"He Asked Me To Be A Pal, Now I'm The Goat"

CLAIRE WINDSOR SAYS HER CASE WITH READ WAS "A BEAUTIFUL LOVE"; GAVE MONEY

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 12—Claire Windsor's dream of happiness which she hoped would become real in a marriage to Alfred C. Read, jr., young Oakland broker, has broken and today she admitted, "now I know I am the goat."

The blonde stage and screen actress, under her signature in the Los Angeles Examiner, wrote the story of her association with Read, whose wife, Mrs. Marian Y. Read, has sued her for $100,000 alienation of affections and Read for divorce.

"I loved Alfred Read," the story read. "It was a beautiful love, different than any I had ever known.

"He told me he wanted to marry me, wanted me to stop working on the stage and in pictures and be just his wife—his 'pal.'

"The idea appealed to me. He appealed to me. I have worked a great portion of my life, hard. I wanted to settle down, to love and be loved, to be his 'pal' waiting for him each night.

"I wanted. I planned to marry Alfred.

"All the money I had in the world—$10,000—I gave to him to invest. That is gone now."

Miss Windsor wrote that her hope for happiness was blasted on March 29, when Mrs. Read filed her suit. She said she met Read on a train to New York and he said he was unmarried.

CLAIRE WINDSOR

"Later he said he was married but estranged from his wife and getting a divorce," the article continued.

The article ended with:

"I have the courage of my convictions, and if this suit comes to trial, I will win.

"But I have lost love and happiness."

STERLING IS IN FERGUSON'S TERRITORY

HUNTER STUMPS WEST TEXAS IN INTEREST OF CANDIDACY

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, July 12.—Governor R. S. Sterling swung into South Texas with his campaign for re-election today, going to Schulenburg for a rally tonight. Fayette county was "enemy territory" for Governor Sterling two years ago. Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson, his chief opponent again this time, polled in 1930 more than two votes to his one there.

Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls one of the "big three" of the gubernatorial candidates, was stumping in the Panhandle-Plains country having booked Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock for appearances. He planned to speak in Fort Worth tomorrow and then come to Central Texas to make a series of bids for votes.

Sterling To Bexar

Governor Sterling was booked for San Antonio tomorrow night. Bexar county, once a Ferguson stronghold, gave the governor an almost four thousand edge over its one time favorite in the run-off of 1930.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, husband of the woman former chief executive, who has been doing much of the stumping for her candidacy, was adhering to his policy of making only three addresses weekly, on the last three days of each week. He planned to appear at Brenham on Thursday, Houston Friday and Yorktown Saturday.

Voluntary speakers, with former Governor Dan Moody the principal leader of those forces, were filling engagements on behalf of the Sterling candidacy.

Sterling managers planned to make the Schulenburg meeting the nature of a sectional rally. State Senators E. Gus Russek of Schulenburg, Archie Parr of Benavides, T J. Holbrook of Galveston and W A. Williamson of San Antonio, former State Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin, Henry Paulus of Yoakum and John Darrouset, were invited to participate.

MEASURE GETS APPROVAL OF COMMITTEE

MINOR CHANGES MADE IN BILL VETOED BY THE PRESIDENT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The new Wagner unemployment relief bill was approved today by the senate banking committee and prepared for consideration in the senate later this afternoon.

In the house, meanwhile, preparations went ahead also for drafting a measure along lines wanted by the administration.

Few Changes Made

The senate committee made virtually no change in the bill which was introduced in the senate late yesterday by Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.), to replace the $2,122,000,000 bill vetoed by President Hoover.

It voted on an amendment, however, to reorganize the reconstruction corporation in accordance with the president's recommendations in a special message to congress yesterday, increasing the membership of the board by one.

Another amendment was voted by the committee to prevent loans by the corporation to financial institutions, the officers of which have been members of the corporation's board within a year.

Included in the new bill is authorization for loans to individuals through federal reserve banks when the federal reserve board approves.

Restrictions Retained

The committee retained in the bill the same restrictions on the $322,000,000 public works program that were in the old bill, President Hoover in his veto message said they were not adequate.

The amendment for reorganizing the corporation would eliminate as members Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, and Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner as members of the board.

The relief bill as it now stands, ready for senate consideration, still carries a total relief program of $2,100,000,000.

The only major change from the bill which the president vetoed, is substitution of the provision for individual loans through the federal reserve board for loans through the reconstruction corporation.

Plea For Standardization Of Apple Barrels Put Roosevelt In Politics

DEMO NOMINEE HAS BEEN IN POLITICS FOR 22 YEARS

This is the first of five articles tracing briefly the main events and influences in the life of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, nominee of the Democratic party for President of the United States.

(By The Associated Press)

A plea for standardized apple barrels helped to carry Gov. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, to his first political office in 1910.

This was the senatorship of Dutchess county, New York, which he won because he found an issue of tremendous importance to Dutchess farmers.

Roosevelt stumped the county, promised standardized apple barrels—and got them in the senate.

That was 28 years after he was born in Hyde Park, Dutchess county, January 30, 1882. His father was James Roosevelt, fifth cousin of President Theodore Roosevelt, and his mother, Sarah Delano, socially prominent in New York. Both maternal and parental ancestors were early immigrants to America.

Franklin's youth in Hyde Park was pleasant. Though carefully watched by his mother, he nonetheless was allowed the full advantages of the large wooded estate.

His mother used to dress him very carefully, but she also allowed him to play baseball, and perhaps to fight as boys do fight in baseball games.

DONKEY PROPHETIC OF HIS SUCCESSES IN CAMPAIGN WORK

One of his first interests was a donkey. He probably did not consider it then as a political emblem, as it was in later years to become. After the donkey there was a horse, on which he got early training as a horseman.

He made several trips abroad with his mother, toured Europe on bicycle, and otherwise satisfied what has always been a considerable curiosity about many things.

Sailing, boating, swimming and stamp-collecting were early hobbies. Today he is known as an authority on the Old United States navy, has a remarkable collection of old naval prints, and is one of the most successful stamp collectors in the country.

His interest in sailing was so intense that he tried hard to get permission from mother to seek entrance to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. She prevented this, sending him instead to Groton preparatory school and thence to Harvard.

Swimming, likewise, an intense youthful interest, still is a major pursuit, though it has become a necessity as well as pleasure, as it helps him regain the use of his legs made partly useless from an attack of infantile paralysis in 1921.

Jobs Obtained On Farms For One Hundred Men By Unemployment Council

FIVE WOMEN PROVIDED WITH JOBS TODAY; MILK NEEDED

One hundred men were sent out early this morning to work for farmers, W. H. Jones, of the Lubbock Unemployment council, said. There were only a few men left at the office, 708 1-2 Thirteenth street.

"We sent 22 men to Abernathy and 30 men to Shallowater," Mr. Jones said. "The rest of them went to farms north and south of town, with a few here in town for yard work.

"Five women obtained work on farms. Two of them went to Abernathy. Some of the women are as good cotton hoers as men."

The council has a truck that it uses in taking men to jobs. Mr. Jones said that he hoped some of the farmers would be able to use their new workers several days or more.

Stores are sending in surplus vegetables for distribution to the needy. More skim milk is needed. The council has been given two ice boxes for use in keeping milk for babies and sick and the Texas Utilities is furnishing ice free.

Clothing and shoes are needed, Mrs. D. C. Young said. Calls have come in for clothing and one merchant sent over a box, she said.

A committee of women has been named to handle work for women. Mrs. Young is a member. She has with her Mrs. Minnie Anthony, wife of the pastor of the Church of God, Mrs. Mae Parker and Mrs. Besinger of 601 Avenue D.

Garner To Forget All But Fishing

WASHINGTON, July 12. (AP)—For three weeks Speaker John Garner, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, is going to substitute fishing for public affairs when he returns to his Texas home after congress adjourns.

Garner says he is going "to get some rest and rest I am going to get."

The speaker is very tired. He wants to recuperate for three weeks or so before he considers taking up campaign activities.

MILLS SCORES ROOSEVELT

TREASURY SECRETARY OPENS REPUBLICAN 1932 CAMPAIGN

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, July 12.—Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, has opened the Republican national campaign by picking apart, piece by piece, the acceptance address of the Democratic nominee, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Boston's historic Faneuil hall last night was the setting for the criticisms and denunciations of Secretary Mills, who centered his address around the charge that Gov. Roosevelt has no pelgram to meet the economic situation.

The treasury secretary sought of the New York governor specifically what the administration has failed to do or has done in this emergency that is open to fair criticism.

To the criticism directed at the administration's credit achievements, Mills pointed to establishment of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and provisions for additional credit for federal land banks allied with agriculture.

Gov. Roosevelt's tariff utterances came in for criticism and Mills disapproved the Democratic nominee's plan to "enter into a series of bargaining tariffs according to the European practice."

MORE PAVING IS OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Seventeen more miles of paved highways in Lubbock county have been opened to traffic, with the opening of the last few miles of Highway No. 7 between Texas Technological college and Shallowater, Guy R. Johnston, resident district engineer, states. A large part of the highway has been open for several weeks while the contractors, Cocke and Braden, were completing the last section.

Highway No. 7 is now paved across the county from the Hockley county line through Lubbock to the south line of Slaton, a distance of approximately 33 miles.

ighway No. 9 has been paved across the county from Abernathy through Lubbock to the Lynn county line, a little over 30 miles.

College avenue and Nineteenth street around Texas Technological college have been paved for about three miles.

Two paving projects are now under way: surfacing of more than 12 miles on Highway 137 southwest of Lubbock just starting, and grading and drainage of nearly seven miles of Highway 24 between Idalou and the Lubbock-Crosby county line east.

JOBLESS REDS STAGE RIOT

BAN MEETINGS AFTER 3,000 ASK RELIEF AT ST. LOUIS

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, July 12—Public gatherings of communists in St. Louis were under police ban today following rioting at the city hall yesterday in which four men were wounded by bullets fired by police and more than a score injured by clubs, bricks and other missiles that were hurled through the air.

The disturbance started after a crowd of approximately 3,000 unemployed persons attempted to storm the city hall to demand relief. Police reserves, hurriedly called to the scene, attempted to disperse the crowd with tear gas bombs after bricks had been thrown through doors and windows of the city hall.

Retreating to a vacant lot across the street, members of the crowd hurled bricks, clubs and other weapons at police. Some of the tear gas bombs were picked up and thrown back at the police. As the fight grew hotter, police began firing with their revolvers to force a retreat of the demonstrators.

After a fifteen-minute battle, the crowd was dispersed. Thirty-two persons, including seven women, were arrested as leaders of the crowd, which had gathered under auspices of the unemployed council of St. Louis, a communist organization. Some of those arrested had been injured in the melee. Seven policemen were injured.

Two of the four men struck by bullets were seriously wounded. Ben Powell, negro, shot in the abdomen, was not expected to live.

HOPE OF BEER VOTE KILLED

ACTION ON LEGALIZED BREW IS DOUBTFUL BEFORE WINTER

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 12—Unless there is a special session, beer of more than one-quarter of one per cent alcohol can not be made legal by congressional action before midwinter.

The senate, as had been expected, yesterday halted the latest move to write 3.45 per cent into the Volstead act instead of the present limitation. Even the most ardent supporters of a change conceded today that with congress getting ready to adjourn this week there could not be a sufficient change before then in votes on Capitol Hill to amend the law.

Wets Have Hopes

Wets now hope that between adjournment and the time congress convenes the first Monday in December they can change the votes to overturn the 50 to 25 vote against Senator Bingham's (R., Conn.) beer bill. Drys, of course, will work for just the opposite.

Although the Democratic platform includes a plank advocating repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and "immediate" modification of the Volstead law, only 11 members of that party voted with the wets.

LIBBY HOLMAN REYNOLDS FIGHTS OFF PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXHAUSTION AS PERSONS UNKNOWN BLAMED IN DEATH

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 12—Libby Holman Reynolds fought off physical and mental exhaustion today as plans were made for her to leave the Reynolds family estate here where for two days she was held prisoner as a material witness in the mysterious fatal shooting of her young husband, Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir.

Alfred Holman of Cincinnati, her father, who stood by and comforted her yesterday as she testified for the second time before a coroner's jury, said the former Broadway singer of blue songs would be taken to the country as soon as she is able to travel.

The young widow, whose marriage of seven months to Reynolds was suddenly and tragically ended by his death last Wednesday, was expected by her father to be "in condition to make the trip within a day or two."

The jury, after more than three hours deliberation, returned a verdict shortly before midnight that Smith Reynolds came to his death from a gunshot wound inflicted by party or parties unknown.

The verdict served to release the torch singer from custody as a material witness, along with Ab Walker, life chum of Smith, who also had been held, but it was not indorsed by Holman.

"I know it was a case of suicide," he said with a show of feeling, adding "that is, of course, as far as one can know anything without actually having seen it."

SON OF T-P HEAD SHOOTS HIMSELF

DENVER, July 12. —(AP)—A. J. Chester, jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, son of the superintendent of the Texas and Pacific railroad, Fort Worth division, shot himself through the chest while riding in the downtown business district today with a friend, Dave Reed, also of Fort Worth. Chester was taken to a hospital where it was said he was dying.

Young Chester, a student at Texas Christian university, had been making an automobile tour with Reed whose father is service superintendent of the Texas and Pacific at Fort Worth.

Chester was said to have been suffering from brain fever.

Without warning, Reed said, Chester pulled out a revolver and fired into the region of his heart.

Reed immediately started for a hospital. Physicians said it was not likely Chester would recover.

"LOD" CALOHAN, BOWLEGGED FOE TO CATTLE RUSTLERS, TAKEN BY DEATH

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 12.—William L. "Lod" Calohan, six foot two and bowlegged from years in the saddle, committed more than 15,000 cattle brands to memory to outwit cattle rustlers.

But cattle thefts virtually ceased and in his last years as a brand inspector practically all of the average of 500 steers he recovered yearly for owners were merely mixed up in shipping.

"Lod" died yesterday at 65, a victim of the heat at which he had laughed as a cowboy on Texas Plains. He collapsed at the livestock exchange where he was employed by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, and died in a hospital.

"You can't learn out of a book what I know about cattle brands," Calohan once boasted.

"That comes from an experience of—well—if I tell you how many years I've been learning about cattle brands you'll know how old I am. But this reading of cattle brands and knowing them is just like reading A B C to me. I know cattle brands like a brakeman knows the numbers on his box cars.

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR WOMAN AFTER HUNDRED AND FIFTY DAYS OF SLEEP

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 12—The 150th day of Patricia Maguire's long sleep brought little hope that she ever would awaken.

All known treatments for her malady, sleeping sickness, have failed to arouse her from the coma into which she lapsed Feb. 15 as she was preparing to leave her Oak Park home for church.

Research students and authorities on the disease have entered the case, described by her physician as one of the most baffling on record. A serum with which they are experimenting for the first time has been tried in an effort to help Miss Maguire, an attractive brunette of 27 years, but its effects have been meager.

In the meantime, life is sustained through nourishment administered through the nostrils every three hours and frequent massaging has prevented muscles from atrophying.

The attending physician has avoided discussion of the case and of the serum on the advice of Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical association Journal.

Military Air Decks Silhouette With Braid, Trappings

BY BARBARA BEAUFORT
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS.—Military trappings, suggestive of the army, deck many a chic civilian's togs this spring.

To the trim silhouette designed for 1932 several dressmakers have added a replica of the braid formerly used on French sergeants' uniforms, trim epaulets reminiscent of a naval officer's and big gold buttons recalling the overcoat of an army major.

Tailleurs Like Uniforms

Little blue wool tailleurs fitting with the precision of a general's uniform are finished at the shoulder line with stiff epaulets or loops of military braid matching in color. Others border the edges of the short jackets in braid of contrasting hue.

Street coats likewise reflect the military note. Broad revers, braided epaulets and double breasted effects finished with rows of glittering gilt buttons are often part of their design.

The vogue is even reflected in one designer's evening frocks, some of which, fashioned of heavy white or black crepe, have broadened shoulder lines achieved by epaulets and decolletes edged in military braid.

Chance For Short Wraps

With trig new frocks which sound a military note in their wide revers and snug high collars many smart Parisians are wearing short fur wraps instead of full length cloth coats. Brevity is the universal quality of these flat fur wraps, although their designs are legion.

There are brief capes buttoned to the front of the frock and falling no lower than the shoulder blades, waistlength capes tying at the neckline and short elbow-sleeved boleros barely reaching the wait. Astrakhan and galyak are the favorite furs.

There is an air distinctly military in this new spring coat by Worth. It is made of dark blue broadcloth trimmed at the neckline with white braid similar to that once used on French sergeants' uniforms.

If Greta Garbo Walks Out On Largest Woman's Salary In Hollywood, She Will Join Select Group

FEW PERSONS RETIRE FROM PROFESSIONS WITH FORTUNE

By N. E. A. Service

If Greta Garbo walks out on the largest feminine salary contract in Hollywood and quits the movies at the top of her profession, she will join a select, small circle of front rank quitters who took their fame and their fortunes into pleasant retirement.

It is natural for the public to cock a suspicious eye at tall tales from fabulous filmland. But this time it seems as though Greta's "I think I go back now" will take permanent rank with Calvin Coolidge's "I do not choose to run."

There are mighty few in the records of all professions who have had the courage and the conviction to quit at the crest of success.

Gene Tunney, the literary pugilist, was one. He walked out on the heavyweight championship of the world with a million dollars in his pants pocket.

Coolidge turned down another chance at the presidency to become the sage of Northampton at a dollar a word.

Marion Talley, the Kansas song bird, rang down the curtain on a Metropolitan opera career while still singing high C on the salary scale. Her farm lands today are adding to the nation's wheat surplus.

Bobby Jones abandoned a hatfull of international golfing titles to become a professional. He is the only one in the retirement class who quit a career to make more money.

The most spectacular retirement of them all was perpetrated by the late John W. (Betcha-a-Million) Gates. At the turn of the century he had run a few hundred dollars up one hundred millions and walked out of New York at the height of his speculative career.

It is legend that J. P. Morgan exiled Gates. At any rate "Betcha-a-Million" retired to Port Arthur, Tex., where he founded the largest independent oil company in the country during his spare time.

They say that Greta wants to go back home to star in Hamlet under a European director. Charlie Chaplin always has wanted to be filmed as the Prince of Denmark.

Chaplin wants a chance to show his real dramatic talent as a relief from comedy. Greta wants to highlight her career with a role that does not depend on the ineffable lure of her distinctive beauty.

She has made few friends. She has been admirably handled by her press representatives. An aura of mysticism surrounds her. Yet she is human enough to have labored like a slave to perfect her part in "Grand Hotel."

The jealousy with which she strove for her laurels against the whirlwind charm of Joan Crawford disclosed a Greta Garbo human enough to recognize the swift insecurity of fame.

The fact is admitted that Crawford outdraws Garbo at the box-office.

Does the canny girl from Sweden desire to retire before time strips from her the legend of fame?

When Marion Talley announced that she would rather listen to the music of the combines and reapers on her Kansas wheat farm the world doubted her. She had had a remarkable career. At 24 she had climbed from obscure girlhood to star roles on the metropolitan stage.

Then she said, "I do not care for wealth and fame. I would rather be happy on my own farm." Inside of six months she was out of the picture.

At the age of 30 Tunney was heavyweight champion. He avowed his intention of knocking the world loose from a million. In a moment of juvenile laxness he said he never would marry.

Within a year he had his million and also a bride out of the social register.

The political savants spent nearly a year trying to interpret the Delphian statement of Calvin Coolidge. Most of them thought he would run again. But he stepped out of politics and closed the door behind him.

Hollywood has known for years that Greta Garbo longs for Stockholm and a new fame there in her homeland.

But it is hard for them to believe that she would abandon the business of making money in job-lot quantities. She is known to be frugal and simple in her life and affairs. She has a liking for money because of what it will mean to her back home.

Unprejudiced observers believe, however, that her very simplicity insures the sincerity of her intention to quit.

Asked for details of her life, Greta Garbo once said. "I was born in a house; I grew up like everybody else; I didn't like to go to school. . . ."

At 27 she apparently does not choose to run along any further on the precarious path of movie stardom. She will add luster to the group of those who "quit while they had it."

Here is the gallery of those who "quit while they had it," topped by a picture of Greta Garbo, now considering retirement from movie stardom at 27. Calvin Coolidge, upper right, turned down another chance at the presidency and retired to Northampton, Mass. Gene Tunney, lower right, made a million and quit when a heavyweight champion of the world. Marion Talley, lower left, made a fortune in a few years as a Metropolitan star and at 24 retired to a Kansas wheat farm. John W. Gates, in circle, made $100,000,000, then walked out of New York in 1904 while in his prime as a market master.

Cripple Offers Self

After 13 futile operations, treatments by 200 specialists and paying $7000 for doctor bills in seven years, Kenneth W. Siard, 30, of Latrobe, Pa., pictured here, has offered himself to science for experimentation in quest of a cure for a strange malady which has made his knee joints rigid. For nine months, in 1925 Siard lay in a plaster cast. When the cast was removed he could not bend his knees. Physicians and surgeons failed to cure him. Finally he drank regularly a certain radium water recently outlawed by the government. Now he's trying mineral baths at Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he has offered himself to science.

GOOD FISHIN'

HOUSTON, Tex. — The thieves apparently were expert fishermen. They smashed a hole in the window of the J. L. Mitchell Jewelry Company and made away with about $1500 worth of jewelry. The hole was not large enough to allow entry of a hand and arm, so the bandits rigged up a long wire hook and fished out the valuables.

In this High-pressure Age smokers want a Milder Cigarette

WE LIVE in a fast-moving age. We work harder... play harder... travel quicker. And we smoke more cigarettes.

But there's this about it: They have got to be milder today. In this high-pressure age, smokers don't like strong cigarettes.

About four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe, Domestic tobaccos, stored away to age for two years to make them mild and mellow for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

To make sure that CHESTERFIELD is a milder cigarette, the greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD. These tobaccos are "Cross-Blended."

This "Welding" Together—or "Cross-Blending"—permits every kind of tobacco used in the CHESTERFIELD blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. It's the same principle that Burbank used in crossing different fruits to make a still better fruit.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder . . . never harsh . . . and that's why, in this high-pressure age, more smokers, men and women, are changing to CHESTERFIELDS every day.

WARNER DIRECTS COACHING SCHOOL AS ATTENDANCE SWELLS

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

Coaching school pickups:

Somewhat surprising to see so many attending the track school... about 250 of 'em... all taking notes like sophomore history students... Clyde Littlefield made a good talk and the class will keep its percentage... a lot of coaches who do not coach track want to learn something about it... can't tell when they'll have to become track coaches.

Jack Meagher and Clipper Smith... there's a pair for you ...always cutting each other's throats... in a friendly manner ...the cut-ups of the coaching school... them and Pete Cawthon... couldn't sell Pete a load of wood, though... Clipper was asking about a train, the Floydada Limited... "There ain't no train through Floydada," from Pete... "Floydodda is the way you pronounce it," puts in Meagher... "Floydada for the plural, Floydodda for the singular," says Clipper, the Santa Barbara exponent of California sun-tan ..."But I'm not from Houseton; it's Hooston," corrects Meagher... et cetera, et celery.

Clipper comes the farthest distance... was here last year... said he was treated so well he couldn't miss another chance?... Interesting to see former Southwest conference athletes here... in the role of coaches... the Baylor university contingent... Botchy Koch, all-American... assistant at Baylor now... Cop Weathers, Marlin High ...Red Forehand, Temple High... Ed Norwood, Dawson High... Weir Washam, Spur, rumored to be going to Floydodda... L. T. Barksdale, from Floydada to Canyon this year, and his brother, "Little Brack"... then there's Standard Lambert, T. C. U. star who "got his" this June, going to Temple with Forehand... Howard Grubbs, another all-conference from Progville, head man at Lufkin High... all these out of classes of the last year or two... got good jobs.

Tiny Thornhill going over big in private bull sessions... Jimmie Kitts, who dumped the Athens job for a Rice position... got sea-sick on the gulf recently... supposed to be fishing... Rip Miller from Navy learning Texas is a bit bigger than Maryland... got here a day early and thought he'd "drop over to Fort Arthur Saturday night, come back and run out to El Paso and points a few blocks west Sunday night"... he's a man... but not a magician.

There'll be plenty of interest in Phog Allen's basketball and treatment of injuries talks... coaches talking a lot of basketball... and track... Pop Warner a little slow to get started... to those who looked for fire and brimstone at his first appearance... but he'll get better as time goes on... was telling us in the interview Sunday about training of athletes and how he disciplined erring youths.

"...fired Jim Thorpe off the team once," said Pop. "...behaved in a manner unbecoming a football team captain... missed the train... pretty haughty when asked to turn in his suit ...squad got to begging... had to beg hard, too... students got to circulating petitions... Thorpe got to begging... had to call a team meeting and apologize before he got back on... good for club to fire the best ones when they err."

Glad to know (Pop Warner's information) Thorpe wasn't found by the S.P.C.E.P.P. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Ex-Football Players) in ragged clothes, wielding a pick'nshovel for a ditch-digging company, like pictures we saw, stories we read, etc., last winter. Pop was besieged with letters from wrathful fans... "He's one of your boys; give him a job"... nothing to it... Thorpe was working for a park commission and posed for a picture with a hoe, or sumpin'... end coach school pickups.

The Country Club mystery is still unsolved. Numerous members are approaching us, now, offering help against manslaughter and mayhem if we'll divulge what we know... we don't know it. Would like to. Ask V. O. Jennings, he knows ...maybe. Guy McAfee might know. Saw him buying some overalls the other day... or was it a horse-shoeing apron... Bill McMillan says the Lubbock City open will start Sunday, with qualifying rounds at Meadowbrook... continues through next week... does that knock out the proposed five-sided tournament between South Plains League teams?

Opening his series of lectures in a slow and unsparkling but apparently cool and confident fashion, Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, head coach at Leland-Stanford formally took charge of the second annual Texas Tech coaching school yesterday after Clyde Littlefield of the University of Texas addressed about 250 coaches on track for an hour.

With the arrival of several additional coaches late last night and early today, indications were that the school would surpass by approximately fifty the number who attended the Wade-Phelan school here last year. Two hundred and ninety coaches had registered yesterday, and indications pointed to an "over the top" movement today. Twenty-five states were represented by college and high school coaches who enrolled yesterday.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

3 to 4 o'clock—Lectures and demonstrations on track with Clyde Littlefield in charge.

4 to 6—Football: Warner, Winberburn and Thornhill.

8:30—"Swim night" at City pool; all coaches admitted free.

WEDNESDAY'S SCHEDULE

9 to 11—Football: Warner, et al.

3 to 4—Track: Littlefield.

4 to 6—Football: Warner, et al, with field demonstrations.

7:30 to 8:30—Five Man Line, Clyde Littlefield.

9:30—Dance at Hotel Hilton.

Anderson To Arrive

Heartly "Hunk" Anderson of Notre Dame will arrive late this week and take over the football teaching department next Monday. Dr. Forrest C. "Phog" Allen, University of Kansas athletic director, is expected on Wednesday of this week. He will take the lead in basketball and discuss treatment of injuries, on which he is an accepted authority.

A grand total of about 410 men were enrolled in the school yesterday. The complete list included coaches from the different states, sporting goods representatives from seven nationally known houses, fifty Texas Tech athletes and thirty-one Lubbock High school athletes who have earned part of their tuition by working on the Tech grounds and who will assist in field demonstrations, besides a complimentary list of about a dozen who have helped in one way or another toward staging the big school.

Littlefield Is First

Coach Littlefield was the first speaker on yesterday's program. He immediately launched into a spirited discussion of training athletes for track work, calling attention to the system of training he pursues at the University of Texas. He was assisted by one of his own athletes, T. Holmes, all-around track and field star of Texa, who yesterday showed the various steps of the hurdle event.

About 250 coaches attended the lecture, which was held inside the gymnasium.

Warner In Charge

Coach Warner took official charge of the football school at 4 o'clock on Matador Field. Introduced by P. W. Cawthon, Mr. Warner opened his remarks with a brief survey of the new football rules which go into effect this fall, and answered several questions concerning them. He then discussed football equipment, describing in detail the individual uniform, from cleats to headgear, and the field equipment.

Assisting Warner in displaying and demonstrating the use of equipment and uniforms was Charles "Chuck" Winterburn, backfield coach at Stanford.

Training Discussed

After a brief intermission, Warner called the big class together again and got closer to the game by discussing training of athletes for football. He devoted almost an hour to the subject, describing in detail the system of training used at Stanford and how it could be applied to other schools. The attentive "students," with notebooks and paper, kept notes and frequently interrupted to ask questions.

Mr. Warner will have complete charge of football all this week, using his own assistants, Winterburn and Claude "Tiny" Thornhill, Stanford line coach, and Tech athletes to demonstrate the "Warner wingback system" which has proven so popular over this and other sections.

WHO WOULDN'T?

LONDON.—If you were in the shoes of J. Rutherford Chalmers, 27-year-old bachelor member of Parliament, you'd probably do the same as he is doing. Under the will of his late great uncle, Sir John Rutherford, it was specified that Chalmers would receive an inheritance of about $1,500,000 if he would adopt the surname of his great uncle.

LONGVIEW AND BUCS WIN

LOSING STREAKS ARE ENDED BY EXCELLENT BRAND OF HURLING

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of losing streaks were stopped yesterday by Galveston and Longview.

The Buccaneers, after five consecutive losses, defeated San Antonio 3 to 1. Ed Carroll turned in a fine 3-hit pitching feat that left the Indians helpless. He worked hard for a shutout and deserved it, but a pair of errors in the third robbed him of the whitewash. The victory sent Galveston into a tie with San Antonio for seventh place with 4 wins and 9 defeats.

The losing habit of Longview was broken when the Cannibals beheaded Fort Worth, 10 to 2. Again it was a situation where remarkable pitching stopped a losing streak. Hal Wiltse held Fort Worth to 5 hits. Bejma and Garms led Longview's offense with three hits each.

If Beaumont doesn't watch out there may be a tie soon for first place. The Exporters slipped last night to give Houston a 4 to 1 victory that resulted in the idle Dallas Steers climbing to within one and one-half games of a tie for first place. Dallas was rained out at Tyler.

TOM THEVENOW FILLS SHOES OF TRAYNOR

THIRD BASEMAN SHOWS SIGNS OF EMERGING FROM BAT SLUMP

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball holds scarcely any job more thankless than the task of filling the third-base shoes of Harold (Pie) Traynor but Tommy Thevenow is making an excellent stab at it.

Thevenow lost his place in the Pittsburgh outfield early in the season because of his puny batting average and rode the bench until last week when Traynor went out with a finger injury. Since then he not only has fielded well but has shown signs of emerging from his long batting slump. Yesterday his hitting enabled the Pirates to trim Brooklyn, 5-3, give Steve Swetonic his tenth victory of the season and increase Pittsburgh's lead over the second place Chicago Cubs to two and a half games. Tommy drove in two runs with a single in the fifth and then led off with a triple in the eighth and scored the last run on Lloyd Waner's third single.

Braves Down Cubs

The Cubs bowed to Huck Betts and the Boston Braves, 8-2, although the Braves got only six hits.

In the American league, the Yankees pounded Hadley and Cooney for 15 hits, including homers by Joe Sewell and Arndt Jorgens, and buried St. Louis under a 15-4 score.

The Athletics dropped two to Cleveland as the two clubs picked up where they left off in their 18-inning game at Cleveland Sunday. Together they scored 36 runs on 62 hits as Cleveland won 9-8 and 12-7.

Al Thomas stopped Chicago with seven hits as Washington bunched safeties for a 5-1 decision. Detroit clung to third place by beating the Boston Red Sox, 5-3.

Fast Tennis Looms In Doubles Today

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 12 (AP)—Brilliant, fast tennis was promised today with the start of the men's doubles in the 40th annual Longwood Bowl tournament.

Keith Gledhill of Los Angeles and John Coughlin, the intercollegiate champions and New England sectional champions, Berkeley Bell, the New York-Texan, and Wilbur F. Coen, jr., Kansas City, Jack Tidball of Hollywood and Elbert Lewis of Los Angeles, runners-up in the intercollegiate final, Jake Hess of Fort Worth, Texas, and Eugene McCauliff, New York, Dave Jones and Arnold Jones, Henry Culley and Keith Werner of Los Angeles and Martin Buxby, Miami, Fla., and Hal Surface of Kansas City, were seeded in the order named.

Bill Dickey Must Pay Fight Penalty

CLEVELAND, July 12 (AP)—Bill Dickey, New York Yankee catcher who swings as mean a fist as he does a bat, will have to do his 30 days off the ball field and dig up his $1,000 fine.

Over the vigorous protest of Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, directors of the American league decided Dickey's suspension and fine was a just punishment and prescribed a similar penalty in any future cases of "unwarranted slugging."

Dickey, a chief cog in the Yankees' pennant drive, was suspended by William Harridge, president of the league, last Saturday for slugging and breaking the jaw of Carl Reynolds, star outfielder of the Washington Senators.

To curb any future outbreaks, it was voted a "minimum suspension" of 30 days be inflicted on those guilty of unwarranted fisticuffs.

CITY OPEN GOLF TOURNEY STARTS HERE NEXT WEEK

The annual Lubbock City Open golf tournament will start next Sunday when local golfers tee off at the Meadowbrook Golf club course for an 18-hole qualifying round. Bill McMillan of Meadowbrook said last night.

Later in the season than usual this year, the city open probably will command an even larger entry than played for the title last year, the leaders believe.

Play will be divided between the Meadowbrook and Country club courses. On Monday and Tuesday the field will shift to the Country club, returning to Meadowbrook on Wednesday and Thursday. Country club has the call Friday, with play reverting to Meadowbrook Saturday. Finals will be played Sunday over the Country club layout.

Plans Comeback

What with Jack Dempsey, Bennie Leonard and other ex-champs on the comeback trail, David (Baby) Barber, 6, of Cincinnati, O., who claims to be the world's youngest professional box fighter, is staging a comeback himself. The Babe, who has been trained since infancy by his father, a former boxer, hopes to have $25,000 in cash to help him along. At the height of his ring career, in which his parents say he earned a lot of money for the family coffers, young David stumbled in a pavement hole and broke his arm. Suit has been brought against the city on the grounds his pugilistic income was interrupted. Meantime David has recovered and is back in the ring.

SOUTHWORTH NEW RED BIRD PILOT

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12 (AP)—W. H. "Billy" Southworth, who has won four championships in five years of piloting the Rochester International club, today had a new job—that of making the heavy hitting of the Columbus Red Birds count more effectively in the American association pennant race.

Appointment of Southworth, former major league outfield star and once manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, to succeed Harry "Nemo" Leibold as manager of the Red Birds was announced last night by L. S. McPhail, president of the Ohio club.

With Columbus in a slump and dissension cropping out among its players, Leibold was removed "for the best interests of the club," McPhail said.

As the new boss, Southworth should not have to worry about getting total base hits, for the Red Birds, boasting the association's three leading hitters, are leading the circuit in club batting with an average of .319.

Italy Has Tallest Athlete At Games

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Italy apparently will have at least one distinction in the olympic games at Los Angeles—no one else is likely to have so tall an athlete as six foot, seven inch Giulio Guardini, twice olympic fencing champion.

Big Guardini and little Ugo Frigerio, famous walker, drew most attention when the Italian team of 108 athletes arrived yesterday. Frigerio, winner of the 3,000 and 10,000 meter walking titles in the 1920 games and the 10,000 meters in 1924, thinks he can whip the world's best in the 50,000 meter grind at Los Angeles.

The Italian contingent included representatives in track and field, fencing, gymnastics, boxing, wrestling, weight lifting, rowing, rifle shooting, sailing, cycling, swimming and modern pentathlon.

SAVED WHO?

COLUMBUS, O. — Thomas Mathews was walking along the banks of the Scioto river when he heard cries. He looked and saw a small girl floundering in water over her head. Mathews dived into the water and rescued her. Looking out again, he found a small boy submerged about 18 inches below the water. Again he dived in and rescued the child. After it was all over he found that he hadn't even stopped to find out the names of the children.

OFFERED JOB IN TWO COUNTRIES, GIRL UNDECIDED ON OLYMPIC ALLEGIANCE

CLEVELAND, July 12 (AP)—Torn between love for her native land, Poland, and for her home of adoption, the United States, Stella Walsh, world's champion woman sprinter, attempted to decide today for which country she will run in the coming olympics at Los Angeles.

The deciding factor, however, will be a job, the youthful Cleveland speedster has decreed and in compliance with this demand representatives of both countries have put in their bids.

A position in public recreation work in Poland was offered by the Polish consul in New York, while similar work was offered by Cleveland through Mayor Ray T. Miller.

The Cleveland offer was contingent upon an acceptance by Miss Walsh of United States citizenship at a special naturalization hearing today.

Miss Walsh applied for citizenship several months ago but recently twice refused to go through with the proceedings, after losing her job with the New York Central railroad.

Holding it imperative that she be a wage-earner, the slim-figured athlete masked her face in a characteristic bland expression and let it be known that her citizenship will go to the highest bidder.

The only other key to Miss Walsh's intentions was her decision to leave Thursday for the olympic try-outs in Evanston, Ill., where she is entered in the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter relay and the discus throw contests.

Only three of the five marshals at Gaastra, Mich., could qualify for office when they were required to show that they could read and write English.

Miss Drew Steele, 16-year-old senior at Peabody high school, Pittsburgh, has won an eight-weeks trip to Europe for her essay, "Bearing of the Peace Pact on the Question of World Disarmament." The contest was sponsored by the National Student Forum. Miss Steele plans to continue essay writing for publication.

WATER SUPPLY HERE GOOD

SATISFACTORY RATING GIVEN IN LUBBOCK HEALTH REPORT

Every analysis of water from Lubbock's municipal system has shown it fit for human consumption, and city water comes out of your faucet ready to drink.

So saying, W. H. Rodgers, city manager, turned to the state department of health's report of analysis of city water. Lubbock's water was listed as satisfactory, and 69 was given as the average gallon-consumption daily for each person in the city.

Lubbock water is distributed through more than 36 miles of mains, ranging from two to 12 inches in diameter.

The state laboratory tests Lubbock water, from the mains, once a month. D. F. Wulfman, city chemist and bateriologist, each week tests samples of water from each of the six municipal wells.

The water is pumped directly from the wells into concrete reservoirs, from them into a standpipe, and from it into the network of mains underlying most of the city. The wells average about 150 feet in depth. Pump-houses are of concrete and enclosed by fences. The reservoirs, underground tanks, have solid concrete covers and are locked.

"Nothing can get in the water—not even a cricket," said the city manager.

H. E. Hargis, district sanitary engineer, inspects the pump houses, reservoirs, and other units of the municipal water system each month. The standpipe is near Nineteenth street.

July usually is the peak month in consumption here. Last month, June, the city pumped 45,396,000 gallons, selling 43,946,000 gallons. Receipts totaled $13,293.85. Total gallons sold in June, 1931, was 49,726,000; in June, 1930, it was 44,550,000. Total water revenue in June, 1931, was $13,008.70; in June, 1930, it was $13,329.08.

The city's water customers, about 3,900 of them, use from 1,000 to 500,000 gallons a month. The two principal hotels and the two railroads are the only consumers in the half-a-million class.

Stock Prices

It is quite possible that business recovery in the United States will be well under way before the stock market reflects the fact.

Already an exceedingly encouraging sign has appeared in the narrowing of the gap between raw commodity prices and the prices of finished goods. Let that gap continue to narrow for a little while longer, and the backbone of the depression will be broken.

But the depression of 1921, which came to an end in precisely the same way, found the stock market lagging far behind. It was not until four months after a definite expansion of factory production was under way that security prices began to climb. Those who make the stock market their sole barometer in these days may eventually find that a real recovery began while they were still waiting for a break on Wall Street.

The depression has proved at least one good thing. Even the big men can have a lot of little troubles.

A Norwegian jail reports that it had but one prisoner for six months. And he said the only reason he didn't go mad from loneliness was that he was frequently visited by officials who came around to count him.

At last the Soviet government is beginning to show signs of real efficiency. A recent order issued by railroad heads requires all locomotive engineers to carry watches.

"Pretty Boy" Floyd is getting in the limelight again. If he keeps going at the present rate, he'll soon become important enough to try for income tax evasion.

Infernal machines have been bothering police a lot lately, but the only one that really bothers the average man is the one just in front of him on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Millikan, the eminent scientist, says the great problem these days is to find something to do with our leisure time. During the depression, we would say, the answer to that one is easy. Spend it looking for a job!

Flapper Fanny

If a person is simply killing, he's likely to be the life of the party.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says a college diploma is all right until you try to put it up as a collateral for a loan.

Here lies the body
Of Speed A. Head.
He didn't do
What the stop-sign said!

THE PLAINSMAN is the last person in town to want to throw any more trouble upon the already harried members of Tech's Board of Directors. But in the opinion of this column those gentlemen might well consider more closely the interests of the general public in the rumors which have been running around for weeks.

Nine-tenths of the people of Lubbock are directly or indirectly interested in Texas Tech.

Whenever an emergency arises it's "everybody's college" and "everybody" pretty well steps into the breach, goes to the bat and does whatever is needed to be done for the institution.

If that's the usual case—and it is—why shouldn't the public be told at least a little something about what is being done at the institution now?

The Plainsman has no desire to mix up in inner affairs at the college.

If the Board of Directors, the Council of Deans or any other authority out there wants to dispense with the services of faculty members, cut out departments, add departments or what-not, that is basically the business of the authorities of the school.

But the writer does believe that a sharp, clear-cut statement on the part of authorities should be made for the public's benefit and information.

Leaving it to Dame Rumor is pretty dangerous and is likewise most unsatisfactory.

OF course, the college is handicapped in the dissemination of information at the present time, simply because it has no president. The Plainsman can understand why directors are loath to step into the spotlight whenever they can keep from so doing.

Yet they should realize that public interest cannot be pacified through silence, particularly when street talk is gobbled up at every conceivable opportunity.

One professor who did not receive a 1932-33 teaching contract has explained his side of the case to a section of the press and to individuals, through the passing out of a mimeographed pamphlet containing, among other things, copies of correspondence between himself and the directors.

In so doing, Dr. John C. Granbery was entirely within his rights although The Plainsman personally doubts the wisdom of the act.

However, since Doctor Granbery has given his side of the question, as he was entitled to do, this column thinks the directors, in the interest of the college and the public, should also issue a statement so that both sides might be understood.

* * *

THE PLAINSMAN is perfectly willing to leave to the heads of Tech college the decision concerning who shall and who shall not be employed on the faculty of the institution.

He considers the institution bigger and more important than any individual, no matter whom he may be.

But the allegations made are grave. They cast a charge against the operations of the institution which should be answered completely once and for all.

The Board of Directors should clear up the matter in a way that the public can understand. Fairness to the college demands it.

GOOD news from Austin: The Federal-State Crop and Livestock Reporting service announces that the cotton acreage in Texas standing on July 1, 1932, is estimated at 14,192,000 acres as compared with 15,769,000 acres a year ago. The reduction in cotton acreage is 10 per cent.

This is Texas' smallest acreage since 1922, when 12,562,000 acres were in cultivation on July 1. The eight year average (1923-1930) is 17,743,000 acres.

Lubbock physicians are worried—even though realization of their fears will make the cash register ring more often.

They forecast a typhoid epidemic in Lubbock and vicinity if steps are not taken by the citizenship to thin out millions of flies.

There are more flies this year than last—by a considerable margin—and last year was a record-breaker for the pests.

Serious medicos advise not only thinning out flies but also paying attention to sources of drinking water, summer diet and general condition of health.

A COUPLE of Lubbock fellows were driving to Dallas the other day and down in the Abilene country, where they're always building new roads into Abilene, they passed a sign reading:

"Danger—Go Slow. Men At Work".

The driver paid no attention to the warning and stepped harder on the accelerator.

"Didn't you see that sign, Bill?" his companion asked. "It said 'Men At Work'".

"Aw, don't pay no attention to that, Jack", was the reply. "That's only Republican propaganda".

What Two Parties Need Most Is One Of These Detectors

Handsome And Vibrant, Roosevelt Presents Fascinating Contrast In Personality To Serious, Colorless Hoover

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINTON, July 12.—Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover will present a fascinating conflict in personalities to the voters during the 1932 presidential campaign.

There is little comparison between them and if the presidency were to be awarded on the basis of vibrant platform manner, aggressive charm, happy and disarming smiles, sympathetic appeal, splendidly handsome features and crusading fervor, it would be just too bad for Mr. Hoover.

Dutcher

Roosevelt has all those things. He has more "It" than any nominee who has appeared on the scene in at least a couple of decades. He is such a handsome cuss that one of his main tasks in this campaign may be to prove that he is not "beautiful but dumb".

Serious Hoover

Hoover is colorless. He stirs few warm emotions in the human breast. His smiles are few, fleeting and often a bit sour. His platform manner is heavy and dull. His voice leaves most things to be desired. His methods usually are those of the stodgy conservative. And he does not, to be gracious about it, wear the mantel of Rudolph Valentino.

Unfortunately for Roosevelt, perhaps, and most assuredly to the benefit of Hoover, this is not a campaign in which many voters are going to toss their ballots to a candidate because he happens to be sweet and pretty and ingratiating.

Personal charm probably has slumped in value as sharply as most of the issues on the stock market. Millions of voters are worrying just as fretfully as Hoover is worrying, and Roosevelt will have to show a great deal of stuff along with that charming personality.

The "Wishy-Washy" Charge

The word went around before the Chicago convention that Roosevelt was a weak, vacillating, wishy-washy opportunist. An incredible number of persons—even among the "forgotten man" class, the men in the street, the ordinary men and women you meet every day—have been impressed by that charge against Roosevelt which has been so widely made.

Even many of the delegates who had been elected or instructed to vote for Franklin D. had come to believe it. There was very little enthusiasm for him just before the nomination.

Hardly a delegate remained without a distinct second choice in mind. The attitude of the big cities was very likely demonstrated by the gallery cheers for such picturesque figures as Smith and Ritchie and their boos for Roosevelt. I talked with many such men and women as were in those galleries and their one complaint was that Roosevelt was a "pussy-footer" or a "weak sister".

Hoover's Chance

Then there's Hoover—hardly the super-skipper hero of a terrible storm such as the Republican publicists love to describe him, but still the president of the United States who has at least taken stabs at the depression, has had a lot of experience with it, probably has shoved through some measures without which things might have been a lot worse and whom millions of citizens will hesitate to swap for another man unless they can be convinced that the other has something better to offer.

The times are such that the personal characteristics of such a man, unless they are construed as conditioning his service to his country, are not likely to have any adverse effect on his candidacy.

That Happy Plane Dash

Nevertheless, Roosevelt certainly strengthened himself by his airplane dash to the Chicago convention, his ringing speech of hope to the people and the party, his call to arms directed at a progressive Democracy, his confident and joyous aspect as he began the battle. He looked like a much better bet than the pre-convention Roosevelt.

One studied him intently and wondered whether he might not make a far more impressive candidate for election than for nomination.

There were things in his manner, his language afid his gestures which reminded you of Al Smith, although Roosevelt is more cultured and suave, more likely to appeal to that large number of middle class men and women who worry about their social security, hold contempt for all accents and establish their superiority in their own minds from the fact that someone else says "raddio," whereas they do not.

Prototype of Wilson?

Roosevelt obviously conceived himself as a prototype of Wilson. He appealed to the old Wilsonian spirit and sought to emulate it. Nor, in that militant speech did he do badly for a man who had been referred to sarcastically even by the progressives for whose support he appeals as "Friendly Frank" or "Furtive Frank" or "Fearless Frank." It was Roosevelt who first called Smith "the Happy Warrior," and it was Roosevelt who played well the role of "Happy Warrior" that day.

His face beamed from time to time with infectious smiles, and at intervals his eyes shone almost ecstatically. He seemed, in fact, tickled to death.

They say he is a consummate politician and he probably is that, too. But the nation, as far as one can discern, is regarding its candidates with a cold and sometimes bitter eye. Roosevelt has yet to sell himself as the man who can deliver the goods.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1438 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Normal Diet," "List of Books on," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Indigestion and Constipation for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

COLOR BLINDNESS

IN 1777 a shoemaker named Harris, in Cumberland, England, found a child's stocking in the street. He carried it to a neighboring house to inquire for the owner. He noticed the people to whom he showed it called it a red stocking and he did not understand what they meant by that designation because he thought it was completely described by calling it a stocking.

Dr. Clendening

He began to ponder over this circumstance and finally discovered that he was different from everyone he knew in that they distinguished a peculiar property in objects which they called color. He remembered that as a child other children referred to cherries as having this property of red, although he, himself, could not tell the cherries from the leaves except by the size and shape.

From this man's case dates our knowledge of color blindness. It must seem strange that he did not realize his own peculiarities until late in life, and it is even stranger that it was so late in the history of the race that color blindness was described and catalogued. But so it was.

Indeed, the importance of color blindness is only of quite recent date. Not until railway signals and ship signals became a part of daily life was it imperative to have some way of detecting color blind people and eliminating them from occupations requiring color discrimination.

Amusing, and sometimes semi-serious, mistakes occur in all sorts of work from color blindness. A postmaster in a small Prussian post office was constantly having trouble with his accounts. They were sometimes short and sometimes too much. The fact that he often turned in too much money indicated that he was not dishonest, and the explanation was found in his being color blind. He confused the red and green stamps of different denominations and in selling them, though often corrected by the purchaser, he short-changed or long-changed people sufficiently often to vitiate his balance.

I constantly used to get from a certain business house, letters with insufficient postage—a green 1-cent stamp instead of a red 2-cent stamp. Calling their attention to it, the firm found that the mailing clerk was compleely color blind for reds and greens.

An amusing story is told about one of the early investigators of color blindness, the famous chemist, Dalton. He was to be presented at court in honor of his scientific research, but, being a Quaker, it was known he would not wear the scarlet gown of a doctor of civil laws. But then it was remembered he was color blind and the bright red cape was put on him, he being entirely oblivious to the fact that he was violating one of the rules of his religion.

An African tribe which confines its language to grunts has been found. That language is known in the United States, too, but is used only at breakfast.

Carl Slaton, manager, has announced the opening of a branch of the Star Tire company at 1219 Avenue H, in quarters formerly used by the J. P. Frye company.

METEOR SOUND EFFECTS, RESEMBLING BOMB, PLANE, GUN AND HISSING OF SNAKE, EXPLAINED BY IOWA PROFESSOR

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

IOWA CITY, Iowa, (AP) — The seven seemingly contradictory sounds of a falling meteor are explained by Prof. C. C. Wylie of the University of Iowa.

One lone meteor can make them all — bomb explosion—several successive "booms — rattle of machine-gun fire—rolling roar of 16-inch shell in flight—airplane hum—hissing like snake—and after the explosion a moaning roar heard distinctly retreating toward the point from which the meteor came, as if it were back-tracking its own trail.

There are hundreds of witnesses to these phenomenal sounds. Six—all except one—are explainable.

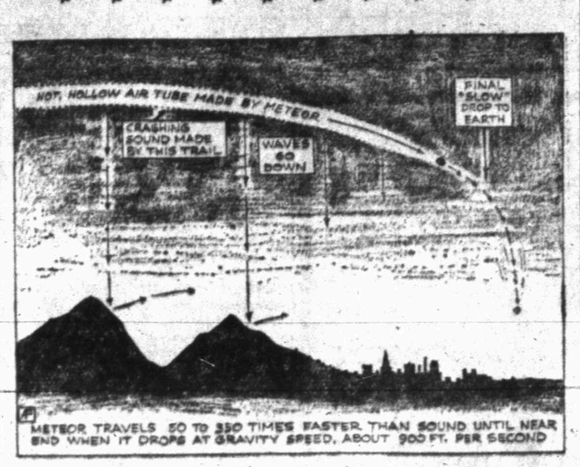

Solution begins in the fact that these meteors hit the earth's atmosphere at speeds of 10 to 70 miles a second—faster than anything else in human experience.

Their plunge creates a hot streak of compressed air, like a huge "sky rope," its center nearly a vacuum. This instantaneous compression and the air rope collapsing account for the big "boom." Its collapse where the atmospheric pressure is irregular and where echoes can rebound from buildings, hills or mountains results sometimes in the successive explosions.

The machine-gun fire is probably the smaller air-shock waves set up by fragments after the meteor bursts. The airplane hum is a large fragment of the meteor falling after it has lost its incandescent speed. This reduced rate, Dr. Wylie calculates, is about 200 to 900 feet per second, the latter speed being nearly the same as the whirling tip of an airplane propeller blade.

The rolling roar likened to a big shell in flight is considered due to diffusion of the sound shock waves from the compressed air track, the point from which it came is the the point fro mwhich it came is the echoes just arriving. Their slow speed, only one-fifth of a mile a second, falls far behind the meteor's flight. Therefore, nearby echoes reach the observer's ear first; then those from farther and farther away.

The hiss like a rocket is probably just plain hallucination. Its observers report that they hear it the instant they see the meteor. That, if true, would mean the sound is outspeeding even the 70-mile a second meteor. Numerous observers themselves have decided that the hiss was their own imagination due to excitement. Dr. Wylie points out that no college professor ever has reported the hiss, and that psychologists are familiar with similar illustions.

METEOR TRAVELS 50 TO 350 TIMES FASTER THAN SOUND UNTIL NEAR END WHEN IT DROPS AT GRAVITY SPEED, ABOUT 900 FT. PER SECOND of this year's graduating class.

When a meteor hits the earth's atmosphere at a speed varying from 10 to 70 miles per second creation of a hot compressed air "sky rope" is followed almost instantaneously by its collapse and the setting up of a series of sound vibrations simulating machine gun fire, an airplane hum and other effects.

Through her remarkable personality and executive ability Mrs. Drane gained the distinction of being the only woman heading a major educational institution in the southwest, if not in the nation.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Alabama Polytechnic institute, is being considered for the presidency of Texas Technological college, according to Clifford B. Jones, of Spur, chairman of the board of regents.

TECH FLAG IS AT HALF-STAFF TODAY

The flag flew at half-staff today at Texas Technological college as a farewell tribute to Mrs. Florence Drane, the college's acting president and a member of its board of directors, who died unexpectedly late Monday.

College representatives here and at Spur, Monday night, made statements in recognition of the woman's services in the interest of the college.

Clifford B. Jones, board chairman, of Spur said selection of a permanent president to succeed the late Dr. Paul W. Horn was expected "within two weeks," and that the group of persons being considered for the presidency had been narrowed to "a very small number."

Seek To Eliminate "New" Will Rogers

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 12. (AP)—Checked in their first move to eliminate Will Rogers, a country schoolmaster with a famous name, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large, attorneys for E. B. Howard, who seeks to replace Rogers in the race, planned to carry their fight to the supreme court today.

The state election board last night held it was without jurisdiction to consider Howard's protest that there is no such person as the Will Rogers whose name appeared on the initial primary ballot.

Two Salesmen Are Bound And Robbed

FORT WORTH, July 12 (AP)—Two Amarillo novelty salesmen who economize by camping were bound and robbed of their personal belongings by two men at Lake Worth early today.

The victims were Glen Kendrick and Milton Barnes. They were sleeping on cots beside their automobile when the two men stopped their car nearby. Barnes was awakened first—by the muzzle of a pistol prodding his stomach. Kendrick was awakened in the same manner. One pocketed his pistol in order to bind the men with towels.

The robbers then ransacked the automobile of the salesmen, taking clothing, guns and other personal belongings worth $350 from Kendrick and $125 worth from Barnes.

SAN ANTONIO, July 12 (AP)—H. J. Holz was held up and robbed of $875 on the Babcock road early this morning, he reported to deputy sheriffs, who are investigating the robbery.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 12 (AP)—The cotton market had a disappointing opening today. Although Liverpool cables were considerably better than due, first trades here showed a gain of one point to a loss of one point and the market soon eased further owing to continued good weather in the belt and a bearish view of an important private estimate of June domestic consumption which pointed to a total of 312,000 bales compared with 332,000 in June a year ago. October dropped to 5.74 and December to 5.87, down 6 to 7 points from yesterday's close.

Later in the first hour prices rallied 3 to 4 points from the lows, owing to a firmer opening of the stock market. Trading was moderate.

The market ruled quiet all morning and prices continued to ease gradually owing to the map showing of fair weather all over the belt and the forecast pointing to continued good weather conditions. October finally dropped to 5.70 and December to 5.85, or 9 to 10 points below yesterday's close.

Around mid-session the mrket while still quiet was steady but at the lows.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady 3 to 6 points lower owing to selling of July against notices and liquidation on continued favorable weather which offset steadier Liverpool cables.

According to early estimates notices representing about 11,000 bales of cotton were issued against July contracts and liquidation was active at the start. Tere also was considerable scattered selling in the later deliveries, July sold off to 5.61 and December to 5.91, making net declines of about 5 to 8 points, but offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying at the decline and volume tapered off with prices showing rallies of 3 or 4 points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool was several points better than due early but eased slightly just before the local opening. Private cables reported covering, continental buying and trade calling in the English market but said business in cotton goods was quieter.

The early rallies met increased offerings after publication of the weather forecast, which made a favorable impression on sentiment. October contracts which had worked up to 5.80, or within 2 points of yesterday's closing quotations, sold off to 5.75 and the general list ruled 5 to 7 points net lower at midday.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, July 12 (AP) — Cotton futurs opened steady. July 5.68-bid; Oct. 5.81; Dec. 5.93; Jan. 5.98; March 6.10; May 6.26.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—Surprising official estimates of 1932 United States spring wheat production 31,000,000 bushels more than expected, tumbled wheat down today to new low price records for the season. The Canadian government crop report also was construed as bearish. Opening 1 to 1 3-8 lower, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started at 1-8 to 3-8 decline and subsequently hardened a little.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—The securities markets were vaguely inclined toward higher prices today.

After a firm opening, the share market reacted a little in the morning, in sympathy with wheat, but came up again toward midday as bonds maintained a fair undertone despite a degree of irregularity.

The morning selling was concentrated in the same handful of issues which have recently been soggy, notably American Telephone, Coca Cola, Case and Allied Chemical, which declined temporarily a point or more. Auburn, yesterday's high flier, gave up a substantial part of its gain. By early afternoon, however, fractional net gains appeared in U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, National Biscuit, General Foods, Borden, Northern Pacific, Great Northern and others. Sugars were firm. United Aircraft gained as much, while the preferred jumped 6. In the packing stocks Armour of Delaware and Gobel were up about a point. Shoe stocks also were higher.

TEXAS POLITICS

ed on the Dallas rally program last night. Governor Sterling advocated such economies that would lower taxes and Moody pleaded for a "continuation of responsible government."

Would Kill Penalties

Governor Sterling said he favored a law which would release penalties and interest due on taxes owed by the people Jan. 1 next year.

"The people can not pay taxes under present conditions and if they can not pay taxes they can not pay penalties," he said.

He said he intended to call the legislature into extraordinary session next fall when he would advocate a reduction in taxes "all down the line." He said he was opposed to new taxes, including an income tax. He reiterated his interest in a proposition to permit the state to assume indebtedness of counties incurred in the construction of highways on the state system.

Hunter also pleaded for return of the days when the average family "paid $1.14 a month in taxes rather than $50 and government expenses were $14,000,000 rather than $110,000,000 annually." He advocated abolition of the state ad valorem tax, elimination of more than 120 state departments of government and consolidation of others.

Raps Expenditures

Hunter criticized expenditures of the highway department and said he favored setting aside one cent of the four cent gasoline tax to retirement of principal and payment of interest of bond issues authorized by counties for construction of roads now a part of the state highway system.

Despite painful injuries received in a recent automobile accident, M. H. Wolfe, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, today announced he would get actively into the campaign with a series of speeches.

He announced these engagements: Thursday night, July 14, San Antonio; Friday night, Austin; Saturday, 11 a. m., China Springs; Saturday, 2 p. m., Valley Mills, and 8 p. m., Saturday, Fort Worth.

Wolf announced he would review the prohibition record of Gov. R. S. Sterling at the time Wolfe was leading the prohibition forces in their fight to make Texas dry.

The race of Texas attorney general was gathering momentum meanwhile. Clem Calhoun of Amarillo brought his plea for election to the state capital last night, speaking to an outdoor audience while James V. Allred, attorney general, was making an address in Fort Worth. The attorney general's suit to penalize and oust certain major oil companies for alleged anti-trust law violations, was the principal issue in that race.

Whistling Democrat Is Taken By Death

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 12 (AP) William C. Page, "the whistling Democrat" of two national conventions, died today at his home in Mumford.

The Illinois League of Women Voters has endorsed a proposal for a state income tax.

COACHES GUESTS AT LIONS CLUB

Members of the teaching staff and coaches attending the Texas Tech coaching school were guests at the luncheon of the Lions club in the Hilton today noon. About fifteen visitors were present.

An informal program with Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, "Chuck" Winterburn, "Tiny" Thornhill, members of the coaching staff of Leland-Stanford university; Clyde Littlefield, head coach at the University of Texas; Paul Tyson, coach of Waco High school; Henry Frnka, Greenville High coach and former Lubbock mentor and Cop Weathers, Marlin High coach, making short talks, Del Morgan was chairman of the day.

Each speaker paid tribute to the Tech athletic staff for bringing such a gathering of coaches together and also to the hospitality shown them by Lubbock business men and citizens.

Twenty-Seven Books Rented By Library

Twenty-seven books, of 87 in the rental division opened Monday in Lubbock county library, were taken out by patrons the first day, Rutilia Eubank Branch, the librarian, said.

The librarian said the rental library was established as an experiment and, if it succeeded, an attempt would be made to buy copies of virtually all the widely recognized new titles in fiction. When a book's rent-fees have paid for it, it will be put on the free shelves.

Final Scoutmaster Class Set Tonight

The last class in a scoutmaster's training course at Texas Technological college will be conducted in the agricultural building tonight, and examinations will be given there Wednesday night, D. T. Jennings, South Plains Area council Boy Scout executive and an instructor, said.

Eighteen students and Executive Jennings participated in an overnight camp Monday night at Buffalo Springs. The overnight camp is a requirement of the course, in which college credit-hours are awarded. K. N. Clapp gave life-saving instruction. He did not remain overnight.

Wilson Child Dies Here Monday Night

Harold Wayne Wilson, four-and-a-half-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilson, died at 8:15 o'clock last night at his parents' home at 1309 Avenue D.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of Calvary Baptist church. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery by Sanders Funeral home.

The child is survived by three brothers and three sisters, in addition to the parents.

The St. Louis board of aldermen has voted a tax of from $25 to $250 per unit on chain stores operated in the city.

YOUTH WOUNDED WHEN ARRESTED

PLAINVIEW, July 12 (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who gave his name as Ural (Buck) Smith accidentally shot himself with a pistol he was carrying when Olton officers arrested him last night for robbing a Plainview filling station and kidnaping two employes.

Emil Witkowski and Charles Elliott, the station employes, told officers Smith robbed the cash register of $39.35 and then forced them to drive him out of town in a car.

When they reached Olton, Witkowski said he told Smith there had been but two gallons of gasoline in the car tank when they left Plainview. He suggested they stop and refill the tank. The employes said Smith covered them with a concealed pistol while they were at the Olton filling station.

In the meantime, Lyle Jackson, a witness to the Plainview robbery had notified police and officers at Olton had been warned to be on the lookout for the holdup man. Officers surprised Smith at Olton. He tried to return the pistol to his pocket and in so doing, it was discharged.

ROBBERIES ARE REPORTED HERE

About 30 gallons of gasoline was stolen from a service station at Woodrow last night or early today, the operator, a man named Huckabee, reported to the sheriff's department here. A deputy sheriff investigated.

Lubbock police and sheriff's departments were informed last night that two men had held up and robbed a filling station at Plainview, taken a Ford coupe, and kidnapped two men who were at the station.

A cheaply dressed young man obtained $5 in a short changing late Monday at the Hilton-Samsom Paint & Paper company store, 1219 Avenue K, police reported.

A charge of vagrancy filed Monday in county court against Virginia LaCount, 35-year-old American, was a result of a raid on a dance hall in Little Juarez, Mexican quarter, Sunday by police, one of the raiders said.

Two American women, one 18 and the other 60, and two Mexican men were arrested as vagrancy suspects. The older woman and the two men were released without charge. Jewell Morris, 18, pleaded guilty of vagrancy in corporation court and was released to pay a $15 fine in installments. Police said the LaCount woman was an operator of the dance hall.

Ferguson Highway Charges Refuted

BROWNWOOD, July 12 (AP)—Chairman W. R. Ely of the state highway commission, in answering charges made by James E. Ferguson that highway funds are $100,000,000 short, said last night that no honest voter would be silly enough to believe the Ferguson statement. Ely spoke at a rally in behalf of Governor R. S. Sterling's candidacy for re-election.

Glenn Spends Only Quarter In Drive

AUSTIN, July 12 (AP)—J. Ed Glenn of Kopperl, hitchhiking candidate for governor of Texas, is showing other political office aspirants how to canvass for votes and still not spend any money.

His second statement of expenses revealed an expenditure of 25 cents.

Other gubernatorial candidates whose second accounts had come in, with respective amounts expended, were as follows:

Frank Putnam of Houston $57.80; Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin, $2,255.23 and George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth $2,214.61. Armstrong recently withdrew his candidacy from the Democratic primary and announced he would run for governor as an independent in the November election.

Roosevelt Voyage Delayed By Winds

WITH GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT, MORRIS COVE, Conn., July 12 (AP)—Strong wind that roughened Long Island sound this morning forced Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to accept a tow for his yawl as he left this cove to continue his vacation along the New England coast.

Resumption of his trip with his sons was delayed by the wind until 9:15 a. m., when the New Haven Yacht club's power launch towed the Myth II out into the sound.

Defends Right As Author Of Dry Law

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) — Senator Sheppard, (D., Texas), defended in the senate his right to be called the author of the 18th amendment.

After reading a newspaper article saying "it is generally known that Wayne B. Wheeler wrote and handed the 18th amendment to Sheppard to sign on the dotted line," Sheppard said:

"That is entirely untrue. I wrote and introduced the resolution that became the 18th amendment. In doing it, I conferred with others in and out of congress."

THREE ROB GROCERY

HOUSTON, July 12 (AP)—Three armed men raided a neighborhood grocery of $12.25 today. They fled in alarm before they could loot the safe, when Gus Blanckino, 20, brother of the owner, appeared at the back door with a shotgun.

Is Whipping Good?

LONDON—The house of lords and the house of commons are scrapping over whether whipping is good for little Willie. The lords inserted a clause in the children's bill saying policemen should birch naughty boys if the magistrate so ordered. The commons eliminated it. The lords put it back. No one knows how long the feud will go on.

DRY SKINS GROW OLD FASTER

It is unfortunately true: the thin dry fine-textured skin which is so lovely at twenty is the first to age, to pucker into a pattern of tiny criss-cross lines, to become a bit flaky about the mouth and chin.

The corrective treatment is simple: faithful and generous application of creams... cream for the frequent cleansing which such a skin should have ... cream to encourage new softness ... cream to erase tiny wrinkles before they settle too deeply ...cream to protect against wind and sun.

A steady diet of creams, each designed to fulfill its own purpose to perfection, will keep the delicate fine-textured skin as lovely to look upon in the forties as it was in the twenties.

Elizabeth Arden, who gives you a proven preparation for every step in skin care, has created these creams to maintain and assure skin delicacy.

CLEANSING CREAM to keep the skin immaculate $1 $2 $3 $6

VELVA CREAM to promote softness and delicacy $1 $2 $3 $6

ORANGE SKIN FOOD for thin faces and aging skin $1 $1.75 $2.75 $4.25 $8

ANTI-WRINKLE CREAM to erase signs of fatigue, quickly $2 $3.50

CITY EFFECTS BIG SAVING

BUDGET TO CALL FOR $19,000 LESS FOR EXPENDITURES

As estimated from a proposed budget, compared with last year's expenditures, a saving of $19,000 in the City of Lubbock's operating expenses for the 1932-33 fiscal year is anticipated.

Whether Lubbock's tax rate is lowered from 95 to 50 cents on the $100 valuation, or whether the valuations are lowered and the rate hiked in proportion, this city's residents will be called upon to pay only $122,000 in taxes this year. Based on present valuations, of about $24,000,000, a half-dollar rate will care for this sum, necessary for the interest and sinking fund to meet bonded indebtedness and interest. A hearing is set for July 14.

Begin With Surplus

The city began its fiscal year April 1 with a surplus of $76,000. Of that sum it is proposed in the budget to place $62,400 in the interest and sinking fund, instead of drawing it from the taxpayers, City Manager W. H. Rodgers said.

Because of anticipated savings in operating costs of the water department, that unit is expected to return about $7,000 more than it did last year. Report of the first two months, April and May, indicate possibly that that sum may be increased. With savings of $1,434 in production, of $1,663 in distribution, other retrenchments resulted in an increase of $4,608 in water revenue over the same two months of the previous year.

Comparison Shown

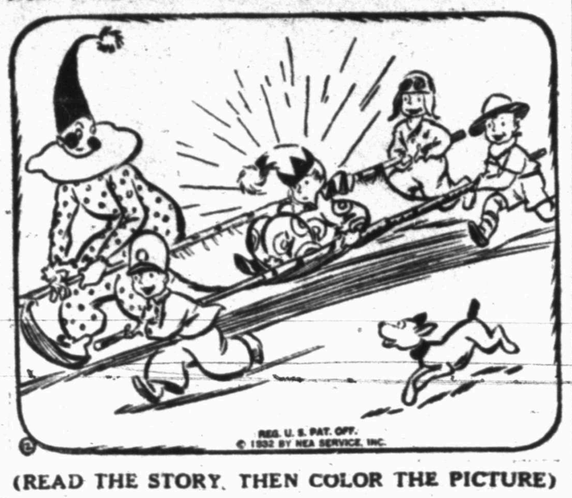

With a tax rate of $1.25 for the $100 valuation, the city spent about $444,000 in 1929. It proposes to operate on $225,000 this year, not including the amount necessary for the interest and sinking funds.

The following table shows comparison of many actual totals for 1931-32 and the corresponding proposed income and expenses for 1932-33:

	Actual 31-32 Income	Proposed 32-33
Electric plant	$121,000	$110,000
Water plant	103,000	110,000
Miscellaneous general	36,000	18,000
Tax general	9,000	2,000
Other general	4,000	2,000
Expenses
General departments	$172,000	$159,000
Capital outlay:
General departments	18,000	11,000
Electric plant	22,000	21,000
Water plant	22,000	5,000
Notes payable	8,000	26,000

The TINYMITES

As Duncy lay upon the ground, the other Tinies gathered 'round and Scouty grabbed poor Duncy and said, "Hey, lad, are you hurt?

"It startled us to see you fall, and it was not your fault at all. It was a stone the chariot hit that threw you in the dirt."

Poor Duncy said, "Oh, I guess not, and yet my side hurts quite a lot. I'll see if I can stand up, but please catch me if I drop.

"I tried to take that ride real slow, but how that old dog loves to go. I yelled at him repeatedly, but he just wouldn't stop."

And then the lad rose to his knees. He seemed to get that far with ease, but when he tried to stand up straight, it brought him too much pain.

"Oh, my," said Windy, "That's too bad. To see you suffer makes me sad. Don't try to get up any more 'cause it is just in vain."

Then Duncy fell back on the ground. Said Coppy, "Some way must be found to take him to the doctor who takes care of circus folk.

"You see, that crazy little slip may have affected Duncy's hip. Let's help him in a hurry, 'cause this isn't any joke."

Wee Windy said, "I'll run and get a stretcher. Then we will be set to carry Duncy to the doctor in his little tent.

"The rest of you can stay right here. I'll hurry both ways, never fear." And while the others waited anxiously, off Windy went.

In just about five minutes he was back and Coppy shouted, "Gee! That stretcher is the very thing! Come, help me lift this lad."

When Duncy was placed, safe and sound, they lifted him right off the ground. Said Scouty, as they started off, "I hope your hurt's not bad."

PENCIL-SCRAWLED NAMES IN BLURRED PAGES OF COPY BOOK REVEAL NEEDS

Destitution is reflected in pencil-scrawled names in a dog-eared copy book at 708 1-2 Thirteenth street. The pages are blurred by constant thumbing by idle hands, by hands that can work and will work if they have an opportunity, to provide necessities for needy families.

Unemployed men and women of Lubbock are using the Thirteenth street address as headquarters in another effort to find employment. Along with the men who have enrolled there are 65 women who have expressed a willingness to work. These women have signed after talking with Mrs. D. C. Young, one of the unemployed, who is directing the campaigning to bring employers and employes together.

Widows In Majority

Most of the women who have signed there are widows, Mrs. Young says, and they are seeking work in order to buy food and clothing for their children. Many have been without work for months. Their children are becoming ill because they lack proper food and the women have frequently become weakened from being without enough wholesome food.

"I stay down here because women will not come in and register if the place is filled with men," she explained Monday afternoon. "With me here, they feel that the place is legitimate and that an effort will be made to find work for them."

Listens To Stories

Mrs. Young, motherly and voluble, listens to the stories of women who come there, sees that they register, comforts them with what hope she can and sends them back to their homes with some of her wholesome philosophy. Monday she sent people out to visit those who had registered to be sure that they are actually in need of work and to see if they were in dire need of food.

In the meantime she was appealing to farmers and others who have a surplus of beans, peas or other produce to leave these at the headquarters. Ice manufacturers have contributed ice and some boxes have been installed. Milk, butter and other perishables can be kept and given to people who need food, she said.

Abilities Varied

"While it is our aim to find employment for all we can, it is also our purpose to feed people who have nothing," she said.

While many women have registered a willingness to do anything that is offered, some have named the thing of which they are particularly capable in the ragged book that is kept on a narrow ledge in the office. Laundry work, housekeeping, nursing, quilting, cooking, washing are among the things these women advertise they will do. There are stenographers and bookkeepers, waitresses, even teachers, among those who have registered.

While several of these women are well educated and are experienced in doing office work, they are registering a willingness to do anything that is offered, Mrs. Young said.

Several women went to cotton patches to hoe Monday when nothing else was offered to them.

Lubbock Residents To Feel New Taxes

A federal tax on deeds of transfer will result in payment here of between $15 and $20 a day, or more than $6,000 a year, the county clerk's office estimates.

Persons recording any deed of transfer are required to pay 50 cents for the first $500, or fraction, of consideration and 50 cents for each additional $500. County Clerk Amos H. Howard said Monday. Instructions on the tax were received Saturday.

Lloyd and Hernon Hyatt, Dodge City, Kas., youths, made themselves an automobile that ran from parts found in the city junk heap.

LOCKHART STATES SESSION FOOLISH

G. E. Lockhart, a member of the Texas house of representatives from this district, of Lubbock has expressed opposition to calling of a special session of the state legislature by Governor Ross Sterling to transfer one cent of the gasoline tax to a fund for retiring county road bond issues.

"It seems to me," he said, "that that would be a very unwise move on the part of the governor, especially as he vetoed that very item once before.

"I think it would be a very foolish thing to do. I do not think he would be that unwise.

The legislature passed a bill to transfer one cent of the four cent per gallon gasoline tax to a fund to retire county road bonds. This measure the governor vetoed.

The proposed special session would not be called until in the fall, Mr. Lockhart said he was told. "It is only a couple of months then until the regular session, so why not let it go until that time before asking the legislature to do that," he added.

No request has come from Governor Sterling for an opinion by Mr. Lockhart on the proposed special session, he said.

After setting a new high record in 1930, automobile deaths in Kansas showed a decline of 10.8 per cent in 1931.

BELSHER FUNERAL IS HELD MONDAY

Last rites were read for A. M. Belsher, 68, whose death followed a stroke of apoplexy early Monday morning at his home at 1518 Avenue F, at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at Bynum-Stahler Funeral home. Rev. Mr. Simpson, a Baptist minister, of Lubbock officiated. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery. Mr. Belsher had lived here 17 years.

Pallbearers were:

W. W. West, A. J. Huckabee, Jack Foster, Luther Jackson, B. B. Gillean, and W. H. Wain, all of Lubbock. Will Emery and J. A. Manley of Lubbock were honorary bearers.

Mr. Belsher, a retired farmer, is survived by a widow; three sons, Bob Belsher of Crowell, and Homer and Steve Belsher of Lubbock; a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Adams of Comanche, Tex.; two brothers, Russ of Phoenix, and Charles Belsher of Houston, and three sisters, Mrs. W. S. Lee of Clovis, N. M., Lulu Belsher of Floydada, and Mrs. Joe B. Miller of Hamlin.

Births Total 266 Here In Six Months

Two hundred 66 babies were born in Lubbock in the first six months of 1932, 10 less than in the first half of 1931 and 26 less than in the first half of 1930, according to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city physician.

The boom year of 1929, however, brought only 256 children into Lubbock via the stork route during its first six months, the city health officer's records show. From January 1 to July 1 in 1930 the total was 292, and for the same period in 1931 the figure is 276.
