Demo Leaders Will Convene

By DAVE CHAVEZ

AUSTIN — (AP)—Hush-hush is the word for one of the two Democratic party leader meetings here starting Monday.

Fireworks could develop in both the state executive committee session Monday or from the "school of instruction" for Democratic big wheels Tuesday. Any shooting at the second will be muffled by closed doors.

The state executive committee at its last meeting agreed to follow the national party policy of holding the instruction meeting in secret. The committee could but wasn't expected to open the doors to everyone. Reporters were told they could attend, but not write anything about the off-the-record statements from these party leaders.

Mrs. India Edwards, vice-chairman of the national committee; Undersecretary of Labor Ralph Wright; Rep. Wright Patman of Texas.

Other speakers include Paul C. Sparks, executive secretary of the State Federation of Labor, and E. E. Vance of the Production and Marketing Administration.

At the executive committee meeting Monday, such touchy subjects as party loyalty pledges are almost bound to come up.

Two Democratic factions, hold-the-line Trumanite and buck-the-line rightwingers are arming for a 1953 showdown. The Trumanites definitely were in the saddle at the executive committee's last session in McAllen.

The executive committee session is to make up the official ballot for the Democratic primary July 22.

The committee will select the site for the next committee meetings and for the September convention.

San Antonio, Abilene and Mineral Wells are bidding for the September convention.

At the party leaders conference Tuesday, Wright and Sparks will talk labor, and Vance, the Braniff farm plan.

Blinking out its first signs of life, Pampa's new signal light system began at 1 p. m. yesterday to wink meaningfully through amber eyes at traffic around the intersection of Hobart and Alcock.

Rain caught workmen of the Brooks Electric Co. shortly after they completed the blinker connections and forced them to quit before the remainder of the lamps could be tied into the main circuit.

Signal lamps along Cuyler and Ballard will be set in place this week with the entire system expected to be in full use by Friday. Setting up the lamps and tying into the circuit will be the last step. The master controllers at Police Headquarters and the Fire Department have already been installed.

The Hobart and Alcock lamps were set in place on the five standards Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Completion of the system was held up several weeks because of material shortages.

Longview seat of Gregg County in East Texas, had 13,758 residents in 1940. Gregg County's population increase was 14.5 percent, rising from 58,927 to 60,953.

Kilgore, partly in Gregg and partly in Rusk County, showed a population rise from 6,708 to 9,685. This was a 44.5 percent increase, but civic leaders in the east Texas oil city said they were surprised and disappointed that it wasn't more.

Gladewater's population increased from 4,454 to 5,310. The greater Longview figures were not reported. This area, including nearby Greggton, is estimated to have a population of 30,000. Census officials made no official estimate but indicated this figure would be about right.

Kilgore officials had expected the city's population to be between 13,500 and 14,000 residents. Two adjoining unincorporated areas, Melrose and Shell Camp, would add another 2,420 inhabitants to Kilgore's city-limit total of 9,683. Kilgore's 1949 city directory listed 17,000 names.

Intervention By Forrestal Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The late James V. Forrestal stepped in before the sensational American case broke in 1945 to get word to President Truman that it might imperil Russian relations. His personal papers showed this yesterday.

Mr. Truman refused to postpone the case. The six arrests came only nine days after Forrestal intervened.

The Justice Department confirmed contents of the Forrestal papers a few hours after the Washington Star published the story.

Forrestal, then secretary of the Navy, wanted to make sure Mr. Truman knew all about the case for four it would "greatly embarrass" relations with Russia in the critical negotiations for establishment of the United Nations.

In a May 28 entry among "Diary Notes," the Star says Forrestal anticipated that the arrests, then scheduled for May 30, would bring an "anti-Russia play-off" of the incident "out of all proportions to its importance."

So Forrestal wrote that he had asked a presidential aide to see that Mr. Truman was informed, and called FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in efforts to get before Mr. Truman the facts "as well as their implication."

The FBI cracked down on June 6.

The six persons, including three government employees, were arrested on espionage charges growing out of raids on offices of an obscure magazine, Amerasia, where hundreds of secret government papers were found. Four of the six later were freed and two paid fines on lesser charges.

The Star's story, which observed that Forrestal acted "from the highest motives," broke as senators buzzed with suggestions for getting access to his diary. They sought possible clues to the origin of the go-slow proposal in the controversial Amerasia case.

Forrestal's diary is located in the White House where it has remained since died last year in a plunge from an airplane window of Naval Hospital here. He then was secretary of defense.

But filing doesn't always mean they will be on the ballot. They have to pay for the privilege, and by June 24.

On June 19 the county Democratic Executive Committee convenes to determine the order of ballot and set the filing fees. Each candidate will be assessed a pro-rata share of the cost of election, the fee being based on a percentage of the first year's salary in office. The fee is usually set up per office and then divided equally among the candidates for that office.

Therefore, if only one candidate is seeking a certain post, he pays the full fee. If two, or more, are seeking the same office, the assessment is divided equally among them. This assessment must be paid before midnight, June 24, to the county chairman or the candidate will not appear on the ballot.

Outside of Atty. Aaron Sturges' filing for chairman of the Gray County Democratic Committee, there were no significant developments on the local political front last week.

Party political activity was as dull as the public office activity. Only three of the 18 precinct chairmen filed for reelection during the past two weeks, all of them unopposed to date. Those seeking reelection to their non-Norvel, described variously as a spiritualist and a psychologist, John H. Hamley, Precinct 6; Gus Green, Precinct 9; and H. C. Coffey, Precinct 15.

To date the offices of county judge, county treasurer, county clerk, district clerk, county tax assessor, county collector, county commissioner of Precinct 3, and several other justice posts are uncontested. All of the other county and precinct offices have two or more candidates.

60 Boys Sign For '50 Derby

Entries for Pampa's Soap Box Derby closed yesterday and a total of 60 boys have entered to compete for the trip to Akron, Ohio and the crack at the National Soap Box Derby.

Entrants will come from Pampa, McLean and Borger.

The local race will be run off on July 30 over the usual course on the old Miami highway, north of the city. The race will again be co-sponsored by the Pampa Lion's Club, Culberson Chevrolet, The Pampa News and the Chevrolet Division of General Motors.

A huge list of prizes has been set up for the local race, with prizes for many various features of the race. The big prize of course, is the expense-paid trip to the National Derby, accompanied by a representative of The News. There the local winner will compete with other winners from all over the nation for the first prize of a four-year college scholarship.

The Pampa Lion's Club has set up its committees to handle the race, and the committee chairman assignments are as follows:

General chairman, B. R. Nuckols; track director, J. Ernest Wimbome; director of hill top operations, Bert A. Howell; director of heats, E. A. McLennan; chief judge, Douglas Nelson; director of finish line operations, Murray Sealey; chief starter, Jimmy McCune; first aid committee, Malcolm Brown; registrar, Pinky Shultz; concession committee, Clarence Kennedy; printed program committee, Ted Eads; official announcer, Bob Parkinson; clerk of course, Paul Brown; chief inspectors, Russell Kennedy and Bob Jorgenson; co-assistants, prize committee, Dale Pinson; entrants committee, Bob Buzbee; sponsor committee, Paul Brown; building progress committee, Harold Miller; and chief photographer, Irl Smith.

These men will head the committees that will handle the full operation of the event, and see that it is run off just as smoothly as in past years.

A full list of participants will be released soon, along with a complete list of prizes to be awarded.

Austin Moves Into 5th Place Among Texas' Big Cities

(By The Associated Press)

Austin edged ahead of El Paso into fifth place among Texas' big cities Saturday in preliminary figures of the 1950 census.

The state capital's population was figured at 131,964. El Paso, the state's westernmost city, has 130,063 residents.

The Austin figures did not include the metropolitan area, for which figures will not be released until next week.

In 1940, El Paso had 96,810 residents, Austin 87,930.

Meanwhile, Longview's population was announced as 24,447. This was a gain of 10,689 persons and 78 percent — the biggest in the Third Congressional District.

Longview seat of Gregg County in East Texas, had 13,758 residents in 1940. Gregg County's population increase was 14.5 percent, rising from 58,927 to 60,953.

One Killed in Plane Accident

TULSA, Okla. — (AP)—An Air Force C-47 transport plane's power failed on a take-off yesterday, causing the craft to ram an aviation school's barracks and injure three men, one fatally.

Amuel A. Kerr, 39, a janitor for the Spartan School of Aeronautics, died a few hours after the plane's wing sliced through a building where he was at work.

Eighteen persons aboard the plane and 60 students sleeping in a barracks touched by the wrecked ship escaped injury.

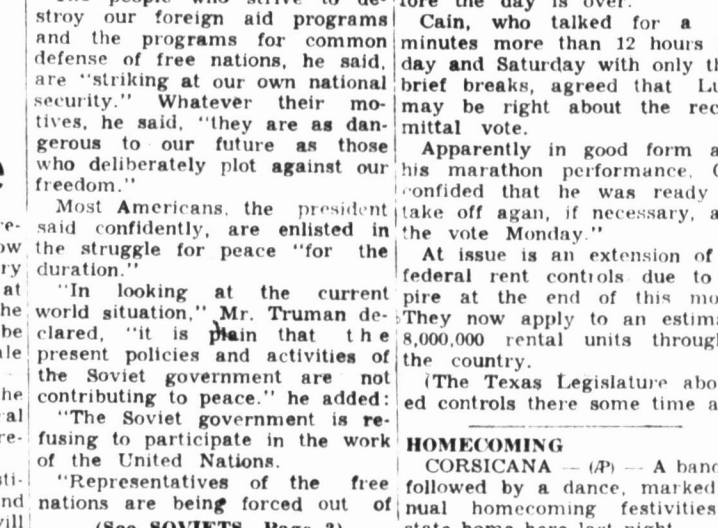

Alma Puckett, 61, another janitor in the building, was critically hurt. J. W. Long, 67, a school guard, suffered cuts and bruises.

One Week Remains To File for Spot On Primary Ballot

Prospective candidates for county and precinct offices have until midnight Saturday, June 24, to file their intentions with the Gray County Democratic Committee if they want to be on the July 22 Democratic primary ballot.

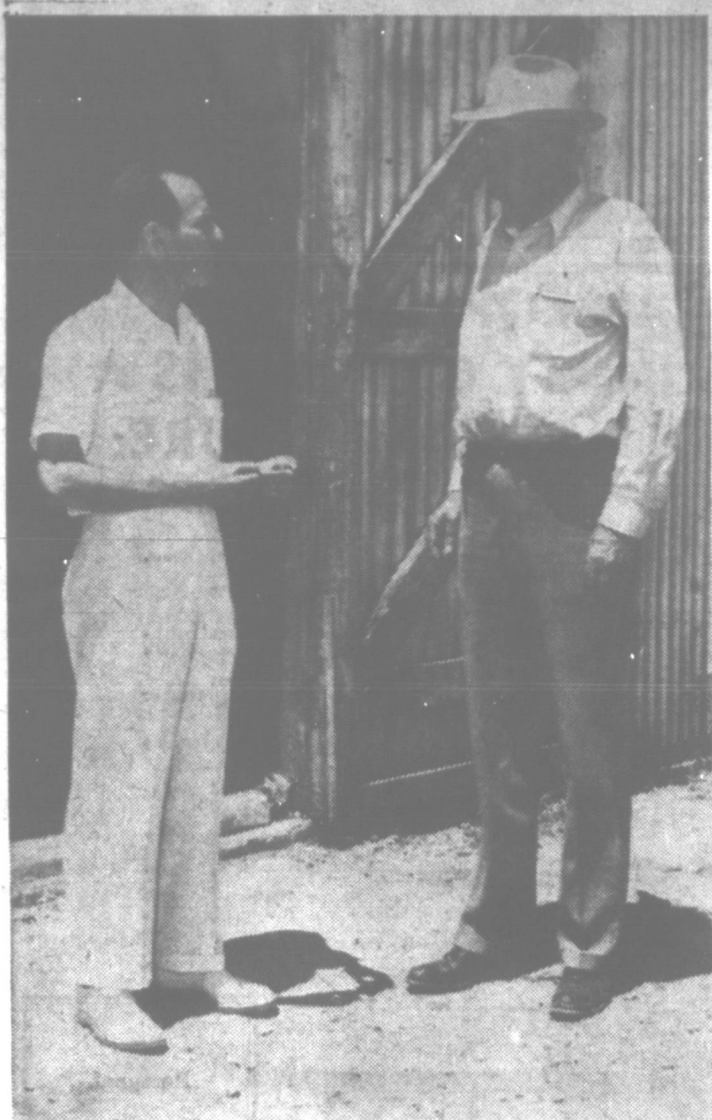

But filing doesn't always mean they will be on the ballot. They have to pay for the privilege, and by June 24.

On June 19 the county Democratic Executive Committee convenes to determine the order of ballot and set the filing fees. EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugstore and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcinate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

"Before taking Barcinate, my weight was 250 pounds. After taking seven bottles my weight is now 210 and I feel so much better, thanks to Barcinate." Signed, Mrs. L. M. Robinson, Seabrook, Texas.

Texas Water Well Contractors Slate Amarillo Gathering

A membership meeting of the Texas Water Well Drilling Contractors Association will be held in Amarillo Tuesday, H. H. Heiskell, Pampa, a member of the association's board, said yesterday.

Heiskell, who has been conferring here with Arno Loessner, executive secretary to the association, said a broad legislative and public relations program would be discussed at the meeting.

The group will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Herring Hotel. Loessner, whose office is in Houston, said the association is seeking regulatory legislation for water well drilling in various sections of Texas. "Regulations that would apply to East or South Texas," he said, "may not fit the problems of the West Texas driller. So, we want legislation that provides regulation to suit the needs of the individual areas."

Mobeetie's Good Neighbor Loves Flowers and People

By ROBIN TIBBETS
Pampa News Staff

MOBEETIE—Real neighbors are hard to come by in these days of fast automobiles, casual acquaintances, and an ever-moving population.

This little farm town in the Eastern Panhandle is fortunate, for living on the outskirts is Mrs. F. C. Peace—pronounced "Peace"—who, with her flowers and a love for people, has become Mobeetie's real good neighbor.

Mrs. Peace doesn't call herself an old-timer in the Panhandle, since she has only been here since 1929. Up until then she had lived in Oklahoma. "But," she explains, "I'm a native Texan, having been born in this state 69 years ago." While she was still a child, her parents moved to Oklahoma. "When I first came back to Texas, I didn't like it," she relates, "I didn't like the wind, the sand, and the hot weather. After a while, though, I began to like it again and now I wouldn't leave here at all."

Her last statement is proved by the fact that for quite a while she has refused to move to California despite her son's insistence that she do so. "My son says if I will just visit California for two weeks, and see how easy it is to raise beautiful flowers, I'll never want to come back to Mobeetie. But," she says, "I want to live in the Panhandle, and although he thinks I can't raise flowers here, I have been doing so for a long time. I just couldn't go away and leave my flowers."

Mrs. Peace has had her share of experiences. For four years, beginning in 1903, she taught school in Edmund, Okla. "I never had to whip my students," she informs, "they were good kids. I remember one time," she relates, "when one big boy broke into the school building after school was out, took all the pencils out of the pencil box and went down the road sticking the pencils in the ground on both sides of the road. We didn't find out who it was for a long time."

"Finally, that boy came around and confessed, and cried and said he would do anything to make up for that. I didn't whip him, he had had enough punishment."

During the time she lived in Oklahoma, Mrs. Peace had a little session with a tornado. The whole town of Butler was blown away, and she and Mr. Peace were appointed a committee of two to prevent looting. Their home escaped without damage.

Mrs. Peace has two hobbies: flowers and sewing. In her flower garden she has a large number of different kinds, including iris, chrysanthemum, phlox, marigolds, honeysuckle, primroses, and of course, her favorite, roses.

This year, she set out 16 bush roses and six climbers. "They've had a hard time though," she says, "for they have to compete with the drouth, cold, high winds, and blistering heat, all typical of the Panhandle."

Mrs. Peace is very fond of her flowers, and especially the roses. A great deal of her time is spent caring for them, cutting them and carrying the flowers to her friends and neighbors. "I love my flowers, and I like to share the things I love with everyone," she makes it plain, however, that she can't seem to get along with people who don't like flowers.

For many years, Mrs. Peace has been interested in doing all sorts of needle work, and while living in Oklahoma City, sold her creations for a profit. Several of her pieces of cut needlework have been exhibited at state fairs and have won many prizes for originality, design, and craftsmanship.

She has one table cloth design which was copied from a piece taken from the tomb of the Egyptian king, Tutankhamen, when it was opened a few years ago.

Pampan Returns From Tour Held for 4-H Talent Group

Ralph Thomas, Gray County agent and Glen Harris, Kingsmill, District II nominee for the 4-H Talent Club, returned home Friday night following a five-day tour of several cities in Texas. Thomas said the group of eight boys and eight girls and their adult leaders visited first the Copp Oil Mill at Lubbock. While there, they also visited the Producers Grain Elevator, and the Cotton Oil Mill which is the second largest producer in the U.S.

In Abilene, they drove through the campuses of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene Christian College and McMurry College.

The group saw the giant Buchanan Dam and power plant; the capitol building in Austin; governor's mansion, state museum; Doolin Foundation Farm at Doolin; Naval Training Base at Corpus Christi; the Alamo in San Antonio; San Jose Mission; Breckenridge Zoo and other points of interest.

While the cable was being fixed, Talent Club members went for a boat ride in the Gulf. About 10 miles out to sea, a steering cable broke and the boat was forced to anchor for over an hour while the cable was being fixed. Thomas reported that all during the trip, they had excellent meals. At San Antonio, they were served a Mexican dinner, and at Corpus Christi a sea food dinner.

On the return trip, each member of the Talent Club wrote his impressions of the trip. Thomas stated that, much to his surprise and pleasure, the boys said they were more impressed by the cotton oil mill and grain elevator at Lubbock, the Doolin farm, and a corn products mill which they visited in Corpus Christi, than they were by the governor's mansion or the boat ride.

Dramatic Trial Unfolds in Police Course on Burglary

By FERMAN MORRIS

"Are you a fingerprint expert?" the defendant, acting as his own counsel, asked bittlingly of the calm man in the witness chair.

The witness, a policeman, replied in the negative before those sitting in the packed court room.

Mountains of tagged and dated evidence, a barage of objections from attorneys, and frequent rulings from the bench, gave authenticity to a mock trial staged Friday afternoon in the Pampa police department.

It served as the climax to a week's instruction in burglary investigation conducted by two members of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The trial was complete in every detail. There was a judge, prosecuting attorney, and even a jury.

Clifford Braly served as judge, while the prosecutor was portrayed by Tom Carter, of the Dallas FBI office. His partner, Dan Smoot, was the defendant facing trial on charges of burglary brought after a chain of strong circumstantial evidence had been built up.

Early in the week, the two FBI men gave police officers instructions in the latest methods of getting and preserving evidence at the scene of a crime. Later, the officers left the room while a clever stage was set depicting the back end of a store whose safe had just been robbed of $4,000.

At first, the various articles lying around in a haphazard manner seemed to have no meaning. A squad of officers was assigned the task of getting and labelling the many items, in the hope of getting a clue.

Early investigations, conducted by Desk Sergeant Oliver Trimble, soon lined up four or five persons who were likely prospects.

Like the movie detective plots, each of them seemed to be the guilty party. Finally, fingerprints and a pistol narrowed them down to one likely prospect.

It was he who faced prosecution in the mock trial.

Getting and preserving evidence in such a way that it will stand up in court under attacks from the defense is most important to a police officer, Smoot told the department.

Above all—he said, the officer who sits in the witness chair must convince the jury that he is impartial.

because it is the only line serving the entire territory, Alaska Steamship "virtually controls the economy of Alaska."

The company issued an immediate denial.

Anti-Trust Action Started Against Big Alaskan Firms

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The biggest string of anti-trust prosecutions ever undertaken at one time in a single area tightened yesterday about a sizeable segment of business in Alaska.

Prosecutions were started in Anchorage against 22 corporations, 138 individuals and two liquor dealer associations, and Attorney General McGrath said that more actions are to come.

McGrath announced that the move was directed against what the Justice Department described as "collusive arrangements among business groups which have obstructed the development and expansion of the Alaskan economy."

Based on 10 sealed indictments returned last Monday by a federal grand jury at Anchorage, the actions were directed against several lines of trade, including shipping, fuel supplies, food, the liquor business, taxicabs and dry cleaning services.

According to the Justice Department, the "most significant" of the prosecutions was a double-barricaded indictment and civil suit against Alaska Steamship Company of Seattle and five of its officers, including the president, Gilbert W. Skinner.

The attorney general said that "I Do"

It MAY HAVE BEEN but a decade ago, or it may have been far back in the "Twenties" . . . but sometime, somewhere, a young man stood in the soft light of a Junetime morning and repeated the words—"I do."

Since that time, he has fought—without interruption—for the place in the world he wants his family to occupy.

And it well may be that, out of the struggle, he has lost just a bit of the sentiment that used to abide in his heart—for success is a jealous master and exacts great servitude.

But not when the Junetime comes—and, with it, that anniversary of another June!

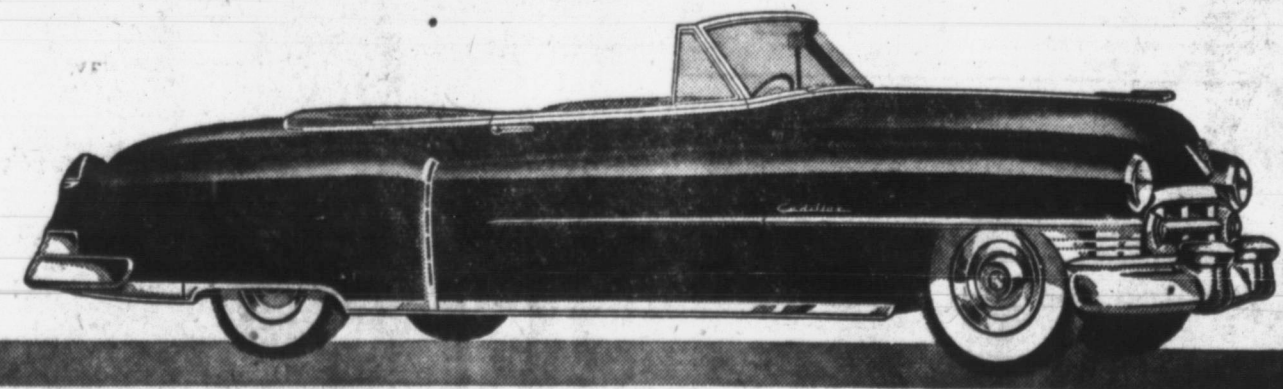

Then the work-a-day world, with its many tasks, is cast abruptly aside; and sentiment—pure and simple—rules in his heart once more.

And, because there are so many thousands of him, door-bells are ringing this June throughout America . . . and smiling boys in uniform stand, hats in hand, to deliver the proofs of remembrance. And along with the beautiful flowers, and the boxes of candy, and the countless other gifts, some of those brides of other Junes will receive the titles to new Cadillacs.

And, for them, there will be no other June like this—save one alone.

As your Cadillac dealer in this community—we've had long practice in the art of keeping secrets. Why not come see us today? You can trust us not to tell!

Rain Postpones Greenbelt Play

Semi-Finals Rescheduled, Finals Slated for Today

The semi-final rounds of the 19th annual Greenbelt golf tournament were washed out yesterday afternoon at the Pampa Country Club, when an extensive Panhandle rain sent golfers scurrying through their last shots and forced a rescheduling of the semi-finals for today.

Original plans called for completion of all matches except the finals in all four flights by last night. However, due to the excess precipitation, the golfers will start morning their semi-finals this morning at 8:30, and then complete the tournament tonight.

Utah Names Curtice Athletic Director

The meet, headed as a huge success by all concerned, attracted 68 golfers from Oklahoma and Texas. Qualifying rounds were completed Thursday as four amateur experts tied for medalist honors. In the playoff, Friday, Zade Watkins shot a two-under par, 69, to top the honor. In a quarter-final match yesterday, Watkins bested his medalist winning score by one stroke when he shot a 68 in downing R. L. Duckworth, 3-2. Duckworth is the Greenbelt Association president. In today's semifinal round, Watkins will meet Tommy Hale, who surprised youngsters from Phil and Lyle. Hale, the second son of the Phillips greengrocer, won the driving contest Thursday with a drive of 265 yards. He defeated Ross Magee to move into the semifinals.

Dody Cole, defending champion who had won the title twice, was upset in first round play by Billy Houck of Phillips. Houck then moved into the quarter-final match yesterday against Grover Austin Jr., previous Pampa Greenbelt winner. In the Pampa, 3-2. Austin and Clare Freeman clash today in the semifinals. Freeman won his semifinal round by besting Ernest Newman, 4-3.

In the Championship Flight consolation, Pappy Rogers will clash with Clarence McGinnis of Pampa, for the right to meet Dody Cole in the finals. Cole advanced to the title match with two victories by default.

The semi-final pairings are: CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT Grover Austin Jr. vs. Clare Freeman. Tommy Hale vs. Zade Watkins. CONSOLATION SEMI-FINALS Pappy Rogers vs. C. L. McGinnis. FIRST FLIGHT SEMI-FINALS L. TOP TEN MILES WASHINGTON, D. C. — (AP) — Sammy Baugh, great and undestructible passer of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League, finished the 1948 season with a career mark of just over ten miles gained by passing. The Redskin ace has tossed 2,608 passes, completed 1,387 for 17,796 yards and 190 touchdowns.

ZADE WATKINS, Pampa golfer, cracked the tough Pampa Country Club course in a two-under-par, 69, to earn medalist honors in the Greenbelt tournament after tying the first day with three other linksters. In the playoff, Watkins outshot Joe Rigdon, Billy Houck and Clare Freeman to earn the honors.

Hogan Earns Tie in Open As Injured Legs Play Out

By GAYLE TALBOT

ARDMORE, Pa. — (AP) — Little Ben Hogan's tortured legs played out on him when victory was within his grasp yesterday, and the great little veteran just lasted to salvage a three-way tie with Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio at the end of 72 emotion-packed holes in the National Open Golf Championship.

The largest crowd ever to witness a day's play in golf's blue ribbon classic — estimated at over 12,500 — rent the burning skies over Merion with a tremendous cry of relief as Hogan ran down a five-foot putt on the final green to save himself a place in tomorrow's 18-hole playoff.

One of the most remarkable triumphs in history apparently was Hogan's with only four holes to go in the marathon when his tired legs, bent and torn in an auto crash 17 months ago, finally buckled under the strain and carried him into trouble on the 69th and 71st holes.

He had to settle for a 74 on his final round to gain the deadlock at 287 with Mangrum, a former Open champion from Niles, Ill., and Fazio, a Washington, D. C., professional who never before found himself in such a spotlighted situation.

The first inkling that the bantam, idol of the huge gallery, was facing serious trouble came at the 12th hole of the hectic closing round, when, after hitting his tee shot, he was seen to stagger and almost fall.

Though Ben declined to admit after it was over that he had twisted his maimed right knee at that point, it was noted that he never again stooped to pick up his ball on the green. Defending champion Cary Middlecoff, who was playing with him, invariably "marked" Ben's ball when it needed to be lifted on the carpet, and the caddies took turns retrieving it from the hole.

"Let's not say anything about it," Ben suggested to a reporter. "I imagine people are getting tired reading about my injuries."

Up to the time he grimaced in pain at the 12th, Hogan had pulled away from Middlecoff, the man he apparently had to beat, and needed only to come within three strokes of Merion's par on the final seven holes to finish in front of Mangrum and Fazio, who had completed their rounds earlier.

But it was not to be, and today the veteran will have to haul his battered shanks over Merion's hills once more in an effort to win his second Open. The odds, in the circumstances, will be against him.

Mangrum won his title in a similar three-way playoff against Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi at the Canterbury Club at Cleveland in 1946. Hogan won his at the Riviera Club at Los Angeles two years ago with a record-breaking total of 276. Fazio never has won a major crown.

Hogan's four rounds in the past three blazing days were 72-69-72-74 — 287; Mangrum's 72-70-69-76 — 287; Fazio's 74-71-72-70 — 287. Mangrum went into the closing round leading by a stroke, but blew badly.

The mountain bluebird was believed sacred by Navajo Indians.

Illinois Hurler Mentally Ready

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (NEA) — Illinois pitcher Alby Plain can't explain his success in tossing three complete games, failing to be touched for an earned run in 27 straight innings.

"Maybe it's because I'm mentally ready," theorizes the right-handed curve-ball artist. "My control is better. I believe I'm a little faster."

Chiefly a relief pitcher last spring, Plain owns four-hit shut-out victories over Iowa and Northwestern, and a three-hit, 11-2 triumph over Minnesota. He struck out 20, walked only four.

SON OF CAGE TUTOR

DETROIT — (AP) — Fred Enke, Jr., ace recent quarterback of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, is the son of Arizona University's basketball coach.

W. H. Cane's GOLF VINE, a year-old trotter who lost only one race in 1949, ran third first time out at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N. Y., this spring.

Middleground Cops Race in Surprise Win

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK — (P) — Texas, the largest state in the Union, had the biggest horse yesterday in the $91,950 Belmont Stakes as King Ranch's Middleground rambled to a brilliant victory over nine rivals including Hill Prince — the odds-on favorite.

It was a stunner for the crowd of 38,182 sweltering customers, who backed Hill Prince down to 17 to 20 favoritism then watched him finish seventh after setting the pace most of the way.

Middleground, the winner of the Kentucky Derby five weeks ago, was second choice this time. He came roaring down the stretch in a thrilling drive under 18-year-old Bill Boland to beat out George D. Widener's Lights Up by a length. C. V. (Sonny) Whitmyer's Mr. Trouble was third, losing second place by half a length in a photo finish, which showed Brandywine Stable's Greek Song fourth by a head.

Just as in the derby, it was an all-Texas combination that carried away the top prize of $91,350 in this 32nd running of the Belmont — final event of the triple crown for three-year-olds.

Boland, owner Robert J. Kleberg, trainer Max Hirsch and Middleground all came from the Lone Star State, and the combination put the flashy chestnut son of Bold Venture-Vergenza smack back into the scramble for 1950 three-year-old championship honors.

Middleground, well rated by Boland through the first mile where he was fourth, didn't pull away until the final sixteenth in the grueling mile and one-half run. But you could see he was going to make it as the leaders hooped through the dust around the final turn and into the straight run for the wire.

The winner, clocked in a 2:28.3-5, brought his backers $740, $3.60 and $3.20. Lights Up returned $7.50 and $5.50, while Mr. Trouble paid $4.70.

Clifford Moores' Hawley was fifth, Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship was sixth, then Hill Prince, Hal Price Headley's Lohowhite, and Brookmeade's other entry, Sun Glow, bringing up the rear. At the head of the stretch, pace-setting Hill Prince tried and fell behind. Lights Up took a brief lead near the eighth pole but Middleground came sailing on the outside past Mr. Trouble and about a sixteenth of a mile from the wire it was all Texas.

This was the eighth start, and only the second victory for Middleground this year. He was second to Hill Prince in the Preakness three weeks ago, the Withers a month ago, and in the Wood Memorial in April before the Derby. He has been second six times this season.

HEY, BOB—Back turned, nonchalant Bob Elliott seems blissfully unaware of Reds' Catcher Dixie Howell pushing up to tag him in the second inning at Cincinnati's Crosley Field. The Boston third baseman was hung up between third and home when Second Base man Gene Mauch bounced back to Ken Raffensberger. The left-hander shut out the Braves, 3-0.

Odessa, Abilene Dominate Class AA All-Star Team

AUSTIN, Texas — (P) — Odessa's class AA state baseball champions placed five men on the 1950 all-state tournament team, but runner-up Abilene did even better, with six.

Pitcher Tom O'Bar of Abilene and outfielder Frank Gee of Odessa, only unanimous choices of the sports writers covering the class AA meet, tied for the honor of outstanding performer. Results of a poll of the attending sports news service:

Pitchers — Tom O'Bar, Abilene; George Tucker, Sherman; Jack Whit, Odessa.

Catchers — Don Dacus, Marshall; Charles Fisher, Abilene; Dawson Hughes, Odessa. (All received the same number of votes.)

First baseman — Robert Jones, Abilene. Second baseman — James Stewart, Odessa; and Will Armstrong, Abilene, tie. Third baseman — John Stephens, Abilene.

Outfield — Frank Gee, Odessa; Bob Higginbotham, Sherman, and tie between Hub Ingraham, Abilene, and Wayne Woodlin, Marshall.

Utility — Clyde Israel, Amarillo. Honorable mention: Pitchers — Garland Fuqua and Bobby White, Odessa; Charles Rabe, Waxahachie; Vern Irwin, Amarillo, and Willard Sterling, Beaumont; Catchers — Tommy Curtis, Amarillo, and Charlie Miller, Sherman; Infielders — Delbert Rowland, Marshall; Raymond Wilkin, Odessa; Ben Lankford, and Jose Rodriguez, Laredo; Ray Walton, Beaumont; Leon Doche, Amarillo; Charles Dennis, Abilene; Herbert Hill, Amarillo; Don Martin, Sherman; Kenneth Owens, Waxahachie; Outfielders — Joe Pearson, Odessa; Jack Wade, and Richard Adams, Sherman; H. A. Butler, Beaumont.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
ARDMORE, Pa. — (P) — There's an old stone quarry which adds considerably to the hazards on the back nine at the Merion Golf Club, but the U.S.G.A. must think it's a gold mine. It was in anticipation of a record "gate" that officials increased the Open prize money to $15,000, besides commemorating the 50th Open, and it looks like they'll get it. Attendance for the first two days was estimated at 17,000 — certainly there were a lot of people on the compact course. The U.S.G.A. attendance record of 35,490 was set here at Bobby Jones' "grand slam" amateur in 1930 and the biggest net receipts also were recorded at this course. Fans paid $55,319 to see Bobby and the old Open championship record, also set here in 1934, lasted until the 1948 crowd piled out at Cleveland's Canterbury Club for a double playoff tournament.

RUB OF THE GREEN

There have been plenty of odd shots in two days of the tourney, including Johnny Levinson's wallop into the stone quarry which bounced off a rock onto the green for a birdie, but we'll give the prize to young Hobart Manley, Jr., of Savannah, Ga. He pitched one to the sloping fifth green Friday, just a bit short of where he wanted it, and turned to get his putter. When he looked again, the ball had rolled back clear off the green.

MAINLY MAIN LINE STUFF

Seems the old pros weren't kidding when they said unplayed Lee Mackey had better get a job the night he made that opening round 64. They've seen seemingly-nerveless guys blow up before. Mackey had the real old confidence. Going off the first tee yesterday, he has a record score in his pocket and a three-stroke bulge over the field. Lee asked: "what's it going to take to qualify?" Atlanta's Tommy Barnes, who thought he might be called a pro because he listened to a Florida offer, has his own record score status confirmed by the U.S.G.A. He'll be eligible for the Southern Amateur Championships. Jim Gill, North Carolina State assistant football coach who apparently thought he might win some of those Pennsylvania football players on the course and baseballers Frank Lane and Jimmy Dykes, enjoying the sight of guys who can propel a ball more wildly than their pitchers. Dutch Harrison, the two-day open leader, was so late arriving for the tournament that his place almost was forfeited.

WEAK END NOTES

The Detroit Tigers are so hot after Gene Conley, Washington State's six-foot-eight pitcher who'll be on display in the NCAA baseball playoffs next week, that a scout flew to Pullman, Wash., and stayed there two weeks. He's drawn at least eight scouts at each of his recent games — which is more spectators than some college ball teams draw. Chicago's Scotty Fessenenden, whose presence is missed at the Open, describes his recent operation: "they cut a golf ball out of my arm." Barbara Ruth Stagg, granddaughter of Amos Alonzo, will represent Susquehanna U. in the Women's Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament starting yesterday. Golf fans noting Lee Mackey's "unequaled" blow-up — from 64 Thursday to 81 Friday — overlooked that Al Brooch skyrocketed just as far — 67 to 85 — guess they gave Al the Brooch-off.

Jean Duenkel Is in Finals Of Golf Meet

Mrs. Jean Duenkel, Pampa, is a dy golfer, after three straight wins in the attractive Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament, was scheduled to play in the final round yesterday at 11 a.m. against Mrs. C. R. Horn of Houston.

Mrs. Duenkel reached the finals with a narrow 1-up win over Mrs. Carl Mahan of Abilene on twenty holes. Mrs. Horn raced to the finals with a 3-up lead.

NO 'FORE' — GOLFER FINED
CARLSLE, Eng. — (P) — A golfer who failed to yell "fore" was assessed damages of 573 pounds ($3,492) in favor of a fellow player who was struck in the right eye with the ball and blinded.

Ordering George Alderson to pay the damages to Daniel Watson, Justice Sir Frederic Sellers, ruled: "The law is clear that on a golf course there is a duty to take reasonable care that no injury is done to those who are on the course or taking part in the game."

Read the News Classified Ads — and 3 victory over Mrs. J. R. Bradford of Dallas.

Mrs. Duenkel is in the third flight of the nine flight tournament, but her final results were not known at press time.

Hansen Signed By Pro Bears

CHICAGO — (P) — Wayne Hansen, 223-pound center from Texas Western College of El Paso, has been signed for 1950 by the Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

Hansen, 21, is the second new center signed by the Bears within two days.

The other was Rice's Gerald Weatherly. Thus Lone Star State athletes dominate the Bears pivot department, headed by 10-season veteran Bulldog Turner from Hardin-Simmons.

For Sunday night supper, serve creamed fish or eggs with a pan of corn bread and a salad.

Pampans Seeking Baseball Games

Pampa has an independent baseball team—but no games. Several ex-Pampa baseball players have organized an independent baseball team, but do not have any games scheduled. The Pampans seek to slate games with surrounding towns, including Wheeler, Briscoe, Mebeetie, Skellytown, or any other community.

If any team managers would like to play the local independents, they are asked to write to the Sports Desk, Pampa Daily News. The Pampans are willing to play at almost any time, on home-and-home basis.

Camp Ki-O-Wah, A Place for Sunshine, Fellowship and Just Plain Fun

Adobe Walls Council Scouts Immensely Proud of Camp

Two hundred and one boys were camped at Camp Ki-O-Wah last week, according to Paul Beisenherz, camp director. In addition to craftsmanship, the Scouts had plenty of recreation, sunshine, and fellowship.

The camp covers a large plot of ground, complete with plenty of trees, a lake, a firing range where the boys do target practice with .22 rifles, a large mess hall, and many other recreational facilities.

High upon the hill overlooking the entire camp is the well equipped mess or dining hall. At the south end of the hall is a large fireplace with a plaque over it which identifies the hall as being the property of the Adobe Walls Council. Overhead electric lights mounted on polished wagon wheels give the hall a rustic "outdoor" look.

Just down the hill from the mess hall is the lake. There, especially in the afternoon, the boys are taught to swim, to save lives, and to paddle a canoe. Experienced teachers are provided for each phase of water sport. Included in the instruction is a course on lifesaving in which the Scout dives into the water, fully dressed, removes his clothing in the water, and swims to shore.

Adjacent to the lake is the archery range. This is a favorite sport in the cool of the morning when the boys can't go swimming. As in the other sports, an experienced instructor is provided for those who wish to learn the art of shooting a bow and arrow, and to prevent any accidents which might happen due to carelessness or lack of knowledge about the weapons of our first Americans.

Up on the hill above the lake near the mess hall is the firing range. There, the boys and their leaders can lie down or kneel in the shade of a conveniently growing tree in the correct firing positions and fire away at .22 rifle targets, placed about fifty feet away. More often than not, Scout leaders whose charges are being instructed in some of the arts and crafts, spend the morning and some of the afternoon improving their marksmanship.

The camping grounds are located in a wood area below the lake. Here, beneath the shade of giant cottonwoods, Boy Scouts do bunk fatigue in their two-man tents, take instruction in craftsmanship, play catch, or just sit and dream of the day when they can make that trip to the national Scout jamboree.

Each phase of Scout training carried on at Camp Ki-O-Wah is supervised by instructors obtained for that purpose. While some of the boys are taking swimming lessons, a number of others may be "paddling their canoes." At the same time, another instructor may be assisting some of the younger Scouts in the art of shooting a bow and arrow.

Every Friday is visitor's day and that's when mom and dad, Aunt Susie, and all the little cousins come visiting to see just what goes on at Scout camp.

The present site has been in use for about 10 or 12 years. The land is the property of the Adobe Walls Council, but the lake was built by the State Game, Fish, and Oyster Commission. It was completed last October. Contrary to several reports, no rattlesnakes have been seen at the camp in several years. This is due primarily to the many non-poisonous bull snakes which are to be found in that part of the country.

Troops which camped at the site last week included Troop 22 of the First Baptist Church and 14 of the Presbyterian Church, Pampa.

targets with .22 rifles provided for the purpose of teaching Scouts to be good marksmen. Scouts launch a canoe (right center) and prepare to take it out on the lake for a little practice. Under the direction of specially selected instructors, three or four of the boys were allowed to take the boats out on the water and spend about 15 minutes rowing about on the lake. Before they are allowed to take the canoes out alone, the Scouts are given instruction on the operation of the canoe; how to row properly, how to turn, and other necessary instruction required for successful operation. A group of boys (lower left) crowd about four canoes while waiting for their instructor (with hat) to let them take the boats out on the lake. Canoeing, which is a novelty as far as most residents of the Panhandle are concerned, is one of the favorite activities of the Scouts. They are allowed to take the boats out only when an instructor is present to supervise and direct them in the necessary operations. To pass his canoeing test, each Scout must prove that he is capable of handling the canoe under all conditions. A group of Scouts who are studying to pass their swimming test (lower center) practice the aquatic art under the watchful eyes of their instructor. They had just completed their breathing exercise and are shown here as they swim toward shore. It's swimming time at the old swimmin' hole, (lower right) which isn't a hole at all but a fair-sized artificial lake built by the government to be used as a fish breeding ground. The tower at left is actually a life guard's tower with canvas wrapped around it, keep out the sun. The boys bent over in front of it are practicing how to breathe while swimming. After they practiced for a while, the instructor allowed them to put their practice to practical use and held a contest to see who could keep up the exercise the longest in the water. In the background can be seen other Scouts lining up for their turns at the canoes. The small group in the left foreground is lazily engaged in covering a companion with sand. In the right foreground, a Scout just takes it easy on the bottom of an overturned canoe. (Photos by Robin Tibbets, Staff Photographer; News Engraving)

82 Negroes Enroll In Oklahoma U.

NORMAN, Okla. — (AP) — For the first time in Oklahoma's history Negro students are sitting unsegregated in classrooms with whites.

The precedent was broken Friday with 82 Negroes attending opening day summer sessions at the University of Oklahoma. Some 100 Negroes are expected before registration closes June 17.

The newcomers to the once all-white institution also took their meals in the student union at tables side by side with whites — another heretofore unheard of occurrence.

It was G. W. McLaurin who first cracked the racial barrier in the fall of 1948 with his admission on a segregated basis. And his Supreme Court fight led to the breakdown of segregation in the university last Monday.

All the Negroes are doing graduate work except Ada Lois Sipuel, law student whose 1948 suit began the equal education struggle in Oklahoma.

Phone Company Sued by Taxi Firm

TYLER — (AP) — The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has been named in a $45,000 damage suit here by J. O. Jackson, owner of the Yellow Cab Company.

Jackson's suit, filed in Seventh District Court Friday, alleged Southwestern Bell's Tyler directory listed a competitor's telephone number for Yellow Cab. He said he notified the company of the error in September, but it was repeated in the April directory.

The suit accuses the telephone company of depriving Jackson of $2,000 business daily since September.

Jackson asked $15,000 damages for losses since September and $30,000 punitive damages. He asked also that the telephone company be required to pay him $2,000 a day until the error is corrected.

How SMOOTH can a ride be?

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

THAT'S a question well worth answering before you settle on your next automobile.

For what fun is there—what thrill—in a car that is prisoner to the city streets, slowed down by roads a Buick is built to take in stride?

So we'd like to show you just how much smoothness your money can buy. How levelly you float over cobbles and car tracks—over rutty gravel and wavy black-top—in this stunning traveler.

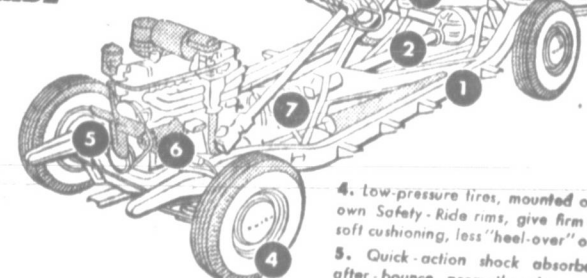

The car will be any Buick you prefer—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER. You can name the place —pick a spot or a stretch you know so that you can measure Buick's smoothness against your own experience—and we'll promise you a new sensation in riding comfort.

The time can be any time you want to arrange with your Buick dealer—who is ready to show with actual figures that "if you can afford a new car you can afford a Buick."

See him, will you, and treat yourself to some real comfort?

SEVEN POINTS OF THE WONDERFUL BUICK RIDE

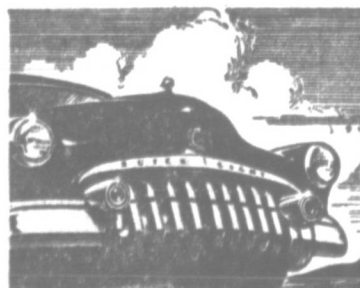

1. Buick's smoothness starts with this husky weavestop frame.
2. A stout torque-tube serves like the keel of a battleship to steady the whole car.
3. Gentle coil springs, the softest type men know, let each wheel "step over" bumps individually, just as only the front wheels do on most other cars.
4. Low-pressure tires, mounted on Buick's own Safety-Rite rims, give firm traction, soft cushioning, fast "heel over" on curves.
5. Quick-action shock absorbers sub after-bounce promptly when you hit a bad bump.
6. Even the special way the engine is mounted betters the ride by preventing vibration build-up.
7. Dynaflo Drive* adds a crowning touch of silky smoothness by eliminating the check and jerk of gearshifting and by filtering the engine's thrust through a cushion of oil.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Employment Is Found for Over 40,000 in May

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Texas Employment Commission found jobs for 42,667 persons in May. This was the best month since October, 1948 and the fourth largest since the war. The increase was 6,369 above the same month last year and 3,662 over March. A seasonal demand for workers by food processing plants in the TEC's Corpus Christi and San Antonio districts accounted for a large part of the swing up, but gains were recorded all over the state.

Beard Causes Loss of Job, New Employer

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — A man who lost his job because he grew a beard is not entitled to reinstatement.

So ruled an arbitration panel in a 2-1 decision. Howard Hatfield, 30, grew a beard to help celebrate Kansas City's centennial. His employer, a delivery firm, said the beard violated a company rule — either the beard or Hatfield must go.

That was last February when the mayor was appealing to every male citizen to let his beard sprout.

Hatfield, a driver for the firm and active in the centennial organization, said he couldn't ask others to grow a beard unless he had one. So he refused to shave. Yesterday's nine-page opinion pointed out that the company wouldn't "lose face by restoring Hatfield to his job" but chided

Change to Substitute For Chewing Gum

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — You won't get chewing gum instead of change any more in Mexico's biggest chain of food stores. The government announced its "new issue" of centavo pieces (slightly more than one-tenth of a U. S. cent) had already begun to circulate.

The old copper centavo pieces were worth more as copper than as money after the peso was devalued last year. They virtually disappeared. The food stores gave the "chewing gum," at the rate of one centavo a stick, instead of the odd centavos. The new centavo pieces are a cheap alloy, but it still costs more than two centavos to mint them.

If you have leftover scrambled eggs, you can mix them with a little chili sauce and serve them between slices of bread as a sandwich.

Hatfield for his "wilful, almost childish, desire to grow a beard and be a hero." But the beard will remain until July 4, end of the celebration, said Hatfield after the arbitration ruling. He's got a new job and his new employer admires Hatfield to his job" but chided

Father and Twins Celebrate Too Much

LONDON — (AP) — Swimming Instructor John Walter Shepherd was fined five shillings (70 cents) in a Lambeth court for being drunk.

Shepherd was arrested while airing his 16-month-old twin daughters. The perambulator wobbled alarmingly. "I had just been to a hospital where I learned that my wife had another set of twins," he explained. "I had a couple of nips to celebrate."

Mmes. Roach, Wood Host Bridal Shower

Mrs. Frank Roach and Mrs. C. H. Wood were hostesses at a shower in the home of Mrs. Wood, 530 North Gray, honoring Miss Willa Dean Roberts, bride-elect of Billy Joe Durrett of Mansfield.

Guests were Mmes. Lula Purdy, Glen Maxie, Flora Enright, Homer Bowers, H. H. Wall, F. E. Converse, Dallas Culwell, Della Sullivan, J. V. Munn, A. L. Lyons, Mel Davis, L. H. Duncan and Miss June Smith, Mrs. George Converse and Mrs. J. C. Moseley of Reed, Okla., and Mrs. C. E. Vought of Amarillo.

Coffee, cake, mints and nuts were served.

A PICNIC MEANS all kinds of things. To me it's an escape from the hot stove — to the kids it's a holiday from table manners — to the ants (parasites that they are) it's a free "hand-out." Anyway, whatever special meaning it has for you, it's an established summer-time custom and very popular with all ages. Sounded like the Jim Phillips and a group of friends had an enjoyable day last Sunday at Lake McClellan. Another group went out there Friday — popular spot, it seems.

THOSE SUMMER SHOWERS we had last week were fine, but I do wish it had rained all spring — before we started wearing white shoes. I definitely don't like splashing in mud puddles.

REALLY WAS LOTS of activity downtown the other day with the Liberty Bell here. Guess it's the kid in me, but I love a parade or anything else that resembles same. Surely was glad to learn that the Rodeo Association has begun plans for the rodeo this summer. There'll be some parades then and there's just an air of festivity about the whole town. All the shop girls don cowboy boots and even the tiniest Pampans wear a touch of Western regalia — even if it's just a cowboy kerchief. Wish we had a rodeo more than once a year!

IT CONTINUES TO AMAZE me why kids like shower baths on the back lawn — they find water so distasteful when it's time for a good tub bath.

PAMPA PANORAMA: Saw the Harold Millers all going somewhere as a family last Tuesday night ... their tiny son is really growing and isn't their house growing, too? ... just noticed lately that they've added on ... Guess about the proudest grandparents I know are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mosley ... the little grandbaby will be celebrating her third birthday soon ... third "month birthday", that is ... The Stu Stoddards are motoring East ... bound for the New England states, I believe ... and there's so much to see 'tween here and there! ... Missed Hazel Jay last week ... she's been in Denton to "pick up" her daughter who's a student at North Texas ... Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff is a most charming person ... I enjoy talking with her ... Saw three most attractive young ladies headed to the commerce meeting at the Junior High the other evening ... I didn't recognize them, but one was wearing all red and the other was in a navy dress ... Heard Jim Storms was real busy putting together a pop stand for his offspring ... it's located in the front yard under a shade tree ... Mrs. Floyd Ward is one of my favorite persons ... she always seems real glad to see her friends ... Heard that the D. E. Williams family is remodeling its garage and making a house out of it ... guess their backyard is a pretty busy place these days.

LAST WEEK the Bruce Pratts entertained their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dettler, from Kansas. You know, the young Dettlers' courtship was very much like that of the Pratts who were also students at K-State when they met. Mrs. Pratt was a Home Ec major, I'm told, and I suspect that is correct from the efficient way she runs her household. Her entertainments always seem so well planned, and truly that is the mark of a good hostess.

LOTS OF THE collegiate set are back home for the summer months. They certainly bring a spark of life to town. We'll be hearing about swiftness parties, lawn parties, houseparties for visiting classmates, and all sorts of other activities that make the old hometown bearable (?) until next fall and they're off to college again. (Joke, of course, the kids adore coming home). Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Sawyer's son and daughter are home. Both are TU students, I believe. (By the way, here's another note of cheer to the Doctor. Hear he's ill at home again — we've been missing him about town.) Dee Patterson's lovely young daughter is home from Tech. The Dick Pepins have their son home — he's a student NMML in Roswell. Betty Scott is visiting her parents for the summer and I guess she'll return to Big D in the fall for her sophomore year at SMU.

HAVE YOU EVER seen anything like the colored houses that are dotted all over town? That brand new home way out on Christine (the very last one in Fraser) has a coat of "Highland General green" and over on Francis Street there's a house painted real dark green. "Do Dr. and Mrs. George A. Snell live in the grey house on Mary Ellen?" I like that.

SOME HAVEN'T GONE all the way and painted the exterior of their homes, but have painted their front doors a new and exciting color. Notice the E. J. Griffins have a colorful red one, and is the John Adams family still living on Christine where the yellow door is? If so, they've also matched up their fence and roof top in a nice way — it's grey, isn't it? And I want to thank Mrs. Joe Lopez, Jr., for correcting me on the location of those ... Cost to South of Providing Equal Schools for Negroes Estimated at $1,000,000,000

By CHARLES BARRETT
ATLANTA — (AP) — Equal education for Negroes is a volcano on which the South slept for half a century.

Now the volcano has erupted into a billion-dollar problem.

One billion dollars is the best available estimate of the total difference between educational facilities for whites and Negroes in 17 southern and border states — from kindergarten through college.

The figure raises a cloud for the South in the wake of U.S. Supreme Court decisions last week.

The high court ruled unanimously and emphatically, in Texas and Oklahoma cases, that states must provide education for Negroes equal in every way to that for white persons.

If separate Negro facilities are not truly equal, said the court, then Negroes must be admitted to white institutions.

Actually, of course, that's no new idea. Southern states themselves enacted laws demanding equality back in reconstruction days.

The problem is that little was done about it for so long. In recent years some states have started big programs to meet the issue. But there's still far to go for the South as a whole.

Each time the Supreme Court flashes its red warning signals, enforcing equality becomes a new issue across the South. More than a dozen equality suits are pending in southern states.

What can the South do? Senator Johnston (D-SC) said last week, "It's obvious that South Carolina cannot afford to provide separate and equal school facilities for both races."

It's also obvious that South Carolina isn't ready to integrate the races in schools and colleges. Said Editor Ralph McGill in the Atlanta Constitution: "We should have known that we could not solemnly pass laws and then cynically and cruelly ignore them and get away with it forever. Certainly there were vast discriminations. There still are. We are caught in the trap of our own laws."

Increasing the headaches, the South's white schools are superior to Negro schools, but below the average for the nation; the South is the region least able to pay for either.

Interviews with educators and other objective leaders last week indicated these are some of the answers that will develop:

First, some racial barriers will fall in college graduate education. More and more states will admit Negroes to white medical schools, and such.

The cost of providing duplicate graduate facilities for Negroes in each field in each state is all but prohibitive. And even if the money is raised, personnel simply isn't available to staff Negro schools in such fields.

Second, there will be little if any quick breakdown of segregation at the undergraduate college level — and absolutely none in public grade schools in the South.

But to preserve segregation, lagging states will speed sharply their equalization of Negro schools.

Many southerners think if real progress is shown toward equalization, Negroes will go easy on court demands for immediate, one-swoop equality.

One of the region's best qualified experts, who said he could not be quoted by name on such a controversial question, put it this way:

"Segregation has a price tag. The South probably will buy all it can. But in the highest fields of education it just can't be bought."

Dr. George Mitchell, executive director of the Southern Regional Council, an inter-racial group promoting equality, saw two dangers if the South fights for segregation by raising huge sums to provide complete, separate college facilities for Negroes:

1. Courts could declare, as in the Texas case, the separate facilities still is not truly equal. He viewed the chance of courts finding real equality in most cases "very slim."

2. Or the Supreme Court some day will come wipe out segregation itself as unequal and illegal, an issue the court did not answer last week.

In either case, he said, millions would have been spent in a fruitless effort.

Just what is the picture on inequality today and where did the billion-dollar estimate come from?

In some states inequality reaches into every nook and corner of education: expense per student, teacher salaries, textbooks, buildings, bus transportation, length of term.

Other states are quick to point primarily at rapid progress toward equalization.

No one, of course, knows the exact total difference in dollars. The billion-dollar estimate was the conclusion of a half-dozen leaders who would hazard a guess.

The Southern Regional Council, which has studied the question for years, said the figure probably is higher. Using U.S. Office of Education figures, it estimated the cost of equalizing school buildings alone in 17 states practicing segregation in 1949 at $726,423,224. This was an adjustment of an actual count, on a per pupil basis, in 1945-46 totaling $456,869,932.

In 1945-46, latest complete figures available, the difference in annual expenditures per pupil totaled $116,571,454.

Conceding that these figures are old, the council reasoned that steps to lessen inequality might be offset by a general increase in dollar volume, so that the dollar gap would be roughly the same.

And these figures included nothing for colleges and universities. Today there is no state-supported Negro medical school courses.

In addition to creating these new college facilities, equalization would call for big boosts in many states in operational expenditures for present Negro courses.

Cost of Living Again Moving To New Highs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — The cost of living creeps higher again. Food price indexes are the highest in 17 months. Little relief from increasing meat prices is held out before fall.

Prices of basic commodities — the raw materials out of which the cost of living is fabricated — are in general up again to the level they held in January, 1949. Their average pushed upwards chiefly by the spurring costs of metals, rubber and wool. Rising prices in a few commodities get lost in that shuffle.

At the retail level, you will be paying more for tires, work clothes, carpets, top cuts of meat. It will cost you more to build a home. There's talk of further hikes in the price of gasoline.

Opinions differ as to what's in store for the fall. One school holds that prices are more likely than not to continue going up. But they think the advance will be slow because higher prices will draw more goods from America's expanding industrial plant, and the resulting competition will curb any runaway in prices.

The other school believes that the price climb is topping out now — that the spurt in metals, speculative as it is, may prove to be the last stage in the present creeping inflation. They argue that in the past, metals frequently have spurred just as other commodities were ripe for a drop.

Meantime, the pinch is on the pocketbook.

The Associated Press index of wholesale commodity prices hit 171.73 Thursday, highest since January, 1949. It has been climbing almost steadily since March 30, when it touched this year's low of 159.30.

The food component of that index is also at the highest peak of the year, and highest since last December.

Farm prices, the Agriculture Department reports, are at their highest since last September — but still 19 percent below the record set in January, 1948. The department says farm prices jumped two percent in May and it predicts that prices of most classes of meat animals will go even higher this summer. Bad growing weather had bolstered grain quotations.

What's sending prices up? In a few cases, it's a matter of tight supplies. That was the reason given for the run-up in the price of coffee, cocoa, lamb, and wool.

In other cases, the demand is high — frequently much higher than expected only a few months ago. That's the reason given for the jump in the price of rubber, steel scrap, copper, zinc and gasoline.

And in most all cases, there's that other element in inflation at work — more people have more money and want more of the best grades of meat, best grades of wool fabrics. They'll pay more to get what they want.

Transporting Food Costs More Than Double 1939 Mark

WASHINGTON — (AP) — It cost $2,500,000,000 to transport the nation's 1949 food supply from farm to retail store, or more than double the prewar cost.

The Agriculture Department, reporting this, said it represents an average of about $16.67 for each American.

About $3,600,000,000 was spent, the agency said, in transporting all agricultural products.

The big boost over prewar costs largely reflected higher rates.

The department said railroad rates on farm products as a whole have increased about 57 percent since July, 1946. However, rates on agricultural products apparently have increased somewhat less than rates for all commodities combined.

The department said rates charged by regulated motor carriers apparently have increased almost in proportion to railroad rates, although numerous instances are reported in which selected farm products are diverted from rail to motor truck because of lower rates.

Presbyterians Pick Moderator

MASSANETTA SPRINGS, Va. — (AP) — A World War I field artillery chaplain and former Rhodes scholar is the new moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

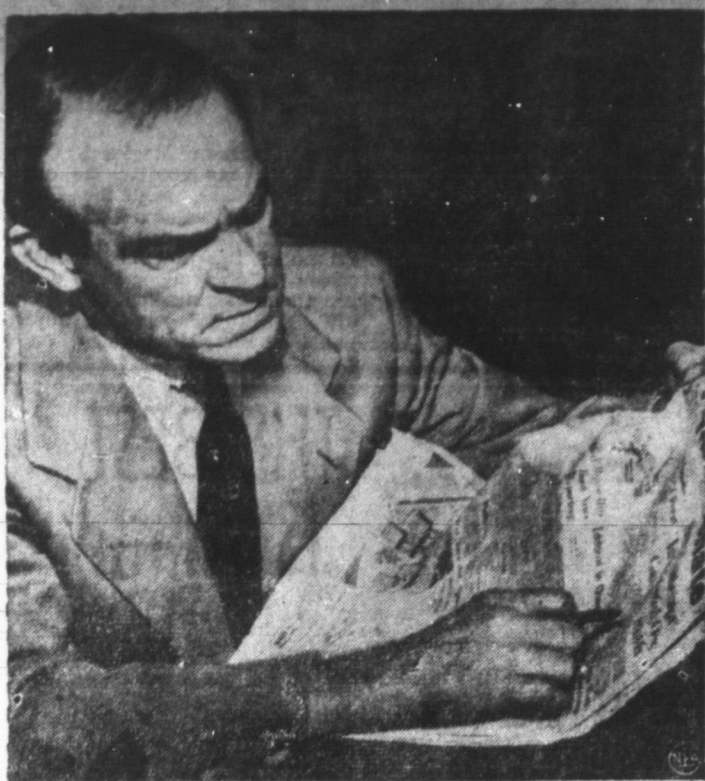

He is Dr. Benjamin Rice Lacy, Jr., president of Union Theological Seminary in Richmond.

Dr. Lacy was elected unanimously at the opening of the southern church's 90th general assembly.

About 400 lay and clergy commissioners from 87 presbyteries in synods throughout the southern church are here for the session.

After serving from 1917 to 1919 as a chaplain with the 113th Field Artillery, 30th Division, Dr. Lacy was pastor of Central Presbyterian Church of Atlanta for seven years. He left that post to become president of Union Seminary in 1926.

BOY DROWNS
WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — An 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Whitaker, drowned Friday in a stock tank on his father's ranch near here.

IN "FREE PRESS" FIGHT—Editor Clayton Fritchey of the New Orleans Item, above, and his boss, publisher David Stern III, have been put on the carpet by the Louisiana state legislature for editorially comparing that body to "trained seals." A never-used constitutional clause, aimed to protect legislators from "disrespectful, disorderly or contemptuous" remarks, could subject Fritchey to a 10-day jail sentence. Stern called the legislators' use of the statute a blow at freedom of the press.

Housewife's Hand Quicker Than Eye

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — Marvin Hersh, a door-to-door magazine salesman, called on Mrs. Madeline Sauder yesterday.

"Good morning, madame. Did you get your free cook book yet?"

Mrs. Sauder said she hadn't, so Hersh handed her one.

"There's usually a catch to this sort of thing," the lady said.

"Oh, no," Hersh assured her. "It's absolutely free."

Whereupon Mrs. Sauder closed the door and left Hersh with an unfinished sales talk on his hands.

Hersh rapped vigorously at both front and back doors. Mrs. Sauder refused to answer. She called the police instead.

Hersh told Sgt. Gerald Wilson, "The cook book is free only when you take out a subscription to a magazine."

The sergeant was unimpressed.

He ruled on the spot that Mrs. Sauder was entitled to keep the cook book. There was no indication whether Hersh planned to appeal to a higher authority.

DALLAS — (AP) — A second man injured in an explosion in the utility tunnel at Chance Vought aircraft plant died yesterday.

He was J. B. Granger of Route 1, Lancaster. He and Frank Dee Stevens, 21, of Dallas, who died Friday, were injured in the explosion Wednesday as they repaired a 2,300-volt switch.

Stevens was a native of Borger, Texas.

Beating Fatal To Texas Man

FORT WORTH — (P) — Troy M. Roberts, 66, found in his store with his skull crushed from a beating, died yesterday.

Customers found him in his second hand store here Friday. He did not regain consciousness before he died. He apparently was beaten with a baseball bat which one of the three he had for sale.

The bat, a new crack in the handle, was found near the back of the store. A single gray hair was stuck to it.

Robbery was studied as a motive. About $500 and a gold wrist watch belonging to Roberts were missing. His daughter, Mrs. Christine Pope, said her father had had approximately $500 in currency in his billfold. The money was gone when officers arrived.

An autopsy showed Roberts was struck above and behind the

Divorce Is Granted On Cruelty Charge

Betty Anne Brock Friday was granted a divorce in 31st District Court from Charles C. Brock on charges of cruelty.

They were married in August, 1946, and separated in April, 1949. The mother was awarded custody of her two children but was not granted support order by the Court.

The Court also granted one adoption Friday afternoon.

Next winter's race dates at Miami's Hialeah Park are Jan. 17 through March 3, a total of 40 dates.

right ear. Detectives said his skull was crushed by a savage blow from behind.

Officers said Roberts apparently was hit when he was in the back part of the store; staggered outside and back in another door in an obvious attempt to reach a telephone. The phone was within his reach when he fell.

Mrs. Pope said she had seen her father shortly before 2 p.m. Friday and at that time he had about $500 in his billfold.

Mexico Buys Pipe Valued at Million

MEXICO CITY — (P) — Banking circles reported Saturday Mexico has bought $1,000,000 worth of pipe from France to finish the Tehuantepec Isthmus pipeline. The deal was handled by the government's foreign commerce bank. France guaranteed delivery would start within sixty days. Payment will be in dollars.

The bank has also arranged a barter deal with West Germany, 7,500 tons of oil well casing for fresh frozen meat.

A Brazilian steel mill was second bidder and lost to the French by a slight price margin.

Plow Attachment Patented By Clyde Morrow of Groom

GROOM — According to The Groom News, Clyde R. Morrow, Jr. has obtained a patent on a new plow attachment. The patent number is 2,550,000.

Called the Morrow-Hooper Rolling Koller, the invention is used on any sweep-type plow. Placed on the plow directly in front of each sweep, the mechanism serves to eliminate pulling up of sweeps with weeds, grass, stubble, etc.

The Koller consists of two sharp corrugated wheels 18 inches in diameter, a bumper, and shock absorbing action.

The rolling corrugated wheel is attached to the plow by two tubes, one sliding in the other, after the manner of a shock absorber. Inside the tubes is a spring which serves to hold the wheels on the ground. The tubes have enough surplus action to allow the Koller to rise up and pass over posts, cans, iron beams, etc., thus eliminating the danger of breaking or damaging the mechanism. The bumper eliminates

Widow-Strangling Is Frowned Upon

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Widow-strangling is one of the native customs of New Guinea that Australia is trying to stamp out.

Stephen Loneragan, special Australian representative in the trust territory of New Guinea, told the U.N. trusteeship council that Australia intends to allow the New Guinea natives to preserve the best features of their customs.

What, asked Awni Khalidi, Iraq delegate, are the best features of native customs?

Loneragan answered that most of them are all right.

"However, there are certain bad features, one of which is to have the wife strangled after her husband has died," he said. "Such customs the administration doesn't want preserved."

Writer Awaits Words That Mean Life, Death in Family

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK — (AP) — I have just had a harrowing experience. It happens to thousands of people, and is something that doctors face nearly every day.

Over the weekend, I drove to another state to see a daughter ill in a hospital. Doctors were not sure what was wrong. Consultants had disagreed.

About one thing they were certain. The trouble was one of two diseases. One possibility was mononucleosis or glandular fever. The other was Hodgkins disease, also a glandular trouble.

But between the two is all the difference in this world. Mononucleosis is not dangerous. Hodgkins disease is one hundred percent fatal.

The verdict would depend on blood and tests which were under way in distant laboratories and they would not be ready until the middle of the week. So I drove home to wait, but before leaving I talked with the physician in charge.

He had insisted that the Hodgkins disease suspicion had to be investigated to the limit, an attitude we all approved. But I found he was worried about something in X-ray pictures — a spot that could mean Hodgkins disease. Perhaps I knew too much about X-rays, but that spot fixed itself in my mind, and would not be driven away. It just seemed to sit waiting.

I would hear the verdict by phone, at night, at home, that was the arrangement. The call would come either from another daughter or from my young son-in-law. It wasn't due until Wednesday night, but on Tuesday evening, after dinner, every time the phone rang, the bell seemed to be inside me.

"Two-word death. Mononucleosis." At the first ring I jumped involuntarily.

"Hodgkins disease," I thought. "Two-word death. Mononucleosis, one word, life and happiness."

Again the bell. It was only a call about a Girl Scout meeting.

"Hodgkins," my thoughts continued, "called gland cancer though it really isn't cancer. Cause unknown. A virus suspected — what virus, why our old friend Virus X."

"Not painful," thank God for that. But death in a few weeks or two or three years, seldom longer. The lymph nodes swell. They are little oval things under the skin around neck and face, under armpits, in front of elbows, around groins, and elsewhere. They grow and grow, and you get weaker and weaker.

"Brr—" was that the phone, or me? Me, I am too jumpy. Sometimes there are remissions. That means temporary apparent recovery. Do I have to pray for a remission? I wish because these have worked hard to get started and now for the first time they thought they had a chance for a little trip. She's too sick even for one last trip, unless we can get a remission.

The phone again. This time the unmistakable touch of the long distance operator. Can it be so soon, I asked myself?

The call was from Boston, about an auto.

"Saved by the bell," my random thoughts say. "Mononucleosis, that means glands infected. By what? Oh, by Virus X. Some low fever, a long rest, and you are well. Mononucleosis, lots of us have it, but many without recognizing the cause, because this trouble imitates a score of others."

Including Hodgkins disease. That disease hits young and middle-aged, and men two or three times often than women. Just by way of counting the straws, one in my favor is that this case is a daughter instead of a son."

"I think of the prominent men who have died of Hodgkins disease. They cannot be identified because families conceal this disease the same as cancer. It's not as rare as you might think."

Now the phone calls are over for the evening, and I go to the kitchen for a drink. Again the bell, this time the long, insistent call that signifies long-distance. My wife whispers:—

"For you — from Vermont."

"For you — from Vermont."

This is it. What word is coming — one, for life — or two, for death?

I walked fifteen feet to the phone. I'll never forget that so long. It was like looking at myself on slow-motion film. Who would call, I thought, my daughter, sister of the sick girl, or my son-in-law? How to guess which one would be the bearer if it was two words?

They came my daughter's voice — "Hello Pop, how are you?" "Oh, fine, and how are you?" Was ever a phone call started with any other words, I wondered.

Then my daughter spoke again one word.

Gatesville School Escapees Blamed for Crime Increase

GATESVILLE, Texas — (AP) — One hundred and ninety three inmates of the Gatesville State School for Boys escaped from Feb. 1 to June 5 of this year and stole property in Coryell County valued at $13,245, the report of a grand jury here said.

The grand jury reported to Judge R. Bates Cross that: "we recommend to the next legislature that some law be passed whereby the citizens of Coryell County who lose their property by theft and damage by the inmates escaping be reimbursed."

"In making this recommendation, we do not seek to reflect on any person or persons who have charge of said institution and feel they are doing the best they can under present conditions."

The grand jury's report continued: "We have been called upon to investigate the numerous crimes and offenses committed in Cor-ryell County by the inmates of Gatesville State School for Boys. We find that in the month of February, there were 75 escapes; March, 30 escapes; April, 42 escapes; May, 41 escapes and from June 1 to June 5 five escapes, totaling 193 escapes, an average of 47 escapes per month."

The grand jury said crime in Coryell County was greatly on the decrease "except that which is committed by the inmates of the Gatesville State School for Boys, which is on the increase and alarmingly so."

Honey of an Idea May Be Profitable

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — City Finance Director Allen P. Frierson has come up with a honey of a scheme to help finance Knoxville's proposed $3,000,000 civic center.

A swarm of bees has made its home in a hollow tree in city hall park. Frierson said the tree-hive will be robbed of honey next fall and he will ask for bids on the honey.

"Revenue from the sale of the honey will be applied to liquidation of civic center bonds," he said.

Doctors Cut Away Portions of Heart

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Surgeons at Wadsworth Veterans Hospital have successfully cut away portions of the hearts of three patients, Dr. Thomas Barrett, chief of medical services, reported.

Clots were found to be forming in certain pouches of the hearts. A specially designed clamp was applied in each case. Members of the department of surgery at the University of California Medical Center here cut away each of the faulty pouches (auricular appendices) and stitched together the openings into the heart.

The main chambers (auricles) of the heart have appendices that help pump blood. They appear as bulges on the heart's surface, and not as a dangling tube as in the intestinal appendix. In some types of heart disease stagnant blood accumulates in the auricular appendix, clots and eventually moves into the bloodstream. If carried to vital spots, such as the brain, death results.

Horse racing during the 1949-50 winter season in Florida contributed $8,239,312.25 to the state. Hialeah was responsible for 49 percent of the total.

COLOGNE SIX YEARS AFTER—Much progress has been made in covering over the scars that war made six years ago, and a street corner that was once the scene of death and destruction is now one of peace and calm. As Cologne citizens move quietly about their daily affairs, evidence of reconstruction is on all sides.

'Account for Food,' States Consultant

DALLAS — (AP) — A cafe consultant estimates that 80 percent of the GI's who got loans to go into the restaurant business failed.

"Even today 50 percent of the places which open up change hands every year," George L. Wenzel of Austin told the closing session of the Texas Restaurant Owners Assn. here yesterday.

"Why? Because they don't account for every piece of food they buy," Wenzel said. It was a tough job getting cafe men to become cost accountants, but that they were going to have to do it to stay in business.

Fish are the principal source of animal protein for the Japanese people, providing about 85 percent of their total supply of such food.

Amonia takes its name from Sal ammoniac, which according to legend was first made near the temple of Jupiter Ammon in Egypt.

First base coach Dusty Cooke of the Phillies was the club's trainer during 1946-47 after having put three years in the Navy.

Ostrich Eggs Good Eating, At Mere 10 Bucks Per Each

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — What would you do if you opened the door and a man handed you an ostrich egg?

And the egg had been laid, not by just an ordinary neck-in-the-sand ostrich but by a real racing ostrich?

This interesting experience befell Elizabeth Baker the other day. She answered a door knock, and a fellow said, "Here, lady," handed her a box, and galumphed back down the stairs.

Miss Baker, a pretty blonde from Larned, Kans., noted that the mysterious box was insured for $45. Opening it she saw, nestled in a well-padded bed—a big white five-pound egg.

Then along came a letter from Jim Casper's alligator and ostrich farm near St. Augustine, Fla., advising Miss Baker they had shipped her "an egg laid by one of our fastest racing ostriches."

Elizabeth and her young roommate, Phyllis Nelson of Willmar, Minn., decided that even if they hatched the egg in their small apartment they couldn't race the ostrich at any New York track, which have a prejudice in favor of horses.

Then they came across this paragraph in the letter from the Casper farm:

"The egg will furnish an omelette serving for 20 people. They are highly prized by gourmets." "Let's invite some friends in—see if they'll help us eat it," said Elizabeth.

This is how I came to attend what is probably the first cocktail party for an ostrich egg ever held in Washington.

There were a dozen of us. And we were a bit nervous. The egg was the coolest of all. It had just been taken out of a refrigerator. Swathed in black velvet and surrounded with spring flowers, it drew every eye to its perch on a small table in the center of the living room. Then it was broken.

One guest took a look at the pan full of raw egg, swallowed quickly and recalled he was late to another engagement. He left. The girls meanwhile had done a little research on how to cook ostrich eggs. They are dry, and you have to mix them with beer or cream. The vote to add cream rather than beer was unanimous, so a pint of light cream was stirred into the egg.

Phyllis and Elizabeth began cooking batches of omelette in relays. When the first servings were brought in on toast, another guest suddenly remembered he, too, had an appointment elsewhere.

The remaining ten gamely went to work on the omelette. And everybody, after a tentative taste, called for more. The ostrich omelette, flatter, flakier and more delicately-flavored than any chicken egg.

But it is doubtful if the ostrich will soon put the nation's hens out of work. The price for a dozen ostrich eggs? About $120.

The average adult hippopotamus weighs about 5,000 pounds.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Larceny Lou's Memory Slip Is Shrewd Bridge Maneuver

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"I never forget a bridge hand," said South, "but I'm willing to make an exception in this case. I don't mind losing a hand when I'm outplayed, but I hate to get set just because one of my opponents is an absent-minded idiot!"

"Sorry," murmured Larceny Lou. He even managed to look a little sorry, although he really felt like the cat that had just swallowed a canary.

The hand that caused the outburst was deceptively simple. Larceny Lou, holding the West cards, opened the four of diamonds in continuing diamonds.

East shifted to a heart, on the sound theory that his partner would make trump tricks without any help but might need some help to develop any possible heart tricks. As it happened, of course, West had not the slightest prospect of winning a heart trick. Dummy won the third trick with the jack of hearts.

Declarer's problem was now very simple. He had to play the trumps in such a way as to lose only one trick. He therefore began by leading the deuce of spades from the dummy. East played low, and South put up the king.

It was on this trick that Larceny Lou stepped on declarer's toes. He merely threw the five of spades without seeming to think about it. Later on, he explained that he had been thinking about something else and had merely forgotten to take his ace of trumps. If you believe that, Lou will cheerfully think up other stories to tell you!

This "absent-minded" play threw South completely off the track. He decided that West could not have the ace of spades. Therefore he got back to dummy with a club and led another trump. East again played low, and this time South put up the queen of spades, expecting to win the trick. Much to his disgust, however, West played the ace of spades. This made East's jack of spades high, and the contract was thus defeated.

If Lou had taken the first trump trick with his ace, South would have made his contract. He would have returned to dummy with a club or a heart. Then he would have led the ten of spades from dummy, sneaking through East's jack. The finesse would have succeeded, so South would have lost only one trump trick.

Lou, a very shrewd player, had seen the ten and nine of spades in the dummy. He had also deduced from the bid that South had a four-card trump suit. His refusal to play the ace of trumps on the first round, a very deliberate and very clever maneuver. He read the entire trump situation and threw South off the track by refusing to win the first trump trick.

Panhandle Operators Make Little Change in Week's Total; New Locations Climb Slightly

We all have heard of men who found hobbies within their profession — trainmen who build model trains; postmen who collect stamps, etc.

The latest issue of the Oil and Gas Journal has found a new one though. The Journal describes what is believed to be the world's smallest oil field and its operator, Kansas oil driller H. J. Uhl of Wichita.

Uhl has a three-well field which has a daily production of 4 bbls. Pay formation, according to the Journal, is of fairly recent age since total depth on each of the wells is but 11 feet.

Uhl, who drills his wells with a posthole digger and cased the hole with six-inch casing, says reservoir energy is supplied apparently by water drive since the field produces only when it rains.

Uhl might have provided good testimony in depletion hearings. He has drilled a total of 35 dry holes and has gotten production on only three.

Geologists say the oil comes from some freak formation.

Speaking of oddities in the oil business, a Lubbock carpenter believes he has the key to success in discovery of oil pools.

The inventor has spent ten years developing the device and the last two years testing it. He calls it a human radar device. That's all the information he will give.

He has east-central Hockley County mapped out and points to a recent discovery in the area as proof of the reliability of the machine. He says it will take a lot of time and much laughing before people will believe him. But he says he has the last laugh coming.

He says he has Lubbock County mapped but is not showing it to anyone.

Leasing of Collingsworth County land for oil and gas continues at a rapid pace and during the last week, leases covering approximately 25,000 acres were put on record.

The largest lease acreage was recorded by Placid Oil Co. of Shreveport amounting to 11,900 acres. The company has a total of about 14,000 acres.

Several weeks ago when the leasing activities broke into the open, leases around 10,000 acres were placed on record. Major portion of activity has been in the southwest part of the county with a large share being taken in the western. A heavier volume of leasing has been begun in the northwest corner, that which touches southeastern Gray County.

The nation's proved reserves of natural gas at the close of 1949 were estimated at 180.4 trillion cubic feet. This is an increase of 6.5 trillion feet over 1948's year-end total of 173.9 trillion cubic feet. Production of natural gas totaled 6.2 trillion cubic feet, a rise of 227 billion cubic feet over the preceding year.

Total demand for all petroleum products in the United States hit its highest point in history during December, 1949, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Primary distributors shipped out an average of 6,948,000 barrels per day, including exports. The highest previous month was December, 1947, when demand averaged 6,675,000 barrels daily.

Manager John (Red) Corriden of the White Sox played third base for Detroit in 1912, was sold to Cincinnati and was traded to the Cubs before he ever played a game for the Reds.

Cochran John Cooney of the Braves won 14 games as a pitcher for the same team in 1925. As a Brave outfielder in 1941 he hit .319.

Texas Far in Lead in Oil Production

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Bureau of Mines has just issued a report showing that 21 states have appreciable oil output.

Texas is far in the lead. The three states next in order are California, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

These four states currently account for 80 percent of the total U. S. production, the Bureau says. The report forecasts daily average June production for the four states as follows:

For Texas, 2,120,000 barrels; California, 1,860,000; Louisiana, 560,000; Oklahoma, 438,000. This amounts to 3,968,000 out of a total U. S. forecast of 5,190,000 barrels.

Five other states are expected to yield more than 100,000 barrels each. They are Kansas, 285,000; Illinois, 186,000; Wyoming, 15,000; New Mexico, 144,000; Mississippi, 103,000.

The next twelve in order of their importance as production states are Arkansas, Colorado, Michigan, Montana, New York, Ohio, West Virginia, Utah and Nebraska. Their total expected June output is 350,000 barrels.

A few other states produce some oil but they are not listed in the report and their expected June production is only 3,000 barrels.

The U. S. forecast of 5,190,000 barrels for June this year compares favorably with the actual demand of 4,865,000 barrels of domestic crude in June of 1949. This reflects a 7 percent increase in domestic demand, notwithstanding a 20 percent decline in exports and large imports.

Beaten again in the Supreme Court, opponents of federal control of oil-laden tidelands are centering attention on a meeting of the House Rules Committee Tuesday.

The committee is scheduled to act then on legislation which would give the states title to the submerged off-shore lands, thus overturning the high court's decision that the federal government has "paramount" rights and jurisdiction.

Oil men, generally speaking, sided with California, Texas and Louisiana in their unsuccessful fight in the Supreme Court. The court ruled in the Louisiana and Texas cases last month, in the California case last Monday, in the California case last 1947.

The legislation now before the House Rules Committee is opposed by the Truman Administration. It was approved by the House Judiciary Committee by a 16 to 10 vote. The rules committee decides when a bill goes to the House floor for consideration and fixes limitations on debate and amendments.

But from a practical standpoint there is virtually no chance that it would become law in the present administration.

As approved by the House Judiciary Committee, the legislation is even more "anti-federal" than the bill President Truman vetoed three years ago. That measure would have given the federal government all proceeds from oil and gas leases and production from the 3-mile line (10 1/2 miles in the case of Texas because of conditions under which it entered the union) seaward to the edge of the Continental Shelf, a distance roughly 50 to 125 miles out from shore along the Gulf Coast.

The pending bill would give the government only 62 1/2 percent of revenues from the outer zone and none from the area immediately offshore.

Other Factors Influencing Coal Layoffs, Says Importer

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An oil industry official said last week that job layoffs in the coal mines are due primarily to factors other than imports of foreign oil.

The official, Charles L. Harding, director of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., gave his arguments to a Senate Labor subcommittee.

The committee is looking into protests from the coal industry that it is being hurt by competition from foreign oil. Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) has estimated that nearly 18,000 soft coal miners have lost their jobs since 1949.

Oil spokesman Harding commented, in a statement prepared for the committee:

"There have been many reasons other than oil imports which have accounted for this trend. (Less use of coal).

"A substantial portion of the oil substituted for coal has consisted of products which are not imported.

The increased use of diesel engines by our railroads was directly responsible for a 33 million ton reduction in the consumption of bituminous coal.

"Anthracite, too, has failed to obtain its share of an expanded home-heating market, with many homeowners showing a preference for light heating oil, a product not imported.

"Labor stoppages in the coal industry, too, need for allocating re-winding coal supplies, mounting costs of operation, technological advances, the convenience and efficiency of oil, and a host of other considerations have been contributing factors."

Senator Neely (D-W.Va.), chairman of the Labor subcommittee, which is looking into the question, retorted:

"You cannot make the unemployed coal miners of West Virginia believe the import of oil at the present rate is not a big factor in coal mine layoffs."

John D. Battle, executive vice president of the National Coal Association, said there is "no doubt" that "the flood of foreign oil being dumped on our shores" is to blame for mounting joblessness in the coal fields.

But Harding still contended that domestic natural gas and light heating oil have captured a large share of the home-heating market.

Sooner Activity Shows Increase

TULSA — (AP) — Oklahoma's oil field activity got a shot in the arm last week, improving over the previous report in almost every category.

There were 141 starts and 112 completions, including 67 oil wells, two gas wells and 43 dry holes, a Tulsa World survey revealed. Last week's new locations totaled 97, finals 96.

Oil Workers' Head Declares Texas Has Close Tie-In With NLRB Representative

DENVER — (AP) — O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International Union, responsible for a 33 million ton reduction in the consumption of bituminous coal.

"Anthracite, too, has failed to obtain its share of an expanded home-heating market, with many homeowners showing a preference for light heating oil, a product not imported.

"Labor stoppages in the coal industry, too, need for allocating re-winding coal supplies, mounting costs of operation, technological advances, the convenience and efficiency of oil, and a host of other considerations have been contributing factors."

New Oil Completions Drop As Nine Bring 724 Barrels

Little change was noted in Panhandle activity last week compared to the previous week's totals. Though new oil completions dropped and the total increased potential dropped, there were increases in other departments.

Operators reported completions of nine new oil wells for a total increased potential of 724 barrels. This is compared to 17 oil completions for 1,100 barrels reported the previous seven-day period.

Gains came in total number of completions in which there were nine gas wells completed and two wells plugged. This brought the total number of completions to 20 compared to 17 total completions for hte week ended June 3.

New locations rose from 15 reported June 3 to 18 for the past week. New gas production was 20,769 MCF while per-well average for oil was 80.44 barrels and 2,306 MCF for each gas well completed.

Texaco Planning To Open Asphalt Plant Tomorrow

PORT NECHES — (AP) — The Texas Co. still plans to reopen its asphalt plant here tomorrow "regardless of how many men return to work."

The plant has been closed for 65 days in a dispute with the CIO Oil Workers International Union.

Texasco sent registered letters to several hundred striking workers early last week telling them when to return to work.

Wednesday the union announced that there would be no return to work until all contract issues are settled.

Later Thursday, Supt. R. C. Schlottemmer, said the plant would open, regardless of how many workers are on hand.

Denham, in Washington, said: "Knights' statements have no foundation in fact."

The attorney made his comment in Beaumont where he was taking part in negotiations between The Texas Co. and Local 228, representing strikers at the company's Port Neches asphalt plant.

At Port Arthur the union's local announced all its units had rejected a two-year contract offered by the company.

The company said again it planned to reopen the Port Neches plant. The union has announced none of its members will return to the plant until all contract issues are settled.

Golfer Hogan Takes Childress Acreage

CHILDRESS — (AP) — Golfer Ben Hogan bought himself some oil holdings in Childress County, right between two test wells.

At a sale here Friday, Hogan and Marvin Leonard of Fort Worth paid $21.38 an acre plus a bonus to the Childress City Council for a 10-year lease of 616 acres at the Childress Air Field.

The Hogan lease is about 23 miles south of a test well being drilled by Eben D. Warner, an independent. A major company plans a test about eight miles southeast of the Hogan lease.

Working Rigs Hit New Peak In Past Week

The new total of 2,253 operating rigs, compares with 2,228 units the previous week, 2,129 a month ago and with 2,118 for the comparable week of 1949.

A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks, follows:

Magnolia Co. To Sponsor Fellowships

J. L. Latimer, president of Magnolia Petroleum Co. has announced the renewal of the company's research fellowships at Texas A. & M. College, Louisiana State University, Rice Institute and the Universities of Oklahoma and Texas for the academic year 1950-51.

These fellowships, which carry an annual grant of $2,000 each, are in the fields of petroleum engineering, geology, physics, chemical engineering and physical chemistry. They are a part of a research fellowship program sponsored by Socony-Vacuum General Petroleum and Magnolia and involves the expenditure of some $40,000 each year to support twenty graduate research fellowships established at various universities throughout the country.

Recipients of these fellowships are selected from university students who have completed at least one year of graduate work. They receive the major portion of the $2,000 annual grant and are free to study subjects not connected with the petroleum industry. Also there are no restrictions placed on the publication of the results of their research, and there is no obligation re- garding future employment with any of the affiliated organizations.

Area Golfer Makes Cities Service Play

Winning the district playoff of Cities Service Oil Co.'s golf tournament for employes in the Pampa area, Walter Veach of Guyton, Okla., qualified for the finals of the company's annual tournament to be held in Bartlesville, Okla., today at Hillcrest Country Club. Nineteen district winners from company properties throughout the United States and Canada will participate.

Champion and runner-up of the Bartlesville tournament will earn the right to compete in the Cities Service national golf tournament, to be played June 29 at a leading club in the New York area.

Tidelands Battle Has Far to Go Yet

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON — (AP) — Few oilmen were surprised when the Supreme Court ruled against Texas and Louisiana in the tidelands cases.

Ever since the court set precedent in 1947 by ruling against California, most oilmen have believed only Congress will have the final say on the controversy, now in its fifth year.

There are good prospects the battle in Congress will last a long, long while.

Pressure for quick congressional action began to mount rapidly after the court on Monday held the federal government has top rights to Texas and Louisiana tidelands.

Some congressmen are confident the Walter Bill will be voted on before the end of the year. The bill, submitted by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), would give the states a clear title to the tidelands.

The House Judiciary Committee approved the bill April 20. Summer vacations and fall election campaigns are factors which might prevent action this year.

A state ownership victory by a narrow margin in either the Senate or House practically would be equivalent to the bill's death. President Truman vetoed a similar bill four years ago when he said tidelands oil reserves "are, and must remain, vested in the federal government."

There is no indication he has changed his mind.

Under the court decisions, legislation eventually will be needed to outline the government's procedure for control of the submerged lands.

The tidelands states are confident they can defeat such legislation. They may not have enough votes to override a presidential veto of a state ownership bill but they are certain they have sufficient support to stop a federal ownership or control proposal.

Meanwhile, petroleum explorations and development of the tidelands have been curtailed sharply.

Some operators have declined to drill new wells until the ownership question is settled. Others, with initial exploration plans being drafted at the time of the California case decision, have not begun actual operations.

They want to know, before taking further risks, just what to expect and whether they must work with the federal government, an individual state or both.

Hines H. Baker, president of Humble Oil and Refining Co., a major tidelands producer off Louisiana, has given indication just how expensive the offshore operations have been.

He said operators have spent in excess of $200,000,000 on Louisiana and Texas tidelands but, as yet, have recovered less than $2,000,000 in production.

Texas officials have announced they will seek a new hearing before the Supreme Court but reports from Washington have the Department of the Interior already perfecting plans to assume control of the state's submerged lands.

Louisiana Attorney General Bolivar Kemp last week said his state's "hope" always has been with Congress.

Governor Allan Shivers said Texans will "fight to the last ditch" in Congress.

Giles, Daniels Disagree on Fight Tactics

AUSTIN — (AP) — A sharp split between Texas' Attorney General Price Daniel and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles over tidelands strategy appears to be developing.

Any federal plan to take over the tidelands before the Supreme Court's decision becomes final can be stopped by injunction, Daniel warned.

At the same time, he served notice on Land Commissioner Giles that the court decision was not final "and in my opinion should not be treated with respect to mine due the Texas public school fund from lease royalties."

Giles, in a statement issued from his home in Liberty, sharply disagreed with Giles, who has said Texas' motion for rehearing the tidelands case is nothing but a formality.

Giles had criticized what he called the policy of risking everything on a court contest of the federal tidelands claim. Daniel then noted that he as attorney general had backed both the court fight plan in which he defended Texas' claim as the state's lawyer, and the congressional push.

Their differences were brought further into the open with Daniel's statement including a telegram to Giles which also said:

"Your statement about saving a portion of the lands in Congress might leave the impression that you are renewing your support of a compromise, which I sincerely believe would be the greatest mistake that could be made at this time. The strategy set by the recent session of the Texas Legislature was that this fight be waged to the last ditch in both the court and the Congress, without compromise."

The Texas attorney said he had asked attorneys general over the nation to confer with their governors on plans to speed up the fight in Congress for a bill giving the states tidelands ownership within their original boundaries.

Under the court decisions, legislation eventually will be needed to outline the government's procedure for control of the submerged lands.

The tidelands states are confident they can defeat such legislation. They may not have enough votes to override a presidential veto of a state ownership bill but they are certain they have sufficient support to stop a federal ownership or control proposal.

Meanwhile, petroleum explorations and development of the tidelands have been curtailed sharply.

Some operators have declined to drill new wells until the ownership question is settled. Others, with initial exploration plans being drafted at the time of the California case decision, have not begun actual operations.

Open House Set for Opening Of Diabetic Foundation Camp

GAINESVILLE — The Sweeney Diabetic Foundation has issued an invitation to the public to come to Gainesville next Sunday, June 18, for all-day open house and a one-hour dedication program marking the opening of its Camp Sweeney.

This will be staged from 3 to 4 p.m. on the north beach of the just-completed 23-acre lake at the southern boundary of the 403-acre campus nine miles north-east of Gainesville. If the day should turn out rainy that part of the Sunday program will be staged in the auditorium of the Gainesville junior high school at East Scott and North Denton streets.

Henry M. Bell, banker of Tyler and member of the Sweeney Foundation board, will be program master of ceremonies. Speakers will be Dr. T. S. Painter, president of the University of Texas; Price Daniel, state's attorney general; and Dr. Edward L. Rortz of Philadelphia, Pa., a past president of the American Medical Association, member of the Council of the American Diabetic Association, regent of the American College of Physicians, and Associate Professor of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania's graduate school.

The day will round out the first week of operation for Camp Sweeney, the Southwest's first group instructional and treatment center for diabetic children in the age range from 6 to 15. Monday the 12th will mark the start of its two summer semesters, each of six weeks duration. The first will end July 22 and the second will cover the period from July 24 to September 2.

Camp Sweeney's initial capacity is 40 children. Foundation Chairman R. W. Brown and Dr. J. Shirley Sweeney, camp medical director, are expecting full enrollment for each semester. Camp Director James V. Campbell said applications already have been approved for 34 boys and girls from the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas. Some of these will be children of indigent parents. They will be taken in without any payment of fee and will never know their summer camp life was on a non-pay footing.

New World's First Census Is Reported Half Finished

By JACK RUTLEDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Half of the new world's population has been counted so far this year in the first hemisphere census in history, Dr. Calvert Dedrick of the U. S. Census Bureau said yesterday.

On the basis of returns to date, the human inventory of North, South and Central America is expected to show a total of about 325,000,000 slightly higher than first estimated.

Dr. Dedrick said that although no final figures have been released yet by any country, the United States, Mexico, Guatemala, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Nicaragua and Honduras have virtually finished their count.

Brazil will begin its census July 1, followed by Haiti and the Dominican Republic in August, Bolivia, Colombia, Panama, Paraguay and Peru in September and Ecuador and Venezuela in November.

Uruguay will take its census in 1951, and Cuba in 1953. Argentina, which conducted its last census in 1947, has decided to skip the 1950 count.

According to current estimates, Latin America is the fastest growing population area in the world, Dr. Dedrick told a reporter.

He estimated that when the 1960 census is taken, Latin America will be ahead of the United States. At present, they are about evenly divided in new world population, each with roughly 150,000,000.

"Latin America is increasing its population at the rate of about 2,000,000 a year, while the U. S. is growing about 2,000,000 annually," Dr. Dedrick, coordinator of international statistics for the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Agriculture, said.

The history-making census, first ever taken in Ecuador, first in over 40 years in Bolivia and Uruguay will provide government and business heretofore unobtainable information about population, housing, agriculture, industry, business, resources and needs.

Thomas F. Corcoran, chief of consultation and training of the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Agriculture, said.

All countries are taking a population count. Almost all are also taking inventory on agriculture and housing, the majority for

Crop Outlook Is Improved, USDA Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Helped by modern farming machinery, the nation's farmers have overcome effects of an unfavorable spring to promise a good-sized volume of crops this year.

In its June crop report Friday, the Agriculture Department said production prospects equal the high average of the past 10 years — a period which covered bumper wartime and postwar yields.

Unless conditions turn bad, the harvest should be only about six percent below last year's near-record output.

Tractor-driven machinery enabled many farmers to plant acres of corn, soybeans and other crops which could not have been seeded at this year's delayed dates with horse-drawn equipment.

The report gave specific estimates for only a few crops. Larger volumes than last year for wheat, and fruits, except citrus.

The wheat crop was indicated at 945,000,000 bushels compared with 1,141,000,000 last year and 1,031,000,000 for the ten-year average. While wheat is the first crop in seven years to fall below the billion-bushel mark, the indicated crop may be only about 65,000,000 bushels less than expected market demands. The deficit can be filled from an above-average 450,000,000 bushels from last year.

The department said crop prospects varied widely by areas. They were said to be better than average in North and South Atlantic states, about average in the south central states, and slightly below average in the north central and western states.

Much of the indicated reduction in crop volume from last year, the agency said, reflects diversion of a considerable amount of land from major crops to pastures, meadows and less productive crops under the influence of government acreage allotment programs.

The Texas wheat estimate was for 24,657,000 bushels — a severe drop from the bumper crops of 1949 and 1947. It was less than half the 10-year average of 56,250,000 bushels and compares with the 1949 crop of 102,848,000 bushels. Drought and insects combined to sharply reduce prospects.

The 1950 Texas production of oats was estimated at 30,940,000 bushels, larger than the wheat crop, an unusual situation. Texas as peach production is expected to be 1,015,000 bushels; oranges, 1,450,000 boxes and grapefruit, 3,300,000 boxes.

Auto-Truck Collision Fatal to Texas Man

BEILTON, Texas (AP) — Cecil A. Elliott, 23, of Fort Hood, was killed in a truck-auto collision early yesterday.

William Jones, passenger in a convertible driven by Elliott, escaped with minor injuries. Lawton F. Davis, Jr., of Gregory, Texas, driver of the truck, was not injured. The accident occurred at 4:45 a.m. eight miles south of Belton on Highway 81.

The first time Others are taking a check on matters of peculiar importance to their areas. In Guatemala, for example, the enumerators counted how many persons wore shoes.

Enumerators from all the 22 American republics were trained in the U. S. so the census could be standardized.

The LONESOME BRIDE

By Grace Nies Fletcher

THE STORY: After Gloria Brown learned to bake apple pie at the apartment of Mrs. Benoni, a next-door neighbor, she decided to make one for her husband, Milton. But when she found out that Milton was a thief, she decided to make one for the police. The story is a humorous take on the classic "The Lonesome Bride" tale.

IF Gloria gave the pie to the police now, they'd never believe she hadn't known all along where it was, she decided. They'd probably put her in jail too and that would hardly help Milton; they'd think the new bride was just been in it together. "I do the swiping and Milton does the carrying," she figured out bitterly how the police minds would work.

That left the Benonis; they knew where the jewels were, would do almost anything to get hold of them. "The man and woman who asked Sam what was in his lunch basket?" Gloria deduced excitedly. "Certainly though the wouldn't think I was dumb enough to bring the pie with the jewels and then go off and leave it on the bench."

But that was exactly what Gloria might have done if she hadn't known that the jewels were in the pie! It must have been the Benonis.

The only other possibility was the mysterious and sinister Lofy Gordon whom she couldn't seem to believe in without seeing. Why was he called "Lofy"? A tall man, very strong, who'd been quick as lightning doubling up the body of Jack the Cork, getting away with murder—so far at least—with the police watching the very bulge!

The telephone brought her, dripping, out onto the bath mat.

a furnace, focusing heat. She chose her shortest pair of shorts and a flowered bra because with reporters around, she couldn't go outside until after dark.

But was she going to get out unseen tonight to take the jewels to Tony the Fruitman's, with flocks of reporters snooping about. Not to mention the police in general and Hausen in particular? She had barely time to don her scanty raiment when the phone rang again. It was long distance.

"Gloria, are you all right?" Colonel Perkins' voice demanded, crisply. "A reporter from a Boston paper just called me. I'll be there for 'slander,' her parent raged. 'I'll be satisfied all over that blankety-blank sheet this afternoon!'"

"I'm sorry, father," Gloria murmured meekly.

"I am taking the next plane."

"No! Please don't, Father!" Gloria had enough complications now without him arriving, suing for slander all over the place. He'd be one more to evade tonight. "I have things to do," she waited, patiently for him to snort. "Nonsense!" but strangely he didn't.

It had been one of his strictest rules by which he had brought up his family that everyone had a right to his own reticences. "Even a child is individual and should be treated as such," he had insisted.

"Very well," the colonel said stiffly. There was an awkward pause and then he asked, "You need any money?"

"I don't know," Gloria would help, she admitted. "I don't know how much the lawyer will charge."

"A thousand would be better." His generosity touched her deeply for she knew he had more pride than cash.

"Thank you, dear," she murmured.

"Goodbye, daughter."

This unwanted note of affection was the last straw that broke her self control; she hung up the phone, leaned her bright head on her arms and burst into tears, sobbing uncontrollably.
