Ice, Snow Glaze Vast Southwest Area

No Letup Due 'Til Tuesday

The groundhog wasn't likely to see his shadow today.

Snyder has had many sunny groundhog days, but there have been few like this.

The entire Snyder area and all of West Texas was blanketed with ice and snow yesterday, and it carried on today.

No letup is expected, before Tuesday since forecasts call for possibly two to four inches of snow in this area within the next few hours.

All schools in the Snyder area were closed today because of weather conditions. School bus routes were coated with ice. In the immediate area the Snyder Public Schools, Hermleigh Schools, Fluvanna Schools, Ira Schools, Hobbs Schools and the Ryan parochial school, suspended classes for the day.

Temperatures fell to a low of 13 here last night and held at that level up to 7:30 a. m. today, when David Strayhorn, weather observer, took his reading.

Strayhorn measured .10 of an inch of precipitation, the first measurable moisture here in nearly three months. The last measurement was .55 of an inch on Nov. 13.

That was the longest seige of dry weather here since 1950, when there was no measurable moisture for more than three months.

Up to noon today there were no serious accidents reported on highways here. The sheriff's department investigated one accident and jailed two juveniles in the car involved for car theft.

The accident occurred at about 6:30 a.m. today. Two Fort Worth youths, driving a 1955 Chevrolet, struck two highway posts and then the bridge near the west city limits here on the Lamesa highway. The car was heavily damaged, but neither of the youths was hurt. They were being held to be picked up by Fort Worth officers, according to Sheriff Earl Abercrombie.

Highway patrolmen Arthur Dyson and Gordon Johnson said they had not yet had any accident reports. Highways were worse farther west of here than in the immediate Snyder area.

The Texas Highway Department maintenance section was busy yesterday salting and sanding bridges in this area to cut down on road hazards. Highways here were passable, but travel was not advisable unless absolutely necessary officials of the department said.

Church attendance was estimated at about half that of a normal Sunday yesterday. Some persons slipped on icy sidewalks at a few of the churches, but apparently only one such accident was serious.

Mrs. Lillian D'Spain of Odessa, who was visiting in Snyder with her son, James D'Spain of William Cameron Co., slipped while going up the steps at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday and broke her left arm. She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell ambulance.

The city water department said it had received no reports of broken water lines, but those reports do not usually come until the thaw after a freeze, when leaks and breaks are discovered.

Weather Blamed For 14 Deaths In State

By The Associated Press

Ice and snow glazed vast areas of the Southwest Monday, bringing death to at least 14 persons in weather - caused accidents. Many schools closed because slick roads made bus travel hazardous.

Heaviest snow—8 inches— occurred at Gage, Okla., near the Texas line. Follett in the Texas Panhandle reported 6 inches.

Freezing rain drew blame for the crash of a DC3 airliner carrying 25 Idaho National Guardsmen and three civilian crew members near Kerrville, in West Texas. Two crewmen and a guardsman died, but 25 other persons scrambled to safety.

The belt of freezing precipitation reached as far south as Del Rio on the Rio Grande and as far east as the Dallas-Fort Worth area in North Central Texas.

Snow and ice areas stretched from the eastern slopes of the Rockies and eastern Wyoming through New Mexico and parts of Texas, and over most of Oklahoma.

Along the Texas coast, downpours of rain—heaviest in nearly two years at Houston—forced a number of residents from lowland homes. Houston had measured 5.87 inches of rain since Thursday.

New Mexico highways remained open but were hazardous in the eastern part of the state. Schools in rural Chaves County around Roswell closed because of a quarter inch of ice on highways. Tucumcari received 2 inches of snow for the largest New Mexico fall. Alamosa, Colo., measured 5 inches.

Monday morning the glaze was spreading southwest in New Mexico.

Most of Oklahoma reported light snow with some sleet in the southern section. Roads in the north and central areas remained hazardous, the state patrol reported.

In Texas, snow fell north of a line from Wichita Falls, in northwest Texas near the Red River, westward to the Midland-Odessa region in far West Texas.

Guadalupe Pass on Highway 180 and 62 between El Paso and Carlsbad, N.M., was slick with ice, with frozen moisture on fences an inch in diameter. A highway crew at the base of the pass kept the road well sanded and travel continued.

At least 25 schools closed in the South Plains area around Lubbock, including the Odessa, Midland, Seagraves, Levelland, Snyder and Lamesa areas. At Lubbock, where up to 2 inches of dry, powdery snow piled up, school buses did not travel. Schools also were closed at Big Spring.

Wichita Falls reported 2 inches of snow and Dalhart and Amarillo one inch. Ice an inch thick coated streets at Odessa, the Weather Bureau said.

All Texas roads were open, but some were hazardous. The temperature fell to 8½ degrees at Perryton during the night.

The Weather Bureau predicted the snow would become as deep as 4 inches in parts of West Texas and extreme northwest North Central Texas.

Moderate freezing rain was forecast for much of north central Texas with temperatures dropping as low as 15 degrees in that section.

Panhandle - South Plains temperatures were expected to return to the 10-degree level early Tuesday morning.

Guadalupe Pass was termed extremely dangerous by the Texas Highway patrol. The patrol said U. S. 80 is dangerous and icy in the Sierra Blanca, Van Horn and Pecos areas.

The Weather Bureau office at Austin said freezing rain was expected as far south as Austin. Glazing and freezing rain was reported west of a line from Austin to Waco.

At Houston, water rose within two feet of flood stage in a gully running into Bray's Bayou. Several families in the Braeburn Glen area moved out. Streets were flooded and some residents reported water rising within several inches of their homes.

Police said flood conditions on the gully were caused by an earthern dam built across the stream while flood control work was under way on the bayou.

The Houston rainfall was the heaviest there since April, 1957. The forecast called for more rain Monday.

Five-day weather forecasts issued Monday predicted continued temperatures below normal, with moderate to locally heavy precipitation in the state. More snow, along with rain or showers, was predicted for West Texas during the period.

Arctic Air Holds Huge Area In Grip

By The Associated Press

A mid-winter cold wave kept an icy hold across broad areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic today and little general relief appeared in sight.

The arctic air, which dropped temperatures to 40 degrees below zero in Minnesota over the weekend, spread eastward and headed slowly into the Southland. The most severe cold numbed the northern tier of states from Montana eastward through northern New England.

It was below zero as far south as northern Missouri. Freezing rain, snow and drizzle accompanied the colder air throughout western Oklahoma and wide areas of Texas.

A glistening coat of ice slicked highways and streets in western and northern Texas and snow fell in the Panhandle. Driving conditions were hazardous. At least 11 deaths were attributed to the foul weather. Many schools were ordered closed.

A belt of freezing drizzle stretched from Wichita Falls, Tex. through Abilene and San Angelo.

Park Table Bids Opened

Informal bids on new picnic tables to be built in Towle Memorial Park were opened by the county commissioners court this morning.

The court awarded contracts to two low bidders, Don Williams and Burchett Iron Works, for the erection of six new tables and six metal shelter tops for them.

Williams had the low bid of $1,038.62 for the six tables. Other bidders were E. L. Fikes, Sr., with $1,255, E. L. Fikes, Jr., with $1,715.40, Shelburne & Son with $1,830, and Lewis Jackson with $2,044.32.

Burchett's had the low bid of $390 on the shelters. Other bids were Merritt's Welding with $720, Neal Machine & Welding with $965, and Snyder Fence Co. with $600.

The court passed an order allowing five new water meters a month to be installed as replacements in the Hermleigh water system, which is operated by the county.

NO DISORDER

Virginia Integrates

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia calmly thrust aside the color barrier today and for the first time in her history put Negro and white pupils together in public schools.

Grudgingly, but peacefully at the outset, the Old Dominion made the transition from segregation to integration in a fraction of her public schools, in Arlington County and the city of Norfolk.

No violence, no rowdy incidents occurred as four Negro pupils filed quietly into Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, across the Potomac from Washington.

Two hundred miles down the state in Norfolk, Negro children began showing up to enroll for the first time in six junior and senior high schools. Again, there were no disorders.

Police with riot gear stood by at Arlington. None was in sight at Norfolk.

The quartet of Negro children at Arlington—three boys and a girl—marched onto the school grounds from a seldom used roadway and through the doors shortly before 9 a.m. They were alone. They didn't look alarmed or worried.

Nobody tried to stop them; there was an absence of picketing and demonstrations.

Something like 100 police, equipped with white helmets, portable loud speakers and radios, canteens, and the customary night sticks and guns, converged on Stratford long before the school opening hour.

Only pupils and school employes were allowed on grounds. Even parents were kept out.

In Norfolk, a Negro, Lewis Cousins, and his mother calmly paraded past a cluster of white children on the steps of Maury High School to become the first of his race to shatter the color line in the city.

There was the usual chatter of school kids, but no trouble of any kind.

Again there was no disturbance a few moments later when Betty Jean Read, another of 17 Negroes assigned to previously all white schools, turned up unescorted at Granby High.

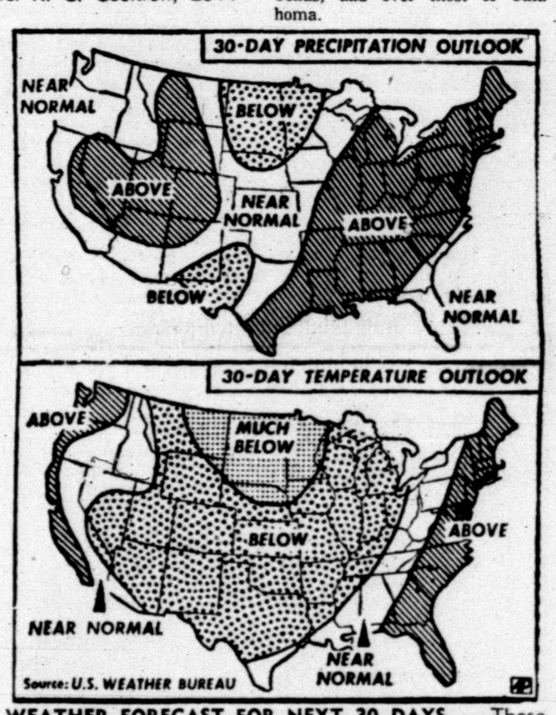

The six Norfolk schools, closed since September under Virginia's now dead massive resistance program, were holding no classes today—only enrolling pupils and assigning them to classes.

At Norview High School, two pairs of Negro girls turned up. White students watched curiously and quietly. By that time, police were on hand and cleared a path for the Negroes.

Plane Carrying 28 Persons Crashes

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A commercial DC3 carrying 25 National Guardsmen from Idaho and a crew of 3 crashed and burned in the central Texas hill country late Sunday night. Three men were killed.

The 25 survivors, some seriously hurt, managed to escape the flaming wreckage after the ice-laden transport smashed into a hill 17 miles southeast of here in rugged country just before midnight.

Three bodies were taken to a Comfort, Tex., funeral home. Thirteen men were taken to a veterans hospital in Kerrville and 12 to the Peterson Hospital here.

"It was a miracle anyone got out alive. The plane was demolished and was burning fiercely," said Carroll Abbott, assistant publisher of the Kerrville Times, one of the first to reach the scene.

Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio identified the dead as:

Civilian pilot W. O. Epps of Portland, Ore.

Civilian co-pilot Harvey Hitt of Oswego, Ore.

Airman Robert C. Griffith of Olee, Idaho.

Wilbur Whittliff of Eugene, Ore., a third pilot, was among the survivors.

Whittliff, 42, said icing plagued the plane for several hours before the crash. After two unsuccessful passes at the Kerrville airport, the plane was attempting a third approach when one engine failed.

Rescuers found most of the survivors, muddy, soaked and battered, huddled in a freezing rain a short distance from the flaming wreckage.

The plane, chartered from General Airways of Portland, Ore., had left Boise, Idaho, earlier for Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Over central Texas, the plane radioed it was icing heavily, was short on gasoline, and would attempt a landing at the Schreiner Airport here.

The plane made two passes at the airport. Airport attendants said the wings appeared heavily coated with ice.

The games were scheduled to be played at Big Spring.

Faint Radio Signals Spur New Search For Danish Ship

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Faint radio signals spurred the search today for the Danish ship Hans Hedtoft, missing with 95 persons since it hit an iceberg Friday in heavy seas off Greenland.

The weak signals were believed to be from a lifeboat of the 2,785-ton Hedtoft. There had been no trace of the ship or survivors since she hit the ice.

The signals were heard by two Danish radio stations on the Greenland coast and the Danish motorship Umanak, which had swing off its Greenland-Denmark run Sunday to join the search.

The first signals were heard about 5 p.m. Sunday and then again between 10 and 11 p.m.

The Umanak's radioman said the signals were sent by an untrained operator and were very weak and irregularly spaced. He said it appeared the sender was trying to transmit distress signals or a homing beacon.

The Umanak at the time was 60 miles west of Greenland's Cape Farewell, and the signals apparently came from a position southwest of there. Greenland experts in Copenhagen said it would have been possible for the Hedtoft's lifeboats to have drifted that far west.

Continuing bad weather reduced the air search to one Canadian air force plane.

A search plane Sunday reported it had spotted what could have been an overturned lifeboat near the Hedtoft's last reported position in the north Atlantic. It was described as a double-ended craft with a lengthwise black stripe. But the Royal Greenland Trading Department said the missing ship's lifeboats were all made of aluminum and were unpainted.

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Campbell said today's search would be concentrated on the area where the object was sighted.

The Campbell, two Danish ships and the German vessel Poseidon searched until late Sunday through 40-foot waves and 60-mile-an-hour winds.

The Hedtoft, built with heavy bow and stern and special compartments to cope with Greenland's winter seas, was on her maiden voyage back to Denmark Friday when she radioed that she had hit an iceberg and was going down.

She carried three light metal lifeboats capable of holding her 55 passengers and crew of 40, plus four small rubber rafts. Each lifeboat carried radio transmitters and the rafts had continuous emission beacon sets.

Dulles Is Told To Gather New Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, heading for talks with European allies this week, has been told he'd better come up with some fresh ideas if he wants support from Senate Democrats.

The call for a new approach in dealing with the Soviet Union came from Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Democratic Senate leader and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Mansfield said today the forthcoming elevation of Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) to the foreign relations chairmanship serves notice on State Department officials "they had better get on their toes."

Dulles has scheduled a meeting with Fulbright before he leaves for Europe. Fulbright has been a sharp critic of Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

Dulles is tentatively slated to fly to London late Tuesday, with his first round of talks there Wednesday. He will talk with French leaders in Paris and West German leaders in Bonn before returning here about Feb. 11.

Dulles said his European mission will deal with: (1) the problem of Berlin and the Western reaction to possible Soviet moves; (2) the possibility of having talks about Germany with the Soviet representatives.

He indicated he will talk with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany to try to get allied agreement on these points:

1. What the allies can offer Russia, and world public opinion, in the way of new ideas for reuniting Germany and thereby resolving the problem of divided Berlin.

2. What line the Western powers should take in making specific proposals to Moscow for East-West talks on Germany and possibly some other issues.

3. What measures the Western powers should take if a new Berlin blockade is set up. The Soviet Union has announced plans to turn over its Berlin occupation powers to the East German Reds in May.

Panel Hears Plea For Big College Spending Request

AUSTIN (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee was asked today to approve a big spending request for state-supported colleges and universities in order to lift them out of "low level mediocrity."

This plea came from the Commission on Higher Education, another of a long list of state agencies and departments putting budget requests before the committee.

The Senate Finance Committee also began its mammoth task of hearing scores of witnesses from state colleges and universities and state agencies as the Legislature began its fourth week.

"In Texas we are on the threshold of two big developments in higher education," said Dr. Ralph Green, executive director of the commission. "We are on the threshold of some of the sharpest enrollment increases we have ever seen.

"We also are on the threshold of moving from low level mediocrity to limited excellence.

"This budget will not take us all the way but it will lift us from our present low level."

The commission has requested appropriation of $106,453,805 from all funds for operation of the 18 state-supported colleges and universities and the 23 allied educational projects during 1960. They want $107,317,439 for 1961.

Dr. E. W. Walker, finance examiner for the commission, said the 1960 request was a 14½ per cent increase over the 1959 appropriation from all funds and 19.7 per cent from the general revenue fund—which will have an estimated 65-million-dollar deficit by Aug. 31.

He said that 97 per cent of the increase from general revenue would go to the 18 colleges and universities and 46 per cent of the overall increase would go for teaching salaries.

A. M. Muldrow of Brownfield, Commission chairman, said the commission wanted to emphasize the need of building a "quality" system of higher education in Texas, "although our findings will not ease your money problems."

Rep. W. S. (Bill) Heatly of Paducah is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria heads the Senate Finance Committee.

Heatly put his committee on a five-day week, with work starting at 8 a.m. He said he would keep the group in session as continuously as possible until it has completed hearings.

Fly will hold day and night hearings until work is finished on the spending bill before the Senate.

The key House Committee on Revenue and Taxation will hold its first meeting of the session after adjournment of the House today. Chairman V. L. Ramsey of Beckville said he did not expect his committee to begin hearings on dozens of revenue - raising measures until there is some indication of what the spending picture will be.

All tax bills must originate in the House, and the first hearings on them will be before Ramsey's committee.

Doctor Works On Health Of Solons

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Can you picture your congressman gulping down two tumblers of water and taking a brisk one-hour walk before breakfast every morning?

That's what he must do, irrespective of weather, if he follows the daily routine prescribed by Dr. George W. Calver, resident physician to Congress.

Dr. Calver has a passion for keeping congressmen physically fit. His prospective patients include 436 representatives and 98 senators whose ages range from the low 30s to the low 90s, and whose girth varies from slim to global.

He doesn't like to see his patients get too soft or too fat.

In his battle against the bulge and poor health, Calver has prepared what he calls the balanced metabolism routine.

He insists it isn't a diet.

"You can't" put a member of Congress on a diet," he said. "They just can't follow one. They attend numerous dinners and other social functions and they must eat what their hosts serve. You just can't stick to a diet when you are served steak and potatoes five nights a week."

Among the things Calver advises his patients to avoid are cream, butter, eggs, bacon, ham or other pork products, goose, liver, sweetbreads, shortened pastries, fish roe, and oily fish such as shad or mackerel.

What can they eat?

Whole or cracked wheat and rye bread, nonfattening salad dressing, oleomargarine, small portions of marmalade or jelly, lean beef steak, pot roast, rib roast, mutton, or a stew made with lean meat, chicken, white meat of turkey, fresh water fish, fruit, and cooked leafy green vegetables or saurkraut

He cautions his patients to avoid second helpings and bedtime snacks.

It's permissible, Dr. Calver said, to substitute nine holes of golf for the one-hour pre-breakfast walk.

"Give five per cent of your time to keeping well and you won't have to give 100 per cent getting over being sick," he advises.

Ike Points To Achievement In Space Work

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States has accumulated a "record of solid achievement" in its space programs.

He told that to Congress in a letter forwarding an administration report on aeronautics and space projects since this country succeeded in getting its first satellite into orbit a year ago. The report is required by law.

The 12,000-word report, prepared under the over-all direction of the new National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was confined to what the United States has done or plans to do in space. It made no mention of Soviet progress in missiles, satellites and space probe vehicles.

The report itself said that during 1958 the United States carried out a series of space experiments that yielded invaluable data and established a firm foundation for further efforts.

"There were a number of failures during the year and we promptly announced them," the report said.

Much of the report epresented a summary of projects already announced in detail, together with comment on projects to come.

In discussing the plan for sending man into space aboard a big satellite — Project Mercury — the report emphasized precautions to be taken.

Cotton Loan Rates For County Told

Cotton loan rates for 1959 have been announced for Scurry County, according to Charlie Eastman, chairman of the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The rates are 30.40 cents for the "A" choice of allotment program, which is 80 per cent of parity, and 24.70 cents for the "B" choice, which is 65 per cent of parity. These are rates on middling 7-8ths cotton at average location.

A meeting has been set for 2 p.m. Feb. 10 in the junior high school auditorium for an explanation of the "A" and "B" cotton allotment programs. Kenneth Loehoefer, representative of the Plains Cotton Producers Association, will be here to head the discussion at the meeting, open to all interested.

Franco Defied By Spain's Politices

By LOUIS NEVIN

MADRID (AP)—Prominent liberals and rightists have defied Generalissimo Franco's ban on opposition political movements and formed a new party.

So far there has been no retaliation from the government. Failure to take action would be interpreted as a sign of weakness. All political parties except the government Falange are banned in Spain.

Nearly 100 army officers, bankers, lawyers, university professors and others formed the new party, called Spanish Union—unio espanola—at a banquet Thursday in a Madrid hotel.

Speakers included Joaquin Satrustegui Fernandez, a liberal Monarchist and member of a wealthy family of Basque industrialists, and Enrique Tierno Galvan, professor of political law at Salamanca University and head of a group of liberal Republicans.

Satrustegui in a strong speech said Franco had seized power illegally and kept his regime in office by force. He criticized the government's economic policy, saying it was "without present or future."

A manifesto circulated by the party declared:

"Spain has just awakened to her tremendous reality, and fiction begins to fall with all the weight of its coarse and grotesque framework. We believe that what has been said through Satrustegui is not an opinion but the full conscience of a nation clamoring painfully."

The Spanish Union includes elements opposed to the regime ranging from the extreme right to the left. But four non-Communist groups so far are not participating: the Socialists, Anarchists, leftwing Christian Democrats headed by Manuel Gimenez Fernandez, and Dionisio Ridruejo's Social Democrats.

Sources close to the new party said they believe a compromise doctrine will be worked out to permit enlistment of the Social and Christian Democrats and possibly the Anarchists. The Socialists' last party congress in August, dominated by exiled leaders of the Republican government Franco overthrew, ordered the faction's leaders in Spain not to enter any alliance with other political groups.

Champ Steer Selection Is Slated Today

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dean Robert H. Black of New Mexico A&M College was scheduled to pick the grand champion steer of the 1959 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show today.

Cattlemen were scheduled to meet today to honor Roy Parks, Midland rancher, for his long service to the state's cattle business. Parks is a former president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn. and the Texas Beef Council.

A brief ceremony was to be held today in memory of Will Rogers. It was scheduled by the Ardmore and Southern Oklahoma delegation to the stock show and was to be held at the Will Rogers statue.

Texas A&M College's livestock judging team won the senior college livestock judging team contest at the stock show yesterday edging the Iowa State College team.

The A&M squad won the cattle judging division and tied for second in the hog judging contest. Iowa State finished second in the cattle judging.

Third place overall went to the Texas Technological College team with Kansas State, Oklahoma Panhandle A&M and South Dakota State following in that order.

The University of Nebraska team won the sheep judging contest with Oklahoma Panhandle A&M second. The University of Arkansas team won the hog judging contest and the University of Wisconsin tied with Texas A&M for second place in the division.

The University of Arizona team won the quarter horse judging contest with Mississippi State and Arkansas tying for second place.

Mickey Cohen Gets Bumped Off Chair

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mickey Cohen got bumped off Sunday — bumped off a chair, that is.

The dapper ex-gambler was struck by a neighbor's car that lost its brakes and careened into the driveway of Cohen's home. Cohen was sitting in a wicker chair in the driveway with his back to the street.

The car shoved Cohen and his chair 20 feet into a fence.

"You never know when fate is going to come around after you," said Cohen, shaken but unhurt.

Pair Injured In Car Crash

Two Snyder girls were injured in a two-car accident at Thirty-fifth Street and Avenue S about 11 o'clock Saturday night, but neither is seriously hurt.

The girls are Pamla Haigwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Haigwood, 1407 Thirty-first Street, and Shirley Jane Butler. They were pushing the 1950 Ford car owned by Herman Haigwood, when it was struck by another car.

The other car, a 1956 Chevrolet, was driven by Larry Scott Gebhart, and was owned by G. B. Gebhart, 3100 Thirty-ninth Street.

Pamla Haigwood was released from Cogdell Memorial Hospital after a check disclosed only skinned arms and bruises on the body, and Shirley Jane Butler was released from the hospital Sunday afternoon. She received a cut over an eye and bruises.

Police who investigated said the cars were heavily damaged.

The girls were taken to the hospital by Bell ambulance.

Castro Launches Reform Program

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro, his political revolution won, today launches an agrarian reform program that could prove a social revolution for Cuba's farmers.

Castro flew to his home province of Oriente to implement the program promised the tenant farmers and squatters who helped him overthrow Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship.

Meanwhile, the war crimes trials of Batista supporters were expected to resume. Capt. Pedro Morejon, first to die at Havana's showcase trials, fell before a firing squad late Saturday, revolutionary sources said. To speed up the trials the government planned to set up six new tribunals in Havana, 10 in Santiago, and others elsewhere.

During his stay in Oriente, birthplace of the revolution, Castro planned to set in motion a vast program aimed at distributing millions of acres of undeveloped privately owned land to landless peasants. The government says fewer than 100 sugar producers and cattle barons control 50 per cent of the land in the eastern province, most of it undeveloped.

Some government lands also are supposed to be distributed, and the Public Works Ministry has ordered the removal of all business houses established illegally on state property.

The revolutionary leader also is expected to launch a large-scale program for the building of homes schools and medical centers in the rugged Sierra Maestra Mountains. Castro and his brother Raul have been stressing that agrarian reform is an integral part of the revolution and that the farmer has been Cuba's forgotten man.

Even before he emerged victorious, Castro had an agrarian law drawn up. He is now trying to apply this.

Morejon, 38, a veteran of Batista's army, was executed in midnight secrecy. The government made no announcement of the execution, 264th by unofficial count since the revolutionary victory Jan. 1. No newsmen were allowed to witness it.

The only witness, other than the firing squad, was Franciscan Father Javier Arzuaga. He visited the condemned man twice Saturday and said his spirit was serene.

Prison sources reported, however, that an hour before he was led out, Morejon had tried to hang himself with his belt.

In a cell nearby was Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, still awaiting the outcome of his appeal from a death sentence given him in Havana's first show trial. A third defendant, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao, is awaiting completion of the case against him. All three were accused of assassination, homicide, and robbery.

In Pinar del Rio province, the military commander, Capt. Herminio Escalona, disclosed that 10 persons arrested last week at San Cristobal and accused of plotting against the government had been released on Castro's personal order.

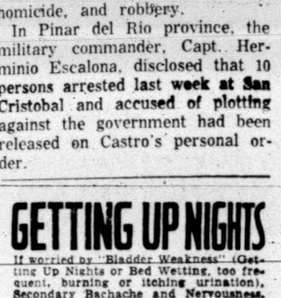

Skin Diver Suffers Attack Of Bends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 22-year-old skin diver is expected to be removed today from a Navy decompression chamber after 48 hours of agony resulting from an attack of the bends.

James French III of San Anselmo, son of a wealthy auto dealer, was trying to set a diving depth record Saturday off Pt. Lobos near Monterey when he rose too rapidly from 350 feet.

A Coast Guard rescue boat and an Army helicopter brought young French to a decompression chamber aboard a Navy barge here.

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

Can YOU really see at night?

Some people cannot. They avoid driving at night because they feel unsafe and unsure. Their vision actually changes after dark.

Night vision can be improved in some cases where special lenses are required. If you are troubled with night blindness, consult a professional optometrist.

And if it can not be improved, he will advise you to:

- Drive slower
- Never take your eyes off the road
- Watch the edge of the highway
- Don't look at approaching headlights

Palette Club Presents Exhibition By Parkinson

The Snyder Palette Club yesterday presented artist Rod Parkinson of Lubbock and his work at a tea held at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Parkinson, assistant professor in the department of architecture and allied arts at Texas Tech College, Lubbock, has participated in regional and state exhibitions with his work.

A graduate of the Pratt Institute School of Fine and Applied Arts, he majored there in pictorial illustration.

Stationed at Lubbock's air field during World War II, he returned there after the war and enrolled in Texas Tech, where he earned BA and MS degrees in education. In 1951 he went to the Art League of California and studied portraiture and the furtherance of art teaching.

Since that time he divided his time between commercial work and portraiture, when not in the classroom, and participation in regional and state exhibitions. He is now vice-president of the South Plains Art Guild, a member of the Texas Fine Arts Association and the Texas Art Educators Association.

Parkinson's alcove show presented here fell into five categories. The first group represented a cross section of West Texas life as a tribute to a passing way of life, particularly the remnants of early farm and ranch life now rapidly disappearing. The second group dealt with the sea in several aspects, ranging from the beach to the ocean depths.

In the third group are clown and jester themes, some represented in the form of silk screen versions commercially reproduced. Another group consisted of portraits and figure studies, while the fifth was made up of experiments in several media.

One technique employed in two of the groups the artist believes wholly original in concept. Tin cans, flattened by passing vehicles and especially selected for their color texture and weathered patina, are fashioned without tools to form images of characteristic deep sea fish and other motifs to which the technique lends itself. Nonobjective applications of these cans are being developed experimentally by the artist.

Parkinson has conducted a painting workshop in the technique of water color, oil and pastel in Snyder.

The exhibit was left at the clubhouse this week for viewing by members.

Junior Editors Quiz on CUSTOMS

QUESTION! When did the custom of serving hot cross buns start?

* * *

ANSWER: Hot cross buns were used in religious festivals in ancient Egypt and later in Greece and Rome. Made with very fine flour and honey, they were marked with a cross which was a symbol often used in ancient times to indicate the "four corners of the universe."

The Saxons baked hot cross buns in honor of their goodess of light, from whose name we derived the word Easter. The early Christian church used them as gifts to pilgrims who had come great distances. Bakeries began to make and sell these buns and gradually their use became associated with Good Friday.

Many superstitions grew up around hot cross buns. In part of England, for example, it is said that hanging a hot cross bun over the chimney on Good Friday will insure good bread all year long. In old England, baker boys sold buns in the streets, calling out "one-a-penny, two-a-penny, hot cross buns."

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the recipe for hot cross buns in one of Mother's cook books. Perhaps she will help you make some. Or visit a bakery and buy one to try.

Serve in a chilled bowl surrounded with warm crackers and potato chips. For warming and crisping crackers, turn the oven to 350 degrees. Spread crackers on a baking sheet and leave in the oven for about five minutes.

Goose Talk

If you're planning to serve goose don't be deceived by its size. A 12-pound goose will serve only 8 persons as compared to a 12-pound turkey which serves 16 to 20. For the carver: wings and thigh joints are much closer to the backbone than on a turkey. Cut the broad flat breast meat across the grain by slicing straight down to the bone rather than parallel to the bone.

Standing properly may do more for your looks than you would dream possible. No one admires a slouch that makes you bulge in the wrong places. Stand with your back flattened and hips tucked under. Keep your head up but not in such a position as to look like a strained ostrich.

Invitation To Hunt Tigers Unusual Way To Propose

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Wanna go on a tiger hunt?

That may seem a funny way to propose, but young, blonde and breathless Claudia Watson says that's the way her husband, Wid, did it. And now, just after their first wedding anniversary, they're off to the private game preserves of the Maharajah of Cooch-Behar, with 16 guests, to shoot tigers in the jungles of India.

"No, I never shot a tiger before," says the fragile and strictly glamorous Claudia, "but what girl could resist such a proposal? What red-blooded American girl, that is?"

"We'll shoot from the backs of the Maharajah's elephants," explains her startlingly handsome husband, who is 23 years old, 6 feet 4 in his stocking feet, with curly yellow hair and all the poise of a prime minister. "We'll have 150 beaters to drive the tigers up within range. We'll have native guides, and each couple on the safari will have two native servants. We'll use guns from the Maharajah's private armory."

How do you get that way at 23? Well, young Wid has been a world traveler since birth. He is the son of William Watson of Nelson, New Zealand, discoverer of the Belola gold mines in New Guinea and former Australian vice consul in New York. The Watson family maintains homes in Italy, Germany, Australia, New Zealand, New Guinea and New York. At 15 Wid ran away from a private school in Pennsylvania and took off for Barbados, where he chartered a sailboat, acted as fishing guide for vacationing sportsmen for a season, then left for South America and has been traveling ever since.

Claudia, a former teen-age TV actress, met Wid last summer in Spain. They were married a few weeks later in a civil ceremony in New York, then flew to Paris on their honeymoon. They repeated the marriage ceremony in a favorite church in Switzerland and set out on a leisurely tour of the Alps and France.

The young Watsons plan to leave San Francisco March 15 with their party, flying to Tokyo, Hong Kong and Calcutta, where they will spend two weeks on the tiger shoot. Then they will fly to Cairo, sail across the Mediterranean to Rome for the Easter season, have a final fling at their Castle Oranmore in Ireland, then back to New York.

"My theory," sayd Wid, "is that any business ought to be fun. If it isn't fun, the heck with it."

When Skirts Soar, And Shoes Count

Paris says skirts will soar this Spring. And shoes will soar with them into the limelight, says still another fashion authority, America's National Shoe Institute.

With hemlines hiked to the knee, heels and toes, colors and bows will punctuate and decorate the season's new fashions.

Paris makes a point of legginess for Spring, and shoes make a point of toes. They could be needle-pointed, tapered or squared at the tips, but point they must, to reach the height of fashion. The new Spring lasts cater to comfort, and the points don't begin until the toes have fitted into a comfortable resting place.

Heels on the new Spring shoes have also come to terms with soaring hemlines. With noticeably shorter skirts, many women prefer lower heels for good proportion. But there is no compromise with shapeliness.

For the girl - about - town, heels are thin and shapely. For casual country living, the rules change somewhat. Heels are often sturdily stacked, while the active sportswoman goes frankly into low - slung wedges or flats.

Fashions are truly feminine this Spring, with defined waistlines, Empire - accented bosoms, curvey coats and provocative suits with short jackets and hippy skirts. The accent is on the "Ladylike" look. This makes close-toe, closed - back pumps Spring favorites, but with such pretty artifices as dipping sidelines, open shanks and low - cut V throats that open them up and give them the light look of Springtime.

Closed - toe, open - back pumps are back in town this Spring, and strap - shoes are important and alluring newcomers as designers curve new and graceful leather strips around insteps and ankles, criss - cross them high or low, work them into wishbones, twist them into T's or angle them asymmetrically to slenderize the foot.

In on that wave of ladylike fashion are shoes for late - day and dinner clothes, with closed but festive footwear, silk ribbon-ties and bows for that all important touch of femininity.

But it's open season in the country. Casuals go in for air-conditioning, with thongs and slings and backless mule - type shoes to create the cooling vacuums that fit a country climate. So much for Spring and Summer shoe silhouettes.

For shoe colors, fashion squeezed the paint out of every tube. No impressionistic painting could give a wider choice of country greens, from the green of tender, new-born leaves to the deep, rich greens of grass and ferns and foliage.

Red shoes have gone lighter and brighter, but the fashion accent is on pink geranium, as pretty a color as you'll find on any painter's palette. Blues will be lighter and brighter; beige will run the gamut from pale palomino to bright, rich brown; black is ever with us, for what is Spring without black patent leather! But the dark horse of the season is bone-white, often in combination with shiny black —a dazzling duo, and equally effective in subtle combinations.

There will be almost as many textures in shoes as there are colors. Dyeable silk and linen shoes are a continuing story. The new story is silky suede shoes that take to color with fashionable affinity. But that's not all. There'll be silks, petit point, embroideries, ombres and stripes.

Smooth fashion surfaces are another carry-over into shoes, where such leathers as kidskin, bright luster leather and shadow - calf go in for new smooth and shiny faces.

Nylon mesh hoes are also in the fashion picture, with embroidery and new weaves to make them more exciting.

NATACHA BROOKS — She wears one of her costume watches, looks at some others.

Roll Tip

When mixing yeast doughs to refrigerate for 2 or 3 days, add ¼ teaspoon soda to the dry ingredients. Soda keeps the dough from souring and preserves the sweet, nutty flavor of freshly made bread. Dough may be stored in the refrigerator for 2 or 3 days — so plan to make your rolls for days ahead and you'll have minutes to spare on that busy morning.

Watch Designer Has Time Off Her Hands

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Natacha Brooks is time-conscious. Time is her first love, her chief interest and the way she makes her living.

This pert, dark-haired young woman designs watches — all kinds of watches, in all shapes and sizes, to be worn anywhere except where you would expect to find a watch.

Natacha feels that watches should be worn as jewelry, not merely for time-telling purposes. And so she turns out "off-the-wrist" watches, bejeweled and decorative, to be worn as necklace pendants, belt decorations, brooches or handbag ornaments.

Natacha studies current fashion and designs her watches to complement the newest silhouettes. For the Empire look she suggests elaborate brooch watches, to be worn pinned to the bodice of the dress, either just below the left collarbone or front and center.

Among her current collection are the following designs in time: a jeweled rose, a wishbone, a golden tassel and a miniature penguin with a watch in his tummy. She uses cultured pearls and semi-precious stones in her watch jewelry, wears a different watch every day and sometimes two or three at once.

Mrs. Brooks has been designing jewelry of one sort or another for some years. Since she decided to specialize in costume watches, she has been working some 18 hours a day establishing her own business.

She lives in a New York apartment with her 10-year-old daughter, Valerie, who wants to be an actress or maybe a designer like her mother. Says Natacha:

"To a fashion-conscious woman, a watch should be as important a costume accent as a new spring hat."

Oppose Recognition Of Reds

THE HOUSTON CHRONICLE:

That recognition of Red China is opposed by most Protestant clergymen is strongly indicated by a nation-wide poll taken by Rev. Daniel A. Poling and other ministers.

Implicit in the results of the poll is that the "World Order Study Conference," sub-agency of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. which recently adopted a resolution urging American recognition of Red China, was stacked and in no way represented the thinking of the majority of either clergymen or laymen.

For the poll Dr. Poling and other minister members of the Committee of One Million took showed 7437 of 8572 ministers of all Protestant denominations expressing an opinion are opposed to recognizing Red China or admitting the Peiping regime into the United Nations; 963 were willing and 172 had no opinion or a divided point of view on the two questions.

Dr. Poling said he will ask the general board of the National Council to repudiate the action of the World Order Study Conference.

It is an established fact that the great majority of Americans oppose recognition of Red China. The astounding action of the National Council's sub-agency apparently meant, then, either that most Protestant clergymen disagree with their laymen or that the study conference was a hand-picked group unrepresentative of either clergy or laymen. The poll Dr. Poling took pretty well establishes the latter as the true explanation.

Mail Brings Data On American Male

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The American male is getting more fragrant every year. In 1957 he forked out 39 million dollars for after shave lotions, or about 8 million more than U.S. women spent on perfume.

But he has plenty of historical precedent. Alexander the Great wore a perfumed battle tunic. Napoleon used up to 54 bottles of cologne a month (he must have nipped on the stuff). And Cardinal Richelieu anticipated the atomizer: He used a perfume bellows to scent his apartment.

U. S. trains are steadily whittling down their passenger service. But Japan is planning a 340 million dollar rail program featuring a "dream train" which will make the 450-mile run from Tokyo to Osaka at an average speed of 130 m.p.h.

Medical expenses have added to the high cost of living, but Americans still spend more for tobacco and alcoholic beverages than they do for all forms of medical care. They even pay more for chewing gum than they do for research into mental illness.

New Yorkers must be the most time - conscious people in the world. They spend more than a million dollars a year dialing the telephone company to get the correct time.

Simple Card Cuts Down Horn Blowing

ATLANTA (AP) — A suburban drive-in has noticed quite a decline in horn-blowers since its carhops began handing out cards with this verse:

When you want to call your waiter
And you're sitting all forlorn—
You will get him to you quicker
With your lights than with your horn.

To the point where he can look around
And see whose horn has blowed.

Soviet Grows Up In Past Decade

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the story of how a giant grew up.

Gone is the cool Western feeling of superiority. In its place: uneasiness, worry, self-criticism. Ten years have brought the Soviet Union self-confidence and achievement.

Ten years ago, compared with the United States, the Soviet Union was away back in the economic woods. Hope was being expressed here that Soviet citizens, fed up with tyranny and poor living, would kick up their heels.

There is little of that any more. There is no evidence to support it.

Today the Soviet Union is indisputably the world's second economic power and is closing the gap. It has shown such amazing scientific and industrial progress no one here is trying to laugh off the danger.

Instead Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's boast about closing the gap, and Soviet accomplishments, have forced debate on whether this government is doing all it can to keep the gap open.

This country decries socialism. But, ironically, too much Soviet progress could force the American government into even greater participation in the American economy.

The greater the participation, the greater the degree of socialism.

Ten years ago the United States outclassed the Soviet Union militarily. Not now. Hardly anyone anymore predicts victory for either side in war. The guessing now is that both sides might be obliterated.

Ten years ago at this time the Soviets did not have an atom bomb. The United States still had a monopoly. It was not until September 1949 that the Soviets had their first atomic explosion.

Then the United States went on to develop the hydrogen bomb. The Soviets soon caught up with that, too. Now both sides have a plentiful supply of both kinds of bombs.

In 10 years the Soviets have made gigantic strides with jet planes, submarines and missiles. A decade ago the idea of an intercontinental missile was only a gleam in a scientist's eye.

It was a shattering blow to American complacency when in the fall of 1957 the Soviets sent up their Sputniks. They showed their continued lead and superiority in this field with their moonshot in 1958.

There is no better evidence of American concern than the searching investigation begun last week by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee into the state of American missile development as compared with the Soviet Union.

The Eisenhower administration take the position that the missile gap has been exaggerated. The President himself said last week he sees no reason for a "hang dog attitude of humiliation."

The fact that word "humiliation" occurred to him—in relation to the Soviet Union — is a sign of the times.

The Democratic leadership in Congress accuses the administration of concealing information about the missile gap and putting economy ahead of national security.

While the debate goes on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles paid an indirect tribute to the Soviets' growing power by deciding to fly to Europe for consultations with the British, French and West Germans.

The Soviet determination to get the Allies out of West Berlin has jolted the West into intense uneasiness. Dulles' trip, it seems, is an effort to mend fences, to give assurances, to calm nerves.

Nixon Links Hope To Record Of Ike

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon appears to have linked his chances for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination to the Eisenhower administration's record.

There had been speculation that Nixon might strike out on his own to establish a position independent of the White House. But word passed to associates indicates he is giving his full support to Eisenhower's effort to hold down spending. He reportedly considers this a major campaign factor for 1960.

Eisenhower named the vice president last week as head of a Cabinet committee to combat inflation.

Eisenhower has emphasized he regards a balanced budget as essential to ward off inflation, a view to which Nixon obviously subscribes.

Beyond that Nixon has made it clear he supports the Lincoln concept that Eisenhower frequently mentions — that the government should do for the people only what they can't do for themselves or can't do as well.

All of this seems likely to put Nixon in a somewhat opposite position from his greatest potential rival for the nomination, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Before Rockefeller became governor, the Rockefeller brothers fund which he helps to support issued a report that recommended, among other things, a higher level of defense spending than the $40,900,000,000 Eisenhower has outlined in his balanced 77-billion-dollar budget. Nixon stands firmly behind this defense total.

Rockefeller also is represented as favoring greater spending for natural resource, housing, health, education and welfare projects than Eisenhower has been willing to undertake under the Lincoln concept.

After only a month as governor, Rockefeller already is under Democratic attack in his home state on the economy issue.

Michael H. Prendergast, Democratic state chairman, said in a weekend statement that Rockefeller was proving to be "a luxury the people of New York state can ill afford." Prendergast complained about a proposed 275-million-dollar increase in state taxes, contending this did not promise "economy and prudence."

Whatever contrast there may be between Nixon and Rockefeller on domestic issues, they seem to have little difference of opinion on international affairs. Both have been active in international matters, and both favor overseas aid.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THE 60 POINTS SCORED by the Tigers at Lake View the other night was only the third time this season the Bengals have scored in the 60's.

The other two 60-point performances ended in victories for the Tigers. In fact, the other two 60-point games came back-to-back. The Bengals defeated Vernon 60-54 for third place in the Canyon Reef Tournament and then followed up with a 61-42 victory over Brownfield, both games coming in mid-December.

The Tigers have played nine games since the Brownfield game and have managed to top 50 just once during that spell. The Black and Golders tallied 51 against San Angelo's 69 on Jan. 4 for their only 50-point performance of 1959 until last Friday's game.

Despite their inability to score this season, the Tigers have never ceased to hustle. It's rather amazing to see a bunch of kids who have been plagued with tough luck displaying this kind of spirit.

Tigers Have Played 'Em Close

Except for the Lamesa game, the Tigers played every team close to the belt in the first round of play. The Bengals held the lead at halftime in two of the four conference games and were tied with another.

The Tigers led Colorado City and Sweetwater by identical 22-21 scores at halftime and were even with league leading Lake View at 31-31.

The Tigers stayed in contention in all three games right down the wire.

With their fine showing last Friday, the Tigers could very well make a lot of noise in the second half of the conference race that opens here tomorrow night against Colorado City.

Sims Played At Baylor

To set the record straight, Wraymond Sims, local stockman, played under Coach Frank Bridges at Baylor University, not Hardin-Simmons, as we mentioned in this space the other day.

Sims played fullback for Baylor in 1922 when the Bears won the Southwest Conference.

Ironically, another ex-Tiger, Jack Spikes, played the same position for TCU last fall on the next SWC champion of which a Snyder boy had a hand. TCU also had end Milton Ham, another ex-Tiger, last season.

Sims finished his eligibility at Baylor in 1923 and then served as a backfield coach for the Bears under Bridges in 1924 when Baylor won its last SWC title.

Sims honored Coach Bridges with a dinner here last night, attended by Bridges' two other former pupils now residing here and their wives, Supt. of Schools T. E. McCollum and John Harvey, both of whom played for Frank at Hardin-Simmons in 1928-29; and yours truly and spouse.

SIX TEAMS STILL IN TITLE RUNNING

SWC Continues In Big 'Mess'

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The Southwest Conference basketball race hits the midway mark this week with the leaders battling each other in the first big showown.

Texas Christian ahead by a halfgame, is in a position to solidify its role of driver but the trail is rugged. The Horned Frogs play Texas Tech and Texas A&M—the latter on its home court.

Tech is in a virtual tie with Baylor for second place while the Aggies are next in line.

Baylor also might get its comeuppance. The Golden Bears must battle Texas A&M at College Station.

But from the seven conference games on the schedule for the week could come one of the biggest jams the league ver knew.

Tuesday night there are three games with Texas A&M and Texas Christian battling at College Station in the feature. Texas Tech hosts Rice while Southern Methodist tries Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Wednesday Texas takes time out from the conference wars to play Oklahoma State at Stillwater.

Saturday night Baylor tackles Texas AM, Texas Christian entertains Texas Tech, Arkansas and Texas clash at Austin and Southern Methodist and Rice tangle at Dallas.

The Aggies have the advantage in the schedule from here on out and they need it. They are actually just hanging on, with three defeats in six games. A&M gets TCU, Baylor and Texas Tech at College Station.

The home team bulge isn't very large this season, however. Thus far the visiting team has won 10 times in 23 games.

Superior outside shooting was the key to the victories by Texas Tech and Baylor last week while Texas Christian controlled the backboards with its towering veterans in denting Southern Methodist's hopes of figuring in the championship. SMU tied for it with Arkansas last season. These two teams are deadlocked for sixth place with 2-3 records this time.

Rice didn't play last week but Tom Robtaille held onto his lead in season scoring with his 289 points. H. E. Kirchner of Texas Christian pulled within six points of him.

Leaders Meet In City Tilt

League leading Boys Club will meet second place Canyon Reed in City League action tonight at Junior High Gym at 8:30.

Meeting in the first game will be Poe & Wasson and D & H at 7.

Canyon Reef pulled into contention with a 66-64 victory over P&W last Friday night while the Boys Club stayed undefeated by downing D&H, 58-44.

Dwayne Prince led Canyon Reef with 36 points while Howard Jones led P&W with 31. Ned Underwood hit 26 points for the Boys Club, Dub Holt 16 for D&H.

Texas Christian clung to the lead last week by lashing old enemy Southern Methodist 72-60. Baylor stayed in the runnerup spot with a 64-58 triumph over Arkansas. Texas Tech walloped Texas A&M 56-46.

SHS Opens 2nd Round Against Wolves Here

Winless in the first round, the Tiger basketeers open play in the second round of the double round-robin District 3-AAA schedule here tomorrow night against the Colorado City Wolves.

Coach J. P. Ward's charges, conference champs the past two seasons, can vacate the cellar with a victory tomorrow night. A Tiger victory would pull the Bengals into a tie for fourth place with the Wolves.

Lake View finished the first round unbeaten to take the lead. The Chiefs hold a one-game edge over Lamesa. Lake View has a 4-0 mark, Lamesa 3-1.

Sweetwater is in third place with 2-2.

Lake View also holds the top season record with 20 victories in 24 starts. Lamesa is the only other district team batting .500 or better. The Tornadoes are 13-13 for the season.

The Chiefs averaged 65 points per game in the first round of the conference schedule for the top offensive showing in the 3-AAA ranks.

Lamesa sports the top defensive mark in district play to date with a yield of 159 points, an average of only 39.9 per game.

William Keel of Lake View is the individual scoring leader through the first round with 80 points in four games for a healthy 20.0 average.

Keel is 12 points ahead of his nearest pursuer, Raymond Weaver of Colorado City who has 68 points. Jimmy Tomlinson os Lake View is third with 62 points, then comes Bill Dubose of the Tigers, Ken Barr and Howard Westmoreland of Lamesa with 59 points apiece.

7-4 Possible For Thomas In High Jump

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —Two years ago, when he was 15 years of age, John Thomas had trouble clearing 6 feet in the high jump.

Today, the gangling Boston University freshman is one of the world's five 7-foot jumpers, holds the world's indoor record and very well could go up to 7-4 by the 1960 Olympics.

Young John, who stands 6-4¾, still is developing. In less than a year, he has grown an inch and three-quarters. He hasn't reached his potential yet.

In his past three competitions, he has broken the world's indoor record each time. First, he made 6-11. That erased Ken Wiesner's mark of 6-10¾.

Next time out, he upped his week-old standard to 6-11¾. And Saturday in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden he became the first high jumper in history to get over 7 feet indoors.

At the moment, Yuri Stepanov of Russia holds the outdoor world record of 7-1 (with the aid of a built-up shoe). That's certainly is within reach of Thomas and, as a matter of fact, he came mightly close to clearing 7-1¼ Saturday night.

"I don't want to predict anything for myself," said John, an unassuming lad. "I'm just going to keep on jumping and see what happens."

His next effort will be in the Boston AA Games this week and he'll be up against Charlie Dumas, the world's first 7-footer whom he licked in the Millrose meet, and Richard Dahl, the European champion who has cleared 6-11¼.

Pole vaulter Don Bragg came close to grabbing some of the spotlight from Thomas. The big Vallanova graduate got over 15-6½, and barely missed at 15-9, which would have wiped out Dutch Warmerdam's 15-year-old world indoor record of 15-8½.

Ron Delany won his 26th straight mile race hitting the tape in 4:06.5.

TWC Heads Big State

By The Associated Press

Texas Wesleyan, leading the Big State Conference basketball race with an unbeaten record, takes out from championship warfare this week while the others catch up in games played.

St. Mary's, with a 3-1 record, engages winless Southwestern at Georgetown Thursday night. St. Mary's is 1½ games back of Wesleyan with its 5-0 record.

One other conference game is scheduled, with Southwestern and St. Edward's tangling at Austin Monday night.

Wesleyan beat Pan American 77-73 last week to maintain its lead. It was the only conference game on the schedule.

College Basketball Races Developing Into Free-For-All

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball, which got itself into its present free-for-all status in two months, has a month left to get out—and what a scramble it should be.

With the time for tournament selection committees to start lining up prospects for March competition, there are at a minimum 20 teams acting as if they could possibly take it all.

Once-beaten Kentucky, defending NCAA champion, again is No. 1 in the Associated Press poll and likely can hold the position without further stumbling.

But how much difference is there among teams like Kentucky, North Carolina, Kansas State, Auburn, North Carolina State, Michigan State, the rugged Missouri Valley trio of Cincinnati, Bradley and St. Louis, West Virginia, Mississippi State, Utah, Texas Christian—to name the major conference teams—and such independents as Marquette, Seattle, Oklahoma City, Louisville, St. Bonaventure, and St. John's?

Part of the sorting out process could come this week with the heaviest day-by-day schedule since the holiday tournaments in December.

Every night is a major one, starting with a Monday schedule that includes five of the top 10 teams along with St. Louis, Marquette and Mississippi State — three trailers anxious to move up.

Key pairings are Michigan State-Wisconsin, Tulsa-Cincinnati, North Texas-St. Louis, Wichita-Bradley, Kansas State-Nebraska, St. John's-Notre Dame, Detroit-Marquette, and Tulane-Mississippi State.

Of the top 10, only St. John's (No. 7) slipped last week—losing a pair of road games to St. Louis and to oft-beaten Chicago Loyola.

Marquette (14-1) with 12 in a row, and St. Louis (13-2) with 11 straight, now have the longest major streaks going below unbeaten Auburn, a 64-61 winner over Vanderbilt Saturday for its 25th straight.

St. Louis, joining Bradley in a challenge to Cincinnati in the Mo Valley race, walloped Houston 71-47 Saturday night after spilling St. John's 72-63 Thursday. Marquette, rolling under former St. Louis coach Eddie Hickey, came away from two weeks of mid-term exams with a 66-62 decision over vastly improved Louisville.

Kentucky, building its record to 17-1, bagged No. 601 for coach Adolph Rupp in a 94-51 waltz over Florida; second-ranked North Carolina (12-1) beat South Carolina 62-50, third-pegged Kansas State (15-1) walloped South Dakota State 91-65, Cincinnati, No. 5, downed Wichita 95-87 as Oscar Robertson scored 44 for a 33.3 average, and North Carolina State, No. 6, toppled Clemson 69-54.

Eighth-ranked Michigan State fattened its Big 10 lead, 81-72 over Northwestern and ninth-ranked Bradley cuffed Tulsa 86-72 in other Saturday features.

Furgol Ends Long Drouth At San Diego

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO, alif. (AP)—The 1959 gold rush of the golfing brigade in California was over today, with Marty Furgol the latest to hit pay dirt and Art Wall Jr., carrying the most loot.

Furgol, a 41-year-old veteran from Lemont, Ill., came from behind in the last nine holes to win the $20,000 San Diego Open Sunday, with rounds of 70-71-64-69-274—14 strokes under par. The win gave him $2,800 and his first tournament victory in five years.

The money championship goes to Wall, who in one month raked in $11,965.53. He won $6,000 in the Bing Crosby clambake.

Wall's 278 put him way down the list of finishers. But it netted him another $610.

The windup was hectic and but for a brilliant shot off the tee by Furgol, the show could easily have gone into a six-way tie and a playoff for top money.

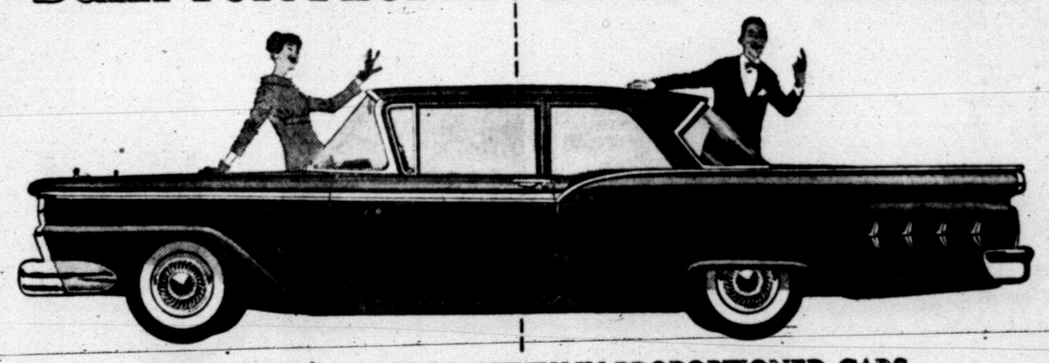

Furgol's last big win was in the National Celebrities in Washington, D.C., in 1954. Using borrowed clubs, he drove to the green, banked by crowded bleachers. The ball landed 12 feet from the cup. All he needed was two putts to get his par three and the spoils. He got the three.

Just a few moments before 23-year-old Dave Ragan of Chattanooga, Tenn., had blown a chance to tie or possibly win. He drove to the 18th green and the ball landed in the bleachers.

The former University of Florida star, a pro since 1956, pitched out but left himself a putt of 12 or 15 feet. He couldn't make it and took a bogey four.

THE WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFULLY PROPORTIONED CARS

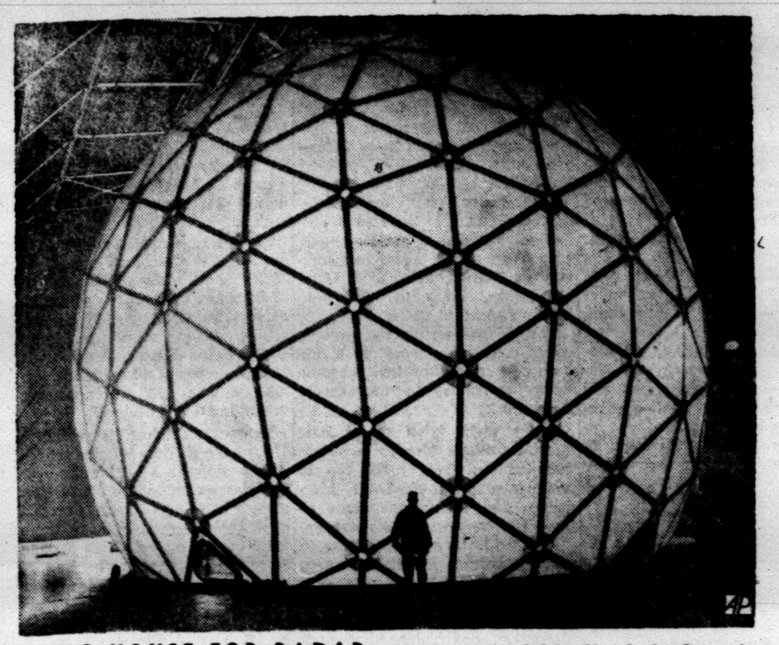

Here's how to comfort-test a Ford. Take six people—a daddy longlegs, a Mr. "five by five," any shape, any size. Put them in a Ford and watch what happens. First they can get in easier. Once inside, everyone (including the man in the middle) has a thickly padded seat for real comfort. There's more than enough room for legs, elbows, hips—and hats! Come in for a "people test"!

Suggested Ford retail prices are lowest of the best-selling three for all comparable models. With radio, heater, and automatic transmission, Fords are priced up to $102.75 less than the major competition. Diamond Lustre Finish never needs waxing. Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE

QUESTION: How do scientists know how much you weigh on the moon?

* * *

ANSWER: Strictly speaking, your weight is the pull of gravity against your body. The bigger and more solid your body is, the harder gravity pulls against it and the more you weigh.

Scientists know how much you weigh on earth — in other words, what the pull of gravity is on your body on earth. They are also able to estimate the pull of the moon's gravity. They have decided that the pull of gravity on the moon is about one-sixth what it is on earth.

If this is true, then you would weigh one-sixth as much on the moon as you do on earth and be able to jump six times as high.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: There are many fascinating facts science has determined about the moon. If you have use of a good telescope, examine the moon's rugged face some night when it is full. If there is a planetarium nearby, plan to visit it to see photographs of the moon. In your library you will find many good books about the moon.

SNYDER BUSINESS NEWS

SURVEY CREW AT WORK—This is a crew of the Snyder engineering and surveying firm, W. W. Greif & Associates 2403 Avenue R, at work in the field near here. Left to right are Price Pool, W. W. (Doc) Greif, Joe Whitlow and M. W. Chaney. Combined the four men have about 32 years of experience in the field. (Lee Watson photograph)

Greif Engineering Service In Demand

Experience and care are essentials in good engineering work, and the Snyder firm of W. W. Greif & Associates, consulting engineers, has one and uses the other.

The firm is headed by W. W. (Doc) Greif, a graduate registered civil engineer and a registered public surveyor with 16 years of experience in this type work.

Greif's engineering and surveying firm has spread considerably since Greif moved his operations here four and one-half years ago.

The firm has made numerous well locations in Scurry, Garza, Borden, Mitchell, Dawson, Andrews, Fisher, Howard, Coke and Kent Counties.

Usually the firm works within a 100-mile radius of Snyder. Greif does, however, do some work outside that limit, many times for firms which had used his services while he still had his offices at McCamey several years ago.

The firm is now doing road survey work in Winkler County and has recently done pipeline surveys in Pecos and Upton Counties.

Greif's firm, which is familiar with oil activity in this area and keeps up-to-date on it, has two survey crews available to furnish prompt and efficient service on surveys. The firm has a long record of honesty, promptness, and efficiency in service.

All types of surveying and engineering work are done by the Greif firm, including well locations, lease surveys, pipeline surveys, and lot surveys.

Greif makes free estimates on any type survey. Such work is inexpensive, especially on the long-range savings it makes for the person using the service. For example, a person who is preparing to build a fence or plant a hedgerow along the side of his property or build any type structure on his property should first get a survey done. The small expense of this service can easily save him much money which any litigation would cost should there be a property dispute after the building. Property lines are not always where owners think they are.

The firm also has complete facilities for any type drafting, map work, and all types of reproduction work. It also handles a retail line of engineer's and draftsman's tools.

Greif is not the only person in his firm with experience. For example, one survey crew is composed of Price Pool, instrument man who has been with Greif six years and moved here with the firm from McCamey, M. W. Chaney and Joe Whitlow, both of whom have had about five years of experience in the field.

Search For Slayer Of High School Girl

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Police questioned a score of witnesses over the weekend, searching for a lead in the brutal slaying of Marcia Cordon, 15, a high school sophomore.

The girl's body was found Saturday night face down in a creek in North Huntingdon Twp., about six miles from her home in Shawtown near this western Pennsylvania community.

An autopsy showed the girl had been sexually assaulted and bludgeoned to death, according to Coroner Stephen D. Yoney. She was last seen shortly after attending a high school basketball game last Tuesday.

Front Teeth Out

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Chris Stanley had been biting himself too frequently, so he had his two front teeth removed.

They were the only two he had. Chris is one month old.

Gulf Plans Proration

HOUSTON (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp.'s plans to prorate crude oil purchases were in effect today but the company declined to spell out exact provisions.

Gulf announced Saturday night that the proration likely would affect Texas, Louisiana, Alabama and New Mexico.

A spokesman said there would be no immediate elaboration on the announcement.

"The question of how much proration depends on day-to-day factors such as Gulf's ability to develop other purchasers and on available storage," he said.

The company said its actions were caused by a strike by 4,500 members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union at its Port Arthur refinery. The plant normally processes 275,000 barrels of crude oil daily.

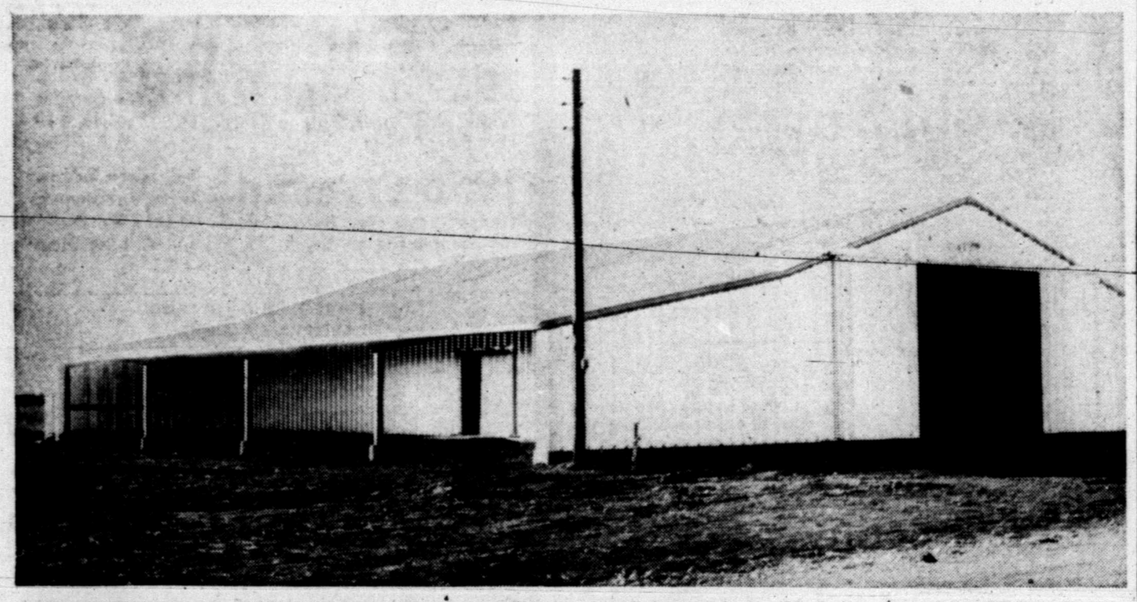

Meanwhile, union leaders launched a drive to raise funds for the Port Arthur strikers, who went out last week.

Beauticians Work Overtime On Project

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Beauticians worked overtime at five Dallas beauty parlors Sunday, giving free permanents to nearly 200 elderly women and orphan girls.

The treatments were given by members of the Texas Assn. of Accredited Beauty Culturists to residents of charitable institutions.

The observance was started about 10 years ago by a retired Dallas beautician, Miss Mae Whitley, who was then president of the National Assn. of Accredited Beauty Culturists. The free hair waves were in observance of National Beauty Salon Week.

Butler Buildings Gaining Popularity

One of the newest trends in farm buildings, all steel buildings, is changing the appearance of many farms and ranches in Scurry County.

J. L. Wadleigh Construction Co., dealer here for Butler steel buildings for all purposes, said that the new steel barn and utility buildings are becoming more popular because they offer a number of advantages over common wooden structures.

The new Butler buildings are engineered to offer maximum strength and durability, yet hold costs to a minimum, and mass production of the buildings holds down the initial costs.

Wadleigh said the buildings offer the advantage of clear - span construction with a rigid-frame, permitting use of all the space inside the building.

The clear-span buildings with no interior support posts range in widths from 4 feet wide to 120 feet wide, and come in any lengths, merely by adding sections to the building. The buildings can be expanded easily at any time more space is needed.

Wadleigh is a well known contractor throughout West Texas, having constructed such buildings as the Lamb Chevrolet Co. building, Katherine Ryan School, Ezell-Key Grain Co., Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co., the new Eastland Country Club, the new "M" System Food Store in Sweetwater, and the large new bowling alley in west Midland.

"The most popular size farm building is 40 feet wide and 60 feet long with a 12 by 11-foot door in one end and 16 by 13-foot door in the other permitting entry of self-propelled combines, loaded hay trucks or other large vehicles," Wadleigh said.

"The Butler buildings come in four different designs, one of which will fit the many needs of any farm, ranch, business buildings, warehouses, or industrial buildings," he said.

Construction of the buildings is of the finest materials available utilizing galvanized steel or aluminum for the wall and roof panels, all-bolted construction to prevent wind rattling, loosening of the panels, and insure a tight fit for the life of the building.

The buildings are engineered to withstand winds of up to 120 miles per hour making them safe for any weather condition.

The buildings are mouse, bird and rodent proof, and can be made dust proof when kept closed, Wadleigh said.

Another advantage of the Butler buildings and Wadleigh Construction Co. is that the buildings can be in use on the farm or by the business within 30 days after the order is placed for the building. Delivery of the building from the factory is usually made within two to three weeks after the order is placed, and pouring foundation, floor and other ground work can be done as fast as the weather then permits. The Wadleigh construction crews can erect the steel framework and place the side walls and roof in only a few days after the foundation is completed. Light panels can be placed in the roof at only slight additional cost giving the interior of the building adequate lighting without use of electrical lights most of the time.

J. L. Wadleigh Construction Co. is located at 3305 Forteith Street, and the telephone number is HI3-4394.
