

WILL ROGERS, POST KILLED

Memphis Democrat

THE VOICE OF THE UPPER RED RIVER VALLEY

YOUR HOME PAPER

WEEKLY DEMOCRAT EST. 1907
DAILY DEMOCRAT EST. 1934

THE WEATHER

EAST TEXAS—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; scattered showers in northeast portion and on east coast Saturday; somewhat cooler in northwest portion Saturday.
WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy, probably showers in north and west portions tonight and Saturday; somewhat cooler in the Panhandle tonight and northern portion Saturday.

EAR, No. 88.

AP SERVICE UP SERVICE

MEMPHIS, HALL COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUG. 16, 1935.

8 PAGES

PRICE 5 CENTS

Memphis Gets Veterans' CCC Company from Canyon

OLLEES WILL RIVE THIS EEK-END

Company 1821
Transferred;
Completion

Memphis CCC camp will up of World War vet-the camp at Can-officially announce this morning.

guard of camp enrollees here today, and the be filled early next morning.

tion of the camp will ed within a few days,
G. Yopp, constructing ter, said this morning.
company 1821

rt had been circulating days that the veterans oved here, but it was ly verified until today.

from Company 1821 moving today. A de-men were scheduled to etime during the day.
be under Lieut. Lewis company commander.

ore enrollees are slated tomorrow and a third of 100 veterans is ive Sunday or Monday.

Beauty Camp task of the enrollees construction is com-be the beautification up site. Dick Breedlove charge of today's below them what it to be the camp before the
ve. The detail also will der in charge of the

E. Beezley, command-of the Oklahoma dis-for the purpose of any problems that he "considered Mem-fortunate" in getting s, pointing out that already accustomed to have their organiza-out and are familiar rk to be done.

Buildings Completed buildings have been with the exception of ork on some of the Capt. Yopp stated
bably would make only visit here before turn-mp over to the CCC on.

ice was posted at the
the Palo Duro Canyon ays ago that Company
ld be transferred to according to Lonnie n, in a letter to Mrs.
n at Estelle.
(Continued on Page 8)

WE SAW

Wilbur Jones cutting the lawn at the Methodist Church.

C. D. Ardrey sitting, as per usual, on the front porch of the Kennedy Hotel.

Miss Bird Pressler leaving the library rather late yesterday afternoon.

No loafers in the sheriff's office this morning.

Dr. L. M. Hicks studying a road map of the United States. He has his vacation well planned, knowing the dates for stops at Denver, Salt Lake City, and the Yellowstone National Park — and perhaps Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Dave Fitzgerald tuning around without a hat—gone collegiate.

Army officers dressed like no-body's business—Major O. E.
Beezley and Capt. H. G. Yopp.

A crowd of interested Memphis citizens watching trainmen "doctor" a hot-box on a freight train.
Cornelia McCann and Shirley Greene busy working up a club yearbook.

Holding Company Compromise Fails

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—
Compromise offers submitted by House and Senate conferees on the public utility bill failed today in another vain effort to get together on the provision for compulsory abolition of "unnecessary" holding companies.

Senator Wheeler, insisting upon some form of dissolution of surplus holding companies, asserted, however, that prospects for an agreement were "a little brighter."

MEMPHIANS ON VACATIONS

Where Local People Go; What They Do

TOMIE POTTS: Our vacation was almost a convention of Memphis families. The caravan of cars was made up of Tom C. Noel and family and Miss June Power, Mac Tarver and family, R. S.
Greene and family, O. V. Alexander and wife, my family and Ouida Reed.

We were headed for one of the best fishing grounds in Colorado
—the Diamond J Ranch on the Western Slope. We were all anxious to get there, so naturally it seemed as if we never would "arrive."

I spent two weeks at the ranch and practically all of the men's time was devoted to fishing. The ladies played bridge, talked and went on short picnic trips with the children.

The first few days we were there the water was so high we had little luck. Later on, however, the water went down and cleared up. Boy! Oh boy! Did we get the fish. I won't say how big the biggest one was, but I will say the largest always gets away.

The weather was ideal all the time we were there. It was hot during the day, which helped us to loosen up our casting arm—just as the big league pitchers like it

Pioneer Texan Dies Here This Morning

M. E. REVIVAL WILL START SUNDAY

Rev. T. J. Rea Will Conduct Meeting;
Cobb To Sing

The annual summer revival meeting of the First Methodist Church will begin Sunday morning and continue through the week, and possibly longer, according to the pastor, Rev. T. J.
Rea, who will do the preaching.
D. Cobb, a man of experience, will lead the singing and conduct the young people's services, it was announced.

Throughout the first week of the meeting the subject for the morning services will be "Winning Forces," and for the evening services Rev. Rea will deliver a message on "Great Characters of the Old Testament." He extends an invitation to the public to attend and find out which character most represents each individual.

For Sunday's morning service, beginning at 10:55 o'clock, the pastor will bring a message on "God's Plan for a Revival." The young people will meet at 7:30
p. m. The evening service will begin at 8:00 o'clock and the pastor will speak on "The Most Influential Man of the Old Testament." Sunday School begins at 9:45.

During the week the morning services will begin at 10 o'clock, young people's services at 7:30, and the evening services at 8:00 o'clock. "A hearty welcome awaits all who will attend, and I am sure all services will be interesting and profitable," Rev.
Rea stated.

Mrs. G. N. Arnold, 89, pioneer Texan, died at her home here, 211 North Eighth Street, at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Funeral services will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist Church with Rev.
T. J. Rea, pastor, conducting the rites. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery with King's Mortuary in charge.

Related to Lee
Mrs. Arnold, a grand niece of General Robert E. Lee, was born in Smith County, Texas, on September 1, 1845. With Mr. Arnold, she came to Memphis 18 years ago. Mr. Arnold passed away on July 3, 1926. They were longtime residents of Wellington before moving here. They were married at Mount Calm on December 6, 1871.

In 1897 Mr. and Mrs. Arnold moved to Wellington and operated the old Battle's Hotel. Later they constructed their own hotel, at a time when there were only two or three other businesses in Wellington. The Cottage Hotel was built on the present location of the First National Bank.
They sold the hotel in 1901.

Many Experiences
Mrs. Arnold had many and varied experiences. She often recalled the times when negroes were sold on the auction block and when Indians frequently made raids in East Texas counties.

Mr. Arnold came to Texas in 1868. He was a soldier of the Union army and took part in the battle of Shiloh, was wounded at Atlanta, Ga., and was with Sherman on his famous march to the sea.

He was reputedly the first Republican to move to Collingsworth County and was called the "father of the Republican party in Collingsworth County."

Survivors
Mrs. Arnold is survived by four children, J. Alfred Arnold of Memphis, Wade Arnold of Childress, Mrs. J. K. Mackey of Shamrock and Mrs. Sam Cook of Memphis.

Grandsons will act as pallbearers this afternoon.

Out-of-town relatives who are here for the services include Mr.
and Mrs. Wade Arnold of Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Arnold of Wellington, Mr. and Mrs.
J. K. Mackey of Shamrock, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Glenn of Childress, C. J. and J. P. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hicks, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Newman, all of Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. W. L.
Glass of Childress and Willie Mae Wilkerson of Wellington.

Merger of Three Methodist Groups Given Approval

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Representatives of the three leading branches of Wesleyanism today voted approval of a plan to merge
the Methodist Episcopal Church,
the Methodist Episcopal Church, South and the Methodist Protestant Church into one body.

To be effective, the plan must next be ratified by the general conference of the three churches.

Approximately eight million members and a billion dollars worth of church property are involved.

RELIEF OFFICE IS CLOSED TODAY

Only Case Workers Remain as Relief Transferred

Appreciation for the courtesy shown his office was expressed this morning by A. C. Hoffman, recent director of relief in Memphis, as he closed his department.

The Administration and Certifying office of local relief was officially closed this morning.
The only department still active is the case workers' in charge of Mrs. A. H. Haas, senior case worker, and all of the case aides.

The administrators of eight sections in this district were also let out or were transferred to positions of minor importance.

Mr. Hoffman said in leaving that he would like to express the courtesy shown his office by the Commissioners Court, City Council, the professional men, the citizens as a whole and to the Democrat for giving their cooperation in a nerve-racking job.

"The clients as a majority were nice and we did as much for them as possible. We would have liked to have done more, if we had had the means and funds," said Hoffman.

The work of carrying on the relief was transferred to the district relief offices in Plainview and to the WPA offices in Lubbock.

60 DIE IN RIOT

ATHENS, Aug. 16.—Sixty men were reported killed today in a fight between Albanian Government forces and rebels marching on Tirana, the nations capital, from the Fieri Districts.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Local Opinions on Pertinent Topics.

THE QUESTION:
What do you think of old age pensions?

THE ANSWERS:
C. A. RENOULDS: The old age pension will be one of the greatest privileges the citizens of this state have ever sponsored.

If the law is passed next week in Texas, it will be the deliverance of one of the most vital problems every to face the people of the state.

Any scheme devised to care for those persons along in years is an excellent undertaking and should have the full cooperation of all.
I believe it to be the greatest measure Congress has ever passed and put its approval on.

It is the belief of many that the insurance companies fought this bill to the utmost. I would like to correct this unfounded conviction, if I may. Certain individuals were opposed to the bill, but not the insurance companies.
Quite the contrary—they were very much in favor of the bill being acted upon favorably for this reason: At the end of the war or shortly afterwards, when the Government began to pay out the War Insurance Policies, it was found that the insurance companies started to increase their business almost beyond belief. In other words, this was due to the people's faith in the Government.
Any policy the Government undertook and stood behind at 100 per-cent was good enough for the average individual and he followed their plan on his own initiative.

I say, it would be a simple task to name the few people right in Memphis who are self-sustaining at 65 years of age; therefore, the security insurance, as it is often called, is the salvation of our old folk.

It is my fondest hope that the people of this community vote to collaborate with the Government, so we might be able to look after the welfare of our aged.

DR. JOHN ANGUS MacMIL-LAN: I consider old age pensions the only logical way in which to deal with a vital social problem—that of providing decently for the welfare and comfort of the aged.
There is nothing more poignant than to see an old person, often without kith or kin, struggling inadequately to keep body and soul together under the handicap of the withering ravages of life's sunset years.

To leave such to the merciless fate of want and privation is, in my judgment, socially, morally and economically wrong. Some old folks, to be sure, come to want because of their own foolish and improvident habits. But many others face old age without money or means because of circumstances beyond their control.
(Continued on page 8)

(Continued on page 8)

FAMOUS PAIR DIES IN AIRPLANE CRASH NEAR PT. BARROW, ALASKA

SEATTLE, Aug. 16.—Headquarters of the Alaska Telegraph System, operated by the United States Army signal corps, were advised today that Will Rogers, noted humorist, and Wiley Post, famed aviator, were killed last night when their plane crashed 15 miles south of Point Barrow, northernmost tip of Alaska.

The signal corps advised the Associated Press that Sergeant Stanley Morgan, operator at Barrow, recovered the bodies of the famous pair, who were on an aerial vacation, and brought them to Barrow.

The plane was enroute from Fairbanks to Barrow when it crashed.

Sergeant Morgan said the accident occurred at 5
p. m. Alaska time (10 o'clock Central Standard Time) last night.

The coast guard cutter Northland will transport the bodies to Nome. A plane probably will be sent to fly the bodies to the Pacific coast.

Dead When Found

Post and Rogers left Fairbanks, in the interior of Alaska, yesterday in a pontoon-equipped plane. A dense fog, low clouds and rain were reported at Barrow at the time.

Both were dead when they were found by Sergeant Morgan. The tragedy ended a jaunt which was to take Post and possibly Rogers to Siberia, where Post planned to hunt.

The plane was a low wing cabin ship.

Mrs. Post had considered accompanying the famous pair but at the last moment changed her plans and returned to California.

Post's Second Crash

It was Post's second crash in Alaska. On his first round - the - world flight the "Winnie Mae" made a forced landing and was damaged near Flat, on the Youkon River. Repairs were made and he continued unhurt.

From all over the world came expressions of sorrow over the loss of Rogers and Post.

"Just two mighty good men have been lost to the world," said Vice-President Garner in the capitol, where Will Rogers was loved as few others of his time. Garner said it was "awful."

Sergeant Morgan reported that the plane was a complete wreck, submerged in two feet of water.

He said that "natives camping on a small river 15 miles south of here claim that Post and Rogers landed and asked the way to Barrow."

At 50 Feet

"Taking off, the engine misfired on the right
(Continued on page 8)

Are Over Three Million Trucks in the United States, and It Seems Like We Meet Every One of Them When We Start on a Short Drive

BRITAIN GIVES U. S. LESSON ON TAXES

But Work Never Dull, Says Minister to Denmark

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Aug. 16. — "The Right Honorable Emma Louisa, Lady Rothschild, of Tring Park, Hertfordshire, widow of the first Lord Rothschild, and who recently died at the age of 90, left estate of the value of $5,738,520. Death duty of $2,326,868 has been paid."

This news item, indicating that nearly half the estate of a very rich old woman had been taken over by the treasury of Great Britain in the shape of death duties, was printed in all the London papers without comment. There were no excited editorials about how the rich are "soaked". There were no angry speeches about it in Parliament. There were no resolutions by Chambers of Commerce. There were no tirades by lawyers who were little servants of the rich. Everybody took it as a matter of course.

Instituted in 1894
For so long and in so many ways the British have been hit hard by various kinds of taxation when they are alive and even when they are dead, that they are used to it. The pocketbook nerve, usually so sensitive to blows, has become numb or calloused. If it aches, it no longer registers. If it registers, it no longer produces shrieks in the victims. In a land where the amount of income taxation is far higher than in the United States and where the exemptions for family reasons and others are much smaller, nobody is sparing much time pitying the sorrows of the rich. Many of them have even quit feeling sorry for themselves.

In 1894 Sir William Vernon Harcourt, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a Liberal cabinet, announced his intention of introducing a new form of taxation—death duties levied on estates as they passed from the hands of the dead testators to the heirs. The "soak-the-rich" cry, now being heard in the United States as a result of President Roosevelt's taxation proposals, was heard then throughout Britain. But Sir William pressed ahead with his Bill and it became law.

And here is the piquant fact: This measure, designed merely to be a temporary one, has become a permanent feature of Britain's taxation history. Many of the men who criticized it, when they were in opposition, themselves proposed it when they came into the government. Every cabinet since then has retained the principle and, in fact, has gone on increasing the tax. In fact, for some years it has produced about ten percent of the budget.

In 1924 the Chancellor of the Exchequer announced to Parliament that he proposed to name a commission to consider the various kinds of taxation and their effect on trade, industry, employment and national credit. When the commission finally produced its report in 1927, it said the death duty, as part of the tax system, was a valuable supplement to the income tax. The two forms of taxation taken together provided a fuller criterion of the ability to pay than income tax alone could furnish.

Better Than Income Tax
As regards the wealth in class, the report said the psychological effect of the death duty was possibly less adverse to saving than that of the income tax and super tax. They also thought, on the whole, it must also be less adverse to enterprise.

What it has meant to the British government can be summed up in one striking sentence:

Not long ago in Parliament it was stated that the yield to the treasury from these duties for the period from 1914-1934 inclusive was $5,710,000,000.

Tax Rates Graduated
The death duty taxation on estates as fixed by the last Parliamentary act on the subject is as follows:

One estates over $500 but under $2,500, one percent; over $2,500 but under $5,000, 2 percent; over $5,000 but under $25,000, 3 percent. The incidence of taxation from then on runs rapidly upwards. For instance, estates of over $425,000 but under $500,000 pay 19 percent; estates over $4,000,000 but under $5,000,000 pay 38 percent; estates ranging from $5,000,000 to $6,250,000 pay 40 percent; from $6,250,000 to $7,500,000 pay 42 percent; from $7,500,000 to $10,000,000 pay 45 percent. All estates of ten million or above pay a flat 50 percent.

Hepburn's Hair Sacrifice to Art

A martyr to her art—and a most attractive one—Katharine Hepburn scores high in the role of a boy in which she is shown here. Faced with playing the part of a young girl who masquerades as a boy, the star surrendered to the shears, getting a boyish haircut that is far from unbecoming—and very convincing, too.

CENTENNIAL TO HAVE FARM CENTER

Six Huge Buildings In Agricultural Section

DALLAS, Aug. 16.—Construction of an agricultural center, comprising six huge buildings, at the Texas Centennial Exposition here next year, was announced today.

The exhibit center, in which the story of the basic resource of the Lone Star State will be graphically told, will cost more than $1,500,000.

In one building, the story of cotton, great staple crops of the South, will be told. Cotton will be traced from field and through gin to the loom. The wild cotton of the Indians, the chops of the ancient Pharaohs which grew on the banks of the Nile, the modern methods of cultivation and manufacture in use today—all will be embraced in the scope of this exhibit.

Pavilions will house prized thoroughbred livestock. The history of the cattle industry in the Southwest will be portrayed. There will be buffalo which once roamed the prairies of Texas, scrubby Mexican cattle from which developed the sturdy longhorns which brought fame to Texas and fortunes to pioneer cattlemen, and there will be mixed stock of today, the acme of cattle breeding. Famous brands will be exhibited in a model ranch house, with old time cow punchers telling the story of each. There will be sheep, swine, goats, and other animals which have contributed to the prosperity of Texas.

Another building will house 7,500 poultry coops which will compose one of the greatest poultry exhibitions in the country. In the Agricultural Building proper, the exhibits will deal with all the varied crops of Texas, and adjoining this structure will be the Food Products building. That the farm boys and girls of the country may be properly accommodated at the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens June 6, two fire-proof dormitories will be erected on the grounds.

After being preserved for 20 years, snakes venom was found to be as poisonous as ever. It takes 12,000 cattle heads to make one pound of the pituitary substance used in medical science.

DR. L. M. HICKS

DENTIST
Office: Second Floor
Hall County National Bank Bldg.
Res. Phone 344 Office Phone 308
Office Hours: 8 to 6

ODOM SANITARIUM

South Eighth and Menden
Phone 139
Open To All Reputable Physicians

Help!... Police
"Yes sir, Phillips 66 helps the police. The radiators on our radio squad cars were boiling over like teakettles. ... and mileage per gallon. ... was as low as a racker's. ... But we found the culprit—gasoline that just wouldn't suit for hot weather driving. Now, with Phillips 66 we're getting cool running, plenty power, and plenty more mileage. For real performance at low cost, this gas sure rates a gold star."

Phillips 66
"Cooler" SUMMER GASOLINE

You can't Store SUMMER'S HEAT

So plan Now for CONTROLLED Winter COMFORT

And now is the time to have your home inspected and get estimates on installing "Controlled Winter Comfort".

The convenience of having warmth without worry—uniform temperature in every room—healthful dependable heat—costs less than many other household services you now enjoy.

Act today. Be ready for winter with this improved, modern method of home heating.

SEE YOUR GAS APPLIANCE DEALER... OR

NORTHERN TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY

NATURAL GAS
CONTROLLED Winter COMFORT
THE BETTER WAY TO HEAT
MAY BE PURCHASED FOR AS LITTLE AS
$1.95 Down
BALANCE PLUS INSTALLATION COST IN 24 MONTHS. NO MONTHLY PAYMENTS UNTIL NOV. 1.

Business Directory

OF PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS MEN OF MEMPHIS

THE BEST IN EVERY BUSINESS

THE FINEST IN EVERY PROFESSION

NEW DEAL BEER GARDEN
Coldest Beer in Town
If you can't stop, smile as you go by.
W. H. Moninger, Phone 125

Hotel Barber Shop
PLEASING SERVICE
The Utmost in Sanitation
PAUL BLEVINS, Prop.
In Memphis Hotel Bldg.

Singer Sewing Machine and Vacuum Cleaners
Sold on Easy Terms
Machines rented, repaired and serviced.
Phone 222; King Furn. Co.

J. L. CARLTON
New and Used Furniture
Buy, Trade or Sell
909 W. Main

FOR SPACE IN THIS Business Directory
PHONE 15

AUTO PARTS
1/2 Price or Less
TAPP'S WRECKING YARD
1 Blk. N. of Farmers Union

HUCKABY'S Plumbing & Heating Co.
We are equipped to do any size job.
All Work Guaranteed
814 Noel Phone 596

RUBE'S COFFEE SHOP
Memphis Hotel Bldg.
QUALITY FOODS
AT LOW PRICES
Courteous Service; Your Patronage Appreciated

Mable's Beauty Shoppe
The Coolest Place in Town Personality Waves at Regular Prices
Oil Permanents $1.50
1420 W. Brice Phone 18

CITY DAIRY
Pure Milk and Cream
Visitors Welcome
113 Bradford St.
Phone 34

NU-ART BEAUTY SHOP
Oil Permanents $1.00 Up
Finger Waves 15c
All Work Guaranteed
719 E. Bradford
Between 7th & 8th

INSURANCE for Every Need Against Loss
Auto, Accident and Life Insurance; Notary in Office
Blankenship's Ins. Agency
610 Main

MILLER-MILLER
Motor Freight Lines
Amarillo-Wichita Falls-Lubbock and all intermediate points served daily. Phone your Amarillo office to us by 11 o'clock a. m. and receive your shipment next morning.
710 Noel St.

GATE CITY CREAMERY
Manufacturers of ice cream, Butter, Popsicles, Potato Chips, Ice Cold Watermelons, Bayers of Poultry, Eggs and Cream.
Phone 225 220 N. 6 St.

MAYFIELD'S SCHOOL SUPPLIES
LUNCHES AND GROCERIES
Across From High School

Dr. M. McNEELY
DENTIST
Office Phone 258-J
Residence Phone 177
513 MAIN

CHRISTENSEN BOOT AND SHOE SHOP
Expert Shoe Repairing
Ladies' Work a Specialty

DR. H. E. HOWARD
DENTIST
Office Ph. 226, Res. 103 1/2 S. 6th St.

MAYTAG LAUNDRY
Plenty of hot water and good service. Your business will be appreciated.
J. R. Saunders
722 Main Phone 48-M

RED WILLIAMS E-Z LAUNDRY
For Appointment Call 264
We furnish everything but the soap.
1/2 Acre Floor Space
It's Wash Day Every Day at the E-Z Way.
In the Old P. O. Bldg.

CLAUD JOHNSON MACHINE SHOP
Gas and Electric Welding Portable and Custom 315 Main

LINDSEY'S
Cleaning and Pressing
Your satisfaction is our guarantee.
Located in Memphis Steam Laundry
Phone 38

D. L. C. KINARD
Insurance, Loans and Bonds
Hall County National Bank Bldg.
Phone 350

BLUE BONNET BEAUTY SHOPPE
Oil Permanent $1.50
Finger Wave 25c
All Work Guaranteed
303 S. Seventh

HYDER HOSPITAL
DR. D. C. HYDER
513 1/2 W. Main St.
Phones: Day 489, Night 534

M. E. McNALLY
Insurance and Loans
Whaley Bldg.
Phone 304

O. R. Goodall, M.D.
Office Phone 238
Residence Phone 60
First State Bank Bldg.

JOHN SLOVER'S GARAGE
General Overhauling Starter-Generator Work
Phone 406-M
Adjoining Memphis Hotel

COMPTON BROS.
Dodge Service Station
General Repairing
Brake Service
So. of P. O. Bldg.

Mildred's Beauty Shop
Oil Permanents $1.50
Finger Wave 25c
Licensed Shop
709 Cleveland Phone

McCrory BROS.
Feed, Hay and Grain; Fruits and Vegetables
714 W. Noel

SLOAN'S FRUIT STAND
N. Side of Square
We Meet All Prices
Daily shipments received fresh from the gardens and orchards.

Renovated and New Mattresses
MEMPHIS MATTRESS
W. H. Hawthorn
300 N. 5th

C. D. MARTIN
Blacksmithing and Welding Shop
If I can't fix it throw it away.
611 Brice

CITY FEED STORE
STOCK AND POULTRY FEED
RETAIL & WHOLESALE
Remedies and Supplies
Phone 213 416 Noel

BULLARD DRY CLEANERS AND HATTERS
CALL 8
South Side of Square
Place your order now that fall tailor-made suits are at large sale prices from the minority

CUDD BROS.
SERVICE STATION
Wholesale and Retail INDEPENDENT
Gas and Oils
Federal Tires
For 24 Hour Road Service
AND 10c TAXI
CALL 157

dry FINEST IN PROFESSION

Washing Machine Easy Term rented, repair serviced.

Beauty Shoppe
at Place in Town Beauty Shoppe
at Place in Town

YIELD'S
OL SUPPLIES
CHES AND ROCERIES

KING BALANCE SERVICE

E. HOWA
DENTIST

JOHNSON
CHINE SHOP

BOAZ, M. e and Sanitari

JE BONNEY
AUTY SHOPPE

Goodall, M.
office Phone 238

For the Best in ERIAL PRINT

Let the phs Publishing

red's Beauty
ormaments $1.50

Finger Wave 25c
Licensed Shop

Renovated and ew Mattress

PHIS MATTRESS
W. H. Hawthorn

LLARD
DRY CLEANERS

BUSINESS SHOWS BIG GAIN OVER YEAR AGO

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION MAIN HOPE

PERSON Is Optimistic Over Outlook For Fall

By ROGER W. BABSON
BOSTON PARK, Mass., Aug. 15.—All business reports for August show improvement over August of last year, but one says that I am very optimistic about the outlook for business this fall. For the past two years, consumer industries have been the mainstay of trade. According to the consumer group, there is now being reported a revival in the heavy industrial sector. This is the most important development since business started to pick up in March, 1933.

PLACING GEOGRAPHIC ECONOMIC BARRIERS

There is, however, still at least one thing to be done—namely, the placing of geographic barriers. Further advances in both consumer and heavy industries could probably be secured by the removal of the X-Y normal line. Babsonchart, but I seriously doubt if we can ever have a real prosperity without a revival in world trade. As I have seen over the last 30 years, an alarming growth of economic isolation throughout the world. Inventors have brought nations closer together by bringing down geographic barriers, but politicians have separated them again by erecting economic barriers.

One should never forget that in the long run we prosper as all nations prosper. The mistake you can make is to think that your own personal interests have no connection with the interests of business and trade. Reviving world trade would mean more to the cotton planter, the Kansas wheat farmer, the Maine grower, the Pacific Coast lumberman, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, and the New York mill-owner than all the deals experiments put together. No matter how dull the set of foreign trade may be to you, do not forget that backwash is felt in every part of the nation.

PORTS AND EXPORTS ROACH BALANCE

Foreign trade has been rising since the low of 1933, but only dollar value is only around $300,000,000 against $400,000,000 in 1929. Total among all nations has risen three per cent over the depression low. However, our foreign commerce figures for the three years show one very striking tendency, viz: a close balance between exports and imports. On the whole, this tendency of our balance of trade to be less "favorable" (rightly or wrongly, balance of trade considered "favorable" when it exceeds imports) is a good thing. It means that we are giving nations more business, so in turn can give us more business.

BOAZ, M.

only possible way in which nations can prosper is by the way toward world peace by stabilizing its tariff, and lowering its export duties. It is not done, our export is being curtailed by the retaliatory measures of other countries. Only by Germany and Italy have nations in order to reduce imports from the United States until they balance themselves to us. As any thinking person realizes, it is far more logical to boost imports into this country than to have our exports to other countries restricted by the balance of trade. Raising imports improves business abroad, reducing our exports only leads to unemployment at home.

RETAIL HULL'S TACTICAL TASK

Under the reciprocal tariff program, the administration has taken constructive steps to better trade conditions. There has been slow and unimpressive. I appreciate, however, the overwhelming job that faces Secretary of State in completing these agreements. Each group, which feels it is slightly injured by the tariff, loudly protests that in its particular case, "status quo" must be maintained. On the other hand, the payers, exporters, foreign holders, farmers, and the like at large who would stand benefit from reviving world commerce are silent and allow minority interests to dictate our foreign policy.

Tonight's Radio Programs

6:00 NBC, WEAF: Jessica Dragonette. NBC, WJZ: Irene Rich in play. CBS, WABC: Johnny Green and show.
6:15 NBC, WJZ: Lucille Manners, soprano.
6:30 CBS, WABC: Court of Human Relations.
6:45 CBS, WABC: Harmonettes.
7:00 NBC, WEAF: Waltzing by Abe Lyman. NBC, WJZ: Light Opera Theater. CBS, WABC: Hollywood Hotel.
7:30 NBC, WEAF: Chicago Civic Opera Orchestra.
8:00 NBC, WEAF: First Nighter. NBC, WJZ: Meeting House, drama. CBS, WABC: Richard Himber Orchestra.
8:30 NBC, WEAF: Al Pearce's Gang. NBC, WJZ: Sinfonetta, concert orch. CBS, WABC: Kostelant conducts.
9:00 NBC, WEAF: Amos 'n' Andy. NBC, WJZ: Ramon Roman Orchestra. CBS, WABC: Carl Hoff's Orchestra.
9:15 NBC, WEAF: Jesse Crawford, organist. NBC, WJZ: Tony and Gus.
9:15 NBC, WJZ: Ink Spots, quartet.
9:30 NBC, WEAF: Glenn Lee Orchestra. NBC, WJZ: Oliver Naylor's Orchestra. CBS, WABC: Romanelli's Orchestra.
9:45 NBC, WEAF: Hoofingham sketch.
10:00 NBC, WEAF: Ben Pollack's Orchestra. NBC, WJZ: Shandor and Violin. CBS, WABC: Frankie Master's Orch.
10:08 NBC, WJZ: Joe Reichman's Orchestra.
10:30 NBC, WEAF: Griff Williams' Orchestra. NBC, WJZ: Billie Bissett's Orchestra. CBS, WABC: Frank Dailey's Orchestra.
11:00 CBS, WABC: Dance music.

DIPLOMACY IS TOUGH JOB FOR WOMAN

10 Per Cent of Budget Yielded by Death Duties

By HELEN M. ALLYN
(NEA Staff Correspondent)
COPENHAGEN, Aug. 16.—Many a woman can be either a business or social success, but it takes a lady diplomat to combine the two.

And so when Mme. Minister Ruth Bryan Owen sails Aug. 10 for her 1935 leave of absence in United States, she will look back on two years of dinners, dances and receptions, yet she will not forget the offices of the legation. The business of being a diplomat carries with it regular working hours.

Americans in Copenhagen can call at the U. S. Legation any time between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., and usually find the minister "in." It is only on rare occasions that Mrs. Owen takes time out of her office routine even for luncheon.

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

Leading the way into the dining room, Mrs. Bryan said, "And it is here that many foreign diplomats have had their first impression of our capital at Washington."

Covering the windows of this room in an effect of leaded stained glass are parchment transparencies painted by an

TRAVEL SAFELY and COMFORTABLY THRU AIR-CONDITIONED TRAINS

No changes enroute AIR-COOLED COACH FARES MEMPHIS TO

Amarillo	$1.70	Electra	$2.22
Bowie	3.66	Fort Worth	5.03
Childress	.63	Henrietta	3.12
Clarendon	.55	Pueblo	8.65
Claude	1.15	Quanah	1.19
Colorado Springs	9.55	Texline	4.05
Dallas	5.66	Trinidad	6.78
Decatur	4.22	Vernon	1.76
Dalhart	3.34	Wichita Falls	2.75
Denver	11.02

For Pullman Service Charges Slightly Higher

Daylight Train for	(Plainview) $2.04
	(Lubbock) 2.77

Save by using Reduced Round-Trip Fares FORT WORTH AND DENVER CITY RAILWAY COMPANY

J. J. McMickin Agent

A black duck at Dundee, Ill., laid a black egg.

Had she been here, our own lady minister said, "I'm sure she would have agreed with us that being a woman is not a handicap to our profession and that it is a business admirably suited to feminine capabilities."

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

Leading the way into the dining room, Mrs. Bryan said, "And it is here that many foreign diplomats have had their first impression of our capital at Washington."

Covering the windows of this room in an effect of leaded stained glass are parchment transparencies painted by an

Had she been here, our own lady minister said, "I'm sure she would have agreed with us that being a woman is not a handicap to our profession and that it is a business admirably suited to feminine capabilities."

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

Leading the way into the dining room, Mrs. Bryan said, "And it is here that many foreign diplomats have had their first impression of our capital at Washington."

Covering the windows of this room in an effect of leaded stained glass are parchment transparencies painted by an

Had she been here, our own lady minister said, "I'm sure she would have agreed with us that being a woman is not a handicap to our profession and that it is a business admirably suited to feminine capabilities."

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

Leading the way into the dining room, Mrs. Bryan said, "And it is here that many foreign diplomats have had their first impression of our capital at Washington."

Covering the windows of this room in an effect of leaded stained glass are parchment transparencies painted by an

Had she been here, our own lady minister said, "I'm sure she would have agreed with us that being a woman is not a handicap to our profession and that it is a business admirably suited to feminine capabilities."

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

Leading the way into the dining room, Mrs. Bryan said, "And it is here that many foreign diplomats have had their first impression of our capital at Washington."

Covering the windows of this room in an effect of leaded stained glass are parchment transparencies painted by an

Had she been here, our own lady minister said, "I'm sure she would have agreed with us that being a woman is not a handicap to our profession and that it is a business admirably suited to feminine capabilities."

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

Leading the way into the dining room, Mrs. Bryan said, "And it is here that many foreign diplomats have had their first impression of our capital at Washington."

Covering the windows of this room in an effect of leaded stained glass are parchment transparencies painted by an

Had she been here, our own lady minister said, "I'm sure she would have agreed with us that being a woman is not a handicap to our profession and that it is a business admirably suited to feminine capabilities."

When I called on Mme. Minister, she was busy looking over trade agreements between the United States and Denmark. Her desk was piled high with official looking documents and her telephone kept ringing on the average of once every five minutes.

On her current social calendar were plans for the entertainment of one admiral, two captains, 100 officers and 800 midshipmen of the U. S. Navy who were due to anchor off Copenhagen within a week.

She had just returned from the annual celebration of 15,000 Americans, Danish-Americans, and interested Danes, held every year at Rebild National Park on the island of Jutland.

En route, she had spent a day at Kolding, where she officiated at the opening of a bazaar marking the thirtieth anniversary of the National Federation of Danish Women. In course of two days she had made three speeches, given a radio broadcast, and attended two luncheons, two teas and two banquets.

Is it any wonder the Madame laughed and said, "No, this business of diplomacy is never dull. I have no typical days. I never know what will happen next week."

In spite of the heavy demands on her time, however, there appears to be little flurry either at the Legation offices near the Royal Palace or at the official residence 10 minutes' drive away at 20-A Kastels Vej.

Everyone from the office clerk to the Swedish cook knows how to keep things running smoothly at both home and office.

Guests May Number 300

The average guest list at a dinner followed by supper at the legation is 175. Mme. Minister said. At informal receptions held in the garden, as many as 300 guests attend.

Who is invited depends, as in all social occasions, on the type of occasion. When the midshipmen dance at her home, daughters and friends of the Danish admiralty and American girls living in Copenhagen assist the minister as hostesses.

One of these American girls this summer is the minister's own daughter, Helen, who is spending her vacation in Copenhagen. She is a student at the Spence School with her mother at the legation.

The minister's residence here is more than an official setting for diplomatic affairs. It is a gracious home where America meets Denmark in customs, language, furnishings and food, and find each other both charming and interesting.

Decorations Portray America

Through pictures she has hung on the walls of the legation, the minister has succeeded in introducing America to Danish and foreign visitors. In the reception room, early American presidents greet arrivals at the legation. On opposite walls of the large, formal drawing room are landscapes showing the extremes of American climate. One is a scene of snow-covered New England in winter. The other is a tropical scene from the southernmost tip of Florida.

60,000 See Soapbox Champ Coast Merrily to Victory

Amid the cheers of 60,000 thrilled spectators, Maurice Bales of Anderson, Ind., upper left, coasted to victory at Akron, O., in the final race of the National Soapbox Derby. Tom Manning and Graham McNamee, radio announcers, were slightly injured when another contestant ran into the crowd on a trial run. Bales' stream-lined little racer is shown flashing to victory at lower right.

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH
R. A. Jones, Pastor
SUNDAY—
Sunday School 9:45 a. m.
Morning service 11 o'clock.
Sunday night service, 8 o'clock
TUESDAY—
Prayer meeting 8 o'clock.
THURSDAY—
Prayer meeting 8 o'clock.
SATURDAY—
Young people's meeting 8 o'clock.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
J. H. Anderson, Pastor
SUNDAY

Bible School 9:45 a. m.
Morning Worship 11 o'clock.
Evening Worship 7:30 p. m.
MONDAY
Ladies Aid 3 p. m.

WEDNESDAY
Mid-week service 7:30 p. m.CHURCH OF CHRIST
LAKEVIEW

Sunday—
Sunday School, 10 a. m.
Communion, 11 a. m.
Thursday—
Bible Class, 8 p. m., taught by John Banister of Memphis.

PLASKA METHODIST CHURCH
Rev. J. P. Cole, Pastor

SUNDAY—
Sunday school 10 a. m.
Preaching every second and fourth Sunday.

NAZARENE CHURCH
Rev. G. O. and Bertha Crow
Pastors

Sunday School, 10 a. m.
Preaching, 11 a. m.
N. Y. P. S. service, 7 p. m.
Preaching, 7:45 p. m.
Midweek prayer meeting, Wednesday, 7:45 p. m.

ESTELLINE

Dean Moore of San Jose, Calif., came in last week for a two weeks visit in the home of his brother, Tim Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wholey spent Monday in the Rolls.
Miss Marguerite Wholey is visiting friends in Lubbock this week.

Mrs. W. A. Caldwell and children, Morris and Billy Roy and Mrs. E. Caldwell and baby, Sandra Jean returned Tuesday from a visit with relatives in Chickasha, Okla.

Mrs. M. M. Kuykendall returned to her home in Buda after a two weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. R. H. Wholey. Mrs. Wholey and Dick accompanied her to Wichita Falls.

Boyd Vardy returned Saturday from the Veterans Hospital in Oklahoma.

Bob Davidson returned Monday from Abilene, where he had been visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Orcutt of Brownfield, Mrs. Carl Stout of San Antonio and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Orcutt and children of Anton were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Bennett this week.

Mrs. C. B. Bell left Wednesday for a visit with relatives in Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Gripon and daughter, Ruth Ann of Houston and Mrs. and Mrs. A. McNelly of Greenwood were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Jones this week.

Master C. M. Green Jr. of Kerrville came in Tuesday for a visit with his aunts, Mrs. W. T. Holland and Mrs. A. Eddleman.

Morris Rogers spent Wednesday in Wichita Falls on business. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bob Prewitt and son, Ben Tom, of Odessa, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Prewitt this week.

Miss Lucille Gottis left this week.

Newest Smile in Congress

Newest member of Congress and obviously quite happy about it, Frank Boykin, Dem., Ala., is pictured shortly after having taken the oath of office. Boykin was elected to fill the vacancy created by appointment of John McDuffie to a federal judgeship.

Boykin for an extended visit with relatives in Abilene and Clyde. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eddins of Sweetwater, Mrs. Joel Eddins, Miss Loteta Eddins and Glenn Eddins came in Thursday for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. De Witt Eddins and children are visiting relatives in Mansfield this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rigby are in Dallas this week buying stock for her ready-to-wear store.

Freda Grant Is Honored on 11th Birthday

PLEASANT VALLEY, Aug. 16.—Fred Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Grant, was honored on her 11th birthday, with a party at her home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The evening was spent in playing games, after which ice cream and cake were served to the following guests: Claudia Venter, Carrie Dell and Jenette Lenior, Billy Jean J. L. Rhea, Winfred Rosella and Billy Dennis and Crawford.

All the young folks spent a good time.

Retiring future chief executive of the United States will be days as "lame duck" president despite the 20th amendment to the Constitution.

Eels have their scales on their skins. Their slippery nature is a valuable asset to them in ing from their enemies, due to a highly polished skin which exudes a sticky mucus.

SPECIALS for Saturday and Monday

FRESH TOMATOES, pound
GREEN BEANS, pound
APPLES, Green, dozen
YAMS, pound
PICKLES, Sour or Dill, quart
HONEY, New Crop Comb, 5 pounds
POWDERED SUGAR, 2 for PEANUT BUTTER, Veribest, pound jars
COFFEE, White Swan, pound 31c, 3 lbs.
VINEGAR, Distilled Apple, quart jar
OXYDOL, Large Package
OLD DUTCH CLEANSER, 2 cans COUNTRY BUTTER, Fresh, pound

MEMPHIS GROCERY COMPANY

Telephone 246
G. M. DUREN

S. Side
O. S. GOODPASTER

A Brand New Bunch of ANAGRAMS

HANDY ENTRY BLANK

In the blank space below I have rearranged the letters in the anagrams to spell the names of the words which I think to be the solution of today's game. The ones checked with a cross mark thus X are advertised in today's Democrat.

ANAGRAM	SOLUTION
1. ILSEUITIT	☐
2. ORCACSEESIS	☐
3. AHFUNTIS (Two Words)	☐
4. KIML	☐
5. ESELSN	☐
6. TIINTHAVE	☐
7. EMPATRDENT	☐
8. CUSTINRITONS	☐
9. IGRANSH	☐
10. RNAFRETTIV	☐

I have used all of today's anagram solutions in the following sentence of not more than 30 words:

My Name _____
I buy my groceries at _____
If awarded a prize, I want my order drawn on the store checked below:
(Place cross mark after name of store you want your order drawn on).

Farmers Union () City Grocery ()
Chitwood's Market () Fields & Son ()
M System () Memphis Grocery ()

10 BIG PRIZES!

The Democrat Will Award

FREE!

BASKET OF GROCERIES

And 10 Tickets to the Ritz To See

Boris Karloff in "THE BLACK ROOM" RULES:

1. The letters in each of the accompanying ten anagrams when arranged properly will spell the names of ten words. Two of the words each week will be grocery items. You are invited to solve the anagrams, then arrange them in a sentence of not more than 30 words (you may use less if you wish), and try for one of the ten prizes.

2. To the persons who send in the best entries in accordance with these rules, The Democrat will give a free basket of groceries and ten tickets to the Ritz Theatre. The basket of groceries will be offered as first prize, two tickets to the Ritz as second prize, and one ticket each to the next eight contestants.

3. This offer is open to all except employees of The Democrat and their families. You pay nothing.

4. Awards will be made on the basis of the most nearly correct list of anagrams and the cleverest sentence. Simply rearrange the letters in each anagram to spell a word in common usage. Then check the food and grocery ads in today's Democrat and place a cross mark in the square if you find either of the two grocery items advertised. If the item is NOT advertised make NO mark.

Then arrange the ten words into a sentence of not more than thirty (30) words. You may use less if you wish.

5. All entries will be considered by a committee appointed by the Democrat. Contestants agree to accept the decisions of the committee as final. Judgment will be based upon suitability of words inserted, accuracy in checking cleverness in arranging the sentence, and neatness. No special consideration will be given elaborate entries. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded to tying contestants.

6. All entries must be received at the Democrat office by four o'clock Saturday afternoon.

You need not purchase The Democrat to compete. You may use the handy blank submitted here, or you may submit your entry on a separate sheet of paper. Winners will be announced in Sunday's Democrat.

Our Prices Are

Your Key to VALUES

In General Merchandise

GROCERIES

SPUDS	25c	TOMATOES
No. 1 Red, peck		Wapco No. 2 can, 3 for
YAMS	33c	PICKLES
New Crop, peck		Sour, quart
BANANAS	5c	COFFEE
Pound		W. P., pound package
ORANGES	17c	SALT
Dozen		Morton's, 10c size, 2 for
LETTUCE	5c	APRICOTS
Head		No. 2 1/2 can

CORN FLAKES

Miller's, 2 packages
To Be Sold at Memphis Store by Miss Thelma Shankle

MEAL	60c	BLACKBERRIES
Cream, 20 pound sack		Gallon
FLOUR	$1.69	APPLES
Ponca's Best, 48 pounds		Gallon
FLOUR	$1.89	MACKEREL
White Wonder, 48 lbs.		3 cans

DRY GOODS

PANTS	$1.15	BUTTONS
Men's pre-shrunk, $1.50 grade		New shipment, all sizes and colors
TROUSERS	$1.00	GOWNS
Boys' light, pair		Ladies' batiste, 79c and
LADIES' STEP-INS	29c	LADIES' STEP-INS
Regular sizes		Outsized

GASOLINE FEEDS OILS

GASOLINE	15c	KEROSENE
Water White, gallon		Barrel lots, gallon
OATS	40c	BRAN
Bushel		100 pounds
SWEET FEED	$1.75	SHORTS
100 pounds		100 pounds
DAIRY RATION	$2.35	SHELLED MAIZE
24%, 100 pounds		100 pounds

Farmers Union Supply Company

Memphis-Eli-Plaska

Phone 463

Paving Way to

DAUGHTER SUMMER CAMP

fit to Mothers much as It Is to Girls

MARGARET MCBRIDE
Staff Correspondent
RDEN, N. Y., Aug. 16.
Another over certainly dred young girls who is the Camp Fire Girls' in this summer. Yet, ac-the directors, in more one, the overanxious, ta-ent type of parent has ormed to a variety for healthy, happy with young girls.
in mother telephoned fa-the first week, he r-here, giving a mul-directions about her m-habits," said Jean no is in charge of the both older and younger

WEEK SP

No. 1 Idaho, peck
T POTATOES, extra
TING EARS, fresh fr
ICE, nice heads
NS, large Red Balls.
NAS, nice yellow fru
P. & C. or Crystal
Lux or Life Buoy, 3
LUSH, large can
DUTCH CLEANSER,
OL, large package
IE, Folger's, 2 pound
IE, Folger's, 1 pound
any brand, small car
G POWDER, Clabb
White House, 2 pour ES, sour, quart jars
HES, Green Diamor any flavor, 2 pack
ERED or BROWN!
TOASTIES, large pa
T PAPER, ScotTiss
NQ, regular 15c ca
ON, best pink, can ED MEAT, can
A SAUSAGE, 2 ca
TO CHIPS, 2 packa TOES, No. 2 cans,
No. 2 cans White
No. 2 cans Mission, NY, large can CHICKENS, nice

City C

J. E.

Paving Way for Italy's Fight With Ethiopia

An army isn't going to get into a rut in the impending war with Ethiopia if forehanded preparation is made. These blackshirt troops on the Eritrea front in Africa, are building hard roads over move supplies across heretofore trackless terrain. Those in the foreground are camouflaging a machine gun.

DAUGHTER SUMMER CAMP

fit to Mothers Much as It Is to Girls

MARGARET McBRIDE, Staff Correspondent, EDEN, N. Y., Aug. 16. Another over certainly the original motive of the first week her mother telephoned as here, giving a multi-directions about her habits," said Jean who is in charge of the both older and younger came to visit on Sunday when she saw her timid, little daughter, who had never dried a dish in her life, doing camp chores as a matter of course, picking up a garter snake without the least fear and romping merrily with the other girls, she said it revolutionized her whole attitude toward the child. She hasn't telephoned one time since.

Correcting Fallacies
Best of all, according to my guide over the camp, Adrian Richards, nine and a half, is learning not to be afraid. Adrian, whose father is Vincent Richards, the famous tennis player, had been trained at home to be brave, but in camp, she says, you get a chance to put all your theories into practice. For instance, there is Bill, the garter snake. He lives in a jar and the children feed him and even bathe him. They have learned that the proper way to take him out of his jar is by the back of the neck.
"He isn't really slimy and cold at all," Adrian declared gravely, trying to set right some of the fallacies that seem to be prevalent about nature. "And of course his bite is not even so much as a pin prick."
She put the snake carefully back and let a white rat clamber from his cage on to her shoulder. "Can you roll a poncho?" she inquired. I shook my head and she looked a trifle dashed that so vital a part of my education carrying skillets and things. You just heat the rocks and then you fry. First the bacon, so there will be grease, then the eggs. They taste grand. You must use real rock, though, and not shale. I used shale once when I was learning and the eggs flew away up in the air!

Canoeing Without Paddles
"I suppose you don't know what gunnelling is, either? That's for when you lose your paddles in a canoe. Then you stand on the stern, wave your arms, flex your knees rhythmically and it makes the canoe go."

"Knowing how to make all kinds of fire is very important, too. A cooking fire has to be concentrated and small, and on a windy mountain top you have to make it in a trench. When it's a campfire to sit around and sing, then it's big and there is a lot of wood piled up. Fires should have correct architecture, you know, like a house."

Among the Campfire Girl-chores that Adrian has helped with this year was blazing trails and making jelly. They called it a gypsy jelly and Adrian and the others dressed up in bandannas, picked berries and made the jelly out of doors on a picturesque hunters' and trappers' fire—that's where you have two big logs that you can straddle with a kettle or coffee pot," Adrian explains. The girls made 37 glasses of jelly in an hour—enough to supply every table in the camp. And as an added artistic touch, they imprisoned a little green leaf in the paraffin at the top of each jar.

All Busy With Nature
Everybody in the camp, including the councillors and even the handy man, is working on some nature project of his or her own. Some are studying the different kinds of clouds. There are plenty of clouds. There are plenty of

Know Her? She's Mrs. Townsend!

Practically everybody has seen pictures of Dr. F. E. Townsend, of old age pension fame. But few will recognize his modest, wife, the nurse he married and won in a Black Hills fishing town years ago. Mrs. Townsend is shown above in one of the few photographs ever taken of her.

star gazers and a number are interested in geology. Several have taken to classifying mosses and fungi, gathered in the woods.

FIELDS FEATURING MEATS

Leo Fields, of the Fields & Son Grocery & Market, is a believer in home fed and killed beef, and uses it almost exclusively in their

The whole camp stops whatever it is doing when a deer appears, or, as happened the other day, the biggest snapping turtle anybody had ever seen was brought in. Even a board meeting paused to look at this 60-pound monster. But even a new kind of bird singing outside the window will halt a meal in the open-air dining hall, while everybody listens.

market. One day this week Mr. Fields took a Democrat reporter to see a bunch of yearlings he had just purchased for his market, and he showed us thirty-two head of as nice beef yearlings as one would want to see. The animals were in good shape, fat and sleek, and looked to the reporter as though they were already in shape for slaughter, but Mr. Fields explained that they would be fed on cottonseed meal, bulls and alfalfa hay for from sixty to ninety days before killing. The Fields animals are penned at 307 East Main Street and Mr. Fields stated the he would like for Memphis folks who were interested to drive down and see where their meat comes from.

MEAT SPECIALS

As Good As Can Be Bought in Memphis!

BEEF ROAST, pound	15c
STEAK, Veal, pound	25c
DOG FOOD, Pard, can	10c

All Kinds of Luncheon Meats, Joe's Delicious Barbecue and Home Baked Hams.

CHITWOOD'S MARKET

We Deliver Just As Close As Your Phone
IN WOMACK GROCERY — PHONE 22 or 600

FIELDS & SON

GROCERY & MARKET

We Deliver Phone 468

SUGAR 10 pounds	58c
BANANAS, pound	5c
LETTUCE, head	5c
GREEN BEANS, pound	5c
CABBAGE, pound	3c
SPUDS, peck	28c
LARD, 8 pound carton	$1.05

Get 3 SILVER-PLATED ICED TEA SPOONS with OXYDOL

31,000 EVERY YEAR FOR LIFE

3100 EVERY YEAR FOR LIFE

ASK OUR CLERKS FOR DETAILS

DETAILS FROM OUR CLERKS Large Size 22c

CAMAY SOAP, 3 bars for 17c

COFFEE, 100% Peaberry, 2 pounds 25c

TOMATO JUICE, Campbell's, 2 for 15c

PICKLES, sour or dill, quart 15c

TOILET TISSUE, Sanisorb, 6 for 25c

SYRUP, Steamboat, gallon 49c

SALAD DRESSING Gold Bond, pt. 18c

FIG BARS, 2 pounds 25c

VANILLA WAFERS, 2 pounds 25c

MEAL, 20 pounds 59c

OATS, Three Minute, large size 20c

Bran, 100 pounds $1.15

SHORTS, 100 pounds $1.35

IN OUR MARKET

STEAK, round or loin, pound	25c
CHEESE, pound	20c
ROAST, Beef, pound	15c
BACON, sliced, pound	35c

Decoration Day FOOD VALUES

If you're one of the few Memphis housewives who haven't learned that Food Values and Reasonable Prices go hand in hand at the M System, you are urged to visit our store this week-end and see.

BANANAS dozen 17c

LETTUCE Head	5c	TURNIP GREENS, 2 bunches	15c
SPUDS Peck	29c	SWEET PEPPERS Pound	11c
ONIONS 5 pounds	15c	PEACHES Gold Bond, large can	19c
FRESH TOMATOES Pound	6c	CHERRIES Pitted, medium can	15c
CARROTS Bunch	5c	BLACKBERRIES Medium cans	10c
BEETS Bunch	5c	MILK 6 small cans	19c

CORN fresh from the country, dozen 25c

SUGAR 25 pounds	$1.40	STEAK Best, pound	25c
LARD 8 pound carton	$1.15	CHEESE Pound	23c
MEAL 20 pounds	60c	BACON Sliced, pound	40c
MATCHES 6 boxes	23c	LUNCH MEATS All kinds, pound	30c
TOMATOES 3 cans	25c	BOLOGNA Pound	20c
HOMINY Large size can	10c	BARBECUE Pound	25c

OATS Three Minute, with plate 25c

'M' SYSTEM

WEEK SPECIALS

No. 1 Idaho, peck	27c
POTATOES, extra nice, pound	3c
EARLS, fresh from country, doz.	25c
ICE, nice heads	5c
NS, large Red Balls, dozen	30c
NAS, nice yellow fruit, dozen	19c
P. & G. or Crystal White, 6 for	25c
Lux or Life Buoy, 3 for	20c
LUSH, large can	20c
UTCH CLEANSER, 2 cans	15c
OL, large package	22c
IE, Folger's, 2 pound can	59c
IE, Folger's, 1 pound can	31c
any brand, small cans, 6 for	20c
IG POWDER, Clabber Girl, 2 pound can	23c
White House, 2 pound package	17c
ES, sour, quart jars	17c
HES, Green Diamond, 6 boxes	22c
any flavor, 2 packages	13c
ERED or BROWN SUGAR, 2 packages	15c
TOASTIES, large package	10c
T PAPER, ScotTissue, 3 rolls	23c
NTQ, regular 15c can	10c
ON, best pink, can	12c
ED MEAT, can	4c
A SAUSAGE, 2 cans	15c
FO CHIPS, 2 packages	15c
TOES, No. 2 cans, 3 for	25c
No. 2 cans White Swan	14c
No. 2 cans Mission, 2 for	25c
NY, large can	9c
NG CHICKENS, nice ones, pound	20c

City Grocery

Phone 463 J. E. ROPER WE DELIVER

Memphis Democrat

Ball County Herald Absorbed by Purchase August 7, 1928.
Published every afternoon (except Saturday) and Sunday morning by THE MEMPHIS PUBLISHING CO., Inc., Memphis, Ball County, Texas.
Lynan E. Robbins, Editor and Publisher
Adrian Odum, Managing Editor
M. G. Ray, Mechanical Superintendent

Subscription Rate
By Carrier
In Memphis, Newlin, Estelline, Turkey, Lakeview, Pliska, Hedley, Clarendon, Le-Lake, Giles, Quitaque and Wellington.
One Week $1.00
One Month $4.00
By Mail
One Month $3.50
Three Months $10.00
One Year $35.00
In Ball, Donley, Collinsworth, Briscoe, Childress, Matley and Cottle counties.
One Year $40.00

Entered in the Post Office at Memphis, Texas, as second class mail matter under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Notice to Public
Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally at the office at 617 Main Street, Memphis, Texas.

BAND TO FAIR

LOCAL civic and city officials yesterday assured representatives of the Tri-State Fair that the Gold Medal Band and a large delegation of local people will be on hand Memphis Day during the fair next month.

The Gold Medal Band is one of the most sought-after musical organizations of its kind in West Texas. While we do not claim that the Tri-State Fair officials are not attempting to get every band in the Panhandle to attend the fair, it is true that they were especially anxious to have the Memphis musicians.

One reason for this, as pointed out by Mason King, fair representative, is the fact that the Memphis band is one of the most publicized musical groups in Texas. It is worth more in the way of publicity to announce that the Memphis Gold Medal Band will be on hand than any other two bands, because the people of the Panhandle know more of the Gold Medal Band than any other organization—they have heard it personally or have heard of its superior musical ability.

In this manner, having such a widely known organization is the cause of a little work and trouble—but it's worth every bit of it. The better known the organization, the greater the demand for its services. And as the demand grows, we must work harder to see that we do not miss a single opportunity to show it off.

As large a delegation as possible will be organized to accompany the band. This is something else that is at the same time a duty and a privilege. If Hall County will get sufficiently organized behind the Gold Medal Band, that organization might easily cop one of the three band-delegation prizes which range from $50 to $100. It is worth trying for.

At the same time, the Tri-State Fair has been fortunate this year and is certain to be one of the greatest attractions in its history. A day at the fair will be well spent. In addition to one of the three largest Hereford shows in the United States and all its outstanding exhibits, the Tri-State Fair has

SUN-TAN

BY NARD JONES © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DARIEN breaks her engagement to BRET PAUL, college athletic star, because he objects to her taking a job as hostess at Crest Lake Inn, fashionable summer resort owned by wealthy DOUGLAS MARSH. Jo goes to Crest Lake and later Bret arrives as a life guard.

Douglas Marsh's eccentric mother dislikes Jo. PETER GRAGONET, film actor, pays Jo marked attentions and asks her to marry him as soon as he can get a divorce. Jo becomes friendly with LOLITA MONTEZ, film actress.

Prompted by his mother, Marsh asks Jo to leave Crest Lake. She decides to go to Hollywood to look for a job and Fragonet persuades her to go with him by plane. He takes her to an attractive hotel, promises to call later to take her to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVI

True to Fragonet's promise, Jo's telephone aroused her in the early evening. When she had thanked the operator and walked to the window for another glimpse of her new world she discovered that the big sign on the foothills was obscured by the gathering dusk.

Jo bathed leisurely, enjoying the exciting luxury of the tub set flush with the floor, the gleaming black-and-gold fixtures, the soothing aroma of the bath salts she had found packaged and ready in their special niche. But when she examined her scant wardrobe she was a little sorry she hadn't overcome her conscience and carried away one of the evening dresses she had bought for her job at Crest Lake. The gowns of Coconut Grove, she knew, were daring and smart. How would her one, not-so-unusual evening gown look in those glamorous surroundings? Jo knew the answer as well as any girl would know it—but like many another girl she shrugged her pret-

been able to secure the carnival that usually plays at the Dallas Fair, due to the cancellation of this year's event at Dallas, and is to be a convenient stop-over for some of the biggest racing stables in the United States.

ty shoulders and concluded that it would have to do.

And when she had put on the dress she had to confess, with a shade of egotism, that she didn't look badly at all. Somehow she possessed a new radiance—perhaps from the excitement of being a part of Hollywood, of being escorted to the rendezvous of picture stars by one of the greatest of the picture stars. Or was it true that there was really a sort of magic in the very air of Hollywood? There were people who had written that this was true, and Jo had laughed at the absurdity of the idea—but perhaps it wasn't so absurd, after all.

She had dressed in a hurry, for Fragonet had been a bit vague about the hour he would call; and Jo began nervously going over her toilet. Then, realizing that in her nervousness she was ruining whatever poise she might be able to muster for the evening, she sat down and quietly smoked a cigarette.

A half hour passed—an hour—and still another hour which seemed to drag out twice as long as the first. At last Jo stood it no longer and she took up the telephone directory, resolving to call Fragonet at his home. She knew that his residence was in Beverly Hills, but to her disappointment she found no Peter Fragonet listed in the book. Then she remembered that the more popular stars never have their telephone numbers listed—or list them under other names. But she did find the number of the Atlas studio and she called there, hoping she might prevail upon someone to tell her Fragonet's number.

For a long time the telephone at the other end of the line seemed to be buzzing in an empty room, but finally a weary night operator answered. She told Jo that she couldn't give out Mr. Fragonet's number, and that she didn't know what it was anyhow.

Jo refused to believe her. "I had an appointment with Mr. Fragonet two hours ago," she explained. "I'm afraid something may have happened to him, and if you'd please call his home and tell them—"

"I don't know his home number," said the operator again. "Then have you any idea where he might be tonight at this hour?" "Well . . . I should think he ought to be over at Grauman's Chinese."

"Where?" asked Jo, puzzled. "Grauman's Chinese. The theatre. They're having an Atlas premiere over there tonight, and most of the Atlas stars are there."

"But I'm sure—you see, he was coming here."

The girl at the Atlas studio laughed. "Well, sister, Mr. Fragonet always was absent-minded about those things."

Angrily Jo replaced the receiver. "He'll surely come," she thought. "He wouldn't let me down like this the very first night . . . Something unavoidable must have happened to make him late."

But still another hour passed and Peter Fragonet had neither appeared nor telephoned. Really worried now, Jo thought of telephoning the famous "Chinese." A hurried voice answered her after a short wait.

"I'm interested to know if Peter Fragonet is attending the premiere there tonight," Jo said, her voice trembling.

The voice replied as if it had answered hundreds of similar questions that night. "Yes," it said. "Mr. and Mrs. Fragonet have a box with a party of friends."

"I—I see. Thank you very much . . ."

Jo sank back in her chair, bewildered beyond thought. Somehow she had believed that Mrs. Fragonet was not in Hollywood at all, and certainly Fragonet had been emphatic enough in his statements that he would have nothing to do with her again. And now—Edna Fragonet was no only in Hollywood, but Fragonet was with her in a box at Grauman's Chinese Theatre.

Suddenly Jo wilted. Suddenly she felt more tired even than she had that morning upon her arrival. With a choked sob she flung herself on the bed. How long she lay there, fully clothed, she did not know—but when the telephone rang it roused her from a troubled, dream-haunted sleep. She responded drowsily. It was Fragonet, speaking in a low, guarded voice.

"Jo? . . . Jo, darling, I'm terribly sorry."

"It's—it's quite all right," Jo managed to say. "After all, what's more right than that you should attend a premiere with your wife rather than take me to Coconut Grove?"

"Then you know what happened?" he asked, after a pause. "I—I thought something had happened to you; I telephoned the studio and they told me about the premiere. So I called to make sure you were there."

"Jo, I've got to see you right away. I've got to explain how it was."

"Explanations aren't really necessary."

"But I'm going to make one, if you'll believe me. I'll be over right away."

"It's too late. I've been in bed for hours," Jo lied. "Can't you tell me over the telephone?"

"Not very well. I'll be over right away."

"Please don't—"

But already he had replaced the receiver at his end of the wire. He would be at the apartment, as he'd said. Jo was sure of it. Hurriedly she bathed her face in cold water, rearranged her hair, busied herself with rouge and powder. She mustn't let him see how disturbed she'd been. She mustn't let him know it could matter.

Within a few minutes he was at the door. When he saw her fully dressed for the evening his face showed his astonishment.

"I fussed a bit about being in bed," explained Jo lightly. "The truth was that I'd been asleep. It's fortunate we didn't go to Coconut Grove, really. I'd have fallen asleep at the table."

But Fragonet was deadly serious. "Jo, I couldn't help what happened tonight. I'd no idea Edna was in town. I thought she was east. But tonight, just as I was about to leave, she came to the house with Boleson, the big chief at Atlas. He said there'd been gossip and that I'd better appear at the premiere with Edna. They had it all arranged—the party of friends and all. I couldn't telephone you until just a few minutes ago." He stopped.

"What are you smiling at, Jo?"

"Was I smiling? I didn't mean to. But I was thinking about how you said you'd be so quick to give up pictures." Jo shook her head slowly. "You couldn't ever do that. You'll always jump when they crack the whip—because you've built up somebody called

Peter Fragonet, and

He took a step toward her. "I'll give pictures up, it's . . . Only I can't have trouble now, they're about to release picture of mine. I've done—then I'll tell Edna where to go."

"I think it was done—then I'll tell Fragonet to help your reputation after . . ."

"Decent?" cried Fragonet. "She doesn't want a divorce. She knows that the more she can bleed a divorce settlement."

Jo was silent a moment. "One thing I've made here, I've made here now that it's done. I ever knew you. I forget you knew won't work, that's all."

(Continued on page 7)

OUT OUR WAY

By "Cowboy" W.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

ALLEY OPP

THE NEWFANGS (Mom 'n POP)

$1.11- No Job

swung open and Ruth Woodson crossed the threshold, found herself in a new life—dangerous, incredible. "The Blue Door," romantic new serial, will grip your interest as the mystery behind the door itself held Ruth's. Watch for "The Blue Door"

Beginning Soon in The

Memphis  Democrat

Owle Start Preparations for Play-Off With Tilt Against Pampa Club Sunday

Starting the grind of practice battles, the Memphis Owls will clash Sunday afternoon at Fair Park Stadium with the touted Pampa Advertisers.

In second place in the Panhandle League, composed of 22 teams, the Advertisers loom as a potential foe that will make the Owls scratch for every run they manage to push across, and at the same time fight desperately to hold the visitors.

And that is the kind of competition the Owls are seeking. Be set by errors and erratic pitching all year, yet finishing in third or fourth place—it depends on the showing the Wellington Gassers make against Paducah in their doubleheader Sunday at Wellington, and against Childress the following week—the Owls realize that the thing they need most now is practice—stiff, hard competition.

From all indications, they'll get it Sunday.

The tilt gets underway at 3:30 o'clock.

Lefty Blanchard and Clifford Stewart, the big righthander, probably will see mound service as managers of the club attempt to improve the play of every player eligible for the play-off contests.

THE STANDINGS

TEXAS LEAGUE

Thursday's Results

Beaumont 5-4, Fort Worth 1-1.
San Antonio 9-1, Dallas 5-8. night games.

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Beaumont	75	58	.564
Oklahoma City	76	59	.563
Galveston	70	62	.530
Tulsa	69	64	.519
Houston	66	67	.496
San Antonio	62	71	.466
Dallas	56	75	.427
Dallas	57	76	.429

Friday's Schedule

Oklahoma City at Fort Worth.
Tulsa at Dallas.
Beaumont at Houston.
Galveston at San Antonio.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Thursday's Results

Boston 3, Chicago 1.
Detroit 6, Washington 3.
New York 3, Cleveland 1.
Philadelphia 5, St. Louis 3.

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Detroit	68	38	.642
New York	61	43	.587
Boston	57	49	.538
Chicago	52	50	.510
Cleveland	52	53	.495
Philadelphia	45	54	.455
Washington	45	61	.425
St. Louis	35	68	.340

Friday's Schedule

Boston at Chicago.
Philadelphia at St. Louis.
Washington at Detroit.
New York at Cleveland.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Thursday's Results

Boston 8, Cincinnati 0.
Chicago 11, Brooklyn 3.
New York 5, St. Louis 4.
Philadelphia 9, Pittsburgh 1.

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	69	39	.639
St. Louis	64	42	.604
Chicago	68	45	.602
Pittsburgh	61	52	.540
Brooklyn	50	58	.463
Philadelphia	49	60	.450
Cincinnati	47	64	.423
Boston	39	77	.338

Friday's Schedule

Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.
Cincinnati at Boston.
Chicago at Brooklyn.
St. Louis at New York.

SALISBURY

By VIRGINIA M'GUIRE
A slumber party was given by Miss Louise Williams Saturday night. Those present were Misses Louise Williams, Ruth Adeock, Janie Adeock, Pauline Longshore, Mildred Longshore, Mildred Nichols, Ja et McQueen, Thelma McGuire, Katherine Hawkins, Ola Mae Wilson, Juanita Belevins and Virginia McGuire.

Crops of this community are suffering slightly from the need of rain.

A P. W. C. club has been organized in this community.

Edwin Hutcherson, Harlie Taylor, Travis McGuire and Delbert

Diva Relearning Her Do-Re-Mi's

Cheerful after an operation for removal of a goiter which for 15 years half-blocked her throat, Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci, pictured above with her nurse in a Chicago hospital, is learning to sing all over again. In three months, the internationally famous singer hopes to accustom herself to control the air volume doubled by the absence of the growth she had fondly termed her "potato."

Sun-Tan—

(Continued from page six)

"It will, Jo. When this is over—"

"No... Tomorrow I'll move into a cheaper place and start hunting for a job."

"Jo darling, please listen a moment. In two months at the most you and I can dash over to Las Vegas and be married secretly. And as for your moving away from here—that's utter nonsense. I've leased this apartment for you, and all the bills are to come to me."

Jo stepped back as if from a blow. For the first time she realized that she had allowed Fragonet to rush her headlong into a position almost certain to mean disaster for them both.

(To Be Continued)

The wood for umbrellas and canes is grown in forests of small saplings. These saplings require about four years to reach the right size.

McGuire are making a tour of the south and western states. They were last reported being in the Grand Canyon. All say they are having a grand time.

The Salisbury school will start August 26. The teachers are Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Neely and Miss Thomas of Eli.

PLEASANT VALLEY

By IRENE VAN DEVENTER

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Neal of Leslie were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Van Deventer and family.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsey is reported as being much improved. He will be taken to Dallas for final treatment.

Claudia Van Deventer was the guest of Freda Grant Sunday.

Mrs. G. B. Jackson was a visitor in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Garland Gordenhire, of Lakeview Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parkhill and family of Amarillo visited friends and relatives here last week.

Mrs. James Dixon and sons, J. O. and Buck, spent Tuesday night in the home of her parents at Lakeview.

Mrs. Pearl Wines left Wednesday for East Texas, where she will attend a family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Watson and family returned from Iowa Park, where they have been visiting for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crabb and family, M. C. and Madge Lauerne, and Mrs. Clarie Van Deventer were business visitors in Memphis Wednesday.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

THE MOTTOES OF THE VARIOUS STATES IN THE UNION EMPLOY SEVEN LANGUAGES! (GREEK, LATIN, SPANISH, FRENCH, ITALIAN, AMERICAN INDIAN, AND ENGLISH.)

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Olen Bain and little son, Robert Olen, of Clarendon, are here for a visit with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Baskerville.

J. M. Tucker was a business visitor in Lubbock yesterday.

Mrs. H. D. Stringer and children, Henry Dell Jr. and Glen Eyerie Camille, arrived from El Paso for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stringer, 323 South Eighth Street.

Mrs. Robert A. Boston and Mrs. J. C. Coyle returned to their home in Amarillo yesterday after a visit here with Mrs. Boston's mother, Mrs. D. H. Arnold, and sister, Mrs. L. D. Pierce.

Mrs. H. W. Lindsey and daughter, Emma Ruth, and Mrs. J. Emory Barton left today for their home in Denton after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lindsey and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Webster.

Miss Vada Crawley was a guest of Mrs. C. L. Caviness here yesterday. She was en route to her home in Wellington from Fort Collins, Colo., where she attended the summer session of Colorado State College, receiving her M. S. degree. Miss Crawley, former home economic teacher in the Memphis school, will teach in the Midland school again this coming term.

Mrs. H. M. White and Mrs. Ada Edwards of Estelline are visitors in Memphis today.

Mrs. Margaret Morgan returned yesterday from a vacation trip in Colorado.

Mrs. Walter Whaley, Mrs. T. N. Copeland and Mrs. Carl Jones of Estelline are Memphis visitors today.

Mrs. Fred Swift returned yesterday from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Grover Ingram, at Panhandle. Mrs. J. L. Slipp accompanied Mrs. Swift home for a visit.

Mrs. Jean McClure and daughter, Betty, and Dean Burgess are spending today in Amarillo and Lubbock on business.

Mrs. W. D. Orr went to Tulsa this morning for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Norris Orr.

Miss Mildred Harrell and Leiland Campbell, who have been visiting Miss Harrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Harrell, here for the past two weeks, left yesterday for Denison for a few days visit before returning to their home in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bralley, Miss Imogene King and Miss Helen Boswell returned last night from a few days visit in Lubbock and Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. Bralley went to Hartley this morning on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clement and children of Abilene arrived today to spend until Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hood, Jr.

Janet Hood returned from Turkey, yesterday, where she visited her cousin Norma Louise Walker. Dr. W. R. Caldwell of Hollywood, Calif., inventor of the Radonic Instrument, spent Wednesday in Memphis and was guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitzjarrald.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Moses and daughters, Mrs. Homer Stout and Lois Enid Moses, returned yesterday from a visit with relatives at Greenville, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Hare of McKnight were Memphis visitors yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dodson and children, Paul, Laverne and Curtis, left this morning for a visit with relatives at Wynnewood, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Noel of Hedley were visitors in Memphis yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelan, Mildred and Frank Phelan Jr. and Mr. Phelan's sisters, Mrs. Victoria Morrow and Mrs. V. Dearing, of Bonham, left this morning for a trip to Carlsbad Cavern and other places of interest in New Mexico and Colorado.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FOR RENT—5 room stucco. Built-in features. Close in. Phone 4223. 86-3p.

Wanted—Two men with cars for sales work. Good proposition. Apply J. D. Farrell, Camp Alhambra. 85-7p.

LOST—On highway between Memphis and Alfred Hutcherson's, Brunswick casing, tube and wheel for Model A Ford truck. Reward. Call O. D. Phillips, Estelline. 87-8p.

Famous Pair—

(Continued from page 1)

bank when only 50 feet over the water. The plane went out of control and crashed, tearing the right wing off and toppling over, forcing the engine back through the body of the plane. Rogers was thrown clear, but Post was crushed in the plane.

"Both apparently were killed instantly. We recovered the body of Rogers, then it was necessary to tear the plane apart and extract the body of Post from the water."

Half of Holland's area consists of artificially drained and reinforced marshes. The land is traversed at regular intervals by ditches, each of which leads into a wide canal. Windmills pump the water from these canals to other canals of higher levels and through these the water runs to the sea.

The yak furnishes the natives of Tibet with meat, milk, butter, clothing, rope, transportation, fuel, and boats.

The barberry bush is the one which spreads them rust; salt placed around its crown will kill it.

Ed Boliver, of the Hedley Infirmary, was a business visitor here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Evans of Brice were among Memphis visitors yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Beight and daughter, Reta, left this morning for their home in Louisiana after a brief visit here with Mr. Beight's sister, Mrs. C. H. Compton. They were en route from a trip to South Dakota and other states.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lefevre and daughters, Lela and Less-hell, and H. A. Compton arrived yesterday from Colorado City for a visit with Mr. Compton's sons, C. S. and C. H. Compton.

Mrs. Bessie Pendergrass and her sister, Mrs. Buck Nelson of Wichita Falls, who is guest of Mrs. Pendergrass, went to Pampa yesterday for a visit with their daughter and niece, Mark Pickle.

Mrs. Bill Gerlach and Miss Thelma Shankle spent yesterday in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Webster and children, Billie Scott and Jo Ann, and B. Webster returned to their home in Littlefield this morning after a visit with relatives in Eli and Memphis.

PALACE

Friday and Saturday

Jack Holt

—in—

"AWAKENING OF JIM BURKE"

Comedy and News

Saturday Night Prevue

Sunday and Monday

William Powell

—in—

"ESCAPADE"

News and Novelty

RITZ

Last Times Today

Ricardo Cortez in

"MANHATTAN MOON"

Comedy and News

Saturday Only

Big Boy Williams in

"COWBOY HOLIDAY"

Comedy and Serial

Saturday Night Prevue

Sunday and Monday

Boris Karloff in

"THE BLACK ROOM"

Comedy and News

Enrollees—

(Continued from page 1)

A second veterans camp at Palo Duro will be moved to the new Amarillo site, it was stated this morning, and negro enrollees will be placed in the Palo Duro settlement.

NAVAL CONFERENCE

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The British Government announced today that it had invited the United States, France and Italy to a preliminary naval conference in "about October."

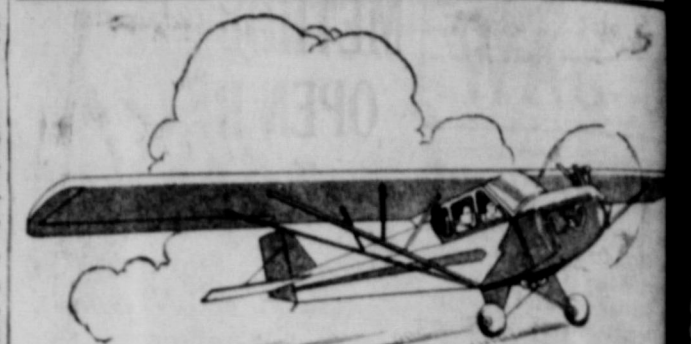

What Do You

(Continued from page 1)

We take good care of our animals and other enemies. Can we afford to be generous with those who come to life's dead-end means of support? Certainly not. If we believe in the Rule.

So you can put me favoring the old age pension.

SUNDAY: What do you of a World War veterans camp in Memphis?

FLY IN THE TAYLOR CUB

Passenger Flights $1.00

Dual Instruction

A SAFE PLANE

Airport 3 Miles Northeast of City

BOWERMAN FLYING SERVICE

SAVE TIME AND MONEY

GO BY BUS!

Four Schedules Daily Each Way

Direct Connections for All Points East and

Houston	$14.70 round trip
San Antonio	15.00 round trip
Los Angeles	33.60 round trip

New schedule to Oklahoma City:
Leave Memphis at 7:25 p. m.
Arrive Oklahoma City at 5:30 a. m.

For information call 500 or 685M

WICHITA FALLS BUS COMPANY

Mrs. J. R. Leverett, Agent

Memphis Hotel

Telephone

IN PERSON

MCA Presents OZZIE NELSON AND HIS ORCHESTRA

With Lovely HARRIET HILLIARD

Dance To OZZIE'S Soothing! Lifting! Romantic! Melodies

TUESDAY AMARILLO SAVE MONEY AND YOUR TICKETS

CONCERT—Municipal Auditorium. 8:15 to 10. The entire series of 300 each if tickets taken up before 6 o'clock on the day of the 20th. 50c at the box office. City Auditorium, 20c. Seats on the lower floor, 50c, if purchased before 6 P. M. each at the box office. Write or phone Miss Lois Black, care Globe-News, Amarillo, 6262. Tickets will be on sale from now until Monday, August 13, at the box office. They will go on sale Monday, August 14, at the City Drug Store until 6 P. M. on Tuesday, August 20. DANCE—10:30 P. M. to 1:30 A. M. Nat Dance Palace. $1.00 or $3.50 per couple. Stage, $2.50 each. Night Club, $2.00 extra. Phone 2-6167 for reservations.