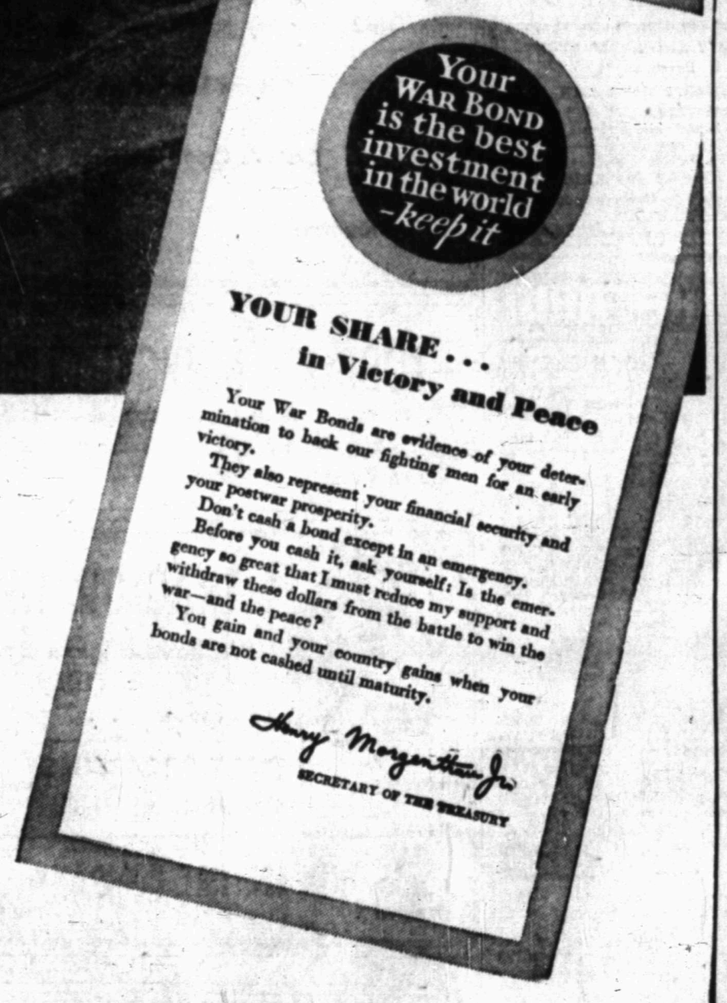

AMERICA WON'T LET YOU DOWN

Blasted out of the sky in the battle for the Philippines, he waits in shark-infested waters—alone. Surely they'll send out rescue planes—surely they'll find him! Boy, what he wouldn't give for another crack at those Japs! For the chance to finish the fight.

He knows the war isn't over yet—not by a long shot. But do the folks back home know that, he wonders? Are they still working hard for victory—still buying bonds, and hanging onto the bonds they buy? Hanging on for dear life, as he is now?

Ask yourself these questions before you tell him not to worry—that of course America won't let him down. Ask them again when you start to cash in a War Bond you don't absolutely need to redeem—when more and more equipment is needed to finish the fight. [Ships, tanks, planes—lots of planes. Like B-29's, costing $600,000 in War Bonds each. Or like rescue planes.

ple said, must be right in calling the new water and disposal system new-fangled nonsense. They had been "yessing" him for years and couldn't get out of the habit.

When the people talked down the new system, Jenny got fighting mad. She buttonholed every business man on Main Street. She lectured their wives at sewing circles and literary teas. "Did they want their children to die every year from typhoid," she cried. "Didn't they know that the bad water and disposal system was causing this yearly typhoid epidemic?"

Saved Her Trump Card

Finally Jenny roused enough of them so that the mayor had to call a meeting. Like a true campaigner, she saved her trump card for the packed Opera House. Hugh Allerton spoke first and hardly caused a ripple. The people were prejudiced against him in spite of Jenny's support. Old Doc Hawkins rose and heaped ridicule on the whole idea. The audience roared, but their laughter was cut short when Jenny jumped to her feet and shouted:

"Doc Hawkins owns at least 20 old houses in this town." She pointed an accusing finger at the old Doc. "There are enough defective cesspools on his old properties to keep this town supplied with typhoid germs for years to come. Of course, the Doc will have to pay the biggest water and paving taxes in town if Dr. Allerton's proposal goes through. Maybe that is why he's against the new system."

Jenny's revelation stunned the people of Opportunity. They had trusted Doc Hawkins with their aches and pains, with their very lives, and now he had betrayed them all to save 20 old pieces of property. That very night they voted against him for the first time in their lives. Opportunity's children were saved from typhoid by a lone girl who had nothing to gain from her heroic fight except the love and gratitude of a man she could never marry.

Mindoro Natives Are Overjoyed At Sight Of American Invaders

By ELMONT WAITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH ASSAULT FORCES At Mindoro, Philippines, Dec. 16—Staff Sgt. William Hantone, of Canandaigua, N. Y., was the only man of his reinforced company who found his progress barred in the invasion of Mindoro.

While pushing inland through brush from the northernmost beachhead, he suddenly was clasped tightly.

His "captor" was a native woman. In near hysteria, she exclaimed:

"O, so happy to see you but so scared!"

Japs Fled Inland

Evidently what Japanese were on the island had retreated speedily inland as the dawn bombardment of our ships paved the way for the invaders.

Small units of troopers pushed swiftly after them with no immediate contact reported.

The Yanks stood up to watch and cheer our destroyers but Capt. Neil Taylor, Greenwood, Miss., stopped that.

"What do you think this is?" he asked. "A Saturday afternoon football game?"

He grinned.

"Now get yourselves dug in."

Jap Planes Appeared

The appearance of Japanese planes at that moment speeded up the digging. Anti-aircraft fire dotted the whole sky over the bay.

Ranging as far as the horizon southward from Captain Taylor's beach were other landing areas.

LSTs (landing ships with tanks) nosed in to the sand. Bulldozers crawled out with a splash and began pushing piles of sand and dirt into driveways, or piers up to ships' ramps. Trucks and other vehicles began pouring out.

Meanwhile, double lines of men, facing each other three feet apart, formed from ship to shore. Along that double row came box after box of provisions. Each pair tossed the box to the next two men until the storage pile was reached.

Engineers Speed Inland

Engineering parties already were speeding far inland.

The only contact with the Japanese in the first few hours of invasion was a harrassing air attack by a few enemy planes—that plus a lone sniper who didn't last long.

Filipinos greeted troops on the northern beachhead with great bunches of ripe bananas and fresh eggs. Two of them eagerly offered a native canoe as transportation to get this correspondent across a wide river and down to the southern beachheads. They refused pesos. They also refused American money—although their eyes gleamed at the sight of such souvenirs.

"No pay, no pay, very glad help Americans," they said.

Washable leather gloves should be washed on the hands since it is easier to reach the soiled fingertips that way. Water can be pressed out by patting with a dry towel.

Lingerie Shop 'For Men Only' Opened In New York City

NEW YORK, Dec. 16. (AP) — It was too good to be true.

"Respectfully dedicated to men," the lettering on the glass door read, and the word quickly passed around that here on Madison avenue was a lingerie shop made to order for the red-faced husband who, buffeted by women shoppers, mutters furtively to the clerk:

"I'd like one of them, ah, pink things with the doo-dad, for a woman . . . ah . . . about this big around."

Q's was the name of the shop. It opened just in time for the Christmas rush. And it was wonderful, the men said, to be able to buy alongside other men, from salesgirls trained to make you feel at ease. Besides, the girls were whizzes at guessing sizes from vague motions of a man's hand.

Then the women heard about it and:

"The men still do the buying but the women come in and look things over first," confided the proprietress, Mrs. A. M. Quilleret, today. "Sometimes they bring a man in and sometimes they come alone. But they come—in numbers.

"We hope to get back to a 'for men only' basis after Christmas but in the meantime—well, despite the sign on the door, we can't actually bar women."

Taps For Lupe Velez Sounded At Stadium

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16 (AP)—The empty seat at Hollywood Legion stadium which Lupe Velez, the actress who ended her life Thursday, had occupied each Friday night for years to watch the fights, was the subject of a tribute last night.

Spectators stood while a bugler sounded taps and a spotlight was shone on the seat.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Case History No. 1776: Lady who had suffered from high blood pressure for 15 years. She had a terrible roaring in her head and could not close her head and could not close her right hand. She began services after the cause of her condition was located. She is greatly improved and isn't nervous, her head doesn't roar, and she can close her hand. She feels that she has been saved from a lifetime of suffering and misery.

CHIROPRACTIC PRINCIPLES

Nature wants you to be well and she will meet you more than half way in any earnest endeavor that you may make in that direction. When vertebrae become misplaced, they impinge the nerves which carry life-giving energy to all parts and vital organs of the body. If this pressure is not relieved, and the energy supply is thus seriously retarded, disease is the result. The Chiropractor, through scientific spinal adjustments, corrects displacements, restores the full flow of life giving energy. Nature restores the patient to a condition of sound health.
