Molotov Claims Russians Also Will Have Use Of Atom Secret

Soviet Leader Says Soviets Will Have Atomic Energy; Urges Cooperation Among Allies To Keep World Peace

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 6—Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, asserting the atomic bomb cannot be kept secret, promised Russians tonight that the Soviet union will have "atomic energy and many other things."

A signal bell had to be rung to quiet the tumult that welled through the hall of St. Andrew in the Kremlin when Molotov made this statement in his speech on the eve of the 28th anniversary of the Red revolution.

Calls For Allied Control

Molotov said the use of atomic energy must not be employed in a political play for strength.

He called for Allied control of Japan, and while he described the London foreign ministers conference as a failure, he said "only the joint efforts of the three great powers" could "secure the victories of the Democratic countries over Fascism."

The United Nations, he asserted, must not "become the tool of any one great power."

Cannot Be Kept Secret

On atomic energy, the foreign commissar said:

"It is not possible at the present time for a technical secret of any great size to remain the exclusive possession of some one country or some narrow circle of countries.

"This being so, the discovery of atomic energy should not encourage either a propensity to exploit the discovery in the play of forces in international policy, or an attitude of complacency as regards the future of the peaceloving nations."

Did Not Mention U. S.

The colossal destructive force of the atomic bomb has not yet been tried, he said, "for averting aggression or safeguarding peace." His speech did not mention the United States or other countries in connection with atomic energy.

Generalissimo Stalin, reported to have returned this week from his Black sea vacation, was not present in the hall, and there was no explanation of his absence. A long message of greeting was sent him.

Asks For Reparations

Molotov asked for reparations from the defeated Axis nations in a spirit free from revenge, and warned his countrymen they still were living in a world "where the roots of imperialism still remain."

Referring to this, he said Russia should give great attention to "strengthening the collaboration" gained in victory.

Molotov declared the victorious Allies should be guided in their treatment of the defeated Axis nations "not by our feelings but only by the necessity to prevent new aggression."

U. S. Forces Sitting On China Powder Keg

U. S. Marines To Get Out Of North China

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Nov. 6—American Marines sitting precariously on the lid of seething North China will go home, probably by Dec. 5, unofficial Tientsin reports said today—leaving China's scrapping Communist and government forces to make their own peace or fight their own war.

Pessimists expect the lid to blow at any moment, and there was evidence today that American military leaders also are increasingly concerned about the possibility of all-out civil war. Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, returning from Washington to his China command, flew to Peiping first, to confer directly with his field commanders in the North-China trouble zones.

He reportedly was informing them of official War department policy: that American forces will take no active role in China's internal strife.

Dispatches from Peiping today said there still was no confirmation or denial of Communist claims that American Marines had driven the Reds from the summer-resort town of Peitaiho, near Chinwangtao, with machineguns.

Communists Besieging City

Wedemeyer's arrival at the trouble scene highlighted these other developments in tense China:

1. Communists are besieging the city of Yencheng, only 160 miles northwest of Shanghai, the headquarters of Nationalist Gen. Tang En-Po reported.

2. Reports from the Yenan headquarters of the Chinese Reds said today that they were proceeding "full steam ahead" with plans for all-out civil war.

Reds Make Advances

3. Clouds of conflicting rumors cloaked sporadic battling through central and northern China, but an official dispatch asknowledged that Communists had fought their way inside Kwweisui, capital of

Italian Armistice Pact Finally Made Public; Terms Harsh

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Italy's 26-month-old Armistice terms finally were made public today, but restoration of that battered country to full international standing still appeared to be months away.

Publication of the Armistice terms in Washington, London, and Rome disclosed that the British-American allies, on paper at least, had imposed on their beaten enemy a severe surrender pact. In practice, however, it became increasingly lighter.

Had Complete Control

Government officials explained that the harsh terms were drawn up when Italy was merely a defeated enemy, but the relaxing process was accelerated as that nation became a "co-belligerent" of the Allies.

The original terms signed Sept. 3, 1943, gave the Allies complete control over all phases of Italy's military, economic and political life.

In addition to provisions for cessation of fighting; transfer of war ships, merchant vessels and aircraft; return of Allied prisoners; surrender of all territory required for bases, and guarantee of the use by the Allies of all air field and naval ports, the Armistice contained two "catch-all" clauses.

One gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the right to take "any measure" which he deemed necessary for the Allied war effort.

The other gave the Allies the right to impose "other conditions of a political, economic and financial nature" at a later date.

Used As Propaganda

The terms contained none of the widely-rumored provisions for permanent disposal of Italian territory and property. Newsmen immediately asked why the pact had been kept secret for more than two years.

Officials replied that the Allied military had opposed publication during the war on grounds that the terms would be used for propaganda purposes.

They conceded, however, that

Busy Man Finds Time To Help Small Girl Lost In Big City

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—A little girl sobbed as she sat on her suitcase in the city's bus station. Her father had died and she had been sent to Indianapolis to live with relatives.

Hundreds of persons hurried past and didn't notice her. Finally a man rushing to his office stopped to inquire why she cried. She told him her story and she knew the name of the street where her relatives lived but not the house number.

The man ushered her to a taxicab, paid the fee and asked the driver to find the girl's relatives.

Then Gov. Ralph F. Gates hurried on to his office in the statehouse.

Tale Of Horror In Manila Told

MANILA, Nov. 6 (AP)—A frightened child, a priest, a nun and a Filipino laborer, testifying today at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, told how Japanese infuriated over the impending loss of Manila starved, tortured and massacred some 6,000 civilians in the ancient walled center of the city.

Eleven-year-old Rosalinda Andoy, trembling amid a battery of lights, microphones and other courtroom paraphernalia, shocked the throng of trial spectators into tense silence as she sobbed out the story of an orgy in which her mother and aunts were bayoneted before her eyes and her father led away to be killed.

Shows Court Wounds

Rosalinda showed the court scars of 38 bayonet wounds she said were inflicted by hysterical, drunken Japanese. Even while her mother was telling her to "be a good girl, dearest," a Japanese used the woman for a live bayonet target, the girl testified.

Father Belarmino Decelis of the Spanish Augustinian order testified that last February 5 the Japanese jammed 6000 civilians into the Church of St. Augustine, oldest building in Manila.

Had No Food

The men were thrown into the old dungeons which served the Spanish a century ago. Women and children, he said, were kept without food in the church compound until hunger drove them to

Mysterious Tip Says Missing Girl Seen

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP)—A mysterious telegram from Long Beach stated that Thora Chamberlain, 15, who disappeared from here last Friday, had been seen in Long Beach today.

Her father, Frank Chamberlain, said that if the girl actually is in Long Beach "she is there because she's being held." The family has no relatives or friends there, he declared.

Senate Group Approves Plan To Increase Aid To Veterans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Legislation broadening the G. I. Bill of Rights to make it easier for veterans to get loans and scholarship was approved by the Senate Finance committee today.

Chairman George (D-Ga) said it probably would be taken up in the Senate later in the week.

The bill would do these things:

Loans:

Authorize government-guaranteed loans based on "reasonable" rather than "reasonable normal" value of property. Veterans have complained that in a rising real estate market they are unable to buy what they want at "normal" proces.

Permit loans to furnish working capital for business and farms, as well as for real estate.

Extend the time in which veterans may apply for loans to 10 years after the war, instead of five, as at present.

Raise the maximum term of home loans from 20 to 25 years, and of farm loans from 20 to 40 years.

Education:

Open the educational program to veterans irrespective of age.

Increase the living allowance for single veterans attending educational institutions from $50 to $65 a month, and for veterans with dependents from $75 to $90.

Authorize the Veterans administration to enter into agreements with state educational institutions for payment of tuition of veterans.

Open the way for veterans to take short technical courses or correspondence courses in state-approved institutions with the government footing the tuition bill. The present $500 per school year limit on tuition stands.

Truman Stand Is Scored In Senate Fight

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Senator Wiley (R-Wis) launched today the first full-blown senatorial criticism of President Truman's policies with an assertion that the administration's legislative program "sound like a CIO handout."

Senator Hatch (D-NM), one of Mr. Truman's closest friends when the President was a senator, retorted immediately that the President and his administration "will be judged by the American people at the proper time and in the truly American way."

Argument On Senate Floor

When Senator Reed (R-Kan) asked whether Hatch was alluding to the 1948 presidential election, the New Mexico senator merely repeated his statement.

The dicussion took place on the Senate floor. Wiley opened it by reading a letter Mr. Truman had written the Wisconsin senator replying to the latter's suggestion that a national conference be called on the question of universal peacetime military training.

Letter Is Read

The President relied:

"Dear Senator Wiley:

"I read your letter of October thirtieth with a lot of interest, and I appreciate your suggestion very much. However, I am of the opinion that the Congress is the responsible commission to act on this program, and I think the Congress should assume the responsibility.

"I have made a suggestion to them in a message on national defense, and several of its different phases, and I am very sure that they will work it out."

Scores Wage Talk

Wiley then launched into the first full criticism of the President's program that has been heard in the Senate.

"There is not a single member of this great body who does not bear sincere love in his heart for Harry Truman, the man," Wiley read from a prepared text "But many of us find increasing dissatisfaction welling up in our minds on the actions of Harry Truman, the statesman."

He said Mr. Truman had made "a wage speech which goes up the hill and back down again and leaves the situation as badly muddled as before."

Criticizes Heavy Spending

"The President pleads for a program which out-New Deals the New Deal, which item for item sounds like a CIO handout," he declared. "Spend, spend, spend with never a heed as to where and how the money is coming from. The President gives no sign that he recognizes that Am-

Plane Overdue On Manila Trip

HONOLULU, Nov. 6. (AP)—A Naval Air Transport service C-54 Skymaster is many hours overdue on a 1,600-mile flight from Guam to Manila bay and air-sea rescue units from the Philippines have begun a search, NATS reported late today.

NATS said no trace has been found of the four-engined transport which was carrying 13 passengers and seven crewmen. It last was heard from only 100 miles from its destination Sangley point Manila bay, where it was due at 1:30 a. m. today Central Standard Time.

Widow Renamed As Portsmouth Mayor

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Mary C. Dondero, 51, an attractive widow and grandmother who in her youthful years won at least two beauty contests and a popularity contest, tonight was re-elected to her second term as mayor of this historic city.

With three of the city's five wards counted, unofficial returns gave Mrs. Dondero, a Democrat, 1,648 votes to 605 for Ira A. Brown, her Republican opponent.

The two remaining wards to be counted were described by observers as "heavily Democratic."

Mother of four daughters, two of whom served in the WACs and WAVES, and grandmother of five, Mrs. Dondero was Portsmouth's first woman mayor.

O'Dwyer Named New York City's Mayor As Demos Show Strength

(By The Associated Press)

William O'Dwyer, Democrat, was elected mayor of New York yesterday in a landslide hailed by party leaders as having an important bearing on 1948.

Democratic candidates running as such or on non-partisan ballots also led their mayoral opponents in other large cities of the East and Middle West at a late hour last night.

In Detroit, CIO-backed Richard T. Frankensteen, union leader, jumped into a lead over Mayor Edward J. Jeffries in a bitter non-partisan race after the latter had held a slight margin in the early count.

Demo Named In Boston

Rep. James M. Curley, Democrat, was easily elected mayor of Boston. It was his fourth election to that post. He ran against five other registered Democrats.

Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic National committee said O'Dwyer's defeat of Judge Jonah Goldstein, Republican-Fusion-Liberal and Newbold Morris, "No Deal" candidate, "has a direct and important bearing on both the 1946 and 1948 election prospects."

Said Rebuff For Dewey

"It not only attests to the growing strength of the Democratic party," he said, "but proves the popular will for a government pledged to carry on, under President Harry S. Truman, the policies and program of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, New York Democratic state chairman, said O'Dwyer's election "marks the beginning of the end of Gov. Dewey's influence as a political figure in New York state."

Dewey supported Goldstein in the New York contest.

Demos Show Power

Republicans were elected in Syracuse and Buffalo, but Democrats showed strength in many other upstate New York cities.

Returns at midnight in other cities:

Detroit — Frankensteen 101,411, Jeffries 87,585 in 500 out of 1,136 precincts.

Pittsburgh—David L. Lawrence, Democrat, 105,276, Robert N. Waddell, Republican, 94,065, in 400 out of 425 precincts.

Cleveland — Mayor Thomas A. Burke, Democrat, 49,710; Ray C. Miller, Republican, 21,013, in 375 out of 989 precincts.

Louisville — E. Leland Taylor, Democrat, 8,921; Roy W. Easley, Republican, 7,475, in 77 out of 495 precincts.

O'DWYER OVERCOMES HEATED CRTICISM TO WIN OFFICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Gangbuster William O'Dwyer was elected mayor of New York City today in a landslide vote which his Democrat followers said marked "the beginning of the end of Governor Dewey's influence as a political figure in New York state."

He won the $25,000 a year job in the face of cries that Tammany hall supported him; that thugs and gangsters were behind his candidacy.

Has Landslide Vote

O'Dwyer swamped general sessions Judge Jonah Goldstein, who had Dewey's support, and Newbold Morris, whom Mayor La Guardia backed. Four other contenders, representing small political groups, trailed far behind.

With 2,530 election districts out of 4,033 reporting, O'Dwyer, Dem-

GOPs Demand Right To Make Own Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP) — Republicans demanded the right to conduct their own Pearl Harbor investigations today while Democrats replied that committee members should not be permitted to go "running off in various directions."

In a noisy debate that crackled in both Senate and House, minority members of the joint investigating committee declared the inquiry had halted before it got started because the Democrats "are slamming the door in our face."

The hubbub arose over a committee rule restricting the rights of individual members to make inquiries on their own.

Senator Brooks (R-Ill) evoked a Democratic complaint of unfairness when he declared President Truman had switched tactics since he was chairman of the Tuman Investigating committee. Brooks said that as head of that Senate committee, which investigated the war effort, Mr. Truman had authorized individual inquiries.

MacArthur Wipes Out Big Jap Business Firms In New Order

TOKYO, Nov. 6 (AP)—A drastic Allied command directive today dissolved Japan's four gigantic business-industrial dynasties in a move to smash the nation's war making ability and encourage enterprise along peaceful, Democratic lines.

NEW YORK MAYOR— William O'Dwyer, above, last night was declared the next mayor of New York City, succeeding Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, after a fiery election climaxed in Tuesday's voting. O'Dwyer, former Kings county district attorney, beat out six other candidates. See story to left.

These holding companies long had dominated Japanese business and industry and Allied headquarters promised there would be further action to overhaul the nation's cartel-controlled economy.

Slashes Family Tieups

Immediate effect of this trust-smashing action will be to strip the four leading Zaibatsu families of their elaborate inter-locking control of the multi-billion yen industrial empire ruled by the Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumotomo and Yasuda holding companies.

It is only the "first step" in the Allied effort to encourage free enterprise, said Col. Raymond P. Kramer, American officer who planned the dissolution.

To Change Banking Setup

While stressing there would be further reorganization of Japan's big business, Kramer said he was not prepared to specify which other Zaibatsu would be affected. He did announce, however, that the nation's "big five" banks will be overhauled.

A survey issued by Allied headquarters disclosed widespread ramifications in the relations of the "big four" trusts with business firms throughout the world. The survey named Westinghouse, Tidewater Associated Oil Co., International Telephone and Telegraph, Aluminum Co. of America, Libby-Owens-Ford and others as examples of big business linked through stockholdings or agreements with such houses as Mitsui and Mitsubishi.

Associated With U. S. Firms

The survey also reported close relationships between the "big five" banks and American banking institutions.

Settlement of debts, stock holdings and other financial matters involved in the international relationships was expected to pose a tremendous problem.

Under a plan worked out by the government for the dissolution of the four holding companies—Yasuda, Sumitomo and Mitsui families, whose companies bear their names, and Iwasaki, which controls Mitsubishi—they would be permitted to sell their interests to a holding company liquidation commission. The agency would be offered to public sale, with employes of the companies involved given preference. For the present, Kramer said, subsidiary companies would be permitted to remain undisturbed.

Nationalizing Of France Is Urged

PARIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—The dominant left-wing bloc in France's constituent assembly today demanded sweeping nationalization of the nation's key enterprises as the newly-elected body took over the reins of government from Gen. DeGaulle and started work on a new constitution.

The demands were part of a broad program circulated at the initial session of the assembly by the Communist and Socialist parties, which control a majority of the delegates.

Asks Voice For Labor

The program called for labor sharing in industrial management, government-controlled foreign trade, progressive emancipation for natives of France's empire, an uncensored press controlling its own news agency, and closer collaboration among the major Allied powers.

Enterprises which would be nationalized include the Bank of France and the larger credit institutions, such as deposit and insurance banks and insurance companies; gas and electric utilities;

Jap Soldiers, Geisha Girl Give Up On Guam

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 6 (AP)—Fleet headquarters reported today that 22 Japanese soldiers and an 18-year-old geisha girl came out of the wilds of Guam and gave themselves up Nov. 2 after reading in Life magazine that Japan had surrendered.

Despite an extensive campaign which had resulted in the surrender of 445 other Japanese since Aug. 15, the group said they knew nothing of the capitulation until they saw the magazine's pictures of the surrender ceremony aboard the Missouri.

An English speaking member of the group penned a surrender note and attached it to a coconut tree beside a path. When no one had found the note eight days later, the group became impatient, went to the nearest highway and flagged a truck. They surrendered — bowing in unison, grinning broadly and holding out their note and magazines to the startled driver.

Fleet headquarters did not say how the Japanese obtained a copy of the magazine.

Police Seeking Car In Which Missing Child May Be Held

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. Nov. 6 (AP)—Police broadcast tonight a request for apprehension of a man driving an automobile with an Oregon license plate, in which a child resembling the missing Dickie tum Suden, 3, is believed a passenger.

San Francisco police issued the pickup order after receiving a tip from a woman who said she saw the car parked in a gas station in San Mateo, Inspector Frank Lucy said. The woman failed to give her name.

A check with Sheriff Martin Pratt of Multonomah county in Oregon revealed the license plates had been stolen sometime ago from the postmaster of Multonomah City.

Authorities were investigating the story of Harry F. Seiler, Downieville garage operator, who said that on last Thursday morning about the time the boy disappeared, he saw a car bearing a Washington license plate speeding toward the tum Suden home at Goodyear Bar.

About 30 minutes later the car returned, still traveling at a terrific speed, Seiler said. A middle-aged man drove the car and his companion was a woman, who held a blanket swathed bundle.

UMW To Help Shape Policy

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Bushy-browed, ponderous John L. Lewis kicked up a storm in the labor-management conference today with a bid to get representation for his United Mine Workers on the important executive committee—and he won his battle.

While management delegates looked on in silence, labor's top leaders wrangled heatedly for more than an hour over the composition of the committee which will sift all conference business and have the power to include new subject matter in the agenda.

Given Voice In Setup

As originally planned, the committee was to have eight members equally divided between labor and management. Labor's half was to be divided between the AFL and CIO.

But Lewis wasn't satisfied with this setup and as a result of his objections the conference finally voted unanimously to increase the committee membership to sixteen to make room for Lewis' United Mine Workers and the Railway Brotherhoods. Under the new division, management will have eight seats, the AFL and CIO will have three each the the Mine Workers and Brotherhoods one each.

Lewis, Murphy Clash

There was a curt exchange at one time between Lewis and President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations who at first vigorously opposed any change in the composition of the committee.

Lewis had the support of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who told the conference he "could not conceive of a fairer or broader proposition" than including the Mine Workers and the Brotherhoods on the committee.

Management Doesn't Object

Lewis' victory gives him a voice in shaping the course of the conference. For the committee, as outlined in the agenda, will "coordinate the work of the conference; be responsible for the integration of reports of all other committees (except that on rules); if requested it will also consider and may report to the conference any subject on the agenda not otherwise assigned; it may also deal with such other matters as a general nature as may come before it."

There were no objections from management delegates to the

Bus Tieup Hits Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—A taxi drivers' holiday intensifying Washington's all-day public transportation tieup was talked to-night. Street car and bus service is throttled by an operators' strike.

Thousands of government employes could not get to work today and the city's 5,000 taxis were busier than ever.

Must Take Stand

But the executive board of the AFL Taxicab Operators local has called a special meeting for 8 a. m. Wednesday. Vice President Charles Garrett said it has power to call a work stoppage.

"We've been talking with members of the (AFL) Transit Workers union and have decided we must take some stand," Garrett stated.

Less than half the city's cabmen are unionized, it is estimated.

Meeting Set Today

Both sides in the bus and trolley strike agreed to attend conciliation parleys.

At a tumultuous "continuous meeting" which began before down, the drivers voted tonight to send a three-man committee to sit in with government conciliators tomorrow. Officials of the Capital Transit company indicated they would be present also.

But the drivers, demanding a pay increase, made plain they had no intention of returning to work immediately. Shortly before 7 p. m., they called an "intermission" to go home and get some sleep,

New 1080 Rat Poison May Prove Answer In Bubonic Plague Fight

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — The answer to one of mankind's greatest scourages—bubonic plague—may lie in an innocent looking white powder.

The powder is the new rat poison 1080 (ten-eighty). Its chemical name is sodium Fluoracetate. It gets its numerical designation because it was the 1,080th chemical compound tested in the government's two-year wartime search for an effective weapon against disease-spreading rodents.

Kills Rats In Hurry

It kills rats quicker than any known poison except strychnine.

Bubonic plague, transmitted to may by the fleas that infest rats, is estimated to have killed more humans than all the wars in history.

In the Fourteenth century, the plague—then called "black death"—spread its tentacles throughout Europe. It took the lives of 25,000,000 persons, or one-fourth of the population.

Has Also Hit U. S.

On several occasions since 1900 plague outbreaks have occurred in the United States. The most notable ones were in San Francisco in 1907, New Orleans in 1914 and Galveston in 1920.

A form of the plague has been found in several different types of rodents in the western states, including ground squarrels, wood rats, deer mice and woodchuck. Poison 1080 is deadly to all of these. Property damage caused by rats in the United States alone is estimated by officials of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service at more than $200,000,000 a year.

Other Poisons Tried

With the outbreak of the war, supplies of the customary poisons used in rodent control—thallium, red squill and strychnine—were curtailed or cut off. Thallium was imported from Europe, principally Germany, Belgium and France; red squill from the Mediterranean region and strychnine from the Far East.

It was for this reason that the government, with the Office of Scientific research and development and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service cooperating, began its search for a new domestic rat poison which resulted in the development of 1080.

Margarine was first made by a French chemist in 1870.

Valuable Publication Presented To Tech

First of a number of sesquicentennial publications being issued by the University of North Carolina, "A State University Surveys the Humanities," has been mailed to Texas Tech's library, according to Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, Tech president.

As other volumes are published (it will be at least a year before some are off the press) they will be contributed to Tech, Dr. Whyburn said.

EVERY RIVERSIDE PLY IS

12% STRONGER

TO GIVE YOU GREATER PROTECTION AGAINST BLOW-OUTS

Everyone dreads the sudden danger of a blowout. That's why Riversides are now built 12% stronger than our extra-safe, pre-war tires! Every ply is stronger because each individual cord is stronger to begin with; then chemically strengthened to stay stronger longer! Next, the cords are liquid-dipped to "weld" them together . . . then cushioned in rubber! Finally, the plies are cemented together before vulcanizing, as an extra precaution against separation! In a Riverside Tire, every care is taken to provide real protection against the possibility of a blow-out!

Hundreds Of Workers, Scientists Said Quitting Atomic Bomb Plants

By JACK STINNETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves said today hundreds of workers, key men and scientists are quitting the atomic bomb project because of uncertainty over the future of their jobs.

Questioned about a report to this effect, General Groves, in overall charge of the atomic bomb project, told a reporter he has lost some of his best men, both at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Hanford, Wash., as well as at Los Alamos, N. Mex. He said field representatives report that in numerous instances departing workers list "uncertainty of the future" as a primary or secondary cause for quitting.

Thousands Giving Up Jobs

Although Groves would make no estimate of the extent to which this draining off of key workers has cut production, he asserted that there has been considerable slowdown.

Since peak employment on the atomic bomb project, more than one fourth of the workers have quit.

Since VJ-day, more than 6,000 workers have quit and approximately 3,000 more have indicated their intention to leave in the next month or two.

Not all of these have quit or are quitting because of job uncertainties by any means, Groves said.

Many, including most of the scientific workers, offered their services for the duration or for some specific task and now are returning to their personal interests.

This is true, for example, in the cases of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, chief scientist, and of the eight other scientists at Los Alamos to whom Groves referred as his first and second teams.

R. H. Bates Services Are Set For Thursday

Funeral services for R. H. Bates, 65, for almost 35 years a farmer in Lubbock and Lynn counties, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in the Southside Church of Christ with Reverend Stanley, pastor of the Wolfforth Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery under direction of Rix funeral home.

Bates died of a heart attack about 8:30 a. m. Tuesday at his home eight miles southwest of Lubbock on the Brownfield highway.

Members of the family said Bates had driven to the field and had parked at the end of a row where farm hands were working. He was found slumped over the wheel of his car by C. V. Baker, an employe.

He lived in the New Home community in Lynn county for 30 years before moving to his present farm in 1942. His only son, Harvey Allen Bates, was killed in a car accident in June of 1944.

Survivors are his wife, the former Miss Grace Hester of Lubbock; one grandchild, Nelda Darlene, 21 months old; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Faye Bates; three brothers, Dick Bates of Fresno, Calif., Will Bates of Belton, Van Bates of Levelland; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Bailey of Corpus Christi.

82ND SAID TO RETURN

PARIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—The U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes said today the 82nd Airborne division, which has been on occupation duty in Berlin for three months, has been alerted for return to the United States.

$10,000 HANGOVER—Spectators gasped in Seattle, Wash., and the driver nearly had the jumping jim-jams when the $10,000 load of choice liquor pictured above teetered precariously over the end of the truck when driver made a sudden stop in traffic.

Anti-Communist Party Leads Hungarian Vote

BUDAPEST, Nov. 6 (U.P.) — The essentially anti-Communist Small Holders' party appeared today to have won control of the new Hungarian national assembly in Soviet-dominated eastern Europe's first free election since its liberation. Although final results may not be available until tomorrow, early returns indicated that the conservative Small Holders—mostly peasants and former landlords—will compose 48 to 52 per cent of the 360 members of the assembly.

The left-wing Social Democrats ran second with 25 to 30 per cent and the Communists third with 15 to 20 per cent. The Peasant party polled only seven to eight percent of the total vote and the Democratic Citizens' party, appealing most to city intellectuals, not more than two percent.

(Reports reaching London on the basis of three quarters of the vote cast indicated that the Small Holders would win at least 58 per cent and perhaps more of the assembly seats, the Social Democrats 22 per cent and the communists 14 per cent.)

An estimated 3,600,000 Hungarians voted Sunday. Police guarded the polls and prevented electioneering. Ballots were marked behind drawn curtains and placed in sealed envelopes before being dropped in ballot boxes.

Three LAAF Grads Now Airlines Pilots

Among 35 Army Air forces pilot veterans who have turned their war aviation training into peaceful channels are three Lubbock Army Air field graduates, now co-pilots or first officers for Pennsylvania-Central Airlines.

Bob Kleinke, of Chicago, who trained at LAAF during the fall of 1942; Urban S. Bond of Wentforth, S. Car. and Don Gaylor, of Davenport, Iowa, both graduates of May 1942, have been selected from hundreds of candidates by a panel from PCA's personnel, medical and flight operation departments to fly the DC-3s used in commercial flight operation.

In order to effect the transition between Air corps and commercial operations these young pilots, average age a little over 24, were given intensive training under veteran commercial pilots and ground personnel.

Nestegg Of $30,000 Awaits Disabled GI

RINGLING, Okla., Nov. 6 (U.P.)—A nest egg of about $30,000 was waiting today for Sgt. Elmer Morris, Oklahoma's worst disabled soldier, when he comes back home from the Army to settle down.

A campaign to raise a $25,000 trust fund for the plucky soldier and his pretty young wife already has brought in $29,199.14. And small donations are continuing.

The sergeant and his wife, who have been guests at public functions in their honor at Oklahoma City since last Friday, planned to return to their home here late today.

After a few days in Ringling, Morris will return to McCloskey General hospital at Temple, Tex. He is progressing nicely with his two new artificial legs, but is having difficulty using an artificial right arm. The stub of the upper arm has been too sore for him to try out the artificial arm any length of time.

Morris lost both legs, his right arm, one eye and part of his left hand in a land mine explosion in Belgium last winter.

The trust fund collections have been received by his friends, the Fort Worth, Tex., Star-Telegram, the Daily Ardmoreite, of Ardmore, Okla., the Daily Oklahoman and Times of Oklahoma City, the Woodward Daily Press, and others.

Oil Industry Veteran Is Claimed By Death

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 6 (AP) — George W. Whitman, 93, a retired oil operator often termed "the man who was born with petroleum," died last night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. N. M. Tripplehorn.

Whitman, once an outstanding independent producer in Ohio and Texas oil fields, was born near Titusville, Pa., only a short distance from the first commercial oil well.

Until retirement ten years ago Whitman remained active in the Burkburnett field in Texas and in Oklahoma operations.

Survivors include two daughters who live in Fort Worth, Mrs. D. R. Tripplehorn, and Goldie Whitman.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

IT'S safe to say the most thrilled young woman in Lubbock Tuesday was Mrs. Carroll Taylor who received a lei of 26 orchids from her husband, 1st. Lt. Taylor. He is in the Marine air corps and stationed near Pearl Harbor.

"Just think that my 'first' orchid should be a whole lei," she laughed.

APPRECIATION

MRS. Marie Reynolds, the Australian wife of Norris T. Reynolds, is not one of those temporary Texans who go home and spread the rumor that the Lone Star State is fit only for natives and rattlesnakes.

Mrs. Reynolds wrote a downstate paper that she appreciated the "unlimited kindness and hospitality" shown her by Texans.

NERVOUS HABIT

A columnist in a Chicago paper recently wrote at length of the nervous habits, mannerisms and afflictions that destroy beauty in many women. You know the common signs of intense nervousness such as:

Shifting some part of the body from time to time.

Lassitude — fatigue affecting mental efficiency. Excitability and irritability over trivial matters. Talking too fast and too much. Nervousness during speaking, stuttering and stammering.

Frowning, forehead wrinkling, sighing often as if distressed.

Scratching and itching

Failure to sleep well.

Failure to sit through a movie, a lecture, a church service, etc.

Too restless to read or study.

Excessive concern over a loved one or over money matters.

THAT does not completely cover the subject but it is quite an array of nervous traits. In advanced cases a doctor must be consulted because it's possible there is something physically wrong, such as bad eyesight, diseased tonsils, an unsound digestive tract, etc.

If there is nothing organically wrong, however, it is up to you to make the changes and learn how to relax. It will take time and concentrated effort but you can train yourself to stop shifting, drumming on the chair arm with your fingers, to stop raising the voice irritably, talking so fast and so much.

The nerves will tone down if you take time to relax once in a while throughout the day. Rest before you eat, if only for five minutes.

Rev. Jimmy Bell Is Council Speaker

Rev. Jimmy Bell of Clovis, who will conduct youth rallies in Lubbock under sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke before City Council of Parent-Teachers Tuesday afternoon at the Lubbock High school auditorium.

"Few boys or girls who have had adequate religious training or who have had Scout training are delinquent," Rev. Bell told the assembly. The Council voted to cooperate in making the rallies successful.

Resignations of Ishmael Hill, treasurer, who is leaving to study at Peabody Institute, and of Mrs. J. D. Lawson, health chairman, who is moving away from the city, were accepted.

Announcements were made regarding the regional welfare meet on Nov. 16, Clare Tree Major plays and of the State P-TA meeting in San Antonio. Delegates from the Council to the San Antonio meeting are Mrs. L. L. Miller, president, and Mrs. Acle Cope, secretary.

It was also reported that of a total of 1628 tuberculosis tests given in the first, eighth and twelfth grades this week, 130 were positive.

Color Movie To Be Shown At Exhibit

At a serviceman's souvenir display and silver tea Thursday night at First Christian church, Herbert Leaverton will show techincolor motion pictures which he took during a three years' stay in England as a photographer with the Eighth Air force. There will be three showings of the films between 7 and 10 o'clock. The exhibit will be open in the afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Included will be scenes of rural life in England, VE celebrations in London, Picadilly circus, of crowds attending memorial services for Franklin D. Roosevelt, and pictures of the king and queen, of Winston Churchill and General Eisenhower.

Those with interesting collections of linens, dishes, jewelry and other articles from foreign countries are invited to bring them to the display. It is planned to have the collection of interest to both men and women. While they will be included in the exhibit, airplane triphies and boats and guns will be only a part of the display, it was said today.

The articles are to be brought to the church today.

Free Press Essential To Peace, Attlee Warns British Newsmen

LONDON, Nov. 6 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee today declared that "a free flow of news about the world" is an essential to postwar international cooperation.

Addressing a meeting of the Newspaper Society, Attlee paid tribute to the role of a free press during the war.

Helps World Understanding

"We in this country," he said, "have long been committed to a belief in the freedom of the press and liberty of comment. Let us hope it will ever remain so."

He declared that in the achievement of rehabilitation and reconstruction "nothing is, I am convinced, more essential than that there shall be free flow of news about the world."

"It is to independent reporting of events by men and women trained in the work of informing the public that the ordinary people of all nations look chiefly for their understanding of each other," he said.

Would Exchange News

"For our part we hope that journalists from other countries will come to our country in increasing numbers to observe, to comment and to report back to their own people on our way of life and the manner in which we are dealing with our affairs."

He praised the role of the British press "which has played so worthy a part in British life and which sets as I know so high a standard of national service and responsibility.

Keeps Officials On Toes

"It is your vigilance alongside that of Parliament and local councils that keeps ever present in the minds of administrators that knowledge so essential to good government that they are public servants under constant scrutiny.

"I know how well you shouldered these responsibilities during the war and the extent to which the papers you edit were not only a source of essential information and guidance to their readers but very often in many areas the centers of community effort and civic enterprise.

"We move forward now to new endeavors that call for informed and active public opinion no less great than that required by war."

In facing the tasks of the postwar world, Attlee said, it is essential "that the people shall know and shall feel they know the facts.

"They must have that full measure of information about the policies and actions of government which will enable them to judge it—to commend it when, as I hope often will be the case, it deserves their commendation and to criticize it when, as sometimes happens with even the best of governments, it deserves their criticism."

"I WAS CONSTIPATED FOR MANY YEARS!"

Relieved by KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Constipated? Then here's an unsolicited letter you'll want to read:

"I'd been troubled with common constipation for many years. Was taking laxatives and pills all the time, and feeling very weak and run down. 3 months ago, I began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily. Now, I have a regular, natural movement every morning, which helps me feel my best!" Mr. Samuel D. Blank, 292 Kings Highway, Brooklyn, New York.

You, too, may be able to free yourself from pills and purgatives for the rest of your life—if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet, and you eat a dish of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water! If not satisfied, send empty carton to Kellogg's of Battle Creek. You'll receive double the money you paid for it! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a highly nutritious food made from the vital outer layers of wheat. It's one of nature's most effective sources of gentle-acting, natural bulk.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. It's made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Giant Improvement Program Outlined

DALLAS, Nov. 6 (U.P.)—A five year postwar telephone construction and improvement program for Texas which will cost approximately $53,000,000 has been started by Southwestern Bell Telephone company, W. L. Prehn, general manager of the company for Texas, announced today.

Catching up with 119,000 orders for service now pending in Texas will be one of the first objectives of the plan which is a part of a $140,000,000 program in five states of the company's territory, Prehn said.

In the five-state territory 66,000 miles of new long distance lines are being added this year, with about 62,000 miles of lines planned for 1946.

Conversion of manual exchanges to dial operation, a plan interrupted by the war, will be continued. Expansion of farm telephone service is contemplated, and mobile radio-telephone service is scheduled for several Texas cities, Prehn said.

Prosecutors Named For German Trials

NUERNBERG, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—A 10-man American staff of trial counsel, who in effect will be the actual prosecutors of Axis war criminals in the forthcoming Nuernberg trials, was appointed today.

The staff was headed by Robert G. Storey of Dallas, Tex., who was designated executive counsel. He and his nine colleagues will argue the tribunal's case against the Nazis.

The counsel will have full executive powers and responsibility for the preparation and conduct of the trial, coordinating the work of various trial counsels, determining matters of sequence and settling any conflicts between counsel committees or sections.

Nuernberg War Trials To Open On Schedule

NUERNBERG, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—The Nuernerg trial of war criminals will begin on schedule Nov. 20, regardless of defense requests for a delay, but the court probably will recess for a week or two immediately after the opening, authoritative sources reported today.

The prosecution appeared to be even more determined to begin the trial Nov. 20 after a circulation of a report that it might be put off as late as Jan. 2. The report was denied emphatically.

A poll of defense counsel indicated that requests would be made for more time to prepare the case. The probable recess would be designed to give the defense staff time to complete its files.

Another Man Arrested On "Goo Goo" Charges

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—A 48-year-old man, stranded in Houston by the Greyhound Bus strike and having nothing else to do, today tickled the ribs of a 24-year-old girl as she sat in the bus depot.

Fifteen minutes later he was in jail charged with making "goo goo eyes," the third such charge to be filed in Houston within a week.

The "goo goo eyes" law forbids a man winking, staring or wiggling his body at a woman.

DEDICATED TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF PROFESSIONAL EYE CARE

Suppose you were summoned into court. Would you go out and buy a batch of legal forms and some law books?

No! You'd seek legal advice—you'd go to a professional man—a lawyer.

Legal forms and law books are important. But the protection of your legal rights depends largely upon the education, training and knowledge of the professional man you consult. You know this, of course.

But are you as wise about your eyes?

When your eyes trouble you, do you say to yourself, "I'd better buy some glasses"

That's as illogical as buying legal forms or law books when you need the services of a lawyer.

What really counts most when your eyes need attention is the professional skill and services of your: Ophthalmologist, Optometrist, Ophthalmic Dispenser.

Glasses are important, of course, but your eye comfort and visual efficiency depend upon the professional and technical skill with which your eyes are examined and refracted; your glasses prescribed, your prescription interpreted, your glasses fitted, re-evaluated and serviced.

And remember, the fee you pay is "for professional services rendered." Many people mistake this fee for the price of a pair of glasses, but glasses alone can't correct faulty vision.

Don't be satisfied with anything less than thorough eye care. Seek the professional skill—the services that your priceless sight demands. Invest in eye care—not glasses at a price.

Seek professional advice—not glasses at a price.

Federal Curb Against Delinquency Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Teen-age delinquents soon will find themselves dealing with the Justice department under a plan outlined today by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

Clark told his first press conference since his appointment last May that one of his early aims is the establishment of a juvenile bureau in the Justice department.

The bureau, he said, will be headed by some of the nation's outstanding authorities on juvenile delinquency. He did not identify the authorities.

Clark said he also hoped to set up two or more youth centers where young people arrested for various crimes could be reeducated in responsible citizenship.

"I feel the federal government should take the lead in this movement," he explained, "because these young people are going to be citizens of tomorrow. This problem is a national one"

Honeymoon Listed By Pair As Occupation

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—An attractive young couple who visited the Texas House of Representatives gave hostesses a chuckle in signing the visitors' register.

They wrote their names as: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ferguson; their home town as Amarillo, and their occupation as: "Honeymoon."

Fancy Oratory Hits New High In Capital Labor Peace Meet

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Oratory that you can see as a light mist in the floodlights is a good sign. It means the speechmakers aren't fooling.

So the labor boys and the gents who hire them are making speeches in the Federal auditorium. The mist is easy to see and no wonder. These orators are on a spot. They've got to quit calling each other names, cut out the strikes and the lockouts and hurry up with the flood of new autos, television sets, bath tubs and nylon stockings.

Or else.

Must Reach Agreement

"I'm no labor expert, but I've got good ears and I've been listening to the talkers for hours on end, from President Truman, through cabinet members, union chieftains, and factory owners. As I get the pitch, it's up to the labor fellows at one table and the industry lads at the other to kiss and make up.

If they don't, and this is President Truman talking, the people will slap 'em down. You may read the president's language in another column of this paper; I'll report only that Mr. Truman seemed in dead earnest. Only thing gay about the President was his necktie: blue with red spots.

Labor Leaders Silent

Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach put on his horn rims and said the people were sick of labor unions calling strikes just to see which brand of unionism would be boss. He said maybe labor could hire a czar, like the movies and the baseball clubs did, to settle their arguments.

I watched the union leaders while he said this and I didn't notice John L. Lewis, the coal miners' boss, nodding his head. The pink face of the AFL's William Green was expressionless.

Wallace Fears Depression

Came then the Secretary of Commerce, Henry Wallace, a sartorial symphony in brown. He said, and he had the figures to prove it, that if the boys didn't get to work and produce the goods in ever-increasing floods, there's be a depression. By spring, he said.

Green called the meeting a peace conference. Eric Johnston, the youthful head man of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said it was about time the battlers quit calling each other names, and got down to work. Philip Murray, the CIO boss, said now was the time to take up wages and if they are to be increased, to decide how much. And so on, all day yesterday and all day today.

Building Was Picketed

The mist of earnest and fist-pounding speech eddied in front of the microphones, while the ferns blotting out the back wall of the Federal auditorium wilted under the movie men's lights.

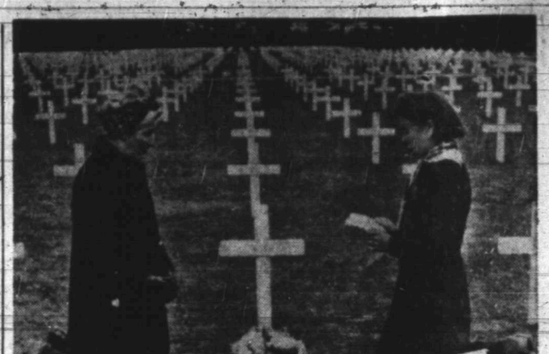

There was no audience, except for perhaps 200 news men. Nobody got inside but the reporters and the delegates; several hundred blue leather chairs were empty. Tomorrow the reporters will be barred, while business and labor attempt to decide around the conference tables that the opposition members don't actually have tails and carry pitchforks.

The joint, of course, was picketed. One dozen representatives of independent unions, mostly white collar workers, walked in front with banners defying the delegates to pass their lines. They said they'd been barred from the meeting and that if they couldn't get in, nobody should.

There were more cops than pickets. The union delegates ignored the marchers. There was one sight I never thought I'd see: the portly JL crashing a picket line. For publication he wouldn't say a word, but I bet he felt a little odd.

Anyhow fellows, good luck. I'm not even complaining about that oratorial mist; I just took a seat a little further to the rear.

The Coast Guard's role in aviation, especially in wartime, was vividly demonstrated in 1943 when it made 450 assistance flights, rescued 64 persons, located and directed rescue of over 500 victims of sea disasters and transported 82 emergency cases.

Developer In Rio Grande Valley Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 6 (U.P.)—John H. Shary, 72, of Mission, Tex., widely-known Texan and one of the developers of the Rio Grande Valley, died this morning at Nix hospital after an extended illness.

Shary spent about 30 years in the lower Rio Grande valley, and was instrumental in making citrus a major Texas crop. From 1906 to 1912 he developed 250,000 acres in the Corpus Christi area. He was organizer of the Texas citrus fruit growers exchange.

A valley town, Sharyland, is named after him.

Political Reshuffling In Balkans Starts As Hungary Holds Election

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Hungary apparently has voted non-Communist in the first free election held in southeastern Europe since the war.

The result is inconclusive, as to the future status of the Balkan States with respect to Russia and the western powers. Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Asutria and Romania are scheduled to hold their elections within coming weeks, and voting conditions will not be the same as in Hungary, where seven parties were in the lists. Three separate parties are contesting in Austria, but in the other three countries there are single party lists, meaning one ticket comprising several factions.

Coalition Setup Seen

To say that Hungary voted non-Communist does not mean it voted anti-Communist. The winning party, according to incomplete returns, is the small landholders, tending toward the Conservative side. But the small holders, as they are called, are not inclined to assume sole responsibility for a coming winter of hunger and privation.

The small holders are expected to invite the Communists and Socialists into a coalition government, but without consenting to an outright Republican regime. Informed observers look for a regency council to carry on the strong Hungarian tradition of a monarchy, if only in form.

Pleased Western Powers

The election in Hungary, by secret ballot and without foreign supervision, was a natural source of satisfaction to the western powers. The United States and Great Britain have made a strong point of insisting that governments in eastern Europe shall be democratic and elected by the free will of the people.

Neither side between the big powers lost any ground. The election was preceded by Russia's negotiation of a two-party commercial treaty with Hungary, signed without consulting the other powers. Britain and the United States protested mildly but in vain. At the same time, the United States recognized the provisional Hungarian government, which presumably will be continued in the post-election reorganization. The recognition was "in fact" instead of formally legal, but that is a technicality.

Agreement Said Near

The upshot is that differences between Soviet Russia and the western powers over the form of government to be established in the Balkan countries are on the way to solution.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes paved the way with his recent speech recognizing Russia's special interest in eastern Europe, similar to United States interests in the western hemisphere.

Washington knows fairly well what the election results in the other Balkan states will be. Austria, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia appear to be headed toward Republican governments—not truly democratic in the western sense, but tending in that direction from the Balkan viewpoint.

These governments will in greater or lesser degree be subject to Soviet political influence, and definitely tied in with Russia economically. Byrnes implied in his speech that he expected a drastic reshuffling in the Balkans.

South To Reorganize For Industry Drive

HOUSTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Leaders from every section of the South have been summoned to meet at Raleigh, N. C., Thursday at 10:30 a. m. to complete reorganization of the Southern Association of Science and Industry, thereby making it suitable to lead in the development of the post-war South, C. O. Hoover, of Houston, trustee of SASI, announced today.

Business will include the naming of additional trustees to the board, which is being expanded to nearly 200 outstanding businessmen, scientists and educators in 15 southern states.

Lloyd C. Bird, of Richmond, Va., president of SASI, who recently conferred at Tallahassee, Fla., with Governor Millard Caldwell of Florida, in reference to coordinating the activities of the Southern Governors' conference and SASI, will deliver his report at the Raleigh meeting.

The SASI conference is expected to attract representatives from Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Governor Stresses Soil Conservation

HILLSBORO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson stressed the importance of soil conservation here today and told Texas farmers they no longer had to fear deterioration of their lands.

He addressed the final meeting of the Soil Conservation District Supervisors annual convention.

Gov. Stevenson said despite recent industrialization of Texas, the Lone Star state was still basically agricultural.

He praised the state's soil conservation law, based on the principle of self-government.

He quoted the late W. C. Morrow of Hillsboro, as saying the Texas law "is not dictated by some federal agency."

BERLIN, Nov. 6—Even as Germany prepared to consolidate her Austrian conquest in 1938, Reichsmarshal Herman Goering and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop were conspiring to allay British fears and clear the way for further aggression—the seizure of Czechoslovakia.

The pattern of lies which passed for Nazi diplomacy had one chief purpose: To lull Britain into inactivity with vague promises of a German-British understanding.

Talks Are Reviewed

Transcripts of international telephone calls between Nazi leaders, salvaged from a Berlin rubble pile by the merest chance, record these conversations which took place between Von Ribbentrop in London and Goering in Berlin immediately after German troops marched into Austria in response to a trumped-up request for intervention.

Goering: "The sympathy for National Socialism (in Austria) is complete and, to us, surprising. . . . Actually these were all our people. . . ."

Ribbentrop: "The situation here is—for the moment they have had a great surprise. But generally they are looking at things with common sense."

English Understand

Goering: ". . . The Czech minister who was with me yesterday explained the rumors that Czechoslovakia had mobilized were made completely out of thin air and they would be satisfied with my word I would not undertake the slightest gain against Czechoslovakia."

Goering: I hope for a most warm German-English understanding. If the English want a really honorable understanding and if the English recognize reciprocally that we also are a proud, free people, then nobody could be more glad than I. For at least we are two brother peoples."

Ribbentrop: "I got the impression Chamberlain also has the will for an understanding. . . . Lord Halifan (then foreign secretary) remarked that he was only worried for the Czechoslovakian Republic. . . . I told him he had no interest and no purpose to do anything there. On the contrary, if we Germans are treated reasonably there, we will also come to an understanding there."

Goering: "It seems as if all is wonderful peace."

Little more than six months later, Nazi soldiers violated Czechoslovakian soil and occupied the Sudetenland.

Injuries In Wreck Fatal To Couple

LAREDO, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Juan B. Guerra of San Antonio, died Monday as the result of injuries received when the station wagon in which they were returning from Monterrey, Mexico, overturned on the Monterrey highway.

The driver of the wagon, Ciro A. Martinez, chief of the purchasing department of the Monterrey brewery in San Antonio, suffered a fractured skull.

All three persons were taken to a Nuevo Laredo, Mexican hospital. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Guerra will be taken to San Antonio for burial.

Lubbock Man Elected State IOOF Official

WACO, Nov. 6. (AP)—R. T. (Bob) Sullivan of Waco was named Grand Herald of the Grand Lodge of the Texas Odd Fellows today by the newly-elected grand master, Sherman C. Reed of Dallas.

Reed wa selevated to the Grand Master post last night at the 105th convention meeting.

Mike Preveto of Beauomnt was elevated from grand warden to deputy grand master. C. E. Woods of Lubbock was elected grand warden, the first step on the ladder to grand master.

S. M. Williams of Dallas was re-elected grand secretary. J. W. Hampton of Dallas was elected grand treasurer.

Tellie S. Aston, mayor of Sherman, was reelected grand representative.

D. D. Moore of Clayton, N. M., grand sire of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the highest office of the order, spoke to the convention yesterday and today addressed the Rebekah assembly in its fifty-first annual gathering.

Mrs. Louise Reinicke of Houston was named warden of the Rebekah assembly of Texas.

Woods' election places him only two chairs in the line of IOOF succession from the presiding officer of the grand lodge, that of grand master. He has been deputy grand master of the Lubbock IOOF district and is a member of the encampment and the canton, IOOF branches.

His election was by a two to one vote.

Others from Lubbock at the convention were M. E. Stone and J. F. Richardson, both past nobles grand, Sgt. C. M. Tomlin, H. W. Crews and W. E. Sudderth, as well as two Rebekahs, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Lillie Gosden.

Survey Shows Voters Satisfied With Cuts In Present Tax Bill

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.— Members of Congress will be pleased with evidence that the majority of American voters think the tax cuts as provided in the recently passed federal tax reductions bill are enough for the present.

The evidence is found in results of a nation-wide survey just completed in which a cross-section of the American voters was asked:

"Congress is considering cutting income taxes next year. Under one plan many families now paying a small tax would no longer have to pay any tax, and the rest would have their taxes cut by about 10 per cent. Do you think these cuts would be enough for the present, or should they be cut some more?"

The replies:

Would be Enough	52%
Taxes Should be Cut More	31
Undecided	17

In the case of a married person with two dependents, the tax bill as finally passed allows sliding scale percentage reductions totaling more than 10 per cent for persons up to $50,000 (net income before exemptions) and diminishing in the higher brackets to five per cent at five million. The final bill also exempts from any income tax some 12,000,000 low income individuals now paying income taxes.

While the question in today's survey does not exactly reflect the provisions of the bill as passed, it provides a fair measure of public thinking on the general proposition of income tax reduction at this time.

Typical among reasons given by those who think taxes would be cut enough, as provided in the survey question: "There is such a tremendous debt, and there's no use dragging it out." "We've got to keep taxes up and begin thinking of balancing the budget."

"Everyone has money now and should pay." "It's everyone's job to help."

The minority put forth as reasons for cutting taxes more: "The war is over now, and government expenses are not so great." "We don't need all that income."

Differences in thinking on the question are best underlined by a look at the vote on the question in the various occupational groups:

	Taxes Cut Enough	Should Be Cut More	Undec.
Prof. and Bus.	44%	36%	10%
White Collar	57	25	11
Farmers	53	28	19
Manual Workers	45	33	22

O'Dwyer New Mayor

ocratic-ALP nominee led in the contest easily. The vote: O'Dwyer, 692,048; Jonah Goldstein, Republican - Liberal - Fusion, 249,251; Newbold Morris, No Deal party, 241,523.

On next Jan. 1 he will take office—the first Democrat to be elected here in 12 years.

Goldstein and Morris conceded victory to the Irish O'Dwyer—he was born in County Mayo, Ireland, 55 years ago—less than three hours after the polls had closed at 7 p. m. (e.s.t.)

Broke "Murder Inc."

O'Dwyer studied law in his spare time while pounding the sidewalks as a city cop years ago.

It was as Kings County District Attorney that O'Dwyer prosecuted what became known as "Murder, Inc." Seven men went to the electric chair in the roundup of the gang which hired itself out to do murder.

Truman Criticized

erica's day of financial recokoning will be at hand if ft continues its wild spending jag.

"The President pussyfoots with irresponsible labor dictators who are shamefully wrecking our reconversion effort."

Hatch called this "partisan criticism and fault finding."

The New Mexico senator said he could see no inconsistency in the President's calling the labor-management conference and in not calling a conference on peacetime military training. He noted that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) first suggested the labor-management conference.

He said President Truman was being criticized in the Senate for the first time for "lack of statesmanship" while previously the late President Roosevelt had been under frequent attacks "for too much leadership."

The proposed steps would go beyond the nationalization program of Britain's Labor government.

The assembly accepted the resignation of Gen. Ringing applause greeted DeGaulle as he walked into the Chamber of Deputies in civilian clothes, his first formal appearance without the uniform in which he had dressed for five years.

Overflow Crowd Greets Presentation Of "Bohemian Girl"

A crowd that overflowed Lubbock High school auditorium enthusiastically greeted presentation last night by the North Texas State college School of Music of the opera "The Bohemian Girl."

The opera, adapted for use by the college voices by Mary McCormic, assistant to the head of the school of music, and staged under suprevision of Dr. Wilfred C. Bain, head of the school, presented five outstanding voices, and pleasing orchestration also under direction of Dr. Bain.

Anne Weeks of Longview, a tiny blonde, and Helen Hunter, attractive brunette from Wichita Falls, sparkled in the lead feminine roles. Both plan careers in light opera.

Joseph Truncale of Port Arthur, Earl Tom Keel of Fort Worth, and Bill Reynolds, also from Fort Worth, were equally well received by the audience. Also holding much attention of the audience was E. C. Richards of Jacksboro, in a humorous role as a frustrated lover.

A chorus of 22 members supported the singing stars in a story laid in Hungary in the 18th century, and centering around experiences of royalty with a roving band of gypsies.

A dancing team of eight, and five tumblers, added spice to a well rounded three hours of entertainment, and prolonged applause greeted finale of the presentation.

TALKS SAID STARTED

CHUNGKING, Nov. 6 (AP)—A dispatch from Yingkow, Manchuria, today reported that a Chinese government representative and Soviety authorities were negotiating for the landing of Chinese Nationalist troops in Manchuria from ships of the U. S. Seventh fleet. The dispatch quoted Gen. Tu Yu-Ming, who will command the Chinese peace preservation corps in Manchuria, as saying the Russians had agreed to guarantee safe andling of Chinese troops at Yingkow. Tu said they were unable to give the same assurance for their entry into Taiengkow "owing to the smallness of Russian forces" there.

in southern Manchuria and pessimistic observers here said the complete lack of information may mean there has been a breakdown in reported Russian-Chinese arrangements for the landings.

6. Communist headquarters at Yanan reportedly was considering the government's recent four-point peace proposal, but the only publicized Red comments have been skeptical in tone.

Chinese Communists today moderated their charges that American Marines had clashed aggressively with the North-China Reds. Both Chungking and Washington had flatly denied such reports.

'WHAT SO PROUDLY WE HAIL . . .'— The striking photo above tells why the U. S. submarine men are mighty proud of their service's record in the war against Japan. It was snapped when the submarine USS Spade Fish came home to Pearl Harbor, her seven-starred commission pennant whipping gaily around Old Glory, which in turn proudly overshadows the banners of the vanquished foe. Each of the Jap flags, white with red "meatballs," indicates an enemy merchant ship sunk. The Rising Sun flag betokens a major Jap warship sunk.

Dutch Propose Plan To End Java Strife

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Dutch disclosed today an offer to Indonesians of "partnership" in the Netherlands empire to end the strife in the East Indies, but Indonesian leaders indicated they would hold out for complete independence.

Java still remained tense, and renewed street fighting with machineguns, rifles and grenades broke out in Batavia.

The Dutch plan, presented to Nationalist leaders last week, was published today despite a warning by President Soekarno of the "Indonesian republic" to Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook that it might result in increased tension.

Soekarno in a statement soon afterward made no direct reference to the Dutch proposals but declared "up until now there is no sign of the Dutch having other intentions than restoring the old colonial system.

"The Dutch know they are unequal to the task of imposing their domination on us, but they are buoyed up by the hope of being able to utilize Allied forces to crush the Indonesians' determination to maintain their sovereignty."

Among the hundreds of thousands affected by the strike were delegates to President Truman's labor-management conference, called to write a national peace formula for industry and labor. They had to depend on scarce taxicabs or private automobiles.

Many downtown employes were late for work. Those without private cars hitch-hiked, taxied, walked, or simply stayed home.

Although Congressmen cried out for action, there was no indication that service would be resumed soon.

The government offered the services of a conciliator, Richard W. Goodrick, But E. D. Merrill, president of the Capital Transit company, whose street cars and buses carry 1,500,000 fares a day, declared he would not deal with the AFL union until the men returned to work.

Linda Darnell Aids Texas Bond Drive

(By The Associated Press)

Texas-born movie actress Linda Darnell arrived in Dallas yesterday to help the state raise its $297,000,000 Victory War loan quota.

Miss Darnell engaged in a bond selling tour and appeared on the stage of a Dallas theater during an auction of two leather-bound photostatic copies of the Japanese and German surrender documents. An autographed Frank Sinatra recording and several 10-gallon hats also were auctioned for bonds.

Meanwhile, bond headquarters in Dallas reported $29,031,163.50 of the state's quota has been raised. Of this, $9,402,042.50 has been sold in E bonds toward the state's $90,000,000 quota.

Sterling county citizens reported total sales of $129,682 in bonds, topping their overall quota by $9,682.

From Houston came word that Stephen F. Austin High school exceeded its $3,000 bond quota for a hospital unit to become the first to reach its goal in Texas.

Resumption Of Bus Service Seen By Friday; Talks Set Thursday

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6 (AP)—Resumption of Greyhound Bus service in Texas by Friday was seen as a possibility by management and labor today.

A strike of 1,200 drivers and 800 terminal employes and baggage workers in Texas and seven adjoining states Sunday midnight paralyzed the network of the Southwestern Greyhound Bus Lines, Inc.

Both Ready To Talk

Both management and union officials have indicated a willingness to negotiate, but neither have made moves to ask for meetings prior to the one previously scheduled for Thursday here.

A. F. Steele, national organizer for the American Federation of Labor, said in Dallas that no sympathy strikes will be called among other AFL transportation workers.

Otto DeBate of New Orleans, vice president of the Amalgamated Street, Railway and Motor Coach Employes Union (AFL) and Paul W. Tibbetts, Greyhound president, said negotiations for a new contract will be resumed Thursday with the arrival here of Ray Majures, U. S. Conciliation service.

See Wage Boost

DeBate said the drivers want a pay increase even higher than their old contract rate plus the "slow-down" bonus which the company paid them under the ODT 35-mile an hour speed limit.

Tibbetts today called the walkout "a wildcat strike" and said the men "could have gotten everything which they are going to get without leaving their jobs. They needn't have taken a vacation."

Optimists Sponsor Entertainment Here

The Optimists club at the luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Lubbock hotel announced plans for ticket sales for a double entertainment Nov. 29 in the Lubbock High school auditorium with "Cover Girl Review" with Paul Neilson, his Studebaker orchestra and company staging a floor show, followed by a dance in the Lubbock hotel ballroom. Admission to both will be gained by purchase of one ticket from a club member.

Proceeds from the review and dance will go for the organization's youth work at Junior Optimist club.

Program speaker was Rev. G. C. Brewer, Church of Christ evangelist, who spoke on the debt of gratitude the American people owe to God for their victory in World War II. He also pointed out the debt we owe to the United Nations and said, "No individual nation can rise by itself or fall by itself. If we are to rise, we must bring other nations up with us, through the fundamentals of Christian education."

Appearing with Rev. Brewer was Ross O. Spears, singer, who led old-fashioned group singing. Prior to the program, Rev. Jimmy Bell, of Clovis, N. M., here under sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, made an announcement regarding the youth rallies which he will conduct.

A new member, Ralph J. Bumpass, was introduced. Guests were Sgt. H. K. Born, Lt. Harold Chapman, Bill Gregg, James L. Bearden, Troy Womack, E. F. Blackburn, James L. Findley, Rev. M. Norvel Young, Wayne Martin, E. H. Byrd, G. W. Butler and Allen Hammer.

News Briefs

A. L. Hawkins, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins of 2008 Twenty-fourth, has arrived home after receiving his discharge from the U. S. Marine Corps. He entered the Marines four years ago and served two years in the South Pacific theater. Hawkins plans to enter Tech for the spring semester.

Lubbock Man Attends Recruiting School

Capt. Richard T. Hammond, 1917 Twenty-second, has returned from a recruiting school at Fort Oglethorpe, Tenn., attended by 150 officers and a like number of enlisted men from the service commands of the nation, and has resumed his duties here as head of the U. S. Army recruiting substation in the post office.

The school was held from Oct. 19 until Nov. 2 and emphasized benefits to enlisted men who enlist or reenlist in the Army under circular 310.

The officer reminded veterans of World War II that Nov. 21 is the deadline for men discharged from May 12 to Nov. 1 to reenlist and retain the rank they held upon discharge.

Great Britain's crude oil production during 1944 totaled approximately 750,000 barrels.

Wellington FFA Is Host To Officers

WELLINGTON, Nov. 6 (Special)—The Wellington Future Farmers of America officers and Marion Baumgardner, national vice-president, were hosts here Saturday to the officers of area 1. This includes an area that has approximately 2,500 FFA members scattered over the Panhandle and South Plains and east to Wichita Falls.

Oliver Thompson, Lubbock member and area president, presided. Baumgardner gave a report on the recent national convention at Kansas City, Mo. Billy Burrow of Tulia, state officer, spoke on cooperation and interest of members of individual chapters.

Other talks included one by Lauo Barron, state supervisor of vocational agriculture. Included in the officers attending from this area, other than Thompson and Burrow, was Billy Joe Sandusky of Floydada, historian of the area council.

O. T. Ryan, supervisor of the area and a Lubbock resident with offices at Texas Tech, attended and asked for a vote on a banquet for Lone Star Farmers next spring. It was voted to stage one, such as was held here this year.

VETERAN RE-ENLISTS

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Master Sgt. Olin S. Dickinson, of San Antonio, who at 62, is one of the oldest enlisted men in the United States Army, re-enlisted in the regular Army at the Army Ground and Service Forces redistribution station, Fort Sam Houston, today.

NEGRO UNIT TO RETURN

ROME, Nov. 6. (AP)—First units of the U. S. 92nd Infantry division, an all negro outfit of the Fifth Army, will sail home tomorrow from Naples.

Red Raider-Frog Game Sure Of Year's Banner Turnout

Instead of "button, button, who has the button?" game, grid fans in the Lubbock area are playing a new sport, called "ticket, ticket, who has a ticket?"

Morley Jennings, athletic director at Texas Tech, said Tuesday night that every available reserve seat has been sold for Saturday's homecoming tilt at Tech stadium with Texas Christian's pass minded Horned Frogs.

North End Tickets

The only ray of hope that Jennings could hold out for fans was his announcement that some tickets would be on sale on the day of the game for endzone seats in the north end, and standing room only. These ducats will go on sale at the north gate Saturday afternoon.

It was reliably reported Tuesday night that scalpers were asking, and likely getting, as high as $9 for tickets of a choice kind, and some selling as low as $6.

Injuries Still Hurt

Injuries continue to plague the Red Raiders, while the Horned Frogs report they will not only be in top shape for the game, but like every school on the Tech schedule to date, will add additional strength to be hurled at the Red Raiders.

Walter Schlinkman, the bruising fullback of the Red Raiders, who is now the bruised fullback, is still favoring his injured shoulder, and reported that it was reinjured in the Rice game last week, and shows no hopes of getting into top shape soon.

Coach Dell Morgan had hoped to have his team in top shape for homecoming battle Saturday afternoon, but indications are now that he will have the lineup well dotted with substitutes, and some of those regulars who will see action, may be forced to see only limited service in the game.

Hard Scrimmage Held

Morgan worked the Red Raiders behind locked gates again Tuesday afternoon, putting the stress on offense with a bruising scrimmage session.

The showing being made by little Jack Hinson, former San Antonio Tech star, was heartening to the coaches during the workout, and the 165 pound back was ripping off some nice gains on running plays, and very likely will be given plenty of chance Saturday to try the same thing against the Frogs.

Ed Robnett, Walt Schlinkman, Gene Hardey and Jack "Spider" Dillon were working together on the timing of their plays, but taking no part in the rugged work of the scrimmage session.

Wrestling Card Set For Auction Arena

Promoter Pete Hallas announced Tuesday night that everything was set for the second grunt and groan show at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena tonight at 8:30 o'clock, with three matches on the program.

Headlining the card will be the return match between George Hackenschmidt and Milt Olsen, with Olsen seeking to even the score after losing last week's battle on the semi-final of the opening card of the season.

The main event will be for the best two out of three falls, with no time limit.

Tony Ross, another of the battlers on last week's card, will be back again this week, facing Johnny Atkins on the best two out of three falls, or a 45 minute time limit semi-final of the card. Atkins is making his first appearance here. Ross won a referee's decision last week over the Hood, when Referee Babe Ritchie disqualified the Hood for roughness.

The Hood is also back again this week, the masked grappler meeting Charley Trijo in a one fall opening preliminary, with a 30 minute time limit on the match.

Tickets are on sale at the Busy Bee cafe. Ritchie has been named as the third man in the ring again this week.

SPRING MEETS SET

DALLAS, Nov. 6 (AP) — L. B. Houston, Dallas parks director, said that four state and regional playground and recreation groups plan to hold meetings here next spring.

They are the Texas Recreation Association, Texas Amateur Athletic Association, Texas Beach and Pool Association and the Southwest District conference of the National Recreation Association. They represent Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Louisiana and New Mexico.

Frogs To Bring Top Passer Here

(By The Associated Press)

Leon Joslin, slender freshman backfield ace of Texas Christian university, had a reputation to live up to before he ever started throwing the football on Southwest Conference gridirons.

Hailed as another Davey O'Brien and Sammy Baugh rolled into one, Joslin was under pressure from the start.

Well, he has reacted just as his Coach Dutch Meyer said he would. He has lived up to all expectations.

Keeps Up Pace

Joslin increases his lead weekly in Southwest Conference passing. Last week he completed seven for 105 yards to bring his total to 604 for the season. He has thrown 71 and connected with 38 in six games. That's an average of almost 16 yards per completion and it's an average of 8.5 per throw when all attempts are considered.

In second place is Jack Price of Baylor with 35 completions out of 63 attempts for 407 yards.

Preston Smith Shines

Conference statistics, released Tuesday by James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, also showed that Preston Smith, Texas A. and M. freshman fullback, not only is the leading ball-carrier in the circuit but also has taken over as leading punt-returner.

Smith in 113 runs has netted 550 yards in seven games—an average of 49 per carry. Sammie Pierce of Baylor, however, has the best average. He has taken the oval 67 times for 498 yards—an average of 7.4

In punt returns Smith has romped back with 13 for 175 yards to average 13.4. Bud Canada of Arkansas, however, has returned kicks the most yards. He has raced 19 back for 199.

Maley Best Kicker

The veteran Howard Maley of Southern Methodist still leads the punters. This week has had a comfortable margin over Jim Plyler of Texas. Maley, averaging 40.7 against Texas, now shows 40 yards even for the season. Plyler has a mark of 37.6.

Hubert Bechtol, Texas end from Lubbock, is well out in front in pass-receiving. The Longhorn All-American has snagged 20 for 336 yards. Gene Wilson, Southern Methodist wingman, is second with 15 for 126.

In team offense, Texas leads with 1982 yards in seven games. Baylor is second with 1780 while Texas A. and M. is third with 1687.

Skymasters Prepare For New York Scrap

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6 (AP) — Seeking their third AAF football conference win, the Training Command Skymasters this week mapped an aerial campaign for their clash with the First Air Force Aces Sunday in the victory bond game at New York's Ebbetts Field.

Undefeated in conference play, the Skymasters have scored 108 points against the opposition's 21 and have only a loss to the El Toro Marines to mar their record.

Maj. Fessenden indicated that the 'Masters passing game would be subject to intensified attention during the week's work-outs, leading to the belief that the First Air Force Aces would see more flying leather than has any other Skymasters opponent of the current pigskin campaign.

NAVY BACKS READY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 6 (AP)—There was a rosy tinge on the Navy Blue today when head Coach Oscar Hagberg announced that for the first time this season his regular backfield of three Bobs and one Clyde would be ready to go against Michigan at Baltimore stadium Saturday.

TICKETS SELL FAST

HOUSTON, Nov. 6 (U.P.) — Old grads forked across for tickets today as sales pointed to a record turnout for the Rice homecoming grid game Saturday against Arkansas.

J. R. Calahan Back On Visit, Hopes To Play Here In 1946

Lt. J. R. Calahan, one of the all-time greats in Texas Tech football history, is in Lubbock on leave from his U. S. Marine Corps base at Cherry Point, North Carolina, and will be here to see the Red Raiders play Texas Christian university Saturday in Tech's 20th homecoming grid classic.

Calahan was enroute Tuesday afternoon to Sundown to visit with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hutcheson, parents of his former roommate and best friend, Charlie Bob (Choe) Hutcheson, the latter now with the Army in Japan.

CALAHAN

Calahan and Hutchinson roomed together in 1942 when the latter was sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal and the "Wink Express" was playing out his junior year of football at Tech. Calahan said he hears from "Choc" regularly and that he is now on the staff of "Yank," service newspaper.

Entering Tech as a freshman in 1940, Calahan starred at Tech as a sophomore "sensation" in 1941 and continued his gridiron career as a Red Raider in 1942.

Called into the Naval V-5 program in September, 1943, Calahan ended up a student at the University of Texas' Naval program. Missing the first few games of the season he soon entered D. X. Bible's school for footballers and became the man around whom the Southwest conference championship team was built. He was named to the all-conference team at the close of the season and was All-America honorable mention.

HUTCHESON

The amiable West Texas grid great was more interested in his former school mates and team mates than in his plans for post-discharge football. He did say that he plans to return to Tech and play out his remaining year of eligibility with Coach Dell Morgan.

Commenting on many ex-Tech students he has seen in the past few months he mentioned Prince Scott, senior Tech back in 1940 now with the Third Air force; Major Primo McCurry, Camp LeJeune grid coach and former Lubbock High and Tech guard; Ralph Geddie, 1942 sophomore end at Tech; Newman Ledbetter, star Tech tackle who finished at Tech in June, 1942 now with the Air Transport Command team; Rafe Nabors, Lubbock High and Tech star who has since played with the professional Detroit Lions, the Lubbock Army Air field Fliers of two seasons back, the great Randolph Field Ramblers and now playing with the Air Transport Command team; Roger Smith, now with the ATC and a former Tech, LAAF and Randolph Field player; and Glenn Lowe, another ex-Tech grid player now with the ATC.

Calahan said he hoped for a discharge in the next 10 months. He said he would like to return to Tech next fall to finish his college football with a former teammate, Roger Smith, who plans to be back in Tech by then. He looks forward to several other Red Raiders being back in grid clothes again by the time he returns.

Nelson Interested In Playoff In Capetown

TEXARKANA, Tex., Nov. 6 (AP) Byron Nelson, all-time money winner of golf, said today he was "inclined to accept, subject to a few details," and offer of $10,000 and expenses for a trip to Capetown to play a series of matches against Bobby Locke, leading South Africa linksman.

The offer was made by Mining Magnate Norbert Erelegh and Nelson said he was wiring Erelegh his response.

Nelson, in Texas on a vacation, declared there were a few details necessary to be cleared up before making a contract—the most important that he take his wife, Louise, with him.

STATE MEET SET

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 6 (U.P.)—Albuquerque has been chosen as host city for the state basketball tournament to be held the second week in March, 1946.

Parade Planned For Friday Grid Battle

King Football will rule supreme in Lubbock for two days this week, and on Friday the Lubbock Westerners and Pampa Harvesters vie with the homecoming events of Saturday that will pair the Texas Tech Red Raiders and Texas Christian Horned Frogs. Both games start at 2:30 o'clock.

The latest development in the battle of color was announced Tuesday night by E. J. "Pinky" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, who said that final arrangements had been completed for the staging of a downtown parade on Friday.

Pampa Sets Show

The parade will be Pampa's show, and the Harvester fans plan to move into the city enmasse for the crucial battle. Pampa will come to town, band, pep squad, noise and all.

The Lubbock High school band will join in the parade, Lowrey said. The line of march will start from the City hall, move south on Texas Avenue to Broadway, then west on Broadway to Avenue Q. Starting time has been set for 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The demand on tickets for the Pampa-Lubbock game has been brisk, Lowrey reported, but there are still a few more tickets left. Indications are that the two football games here this week will draw the largest weekend attendance to Tech stadium since the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor, and the seating capacity of Tech stadium will be strained for two days in a row.

It was also reported over the weekend that many Amarillo fans will be in Lubbock Friday for the Pampa battle, and drop back to Plainview on Saturday to see their Sandies battle the pass minded Plainview Bulldogs in the meeting of undefeated leaders in the district race.

Pampa A Top Team

There are eight teams in the Class AA picture in the state with unblemished records, and two of them are hogging the picture in the District 1-AA show. These two teams are Pampa and Plainview.

These two teams also rank high in the state in defensive clubs, with Plainview's record of holding all opponents to 14 points in seven games, the best defensive record in the state. Tied for second honors in the league are PAMPA, Highland Park and Paris, each with only 19 points drifting across their goal lines.

It was the Lubbock Westerners who first cracked the double stripe of the Plainview eleven, and accounted for half of those 14 points. The Westerners, just finding their stride in the late season, hope to make a "good showing" against the vaunted Harvesters, but Coach Dixie White's kids will be a decided underdog in the battle Friday.

To get ready for the big battle Friday afternoon, Coaches White and George Philbrick sent the Westerners through a rugged scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon, shaping their offense for the Pampa battle.

Little Noel "Twinkle Toes" Sikes was showing up nicely, ripping off many nice gains during the afternoon, and showing the first indications of the year that he was about to round into top playing shape.

Another standout was Gene James, big tackle, who was playing a lot of good football in the forward wall.

Ike Modawell, star guard of the Westerners, was missing Tuesday afternoon because of illness. Modawell was threatened with an attack of appendicitis, and was advised by his physician to take it easy this week. It is hoped that he will be in shape to play by Friday afternoon.

Dates Changed For Crucial 6-A Battle

The grid battle between the Denver City Mustangs and the Sundown Roughnecks has been rescheduled for 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Nov. 22 at Denver City, it was announced Tuesday by G. D. Tate, principal at Denver City.

The game was scheduled for Nov. 16, but the agreement for the change in the date was reached last week by officials of the two schools.

Sundown, beaten only by Andrews this season, is the last major hurdle for the Denver City club, which has held all opposition to six points this season, this in a 6 to 6 tie with Levelland, the only blot on the Mustang record. Denver City has rolled up 148 points in eight games, while holding the opposition to six.

Sundown has played six games, winning five, and losing to Andrews, 13-0. The Roughnecks have scored 90 points to 25 for the opponents.

Both have games this week. Denver City plays at Post, and will close the season with Sundown.

Sundown faces a big test this week in the invasion of Seminole, a veteran club that made a slow start, but has been going strong in recent weeks. Sundown also has Slaton to play on Nov. 30.

OPENING TILTS SET

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 (U.P.)—The program of basketball double headers at Convention Hall begins a 13-week run on Dec. 8 with games pitting Temple against Muhlenberg and St. Joseph's college vs. Utah, officials said today.

Southworth To Manage Braves

BOSTON, Nov. 6 (AP) — The Braves electrified the baseball world tonight by announcing that Billy Southworth, who led the St. Louis Cardinals to three pennants, would be the new Boston National League manager.

Southworth, a great favorite in Boston, where he played the Braves' outfield for three seasons, will succeed Del Bissionette, who took over in midseason after the resignation of Bob Coleman.

Boston Bosses Happy

Obviously elated over the deal, General Manager John Quinn told newsmen that "with such a top-flight manager we feel we'll go places."

Billy's salary was not announced but it was reported unofficially that it would exceed $25,000.

The deal was completed by telephone by President Lou Perini of the Braves.

"Mr. Perini made such an attractive offer to Southworth that Sam Breadon (Cardinal president) felt he couldn't stand in his manager's way," Quinn said.

Started In 1912

Southworth, who has had his ups and downs in baseball as a manager, began his baseball career in 1912 with Portsmouth of the Ohio State League, was with Cleveland for the next three seasons and played with Birmingham of the Southern Association in 1917 and 1918.

After bouncing around in various leagues for a while he started off the 1929 season as Cardinal manager but didn't last the season.

He managed various farm clubs in the Cardinal system for a number of years before returning to the parent club and driving them to National League flags.

Rejoins Mort Cooper

Today's deal was the second big transaction between the Braves and the Cards. Early in the past season, the Braves purchased big Mort Cooper for cash and pitcher Charles 'Red' Barret.

John Quinn expressed the opinion that the Braves are "getting the best manager in the National League."

"In his career as Cardinal manager," said the youthful executive, "he finished in first place three times, second twice, third once and fourth once."

Explaining that the Braves would "of course, allow Southworth to select his own coaches," Quinn said that both Bissonette and Coleman were remaining in the Brave organization.

Southworth, whose clubs have won 620 games and lost 346 for an average of .642, will arrive in Boston tomorrow to meet Braves' officials and newspapermen.

Reports in St. Louis said that Eddie Dyer, former minor league executive for the Cardinals, was in line to succeed Southworth.

Neither Breaden nor Dyer would comment.

Abernathy B Eleven Batters Cowboy Club

Striking with slashing power, the Abernathy B team rolled over Coach Russell Wimberley's Cowboys White team Tuesday afternoon at the Junior High grid field, 47 to 0.

The Cowboys held the score to 20-0 at the halftime intermission, but the Abernathy club exploded in the last half to roll up the score. Adding to the Abernathy power attack, the visitors ran back three intercepted passes for touchdowns.

Child Divorce Victims

Texas Judges Would Help Them

TRIAL and appellate judges of Texas, meeting in Austin the other day, took serious cognizance of the long-neglected and innocent victim of divorce, the child. What is gratifying is that the judges outlined a sound, sensible remedy.

They advocated a firmer stand by the presiding judge in divorce cases involving children, with the purpose of obtaining a wise program for the future care of the child; and judges, with special aptitude for welfare work, to devote full attention to consideration to divorce, alimony and child placement.

While the judges granted that they could do little to stop the rising flood of divorces, they decided that it was in their domain to protect from delinquency the child victims of broken, or unfit, homes.

The justices also suggested establishment of a state home for children whose parents are unfit or who have been tossed to the mercy of the world. The home would not be a detention or corrective institution; rather, it would attempt to give the same protection and training of a private home. Many a youngster is now being sent to Gatesville or Gainesville who better should be sent to a home such as that suggested by the judges.

The justices at Austin hit upon the heart of the juvenile delinquent problem. The files of juvenile officers in Lubbock and over the state show a majority of names and records of youngsters from broken homes, or whose mothers and fathers have completely abandoned their parental duty.

The recommendation that court machinery be changed to set up domestic relations courts is a good one. Welfare problems require a special treatment. Obviously, not all judges are capable of acting properly when the fate of a child is at stake. A judge may not have time for careful deliberation, nor the inclination to cope with such a problem. He may be a whiz in a $200,000 damage suit, but a flat failure in a welfare case.

Divorces are being turned out in the nation's courts at an alarming rate, in reality at an all-time high. The juvenile delinquency that we have had in recent years will be a mere drop in the bucket to what will surely come if official steps are not taken to protect and care for the "courtroom orphans."

Help For The Philippines

THERE are few who will disagree with President Truman's statement that help for the Philippines is essential.

It is essential not only because the Filipinos are critically in need of financial assistance, but for the reason of their fine war record and loyalty to the U.S.A.

The Philippine people generally did not fall for the Japs' "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere" as did some of their neighbors. Throughout the occupation by Japan, they maintained active resistance against their oppressors, acting as guerillas, saboteurs and spies. And when the time came for the Allied invasion of the Philippines, they rendered important aid in both the pre- and actual invasion stages. Their assistance undoubtedly eased the invasion task and saved many American lives.

The islands face an extremely difficult reconstruction period. The Japs stripped them of sugar, hemp, copra, tobacco and other products as well as systematically burned down, or blew up, their homes and business and industrial installations. Food and all kinds of consumer goods are acutely short and the Philippine economy is almost wrecked by inflation.

In addition, the people are trying to forget the brutality and indignities to which they were subjected during the occupation. Probably no other oppressed people in history have had to suffer more.

Militarily, the Philippines are a necessary adjunct of our future defense scheme in the Pacific. The two larger islands would be natural bases for the air, land and sea power necessary to police the far fringes of the Pacific.

We need the friendship and respect of the Philippine people more than ever before. We should take up the policy of liberality and generosity which prevailed toward the islands before the war—and we should move now to help our Filipino friends, even at the expense of England, Russia and all the other older, larger, stronger, richer nations whose representatives now are standing on our doorstep, tin-cup out-thrust.

"Human beings couldn't survive a visit to the moon because there is no air or water there," says an astronomer. Why not? They survive visits to night clubs.

AN AUDIENCE RIOTS

XXII

I will never forget the first performance at Poiret's Ambassadeurs—I was so tired I could hardly move after the strenuous band rehearsal and a night without sufficient sleep. Fortunately, the show was good, and Poiret, who had gone to all sorts of trouble to have the lights properly adjusted for the staircase, was very happy and sent a telegram to Baud about it.

From the Ambassadeurs, we went to the Rhul Hotel in Nice and then to a good week in Monte Carlo. After that we set out for Italy.

The managers of the Salone Margherita, the best music-hall in Rome, had gone to all sorts of expense to publicize my debut, and the impressario, Signor Cavalotti, hovered about the stage with a beaming smile all the time we were rehearsing. But the opening performance was no fun for any of us. I had my first real view of what an Italian audience could do to artists on their first night, for it was an understood thing in Italy that the audience came to the initial show of a new bill for the express purpose of raising as much hell as possible.

The star act on the bill was the charming and talented Australian vendette, Jenny Golder. She had been held over at the theater, so was an established favorite. I came second in importance on the bill; then there was a good roller-skating act of eight people from the Gaumont Palace in Paris that closed the show. Third in importance was a French singer who worked in a blacked-out set with a spot and did ultra-dramatic work. There were also three musical clowns, a comedy tramp bicycle act in the style of the great Joe Jackson, and a Risley act, all more or less featured. The rest of the bill was like all other vaudeville programs, a mixture of this and that—some good, some bad.

As I sat in my dressing room, Morgan restlessly paced back and forth from the side of the stage to my door, reporting the progress of the show. I could pretty well imagine what was taking place from the comments of acts who got the bird—Cavalotti simply rang down the curtain on them when he considered things were going too far. Apparently the audience was in a very ugly mood.

The applause for Jenn Golder in the middle of the bill was terrific, and she gave an encore at the close of her act. Then the trouble started. The poor clowns, who had been congratulating themselves that they could follow an artist who had put the audience in a good humor, were unfortunately sadly mistaken. Their act had barely got under way, when a roar of "Ma, che cani! Basta! Basta!" ("But what dogs' howling! Enough! Enough!") went up.

Morgan told me Cavalotti signaled to the tenor, who sang rather well, to try his song and at the same time motioned for the next act to stand by; this was the French singer. As she stood there waiting to go on, she could hear a loud chorus of that international protest, the Bronx cheer, as it greeted the first notes of the tenor. That was enough for Cavalotti: he pressed the button on which he kept his hand during the entire show, and down came the curtain on the clowns.

Morgan came flying back to me, saying Cavalotti wanted us to stand by for our act in case the French singer got the works, too.

The French girl announced the title of her first song, which happened to be the lugubrious one of "Le Petit Bossu" ("The Little Hunchback"). This announcement was greeted with a storm of catcalls and ribald remarks. Then someone threw a copper coin on the stage, several more followed, and it was literally impossible to hear whether she sang well or not. She had courage, though, and stood the heckling for amout 16 more bars of music, then walked down to the ramps and shouted, "Salauds" ("Swine") at the top of her voice. If the audience had not heard her song, they certainly did hear the insult, and as Cavalotti hastily brought down the curtain, walking sticks, cigar butts, and empty match-boxes came raining onto the stage.

When I walked out, there was the usual moment of silence that had greeted each act. "The silence before the storm," I thought as I went into my dance. I used a rather soft opening in those days on the Spanish Dance of Granados, and as I whirled and pirouetted toward my rope, I could hear a confused murmur of voices—then a loud laugh. I lost my temper for a moment and stood with my hand on the rope looking straight out at the audience. For on earthly reason I got an applause—then I climbed up and started to work.

Morgan, anchoring the ropes on the stage, was trembling to such an extent that I felt the vibration under my hands as I held the rope and kept wondering just how long I could keep going before the audience got after me. I went from trick to trick, thinking each one would be the last, and decided if there was the slightest hostility from the spectators, I would slide down, walk off the stage and out of the theater. Finally the audience warmed up, and I began getting hands — good ones — so I breathed freely and started to sell the act. It ended in a frank and spontaneous applause. The situation was saved. When I went out before the curtain, I was greeted with the most outrageous and embarrassing compliments—an old Italian custom in any vaudeville house and a sign the act had been a success.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

SCIENCE has made another step forward.

The Public Health Research Institute of New York has just announced "the development of new methods for conducting nutritional analyses, providing for the first time the key to mass dietetic surveys and more comprehensive knowledge of the relationship between nutrition and health."

I am going to a funeral this afternoon.

One of our neighbors died. He was eighty-six years old, and according to his numerous children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, never had a sick day in his life until last May, when he simply went to bed and stayed there until he peacefully passed away three days ago.

BRANDEIS

When they asked him what was the matter with him, he said: "I'm tired, that's all. Wouldn't you be tired if you had been on your feet for eighty-six years?"

That old fellow never heard of dietetic surveys and the relation between nutrition and health. Nor did the eighty-seven-year old fellow, also a neighbor, who still runs his little gas station and buried his wife, who was a year older than he, about a year ago.

Both of these old fellows were farmers. They worked hard all their lives. They ate just about everything that the farm produced and what they got in exchange for their own products.

Fat pork was a favorite dish. Cabbage and cucumbers were on the table several times a week.

Those fellows never worried about drafts or cold or heat or snow. It was all in the day's work and cows had to be fed and chores had to be done.

They knew the doctor socially, but professionally they never saw very much of him.

They went to church every Sunday by horse and buggy, and they went to bed around nine every night and got up with the sun or before it.

But one thing these fellows never did—they never worried, and they never tried to find the end of the rainbow.

There was the farm and the crops and the family and spring, summer, fall and winter, and there was life with birth at one end and death at the other. There was no diet and no penicillin and no radio and airplanes and atomic bombs. But there was regularity and peace of mind and simplicity—and all was right with the world.

TWO cars smashed in front of my house yesterday. One of them was going fifty miles an hour and crashed into another coming around the corner, also at full speed.

Three people went to the hospital. One died there. All of them were in the prime of life.

Scientific research did not help them one bit.

But a little common sense would have.

The National Whirligig

Truman's Radical Critics Busy

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SHARP and snowballing resentment of labor and liberal groups over President Truman's apparent lack of a definite program and unwillingness to battle for Rooseveltian ideals has forced the Chief Executive to abandon his easygoing and compromising attitude toward Congress.

In recent talks with the so-called "Big Four" on Capitol Hill he has said that he intends to "get tough" even if it forces him to veto several key bills.

Headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, his critics have become bolder in their denunciation of his handling of domestic and foreign questions. Weeklies and dailies representing the leftist viewpoint have indulged in concentrated and concerted attacks on the White House and on conservative Democratic legislators who are blocking or mauling his full employment proposals.

TUCKER

These factions had become reconciled to FDR's failure to press for reform during recent years; they attributed his apparent indifference to his preoccupation with the war.

He had promised that he would resume his old crusades upon the surrender of the Axis, and they relied on that pledge. Now that the shooting has stopped, they demand that the Chief Executive show more zeal and energy on behalf of New Deal-isms.

White House aides ascribe some of the sniping to our unsatisfactory relations with Russia, recognizing that Moscow sympathizers are responsible for its inspiration. They are inclined to discount vituperation in these quarters.

But the Hannegan faction, already planning on Mr. Truman's renomination, is deeply concerned over defections among politically powerful racial, labor and liberal elements whose support is essential for future Democratic victories at the polls.

DRIFT: The leading article in the current issue of "The Progressive" — the La Follette family's political weekly — has created a stir in the Presidential household. "Young Bob" and Mr. Truman were close friends when they served together in the Senate, and for that reason this critique and similar outbursts in the same number have dismayed the Democrats.

The provocative piece, which is entitled "America Adrift without a Compass," summarizes the principal burden of the liberals' complaint. It says in part:

"After six months of the Truman administration, it is apparent that its policy both at home and abroad, in so far as it has a definable policy, is one of calculated drift. Drift is obvious, but just how much calculation there is in it remains debatable.

"President Truman's way is to postpone decisions, not to cross bridges until he gets his feet wet, and to depend heavily upon time and circumstances to solve his problems for him. . . .

POLICY: "It is too soon to chart the direction of the drift, much less to foretell whether it will lead to the rocks or a happy port. At best, Truman's foreign policy, inherited from the Roosevelt administration, will set up a stabilizing but hardly democratic Big Three dictatorship of the world; at worst, it will lead quickly to another war.

"Truman's domestic policy can produce semi-controlled inflation and vigorous economic activity approaching a condition of prolonged boom, or it can blow up with a bubble of postwar prosperity that will soon burst with as loud a report as the 1929 blow, leaving behind the same unemployment misery."

LIBERALS: The Hanneganites have only one consolation. The rebellion has not passed beyond the vocal stage, largely because the remnants of the Roosevelt liberals have no alternative save to hope for the best. Commenting on the waning of the honeymoon, another writer says:

"The process, of course, has hardly approached the status of a break, partly because the boys have no place to go. They have even less confidence in the Republican party — which Hannegan, Shenanigan and company know all too well — and they have been busy dynamiting every incipient third party movement in the country to provide themselves with that type of bargaining power."

PROVOCATIVE: Although President Truman's wage-price pronouncement does not satisfy an important segment of labor, the more farsighted representatives of the workingmen recognize and rejoice at his having put industrial bargaining on an entirely new basis that advantages them. He has decreed that a corporation's profits have a dollars-and-cents connection with the amount of money it can pay, and he intends to throw the influence of the government behind that philosophy.

It is probable that this issue may become the most provocative question before the labor-management conference now in session. The Truman theory will be opposed bitterly by spokesmen for the National Association of Manufacturers, especially Detroit automobile magnates now threatened with a CIO strike that involves this key problem.

EARNINGS: The NAM reluctantly agreed to attend the meeting, assenting only because it did not want to defy the White House. It showed its real attitude when it refused to become a signatory to the Labor-Management charter some months ago.

On the other hand, Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and a sponsor of the forthcoming assemblage, strongely favors the administration's standpoint. He maintains that, when additional profits come from increased productivity, they should be distributed in three ways—to capital in larger dividends, to labor in the form of higher pay and to the consumer in lower prices.

But the NAM-ers, especially the automobile bloc, insist that, so long as they pay decent and competitive scales, the size or disposition of their earnings is nobody's business.

STATUS: The practical difficulties of establishing any method or machinery for ascertaining prospective profits in an unknown future baffles the labor and management groups, including even those employers who favor the experiment. They fear that an attempt to fix a definite ratio involving the factors of earnings, wages and prices will necessitate the permanent retention of government controls and everyday interference in their affairs.

Some "designated agency," to use the President's phrase, must undertake the job of inspecting their wage schedules, their cost sheets, their balances and all other items which enter into the determination of a corporation's profit-and-loss status.

PREDICAMENT: The accounting operation will necessarily be expensive, laborious and long-drawn-out. The victims will be at the mercy of the bureaucrats, the lawyers and the bookkeepers. As these harassments and invasions have been their chief complaint against Washington for the last 12 years, and especially during the war, they do not look forward to a repetition of these proceedings on an even larger scale.

The Truman system may also introduce such uncertainty that it will be impossible to engage in any advance planning or pricing or long-range operations. Pending any definite decision on the part of the government and its acceptance by all parties to the conflict, they will not be able to schedule production or prices far ahead.

Indeed, the auto makers are in that predicament at this moment. OPA's failure to fix the retail charge for new models prevents them from knowing how much of an increase they can grant the workers.

A metallurgist says metals become fatigued. It is assumed this accounts for the heavy wheezing of our 1937 model car.

With DDT to kill the insects and the atomic bomb to annihilate the aggressors, maybe the world can be converted into a fairly fit place for human beings to live in.

Unions Could Lose Public Backing Easy

Labor Has Chance To Clean House

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — Traveling about the industrial sections of the country, checking on reconversion and related postwar problems, a reporter finds some irresponsible labor leaders and unions, much in the minority, sowing seeds of trouble for the whole union movement.

STOKES

Returning here he finds the harvest in a crop of proposals in Congress severely to restrict unions' freedom of action, to hamstring their operations even to the denial of establishing principles of Democracy.

The restrictive proposals are sponsored likewise by a minority in Congress. But it is a militant and alert minority. It overlooks no chance to exploit the misdeeds of irresponsible union organizations, hoping that these can be made to appear so threatening that Congress will be maneuvered into sudden and intemperate retaliation.

It is a plain case of cause and effect. It is time for some of the responsible national labor leaders to recognize it and enforce union responsibility.

Complaints Are Cited

The labor-management conference here this week offers a splendid opportunity for a labor pledge to clean its own house.

The complaints most often heard here and there in industrial centers are:

1. A disposition of some unions to regard contracts very lightly, and to break them at will.

2. Lack of discipline in some unions, with the result of frequent wild cat strikes.

3. Silly jurisdictional disputes.

4. Sudden stoppages of work in public service industries, in transportation systems and power plants.

Indictments of this sort tend to diminish the public's general support of unions in their primary aim to improve the worker's status.

This is quickly capitalized in Congress. An example is what happened in the House Military Affairs committee. That committee seemed determined to go beyond its original purpose of eliminating some features of the so-called Connally-Smith anti-strike bill and to penalize labor.

Among other things, it adopted an amendment further to restrict political activity by labor unions. This is so sweeping, according to some authorities, that it would virtually put CIO's Political Action committee out of business. That, of course, would please some members of Congress who fear PAC's efforts in next year's elections.

The committee also adopted an amendment to prohibit strikes by unions having no-strike contracts with employers, which is more far-reaching and not nearly so innocent as it would seem.

CIO Head Scores Action

Philip Murray, CIO president, spoke out promptly and bluntly about the committee's action. He, and other leaders, might do well to check back on some irresponsible union activity to see if some blame might not lie there, too.

It is well to recall that the same House Military Affairs committee imposed such severe penalties on labor two years ago in its original version of the Smith-Connally act that the bill was rewritten on the floor. The committee acted then under the impulse of John L. Lewis's recurring coal strikes in the midst of war.

What the committee has done now, though it is by no means final, should stir labor to look inward at itself.

LABOR has a friend in the Truman administration, as was revealed in the President's message supporting wage increases. But labor also should ponder what their friend in the White House said in another part of his message dealing with union responsibility:

"Labor must constantly find ways within its own ranks of cutting down on absenteeism, reducing turnover, avoiding jurisdictional and wild cat strikes. Labor and management must adopt collective bargaining as the effective and mature way of doing business."

This should be a warning.

Electric Co-Ops Are Subject To Taxation

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Property of electric cooperative organizations is subject to ad valorem taxation, an opinion of the attorney general's department to Hunt county held today.

The opinion advised further that a rural electrification administration deed of trust on the property would not exempt it from taxation.

There are approximately 70 power co-ops in Texas. The tax ruling is expected to form a lively topic for the association's regional meeting to be held here Nov. 27-28.

Turkey Search Is Wild Goose Chase

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (U.P.)—Around Thanksgiving and Christmas a lot of people will be asking "where's my turkey"—especially if they placed orders with a kindly 59-year-old negro whose pockets bulged today with orders for more than 200 birds.

He didn't have a turkey about the place but told police, "boss, ah'se goin' raise 'em."

He was arrested on complaint of N. H. Freeman who said the negro agreed to sell him a flock of turkeys and drove him through East Texas looking for them on what proved to be a wild goose chase.

Molotov's Talk

of atomic power—said Russia must give initial attention to her industry and to the creating of highly skilled technicians.

"We must take as our measure the achievements of modern world technique in all branches of industry and national economy and secure conditions under which Soviet science and technique can be of the fullest service.

Molotov spoke at a huge Moscow rally while Generalissimo Stalin, back from a month-long vacation in the south, remained silent. Amid a roar of cheers, Stalin was proposed as an honorary chairman of the meeting. During the day the presidium of the supreme Soviet awarded Molotov the coveted Order of Lenin.

Urges Joint Collaboration

Molotov said that the "decision of the Berlin conference on reparations has not yet made satisfactory progress, but no one amongst us thinks of revenge."

Regarding future relations among the Allies he said:

"Only the joint collaboration of all the countries that bore the brunt of the war can secure the success of the new international (peace) organization. Expressions of good intentions are not enough. The Soviet Union was and will be a reliable bulwark in defense of peace and is ready to prove it not only by words but by deeds."

Warns Against Blocs

The foreign commissar said the war-born British-American-Russian alliance was being tested in peace and that the failure of the London foreign ministers' conference was a warning of pitfalls ahead.

Declaring that "every effort must be made" to prevent a new aggression, Molotov said "the formation of blocs in western Europe will not create a peaceful Europe."

He accused Spain "and some other countries" of giving "half open support" to the Axis.

"The Anglo - Soviet - American coalition was successful," he declared. "A second front in western Europe, with Germany in a vise, made Germany's position impossible."

Declaring that Soviet power was quite unlike the czarist regime of the last war, Molotov said "the Soviet state can survive the hardest tests in history."

Three Soldiers Dead, Five Hurt In Blast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP) — Three soldiers were killed and five injured Oct. 21 when souvenir hunters exploded an old Japanese land mine near Nahaon, Okinawa, the War department reported today.

The men, members of the Eighth Air force, discovered an odd-looking box which one of them decided was a Japanese telephone. He pulled a lever and an explosion occurred. Pfc. Samuel B. Abria, route 2, Chillicothe, Texas was among the dead.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Cotton futures advanced 85 cents to $1.05 a bale to new seasonal highs here today, while the New York exchange was closed because of the mayoralty election.

Trade and speculative buying produced an active session. The principal influences in trading were small private crop estimates, inflationary sentiment, predictions of export expansion and reported increased inquiry from domestic mills for spots.

Officials of the department of agriculture were said to be predicting a total export movement for 1945 of from 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 bales.

One private bureau forecast placed the crop at 9,664,000 bales compared with the government's October first estimate of 9,779,000 bales.

Closing quotations were very steady with December at 23.82 cents a pound; March at 23.95; May at 23.94@23.97; July at 23.83 and October at 23.41@23.42, or 17 to 21 points above the previous close.

People Said Tired Of Regimentation

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (AP) — City Manager Guiton Morgan of Austin, freshly out of the armed services, told many Texas city officials today the American people have been regimented as much as they will stand.

Addressing the League of Texas Municipalities in annual conference, Morgan said city managers and other officials must use great discretion in adopting regulations which might tend to accentuate a feeling of resentment which he said was a natural outgrowth of necessary wartime regulations.

In his annual report to the league, President Lee H. Powell, Sherman city manager, said:

"Much is at stake in the preservation of a responsible, strong and efficient system of local government.

"If we permit our local governments to become devitalized we endanger the Democratic foundations of our society.

"The Democratic effectiveness of local government is of more than local significance. It is important to state and nation."

Powell recommended that member cities encourage more local public discussion, continue efforts to keep alive civic consciousness and local initiative and develop a positive program.

The league has added 59 members since June 30, 1941, for a current membership of 400 cities, he reported.

State In Good Shape On Financial Books

AUSTIN, Nov. 6 (AP)—The State of Texas is well heeled financially.

As of Oct. 31 it had a net cash balance of $81,262,870 in 118 funds, including $14,467,567 in the general fund which is the barometer of the state's financial condition.

The state treasurer's month end report showed a gross cash balance of $86,541,791 in all funds against which there was a total outstanding debt of $5,278,921.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON WAGES IS SET FOR DEC. 4

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP) — The government announced tonight that a national conference on wages in the shipbuilding and repair industry will be held December 4.

Ernest A. McMillan, chairman of the National Shipbuilding Stabilization committee, said he had been authorized by the committee to select a conference site later.

West Coast Meet Set

McMillan also announced that a Pacific coast area conference would be held at Spokane, Wash., not later than Nov. 15. He said there would be no discussion of wages at the West Coast meeting.

The Pacific conference will concern itself with "other industry problems," McMillan said, adding that he could not specify what these would be.

Decisions to hold these conferences were made at a day-long session of the national committee.

McMillan said the national conference will consider demands of shipbuilding and repair workers for "approximately a 30 per cent increase in wages."

In addition to McMillan, who is acting director of the Civilian Production administration's shipbuilding stabilization division, the national committee is comprised of 12 members from the Congress of Industrial organizations, 12 from the American Federation of Labor and representatives of the Army, Navy and Maritime commission.

Could Grant Wage Boosts

The committee was organized shortly before the war to stabilize wages in the industry. Later its recommendations were made subject to approval by the War Labor board.

The stabilization committee set up standards for four areas of the country, the Atlantic, Gulf, West Coast and Great Lakes.

Under the administration's current wage-price policy the industry can grant its workers a wage increase if it does not result in a price increase. Where there would be price consequences, government approval is required.

McMillan said that both management and labor had petitioned for the two conferences.

Navy Demobilization Passes Half Million

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Navy demobilization passed the half-million mark last week-end.

As of last Sunday, it was announced today, discharges totalled 505,000. Present schedules call for release of approximately 1,200,000 by the end of the year, or more than one out of every three persons eligible.

"Of those in the Pacific eligible for release," officials told reporters, "the bulk if not all will be home by Christmas."

SNOW HAMPERS SEARCH

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6 (AP)—Snow flurries in mountains and cloud-covered valleys hampered search today for two Army Liberator bombers, missing since Thursday with nine men aboard.

U. S. Concern Over China Strife Mounts; Marines To Leave Soon

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6 (AP)—The White House yesterday indicated how seriously the situation in China is regarded in Washington.

It was the White House, not the Navy department, which issued the denial of Chinese Communist charges that American Marines already had become involved directly in China's "civil war."

WHITE

Chinese Comtoned down their accusations, but did not retreat from their fundamental stand that merely by being in North China the Marines represent American meddling in China's internal affairs.

Expect To Leave Soon

Hard on the heels of the White House's denial, today came a dispatch from Tientsin, one of the Marine-occupied cities in North China, which quoted "unofficial sources" to the effect that the Marines, having just about completed their work of disarming Japanese troops, would be leaving soon and expected to get out by early in December.

One seems to sense a collective sigh of relief on the part of the Leatherneck commanders, who have something like 70,000 troops strung out along the North China coast in an area where a nervous patrol or sentry could touch off in the darkness a very serious incident.

Other Evidences of Aid

When the Marines leave, Central government troops will be in possession of the ports, cities and railways which they helped secure. These further evidences of American aid to Chungking, among others, will remain in China:

Services of the U. S. Army Air forces in moving thousands of Central government troops into areas often claimed by the Reds.

U. S. fleet services in ferrying other Chungking troops by sea to advanced points.

Lend-lease equipment sent to China during the war to fight the Japanese.

Surplus Material

Surplus American material in China destined to be sold to Chungking, including more than 15,000 trucks, jeeps and cars.

This is enough to indicate the concreteness with which American policy has been implemented. This policy was for war against Japan and the disarming of Japanese troops. General Wedemeyer expressed one American interpretation when he admitted it inadvertently aided Chungking in its dispute with the Reds.

There is little doubt that the fruits of this policy can be turned by Chungking against the Reds, who received no lend-lease.

Bird Hunting Stamps Now Available Here

Migratory bird hunting stamps are now available at the stamp window of the local post office, according to Fred Thompson, U. S. Game Management agent here. These stamps have not been available for some time, he said.

All persons, 16-years-old or above, who hunt migratory water fowl (ducks, geese and brant) are required to have these stamps, properly validated. The stamps are to be signed across the face by the possessor. Fines will be levied on any person found hunting without these stamps, Thompson said.

Body Of Texas Woman Is Found In River

NICHOLS, N. Y., Nov. 6. (AP)—The body of Faye Armstrong, 21, of Denison, Texas, who rode to death with her Army officer fiance when their automobile plunged into the Susquehanna river Sunday, was recovered today.

The body was found slumped over a door of the car, about a half mile from the point where it left the Nichols-Sayre, Pa., road on a bridge approach.

Sheriff's deputies and state police continued searching for the body of Miss Armstrong's fiance, 2nd Lt. John Coleman, 21, of Waverly.

Higgins May Reveal Plants' Fate Friday

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6 (AP) — Andrew J. Higgins said today that he would have "an important announcement to make about Friday" on the future of his three closed boat building plants here.

Higgins shut down the plants last Thursday while 2,000 AFL union employees were engaged in a walkout in protest against his failure to negotiate a new contract.

His statement led to speculation over whether Higgins might reconsider his announced intention of liquidating the company, Higgins Industries, Inc.

Plans To Help Hess' Condition Explained

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 6 (AP)—Physicians outlined today three possible methods of dealing with the mental disturbance which threatens to eliminate Rudolf Hess as a war crimes defendant, but all may be ruled out because of the danger of Hess' antagonism toward medical treatment.

The one-time No. 3 Nazi has told his doctors he wants a "nature cure," and has protested against use of and theory dealing with anaesthesia. They say his idea is that a diet of milk "to warm my brain," and prunes "to aid my elimination," would help him remember past events essential to his defense.

"Nature is my doctor," Hess said.

The three medical methods which physicians believed could be used are artificial blood shock; hypnosis, and the use of insulin to burn away sugar reserves and increase the appetite.

Hess' ailment, amnesia, is a form of hysterical phenomenon and might well respond to such a treatment, physicians believe.

Maj. Douglos M. Kelley, a San Francisco psychiatrist, used the hypnosis method extensively to remedy cases of amnesia brought on by battle fatigue in the Ardennes last winter, and reported satisfactory results.

Hess protests against injections of any kind, and they could not be give against his will without prejudicing the prosecution's case.

Two Bodies Found In Plane Wreckage

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. — (AP) — The Naval air station said today that wreckage of a plane found yesterday near Marion, Ill., with two bodies was that of a plane missing since Oct. 21 on a flight from Chicago to Memphis.

Ensign Ralph W. Larson of Clearfield, Utah, was the pilot of the plane. The other victim was E. F. Manion, avaiation machinist's mate of Worchester, Mass.
