Cavite Naval Base Seized

Nichols Field Also Freed And Nips Fear Invasion Of Formosa Due Soon

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

REMNANTS of the Japanese ravagers of Manila have been backed into the city's ancient walled city and dock area where, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported late Tuesday, their end is imminent.

Yanks of the 11th Airborne division occupied the Cavite naval base and cleared the Nichols Field area where the Japanese had put up a fanatical fight. Other American troops mopped up the Nielson airport area and crashed through Manila's suburban Pasay to the shore of the bay.

GUAM IS FORWARD BASE

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Wednesday, Feb. 14 (AP)—The secret is out—and the dateline tells the story.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who announced several weeks ago he had moved his advance base to a "forward area," let it be known in a press release that that forward area is Guam.

Ten Seaplanes Captured

At Cavite the paratroops captured 10 seaplanes and a battery of field guns.

The final fight for Manila centered in Intramuros, the walled city, and the bay dock area where the famous Manila hotel is located. There troops of the 37th Infantry division were closing in for the kill.

American fliers continued their relentless attacks on Corregidor island and nearby Bataan peninsula. They hit Corregidor with 150 tons of bombs, scoring bullseyes on four heavy gun positions. Six Japanese fuel and ammunition barges were sunk off Bataan.

On fronts north of Manila the Yanks took an airfield on Luzon's east coast, beat off a Japanese counterattack in the Rosario sector and systematically mopped up in the Zambales mountains.

Japs Lose Over 68,000

General MacArthur said in five weeks of fighting on Luzon Japanese casualties exceed 68,000. American casualties totaled 9,683. These included 2,102 killed, 192 missing and 7,389 wounded.

Yank bombers from the Philippines continued to smash Japanese airfields and communications and at Formosa.

With the furious fight for Manila nearing a close and American troops in control of most of central Luzon island, the Japanese radio speculated Tuesday that the Yanks may next try an invasion of Formosa, the great Nippon base on the southern flank of the Rising Sun homeland.

Changing its tune from the days when it pictured the Philippines as the hub of its southwest Asiatic holdings, radio Tokyo called Formosa "the central strong point for the defense of the GEA (Greater East Asia) sphere."

It added that the battle for the Philippines "is a strategical climax in the present GEA war" and declared concentration of American might in that archipelago makes it appear the Yanks will invade Formosa "if given the chance."

Radio Tokyo also buzzed with unofficial broadcasts. It told of single Superfortress raids in the Tokyo, Osaka and Shizuoka regions of Honshu island; reported that Japanese forces landed on Morotai island, south of the Philippines, to destroy American airfields; and claimed the sinking of two enemy submarines, one in the central Pacific and the other west of Japan-proper.

Navy's Casualties Dwarf Past Losses

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—The Navy has lost in action during World war II more than five times the number of men killed in all previous wars.

The Navy department reported today that 22,481 men, excluding the Marine corps and Coast guard, have been killed since Pearl Harbor, compared with 4,232 in all conflicts from the American revolution through World war I.

France To Build Big Dakar Base

PARIS, Feb. 13. (AP)—Construction of a huge naval and air base at Dakar in West Africa was voted by the cabinet of the de Gaulle government today, a move which it announced would eventually contribute to "collective security."

The Dakar project was adopted on reports of the war, navy, air and colonial ministers shortly after Gen. de Gaulle announced he had been informed last night by American, British and Russian ambassadors of the decisions reached at the Big Three Crimean conference.

Said Step Forward

There was no specific comment from the goverment on the results of the meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Marshal Stalin, but an official spokesman observed that it was a step forward for France to be given a share in the occupation of Germany and a place at the United Nations conference to open April 25 at San Francisco.

The governmental announcement of the plan for Dakar said the naval and air base was aimed at guaranteeing communictions of the empire as well as contributing to collective security. The emphasis it placed on the latter led to speculation that France intends to make Dakar an international base and perhaps put it at the disposal of the United Nations security council.

Dakar, at the westermost point of Africa, now has a large American naval base, established as a result of the agreement between Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark and Admiral Darlan after the North African invasion. In the hands of an aggressor nation it would be a threat to both North and South America.

U. S. POLE INDIGNANT

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Polish territorial adjustments outlined by the Big Three conference were deplored today as "in direct contradiction to all sacred pledges of the Atlantic Charter" and "a staggering blow to the cause of freedom" by Charles Rosmarek, President of the Polish American Congress.

U. S. Seen As Mediator In Russian-British Rivalries

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—In a dramatic first-hand account of the Crimea conference, James F. Byrnes declared tonight that American participation in the affairs of Europe is designed to prevent Russian-British rivalry for spheres of influence.

Byrnes, just back from the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference, gave the account to newsmen as the White House announced a bi-partisan slate of American delegates chosen to attend the United Nations parley at San Francisco April 25 to draft a plan for enforcing world peace.

Seek To Deter Violence

Byrnes, war mobilization director, said another aim of American participation in European affairs, is to deter outbreaks of violence in liberated countries.

President Roosevelt himself, Byrnes disclosed, wrote the declaration on liberated areas by which this country agrees to share with the other two powers responsibility for restoring order and independence to the war-ravaged small nations.

The mobilization chief expressed his conviction that the Crimean agreements had gone a long way toward guaranteeing an Atlantic Charter settlement for the small countries of Europe and a lasting peace for the world.

Use Many More Men

The military decisions of the conference, he said, mean that our military leaders are planning for a war involving "more men than ever before in this conflict."

In describing the role played by the President with "great skill, tact, patience and humor," Byrnes said that he served by informal agreement as chairman of the conference and that he proposed at least two of the specific agreements covered in yesterday's communique summing up accomplishments.

Those agreements are:

1. The declaration on liberated areas by which the United States agreed to serve on commissions which may be necessary in one or more countries to restore order and assure the people of eventual free choice of their own governments.

2. The formula for settling the Dumbarton Oaks controversy over whether a great power should vote on a charge of aggression against itself. Byrnes did not say what this formula is nor how it reconciles the previously opposing positions taken by the United States and Russia.

Immediately after his news conference at the White House broke up, President Roosevelt through his press office announced the names of nine persons invited to be delegates to the San

Man-Shy Nation Turning Puritan—

France Opens Fight On Vice, Revamps Delinquency Courts

By ROBERT C. WILSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Feb. 13—France, with the exuberance of liberation long past, appears to be heading toward postwar puritan-like sobriety.

Straws in the wind are the government's anti-alcohol campaign, closing of Paris night clubs, suppression of legalized prostitution in the department of Savoie—an isolated but perhaps significant action—and the overhauling of juvenile delinquency courts.

The government announced a campaign to popularize fruit juices as a substitute for alcoholic beverages.

It is also foreseen that France will insist upon retention of rationing, which allows laborers one litre of wine daily and other workers half a litre, and lowering the percentage of alcohol.

Widespread appearance of "modern bars" where wine sales are forbidden and other less glamorous drinks are served are expected to be another result, leading to creation of a new industry for manufacture of fruit juices.

The anti-alcohol campaign is directed by Public Health Minister Francois Billoux with the backing of a national committee of doctors.

Prostitution has been suppressed since last Oct. 24 by Prefect Andre Monnier in his department of Savoie, the newspaper "L'Aube" announced recently, along with imposition of stringent regulations concerning wine sales to minors.

With her birthrate falling seriously and with 3,000,000 persons either killed or deported to Germany, France must nourish her youth carefully, and to this end is setting up moderinized juvenile delinquency courts.

The closing of Paris night clubs resulted from lack of coal and electricity, and also because of official decision that such gaiety was out of place in wartime. Although the closing presumably is temporary, it is linked with the present sober - mindedness throughout France.

French Investigation Of Yanks Is Approved

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP) — The United States has given its blessing to a French government investigation of a "very famous" American couple in France who are suspected of collaboration with the Nazis.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, disclosing this at a news conference today, declined to name the couple.

He said the French had asked whether the American government would protest "if we go after" the Americans. Morgenthau said he replied the United States would not protest—in fact would "give our assistance."

LATE SOLON'S WIFE DIES

COLEMAN, Feb. 13 (AP) — Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Mrs. Henry Sackett, 87, widow of the late state Rep. Henry Sackett, who died yesterday after a long illness. Four daughters, two sons, and two brothers survive.

Third Pours Through New Westwall Break

Canadians Widen Breach, Establish Bridgehead Over River Near Kleve

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Feb. 13.—Widening their breach in the Siegfried line between the Maas (Meuse) river and the Rhine, British and Canadian troops today drove beyond Kleve, emerged from the eastern edge of the Reichswald and, south of the forest, established a bridgehead over the Niers river.

Approximately 1,000 British planes slashed at Nazi forces confronting Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops on this northern sector of the Western Front.

Third Pours Through

More than 100 miles to the south, the U. S. Third Army sent elements of three divisions pouring through a new break in Hitler's Westwall south of Pruem, while other doughboys drove the last Germans from the soil of Luxembourg.

Canadian "water rats" in the northern sector, entered Greithausen, less than a mile from the Rhine and 3000 airline miles from Berlin, in what was described as the heaviest fighting of the six-day-old British-Canadian offensive against enemy forces now swelled to seven divisions at the expense of other Western front sectors.

The day's heaviest fighting took place in the muddy terrain east of Kleve, where the Nazis battled fiercely to keep the British from pushing beyond the Siegfried line's second belt of fortifications.

Enlarge Bridgehead

South of Kleve, British troops won a bridgehead over the Niers river some 2,000 yards east of the captured stronghold of Gennep and were reported steadily enlarging it tonight.

For almost the first time since Montgomery opened his powerful offensive last week, Allied tactical planes were able to give the attacking troops extensive support.

With the flooded Roer river still forming a menacing obstacle to any operations by three Allied armies drawn up along its banks the double-barreled assault by Montgomery's forces in the north and Patton's at the center carried the entire weight of Gen. Eisenhower's offensive in the west.

The Germans, realizing that Montgomery's assault bore a deadly threat to the Rhineland, moved reinforcements to the muddy battlefront around Kleve from various sectors, including Alsace, northern Holland and the Ardennes — weakening their already thinly-spread lines.

Through Main Defenses

Despite the Nazis' intensive resistance, the British empire offensive had advanced from 10 to 12 miles, pushed through the main Siegfried defenses and the dense timberland of the Reichswald, cleared the important communications center of Kleve and captured well over 5,000 prisoners.

A field dispatch from Ned Nordness of the Associated Press said tonight that the "hard core of enemy armored resistance" had been broken and that British troops were pouring out the eastern edge of the German forest.

The German radio spoke of an impending full-scale Allied assault from the west.

"From hour to hour we expect the full-scale Allied offensive to roll into the Rhine plain," the German Army radio said today. "Stupendous forces massed west of Dueren and Jpelich are to carry our enemies to the Rhine. Twelve pioneer (engineer) battalions are along, and huge quantities of bridge construction equipment as well as fresh and reconditioned infantry forces are awaiting the signal to strike."

Luxembourg Cleared

While Patton's Fifth and 80th divisions were consolidating their new breach in the Siegfried defenses south of Pruem, other Third Army troops cleared Vianden — driving the last Nazi troops from Luxembourg. The Fourth Infantry division completed mopping up Pruem after repulsing two

Nazis Face New Threat In North

By JOHN F. CHESTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The German nation, pounded from the east, west and south, had a new psychological weapon aimed at its heart tonight—the first officially uttered threat of new Allied blows from the north.

Experienced London observers held no doubt whatever that the threat would be carried out. Proof enough seemed to rest in the fact that the Big Three Crimean communique — obviously a carefully worded document — included the word "north," whereas the statement issued after the Tehran conference spoke only of the other points of the compass.

Blow Expected Soon

The only questions were which of six possible avenues would be followed and when. The consensus, however, was that the blow would come soon.

The Nazis tried their best to keep the new threat from the German people. Neither press dispatches nor the German home radio service mentioned this section of the Crimean communique issued by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Marshal Stalin.

But it was pounded home by dozens of Allied broadcasts beamed directly into the Reich.

The most obvious avenue of attack from the north would be by air and the Big Three left room for this interpretation. Almost equally obvious would be a continued sweep by the Red Army along the Baltic coast perhaps accompanied by sea attacks by the sizeable Soviet Baltic fleet.

Another Possibility

Also in the list could be a drive by Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 21st Army group northward through the Netherlands, perhaps looking to the right toward Bremen, on the Weser river, or farther north toward vital Wilhelmshaven.

The Crimean communique stated flatly that "powerful blows to be launched by our armies and air forces into the heart of Germany from the east, west, north and south, have been fully agreed and planned in detail."

Where and when?

The Big Three added only that "combined military plans will be made known as we execute them."

Twenty-Four Navy Men Die In Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13. (AP)—Twenty-four Navy men died today as a twin-engine land plane dived into San Francisco bay 12 minutes after it had taken off from the Oakland airport on an eastbound flight.

There were 21 passengers and a crew of three on the transport plane.

Late in the day, after the wreckage of the shattered ship had been lifted from the shallow water, the Navy said six bodies had been recovered. The fuselage broke off just behind the wing as the plane hit the water with a crash that jarred houses in Alameda's fashionable South Shore residential district.

St. Valentine Started It Back In 170 A. D...

Today Is Field Day For Dan Cupid; No Ballads Barred

THIS is a field day for Cupid and no ballads are barred!

Today, sweethearts and wives all over America are thinking about the boys who have been away too long. Time and distance have had their way and the trend of 1945's Valentine sentiments is to get right at the heart of things.

The verses and decorations are much the same as they were generations ago when a moonstruck swain wrote to his lady fair," I love you . . . be my Valentine." But there are so many different ways to express the same thought as did St. Valentine in his affectionate farewell to his jailer's daughter Feb. 14, 170 A.D.

A few of the Valentines express the sophisticated attitude of lovers before the war, like "I go for you, kid" or "Oh, boy, and how, I'd give a lot to see you now." But for the most part, Valentine's of today are as old-fashioned as love itself and as feminine as a corsage, only twice as sweet.

Valentines have always featured big, red, plush hearts of lace trim, but this year they are as nostalgic as pressed roses and old lace dance programs to millions of American soldier boys at home and on the battlefields.

Typical of cards sent this year feature one perfect rose and this sentimental verse: "My sweetheart, you will always be sweet and wonderful to me, and in my heart you'll always stay, nearer and dearer every day."

Which might mean . . . there's nothing in the world as modern as old-fashioned love!

Budapest Second Nazi Stalingrad

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 13—The shattered remains of Budapest fell to the Red Army today after 49 days of street fighting that cost the enemy 49,000 men killed and 110,000 captured in the greatest individual disaster since Stalingrad, while some 300 miles to the northwest the Russians slashed 10 miles farther westward through German Silesia toward Wresden.

Premier Stalin announced the Budapest victory in an order of the day. The regular nightly communique, reiterating the announcement, added that the First Ukraine Army of Marshal Ivan S. Konev had taken another 150 towns in Silesia, reached the Queis river at several points and driven within 70 miles of Dresden, capital of Saxony.

In Polish Corridor

The communique was silent concerning operations on the front directly east of imperilled Berlin, where the Germans said the Russians had made gains of a mile and a quarter, but it announced five and six-mile advances in the continued cleanup of the Polish corridor some 40 miles northwest of Bydgoszcz.

Budapest's fall, with its staggering loss in manpower to the Germans and a list of captured equipment that included such items as 269 tanks, 1,257 cannon and 46 stores of food and ammunition, was credited by Premier Stalin to Marshals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Feodor Tolbukhin of the Second and Third Ukraine armies, which cooperated in the long operation.

The order described Budapest as "a strategically-important German defense center on the road to Vienna." It was the seventeenth European capital lost by the Germans to the Allies.

Attack Started Nov. 12

Direct attack on the Hungarian capital began last Nov. 12 after the fall of Monor, to the southeast. Encirclement was completed and Russian troops drove into the suburbs on Dec. 27.

Then for 49 flaming days and nights the Soviets fought through the streets of the great twin city astride the Danube, advancing block by block, house by house and even room by room against a stubborn garrison that rejected a surrender ultimatum by shooting the Russians who delivered it.

The bag of prisoners was the greatest in any city since Stalingrad, when the entire German Sixth Army of 330,000 men was

Nazis Pounce On Big Three Plans

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP)— Nazi leaders summoned the invaded German nation today to "resist to the last breath Yalta's Magna Charta for the pauperization and misery of Europe," and a German foreign office spokesman declared, "millions of us will wage guerrilla warfare; every German before he dies will try to take five or ten enemies with him to the grave."

The spokesman, Dr. Paul Schmidt, was quoted by the German radio as making this pronouncement to foreign correspondents, saying that he thought the Allied Big Three communique was "excellent, for it helps German leaders to maintain and strengthen war morale."

Worse Situations Seen

Contending that "there have been worse situations in the history of war than the one in which Germany is today," Schmidt said "eighty million people know how to defend themselves. We have gathered experience in smaller countries. Millions of Germans will pay back murder with murder."

Ignoring that part of the Big Three declaration which pledged "not to destroy the German people" and which promised hope of "a decent life" after the destruction of Nazism, Propaganda Minister Goebbels' orators sought to

Russians Hail Parley In Glowing Terms, Expect Big Allied Blows

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Feb. 13—The Soviet Union's official press described the Crimea conference today in glowing terms, and the impression in Moscow was that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin all were highly pleased with its results.

Pravda, the official Communist party set the keynote of Soviet reaction to the Big Three conference with the declaration that the parley "has proved that the alliance of the three big powers possesses not only an historic yesterday and a victorious today, but also a great tomorrow."

Biggest Event of Times

The government newspaper Izvestia hailed the conference as "the biggest political event of current times—an event which will enter in history as a new example of coordinated solutions of complicated questions in the interest of peace and democracy."

Russians will expect a considerable increase in the blows against Germany from the west, south and north as a result of the parley. This is the thing they have been clamoring for since the start of their winter offensive a month ago.

The Russian people remember that Marsal Stalin came back from the Tehran conference with assurance that there would be blows on Germany from the east, west and south—and there were. Of considerable interest to the Russians is the fact that the Crimea announcement added the north to the earlier three directions.

Accomplished Much

A deep and firm impression prevails in Moscow that Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin left better friends this time than ever before, and that although much was left to the future, they accomplished great things at Yalta and are themselves highly pleased with their work.

Pravda, which ordinarily does not publish on Tuesdays, came out today in honor of the Big Three meeting.

"The conference will go down in history as an example of real democratic cooperation," the paper said, adding that plans were adopted for the defeat of Germany "on a closer and more intimate basis of cooperation than ever before."

Soviet factory workers and miners held spontaneous meetings, following announcement of the conference over the radio in triumphant terms with playing of martial music. Impromptu speakers made such comments as "we'll be in Berlin soon," this means the end of Hitler," and "the hour of retribution has arrived."

Polish Question

The Polish question appeared to have been brought closer to a solution than at any time since it became acute. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin are understood to have agreed that the Polish problem would not interfere and would not be allowed to interfere with unity in winning the war or in winning the peace.

British V-Bomb Toll Heavy In January

LONDON, Feb. 13. (U.P.) — German V-Bombs killed 585 persons and injured 1,629 in Britain during January, the Ministry of Home Security announced today. The totals were nearly double those in December and were the highest, with the exception of November, since August.

BERLIN IN TURN GETS 60,000 TONS OF BOMBS

LONDON, Feb. 13. (U.P.) — Berlin has been hit with approximately 60,000 tons of bombs — about one ton for every 70 persons — during the war, the Air ministry announced last night.

About 15,000 tons of the bombs were dropped by the U. S. Eighth Air Force and the rest by RAF bombers.

The ministry said that reconnaissance showed Magdeburg, industrial city and reception center for refugees 75 miles west of Berlin, had been largely destroyed by recent Allied bombings.

A communique from USAAF headquarters in France reported that 125 Liberators of the Eighth Air Force, escorted by 50 Mustangs, attacked a motor fuel depot at Dulmen Sunday.

Another force of 250 Mustangs strafed and dive bombed communication lines in Northwest Germany, shooting up 60 locomotives, 180 rail cars, 35 oil cars and 26 canal barges.

Nazi "Blackface" Trick Is Failure

WITH THE U. S. FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Feb. 13. (AP) — The latest Nazi stunt on the Fifth Army front is a "minstrel show" infiltration.

A few days ago outposts of the 92nd negro division killed a four-man enemy patrol trying to work into their positions. Each enemy was clad in full American uniform, armed with a GI carbine. That has happened before — but this time something new had been added:

All four were wearing blackface.

To put it frankly, they are going to see that a provisional government of national unity is formed—but along the democratic lines they want.

No one could be more pleased than the Russians over the Crimea communique's article dealing with the United Nations organization to maintain peace and security. The Russians have stumped for such a thing for years, and the Soviet press and speakers have never quit this theme. The Russian view long has been that the lack of such an organization contributed largely to war.

Fulton Says Fighting Men Are Concerned Over Death Penalties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP) — Fighting men overseas are concerned with the frequency of court martial verdicts assessing the death penalty, Rep. Fulton (R-Pa) asserted today.

"The boys over there keep commenting on the number of very severe penalties being handed out by service courts," Fulton said.

Just back from serving as a deck lieutenant on a carrier off the Philippines, Fulton has been airing many views that he said members of the armed forces asked him to express when he returned to take his seat in Congress.

His recent suggestion that wives and families of service men be permitted to join their husbands abroad is his own idea, however, Fulton said.

"A lot of the court martial sentences seem over-severe, especially when compared with civilian penalties," Fulton told reporters.

"After all if a man refuses to be drafted or just ignores the draft call he gets only from three to five years in jail."

Military courts should consider the "extremely hard going on the fighting fronts which causes a lot of the men overseas to do things they ordinarily wouldn't think of doing," Fulton said.

Mexico Takes Over Argentine Company

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—Mexico, it was confirmed officially today, has taken over the first Argentine firm for supervision by the inter-departmental commission for enemy property and business.

The firm, "Vinos Argentinos," government officials said, has been under investigation for two years but the nature of any alleged offenses has not yet been announced.

After considerable investigation, officials added, the case was turned over to the assistant prosecuting attorney of Mexico, Luis Diez Infantes, who instituted action that resulted in the enemy property custodian's intervention.

"Vinos Argentinos, S. A." is a corporation, organized under Mexican law but it is not listed in directories as a wine company. The company has no telephone.

Giant Burglary Ring Smashed

LAMESA, Feb. 13. (Special)—Dawson County Sheriff A. M. (Buck) Bennett announced today that one of the biggest burglary rings ever to operate in West Texas had been virtually smashed by the arrest in the last two weeks of three men and a woman by the Dawson county sheriff's department.

More than $3,000 worth of furniture, radios, wearing apparel, bedclothing, guns, saddles, mattresses and other household items have been recovered, Bennett estimated.

Most Of Goods Returned

"Most of the stolen goods has been identified and returned to approximately 23 owners in eight West Texas counties," Bennett said. "Stolen property has been returned to owners in Dawson, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Borden, Howard, Martin and Sterling counties."

Much wearing apparel, bedclothing, several mattresses and three guns are in the sheriff's office here still unclaimed.

Bennett declared that between $500 and $1,000 worth of stolen goods had been returned to Dawson county residents.

Bennett and his deputy, A. N. (Jap) Randle, arrested Clemente Garcia, 35, and a woman at a house eight miles south of Lamesa Friday, Feb. 2. They discovered a car and the dwelling "loaded" with goods allegedly stolen.

Louis Rangel and Amelio Cuntero were arrested on felony warrants Feb. 5 near Uvalde by Bennett and Sheriff Zimmerman of Martin county. There the officers recovered stolen goods which included a trailer, guns, radio, bedclothing, wearing apparel and a saddle which had been stolen in Gaines county.

Sheriff Bennett indicted that other arrest might be made soon in South Texas which probably would turn up other stolen property.

Mighty Allied Blows Hoped For By Reds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP) — A Soviet military spokesman said today it must be assumed that the Anglo-American Allies now "will back the Red army's offensive with mighty blows against the common enemy."

Writing in the Soviet embassy information bulletin, Col. M. Tolchenov declared that "so far, the operations conducted by our Allies in the west have not prevented the Germans from transferring a number of divisions to the Soviet-German front."

"Disaster is bearing down upon Germany with terrific speed," the article said.

"The Red army's victories have opened up for the United Nations real prospects for the utter defeat of the common enemy. This task must be carried out in the interests of all peace-loving nations, who are vitally interested in securing the complete liquidation of the hotbed of piratical aggression in Europe."

Travel Situation Still Bad, But Some Relief By Summer Forecast

(By The United Press)

Hotel space and train reservations are still at a premium in a majority of the nation's larger cities, despite the Office of Defense Transportation's ban on wartime conventions, but officials are hopeful for some relief for the weary traveler by late spring or early summer, a United Press survey revealed today.

Some hotel men said that the convention ban made no difference in the amount of travel, but at Chicago, where the majority of the conventions are held, L. O. Doty, reservations manager at the Stevens, said there are now more rooms available for persons not on convention business and a five to 10 per cent decrease in business was expected by March 1.

No Effect In Florida

Such a decrease would mean between 150 and 300 rooms would be empty nightly, he said.

The convention ban had no effect on the hotel situation at Miami and Miami Beach, Fla., because no conventions have been booked there for two years. However, fewer than 500 hotel rooms were available in both places and train reservations were being booked 30 days in advance.

In New York the American Hotel association said it was too early to judge effects of the ban, but added that "it was logical to deduce" that it would ease the room shortage. Hotels were still full, a spokesman said, but waiting lists had been shortened. A New York Central railroad representative said trains were operating at capacity but standees had been eliminated by the ban.

No Effect Is Felt

Pittsburgh hotel officials said the ban had no effect on the situation there but Portland, Ore., hotel managers said it released about 100 to 1,000 rooms for regular business.

Most railroad officials agreed that the ban would ease the shortage of reservations more this spring and summer during the regular convention season, but one office of the central of Georgia railroad estimated that Pullman travel between Birmingham, Ala., and Chicago had been cut by 10 per cent during January by the no convention ban.

Hotels Still Jammed

At Atlanta, Ga., however, officials said they were jammed before the convention ban and still are. No travel reservations on buses, trains or planes are available unless made well in advance, they reported.

At Denver, a traditional convention city, the manger of the Brown Palace hotel said that despite the ban "conditions are five per cent worse" than before the ODT order.

Little difference in the hotel situation was reported in New Orleans where hotels are full constantly and all trains are running with capacity loads.

At Los Angeles, one hotel manager summed up the effects of the ban by saying, "we were full then and we're still full."

Claude Isbell Named Secretary Of State

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (U.P.)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today sent the name of Claude Isbell, Rockwall, to the Senate as his second choice for secretary of state.

Isbell, a former state Senator, has been assistant secretary of state under former Secretaries William J. Lawson and Sidney Latham, and has been acting secretary since the Senate rejected reappointment of Latham last week.

Stevenson announced also the appointment of Walter Buckner, San Marcos, and W. H. Earl, Waco, to be members of the state commission to aid the blind for six-year terms, dating from Jan. 10, 1945. Buckner recently was confirmed by the Senate for a short term on the commission.

Regulations For Lake Texoma Are Planned

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (U.P.)—A bill to set up statutory regulation of Lake Texoma, located on the Texas-Oklahoma border on Red River, was introduced in the Texas House of Representatives today by Rep. M. B. Morgan, Denison.

The lake is now governed as to hunting and fishing privileges by a compact commission between the two states. Morgan's bill provides for reciprocal hunting and fishing licenses, and leaves detailed regulations on Texas' side to the State Game, Fish and Oyster ocmmission.

Morgan said Oklahoma legislature would consider a bill similar to his proposal.

Texas Soldier Runs Amuck Among Nazis, Making His Escape

By ROBER EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE 35TH DIVISION, Feb. 13.—Pfc. Joseph "Tex" Kelsoe of Avery, Tex., said today that when a Nazi officer questioning him slapped him across the face, he overcame his guard, killed the officer and a soldier at the door, and escaped.

"Tex" was captured with a ten-man patrol behind German lines when he crawled into a Nazi communicating trench. He remembered being led out between two Germans and into a shell-battered house.

He was kept in an unfurnished room for a night and a day without food and water, he said. When he tried to light a cigaret, a guard took the package from him.

About dark the second night a German officer started the interrogation. Kelsoe said he refused to give any information except his name, rank and serial number. This, he said, infuriated the Nazi officer. The German backhanded him across the face and knocked him down.

Declaring he would have the Texan shot, the officer turned Kelsoe over to a guard who had appropriated the American's rifle. Kelsoe said he went for the guard and got his rifle back in a knock-down and drag-out fight that left the German on the floor with his head bashed in.

Rounding the corner of the house he came face to face with the officer and got him "looking right down the barrel," he said. Then he killed the guard on the house and probably several other Germans on the way out of the small town.

"I was scared," he said, "and I wasn't going to let anyone stop me."

The Germans chased him through the muddy fields, throwing machinegun and mortar fire about wildly. Kelsoe reached his own lines just as daylight broke, and learned that all but two of his comrades of the ten-man patrol had been accounted for.

Federal Taxes Show Increase For 1944

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Federal taxes took $42,125,986,550 of America's big war time income of 1944. This is an increase of $10,201,456,234 over 1943—or more than the total tax bill in peace time.

The biggest chunk of revenue came from individual and corporation income taxes. The combined total for 1944 was $34,130,123,089 compared with $25,326,635,548 in 1943.

By states, the grand totals of taxes from all sources 1944 and 1943, total corporation taxes 1944, total individual income taxes 1944, then withholding taxes 1944 in parenthesis, include:

Texas, $1,016,737,847 and $826,369,620; $307,793,376; $495,836,846 ($216,356,048).

Gallup Polls The Home Front

Few Americans Feel They Have Sacrificed For War

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Advocates of a National Service act can continue to work for the legislation without fear that they are asking too much of the people here on the home front.

Actually, the majority of voters here at home at the present time do not think they have so far had to make any real sacrifice for the war.

GALLUP

Using methods of sampling which enabled it to predict the 1944 presidential election within 1.8 per cent of absolute accuracy, the Institute had field reporters across the nation put this question to a cross-section of the entire adult civilian population:

"Have you had to make any real sacrifice for the war?"

The replies:

YES	36%
NO	64

The figures also suggest that the majority of American people may be inclined to discount the sacrifices they have actually been called upon to make, probably with an eye to Britain and European areas which have suffered appallingly under heavy bomb and robomb attacks night after night.

Among the 36 per cent who say they think they have made real sacrifices, the greatest number mention the absence of a relative who is in the armed forces. Some of these cite casualties—wounded and killed.

Coming in for frequent mention also are such things as financial sacrifices of one kind or another, busines sacrifices, sacrifices due to rationing and material shortages.

A smaller number mention blood donations, Red Cross work, work with the USO, etc.

Verbatim comment sent in by field reporters from all over the nation reveal touching and amusing cases of "sacrifice." Here are some:

A 63-year-old farmer, Homer, Louisiana: "I've sent six boys off to war."

A woman botfling machine worker, Louisville, Kentucky: "My husband had to go into the Army, and I have to raise five children."

Sales executive, Akron, Ohio: "I spent 25 months overseas, lost my business. Also lost an eye.

Stenographer, Detroit, Mich.: "I'v had to get along without nylons!"

Waitress, Dayton, Ohio: "All my boy friends have gone overseas; so I can't get married."

Which of his two wives will he come home to... Mrs. "Gay" or Mrs. "Glum"?

Yugoslavia To Set Up New Government

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP) — With the blessing of the Big Three, Yugoslavia's exiled government prepared today for an immediate return to Belgrade to set up a single government on the basis of an agreement between Premier Subasic and Marshal Tito.

A spokesman for the Yugoslav government said announcement of the members of a three-man regency would await further talks in Belgrade, but he indicated there was substantial understanding with Tito on all matters.

The Big Three recommended to Tito and Subasic that their agreement be put in effect immediately, and that the new government be formed at once.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

ACCORDING to an Army psychiatrist the average mental age of U. S. troops is between 13 and 14. During World War I it was 12.

• • •

IN THE MAIL

Dear Miss Turner:

I have been wanting to write you about a pet grievance of mine which happens to be regarding the rental of apartments. I just happen to be another "war widow" whose husband has been overseas for several months. In order not to live alone I chose a very nice girl for a roommate who is employed by the same company where I work.

When we see an advertisement of an apartment in the paper, we dash madly out to see about it and to our disgust we get a reply that "we don't rent to just girls," and usually a sly grin accompanies the words. It really makes my blood boil because my husband is fighting and sacrificing everything good in life for those people who are inconsiderate to him and many others and for their interests on the home front.

I should think these people who have apartments or rooms would be more glad to do their wee mite and would be most happy to accommodate the wives by at least giving them a temporary home. I said GIVING but I meant RENTING them rooms for money and not donations of any type.

I will say that when this war is over they will be glad to rent to "just girls," even without references and won't care just so they are able to pay their rent. I am anxious to see that day.

A few women have explained to me that some of the girls have not been living as they should which I cannot help and that is none of my business, as I do not have to account for anyones deeds except mine. I say judge not lest ye be judged.

M. M.

DEAR M. M.: We are sure the stock answer "we don't rent to just girls" is true to a certain extent where unmarried girls are concerned. One of the nicest young women in town, who has been on the trail of a house to share with other unmarried business women for months, has heard that about thirteen hundred times.

We'd like to invite comment from either landlords who rent or do not rent apartments to married women or from women who have been successful in renting because their husbands are overseas (or in spite of it!) Perhaps both will write, or neither.

We are sure this is a problem for many young women but we have no solution. There is nothing we could say or do that would help. But a forum in the column might be of interest. Does anyone want to take part?

• • •

NOTE: Will the woman who signed her card "A Subscriber" and asked about a brother-in-law who was reported missing in Belgium Dec. 17 call by the office? Perhaps we can help you. The card was so vague we cannot answer the request.

TODAY'S GAG

THE co-ed and the soldier apparently had not met for some time. They were sitting in the twilight watching the light fade from the windows in the house across the street.

"And you say that last week you were in the town where I live?"

"Uh-huh."

"And you thought of me, John?"

"Yeah," said John. "I said to myself, 'Why, I remember—this is where what's-her-name lives!'"

A WISE CHOICE

MRS. J. H. Stiles' many friends will be interested in learning the energetic woman has been named executive secretary of the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter. It's been our privilege to serve on a number of committees with Mrs. Stiles and she is one woman who can organize work, encourage committees to outline their duties harmoniously, make suggestions and ask advice of others, without becoming obnoxious.

Off hand we'd say Mrs. Stiles is one of the few women we know who is not resented by other women because she is thoroughly efficient. While most of us resort to our fingers or take off our shoes when adding figures above 10, Mrs. Stiles, who has served as auditor at Tech college, loves numerals as much as a math prof.

She is sincerely and seriously interested in the welfare of others. We've said already she is a good organizer; she plays a good game of golf and a more than fair hand of bridge; she's a successful mother; has been a confident to many, many soldiers and young cadets and officers who have been temporary Lubbock residents since the bases were established here and, as head of the group sponsoring the Hub-ettes, junior hostesses at the USO, she has been popular with young women of the city.

And her neighbors vouch for her, Mrs. Stiles' generosity about trays and sitting up with the sick or taking care of babies while their mothers go to the clinic for treatment.

Her energy seems boundless, which is generally true with her type—a slender, staccato-voiced, keen-eyed red-head.

Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, guest speaker for Lubbock Woman's Forum Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. C. Hopping, 2429 Nineteenth, spoke on "Solving Today's Problems Through The Federation."

She divided her lecture into three parts. First, Mrs. Walker pointed out the over-all problem that democracy faces today; this problem is to make a democratic form of government work. Next, she pointed out ways in which the federation is uniquely fitted to assist in these problems. In conclusion, the spaker said that the success of a democratic nation depends on the state of its individual citizens and in view of that fact, she mentioned the following ways in which the individual might help to solve his personal problems:

Women need to increase their skills, to continue to grow mentally, to remember that they will live during only one period of history and that the next generation will inherit the earth, to read a book that was published this year, to remember that no individual is indispensible, to do a minimum of hurrying and worrying, to be on God's side, and to remember that a journey of a thousand miles is taken one step at a time.

Controversial Tax Diversion Bill Aired By Texas Senate Committee

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—A highly controversial Senate bill diverting a portion of county motor vehicle registration funds paraded before an array of witnesses in a public hearing before a Senate committee today, only to end in the semi-oblivion of a sub-committee.

The Senate chamber was packed for the hearing by scores of witnesses composed of county judges and commissioners opposing the measure and an even larger turnout of mayors of Texas cities.

Offered By Pat Bullock

The bill introduced by Pat Bullock of Colorado City with Buster Brown of Temple as co-arthur, would have given cities a 40 per cent cut of county registration funds from motor vehicles registrations inside an incorporated city, up to the first $50,000 and 20 per cent from all monies obtained between $50,000 and $175,000 on the same basis.

J. A. Sadler, mayor of Colorado City, a witness favoring the bill, declared that many counties now hold a surplus in this fund and that cities have no revenue to repair or construct roads inside city limits, and that funds for this purpose are badly needed.

Would Aid Amarillo

Joe Jenkins, mayor of Amarillo told the committee that "we have assessed our citizens to build city streets and our streets are in need of repair and new ones are needed but we can't reassess the property owners for these additional funds."

Funds now allocated counties from registration on motor vehicles inside the city would help accomplish this purpose, he added.

Conger Jones, city and county engineer of Del Rio, told the committee that he was appearing in behalf of the bill as his county did not oppose it.

John C. Miller of Mineral Wells, one of the last witnesses for proponents of the bill, testified that Palo Pinto county received approximately 50 per cent of all registration fees from his city and that the city was taxed 30 cents for the county road and bridge fund.

Ruin Small Counties

Judge P. L. Crossley of Midland, said that if the bill were passed it would ruin every small county in the state. "Our commissioners court is $5,000 in the red now."

Others appearing in opposition to the bill were: Judge Dudley Davis of Center, Judge R. B. Slight of Brewster county and H. A. May, Harris county commissioner.

The committee referred the measure to a sub committee with no time limit on reporting back.

In Oklahoma the system would serve Durant, Shawnee, Oklahoma City, Chickasha, Lawton, Duncan, Ardmore, Frederick, and Altus. Other out of Texas points would be in Louisiana and New Mexico including Shreveport, and Albuquerque.

Majority of the Aviation Enterprises case was presented yesterday. Testimony today included an estimate by CAB public counsel Vernon Kohlhaas that $4,258,350 would be required to put the 10,792 mile system into operation. Public counsel Paul Reiber estimated that $950,000 plus operation capital would be required for Aircraft Sales to go into operation. Community Air Service estimated that $500,000 would be required to start its proposed operations.

Woman Drowns Two, Blames Family Dog

MOUNT VERNON, Ind., Feb. 13 (AP)—Sheriff Ralph Rowe said today Mrs. Arthur N. Wallis of Mount Vernon told him she had drowned her two young children in the Ohio river and then blamed the family dog for the tragedy.

Mrs. Wallis, 32, was arrested without charge last night after she told authorities the dog had pushed the children into the river yesterday from a ferry dock on the Kentucky side of the river. The children were Arthur Lee, 6, whose body was recovered, and Marjorie Louise, 4, whose body was still sought today.

The sheriff said Mrs. Wallis, citing domestic troubles, told him she pushed the boy and girl off the dock and jumped in herself. The sheriff said she told him she intended to commiit suicide, but lost her nerve and struggled ashore.

The children's father is a Mount Vernon factory worker.

Appropriation Said Needed For Big Bend

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—An appropriation of approximately $75,000 will be necessary to buy 19 additional sections of land the federal government wants for the Big Bend National park in West Texas, the state auditor reported today in a state parks board audit for the year ended last Aug. 31.

Last year the state deeded to the federal government 691,338 acres for the park and 4,480 acres had yet to be transferred when the audit closed. The additional sections wanted by the federal government, said the auditor, include 1,733 acres with improvements priced at $35,000. The improvements include 300 acres of irrigated land, a cotton gin, sheep fences, buildings and other improvements.

The auditor reported that last August the state had 36 parks with acreage of 92,510 and many operating concessions from which receipts totaled $64,360. Disbursements for the fiscal year were $45,978, increasing the balance in park fund at the end of the year to $75,918.

Byrnes Says Vodka Is Powerful Stuff

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—"How's the vodka?" was the first question put today to War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes on his arrival from the Big Three meeting.

"It's new corn," Byrnes replied with a smile.

He added they have a brand of vodka called "pepper" which contains red pepper.

"And boys, that has authority," Byrnes said. "When they toast in that it has strong language."

Lawmakers Eulogize New Road To China

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Ledo road—built to carry supplies to China—was described to the House today as "Gen. Joe Stilwell's vision, General Lewis A. Pick's job, and the GI's monument."

Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont), who visited the China-Burma-India theater last November and December as a personal observer for President Roosevelt, said in a prepared statement that before another two months have passed the Allies will be transporting from India to China a minimum of 13,000 tons of oil and 12,000 tons of supplies each month over the Ledo road.

"And I think that before 1945 is out," he added, "we will be shipping supplies into China over the hump and the road at the rate of 100,000 tons a month."

Mansfield also told of the pipeline now under construction which will parallel the Ledo road from Assam to its junction with the Burma road and then follow the latter into Kunming, China.

The line will deliver approximately 3,000 barrels of fuel every 24 hours, Mansfield said.

Four Killed, Seven Missing In Blast

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 13 (AP)—At least four men were killed and seven were unaccounted for after an explosion and fire abroad a Navy oil barge loading gasoline at the Gulf Oil corporation plant at South Norfolk late today.

The explosion occurred at 5:30 p. m. and a moment later the entire ship was enveloped in flames. Fireboats from the Norfolk Navy yard directly across the Elizabeth river sped to the scene and extinguished the flames after a 45-minute battle.

A Navy yard spokesman said tonight that the oil barge carried a crew of sixteen, that four men were on liberty. Four bodies were found aboard the vessel and one man, who was blown overboard, was rescued and taken to a nearby coast guard dispensary.

All of the vessel's personnel are in the Navy and the names of the victims will not be announced until the next of kin are advised.

First Negro WACs Arrive In England

BIRMINGHAM, England, Feb. 13 (AP)—A contingent of negro WACs—24 officers and 677 enlisted women—has arrived in England on the way to serve in the European theater postal service.

The first negro WACs to reach England, the contingent was given a rousing welcome. An army band played as Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, only negro general in the U. S. army, met the WACs at the disembarkation port. They came to Birmingham by train.

This group is the first army postal unit to be composed entirely of WACs. They will be stationed somewhere on the continent, handling army postal and directory service for the entire theater.

The contingent's arrival boosted the total number of WACs now on duty in the European theater to about 7,500.

Eisenhower-Scout Paper Drive Set

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Boy scouts today were assigned the mission of collecting 300,000,000 pounds of waste paper in a March-April drive sponsored by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Army's assistant chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, told Scouts and Cubs in behalf of General Eisenhower that waste paper "is needed now as never before to be converted to containers to carry munitions, food and military supplies."

Maxwell addressed opening ceremonies of the drive here.

Each Scout or Cub who collects 1,000 pounds of paper will be awarded a medal bearing Eisenhower's likeness, and each troop of cub pack averaging 1,000 pounds a member will receive a shell case—a paper container returned from the European battlefront—carrying a citation signed by the Allied commander.

The drive, officially named the Genral Eisenhower-Boy Scout waste paper program, was arranged by the American Newspaper Publishers association. ANPA said it is the only civilian program "sponsored personally" by General Eisenhower.

Two-State Tornado Toll Mounts To 41

(By The Associated Press)

War-crowded Montgomery, Ala., with its two Army air bases, wrestled last night with the problem of housing hundreds of persons made homeless by tornadic winds which whipped through two southern states and left a trail of 41 dead and approximately 200 injured.

Alabama's historic capital, with 26 fatalities, bore the brunt of the storm which struck with such force that it ripped railroad cars from their undercarriage and dumped them in a crazy pattern along the roadbeds.

Livingston, Ala., near the Mississippi border, reported seven persons killed and two missing when the tornado hit there; Meridian, Miss., counted five fatalities; York, Ala., had two and Stanton, Ala., one. Twenty-four of the dead were negroes.

The Red Cross, center of disaster relief activity, worked into the second night of feeding and sheltering storm survivors and undertook the difficult job of compiling casualty lists.

Many of the victims remained unidentified.

A House subcommittee has estimated that needed modernization of air navigation facilities throughout continental U. S. and Alaska will require the expenditure of $25 million per year over each of the next several years.

Ace Of Star Fighter Group Plans To Take Bottle Home

By ANN STRINGER
United Press Staff Writer

EIGHTH U. S. AIR FORCE BASE, England, Feb. 13. — It's good to the last drop — this bottle of Johnny's.

That's why Major John England is going to take his bottle with one drop of whisky in it back to his home in Caruthersville, Mo. He hopes to drink that drop at his wedding.

Good-looking, blond-haired England, a member of the hottest fighter group in the European theater, told me the story of the bottle of whisky.

Began Year Ago

It began one year ago today when the group — the 357th — made its first operational flight and shot down one plane. Since then 383½ enemy planes have been added, making the 357th the star fighter group in this theater.

The group's fighting spirit was inherited from Col. H. R. Spicer, its commander until he was shot down and taken a prisoner of war.

England told how Spicer, formerly the commanding officer of Moore field, Mission, Tex., passed the spirit along — and incidently the bottle.

Went On First Mission

"Colonel Spicer was a fiery speaker," England said. "He just made you want to go out there and tangle with those Germans until the sun comes down. I guess he just had what it takes to give the boys that old fighting spirit."

England said the colonel went with the group on their first mission. When they returned the colonel brought out the bottle and handed it to the pilot who shot down the group's first plane.

"He said that would be our victory bottle," England said. "Each time one of us shot down a Jerry ship he could have a drink from it—and if anyone shot down a dozen planes he could have a dozen drinks.

Has 95 To Its Criedit

"Well, this particular bottle has 95 planes to its credit, and now we are on our third bottle. I guess I got my share of them all right, and now I'm taking this one home."

England did get his share. He shot down 19 planes on 113 missions.

"The fellows say I decerve the bottle," England said. "You see—I'm the only one of the original squadron left. Some of the others have already gone home. Some, I guess, never will get home."

England said the group gave him a fitting peresent for his 22nd birthday on Jan. 15. On that day they broke the then long-standing record by shooting down 57½ enemy craft in one day to become the Eighth Air force's hottest group.

Here are some other records held by the 357th:

They destroyed more planes in less time than any other group in the European theater; they were the first Mustang group in the Eighth Air force; they flew the first single-engine planes over Berlin.

They also participated in the longest fighter escort mission in history — escorting the 5,000-mile triangle shuttle mission to Russia Italy and England last Aug. 6 to 14.

That's the record started by the bottle under England's arm which he is taking home to celebrate soon — he hopes—his wedding with Jane Reynolds, a student of Sophia Newcombe college, New Orleans.

Nazi Propaganda

persuade all the people they were in the same boat with the Nazis.

Possibly Caught Off Guard

After weeks of stiffening the Germans against an anticipated "surrender now" call, the propagandists may have been caught off balance by the Crimean conference results. They denounced "Bolshevik terror and Jewish revenge whose terms will be made public only after we have laid down our arms."

The general theme of German radio and press comment on the Crimean meeting was that the United Nations intended to exterminate all Germans and to make the Soviet Union the chief agent of what was termed "the greatest political murder conspiracy of all time."

Marshal Stalin was painted as a monster whose intention was "the dismemberment and extirpation of Germany and the domination of Europe." Thus, the Nazis harped on one of their oldest strains, the "Red menace."

Natural Gas Conservation Plan For Texas Drafted By Dr. Schoch

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—A natural gas conservation plan which he said would vastly increase the income of owners of this natural resource and increase the gas in Texas three to four times was offered to the Railroad commission today by Dr. E. P. Schoch of the University of Texas.

Dr. Schoch, outstanding authority on natural gas, is professor of chemical engineering at the university. He was joined in his study by Drs. F. K. Pence and Simon Williams, directors of research in ceramics and cotton.

Outgrowth of Hearings

The study was an outgrowth of the informal hearings held by the commission in December on the conservation of natural gas, and the report was made in response to the commission's request for written suggestions. The report included specific recommendations, probable results, and legislative procedure which may be necessary.

Dr. Schoch's suggestions were:

1. Gas to be used in quantities such as 100,000,000 cubic feet or more per year for purposes for which lignite or other cheap solid fuels could be used, shall hereafter be excluded by the Railroad commission's estimate of market demand; but this provision should not be used to decrease the total volumes allowed for existing gas lines below the amounts they now carry.

Should Raise Price

2. The price to be paid to gas owners by pipeline operators shall be gradually raised from its present figure to a figure near or above 10 cents (per 1,000 cubic feet), in accordance with the market demand as defined above.

3. To increase the market demand in Texas, there shall be instituted an effective program of industrialization aided by specific provisions for new industries, particularly those using clays, cotton, and natural gas itself as a material for manufacture.

4. Gas supplies such as those used for carbon black and for oil lifting, which are now disposed of through other means than common carriers, should be given special technical study with the view of reducing unprofitable or wasteful outputs of gas.

These four actions, said Dr. Schoch, should result in increasing the total income of gas owners from $23,000,000 to $100,000,000 per year; it would make the length of the gas age three to four times as long as it would be without such procedure; it would cause no loss of income on the investment in pipelines; Texas prices of domestic and commercial gas would not be increased and perhaps would be decreased; and the higher fuel costs which large industrial users would have to bear will not affect them substantially because even with lignite, the fuel item is only one-third the total power costs.

Under present laws, Dr. Schoch said, the commission may not have the power to make a distinction between "gas replaceable with cheap solid fuels" and other kinds of gas, and if so, legislative actions should be taken as soon as possible, to put such program into effect.

He suggested the legislature should give research institutes $400,000 per year (one fifth the present tax receipts for gas) to further investigate means of solving the gas problem. To stop gas waste, he suggested metering all gas coming out of the ground with the commission authorized to use a portion of its oil fee collections to effectively perform the engineering and administrative service "necessary for observing and regulating the production of all gas."

KFI To Discontinue Radio Commentators

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13. (AP)—One of the biggest radio stations in the Far West, KFI, is going to discontinue commentators who express personal opinions and interpretations.

The Earle C. Anthony, 50,000-watt clear-channel affiliate of the National Broadcasting company has announced:

"Effective March 1, KFI will inaugurate a new policy in the broadcasting of sponsored news programs. Direct wire reports, commonly known as 'spot news,' will be supplemented by programs featuring analysis of the news. Commentators expressing personal opinions and interpretations will be discontinued. All newscasters and news analysts must be employes of KFI.

"For the present, KFI will look to the National Broadcasting company, with which it is affiliated, to furnish its listeners a sufficient number of qualified commentators."

A qualified analyst for KFI, a station spokesman said, would be someone who had been a foreign correspondent for a news service; or one who is familiar with the people and the political and economic aspects of a foreign situation; or a man with military background competent to discuss a battle or a campaign in the light of military considerations.

Mahon Proposes Move To Acquaint People With Dumbarton Oaks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Estimating that not more than 100,000 Americans are acquainted with the Dumbarton Oaks proposals for world peace, Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) urged the House today to start a national campaign of study and discussion of the document.

He said there has been "too little discussion" of the proposals, both in Congress and throughout the country, and added that such a campaign would be "particularly fitting" in view of the forthcoming United Nations conference at San Francisco.

FARM LABORERS SHORTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (U.P.)—The Feb. 1 size of the farm labor force, composed of hired workers and farm families, stood at the lowest level on record for that date, the agriculture department reported today. The total was 8,051,000, or four per cent below last year and 11 per cent under the pre-war average.

Bad Practices Laid To Cigaret Shortage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The Federal Trade commission said today "a number of undesirable practices" have developed in the tobacco industry in connection with the cigaret shortage.

These practices didn't cause the shortage—the commission said—they were the results of it.

Investigating the scarcity at the request of Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), the federal agency reported that it is directly traceable to the volume of cigarets going to the Armed service and the Allies, and is magnified by an increased civilian demand.

The report said the scarcity was not caused by an illegal arrangement with the industry. No large hidden stocks were uncovered in the investigation, and the commission said it isn't likely that anybody will try to accumulate such stocks.

As for the "undesirable practices," the commission said they include:

1. Inequitable "rationing" by some manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers.

2. Some wholesalers are using "tie-in" sale practices—that is, selling other tobacco products to retail stores as a condition to the sale of cigarets. The commission said it will take separate action on the complaints of retailers about such methods.

3. Citizens haunted by the fear of being without cigarets are buying more than they need immediately—that is, "hoarding."

The commission said there is little prospect of much increase in production in 1945.

92nd Is Severely Mauled By Germans

ROME, Feb. 13 (AP)—The U. S. 92nd Infantry division and its supporting armor were mauled severely in weekend fighting attendant upon their abortive attack in the Ligurian coastal sector, 15th Army group headquarters said today.

A special report from Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters concerning the attack of the negro division, which official dispatches earlier had tended to discount as minor action, said:

"Casualties and tank losses were relatively high and no net gains in terrain were made."

Sharp German counterattacks supported by concentrated artillery and mortar fire repulsed the negro doughboys after they had gained as much as a mile on a five-mile front. The 92nd's first full attack as a division was launched last Thursday and penetrated to within two and one half miles of Massa before the enemy recovered from surprise and drove the Americans back in four days of fighting.

Action in the sector yesterday was limited to patrolling.

HOSPITAL SHOPPING SERVICE—In a British military hospital in Italy, Pamela Wickham, a Red Cross welfare officer, takes down a list of shopping requests from a patient, Lance Corporal Hendley of Richmond, Surrey.

About 51 per cent of all males in Burma are illiterate.

Since 1858 Mount Vernon has been enlarged to 475 acres.

Cigaret Shortage To Grow Worse

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (U.P.)—The cigaret shortage will probably grow worse during 1945 and about the only thing that can be done about it is to see that available smokes are spread around.

The Federal Trade commission arrived at that conclusion today after an extensive investigation. It reported its findings to Chairman Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., of the Senate interstate commerce committee who requested the inquiry.

As to prospects, the FTC said there was little chance of more cigaret production in 1945, and every likelihood that civilians would get less of those actually manufactured. The Army, it pointed out, wants 77 billion smokes in 1945 compared with 68 billion in 1944.

About the only thing that can be done, the agency concluded, is to portion out the available cigarets more fairly. This, it said, could be done if the companies making and distributing them would resurvey their markets and reform their rationing systems to conform to population shifts, changes in customer requirements and "other factors."

Bill Would Require Texas Public Officials To File Income Statements

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (U.P.)—A bill to require all elected or appointed public officials to file annual statements of their incomes was introduced in the Texas House of Representatives today.

The measure, by Rep. Dann Kirby, El Paso, calls for state officials to file their statements with the secretary of state, while county and city officials would tender theirs to county clerks by Feb. 1.

Would Forfeit Offices

If any of the officials have business connections, incomes of the businesses must be revealed also. Failure to file or making false statements would result in forfeiture of office.

Another bill by Kirby provides that employers must grant employes leave of absence and preserve their seniority rights if the employe gives 14 days written notice of induction or to seek political office.

A bill by Rep. W. R. Chambers, May, specifies state aid to rural schools shall never be less than in 1945 or 20 per cent more than for that year. Rural aid now is $11,406,072 a year.

Other Measures Presented

Other measures provide:

Cities and counties may have authority to survey and condemn land for airports.

County commissioners may create civil service systems for county employes.

All dogs must be innoculated against rabies.

Increasing the present fine as penalty for volating the pink boll worm law to include a jail sentence of not less than 10 days.

A fine from $50 to $200 for impounding a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Life insurance policies may be purchased on wards.

County judges may serve as ex-officio county school superintendents in counties where there is no such position.

A fine of $100 for permitting dogs to run at large.

Westerners Bump Brownfield Cubs

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 13 (Special)—Lonnie Balch kept the faint spark of hope alive for Coach Dixie White's Lubbock Westerners here tonight as the little fellow sparked a garrisoon finish in the last quarter that brought the Lubbock lads a 35-22 win over the Brownfield Cubs.

The victory evened the season's conference record for the Westerners, and dropped the Cubs into third place. It also sends the Brownfield five to Plainview Friday night to "do the playing for both clubs" and make a final bid to stop the high flying Plainview Bulldogs, and throw the south half race into a three-way tie.

Last Game Counts

The final game on the playoff schedule will have a big bearing on the final outcome of the race. The Bulldog can clinch the south half crown by beating the Cubs. The only loss suffered in the race by Plainview was at the hands of the Cubs, and revenge will give the Hale county lads a double incentive.

Tonight's game here was a nip and tuck battle for three periods, and kept the fans on edge until the Westerners "found the range" in the fading minutes of the game, and pulled away for the win by a more comfortable margin.

The two clubs reached the end of the first quarter with Brownfield trying to protect a 10-8 lead, but the Westerners eased back into the lead just before the half, and was nursing a lead of the same margin at the intermission, 18-16.

Lubbock Breaks Loose

The two teams scrapped hard through the third quarter, and the Westerners moved into the home stretch with a 24-20 advantage. But in the last period Balch began to bombard the backboard, and the Westerners counted 11 points in this period, while holding the Cubs to two points.

Balch more than doubled the points of any other man, sinking six field goals and four donation tosses for 16 points. His losest rivals were Westerners, George Brewer and Charles Pressley, each getting seven points.

The scoring honors for the Cubs were divided between Wheatley and Kempson, each getting six points.

The Westerners made a clean sweep of the night's twin bill, the Westerner B team beating Coach Aubra Nooncaster's B club, 42-28.

Again it was slender Bob Galey that set the pace for the Westerners, pouring 21 points through the meshes for individual honors. Again the Brownfield scoring honors were divided between a pair of local lads, and with a top count of six points. George and Moore both reached this figure.

Winners of state championships will represent Texas in the Chicago Tournament of Champions Feb. 26-28.

Amarillo Beats Borger, 47-27

BORGER, Feb. 13 (Special) — Amarillo's Golden Sandies broke fast at the tipoff, and roared to a 47-27 victory over the Borger Bulldogs here tonight, and clinched at least a tie for the north half title of District 1-AA.

The Sandies took the temparary lead in the north half, and brought to a close the regular schedule. The outcome of the race will rest now with the outcome of the game in Pampa Friday night when the Bulldogs invade the Harvester lair.

The Sandies can win the north half crown with a Borger win Friday, and Pampa can tie Amarillo if they defeat the Bulldogs. Should the race be thrown into a tie, arrangements will be made for a playoff between the Sandies and Harvesters.

Using the fast break to a good advantage, Amarillo piled up a 13-3 lead in the first few minutes. Borger rallied in the second quarter, and cut the lead to 20-13, but were never able to really threaten the high flying Sandies.

Leroy Foster set a blistering pace for the Sandies, looping in nine field goals, and toed the foul line for three more points for a 21 point total. Dally paced Borger with nine points.

Abernathy Noses By Plainview Bulldogs

ABERNATHY, Feb. 13. (Special)—Abernathy's high-flying cagers chalked up victory number 24 out of 27 games played this season with a 31-27 win over the Class AA Plainview Bulldogs here tonight.

Plainview started the tilt with a rush and took an early lead, and was on the top side of a 9-6 score at the end of the first quarter. Then the Abernathy five began hitting the net and rapidly overhauled the Bulldogs, who held a 17-16 lead at halftime. In the third stanza the Abernathy basketeers ran wild to completely outclass the game Plainview group, and build up a 28-19 lead at the start of the fourth quarter. In the last few minuaes the Plainview group made a desperate rally, but was never able to catch up with the Abernathy team.

Lewis Lutrick of Abernathy was high point man for the tilt, scoring 16 points. John Coe of Plainview was high for the losers with 7.

The Anton girls trounced the Abernathy sextet 21-10 in the second game. Ann Lutrick scored 8 points for Abernathy, and Dorothy Billings tallied 12 for Anton.

The Abernathy boys will meet the Wayland College quintet at Plainview on Friday night.

GIANT PITCHER FARMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13. (AP) Ken Brondell, crack young right handed pitcher owned by the New York Giants, will be farmed out to the San Francisco Seals for the 1945 baseball season, Charles Graham, president of the local Coast League club, announced today.

WACO WINS AGAIN

WACO, Tex., Feb. 13. (AP)—The Waco Army Air field Wolves gained their 23rd victory in 24 games tonight, beating North Camp Hood, 57-42.

County Tourney Opens Thursday

Lubbock county's Class B Cagers will cut the field to three teams Thursday, Friday and Saturday in a double elimination tournament scheduled for the Cooper High school gym, to reduce the field to two girls teams and one boys five.

The two girls will move into the district girls tournament at a site yet to be named. The one boys team will move into the regional playoff at Canyon. The girls district meet has set its dates for Feb. 23-24, while the boys regional tournament is scheduled for Canyon on March 2-3.

Plays Starts Thursday

Play will be started Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, with four games on the schedule for that night. Play will be resumed again at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon with two games completing the first round of play.

Play will start Thursday with the Roosevelt and Cooper girls meeting in the first clash, followed by the boys clubs from Idalou and Roosevelt. Shallowater and Idalou girls will follow in the third game, with the finale being the boys clash between Frenship and New Deal.

A girls game between New Deal and Frenship will start the Friday play, with the Cooper and Shallowater boys completing the first round at 3 o'clock. The following game will match the winners of the first two girls games on the schedule.

Real Scrap Expected

Pre-tournament dopesters have indicated there will be a real battle down to the finish between four of the best school teams in this area, two in each division.

The Cooper and New Deal girls are rated high among the strongest girl teams on the South Plains, and will be highly favored to battle for the title in the Cooper tournament.

In the boys ranks, a real battle is expected to develop between the high scoring Idalou and Shallowater teams, with Cooper rated as more than an even chance to upset the dope bucket.

Leo Jackson, Tahoka coach and well known South Plains basketball official, will be in charge of the tournament.

Roosevelt Wins Two Petersburg Battles

Roosevelt cagers defeated Petersburg in two basketball games played Tuesday night.

The Roosevelt girls defeated the Petersburg sextet 26-13 in the opening game. McAllister of Roosevelt was high scorer with 19 points, and Boyd of Petersburg tallied 7.

The Roosevlt boys romped over the Ptersburg quintet by a score of 42-25 in the second game. Leach of Roosevelt hit the loop for 10 points, and Scarborough of Petersburg made 8.

Harrison Sage of Idalou acted as referee.

Service Clubs Gain Split With Civilians

Service cagers split even Tuesday night at the Lubbock Army Air field gym, with the Springlake boys nosing out the Section C Hangar five, 24-23, in the feature game while the LAAF WACs won a free scoring 41-24 in the opener over the Slaton Independents.

Esther Flanders set the pace for the WACs in the girl's game, getting nine field goals and a free pitch for 19 points. Ardis Barton was the scoring star of the closely fought boys game, leading the schoolboys to the win with six field goals and four free pitches for 16 points.

Texas Mines Opens Series With Red Raiders Tonight

Texas Tech's Red Raiders will return to the basketball floor tonight, opening a two game series with the Texas College of Mines five from El Paso. The tipoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The Texas Mines crew will come into Lubbock tonight with very little known of their season's record, but the club is reported to have a fast moving five that should give the Red Raiders plenty of trouble.

COWBOYS NOSE MUCKERS
The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys nosed out the Texas Mines Muckers Tuesday night at Abilene to gain an even split in the two game series, winning the series finale, 37-35.

The Miners won the opening game of a two game series with Hardin-Simmons Monday night at Abilene, and staged a last minute drive to win a 42-36 decision over the Cowboys.

F. Salas-Porras sparked the drive for the Miners with a sensational spurt in the fading minutes, looping in six field goals and a free pitch.

Coach Polk Robison has brought his Red Raiders along slowly this season, encountering plenty of tough breaks in his manpower problems, but in recent games, the Red Raiders have blossomed out into a fast moving five that have been giving good accounts of themselves.

Robison seemed in some doubt of his starting lineup for the Miners game tonight, and the great showings of late by Seth Murphey, the Levelland star, may find this rangy youngster taking over at center for the Red Raiders. Murphey has been looking good in recent workouts, and has earned his chance for tonight.

Another likely shift will find Thuett Barnard starting in the place of Gene Hardey at forward, with Hardey taking over at center, but these shifts in the regular lineup will not be named until gametime.

Other starters will be Jay Kerr at forward, with Jiggs Jackson and Ernest Hawkins manning the guard positions.

District 10-B Cage Winners Are Named

ACKERLY, Feb. 13. (Special)—The District 10-B cage championships were decided here last Saturday night with Loop winning a thriller over the Flower Grove five for the boys championship, while Union of Dawson county and Klondike winning the girls titles.

In the boys game, Loop nosed out in a game that found the lead changing hands six times. In the girls play, Union had little trouble in winning first place, while Klondike was hard pressed to beat Dawson for second honors.

The district is composed of teams from Loop of Gains county, Flower Grove of Martin county, Dawson, Union, Ackerly, Klondike and Sparenburg of Dawson county.

BOUT IS POSTPONED

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 13. (AP)—The return bout between Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh and Camp Normoyle, former world's welterweight ring champion, and Kid Azteca, welter champion of Mexico, scheduled for a Galveston ring, has been postponed from next Friday until Monday, Feb. 26, Zivic said here today. The postponement was made because Azteca hurt his hand, Zivic said.

Boys Club Cage Five Wins Over Cowhands

The Lubbock Boys club cage five romped to a 24-17 victory over the Cowhands Gold Tuesday night at the Westerner gym, jumping away to an early lead and holding it most of the way.

But the Cowhands stayed in the ball game until the fading minutes of play, when the Boys club cagers began to pull away. The score at the half found the Boys Club leading 12-8.

Lawson set the pace for the winners in the feature game, looping in seven points, closely followed by Gunn and McQuire, each getting six points. The Cowhand scoring was well divided, with Thrush being the only one to loop more than one field goal, and paced the scorers with four points.

The Boys Club B team also won over the Cowhand Gold squad, beating the schoolboy B team, 24-13. The Boys Club bounded away to a high 13-4 lead early in the first period, and were never headed off.

Swain pushed in 12 points to lead the scoring for the Boys Club in this second game, and was closely followed by a teammate, Conditt, who racked up 10 points.

Parham led the schoolboys with four points.

Coach Bob Parker's Cowboys Red team displayed a perfect defense in the curtain raiser, and romped to an 18-1 win over the Boys Club juniors. The Boys Club was held scoreless in the first half, but early in the third period, Armstrong pushed in a free throw to save the shutout.

At the same time, McKelvey was swishing ten points through the net to lead the Reds.

Amherst, Shallowater Split Double Header

SHALLOWATER, Feb. 13. (Special) — Shallowater High school cagers broke even with Amherst here tonight, the local girls losing to the visitors, 10-6, while the Shallowater boys romped to a 29-19 win in the feature game.

In the opener, scoring honors were divided between Adams of Shallowater and Mote of Amherst, each getting four points.

Enloe of Amherst stole the show in the feature game of the night as he racked up 15 of the visitor's 19 points, Johnson paced the winners with 8 points.

Byron Nelson Is Tourney Winner

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13. (AP)—Golf Master Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, helped himself to a $1,333.33 war bond Valentine-eve gift today by shooting a sensational 7-under-par 65 to defeat Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford, Me., by five strokes in a play-off round for the New Orlans Open golf championship.

It was Nelson's first title in the seven tournaments here and his fourth win of the winter season, while McSpaden chalked up his third second in six previous New Orleans Opens.

Playing under "tee-up" winter rules on a course made slow by heavy rains over the week end, Nelson equalled the course and tournament record for 18 holes set by Henry Picard, Harrisburg, Pa., in the 1941 tournament.

Nelson's play today was one of the best exhibitions of the winter tournament season.

He putted at 14 birdies, three eagles and one par. He got five of the birdies, missed the three eagles and bagged the par.

He putted for eagles on the second, sixth and 16th from eight, eight, and 20 feet, respectively, but missed by six inches or less and consequently got the birdies, giving him eight birdies, eight pars and one boggy for the round.

McSpaden, after falling into a 284 tie with Nelson at the end of the regular 72 holes of play yesterday by turning in one bad round, also shot masterfully today, but he was no match for "Mr. Golf." He had pars on 12 holes, got four birdies and two bogeys.

It was a tough break for McSpaden, who lost the tournament last year to Sammy Byrd after setting the pace up to the last 18 holes.

Buckley Field Romps Over Skygiant Five

DENVER, Feb. 13. (AP)—Buckley Field's Gunners evened up things tonight with the Amarillo, Tex., Air Field Skygiants for an earlier loss, and took the Texas basketball club to a 63 to 29 cleaning.

Buckley lost to Amarillo in a meeting at Amarillo some time ago.

Don Putman, Buckley forward, led his club in a tight, fast game in which the Skygiants were chopped down to small size. Doug Essick of the Buckley club led scoring with 14 points, and Paul Stevens of the Skygiants led the losers with 12. There wasn't even much consolation in that for the Texans — Stevens used to play with Buckley Field.

That Crimea Program

It Does Offer A Basis For Hope

THE bigwigs of government, Republicans as well as Democrats, have expressed themselves as largely pleased over the results of the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting the Crimea.

But unheard from, generally, are plain Joe and Mary Doakes of Main Street, U. S. A. What do they think of the meeting and the program it evolved? What will they think in the future when the less syruppy features of the confeience "leak out"—those decisions, and especially those agreements, which cannot be, or, at least, have not, been, yet disclosed?

Nobody knows what the millions of Doakeses are thinking or will think when they have the entire score to peruse. Today, a lot of Joes and Marys are probably refraining from tossing their hats in the air in the memory of what happened to the "Atlantic Charter." Joe and Mary, not as dumb as some people think, remember that governmental bigwigs cheered the "Atlantic Charter," too, when its outline first was laid before the world. And Joe and Mary also remember that a couple of years later they were told that the "Atlantic Charter" was just a point of general conversation, like the weather, and really wasn't what people erroneously thought it was in the first place.

No matter what the bigwigs—Republicans as well as Democrats—are saying today about the Crimea conference, the best we Doakes boys and girls can do is to hope that the broad program announced as the conference's decision will be carried out. On the basis of what we have been told to date, the program must be characterized as logical, broad, cooperative and conducive to the cause of future peace. It is what all Americans want, in the main. Let us all hope we eventually get what we want.

Shadows Cast Before

ELLIOTT V. BELL, superintendent of banks in the State of New York, offers food for thought to all Americans who are willing to accept it.

Said he, the other day:

"The danger of the 300 billion dollar debt is not that the government will go bankrupt. The important thing is that a debt of this size inevitably compels government to intervene more and more in the economic system."

The statement, we think, might well be filed under the heading "Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before."

A Word To The Wise, Etc.

THE outlook for new tires this year is definitely bleak. The outlook for new cars just isn't. All of which calls for more nursing, coddling and fussing than ever if the old bus is going to endure for the duration.

What to do about it is old stuff by now. But perhaps a brief roundup is worth repeatng, especially for the many service wives who may be faced with symptoms of automotive senility that would even stump the family tinkerer who is now overseas.

So here are a few do's and don't's suggested by car and tire manufacturers:

Keep tires properly inflated. Check pressure weekly. Switch tires, including spare, at least every 5,000 miles. Check wheel alignment, casing flaws, brake balance. Avoid fast stops and starts—and don't speed!

Have regular checks of ignition and battery. Replace worn spark plugs which waste gasoline and put an undue load on the battery.

Keep head and tail light lenses clean. Have spare bulbs on hand.

Let the garage man go over distributor, coil, condenser, voltage regulator, geenrator and starter. Don't tinker unless you know how.

Garages are busy and short of help. But it takes less time and bother to check for early trouble than to repair a breakdown.

So use your car with care and kindness and you'll stand a better chance of having it at the station when your soldier or sailor comes home.

We should be thankful that the Jap is brave to a fool-hardy extent. In his makeup there is no discretion which is the better part of valor.

"Why is it that Japs do not react like normal human beings?" asks a writer. There are two reasons, to wit: (1) They are not normal; (2) they are not human beings.

Are you receiving a lot of governing? If not, you're being cheated, for you are paying for a whale of a lot of it.

President Roosevelt says the war is costing us two hundred and fifty million dollars a day. Eternal vigilance isn't the only price of liberty.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

"CHINESE" GORDON

Charles George "Chinese" Gordon (1833-1885) was a British General, a Turkish Pasha, an Egyptian Field Marshal and a Chinese Mandarin. All these ranks were acquired while fighting in the respective countries. He became a Chinese Mandarin leading against the Chinese rebels known as the Taipings. This war, which lasted from 1850 to 1864, is easily the bloodiest war of all time. More than 20,000,000 people were killed in the course of it. Strangely enough, the literal meaning of "Taiping" is "Great Peace."

The Way Our People Lived

WHEN NEW YORK WAS YOUNG
IV

"This financial report," said Major Lawrence, folding up the papers, "seems to be perfectly clear. Expenses didn't eat up quite all the income last month, I see. Excellent. How did that happen?"

"We were rather lucky, I suppose," said Miss Fraser.

"I see. The trustees will be pleased. I must pay the school another visit this month—say about the fifteenth."

"Oh, do come, Major. We were all so pleased with your talk the last time you came. The girls thought you were jolly. The new girls were surprised. They had never heard you talk before, and when I told them you were coming they expected a tight-lipped, gloomy talk on behavior, but you talked about New York, and the strange sights that may be seen right here."

The Major laughed. "Yes, yes," he said, "I'm one of those old-fashioned fellows who believes that education should begin at home. Learn your own neighborhood first—and then spread out. That's my way."

"It's mine, too," said Miss Fraser. "It's the only sensible way. You said something that has interested me very much. New York, you said in your talk to the girls, is the most cosmopolitan community in the world. Are you sure? This little colonial town?"

"Well, I'm not absolutely sure," the Major replied, "for I have not counted the people here or anywhere else, but I am fairly certain that this little town on Manhattan Island would stand—if not at the top, then very near the top, in the list of cosmopolitan communities. At least 15 languages are spoken here."

"As many as that?" queried Miss Frazer, who seemed astonished.

"Quite. I see you're surprised, but you don't have to deal with all classes of people, as I do in my importing business. It's a town of many nationalities. Jews come here from all part of Europe because they are free in this colony to live their own way and to practice their religion. Then there are the French Huguenots, and the Swedes, and the Italians. Even the Arabs. We have a group of them here."

"Arabs! I've heard of them," Miss Fraser said, "but I don't think I've ever seen one."

"Oh yes, you have. They look somewhat like light-colored Negroes."

"How did the Arabs ever get here?"

"They were brought by pirates," the Major replied. "Have you ever learned of our piratical history?"

"Why, no," Miss Fraser said, after a little hesitation. "Of course, I've heard of Captain Kidd, but that's all, I think. Were there others?"

"Many," said the Major, "but it must be said in whispers only. About 50 years ago piracy was a flourishing New York business. It's prosperous even now, but it is carried on under various respectacle disguises. Now we call them pirateers, engaged in lawful warfare. Our pirates seldom preyed on ships in the Atlantic. Their operating headquarters were in Madagascar. When they returned to this port they brought Arabs with them, sometimes—and the Arabs remained."

"How extraordinary!"

Major Lawrence looked at his watch. "It's 4 o'clock," he said, "and my wife expects us to have tea with her."

• • •

Tea was served in the dining room. It was called a tea, but in effect it was a light meal. Chocolate and coffee were served as well as tea, and there were small meat pies, cheese, delicate little cakes and sugary confections.

The Lawrences had two guests besides Miss Matilda Fraser; they were young Charles Mason and his wife, from Williamsburg, in Virginia, who were in New York on a honeymoon trip. They were house guests of the Lawrences.

Mrs. Lawrence came forward, smiling, to greet Miss Fraser. She was dressed and decorated in the latest fashion at is was interpreted by the socially elect of Manhattan. She wore a sacque of white silk with an elaborate design of flowers on it. Below the waist it spread out, for she wore underneath a petticoat with whalebone ribs in it, so that it resembled a hoop skirt. The stays above and below her waist were tightly laced. They were not as flexible as a modern corset, but held the figure rigid. The sleeves of the sacque were short and ended in a fail of lace. Over the skirt of the sacque she had on a beautiful apron of white muslin. The apron was very fashionable.

Mrs. Lawrence's hair dressing would have seemed nothing less than preposterous to any modern woman. Her black hair was drawn up straight for about six inches above her head, and was held in that position by some ingenius devices.

At that time—in 1750—There were 41 professional hairdressers in New York, and all of them were kept busy. The elaborate piles of hair affected by the women of fashion could not remain in good order more than a week or two before they had to be taken down and rebuilt.

Mrs. Lawrence received Miss Fraser graciously, calling her "my dear" and inquiring as to the state of her health. Then she introduced the Masons and they went to the tea table. A maid servant in a green dress and a white apron was bustling in and out of the dining room. In the fireplace a cheerful fire was burning.

OIL OFFICIAL DIES

HOUSTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Louis J. Walsh, 51, vice-president and treasurer of the Eastern States Petroleum company, inc., died at 8 p. m. last night in his apartment at a local hotel. He was stricken a few days ago. Walsh, one of the organizers of the company in New York, came to Houston in 1935 at the opening of the company's offices here.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

YOU'LL pardon me, I trust, if my stomach is slightly upset at the moment.

I just read an item in my paper about the two meatless days our beloved Mayor LaGuardia has decreed for New York.

Because of it the restaurants of the metropolis are concocting a number of new dishes and my morning paper mentions two as particularly promising.

One is "Marsellaise Omelet" and the other "Eggs on Horseback."

The omelet isn't what upset my stomach. I think I could stand one of them every once in a great while.

BRANDEIS

It is a regular omelet filled with boiled cod fish, creamed sauce and chopped mushrooms.

But now comes the "Eggs on Horseback."

Read and weep:

Toast the halves of a muffin, spread them with peanut butter, place a poached egg on each half, cover with a slice of Swiss cheese, add a dash of paprika and place the concoction in a broiler until it gets sticky."

If you should happen to try this dish I wish you'd let me know how it tasted. It's a sure thing I'll never try it.

And if you do, please don't blame me for the consequences.

Mayor LaGuardia—who is apparently much more interested in cooking than in snow removal—issued a fervent eulogy yesterday to the deliciousness of the neck bones of steers.

He said they make excellent soup and stews, and if you want to get any recipes from him he will be delighted to furnish them to you.

• • •

I took my wife along to New York this week. She needed a little vacation badly The snow-bound country, with a big house and no help, may look very pretty in Currier and Ives prints, but isn't quite so delightful when you have to scrub and cook and dust and where isn't a bite of decent food to be had in the local market.

We had been living on eggs and rice and spaghetti and bacon and canned beans and pork sausages for about two weeks.

So we came to New York, and the first evening we had a wonderful steak with French fried potatoes and coffee with real cream and some ice cream afterwards.

The second night we had roast chicken and broccoli with Hollandaise sauce. Last night another steak, as good as anything we ever had before the war.

In the restaurant where we ate last night there was steak on almost every table. Not scrawny little steaks, but thick sirloins for three and four people.

• • •

I'M not telling you this to make your mouth water or to brag, but because I am wondering.

I am wondering why it is that you can get delicious food like that in any New York restaurant if you are willing to pay the price, because there seems to be plenty of everything, and yet you and I and thousands of others have to skimp and scrape and we are told about meat shortages and they appeal to our patriotism and tell us to go without even the ordinary things.

It's strange isn't it? I don't get it—particularly when we got all this food without a single ration point.

By the way, a friend of mine just told me that he bought a carton of cigarettes from his bootblack yesterday and paid him $2.50 for it.

It's a strange world isn't it?

"Mac" To The Rescue!

General Again Aids FDR's Stand

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR, once mentioned as a possible fourth-term opponent of Franklin Roosevelt, has again handed the American President an historic victory at a particularly opportune moment. The achievement may assure the gallant commander's retention of over-all command in the final stages of the struggle in the Orient.

MacArthur's skillful defense of Bataan, as well as his reorganization of the United Nations' forces based in Australia, revived national pride after the disaster at Pearl Harbor, and overshadowed the known and unknown blunders which permitted that debacle. His successful landing on Leyte several weeks before last November's election insured a Demoeratic triumph, if further assurance was needed.

TUCKER

It is known, however, that sagging White House hopes were bolstered by MacArthur's October return to the Philippines. FDR himself is reported to have rubbed his hands and exclaimed, "That clinches it!"

Republicans were correspondingly gloomy from the strictly political viewpoint. "We planned it that way," chortled White House attaches and workers around Bob Hannegan's headquarters.

PRESTIGE: The reconquest of Manila may have far-reaching repercussions in the realm of international politics and diplomacy. It came at a time when our Chief Executive was playing a stiff game of world poker with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin. It may offset in a measure the effect of the Red Army's sweep toward Berlin.

The glorious victory enhances the prestige of the United States in the Far East, where the final drama of the global conflict will be staged. The celebrations in Chungking, whose land still awaits deliverance, were only slightly less hysterical than the rejoicing in the Filipino capital.

Possession of the vast harbor of Manila and adjacent air stripes, together with the naval and aerial strength we have built in that area, makes this country the dominant power in waters vital to both London and Moscow.

These bases may spearhead offensives pointed toward recovery of Britain's Far Eastern empire. The revelation of Japan's weakness at sea, in the air and on the ground may incline Stalin to declare war against Tokyo after Germany's surrender.

FDR had a bargaining weapon not his before the Big Three conference. Our unique strategic position in the Far East fortiries his standing in world affairs.

• • •

RECALLED: Prime Minister Churchill has already made several bids for a larger and more active share in the freeing of the Pacific lands which Japan's 1941-1942 offensive stole from Britain, Holland, France and the United States.

Discussing this subject at the Quebec conference with Mr. Roosevelt last fall, Mr. Churchill said: "Some of us undoubtedly feel that the United States means to keep too much of the Pacific to itself. You can't have all those things to yourself. You must share."

In accordance with that policy, a powerful British armada the command of Sir Bruce Fraser has appeared in Southwest Pacific waters, shelling Singapore and Palembang, a southern East Indies oil center. British forces have been reorganized for a large-scale campaign in Burma before the rains come.

Although General MacArthur has won the right to carry on to the finish there is talk that he may be recalled to Washington. Under tentative plans he would serve as Chief of Staff to the President for the vast Pacific theater, as Admiral William D. Leahy does now for the European area. FDR has no one around him who knows Far Eastern problems so well as the conqueror of Manila, especially the Jap mind and tactics.

Such a transfer would make it possible to give the British a specific field of operations. England then would probably assume responsibility for waters and territory lying south of Hong Kong, while the United States would drive forward—to Formosa, to Japan, to northern China—to the north of that dividing line.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Lemin

BUSINESSMEN are not so sure as they were awhile back of the postwar economic pattern.

Most of them realize that there can be no general and speedy reconversion to civilian goods after Hitler has been defeated, as the government will go all out on war production to finish off Hirohito quickly.

Now some prophets in the New York industrial hierarchy forecast that pent-up demands will not skyrocket sales and absorb employment so much as was earlier predicted from surveys.

LEMAN

If the Jeremiahs are correct, the Wallace school of economists will have added arguments in insisting that Uncle Sam be prepared to make more jobs. Lowering financial skies have spurred the consumer banking fraternity to plan new ways to expand personal credit for autos, refrigerators, furniture, gas ranges, etc.

The optimists, however, point to savings as the spring from which the golden stream will gush in the days of peace.

Stock Exchange brokers report that funds are piling up in the pocketbooks of investors at a record-breaking pace. Perhaps three billion dollars a month is laid aside—half in War bonds and insurance premiums, half in bank deposits or family "sugar bowls." These sums are feeding the current phenomenal stock market boom.

Some statisticians estimate that, after debts have been paid, the public will enter the postbellum period with between 90 and 100 billion dollars salted away. These figures are enough to make any salesman's mouth water.

But they are less reassuring when broken down by realistic appraisers. These maintain that of the 58 billion dollars of current wartime savings, around 43 billion is in the hands of families with incomes of $5,000 or more a year—or nine per cent of the total. In most cases the money is earmarked for investment and will not be spent on washing machines and waffle irons.

Families with an annual income of $3,000 or less—73 per cent of the total—hold only eight billion and many of them will use this cash for living expenses. The average nest egg in all groups is $4,50, or less than the mean yearly family expenditure for food, shelter and clothing.

Under these circumstances there may not be so much loose currency around after the war as many people think.

• • •

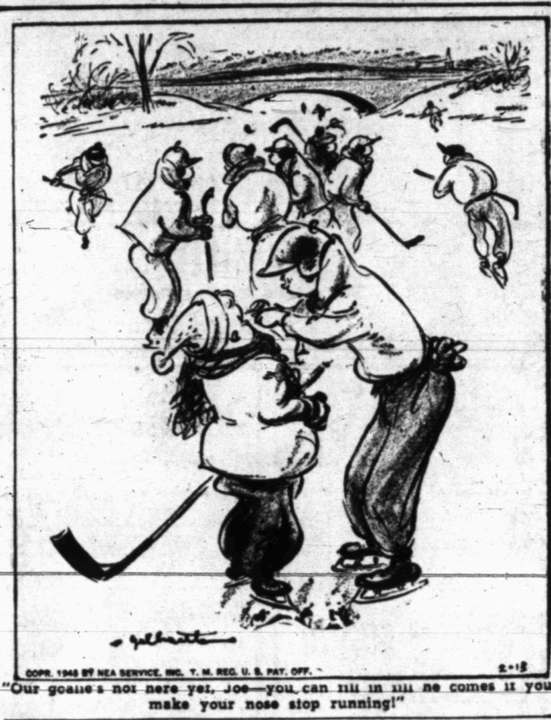

HOUSEWIVES: Yet surveys conducted by corporations, newspapers and business institutes paint a rosy picture. George G. Bass, the Wall Street analyst, states that there are about 600 articles made from iron and steel that have not been on the civilian market since 1942.

Professoor Sumner H. Slichter of Harvard predicts that at the end of 1945 the accumulation of deferred demand for durable household goods will equal two years' sales at the 1940 rate. Housewives will want more than seven million clocks, 10 million electric irons and nearly four million percolators.

J. H. Rasmussen of the Crosley corporation thinks otherwise. He told New York businessmen the other day that a Mississippi canvass, when projected nationally, indicated that homemakers will purchase household appliances worth three billion, 300 million dollars—more than double the 1941 sales of the products mentioned.

The same census-takers contacted dealers in the area. "Amazingly," declares Mr. Rasmussen, "it (the survey) showed that merchants were ready to take, the first year, 80 per cent more refrigerators, more than twice as many radios, and over two and a half times as many electric irons as the consumers said they would buy." The dealers had brighter dreams than their customers.

Here And There In Texas

For Bad Nerves: Go Fishin'!

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

IT took a global war to do it, but senators, doctors and congressman have found one of the best cures for a veteran with frayed nerves is a fishing pole and a can of worms or a stretch of woodland where he can camp or hunt undisturbed.

A congressional group has just completed an inquiry whereby they have found this to be a fact. Country boys have known it always, but Congress has made it official. After the first World war, interest increased 30 per cent in the natural and ancient sports of hunting and fishing. There will be a tremendous increase in the numbers of hunters and fishermen after this war.

From El Paso to Hemphill, from Borger to Brownsville, more than 263,644 square miles of land, and 3,697 square miles of water in Texas will be available for the increased postwar activities in the world's basic sports.

• • •

Plenty Of Variety

The fish and game population of Texas has been increasing rapidly during the war. The state annually issues around 200,000 hunting and fishing licenses, according to Will Tucker, executive secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission.

Texans can recapture the sport of the barefoot boy and his little pole along countless creeks and streams or in many public state parks. They can tramp flat, treeless stretches in search of quail; climb rugged hills in quest of mountain lion; scramble through woods seeking deer and turkey, or fish along a sprawling coast for the mighty tarpon.

• • •

ONE hunting expedition recently included wounded war veterans from McCloskey General hospital, Temple. The handicapped soldiers bagged both deer and turkey, and the expedition was a success in morale building, too.

But for the general Texas public—eithre the white collar worker who needs a rest; the mechanic on vacation, or the farmer who wants a bit of relaxation, hunting and fishing holds many possibilities.

• • •

Fish Catch Huge

For one thing, sportsmen are taking five million pounds of fish, commercial fishermen another 20 annually. There is no sure way to tally the bag in deer and turkey, but the number is in the thousands.

Principal fish for the sporting angler are black bass, white bass, crappie, channel catfish and bream. Some like the yellow catfish and gaspergou. Tarpon advocates have progressed to the point of holding a "rodeo" in the Valley each year, near the mouth of the Rio Grande.

Texas hunters find deer and turkey the biggest delight, but there are also mountain lions, bobcat and antelope.

• • •

TO see that the state's fish and game laws are not violated, the game department has around 100 wardens.

While there are numerous local laws governing fishing and hunting, the general state law finds the season on bass and crappie closing in March and April. There is no closed season on salt water fish.

The nimrod can hunt deer from Nov. 16 to Dec. 31; quail from Dec. 1 to Jan. 16; duck from Nov. 2 to Jan. 20. Mountain lion, bobcat, and other unprotected game animals have no closed season. The game department fixes the season on antelope. Wild turkey can usually be hunted from Nov. 16 to Dec. 1.

Will Tucker said the game department is constantly carrying on a program of conservation to increase the game and fish population, and often transfers large numbers to less thickly populated areas.

• • •

Interest Increasing

Some of the best deer hunting is found in the "hill country" region around Fredericksburg and Mason. This area yearly produces a huge yield, Mason often having as many as 10,000 deer on cold storage.

Anglers clubs, and bird dogs and quail clubs have done much to increase interest in hunting and fishing in Texas. Before the war, anglers held a state casting tournament. Many of these are now giving instruction or talks and motion pictures to soldiers over the state.

Herbert Hoover, the nation's only living ex-Prsident, said to the peoples of the United States not long ago:

"Let's go fishing."

A lot of Southern Texas Democrats still agree with Hoover on that issue.

De Gaulle And Giraud March Side By Side

METZ, Feb. 13. (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle demonstrated complete reconciliation with Gen. Henri Giraud over the week-end by parading side-by-side with his erstwhile political rival in Metz during a two-day trip through reconquered Alsace-Lorraine.

Giraud, pre-war military governor of Metz, made the trip to that city from his home in Dijon to welcome de Gaulle.

"We will make the Rhine a French stream from one end to the other," de Gaulle told the Metz townspeople.

SHOWS ALSO BANNED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP) — Dog and cattle shows, and similar exhibitions, now come under the government convention ban. The ban on dog and cattle shows, and similar events, does not apply if they are purely local in nature.

NEW PEAK REGISTERED

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—In one of the broadest markets of the past year, stocks today hit a new seven-year average peak with gains of fractions to more than 2 points spread over virtually all departments.

Buying demand which had accumulated over the holiday gave the list a general lift at the start. Rails were stellar performers throughout, followed by motors and steels.

The turnover was approximately 1,800,000 shares compared with 1,180,000 Friday.

Sentiment was aided moderately by results of the "Big Three" parley which were about in line with expectations.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 60.5, equaling the high mark of Sept. 16, 1937. It was the widest upturn for this barometer since March 29, 1943. Of 964 issues registering, 692 advanced against 272 down or unchanged.

Standard Oil of Ohio, again reflecting the stock split-up proposal, experienced a delayed start on a 7,500-share block, up 3½ points at a new high. It finished with a new gain of 3⅝.

Prominent on the swing were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, General Motors (touching a new bull market top), Chrysler, Studebaker, Packard, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Consolidated Edison, Texas Co., International Telephone, United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, du Pont and Eastman Kodak.

Secondary railway bonds pushed upward.

Ahead in the curb were Baldwin Locomotive warrants, Humble Oil and Cities Service.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — Broadening demand for cotton for lend lease purpose and growing tightness in spot cotton under the CCC purchase program influenced an advance of more than $1 a bale in the futures market today.

Aggressive mill demand and commission house buying met only scale up hedging and profit taking. The CCC entered the market for 50,000 bales of cotton for lend lease following an inquiry earlier this month for 18,000 bales.

Futures closed 55 to 90 cents a bale higher.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13 (AP) — Cotton futures rallied 55 to 85 cents a bale here today on buying which was stimulated by the Commodity Credit corporation announcement that it wished to purchase 50,000 bales for export. The market closed steady.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton at 10 designated Southern spot markets today was 50 cents a bale higher at 21.59 cents a pound. Average for the past 30 market days was 21.63, middling ⅞-inch was 20.32.

Pacific Battles

Three decisions caused Chinese circles to think they meant the eventual entry of Russia into the war against Japan.

The Chinese high command reported its forces counterattacked and recaptured mountain positions in Hunan province between Pingshek and Ichang. Pingshek is on the Canton-Hankow railway 165 miles north of Canton while Ichang is west of the rail line.

The Chinese struck heavily against the Japanese 80 miles south of Hengyang, killing more than 400 enemy troops. The fighting there is continuing.

New Supply Headquarters

Better food, clothing and equipment for China's fighting men will be provided from a new supply headquarters at Kunming. Brig. Gen. Gilbert Cheves, chief of American supply services in China, spoke highly of this new development and declared "the Chinese soldier from my information is the bravest in the world. He does not fear death, but underfed, underclothed and underequipped he cannot fight."

An Allied Southeast Asia communique said British forces captured Singue, on the central Burma front 40 miles from Mandalay. The Japanese maintained their opposition on the southern outskirts of Mandalay but to the west the British seized a village after a seven-hour fight.

In north Burma, Chinese troops cleared the Burma road to within 61 miles of strategic Lashio.

Aerodynamic braking, the first practical application of reverse-thrust propellers as landing brakes for large multi-engine land planes, is now in quantity production at aircraft plants.

strong German counterattacks with heavy losses.

With the clearing of Vianden, the Allies held a continuous 145-mile front inside Germany, stretching from the Kleve area to near Saarbrucken.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army front was dormant along the flooded Roer and at the big dams around the stream's headwaters.

The whole southern end of the front also was relatively quiet, with only patrol activity and artillery exchanges.

Francisco conference.

Secretary of State Stettinius will head the delegation. Other members chosen are former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who also will serve as senior advisor, Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) a member of the committee, Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the House Foreign Affairs committee, Representative Eaton (R-NJ), Commander Harold Stassen, former Republican governor of Minnesota, and Dean Virginia Gildersleeve of Barnard college.

Senator Vandenberg declined tonight to say immediately whether he would serve on the delegation.

Represents Compromise

Byrnes said the Polish case represents a compromise but that "whenever you have three powers in a situation like this there must be a reconciliation."

Asked whether this means that the present provisional regime at Warsaw is to be considered a government by the United States, Byrnes replied, without going into the technicalities of recognition, that "of course, it's a government. We may be opposed to it but it's there."

All the decisions taken at the conference have not been made public, Byrnes said.

On the Curzon line settlement of Poland's eastern boundary, by which Poland loses a little more than one-third of her pre-war territory, he said that the Russians made a strong case for acquiring this area.

Personal FDR Report

Asked whether the President had a plan for making a personal report to the country on the conference, Byrnes said he knew of none but "my hope is that when he returns he may make a radio broadcast or address Congress."

Meantime the Crimean plan for tomorrow's world encountered some criticism.

There appeared to be wide acceptance of the Big Three pledge to continue Anglo-American-Soviet unity after the war and to call the United Nations conference at San Francisco April 25 to breathe life into the Dumbarton Oaks security plan. Proposals for smashing Germany, for breaking up her notorious general staff as well as the Nazi gang, and for hobbling her war-making powers also drew much praise.

Some Face Rough Course

But some of the sections having to do with relations between the great victories powers and their smaller Allies—particularly the plan for settling the Polish controversy—were in for rough weather.

In London, the Polish exile government bitterly rejected the formula applied to its country and accused the Big Three of violating 'the letter and spirit of the Atlantic Charter and the right of every nation to defend its own interest."

In effect this formula recognizes Stalin's long-standing claim to the eastern third of pre-war Poland (up to the Curzon line) and his desire for a pro-Russian government at Warsaw. Poland is to be "moved westward" by acquiring compensating lands taken from Germany—which Stalin had also proposed. The present Soviet-backed regime at Warsaw is to be converted into a national unity government at which time Washington and London will recognize it, discarding the exile government which they have heretofore supported in opposition to Russia.

Another Russian Gain

Since Stalin got what he wanted in Poland it was considered probable that he also received assurances about what he has long sought in one or two other places—notably Anglo-American recognition for Soviet absorption of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia and warm water outlets to the Pacific at the close of the Japanese war.

There was not immediately apparent any great issue in settlements reported for the Balkans area. But it is possibly significant that the announced plan for a coalition government in Yugoslavia leave unsettled the future of the Serbs, who have been Marshal Tito's bitter rivals.

Even more broadly all the smaller nations have a keen interest in the kind of compromise worked out for settling the Dumbartoon Oaks voting issue. The hope and expectation among American officials was that it would provide some safeguards which Russia had sought for great powers accused of aggression without going all the way and allowing such powers to sit in judgment on themselves.

Russia And Japan

The great vs. small power question was one of those that made the Crimean meeting necessary. President Roosevelt went determined to find out how far Churchill and Stalin were willing to compromise their plans for individual, competitive security in the interest of an Atlantic Charter kind of collective security.

He also wanted to find out whether Russia would go to war with Japan. The fact that the United Nations conference is to start at a U. S. Pacific port on April 25, the last day for Russia to denounce her non-aggression with Japan, point to the probability of an affirmative answer on that question.

Soviet Advances

surrendered Feb. 2, 1943, after a six-month battle in which the besieged Russians turned the tables on the Germans.

The Nazis tried to make Budapest a Stalingrad in reverse with a relieving counter-offensive lounched from the northwest Jan. 2, failed with a sacrifice estimated by the Russians at 16,000 dead Germans and more than 800 smashed tanks. These figures were in addition to the enemy losses inside Budapest.

Tuesday night 324 of Moscow's saluting cannon fired 24 rounds each in the greatest victory celebration since Warsaw fell Jan. 17.

The Germans acknowledged the loss of Budapest, saying it had been "evacuated"—a patent misuse of the word—and sought to soften the blow with radio statements that the garrison had accomplished its mission by "pinning down enemy armies and inflicting the highest possible losses on them."

Other Troops Sweep On

The Russian roll of prisoners taken was headed by Col. Gen. Peter Wildenbruch, German commandant, and his staff.

While Budapest was collapsing under the Soviet hammer blows, some 300 miles distant another Red Army, the First Ukraine group under Marshal Ivon S. Konev, was sweeping like a sicle across southeastern Germany through the defenses before Dresden and the southern flank of Berlin.

One of Konev's columns was within 70 miles of Dresden, and according to Berlin another was across the Bober river about 20 miles from a junction with Marshal G. K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army on the center of the front in Germany.

The Moscow communique announced Konev had captured Beuthen, industrial town on the west bank of the Oder and had encircled Glogau, traffic center on the Oder 55 miles northwest of Breslau and was fighting to annihilate its garrison. The Russians in that area captured 345 German planes on the ground.

The German radio lifted slightly its blackout concerning the Berlin front, saying the Russians had made a mile and a quarter penetration of Nazi lines northwest of Kuestrin in "a fierce attack by two divisions."

The German commentator claimed that a recent comparative respite on that front and around Frankfurt-on-Oder had been permitted the high command to "set vast reserves in motion toward the front, where they will be used when an opportune time comes."

Tokyo Claims Russia Won "Big 3" Meet

LONDON, Feb. 13 (AP)—A Tokyo radio commentator today asserted Russia was the "winner" of the Big Three conference and declared "well-informed Tokyo quarters" saw "humiliation" for both the United States and England in the Crimean communique.

"We can indeed pity Great Britain, who is heading toward a tragic end," the commentator concluded.

Reds Lay Heart Of Naziland Open As Climactic Push Shapes In West

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

With the fall of Budapest every eastern gateway to the heart of Nazi Germany from the Danube gap to the Baltic coastal shelf northeast of Berlin is under simultaneous Russian attack that is matched in the west by an obvious Allied building up to a climactic drive to reach and cross the Rhine before spring thaws tend to halt aggressive military action.

SIMPSON

The war-wrecked Hungarian capital was doomed from the time Russian columns reached and crossed the Danube on both sides of the city nearly six weeks ago to leave it under siege in their rear. Desperate Nazi efforts to relieve its dwindling garrison virtually halted the Russian thrusts up both banks of the Danube toward Vienna. With Budapest taken, however, the Russian march over the upper Danubian plains to sieze the greatest strategic prize in all central Europe, the gap between the Alps and the Carpathians, is certain to be resumed.

Great Nazi Retreat Likely

It seems wholly possible that the fall of Budapest represents the beginning of a wide and deep Nazi retreat in the southeast to shorten defense lines and conserve manpower for a last-stand defense of the great central plain of Germany.

The threat to Vienna formed by the Russian drives up the Danube, down the Moravian corridor and through Jablonka pass that leads into the Vah valley has been obvious for weeks. It menaces all Nazi forces still deployed in Slovakia.

The Nazi salient in Slovakia is too narrow and too poorly served by road and rail to be even a potential strategic asset any longer.

Vast Production Of Tires Cited

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—The American rubber industry has produced more than 40 million heavy duty truck tires since Pearl Harbor, the Rubber Manufacturers association said today.

Rapid expansion of the synthetic rubber industry to a capacity of a million tons a year after the United States was cut off from 90 per cent of world sources of rubber made record tire production possible, according to an association survey.

Passenger Tires Gain

The tire industry boosted plane tire production from 33,000 in 1939 to 1,417,000 in 1944. Passenger car tire production dropped from 50 million in 1941 to 2½ million the following year, but increased substantially in 1944, the survey shows.

In addition, the industry made 75,920,000 pounds of "camelback" for recapping tires of civilian cars in 1941—and during 1944 produced four times that amount.

Recapping Urged

A. L. Viles, president of the association, in announcing the production figures, urged the public to help industry meet its new military demands by making passenger car tires last through care and recapping.

Use of cotton and rayon in tire making is reflected in survey totals showing that during the first quarter of 1942 there were 43,631,000 pounds of cotton used and 5,936,000 pounds of rayon—in the third quarter of 1944, 45,240,000 pounds of cotton and 19,492,000 pounds of rayon.
