FOR CCEAWT CONFERENCE

Chamber Officials Gather Here

Chamber of Commerce executives from throughout West Texas are in Pampa for their annual two-day work conference at the Coronado Inn Monday and Tuesday, for the Chamber of Commerce Executives Association of West Texas.

The first session will begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the West Starlight Room with President Joe Cozby of Monahans presiding. Pampa Mayor R.D. Wilkerson will extend the city's official welcome. The key-note address will be made at the opening session by Cozby.

Bill Sayles, director of Industrial Development for West Texas Utilities Company, Abilene, will discuss "What's New in Industrial Development" and Jim Harwell, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission Austin, will talk on "What's new in Industrial Financing."

Former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes of Brownwood will speak at the Monday noon luncheon.

The Monday afternoon session will include discussions by Gene Garrison, manager of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce, on "Developing New Leadership" and Leroy Tillery of the Amarillo chamber, speaking on "The Chamber of Commerce and The Bicentennial." Appearing with Tillery on a panel will be Bill Albright of Hereford and Don Crocker of Tulia.

The conference banquet will be in the Starlight Room Monday night with dancing to follow to the music of "That Band With Dixieland."

George Jordan, manager of the Cleburne chamber, will have charge of the Tuesday morning session, which will be a general question and answer period on subjects relating to Chambner activities.

The noon luncheon Tuesday will close the conference with election of new officers and directors followed by the announcement of "The Manager of the Year" and selection of the site of next year's conference.

Officers of the association are: Joe Cozby, Monahans, president; Art Roberts, Lamesa, vice president; Gene Abbott, Cisco, secretary - treasurer; Charlie Young, Abilene, news letter editor, and Gene Garrison, Odessa, immediate past president.

Raymond Beck, manager of the Brownwood chamber, is program chairman for the conference.

Motorists Face Uncertainty For Car Anti-Freeze

By FRANK BAIN

Prospects for motorists finding anti-freeze in Pampa appear to be uncertain. The only certain thing is that the cost in some cases is about double that of last year.

Two local suppliers reported no anti-freeze in stock as of Saturday, and two others said they had unlimited supplies.

A spokesman at Motor Inn Auto Supply said, "We're sold out and have no prospects of getting any. Can't get a definite answer from our supplier."

At Engine Parts and Supplies, manager Paul Crossman said:

"We just got a one - year allotment, but things are likely to get critical by January or February ... No, we don't ration it, but I'd advise against hoarding it, that would make things worse.

"The price is now $4.99 a gallon to the walk - in trade more than double last year's price."

Montgomers Ward's auto service center reported "no anti - freeze on hand ... we expect a shipment by the end of September and the price will be $4.99 a gallon."

Gibson's Discount Center reported a "good supply on hand."

The auto accessories manager there said they have three brands and that the price is the same, $4.99 cents a gallon.

Last year, the price was $2.99 per gallon.

Cause of the spotty supply and cost situation reportedly is due to several factors, including Dupont Chemical's decision to drop production of anti - freeze.

Other factors are quoted by suppliers as higher prices for ingredients, lifting of wage and price controls, and world - wide inflation in general.

Details Readied For Reagan's Visit To Ranch

Extensive physical arrangements are near completion for the Bob Price barbecue featuring Gov. Ronald Reagon of California Sunday, Sept. 29, at the Price ranch near Pampa.

Roads and parking area have been graded, grass mowed, and a platform is being built at the Price ranch northwest of Pampa for Gov. Reagon's speech.

The fund raising event is scheduled to begin with entertainment at 2 p.m. Sunday with barbecue being served at 5 p.m.

The beef is being prepared in pits at the ranch under the supervision of Caylor Caddell of Dalhart.

The affair, billed as a "Family Barbecue," is expected to draw hundreds of Panhandle supporters.

"I look upon this event as an opportunity for my constituents to meet and hear one of the great men of America," Price said.

Tickets to the barbecue are priced at $10 a couple with children admitted free. Tickets are being sold by Republican county chairmen and supporters throughout the Panhandle.

Nixon To Enter Hospital Monday

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon was spending a quiet weekend with his family, including his daughter Julie, before entering a Long Beach hospital Monday morning.

In Washington, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski asked U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica to appoint a team of medical experts to examine Nixon and see if he is too sick to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial.

The former President received a subpoena to testify Thursday, ordered by Jaworski and delivered by an FBI agent to Nixon personally.

Nixon is scheduled for treatment of his phlebitis condition. A painful and serious clotting of veins in his left leg.

Hospital vice president Jack Weiblen, said, "He will be here Monday. That's the information we're going on."

He will be under the care of Dr. John Lungren, a Long Beach specialist who has treated Nixon before along with former White House physician, Air Force Maj. Gen. Walter Tkach.

Tkach earlier quoted Nixon as saying, "If I go into a hospital, I'll never come out alive."

Friends of the former President speculated that he may have changed his mind at the urging of his daughter, Julie Eisenhower, who arrived Thursday for her first reunion with Nixon since his resignation six weeks ago.

Tank Cars Explode At Houston, 1 Dead

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two tank cars exploded in a railroad yard Saturday and the giant shock wave shattered windows and damaged buildings up to five miles away. Dozens of persons were injured, 19 were hospitalized and up to 3,000 persons were evacuated because of a temporary danger of more explosions.

A spokesman for the fire department, Paul Carr, said 100 tankcars and boxcars, some loaded with highly flammable materials, industrial items and grain, were destroyed. Many small fires were quickly extinguished, but five cars —one loaded with highly flammable styrene —burned past sunset.

"We anticipate having the fires under control by nightfall," Carr said. "The danger of more explosions has lessened. There's one pitiful thing I heard and that was a bunch of those cars were loaded with beer."

Tony Aleman, spokesman for the, Southern Pacific Railroad wwhich operates the huge switching and loading facility, said two tankcars carrying butadiene, a flammable hydrocarbon used in making synthetic rubber, apparently bumped together and ignited leaking vapors.

"Someone saw some vapor rising and then there was an explosion," he said.

About 3,000 persons, including 100 from a hospital and nursing home in the area, were evacuated because of the danger of more explosions if the fires reached other railroad cars and their flammable cargos. Fires were scattered along a six-block-long stretch of the maze of railroad tracks.

Police reports that one man had been "blown to pieces" in the first explosion were later discounted, but dozens of persons were injured either by the blast or flying glass. Carr said 19 persons were hospitalized.

Carr said windows were broken as far away as four miles from the blast site, and virtually all of the windows in a half-mile radius were broken. No buildings were ever burning, but several sustained heavy damage.

One of the most seriously hurt persons was sitting in a barber shop two miles from the blast site, and when the first shock wave hit knocked the front window out and flying glass cut his throat. Another man in the railroad yard had third degree burns over 100 per cent of his body.

"It was a big one," Garrett said. "We loaded as much as three and four people in an ambulance at a time. There for a little while I thought it was going to get the best of us."

The roof on a trucking company warehouse a mile away was collapsed and a nearby residence was "blown down and I mean to the ground," Garrett said.

FOR ECONOMY

Committee Issues Gloomy Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Joint Economic Committee of Congress issued a gloomy forecast Saturday, saying Americans face "several more years" of both high inflation and high unemployment, and offered its own perscription for dealing with the problem.

Among its recommendations were a series of long-term measures, such as tax reform and steps to increase competition in concentrated major industries, coupled with immediate aid for the jobless, the poor and depressed industries such as housing.

But the committee specifically rejected such stringent inflation-fighting steps as wage and price controls, severely restrictive monetary policies, and "indexing" to automatically increase income and wealth as inflation increases.

The committee, which includes members of both the House and the Senate, presented its report to President Ford as a hurried preview of a more comprehensive document to be issued early next year.

"The restoration of healthy non-inflationary growth will not come easily or quickly," the report said.

"At best, the nation faces several more years in which both the unemployment rate and the inflation rate will significantly exceed levels previously regarded as acceptable."

Key recommendations included:

—Reducing federal spending to $300 billion, $5 billion below the amount requested by former President Nixon.

—Tax reforms to take money from the wealthy and give it to the poor, including Social Security tax cuts for low income workers, reduced income taxes for low and moderate income persons, a higher minimum tax for the wealthy, and elimination of such tax subsidies as the oil depletion allowance.

—Moderate easing of tight money policies, which have kept interest rates high.

AT TUESDAY MEETING

City Commission Schedules Final Budget Consideration

By TEX DeWEESE

Final consideration of Pampa's $2.7 million city budget and $1.90 ad valorem tax rate ordinances for fiscal 1974-75 is scheduled at a meeting of the Pampa City Commission at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in City Hall.

Also on the agenda will be final reading of ordinances increasing the minimum water rate, boosting the sanitary sewer service rates and hiking current garbage and sanitation collection fees.

All five of the ordinances were unanimously approved by city commisioners on first reading at the council's Sept. 10 meeting.

Adoption of the ordinances Tuesday will place all of the increases in effect at the start of the fiscal year one week later on Oct. 1.

If approved on final reading, the current tax rate will be increased 18 cents from the current $1.72 to $1.90.

The budget total for fiscal 1974-75 is $2,718,486. In addition the city will spend approximately $380,000 from revenue sharing funds for capital out lay items.

That would bring the total city expenditures to $3,089,486 for the coming fiscal year.

Exclusive of the revenue sharing money to be spent, the new budget is $168,205 more than the current year's budget.

The minimum water rate will be upped for $3.30 to $4.30 for the first 3,000 gallons for city custmers. There will also be an increase of $1 on the minimum rate for customers outside the city for $4.95 to $5.95. All other water rates remain the same.

Sewer service charges will be increased 50 cents a month from $1.50 to $2 for residential and from $2 to $2.50 for commercial.

Garbage and sanitation collection fees on a monthly basis will be hiked from $2.50 to $3 for a single family residence, from $3.50 to $4 for a duplex, $4.50 to $5 for a triplex and $6 to $6.50 for a 4-family residence.

Other matters up for consideration at Tuesday's meeting include:

Adoption of a classification compensation plan for the coming fiscal year.

Extension of a water sales contract with the Dorchester Gas Producing Co.

Appointment of a member to the Regional Health Mental Retardation Board.

A report from the chairman of the City Traffic Commission.

Study of bids for removal of property at the intersection of Cuyler and Browning Sts.

Chamber, PIF Gives Honor To News Publisher

Al W. Bassett, publisher of The Pampa News for the past five years, and Mrs. Bassett were honored Saturday by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Pampa Industrial Foundation.

Bassett, who will leave Tuesday for McAllen where he will become business manager of The McAllen Monitor, was presented with the chamber's Top O' Texan service award by Rex McAnelly, chamber president, and Mrs. Bassett was given a bouquet of yellow roses by Kay Fancher, PIF president.

The presentations were made at a coffee in the Coronado Inn.

Bassett will be succeeded here by Timothy H. Hoiles, son of Harry H. Hoiles, president of Freedom Newspapers, Inc., and publisher of the Colorado Springs, Colo., Gazette Telegraph.

Hoiles, a grandson of the late R.C. Hoiles, founder of the newspaper group, arrived in Pampa during the weekend.

Tribute was paid to Bassett by chamber president McAnelly for his service to the chamber and his active participation in many civic endeavors in Pampa.

Egypt Gives In, Accepts PLO As Representative

United Press International

Egypt switched signals Saturday and acknowledged the Palestine Liberation Organization as the "sole legitimate representative" of the Palestinian people.

The acknowledgement was part of an agreement reached at a high-level two-day meeting in Cairo of Egyptian, Syrian and PLO officials to coordinate their Middle East crisis strategy.

A joint statement issued at the end of the talks said the three sides agreed on "continuation of support to the Palestine Liberation Organization in its capacity as the sole legitimate representative of the Palestine people, and the extension of assistance to it in order to ensure (Arab) steadfastness inside Israeli-occupied lands."

Diplomatic sources in Cairo saw the move as a climbdown from an Egyptian position stated in a joint communique with Jordan last July that the PLO represented all Palestinians except those living in Jordan.

The sources recalled that at an Arab Summit conference in Algiers last November Egypt went along with all other Arab countries except Jordan in recognizing the PLO as the "sole representative."

Diplomatic sources said Egypt explained the July shift as a "tactical move" to involve Jordan in the collective Arab effort for an overall settlement with Israel and guard against the Amman government seeking a unilateral deal with Israel.

The Cairo announcement followed a broadcast Friday night by Israeli premier Yitzhak Rabin calling on Egypt, Syria and Jordan to declare a "state of non-belligerency" as a step toward peace in the Middle East.

In an interview broadcast Saturday, Rabin said the United States has acted to provide Israel with enough weaponry to prevent war.

Ground Broken For Memorial Park To LBJ

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ground will be broken Friday for the first living memorial to a former U.S. president, the Lyndon B. Johnson Memorial Grove on the Potomac River, the National Park Service said Saturday.

The 15-acre site—with a 45 ton chunk of pink Texas granite as its centerpiece—is within the Lady Bird Johnson Park, named in honor of the former first lady who stressed beautification in Washington and throughout the nation.

A private fund of $1 million already has been raised to prepare the grove, which will be maintained by the National Park Service at a cost of about $50,000 annually, and more money is being sought.

The 19-foot-tall granite rock came from the same Texas quarry that supplied the granite for the Texas State Capitol and was preferred by Mrs. Johnson over the customary statue.

A German born sculptor, Harold Vogel, will carve some yet to be selected Jonson quotations on the towering, rough-hewn monument.

Landscape architect Meade Palmer deigned the grove, which will include about 500 white pines, dogwoods, rhododenrons, azaleas and other flowering shrubs.

The Park Service quoted Mrs. Johnson as saying: "This grove of trees, and the walks and benches, is the kind of memorial that pleases me very much. I feel it is appropriate to the kind of man that Lyndon was; the kind of feeling he had about his Capital."

Price Receives 'Watchdog' Title

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa was again named Friday to receive the "Watchdog of the Treasury" award by the National Association of Businessman based on his Congressional efforts to reduce unnecessary government spending and his record of fiscal responsibility.

The award is made bi-annually, toward the end of each Congress. Price, first elected to the Congress in 1966, has received the award four times, at the end of each of the four Congresses in which he has served.

Out of the 435 members of the U.S. House of Representatives, Price was among 32 Democrats and 128 Republicans selected to receive the award. In the 100-member U.S. Senate, the NAB accorded the honor to 19 Republicans, two Democrats and two independents.

Price commented that the tabulation served as "an indication of the general lack of fiscal responsibility demonstrated in the Congress. Every member of Congress ought to qualify for this award.

"The fact that only 183 of the 535 elected officials in the Congress merited the award points up the need this November for the American people to elect an inflation-proof Congress."

Effort Launched To Aid Hurricane Fifi's Victims

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — A massive international effort was launched Saturday to aid victims of Hurricane Fifi which wiped out whole communities in vast floods and landslides that Honduras official estimates said may have killed thousands of persons.

Even as disaster officials attempted to piece together a clear picture of the destruction wrecked by Fifi, a mercy airlift by American military planes and civilian aircraft grew swiftly as donations of food, medicine, clothing and other supplies from several nations and humanitarian organizations poured in.

Estimates of the death toll in hardest hit Honduras fluctuated as wildly as the winds and torrential downpours that Hurricane Fifi carried in its path across El Salvador, Nicaragua, Belize and Guatemala as well as Honduras.

"Nothing is certain yet but we now calculate 10,000 missing and fully half of those dead," said Lt. Roger Vallecillo of the Honduran government's national emergency committee.

Honduran army commanders nearest the worst devastated area along the country's northeastern coast said reports confirmed at least 1,200 persons dead, and feared the toll could go higher as floodwaters subside.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, however, that reports from pilots of reconnaissance flights by two U.S. Army U21 Beechcraft planes over the area indicated "that the death toll probably will be in the hundreds rather than the thousands."

Embassy officials said they had heard nothing from 70 Peace Corps volunteers who were working in the northeast of Honduras, the richest agricultural region in the country. It took Fifi's heaviest blows and the Honduras Embassy in Washington, D.C., said Saturday all communications to the area were out.

Broader Base Sought For Raza Unida Party

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ramsey Muniz, Raza Unida Party's candidate for governor, Saturday said his party offers a political voice for all the citizens of Texas, not just Mexican-Americans.

"We are an open party and we want people to investigate us," Muniz said before addressing the Raza Unida state convention which meets through Sunday.

"The party was started by chicanos and we are very proud of that. But we are not a chicano party as such. But I'm afraid it will remain mostly a chicano party until other people speak up and join us."

Muniz said the Democratic and Republican parties have disregarded a majority of Texans and left anyone outside the state's special interest groups without a say in government.

"It is very evident to us that the people have realized this and are very hacked off," Muniz said. "People are now saying so what if he's a Mexican-American, he's capable and he's qualified.

"What we have to offfer is our attitude, openess and the best platform. The issue we stand for are for all the people of Texas. When I talk about the sales tax, that doesn't mean doing something about the sales tax just for chicanos but for all the people."

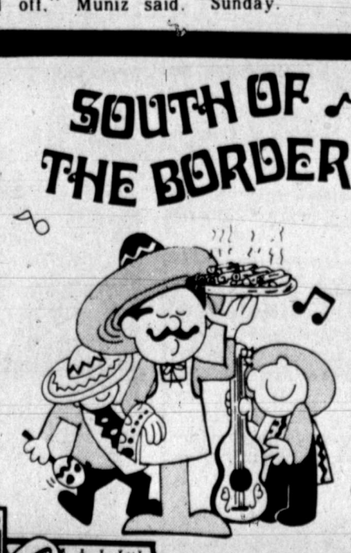

Before the convention started there was speculation muniz and party founder Jose Angel Guiterrez were split on the question of broadening the party's base to include other groups and a confrontation was expected in the election of a state party chairman.

However, Guiterrez said the rumors were false.

"This is a party for all the citizens of Texas," Gutierrez said. "We give the people a real party with a real voice."

The party caucused Saturday its platform and will present the platform to the convention for approval Sunday.

ON INQUIRIES

Schlesinger Gives Deserters Pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger pledged Saturday that war deserters will not be tracked down and arrested on the basis on written or telephoned inquiries into President Ford's earned re-entry amnesty program.

"To do otherwise," Schlesinger said in a statement, "would not be in the spirit of the President's program."

A Pentagon spokesman, amplifying on Schlesinger's promise, urged that deserters write or telephone their initial inquiries to military authorities rather than seeking information in person.

The spokesman said any deserter who came to a military installation seeking information about amnesty would get a speedy undesirable discharge, whether or not he decided to join the amnesty program, provided he fled during the Vietnam War and was not wanted on any other military criminal charges.

Justice Department officials announced a harsher standard Friday for draft evaders, who fall under civil rather than military law. Officials said an evader who inquired about amnesty in person and then failed to take it on the spot could be immediately arrested and tried for draft law violations.

The only alternative to the automatic discharge for a deserter who showed up in person and was qualified for amnesty, the Pentagon spokesman said, would be to request a court martial for desertion.

Deserters accepting amnesty can exchange the undesirable discharge for a more favorable clemency discharge after completing up to 24 months of alternative public service. But they do not risk prosecution, whether they accept amnesty or not, because the discharge removes them from the reach of miliary law.

The spokesman said a deserter should write or call before coming in to make sure he qualified for amnesty and to make sure no other charges were outstanding against him. If other charges are outstanding and the deserter comes in person to a military base, the spokesman said, he could be arrested and courtmartialed on those charges despite the amnesty offer.

Price To Serve On New Group

Congressman Bob Price of Pampa is serving as a member of the joint House-Senate conference committee now considering legislation to create a Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

The House approved the bill last April and the Senate passed an amended version last week. Now the conference committee, composed of appointed members from both houses is working to achieve a compromise version acceptable to both the House and the Senate.

Appointments as conferees are reserved for senior members who have also played active roles during consideration of the measure in the House in which the member serves.

Price served on a special ad hoc subcommittee which considered the commodities bill in the House. Price, working to preserve private enterprise in the commodities markets, participated in the House debate on the measure and finally voted "no" as the House passed the bill, 281 to 43.

The Senate version is even tougher than the House-passed version Price opposed.

Price said he felt even the House version gave government too much regulatory authority over a $400 billion business here-to-fore run primarily on the concepts of private enterprise business practices.

TPEA Planning Dinner Meeting

An organizational meeting for Texas Public Employees Association, Chapter 167, will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Furr's Cafeteria.

All state employes in the Pampa area and their wives or husbands are invited to attend the dinner meeting.

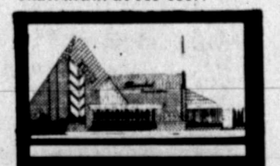

Bill Ridell, TPEA regional representative from Austin, will be present to provide information from the state office and answer questions.

Among the items he will discuss is the proposed legislative program on salaries for state employes. Texas ranks 38th nationally in salary standards for its employes.

Invited from the surrounding counties are employes of the Highway Department, Department of Public works, Railroad Commission, Texas Employment Commission, Vocational Rehabilitation and other state agencies.

Expected to be present as guests for the meeting are state Rep. Phil Cates and his wife, Nancy.

SO MARTHA CLAIMS

Nixon Tied To Wallace's Shooting?

LONDON (UPI) — British television viewers have been treated to the latest of Martha Mitchell's bombshells, her claim that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace had told her former President Nixon was behind the 1972 attempt on his life.

"Nixon was the one who had me shot," Mrs. Mitchell quoted Wallace as telling her.

But in a statement from the governor's mansion in Montgomery, Ala., Wallace said: "I did not in any way imply that the President had anything to do with my being shot or that he knew anything about it."

Wallace was shot May 15, 1972, in Silver Springs, Md., while campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination. He is confined to a wheelchair as a result of his wounds. Arthur H. Bremer was convicted for the assassination attempt and sentenced to 63 years in prison.

Mrs. Mitchell, estranged wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, made her claim in an interview with David Frost on the British Broadcasting Corp. Friday night.

Mrs. Mitchell said Wallace had proof of a White House link with the attack.

A member of the White House" dirty tricks" department visited Bremer before the shooting, she said.

Mrs. Mitchell also said she believed there was a connection between some of the political assassinations in the United States during the past decade.

"I think there is a link," she said. "I have studied it very carefully and I think there must be some kind of link."

Most of Mrs. Mitchell's interview centered on Watergate.

"I believe Mr. Nixon knew all along," she said.

"I would almost be willing to bet my life he planned it. I am afraid so."

Mrs. Mitchell said the Watergate break-in had been planned during the 1968 election campaign and a new cover-up of the remains of the affair was now taking place.

Most of Nixon's staff remained in the White house, she said, and "his spirit is still there."

Play Day Set By L&L Club

Leather and Lace Riding Club is scheduled to conduct a high point Play Day activity today at the Top o' Texas Rodeo Arena at Recreation Park.

Registration will get underway at 6 p.m. with an entry fee of 50 cents for each event entered. Action will begin at 7 p.m.

Events slated for the activity include barrels, poles, flags, rings and golfette.

The public is invited to attend and watch the action.

CALVIN T. WHATLEY

Cabot Honors Retiring Employe For 30 Years

A long time Cabot Corporation employe Calvin T. Whatley, was recently honored at a retirement dinner at Jim's Steak House. Those attending the dinner were Cabot friends and associates and their wives.

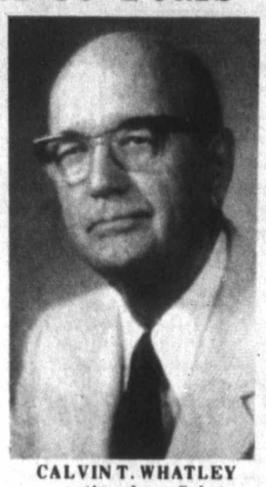

The dinner was emceed by D.W. Bond Jr., Industrial Relations director, who presented Whatley with his 30-year service award as well as a portable color TV. Letters were read from various out - of - town plant managers who were unable to attend the function.

Whatley began his career with Cabot in January, 1945. From that time until his retirement, he has held various positions in the office management and personnel departments.

His position at the time of his retirement was employement manager. However, since 1968, he has also had the reponsibility of the Affirmative Action Programs for Cabot Corporation's United States operations.

The effective date of Whatley's retirement from the Company was Aug. 31.

Whatley received a bachelor of science degree in business from West Texas State University.

Red Cross workers, remember Sept. 24th United Fund Dinner at 12 noon at M.K. Brown Auditorium.

Team captains for the Red Cross are John Skelly, Oran Carter, Mrs. Jerry Carter, Mrs. A.D. Hills, and Mrs. Ann Briden. Each of the team captains will have five workers and each worker will get five names to call on at the noon dinner the 24th.

Let us work our cards as soon as we can and get this drive over with.

Jim Welch, Safety Service representative from Fort Worth, called Tuesday asking us to confirm a date from him to come to Pampa and update our First Aid Instructors for our new first aid textbooks.

Letters will be sent the current First Aid Instructors asking them to specify the date best for them. Also, if persons are interested in becoming First Aid Multimedia Instructors, call our office and let us know.

We have a new Hospital Volunteer. Her name is Mrs. Carlos Grissom and she will be working the first and fourth Thursday with Mrs. Ruth Tarpley.

We have friends asking us what our Hospital Volunteers do at the hospital. Our main work is to serve juice to the patients at the hospital, deliver flowers and cards to the patients and to visit with those who need cheering up. We may read to the patients and do small errands for the patients.

Our ladies wear the blue and white dresses or a blue and white pant suit.

We are very proud of our girls and the work they do at the hospitals in Pampa.

We heard this week that 35 adults entered the adult Learn to Swim class at the Pampa Youth Center this past Monday. Classes are on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

There are a number of products on the market which can discourage birds from damaging corn and other crops.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

People Helping People

The Pampa United Fund is an organization dedicated to combining as many eligible agencies as possible into one drive for contributions. This saves huge amounts of manpower and resources within the community.

The community is the primary recipient of the effect of our work. All 10 agencies sponsored in the drive are worthwhile programs directly affecting in one way or another every citizen of Pampa.

The $111,000 goal for the P.U.F. will support the 10 agencies. This includes the addition of the Genesis House which is one of the major factors for the goals additional $11,000. Inflation required the additional increase. Should our P.U.F. continue to be effective we can expect future requests from Genesis House to increase until it is eventually supported almost entirely by the P.U.F. This being the first year for budget request means that only a portion of the operating costs is being covered.

When a United Fund is successful, the community is successful. It is the best barometer for measuring community attitude.

The Fund campaign is operating this year with professional guidance. This assistance will assure Pampans of a concentrated effort covering the very least period of time. The drive is completely organized around four chairmen whose criteria for calling is defined. The chairmen's criteria are outlined as follows:

Major — $1,000 and up regardless of the segment of the community, i.e., industry or individual.

Special — $200 up to $1,000 also crossing almost all lines but primarily dealing with intermediate size business and individuals in a professional field or activity.

General — $1 up to $200 covering the remaining contributors not included in Special.

Employer — This group works entirely with employers and their selected firm chairman.

Here is what Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe has to say about the United Way people help people:

"United Way organizations are our State's largest voluntary human service effort. These campaigns are a great American invention to meet the needs of a modern complex society.

"The United Way contributes significantly to the preservation and strengthening of the voluntary approach — the essential ingredient of a free society. It serves as a rallying point for citizn action to help unite and improve total community.

"The local United Way is more than a combined agency fund - raising program. It has a legitimate and overriding concern for people, the problems they face and the means for resolving them.

"THEREFORE, I as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the months of September, October and November, 1974, as United Way Campaign Months in Texas, and urge all people of our State to work in and contribute generously to the campaigns in their local communities."

Well, There Is Hope

Patrons of a bar in Manhattan jumped two gunmen who were holding up the place and shot both of them with their own weapons, killing one and critically wounding the other.

It was the seond time in less than a week that witnesses to an armed robbery in New York City had turned on the culprits and disarmed them. In the other incident, two witnesses to the holdup of a drugstore at Kennedy International Airport in which the pharmacist was shot and killed chased the gunman, tackled him and held him until police arrived.

Now this rot of volunteer citizen law enforcement is definitely not recommended as a general rule. The police welcome all the help they can get but they prefer it in the form of more officers and better equipment — and witnesses who remain alive and are willing to testify against criminals.

Still, it's an encouraging development. If the worm is turning in the city where 34 apartment dwellers watched the murder of Kitty Genovese 10 years ago, and not one called the police beacuse he "didn't want to get involved," maybe there's hope for all of us.

OUTRIDER

Ford Denies There Was Deal

By GARRY WILLS

If Mr. Ford's pardoning of Mr. Nixon was not part of a pre - arranged deal, as the President claimed in his new conference, then he did everything he possibly could to make it look like that.

The pardon came exactly thirty days after Ford took office, and on the eve of the first scheduled date of the cover - up trial's beginning — as if it had been pre - ordered that way. Ford took few into his confidence, and asked for no real advice — moral and political advice, as opposed to the legal research that had to be done before making a statement (and even that was less a question of research into whether the pardon should be granted than of finding out how it could be done). All this suggests that there was no decision to be made — things were all taken care of beforehand.

This secrecy is unlike Ford as the team player, even in his pre - presidential days. At a time when he was advertising his own openness of all opinions, it made no sense at all, or only sinister sense.

And a pattern of "payments" emerges — the early and favorable decision on custody of the tapes, the attempt to give Nixon both his own and Mr. Ford's transition — cost allowances, the later over - generous decision on custody of the tapes, the pardon itself, the weak demand for confession which amounted to no demand at all, the hugger - mugger Sunday morning attempt to slip it past the full glare of week - day press attention.

Even the offer of conditional pardon for war resistors now looks like a curtain raiser to a play already written, one called "Presidential Orgy of Forgiveness."

Ford relied on loyal flunkies to carry out his secret mission, which suggests this may have been too unwholesome an act for more prominent and responsible men to perform — the story of the White House gumshoes under Nixon. When Benton Becker is sent to negotiate a matter with Ronald Ziegler, it is a case of the second - rate dealiling with the third - rate, and still coming off second - best. Unless, of course — the suspicion that will not down — there was no negotiating left for them to do, the deal having been made already.

If there was a deal, and Haig sealed it, that would explain Ford's determination — again without consulting those who had his best interests at heart — to keep Haig not only around the White House but at its center long after he should have withdrawn.

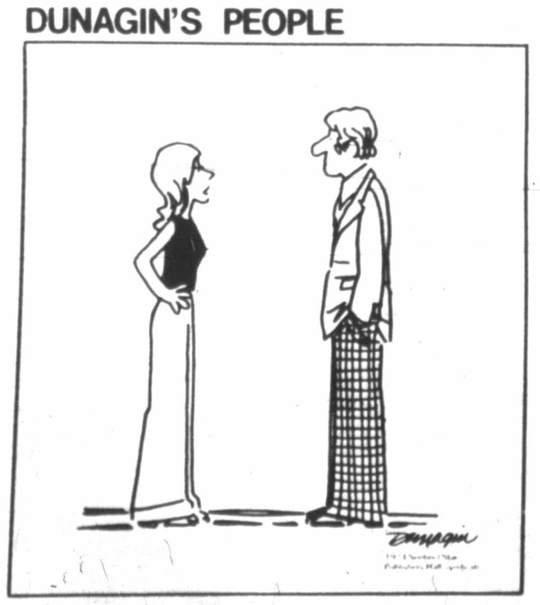

Contrast the way Ford sounded out the idea of pardon for Nixon's aides — and then prudently withdrew when it became clear that this was a disastrous choice — was his quick, quiet, irrevocable pardoning of Nixon. His noble rhetoric of defiance for public opinion and doing only what is right, adopted for the Nixon pardon, was totally abandoned when the other pardons were shown to be unpopular.

The price of the Nixon pardon, to Ford himself, to his party, to the country, was enormous. Already, just to take one case, it has jeopardized the election of Nelson Rockefeller's personal choice for Governor of New York. Why would he be willing to pay this price? Only two answers are offered by the even. The first is that Mr. Ford's conscience demanded this sacrifice for the national good. But that is to prasie his conscience at the expense of his intellect. The sacrifice did not promote the national good.

"IT WAS MY IDEA TO FORGIVE AND FORGET, AND DON'T YOU FORGET IT!"

INSIDE LABOR

The Unemployment Specter

By VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON — Jerry Ford told the labor chiefs when literally he went eyeball to eyeball with them in the White House East Room the other day and then lunched with them on chicken in the State Dining Room that he wanted the "unvarnished truth." As he said later privately, he and his top advisers sure got it.

One union leader said something stinks. Another referred to parts of the anatomy which make up most of the expletives deleted from news reports. But it was the bouncy longshoremen's chief Teddy Gleason, who by imperishable parable, put his finger on the crux of today's chilling crisis.

And that is — the specter of mass unemployment. How much joblessness will be needed to cool inflation? It must first be understood that Teddy has captured the candor which the White House press office has found so elusive.

Ask Gleason how he is, and he'll say "perpendicular," — if he's standing. So we find him during the afternoon labor mini - summit session, declaring that he doesn't want another "WPA" (the Roosevelt - depression - era sometimes ersatz job - making Work Progress Administration). Why?

"Because they don't make strong enough shovels these days," added Gleason.

The reference was to the charge that WPA employes reported in to work during the morning and leaned on their shovels most of the day. Gleason then explained why his International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-CIO) had fought for and won a guaranteed annual wage which assures a dock - walloper $16,000 a year whether he works or not and costs the New York shippers about $20 million annually.

In effect, Gleason said he expects heavy depression - type joblessness around the nation and on June 28 he and his ILA high council had signed a new contract proctecting their pier workers for another three years. In effect, Gleason was scoffing at the President's announcement that some $415 million would soon be spent to create 85,000 public service jobs.

Who will take such municipal and state "jobs" at $100 a week or less? Who will set the pay? How van this WPA - type work offer wages — $7,500 or $10,000 a year which heads of families, members of AFL-CIO unions, professionals would need?

How could someone such as Jerry Wurf, the oratorical hammer thrower, permit such WPA workers to replace his own unionized state, county and municipal employees and undercut the wage scales for which he and his local officials have paralyzed whole cities, vast garbage collection and even police departments with crippling strikes?

Obviously, this, far more than what appeared to some observers to be silly attacks on the budget and tax systems, in the sheer gut of today's inrushing economic disaster. The national labor chiefs talk much about public service jobs — but apparently don't really want them for their own members.

There are about 500,000 construction workers jobless across the nation. Despite what labor has said officially about the need for a million public service jobs, none of the building and construction unionists will be permitted to undercut their $10 and $15 an hour union brethren by taking $2.50 an hour WPA repair work.

Thus, while it's true that the summitry gives the President a chance to meet many labor chiefs for the first time, and get some into the White House where they've never been and eat in the State Dining Room for the first and probably the last time, the mini - summits are futile.

And so will be the series of 45 - minute mini - mini - summits with each group bringing its final report to President Ford on the eve of the giant mass gathering Sept. 27 and 28 probably in the Washington Hilton ballroom.

This project is imagery without substance. It will hurt the President. It will hurt the nation. It is reminiscent of the post - World War II labor - management conference run by President Truman and that gentle genius, the late Prof. George Taylor of the Wharton School of Business.

It ended with twin anti - climaxes despite the star - studded cast — far more celebrity - laden than most of today's mini and major summits. One, it concluded that binding arbitration is a fine way to settle emergency strikes. Two: the then incumbent Teamster's president, the late Dan Tobin, in a hog - calling voice accused the industrialists of stealing his overcoat.

The labor - management conferences of the late Jack Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson talked themselves to death.

So will today's parleys. When they wind up during the month's final days, inflation will be hotter, retail and wholesale prices will be higher, unemployment will be rocketing, public anger will be louder — and no solutions will have been offered. Thus, the sheer publicizing of the inflation plague is self - defeating. It should have been a series of end - to - end, closed - door, hard - talk showdowns.

This positively has not happened. There has been some talk about a productivity committee. And some cabinet members have told labor leaders, off the record, they'll keep in touch "afterwards."

But restraint, the key to it all, can only have been agreed on in private. President Ford and his counselors, still green to Wahsington, just have not gone in for secret diplomacy.

Instead, they put everybody on television and on the record, so the miltancy was and is inevitable. And you might say "ir-retreatable." No one can agree on charity wages, in public. The show should never have been put on the road.

NO RECOGNITION FOR CUBA

Speculation in diplomatic circles in Washington and elsewhere is to the effect that the U. S. will resume diplomatic relations with the Castro government of Cuba. This would not serve the cause of freedom and would bring further outrage from Cuban - Americans, many of whom fled the tyranny of communist - dominated Havana. The military threat of Cuba may have diminished but its sinister influence over the Latin world to the south of the U.S. remains a thorn in our side.

The sympathies of the American people remain with the great majority of Cubans who have felt the hard boot of the dicatator as heavily as any people in recent times. The ascension of Fidel Castro to the summit was a fraud from the beginning, his movement being disguised as agrarian reform. Many citizens in the U.S. were duped into believing the story. Castro's true colors were not long in showing once he had the ultimate power and he was quick to unleash his communist agents in the fields of espionage and subversion.

Castro has proved a heavy drag on the Russians. The Soviets have poured billions of dollars into a Cuban economy that never seems to get of the ground. Castro and his henchmen would like to see trade dollars come in from another source. We should let our leaders know that we do not want to supply that money, either through loans or trade. Castro still hates the U.S. Encouragement of the Cuban masses through freedom broadcasts from the mainland should, for the time being, be the extent of our relations with our once friendly neighbor to the south.

THERE IS still some opposition coming via mail and telephone about the city's tax rate increase and hiking of the water rate, sewage and sanitation fees.

Well, there is one chance left to voice protests. That will be at the regular semi - monthly meeting of the Pampa City Commission at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in City Hall.

The budget, tax and utility fee increase ordinances will come up for second and final reading at that meeting.

They already have been unanimously approved by city commissioners. That happened at the Sept. 10 meeting. There was no one there that day to complain.

City officials say the increases must go into effect if Pampa is to maintain current municipal functions and services. They blame it on inflation.

Of course, inflation is taking a pretty wide swipe at taxpayers, too. They have their difficulties in making ends meet in these days of continuing high prices.

Getting back to the protests about local tax and fee hikes, here's a letter received recently from Mrs. Don Coe, 1110 S. Faulkner:

"Isn't it time our city manager, mayor and commissioners consider the problems of Pampa's senior citizens?

"All utility rates have been increased, as well as city taxes, while the older members of the community continue to exist on a fixed income.

"Must we be forced to choose between paying for food and utilities or medical care and taxes?"

MIGHT AS well get caught up on some back mail while we're at it. Mrs. L. (name on file) wrote recently to assail editorial page columnist Gary Wills for his Outrider article in The News Sept. 5 concerning the amnesty debate.

Mrs. L. believes Mr. Wills' defense of earned re - entry amnesty for draft evaders and deserters is for the birds.

She writes:

"I just read Garry Wills column the second time. It doesn't make sense. Has he lost his marbles?

"Maybe the war in Vietnam wasn't a declared war, but it was a war we were in for bad or good. And when it was time for one to fight it was time for all (unless we want to let someone else do it for us.) Mr. Nixon didn't start it. But don't call him names for it — he did end it.

"So let the draft dodgers stay where they are. We have enough trouble without the return of more trouble - makers. If there is a job shortage, why give them a chance at one. The job should go to the boy who fought for the right to hold it.

"We need them like we need another Garry Wills. Talk about patriotism! I'd take Lt. Calley anytime to one who lacks guts enough to fight for his country. He was sent to kill. If he shot everything that moved — maybe he was scared, but he didn't desert.

"P.S. Let's cut out Garry Wills column. It stinks, anyway."

Now, that's what we call telling a columnist off in no uncertain terms. (Mrs. L's letter has been forwarded to Mr. Wills).

IT IS a rare occasion when an editor gets an apology. In fact, apologies are so unusual it was decided to publish this one from a kind and thoughtful reader:

"A few weeks ago I wrote you complaining that you dropped the comic strip, "Rick O'Shay.' A few days later I discovered, to my embarrassment, your paper doesn't carry that comic strip. So this letter is an apology for that complaint. We enjoy reading The News daily."

Really, no apology is needed for an honest mistake, but we think it was nice of Mrs. B.T. Owen, 1121 Willow Rd., to drop us the note.

THE JOINT installaton banquet of Pampa's two Kiwanis clubs last Thursday night reminded us that Downtown Kiwanis Club member Fred Thompson has 38 years of 100 per cent attendance. J. B. Massa, Fred Shryock and Edwin Vicars are close seconds with 37 years each. Figuring 52 meetings a year, that's a grand total of nearly 2,000.

Tree Planting Time Calls For Ordering Seedlings

It is time to order tree seedlings from the Texas Forest Service for the 1974 - 75 planting season, according to Mason Cloud, head of the Forest Environment Department.

The 21 windbreak species available this year will cost $5 per hundred. The minimum order for windbreak species is 100 seedlings and they are shipped prepaid.

A check or money order payable to the Texas Forest Service must accompany each order before the trees can be shipped. Orders are processed as received and shipped from mid - December through February.

Tree planters are urged to place their orders early in the fall.

During the 1974 planting season, 401,000 windbreak seedlings were distributed to 185 Texas counties, from Dallam County in the extreme northwestern part of the Panhandle to Cameron County in the Rio Grande Valley. The total of 401,000 trees was planted by 750 planters.

Boy Scout and Girl Scout camps from the Panhandle to the Gulf Coast planted trees as part of their continued interest and activities to conserve our natural resources.

More than 35 soil and water conservation districts in the Texas Panhandle region purchased about 300 packets of 150 seedlings each and planted them on farms and ranches to provide special protection for game animals and birds.

Texas landowners have shown imagination in the wide variety of tree plantings.

Tree seedlings which start at the Texas Forest Service Indian Mound Nursery are planted on thousands of sites by hundreds of ordinary people.

Applications for tree seedlings are available from county and district offices of the Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Extension Service, or by writing the Texas Forest Service, in care of Agronomy Department, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409, phone 806-742-5109.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY

Rex McAnelly was visiting with a prominent oil man recently from the Wichita Falls area who had also been engaged in the cattle business.

He had been very successful up until the recent price drop in cattle. The fellow said, "I have tax accountants, lawyers, and a host of paid employees to help me make decisions."

He went on to say nothing had worked right in 1973 - 74. He said, "I would have been as well off to have picked me up a 'Wino' off the street to advise me during these critical times."

The stock market has crashed. The cattle feeder got hit by high grain cost. This backed up to the stocker operator and now the cow - calf boys are taking it on the chin.

The worst dought and more widespread than any on record in the last four decades has thrown the best of predictions in a tailspin. The Depeartment of Agriculture started predicting six months before the 1974 corn crop was planted we would have a bumper corn crop in 1974.

They anticipated a fence - row to fence - row planting. As one release after another started breaking on the severity of the drought and other adverse weather factors; the price of feed grains rose to unheard of levels.

The cattle feeder, faced with a forty - five cent gain cost on $4.50 milo and equivalent for corn dropped out of the market for feedlot cattle.

They aniticipated fifty - sixty cent gain cost on feedlot cattle. For each $1 per CWT that grain rose in price, replacement cattle dropped back another $5 per CWT because of the high grain cost and no place to go with light weight calves that got to bringing less per pound than a 700 pound steer.

Packer buyers in the Southeastern states finally moved into the auction rings and started bying calves on cows. They have been and are still being slaughtered by the thousands and featured as baby beef in the meat counters.

Cattle numbers in the feedlot continue to decline at a time while price is declining as well. One week feedlot cattle will rise $5 a CWT and then lose it the next.

We have seen steers top at fifty cents while light weight calves were selling for $28 per CWT. The exact opposite to this time a year ago.

Dairy farmers are going broke in droves. Five dairies were shut down in Hunt County, Texas recently. The cause - high cost of feed as a result of the drought. They say others will follow.

Where the beef will come from in mid - winter is anyone's guess. A recent 7 - state cattle on feed report showed only 77 percent as many cattle on feed as a year earlier.

Cattle placed on feed in August '74 were down 22 percent as compared to August 1973. While cattle prices are declining, you have seen beef steady or rising in the meat counter.

No doubt 1974 will go down in the records as the most chaotic year in the history of American agriculture.

PASTURE CONDITIONS

Recently Johnny Hines was taking taking me apart for my earlier comment that "usually very little native grass is grown in August."

This in one of the oldest sayings by ole timers in the cattle business. However, I'll admit the statement didn't hold this year.

I've never seen grass do as good in the month of August. I attribute this to the fact we really never had a spring in 1974. The seeds didn't even come up until after the August rains.

The weather remained cool and somehow the native buffalo and gramma grass thought it was spring during the recent month of August. Now, I'd like to hear from some of the ole timers.

Is it true or not that native grass doesn't do much after August 1? I'll print any comments. Johnny admits he doesn't pay any attention to my forecast but he likes to razz me when a severe drought comes along and upsets what I believe could have been an excellent forecast.

Well, guess we will have to turn this over to Chief Choctaw! He has a lot better response.

LIVESTOCK PONDS such as this one located on the Ingrum ranch east of Pampa will help distribute the grazing of livestock. They can also provide recreation for the landowner, his family and friends. Cost-share assistance is available for pond construction. Information may be had by contacting the Soil Conservation Service at the Courthouse Annex.

SCS Personnel Attend Field Day

Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District directors Curtis Schaffer, Milton Carpenter, Ralph McLaughlin and Tony Smitherman, along with SCS District Conservationist Perry Gruhlkey attended the Plant Materials Field Day on September 18 at Knox City, Texas.

The agenda included tours and a speaking program.

Opening remarks were by State Conservationists Ed Thomas of Texas and Hampton Burns of Oklahoma. The tours were hindered due to heavy rains.

The SCS Plant Materials Center was established in January of 1965 and serves the needs of Texas and Oklahoma.

The purpose of the Plant Materials Center is to assemble and evaluate plants with a potential value for range and pasture plantings, recreation and beautification, wildlife feed and habitat and erosion control.

Nebraska, nicknamed the "Cornhusker State" since 1945, previously was known as the "Tree Planter's State" because J. Sterling Morton originated Arbor Day there in 1872.

Although Pennsylvania is generally considered an industrial state, agriculture is its second leading industry, contributing more than $1.3 billion annually to the gross state product.

Cattle Company Is Newest Firm

A new business came to Pampa this week when the Hi Plains Cattle Co. of Texas opened their office in the Hughes Building.

Manger of the new firm is W.H. (Steve) Stephenson, who lives in Miami.

The company buys and sells stockers, feeders and fat cattle. They also operate as an outlet for cattle to be exported to Canada.

Another facet of the business is contract renting of wheat land for grazing.

Stephenson, originally from the Abiline and San Angelo area, has been in the cattle business for 30 years and put in about 20 years on the rodeo circuit "all over the country," as he puts it.

The local office is open Monday through Friday, with secretary - office manager Teresa Jo Neal in charge. The phone number there is 669-3288.

Evenings and weekends Stephenson may be reached at Miami by calling 868-3182.

Fertilizer Bill Is On Increase

AUSTIN — The total U.S. farm bill for fertilizers could approach $4 billion this year — a 60 percent increase from 1972 prices.

According to Texas Argiculture Commissioner John C. White, both nitrogen and phosphate fertilizers are expected to be in short supply through the fall and spring growing season, and some prices have already doubled those of 1973, when price controls were in effect.

Free of these controls, manufacturers increased wholesale prices for most fertilizers at least 30 percent on July 1.

Producers ended fiscal year 1974 with record low stocks which were almost 1.3 million tons below those of 1973.

"And this is with full - scale production," White added. "Ammonia plants are operating at 97 percent capacity, but if temperatures should drop this winter, natural gas supplies for this industry may be curtailed, reducing its operations."

Phosphate rock mines are operating at a record 90 percent production rate.

Presently, supplies of nitrogen are down almost 5 percent. With production straining at plant capacity and net exports down, domestic supply could increase 7 percent this year.

However, the increase is not sufficient to cover expected acreage and application increases, White noted. Increased supplies or not, farmers are unlikely to see any lowering of nitrogen fertilizer prices.

Demand for fertilizers increased more than 18 percent last year in Texas as farmers applied more than 2.6 million tons to crops. Nationally, demand increased 12 percent.

4-H Clubs Prepare For 'Sales Days'

Many local 4-H clubs across the state are gearing up for a weeklong period of "4-H Sales Days" to garner additional revenue for the completion of the new Texas 4-H Center at Brownwood. In most counties the sales days will be held during National 4-H Week Oct. 6-12, according to a 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The sales days will take the form of garage and auction sales, flea markets and bake sales. Some clubs are also planning chili suppers and barbecues. The new Texas 4-H Center will provide a place where 4-H youth and adults as well as other groups can participate in leadership training programs.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

Last week this column carried Rule 8 — Exception To Spacing Rule of the Rules of the Panhandle Ground Water conservation District. The District operated under the rule from 1956 to 1965, a period of 11 years. The old rule required that official notification be given to all landowners whose land touch the parties to the contest. In 1965 Rule 8 was amended to include only the immediate parties. The amendment No. 5, Rule 25, amending Rule 8 reads as follows:

"Rule 8, Section (C), deleting the words, "all adjoining owners and all well owners within a half mile of the proposed location," and substituting (adding) the words, "to all owners of property or of wells located less than the required minimum distance from the proposed well site," with the amended Rule 8, Section (C) to read as follows:

Rule 8, Section (C) Such exception may be granted ten (10) days after written notice has been given to the applicant and to all owners of property or of wells located less than the minimum required distance from the proposed well site and after a public hearing at which all interested may appear and be heard, and after the Board has decided that and exception should be granted.

Provided, however, that if all such owners execute a waiver in writing stating that they do not object to the granting of such exception, the Board may thereupon proceed to decide upon the granting or refusing of such application without notice or hearing except to the applicant. The applicant may also waive notice or hearing or both."

During the eighteen and two - third years the District has been in existence there have been occasional protests filed with the District concerning salt water pollution, tail - water waste and property line spacing.

In some instances, based on the facts placed before the Board of Directors — decisions have been for the protestor and in others for the applicant. The rules of the District provides for Public Hearings, and Re - hearings. For public information we are carrying the rule.

Rule 15 — Rehearing

(a) Any person whose application is denied, whose contest is overruled, or who is not granted the relief desired, may file with the Board a motion for rehearing within fifteen (15) days from the announcement by the Board of its decision or action. The Board shall act thereon within a reasonable time.

If such motion for rehearing is filed and is overruled, the order of the Board shall be final on the date the motion is overruled.

(b) The Board may, in a proper case, find that an emergency exists and that substantial injustice will result from delay.

In that event, and upon the recitation of such finding, the order of the Board will become final on the date of the announcement of the order by the Board, and no motion for rehearing will be considered thereon.

(c) If any application or a contest is denied by the Board and if the applicant or contestant shall not have had and shall not have been afforded an opportunity for a hearing before the Board, as elsewhere provided by these rules, the applicant or contestant shall be entitled to a hearing before the Board.

A written request to the Board for such a hearing, stating such facts, must be filed with the Board within the above fifteen (15) day period.

If such motion is in order and is duly filed, the Board shall give notice to the applicant and all proper and necessary parties of the time and place of such hearing, and shall proceed to conduct such a hearing.

Station Will Lease Acreage

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has completed an agreement with the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, near Plainview, whereby the Experiment Station will operate 152 acres and facilities owned by the Foundation for the next five years.

The agreement provides for use of the facilities and personal property of the Foundation for agricultural research and education by the Experiment Station and those institutions which cooperate with the Station.

Fluid Milk Prices Will Be Discussed

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has announced that a decision has been reached to call a national hearing to review minimum levels of fluid milk (Class I) prices to be paid dairy farmers under all 61 milk orders.

USDA officials said that the number of milk cows on farms and milk production for the first eight months of this year are both below year ago levels, and that to assure a continuing supply of milk adequate to meet consumer needs, consideration of minimum prices to be paid dairy farmers, particularly during the coming fall and winter months, is necessary.

Milk production is now declining seasonally while feed costs are becoming less and less favorable to milk production, this at the season of the year when heavier feeding is necessary because of normal short pasture during fall and winter.

Plans for the hearing are now being made, and announcement of the exact time, place, and scope of the hearing agenda will be announced within the next few days.

PREPARED FOR WAR, ANYWAY

Syria 'Honestly' Wants Peace, Assad Stresses

United Press International

President Hafez Assad said today Syria "honetly and seriously wants peace" with Israel but will still build up its military strength in case of another Middle East war.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said that his visit to Washington last week convinced him the United States stood firm in its readiness to provide Israel with enough armaments to prevent war with the Arabs.

In Cairo, the Palestine Liberation Organization today won an official Egyptian acknowledgement that it is the "sole legitimate representative" of the Palestinians. The acknowledgement came in a joint statement issued at the end of two days of policy talks here between Egypt, Syria and the PLO, the major Palestinian force.

Assad said in an address opening a labor convention in Damascus that Syria will press for the return of its territories occupied by Israel and to regain the rights of the Palestinians.

"But despite this I would like to emphasize a basic principle —that we honestly and seriously want peace and will continue to seek peace whether or not we fight another war," he said.

"There cannot be peace with occupation and there cannot be peace while a people remains destituted. The future does not favor aggression, nor does it favor aggressors."

Rabin said in an interview broadcast by the national radio: "I believe there is no doubt in the American mind, that we have to have the capability to deter war and also to be capable to defend ourselves by ourselves. Sometimes the argument is about one item or two items, but basically the approach of the U.S. government is no change whatsoever in their readiness to translate it into deeds."

Rabin said that since returning from a trip to Washington last week "this has been translated into deeds."

Youth Center

SWIM LESSONS — The Center has a very unique situation in the scheduling of swim lessons in that the pool is indoors. This allows the teaching of swim lessons the year round in heated water. Weather plays no part in our program.

The Center follows the American Red Cross program of swim lessons except for the addition of a polywogs class for pre-school children.

Other lessons are beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, swimmers, junior lifesaving and senior lifesaving. These classes are offered preiodically throughout the school and during the summer.

At present the swim classes are taught from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m. Classes meet for 10 meeting dates on Monday, Wednesday, Thrusday and Fridays. Ruth Carter is our resident water safety instructor and teaches all the lessons.

All swim lessons are open to the public whether you are a member or non-member. Lessons are free to Youth Center members and $5 to non-members. Memberships may be purchased at anytime at the front desk of the Center. Lessons offered are:

Sept. 30-Oct. 16
4:00 Beginners
5:00 Intermediates
Oct. 21-Nov. 6
4:00 Beginners
5:00 Swimmers
Nov. 11-27

DOLPHIN SWIM TEAM — For those interested in competitive swimming there is the A.A.U. Dolphin swim team. This team is for both boys and girls 6-18 years of age who know how to swim.

For those not acquainted with the A.A.U. swimming competition, this is by age groups so that a boy or girl is swimming in a class of swimmers of like age.

The Dolphins workout each open day from 6-7:30 p.m. and at other special times. They attend a number of weekend swim meets around the Texas Panhandle area. These meets are on Saturday and Sunday and does not interfere with school.

For those interested in joining this competitive swim team, you may come by the Center at 6 p.m. and full information will be given you by the Dolphin coaches. The only pre-requisite for joining is that you are willing to become a Youth Center member and have the desire to compete.

WOMEN'S EXERCISE CLASS — All women can be liberated for two hours on Monday and Friday and Friday mornings by participating in the exercise and swim time. From 9:30 until 10:00 the women meet in the gym and exercise to synchronized recordings led by Mrs. Sally White. Then from 10 until 11:30 a.m. the women have a leisure swim period.

There is a baby sitting service during these hours for a nominal fee. Mothers can participate without worrying about the children. To participate you must be a Youth Center member or be willing to join. A six months membership is only $8. Wear some leisure clothes and come on down to the next meeting.

HEALTH CLUB — To all of our friends who were members of Linda G's, we would invite you to consider the Youth Center Health Club. This is one of the nicest health clubs in the Panhandle area. You lose weight and inches in a congenial atmosphere with the proper equipment.

By proper equipment we mean having a great selection of machines to help you loose that fat.

These include the leg press machine, leg & thigh curl machine, 3 vibrator belts, 3 barrell rollers, 4 sit-up boards, 2 regular bicycles, 2 4-way motorized machines, 2 4-way manual machines, Swiss facial machine, exerow machine, sun lamp, rowing machine, jungle pulley machine with 700 lbs. of weights, hips away machine, sauna, health walker, 2 handball and racquetball courts, 10 beauty bars, 20 dumbells and a full set of barbells.

An individual can join for 33 cents a day and a husband and wife can join for only 44 cents a day. Why not come by the health club and try out our facilities free for one day with no cost or obligation. We will explain how you can become a member. We then leave the decision up to you.

VOLLEYBALL LEAGUE RESULTS — The first week of volleyball competition was played this week and here are the results: Women's League — Malcolm Hinkle over Pampa Indep. 10-7 and 15-4; Shoe Nail Supply over Pampa Glass & Paint 0-15, 7-0 and 7-0; Dick's Skelly over 1st Bapt. Youth 7-0 and 15-9; 1st Nat. Bank over 1st Bapt. Women 7-0 and 15-2 and Dyer's Bar B Q being defeated by Harold Barrett Ford 8-11, 7-0 and 7-0. Men's League — 1st Bapt. No. 1 over Pampa News 15-3 and 13-3; Plowboys over Nelson Medley's Broncos 10-11, 15-9 and 11-9 while 1st Nat. Bank bumped 1st Bapt. No. 2 15-7 and 7-0. Mixed League — Charlie's Furn. over 1st Methodist Church 7-0 and 7-0; Trollingers Texaco over Cabot 15-10 and 11-9 while Carlson-Cradduck bumped Medley's Meddlers 11-1 and 11-1.

Braniff's Pilots Out On Strike

DALLAS (UPI) — Braniff International Airlines' 1,328 pilots Saturday went on strike for shorter flying hours and higher pay and the airline quickly laid off 7,900 other workers —5,000 in the Dallas - Fort Worth area.

The strike shut down Braniff service to 46 cities in the United States and 12 in Latin America. About 25,000 persons a day fly Braniff planes, but a spokesman said alternate plane service was available on all its routes.

"We could not agree to superinflationary and unreasonable demands of the (Air Line Pilots Association) union," Braniff spokesman Jere Cox said.

"The average annual cockpit crew pay is $31,000 and a captain makes $67,000. They wanted an increase of 40 per cent."

Cox declined to say what he called an "excellent" Braniff offer was. He said no meeting was scheduled between company and union negotiators but Braniff was willing to resume negotiations at any time.

Jack Hagey of the ALPA said he did not know precisely how far apart Braniff and union negotiators were on money, but, "They're not close or we wouldn't be in the posture we're in."

Howard Hutton, a spokesman for the ALPA, said Braniff's average pay for pilots' "is the lowest of the 12 domestic airlines in the U.S.

The pilots also want their maximum monthly flying time reduced from the present 77-½ hours a month to 55 hours, said to be the national average of other airlines.

The pilots set up picket lines at all Braniff installations in Dallas —Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, Dallas Love Field and Exchange Park, where Braniff's corporate headquarters are located.

Hagey of the ALPA said more than 40 per cent of total flights out of D-FW were Braniff's before the strike.

Cox said the 7,900 laid off would get nothing from Braniff except for time already worked —until the pilots' strike ends.

He said Braniff's total payroll is $150 million a year.

Braniff's 79 planes remained in the 79 mainland, Hawaiian and South American cities in which they normally overnight.

Local Police Seize Pistol

John Dee Young Jr. (no address given) reported to police that two men had threatened him with a postol at about 10:30 p.m. Friday at the Peppermint Lounge, 715 Gray.

Young said he ran to another tavern, the Royal Bar, to call police. The investigating officer said he was told that a shot had been fired.

Young said two brother, James L. Hunnicutt of Wellington were involved in the incident.

Officers located the two men in a car in the 500 block of Maple St. stopped the car and asked permission to search the car.

Permission was granted, and the policemen found a 38 cal. pistol in the trunk.

The pistol was taken into custody for "Safekeeping."

No arrests were made.

A local woman complained to police Friday that her son (age not specified) came home drunk and became angry because she would not loan him her car.

She said he started tearing up the furniture and ran his fist through the walls.

She then reportedly left the home and called police. On investigating, officers found the man out in the street.

He was arrested for drunkeness and placed in city jail.

Garage Burns

Heavy damage to two cars and other cotents of a garage resulted from a fire at 817 N. Russell, Friday at 12:40 p.m. The garage also was heavily damaged.

Firemen said cause of the blaze was gasoline spilling onto a drop-light.

Owner is listed as Alvin Day.

Last Week In Wall Street

By BOB HILL

It looks as if sugar is headed for 40 cents a pound, double the price bulk consumers were paying just last spring. Producer costs are up sharply; fertilizer has doubled in price and the chains, sprockets and drives used in harvesting equipment have tripled in cost. Fuel and rubber costs are also up sharply from a year ago.

Another visitor from the Caribbean like Hurricane Carmen could force sugar prices even higher. Carmen wiped out up to 200,000 tons of raw sugar in Louisiana. That amounts to a week of total U.S. sugar consumption.

The U.S. will produce 5.9 million tons of sugar this year and consume 10.4 million tons. Cane sugar amounts to half that figure of 5.9 million tons. Louisiana is the third largest cane producer, with Hawaii and Florida producing substantially higher amounts.

Texas will produce about 100,000 tons. Hawaii's cane production is limited by a lack of land and water. Florida lacks mill capacity and Texas has a state air pollution regulation that limits burning cane in open fields, effectively limiting production to 100,000 tons.

Even if trade with Cuba becomes a reality, sugar prices will continue to soar. Cuba has committed most of its 1974-75 crop to the Soviet Union and is selling any surplus sugar on the world spot market for more than the going U.S. wholesale price.

Any sugar coming into the U.S. from Cuba will only replace sugar imports from Brazil, the Philippines and Australia which supply 40 percent of U.S. sugar needs. These countries can sell their sugar more profitably closer to their own shores.

A shortage of sugar and the resulting high price can also act to discourage increased production. Farmers will be slow to expand production because just about the time they are ready to cash in with their higher production, the price may fall.

Production experts now predict high sugar prices for the U.S. at least through 1980.

Center Offering Care Instruction

Registration for a 16-week course in a Child Care Assistant program will be held at Pampa Community Day Care Center, 600 W. Browning, next Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Co-sponsors are Amarillo College and the Texas Panhandle Early Childhood Development and Training Program.

Classes will begin the day of registration and will be held from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from Sept. 24, 1974 through Jan. 27, 1975.

Laboratory sessions will be held on Mondays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Instructor for the course is Mrs. Laurie Cizon. There is no enrollment fee, but students are expected to buy a book costing about $4.

The 16 weeks will provide 240 instructional hours in child growth and development.

Unsafe at Home

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Safety Council says falls caused more than one third of the deaths from home accidents last year. Fires and burns caused one-fifth of the deaths.

Editorial Criticizes Priests In Politics

BOSTON (UPI) — Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., may be among priests lacking in top level religious permission to be in politics, according to an editorial in the September issue of the SJ (Society of Jesus) News.

The Boston Herald American in its Saturday edition quoted Father Drinan as insisting he did have permission to engage in politics. "I have permission in black and white and I'm not going to get into the question of permission," the congressman was quoted as saying. The editorial which the newspaper quoted was written by Rev. James Hietter of Boston, editor of the SJ news.

"The Vatican II honeymoon is over," the editorial said. "The window that John opened on the church to let in some fresh air has been quietly closed to keep out the nomious."

The editorial referred not only to Father Drinan, but to the Rev. John J. Mclaughlin, former White House aide, and Rev. Joseph O'Rourke, New York, dismissed because of his baptism of the son of an abortion advocate.

Action taken in the O'Rourke case was a "clear turning point" in the battle over church discipline," Father Hietter wrote.

"O'Rourke took advantage of a permissive milieu only to discover that obedience has never been vulnerable to change."

Bishop Bernard J. Flanagan of Worcester, Mass., in which Father Drinan's district is located, said Father Drinan did not receive explicit permission from him to engage in politics.

The Almanac

United Press International

Today is Sunday, Sept. 22, the 265th day of 1974 with 100 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

English chemist and physicist Michael Faraday was born Sept. 22, 1791.

On this day in history:

In 1776, the British hanged American Revolutionary War hero and patriot Nathan Hale seconds after he uttered his immortal words: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1789, Congress authorized creation of the office of postmaster general of the United States.

In 1949, the U.S. nuclear monopoly ended as the Soviet Union detonated its first atomic bomb.

In 1959, the Chicago White Sox won the American League pennant for the first time in 40 years. They lost the World Series to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

A thought for the day: British poet and author Rudyard Kipling said. "Meddling with another man's folly is always thankless work."

MONDAY, Sept. 23

Your birthday today: Coincides with the equinox. The Sun is directly over the equator at 5:59 a.m. EDT, beginning the zodiac sign Libra. Those born earlier have the Sun in the last degree of Virgo. For all today's natives this year promises unusually interesting changes in work and relationships. Today's Virgoans collect so much they seldom relocate; the Librans plan so effectively they're always able to go.

Aries [March 21-April 29]: Business matters are unsettled, some moves being premature. Family ties are momentarily tense. You resolve the situation by accepting people as they are.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Temporize, give current stresses time to come to balance, as people see other sides of the issue. News from afar is incomplete, wait for the full story.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Expenses increase, while bright prospects on a new job decline. Keep a notebook for the stream of ideas coming in today, sort out the ones worth hanging onto.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Anything will do as a playing piece in a bicker game. You needn't get into it at all. Check your home and work place for hazards, do something to correct them.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Just because the work is marked "rush" doesn't mean you have to be hasty or to attempt more than you can handle. Special care with anything mechanical is advised.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: If you know what you're buying, go ahead, but check that you get what is agreed. Sentimental ventures seem neglected—cheer up, there'll be another time.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: When your patience runs out, stop. Take a deep breath, strive for serenity. Insight eventually brings about renewed relationships. Avoid overdoing your work.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Close associates require tact. Be wide-awake, observant if you must travel. Protect your loved ones from echoes of your problem-solving struggle.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Money is a root of discord if you permit it to be. Your own decisions, put into action without boast or apology, work best. Let well enough alone.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Aggressive moves, impatience with business contacts are to be restrained. Work on existing ventures rather than starting new ones. Home life needs your gentle touch.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Seek solitude to gather your thoughts. Almost any suggestion from you provokes an extreme response today. Spend time improving your health.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Be firm and specific about arrangements already made—stay out of new ones elaborated by your friends. You have enough at home to consider just now.

Martin-Crawford

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin of Wheeler, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Sue, to Johnny Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Crawford of Allison. The couple will be married Sept. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Wheeler.

Mills-Todd Say Nuptial Vows In Methodist Chapel

Miss Sidney Kathleen Mills and Larry Weldon Todd exchanged nuptial vows at noon, Saturday, Sept. 14 in the chapel of First United Methodist Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Doug Mills, Jr., 2301 Mary Ellen. Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Todd, Odessa, are parents of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was Dr. Loyd V. Hamilton. Mrs. Sid Mills, Sharon Springs, Kan., orangist, played traditional wedding selections.

A massive arrangement of mixed white flowers served as a background for the exchange of nuptial vows. The chancel rail was entwined with fresh salal roping and white mixed summer flowers. The couple lighted the traditional memory candle.

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal length gown of candleglow maracaine fraille. The gown, fashioned with a cummerbund fitted bodice, was designed with a bibbed front. Matching strands of seed pearls formed a sunburst from the stand-up folded collar. Each strand of pearls was accented with larger pearls to form a necklace. The long fitted sleeves had the same pearl strand affect. The front center skirt sherred with fullness, matched the fullness of the back terminating in a chapel train.

She wore a matching queens stand-up crown designed with seed pearl strands and bands of pearls at the crown in layers of imported bridal illusion fashioned into handkerchief points extending to the floor. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, and ivy.

The bride carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Mary Price, Pampa, served as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of solid teal knit. The gown was designed with soft, full gathers which draped from the sides to form a V-neckline and midriff. She wore a diamond heart necklace and carried a clutch bouquet of yellow roses.

Matt Mills, Pampa, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers were Sid Mills, Sharon Springs, Kan., and Steve Hale, Lubbock.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother was attired in a floor-length gown of pastel teal. Her corsage was a yellow cymbidium orchid.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length gown of dusty rose polyester knit with matching accessories. Her corsage was a pink cymbidium orchid.

RECEPTION

The Pampa County Club was the scene for a luncheon and reception immediatedly following the ceremony. The U-shaped dinner tables were arranged with silver candelabra epergnes filled with yellow roses and carnations. The tables were trimmed with center garlands of fresh smilex.

For the reception, the traditional white table was covered with a madeira linen cutwork cloth over a teal Peau de Soie lining. The table was centered with a five-branched silver candelabrum holding white tapers and mixed white flowers.

The tiered wedding cake was topped with white satin bells edged in seed pearls on a pearlescent heart. White sweetheart roses accented the all white cake which was served by Miss Melissa Johnson, Amarillo, Miss Sidney Lee Hale, Canyon, served punch from a silver punch bowl. Registering guests was Miss Leslie Hale, Miami.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will reside in Odessa. For traveling the bride wore a teal polyester knit pant suit.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride attended Eastern New Mexico University, Angelo State University, and is a graduate of John Robert Powers Finishing and Modeling School. Unitil recently she had been modeling in Dallas and Fort Worth.

The bridegroom attended ENMU and ASU. He is presently associated in business with his father in Odessa.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

A cocktail and dinner party honoring the couple was held in Amarillo recently at the Amarillo Country Club. Hosting the event were Mmes. Garland Bell, Jack Lankford, Dixie Shannon, and J.A. Hedgecoke.

A luncheon honoring the bride was held recently in the home of Mrs. Joe Donaldson, 2530 Duncan, with Miss Jill Donaldson, co-hostess.

The bride was honored at the Pampa Country Club with a kitchen gadget and accessory shower. Hostesses were Mmes. W.D. Price, Janie Johnson and Miss Mary Price.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents in the Pampa Club, Coronado Inn.

SUNDAY, Sept., 22

Your birthday today: Rely on your own deeper resources in this coming year of active challenge. There really is no easy way. What often seems to be luck or coincidence will occur (usually in your favor) if you approach life with a constructive attitude and good intentions. Today's natives tend to accumulate quantities of specialized possessions, materials for hobbies.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Leave practically all the people you know alone. Do your regular share of community customs, then find something personal to attend to.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Do some extra work today if it doesn't disturb the peace of others. Entertainments are fun but cause you added expense.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Cooperation yields success despite hindrances in exchanging information. Invest time in a favorite hobby, but don't expect others to share your interest.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Approach everything with a mood of conciliation. Don't grind personal axes or make deals with complex ramifications.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Being thrifty doesn't come too easily but is worth your effort. Once you've made local contributions, get out of public view for study, correspondence.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Concentrate on family or those you love and trust. People ask about, future commitments; let them wait while you concentrate on the present.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Brief journeys, extra moves to re-establish lapsed connections yield benefits. Don't approach officials or people in high office with personal schemes now.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Your health and its maintenance take first priority on your "must-do" list. You spend money in every circumstance. Watch your outlay; count your change.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Leave business aside and relax. Visit with friends and talk over recent experience. If traveling, let others make the choices.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Using good judgment saves your day. Travel seems inevitable. Take the trouble to figure out all necessary plans before leaving.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Most of today's social events lead nowhere. If you can talk shop with people of high technical skills, you will benefit by evening.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: In the course of a normal sociable day you may shake hands over a mutual agreement. Immediately apply this very beneficial understanding.

Council Of Clubs Names Committees

The Council of Clubs met in the City Club Rooms the first Thursday of September for a regular meeting of the Council. Mrs. Frank Shotwell, president, led the opening prayer, and Mrs. Ruth Sewell, led the group in the pledge to the flag.

During the business session, the resignation of the Beta Sigma Phi Upsilon chapter was read and accepted with regrets.

The group elected Mrs. Georgia Mack, vice president.

Mrs. Shotwell appointed the following standing committees for the year: Calendar Chairman, Mrs. Lee Harrah from the American Legion Auxiliary; Kitchen Chairman, Mrs. Divie Breeze and Mrs. Margarite Nash from the B&PW Club; Pledge to the flag, Mrs. Bob Warnack, from the Kappa Alpha Chapter of ESA; Program Chairman, Mrs. Georgia Mack, Welfare Index; Registration Chairman, Mrs. Louise Sewell from the Red Cross; Telephone Committee, Mrs. Clara Lee Rhodes, and Geneva Tidwell, Altrusa Club; House & Projects Committee, Mrs. Faye Watson, president of Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority; and Parlimentary and By-laws, chairman, Mrs. Marian Stroup, Altrusa Club.

Mrs. Georgia Mack spoke to the group on her spring trip to Iran to visit her daughter and family. She told of the many customs in this new land, the lovely flowers and her visit to the Shaw's palace through her invitation to sponsor a graduating class from the students.

Coffee and cookies were served to the 11 members by the president, Mrs. Shotwell.

The next meeting of the Council of Clubs will be the first Thursday in November.

Church News

FIRST BAPTIST WOMEN

Mrs. George Smith was in charge of the meeting when The Maxine Ray Round Table Study Group met at the church.

The "Call to Prayer" was given by Mrs. L.V. Hopp and the opening prayer was voiced by Mrs. Onis Price.

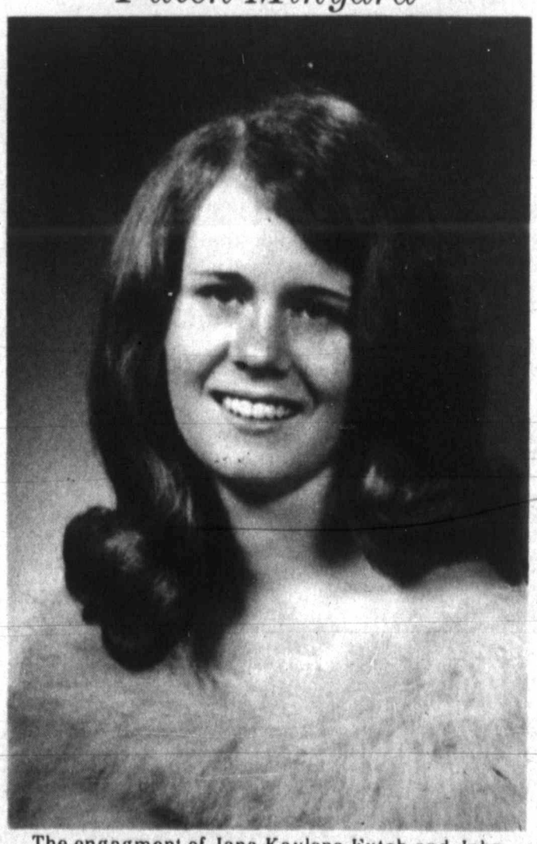

Mrs. Smith informed the group of various mission action efforts.

Then she reviewed the book, "Every Wall Shall Fall," by Helen Battle. This is the story of a girl's imprisonment in East Germany and how God worked in her life.

Members attending the study were Mmes. Ed Anderson, Roberta Wood, R.L. McDonald, Myron Porter, Ross Buzzard, Price, Hopp and Smith.

The dismissal prayer was given by Mrs. Porter.

Futch-Minyard

The engagment of Jana Kaylene Futch and John Earl Minyard is being made by her parents, Rev. and Mrs. James Futch of Lorenzo. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Minyard of Silverton. Miss Futch is the granddaughter of Mrs. Cora Harris of Wheeler. The wedding will be solemnized Nov. 29 in Lorenzo United Methodist Church. The bride-elect attended McMurry College and is presently a sophomore at West Texas State University.

Fall Rush Slated By Upsilon Group

Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently at the home of Mrs. Harold Taylor, 2417 Christine. The business meeting was conducted by president Vickie Moose. Among the upcoming events announced by the social committee are two rush parties for prospective members. The first held Thursday, Sept. 19, was an "Around - the - World" salad supper at 1917 Mary Ellen. The second, on Saturday, Oct. 5, will be an "Olde English Pub" party to which husbands of rushees and members are also invited with host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Hoggatt.

Patsy Strawn, city council representative, announced that the socials for all Beta Sigma Phi chapters will include the Harvest Moon Ball, Oct. 19, featuring music by "The Country Sound," the New Year's Eve Dance (to benefit the scholarship fund), and the Valentine Sweetheart Ball on Feb. 8, both featuring music by "Pride."

Ways and means chairman, Sue Hoggatt discussed the Upsilon garage sale to be held at 1812 N. Wells on Monday, Oct. 23 through Wednesday, Oct. 25. She also reminded members about the Bazaar on Dec. 2.

The program, entitled "Painting the Person," was presented by Judy Fields. Using Jane Radcliff as a model, Mrs. Fields had several members each apply part of the facial make - up.

Hostesses for the meeting were Vickie Moose and Cile Taylor. The table decorations used a Back - to - School theme. Fall flowers were arranged in a child's lunch pail with a writing tablet, and school supplies for accessories on a gold table cloth. Sandwiches, cokes and tea were served.

Other members present were: Andrea Wyatt, Janice Snider, Sandy Osborne, Rochelle Lacy, Nancy Chase, Virginia Dewey, Janette Martin, Robbie Stone, and Melody Heuston. Guests were Carolyn Maxey and Susie Riley.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Children's clothing can gum up your electric clothes dryer if a wad of the chewy stuff is left in a pocket. To remove gum baked on the drum, rub with a little petroleum jelly, then run the dryer at the hot setting for 10 minutes. The residue can be wiped away with a soft cloth or a paper towel.

Before calling a repairman for home appliance service, check the equipment yourself. Make sure it's plugged in and turned on. Check for blown fuses or tripped circuit breakers.

Some home appliances—dishwashers, clothes dryers and trash compactors—have electric safety interlocks. Before calling a repairman, check the doors to see if they are securely closed.

New potatoes, which are harvested before the skins are set, do not remain fresh as long as mature potatoes. The new variety is best used within a week or 10 days.

Fresh mushrooms need not be peeled. The skin is delicate and flavorsome.

Fiscal Exercise To The Count Of Thrift

COLLEGE STATION — Fiscal fitness is a national concern — but it's also a personal concern, one family resource management specialist said.

She's Janice Garrett with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Our income keeps runnning in place while cost of living is doing push - ups and jumping jacks," she said.

People ask what can we consumers do to exercise our influence and help get our budgets back in shape, she continued.

"Budget is the key word — but first we have to put our exericse program in proper sequence," she noted.

First, we must analyze our present fiscal situation to determine just how much out of shape we are and in what area. Then we have to decide what to do about it, and how much improvement is necessary.

This is called goal setting. Each of us has different fiscal limitations and our exercise program will have to be personally administered, she advised.

"This is a slow building process. Once we recognize what our situation is, we have to start doing something about it. This is the key exercise to the count of thrift.

"A budget or spending plan can help us count better — if it lets us see how much money is actually going for what expenditure and where we need to work harder for better coordination of money coming in and going out. Possibly after trying this for a few weeks, all the soreness will disappear and we'll see some progress," she suggested.

As with all exercise programs it doesn't end here. The program has to be continued — and repeated. This calls for perseveracne and an ability to say "no" to wasteful and unneeded expenditures. We have to learn that the table laden with fattening luxuries and misused resources is something to push away from, she continued.

"Instead, we can supplement our exercise program with a well - balanced diet of other resources available to us.

"Money is not the only resource we have. If we wisely exercise our influence over money and use other resources we can win the battle of the budget and be well on our way to becoming fiscally fit," she said.

CLOTHING

New fabric blends of cotton and wool take advantage of the best characteristics of each fiber, Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reported. The warmth of wool and the comfort of cotton create a pleasing, attractive balance for wearers.

For slicing, choose tomatoes that are well-formed. Avoid lopsided, angular or elongated ones. For dicing or chunking, the shape of the fruit is unimportant.

Preschool Children Need Snacks

COLLEGE STATION — Help your preschooler snack his way to good health, one foods and nutrition specialist suggested this week.

"Small children with small stomachs need more food than they can eat in only three meals each day," Sally Springer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, contended.

Even though the child's growth rate is slower than during infancy, he still needs a diet high in nutrients for growth and energy.

"Snacks eaten at least 2½ hours before mealtime don't seem to influence the child's appetite for the meal," she noted.

Some nutritious snack suggestions are fruit juice, fruit wedges, vegetable sticks, peanut butter cookies and cheese cubes, the specialist continued.

"But filling snacks eaten too near mealtime will increase the chance of the child's loss of appetite," she pointed out.

Another point in favor of snacks is that the body uses smaller, more frequent meals in a way that slows the formation of adipose — fat — tissue and stimulates muscle formation. These are desirable factors in the preschool years, she noted.

Oranges tinged with green are ripe fruit that remained on the tree during warm weather. Chlorophyll is the greening substance that tints the skin. Oranges are always picked when fully ripe.

A May-December with a marriage in the middle

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old woman who is in love with a married man. He is 40. (No lectures, please, just advice.)

I know he really loves me, but he won't divorce his wife because of their two children who are 10 and 12. He says he can't leave his family until the 10-year-old is 18. Abby, I'll be 34 years old!

He keeps telling me how much he loves me, and I know he means it. I never go anywhere because I want to be home in case he calls. One hour with him is better that a whole weekend with somebody else.

I don't know what to do, Abby. You give such sensible advice. Maybe you can give me some.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

DEAR FORBIDDEN: You credit me with "such sensible advice," I think you knew what my advice would be before you sought it. But the fact that you asked anyway tells me that you know the way out of your dilemma, but need support in taking it.

Okay, honey, send this man home to his wife and look for an eligible man. The forbidden fruit which tastes so sweet today will be rotten in eight years.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently a member of a wedding party. On the way to the reception hall after the church ceremony, the bride and groom turned into the driveway of a cemetery. They had planned to place the bride's bouquet on the grave of the groom's father.

Of course, the other cars in the wedding party followed them into the cemetery, since we had been told they expected us all to go.

At the gravesite, the groom's mother become hysterical and cried her heart out. Then the bride and groom broke down and cried, as did several others. It was a miserable, sad scene.

At the wedding rehearsal we were told of the planned gravesite visit. We talked about it among ourselves, and nobody wanted to go except the bride and groom and the groom's mother, but none of us had the courage to say so.

It was so depressing to see the family break down after such a happy and beautiful wedding. It ruined the whole occasion. What do you think about this?

MEMBER OF THE WEDDING

DEAR MEMBER: The gesture of placing the bride's bouquet on the grave of the groom's father was a tender and loving one. But the couple and the mother should have arranged to do so at another time.

To have imposed that sad and private moment on the entire wedding party was inappropriate. And since nobody in the wedding party wanted to go to the cemetery, somebody should have said so.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 54-year-old married man. (I've put in 22 years with this woman.) For the past four or five years, she has been accusing me of running around with other women, which is not true. By the way, my wife is 42, and a good-looking blond. Even though she's put on a few extra pounds, physically she is just as appealing to me now as she was 20 years ago.

To get the point, I have been accused of playing the game so much that two weeks ago I joined the team.

I met an attractive 30-year-old woman who makes me feel like a man of 20. She says she loves me, and I could love her, but the problem is, I still love my wife.

Is it possible to love two women at the same time?

DOUBLE TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Only if you have the time. (You can "love" more than one person—but in a "different" way.) Obviously your conscience is bothering you, so the advice from here is to knock off the extracurricular affair and play it straight.

The Woman's View

NEW YORK (UPI) — They call thoroughbred racing the sport of kings. Look again. It's also the sport of queens.

There are now and have been through recent years many women whose stables produced the champions. Their names are the Whitneys, the Dodges, the Sloanes, the Du Ponts, the Wideners, the Jacobses, the Phippses. Most immediately, everyone remembers Penny Tweedy and her Meadow Farm in Virginia which produced Secretariat and Riva Ridge, the big headliners last year.

This year, another women is in the spotlight with her Forego, a four-year-old gelding whose nine starts of the year (with five stake races won) all have brought a check home to the owner.

The name to watch: Mrs. Edward Harriman Gerry, a Houston-born oil heiress, who laughs when asked if it's all right to say there is another lady who talks to horses.

Mrs. Gerry is much like Mrs. Tweedy in personality and appearance. She's an unassuming, gracious woman, pert and pretty with blue eyes, sunlightened hair and young looks that don't indicate whe's a mother of four grownups and grandmother of three children.

We were talking about whether women have some special quality in judging horseflesh. The late Elizabeth Arden Graham supposedly bought her thoroughbreds strictly on conformation.

"I've never stopped to analyze that," said Martha Gerry. "But I don't think anyone would buy a yearling without the trainer checking it out." Her trainer is Sherrill Ward.

Mrs. Gerry is owner of the Lazy F Ranch, whose Forego is the likely favorite in the second annual Marlboro Cup at Belmont Park, N. Y., on Saturday.

Forego promises to go to the post as the favorite in the mile and one-eighth event with a total purse of $250,000.

The winner will receive $150,000, which would be a tidy sum for the big bay to add to his winnings already totaling better than one half million dollars this year.

Last year's Marlboro was taken by the then three-year-old Secretariat, now retired to pasture and paternity, who added the cup money to his long list of winnings, including racing's Triple Crown of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

Mrs. Gerry said in an interview that her father, William S. Farish, started her in racing. He was president of Humble Oil and Standard Oil of New Jersey and owned a few horses. He had raced on a small scale until his death, at 61, during World War II.

"I thought it'd be good for mother to keep up an interest," said Mrs. Gerry. By the time the Lazy F owner became active she was through Vassar College and married to a partner in Gerry Bros." Inc.' an investment and real estate firm.

At present, she also owns 13 brood mares stabled at Claiborne Farms near Paris, Ky. "I want to keep the operation small," she said.

Mrs. Gerry said her husband takes great interest in her stable, even to helping name the horses.

Forego was named for one dictionary definition of the word -"to go before," she said.

I talked with Mrs. Gerry after she had come from her doctor for a check on minor foot surgery.

"My husband told me it was good that I was the one who pulled up lame; she said. Not the horse."

After shampooing a rug or carpet, place waxed paper under furniture legs to prevent staining if the rug or carpet isn't dry.

Beta Delta Chapter Names New Committees

Seventeen committee chairmen of Beta Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma were introduced by Mrs. Faye Watson, president, at the first meeting Sept. 14, at Lovett Memorial Library.

Ann DiCosimo, first vice president, will be program chairman, and Jessie White will head the finance committee.

Other committee chairmen not previously announced are Essie Mae Walters, constitution; Pearl Spaugh, scholarship; Mary Ann Best, nominations; Oleta Marlin, attendance; Mary Reeve, orientation; Donna Anderon, projects; and Nancy Wilson, music.

Urging Beta Delta members to attend the regional meeting in Dumas Oct. 12, Mrs. Watson stated that Pampa will host the 1975 regional meeting.

If you have to replace your old furnace this year...

If you're thinking about adding Central Air Conditioning...

INVESTIGATE General Electric's Weathertron® "HEAT PUMP" FOR HEATING & COOLING

This one remarkable unit cools your home in summer and heats it in winter! More efficient than ordinary resistance electric heating—provides 1½ to 2½ units of heat for every heat unit of electricity it uses depending on the outdoor temperature. No oil or gas furnace to worry about—needs no piping or flues—only one power source.

The GE Weathertron Heat Pump operates by taking heat from the indoor air in summer and transferring it outdoors . . . from outdoor air in winter and transferring it indoors to maintain comfortable temperatures all year round automatically. It switches from heating to cooling and back again, as the weather dictates. Just set it and forget it!

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED KARPIN

Speaking generally, declarer should gather in the defenders' trumps as quickly as possible. The rationale is obvious; when he fails to pick them up, he runs the risk that one of his winners might be ruffed.

But, at times, the correct play is not to draw trumps immediately. As a case in point, observe today's deal. In it, our South declarer had to "check out" something else before he touched trumps. And what he learned pointed the way to the proper play of the trump suit.

East-West vulnerable. South deals.

Hand an inexperienced player been sitting South, he might well have captured the opening lead with dummy's queen; after which he would have laid down the board's ace of trumps. And once he did that, he would have had to lose two trump tricks to West.

Our actual South declarer won the opening diamond lead in his own hand with the king, and promptly led a spade, finessing dummy's queen, for it was imperative to find out whether or not he had a spade loser. Depending on whether the finesse won or lost, declarer would then know how to tackle the trump suit.

When dummy's queen of spades captured trick two, declarer recognized that he could now afford to lose a trump trick. So he next led the six of trumps off dummy, East discarding a club. The trick was won by South's king, after which the deuce of trumps was played, West's ten forcing the board's ace.

The eight of trumps came next, West's queen winning as South played low. Upon regaining the lead, South's jack of trumps picked up West's remaining trump. Thus the slam contract was fulfilled.

Declarer's play of a low trump off dummy at trick two was a safety - play designed to restrict his trump losers to just one trick if either opponent happened to possess the four outstanding trumps. If it had been East who followed to the initial trump lead, South would have played his king. And if West now failed to follow suit to this first trump lead, a low trump would next have been led to dummy's ace. The board's remaining trump would then be played and East, with the (hypothetical) doubleton Q-10 remaining, could make only his queen.

First Baptist Women

The Mission Study Group met Wednesday, Sept. 18, at 9:30 a.m., in the home of Mrs. Paul Turner, 125 N. Faulkner.

The chairman of the group, Mrs. Alfred Cross, was in charge of the meeting. She reminded members that the mission action project is to help provide can and paper goods for Genesis House. She also urged all members to attend the first Royal Service study of the new church year, Oct. 2, at the church.

Mrs. G.E. Groninger gave the "Call to Prayer" and Miss Clauda Everly led the opening prayer.

"The Bridge of Love" by Grace Nice Fletcher was the mission study book taught by Mrs. George Warren.

The group will meet again on Oct. 16, in the home of Mrs. Cross, 2425 Christine.

Mrs. Ray Miller voiced the closing prayer to dismiss the study.

Members attending were Miss Everly and Mmes. Carl Smith, H.D. Moran, Onis Price, A.N. King, Ed Langford, Groninger, Miller, Warren, Cross and Turner.

JS League Hosts Coffee

The Junior Service League of Pampa entertained prospective members at its annual invitational coffee Tuesday morning at the Pampa Club, Coronado Inn.

Mrs. Rodney DeFever, president, conducted a business meeting in which committee chairmen were introduced. Each chairman explained the purpose and activities of her committee.

The purpose and projects of Junior Service League were explained by Mrs. DeFever. Among the many projects are the support of Genesis House and the White Deer Land Museum. Other community services are also provided by volunteers from League.

Following the business meeting, members and guests enjoyed refreshments.

INHUMANE

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The American Humane Association listed 20 current films as unacceptable for mistreatment of animals, objectionable use of horses and for animals killed during filming.

Pampa Garden Club Slates Fall Flower Show

"Travel With Flowers" will be the theme of the annual fall flower show scheduled by Pampa Garden Club Oct. 12, 13, at M. K. Brown Auditorium in conjunction with the Top O' Texas Fine Arts Festival.

The armchair travels with flowers will take the visitor from the Emerald Isle with all - green foliage arrangements to Hawaii with fruit arrangements. The arrangement division will feature variety, having a table setting class, a miniature class, and a contemporary class. Arrangements will be placed in front of a background in one class and on pedestals in another class.

Arrangement classes open to the public include Among My Souvenirs, a collage assemblage on a plaque made of dried material: Sails in the Sunset, featuring mums for novice arrangers; and It's A Small, Small World, featuring miniature arrangements not exceeding eight inches.

The horticulture division of the show will be open to the public and will feature fall flowers, potted plants, branches from shrubs, terrariums, etc. The potted plants must have been in the the possession of the exhibitor 3 months prior to the show.

Another feature of the show will be a sales table with potted plants, dried arrangements, white elephants, and Texas Stage Garden Clubs, Inc. note stationery.

The Pampa Garden Club is sponsoring a floral arrangement school in September with Mrs. Carlton Freeman as teacher. Mrs. Freeman is a life judge of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. and a former teacher at Amarillo College in floral design. The course will be held at 9:30 a.m. each Monday in September, beginning Sept. 16 in the Flame Room. The first lesson will be a lecture - demonstration and the following two lessons will include a workshop.

Mrs. Joe Curtis, president of Pampa Garden Club, presided over the recent business meeting which preceded the judging of Pampa's yards by Club members for the annual Chamber of Commerce Most Beautiful Yard Contest.

Hostesses for the informal session were Mrs. Aubrey Sprawls and Mrs. Wallace Birkes.

The next meeting will be held at 9:15 a.m., Flame Room, Sept. 23.

Six Home Economists Win National Award

COLLEGE STATION — Six county Extension agents - home economics in Texas are winners of the Distinguished Service Award for 1974 — the highest honor given by the National Association of Extension Home Economists.

The six home economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, will accept the awards during the national association's annual meeting this month in Minneapolis, Minn.

Recipients of the award are Mrs. Fonta B. Conway of Henderson, Mrs. Sydney E. Hall of Canyon and Mrs. Rosa Lee Kalka of Dumas.

Also Mrs. Tressie L. Langston of Corsicana, Mrs. Georgiana A. Thomas of Richmond and Roberta Watters of Abilene.

Speaking for the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists — which nominated the six for the award, Mrs. Frederica Seaman of Angleton, Tex., awards committee chairman, noted, "These home economists demonstrated outstanding abilities as leaders organizers and educators in 4-H and youth as well as adult Extension programs."

"They developed and coordinated educational programs in Texas on health, food and fiber, clothing construction, family resource management, foods and nutrition, housing and home furnishings.

"They reached a combined estimate of more than 12,000 persons in their six Texas counties including Rusk, Randall, Moore, Navarro, Fort Bend and Taylor Counties," she added.

At Wit's End

By ERMA BOMBECK

I visited my friend who lives in a 320 - room - apartment - complex and with a few less people it could have been another Woodstock.

"Boy, I bet you have a lot of friends here," I said.

"Oh yes," she beamed proudly. "There are people around all the time."

"Who's the guy over there who looks like Robert Redford?"

"Oh him, he's the one with the license plates, '2 - M U C H.'"

"Clever, but does he have a name?"

"Who knows. There's the girl I was telling you about who uses a weak bleach. Her laundry looks like a mechanic's handkerchief. And here comes the guy everyone knows. He's a cabbage freak. Cooks it three or four times a week. Someone told him it would make him sexy. I wonder where Helpless Hanna is? She calls the super every time she has to turn on a light switch. Just can't seem to get the hang of it."

"What's her last name? Hanna who?"

"That's not her real name. We just call her that."

"Whose we?"

"A gang I see all the time. A really neat girl who fell asleep in the sauna one day and got her leg caught in the slats and Wide Load, the only guy in the apartment with a station wagon."

"There's a cute girl."

"She's a dingy," said my friend. "Put a hibachi in her closet one night to keep the air conditioner from blowing out the fire. That's the night three engines showed up. I told you about her."

"You surely are a close knit group."

"Just like a big family ... We have some great times. There's the girl who wears an ace bandage under her string bikini for support ... Apple Pie, the girl who has heard from her mother every day for the last two years... the Gift Wrapper, a guy who has such neat looking garbage, you want to auction it off ... and the Moocher, who said he gave up cigarettes three years ago but just gave up buying them."

"This looks like a great place to have an identity crisis," I said shaking my head.

"Hey, my roommate just came home. I want you to meet her. She's great — 15 pounds overweight, cooks, loves to iron, gets along great with my mother, buys neat records and for the last two years has never missed paying her rent on time. By the way," she said, turning to her, "What is your last name?"

JAMAICA VIA LONDON

LONDON (UPI) — When Cynthia Nelson's car broke down on the way to the airport in Kingston, Jamaica, she thumbed a lift the rest of the way.

Her flight to Montego Bay — just 20 minutes away —had already left so she caught what she thought was the next plane.

Sixteen hours and 9,392 miles later, she arrived in London's Heathrow Airport.

"At least three different airline people looked at my ticket before I went on board," complained Miss Nelson, of Missoula, Mont., before boarding a flight back to Jamaica.

ANSWERED PRAYER?

WESTLAKE VILLAGE, Calif. (UPI) — It may have been just plain luck that kept Evel Knieval from splashing into the Snake River.

On the other hand, while the daredevil cyclist was on his way down, he may have had a little help from way up.

Four-year-old David Bacon was asked Sunday to say the closing prayer before the congregation of the Agoura Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

He said simply: "Heavenly Father, thank you for all our blessings, and we pray Evel Knievel doesn't crash into the water. Amen."

DIM FUTURE

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Drs. R.L. Skrabanek and W.K. Upham of the department of sociology and anthropology at Texas A&M University estimate that Texas will have nearly 13 million residents by 1980.

The professors said by that time women will outnumber men by 410,000.

Mrs. Jordan Presents Book Review

The Pampa Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association held their "Hand of Friendship" membership tea Sunday, Sept. 15 in the Hospitality Room of Citizen's Bank.

ABWA's President, Mrs. J.A. King, welcomed members and guests. Mrs. G.F. Richmond introduced Mrs. Rufe Jordan who gave a book review on a very humorous book by Erma Bombeck entitled, "I Lost Everything in the Post - Natal Depression."

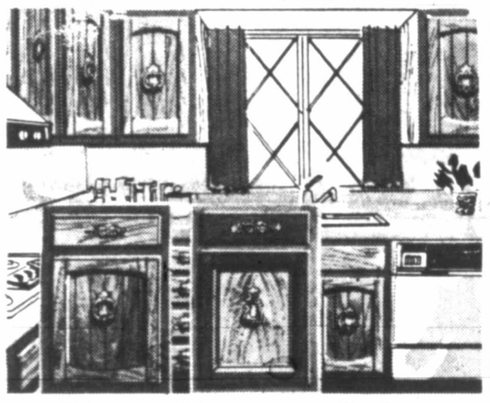

Mrs. Homer McNeil, chapter Woman - of - the - Year for 1974, introduced guests Mmes. Don Hatcher, Clifford Lewis and Forrest Cloyd.

Mrs. McNeil said the chief function of ABWA is to help women in business advance through education, increased competence, and through ungrading of professional skills and business attitudes. She stated that National Headquarters of ABWA is celebrating its 25th birthday this year. The Association was founded in Kansas City, Mo. in 1949 and now has over 74,000 members.

One of its worthy projects is giving scholarships to women students. ABWA chapters, which are located throughout the United States and Puerto Rico, awarded over $450,000 in scholarships from Oct. 1, 1972, to Sept. 30, 1973.

Members present were Mmes. Ernie Willis, Home McNeil, June Mulanax, Doyce Shelton, Shirley Nickols, James Quary, Fred Richmond, Ted Mastin, A.J. King, James Culpepper, Willie West and Norman Dulaney.

Muffler Magic To Make

If you're hooked on the look of mufflers for the fall - winter season, you can really have a fling if you crochet your own. For recognizing that muffler madness has struck the country and that this versatile long scarf will be turning up everywhere, from sweater necklines to bulky coats, the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association has come up with a bevy of goodies that will be sure to keep you in fashion stiches.

Guaranteed to update a wardrobe and at the same time give it your own individual creative stamp, the crochet - it - yourself mufflers vary in length, in width and in pattern detail, the better to be worn with a wide variety of outfits.

Try the light and lacey ones loosely looped about the throat of an Autumn seperates put - together to make it look totally up - to - the - minute. Knot a heavier weight under the collar of a cardigan sweater or over the collar of a heavy winter coat, the latter for warmth as well as chic.

Wear one flung insouciantly backward with its ends flying behind ... or even double one up into a pouffy collar effect and knot to the side. It's the neckline magic of the new season and whatever her age, the Ms. of America will be muffled. You'll be well ahead in this fashion game, too, when you go this route with crochet hook and balls of yarn in either 100 percent wool of 100 percent orlon acrylic since, with very little effort, you'll whip up several in the many colars in which these yarns are available.

Typical of what the association suggests is a two - color lacey striped muffler that has its own matching cloche cap as well as a muffler and cap combo that is offering a double fashion bonus by wrapping the neck and covering the head at the same time.

Instruction for mufflers pictured are available by sending a stamped self - addressed envelope to Miss Muffler, The National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, 15 East 26th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10010. No requests will be honored with out receipt of envelope.

IS IT A muffler or is it a cap? It's a clever combo of the two that you crochet yourself. Worked in an easy - to - do combination of both single and double crochet stitches using sport weight yarn of either 100 percent wool or 100 percent orlon acrylic, it's a marvelous way to keep in fashion step, while simultaneously doing it in your own special creative way. Instructions available by sending stamped self - addressed envelope to Miss Muffler, The National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, 15 East 26th Street, N.Y., N.Y., 10010. No requests will be honored without receipt of envelope.

WONDERFUL CHEESE

An old saying declares "there is a cheese for every taste and every pocketbook." I have to agree, for cheese has been a favorite food for thousands of years. Its history goes back to even before the time of Homer. Caesar's banquet tables featured cheese and cheese was an essential part of the rations of the Roman armies. Armies today rely on cheese as an important part of their rations.

The discovery of cheese goes back to several thousand years before Christ. An Arabian traveler, it is said, put milk into a pouch made of a sheep's stomach. During his journey the combined action of the sun's heat and enzymes in the stomach lining changed the milk into cheese.

Many Varieties

Since that time countless varieties of cheese have been produced, ranging in texture from soft to hard and in flavor from mild to pungent and sharp.

Cheese, of course, is merely a delightful form in which we can preserve the energy and nutrition of milk. It was a "natural" in ancient times and even more in modern times before refrigeration. Cheese probably has saved lives over and over again down through the centuries.

Cheese possesses a wide variety of the nutrients we need for health. After it is digested, it releases its nutrients to us to 1) provide energy (calories), 2) help build, maintain and repair body tissues, and 3) help regulate body processes. All foods contribute, each in their own way, to such needs. But cheese is really quite a basic food.

May I remind you that cheese is also a very versatile food?

You use it from appetizers to dessert with many stops in between. It can be used alone or in combination with bland foods that need sprucing up.

Checking Children's Eyes

NEW YORK (UPI) — If there's a pre-school boy or girl at your house, you should know about amblyopia.

This is the doctor's word for lazy eye. Children need to be checked for that around the age of three.

There are other visual defects that can be spotted at the examination for amblyopia. There may be a tendency to farsightedness, crossed eyes, astigmatism, nearsightedness.

Lazy eye is just that. It is one eye that lets the other eye do all the work. As a result, early in the game, the eye becomes lazy and goes through life letting the other eye do all the seeing.

Correction of this tendency at the preschool stage often is possible. The lazy eye is made to work when the doctor prescribes a patch over the good eye. That way the lazy eye learns to function as it should.

The American Optometric Association says parents can help change a child's fear about a first vision examination. This can be done with the aid of some items found in most homes.

Let your child experiment with bioculars. This is practice for peering into the vision diagnostic equipment in the optometrist's office.

Before going for the examination, parents should not mention the possibility of their child needing glasses. For psychological reasons parents should avoid the mention of blindness.

Other suggestions to help prepare a child for his first vision examination:

—Plan for an appointment early in the day—before the child is tired. Allow ample time for the examination. The youngster will need time to adjust to the new situation and to relax.

—Talk naturally about the visit to the eye doctor's as you would about any other routine experience.

HOMEMAKERS NEWS

By MRS. ELAINE HOUSTON
County Extension Agent

By ELAINE HOUSTON

Recently we received a publication from the USDA entitled "You Call This A Food Bill?" It was an interesting pamphlet describing how the average homemaker spends the grocery money. It might give us all something to think about. How do you spend your grocery money?

Homemakers buy many things at the grocery store besides food items. Out of a 20 dollar bill we spend $6.06 on non - food items. These non - food items include beer, wine, candy, soft drinks, paper goods, soaps and detergents, other household products, pet food, tabacco products, health and beauty aids, prescriptions, housewares, and other general merchandise.

If you are trying to keep your food budget down you might need to cut back on some of the non - food items.

You can cut food costs by — comparing prices. Use the unit pricing to help you find the best buys.

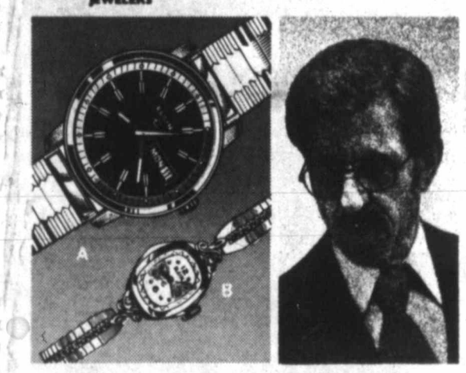

— comparing on a cost - per - serving basis. For example, assume ground beef and chuck roast are $1.12 a pound.

— reading and clipping food ads in your local newspaper so you'll know specials. Take the clipped ads with you when you shop.

No Cure For Pinched Nerves?

By G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a cure for pinched nerves? My lower back and left leg hurt all the time. Sometimes I can hardly walk.

My doctor says it's pinched nerves, and he gives me tablets to help ease the pain. He had me put a board under my mattress which helps some, but if there's a cure I am ready to try anything.

A friend told me there are shots that will cure it. Is that true? Please tell me what to do. — Mrs. M.S.C.

Begin by visualizing what your doctor means by a "pinched nerve." You have an intricate system of nerve trunks which lead to all parts of the body. They carry sensations of pain as well as of other things. Vision, hearing, movement, touch — all of these represent impulses carried by various chains of nerves.

In your case evidently the sciatic nerve is involved — not too uncommon a situation. That nerve emerges from the lower spine and runs down the backs of the legs.

If it is "pinched" — if there is pressure against the nerve, usually somewhere near the place it emerges from the spine — you get a pain sensation which seems to be coming from the lower back or hips or legs.

Where that pressure is being applied is not easy to tell, exactly. If X-rays show bones of the spine (the vertebrae) out of position or distorted in shape at the appropriate spot, it is likely the bones are pressing against the nerve rather than protecting it from pressure as they should be doing.

A "shot" is not going to remove that pressure and hence will not "cure a pinched nerve." But as you found out, a board under your mattress can give you more support, keep the spine more firmly in proper alignment, and hence help to some extent.

Sometimes it will do away with the pain entirely; sometimes it won't. It depends on your particular condition.

Or, of course, a tumor or some other change may be exerting the pressure and hence causing the pain. The nerve reacts to the pressure, no matter what the source.

You ask me what to do. Tell your doctor that, although he has helped you some, you are still pretty miserable and would like some consultation on your problem.

That is, have your doctor refer you to a specialist in this sort of trouble — perhaps an orthopedist, who deals with the bony structures of the body, or a neurologist whose specialty is in dealing with nerve problems.

It may be the precise cause of the pressure can be pinpointed sufficiently so that — for example — a girdle or brace, suitably fitted could force the bones of the spine into alignment removing the pressure from the nerve.

In some intractable cases, surgery to fuse two or more vertebrae into a rigid, firm position is the answer.

That, of course, is not simple surgery, and you would want expert advice first on the prospects of success.

But I advise that you not go seeking "a shot" and not just pop off to another doctor. Have your present doctor guide you to the right specialist or the right hospital for more detailed study of your case.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is vitamin C the same as calcium? — M.S.

No. There's no relationship whatsoever. A vitamin is a chemical combination that helps the body operate properly. Calcium is a mineral which, while necessary for a healthy body, is not a vitamin. Vitamin C and calcium are sometimes given together as in osteoporosis.

Note to Mrs. J.B.: No, glaucoma is not "catching." But it is an eye problem quite apart from cataracts. A person may of course, have both troubles.

Unless properly treated, both glaucoma and cataracts can lead to blindness. If you are afflicted with either of these ailments, or know someone who is, write to Dr. George C. Thosteson, at Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Davis — Only One Of 15 Children

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Counting my parents' the new black 28-year-old TV star Clifton Davis, "I was one of 15 kids.

"But the most I ever lived with," he quickly added, lest anybody get the idea he suffered crowded conditions, "was 10."

"My dad at one time had 11 kids and was makin' $57 a week. We lived on oatmeal and potatoes. He had black pride. He was too proud to go on welfare. Oh, he could have got so rich on welfare with all those kids!"

Clifton Davis remembered all this when the new TV series "That's My Mama" premiered recently, and he engaged a limousine to bring his 70-year-old mother Thelma Davis Langherm, from Suffolk County.

"My mother was flabbergasted," Clifton said the other day the the Russian Tea Room. "She called up and cancelled the limousine and took a cab. I told her, 'Mama, the next time I send a limousine, take it. It's not that expensive. I've worked too hard and so have you, for you not to take a limo."

His father, the Rev. Dr. T.L. Davis of Petersburg, Va., was on local TV the same night enjoying his son's success. "He's a preacher for 30 years and is seeking a church."

But nobody was enjoying the son's success as much as the son.

"I keep shaking my head when I get home and saying, 'Is this ME?' " he said. "Because the black poverty was so vivd. We'd eat a potato and say 'I'm full' and believe it.

"They turned off the electricity on us and we'd buy little candles and sit in the dark and play whist. What we supposed to do? Sit and cry?"

He hopes that the new ABC show in which he plays the young son will reflect some of the life he lived. One scene has his best friend Earl eating piggishly and saying to a girl "Wasn't that a good meal?" Mama snaps, "How would she know? When you're at the table, nobody gets a chance to form an opinion."

Clifton, born in Chicago but brought up in Boston, Worcester and Lynn, Mass., Philadelphia and Pottstown, Pa., and Long Island, was working as a TV engineer at ABC getting $180 a week in 1967 when he quit to become an apprentice — for nothing — in St. John Terrell's Lambertville Music Circus doing everything including cleaning up the ladies' room.

"You're crazy," they all told him.

Eventually he got a chorus spot in Pearl Bailey's "Hello, Dolly" — but left it to go off-Broadway in "How to Steal An Election" because he got one of the three leads.

"Your're crazy," they all told him, including Cab Calloway.

But he was having his development planned ahead for him by his manager, Ronald Machnick. He was really on his way in "Two Gentlemen of Verona" — while having a romance with Melba Moore which didn't end up in marriage. He'd been married once but not long.

"I've lived with five other women longer than I lived with my wife," he says. He and Melba broke up but made a movie together and will probably do another.

"She was was my leading lady which made us friends again. I want to see her at the St. Regis Maisonette. I used to hold her hand a lot. Now I have a lovely girl friend who cares about me and respects me and doesn't want to live with me."

Clifton Davis admits having been, as a youth, a part of organized crime.

"I organized it," he says. "I was 5, one brother was 3, one was 6.

"I told them "We'll go to the newsstand and while I'm talking to the owner, you steal the dirty magazine."

"My dad found the magazine and grabbed me by the ear and made me take it back to the newsstand. The man was so impressed by my confession that he gave me 25 cents worth of candy. The magazine sold for 20 cents. That's when I learned that crime pays."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP...

Mary Lou Williams' new jazz album is being produced by Father Peter O'Brien of the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola ... Producer Joe Levine'll speak at Town Hall Oct. 6. (His sexpot film, "Night Porter," premieres Oct. 2) ... Author Mare Olden's had film offers for his "Black Samurai" paperback series. (He'll write ten books this year for New American Library).

Henny Youngman, whose Dial-a-Gag was a money-maker for the phone company, said at Monaco restaurant he's dickering to telephone a daily comedy routine to some midtown offices "to cheer down the employes" ... Paperback rights to the book "Decades" ("the last word on adultery") went for $250,000 ... "The Fantasticks" reaches 6000 performances Sept. 28.

Second Generation: Nunnally Johnson's son Scott will design the sets for "Call Me Charlie." Richard Adler's son Chris will direct "Old Times" ... George Segal will follow "The Black Bird" — a "Maltese Falcon" spoof — with "E.T.A.," as a Canadian cop.

I'D RATHER BE LIGHT

Today's Worst Pun: From Shelby Friedman: "The new TV season is full of police shows. Truly, the cop runneth over."

Wish I'd Said That: The object of political primaries is to choose a promiser who'll out-promise the promises of the other party's promiser.

Remembered Quote: "The reason a mother gets so much done in a day is that her children give her so much to do." — Dr. O.A. Battista.

Earl's Pearls: Times are tough, writes John Markus: "I used to keep all my cash in a money belt. Now it all fits behind the buckle."

John Miller Writes from Mexico City that there are so many Volkswagons on the street that they're called "Bellybuttons," because "everybody has one."

MINISTER'S NAMESAKE

KIEL, Germany (UPI) — A cow gave birth to a calf just when Defense Minister Georg Leber walked past a farmstead during a recent NATO military exercise.

The farmer, recognizing Leber, named the newly born calf "Schorsch", the Hesse dialect expression for Leber's first name, Georg.

When Leber heard of the calf's name, he sent the farmer a bottle of liquor and a congratulatory letter.

"Well, you'll just have to spot your receivers downfield like all the other quarterbacks do!"

Defense Shines, Harvesters Ranger By Perryton

PERRYTON — Elusive halfback Rick Leverich gained 107 yards on 11 carries, all in the first half, and scored three touchdowns to lead the Pampa Harvesters to their third win of the season without a loss, 33-0 over the Perryton Rangers Friday night.

Only Pampa and Palo Duro, which surprised Clovis, N.M., 27-6 Friday, are unbeaten among 3-AAAA teams. In other games Friday, Amarillo High edged Lubbock, 15-10; Tascosa stopped Dumas, 25-13, and Hereford nipped Borger, 16-15. Canyon upset Caprock, 17-14, Thursday.

Leverich was shut off (he didn't carry the ball) in the second half, but not before the 175-pound senior scored three times in the first two quarters, including a 62-yard scamper with 2:01 left in the half to give Pampa a 27-0 lead.

The Harvester halfback scored on Pampa's second series of the game by capping a 56-yard drive with a four - yard burst around the right end. Leverich also had the big gainer in the drive, a 22-yard run around the right side on the second play.

Pampa's second touchdown of the half was on a 26-yard pass from Chuck Quarles to alternate end Kory Gamblin, who caught two passes for a total of 50 yards in the contest.

The score came with 1:10 left in the first quarter and put Pampa ahead, 12-0. Leverich went around right end again for the conversion.

A 26-yard pass from Quarles to Leverich (who else?) with 4:35 left in the half put Pampa ahead 20-0. Joe Couts, who missed on his first try stretched the lead to 21 with the PAT.

Perryton threatened right before the half, driving to the Pampa 22, but David Edwards interception of a Richard Bates pass killed the drive.

The Harvesters' final TD happened on a 10-yard ramble by Quarles, who topped a four - play, 45-yard march, which included a 17-yard run by Tim Thornburg and a 15-yarder by David Smith. A fumbled snap on the extra - point try kept the score at 33-0.

Perryton, using a hurry-up offense which sometimes didn't even allow time to move the chains so the ball could be properly placed, drove to Pampa's 20 early in the fourth quarter.

Johnny Agan thwarted the drive with an interception on the two and a 27-yard runback. It was Agan's first of two thefts as he stopped Perryton's next series with another. Edwards stole his second pass on Perryton's following series.

The Harvester defense, besides the four interceptions, was again awesome, holding the Rangers to only eight first downs, 124 rushing yards one one completed pass in 13 attempts. The defense has not allowed a point yet, the only score against Pampa was a 100-yard punt return by Dave Charest of Hereford.

Pampa outgained Perryton, 344-139, in total offense, 213-124 on the ground and 131-15 passing. Particularly impressive was Pampa's offensive balance, four players rushed for at least 27 yards and three receivers had a good night. Baker caught two passes, Leverich one and Tim Thornburg one for 55 yards.

Thornburg's reception on a flare - out from Aga, the substitute quarterback, in the fourth quarter.

Quarles was three of seven for 76 yards passing while Agan was one of two. The two Perryton quarterbacks, Bates and Russ Regan, alternated series throughout the game and only completed one pass between them.

Pampa's rushers included Thornburg, 13 attempts for 46 yards; Smith, 15 for 37, and Quarles, 8 for 27.

The Rangers' Chuck Bohner gained more yards than any other back against Pampa thus far, with 91 yards on 16 carries.

The Harvesters are open Friday and resume action against Canyon at 7:30 p.m. Oct 4. in Pampa.

Badgers Shuck Huskers 21-20 In Shocking Upset

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Gregg Bohlig connected on a 77-yard scoring pass to Jeff Mack with less than four minutes remaining Saturday to give Wisconsin a shocking 21-20 victory over fourth-ranked Nebraska.

The touchdown pass capped a brilliant afternoon for Bohlig, who completed 14 of 21 passes for 242 yards and two touchdowns to top off one of the biggest upsets at Camp Randall Stadium in years.

Nebraska, which entered the game a 15-point favorite had to play most of the game without star quarterback Dave Humm, who was injured early in the first quarter.

But less than a minute before Bohlig's bomb, the Huskers took a 20-14 lead on Mike Coyle's 22-yard field goal with 4:31 left.

Two downs later, Bohlig connected with Mack, who got behind the Nebraska secondary and raced to the end zone untouched.

The Cornhuskers, who opened their season last Saturday by crushing Oregon 61-7, never trailed until the final period.

They jumped off to a 7-0 lead on Don Westbrook's 22-yard dash in the first quarter, but Wisconsin, 2-0, came back in the second quarter on a nineyard touchdown pass from Bohlig to tight end Ron Egloff, tying the score at 7-7.

John O'Leary's six-yard touchdown run after a Wisconsin fumble gave the Cornhuskers a 14-7 halftime lead. They went ahead at 17-7 on Coyle's 30-yard field goal late in the third period.

Wisconsin, with Bohlig hitting Mack consistently, traveled 73 yards in nine plays with Billy Marek going in from the one with 44 seconds gone in the final period to cut Nebraska's lead to 17-14.

Humm, considered a Heisman Trophy candidate, left the game with a bruised hip after guiding Nebraska to their first score. He was replaced by sophomore Earl Everett, who threw the ball only seven times and completed three for 27 yards.

Nebraska blew a chance for a touchdown late in the fourth quarter after moving all the way to the Wisconsin two. The Badger defense stiffened and allowed the Cornhuskers only that final field goal.

O'Leary led Nebraska's crunching ground game with 86 yards and Tony Davis added 76. Marek was Wisconsin's top ground threat with 45 yards.

IN RAINSTORM

Navy Shatters Penn State 7-6

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Unbeaten Navy, recovering five fumbles in its own territory, shocked seventh ranked Penn State 7-6 Saturday on a four-yard touchdown pass from fullback Bob Jackson to flanker Robin Ameen in a second period rainstorm.

Penn State battled back to score on a five-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Shuman to flanker Jerry Jeram with 4:41 left in the game but Shuman's pass for the two-point conversion failed.

The Nittany Lions missed another chance at victory when Chris Bahr missed a 43-yard field goal with 56 seconds remaining. It was Bahr's fourth miss of the day, following failures earlier from 36, 38 and 29 yards.

The loss shattered Penn State's 13-game winning streak and 21-game string of home victories. It was the first victory by an Eastern opponent over Penn State since 1970 and the first time that Navy beat the Lions since 1967.

Navy recovered two of the five fumbles within the 15-yard line in the second half, twice stopping almost certain Penn State scoring drives.

Playing in a fierce wind and rainstorm in the first half, Navy marched 80 yards on 12 plays for its touchdown with quarterback Phil Poirier passing for 35 yards in the drive.

With third-and-goal on the Penn State four, Poirier pitched to Jackson to start what looked like a sweep around right end, Jackson then lobbed a touchdown pass to Ameen with 54 seconds before intermission. Sophomore Steve Dykes kicked the winning conversion.

About a third of the 42,000 fans in Beaver Stadium missed the Navy touchdown however, because the rain and wind had driven them to shelter.

Despite the loss, final statistics showed Penn State overpowered Navy with 267 yards rushing and 108 yards passing for 375 total yards.

Brew 6, Tigers 2

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Pedro Garcia's two run double in the seventh inning broke a 22 tie and gave the Milwaukee Brewers and Jim Slaton a 6-2 win over the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

Al Kaline singled in the fourth inning for his 2,998th major league hit. The score was tied 2-2 when Gorman Tomas singled and stole second and Charlie Moore walked. With two outs, Garcia cracked a double off the left field wall to score Thomas and Moore with the winning runs.

13TH STRAIGHT

Notre Dame Continues Winning Streak Series

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Tom Clements passed for 182 yards and ran 44 yards to set up a touchdown Saturday as No. 2 ranked Notre Dame divided the points among eight players in a 49-3 rout of Northwestern.

It was Notre Dame's 13th straight win and second this season, giving the Irish the longest current winning streak among the major universities. Penn State, which had the longest streak with Miami of Ohio at 13 previously, lost and Miami was tied.

The Irish, despite losing the ball four times on fumbles and twice on interceptions, never were in trouble against the Wildcats, who lost for the second straight Saturday.

Notre Dame's Russ Kornman plunged two yards for the first Irish score, winding up a 76-yard drive, and Wayne Bullock drove over from the one for the second tally, finishing off a 69-yard parade.

Ron Goodman ran 62 yards for a score, reserve quarterback Frank Allocco went one for a touchdown. Reserve running backs Mark McLane and Terry Eurick got the other touchdowns, McLane on an 11-yard run and Eurick on a two-yard try.

The seventh Irish score was by tight end Robin Weber, who caught a 14-yard scoring pass from Clements. The last Notre Dame point maker was place kicker Dave Reeve, who booted seven straight conversions.

Northwestern's only score was a 27-yard field goal by Tony Blazevich.

Notre Dame's defense was equally as impressive as its offense. In the first half, the Wildcat ball carriers could run for only one yard.

NMSU Drops Buffaloes 41-0

CANYON, Tex. (UPI) — Tailback Jim Germany scored three touchdowns and quarterback Bill Dowerman threw two more as New Mexico State 41-0 in a Missouri Valley Conference clash Saturday night.

Germany raced for touchdowns of 48, 41 and 3 yards as he netted 143 yards on 14 carries — all but a 4 yard run in the first half.

Bowerman threw a 37-yard aerial to end Duriel Harris on the final play of the first half, and then hit flanker Roy Cooksey on a 42-yard scoring pass in the third period.

The final Aggie touchdown came on a 51-yard pass from alternate quarterback Doug Baker to Harris lae in the fourth quarter.

Bowerman finished with four completions in seven passes for 122 yards before being relieved in the third quarter. Baker came in and threw another scoring bomb in the final period.

West Texas State could get nothing going and its defense held only through the first period. Three times the Buffaloes crossed into Aggie territory, only to fumble the ball and their chances away.

The Buffs actually turned the ball over on fumbles four times and had four passes intercepted by the alert New Mexico State defense.

The win boosted New Mexico State's MVC record to 2-0 and the Aggie season mark to 3-0. West Texas is now 1-1 for the season and in the conference.

With less than four minutes left in the game, West Texas appeared on the offensive move and crossed midfield before a fourth down at the Aggie 35 yardline failed to pick up needed first down yardage. The Buffs had the ball for one more offensive possession, but were again stalled in their own end of the field.

Germany injured his left ankle early in the third quarter, and watched the rest of the game from the bench, but still was the top rusher of the game.

Pitt Panthers Rip Off Jackets 27-17

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sophomore Tony Dorsett returned Saturday to his sensational play of last season, rushing for 162 yards and two touchdowns to lead the 16th ranked Pitt Panthers to a 27-17 victory over Georgia Tech.

Dorsett, who gained only 81 yards last week against Florida State, was virtually unstoppable Saturday. He raced 20 yards for Pitt's first touchdown in the opening minute of the second period, plunged across from a yard out in the opening seconds of the final period, and then furnished most of the yardage when the Panthers drove to the clinching touchdown in the closing minutes of the game.

Pittsburgh scored its first touchdown with only 4:21 gone on a one-yard sneak by quarterback Bill Daniels after Dennis Moorhead had returned a punt 70 yards.

Georgia Tech tied the score 77 with 5:21 left in the first period when Pat Moriarty capped a 77-yard drive with a seven-yard run.

Dorsett put the Panthers ahead 13-7 on the third play of the second period with his 20-yard run and that's where it stood at halftime, although each team missed a field goal attempt.

Georgia Tech took the lead 5:56 into the third period when sophomore David Sims, who rushed for 119 yards, scored from the one to cap a 59-yard drive. Danny Smith's conversion gave the Yellow Jackets a 14-13 lead at that point.

The Panthers first drove to the Tech 25 only to be turned back by a pass interception by linebacker Joe Harris, and then marched 69 yards with Dorsett putting Pitt back in front with his second touchdown on the first play of the final period.

Georgia Tech had one final scoring opportunity, driving to the Pitt 16, but settled for a 33yard field goal by Smith that still left the Jackets trailing 20-17 with 9:31 left in the game.

The Panthers took the suspense out of the contest when they started a 67-yard drive with 6:14 left to play and capped it four minutes later with a 10-yard pass from Daniels to Bruce Murphy for the final touchdown on the game.

Game Rescheduled

MONTREAL (UPI) — The scheduled game between the Philadelphia Phillies and Montreal Expos was postponed Saturday due to rain.

The game was rescheduled as part of a doubleheader for Sunday.

Thomas Gets Starting Spot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Troublesome running back Duane Thomas will start Sunday for the Washington Redskins against the St. Louis Cardinals in place of the ailing Larry Brown, Coach George Allen said Saturday.

But starting against the Cardinals will apparently do little to help Thomas regain a job in the No. 1 Redskin backfield with Brown in place of Larry Smith.

Smith, acquired by Allen this year in a trade with Los Angeles, took the starting job after Thomas engaged in an altercation with Backfield Coach Charle Waller.

FRIDAY'S GAMES

Orioles Closing Door On Boston's Hopes

United Press International

The season has been a struggle for the Baltimore Orioles, and no one has better reflected the fate of the ball club than Boog Powell.

Powell was an expendable member of the Orioles when he showed up last spring at training camp. His power, his batting average and his RBI production had fallen off steadily since his MVP season of 1970.

The only thing that kept going up was Powell's weight. Baltimore made no secret of the fact it was looking for a trade.

The only trouble was that no one was nibbling, perhaps influenced by Powell's big salary, and so he stayed in Baltimore.

Right now, they're pretty glad he did because Friday night his home run beat Boston, 2-1, to keep the Orioles in a share of the lead in the American Leggue East.

"It's been a struggle, a different season for us," Powell said.

Don Baylor, who had three hits, homered in the second inning and Powell snapped a 1-1 tie when he drilled a Dick Drago pitch far over the leftfield screen in the seventh. Boston scored in the fourth on singles by Carl Yastrzemski and Dwight Evans, a sacrifice by Bob Montgomery and a sacrifice fly by Fred Lynn.

Baltimore's victory at Boston dropped fading the Red Sox four games behind the co-leaders and just about ended the hopes of Boston, the division leader most of the season.

It was the 19th loss in 26 games for Boston, a tailspin that corresponds with Baltimore's 19-5 rush to the top.

The Yankees rebounded from their three losses to Baltimore earlier this week by sweeping a doubleheader from Cleveland, 5-4 and 3-0, winning the second game behind the six-hit pitching of Larry Gura.

The Yankees won their first game against Cleveland in the bottom of the ninth when Elliott Maddox singled with two out and Bobby Murcer followed with a run-scoring triple to snap a 4-4 tie and hand Gaylord Perry his 10th loss in his last 15 decisions.

In the second game, the Yankees scored twice in the fourth on a double by Maddox, a hit batsman, a RBI single by Lou Piniella and a RBI double by Chris Chambliss. A double by Maddox, an infield out and a sacrifice fly by Piniella produced the final run in the sixth.

Oakland's lead in the West was cut to four games when the A's lost to Chicago, 2-0, while Minnesota beat California, 3-2, and Detroit defeated Milwaukee, 8-5. (Al Kaline was hitless and reamined at 2,997) in games involving noncontenders. The Kansas City-Texas game was rained out.

National League scores were Pittsburgh 4 New York 3.St. Louis 5 Chicago 2, Los Angeles 2 San Diego 1, San Francisco 4 Cincinnati 3, Philadelphia 10 Montreal 2, and Atlanta 1 Houston 0.

SD Drops Another To Dodgers As LA Increases Lead Friday

United Press International

If the San Diego Padres can't figure out a way to beat the Los Angeles Dodgers pretty quick, then the Cincinnati Reds' cause is hopeles.

The Dodgers made it 16 victories in a row over the Padres Friday night by beating them, 2-1, behind the six-hit pitching of Andy Messersmith. The victory enabled Los Angeles to increase its lead to 3½ games over the Reds in the National League West.

The Reds, gunning for a third straight division title, were beaten by the San Francisco Giants, 4-3.

The Dodgers have 11 games remaining on the schedule, while the Reds have 10. But based on their respective records against the opposition, Los Angeles appears to have the advantage.

Five of Los Angeles' remaining games will be against the Padres, who have yet to beat the Dodgers in 13 tries this season and haven't beaten Los Angeles since Sept. 9 of last year. Los Angeles also has three games left with Atlanta and three with Houston. The Dodgers have had some trouble with the Braves, holding only an 8-7 advantage, but are 11-4 against the Astros.

Cincinnati, meanwhile, must play five games against the Giants plus three with Houston and two with Atlanta. The eds are 8-5 over the Giants, 11-4 over the Astros and 11-5 over the Braves.

Steve Yeager's fifth inning homer snapped a 1-1 tie and enabled the Dodgers to defeat the Padres Friday night.

Booker Dumps Warriors, 26-6

By KARREN McNAIR

MIAMI — The Booker Kiowas pushed across their first touchdown on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Marcus Lemon to Clyde Hummer in the first quarter and Booker went on to beat Miami, 26-6, Friday night at Miami.

Mark Mercer blocked the field-goal attempt for the extra point.

Booker's next score was made in the second quarter by Richard Huff with a 15-yard end around. Booker went to make it 20-0 when Mike Lee made a 20-yard run for a touchdown and the pass for extra points was complete.

Booker's final touchdown was on a five-yard run by Kelly Guffy in the last quarter.

Miami finally scored in the fourth quarter with a one-yard run by Kirk Flowers. The extra points were no good.

Individual rushers for Miami were Flowers with 96 net yards, Don Ed Howard with 81, Ken Jenkins, 18 and Curtis Cowan, 12.

Booker's individual rushers were Lemon, 36 yards; Guffy, 69; Dean McQuitty, 37; Lee, 37, Robert Laffitte, 55; Bradley Mills, 8, and Steve Pennington, 6.

Catching passes for Miami was Jenkins, Greg Haynes, Flowers and Howard. They combined for 49 yards. Receivers for Booker were Huff and Hummer.

Injured players for Miami who didn't play were Wayne Bright, who broke his hand in the game with Balko last week; Curtis Broaddus, who had a back injury; Ronnie Childress (knee injury), and Duayne Childress (knee).

The Miami Warriors will invade the Lefors field in their next game.

SPURRIER OUT

Green QB's Head 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — First the San Francisco 49ers lost John Brodie, and then Steve Spurrier.

Now they are down to Joe Reed as their No. 1 quarterback and a pair of pea-green signal callers to back him up, belying Coach Dick Nolan's forecasts for a better season in 1974 than in 1973.

The 49ers won three straight NFC West titles until the Los Angeles Rams came along last year to dethrone them, when the 49ers won only five of 14 games and finished ahead of only New Orleans.

Third place in the NFC West seems like the right spot for them again, unless Los Angeles and Atlanta both stumble.

"We'll be a better football team in many ways," Nolan says. "For one, we'll have better running than a year ago. For another, I think Reed has a chance to develop into a fine pro quarterback. I'm not as worried about that position as most people are. Reed will be all right."

Brodie quit at the end of the 1973 campaign, winding up a fine 17-year career. Spurrier, who had been waiting in the wings for seven years, finally got the top job but in San Francisco's sixth and final exhibiton game, he suffered a shoulder separation and is out for the bulk of the season.

Reed stands 6-1 and weighs 195 pounds. Some think he would have replaced Spurrier anyway along about the third or fourth game of the season, simply because they feel he throws better and is not afraid to run if he has to save a play.

"I didn't want to get it this way," he said, referring to Spurrier's injury, "but now that I have the job I'm going out to keep it."

Reed played a good part of last season while Nolan was trying to sort out his quarterbacks, getting into action against such tough defensive clubs as Washington and Los Angeles.

Nolan's general optimism is based on the fact he will field veterans in all the offensive and defensive line positions.

"Football games are won and lost in the pits," he says.

Panhandle Knocks White Deer Bucks

PANHANDLE — White Deer had a touchdown pass called back because of a holding penalty late in the fourth quarter as Panhandle narrowly escaped with a 13-6 victory over the Bucks Friday night here.

With Panhandle leading, 13-6, Dan Cathey passed to Mark Line for an apparent touchdown with four minutes left in the game. However, the penalty nullified the play. White Deer drove to the 15 after that, and a pass on fourth down was incomplete as Panhandle defeated the rival Bucks.

Kirby Daniels put Panhandle on the scoreboard first with a 45-yard run up the middle in the opening quarter. The extra point try failed. Panhandle added another touchdown in the fourth quarter with a six-yard run by David Rowland, who took a pitch around left end and scored early in the period. The PAT try was successful this time.

The Bucks, who are now 1-2 for the season, scored on the ensuing kickoff as Terry Sandlin ran it back 90 yards for a touchdown.

Leading rusher for White Deer was Denny Moss, who carried 80 yards on 13 carries. He was followed by Billy Lynch, 8-75; Sandlin, 4-17; Danny Joe Stephenson, 3-17; Tommy May, 1-9, and Cathey, 3-5.

White Deer hosts Lefors at 8 p.m. Friday in a homecoming contest.

Denver Hosts Steelers Today

United Press International

It could be jinx time again today for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers have been overwhelming this season, winning all six preseason game and clobbering Baltimore, 30-0, in their regular season opener last week.

But today they are in Denver to meet a Bronco club that has meant nothing but problems in the past.

The Steelers and Broncos have met three times and Denver has won all three. Pittsburgh has lost only three games while playing in Three Rivers Stadium and two of those have been to Denver. And last year's loss, the only home defeat suffered by the Steelers, knocked them out of the American Conference Central Division championship, won by Cincinnati.

The Broncos battled Los Angeles, a preseason Super Bowl choice by many, all the way last week in a 17-10 loss and appear solid for the Pittsburgh invasion. The only question marks were defensive tackle Paul Smith and wide receiver Haven Moses, both nursing calf injuries. They are listed as probables for Sunday.

Denver Coach John Ralston expects a tough game.

"If anything," Ralston said, "Pittsburgh will be even tougher than the Rams, but you can be assured, we'll be better. Every player on our team will just have to reach back for a little extra, because the Steelers really have it going and aren't particularly happy with us anyway."

In other NFL games Sunday, St. Louis is at Washington, Miami at Buffalo, Kansas City at Oakland, New Orleans at Los Angeles, Minnesota at Detroit, New England at the New York Giants, San Diego at Cincinnati, San Francisco at Atlanta, the New York Jets at Chicago, Houston at Cleveland and Green Bay at Baltimore. Dallas is at Philadelphia Monday night.

Michigan State Rips Syracuse

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Sophomore tailback Rich Baes ran for two touchdowns and quarterback Charlie Baggett and split end Mike Jones teamed up for another Saturday to give Michigan State a 19-0 victory over Syracuse.

Baes, alternating at tailback with sophomore Leon Williams, scored his first touchdown early in the fourth quarter on a 5-yard pitchout from Battett.

He scored another 10 minutes later on an up-the-middle run from the two yard line.

Baggett, who never had thrown a touchdown pass in his collegiate career until last week, opened the Spartan scoring in the second quarter with a 30-yard scoring toss to Jones.

It was the Spartans' second consecutive victory. Syracuse now is 1-2.

The rather sloppy game was marred by numerous fumbles and penalties. Michigan State blew one touchdown in the fourth quarter when freshman fullback Jim Early, a 250-pounder from Dayton, Ohio, fumbled on the Syracuse two yard line and let the ball roll into the end zone for a touchback.

Baggett and Williams also fumbled but Michigan State recovered in each case.

Despite the miscues, Baggett kept the Spartan offense under exceptional control, mastering the pitch out and quarterback option run to keep the Syracuse defense off balance. Syracuse never seriously threatened to score.

Tolbert Blames Mistakes, No Concentration

LEFORS — The Lefors Pirates dropped to 1-2 for the season Friday night here with a 20-6 loss to surprising Gruver and Lefors head coach Leonard Tolbert blames the mediocre record on mistakes and lack of concentration.

"We just haven't started playing football as a whole team" said Tolbert, whose Pirates are rated highly in District 1-B. "We are not concentrating on our assignments and we are making very costly mistakes."

Tolbert added, "We'll keep trying." Lefors plays at White Deer Friday.

Rushing for yardage against Gruver were Greg Beck, 12 for 67; Barney Sawer, 13 for 47; Jim Hix, 3-21; Rick Jennings, 4-11, and Phil White, 2-5.

For Gruver: Jim Curlee, 18-60; Greg Carrol, 14-55; Monte Cluck, 8-30; and Brad Hart, 13-20.

Stan Britten Nets 273 Yards As Groom Thrashes McLean

McLEAN — Stan Britten was most of Groom's offense Friday night here as the senior running back galloped for 253 yards on 13 carries and scored four touchdowns to carry the exploxive Groom Tigers to a 34-0 victory over winless McLean Friday night.

Groom racked up 401 total yards, including 352 on the ground, to up its season record to 2-0-1. McLean dropped to 0-3 with the loss.

Britten scored on the first play from scrimmage for either team on a 70-yard ramble off left tackle with only 15 seconds gone in the opening period. Dale Major booted the extra point.

After McLean punted on its first series, Britten scored on a three-yard dive with 9:31 left in the quarter. Again Major kicked the extra punted.

After another punt, Groom added another touchdown. Britten went off right tackle for a 30-yard scoreand Major made it 21-0 with 8:25 showing on the the first quarter clock.

Tim Britten scored at 5:26 in the second stanza on a 15-yard romp around left end. Major's boot moved the score to 28-0.

Stan Britten scored the game's last touchdown on a 90-yard run off right tackle with 2:47 left in the third quarter. The kick was wide this time.

McLean did have its bright moments defensively as freshman Curtis Simpson intercepted two passes.

Rushing for Groom were Stan Britten, Tim Britten, 54 yards on six rushes; Chris Britten, 51 yards on eight tries; Thomas Reed, 14 yards on three carries and Cliff Briteen, eight yards on five rushes.

McLean's leading rusher was Simpson with 32 yards on 11 carries. He was followed by Ronnie Heasley, nine yards on six attempts; Gary Danner, seven yards on five attempts, and Eddie Estes, two yards on seven carries.

McLean is open this week while Groom is at Wheeler.

Long Passes Give Wildcats 1st Win

CANADIAN — Bobby Fite caught five passes for 157 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Canadian Wildcats to their first win of the season, 16-6 over the Wheeler Mustangs Friday night here.

Canadian, which had lost to Phillips and Spearman, both AA, piled up 345 yards on the ground for the win against Wheeler, which fell to 1-1 with the loss.

The Lonnie Hines to Bobby Fite combination resulted in a 37-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter. The play capped a nine-play, 86-yard march, which included a 36-yard bomb from Hines to Fite. Fite also caught the pass for the conversion.

Wheeler bounced back late in the half as tailback Kent Ware scored on a one-yard plunge. Ware also had the big play in the series, a seven-yard run.

Ahead 8-6, Hines hit Fite with a bomb and the Wildcat end outraced everyone for a 73-yard touchdown. Hines then passed to tight end Jeff Francis for the extras.

Wheeler's biggest threat came late in the third quarter as the Mustangs drove to the nine before fumbling.

Rushers for Canadian were Marty Carr, 14 carries for 81 yards; Hines, 14 for 50; Doug Bessire, 7 for 29; Steve Schafer, 10 for 21, and Kevin Wilson, 1 for 4.

Wheeler's rushers were Ware, 26 attempts for 113 yards; quarterback Don Brown, 6-29; Terry Tidwell, 4-15; David Massick, 5-9; and Dale Helton, 3-minus one.

Canadian visits Panhandle and Wheeler travels to Groom in Friday night games.

Mustangs Edge Gobblers, 28-25

DALLAS (UPI) — Fleet Ricky Wesson rallied fumbleprone Southern Methodist by directing three straight touchdown drives Saturday and then dashed 77 yards for a fourth period score that wrapped up a 28-25 decision over Virginia Tech.

The Mustangs, who fumbled nine times but lost only two of them, tossed away two excellent scoring chances in the first period and found themselves trailing the Goblers by a touchdown midway through the second quarter.

But Wesson, whose fumble at the Virginia Tech's two cost SMU a score early in the game, guided the Mustangs on two quck scoring drives at the end of the first half and led them on an 80-yard march to start the second half.

Wesson hit tight end Oscar Roan with a 35-yard pass for the Ponies' tyng score and put SMU in front with a one-yard keeper with only 25 seconds remaining in the first half.

Rex Garner scored on a run of four yards for SMU at the end of the opening drive of the third period and after Virginia Tech had closed the gap from 21-7 to 21-17, Wesson kept the ball on the option play, dashed down the sidelines and eluded two tacklers to go 77 yards and clinch the Mustangs' second straight win of the year.

Virginia Tech is winless in two starts.

The Goblers scored first on a seven-yard run by fullback Greg Toal in the first period and after falling behind by 14 points, Tech drew close on a two-yard touchdown run by quarterback Bruces Arians and a 22-yard field goal from Wayne Lattimer.

Arians tacked on another Gobbler touchdown in the final two minutes of the game on a 10-yard run.

Wesson, who carried 17 times for 108 yards, was one of three quarterbacks SMU used. Wesson was removed from the game on obvious passing downs, but it was Wesson's passing that helped the Mustangs' first half rally.

After SMU had driven 53 yards on the ground, Wesson caught tthe Gobler defense asleep with his scoring pass to Roan and on the third scoring drive Wesson hit Roan again behind the defense for 32 yards to set up Garner's touchdown run.

Wolverines Rip Buffs

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Quarterback Dennis Franklin recovered a teammate's fumble in the end zone for one touchdown and passed for another and David Brown ran back a punt a school-record 88 yards Saturday in a 31-0 victory for fifth-ranked Michigan over Colorado.

Franklin, returning to the Wolverine lineup after missing the season's opener last week because of a virus, hit on 11 of 16 passes for 115 yards and picked up another 68 yards on the ground.

Franklin tossed a five-yard scoring strike to tight end Greg Denboer in the fourth quarter to close out the scoring.

Griffin Boys Cut Loose As OSU Shells Beavers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — All-America Archie Griffin rushed for 134 yards and one touchdown and his brother Ray, a freshman, scored two more touchdowns Saturday to lead top-ranked Ohio State to a 51-10 victory over winless Oregon State.

The Buckeyes, despite three first half fumbles, led 23-3 at intermission on touchdowns by Pete Johnson, Archie Griffin and Champ Henson and a 32-yard field goal by Tom Klaban. The Beavers' only score in the first 30 minutes was on a 40yard field goal by Rick Kulaas.

Ohio State put the game out of reach early in the third period when junior college transfer Lenny Willis ran the second half kickoff back 97 yards for a touchdown and two and-a-half minutes later quarterback Cornelius Greene, sprung loose by a devastating block by Archie Griffin, raced 36 yards for a score.

Ray Griffin, a 5-9, 175-pounder, wrapped up the Buckeye scoring with touchdown runs of nine and 12 yards in the final quarter.

The only touchdown for the Beavers, now 0-3, came late in the final quarter when reserve quarterback Steve Gervais engineered a 67-yard drive, hitting tailback Elvin Momon with a 10-yard pass.

It didn't take the Buckeyes long to score before the capacity crowd of 86,383 as freshman linebacker Aaron Brown jarred the ball loose from Leon McKenzie on the opening kickoff and it was recovered by Ohio State's Tom Skladany on the Beaver 21. Four plays later Johnson, the Buckeyes' 250-pound sophomore fullback, rambled over from the one.

A fumbled punt by the Buckeyes' Neal Colzie on the Ohio 25 gave Oregon State an early scoring opportunity, but the Beavers had to settle for a 30-yard field goal attempt by Kulaas which was wide to the right.

The Buckeyes made it 13-0 with a little over three minutes left in the first period with an 80-yard drive in 11 plays. Archie Griffin, who carried the ball only 16 times for his 134 yards, accounted for 48 yards of the drive, including the final 19.

Henson, the nation's leading scorer two years ago as a sophomore, capped a 56-yard drive in nine plays, set up by a pass interception by Steve Luke, with a one-yard plunge.

Ohio State rushed for 386 yards in racking up its second win without a loss.

Coach Knox Worried About Archie As LA Hosts New Orleans Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — On paper, the Los Angeles Rams figure to be a sure thing in their home opener against the New Orleans Saints Sunday.

But Chuck Knox, who never looks past his next game, doesn't see it that way. He's worried about Archie Manning, the Saints' scrambling fourth-year quarterback.

"What New Orleans has is a halfback playing quarterback as far as carrying the ll is concerned," said Knox.

"What makes him especially dangerous is that you could have him in a situation like third down and eight yards to go, have good containment and yet he's such a good athlete that he's able to scramble for the first down.

"The Manning types tire opposing linemen. In our playoff loss to Dallas last year, the first three times the Cowboys (quarterback Roger Staubach) got the ball, they made first downs on scramble plays."

The oddsmakers think the Rams' defense, the best in the NFL in 1973, will stop Manning, though. They've made the Rams three-touchdown favorites to make their record 2-0.

In their season inaugural at Denver last weekend, the defending NFC West champions scored a 17-10 victory.

Meanwhile, the Saints bowed at home 17-13 to San Francisco. The 49ers trailed 13-10 with 1:40 left when punter Donnie Gibbs fumbled a perfect snap and had his kick blocked, setting up the winning touchdown.

Against Denver, the Rams were slightly less than awesome on offense. After compiling a 5-1 preseason record, they gained only 272 total yards against the Broncos and 144 of the yards were on the ground.

Miami Wallops Cougars, 20-3

HOUSTON (UPI) — Tailbacks Woody Thompson and Don Martin rambled for short touchdowns and a tough Miami Hurricane defense led by middle guard Rubin Carter defused an explosive University of Houston offense for an upset 20-3 regionally televised victory Saturday.

The Hurricane, directed by junior Kary Baker, had to drive only 35 yards for its first touchdown after defensive tackle Bruce Ely recovered a Cougar fumble.

The 5-10 180-pound Martin, a sophomore playing most of the first half for senior standout Thompson, carried the final five yards around right end.

Kicking specialist Chris Dennis booted his first of two extra points at 13:34 in the first quarter and then tacked on a pair of 22-yard field goals before Thompson blasted one yard in the fourth quarter to cap the scoring.

Houston narrowed the Hurricane 10-point lead with two minutes left in the half on Lennard Coplin's 22-yard field goal, but it was the only time the Cougars got into scoring position.

The loss was the second in three games for the 18th-ranked Cougars. Miami's victory was its first game of the season.

Miami defensive tackle Ely recovered Donnie McGraw's fumble at the Houston 35 late in the first quarter and helped apply pressure that resulted in five quarterback sacks by the Miami defense. Carter, Ely and tackle Eddie Edwards hounded McGraw all afternoon.

On Miami's first scoring drive, Martin carried four of five plays capped by the score. Martin gained 51 yards on 10 carries. Thompson added 85 on 19 carries and wingback Tim Morgan got 59 yards on six rushes.

Baker completed six of 10 passes for 66 yards.

Missouri Nudges Baylor Bears, 28-21

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Freshman tailback Joe Stewart sprang into the end zone from one yard out in the fourth quarter Saturday, propelling Missouri to a 28-21 victory over Baylor in a topsy-turvy intersectional football game.

Stewart's touchdown came with 10:39 remaining and capped a 70-yard 15-play drive on the heels of a 96-yard return of a fumble recovery by Baylor defensive back Charles McClanahan, which tied the score at 21-21 with 1:27 left in the third quarter.

The victory was Missouri's first, evening the Tigers at 1-1, while Baylor dropped its second straight.

Fullback Ray Bybee, who lost the fumble to McClanahan and Stewart did the heavy running work in the winning drive and quarterback Ray Smith completed three passes, including an 11-yarder to Mark Miller to the Bear's 4.

On the third down, Stewart scored from the one.

Missouri took the lead in the third quarter when Rob Fitzgerald picked off a Neal Jeffrey pass and galloped 30 yards to the Baylor 21. Smith passed 9 yards to Miller for the touchdown.

The Tigers appeared on their way to icing the game late in the quarter driving to the Baylor one. But Bybee, diving over the tackle lost the ball. It popped into the hands of McClanahan, who raced 96 yards for the tying touchdown.

After a scoreless first quarter, when Baylor lost two fumbles, the Bears put together an 80-yard drive to take the lead. Tailback Steve Beaird, who gained 104 yards in the first half alone, pushed the Bears to the Missouri 18. From there, Jeffrey hit Philip Kent for the touchdown.

Kansas State Gets Easy Win

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — Defensive halfback Rocky Osborn loped 46 yards to score on an intercepted pass and reserve quarterback Arthur Bailey sneaked over from the one to break open a deadlock Saturday and give Kansas State a 170 win over lackluster Wichita State.

The fumble-prone Wildcats missed two scoring opportunities in the first half and finally scored midway through the third period on a 35-yard field goal by David Cheves. The Shockers from Wichita never mounted a serious scoring threat.

Bailey's sneak capped a 56-yard drive in six plays that took only two minutes. Fullback Rosco Scobie, who gained 155 yards in the game, powered the drive.

Osborn iced the victory with his interception run on the last play of the game.

Kansas State fumbled nine times, losing five to the Shockers.

Shocker quarterback Sam Adkins hit 17 of 25 passing attempts for 182 yards but was unable to mount an effective scoring drive.

Arizona Tips Indiana 35-20

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Bruce Hill passed for three touchdowns and scored another Saturday to lead Arizona to a 35-20 triumph over Indiana.

The Wildcats, co-champions of the Western Athletic Conference, were held to a 14-14 deadlock at the half, but then scored the next three touchdowns to clinch their second win of the season. The Hoosiers of the Big Ten suffered their ninth consecutive loss and second of the season.

Hill completed 10 of 14 passes for 170 yards and had one throw in the second period picked off by Indiana's Craig Brinkman.

If you hear someone talking about broadheads and pounds of pull, don't get excited. They are discussing the equipment that Texas archers will use when the deer and turkey archery season opens up Oct. 1.

First, let's discuss the legal archery gear. In taking game animals and game birds in a legal season, the bow must be capable of shooting a hunting arrow equipped with a broadhead hunting point for a distance of 130 yards. The broadhead hunting point must be at least seven - eights (7/8) inch in width and not more than one and one - half inches (1 1/2) in width. The arrows must also be marked with the name and address of the user in some non - water - soluble medium. Arrows cannot be poisoned, drugged or contain an explosive.

Cross bows are not legal for taking game animals or game birds at any time in regulatory counties or during archery only season in other counties.

In regulatory counties, firearms or crossbows may not be used or possessed while hunting deer or turkey with longbow and arrows during the special archery season.

Those archery hunters in the Permian Basin regulatory district may take deer and turkey from Oct. 1, through Oct. 31, 1974, and are limited to two bucks and one turkey, either sex.

Archers in the Panhandle regulatory district may take deer and turkey from Oct. 1 through Oct. 16, 1974, and are limited to one mule deer buck and one white - tailed buck deer and one turkey, either sex.

If you have purchased your new 1974-75 Texas hunting license, you will notice that there are three turkey tags and two buck or antelerless deer tags, a buck mule deer tag and a bonus antlerless deer tag.

Texas hunters bagging either deer or turkey will be required to tear the correct tag from their license and punch out the date and month and fill in the ranch and county hunted.

Wardens will enforce this tagging requirement and hunters found with untagged deer or turkey will be in violation.

Many hunters are asking why there are so many tags attached to the 1974-75 license. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is issuing these new licenses allowing hunters to go to a two or three deer or turkey area.

It would be beneficial if hunters would leave the tags attached to their license. Deer or turkey cannot be bagged if the tags are at home.

For more information on seasons or the tagging procedures call Lubbock 806-744-6847 or Amarillo 806-355-9246.

Tulane Bombs Army By 31-14

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Junior reserve quarterback Terry Looney threw touchdown passes of 45 and 43 yards Saturday to guide Tulane to a 31-14 victory over Army.

Looney, a second quarter replacement when Steve Foley left with a 16-7 lead, provided the insurance points for the Green Tide's second victory in as many games. Army's record fell to 1-1.

After completing a 13-yard pass to Nick Anderson on his first attempt, Looney rifled a 45-yard scoring strike to Anderson to cap a quick two-play 58 yard drive.

Army got back in the game in the third period immediately following a 65-yard punt by Tulane's Howard McNeill into the Cadet end zone. Quarterback Scott Gillogly threw off a 80-yard touchdown pass to Howie Williams.

How high is your backswing?

If you're the average bowler chances are you probably don't know. A movie of yourself in action, preferably a video tape which can be played back again and again, or just a good look in a full length mirror will give you an idea.

Like so may other areas in bowling there is no right and wrong when it comes to the backswing. One of the fabled superstars of the past, Joe Falcaro, though a small man physically, had an extremely high backswing. Several of today's top pros, including Bowler of the Year Don McCune, almost go over the top of their head. Billy Hardwick, winner of 16 PBA championships and two ABC titles, finds a shorty backswing works best. Others hardly have any backswing at all. Remember the great Don Carter!

But if you're looking for professional guidelines then consider the waist as the lowest point and the shoulder as the highest point for a good, smooth backswing. If you are lower than the waist there is difficulty in generating a proper swing with enough speed. If you are higher than the shoulder, then the door is open for all kinds of problems — bad balance in footwork, too much inconsistency in speed and loss of control factors.

SITTING ON TOP OF THE WORLD

... with a business of his own!

We'd like for you to meet the Executive Officer of a thriving business . . . the boy who delivers your daily newspaper.

As the owner and operator of his newspaper route, this Junior Independent Merchant must solve problems and shoulder responsibilities, just like all other businessmen.

He buys his product, your newspaper, at wholesale and then retails it to his customers. He must make daily deliveries, do his own accounting, billing, and even struggle with a collection problem here and there.

He is discovering, through actual experience, the rewards for promptness, dependability, self-reliance and initiative.

One of the rewards is his profit, the difference between the wholesale and retail prices of the paper. His route means money for a savings account for college, a new bicycle, a week in camp, many things.

But he is earning even greater rewards. As he learns about sales and salesmanship, he is equipping himself for the future. From boys who learned the principles of business as newspaperboys have come presidents, governors, mayors, industrialists and professional men . . . those who determine the quality of our civilization in their generation.

It's his world to conquer . . . and he's off to a good start.

BUSY BOYS ARE BETTER BOYS

If you have a son that you think might be interested in a newspaper route, why not write or phone us.

Bible Course Offered At High School

DAN BOOHER
...teaching Bible class

By FRANK BAIN

For the first time in several years, Pampa High School has a Bible Study class and, after the first few weeks, the New Testament course is operating smoothly, according to the instructor.

Dan Booher, minister of Youth and Music at Central Baptist Church, says there have been no teaching problems so far, and that the 26 students maintain a lively interest.

The course, to be followed next semester by study of the Old Testament, is an elective one and is offered at no cost to Pampa Independent School District.

Booher was recently ordained and can therefore use the title Reverend, but doesn't place much emphasis on that.

What he does seem to emphasize is the rapport he has with young persons.

He takes some kidding about being a guitar player and yodeler, but so far hasn't introduced music into the Bible classes at the high school.

The only text is the New American Standard Version of the Bible, and the guidelines published by the Texas Education Agency appear to leave much autonomy to the local school and the instructor.

Points made in the TEA bulletin include these:

— The course, offered for credit, must be non - sectarian and non - denominational, the Bible being taught for its literary, historical and moral values.

— Eighty-five class meetings of least 45 minutes each per semester represent the minimum for each course, for credit.

— The local school baord, through the superintendent or the high school principal, shall see that certain requirements are met. These include teacher qualification, classroom and quipment, and accreditation standards.

— Local school authorities may furnish uniform final examination questions and grade papers.

Booher is a graduate of North Texas State at Denton and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth.

He and his wife, Dianna, have two children, Jeffrey, four, and Lisa, two.

Nessen Promises Never To Lie To Press Corps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford's new press secretary, Ron Nessen, promises he never will "knowingly lie" to to White House reporters, his former colleagues.

An NBC correspondent for 12 years, Nessen is the first person from the electronic media to hold the job as presidential press aide.

Nessen, 40, covered Ford as vice president, and before that had reported from Vietnam and the White House during the Johnson administration.

Nessen replaces J. F. ter-Horst, who resigned Sept. 8 in disagreement with Ford's pardon of former President Richard Nixon.

Nessen, introduced to reporters by Ford Friday, said, "A press secretary does not always have to agree with the President."

"I will never knowingly lie to the White House press corps," Nessen said, recalling complaints among the press corps about misleading information it received during Nixon administration. "I will never knowingly mislead the White House press corps. I don't think we are natural antagonists.

"If I mislead or lie to you, then you are justified to question my continued usefulness in the job."

TerHorst, in his syndicated column Friday, said his view of a press secretary's job was one of playing the "devil's advocate" on policy questions so that at the end of the process the spokesman can "speak with a persuasiveness that stems from conviction."

Nessen, a native of Washington, D.C., began his career as a newsman and reporter for radio stations in Martinsburg, W.Va., and Arlington, Va. He worked for UPI in Washington for six years before moving to NBC in 1962.

He said he would have access to all White House meetings except the National Security Council.

SWEET DREAMS

LANTANA, Fla. (UPI) — Daydreaming is good for you, says Yale psychologist Jerome Singer.

It creates security in potentially frightening situations, prevents boredom and provides valuable release from anger, aggression and distress, he said.

Cabot Sharing New Gas Find

HOUSTON — An excellent gas find on the west - central portion of Galveston Island, as a result of a joint venture operation, was announced Saturday by Cabot Corp. and Mitchell Energy and Development Corp.

The well, State Tract 67, No. 1, had commercial gas production tested from two Miocene sands. The lower zone perforations at approximately 8,000 feet, on a 21-64 inch choke, flowed 8.8 million cubic feet per day and had a calculated open flow of 124 million cubic feet of gas daily.

The upper zone had a calculated open flow of 44 million cubic feet of gas per day. Initial production will be from the lower zone only.

Directionally drilled from a land site, the well is located about six miles southwest of the city limits of Galveston. Cabot Corp., operator, owns 66 - 5/8 percent of the well and Mitchell Energy owns 33 - 3/8 percent.

The ownership of the surrounding leases, totaling 2,300 acres, is shared equally by the two corporations. Negotiations for the sale of the gas are in progress, and additional drilling is being considered, Cabot officials stated.

FOR OIL PACKAGE

Industrial Nations Ending Search

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The search for an end to the oil crisis began in the dismal days of last February when oil prices were rocketing, reserves were falling and the industrial countries were scratching and clawing for favor in the Middle East.

That search ended in Brussels' 18th-Century Egmont Palace Friday evening, when 12 industrial countries led by the United States finished work on a detailed package obliging them to share and conserve energy when the next oil crisis hit.

The package now will go back to the 12 capitals for approval. If all goes according to plan, a secretariat based in Paris will begin putting the plan into action in mid-November.

But one of the 12 countries is Norway, where the prospect that other countries might be able to call at will on North Sea oil reserves has become a major political issue.

Norwegian delegates here said their country could approve the package only after a debate in parliament next month. This approval was considered doubtful at best.

Despite this, the agreement was "a strongly binding system ... a very major achievement in cooperation in the field of energy," according to Viscount Etienne Davignon, the Belgian aristocrat who chaired the work of the experts.

Under the agreement, the 12 members of the Energy Coodination Group would share reserves and conserve energy if their total reserves fell by an average of 7 per cent.

In addition, they would supply energy to one of the 12 countries if it was hit by a producing nation's boycott and suffered a 7 per cent decrease in reserves.

The United States wanted this procedure to be entirely automatic. Objections by Norway and other countries produced a compromise under which the oil-sharing provision could be overturned by a vote of at least nine of the 12 members.

The package also included joint research, better relations with oil-producers and cooperation with oil countries.

One of the first gas companies in America was formed in Baltimore in 1816 and brought street lighting to the city.
