A third member of the party has not been located, disappearing shortly after the accident and unheard of at a late hour last night.

His companion has a fractured scapula, several fractured bones in the right wrist, a broken nose and severe lascerations about the face and head.

Death Is Caused By Heart Ailment

Chemical Analysis Fails To Reveal Poison Said To Have Caused Death Of Wife Of English Actor

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—County Coroner Frank Nance announced this afternoon following chemical analysis of the vital organs of Mrs. Shelby Worrall Somerset, wife of Pat Somerset, actor, that she had died of a heart ailment. The analysis and the questioning of Somerset had been ordered as the result of an autopsy indicating that poison might have caused the death in her sleep yesterday of the former Galveston, Texas, beauty.

This morning the coroner reported that "pinkish" condition of the abdominal organs, which frequently indicated poisoning had been found during the autopsy. He said that "slight lesions" found in the heart had not been considered sufficient for a cause of death.

Chemical analysis, Nance stated this afternoon, failed to reveal any trace of poison, and the beauty's death officially was ascribed to heart disease.

Somerset, who reported finding his wife's lifeless body in her bed, had been sought for questioning by the police, who explained they wanted to learn the details of the manner and condition in which he said he found the body.

Probe Of Stocks Crash Proposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—Investigation of the stock exchange to determine the cause of the recent crash in prices was proposed today by Senator Borah of Idaho, a leader of Republican independents, in answer to a charge of some bankers that the democratic-republican coalition majority in the senate on the tariff bill was responsible for the condition.

Senator Borah suggested the investigation in a statement replying to a speech by Fred I. Kent, director and former vice-president of the Bankers Trust company of New York attributing the stock market situation to the coalition in the senate.

"We are simply endesvoring," said Senator Borah, "to establish the principle of equity in the protective system as between agriculture and industry."

Nurse Learns of Illegal Wedding

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 12. (AP)—A 24-year-old San Antonio nurse found today that she had been illegally married to a Houston man by a minister who signed the name "Rev. G. W. Carter" to a highly embellished bogus marriage certificate, county officials said today.

The man had a wife and two children in Houston, officers believe. He was placed in the county jail under a charge of criminal assault by fraud which was filed by a deputy sheriff.

The girl wept and pleaded for the man who she said she still loved and asked that no charges be filed against him

Stabbing Case To Go To Grand Jury In Travis County

Body Will Be Reconvened To Investigate Slaying Of Capitol Stenographer By Former Texas Judge

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 12.—The Travis county grand jury will be reconvened Thursday to investigate the fatal stabbing of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28, capitol stenographer, Saturday night.

John W. Brady, former judge of the third court of civil appeals here and long prominent in Texas politics is in jail on a murder charge as a result of the stabbing.

Resume Deliberations

The grand jury recessed last Friday only a little more than 24 hours before the fatal stabbing. The call stated that "certain violations of the law" had been committed since the recess which made it necessary for the grand jury to resume its deliberations. Besides the stabbing the only criminal cases pending were said to be two or three robbery cases.

Chafing at his inability to procure bond, Brady remained in his jail cell in the shadow of the capitol dome today. F. R. Tannehill, justice of the peace, said that his examing trial on the question of bail probably would be held Friday or Saturday. The hearing was continued from yesterday on motion of state's attorneys.

To Plead Insanity

Brady cannot see the state house where he served for many years as a jurist, an assistant attorney general, and an attorney for the banking department, nor can he see the nearby courthouse where he occupied the office of county attorney from his cell, which is on the opposite side of the jail from those structures. Defense movements indicated that Brady would offer a defense of temporary insanity occasioned by excessive drinking.

Pro Agent Given 50 Year Sentence

CHANDLER, Okla., Nov. 12. (AP)—Jeff D. Harris, 31-year-old specially deputized prohibition agent, tonight faced a sentence whith he could not serve unless he lived to be more than 100 years old.

He was sentenced in district court here today to fifty years imprisonment, following his conviction ten days ago of the first degree manslaughter for killing Oscar Lowery, July 4, on a farm near Tecumseh during a search for liquor, which he did not find.

Harris attorney said he would appeal the case. A motion for a new trial was denied.

Harris, with W. W. Thomason, federal prohibition enforcement officer, who deputized him, also is charged with murder in connection with the shooting of James O. Harris while the search was in progress. The shootings occurred on the farm of James C. Harris, who was Lowery's brother-in-law.

Gladys May Parks Contends Child's Death Accident

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 12. (AP)—Long and intensive questioning of Gladys May Parks, charged with the killing of one child and under suspicion of doing away with another apparently has failed to break down her story that the children died by accident.

Today the prisoner, who is 35, was taken to the house where Dorothy Rogers, 4, died and then to the dwelling where Timothy Rogers, 2, died.

It is contemplated that within the next three or four months other meetings of like nature will be held in conference with other engineers and it is anticipated that a feasible working plan, if adopted, will be agreed on to the further interests of Lubbock's development.

Touch Of Winter Felt In Lubbock

Blustering North Wind Is Visitor Tuesday To End Balmy Weather; Mercury Sent To 28 Degrees

As a cold and blustering wind swept down on the South Plains Tuesday morning, Lubbock citizens donned overcoats for the first business-like norther of the season which, from reports, was felt across the entire state to the coast.

Following a balmy Monday morning a strong wind blew up Monday night which steadily became colder as it traveled across Amarillo and northern points, where temperatures five degrees below freezing were reported late Tuesday. Rains and sharp winds were reported as far south as Galveston and Corpus Christi, and steadily lowering thermometers appeared the order over most of the eastern part of the state.

At a late hour last night the mercury in Lubbock had dropped to 28 degrees, four degrees below freezing. After having touched 27, a new low for the season, Amarillo, farthest northwest point reporting, looked forward to 20 degrees above zero last night. Just east at Pampa flurries of snow were falling.

Altus, Oklahoma, suffered its first freeze of the season while at Wichita Falls thermometers fell to 43 degrees with a freeze predicted.

DEFENSE RESTS CASE

Kizer Is Sentenced To Seven Years In Prison

LEROY KIZER, alias J. B. Brown, was sentenced Tuesday afternoon to seven years in the state penitentiary by a jury in 72nd district court, following trial on charge of robbery with fire arms in connection with his jail break here October 18.

Judge Homer L. Pharr presided over the trial.

Tells Of Hold-up

Will Ernest, deputy sheriff and jailer, testified that Kizer held him up at the point of a gun while he (Ernest) was feeding prisoners. "I was ordered to unlock the door to the cell in which was Mrs. Bessie Phillips," said Mr. Ernest. "The two tied by hands, gagged my mouth, took two one dollar bills, hat, coat and pistol from my person and then escaped."

Mrs. Phillips and Kizer were recaptured in north Lubbock a few minutes after the break by Policeman H. B. Brown and Stacy Ashley. Kizer broke jail a few days after he had been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on a charge of forgery. Mrs. Phillips is being held under grand jury indictment on the same charge.

Prisoners Testify

Willie Hammond, Willie Smith and Jake Hill, negro prisoners, corroborated Ernest's testimony on the stand. Policeman Brown testified that he removed two guns from Kizer's person when the arrest was made.

Mary Stahl, charged with aiding a prisoner to escape, in connection with Kizer's jail break, is scheduled to be brought to trial this morning.

Farm Board Gives Assurance Of Aid To Cotton Farmer

Carl Williams Says Drop In Prices Not To Affect Loan Rates To Co-Operatives In South

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. —(AP)—The federal farm board today issued a statement reassuring cotton farmers that the new low of 16.17 cents a pound will not affect loan rates to cotton co-operatives. The statement came from Carl Williams, cotton expert of the board, shortly after he learned that the price of December cotton futures at New York dropped today to the low of 16.17.

"The federal farm board is not disturbed over the fall in the price of futures contracts for cotton," Mr. Williams said, "although the low reached today is nearly one half cent a pound below the amount which, deducting the costs of delivery to New York, the board is lending to cotton cooperatives of the south.

Exchanges Blamed

"It knows that the cause of the drop is the demoralized conditions of the stock exchanges and it has full faith in the real supply and demand value of cotton.

METHODISTS GATHER

Pampa Host To North Texas Conference Today

PAMPA, Nov. 12. (AP)—This city was host to scores of Methodists gathering here for the annual Northwest Texas conference which opens tomorrow. Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas was among the first to arrive.

With several important issues to be settled, the northwest meeting is expected to be an important one. Among other things the conference is expected to return a decision upon the proposed Methodist college in Amarillo to supplant Clarendon college, suspended two years ago. The meeting also will be marked by the transfer of many pastors and presiding elders who have served their pastorates four years or more.

Nearly 400 delegates are expected at the conference, which will be concluded Sunday night with the reading of assignments.

Joe McGuffey Injured Seriously As Gun Is Discharged

JOE McGUFFEY, 2315 Sixteenth street, 19-year-old student of Texas Technological college, was seriously injured Tuesday afternoon about 6 o'clock when he received head wounds from an accidentally fired shotgun.

The young man was rushed to the Lubbock sanitarium for emergency treatment and reports last night stated that his condition, while serious, was not thought to be critical.

McGuffey and three companions, T. Q. Scott, Frank Maddox and Walter Burns, all students of Texas Tech, were hunting near Badger Lake when the accident occurred.

According to the story of one of the members of the party the car had been stopped and McGuffey remained in the back seat while others got out to shoot. When they were again ready to drive on the guns had been placed in the back and one of them was accidentally discharged, the load taking effect in the injured youth's head. None of the party knew just how the gun was fired.

McGuffey's home is in Hubbard.

West Is Released Under $2,500 Bond

R. E. West, 60, of this city, was released Tuesday afternoon on $2,500 bond following his arrest Monday on a charge of criminal assault on his 11-year-old stepdaughter, Annie Dell Steele.

Complaint was filed against West by his wife, Mrs. Maude West, in the court of Justice of the Peace G. R. Scott.

Mrs. West was arrested in this city several weeks ago and taken to Midland where she was lodged in jail, charged with theft in connection with the robbery of a jewelry store in that city. She was taken by officers two days after she married West. She returned to Lubbock only recently after her release.

W. L. Brashear, County Dad, Makes Statement After Meeting Tuesday Night; Attendance Is Light

BY SUTTON CHRISTIAN
Avalanche Staff Writer

ALTHOUGH Idalou citizens as a whole are favorable to district two's $1,025,000 road paving program, I do not believe the general sentiment in my home city will approve the voting of a highway bond issue until the designation of Highway 53 is definitely agreed upon," was the opinion expressed last night by W. L. Brashear, Lubbock county commissioner, at an informal discussion in Idalou.

He made the statement at the conclusion of a meeting of Idalou citizens last night. Mr. Brashear had urged a city mass meeting for the purpose of obtaining his constituents' attitude toward the present road bond proposals, but a nominal attendance was due to weather conditions.

Support Hinted

"If route of Highway 53 were established at this time I believe Idalou citizens would support an issue for hardsurfacing the state and federal highways," he said.

Replying to a question, Mr. Brashear expressed the opinion that Idalou would not vote favorably upon either of Slaton's petitions. "We are agreeable to paving of Highways

Former Prisoner Seriously Wounded By Policeman In Thrilling Gun Battle In Brooklyn Streets

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—George Small, one of four convicts who escaped from Auburn prison during a revolt of 1,700 convicts last July, was shot and seriously wounded today by a Brooklyn policeman after bullets fired by Small at the policeman had killed Mrs. Ruth Sunner, 30, as she was wheeling her baby in a carriage on the sidewalk.

At Brooklyn hospital Small was said to be in a critical condition. He was shot in the right side and the back. The shooting followed an attempt by Small and a companion to hold up a garage.

The pursuit covered two miles through Brooklyn streets, police and Small exchanging shots intermittently. Intercepted by Patrolman Harold Fisher, Small jumped from the car and fired at the patrolman. A woman screaming and Mrs. Sumner fell. She was dead when an ambulance surgeon arrived.

Negro Is Happy Over Pen Term

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Arlis Garfield, negro, was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary today, but he didn't feel badly. In fact, he was more pleased than otherwise.

The reason was that it was his second trial for murder, and on the first trial he was assessed fifty years.

"Are you satisfied?" Judge Adams asked after sentence passed.

"Yes, sir, that sounds a lot better," replied the negro.

"I'll go right down there and try to throw that off."

Garfield was charged with slaying Ed. Brown with a shotgun near Seagoville July 6.

Police Seek To Theory Of Murder In Double Death

Suicide Statement Made By Dying Negress Discredited In Investigation Of Prison Guard's Death

(By Associated Press)

ANGELETON, Nov. 12. — Despite a dying negress' statement that Ed. Wallace Bruce, 29-year-old state prison farm guard, shot her at her shack near here last night and then killed himself, authorities tonight clung to the theory that Bruce was murdered.

The negress, Carrie Warren, 23, died in a Houston hospital this afternoon. Between gasps she told a reporter:

"What happened? He shot me and then shot himself."

R. C. Seay, Houston patrolman, Bruce's brother-in-law, said he believed the guard committed suicide.

"He had trouble with this negro woman," Seay said, "and evidently killed himself. He was a very nervous man and after his trouble with the woman he evidently shot himself to avoid arrest."

Justice of the Peace Thomas Morrison returned a verdict of death at the hands of unknown persons. He said he discounted the theory of suicide. Bruce's gun with a chamber empty, was found beside the body.

Robbers Get Loot From Anton Store

Reports reaching Lubbock last night from Anton stated that the store of W. L. Allen was robbed there yesterday afternoon by three men who were thought to have been traveling in an old Ford touring car toward this city.

A leather coat and a lumber jack were said to have been among the missing articles while a checkup had not been completed of the entire store.

Officers last night were working on a definite clue as to the identity of the robbers and expect to recover the stolen merchandise today, together with apprehension of the thieves.

NO CLUES FOUND

Robbery Of Lubbock Store Remains Unsolved

Though officers have been scouring the surrounding territory and other sections since Monday, no clues have been found of the robbers who, Saturday night, entered Hemphill-Wells company and escaped with articles valued between $500 and $1,000.

A preliminary check of stock reveals that 10 dresses, two coats, 10 or 12 dozen pairs of hosiery and other small items were included in the burglary.

"We are of the opinion," said Spencer A. Wells, manager of the store, "that the burglar was locked up in the store when we closed Saturday night. The rear door was found open Sunday morning."

The meeting resulted further in the appointment of a special committee to be present before the commissioners' court at 10 o'clock this morning, when a hearing is to be held on the petition, which was filed more than two weeks ago. This

BY HOLLYE SELLARS
Avalanche Staff Writer

"PROHIBITION is the fundamental law of the land, and it will remain such as long as the United States flag continues to fly," was the conclusion of William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, internationally-known advocate of prohibition, who addressed a crowd of more than 300 Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church.

Preceding Mr. Johnson's lecture, the audience joined in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee", and Major F. R. Ebbert of Los Angeles spoke briefly on "The Unfinished Battle." Dr. J. C. Granberry, head of the history department of Texas Technological college, presided for the occasion.

Babylon Cited

"With the exception of Jerusalem," Mr. Johnson said, "no city is mentioned so often in the Bible as is Babylon. As I walk about the ruins of this city, I think of its glamorous history, its mighty rulers, and the overconfidence the people had in its fortifications. Strong drink was unknown in Biblical times, but rulers of Babylon drank themselves to death on light wines and beers. These milder drinks

By CHARLES C. WATSON

"THE influence the United States has established throughout the world through its action of prohibition, has been one of great good and has raised the prestige of this country in the minds of others to lofty heights."

So declared William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, internationally known globe trotter and advocate of prohibition, when approached yesterday on the question before his address here last night at the First Methodist church.

Trouble In Sight

"Of course," continued Mr. Johnson, "we expect to have trouble for a few years until the people of the country have accustomed themselves to the new era and accepted it as a part of their lives. But the old days of saloons will never come back, you may rest assured of that fact."

When questioned as to the seeming great cost and ineffectiveness of enforcement, Mr. Johnson said, "The bootleggers can't stand up under it for long, they are bound to fall. There will always be a few, I

"I Want To Tell The World About It," Says Rickman

"I'm A Glad Man Today Because Of Orgatone, It Has Made Me A New Man," Says Amarillo Machinist

"I would like to speak personally with every body in the whole world and tell them about Orgatone," said Mr. J. C. Rickman, of 1306 E. 14th Ave., Amarillo, Texas, a machinist at the Santa Fe shops while talking with the Orgatone representative.

"My health gave way about ten years ago," he continued, "and I had long since despaired of ever getting any better. I was very weak and worn out, suffering from my general condition. I had a chronic case of stomach and liver trouble. I was extremely nervous. My appetite went back on me and my stomach got in such a bad fix that nothing I ate seemed to do me any good. My food would sour soon after meals and kept me belching up sour gas afterwards. I suffered terrible pains about my stomach all the time and at times I could hardly retain a thing I had eaten. There seemed as if there were a hard lump that formed in my stomach at times. I had to get up three or four times during the night, and couldn't get any rest at all. I had a chronic case of constipation and was forced to take strong laxatives most all the time. I had dull, dragey, headaches.

"I read about Orgatone, and now I want the world to know the good I have received from it, my kidney trouble is a thing of the past now, my appetite is better, and my stomach doesn't bother me anymore. All of my dull headaches are gone, and I have more energy and am stronger than I have been for a long time. My constipation is entirely relieved, and gas does not sour in my stomach any more. I wish I could do more for this wonderful Orgatone, than only recommend it, for I tell you, I am glad man and I have been relieved of many years' suffering. I am certainly grateful for what it did for me."

Twenty-Ton Stone Falls 7 Stories

Workers Panic Stricken As Huge Object Crashes In New 70-Story Building In New York Tuesday

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—A 20-ton stone crashed through seven floors to the basement of the new 70-story bank of America building in Wall Street today when a lifting cable broke under the strain of the heavy load. It could not be learned immediately if any one had been killed or injured.

The stone fell with a series of terrific crashes as it broke through floor after floor.

Some workers in the financial district were panic stricken as they thought at first the noise was caused by bomb explosions.

Special detachments of police on duty in front of the Stock Exchange nearby rushed to the building and held back the crowds.

Two Men Arrested After Gun Battle

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—Charges of highway robbery were expected to be filed against two men here today after a pistol battle with officers in the outskirts of Austin last night resulted in the wounding of one of the pair and the capture of both. The wounded man was shot in the leg.

Officers said they believed the men, brothers, had committed a series of robberies here during the past 10 days.

Authorities set a decoy for the men last night. They parked their automobile in the section where the robbers had flourished and waited. When the men sneaked up allegedly with the intention of robbing the officers, the pair was told to "stick 'em up." Instead they ran and shots were exchanged. Bloodhounds tracked the men and they were captured.

Fruit Growers to Fight Citrus Fly

SAN BENITO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Backed by Commissioner of Agriculture George B. Terrell, fruit growers of this section have expressed a determination to take every step possible to prevent the shipping into this state of Florida citrus fruit, the ban against which will be lifted December 1, according to word received here by J. E. Bell from the Texas commissioner.

The communication said Terrell was informed of the pending move in a telegram from Dr. C. L. Marlatt, head of the federal bureau of plant quarantine.

Scores of telegrams, it was said, were sent from this section yesterday to Dr. Marlatt urging that Florida fruit be kept out of this state because of the danger of infestation by the Mediterranean fruit fly.

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—Clarence Alexander of Runge, 18-year-old freshman at the University of Texas, died today of injuries received when his motorcycle overturned here last night.

TOOK CATHARTICS EVERY NIGHT

Eating ALL-BRAN Relieved Constipation

Everybody who is slave to cathartics and laxatives will be interested in this letter—

"I took cathartic pills every night and enemas daily to relieve myself and take away the awful headaches I was subject to. Two months ago I started eating a large bowl of your ALL-BRAN with cream for breakfast and today I am in fine condition, better than I have been in three years. My bowels are regular every day. I have not taken one cathartic pill in two months."—Mrs. A. J. O'Connell, 52 Phelps Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Constipation gets in its deadly work when bulk is left out of the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, however, will supply this bulk. It sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Thousands have regained their old-time vigor and relieved constipation forever by eating ALL-BRAN. Doctors recommend it.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious recipes for muffins, breads, etc., on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars serve it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Gas Tax Validity Is Not Attacked

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 12. (AP)—No attack upon the constitutionality of the state gasoline tax as a whole is contemplated in behalf of Wichita county, Wayne Somerville, district attorney, said today.

The action contemplated, he asserted, is the filing of an application for an injunction to restrain the state from forcing counties to pay the tax. Wichita county, he explained, will contend only that the state cannot impose a tax upon one of its political subdivisions.

The proceedings would ask that the county be exempt from paying the four cent tax at the time the fuel is purchased, he added.

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 12. (AP)—J. M. Mitchell Jr., was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mitchell here yesterday at 11 minutes past the eleventh hour of the eleventh anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which became effective at 11 a. m., of Nov. 11, 1918.

SOUR STOMACHS MADE SWEET

Antiseptic Remedy Corrects Fermented Condition

If you can not eat what you like, if you have to avoid certain foods because they disagree with you, your trouble is no doubt due to fermentation (souring of food)—a condition that can be quickly corrected if proper methods are used.

The use of soda, magnesia, dyspepsia tablets, laxatives and common patent medicines require continual dosing and, at best, can furnish only temporary relief.

GORDON'S, a stomach and bowel antiseptic, gives lasting benefit. It stops fermentation promptly, sweetens the stomach, drives out the acids and poisons, soothes and heals the membrane lining. The very first dose will relieve sour stomach, indigestion, gas, bloating, heartburn, dissolve the excess acid.

If you have stomach trouble now, or when food disagrees, don't take chances with temporary measures. Get GORDON'S from druggist at once. It costs no more than ordinary remedies—a large 8-ounce bottle for $1.50—less than three cents a dose. Adv.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

By MADAME RUBINSTEIN

For those of you who have been in Germany recently I need not tell you of the tremendous importance attached to body building. It has become a cult and innumerable young people have formed groups and live in the woods in the most primitive manner. "Back to nature" clubs they call themselves and "Bewegung" or movement is their guiding star. Movement, they say, brings joy—and joy is the only reason for life. These are the beliefs of the cults and they sound very much like the rules of the ancient Hedonists of Greece, who lived only for mirth and happiness. Some of these groups are uninteresting and rather dull, but there is one school in north Germany which deserves more than passing attention — a school of the out-doors. Here women and children live in a large house by the sea, wear scanty clothes and arise at five in the morning to skip and run on the beach. While three-year-old children are having their gymnastic lesson, their mothers are performing more complicted ones. All through the warmer months no shoes and stockings are allowed. In fact, throughout the entire year the pupils are taught to do with a minimum of clothing.

This school has earned fame recently because it has had such phenomenal success in building up sickly children and bringing them back to health. The entire regime of the school is a healthful one. Food is of the simplest, recreation is taken in free play, small theatricals are arranged by the members of the school, learned and interesting people are invited to talk to the groups. Bedtime is early, and so is the rising hour.

In such a commercial age it is amazing to find a group of people who can live so peacefully untouched by the violence of modern civilization, except, perhaps, for the passing of an aeroplane far, far overhead. Of course, it is practically impossible for most of us to live as these people do, and perhaps we do not want to, but it is good to know of such existences and to try to inject a bit of their quietude and regularity into our own.

Two Lubbock County Youths Awarded Trips to Chicago Livestock Show

Announcement was made yesterday that three boys in this county will be awarded trips to the Livestock Exposition and 4-H club encampment at Chicago, November 29.

Two of the scholarship awards, given to Milton Davis, Lubbock, and Hugh Pettit, Abernathy, route 2, were made by the Texas Cotton Seed Growers association. "Since only six awards were made by the association in Texas, the Lubbock county boys have been distinctly honored," said County Agent D. F. Eaton.

Abernathy Boy Wins

John L. Vaughn, of Abernathy, was awarded a scholarship by the Santa Fe railway company, which gave 19 scholarships to boys residing in 19 counties served by the rail line in Texas.

Young Davis raised six bales of cotton this year on five acres and realized a profit of about $500.

Starting with 14 hens and two males, Vaughn has raised 172 turkeys this year, realizing a profit of $619.

Pettit was given recognition because of his showing in growing lambs.

Archie Duncan in the dairy calf contest won first prize, a gold medal.

Monroe Minser, in sheep contest, won second prize, a gold watch.

Clay Pettit, in poultry, won second prize, a gold watch.

Earl Fine, crop and story contest won second prize, a gold watch.

Federal Government Is Backward In Paying Share For Construction Of Highways By States, Says Fortney

President Of American Association Of State Highway Officials Speaks At San Antonio Convention

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 12. (AP)—The federal government has been backward in providing funds for its share of highway construction by the states and they should "insist that future authorizations from the federal treasury be considerably larger than they have been in the past," C. P. Fortney of Charleston, W. Va., president of the American Association of State Highway officials, told the annual convention in his address today.

The association met here for the second convention ever held in the South since it was organized 15 years ago. The republic of Mexico sent Salvador Tascano of Mexico City, chief engineer of its system of highways now under construction, and R. Guemez, engineer for the Anahuac project.

Aid Not Given.

"As is well known, the state highway departments have constructed a greater mileage of roads on the federal aid system without federal aid than with federal aid," Fortney stated.

He advanced federal legislation to provide for the improvement of roads on the federal aid system through public lands and a more equitable increase of funds for roads through forest reservations.

Fortney's criticism of the miserly treatment received by the states at the hands of the federal government was emphasized by W. C. Markham of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the association.

Opinions Differ.

"While there still remains a great difference of opinion as to the ideal sources of income for state road building, there is very little contention over the statement that the federal government is not paying its just share in the improvement of the interstate system," he said. "The states have expended $500,000,000 that rightfully should have come from the federal treasury and they also know there will be no reimbursement. This situation, however, simply intensifies the argument for increased federal appropriations."

Markham declared that during the past year the state highway departments have improved a mileage greater than the distance around the globe and have increased this mileage over the record of the year previous by a mileage equal to the distance from New York to San Francisco.

Half Billion Spent.

"To do all this there was expended but a little over a half billion dollars," he said. "This is one-fourth of the amount the women spent on cosmetics or the men blew up in smoke. We challenge any other governmental function in the country to make a better showing."

There are almost 310,000 miles of roads in the state systems, of which approximately 183,000 miles have received some kind of surfacing, President Fortney told the convention. During the year a little more than 20,000 miles of surfacing and 6,700 miles of earth improvement have gone on the record of accomplishment of the state highway departments, he said.

Funds Made Available.

"There was made available for the states to carry on this work a little more than one billion dollars, and the payments made by the states exceeded $825,000,000," Fortney stated.

In the union with the exception of ginning next January, every state in the union with the exceptio of seven, will be giving some of the receipts of the gasoline tax to the counties.

"While such a distribution may be a necessity in some cases, nevertheless the people should realize that fully 80 per cent of the state systems has been improved to a point at which they economically take care of the traffic," he said.

Toll Bridge Problem.

Fortney said another matter of "growing concern" was the toll bridge situation.

"Interstate travel is becoming so heavy that the demand is heard to free those toll bridges which have been established at strategic river crossings on the road system throughout the country," he said.

He said the association should recommend the enactment of a general bridge statute by the congress without delay to govern all toll bridges hereafter constructed across navigable streams.

Texas Lady Says Pains Stopped Coming After She Had Taken Cardui.

Terrell, Texas.—"I was run-down and nervous, and for several months my health had not been good," says Mrs. Louis Wieland, of this place. "I was up one day and down the next. I never felt like doing anything.

"I worried all the time, and could not sleep well at night.

"Periodically I would suffer from pains in my back and sides. I would have awful headaches, and would feel dull and dizzy.

"My sister had taken Cardui, and she persuaded me to try it. She said to me one day: 'If you will only try it, you will see for yourself how much good it will do you.' So I got a bottle of Cardui and began to take it. It was not long until I felt fine. I got stronger, and my nerves did not bother me any more.

"The pains stopped coming in my back, and I could do my work without any trouble. I think Cardui is a fine medicine."

Westerners Drive Hard For Clash With Wichita Crew

Pittsburgh And California May Meet In Rose Bowl January 1st

Lubbock To Have Full Strength In Friday Skirmish

Special Train Will Bring Coyote Fans Here For Annual Class A Battle; Pep Rally Thursday

Unless the Wichita Falls Coyotes have changed their style of attack entirely, they are not likely to spring anything new on the Lubbock Westerners when Coach Barry Holton leads his ambitious Pack of gridiron warriors out on the field here Friday in the annual conference battle with the cohorts of Frnka and Morgan.

The Westerners continued their defensive drill Tuesday afternoon on the famed Rockne shift employed by the Wichita eleven and the squad appeared to have become familiar with even the most intricate points of the tricky style of play.

Hold Lengthy Workout

A cold north wind failed to keep the Westerners indoors, the high school mentors holding a lengthy workout on the south side of the high school building. Following the session devoted to the Wichita plays, the locals brushed up on their own defense, giving special attention to a pair of new plays that have been added since the Amarillo game.

Yancey Price, fleet Westerner wingman who has recently been shifted to the backfield, appears to be a permanent fixture at halfback for the locals insofar as the remainder of the current season is concerned. Price proved his worth as a ball carrier in the skirmish with the Golden Sandies, breaking away for long sensational gains against the 1928 district champions. His speed in the open will add greatly to the Westerners' running attack and he is certain to see action against the Coyotes here Friday.

Lawson Back in Camp

W. D. Lawson, Lubbock's versatile line plunger, and Moody Smith, regular halfback, were back in uniform yesterday following an extended period of illness, during which time both were confined to the sick-room with influenza. Both show signs of their confinement, but will probably have gained back enough strength to break into the lineup against the Pack.

Green, Martin, Watkins and Teal continue this week to work regularly in the Westerner backfield, and the starting quartet against the Holton aggregation remains questionable. Except for one of the end positions, the same line that played 60 minutes against the Sandies Nov. 2 will likely get first call this week, Watson or Hardberger is in line for the wing post vacated by Price.

Plan Pep Rally

A city-wide pep rally will be held at the high school auditorium Thursday night, it was announced late yesterday by school authorities. A number of local business and professional men are scheduled to address the assembly, including J. J. Clements, president of the Rotary club; Clark Mullican, president of the Kiwanis club; C. F. Drexel, Lions club head, and Chas. A. Guy, managing editor of the Avalanche and Journal. The high school pep squad will be in charge and the school band will furnish music.

In a telephone conversation with the Wichita Daily Times last night the Avalanche-Journal was informed that a special train will be run from Wichita to Lubbock, bringing approximately 400 Coyote fans. Ticket sales at the Coyote stronghold are being conducted through the cooperation of the high school, chamber of commerce and the business men's club of that city.

The special will leave Wichita at 5:50 Friday morning and arrive in Lubbock at 12:30 leaving that night at 7 o'clock on the return trip. Coach Barry Holton and his squad of gridsters will arrive here Thursday morning.

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered.

Undigested food sends poisons through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows sallow and muddy and loses its color. Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking that simple herbal compound known to druggists as Tanlac.

Tanlac contains nothing but herbs, barks and roots which have a cleansing, healing effect on a sour upset stomach. Just a teaspoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disfiguring eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

Ponies Work On Passing Defense

Morrison Satisfied S. M. U. Line Will Stop Baylor's Running Attack But Fears Air Raid

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Back at full strength and pepped up by their victory over the Aggies last week, the Southern Methodist Mustangs drilled hard today in preparation for Saturday's game here with the Baylor Bears.

Weldon Mason, crack halfback, and Malcolm Powell, all-conference center, who were out last week from injuries received in the Texas game, joined the squad in a stiff practice session today and appeared to be in shape.

Satisfied that his line will stop Baylor's running attack, Morrison devoted most of his time to polishing the Mustangs defense against an air raid and perfecting his own offense.

Star Backs Are In Pairs South Of Mason-Dixon

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12. (AP)—Stellar backfield trios are to be put on Southern gridirons this year.

Besides the high-powered Hack and Mack combination at Tennessee — Buddy Hackman and Eugene McEver, the touchdown twins — there are three double dynamite acts spotlighted around the Dixie circuit.

Tulane has Bill Banker, the blond Billboard, and Hale the Armstrong to aid its march to a Southern championship.

Banker is rough, tough and rangy. Armstrong is elusive, slim and speedy. The eighth covetail is ne[illegible] of McEver and Hackman.

Lubbock Men Will Attend Convention

Three Lubbock county citizens will represent this county at the district convention of the Texas Farm Bureau federation at Harlingen, November 29 and 30, N. H. Payne, field representative of the federation, announced yesterday.

The three will attend as delegates of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Cotton association.

Other than Mr. Payne, George C. Cooper, living three miles north of Lubbock, and Mrs. Douglas Pounds, Acuff, will attend. Mr. Cooper is vice president of the county organization.

The Harlingen meeting is the third district convention of the federation.

Football Star Bambino's Idol

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Imagine, if you can, Babe Ruth having an athletic idol. The great sultan of Swat, baseball's home-run king, worships a scrappy little football player and is the most ardent rooter in the stands at the home games of the Fordham University gridders.

Little Kick On New Grid Rules

Chairman Of Committee Convinced That Minimum Of Tinkering With New Laws Can Be Expected

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Convinced that the present football code needs fumble rule and all is proving generally satisfactory, Edward K. Hall, chairman of the national football rules committee, reported today that a minimum of tinkering with the laws of the game can be expected for 1930.

Only here and there, Mr. Hall pointed out, has an occasional voice been raised against the provision making a fumbled ball dead at the point of recovery by the defensive side and indications are that this rule is here to stay.

Thrill Is Missing

"Some of the fellows I have talked with have said they didn't like the fumble rule, but all they had to say against it was that they thought it had taken out one of the thrills of the game," Hall said.

"Pshaw! It has given the game a good many more thrills than it has taken out. This season has been more open play, more handling of the ball behind the line and hence a more varied intricate and receptive attack than any other season, and the development along this line has only begun."

Holiday Will Be Declared Nov. 16

Estimate That More Than 2,000 Rooters From Christian School Will Be In Stands

(Special To The Avalanche)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 12.—Plans for the student body trip to Austin next Saturday, for the Frog-Longhorn football game, are occupying the center of the stage on the campus of Texas Christian university.

University authorities have declared a holiday for November 16 and practically the entire student body will make the trip to Austin accompanied by many of the faculty and Fort Worth supporters of the Frogs.

Special trains, leaving Fort Worth at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, will carry fans over the Missouri Pacific to Austin, arriving in the capital city shortly after noon. One train will return at 7 o'clock that night, while another will be held over until 7 o'clock Sunday night.

Hundreds of other fans will motor to Austin, and early estimates place the number of T. C. U. rooters who will be in the stands Saturday afternoon at from 2,000 to 2,500.

Frank Whitney, star lightweight boxer 20 years ago, will be a republican candidate for sheriff of Linn county, Iowa, next June. Whitney, who fought at 133 pounds, now scales at 225.

Douglas Graydon, Georgia Tech sophomore, who has been on the injured list, is back in a football uniform. He gained fame as a high school javelin hurler at Little Rock, Ark.

Cecil Urbaniak of Fairmont, W. Va., who set the sports fans talking this spring by executing, unassisted, a triple put-out play, is trying for the varsity football team at University of Kentucky.

Gold Mint Wins Blackstone Hotel Feature Race At Arlington Downs Tuesday As Cold Wind Whips Track

Dallas Owned Horse Noses Out Quick Return In Driving Finish; Three D Entries Finish Behind

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Nov. 12. (AP)—A cold north wind, carrying a sort of rain, whipped the track here Tuesday afternoon as Gold Mint won the Blackstone Hotel feature race. Figured to have little if any chance, the Dallas owned horse took an early lead and nosed out Quick Return in a driving finish. Zacawelsta, Three D favorite was a close third.

Ethel Sherlock, a four year old bay filly, was booted home first in the opening race by G. May just a nose ahead of the favorite, Witch Mount. Bride O' The Wind was third.

By Product Wins Second

By Product walked away with the second race, a five and one-half furlong dash for 2 year olds. Red Mountain was second and Ruddy Sir third. Texas Queen, the three D favored 2-year-old, failed in the third race and Thelma L., second choice came in as an easy winner. Texas Queen finished sixth. Natal Hills beat out Lady Seth for second place.

The Three D stables failed again in the fourth race when Trieze got up to nose out Calf Roper who was another nose ahead of the other Three D entry, Prince Pat.

Baritone won the final race a neck ahead of Clyde C., in a hard race over a mile and seventy yards. Laundry Man, the favorite came in third.

AUTOPSY PERFORMED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12. (AP)—Indications that Shelby Worrall Somerset, wife of Pat Somerset, former English actor, may not have died from a heart attack as believed, were given today after the county surgeon had performed an autopsy. He ordered a chemical analysis of the vital organs of the former Texas beauty who died in her sleep last night.

Lena Styles, once a catcher with the As and now in the International loop, got his name in a funny way. Dove in Alabama the fans used to yell "Lean on it," when he went to bat. This soon shortened to "Lena."

Matadors Point To Howard Payne

Cold Norther Keeps Tech Gridsters Indoors Tuesday Afternoon; Hold Workout In Gym

Tech's gridiron hopefuls were driven off their practice field Tuesday afternoon by a biting norther that swept across the Matadors' arena with relentless fury.

The weather, however, did not interfere with the program for the day, as Coaches Higginbotham and Payne sent their charges through a strenuous calesthenics inside the college gymnasium that serves the purpose of working out the sore muscles received in Monday's battle with the A. C. C. Wildcats.

Facing a tough foe here next Tuesday when the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets come to town, the Matadors will resume serious preparation today for their skirmish with the strong Texas Conference eleven from Brownwood. Monday the Jackets humbled the St. Edwards Saints, 21 to 7, thereby eliminating the Austin school from the running in the title chase.

Tech emerged from the battle with the Abilene Christians with no serious injuries, and the entire squad is likely to be in much better physical condition for the Howard Payne encounter than it was for the Wildcat contest.

S. M. U. To Play Navy, Notre Dame

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—With two intersectional games already booked with Notre Dame and the Navy, Southern Methodist university next year will tackle the most ambitious football schedule ever arranged by a Southwest conference school.

Coach Ray Morrison aspires to a claim for the national gridiron title in 1930. In addition to the Notre Dame and Navy games, the Mustangs will engage five conference opponents. A game with a Big Ten school also is in prospect.

Notre Dame authorities paid southwest football a signal tribute by booking Southern Methodist for the dedication game of the new stadium in South Bend. A three-year contract was made, with the understanding that one game would be played in Dallas.

The Mustangs probably will play the Navy in Baltimore and it is hooped to bring the 1931 contest to Dallas, where a stadium to hold 80,000 spectators is planned by the Texas State Fair association.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—In his first statement to the press since the Virginia gubernatorial election, Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, cabled from Montevideo, Uruguay, today that while he regretted the decision of the voters, "Raskobian liberalism versus Southern democracy still remains the outstanding democratic party issue."

Easton, Md., high school began its basketball season with a 138 to 4 victory over Oak Grove. Carl Younger threw 25 field goals.

Two gentlemen of the squared circle are on the Tulane team this year. They are Jack Pizzano, captain of the university boxing team, and Red Haas, southern conference middleweight champ.

Holiday Looms As Southern Champ

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 12. (AP)—The double jinx of Crackerland — Georgia and Georgia Tech — has been subjugated by Tulane's Green Wave.

Tulane, the third Southern conference football team to meet Georgia and Georgia Tech on successive week ends, was the first to defeat both of the Cracker squads. The Tech and Georgia "you get 'em if I don't" ash knocked North Carolina and Florida out of the Southern title race.

North Carolina leaped the first Cracker hurdle, beating Tech, but couldn't take Georgia. Florida slipped before Tech but overcame Georgia. Then came Tulane to conquer both the Golden Tornado and the Dixie Bulldog. Now Tulane looms large as the new Southern champ.

Garden Gaining Corner On Pugs

New York Organization Lacks Only Few Minor Details Before All Main Boxers Will Be In Line

EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Only a few minor details stood out tonight against Madison Square Garden's complete corner of the present day crop of prominent heavyweight cauliflower.

Having purchased from Humbert J. Fugazy the only contract under which Max Schmeling, the Teuton ace, can box in New York state, the Garden completed arrangements with Victorio Campolo, the mauler from the Argentine for four fights in the United States. The Garden now has under contract Jack Sharkey, Otto Von Porat, Phil Scott, Johnny Risko, Tuffy Griffiths and Jimmy Braddock in addition to Schmeling and Campolo.

Although no word has been received from Schmeling, Bruen believes that the German Schlager, due to return to the United States within a few weeks, must fight here in the future for the Garden or not at all.

Bruen indicated that Schmeling will box in the Garden's new outdoor stadium at Miami this winter, probably against Phil Scott, while Sharkey who already signed for a match in Florida, will be paired with Campolo in another major attraction.

The latest sporting development in democratic Germany is a tennis tournament arranged for the bell boys of the Mannheim club.

With a view of forming a stud farm, it is believed, Count John McCormack will transfer his race horses from Ireland to England at the end of the present season.

Adults, Too, Prefer 'No Dosing' for Colds

Millions Adopt External Remedy Made Famous As Treatment For Children's Colds

A generation ago, when Vicks VapoRub was originated, the idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

Mothers of young children especially have been quick to appreciate this better, external method of treating colds because there's nothing to swallow and, of course, nothing to upset the little ones' delicate stomachs. Year by year more and more adults, too, have found Vicks equally good for their own colds.

Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster; and, at the same time, it releases medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

Ever-increasing demand for this better method of treating colds is shown in the familiar Vicks slogan, Made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly"—later raised to "21 Million"—there are now "Over 25 Million Jars Used Yearly." (Adv.)

Bears, Panthers May Furnish Big Annual Classic

Sutherland's Machine Appears In Line For Eastern Nomination; Bear Is Western Prospect

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Plans for the annual Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena January 1, 1930 are subject to revision but indications now are that the scream of a Panther and growl of a Bear will echo through the famous bowl.

The Pittsburgh Panther seems to be enjoying perfect health and Jock Sutherland's powerful machine is in line for the nomination as the representative of the east in the annual clash of the sections.

The University of California Bear finds Stanford and Washington standing in its way to the Pacific Coast throne but even failure to hurdle the last obstacle probably would not prevent the invitation to Pasadena. Stanford plays Army December 28, removing the Cardinals from consideration in any plans involving New Year's day.

University of California officials have been quoted on the coast as not over-enthusiastic for the assignment but willing to go through with it if the invitation should be extended and the designated eastern opponent met with its approval.

Eighty Per Cent Of Cotton Picked

Lubbock County Agent D. F. Eaton Says Hundreds Of Bales Ruined By Inclement Weather Here

Estimating that about 80 per cent of Lubbock county's cotton crop has been harvested, County Agent D. F. Eaton said yesterday that but a few weeks will be required for picking the crop when weather conditions become favorable.

"Most of the remaining unpicked cotton is in the eastern portion of the county," said Mr. Eaton. "Picking thus far has been congested in certain sections of the county."

Although it would be hard to estimate the exact damage, hundreds of bales of cotton have been ruined by the inclement weather of the last three weeks, Mr. Eaton expressed.

Ex-Service Boys Meet At Banquet

One hundred and forty ex-service men of this city and the South Plains assembled around the banquet table Monday night at Our Cafeteria, guests of the Allen Brothers post, American Legion, following a day of exciting activities.

Dr. G. H. Ater, of this city, was chairman of the program.

Principal address of the evening was delivered by District Attorney Durwood Bradley on the subject of "Upholding the Law For God and Country," relating the preamble to the constitution.

Gives Welcome

Mayor Harley D. Woods welcomed the visitors.

Music was furnished by the Green Brothers string orchestra. Mollie Davis, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Davis, entertained the gathering with a delightful reading. Other items on the program were vocal solo, Mrs. Carl Scoggin; talk by the Allen Brothers post commander, Charles A. Whittacre, and several piano numbers together with a singsong.

Debutante Finds Sophistication In New Fall and Winter Frocks

BY MME. LISA

The fall and winter season, with its whirl of pleasures for the debutante, is here. Parties, teas, bridges, dances and the whole round of gaiety, once more occupies her time.

It is very important that her dresses be au fait. They must sparkle with youth, they must be softly style[illegible] same time be [illegible] their worldly wise wearers.

For the modern debutante is a fashion law unto herself. Blue moon is the effective medium for this charming simple model for this full drooping skirt line. The collar is of eggshell satin.

The [illegible] is completed with [illegible] silk crepe colored with [illegible]. The short cape is gold. A large bertha collar extends half way down to meet the all-around pleated skirt with a transparent velvet bow. A fare-thee finishes the bodice.

Gold ram heads for embroidery edging [illegible] coat.

The [illegible] is complete in the [illegible] silk crepe frock in another indication of the originality of the designers of the third frock, with its feminine ruffles.

The fourth gown, extreme right, is a small little model of black crepe. The collar and jabot are of black and chartreuse, and the peplum emphasizes the new thigh waist line.

Difficulties Met In Crop Harvest

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 12.—Greater difficulty has been experienced in getting crops harvested in this section this season than at any other time since farming has become the principal activity and this is not caused by a labor shortage but from unprecedented rains which have prevailed since almost crops matured or since cotton became ready for pickers.

There were very few days during October that fields were dry enough for satisfactory work and so far the month of November bids fair to duplicate its predecessor. Notwithstanding this nearly as much cotton has been gathered this year as was produced last year and it is estimated that about one-half of the crop remains in the fields with several weeks of good weather needed to complete the work.

It has been said, that any man who ventured a prediction on the weather in West Texas was either a newcomer or a fool, but this did not deter anyone from continuing the practice and some of them felt that they could qualify for both positions.

WHEAT FUTURES TUMBLE

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—Wheat futures tumbled on the Kansas City market today with resumption of trading following the Armistice Day adjournment.

Early losses ranged from five to 6 1-2 cents. December futures sold down to $1.10. A small part of the loss soon was regained.

Corn futures generally lost about 2 to 2 1-2 points.

City Planning Is Talked to Lions

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Lubbock Lions club held yesterday was featured by a talk on city planning and by attendance of the city's zoning commission members, with about 60 Lions and visitors.

The talk was made by Julian Montgomery, of Wichita Falls, who exhibited a number of maps of the city of Brownwood where a city plan system recently was created.

Montgomery stated that the prerequisite of city planning in that a city, before building properly, must be able to plan ably and wisely for the future.

Camels are for knowing smokers!

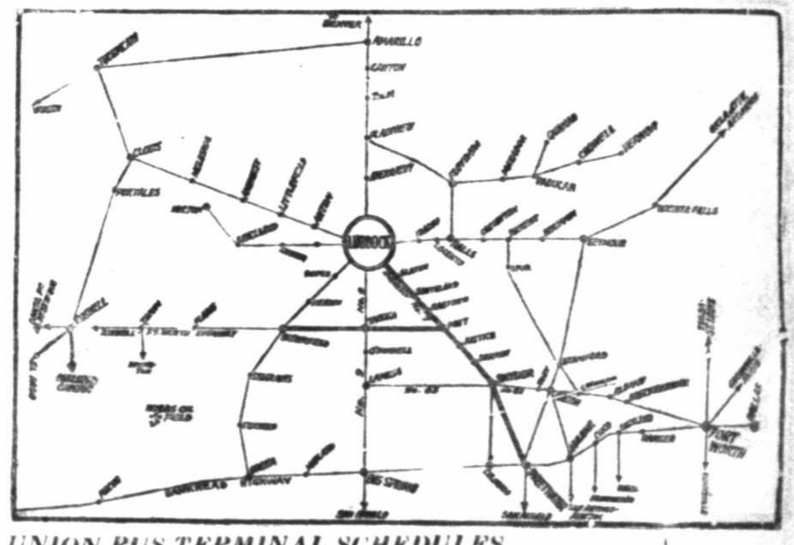

It's just too bad if any smoker because of misinformation denies himself or herself the pleasure of CAMELS.

New smokers are not always in a position to have a real preference in cigarettes. But when they acquaint themselves with Camels they develop that sense of discrimination that leads to real smoking pleasure. Camels are made so carefully and of so good a blend of choicest cigarette tobaccos that even those with inexperienced smoking taste quickly recognize their superiority. They are for those who appreciate the taste of choice tobaccos, the fragrance of a perfect blend and the soothing mellowness of a really satisfying cigarette.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

The Lord knoweth the days of the upright; and their inheritance shall be for ever.

They shall not be ashamed in the evil time; and in the days of famine they shall be satisfied.—Psalm xxxvii, 18, 19.

ON CITY PLANNING

LUBBOCK'S campaign for the establishment of a city plan and a system to carry it to completion is gathering momentum. The Morning Avalanche is sure that by spring the proposition will be well under way and while it will take years to work it out the first few months will show a decided improvement in the city.

This newspaper is particularly interested in seeing Lubbock get a practical city plan. The average citizen of Lubbock, were he to become acquainted with city planning, would agree. However, it is highly technical and the average man, unless he avails himself of expert advice on the subject, has little opportunity to become fully acquainted.

The idea of the Board of City Development in inviting city planners here and having them address civic clubs and other mass meetings, was a good one and one that should bear fruit. Local men, interested in the city's future, should hear these men whenever possible in order to really know what is being suggested for an orderly growth and expansion.

PENNSYLVANIA'S REED

Until a few months ago the light of Reed of Pennsylvania was under a bushel in the United States senate. Reed of Missouri was the bushel. Brilliant, a lion for courage and accomplished in senatorial stagecraft, the Missouri Reed amounted to a veritable blanket over anyone else of the name. But Reed of Missouri retired from the senate on March 4 and left Reed of Pennsylvania a free field, containing a very choice opportunity.

The notable mediocrity of Smoot of Utah, who, as finance chairman, is the titular leader of the regular Republicans in the tariff fight, thrust Reed into the vocal leadership of the regulars. Diligent readines of the recent issues of the Congressional Record recall his name on every other page, but fail to recall a thing he has said other than that, in substance, Borah and Norris ought to be cast out somewhere into a darkness where there is nothing but gnashing of teeth and Democrats. As for a light, out from under a bushel and shining, we could find none; but his name was in there often and plenty and it tended to support the new accounts from Washington picturing Reed of Pennsylvania as "bearing the brunt." Stretching considerably, we could see a Cicero valiantly waging a losing fight. He might measure up as a lion for courage.

Now how about it? Well, as Cicero frowning the tribunes down or as the boy on the burning deck whence all but him had fled, Mr. Reed of Pennsylvania, unquestionably, putting it in the terse way of movie criticism, is a flop. Off to Philadelphia he goes, and there up before a large audience, he declared the fight lost, the tariff bill dead and the whole tariff talkie now a great to-do about nothing. Arises even Smoot to repudiate and excommunicate and declare Reed clear off his base. What a fate!

MENACE OF THE SHYSTER

Trouble looms at last for the ambulance-chasing lawyer who waxes wealthy on a 50-50 speculation in the damages awarded some maimed victim deserving of all the money compensation obtainable. Trouble also for the lawyer who specializes in fake negligence cases with the aid of doctors and other witnesses willing to perjure themselves to any limit for a share of the winnings.

The prevalence and prosperity of this breed of lawyer, who disgraces his profession, is being exposed in the larger cities. So also is the public being told of his methods and the rottenness of his litigation-stirring practices. And hopeful signs of a wider awakening appear.

Courts, lawyers, juries and legislatures, aroused by the threat against justice and society, are erecting barriers to balk these nefarious practices. Jurists are awake to the fact that the negligence-claim rings make a travesty of justice and trial by jury. Barristers see public confidence in their profession jeopardized. Jurors see themselves as potential victims. Legislatures are spurred to action by public opinion.

It is clear justice that any person maimed or injured through the negligence of a responsible corporation or individual should receive compensation. It is clear justice that an insurance company should play its proper part in settling the claim. But it is far from justice that a lawyer should be permitted and encouraged to look upon such settlements as an open field for speculation on a basis of 50 per cent or better.

Unscrupulous lawyers who resort to prosecute unjust claims, knowing them to be unjust, are forcing the government to take over the whole business of adjusting traffic accident claims, now a prolific source of revenue for lawyers. There is still time to save that business for themselves.

STIMSON LIFTS THE BAN

The unofficial explanation of Secretary Stimson's granting Count and Countess Karolyi permission to visit the United States, after it had been refused by his predecessors, Secretaries Hughes and Kellogg, is that the war has been over so long that their presence can do no harm to the United States.

There is a sharper reason than that. When the visa was first refused, considerable noise was made by the people in this country who believed in free speech and a lot more noise by people who laughed heartily at the idea that Count Karolyi, a pretty respectable Hungarian aristocrat, could accomplish any harm here, even if he made three speeches a day during his temporary residence. The noise and laughter were renewed when Secretary Kellogg followed the policy of Mr. Hughes.

Secretary Stimson no doubt remembers those demonstrations. Then, too, he is not the sort of man to be alarmed by the contemplated visits of foreign ex-statesmen.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

INFIRMITY OF MINNESOTA SENATOR DOESN'T HAMPER FORCEFUL TACTICS

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Senator Schall's big police dog, half growls a curt inquiry (with the broad hint of a warning in it) as you enter his master's office. The senator, however, extends a welcoming (and waiting) hand and waiting, for Thomas D. Schall is the Gopher state's blind lawmaker, of whom we all have heard.

His canine guardian (and guide when the senator stirs abroad) looks on alertly. Proceedings are sufficiently regular thus far. Then, as the senator waves you to a chair—

"G-r-r-r!"—in polite recognition that your status is satisfactorily established—and so long as there is no further interruption, the situation is okay with that dog.

Senator Schall is a short, stoutly-built man with a fighting face and a noticeably thick head of hair (noticeable, that is to say, in the predominantly bald-nobbed senate) which he wears parted in the midle and rather long, somewhat in football style.

The affliction of blindness, which befell him comparatively late in life, when the average individual might have been expected to regard it as bringing an active career to a tragic, disastrous end, appears to have been accepted by the iron-willed Minnesotan merely as a handicap he was all the more determined to overcome.

At any rate, there is not a sign that he counts on a bit more of consideration because of his infirmity, in the rough and tumble of politics. On the contrary, he is as belligerent a senator as comes to Washington.

The Minnesotan is reckoned as one of the farm group, which has "gummed" the tariff bill in the senate, supposedly to the administration's embarrassment and certainly to the grave embarrassment of the Republican old guard.

This takes nerve in a senator who was not originally classed with the radical bloc in the upper house of congress.

The radicals were viewed as outlaws all along and run no especial additional risks by remaining so. There is strong talk, however, to the effect that the national organization is out to get the insurrectos who come up for re-election next year and anyone who joins them now is inviting this danger, whatever it may amount to.

Senator Schall is one of them.

There is every promise of exciting times in Minnesota in the 1930 campaign if outside influences try to break into the state to get Thomas D. Schall.

The senator does not often express himself for all he is worth, but when he does, his remarks are not soon forgotten.

He took occasion, a session or two ago, to answer in the senate certain attacks which had been made on his political record in his home bailiwick, and when he was through not enough was left of his critics for the janitor to sweep out after adjournment.

More recently the Minnesotan chanced to have brought to his attention a record of the Mooney and Billings cases in California and his lawyer soul moved him to give utterance to his opinion of that travesty upon justice, as it seemed to him.

It was not flattering to the succession of governors who, holding the pardoning power in the Golden Gate state since Mooney and Bollings have been in San Quentin, have failed to exercise it in their behalf thus far.

I had dropped in myself to ask the senator's views concerning the recent conviction of the Gastonia textile labor agitators before Judge Barnhill at Charlotte (N. C.).

"Oh," said the Minnesotan, "a trial of that sort, in such a community, is much like the trial of a witchcraft case in Puritan New England.

"The New Englanders extracted a confession if they could, and hanged the witch.

"If she refused to confess, that proved that she was a witch of the most hardened, unrepentant kind; so they hanged her anyway."

MENTAL TREATMENT IMPORTANT IN CURE OF DRUG ADDICTS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In 1927 the public was startled by the announcement that a new method of treating drug addiction had been discovered and that successful trials with this method in penal institutions in New York City had substantiated its success.

Considerable doubt was expressed as to the real value of the method by various scientific publications. As a result, the mayor of New York appointed a committee to study the entire problem of the treatment of the narcotic addiction. This committee, headed by Dr. Alexander Lambert, has just made available its final report.

The committee finds that most of the drugs and preparations forming the basis of the so-called specific cures for a drug addiction have not any value in shortening the withdrawal symptoms or making them less painful.

The quickest and simplest way is to withdraw the narcotic. The withdrawal takes place over a period of three days, during which there may be considerable mental and physical suffering and during which time the patient must have close medical attention. The most humane form of treating drug addiction is to withdraw the drug over a period of two weeks, during which progressively decreasing doses are given.

The disadvantages of this method are the time involved, the absence of the favorable psychologic effect of abrupt withdrawal, and the vigilance required to prevent the addict from obtaining more of the narcotic.

No form of treatment seems to be worth while in stopping the craving for drugs. Sooner or later the desire returns again, and if the person gets the drug, he is likely to become an adict again. The real problem of ridding the adict of his habit permanently seems to be a psychologic and economic problem.

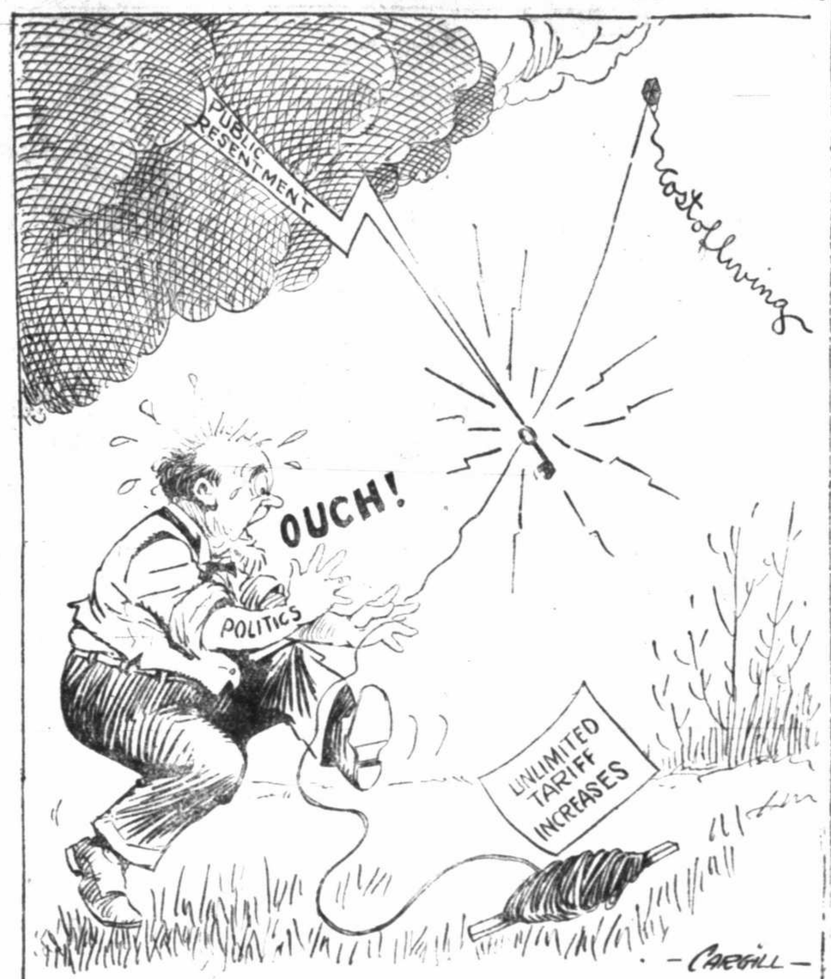

The conditions which cause the adict to crave the drug are usually emotional or material circumstances. A correction of these circumstances is likely to prevent the recurrence of the craving.

It is pointed out that many drug adicts are mentally disturbed or mentally inadequate, and that for this reason also the mental treatment is one of the most significant factors of the control.

It's a queer world where any upstart biographer can decorate the memory of the departed great at will and a guest towel is sacred.

A successful man always runs things; he never walks them.

Anniversary Notes

On Nov. 13, 1793 the South Carolina legislature called a convention to consider secession from the Union as a result of President Lincoln's election.

The convention met on December 20 and immediately passed an ordinance of secession. When the attack on Fort Sumter precipitated the Civil war the following April South Carolina furnished 60,000 soldiers to the Confederate armies, although her young population was only about 47,000.

A provisional governor was appointed in South Carolina at the close of the war and a new constitution adopted. On the refusal of the state to ratify the 14th amendment, a military government was established.

In 1868, another constitution allowing negro suffrage was adopted and the state was re-admitted June 25 of that year.

Today is also the anniversary of John Drew, famous American actor, the son of John Drew and Louisa Lane Drew. Young Drew began his theatrical career under his mother's management in Philadelphia in 1873.

OFFICERS RESTRAINED

HOUSTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—Police Chief Charles McPhail, Sheriff T. A. Binford, Constable Bob Martin, their assistants and two justices of the peace were restrained by court order today from arresting Frank Mitchell and others operating as phrenologists. Judge Ewing Boyd said he was told the phrenologists repeatedly had been arrested without charges being filed or the cases tried.

Today's Poem

[illegible] spirit was sitting in the
Of the looks, my love,
It [illegible] for I see like [illegible] mind
[illegible]
In the brooks, my love,
[illegible] outspeed the tempest's flight,
[illegible]
My heart, for my weak feet were weary soon
Did compassion [illegible]
Ah! fleeter than the fiercest storm or steed
Or the death they bear
The heart which tender thought clothes like a dove
With the wings of care.
In the battle, in the darkness in the need
Shall mine cling to thee
Nor claim one smile for all the comfort, love
It may bring to thee.—Percy B. Shelley (1792-1822.)

Cops Praised For Clean Boom Town

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Much praise for the way Van Zandt county officials have handled the situation arising out of the discovery of oil near Van was given here today by Ranger Sergeant M. T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzaulias, who has made a survey of conditions there.

"Van is the cleanest and most law abiding oil town I have ever been in," the sergeant said. "That this is so is due largely to local officers. They will not tolerate crookedness in any form."

The ranger said about 50 "tough eggs" from the Panhandle showed up in Van, but "sun down" orders were issued and they hurried out of town.

GETS 99 YEARS

Otis Akers Found Guilty Of Robbery Charge

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Deliberating less than 30 minutes, a jury here today found Otis Akers guilty of a charge of robbery by assault in connection with the hold-up of the Rozellas lunch stand on the Iowa Park highway in July, 1928. His punishment was automatically fixed at 99 years in the penitentiary when the jury found, as alleged in the indictment, that Akers previously had been convicted in Dallas county on a charge of robbery.

CLOSES AT BOTTOM

Stock Market Prices Are Carried Downward

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—The stock market closed at a new bottom today after a fresh flood of liquidation had carried prices of scores of leading issues down $1 to $12 a share. Larger declines were recorded in a few ordinarily inactive specialties.

One hundred stocks sold at new low prices for the year. The ticker was running more than an hour late when the closing gong sounded.

REGULATIONS UNCHANGED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—It was said at the department of agriculture today that no changes in the fruit fly regulations have been made recently, but an announcement regarding the situation was expected to be made soon.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BONNIE DUNDEE is a young detective under LIEUTENANT STRAWN of the homicide squad of Hamilton. He takes a room incognito at MRS. RHODES' boarding house to be near a MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, who writes the police for protection of her life and money, throwing suspicion on EMIL SEVIER, a former boarder. Dundee meets MR. and MRS. SHARP, DAISY SHEPHERD, saleswoman; WALTER STYLES, proprietor for a small haberdashery; NORA PAIGE, his fiancee; BERT MAGNUS, an amateur scenario writer; CORA BARKER, theater pianist; HENRY DOWD, a newcomer out of work; TILDA BROWN, new housemaid; and DUSTY RHODES, worthless husband of Mrs. Rhodes. He hears of Mrs. Hogarth's miserliness, that she is room-bound, and that she changes her will constantly to name a new favorite. Norma introduces Dundee to Mrs. Hogarth. He chats with her only a few moments, being interrupted by a stream of callers. He leaves at 11. Norma and Styles go into her room. When Dundee returns at 12:20 he finds Mrs. Hogarth choked to death, the room in disorder, with robbery the obvious motive of the crime. Police, coroner and fingerprint expert arrive.

Strawn takes charge of the investigation. Dundee, from behind a screen in the murder room, takes notes as Strawn quizzes Dowd. A detective reports that SEVIER, a former boarder, left town on the 1 o'clock train, that he ran to catch his train and was hatless. A DR. WEEKS reports having seen a man running down the alley as he went for his car about 12:10 to make a call.

CHAPTER IX

"Yes, I watched him until he disappeared," Dr. Weeks answered. "As soon as the car had straightened up and ran faster than ever out of the alley into Tenth street."

"In the direction the car had taken?" Strawn asked. "Perhaps that car, turning briefly into the alley and flashing its headlights, had been a pre-arranged signal—"

"No. The opposite direction—toward Maple avenue, the street just north of Chestnut, you know. The car turned toward Chestnut."

"Could you distinguish the make of the car or its occupants?"

"No—neither. In fact, I paid no attention to the car. I was watching the man. If I had had my wits about me and had not been in such a hurry to make my call—a pretty sick patient, by the way—I suppose I should have challenged the man or reported the matter to the police. Or if I had known the man to be a former boarder, an evicted one, I should, of course, have notified Mrs. Rhodes of his strange behavior. I have a high regard for Mrs. Rhodes—"

"I'm sure you have, doctor," Strawn interrupted. "And thank you very much. You've helped us a great deal. You'll be needed for the inquest, of course. . . . By the way, doctor, you say you attended Mrs. Hogarth occasionally during the last three or four years. In your opinion, was she — well, mentally normal?"

The doctor chuckled, then remembered he was in a room where murder had been committed a very short time before, and looked embarrassed. One of the shrewdest women I've ever met, Lieutenant Strawn. And the most close-mouthed. She never referred in any way to her past life, even refused to give me the name of any doctor who had previously attended her. She had had a serious major operation—abdominal—and I wanted to write her surgeon and ask a few questions as to what condition he had found, to guide me in treating the old lady. But she absolutely refused to give me any information whatever. A queer woman, but not a crazy woman, I'm sure of that, Lieutenant Strawn."

When the doctor left the room, Strawn spoke briefly to Carraway, the fingerprint expert, who was packing his paraphernalia preparatory to leaving.

"Afraid this bunch of prints I've picked up won't help you much, Strawn," Carraway answered. "The murderer was a wise guy—used gloves, or a handkerchief. No prints at all on the window frame; wiped clean. And none on the trunk lock or the desk drawers. The chambermaid must have dusted in here with an oiled rag some time Saturday, for the desk was clean even of the old lady's fingerprints—except the top of it. I took her fingerprints first thing, and they match with those found on the desk. No prints on the keys either. Found a number of prints on the door inside and out, but since the old lady had a flock of visitors earlier in the evening, I don't think they'll help you much. If the murderer came in by that door, I'll wager he had his wits about him and didn't leave his calling card, since he was so careful everywhere else. But I'll develop the bunch and let you have them for what they're worth."

When Carraway had left, Strawn joined Dundee behind the screen.

"Well, boy, I'm afraid this case is going to be too simple for your tastes," the older detective commiserated, a gleam of triumphant mirth in his eyes.

Dundee grinned amiably, then remarked, very casually, "I wonder why it took Sevier—if it was Sevier the doctor saw—so long to run from here to the station? He was still running when he caught the train, you know. How far is it from the Rhodes House to the Union Station?"

Strawn scowled. "As a matter of fact, it's only about 10 blocks. But that doesn't prove anything, Dundee. Sevier must have known we'd get on his trail because of the old lady's complaints against him. He wouldn't board a train with the swag on him. My idea is that he met a fence somewhere, who undertook to take care of the stuff for him until the police were tired

PERPETUAL CARE

REASONS WHY!

The purchase of a cemetery lot is an obligation that sooner or later will have to be met. Being indispensable, it is better attended to when we may, than when we must. The time to make such choice is when there is abundant opportunity for deliberation and wise selection; not to wait until distracted with grief or worn out with weary watching and care in a sick room.

It is a comforting thought to the survivors to have a place of interment already secured, at beautiful Memorial Park. Prudence suggests that we look forward to future requirements, as the purchase of a lot should be but once in the history of the family.

Interested persons are solicited to visit and inspect beautiful Memorial Park.

of watching him, or released him on insufficient evidence. Either that, or he hid it somewhere, and then barely had time to make the train he had advertised he was going to take. No flies on Sevier," he added admiringly. "As a matter of cold fact, unless we get more on him than we now have, we shan't be able to get a conviction. If we could find that car—whoever swung his lights full on a running man in an alley is going to have a pretty good picture of that man fixed in his mind. Guess I'd better get the papers to help me. Mrs. Rhodes is holding some reporters at bay downstairs now."

It was more than 15 minutes before Lieutenant Strawn returned from his session with the reporters. Dundee had begun to feel sorry for his fellow boarders, all of whom, with the exception of Henry Dowd, were still being held in their rooms to await further questioning.

"Well, that's that!" Strawn commented with satisfaction. "I gave the newspaper boys the low-down on our suspicions of Sevier, but told them to soft-pedal it: just to say that Sevier was wanted for questioning. They ate up the doctor's story of the running man and the car, and are going to ask the driver of the car to come forward, like a good citizen, and tell anything he knows . . . . . say, young feller, me lad, what are you grinning about?" he broke off to demand half angrily.

"I was just thinking," Dundee confessed, his eyes twinkling, "how in my ignorance and inexperience I should have gone about this case."

The careful wording did not deceive Strawn. He flushed, then shrugged. "All right! Spill it! How would you have gone about this case?"

"I'm afraid I should have made an awful lot of work for myself and the police department," Dundee admitted, ruefully. "I should have begun on the supposition that anyone who lived in this house, or who had ever lived in it, or had even taken a meal in it, and had heard the story of a miser with a hidden hoard in her room, was a possible suspect. Greed, you know, is such a universal passion, I believe it is responsible for mor crimes than any other motive, isn't it?"

"Well?" Strawn snorted.

"Of course, I realize that things look bad for Sevier—provided anyone comes forward to identify him as the man running down the alley." Dundee went on, with his disarming smile. "But I can't help remembering lieutenant, that everyone in this house knew Emil Sevier had been evicted on Mrs. Hogarth's complaints, that Sevier had just been fired and therefore would be leaving town to look elsewhere for work and that the police would think of him first as the murderer."

Strawn looked a little startled at the quiet intensity of his new subordinate's last sentence, but he recovered himself quickly and relorted with amused condescension: "You didn't think I was through with my investigation, did you, son? But I take things as they come, and Sevier happened to come first. Now I'll have that Barker woman in now, since she has the room next door—"

"And I also can't help remembering," Dundee went on, with that same quiet emphasis, "that everyone in this house knew that Mrs. Hogarth's reinforced window screen would be installed Monday, making access to her room from the porch impossible. Unless Cora Barker or someone else has been keeping him informed, Sevier could not have known that the screen was not already in place. Mrs. Hogarth told me she had given Dusty Rhodes the money to buy materials for it nearly a month ago. Also, I heard Mrs. Rhodes say, in the presence of all the boarders and 'healers,' that all screens, including Mrs. Hogarth's, would be installed Monday. They are the kind that push up and down, like windows. I noticed the grooves for them in my own window."

"Well?" Strawn barked, as Dundee paused.

The young man shrugged slightly. "It just occurred to me that if the murderer was an inmate of the house, he — or she — would want to do his little job of robbing and murdering before those screens were installed. All the rooms on the front and the east side of this floor have windows opening directly upon the upstairs porch. Without screens on those windows, any border on this floor could step out of a window, creep along the porch to Mrs. Hogarth's window, enter noiselessly, since the windows are low, and steal up on the old lady from behind.

"Once the screens were in, however, the raising of one of the screens might have attracted attention. . . By the way, I said all the roomers on this floor, because those having rooms on the west side of the house, which has no porch, could gain access to the roof merely by walking across the hall, which is T-shaped, you know, with a window opening directly upon the porch. Naturally a roomer on the third floor could have crept down the stairs to this hall, stepped over the hall window sill, sneaked past Cora Barker's room and on to Mrs. Hogarth's on the front porch. In fact, this house, without screens, is an ideally constructed place from a robber's viewpoint. If he doesn't care to board here, he can climb the rose trellis on the west end of the front porch, saunter along that porch and enter any room that strikes his fancy."

"Which is exactly what Emil Sevier did," Strawn caught him up stubbornly. "But don't think I'm going to let that preconceived idea of mine, as the lawyers put it, keep me from catching a new one if it comes along. The papers used to call me 'Third Degree Strawn' — not that I deserved such a harsh title, of course," he grinned.

He strode to the door. "Boyle! Bring in Miss Barker, and tell Payne to follow orders."

A minute later, Cora Barker, escorted by the policeman, appeared in the doorway. Through the screen Dundee could see her face and he almost betrayed his presence by exclaiming in pity.

"Pussyfoot"

must grant you that fact, just as there will always be some robbers and other criminals. But today the prohibition law is being enforced to a greater degree than were the old laws when saloons were wide open. While I lived in New York there were approximately 10,000 saloons there, every one of them going night and day that was contrary to the laws anyone could buy liquor.

Convicting Thousands

"Our federal courts are convicting thousands of violators every year. About 15,000 were sent to jail last year, some 7,000 autos and stills were confiscated which in the main collected almost paid for the expense of enforcement.

Mr. Johnson was in Lubbock under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of America and gave an exposition of the World League against alcoholism in 1915, has been foreign representative of that group. He officer in London while touring the far-away places of the earth. He has just returned from a third trip around the world in the interest of the prohibition cause. He said that he was appalled at the conditions there and the [illegible] of intemperance existing.

Tell of Nicknam

[illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] criminals, the automobile bandit, a crime in this country that is most unusual. Chuckling suitably with newspapermen he chatted when asked the source of his nickname, Pussyfoot.

"Why that has stuck with me throughout my travels and was given many years ago in Oklahoma. While working as a detective in that state I did most of my work under cover of darkness. A gang of cattle thieves singled me out for death and a price was placed on my head. One of my best friends was killed by mistake, the murderer thinking he had accomplished what others had failed to do. That name was tacked onto me by the frontiersmen who compared my undercover work with a cat prowling at night."

On Water Wagon

Mr. Johnson answered frankly when asked whether or not he ever drank. "I haven't taken a drink in many years. Of course while a detective I had to at times, partly as a stimulant and then again to cover my trail.

"That question reminds me of a rather funny incident which happened while I was traveling from Meimein to Rangoon in Burma. I shared a compartment with three priests and during the ride that night they ate. Pulling a bottle of wine from their baggage I was offered a drink but politely declined. The next morning in the rush of leaving the train the priests left their wine and it got mixed with my baggage. I ran to catch them and while I was gone a newspaper reporter found my baggage and of course discovered the wine. The next edition of the Rangoon paper told of my arrival with several bottles of liquor, and there I was a temperance representative. Suffice it to say I had one sweet time explaining the affair to the public."

Other humorous happenings were related by the lecturer, of his embarrassment at times when using interpreters, how at one time when he was quoted as saying for "he was tickled to death," that "he laughed until he died." Another story of his experiences in a small town in India when he was left by a train while looking for water with nothing on but his pajamas, left in a strange town, no money, no baggage and no papers of credit or identification while the train roared on and left him standing in his night clothes.

"My work is very interesting but exceedingly hard. I would not give it up, however. I joined in this work in 1912 and have been with the League ever since."

"I regret that we did not have a large representation at this meeting," he said, "for I wanted to attend the hearing on the $1,025,000 road bond petition with some definite knowledge of Idalou's attitude."

Others who attended the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Earhart, T. M. Nelson, A. L. Kemp, Bailey Guess, Harry McDaniel, T. P. Baker and O. L. Ferris.

Cotton Declines; Market Liquidates

Price Drops Two And Half A Bale For Record Fall

Weakness In Stock Market Contributes To Decline In Tuesday's Session As Readjustments Are Made

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Cotton prices today sagged approximately $2.50 a bale into new low ground for the season. The weakness in stocks together with the necessary readjustment with the decline in New York yesterday when the local market was closed were the contributing factors to the decline. January contracts traded off to 16.83 and closed on a point above that figure for a net loss of 53 points. The general market closed steady at net declines of 44 to 53 points.

Liverpool Lower,

Liverpool cables were lower than due and the market here opened easy in sympathy. First trades showed losses of 24 to 28 points and the market continued to ease under selling induced by the British October textile statistics and the readjustment process. By the end of the first hour active positions showed losses of 39 to 42 points compared with Saturday's close.

Continued weakness in stocks kept prices on the downgrade for the remainder of the morning. December dropping to 16.72, January to 16.86 and March 17.15, or 49 to 53 points net down.

Selling Movement Causes Decline

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—A decline of approximately $1.50 per bale resulted in cotton market today from a continuation of the recent selling movement. Prices for all positions broke into new low ground for the movement with January declining to 16.91 and closing at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 20 to 2 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 7 to 14 points, with active months soon showing net losses of 13 to 18 points under liquidation. The moderate demand attracted by the opening decline was readily supplied with the market showing renewed weakness later in the day under continued liquidation of old long accounts. December broke to 16.77 and May to 17.46. The active months showed net declines of about 21 to 22 points in the late trading.

Trading Is Active In Cattle Market

FORT WORTH, Nov. 12. (AP)—A fair supply of cattle and calves arrived for today's market and trading was fairly active, some sales displaying strength. Two loads of very plain Mexican stags and steers sold at 6.00. Other early sales were at 8.25@10.25.

Bulls sold at unchanged prices, common lights at 5.25@6.75. Slaughter yearlings were barely steady. Top loads sold at 11.75.

Cows Sell Steady.

The bulk of the cows sold early. One load sold at 7.25, canners in carlots sold up to 4.75. Packers paid 8.75@9.50 for calves. Order buyers paid up to 10.50 for their selections with culls at 5.00@5.50.

Hogs steady to 15c higher, truckers displaying most advance. Bulk hogs 9.15 and truckers up to 9.30. Packing sows sold at 7.50@8.00.

Fat wethers 25c lower for the week, two-year-olds at 7.50. Yearlings 9.00 and lambs 11.00@12.00.

Cotton Loans

pound, basis middling seven eights inches staple at the ten designated spot markets, with proper differentials off and on for grade and staple."

WACO, Nov. 12. (AP)—An "unlimited" amount of money will be made available for loans to Texas cotton farmers, whether they are members of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, under arrangements perfected which were being negotiated by long distance telephone between Waco and Washington are successfully completed. The loans will be on a basis of 16.25 cents for middling cotton of 7-8 inch staple, F. O. B. Galveston, which is approximately the selling price of cotton on Tuesday's market.

Interest will be around six per cent.

Progress of the negotiations was made public by Lawrence Westbrook, chairman of the Texas committee named by Governor Moody to work with the federal farm board. Westbrook was in telephone contact throughout the day with Harry Williams, general manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, Williams being in Washington in conference with the farm board.

Williams advised Westbrook, the latter said, that the farm board had Tuesday approved the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association as a lending agency, and had placed at its disposal funds to meet the Texas association's needs, without restrictions as to the amount.

"Mr. Williams, with the approval of the farm board, is arranging for 'cross contracts' between the farm bureau and farmers who are not members of that organization," Westbrook said Tuesday night. "This plan contemplates that the 98 per cent of Texas cotton farmers who are not farm bureau members may receive loans of as much as they could sell cotton for today, without becoming permanently affiliated with the farm bureau. They would be asked to form independent, local associations.

Cattle Trade Marked By Broad Demand Around Eleven Market Circuit Tuesday

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11 market circuit was marked by a fairly broad demand for yearlings at mostly steady prices today, but values on matured steers sagged with several points reporting losses of 15 to 25 cents. Better grades of yearlings commanded a large premium over heavy steers of comparable quality. Chicago scored 15.90 on choice yearlings, while choice weighty steers went at 14.25. Replacement stock found a draggy outlet at a weak to lower undertone. On most classes except the better yearling stockers and feeder steer calves. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 51,900 a decrease of 8,500 from a week ago and slightly less than the corresponding day last year.

Hogs Steady

Hogs were steady to 15 cents lower. The day's extreme top of 9.40 was paid on the close at Chicago. Total offerings were around 92,000 against 116,485 Tuesday and 20,993 a year ago.

Sheep receipts approximated 37,000 a decrease of 14,000 from a week ago and 29,500 short of a year ago. Killing classes were fully steady, with a few markets reporting gains of 25c on fat lambs. Choice native lambs in Chicago cleared at 13.00 while fed westerns at several markets made 12.50.

Crowd Gathers

A large crowd gathered about the scene of the wreck but no one could identify the three men. When brought to Lubbock there were no letters or papers by which their names or addresses could be learned. The third and missing member of the party, who was thought to have been driver of the car was said to have obtained a ride into Shallowater and then into Lubbock. He had not made an appearance for treatment at any local hospital last night and suppositions were that he was unhurt.

O. B. Bradberry and his son, T. M. Bradberry, of this city, were behind the party when the accident occurred and picked one of the men up while another car carried the other, starting toward Lubbock. They were met by the ambulances a short time later.

Attendants at the sanitarium early this morning reported that only slight hope could be held for the recovery of Breedlove while the other man had not regained consciousness.

These agencies are in need of more funds to carry on their work and these needs are being considered by the budget committee preparatory to announcing the total drive quota for the year. Officials of the community chest express opinions that the total number of subscribers will be more than doubled in the coming campaign.

Wheat Reaches To Record Low Level

Wild Rushes To Sell Cause Of Feverish Decline In Grain Market On Tuesday; Values Break

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Wheat, and every other kind of grain as well, dropped today below any price level heretofore reached this season. Wild rushes to sell, especially at the beginning and the end of the day, caused 7c a bushel smash in the wheat market, owing largely to demoralizing effects of severe new breaks in stock exchange values.

Closing prices on wheat were feverish, 6 3-8 to 7c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 2 1-4 to 3 1-8c down; oats 3 1-4 to 3 1-2c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 22c.

Today's first stampede to sell out wheat holdings here came right at the outset of trading, and brought about a vertical maximum drop of 6 1-4 cents in prices.

City Planning

many of whom own considerable property, have voiced a desire during the past few months for an adequate and economic plan to be adopted by which property values may be stabilized for the future and restricted in a reasonable measure the encroachment upon residential property by business and vice versa, and the definite establishment of industrial areas, whereby those owning property in the areas affected may rest secure that the purpose for which the property was secured and that improvements may not be destroyed insofar as usage for which the improvements were made are concerned. It has been pointed out that there is nothing in the city plan idea which is calculated to work any serious injury to anyone but is a carefully thought out plan for Lubbock's future development.

To Require Study

It is quite obvious that a city plan for Lubbock will require more than careful study in order that the best outcome for proper growth may be had. It is the idea of the city commissioners that undue hasts should be avoided but also that they arrive as rapidly as possible to a point where security to the property owner may be realized.

It is considered by the city commission and by the city plan committee of the Board of City Development that expressions should be heard from the citizenship and further, that all should familiarize themselves with the various angles involved in a comprehensive plan.

A vast deal of the preliminary work required of city planning has already been done by the city, along the lines as the preparation of a topographical map of the city, laying of water mains and storm sewers, the proper mapping of same, the reasonable enforcement of the building code in the mercantile section, the purchase of park sites in various parts of the city, construction of subways for the safety of traffic, securing ample water supply and various other factors of improvement in the development of a city plan.

Vision Of Return To Normal Stock Market Shattered

More Than Six Thousand Of Wall Street Shares Are Traded In 3-Hour Session Of Market Tuesday

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. (AP)—Wall Street's visions of a return to stock market normalcy were shattered today by another spasm of liquidation 6,452,700 shares changed hands in the three-hours session, more than double yesterday's turnover, and unsurpassed in a trading period of like duration save for the total of 7,149,390 shares traded on Oct. 31.

The day's break was less drastic, however, than the losses recorded during several days of the recent selling panic, and the bankers consortium felt that emergency measures were uncalled for. Net losses in most leading shares ran from 2 to 20 points, but a few slightly traded issues showed spectacular drops. The ticker ran for two and a quarter hours after the close.

Decline Hastened

The downturn was undoubtedly hastened by the spilling overboard of large holdings caused by the breaking of thin margins in the sharp drop late yesterday.

Most observers were inclined to regard the character of the selling as indicating that a huge amount of necessitious selling still hung over the market. While there arose a widespread feeling that stocks were being reduced to ridiculously low levels, as measured by assets and current earnings, it appeared that the necessitous selling would have to be permitted to run its course.

Johnson Talk

finally caused the destruction of the city.

"Thus is seen the evils of drink among people living many years ago. Furthermore, the effort to get rid of the evils without getting rid of the drink is not original with Americans. Such attempts have been made since the earliest history. But where the drinks exist, evils exist, regardless of who may sell the liquor. It is not the drunkard who suffers most from drink. Wives and little children of drunkards do not drink, yet their suffering is immeasurable.

Idea Spreading

"There is a tendency in every country to get rid of drink so far as public sentiment will permit. Limits are placed on the number of people who can sell liquor and on the days of the week and hours of the day at which it may be sold and it is against the law to sell to little children in almost every country.

"Still, an astonishing amount of drunkenness exists in foreign countries. London is almost the same size as New York City, yet since prohibition, there has been from two to three times as much drunkenness in London as in New York. Paris is about one half the size of New York, yet there is twice the amount of drunkenness in Paris as in New York.

"The same thing exists in every other great foreign city of the world, and still there are those who advise us to accept a European scheme. I hope that America will keep what she has until the situation of some other nation can compare more favorably with the conditions in this country."

MAJOR EBBERT TALKS

"The 'wets' are more energetic than ever in their efforts to bring liquor back," said Major Ebbert in beginning his discussion of "The Unfinished Battle." They have a double advantage of the prohibitionists. In the first place, the great newspapers over the nation are opposed to the law and the opinions of millions are colored by reading the newspapers. In the second place, there is plenty of money with which to fight prohibition. This money comes from Europe. European countries realize that they cannot compete with a sober American and that if prohibition succeeds here, it will be forced upon every other country.

"There is not over 10 per cent and perhaps not over five per cent, of the drinking in America as there would be if we went back to the saloon. If this statement is approximately correct, we are enjoying at least 90 per cent prohibition.

"There is one phase of the problem which is distressing. The children of the public schools of the larger cities are ridiculing the law. They have never seen a saloon and do not know what they are sneering at. If we lose in the battle against liquor, we will lose through the boys and girls, and if we win we will win through them. Our problem is to get the truth to the young people that liquor is a habit forming drug—a poison—and [illegible] the enemy of every boy and girl in America."

Road Bonds

committee will represent the Good Roads association in pleading for the commissioners to call the election within the time prescribed by law.

Endorsement Voted

A motion to endorse the petition was made following discussion of two other petitions placed before the commissioners. These two petitions were circulated in Slaton and Posey. One of them, asking for an election to vote bonds for paving highways number 7 and 9, is signed by 301 citizens. All of these signatures are said to come from residents of those two cities, with perhaps half a dozen Lubbock traveling men who volunteered to sign it.

The other petition contains the signatures of 280 citizens of Posey and Slaton and asks for an election to vote bonds for paving highways 7 and 9 and number 53, from Lubbock through Idalou to the east line of the county.

Neither of these two petitions were circulated other than at Posey and Slaton.

To Discuss Petitions

Charles F. O'Neall, chairman, in opening last night's meeting, explained that these two petitions would be discussed at the hearing this morning. He stated last night's meeting was to determine what action the association would take. Other talks were made by J. H. Hankins, W. D. Benson and Spencer A. Wells.

The committee appointed by O'Neall to represent the general committee includes himself, W. D. Benson, W. R. Blake, B. Sherrod, J. H. Hankins, Sam C. Arnett, C. E. Maedgen, George P. Kuykendall, E. L. Klett, C. E. Gough and J. A. Ritz.

The law governing the county commissioners, regarding this morning's hearing does not seem to make it imperative upon that body to call the election at once. They have the prerogative of continuing the hearing from time to time. To quote from the law:

"The court shall hear such petition and all matters in respect to the proposed road bond election. Any interested person may appear in person or by attorney and contend for or protest against the calling of such election. Such hearing may be adjourned from day to day. If, during it is found that petition is proper, etc., and that the proposed improvements would be for the benefit of all taxable property, situated in such road district, then the court may enter an order directing such election to be held."

The law also states that two or more separate and distinct propositions can not be combined into one and submitted to the voters as a single question at an election so as to have one expression of the voters answer for all.

Thus it is seen that only one of the three propositions before the commissioners can be acted upon in the manner of calling an election.

There is a clause in the law pertaining to calling of elections for a county-wide bond issue which states that the commissioners' court "shall" call an election, if a petition bearing the required number of [illegible] "50 qualified property tax paying voters," whereas in the [illegible] clauses as given above, pertaining to a road district election petition, it is stated that the court "may" call the election.

Two previous country-wide road bond elections were defeated, the first held last December and the next one in January of this year. Votes in the December election stood 1,578 for and 2,292 against. Votes in the January election stood 1,793 for and 1,663 against.

Promotion Of Plan To Run Negroes For Congress In North In Attempt To Weaken Southern Demos Exposed

Senate Lobby Committee Is Told Of Plan By Manager Of Southern Tariff Association Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. —(AP)—Promotion of a plan to run negroes in the north, as democrats, in order "to hold in line" the southern states which favored Herbert Hoover in the last election was attributed to J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff association, today by the senate lobby committee.

Arnold acknowledged correspondence and documents which disclosed the program for "blackening the democratic party." The correspondence said Arnold had taken the proposal up with Vice-President Curtis, who it added referred the scheme along to President Hoover.

Failing Memory

Again accused by Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee of having a "bad case of failing memory," Arnold after some hesitation acknowledged his handwriting on some of the mass of additional correspondence produced.

As for the "blackening of the democratic party" Arnold ascribed that scheme to Vance Muse, a field representative of the Southern Tariff association, saying he had told Muse to "go ahead" but that he thought "it was too much of a dream and impossible of application."

Committee Blamed

A document saying that the idea was to organize the southern republican council and get negro candidates in the race as democrats for congress in St. Louis, Chicago and New York, was produced by the committee.

"Nothing came of the organization," Arnold asserted.

A letter from Arnold to Muse was read by Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee which said Arnold went with the darkey today —e Vice-President Curtis and he thought well of our negro congressman idea, but said it was a matter that should be taken up with Mr. Hoover and that he would talk with Hoover about it."

Not Identified

The "darkey" was not identified.

"Curtis said he thought of getting a better grade of negroes to lead in the south," the letter continued, "but I told him that would not be the complete remedy."

Another letter written by Arnold to Muse said, in regard to the council, that "it all seems to swing around Hoover."

"He seems to have given the impression among his associates that he is personally interested in the south and wants to handle it," the letter added. "I have no doubt he will welcome any aid or assistance but the only thing to do is to go ahead with it."

Later the letter said the "crux of it all is the negro question which the regular republican party cannot solve; they have tried it for 50 years and made no progress."

Popular Reaction To Hoover's Plan Is Heard Tuesday

President Advocates Granting Immunity To Ships Carrying Food In Time Of War; Caution Voiced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP) —Popular reaction to President Hoover's advocacy of granting food bearing ships immunity in war time today eclipsed that which has attended any of his previous expressions on international relations, but notes of caution were sounded in unofficial expressions abroad.

In some places abroad, unofficial commentators saw difficulties because of the use to which some foods might be put in the manufacture of munitions.

Suggestion Excellent

Describing the President's suggestion as an excellent one, Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, said it remained to be seen whether it could "be worked out in practicality."

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking democrat on the foreign relations and naval committees, said the proposition "is worthy of serious consideration and if accepted by all nations would be promotive of peace and would reduce the hardships and brutalities of war."

Would Eliminate War

"If in time of war the starvation of women and children and those not responsible for war could be a glorious consummation," said Senator Johnson, of California, ranking republican on the foreign relations committee.

Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, declined to comment, but he has been one of the foremost among those in the senate who have advocated an agreement guaranteeing the freedom of the seas as a prelude to naval limitation agreements.

The London Daily Times said the suggestion coming from such quarters was sure to receive most prolonged consideration, adding "the arguments he brings forward to support it are a most important contribution to the problem" of freedom of the seas.

Describing the suggestion as revolutionary, the London Daily Telegraph, conservative organ, said it was "less simple than it sounds; that is not to say it is impracticable."

Mexico Awaits Nov. 7th Presidential Elections After Preliminaries Are Wound Up In Whirlwind Show Sunday

Thirteen Persons Wounded In Political Clash As Opposing Forces Line Up For Voting

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—The preliminaries having wound up in whirlwind fashion here Sunday when thirteen persons were wounded in a political clash, Mexico is awaiting the presidential elections November 17 as one who looks forward to something disagreeable with the wish that it were over and out of the way.

In view of an official statement that neither troops nor police will guard the polls election day there is considerable apprehension added to the uneasiness which invariably precedes events such as that scheduled for next Sunday.

Relied On Forces

The public had relied on presence of armed forces at the voting booths to prevent rioting and early indications were that this protection would be afforded. Dr. Puig Casaurano, head of the federal district government and spokesman for President Portes Gil, announced Monday, however, that the law does not permit the maintenance of an armed guard at the polls.

The decision also believed to have been prompted by the government's desire to avoid all appearances of coercion. The president has declared on repeated occasions that federal and state forces would take no hand in the election whatsoever other than to preserve order.

Victory Predicted

The public looks forward to a victory for Pascual Ortiz Rubio, national revolutionary party candidate, as a sure thing, although partisans of the opposing candidate, Jose Vasconcelos, assert they constitute 95 per cent of the qualified voters.

One thing which appears certain is that Ortiz Rubio's opponents will declare his election an imposition.

It will be as difficult for the Vasconcelistas to prove that Ortiz Rubio's election has not been fair as it will be for the latter's supporters to disprove such an assertion.

Vasconcelos will receive the election returns at Cananea, Sonora, near the American border, if newspaper reports from Guadalajara are exact. The reports say that after delivering an address at Guadalajara Sunday the candidate slipped out of the back door of the building where a public meeting was being held and, almost unobserved, boarded a train for Sonora.

Ortiz is at Chapala, near Guadalajara, and either will remain there over election day or come to the capital.
