Lewis' Effort To Split Coal Owners Fails

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—A bold bid by John L. Lewis to drive wedge between coal mine owners resisting his demands failed today.

The Indiana Coal Operators association rejected Lewis' invitation for a one-state-only negotiated settlement of the coal strike in Indiana.

"The issues involved are national in character and cannot be reconciled to district negotiations," Harvey Cartwright, secretary of the association, declared at Terre Haute.

The 45-day-old strike has kept 378,000 soft coal miners from the pits and has begun to threaten fuel supplies of utilities and other vital services.

Governor Offers Plan

The idea of separate Indiana coal peace talks was first broached by Gov. Henry Schricker of Indiana. Lewis quickly accepted. Then, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois appealed for a prompt settlement, saying the health of Illinois citizens was being "imperiled" for lack of coal.

The White House, however, was continuing to say daily that President Truman has no immediate plans for invoking the Taft-Hartley strike ending court injunction powers over the idle coal mines.

In addition to Lewis failing to obtain separate negotiations with Indiana operators, his miners' union talks with southern coal producers at Bluefield, W. Va., came to a sudden end when the southern producers walked out.

Union Official Absent

Lewis has been absent from the meetings with the southern group and today, for the second straight day, even Lewis' lieutenant, John Owens, the union's secretary-treasurer, stayed away. Southern operators said there was no use continuing talks on that basis.

The miners union chief already had put out a bid for separate talks with Illinois coal producers by scheduling a union strategy meeting for Chicago Monday.

Lewis evidently had been seeking to split the soft coal industry's solid front just as CIO President Philip Murray had done in steel by winning a settlement Monday night with Bethlehem Steel Corp.

Claimed Seeking Settlement

The Illinois-Indiana coal owners, said to have low operating costs due to mechanization, have been reported anxious for a settlement. They have made pace-setting deals with Lewis before.

Officials of the National Coal association said their word from the two states was that the Illi-

Call Sounded For Economy

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2 — Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, who resigned Tuesday as President Truman's top economic adviser, warned today that government deficit spending at a time of high production and employment "is something to be viewed with alarm."

The former chairman of the council of Economic Advisers issued a call for economy in an address at the 56th annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

His warning against government red-ink operations came on the heels of an announcement in Washington by Budget Director Pace that the deficit for the 1950 fiscal year will rise to $5.5 billion.

False Belief Hit

Nourse declared, however, that, it would be "gross over-simplification" to suppose that the government budget could be balanced and public debt retired merely "if a handful of men in Washington or even the President alone would take action."

He said "no power of human ingenuity and courage could affect a quick balance of our national budget" under present conditions, and added:

"I have observed the real situation at too close range to be unaware of the difficulties. I have seen the grinding struggle of the President, of the director of the budget, and the several agency heads to hold down programs that were demanded not alone by bureaucrats, but by well-intentioned citizens, strongly organized interest groups, and their hard-fighting representatives in Congress.

Recent Criticism Recalled

Nourse recalled a recent speech in which he criticized deficit financing. He said he feared some people jumped to the conclusion that the budget could be "immediately balanced."

But while he cautioned these people he stated flatly that he did not "go along with the easy doctrine" that deficit spending "does not involve danger or that nothing at all can be done about it."

Apparently Nourse was referring to some of his recent fellow

Truman Attacks Russia As Lacking 'Moral Code' Before Leaving On Three-Day Trip To Midwest

BY ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN EN ROUTE ST. PAUL, Nov. 2. — President Truman unleashed a new blast against Russia today and then left Washington on a three-day Midwest trip to continue a resounding attack on his political enemies.

Before leaving the capital on his special train at 1:30 p. m. CST, the President swung out at Russia by declaring that the Soviet lacks a "moral code" in relations with the rest of the world.

The Chief Executive told a gathering of the American Society of Civil Engineers that, by contrast with Russia, the ideology of the United States is based on a moral code.

Mr. Truman said that the moral code of the democracies is aimed at bettering the living standards of the underprivileged areas of the world, and of attaining permanent world peace.

Mr. Truman's actions marked the anniversary of his election victory last November.

The Chief Executive will deliver a major speech in St. Paul Thursday night in what is expected to be a reenunciation of the Democratic party platform objectives and the principles of which he campaigned.

Mr. Truman will arrive in Minneapolis at 1 p. m. CST Thursday and motor to St. Paul for his address in the civic auditorium at 9:30 p. m.

The President said that he intends to deliver a "non-political" speech Thursday night in St. Paul, but grinned broadly as he said it.

Mr. Truman is expected to strike out again at the Republican party precepts which he assailed throughout his campaign last year.

The White House made no secret that the President's speech will be of a political nature.

Mr. Truman opened his cam-

U. S. Asked To Boost Imports

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 — Secretary of State Acheson called on the nation tonight to reverse its 30-year-old foreign trade policy and become an "import-minded" country, in order to close a $6,000,000,000 trade gap.

In a speech to the convention of the National Foreign Trade council Acheson proclaimed a campaign to reduce tariffs, simplify customs, procedures, "modernize" other laws and otherwise expand the opportunities for foreign producers to sell their goods in this country.

The same keynote was sounded by President Truman in a message read at the convention dinner.

Must Buy To Sell

"We know that we cannot sell unless we also buy," Mr. Truman said. "We know that grave imbalances of trade and productivity, and widespread underdevelopment, persist in this world and that these must be remedied. We are recognizing our responsibilities as a creditor nation and we are seeking to remedy these imbalances in the joint interest of ourselves and of others."

Earlier, business leaders at the convention urged today speedy return of the United States to the gold standard, further cuts in some American tariff rates, and the welcoming of more foreign-made goods on the domestic market.

By unanimous vote, some 1,800 representatives of leading manufacturing, exporting, importing, shipping, banking and communications companies drafted recommendations which would lead the world away from extreme nationalism and towards unrestricted world trade.

European Drive Okayed

The convention, sponsored by the National Foreign Trade council, put its okay on the drive of Marshall plan boss Paul G. Hoffman to get Western Europe to lower its trade barriers and become a single economic unity. Its resolution noted that the Marshall plan "was never designed nor intended to make each recipient nation self-sufficient in all things" but should "lead away from economic self sufficiency and restric-

Coffee Prices Hiked In Lubbock Stores

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE five-cent cup of coffee soon may be just a memory in most Lubbock cafes and drug stores, and housewives are paying as much as 16 cents a pound more than they were three weeks ago, a survey showed Wednesday.

With few exceptions, java will sell for 10 cents a cup by the end of the week unless customer resistance should prove too great.

Retail and wholesale grocers report price advances up to 16 cents a pound during the past month, including for some a six-cent increase on Wednesday to put the average retail price at 69 cents.

Some Hoarding Reported

Many grocers report that customers already have begun hoarding reminiscent of the war-time shortage days, and a few merchants said they are hard pressed to keep coffee on their shelves.

The shortage, which was being felt throughout the state and nation Wednesday, has been caused reportedly by crop failures and drouth conditions in South American and Latin American coffee producing areas.

There is no cause for a rush on stores, however, national wholesale officials have warned, saying that supplies will be sufficient to take care of all essential needs.

Some Already Raised

The survey by The Morning Avalanche, covering a representative group of cafes and drug stores, showed that the per-cup price in most cases either has been raised to 10 cents or will be within the next few days.

Most fountain and cafe managers said they hated to raise the price but added that it was costing about six cents a cup to serve.

A few said they were battling a price increase, but would have to go along for their own protection if the majority went to 10 cents a cup.

Of the owners and managers contacted, only one took a firm and determined stand for the in-

Five-Cent Cup Of Coffee Fades In Many Texas Cities

(By The Associated Press)

The nickel cup of coffee was fading out this week in many of Texas' larger cities.

And a Corpus Christi grocer predicted dollar-per-pound coffee soon to come in grocery stores.

The cup of coffee at the cafe around the corner was ranging about 5-7-8 and 10 cents. The pound at the neighborhood grocery was ranging from 60-69 cents, some up as much as 10 cents from a week ago.

San Antonio Holds Line

The situation was different in San Antonio. Coffee prices there were averaging 57 cents a pound—no increase. The nickel cup of coffee was still there and no report of an increase could be found.

Austin reported no cup price increases found yesterday. But Corpus Christi said cafe coffee prices were quoted at 6, 7, 8 and 10 cents "with nickel coffee vanishing fast." Fort Worth said some restaurants had raised the price to 10 cents.

El Paso drug store and restaurant men said they are keeping the price at five cents a cup. But grocery store operators have jumped the price 10 cents a pound in the past 10 days and expect prices to go higher. Some said they have experienced "runs."

Lubbock reported coffee was going to a dime a cup there Friday at most places serving it. Retail prices also were up.

Mexican Cattle Hit By Outbreak

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—The Agriculture department reported today that the joint U. S.-Mexican battle to clean up an outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease among livestock in Mexico has taken a "grave turn" as result of a new outbreak.

The latest outbreak was said to have been caused by a type of virus against which present vaccines appear to be ineffective. The original outbreak of 1946 was caused by a virus known among veterinarians as 'type A" — the new epidemic—reported Oct. 24—is attributed to a "type O" virus.

Six Dead, Eight Hurt In Cincinnati Fire

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2. (AP)—The most tragic Cincinnati fire in five years brought death today to six persons and injury to eight others.

Flames raged through a three-story apartment building. Only five residents escaped unharmed.

The dead include three men, two women and a boy about eight years old.

One of the dead women—Mrs. Alma Alexander Orme, 29, of Lawton, Okla., whose son also perished—and Mrs. May Malone, 42, who was injured, were heroines of the tragedy.

Mrs. Orme pushed one man out of a window and probably saved his life. She and her son, James Alexander, were found dead near the window.

Fire Marshal Harry McNay estimated the building damage at $2,000.

Reports from the hospital were that five died from burns or suffocation, while another—Mrs. Goldie Taylor, 53—succumbed to injuries received when she jumped from a third-floor window.

The other dead were identified at the hospital as Coy Shelton, 55, Athens, Tenn., and William Hartman, 48, Cincinnati, and a man tentatively identified as George Smith, 53.

RANCHER IS CLAIMED

SAN ANEGLO, Nov. 2. (AP) — Motley M. Scott, 62, widely known Terrell county rancher, died today of a heart ailment. Scott had lived here for the last 10 years but had continued to operate his 40-section Terrell county ranch 80 miles southwest of Ozona. He was stricken in his hotel room and died on the way to a hospital.

Bodies Of Crash Victims Sought

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — Navy divers working in muddy water 35 feet deep late today hoisted out of the Potomac river the front of the giant passenger plane which carried 55 persons to death yesterday in the world's worst airplane crash.

They had hoped to find in the submerged half wreckage the still missing bodies of nine victims. Instead, they found only fragments of torn bodies.

The grim searchlight quest went on. Several hours later, three more bodies were pulled from the river with grappling irons. That left six still unaccounted for.

While they worked, congressmen called for a thorough inquiry into a policy which permits military and commercial planes to use the same airport.

The Civil Aeronautics board named an inquiry panel to conduct hearings, which the board hopes to begin next week.

Bolivian Named

Harold A. Jones, a CAB member, will sit with the panel, composed of division chiefs in the board's safety division. So will Maj. German Pol, chief of operations of the Bolivian air force.

Pol was invited because one of the planes involved in the tragedy was piloted by a Bolivian.

Other members of the panel are Robert W. Crisp, W. K. Andrews,

Many Killed In Pacific Storm

(By International News Service)

MANILA, Nov. 3—(Thursday)—The Philippine Red Cross reported today that twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and twenty injured in a typhoon which swept with devastating force across the southern Philippines yesterday.

Earlier casualty estimates ran as high as one hundred and the Red Cross said its figures were admittedly incomplete because of a breakdown in communications.

Damage In Millions

Unofficial estimates of the damage to homes, buildings and ships ran as high as fifty million dollars.

The Red Cross said an estimated ten thousand persons were left homeless by the storm.

On Cebu and Negros islands, the Red Cross said two thousand homes, nine school houses and two bridges were destroyed. Twelve ships were sunk and at least nine grounded as high winds and rain lashed the sea into fury.

Torrential rains and winds reaching a velocity of 100 miles per hour struck hardest on the islands of Cebu, Negros and Mindanao.

Homes and buildings were smashed or unroofed, numerous small craft were sunk or damaged, parked planes were wrecked and communications were knocked out as the storm ran its destructive course.

At Cebu City a carnival was flattened under the impact of the high winds. Ferris wheels were toppled and other equipment was smashed but whether there was any casualties among carnival workers could not be determined immediately.

A radio report from Cebu said

Two Leftist Unions Kicked Out Of CIO

By GLENN ENGLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—Two left wing unions were kicked out at the CIO convention today and the union's executive board was given sweeping "instructions" to oust nine or 10 others.

The first to be expelled since the CIO came into being 14 years ago were the United Electrical Workers—the CIO's third largest—and the Farm Equipment Workers.

Shortly after they were given the boot for "sabotaging" CIO policies and programs, the convention pushed through a special resolution aimed at covering left wing affiliates.

Instructions Given

The resolution "instructed" the CIO's 51-man executive board "immediately to exercise its powers . . . to take appropriate action to protect the CIO" from persons following the line of "the Communist party, any Fascist organization or other totalitarian movement."

Whether all the nine or 10 left wing unions still in the CIO will be expelled still was not disclosed, however.

Only about 50 of the convention's 613 delegates rose in opposition when resolutions to expel the two unions were put to standing votes.

There was not even any debate on the Farm Equipment Workers, who had defied a year-old order to merge with the right wing United Auto Workers.

New Group Chartered

A right wing affiliate immediately was chartered to take the place of the ousted electrical workers union.

In an effort to capture the bulk of the UE's 375,000 members, the executive board chartered the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers at a special meeting between convention sessions.

The new right wing affiliate will hold an organizational convention in Philadelphia starting

Soviets Find New Target In UN For 'Warmonger' Label

(By International News Service)

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Nov. 2 — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky found a new target today in the United Nations for his "warmonger" label—Yugoslavia.

The Russian accused Yugoslav Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler of "provocation" in reporting to the 59-nation political committee on Saturday that Hungarian troops had fired across the border into Yugoslavia last week.

Vishinsky said:

"Bebler is nothing but a hired provacateur and a warmonger."

The Russian claimed that Bebler's report was "quite at variance" with the facts.

Slavs Bluntly Warn Albania On Treaty

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 2. (AP)—In a note just short of an ultimatum, Yugoslavia tonight sternly "cautioned" little Albania to live up to its treaty obligations with Marshal Tito's country.

The note demanded in the most abrupt terms that Albania "answer this note in the shortest possible time."

It listed a long series of complaints against Albania, including alleged border provocations, frontier shootings, persecution of Yugoslav citizens in Albania and espionage by Albanian agents in Yugoslavia.

The note referred to the fact that Albania alone of Russia's satellites has not denounced her Yugoslav pact of friendship and alliance. But, the communication said, "it may be seen from the facts that the Albanian government has violated its treaty obligations and is continuing along its way in increasingly drastic form."

Youths Charged In Burglary Here

Charges of burglary were filed Wednesday against two Hobbs, N. M., youths, James Ira Stevens and Bill Charles Loyd, both 18, who were arrested late Tuesday night after they had allegedly broken into Carson's Dry Goods store at 3011 Ave. H.

Both suspects waived examination trial in the justice court of C. E. Lynn and were remanded to jail in lieu of bond binding them over to grand jury action. The youths gave statements Wednesday admitting the offenses, A. W. Salyars of the district attorney's office announced.

Youth Caught After Chase

Loyd was apprehended by Bonded Patrolman Jack Moore following a brief chase after Moore reportedly had surprised the pair in the store. Stevens was located in a nearby tourist cabin.

Two men held in Albuquerque, meanwhile, were eliminated as suspects in the early Sunday holdup of the Ince Oil company at 2803 Ave. H.

Richard Moore, accompanied to the New Mexico city by Sheriff Grady Harrist and City Detective Lee Rice, said the men were "positively not" the gunmen who robbed him of nearly $100, leaving him tied in a washroom of the station where he is an attendant.

The New Mexico suspects were

Cool Weather Holds Grip Over Plains

Near freezing temperatures early today and again Friday morning with continued fair weather was the prospect held out for Lubbock and South Plains residents last night by the Weather Bureau station north of the city.

A cold front which had been headed toward the area slid off toward the east, leaving snow flurries in the midwest and below freezing readings over a wide section of northern states. Light snow hit northern Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Mild readings were reported throughout the state Wednesday. Meanwhile, the mercury is due to drop to near 32 degrees this morning and near that point again Friday, with the high this afternoon in the high 60's, the Weatherman said.

Fleet Command Offered Denfeld

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Matthews offered a major post as commander of Eastern Atlantic-Mediterranean naval forces today to Admiral Louis Denfeld, ousted as chief of naval operations in the row over national defense.

Denfeld did not immediately accept the job, a step down after reaching the top in his 40-year Navy career.

Matthews made the offer two hours before Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, flashing a new fourth star, formally took over as the youngest chief of naval operations in American history. Sherman, just 53, succeeds Denfeld.

Denfeld Wishes "Luck"

The Navy's new No. 1 man was sworn in by Matthews. Denfeld grinned, stuck out his hand, and wished his successor "good luck."

Matthews said if Denfeld accepts the lesser post, it will be up to Sherman to decide about a new assignment for Admiral Richard L. Connolly, the Eastern Atlantic-Mediterranean commander.

Associates of Denfeld have predicted he will retire, perhaps taking up a high-paying job in private industry.

As Sherman began his new regime, Pentagon speculation centered on two possibilities:

That more Navy heads may roll and some stars may fall in the drive to wipe out Navy bitterness over developments in the armed forces controversy.

That some Washington admirals may be shipped out to sea.

OUTSTANDING RECORDS ARE MADE

Two Area 4-H Club Members Named For Statewide Awards

STATEWIDE awards have been won by two area 4-H club members, according to an announcement Wednesday from College Station.

Patsie Elizabeth Scales, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Scales of Brownfield, has been named the outstanding 4-H Recreation leader in Texas, while E. P. Wicker, 18, son of Mrs. Fern Bourne of Route 2, Wilson, is a winner of the Dairy Production contest.

Miss Scales is now a freshman at Texas Tech. Her record will be entered in the national contest and the eight most outstanding will receive all-expense trips to the National 4-H congress in Chicago Nov. 27 to Dec. 1.

Wicker's winning record in the dairy production contest dates back to 1942 when he started with two animals. Prize for topping the state competition is a $25 savings bond and the record will sub-

An Explanation Of Those 10 Amendments

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THIS is the third of four articles presenting brief explanations of and arguments for and against the 10 proposed amendments to the state constitution upon which Texans will vote next Tuesday.

NO. 6

An amendment authorizing the Legislature to set up a statewide system of retirement and disability pensions for appointive county officials and employes, subject to approval by the voters of affected counties.

UNDER this amendment, the retirement fund would be created by deducting up to 5 per cent of the employe's pay, with the county contributing up to 7½ per cent to the pool. Elective officials would not be affected. The details of the plan adopted would be worked out by the Legislature.

The principal arguments for the proposition are that county employes now are ineligible for social security protection; that old age security would mean higher morale and greater efficiency in county governments, and that it could not be put into effect in any county unless the qualified voters residing therein approved it.

The chief arguments against it are that this would invite a further intrusion by the state government into the conduct of local affairs and that its approval would mean increased taxation. Salaries are one of the biggest items in the operating costs of any county government and a 7½ per cent contribution to a retirement fund would require additional taxes.

There also is a question as to who would administer the fund. The implications are that it would be administered at Austin. In such case, opponents argue, counties which did not adopt the plan would be taxed to help pay the costs in counties that did.

NO. 7

An amendment providing that district courts shall conduct their proceedings at the county seat of the county in which the case is pending except as otherwise provided by law.

FOR complete vagueness as to wording, this proposition is a gem. The meat in this particular coconut appears to lie in the words, "except as otherwise provided by law." This would give the legislature much broader power than it now possesses over where district court sessions would be held and what they might do.

But, as shown on the ballot, the proposition omits one most important fact. The proposed amendment would require that a district judge must be a licensed attorney.

At present, a man who has served as county judge for four years is

REHIRING OF WORKERS URGED

East Texas Manufacturer Found Guilty Of Violating Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—A National Labor Relations board examiner found an East Texas manufacturer guilty today of violating the labor act on several counts.

The examiner, Wallace E. Royster, recommended that the full board order the Cummer-Graham company to rehire certain wokers who took part in strikes at the firm's Longview and Mineola plants.

Firm Manufactures Baskets

The firm has its main office in Paris and has plants in Paris, Beaumont, Longview and Mineola. It makes, sells and distributes round-bottom baskets for fruit and vegetable packers.

Royster said the firm unlawfully discouraged organizing efforts of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO), refused to bargain with the union, discriminated against union members, and threatened them because of their union activity.

In late 1946 union members employed at the Longview and Mineola plants went on strike. No settlement ever was announced and the firm, within a few months, resumed normal operations with replacement help.

Union Claims Unrecognized

Royster said the CIO union offered several times to prove its claim to representation of the majority of the employes but that the management refused to recognize the claim. Royster said the union, when the strike obviously failed, offered to send the strikers back to work but that this offer was not formally accepted.

The trial examiner recommended that the firm be ordered to cease alleged unfair labor practices, reinstate certain employes, commence collective bargaining with the union, and notify the regional director at Fort Worth within 20 days of steps taken to carry out his recommendation.

Nation's Worst Air Tragedy Fails To Upset Usual Pattern

BY HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—It was "operations normal" most of the time yesterday at the National airport.

People came through the lobby and did the usual things. They weighed their luggage at the airlines counters. They cocked an ear to the loud speakers to catch the call of their flights. They walked through the gates, boarded their ships and took off.

As if nothing had happened.

As a matter of fact, something awful had happened. A mile from the airport, a speedy P-38, steered by a Bolivian flier, had clipped an Eastern airlines DC-4 in half.

More Than 50 Die

More than 50 persons, many of them bashed beyond resemblance to humans, were dead. Their bodies were spread over land and in the waters of an inlet which is part of the Potomac river.

The aft half of the luxury airliner, which had set out from Boston, destination New Orleans, showed its tail piece grotesquely out of the water.

The folks who were coming and going at the airport were unaware of the tragedy for a while. You can't see around a corner. And the scene of the crash was around the corner from the observation platform.

Misery Remains Unknown

The outgoing planes winged over the scene. Passengers coming into the capital also passed it, but most did not know of the misery below.

Some of those waiting to leave didn't know of the disaster until the papers reached the 'port, a couple of hours after the collision.

They flew anyhow. Those who like to fly, fly no matter what, it seems. The airport averages 500 flights in and out a day—yesterday was average.

But it was a little different out on Mount Vernon Memorial boulevard. Only a railing and 15 yards separated the scene of horror from the busy highway. Capt. George H. Maines, American Legion official, was on a bus headed for Washington when the crash occured.

Moans Are Faint

He tugged the cord, bounced out and was one of the first on the scene. The moans of the injured were very faint, he said. The captain had seen terrible things before. But nothing like this. Bloody pillows, which a few seconds before had rested happy but weary heads. Luncheon plates with half-eaten meals atop floated in the water.

The muddy river bank was a mess for many yards around. It and the military were on hand to take charge and brush away the curious, always bent on picking up a souvenir, no matter how gruesome.

One souvenir was left untouched. It was a child victim's copy of "Alice in Wonderland" open to page 191. One paragraph on that page ended "And the shrill voice of the queen ordering off her unfortunate guests to execution."

Grasshoppers produce their characteristic strident sound by rubbing their hind legs against their wings.

Boston Lawyer Is Killed When Gas Explosion Wrecks Home

BOSTON, Nov. 2—(U.P.)—A Boston lawyer was killed today by a gas explosion in his Medford home as emergency workers strove to eliminate the dangers from a major gas breakdown affecting Medford and eight other communities.

The victim was Atty. Abraham Kaplan, about 45, whose home is situated on Lincoln road in the fashionable Lawrence Estates section of Medford.

A Medford fire department official said cursory examination indicated that the explosion was not connected with the general gas breakdown. However, he said a thorough investigation was underway.

The blast blew out one wall of the kitchen, every window in the house, and many windows of neighboring homes. Fire officials said the explosion resulted from gas flowing from an open burner flame in a combination range.

The house is served by the Malden & Melrose Gas Light Co., where a breakdown Monday night disrupted service to 250,000 residents of nine greater Boston communities.

Kaplan was found by firemen who were summoned by neighbors. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

SUPREME COURT HEARS PLEADINGS

Amarillo Union Attacks Texas Anti-Secondary Picketing Law

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Nov. 2.—Constitutionality of the state's anti-secondary picketing law was attacked in the Texas Supreme court today.

The Amarillo Construction and General Labor union, local No. 688, contended through its attorney that it had the right to picket a construction site even though none of its members were employed on the job.

Attorney Byron Singleton of Amarillo said the 1947 law forbidding non-employes to picket applied directly to this case.

No Labor Dispute Exists

Both sides agreed there was no labor dispute between contractor H. I. Stephenson and his employes who had moved two airplane hangers from Dalhart to the Tri-State Fair grounds at Amarillo and were re-erecting them as one building. The employes were non-union.

But labor lawyer Nat Wells of Dallas said a labor dispute did exist between Stephenson and the union. He argued the trial court erred in granting an injunction against the picketing.

The Court of Civil Appeals had upheld the trial court judgment, ruling that the union was not engaged in "any valid bona fide labor dispute or controversy" justifying picketing.

Conceding that no labor dispute within the meaning of the Texas law is shown, Wells said: "But we firmly urge that neither the Texas legislature nor Texas courts have power to so limit the definition of 'labor dispute' as to deprive Texans of the constitutionally granted rights of free speech, assembly and peaceful picketing.

"Accordingly, we squarely challenge the constitutionality of that statute as applied to the facts of this case."

He said a labor dispute exists because the union was trying to maintain its $2 wage scale, prevent unsafe working standards and discourage use of non-union labor.

The record showed Stephenson paid a starting wage of $1.15 an hour.

Singleton said examination of testimony revealed unquestionably that the union's controversy with Stephenson involved only the contractor's failure to hire union workers exclusively on the job or to force his non-union employes to join the union.

The court took the case under consideration. An opinion may be expected within several weeks.

Chemist Says Ammonium Nitrate Got 'Hotter Than Oven' In Test

HOUSTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)— It's "impossible to get an oven's contents hotter than the oven—but a Harvard professor did, using the chemical blamed for the Texas City disaster.

Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky, head of the Harvard chemistry department, told yesterday of his experiment in testifying in the Texas City disaster damage suits trial.

He was a rebuttal witness for the plaintiffs in the six-month-old, $200,000,000 mass trial now nearing its end.

Kistiakowsky said that after the Texas City waterfront explosion disaster of April, 1947, he made experiments with fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate in paper bagging.

Ammonium nitrate has been blamed for the explosion that touched off the tragedy.

Kistiakowsky said he and his assistants put the compound and its special paper bagging in a flask and put the flask in an oven.

"When the oven got to a certain temperature," he said, the compound was actually hotter than the oven, which is impossible."

He said the fertilizer compound and the paper had started a chemical reaction which gave off its own heat.

South Described As Land Of Opportunity At Publishers Meet

MINERAL WELLS, Nov. 2. (AP). The South which the late President Roosevelt called the nation's No. 1 economic problem was given a new name today by the new president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association.

Clarence B. Hanson, jr., of Birmingham, Ala., said the South is now America's No. 1 economic opportunity.

Hanson, publisher of the Birmingham News and Age-Herald, made his observation in an interview on the final day of the four-day SNPA convention.

Press Fight Foreseen

He also declared publishers in the next 12 months will have to fight increasing federal encroachment on "the traditional and constitutional freedom of the press."

Hanson cited a federal plan to put newspaper postal rates on a sliding scale, according to circulation, as evidence of government efforts to "limit" press freedom.

"Combat against this rising tide of federal control is up to the newspapers, he said. "The people who read the newspapers are pretty sound. If they are given the truth they will react accordingly."

New Means Urged

The publishers were told by E. C. Davis, vice-president and business manager of the Beaumont (Tex.) Journal, to become cost-conscious and seek "new and more economic means of publishing through labor-saving equipment and more efficient methods."

Tom Wallace, editor emeritus of the Louisville, Ky., Times and president of the Intra-American Press association, appealed for solidarity between newspapers of North and South America.

"Each of the Americas needs for its economic welfare and its security the steadfast friendship and willing services of the other," Wallace said.

Seven Men, Car Are Used To Free Young Mare From Well

GAINSVILLE, Nov. 2—(AP)—It took seven men and a car to do it, but Blacky finally was rescued from the well.

The young black mare fell in the 25-foot deep well yesterday while grazing in a vacant lot. Only her hindquarters slipped into the four-foot wide hole.

She looked as if she were sitting down—but sitting a little deep.

And she was struggling when Sam Pettigrew found her. Pettigrew rounded up six more men and his car. A leather band was slipped under Blacky's stomach and attached to the car.

Slowly, and with some thrashing of legs, Blacky was pulled upright. A little dazed, she walked away.

Daily Average Production Of U. S. Crude Oil Boosted

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)— The daily average of crude oil and condensate production in United States increased 3,050 barrels last week, American Petroleum Institute reported today.

The daily average was 5,070,150 barrels, compared with 5,651,950 a year ago.

Refining companies reported the industry operated at 85.3 percent of potential, compared with 83.3 percent a year ago. They said 5,509,000 barrels of crude were run to stills daily against a year ago's 5,673,000 barrels.

Heavy fuel oil production was estimated at 7,754,000 barrels compared with 7,609,000 the previous week and 8,825,000 a year ago. Light fuel oil production was estimated at 7,016,000 barrels against 6,856,000 the previous week and 7,576,000 in the comparable week of 1948.

Gasoline production was estimated at 19,002,000 barrels compared with 18,446,000 barrels the previous week.

Fort Worth Woman Suffocates From Fire That Burns Bed

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2—(U.P.)— An elderly Fort Worth woman died of suffocation today from a fire that burned her bed in the duplex apartment where she lived only two doors from a fire station.

Mrs. Lula Hill, about 70, was burned from the smouldering mattress but Peace Justice Whit Boyd said he believed she died of suffocation.

A neighbor, Mrs. Louise Juarez, saw smoke coming from a window in Mrs. Hill's apartment and reported it to fire station No. 5 nearby. Firemen broke the front door of the place to gain entrance and extinguish the fire.

The blaze was believed to have started from a cigaret, since neighbors described Mrs. Hill, who lived alone, as a chain smoker.

Survivors include a son, V. E. Hill, Dallas.

Ship Loaded With Explosive Fertilizer Reported Aground

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2—(AP)— A ship carrying explosive ammonium nitrate was aground today near the Mississippi river mouth.

Coast Guard officials said the SS Green Mountain State has the chemical cargo secured and there is little danger of an explosion unless a storm battered it about.

Ammonium nitrate is the same chemical that touched off the Texas City holocaust.

A tugboat crewman was injured as the tug battled to free the grounded freighter. The injured man—identified as Phillip Curry—was hit in the neck by a cable which tautened suddenly.

The vessel was steaming out Southwest pass enroute to the Far East when it grounded in the early morning darkness yesterday.

DO you have difficulty in cracking soft boiled eggs? Here's advice from a cafe man that may help you. Says he: "Never let the egg know that you are afraid of it. Hold it firmly in your left hand, smack it across the middle with the knife in your right hand."

Our weakness is that we are far too gentle in the smack.

THOUGHTLESS TRICK

SPOOKS took a back cane rocker and a white enameled chair with green trim from a terrace at 2722 Twenty-ninth Hallowe'en. Additional damage was breaking of a flood light all over the sidewalk.

The chairs were the property of a lovely woman, who was widowed last spring and the chairs had been bought by her husband. Since she cherished them because of the sentimental attachment, she hopes that the young people who took them will return them. Perhaps they were left at a place where it is not known who the owner is. Her telephone number is 5878.

The woman who had spent the early evening in answering the door and handing out candies and cookies to costumed spooks, left her home for a while. When she returned later the chairs were missing and the light was broken.

ONE WOMAN'S OPINION

MISS Pat Smith, Lubbock's only woman attorney, thinks women's experience in citizenship will be broadened if the vote on the amendment to grant jury privileges to women in Texas is passed.

"Condemnation of this amendment in its basic concept is saying the superior male should be the one to decide whether or not a person accused is guilty or innocent," Miss Smith observed.

"By adoption of the amendment, I believe that women would be more acceptable in the business world, with equal salary opportunities. As I see it, it would broaden their rights in every respect."

Miss Smith, who has a degree in law from Southern Methodist university, Dallas, is associated with the law firm of Bradley, Key and Kimmel.

Town Talk

MESSRS. AND MESDAMES CARL E. MAXEY, 3009 Twenty-third, and Herschel Maxey, 1917 Twenty-seventh, will be hosts tonight from 9 until 12 o'clock with a dance in the ballroom of the Lubbock Country club. The event promises to be the social highlight of the week with 500 people expected to attend.

The dance will be a semi-formal one, and music will be by Ted Crager and his orchestra.

Featuring the unusual and elaborate in decorations, the entrance to the club and the front stairs will be transformed into a harvest scene by gourds, pumpkins, corn, shocks of feed and squash. Continuing the autumn motif, the orchestra pit will be surrounded by fish netting from which ducks and greese are "flying." Cornucopias will be used throughout the ballroom, and a giant turkey formed of pompon chrysanthemums will be placed against a background of brown and yellow oak leaves topping each of the two mantels.

Suspended from the ceiling will be clusters of multicolored balloons held in netting, and during the dance the nets are to be cut and the floating balloons set free. In the dining room will be a revolving floral centerpiece of gitnt mums, and the over-all decorative effect will feature brown, gold, orchid and bronze.

As a continuation in the series of pre-bridal courtesies being given for Miss Joan Hale, Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw and her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Garrett, entertained with a Wednesday morning party in the Bradshaw home, 2514 Twentieth. Approximately 30 guests called at 9:30 o'clock.

The table was done in autumn colors, and was centered by an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums. Copper appointments were used, and hostess gift was presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Clifford Barr is to entertain this morning with a coke party honoring Miss Hale.

Mesdames Tom B. Simmons, jr., of 3204 Twenty-second and C. A. Rosebrough of 2607 Thirtieth will entertain at a bridge luncheon today at 1 p. m. in the party room of the Lubbock Country club.

A Thanksgiving motif will be used in decorating, and arrangements of fruit and bronze mums will center the tables.

Guests will be Mesdames W. E. Keeney, Ruel C. Martin, Bill Porter, Lewis Kerr, Frank Baker, Bob Womble, Roger Kuykendall, Harold Humphries, Wayne Finnell, Winston Robertson, Eugene Alderson, H. A. Watson, jr., Watson Carlock, Marion Key, Ira Dunlap, Jack Henry, Armond Samson, J. M. Moxley, Mina Watkins, James Milam, Leete Jackson, jr., Ben Hutchinson, Neil H. Wright, jr., French Pruitt and Myron Madison.

Speech Class To Present Recital

The advanced speech class of Mrs. C. M. Kaigler will be presented in recital tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the chapel of First Methodist church.

Those to apear on the program are Ladonna Rieger, Rose Ann Blackwood, Neal Hicks, Sylvia Turner, Marilyn Goodwin, John Charles Bacon, Ola May Davis, Robert Adams, Dana Fay Portwood, Nan Kelly, Frances West, Sue Ann Moore, Lawana Hilburn, Leora Hilburn, Sam Arnett, III, Arlette Arnett and Patsy Logan. The program is open to the public.

The goat is a ruminant animal closely related to the sheep.

Baptists Urged To Keep 'Hands Clean' By Refusing State Funds

EL PASO, Nov. 2. (AP) — The president of Baylor university declared today that statism is spreading rapidly in the United States and Baptists must keep their "hands clean" from accepting federal or state funds.

Delegates to the Texas Baptist general convention heard this statement today from Dr. W. R. White of Waco.

He said that those who believe "a certain hierarchy" is a bulwark against communism were mistaken, because that ecclesiastical has always been lined up with the state and has accepted and sought state funds.

To provide dependence upon the state, Dr. White called for adequate support of ministers, the teaching profession and the church's institutions.

Dr. J. H. Landes, pastor of the Wichita Falls First Baptist church, delivered the sermon for the morning session.

"Our faith does not rest in wisdom of men or reasonings of the learned, but upon incarnation, death, resurrection, ascension and return of our Lord," he preached.

"We will keep faith only as we are kept by the spirit of God," Dr. Landes said, "and as we move toward a goal of world evangelism we must recover the urgency of apostles, the zeal of saints."

Bible Society Included

Reports were given in the morning session on American Bible society, student work, brotherhood and the Sunday school departments.

T. C. Gardner, training union department, Dallas, told the convention that the increase in the number of new unions, enrollment and awards earned surpassed all previous years. He said 10,?91 unions now were functioning in Texas with membership of 218,-325.

George J. Mason of the Baptist foundation, Dallas, paid tribute to Dr. W. Brunner, of the endowment department, Dallas. Dr. Brunner told the convention that receipts for the endowment fund totaled $4,905,881.49, over $94,000 short of the goal set in budget.

L. H. Tapscott, brotherhood department director, Dallas, gave the brotherhood report and Andrew Allen, Sunday school department, Dallas, reported on Sunday school activities.

Dr. Lemuel Hall, district missionary, Austin district, was re-elected president of the Texas Baptist Chaplins' association at their annual meeting held this morning. The Rev. Henry Smith, Halletsville, was re-elected secretary.

Other officers are the Rev. Jesse Yelvington, Dallas, state Baptist evangelist, vice-president; the Rev. Kelly Simmons of Gilmer and the Rev. D. C. Ham, Ranger, committee-at-large members.

The association is considering compiling a book on members' war experiences. Suggested title is "Under The Silver Cross."

Dallas residents of the Baylor university board of trustees will serve as trustees for the Texas Baptist Memorial sanitarium. They will be named by the convention tomorrow.

Julian Atwood, pastor of the Lamesa First church, conducted a memorial service for members who died during the year. Reports were made by Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the Lubbock First church, on libraries, and by Harry V. Hamblen, pastor of Harlingen First church, on hospitals.

Speakers reporting on the Baptist foundation were George J. Mason of Dallas; William H. Fleming of Fort Worth, chairman of the foundation board, and Roy McKnight, vice president and comptroller of Baylor. Members of the foundation board are J. M. Nash of Waco and J. M. Waddell of Kermit.

T. B. Maston, professor of social ethics at Southwestern Baptist theological seminary, Fort Worth, told delegates no Baptist minister should perform a marriage ceremony for a person who has been divorced, unless the cause of divorce was adultery.

He spoke at the afternoon session.

Maston said placing of divorced persons in any position of leadership in church set a bad example for young persons.

He said divorced persons should not be denied a rightful place in church activities, but condemned ordination of deacons who had been divorced and divorce in a pastor's marriage.

"The Christian ideal for marriage is one woman and one man joined together for life," he said.

Zone Changes To Be Considered In City

At least four new requests for zone changes in the city, in addition to several requests previously submitted and studied, will be included on the agenda for the monthly meeting of the City Planning commission tonight in City hall.

Requests for zoning must be submitted by the 25th of the month preceeding the regularly scheduled meeting in order to be considered.

Regular meetings of the planning commission are scheduled on the first Thursday of each month.

Obligation Service Is Conducted By OES Lubbock Chapter

A candlelight obligation ceremony was directed by Mrs. Kirby Nutt at a meeting of Lubbock chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday night at the Masonic hall. Mrs. Amos Bond sang "Star of the East" and "The Lord's Prayer." Assisting were Mesdames Morris Cranford, John Cocanougher, Vernon Peters, M. H. Adkisson, James O'Connell, Clarence Young, Mrs. Christine Johnson and Mrs. Dudley Powell of Shallowater and Carlos Reynolds.

Mrs. Cranford, worthy matron, presided. She reported an old-fashioned initiation service which she attended in Slaton recently, where costumes worn were of the period of 1876. Mrs. Riley Carlton reported Brownfield OES Friendship night.

Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. C. Alvin White and Mrs. W. M. Peticolas, member of the refreshment committee, served 80 members and guests. The hall was decorated with red and yellow chrysanthemums by Mrs. Jim Roberts and Mrs. S. A. Hamilton.

Inspection Of Tech ROTC Set Nov. 28-29

AUSTIN, Nov. 2. (Special) — The annual informal inspection of the Texas Technological college ROTC unit will be held Nov. 28-29, it was announced today by Col. Oscar B. Abbott, executive of the Texas Military district.

Col. Albert A. Horner, deputy executive of the Texas Military district, will be the officer in charge of the inspection. He will be accompanied by inspecting officers from the Texas Military district and assisted by the Lubbock Organized Reserve corps inspector, Major James Samsel.

In general, the informal inspection is designed to bring to the attention of officials at the inspected schools the deficiencies, if any, as found, so that they may be corrected to produce a more efficient ROTC unit. The inspection is conducted on a statewide bases.

The annual formal inspection will be conducted by Texas Military district headquarters just prior to graduation next spring.

TEAPOT DOME SCANDAL CLOSED

Blackmer Cleared Of Charges By U. S. After Paying $20,000 Fine

By JAMES A. CALDWELL
INS Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Nov. 2—The government today wiped the slate clean of charges pending for more than two decades against Henry M. Blackmer, one-time obscure Colorado attorney who rose to national prominence and wealth in the "roaring 20's."

Circuit Judge Orie L. Phillips, presiding in U.S. district court in Denver, levied a fine of $20,000 against the one-time oil tycoon and industrialist, for failing to pay more than a million dollars in income taxes in the years 1920 to 1924.

Blackmer escaped a jail sentence, the judge said, because of his advanced age—he is 80—and because his health is failing.

Back Taxes Paid

The defendant had already settled his accounts with the U. S. revenue department by payment of $3,670,784 in back taxes and penalties. This was in 1932.

Judge Phillips dismissed an indictment accusing Blackmer on two counts of perjury. A parallel indictment, duplicating the charges to which Blackmer pleaded guilty in Denver Sept. 26, was also dismissed.

The former fugitive stood grimfaced as his sentence was read in the crowded federal courtroom. The fine was set at $5,000 on each of four counts of tax evasion. Maximum penalty under law is one year in jail, plus a $10,000 on each count.

Socialite Accompanies Accused

Mrs. Erle Kistler, Denver socialite, and Myron K. Blackmer, the defendant'schildren by his first marriage, accompanied the defendant to court, along with his attorney, Harold D. Roberts.

It was a little more than a month ago that Blackmer returned to Denver after 25 years in the plush resorts of southern France and Switzerland. He left the country quietly in 1924—and remained in Europe despite repeated efforts by the government to return him, to ask him what he knew about the Teapot dome oil affair.

He was indicted in 1928, but resisted extradition until a "deal" with the government last month, when he agreed to plead guilty to tax evasion if the perjury charges were dropped.

Careful Study Made

Judge Phillips told the court today that he had made a careful study of the files, reports and documentary evidence in the case.

The records convinced him, the judge said, that prosecution of Blackmer for perjury would be "a vain and useless effort." There was conclusive evidence, he explained, that the defendant was out of the state on the two dates he was accused of committing perjury by signing tax reports under oath.

He added that since there was no valid oath, there could be no perjury under the law.

The judge also said he examined the pre-sentence report furnished by the federal probation officer. Attached was a description of Blackmer's physical condition provided by the Boston clinic. It advised the court that the defendant has a gall bladder ailment, a heart condition and other illnesses which require special diet. The clinic added: "An emergency operation might be necessary at any time."

Doctors Confirm Belief

The judge said two "reliable" Denver doctors confirmed his belief, based on the letter, that extended confinement might result in death for the defendant. He declared:

"I do not believe the ends of justice would be served by sending this man to jail."

Two cashiers' checks for $10,000, drawn on the New York Trust company, were presented to the clerk of the court, and Blackmer walked out, free to go wherever he chooses for the first time in two and one-half decades.

Blackmer began his climb to power around the turn of the century. He was district attorney in Colorado Springs, and then a prominent banker, railroad owner and financier.

Vast Fortune Made

He reportedly made profits of five and one-half million dollars in oil stock deals after World War I, and at one time his personal fortune was said to amount to $50 million.

Then, the Teapot dome scandal broke into the open, and the congressional investigation reached into the highest levels of American government and finance.

Blackmer, whose genius for making money was exceeded only by his ability to keep a secret, was never directly connected with the $100 million oil swindle. But he refused to return home to tell what he knew.

That question remained unanswered as Blackmer paid his debt to society today.

Officials Attend Rites For Dean Of Texas State Capital Newsmen

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — State officials and fellow-newspapermen attended funeral services today for William M. Thornton, "dean" of the Texas capital's correspondents.

The 70-year-old reporter, Austin correspondent for the Dallas Morning News for half a century, was buried in Mount Calvary cemetery here following rites at St. Mary's Catholic cathedral.

He died at his home yesterday after suffering a chronic heart ailment for several years. Only the day before he worked at his office.

Gov. Allan Shivers paid tribute to Thornton's "factual and fearless reporting," saying he contributed as much to good government in Texas "as any man I have ever known."

Dallas News Managing Editor Harry C. Withers said Thornton "knew more political figures in Texas than any other newspaperman."

The veteran newsman became correspondent for the Galveston and Dallas News in 1899 while he was a student at the University of Texas. His father, J. E. Thornton, had represented the newspapers in Austin for 20 years.

Modern oil wells commonly reach depths of 10,000 feet.

New Polio Cases In Texas Drop To 35

AUSTIN, Nov. 2. (AP)— New polio cases in Texas dipped to 36 last week.

The State Health department reported the new cases from 24 counties, two of them reporting their first incidence this year.

The dip followed a flare-up in polio a week ago when the total new cases climbed to 57 after several weeks of lower figures.

The past week's incidence boosted the state's total for the year to 2,138 cases from 196 counties. In the same period a year ago there had been 1,612 cases in 158 counties.

Deaf Smith and Johnson counties reported their first incidence last week with one case each. Other counties reported new cases as follows: Harris and Tarrant, 4 each; Wichita 3; Dallas, Tyler and Travis 2 each; Brazoria, Coleman, Denton, Fannin, Floyd, Gray, Hale, McLennan, Midland, Nueces, San Patrico, Tom Green, Wheeler, Williamson, Young 1 each. One case was also reported by Veterans Administration hospitals.

When you are preparing liver and bacon, fry the bacon first and drain it on brown paper or a paper towel or napkin. Then when the liver has been put in the pan and the slices have been turned once, put the bacon on top of the slices so it will keep hot as the liver finishes cooking.

Lead In Five Schoolboy Districts At Stake This Week

Sudan Tangles With Littlefield In 4-A North; 24 Games On Tap

Top spot will be in the balance in five of the seven South Plains schoolboy football districts this weekend as a 24-game schedule is unreeled.

Centers of interest will be Sudan and Brownfield, where leadership in Districts 4-A North and 4-B, respectively, will be on the line.

Friday night, Sudan is to entertain Littlefield in what is generally conceded to be the title game in 4-AN.

Thursday night, unbeaten, untied Meadow will clash with Ropesville at Cub stadium in Brownfield. This game involving two of the top teams in 4-B originally was scheduled for Meadow, but this week was transferred to Brownfield in order to assure accommodations for the large crowd that is expected.

All Districts Active

There is ample activity in other districts, too, with at least one conference tilt on tap in every circuit.

In the big Double-A game of the week, Odessa's Bronchos invade Lamesa for a Friday afternoon battle. Lamesa, beaten by Lubbock last week, will be making its last ditch stand in the District 3-AA race. Odessa, easy victor over Midland a week ago, will be trying for its second straight conference win—and heavily favored to get it against the crippled Lamesa club.

Brownfield's Cubs, still without a victory this season, have what is probably their best remaining opportunity to collect a scalp as they play host to mediocre Midland. If the Cubs don't take this one, they stand little chance of breaking into the win column against their future foes—Lamesa, Odessa and Lubbock.

Floydada Meets Tulia

Both District 3-A leaders, Spur and Floydada, are in action this week. Floydada entertains Tulia, while Spur journeys to Abernathy to joust with the dangerous Antelopes. In other district games, Lockney is at Matador and Ralls at Paducah. Crosbyton, currently tied with Lockney for second place, takes on Post in a non-conference go at Post.

The Littlefield-Sudan scrap easily is the standout attraction in 4-A North. Both are undefeated in district play, and the winner is expected to roll on to the title. Once-beaten Levelland is at home against Muleshoe, and Sundown entertains Morton in other conference contests.

Only one district setto, Tahoka at Seagraves, is on the District 4-A South docket.

5-A Games Slated

All three South Plains teams in 5-A see action this week. Seminole plays host to Monahans, Andrews goes to Fort Stockton, and Denver City travels to Pecos. The two district leaders, Wink and Kermit, are idle.

In 3-B, Olton's Mustangs can move nearer the crown by besting Friona in a game to be played at Olton. Dimmitt and Hale Center, Olton's two top challengers, battle it out at Dimmitt, with the loser due to fall from championship consideration. Farwell plays at Anton, Whitharral at Spade, and Amherst at Springlake in other 3-B games.

All eyes will be on the Meadow-Ropesville engagement in 4-B. Meadow currently is riding herd on the entire loop with its perfect record, while Ropesville is the top contender with a 5-1 mark. New Deal and Whiteface, two other clubs retaining a chance at top honors, play hosts to Frenship and Idalou respectively. Cooper is at Plains in the remaining game on the docket.

Eastern New Mexico Meets Ada Eleven

PORTALES, No. 2 (Special) — After six straight starts in the New Mexico Conference, the Greyhounds of Eastern New Mexico University step out of conference play this week to meet East Central State College in Ada, Okla.

Very little is known in this section about the Greyhounds' opponents for the Friday night tussle except that they captured the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference title last year and are pushing toward the top this season.

Coach Al Garten and a 33-man squad will leave Portales Thursday morning for the jaunt to Ada. Garten reports that Greyhound reserves may see plenty of action against the black suited Tigers of East Central. Quarterback Billy Speegle and Linemen Charlie Babers, Bob Benton, and Dolphus Johnston will work against the Tigers. Halfback Keigm Harp, who sprained his ankle in the Western tilt last week, will not make the trip. Garten revealed that Harp may be out for the rest of the season.

Eastern New Mexico University is now in third place in the New Mexico Conference. The Hounds hold wins over Panhandle A&M, St Mike's and New Mexico Western; they tied with Adams State and dropped ball games to Sul Ross and Highlands University.

SMU Returns 3,000 Tickets For Game With Texas Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 2 (AP) — SMU returned 3,000 of its tickets today to Saturday's football game with Texas A. and M.

Ticket manager Howard Nelson of A. and M. said the ducats would go on sale tomorrow noon. All seats are in the concrete stands.

A crowd of 30,000 is expected.

As the Aggies worked out today, both of the top safety men, John Christensen and Charley McDonald, remained sidelined with injuries. Christensen has not played since the LSU game because of a shoulder separation. McDonald missed the Arkansas game with a bruised hip. Neither is expected to be ready Saturday.

Tech Cagers Start Work

Facing one of the largest rebuilding jobs in Tech athletic history, Coach Polk Robison has started work with the Texas Tech basketball team.

Only three of last year's lettermen are back and the bulk of the team must come from freshmen of 1948-49. Fifteen men anxious to make the team are working out daily in the gymnasium and some progress already has been made toward developing a fighting team, Robison says.

Back from last year are three men who helped carry Tech to the top spot among Texas Border Conference quintets: Gene Gibson, Lakeview, lengthy forward who has been shifted to postman; Chester Jackson, Monument, N. M., guard; and Charles Pinnell, hustling Andrews forward.

Eight candidates were members of the freshmen team last winter. Jack Alderson, Lubbock, has high hopes of being a starter at forward or guard. Irl Brown, 6 foot, 6 inch Katonah, N. Y., lad, will understudy Gibson at the post spot.

Verdell Turner, Lubbock, is returning to form and is expected by fans to be a regular. Jim Eddins, Sudan, also is coming along, as are Ted O'Neill, hustling Wellington guard; Doral Sandlin, Lubbock forward; Glen Lucas, Whiteface tall one; and Jim Sharp, Amarillo forward.

Three transfers may add strength. They are J. R. McAnally, Weathefford Junior college; James Cole, North Texas Aggies; and Weldon McClure, Howard-Payne.

Bill Eddins, Sudan, war-time letterman, completes the active squad.

Longhorns Have Edge Over Baylor

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Texas fans probably will shudder to learn that statistical comparisons indicate the Longhorns should beat Baylor Bears Saturday.

Those statistical comparisons are something the Texas backers have learned to ignore after watching the Longhorns outgain but not outscore three powerful opponents.

But a look at the figures does indicate this much: Baylor and Texas apparently have what it takes to stop each other's attacks.

Statistically, Texas boasts the best offense in the Southwest Conference. The Longhorns have gained an average of 390 yards per game. But the Baylor Bears are defensive leaders of the Conference. They have held the opposition to an average of 198 yards per game. Texas is second on defense, allowing 216 yards.

Baylor, like Texas, relies heavily on passes. It has gained 935 yards passing and 925 rushing. Both teams have fine pass defense records. Baylor rating first in this department and Texas second.

Baylor has given up more yardage overhead but has not been hurt as much as Texas, whose defeats all were set up by completed passes.

Baylor has limited its rivals to 32 per cent on completions and the defensive Bears have intercepted every seventh pass. Texas has allowed its foes to complete 36 per cent of their aerials, and has picked off every eleventh pass.

Texas has outgained Baylor on passes, 181 yards to 156 per game, but the Bears have a higher completion percentage, .590 to .523.

Schoolboy Teams Face Stiff Tests

Amarillo, Pampa In Feature Tilt

(By The Associated Press)

Five of seven undefeated teams eyed the weekend schedule warily in Texas schoolboy football as the field moves deep into the struggle for district championships.

The only two undefeated outfits not worrying — Wichita Falls and Lubbock — have open dates.

Grand Prairie is losing the most sleep. The unbeaten, untied Gophers meet Highland Park of Dallas in the state's feature game. The title of District 8 Class AA definitely is on the line.

Other powers also have their worries although Port Arthur, Corsicana, Baytown and John Reagan (Houston), all of whom are undefeated, are expected to come through their games without blemish.

Amarillo, once the kingpin of the Panhandle but right now having a somewhat disastrous season, is challenged by Pampa in the big battle of District 1. Pampa is considered the team with the best chance to unseat the perennial Top O' Texas champions.

Marshall must withstand the onslaught of Texarkana in the major contest of District 9. A win by Texarkana would throw the race into a mess.

All along the line the big guns of the campaign get their toughest tests. Only four of the 46 games in the state are nonconference affairs.

Thursday: Forest (Dallas) vs. Crozier Tech (Dallas), Fort Worth Tech vs. Poly (Fort Worth); Reagan (Houston) vs. Jeff Davis (Houston), Alamo Heights (San Antonio) vs. Jefferson (San Antonio), Mesa, Ariz. at El Paso High, Orange at Beaumont.

Friday: Adamson (Dallas) vs. Sunset (Dallas), Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) vs. Paschal (Fort Worth), San Jacinto (Houston) vs. Sam Houston (Houston), Harlandale (San Antonio) vs. Brackenridge (San Antonio), Childress at Electra, Quanah at Graham, Midland at Brownfield, Odessa at Lamesa, Ysleta at Austin (El Paso), Big Spring at San Angelo, Weatherford at Cisco, Gainesville at Denison, Bonham at Greenville, Paris at Sherman, McKinney at Denton, Highland Park (Dallas) at Grand Prairie, Marshall at Texarkana, Kilgore at Henderson, Tyler at Longview, Conroe at Jacksonville, Bryan at Lufkin, Palestine at Nacogdoches, Port Arthur at South Park (Beaumont), Freeport at Galveston, Galena Park at Baytown, Pasadena at Texas City, Cleburne at Ennis, Waxahachie at Corsicana, Austin at Victoria, Freer at Alice, Robstown at Laredo, Edinburg at Brownsville, San Benito at Harlingen, Donna at McAllen.

Saturday — Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) vs. North Dallas, Milby (Houston) vs. Austin (Houston), Burbank (San Antonio) vs. Lainer (San Antonio), Plainview at Borger, Amarillo at Pampa.

TOURNEY NAMED FOR HOGAN

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 2. (AP)—The last tournament in which he played will be named in honor of Ben Hogan, the king of golfers until an automobile accident put him out of action. Sponsors of the $10,000 Open here said the 1950 event will be known as the Ben Hogan Open instead of the usual Phoenix Open. Ben will be official host when the golfers play here Jan. 26-29.

McSwane Suffers Ankle Injury

Tech Faces Miners In El Paso Saturday

Texas Tech, faced with its biggest hurdle of the season Saturday night against Texas Western in its quest for a third consecutive Border Conference championship, yesterday continued its rough workouts.

Coach Dell Morgan, troubled with ulcers and poor work on the part of his squad, whipped the Red Raiders through a rugged scrimmage session. And while no appreciable spirit was exhibited, it was a hard session.

It also produced a minor injury to Center Bobby Williams and what may be a severe ankle injury for Tackle Doug McSwane. McSwane was helped off the field by Trainer Mason Gorby after sustaining an injured ankle. The injury may cost the Raiders one of their best offensive tackles.

But the biggest concern to the coaches was the deadness of spirit on the field. There was little chatter as the first string went through a long offensive drill that finally was continued under lights when it became too dark to see at twilight.

Earlier in the afternoon, the Raiders worked on defensive plays to be used against the powerful Miners, who hold one of the best offensive ground records in the nation. Forward passing also came in for attention.

MINERS FIGHTING MAD AND PLANNING TO UPSET TECH

EL PASO, Nov. 2 (Special) — Texas Western's Miners are fightin' mad and have prepared definite plans to toss their full fury at the Texas Tech Red Raiders come this Saturday night when the two elevens meet here in a crucial Border Conference tilt, which will climax Homecoming activities for ex-Miners.

The anger results from their first defeat of the season last Saturday when the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys ran through the Miners like a North wind in a fatal fourth quarter splurge to win 33-14; and secondly, the Orangemen well remember their humiliation of the 1948 season when the Red Raiders caught the Miners flat and won a resounding 46-6 victory.

Making the struggle even more important is that Texas Western must have a victory to stay in the Border Conference title chase. Tech is still undefeated in conference play and a good bet to retain the Border championship in spite of losses to Southwest Conference teams.

Coach Jack Curtice is highly hopeful that the physical condition of his Orange crew will be greatly improved over what it was against Hardin-Simmons. Herman Foster, first string defensive guard from Odessa, is due to be back after missing one game; and Cordell McCraw, explosive Virginia fullback, may be ready after sitting out the past two contests.

Harvey (Pug) Gabrel, Texas Western's ace running back, and Ernest Keily, Co-Captain and great linesman, both received severe charley horses but will be ready for the Red Raiders.

Since the Miners-Red Raider series on the gridiron began in 1930, seven games have been played. Last year Tech won the rubber game and took a lead of four wins to three for the Miners.

Tech Fish Play Odessa Friday

Texas Tech's freshman football team will take to the road again Friday, meeting the Odessa Junior college Wranglers at 8 p.m. in Odessa.

Coach Allie White's Picadors defeated the Wranglers in Jones Stadium, 13-0, last Saturday afternoon in a game in which neither team looked too impressive. Coach White and Coach Red Coats of Odessa agreed to give the teams another whirl at each other.

The Tech freshman, under Border conference rules, are permitted to play five games a season. Cancellation of the recent contest with New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell allowed playing of the second contest with Odessa in addition to the four already scheduled.

Members of the Picadors are dissatisfied with their efforts last weekend and have announced they will do much better in the second meeting with the Wranglers.

Tech will use the same men who have won two games and lost none this fall, including Waldo Young, W. H. Barker, Carl Madison, Chuck Reynolds, Ronnie Miller and others in the offensive backfield, and Carol Drye, Reynolds, and Jerry Killian defensively.

Coach White plans to use the platoon system again, changing elevens for defense and offense.

Grey Mask Pins Parks At Arena

Referee Charley Carr took almost as much punishment last night at Sled Allen's arena as the wrestlers did and it was because of some punishment that the Grey Mask was able to pin Herb Parks in the deciding fall of their main event.

Carr and the Mask both were outside the ropes when Parks threw a straight right. It knocked Carr to the floor, after which Parks pulled the Mask into the ring and pinned him. Before Carr could get back into the ring, the Mask pulled Parks off by his hair and slapped a reverse toehold on Parks to win the deciding fall.

In the preliminary match, Salvador Flores and George Overhull went to a draw in their 20-minute grapple. And Alex Kasaboski won the deciding fall from Al Getz in the semi-final match on disqualification.

It was a good night for the spectators, with the first match giving the crowd enough excitement to set the stage for the final two matches.

Kasaboski won the first fall in 17 minutes with a reverse crab, but Getz came back strong to take the second in 10 minutes with a series of body slams and a smother.

The third fall started out with Kasaboski using all the treachery possible. Getz stood the punishment as long as he could, then he went to work. When Carr got in the way, Getz threw him out of the ring, not once, but twice. He pushed Carr away four or five times, but the last time Carr avoided him and raised Kasaboski's arm in token of victory.

Westerners Hold Session

A casual visitor to Lubbock field yesterday might have wondered whether this was, indeed, an open week on the eWsterners schedule.

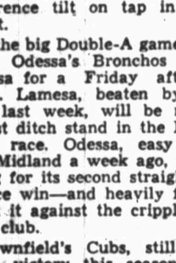

Coach C. R. Pattison, afraid that one of his players might get hurt, but equally as afraid that unless they get a good rough scrimmage they won't be ready for Odessa next week, sent the squad through a heavy head knocking session. And the results were more pleasing to second string players than they were first string.

The varsity had all sorts of trouble with the second string, finding the line had to dent and the backfield alert for Quarterback Bobby Brown's passes. Time after time the varsity tried the reserves' line, only to be stopped.

Guard Bob Newell, shifted to the defensive left tackle position, shone for the reserves. He bumped Brown time and time again for losses, breaking through the line quickly to tackle unerringly and hard. Other players also proved hard for the varsity to move out and plays were being stopped pretty well.

Snead Cops Lead In Pinehurst Golf

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 2. (INS) —Slamming Sammy Snead, pride of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., led the way in the first round of the 47th North and South Open golf tourney in Pinehurst today, stroking a four-under-par 68.

Following yesterday's postponement because of rain, only 11 of the 111 entrants managed to break the 72-par on the championship course.

Trailing Snead with 69s were Johnny Bulla, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Ted Knoll, Philmont, Pa.

One stroke behind the two Pennsylvanians were Pete Cooper, Ponte Verda, Fla.; Gene Dahlbender, jr., former Atlanta amateur and now of the winged Foot Club in Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Walter Romans, of Baltimore, Md.

Four 71's completed the par-busters. They were Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., Ryder Cupper, Veteran Gene Sarazen, former British Open champion Denny Shute, and U. S. Open champion and tourney favorite Carl Middlecoff, Ormond, Fla., country club playing professional.

Qualifying round medalist Tommy Wright, of Kingsport, Tenn., who shot a 67 on opening day, blew an 81 today.

Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., Ryder Cupper, in turning in a par 72, three-putted the second, third and fourth holes.

Texas Freshmen Will Tangle With Baylor Cubs Tonight

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Texas freshman football team will tangle with the Baylor Cubs at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Waco.

Both teams have won one and lost one. The Cubs were upset by TCU's Polywogs before downing the Texas A. and M. The Texas Shorthorns have beaten the Rice Owlets and bowed to the SMU Colts.

Baseball Writers Name All-Star Team; Red Sox Dominate In Poll

Kell Tops List With 113 Votes

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. — The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, rivals in the last World Series, each gained two berths on the Associated Press' 1949 Major League All-Star team.

Both, however, were forced to play second fiddle to the Boston Red Sox who led all clubs with three representatives — outfielder Ted Williams and pitchers Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder.

The remainder of the dream squad picked by a poll of 116 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America is composed of one player each from the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Tommy Henrich, a converted first baseman, and shortstop Phil Rizzuto are the world champion Yankees on the squad. Second baseman Jackie Robinson and catcher Roy Campanella are the Dodgers' representatives.

Third baseman George Kell, only Tiger on the team, received the most votes. He was named on 113 of the 116 ballots cast. Williams, was next with 112. Others to hit the century figure were Robinson, 108, and Stan Musial, Cardinals' star flychaser, 100. Campanella just missed with 99.

Henrich got 97 votes for first and five in the outfield. Musial got three additional votes, all for first base. The smallest number of votes for a winner went to Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's home run slugger, whose 68 votes won the right field post.

Rizzuto won with 83 votes. Only one vote separated the Red Sox pitching twins. The left-handed Parnell, who won 25 games and lost only eight, drew 78 votes one more than the righthander Kinder, who led all American League pitchers with a 23-6 won and lost record.

Officials Expect Sellout Crowd For Cotton Bowl Tilt

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP) — Enough applications already have been received for a cotton Bowl sell-out, Director-General James H. Stewart said today.

There are only 25,000 tickets available to the public and 112,000 applications, most of them probably for the full four-ticket quota per person, have been received.

The public sale opened yesterday and closes Friday midnight. Only mail applications are being received. No application sent before Nov. 1 or after Nov. 4 will be accepted.

When all applications are in, a drawing will be held to determine the order in which applications will be filled.

Officials Say Horses At Rockingham Were Tampered With

SALEM, N. H., Nov. 2 (U.P.) — More than half the horses which ran in a race at Rockingham Park last week were "tampered with," track officials disclosed today.

The track said an investigation revealed that sponges were inserted by someone in the nostrils of five of nine horses which started in the seventh race Oct. 24.

The small rubber sponges made it difficult for the horses to breathe during the race, a mile and a sixteenth route race, the track said.

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

A matter that keeps me in a state of perpetual amazement is the reading public's fondness of the weekly gridiron polls.

Personally, I feel that these polls are not worth the paper they're printed on, even if it happens to be a cheap grade of newsprint. As far as giving a true indication of teams' comparative strength, the polls are practically worthless.

Yet, John Q. Fan follows them avidly, and screams for more!

To get an idea of the foolhardiness of the scheme of ranking teams by polling the so-called "experts," let's take a look at Minnesota's position in the Associated Press polls of the last three weeks.

Three weeks ago, the Gophers —unbeaten, untied and unworried —were ranked third nationally by the ballot-batty AP selectors. Minnesota then dropped a game to Michigan, and promptly skidded to seventh place in the following week's poll. Next came a Gopher loss to Purdue, and now we find Bernie Bierman's boys buried 'way down in 26th place.

Now, I have a sneaking suspicion that the Golden Gophers actually haven't slipped 23 pegs in the last three weeks. Either they were rated too high in the beginning, or they are rated too low at present (which I believe to be the case). In either event, the AP poll has gotten far off the beam somewhere along the line.

There are other examples of the basic fallacy of the poll idea — and plenty of them.

For example, consider the positions of Rice, SMU and Texas in this week's AP rating. Rice is eighth, with 447 points, while SMU is ninth with 269 points. Both these clubs, you know, beat Texas by the skin of their figurative teeth. And where is Texas? Well, just keep reading down the AP list and you'll find the Longhorns down there in the No. 25 slot—behind such teams as Boston U. and Virginia, and barely ahead of such "juggernauts" as College of the Pacific and Wyoming!

Of course, the poll stories usually are worded cleverly enough to make interesting reading, and no doubt some of the alumni get a boost out of seeing old Siwash listed up there near the top of the national standings.

But, when it comes to value, I'd gladly trade all the football polls I've ever seen for a Confederate dollar!

It seems, however, that the public wants this service, and since our wishes are to please the public, the polls will continue to appear in The Morning Avalanche.

And, by the way, did you notice that the Westerners still are on top in the weekly state schoolboy poll???

Seagraves High school, of District 4-A South, would like to schedule a football game for Nov. 18. Officials of any area schoolboy eleven interested in playing the Eagles on that date should contact Coach Frank Sonntag at Seagraves . . . Lubbock's Westerners will travel en masse to Lamesa this Friday afternoon to witness the Odessa-Lamesa clash. Coach Pat Pattison says he wants his gridders to get a first-hand look at the Bronchos, whom they meet Nov. 11 in the game which is virtually certain to decide the 3-AA championship . . . Don't forget Friday night's Lubbock elementary school title game at Chapman field, pitting Sanders against P. F. Brown. It starts at 7 o'clock . . . Latest reports state that the folks down Post way are "digging in" as they prepare for the Nov. 11 invasion by Slaton. From all indications, the Antelope-Tiger tussle has stirred up the most intense interest of any schoolboy game to be played on the South Plains this year. Since I list both coaches, Francis Bingham and Clarence Tillery, among my personal friends, I'm stayin' neutral in this one, pardner!

Harkins Will Play For Western Cagers

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 2. (Special) —D. W. Harkins, Wayland's great point-maker, transferred to Texas Western this school year. An all-state cager from Levelland High school and one of the leading scorers in the nation while playing on a strong junior college team at Wayland the past two years, Harkins will be missed in the box scores for the Pioneers this season.

Harkins, a 6'1" forward with an uncanny eye for the basket, will toss them in for Texas Western College at El Paso this season. Supporters in Plainview wish him luck in keeping the nets swishing at his new alma mater.

Keeping his present pace, Harkins has a good chance of winding up his college career with close to 2000 points. In 1947-48 while playing on the Junior College Conference championship team at Wayland he stood second in the nation with his free shots totaling 101 out of 135 tries. With a 15.9 average per game he tossed 509 points for the season. Off a little in 1948-49, his game average ran 14.8 with a 449 total. With 958 points in two seasons behind him, Harkins is considered by Coach Harley Redin of Wayland to be "one of the best."

Harkins scored perfectly when he married Laura Belle Parker of Stinnett, also a Wayland student. The couple now resides in El Paso.

Wayland's Pioneers have five lettermen back from their great Junior College teams of the past two seasons with which to form a squad to play a 30-game schedule on a Senior College circuit this season.

Ropesville Meets Meadow Tonight

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 2. (Special)—Those two arch-rivals of District 4-B, Meadow's Bronchos and Ropesville's Eagles, will meet here at 8 o'clock Thursday night in a game which will have considerable bearing on the district title chase.

Originally set for Meadow, the Broncho-Eagle meeting was moved to Cub stadium to provide seating facilities for the expected turnout of 3,000 fans.

At present, Meadow—the only perfect-record team in South Plains Class B circles—is leading the 4-B race with five victories and no setbacks. Ropesville is in the runnerup position with five wins and one loss, but the Eagles also dropped a non-conference verdict to Kress.

Coach Lloyd Hunt of the Bronchos will field an attack built around Fullback Jesse Upton and Halfback Robert White. Bryan Boatmun of the Eagles will retaliate with an offense featuring Quarterback Kenneth Means and Fullback Glean Hewlett.

Meadow has scored seven straight wins to date, beating Cooper, 32-7; Lubbock Pioneers, 12-0; O'Donnell, 21-0; Whiteface, 19-0; Petersburg, 45-14; Idalou, 26-14; and Plains, 44-6.

Ropesville has turned back Petersburg, 14-0; Frenship, 44-0; Cooper, 27-0; Plains, 51-0; and Idalou, 32-6, while losing to Kress, 21-0, and New Deal, 38-19.

Carbon black has been produced by the U. S. Bureau of Mines by exploding acetylene gas in helium gas.

Seagraves' First Annual Homecoming Program Scheduled To Start Tonight

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 2. (Special) —A two-day homecoming program, the first in the history of Seagraves High school, gets under way here Thursday.

The observance will be capped by Friday night's Seagraves-Tahoka football encounter.

Two junior high grid games between Seagraves and Tahoka will launch festivities at 7 p. m. Thursday. A bonfire and pep rally is scheduled for 9 p. m., after the two junior contests.

The Friday homecoming schedule includes:

9 a. m.—Registration of ex-students, who are invited to attend school all day Friday.

Noon — Lunch in Seagraves school cafeteria.

1:45 p. m.—Parade.

3 p. m.—Pep rally.

3:45 p. m.—Refreshments to be served at registration of ex-students at the Homecoming cottage.

8 p. m.—Seagraves-Tahoka football game.

In a halftime ceremony at the grid tilt, Miss Dorothy Jackson is to be crowned "Football Queen." Also, prizes are to be awarded to the oldest male and female Seagraves graduates present, the oldest Eagle football letterman present, and the male and female graduates traveling the greatest distance to attend the homecoming program.

Stengel Named Manager Of Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP) — Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel, the frustrated dentist, today was voted baseball's "Manager of the Year" in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The leathery, wrinkled 59-year-old veteran Yankee pilot won in a proverbial breeze.

No other manager even came close. Casey was named on 101 of the 116 ballots cast by members of the Major League Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Only four other pilots received any sort of backing. Freshman pilot Robert (Red) Rolfe of Detroit and youthful Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies tied for runner-up honors with six votes apiece.

Joe McCarthy, whose Boston Red Sox missed winning the American League flag on the final day, received two votes. Jack Onslow, who brought the Chicago White Sox up two notches from eighth to sixth, corralled the final vote.

Amendment On District Courts Included In State Proposals

eligible for election as district judge. It is not necessary to have a license to practice law to be a county judge. It is common practice for such county judges to seek promotion to district judge. Many have been elected. They have been made the presiding officers in courts in which they could not practice. A person who is not a licensed attorney can now be elected the judge of a district court. He cannot practice in that court unless he has a license. The amendment would change this condition.

There's Another Angle, Too

The amendment also would allow district judges serving more than one county to conduct certain proceedings, or sign certain papers, without having to make a special trip to the seat of the county in which the case was filed.

For example, the 72nd district court includes Lubbock, Cochran, Hockley and Crosby counties. Frequently matters come up pertaining to some case, say in Hockley county, while the judge is in Lubbock. It would be more convenient for everyone concerned to attend to it in Lubbock. But, under the law, everyone would have to go to Hockley county to dispose of the business.

Judges and attorneys naturally appear overwhelmingly in favor of this amendment. They contend that a district judge should have the training represented by a license to practice law. Some judges now preside over courts in which they would not be eligible to practice.

Judges and lawyers also appear in close agreement that new regulations affecting the conduct of business often would save the court's time and be more economical than the present system.

Opposition to the amendment has been negligible, and most of it has been based on the acknowledged fact that some county judges, promoted to the district bench, have made splendid district judges despite their lack of a license to practice law. They contend the amendment is unfair to such people.

NO. 8

An amendment to provide for the creation of rural fire prevention districts.

MANY observers regard this as being the most meritorious of all the proposed amendments.

It would authorize the residents of any rural area to form a fire prevention district by an election among themselves and to levy a tax up to 3 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation to provide fire protection. The money could be used to buy fire fighting equipment, or to arrange for protection from some nearby town or city.

The chief argument for the proposition is that it would enable the residents of such areas to obtain fire insurance considerably cheaper than at present. In some cases, property owners who cannot get insurance protection would become qualified to obtain it.

There has been practically no opposition to the proposition, since it could not be put into effect anywhere unless the qualified voters in a proposed district approved it.

Police Arrest Two Bootlegger Suspects

Two bootlegger suspects were arrested by officers here Wednesday—one in his car on a city street, the other at a tourist court northwest of Lubbock.

Charges of liquor law violation probably will be filed against both men today, officials said.

One suspect, arrested by City Patrolmen James Atchison and J. P. Wilson, reportedly had nine 4/5 quarts of whisky, two 4/5 quarts and one pint of gin in his possession when his car was halted in the 100 block East Broadway about 9 p. m.

Sheriff's officers said the other suspect, a 29-year-old cafe worker, was taken into custody in connection with seizure of 10 cases of beer and six pints of whisky from a tourist court cabin connected with the cafe located in northwest Lubbock.

A quantity of beer was reportedly found in the man's possession at the time of his arrest in the cafe, officers said. Laundry marks on clothing in the cabin where the liquor and beer were discovered were traced to the suspect, it was announced.

Members of the Liquor Control board joined sheriff's officers in the raid.

Search For Victims

Irvin N. Townsend, Russell A. Potter and Joseph O. Fluet, all CAB safety officials.

D. W. Rentzel, Civil Aeronautics administrator, noted that in each of the last two fatal accidents on scheduled U.S. airlines "the carrier was operating in conformity with all safety rules."

Safety Standards Praised

"The safety standards of U.S. airlines have been maintained at a high peak, and neither of the two accidents of the last 15 months reflects in any way upon the operations of the airlines, their pilots or their aircraft," Rentzel said in a statement.

He declared that Eastern Air Lines, in whose DC-4 all the 55 victims were riding, "has established a lengthy record for reliability and safety." He said both the last two fatal accidents involving Eastern planes "were beyond the control of the carrier or its personnel."

Both Trying To Land

In yesterday's crash, the Eastern liner enroute from Boston to New Orleans, crashed after a collision with a Bolivian P-38 fighter while they were both trying to land at National airport.

Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass) called the wreck "mass murder." A colleague of Lane's, Rep. George Bates (R-Mass), was among those killed.

Yesterday's crash may have been unique.

Not only was it the worst of all time—53 deaths marked the previous peak in an airline crash—but it may have been the best observed.

Both Planes Contacted

The airport traffic control operator had been in communication with both planes, and had frantically tried to get the smaller plane to swerve left to avoid a collision.

Government investigators were on the scene almost instantly after the crash.

What they discover may be an aid to safety of all aviation. For this is the fourth time this year that an airliner has crashed following a collision with another plane.

The man who may be able to supply a part of the explanation is in no condition to talk. Erick Rios Bridoux, 28, the Bolivian pilot of the P-38 and the only person to survive the crash, is in a hospital.

His back is fractured, two ribs are broken, his scalp and face are lacerated.

CIO Expels Leftists

November 28. James B. Carey will head up the group, but will retain his post as CIO secretary-treasurer.

Albert Fitzgerald, president of the expelled UE, issued a statement in New York today saying the UE would continue "to fight for the improvement of wages and conditions" in the electrical industry.

Fitzgerald said the convention action against his union "proves UE's charges that CIO leadership has abandoned unionism in favor of politics."

Right-wing CIO leaders, Fitzgerald said, "are hysterically shrieking lies about UE to cover up their own failures. They want to hide the fact that their policy of chasing after handouts from politicians has dragged the CIO down from 6,000,000 to about 3,000,000 members."

The UE expulsion is expected to touch off a bitter jurisdictional fight.

Per Capita Tax Raised

Constitutional amendments were adopted which are aimed at financing organization in the fields of unions cut loose from the CIO. The amendments boosted per capita taxes to the CIO from eight cents per member per month to 10 cents monthly for the next year. This is expected to raise an additional $1,000,000.

Three other important constitutional changes were approved.

One gives the CIO executive board power to refuse to seat or to expel any board member found by two-thirds vote to be a Communist, Fascist or member of any other totalitarian movement or who helps accomplish the program of such people.

Another empowers the board to revoke the charter of any union whose "policies and activities . . . are consistently directed toward the achievement of the program or purposes" of Communism, Fascism or other totalitarian movement.

Either board members or unions are given the privilege, however, of appealing to the convention.

Under another amendment, unions more than two months behind in per capita taxes will be deprived of representation on the executive board unless they are found not at fault for their arrears.

Youths Charged

taken into custody for investigation in connection with felony theft early in October in Big Spring.

Two peace bonds were set in Justice courts here Wednesday.

C. E. Lynn set bond of $500 for Fletcher Pendergrass, 45, of 1500-block Ave. C, after the defendant had pleaded guilty of allegations made in affidavits of his wife Connie that he had threatened to kill her and had assaulted her previous to his threats. Pendergrass had not posted bond late last night.

C. M. Fearn, 51, of 1618 Sixth, posted bond of $300 following a hearing before Justice of the Peace D. W. Robertson which grew out of his wife's complaint that he had threatened her with bodily harm.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Floyd and Texas Ranger J. L. Rogers, both of Lamesa, informed the sheriff's department upon a visit here Wednesday that the following property had been taken in a Sunday burglary of a Lamesa residence:

A $400 fur coat, a $135 Mercury electric sewing machine, and a $65 Argus camera.

Striking Wichita Falls Workers Slated To Return To Jobs Today

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 2—(AP)—Striking employes of Wichita Fall's largest industry will go back to work tomorrow—at little, if any, pay increase.

A joint union-management statement today announced settlement of the dispute between about 300 union members and the Wilson Manufacturing company and the Wichita Falls Foundry and Machine company.

The statement said:

"The union will return to work Thursday under the terms of the contract which was in force for the two years ending Sept. 30 with very few minor changes.

Prices Hiked Here

stitution of five-cent coffee. That was Hop Halsey, co-owner of the five Mark Halsey drug stores.

"Our coffee will stay at five cents a cup even if coffee goes to $2 a pound," Halsey said in pledging to hold the price line.

"We have been approached by others on the matter of going to 10 cents," Halsey said, "but we would not go into any agreement. That would be price fixing."

"Some of those going to 10 cents will be mad at us, but pleasing customers is what counts. We know we can't even break even on coffee at five cents, but no place can make money on every move. Some things just have to be counted as service," Halsey said.

Meeting Is Hinted

As the telephone survey was being made, several managers and owners spoke of a Monday afternoon meeting in a local business place to discuss the price increase per cup, and there was a report that one firm was distributing signs to announce the increase. However, none would admit attending the meeting or claim sponsorship.

Two businesses, the State drug store, 1320 Texas avenue, and the American restaurant, 1611 Ave. H, already have the 10 cent price.

Olen Carter at the State said the added price has had no effect on coffee sales Tuesday and Wednesday. O. L. Peddy at the American said it was too early to tell the effect on business after one day at the new price. Both said customers had no verbal objections.

Claims Cost High

Peddy said it cost him around seven cents a cup to serve coffee. "I can't hire a dishwasher during cotton harvest, and I can't see losing two or three cents on a cup of coffee and have to wash the cup and saucer myself."

Spokesmen for the Hilton hotel and Hotel Lubbock coffee shops, where java has sold for 10 cents for about a year, both said the price would remain at 10 cents.

Kenneth Ramsauer, food manager at Wylie's drug store, 1106 Texas, where the price goes to 10 cents on Friday, said it cost more than six cents a cup to serve.

Makes Nothing On Coffee

He said he had been in the food business for 24 years and "never made anything on coffee."

"It is a leader, an accommodation. We are trying to make it just a break-even item, and don't expect to make money with the new price," he said.

He, and other managers, said it was difficult to break even on coffee when all costs were figured. Among the costs listed were the coffee itself, cream, sugar, ice water, napkins, cups and saucers, dishwashing, waitresses, silverware and overhead.

Others Disagree

However, Howard Medlock, of Medlock's restaurant, 1107 Ave. K, said he "couldn't figure a cup of coffee cost over half of what it sells for."

Medlock said his business would charge 10 cents a cup, beginning Friday "in self-defense."

"I fought the increase, but if the majority goes up, I have to or I'll have my counters filled with coffee drinkers during the mealtime rush. The others will get the lunch business and I'll get the coffee business."

He said he always welcomed coffee business because it was "good advertisement" and brought customers back to eat.

Figures Are Cited

Medlock said a 55-cent pound of coffe would make 60 cups, costing him about a cent a cup. Cream would add another cent a cup.

Other cafes and drug stores contacted in the survey reported:

Walgreen drug, 1219 Broadway — Price changing order would have to come from Dallas office. However, local fountain manager may raise cost at his discretion if local price conditions demand it. Still five cents.

Westerner cafe, 1105 Main — Still five cents, but increase has been discussed. May have to raise price.

Tech cafe, 1207 Broadway — If coffee prices increase, may have to go up. Will wait until Monday to decide.

Ben's cafes, 2301 Texas and 221 College — Probable increase if others go up. Price still five cents.

Chicken Village — Increase being considered, will wait several days for decision. May have to advance price per cup.

Texas drug, 1001 Thirteenth street — Undecided on increase, but none expected immediately. Price still five cents, but "bottomless" cup offer dropped on Tuesday.

Retil Prices Up

While coffee drinkers faced a 100 per cent increase on the per-cup price, grocery dealers came up with discomforting news for housewives.

One manufacturer's representative told a local grocery that green coffee beans are now bringing a price equal to what the retailer is paying, which will bring higher retail prices later on.

The salesman said it wasn't just a coffee shortage causing the difficulty — that the steel strike has produced a container shortage.

A spokesman for Piggly-Wiggly stores said their retail price had increased from 55 cents 10 days ago to 69 cents on Wednesday, with three retail increases during the period. He said consumers add to the problem by buying more than they need, with some customers asking for whole cases and buying all the store managers will permit.

He said Piggly-Wiggly has enough coffee on stock "for some time," but noted that only partial orders are arriving from manufacturers. He explained that coffee companies set the price on the day of shipment, not the day the order is received. Piggly-Wiggly has withdrawn orders because of the unstable market.

A South Plains Associated grocers' representative said the wholesale purchase price went from 54 cents to 62 cents last week, and then advanced six cents on Wednesday to 68 cents. No coffee has been received since the first of last week, with major coffee companies suspending shipments during the period of price instability.

Furr Food stores reported a good stock on hand, with retail prices being increased to correspond with wholesals increases.

The J. M. Radford Grocery company, wholesalers, reported a 14-cent per pound increase in the past three weeks. All orders have been filled, but heavy purchases during the past week has drained stock.

Waples-Platter Grocery company, also wholesalers, reported a 16 cent increase in less than a month. Orders have been filled, but customers are being asked to hold down the size of orders.

Acheson Urges Policy Change

tive nationalism."

On the gold question, the convention urged "the restoration in the near future of the free convertibility of the dollar into gold on the basis of its present gold value," of $35 an ounce.

The United States, Acheson said, must get away from the system under which, for years, it has financed the shipment of huge amounts of its products abroad through gifts or large government loans. Such measures as the European recovery program, he said, have served major national objectives but "have not been to our advantage as consumers."

Goods Supply Reduced

They have reduced the supply of goods which otherwise would have been available to American buyers, Acheson said, adding: "Nor have these export surpluses been to our advantage as taxpayers — for they have necessarily been financed by direct taxation and by government borrowings, the interest on which must come from taxes."

Such measures, Acheson continued, have helped establish the recovery and prosperity of other countries but now raise the question "what are we going to do about our balance of payments in the future?"

He said that for years he has heard that the United States has a "favorable" balance of trade because it sells abroad more than it buys abroad. In the years from 1914 through 1948, it has run up an export surplus of slightly more than $100,000,000,000, about two-thirds of which was paid for by U. S. government grants and loans.

Large Gap To Close

He said that to close this gap — to make American purchases abroad approximately balance with American exports, would require actions by European nations under the Marshall plan but even with all that those and other countries can do "there will still be a large gap to close by increasing our imports."

The solution to the problem, he declared, will be found "in continuous action along many different lines and in many different fields" —including such varied matters as tariff cuts and government purchasing.

And, he predicted, there will be strong opposition arising from increased foreign competition for a share of the U. S. market.

Hopeful Signs Seen

President Truman noted "encouraging developments of the past 12 months" marking "advances toward a prospernig world society."

Gains in the last 12 months, the President said, included:

"With the aid of the Marshall plan, Western Europe has now emerged from the critical relief stage and is in the process of reconstructing and expanding its productive ability.

"The fourth point of the policy program which I proposed in January — to assist the development of the handicapped areas with technical 'know-how' and capital investment — appears on the way toward enactment."

MARSHALL PLAN NATIONS TO EASE RESTRICTIONS

PARIS, Nov. 2. (AP)—European Marshall plan nations agreed today to eliminate quota restrictions on half their private commerce with one another by Dec. 15.

The decision was made in a resolution adopted by the 18-member council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC) at the close of its sessions here.

The council also gave its blessing to various proposed regional free trade agreements and called for a report on them by Dec. 15.

The action was accompanied by bitter criticism from the Irish government and a stern warning from the United States.

Irish Foreign Minister Dean Macbride in a statement just before adjournment said little or no progress had been made toward economic co-operation. He termed today's move a "step" but a "very small step," and said the cabinet ministers on the council would only delude themselves if they thought they had achieved momentous progress.

Funeral Services Set Today For Woman Of Near Lorenzo

LORENZO, Nov. 3. (Special)—Mrs. Maggie Hunkapillar, 69, of near Lorenzo, died at 5 p. m. today, in Lubbock Memorial hospital in Lubbock after having been ill for several days.

Funeral services will be at 3 p. m. Thursday, at the Lorenzo Church of Christ, with minister R. N. Stark officiating. Burial will be in Lorenzo cemetery under the direction of the Marr Funeral home of Ralls.

Mrs. Hunkapillar had lived near here for about eight years. She moved here from Pecan Grove, Okla.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Maude Ross of Foreman, Ark., and Mrs. Laura McKeown of Hatfield, Ark.; two sons, O. A. and J. L., both of Lorenzo; six grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Troy Jones, John Hopper, E. T. Schoepf, Ed Elliott, Arthur Isom, and A. W. Taylor, all of Lorenzo.

4-H Club Awards

sequently be entered in sectional and national competition for a trip to the National 4-H congress and a $300 college scholarship, respectively.

A trip to the National 4-H congress was won by Wicker last year on his dairying record and he was awarded a $100 scholarship to Texas Technological college in 1947 by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce for outstanding work and showmanship at the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

The dairy record kept by Wicker shows that of 11 cows the lowest butterfat producer for one lactation period yielded 424 pounds of butterfat from 8,044 pounds of milk. Texas' average production per cow is 137 pounds of butterfat and 3,110 pounds of milk.

Not only that, but Wicker has also handled 56 head of swine, 12 beef calves, 100 acres of field crops and 775 chickens. Eight of the 11 cows he kept records on have produced in excess of 500 pounds of butterfat in a year. The 4-H member holds five grand champion ribbons, 22 firsts, six seconds, three thirds and one sixth place and he has twice represented Garza county at the state 4-H Round-up.

Now Helps Club Leaders

Now working with George Samson and C. S. Lindsey, South Plains adult leaders, and County Agent L. C. Herron in the capacity of junior leader, Wicker has previously served five times as president of his own 4-H club at Southland. He and his mother have operated their farm there for years.

Explaining his success in the dairying business, Wicker told 4-H leaders that he went to considerable expense when he first started his demonstration to obtain good cattle and equipment. "Anything that is worth doing is worth doing right," he said.

The dairy production contest is sponsored by the Kraft Foods company of Chicago.

Leader At State Meet

Long a leader at 4-H county and district camps, Miss Scales was one of the recreation leaders at the state 4-H Round-up last summer and played an important part in the Talent Show there. She also helped organize and was elected leader of the Wellman community recreation group last summer and was a song leader at the 1948 State Conservation camp.

Demonstration work in the 4-H club has not been neglected by Miss Scales, either, according to 4-H leaders. She has made numerous garments in her clothing work and has canned 864 containers of food. She raised a pig at one time and has been president of the Wellman club three times.

The Recreation and Rural Arts program is sponsored by the United States Rubber company of New York and the program is handled through the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago.

TWO SOUTH PLAINS 4-H MEMBERS WIN TRIPS

Two area young people have won all-expense trips to the National 4-H club congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1 and a third has been picked fifth-place winner in the annual state garden contest, according to announcements made Wednesday from College Station.

Lois Charlene Ritchie, Post, and Catherine Foltyn, Sudan, are listed among the 16 state winners for the coveted Santa Fe Railroad Educational awards, including the Chicago trip. Selections were based upon length of membership in 4-H, leadership and achievement records, production and participation in 4-H and community activities.

Sue Stephens, also of Post, won fifth-place in the annual garden contest, sponsored by the Texas Seedmen's association. Miss Stephens has been a 4-H demonstrator for five years and "likes to see things grow," according to her home demonstration agent, Miss Jewel Strasner.

Weary Firefighters Hold Front Against California Brush Blaze

CHATSWORTH, Calif., Nov. 2. (INS)—A thousand weary firefighters hoped for continuing favorable winds today as they held their front against a devastating brush fire which has scourged 10,000 acres of Ventura and Los Angeles county hill lands.

Fresh winds from an unfavorable direction would seriously endanger the San Fernando valley communities of Calabasas, Agoura and Thousand Oaks.

The center of the blaze today was in Lindero canyon in Ventura county, where successful backfiring during the night stopped the spread of the flames momentarily. Volunteers, Los Angeles and Ventura county crews, Seabees and city firemen from a score of communities remained at the scene, however, in case of a change in wind.

Five-Cent Cup

ants were still selling nickel coffee. And yet, quite a few were going up and one cafe owner predicted it wouldn't be long until almost everybody was charging a dime.

Beaumont restaurant cup prices remained unchanged, but those were mostly at 7 cents.

Back in the grocery stores, coffee that was selling for 56 cents a pound in Dallas on Sept. 18 was up to 64 cents today. It jumped three cents Tuesday.

Most grocers blamed the rising prices on crop failures in Central and South America because of both flood and drought. Added to this was another drain on supplies with the re-opening of the European market as postwar recovery improved.

Philippines Typhoon

the carnival was owned by Mrs. M. Cushing, believed to be the wife of Frank Cushing, famed American stunt flyer.

Sergio Osmena, jr., son of the former Philippine president, flew into Manila late today from Cebu City and said at least 100 dead and injured had been counted in the capital city of Cebu island. He estimated the city's property damage at $25,000,000.

Heavy Damage Reported

A government intelligence official in Manila said he had received a report estimating Cebu island's typhoon damage at $50,000,000. He also reported that radio messages from Cebu were being sent to San Francisco for relay to Manila because normal direct communications between Cebu City and Manila had been destroyed by the storm.

Red Cross authorities on Negros island reported at least 150 houses were wrecked in Occidental province alone, leaving 350 persons homeless.

The Red Cross launched a flying survey over typhoon-lashed areas and began to organize relief operations on a "major disaster level."

The chairman of the Philippine Red Cross announced earlier that efforts to fly 10,000 pounds of relief goods to the southern Philippines had failed because of adverse flying conditions.

Osmena described the typhoon's deadly fury following his arrival in Manila. He related:

"I saw winds destroy 15 privately owned L-5 airplanes whose wings and fuselages were smashed on the ground at the Cebu airport where the hanger for my own private plane was destroyed."

He said the roofs of numerous Cebu City buildings, including the weather bureau and International Harvester warehouses, were ripped off by the winds and that severe damage was inflicted on the city's port facilities, copra stockpiles and other warehouses.

Cebu weather officials, according to Osmena, clocked the typhoon winds at a velocity of 100 miles per hour. This was confirmed by officers aboard the USS Talleyrand, an American vessel moored at the port of Cebu.

dustry, said in a statement that the new outbreak is of "grave concern."

"Immunity built up in susceptible animals against infection from type A virus is not effective against exposure to type O," he said.

"However, the possibility of the appearance of other virus types has been anticipated and the commission is prepared to move rapidly against the spread of such infection."

Dr. Simms said animals involved in the new outbreak—at Chicoloapan, Mexico — were destroyed, and intensive inspection of animals in surrounding areas have not yet shown any evidence of further spread of the new type infection.

"If sporadic outbreaks of the new type should continue," he said, "the commission intends to follow the policy of slaughtering and burying the animals.

"But in the event type 'O should become widespread in Mexico, it probably would be necessary to provide a bivalent vaccine—one that would develop a resistance to both types of virus."

There are three known types of foot-and-mouth disease, "types A and O" are the ones most frequently present in European outbreaks while "type C" occurs frequently in Mediterranean areas. All three types were said to be present in South America.

Dr. Simms said continuous inspection will be maintained of all animals surrounding the new infection indefinitely to see that it has not spread.

New Mexico's state tree, the pinon (pin-yon), is the only member of the pine family that bears edible nuts.

paign for Democratic candidates in the important 1950 by-election on Labor day.

To a huge labor audience at Pittsburgh, and to a farm gathering in Des Moines, he struck out at what he termed "selfish interests" and Republican "reactionaries" who he said were seeking to undermine his program of legislation in the Congress.

Campaign Opened

At a later news conference, the President frankly stated that political campaigns always open on Labor day of the year preceding an election, and that his campaign would be considered opened.

In his attack against Russia's aggressive Communistc policies, today, Mr. Truman said:

"There is a struggle now going on between two ideologies. One of those ideologies is backed by a moral code, and one is backed by no moral code.

"My ambition is to show that ideology backed by a moral code can do the best for the people of the world. I am just as sure of that as I stand here."

Men Of Vision Needed

Mr. Truman said the U. S. has reached its present point of achievement through the efforts of "men of vision." He said that, in the same way, such men are needed to develop the underprivileged areas of the world. He said his "point four" proposal provides such an avenue of development. He added:

"If we can make a contribution in the know-how, and raise the standard of living just two percent in the rest of the world, our factories and businesses never could catch up with the demand.

". . . If those (World) resources produce things for the welfare of the people of the world, to keep the world from being hungry, then no one would have any idea of carrying on a destructive war for the purpose of obtaining something that didn't belong to them."

Will Lead Parade

After his arrival in Minneapolis Thursday afternoon, the President will lead a parade to St. Paul. The occasion for his visit is "Truman Day," set aside by the state of Minnesota for the centennial observation of its entry in the union.

The president will attend a reception at 4 p. m. at the Lowry hotel, followed by a dinner early in the evening.

After his speech the President wil reboard his train for the return trip to Washington, leaving Minneapolis at 10:45 p. m. He returns to Washington at 9:15 p. m. CST Friday.

Defense Chief Praised

Nourse had a special word of praise for Defense Secretary Johnson, who announced on assuming office that he did not propose to have a peacetime WPA in the Defense establishment. Speaking of Johnson, Nourse said:

"He has announced his cuts and stood by them against the protests of groups whose business might be adversely affected and of congressmen whose voting strength might be impaired.

"He is of course a fallible human being, but he is also a cheering example of a man in public life who has stood up to the responsibilities of his office."

In warning against panaceas and ambitious government ventures, Nourse said "wise practitioners of economic therapy will not debonairly embark on drastic carving of the body of industry. . ."

Mental Hygiene Society Plans Drive For Amendment Support

Eight members of the executive council of the Lubbock county Mental Hygiene society met at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the study of Dr. Travis White in the First Christian church.

The group concluded plans for a Nov. 15 regular business meeting to be held in Fellowship hall at the First Christian church. Dr. D. M. Wiggins is scheduled to speak at the meeting. His topic will be on mental hygiene and its application to society.

The nominating committee will report at this meeting and officers for the new year will be elected.

The council began mapping a campaign last night to support the proposed Texas constitutional amendment that would make it possible for a person to enter mental hospitals without jury trial. "We are going to start this campaign by mailing postal cards to our friends to ask their support," Dr. White announced.

NEWS BRIEFS

Funeral services for Mrs. Susie Phillips, 79-year-old Spur resident who died suddenly near there Monday, were held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Spur First Baptist church. The Rev. M. J. Morton, Methodist minister at Red Mud, officiated. Burial was in Aspermont cemetery under direction of the Chandler Funeral home of Spur.

The condition of J. D. Jeffreys, 28-year-old Lovington, N. M., man, who suffered a skull fracture Tuesday following an accident at a cotton gin near Lovington, was described as slightly improved but still serious late Wednesday by attendants at Lubbock Memorial hospital. Jeffreys, who was brought to Lubbock by a Lovington ambulanse, caught his head in a press at the gin.

Mrs. E. L. Langston, 77, of Olanta, S. C., mother of Lonnie Langston of 1902 Twenty-eighth, died Wednesday morning at her home, following a lengthy illness. Langston left by plane Wednesday afternoon for Olanta to attend funeral services, arrangements for which have not been completed.

Attendants at Lubbock Memorial hospital said last night that Charles W. Thrower, 30, of 215 Paris, believed to have been bitten by a Black Widow spider at his home late Tuesday, had been admitted to the hospital for further treatment.

Lewis' bid for talks with Indiana operators was tucked away in an exchange of telegrams with Governor Schricker. Schricker wired Lewis yesterday that Indiana was experiencing an "acute and traggic emergency."

The miners' union chief replied today he was ready and willing to make a contract peace agreement with Indiana operators.

FOUR STEEL FIRMS STUDY UNION PACTS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.(AP)—Developments continued to pyramid toward eventual settlement of the nation-wide steel strike today but principals in the dispute indicated no actual agreements are expected for at least 24 hours.

Four companies, Jones and Laughlin, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Colorado, Fuel and Iron were involved in the latest efforts to reach an agreement with the CIO-United Steelworkers.

U. S. Steel, the industry's giant and traditional leader of the industry, remained out of the picture temporarily, standing pat on President Benjamin F. Fairless' request to the union Monday night that direct negotiations be resumed.

Phil Murray, head of the CIO and the steelworkers, told International News Service following the long morning session of the CIO convention in Cleveland that he had no meetings planned with any of the strike-bound steel company officials.

COURT REPORTING INVOLVED

Dangerous Precedent May Be Set By Ruling, Editor Warns

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Baltimore editor said today if the U.S. Supreme court upholds a rule limiting reporting of cases which may come into a Baltimore criminal court it will set a dangerous precedent.

McLean Patterson, general managing editor of the Baltimore Sun, explained that a case involving rule 904—a rule laid down by the supreme bench of Baltimore—has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme court.

The rule bans:

Pictures of an accused while in custody without his consent.

Issuance by police, prosecutor, or defense counsel of any statement relative to the conduct of the accused; statements or admissions made by the accused, or other matter bearing on issues to be tried.

Publication of any matter which may prevent a fair trial, and publication of pictures, statements, admissions, or other matter obtained by violation of the rule's provisions.

Five radio stations attacked the rule in defending contempt citations issued after a slaying. They appealed to the court of appeals of Maryland. Baltimore papers intervened as friends of the court, supporting the radio stations. The appeals court threw out the contempt citations. Then the states attorney of Baltimore appealed to the U.S. Supreme court to reverse the Maryland appeals court.

Patterson said in an interview that since the appeals court ruling papers in Baltimore had been operating as if there were no rule 904.

Patterson's remarks were in clarification of his paper's part in the court fight against the rule.

He said the U.S. Supreme court could uphold the radio stations and newspapers in their fight by (1) Refusing to hear the case, or (2) by affirming the Maryland appeals court.

"A reversal of the appeals court decision would set a dangerous precedent," he said.

Patterson said that papers in Washington, a few miles away from Baltimore, don't come under the rule.

"They can pour into Baltimore with all the details of the crime. Even county papers outside Baltimore can print the stories. The rule applies only to newspapers and radio stations in the city," he said.

Patterson was here for the National Associated Press Managing editors meeting.

Careers Halted By Probe, Editors Told

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Senate investigation of "five-per-centers" in Washington had concrete results, Bert Andrews, Washington newspaperman said today.

Andrews, chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Herald Tribune, told the 16th annual convention of the associated Press Managing Editors Association that careers of several men were halted or curtailed by the investigations.

The five-percenter stories were broken by Jack Steel, assistant chief of the Herald Tribune's Washington bureau. The stories led to the retirement, Andrews said, of Maj. Gen. A. H. Waitt, chief of the Army chemical corps; closed the White House doors to John Maragon of Kansas City; directed public criticism at Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughn, President Truman's military aide, and put James V. Hunt out of business as a Washington "management consultant."

Registration for the national meeting totaled 329.

William P. Steven of the Minneapolis Tribune, APMEA president, said in an interview the public should know that managing editors get together to argue over means of achieving more objective reporting.

He said the public does not realize that newspaper men resent, far more than the public does, barriers of good reporting, dishonesty and attempts by interested parties to distort the news.

Robert McLean, publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin and president of the Associated Press will address the meeting tomorrow.

Tonight, delegates and their wives were dinner guests of Amon Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, at his Shady Oaks farm.

Town In North Texas Battles $30,000 Fire

VALLEY VIEW, Nov. 2. (AP)—A spectacular pre-dawn fire destroyed two main business buildings in this North Texas town today.

Firemen from three nearby larger communities helped fight the flames which attacked two brick structures on the east side of the town square.

Twenty firemen and four fire trucks from Denton, Sanger and Gainesville helped Valley View firemen.

The three-hour fight was a race for water. The trucks raced back and forth between the burning buildings and a stock tank a mile away.

At about 7 a. m. the blaze was brought under control. Until then there had been fear it would spread to other business buildings surrounding the square.

Jack Latham, one of the owners of the buildings, said the loss would be more than $30,000, less than half covered by insurance.

Valley View is on the Santa Fe railroad and has about 700 people.

The larger building destroyed housed an extensive mercantile and grocery business.

Latham expressed belief the fire started in the radio repair department on the mezzanine floor of the larger building. He said he hoped to start rebuilding at once.

Engineers have worked it out so that two television stations operating on separate channels can use the same antenna tower.

World's Largest, Smartest Fleas Come From Texas

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (AP) — Where do the world's biggest, smartest fleas live? Where else but Texas?

State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles said so today.

He was supposed to be telling the Dallas Rotary club about Texas lands. But somehow he got an itch to talk about fleas.

"Monahans out in far West Texas is now the mecca of wild flea hunters," said Giles.

"Hunters from flea circuses are coming there in droves. The Monahans country raises a flea that is exceptionally large and intelligent. A Monahans flea learns tricks in half the time of an ordinary flea."

Services To Be Held Today For C. R. Armstrong, 74, Lubbock

Funeral services for C. R. Armstrong, 74, of 115 Ave. V., who died Tuesday afternoon at St. Mary's hospital following a short illness, will be held at 3 p.m. today at the First Baptist church. Rev. W. F. Ferguson, of the Baptist church, and Dr. M. Norvel Young, Broadway Church of Christ minister, will officiate. Burial will be in Tech Memorial Park cemetery under the direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Armstrong had been a Lubbock resident since 1941, moving here from Abilene. He had most recently been employed by Halsey drug stores, but had previously worked 31 years for the Post Office department.

Armstrong is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Stanton Rhea of Lubbock and Mrs. M. C. Burke of Amarillo; one son, Cecil, of Fort Worth; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pallbearers will be Walter Smith, Fred Simms, Roger W. Petitt, Carroll Horschley, J. N. Curry, Winston Reeves, Ray Byrd and Jack Lucus.

Honorary pallbearers will be Terrell St. Clair, John Zournas, J. C. Sanders, John Halsey, A. C. Morris, George Pickle and W. S. Hamilton.

Wallgren's term will end in June, 1954.

Lubbock Marine Corps League To Select New Officers Today

The Marine Corps league of Lubbock will meet at 8 p.m. today at the American Legion hall, 910 Texas Ave., for election of officers for the forthcoming year.

A. L. (Chuck) Hawkins, league commandant, announced Wednesday that an accounting of last year's budget also will be held at tonight's meeting.

All members are urged to attend the meeting. All former Marines who are not members of the organization also are invited to be present.

Former Lubbock Man Sought After Littlefield Jail Break

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 2 (Special) If Lloyd Eddie Burgess, 23, is caught again his jail liberties probably will be curtailed.

Lamb County Sheriff Sid Hopping told newsmen that the former Lubbock resident, who had been jailed here on a charge of felony swindling by check, had sneaked away Monday when allowed to confer in a jail office with a caller.

He was believed to be driving a faded blue 1941 Dodge sedan, license ON 4141, Sheriff Hopping said.

Lubbock, Fort Worth and Hale county also have check warrants naming the man, Sheriff Hopping said he had been informed.

Steel Shortage To Delay Production Of 1950 Model Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, Nov. 2.—The auto industry's new model program has been set back considerably by the steel shortage.

Probably all the projected new models will be announced and described in detail as originally scheduled. But there will be a longer wait between formal announcement and availability of the new cars.

The reason is that until steel starts coming in again, the car makers will not be able to get the production volume needed to stock their dealers with the new units.

New Models Completed

Hand-tooled models of the new cars to be introduced by General Motors, Chrysler and Ford already have been completed. Between now and the year's end most of them will be shown to industry writers and to dealers.

But until a large volume of steel is available to the auto factories they cannot turn out a sufficient number of the new models to supply all retail outlets.

New model planning was completed long before the steel mills were closed. So enough material was set aside to complete a number of handbuilt display cars.

Three 1950 Models Out

Studebaker, Nash and Packard have had their 1950 models out for some time. But General Motors, Chrysler and Ford generally had planned to start their assembly lines commencing early this month. They hoped to regain volume output before the year end.

These plans have had to be changed quite generally. So, too, have whatever plans Hudson and Nash may have had to put a new lighter and slightly shorter vehicle into early production.

Kaiser-Frazer told its dealers last week its projected new lower priced vehicle will get into production early next spring.

Public Shocked As British Princess Smokes Cigarette

LONDON, Nov. 2. (AP) — Princess Margaret smoked a cigarette right out in public early today.

It was a bit of a shock to the British. It was the first time any commoner ever saw one of the royal family's distaff side puffing tobacco smoke.

Pretty, 19-year-old Margaret did it at a Hallowe'en charity ball at the fashionable Dorchester hotel.

Only last week a Buckingham palace press officer admitted to newsmen that Margaret lighted a cigarette once in a while. But he said it was only in private and "just for a lark."

About 37 per cent of Austria is covered by forests, mostly spruce.

Compensation Suit Will Continue Today

Evidence will be resumed this morning before 72nd District Judge Dan Blair and a jury in the civil action of Clyde Robinson against Texas Employers Insurance association, a suit to set aside an award of the state industrial accident board and asking compensation for alleged fatal and permanent injuries.

Robinson, a 29-year-old negro, alleges incapacity as a result of injuries suffered Feb. 11, 1949, in course of his employment.

He said he was moving feed and that a loaded two-wheel truck he was pushing caught against a stack of "cake," causing his back to be twisted.

Judgment of $10,025 is asked. Counsel for the plaintiff is the law firm of Boling, Smith and Allen. Tom Milam, an associate in the law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam, represent the insurance company.

Among the plaintiff's witnesses to testify Wednesday were two physicians, Dr. B. F. Edwards of Slaton and Dr. H. B. Orr, a negro of Lubbock.

Court was recessed at 5:15 p. m. following closing of testimony. The jury was instructed to report at 10 a. m. today to hear closing arguments of counsel.

The jury is composed of J. W. Dougherty, C. G. Barkley, R. M. Harmon, Wayne L. Owen, E. C. Parrish, M. A. Miller, John G. Buth, R. F. Fielder, C. L. Minyard, L. B. Kitten, P. C. Chance, and Burl Hughes.

DIFFERENCES IGNORED BY MEN

U. S. Armed Forces United On Fighting Level, Senator Says

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. —Sen. Cain (R-Wash.), declared today that despite the top-brass row over unification, America's fighting men are united for effective defense of their country.

Cain, a World War II Army hero, has just taken a 10-day "refresher course" with the 82nd Airborne division at Fort Bragg, N. C. He said that the men at the "fighting level are unified, all fears to the contrary."

Cain, who took part in unified maneuvers by the Army, Navy and Air Force, was as enthusiastic about conditions he observed as he sometimes has been loud in his criticism of administration agencies. He said in an interview:

Fighting Level Unified

"Unification of the armed forces is no longer a problem among the men who would do the fighting if there should be another war. Soldiers, sailors and airmen are unified today.

"The average officer and enlisted man has only one idea in his head — to prepare himself for any emergency which may confront this country.

"I've been reading 'letters to the editor' columns in a good many newspapers and I've noted that many people fear the unification battle in Washington will wreck military morale in the field.

"But I can say that in fighting security the American people have nothing to worry about. Fortunately, the men of all branches at the fighting level are willing to leave policy decisions to their superiors in Washington.

Some Comments Heard

"Of course, I heard some comments about the unification row but they were pretty spasmodic. The military men were so busy working finger in glove with each other they had no time left to argue about something that seemed rather distant and impersonal to them."

Cain said he talked to admirals, generals and enlisted men. He termed his experience "an eye-opener." He explained:

"You should see the Army today! Its increased fire power!"

Cain gave the impression he thinks the armed services far superior to what they were in World War II, when he served in Africa, Sicily and Italy and was assistant chief of staff, 18th Airborne corps, in France, Holland, Belgium, Austria and Germany.

Foreign Decorations Received

The senator was promoted on the Ardennes battlefield to rank of Colonel. He was decorated by the U. S., Belgium and France.

Cain said he took the "refresher course" because he wears "two hats." He explained:

"As a reservist, I felt it incumbent on myself to know what my job would be in an emergency.

"As a senator, I went to see how the $15 billion we appropriated for defense is being spent. I am going back early in December to complete my training."

Between now and December, Cain said, he will "stump" his state and decide in light of public reaction whether to resign from the Senate now and seek the seat held by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash.), who is facing re-election. Cain's present term does not end until Jan. 1, 1953.

Air Force Sergeant, Kansas Man Killed In Two-Car Crash

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 2 (AP) — A staff sergeant from Shepherd Air Force base and a Kansas man were killed today in a two-car crash near Newcastle, McClain, Okla.

The victims were Staff Sgt. George K. Cornett, jr., 24, and Dean B. McDowell, 22, of Osawatomie, Kans.

A companion with Cornett, Staff Sgt. Clifford T. Hayes, 27, of Shepherd Air Force base, was injured critically. Both were on pass from the base.

Also injured was Basil McDowell, 24, of Concordia, Kans.

SENDING YOUR MESSAGES—O. J. "Bo" Sexton, manager of the Western Union office here, watches Miss Francis Tharp, automatic operator, as she sends telegrams over the teleprinter, a modern development, which has all but replaced the Morse key in large offices. Telegraph Key Becomes Almost Obsolete In Message Service

By EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

In this modern era, in which technicians are continually striving for improvement, the "old faithful" of the Western Union, the telegraph key, is becoming almost as obsolete as the one-horse shay.

That is the rueful comment of O. J. "Bo" Sexton, manager of the Lubbock office, who has seen many new methods for improving service introduced in his 38 years with the company.

As an example of this, Sexton revealed that one of the latest developments in message transmission to be announced by the company is the high speed message center, which has been installed at terminal points throughout the nation, and is soon to be established at Dallas, central office for the state.

Dallas Is "Central"

At present, messages originating in any Texas office are sent to Dallas. Dallas, in turn, sends the messages on to their respective destinations.

The new system will make routing of these messages entirely automatic, Sexton explained. For example, if a Lubbockite today should send a message to Chicago, the message first must go to Dallas. The Dallas office then sends the message to Chicago.

Under the new system, the Lubbock operator merely will begin the Chicago telegram with a code designation, and a mechanical circuit at Dallas will automatically switch the message into a direct line to Chicago.

Local Office Modernized

The method of sending telegrams from the local office here has been subject to modernization

Church Group Opens Financial Campaign

Approximately 30 members of the First Presbyterian church met at a breakfast with the officials of the big gifts committee Wednesday morning at the church to sign pledge cards and plan a financial campaign toward construction of a new sanctuary and remodeling of the present building into educational facilities.

More than $70,000 in pledges were secured from those attending the breakfast, Robert W. Wright, chairman of the committee, reported.

Earl Collins, chairman of the general canvassing committee, and Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor, spoke at the gathering.

Plans for the building project are in progress by Henry Steinbomer, San Antonio architect. Construction is expected to commence when financing is complete.

Friday morning, another breakfast, this time for the members of the general campaign committee, is to be held in the church basement. Dr. R. C. Douglas, chairman of the committee, will preside.

New York Cafes Bid For Steaks

By JOSEPH J. STAHULAK
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. (INS) — The highest price ever paid in America for a carload of prime steers was established today at the Chicago stockyards.

Nineteen head of prime, corn-fed Iowa steers, owned by Schmitt Brothers, of Delmar, Ia., brought $41.75 per hundredweight after high-bidding by representatives of New York buyers.

The purchase set off a chain reaction which will bring steaks to plush New York nightclubs and restaurants at a probably higher cost than ever before in the country's history.

Hog Prices Slump

At the same time, hog prices dropped to the lowest level in three years.

Top grades of hogs sold at $17 a hundredweight, the lowest price since OPA days in October, 1946, when the ceiling was $16.25.

On an average, each of the choice steers cost a New York City plant $483.47. The carload cost the New York purchaser a total of $9,185.54. The average weight of the choice, succulent steers was 1,158 pounds.

Lester Cook, of Chicago, representing the Regal Packing Co., paid the record price for the steers. He said that several Manhattan hotels and restaurants would purchase the slaughtered steers for choice beef tidbits during the forthcoming week.

Cafe's To Feature Steaks

Cook said that many of the better restaurants in the nation's No. 1 city would be likely to feature steaks from choice steers which brought the highest price in United States' history.

The new record was 15 cents above the old peak established in September, 1948, and 25 cents above the $41.50 paid for prime steers last week.

The new low price for hogs was 10 cents below yesterday's price and 75 cents above the government support level of $16.25 for the week.

The break in hog prices was reflected in wholesale pork prices which were the lowest since December, 1946.

Wholesalers reported pork loins selling at 35 to 37 cents a pound.

Pork Shows Decline

The American Meat institute reported that wholesale pork loin prices were about 33 percent below the summer peak of last September. Hams ready for smoking were about 31 percent below the summer peak.

Retail pork prices were reported the lowest in about three years. One retailer reported pork loins selling at 43 to 49 cents a pound.

Motor Line To Be Heard Today

A hearing of the Motor Transport division of the Railroad commission of Texas will be held beginning at 9 a.m. today in Hotel Lubbock.

Included on the list of hearings is an application from Curry Motor Freight Lines, Inc., for extension of its Odessa to Amarillo line on to Borger over State Highway 136.

The extension, if granted, would also serve the towns of Fritch, Sanford and Phillips, in addition to Borger.

Witnesses To Be Heard

Witnesses for the extension of the freight line are to testify at today's hearing, and will include persons from Odessa, Midland, Plainview, Borger and Lubbock.

Also to be here for the hearing are R. C. Jordan of Amarillo, president of Curry Motor Freight Lines, Inc.; Joe White, manager of the firm's Odessa-Midland district; and W. B. Pearce of Lubbock, vice president of the freight lines.

Horace Soule, chief examiner for the motor transport division of the Railroad commission, will be in charge of the hearings.

Direct Service Sought

It has been pointed out by officials of the Curry Motor Freight Lines that extension of a route to Borger would provide direct service from the wholesale markets in Lubbock and on the South Plains, and would give direct service from the Midland-Odessa area in the Permian basin, thus increasing the potential markets for buyers in the Borger area.

At the same time the large area of which Borger is the trading and commercial center would benefit from direct freight service from the South Plains and Permian Basin areas, spokesmen pointed out.

Application also is to be made at today's hearing by the Merchants Fast Motor Lines, Inc., of Lubbock to provide an additional freight route between Reese Air Force base and Lubbock.

SERVICES ARE HELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—Funeral services for former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, jr., were held today with high officials of the United States government and the United Nations in attendance. Stettinius, 49, a founder of the U.N., died Monday.

Natural Flow Reported During Testing

Oil Activity Boosted By Scurry Discovery

C. L. Norsworthy, jr., of Dallas, and associates No. 1 Feldman, Central-East Scurry county Ellenburger discovery, ten miles east of Snyder, was reported to be flowing at the rate of five barrels of oil per hour natural, through a one-quarter inch tubing choke, from perforated section at 7,314-26 feet in the top of the Ellenburger.

No formation water was being shown. Testing was continuing. The five barrel per hour flow was at the rate of 120 barrels per day.

Regular Production Likely

This venture is 660 feet from north and east line of section 63, block 3, H&TC survey. The open hole at 7,340-57 feet, has shown small amounts of oil. The project likely will be put on regular production soon.

Cities Service Oil company No. 1-H Johnson, half mile north output to the Diamond-M field of Southwest Scurry county topped the Canyon lime reef at 6,673 feet on an elevation of 2,428 feet. That makes it five feet low to the nearest completed well on the north side of the Diamond-M field.

Operator is due to drill deeper into the reef.

The project is 1,980 feet from north and 614 feet from east lines of section 200, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it 11 miles southwest of Snyder.

Borden Wildcat Slated

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1-A Jerry Clayton is to be a 8,000-foot wildcat in Southwest Borden county, six miles northwest of the Good Canyon lime field.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 14, block 32, T-4-N, TP survey.

Drilling is to be with rotary tools.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Barrow, deep wildcat in Northeast Dawson county, three and one-half miles northeast of Lamesa, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east line of section 8, block 35, TP survey, T-6-N, made only sulphur water in the Ellenburger, and is to plug back to 4,500 feet to treat the San Andres above that point with acid, to try to develop a commercial production.

Well Possibilities Dim

Informed sources say that the possibilities of making a well from slight shows of petroleum in that formation are extremely dim.

The Ellenburger water came in a drillstem test at 11,512-639 feet. Recovery was the 2,500-foot water blanket, 1,128 feet of drilling mud and 3,666 feet of sulphur water. The section showed no indications of oil or gas.

Top of the Ellenburger zone was at 11,460 feet. Top of the second Ellenburger was at 11,560 feet. Elevation is 3,017 feet.

Casing String Cemented

S. B. Roberts, of Abilene, and associates No. 1 Lewis, in Central-West Scurry county, 467 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 246, block 97, H&TC survey, had cemented a string of 5½-inch casing at 6,841 feet, with 400 sacks.

Total depth is 6,868 feet. Top of the Canyon reef is at 6,836 feet. Elevation is 2,438 feet. The section at 6,840-68 feet had some slight shows of oil in a drillstem test.

When the cement sets operators will drill the plug and make production tests. The venture may be drilled deeper if it fails to develop commercial production from the interval at 6,841-68 feet.

Scurry Wildcat Bottomed

Ray-Harris Drilling company of Dallas, and associates, No. 1 Laura B. Smith, Central South Scurry county wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 159, block 97, H&TC survey, was bottomed at 8,111 feet in Ellenburger lime, and was shutdown for order after developing sulphur water.

The venture, located one and three-quarters of a mile east of the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field took a drillstem test at 8,062-8,111 feet.

Recovery was 360 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud, 450 feet of slightly oil and gas cut sulphur water and 1,710 feet of sulphur water.

An electric log survey has been run. The Ellenburger was topped at 8,052 feet, on an elevation of 2,315 feet.

None of the formations above the Ellenburger developed any in-

Terrell Hospital Project Started

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

TERRELL, Nov. 2. — Seventy-seven patients at the Terrell State hospital for the insane are living in a crumbling, 47-year-old building condemned as structurally unsafe and as a fire trap.

These are negro women. They will have to live in these dark, dismal and dangerous quarters until 1951 when new buildings under way will be completed.

They are a relatively small percentage of the 2,000 patients in this institution visited today by newsmen on an inspection tour of state hospitals and special schools, but quarters for many others are not much better.

Brighter Future Seen

The Terrell hospital is unique among those we have seen because there are visible evidences of a somewhat brighter future here. Pile drivers and steam shovels working on the foundations for two new buildings are making a big racket but it is sweet music to the ears of Dr. A. D. Pattillo, superintendent.

These two buildings will accommodate 550 patients. Plans for additional buildings now in the asking stage would bring the total to 818. Meanwhile, patients will have to go on living in the quarters available.

The Terrell hospital had 2,800 patients before two of the oldest and most delapidated buildings were wrecked to make room for the new. The 800 were jammed into other state hospitals.

Doctor Lists Needs

In addition to new dormitories or ward buildings, Dr. Pattillo listed these as the most urgent physical needs here:

A new hospital for patients with acute illnesses, about 100 beds.

An occupational therapy building. Right now, this hospital only has space and equipment for such therapy for 50 women, and none for men.

A new store room now, and a power unit soon.

The Terrell state hospital is also unique among those visited in that it has no registered nurses for its

Noted Author Is Speaker At Tech

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

India today stands as a great potential mediator between East and West, Vincent Sheean, internationally-known author and journalist, told a packed auditorium of people in the Recreation hall Green room at Texas Tech Wednesday night.

Describing India's power as a way of thought rather than of a materialistic nature, Sheean spoke as one who has studied the Indian situation deeply at first hand. He is said to have been only a few feet away at the time Mahatma Gandhi was assassinated on January 30, 1948.

Influence Still Felt

"Gandhi's influence lives on even though he is dead," said Sheean, "and that influence is much deeper than any known elsewhere in the world because it is of a religious nature."

The journalist described Gandhi as anything but a politician, even though the British have always referred to the Mahatma's shrewd political mind. In the eyes of Sheean, on the other hand, the Indian leader was a man whom conditions alone had forced into politics as a sidelight to his conscientious desire of bettering the lot of his people.

There are many other leaders akin to Gandhi today, but none of them have attained the stature of the Mahatma, Sheean asserted. Pandit Nehru himself, currently touring the United States, was described by the journalist as only a political leader of India, not having the great spiritual following of the man he succeeded.

Visit Is Significant

Nehru's visit was hailed by the speaker as "very significant," however, since it is a further demonstration of the flow of trade and personnel back and forth between this country and India, a flow which is gradually increasing in amount.

"Nehru would be a logical mediator for the differences between the U. S. and Soviet Russia," he said, warning, nonetheless, that the task of entirely reconciliating East and West would be too large for anyone to undertake.

Back on the subject of Gandhi, Sheean traced the leader's steps through law school in England and his subsequent failure at the bar in India to his years among Indian "prison labor" in South Africa. Gandhi spent 20 years there, said the speaker, and by the time he had succeeded in bringing the British to terms over the prison labor he was a completely made man, with his life's work cut out for him.

After his work in South Africa

Labor Peer Forecasts British General Elections For July 6

LONDON, Nov. 2. (AP) — Labor peer Lord Calverley — the former George Muff of Hull — said tonight British general elections would be held next July 6. But he later indicated he was just making a prediction with no actual knowledge of the date.

His statement, however, set off a flurry in government offices. The telephone in the office of Prime Minister Attlee jangled furiously.

Attlee refused to confirm or deny the Peer's statement. The prime minister, however, asked one of his secretaries to investigate what had taken place.

Lord Calverley, a Laborite since 1919 who was made a baron in 1945, made the flat statement at the end of a speech in the House of Lords. He said:

"I venture to say that when the general election comes on Thursday July 6, 1950 the noble lords opposite will still be sitting opposite"—a phrase indicating his belief the Conservatives would still be sitting on opposition, not government, benches.

Later he told a reporter: "The date I have mentioned is just five years after the last general election. I have been right in forecasting the date of every general election except 1931 and in my forecasts of all seats won and lost."

Asked by another reporter if the date was a guess, he said "I know as much as you do."

All responsible Labor party leaders who could be reached, including Morgan Phillips, the secretary, denied any knowledge of the setting of an election date. Phillips said Lord Calverley's statements "appears to be the expression of a private opinion."

Speculation on the date of a new election has been growing in recent months following devaluation of the British pound. An election must be held before next July 25, the fifth anniversary of Attlee's first day in office. Last month, however, Attlee stamped on speculation of an election this fall by declaring there would be none this year.

was complete, Gandhi returned to his homeland in January, 1915. He returned to find himself, to his own surprise, the Mahatma of the Indian people—"a great soul."

"It was the British themselves who forced Gandhi into politics," declared the speaker, "This was done to its first real significance in 1919, when, instead of giving the Indians dominion status as was expected by the latter after World War I, they clamped on further restrictions, limiting certain phases of free speech and assemblage."

Sheean described Gandhi's decision at that time to call a "do-nothing day" as a surprise to the Mahatma himself when all of India obeyed his wish to stay at home and do absolutely nothing. That, said the speaker, was the act that catapulted Gandhi into politics where "he was to be dragged from time to time thereafter because his influence was so great."

"Gandhi is dead today," the speaker declared, "But his religious hold over the Indian people will live on, helping to make them a great country even as his assassination was the immediate preventative of civil war between the religious elements of the country."

"If given the opportunity, the peaceful 'don't fight back' teachings of Gandhi could have a great influence on the world," he said.

Sheean was to leave Lubbock at 6:40 a. m. today for Dallas, from where he will go to Tulsa and Chicago. He was introduced Wednesday night by Dr. William J. Davis, head of the government department at Tech, as the first of the recreation hall's speakers for this year.

Margaret Bourke-White, who also was in India at the time of Gandhi's death, will be presented next week.

Telegraph Key

through the years, too, said Sexton.

The sending and receiving of messages has been made comparatively simple by the installation of the teleprinter, a duplex circuit machine that sends and receives at the same time.

While an operator is typing out a message to Dallas on the keyboard of the teleprinter, an incoming telegram may be ticking out at the same sime on a paper tape which feeds from out of the side of the machine.

Tape Pasted On Blanks

The telegram as you receive it takes shape as the paper tape containing the message is cut into strips and pasted on company blanks for distribution.

But the Morse system isn't completely lost in the shuffle of the modern era. N. W. McClure, who has been working a key for 35 years, said that a large volume of business still is done with the aid of the dot-dash mechanism.

The telegraph key is popular among newsmen for covering special events, such as football games. Because of its simplicity and economy, it is ideal for such occasions.

Small Offices Use Morse

Many small offices in the rural areas of the South Plains and small railroad stations send messages into the Lubbock office by Morse, he said. The volume of business done by each of these stations is not heavy enough to merit installation of teleprinters, so in one case, at least, the ancient seems to serve better than the modern.

Another company "ancient," which is quite indispensible even in this modern age, is the messenger boy. Despite the technological improvements of today, that messenger boy still is a key factor in getting a telegram through quickly.

And while delivering millions of these messages through the years, Lubbock messenger boys have established a safety record they can be proud of.

Accident Record Good

For almost ten years, from November, 1939, to September, 1948, Lubbock Western Union boys were not involved in a single traffic mishap. Quite a record, and not by accident, either.

"Many people think of a boy on a bicycle as a very potential danger," said M. T. Grady, district supervisor of delivery, "but our boys are trained to follow traffic regulations and rules of safety."

Sexton, who started with the company in 1911 as a messenger, sees potential executives in the boys who carry telegrams to their destination now.

With the increasing need for special technicians in the work of the Western Union, they could easily become active with the company as they grow older, he reflected.

And as they grow older, improvements will continue and outmoded methods will be discarded. As the teleprinter has replaced the Morse key, who knows—maybe one of the boys will develop something to replace the teleprinter.

There are seven doctors in addition to Dr. Pattillo and their ages are 87, 75, 63, 62, 54, 52 and 40. Five of them are rated as psychiatrists, and 12 doctors are urgently needed. To meet good standards, there should be 20 doctors on the staff in addition to consultants.

The situation on attendants also was better here than at some of the other institutions. There are now about 220 and the turnover is not unusual.

The building in which the 77 negro women are living was once abandoned, then put back into use. It is a brick structure, two stories, hung together by steel rods bracketed to the outside walls. Bricks are crumbling away around the foundation in many spots, and bricks have fallen out of some of the second floor window arches.

There are no fire escapes, and all the interior — stairs, floors and framing — is pine, aged since 1902 and ripe for somebody to start a fire.

Admitting such a development might come some day, engineers classify "smellovision" as "still scientifically unproven."

Standish Named New President Of United States Golf Group

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. —(INS)— James D. Standish, jr., of Detroit will succeed Fielding Wallace as president of the United States Golf Association next January.

Standish, a member of the USGA executive committee from 1921 through 1927 and again since 1946, was the only man nominated to succeed Wallace by the nomination committee whose choices were announced today. Thus, his election on Jan. 28 will be a mere formality.

New vice-presidents of the USGA will be Isaac B. Grainger, Montclair, N. J., and Totton P. Heffelfinger, Minneapolis.

PETERSBURG QUINT WINS

PETERSBURG, Nov. 2. (Special) —The Petersburg All-Star basketball team tonight defeated Lubbock's Crawford Electric crew, 46-35, in a game played here. Bob Scarborough, with 18 points, paced the All-Star attack, while Bo Barkowsky tallied 16 points for the losers.

the lowest price since December, 1946. A month ago prices were up to 69 cents.

The drop was due to heavy supplies and continued heavy shipments are expected until the end of the year.

Top grades of bacon also were lower in the retail market. Today's price was reported around 59 cents a pound against 69 cents a month ago and 80 cents a year ago.

Other cattle prices were steady to $1 lower in the Chicago livestock trade. Good and choice grades showed the loss and sold at $27 to $37.50 per hundredweight.

Choice grades of beef were steady at 54 to 56 cents a pound in the wholesale trade while good grades brought 46½ to 50 cents.

Britain Rejects ECA Director's Plan For Free Trade In Europe

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Sir Stafford Cripps, director of Britain's economy, has thrown a large bucket of cold water on American proposals for establishment of free trade in Europe.

It's a fine thing for Europe, says Cripps, but count us out. It would interfere with the trade preferences within the Commonwealth and the sterling area, which are far more important to Britain.

Cripps spoke in reply to a frank warning from Paul Hoffman, Marshall plan administrator, that Congress is pretty well fed up with Europe's lack of progress toward greater economic unity.

Hoffman called on the European Economic council to get something done by early next year. He suggested strongly that economic aid appropriations might be cut if he was not heeded.

The told them to establish a free market in Europe such as exists within the United States, without barriers between states.

Britain has offered to eliminate quotas of 50 per cent of the business she does with other Marshall plan countries. She feels she can go no farther.

This position is of course understandable. But so is that of the United States, which has seen its money produce a great revival of European production only to lose many of the benefits through failure in distribution.

And the British might as well be aware that, despite all the warmth of cooperation felt in America, and American realization of the importance of Anglo-American unity, there is also considerable suspicion that old fashioned competition for markets sometimes transcends the general welfare in British economic thinking.

France and Italy, on the other hand, have taken the position ever since the war that they are ready for anything looking toward that general welfare.

Britain Caught By Facts

The position of France and Italy are vastly different from that of Britain. I have by no means intended to suggest that she is just being selfish and recalcitrant. That isn't true. She is caught in a web of hard facts which cannot be waived off just because it would be nice to do so.

The British might ask whether they can work in a free trade bloc and an empire preference bloc at the same time, and whether the free trade bloc can work without inclusion of the Commonwealth. She might even ask whether a European-Commonwealth free trade bloc could work without the rest of the world.

And everyone is going to be asking, very soon, when the United States will be ready for a dose of her own medicine.

Mayor Stokely Is Re-Elected In Brownsville City Balloting

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Mayor H. L. Stokely grinned today as he contemplated serving another term as Brownsville's chief executive.

He defeated Robert Runyon, his opponent in the mayoralty race, 2,335 votes to 1,131 yesterday.

Commissioners' posts were won by Arthur Hipp, J. A. Garcia, W. Travis Jennings and I. Zarate, jr. Garcia and Zarate were not opposed.

GOOD SKATE—Helen Gardner of Knoxville is skating with the New York team against a New Jersey side in the Roller Derby at New York's 69th Regiment Armory.

Rabbi Talks On Israel At Rotary Luncheon

Rabbi Julius Kerman gave Lubbock Rotarians a word picture of the new Israel and its development in a talk at their regular weekly noon luncheon at the Hilton hotel Wednesday.

Pointing out that the tiny nation is the only democracy in the Near East, Rabbi Kerman talked on the problems, the industry, agriculture, and general progress of the Israeli people.

Bobby Brown was introduced by E. J. Lowrey as the Junior Rotarian of the month from Lubbock Senior High school. Dean James G. Allen introduced Jack Brock as the Junior Rotarian of the month from Texas Technological college.

The Rev. William F. Blakeslee was in charge of the program and introduced Rabbi Kerman.

R. C. Taylor introduced visiting Rotarians, which included Y. E. Juge and C. S. Edmonds of Fort Worth, Arthur Duggan and Gus Shaw of Littlefield, Sandy Cross, Harvey Allen and Bill Dell of Amarillo, Harry Dean of Sweetwater, James F. Potts of Floydada, Sterling McCaw of Norfork, Neb.; Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, Stout Jackson of Robstown, Mac Stowe of Stillwater, Okla., and Rufus Starnes of Abilene.

Dallas Voters Favor Proposal For Direct Election Of Mayor

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Dallas voters today favored electing their mayor at the polls and discarding the present system of permitting the city council to choose him from their ranks.

In a city-wide vote yesterday, citizens favored direct election by a margin of 7,626 to 6,216.

The voting yesterday climaxed a long campaign in which backers of the present system of choosing the mayor charged that direct election would bring gamblers into the political picture.

However, proponents of the direct election issue said a victory at the polls would mean a victory for the people.

Air Reserve Group Plans Meet Today

Air Force Reserve members of the 9172nd VART group will attend a semi-monthly meeting at 7 p. m. today in building X-9 in the Tech military science area, Lt. Colonel Harlan A. Hodges, group commander has announced.

Two 12th Air Force officers, Major Lester Weaver and Capt. James Ackley, will be on the program and will answer questions concerning any individual's status.

The group includes members of the 9827th VART (Voluntary Air Training) squadron and the 9828th squadron and A, B, and C flights of each squadron. All reservists of these units, both officers and enlisted men, are urged to attend these meetings, the group commander emphasized. Forty-six new men were present at the last session.

Members will be given every opportunity to make up the year's required number of points to maintain reserve status.

Lubbock Air Lines Officer To Attend Meet At Denver

B. Ridgely Mills, traffic and sales manager of Continental Air Lines here, left for Denver Wednesday to attend a two-day sales-flight service and operations meeting of the airline today and Friday.

Mills will join Continental Air Lines employes from 27 other cities throughout six states in the two-day conference at Denver's Albany hotel. Today's meeting will be attended by operations and flight service personnel, where safety precautions will be reviewed and new developments in weather forecasting will be explained.

The station managers will hear discussions by operations department heads on new navigational and radio aids the pilot now has which assure schedule dependability throughout the winter.

Selenium is a chemical element sensitive to light.

Dr. Wiggins To Be Speaker At Levelland

LEVELLAND, Nov. 2 (Special) —Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college, will deliver a dedicatory address that will officially open the new $650,000 Senior High building at 8 o'clock Thursday night in the auditorium of the building.

Supt. O. W. Marcom of the Levelland schools will introduce Dr. Wiggins.

Open house will be held in the new building from 6 to 10 p. m.

A band concert will be presented by Director W. R. Wheeler and his 88-piece Levelland Lobo band from 7:30 to 8 p. m. Mrs. Tom Sappington's Junior High school chorus will sing a number.

The courtesy committee of the Student Council will show guests through the building from 6 to 8 p. m. The committee includes Clyde Walter, president of the organization, Mary Carolyn Mann, Leonard Harris, Donna Stevens, Bonita Fortner, Eleanor Lincoln, Jim Mac Luker, Langford Sneed, Delmer Hightower, Don Harris, Don Kennedy, Shannon Rutherford, Ruth Drake, Barbara Bowman, Bobbie Wiley and Neil Atchison.

INJURY LINGERS

The Steel Strike

SETTLEMENT of the Bethlehem steel strike neither removes nor minimizes the fragrant injustice imposed upon millions of unoffending Americans by paralyzing disturbances of this kind.

Directly involved in this particular controversy were one huge corporation and approximately 80,000 workers.

Because their representatives could not or would not reach an agreement, scores of plants depending upon Bethlehem for steel were forced to shut down. Hundreds of thousands of persons were thrown out of work. Much building throughout the nation was brought to a standstill, idling thousands of other craftsmen.

The volume of holiday business also has been reduced by many millions of dollars. This will translate itself into terms of fewer jobs for those who usually seek employment during the holiday period.

No segment of the American economy and no geographical section of the country has escaped the detrimental effects of this strike. On the South Plains, one of the many effects has been to create a shortage of steel ties used in gins which has added to the already serious problems attending the harvest of the greatest cotton crop in history.

These and many other effects have resulted from the stubborn refusal of management and labor in the steel industry to agree upon some plan whereby they would continue operations while they ironed out their controversy, making the terms of the settlement retroactive.

The strike may have brought closer the day when these selfish and offending groups will discover that, if they cannot settle their own differences without injury to others, the job of doing the settling will be taken out of their hands entirely. That could be done and, with continuing provocations, the time is pretty sure to come when it will be done.

A Job For Congress

THE vast majority of American citizens who love fair play hope that those members of Congress who have promised further investigation into the Admiral Denfeld case will remember those promises when Congress convenes again in January.

John Q. Citizen doesn't know much about armed services unification, except that he wants it because it makes sense. He doesn't know—nor do most of our federal officials—whether or not President Truman's firing of Admiral Denfeld as Chief of Naval Operations was a good thing, or a bad one. But John Q. Citizen wants to know whether the President acted fairly, or unfairly; whether Admiral Denfeld got what was coming to him—or whether he simply was another "fall guy," like General Billy Mitchell of more than three decades ago.

The Congress has the right—and the responsibility—of digging into the Denfeld case when next its members gather in Washington. The President's action is subject to more than normal suspicion, because Admiral Denfeld was discharged as Operations chief after public promises that he could speak his mind regarding inter-service rows without fear of reprisals. Furthermore, it must not be forgotten that the President is an old Army man, himself, hence not calculated to be entirely without prejudice.

This much is certain:

President Truman's record in the matter of gauging military men does not indicate he is too strong in that department.

After all, he vigorously defends an arm-chair general, Harry "Deep Freeze" Vaughan, on the one hand, while firing Admiral Denfeld, whose career as a fighting man is both long and honorable, on the other.

Let the Congress—Democrats and Republicans—dig out the truth and give it to the people.

That's the only fair thing to do—and the only thing which will satisfy the people who, after all, own both the White House and the Navy.

Someone To Love

BY IRENE LONNEN ERNHART

Distributed By NEA, Inc.

THE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Duncan was unhappy because of Liz Conover who jilted Tod before his marriage and tried to net him afterwards. Liz gets Tod a job with her father's firm and gossip ensues. Jenny asks Tod for a divorce and he agrees, in spite of the hardship it will work on his twin sons. Rick Morris, an old friend of Tod's who is in love with Jenny, helps Jenny get legal counsel and Max, Jenny's old boss, is going to sell out to Jenny and her old friend Nina Cushman. Jenny hopes eventually that Rick will fill the vacancy in her heart that Tod had left.)

XXVIII

GRADUALLY, as the spring slipped into summer, the anger and grief in Jenny's heart softened a little.

The shop was doing remarkably well and took up an enormous amount of her time. Nina went East in early summer, on a buying trip, and came back elated with success at obtaining several exclusive new lines of merchandise. They were both pleased with the way things were going.

Rick filled what void there might have been left. The twins adored him, and Jenny found enormous comfort and pleasure in his company.

He took to coming up on Saturdays, and he always had ideas for making it a memorable afternoon for the twins. Sometimes it was the amusement park on the other side of town, an exhausting round of merry-go-round and miniature train rides, and cotton candy. Sometimes it was a run down to Centerville so that Mrs. Morris could see the boys.

Tod came once a month to see the children, but always when Jenny was absent. Of these visits, Mrs. Drew had little information to volunteer, and Jenny's pride kept her from asking about them.

She hated herself for the way she was always hoping for a glimpse of Tod, on the street perhaps, or in a theater crowd, and the way she was always listening vainly for someone to mention him. But her friends seemed to go out of their way to avoid mention of his name. It was like a vast conspiracy. They only meant to be kind, of course.

AS for Tod, as far as hearing any news of Jenny was concerned, the case was much the same, except that his circle of friends, and the people who worked with him in the agency, scarcely knew her, so there was no conspiracy of silence. Several of them mentioned the divorce, of course, wondering when it would be up for trial. But their interest was centered on his relationship with Liz.

Liz was in Michigan at the Conover summer place during the hot months. She couldn't stand sticky weather. Mr. Conover chartered a plane several weekends and he and Tod and several couples flew up. Liz was proudly possessive.

"Tod and I ought to write a book about us, oughtn't we, darling? We've had one of those dramatic romances. Poor sweet Tod—" Her slim soft hand would stroke the back of his neck while she talked. She always had her arm about his neck, a thing he couldn't stand, but of course he couldn't tell her that. "I'm afraid I treated him badly, but then she'd go off into the details of her elopement with Courtney, and the way she'd come back all humble and contrite, only to find he'd married some little insignificant nobody, just for spite.

Once Liz said, "And can you imagine, the poor thing produced twins, right off the bat!"

Tod felt his face go white and he had said quite unceremoniously to Liz, "Shut up, will you!" That was the first time they quarreled.

Liz snapped back. "You'll have to admit it was funny. Twins are always funny. And the joke was on you."

He remembered suddenly the way Jenny had looked up at him in the hospital, her eyes sort of blurry and sleepy from the dope they'd given her, and said, "It was a dirty trick of me—twins—can you imagine!"

He had Liz's arm then, shaking it, stopping the bantering flow of words. He saw vaguely the looks on people's faces, open-mouthed, rather shocked, as Liz said, "You're hurting me!" And he saw the dark bruises on her arm where he'd gripped it angrily.

"I'm sorry," he muttered. And afterward he had said to her in the car as he took her home, "Liz please, let's cut out the talk about Jenny and the twins. I mean, let's leave them out of it, shall we?"

She'd looked at him sharply. "What's the matter, darling? Don't tell me you're getting sensitive about Jenny."

HE swore suddenly and said in a savage tone, "Just cut it out! I'm divorcing her and leaving the twins and marrying you. Isn't that enough? Can't you let them alone?"

"You sound as though I were making you do it against your will."

"I know—it's what I wanted," he admitted tonelessly. He gripped the wheel so that his knuckles showed white and his jaw tightened. Yes, it had been what he wanted. All during the time he was married to Jenny he had thought of Liz. There had always been the thought in the back of his head somewhere that his marriage to her was only temporary.

He had never stopped wanting Liz, and now he was going to get her. This vague sense of dissatisfaction he felt was entirely due to the fact that Liz and he were apart.

"I wish you'd come home, darling," he said. "It's darned lonesome with me down there and you up here in Michigan."

"Just wait until September, dear. After all, there isn't any point in my coming back in this heat when the divorce doesn't come up for trial until September. And when I do come," her soft hand stroked his cheek, "We'll be together for good."

"I guess you're right." He drove on. And he began to think of Jenny again.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

"HOW can I find some peace of mind?" writes a reader. "I have tried everything. I have read Joshua Loth Liebman's book on the subject and done my best to apply its teachings to my own life.

"But my worries and anxieties remain with me. I go to bed at night and stay awake for hours, thinking of what tomorrow will bring, unable to solve my problems.

"Please advise me."

BRANDEIS

I wish I could advise my reader how to gain peace of mind.

If I could I would not only apply my advice to myself but impart it to every human soul who tries so desperately to find peace of mind and, partly because of trying so hard, fails in the attempt.

In a recent article Dr. Karl Menninger, the noted psychiatrist, quoted Ralph Waldo Emerson: "God offers to every mind its choice between truth and repose: take which you please — you can never have both."

He ended his article by saying that something near peace is often achieved by those who do not seek it, who, seeking truth, forget themselves.

Dr. Liebman's book, "Peace of Mind," was one of the most successful books published in many a year. It has been read by millions, and many of its readers undoubtedly have tried earnestly to apply its philosophy to their own lives.

Has it helped them?

Has it helped you?

Can any book bring you that illusory end-of-the-rainbow "Peace of mind"?

Are you sure that if you had it you would enjoy it?

Are you sure you are not confounding "peace of mind" with stagnation of mind?

Is what you think of as "peace" of mind perhaps no more than a dulling of the mind, the process of mental deterioration?

THE progress of the human race will ever be a fight. It is a fight of the new against the old, of advance against retrogression.

Nothing great has ever been achieved by comfort and ease, and "peace of mind" to most of us is a synonym for comfort and ease.

"Peace of mind" is a mind in lounging robe and slippers. An active mind is a mind dressed for achievement and service.

I quoted Dr. Menninger a little while ago as saying that "peace or something near it is often achieved by those who, seeking truth, forget themselves."

The only way ever to achieve anything resembling peace of mind is to forget yourself and live for others.

There is no such thing as life without pains. But your pains will be less poignant if you can learn to forget yourself.

PARTY NEEDS ISSUE

GOP Faces Tough Test

By ROGER WARREN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 — Exactly one year ago today began the blackest morning after in modern Republicanism. The confidence of 24 hours previously was shattered when final returns showed that Truman had won the election.

Since then the G.O.P. has been working hard to make a comeback. It has started to revamp its "grass roots" organization. It has rolled up a record in the 81st Congress. It is now trial-ballooning the issues of spendthriftism and socialism. No one can tell whether it has found the magic formula to success until the 1950 Congressional elections.

In the meanwhile nothing seems to disturb President Truman — unless someone mentions that he appears to be gaining weight; he is touchy on that subject. In his talks with the press his chin sticks out further than a year ago. He gives solons and officials the impression that at least he thinks he is now infallible.

The Democrats count on social legislation, farm subsidies and labor support to polish off any Republican renaissance. But to make double sure they also are banking on the gratitude of the newly appointed national census takers and 1,390,000 Federal employees whose pay has just been jumped.

TEST: Democratic National Chairman Bill Boyle is trying to make the Lehman-Dulles Senatorial battle in New York the test on social legislation. So did the G.O.P. at the start. But national Republican leaders feel the ice buckling under them and now are insisting that it is just a local popularity contest.

Dulles is a novice in statewide campaigning; Lehman a veteran. Unfortunately racial and religious issues have been injected into the campaign.

If Dulles loses he will blame the red American Labor Party for failing to nominate a candidate for Senator and for throwing its Communist vote to Lehman, even though the former Governor says in public that he wants no Commie support.

LABEL: The Republicans also are bothered over the choice of a label to describe the Fair Deal in the terms of reproach.

Statism is a highbrow word. They have been calling it the welfare state but that pleases the Democrats, who think the public will resent slurs on a noble-sounding program. Taft lately has termed it the "farewell state" —farewell to local control and individual liberties — and it has got much applause from Ohio political audiences.

But G.O.P. orators are coming to the simple snarl "socialism." It hints of Communism around the corner. Also it is closely linked with the English Socialist regime, disliked instinctively by Irish-Americans and German-Americans. They will charge that Truman's socialized medicine, socialized agriculture, socialized power and other Federal controlled services are alien ideas copied from a foreign failure.

ALLIANCE: Apart from knocking Truman, the G.O.P. has no overall policy yet. Minority parties seldom do in mid-term. Today the Republicans are not a party but a grand alliance of splinter parties, each under popular feudal lords. Western Republicans want reclamation.

Middle Westerners want farm benefits. Easterners want lower food prices. The segments split frequently in Congressional votes.

Hence the Republicans for awhile plan pinpoint bombing of special issues. A group led by Senator Knowland of California will try to win favor with citizens loyal to the Navy by slamming Defense Secretary Johnson and his crowd.

The industrial state Republicans will attack the removal of the "peril point" from the Reciprocal Trade Agreements thus "exporting workers jobs." They will also watch for any advantage which might be derived from public resentment of the big strikes.

LABOR: On the general subject of labor, they do not think they can lure many of the top union bosses. But they do believe they can win back rank and file workers once they tell the Republican side. In the last election New Jersey Republicans sent by first class mail, in plain envelopes, 973,000 folders with diagrams showing the good points for workers in the Taft-Hartley law. Jersey went Republican.

In the recent Congressional by-election in Pennsylvania union bosses endorsed the Democratic opponent of John P. Saylor before he even had a chance to state his position. But for three months the young war veteran called on workers' families and argued his case.

Last November the district went Democratic by 12,500; ten months later it switched to the Republicans by 10,000. Approximately 95 per cent of the presidential election vote came out, the national all-time record in a by-election.

SALES: Republican National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson plans to organize the "grass roots" by first getting together top pulbicity and advertising men to frame the Republican message in sales appeal language. Home-chosen directors for each state will take special lessons in Washington and be sent back to do a scientific job in organizing registration and campaigns to line up the 45 million Americans who failed to vote in 1948.

Skilled efforts will be directed to reach the 46 million between the ages of 20 and 30 and to go after the women folk of workers, whose budget is hit by protracted strikes and who want their children to have a chance to better themselves and not be in debt for life to pay for Truman socialism.

In Shanghai, the auto license fee is $50 per month. It is an excellent method of popularizing walking.

An old timer is the one who can recall when Congress considered a million dollars as big money.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche Nov. 3, 1929).

A total of $316.39 was raised for purchase of school equipment at a box supper at the McClung school house Friday night when Lubbock, Lorenzo, and Slaton citizens cooperated in the bidding.

All merchandise for the supper was furnished by merchants of the three cities.

Those who attended from Lubbock were J. H. Hankins, city commissioner; D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agricultural agent; Don Jones, superintendent of the state agricultural station; and B. Sherrod.

All preliminary details are expected to be finished to allow starting of work on the Avenue H underpass within the next 10 days, officials of the Panhandle Construction, of this city, have announced.

The local construction company, with a bid of $212,476.10, was awarded contract for the project at bidding before the city commission Oct. 7. The aggregate bid includes a $48,000 estimate on work to be done by the Santa Fe railway company under the tracks and steel work supporting the tracks above the subway.

CURBS ON TRADE HIT PLAN

Europe Faces Showdown On Aid

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The American taxpayer is becoming a figure of consequence in the European recovery problem.

His squirming under the continuing burden of Marshall Plan economic aid is an increasingly disturbing political factor, as was manifest in the growing restlessness and resistance in the last session of Congress among his representatives in House and Senate.

It has not yet reached the point of isolationism as we think of that term. But it could become the germ of isolationism. Our top officials are conscious of that. That, of course, we can't have. For our national security and continued well-being, as well as that of the rest of the world, depend upon a healthy Europe, able to support herself and to continue as a barrier against Communism. And our continued help is needed for that.

STOKES

Rushes To Europe

This is what has sent Paul G. Hoffman, ECA administrator, off posthaste to Europe on his new mission. He is perhaps more aware of the rising discontent in Congress than anyone else since he sat figuratively in the outer rooms of Congress constantly, hat in hand, so to speak.

While there has been marked recovery in Europe, in which our financial aid has played a large part, the Western European nations still have not done the one thing that is absolutely essential if they are to become really self-supporting.

THIS is to break down the trade barriers, quota arrangements, exchange restrictions and the like which they persist in among themselves, which not only stifle trade with each other but, by keeping up prices on an artificial basis, obstruct their trade with the outside world.

What Mr. Hoffman is seeking again, as he has for some time, is elimination of these special arrangements among nations so that trade can flow freely all over Europe. Europe thus could become a single economic unit.

It is a complex problem because of trade traditions and nationalistic feelings and prejudices, but it can be just as simple as we made it in this country over 150 years ago. Our states had similar restrictions and arrangements against, and with, each other. We got rid of them and created one great pool of production and trade. The object now is to transform Western Europe into a single market for 240,000,000 people, just as we have a similar market here for 150,000,000 people.

Trade Pacts Restrictive

It is not generally known here how little European nations have done about eliminating artificial restrictions that were so prevalent before the war. They are still numerous and complex. Among other things, nations in the European recovery program still are involved in between 300 and 500 bilateral trade agreements among themselves and with non-European nations. This means that they have special arrangements relating to certain commodities that admit some nations and bar others so there is no freedom of trade.

The monopolies in basic commodities which we know as cartels still thrive—in coal, steel, petroleum, chemicals, textiles, certain ores and capital equipment. It is the same old pattern that we saw in the prewar German and other cartels. Through this system Germany was able to build up the industrial power which she unleashed in war, so that this cartel, monopoly system is dangerous beyond the otherwise harmful effect in stifling trade. This goes on despite anti-cartel clauses in all ECA treaties.

GREAT Britain and our own administration in Germany are party to this trade-restricting practice as regards coal and coke. England sells for less to her own manufacturers than to other nations, and likewise our administration in Germany makes a lower price to German manufacturers than to other nations. This results in a curious paradox, which is that Italy and France are buying great quantities of coal in the United States because they can get it cheaper than from England and Germany, literally their neighbors.

Unless Western European nations will do the simple thing that we did over 150 years ago and do away with these special arrangements that stifle trade, they will find it increasingly difficult to win support in the United States for continued economic aid at the expense of the American taxpayer.

Mr. Hoffman, who knows how true this is, is taking that word to our Western European friends and allies.

Texas Man Denies Seeking Site For 'White Supremacy' College

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — George W. Armstrong, Fort Worth and Mississippi capitalist, today declared "all this publicity and furor about my proposed donation to Jefferson Military college is a tempest in a teapot."

He added that there was nothing to reports that he sought a site to open a school for teaching of white supremacy in Port Arthur or Fort Worth.

Armstrong, who divides his time between Fort Worth and Natchez, Miss., said he had mentioned the possibility of such a school in Texas, with Fort Worth or Port Arthur as possible sites.

No Move Planned

But, he said, he has decided to make no such move, nor to dispose of his mineral estate, which formed the basis of his proposed endowment, until its value is further developed.

Armstrong issued his statement upon his arrival here to "clear my position in the matter."

The announcement from Natchez two weeks ago said Armstrong conditionally endowed Jefferson Military college near there with five-sixths of his personal holdings. Oilmen at the time estimated the endowment—including half of his mineral rights on 68,000 acres of oil-bearing land—would exceed $50,000,000.

Said Armstrong in his statement: "I haven't any $5 million or $50 million, but only a good prospect of having it. There is a big difference between cash and a prospect, however good."

The condition of the endowment offer, which Armstrong said first was "unanimously accepted" was proposed charter changes. The chief one of these, he said, would exclude "persons of African descent, which includes negroes, and of Asiatic descent, which includes Jews . . ."

He said the college later sought to change his offer, and he refused.

Armstrong said the college trustees first applied to him for help and he gave them $6,500. He said he later proposed to give them one-half of his mineral estate in Mississippi and 26,000 acres of land if they would amend their charter.

Armstrong, who is board chairman of Texas Steel Co., here, said that contrary to previous reports, he did not offer Southern Methodist university of Dallas any sum of money. Nor did he demand the trustees fire the SMU president, he said.

He said he "simply protested against the SMU sponsorship of a lecture course that is subject to the approval of the Dallas Jewish synagogue."

Army Hospital Joins Baylor University As Teaching Unit

WACO, Nov. 2. (AP)—President W. R. White of Baylor university today announced affiliation of the U. S. Army's Brooks General hospital at San Antonio as a teaching unit of the graduate school.

Baylor will grant the master of science degree to students completing a prescribed course of work in the hospital's teaching program.

Dr. Wilby T. Gooch, vice-president of the university and dean of the graduate school, said that the affiliation is the beginning of a plan whereby Baylor seeks to encourage study and clinical research in the field of medicine.

Twenty-two members of the Brooke Army Medical center have been appointed to faculty status in the Baylor graduate school.

While forests are cooler than plains, they tend to be warmer at night because trees retard the escape of heat.

Oklahoma Convict's Escape Effort Fails

ANGLETON, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Roy Lee Auten, 32-year-old Oklahoma badman who has sneaked out of two state prisons, was back in again today after slipping into his old routine for a few hours yesterday.

Auten, a handsome brunet doing a 75-year stretch for robbery by assault, was found last night only three miles from Retrieve prison farm near here.

Baying bloodhounds came across his scent just nine hours after he managed to "walk away" from a work gang that was unloading cotton.

Auten had hid deep in a thicket and surrendered calmly, although prison officials had spread a warning that he was "dangerous."

Auten was ingenious, although he has spent almost half of his life behind bars.

He was jailed here in August of 1948 for the kidnap-robbery of grocer Sam Hardee, who lost $9,000 in the holdup. A month later, Auten impersonated another prisoner whose name had been called for bond and calmly walked out of the Harris county jail.

Back in 1944, Auten escaped from the Oklahoma State prison in McAlester.

His crime career dates back to 1933, records show, and includes sentences for auto theft, horse theft, embezzlement, violating the national transportation act and the current charge.

Tahoka To Receive Bids On Water Storage Tank Nov. 22

TAHOKA, Nov. 2 (Special) — Tahoka's mayor and city commissioners will receive bids Nov. 22 at 2 p.m. for an elevated water storage tank of 200,000 to 250,000 gallon capacity and for water and sewer extensions, it was announced today.

A $300,000 bond issue was voted Oct. 1 to finance the improvements. Hasie and Green, Lubbock consulting engineers, prepared the plans and specifications.

Included in the job are new water mains, sewage collecting lines, two sewage lift stations and force mains.

TV Is Bright Enough

CLEVELAND, (U.P.) — Your television set isn't a moving picture projector. A General Electric official disputes the theory that a room should be darkened to make the image clearer on a TV set. He points out that the TV screen is about 10 times brighter than the moving picture screen and that unless the eye has a light background to glance at once in a while it will suffer from strain. Also, in a darkened room, glare is produced from the bright screen.

INDEPENDENT NATION PLANNED

Dutch, Indonesians Okay Pact To Set Up East Indies Republic

THE HAGUE, Nov. 2 (INS)—Dutch and Indonesian representatives signed agreements today providing for the end of Holland's 300-year-rule over the rich East Indies, and creation of an independent republic of the United States of Indonesia next month.

Ratification of the agreements by the Dutch and Indonesian parliaments is necessary, but this is regarded as a formality.

The historic agreements were announced at the final plenary session of the 73-day Dutch-Indonesian round table conference called to determine the future of the Asiatic archipelago and its 77 million inhabitants.

Equal Partnership Planned

The new USI, with a president, senate and house of representatives modeled after those in the United States of America, will be linked to the Dutch crown as an equal partner with Holland in a union tighter than the British commonwealth.

(Indonesian students in Batavia shouted "merdeka"—"liberty"—as they gathered in small groups before radios broadcasting the announcement, and sang the Indonesian national anthem. Weeping Dutch women in their Batavia hotels and Dutch troops outside their barracks sang the Netherlands national anthem.)

The agreements were signed after a last-minute obstacle—the future status of Dutch New Guinea—was overcome by a compromise which neither the Dutch nor Indonesians were keen about. It provides that the Dutch will remain in control of the area for not more than one year after the transfer of Dutch sovereignty to the rest of the archipelago, pending outcome of negotiations to decide its final status.

Troops To Withdraw

The agreements, which the United Nations Conciliation commission for Indonesia helped secure, provide for the withdrawal of Dutch troops from Indonesia by the middle of 1950, but this was conditioned on the availability of shipping space.

There will be a measure of Dutch-Indonesian cooperation in such matters as foreign relations, defense and the economic and cultural fields.

The Dutch and Indonesians will exchange ambassadors, and the Netherlands government will help the Indonesians build a Navy.

The federated states and autonomous areas of the archipelago, whose delegates were among the 230 attending the conference, are included in the sovereignty agreement.

But the republic of Indonesia will dominate the use. It led the fight for independence in a nationalist movement that developed with the surrender of the Japanese who seized control of the Indies during the war.

Bidding On Lamesa Project Postponed

LAMESA, Nov. 2. (Special) — Lamesa's mayor and city commissioners met this afternoon to consider bids for a sewer and water extension program but because only one bid was offered, it was not opened and the meeting was delayed for another month.

J. D. Willson, city manager, said that the steel strike probably prevented the expected bidders from appearing at the scheduled meeting. "We will have to wait until the strike is settled and the bidders are able to meet specifications," he said.

The work involves 759 feet of vitrefield clay sewer lines of eight-inch size, 1,390 feet of six-inch size, and 3,050 feet of two-inch galvanized iron water lines.

Mayor Sam Richardson and Commissioners F. T. McCollum, T. F. Vaughn, Tracy Campbell and Dr. J. M. Harrington were present with Willson at the meeting.

Every Effort To Be Made To Furnish Cars For Shippers, Burlington Executive Says

South Plains cotton shippers had the promise Wednesday from L. R. Capron of Chicago, vice president of the Burlington Lines, that every effort will be made to have cars available for movement of the area's greatest cotton crop.

Capron, here on a visit and also making an inspection of the Fort Worth and Denver lines, said cars would be shuttled into the area for movement of the grain crop also.

Cars For Cotton Easier

"Of course, it's much easier to find cars that will hold cotton and for that reason, more cars will be available for cotton," the railroad executive said. "However, we hope to be in a position to meet demands of shippers for grain cars."

"Prospects now indicate there will be cars available to move the cotton crop as speedily as possible," Capron continued. "Of course, if everybody wants cars at the same time, we'll have trouble supplying them."

Prosperity Of Area Cited

Capron commented on the agricultural outlook of the South Plains, declaring:

"I've never seen such a transformation in an area as on the South Plains since I visited here last April," Capron said. "Especially is this true of Lubbock, which I have always considered one of the better points on our lines. There seems to be no end to Lubbock's growth. New industries and new buildings have sprung up everywhere."

The Chicagoan said he expected another upturn in business, now that the coal and steel strikes seem to be nearing settlement.

Burlington Celebrates Centennial

He reminded that the Burlington Lines are celebrating their centennial year this year and told how the company first started out 100 years ago to build 12 miles of line from Aurora, Ill., to a place called Turner's Junction to connect with the Galena & Chicago Union railroad.

The Lines now have 11,000 miles of railroad operating in 14 states.

Dividend Record Cited

He also cited the unique record of the railroad in paying dividends to stockholders every year since the first dividend was declared in 1862.

"All this occured under our system of free enterprise," he added, "something which we may not be able to repeat during these days when our liberties and exercises of discretion are becoming more circumscribed right along."

He cited a recent bill proposed in Congress to give even more power to the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate railroads more in detail.

Guest At Dinner

Capron was a guest at a dinner at Lubbock Country club last night given by the three local directors of the railroad, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Arch S. Underwood and Chas. A. Guy. Guy, who is out of town, could not attend.

Accompanying the vice president here were other officials of the railroad. They were: R. Wright Armstrong, Fort Worth, vice president; W. O. Frame, Fort Worth, general manager; M. G. Monaghan, Amarillo, assistant general manager; C. S. Edmonds, Fort Worth, traffic manager; and Y. E. Juge, assistant traffic manager, Fort Worth.

Turkey Shoots Planned By 20-30 Club Members Here

A regular business meeting of of the 20-30 club was held last night in Hotel Lubbock with 24 members attending.

Guests included Joe Kasandie, who entertained the group with several guitar selections; and Mickey Tarkenton.

Tommy Vallas reported on the progress of the club's "Safety Sally" project. Club members also made plans to sponsor two "Turkey Shoots," the first to be held about a week before Thanksgiving; the second to be held before Christmas.

Specific dates for the two shoots will be announced later.

George A. Hill, Jr., Texas Oilman, Dies

HOUSTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—George A. Hill, jr., one of the nation's leading independent oilmen, died in a Greenville, S. C., hospital today.

The 57-year-old Houston man had been president of the Houston Oil company and Houston Pipe Line company since 1932.

Only a few weeks ago his name had been mentioned prominently as a possible nominee for president of the American Petroleum institute, which meets next week in Chicago.

From 1934 to 1941 he was A.P.I.'s vice-president for production.

Since 1945 he had been chairman of the University of Texas Development board.

UNIT STATIONED AT LEGION HALL

County X-Ray Survey Examines 664 Persons During First Day

Lubbock county's tuberculosis x-ray survey ended its first day of the ten-day period to be spent at the American Legion hall Wednesday with a total of 664 persons reporting for examinations, Lee Bolotte, State Health department technician of Austin, announced.

The examinations began with a rush, with 430 persons x-rayed before noon, then thinned out the remainder of the day until the closing hour, 6 p.m. The morning examinations were swelled when school buses from Frenship, Idalou, and New Deal transported students of high school age to the hall for x-rays.

More Exams Scheduled

Buses from Roosevelt, Shallowater and Cooper are to arrive for examinations at 10 a.m. today.

Approximately 150 employees of Furr Food stores received examinations Wednesday. Many of them were present when the doors opened at 9 a.m.

Sponsored By Kiwanis

The county survey opened in the downtown location following a survey conducted last week on Texas Technological college campus. Examinations will be given at the Legion hall through Nov. 12 and will be free to all Lubbock county residents 15 years of age or older.

Dr. M. C. Overton, pioneer physician, was the first person to receive the examination in the downtown location. Following quickly behind him were Walter S. Posey, Mayor W. H. Rogers, Dr. H. I. Robinson and Dr. O. R. Hand.

The survey is sponsored by Hub City Kiwanis club, of which Jason Gordon is president, and Lubbock County Tuberculosis association, of which Dr. W. H. Gordon is president. The examinations are given by a mobile x-ray unit of the state health department.

Contact Is Source

"The time to find tuberculosis is before it produces symptoms," Dr. Gordon said Wednesday morning. The disease should be located before persons know they are sick. "Such early discovery," he explained, "increases their chances for recovery, shortens their period of hospitalization, and prevents spread of tuberculosis to other unsuspecting people.

"The belief that tuberculosis is inherited," he added, "is of course not true. Contact with the disease is the only way by which it may be acquired. If the people of Lubbock county would take advantage of this service each year —a service for which they pay through taxes—tuberculosis vir-

GATHERING FACTS ON "THE LUBBOCK STORY"—The four advertising men, pictured above, are visiting in Lubbock gathering vital information on South Plains business and agricultural conditions for presentation to advertising officials in the metropolitan areas of the North and East. They are representatives of the Texas Daily Press League, which handles advertising for Texas newspapers including The Avalanche-Journal. Seated is Irl Brown from Dallas and standing left to right are: Don Milliken, Chicago; James J. Higgins, Detroit; and J. W. Stalsworth, New York. Three of the group, who had been here in former years, expressed wide-eyd amazement at the growth of Lubbock and surrounding area. Higgins, who handles automobile advertising in Detroit, is on his first visit to this area. He had a chance Wednesday to pick his first cotton. The group will remain here through today before returning to Dallas Friday. (Staff Photo.)

State Jaycees To Meet Here

Bill McDaniel of Dallas, a national director of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been named general assembly chairman of the annual state Jaycee board meeting to be held here Saturday and Sunday at the Hilton hotel.

Between 300 and 500 Texas Jaycees plus several out-of-state Jaycees will be on hand for the meeting, the first of its kind ever to be held in Lubbock or the South Plains, according to L. D. Whiteley of Lubbock, a national director and general chairman of the meeting.

Main item on the agenda is a report on the Hoover commission recommendations, the number one program under sponsorship by the Jaycees for the coming year.

Other important programs to be considered include Jaycee leadership training, manpower pro-

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

10 pounds lost in 10 days

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 306 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows:

"I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 135 pounds.

"I eat most anything I want and hold my same weight."

Famed Art Collection Brings Fraction Of Cost At Auction

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2.—(INS)—The fabulous collection of art treasures owned by late inventor-philanthropist Atwater Kent were sold at auction today for a fraction of their cost.

Although the bidding was spirited for 370 paintings, the highest price was $750 paid by a Los Angeles collector for Sir Joshua Reynolds' portrait of "Lady Cockburn."

Among prominent bidders at the auction were Lies Henie, brother of ice skater Sonja Henie, and Attorney Neil McCarthy.

GUARD SHOWS GAIN

AUSTIN, Nov. 2. (AP) — A gain of 208 in the Texas National Guard last week boosted total strength to 15,513 at the end of the sixth week of the nine-week recruiting campaign, State Adjutant General K. L. Berry announced today.

PACIFIC HERO TAKES BIG JUMP

Sherman's Rise May Mark End To Open Fight On Unification

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 — Some people in the news:

Adm. Forrest P. Sherman was jumped over the heads of 11 senior admirals, en route to his new duties as Chief of Naval operations succeeding Louis Denfeld. It represents one of the biggest seniority jumps since Eisenhower's leap to enduring fame in 1942.

His appointment means that there will be no more free-wheeling criticism of unification by top naval officers. It means, also, according to the Washington grapevine, that Capt. John G. Crommelin who stuck his neck out and precipitated the row that resulted in Denfeld's canning, probably will be courtmartialed.

Sherman was right, according to Defense Chief Louis Johnson. He sat silently through several sessions of the congressional hearing on unification and did not speak. That he will play ball with the unification seems obvious. When he flew to his new post he alighted from his plane at Baltimore, drove over to Washington, and was closeted with Secretary of Navy Matthews, "having an understanding," before the press was admitted.

The man from Merrimac, N. H., is a pioneer among naval airmen. He skippered the carrier Wasp in the Pacific, until it went down under the weight of Jap torpedoes. By the end of the war, which found him heavily decorated for valor and wounds, he commanded a carrier division.

Oddly, he was one of the first viewers with alarm the Navy produced at the time unification was first suggested. His report to the President in those early days expressed "well-grounded apprehensions" about the future role of naval aviation.

Boris Pregel, head of International Rare Metals Refinery, Inc., of New York, announced last week his discovery of a process of producing the rare radio-active element actinium, which is a decay product of U-235. It disintegrates spontaneously. A hunk of it emits billions of beta (X) rays per minute. It has what the physicists call a "half life" of 13.5 years, which means it takes that long for half of a given amount of it to decay completely, and another 13.5 years for half of the remainder to dissipate itself. And so on.

He hails it as a new atomic tool, and a "new U. S. monopoly."

Comedian Is Praised

Fred Waring, one of the finer influences for good music in this country, was talking about Peter Lind Hayes after seeing him at the Waldorf the other night. Hayes has an ineffable genius akin to that of the early Charles Chaplin. On some of his numbers one doesn't quite know whether to laugh or cry.

"That's one guy who is growing up right in show business," the maestro said. "He's not only the finest comedian of our times; he's a true artist. He'll outlast all of those living today."

Vacation Flights Offered

U. S. commercial aviation springs from one tragedy to another conquest. On top of the terrifying disaster at the airport in Washington, which had nothing to do with the perfection of American craftsmanship in the air, we talked to Col. Lewis Carter Burwell, jr., better known to old CBI hands as "Squeak."

Burwell's new-type airline will start operating in December. He'll pick up customers from any point in the U.S. and fly them on vacation or business trips to the Caribbean countries for a fare that includes hotel, food, and side-trip expenses. He had a little trouble, getting the idea across in Washington. But now he's ready.

Burwell became a top-ranking insurance man after leaving the University of the South. Sold more than a million dollars worth of the business every year for five years, at one stretch. He was a frustrated Air Force man, for he had been washed out at Brooks Field, Tex., by a dour colonel named Chennault.

When the war came along he joined up with the Medical corps, was transferred to gliders because he had flown his own plane for hundreds of thousands of miles, and finally wound up in the CBI. One day his job was to fly Chennault across the "hump." He turned to the top general and said, "It's a pretty bad trip, and I should tell you that once upon a time you told me I'd never make a pilot. Unless you've changed your mind you'd better walk." Chennault went with him.

Now he opens the flying world to new tens of thousands of people, and we become that much more of an air power.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP) — All grains except wheat displayed strength on the board of trade today.

Prospects that cor nacreage will be cut next year spurred buying in that grain, particularly in the deferred contracts. The near-by December delivery firmed as marketings of cash corn continued light. Oats also drew support from light marketings and steady cash prices.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to ¼ higher, December $2.12⅛-¾, corn was ¾ to 1 cent higher, December $1.18¾-⅞, oats were ½-¾ higher, December 73¾, rye was ¾ to 1 cent higher, December $1.43¾, soybeans were ¾ to 2 cents higher, November $2.25-52.26⅛, and lard was 7 cents lower to 2 cents a hundred pounds higher, November $9.70.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard 2.31½-37½.
Oats No. 2 white 90-91
Corn No. 2 white 1.55-58
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.10-15.

STOCKS SET NEW MARK

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Stronger hopes for labor peace helped lift the stock market to a 12-month high today.

The broadening current of inflationary thought circulating in the financial district added power to the advance.

Key issues rose fractions to around a point and in a few cases more. Steels, motors, rails, and oil held prominent places in the plus column.

Sales of 1,570,000 shares compared with 1,300,000 Tuesday. The year's high was 1,850,000.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 68.7. The industrial, rail and utility groups all made a good showing.

The 60-stock average reached its highest level since 70.6 on Nov. 1 last year and has not got too far to go to reach the 1948 top of 72.4.

Santa Fe at 94⅝ and Southern Pacific at 45½ were each up a point. Fractional gains were scored by Pennsylvania at 14¼, and Union Pacific 83¼.

A major holdout in this group was Chesapeake and Ohio, which lost ½ at 27¾, a new low for the year.

U. S. Steel gained ½ at 25. Bethlehem 3/4 at 31. Youngstown Sheet ⅛ at 69½, and Republic ¾ at 22¼. A block of 10,000 shares of National Steel sold at a net loss of ⅞ but the stock closed 1¼ up at 87¼.

Chrysler was a strong spot with a rise of 1⅜ to 59⅛ and General Motors added ⅝ at 69¾.

Others up included United Gas Corp., North American Co., Western Union, Packard, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Coca-Cola, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, International Paper, Standard Oil (NJ), Johns-Manville, and U. S. Gypsum.

Airlines were uniformly lower, including Pan American, American, United, Eastern, and Transcontinental and Western.

Higher in the curb were Panconastal Oil, Wright-Hargreaves, Calgary and Edmonton, Canadian Marconi, Cities Service, and Electric Bond and Share. Rio Grande Valley Gas slipped with Cosden Petroleum and Consolidated Mining. Sales of 360,000 shares compared with 380,000 yesterday.

Corporate bonds held steady. Long-term U. S. governments rose as much as 2 32 of a point in over-the-counter trade.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady in quiet dealings today. Scattered hedging and liquidation were absorbed through mill buying. There was some switching from December to later months, anticipating first notice day on November 25.

Spot cotton sales continued heavy at the ten primary markets, but found little reflection in the futures market which supported ideas that a large volume of cotton is being carried in second hand on an unhedged basis.

Futures closed unchanged to 60 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Death Defeats Early Christmas Plans For Young El Paso Girl

EL PASO, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Death beat "Christmas" to the Donald Harrison home today.

Five-year-old Rita Harrison, for whom an "early Christmas" had been planned this week, died this morning. She was a victim of incurable leukemia, but doctors had estimated last week that she might live two more months.

The annual oyster harvest in the United States yields about 63,000,000 pounds of food.

BANKERS GROUP DRAWS FIRE

Banking Leader Urges Return Of Installment Buying Curbs

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2. (INS) The president of the Federal Reserve bank of New York advocated today re-enactment of reserve board controls over installment buying in an address studded with criticism of some segments of the American Bankers association.

Allan Sproul, speaking before 4,000 bankers at the association's 75th annual convention in San Francisco, also defended the government's present official price of gold, pegged at $35 an ounce.

Sproul's address came on the concluding day of the gathering during which the association adopted a resolution suporting the current gold price.

New Officers Named

In other sessions, F. Raymond Peterson, chairman of the First National Bank and Trust company of Patterson, N. J., was elected president and James E. Shelton, president of the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles vice president.

The convention also adopted a resolution expressing clear cut support for the government's present gold policy saying:

"For 15 years this fixed price (of $35) has furnished a basis for the currencies of the world. It would be unwise and dangerous to make any change in this relationship. Any increase in the price of gold would fan the fires of inflation both here and abroad."

Sproul, in his keynote address, took the same position in a scholarly bombardment of the arguments put fourth by advocates of a return to the gold standard, a free market for gold and convertible money.

"Free Market" Hit

He said a return to a free market in gold would be a "witless proceding, in terms of the whole economy, matched only by our bonanza provisions for the special benefit of the miners of silver."

Sproul argued that contrary to its supporters a free market in gold would not stimulate production but might on the other hand "create uncertainty about the stability of the dollar."

The reserve board banker emphasized that "the integrity of our money does not depend" on domestic convertibility of gold coin. In his remarks on this phase of the gold question, Sproul declared:

"It (the soundnes of our money) depends upon the great productive power of the American economy and the competence with which we manage our fiscal and monetary affairs.

"I suggest that anyone who is worried about the dollar concentrate on the correction of those tendencies in our ecoonmic life which brought us a deficit of several billion dollars in our federal budget . . .

"At some point, the mere size of the budget, in relation to a national product, can destroy incentivies throughout the whole community . . ."

Sproul mentioned federal controls of installment buying in his defense of the federal reserve system. Bankers' arguments that the system is "trying to arrogate power to itself," he said, has obscured the "real picture."

He urged the bankers adopt a more constructive attitude in their approach to the question.

The convention, before its final sessions, agreed on New oYrk as the site of the 1950 gathering.

Not Charity Measure

Invitation to conduct the Lubbock county x-ray survey was given by Lubbock-Crosby County Medical society.

Survey officials have emphasized that the survey is financed by taxes and is not a charity measure.

The process is brief, requiring only that the person give information for a card and stand before the machine a few seconds.

Examinations will be given from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. through Friday and 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday and on the same schedule next week except that examinations will not be given on Armistice day.

Westerner Coach C. R. (Pat) Pattison Wednesday showed a motion picture of Lubbock's 47-7 rout of Amarillo at a luncheon meeting of the Exchange club in Hotel Lubbock.

He described each play as the film progressed and stressed repeatedly that Lubbock's current successful season is the result of hustle and a good attitude by the players.

He was introduced by Joe Holmes, manager of the Sport Center.

New 75,000-Seat Stadium Is Urged By Houston Group

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — A stadium seating 75,000 persons, and built for expansion to 100,000 seats, was recommended to the city council today by the special stadium committee.

Councilman Harry Holmes, in a formal report, said the plant would cost about $50 per seat, and would involve a financing plan in which millionaire oilman Glenn McCarthy will play a prominent role.

McCarthy To Buy Bonds

Holmes said McCarthy was willing to underwrite half the stadium cost by purchasing three per cent stadium revenue bonds representing half the total cost of the stadium. The remainder could be raised by a public subscription drive, sponsored much along the same line as the Community Chest campaign. The committee suggested that Mayor Oscar Holcombe name such a committee immediately.

Location of the stadium, Holmes said, could either be a 150-acre tract offered free by McCarthy, or a 640-acre tract near the Municipal airport that sells for $1,000 per acre. The land donated by McCarthy is on South Main street, near the oilman's plush Shamrock hotel and two miles from Rice institute.

"The committee has gone as far as it could," Holmes told the mayor.

"The next step is for the mayor and council to authorize hiring an architect to prepare plans and to stage a subscription drive. . ."

Rice Institute and the University of Houston have both agreed to play all their home football games in the proposed stadium, and interest has been voiced by Notre Dame and other "big-time" college and professional teams.

Austin Commended For Wage Policy, Told To Pay More

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — The third court of civil appeals commended the City of Austin today for paying its firemen and policemen higher minimum wages than required, but ruled that the city must pay additional wages based on length of service.

The court overruled a decision of the 126th district court of Austin for holding that firemen and policemen must be paid an additional $10 per month for each five years of service up to 15 years.

The City of Austin paid a minimum wage of $220, although it was required by a law enacted by the 50th Legislature in 1947 to pay a minimum of only $180.

Additional Pay Refused

However, the city, in doing so, refused to pay the additional $10 per month based on length of service.

Some 100 firemen and policemen brought suit against the city, seeking a declaratory judgment of its rights and legal relationships.

"The fact that the City of Austin," the appeals court said, "has been and is paying its policemen and firemen of similar classifications, some with less than five years service, more than the minimum pay is to be commended, but such recognition of the need for greater pay for all of its such employes should not operate to prevent men of long tenure from securing the additional pay of $10 per month for each five years of service."

The court of civil appeals also held that the employes are entitled to accumulate sick leave benefits only from effective date of the act in 1947, rather than from the date of their employment.

Ice cubes now can be supplied continuously by individual cube freezers, which move in unending procession around a circular channel, dumping their frozen loads into either a storage space or an ice-shaving machine, as the operator wishes.
