Outstanding Citizen Trio Receives Tribute Tuesday

"We have to work where we live for if we don't no one else will," Reagan Brown charged in his address Tuesday evening at the annual Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet.

"Counter Measures For Crises" was the theme of the 17th Annual Banquet with Oltonites paying tribute to three outstanding citizens. Melvin Rape was named Outstanding Citizen; Mrs. Bob Coen, Outstanding Women and Raymond "Cotton" Lewis, Outstanding Farmer.

Rape, an employee of Southwestern Public Service and manager of the local office almost six years, has served the past year as president of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a veteran of World War II, past president of Olton Lions Club and was named Lion of the Year for three consecutive years.

President of Olton Recreation Center, he has been active in work with the American Cancer Society and has served two years as county chairman. He was presented a plaque by last year's Outstanding Citizen, Joe Turner.

Mrs. Coen was cited for her work in the First United Methodist Church. A Sunday School teacher and active member of the women's organization, she has served 20 years as church treasurer.

For the past two summers, she worked as counselor at Camp New Dawn, a summer camp sponsored by the United Methodist Church for mentally retarded adults of any denomination. She has also been counselor for children's summer camps.

She has been a Cub Scout Den Mother, Brownie leader and has worked with American Cancer Society fund campaigns. She is active in PTA and has served in official capacities. A member of Band Boosters, she served this year as calendar co-chairman.

Mrs. Percy Parsons, 1973 Outstanding woman, presented Mrs. Coen with her plaque of honor.

Lewis was a vocational agriculture teacher at Anton High School before moving to Olton in 1953 to begin farming.

"He has said that he lacked a $1000 being worth anything when he came here," said Larry Witten, last year's outstanding farmer recipient in making the presentation. "But having a very strong desire to be a farmer, he didn't let that stand in his way."

"The man we honor tonight must have been a very competent farmer because he still farms the three-quarter section of land he was offered for a start 20 years ago (George Bohner farm) and he also now farms his 160 acres Hedges place and his 320 acres of the old Bartlett place and has a nice cattle enterprise, too."

Still another award was made at the banquet. Eldon Franks was presented a plaque in appreciation for many years service in the Volunteer Fire Department. D.M. "Bub" Holt made the presentation in behalf of the Fire Department.

Special Assistant to Governor Dolph Briscoe, Brown said, "Be proud to live in Olton-to be a Texan, to be an American."

Brown gave his listeners a "formula that's worth more than anything," citing Henry Van Dyke. "Four things a man must learn to do, If he would make his record true: To think without confusion clearly; To love his fellowman sincerely; To act from honest motives purely; To trust in God and Heaven securely."

"It's tough to think clearly today," said Brown. "I see in this crowd the strength of America. Let's build!"

He used the immortal lines of Oscar Hammerstein in emphasizing the importance of love today, "love isn't love till you give it away."

"We have to give honest effort...we've got to go to work...we have to get our sense of indignation back... we need mothers to come back to principles."

Brown concluded with the call for persons to have faith and to serve. "We have to do what we can where we live, let's make it pretty. We're all in the same boat. You can't sink one end of a boat!"

Larry Garvin was master of ceremonies. Invocation was spoken by the Rev. Pat Gloria. Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Dewey Hukill.

Representative Bill Clayton was a special guest at the banquet, introducing Brown. Officers and directors were recognized. Out going president, Melvin Rape, was presented a gavel in appreciation for his work the past year.

Benediction was by the Rev. Al E. Jennings.

OUTSTANDING OLTONITES-1974 recipients of tributes at the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet Tuesday night were Melvin Rape, Outstanding Citizen; Mrs. Bob Coen, Outstanding Women and Raymond "Cotton Lewis, Outstanding Farmer.

Hail Suppression Program Fund Campaign Underway

Kick off of the fund campaign to underwrite the hail suppression program for 1974 was held locally with a breakfast Tuesday morning in Hamill's Restaurant.

Weather modification informational meetings have been or will be held throughout the County. Special emphasis is being given this year to rain stimulation.

If sufficient interest is shown in the various meetings, cloud seeding to stimulate rain could begin in March or April. Preliminary plans call for the weather modification program, rain stimulation and hail suppression, to run from May 1 through Oct. 31.

Plans for the 1974 crop year are being formulated for expanded coverage with a three-plane operation rather than two as in previous years.

This is the fourth year for weather modification efforts in Lamb County. Figures indicate the program has made a 50 to 70 percent reduction in hail. Areas where seeding activities were conducted have indicated the program has made cated a 15 percent increase in rainfall.

Cost of the program this year is 90 cents per cultivated acre with the recommendation that farmers pay in accordance as they pay rent. Residents are asked for $25 with businesses charged in accordance with size. Cost of the program for 1974 is $160,000.

Olton directors of Better Weather, Incorporated are Dan Quigley, Eldon Franks, Floyd Light, James Cowart and Raymond "Cotton" Lewis.

Donations may be left with Olton State Bank or with any of the directors. Money should be in by March 1 and directors request that persons will act promptly so there will be no need for persons to interrupt busy schedules to make door to door or farm to farm calls to collect funds.

NOTICE

Complete results and pictures of the stock show will be in next week's issue.

SERVICE to fellowmen Eldon Franks, retired member of Olton Volunteer Fire Department, Holds a plaque presented him Tuesday night at the annual CCA Banquet, for many years service with the department.

Consumers Butane, Inc. Gets Humble Beginning

Gas was more plentiful than money in the long ago days when Consumers Oil, forerunner of Consumers Butane, Incorporated, was established. The small service station located where Walker Texaco is today, was begun about 1930 by the late Hobson Thomas.

Customers at the old hand pumps purchased gas for a costly 14 cents per gallon. Quantity purchases delivered to farmers was discounted to 10 cents per gallon.

The late Bill Yates went to work at Consumers about 1933 and later purchased an interest in the business. When Thomas went off to Military service in World War II, Yates continued to operate the business.

Prior to the advent of butane, about 1940, Consumers had added a wholesale warehouse south of the business, a wash rack at the back and a grease lift to the south.

Jack Estes worked with the business for a good many years and Barton Prestridge came to work as bookkeeper for both the retail and wholesale gas business in December, 1939.

Prestridge remembers the early day delivery trucks(the business had two) carried two five gallon cans to use in measuring and in filling the farmers' tanks. While the driver poured one can into the storage tank the other was filling.

The station sold white gas and regular. The white, with no additives, was used in lamps and stoves. Regular contained both lead and coloring. The station sold quantities of kerosene, too, which was also used in lamps and stoves.

Butane came to Olton while Thomas was still in the service. The butane office was built across the street from the service station with scales, used for measuring the butane, back of the building.

Prestridge recalls customers would bring their butane bottles to be filled and the bottles would be wrapped with wet tow sacks to lower the pressure so they'd fill.

The first tanks had to be underground for the low pressure butane. Several years later propane came on the scene bringing more improvements.

Kerosene stoves which had replaced coal stoves became old-fashioned and out-moded and were replaced by modern, efficient LP stoves. The City of Olton had butane meters which were read monthly just as today's meters for natural gas are checked.

In the "hey-day" of liquified petroleum, Consu-

Foreign Exchange Students Visit Lions Club Luncheon

Five exchange students visiting in the city under sponsorship of Olton Lions club were guests Tuesday at a regular meeting of that organization.

Present were Eduardo Mercado, Arequipa, Peru; Cesar Roslaes Castrilli, Lima, Peru; Jose Fernando Amdriami, Tijucas, Brazil; Paulo Roberto Rebello, Itajai, Brazil; and Miss Claudia Carvalho, Nova Era, Brazil.

Miss Carvalho, as guest speaker, described life in her homeland with the aid of Mrs. Margaret Lacy and Eloyse Castillo, interpreters.

Daughter of a doctor in Brazil, Miss Carvalho, who has four brothers and two sisters, described fifty minute periods in her school with teachers making room changes rather than students. Public schooling is designed for twelve years.

Dress codes, she stated, were different than observed here. Smoking is permitted in hallways. Girls do not wear dresses, except upon special occasions. No dates are allowed during the week, all time is spent in study.

For entertainment the entire family goes out together. Curfew for young people is 11:30 p.m., she added.

She mentioned the Brazilian practice of four meals daily, none of them heavy meals. Food, she said, was the same as served here, but prepared in different manners. She listed high school sports as tennis, soccer and volleyball.

Also listed as special guests of Olton Lions for the luncheon were Best Citizens, Bryan Allcorn, junior, and Larry Kirk, sophomore.

Other guests were Billy Jordan, and John Shaw.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

The pew that's been empty for the past few Sundays will be filled again some Sunday. And yet, though the place be taken Sunday after Sunday, an emptiness will still be felt. A familiar friend, a loved one, won't be there.

That pew, so near the front, has been filled so faithfully through the years. It's been his place - a place he's shared with her.

His smile is gone and the handshake that said, "Hello, Friend! The sincere words, "How are you?" are stilled along with the voice which rang out joyfully with the hymns of God's goodness and glory.

The face is gone, the voice stilled but the love his life so radiated will live on and on. Ralph Harvey Campbell-tired, but never retired, servant of the Lord-will live on in the hearts of the hundreds of persons his life touched.

He was more than Methodist minister. He was a friend of all and "Brother' to everyone.

A sealed letter found in the personal papers of an unknown man who died at 61, leaving a wife and three children, closed with these words-

"A man never really dies while there are those on earth who loved him...A man is never gone as long as there are those who remember him with fondness...as long as his memory evokes a wistful smile.

"All who have loved, and who have been loved, have earned a piece of immortality."

That was- and is- Brother Campbell.

So many years ago Geoffrey Chaucer penned these words which also say "Ralph Campbell"--"The love of Christ and his apostles twelve. He taught, but first he followed it himself."

Cook Of The Week

Turning out tasty dishes is just one of the talents of our Cook of the Week, Nell Smith. Family and friends acknowledge she is a good cook but her adeptness with a sewing machine and a needle and thread, turn out fashions with a look of exclusive dress shops.

Nell sews most of her own, her daughter Charla's and granddaughter Tammie's clothes.

"Fred would agree that sewing is my hobby," Nell says of her husband whom she met in school. She began attending Olton schools the year before high school.

The Smith's eldest child, Ronnie, farms with his dad. His four-year-old Tammie is the delight of her grandparents.

Charla, who's known by family and friends as "Sissy," works in Odessa for the State Commission for the Blind. The family attends the Church of Christ.

Another "member of the family-and a spoiled one Nell says-is an apricot and white poodle which belongs to Charla but is being kept by her parents. That spoiled member answers to the name, "Josque."

Mr., Mrs. Smith Visit Beauty Spots Of Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Tom C. Smith accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Allen of Plainview returned last week from a thirteen day trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Their first stop was Honolulu, on the island of Oahu, where they viewed Pearl Harbor and the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific where thousands of Veterans are buried. Their names are recorded on a tall granite slab. They took the ocean sea life tour, viewed the Polynesian Cultural Center and saw the "Kodak show" with its native singing and dancing.

At Ewa Beach Mr. and Mrs. Smith were guests of his niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson, Geana and Dan.

The party flew to Kaui, known as the garden island, and saw the Grand Canyon of the Pacific, Olu Pua Gardens and Fern Grotto. On Mount Waialeale of Kaui there is the largest amount of annual rainfall recorded in the world, 400 to 600 inches. On the opposite side of the mountain only seven or eight inches are received each year.

On Maui Island the tour showed the second largest tree in the world. This banyan tree covers an area as large as a city block.

On Hawaii, the orchid island, the members of the party were shown the volcanic Nation Park with its active volcanoes. They saw homes which have been built on the lava deposited in 1971. They visited the monument dedicated to the Englishman Captain James Cook who discovered the islands in 1778. This area surrounding the monument is owned by the British. The site is reach by cruise in a glass bottom boat. The black sand beach at Punaluu harbor was strikingly unique.

MRS. RONALD EUGENE HICKS

Mr. Hicks-Miss Turner Wed In Home Ceremony

Wedding vows were solemnized Friday evening in the garden atrium of the bride's parents' home for Viki Leigh Turner and Ronald Eugene Hicks.

The bride, choral director of Olton High School the past semester, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Turner of Hale Center.

Officiating the ceremony was the Rev. Marshall Edwards, pastor of Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco. Vows were recited in a setting of banana, orange and avocado trees.

A candelabra with milk glass votive cups completed the decor.

Mrs. Marshall Edwards, pianist, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. George Stansbury, vocalists. Mrs. Mike Jackson, sister of the bride, played the flute.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of antique ivory fashioned with high neckline, long full sleeves and modified A-line skirt. Ivory lace, outlined with narrow ecru edging, formed a bib-effect yoke and midriff for the fitted waistline. A macrame necklace enhanced the bodice. A deep flounce, encircling the skirt, was accented with a matching band of wide lace and narrow edging. She carried a bouquet of daisies and yellow roses.

Terri Turner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The Rev. Ron Durham, associate pastor of Columbus Avenue Baptist Church, was best man.

The couple were honored with a wedding dinner immediately following the ceremony.

For a wedding trip to Houston, the bride chose a mint green pantsuit with beige accessories.

The couple will be at home at 7324-C., Sanger Avenue, Waco.

A graduate of Wayland Baptist College with a BA degree in music education in 1971, the bride earned a master of music degree in music history in literature from Baylor University in 1973.

Hicks holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Texas at El Paso and a master's degree of religious education from Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth. He is minister of education and administration at Columbus Avenue Baptist Church in Waco.

Three Couples Tour In Mexico

Three members of the Board of Directors of Olton Grain Co-op and their wives have just returned from a trip to Mexico City, courtesy of Farmland Industries.

Flying to the world's fifth largest city have been Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. B. Don Huguley.

Touring a sugar cane plant was one of the highlights of the three day stay, along with visits to churches, monuments and shopping areas.

Local People Visit Jamaica

Six Oltonites were guests recently of Farmland Industries on a tour of Jamaica.

Fritz Richards, manager, and Dan Quigley and Royce McFadden, members of the board of Directors of Olton Grain Co-op, along with their wives made the flight to the tropical island.

In the three days spent on the small island, approximately fifty miles wide and one hundred miles long, the group visited such farm related industries as plantations of pineapple, bananas and coconut. Fields of sugar cane and trees of allspice also proved to be of interest to the West Texans.

When asked for the highlight of the trip, Mrs. Richards stated "A bus trip on the island!" She explained that highways were so narrow that meeting or passing other vehicles and the many pedestrians made for very hazardous travel conditions.

Mrs. Richards also mentioned the high price of island farmland. This, she said, limited the size of the average farm to some two acres with all work being done by hand.

Wheelers Open Home, Hearts To Young Men Of State School

At present we are keeping seven boys at our farm, from the Lubbock State School-Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The purpose of having these boys out on the farm is to try to teach them a trade, preferably connected with farming. Also to help them adjust to living in a small community, away from the shelter of the school.

We had our rent house remodeled especially for them. They each have a twin size bed. There is a central area with couches, T.V. and table for games, etc. They eat their meals with our family.

The boys are responsible for keeping themselves and their home neat and clean. They also tend to their animals, a pig project.

These boys, ranging from ages 19-24, are well physically. Only three are on any medication.

They need to stay fairly busy. They are happiest, when doing something with their hands.

These boys are good at simple tasks, and could do more complicated ones, with a little training. Three boys have worked before on a farm project similar to this one. Some have worked at jobs in Lubbock.

The boys might be good at helping change irrigation water. They can load hay, clean yards and garages. Later in the year they can do yard work and hoeing. We would suggest some supervision over all their work.

If anyone would like to help keep these boys out of the state school and get some inexpensive labor, we would appreciate you getting in touch with us at phone 285-2784, early in the a.m. or after 6 p.m.

These boys work for 50 cents to $1 per hour. Their money is sent to the school to go in a trust fund for each. They are given a weekly allowance to spend as they like. The school furnishes their clothes.

The boys have very little, if any, family contacts. Most are from broken homes.

These boys are presently attending church services at Valleyview, where Mark Gunter is their teacher. Mark is doing a great job with them.

They are to have one activity each week away from the farm. The last weekend we went to Palo Duro Canyon. They enjoyed climbing a couple of hours, then eating supper outside.

Two weeks ago they toured a dairy.

We cook all their meals, do their laundry and council with them.

(Editor's Note: Mr. and Mrs. T.B. Wheeler have opened their hearts and their home to these young men of the State School. This is Mrs. Wheeler's first hand account of their stay. Some have been with the Wheelers since before Thanksgiving.)

"My Responsibilities as a Citizen"

My responsibilities as a citizen are to try to follow and obey the laws. I am to help other people who are in trouble or danger. I am to listen to my parents when they tell me what to do. To be a good citizen you don't only be good, courteous and helpful, but you also have to some times protest against something to improve it for the good of the people. I'm lucky enough to be a citizen so I better try my best to be a good one.

Write In The Groove

BRYAN ALLCORN AND FREDDY STOCKDALE

There's a stage saying that actors use for good luck-only it hasn't helped four Olton High students these past few weeks...but then they haven't been on stage either. The saying is "break a leg". It seems these four took it seriously. We know a cure for this--a lil' glass tea and piece pie. In case you haven't heard it is Cindy Neinast, Kent Pittillo, Patricia Daugherty, and Tammy Green. It all started when Cindy was thrown to the mats by the ever ready, energizing, 220 lb., pack leader of the Bay Area Bombers, Miss Jennie Lynn Gunter. Mark Hodges was playing Paul Revere and ran through the streets of Olton bragging on Miss Gunter's gallant efforts. Kent, Miss Gunter's secret admirer, got a little jealous and tried to kick at Mark. Being the bad dude that he is, Mark stuck an ole rotten watermelon in front of him. What happened to the other two? You'll just have to read next week's syllable of "Write In The Groove."

The Olton High School gym has an added attraction--a pay phone in the lobby. This is just one of many things the student council has done this year.

Speaking of gyms--the Olton Fillies have clinched their district with wins over Littlefield and Dimmitt. Olton Fillies haven't won a district title ever--Congratulations from F and B. No, F and B isn't a florist shop.

Seems like the flu has flown from Matador to PV to Olton. If you happen to get the flu and end up in the hospital, here are some suggestions from WITG to help pass the time:

a. sing dirty songs
b. drag yourself down the halls to the public phone, call the hospital, disguise your voice, say that you're a close friend and find out what your condition really is.
c. organize the rest of the patients into a mass sit-in on all the johns on your floor as a protest against something currently popular
d. ask the head nurse if she's called the head nurse because she's in charge of the toilets
e. put on your hospital gown backwards and go out into the lobby
f. start a fire in your bedpan
g. write a poem or two on the bathroom wall
h. when your nurse comes in to wake you at 4 a.m.--jump up and shout, "Hey, where's my glass of tea I ordered two hours ago?"

Seriously, we hope no one gets that sick, but it is just a thought.

Now on with the comments:

In the meantime, stay out of casts and write in the groove.

Consumers...

mers had five delivery trucks which were kept on the go at all times. The company also had four large transport trucks.

The early days were also pre-pavement days with door-to-door dirt between the businesses and plenty of mud when it rained. Prestridge smiles when he recalls that rainy weather meant frequent neighborly deeds, pushing a mired motorist out of chug hole in the "highway" between the two businesses.

Thomas and Yates sold the business in 1958 and Thomas moved to Lubbock where he was associated with a financial industrial firm. It was then that the firms became separate businesses with the butane division maintaining the name Consumers.

Prestridge was named manager and has continued in that capacity since that time. His wife, Neva, is bookkeeper. In 1963 a new building was constructed expanding the company into a hardware and gift store too.

The business offers a general line of hardware items, automotive supplies, small appliances, housewares, gift items, yard and garden equipment, Scott's yard fertilizers, art supplies and an extensive line of frames.

With the addition of art supplies, Consumers' small building south of the store has become "The Art Shack" and is used for meetings of the Art Guild and for art classes held one day each week. At present, Ruth Barnett of Hale Center is teaching two classes each week. Artists may exhibit their work in the store.

Other employees of Consumers are Mrs. Jack Estes, Billy Austin and A.J. Young. T.B. Wheeler is filling in at the present time and others help out during the gift seasons.
