Sen. Wm. Patman Takes Oath As Acting Governor of Texas, Mar. 28

SENATOR CHARLES F. Herring of Austin presents a silver-bound Bible to Senator William N. Patman of Ganado, President Pro Tem of the Senate. The Bible will be used March 28 when Senator Patman is inaugurated as Acting Governor of Texas.

Congressman Wright Patman . . . to administer son's oath.

When Bill Patman takes the oath of office as Acting Goveroner of Texas March 28, his hand will rest on a silver-bound Bible, a gift from Senator Patman's colleague, Senator Charles F. Herring, and Mrs. Herring.

Engraved in the silver binding of the Bible are these words: "Senator Bill Patman. The distinguished son of an illustrious sire. Governor of Texas. March 28, 1967. From Charles and Doris Herring."

Administering the oath of office to Governor Patman at 9 a.m. ceremonies at the Capitol will be U. S. Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana, Bill Paman's father.

Three ministers, long time friends of Senator and Mrs. Patman, have marked passages in the Bible which they believe fittingly describe the Acting Governor of the State and the occasion. Choosing passages are the Rev. E. E. Reeves, First Methodist Church, Yoakum; Father Sean Moore of

Council Okays Plan to Improve Business Area

It's too bad the City Hall wasn't jammed with visitors when the City Council met Monday night.

Had they been there, the people would have had a chance to view architectural drawings showing how the city's downtown business district can—and probably will be—modernized.

The drawings were submitted by Gene Urban of the Urban Engineering Co., of Corpus Christi. They showed the proposed improvements on Austin Street from Market St. to Mimosa St.

Under the plan, which is part of a street improvement and storm sewer program now under consideration by the Council, there would be new street lights, new sidewalks with planting in front of many stores, no exposed overhead wires, and no sign posts sticking out in front of the business establishments.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller said Central Power and Light Co., Southwestern Bell Telephone and the state will be participating in this project.

The Council went on record

Boundary Line Is Agreed Upon

COUNTY BOUNDARY SETTLEMENT — The solid line above shows where the boundary between Nueces and Aransas Counties would run under a proposal approved yesterday by the Nueces County Commissioners Court. Shown by the dotted line is the boundary previously claimed by Nueces County. In a suit filed in 1957, Aransas County claimed the county line should be an extension of the San Patricio-Aransas County line (double line).

ARANSAS, NUECES COUNTIES AGREE AFTER 10-YEAR DISPUTE

With the announcement this week that Nueces County Commissioners Court had approved a boundary line settlement involving Nueces and Aransas counties, local community leaders hailed the agreement as important to Aransas county, particularly from the standpoint of the future.

County Judge John D. Wendell said, "There are a number of things covered by this settlement, including:

"1. There has never been a legal boundary line between Aransas County and Nueces County recognized by Aransas County. There has always been in the past a question as to authority of police powers within this area, such as drownings, game and fish violations as well as taxing authority and the establishing of our boundary line projecting into the Gulf of Mexico, which would be very important in future oil activities in the Gulf.

"2. Aransas County would receive the Alcoa Docks, all shoreline between Intra-Coastal Canal and Aransas County to Aransas Pass, also chain of islands, including Talley Island. Aransas County will receive the lighthouse tract and portion of Harbor Island and all bay area joining St. Joseph Island, which in the future could develop into a deep water port.

"3. Cleared any doubt that all Conn Brown Harbor is in Aransas County.

Judge Wendell stated that he is satisfied with the additional property "we have gained under the new boundary. The details will be worked out by attorneys for both counties and a survey made on the grounds by the Aransas County surveyor and a surveyor from Nueces County."

Emory M. Spencer, oil operator and real estate man, commented:

"In my opinion the boundary settlement with Nueces County is good business for Aransas County. If this suit had been fully litigated, meaning more time, more money and more ill will, the final result would have been that Aransas County would have gotten nothing. If this suit had been litigated fifty years ago, the chances are that we would have recovered a large

Planning Driver Education Course

The Aransas County High School plans to offer a second course in driver education if enough interest is shown and a teacher can be obtained.

The tentative plan would be to start this course sometime during the first part of May. The class will probably meet from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. each afternoon until a minimum of 30 hours of classroom instruction in driving have been given.

Classes will not meet on Saturdays or Sundays. The day by day schedule for these classes will be issued later if the class materializes. At the present time there are 10 vacancies in this second class.

The tentative plan is to start the observation and behind-the-wheel driving during the last part of June. A pupil cannot complete the behind-the-wheel driving in less than 12 calendar days. A driving schedule will have to be worked out for each individual pupil who takes the course.

A maximum number of 35 students may take this second class in driver education. There will be a charge of $25 at the time of registeration for this course.

School rules on conduct and dress will be observed. As yet an instructor has not been named.

Japanese Firm Orders Five More Trawlers

John P. Mitchell, Jr., vice president of Rockport Yacht and Supply Co. announced today that another contract has been placed by Nippon Reizo Kabushiki Kaisha of Tokyo, Japan for five additional steel trawlers to supplement the vessels previously purchased from the local shipyard.

The five trawlers are 72 feet by 20 feet and powered by 340-horsepower diesel engines and will be used in shrimping operations.

Mitchell said RYSCO was "pleased to receive this repeat order, particularly because the Japanese nation is recognized as one of the most progressive in the fishing and boat building industry."

County Votes To Continue Blue Cross

Aransas County Commissioners Court voted Monday to continue Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage for county employees and elected officials.

In other actions the commissioners:

—Turned down a request from San Patricio county asking to borrow or rent the airport gopher machine.

—Voted to sit as the Board of Equalization May 24 to meeting with oil company representatives.

—Agreed to ask the Aransas County Riding Association to submit plans and specifications for a clubhouse which the association proposes to build at its riding arena in Fulton.

Approved the following monthly fee reports: Constables Dowell King and G. G. Gilson; Justice of the Peace Lawrence Miller, $168; J. Paul Rogers, $165, and E. B. Crawford, Sr., $5.50; County Clerk W. E. Beasley, $1,216.05; and Sheriff Joe Earl Hunt, $99.15.

Attending the meeting were Judge John D. Wendell, Commissioners W. B. Allen, Jack Sparks, Albert Wofford and Raymond Owens, County Auditor Robert D. Mosier, Jr., Sheriff Hunt and County Clerk Beasley.

Eight Charges Filed Against Two Youths

As an aftermath of a disturbance at a local drive-in and motel and a high speed chase through the downtown business district Saturday night, eight charges were filed against Roy Naper, 25, and an 18-year-old boy, both of San Antonio.

Five charges were filed against Napier, driver of the car, and three against Hunt. Fines totaling $180 levied by City Judge G. D. Johnson were paid by the pair who said when they return to Rockport next month they will "just go fishing."

The charges ranged from disturbing the peace to failure to stop for an emergency vehicle. The first report of the men was a drivein where they caused a disturbance, and the trail led to a motel driveway where they were located by Patrolman Joe Dominguez.

After running a stop sign in their late model sports car, the San Antonians attempted to outrun the city police car, but a total of five police cars —two city, two sheriff's and one state highway patrol— proved too much of a match for the sports car.

Fourth place went to Bill Dahman, Dale Hagy, Ted Greenfield, Helen Dupre and Sam McCleese.

There will be a Scotch foursome competition Sunday, Mar. 19.

Arson Suspected In House Fire

Members of the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department were busy putting out two fires and answering a false alarm Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

At 6:30 a.m. Monday, they extinguished a blaze in a house on FM 881 that Fire Marshall Elva Mullinax suspects was set by an arsonist.

"We discovered that the house was locked and that the owner has been out of town for over a week," Mullinax reported. "Also, investigation revealed that some curtains had been stuffed in a trash container and apparently set on fire." Mullinax said the investigation is continuing.

Quick action by the volunteer firemen kept the damage to the house and its contents to less than $700.

In the other blaze a grass fire across the highway from Texas Parks and Wildlife building was quickly extinguished on Saturday afternoon.

Regarding the false alarm Sunday evening, Mullinax warned that a person found guilty of turning in a false alarm can receive a heavy fine and be sent to prison for up to one year.

SCHOOLS

Many factors affect the potential growth of an area. One of the most vital is the quality of the local school system. GOOD SCHOOLS WILL ATTRACT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE FROM NEARBY METROPOLITAN AREAS! — and hold the people who must provide the services that growth engender. It is true, if sometimes overlooked, fact that our schools were first of all commissioned to teach and to educate.

Here in Rockport, parents of school children, have particular reason to be pleased with our schools. We have superb schools, a result of the joint efforts of an intelligent hard working school board, an administration devoted to achieving a constantly improving curriculm, and perhaps most important of all a dedicated body of teachers who have retained the flexibility of mind necessary to attain the transition to newer methods of instruction (or even to return to methods of the past).

I am impressed with our schools because our children are being taught to read, to spell and to think!! With no feeling that they are being pushed, I have watched first graders read a newspaper, use a dictionary to look up the meaning of a word, write comprehensive sentences and dabble in math that I would have thought far beyond their ability to comprehend.

Good schools are a tremendous asset to Rockport and will do more than their share of bringing new people to our community and new prosperity to this area.

FOR THE INVESTOR. We have several modestly sized acreage tracts in the Fulton Outlots. These parcels, about eight acres in each, are going up all the time. Don't hesitate.

NO TWO VOICES THE SAME

Science, like time, marches on. Now it is said that voices can be identified in much the same manner as fingerprints. There are no two human voices just exactly alike. This is the theory of science.

In California, a man's voice was used to convict a suspect of making obscene telephone calls to women.

Two of the calls were tape recorded and sent to a laboratory at Somerville, N. J. The lab said both calls were made by the same man. Lawrence G. Kersta, a member of the laboratory staff, testified that a human voice produces a "print" that can be identified on a spectograph. The system is 99.65 per cent foolproof and as accurate as fingerprinting, he said.

The California conviction was the second. Last April, in a county court in White Plains, N. Y., a defendant, charged with lying to a grand jury about a telephone conversation was convicted. The voiceprint system was used.

This latest invention can be most useful and could possibly also put a halt to a lot of malicious, anonymous calls people have been getting lately. It might even bring an end to some of the callers who have been harassing survivors of boys killed in Vietnam, and certainly might be the means of determining how organized these calls are and who is back of them.

Certainly, too, when the method becomes generally known, it may help to stop those sex-mad fiends who pick names of women from the directories and carry on immoral talk.

It could go even further. It might scare those women and men, often without basis of fact. In otherwords, the telephone may be used less to spread untruths. This has been going on since the days of the party line.

Such talk in the future may have to be confined to bridge parties, but only after seeing if the room is bugged with a tape recorder.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

PLANNING FOR SAFETY

National Safety legislation has been largely a response to dramatic and tragic events. The Flammable Fabrics Act was passed after a number of girls were burned by flaming sweaters. The Refrigerator Safety Act was a response to the deaths by suffocation of little children who were trapped in refrigerators. Rising highway fatalities and the publicized indifference of industry led to the passage of auto safety legislation. Congress has seldom for long neglected the safety of its constituents. But wouldn't it be better to anticipate hazards rather than wait for tragedies to occur?

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and Sen. Morris Cotton of New Hampshire are the bipartisian sponsors of legislation that would create a National Commission on Hazardous Household Products. Its purpose is to identify household products which are a hazard to health and safety and ascertain what can be done to protect consumers. The measure, a part of the Hazardous Substances Labeling Act, was approved by the Senate. But it appears to be stalled in the Couse Commerce Committee. Since the establishment of a Commission would carry out a request made last March by the President, the White House forces ought to give active support to the Magnuson-Cotton proposal.—Washington Post.

GLUE IS FOR STICKING

The trouble with model aeroplane glue is that its greatest virtue is also its greatest fault. The volatile base, which makes it so fast-drying, is the same thing which provides dangerous "kicks" at glue-sniffing parties.

There is a parallel in household detergents. It was an improvement over soap but it caused serious water pollution problems. Finally science came up with another detergent base which is just as good for cleaning but easy to get rid of in sewerage systems. Perhaps we are too over-awed with the capabilities of modern science, but it seems that chemists could do the same thing with model aeroplane glue that they did with detergents.

Or perhaps, with the fantastic array of new adhesives on the market, they already have and the only demand for the old stuff is force of habit and the sniffing trade.—Edmonton (Alta.) Journal.

TAX WHIPPING BOY

Federal, state and municipal taxes have grown so fast in the last decade, that citizen's rebellion is stirring around the country. The trouble is, voters rately have a chance of voting on any spending that is the cause of the high taxes.

So the voters have discovered a whipping boy on whom to vent their frustration. Since school budgets are regularly submitted to the polls in many communities any rises in school expenditures have been turned down in alarming numbers in recent elections.—Ashbury Park (N.J.) Press.

Sen. Patman Opposes City Sales Tax

Austin—The city sales tax proposal came under fire last week, when Senator W. N. (Bill) Patman of Ganado announced his opposition to extending this tax power because "the sales tax is one area of taxation we must reserve, if at all possible, for the State in order to meet our obligations in the fields of education, highway construction, and hospital care," explained Patman in an interview following House passage of the city sales tax bill.

"It may even be necessary this session to raise the state sales tax from two cents on the dollar to three cents," he said.

Patman pointed out that letting the cities impose their own sales taxes could eventually drive the state out of the sales tax field entirely.

"The next step to bring in revenue would propably be a state income tax," he said, "and I certainly oppose that."

The Senator, who represents 14 counties in the 18th Senatorial District, pointed to new responsibilities facing the State as a result of the Medicare Bill, the growing population, and the crisis in education.

"Just these three things alone will very likely mean we will soon be looking for new sources of revenue," said Patman. "That's not even considering all the other growing state responsibilities."

Patman suggested a possible remission of utility taxes collected within the cities as a means of easing their financial problems. He also pointed out that future utility taxes, such as on telephone service could be earmarked for the cities.

"I'm sympathetic with the needs of the cities," said Patman. "I've had visits from many delegations from my district pointing out their problems in providing adequate city services, such as fire and police protection."

"But I think the city sales tax is a patchwork proposal, lacking even the unified support of the big city legislators," he said. "I certainly do not feel that the majority of the people don't even know its being considered up here."

Patman called for a long close examination of the city sales tax proposal before making it a state law.

A companion measure to the House sales tax bill has been favorably reported from committee back to the floor of the Senate. The House bill will be referred to committee before coming to a Senate vote.

Cadet Charles Picton, student at Kemper University, arrived Friday night for a week's visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Picton.

DUCK COUNT UP 38 PCT. IN FLYWAY

Austin—Substantial increase in the Central flyway waterfowl population, as reflected in the midwinter census, was announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Reporting to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the Federal authorities said the duck count was 38 percent over 1966 and 17 percent over the seven year average.

This confirmed 1966 observations by Texas hunters who had noted the best shoot in many years.

The survey, taken after the season ended Jan. 7, still showed the mallard index 23 percent over last year and the pintail and redhead indexes up 99 percent each over 1966.

Harvest restrictions on all three species were relaxed last fall. The bag top on redheads had been removed previously, and last year sportsmen were allowed to fill on pintails. The bag and possession limit on mallards were hiked to two and four, respectively.

"The total goose index," stated the report, "is 17 percent above last year and shows no change from the seven and 12 year averages. The snow and blue indexes recovered from the decreases in 1966 are but 10-12 percent below the averages. The white-fronted (speckled belly) goose index is 10 percent above 1966 but 15 and 21 percent below the averages. The Canada goose index recovered from the 1966 decrease—up 12 percent below the averages. The white-fronted (speckled belly) goose index is 10 percent above 1966 but 15 and 21 percent below averages. The Canada goose index recovered from the 1966 decrease—up12 percent—and is 14 and 21 percent above the averages."

The survey showed 3,831,626 ducks on the flyway within the United States including 1,713,058 in Texas waters, mainly along the coast. There were 501,876 geese including 372,703 in Texas waters.

The flyway total for ducks including those in eastern and interior Mexico, was 4,171,895. The flyway total for geese was 532,278, including the 372,703 in Texas.

ROCKPORT & LAMAR

part of what we asked for, but fifty years ago the area was not worth litigating over, and the truth of the matter is that Aransas County has slept on its rights in the meantime.

"While it may be true that the amount of taxes collected on this property at this time is negligible, in the foreseeable future Harbor Island and the string of islands reaching to the Cove, is most likely to become the richest industrial and oil area in Aransas County. Certainly it is feasible for the digging of a deep-water channel from Port Aransas on the East side of the string of islands and Harbor Island, and to connect such islands by causeway was conceived of and planned as early as 1890 by John Traylor. There are several known oil prospects in the area, one of which is expected to be drilled within the next two years."

James H. Sorenson, Jr., president, First National Bank of Rockport, said, "The agreement appears to me to be the only workable solution that could be agreed upon at this time."

John P. Mitchell, Jr., vice president, Rockport Yacht and Supply Co., said, "I consider this agreement to be a very significant and worthwhile development that is the result of many years of effort on the part of many people in Aransas county."

The boundary line adjustment would give Aransas County a string of small islands extending from Rockport to Harbor Island and a part of Harbor Island.

The boundary line has been in dispute almost continually since the creation of Aransas County in 1871. In its suit filed in 1957, Aransas County claimed most of Harbor Island, all of Port Aransas and other land producing $100,000 a year in tax revenue for Nueces County.

Nueces Commissioners gave attorney M. Harvey Weil authority to proceed with the settlement. Aransas County Commissioners Court had agreed to the settlement some time ago.

Included in the proposal is establishment of the center line of the Intracoastal Canal as the boundary line from a point just north of Harbor Island Causeway northeastward about five miles. The boundary would then turn to the southeast to the Lighthouse Tract on Harbor Island, and extend from there southwestward to the center of the Ship Channel and then out to the Gulf of Mexico.

Weil said he and Hobart Huson, Aransas County's attorney in the suit, both considered the settlement to be fair.

as approving the street improvement program which undoubtedly will make the business district look modern and attractive.

In another action the Council approved a water cost study to be conducted by Urban within 30 days for $2,500. This study will determine the city's exact costs to produce and distribute water.

Harold Picton, president of the Aransas Counservation and Reclamation District, said the District "is considering participating in paying the cost."

The Council also agreed to maintain water and sewer lines and the first street built in Peninsula Park subdivision on condition that Enterprise Street be paved to the intersection with the new street within six months, with the cost to be paid by the developer.

New zoning maps were shown to the aldermen and it was decided to sell the 8 by 16 inch size for 10 cents each, the 32 by 16 inch size for $1 each, and a still larger size for a higher figure to be determined later.

Hiller pointed out that the maps are "excellent for use as all-purpose city maps."

Other actions included:

—Appointment of John Anderson to the Park Board to succeed Charles Roe who moved outside the city.

—Approval of two requests for street lights: One requested by Coy Truelove for the southwest corner of the fire station, and the other asked for by residents in the neighborhood of Fuqua and James Sts. who want a light on the northeast corner.

—Decision to spend $300 for street improvement on South Mathis.

—Discussion of a proposed "cleanup" ordinance which would prohibit junk autos, refrigerators, trash and filth from remaining indefinitely on private property.

Letters to the Editor

March 14, 1967

Mr. Roy Rogero
Pilot Office
Rockport, Texas
Dear Mr. Rogero:

I have to tell someone about "My Pet Peeve" or I will simply burst. I feel certain this not the first time that you have heard this "peeve", but bear with me will you, and lend me an ear.

Sometime last spring you ran an article in the Pilot about one of our visitors, who wrote back saying, something about Rockport being a "dirty town." We of Rockport, like our town, we do not think this town of ours is any "dirtier" than, probably where the gentleman came from. We think Rockport is the prettiest along the Texas Coast barring none and have heard it many times from others, who appreciate it also. At another time you published another item concerning the fact that one of the local persons not liking some of the visitors being called "Snowbirds". Where is that persons sense or humor? Personally I have never heard a complaint from the persons being called the endeared term "Snowbird," I believe they take it the same way they accept the term "Damyankee." After all these nick-names are very human, and not meant to injure prides. We Texans are universally called many different names and constantly talked about, I classify this a distinction.

Now to get to my real "Pet Peeve." I cannot understand why a large majority of people who do not live here are such poor drivers. They do not respect our laws. The laws here are easy to follow, if a person will only use their eyes, because the laws are plainly marked either with white paint or yellow paint. We have street and road signs plainly stating the law. Either they cannot read or they drive with a gay abandon that the laws were not meant for them. For instance, in front of the Post Office and in the downtown area by the drug stores, grocery stores, etc., it makes me sore, after having driven around the block so that I will be in the legal right, to have people cut in front of me when going in the opposite direction, to park their car and in doing so taking not one parking space but two spaces. I appreciate having good brakes on my car. Sure I am sore cause some male without an ounce of chivalry has gotten to the parking space ahead of me. Also when riding on the outskirts of town at a normal distance behind another car, suddenly they have come to a screeching halt, no matter whether on the side of the road or in the center, they have spied one of the many species of our feathered friends sitting out there being birds, and up come the binoculars, if you are the unfortunate who is behind, you had better have good brakes, once again or St. Peter won't allow you in the Pearly Gates for what you are thinking.

I am usually a good natured person who overlooks many oddities in others cause I know I too behave in odd ways, but darnit, I do try to respect the laws.

I realize this letter sounds as though I do not appreciate our visitors, but I love everyone of them, there so many wonderful people to get to know. We welcome each and every one of them and we honestly hate to see them go and look forward to their return.

Thank you for reading this letter (if you did). Somehow I feel better after having told "someone" about my "Pet Peeve."

Sincerely,
Alice H. Robbins

Vehicle Inspection Deadline April 15

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reminded motorists today that enforcement begins April 15 on the 1967 vehicle inspection stickers.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., DPS Director, said that the law allows for no extension of the April 15 deadline and urged drivers to have their vehicles inspected before the last minute lines begin forming.

Garrison pointed out that some two and one-quarter million vehicles in Texas remain to be inspectel in order to comply with state law. This amounts to approximately 14 vehicles per working day for each of the 5,500 official inspection stations.

"Undoubetdly," Barrison stated, "many motorists will wait until the last day, and it may be very difficult to find an inspection station that is not swamped with late-comers.

"In order to secure an orderly flow of the remaining uninspected vehicles through the inspection stations we would urge each motorist to have the inspection attended to as soon as possible. This can easily be taken care of during a routine visit to an authorized neighborhood inspection station."

Two Loan Programs Are Available to College Students In Addition to NDEA

Besides the National Defense to Education student loans, there are at present two low interest deferred payment loan programs currently available in Texas. They are The Texas Opportunity Plan and the Guaranteed Loan Program.

The Texas Opportunity Plan is a direct loan program of the State of Texas whereas the Guaranteed Loan Program is handled through participating commercial lenders.

Loans made by commercial lenders are guaranteed by United Students Aid Fund, Inc. a non-profit institution. Both of these loan programs are available for the middle or upper income groups—students from families whose gross income is less than $15,000 per year.

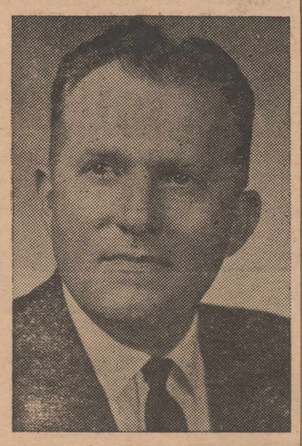

Students pay no interest while they are in school. Three percent interest begins when a student has finished his education. A portion of the interest is paid by the Federal Government. Students or parents who desire information on these loan programs should contact the financial aids officer in the college of their choice or the high school counselor.

OCS Requests Are Now Taken From HS Grads Before Basic

High school graduates now have the same opportunity as college graduates to apply for Army Officer Candidate School (OCS) while processing at any U.S. Army reception station. Previously high school graduates had to wait until basic training before applying for OCS.

After a successful test period, the new program was inaugurated on Nov. 14 through out the entire U.S. Continental Army Command.

Personnel entering the reception stations, as part of the routine testing and classification, are given the General Aptitude Technical Test (GT) and Officer Candidate Test (OCT). If high school graduates or above achieve the necessary scores they are given the Officer Leadership Inventory Exam (OLI-1) and subsequently interviewed by the reception station's OCS procurement officer.

The interview by this commissioned officer is to determine the eligible applicant's motivation, suitability and willingness to volunteer for OCS. Once an individual volunteers, he begins instruction that runs through basic and advanced training and culminates with a commission as a second lieutenant after satisfactorily completing a rigorous 23-week OCS course. Normally it takes a little under a year for the entire period of training to be completed. Upon commissioning under this system, a person must agree to remain on active duty for a period of two years.

The U.S. Army plans to enroll some 41,957 men in OCS during the current fiscal year.

YOU

hold the key to growth and development of your hometown

That's the idea behind CPL's community development contest, Arm for Industry. It's a proven program with results than can be measured. Since Arm for Industry began in 1963, participating communities served by CPL have built new parks, improved streets and sidewalks, provided better parking facilities and made themselves more attractive as places to live, places to visit and as locations for new industries. Everybody wins through community pride and progress, and cash prizes will be awarded to groups of citizens . . . you and your neighbors . . . who do the best jobs of improving their own hometowns. If you would like more information about the fifth annual Arm for Industry Contest, contact your CPL office. Your community can be a winner.

NEWS FROM TRAV TRAIL-R INN

One of the most interesting programs ever presented at TravTrail-R Inn was the lecture last Thursday night by Mrs. Connie Hagar.

A large and enthusiastic audience found Mrs. Hagar to be a vivacious and delightful speaker discussing a subject on which she is a recognized authority, the birds of America, their habits, habitat, migration patterns and a world of related material.

Almost like one of her beloved birds, Mrs. Hagar constantly carried her tiny specimens directly to the listeners so they might see each detail and better appreciate the beauties of each species that she had chosen to illustrate her thoughts.

Saturday evening's program was presented by Ivan Mast, as a counterpoint to Mrs. Hagar's lectures, his slide program was entitled "A Plea for Water." His superb photography featured an hour-long display of the beautiful birds of the Everglades of Florida, complete with the songs and calls of many of them.

A carefully prepared and taped commentary kept interest always at a peak, as usual, everyone joined in heartily in a group of the happy songs of yesteryear.

Friday saw several families of the regular summertime visitors coming in to enjoy a weekend of fishing, oystering, and leisure hours.

A new game program called skittles was added to the fun program at the park and has engendered a keen interest among park visitors.

Sunday morning's interdenominational service was conducted by Rev. Ben Bohmfalk. This brief half hour of worship has been well-received and is open to all trailerites in the Rockport area.

Next Sunday will see the return of Joseph Herchkowitz and again at the organ will be Mrs. Garnett Best, of Enterprise, Ore.

Sixteen park guests also attended Church services later in the morning at various local churches.

Sunday afternoon about 20 visitors toured the Rockport Art Galleries and its grounds. As a special feature of the tour, the visitors spent an interesting 20 minutes with our noted American artist, Simon Michael, and were given the opportunity to see some of the beautiful bronzes which he collected here and abroad during the last 20 years.

Tuesday's entertainment brought to the visitors an interesting slide presentation of Thailand and the Far East as seen from a military jet by Charles Maslonka.

Group singing added to the fun. Everyone at the park saw with regret, the departure of TravTrail-R Inn 'Greeter' Ragon Naney and his wife Edith. They plan a leisurely return to their California home, spending a week at the Big Bend, Tucson, and Death Valley.

Here's an organization that needs some help but is not seeking money.

What this group needs is people, interested and, above all, chaperones.

The organization referred to is the Aransas County Youth Association which consists mainly of parents of Junior and Senior High School students.

The Association has as one of its main objectives the providing of wholesome recreation for the young people of this community. One of the main activities is the twice-a-month Saturday night dance for Senior High School boys and girls at the Youth Center near the School District Administration building.

Between 150 and 200 youths generally attend these dances, and the Association has a heck of a time getting sufficient chaperones for these dances.

Mrs. Don Henderson and Mrs. Gene Bird asked the Pilot to explain all about the needs in our "This and That" column.

We are pleased to do so and hope that this little article will help create some added interest in the Youth Association.

The two ladies explained that on Monday night, April 3 at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting at the Youth Center and they cordially invite all parents of junior and senior high students to attend.

"We hope not only to get a lot of volunteers for chaperoning the dances but we also would welcome ideas to expand the program, particularly for the summer months," Mrs. Henderson explained.

Mrs. Bird added that the Association is thinking about setting up a games night to be held once a week, "if we can get some help in planning and carrying out this type of program."

Youthful energies need an outlet, so we urge and recommend that the parents pitch in and help.
