Nagoya Battered Again; U. S. Casualties Mount

THREE FATALLY HURT IN FIRE TRUCK COLLISION — Their sirens apparently drowning out each other's screaming signals, two units of the Dallas fire department, answering an alarm which proved to be a minor fire, cannon-balled into each other at an intersection, then crashed into a barbecue stand, killing the two drivers, Jack Edward Sullivan and Amil Hahnl, and fatally injuring District Fire Chief F. E. McCarthy. Six others were injured. McCarthy died Wednesday of his injuries. One of the damaged vehicles is shown above inside the wrecked stand.

Big Nations Stand Pat On Peace Power

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—A United Nations conference committee voted today to stand pat on a big-power plan for enforcing peace through a compact security council of eleven member nations.

In the process, it hammered down in rapid-fire order a host of small and middle power proposals for more authority for themselves in this all-powerful agency of a proposed world organization.

But as the conference entered its fourth week, big and little countries were in substantial accord on most points, and the American delegation decided it was time to press for a speedy wind-up of the job of drafting a world charter.

Start On Trusteeships

Some progress was achieved on the biggest issue still before the conference — trusteeships — although whatever is decided about establishing guardianships for dependent or strategic areas of the world may turn out to be somewhat meaningless in individual cases.

The reason is that under present plans a country having a mandate left over from the last war, or one assigned a mandate at the peace table after this world conflict, would have the right to say whether the area should be brought under supervision of a new league.

Nevertheless, a conference committee accepted, as something on which it could go to work, an American-drafted combination of all the trusteeship ideas of the Big Five—France, Britain, China, Russia, and the United States.

Any country that wants to, including the Big Five, can propose changes in it.

Fundamental Points

The trusteeship system would be pledged to four fundamental points: 1. Maintenance of international security; 2. Maintenance of the security of the administering country; 3. Social, economic and political advancement of the native populations; 4 Safeguarding of the area's natural resources.

As a result of action in another committee, the composition of the security council will be what the four countries sponsoring the conference have recommended — subject of course, to later approval by the entire conference.

It will have five permanent members — France plus the spon-

WPB Says 200,000 New Passenger Cars Probable This Year

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP) —The War Production board said today that on the basis of available information" 200,000 passenger cars will be produced late this year.

Henry P. Nelson, in charge of automobile reconversion for WPB, said "it looks now" as though production can be stepped up to 400,000 cars in the first three months of 1946, with annual output at the rate of 2,000,000.

Nelson told a news conference that production of 200,000 cars this year was recommended to WPB today by members of the automobile industry advisory committee.

"That looks like a pretty good approach right now," Nelson stated, adding that the figure is based on expected availability of materials.

No decision has been reached, he said, as to when the industry will get a go-ahead to produce cars, but WPB expects to "come up with an answer just as soon as possible."

U. S. 21ST BOMBER COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Thursday, May 17—More than 500 American Superfortresses were thrown against Japan's aircraft and industrial center of Nagoya before dawn today in the second full-power incendiary strike there in 68 hours.

Seeking to completely neutralize the war industries in Japan's third largest city, the great force of B-29s brought the highly concentrated industrial area of southern Nagoya under bomb sights. The target area for today's raid adjoins the city's inner harbor and estuary docks.

Large Plants Main Targets

Major targets for the 3,500 tons of fire bombs turned loose by the sky giants of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's command included the sprawling Mitsubishi aircraft assembly plant, called the largest of its kind in the world—bigger than Willow Run in the Detroit area—and the Atsuta factory of the Nagoya arsenal which is one of Japan's most important producers of aircraft engine parts, artillery and ordnance pieces.

This morning's raid—second on Nagoya in three days—was the third in a series of fire bomb attacks on the big industrial center. The daylight attack by more than 500 B-29s May 14, struck the northern sector of the city where fires still were observed burning today in the area of small factories and home "shadow" producers of small parts for war industries.

Other Nagoya Fire Raid

In the first Nagoya fire raid March 9 a 5.9 square mile area in the central part of the city was burned out.

Cloudy weather has so far prevented conclusive photographic reconnaissance estimates of damage achieved at Nagoya May 14, but Superfort pilots declared that without doubt the raid was highly successful.

Japs Pay 11 To 1 For Deaths On Okinawa

3,781 Yanks Dead Among 20,950 On Island; Nip Losses Set At 47,543

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Thursday, May 17—Okinawa, longest, bloodiest campaign of the central-far eastern Pacific, has cost the lives of 3,781 doughboys and Marines and total U. S. casualties of 20,950, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported today.

Japanese losses on Okinawa were 46,505 killed and 1,038 captured through Tuesday's fighting.

Total U. S. casualties on that far western Japanese bastion, only 325 miles south of the enemy's homeland, exceed American losses on Iwo Jima (19,938) by 1,012. However, more Americans were killed on Iwo, 4,189, than so far have fallen on Okinawa.

Battle Far From Over

The Okinawa battle is far from ended. Today's communique said the front lines there remained substantially unchanged, with the Yanks still trying to take the towns of Naha and Shuri.

America's Okinawa casuality report, through Monday, was for 45 days of savage battling on an island of some 300 square miles. Iwo figures were for the 26 days it required to capture that volcanic heap of only eight square miles.

Japanese casualties on Okinawa are nearly double their losses on Iwo, where 23,244 were killed and 1,038 taken prisoner. These figures include some 2,000 killed since victory-day on that island.

Total Casualties

U. S. casualties for the Okinawa-Ryukyus campaign, including carrier plane raids on Japanese home islands, are 27,803, including 6,853 Navy officers and men dead, wounded or missing. Navy figures, March 18 through May 9, were 1,283 killed, 3,498 wounded and 2,072 missing. Nimitz has not estimated Japanese casualties resulting from naval strikes, including sinking of the super-battleship Yamato and other ships.

U. S. casaulties on Okinawa reported by Nimitz today were:

Killed—2,771 soldiers; 1,010 Marines.

Wounded—11,675 soldiers; 5,329 Marines.

Missing—129 soldiers; 36 Marines.

Evidence Fierce Fighting

These figures were evidence of the fierceness of the fighting on the southern Okinawa line the past week, where doughboys and Leathernecks are fighting desperately to smash the "little Siegfried line."

The Sixth Marine division yesterday made small gains around Naha, the island's capital city, on the west coast but the front lines remained "substantially unchanged," Nimitz' communique stated.

Fighting for Naha and Shuri, considered the key to cracking the Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru line extending four miles across a waist of the island, cost the Americans 1,097 killed in the past week alone. Total casualties for the week were 4,425. Thus, in that seven days from May 7 to May 14, American dead were a far greater proportion of total casualties than for the full Okinawa campaign, now in its 47th day.

Nimitz' figures for May 7 were 2,107 soldiers and 577 Marines killed; 10,402 soldiers and 2,800 Marines wounded and 501 soldiers and 38 Marines missing, a total of 14,625.

MARINES IN NAHA

OKINAWA, Thursday, May 17 (AP)—Patrols of the Sixth Marine division crossed the Asato river estuary and entered the main part of Naha, Okinawa's capital city, today.

This put troops of the 10th U. S. Army in, or on the doorsteps of, Okinawa's three largest towns. The other two are Fortress Shuri and Yonabaru.

The big increase in Marine casualties was directly due to transfer of the First and Sixth Marine divisions to the southern front after they had conquered the northern half of Okinawa against comparatively light opposition.

Last previously announced Japanese casualties were 38,837 through May 9. Thus the enemy lost far more heavily than the Yanks as ferocity of the battling, often hand-to-hand with knives and fists, increased. Japanese thus were killed at the rate of more than 1,200 a day, Nimitz's figures adding 7,648 to the total for six days.

This period included enemy attempts at infiltration and several counterattacks, chiefly around

Clay Says Germans Must Earn Way Back Through Program Of Sweat, Discipline

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, May 16—A program of sweat and discipline under which Germany will have to earn her way back into the community of nations under strict military control was laid down by the Allies today.

The so-called German government of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz was declared officially to be only a temporary stop-gap, "fully controlled" by the Allies while it fulfills a useful purpose.

A supreme headquarters statement said Doenitz "and certain other selected German officers" were being used only temporarily as an instrument for facilitating the surrender and disarmament of German forces and were acting under complete Allied control.

Doenitz Only "Being Used"

The formal statement made clear that there was no thought of recognizing Doenitz and his "Flensburg group" as a German government. So far as the Allies are concerned, Count Ludwig Schwerin von Krosigk "does not exist" as Doenitz' foreign minister.

This was underscored by Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Gen. Eisenhower's deputy for the occupation of Germany. "The Allied government of Germany is going to be military, and the Germans are going to know it is military," declared Clay.

Asked specifically whether Doenitz and Hermann Goering were prisoners of war, Clay replied "they are." He did not specify what had been done with Doenitz—if anything, yet—but he said a special place or places of confinement for prisoners of this sort — Germany's military government party—(six words censored) had been prepared and indicated some prisoners already had been taken there.

Full Allied Supervision

In London, Prime Minister Churchill told Commons that it was the Allied aim that "the Germans should administer their country in obedience to Allied directions." The British leader added that "we have no intention of undertaking the burden of administering Germany ourselves."

It was not immediately clear how these statements fitted into the pattern of the yet to be determined future of Germany, but

Big Jap-Bound Nazi U-Boat Surrenders

By POPE HALEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 16 — A huge German submarine, Japan-bound with three luftwaffe generals, surrendered Sunday to a U. S. destroyer escort, the Navy disclosed today in a stirring account of the long and victorious battle of the Atlantic.

Capture of the big craft 500 miles east of Newfoundland was announced simultaneously with a disclosure that Japanese subs have been prowling the Atlantic and that one was sunk off Iceland last summer.

Two Japs Found Dead

Admiral Jonas Ingram, Atlantic fleet commander, made the announcement at a "now it can be told" news conference.

In addition to the three luftwaffe major generals aboard the 1,600-ton German submarine, Ingram said, the boarding party found the bodies of two Japanese who had committed hari kari just before the surrender. The submarine also carried German aviation plans and equipment, Admiral Ingram said.

First naval district headquarters at Boston said the submarine, the U-234, is expected to arrive at the Portsmouth, N. H. Navy yard Saturday.

More Disclosures

The victorious conclusion of the battle of the Atlantic, which whipped the German submarine menace and had a major share in turning the tide of the European war, permitted these further disclosures:

1. The U. S. Navy sank at least 126 German U-boats during the war.

2. The Nazi submarine U-505 was captured intact off French West Africa last June by the crew of the baby carrier Guadalcanal, the first U. S. Navy capture of a foreign enemy warship on the high seas since the war of 1812.

3. Admiral Ingram, who warned of the possibility of German buzz bombs attacks on the east coast last winter, declared today "I don't take back a word I said," although no attacks materialized.

Admiral Ingram said two Japanese submarines were known to be operating in the Atlantic last summer. One was damaged but got away. Later another was found

Vets Head For Home June 1

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, May 16 (AP) — The first group of American veterans —more than 15,000 strong—with scores above the 85 required discharge points to their credit, will head for the United States June 1, supreme headquarters announced today.

Composed almost entirely of men with combat experience, the group will include 12,000 from the 12th Army group (U. S. First, Third and Ninth armies), 3,000 from the Sixth Army group (U. S. Seventh Army and French First), and 500 from the air forces. Less than two per cent of the total will be officers.

Transportation Short

"The number is restricted this month because of a transportation shortage but will be increased substantially next month," the announcement said. Men of the Army Service forces and more men from the air forces will be included in the next month's quota.

Headquarters said each division was assigned its proportionate share of this month's quota. The divisions deepest in Germany will fly their men to the processing centers if necessary.

Shipment of men over 42 has started already and it is expected that by the end of June all 11,000 enlisted men over that age will have been sent home for discharge.

U. S. Anxious To Open War Trials

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP) — The United States signified today that it is anxious to get started on sorting out the Axis culprits who will be tried for European war crimes before an international court.

It has named its top prosecutors and the White House expressed hope that Great Britain, Russia and France will appoint theirs as soon as possible.

Jackson Names Aides

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, recently designated by President Truman as this country's chief war crimes prosecutor, announced selection of three assistant's: Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, Sidney S. Alderman and Francis M. Shea.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, voicing the White House hope that the other Allied powers would appoint their prosecutors soon, added in a statement:

"In the opinion of our government, the determination of who are the top criminals to be tried by an international court should be left to the prosecuting lawyers."

The difference between the trial body yet to be created and the War Crimes commission now sitting in London was noted by Ross as it was earlier by President Truman in anouncing Jackson's appointment.

Ross explained that the present war crimes group is sitting as a sort of grand jury returning indictments against suspects. The international tribunal being formed will try only the major criminals, he said, those like Goering and Himmler, whose crimes have no particular geographical location.

"Most of those indicted," he said,, "will, under the terms of the Moscow agreement, be returned to the country where the crime was committed."

Long With Government

Donovan, a lawyer-soldier who has been a government trouble shooter intermittently since the Coolidge administration, presently is chief of the highly secret office of strategic services.

He emerged from the first World war with a Congressional Medal of honor as leader of the famous "Fighting 69th;" a lieutenant colonel's rank and the now wornout nickname of "Wild Bill." A Republican, he was an assistant attorney general under President Coolidge. Because of the secrecy surrounding O.S.S. and his extensive European travels in 1940 and 1941, he became known as the "mystery man" of World war II.

One A Railroad Man

Alderman, 52-year-old native of Greensboro, N. C., is general solicitor for the Southern railway. He served overseas as a captain in the last war.

Shea has been an assistant attorney general since 1939 in charge of the claims division. He is 39 and a native of Manchester, N. H.

Jackson also announced the appointment of two Navy lieutenants as members of his staff. One, James B. Donovan, no relation to the general, is general counsel of O.S.S. The other, Gordon Dean, was Jackson's special assistant when he was attorney general.

Japs On Mindanao Being Rooted Out

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, May 17—Trapped Japanese continued to fight savagely Tuesday on two of three Mindanao fronts but doughboys slowly were rooting them out of entrenched positions.

The veteran 24th Infantry division was locked in close combat with a major force north of Davao. It repulsed another heavy counterattack.

The 31st division, fighting northward on Sayre highway in central Mindanao, pushed within eight miles of the Valencia airbases. Less than 60 miles to the north, the 40th division was meeting strong resistance below captured Del Monte air center and made only slight progress.

Chinese Say Jap Drive Smashed

CHUNGKING, May 16. (AP) — The high command announced tonight that the Japanese drive on the U. S. 14th air base at Chihkiang in Hunan province had been completely smashed in one of the most important Chinese victories of the war and that a considerable force of enemy had been trapped.

Heavy street fighting was continuing in the east coast treaty port of Foochow with severe casualties on both sides. The Chinese broke into the town last Friday and bitter fighting has raged since. The high command gave no further details.

A large force of enemy troops cut off from their main base at Poaching from which the abortive Hunan offensive started April 9 was reported by the Chinese combat command to be attempting to escape through the Chinese lines.

Prague Broadcasts For Help For POW

The Prague radio broadcast an urgent appeal to the United States and Britain today for immediate and large scale help for American and British prisoners and 25,000 other inmates of a Nazi concentration camp at Terezin, northeast of Prague.

OWI recorded the broadcast.

The inmates were said to need food urgently, as well as bandages and other medical supplies. Some 5,000 were reported ill. The broadcast said there were 700 cases of typhus and 3,000 cases of dysentery. From 80 to 100 were reported dying daily.

Terezin is in the territory overrun by Russian armies.

Essair, City Sign Airport Agreement

Temporary lease agreement for use of the former municipal airport hanger at South Plains Army Air field by Essair, Inc., which plans to start airline service into Lubbock within the next few weeks, was signed by members of the City commission in a special meeting Wednesday afternoon at City hall.

Members of the City Airport board, A. F. Holt, R. F. Hinchey and Robt. H. Bean, had previously signed the agreement for the board. Commissioners W. B. Price, J. Ray Dickey and Fred H. Childress signed the agreement for the commission, Mayor O. W. Ribble and Commissioner Hub Jones being out of town.

H. N. Sweeney of Dallas, traffic manager, represented Essair in the negotiations.

Sweeney said the company now had four planes available for airlines service and that inaugural and proving flights were expected to be started the latter part of May. He said mail would be carried in the flights for at least two or three weeks before passengers would be accepted.

Two flights daily are planned through Lubbock daily. The line will operate from Houston to Amarillo, via Austin, San Angelo, Abilene and Lubbock. Lockheed-Electra planes carrying a two-man crew and nine passengers will be flown.

The agreement calls for a monthly rental payment at the rate of $1 per square foot per annum for 120 square feet of the hanger space.

The airlines company will remodel, redecorate the space and render it suitable for air carrier terminal and provide and maintain janitor service for the space occupied, the money expended in remodeling and redecorating to be deducted from monthly rent payments to the city.

The south section of the old brick hanger will be the space to be occupied.

The city agrees, in the contract, to maintain roads and driveways to the building and general maintenance of buildings and grounds, paying all utilities.

Essair agrees, under the con-

More Cigarets For Civilians Expected

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP) — Cigaret manufacturers said today an improvement in the civilian supply could be expected within two to three months.

The bearish comment came from the National Association of Tobacco distributors: "The situation will ease during the rest of 1945 but civilians still will have to stand in line."

In Washington the Army and Navy announced that the armed forces will ration cigarets, cigars and smoking tobacco at military and naval establishments and prisoner of war camps in the United States, starting June 3.

Ration cards will enable military personnel, their dependents and authorized civilian employes to receive six packages of cigarets or 24 cigars of four ounces of smoking tobacco weekly. War prisoners will get only tobacco.

News Briefs

Only 11 persons visited H. D. McKechnie, priorities analyst from the El Paso district office of the War Production board, Wednesday at the chamber of commerce and only 10 had seen him the day before. McKechnie said he would not return here until the middle of June and in the meantime persons wishing information on priorities may contact the El Paso office. Because of revocations of orders by the WPB, a much larger visitation had been expected during his stay here.

J. M. Gunn, vice president and agency director of the Pyramid Life Insurance Co., Little Rock, Ark., and Brent Newell, conservation manager of the same concern, are here on business with R. L. Ewing and Ben Washburn, who operate the company's Lubbock branch offices.

Recommendations are being received by Ray Chappelle, head of the department of agricultural Education at Texas Tech from superintendents and vocational agriculture teachers for the annual awarding of Sears-Roebuck scholarships for freshman agriculture students at the college. Announcement of winners will come within the month, Chappelle stated, with at least $100 for each boy and at least 10 winners to be named. The scholarships come from the Sears foundation fund at Chicago.

Commission Gives June Oil Proration

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—The railroad commission today announced an oil proration order for June calculated to result in average daily crude output of 2,171,706 barrels.

The daily allowable was set at 2,312,786 barrels but underproduction of 6.10 per cent of allowable, an estimate of commission engineers, will reduce production to an average of 2,171,706 barrels a day.

The total petroleum liquids production, including 164,136 barrels of condensates and distillates, will be 2,335,842 barrels daily in June, 2,842 more than certified by the Petroleum Administration for War. Texas' crude production in June will exceed the PAW crude certification by 1,706 barrels.

The June production pattern permits 24 general producing days, 24 for East Texas and 30 for the Panhandle. For this month there are 25 general and East Texas producing days and 31 for the Panhandle.

The commission changed only two net allowables in major fields. Hawkins was decreased from 37,291 barrels to 34,087 and Talco was cut from 20,408 to 19,420.

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Jubal R. Parten, Houston, Tex., oil man who was appointed industrial adviser on the Allied reparations commission, left by plane today for Texas to attend to personal business affairs before going to Moscow.

Edwin W. Pauley, head of the American section of the Reparations commission, said he had virtually to "draft" Parten because of the latter's reluctance to leave the country in the face of previously scheduled business appointments.

Pauley described the appointment of Parten, former director of transportation for the Petroleum Administration for War, as a "gratifying addition to my staff."

Evidence On Top-Flight Nazis Due For Submission To Justice Jackson.

By EDWARD E. ROBERTS
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 16 (U.P.) — The United Nations War Crimes commission has completed its cases against all top-ranking Nazis, including members of the government and general staff, and is ready to turn the evidence over to Justice Robert Jackson, chief American prosecutor, the United Press learned today.

Col. Joseph V. Hodgson, American representative on the commission, said "justice will be done expeditiously."

Agreement Sought

Hodgson said that if the western Allies and Russia agree upon a trial by a military tribunal, as proposed by the United States, prosecution could begin without delay.

Once such a tribunal is agreed upon, a group of between 25 and 30 Nazi leaders, including Hermann Goering, will be tried. Heinrich Himmler, if captured alive, will be included.

Members of the German general staff who have been linked with special atrocities have been placed on the commission's war criminal list, it was reported.

Jackson and possibly four co-prosecutors will present the evident.

Jurisdiction Stated

Jurisdiction of Jackson and his colleagues, one each from Great Britain, Russia, France and one other Allied nation, will extend only to the Nazi arch criminals. Thousands of minor Nazis will be tried by lower tribunals which may be esatblished by SHAEF or the Allied control commission for Germany.

Hodgson, formerly attorney general of Hawaii, has been the champion of the military tribunal plan which has won official sponsorship by the United States.

Although the War Crimes commission at one time recommended establishment of an international civil court for the trial of major war criminals, a majority of the members now are believed to favor the military tribunal plan as more practical.

"The United States has utilized military tribunals for the punishment of war criminals following every war in our history," Hodgson said. "It has proven to be a practical and satisfastory answer to a difficult problem."

'Coddling' Of Nazis Berated

By ROBERT DOWSON
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 16. — The Moscow radio joining the clamor over purported coddling of captured German leaders, said today that the "only fit way of dealing with such criminals is the hangman's noose."

Indignation mounted in London with disclosure that Willie Messerschmitt was living in a pleasant residential district of London, the city his planes helped to wreck—living in luxury and comparative freedom, British newspapers said.

Denounces Interview

An English language broadcast from Moscow denounced the interviewing of Reichsmarshall Hermann Goering by Allied correspondents. The radio said it was like talking to "a murderer who has just killed a child and is still carrying a blood-covered hatchet."

After describing the hangman's noose for "such criminals," the broadcaster attacked a Flensburg radio report that the Germans had some control over themselves and added:

"It is not Martinis or fried chicken that will tame the Hitlerite gangster. They need a radical cure. Sensation-seeking reporters would do better to go to Hollywood for a scoop interview."

British newspapers said Messerschmitt, Germany's No. 1 plane designer, was living a life of luxury in handsomely outfitted apartments. Authorities refused to give any details of how Messerschmitt was being treated.

Apartments Taken Over

The St. John's wood apartments in which Messerschmitt was known to be staying were taken over by the air ministry to handle repatriated war prisoners and German prisoners. The possibility was seen that Messerschmitt was being held here for special questioning by British air experts.

The Evening News said "Willie is well fed, and with a single escort can wander around London." The Evening Standard said he went for a half-hour walk in the sun today with three German companions and a RAF corporal as escort. The Germans talked together, the newspaper said, and once stopped to examine potatoes at a grocery.

ON WORRYING

ACCORDING to friends who express themselves by colloquialisms, we have always been a "great hand to worry." However, as we grow older we are convincing ourself it is a useless habit and one that helps promote gray hair and lined foreheads and gets you no where.

In discussing this subject with our intelligent co-workers Wednesday morning, the Woman's Angle confessed she had been unable to drop off to sleep the night before because she knew there was something she had intended to worry about and couldn't remember what it was.

"Golly," said C. W. Ratliff, who rarely listens to anything we say and thereby misses many interesting morsels, "I don't blame you, if I had gotten to that state I'd be worried too."

"You know me, I don't worry about anything," put in Mrs. Marjorie Ann Watson, "especially," she added, "if it's something I can't do anything about."

THE Woman's Angle doesn't know what quirk causes some people to worry while others go blissfully on their way with the sun ever shining. It's the petty wories of everyday life that irk us and we are looking for a solution. Perhaps it was offered recently by a clergyman who suggests that you learn to do one thing at a time. As he said, even an hour glass, no matter how hard it is shaken, releases only one grain at a time. And of course no matter how much or how little we trouble or how anxious we become over problems, they will all be straightened out for better or worse. It's the possibility of them being worse that worries us.

7TH WAR LOAN DRIVE

THE Seventh War Loan drive which started Monday will end June 30 and the individual quota, the biggest to date, is 7 billion dollars, 4 billions in E bonds alone.

The battle of Japan has just begun. It must be backed up, paid for by a free people, intent on sweeping the Pacific clear of fascist hate forever. With the war in the West the first and major concern of many people for so long, they have not yet been able to go all-out in the East. But neither has the Jap fortunately.

The war to crush Japan will be bigger, tougher and longer than most Americans expect. As far as Japan is concerned the outer Empire and the men who defend it—are expendables. The Jap will fight the Battle of Japan from inside the inner Empire, of which Iwo Jima was an outpost. And Iwo Jima, according to Admiral Nimitz, was a pattern of the resistance our forces may expect to meet in future offensives.

THE single greatest obstacle to our crushing Japan is distance. While in the Battle of Europe supply ships from our bases in England had on overnight run to make, ships in the Pacific have long-reach round trips taking up to 5 months to make.

Millions of fighting men—freshly outfitted and equipped—will have to be moved from Europe halfway around the globe; and supplied day-in, day-out by hundreds of new ships now under construction. More of everything will be needed. More B-29's. More tanks, half-tracks, jeeps and trucks. More rockets, mortars, airborne radar.

These are just some of the 101 ways in which your dollars are needed more than ever to bring America's might to its full strength, so that we may crush the foe, put an end to killing and bring our men back home.

It's up to us to furnish the money by investing in Seventh War Loan. If we put every dollar over rock-bottom expenses into the purchase of war bonds, we are delivering a blow to the danger of wartime inflation, thus putting a lid on the cost of living and maintaining intact the purchasing power of the dollar.

VOICE PERSONALITY

ALICIA HART in her Beauties' Hints suggests that practicing your "company voice" on everyone who listens to you will soon set you apart as a girl with personality.

Before uttering a sound, group words into phrases, making each phrase express a complete and forceful idea. This method of waiting to speak until you have something to say will enforce interest in your words, Miss Hart points out.

Lower the voice and slow up your speech is the keynote. Your best tone should be pitched neither too high nor too low but hit a good middle-of-the-road pitch.

The south uses more cord wood than any other region.

Administration Wins First Round In Tough Tariff Program Tussle

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) — The first round in the 1945 tariff fight went to the administration today when the House Ways and Means committee approved, 14 to 11, legislation to extend and broaden the reciprocal trade program.

Republicans voted solidly against the bill giving the President new tariff-cutting powers but the 10 GOP committeemen were joined by only one Democrat, Rep. West of Texas.

Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, ways and means Republican leader, declared "the majority today voted to create unemployment when the war ends." He predicted a sizzling battle when the legislation comes to debate on the House floor next Tuesday.

At Underwood Act Levels

The State department has said the legislation would permit a return to the tariff levels of the Underwood act, not item by item but on an average basis, and would increase foreign trade, create more jobs in this country, and contribute to international cooperation and world peace.

The measure would extend the reciprocal trade act, which otherwise expires June 12, for three years and authorize the President to trim tariffs up to 50 per cent under the prevailing rates of January 1, 1945, in return for concessions from other nations.

Under present law the executive can cut duties 50 percent below the rates of the Hawley-Smoot law of 1930, the last Republican tariff act.

Three Amendments

Three amendments were written into the pending bill, some of which affect tariff reductions already made, as follows:

1. By Rep. Anderson (D-NM)—no emergency reduction made in tariff levels during war time, to bring in needed materials such as strategic metals, shall be used as the basis of changes in rates under the new authority.

2. By Rep. Mills (D-Ark)—suspended trade agreements, such as that with Czechoslovakia nullified when Germany invaded that country, shall not be automatically renewed. If pacts are to be reached with such countries, negotiations must start from scratch.

3. Also by Mills—the War and Navy department must be consulted in the negotiation of any future trade treaties, with the view of special consideration for industries needed in the national defense.

Knutson Plan Rejected

The committee rejected 14 to 11 proposals by Rep. Knutson to erase the additional tariff cutting power and to extend the reciprocal trade act for only one year.

By the same vote it also turned down Republican amendments proposing: 1. Court review when any citizen feels injured by trade treaty provisions (offered by Rep. Gearhart of California); 2. A ban against any article being imported at less than cost of production in the United States; 3. Veto power for the Senate over trade pacts; and 4. A provision that concessions granted in a trade treaty shall be extended only to those other countries "that do not discriminate against American products."

Marine Buddy Of Witt Brings News To His Family Here

There doesn't seem to be a limit to the things a serviceman will do for his buddy. At any rate, Sgt. Richard C. Mahrle, USMCR, of Kansas City, went to a lot of trouble to reassure the family of Pfc. Everett J. Witt who was killed in action on Saipan June 15.

Sgt. Mahrle and Pfc. Witt were together at Camp Pendleton, Calif., before going to the Pacific and were in the invasion of the Marshall islands together. Then, in the first landings on Saipan, Pfc. Witt was fatally wounded by shrapnel 10 minutes after hitting the beach, and died minutes later.

Sgt. Mahrle landed the following day and found the two stretcher-bearers who had taken his friend to the hospital and they took him to where the body was. He removed the personal effects from the pockets of Pfc. Witt's clothes so that the family might have them and obtained all of the information possible about how he died.

Recently Sgt. Mahrle was flown home to attend V-12 school after going through the Iwo Jima campaign. While on leave he took part of his time to come to Lubbock and spend three days with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Witt, 2517 Twenty-second, parents of his friend, then returned to Kansas City to be with his family for the remainder of his leave.

Students Named To Head Publications

Mrs. Dick Cozby, publication director, said staff members had been appointed for the two Lubbock High school publications for next scholastic term.

Mary Faye Bonds was named editor of the school newspaper, The Westerner World, and Gloria Novak editor of the school annual, The Westerner. Other appointments include Mary Lou Lindsey and Jackie Muller as associate editors of the newspaper and Oleta Stewart as assistant editor of the annual.

Marion Woods will be business manager for the annual and Ray Simmons business manager of the newspaper. Lila McNabb and Mary McGowan will continue as bookkeepers of the newspaper and Harold Wall will keep his present position as sports editor.

Resigning staff heads are Joyce Yocum, editor of the annual; Marijane Grace and Margene Fry, co-editors of The Westerner World; Jo Rae Watson, business manager of the annual; Fred McDonald, business manager of the paper. Rue Copeland has served as associate editor of the annual.

Mule Dowell Gets Naval Decoration

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP) — The Navy said today that the Legion of Merit medal was awarded in flight deck ceremonies aboard an aircraft carrier in the Pacific recently to Lt. Gwyn C. Dowell, USNR, whose wife, Martha Elizabeth, son, and daughter, live at Lubbock, Texas.

The citation said the award was for Dowell's distinguishing himself by exceptionally meritious conduct in performance of duties as an officer of an escort carrier during her action in the Southwest Pacific.

Dowell was one of the all-time greats of Texas Tech, playing fullback with the Red Raiders in the early 30's, then playing for a short time with the Chicago Cardinals in professional football.

Dowell returned to Texas Tech in 1939 as business manager of athletics. At the arrival here of Morley Jennings in 1941, Dowell became assistant athletic director at Texas Tech, and held this post until he went into the Navy.

Shallowater Defeats Lubbock Sandlotters

Manager Billy Kelley's Community Center baseball nine journeyed to Shallowater Wednesday afternoon, and dropped a 4 to 1 decision to the Shallowater High school nine, champions of the South Plains High School league.

It was a pitchers battle all the way, with Dean Galey besting Mickey McCollum in a pitching duel. Galey limited the Lubbock nine to two hits over the seven inning route, while McCollum was nicked for only three hits by the Shallowater nine.

Demaret Leads In PGA Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, May 16 (AP) — Sailor Jimmy Demaret of the Corpus Christi Naval Air station and a former national linksman of note, toured the long Fort Sam Houston golf course in 70 strokes to take the lead at the end of the first round in the Texas P. G. A. championship golf tournament.

Four strokes behind with 74's were Sammy Schneider of Corpus Christi, Raymond Gafford of Fort Worth, Milton Demaret of Houston and Jimmy Gamewell of Hobbs, N. M. Tod Menefee, local country club pro, had a 75 as did Todd Houck of Borger and Lefty Stackhouse of Seguin.

Leading serviceman in the new flight was Ashley Loafea, Los Angeles professional now in the Army and pro at the Fort Sam Houston course. Loafea carded a 72 with a brisk north wind and long course handicapping him and all other golfers.

Convalescants also got in for honors, with overseas vets carding nice scores under handicaps. Pfc. Rowe H. Hart of Brooke Gen. hospital, Fort Sam Houston, had an 81. Hart lost an eye in combat. Sgt. C. Hall and Sgt. R. J. Labrie, both of McCloskey hospital, Temple, had 94 and 99, respectively. Hall has a paralyzed right arm and Labrie played with one leg.

Cliff Dean To Enter San Antonio Events

Cliff Dean, Lubbock's state champion pole vault artist, will leave today for San Antonio, where he will enter the state AAU track and field tryouts Saturday afternoon.

If Dean continues his great showing of the season in this event, he will go to New York to enter the National AAU meet later this summer.

Dean topped 12 feet levels six times this season in regular meets, and at the state meet, he soared 12 feet, 6 inches, in winning first place at the state meet. This was two feet better than first place in the Southwest conference meet.

It will be the second year in a row that Lubbock High school has been represented in the AAU field. Burl Gene Moore, fleet 440 yard dash star last year, went to the New York meet last season, and was named on the All-American track team by Look magazine.

ASKS INVESTIGATION

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (U.P.) State Sen. H. Jerome Jaspan called upon Gov. Chandler Plans Kid's Baseball

VERSAILLES, Ky., May 16. (AP) —Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler has some big plans for the baseball-minded boys of America.

These plans, already advanced to the point of discussions with presidents of the National and American Leagues, call for equipping as many sandlots as possible with balls, bats and gloves.

The proposed program is so extensive that Chandler suggested it might even eliminate the need for compulsory military training. It would accomplish the same purpose in keeping American boyhood physically fit, he said.

Baseball itself, he thinks, can finance most of the program by diverting some of the money it has been contributing to other purposes.

To accomplish all ends, he is considering a plan for soliciting the cooperation of the American Legion, the Y.M.C.A. and other national organizations which are already contributing to baseball.

To get the program started, the commissioner says it will be possible to obtain some of the surplus baseball paraphernalia used for recreational purposes by the Army now that the European war is over.

The boy's admiration for the major leaguer, he said, is the chief reason he intends to bar all forms of gambling to baseball players.

"Every boy who plays baseball has his heroes in the professional game," Chandler said. "That is why we must keep baseball clean."

Brooklyn Dodgers Cop 11th Straight Win, Beat Bucs

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 16 (AP) — Scoring one run at a time off southpaw Al Gerheauser, the Brooklyn Dodgers gained their eleventh straight victory, defeating the Pirates 3 to 1 today.

Hal Gregg won his fifth game and it was the seventh straight contest in which a Brooklyn pitcher went the route. The Pirates run, made in the first inning, was the result of errors by Augie Galan and Eddie Stanky.

The Dodgers tied the count in the fourth on singles by Luis Olmo, Bill Hart; a hit batsman and Ed Basinski's short fly to left field, caught by shortstop Vic Barnhart. Olmo scored after the catch. In the fifth a pass to Stanky, a muff by Barnhart and Olmo's single put the Dodgers in front and they scored their last tally in the seventh on Galan's triple and Walker's fly.

Homer Norton To Be Operated On Friday

DALLAS, May 16. (AP) — Homer Norton, athletic director and football coach of Texas A and M. college, is entering a Dallas hospital for a major operation, thus shattering his plans for going overseas to work with the American Army of occupation in its great sports program.

He was to have departed May 25 to be gone 60 to 90 days lecturing on athletics in every theater of the European war zone.

"It is the biggest disappointment I ever had," Norton said today as he prepared to enter the hospital (Gaston) for the operation that will be performed Friday.

"I had looked forward to this trip and to prospects of doing a share in this fine program for the men overseas. But I hadn't been feeling well and went to my doctor for a check-up. It was not what I thought, however, but another trouble and the doctor revealed to me that I must have an operation at once, that to delay would prove serious."

The War department is sending a number of athletic leaders to Europe and Norton was, as far as could be determined, the only one yet selected from the Southwest.

Norton's operation is not expected to be of a serious nature. However, he will be unable to receive callers for the first three or four days. "But just as soon as I'm able I want all my friends to come out here," he said.

The city of Pittsburgh, Pa., has more streets than any other city.

Cooper Walks Out On Cards

BOSTON, May. 16. (AP) — Intimating that Mort Cooper had suspended himself by quitting the St. Louis Cardinals without warning, Manager Billy Southworth today indicated that the big righthand pitcher's salary dispute was entirely in the hands of Club President Sam Breadon.

"This is a tough time to quit the club, with our pitching staff in its present condition," Southworth said.

"Frankly, I don't know what's wrong, although he did tell some of the players there was sickness in his family. ~~I have~~ not had any differences with Mort and have found him willing to do everything I asked of him."

Southworth, however, had assigned Cooper to work the first half of today's doubleheader with the Braves, who pulled out a 5-4 win in 14 innings against Blix Donnelly.

Southworth learned about Cooper's latest disappearance early this morning when Road Secretary Leo Ward notified him that the pitcher was taking a 5 a. m. (EWT) plane to New York to join his wife before entraining for St. Louis.

Cooper and the Cardinals have been at odds on the salary question for several weeks, since he learned that shortstop Marty Marion had been given a contract calling for $13,500.

Mort and his catching brother Walker, who has since been inducted into the Navy at Great Lakes, demanded $15,000 salaries and quit the club.

Breadon persuaded Mort to join the Cardinals by offering him $13,500 but, shortly after, the pitcher failed to accompany the club to Cincinnati. The pitcher, however, was prevailed upon to return when he and his attorney conferred with Breadon.

Southworth said that Cooper's salary dispute is still pending but that in the meantime he has been paid on the $13,500 basis.

Ex-Seminole Gridder Is Killed In Action

Johnny B. Everett, son of Mrs. Gracie Everett of Seminole, died of wounds suffered in the fighting in Europe, it was learned here Wednesday by friends, and announced by Marlin R. "Shorty" Hayhurst.

No details were given.

Everett was a star fullback on Hayhurst's regional championship football team of 1943 at Seminole High school. Everett was the spark-plug of that team, and was an outstanding performer on both offense and defense. Everett was rated one of the best men in the district that season.

The Indians won bi-district honors over the Levelland Lobos, and defeated the Wink Wildcats in the regional finals.

PIMLICO OPENER

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP) — Racing came back to Pimlico today, with Morris Wexler's 7-year-old gelding, Quies Es, scoring a length and a quarter victory over Mrs. Roy Carruthers' Jimmie in the $5,000 Baltimore spring handicap, inaugural feature.

The National Association of Basketball Coaches feels that games away from the college campuses have contributed in general to the improvement of basketball.

Germany Faces Strict Discipline

Clay declared that all that is left of Germany's potential to make war would be smashed.

The hard-boiled commander, who was said to have been picked by President Roosevelt to handle the job, also declared that all vestiges of Naziism would be destroyed; all war criminals caught and punished.

Ambassador Robert Murphy, political advisor to Eisenhower, amplified the statement with the pointed observation that Count von Krosigk did not exist officially.

Broadcast Unauthorized

He said that a broadcast by von Krosigk last week was wholly unauthorized and was made before the Allies seized the radio station over which several of the Doenitz group had addressed the German people. Murphy said there would be no repetition of such propaganda.

General Clay, the main speaker at a long and detailed press conference mapping out the treatment in store for Germany, made it plain that his part of the occupation was going to be strictly military and strictly severe.

German civilian machinery will be established, he said, only on a very low civil service level, just sufficient to keep essential services functioning. The only industries being reestablished are those essential for relief problems and transport needed by the occupying forces.

Will Crush Naziism

Telling of his determination to crush Naziism and to turn over to any Allied government any Nazi wanted by that government as a war criminal, Clay said:

"Until that job is done and until it is done thoroughly, I hope you will not worry about the longer-range problem of regenerating the German people. That will come later—not now."

He said American forces had stepped into Germany to stay "in all probability for a long time." It seemed likely that the realistic program he outlined for his zone would apply as well to those of the Russians, British and French. He said the decision on the actual boundaries of the occupation zones could be expected soon.

Must Stand Together

"More important than just the occupation of Germany," Clay reminded the newsmen, "is whether the four nations can stand together to punish Germany. If they cannot, what hope is there for the United Nations?"

He warned that in the four-nation control setup there would arise problems that could be worked out only by compromise.

"We will have to give and take and probably do lots of things that the people of the United States may not like," he said.

In response to a specific question whether Poles or other eastern Europeans who might not wish to be left in the Russian occupation zone of Germany could be transferred to the American or British zone, he replied: "No, they would have to be left where they are."

U. S. Casualties

Naha, where the Sixth division Leathernecks repeatedly repulsed them. This division, although seeing its first action, is engaged in as savage combat as any American troops have encountered anywhere in the Pacific.

Throwing back one Japanese counterattack on its position in the Naha suburbs, Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd jr.'s Leathernecks were so hard pressed that only two men survived out of a company of 240. Cooks and bakers were forced to seize rifles or any other available weapon and join battle.

Mitscher Halts Air Blows

Reflecting the effectiveness of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier task force neutralizing raids on 18 Japanese homeland airfields Saturday night through Monday, the Okinawa area was virtually free of enemy aircraft.

About 12 Japanese planes approached shipping off Okinawa Tuesday evening. Nine were destroyed by escort carrier and land-based Marine planes and the others were forced to retire without causing any damage. A few bombed American-held Yontan and Katena airfields, Okinawa, Wednesday morning, causing slight damage. One was destroyed.

Although Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, jr's 10th Army was supported by tanks, airplanes, field artillery and naval gunfire as it continued to carry the attack to the Japanese on Okinawa, they were able to make only slight gains.

Walled, Moated Fortress

Shuri, medieval-like walled and moated castle fortress, was subjected again to heavy naval bombardment. Front line reports earlier today reported even the heaviest Navy and artillery shells had little effect on its thick walls.

The Sixth Marine division made local gains around Naha, but still had not been able to capture that rubble-filled city which had 66,000 population before American forces concentrated on it with bombs and shells.

The 77th Infantry division engaged in an uphill drive against stubbornly defended tombs and caves in the center of the line and on the east coast, the 96th Infantry division attacked westward through rugged country around Conical hill. Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th division, having captured Yonabaru airfield, possibly was trying to join with Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th division to help smash the center of the line.

Carriers Renew Attacks

Escort carriers renewed their attack on Ishigaki and Miyako islands of the Sakishima group, southern Ryukyus, destroying five planes.

Navy Privateers, Liberators and Venturas sank two medium freighters and heavily damaged a medium freighter-transport and a small cargo ship off Korea, and south of Honshu sank a small oiler, a small cargo ship and five fishing craft. They also damaged three Honshu railroad tunnels.

Illegality Baseless For Damage Action

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP) — The alleged illegality of a transaction does not preclude recovery of possible damages in the transaction, the Supreme court held today.

The court was answering a certified question put by the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo, in a case appealed from Lubbock county.

C. E. Dean and C. L. Dean had employed Jeff Graham to haul some cotton gin machinery from Dallas to Spade. The machinery was allegedly damaged in unloading and a trial court had awarded the Deans a $595.77 judgment.

The records showed the defendant had a railroad commission permit to haul farm machinery, but no permit to haul gin machinery and he had sought to avoid liability on this premise.

Japs Seek To Head Off Russian War

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (AP)—Concern over the possibility of Russian entrance into the Pacific war, the Tokyo radio indicated today, was one of the causes behind Japan's action in abrogating all treaties between Nippon and Germany.

The enemy broadcast, intercepted by the FCC, was sponsored by the Domei news agency, which commented on the cabinet's decision of yesterday to divest the empire of European entanglements.

MEETING NOT SET

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP)—Informed Allied sources in Moscow said today that while a meeting between Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman might well take place sometime in the future, nothing definite had been decided about such a gathering yet.

stroyed a Japanese Marine railway at Mapanga bay in Davao gulf.

A Marine divebomber knocked out a Japanese naval gun, one of several which have been harassing the 24th.

A shore to shore operation, in which Dutch troops landed on the southernmost tip of Tarakan island, off northeast Borneo, also was announced. Activity in other sections on oil-rich Tarakan were limited.

Advance On Luzon

On Luzon, the American First Cavalry division pushed north along the east coast to within three miles of the port of Lampon, an enemy seaplane anchorage south of Infanta. Light naval units supported the advance, bombarding enemy shore concentrations near the port.

East of Manila, units of the 43rd division near the Ipo dam were reported "pressing in from all sides on the enemy's isolated forces."

Medium, attack and fighter bombers continued their raids on Nipponese communications and defenses in the Cagayan valley of northern Luzon, dropping more than 150 tons of bombs.

Tarakan Air Support

In support of the Tarakan invasion, heavy, medium and fighter bombers expended 125 tons of explosives. They blasted airdromes at Balikpapan, the great oil refining center on Borneo, and at Jesselton, Kudat and Bintulu. Thousand-pound missles left great holes in runways, destroyed buildings and started fires. Air patrols sank six small enemy ships.

The communique reported night harassing attacks on Formosa, followed by day raids in which 145 tons of bombs were cascaded on enemy installations. Large fires and explosions were observed in the target areas, which included fuel storage, airdrome repair shops and an alcohol plant.

Long Range Patrols

Long range patrol planes continued their night flights along the Asiatic coast, bombing an airdrome at Canton, sinking two small vessels near Hong Kong and harassing communications at Liuchow and French Indo-China.

Other planes ranged over the Dutch East Indies, Celebes, Halmaheras and other islands, striking at airdromes, supply facilities and shipping. There was continued air support for Australian ground action on New Guinea and Bougainville.

The Japanese on Mindanao are being driven by two Yank divisions into the wild mountains of Bukidnon province.

Six Italian prisoners of war who escaped a work detail early Wednesday in Amarillo were recaptured later in the day in that city. South Plains peace officers had set up road blocks on main highways and numerous lateral roads in their alert for the escapees.

Wanna be a cop? There are several vacancies to be filled in the Lubbock police department, according to Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police. He said that the department was adding many new men in line with the projected eight-hour shift for policemen. The new schedule will go into effect "soon," Mabray said.

World Conference

sors (China, Britain, Russia, America.)

An all-national general assembly will fill the six remaining seats, electing countries for two-year terms with due regard "to the contribution of members of the (world) organization towards the maintenance of international peace and security and towards the other purposes of the organization, and also to equitable geographical distribution."

Before that set-up was approved, the committee scrapped a host of proposed changes. The most votes mustered by any amendment were the dozen lined up for a Canadian suggestion that the general assebly "adopt rules" for election of the half dozen non-permanent members of the council, while giving due weight only to contributions to peace and performance of their obligations to the United Nations.

Canada figured that any mention of geographical qualifications would work against her and Mexico, since they border on a permanent member — the United States.

Australia's Plan

Australia would have made any country ineligible for non-permanent seats unless it definitely had pledged itself to chip in on an international police force.

Mexico didn't want any permanent members of the council. Her idea was that the Big Five and one Latin state should be semi-permanent members, serving for eight years, and that other Latin countries should have two of the six non-permanent seats.

While the committee balloting was going on, United States delegates ran off a series of meetings of their own during the day. They were ready to urge statesmen of other countries to vote as soon as possible on the bulky list of amendments offered to the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a world organization.

U-Boat Surrenders

destroyed south of Iceland and was identified by articles which came to the surface.

The admiral said he was confident the number of U-boats sunk far exceeded the 126 officially credited, adding with a chuckle that Washington would not give them credit "unless we bring in a German ear pickled in alcohol."

Including sinkings by the Allies, he said, the Germans lost more than 500 submarines in the battle of the Atlantic.

He estimated the German U-boat fleet reached a peak of 450 by March 1, 1945.

Wolfpack Intercepted

Only three weeks before Germany surrendered, he said, a "formidable wolfpack" of U-boats was intercepted and "badly mauled by one of the most powerful forces of carriers and destroyer escorts ever to operate in the mid-Atlantic.

"From prisoners," he said, "we learned that this pack had orders to blanket the east coast from Maine to Florida. We sank five U-boats in this blitz of the Nazis."

He revealed that only 24 hours before Germany surrendered a U-boat was sunk off Block island. Another was sunk south of Nova Scotia in mid-April and another probable was claimed off Cape Hatteras just two weeks before the surrender.

"These U-boat actions," he said, "undoubtedly were the Nazis' last fanatical attempts to panic us before the collapse. They did manage to torpedo five merchant men off the east coast in the last three weeks, all but two reaching port."

Foiled By Atlantic Fleet

The reason the buzz bomb attack on America did not materialize, he said, was because the Atlantic fleet was ready with trained antisubmarine forces.

"We know they had orders to come over and do as much damage as they could," he said.

The first submarine capture was made last June 4 by a Navy escort carrier task group under command of Captain Daniel V. Gallery, Chicago. It hunted down, attacked, boarded, and seized intact the German submarine U-505 150 miles off the French West African coast.

The vessel was towed to Bermuda. Captain Gallery presented the U-boat's flag to Admiral Ingram today. The latter said he would turn it over to the naval academy, Annapolis.

Good Escort Job

Since the declaration of war, Admiral Ingram said, ships of the Atlantic fleet escorted 16,760 ships across the Atlantic with the loss of only 15 in convoy. The 3,552 escort ships and ships in convoy cruised more than 50,000,000 miles in the battle against the U-boats, he said, "to say nothing of the millions of miles flown by our pilots patrolling the vast stretches of the ocean."

At the same conference, Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander of the 7th fleet who has just returned from the Pacific, said the Japanese fleet "is not destroyed. It has been knocked about but still has to be reached. Japan has enough cruisers, destroyers, carriers and battleships to make a lot of trouble if they are not kept holed up or destroyed." He said the Japanese submarine strength was "not enough to constitute an effective menace."

Redeeming "Lost Oil"

Caliornia To Try "Water Plan"

SINCE this area is gradually becoming more and more important in national and world matters having to do with petroleum, it is interesting to note plans of a competing state to increase its output of this essential product.

Last year California drilled 214 wildcat oil tests, only 15 of which produced oil. Worried about reserves to keep it near the top among producers, the state now is planning to apply a new method by which it hopes to recover 20,000,000,000 barrels of "lost" oil. This is the water flushing method.

Thousands of gallons of water are pressure-pumped down an exhausted well into strata of oil-bearing sands. The oil, which is not susceptible to ordinary pumping, then floats to the surface of the water and can be pumped out.

This method, known to the oil industry for 40 years, is new to the deep wells of California. Water has been extensively used in Pennsylvania and in some of the Mid-Continent fields. But success has been found only in shallow wells with thin sands containing high gravity oils. California wells are deep, sand formations are thick and oil is heavy.

California experts estimate only 25 per cent of the oil ever has been brought to the surface in that state and that 20,000,000,000 barrels so far have been unrecovered. It is further contended that 70,000,000,000 or 80,000,000,000 barrels could be recovered in the United States as a whole.

It sounds feasible unless the nation's water supply becomes exhausted before the project is completed.

But as California moves to augment its oil production via the "water treatment plan," let us hope that the leaders of the oil fraternity—majors as well as forward-looking independents—do not again conveniently "forget" West Texas as they have done in the past.

Geology—especially of the sub-surface variety—indicates there is plenty of oil under this area, and it's oil that can be produced in a normal way, without worrying about water pressure.

They Still Want To Fight!

DISCLOSURE by Drew Pearson, the Washington correspondent, that some high-ranking U. S. Army officers in Europe are so anxious to fight the Japs that they have offered to take considerable reductions in rank in order to do so, is cheering news, indeed. It shows that the wearers of stars are putting the good of the nation above their own prestige.

We hope a great many, if not all, of our victorious leaders in Europe can be given opportunity to "do their stuff" against the Japs—and without reduction in rank, too. Not only have they earned the right to continue the fight, but their success in Europe gives every indication that they can do in the Pacific what they did in Germany—which is all this or any other nation could ask of its military commanders.

A New Deal In Prison Camps

IN war, as in peace, there is a constant process of evening up which is uncanny. American soldiers liberated from German prison camps, it has been announced, will be put in charge of camps for Germans in this country. Gen. Thomas A. Terry, speaking for the War department, declares men who have experienced captivity and detention are eminently qualified for such duties.

Officers and enlisted men are included in those assigned to the task. A contingent of 2,000 recently liberated has arrived in New York. All are reported bitter over hunger and cruelty endured during long months of imprisonment. Lack of sufficient food to maintain life was the principal complaint. These men will be given 60-day furloughs and then assigned to the job of guarding the krauts.

These men will be constant reminders to the Germans of what went on in Germany, and what is responsible for their present plight behind barbed wide fences. The German prisoners will be a constant reminder, too, to their American administrators of what sort of treatment they received at the hands of Nazi bosses.

There are some who insist that the "psychology" involved will cause the American administrators to treat their German prisoners with greater kindness than they would had they not experienced the prisoners' lot overseas. We, however, believe that former prisoners of the Germans are likely to be stricter with German prisoners in this country than those not similarly experienced.

This much, we think, can truthfully be said:

No matter how "easy" former prisoners of the Germans are on German prisoners in this country, they can't possibly be "softer" than those who have been administrating to Nazis behind barbed wire in this country.

One of the greatest inanities of the war has been the coddling of Nazi prisoners here and it's high time that justice, instead of mercy, be applied.

"If you never touch alcohol, you'll never fill a drunkard's grave," declares the president of the New York State WCTU. No, but you'll fill a grave.

THE STORY: Nick stops to eat at a tavern on his way to The Ledges when he runs into Brenda Temple and her father. Both act strangely. When he arrives at The Ledges he is surprised to find the electricity turned on and the ice-box stocked. He starts a tour of the supposedly empty house and his flashlight beam falls on the face of a man.

X

If I'd had a gun I should surely have pulled the trigger. I looked along the beam which I strove in vain to hold steady. I opened my mouth to speak. Then I looked at the face again and snapped off the light. Eric Woolf! I had raised the flashlight and was ready to let drive when the lights went on.

"Discabolus," someone said.

"But, darling, don't," I heard. "It's only us."

And a voice that climaxed it all said weakly: "Surprise."

I swore. Charley was behind the master's chair and Pat came out from behind the sideboard. Eric Woolf was standing against the opposite wall, an ironic smile on his thin lips. He had one eye on the flashlight.

"Don't throw it," he said. "It's the only flashlight in the crowd."

The door opened and in strolled Phineas Hudson himself and, of all people, Brenda Temple and her father. I felt like a fool. Everyone was smiling at me except Pat and Charley. Pat came forward and took my arm. "Happy birthday, Nick. Did we really surprise you, darling?"

She gave me a desperate I-can-explain-it-all look. Phineas Hudson stared at me for a moment.

"Hello, son," he said. "B-r-r-r but it's cold in here."

And he went back into the library followed by Bruce Temple.

"I've got some beer on ice," said Charley. "Who'll have some?"

"A good stiff jolt of whiskey would be more like it," I said.

Woolf came up behind me as we filed into the kitchen.

"Gave you a turn, did we, Trent? It was only a surprise party."

I turned around.

"I've had my belly full of surprise parties," I said.

Charley got out the beer and put the cold chicken on a platter.

Woolf gravitated quite naturally toward the food. He took a knife and sliced a thick slab of breast meat from the bird. But when Charley thrust a glass of beer at him, he looked at it dubiously, tasted it and shook his head sorrowfully.

"That is not beer," he pronounced solemnly.

"That's what is says on the can," said Charley dryly.

"A bit of American exaggeration." Woolf smiled thinly. "Munich where I was born is famous for its beer—"

"And its sell-outs," remarked Brenda Temple. She sat on a table swinging her thin legs gamlin-like and looking provocative. There was a pregnant silence. And I saw it all tracking again toward the inevitable bottleneck. Woolf held up the glass of beer, looked at it through the light, and sat it down, untouched.

"About the beer in Munich, my dear lady, I know a little. About sell-outs in Munich, I know nothing." Then he walked out through the dining-room door and we all watched it swing slowly to a stop.

"Pat," said Brenda, "you turned on that light a fraction of a second to soon. I should like it better if Nick had thrown the flashlight."

"I don't want to be nosey," I said, "but what gives?"

Charley went over and took Brenda by the arm.

"Come, Brenda. There's a magnificent view of the sea from the solarium."

"Do I have to look at it?" she asked as she slid off the table.

When they had gone, I turned to Pat.

"I'm still surprised," I said.

"You didn't suppose I was actually going to allow you to stay in this God-forsaken place alone, did you?"

"It was your idea."

"I know, but when I thought it over, I didn't like it."

"I can't see that you've improved it any by reflection," I said.

Pat's dark eyes grew sober.

"Eric, you mean."

Pat dropped her hands and went back to the stove. I saw her staring down at her nials. Then she said:

"When I told father what had happened, why you had come up here and why I thought you ought not to stay here alone, he said: 'You are quite right, my dear Nicholas should not stay at The Ledges alone. As a matter of fact, I should enjoy a few days at Sandy Point myself!' And when we were ready to leave, there was Eric standing in the front hall, dripping rain all over our best Oriental rug, and saying: 'I was afraid I might be late!'"

"You mean your father asked him?"

"Who else? So I called Charley and then we ran into the Temples at Minot and father dragged Mr. Temple along and, of course, Brenda."

For a moment she paused. Then she turned.

"Every time there's been any kind of function in the Hudson household for the past six months, father has rung Eric in on it. I don't understand it, Nick."

"Why don't you ask your father, Pat?"

Her eyes flashed ironically.

"You don't ask father to give an account of himself. Besides I'm afraid of what I might hear."

I took her arm.

"Come on, Pat," I said. "Let's get back into the party. It may be fun after all."

Monterrey Men Given Statement On Ban

MEXICO CITY, May 16 (U.P.) — Mexico City dailies today front-paged attacks by Monterrey businessmen on the state of Texas for its lobbying of a United States Federal Power commission ruling that natural gas may not be exported from Texas to Mexico.

In a prepared statement, Monterrey businessmen called this "an act of bad neighborship at a time when Mexico is preparing to ratify the U. S.-Mexico water treaty giving Texas use of El Azucar dam waters."

The statement said the ban would "stop every possibility of Monterrey's industrial expansion into which huge investments have already been poured," especially public works and railroad rehabilitation.

The Monterrey businessmen protested against the F. P. C. decision and said that the plan to build a pipeline to link with the Texas pipe at Reynosa had been approved by the state department, coordinator of inter-American affairs and War Production board.

Among the Monterrey industries affected are the iron and steel foundry, Mexican Cement Co., and several important glass factories, the statement said.

SOUNDS SCREWY

MIAMI, Fla., May 16. (AP)—Want to buy a $1,000 bill for $900? Local bankers reported today that such offers are being made here by holders who are afraid to cash the large bills at the banks which now required full identification of the owners.

Theodore Roosevelt has the longest bibliography of any American writer—more than 5000 works.

Lubbock High School Seniors Plan Picnic

Approximately 250 seniors of Lubbock High school are expected to attend the class' annual all-day picnic today at Buffalo lake. The group will meet from 8:30 to 9 o'clock this morning at Eighteenth and Avenue T, where transportation will be provided for the trip.

The proprietor of Buffalo lake informed Floyd Honey, principal of high school, that a life guard will be on duty at the lake all day. Two certified life guards from high school will also be on hand as well as seven senior sponsors.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A SCHOOL for dogs has been opened in New York and any dog that passes the advanced course is eligible for the highest award in obedience tests presented by the American Kennel club.

I attended the first graduate exercises given at Rockefeller Plaza a few nights ago, and to be perfectly frank, I didn't enjoy the performance at all, although a thousand other spectators applauded wildly.

BRANDEIS

Oh, I think dogs should obey their masters, but any master who can't teach his own dog to obey really doesn't deserve to have a dog.

I always think that my little Deuce obeys me not because he has been through school (which he hasn't) but because he loves me and wants to please me.

Deuce has a very fancy name—he is registered and a thoroughbred and all that—but to us he's just Deuce, because he has two black spots, one on each side. His brother, which we gave to a friend when he (the dog) was a pup, had one black spot and we named him Ace. He had two sisters which we also gave away. They raised the dickens all of the time, so we just called them the Whoops sisters. And another sister, the hog of the family, was named Minnie the Moocher.

I always feel sorry for the dogs when I see one of those trained dog-acts on the stage. It always reminds me of the time when I was a kid and my mother put me in a black velvet suit with a white lace collar and made me recite poetry for her friends. (I think I even wore curls in those days).

ANOTHER thing I don't like is dog shows.

The dogs certainly don't care anything about blue ribbons and "Best in the Show." All they want is love and a home.

A friend came back from the Dog Show the other day and said:

"Well, I got another blue ribbon—that's the fifth Rover has won now."

"What do you mean 'Rover has won'?" I said. "You mean this is the fifth time you have won visible evidence of your vanity."

My friend was quite hurt by my remark, but I seemed to detect a grin on Rover's face.

At any rate, he licked my face and whispered something which sounded like "Woof," but, I am sure, meant "Thank you."

Biggest "Pinch" Coming

U. S. To Become Armed Camp

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE United States during the next six months will be transformed into an armed camp rivaling Britain as it was in the pre-D day period as our vast war machine in Europe moves from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast on its march toward Tokyo. In many ways the American scene will undergo a more violent change than has been witnessed at any time since Pearl Harbor disrupted our way of life.

Throughout the rest of 1945, including the summer and fall holiday seasons, every facility will be swamped by returning soldiers, equipment en route and the manufacture of new and different weapons.

TUCKER

On furlough or on their way back to camps, the conquerors of Hitler will tax to the utmost our transportation, housing, eating, amusement and other living arrangements. They will take over the U.S.A. as they did England while they trained and waited there in anticipation of the invasion of Normandy.

Every civilian will feel the pinch in places where he may not have had to endure privations in the past. Food will become even scarcer as the veterans rush to swap their K rations for restaurant menus.

The need for new and lighter uniforms will drain clothing supplies. Non-essential travelers will have to forego railroad and bus trips. The lines in front of movie houses, theaters and other amusement centers will become longer.

The economic landscape will be similarly affected, for operations in the Far East will require different weapons than those needed to defeat Germany.

Workers in plants making heavy artillery, tanks and small arms will be reduced in number. But there will be increased employment for those in "ammo" factories, in textiles (summer uniforms), in leathers (more shoes), in medical industries (more atrabine, insecticides, foot powders, water purifiers etc.).

In short, the war will now come to Main Street in a big and picturesque way!

VETERANS: The first World War I soldier and American Legionnaire to occupy the White House is expected to inaugurate explosive reforms that will shake the ramshackle, sprawling and medieval Veterans administration from cellar to attic. President Truman discussed far more important questions than the "shortage of nurses" in his recent conference with Administrator Frank T. Hines.

The three vital changes which Congressional colleagues have tried to impress on Mr Truman are: 1. Consolidation, under one roof and individual, of all 20 agencies handling these matters. 2. Improvement of the so-called GI Bill of Rights by plugging holes and eliminating legal red tape. 3. Appointment of a broad-guaged administrator.

In his famous reconversion report Bernard M. Baruch advocated all save the last-named action. Off the record, he suggested three names to FDR to supplant Major General Hines. They were, in order, Richard M. Jeffers, former Rubber director, Justice William O. Douglas, Ambassador John G. Winant.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

NOW that V-E day has come and gone, prominent New York physicians are urgently requesting the War and Navy departments to give priority in demobilization of doctors having teaching posts assured them.

The reason for their request is one of the most serious emergencies that has ever confronted the medical profession. Unless remedied it could have unfortunate effects on the treatment of patients in the years ahead.

In the not distant future 25,000 doctors now in uniforms will be abruptly dumped into civilian life. They have had scarcely any chance to keep pace with medical advances or even to catch up on knowledge essential for civilian cases.

LEMAN

Realization of their deficiencies has caused a wave of restlessness as to what they can possibly do when they are discharged.

Correspondents back in New York from the South Pacific disclose that as our forces move closer to Japan they are leaving large hospitals thousands of miles in their rear. The staffs have little to do and therefore fear that they are growing rusty. Some are held down by hidebound martinets who stubbornly insist on a set procedure and discourage progress. Similar deplorable conditions are reported in the Mediterranean and European theaters.

Later many of these groups will be moved forward and physicians and nurses will have their hands full. Even so, treating wounds with sulfa drugs offers little experience, say, for diagnosing children's diseases.

LOST: "Older physicians in the service are worrying about brushing up," declares Dr. Alan Gregg, director of Medical Sciences of the Rockefeller Foundation.

"Approximately 15,000 of the returning veterans will be younger men who had hurried training in understaffed medical schools and hospitals. All have been long separated from civilian practice. Medically, it will be a lost generation unless our hospitals provide teaching and experience under competent guidance to a degree never approached in the past.

"Six thousand doctors are graduated annually; most of them don uniforms. They have never been in practice and have entirely inadequate training, largely because they received little or none of the interns' experience. A recent survey showed that eight out of ten graduates of the last five years are asking for post-graduate instruction.

"Our medical schools and their teaching hospitals are eager to supply this need. But at present they do not have the staff, space or material to handle the flood of young doctors which will pour on them after Japan is defeated.

"Unless an expansion program is supported by the public, our institutions cannot furnish the internships, residences, junior posts and refresher courses requested by the veterans in order to best serve the civilian population.

"The layman should not make the easy inference that any kind of an internship is satisfactory. One that is not supervised is probably worse than none at all. This type generally ends in giving the fledgling complete confidence in what is very nearly complete ignorance on his part."

FRUSTRATION: If the Army and Navy will allow teachers of medicine to return ahead of other MDs an otherwise inevitable shortage of instructors will be prevented. Unless Uncle Sam does this, frustration awaits young physicians seeking training on demobilization.

But private institutions also must obtain the funds to enlarge their facilities. It shocks the medical profession that many civilian hospitals—even in cities—have no places for interns or residents.

"The great majority of hospitals offer internships," says Dr. Gregg, "but without adequate supervision or guidance. In self-protection we Americans must learn to provide for doctors the opportunity to learn as well as to practice medicine."

"Women who wear hats without tops in the sunshine are exposing themselves to fever of the brain," asserts a physician, the flatterer.

"Laugh and grow fat."—Adage. "Grow fat and die young." Medical science. So it seems, after all, the joke is on the laugher. (Or is it?)

"Traveling these days is very expensive," says a columnist. Yes, indeed. For example, it cost the Allies seven billion dollars to travel from Naples to Rome.

San Francisco Has Only One Part Of Task

Congress' Peace Job Important

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Returning to Washington from San Francisco is like going into another room of a plant where men and women are doing another part of the same job.

At San Francisco, diplomatic representatives of the United Nations are in the critical stage of putting together a world security organization to keep the peace. The spotlight has been turned that way and thousands of words have been written about that important meeting.

Here in Washington another and vital part of that same job is going on in Congress. Two House committees are making final decisions on other phases of international co-operation — the economic phases having to do with trade among nations, prosperity, jobs, bread and meat.

STOKES

One bill, in the hands of the House Banking committee, has to do with the International Monetary fund designed to help the world re-finance itself. The other, of which the House Ways and Means committee has charge, provides for extension of the reciprocal tariff program through which the United States has lowered tariff barriers mutually with many nations and through which it is hoped to breakdown trade barriers still further.

Washington Job Difficult

What is being done at San Francisco is valueless without these other parts of the same job, for it is depression and bankruptcy which contribute most to wars. Likewise, what it is proposed to do here would not be much good if there was not a cohesive international organization to make it function. All the parts fit together.

This portion of the job here has been somewhat obscured in recent weeks by developments in San Francisco and both have been overshadowed by the explosion of events incident to the end of the war in Europe.

Human interest in events cannot be diverted with the wave of a wand, but attention can be called to what is going on here in Congress. This, in some ways, is more difficult and confusing to follow than what is going on in San Francisco.

THE peace could be lost here, and in the next few weeks just as it could be lost at San Francisco. There are influences deviously at work here, which would so change the International Bank and Monetary Fund bill that another international conference would have to be called. This would mean the delay that destroys. Likewise, there are those who would take this opportunity to wreck the reciprocal trade program for selfish interests.

It is wise to beware of seductive reasoning putting forward comfortable and safe-looking compromises.

Truman Faces Test

President Truman faces one of his big tests on these two international issues in Congress, just as he will later face another when the San Francisco draft of a world organization goes before the Senate for ratification. He needs and deserves the backing of the people in the fight that he must ultimately face.

Isolationism is by no means dead in the United States. Here and there it is beginning to stick up its head again.

NO one is more aware of this than President Truman. In his speech accepting the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination last August, he said; in referring to the fight against the League of Nations:

"We have another historical parallel today. Make no mistake about the fact that once again we also have among us a group of isolationists as determined, as bitter, and as dangerous as the band who set themselves against the League of Nations and gave to Wilson's peace in 1920 a stab in the back."

In the Senate in November, 1943, he said:

"I am just as sure as I can be that this World war is the result of the 1919-20 isolationist attitude, and I am equally sure that another and worse war will follow this one, unless the United Nations and their Allies, and all the other soverign nations, decide to work together for peace as they are working together for victory."

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

IRRIGATION FARM FOR SALE
CLOSE IN AND A BARGAIN
150 acres of fine land, located about 7½ miles out of Lubbock on pavement. A very fine irrigation well, fair improvements. This is a real investment. All mineral rights go. 68 acres produced 92 bales of cotton in 1944, and the feed crop was equally as good. The owner received over $3,000.00 in rents. Considering the distance from town, the possibilities of oil and the fine land, this is a bargain at $140.00 per acre. Mr. Investor, this is your chance to own a close-in farm.

Pacific Logistic Problem Still Unsolved, Ship Situation Tighter

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

Anglo-American power to be brought against Japan is overwhelming but the job of getting it into action beyond the Pacific is stupendous.

It involves movement of troops by the millions and their war gear half way around the earth. There is no parallel in this war or any other for the logistic problem to be solved. The shipping mileage to be covered and the tonnage volume of traffic to be handled mount into astromical figures.

SIMPSON

Warning comes from the Pacific theater that instead of immediately easing the shipping situation in that ocean, the German collapse is certain to make it tighter. Sea transport available to ferry American troops home from Europe for re-deployment, it is pointed out, still will be urgently needed in the Atlantic. A trans-Atlantic shuttle service, troops and equipment west bound and food eastward, is visualized.

Shipping will be bound direct from Europe via either the Suez or Panama canal but it is apt to be grooved to its own job rather than become available to expand movement between the American Pacific coast and Pacific bases.

Equipment For Chinese

One result of pondering on this side of the Atlantic over the vast logistic problem has been to stir speculation whether it might not be considerably simplified by putting equipment and training for Chinese troops high on the priority schedules.

There is a vast reservoir of manpower in China that given adequate fighting equipment and training and backed up by Allied sea and air power would spell the doom of Japanese armies, as advocates of that course see it. They hold also that it would greatly lessen the burden of sea traffic.

There is no official intimation of any such plan. On the contrary there is every indication of Allied preparations to transfer huge armies to the Pacific and Indian ocean fighting zones.

One reason may be that no adequate contact with China has been established for delivery of battle equipment and training forces on a major scale for Chinese use.

Fulghum Liberated, Expected Home Soon

Mrs. Inez Fulghum received a cablegram yesterday from her husband, Capt. Harold Fulghum who has been a prisoner of the Germans since Nov. 23, 1942 as aftermath of a raid over Nazi submarine pens at St. Nazaire. The cable said very little, just "Love to all the family, Harold," but the family learned from other sources that Capt. Fulghum probably will be home soon.

A wireless story from Paris written by the Star-Telegram's special correspondent, Robert Wear, said that the B-17 navigator would be home soon along with more than 20,000 other American prisoners who were liberated from Moosburg prison camp. Capt. Fulghum was on his fifth mission when two of his engines were knocked out and the whole crew bailed out two miles off shore. He was rescued by a German patrol boat and afterwards was in a succession of enemy prison camps.

The Moosburg camp was overrun April 29 by the 14th Armored division, and Capt. Fulghum is now with American forces in Paris.

Mrs. Fulghum and their three-year-old daughter, who was 21 days sold her father went overseas, live at 2710 Twenty-eighth.

Many Battles Said Remaining

Capt. David W. Holder af San Antonio, a graduate of Lubbock Army Air field and now back at the field as an instrument instructor, told Rotarians at their weekly luncheon Wednesday in Hilton hotel that many decisive battles remain to be fought before the Japanese fold, many months of preparation before each battle.

Capt. Holder and Lt.-Col. Wm. G. Snaith of Dallas, also a combat returnee stationed at LAAF, spoke briefly at the luncheon program. Both fliers were shot down behind the lines and both are wearers of the Purple Heart. Capt. Holder was rescued by Chinese guerrillas and carried 1,300 miles on litter to safety. Lt.-Col. Snaith was a prisoner of war.

Both speakers emphasized that the war against Japan will be necessarily a problem of supply and logistics and it will take two and one-half men to supply every man fighting in the Pacific.

Long War Planned

Col. Snaith declared plans have been laid for the war for more than a year and with timely revisions will be carried on through by the armed forces. Fighter planes will be long-range escort types and B-29's and B-32's will carry the bombing to the Japs with tactical bombing similar to that used in Europe.

Capt. Holder said he believed the Chinese guerrillas will play an increasing role against the Japs in China and cited the problem of rough terrain to confront our forces, especially in the massing of equipment and heavy artillery for an all-out offensive.

They were introduced by Capt. Francis Wilson, public relations officer at LAAF.

The club voted to purchase $2,000 additional in war bonds for the Rotary club student loan fund, making a total of $6,500 now in bonds in the fund.

Bob Bowers of Brownfield, M. S. Doss of Seminole, Geo. Loos of Laredo, Sam M. Tidwell of Amarillo and Rev. Hubert Bratcher and Edd McLaughlin of Ralls were visiting Rotarians. Wylie Briscoe of Houston and Sgt. Bedford Raley were other out-of-town guests.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.
