The SDN Column

That exhibit of coins, currency and medallions that Roger Mize has installed at Snyder National Bank reminded us of the Texas Centennial Exposition back in 1936. It had the first big display of money we ever saw. There was even at $10,000 bill on exhibit.

Those big bills have gone out of style now. With today's credit systems and rapid communications there is no need for them. Mize said the people at the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas advised that even the $1,000 bills are being taken out of circulation and destroyed now. It seems that the extra big bills serve very few needs now, except perhaps big crime. So, the $1,000 bill included in the Mize collection has become a rarity.

Anyway, the display at Snyder National Bank is nothing short of a mini-museum and it should be especially interesting to school children.

Bob Bullock, the new State Comptroller, announced recently that he planned to pay cities their sales tax revenues each month, rather than wait for a quarter to elapse between payments.

He now has the plan in effect and Snyder's net payment for February was $15,165.05, which shows up well in comparison to most other cities in our population bracket. For example, the Sweetwater net payment was $12,507.51, Lamesa's was $11,736.31, Brownfield's was $$11,359.92, Levelland's was $13,096.16, Monahans' was $10,396.64 and Pecos' was $9,016,55.

Community leaders in an around Fort Worth are pushing a proposal to put the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine of Fort Worth under the wing of North Texas State University of Denton. The two institutions have been cooperating for some time on joint research projects and even sharing some personnel and facilities.

An official merger would fulfill a need by producing 100 or more new physicians per year, they say. They cite figures which indicate that 75 per cent of the doctors of osteopathic medicine in this country go into general practice, compared to about 25 per cent of the MDs. The merger has passed the State Senate and is due out of a House committee soon.

The Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine has a senior class of 25 this year. It graduated 20 last year and Snyder is scheduled to get two of them when they complete their internships this summer—WACIL McNAIR.

Agency Shop Bill Rejected By House

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — An agency shop bill that was No. 1 on the Texas AFL-CIO's legislative want list was rejected by the House today, 96-37.

The vote was on a motion to table by Rep. Richard Geiger, D-Dallas, who said the measure would permit "forced payment of union dues—make no mistake about it."

"Whether you believe in a union or not, you must contribute to it and make it even richer than it is," Geiger said.

Sponsors contended the bill would permit labor and management contracts that would at least require "free riding"—or non-union—employes to pay for services unions provide.

"This does not repeal the right-to-work law," said Rep. R. C. Nichols, D-Houston, a member of the United Steelworkers.

Nichols said federal law requires a union to represent nonmembers in shops where it is the collective bargaining agent and it was only fair for nonmembers to pay their fair share.

"I have seen my union spend up to $1,500 to arbitrate cases for people who did not belong to the union," Nichols said.

Earlier, the House passed and sent to the governor Senate bills appropriating $1.2 million to meet higher utility bills for the Capitol complex, establishing energy conservation standards for new state buildings and permitting seizure of animals that are mistreated by their owners.

Also passed and returned to the Senate for action on amendments were bills establishing a single group insurance plan for state employes and permitting insurance agents to collect 10 per cent annual interest when they lend customers money for their premiums.

A largely pro-union House Labor Committee approved the agency shop bill, and Nichols used a new system of preferential numbering to do what he was unable to do last session—get the bill before the full House.

Agency shops are those in which employes need not belong to the union that represents them but must pay the union a fee equal to union dues for serving as their bargaining agent.

The Texas AFL-CIO voted in convention in July 1973 ago to make an agency shop bill its top priority in this legislature.

In Wednesday's action, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills that would:

—Allow boat owners to obtain certificates of title for $1 and require such certificates before a boat could be sold.

—Allow banks in counties under 350,000 population to have drive-in facilities separate from their main buildings.

—Permit the sale of auto insurance on a group basis, similar to that commonly used for life and health policies.

Dr. K Says Reds Sabotaged Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today accused the Soviet Union and China of helping to make "a mockery" of the 1973 Paris cease-fire agreements by supplying arms to North Vietnam.

Kissinger said the United States also cannot overlook the "melancholy fact" that none of the signers of the peace accords joined this country in at least pointing out Hanoi's "flagrant violations" in its punishing assault on the South.

"Such silence can only undermine any meaningful standards of international responsibility," he told the American Society of Newspaper Editors in a speech.

President Ford, addressing the newspaper editors Wednesday, declined to blame Moscow and Peking for its $1.5 billion in aid to North Vietnam. Ford said "this whole tragedy" now facing South Vietnam could have been avoided if the United States lived up to its own commitment under the 1973 agreements to supply Saigon with necessary military and economic assistance.

But Kissinger, taking a hard-line, declared: "We shall not forget who supplied the arms which North Vietnam used to make a mockery of its signature on the Paris accords."

Kissinger's remarks came amid these other developments:

—A secret congressional report assessed the South Vietnamese military situation as "irretrievable." It accused U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin of delaying plans to evacuate Americans, sources said.

Tax Equalization Bill Is Cleared

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Tax Committee today approved 12-0 a bill setting up a uniform statewide system for assessing property for taxation.

Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, the sponsor, said he hoped the House Calendar Committee would give it a high priority and set it for House debate next week.

Peveto insists his bill is a necessary precondition for any meaningful public school finance reform because all school money bills would base state aid on market value of taxable property within a district.

Under the bill, all evaluations of taxable property would be made by county appraising officers, using standards and guidelines issued by the comptroller. This would eliminate the welter of local government and special district appraisal offices, although each government unit would continue setting their own tax rates and ratios of assessed valuations to true market value.

The comptroller would audit county appraisals to assure uniformity across the state.

Peveto amended the bill to combat criticism that it would make the comptroller "a tax czar in Austin—one-man rule."

The revision would set up a nine-member tax advisory board, including membership from governing bodies of cities, counties and school districts, with the other six members coming from assessors. It would have only the power to advise, but theoretically could sound off to the public if it believed the comptroller was doing his job improperly.

An amendment added in subcommittee, requiring the state to pay 10 per cent of the local costs of reappraisal, was removed before the bill was approved by the full committee.

"If we're going to have the state pick up 10 per cent, let's wait until the next session of the legislature," Peveto said. He noted the bill would not take effect for two years, and that's when the costs to counties would start piling up.

The new Texas Constitution on which the voters will make a decision Nov. 4 includes a requirement of single, county-level appraising units to determine market value of taxable property.

United Way Sets Budget Hearings

The Scurry County United Way will hold its annual budget hearings on May 6.

The date was set this morning at a meeting of the organization's executive committee. Ed Micak, a United Way vice president, heads the budget committee. During the hearings representatives of the various participating agencies will present their respective budgets for review by the committee.

Lyle Deffebach, United Way president, presided over the executive committee session this morning.

Capitulation Of Phom Penh Is Announced

By The Associated Press

Phnom Penh surrendered to the Communist-led Khmer Rouge insurgents today after a 3½-month siege, ending five years of war that devastated Cambodia, caused uncounted casualties and disrupted the lives of seven million people.

In Saigon, the military command said fighting tapered off across South Vietnam, with the situation at Xuan Loc, the besieged provincial capital 40 miles northeast of Saigon, "quiet."

White flags and banners of surrender fluttered from every building and shop in downtown Phnom Penh to welcome the black-uniformed Khmer Rouge forces. Rebel troops hugged Cambodian army soldiers and took them aboard their armored personnel carriers for a victory parade along the waterfront.

Government gunboats steamed up and down the Mekong and Tonle Sap rivers on the east side of Phnom Penh, hoisting white flags and banners. "The white flag means cease-fire," an officer said, adding that display of surrender flags had been ordered by the Cambodian military command.

"There are no words to express my joy at the reports that the Khmer Rouge have liberated Phnom Penh," Prince Norodom Sihanouk, nominal leader of the insurgents, was quoted as saying in a telephone interview from Peking.

However, Sihanouk, who was ousted five years ago as Cambodia's chief of state and has since served as titular head of the Khmer rouge government in exile in Peking, indicated he did not plan to return in the near future.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, reported a statement from the prince that while he remains Cambodia's chief of state, 45-year-old Khieu Samphan, his deputy premier and chief commander of the "Armed Force of National Unity in Cambodia," would execute direct power in the country along with the Khmer Rouge.

Sihanouk said he would continue to represent Cambodia abroad and would guarantee "Cambodian policies of nonalignment."

Meanwhile, the commander of the Khmer Rouge forces in the Phnom Penh area, Gen. Hem Ket Dara, established his headquarters in the Information Ministry building in the Cambodian capital.

A Khmer Rouge broadcast invited all "ministers and generals who have not run away" to meet at the Phnom Penh Information Ministry to "help formulate measures to restore order."

The broadcast said Khmer Rouge from throughout the country — previously 80 to 90 per cent controlled by them — were heading for Phnom Penh and a committee was being set up "which will include comrades of the united front and comrades of the National Liberation Front."

A Khmer Rouge spokesman, speaking over Radio Phnom Penh, said the Communist-led insurgents took over the Cambodian capital at 9 a.m. Thursday (10 p.m. EDT Wednesday). Another broadcast said several leaders of the regime President Lon Nol left behind, including his brother and chief adviser, Brig. Gen. Lon Non, were meeting with the Khmer Rouge at the Information Ministry building.

A number of others sought refuge in the Hotel Le Phnom, which the International Red Cross declared a security zone for noncombatants. This group included Gen. Sirik Matak, one of the leaders of the coup that overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk in 1970 and once Lon Nol's closest associate.

Cambodian newsmen in Phnom Penh reported to The Associated Press that white flags blossomed on buildings in the downtown part of the city, crowds on the streets greeted the incoming insurgent troops, and the Khmer Rouge embraced soldiers of the Cambodian army.

Army vehicles toured the streets with loudspeakers, telling the people to put out white flags. Officers in the cars said they had orders from the army headquarters.

There was also sporadic shooting downtown, but it came from Khmer Rouge troops firing jubilantly into the air as they walked in small groups, surrounded by cheering townspeople.

In South Vietnam, the other Indochina theater of war, the Saigon command reported that fighting tapered off across the country. The situation was reported "quiet" at Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon, after a week of hard fighting.

The remnants of Lon Nol's regime offered a cease-fire and transfer of power on Wednesday. But Prince Sihanouk, the former chief of state who now heads an exile government in Peking, rejected the offer and told them to "lay down their arms, raise the white flag and surrender."

Sihanouk said his foes in Phnom Penh were "traitors who deserve hanging and should try and escape while they can."

Premier Long Boret's government gave up after the Khmer Rouge captured the Phnom Penh airport on Wednesday.

President Delays Railroad Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has delayed for 60 days a threatened strike against the nation's railroads by the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

The 250,000-member union voted to walk out at 12:01 a.m. Friday, but Ford invoked emergency procedures under the Railway Labor Act to allow union and management negotiators additional time to resolve their contract dispute.

Declaring the matter a national emergency, the President appointed a three-member fact-finding board Wednesday to investigate the dispute for up to 30 days. The board's finding will be taken back to the negotiators, who will then have another 30 days to reach an agreement.

The union will be legally free to strike after the 60-day period.

Union President C. L. Dennis said he was gratified by Ford's action and that the union was prepared to present its case to the board as soon as hearings are arranged.

Ford said he acted on the recommendation of the National Mediation Board, which decided that a railroad strike "threatens substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive a section of the country of essential transportation service."

Named to head the board was Alexander B. Porter of Washington, an attorney and labor arbitrator. Serving with him will be James M. Harkless, also from Washington and an experienced arbitrator, and the Rev. Francis X. Quinn, also an arbitrator and faculty member of the Temple University School of Business Administration.

Dennis announced earlier this week that his union members voted overwhelmingly to strike after talks with the National Railway Labor Conference, the industry's bargaining arm, failed to produce a settlement.

Seven other railway unions accepted a new three-year contract earlier this year, but Dennis said his members "won't settle for an inadequate or substandard agreement simply because other unions found it satisfactory for their members."

The contract provided for a 41 per cent boost in wages and benefits.

UNEXPECTED VISITOR—Debris was being cleared away from the main entrance to Snyder National Bank after an automobile leaped the curb and crashed into the building. City police said William Harris King, 34, Route 3, Snyder, apparently lost control of his 1966 Chrysler while traveling north on Avenue R shortly after 9 a.m. today. Damage to the car was moderate and King was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Galyean Ambulance Service. He was not believed to be seriously injured. Firemen were called to the scene when a spinning wheel on the car burned some rubber from a tire.

Fiancee Wants More Than Talk from 80-year-old Suitor

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My younger brother and his wife are both 23. I guess you could call them "hippies." They live in a large house in the country with a lot of other hippies.

My brother's wife is expecting her first baby in a few months, and she plans to have it at home with the others in the home "helping." Another woman who lives in the home is having a baby next month, and they expect to learn everything they need to know then.

Although both these kids are bright and not ruined by drugs, they won't listen to any "old wives' tales" or to their lab-technician brother-in-law about the dangers of this. My brother's wife is Rh negative.

They say they live only 10 minutes from a hospital, and that's enough.

Can you give me some good arguments for convincing them not to go through with their plan? What do your medical advisers say?

J.

DEAR J.: I agree that this young couple are foolish not to have a prenatal examination to be sure that the mother can anticipate a reasonably normal birth process.

Failure to do this could endanger the lives of both the mother and the new infant during birth. The couple are seriously underestimating the possible problems and complications that could arise if they think that watching one delivery will teach them "everything they need to know."

There is nothing wrong with wanting to have the delivery at home, but they would be well-advised to at least have an experienced midwife present to assist them.

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl get pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

WORRIED IN CHICAGO

DEAR WORRIED: No. But it's a good beginning.

DEAR ABBY: You once remarked that a woman of 65 was not exactly an ancient relic yet—or words to that effect.

Well, that is my age, and that is also my feeling.

I am presently keeping company with a very fine gentleman. He is refined, cultured, lonely—and 80-years-old.

I could be interested in him if I were sure we could have a "real" marriage. My problem is how to find out.

What do you think, Dear Abby? I have heard men in their 70's and 80's boast that they are as "young" as they were 30 years ago, but of course I never knew whether they were telling the truth. Is it possible?

I wouldn't want to marry a man who could do nothing but talk. Don't use my name please. Everybody here knows me.

NO GAMBLER IN NEVADA

DEAR NO: It is possible for a man to be sexually active as long as he lives—no matter how old he is. But the only way you can find out if you can have a "real" marriage with this cultured gentleman is to ask him. And pray that he's not just another "talker."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE GRADUATE": Do not send out an "announcement" each time you earn a degree. Your family and close friends will know, and the others might get the idea that you are bragging by degrees.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Recitals Of 2 Students Set At WTC

Catherine Ann Hays of Midland and David George Zepeda of Fort Worth, students at Texas Tech University, will be presented in a recital at 3 p.m. on April 20 in the Fine Arts Theatre at WesternTexas College.

Miss Hayes was an honor graduate of Midland High School in 1971 and was a student affiliate of the Texas Music Teachers' Association there. She was awarded a Browning Piano Scholarship at Tech, where she is a student of Dr. Thomas Redcay.

She was a recent entrant in the Tuesday Musical Club auditions in San Antonio, and has presented recitals at Tech and on KTXT-TV, the PBS station in Lubbock.

Miss Hays will be playing the Prelude and Fugue in E Major by Bach and Sonata in A Minor (Op. 42) by Schubert.

Zepeda received the bachelor of arts from Texas Wesleyan College in 1970 and is presently a graduate teaching assistant in voice at Texas Tech where he is doing graduate work on the MA in American History and Music (voice). He is a student of John Gillas. He will be presenting selections from Liederkreis (Op. 39) by Schumann on Sunday.

Male Streaker Wears Ski Mask

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Police aren't sure if it was a note of spring or winter's end when they received the report of a male streaker wearing only a ski mask.

A citizen told police Wednesday the young man was jogging in alleys.

Officers said it was their first streaker sighting this year.

Criswell Challenged On Tongue Speaking

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A Pentecostal minister here has challenged Dr. W.A. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Dallas, to a debate over Biblical scriptures dealing with "speaking in tongues."

Dr. Criswell earlier this week told an evangelism conference in Dallas that the practice of speaking in tongues is "senseless, idiotic, heretical, divisive and hurtful" to Christianity.

The Rev. Marvin A. Hicks issued the challenge Wednesday.

Dr. Criswell, whose church is the world's largest Southern Baptist Convention congregation, said women are responsible for the practice which is common among Pentecostal groups and others in the charasmatic movement.

"On behalf of the 5,000 ministers of the United Pentecostal Church I hereby challenge your statements," wrote the Rev. Mr. Hicks. "I offer the following proposition for public discussion for four nights in First Baptist Church or any suitable auditorium."

There was no immediate response from Dr. Criswell.

Child Care Center Work Is Outlined

Vivian Dyer, director of the Child Day Care Center, brought the program at the regular weekiy luncheon meeting of the Noon Kiwanis Club, held Wednesday at the American Restaurant.

She monitored slides of the center. There are 40 enrolled in the center, Mrs. Dyer said, and the center is licensed to handle 60.

"Our main purpose is to provide care, love and learning opportunities and help mothers who must work to provide a place for their children," Mrs. Dyer said. She pointed out that parents pay according to their income. The center is a non-profit organization.

Several volunteers help operate the center.

"We have no doctorines, but we teach them (the children) that Jesus loves them," Mrs. Dyer concluded.

She was introduced by Bobby Beard.

Sam Kitching presided over the meeting.

Guests included Guy Sullivan and John Rackler.

Donation To Buy Machine For Hospital

A contribution of $785 to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Mrs. Carrie Ainsworth, Route 1, Fluvanna, was announced today by Cy Miller, administrator of the hospital.

The contribution will purchase another portable instrument that neasures blood pressure, pulse and temperature in approximately 45 seconds, Miller said. All readings on the new machine are displayed simultaneously on a digital screen. The accuracy of the monitor eliminates human error in hearing and palpatation.

The machine, a Filac, Vital Sign Monitor, is completely portable.

"Donations such as this from friends of Cogdell Hospital held the hospital maintain the very latest equipment and facilities and benefit all of the citizens of Scurry County," Miller said.

Sloan Fellowship Goes To Young TESCO Scientist

One of the nation's highest honors has been awarded a young scientist working on the nuclear fusion research program co-sponsored by Texas Electric service Company at the University of Texas at Austin.

C. Wendell Horton Jr., a 33-year-old associate professor of physics at the Fusion Research Center, has been awarded a fellowship by Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New york for basic research in plasma physics and fusion. He was chosen from a field of more than 600 young scientists for fellowships in the fields of physics, mathematics, chemistry and neuroscience.

Dr. Horton is a native Texan who received his B.S. in physics from the University of Texas at Austin in 1963 and his Ph.D. in theoretical physics from the University of California, San Diego, in 1967. He spent a year doing research in the International Center for Theoretical Physics in Trieste and subsequently was a research fellow at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N.J., from 1967-1969. Dr. Horton joined the faculty of the physics department of the University of Texas at Austin in 1969.

Six Sloan fellowships have been awarded in the last 20 years throughout the United States and Canada in the field of plasma physics and fusion research. The last three of these have gone to members of the fusion program at UT-Austin.

Dr. William Drummond, director of the Fusion Research Center, said, "Sloan Fellowships have long been considered a 'young scientist's Nobel prize', and we are tremendously proud for Dr. Horton and for the distinction this brings to our program."

"Dr. Horton along with our two other Sloan recipients, Dr. Fred Hinton and Dr. Ken Gentle, are leaders in our experimental and theory groups," Drummond said.

The Fusion Research Center is the largest university program in the United States devoted to solving the mysteries of producing electric power from fusion, the same process that powers the sun.

Fusion is thought to be the ultimate solution to mankind's energy problems in that the basic fuel is deuterium, easily obtainable from ordinary sea water which contains enough of this fuel to provide electric energy for the lifetime of the earth.

To actually produce electric power from the fusion reaction requires first heating a gas composed of deuterium to enormous temperatures—temperatures so high the bahavior of the gas changes dramatically. A gas at these super high temperatures is called a plasma and is sometimes referred to as the fourth state of matter. After heating the plasma to super high temperatures, the plasma must then be confined by magnetic fields so that the fusion reactions can take place.

A major milestone was passed last year by the U.T. researchers when they were able to heat a plasma to temperatures of 200 million degrees in a device called the Texas Tokamak. No other fusion device in the world has approached these temperatures.

Dr. Drummond stated that much more work is needed to increase the ability to confine the superheated plasmas before the scientific feasibility of fusion power can be proved.

The fusion power research program at U.T. began as partnership between the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, representing ten investor-owned utilities of Texas including Texas Electric Service Company, and the University of Texas. This partnership has since been expanded to include support from the nation-wide utilities through the Edison Electric Institute and the Electric Power Research Institute as well as the federal government through the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation. Through the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, the utility industry in Texas has provided more than $15 million for fusion research.

WEDDING PLANS—Mr. and Mrs. N.E. Small of Rt. 3, Snyder, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jodi, to Ronny Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ozell Williams of Post. A May 9 wedding is planned.

Exchange Student Presents Program

Lambda Kappa chapter members of Beta Sigma Phi were entertained Tuesday night at a regular monthly meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with an informative and colorful slide presentation by Brigette Glandut, Snyder High School foreign exchange student from France. Miss Glandut accompanied the slide presentation with a lively description of her hometown and different areas of France and closed her program by answering questions of the members. Also present as a guest was Mrs. Gary Roberts, Brigette's American mother during her stay in Snyder.

Following the program, the evening's hostesses, Mickey Baird and Wanda Wilson, served members and guests assorted cookies and tea and coffee. Sandra Campbell then conducted the business meeting. Seventeen members answered roll call and Carolyn Limmer read the minutes from the last meeting. A new transfer member was introduced to the group, Terry Robl. Carolyn Martin then gave the treasurer's report and Mona Bryan announced a Woman's Club Luncheon to be held on May 17. Members also discussed the annual Founder's Day Banquet to be held on April 26, at 7:30 at the Country Club. The upcoming Cancer Fund Drive in Snyder was brought to the attention of sorority members by Laura Greene. The sorority will assist other organizations in this yearly event. The meeting was then adjourned.

The next meeting of Lambda Kappa, Beta Sigma Phi, will be on May 6 at the Woman's Club.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Call them swingers or hanging baskets, they're very popular these days, in or out of doors.

Before you indulge, however, consider a number of aspects, such as the type of container, whether it is for outdoor or indoor use, how you will water it, whether it will be messy, how much light it will require.

Many things may be used for your "hang up" plant, including converted bleach bottles, margarine containers, metal and wire baskets, ceramic and wooden boxes.

In addition to the light intensity, consider how much more the plant and basket will weigh after you water it.

An expert, horticulturist John A. Watt of Purdue University, notes that the "foundation for the successful hanging basket is the correct container." Pot size and type are of prime importance. Improper size, color or type can destroy the effectiveness of the plant. And too much weight for the support may mean a crash to the floor.

When you design your hanging basket, think about the line, focal point, form, scale and proportion, the balance and color, as you would in fashioning floral arrangements.

Think about drainage. If you use containers with no drainage holes, consider a pot-in-pot arrangement or a dry well or drainage layer, advises Watt. Lined containers could be punctured a few times with a knife.

Use organic matter and composted, sterlized soil.

For hanging baskets, you will do well with trailing or vining plants. Also good will be plants that respond to pinching often and grow fuller that way. Plants growing erect will stay that way.

Here are some suggestions from the Cary Arboretum of the New York Botanical Garden and the Cooperative Extension Service:

English Ivy: Many varieties of ivies are suitable. Most prefer cool temperatures — 55-65. They will take bright light and appreciate occasional misting.

Sedum: Try some of the hardy outdoor types such as S. sieboldii, S. brevifolium and S. dasyphyllum. Sedums like a soil mixture two parts sand, one part soil and one part peat moss, kept on the dry side. Sunny to semisunny spots are good. Especially recommended is Sedum morganianum, or burro's tail. Water from April through September, then grow very dry.

Crassula Perforata: The weeping jade or necklace vine. Side shoots develop constantly. It prefers a sunny to semi-shaded place. Soil should be two parts sand, one part soil, one part peat moss, kept evenly moist.

Reunion To Be Held

VIEWPOINT

Opportunity To Vote

April is a "voting month" each year for cities and school districts, but it is seldom has elections of state-wide significance. This year is an exception in Texas, and next Tuesday voters in the state will have one of their few opportunities of the year to go to the polls.

In Scurry County, even more is involved than the two proposed amendments to the state constitution. Voters here will be offered ballot to decide whether to abolish the office of County School Superintendent here. And they may decide to do away with it altogether, or to reduce it to ex-officio status by merely abolishing the full-time office holder and leaving it to a part-time function of another county official.

County voters indicated last year that they favored abolishing the office of County School Superintendent when they elected Roy Carter to the office. He had campaigned on a platform pledging that he would work to do away with the office on the grounds that all school districts in Scurry County are independent districts, which means that all have authority to perform the functions now delegated to the county school superintendent.

However, if voters Tuesday approve the proposal to abolish the superintendent's office, they may go the final step and abolish the county board of trustees and the ex-officio superintendent's title. If the superintendent's office is abolished, the county judge automatically becomes the ex-officio superintendent and handles the functions of the superintendent through his office.

So, there are two issues on this ballot. "Proposition No. 1" would abolish the office of county superintendent, and "Proposition No. 2" would abolish the office of ex-officio county superintendent and the county school board. "Proposition No. 2" of course does not become an issue, unless "Proposition No. 1" is approved.

But voters must make these decisions, and as of now it appears that a small percentage of them will decide for the county. Tomorrow is the last day for absentee voting at the county clerk's office.

Brighter Statistics

Thousands of Americans who should have been traffic statistics in 1974 are alive in '75, thanks to a variety of factors.

According to a preliminary study by the National Safety Council, 17,060 traffic fatalities occurred between May 1 and August 31 last year, the peak driving months, compared with 20,630 for the same period in 1973.

More than half the savings of lives, says the Council, can be attributed to reduced vehicle speeds, or about 10 percentage points out of a total 17 percent reduction.

Even though a majority of drivers in a five-state sample taken during the study period wern't complying with the 55-mile-per-hour limit in rural areas, they did slow down from their 1973 speeds—from 70.2 mph to 62 mph. More drivers also were traveling at about the same pace on the highway, which produced a smoother traffic flow and lessened the probability of accidents.

Less travel and less night driving, fewer occupants per vehicle and greater use of safety belts each contributed two percentage points. "Unknown factors" added another two points, which would have made a total of 18.

Unfortunately, a traffic fatality increase of one percentage point had to be subtracted from the total, caused by increased use of motorcycles and small cars and increased mileage by younger drivers.

Cambodian Debacle: It Just Happened

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

For the United States, Cambodia wasn't planned. It just happened, without formal alliance or agreement.

The fateful step was taken almost exactly five years ago with a combined American-South Vietnamese invasion that the Nixon administration called an "incursion." From then on it was all downhill. Phnom Penh surrendered Thursday.

The American military involvement in the three Indochina states was supposed to end in 1973. The last vestige of it was supposed to be in Cambodia where, at the order of Congress, the bombing halted that August. But the political, economic and ideological entanglements remained, and now Cambodia's fate can alter the whole Indochina picture.

How did this situation develop into what it is now?

American involvement really began right after World War II with aid to the French as they sought to re-establish their colonial authority. Washington had regarded Southeast Asia as strategically vital to American security, and even more so after the Communists swept over China. Washington saw communism as a Soviet-dominated monolith about to knock over nations like so many dominoes.

Communist Ho Chi Minh's Viet Minh by 1954 drove the French out and assumed authority over North Vietnam, and the United States stepped into the vacuum in the South.

Cambodia had won independence in 1953 under Norodom Sihanouk, then called king, but the ancient Buddhist kingdom that called itself Kampuchea was unlucky in its geography, caught between two mighty world blocs in a political struggle.

Hanoi sought to use a Vietnamese minority to impose its domination on Cambodia, and the antiroyal, anti-Communist Khmer Issarak (Free Khmer) movement also opposed him. But Sihanouk, then in his 30s, was popular, despite a playboy image, and prevailed, probably because many Cambodians considered him the only honest man in high office.

Prince Norodom — he retained the hereditary title after making himself chief of state in 1960 — could have claimed a title as the world's most dedicated neutralist, but the world wouldn't let him stay that way.

American troubles with Sihanouk began accumulating in 1965 after the major war escalation in South Vietnam. The cause was the sanctuary enjoyed by Communist-led Viet Cong on Cambodian territory.

Sihanouk, who had already renounced American economic aid, broke relations with Washington, charging repeated violations by American planes.

Sihanouk pictured himself as caught between two forces.

On one hand were the Khmer Rouges, mainly Cambodian Communists, who the prince said "sold their bodies and souls to China." The Khmer Rouge had a Politburo, support from China and protection from North Vietnamese regulars camped in Cambodia. It developed slowly into a fighting organization on its own, but was a shadowy force, difficult to identify. Its outstanding leader is Khieu Samphan.

The other force Sihanouk called "Khmer Blues," or those elements, many in the military, favoring American aid.

Things reeled along in this confusing way until March, 1970. Sihanouk, on tour abroad, was in Moscow when his premier, Lt. Gen. Lon Nol, ousted him in a coup. A week later came the fateful Nixon administration decision to invade against Viet Cong hideouts. This soon had Cambodia up to its national neck in the Indochina war.

In China, Sihanouk presided over GRUNK and FUNK, unlovely French acronyms for the United Royal Government and the United National Front. He got both Chinese and North Vietnamese help to mount a war against Lon Nol.

The Soviet Union cautiously sat on the fence, keeping its embassy in Phnom Penh, unwilling to move until sure which way the political winds might blow. From his exile home on Peking's anti-Imperialist Street, Sihanouk blasted the Russians as betrayers, and they in turn lashed him in newspaper articles. This went on for three years. Then the Soviet attitude changed abruptly. Why?

When Congress ordered an end to the bombing in Cambodia, Moscow evidently detected the knell for Lon Nol. By then Sihanouk had the support of most "nonaligned" nations for whose favor Moscow constantly contests with Peking. In October, 1973, the Soviet Embassy left Phnom Penh and thereafter Moscow recognized Sihanouk.

North Vietnam had been generous with both Chinese and Soviet arms for the Khmer Rouge and could reduce its troop presence to what was needed to keep supply lines moving smoothly.

In Phnom Penh, five years after the U.S. "incursion," the regime could claim sovereignty over less than 15 per cent of the land and a quarter of the people.

The rebels had all the options: they could try for a quick kill or rely on attrition, waiting for the capital to fall like rotting fruit, or perhaps be pulled down by its own enraged young officers.

Lon Nol, 61 and half-paralyzed by a stroke, left the country March 31, and since then his successors have been looking for a way to negotiate some sort of settlement to end the fighting.

On the other side, Sihanouk has said he expected to return, but nursed few illusions that he would be anything more than a figurehead. He has predicted that when the Khmer Rouge has no more use for him it will "spit me out like a cherry pit."

As for the Khmer Rouge, it has a ruling Politburo, but it is a shadowy affair and little is known about it.

The irony is that now Defense Department officials say neither South Vietnam nor Thailand will be seriously threatened by the fall of Cambodia. Yet the Ameicans put five years of desperate effort into trying to save the Phnom Penh government.

Certainly there will be speculation whether the Regime of Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon will be seriously affected psychologically by the Cambodian events. In any case, a period of monumental confusion seems in store. The Communists, meantime, seem to reflect confidence that what lies not too far ahead is an all-Communist Indochina.

Princess Lives In Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Princess Botum Bopha, daughter of Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, has become a resident of Australia.

The Melbourne Sun reported Wednesday that the princess, has been living in Australia for a year. She was smuggled out of Cambodia last year after being held hostage by the Lon Nol goverment.

The newspaper said that she lives in a Melbourne suburb with her two children and works as a supermarket checker. Her husband, Prince Metari Sisavvatt, is in Peking with her father.

The Panama hat was popularized by Theodore Roosevelt on his visits to his pet construction project — the Panama Canal. Panama hats are made, not in Panama, but in Ecuador of fine jipijapa straw.

All Roddy was doing was what so many others did (and do) — he had a library of old films. And with Roddy's run-in with the law, other celebrity collectors are stashing their hoards of films anywhere so the gendarmes can't take them away. It's a case of the bigger the name, the bigger the collection. And in Roddy's case, he had made tape duplicates of a great number of prints he had bought from a certain seller some time back. After making his own copies, Roddy had given the same fellow his list of the films he wished to sell right back to him. Along came the F.B.I., who busted Mr. Wheeler-dealer and found Roddy's list amongst his possessions. They came to Roddy's and confiscated his collection, and that's what it's all about.

JV Wins 14-11, Hosts Coronado

ABILENE—The Snyder High School junior varsity baseball team erupted for 10 runs in the 3rd inning and went on to outslug Abilene High's JV, 14-11, here yesterday afternoon and boost their season record to 3-2.

Kelly Ragland was the winning pitcher. He had some relief help from Phil Robinson in the 7th frame. Feemster, Willis and Armstrong all divided pitching chores for the hosts.

The Tigers collected 15 hits compared with 12 for Abilene. Snyder scored its other four runs in the 6th frame. Abilene tallied three times in the 3rd, once in the 4th, three times in the 6th, and four times in the 7th.

Snyder got its 10 runs in the 3rd off a 3-run home run by Ragland and four walks combined with singles by Dennis Buchanan,Calvin Reese and Lee Allen Jarrell and doubles by Robinson and Jarrell.

Abilene's three 3rd inning tallies resulted from two walks combined with singles by Eastburn and Daniel and a passed ball.

In the 4th, Smith singled for Abilene and scored on a double by Mitchell.

In the 6th, Ragland walked and Armando Rodriguez singled. Both scored on a double by Anthony Lewis, who came in on a single by Dennis Buchanan. Buchanan scored on a single by Jarrell.

Abilene's four 7th inning runs resulted from six walks combined with a single by Hines.

Jarrell got four hits in four trips to the plate for the Tigers, and he drove in three runs. Robinson went 2 for 5 with four rbi's. Kyle Sikes. Buchanan and Calvin Reese each had two hits. Smith led Abilene with three hits.

The junior varsity hosts Lubbock Coronado at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Moffett Field, then takes on the same team at 4 p.m. Monday in Lubbock.

Coach Albert Lewis said he probably would start the same lineup for the JV today except that Randy Gressett will be on the mound in place of Ragland.

Indiana Eliminates Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Winning playoff games should be old hat to the three-time American Basketball Association champion Indiana Pacers, but Wednesday night's 115-100 victory over the San Antonio Spurs was something to savor.

This was to be a rebuilding year for Indiana after a housecleaning of aging veterans. And, after finishing a distant third in the ABA West, the experts didn't give the young Pacers much of a chance against the menacing second-place Spurs.

But Indiana, with two rookies starting, beat the Spurs the first two games in San Antonio, grabbed a 3-0 series lead and finally finished off the visitors in six games.

Now Indiana is faced with the prospect of an even tougher series against Denver, the team with the best record in professional basketball this season. They'll begin Sunday at Denver, where the Nuggets are 40-2 this season.

The other semifinal series between Kentucky and St. Louis gets under way Monday night in Louisville.

Dr. Granberry To Speak At Banquet

Dr. Jim Granberry, former mayor of Lubbock and a candidate for governor in 1974, will be the featured speaker at the All-Sports Banquet for Western Texas College athletes to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 22, in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Dr. Granberry is a practicing orthodontist in Lubbock, and he is noted for his sense of humor.

Tickets are $5 each and can be purchased at a number of locations, including Snyder National Bank, West Texas State Bank, Snyder Savings and Loan Association, Snyder Athletic Center, Burgess Pharmacy, Faver's Fina Station, and the college business and activities office.

"We hope there is a good turnout to support our athletic teams," said Sid Simpson, WTC Athletic Director. "It's not every day a college wins a national championship."

Celtics Rip Rockets

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Houston Coach Johnny Egan is well aware that Boston is at its best when its running game is working, but his Rockets haven't yet been able to contain the Celtics' fast-breaking offense in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"When you get into a running game with that club, you're in trouble," Egan said Wednesday night after the Celtics had outraced the Rockets 112-100 and gained a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series.

The running game is what keyed Boston's victory and proved Houston's downfall. The Celtics got it going in the closing minutes of the third quarter, outscoring the Rockets 15-2 for a commanding 89-70 bulge at the end of the period.

"We didn't play our game," said Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich. "You have a tendency to play their game when you're behind. You can't do that against the Celtics."

In the other Eastern Conference semifinal, the Washington Bullets blitzed the Buffalo Braves 111-96 for a 2-1 series lead.

In the Western Conference semifinals, the Chicago Bulls also gained a 2-1 series advantage over Kansas City-Omaha, edging the Kings 93-90, and the Seattle SuperSonics tied their series against Golden State at 1-1, squeaking past the Warriors 100-99.

Dave Cowens paced Boston with 28 points, John Havlicek added 23 and Jo Jo White scored 21. Calvin Murphy led Houston with 30 points and Tomjanovich scored 21.

Bullets 111, Braves 96

Phil Chenier recovered from a woeful first half in which he scored only four points, with 24 points after intermission in sparking Washington's victory over Buffalo. Ironically, it was the first triumph scored at home for either team this season in four regular-season games and three playoff games.

Baseball Team Goes To B'field

The Snyder High School varsity baseball team, sporting a 12-9 record and a 3-2 district mark, journey to Brownfield Friday to take on the tough league-leading Cubs at 5 p.m.

Brownfield has beaten the Tigers twice in district play behind the superb pitching of Randy Rozean, and he probably will be on the mound when the two teams tangle again tomorrow.

Coach Speedy Moffett listed probable starters for the Tigers, according to batting order, as follows: Randy Gressett cf, Kelly Ragland 2b, Robert Alderete ss, Ernie Simons c, Richard Tovar lf, Danny Brumley 3b, Sid Perry lb, Barry Blalock rf, and Gary Greenlee p.

The same two teams collide in Moffett Field at 5 p.m. next Tuesday.

If the Tigers can beat the Cubs tomorrow, then they will be tied for the district lead. Brownfield is 7-7 for the season and 4-1 in district play.

Ryan Named Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Nolan Ryan of the California Angels, who struck out 22 batters en route to complete-game victories in his first two starts this year, was named the American League's first Player of the Week for the 1975 baseball season.

Ryan started the year with a three-hit, 12-strikeout 3-2 victory over Kansas City, then pitched a six-hitter with 10 strikeouts to beat the Chicago White Sox 5-0. They were the 68th and 69th games in which he's struck out 10 or more batters.

The word caliber, used in reference to a gun, is the diameter of the bore or barrel.

Dallas County Inmates Maintain Good Life Style

DALLAS (AP) — The average, law-abiding citizen would have to pay at least $125 a week to maintain the life style of an inmate in the Dallas County jail, a newspaper reports.

The Dallas Times Herald said it examined the cost to a citizen in the outside world of the services provided inmates.

The bill totaled $500 monthly but did not include the cost of clothing, church and charitable contributions, household furnishings, kitchen utensils and transportation which a citizen with his freedom might also have to bear.

If the average citizen ate the same meals served to the prisoners, he would spend about $140 a month. "Ask any crook who's been there and he will tell you the county jail serves food as good as any cafeteria in town and in most cases better," the newspaper said.

While in jail, the prisoner has the chance to become a full-time college student. Students attending a Dallas County Community College District pay an average of $32 monthly for books, fees and tuition.

The inmate's home is his cell. That costs about $25,000 to build. In the outside world, a $25,000 dwelling could mean about $260 monthly in payments, insurance and taxes.

Utilities bills could add another $80 monthly.

The free medical and dental services available to an inmate would cost an average family about $150 per year.

Because U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes has ordered that prisoners be provided exercise, the county has arranged an exercise program over closed circuit television into the cells. Private businesses here provide exercise programs to the public for about $37.50 monthly.

Other than that, the jail lifestyle means one has to be adjusted to being unemployed and enjoying a lot of color television.

Simulated Disaster Planned

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP) — Officials at the Dallas-Fort Airport have planned a simulated disaster at the main runway April 26 to make sure "the world's largest airport is also the safest," says field maintenance director Bob McKee.

Police radio networks in North Central Texas will be interrupted that Saturday morning with an emergency message which will summon about 1,000 persons into action.

A wide-bodied jet will be removed from the main runway and placed on the grass, where smoke bombs will be set off. Of the 240 passengers and 10 crew members, 100 theoretically will "die" and the rest will be "injured."

Airport crash fire units will be sent to the spot and hospital units in Dallas and Tarrant counties will swing into a joint operation planned in event of a disaster. Two hospitals — Parkland in Dallas and John Peter Smith in Fort Worth — will serve as trauma centers, transferring less severly injured patients to other designated area hospitals.

Students at the Tarrant County School of Nursing and Army reservists will act as the "injured."

Also involved in the simulated "disaster" will be about 150 area firemen, 16 ambulances, about eight helicopters, FBI representatives and Dallas and Tarrant County medical examiners.

Members of the news media will be given opportunity to interview "healthy" passengers at the Airport Marina Hotel.

McKee said the intent of the demonstration was to "save lives," and noted that in the life of the airport, it has maintained an accident-free record.

Support Urged For Ft. Hood Expansion

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce has urged "all citizens of Texas who are interested in a strong national defense" to support the acquisition of about 60,000 acres in Central Texas for expansion of Ft. Hood.

The proposed acquisition has been criticized by landowners in the area around the military base.

A resolution backing the acquisition was approved unanimously by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in the first day of its 49th annual convention here Wednesday.

Al Jernigan, president of the organization which includes 71 counties and about 3,000 business and industrial members, said, "The East Texas Chamber of Commerce urges all citizens of Texas who are interested in a strong national defense to actively support the U.S. Army in this acquisition effort."

Armco Asks To Resume Operations

HOUSTON (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. has asked the Texas Air Control Board for permission to clean up and continue to use 62 pollution-leaking coke ovens at its Houston Ship Channel plant.

Armco earlier said it would permanently close the ovens by July 31, 1976.

Armco officials told the air board in Austin Tuesday however that new technology, the natural gas pinch and a world coke shortage dictate the continued use of the Houston ovens.

The cleanup plan would cost an estimated $8 million, Armco officials said and would include emission controls on the loading and unloading of the battery of coke ovens.

Armco was to present its plans to Houston and Harris County air pollution officials in separate meetings today.

Body Of Missing Man Found

DALLAS (AP) —Sheriff's officers found the body Tuesday of T.C. Tidwell, 41, who disappeared April 9 while fishing from the bank beside Ten Mile Creek. It had washed about 300 yards from the spot he went into the water.

Titanic Survivor Dies On Anniversary Of Sinking

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Meyer Moore, 69, a retired El Paso shoe store owner, the age of 6 almost slept through the sinking of the Titanic.

He died here Tuesday, exactly 63 years to the day after the supposedly "unsinkable" Titanic, on its first trip from England to the United States, crashed into an iceberg and went down.

Moore and his mother, as Russian immigrants, at first had arranged to come to the United States aboard the S.S. Adriatic. At the last minute their plans changed and they booked passage aboard the Titanic at Southampton, England.

Moore spent the first day collecting from older passengers pictures of cowboys and Indians that European cigarette manufacturers included in the packages to stimulate sales.

That night he was awakened by his mother, who had been thrown from her berth as the ship crashed into the iceberg.

The pair found a lifeboat station and there, amid the crowd, was a woman who was asking where her husband was.

When she was told he was on another part of the ship, Mrs. John Jacob Astor gave her seat to Moore and his mother and went to look for her husband. Both went down in the Titanic that night of April 14-15, 1912.

After seven hours in the lifeboat, Moore and his mother were rescued by the liner Carpathia. He kept the ticket stubs, possibly the only cancelled Titanic tickets around today.

Moore is survived by his widow Henrietta; three sons, Ralph of Austin, Carl of Kent, Ohio, and Ira of Holland; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Woman Kills Doctor, Self

ATHENS, Tex. (AP) — A Richardson woman shot and killed an Athens physician Monday then killed herself, police said.

Asst. Police Chief Jack Brewer identified the victims as Celeste Morrison Cook, 49, and her ex-husband, Dr. John Cook III, 46.

Brewer said Mrs. Cook went to the physician's home and waited until the doctor's wife, Barbara, and his 5-year-old son arrived. Brewer said the two women scuffled and Celeste Cook held a .38-caliber pistol to Barbara Cook's head, snapping the trigger twice but the gun failed to fire.

Brewer said Barbara Cook fled with her son and called police.

Brewer said Cook arrived at the house and was fired at twice before running into the driveway to hide behind his car.

Brewer said Celeste Cook fired a third time, striking the doctor in the back, and then placed the gun to her own head and fired it.

A note expressing despondency was found in the dead woman's purse, Brewer said.

Cleaver Coming Home One Way Or Other

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I'm coming home one way or the other," says Eldridge Cleaver, the fugitive Black Panther Party leader. "After seven years of political exile I deserve it."

Cleaver was quoted Wednesday in the San Francisco Examiner as saying "things have changed" in the United States and he wants to return home from exile.

The newspaper also reported that Cleaver, 39, told a reporter in Paris that he sees his new role as that of a black philosopher rather than an activist, and that the time is ripe for social change in America without violence.

Plant Cancellations May Cause Power Shortages

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The utility industry, backing warnings from federal officials, says recent cancellations of power-plant construction plans may impose power shortages on most of the nation as early as 1978.

In a special report late Wednesday, the National Electric Reliability Council said such a situation could lead to "some form of rationing or planned power supply curtailment" with severe impacts on the economy and lifestyles. This is the same conclusion reached by Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb.

The council's report contained new estimates appearing to promise adequate electric power for the next decade — but only if the U.S. economy and its energy demand remain depressed.

Economic recovery, without a reversal of the trend to cut back power plant construction, would bring the threat of brownouts and blackouts everywhere except in the western states, the report indicated.

The entire southern tier of states and the East Coast could see their safety margin of reserve generating capacity virtually disappear, just about guaranteeing serious problems, the report showed.

In north central states, reserve capacity might be marginally adequate but too low for comfort, it said.

In most regions, power shortages could be avoided if power-plant construction improves or if the economy does not improve, the report showed.

But one region — Illinois, eastern Wisconsin and the northeastern half of Missouri — seemed headed for a tight power supply no matter what, indicating that at best the area may have to rely on help from other areas through interconnecting power lines.

Zarb, answering questions at a Wednesday meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), said he was receiving indications "that at our current rate, given a reasonable (economic) recovery, over the next five years we can be in a power-shortage position."

He later told The Associated Press he was worried that it might become necessary in the early 1980s to ration electric power "to certain industrial users to keep the local population living."

Other FEA officials said the agency's trouble-warnings were coming from members of state utility commissions.

Meanwhile, Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop told reporters he feared that economic recovery could be cut short by inadequate generating capacity or bottlenecks in the production of basic materials.

Zerb said it would be three to five months before the FEA could estimate about where and when power shortages might strike.

IRS Says Firms Given Returns

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says it gave the complete or partial tax returns of 8,210 citizens or corporations to other federal agencies in 1974.

IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander says the returns were disclosed under regulations allowing federal department heads to obtain the information by certifying it is required for investigative purposes.

Meade Whitaker, the agency's general counsel, said the returns were provided as a matter of routine in most cases. He said the requesting department heads usually were not required to document their reasons in any substantial form.

Whitaker and Alexander commented on the practice at a budget hearing Wednesday after Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., asked if the two officials were satisfied the confidentiality of tax returns was being safeguarded.

Alexander said such safeguards are made difficult by regulations that provide other agencies with access to the returns.

He said the problem arises from a section of the tax code that declares returns to be public record except for specified instances.

Alexander said the "thrust of the statute needs to be turned around." He said federal policy should be that the returns are confidential except for clearly defined cases in which they might be examined outside the IRS.

After the hearing, the IRS released the number of returns it had given other federal agencies last year and some of the reasons cited by the agencies requesting the information.

An IRS spokesman said 4,448 returns were given U.S. attorneys who were conducting a variety of investigations that did not involve tax litigation.

Another 3,228 went to the Justice Department for reasons that included Watergate, anti-trust, and a wide range of criminal investigations.

The Commerce Department received five returns for "integrity investigations" of current or prospective employes.

The other agencies and the number of returns they obtain-ed included the Agriculture Department, five; Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau, two; Customs Service, three; Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., 12; Federal Home Loan Bank Board, 50.

Also, the General Accounting Office, 342; the Interstate Commerce Commission, 9; Labor Department, 2; the Securities and Exchange Commission, 93; and the Renegotiation Board, 11. The latter agency deals with federal contracts.

Ervin Says To Face Economic Realities

DALLAS (AP) — Former Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said Wednesday night that this country "will fall into an abyss and cease to exist as a free society" unless it solves its economic problems by halting deficit spending, balancing the budget and reducing the national debt.

Observing that government fiscal folly dates back 45 years, he declared, "It's high time to face the realities of economics."

Ervin addressed the Temple Shalom Arts Forum.

Dr. Lamb

Fat won't help heart circulation

By Lawrence E. Lamb M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—When a person gains weight do the arteries and veins to the heart increase too? I realize they increase in the fat areas of the body, but does this also happen to the heart at the same time?

DEAR READER—Gaining fat alone will not significantly increase the circulation to the heart muscle. While gaining weight the fatty-cholesterol deposits that develop in the arteries to the heart may decrease the ability of the heart to increase its own blood supply. Eventually that can lead to fatal heart irregularities or heart attacks.

Actually the blood supply to a pound of fat tissue is far less than to most other areas of the body. The muscles are practically a bloody sponge compared to the bloodless fat tissue. The reason is simple. While there is a constant fat turnover the fat cells do not actively participate in using energy in the same way a muscle cell does. The muscle cell breaks down your food to final end products of carbon dioxide and water, releasing the energy to be used by your body. The fat cells merely convert fat into various forms to be stored or released, depending on whether you need energy or are eating too much and need to store energy as fat.

This has a lot to do with why muscles are "energy cells" that produce energy and make you feel good. It is why a muscular person will use more energy at rest than a fat person of the same weight will. Always think of muscles as energy converters and fat as energy storage tanks.

Obviously, if you want energy to enjoy living, you need energy-converting cells or muscles, not energy storage tanks.

DEAR DR. LAMB—How much does a nose job cost? How long does it take for complete recovery? Why would a doctor refuse surgery? Can a person have his nose the way he wants it?

DEAR READER—You had better ask the surgeon who you want to do the job as prices vary. Expect to pay $1,000. Perhaps more or a little less depending upon your doctor.

You will see an immediate change, but it will take three weeks for a good improvement, and you will see a steady decrease in swelling and after effects for as much as six or eight months after surgery.

A doctor may not think the patient really has enough variation in the nose to justify surgery. When the nose is the right size for the rest of the features and looks pretty good he runs the risk that such a patient won't be satisfied with surgery no matter how well he does the job.

Surgeons also recognize that some patients have other problems, sometimes in the psychological area that make it less likely that the patient will really be satisfied with the results. Expecting too much is one example.

Surgeons are particularly leery of the patient who knows exactly what kind of nose he wants. Sometimes what the patient wants won't do at all for the rest of the features. Talk to your doctor about what features of your nose you want changed, and let the doctor tell you what is best for you.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on Cholesterol, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the "Cholesterol" booklet.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Where do I file my tax return?

A. Mail your return to the Internal Revenue Service Center for the place where you live, as indicated on page four of the Form 1040 instructions and on page six of the 1040A instructions. If you received the tax forms package, use the addressed envelope that came in the package for filing your return.

Q. What is the rate of interest on unpaid taxes?

A. Starting July 1, 1975 the rate of interest on underpayments and overpayments of taxes, and on taxes not paid on or before their due date, increases from six percent a year to nine percent. The new rate will also apply to amounts of underpayments or overpayments outstanding on July 1. The law which increased this interest rate also provides for periodic adjustments in the rate, if necessary, to keep it approximately equal to the rate charged by banks.

Q. How can I obtain an employer's identification number?

A. Every employer subject to employment taxes must have an employer's identification number (E.I. number). The IRS will send you an application Form SS-4, or you can get one from a Social Security Administration office. Fill out the form and file it with the IRS office specified in the instructions on the form.

Q. What are the qualifications for income averaging and how is it computed?

A. Income averaging permits a part of an unusually large amount of taxable income to be taxed in lower brackets, resulting in a reduction of the overall amount of tax due. You qualify for income averaging if your averagable income exceeds $3,000 and if you meet the support and the citizenship tests. Averagable income is adjusted taxable income for the current year (called the computation year) less 30 percent of total adjusted taxable income for the preceding four years (called the base period). The support test generally requires you to have furnished 50 percent or more of your own support during each of your four base period years. If you file a joint return, both you and your spouse must meet the support tests. The citizenship tests requires you to have been a U.S. citizen or resident for the entire five-year period. To compute income averaging, follow the steps on Form 1040, Schedule G, available at any IRS office.

Strip Mining Bill Okayed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An overhauled bill which would allow the state to declare certain land off-limits to strip miners has been approved by the Senate Committee on Natural Resources.

The vote Wednesday was 6-2 although one opponent, Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, was so sure the bill would not get out of committee that he left the hearing early.

A minimum of six votes was needed for approval of the 11-member committee, and an earlier test vote indicated only five senators at the most might vote for the proposal.

It provides that the Texas Railroad Commission may designate as "unsuitable" for mining, for example, lands of historical, cultural or archaeological value. It could also prohibit mining operations that might endanger natural systems, or public buildings and roads.

The bill regulates only the strip—or surface—mining of coal, lignite and uanium.

It has been rewritten several times and has been amended 17 times in the past two committee meetings.

"It's critical that we pass a bill dealing with lignite," said the sponsor and committee chairman, Sen. Max Sherman, D-Amarillo.

Lignite coal has been promoted as a partial answer to Texas' energy supply problems.

The bill also would require the operator to "restore the land affected to the same or a substantially beneficial condition."

Ford To Inspect Offshore Oil Rigs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President Ford will be taken by helicopter to inspect an offshore oil rig during his visit to New Orleans on April 23, according to Rep. F. Edward Hebert's office.

Hebert's office said Wednesday that the presidential visit now includes a morning ground-breaking ceremony, a luncheon speech, a press conference and the flight to the offshore rig.

Another speech, at Tulane University, is tentatively scheduled that night.

When Sir Francis Drake started on his world-wide cruise in 1577 his ship was named the Pelican, but during the voyage he renamed the vessel the Golden Hind.

Bitterness Is Felt Among Viet Veterans

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Bill Pitt watches the television reports of seemingly endless North Vietnamese advances and worries aloud what his oldest son, Bill Jr., will think of his father's war.

"Why did you go over there for those years?" he expects the boy, now a third-grader, to begin asking any day now. "What did we go over there for if it was to all go down the drain?"

After seven years in and out of veterans' hospitals, Pitt, 32, has come to terms with the abrupt end to his eight-year career as an Army noncom and the loss of most of his right leg from wounds suffered in a North Vietnamese ambush.

But the probability that a Viet Cong flag soon will fly over Saigon makes his stomach churn.

"It tears me apart but I don't think there is anything we can do about it. I think we blew our chances," Pitt said during an interview in the living room of his house outside this Midwestern city of 43,000.

Pitt's adopted city sent its sons to war willingly, believing a succession of presidents who said the South Vietnamese government had legitimate need of American military help.

The price was high: 38 GIs from Newark and surrounding towns in Licking County never came back. A street in the adjacent town of Heath was renamed for two local men who died in the early years of the war.

Now with three-quarters of South Vietnam in Communist hands, there is bitterness among Newark's Vietnam veterans whose welcome home fell far short of the treatment given survivors of other wars.

Ex-Marine machinegunner Robert E. Bolton, 25, also Vietnam veteran, was laid off from his job as a printer with the St. Regis Paper Co. plant in Newark last month. He does not know when or if he will be called back and is currently drawing unemployment insurance benefits to support his family.

He was asked if the United States owes anything either to the South Vietnamese who worked for the American government or to those who hold important military or civilian jobs in their own government.

"I think we should take care of the people who are here (in the United States) before we worry about other people," Bolton said. "We should look after our own people out of work."

What about South Vietnamese who might be killed if the North Vietnamese move into Saigon?

"We don't owe them anything because they weren't helping us," he replies. "We were helping them."

And whether because of the war or Watergate, Bolton passes a judgment voiced by many of Newark's veterans on American politicians.

"I don't care to listen to them," he says impassively. "I don't believe them."

Jury Rules Gilyard Is Insane

DALLAS (AP) — A district court jury decided Wednesday that former football star Michael Gilyard, 23, is insane and cannot be tried on a charge of trying to rob the Mercantile National Bank here.

District Court Judge Tom Thorpe then ordered Gilyard sent to the Rusk State Hospital for treatment.

Police said Gilyard advised a bank teller in a note March 20, "This is a political robbery—only you can prevent bloodshed." Officers said he was seized by a bank guard after obtaining $3,400 in $50 and $100 bills. Gilyard was unarmed

A friend, former Dallas Cowboys football player Duane Thomas, was in the courtroom. Gilyard played schoolboy football at Dallas Lincoln and later was graduated from Stanford University.

Andrew Carnegie made a great fortune from iron and steel and left much of his money for educational purposes.
