

BLOCKS O' CARS!

The southern view of Cuyler Thursday shows what a group of car dealers and merchants can do. The men got together in the Chamber of Commerce and decided they'd make of Cuyler a shopping mall. And that's what it was, from 2:30 p. m. until 9:30, with new cars on display and turkeys raffled off. At far left, is the spot where a runaway teen-ager's auto slammed into several new cars, injuring one man. (Daily News Photos)

BRAKELESS CAR SLAMS TURKEY MALL

Near tragedy was averted about 8:10 Thursday night when a car driven by Pampa teen-ager Howard Lee Jobe, ripped through a rope barricade into Cuyler Street's crowded "Turkey in the Mall" promotion.

Miraculously only one person was injured, Clyde Jonas, owner of Clyde Jonas Motors, 119 N. Ward.

Jobe's 1955 Mercury, its brakes completely "out," rammed into two display cars, damaged three others and slammed one car into Jonas.

Jonas, taken by ambulance to Highland General Hospital, suffered a fractured left knee. Minutes before Jobe's car broke the Cuyler St. barricade, the display area was swarming with persons awaiting a "lucky number" drawing for turkeys.

Most of the huge crowd at the time was two blocks east of the crash between Kingsmill and Francis. Police Chief Jim Conner said most persons were unaware the mishap occurred until several minutes later. Music from loudspeakers had drowned most of the noises from the crash scene.

Jonas, in good condition this morning, told the Daily News he "never knew what hit him."

"I was talking to Webb Johnson, owner of the Highway Cafe, when suddenly Johnson yelled 'Look out, Clyde.' He jumped and I didn't."

Johnson said later he saw Jobe's car, knew it couldn't stop, and jumped clear. Jobe's car rammed into the rear of a 1959 Rambler. Jonas, standing in front of the car, was knocked over from the concussion and was hurtled into a nearby Vauxhall display model.

Chief Jim Conner said Jobe's car actually struck only two cars, but pushed both into three parked cars. Damages to the three Ramblers alone was set at $2,000.

Jobe, 17, a Pampa service station attendant, was tagged for driving with defective brakes. He told police he was driving east under the underpass, had a green light at the Atchison-Cuyler intersection and was crossing the street at moderate speed before seeing the rope barricade.

Jobe said he applied his brakes but they didn't hold. He said he "wheeled" his car around, avoided hitting a large display truck, but couldn't stop the car in time to avoid hitting two other vehicles.

Witnesses, according to Police Chief Conner, said Jobe was not speeding.

Police records show Jobe has been involved in a collision previously in April, 1957, and has been cited twice before for speeding.

BLAZE GUTS CC CLUBHOUSE

Fire early this morning totally destroyed the Cities Service clubhouse, three miles west of Pampa on the Amarillo highway.

Pampa firemen, called at 5:38 a.m., reported portions of the south wing were saved, but a Cities Service spokesman said the building will be considered a complete loss. Value has been set at $20,000.

SQUEEZED OUT

CHICAGO (UPI) — Frank D. Patterson told FBI agents he really hadn't intended to escape from a Biloxi, Miss., jail cell.

Patterson said he decided against making a break after crawling halfway through the bars of his cell window but became stuck and couldn't squeeze back in. So—he squeezed out.

WHERE IT HIT

Oren Simpson, repairman for Clyde Jones Motors, points out the damaged rear end of the 1959 Rambler struck last night by Howard Jobes' runaway car. Clyde Jones, standing in front of the Rambler, suffered a broken knee from the force of the hit. Damages to the Jones Co. three Ramblers was set at $2,000.

US Will Stand Staunch Against Russia In Berlin

Golfing Ike Confers With Aides On Tense Situation

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—The White House today, in face of Russian threats to upset the four-power occupation of Berlin, said that the American government will persist in its "firm intention" to "maintain the integrity of West Berlin."

This new statement of determination for American forces to remain on the scene in Germany came after President Eisenhower, here on a golfing holiday, conferred early today by telephone with Washington officials on the tense Berlin situation.

The President went to his office beside the Augusta National Golf Course at 7:30 a. m. and talked with Christian A. Herter, deputy secretary of state acting as head of the department in the absence of Secretary John Foster Dulles who is on a weekend vacation.

In Touch With Berlin

Eisenhower also talked with Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, the White House staff secretary, and Goodpaster's assistant, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, the President's son. Both Goodpaster and young Eisenhower recently returned from a European inspection trip.

(Reports from Moscow said the Soviet government was expected to deliver within 48 hours official notes to the wartime Western allies telling them that West Berlin belongs to Communist East Germany.

(The Russians were calling American protests over the anticipated move "scandalous ... routine brinkmanship.")

"The President and our government are keeping in close touch with the situation in Berlin, and also, as a government, keeping in close touch with the governments of the United Kingdom and the Republic of France," Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Praises Observer Corps

Hagerty said he would not spell out these "firm intentions" beyond saying they were based on this government's resolve to "maintain the integrity of West Berlin."

Eisenhower today also sent individual members of the Ground Observer Corps a personal message of congratulations and gratitude. It was for delivery prior to deactivation of the group of 280,000 volunteer sky-watchers.

The Defense Department has ordered the observer corps disbanded by Jan. 31 because the Air Defense Protection System for the continental United States is now in operative effectiveness.

"Our country is indebted to you for your steadfast, unselfish and willing service in a cause of vital importance to our air defense," the President said in his message.

6 PAMPA OFFICIALS ATTEND AREA MEET

By MARVIN OLSEN
Daily News Staff Writer

AMARILLO — Officials of 21 Panhandle cities — most of them in need of more tax money — met in the Herring Hotel here Thursday night for the District 2 meeting of the Texas Municipal League.

Among the 92 delegates were six Pampa city officials, City Manager John Koontz, City secretary Edwin Vicars, City Attorney Robert Gordon and Commissioners Ed Myatt and R. K. Parsley.

Principal speaker of the evening was Steve Mathews, former Pampa city manager, now executive secretary of the Texas Municipal League. In a hour-long talk Mathews told city officials "lack of operating funds is the most serious problem facing cities of Texas."

He said the state as a whole is "$100 million short of money," and added that the legislature must supply the needed funds somehow.

The state's only course, Mathews said, is to turn to one of the three "broad base taxes" — a state income tax, a sales tax or an ad valorem tax on property.

In cities, where tax problems are most acute, Mathews said "the line must be held against an increase in ad valorem taxes" — the type presently paid by Pampa property-owners.

"But more money will have to be raised. The cities will have to be allowed to tax anything not prohibited by state law or the Constitution." (That would exclude gas, cigarette and food license taxes, but would open the door to one or more of the three broad base taxes.)

Mathews complimented Panhandle area city officials for "holding the line the past few years against higher taxes." But, he predicted, urban population the next few years will certainly boom, more and more services will be expected, "and somewhere along the line, more tax money must be raised."

Following his talk on taxes Mathews explained a number of resolutions going before the next legislature. Many would directly affect all Texas cities.

The meeting opened with the naming of a six-man nominating committee which presented a list

BULGANIN REPORTED VERY SERIOUSLY ILL

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — Marshal Nikolai Bulganin who was replaced as premier last April is seriously ill and undergoing medical treatment in Moscow, reliable sources said today.

Nature of his illness was not disclosed. The 63-year-old Bulganin also was reported ill last June and in 1955 when he was unable to receive a visiting Finnish delegation.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev disclosed last summer Bulganin had undergone an operation in a Moscow hospital.

His 1955 illness was announced by the official Soviet news agency Tass, the first time such an announcement had been made about a Soviet official since Josef Stalin suffered a stroke in March 1953.

After his June illness it was announced that Bulganin had taken up the post of chairman of the economic council of the remote and minor Stavropol area. This was followed by his elimination from the Presidium of the Communist Party's Central Committee.

Last week Khrushchev denounced Bulganin as a member of the Malenkov-Molotov "anti-party group" which opposed Khrushchev's economic plans. This led observers to conclude Bulganin had been removed from his job in Stavropol.

Thursday Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, made the serious charge that Bulganin and the other members of the disgraced group "put the brakes on development of the Soviet Union."

School Board To Study Bond Issue

The Pampa School Board, at its next meeting, will discuss the procedure of a school bond election, Knox Kinard, superintendent of Pampa Schools, told the Daily News Friday morning.

A meeting was called for 10 a.m. Saturday but may be postponed until Monday, due to several members of the Board being out of town.

In the hands of the Board is a petition for election signed by members of the Pampa Public School District. The petition will be taken up at the meeting.

Increasing and projected enrollment may make necessary a $1,-$25,000 bond issue, Kinard stated. Funds to enlarge Pampa High School to accomodate 1500 students would be included in this figure. The present building was constructed for an enrollment of 900. Current Pampa High enrollment is 983.

FUGATE IS GIVEN LIFE

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—A district court jury today convicted 15-year-old Caril Ann Fugate of first-degree murder and imposed a sentence of life imprisonment on the tiny eighth-grader.

The seven men and five women reached their decision at 10:30 a. m., c.s.t., but it was not announced until 40 minutes later when Judge Harry A. Spencer reconvened his Lancaster County District Court.

Caril's fate was announced to newsmen jammed in a hallway outside the courtroom, moments after the solemn-faced jurors filed back into the courtroom following more than a day of deliberation.

As Bailiff Bill Paulson read the verdict to reporters, it was read simultaneously inside the courtroom by the jury foreman.

Caril buried her face on the Reds Willing To Quit Berlin?

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Foreign diplomatic sources said today Russia has told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer it is willing to give up its occupation rights in East Berlin in the interests of relaxing world tension.

They said Soviet Ambassador to Bonn Andrei Smirnov told Adenauer at their meeting Thursday that the Kremlin within the next few days would send formal notes to the United States, Britain and France suggesting replacement of the four-power occupation status in the old German capital.

American officials have pledged the United States would stay in Berlin and keep its traffic corridors open no matter what the Russians or East Germans do.

'THE PITCH-HIKERS'

Seven Quartets Will Warble Here

Seven barbershop quartets and a chorus will break into song at the annual Parade of Quartets Saturday in Pampa Junior High School. The festival, produced by the local Barbershoppers, will begin at 8 p.m.

The box office will open at 7:30 p.m. with general admission tickets at $1.50. A few good seats are still available at Richard Drug. Reserved seats are priced at 50 cents over the cost of general admission.

Quartets from Dallas, Amarillo and Springfield, Mo. will join the local boys in the 12th annual festival. All are members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

Pampa's three quartets are the Honyoks, Squeady Door Four and Chord Craftsmen. The local Society also has a chorus of 25 voices, taking in everyone in the club.

Emcee for Saturday's festival will be Wendell Heiney, member of the Spectackles from Amarillo. Heiney is well known to Pampa audiences, having sung here with the "Four Hearsemen," another Amarillo quartet. He is a former Pampan to boot.

Another well known Spectackle is Dwight Elliott, an ex-Hearseman.

In the past the Pampa show has starred four quartets that went on to be crowned National Champions. This may follow true with the Pitch - Hikers, a Springfield (Mo.) Quartet, after they appear here.

A high school girls quartet from Amarillo, the Coeds, is expected to add spice to the festival.

The Madcaps from Dallas are eagerly awaited as, say Barbershoppers, "they're as mad as they come."

Proceeds from the Festival will go to a local charity. For the past two years, contributions have been made to the Pampa Youth and Community Center's building fund.

B. R. Shultz, leading Barbershopper, thanks merchants for their part in making the show possible. "Without their ads," said Shultz, "the overhead would be terrific.

Lions Club Has Song And Sermon

The Pampa Noon Lions Club Thursday had a double barrelled program. One half was a barbershop quartet singing, the other half, a Thanksgiving sermon.

B. R. Shultz and his boys, H. Ousley, E. O. Wedgeworth and D. Balthrope, sang two numbers, climaxing with "Somebody Stole My Gal." The Barbershoppers are preparing for their annual choral festival to be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in Pampa Junior High Auditorium. The Lions heard The Squeaky Door Four.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, brought a message on giving thanks. "I'm glad that I'm not where I was a year ago," said Dr. Carver. "I was in the hospital.

"Don't take the blessings of wife for granted; don't take your health for granted," he added.

The Kiwanis Club has challenged all other civic clubs in a golf tournament Sunday, H. M. Luna announced. The Civic Club Golf Tournament will begin at 1 p.m. at the Pampa Country Club.

A group will go to Philmont (N.M.) Scout Ranch Nov. 28 to bring back Christmas trees for the Lions' Scout Troop's Christmas Tree Sale, according to Lion Bob Rasmussen. All Lions will have to take is a bedroll, knife, fork and spoon. Trees will go on sale at the Gwendolen - Hobart intersection in December.

The Pampa Noon Lions Club will not meet Nov. 27, Reason: Turkey Day.

shoulder of defense attorney Merril Reller and wept convulsively as the verdict was read in the room.

Caril's Sobs Fill Court

The sound of her hysterical sobbing was the only noise in the deathly still room. Reller patted her shoulder comfortingly as the grim jurors heard their verdict read by a court aide.

Caril's weeping could be heard above the judge's voice as he thanked the jury for its patient and thoughtful consideration of the case. She managed to raise her crimson face to look in apparent reproach at the jury box. But no juror looked at her.

Again she buried her head on Reller's shoulder and he took her in his arms.

County attorney Elmer Scheele, who handled the prosecution, had to be summoned to the courthouse from his home before the jury filed out after signalling it had its verdict. The empty courtroom quickly filled with spectators as the word spread.

Caril's father, William Fugate, her sister, Barbara Von Busch, her grandmother, Pansy Street, and an aunt, Mrs. Leola Campbell, filed into the courtroom and sat in the first row, immediately behind the table where Caril was to sit.

Then Caril was led in, walking more slowly than she normally had throughout the trial.

Jury Sentence Binding

Reller, who had sat immediately in front of her during the trial, moved his chair back to sit beside her. She held fast to his hand as they awaited the reading of the verdict.

Under Nebraska law, the jury's life sentence is binding upon the court.

Caril specifically was convicted of aiding and abetting mass slayer Charles Starkweatner—her redhaired boy friend—in the murder of Robert Jensen, 17, Bennett, Neb., last Jan. 27.

Jensen was one of 10 persons slain by Starkweather during a murderous rampage across Nebraska and into Wyoming in late January.

Starkweather was convicted of the Jensen murder May 23 and sentenced to death in the electric chair. He now is awaiting an appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The jurors found Caril guilty on both counts of an information filed against the 91-pound Lincoln schoolgirl. They were that she helped in the slaying of Jensen and that she aided and abetted in the robbery of Jensen.

Spencer limited the jury's possible verdicts on the murder charge to conviction on first degree, with the jurors setting the penalty of death or life imprisonment, conviction of second degree, with a possible sentence of 10 years to life, or acquittal.

Bob Holding Hope For Young Starlets

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bob Hope surrounds himself tonight with 10 of the most shapely, beautiful girls in Hollywood — his annual launching of the "deb stars" voted most likely to succeed in Glamour Town.

While ski nose ogles the girls they will be flirting with contracts.

For the fifth year in a row rapid Robert is providing a springboard to stardom for a pack of dazzling beauties.

Last year he put Vikki Dougan, Delores Hart, Joan Tabor and Erin O'Brien into orbit. The year before it was Venetia Stevenson, Dani Crayne and Joanna Barnes. In 1955 he helped launch Anita Ekberg, Mara Corday and Lori Nelson. Back in 1954 it was Myrna Hansen, Marla English and Karen Sharpe.

But 1953 was Hope's best. He introduced Kim Novak, Elaine Stewart, Anne Francis and Taina Elg. All were deb stars.

Best Crop Yet

"This is the best crop of girls yet," Hope enthused in his dressing room between takes on "Alias Jesse James," his new movie. "I don't know whether my show will help their careers — but it can't hurt 'em.

"I introduce them as the stars of tomorrow — but they could be stars today if they used their heads," he grinned.

"I'll be using some of them in future pictures and TV shows," Hope said.

A comedian needs pretty girls around. They make great shills. Think about it for a minute, all comics like to have sexy young things around while they're telling jokes. It breaks up the monotony.

All Use Girls

"George Gobel, Robert Cummings, Jackie Gleason, Milton Berle and all the rest have used girls for laughs — and some of them go on to be big stars. The gals, I mean."

In addition to the deb stars, Hope's shennigans were responsible for launching Doris Day, Shirley MacLaine, Caroline Jones and Joan Caulfield.

"Girls serve a different purpose in movies than they do in TV," Bob explained. "In pictures they help keep the story line together and provide a little love interest. They also give me a chance to wind up in a clinch.

Authorship of the Old Testament Book of Ruth never has been established.

SOLOMAN — Yul Brynner leaves 20th Century Fox Studios in Hollywood after finishing his role in the picture "The Sound and the Fury." Brynner will leave for Spain in a few days to take over the role of Soloman in "Soloman and Sheba," left vacant by the death of Tyrone Power.

Best Known Store Has No Real Santa

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's best-known toy store has no Santa Claus!

This came as quite a shock to me; I expected Santa with his "ho ho ho" and "what do you want for Christmas sonny?" to be as traditional with F.A.O. Schwarz as its catering to the carriage trade.

"We don't have a Santa because we don't believe anyone can imitate the old gentleman," said Charles Veysey, executive vice-president of the 96-year-old company. "Santas after all are to attract children, and we don't need to do that."

"One year," he added, "someone dreamed up the idea we should have some telephone Santas; let the children call and at least talk. The result was pandemonium. Our switchboard was jammed. Businessmen complained they couldn't get a call home to their wives to tell 'em what train they'd be on. We gave this up in a hurry."

Wonderland For Kids

But even without Saint Nick the store is a wonderland for children, and nostalgic adults at this time of the year. Especially a wonderland if pop is well-heeled.

Casing two floors of what Veysey said was 20,000 square feet of space containing 9,000 types of toys, I found these stuffers for the Christmas stocking:

A cedar log cabin, measuring six by nine feet, with porch and lookout tower, for $563. Veysey said eight already had been sold by mail order, including one to a customer in Switzerland.

A child-size Thunderbird, battery-powered for $507; an off-white monkey, who sits and smokes (honest), for $295; a six-foot, stuffed okapi, for $295; a life-like cow, who chews her cud, for 175;

A grocery store with groceries for $95; a toy refrigerator, bigger than some of those in modern apartment kitchens, for $50; a sink, for $72.50; and a two-story colonial doll house, for $218. "That includes the curtains," said a saleswoman.

Good Year For Missiles

Veysey assured me there are are plenty of toys less astronomical in price — some for as low as $1. But it's the larger sales that get mentioned most frequently. There was the year a customer bought an entire electric train display for $3,000; the time a Canadian bought a whole window display which included reindeer, huskie, seal, Eskimo and simulated ice.

Veysey said toy preferences run in cycles, and this year looks like a good one for individual items such as a ballistic missile, a satelite launcher, and a fish that swallows another. Sometimes even with all its years of experienth of a cycle.

STRIKING PILOTS FIND HOW OTHER HALF LIVES

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What do highly-skilled airline pilots do when their company is shut down by a long strike?

They find out how the other half lives.

About 850 captains and co-pilots have been furloughed since a mechanics' strike closed down Capital Airlines 35 days ago.

A UPI survey showed today that many pilots swallowed their professional pride when their pocketbooks were grounded.

Three pilots went from the complicated cockpits of turboprop Viscounts to driving taxicabs in suburban Montgomery County.

One veteran captain is digging clams along Chesapeake Bay — and happily reported he is earning $20 a day.

"I'd rather be flying," he said, "but I gotta make a living."

Other temporary jobs revealed in the survey:

One captain is refurbishing antiques — a hobby he turned into an avocation overnight.

Two are working a plant nursery owned by an Allegheny Airlines captain.

Another is painting houses.

Several are selling real estate. Five are giving private flying lessons. One is instructing in seaplane flying. Two are working in hardware stores as clerks. At least two are selling insurance and one is a part-time school teacher.

All Capital pilots receive $10 a day "subsistence" benefits from their union, the Airline Pilots Association (ALPA).

But these benefits fell far short of meeting all their commitments.

"You must remember that some of our men were earning as much as $14,000 a year," one pilot explained. "They have financial obligations in accordance with their normal living standards — mortgages, car payments, etc. $10 a day to a man making between $8,000 and $14,000 a year is an awful letdown."

POLICE PLAY SANTA; FIND TOT'S HOME!

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Santa Claus is better than a policeman any time, especially when you're five years old and lost. Police know this for they have children of their own.

A friendly policeman found 5 year - old Manuela roaming through the busy center of Nuernberg and took her to the station house. But Manuela couldn't remember her last name -or her address.

She looked around the station then and saw a telephone and asked if she could call Santa Claus whom she had just seen standing in front of a department store.

Sure, said the cop, and he called another policeman in the next room. What would you like for Christmas? he asked, and Manuela told him...a doll, a tea set, doll clothes...

And which chimney should the presents be brought down? The Santa Claus cop asked. Manuela's memory returned. She gave her parents names, the street address and a description of the house.

The police called her parents and gave them Manuela and the Christmas list.

Reds Willing To Quit Berlin?

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Foreign diplomatic sources said today Russia has told West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer it is willing to give up its occupation rights in East Berlin in the interests of relaxing world tension.

They said Soviet Ambassador to Bonn Andrei Smirnov told Adenauer at their meeting Thursday that the Kremlin within the next few days would send formal notes to the United States, Britain and France suggesting replacement of the four-power occupation status in the old German capital.

American officials have pledged the United States would stay in Berlin and keep its traffic corridors open no matter what the Russians or East Germans do.

'THE PITCH-HIKERS'

Seven Quartets Will Warble Here

Seven barbershop quartets and a chorus will break into song at the annual Parade of Quartets Saturday in Pampa Junior High School. The festival, produced by the local Barbershoppers, will begin at 8 p.m.

The box office will open at 7:30 p.m. with general admission tickets at $1.50. A few good seats are still available at Richard Drug. Reserved seats are priced at 50 cents over the cost of general admission.

Quartets from Dallas, Amarillo and Springfield, Mo. will join the local boys in the 12th annual festival. All are members of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

Pampa's three quartets are the Honyoks, Squeady Door Four and Chord Craftsmen. The local Society also has a chorus of 25 voices, taking in everyone in the club.

Emcee for Saturday's festival will be Wendell Heiney, member of the Spectackles from Amarillo. Heiney is well known to Pampa audiences, having sung here with the "Four Hearsemen," another Amarillo quartet. He is a former Pampan to boot.

Another well known Spectackle is Dwight Elliott, an ex-Hearseman.

In the past the Pampa show has starred four quartets that went on to be crowned National Champions. This may follow true with the Pitch - Hikers, a Springfield (Mo.) Quartet, after they appear here.

A high school girls quartet from Amarillo, the Coeds, is expected to add spice to the festival.

The Madcaps from Dallas are eagerly awaited as, say Barbershoppers, "they're as mad as they come."

Proceeds from the Festival will go to a local charity. For the past two years, contributions have been made to the Pampa Youth and Community Center's building fund.

B. R. Shultz, leading Barbershopper, thanks merchants for their part in making the show possible. "Without their ads," said Shultz, "the overhead would be terrific.

Lions Club Has Song And Sermon

The Pampa Noon Lions Club Thursday had a double barrelled program. One half was a barbershop quartet singing, the other half, a Thanksgiving sermon.

B. R. Shultz and his boys, H. Ousley, E. O. Wedgeworth and D. Balthrope, sang two numbers, climaxing with "Somebody Stole My Gal." The Barbershoppers are preparing for their annual choral festival to be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in Pampa Junior High Auditorium. The Lions heard The Squeaky Door Four.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, brought a message on giving thanks. "I'm glad that I'm not where I was a year ago," said Dr. Carver. "I was in the hospital.

"Don't take the blessings of wife for granted; don't take your health for granted," he added.

The Kiwanis Club has challenged all other civic clubs in a golf tournament Sunday, H. M. Luna announced. The Civic Club Golf Tournament will begin at 1 p.m. at the Pampa Country Club.

A group will go to Philmont (N.M.) Scout Ranch Nov. 28 to bring back Christmas trees for the Lions' Scout Troop's Christmas Tree Sale, according to Lion Bob Rasmussen. All Lions will have to take is a bedroll, knife, fork and spoon. Trees will go on sale at the Gwendolen - Hobart intersection in December.

The Pampa Noon Lions Club will not meet Nov. 27. Reason: Turkey Day.

Guilty Plea Is Entered For DWI

Garland W. Johnson, 36, 525 S. Cuyler, entered a plea of guilty this morning to charges he drove while intoxicated. County Court Judge Bruce Parker fined Johnson $125 plus costs and sentenced him to the mandatory three days in jail. His drivers license was suspended six months.

Police arrested Johnson at 1:45 p.m. Thursday in the 400 block W. Brown. Johnson has two previous D.W.I convictions, both in 1949 in other counties.

shoulder of defense attorney Merril Reller and wept convulsively as the verdict was read in the room.

Caril's Sobs Fill Court

The sound of her hysterical sobbing was the only noise in the deathly still room. Reller patted her shoulder comfortingly as the grim jurors heard their verdict read by a court aide.

Caril's weeping could be heard above the judge's voice as he thanked the jury for its patient and thoughtful consideration of the case. She managed to raise her crimson face to look in apparent reproach at the jury box. But no juror looked at her.

Again she buried her head on Reller's shoulder and he took her in his arms.

County attorney Elmer Scheele, who handled the prosecution, had to be summoned to the courthouse from his home before the jury filed out after signalling it had its verdict. The empty courtroom quickly filled with spectators as the word spread.

Caril's father, William Fugate, her sister, Barbara Von Busch, her grandmother, Pansy Street, and an aunt, Mrs. Leola Campbell, filed into the courtroom and sat in the first row, immediately behind the table where Caril was to sit.

Then Caril was led in, walking more slowly than she normally had throughout the trial.

Jury Sentence Binding

Reller, who had sat immediately in front of her during the trial, moved his chair back to sit beside her. She held fast to his hand as they awaited the reading of the verdict.

Under Nebraska law, the jury's life sentence is binding upon the court.

Caril specifically was convicted of aiding and abetting mass slayer Charles Starkweatner—her redhaired boy friend—in the murder of Robert Jensen, 17, Bennett, Neb., last Jan. 27.

Jensen was one of 10 persons slain by Starkweather during a murderous rampage across Nebraska and into Wyoming in late January.

Starkweather was convicted of the Jensen murder May 23 and sentenced to death in the electric chair. He now is awaiting an appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The jurors found Caril guilty on both counts of an information filed against the 91-pound Lincoln schoolgirl. They were that she helped in the slaying of Jensen and that she aided and abetted in the robbery of Jensen.

Spencer limited the jury's possible verdicts on the murder charge to conviction on first degree, with the jurors setting the penalty of death or life imprisonment, conviction of second degree, with a possible sentence of 10 years to life, or acquittal.

Mrs. Cobb died Thursday at 12:30 a.m. in the family home, 3608 Harrison in Amarillo, where she had lived since 1920.

Bob Holding Hope For Young Starlets

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bob Hope surrounds himself tonight with 10 of the most shapely, beautiful girls in Hollywood — his annual launching of the "deb stars" voted most likely to succeed in Glamour Town.

While ski nose ogles the girls they will be flirting with contracts.

For the fifth year in a row rapid Robert is providing a springboard to stardom for a pack of dazzling beauties.

Last year he put Vikki Dougan, Delores Hart, Joan Tabor and Erin O'Brien into orbit. The year before it was Venetia Stevenson, Dani Crayne and Joanna Barnes. In 1955 he helped launch Anita Ekberg, Mara Corday and Lori Nelson. Back in 1954 it was Myrna Hansen, Marla English and Karen Sharpe.

But 1953 was Hope's best. He introduced Kim Novak, Elaine Stewart, Anne Francis and Taina Elg. All were deb stars.

Best Crop Yet

"This is the best crop of girls yet," Hope enthused in his dressing room between takes on "Alias Jesse James," his new movie. "I don't know whether my show will help their careers — but it can't hurt 'em.

"I introduce them as the stars of tomorrow — but they could be stars today if they used their heads," he grinned.

"I'll be using some of them in future pictures and TV shows," Hope said.

A comedian needs pretty girls around. They make great shills. Think about it for a minute, all comics like to have sexy young things around while they're telling jokes. It breaks up the monotony.

All Use Girls

"George Gobel, Robert Cummings, Jackie Gleason, Milton Berle and all the rest have used girls for laughs — and some of them go on to be big stars. The gals, I mean."

In addition to the deb stars, Hope's shennigans were responsible for launching Doris Day, Shirley MacLaine, Caroline Jones and Joan Caulfield.

"Girls serve a different purpose in movies than they do in TV," Bob explained. "In pictures they help keep the story line together and provide a little love interest. They also give me a chance to wind up in a clinch.

Authorship of the Old Testament Book of Ruth never has been established.

SOLOMAN — Yul Brynner leaves 20th Century Fox Studios in Hollywood after finishing his role in the picture "The Sound and the Fury." Brynner will leave for Spain in a few days to take over the role of Soloman in "Soloman and Sheba," left vacant by the death of Tyrone Power.

Best Known Store Has No Real Santa

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's best-known toy store has no Santa Claus!

This came as quite a shock to me; I expected Santa with his "ho ho ho" and "what do you want for Christmas sonny?" to be as traditional with F.A.O. Schwarz as its catering to the carriage trade.

"We don't have a Santa because we don't believe anyone can imitate the old gentleman," said Charles Veysey, executive vice-president of the 96-year-old company. "Santas after all are to attract children, and we don't need to do that."

"One year," he added, "someone dreamed up the idea we should have some telephone Santas; let the children call and at least talk. The result was pandemonium. Our switchboard was jammed. Businessmen complained they couldn't get a call home to their wives to tell 'em what train they'd be on. We gave this up in a hurry."

Wonderland For Kids

But even without Saint Nick the store is a wonderland for children, and nostalgic adults at this time of the year. Especially a wonderland if pop is well-heeled.

Casing two floors of what Veysey said was 20,000 square feet of space containing 9,000 types of toys, I found these stuffers for the Christmas stocking:

A cedar log cabin, measuring six by nine feet, with porch and lookout tower, for $563. Veysey said eight already had been sold by mail order, including one to a customer in Switzerland.

A child-size Thunderbird, battery-powered for $507; an off-white monkey, who sits and smokes (honest), for $295; a six-foot, stuffed okapi, for $295; a life-like cow, who chews her cud, for 175;

A grocery store with groceries for $95; a toy refrigerator, bigger than some of those in modern apartment kitchens, for $50; a sink, for $72.50; and a two-story colonial doll house, for $218. "That includes the curtains," said a saleswoman.

Good Year For Missiles

Veysey assured me there are are plenty of toys less astronomical in price — some for as low as $1. But it's the larger sales that get mentioned most frequently. There was the year a customer bought an entire electric train display for $3,000; the time a Canadian bought a whole window display which included reindeer, huskie, seal, Eskimo and simulated ice.

Veysey said toy preferences run in cycles, and this year looks like a good one for individual items such as a ballistic missile, a satelite launcher, and a fish that swallows another. Sometimes even with all its years of experiength of a cycle.

STRIKING PILOTS FIND HOW OTHER HALF LIVES

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What do highly-skilled airline pilots do when their company is shut down by a long strike?

They find out how the other half lives.

About 850 captains and co-pilots have been furloughed since a mechanics' strike closed down Capital Airlines 35 days ago.

A UPI survey showed today that many pilots swallowed their professional pride when their pocketbooks were grounded.

Three pilots went from the complicated cockpits of turbo-prop Viscounts to driving taxi-cabs in suburban Montgomery County.

One veteran captain is digging clams along Chesapeake Bay — and happily reported he is earning $20 a day.

"I'd rather be flying," he said, "but I gotta make a living."

Other temporary jobs revealed in the survey:

One captain is refurbishing antiques — a hobby he turned into an avocation overnight.

Two are working a plant nursery owned by an Allegheny Airlines captain.

Another is painting houses.

Several are selling real estate. Five are giving private flying lessons. One is instructing in seaplane flying. Two are working in hardware stores as clerks. At least two are selling insurance and one is a part-time school teacher.

All Capital pilots receive $10 a day "subsistence" benefits from their union, the Airline Pilots Association (ALPA).

But these benefits fell far short of meeting all their commitments.

"You must remember that some of our men were earning as much as $14,000 a year," one pilot explained. "They have financial obligations in accordance with their normal living standards — mortgages, car payments, etc. $10 a day to a man making between $8,000 and $14,000 a year is an awful letdown."

POLICE PLAY SANTA; FIND TOT'S HOME!

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Santa Claus is better than a policeman any time, especially when you're five years old and lost. Police know this for they have children of their own.

A friendly policeman found 5 year - old Manuela roaming through the busy center of Nuernberg and took her to the station house. But Manuela couldn't remember her last name or her address.

She looked around the station then and saw a telephone and asked if she could call Santa Claus whom she had just seen standing in front of a department store.

Sure, said the cop, and he called another policeman in the next room. What would you like for Christmas? he asked, and Manuela told him...a doll, a tea set, doll clothes...

And which chimney should the presents be brought down? The Santa Claus cop asked. Manuela's memory returned. She gave her parents names, the street address and a description of the house.

The police called her parents and gave them Manuela and the Christmas list.

All Churches Planning To Stress True Thanksgiving

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Protestants, Catholics and Jews will join next week in an attempt to lift America's Thanksgiving celebration out of its turkey-and-football rut.

Church and synagogue services throughout the country will stress three facts about the holiday which the Puritans instituted:

1. Its historic purpose is religious — to express gratitude to God for the blessings bestowed upon this nation.

2. A spirit of thankfulness is particularly appropriate now, because America has become an oasis of abundance in a world-wide desert of want.

3. The most fitting way to give thanks is by sharing this abundance with the ragged, hungry and homeless millions of other lands.

Each of the three faiths will suggest a specific way in which the sharing can be done.

To Collect Clothing

Protestant churches will collect special offerings for the "share our surplus" program of Church World Service, the overseas relief agency of the National Council of Churches.

Catholics are asked to contribute 10 million pounds of "good used clothing" through their churches. It will be shipped overseas by Catholic Relief Services, a branch of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The United Jewish Appeal, sponsored by the Synagogue Council of America, will seek funds for refugees and other impoverished groups abroad.

Religious agencies are the principal channels by which Americans send "person to person" aid abroad. This year they will handle more than 80 per cent of all voluntary U.S. overseas relief.

The Protestant "share our surplus" program is a good example of the charity bargains offered by all of the major religious agencies.

Food Provided Free

One dollar contributed to "SOS" will send 300 pounds of goods abroad. Ten dollars wil provide daily bread for 600 undernourished children for more than two weeks.

The reason a dollar goes so far is that the food is provided free by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, out of its bulging warehouses of surplus farm commodities. The government also pays the cost of ocean freight, so that private contributions are needed only for the costs of overseas distribution.

So far, Americans have not gone overboard in taking advantage of this bargain. Last year's "share our surplus" offering totalled only one million dollars, which figures out to about 2½ cents a person for the total membership of the 35 participating denominations.

Church World Service promotional literature stresses the fact that this million dollars will send 300 million pounds of food to the needy in 53 countries. But if you pin down agency officials, they admit that this sounds like more food than it really is in view of the hundreds of millions of people who are chronically hungry.

Bishop Will Speak Here On Sunday

The Rt. Rev. George H. Quarterman, bishop of Northwest Texas, will visit St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pampa, Sunday. Bishop Quarterman will be the preacher at the 11 a.m. service and will administer the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation.

The Rev. William E. West, rector of St. Matthew's, will present several adults for this ancient rite of the Church. Following the service the congregation will meet Bishop Quarterman and the new members at a coffee in the Parish House. The public is invited to attend both the service and the coffee.

Sunday evening the Youth Group of the church will see the movie, Make Way for Youth. The young people meet at 6 p.m. and welcome all interested young people of the community.

Boy Scout troop 24 meets each Monday night at 7 p.m. Tuesday evening the men of St. Matthew's will hold their regular monthly meeting starting at 7 p.m. with a dinner. The mid-week service of Holy Communion will be at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday morning.

'Soul And Body' To Be Discussed

Recognition of man's true nature as God's spiritual image and likeness is a central theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" which will be heard in Christian Science services Sunday.

From the King James Version of the Bible will be read the following (II Corinthians 5:1): "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Also bringing out man's spiritual nature is this passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Rightly understood, instead of possessing a sentient material form, man has a sensationless body; and God, the Soul of man and of all existence, being perpetual in His own individuality, harmony, and immortality, inparts and perpetuates these qualities in man, — through Mind, no matter" (280:25-30).

Revival Will Run Through Sunday Night

Dr. Winfred Moore, pastor of Central Park Baptist Church, Birmingham, Ala., will be preaching in all Central Baptist Church services Sunday. The revival which has been in progress through this week will end Sunday.

Services are scheduled at 10 a.m. each day through Saturday and week night services are at 7 p.m.

The Sunday school is going all out to have 750 present Sunday morning. Goals have been assigned to all departments and visitation is being carried on in an effort to secure a large attendance.

Large numbers of visitors have attended from the Borger area where Dr. Moore was formerly pastor.

Scheduled for Saturday at 6:30 a.m. is a breakfast to be served to all the men of the church and their guests. Brotherhood President Charles Terrell, is leading the men of the Church in this effort. R. L. Ratliff is in charge of preparing the food.

Tuesday night the Billy Graham film "The Heart Is A Rebel" will be shown. Starting time will be 7:30 p.m. There is no charge. However, as is customary with the showing of the Billy Graham films, a free will offering will be taken.

Rev. Lanham Campbell, a Southern Baptist pastor in Denver, Colo., will be speaking in the Wednesday evening prayer service next week. Formerly pastor of Travis Baptist Church, Memphis, Campbell went to Denver to begin new work early this year.

Reunions Planned Around The World

ABILENE (Spl) — The Abilene Christian College Alumni Association has announced reunion parties around the world and throughout the United States for Dec. 31.

The gatherings will be of exes, students, parents, and friends of the College and will be called "Purple and White Parties," after the school colors.

Robert D. Hunter, Director of Alumni Relations, said that tape-recorded programs will be sent from the College to every party, and that some speakers from the College also will be available.

The ACC Alumni Office will assist local host communities by mailing out invitations and party information. Local party hosts also may get information about their parties in the Alumni News publication provided this news is sent in to the magazine staff before Dec. 1, 1958.

This program of annual Purple and White Parties was voted unanimously at Homecoming, Nov. 1, by the Executive Board of the ACC Alumni Association to reunite exes, parents, students, and friends of the College on the same night in as many cities as possible around the world.

Hunter has requested that persons desiring to have such a party contact him for information care of Box 57, ACC Station, Abilene.

"The Grateful Heart" will be the sermon topic discussed by Rev. Woodrow Adcock at the two morning services of the Pampa First Methodist Church Sunday. The 8:30 a.m. service is broadcast over Radio Station KPDN. The special music for this service will be the anthem, "Sing To The Lord of Harvest" by Nuernberg sung by the Carol and Wesley Choirs. The special music for the 10:55 a.m. service will be the anthems, "Let All Things Now Living" by Davis and "Now Thank We All Our God" by Bach sung by the Sanctuary Singers.

"Minority Influence" will be the subject Adcock will use for the Sunday night service at 7:30. The special music will be the anthem, "Thanksgiving Hymn" by Ringwald sung by the MYF Singers.

The following activities are scheduled for the coming week: Monday; 6:30 a.m. Prayer Group; 7 p.m. Troop 80; 7 p.m. Circle 6 — Parlor. 7:30 p.m. Prayer Group. Tuesday; 10 a.m. Kindergarten Choir; 7 p.m. Scout Banquet — Fellowship Hall. Wednesday; 10 a.m. Kingergarten Choir; 10 a.m. Prayer Group; 4 p.m. Carol and Wesley Choirs. Central Will Preem Latest Graham Film

Evangelist Billy Graham's latest motion picture "The Heart Is A Rebel" will be premiered as a significant event in the religious life of Pampa. The new feature-length color production stars Ethel Waters, Georgia Lee, and John Milford and is scheduled for its local premiere at Central Baptist Church Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The story is based on a conflict in the life of a modern young couple when the husband, an advertising executive, can't find a place in his scheme of things for his wife's sudden acceptance of the Christian faith. In a completely down to earth setting, the situation provides a dimension of reality seldom afforded a religious motion picture.

Ethel Waters adds a luster to her long career in the role of the practical nurse who exerts a profound influence on the young couple through her day-by-day faith in God! A film highlight is Miss Waters' inspiring rendition of "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" and the spiritual "Motherless Child."

Georgia Lee and John Milford give striking portrayals as the young married couple.

Georgia Lee's previous performances in "Oiltown, U.S.A.," "The Crescent & The Cross" and "The Flame" as well as her recent entry into the sacred recording field, have endeared her to audiences around the world.

Jane Withers makes a rare guest appearance in the role of a sales girl in a large toy store. One of the foremost child stars of yesteryear, Miss Withers has taken time out of both a busy domestic life as well as an active one in her church and with the Hollywood Christian Group, of which she is a director.

"The Heart Is A Rebel" provides a "front row" perspective of the Graham team in the Crusade setting of Madison Square Garden, New York City. The dynamic preaching of the evangelist is augmented by the singing of George Beverly Shea and the music of a 1500 voice Crusade Choir under the direction of Cliff Barrows.

This lastest World Wide Pictures production joins a long list of previous dramatic successes coming in the tradition of "Souls In Conflict," "Oiltown, U.S.A.," and "Mr. Texas."

ATOMIC PORTHOLE—A technician peers through a thick, radiation-proof "porthole," which will provide crew members of atomic-powered submarines a safe view into nuclear reactor compartments. Built with glass up to five feet thick, the portholes are made by Corning Glass Works, Corning, N.Y.

TCU Opens School Song Competition

FORT WORTH (Spl) — Ever want to try your hand at song-writing? Here's your chance!

A prize competion for additional school songs for Texas Christian University — to be used along with the university's Alma Mater and Fight Song — has been announced by Pres. M. E. Sadler.

A prize of $300 for a TCU song will be awarded to a winner in each of three categories: a presently enrolled TCU graduate or undergraduate student; a TCU ex student; and a TCU faculty member or professional musician.

To be eligible for the award, the school song must have a lyric appropriate for TCU and the music.

The contest closes at midnight Feb. 28, 1959. The manuscript should be signed by the composer or composers and be accompanied by a brief identifying sketch to justify the category through which the contestant is entered. Any number of compositions may be entered by each contestant. If two or more persons cooperate on a lyric or music, the $300 prize will be distributed according to their agreement among themselves should their song win the award.

The judges reserve the right to withhold an award if, in their opinion, no deserving work is received in a particular category.

Manuscripts should be sent to Dr. Michael Winesanker, chairman of the Music Department, TCU, Fort Worth 9, Tex.

The prize - winning songs, along with the TCU Alma Mater and Fight Song, will be recorded for a special TCU long - playing record to be released in 1959.

As in most other contests, entrants are urged to keep copies of their manuscripts since the ones submitted cannot be returned to their composers.

Services Will Honor Veterans

Rev. P. E. Yarborough will bring the morning message at Harrah Methodist Church, 639 S. Barnes, Sunday, Rev. O. M. Butler, pastor, announced. Sunday the Church will observe Veterans' Day, honoring retired Methodist ministers and families of the Northwest Texas conference.

Yarborough has served 35 years as a preacher, pastor and conference missionary in the Conference. The theme for the day will be "What Giving Does for the Individual." Special recognition will go to all members and visitors who are 65 or over.

Butler will bring the evening message. His subject will be "The Power of Passing On."

Dairying contributed 25.07 per cent of the total farm income of Ohio during 1956.

Pampan's Husband Gets Brice Position

PLAINVIEW (Spl) — George E. Arthur, senior ministerial student at Wayland Baptist College, has assumed duties as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Brice. He served as music director of the Baptist church at Lefors last year.

Arthur is married to the former Gwendolyn Barrett, a 1956 graduate of Pampa High School. Mrs. Arthur is a student assistant in the Science Department and has recently been initiated into Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic fraternity.

A history major from Sacramento, Calif., Arthur increases to 25 the number of student pastors enrolled at Wayland. He drives to Brice each weekend to conduct Sunday services and plans to assume full time duties there following graduation in June.

Miss Pampa Active

COLUMBIA, Mo. (Spl) — Miss Linda Steele, student at Christian College, was one of the 34 models who appeared in the annual fall Style Show this week in the college auditorium.

The show, on the theme "Football in the Air," was presented by students in the Modeling Club and included a variety of outfits appropriate for varied occasions, furnished by a local specialty shop.

Now a first-year student at the junior college for women, Miss Steele is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey L. Steele, 1344 Charles.

She was named Miss Pampa in the Miss America preliminaries, before entering school this year.

Sunday Will Be Victory Day for '59

Sunday will be Victory Day at the Pampa First Baptist Church, Dr. L. Douglas Carver, pastor, announced. On this day members of the Church and Sunday School will endeavor to underwrite the financial program of the Church for 1959.

This year's goal has been set at $160,200. In the past the established goal has been over subscribed by several thousand dollars. Carver expects more of the same.

Classes and departments of the Sunday school will bring their subscriptions at a special service during the morning. During the afternoon, workers will contact all absentees so that a final total may be announced at the close of the evening worship hour.

Volunteer workers will be at the church during the afternoon to tabulate results and receive pledge cards. A lunch will be served following the morning service for those who do this visitation in the afternoon.

Dr. Carver's sermon for the 11 a.m. service will be titled "The Baptist Wagon." At the 7:30 evening service he will speak on "The Attitude of Gratitude."

The Church Choir will sing two Thanksgiving numbers; "Sing to the Lord at Harvest" at the morning worship and "Thanks be to God" in the evening program. A men's quartet will sing in the morning. The men are Paul Barrett, J. R. Stroble, Joe Whitten and Dr. N. J. Ellis.

West Schedules Special Service

The Rev. William E. West, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, 727 W. Browning, has announced a special evening service for Wednesday, Nov. 26, to celebrate the Thanksgiving Season.

The topic of his sermon is "Your Seat at the Thanksgiving Table."

The choir of St. Matthew's will sing special music and the service which begins at 7:30 p.m. is open to the public.

The Weekly Message

Of Inspiration

T. O. UPSHAW, Pastor

Central Baptist Church

Where Are the Nine?

In the 17th chapter of Luke there is a story from the life of Jesus that very well compares with the day in which we live. As Jesus was on his way to Jerusalem he went through Samaria and Galilee. He entered a certain village and there met him ten men who were lepers. They lifted up their voices and said "Jesus, Master have mercy on us." And when he saw them, he said, Go show yourselves unto the priests. And it came to pass, that as they went they were cleansed. Then one of them that was healed went back to Jesus to give him thanks. When Jesus saw him kneeling at his feet, he said unto him, "Were there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

Somehow I can depict a note of disappointment in the voice of Jesus as he asked, where are the nine? I feel that the same can be seen in our day. We have been blessed more than any people in the world, and yet many never return to give Him thanks. He wants first place in our lives and yet some rob Him of their time, talents, and tithes. In other words many people place Jesus last in their lives and never darken the door of His church, for which He gave His all. Consider these and return unto the Lord. Don't show your ingratitude as the nine lepers did.

Must Jesus bear the cross alone, and all the world go free.

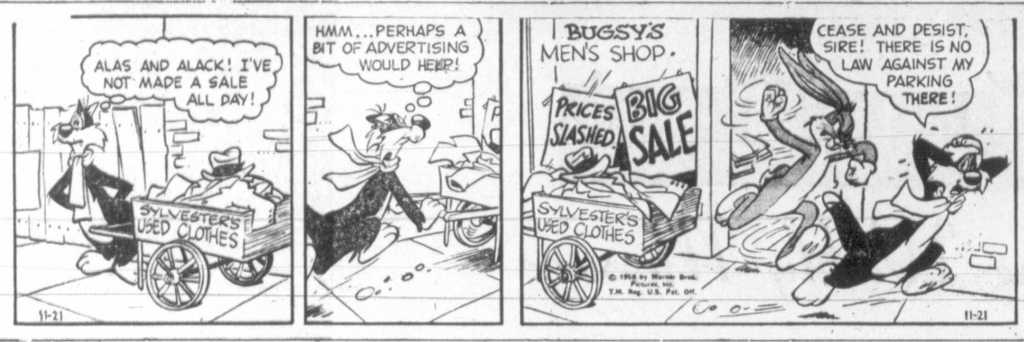

No, there's a cross for every one, and there's a cross for me.
The consecrated cross I'll bear Till death shall set me free;

And then go home my crown to wear, For there's a crown for me.

RUTH MILLETT

It's just as easy for parents to embarrass their children as for children to embarrass their parents.

So remember:

Not to call a small boy by an endearing name in front of his friends — if you don't want to make him squirm and wish you wouldn't.

Not to talk about how terrible today's teen-agers are in front of your own teen-ager and his contemporaries. You're not including them, of course, but they'll feel on the defensive just the same.

Not to repeat the confidences of your child when talking to your own friends. There's always the possibility they'll repeat what you've said to their children. The conversation may get back to your own child, and he will fell that you have betrayed his confidence.

To keep your voice low and quiet when you are correcting your child and the playmates he has brought home with him. Any child is embarrassed to have his mother scream at him or lose her temper or bawl out his friends.

To keep your promises to your child. After he has bragged that you are going to let him do a certain thing, he loses face if he has to say you've changed your mind. If you aren't sure in the first place, say so and give yourself time to make up your mind.

To refrain from discussing your child in front of him — whether you are talking about his good qualities or his failings. Either will embarrass him and you'll be lucky if he doesn't start in to show off or act rude and embarrass you.

Don't criticize your teen-ager in front of others. If you want to correct his grammar, his manners, or comment on the fact that he needs a hair cut get him alone to have your say.

Mrs. Cain Hostess To Needlecraft

SHAMROCK (Spl) — Needlecraft club met with Mrs. Ode Cain for an afternoon of needle work and visiting. Roses and mums were artistically arranged in the receiving room.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Fred Holmes a guest and the following club members, Mmes. John Harvey, Frank Sanders, J. B. Clark, H. T. Fields, A. J. Laycock, R. A. Nichols, A. R. Hugg, H. E. Pendleton and the hostess.

The Rileys Have Family Reunion

WHEELER (Spl) — Mr. and Mrs. Dick Atwood were host recently for a family reunion of Mrs. G. L. Riley and nine of her eleven children. Those present for the occasion included: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark of Fairlee; Mrs. Clyde Henslee of Denison; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mitchell and family of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Kyseth of Shamrock; Ben Riley and dughters of Oklahoma City; O. C. Riley and sons of Amarillo; E. W. Riley of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kerston of Wellington; Rev. and Mrs. Jack Riley of McLean; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chapman and family, Jim Erwin, and Mrs. G. L. Riley all of Wheeler. The two children who were unable to attend were Mrs. Eddie Jones, Springdale, Conn. and George Riley, New Mexico.

No matter how well- coiffured, manicured and massaged a woman is, if she is careless about her clothing, the effect is spoiled. An uneven hemline, a peeping petticoat, stocking runs and rundown heels tell their story of untidiness.

Miss Hefley Has Thursday Review

WHEELER (Spl) — Thursday Review Club met in the George Hefley home with Miss Wilma Hefley as hostess Thursday evening. Mrs. Earl Barnes, president, conducted a brief business session.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I married the oldest son in a family of twelve children. They are good honest people, but some of their ways are hard for me to take. When we visit them in the country my mother-in-law blows a whistle to call everybody to the table. You'd think she was calling hogs! She runs her house like an Army post; breakfast at 8:00, lunch at 12:00 and supper at 6:00 p.m. If anybody is late (including my husband, who is 28), he can't eat until everybody is finished and he has to eat it cold, all by himself. Don't you think the old lady is a little tetched?

SUE

Dear Sue: The "old lady" is far from tetched. I'll wager she never has a problem with children who "aren't hungry now" and straggle in to eat at odd hours. She's dumb like a fox. Hooray for her!

DEAR ABBY: Every night between 5:00 and 5:30 p.m., I pick up my wife with my car. As she comes into the car I always kiss her. Several times when we arrive home she says, "You didn't kiss me tonight!" I know that I DID kiss her but she forgot. This has been the reason for many fights between us. Can you give me some advice?

JAKE

Dear Jake: When you get her home, give her a kiss she won't forget!

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you in hopes that you will not only give me advice but will print my letter to warn others not to make the same foolish mistake. I loaned $500 to a good friend of mine. I was ashamed to ask him for an "IOU." I did not ask any interest, either. After two years, all I have collected is $50. When I asked my friend for the balance he actually looked me square in the eye and said that HE NEVER BORROWED ANY MORE THAN FIFTY DOLLARS FROM ME! Please, Abby, don't tell me to chalk it up to experience and forget about it, because I cannot afford to forget about $450 in cash. It was my life savings and I worked hard for the money. What shall I do?

TAKEN FOR A RIDE

Dear Taken: (And you certainly were!) It will be difficult to collect any money if you have no written proof that you loaned it. Get a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I have been living in the neighborhood of a peculiar-acting woman for six years. Our friendship has been an on-again on-again affair. Sometimes she is very friendly with me and then again she will tell me off and not speak to me for a month. Right now she is having one of her mad spells. Our children play together. I want to know if my boy should invite her children to his birthday party?

WONDERING

Dear Wondering: Let your child invite whomever he wants. Your relationship with the parent should not enter into it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MIKE": Distance lends enchantment. Get lost!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Keeping fine hair under control is a problem. One way is to shampoo it every day or two. It seems that fine hair feels and looks thicker after a shampoo. When washing hair this often be alert to dryness though.

Sorosis Club Honors Oil Men's Wives With Appreciation Tea In Church Hall

PERRYTON (Spl) — Members of the Perryton Sorosis Club entertained with an Oil Appreciation Day Tea last Wednesday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church. Special guests were wives of men connected with the oil industry around Perryton.

The tea table was covered with a brown linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of brown and yellow chrysanthemums and fruit, flanked by yellow tapers in copper candelabra. Mrs. Byron Tevis, president and Mrs. C. W. Foote vice president, alternated at the copper tea service.

A prayer of Thanksgiving was given by Mrs. Carl Ellis and Mrs. Tevis spoke briefly on the Federation Club Work.

"Come Ye Thankful People" by George Elvey, was sung by Miss Pat Haywood, accompanied by Miss Nancy Simpson. Piano selections were presented during the afternoon by Mrs. Bob Urban.

Pampa Closes Season At Borger; Bulldogs Picked In Saturday Tilt

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

The Pampa Harvesters, who haven't won a district game, will be going Saturday afternoon against a team which hasn't lost a district game.

As far as the standings are concerned, the 2 p.m. contest in Borger doesn't mean a thing to either team. Win or lose, Borger will be 3-4A champ; and win or lose, Pampa will be in the district cellar (though perhaps with Amarillo for company if they win).

The game means a lot, however, as far as prestige is concerned. Borger would like to make a good showing before a homecoming crowd, and go through the district undefeated. The Harvesters would like to salvage something from a miserable season, and have the honor of knocking off the champ.

Borger will be even more heavily favored than might be expected, because the Harvesters, during the past three weeks, have lost two quarterbacks and a top linebacker through injuries and illness.

Buddy Rawls, Pampa's total offense leader and number one quarterback, will see only very limited action, if any. He has a torn ligiment in his left knee.

Number two qurterback Ronnie Smith and linebacker Clovis Shipp are definitely out for the season.

Bobby Stephens, who did a fine job of quarterbacking last week against Plainview, will start at quarterback. Until last week Stephens had been used only on defense.

Despite his skill at calling signals, handling the ball, and generally running the team, he will be handicapped. He can't run or pass like Rawls.

Stephens may be spelled by Steve Dobbins, up from the Shockers, who have finished their season. Gary Wills may do some of the passing and a large share of the running.

Borger will be at full strength for the game. Fullback Isaac Robinson has been injured, but will probably be ready by game time. He isn't expected to start, however.

Coach Babe Curfman and his assistants, Dwaine Lyons and Eural Ramsey, have been working on a defense which they hope may slow up the speedy Borger backs. Almost the entire week has been taken up with defensive drills by the Harvesters.

Four men up from the Shockers may prove valuable defensively. They are linebacker Charles Geise and halfbacks Larry Taylor, Bill Cooper, and Roy Don Stephens.

Geise could prove doubly valuable if he can plug up the linebacker spot vacated by Shipp. That slot has been one of Pampa's defensive weaknesses during the past two weeks.

Harvester defensive starters will be ends Harold Stokes and Glover; tackles Benny Stout and Simmons; guards Bailey Clements and Larry Heiskell; linebackers Matlock and Scott; and halfbacks Stephens, Wills, and Urbanczyk.

TCU, California Go For Bowls Saturday

United Press International

California and Texas Christian practically "go for broke" Saturday when they make their bowl bids in the final big weekend of the 1958 college football campaign.

Victories by the West Coast's Golden Bears and TCU's Horned Frogs mean invitations to the Rose Bowl and Cotton Bowl.

The situation can become confused, however, should these teams drop their Saturday encounters.

California, 5-1, in the Pacific Coast Conference, has to beat hapless Stanford (2-7) to wrap up a Tournament of Roses meeting with Iowa, Big Ten champion. However, Washington State and Oregon State are only a half game behind the Bears and can become the PCC leaders if they win and Stanford upsets California.

To further confuse the issue, if all three lose and Southern California beats UCLA, the Trojans and Bears then will be tied for the loop lead.

TCU can avoid similar confusion in the Southwest Conference by beating Rice. An upset by the Owls will force a delay in naming the Cotton Bowl entry until the following Saturday. Rice, TCU and Southern Methodist then will emerge as possible candidates.

Bowl Prestige On Line

The Air Force Academy, West Virginia, Syracuse and Clemson put their bowl prestige on the line as they try to cement New Year's Day berths.

Ott Chances Said Slim

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Famous baseball slugger Mel Ott rallied slightly today in his grim fight to survive injuries from an automobile smash-up last week.

Physicians at Touro Infirmary here said the former New York Giant's chances for life were "slim but better" following eight hours of delicate kidney surgery in which an artificial kidney machine was used.

Ott and his wife, Mildred, both 49, were critically injured last Friday night when their car smashed head-on into another vehicle in the Gulf coast resort town of Bay St. Louis, Miss., near New Orleans. Doctors described her condition as convalescent.

Ott took a turn for the worse Thursday when he was brought to New Orleans from a Gulfport, Miss., hospital, where he and Mrs. Ott were being treated.

Snead, Hogan Trail in Tourney

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—A little man from Colombia and two long-driving pros from Australia led the field in the Canada Cup and International Trophy golf tourney today while such favored stars as Sam Snead and Ben Hogan took a first-round back seat.

Jacob Riis, Danish - American philanthropist and editor, first proposed the Christmas Seal method of raising funds to fight tuberculosis in the United States.

Area Rifle, Pistol Teams Form League For Shooters

Nine area rifle and pistol teams have combined this year to form a shooters' league.

Included in the league are two teams from the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club; two teams of West Texas State College ROTC men; two Borger teams (Adobe Walls Rifle and Pistol Club, and the National Guard); Canyon National Guard; Perryton Rifle and Pistol Club; and Amarillo Rifle and Pistol Club.

A series of 35 matches has been scheduled, beginning this week and continuing through April 10.

Prizes will be awarded to those with the highest score average during the year, and to those making the most improvement. A team trophy will be given to the league winner.

The two Pampa teams are known as the "A" team and the "C" team. Captain of the "A" team is W. F. Huff of Pampa, and captain of the "C" team is Tony Wellser of Pampa.

Sixteen of the 51 members of Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club are members of the two teams, according to Huff. The "A" team captain said that any club member who wished could join a shooting team.

In a match, only the scores of the top four shooters count in tallying the team score. The team with the highest score takes a match, and the team winning the most matches will be league champion.

Huff is optimistic about Pampa's chances in the league. "Our members have a 375 average per 400 shots now," he said, "and it only takes 350 to qualify for an ROTC shooting team, so we should make a pretty fair showing."

Huff said that the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club fired in a few matches last year, mostly with Perryton — and got beat most of the time.

"We were shooting strictly for fun then," he added, "we'll do better now that we're in official competition. We've got some better shooters now."

The two Pampa teams are firing against each other tonight at the Rifle and Pistol Club, near the Top o' Texas Rodeo grounds.

Huff mentioned that in addition to league competition, members of the Rifle and Pistol Club also have a small bore rifle shoot each Friday and a pistol night each Wednesday. On other nights, the range is turned over to junior shooting clubs.

Members of the Pampa "A" team are Huff, John Warner, Pete Coombs, Bob Coombs, Elmer Kilpatrick, Othus Pannell, Charley Thomas, and L. A. Dugan, all of Pampa; Tas Crowson, White Deer; and P. I. Crum, Panhandle.

Members of the "C" team are Welker; and George Tubbs, Dorsey Tubbs, Reed Errington, and Bob Dillman, all of Canadian.

Bi-District Schedule

Gruver at White Deer, 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Perryton vs. Stamford at Childress, 2:30 p. m. Friday.

Miami vs. Cotton Center at Hale Center, 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Groom at Happy, 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Tribe Gets Bill Martin

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — General Manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians, forced to give up two top hurlers to land scrappy Billy Martin, said today the deal could pay off both on the field and at the gate.

While admitting the Indians, "gave up plenty," to get Martin, Lane pointed out that the fiery infielder, "could make us one-two-three in next year's race, possibly the difference of 300,000 to 400,000 in attendance."

The Indians obtained Martin and pitcher Al Cicotte from the Detroit Tigers Thursday in exchange for pitchers Don Mossi and Ray Narleski and infielder Ossie Alvarez.

Martin, 30, was traded to the Indians exactly one year after he was sent to the Tigers in a 13-player deal with Kansas City.

Has Job To Do

The infielder, who played on six pennant winning teams with the New York Yankees starting in 1950, failed to show any visible signs of being jolted after he learned he had been traded for the third time in 17 months.

Boxing Match Set Tonight

Pampa boxers will have their first home match of the season tonight at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club, beginning at 8 p.m.

It will be the first match ever held in the Boys' Club. Opposing Pampa will be Hereford and Dumas. New bleachers, erected this week, will seat 500 people, and ringside chairs will seat another 100.

The Boys' Club is located on Barnes, one block to the left of Starkweather Street, across the underpass. Tickets are on sale at the door. Price for adults is 75 cents.

The Patric Trial

John Patric is a self-styled "screw-ball." Those who have read some of his writings may want to take issue with him. His book, "Yankee Hobo in the Orient" is excellent. Other writings of his include: "Simon Legree's Book," "Geographic Journeys," "Repairmen May Gyp You," and the play, "For Auntie's Sake."

We would agree that Mr. Patric is a rugged individual, with emphasis on the word rugged. When his home town of Snohomish, Washington, attempted to pass some bond issues, Mr. Patric had more than a bad word to say about them. He launched a one-man campaign to defeat them. The result of this campaign was that one day as he was going about his business, he was arrested without warning and put into jail at Everett. Following his arraignment, he was clapped into the Washington state mental institution for 60 days for purpose of "observation."

The psychiatrist under whom Mr. Patric was placed put the following into the record: "The differential diagnosis between paranoid psychotic reaction and paranoid schizophrenia applies here . . . I deliberately refrained from examining the patient personally . . . I preferred to base my opinions on the clinical observations of the other physicians. I feel that involuntary hospitalization of a mentally ill person is the only recommendation."

Mr. Patric was finally permitted to communicate with his friends. He began banging out a series of letters to a number of persons who knew him, including among others, Mr. J. C. Penney, who is a long-standing well-wisher. The result of this barrage of mail was that finally, after a period of almost four months, a jury trial was arranged in which Mr. Patric was permitted to serve as his own attorney.

At the trial, a number of items were brought up which were supposed to show that Mr. Patric was mentally unbalanced. For example, it was shown that he had begun to frank his own mail, a privilege supposedly reserved for members of Congress. Patric contended that if senators and congressmen could send mail to him that didn't interest him, he should be able to reverse the process and the taxpayers would be equally bound to respect his wishes.

He was accused in one instance of mailing a fishtail and a dead robin to certain parties. Franked, of course. He retaliated by saying that if others could send junk mail at the public's expense, then he should have the same privilege.

Said Patric: "I'm just trying to prove a point. If government officials can send unwanted information thru the mails free of charge, anyone should have the same privilege."

At tne end of the case, it took the jury just 10 minutes to elect a foreman and to bring in a verdict of sane. One character witness for Patric declared: "If you are insane, I'd like to be just as insane myself."

The upshot of this trail is important. Patric declared: "Eccentricity and non-conformity are not insanity. It is but an American privilege." The jury agreed with this statement.

This is just one more of the many cases which have come to our attention in the past several years in which persons whose conduct is somewhat out of the norm are presumed insane and sent packing to mental institutions simply on the complaint of some government official. In Patric's case, justice triumphed. But, unfortunately, this has not been the rule.

In California, not long ago, an elderly gentleman who opposed the United Nations and circulated literature to that effect, was summarily sent to a mental institution. At the time we first heard of the incident, he was still in confinement altho friends had rallied to get him out.

Lucille Miller of Vermont was sent to bedlam in Washington, D.C., because she campaigned against the draft law in the town where she lived. But for a timely assist from newspapers and from Westbrook Pegler in particular, she would probably still be there.

The Finn twins, who have had so many brushes with the law in their effort to own and operate an airplane they had paid for, were at one time confined in a mental institution for holding to opinions which were contrary to those held by the authorities. These are but a few of many.

Apparently, the mental institution has become in certain quarters a sort of inquisitionary device for punishing non-conformists. No human being, in or out of office, should resort to such tactics.

The Slow Turn

We are approaching the Thanksgiving season. And since we are reminded annually that this is the period in which we should count our many blessings and be grateful for them, we thought, as a little innovation, that we ought to pause to express our gratitude to the liberal lunatic fringe.

We are grateful to the modern political liberals because:

1. They have taught us to appreciate the few freedoms we have left by depriving us of so many. This is no minor thing. Most of us are prone to overlook the value of liberty. We take it for granted until we begin finding that what we had believed to be ours as a matter of course, has been stealthily and skillfully taken from us. Undoubtedly, there would not be nearly as much interest in freedom and liberty as there is, were it not for the inroads made against these things by the liberals.

2. They have become so overbearing in the thousands of regulations imposed upon us, that even the dullest among us are beginning to awaken to the realization that something is wrong. A case in point is the plight of the farmer. Hundreds of sons of the soil are now aroused to the point where they are resisting crop controls, wheat acreages, subsidy payments and soil banking. There is a strong move in our rural areas, which move seems to be growing, that envisages the removal of government from the agricultural business. This movement would not be so strong were it not that the liberals, the taste of tyranny on their lips, have over-reached themselves at this point.

3. They have been so free with our tax money which they are squandering abroad, that even our vaunted "friends" and "allies" in foreign climes are beginning to dislike them. It isn't that these foreign peoples are opposed to America as such. They are opposed to our "liberal" politicians and are making things hot for some of them. It may turn out that some of the best friends we have, as Americans, will be some of the people in foreign lands who, thru the liberal program of sharing our wealth, are beginning to find out just what we're up against.

4. They have been so oppressive respecting tax collections that already there are thousands of movements in this nation both at national and local level, aimed at curtailing their oppressions. These people could never have been aroused if only a modest tax had been taken. We would have despaired of arousing them on the basis of principle alone. People are impressed by size, more than by logic. And the liberal has done us a tremendous favor here by making the burden so huge, that no conscious individual can escape the implications. This tax program, sired by liberal brain-trusters, also gives us ground for a second area of thanksgiving. We can be grateful for the few dollars which remain to our use. Depleted in amount and deflated in value, we come to love and hold dear those tiny sums remaining in our individual care.

5. We can be grateful, too, for the unconscionable and vicious attack upon our Southern community. Here, in the realm of education, the liberal politicians have gone so far that they are inspiring a return to private schooling. It is, of course, regrettable that the return to freedom and independence in education should come about under the bayonets of storm troopers. But it is a wonderful thing that it is happening. And sometimes one must unmask the devil before he is recognized. The return to private schooling should have been a major objective in this country for lo, these many years. But at last, thanks to liberal oppression, it is beginning to come about.

6. We despaired of winning an argument for liberty by means of politics. Then, along came the liberal who infiltrated both of our major political parties with equal vigor. We are thankful for this double intrusion. Nothing we could have advocated would have done so much to awaken the mind of the average voter to the absurdity of expecting political solace by means of votes. Since both parties are so largely controlled, there is now a growing disinclination to vote at all, a fact duly documented recently by the Wall Street Journal. This is all to the good. If a vote for one man is the same as a vote for another man, when both are controlled and dominated by the same philosophy and the same powers behind the throne, a disinclination toward politics would be the natural result. Consequently, more and more people may find themselves determined to earn their own way, rather than to depend upon some political coup to provide them a sinecure. And this encouragement of the free enterprise spirit is cause for devout gratitude.

Yes, if we look at the liberal politicians with wide open eyes, we can see that in the midst of their doing so many things to us, we are beginning to learn, thanks to them, that we can and must do things for ourselves.

Basis Of Sound Education

Since I believe that our ethical and moral standards and our general well-being as to spiritual and material progress will be developed to the degree that we have sound educational practices, I want to quote from an article in the November issue of "The Freeman" magazine written by Ben Moreell under the heading of "Engineering Education."

Adm. Moreell is chairman of the board, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. and was wartime chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks and Chief of Civil Engineers of the Navy. He is very much interested in education and has quite a lot of experience in educating men. Under the subhead of "Bases of Sound Education" he writes:

"What, then, is the ultimate objective, the long-range target? I would say that it is the enhancement of human values as measured in terms of spiritual and material progress. The real worth of every human action must be appraised in those terms. And, the most important instrument available to us for achieving progress toward that ultimate objective is education. We must then face this question: What are the basic essentials of an effective total educational structure?

"It seems to me that they are four in number.

"First: Good teachers.

"Second: Good raw materials, i.e., a highly selective system for determining those upon whom the educational effort is to be expended.

"Third: Proper curricula.

"Fourth: Bricks and mortar — suitable equipment for use in instruction.

"An adequate discussion of these four foundation stones would take more time than is available, but I venture to set forth certain brief observations in light of my experiences and studies.

"The education of a scientist or engineer begins when he enters grade school. I subscribe wholeheartedly to the poet's judgment:

" 'Tis education forms the common mind:
Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined.

Good Teachers

"In this light, let us examine our current situation, first, with respect to teachers. Without good teachers we are sure to waste our 'raw material,' the students. The good teacher is not self-designated; he is designated by the student. It is not enough that he be learned; he must have learning that can be drawn upon. If I want to learn something, I look for someone who knows more about the subject than I do. And the more his knowledge exceeds mine, the greater his attraction for me. Good teachers always attract those most eager to learn and they also inspire. Teaching is an art, and every genuine teacher is a special kind of an artist.

"When one has something to value, it is natural for him to safeguard and protect it. Have we done this with our teachers?

"I shall not discuss in detail our profligate waste of teaching talent. It is notorious that we have failed to compensate even our best teachers for their labors. Also, we have failed to accord them the respect and standing in the community to which they are entitled. Coupled with this, we have, in many instances, restricted their freedom to teach by confining them in academic strait jackets, devised by the entrenched educationist hierarchy. Many of our most able teachers abandon the profession each year for more rewarding fields. Many who stay do so only for love of their service, and to our own detriment, we take advantage of that devotion. It is well-known that many of our teachers spend a large part of their energies devising ways and means of making ends meet, energies which could be better used to increase their knowledge and their service to the community. Unless the American people are willing to pay a fair price in terms of money, esteem, and academic freedom for the services of our teache: the quality of education will deteriorate at a time when we can least afford it!

"I do not mean to imply that there are no deficiencies in the training and talents of those upon whom we depend to teach our children. I shall have more to say about this later. But I do feel that the standards of compensation are set for the least competent rather than on the basis of individual worth. This is indeed profligate waste!"

Old Reporters' Tales Vary In Versions!

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

Old reporters take nostalgic pleasure in faking reminiscences of fakes which are set forth in constantly varying versions as having occurred witnin their own experience or having been related to them by venerable old stews a long time ago.

Calling on Ben Hecht for wraiths out of his memory, I caught him agape and the best he could offer was an unsubstantiated incident of the funeral of the prophet, John Alexander Dowie, of Zion City, Ill., who insisted that the earth was flat. Dowie also contended that Chicago reporters smelled of whiskey and cigarettes, and thus were subhuman creatures, like Chinamen in California prior to 1890, and fell outside the moral and secular laws against homicide. In a few affrays, Dowie and his disciples tried to make a test case, but multiple contusions, abrasions and lacerations, superficial, and charges of simple assault were the furthest they ever got. I suspect that in the instant case, Mr. Hecht, like the Supreme Court when at a loss, fumbled in the crannies of an undisciplined personality and invented more than he had on authority, in which case I think him for original matter.

Mr. Hecht related that one of the smelly urchins of the Fourth Estate, up from Chicago for the funeral, procured a fallen criminal lawyer, far gone in drink, to draw up and sign with Dowie's dogma that the earth was flat, confesing that he had smoked sweet caporals and beseeching the pardon of the outcasts who held forth in fetid lazarettos in the City Hall, the criminal courts and the Harrison Street Police Station. The document was passed from hand to hand among the hounds of Hell and, at a God-sent opportunity, an infidel agent of the press slunk into line to slip it under Dowie's head. Another zombie was planted a few spaces back in the file of mourners to pluck out this codicil and all seemed merry as a marraige bell until an officious curate of the cult independently decided that the lamentations had gone far enough and closed down the lid untimely.

I asked Mr. Hecht who this fellow was and he replied: "Old Harry Warl, or Yarm, you remember him, the guy who rescued a peck of $20 bills from the drowning bank in the Cairo flood, sort of a fat little guy, I will never forget thet diary, that girl who killed the veterinary, about 300 words, that's all. This detective was a friend of mine, we ran it two weeks, 15,000 words, sold a million papers, I got a $5 raise. How is your dad?"

The little black book, a standard prop of the standard seven-day prop of the standard seven-day murder in Chicago, fell into disuse by reason of inflation. When every paper has its own little black book of phone numbers with annotations of sexy import, no two alike, even the public sniffs.

E. F. Henderson, an elder statesman of Indiana journalism, recently recalled that he adorned the Crawfordsville Review with a zinc cut of an ancient wooden sidewheeler of the Cleveland and Buffalo Line when the SS Titanic hit the iceberg.

"A year later," he wrote, "The big flood swept down the Wabash past Peru where the Circus had winter quarters and, 'according to rumors in Crawfordsville,' wild animals were seeking whom they might devour. My colleague, Ed Burns, thought we could peddle stories to metropolitan papers about a polar bear which had floated some way on a cake of ice, followed by reports, unconfirmed to be sure, of depredations near Wingate and Richmond. But after a few days we began to think about the odium which follows through life persons who get money by false pretenses, prayed for divine guidance and let the matter drop."

Who can deny me when I relate that Booth Tarkington, coming through Neufchateau in 1917, told of giving a dinner in a Gasthaus at Oberammergau on a wartime Christmas Eve and getting Anton Lang and the 12 Apostles drunk? I have begun to believe it myself.

H. L. Mencken's bathtub hoax is again in print, but Sanford Jarrell, a city-side reporter of the Herald Tribune in the '20's, has suffered oblivion for a feat as great in the same way as Edgar Allan Poe's balloon hoax. Mr. Jarrell led the paper for three days with installments about a 20,000-ton anonymous liner off Long Island catering to metropolitan madcaps intent on carnality and alcoholic indulgence. The liner had facilities for both.

James P. Sinnott, city editor of the Morning Telegraph, tore it apart day by day and the H-T, far from honoring Mr. Jarrell's coup, measured him by the grubby standards of the city desk and dismissed him from our midst forever.

The Doctor Says:

Dr. Edwin P. Jordan

Why we are what we are is always something a bit mysterious.

Q—I am of Armenian extraction and have a rather dark skin and complexion. Several doctors say I am in perfect health. Therefore, I feel my dark complexion is due to an hereditary strain and not a physical disturbance. I have read that the skin color is determined by the amount and state of melanin pigment in the skin. My question is whether this can be changed by drugs or X-ray treatments to give me a whiter complexion.

A—It is correct that the skin color is determined by the chemistry of the skin, principally the pigment melanin. This in turn is determined by hereditary factor and by environment. A whitish skin becomes browner by the deposit of melanin when exposed to the sun. This is called tanning.

I do not, however, believe that there is any drug which can be given safely to whiten the skin. The attempt to do this by means of X-ray treatments would be highly dangerous.

Q—Twenty-one months ago, at the age of 52, I suffered a blood clot in the brain as a complication of childhood rheumatic heart disease. The accident occurred at night and paralyzed my entire side. To date almost all the affected parts have returned to normal, of nearly so, except my arm and hand. What would cause my arm to be so laggard and what chances do you think I have of recovering its use at my age? —M

A—It sounds as though the clot exerted only temporary effect on portions of the brain controlling your left side, but may have permanently damaged that portion which controls the left arm and hand. That seems to be the most likely explanation for the failure of the left arm to recover as did the rest of the left side.

Under the circumstances one cannot be too optimistic about the degree of recovery of the arm. But it may get better, and you should certainly keep on trying with such medical advice and assistance as can be obtained.

Q—Please say something about the treatment for a varicose ulcer which is near the ankle. It is painful at times. I am 70 and have tried several kinds of salves.

—Mrs. F. L.

A—A varicose ulcer at any age is not a condition on which to try home remedies. The best treatment is prevention; that is, treating the varicose veins which lead to an ulcer before they have gone so far as to cause such serious difficulty.

In an instance such as this where an ulcer is already developed, you should obtain expert advice and treatment. But I fear you are likely to have periodic trouble in spite of everything which can be done.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — This man is in metals. Silver and gold are metals. He is in silver and gold, in an international way. He is, I suppose, a big man, in a business way. He telephoned the other day and said: "Come to dinner. I want to talk to you. Just the two of us. I have a book in mind."

So, at 8 o'clock, I went to the penthouse on Madison Avenue. The living room was large and famed paintings — originals — hung on its walls. We had cocktails and then an excellent dinner with game hen and wild rice. In the midst of dinner, he decided to open the floodgates.

"You did a book on Connie Hilton," he said. "I read it. I feel I am in the same league. Let's get to the goal line: Will you do a book on me?"

"I don't know," I said.

"You don't KNOW?" he spluttered.

"No, I don't," I said. "What have you done beside make money? In varying degrees, anyone can do that. Has there been drama in your life, severe conflict, piquant moments? Have you ever been knocked down, economically speaking, and gotten yourself up off the floor without help? Have you ever been hungry? I don't mean skip a meal. I mean hungry because life took a wallop at you and you literally had to go hungry because you could not buy food? Have you ever had a bitter day, a broken chip of heart or done one thing good for anyone at a time when it was a gigantic sacrifice? I am not implying that you have not. I am asking you, simply, have you? Did you have to fight like a bulldog for what you have? Or were you just born, become educated and started making money? If so, there is no book, there is nothing to sustain one or justify it. Being successful simply isn't enough. Rockefeller would make a superb book, although born to vast riches. He has great color and great humility. That is Nelson Rockefeller, I speak of. His brothers are also estimable but lack that particular spark that is the difference between color and mere being."

"Well, I've had a few rough days," he said. "I can't claim rags to riches, exactly. I am not conscious of ever having really hurt anyone but I can't in truth say I ever really helped, either. I feel I am a colorful person, but you may disagree, since you seem to have to ask me if I have it. But I am American, I am not Communist, I can't stand them—and, getting down into your playground, I am violently against Charles Chaplin, for example. Good riddance, I say. You wanted truth. You have it!"

"All you say fails to interest me, except one thing," I said. "The Chaplin thing. Why did you throw that in? Do you know that Chaplin is a communist? Really know it?"

"Of course, I don't," he said. "How could I know it?"

"But you'd stop him at the door if he knocked at it?"

"I certainly would. Stop him cold and say he wasn't welcome."

"Interesting," I said.

"What's so interesting?"

"That you would send Chaplin packing, although you know no concrete thing against him, yet you have spent thousands of dollars for those two Picasso paintings on your wall. You let Picasso in and paid through the nose for the privilege. Picasso is an avowed, money-contributing communist. How did you let him in?"

"Picasso — why, Picasso is a great artist."

"I think Chaplin is, too. I certainly don't admire all that he stands for and think he made unfortunate decisions. Many artists have. It lessens him, perhaps, as a man, but not as an artist."

"This is silly," he said. "Everyone who can afford it and has tastes in that direction buys Picasso work. I don't feel I am letting a communist into my house. An artist, yes."

There isn't going to be any book.

Whereas, The Broadmoor Saves The Day, Or Does It!

By HENRY McLEMORE

When I learned that neither J. Edgar Hoover nor the 2nd Armored Division was available for baby-sitting, I canceled all my night engagements for the next twelve years.

Megan, I decided, never would be left alone in the evening with anyone less dependable than the head of the F.B.I., or a combat-ready outfit.

Then, here in Colorado Springs, at the Broadmoor Hotel, I was dismayed to learn that if a father stayed too much with his baby girl he ran the risk of having the girl grow up to look like him.

That shook me. Better to have Megan pinched, or given a cold bottle, than to have her face life with a face even slightly reminiscent of mine. Were that to happen to her she would be sure to bring up the rear of every cotillion, and would have to play field hockey to get her picture in the papers.

The Broadmoor, which has everything under the sun for its guests, from polo to Pike's Peak, bowling to broncho riding, said it would be happy to provide a qualified sitter. It was early in the afternoon when I was given the name of Cathie Anderson, and as she was not to report until seven in the evening, I had full four hours to make a security check.

I needed every minute of it. Postional poll that was interested in ing as a question - asker for a national poll that was interested in finding out all there was to know about 16-year-old girls named Cathie, I went to Cathie's home.

I discovered that Cathie was a senior in high school at 16, liked poetry, was a voracious reader (10 boks a week), liked boys, especially one named Bob Harmon, was saving her money for a trip to Dallas in December, was five feet two inches tall, weighed 117 pounds, and was born in Milltown, Wisconsin, but had lived in Colorado Springs for 12 years.

A good start, but it left much to be done. A call to Milltown, Wisconsin, established the fact that Cathie had left there with a clear record, and was one of the most highly liked babies in town at the time of her move to Colorado.

I tried to reach her boy friend, Bob Harmon, but he was out. I was able to learn, however, that Bob himself was a sterling young man.

When Cathie arrived she had a book of baby poems under her arm to read to Megan, and said she had been baby-sitting for several years, knew all about feeding and changing them, and that my wife and I could go out without a worry.

She was charming and obviously efficient.

She was wrong about my not worrying, however. We went to a dance, but most of my dancing was done back and forth to the pay telephone. I handed out dimes faster than Rockefeller ever did.

At the 30th call, Cathie got stern.

"The baby is as happy as can be, and would have been sleeping all the time if you, Mr. McLemore, wouldn't keep ringing the phone."

For some reason, the voice didn't sound like Cathie's. Dreadful thoughts went through my mind. There was a ringer up there with Megan. I dragged Mary from the dance at 9:30 and rushed home.

There sat Cathie and the baby, as content as could be.

FLIGHT FROM THE DOLLAR

(The Wall Street Journal)

One of the more puzzling things around Wall Street these days has been the sharp upward march of the stock market in the face of lower earnings, reduced and sometimes omitted dividends. And as brokers, economists and other commentators seek an explanation, we hear more and more often a very ominous phrase.

A few examples will illustrate many. The E. F. Hutton company thinks the rising stock market and declining bond market "underscores the flight from the dollar." Reynolds and Company comments that last week "the flight from the dollar, which has been gathering momentum in recent weeks, turned into a stampede."

The same note is struck across the country. Wayne Hummer and Company of Chicago observes that the "answer can be that investors have more confidence in the future value of stocks than they have in the dollar's stability." And the market comment of Daniel Reeves and Company of Beverly Hills is both pointed and poignant: "It is sad but true that few people any longer believe that our currency can ever be worth more in terms of buying power and most likely will ultimately be worth considerably less."

Now admittedly many market comments are not necessarily compendiums of wisdom. Still, brokerage houses are by the nature of their business close to people who are concerned about how to manage their savings for an uncertain future. And when they note, with so much unanimity, such a strong feeling of fear about the dollar then it is surely time to pay attention.

Hour TV Dramas In Form Of Thrillers Were Fair

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two CBS-TV shows presented hour dramas Wednesday night that, I suppose, were offered as thrillers. Both managed to avoid agitating my nerve ends to any discernible extent.

One was one of those Irish Republican Army things where everyone acts irrationally amidst dulcet sounds and it was proffered by the "U.S. Steel Hour," a program that has racked up a record of amazingly consistent mediocrity recently.

Wednesday night's steel show employed Barry Sullivan, Philip Bourneuf and Geraldine Brooks, all of them players of competence. But they were thrown into a situation where prospective murderers acted foolishly, their victim foolishly and the victim's wife foolishly. It was all. . .well, kind of foolish.

The other CBS-TV drama show, "Pursuit," shows every sign—as I said at the beginning of the season — of becoming another "Climax" show. You remember "Climax" — it was a rather tedious hour of theatrics which folded last season.

Wednesday night's "Pursuit"—"Kiss Me Again, Stranger"—was cast in the typical "Climax" mold: A suspense show without suspense. An action story without action. A thriller that more closely resembled twitter. Margaret O'Brien and Jeffrey Hunter struggled with a couple of icky roles. Myron McCormick and Mort Sahl were wasted.

Short Shots: Helen Traubel laughs so heartily at so little—witness her 30 second appearance on Wednesday night's NBC-TV 'Milton Berle Show" — that I suspect she records the sound tracks for all of TV's dreary little situation comedies. . .On the two occasions on which I've caught Elsa Lanchester on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," she has struck me as a charming and witty woman. Only one thing—Wednesday night in watching her, I had the weird feeling that she bore a strange resemblance to the late poet Dylan Thomas.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV's "Sammy Kaye Show" is ticketed for the graveyard. CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" is preparing a profile of Woodrow Wilson. Hermione Gingold, a semi-regular on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," will have her memoirs, "The World Is Square," published on Dec. 10.

Martin Manulis, former boss of CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90," is supervising production of a 20th Century-Fox TV pilot film about a college freshman, "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" — Max Shulman is writing the script. Edward Downes will take over the intermission quizmaster job on CBS Radio's Metropolitan Opera broadcasts when they uncork on Nov. 29 with "Carmen." Downes father, Olin, also held the quiz job several seasons back.

Ann Loring, who plays "Tammy" on CBS-TV's "Love of Life," has sold a play, "Autumn Decision," to a Broadway producer. Arthur Godfrey has booked in Red Barber, Sam Levenson and Robert Briscoe, former lord mayor of Dublin, for chat sessions on his CBS-TV morning show.

BUCK BUYS LONG STRETCH OF LAND

GREENVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—Sounds like a bargain when a firm acquires a piece of land 125 feet in length for just a dollar but not in this case.

The Greenville City Council sold the property to the Delta Commercial Property Development Corp. for that amount to clear up any possible legal trouble in the future.

The reason: Surveyers found that a building owned by Delta infringed on city property.

The strip of land is only three-quarters of an inch wide, giving it a total area of less than eight square feet.

Community Shaken By Union Shooting

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A week ago today a business executive shot to death a union organizer who had been causing trouble at his unionized plant. The executive is in jail awaiting legal action. UPI sent James L. Kilgallen, who has covered many major crime stories in his long career as a reporter, to the scene to bring this incident up to date. His dispatch follows).

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
United Press International

CHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — This community of 3,000 population is greatly stirred up by an unusual homicide — the shooting to death of a union organizer by a factory president plagued by union trouble.

In jail in nearby Goshen, awaiting possible grand jury action, is Malcolm R. White, 48, mild-appearing head of Chester Cable Corp., which manufactures cable and electrical wiring. The man he killed was Alfred Dugan, 52, a dapper 6-footer who had been trying to dislodge one union within White's plant and substitute his own local.

"It was justifiable homicide," said Henry Hirschberg, newly-appointed counsel for White.

"The defendant is not in the criminal class. He is a man who led a good life and got involved in an unfortunate episode. He had never committed a crime. He tells me he was in terror of Dugan. He says he knew Dugan had a criminal record."

Had Feared Attack

The paths of White and Dugan crossed half a mile from White's picketed plant at about 8:20 last Thursday morning. White claims, according to Hirschberg, that as Dugan came toward White he had his hand in his pocket and that White thought the man was going to attack him. White "wanted to protect himself," said Hirschberg. White emptied his .32 calibre automatic into Dugan.

Hirschberg's first move in White's defense was to request an open public hearing for White. In letters to Magistrate Peter B. Bush and Orange County Dist. Atty. Abraham S. Isseks, he urged such a hearing as soon as possible, preferably next week.

The grand jury has not yet acted in the case. If Hirschberg's move fails, he said he will then have to wait and see whether the grand jury returns an indictment against White—or not.

Hirschberg said today that the defendant will not claim duress. The attorney pointed out that White willingly gave himself up.

If White is brought to trial for the killing of Dugan, his defense will be "self-defense," according to Hirschberg. The lawyer said he would contend it was a case of justifiable homicide and that White is entitled to acquittal.

Hirschberg is a colorful attorney and well-known in this region. He is 79 years old and is a veteran of almost 100 murder cases in which he acted as either prosecutor or counsel for the defense. He was once an attorney for Harry K. Thaw.

"I hink White should be freed," said Hirschberg. "I am not working for a plea of less than first degree murder. I want him out of jail a free man."

Mrs. Eleanor White, the defendant's wife, has visited her husband in the Goshen jail several times since his arrest. She is White's second wife. White has three children, two by his first wife and one by his present wife.

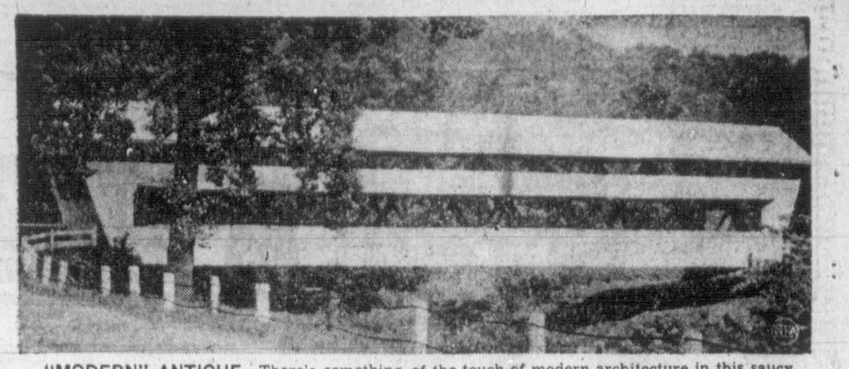

Growers Of Cotton May Cast Ballots

Farmers engaged in the production of cotton this year will be eligible to vote Dec. 15 on the cotton marketing quota referendum, described by the Gray county A.S.C. office, as a "referendum of vital concern to every cotton grower."

A favorable two-thirds vote will put the quota program into operation at least one more year. Cotton growers will then have a choice between (A) complying with their "regular" allotments — with price supports of not less than 80 percent on upland cotton, or (B) complying with an allotment increased 40 percent over the "regular" allotment — with a price support level at 15 percent or lower.

An unfavorable referendum vote will result in elimination of quota penalties. Only the "regular" allotment would be available, and the price support would drop to 50 percent of parity.

Referendum balloting will be held between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 15 at either the McLean City Hall or the Pampa Courthouse.

"MODERN" ANTIQUE—There's something of the touch of modern architecture in this saucy old Ohio landmark. One of the few covered bridges left in the state, it spans Clearcreek in Fairfield County. Its modern lines came about when its formerly enclosed sides were opened for auto safety reasons.

Former Veep, Garner Gives Up Cigars, Drink For 90th

UVALDE, Tex. (UPI)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner, who intends to live until he's 92, disclosed today as he approached his 90th birthday that he has given up cigars and whiskey.

"Used them both for 70 years," said the white-haired Texan, but he indicated it was a simple matter to break the habit.

"You just make up your mind. I decided they weren't good for my health, and I think more of my health than anything," he said.

"Cactus Jack," who served as Franklin D. Roosevelt's vice president from 1933 to 1941, will be 90 years old Saturday. He spent 46 of his years in public life and he's determined to live until he's spent an equal amount of time as a private citizen.

Receives Visitors

Garner told United Press International that he "gave up cigars Oct. 8, and haven't touched whiskey since Oct. 6." He has also become a vegetarian, having decided to quit eating meat, including his beloved venison, when he found he had trouble digesting it.

"Old age," he explained as he sat with his gnarled fingers laced across his midriff.

Garner chats with friends and receives occasional visitors seated in a weathered white and green metal lawn chair in the front room of his modest white wooden home here. His sparse frame is bolstered by two cushions.

On his head was a green plastic eye-shade. He wore a rumpled khaki shirt, baggy khaki trousers and soft leather house slippers. A watch, secured to a gold chain fastened to a button hole in his collar, sagged in his left shirt pocket.

Don't Overeat

Garner doesn't wear glasses, but he frequently cups a hand to his right ear while listening.

When he speaks, it is about politics, civic responsibilities — and health.

"For a long life, don't overeat," Garner said. "It will kill you faster than anything."

Then, jabbing a finger at his listener, he asked, "why do you think Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson had heart attacks?"

Garner spoke with pride of the fact that he was the first person to vote in his precinct this past election day. "Voted the straight Democratic ticket," he added with equal pride.

He said the country would be better off if more people got up early in the morning to cast their ballots. "They should, but they don't," he complained.

Only One Regret

He also objects to grousing about taxes. His advice to those who do is: "If you don't want to pay so much, stop making so much money."

"Cactus Jack" indicated he had only one regret about his life — that he agreed to run for vice president in 1932. At the time, he was speaker of the House.

This, he said, meant swapping the "second most important" job in government for one which meant becoming a "safety valve" — a man handy to have around in the event the President dies.
