Half Inch of Rain Temporarily Halts Wheat Harvest

THOUSANDS OF BUSHELS ARE SHIPPED OUT

Will Not Be As High As Was Previously Estimated Due To Various Reasons

Averages Test Of 58

Fe Makes Change In Freight Schedule To Handle Increased Load; Motor Car Operates

With 59 of an inch of rainfall Tuesday and Wednesday, thousands of acre of wheat are wet to cut. During the fore part of the week harvest began earnest with 60 car loads of wheat being shipped over the Santa Fe from Perryton up to Wednesday afternoon. This represents approximately 78,000 bushels of the golden grain. The schedule into Perryton has been temporarily changed to handle the increased shipping during the wet.

The average test on Ochiltree county wheat this year is around 58 according to local grain men. The yield in many cases is an early estimate a fair crop is harvested with scattered fields of wheat yielding from 10 to 27 bushels per acre. The average yield of the county may be somewhat more than 10 bushels due to the lowest part of the county being of small yield or a complete bare. In the northwest part of the county some fields are expected to produce more than 27 bushels per acre.

The Santa Fe is operating switch engines between Spearman and Perryton and Shattuck and Hinton. A regular passenger train through Perryton has been temporarily discontinued with "doodlebug" service scheduled as follows: westbound leaves Perryton at 3:20 a. m.; eastbound leaves here at 7:15 a. m. This schedule became effective June 20.

Perryton is overflowing with men working in the harvest fields. Surplus of trucks is on hand for hauling the grain.

HAVE INTEREST IN HOME LOANS

TEXAS HOME OWNERS SAVE ON INTEREST PAYMENTS IN FINANCING HOMES IN THE HOLC

Over forty-four thousand Texas home owners with H. O. L. C. loans have saved at least $12,200,000 in interest payments during the last six years, said J. C. Anderson, Jr., State manager of the H. O. L. C., on the occasion of the sixth birthday of the organization, celebrated this month. This amount represents the difference between the interest paid on the H. O. L. C. 5 per cent rate and the higher interest being paid on the loans were refinanced. The $12,200,000 has been put into circulation in towns and cities all over the State, said Mr. Anderson, and has had the effect of an increased income for these home owners.

Mr. Anderson stated that a remarkable payment record had been established by Texas home owners. Six years, $23,666,376 has been paid—22.4 per cent of the principal of H. O. L. C. loans in Texas. Of the original loans, 2,113 have been paid in full, though most of them had 15 years to run. At present, 32,352 home owners in Texas have either paid out their loans or are maintaining their loans in good shape and are well on the way to completely owning their homes.

Water Engineers Report On Wells In Ochiltree County

Austin, Texas, June 20—The State Board of Water Engineers announces the release in mimeographed form of the records of wells obtained during a recent ground-water survey in Ochiltree County, Texas, conducted by the Works Progress Administration and sponsored by the Texas Board of Water Engineers in cooperation with the U. S. Department of the Interior, Geological Survey.

This release contains 44 pages, giving records of 237 wells, two springs, drillers' logs of 3 wells, logs of 129 test holes and partial chemical analyses of 192 water samples taken from wells, springs and test holes. The locations of all wells, springs and test holes are shown on a map in the back of the publication.

The field work was started September 28, 1938, and completed March 16, 1939, with L. O. Davis, Engineer, as project superintendent. The analyses were made by chemists employed on Works Progress Administration project 10443 under the direction of Dr. E. P. Schoch, Director of the Bureau of Industrial Chemistry of The University of Texas, and E. W. Lohr, Chemist, of the Quality of Water Division, the Bureau of Industrial Chemistry furnished laboratory space and equipment.

This project is part of a statewide inventory of water wells started in 1935 being conducted to obtain in-

AWAIT RULING IN THE TOAAC

THOUSANDS REGISTER UNDER THE NEW OLD AGE PENSION LAW; TAKES TIME ON RECORDS

W. A. Little, Director of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, stated today that no investigations would be made of applicants for Old Age Assistance under the new law until a ruling had been secured from the Attorney General's Department, which opinion would serve in formulating policies and procedure of investigation under the liberalized act. Even after the opinion has been secured, it will be necessary for investigation instructions to be perfected and workers advised as to their use. This will likely require another week or ten days after the Attorney General's Department has officially acted.

Little further stated that registrations had reached about 30,000 for the State as a whole, and it was an admitted fact that under the most favorable circumstances, several months would be required to complete records of investigation and to certify recipients for whatever pro-rata share of available money might be at hand from month to month. In the meantime, a new plan will be submitted to the Social Security Board at Washington, and their final decision as to the approval or disapproval of the plan awaited.

Wheat Loan Rates For '39 Are Released For County

Information has been received at the county agent's office concerning the Government Wheat Loans for this year according to E. W. Thomas. The loan rate for Ochiltree county is as follows: grade one wheat, 60 cents per bushel; grade two, 58c; grade three, 57c; grade four, 54c; grade five, 51c. All loan values per bushel are subject to an increase of .01 for each per cent of protein over 12 per cent not to exceed 17 per cent.

For example grade one wheat with a 12 per cent protein test would have a 60 cent loan value. Grade one wheat with 17 per cent protein test would have a 65 cent loan value per bushel.

Wheat may be stored in either approved warehouses or approved farm bins. If stored on the farm, the wheat will draw 7 cents storage if left in storage and not redeemed until maturity of loan on April 30, 1940. Elevator loans expire 7 months after date before maturity of the note.

If the price justifies, wheat may be redeemed at any time by paying storage and handling charges. If not redeemed, the government will pay storage and take possession of the wheat.

Loan fees are one-fourth cent per bushel on elevator or warehouse loans with $1.50 minimum and one cent per bushel fee on farm storage loans. The operator must carry his own insurance on the farm stored wheat, which will amount to approximately one and one-fourth to one and one-half cents per bushel, depending on the construction of the granary.

All loans this year may be made locally—which will materially speed completion of loans on farm stored wheat. All farm stored wheat must be in the bins at least 30 days before a loan may be obtained.

Farm stored wheat will be based upon the individual protein content, while elevator wheat will take the station average.

TEMPORARILY HALT POISON

HARVEST TIME BRINGS POSTPONEMENT OF GRASSHOPPER DRIVE; PLAN EXTENSIVE FIGHT LATER

Farmers have practically ceased spreading grasshopper poison with the beginning of harvest. The poison will be available, however, at any time throughout the season for the convenience of those who wish to use the material, as well as for residents of Perryton.

Many farmers are harvesting their oats, wheat and barley with a binder to forestall possible damage where fields have become infested. It is now planned to make a concerted drive on hoppers throughout the county after harvest under the same plans that proved so successful during the past two years, in which the borders of the fields were poisoned after plowing the stubble. It is also strongly advised to leave the land in the middle of the field for a few days to allow the hoppers to congregate in the unplowed strips where they may be poisoned in greater numbers.

Poisoning has been generally successful. However a few Ochiltree county farmers report failure to kill the hoppers. The failures usually happened when the bait was spread in the evening or late in the morning. All farmers are therefore warned to spread the poison early in the morning. If spread late in the evening the bait will dry out during the night and cease to be attractive to hoppers when they start feeding in the early morning.

DRIVERS WARNED TO PUT OUT CIGARETTES

A warning to motorists to extinguish cigarettes before throwing them from automobiles may save severe crop loss by fire has been the opinion of several Ochiltree county farmers during the last few days. It is possible that ignited cigars and cigarettes might fall in dry grass and start a fire that could spread to adjoining wheat fields.

While nothing of this nature has happened in this vicinity thus far, two fields in the county were ignited by lightning last week. A small loss occurred.

"Maise" Showing at Ellis On Saturday Night Preview At 11:30 o'clock

The Ellis Theatre is providing a treat for moviegoers Saturday night, June 24, when "Maise" will be presented at a special midnight preview beginning at 11:30 o'clock. The sparkline comedy, while having a western setting, is not a "Western" in no sense of the word, but deals with the caprices of New York's smart set on a lark.

In a dependable supporting cast are such notables as Ruth Hussey, Ian Hunter and Cliff Edwards.

The film will also be shown at the regular scheduled dates, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 27-28.

Majors Ready to Welcome Third of DiMaggio Tribe

BY IRVING DIX

SPORTS potpourri: It's just a family habit with the DiMaggios... baseball critics say that Dominic, the youngest of the baseball-playing brothers, can't miss making the grade in the majors and will follow in the footsteps of Joe of the Yankees and Vince, the former Boston Red Sox who is making a comeback with Kansas City.

Like Joe and Vince, Dominic started as an infielder... now plays the outfield for the San Francisco Seals... In his first 50 games this year, Dominic was hitting well over 400. Has a great arm and is only a year away from the major leagues, says Manager Lefty O'Doul.

NORTHWESTERN football players have summer jobs with plenty of variety, but the most interesting is that of Nick Cutlich, star tackle, who is serving as a deck hand on a fishing vessel off San Francisco... First string catcher for the Oklahoma City club of the Texas League is Skeets Dickey, kid brother of the Yanks' Bill Dickey.

The admission gate installed at Chicago's Arlington Park is the largest at any race track in the country... Fifty-four thousand people can pass through its 16 turnstiles within an hour... Notre Dame's new field house has a projection room where coaches and players can study movies taken of games... Muni and Davis Appear in "Juarez" at Ellis Theatre

The local premiere of Warner Bros. magnificent historical drama, the long-awaited "Juarez," starring Paul Muni and Bette Davis, will be presented at the Ellis Theatre, Sunday and Monday, June 25-26. The spectacular production, which recently made its world debut in New York at the Hollywood Theatre, has already been hailed by the critics as the greatest picture of all time.

In addition to being headed by the actor and actress who are generally acknowledged to be the foremost screen artists of their time, the cast includes a host of other film notables, such as Brian Aherne, Claude Rains, John Garfield, Donald Crisp, Joseph Calleia, Gale Sondergaard, Gilbert Roland, Henry O'Neill, Harry Davenport, Montagu Love and Monte Blue.

Conceived and executed on a scale never before attempted by Warner Bros., the picture tells a story that is at once powerful drama and authentic history, played against a rich panorama of backgrounds, ranging from imperial palaces to poor peasant huts.

While it concerns events that were, on the surface, only of importance to the then fledgling Mexican republic, the significance of these happenings was also important in the history of the United States, for they constitute the story of the only large-scale attempt of a European power to disregard the Monroe Doctrine. In the light of what is going on in the world today, this story has also a distinct topical interest.

It relates the attempt of Napoleon III of France to end the life of the Mexican republic by placing a puppet emperor on its throne. It tells of the tragic fate of Napoleon's hapless tool, Maximilian von Habsburg, and his beautiful consort, Carlota, who has passed into history as "the mad empress," and it tells, inspiring, of the brave and successful fight of the Mexican president, Benito Pablo Juarez, born a humble Zapotecan Indian, to rescue his country from the hands of the imperialistic despots.

Muni portrays Juarez, Miss Davis is Carlota and Aherne is Maximilian.

The production was directed by William Dieterle.

Tarzan's Mate

Maureen O'Sullivan Plays Tarzan's Mate for Fourth Time in "Tarzan Finds a Son"

Society dramas, college stories and screen versions of the classics may come and go in the career of Maureen O'Sullivan, but her heart still is with Tarzan.

The reason is a combination of Irish sentiment and good business judgment.

It was "Tarzan and His Mate," made five years ago, that won for Miss O'Sullivan her contract with M-G-M, and was the stepping stone to her constantly increasing popularity. That is the sentimental reason.

"Tarzan Finds a Son" is the fourth of this ever popular M-G-M series and shows at the Ellis Theatre, Saturday, June 24.

"I have a warm spot in my heart for the Tarzan pictures," smiled Maureen. "Reports that I was opposed to playing in this latest were absolutely without foundation. The fact was, I insisted upon the studio letting me do it again."

"The Tarzan pictures and I are old friends. They gave me my opportunity at M-G-M and they always have made money."

"But, aside from that, I like to be in Tarzan pictures because they furnish entertainment to more people than probably any other group of productions."

Miss Alene Reedy, Sentinel, Okla., visited several days last week with Perryton friends.

Nazi Film Coming

Ellis Theatre Presents "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" Here On June 29-30

"Confessions of a Nazi Spy," starring Edward G. Robinson, will have its local showing at the Ellis Theatre, Thursday and Friday, June 29-30. It is a sensational expose of espionage of Nazi agents in the United States as brought out in the recent trials in New York, Los Angeles and the Panama Canal Zone. Leon G. Turrou, former G-Man, acted as technical advisor on the Warner Bros. production.

Anatole Litvak, noted director of such brilliantly successful pictures as "The Sisters" and "Mayerling," directed, with a huge cast which includes, besides Robinson, Paul Lukas, Francis Lederer, Lya Lys, Dorothy Tree, Henry O'Neill, George Sanders, Henry Victor, Grace Stafford and hundreds of others.

Robinson plays the G-Man who breaks the spy ring and brings four of its members to trial and conviction. Lukas portrays the doctor who heads the ring; Lederer is the bungling Nazi informer; and Lya Lys is the exotic beauty who uses her feminine wiles to get information for the Nazis.

"Confessions of a Nazi Spy" goes beyond the mere expose of a small spy ring. It shows the open and flagrant campaign that Hitler supporters are waging in this country against the nation's democratic institutions. And it shows that the spy menace is still very great, and that for every spy brought to justice during the recent trials in New York, Los Angeles and the Panama Canal Zone, there are hundreds still operating at large. To quote Mr. Turrou, the recent spy trials "barely scratched the surface."

Mrs. J. H. Palmer and daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson and son, Gale, returned Monday from a business trip to Denver, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cayler and Jake Dunkle accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Merriman and Miss Dorothy Patton of Higgins, attended the opening celebrations at Lake Marvin Saturday night and Sunday.

Dr. Henry Schlichting Jr. left Saturday for a two week vacation at Colorado points. Dr. Schlichting announces that his chiropractic offices will remain closed until July 2.

"Maisie" Coming

Ann Sothorn and Robert Young Co-star in Breezy Hit At Ellis on June 27-28

When a honky-tonk showgirl gets stranded in a cow town like Big Horn, Wyoming, anything is liable to happen and does in "Maisie," showing at the Ellis Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, June 27-28. Robert Young and Ann Sothorn head an excellent cast.

Her invasion of the wide open spaces, in the personable Miss Sothorn, not only upsets the romantic applecart of Young but eventually finds him on trial for murder. "Maisie" is a comedy drama set in the West, but is not a western of the so-called horse opera variety. Rather, it is a smart story of men and women from the sophisticated strata of America and laid in a background of cow ponies and round-ups.

Feminine intrigue and a man's caution run a comedy and dramatic gamut as two women, the other played by Ruth Hussey, play their hand for the affections of the Westerner. That one is married results in tragedy, which ends in a dramatic trial for the life of the man.

PAY AND SAVE

Save on 1938 Delinquent Taxes

During this month you may pay your 1938 delinquent taxes at a considerable saving. The penalty of 5% now, will be increased to 8% on July 1st and in addition interest at the rate of 6% and $1.00 costs will be added if taxes are not paid before July 1, 1939.

It will be to your advantage to make arrangements to pay your 1938 taxes on or before June 30, 1939.

Delinquent Taxes Must Be Paid

All delinquent taxes in the Perryton Independent School District must be paid. The district has been very lenient in the collection of taxes but the time has come when all must pay or suffer the consequences. It is not right for a part to pay for the support of the schools and for others to let their tax payments go delinquent. Let this be a warning that the delinquent taxes due this school district must be paid or the district will be forced to collect by process of law. Under no circumstances will there be any remissions of interest or penalties on delinquent taxes.

Statements of taxes due will be cheerfully furnished to all property owners by Mrs. Luther Wade, tax collector and assessor for the district.

CONSERVE SIMPLE RULES AND PREVENT MANY FARM FIRES

Austin, Texas—Despite improvements in farming methods, equipment and facilities, the farmer of today is still faced with a serious problem which, unless solved, will continue to retard the general progress of the business and reduce every farmer's profit. This problem is the annual fire loss suffered on farm property, according to Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

Nearly two million dollars property loss is suffered each year on the farms of Texas. Commissioner Hall pointed out, "and a very substantial reduction can be made in this figure if farmers generally will observe a few simple rules of fire protection and prevention."

The losses in barns and granaries contribute largely to this annual toll, as these are peculiarly subject to fire danger. Of the many sources of barn fires, spontaneous combustion is perhaps the most dangerous and the one which should first be eliminated. Moisture, bacterial activity, germination and storage in large heaps may be listed as the main causes of spontaneous combustion.

When feeds are curing or drying, bacterial activity is always present, and everybody knows that wet or green feed in storage will heat. Unless the heat is carried away by ventilation, it may become so intense as to set fire to the feed, and this result is hastened by large heaps or quantities stored in one place.

Some of the important facts and fire preventative measures which should be observed, Hall said, may be briefly explained as follows:

Because hay is subject to spontaneous combustion, it should be thoroughly dried before being put in the barn. The use of common table salt is recommended when storing hay which is not thoroughly dried since a sprinkling of salt reduces the moisture and thereby lowers the danger of fire. From ten to ten pounds of salt to each ton of hay will be sufficient for hay stored in hot weather.

In order to allow air circulation underneath in storing baled hay, there should be a few planks or logs on the floor. Then give some space between bales for ventilation by stacking it so there is air space around each bale. If heating sets up, the air will carry the heat away, cooling the hay and thereby preventing a fire and saving the quality of the hay.

Corn is another source of "unknown" fires. When storing it, run a pipe down the center so that the hot gases may escape.

"All feedstuffs should be well cured and dried before being stored," Hall said. "Even then, feed should be examined occasionally during the season it is stored to see that it is not becoming heated and ready for spontaneous combustion to take place. If these and other simple rules are followed by the farmer, he will not only reduce his fire loss and thereby benefit himself and his neighbor."

ROBERTS, CO. PIONEER DIES AT THE AGE OF 92

John Austin Paris, born February 10, 1847, at Athens, Tenn., died June 11, 1939, at the age of 92 years, 4 months and one day. When still a boy in his early teens he ran away from home to join the army. He was too young to enlist but he followed the army of the South around the country. At 21 he rode from Tennessee to Texas on horseback. In 1887, Mr. Paris made a trip to the Panhandle "to look over the country." He believed there was a great future in this section so he filed on a piece of land near Laketon. Two years later with his family he left Henrietta and came to the Panhandle with a 13-wagon train and 2,500 head of cattle. It took the party two months to make the journey.

Thirty-five years ago, Mr. Paris moved east of Pampa to the home of his daughter, where he made his home. Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Pampa; Mrs. L. O. Boney, Morse; two sons, Leo Paris, Miami, and Wheeler Paris, Whittier, Calif.—The Miami Chief.

Guests enjoying dinner Friday evening with the W. B. LaMaster family were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cook, Kingsville, Mrs. Giltner LaMaster, Dallas, C. W. Callaway and Ellis Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brodie and daughter, Phyllis, came in Wednesday from North Bend, Oregon, to look after their harvest interests and visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Leatherman.

SURPLUS IN WORLD WHEAT

WORLD CARRYOVER IN WHEAT ESTIMATED NEAR 1,250 MILLION BUSHELS DURING YEAR

For every three bushels of wheat the world is using this year, nearly a bushel will go begging for a market.

On the basis of present estimates, the world carry-over on July 1, 1939, is expected to be about 1,250 million bushels. This carry-over is more than twice the world import requirements which are now running around 550 million bushels.

Here is the background, as released today by Ernest E. Scholl, director of the Extension Service of Oklahoma A. and M. College.

Total world supplies of wheat increased sharply from 1924 to 1933, largely as a result of increased acreage. From 1933 to 1936, world supplies declined, following successive years of small production and increased world demand. In 1937, world supplies, estimated at about 4 and 1/3 billion bushels, were 65 million bushels larger than in 1936.

Increased production in 1938 resulted in total supplies amounting to a little more than 5 billion bushels, or an increase in one year of 1/4 of a billion bushels, according to Scholl.

Total world shipments of wheat averaged 751 million bushels for the 5 years, 1923-27, increased to a peak of 913 million bushels in 1928, then declined sharply, largely as a result of measures taken by importing countries to reduce the use of foreign wheat. For the year beginning July 1, 1937, shipments totaled 494 million bushels, and for the current season they are forecast at 563 million bushels.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Warner Jr. of New Orleans, La., who visited last week in the home of her sister, Mrs. A. H. Nichols, left Thursday. They took her mother, Mrs. W. J. Lamar, who has been spending several weeks in the Nichols home, to her home in Grafton and will visit there a few days before returning to Louisiana.

INCREASE AAA TO SMALL FARM

AAA PROGRAM IN TEXAS PROVIDES FOR INCREASE IN PAYMENTS TO THE SMALL FARMER

COLLEGE STATION—The AAA expects to use more than $5,000,000 in Texas this year to increase payments to small farmers who, according to the regular schedule of grants, would not earn more than $200 by taking part in the Agricultural Conservation Program.

The ACP feature of the AAA program provides for conservation payments to reward soil and water conservation accomplished through confinement of soil-depleting crops to acreage allotments and adaptation of soil-building and range conservation practices. When total payments to a farm or ranch are less than $200, the checks are increased on a graduated scale. For example, a payment of $50 calculated under regular terms of the program would be hiked by $13, and a payment of $180 would have $14 added to it.

"This is another reason why our program has been called 'a small farmer's program,'" Donald Cochran of Caynes, Lamar county farmer and member of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, observed. "In adopting the provision for increase of small payments, Congress intended to make the program as profitable as could be for the many families trying to make a go of it on small plots of land."

Typhoid Protection

Health Department Advises Typhoid Vaccination for Protection During Summer

Austin, Texas—If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two to three years, go to your family physician and have him give you the three "shots" that will protect you against that disease.

This advice comes from the Texas State Health Department, and is addressed particularly to those persons planning vacations away from home or those who regularly go on camping, fishing or such trips.

Typhoid is contracted by way of the mouth. Each case comes directly or indirectly from some previous case. You eat or drink the germs that cause the disease, in food, water or milk contaminated by the discharges from persons who are ill with the disease or who have had it at some time.

Modern medical and public health practices have greatly reduced the occurrence of typhoid, but it is still a menace to those unprotected against the disease. Protection of public water supplies from pollution, pasteurization of milk, inspection and supervision of food supplies, improvement in household sanitation and hygienic habits, better sewage disposal and careful investigation of typhoid outbreaks to determine the source of the disease are measures which have contributed to the diminution of the incidence of typhoid in Texas. But there are still sources of infection to which individuals are exposed, that cannot be reached by public measures, and for which vaccination affords additional protection.

Persons who are apparently well, but who have had the disease at some time, may continue to discharge the typhoid germs. Such persons are known as "carriers" and if they are not careful in their personal habits they are liable to contaminate any food they touch. Flies carry germs from contaminated sources to food, and are another source of typhoid infection.

Health departments, state, city and county, are waging constant warfare against typhoid all the year. Special efforts are made during the vacation period through the sanitary supervision of summer camps, parks and public eating places to reduce any possible danger of vacation typhoid from such sources. But vaccination and sanitation are the only means to personal safety against the disease. So see your physician today for a vacation and summer unmarred by typhoid.

County WPA Supt. Mike Quinn said today that 36 men who have been on WPA rolls in Texas County, Okla., reported to him last Saturday that they had found private employment during harvest.

During the past two weeks, Quinn stated, 60 per cent of the men assigned to WPA work have reported having secured private employment and work in harvest. As harvest gets into full swing, more are expected to take to the farm work.—The Panhandle Herald, Guyton, Okla.

O. K. on Food Stamp Plan Awaits Proof That Farm Surplus Is Licked

WASHINGTON.—Although the results of the orange and blue food stamp experiment look very good at this stage of the game, Department of Agriculture experts are eagerly refusing to pass final judgment on the venture as yet.

The whole thing is still very much in the experimental stage, it is emphasized, and it will take careful checking for some months to show whether this system of enabling relief clients to buy surplus farm commodities is really working out as it was intended to.

So far, however, the surface indications all seem to be favorable.

In Rochester, N. Y., the figures speak for themselves. During the fortnight for which most recent figures are available, 7500 Rochester relief families paid $64,000 for the orange food stamps. These are the stamps which are good for any kind of foodstuff; theoretically, that $64,000 represents the sum which these 7500 families would have spent for food anyway during those two weeks, and hence does not indicate any increase in buying.

BUT, by buying those $64,000 worth of orange stamps, these relief families got $325,000 worth of blue stamps free. The blue stamps can be used only to buy six specified surplus farm commodities.

Hence, in that fortnight, the Rochester retail grocery trade was able to sell $32,000 worth more of these surplus foodstuffs than it could have sold if the system had not been in operation.

In Dayton, O., the second city where the plan is being tried out, there is a similar story to tell. The method of distributing the stamps there is slightly different, as many relief clients get straight food orders. They do not buy the orange stamps at all; blue stamps are simply given to them, at the rate of 50 cents worth of stamps for each dollar's worth of food.

At any rate, during the first five days the Dayton plan was in operation, 4800 relief families got $18,000 worth of blue stamps—which means that the Dayton retail grocery trade sold $18,000 worth more of the surplus foodstuffs than it would otherwise have been able to dispose of.

On the face of things, then, both Dayton and Rochester benefited greatly by the scheme. But the Department of Agriculture people point out that there are other angles to be studied.

When a family buys orange stamps to make its regular, routine food purchases, for instance, isn't it possible that in its anxiety to get as many of these stamps as possible so as to get the maximum number of free blue stamps, it may be spending more on food than it ordinarily would? In other words, may not the whole scheme have the effect of diverting money into the grocery business and away from other trade channels?

THE department's experts don't think it does. But they won't be sure until they have made extended statistical studies. Similarly, they won't know just what effect this added spending has on crop movements, farm prices, and so on until elaborate cross-checking studies have been made.

For the basic idea is not simply to give the relief people more to eat, but to dispose of farm surpluses.

In the long run, if the scheme doesn't make a genuine, large-scale contribution toward solution of the surplus problem it will be discarded—no matter how enthusiastically the relief clients are hailing it in the cities where it is now being tried.

SPENDING DRUNK MUST END

In a recent address, Senator Pat Harrison made this very apt observation on present day governmental fiscal policy: "I received a postal card the other day, and penciled on it was this wholesome expression: 'You can no more spend yourself into prosperity than you can drink yourself sober.' That fellow had something. While I have never been so unfortunate as to visit one of the Keeley institutions, I am told that the practice to effect the cure is to make the patient sick at first by too much drink and then to continue the treatment by a gradual tapering off into sobriety. We have experienced in Washington an excess of the initial treatment. The time is ripe for tapering off."

Certainly the theory that it is possible to spend a nation into prosperity has been thoroughly exploded by now. We have tried it for seven years, and basic conditions are about as bad now as they were at the worst of depression, and unemployment about as high. And the hard facts, gathered from generations of experience, demonstrate conclusively that a debt-ridden and tax-ridden nation is likewise a depression-ridden nation.

Senator Byrd of Virginia, another Congressional advocate of economy and fiscal sanity, recently said, "We have never enjoyed prosperity or substantial business expansion when the total tax collections—local state and national—exceeded 12 per cent of the national income." Today something over 20 per cent of our national income is being collected in taxes. And 30 per cent of our national income is being spent by government, the difference being represented by deficits which are added to our all-time-high public debt.

We can have economy when the people really want it—when selfish sectional interests which demand more and more money for their pet projects see the folly of their ways. The nation is heading for tax delirium tremens unless it tapers off soon.

THE WHOLE RECORD

Because the closing of a bank during a depression in which a community itself has usually failed, is spectacular, too many people lose sight of the fact that the community failure, which is never mentioned (short crops, inflated land values, industrial over-expansion, etc.), is the real root of their trouble.

In regard to the reliability of the banking business, Harry Scherman, noted economist and writer, has this to say: "The whole record—both of banks and their borrowers—shows that the scrupulousness of men in dealing with one another, in this particular field of human activity, approaches the finest extreme." In the six-year period between 1929 and 1934, observes Mr. Scherman, fulfillment of banks' promises was perfect to within a little more than one-fifth of one per cent. And this was during the severest depression in history. Moreover, many of these depression-born unfulfilled promises are in the process of redemption.

Without the aid of modern banking, all lines of human endeavor would literally come to a standstill overnight. Banking is an essential adjunct of every private enterprise. The banker successfully carries a tremendous responsibility to his community, and the least his community can do in return is strive to understand his problems, which are generally community problems.

SWISHER COUNTY WANTS RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Sentiment that has been growing steadily in recent weeks favoring rural electrification for Swisher County, came to a head in the district court room last Friday afternoon when approximately 300 farmers voted unanimously to seek government funds by which a project of this type could be promoted. An executive board was appointed and each member of the committee was assigned a section of the county where they will supervise helpers in the enlistment campaign. Pending final approval, the organization will

ALLOT MORE WHEAT ACRES

DECREASE IN WHEAT SURPLUS
WILL PERMIT SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN ACRES TO BE SOWN IN 1940

Texas wheat farmers, who trimed their acreage drastically last fall in line with a nationwide attack on the wheat surplus, had reason this week to celebrate.

The AAA announced a 1940 state wheat acreage allotment of 4,221,706 acres, an increase of 576,853 acres as compared with 3,644,853 acres allocated for Texas wheat this year.

Ochiltree county acreage allotment figures have not been released, however this county's wheat farms can be assured of a substantial increase in the number of acres of wheat they will be permitted to sow under the 1940 program. E. W.
Thomas, county agent, announces that the figures for Ochiltree county will be made known in the near future and the allotted acres on the average wheat farms can then be determined within a few acres.

Definite allotments will have to be tabulated for individual farms and approved by the State Office before the farm operator can be notified.

National harvest of winter wheat this year was estimated June 1 at 523,431 bushels, compared with 686-637 last year. While drought has done its part most of the crop is credited to acreage curtailment by farmers who took part in the Agricultural Conservation Program.

V. L. Cade, station farmer and member of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee in commencing on the cut shown in wheat surplus gave the following warning:
"We mustn't forget the cost at which an improved wheat outlook has been gained. Just because things are beginning to look up is no reason why we should toss caution to the winds and under-estimate the need for a high degree of compliance with acreage allotments this fall. Export subsidy and acreage control have gone far to remove the weight of a back-breaking surplus, but the bearing isn't whipped by a long shot."

THE MOWLINE is the original successful Wheeland Disc Mower which pioneered the 20-inch disc spaced 10 inches apart to prevent chugging and pioneered the solid heavy rear end construction on both hand and power lifts to perfect Wheeland disc mowing.

The MOWLINE has pioneered rear end construction that puts rear wheel in forward regardless of how slow is reduced or angled.

And now the new MOWLINE offers these additional features:

1. Cross rolled electrically heat treated discs and super alloy discs—the most nearly spin-proof discs made. See cut above.
2. Beaded in oil wood bearings that hold a cup of oil right in the wood and never need lubrication—most perfect sealed and they wear longer also because:
3. One Ocean Liner type bearing at end of gang takes all the end thrust.
4. The lightest draft Wheeland Mower that can plow cuts tremendously—and do better work.

INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson

Paul's Career—In Review

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 25
Text: Philippians 1:12-14, 21-24; 2:12-14; II Timothy 4:7, 8.

It is a great thing to have the privilege of the innermost confidences of a great man as he looks back upon a remarkable career and appraises his course of action. Paul's career had not been by any means without serious crises and without most acute perils and dangers. The great crisis of his life had come when he found Christ on the way to Damascus and a light broke in upon his inner soul, the effect of which at first was to bring upon him physical blindness.

In this new-found faith—which was after all not so much a new faith as an enlargement of the religion in which he had been brought up, for he declared that he still worshiped the God of his fathers—Paul launched out on his great preaching ministry.

He wanted to share with others the glory that he had found, and nothing could stop him in his determination to preach the Gospel of good news.

Paul had set out for himself a large task and a supreme goal, and it is in the spirit of one who had lived largely for the service of his life. He speaks of his persecutions and of his situation at that very time, in bonds, as a prisoner.

Far from feeling that his life had been a failure because of this bondage, he rejoices that through his willingness to suffer for others he had come more bold and courageous in speaking "the word of God without fear."

PAUL reveals the inner secret of his life quite clearly in these self-revelations. His faith is in the fact of the indwelling Christ. Elsewhere he spoke of his weakness and of the thorn in the flesh that had buffeted him. It was in this weakness that a divine voice had spoken to him, saying, "My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness."

Paul was now an old man, and it is no wonder that he was somewhat perplexed as to whether it was better to go on in the earthly warfare or to find the rest in Christ that he felt sure was the reward of the Christian after death. But in this perplexity, there was the one certain and unflinching purpose. He was determined to press on to the goal of possessing Christ and of being possessed by Christ. This was the goal of "the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Throughout his Christian life, Paul had known no purpose but this: To apprehend Christ and to be apprehended of Him; and to the very end this was his unflinching and unyielding purpose.

WHEN Paul said, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith," he was not indulging in any small or narrow boasting. When he spoke of the crown of righteousness that he felt was laid up for him, he was not speaking as some earthly victor might speak of an earthly bauble or prize; he had in mind the true course of the Christian as a conflict with himself and the issue of all noble living as vindication in God's purpose and God's word.

He did not want something for himself that was not for all men, but he believed that the Lord, the righteous Judge, would give to every man who had sought the way of right and truth his heritage in the Kingdom.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 25.

The Golden Text is: "Sing, O heavens, and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted." (Isaiah 49:13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father" (John 14:12).

WHEELER COUNTY WHEAT

YIELD 2 TO 10 BUSHELS

The following account on the wheat harvest in Wheeler County, Texas, was taken from the Shamrock Texan of June 18:

"The wheat harvest in this area will be completed in about ten days, with the crop estimated at thirty-three and a third per cent below the total yield of last year's crop, farmers of the county say.

"Average yield per acre is from three to ten bushels. The season is one of the shortest in many years. To date only two and half carloads of grain have been shipped from this point and next week will see the end of the harvest."

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hagdale and son, Clyde of Hardisty, Okla., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bryan and Joan. They all attended the program at Lake Marvin.

CANADIAN RO-DEO JULY 2-4ANVIL PARK RODEO TO HAVE BIG THREE DAY ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT ON
JULY 2-4

Canadian, June 21.—Fast and furious! Wild and woolly! Thrills and spills! That's what's ahead of Canadian folk and their visitors for the three days starting here July 2 and ending with a bang on the fourth! The Anvil Park Rodeo and 4th of July Celebration.

For the seventeenth consecutive year Canadian is staging what has come to be known as the finest thing of its kind in the Panhandle; an exhibition that draws each year thousands of enthusiastic spectators who come from every corner of three states, and a few from beyond these lines.

The attraction? For one thing it is authentic. The contestants are "tops" in their line; the horses they ride or try to ride, are plenty snaky. The contests are arranged so every class of performer has a chance and the prizes the lucky and skillful ones carry away are worth the effort.

For another thing years of practice in staging a show of this kind has taught the Canadian folk who handle the big celebration what not to do as well as what to do. It's handled right.

Appreciating the fact that a lot of the spectators won't know the fine points of the bucking and roping contests and the like the committee has provided each year enough of the spectacular and enough of the pleasant stuff to make it a big attraction even from the standpoint of the stranger to cowland.

It has always been entertainment plus and this year promises a show that will top any previous Anvil Park rodeo celebration.

There'll be lots of music and enough "stunt" stuff so that there won't be a single "draggy" minute during the shows.

The program? Never worry about that part of the rodeo! Canadian has learned, through experience, how to stage a real rodeo and folk who take in this one will find it the equal, if not the superior, of any of the sixteen that have preceded it.

The men who enter these contests are the pick of the cow men in the southwest and they don't come better in any part of the country. Spectacular riding and roping events are listed for each of the three days. Novelty contests are sprinkled through the program.

Canadian is prepared to greet and entertain the visitors during the three days.

field operations of the Service is made in the interests of economy and efficiency, according to Pinnell. Heretofore all projects and work units of the Southern Great Plains region have been supervised directly from the regional office at Amarillo, excepting those in eastern Kansas which have been under the direction of the Salina office. Operations of the Soil Conservation Service have been steadily expanding since regional offices were created in 1934, Pinnell said. Addition of the land utilization program which was transferred from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics last fall, the water facilities program authorized under the Pope-Jones Act of 1937, and other work units have increased field operations in the region to the extent that it no longer seems economical or advisable to attempt management of field work from the regional office at Amarillo, the director explained.

The area offices being created will have the necessary technical and administrative staff for management of all present projects and work units of the Service and any additional projects that may be established at future dates within their respective areas, Pinnell stated. This regional office at Amarillo will continue to function in a supervisory capacity with a decreased staff.

The creation of area offices not only will save considerable money by decreased travel expenses, but also is expected to increase the efficiency of field operations by having the management and direction of field work nearer the various work projects, Pinnell said.

Mr. Anderson pointed out that all kinds of people have been aided by H. O. L. C.'s refinancing of home loans—laboring men, professional men, mothers with families to support—all of them—people who were severely hit by the depression, but who have since gotten on their feet and are gladly repaying their debt to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

In calling attention to the way the entire state has benefited from the H. O. L. C., Mr. Anderson said that over $1,970,000 had been loaned for the purpose of repairing homes, and that the H. O. L. C. itself had paid $2,056,161 to persons in the building trades in its program of reconditioning and improving for sale the houses it has acquired. This, besides providing a vast amount of work has resulted in greatly improved neighborhood values.

J. N. Conley is confined to his home by illness.

years. Mrs. Johnson and H. E. Hoover, pioneer Panhandle judge, were in the mercantile business there. The Johnson family moved to Higgins in 1887, where they built the first business building and established a mercantile company with stores in Higgins, Canadian, Miami and Pampa. Mrs. Johnson did all her own housework and helped her husband in his store.

Known throughout the Southwest for her oil paintings which she worked with since a girl, Mrs. Johnson had studios at Kiowa and Higgins in the early days. She had done pastels, crayons and china painting, but was outstanding in oils. Many of her works hang in her beautiful home. Persons have come to Canadian from points hundreds of miles away to view her work. They are valued at many thousands of dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and family moved to Canadian from Higgins in 1892. They bought 32,000 acres of railroad and school land which they sold to D. F. Urschel in 1923. Mrs. Johnson helped organize and was president of the Southwest National Bank, which institution recently consolidated with the First National Bank.

Mrs. Johnson is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. V. McQuiddy, Canadian, one sister, Mrs. H. E. Hoover, Canadian, two brothers, A. L. and A. M. Winstel, Higgins, one grandson, Francis McQuiddy, Canadian, and two great grandsons, William Arthur and Francis Herbert McQuiddy, Canadian. Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist Church here Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. W. A. Pitt officiating. Burial was in the Canadian Cemetery.

Long before the turn of the century Mrs. Johnson moved with her husband and family from Tennessee westward. They settled first at Kiowa, Kan. They lived there for only a comparatively short time, before moving on westward.

After about two years in Kiowa, the Johnsons packed their things and headed for Texas. They came as far as the Santa Fe Railroad ran, then a settlement of about 100 persons. That was about 1887. The hotel was a huge tent, and the rooms were separated by canvas partitions. They built a house there, but in another two years the Santa Fe extended its line to Canadian and they followed the railroad. Mr. Johnson set up a mercantile business and was also connected with a lumber yard, operating in Canadian, Glasier, Pampa and Miami.

Years later, Mr. Johnson retired and he and his wife traveled the length and breadth of the United States, going even to Cuba and Old Mexico in hope of finding some beautiful spot to spend the last years of their lives. But the spell of the Plains was on them, and they returned to the Canadian country.

In a short time illness became a burden to Mr. Johnson. The ranch was sold, and his business had been turned to other hands. Out of his restlessness grew the plan to build the Southwest National Bank of Canadian, and for a few days before his death, Mr. Johnson was president of it.

Canadian had only a few shacks when the Johnsons built their first house there. The toll of the years for mere existence was arduous and long.

Despite many duties, Mrs. Johnson found time to paint and embroider and do countless little artistic things which were like an oasis in that desert of pioneering. When young, Mrs. Johnson studied art with a man from Cincinnati by the name of McCoy, and later with a Mrs. Fugitt of Memphis, Tenn. There were others which she could not remember. For 20 years she taught art. Her exhibitions were limited to galleries in Nashville and to Tennessee fairs, though she had opportunities of far more prominent exhibitions.

Her paintings invite the closest scrutiny, and minute observations reveal an unbelievable attention to detail. The hands and feet of her characters show an influence of her old Italian masters in their slender delicate beauty. Features are classical. ARTIST DIES gallery TWO. Local and refined. There are few landscapes among the collection, since Mrs. Johnson preferred pictures which told a story.

The colors are subdued and cultured, almost in no instance glaring or brilliant. There is a mellowness of rich old brocade in the tones, a delicacy of handling, a peacefulness of atmosphere which bates the underlying trend of the artist's life.

Besides the pictures there are many pieces of exquisitely painted china and difficult burnt wood art. This was done by carving a design on a flat piece of wood with a hot needle, and then painting the design or staining the wood, or sometimes both.

The American Legion Boy Scout Troop met Tuesday evening, June 20, 7:30 o'clock at the Legion Hall. Tests were passed by several of the scouts.

Those present were E. M. Allen, scoutmaster, Sidney Jines, assistant scoutmaster, Bob Lynch, Joe McClung, Donald Ellis, Harold Sharpe and Dewitt Wilson.

An observation test, planned by Sidney, was played and enjoyed.

Woodward Races

Twelve Events Each Afternoon Of
The Three Day Races
July 2-3-4

As the opening of Woodward's holiday racing carnival approaches, veterans of the racing sport who have studied the long list of entries in the first annual summer festival come out with high praise for this year's record-breaking entry list of the United Trotting association.

During the three afternoons of July 2, 3 and 4 the half-mile oval at Crystal Beach Stadium will be studied with the cream of the trotting and pacing business. J. Park Stipe, secretary of the American Legion racing association, has 156 horses entered in the trotting, pacing and free-for-all races. There is a $300 purse in the free-for-all and trot races.

There will be 12 races in the three-day meet with 24 heats, giving racing fans the pleasure of seeing 12 events each afternoon, not counting the running races which are being formed. The way the entries have been pouring in, in the running race, it looks like from two to four events will be held.
