Wheat Insurance Plan Explained

College Station—"The wheat insurance policy under the crop insurance plan guarantees insured farmers against 15 specific risks," E. N. Holmgreen, administrative officer in charge of the state AAA office at Texas A and M College, said on his return from the statewide crop insurance meeting at Amarillo.

The federal crop insurance policy which will be offered to wheat growers on their 1939 crop was thoroughly explained to Extension Service and AAA employees, state committeemen, and others in the course of the May 2-3 meeting, according to Holmgreen.

The policies are of two types of coverages, one against losses in yields up to half of the average crops and the other against losses up to three-fourths of the average yield. Farmers may choose the type of coverage they want.

The wheat insurance policy is an all-risk one and guarantees against losses in yields of wheat seeded for harvest as grain up to the stated percentages," Holmgreen pointed out. "In addition to a clause which says 'any other unavoidable risks not excluded herein,' the 15 risks which are specified are drought, flood, hail, wind, frost, winter kill, lightning, fire, tornado, storm, insect infestation, animal pests, plant diseases, excessive or deficient moisture, and incursion of animals.

"You notice I said the policy guarantees against losses in yield of wheat seeded for harvest for grain," Holmgreen continued. "That means just what it says. Losses are payable in actual wheat. Under the plan, the insured farmer will have wheat to sell up to the amount specified in the policy. If his crop fails, he simply calls on the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to deliver, and he can take his payments either in wheat or in cash at the prevailing price on the number of bushels due."

Wheat crop insurance policies for the first three years will be written for one year only, and growers will have to take out a new policy each year. After this period, however, the plan is to offer policies for terms of several years.

Premiums are payable in actual wheat, and will vary from about a half bushel per insured acre a year on the surest wheat lands to something over two bushels on the more risky lands.

The procedure of paying premiums, as explained by Holmgreen, consists of turning over the amount of wheat required to an acceptably bonded elevator and securing a storage receipt, which is left at the county agricultural agent's office.

At the option of the grower, the premium can be paid in cash equivalent to the amount of the wheat required. Payment will be made to a bonded representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation who will be located in the county agricultural agent's office. The Corporation will then buy and store an equivalent amount of wheat.

"Once the receipt for insurance is in his pocket, all the farmer has to do is to play fair with the Corporation to rest assured that he is protected against the 15 specific hazards mentioned, plus the other unavoidable losses covered by the clause 'not excluded herein,'" Holmgreen said.

Among the "play fair" stipulations in the policy are items requiring the use of an amount of seed adequate to produce a normal crop, workman-like care in planting and tending the crop, seeding wheat for harvest as grain on adapted land, seeding for harvest as grain the number of acres and the land specified in the policy and the keeping of complete records of the harvesting, threshing, storing, shipment, sale or other disposition of all the wheat produced.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is a chartered set up within the U. S. Department of Agriculture and it will use the existing facilities of the Department as far as possible. Its field operations in Texas will be handled through the AAA set-up by county agricultural agents, and county and community committeemen. The expense of such operations will be borne by the Corporation.

The cost of the insurance will be borne by the farmers who take part in the plan, but the administrative expenses and the cost of storing the wheat reserves will be paid by the Corporation.

Five meetings have been scheduled in the wheat area of Texas during the week of May 16 at which county agricultural agents and committeemen will be given all details of the procedure for taking applications for insurance and other items connected with the program. After the meetings, Extension agents and committeemen will hold county and community meetings at which the plan will be explained in detail.

County Aided By Auto Licenses

More revenue from 1938 automobile licenses improved the balances in three county precinct funds and wiped out the overdraft in the fourth fund, the monthly report compiled by County Auditor J. R. Jones for April showed Thursday.

The bulk of the 1938 license fees, chief source of revenue for the precinct funds, was placed in the funds during March and April.

The report revealed that there was little change in the overdraft of the officers' salary fund, while the overdraft in the general fund increased $3,931 during the month. At the end of April, the deficiency in the latter fund amounted to $28,743.81, and the officers' salary fund was in the red to the extent of $55,709.26.

The precinct 4 overdraft, which on April 1 amounted to $17,760, had been changed to a balance of $2,389 at the end of the month. The comparative balances in the other precinct funds was as follows: Precinct 1, $10,824.79 at the beginning as compared with $29,354.31 at the end of the precinct 2, $18,000 at the beginning of the month and $36,762 at the end of the month; and precinct 3, $20.83 at the beginning of April as compared with $14,387.01 at the end of April.

The jury fund showed a balance of $17,584.10, the report revealed.

Both spinsters and wives are taxed in Nyaaland, according to an official report just published, which comments "It is extremely difficult to justify an annual tax of $4.50 on a native who happens to have three wives."

When You're ROLLING ALONG Think About ROLLING OVER!

25 Miles an Hour

50 Miles an Hour

75 Miles an Hour

An interesting pictorial conception of speed is offered by The Travelers Insurance Company in its latest highway safety booklet entitled "Death Begins at 40." Speed is pictured in terms of "rollability."

For instance, at 25 miles an hour, a moving car has developed about enough energy to roll over once. Your body probably could "take" this.

At 50 miles an hour, however, a moving car has developed not twice, but four times the energy—enough to roll over four times.

You'd have to be lucky to come out of this one alive.

And at 75 miles per hour, the car has developed not three times, but nine times the energy—enough to roll over nine times. Of course, it probably would hit a tree or a culvert long before it did its ninth somersault and then the unused portion of energy would be spent in ripping the culvert, the car, and its occupants to pieces.

The moral: When you are rolling along at a pretty fast clip, think what would happen if you should roll over.

Burk Woman Receives Honor

Mrs. Helen Kincaid, junior from Burkburnett in North Texas State Teachers College, was one of forty-one students of the college who were recently initiated into the Kappa Delta Pi, national scholarship society in education.

The organization is open to all juniors and seniors of the college who have an average of at least a "B" in all courses with juniors being required three free "A's" and seniors five free "A's".

In purpose the organization is similar to the Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society. Any student who holds membership in the Kappa Delta Pi is recognized for his scholastic ability, the membership thus serving as a point of recommendation for one planning to enter any field of endeavor.

Sewing Rooms of WPA to Have Exhibit Friday

Workers at the WPA sewing rooms will hold a project exhibit on Friday from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m. of this week at the local sewing rooms on Avenue D, according to Mrs. George Counter, Jr., who is supervisor of the rooms. The public is invited to inspect the work being done by this organization.

3,964 garments have been made by the 32 workers since November of last year. These include clothing for infants, boys and girls, men and women, and household articles. The estimated payroll per month for operation of the sewing rooms is $1,071.80.

Texas 1938 Markets Show Some Decline

Forwardings of all classes of livestock from Texas to Fort Worth stockyards and interstate points during March combined totaled 5,034 cars, a decline of 5 per cent from March last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Cattle shipments, totaling 3,033 cars, declined 9 per cent; calves, 659 cars, increased 30 per cent; hogs, 762 cars, decreased 13 per cent, and sheep, 560 cars, increased 4 per cent. Shipments during the first three months totaled 13,589 cars, a decline of 7 per cent.

"Receipts of Texas live stock at the Fort Worth market were sharply below those of March of last year, especially of hogs and sheep," the Bureau's report said. "Marketing to Los Angeles also dropped off sharply, while Kansas City and Oklahoma City took more Texas sheep."

Movement of poultry and eggs by rail from Texas to interstate points during March was sharply below that of the corresponding month last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has reported. Poultry shipments totaled 59 cars, compared with 79 in March last year, a decline of 25 per cent; while egg shipments dropped from 94 cars last year to 47 during March of the current year, a decline of 50 per cent.

Thirteen cars of eggs were received in Texas from out-of-state points—twelve cars from Kansas and one car from Missouri.

Poison Gas Gun For Ants, Rodents

Farmers whose crops have been destroyed by ants and underground rodents will be interested in the new exterminator invented and patented by William F. Ramsev of Kerrville.

The apparatus will force gas into the underground tunnels of ants and rodents at the rate of 12,000 cubic feet an hour. The gas is poisonous, killing the inhabitants, eggs and poisoning the food supplies.

Cut ants have been working their way into Texas from South America via Mexico for the past several years. They are very elusive, working only at night and are practically never seen in the daytime. They can strip fruit trees, ornamental hedges, or vegetable gardens in a very few nights.

The gas is forced into the ground by a small machine consisting of a motor and mixing chamber.

Tests show that ant colonies killed by the device as long as three years ago are still uninhabited.

ASK THE CITIZENS WHO OWN THEIR OWN AT HOME

Those communities which have been seeing and wise enough to establish light plants will tell of innumerable advantages derived from such projects. They will speak of profitable revenue.

In Vernon a recent report shows sales totaled $59,908.90; in Lubbock amounted to $219,123.84. Both these plants have competition, and yet judge revenue alone, the citizens are strong support of the plants.

They see the wisdom of owning light at home. Examination of facts in the reason, convinces all that citizens are loyally back municipal ownership by PAGE of home-owned light and power plants.

State Crop Insurance Supervisor Is Named

College—Station—The appointment of E. R. Duke as state crop insurance supervisor for Texas has been announced by Roy Green, general manager of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, according to word received from Washington by the state AAA office at Texas A & M College.

At the time of his appointment, Duke was county agricultural agent of Potter county, and has served Hartley county in a similar capacity. He has been a member of the Extension Service field force since 1927.

From branch offices of the Corporation at Amarillo, Duke will direct the crop insurance plan which will guarantee insured farmers up to 50 or 75 per cent, at the farmer's option, of their average yield on their 1939 wheat seeded for harvest.

About 22 per cent of the slaves shipped from Africa to America at the height of the traffic perished en route.

Burk Firemen To Bring Jimmie Hull To City

Jimmie Hull's Players, undoubtedly America's biggest and most elaborate tent theatre, is coming to Burk Burnett for one night only, Tuesday, May 17, under the auspices of the Burk Burnett Volunteer Fire Department.

In bringing this company of 30 people to this city the management wishes to especially emphasize the fact that the Jimmie Hull Players is one of the oldest and most reliable tent theatres on the road, being in its sixteenth year and now in its 676 consecutive week.

Originally organized as a stock company, the show has enjoyed long permanent engagement in Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Port Arthur and Beaumont (the last named city being the home of Mr. Hull).

"Jimmie" (as he is known to his legion of friends) has combined his three units (dramatic, musical and vaudeville) into one big evening's entertainment, making it the most elaborate and expensive organization ever assembled in a big tent theatre. Yet the price of admission is low.

The cast is headed by "Skinny" Kimling, the "Ace" of black face comedians and a late feature with the Lassies Whites Minstrels and Tiny Hull, "The Personality Girl," supported by a large cast offering the three-act laughing hit, "My Dream Girl."

The management guarantees this show to be clean and wholesome and free from vulgarity, and real entertainment for the whole family.

There is also a red hot swing band and orchestra and a world of real up to the minute singing and dancing novelty vaudeville acts that will appeal to all.

The big tent is water-proof and will be located on Eads Lot, South end of Ave. C.

Judge Wm. H. Atwell Restrains Electra From Enforcing Gas Rate Reduction

A temporary order restraining the city of Electra, Wichita county, from enforcing a recently enacted ordinance, directing a reduction of more than 20 per cent in natural gas rates was issued by Federal District Judge W. H. Atwell in Wichita Falls.

An indication that he considered the ordinance as enacted, entirely illegal was given in a remark to C. F. Engeling, attorney for the city.

"You better go back and get that ordinance through in a legal way," he said, adding that there was no use in wasting money.

Testimony indicated that enforcement of the ordinance, as enacted, would amount to confiscation of property, he said, adding, "and I know the people of Electra don't want to do that."

He required a bond of $10,000 of the Community Natural Gas company, plaintiffs in the suit, and holder of the natural gas franchise there.

Representatives of the gas company contended they had not been given proper notification and that the ordinance was passed before the ordinance was passed.

Electra officials contended the company was properly notified and that it had been heard and that the company's representatives were untruthful.

City Commissioner Leo Moore and City Secretary E. W. Preston were witnesses for the city. Charles L. May, executive vice-president, was among witnesses for the utility company.

The ordinance was first passed Feb. 24 of this year. It was brought out, and was rescinded on March 14 when May and other gas company representatives attended a commission meeting and protested against the action.

The ordinance then was passed again on March 24.

It passed the ordinance directed a reduction in the domestic gas rate from 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to 50 cents a thousand.

In view of this and the fact that Wallace and the administration leadership are behind the measure, it is almost certain of passage soon.

The prime adjustment payments, which probably will average around 2 1/2 cents, are to bring the amount farmers receive for their DWT cotton up to 12 cents, although the limit of payment is 4 cents a pound.

For all cotton sold at 8 cents or less, farmers will get a flat 10-cent subsidy. If the selling price was above 8 cents, they will get the difference between 8 and 12 cents.

The original plan was that these payments should not be made until fall when full compliance with the 1938 AAA program will be certified. This was done to offer the farmers greater inducements to participate in the program. Connally argued, and Wallace agreed with him, that since the overwhelming vote for a compulsory cotton quota totaling can be gained by withholding the price adjustment payments any longer, that farmers need the money more now than they will in the fall. With the quota provisions in force, it is believed that the added inducement of the payments will not be necessary to keep farmers in the program, so they will be paid now.

The $40,157,000 figure for Texas is a by no means final, as it is only an estimate, based on cotton production in the state last year as compared with the total for the nation. It is considered an accurate estimate, however.

Texas Bread Week Set Aside By Gov.

"Throughout the ages bread has been known as the staff of life. It continues today as one of our most important foods, being widely recognized as a basic part of a well balanced diet." So begins the proclamation issued by Gov. James V. Allred which sets aside the week of May 8th as "Texas Bread Week."

It is pointed out that increased consumption of bread increases the consumption of wheat, flour, milk, butter and cottonseed-oil products, all of which are important to Texas farmers. For this reason farmers are joining bakers and millers in observing Bread Week.

Bread is chiefly an energy food because of its carbohydrate content, according to leading nutritionists, but it also contains valuable proteins, recognized as the body building elements. The combination of bread and milk is a most economical and nutritious and may be made the foundation of a wholesome diet, they point out.

TEXAS BREAD WEEK is vital to everyone in the Lone Star State because it will help increase consumption of our farm products. From the Panhandle comes wheat—the finest in the world. From our modern mills comes flour of superior baking. Our cotton industry provides cottonseed-oil used for shortening in baking. Dairy farmers of Texas provide milk and butter which are the good companions of bread. A large market for these important farm products is made possible when we eat more bread, therefore TEXAS BREAD WEEK is important to the agricultural and industrial welfare of the State.

Texas Farmers To Receive Cotton Payment Checks

Texas cotton farmers will get approximately $40,157,000 in cotton subsidy payments which will probably be paid before long, the department of agriculture unofficially estimated Saturday. This figure is based on the state's pro rata share of the $100,000,000 available for the nation.

An amendment sponsored by Senator Tom Connally of Texas would make this money available immediately instead of next fall, as originally planned when congress appropriated the fund. Offered as an amendment to the Lee bill which would redistribute frozen cotton acreage allotments, it was passed this week by the senate with the approval of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. However, the house agriculture committee, by a tie vote, forced it out of the bill

CONGRESSMAN W.D. MCFARLANE

Wage and Hour

The petition to discharge the Rules Committee from further consideration of the Wage and Hour legislation was filed in the House last Friday and in less than two hours and a half the convening of the session the 218 signatures required were signed to the petition to force this legislation before the House. Under current in Congress is now stronger in favor of this legislation than it was when this legislation was under consideration last session. It is believed that the House will pass this measure by a substantial vote, when it comes before it on May 23rd.

Highways and Roads

H. R. 10140 to amend the Federal Aid Roads Act, was finally passed Friday and now goes to the Senate for their consideration. The bill authorizes $238,000,000 for the next year as follows: $125,000,000 for regular Federal aid; $25,000,000 for secondary or feeder roads; $50,000,000 for elimination of grade crossings; $14,000,000 for forest highways, roads and trails; $2,500,000 public lands highways; $7,500,000 National Park roads and trails; $10,000,000 National parkways; $4,000,000 Indian Reservations roads. The bill authorizes $8,000,000 to assist the States in the repair and restoration of roads and bridges damaged by floods or other catastrophes. The Government collects annually more than $350,000,000 in special taxes on gasoline, lubricating oils, tires and inner-tubes, automobiles and motorcycles, automobile trucks, and auto accessories.

Therefore, the amount appropriated for roads for the next year is not as much as the amount collected from the Federal road users.

World War Veterans' Pensions

World War Veterans, who are now receiving $30.00 per month by reason of permanent and total disabilities, non-service connected, will receive $40.00 a month hereafter, if a bill, which has passed the House within the last few days, becomes a law.

Veterans, who have been denied permanent and total disability are not required to file new applications. They may ask for re-consideration on their old applications. A more liberal rule for determining permanent and total disability is included in the new bill. The increase to those now receiving $30 a month will be automatic, no new application will be required.

It provides that where one is unable by the performance of manual labor to earn support and it is reasonably certain that such impairment will continue throughout the life of the disabled person, the pension may be granted whether the impairment is either of mind or body.

As under former laws, the veteran must have served ninety days or more in active service and must have been honorably discharged or was discharged for disability incurred in line of duty.

The Calendar

The House last week considered private and unanimous consent bills on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday, they began debate on the Federal Highway Bill, which was finally passed on Friday.

The Senate continued consideration of the Naval Enlargement authorization bill, on Monday and finally passed same on Tuesday. This legislation now goes to Congress to consider the difference in the House and Senate amendments. On Wednesday and Thursday the Senate passed numerous private and unanimous consent bills and considered the conference reports on Appropriations and District of Columbia Tax Bills.

This week the House will consider the Civil Aeronautics Authority Bill H. R. 9738, and Conference Reports on District of Columbia Bills and the Revenue Act of 1938. The House will begin the consideration of the President's Recovery program on Wednesday and will continue same the remainder of the week.

The Senate, this week, will consider Conference reports on Appropriation and Tax Bills and other miscellaneous matters on the calendar.

Best citizens for H3-2 last week were Helen McBride and Dale Kennett.

Ima Joyce Gregory and Johnnie Ponder were chosen best citizens of H2-1 last week.

Joan Duncan is out of school because of illness. Her little friends hope that she returns soon.

Billie Ray Bowman and Billie Marie Nolan have the most stars on the number chart in H2-1.

In completing the transportation unit in geography in the H4-1 class, the group went to the Wichita Airport last Friday evening. When we arrived at the airport, the children were shown through the depot. In the depot the light fixtures in the lobby were quickly noticed. They were made from the cylinders of a plane engine. The ticket window drew attention, also. There seems to be something fascinating about ticket windows that carries one to imaginary places for it is through this medium one gains admission to the far away places.

From the depot we went down the walk to the gate. Here we saw the refueling tanks, baggage carriers, battery starter that is used for self starting the planes, steps that are used to get into and out of planes, the wind bag that shows the pilot in which direction the wind is blowing, the wind charger by which the wind is measured, and the speaker system that notifies the employees of phone calls and such.

From here we went to the hanger to look at the planes. The many pretty colors of the planes were interesting. We saw all kinds of planes. We saw many of the different types that we had studied about. While in the hanger, the buzz of a plane was heard and there was a scramble to get to the open to see it land. This was a private plane that came down to refuel.

During our stay at the airport, George Smith, Ben Frank Clifton, Ellis Gragg, Robert McFarlane, Keith Jones and Opal Lee Taylor took rides. This was the initial ride for these children.

We came back to Burk Burnett in order to get ready for our train ride Friday night from here to Wichita Falls. We met at the depot. Each child bought his own ticket and kept it for the conductor. The train was eight minutes late, but to these children, it seemed eight hours.

Paper cups began to be at a premium before that ride was over. The good-natured conductor opened windows and let them down at each request. This was the first train ride for 32 out of 43 students in this class.

We were happy to have several mothers and younger brothers and sisters to go along with us.

We wish to express our appreciation to the parents who took us to the airport and who came for us after our train ride. Also, we thank Mr. Johnson, who was so helpful and patient to help get us off on this adventure.

We wish to extend an invitation to every one to come to see us next Monday, May 16, to see our pictures and work on this unit.

George Blair, who has been absent from room H4-2 several days because of illness, is able to be back again.

H4-1 has missed Lola Mae Beckham, who is ill. We hope that she will be with us soon.

Oil

Miss Warman's classes are studying oil. And it seems just like play: I bet we have almost as much oil as one could find in KMA. We have pictures of oil more than a few. Oil trucks, trains, filling stations, too.

We have crude oil, benzene and kerosene. Lubricating oil, vaseline and paraffin. So all the oil isn't found in the KMA pool. Because a large amount is in our grade school.

The West Texas Firemen met here for the semi-annual West Texas Firemen's convention, May 9. The convention was opened with a prayer by Bro. Hays. And from 10:30 until 12:00 we had talks on the duty of a fireman. I am sure that each and every one of the firemen enjoyed the talks that were given.

After dinner we had a contest. Burk Burnett won first place in the hook up and Archer City won second place. This makes the third time Burk has won in the hook up and two times for Archer City.

I surely did have a good time and enjoyed being the mascot of the Burk Burnett firemen. They surely have been good to me and I appreciate it.

Big Rabbit Creek

May 8, 1938
Last Tuesday night this part of the county was visited by another half inch of rain which caused the farmers to keep out of their fields from plowing their corn and feed stuff for several days.

Last Friday evening between the hours of 5 p. m. and 6:15 p. m. one amongst the worst hail storms since the opening of the big pasture dropped down in the Valley View and Devoil neighborhood and left a path of destruction several miles wide to all growing crops, wheat, oats, gardens, window lights; nearly everything else that was in its path. The hail and windstorm extended as far north as Lawton, leaving a damage to property alone of $30,000 saying nothing about the grain loss. It went as far as Duncan and Ardmore, Okla. It also took in Walters and Temple. A cyclonic wind accompanied the rain and hail. Up at Randlett, Hawkeye has been informed that nearly every house in Randlett was unroofed; also, four or five houses five miles east of Randlett were blown away. Hawkeye can't vouch for the above statement. The Big Rabbit Creek neighborhood escaped the storm by being about five miles too far east.

The following leading farmers' names and grain raisers are those who were in the path of the hail storm: W. C. Gamble, all grain lost; J. A. Alexander, all grain lost; J. H. Stiggins lost his fine garden and scores of other grain growers in the path of the hail lost their grain. It is reported that hundreds of chickens were killed. The radio news reported that hail stones fell up at Lawton that weighed 4 1-2 ounces.

Mrs. Helen Austin and son, Leonard, who live north and west of Hobbs, New Mexico, arrived in the Rabbit Creek neighborhood Friday to transact some legal business and to visit her brother, Ed Martin and family.

W. H. Martin and his wife who are living in Jal, New Mexico, is also Mrs. Austin's brother. Mrs. Austin and son, Leonard, called on the Owens family soon after their arrival in the Big Rabbit Creek community. She and her son will be in our neighborhood for several days more before returning back to their home. Mrs. Austin owns land out near Jal, on which she has two good producing oil wells. The third well will be put down on her land in the near future.

The time is drawing near now to commence planting that fleecy staple cotton. Some will start to planting this coming week, but the main planting won't start before the 15th of this month. The cotton acreage will be smaller this year than any other previous year, due to co-operation with our Uncle Sammie.

Folks, don't you know that Hawkeye is almost believing it is going to be winter all the time instead of having summer. He arose pretty early this morning to go out and juice old Bosie and to do up the other chores. He says if he could have talked his better half into going down in his clothes chest and getting out his overcoat, he sure would have put it on, but nothing was doing with his better half! She just balked.

Well, you know, folks, no matter what might happen to our Friendly Little City, Burkburnett trade center of both Texas and Oklahoma, if every auto would be blown away and all the wagons and teams, the thousands of people would be on the streets of Our Friendly Little City just the same on Saturdays, as well as every day in the week. Every one who was in the Friendly Little City that was unfortunate enough to be in the big hail storm that came last Friday were all holding a stiff upper lip over their big grain loss on both sides, Texas and Oklahoma.

Well, sir, Hawkeye all through his life, has been a person what was always ready and eager to learn and see everything he could. In fact, as he sees so many of our ladies, old and young, with their hair all fixed up with those beautiful curls and waves, Hawkeye was determined to find out just how this work was done to make some old lady around the 90th mile-stone look like she was only 20 or 22, so walking along the south side of Burkburnett, which is operated by Mrs. King and her daughter. It was several minutes before Hawkeye could get to speak to Mrs. King to tell her his business for the ladies that were in that beauty parlor were waiting their turn.

Finally, Hawkeye told Mrs. King why he dropped in as he wanted to see how those things they called permanents were done. Mrs. King seated Hawkeye and treated him with all courtesy. At the time, Mrs. King and her daughter, a very refined looking young lady, were just working their heads off. Mrs. King had a lady in a chair, whose age, I might say, was about 65, and on this lady's head was a hoop. I would call it, and if there were one electric wire on that hoop, there were 100, and then clamps attached to each wire. Say, folks, believe me, Mrs. King was going so fast putting on and taking off those clamps, it was just a sight. Believe it or not, anyone who operates one of those hoop machines sure does know their onions. And now, Mrs. King, in a few minutes took that head gear off of the old lady's head. Say boy, if I should meet this lady out on the street before she got this fine permanent that Mrs. King gave her, I wouldn't know the lady. Anyone would say that this lady wasn't a bit over 22 years old. A lady who gets one of those permanents has to go through several different sittings before the job is complete. Just to the left of where Hawkeye was sitting, Mrs. King's daughter had just finished up a permanent on a young lady about 20 years old. When the daughter finished her job, this lady didn't look to be one year older than sweet sixteen. I'll say this, now ladies, any time you want to look from 20 to 40 years younger than you really are, I would say for you to go to Mrs. King's beauty parlor and get one of those beautiful permanents that she and her daughter give. They will make you look younger. Their permanent prices are in line with every beauty shop in Texas and Oklahoma.

Mother, the years have been many.
Since your eyes looked with love into mine,
But in my heart there's a yearning—
As still for your presence I pine.
Though friends have been many and faithful,
I've known no friendship like yours;
No love quite so true and tender,
Through sorrow and joy so enduring.
Oh, that I might live the years over;
Might call you again to my side,
I know I would not be so thoughtless,
For often your patience I tried,
I'd show you how dearly I loved you.
Would make the path smooth for your feet,
Would strip all the thorns from the roses
And leave you the blossoms so sweet.
Those old days are never returning,
My longing, alas, is in vain.
But selfishly should I recall you
Where sorrow and toil is and pain,
Your pain was so great, yet you bore it,
Though scarcely you could—with a smile, unwilling to Make others trouble; unselfish you were all the while.
So modest, reserved, unassuming,
but I think when the angels
Unfold the Great Book that holds all our records,
Yours will be found written in gold.

Yours truly,
Hawkeye Owens

Ladies' Bible Class

One of the most delightful of last week's social and business affairs was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. I. E. Harwell when members of the "Ladies' Bible Class" of the Church of Christ met for their regular monthly luncheon.

For the occasion, the party rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers. The luncheon table was centered with a lovely bowl of larkspur and carnations, emphasizing the colors of orchid and white. Similar arrangements marked the extremities of the long sideboard from which the luncheon was served.

Before noon, the group finished piecing a quilt-top for the orphan's home. During the social hour, Mrs. J. R. Prince contributed several piano selections. A brief business session was held, at which time, it was decided to do some quilting at the next meeting, which will be June 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Taylor Davis. Mrs. N. H. Harris and Mrs. A. A. Jacobs were retained as menu committee.

Home Ec. Girls Win Honors State Meet

Louvain Harris Is Ranked 3rd At San Antonio

Representatives from the Home Economics classes of the local high school returned with their teacher, Miss Helen January, from the state meet held at San Antonio last week.

Louvain Harris, who is a second year student, placed third in exhibition of dresses over 1700 girls representing the whole state.

The year book and program made by the classes of the local high school were also selected for discussion before the meeting.

In a contest of this nature and representing so many schools the rating made by the Burkburnett girls is considered very good.

Ruby Parkinson and Ruth Pray were other representatives from Burkburnett who attended the meet.

White's Aces Win Over Burk 8 to 2

Dot Kaufhold limited the Burk Reserves to three scattered hits Wednesday afternoon on the Jalonic street diamond, Wichita Falls, in pitching Harold White's Aces to an 8 to 2 victory. It was the first time in the history of the two clubs that the Aces have beaten the Burkburnett girls.

The Aces trailed the Reserves until the fifth inning when they solved the delivery of Pauline Stubblefield to chase across 7 runs and ice away the game. Pat-sy Roberts delivered the “money blow” in the big fifth inning with a single with the bases loaded. Doris Potts finished the game in fine style for the Reserves.

Nephew of Wallings' Accidentally Killed

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Walling and daughter, Miss Martha, were called to Gainesville, Thursday, on account of the death of Mr. Walling's nephew, Harold Walling.

Mr. Walling, age 26, had just finished eating dinner when he decided to change his trouser belt. He went to the clothes closet and reached for his belt when his arm knocked over an automatic shotgun, exploding it. The entire load of buck shot entered his stomach and ranged upward to his left shoulder. He was rushed to the hospital but died without regaining consciousness.

He was the son of John Walling, and had only been married ten months. His remains were interred in the Gainesville cemetery Saturday.

Use Cheap Glasses Is Needless Risk Optometrist Says

Man's most priceless possession is his eyesight, yet he constantly takes it for granted and abuses it by wearing cheap sun glasses in the summer or using cheap glasses for regular work, according to Dr. D. R. Peevey, local optometrist.

“A man doesn't save money by risking damage to his eyes,” Dr. Peevey said. “If the cheap glasses were all right, then it would not be worth while for me to spend my life studying eye defects and their effect on human life and progress. Neither would I have spent thousands of dollars on instruments to measure eye defects.”

“No examination short of a 40-minute visual test will give enough information upon which to calculate the lenses or eye training needed, and cheap glasses are not safe for human eyes.”

Pointing out that about 85 per cent of all we learn is acquired through the eyes, Dr. Peevey warned against letting this “avenue of learning” become closed. Eyes should be examined at yearly intervals by a competent optometrist, he said.

Whole Nation Will Join In Observing Air Mail Week 15th

It will be no ordinary flight, that transcontinental dash of the T.W.A. Sky Chief on May 15th. Behind it there is a story—a story of historic and dramatic appeal.

Go back twelve years. On February 15, 1926, a single-engine, 86-mile-an-hour, corrugated steel monoplane lumberingly takes the air at Detroit, to land a few hours later in Cleveland. It carries nine pounds of air mail—the first commercial air mail flight. At the controls is a promising young pilot, L. G. (Larry) Fritz.

On May 15, 1938, a twin-engine, 200-mile-an-hour transport will take off from Los Angeles, to land a few hours later in New York. It will carry, perhaps, 2000 pounds of air mail, 15 passengers, several hundred pounds of air express. At the controls will be one of the country's outstanding airline executives, Captain L. G. (Larry) Fritz, now superintendent of T.W.A.'s eastern region, whose Sky Chief he will fly as it takes off in its commemorative flight inaugurating Air Mail Week.

With Captain Fritz, as co-pilot, will be the man who received that first 9-pound consignment of air mail at Cleveland: Captain S. D. (Stove) Welsh, who today still works side by side with Fritz—as superintendent of T.W.A.'s
