SULPHUR AMENDMENT IS ON BILL; DEBATE PRECEDES VOTE

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 20—Carrying to a finish amendments placing a five cents per 100 pound tax on cement and a 75 cents per ton levy on sulphur, the senate today pushed the Holder peddlers' bill to a vote and passed it 25 to 5.

The senate voted 20 to 9 for a substitute amendment by Senator Hopkins of Gonzales, author of the original cement tax propasal, which lowered the cement levy from 10 cents per hundred to five cents. As adopted, the amendment specified the tax was to be collected from persons or firms making the initial sale or use of cement in Texas. It would apply to cement manufactured within or without the state.

The Holder peddlers' bill provided for the imposition of an occupation tax on peddlers, itinerant merchants and more than thirty other groups of business enterprises.

Senators Cousins of Beaumont, Martin of Hillsboro, Purl of Dallas, Stevenson of Victoria and Williamson of San Antonio voted against the bill.

The senate ordered the previous question on first the pending amendments and the bill to make final disposition of the controversial matter.

Points of order against the Hopkins amendment were frequent. Opponents argued that revenue raising measures, under the constitution, must originate in the house. Edgar Witt, Lieutenant governor, overruled them.

Senator Hopkins, defending his amendment, said most of Texas'

AMARILLO GAS PLANT VALUE ESTIMATED

CONDEMNATION ACTION TO BE TAKEN FOR $750,000

AMARILLO, May 20.—Placing a value of $750,000 on the distributing system of the Amarillo Gas company, the city commission today filed a petition in county court to condemn the property and acquire it for municipal ownership and operation.

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson said the value was determined by taking the gas company's statement of its replacement value as revealed in a recent audit and deducting depreciation which was given in a statement filed with the city commission early this year.

Depreciation Cited

The audit, made 18 months ago, valued the property at $1,440,700, and the recent statement filed with the commission placed depreciation of the past year at $639,945, and depreciation for the last few months brought the value down to $750,000, the mayor said.

In reply to a recent request of gas company officials that pipelines must be taken into consideration in estimating the damage, the commission states that the pipelines were not considered a part of the distributing system according to the franchise.

A public hearing to determine whether the city is to pursue its condemnation plans or submit the issue to a vote of the people has been set for May 29.

Conatser's Father Invites New Trial

LEVELLAND MAN SAYS HIS SON IS INNOCENT OF COTTON THEFT CHARGES; FISHER COUNTY GRAND JURY OPPOSING CLEMENCY MOVE

C. J. Conatser of Levelland, father of Lloyd Conatser who is serving a life term in the state penitentiary at Huntsville as a result of the murder of two officers of Fisher county, told the Daily Journal this morning that he was telegraphing Governor Ross Sterling and District Judge W. R. Chapman of Abilene inviting a new trial in connection with the cotton theft charges brought against the younger Conatser in August, 1927.

The grand jury of the 104th district court of Fisher county yesterday sent word to Governor Sterling of its opposition to a clemency campaign under way in behalf of Lloyd Conatser. The youth's father is directly behind the clemency campaign. The grand jury yesterday reindicted Lloyd Conatser for cotton theft, the old bill having been dismissed when he went to prison.

Move To Weaken Son's Plea

It is the belief of C. J. Conatser that the grand jury's action in reindicting his son is for the purpose of weakening the clemency campaign and to exert an influence over state and district officials. The elder Conatser is making a plea for full pardon and restoration of citizenship. He told this newspaper this morning that a petition containing the names of 1,377 prominent men of West Texas had been drawn up and would be presented to Governor Sterling soon.

"We invite and urge that the court call for a new trial, for we are convinced that we can prove my son's innocense in the matter of cotton thieving," Conatser said this morning. "The action of the grand jury, we feel, is to throw Governor Sterling off the idea of granting a full pardon, and we do not hesitate

FIRE FOLLOWS BLAST HERE

VACANT RESIDENCE IS DAMAGED TODAY BY FLAMES

An explosion preceded outbreak of fire in a vacant house early this morning at 1016 Nineteenth street, witnesses told firemen. Damage totaled several hundred dollars.

Several cans containing kerosene were found in the house, fire department attaches said. Ownership of the house had not been determined.

Fire-fighting apparatus answered an alarm at 12:30 a. m., and firemen said part of the one-story seven room house was saved because they were summoned as soon as the fire was seen.

Interior Damaged

Fire damaged the interior of the house considerably, centering in one room, and ruined part of the roof.

Two boys who were across the street from the vacant residence, said they heard an explosion as loud as a shotgun report, and flames appeared in virtually all of the house. They turned in an alarm.

A small coupe became ignited from its carburetor at 8 o'clock this morning while parked in front of 1712 Thirteenth street. Persons there extinguished the fire with a stream from garden hose before firemen arrived.

The automobile fire was the sixty-second reported here this year, firemen said.

IOWA SENATOR OFFERS PLAN FOR NATION

BROOKHART SAYS WALL STREET IN CONTROL OF FEDERAL UNITS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20 — Describing the federal land and intermediate credit banks as "in the control of Wall Street representatives," Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, suggested today that farmers be allowed to establish a banking system of their own.

Such a move, he said in an address over the National Broadcasting system, would lay the foundation for success of efforts to bring agriculture out of the depression, "an established institution since 1920."

Should Abolish Board

The board which now controls the federal land and intermediate credit banks, Brookhart asserted, should be abolished and the institutions turned over to the farm board. Then the later should be authorized to develop a complete cooperative banking system, he added.

"When this is organized and developed, it would supplement the necessity for government money and enable the farmers to finance their own coperative propositions," Brookhart said.

He blamed the federal reserve board for having done "more to bring about the agricultural depression than all other causes combined," and said if the farm board "does not want to be abolished" it should back legislation for an "efficient and nation-wide cooperative banking system."

DEFENSE OPENS TESTIMONY IN CASE TODAY

FRED McFARLAND OF LOGAN, N. M., IS ON WITNESS STAND

With the statement that he had been "cussed out" and threatened during a gun display by the Spikes boys, Fred McFarland, banker of Logan, N. M., and former cowboy, this morning opened oral testimony for the defense in the libel suit of Fred Spikes against J. Evetts Haley and trustees of the Capitol Reservation Land syndicate.

Spikes is asking $200,000 damages for alleged libel in "History of the XIT Ranch", which was written by Haley at the direction of the Capitol syndicate.

The courtroom was crowded throughout the morning session as it has been since testimony in the case opened.

Said They Flashed Guns

McFarland, one time cowboy for the Howry Cattle company, testified that two of the Spikes brothers flashed guns while he and a companion were "working" cattle owned by the Spikes during a roundup near Mesa Redonda.

"They told me if I ever came back I would never get out alive," McFarland said. He stated that he had found a cow and a calf in a canyon in the summer of 1901. He passed one of the Spikes brothers who returned a short time later with another, McFarland said.

"They began cussing and pulled six-shooters and asked me when I was going to get through working their cattle", the witness testified. McFarland said that he was unarmed but that one of his companions, M. W. Bates, had a gun. The Spikes boys had Winchesters and pistols, according to the witness.

Banker At Logan

McFarland was led through the direct examination by C. C. Cranshaw. He said he had gone into New Mexico in 1897 and had been there ever since. He quit the cattle busi-

Amendment Would Give President War Powers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—A constitutional amendment to empower the president to stop the use of money, take over all industry, and put all citizens on a ration system in case of war, was proposed to the war policies commission today by Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York.

La Guardia contended it is impossible to equalize the burdens of war but that under his method the risks of inequalities would be equalized.

"Everybody in the United States", he said, "would enter the service of the country, taking all the chances of war, and assuming the inequalities. It would be necessary to nationalize every one from 'Tex Guinan to J. Pierpont Morgan'."

The New Yorker said the proposition of taking the profit out of war cannot be "temporized with" and anything short of a broad constitutional amendment would "utterly fail of its purpose."

La Guardia said he would have the government take over everything at the outbreak of a war and at the end of the conflict return to the owners what was left without compensation.

CALIFORNIA CAPITALISTS PROPOSE TO CREATE "AGUA CALIENTE OF NEVADA"

(By The Associated Press)

RENO, Nev., May 20—The Nevada State Journal says a group of Los Angeles and Hollywood capitalists has obtained an option on the old "Sandy" Bowers' mansion, once a showplace of the west, to make it the "Agua Caliente of Nevada."

The property on which the suddenly wealthy Lemuel S. Bowers expended approximately $400,000 back in 1861, has been operated by Henry Riter as a bathing and pleasure resort since 1903.

Tentative plans of the prospective new owners call for the construction of a modern hotel; a fashionable casino and summer homes and subdivision of the surrounding country.

The old mansion, designed by a European architect, once boasted gold door knobs, silver hinges, and imported marble fireplaces.

Bowers, described in Nevada histories as an "easy-going frontiersman" took a fortune from the Comstock lode in 1859 and 1860.

The wide open gambling law recently enacted in Nevada opened the way for the proposed development.

HINT OF MYSTERIOUS FLIGHT IS SEEN IN ADDITION TO LINDBERGH'S PLANE

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who has been keeping in the background since a year ago Easter Sunday when he spanned the continent in 14 hours and 45 minutes, is toying with another idea for his fast monoplane.

An order has been received by the builders of his Lockheed-Sirius plane here to construct a set of pontoons to be interchangeable with the present landing gear.

What use the flier will make of this new equipment was not revealed here. Gasoline tanks will be fitted in the pontoons, enabling Colonel Lindbergh to carry a larger load of fuel.

The present gasoline capacity of the ship is about 450 gallons.

Four years ago, in a land plane, Colonel Lindbergh made his epic flight from New York to Paris and since then he has made several over-water flights but all were with land ships.

The order for pontoons is the second special design Colonel Lindbergh has planned for his ship. Some time ago he instructed engineers to build a retractable landing gear folding into a wing. The idea was his own and since he sugested it to the Lockheed engineers a year ago they have used it successfully in a number of other fast monoplanes.

With the retractable gear, Colonel Lindbergh's ship, which has a 500-horsepower motor, probably could attain a speed of about 200 miles an hour. Engineers estimated it should attain a speed of about 180 miles an hour with pontoons.

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

SPEAK GENTLY TO CHILD

"DEAR SIR": I have a baby 18 months old, and when he is told to mind he knows but will not do it and when I spank him he throws himself on the floor and cries, then gets up again and does the same thing over again. Then when I wash his face he holds his breath till he is blue in the face. I feel as though I shouldn't spank him so often.

"Thank you for your advice."

Answer: It is clear that your method of spanking is not good that it is doing the child and yourself harm.

Don't spank this little child to make him do anything else you teach him to be stubborn. When you want him to come to you, or pick up a shoe, or close the door ask him gently to do so and take lots of time to persuade him. Don't even command him. If he chooses not to do as you request, do it yourself, i. e., close the door yourself, or pick up the shoe, or go fetch him to you; and when you do, don't punish, scold, or even look ugly. Work to make him more ready to do as your request next time. Always it is the next time we are the most concerned about. If he does do as your request, praise him and make him happy for co-operating.

* * *

Assuming that he can creep or walk, he will face some grave dangers. You want to save him from injury and protect his life, for he is very precious. You cannot be at his side, holding him by the hand all the time, and it were not good for him if you could. Nor will you want to be with him as he grows older, in the presence of certain dangers.

You and Dad know just what those dangers are. Say they are the open fireplace, the gas jet, the street. Begin with one, to teach him to avoid it, not only while you are with him, but while no one attends him. You are going to establish in his nervous system some definite pain in connection with the gas jet, for example so he will keep himself away from it always, even if you are a thousand miles away. Don't attack these problems at once. Don't spank the baby a single time for anything until after you and Dad have sat down and worked out a program you are going to follow to the letter, agreeing that both are going to do exactly the same in reference to the child.

* * *

Establish in his nervous system enough pain so that he will keep himself away. If you act like a machine without emotion, and without variation, touching the gas jet by him will itself grow painful, and will after a few painful experiences be entirely avoided. That time will come when touching it promises more pain than pleasure.

Avoid the word "no" in respect to everything else, and don't scold or punish in connection with anything else. Once he permanently avoids the gas jet you can, in like manner, teach him to avoid stepping into the street, or keep away from the open fireplace.

As soon as the child has learned the meaning of "no" as final, please use it almost never, and resolve to get along with no spanking thereafter. Good luck.

Castoria... for CHILDREN'S ailments

ARE you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or for the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish spell, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the formula on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

NEW HIGHWAY IS OPENED

GOOD ROADS GIVEN TO MEXICO CITY, FROM LAREDO, TEXAS

LAREDO, May 20 (AP)—American tourists can now travel from Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, southward over the paved highway to Monterrey, and from there over a provisional graded highway southward to Mexico City in dry weather. The provisional highway from Monterrey southward to the Mexican capital was opened April 23, according to announcement by the Mexican National Highway commission.

At this season of the year, with favorable weather conditions prevailing, it is reported grading and rolling of roadbed is under headway between Linares and Jacals, Hidalgo, with workmen engaged in this construction wor.

The Purificacion, Caballeno and Santa Engracia bridges are under construction with the work being supervised by Ing. Ramon Ortiz and Luis H. Mallo.

Other bridges are under construction spanning rivers and arroyos between Valles, San Luis Potosi and Jacals, Hidalgo.

Mexican highway commission reports say most of the grubbing and grading is being done between San Ana and Jacala, over which section a provisional highway has been constructed. This section, 50 kilometers long, will be completed within the next two or three months thereby completing the rough grading work on the Mexico City-Laredo national highway.

Gravel work on the highway has been completed as far as Linares, Nuevo Leon, and has been suspended for the time being. The highway is paved from Mexico City to Pachuca, Hidalgo, leaving that section between Pachuca and Linares yet to be graded to provide a good dirt highway.

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—For Faustin E. Wirkus, the Haitian king business is in a slump just now, but some day he plans to voyage again to the romantic little island of La Gonave and reassume, for a while at least, his regal titles and the life he loved so well.

Only two months out of active duty with the U. S. Marine Corps, in the uniform of which he served nearly four years as ruler of some 12,000 natives, King Wirkus I already is growing restive under the restrictions of the American social order. And Wirkus is not accustomed to accepting orders, social or otherwise, from anybody.

In La Gonave, he rode in solitary glory over the mountain trails, occasionally motioning a boy to go forward and collect the small gifts that appeared as though by magic in his path. In New York, he is sworn at by traffic cops, and whirled to nausea in the jammed subways.

He has to sleep under a roof now, and pay what would be almost a Haitian king's ransom for the privilege. And the time has passed when he could silence, with a single word, all noise which might disturb his slumbers.

What A Change!

Down in La Gonave, it was King Wirkus himself who decreed when dances and feasts might be held. But in New York, whether he likes it or not, he must dance until dawn, and sip cocktails more insidious than tropical clarine.

"And so," sighed Wirkus, "I'm getting tired of all this. I can't go back to La Gonave immediately, but I must get out in the open again. So as soon as I can get away I'm going on an archaeological expedition to Santo Domingo with some friends.

"I took that job in La Gonave because of the absolute freedom it would afford me. And in more than three years I saw only four inspectors. I was the boss, the king, the lieutenant, the 'sequeste,' or tax receiver, and most of the time the only white man on the island."

Others Dreaded Job

But it was not as a king that Wirkus was detailed to the post. When he was a square-faced blue-eyed boy of 17 he had left the Pittstown, Pa., coal fields to enlist in the Marine Corps, and at 21 was shipped to Haiti as a sergeant. After years of duty on the mainland, Wirkus became a lieutenant of the Haitian Garde, and finally his turn came for assignment to the tiny post on La Gonave.

He found himself in charge of a detail of 22 native troops and an island full of ebony savages who practiced voodoo rites, and knew the taste of human flesh.

His Duties Varied

Lieutenant Wirkus learned the difficult language, doctored adults and sat up nights to read "The Care and Feeding of Children" so he could give advice to mothers. Alone and unarmed, he rode horseback over mountain trails to villages white men never had visited. He showed native farmers how to irrigate their land, and even taught the fishermen some tricks in netting. He personally investigated complaints against his tax collectors, installed a radio in the main compound at his own expense and dispensed justice.

When he went there, the island was a matriarchy under the indifferent rule of Timemenne, elderly, portly native quen. Years before, Wirkus had been instrumental in smoothing over some tax difficulties in which she found herself, and now the grateful queen helped the white man to gain the full confidence of her people.

"They often told me, during the first few months, that they were going to make me king,' recalled Wirkus. "But I just thought it was a joke.

Wirkus "Coronation"

"Then one day I heard the drums beating all day long, sending their code signals over the island. A delegation came and asked me to attend a big meeting, and I rode up, wondering what it was all about. I was met down the trail by officials of the agricultural guilds and four men who carried me in a chair into the town. Women flagbearers led the way to the drums, which gave the king's call—four 'ruffles' and three taps. Everybody bowed and greeted me, and they put the king's flag around my shoulders."

Inspections and official duties occupied the mornings of King Wirkus. As a judge he scolded fiercely and punished lightly, realizing that a fine of $4 or $5 might represent a year's savings to a native. Although polygamy is practiced on La Gonave, and marriage is simply a mutual agreement moral standards were higher than in civilized countries, he said. Murder and crimes of violence were virtually unknown. Thievery was common but his own possessions, often left unguarded for days, never were molested.

In the afternoons he swam, naked as a native, on white beaches, practiced golf or polo by himself, or went by canoe or horseback on exploring trips. His collection of Haitian art, idols and industrial objects is conceded to be the finest in the American Museum.

Nominally, Haiti is a democracy. As the fame of King Wirkus grew, and stories were told in Port au Prince and even in America, there may have been some official uneasiness regarding the status of this white monarch of La Gonave. Suddenly he was relieved of his governmental post.

There was mourning on the island when the white king sailed away. But American occupation of Haiti is scheduled to end in 1936. After that, Faustin Wirkus thinks he may go back, at least for occasional visits, to thrill again to the welcoming tempo of the drums.

When King Wirkus I was in his glory—seated under the palms with the native Queen Timemenne—while a servant fans them—that was the life!

PATROLMAN NOT ONE WHO SINGS IN THE RAIN

CHICAGO, May 20. (AP)—Patrolman Philip McGuire, a newcomer on the force, is not one of those policemen who sing in the rain.

It was raining hard last night when he saw a man lying alongside a curb. He reached down and shook him. His action was like the effect of dynamite. McGuire's head jolted back from a solid punch delivered by the suddenly revived stranger. For several minutes they went around and around, but the law finally triumphed.

When he revived ten minutes later, the stranger identified himself as Anton Waytulonis, 25, of Crystal Falls, Mich., a professional fighter. Then he rubbed his head and said:

"That cop's punches got stronger toward the end. The last one was a wow. I wonder what it was."

Patrolman McGuire, in another room at the station, held the explanation. He pointed to his night stick.

Burglar Catches Himself In House

CHICAGO, May 20. (AP)—A good way to catch a burglar is to let him catch himself.

That's what the police said in commenting on the case of Charles Miller, 65, whom they formally charged here.

While prowling in the home of Andrew Matlik Miller attempted to open a drawer in a bureau. The drawer stuck. Miller tugged overlooking the fact there was a radio on top. It fell, striking him on the head.

PLAN TO REPLACE ARMY HORSES WITH NEW TANKS

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Speedy man-made tanks are going to replace about 8,000 horses in a part of the United States cavalry.

When General Douglas MacArthur, chief of army staff, yesterday announced his mechanization program for the cavalry, he said this step was being undertaken in an effort to modernize that branch of the defensive forces.

Ten years of study, based on lessons learned in the World war, he said, have established the superiority of tanks and their greater strategic mobility for some functions. But there are some things the horse can do that the tank cannot, so the four-legged beasts of burden will be retained for that duty.

The merchanization program, as now planned, will extend over several years. Army officers said it would mean the elimination of about 8,000 horses.

Mr. Parker Prouty,
Avalanche Journal,
Lubbock, Texas.

Dear Mr. Prouty:

This is to advise you that some time ago we got the best man-power that we could find in Lubbock to operate our Lubrication department. We also installed the very latest and best equipment we could buy to do a real lubrication job on an automobile. We have made a study of the different parts to be lubricated and find that it is very necessary that we have seven different lubricants to do the proper job. We had everything we needed but the public did not know about it.

We started running a small add on the second page of the Avalanche-Journal every day, giving away a free Firestone specialized lubrication job. We are very positive that the people in Lubbock are reading this advertising. One case I will mention in particular is Mr. Tom Gaston, business manager, Tech College, who was out of town when his name appeared in the paper and he came down Saturday and told me that several of his friends had called him about this advertisement. We have had a number of cases of this kind.

Our lubrication department is running about three times as much as it was before we started this advertising. Just last week I put on two extra men to take care of the business. Both of these were local men and had been let out by other Lubbock firms.

I want to take this opportunity to thank you for your cooperation in helping me with my advertising.

POSTAL MEET PLANS MADE

BETWEEN 200 AND 300 MEN EXPECTED TO BE HERE, MAY 30

A meeting of the Plains Postal Workers association here Saturday, May 30, is expected to be attended by 200 to 300 postoffice employes, said John L. Vaughan, Lubbock postmaster.

Details of the program to be presented are being worked out by Mr. Vaughan and officials of the chamber of commerce. Among those scheduled to speak are: Mr. Vaughan, Mayor J. J. Clements of Lubbock, Dr. P. W. Horn of Texas Technological college, T. C. Lamb, general delivery clerk of the Lubbock postoffice, Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, and J. F. Wiles, Olton postmaster.

Dr. Horn is to discuss the "Postal Service from an Outsider's Point of View." His discussion will deal with the ideas of the postoffice's "customers" regarding the postal service, Mr. Vaughan said.

The Plains Postal Workers association has for its membership all postoffice employes, city and rural carriers of the eighteenth Congressional district.

Robber Wounds Two Men With One Shot

BEAUMONT, May 20. (AP)—A filling station manager and his negro assistant were wounded by the same bullet when robbers opened fire on them here last night. The negro, Elton Redmond, 18, attempted to break away and one of the men fired, the bullet passing through Redmond's right thigh and struck Johnny Redman, the manager, in the left thigh. The robbers escaped after taking between $35 and $40, Redman said.

It was the third time within a year the place had been held up.

LITTLE ELEANOR HOLM ONE OF BEST SWIMMERS, TO SPLASH INTO FOLLIES

NEW YORK, May 20—Miss Eleanor Holm, one of the youngest but one of the greatest of America's women swimmers, has landed with a considerable splash in the new Ziegfeld Follies. But not as a diving star, to pose and plunge or even as a pretty bathing girl. Eleanor is to be cast in little girl parts, with hair ribbons and ruffles.

It was at the national swimming championships at Long Beach, Cal., last summer that Florenz Ziegfeld first saw Eleanor. She never had given a thought to a stage career.

But when M. Ziegfeld began casting the other day, he offered the 17-year-old naiad a job. Assuming that he wanted her as a swimmer, she refused. For that might affect her amateur standing, and Follies or no Follies, Eleanor had no intention of giving up competitive swimming.

Then it was explained that although she might have to hang most of her clothes on a hickory limb, Miss Holm wouldn't have to go near the water. She has, M. Ziegfeld assured her, plenty of the necessary requisites — looks and personality.

Standing 5 feet 2 inches, Eleanor looks like a candidate for the pony ballet. She weighs 112 pounds, and her method of training is very simple. She doesn't.

Just the other day, in celebration of her selection for the Follies, Miss Holm donned a bathing suit and won the 300-yard medley crown for the fourth consecutive year. She followed this with a victory in the 100-yard back stroke. Thus she came nearer her main objective — the Olympic Games next year.

Postmasters Attend State Convention

Three or more South Plains postmasters last week attended their state convention at Laredo, John L. Vaughan, Lubbock postmaster, said.

Among those who attended the meeting were J. E. Brennen, of Littlefield; John Thommen, of Levelland, and Miss Beula Carles, of Muleshoe. Mr. Vaughan said he had been informed.

FORMBY ELECTED TOREADOR EDITOR

Editor of The Toreador, student newspaper at Texas Technological college, for 1931-32 will be Marshall C. Formby of McAdoo. Formby, a junior in liberal arts, received an overwhelming majority in a field of three candidates Tuesday.

Formby, an independent candidate, polled 623 votes, against a total of 306 votes cast for his two opponents, Robert Huff and Tom V. Watson. Huff received 196 votes and Watson 111.

The newly elected editor of the college newspaper for the past year has been campus correspondent for the Avalanche-Journal newspapers.

Tom Abraham was elected business manager of the weekly and Jesse Cooper was chosen business manager of La Ventana, college yearbook. Neither of the men had opposition.

"Nig" Johnson Is Released Tuesday

Arrested here Saturday night by Lubbock police upon request of government agents at Fort Worth, "Nig" Johnson was released from city jail late Tuesday.

Local officers were advised that liquor charges were pending against Johnson in Fort Worth.

BOND ISSUE TO BE UP AGAIN

LOCKHART REQUESTED TO RETURN TODAY FOR BALLOTING

A request that he return to Austin today to vote on the proposed constitutional amendment of the road bond issue was received by G. E. Lockhart, member of the state legislature engaged in a long court trial here.

Arriving Tuesday, the request was from a personal friend and fellow legislator at Austin.

The message said the bond issue vote was to be taken at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

"We have already voted three times on this," he commented. "I don't see much use in trying it again. The last time the vote was only 95 for the bond issue amendment. It takes 100 votes to pass it."

The bond issue plan, Mr. Lockhart said, "is the only way to build roads."

Lubbock county, he pointed out in conclusion, would have its "million dollar bond issue taken up."

FIREMAN HONORED IN DINNER HERE

City officials and fellow members of the fire department last night honored Guy Casey, city fireman, at a dinner at the Nineteenth Street Fire station. Twenty-five persons attended.

Mayor J. J. Clements presided as toastmaster and each man was called on for a talk. The work of the department was praised by speakers.

Advancement Cited

Fire Chief W. E. Twitty cited the rapid strides being made in fire fighting and pointed out that merely putting the most water on a fire was no longer considered a fire department's best efforts. "Members of a fire department must know chemistry, engineering, physics, hydraulics, electricity, architecture and mechanics, nowadays in order to be good firemen," he declared. His remarks indicated the department was in need of a well informed fire fighting engineer.

Besides the honoree and Mayor Clements those present included: City Commissioners John Roach, George Benson and D. N. Leaverton, City Manager W. H. Rodgers, City Light Superintendent John Graham, Chief of Police John Lemond, City Building Inspector J. A. Pressley, A. B. Davis, B. Sherrod, Spencer Wells, J. D. Hassell, Roche Newton, Arthur Casey, Luther Bynum, C. W. Ratliff and Firemen Pat Hood, Cecil Casey, Roy Spence, A. H. Parrick, Everett Hood, Mose Hood, Mark Long, Floyd Martin, Glenn Smith, T. S. Cranford and J. D. Johnson.

At the close of the meeting, a moment of silent tribute was paid to L. H. Simpson, first chief of the department who died recently, and Newell Bryan, assistant chief who died while fighting a fire about two years ago.

The meal was prepared by Mrs. Guy Casey and served by members of the department.

Fifty-three of the witnesses were summoned by the state, the rest by defense attorneys.

The case is the first of 71 indictments against 14 defendants in connection with the burning of the Grayson county courthouse May 9, 1930 and the death of George Hughes, negro, on trial for criminally assaulting the wife of a Grayson county resident.

"PIPE DREAMS" FROM SMOKING GOOD CIGAR ARE DUE TO POTASH AND IRON

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 20 (AP)—The "pipe dreams" which flow from smoking a good cigar are due largely to the presence of potash and iron.

Without these chemicals, it is found at Pennsylvania State college, the smoke loses its seductiveness and the cigar becomes a distillation retort brewing much bitterness. These studies of the burning qualities of cigar leaf tobacco are made by Dr. D. E. Haley, professor of soil and plytochemistry.

Robot Is Helper

One of his helpers is a robot with glass throat and water lungs, which puffs cigars mechanically with the rhythm of a living smoker. Water flowing through a valve governs the timing of the puffs. Test tubes arranged like the pipes of an organ catch and analyze everything in the smoke.

"A good cigar, when once ignited," he says, "will hold fire for many minutes. When smoked, the tobacco burns with a glow rather than a flame and a very high temperature is obtained.

"Some cigars do not burn as well as others, hence a considerable quantity of materials may be distilled rather than consumed. Some of these may condense in the cigar, raising its temperature, and the remainder appears in the smoke. These products of distillation are usually quite bitter and may seriously interfere with the taste of the smoke."

Helps Burning

The potash helps the burning, a fact, he says which is appreciated by other scientists. This substance has figuratively the effect of a meat chopper. It reduces the cellulose and other compounds of the leaf to finely divided particles. This increases the surface available for oxidation—that is, for burning. This action of potash is aided materially by the liberation of water in the course of the reaction and by the high temperature of the glowing surface.

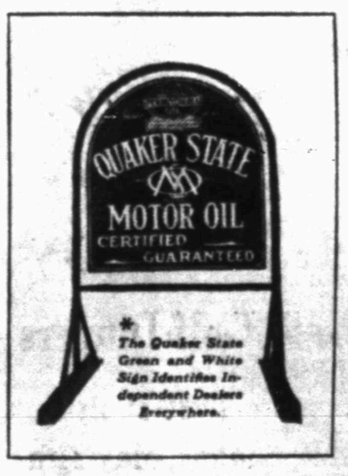

The iron completes the combustion. It must be present in the leaf in combination with the potash—or with similar compounds. When heated these compounds liberate magnetic metallic iron particles. Dr. Haley finds that these function in the glowing portion of the cigar as catalysts, in some way finishing the combustion of other substances and maintaining the maximum temperature of the glow, without allowing it to spread too far.

FIRST QUALIFYING ROUND OF WEST TEXAS TOURNEY ON TODAY

LOCAL PLAYERS TO TURN IN SCORES

OUT OF TOWN PLAYERS ARRIVING; MATCH PLAY FRIDAY

The seventh annual championship tournament of the West Texas Golf association is under way. While the tournament proper does not begin until tomorrow mirning when between 500 and 600 golfers are expected to tee off in an 18-hole qualifying round, preliminaries in the joust began this morning with something under a hundred local golfers reporting to the Lubbock Country club, host member to to the association this year, for a special qualifying round.

With the enrolling of the Meadowbrook Golf club as a member of the W. T. G. A., the local membership in the association was swelled to almost twice the former size and thus necessitated a special qualifying round to determine the Lubbock entry in the tornament. Jo Dick Slaughter, chairman of the local arrangements committee, requests that all local golfers who expect to participate in the tournament report to the Country club course today.

Scott and Camden Here

Entries from other cities began arriving in Lubbock and reporting to the Lubbock Hotel headquarters yesterday morning. Among the early comers were Bob Scott of Colorado City and Ellis Cowden of Midland, who played the course yesterday.

The club entry list was increased by five yesterday with the reception of membership fees and entrance fees from country clubs at Midland, Lamesa, San Saba, San Angelo and Post.

To Divide Into Flights

Following the qualifying round tomorrow, those remaining in the competition will be divided into four flights of 32 players each, who shall begin match play Friday. Preliminary rounds will continue through Saturday with 36-hole final matches for the championship and flight winners scheduled for Sunday.

Nineteen prizes for the champion, consolation winners and runners up in each flight, for medalist and for the driving contest winner have been subscribed by as many local firms. Approximately $300 in prizes will be awarded, President Read stated.

Medalist Prize

The medalist in the qualifying round will receive a large silver loving cup, fully engraved. The winning team will be presented with a silver and mahogany plaque. To the winner of the W. T. G. FOXHALL CONTINUES TO LEAD IN GREEN BELT

CLARENDON, May 20. (AP)—Frank Foxhall, Memphis, defending champion, swept through the first two rounds of play in the Greenbelt Golf tournament here Tuesday with little trouble. Although his long tee shots were finding the rough frequently, wonderful recovery and approach shots kept him in the running until his tee shots settled down. Cold sweeping wind and showers prevailed throughout the day, but during the two rounds, Foxhall shot even par golf.

Those surviving the first day's play in championship flight: Foxhall, Memphis; L. S. Walker, Quanah; Bill Rogers, Vernon; Al Cooke, Clarendon; Jack Parr, Electra; C. E. Haynes, Frederick; A. Blanton, Childress, and Ira Merchant, Clarendon.

A. N. Wood, T. E. Connally, J. T. Patman, all of Clarendon and T. N. Copeland, Estelline, survived in the first flight of the senior division, for golfers over 50 years of age.

LAKEWOOD TOURNEY IS UNDER WAY TODAY

DALLAS, May 20. (AP)—Qualifying round in the first annual Lakewood Country club invitation golf tournament started here this morning with an entry field of outstanding North Texas golfers.

LUBBOCK CITY LEAGUE BEGINS PLAY

Collier Parris

What is Lubbock going to do with the Panhandle Baseball league? The question must be answered one way or the other within the next day or two. Lubbock people, Lubbock business men must say yea or nay. It has come to that point.

* * *

In previous issues this department has held that any kind of a baseball organization here, unless backed by a man or a body of men who were willing to put something into the thing, was doomed to failure. We still say so, yet we are convinced that there is hardly a chance to sustain a loss in the present organization.

* * *

The Panhandle league is being backed and organized by men who make baseball a business. They have been in the business for years and years, and they know whereof they speak when baseball is concerned. They plan to install powerful floodlights in four West Texas cities and play a schedule of 100 games this summer, all games, with the possible exception of Sunday contests, being played at night.

* * *

We have said that night baseball was the only hope here, and we still say it. The founders of the league have included in their plans the installation of lights in every park. We believe that night baseball will go over here and everywhere else where sand and wind blows in the daytime under a blistering sun. It is more comfortable to work in an artificially cooled office than to see a ball game in a sandstorm during the hot afternoon.

* * *

Here's the layout, as we understand it after conferring with Harry Wanderling, owner of the Lubbock franchise and manager-elect of the Lubbock team. Wanderling came to Lubbock yesterday. We engaged him in a lengthy conversation and learned the following:

* * *

A certain amount of money must be raised within the next few days. A deposit must be in the office of J. Alvin Gardner president of the Texas league and also of the Panhandle league, by June 1. Amarillo, Pampa and Plainview have already sent in their deposits, having raised a sufficient amount of cash to put the thing over. According to Wanderling, it was about the easiest thing he has seen done in a long time to raise the money in the other towns. How that money must be raised here

* * *

No attempt will be made to canvas the business section and to take up a collection here. It is planned to form a stock company, with a select body of local men putting up the desired sum, controlling it in their own way and holding stock in the team. With the money thus gained, lights will be installed and salaries for one month will be paid. A few local men interviewed yesterday became immediately sold on the idea and things began to look good. It will take whole-hearted cooperation, however, on the part of Lubbock fandom before the local team can be successful

* * *

Let this department coin a few phrases right here to put over its feelings: a thing that is worth doing is worth doing well. Since this business of a Panhandle league appears to be in the hands of capable men, men with sound principles and sound ideals, who have in mind the developing of baseball in West Texas for the entertainment of those who love the game and for players who aspire to go higher than sand lots, we believe it is worth tackling with wim, wigor and witality.

* * *

Wanderling will bring in a team of baseball players who are waiting for a chance to break into the big show. Many of them, all of them, in fact, have had try outs with the big boys, most of them having played in the Texas league. It will be no slouchy bunch of players Wanderling brings here. There is no reason why the Panhandle league, in time, should not develop into first class farm land for the big leagues.

* * *

Each team in the circuit will be composed of fourteen players, nine of which may be non-class men and five of which may be profcssional players. Non-class men are players who may have played in big leagues but for only a brief period of time.

RAINBOWS AND LEGION-LIONS VICTORS

STAR A.—J. HURLER IS FLOP; SANTA FE IS DILLARD'S PREY

Lubbock greeted the initial efforts of the City League by turning out in fair sized crowds to two opening games. Playing at their park at 22nd Street and Avenue T the Avalanche-Journal club made a rocky start by dropping the first encounter to the American-Lions team, 15 to 10. Out at the Tech field Manager Bill Hargrove's Santa Fe nine dropped a 5 to 4 decision to the Rainbow club.

The remaining two members of the league play their opening game this afternoon at 6 o'clock. The Texas Utilities team, managed by A. D. Chase, will meet the Lubbock Wholesalers, managed by Virgil Goodwin, on the Tech field.

Errors Help Victory

In winning their opening game yesterday, the Rainbow club, managed by M. D. Newton, managed to garner only three safe hits off Cooper and Ratliff, pitching for the Santa Fe, but five errors helped to put victory across. The Rainbows committed five oungles while the Santa Fe boys took four hits off Dillard. A 4-run splurge in the fourth inning by the Santa Fe team appeared good enough to win, but the Rainbows smuggled two across in the same frame, after having scored three in the third, for the winning margin.

Out at 22nd Street and Avenue T the crowd was disappointed in a number of things, but most of all by Bill Davidson's pitching. Davidson has gained quite a name as a sand lot hurler and was expected to be one of the high lights of the season. Yesterday he blew up walking three men and allowing enough hits to win any game. His mates rallied and put over ten runs but not enough to win. Bumpas went in to relieve Davidson but was also knocked out by the slugging Legion-Lions. Lefty Capps went in to finish and held the opponents scoreless and hitless in his inning. Leach and Hopper hurled for the victors.

BUFFS DEFEAT SPUDDERS

ONLY ONE TILT PLAYED TUESDAY IN TEXAS LEAGUE

(By The Associated Press)

In the only game Tuesday in the Texas league, the Houston Buffaloes defeated Wichita Falls, 4 to 3.

George Payne as the pitching star and Carey Selph as the batting hero featured Houston's win. Payne was nicked for nine hits, but only in the second and ninth innings did he allow scores. Houston scored in the tenth to break a 3 to 3 deadlock and win the game. Selph, second baseman, collected four hits to drive in three of Houston's runs, including the winning score.

Selph Is Star

Selph although his hitting featured, fielded brilliantly. He started a double play in the ninth after the Spudders had scored a pair of runs to tie the count and had the bases full with none out. And just to top off a big afternoon of baseball, the Houston second baseman stole a pair of bases.

Other games in the Texas league Tuesday were rained out or postponed because of soggy playing fields. Wednesday's schedule:

GEORGE VOIGT IN 5TH BRITISH ROUND

WESTWAD HO, DEVON, Eng., May 20. (AP)—George Voigt of New York advanced to the fifth round of the British amateur golf championship today, defeating Bernard Darwin, London golf writer, 3 and 2.

It is believed that 90,000,000 years have been required for the sea to attain its present saltiness.

The professional boys may be of any class. The player limit includes a non-playing manager.

FORECASTS IN MAJOR LEAGUE RACES RUNNING TRUE TO FORM WITH MACKS LEADING AND NATIONAL IN MIX-UP

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league baseball teams are busy these days proving that forecasts of a close race in the National league and the Athletics again in the American were correct.

The St. Louis and New York National league clubs are battling for the lead only a half game apart. The Philadelphia Americans, while they have not been able to outdistance their leading rivals, are on top and have done their best to make it a runaway by winning eleven straight.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

George Earnshaw, Athletics—shut out Tigers with two hits for Philadelphia's eleventh straight victory.

Wally Berger, Braves—Clouted two triples and single in 9-5 victory over Cubs.

Willard Morrell, Giants—Stopped Reds with eight hits, winning first major league start, 9-3.

Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Hit seventh home run of season in 8-6 victory over Cleveland.

Earnshaw Delivers

The A's downed the Detroit Tigers 5-0 yesterday behind the unbeatable pitching of Big George Earnshaw. The Philadelphia right hander gave just two hits while his teammates made good use of nine blows off Walter Hoyt.

The victory resulted in no gain for the A's, however, for their leading rivals, the New York Yankees, staged a comeback to hand Cleveland its eleventh straight defeat, 8 to 6.

Rain Halts Games

Washington lost some ground as rain stopped the game at Chicago. Wet grounds halted Boston and St. Louis.

Timely slugging enabled the National league leaders, the Cardinals, and their strongest rivals, the Giants, to continue their race. The Cards beat Brooklyn 6 to 2 as the Robins failed to give Babe Phelps good support. The Giants took things fairly easy against Cincinnati and won easily, 9 to 3.

The Boston Braves continued their pursuit of the leaders by pushing Chicago deeper into fourth. Aided by three Cub errors, the braves scored eight runs in the first inning and won out 9 to 5.

"Ace Elliott of the Phillies was in the hole again but this time it was not of his own making. He relieved Jim Elliott in the ninth inning with none out and the bases full and retired the Pirates in time to save a 4 to 2 victory.

Every third cup of coffee drunk in the United States comes through the port of New Orleans, the Association of Commerce there says.

CHICAGO CUBS, THE TOAST OF CITY FEW WEEKS AGO, NOW THE "ROAST" OF THE TOWN; HORNSBY TO ANSWER

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—Chicago's Cubs, only a few weeks ago the toast of the city, today were the "roast" of the town.

They have failed dismally on their current road trip and the fans, who started to forget all about Manager Joe McCarthy when they dashed away from the 1931 National league barrier like a Twenty Grand, are back booing and predicting all kinds of turmoil in the front office where owner William Wrigley, jr., dreams of the world's championship baseball team he says he and the fans of Chicago must have.

There was considerable doubt as to any "turmoil" in the Wrigley office today but there isn't much doubt but what Manager Rogers Hornsby would be called on to give his version of "what's wrong with the Cubs?" when he confers with his chiefs Saturday. There isn't much doubt either but what he will be requested to shake the club from top to bottom, if necessary, to put it back in the pennant race.

The "Rajah" will bring his team, loser in six out of seven games so far on the eastern invasion, back to Chicago Saturday and will go into a huddle with the Cub bosses almost as soon as he returns.

As far as newspapermen, travelling with the club, can determine, rumors of personal disputes between the "Rajah" and his players have been as untrue as they have been numerous. Reports have filtered back and forth that Hornsby and some of the players, usually Hack Wilson, had quarreled. Each rumor was denied only to be revived in some other city, where it was denied again and so on.

Still the club hasn't been clicking although it's pitching, fielding and hitting have been better than the average and better than the team's percentage, which stood at the .506 mark today. The one big ailment so far appears to be in base running, which has been so slow that the Cubs threaten to set up a new league record for supplying double play killings.

EMPTY BUILDING ALSO BURNED LAST NIGHT IN AMARILLO

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 20.—Fire starting from a gasoline explosion destroyed 40 used automobiles and a building here last night. Damage was estimated at $36,000.

The building was a used car warehouse of a local concern, and all the cars were destroyed.

Exceptional work by firemen saved adjacent buildings as the flames were spread by exploding gasoline tanks.

No one was hurt. The building was empty. Cause of the explosion is unknown.

BURTON AND KITTS HEAD CAGE STAFF

Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas has announced yesterday that Sam Burton, popular basketball coach at West Texas State Teachers College, and Jimmie Kitts, nationally known high school coach of the championship Athens High school Hornets, had offered their services in the Tech coaching school next August and would conduct a basketball course for the visiting coaches.

Burton will head the department and Kitts will deliver lectures primarily for high school coaches during two days of the two weeks school. "The coming of Burton and Kitts to the school should prove a drawing card for basketball coaches almost as powerful as that for football coaches provided by Jimmie Phelan and Wallace Wade," Cawthon said yesterday.

The school, perhaps the most important in the southwest this summer and the only major school slated for Texas, will be held during the first two weeks in August, with Wade and Phelan, head coaches at Duke and the University of Washington respectively, heading the bill.

GARNET REEVES HAS NEW CLUB

What "Calamity Jane" is to Bobby Jones, "Cow Pasture Pool Special" is to Garnet Reeves, publicity director of the chamber of commerce here.

Wide-smiling, jocular Reeves named his new iron yesterday, soon after it had been presented him by W. H. Rodgers, acting city manager.

True to its name, the club bears the "cow pasture" motiff throughout. An antiquated putter is mounted on a shaft of natural mesquite, about four feet long. Knots and thorns are very noticeable to the person who tries its balance. The club was prepared by the Lubbock fire department especially for Rodgers, but was passed on to Reeves because the city manager said there was little chance for improving his game with the instrument.

"Looks like a great club," Reeves said, eyeing the thorn-bearing mesquite handle suspiciously, "I think I ought to enter the West Texas golf tournament this week."

Crop Loans Ruled Garnishment Free

TEXARKANA, Ark., May 20. (AP)—Judge Louis Josephs ruled in municipal court today that government crop loans to farmers were not subject to garnishment for debt. The issue resulted when a Texarkana firm sought a $60 attachment against the bank account of R. A. Quillin, farmer living near Fouke. The case was said to be the first of its kind in the United States.

W. N. Ivie, United States district attorney, was ordered to represent the government as intervenor when the case became known.

Flying Dutchman Raps Byrd

Sharp criticism of Admiral Byrd (above), is contained in a new book "Flying Dutchman", by Anthony H. G. Fokker (upper left). Fokker charges that the failure of the America to make the Atlantic flight before Lindbergh was due to Byrd's "interminable series of test flights." He differs from the admiral in his account of the flight. Byrd, Acosta and Noville, he says, were entirely lost when Bernt Balchen (left) took the controls and steered the craft to the French coast.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PITCHERS ADMIT "DEADER" BALL IS PRETTY LIVELY

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 20.—American league pitchers, except for a few slow curve ball tossers, today admitted that the "deader" baseball was a pretty healthy sphere.

A comparison of records from the current American league campaign with those up to May 20, 1930, reveals that in five cases out of six the present ball has a liveller habit than the discarded ball of a year ago.

"Big" Innings More

A year ago today there were 15 games in which one team scored 10 runs or more a game. So far this season, there have been 21 or six more. Last year at this time, there were 25 "big" innings in which a team scored five or more runs. To date in 1931, there have been four more.

Individual batting feats have been more plentiful this season than a year ago also. Up to May 20, 1930, 15 batters succeeded in getting four hits in one game while one hammered out five; so far this season, 16 batters whacked out four hits in one game while four more belted out five over nine innings each.

Again up to May 20, 1930, pitchers turned in 21 games in which the opposition batsmen collected five or fewer hits in nine innings. To date this season, there have been only 18.

The exception is in shutouts. Over the same period in 1930, only seven shutouts were turned in as compared with 10 this season.

CALIFORNIA RED FLAG LAW IS FOUND DEFECTIVE IN SUPREME COURT RULING

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Free political discussion on the government remains a constitutional right.

For that reason, among others, the supreme court found defective the California red flag law under which Yetta Stromberg, a native American of Russian parentage, was convicted. The decision yesterday sent the case back to the state court.

Had To Salute Soviet Flag

The woman was prosecuted because children at a camp to which she was attached were assembled each morning to salute the Russian Soviet flag and promise allegiance to it.

The California law prohibits the display of a red flag or any other device in a public place as a sign of "opposition to organized government or as an invitation or stimulus to anarchistic action or as an aid to propaganda that is of a seditious character."

Chief Justice Hughes' opinion said "the maintenance of an opportunity for free political discussion to the end that government may be responsive to the will of the people and that changes may be obtained by lawful means, an opportunity essential to the security of the republic, is a fundamental principle of our constitutional system."

A review of the case against Miss Stromberg, the chief justice said, did not disclose whether she had been found guilty of "opposition to organized government" alone or "anarchistic action" or engaging in "propaganda that is of a seditious character" as well.

He said the case would be carried to the supreme court if such action became necessary by reversal of Judge Josephs' decision.

Salt Lake City will plant 10,000 trees as its contribution to the observance of the bicentennial birth of George Washington.

WHOLESALE COIN BUYS MORE TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—The 1926 wholesale dollar was worth $1.364 last month.

The labor department found today that the dollar's value during the year increased more in rubber purchasing power than any of the other 550 commodities covered by the calculations. The April 1931 coin could have bought rubber that would have cost $7.519 in April 1926.

Last month's dollar also was worth $2.264 in petroleum products, $2.212 in silk and rayon and $2.188 in automobile tires.

The department said the index number of the April, 1931, dollar based on 1926 as 100, was 73.3, or 1.2 less than March of this year. Among food price decreases last month were butter, cheese, fresh and cured meats, lard, rye flour and corn meal. The only increases were in grains, other foods and automobiles.

Daisy De Boe Files Suit Against Girnau

LOS ANGELES, May 20. (AP)—Daisy I. De Boe, former secretary to Clara Bow, film actress, has filed suit against Frederick H. Girnau, weekly newspaper publisher asking damages of $100,000 for the alleged use of her name in a series of articles purporting to reveal incidents in the life of Miss Bow.

Publication of the articles resulted in the arrest of Girnau by federal authorities on charges of sending obscene matter through the mails.

Marquis Asks For Time To Study Post

SAN ANTONIO, May 20 (AP)—San Antonio school teachers and officials were reelected to their positions for next year on the basis of present salaries and without the automatic increase which comes through length of service by the school board in session Tuesday.

A letter was read from Dr. R. L. Marquis, president of the North Texas Teachers college, who has been tendered the superintendency to replace B. W. Hartley, in which Dr. Marquis asked additional time to consider the offer.

MEXICAN ARRESTED

LAREDO, May 20. (AP)—Jose Linares was arrested last night and charged with assault with intent to murder after two shots from a .38 calibre revolver had been fired at Louis Hausman, president of a packing plant here. Hausman was driving past the plant in an automobile when the shots were fired. Both struck the car, narrowly missing the driver.

Linares claimed Hausman owed him $20 for taming some horses.

EARTH TREMORS FELT

MEXICO CITY, May 20. (AP)—Earth tremors were felt in Huasteco and San Martin Tlacotexpec, state of Vera Cruz, today and last night, according to newspaper dispatches. At San Martin the tremors were accompanied by a severe wind, rain and hailstorm that uprooted trees, damaged houses and caused some damage to the cathedral.

More than $32,000,000 in federal funds will be spent in Nevada this year, for government buildings, Hoover Dam work and munitions depot construction.

Two Youths Escape As Still Is Raided

ELECTRA, May 20. (AP)—Two of three youths surprised by officers Tuesday as they were operating a still in a canyon south of Electra had to flee on foot when their companion escaped in the only automobile at the scene. Constable O. E. Whisnand fired five shots at the pair but they escaped in the brakes along Beaver Creek. The officers seized four gallons of whiskey and a large quantity of mash, grain, and sugar in addition to the still.

LLOYD GEORGE'S DAUGHTER TRIED

MISS MEGAN IS SENTENCED TO SIT IN HOUSE OF LORDS "IN HER FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS"

LONDON, May 20. (AP)—Miss Megan Lloyd George, M. P., daughter of the former prime minister, was under sentence today to sit in the house of lords for "following in her father's footsteps."

In a mock trial at the London school of economics last night a jury found her guilty and decreed she should be transferred from the house of commons so she could not hear the speeches of her father, now leader of the liberal party.

Philip Guedalla, historian and writer, prosecuted the charge, accusing her of speaking Welsh to the danger of the public and of frequenting a building used by Lady Astor, American born member of the house.

Pleading not guilty—or extenuating circumstances if guilty—Miss Lloyd George said she had been subjected to undue influence at an early age and that politics was a disease of the blood transmitted from generation to generation. As a child she never was asked whether she wanted a doll or teddy bear, she said, but whether she was a protectionist or a free trader.

She called her sister, Lady Carey Evans, to testify that when she (Megan) couldn't sleep as a baby Mr. X sang her the land song. Mr. Lloyd George was referred to throughout the trial only as Mr. X.

ORGANIZATION ON LABOR SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Better organization to keep "any unjustified, unsound, uneconomic burden from being forced upon labor's back" was suggested today to metal trades councils by the American Federation of Labor.

The federation's metal trades department held that since "short-sighted and selfish employers encouraged by the advice of some of the nation's leading bankers, are reducing or attempting to reduce wages," active efforts should be made to organize the unorganized. Such a step, it said, would enable more wage earners to "make use of collective action" against lower pay proposals.

Asserting the American wage earners and their dependents constitute 85 per cent of the population and it is the goods they purchase which maintain American industries, the department said "the present depression was caused principally by the failure of industry to pay wages in proportion to the wealth being created."

"Some of those who reaped inordinate profits during the so-called period of prosperity are now endeavoring to force labor to bear the burden of the employers' unsound and uneconomic business policies," the department said.

GLAD TO TELL ABOUT KONJOLA

Time After Time This Medicine of 29 Ingredients Triumphs After All Else Tried Failed

A medicine is known, not for promises, but for the friends it has made and held just by making good. Well, Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends.

Let us see how this remarkable medicine works. Take, as a typical example, the experience of Mrs. C. H. Bridges, 1327 N. Thirteen 1327 N. Thirteenth street, Waco, who says: "For six months I had spells of indigestion. I tried a number of medicines, but without results. But after four bottles of Konjola I am greatly improved. With two more bottles I expect to feel better than in years."

MRS. C. H. BRIDGES

Next give thought to the grateful words of Mr. Thomas Moore, 314 Mission street, an Antonio. "Five years ago I began to suffer from kidney and stomach troubles and constipation. I often had to stop work for days at a time. Gas formed after meals, and I had attacks of nausea and vomiting. But after six bottles of Konjola I am better than in years. I have no more kidney trouble; food digests properly and I have gained in weight."

MR. THOMAS MOORE

No wonder Mrs. Mary E. Jones, Lake Worth Road, is grateful for Konjola. She says: "For three years I suffered with neuritis in shoulders, neck and arms. Sleep was impossible. I had headaches, and my nerves were in a terrible shape. I have just finished the fourth bottle of Konjola, and am in excellent health, free from all pain and misery."

MRS. MARY E. JONES

Isn't that the kind of medicine sufferers want and need. Konjola does work swiftly, yet it is best to take a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles. Buy Konjola in any drug store, and do not accept a substitute.

Thought For Today

As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you; and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem. —Isaiah 66:13.

The chief secret of comfort lies in not suffering trifles to vex us.—Aughey.

For The Cop

AMERICANS generally do not have a very good opinion of their police.

Part of this is due to the prevalence of crime in the large cities, which has led to a fairly widespread belief—sometimes justified and sometimes not—that the police are inefficient and corrupt, unable to cope with gang leaders even if they wished to.

Part of it, too, probably comes from the fact that the ordinary citizen's chief contact with the police comes through the traffic officer. This functionary is usually overworked and harassed, and his temper, quite naturally, tends to be a short one. Mr. Average American, then, ruffled at getting scolded sharply for violating some traffic rule, judges the whole force by the officer who has rebuked him, and sets all policemen down as rude and unmannerly persons.

However, this isn't quite the whole story; and it is worth remembering that the ordinary cop is ready and willing to risk his life against long odds for the protection of the public. He does it repeatedly, and gets little credit for it.

There is, for instance, Patrolman Ernest Staab of Cleveland, who suffers from intermittent spells of sickness and labors against a curse of ill health that may eventually cut short his life because of his self-sacrifice and devotion to duty at the terrible Cleveland Clinic fire two years ago.

Newspaper readers will remember that fire. The hospital building filled with deadly gas, and more than 100 people lost their lives. Patrolman Staab was one of the first officers to reach the scene. Again and again he went into the gas-filled building. Before he himself finally collapsed, he had saved 21 lives.

For weeks Staab was at the point of death. Finally he recovered—partially. He still has spells of painful sickness. He does not know when one of these spells is going to carry him off. But he simply says, "It was my job," and asks for no sympathy.

There is an example of the way the "ordinary cop" rises to the emergency.

There are plenty more like him. There is, for instance, Patrolman Charles E. Ripley—promoted, now, to a sergeant—of Dover, N. J. who by his nerve and quickness was able to arrest James Nannery, a dangerous young thug for whom police of half a dozen states were hunting.

Staab and Ripley are not uncommon characters. They are fairly representative of the average policeman throughout the United States. They seldom get much credit. The ordinary citizen finds it easy to criticize them. But they are there when the emergency arises.

Relief Work

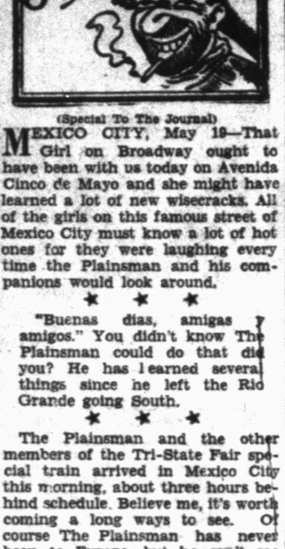

One hundred representative American cities spent more than $40,000,000 during 1930 on relief work among needy families, according to figures just issued by the U. S. Children's Bureau.

Private contributions, the Bureau's report says, increased measurably to meet the emergency, but the greater share of the increased burden of relief work was borne and is now being borne by agencies maintained by public taxes. In general, it is stated, public departments spent nearly 150 per cent more on this sort of work than they did in the preceding year.

Whatever may be the case regarding national relief work, it is fairly clear that local work has to get very liberal help from the public treasury.

A Minnesota judge has sentenced a robber to go to bed every day at 10 p. m. for the next five years. But isn't this another under-cover job?

The Plainsman Says:

(Special To The Journal)

MEXICO CITY, May 18—That Girl on Broadway ought to have been with us today on Avenida Cinco de Mayo and she might have learned a lot of new wisecracks. All of the girls on this famous street of Mexico City must know a lot of hot ones for they were laughing every time the Plainsman and his companions would look around.

* * *

"Buenas dias, amigas amigos." You didn't know The Plainsman could do that did you? He has learned several things since he left the Rio Grande going South.

* * *

The Plainsman and the other members of the Tri-State Fair special train arrived in Mexico City this morning, about three hours behind schedule. Believe me, it's worth coming a long ways to see. Of course The Plainsman has never been to Europe, but he can't see why people run up to New York to catch a boat for England, France and other countries across the big pond before they have seen Mexico, particularly Mexico City and Monterrey. There's a thrill around every corner and there are plenty of corners in this town.

* * *

PRESIDENT Pascual Ortiz Rubio was invited to the Tri-State fair by the Panhandle delegation this afternoon when he received us at Chapultepec castle. Wilber C. Hawk, president of the fair association and business manager of the Amarillo News-Globe, presented the president with a key of gold, representing the "key" to Amarillo. Mr. Rubio said he would like to pay the Panhandle a visit but did not think that he could get away during September.

* * *

The Plainsman doesn't know what party Senor Rubio belongs to, but he does know that the president is a democratic fellow. And his command of English is very good, in fact much better than the Spanish of the Man on Avenue Q.

* * *

Chapultepec castle, the home of the president, is located out in the suburbs of the city on a moderately high hill. It is connected with the business district by a broad "avenida." The "avenida" and grounds in front of the castle are regarded more or less as a public play ground for all of Mexico. On Sundays, natives of this country say, women dressed in their best gowns parade up and down the avenue, such as the Tech young bloods show off on Broadway after Easter services. Several bands including the president's crack military organization, furnish the music for the promenades.

* * *

THERE is one place in Mexico City where The Plainsman visited today where he felt at home. It was the "Thieves Market." No, The Plainsman isn't pointing to himself as a thief, what he means is that it reminded him of some of the junk yards on Avenue H. Everything from old pocket knives to worn out furniture was on display on the walk in front of the building and inside where most of the trading was going on.

* * *

He would have bought one of those brightly colored pieces of pottery if he had felt sure that Mrs. Plainsman would have left it alone on nights that The Plainsman would come home late.

* * *

Some of the Panhandle people today deserted the Fred Harvey dining coach for dinner in one of Mexico City's famous cafes. This place, near Hotel Regis (where The Plainsman is going to sleep tonight) is operated by one "Butch" Lewis, an American who made good in the big city. "Butch" is a—I started to say negro, but they call them colored people down here. He used to be a chef on a diner running between El Paso and Mexico City, and opened up the eating place here at the insistence of some American mining men shortly after the Diaz regime. Immaculately dressed, Butch meets all of his customers at the door and ushers them in to the tables, chatting all the while about the United States. He always wears a flower in the lapel of his coat, which is often one of those frock-tailed affairs. Old-timers say he sometimes sports a monocle.

* * *

SHERIFF Wade Hardy and Chief of Police John Lemon should have been with the Panhandle group yesterday in Monterrey. They would have seen more beer than they could store in the court house and city hall combined. Monterrey is the home of the famous Carta Blanca brewery, the largest beer-making establishment in the world since Mr. Volstead put the lid on the boys up in Milwaukee. The Plainsman was staggered with the recital of the factory guide, concerning "so many thousands of bottles of this, and so many thousands of barrels of that kind of beer" drawn off daily. One big storage house looked to The Plainsman like it ought to hold enough liquid to supply the city of Lubbock if all of its large casks were filled with water.

* * *

Here's something hard to believe: All visitors are served as much beer as they care to drink when they visit the establishment. You don't even have to go after it. "Mozo",

Small Stocks, Wise Buying Aid Stories In Depression; Merchants Adopting Conservative Policy Of Purchasing

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 20—In good times more than fifty billion dollars of our national income is spent in American retail stores.

Nearly everyone buys "at the store." It is the producer's vehicle of distribution and its tieup with a national condition of prosperity or depression is obvious.

But although the country's diminished purchasing power has automatically reacted against the retail stores, our merchants have stood the strain far better than in the 1920-21 slump which caught them heavily stocked with merchandise, then belabored them with sudden and drastic price declines as well as loss of sales.

New Merchants Buy Carefully

That was the dawn of a new era in retail merchandising, according to President D. F. Kelly of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, who heads a large Chicago department store. Kelly explained at the International Chamber of Commerce Congress here that merchants subsequently adopted a permanent policy of conservative buying, placing orders only to cover limited requirements and becoming especially cautious about style and seasonal goods.

"This policy of conservative buying has without doubt been one of the saving factors for merchants during the recent period," Kelly said.

Kelly gave much of the low-down on the stores, which you and I patronize nearly every day.

For instance, although the chain stores have made rapid inroads on American retail trade and you seem to find them now on every other corner, they still do only 18 per cent of that retail trade.

The rest of it is divided up as follows: Departments and general merchandising stores 16 per cent, mail-order houses 3.6 per cent, company stores operated primarily by industrial concerns for employes 3 per cent, house-to-house canvassing 2.3 per cent, consumers' co-operative stores four-tenths of one per cent—and independent stores outside those classifications 56.7 per cent.

Retailers' Costs Mount

Kelly took a slam at the theory often held by manufacturers and other folks that retailers get the lion's share of the profit in production and distribution. Expenses have mounted steadily in the last decade, he cited surveys to show, and profits have often decreased as fast. Many stores have a net operating profit, but many—even in 1929, the last year for which figures are available—did not.

The Harvard Business School found that among department stores doing a two-million dollar business or more, each $100 of operating expense was divided up like this (showing what becomes of much of the money you leave in a department store): Payroll, $51; rent and operating plant and equipment, $15; advertising, $10.50; taxes, $1.; interest, $6; supplies, $5; light, heat and power, $2; traveling 1.50; communications, $1; repairs, $1; insurance, depreciation and professional services, $2.50; and unclassified, including bad debts, $3.50.

Department stores have developed by laying special emphasis on service to customers whereas chain stores have curtailed service and operated "cash and carry," Kelly said, but some chains lately have shown a tendency toward granting credit and free deliveries to customers.

Mail Order Sales Drop

A large portion of the mail order business has been diverted to stores at the trading center during the past decade because of automobiles and good highways. That's why two of the largest mail order houses have established chains of retail stores.

clad in white jackets bring it out to you while you sit in the shade of the big elm tree in the brewery garden.

Speaking of beer and Spanish, one of the waitresses in a Monterrey cafe pulled a good one on one of the fellows yesterday. He was trying to show off with his best lingo. The waitress looked upon him with disdain. "Todo los Americanos habla in Espanol es—usted es muy bonita o dame una cerveza Carta Blanca" (or words to that effect) which means "All the Americans can say in Spanish is 'you are very pretty or give me a Carta Blanca beer.'"

* * *

Monterrey is a very pretty city of 125,000 people. However, to The Plainsman, the city struck him as being more of an industrial center than a beauty spot. Every kind of a factory you can think of has a branch plant here. When you pass through the smelter district you may easily imagine you are in Pittsburgh or Birmingham. Monterrey does things in a big way. Last summer, The Plainsman was told, the city decided one of the principal business thoroughfares was too narrow. The people of Monterrey didn't do a thing but start cutting off the fronts of residences and business establishments, alike, without a day's delay—something most cities in the United States would have to spend several months, or years, squabbling over.

SUNSTROKE

Sunstroke is caused by a profound disturbance of the heat-regulating mechanism of the body. There are many degrees of it. Heat exhaustion is a milder form which occurs in workers in heated rooms or factories, such as stokers, roofers, miners, etc. The symptoms are muscle cramps, dizziness, weakness, pallor and profuse perspiration.

Dr. Clendening

Sunstroke is more severe and actually overwhelms the heat-regulating center. The onset may be sudden and catastrophic with instant death. More often there are premonitory symptoms of headache, dizziness, nausea, disturbances of vision.

It may be put down as a summer axiom that anyone who is exerting violently on a hot day and who feels a headache gradually growing worse, should go indoors in a dark room, loosen the clothing, apply cool water to the face, head and hands, and rest until the headache is gone.

Sunstroke causes not only a great change in temperature, but profound circulatory collapse. The victim will be found to have a startlingly high temperature—109 or more. I once saw a man who, after death from sunstroke, retained a temperature in the body of over 108—this an hour after death. The pulse is rapid and weak. The heart fluttery. The skin pale and dry.

One attack makes the victim susceptible to others. Loss of memory is frequently noted after a sunstroke.

Treatment consists in reducing the temperature of the body and increasing the tone of the heart and circulation. The first thing to do is to remove the patient to a cool place. As soon as possible get all the clothes off.

Water is the sovereign remedy here. It is best not to have it too cold at first on account of the shock. Ice baths, such as are often practiced, have not as good results as tepid or cool water. The water should be cast on the body with some force. Thus a hose sprinkle or water dashed on the patient with a bucket is good treatment.

Such emergency treatment should be known to everyone who has to spend the summer in a hot part of the world. It is all that is necessary before the doctor comes.

Questions From Readers

An interesting letter on reducing is at hand. The writer's observations are sound, but I cannot answer her question. It is true people gain to a certain point and then no matter what they do go no higher.

"Practically, as well as theoretically, your figures on reduction are correct. Ten years ago I spent a winter dieting by the method you suggest, and by the use of a calorie chart and a special measuring spoon used in preparing and in serving meals, I could regulate my loss so surely, scales, even, were not necessary to be sure I lost the required amount. The quarter pound a day is most convenient from the "comfort" viewpoint, although it does prolong the dieting period.

"What I'm wondering—is there some scientific reason why, after I gain the extra 20 or 25 pounds which I do when I stop dieting, why I don't continue to gain in weight? I can eat any amount of fattening foods after I reach 165 pounds and still remain at that figure. Why don't I continue to gain 10, 20 or 30 pounds as time goes on? Why, when I reduce to 140 can't I start eating normally and remain at that weight as I do when I reach 165 and continue to eat without regard for consequences?"

NEW YORK, May 20.—One of New York's inexplicable characters continues to be "Jim, the overcoat man."

I've never met anyone who knew his name, but this eccentric gent can be seen almost anywhere from the Battery to Harlem wearing from four to five overcoats at one and the same time. Be the weather hot or cold, it is of no consequence to this bearded mystery. He plods through Fifth Avenue or Second Avenue alike with one coat piled upon the other.

Curious ones naturally assume that he meanders to the poorer sections and literally sells the coats off his back. But no one has ever caught him at it, and there are those who insist that the coats are the same today as three years ago.

* * *

"In a city of Manhattan's size the number of eccentrics is considerable. An estimator of useless statistics informs me that one person per block, during rush hours, can be observed going about talking to himself or herself.

There is a peddler in Broadway who frequently wears a Jewish prayer shawl over his shoulders and pins any number of strange gold medals on his white vest.

And there's the old chap with hair and whiskeers fashioned according to pictures of the prophets; with flowing robes and bare feet. But there's one of those in almost every big city. Raymond Duncan is about the most consistent of this cult. As you may already know, he once founded a back-to-Greece club and began wearing drapes and togas of the old Greek and Roman vintage; his feet are sandaled and his hair uncut.

* * *

There's the white-haired old lady who appears each day in one of the city squares and feeds a couple of hundred stray cats. The cats, accustomed to her visits, begin to arrive from every alley in advance of her appearance.

And there's that quite wealthy woman of another generation who still believes that hair was most becoming when worn with "rats" and who attracts no slight attention by wearing her tresses in the old Gibson girl manner.

At least a dozen wealthy business men have taken up magical tricks as a hobby and each year appear before the professional magicians with personally invented illusions of the most difficult variety. The social engagements of Keating, the suave trickster, caused innumerable social registerites to go in for sleight-of-hand.

Half a dozen professional men have found radio broadcasting stunts a pleasant hobby. One, a wealthy broker, who likes to burst into "barber shop" harmony appears with a well-known radio quartet.

Not so many days ago, Ann Harding, now one of Hollywood's most important screen personalities, returned to the Broadway from which she started. Since this was one of her few visits since joining the film colony, everyone expected her to be seen about for a few days. Instead of which, she disappeared.

And this is why: Years ago, when Miss Harding was first beginning her career as an actress, and long before Manhattan or Hollywood had ever heard her name, a "little theater" group in a small Pennsylvania town gave her a chance. It was from this opportunity that she grew to a fine artist.

This player's group is still alive and recently decided to have an anniversary celebration. Miss Harding was formally notified and invited, if she could, to be a guest. And despite all her varied activities she sped east to be there on time—and appeared in the cast.

There were 230,000 more telephone messages received at the White House last year than in the previous year. It seems that the administration is called up as well as down.

The British army has reduced the length of bayonets from 20 inches to nine. A new low for steel.

At first the mule was very tame and Clowny shouted, "It's a shame that we can't ride much faster. I would almost rather walk." "Oh, give the lazy thing a chance," snapped Scouty. "He's too tired to prance. You're always saying foolish things, whene'er you start to talk."

But Clowny wasn't satisfied. He craved a rather speedy ride and loudly shouted, "Hey! Giddap." And then he jerked the reins. The mule was startled. Up he jumped, and down the road the queer cart thumped. "You're going to have some trouble now," cried Carpy, "for your pains."

They soon found out that he was right. The small mule ran with all his might. And then he started kicking both his hind legs in the air. "Hang on! Hang on" cried Scouty. "Gee! I fear 'twill be the end of me. The mule is going crazy 'cause you've given him a scare."

"Aw, don't you fret! I'll tame him down, as sure as I'm a T clown," said Clowny. Then he pu ed the reins until they were tight. This seemed to have right effect. The mule stopped the cart was wrecked. "Hurray you," cried Coppy. "And tha goodness we're all right!"

Back to the Travel Man t went and very shortly they w sent upon another little trip t took them through a gate. Travel Man had told them he wo wait while they went out to see monstrous, winding China W Said he "You'll think it great."

Outside the wall they found a who promptly said, "Hello! glad to meet you little visitor And then he pointed high, and s "That is the wall right there. how it towers in the air." The si was so impressive that it made t Tinies sigh.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—The stock market rallied substantially in the forepart of today's session.

An abrupt advance at the opening soon ran into a flurry of selling but it was short lived and most of the list worked higher until midday, despite a few isolated soft spots. Trading was quiet.

Rails led the upturn as during the early trading yesterday. Issues up about 2 to 4 points included Baltimore — Ohio, Rock Island, New Haven, Pennsylvania and Union Pacific. Other issues up 2 points or so included American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, U. S. Steel and American Tobacco B.

Continental Can, on the other hand, dropped 3 to a new low, American Water Works lost as much, and Allied Chemical declined 2.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Cotton opened very steady today, 14 to 21 points higher in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables and the firmer opening tone in the stock market.

July cotton sold up to 9.29 and December to 9.84 on the initial demand which was attributed to covering combined with some buying for foreign and trade account. The advance encountered considerable realizing or liquidation and prices sagged off but the market held fairly steady with active months ruling about 12 to 17 points net higher at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables said some further continental liquidation had been taken by covering and buying for a reaction in that market but reported buyers of cotton cloths and yarns holding aloof pending stability.

There may have been a little buying on the weather reports which showed rather more rain and lower temperatures than some traders considered desirable, but after the early advance prices sagged off under liquidation and some commission house selling. This became more active later in the morning when the stock market reached from its early advance, with July cotton selling off to 9.19 and Dec. to 9.72, or about 10 to 12 points from the high prices of the morning. At midday the market was comparatively quiet at net advances of 8 to 10 points.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 20 (AP) — Cotton had a firmer opening here today owing to much better Liverpool cables than due, rumors of a revolution in Russia and unfavorable weather in the belt overnight.

First trades showed gains of 9 to 14 points. The market continued to improve after the start owing to covering by shorts and in sympathy with an improvement in stocks. July traded up to 9.28 and October to 9.62, or 17 to 18 points above yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour prices eased off five to seven points on realizing but the undertone continued steady.

The market improved during the middle of the morning on the early strength of stocks and the rather bullish weekly weather and crop summary. July advanced to 9.30 and October to 9.64, or 19 points above yesterday's close.

Later in the morning prices eased off owing to a reaction in stocks, July dropping to 9.15 and October to 9.52, or 12 to 13 points down from the earlier highs.

At mid-session the market was quieter and somewhat steadier.

The government report showing the revised acreage of last crop had no effect on the market as the difference from the original figures was trifling.

NEW ORLEANS, May 20 (AP) — Cotton futures opened barely steady today: May 9.08; July 9.27; Oct. 9.62; Dec. 9.83; Jan. 9.93; March 10.10.

CHAIN STORES FACING TAX

COUNSEL POINTS OUT DISCRIMINATION BEING MADE

BY J. E. BRACKETT
Associated Press Business Writer

NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Thirty-seven states and the federal government have anti-chain store legislation of some sort now pending, M. M. Zimmermann, chain store merchandising counsel said today in commenting on the upholding by the federal supreme court of the Indiana "chain store" tax law.

Mr. Zimmerman has recently completed a year's study in the field.

The Indiana law calls for a graduated scales of license fees measured by the number of stores operated within the state. The supreme court held the law was not discriminatory inasmuch as it taxes stores. Similar legislation had been held unconstitutional in other states on discriminatory grounds.

35 Laws Pending

"There are some 35 laws pending in these 37 states," Mr. Zimmerman said, "many of which are undoubtedly discriminatory. But the Indiana law may provide the outlet which the chain foes have long been seeking, and it is likly that many of these laws will be changed to conform to it in outline.

"The Indiana law provides that one store shall pay $3 a year; the next five stores, $10 each; the next five, 15; the next five, 20, and stores thereafter $25 each.

$ 000 Chains In Nation

"There are in the United States about 8,000 chain systems. Sixteen hundred of these are called national chains since they operate on a wide scale with many units. These 1,600 probably account for more than half the chain store volume, and it is at these that the Indiana and other state legislation apparently is directed.

"The state of Ohio had a low requiring taxes of from $100 to $750 on chain systems of more than five stores, depending on the volume of business.

"A North Carolina law calling for license fees of $50 on chains exceeding two stores was passed and held constitutional by the state courts.

"Similarly, in Mississippi a law providing a one-quarter per cent tax on the sales of stores u pto five, and an additional quarter per cent on systems numbering more than five stores, was passed but held unconstitutional by state courts."

RED AND WHITE MEN HOLD MEET

Seventy-three people, including nearly all of the representatives of the Red and White Grocery system of Lubbock and the South Plains met last night in the basement of the First Methodist church here in the first regular monthly dinner meeting of the organization. L. G. Haymes of Lubbock was toastmaster. The dinner was provided by members of the Lubbock women's missionary society.

Several entertainment features, including vocal numbers by H. W. Moore, and a male quartet from Post and special music by the Lubbock High school orchestra preceded the main address by Judge W. M. Peticolas, Jr. A. J. Strickland, editor of the Terry County News, and Frank Hill, editor of the Lynn County News, addressed the group. Judge Peticolas' address dealt with the work of the Red and White system and the advisability of using that system, cooperation, in every other form of business, applying it to other lines of business and professional life.

It is planned, according to Tom Pierce, member of the advisory board of the Red and White system, to hold similar programs each month.

Lloyd Conatser and Joyce Sheppard, also known as Bill Smith, an escaped life termer from the Arizona state prison, were tried for killing Bob Smith, sheriff of Fisher county, and Jake Owens, his deputy, August 27, 1927, after the officers had arrested them on charges of stealing cotton.

Sheppard was executed and Conatser drew a life term. Efforts to secure a pardon for Conatser were launched after Sheppard, in a statement made just before his death, said he had fired the shots and that Conatser was innocent.

HERDS OF WILD COYOTES AND WOLVES PROVE NEW MENACE FOR WEST TEXAS

SAN ANGELO, (AP)—Through a wilderness of uneasy sand dunes, in a land of shadowy oil derricks, in a country with black ranch homes hiding behind hills where rattlesnakes and cacti fight for possession, a new menace howls at black midnight. It's a wild cry, sharp, stacco, ending in a wail, a symphony of terror.

In five counties of western Texas, the land of quick riches and often quick despair, herds of mad coyotes and wolves suffering from rabies, are wandering and looking for victims. Their toll this far is many head of livestock and several human beings have been bitten. Courageous ranchmen are riding the ranges with rifles, fearing attacks of wolf bands, headed by giant leaders which know no fear and die fighting. So serious is the menace that C. R. Lemon, head of the department of predatory animal control in Texas, has asked the federal government to furnish its ten best trappers for a period of three months. The commissioners court of Etor county has asked for aid and four adjoining counties have reported these mad marauders.

Dislike Assignments

Trappers here express their dislike of such assignments, but declare that other instances have been known of such bands of rabid wolvers. The trappers are unable to account for the epidemic but explained that it occurs at times among the wolvers but that never before had it been so far reaching.

The mad wolves have attacked grown cattle as well as defenseless sheep and killed them.

Always A Menace

The wolf is always a menace in the sheep country. He will go through a flock of sheep at night, killing ten or fifteen and eating the hearts. But when he is mad he kills as long as he is able—he has all the venom in the world piled into a 60-pound body of lightning ferocity.

Often as many as 50 traps are set to catch one wolf and unusually smart wolves have been the object of a two-year effort at capture. Often when taken they have been trapped several times, chewing off their feet to escape the trap.

WAGE SLASHES TO BE FOUGHT

GREEN SAYS MOVE ON PART OF BANKERS RESPONSIBLE

(By Associated Press)

HOUSTON, May 20.—The president of the American Federation of Labor, William Green, declared today that "American labor will stand uncompromising and immovable against all attempts to lower living standards through the imposition of reductions in wages."

Speaking before the triennial convention of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen here, Mr. Green described wage cuts as economically "fallacious," and said it had become the "solemn duty of the wage earners of the nation to resist with all the power they possess" any such moves.

"More Than A Coincident"

The labor leader said statements he attributed to representatives of large banking interest had convinced "many representatives of labor" that a general reduction in wages was being sought. He added the statements come consecutively and thus were regarded by labor as "more than a coincident."

"Reports," he went on, "have reached the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor that some bankers have refused to extend credit to manufacturers unless they reduced wages. This is coercion of a most reprehensible character."

Cites Situations

Against the argument that wage reduction might help industry, Mr. Green set up the situation in the bituminous coal fields of Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Central and Western Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Here, he declared, there was a condition approaching upon bankruptcy and "the disaster which befell the bituminous coal industry dates from the time when the operators began to reduce wages."

The federation president, in addition to calling labor to resistance, challenged particularly the economic and industrial leadership of the bankers.

"Bankers," he asserted, "have proved themselves to be mighty poor doctors in treating the economic ills of the bituminous coal industry. They should not be permitted to prescribe for other industrial patients."

With avowed satisfaction, Mr. Green told of the expressed opposition of President Hoover, Treasury Secretary Andrew Mellon and "large employers of labor," to reduced wages.

PRODUCTION IS ABOVE ORDER

EAST TEXAS FIELD IS PRODUCING 100,000 BARRELS IN EXCESS

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 20. — East Texas oil wels last week produced almost 100,000 barrels in excess of the state railroad commission's allowable of 160,000 barrels daily, according to figures compiled by the Humble company. However, the 257,450 barrels brought to the surface daily last week showed a falling off of 11,400 barrels as compared with production of the previous seven-day period.

Turmoil that enveloped the field almost from the day of its inception six months ago continued with renewed vigor the past week, with the railroad commission filing information against some of the operators in the field alleging they had disregarded proration orders and no less than five suits having been filed against the railroad commission in an effort to destroy proration. One of the injunction petitions attacking the state's right to prorate oil production was filed in United States district court and will be considered by a three-judge court at Houston.

New Records Set

While the proration storm rated unabated, new production records were set in the field, and R. R. Penn of Dallas, chairman of the state's central proration committee, gave some indication of the greatness of the pool when he estimated that it was good for at least 1,500,000,000 barrels of oil, or 40,000 barrels daily produced orderly over a period of 10 years.

The Lathrop area near Longview reported nine completions in a 24,-hour period last Friday, the production increasing that section's potential 156,000 barrels daily. Last week that end of the field added 20 new producers for a combined 360,-000 barrels daily.

Prices Go Down

The sixth major company had posted the midcontinent schedule of prices for the field, 43 cents to 67 cents per barrel, based on gravity. The Arkansas Fuel company, the latest to accept that price schedule, was prepared to run about 16,000 barrels daily. The Texas company, Sinclair, Magnolia, Humble and Gulf previously had posted the mid-contentent schedule.

Completions in the entire area, comprising Gregg, Rusk and Smith counties, last week was right at 100 wells. The Joiner and Kilgore pools were neck and neck in number of completions with the Lathrop area close behind.

Extension of Joiner production 1 1-4 miles south was an important development, also some salt water showings were reported in one end of the Lathrop pool and at the southern extremity of the Joiner pool, although reports of the extent of the encroachment were contradictory.

ness in 1907 to become a banker at Logan, N. M., and had worked for the Howry Cattle company from about 1898 to the spring of 1902.

McFarland said he met the Spikes boys near the Mesa Redonda about 1896 or 1899, but was not certain which. "I knew them two or three years before the boys were killed," he testified. John and Dick were the boys he knew, but he added he did not recall meeting Fred or any of the others.

During his testimony G. E. Lockhart, who cross examined later, objected to testimony of the witness and it was necessary for Judge Clark Mullican to announce his position on objection of the plaintiffs to certain forms of questions. Judge Mullican called the attention of Mr. Lockhart to the fact that while the latter was in Austin, an agreement covering these matters had been agreed among attorneys.

Still Pioneering

"I have made up my mind on these rulings," the court said. Later he added, "we are pioneering in a new field much as they did back in those days we are hearing about."

Before the oral testimony, cross examinations by deposition, was read into the record on the depositions of plaintiffs introduced at Tuesday's afternoon session.

Two new depositions, one by J. Phelps White, of Roswell, nephew of the late Major George W. Littlefield, and the other by E. P. Turner, of Crabtree, Ark., a former deputy cattle inspector, were read.

Mr. White, now 73 years old, gave a brief history of his connection with the cattle industry on the Plains since the days of Old Tascosa in 1877 down to the present time. He has lived at Roswell since 1881, was living on the Yellowhouse ranch at the time the Spikes boys were killed and knew the general reputation of the Spikes boys although he did not know them personally. Questions were read by C. C. Crenshaw and answered by E. L. Klett.

Another clash between opposing counsel over forms of questions marked this reading.

George Dupree read the questions put to Turner and Mr. Klett made the replies. He mentioned a long list of persons whom he said lived in the Mesa Redonda community while he punched cattle for the XIT in 1901-022.

HISTORY OF COL. CHARLES GOODNIGHT TO BE NEXT WORK OF EVETTS HALEY; FORMER PUNCHER NOW IS A PROFESSOR

A former cowboy now a member of the University of Texas history department, J. Evetts Haley has attained a small slice of fame and fortune by delving into the background of the cattle industry. He now is working on a history of the late Col. Charles C. Goodnight, recognized dean of Panhandle cattlemen.

Haley also is working on a history of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers association, having been made official historian of that organization March 19 at the Corpus Christi convention.

Punched Cattle

Young Haley "punched cattle all over the Midland country," he said in discussing his work. Born at Belton, in Bell county, his parents came to West Texas when he was a boy.

"I was reared around Midland," he said. "Attended high school there, punched cattle and got my first taste of this work."

He attended West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon and was graduated in 1925. Then he attended the University of Texas and received his M. A. degree a year later.

"I did not begin the professional side of historical research until I had graduated from Canyon," he said. "I was made field secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society and served in that capacity for about two years."

It was during that time that the Capitol Reservation Lands engaged him to write a history of the XIT ranch, the most famous historical cattle ranch in West Texas.

This work consumed about two years. It brought young Haley back to his earlier work, that of a cowboy and range rider. He went and talked to old-time cowboys of the range and gathered their stories about the half century of the XIT. Having lived on the ranch he naturally knew something about its traditions. But he gathered together the pieces to make the whole picture.

An incident in this history forms the basis of a suit now being heard in district court concerning the Mesa Redonda of New Mexico then a territory, and the long struggle between cattle rustlers and the large ranch owners and their cowboys.

From the position of field secretary to the history department of the University of Texas was the next step. This opened to him a wider field for historical research and investigation.

While with the Panhandle-Plains group young Haley assisted in preparing and publishing two volumes for that organization. The book is the first one he has published.

To Write History

Months ago he was commissioned to write the history of Colonel Goodnight, who came down to the Panhandle from Colorado and discovered the Palo Duro canyon's possibilities as a ranching area. He then interested the late J. A. Adair, an Englishman, in the establishment of a ranch and the two with their wives and some cowboys, drove a herd of several thousand head of cattle from near Trinidad, Colo., where they had been ranching, to the canyon, arriving late in 1877.

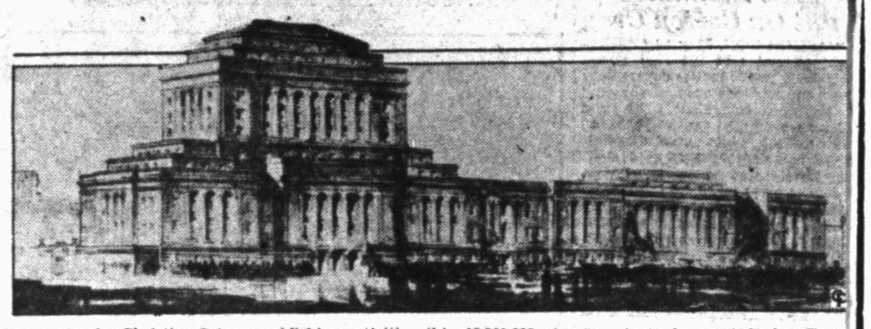

"I have written some of the history of Colonel Goodnight," Mr. Haley said when asked concerning his progress along that line. "I will get as much done as I can. There is a lot of material to be had."

Things to note when you drive the new Pontiac

The moment you step into this car you will begin discovering pleasant things. First, how easily Pontiac handles — answering your lightest touch. The slender steel-and-rubber wheel invites a "finger grip"—and that's quite sufficient. You use little effort in braking or clutching.

You'll remark the quick getaway . . . the rapid acceleration . . . the smoothly sustained speed. Pontiac has a 60-horsepower engine so ample in size that it need never be overworked. Hence it stays smooth.

You'll experience a new riding ease. Springs are deep; seat-cushions agreeably form-fitting, of course. But more important, Pontiac's chassis is cushioned with live rubber at more than 40 points.

You'll sense extra security in Pontiac. The famous Fisher Body wood-and-steel construction is snugly insulated against outside cold, heat, and dampness. Cowl and windshield pillars are built in one piece — a leak-proof, rattle-free construction. The first touch on the big brakes tells the story of unusual stopping power.

You'll find the Pontiac interior tastefully fitted, appointed, finished. Rich long-wearing mohair or whipcord in the closed cars—select leathers in the open models. In all, an atmosphere of fine craftsmanship pleasing to your pride.

Summing up, you'll agree that Pontiac Six is indeed a happy medium—the kind of car you want at the price you want to pay.

* Other body types, in addition to those shown, the Sport Coupe at $870.50, and the 5 Door Sedan at $900.50. One important step in reducing your cost of car ownership is Oakland-Pontiac's policy of equipping its cars ready for the road. The prices you note above are for cars delivered and equipped in Lubbock. The prices include front and rear bumpers, four hydraulic shock absorbers, five wire wheels, and extra tire, tube and tire lock. Wire wheels optional at no extra cost.

NEW WAISTLINES FOR INSTRUMENTS ARE CONSIDERED

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., May 20—Discovery of laws permitting the creation of new waistlines for fat bass viols, new curves for sinuous tubas and style changes in general for musical instruments is the object of five years of research planned by Dr. Dayton C. Miller, new president of the Acoustical Society of America.

Dr. Miller who is famous for not only his experiments on the drift of the earth through the hypothetical ether, but also his research in sound, says there is a great demand now for the establishment of fundamental laws governing the creation of music.

Once these laws are established we may build instruments interpreting more correctly the ideas of composers and give to orchestra, radio, sound motion picture audiences more correct reproduction, Dr. Miller says. He adds:

"Like the people who made primitive instruments, we can't know the principles by which the sound vibrates through the reeds and the pipes. We don't know very much about the vibration of sound in the violin or the piano.

"While other physical sciences have been advancing rapidly during recent years, the science of sound has been very much neglected. Since the great advances in radio and talking movies some fundamental laws governing sounds created by musical instruments have been very much in demand."

Excavation To Take Three Weeks Here

Excavation for the new federal building here probably will be completed in three weeks, Louis Boos, who is supervising construction work, said Tuesday.

Removal of dirt was started last week by H. A. McDaniels of Lubbock, who was awarded the excavation contract on a bid of about $3,500.

Favorable weather conditions and the lack of rock under the soil has enabled the work on the project to progress satisfactorily, Boos said.

Water Development Move Is Postponed

Development of an extension to the city water supply system on Fourteenth street was postponed until later in the season by the City commission Tuesday.

A special meeting of the commission was called for the purpose of hearing a report on the Fourteenth street test, drilled by D. L. McDonald.

Mr. McDonald told city officials that the test proved the feasibility of establishing water wells in that section and could be developed as needed.

Just Two Jumps Ahead

It takes more than just two outboard motorboats to do this trick. It takes plenty of nerve, too. Whizzing along at breakneck speed, two boats piloted by Malcolm Pope and Jack Kerr are shown in mid-air in this unusual picture after they had shot up an inclined plane and dived through a wall of paper. The aquatic hop-skip-and-jump was staged for the entertainment of spectators at Winter Haven, Fla.
