Cambodian Soldiers Hit S. Vietnamese Village

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Uniformed Cambodian soldiers crossed the border into South Viet Nam, invaded a farming community and fought a brief battle with Vietnamese militiamen near the frontier, a Vietnamese military spokesman charged today.

He said 50 Cambodian soldiers penetrated 500 yards inside Vietnamese territory late Friday, kidnaped a Vietnamese civilian and stole 14 cattle. They returned into Cambodia after a short clash with a local militia unit near the frontier, the spokesman said.

The border-crossing was announced as fresh fighting broke out this afternoon in War Zone C between units of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and entrenched Viet Cong.

The fighting erupted a few hours after Guam-based B52 bombers staged two raids today on Viet Cong positions in War Zone C about 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

The giant Stratoforts, in a third raid today, also bombed North Vietnamese training areas and gun positions 20 miles northwest of Plei Djereng Special Forces camp in the central highlands.

Except for the new fighting in the War Zone C sector in Tay Ninh Province, only minor ground action was reported.

For a ninth consecutive day, monsoon rains and low ceilings sharply cut U.S. air strikes over North Viet Nam.

U.S. pilots flew only 32 strike missions, oncentrating all of them against targets about 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone and in the southern end of North Viet Nam.

Just two miles north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. destroyers Hamner and John R. Craig bombarded an inland radar site and reported starting several secondary fires. The same 7th Fleet destroyers an hour later attacked 12 cargo boats on the North Vietnamese coast and reported destroying three and heavily damaging three more.

A U.S. announcement said the cargo boats were on the beach along the coast in the vicinity of the radar site. The two destroyers earlier destroyed or damaged 26 cargo barges in a 10-mile stretch of North Vietnamese coast.

The offshore bombardment was part of the Navy's Operation "Traffic Cop," a month-old drive to halt movement of Communist supplies to South Viet Nam by sea.

In the Cambodian border incident, a Vietnamese spokesman said the Cambodian soldiers entered the farming community of Thanh Tri, 52 miles west of Saigon in Kien Tuong Province. The spokesman said they remained in Vietnamese territory about one hour.

In the short clash with a platoon of Vietnamese popular forces troops 300 yards from the border, the local militiamen suffered light casualties, the spokesman said. Cambodian casualties were not known.

The Vietnamese spokesman said no formal protest has been made no comment on the incident. Some allied officials viewed the intrusion as a case of frontier cattle-rustling, similar to previous border raids.

The delta, south of Saigon, is a fertile rice-producing region and the only large area of South Viet Nam that has no major U.S. ground forces. More than half of South Viet Nam's 15 million people live there.

The newspaper said Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang would give up ommand of the 4th Corps in the delta after two years in the job to become minister of planning and development, a post created specially for him. It said he would be replaced in the 4th Corps by Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Manh, former head of the Vietnamese 23rd Division.

A half-dozen other generals would be reassigned in a shake-up of the military command, Song said.

Belli's Bride To End Relationship

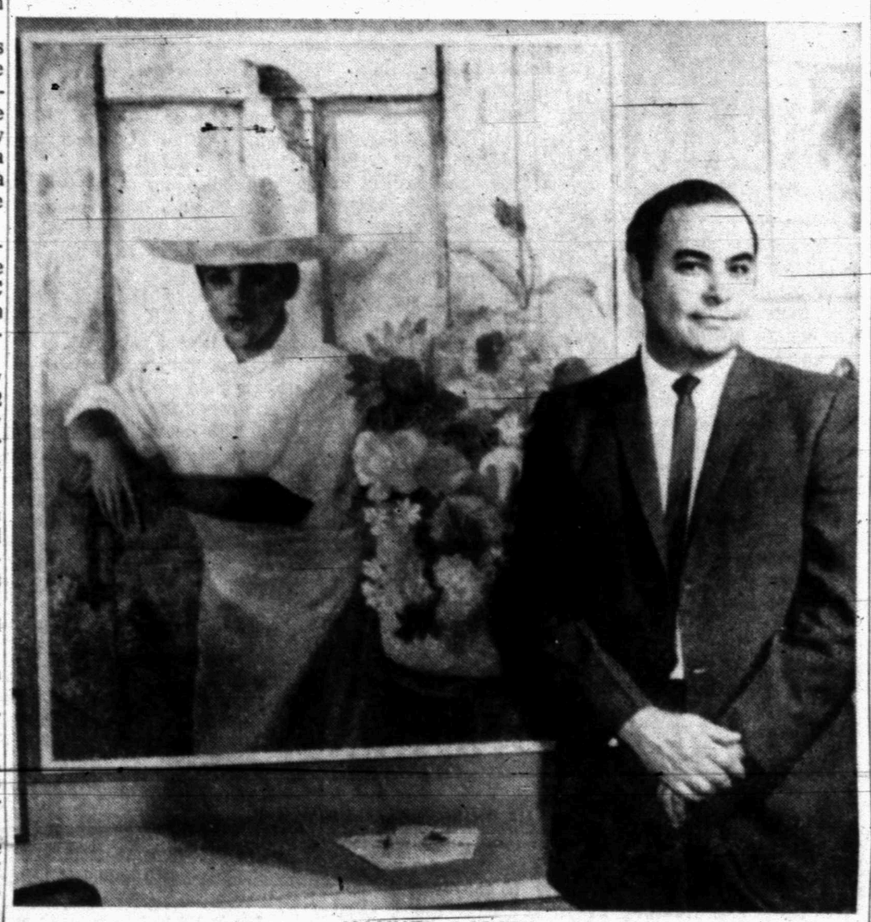

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Attorney Melvin Belli's Shinto wedding in northern Japan is giving his beautiful bride, Pat Montandon, qualms about its legality, and she says she will end their man-and-wife relationship.

She said Belli's failure to record the marriage makes it void.

Mrs. Belli said Friday that her attorney had told her the ceremony performed Oct. 1 in a Shinto temple in Sapporo, Japan, was not a legal rite under Japanese law.

"My attorney has advised me that if the marriage is not valid under Japanese law, then California law does not recognize it," she said.

With tears, she added, "I can no longer live with him."

United Fund Asks Voluntary Gifts

Scurry County United Fund Campaign leaders have issued a plea for spontaneous contributions in an effort to reach the campaign goal of $27,500.

An organized campaign has been conducted for the past month and it has accounted for slightly over 80 per cent of the goal.

The campaign is being conducted by volunteer workers exclusively, which means that those who have been doing the work have not only contributed financially to the drive, but also have given their time and their labor.

Consequently, they are asking that any Snyder or Scurry County resident who has not contributed to clip the accompanying coupon, attach a contribution to it and mail it to the Scurry County United Fund, in care of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Meanwhile, some volunteer workers will continue making contacts in behalf of the campaign. However, it was pointed out that it is virtually impossible for all volunteer workers to personally contact all potential contributors. These are the ones who are being urged to use the coupon and make their contributions spontaneously by mail.

The goal is not beyond the community's reach if enough people participate, it was emphasized.

The United Fund here supports operations of the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, American Red Cross and the Scurry County Boys' Club. In addition a small amount is allotted to the Texas United Fund (USO).

Yes, I want to give

X15 Streaks To New Speed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Air Force Maj. William Knight has set a new speed record in the X15 rocket plane, streaking to 4,159 miles an hour on a nine-minute flight.

His record speed, achieved after firing the plane's rocket engine for 135 seconds Friday, broke the old record of 4,104 miles an hour set in 1962 by the late Joseph A. Walker.

Knight's record flight began at 45,000 feet, when the X15 was dropped from under the wing of a B52 bomber over Mud Lake, Nev.

The craft also carried experimental patches of a material that melts and sloughs off at high speed, eliminating heat that would otherwise build up beyond the 1,200-degree Fahrenheit temperature limit.

Knight said the flight had been without problems. But he explained that as the craft's metal skin expanded and contracted with heating and cooling, it emitted a "banging and popping." He called the noise "disturbing."

"A commotion like that in your car might make you think the jalopy is coming apart," he said, adding: "Nothing came apart on the X15."

Uvalde Boy Killed Beneath Tractor

LOCKNEY, Tex. (AP) — A tractor overturned on Mike O. Contraeras, 17, of Uvalde and killed him at a Lockney gin today.

He had been using the vehicle to tow away cotton trailers as they were unloaded.

A brother, Frututso Contraeras, investigated and found the youth crushed under the tractor.

Cotton Gins Are Busy In County

Scurry County cotton gins are humming and by the end of the week indications were that they would continue for a long season as another above-average crop moved from the fields.

Estimates on the crop were cautious. Generally most observers were skeptical over the possibility of a crop to match that of last year when the county produced over 60,000 bales for an average yield of slightly over a bale per acre.

The acreage is down this year, and some doubt that the yield per acre will be as high as it was in 1965.

Nevertheless, the county's nine gins had processed 12,711 bales by late Friday, and most of them had loaded trailers lined up on their yards awaiting their turn at the gin.

Quality of the cotton so far was reported good. As was the case last year, much of the cotton in the area is late and harvest work was just moving into full swing. This is particularly true in the Ira area.

The report by gins Friday afternoon included the following: Inadale, 2,449 bales; Snyder Coop, 3,244; Snyder Paymaster, 1,904; Hermleigh, 1,158; Snyder Planters, 750; Dunn, 450; Fluvanna, 600; Ira, 176; China Grove, 1,980.

A HIGH-LEVEL CUT — President Johnson, supervised by Mrs. Johnson, slices a cake bearing the legend "32 Happy Years," on their 32nd wedding anniversary. Vice President Hubert Humphrey passes a piece to the Johnsons' younger daughter, Luci, and her husband, Patrick Nugent. Celebration was in dining room of President's suite in Bethesda Naval Hospital. It was first time the President had worn street clothes since his dual operation. (AP Wirephoto)

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—A gentleman from Tyler, Texas, has written asking about a comfortable spot on the Pacific not far from Acapulco. He wants to settle down to some serious fishing, looking at the ocean and hammock stretching. And while this friend wants to be around civilization, he prefers it without the hustle and bustle (who doesn't?) so he would like some suggestions as to which direction to travel.

Well, Zihuatanejo is a couple of hours up the coast from Acapulco and so far it is a quiet little town. The tourist swarm hasn't discovered it yet and you don't have a frenzied race everywhere you go. There is a nice beach and the little town is loaded with coconut palms and tropical things. The water is clear and deserves some first rate contemplation. Good fishing and they have excellent clams there. When the world gets mad at me, I go to Zihuatanejo and sit on the beach and eat clams. As to communications, you have a paved road from Acapulco and there are flights two or three times a week to Acapulco. From there, you're hooked in with everything. In case you don't have a jitney, there is good bus service from Acapulco to Zihuatanejo; daily and the fare is cheap. I'd suggest having a look and check the action for size. Might be what you're looking for.

Then, a lady from Avon Lake, Ohio, writes she is flying to the Yucatan Peninsula to look around. She wants to buy some fine, uncut gemstones, in particular high grade jelly opals. And she wants to know about buying archeological items and where can you find authentic pieces.

First of all, you have to go a long way from Yucatan to find opals. The unofficial gem center of Mexico is Queretaro, just about the middle of the country. There are a number of mines around that section but I doubt if anyone will sell you high grade rough material. Why? They want to cut it themselves and get more for the stone than they could for the rough.

If you really want opals, I'd suggest you make the drive from Mexico City to Queretaro and look around. The place is filled with shops and you should have no problem finding them. Get a guide to take you to some of the cutters and you'll save pricewise. Also, you might stop at San Juan del Rio (half an hour before reaching Queretaro) and visit La Guadalupana. Pancho Cabrera, the owner, has an assortment of fine opal mines and always keeps a good supply of material in his shop.

As to archeological items, you have to be careful. Most of what you find on sale is junk. And the government has restrictions on the genuine objects being taken out of the country. So far as I know, there are no expeditions going out to little-known locations but you can always catch a tour going to the big spots. A good guide might steer you to some private collector who has things for sale but be sure to check with local authorities BEFORE buying to see if you can take your purchases out of the country.

Orbiter 2 Sends Valuable Pictures

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's Lunar Orbiter 2 swept on toward new scientific goals today after radioing the most valuable pictures yet in the nation's search for safe landing sites on the moon.

The spacecraft's first photograph — snapped Friday morning and released by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Friday night — showed a broad crater-pocked equatorial plain flat enough for upcoming Apollo vehicles to land on without tipping over.

There was a possibility, however, that the area was so pitted by small craters that it would not serve as a prime target for astronauts expected to fly to the moon within the next two or three years.

"Roughness may be a limiting factor," Dr. Thor Karlstrom, of the U.S. Geological Survey at Flagstaff, Ariz., told a news conference at Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

He said the photographed area, in the dry Sea of Tranquility, on the lunar equator, was not considered as promising as some of the other 13 potential landing sites Lunar Orbiter 2 will scan during the coming week.

Nonetheless, he said, the three photographs, snapped at a height of 30 miles, are the most valuable yet of the lunar terrain.

Their detail, showing craters as small as three feet across, far exceed details in photographs made by ailing Lunar Orbiter 1 in August and by the Soviet Luna 12 last month.

Some of the first U.S. Orbiter's pictures were blurred and the others yielded details no smaller than 24 feet across.

The Soviet pictures were taken at a much higher altitude — about 62 miles — and had even less detail.

Lunar Orbiter 1 was deliberately crashed on the moon prior to the second Orbiter launch Nov. 7 to avoid possible conflict of radio signals.

U.S. scientists are hunting for three-by-four-mile sites with several flat spots on which manned craft could land in case mechanical failure prevents their touching down on the exact target.

"There were no crater-free sites this large in the photographs that we have examined so far," Dr. Karlstrom said.

Ahead of Lunar Orbiter 2 are these further scientific goals:

1. Finding safer, smoother sites for manned landings.

2. Closeups of hot spots, detected by infrared photography from earth, which may be volcanoes.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A girl telephoned and asked me if I would take her out on Saturday night to make her boy friend jealous. This girl is 18 and is very, very good looking. Long blond hair terrific figure and the works! I had nothing better to do and thought it might be fun so I said yes.

I am 21 years old, have a new car and am not exactly a creep. Well, Abby, I fell for this girl, knowing all along that she was only using me. Is there something the matter with me?

FELL HARD

DEAR FELL: If by "fell" you mean you became physically attracted to her, there is nothing wrong with you. You were only following your "boyological" urge — (more "boy" than logical.) You'll recover.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of those mini skirts?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: They're all right if the girl doesn't have magna legs.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a mother who allows herself to be used by her daughter as an unpaid servant, and then turns around and complains to all her relatives?

The woman happens to be my mother, and it is getting on my nerves. When my sister asks her to sit with her children for an evening, afternoon, or for weeks at a time while she and her husband go off on vacations, "Good Old Mom", can't get there fast enough. Then she complains to all the relatives about how hard the kids are to handle, and how dirty Sis' house was before she dug in and cleaned it up.

And worse yet, she says, "Never again!" But just let Sis ask her, and "Good Old Mom" is over there working like a horse. Any suggestions?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Tell "Good Old Mom" that if she wants to sit, stand, or roll over for her daughter, it's all right with you. But you'd rather not hear any complaints about it.

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT UNDERSTOOD": From your letter I would suggest that you thank your lucky stars that your wife doesn't understand you. If she did, you'd be in more trouble than you are now.

Boxer Dies From Knockout Blow

CANTON, Ohio (AP) Greatest Crawford's idol was Floyd Patterson and his ambition was to be the light heavyweight champion of the world.

That was before he was knocked out in the ninth round of a fight at Canton's Memorial Auditorium Wednesday night. He never got back up.

Crawford died early Friday following surgery Thursday for a blood clot on the brain. He was knocked out by Canton's Marion Conner in the 10-round bout.

Crawford's mother, Mrs. Mattie Crawford, 51, a practical nurse from Brooklyn, N.Y., flew here Thursday night to be at his bedside. The boxer never regained consciousness and died several hours after she arrived.

"I hated boxing and I never wanted my son to be a fighter," said Mrs. Crawford, the mother of 10 children.

Crawford started boxing as an amateur at 17 and three years later he turned pro. He was single.

"It was his big love," she said. "He just lived to fight and was at the gym every day to train."

Mrs. Crawford saw her son box twice.

"I must have been a good luck omen for him. He won both fights, but I hated the cruelty of boxing."

She was asked why she named her son "Greatest."

"He was such a beautiful, fat baby who weighed 11 pounds, and to me he just looked like the greatest. I decided to name him that."

The man who knocked Crawford out, Conner, said he cried at the news of Greatest's death.

Conner attempted to console Mrs. Crawford. She, in turn, consoled him.

"It's one of those things that happens," she told him. "I know you didn't want it this way."

30 Arrested On The Strip

LOS ANGELES (AP)—About 30 young persons were arrested on the Sunset Strip Friday night and early today in the second weekend of protests against the 10 o'lock curfew, police said.

Nineteen other persons, juveniles between 15 and 17 years, were apprehended as curfew violators and turned over to their parents, said police and sheriff's deputies, who jointly patrol the popular night-clubbing area.

The curfew applies to loitering juveniles under the age of 18.

Officers said they blocked off three blocks which became congested with traffic shortly before midnight.

Police said those arrested were mostly charged with failure to disperse as an estimated 600 persons gathered in front of a teen-age coffee house, Pandora's Box. The crowd was declared an unlawful assemblage.

Last weekend, at the same location, youths hurled rocks and bottles at police and damaged two buses, police reported.

Sukarno Gains In Political Field

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— President Sukarno's political fortunes, battered for six months, are on the upswing again.

The gains made by Sukarno in the past two months came with the help of the army and strongman Suharto—despite beliefs that it was the army that would actually remove Sukarno.

Sukarno's gains are still relatively small and do not mean he is in position to resume command of the country, the best informed sources say.

But they report his opponents, particularly students, are disappointed and dismayed at the turn of events.

The change began following the trial of Dr. Subandrio, Sukarno's long-time protege and foreign minister. Subandrio, sentenced to death for helping the Communists attempt a coup, did not incriminate Sukarno as many had expected.

The newspapers, which had been calling Sukarno a Communist leader, began backing off in their attacks under army pressure. The most outspoken paper was banned and the editor jailed.

Students, who had staged wild and often bloody demonstrations against Sukarno, were told flatly to stop. Army generals passed the word that Sukarno would not be toppled by demonstrations.

One well informed source close to the student movement believes Gen. Suharto could have taken power six months ago and carried it off without upsetting the nation or causing civil war.

His belief, shared by several diplomatic sources, is that Suharto is in an increasingly difficult position by waiting to take control of Indonesia through legal means in the 1968 elections.

Time seems to be on Sukarno's side. He has only to work at out-maneuvering Suharto while Suharto must try to juggle political and economic crises and maintain public support.

Several military groups are giving only cautious support to the general.

A large part of Sukarno's gain came in the absence of his sharpest opponent, Foreign Minister Adam Malik. Malik returned 10 days ago from a three-week trip to the Soviet Union and East European countries.

Another boost to Sukarno's image, although indirect, is the continuing inflation and economic chaos. The blame now is ut on Suharto and the government.

There is some seculation that the trial of former air force commander Omar Dhani may be a springboard for new attacks on the president.

Dhani, who supported the Communist coop last year in a written order which he later rescinded, was with Sukarno most of the day of the coup.

Sukarno apparently has succeeded in having the trial delayed.

Dhani's trial is regarded in political circles as a possible explosive expose of Sukarno's exact role during the coup on Oct. 1, 1965. Questions that may be answered include:

—What was Sukarno doing at the air base, which was then the headquarters for the Communist coup organizers?

—Communist party chairman D.N. Aidit, now reported dead, was also here. What did they discuss?

Youth Stabs Older Boys

DALLAS (AP)— A 14-year-old newspaper carrier told police he stabbed two older youths Friday as they tried to rob him of money collected on his route.

A relative notified officers two hours later that the boy was waiting for them at his home.

Wounds from a kitchen paring knife near the heart killed Robert Lee Miles, 17, and James Earl Smith, 18. Both were Negroes, as is the carrier.

Homicide detectives questioned the 95-pound newsboy and turned him over to juvenile authorities. No charges had been filed.

He told a reporter the slain youths and two companions stopped him on a street and he escaped into the home of a friend, who gave him the knife for protection.

Officers said a witness saw the youths threaten the carrier with boards as they halted him again about 30 minutes later, and the stabbing followed.

This witness quoted one of the slain pair as telling the 14-year-old: "If you don't give us your money we're going to jump onto you."

Mishap Kills 35 Africans

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) A bus plunged off a 200-foot cliff and into a river Friday night about 30 miles north of Durban, police said today. Reports said 35 Africans were killed and 30 others injured.

Police and rescue teams worked through the night and into today trying to extricate bodies trapped in the tangled wreckage, police said. the Bus landed on its roof at Ngomweni in the hilly African reserve and mission center near Inanda.

Because of the remoteness of the scene it was hours before news of the accident reached the Inanda police station where rescue work was organized.

As news spread along the African "bush telegraph" system, hundreds of Africans from the mountainous region hurried to help.

Turkish Women Begin To Accept Family Planning Aid

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Slowly, almost shyly, the neighborhood women filed into the tiny coffee house, usually the exclusive domain of the Turkish male.

Some wore modern dress, others baggy shalvar trousers and veils.

A middle-aged, smartly dressed woman began speaking, occasionally illustrating her remarks with diagrams. The speaker was a gynegologist and she was explaining modern birth control methods.

Such a meeting was impossible in Turkey less than two years ago.

"We are frankly amazed at the spontaneous enthusiasm of the women," said one Turkish medical official.

Women have trekked miles to wait for hours to hear details of family planning, as the program is called.

So far, more than 27,000 have received intra-uterine loops and thousands more have begun to practice some kind of contraception.

The United States has given Turkey a long-term, low interest loan of about $3.6 million for the purchase of 1,450 Jeeps and education equipment for the program.

Turkey's population woes began after World War II. A sharp increase in marriages coincided with a drop in the mortality rate brought about by antibiotics and eradication of malaria.

By 1965, the growth rate had hit 3 per cent, promising to double by 1988 the present population of 32 million. Government planners saw dangers for Turkey's economic expansion.

In April 1965, Parliament lifted a ban on the use of contraceptives. Leaders of the Justice party, which inherited the program when it assumed power a year ago, feared birth control propaganda would stir up the religious peasantry from whom they draw major support.

There was sharp reaction from the villages, but the opposite of what some politicians feared. Village women, attracted by word of mouth advertising, bulletin board notices — and sometimes announcements over mosque loudspeakers — flocked around doctors carrying the word.

Dr. Lewis Anderson, a Vancuvero, B. C., physician who heads the Population Council in Turkey, recalls giving a talk attended by about 100 village women: "Many of the ladies were so shy that they could not face me but turned their backs when I spoke.

"But toward the end of the talk they slowly, one by one, turned around to get a good look at this strange character."

Families average about 5.8 children, according to a survey taken in 267 villages and towns, plus Turkey's three large cities.

Performers Strike Is Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) Television and radio performers have put off their threatened industrywide strike until at least midnight Sunday, while negotiators attempt to reach a settlement.

Agreement reached Friday between the major networks and the AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists means that today's radio and television broadcasts — notably the football game between Notre Dame and Michigan State University — goes on as scheduled.

Under the guidance of federal mediator Abraham Desser, AFTRA reached a temporary accord with three major television networks, CBS, NBC, and ABC, and the Mutual Broadcasting System radio network.

The agreement stipulates that the networks not use any tapings made in the interim period after Sunday midnight if a strike materializes.

The AFTRA membership voted for a strike Tuesday, when the contracts expired. No specific strike date was set.

Blazing Raccoon Burns Church Down

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A raccoon, his fur coat ablaze, strung a ring of fire around the nearby Enterprise Baptist church, burning the small building to the ground.

Deputy Sheriff Carl C. Coneley said the raccoon leaped out of a trash barrel Friday with his coat on fire a few minutes after a cleaning woman dumped burning debris into the container.

He said the animal ran through grass surrounding the building, setting the grass on fire. The blaze spread to the church.

The fate of the raccoon was not known.

Poor Little Malta Is Looking For Financially Rich Uncle

By PRESTON GROVER

VALETTA, Malta (AP) — Malta is looking for a rich uncle to help it out of financial difficulties.

One of the most visible candidates, in the eyes of the Maltese, is America. The powerful ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet anchored offshore bespeak security and dollars. The sailors alone spend $6 million a year on liberty in Malta.

Ever since 2,000 B.C., when the Phoenecians moved in, Malta has been occupied by one strong power after another, for it lies at the narrow waistline of the Mediterranean between Europe and Africa, a very important place for an island to be.

After the Phoenecians came the Carthaginians, the Romans, Byzantines, Arabs, and a succession of European powers, the latest being the British, in 1800. Now the British are pulling out.

Who is coming next?

In a general sense it will be tourists. There are both sandy and rocky beaches, and the water is so clear that fish and old cannon balls from ancient battles can be seen 60 feet down. Handsome new hotels are going up under Hilton and Sheraton management, while a yacht harbor is already bringing in the rich and the leisurely.

But the situation calls for more than tourists. Two years ago the Maltese Islands, with 317,000 population, accepted the status of an independent country within the British Commonwealth. But becoming self-supporting is a slow process. Malta has almost no natural resources except geography.

For 166 years the British have picked up Maltese deficits, while at the same time the naval dockyards and troop installations were the biggest single source of employment. Now British support is being cut away steadily, and will end in ten years, with the Maltese getting 15 million a year during that period to help industrialize. It is not nearly enough to meet the island's needs. Thus, the eye on America.

In the March general election the Maltese gave a majority to the Nationalist party which was pledged to stay with Britain and try to work out the financial difficulties. However, the Malta Labor party, led by a dynamic, Oxford-trained architect named Dom Mintoff, came within the shadow of victory by demanding, among other things, that Malta should be free to get aid where it can. If Britain, America or the North Atlantic Treaty Organization won't help, then perhaps the Soviet Union. NATO's Mediterranean headquarters is in Malta.

"Our geographical position," said the Labor party program, "if judiciously exeploited, can be our making."

Shipping To Cuba Drops Sharly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A sharp decline in shipping from non-Communist countries to Cuba was reported today.

Only seven vessels from these areas touched Cuban ports last month, said Revolutionary Unity an exile organization which watches such movements. It said this is the smallest number since it began keeping count four years ago.

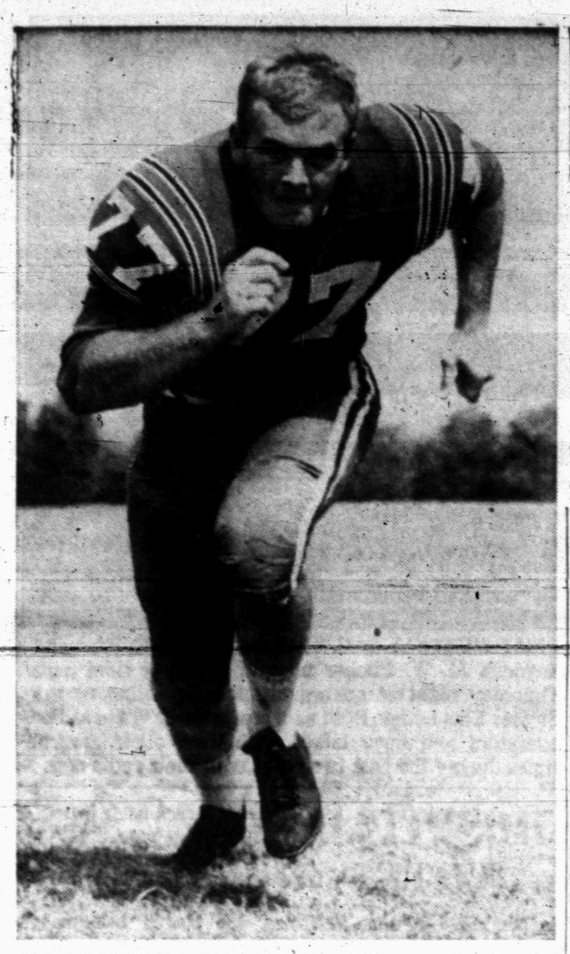

Listed as visiting Cuba in October were three ships from Cyprus, two from Great Britain and two from Greece.

This compares with 17 ships in September. Other October totals: 21 in 1965, 23 in 1964, and 26 in 1963.

The father of American model railroading was Joshua Lionel Cowen.

HERRING AS AN EAGLE — This is George Herring in the uniform of the North Texas State University Eagles. A football star at Snyder High School where he graduated in 1956, Capt. Herring later was co-captain of the North Texas State football team. The Snyder Daily News published its first story on his eye injury in Viet Nam on Nov. 13. Subsequently he wrote the letter referred to in the accompanying story to his college coach, Odus Mitchell.

COACH MITCHELL GETS BLOOD-STAINED LETTER

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — It was Homecoming Day at North Texas State University today — and time for leave-taking by Odus Mitchell, veteran football coach at the big, sprawling prairie school.

But a letter, a blood-stained message of praise and appreciation to Mitchell from a wounded Marine Corps captain, highlighted and saddened the day.

Mitchell, excited over ending 42 years of coaching, barely noticed the brownish-red stain on the letter from Capt. George Herring, cocaptain of the North Texas State Eagles in 1959.

"I understand this homecoming all of your ex-athletes are trying to make this game in your honor," said Herring's letter.

"If it were any way possible, I would attend the ball game, just to let you know how much I think of you and what you contributed to making me become a man.

"We've been in the field for 45 days and casualties have been pretty bad. In this constant rain and terrible terrain, leadership is sometimes critical."

Graying Odus Mitchell smiled and recalled the writer as he read the letter.

"At North Texas," said the old coach, "George was the ideal guy. He was one of the most popular and respected players among teammates whom I ever coached."

He read on: "My company's spirits always remain high and attain our mission of destroying the enemy. I was taught the traits of leadership by the finest man and leader of men that I have ever known, you, Coach Mitchell.

"I only wish I could express to you what an honor it was and is to have been one of your boys. I only hope that I can leave a small fraction of your type influence on my men, help them all their life."

"I read the letter with my chest out," said Mitchell. "Then I got down to where his friend wrote that he was hurt, and I was shocked."

The friend, Capt. T.D. Reese Jr., another ex-gridder who was captain and All-East at Trinity College at Hartford, Conn., had just flown into Da Nang with Herring.

"He has lost his right eye," Reese wrote. "I have his blood all over me, but he will be all right. And he still has one good eye. Hope to meet you some day. Please try to see George."

Herring had eye surgery Wednesday at a U.S. naval hospital in Yokusuka, Japan. He will be flown home soon for further treatment.

Herring's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Herring, live in Houston and his old college sweetheart, Charlene Russell, is now Mrs. Herring and lives in Dallas with their year-old daughter, Kristin.

Whitworth Leads Way In Tourney

WACO, Tex. (AP) —Kathy Whitworth was after a personal record today as she led the way into the second round of the $10,000 Success Open Golf Tournament.

She has won eight tournaments this year but that only equalled her previous best. If she takes the tournament here she will set a new record.

Miss Whitworth was in position to do it, too. She fired a six-under-par 66 Friday to shoot into the first round lead.

She was leading Clifford Ann Creed by only a stroke but indicated that if her putting continued as well as it did in the first round she could maintain it. Miss Creed missed a 15-foot putt on the 18th or she would have tied Miss Whitworth.

"My putting was the main thing," she said. "If you putt well your whole game gets better."

She had putts of 25, 15, 12 and 10 feet en route to six birdies. She didn't have a single bogey but had to prevent one with a great two-iron shot to the green at the fifth hole. "I just drilled it up there," she said.

Mickey Wright, who has won seven tournaments this year, had an opening 73 and was far down the list.

Sandra McClinton had a hole-in-one, getting $1,000 for it. She drove a five-iron 150 yards to bag the dodo on the 12th hole. However, she had only a 72 for the day and was in a tie for 14th place.

Miss Whitworth leads the money-winners with $30,080. Sandra Haynie is second with $27,337.50 and Miss Wright is next with $25,529.50. Miss Haynie had a 72 in the first round Friday.

Editorial Pans Dallas OU Game

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)— "Leave Dallas?"

That's the question the editor of the University of Texas student newspaper asked Friday in an editorial discussing the annual Texas - Oklahoma football game in that city.

Editorial comments from the Daily Texan editor, John Economidy, a Wichita Falls senior, accompanied a front-page story on a student assembly resolution withdrawing its approval and sanction of the Texas-OU dance before the game.

The resolution requests the "administration of the university likewise withdraw its sanction" and permits the "Students' Association to transmit its desires of the State Fair Association of Texas."

Economidy wrote about Dallas' big state fair football weekend in two editorials.

Calling the dance "one big drunk," he backed up the assembly's proposition that the school should "disassociate itself" from the traditional dance, which he said "represents too great a risk for either the university or its rival, the University of Oklahoma, to accept.

"The atmosphere at the dance often is dangerous. Catcalls have occurred during previous dances, causing minor incidents. There exists, however, a high potential for riot."

He said the dance could still be held but neither school would "be responsible for school would "be responsible tragedy or disaster."

In the second editorial, Economidy sajd, "Whereas the Texas dance is potentially dangerout, the entire weekend in Dallas is utter chaos. The situation is not even fun when it amounts to a restrained riot with several hundred guests annually.

"We question why the football game is even held in Dallas."

The editor noted that Dallas, "not Austin or Norman (Okla.) has reaped the economic benefits of the enterprise," and added that "It does seem that many of the problems incurred could be solved and that there could be more fun with less risk of accident" by changing the location of the game.

In Dallas, Mayor pro tem Joe Golman said:

"I feel reasonably sure that if these students who advocate what a detriment this game is would make additional studies on the over-all picture, they would find that their statements are not true."

SPORTSCUTTLE

Chesty Walker, the former coaching great at Phillips and former assistant on the University of Washington staff, has a new job. He's a talent scout for the Dallas Cowboys. Chesty is the man who recruited some Texas Negro stars for the U of W a few years ago before the Huskies went to the Rose Bowl.

* * *

Clint Murchison to Tom Landrey just after the Dallas Cowboys had pulled that 31-30 decision from the grasp of Washington last Sunday: "I think you made a wise decision today Tom in not running up the score on them."

* * *

If you think the high courts of the land come up with some quaint decisions, consider the University Interscholastic League. The long awaited ruling on the Garland - Highland Park case finally came in the other day. The case involved a physical attack on game officials at the Garland - Highland Park game. Reports indicated that Garland fans made the attack, but the game was played in Highland Park and the UIL rules decree that the home team is responsible for protection of the officials. A few years ago, Burkburnett sat on the sidelines under suspension from the league when a fan there attacked an official.

The penalty this time was "probation," with no restrictions on competition in the league, the word "probation" meaning simply that if you do it again you may get punished."

UIL officials said the case was different from that at Burkburnett because both the Garland and Highland Park Schools cooperated with the UIL in its investigation and that Burkburnett did not.

That word "cooperation" apparently means much more now than it did in the famous "anonymous letter" case when Snyder was barred from title consideration in both basketball and track because it was discovered that the UIL maximum expenditures for awards in those sports had been exceeded by a few cents. As soon as Snyder School officials were contacted about the alleged infraction, which was brought to the league's attention by an anonymous letter mailed from Lamesa, all records concerning the two sports involved were bundled up and sent to Austin.

At the same time, the league was asked if it needed any records on other sports, and if there was anything else local officials could do to aid the UIL committee in reaching its decision.

"We're going to cooperate," Snyder School officials declared when it was suggested that some sporting goods dealers might have made "errors" in price figures shown on invoices. (The prices had been well within UIL limits several years earlier when the awards program was set up, but they had gradually increased over the years).

Finally the ruling came. "You may play, but you cannot win a championship," the UIL advised.

Snyder just thought it was "cooperating."

All of which brings to mind the reply one well-known coach in one of the larger systems in the state made when asked about some "borderline" practices that had been rumored around his area.

"They've (the UIL) never racked a Class 4A school yet and they never will."

Highland Wins Area Six-Man District Title

IRA — Terry Clark, 175-pound Junior captain, sparked the Highland Hornets to a 22-8 grid triumph over the host Bulldogs here Friday night and led them into the playoffs of Six-Man football.

Clark, who runs with the power of a steam roller, scored two touchdowns, kicked perfectly from placement twice, and tossed a pass for the other Hornet tally.

Ira gave the visitors a struggle, but fumbles proved to be their undoing. One bobble gave Highland its "go-ahead" touchdown and another one stopped what had appeared to be a certain TD drive by the Big Red.

Coach Lynn Jackson's lads held the upperhand in the first half, marching 60 yards for a touchdown in six plays. The Bulldogs resorted to a bit of trickery on a 48-yard run that propelled them into the lead early in the second stanza.

Aaron Crawford took a direct snap from center and charged towards the middle of the line. Just before he was hit Aaron lateraled to Billy Sterling who then pitched forward to Crawford. It was a legal maneuver since the lateral or pass occurred behind the line of scrimmage. Crawford was in the clear when he took the passs, and he easily outdistanced his pursuers.

Dennis Grizzle, who played an outstanding game at defensive left end, then kicked the ball through the uprights into the teeth of a brisk east wind as Ira jumped ahead, 8-0.

Highland wasted no time in getting back into the ball game. David Allen, a Freshman center, took a handoff from the quarterback on the first play from scrimmage following the kickoff. He heaved a long pass to Clark, who snagged it in on the four. Clark charged over the middle on the next effort and carried across the goal. He then made good on his first conversion kick as the Bulldogs had to settle for an 8-8 tie at halftime.

Senior end Feliz Arispe pounced on an Ira fumble at the Bulldog 20 early in the third quarter and the Hornets stung their hosts again in three plays with Clark pitching a 17-yarder to Sonny Monroe for the touchdown. Clark's kick again hit the mark and Highland was ahead, 16-8.

Led by Billy Sterling, Senior tailback, Ira drove to the Highland 15 following the TD before relinquishing possession.

Three power runs gave the Hornets a first at their 37. Then Clark plunged into the middle, shook off several would-be tacklers and emerged into the clear. He also ran over the safety as he steamrolled 43 yards to pay-dirt. Four Ira lads who tried unsuccessfully to stop Clark were left sprawled on the turf.

Incensed by the TD run, three Ira lads — Dennis Grizzle, Jimmie Wilson and Ricky Holladay — blasted through to block Clark's PAT attempt. The last score came on the third play of the fourth quarter.

Ira fought back gamely, but couldn't overcome its fumbles. Aaron Crawford raced around right end on a 24-yard scamper to the Highland 23 for good field position. But the Bulldogs fumbled two plays later after driving inside the 20.

Later in the period, Billy Sterling ran a punt back 58 yards to the Highland seven. But a clipping penalty nullified the effort and set Ira back on its 20.

Highland had a big, tough team. Big 190-pound senior center Jimmy Dolloff was extremely hard to block, but Jimmy Wilson and Gary Weir of the hosts moved him out more than once. Weir made the best block of the night, hitting Clark so hard once that the talented back turned a complete flip in mid-air.

Amazingly, Clark struggled slowly to his feet after the block and remained in the game. But, then, he's a champion, and so are the Highlanders.

SWC Freshman Title At Stake

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas can win the Southwest Conference freshman football championship today.

But if the Shorthorns fail to beat Texas A&M in their closing game, the title will go to Texas Tech, which has finished the season with a 4-0 record.

Texas also is 4-0.

Texas Christian clinched third place Friday in beating Southern Methodist 28-10 at Fort Worth. Dan Carter threw three touchdown passes and Gary Butlar scored twice in the Wogs' triumph over the Colts.

Arkansas beat Tulsa 60-8 and managed to wind up with a 3-2 record. Darrell Horton ran 7, 22 and 52 yards to touchdowns in pacing the Shoats' smashing victory.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Art Arfons miraculously escaped with only minor injuries when his jet car, the Green Monster, crashed going 580 miles-per-hour. Arfons was trying to break Craig Breedlove's world land speed record of 600.601 m.p.h.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) The National Baseball Congress is putting some polish into its franchised sand-lot leagues.

Congress President Ray Dumont said today the 1967 rules will require umpires to shine their shoes before every sanctioned game.

The rule will apply to an estimated 7,000 members of the National Association of Umpires and a violation can bring a 30-day suspension for the umps.

Hobbs Beats Eagles In Season Finale

HOBBS The Hobbs Panthers ended their football season on a winning note here Friday night by trouncing the McCaulley Eagles 44-6. The victory gave the Panthers an 8-2 season record and a 4-1 record in District 3-B action. They placed second behind Highland, who won over Ira 22-8 Friday.

The contest was the last one for 5 of the Panthers who have finished their eligibility. They are Gary Nettleton and 4 Martinez boys, George, Maurice, Jimmy, and Kenny, who are all cousins. However, Coach Bernard (Boxey) Weems will have two more Martinez boys back next year - Turo, a brother of Kenny, and Rene, a brother of Jimmy. Also there will be two more of the clan coming up from the undefeated Junior High team.

The fans at Hobbs saw an unusual game Friday night in that the Panthers did not run an offensive play in the second half until the final two minutes. Instead they punted on first down every time they got the ball. This came about because of a rule in Six-man ball that requires the officials to end a game when one team leads another by 45 points in the second half. The Panthers led at one time 44-0 and wanted to play a whole ball game.

Hobbs broke the game wide open in the initial quarter by scoring 3 touchdowns. Randy Williams passed to Maurice Martinez for the first one on a 26-yard play. George Martinez kicked for the 2 points and an 8-0 lead. Minutes later Kenny Martinez went over from 3 yards out to cap a 40 yard drive. The try-for-points was unsuccessful. Shortly thereafter Gary Nettleton ran for 24 yards and a TD. This time George Martinez again kicked the points to give the Panthers a 22-0 lead.

Early in the 2nd frame Jimmy Martinez intercepted a pass to set up another Hobbs score. At this point Weems substituted the B Team, who promptly got another touchdown. Allan Faulkenberry carried it over on a 25-yard run, and a 28-0 lead.

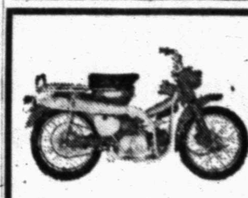

Coach Weems then put in an unusual combination, the six Martinez boys, who were the only Panthers on the field for a few minutes.

Hobbs tallied once more just before the half ended when Kenny Martinez ran for 9 yards and a TD. Cousin George kicked for two points and the home team led 36-0 at intermission.

The Panthers, who continued to punt on first down throughout the 2nd half, scored on a blocked punt in the 3rd quarter. Turo Martinez blocked the kick and then covered it in the end zone for the score. The final points for Hobbs came on a safety when Eagle back Dannie Gann fell in the end zone and gave Hobbs 2 points and a 44-0 lead.

With about two minutes left in the game, Gann scored for McCaulley on a 55-yard scamper against the Hobbs B Team. The point try was no good, but the Eagles were on the scoreboard. That ended the scoring for both teams.

Weems, who is in his 4th year as the Hobbs mentor, said that the Panthers would begin basketball workouts Monday afternoon.

Defending Champs Fall; Bobcats Claim District

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three defending state champions are in the discard and the fourth might be kicked out today as the Texas schoolboy football race moves into the playoff stage.

Brownwood, the Class AAA king, took it on the chin from undefeated, untied Vernon 28-15 Friday night. That gave Vernon the district championship and a ticket to the division playoffs starting next week.

Wills Point, the Class A champion, was knocked out in the opening round of the playoffs, falling to Paul Pewitt 31-19.

Odessa Permian, the Class AAAA champion, never got out of the district.

Plano, the defending titlist of Class AA, plays Mexia at Waco tonight in the bi-district round.

All district champions but one were determined Friday night in Classes A AAA and AAA; while most first round games were played in the Class AA and A playoffs.

The last titlist was named today as Amarillo Tascosa, the No. 1 rated team in the state, played Borger at Amarillo for the Dist. 3 championship of Class AAAA.

Other district champions are Ysleta Bel Air, San Angelo, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth Eastern Hills, Dallas Bryan Adams, Carrollton, Marshall, Houston Waltrip, Spring Branch, Port Arthur, Brazosport, Austin McCallum, Alice, San Antonio MacArthur and San Antonio Harlandale.

San Angelo, which was rated No. 1 until this week, made it to the playoffs by crushing Big Spring 41-0.

Wichita Falls is back in the playoffs after a five-year lapse. The Coyotes beat Wichita Falls Rider 24-6 to get there.

Wichita Falls, if it should win the state championship, would tie Abilene for the most titles in the history of the Interscholastic League. Abilene has won six, Wichita Falls five.

In the first round of the playoffs next week Bel Air meets San Angelo, the Amarillo Tascosa-Borger winner meets Wichita Falls, Eastern Hills clashes with Dallas Bryan Adams, Carrollton takes on Marshall, Waltrip plays Spring Branch, Port Arthur engages Brazosport, McCallum meets Alice and MacArthur tackles Harlandale.

Class AAA district champions are Dumas, Monahans, Littlefield, Vernon, Mineral Wells, McKinney, Nacogdoches, Ennis, Bridge City, Conroe, Lamar Consolidated, Clear Creek, San Marcos, Robstown, Fredericksburg and Raymondville. McKinney enters the playoffs as the No. 1 team in its division.

In the first round of the playoffs Dumas plays Monahans, Littlefield takes on Vernon, Mineral Wells tackles McKinney, Nacogdoches plays Ennis, Bridge City moves against Conroe, Lamar Consolidated plays Clear Creek, San Marcos plays Robstown and Fredericksburg meets Raymondville.

The No. 1 teams of Class AA and A made it through the first round but Sweeney, the Class AA topper, had trouble aplenty. It was able to beat Edna only 6-0.

Forney, ranked No. 1 in Class A, slashed Glen Rose 35-6.

Post, Stamford, Granbury, Decatur, Daingerfield, Mineola, Cameron, Bastrop, Sweeny, Kenedy, San Antonio Randolph and Freer won bi-district games in Class AA. Four more are scheduled tonight when Phillips clashes with Iowa Park, Plano plays Mexia, Rusk engages Buna and HardinJefferson rolls against Dayton.

White Deer, Spur, Seagraves, Sonora, Keller, Forney, Pewitt, Rosebud, Hull-Daisetta, Schulenburg, Stockdale and George West advanced in Class A. Four more games today and tonight will complete the bi-district round.

Hallsville and San Augustine played at Center this afternoon while tonight Santa Anna and Ranger tangle at Abilene, Honey Grove and Frisco clash at Sherman and Dawson meets Rogers at Temple.

Only 20 undefeated, untied teams are left in the state.

Class AAAA has Amarillo Tascosa, Austin McCallum, Alice, San Antonio Macarthur and San Antonio Harlandale. Tascosa plays today.

Class AAA boasts Vernon, McKinney, San Marcos and Robstown, all of whom came through Friday night with victories.

Iowa Park, Granbury, Mineola, Hardin-Jefferson, Sweeny and San Antonio Randolph have perfect records in Class AA. Iowa Park and Hardin-Jefferson risk them tonight.

Class A's teams with unbeaten, untied records are White Deer, Sonora, Forney, Honey Grove and Keller.

Dandy Sandy Quits After Best Season

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A tremendous question mark hovers over the future of the National League champion Dodgers. Sandy Koufax has retired.

Superb Sandy, acclaimed as perhaps the greatest left hand pitcher in baseball history and certainly the finest in the major leagues today, made official Friday what had long been rumored.

At 30, after his winningest season, Koufax is quiting rather than pitch another season with the pain of his chronically arthritic left elbow.

"I feel I can't risk the chance of completely disabling myself," the handsome dark-haired bachelor told a news conference in Beverly Hills.

"I was told that if I kept on pitching I could do a good job of permanent damage.

"I've got a lot of years to live after baseball and I want to be sure of the complete use of my body."

Koufax earned a reported $125,000 in 1966 with the Los Angeles club, and could have commanded much more for 1967.

But money comes a poor second to a bad arm and, said Sandy, the Dodgers couldn't offer enough to make him continue to play—or change his mind about retiring.

"My decision is irrevocable."

Technically, Sandy asked to be placed on the club's voluntary retired list, which, said Dodger vice president E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, makes the Koufax retirement automatic.

Bavasi did not attend the Koufax-called press conference and was indeed sharply critical because Sandy declined to wait to make the announcement until Dodger president Walter F. O'Malley returns home from Japan Sunday.

"I think he owed Walter the courtesy of waiting," said Bavasi. "What was three more days?

"After all," Bavasi exclaimed, "Walter made it possible for Sandy to retire at the age of 30."

Advised of Bavasi's reaction, Koufax said he had wanted to make the disclosure before Bavasi left for a two-week vacation in Hawaii, but Buzzie persuaded him not to. Bavasi felt he could make a better deal—with Sandy still on the roster—at the league meetings in December.

Koufax said he told Bavasi late in the season he was 90 per cent sure this would be his last, and in the last month he told Bavasi he was 100 per cent sure of it.

"There's no question Sandy did the right thing — but he should have waited a few more days," Bavasi conceded.

But Koufax observed: "My only regret after 12 years in baseball is leaving it."

He surprised listeners when he said he has no real plans for the future. He said he'd like to stay in Los Angeles and he might be interested in remaining in baseball as a radio or television commentator.

At least one New York radio station put in a quick bid for him.

"But I wouldn't want to travel with a club when I knew I couldn't pitch," he added.

The elbow trouble started in a game at Milwaukee Aug. 8, 1964, when he skidded on it while sliding back to second base on a teammate's missed bunt.

"I'm not generally in the area of second base," Sandy quipped. A good hitter he is not.

Koufax retires with a host of records. Three times he won the Cy Young Award — which no other hurler has won more than once—and four times he pitched no-hit, no-run games, one a perfect job.

Baseball's strikeout king fanned more than 300 batters in three different years; he was the winningest pitcher the past three, with a 27-9 in 1966—bum arm and all. He also beat the New York Yankees twice and the Minnesota Twins twice in World Series games.

What about the Dodgers without him next year?

"Some one will take my place. Maybe the Dodgers will need a fourth starting pitcher, but if they can come up with another kid like Don Sutton, they'll be all right," he replied.

Sandy, with hearty laughter, admitted the Dodgers had made no move to keep him on as a hitter.

Meanwhile, praise for dandy Sandy came from all areas of baseball.

In Tokyo, owner O'Malley said the club will not try to dissuade Koufax from his decision. "We wish Sandy great happiness and good health in retirement.

Manager Walter Alston, who is concluding a tour of Japan with the Dodgers, observed: "He was possibly the greatest pitcher ever in baseball. I hate to see him go."

And Leo Durocher, Chicago Cubs' manager and former Dodger manager and coach, declared:

"He's the best pitcher I've ever seen. There's no chance the Dodgers can win the pennant now."

SWC Teams See Action

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The next-to-last go-round of Southwest Conference football comes up today with a couple of important things likely to happen.

Arkansas plays Texas Tech at Lubbock seeking the Cotton Bowl host spot primarily but perfectly willing to let Baylor boost it into the championship, too.

Arkansas will clinch the bowl place by beating Tech regardless of results of other games.

Southern Methodist, in a virtual tie with Arkansas for first place, meets Baylor at Dallas. A Baylor victory could hand the title to Arkansas, which has lost only one game, the same as Southern Methodist.

Rice and Texas Christian, in a contest to see which can lose the most, tangle at Houston. Rice can draw even with TCU if it wins. TCU has a 2-6 record, Rice 1-7 for the season.

Texas and Texas A&M, the other conference members, are not playing this week. Rather, they are preparing for their Thanksgiving Day clash at Austin when each closes the season.

Crowds totaling 95,000 are due to see the three games today with 35,000 at Dallas, 35,000 at Lubbock and 25,000 at Houston.

ATLANTA (AP) — Coach Norb Hecker of the Atlanta Falcons says tackle Guy Reese may be back for one or two games this year but rookie fullback Bill Wolski is lost for the season.

Wolski, No. 5 draft choice from Notre Dame, was declared out Thursday after a knee operation. The Falcons said he would require a long period of recuperation.

Reese suffered similar knee trouble earlier in the season.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — —The St. Louis Hawks extended Player-Coach Richie Guerin's contract for two additional years as soon as the present one runs out at the end of the current National Basketball Association season.

Detroit Players In Altercation

DETROIT (AP)—A Brighton, Mich., man said he was involved in a scuffle Friday night with Detroit Lions linebackers Mike Lucci and Wayne Walker outside a Detroit bar.

David Smith, 25, told Detroit police Walker struck him on the forehead as he left the Townsman Lounge in Detroit's Northwest Side.

Walker, contacted late Friday night, admitted there was a fracas. Walker said he and Lucie were provoked by Smith and four companions as they left the bar.

CHIEFS CAN WRAP UP DIVISION TITLE

By MIKE RECHT

The Kansas City Chiefs can all but lock up the Western Division of the American Football League Sunday by opening the door for Buffalo in the Eastern Division.

The Chiefs, leading the West by two games over Oakland, take the key into their game against Boston, which sits one half length back of leading Buffalo in the East.

A Kansas City victory would keep the Chiefs at least two games ahead with three contests remaining, and would severely crimp the hopes of the Patriots, 5-3-1, should Buffalo, 6-3-1, win at Houston, as expected.

Kansas City, 8-2, which beat the Pats 43-24 earlier, takes the AFL's top total offense and rushing offense into the game. But Mike Garrett, Bert Coan and Curtis McClinton, all among the league's top rushers, must get by the circuit's leading rushing defense, while Kansas City must contain Boston's Jim Nance, the top ground-gainer.

A standoff on the ground could put the game in the hands of Len Dawson of the Chiefs, No. 2 among AFL passers, who has thrown 22 touchdown passes.

Buffalo moves into Houston, 3-7, with only one loss in its last eight games after holding its last two opponents without a touchdown. The Bills also boast a balanced offense led by runners Bobby Burnett, No. 2 in the AFL, and Wray Carlton and passer Jack Kemp. Houston's pass-heavy offense relies on Don Trull, who took over for George Blanda last week.

Oakland, 6-4, tries to keep pace with Kansas City when it unleashes the league's best defense and passer Tom Flores at Denver, 2-7. The Broncos will be trying for their second straight upset after surprising Boston 17-10 last week.

In the other game, the sinking New York Jets 4-4-1, try to snap a four-game losing streak against Miami, 2-7, and keep alive their title hopes. The Jets are missing injured Matt Snell, but still have Joe Namath throwing to George Sauer Jr.

All games will be regionally televised.

In the National League, Chicago invades Green Bay, Baltimore plays at Detroit, Washington moves to Cleveland, Dallas travels to Pittsburgh, Minnesota is at Los Angeles, Philadelphia at San Francisco and Atlanta at New York.

Bewitched Stays High In Ratings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A reporter with an eye on a crystal ball and an ear to the ground — a position that can be achieved only with practice — knows that no one can predict whether a television series will be a big hit or a big miss.

This season, for instance, the whispered consensus had "The Monkees" safely voted in as the show most likely to concede. When the early ballots — the sacrosanct Nielsen Ratings — were in, the winner turned out to be "Rat Patrol," a series that had not picked up a single vote in the straw polls. That is the way things usually work out.

But in the summer of 1964, the unofficial oracles were, for once correct. There was general agreement that ABC's new situation comedy "Bewitched" would be a winner. In fact, the series was considered such a shoo-in that it started a three-way tug-of-war among a then-president of a network, the producer of the series and a sponsor. The latter shrewdly had bought the series after one quick look at a pilot film of the comedy about a comely young witch married to an average mortal businessman.

Now, more than two years later, "Bewitched" remains high on the Nielsen list. The young couple have had a small witch of their own. And a young actress named Elizabeth Montgomery is getting pretty tired of explaining that it is really no hardship at all to follow in the footsteps of successful parents.

Miss Montgomery, more often called Liz, is the daughter of Robert Montgomery, who graduated from acting everybody's favorite playboy in Hollywood to one of television's pioneering dramatic produers. Her mother is Elizabeth Allen, who retired from the stage for marriage.

Liz Montgomery is a pretty, vivaious blonde with an upturned nose which plays a vital role in her series — when she wiggles it, spells are cast.

After playing Samantha Stevens, girl witch, in more than 75 episodes of the comedy, Liz is more involved in the series than at the beginning.

This in itself is unusual since most actors who have ridden to personal success on the wings of a television series start stewing about type-casting, over-exposure and long working hours.

"I think that it is the basic structure that keeps me interested," she explained recently over an extremely mortal luncheon of eggs benedict. "What the show is really about is a good marriage between two people from different backgrounds."

Viewers with a sharp eye for satire often can spot subtle bits built into the story. Usually they are along the lines of, "Would you want your son to marry a witch?" And all through the series, like a bright thread, is woven the overwhelming snobbery of the heroine's witch and warlock relatives in connection with the poor, untalented humans. If one looks for it, it is very funny.

The real dispenser of magic in the show is never on camera. He is William Asher, who directed the pilot and many of the episodes.

He has one of those strange television titles — "creative consultant" — and is the real-life husband of Elizabeth Montgomery.

Asher, with a string of film hits to his credit, watches closely so that fantasy and the trick camera effects never overpower the basically human story lines.

Stanfield Third Graders On Schools' TV Program

All third grade pupils of Stanfield Elementary school will appear in a Thanksgiving skit with dialogue and song on the "Know Your Schools" closed circuit TV program Monday evening. Mrs. Virginia Whitson, music teacher at Stanfield, has written the script especially for this program and has selected the special Thanksgiving songs to be presented by choruses.

"Know Your Schools" will be shown Monday at the regular 30-minute period. Those wishing to view this program should dial Channel 2, SCAT, from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Music departments of several of the schools will be featured from time to time during the school year. Music programs are being planned near holidays so as to carry special occasion themes.

A poem introducing Monday's program will be given by Jill Montgomery, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Montgomery. This poem was written by Mrs. Whitson.

Six characters for the special dialogue on this holiday program will feature G.G. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, as a very young boy; Mitzi Autry, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Leon Autry, in the little girl lead; Vicki Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Johnson, a pilgrim woman; the first pilgrim man will be portrayed by Bud Dickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.E.S. Dickerson. A second pilgram man will be played by Mark Leavell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Leavell, and Pat Dryden will be featured as a friendly Indian. Pat is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dryden. Other third graders will make up chorus groups.

Mrs. Whitson will be present to direct the group. She will also play the piano accompaniment for singing groups.

Vocal music training is an important part of elementary education in public schools today, and is vastly unlike the early school experience of many parents and grandparents of today's youngsters. Years ago, vocal music was considered an extra-curricular school activity. Children were rehearsed in singing only for holiday programs and other special occasions. No attempt was made at developing skills in reading music notation or in developing rhythm as is encouraged in schools today. It was believed that children either came by a good voice naturally, or were unfortunate enough to not have that certain something believed to be and called talent.

Music teachers in Snyder schools believe that all children can develop a singing voice with proper training. "It is too much to hope that many of my pupils today will choose singing as a career later and become prominently known because of this early training in my classes," Mrs. Whitson comments. "But I am confident that in the years to come these children will reap personal rewards measured in terms of being able to sing well and by being taught to listen to music will gain pleasure in appreciating good music of many types."

Each elementary school in the Snyder system boasts a music department with a full-time music teacher. Music training begins for all children in the first grade, both in vocal music and in the use of rhythm band instruments.

A balanced elementary music program includes four main activities—singing, rhythms, listening and playing simple musical instruments. Children in the local public schools begin singing two-part harmony in the fourth grade, and fifth and sixth graders learn to carry three parts — soprano, second soprano and alto. Melody instruments such as tonettes, xylophones, tone bars and tone bells are used together with simple percussion instruments after the first year of school, and stringed instruments such as the autoharp, are introduced to fourth grade pupils. Sixth graders are taught to use other chording instruments such as the ukulele and piano.

Today's school children are taught to listen to music in terms of melody, tone quality, rhythm, harmony, mood and form. Planners of music programs in the schools believe that children learn to appreciate music and be discriminating only through hearing good music.

By the time Snyder school children reach high school, they have received a good background for both vocal and instrumental music. Both junior high schools have vocal and instrumental music departments and instructors for each. Those that have become adapt in either or both fields of music during their elementary and junior high school music training find the ultimate reward for their early learning in being able to participate in choral and instrumental music programs of the high school.

Choral music and instrumental music programs throughout the school system are coordinated through the two high school music directors.

"South Pacific" will be previewed for listeners on the "Know Your Schools" TV program on Monday evening, Nov. 28. This musical is to be presented in the Snyder High School Auditorium for three evening performances beginning with Thursday, Dec. 1. Choral and drama departments of the high school are combining efforts and talent to produce this stage extravaganza.

Guy Glenn Is Honored

Guy Glenn of Bonham, former Snyder resident, has been awarded the designation of Knight of the York Cross of Honour.

This is the highest in the York Rite of Freemasonry and is conferred only on those who have held the highest office in each of the four bodies of the rite.

Glenn is one of the comparative handful of 400 of the 4,250,000 Fremasons in North America and the Phillippines to qualify this year. In the past 37 years 10,713 have received the designation.

Glen served as Master of the Bonham Lodge of Masons in 1963, High Priest of Bonham chapter of Royal Arch Matons in 1962-63; Master of Bonham Council, Royal and Select Master in 1962-63; Commander of the Snyder Commandery, Knights Templar, 1965.

Murray Is Film Historian

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Because he hates to write letters, Ken Murray became — without planning it — a Hollywood film historian.

On a vaudeville tour in 1927 the comedian reported his travels with a 16 mm movie camera in lieu of letters to his grandparents in Kingston, N.Y., who had reared him.

In Los Angeles he met Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and presently was photographing — and being photographed with — Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Harold Lloyd, Laurel and Hardy and other stars of the day.

Murray has continued the hobby and now has "hundreds of thousands of miles" of film of stars from Clara Bow to Liz Taylor. He uses it for stage appearances and 9- to 15-minute fills, "Ken Murray in Hollywood," to round out two-hour time periods on NBC-TV's Tuesday and Saturjay night movies.

Texas Candidates Report Expenditures

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., spent $401,168 in his winning campaign for re-election to the U.S. Senate over Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, a Democrat. Carr spent $246,530.

The campaign expenses were released Friday by the secretary of state's office, which received reports from both candidates in the Nov. 8 election.

Their reports also showed Tower received $378,087 in gifts, compared to $166,120 for Carr.

It would take more than $75 billion to build from scratch the present U.S. railroad system.

THIS IS A SCENE from "Shane", which is coming to the Tiger Drive In Theater here Nov. 24-25.

Robards Is Very Versatile Actor

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In which realm do actors prefer working — movies, television or theater? Most say theater, but Jason Robards Jr. is of two minds about it.

"It's very limiting," said the trophy-winning, $5,000-a-week stage star, often called Broadway's best actor. "Your whole life consists of getting there and doing the show. You're not learning anything new.

"Doing eight shows a week is barbaric. You have Sunday off and sleep half the day."

Then ask Robards his preference among the performing arts and a gleam comes into the shadowed eyes in the long face: "The theater, for its live audience and sustained performance."

Robards, 44, can just about write his own ticket on either coast. He came here last March for one film and stayed for a second. After a month at home with wife Lauren Bacall, herself starring on Broadway, he was back for a television film.

Now, with two plastic scars spirit-gummed to his left cheek, he was gangster Al Capone in "The St. Valentine's Day Massacre." In a tense scene he went into an arm-waving, roaring rage upon learning a crony had been murdered. Afterward the crew applauded — a rare tribute.

The role is a switch from his carefree nonconformist in "A Thousand Clowns," a film nominated — but not, ironically, its star — for an Oscar. Is an Oscar his goal?

"No! I don't like these competitions. Cooperation, not competition, is a part of acting."

At home are six children — Miss Bacall's two by her marriage to the late Humphrey Bogart, Robards' three from a previous marriage and the couple's son, Sam, 4.

In a few days Robards would be off to Mexico to play Doc Holliday, to James Garner's Wyatt Earp, in "The Law and Tombstone." Next March he'll do "Jekyll and Hyde" in London for U.S. television.

Ravaged City Fears New Floods

By BENNET M. BOLTON

ROVIGO, Italy (AP) Fear of destructive new floods gripped towns in the Po Delta today as waters of the raging Adriatic Sea rose to rooftop level in three towns already evacuated.

Rolling across sea dikes the Adriatic waves inundated 25,000 acres of land around Scardovari, Bonelli and Santa Giulia. Some residents managed to haul a few furnishings out of windows and lash them to the roofs before leaving in rescue boats.

The rains eased the the powerful winds pushing the waves slackened during the day.

Military and civic officials said damage to soil and buildings was incalculable. Evacuation of more than 10,000 persons was systematic and orderly, with no loss of life reported.

Dozens of heavy army transports were massed at the head of a road that winds along the dikes to villages in the northernmost sector of the delta, ready to carry out hundreds of other residents should the sea invade there as it has in the delta's southern triangle.

President Giuseppe Saragat and Premier Aldo Moro, who have been touring communities in one-third of Italy devastated by the Nov. 4 floods, reached Venice today.

Jaycees In Session Here

Snyder Jaycees received a new member and received a report on a club-sponsored activity at their meeting Friday at Sallie's Cafeteria.

Mickey Nunley became a new member of the club, and Ken Aldridge received the Red Chip award for signing a new member.

Max Shaw reported on the chest X-ray campaign sponsored by the Jaycees. He said the mobile X-ray unit of the West Texas Tuberculosis Association made X-rays of 2,011 persons while in Snyder.

President Herb Reed, who presided, announced that the program for the next meeting will be presented by Warren Quinlan of the Dale Carnegie organization. Bill Dryden gave the invocation and Cecil Fowler led the Jaycee Creed. Secretary Jay Thompson read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved by the club.

New members' kits were distributed to Wendell Davis, Junior McCormick, Joneil Smallwood and Mickey Nunley.

Crew Feared Dead As Bomber Falls

HAYWARD, Wis. (AP) — A huge B52 Air Force jet bomber carrying nine men crashed and burned in a swampy, wooded area near this remote northern Wisconsin community Friday night.

"As far as we know, there were no survivors," said a spokesman at the Sawyer County sheriff's office.

The eight-engine craft, attached to the Strategic Air Command's 2nd Bomb Wing at Barksdale Air Force Base, La., was on a routine combat training flight.

A spokesman at Duluth, Minn., Air Force Base said the plane had just completed refueling in air, had made a radio check and then apparently lost

"There were no munitions involved," said the Duluth spokesman.

Moisture Scarcity Causing Concern

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The weather has been beautiful for harvesting but the lack of soil moisture is causing concern in almost every section of Texas.

John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported this week that the harvesting of all major crops has now shifted to western and northwestern sections and is rapidly being completed in these areas.

Livestock generally is good and dry grass is still providing good grazing in most areas, but small grain growth has about stopped and grazing from this source is now limited.

District agricultural agents in their midweek report to Hutchison described the situation in this manner:

W. W. Grisham Jr. from Amarillo said moisture is short over the Panhandle and dryland wheat needs moisture now.

The South Plains cotton harvest is really rolling, reported Billy Gunter from Lubbock, with the peak this week. Grain sorghum harvest is over and the soybean harvest is near completion.

Moisture is needed throughout the Rolling Plains district, and small grain growth is very slow, said James Simmons from Vernon. The cotton harvest is moving a fast pace; all small grain is planted.

Soil moisture in North Central Texas is becoming more critical and much of the small grain will not come up until it rains, advised Ted Martin from Denton. Small grain is making very little growth.

Moisture is needed in Northeast Texas but livestock are in good condition, report R. S. Loftis from Mt. Pleasant. He said an ample supply of hay was in storage and that grain sorghum yields from the completed harvest were good.

The dry and cool weather has been excellent for harvesting cotton and grain sorghum in far West Texas said Ray Siegmund from Fort Stockton. Ranges are in good condition; livestock are going into the winter in excellent condition.

The entire West Central district is dry but the cotton harvest is in full swing, reported Roy Huckabee from San Angelo. Small grain needs rain and though there is plenty of dry grass, rain is needed to get winter weeds and grasses growing.

Cool season grasses and small grains in Central Texas are in critical condition from the lack of moisture, advised John Burleson from Stephenville. Small grain grazing is very limited but dry grass is available. Livestock are in good condition. The pecan crop will be light.

Soil moisture is a bit spotted in East Texas where the range is from adequate to short, said Tommy Hollmig from Nacogdoches. That section's pecan crop will be about average.

Soil moisture continues spotted in the southeast and upper Gulf Coast district. Nine counties need rain, Liberty County has a surplus of moisture and the others report adequate moisture, advised R. J. Hodges from Richmond. Pecan yields are expected to be light.

In South Central Texas, moisture is very short and small grains are in need of moisture for survival, said Joe Glover from Gonzales. Moisture is needed to finish small grain and flax plantings and for land preparation.

Soil moisture ranges from short to very short in South Texas and the dry weather is holding up the completion of small grain planting in the Coastal Bend, said W. H. Lehmberg from Weslaco. Cucumbers, squash, beans and peppers are being harvested but the citrus harvest is still slow.

The public is invited to attend a general assembly Dec. 9 in Behrens Chapel when Dr. Cleary will speak on "Democratic Process in the Intellectual History of Western Civilization."

Mrs. Jewel Harris, past president of the Classroom Teachers Association of Texas, will direct the area high school students in their parliamentary procedure demonstration.

Dedication Is Jovial Affair

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Gov. Daniel J. Evans was to get some vocal support while dedicating a new stretch of freeway Friday.

Barbara Vaughan of Washington State University told the crowd she'd call out the letters in the governor's name.

Janet Slater of the University of Washington asked the crowd to respond with the appropriate letter.

"Give me an E," shouted Miss Vaughan.

The crowd responded with a loud "E."

Miss Slater cried: "Give me an F!"

Silence.

Then everybody, including Gov. Evans and the two girls, broke up.

After the laughter died away, the freeway was opened.

Pleas For Import Control Renewed

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Independent oilmen have renewed their plea that the federal government slap some sort of controls on natural gas being imported from Canada.

The independents contend imports should not be permitted to increase at a rate greater than growth rate for domestic gas production.

The Federal Power Commission (FPC) rejected such a plea last June but a month later indicated it might be interested in establishing guidelines on such matters as the extent a domestic pipeline should rely on Canadian reserves.

In June, the Independent Petroleum Association of America argued that Canadian gas imports supplant domestic gas, force additional gas liquids on the market and undermine the federal mandatory oil import control program by supplanting domestic petroleum products.

On Nov. 1 the association tacked on two more objections. A formal policy statement said Canadian gas imports subject U.S. consumers to actions taken by a foreign government in the interest of that nation and its citizens. It also said such gas imports restrict capital funds available to domestic producers, therefore discouraging domestic oil and gas explorations.

The independents contend Canadian gas imports last May had the energy equivalent of 225,000 barrels of oil daily but the figure now has climbed to 270,000 and increased imports authorized by the FPC will add another 70,000.

The association filed with the FPC this week a brief as an intervenor in an application by the El Paso Natural Gas Co. requesting authority to import an additional 200 million cubic feet of Canadian gas a day. It was the ninth time for the independents to file such an intervenor petition.

All nine briefs have asked that the FPC adopt a policy guideline which would treat future import applications on a basis consistent with the security objectives of oil import controls and permit gas imports to grow at a rate no greater than the growth in domestic gas production.

"What we have advocated is a policy of market sharing which recognizes our close relationships involving many mutual interests with Canada, "said F. Allen Calvert Jr., Tulsa, Okla., president of the 5,000-member trade group.

Calvert said imports from Canada, now amounting to 1.5 billion cubic feet a day, have increased 209 per cent in five years.

This week's petition said a "share the growth" policy would still permit Canadian gas imports to increase at an annual rate of about 60 million cubic feet a day.

The independents asked that approval of the El Paso request be withheld pending establishment of national security standards and guidelines.

Kfan-Luc Pepin, Canadian minister of energy, mines and resources, told the trade group for U. S. independent operators on Oct. 30 that Canada must increase its exports of oil and gas.

Pepin said Canada has an annual imblance of trade with the United States of from $1 to $1¼ billion.

"We are by far your best trading partner—your best customer," he said. "Sound business calls for you to buy more from us if we have suitable commodities that you need. We have clearly established that our oil resources are substantial and they are, as you know, seriously under-utilized at the present time."

Contrary to popular belief, rivers do not take most rainwater back to the oceans. Of the 1,430 cubic miles of rain, snow and sleet deposited each year on the United States, only about 390 are delivered to the oceans by rivers. Most of the rest returns to the air through evaporation and transpiration from plants.

Completions Reported By RR Commission

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday 165 oil wells were completed during the past week, bringing the yearly total to 6,542, compared to 6,103 a year ago.

The commission said 49 gas wells were completed in the total to 2,018, compared to 2,217 last year at this time.

A total of 199 wells were plugged, the commission said, including 103 dry holes.

The regulator agency said six wildcat oil wells were drilled—three in Dist. 4, two in Dist. 9 and one in Dist. 7-C. Twenty-three wildcat gas wells were drilled—14 in Dist. 4, six in Dist. 3 and one each in Dists. 7-B, 8 and 10.

Pilot Steers Crippled Jet To Safety

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — For a tense hour a Delta airlines jet carrying 94 persons circled to use up fuel. Then the pilot, Capt. J.D. Irvin of Atlanta, Ga., set down so smoothly that the lack of one landing gear was hardly noticeable.

His four-engine Convair 880 was diverted to Carswell Air Force Base here Friday night after Irvin discovered the jammed right gear near the end of a flight from New York to Houston via Atlanta.

Ground crewmen coated the 12,000-foot main runway with foam and the pilot, a 20-year veteran with Delta, brought the huge craft down at 11:22 p.m.

Sparks flew for 1,000 yards as a right engine pod scraped. The plane veered slightly to the right but stayed on the runway.

A brief burst of flame was extinguished almost as soon as it appeared. The plane apparently suffered little damage.

"I've had them to come down harder on the landing approach than this one," said Edward Lumen, a passenger from Houston. "I can't compliment the pilot more on such a great job. It was really a smooth landing."

Irvin said a cockpit light signalled that the right gear would not descend and air controllers ordered him to Dallas because of fog at Houston. As he flew past, Dallas air controllers confirmed that one gear was up and the other down. The big jet then was directed to Carswell.

The pilot reported the 88 passengers remained calm and responded well to instructions, sliding down emergency exit chutes as soon as the craft skidded to a halt.

Among those on board were James L. Walley of Atlanta, his wife and daughters Lindy, 15, Cindy, 9, and Mindy, who will be 1 on Thanksgiving Day. They were in route to Houston for a wedding.

"I could have sworn we had a (landing) gear when we came to a stop," Walley said.

His wife added: "The 20 or 30 seconds just before we landed seemed like five hours."

Lindy said she wasn't scared "because nobody else got scared."

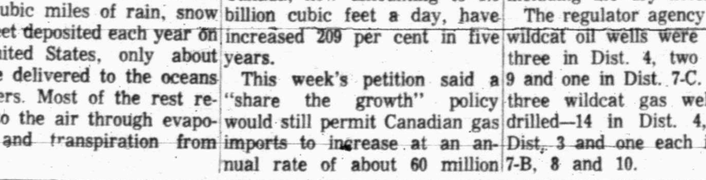

Cindy's comment : "It was pretty neat."

That seemed to sum up the feelings of all the passengers.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 17, NO. 175 SNYDER, TEXAS (79549) SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1966 SECTION B

MRS. LIDA RHOADES gave a delightful program and showed slides featuring the theme of the evening, "Artistical Overview of World Affairs".

Annual Thanksgiving Dinner Held By Art Guild Club

The auditorium of the Martha Ann Woman's Club was the setting for the annual Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock for The Art Guild Club.

In the years since the club was organized, in the spring of 1930, membership has changed but the original object still holds: "the study of art and the cultivation of an appreciation of art."

A federated club since the year of its organzation, the group studiesi courses recommended by the Federation but the topics are usually slanted toward an artistic interpretation.

For example, the course of study for this year is "Appreciation And Enjoyment of Arts Around Us". American painting, music and literature are among the fine arts studied.

Mrs. Nancy Caton, still an associate member, was the club's organizer. Encouraged and assisted by Mrs. Caton, a group of young women interested in art met, as the records show, "to discuss the advisability of organizing an art club."

Although the group today still holds to the original object, members do not necessarily express a particular interest in art. The group is actually a study club with the same interest in civic projects and intellectual improvement that characterizes most other federated clubs in Snyder.

May your holiday be abundantly blessed with all the good things in life!

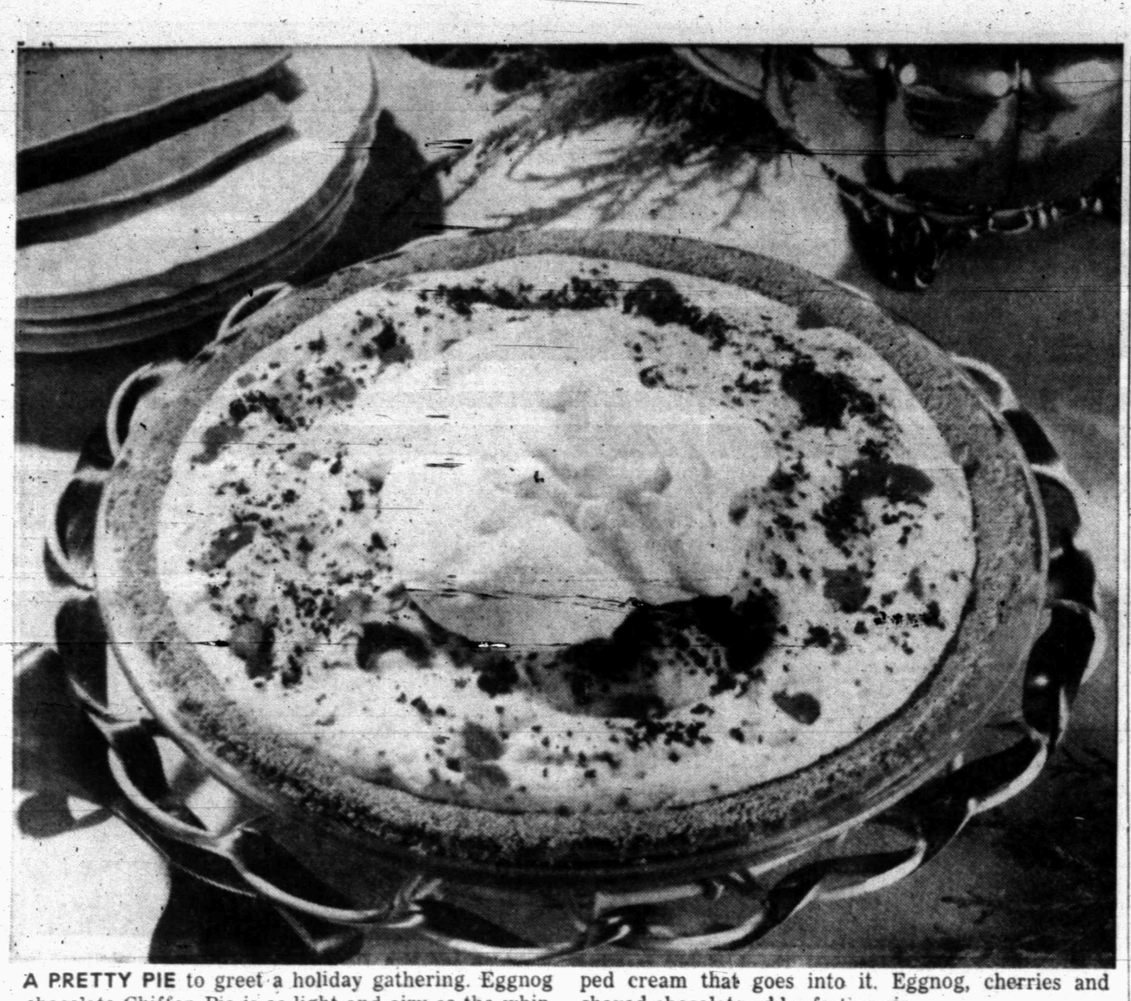

As you and your loved ones gather around the Thanksgiving table, may your happy faces reflect health and good fortune . . . Let us give thanks!

A BUFFET DINNER was served featuring turkey and all the delicious trimmings.

A SEASONAL THEME was carried out in the table decorations, assembled in a horseshoe shape.

A PRETTY PIE to greet a holiday gathering. Eggnog chocolate Chiffon Pie is as light and airy as the whipped cream that goes into it. Eggnog, cherries and shaved chocolate add a festive air.

Art Guild Takes Tour With Slides

The Art Guild Study Club met Tuesday evening at Martha Ann Woman's Club for their annual Thanksgiving dinner. Carrie Line and Margaret Dell Pilcher were hostesses, and Delia McPherson gave the invocation.

The dining area set the overtone for the program theme "World Affairs." The head table was decorated with a miniature replica of the U.N. building while the flags of member nations, gracefully arranged in white styrofoam, formed a continuing line in the center of the tables. Another touch of added beauty was the use of napkins and placemats portraying scenes of the UN headquarters.

President Louise Melton acted as mistress of ceremonies. After a brief welcome, eight guests were introduced. Mrs. Melton then presented Lida Rhoades who gave the program, "An Artistical Overview of World Capitals.

The speaker, an amateur photographer in her own rights, carried the group on an imaginary journey which touched 20 world capitals and covered approximately 10 thousand miles, via colored slides with narrations.

Beginning with Washington D.C. the scene changed to Mexico City, Kingston, Jamaca, London, Edinburgh, Oslo, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Bonn, The Hague, Amsterdam, Luxumborg, Brussels, Vaduz, Geneva, Vienna, Prague, Rome, Monaco, and Paris.

It was the consensus of the group that the pictures and the presentation was most enjoyable.

1 tablespon butter or margarine
½ cup dark molasses
⅛ teaspoon baking soda

In double-boiler top, stir together the cornmeal, salt and spices with ½ cup of the cold milk. Scald 1½ cup of the milk; stir into cornmeal mixture; thoroughly stir in the butter, then the molasses and baking soda. Stir in remaining 2 cups cold milk. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until slightly thickened — about 20 minutes. Turn into greased 1½-quart oven - glass round casserole (7 ½ by 2½ inches) Bake, uncovered, in a very slow (275 degrees) oven for 2¼ hours. Allow to stand until slightly warm before spooning into dishes; serve slightly warm topped with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 servings. (Pudding will have whey-like texture.)

Try Eggnog Dessert With A Difference

If you're fond of eggnog, enjoy it to the fullest during the holiday season while it's available in abundance. Take a fling with an eggnog dessert or two. And keep some on hand to serve at parties or whenever friends drop in. This creamy beverage is the perfect accompaniment for fruit cake or Christmas cookies, and a joy to serve because it's ready-made.

There's a whole new world of flavor in eggnog desserts. For instance, this easy, elegant Eggnog Chocolate Chiffon Pie. Make it for the December meeting of your bridge club, church committee or ladies' luncheon group. You can prepare the pie ahead of time, even the day before, and be sure it's perfect at serving time.

This is more than a plain eggnog pie, though that's delicious, too. This one's a dream of a pie, high, light, fluffy, studded with bright bits of maraschino cherry and flecked with chocolate. Gelatin gives it body and whipped cream makes it smooth as velvet. Cherries and chocolate add just the right note of holiday glamour. The chocolate never overpowers the delicate flavor of the eggnog. It's dairy eggnog, of course, a real time-saver for the modern homemaker. Chill the pie in its crumb crust until ready to serve, then give it a festive touch by mounding clouds of whipped cream in the center.

Eggnog Chocolate Chiffon Pie

1 1-3 cups graham cracker crumbs (16 squares)
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
2½ cups dairy eggnog
½ teaspoon rum extract
1 cup whipping cream
¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries
1 square (1 oz.) coarsely grated semi-sweet chocolate
Sweetened whipped cream

In a small bowl mix together crumbs and sugar; stir in butter. Press mixture firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, building up slightly around rim. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 5 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Meanwhile sprinkle gelatin on water to soften. In a 2-quart saucepan heat 1 cup eggnog over low heat to simmering point; add gelatin and stir to dissolve. Remove from heat; add remaining 1½ cups eggnog and rum extract. Chill until partially set. Whip cream until stiff; fold into eggnog mixture. Fold in cherries and chocolate. Chill until mixture mounds. Turn into crust; chill. Serve garnished with sweetened whipped cream.

Mrs. H. F. Clark, president of the club, presided at a business meeting following the program.

The annual meeting of West Texas Girl Scout Council will be held on Thursday, Dec. 1, at the Cosden Club in Big Spring at 7 p.m. This meeting is open to all registered adult members, husbands, wives, and other guests. WHAT'S HAPPENED to "family life" . . . good times at home . . . with mom, pop and the kids having fun together? Is it as bad as some of the nervous psychologists and sociologists would have us believe? We doubt it . . . but it probably isn't what it "ought" to be. There's good reason to believe that maybe a few of the old-fashioned "kicks" of "fun at home" should find their way back to family life.

Pop Corn Family Fun At Home

While the idea of "togetherness" has probably been overworked, over-publicized and over-emphasized, there's no question but that good all-family fun, especially family fun right at home, has been a missing ingredient in many modern, hurry-scurry households.

Years ago, before television, drive-ins and the automobile took over, a typical family evening was spent with dad reading the paper, mom knitting or darning, and the kids doing their home-work — all around the same table. It was a cozy life, but one most of us would find dull these days. So who would want to go back to it?

But, there are some nights of the week when the entire family can and should have fun right at home — with such a simple pleasure, for example, as popping up heaping bowls of light, fluffy, delicious pop corn. It has a remarkable effect in getting dad, mom and the kids all together doing something they all can enjoy.

Of course, it's important to start with a good grade of pop corn...even if it does cost a penny or two more. Nothing can dampen a "pop corn get-to-gether" quicker than pop corn that won't pop — or is tough and full of scratchy hulls. So get a well-advertised brand, preferably in the hermetically sealed cans (like Jolly Time).

In addition to the regular way of serving hot buttered and salted pop corn, there are so many other interesting and varied ways to use pop corn. Here is one "goodie" -- crunchy, chewy pop corn bars -- simple and easy to make. And there are even variations on this, as you'll see. Here's the latest, simplified recipe:

2 cups white sugar
1 cup corn syrup (your choice of white or dark).
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 tablespoon of butter or margarine. You can use more of this ingredient, two to four more tablespoons for richer flavor, if you like.
½ teaspoon soda
6 quarts of popped corn.

Cook first four ingredients (about 5 minutes) until a drop forms a hard ball in cold water. Remove from fire and add soda.

Pour over the popped corn, mixing thoroughly.

Press this mixture into lightly buttered baking pans, about 1 inch deep.

Using a wet knife, cut into bars, and allow to set until cool.

Now...for the easy variations:

1. When pouring candy syrup over the popped corn, mix in your favorite nut meats...peanuts, cashews, etc. Or...try bite-size marshmallows, thoroughly mixing them into the pop corn. Young children also like this mixture using gum-drops instead of marshmallows.

2. Instead of pressing the mixture into a baking pan, simply break apart into various "nugget" size bits, and allow to cool.

Any way you choose, you'll also find it's a good "keeper" in your refrigerator, making a handy snack.

LIBRARY NOTES

With public opinion polls showing that the Vietnam situation is today's biggest worry for the average man-on-the-street interest has sharpened at the Scurry County Library in books and magazine articles on the various aspects of the conflict.

Recent books about the Vietnam situation include "New Face of War" by Malcolm W. Browne. In this timely and important book he gives the picture of a new kind of war as seen in the conflict that has festered in Viet Nam for more than a decade. It is a frightening picture that daily newspaper reports can never fully reveal. Here is the inside story of the war in Viet Nam in its military, political, and human aspects. But more than the story of Viet Nam this book constitutes a warning that must be heeded by the free world if that world is to remain free.

"Making of a Quagmire" by David Halberstam. This book is an important, revealing and tough - minded account of the kind of crisis that will face the United States for many years to come. It is significant that the author remains an idealist about our foreign policy in general and our role in South Vietnam in particular; his indignation is the stronger for his conviction of what might have been — and what perhaps, under proper leadership and effort, might still be.

"Long, long war" by Richard L. Clutterbuck. The Malayan insurgency was an early example of a kind of war that has clearly come to stay. Against the background of the British success in Malaya, the author provides answers to vital questions regarding counter in surgency efforts in Vietnam: Why has the strategic - hamlet program, a key innovation of the Malayan defense, been a disappointment in Vietnam? What is the role of air power in the fight against the guerrilla? Why are new intelligence techniques so important in jungle warfare? And perhaps most important, how can lessons learned in Malay help shape the future of the Vietnamese conflict?

"Vietnam Dairy" by Richard Tregaskis. The first definitive eye-witness account of the combat in Vietnam, this unforgettable, vividly illustrated report records the story of the 14,000 Americans fighting in a new kind of war. This story of a unique campaign in American history has never been told before. Chronicling the first concerted U.S. effort to beat back guerrilla forces, it is a remarkable story of today's risks and techniques that are setting a pattern for the future in the most explosive trouble spot in the world.

Others are: "Vietnam: Between Two Truces," by Jean Lacouture; "Mission in Torment," by John Mecklin; "Our Vietnam Nightmare," by Marguerite Higgins and "Green Berets," by Robert Moore.

History is being made, day by day. Keep up on current events by reading books and magazines from the Scurry County Library.

Tempting Fate

A DREAM OF KINGS. By Harry Mark Petrakis.

In a neighborhood of Greek immigrants in Chicago there is a tempter of fate named Matsoukas. He is a lusty, exuberant man who always seems able to turn misfortune to his own ends.

Matsoukas runs what he calls a "counseling service" for his fellow Greeks. That means he lives by his wits, and business is bad. Sometimes he dreams up a fancy deal — as when he tries to sell a deserted restaurant to a prospective buyer, and swamps the place with a lot of fake customers, only to have the scheme backfire.

So he spends a lot of his time trying to get out of debt the hard way — betting on the horses and playing poker. He also finds amatory diversions in the charms of the widow Anthoula, who runs the bakery next door.

Matsoukas enjoys life — including his wine, fruit and cheese — but there is a great tragic pain under his exuberance. His small son Stavros is desperately ill. Matsoukas is obsessed with the notion that if he could only take the boy to Greece, the life - giving sun in that fair land would effect an immediate cure.

For the sake of Stavros, he tempts fate once too often, and tragedy closes in with all the impact of an ancient Greek drama.

The author has a zestful, forceful style and a strong sense of imagery. This is an unusual novel, and a good one.

Catsup Provides Sauce For Spanish Style Pork Chops

An abundance of tomatoes, a careful seasoning by means of spices, these are characteristics of the Spanish - style of cooking.

Spanish style provides an interesting way with pork chops. Any of the three varieties of chops may be used, points out Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Blade chops with a long, slender bone come from the shoulder section, while rib chops come from the section bearing that name. Loin chops have meat on both sides of the rib bone since some of the tenderloin muscle remains in this chop.

Catsup provides flavor as well as a red tomato color when it's used as the braising liquid. Vinegar, dry mustard and sugar give a characteristic flavor.

Spanish Pork Chops

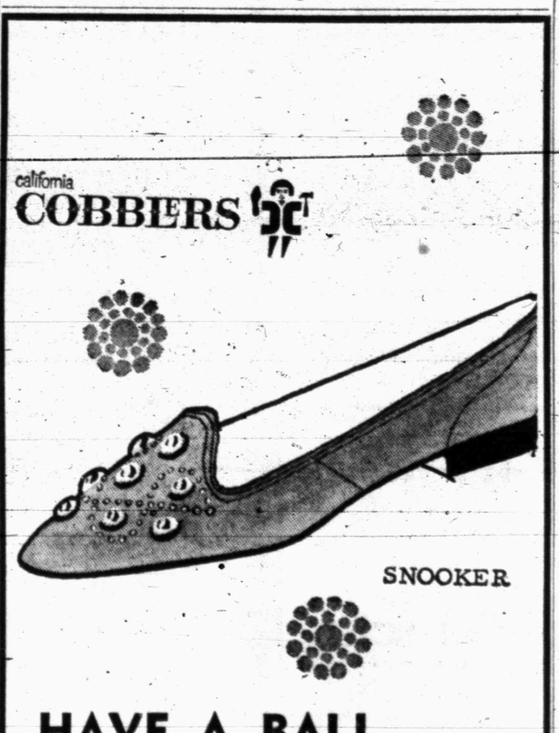

5 to 6 pork blade, loin or rib chops, cut 1-inch thick
2 tablespoon lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar
1-3 to ½ cup water
1 tablespoon sugar

Brown pork chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Mix catsup and dry mustard and spread on chops. Combine vinegar, water and sugar and pour around chops. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes or cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 60 minutes or until done. 5 to 6 servings.

"...you'll be a Man, my son!"
RUDYARD KIPLING

Rudyard Kipling appreciated better than most the making and meaning of a man.

And if he were alive today, he'd undoubtedly have applied the famous quote above to America's newspaperboys. By faithfully delivering the news day-in-and-day-out, fair weather or foul, a newspaperboy learns responsibility at an early age.

He learns enterprise. Dedication. Dependability. How to fill an important place in the community.

And he learns the value of money and saving, too . . . and of looking ahead to the future. That's why many a newspaperboy develops the habit of buying U.S. Savings Bonds regularly. Maybe to help put himself through college someday.

More than that, newspaperboys have done their communities and their nation a real service since 1941 by buying Bonds and by helping to promote and sell Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The nation's brothers and dads in Viet Nam thank you. The Treasury Department and Uncle Sam salute you. And someday, when you're a Man, my son . . . you'll thank yourself for having been a newspaperboy.

COOL WEATHER FARE — A big tureen of beef, barley and vegetable soup. Good!

For Cool Weather Fare Soup Hits The Spot

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

MOST OF the time, of course, busy mothers use the convenient canned and packaged soups available in such variety in our markets. But once in a while, it's worthwhile capturing the contentment that comes when you brew your own soup.

Contentment? Yes!

A good cook will gain a real sense of satisfaction from this old-fashioned job. And certainly eaters should beam when they taste so delicious a soup-combination as beef, barley and fresh vegetables made from scratch.

Have we persuaded you? Then let's go:

BEEF, BARLEY AND VEGETABLE SOUP

1½ pounds shinbeef soup bone (including a good portion of meat)
2½ quarts water
2 cloves garlic, minced
4 teaspoons salt (about)
¼ teaspoon pepper (about)
½ cup regular barley
1 cup chopped celery tops
1 cup coarsely - chopped onion
2 cups sliced fresh carrots
½ pound snap beans, cut small
One can (1 pound) tomatoes

Into a large heavy kettle turn the soup bone with its meat, the water, garlic, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer for one hour. Add barley, celery tops and onion; simmer for another hour. Add carrots, green beans and tomatoes (including liquid in can). Continue simmering until vegetables are tender — about 20 minutes. Remove soup bone; cut meat from bone, dice and add to soup. Refrigerate covered until fat hardens on top — about 6 hours or overnight. Remove fat; reheat soup, stirring often to prevent barley sticking to bottom of kettle. Add extra salt and pepper to taste. Makes about 3 quarts.

Notes: If you buy shinbeef bone from which the meat has been detached, buy about 1 pound of this bone and about ¾ pound of extra beef from a cut suitable for soup.

Two kinds of barley — regular and quick - cooking — are available. This soup calls for the former; after an hour of cooking, as called for in the recipe, the barley will still be pleasantly chewy. If, however, you like barley softer, cover the ½ cup of regular barley called for with 2 cups of cold water and soak for 1 hour while the soupbone is simmering; then drain the barley and add as directed with the celery and onion.

Chop sweet onion and fresh sweet red pepper (or canned pimiento) very fine and add to an oil and vinegar dressing to be used on tossed green salad. Refreshing combination!

Two Treats For Lunch

Now that, "lunch box season" is here again, you probably are looking for some appetizing fillings for all those sandwiches.

When you have many sandwiches to prepare, take a tip from home economists. They recommend making a week's supply of sandwiches and freezing them.

First, lightly butter the two slices of bread. Fill with sandwich spread and wrap securely in air-tight paper. Freeze the sandwiches until ready to pack in lunch boxes. They will be defrosted by lunchtime. Do not freeze the lettuce. Pack the lettuce leaves separately in the lunch box so that they will stay crisp.

Here are two sandwich fillings that will be a hit with the youngsters, and you, too.

Deviled Ham Filling
(Makes about 1 1-3 cups)

2 cans (2¼ ounces) deviled ham spread
¼ cup old style sauce
2 tablespoons mineed onion

Blend ingredients. Spread on buttered bread and garnish with lettuce leaves.

SALMON SPREAD
(Makes about 11-3 cups)

1 can (7¾ ounces) salmon, drained and flaked
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon onion powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
3 tablespoons old style sauce
¼ cup dairy sour cream

Combine all ingredients and use as sandwich filling or as spread on assorted crackers.

Chow Mein Goes America With Ground Beef

Have you ever been hungry for Chow Main but with limited time to prepare it? If this happens to you, try this recipe for easy chow mein using ground beef as the meat.

Simply brown the ground beef as a first step to making the recipe, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority. Pour off the drippings and browning.

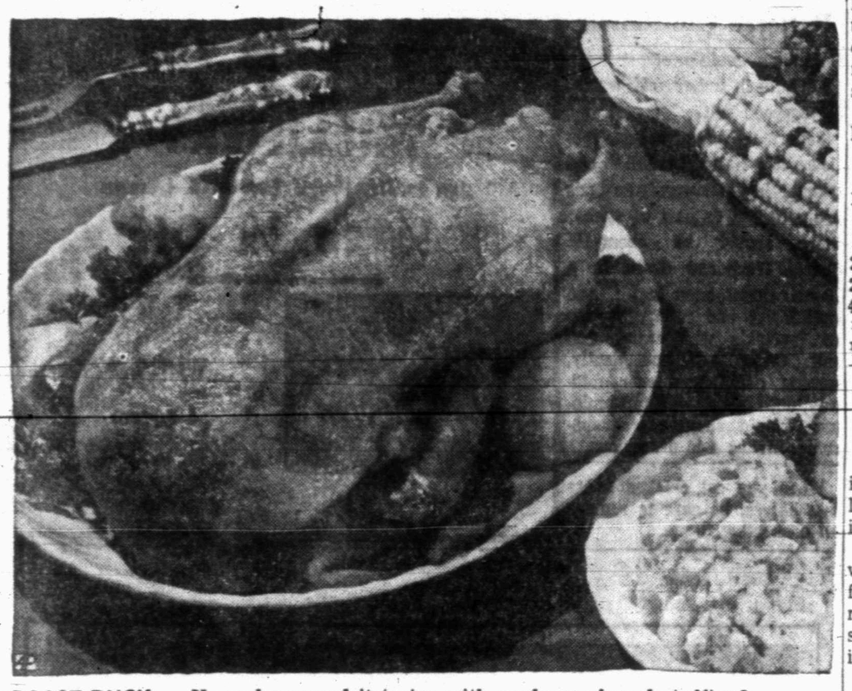

Native Chow Mein

2 pounds ground beef
1 can (16 ounces) Chinese vegetables
Water
1 onion, cut in 16 wedges
3 cups sliced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
2 to 3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
¼ cup soy sauce
½ cup blanched almonds
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
Chow Mein noodles or cooked rice

Cook ground beef until lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Drain Chinese vegetables and mushrooms, reserving liquid. Add enough water to vegetable liquid to make 1¾ cups. Add to ground beef. Add onion, celery and salt. Cover tightly and cook slowly 15 minutes. Add Chinese vegetables and mushrooms. Mix cornstarch with 2 tablespoons water and soy sauce, add to the meat mixture and continue cooking 5 minutes or until sauce is thick. Brown almonds in butter or margarine. Serve on chow mein noodles or cooked rice. Top with almonds. 8 to 10 servings.

For any gathering during the holidays, serve Orange Eggnog Shake. In a mixing bowl beat 4 scoops vanilla ice cream until smooth; add ¼ cup frozen orange concentrate, thawed; blend thoroughly. Gradually add 2 cups dairy eggnog. This makes four delicious 6-ounce servings.

ROAST DUCK — Know how good it tastes with apple-cornbread stuffing?

A Good Stuffing To Use With Duck

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

WHEN YOU can use a ready-mix and produce as delicious a dish as you would gain had you "cooked from scratch," we're the first to want to spread the news.

That's how we feel about this apple-and-cornbread dressing for roast duck. The cornbread used in the stuffing is made from a handy mix that comes with its own mixing bag and baking pan. Isn't that a lovely thought? Just as important, this cornbread has just the right flavor for this particular dressing.

One caution: please do find yourself some tart green-skinned apples when you try this recipe. This old-fashioned fruit is the right partner for the cornbread.

We usually roast duck at the moderate (350 degrees) temperature given in the recipe. But we know some cooks prefer a slow (325 degrees) oven; so if that happens to be your preference, go along with it!

You may want to prick the duck skin during the roasting in the hope of draining off all the fat. Sometimes we do this, sometimes we don't — depending upon how busy we are with other chores. The pricking does help the fat to drain, but so does a long enough roasting time.

ROAST DUCK WITH APPLE CORNBREAD DRESSING

1 package (10 ounces) cornbread mix (with mixing bag and baking pan)
2 cups finely chopped peeled tart apple
½ cup finely diced celery
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme
¾ cup butter or margarine, melted
½ cup water
4½ to 5 pound duck

Make up cornbread mix according to basic package directions. Cool. Crumble coarsely into a medium size mixing bowl. Add the apples, celery, salt, pepper and thyme. Sprinkle with melted butter and water. Lightly toss together.

Stuff dressing loosely into neck and body cavity of duck. Close openings with small skewers and lace with cord. Do not truss. Place breast side up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast uncovered in moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender and skin is crisp—2½ to 3 hours.

Spice Strips

1 cup sifted regular flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon each salt, mace, cinnamon and nutmeg
1 large egg
2-3 cup plus ¼ cup sugar
1-3 cup butter or margarine, melted
1-3 cup cranberry-orange relish (from a 14-ounce jar)
½ cup raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
2 tablespoons commercial sour cream

On waxpaper sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, mace, cinnamon and nutmeg. In a medium mixing bowl beat together the egg and 2-3 cup sugar until thick; stir in melted butter, then sifted ingredients, cranberry - orange relish and raisins. Turn into buttered baking pan (11 by 7 by 1½ inches). Even top with spatula. Blend the ¼ cup sugar and sour cream; with a small spatula lightly spread over top of batter to very edges. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 20 to 25 minutes. Cool in pan. Cut into 3 crosswise portions and then into narrow strips.

Crumble crisply cooked bacon extremely fine and use the bacon crumbs as a topping for salad greens tossed with blue-cheese dressing. This is a combination men like!

Onion Soup Mix Makes The Gravy For Veal Steak

Contrast in both flavor and texture plays an important role in the choice of food combinations.

There's a good example of this in these veal steaks with onion sauce. The veal is mild in flavor but firm in texture. It's served with onions from a dehydrated soup mix which are definitely soft in texture but quite pronounced in flavor.

Only one-half cup of the reconstituted soup is used for braising the veal steaks, points out meat authority, Reba Stagg.

Veal Steaks in Onion Sauce

2 pounds veal round steak, cut ¾-inch thick
1-3 cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup lard or drippings
1 package (1¼ ounces) dehydrated onion soup
2 cups boiling water

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge veal steaks in seasoned flour. Reserve any remaining flour for gravy. Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Dissolve onion soup in boiling water and add ½ cup to steaks. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours, or until tender. Remove steaks from frying-pan. Stir in flour. Add remaining soup. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve with steaks. 6 servings.

Control Of Human Mind No Longer Just A Dream

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

Control of the mind—of mood, behavior and learning — is no dream of the future, no mere concoction of science fiction.

It is here. It is not easily, nor lightly done. Methods are drastic. But it is done — to individuals — now.

A troubled man in New Orlean went about his daily business, met and talked with other people, lived a seemingly normal life.

He wore a cap to hide the tiny electrical sockets planted in his skull, wires that reached deep into his brain. When bad feelings threatened to sweep over him, he simply reached t his waiist and pushed his favorite button on a small black box. Instantly, the bad feelings vanished. He smiled. All was right with the world.

Another — a deeply withdrawn mental patient, unable to talk with other people — received a small electrical signal to her brain, and suddenly she spoke and became aware of the world.

Another — an epileptic woman so deeply depressed she talked of joining her dead father, received a small injection of a nerve chemical through a tube to the depths of her brain. Suddenly she felt well, and couldn't understand why.

These instances from scientific reports show how fast a pace brain research has taken, how wide a road it travels. Many scientists warn that it holds for man a greater power to do good or evil than he ever dreamed of before.

Indeed, the power comes from a new electrical and chemical understanding of the mind—not complete yet, but even now capable of fantastic effects. They make man's efforts at brainwashing and social control seem like child's toys in a game that could be as disastrous as it could be rewarding. As did the atomic bomb, it poses a question —deep, lingering and probably unanswerable: Should we, or shouldn't we?

It is an awesome power. It could overcome mental illness, retrain damaged minds, help the retarded learn, enhance normal intelligence to undreamed of heights, and free humans from their most harmful emotions. But it could also fashion a prison for mankind, and standardize behavior to the point of slavery.

Most methods of brain control now are temporary in effect. Some implanted electrodes might be effective up to three years. Most methods require major surgery, some operations lasting nine hours. But some researchers look ahead to chemical methods, matching the effectiveness of electrical control. The potential here is enormous. With chemistry, these researchers warn, whole nations could be controlled against their will. Or helped.

There is good reason now to ask what the future holds for the human brain: Something to help a man remember, something to help him forget, something to sharpen his wits, something to deepen his sleep, something to control his mood, something to make a dead limb move, something to make sightless eyes "see", something lodged in his brain to take over when emotions go awry.

So far some 58 persons, most of them mental patients, have been implanted temporarily with the hair-like, deep-brain electrodes at Tulane University. Four were equipped with portable devices for selfcontrol, but none of these is in service now.

The object: To read out the electrical activity in the deep brain, and, when desired, to stimulate the same areas with electricity to change mood and behavior.

A man, deeply withdrawn, his head slumping on his chest, sits in a daze. The wires leading from his brain can deliver brief amounts of electricity to an area of the brain called the septal region. The button is pushed. The patient raises his head and smiles.

Asked what it feels like, he says, "I feel like something is coming on. I'm awake now. It feels good."

The feeling, he says, seems to well up in his chest.

Another man, this one with periodic spells of uncontrollable anger, felt the familiar dark feelings coming on several days ago. Then early this morning he felt his head and face were coming off. He felt bad, felt like "breaking up stuff. I heard voices. I wanted to hurt myself."

He was unaware that a split-second dose of electricity was streaking to a target area in his brain. Then, suddenly, he too smiled.

"I just started feeling good. I don't know why," he says.

Later, equipped with his own button to stimulate the brain, he explains, "When I get mad or something, I push it and immediately I feel better."

Why does he push the button so often?

"It feels good, so I just keep it up. That's a real good button. If I could buy one, I'd take it home with me."

A woman, operated on for cancer, is in deep pain. It is all she has felt for days. Morphine hasn't helped. Now the electrodes are in her brain. An electrical dose is triggered through them.

Her face seems to relax slightly. "I feel better," she says. How much better?

"I feel I could get up and clean the whole hospital. The pain isn't there anymore."

Specifically what has been done to these people?

Dr. Robert Heath, head of the Department of Psychiatry and Neurology at Tulane, says the studies show that the septal region — an area about two inches in from the middle of the nose — is the pleasure center of the brain. Electrical stimulation creates a good feeling. If it does not erase pain, it at least drowns it out with pleasure, and increases alertness.

At Yale University, Dr. Jose Delgado has also had some electrode implant patients. He uses a remote control device to send a radio signal to a miniaturized receiver worn by the patient. The signal triggers an electrical dose to the brain.

Withdrawn patients begin talking. A young woman who was composed and reserved becomes suddenly flirtatious.

In a dramatic demonstration of this ability, Delgado once entered a bullring with an animal that had electrodes sunk in its brain.

He stood there with a matador's cape in the path of the charging bull. The bull rushed closer. Delgado triggered a remote control signal to the animal's brain. He stopped the beast in its tracks, just feet away.

Members of The Salvation Army call prayer meetings "knee-drill." Instead of dropping money in a plate they "fire a cartridge."

Junior Editors Quiz on STEEL

QUESTION: What is steel and how is it made?

• • • •

ANSWER: Steel is iron to which carbon and certain other materials have been added in small amounts. It is stronger than iron, can be given an exceedingly sharp cutting edge and can be shaped into a great variety of forms. Many of the objects around you, such as cars, refrigerators, and tools, are made of steel.

To make steel, you must have iron. The basic material of iron is iron ore or rock containing 20 to 35 per cent of the metal iron. Crushed iron ore is mixed with coke and limestone in a blast furnace. Heated air is forced in. The iron is melted by the burning coke and impurities carried away with the help of the limestone. Molten iron is poured out. This, or blocks called pigs which are made from it, is combined with scrap or discarded iron and some other materials in a steel-making furnace. Melted steel comes from this and is cast into ingots. These go to the steel working mills and are reheated and rolled or punched into many shapes, from which come the steel articles we use, including Howard's pocket knife shown in the drawing.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look your work tools over and you will realize how many are made of steel. Steel looks shinier than iron, with an extremely smooth surface. 11-19
