JUDGE REAL SHOWS HOW GOOD SHEEP PAYS.

Kerrville Mountain Sun:

In emphasis of his contention that every farmer should keep a small flock of wool bred sheep, Judge Julius Real, prominent ranchman of this section and former State Senator, recently made public the results of an experiment conducted on his ranch the past year.

The report shows that a flock of a few more than 300 sheep netted him a profit of over $2,000 in one year's time. Judge Real maintains, however, that these results can be obtained on with the most favorable circumstances and with high grade sheep. He makes plain also that these excellent results cannot be hoped for every year.

Mr. Real has been engaged in sheep raising for something like 45 years and the experiment just closed netted the second best returns of any other year in that long period of time. He stated that even better results were obtained on a flock some four or five years ago.

The test last July was made by Judge Real merely to show what can be done with a small flock of high grade sheep and had no advertising purpose in view. It was also conducted to prove his contention that this is one of the best sheep and goat raising sections in Texas.

The experiment was made on Judge Real's ranch about 7 1/2 miles southwest of Kerrville and covered a period of one year. Three hundred and thirty-two head of high grade, although not thorough-bred, Delaine-Merino sheep were used. The range consisted of 1,235 acres of land, 120 of which were in cultivation. In addition to the flock of sheep, 150 goats and about 100 head of cattle were also run on the same range and all of them did well, although the range is what is considered about average.

This probably sounds impossible to many people and to a number who are familiar with sheep and goats, but Judge Real accomplished his remarkable results under the above named circumstances, and he is of the opinion that it can be done again and by other stockmen as well with as favorable conditions.

"It is absolutely necessary," Mr. Real said, "to keep the animals growing, and to accomplish this constant care and observation must be maintained." It is his opinion from years of experiments that once the growing process is interfered with, even slightly, the animal never reaches the size at maturity it otherwise would.

If on account of short pasturage in the winter their improvement is interrupted, the growth of wool is also retarded. A few dollars in feed will be more than recompensed, both in quality and quantity. Mr. Real says that the sheep used in the experiment were fed a part of the time last winter; some during a period of three or three and a half months and others but two months.

In the statement given below the 780 pounds of short wool were valued at 40 cents. This valuation is very conservative and was made so in order to make the records absolutely correct and to prevent them from appearing exaggerated. The valuation of the 97 head of sheep on hand at the close of the test was placed at $7., a figure well under what could actually be obtained for them. Mr. Real states that all figures are rigidly conservative and the actual profit realized was several hundred dollars more than is shown in the results. Following is the statement, which emphatically supports Mr. Real's conclusions:

July 1, 1922, sheep on hand	332 head
Raised winter lambs	220 head

$35,000 FIRE LOSS AT ROCK SPRINGS TUESDAY.

Meager details of the fire that swept away half a block of buildings at Rock Springs Tuesday night, were received here Wednesday morning of last week, but no accurate report was received until the first of this week when telephone connection was restored there.

The fire of unknown origin, started in the Gilmore building occupied by the Day Drug Store on the first floor and by the telephone exchange and a doctor's office on the second. A brisk wind was blowing from the north and after the flames gained headway, there was no way of checking the fire and before it had consumed the Masonic building, occupied by the Babb Hardware Store, and the Edwards County Leader building. The market, on the corner, was dynamited in the early stages of the fire to prevent the flames spreading to buildings farther down the street. During the fire the wind changed to the east, which also aided in saving the buildings south.

The loss is estimated at $35,000. The stock of the Day Drug Store and of the Hardware Store were partially covered by insurance, but the Telephone office, doctor's office, Gilmore building and the Leader office and equipment, except the linotype, were a total loss.

This little town is handicapped, as is Junction, with inadequate water supply and there was little to be done after the fire was discovered, except to watch the buildings burn.

This is a great loss to this thriving little town, but work is already in progress to restore the business concerns that were destroyed and as is characteristic of those people, they will stage a come-back that with the passing of a few weeks will place them again in their regular routine of business activity.

EDITOR MASON NEWS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

News reached here the first of the week that Martin D. Loring, well known business man and Editor of the Mason County News, had died. Later, details were available to the effect that Mr. Loring was some ten miles south of Mason with a number of friends on a hunt. It is supposed that he had leaned against the gun, using it as a kind of support, when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his body just above his belt on the right side and ranged upward, coming out back of his left shoulder.

Some friends were within a few yards of him, and although they did not see the tragedy, were at his side in a few seconds but he was dead when they reached him.

For a number of years Mr. Loring has been manager and joint owner with Mr. Laramore, of the News, succeeding his father, who for many years was owner of that paper, what was at that time one of the widest circulated country papers in the State.

Deceased was about 39 years of age, was born and reared at Mason, and is survived by his father, two sisters and his wife and three children.

The Eagle extends sympathy to the bereaved relatives and is grieved at the loss of a member of the newspaper fraternity in our section of the State.

A. L. Mudge and wife returned Sunday from a visit in San Antonio. Miss Dorothy and her two cousins, the Misses Stone, remained in the city awhile to visit friends.

POLITICS ARE VERY ACTIVE.

Throughout the country there is a quiet spell that is like the stillness that precedes a storm. In a few weeks those who are now quietly making preparations for the future campaigns, will come forth in all their glory.

OLD TRAIL DRIVERS MEET IN SAN ANTONIO.

Several from here expected to attend the meeting of the Old Trail Drivers at San Antonio last week, but on account of the condition of the roads, were unable to go.

The ninth annual reunion of the Old Trail Drivers of Texas came to a close Saturday afternoon, October 30. Old Trail Drivers to the number of 288 gathered from the ends of Texas for the occasion, and one came from Arizona. Vernon and Robstown had representatives, and the Big Bend country met the piney woods of East Texas in the reunion halls in the Gunter Hotel. In the crowd was one man who drove a herd of 1,200 big steers to California in 1867.

The reunion closed with the election of all the old officers and with the addition of two more vice presidents. Also, another ball was held in the evening at which cotillions and quadrilles predominated. Geo. W. Saunders, re-elected president, issued the original call for the forming of the association and has been its president since the organization was formed.

The official roster is now as follows: President, George W. Saunders; vice-presidents in the order named, J. B. Murrah, J. D. Jackson, Albin, Ike T. Prior San Antonio; Mrs. Amanda Burk, Cotulla; W. A. Withers, Lockhart; W. E. Cureton, Meridian; William Atkinson, Gonzales; Secretary, R. F. Jennings, Laredo; treasurer of the monument fund, W. W. Collier, San Antonio; assistant secretary, J. M. Hunter, Bandera; sergeant-at-arms, William B. Krempkau, San Antonio; assistant sergeant-at-arms, W. B. Slaughter, San Antonio; chaplain, J. Stuart Pearce, San Antonio.

Among the speakers of the day were the following: Nat Washer, San Antonio; Rev. J. Stuart Pearce, San Antonio; W. B. Hardeman, Devine; Judge S. H. Woods, Alice; William Atkinson, Gonzales; Miss Adina De Zavalla, San Antonio; President Saunders delivered his annual address and R. F. Jennings, secretary, made his annual report.

Donations poured in during the day to the monument fund, which is planned for erection on the Alpine Drive, Brackenridge Park, and following a period on the program devoted to the cause of the monument.

PARENT-TEACHERS— LEGION CELEBRATION.

The Fifth Anniversary of the end of the World War will be celebrated in Junction next Saturday under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association and the local Legion Post.

In the forenoon a parade will be staged through the streets of the town in which the different business houses will have floats, representing them, and the different lodges will also be represented. Besides these, it is hoped that a good number of the rural schools will be represented, and a prize will be given to the school having the best showing in the parade.

In the afternoon there will be a football game at the School Grounds. At night a special picture show will be given at the Opera House.

The proceeds from the different events will go to the Parent-Teachers' Association and will be used for aid of the school.

SCHOOL BUILDING TO BE BEGUN AT ONCE.

J. C. Ray, the architect and contractor from Dallas, who has the contract for building the new High School building, arrived the last of the week and is making arrangements to begin work at once on the building. Mr. Ray says that unless some unseen condition arises, he will "break ground" within the next ten days and the work will be rushed as fast as is consistent with good building operations.

union was an old cow bell which was used on the camel herd that the United States established at Camp Verde, Bandera County, preceding the Civil War. This attempt to utilize the camel for the American army proved a failure. The bell was sent to the reunion by Jim Walker, who served as keeper of the camels.

A barbecue was given at noon in Koehler Park for the members and invited guests at which a multitude was fed royally. The meal was served in the open, under the trees, on the turf, by the banks of the San Antonio River, with bright sunshine overhead. Barbecued mutton, chevon, and beef, with plenty of coffee and bread, composed the menu. Prominent members and citizens assisted in serving the meats and coffee.

READ THIS BEFORE YOU GO HUNTING.

The hunting season is with us. Many new hunters will be in the field this fall. It would be well for all the recruits and the veterans, too, to read the appended message from the Conservation Board of British Columbia, but which is applicable everywhere.

Do not destroy fences or property of the farmer and ranchman, and always ask permission to shoot over the property.

Do not shoot at anything in the bush unless you are sure of what you are shooting at.

Do not go hunting until you are acquainted with the game laws.

Do not forget to make sure it is a buck. It may be a doe, a cow or a man. How would you feel?

Do not destroy advertising or other signs posted in the district in which you are hunting.

Do not enter a boat or car with loaded gun or rifle.

Do not discharge firearms from an automobile or other vehicle, as it is a very dangerous practice and is also against the law.

Do not forget to leave a clean camp and a clean record. You may want to come back.

Be a sportsman—not just a cheap sport.

Do not shoot harmless wild life. Shoot crows, magpies, coppers, and sharp-shinned hawks and great horned owls; they do more harm than good.

Do not throw lighted cigar or cigarette butts in the brush or leave lighted fires in camp. Protect your forests and your game.

Do not forget to report violations of the "Game Law" to the nearest game warden, as by this means better protection can be afforded the game and you will have better shooting.

Do not forget to carry your license when out hunting, as this is necessary under the "Game Act" and it also helps the game warden in performing his duties.

Do not forget to try and make the farmer or ranchman your friend, as you will in this way obtain better shooting.

COMFORT'S FIRST-STORE KEEPER PASSED AWAY.

Kerrville Mountain Sun.

Peter Ingenhuett, one of the pioneers of the Comfort section, passed away at the Ingenhuett ranch 12 miles from Comfort Monday at the ripe old age of 92 years. He had been feeble for a long period before his death.

Mr. Ingenhuett opened the first store in Comfort back in the early '90s after coming from Germany. He had been a resident of the Comfort community since that time.

Surviving the deceased are his sons, Robert, Carl, Herman and Ernst. The funeral was held Tuesday with interment at the Comfort Cemetery. A number of local people, friends of the aged gentleman and his family, attended the last services.

ROOSEVELT RUSTLINGS

On account of the condition of the roads to Roosevelt, communication was impossible during last week and an account of the Roosevelt Birthday celebration was necessarily omitted.

A large crowd was on hand to enjoy the general get-together of the people of that progressive community, and to see the games. The Roosevelt Rough Riders, as the basketball boys up that way style themselves, defeated James River 34 to 11. The Roosevelt second team played the same team from James River, that the first team had defeated, and the score was 11 to 4 for Roosevelt.

At night a big box supper was enjoyed. More than $200 was added to the school fund from the sale of boxes.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT TEXAS TURKEYS

Texas produces 60 per cent of the turkey crop of the United States. There was 740 cars of turkeys shipped from Texas last year. The estimated crop for this year is placed at 1,350 cars. On October 1, 1922, we had in cold storage rooms in the United States, 2,645,000 pounds; on October 1, 1923, we had in the same coolers 6,237,000 pounds. The average carry-over for the last five years of frozen turkey was 1,445,000 pounds. Every family in Texas should eat turkey for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year, and help clean up this big surplus and thereby not let the price go up again.

SPEAKER SEAGLER MAY RUN FOR LIEUT. GOV.

Austin, Nov. 3.—R. E. Seagler, attorney of San Antonio and Speaker of the last House, was in Austin Saturday and said that he having finally decided not to yield to the importunities of friends to make the race for Governor, now a number have asked him to be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in the primaries of next summer. Seagler said he is considering the matter and may become a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

JUDGE WRIGHT MORROW GIVES VIEWS OF MEXICO.

The following article by Judge Wright Morrow of Dublin which appeared in a recent issue of the Dublin Progress, will be found interesting. Judge Morrow formerly lived at Mason and is well known in this section and is well qualified to discuss the subject matter given below—Editor's Note.

"I have been requested to make a few observations about Mexico and Mexico City learned from a recent trip.

"Mexico City is a very beautiful city, situated in a delightful climate, the altitude being near 8,000 feet. As everyone knows, it is the seat of the government of Mexico, and the National Palace, which is called Chapultepec, is also located there. The National Palace is the building in which are located the offices of the president and all of his cabinet, and their assistants, as well as military chiefs. The building occupies about two blocks and is built in true Spanish architecture, at least, so far as to have the Patio in the center and the buildings around the square leaving the hollow in the center. This space is heavily guarded by soldiers and the public is not allowed to enter except in one entrance, unless by special permission.

"The Chapultepec Castle is on the top of a high hill overlooking Mexico City and is surrounded by probably 300 acres of a beautiful park. There are asphalt roadways through these grounds and many artificial lakes and flower gardens and monuments and other evidences of modern parks in the enclosure. There is a very modern and up-to-date radio station not far from the Castle from which I am informed President Obregon keeps in close touch with the outside world. One is not allowed to enter the Castle without special permit and there are many soldiers guarding the door. By far the largest trees that I have ever seen are in these grounds. I would not undertake to estimate the width of their trunks. The whole place is a magnificent park. When built, the Castle itself was probably an impregnable fortress against the warfare of that time.

"The City of Mexico now claims a million inhabitants. There are probably not over 5,000 Americans there, whereas before the Madero revolution at the time President Diaz was overthrown, there was said to have been 45,000 Americans in the City of Mexico. This is due, of course, to lack of confidence in the government and through actual experiences of danger. The old and the new, the antique and the modern are intermingled in the buildings in the City of Mexico. Modern office buildings stand adjoining cathedrals and other buildings hundreds of years old.

"The National Theatre which was started about 30 years ago by Porfirio Diaz and which has been added to by each president since his time, is still incomplete. It stands on the 5th Avenue of Mexico City, a magnificent structure but useless for the purpose for which it was originally intended. Whether it will ever be complete is an unanswerable question. It is built of white marble and is apparently almost as large as the State Capitol in Austin.

"The city hall is an immense and well constructed building and it is there that the officers of Mexico City as well as some of the officers of the District in which Mexico City is situated, have their offices. It is very much like a court house in this country except that it is much more elaborate and like all other public buildings there has the square Patio around which the building is constructed and over which there is no roof. It is called the "Ayuntamiento." The Central Market is probably the most interesting place to a person who has not been in Mexico. It is the common ground of all street merchants, and everybody who has ware or merchandise to sell, whether it be vegetables, dry goods, silks, lace or trinkets, butchers or pottery vendors, they all come to this market every day and display their wares either around them on the floor where they sit or if they are fortunate enough they have a display table. It is possible for you to buy anything which Mexico has to offer at this market and it is strictly a Mexican institution. Nearly all of the border towns in Texas have borrowed the ideas from the Mexicans. There are a good many farms adjacent to Mexico City in the valleys, the principal crops being the Maize plant from which is made the Tequila and other intoxicating liquors. Corn and other food products are also raised. The most of the work is done with ox teams. The land appears to be very rich. The Guayule plant which is the rubber plant grows wild in parts of Mexico, especially in the mountain region.

"Regarding the political situation in Mexico at this time it seems to me, as a casual observer, that there is no probability of the country being definitely settled with a government which will invite confidence to foreign investors until after the next presidential election, and then only, if the man who is elected is able to keep down revolutions. I do not think there is any danger to a foreigner in Mexico City or any other large town in (Continued on Page Seven)

NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved. Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Now Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity, purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use. In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water, that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price 35 cents for the large family package; ten cents for the small trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs—Adv. 15-16

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago... I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me right up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. Take Cardui. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS AUG. 24, 1912

Of The Junction Eagle, published weekly at Junction, Texas, for October, 1923.

I, the undersigned, being the owner and publisher of the Junction Eagle, do hereby certify that the following is a true and correct statement of the ownership and management of the said publication for the month of October, 1923:

1. That the name and address of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business manager, are: H. G. Perry, Junction, Texas.

2. That the owners are: W. P. Riley, Coke R. Stevenson, H. G. Perry, John M. Hankins, Emil A. Loeffler, A. J. Hamer, J. A. Heyman, E. E. Holt, Fred Burt, W. A. Quisenberry, T. S. Jones, P. E. Knetch, L. Beasley, N. R. Skages, Junction, Texas; M. C. Reese, London, Texas.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: J. B. Bierchwald, Comfort, Texas.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, do not include the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said stockholders and security holders are not the owners of the publication, but are the owners of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stocks, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him. Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 25th day of October, 1923.

H. O. DENMAN, Notary Public, Kimble County, Texas.

Mexico, such as Guadalajara, Saltillo, Monterrey, San Luis Potosi, or Tampico. There are now about 23 candidates for president, however, those who have already announced for the election next June. The principal ones seem to be General Calles, Senior Huerta and Roaul Madero, the latter a brother of Francisco Madero, who will be remembered as the successful revolutionist against Diaz and who was afterwards killed. I believe de la Huerta is the favorite among the higher class of Mexicans. The Americans with whom I talked, I gathered this conclusion, also from conversations with the consular agents of several other foreign countries, such as the agents of the Italian, French and Belgian legations. From these and the representative of the American chamber of commerce, it seems to be the consensus of belief that de la Huerta is the most logical candidate. Calles is a general as indicated, but this does not mean that there are not many other generals in Mexico. In fact, I met two myself, the short stay there and there are as many as there were 2nd lieutenants here during 1918. Many people think that Villa would have supported Madero for president and was preparing himself for that, and that he was killed by reason of that fact. This information is not given however, from the house tops, but usually in a whisper. There is no doubt but that Mexico offers wonderful opportunities in its natural resources, but I do not believe that there will be any influx of foreign capital there and therefore any great development of the country until some solution is made of their governmental problem. They must either have a dictator or a republic. I am frank to say that I have some doubts about their ability to have a real republic for many generations. There are not more than five or six per cent of the Mexicans living in the whole of Mexico who are able to read and write their own language and in my judgment, there is no more than that percentage who are consumers, that is, purchase anything not raised by themselves. They live on nothing and learn nothing and their children are following their paths. Every line of business in Mexico is already pre-empted by some people foreign to Mexico. The grocery business is controlled by Spaniards, hardware business by Germans and I understand that they are selling American made machinery and implements, the dry goods business by French, while the English and American are in control of the miles and factories. Mexico has no paper money and has no credit or reserve on which to issue it. The principal banks in Mexico City are English and Canadian banks. There is one big Mexican bank and there is one South American bank. There seems to be every kind of automobile known to the trade in Mexico City, but I saw no filling stations such as we have in our towns and cities. I presume that they have not yet been educated up to this in timesaving and money getting devices.

"I understand there are now six separate states in Mexico, which have two governors, that is, two contenders for the governors office, and minor revolutions occur almost daily in these states, however, they do not seem to worry much about them. On the whole, I believe that if de la Huerta is elected and the defeated candidates cannot raise too big a revolution that there will be a feeling of confidence which will cause many Americans and others to go into Mexico and develop the country, because this presidential election is the crucial test of the Mexican form of republic. Whoever is elected will probably be fairly well under the influence of Obregon, if he lives. With the right sort of government, Mexico is bound to occupy a very important part in the world's history, because the climate in most parts is healthful and its resources are unlimited and wholly undeveloped."

selves up and beyond the banks, the natives begin to speak of this being a country where great extremes of wet weather are known. Already there has been snow in the Panhandle, while in the Lower Rio Grande Valley they expect to have snap beans and roasting ears for Christmas, and some years they gather fresh tomatoes on Saint Valentine's Day. Of Course, this means that we have a great variety of products. It seems a little odd to think of Texas being one of the big wheat producing States, but its product of this cereal is really worth considering in the great markets and in the days to come, it is bound to loom up large. When we try, we can raise as much corn as Iowa or even Illinois, and still have room to raise more cotton than we have ever had, and no state hopes ever to have as much cotton as Texas. Every variety of forage crops on the nature of canes flourish within our borders, as do the greatest of crops, alfalfa. Rice and sugar cane are suited to our lowlands, and peanuts grow on a thousand sandy hills along side of sweet potatoes. In fact, we are the champion potato country of the earth, which assertion is proven by the statement of a good old Baptist sister in Bandera County, that her husband had plowed out more sweet potatoes one fall than there ever were in the world. "Just a few years ago oranges were just a novelty in our State, but last year there were forty-two thousand boxes of the best citrus fruit in America shipped out of the Lower Rio Grande Valley. For scenery, we have the largest native grove in America, near the mouth of the Rio Grande; majestic forests in East Texas; limitless plains in the Panhandle, and the skies, the valleys and the mountains of Italy are set down along the courses of the Guadalupe and the Llanos. Truly, the Lord hath taken thought of us when he placed us here.

FILLING STATION CHANGES HANDS.

A deal was made this week, whereby the partnership of Durst and Corkill, as owners of the Safety First Filling Station, was dissolved. Mr. Corkill bought the interest of Mr. Durst in the station and will hereafter conduct the business.

Lee J. and Kittrell have been operating together for several months, and have been on the job early and late, and as a result have built up a good business. They have given much attention to the appearance of their station and have one of the most attractive business places in the town.

Mr. Durst has not decided as yet, just what he will do.

A. E. Taylor and wife of Goliad, and daughter, Mrs. Bill Burt of Cuero, are visiting relatives and friends here. Mrs. Burt is with her sister, Mrs. Bill Hamer and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are guests at the G. R. Ragland home.
