Marshall Will Be Global War Chief

General George C. Marshall, left, testifies before the military affairs committee in opposition to the proposed anti-draft bill for fathers. Admiral King, right, testified later. (NEA Telephoto).

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Disclosure that Gen. George C. Marshall has been nominated for supreme command of British and American troops around the world made it fairly obvious today that the hour for storming Hitler's European fortress is approaching with express train speed.
And, judging from the global nature of Anglo-American strategy, Japan's day cannot be far behind.
Announcement of the appointment of the U. S. army chief of staff to the most extraordinary military assignment in history—climaxing a flareup of discussion over high command shifts—is expected, barring any last minute hitches, to be made soon by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

London Expects Balkan Invasion Before Year Ends

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—An Allied invasion of the Balkans this year, followed by a full-scale assault on western Europe next spring, now seems probable in the light of Prime Minister Churchill's war review in Commons yesterday and developments on the fighting fronts.
Despite a vast improvement in the Allied's shipping position and General George C. Marshall's assertion in Omaha that American military forces are ready to carry the attack to the enemy with "power and force," there is a general feeling in London that a front in western Europe cannot be opened before next year unless the German army suddenly cracks wide open.
On the other hand an official announcement in Cairo that Allied forces had occupied the Aegean islands of Coo (Cos), Lero and Samos strengthened a growing belief here that a thrust into the Balkans is imminent.
London newspapers conjectured that such an offensive might be launched simultaneously from eastern Italy—where Churchill said he does not expect more than a delaying battle by the Germans—and from the newly-acquired bases.
Without exception London morning papers voiced their approval of the prime minister's long address to Commons, which made it plain that the Allies intend to strike in western Europe when they believe the time is ripe—and not before.
Considerable interest was aroused by his statement that the RAF alone is maintaining in action nearly 50 per cent first line aircraft than Germany, which came as the first official indication of current British air strength.
The German air force is estimated to have about 1,000 first line planes, of which 2,000 are in western Europe and Germany.

Churchill Jokes About Mussolini

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was in fine form in the House of Commons today and turned what was intended as a serious question about the kidnapping of Benito Mussolini into a joke.
Asked if he knew any more than was disclosed in his speech yesterday about why the guards failed in their instruction to shoot the former Fascist dictator when he escaped, the prime minister replied: "I was not there at the time."
Amid the roars of laughter, he added with a smile, "Perhaps it's lucky for him."

Japs May Evacuate Tokyo

Drastic New Measures Are Contemplated

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Japanese government has decided to prepare "for the moving of government departments, industrial establishments and the civilian population from Tokyo as well as other important cities in the interest of improving their defense," the Tokyo radio said today.
The broadcast listed a number of drastic measures, including total mobilization of the civilian population and the abolishment of age limits to make all persons liable for national service, which it said were announced today by Premier Hideki Tojo and the government information office "in view of the decisive phase upon which the war will enter during the coming months."

Post-War Program Is Developed Here

In line with a nation-wide movement in the more progressive cities, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce is beginning to develop a post-war program for Pampa and its territory.
Definite committees will not be set up pending several weeks of study on the part of the Chamber of Commerce board. In the meanwhile, all citizens of Pampa, whether in the business or professional group or not, are urged to send suggestions to the board, President Carl Benefield said.
A special post-war fund will be built up through the purchase of War Bonds. A $500 bond is to be purchased this week as a starter for the fund. Business firms, professional men and women, and others interested in the welfare of Pampa are to be invited to contribute to the post-war fund.
The 1943 membership campaign was not held last spring due to the curtailment of transportation and other war-time conditions which eliminated for the duration certain promotional activities of the chamber of commerce.
Now, with other cities beginning to lay a foundation for post-war activities, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce directors are calling upon businessmen to fall in line to keep Pampa in step with other cities.

After-Victory Ideas Wanted

Pampa Chamber of Commerce directors want suggestions for post-war planning. The following ideas are presented, and all Pampa citizens are asked to give their views on the subjects, or other ideas for the post-war period. Send your suggestions to the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.
1. WHAT ABOUT YOUR BUSINESS? What can the chamber of commerce, or any other organization do to help your business?
2. PRESENT INDUSTRIES. Expansion, new work, etc.
3. NEW INDUSTRIES.
4. PAMPA ARMY AIR SCHOOL.
5. CITY OR COUNTY POST WAR PROGRAMS.
6. AVIATION.
7. TRANSPORTATION. Highways, railroads, buses, trucks, etc.
8. AGRICULTURE.
9. WHAT ELSE?

Tax Refund Plan Is Offered By U. S. Treasury

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A tax program that would take at least another dime out of every dollar of taxable individual income—but refund about 13 cents after the war—has been presented by the treasury to President Roosevelt for his opinion.
To keep lower bracket taxpayers on a pay-as-they-earn basis under such a program, the 20 per cent withholding levy would have to be hiked to at least 30 per cent.
The treasury's plan calls for individual income taxes to yield at least $8,000,000,000 of the $12,000,000,000 in new 1944 revenue demanded by Mr. Roosevelt. The remainder would be accounted for from equal increases in corporation and excise levies.
The income tax phase entails increases in all brackets but most notably a 10 per cent jump in the present 13 per cent first bracket surtax. However, the present 3 per cent (net) Victory tax would be integrated in that levy, together with provision for a 50 per cent post-war refund.
Thus the basic rate—now 6 per cent normal, plus 13 per cent first bracket surtax, plus 3 per cent net Victory tax, a total of 22 per cent—would be 6 per cent plus 26 per cent, a total of 32 per cent. Of that amount, however, 13 per cent would be paid back after the war.

Gray Is Long Way from Its Bond Quota

Gray county was still nearly a half-million dollars short of its $1,380,200 War Bond quota today, but sales yesterday show steady progress and indicate no slackening of the drive which is to end on Sept. 30.
Total sales to date are $956,215, leaving $423,985 yet to go, according to figures submitted today by S. D. Stennis, county bond chairman.
Yesterday's sales totaled $110,187.50; purchasers, 97; total number of purchasers to date, 2,130.
Not included in the report for today is the sale of $10,000 worth of bonds to the Southwestern Public Service company, that is buying $5,000 worth here and $5,000 at McLean. Also added to the Gray county total will be a $2,000 bond purchase by Levine's.
Sam Penbury, head of the Diamond Shop, jewelry concern that operates in Pampa, Borger, and Stennis that he will buy $5,000 worth more in bonds before the Amarrillo has informed Chairman drive ends. His concern bought $5,000 worth of bonds here yesterday.
Refining company completed their Employees of the Humble Oil & drive yesterday. All of the production and pipeline departments have bought extra bonds, averaging $100 each.

Senate May Delay World Policy Vote

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Senate leaders caught what they regarded as something in the nature of a hot potato today when the house lobbied over its Fulbright resolution calling for a postwar policy of international collaboration.
Senator George (D-Ga.), ranking Democratic member of the foreign relations committee, told reporters some members held "grave doubts" whether it was advisable to take up the question on the floor at this time.
Republican members generally withheld comment on the resounding 360 to 29 house vote for the resolution of Rep. Fulbright (D-Ark.), which some interpreted as a body blow at isolationism.
Chairman Connally (D-Texas) announced the senate foreign relations subcommittee on postwar matters would meet tomorrow for the first time since the summer recess.
"Our subcommittee has been considering for months the advisability of bringing out a resolution," George told reporters. "We have been gravely concerned whether the time is ripe to do this in view of the possibility of prolonged and bitter debate. We have had very frequent, earnest discussion of the question of timing."

Dad Draft Bill Shunted Aside

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A quiet move was underway in the senate today to shelve the Wheeler father draft deferment bill without waiting for the testimony of Presidential Adviser Bernard M. Baruch who recently surveyed the entire manpower problem.
Though informal and still incomplete, a poll showed a sharp trend away from the proposal which once faced the overwhelming approval of the military affairs committee, scheduled to hear Baruch this afternoon.
By agreeing to delay debate on the bill until Tuesday, the senate apparently spiked any chance for congressional action, either way, before the Oct. 1 deadline set by the war manpower commission for the general induction of fathers.
Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), author of the bill which would grant pre-Pearl Harbor fathers blanket deferment for the remainder of 1943, was not optimistic that Baruch's testimony would strengthen his cause.
"Mr. Baruch is an administration man," Wheeler said. "The committee so far has seen only one side of the picture."

Polio Is Believed On Wane in Pampa

Infantile paralysis apparently is on the wane in Pampa with no more cases reported.
Rumors were current here today that two more children had been afflicted with the disease, but Dr. R. R. Malcolm Brown, city health officer, said no more cases had been reported to him. All polio cases are to be reported to the city health officer immediately, he said.
Dorothy Ann Gantz, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman T. Gantz, 428 Sunset Drive, is now at home from Northwest Texas hospital, Amarillo, where she was under 24-hour observation. It was thought that she might have polio but the observation proved otherwise.
Her brother, David Kent, 6, has been suffering from polio, but was taken out of isolation at the same Amarillo hospital Monday, ending a 23-day period.

U. S., British Widen Corsica Push Ahead

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Huge fires and demolitions scarred Naples today as the Germans hastily threw a defensive ring around the city to retard Allied armies steadily pressing onward from the Salerno bridgehead.
The great metropolis of nearly a million persons in southern Italy was described officially as overhung with smoke.
A military spokesman said the enemy was establishing a strong defense line on the approaches to Naples from the south and east, but the extent of their demolitions in and near the city appeared evidence that the Germans hoped to hold back Allied attack toward the city from the Salerno area.
The Fifth Army meanwhile fought its way steadily east and northeast from Salerno with American troops capturing the towns of Campagna and Montecorvino-Rovella while the British chased fleeing Germans from the town of San Cipriano.
On Corsica, French soldiers and native patrols pursued a German garrison estimated at 12,000 men toward the eastern shores while American Liberator bombers blasted at the principal avenue of German evacuation from the island—the Corsican harbor of Bastia and the Italian port of Leghorn.
The military spokesman said he had "nothing to add" to Winston Churchill's statement yesterday that American troops had landed on Sardinia, but the belief prevailed here that whatever units were sent to that island intended only to cooperate with an Italian division which already at Premier Pietro Badoglio's command took control and compelled the Germans to flee.
Another menace to the Germans on the Italian mainland, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army, drove northward and inland and occupied the key highway and rail center of Potenza.
Occupation of Potenza, which is a junction point of five main roads, gave the Allies control of the entire inland highway and rail systems south of a line extending eastward from Salerno.
To the east of Salerno, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's victorious troops met only small enemy rearguard detachments and the Germans there.

Aussies Take Another New Guinea Point

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Only two days after the fall of Lae, New Guinea, airborne troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur seized a village 50 miles to the northwest while waves of American bombers wrecked airbases, bridges, trucks and roads along a path of future conquest for 350 miles north.
The seizure of Kaiapit by transport-floored Australians last Saturday night, following quickly the overrunning of Lae the previous Thursday, was disclosed in a communique today.
This new stroke, which the Japanese futilely tried to erase by counterattacks, and the latest air strikes with 97 tons of bombs and 120,000 rounds of ammunition all the way from south of Madang up to Wewak, clearly indicated the determination of MacArthur's growing victories at Lae and Salamatin shall yield quick dividends.
The Japanese airforce, obviously concerned by the upsurge of MacArthur on the New Guinea ground front and the hammering dealt by Adm. William Halsey's growing air might in the Solomon, struck back on both arms of the 750-mile battle arc.
Captured Kaiapit is inland on the Huon peninsula behind the Markham valley positions which airborne troops seized Sept. 5 to set in motion a pincer movement, which swallowed up Lae in less than two weeks. It is not far from Buna, Bena which some time ago was raided repeatedly by Japanese planes. These raids never have been explained but indicated the presence of Allied forces at Buna Bena.
The Australians who were landed on a grassy field at Kaiapit Saturday night and Sunday now have driven Japanese out of that immediate area.

Duke, Duchess Visit in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Smiling and waving to a throng that greeted their arrival, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor came to Boston today to visit the duchess' invalided "Aunt Bessie," Mrs. D. Buchanan Merrymann, 70.
Mrs. Merrymann, who makes her home in Washington, D. C., suffered a broken hip in an accident while visiting friends at Centerville, Cape Cod, on Aug. 27. Now at the Faulkner hospital in Boston, Mrs. Merrymann has been reported convalescing satisfactorily.
The Duke, now governor general of the Bahamas, and the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, British royal society leader, were in a holiday mood as they stepped from the train which brought them from New York to Boston's South station.

American Soldiers Prove They're Not Afraid To Go Anywhere with Fifth Army in Italy

By RELMAN MORIN
WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Sept. 15—(Delayed)—(AP)—The path ended in a pile of rocks about a quarter of a mile below the topmost peak of the mountain. Not even the jeep could go any further, and a jeep can go almost anywhere. The sergeant got out and squinted up toward the top. He drew his carbine from the holster on the side of the jeep and put a couple extra clips of ammunition in his pocket. Then he said to the driver: "If I'm not back by dark you go on down the hill, but wait as long as you can."

he'd never know what hit him. He's sure got guts. The sun dropped below the horizon and the plain far below was bloody red. The artillery was still hammering and slamming home somewhere down beneath the haze. "That's bad enough," said the driver, "but what he's doing is worse. Those guys can see what is ahead of them, but he can't see a thing. A Jerry could pop up right in front of him before he knew it."

Salerno Front Is Inspected By Eisenhower

By CLARK LEE
Representing the Combined American Press, Distributed by the Associated Press
AT AN ADVANCED ALLIED COMMAND POST, Sept. 19 (Delayed)—After a visit to American forces on the Salerno front where he conferred with field commanders, watched the artillery pouring shells into the German positions and came under enemy shell fire himself, Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed complete satisfaction today with the military situation in Italy.

Through the planning stages of the campaign and its execution to date, Cunningham (Admiral) and Andrew Browne Cunningham, Allied naval commander in the Mediterranean, Tedder (Air chief Marshal) and Alexander (Gen. Sir Harold Alexander), Allied deputy commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, have skillfully directed their respective forces and coordinated them with the other services.

Aussies, Americans Work Together Well

By WILLIAM F. BONI
SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Sept. 22—(AP)—One of the outstanding features of the Allied drive down the Markham river valley to occupy the Japanese base at Lae, New Guinea, Sept. 16 was the fine spirit of comradeship between the main body of Australians and American paratroopers.

Marshall Due To Command Global War

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—The blunt fact about General George C. Marshall, is that he is tentatively slated to become virtual global commander-in-chief of all Anglo-America forces in the field, ground sea and air, and put into execution the pattern of victory east and west shaped at the Quebec conference.

Marshall Due To Command Global War
The invasion was risky from the start and we are playing for big stakes. Even when the situation looked the blackest due to the German breakthrough, Eisenhower was confident the American and British forces would hold and that our concentration of air and seapower would enable us to hold on to the bridgehead until sufficient reinforcements were landed to enable us to undertake further advances.

Mrs. Julia Kelly, Gray County Home Demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on "Good Bedding." Mrs. Kelly showed the best way to make a wool quilt was to tack it. To quilt one is to take the warmth away.

Tips From the Readers

A Woman's Place, Etc.
"So you met your wife at a dance? Wasn't that romantic?" "No, embarrassing as the dickens," replied the other. "I thought she was home taking care of the kids."

Swell Breakfast Dish
You housewives who have trouble in whipping up a good breakfast every morning—here's a recipe that would take very little time and tastes swell. Mrs. Jessye Stroup says she has it often for breakfast.

Man (answering the phone)—"I don't know. Call the weather bureau."
Wife—"Who was that?"
Husband—"Some sailor, I guess. He wanted to know if the coast was clear."

Mrs. H. H. Parks sends in her favorite recipe for Molasses Nut Bread which she says is made without shortening!

1 cup New Orleans molasses
1 cup milk
1½ cups whole wheat flour
¾ cup bread flour
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nut meats
Mix molasses and milk together in a bowl. Mix the whole wheat flour, bread flour, sugar, soda, salt and nut meats and stir quickly into the liquid. Mix until just blended, then pour into a greased and floured loaf pan and make in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 50 minutes. Cool in pan before slicing.

Sounds like real "he-man" food which would go well in a lunch box for workers or for children's lunches.

To eliminate accidents in your bathroom, put soap and towels within easy reach before using the tub and hold on to something secure while stepping in and out of the tub. Never touch light switches or electric appliances while standing in the tub or holding onto a faucet.

REMEMBER— This is YOUR column—send in those recipes or any other household hints!

MP (taking out his notebook)— "What's your name?"
Pvt.— "Laogslurs Alsatik Crylon."
MP (putting notebook away)— "Well-I; don't let me catch you again."

HOME FRONT FORECAST
By BETTY MacDONALD
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the garbage department and help conserve food.

According to statistics drawn up by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, assisted by sanitary engineers, this is the period when largest amounts of food waste are reported.

Bread mold thrives at this time, and agriculture experts advise storing bread in the icebox for the next few weeks. Vegetables wilt and wither and should be placed in a tight container in the refrigerator.

Government figures show that 15 per cent of the food you buy is wasted, that one-quarter of the garbage in late summer is composed of vegetable greens. Annually, Mr. and Mrs. America waste 200 pounds per person. Food waste from harvest to consumer is estimated at between 20 and 30 per cent.

RABBIT RUSES
A rabbit by any other name is still a rabbit, according to F. G. Ashbrook, department of interior authority who points out some of the following trade names for rabbit pelts: Baltic red fox, Arctic seal, Australian cony, Baltic lion, beaverette, minkony, leopardine, Russian lynx, Roman seal, French beaver, electric mole, molin, Galland square and lapin, which he explains is merely French for rabbit.

ENOUGH RAISINS, PRUNES
Because of the armed services, lend-lease and civilians will need tremendous quantities of dried fruit, the war food administration has set fairly high prices for raisins and prunes to encourage production this season. Grower prices reflect an increase of $45 a ton to cover high production costs, but the consumer level will not be affected due to subsidies.

ODDS 'N' ENDS
Snap beans, green tomatoes, carrots, cauliflower, head lettuce and other greens may be "put down" in light salt or weak brine if home-makers have no pressure canners, members of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics advise. All house slippers, unless they have rubber soles and leather sides, are ration-free, OPA states. . . Expect about 16 million more pounds of butter than was originally scheduled for the month, thanks to a reduction in the butter reservation quota made by WFA.

It isn't TABOO any more for girls to know these truths

Some girls take CARDUI, as directed, three days before "their time" to help relieve periodic pain due only to functional causes. Others take it as a tonic to stimulate appetite and aid digestion by increasing the flow of gastric juices, thus helping build up strength for those demanding days to come. A 62-year record says CARDUI may help. Try it, won't you?

Dog Cleans Out Enemy Pillbox

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 22—(AP)—After a year's wait nine-year-old Gail Wren and her sister, Nancy, six, had word today of their German shepherd dog, Chips, who went to war with the K-9 corps.

Dogs for Defense, Inc., informed the children that the distinguished service cross has been recommended for Chips, said to be the first dog so honored.

During the Sicilian invasion, it was reported, Chips cleaned out an enemy pillbox and enabled his master, Pvt. John R. Rowell of Arkansas, to capture two Italian gunners. He later helped Rowell nab 20 more Italian soldiers.

Braniff Seeking Foreign Routes

DALLAS, Sept. 22—Braniff Airways, Inc., has applied for permission to add 19,719 miles, nine European capitals and 12 Caribbean cities to its 3,110-mile domestic system. President T. E. Braniff disclosed.

He said that if the additional routes are approved, the airline, that Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Atlanta and Charleston would become international gateways.

Two new routes are proposed both terminating in Texas. One, starting at Houston, would connect Merida, Mexico; Balboa, C. Z.; Maracaibo, Venezuela; Barranquilla and Bogota, Colombia; Quito and Guayaquil, Ecuador; Lima, Peru; La Paz, Bolivia; Asuncion, Paraguay; Buenos Aires; Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, the terminus; the eastern branch of the route would effect the Caribbean islands, from Havana, to the mainland at Caracas, Venezuela, whence the line goes cross-country to Balboa.

The other route starts at Dallas, Fort Worth and runs through Atlanta, Charleston, Havana, Mexico, Madrid, Barcelona, Genoa, Rome, another branch from Madrid takes in Marseilles, Paris, Berlin, Oslo and Stockholm.

Braniff said: "The Southwest and the South are easy access to all parts of the United States. The area is growing tremendously in permanent population and the vast bulk of manufacturing introduced into this area during the war will remain here because it is being carried on in the most efficient and efficient plants. Fuel and raw products are both abundant here also."

The applications mark Braniff's first venture into the trans-oceanic air transportation field, and follows immediately Braniff Airways' re-organized financing program which resulted in the sale of 400,000 additional shares of stock, creating a total capital and surplus in excess of $7,000,000. The airline plans to use these funds for post-war expansion.

Church Doings In Moscow Are Closely Viewed

By WADE WERNER
 (Formerly Chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Moscow)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—(AP)—Ecclesiastical developments in Moscow—once the anti-religious center of the world—are being watched closely by official and diplomatic quarters here.

Marshal Josef Stalin's recent approval of the organization of a holy synod and election of Bishop Sergei as patriarch of the Russian Orthodox church was considered significant enough in itself as a possible move toward creation of a state church functioning in collaboration with the Soviet regime, just as the old state church of pre-revolutionary days collaborated with the czarist regime.

The publication in Izvestia, official press organ of the government of the supreme council of the USSR, chief of church order excommunicating all priests and laymen who have cooperated with the enemy, further emphasized the apparent trend toward coordination of church and state.

What particularly impressed some observers of Soviet developments, however, was a proclamation of the Orthodox church last week appealing to Christians of all countries to unite in defense of their faith against Fascism. This appeal was a sharp reminder of the distance traveled in Moscow since the heyday of the militant Godless league.

It took an added interest in the light of worldwide anxiety for the safety of the Vatican, now ringed around by German troops in Rome.

It was emphasized again by the arrival in Moscow Sunday of the Archbishop of York, representative of the Church of England, for conversations with the hierarchy of the rejuvenated Russian Orthodox church.

Against this background, officials here showed much interest in a 64-page article on "Stalin and God" appearing in the summer issue of the Quarterly Booklet, published in New York.

The article reviews the life of Stalin, depicting his youthful revolt against religion and his subsequent career as a revolutionist and culturalist with a description of his gradual realization, under the stress of war, that he was the man called by God to have not only Russia, but Europe, democracy, religion and western civilization.

MOSCOW, Sept. 22—(AP)—The rejuvenated Russian Orthodox church has been invited to send a delegation to London to return the visit which its leaders now are receiving from the Archbishop of York.

The invitation was signed by both the Archbishops of York and Canterbury.

Flying Tackle Nabs Former Texas Convict
SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Sept. 22—(AP)—Ossie King, 38, who broke out of the Texas penitentiary at Huntsville 13 years ago, was brought down by a flying tackle by Sheriff Walter Sellmer yesterday.

King, attempted to escape while being taken from a cell to be turned over to W. R. Crane, Texas prison representative, for return to Huntsville.

King, the sheriff said, was serving a 34-year sentence for 34 forgeries when he escaped from the Texas penitentiary. Twenty-seven years of the term remain.

He had lived in California 10 years, served in the army but was honorably discharged because of his age, and later was employed in shipyards. His identity was established from fingerprints taken when he volunteered as a yard policeman, Sheriff Sellmer said.

CIO Will Test Texas Labor Law

HOUSTON, Sept. 22—(AP)—R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) is to address an organizational meeting of workers of the Humble Oil and Refining company Baytown refinery tomorrow night in what he says will be an attempt to test a recently enacted Texas labor law.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO).

The union leader, leaving Detroit last night, said he was going to Texas to test legislation which he said makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a 60-day jail term, a $500 fine or both to solicit union membership without a license. He said he would appeal to his whole audience to join the union.

Ernest Goodman, UAW attorney, said such an appeal should be considered in Texas where he was in the legislature. Thomas desires to test.

The meeting is scheduled for the Pelly city hall. Pelly, Goose Creek and Baytown comprise the tri-county area in Harris county.

Thomas is scheduled to go from Pelly to Texas where he will speak Saturday on the national CIO action program.

AUSTIN, Sept. 22—(AP)—Despite seasonal influences which contribute to declines in the incidence of dysentery and infantile paralysis (poliomyelitis), state health officials today urged continuing campaigns for better sanitary conditions.

The state health department said 133 new cases of dysentery reported for the week ending Sept. 18 were 100 fewer than the week before but brought the year's total to 9,425, an all-time high in Texas.

New cases of infantile paralysis, including delayed reports, numbered 37, bringing the 1943 total for that disease to 1,074.

HARTFORD, Conn.—For the last two weeks the state health department has been looking all over for an office boy.

Four applicants, ranging from 57 to 72 years old, either didn't make the cut or didn't want the job. It went to the fifth candidate—a youngster of 49.

IPAA Denies Oil Profits Greater

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22—(AP)—A denial that oil producers are making "more profits than ever" was contained in a telegram sent by W. L. Stewart of Fort Worth, vice president for North Texas of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, to Sumner Pike, chief of the petroleum division of the Office of Price Administration.

Stewart in his telegram yesterday asked Pike to clarify publicly his testimony last Monday before a senate committee investigating a farm gasoline shortage.

In testifying before the senate committee, Pike was quoted as saying that wildcat drilling this year is surpassing all former records, that more fields were brought in last year than ever before, and OPA figures show producers are making more profit than ever. Pike's declared production had lagged behind demand and forecast that importation of oil would have to be increased in the future.

HESS

Hamilton, who was a wing commander in the RAF and did not recall having met Hess before, flew to London and reported the conversation.

Hess' aim was to convince responsible British persons that England could not win and its wisest course was to make an immediate peace.

Hess stressed Germany's power in the air and did not averred that Britain would be beaten by a blockade at least within two or three years. He expressed horror at a prolongation of the struggle.

He gave his "word of honor" that Hitler never intended to wreck the British empire or dominate the world.

Hess' "peace plan" was this: First, Germany should be given a free hand in Europe.

Second, England should have a free hand in the British empire except that former German colonies should be returned to Germany.

Third, Russia should be included in Asia, but Germany had certain demands to make on Russia which would have to be satisfied either by negotiation or by war.

Fourth, the British should evacuate Iraq.

Fifth, a peace agreement would have to contain a provision for reciprocal indemnification of British and German nationals whose property was destroyed by war.

Sixth, Hitler would not negotiate peace with Churchill and his colleagues, who he said planned war since 1936, but only with a new British government.

Hess emphasized that Hitler wanted a permanent understanding with Britain on the basis that she retain the empire intact. He pictured his flight as intended to give Britain a chance to open conversations without loss of prestige.

Beneficial said.

FORMER PAMPAN HEADS BOND DRIVE

A former Pampan, C. B. (Brownie) Akers, right, is campaign director of the war activities committee of the motion picture industry in the Third War Loan drive. Akers came here from Borger in 1928 and was manager of the Rex theater, later of the LaNora and Rex. From 1932 to 1934 he was manager at Lubbock, then went to Oklahoma City as assistant to the general manager of Griffith theaters, the concern that owns the four Pampa theaters.

Ray Beall, left, of Dallas, associate advertising and publicity director of Interstate theaters, is chairman of the national publicity committee in the motion picture part in the war loan drive, and L. C. Griffith of Oklahoma, head of the circuit that bears his name, is general manager of the campaign.

appeared depending primarily upon extensive mining and demolitions to hinder the American advance. The British forces formed Clark's left flank in the original Salerno beachhead are now on the west end of the Allied line as the Fifth Army swings northward in a pivot action.

A military spokesman, declaring "the first phase of the Salerno battle now is definitely over," added "we have inflicted upon the enemy heavy losses in personnel killed and captured and in equipment."

Many prisoners taken in attacks which already have wiped out the last vestiges of German lines to the east of the original beachhead were found to be non-German even though they were in combat uniforms. Ordinarily in the past, even in Tunisia, Poles, Czechs and other non-German Europeans who had been impressed into Hitler's armies were relegated to non-combat roles and the military spokesman drew the only possible inference: It would appear to indicate a serious German manpower shortage.

Capture of Potenza brought to light one of the Italian campaign's boldest exploits by a small British patrol which stowed away on an Italian train and rode it northward to a rendezvous with the main force at the town of Potenza.

The patrol hid in the hills directly overlooking the town and stayed there three or four days, sending back what the military spokesman called "very valuable information of every German activity in and around Potenza, all of which was instrumental in our capture of the town."

Emphasizing the value of Potenza to the Eighth Army, the spokesman said the town "is a man's heart at least so far as that part of Italy is concerned—it is the center of everything."

Capture of Campagna carried the American forces 20 miles inland from Salerno to a point about six miles northeast of Eboli, capture of which was announced yesterday.

The sky over Naples, meanwhile, was dark with smoke, and from Allied positions across the bay it appeared that the Nazis were continuing the program of fire and demolition from the security of their hastily organized defensive ring around the city.

Refugees passing through the Allied lines confirmed the Allied belief that the Germans were looting and destroying the city, perhaps as a step toward new withdrawals. The refugees said the Nazis had instituted a reign of terror with thousands of Neapolitans dying within the last few weeks for violations of a stringent German curfew edict. Epidemics of typhoid and typhus in the waterless, hungry city were adding to the horror they said.

Light and medium bombers, maintained almost ceaseless patrol over the Salerno battle area, the light adding to the horror they said, transport while the medium ships attacked troops concentrations and gun positions.

Medium and heavy bombers also returned to the Benevento, Capua and Cancello areas to deal fresh blows to the oft-bombed rail and road bridges.

Fighters continued to operate above the battle area, but little to do as enemy opposition continued on a small scale.

Heat Is Too Much For Bandage Room

The heat was on in two ways for the city commission at its meeting yesterday when members received a complaint from workers in the Red Cross bandage room, located on the second floor, that too much heat was in the room because of its location over the boiler, in the basement.

This has caused discomfort to the women working in the room, making their feet swell, the said.

To eliminate this, the city commission authorized City Manager W. C. deCordova to provide insulation for the floor of the room.

Heat is nothing new to the bandage room, as the same discomfort was experienced by the four preceding agencies that used the place: the library, independent school district, Boy Scouts, and the Ration board.

Killer of Texas Girl Confesses

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Prosecutor William E. Dowling said a warrant would be sought today against Emory Richards, 31, who is being held by police in connection with the knife slaying of Mrs. Mary Gallian, pretty 18-year-old bride of an army officer.

A detailed and signed confession, the prosecutor said, was obtained from Richards last night after day-long questioning by police.

Dowling said that according to the confession, Richards' stepfather of Mrs. Gallian's husband, second Lieutenant James Gallian, stationed with a military police unit at Washington, attributed the slaying to rage over belief she was to blame for "breaking up my home."

Mrs. Gallian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee Mash of Corsicana, Texas, was living at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Violet Richards, who was estranged from her husband.

Richards, according to Dowling's version of the confession, said he went to the estranged wife's home for a bathing suit and to "have a talk with Mary." He followed her into the basement when she handed him the suit and said, "there it is—now get out," and pushed him.

Richards stated he took a piece of cloth and wound it around her neck and tied a knot, but when she showed signs of consciousness, he seized a butcher knife and plunged it into her throat.

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A technical advisory service to serve the interests of small plants in this region is being established by the Smaller War Plants Corporation, Morton R. Harrison, regional director, announced today.

Evacuation of Eboli Described by Writer

By WILLIAM STONEMAN Chicago Daily News Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press

WITH THE U. S. FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Sept. 19.—(Delayed)—The German withdrawal went into high gear Friday night. The town of Eboli, long a bone of bitter contention between opposing forces, was occupied at 11:30 this morning. Four newspapers, an American lieutenant colonel and a captain arrived 45 minutes later.

Shattered remains of the once pretentious hilltown, which in normal times houses 25,000 people, were quiet as our party moved up. Lt. Col. Joseph R. Huss of Arlington, Va., and Capt. Charles O. Erwin of Santa Rosa, N. M., were the officers.

The road to Eboli was littered with animate and inanimate belongings of the battle which had raged in this area for nine long days.

Several miles from the sea we came across the remains of a German tank and armored car attack on our lines two nights ago.

Sgt. Vaughn Taylor of Hughes Springs, Texas, and Corp. Eddie Rutowski of Chapel Hill, Texas, were among the tired, unshaven citizens we met coming back from "the missing."

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A belief that the war would end with "unexpected suddenness one day" but that that day would not come in the immediate future was expressed by the Duke of Windsor today.

The former king of England also expressed regret over the "heavy casualties" which the American Fifth Army suffered in the invasion of Italy. He warned in a press conference, however, that the Allies must be prepared to suffer even more heavily before Germany is brought to its knees.

The duke emphasized the Bahamas' exportation of labor to the United States. He said that about 5,000 laborers already had been sent to the "States" and that his information was that they were doing "a very good job."

Reppner said that as one of the 41 campaigns being assisted by the war advertising council, the anti-inflation drive would profit from 100 per cent backing of private industry in selling the government's plan.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A federal grand jury which has spent 16 months investigating cases involving the German-American Bund, immigration and naturalization says the United States will be placed in the "gravest jeopardy" after the war unless immigration laws are tightened.

Fighting Men Ask Home Folk To Have More Faith in Them

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
Representing the Combined American Press

Distributed by the Associated Press WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN THE SALERNO AREA, Sept. 19—(Delayed)—Army and field commanders of both British and American forces are huddled in conferences from which will emerge the strategy by which the Fifth and Eighth armies and the other land, sea and air forces will hit the enemy and hit him again into destruction and defeat on this European front now that the first phase of Italian operations have been closed.

On the positive side of the battle balance stands a brilliant achievement—the Salerno beachhead taken in the face of a waiting foe and held by modern minute men against half a hundred vicious attacks by the best forces Hitler could muster in his determination to make it a second Dunkedque. On the positive side, too, is the Eighth Army's occupation of the end of the Italian peninsula.

But on the negative side stands the bold fact that we still have to get to grips with the Nazi forces and eliminate them. Both the troops and their commanders, however, are overwhelmingly confident they'll get "elusive Jerry" yet, for he can't run away forever. Both are not disturbed by the losses we suffered, for they were light in comparison with the casualties we inflicted, nor by the fight ahead but both are outspokenly chagrined over the Monday morning quarterback who from their easy chairs spoke of Salerno as another Gallipoli.

It is true that last Monday afternoon German tanks and Panzer grenadiers bent our lines and drove into a pocket between the Sele and Calore rivers. It is true also that at the extremity of this pocket our artillery had no infantry front cover, but it is equally a fact that artillerymen under the command of Lieut. Col. Hal Muldrow of Norman, Okla., reducing their gun crews to the bare operational minimum, took up rifles and machine guns, improvised their own infantry tactics and help the enemy at bay.

Now that that particular battle is over and won this story can be told. The fight had been raging for three hours and as dusk fell the infantry fell back to defensive positions on the west bank of the Sele river.

The artillery batteries were likewise ordered to move back, but before they could get started Colonel Muldrow and Major Otwa Autry, Enid, Okla., saw a column of enemy tanks moving down in between the rivers. Darkness and the smoke of

Social Security Fund Study Is Urged by Solons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—(AP)—A congressional study of the expected drain on social security funds now held by the government, in the light of wartime developments, was suggested by Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee.

George expressed agreement with Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), ranking member of the committee, that a close re-examination should be made before any decision is reached on doubling the contributions of employers and employees. Employer and employee each now pay 1 per cent of the salary or wage into the trust fund from which the benefits are paid. Under the original law, this rate was to have been doubled to 2 per cent each on Jan. 1, 1942, an increase of $1,200,000,000 a year, but congress twice has ordered the hike postponed on the ground the fund held a large enough reserve to meet all conceivable needs.

Vandenberg, who insisted on the previous postponements, now is advising that congress study the matter intently in the light of "new and highly speculative factors" injected into the actual calculations by the war.

George was of the same opinion. "The social security fund now contains about $4,300,000,000," he said, but drafts against it may be pretty heavy shortly after the end of the war, and there may be some good reasons for leveling the levy to advance automatically. Arthur J. Altmyer, chairman of the social security board, listed some factors in a letter to Vandenberg. Among these, he said, are "rapid changes in the patterns of employment and earnings during and after the war as well as the extra war mortality, and the numerous other uncertainties connected with the changing national and international situation."

Economist Says Oil Wells Are at Peak

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—(AP)—Joseph E. Pogue of New York, petroleum economist, said Tuesday this country's oil wells had already reached their peak of efficient production and that any additional oil supplies needed should come from other countries.

In a paper prepared for delivery at the National Petroleum Association's annual convention, Pogue said United States wells produced 4,200,000 barrels a day during August and that the petroleum industry had stated they could not be expected to produce more than 4,200,000 or 4,300,000 without waste during 1944 and 1945.

The economist, who is also a vice president of the Chase National Bank, advocated heavier withdrawals of oil from the Caribbean region and the Middle East countries, where he said production now exceeded demand by several hundred thousand barrels daily.

OGDEN, Utah.—Mrs. Ellano Lowe, a time keeper, hurriedly picked up her five share-ride passenger, drove to work one-handed, then worked out her shift—despite the fact she had a newly-fractured arm, not yet set. She explained: "I've got a brother in the Aleutian islands who would pull the trigger with his left hand. If he were shot in the right," battle made it impossible to say whether they were friend or enemy until one opened fire. Muldrow and Autry dove into a slit trench and ordered their men to fire artillery at point blank range with minimum crews while the remainder took front-line infantry covering positions.

Battery commanders promptly executed orders sending forward Sergeants Lester Snow, Tonkawa, Okla., Carl Creikenberger, of Chickasha, Okla., and John Morgan, Konowa, Okla., Corporal Bruce Peck, Jersey City, N. J., Pfc. Jess Gordon, Cordell, Okla., and Private Julian Dymak, Buffalo, N. Y.

While Lieut. Stanley Torgenson, Minneapolis, distinguished himself—braving death by standing on a fuse and ammunition box to direct the fire—Sgt. Snow operated a 50-caliber machine gun which sent the Jerries "scrambling to cover" and broke the charge.

That's the story and it's at request of these and other brave men who have fought beyond the point of endurance the past week that I pass on their request: "Ask the people at home to have more faith in us—we shall never run back."

Ouster of Davis From OWI Asked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—(AP)—The office of war information was set up today as the target for the first economy drive of the fall session of congress.

"Their operations are a continuing menace," said Rep. Taber of New York, ranking Republican on the house appropriations committee. He urged a reorganization of OWI and removal of its administrator, Elmer Davis.

The New Yorker, who led last summer's fight which resulted in closing most of the field offices in domestic service, told reporters he believed Davis should be replaced by "a trained executive."

Given approximately $33,000,000 out of a request for $48,000,000 last summer, OWI is understood to have gone before the budget bureau already for approval of a request to congress for additional funds. Legislation to abolish the agency outright and transfer its functions to the state department is pending before a house committee, but no immediate action is expected. It was introduced by Rep. Barry (D-NY).

From Rep. Johnson (D-Okla.), a member of the appropriations subcommittee on deficiencies, came a warning that not only OWI but all other agencies not directly tied in with the war effort face difficulty in obtaining more funds from congress. Johnson said he favored "giving the army and navy every dollar they need but trimming to the bone and then some the agencies not engaged in handling war activities."

Grocers Advised To Be Polite

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—(AP)—The commerce department advised the nation's grocers today: "No matter how much you may want to throw a tin can at an overbearing customer, it is much wiser to smile and take it."

It is one of more than two-score suggestions by the department in a "war-time guide for retail grocers," a 24-page publication which tells the grocer he is just as essential to civilian life as the soldier is to military success.

Every little bit counts these days. Every piece of copper and rubber that may be used to help make new telephone equipment is now needed to turn out war material.

What does that have to do with party-line telephone service?
Plenty.

Because telephone materials have gone to war fronts, more people are finding it necessary to use party lines.

So, more than ever, it's necessary to be considerate—remember to share our party lines—give the other folks a fair share of time to talk.

One big thing working against this, plainly speaking, is engine acid! After combustion stops, and your car stands long, the acid always formed in any engine can keep gnawing undisturbed. Gone are the big mileage, ample speed and resulting engine heat that formerly kept down acid damage. Today's opposite driving conditions could multiply acid damage, except that you can have the interior of your engine protectively OIL-PLATED by the simple economical change to Conoco Nth motor oil.

There is a synthetic in Conoco Nth oil that makes it "magnetically active," as it were, attracting OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces. Truman Asserts Army Could Cut Personnel Goals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—(AP)—Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) of the senate war investigating committee has asserted the army and navy could reduce their draft quotas by "several hundred thousand men" without "impairing their striking force."

Urging that the armed services pare their manpower requirements to the "barest minimum" before any general drafting of fathers, Truman told the senate a full utilization of men already in the services should be demonstrated before "disrupting families and civilian industries."

Truman informed reporters he was "not in favor" of the Wheeler bill to postpone induction of fathers of pre-Pearl Harbor children until Jan. 1, but that the armed services should "take the initiative" in reducing their personnel goals.

Truman stated he spoke from knowledge—he and members of his committee had gained from inspecting army camps throughout the country, when he said the committee found hundreds of soldiers doing the same tasks they were performing six months, and sometimes two years previously. Truman declared: "The number of men who have been in the army for 12 months or more and are still in the United States has been steadily increasing until today we have many hundreds of thousands of men in the army who are impatient to be sent abroad or home."

He said men should not be inducted before there was "a reasonable expectancy" they could be sent abroad at the end of their training. "Any frittering away of our resources or manpower or materials whether by the armed forces or by civilians will weaken us," he said, "and if carried too far, will sow the seeds of discord and dissatisfaction that might make us a prey to overtures for a stalemate peace."

Yanks Slower Winning Flag This Season

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues settled down to business again today for two weeks of solid sending before the season closes and the New York Yankees took up the now serious task of clinching the American League pennant.

In winning the championship in six out of seven years before the present campaign the Yankees usually have managed to nail the flag up long before this.

Consequently the present delay is aggravating to the Yanks and their followers, even though there is little doubt that they will reach the king row eventually.

New York needs a combination of five victories or Washington defeats to eliminate the Senators. On the form the Yanks have shown earlier these should not be beyond their powers but the Detroit Tigers, with whom they were to open a four-game series today, have been one of their toughest foes over a period of many years.

The Yanks are not trailing any club in a season's series, but with the Tigers they are no better than even—nine victories apiece.

Hank Borowy was expected to go to the mound for New York today in quest of his sixth successive triumph and was likely to get Bookie Rufus Gentry for an opponent.

The Senators, seeking their tenth consecutive victory, were booked for the first of three night games with the St. Louis Browns while the Cleveland Indians, still mathematically in the race, opened their last eastern invasion at Boston.

In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers tackled the St. Louis Cardinals in a battle to hold second place against the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds have a chance to gain ground, playing the last place New York Giants in a doubleheader.

Storms Ahead For Green Buck Team

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 22.—(AP)—If that graying Colonel, Alvin (Bo) McMillin of Indiana, hasn't already extracted all the pith from his "my pore little boys" phrase, you'd probably find Coach Paul E. Brown of Ohio State's Bucks borrowing it for this year.

The big, bad Bucks of 1942, winners of the big ten and National titles, are just the baby bucks this season, and facing their terrific talent and scorn of a future which Brown describes as "unfuffled."

In last year's finale, Ohio walloped the pre-flight Seahawks of Iowa by 42 to 12 to make it a won-nine best-of-one-season. This Saturday the Bucks meet the Seahawks in the openers against the 23-18 winners over Illinois. Brown will send five juniors and six freshmen, each of the latter 17 years old.

His backs are freshmen, and his tow passers have never thrown a ball in competition. An end drops back to do the punting, and a third string lineman is injected into the lineup to kick off. The five juniors, only one a regular on last year's down-and-out team, have been deferred the draft because of such items as marriage, asthma, punctured eardrums and varicose veins.

Faced with all that, and nine major games in nine weeks, Brown gains:

"This will be an amusing season. No one knows what will happen, but it will be fun to watch these kids—most of them just three months out of high school—develop into big-timers."

Heading the Buck attack will be Dean Sensenbagger, 175-pound freshman ball-totter, and passer, and Ernie Parks, huge negro halfback. Parks is the Ohio high school record champion. All the holdovers from last year are in the line. They are Bill (Deacon) Willis, negro tackle and first stringer; second team center; Bill Hackett, third team guard; end Cecil Souder of the second stringers, and Jack Dugger, a third string tackle of 1942 who moves to end and takes over the acting captaincy.

YOU PICK 'EM

(Centering your attention on the World Series center fielders). Roy Weatherly, "Tuck Stainback" and Johnny Lindell, Yankees—(there's no telling who'll play). Weatherly is the "regular." Hitting only 261 now but he's won a lot of ball games with clutch hits. Was suspended twice in 1941 for not hustling and was one of the Indians' most consistent holdouts. Was the first Yank to sign in 1943, indicating a complete cure of both ailments. . . . Stainback, a ballhawk but hits in the 240 class—usually in streaks. . . . Lindell, a converted pitcher who can powder the ball when he hits at all. Not too sure of himself in the field. May also play right field against southpaw pitching.

Harry (Dixie) Walker, Cardinals—he's no Terry Moore, in more ways than one; doesn't get the jump on the bays the way Terry used to. . . Hits both ways and might run into one during the series. . . In 1941 he busted up the Junior World Series with a "storybook" homer for Columbus. Last year he might as well have brought a good book to read on the bench while the Cards licked the Yanks.

Texas Aggies Star Back Called By Navy

(By The Associated Press) Southwest Conference football players appear to be in good physical condition after the week's opening practice session. Only one squadman was reported out of uniform, a Mustang with an injured knee.

But there was a coach who wasn't too happy. Aggie Coach Homer Norton's prize high school back, Martin Flanagan of Sweetwater, will report for duty as a naval aviation reservist Sept. 27.

Donore, star backer, probably will fill his place. The Aggies began two-a-day workouts Tuesday for their opener against Bryan Air Field Saturday.

SMU's Mustangs worked on their aerial offensive in preparation for Saturday's game at Dallas with Tulsa's Golden Hurricane linebackers were put through rigorous blocking and charging.

Texas Christian's Frogs worked on passes, offensive and defensive, getting ready for their opening Oct. 2 with the Arkansas Razorbacks at Little Rock. The Razorbacks were reinforced yesterday by Wingback Joe Centenario of Helena, Ark., who had two years of junior college grid experience, and gave attention to passing and a new double-wing running attack.

Rice players are being worked overtime on pass defense in getting ready for Saturday's opener with Randolph Field, in expectation that Hein Dobbs, all-American from Tulsa, will cut loose with a pass attack.

As the University of Texas Longhorns primed for their opener at Austin Saturday with the Blackland Army Air Field, it was announced that Joe Maglioli of Galveston, a blocking back, would captain the game.

TEXAS STARTS 51st YEAR AS SPORTS WRITER

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Uncle Mose probably would dismiss it with "newspaper men are not news" but Fred Mosebach has entered his second half-century as a sports chronicler with a story back of him as colorful as any he ever wrote of the mighty of baseball and boxing.

In 1892 the late John J. McCloskey reorganized the four-year old Texas League with four clubs—San Antonio, Houston, Waco and Galveston. Mosebach, working on the San Antonio Express, was made official scorer. He was paid the magnificent sum of $1.50 a game—when he could collect it.

Thus he was off on a writing career. In those days Uncle Mose, as he now is known by thousands of writers and baseball men the country over, wrote the doings of the league for many publications over the country.

In 1888 Mosebach contacted Ashley Lloyd, treasurer of the Cincinnati Reds and got owner John T. Brush to bring his team to San Antonio for three weeks' spring training. It was the beginning of a long list of training trips to this city by Major League clubs.

Mosebach met and interviewed James J. (Gentleman Jim) Corbett, John L. Sullivan, Paddy Ryan and Jack McAuliffe. He wrote articles on Corbett twice—in 1894 and in 1896 when Jim was training for his proposed Dallas fight with Bob Fitzsimmons. Gov. Charles A. Culbertson called a special session of the legislature and passed the anti-fight law—and the battle went to Canada City, Nev.

Assignments that brought him in contact with colorful personalities allowed him to meet and know such notables as William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody and Lilly Langtry.

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Abel Gonzales, triple-threat star of the Southern Methodist University football team, Tuesday was ordered to report to Notre Dame Sept. 30 under the naval V-7 program.

Gonzales, the Southwest Conference's top passer, was undecided whether he would play for S. M. U. here Saturday against Tulsa University as he wants to visit his home in San Antonio before reporting.

Gonzales and Ray Rasor, star guard who also has been ordered to report to Notre Dame, were named co-captains for the Tulsa game.

This was decided yesterday by the committee of the union, which represents telephone workers in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas and Texas.

Sugar Bowl Game Ticket Sale Will Open November 15

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Joseph E. David, president of the Mid-Winter Sports association, announced today that tickets for the annual Sugar Bowl football game would go on sale Nov. 15, and expressed confidence the classic would draw a capacity crowd of 72,000 without interfering with wartime travel restrictions.

"There are in New Orleans today," David said, "many thousands of defense workers, gathered from all parts of the nation, who have never seen the Sugar Bowl classic, and who will welcome the opportunity to do so on next New Year's day."

"We will follow our procedure in selecting teams and are sure we will get the best." David said special low priced tickets would be provided for service men and women.

David's announcement, the first concerning the annual sports carnival, said the staging of the game "is in keeping with the wishes expressed by Chairman Paul McNutt of the manpower commission for a continuation of all sports."

Hazards of Travel

Apparently sabotage has been eliminated as an explanation of the coincidence by which, between dusk and dawn, two of the world's most famous trains were wrecked within a few hundred miles of each other.

This raises a question whether the recent wrecks of the Pennsylvania's Advance Congressional and the New York Central's Twentieth Century Limited—and before that a Lackawanna train at Wayland, N. Y., and then the explosion of an Erie locomotive at Port Jervis, N. Y.—were due to faulty maintenance attributable to the war.

It will be some time, probably, before final reports place responsibility for each of these accidents. Even then, there may be a legitimate question whether the series of mishaps was a coincidence—something that might have occurred in peace times, with the utmost of preventive attention, but just happened to come now, when we are prepared to expect the worst.

If it proves that maintenance faults were at least partially responsible, nobody need be surprised. The railroads have been pressed to the limit to handle unprecedented patronage. They have been forced to use every locomotive and every car capable of standing under its own weight, and to run them day and night with a minimum of opportunity for checkup and tinkering.

Like everybody else, the railroads are handicapped by inability to obtain replacements of equipment, or even ample material for renovation. Shop equipment is at a premium. They can't expand their working forces—they do not even have their normal personnel of veteran men, because the armed forces have taken thousands of railroaders.

It is to be hoped that every investigating agency will go deeply into this matter, as these and other wrecks are checked. Not merely to satisfy curiosity, and surely not just to place blame, if any. But to find out whether, in view of the burden they are carrying, the railroads must be given special consideration as to manpower and materials and machinery.

A breakdown in American transportation would be extremely damaging to Allied military operations. It must not be permitted to occur. The time to avert it is in advance. We must not wait in this, as we have in so many other instances, until the horse is stolen before we begin looking for a lock for the stable door.

Less Paper For Newspapers

Extent to which newspapers have already been cut down on their supplies of white paper on which they are printed (known to them as "newsprint"), serves to emphasize the waste of scarce paper by government bureaus and to increase demands for more sensible handling of available paper stocks.

An instance in point is the recent absurdity of having a government booklet reprinted, at a cost of hundreds of dollars and a waste of a half-ton of newsprint, for no other reason than that the names of two departments were reversed in the credit lines.

In the processes of rationing, making income tax returns and other requirements of many vastly complicated industrial and business reports, there is fairly justifiable need for use of immense amounts of paper. But the floods of forms and questionnaires that pour in on business and industry form a multiplicity of bureaus and the waves of pamphlets, handouts and publicity broadsides that engulf newspaper offices and make janitors stoop-shouldered carrying out overflowing waste baskets, are something altogether different.

If Washington would extend paper-rationing to bureaucrats the paper shortage would be relieved and one of the chief manpower bottle-necks broken.

Meanwhile, newspapers, with a cut approximating 15 per cent in their newsprint requirements already in effect, and with a threat of a further 30 per cent reduction hanging over them, are resorting to all manner of conservation measures from "freezing" their circulation to eliminating features.

WHAT ARE RIGHTS?
(The News and Courier, Charleston S. C.)

No intelligent person wants negroes denied equal rights. No one wishes them denied the privilege of voting in general elections. Most people wish them to receive equal wages with white people for equal service. That is the News and Courier's wish. In the courts they have long had justice; indeed the average judge and jury lean to mercy toward negroes indicted for crimes.

What are "rights"? What are the rights of an employer of labor? In the last thirty years white girls have come to be employed in most of the hotels and restaurants in South Carolina. Elderly persons remember when negroes had a monopoly of this employment.

In a South Carolina hotel white girls, fine girls, too, are waiting on the tables in the dining rooms. Others are cleaning the rooms. They are high school girls, and they will return to their schools, some of them to colleges, in a few weeks. They are the friends of the hotel's guests.

Think on this: if next summer twenty white girls and twenty negro girls apply for work in that hotel, shall the hotel company prefer the negro girls?

Or shall it employ only white girls? In so doing would it deny rights to negroes?

In that hotel—and in all hotels in South Carolina except those maintained exclusively for colored people—the guests are all white. If "equal rights to negroes" means that employers have no right to prefer white girls as waitresses and that proposition shall be set up and sustained by law, how long shall a hotel in Orangeburg or Anderson be allowed to deny rooms and seats at the dining table to negroes?

TAX ONLY WEALTH NOT SOCIALIZED
If voters would consent to a taxing system that taxed only income, that was not socialized, we would have an ideal taxing system.

This kind of taxing system would mean there would be no tax on income that was converted into tools, equipment and ideas. There would be no tax in short on all wealth that was socialized. All capital is socialized. Only the wealth that is used for personal use or enjoyment is wealth that could be regarded as non-socialized wealth.

If all the voters realized that private capital is already socialized the socialists would get mighty little support. We need not have productive capital owned by the government in order to have capital socialized. It is already socialized in spite of private ownership.

It is largely because we are taxing the worker, the producer, instead of the consumer that we have had a decline in our constantly increased standard of living we had for 130 years before we began taxing production.

No, we do not need a new world, all we need to do is to abandon the collective sins of our own people and of our own government. And one of the most harmful sins that is wrecking our character and our material growth is not only taxing production but progressively taxing production. This is out of harmony with every natural law. It is out of harmony with God's law. It can spell, if continued, only poverty and misery and ruin.

STOPPING WARS

One of the tricks in the usual argument of those who are advocating a one-world government is the inference that "one world" would stop wars.

They jump at the conclusion that bigness or a greater force would put an end to wars. They do not seem to realize that wars will stop only when people come to respect the inherent rights of every other soul. That wars are the result of lack of morals rather than the lack of force.

It would be just as logical for me to claim that since we cannot continue to have wars, turn everything over to me and I will put an end to wars as it is to have the advocates of the "one world" claim or imply that if we have "one world" or a League of Nations, war will be ended.

The thing that will stop wars is not material force but a spiritual force of having the kingdom of heaven within each individual.

We had better devote more of our time and energy in trying to reduce wars by this method rather than chasing another rainbow of having "one world" or a bigger force to eliminate wars.

COMPETITION AND OPINIONS

The socialists and New Dealers who contend that competition producing material things is harmful to the working man fail to realize that if they control competition in production of material things it is only a question of time until those wanting to control competition in producing material things insist on restricting competition in opinions.

The end result of a centralized government in attempting to control competition is more poverty. What good does it do a person to have the right to express opinions as to how wealth can be produced if he does not have the right to make voluntary contracts with other citizens to put his opinions in operation.

Restriction and competition in material things sooner or later ends in restricting competition in ideas and opinions.

equal rights of the races including the rights of whites and negroes alike to racial separation in hotels, in cotton mills, in employment, in societies, in political clubs and primaries, will be upheld or—well, every South Carolinian knows what will break loose.

Meanwhile, some of the people are writing foolishly on this subject, they do not mean what they are saying and do not perceive that the only logical conclusion from it is a monstrous absurdity.

Worse still, they are unconsciously building up prejudice against poor negroes, they are inciting ruffians to mistreat them and are handicapping the efforts of respectable white Southern friends to help the negroes.

CHILD LABOR IN WAR

(The News and Courier, Charleston S. C.)

Driving through South Carolina one observes that cotton is opening rapidly, many fields, Up country and Lowcountry, are white with it, and cotton pickers are few. Never before have we seen such a dearth of cotton pickers. Hence, in the proposal of Mr. Johnston, the governor, that opening of the common schools be postponed two weeks, because the country is at war, in order that children may assist in the harvesting of the crops, is not without good reason. It is a proposal for the use of child labor.

When shall a fourteen year old boy go fishing or a rabbit hunting unless on Saturdays? The News and Courier is opposed to inflicting hardship on children. Saturday is their day. Besides teaching school Saturdays would increase fishing and hunting Sundays, and of that is already too much. War is war, and children have a right, in war, to go fishing.

CALIFORNIA ELECTION

(The New York Sun)

Democratic politicians are extracting all possible nourishment from the special election in the Second District in California which resulted in the election of a Democratic Representative for the first time in the history of the district as now constituted. They conveniently skim over the fact that Claire A. Engle, the successful candidate, was a minority choice. The two Republican candidates opposed to him together polled some 6000 votes more than he did. In 1942 the late Representative Harry Lane Engelbright was elected without opposition, yet the vote that he received was well in excess of that cast at the special election, with three candidates running. The special election, with its candidate split and consequent Democratic victory, may seem a seven-day wonder to the Democrats, but it will serve to amaze for as long a period.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

ISSUES—Cordell Hull's aides have rallied quietly to the "old man's" defense, in answer to critics' demand for more readable blue-prints, by pointing out that he has enunciated a definite foreign policy. They maintain that he has shown himself to be more frank on this delicate subject than any other world statesman.

In their opinion, the only reason his exposition is not generally grasped here or abroad is that it was not phrased in provocative, political or aggressive language. He has not jeopardized its possible fulfillment by antagonizing important individuals or groups. But they insist that a concrete and enduring foundation for well-being can be discerned from a careful examination of his actions and speeches.

Unofficial spokesmen declare that the Roosevelt-Hull program really constitutes the boldest and most revolutionary advance in the field of international relations an American Administration has ever proposed. But they believe that the human and material sacrifices of two holocausts which might have been prevented have convinced this country of the need for such a step.

More practically, they note that both the President and the Secretary of State have had the opportunity to discuss these matters with overseas leaders, including Russians. It was no accident that the Tennessee's first public discussion of issues came soon after Prime Minister Churchill's long stay at the White House, therefore they suggest that Mr. Hull has good ground for believing that his proposals will receive powerful support at the windup conference.

PLEDGE—While organizational designs and procedural formulae for a permanent "parliament of man" must be worked out among the Allies in less distracting days, State Department officials list these cardinal tenets of the Roosevelt-Hull philosophy and promises:

(a) Every country, large and small, shall enjoy the right to decide the kind of society it wants after the conflict. But the Secretary hopes for the adoption of a democratic pattern—to be adhered to sincerely and fully. This does not mean that internal forms of government must comply with any over-all plan.

(b) On the economic side, he advocates an equitable system for the production and distribution of raw and manufactured goods, possibly in line with his reciprocal trade agreements. By this means, he believes, he can insure that there will be no have-not nations which will use their secondary positions as excuses for resorting to arms.

(c) He expects each power to place its own national interests first, which means to him survival and a decent way of living. But he has an abiding faith that Washington, London, Moscow, Chungking, Paris, and conquered peoples who promise to behave like civilized beings will be able to compose their differences for the common fundamental good.

To implement these basic principles, Mr. Hull proposes:

(1) A World League, Court and Army (he is not fussy about nomenclature) shall be jointly established for settlement of all disputes which threaten universal concord. The duties of the first two organizations shall be to solve political or legal questions which menace general harmony.

(2) Whenever controversies cannot be handled normally and peacefully, an international police force shall be available to prevent violent action by dissenters. To such a remedy in extremis he has committed the U. S. A. It is, perhaps, the first time a responsible American statesman has made such a far-reaching pledge.

POLITICS—The White House and Congress are engaged in a friendly dispute regarding the least painful and most effective method for preventing a rise in living expenses. The fact that the argument has not yet reached the "You're another" stage is probably because the likable Marvin Jones rather than Leon Henderson is handling the problem for F. D. R.

The most acute question now involves ways and means of keeping down the cost of milk but gasoline, meats and other necessities are also crucial subjects. In private talks the War Food Administrator told lawmakers that supplies of the fluid will fall below civilian needs unless dairymen can be persuaded by the prospect of extra profits to turn out more volume.

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

After singing virtually under enemy fire for the last three months, Frances Langford doesn't think anybody or anything will ever again stop her from completing a song.

Frances told us about it today in her first interview since returning to Hollywood with Bob Hope from an entertainment tour of North Africa and Sicily.

She was singing, she said, in 135 degree heat at a field hospital near Tunis. As she sang a wounded soldier fainted, and hospital attendants carried him away. Frances didn't know whether to continue her song or quit. She decided to continue. A few minutes later a kitchen stove caught fire. She continued to sing while a fire engine, which the soldiers had been sitting on, ploved its way through the crowd and put out the fire. Then she noticed everybody looking up. Flak was falling all around her. It came from Yankee guns, trying to knock down a Nazi observation plane. Frances continued to sing.

"The show must go on! I know now what it means," she said. Frances has only one regret. She wanted to remain in Sicily long enough to sing to the conquerors of Italy.

"Father Time disappointed me," she said. But she came pretty close to doing it at that. She sang to 19,000 American troops just after they pushed the Axis into the Strait of Messina. The stage she used was more than improvised. It was captured—a Nazi tank.

POPULAR DITTY
Frances said she scrapped all her pretty, sentimental tunes and serenade the boys about a female who is rapidly becoming the most sung-about girl of World War II.

"Dirty Galie" from Biberle. "Most of the verses to 'Gertie' wouldn't pass the Hays office censors, but the boys, she said, gave her some scrubbed-up versions.

And speaking of Bizerte, Frances said she stopped at the best hotel there. In fact, it had no common toilet. It was the only hotel standing after the Allied shelling. Two Nazi prisoners, she said, carried her bags into the lobby.

"I get a big laugh every time I think of what Hitler would have said had he seen these two Nazi supermen serving as bellhops."

The night she checked out of Bizerte there was a heavy Nazi air raid. "A friendly Yank," she said, "got us away from the populated area. But he became befuddled in the darkness and drove us right toward an anti-aircraft battery. Our enemy fighters were so close we had to abandon our car and dive for a slit trench. I felt like a sissy because I was the first one out. But when I hit the bottom of that trench my head was cushioned. Bob Hope had beat me to it. He was our only company. I fell on his foot and gave him a charley-horse."

FIRING FOR FUN
Several nights later Frances and Hope were at a gun emplacement outside Tunis looking over a big 90 mm. gun. The boys thought it would be fun if Bob and Frances fired it.

"I said okay," Frances said, "but Hope said no, thanks. So I went ahead and did it myself. The concussion lit me clear off my feet, and the boys thought it was very funny."

It is abundantly clear that a system of organized international cooperation for the maintenance of peace must be based upon the willingness of the co-operating nations to use force if necessary.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

ture body and members will be jointly responsible for heavier burdens on the Treasury. If the other remedy is applied, the Executive branch alone will be blamed in event of adverse public reaction. That's the politics of it.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

British Prime Minister Churchill has the knack of hitting the nail on the head, as he again demonstrated yesterday on the manner in which he drove home the points of his notable two-hour war report to the house of commons.

Outstanding was the premier's warning of the need of cordial relations between the Anglo-American Allies and their Russian colleague—a subject which long has been driving many timid statesmen to the hurricane cellar. He broached the matter by announcing that not only will there be a conference of representatives of America, Britain and Russia "at an early date" but that this will be followed by a Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill parley, and of this latter project he said:

"No meeting during the war could carry with it so much significance for the future of the world as a meeting between the heads of the three governments, for without close, cordial and lasting association between Soviet Russia and their great Allies we might find ourselves at the end of the war only to have entered upon a period of deepening confusion."

Mr. Churchill thus approached a great issue which is causing increasing anxiety—that is, the need of ironing out important differences in viewpoint between the Anglo-American partnership and our Soviet ally. These problems are largely political and unless they are solved they will bode no good to a post-war world which will be entering a new epoch in the progress of mankind.

To my mind the fundamental fact to which all parties must adjust their outlook is that Russia's star seems to be leading her straight to domination of most of Europe and Asia after this war. Look at it whatever way you will—politically, economically or militarily—and the answer is the same. This vast, self-contained, invulnerable empire will be the most powerful unit of the eastern hemisphere. That's a decree of fate, and the only way to meet it is to recognize and strive for a frank understanding.

Among the questions on which the Soviet and the western Allies appear to be rather far apart is that relating to the method of handling the defeated Axis countries, and especially as regards the treatment of Germany. America and Britain demand unconditional surrender, which will be followed by military occupation.

Moscow, on the other hand, has nodded approval of the activities of German officers and others in Russia who have formed committees and are trying to persuade the German people to overthrow Hitler and form a government which they hope might secure a negotiated peace. The signs are, too, that the Soviet doesn't care for the Allied plans for supervising Italy.

Underlying the issue of the post-war handling of both Germany and Italy there is, of course, the very big question of what form of government these countries ultimately will adopt for themselves. From what point will they draw their inspiration?

Then there's the question of the Balkans, which Russia regards as within her sphere of influence but which also figure in Britain's interests in the Middle East. And over in Iran (Persia) the old, old rivalry between Britain and Russia for domination of this strategically situated state is working overtime, as was made quite clear to me during my recent visit to that country. More than incidentally many observers hold that Russia has her eye on the Persian Gulf to provide her with one of the warm water ports which she needs so badly.

So it goes, and the further we proceed in surveying the position the more apparent does it become that there must be a mighty lot of give and take among the Allies if grave difficulties are to be avoided. That must be negotiated before the end of the war, for afterward may be too late.

WAR-TIME HEALTH: 'Boulder' In Your Eye? Here's How To Get It Out

By DR. THOMAS D. MASTERS
Written for The News

As you walk to work these days, you occasionally may miss the automobile wind-shield more than you do the automobile. For "things" off the pavement—dirt, cinders, sand and other small particles—do get in the eyes. The accelerated tempo in war plants, too, will increase this type of accident.

Such annoyances often can be prevented simply by remembering to close the eyes partially when in a dusty environment. In a shop where there is any hazard from steel particles, emery dust or chemicals, suitable goggles should be obligatory.

"SWEEP" WITH LASHES

Most small specks in the eye or on the eyelids may be removed easily. First the lashes of the upper lid should be pulled down and out over the lower lid several times in succession. The particle then tends to be carried by tears to the inside corner of the eye, where it can be lifted out readily with the corner of a clean handkerchief or bandage.

If the particle is not recovered in this manner, one may look under the lids. The inside of the lower lid may be examined by placing the thumb beneath the lid and pressing downward while the patient looks up. The upper lid may be inspected by first pulling its lashes down and out, then pushing the end of the other thumb about half an inch from the edge of the lid and pressing downward at the same time turning the lid sharply upward.

It is advisable to secure the best light possible for these operations, either daylight or strong electric light. What feels like a boulder may turn out to be the minutest speck. As soon as the particle is observed on either lid, it may be removed with the moistened edge of a clean handkerchief.

WASH EYE CAREFULLY

Flushing the eye with boric acid many particles. The proper solution may be reached by dissolving one rounded teaspoonful of boric acid in a pint of boiling water and allowing it to cool. With a small bulb medicine dropper, the eye may be thoroughly cleansed, while the lids are held apart. The solution should be allowed to run onto the eye on the side opposite that in which the sufferer is looking.

The eye is exceedingly delicate. Pencils, toothpicks, matches and knife-blades are not safe ophthalmological instruments, nor should the eye be rubbed, even carefully. If the particle is embedded in the eye, and not easily removable, the eye should be closed and covered with a compress in order to prevent further injury, and a doctor consulted promptly. In windy towns and cities, it is common practice for the nearest pharmacist to render first aid for the eye—and to turn over recalcitrant buses to a physician.

25 Soldiers Die In Plane Crash

MAXTON, N. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—A board of inquiry sought to learn today the cause of the crash of an army transport plane which carried 25 soldiers to their deaths.

The plane crashed on the Laurinburg-Maxton army air base field two miles from here while on a routine flight Monday, the post public relations office announced.

After striking the ground, the craft burst into flames. No further details were announced.

"Names of those killed will be made available for release after the next of kin have been notified," the announcement said.

The human body contains a larger proportion of calcium by weight than any other of the inorganic elements.

Today Is Axis Pay-Day— Are We Square With Them?

The Axis has a lot to be paid for
Let's bury them in bonds

Pearl Harbor—dear God, can such quiet
And so soft a dawn crash into torture and sheer hell!
Men and women sleeping, or at early worship,
Children stirring in their beds . . .
Proud ships resting on still water . . .
Graceful planes at peace in dewy grass . . .

*Japanese! With what terrible contempt they came,
Scornful of the sleeping might of America
That would rouse over the torn and hurt bodies,
The still and pitiful bodies of her children.
Are YOU square with Pearl Harbor?
Speak your answer with a bond—a BIG bond.*

Manila—Bataan—Corregidor.
Don't bow your head in memory.
Clench your fists . . . Your blood should boil.
These terrible and tragic defeats are yet to avenge!
Little Japanese shaming your brothers and sons!
Rapacious little men strutting and swaggering in victory!
Are you square with Manila—Bataan—and Corregidor?
Buy a bond!—are dollars so dear to you
You'll keep them out of the fight? It's Axis pay-day!

*Lexington, Cassin, Yorktown, Downes,
Hornet, Wasp, Houston, Chicago . . . Remember?
This is Axis pay-day . . . pay them with a vengeance.
How CAN you say you are doing your part
While YOUR DOLLARS lie idle in our hour of trial?
Dig down, dig IN, patriots, to pay the Axis off.
Let this day—WITH YOUR HELP—MAKE HISTORY!*

★ Persisting German and Japanese dispatches say Americans are slacking their fight at home—holding and loving their dollars needed to fight the war. "America will have devastating inflation," they say, for Americans love their cash more than their country. Let's pay off the Axis by buying bonds—and get our money back with interest. Tomorrow, let the news declare that AXIS PAY-DAY was a great success—for AMERICA! Be sure to buy a bond today!

It's EASY to Buy BONDS

You don't have to go through red tape to buy a War Bond. Walk into any store or other "issuing agent." Give your name and address, lay down your money. A form will be filled in and in no time you walk out with YOUR bond—proof that you're in the fight backing up our men at the front. A bond that cashes in for $25 in 10 years costs you only $18.75, a $50 bond costs $37.50, a $100 bond $75, a $1000 bond costs you $750. If you need it, you get your money back earlier—with interest. Buy now for a better future.

Are You a Side-Liner?

Are you in this war with both feet and your whole heart, or are you fighting a dabby little indifferent war with only part of your heart and resources? If all of America could be aroused to press forward with the same spirit our fighting forces show, the world would rock with America's redemption of her old birthright—the land of the free and the home of the brave! How brave are you in your bond purchases? Brave enough to buy another today?
