Wildcats Awe 11,500 Fans With Power

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Staff Writer

FAIR PARK STADIUM, Abilene, Dec. 26.—Littlefield's big, bruising Wildcats gave themselves and South Plains football fans a belated Christmas present today by battering to a 13-0 triumph over Mexia for the Texas Class A championship.

The burly Wildcats, as rough and tough as ever, awed a jam-packed throng of 11,500 spectators with another of their bone-rattling performances as they overpowered the courageous Black Cats from Central Texas.

Ground Attack Rolls

Again it was a crushing ground attack, plus a defense that was puncture-proof in the clutches, that brought victory for Coach J. S. Fikes' Big Red team. Sparked by "Triphammer Tom" Bailes and twisting Frank Gage, the Lamb county lambasters struck for two rapid-fire touchdowns in the second quarter, then dug in to quickly choke off every threatening gesture by the white-shirted Mexians.

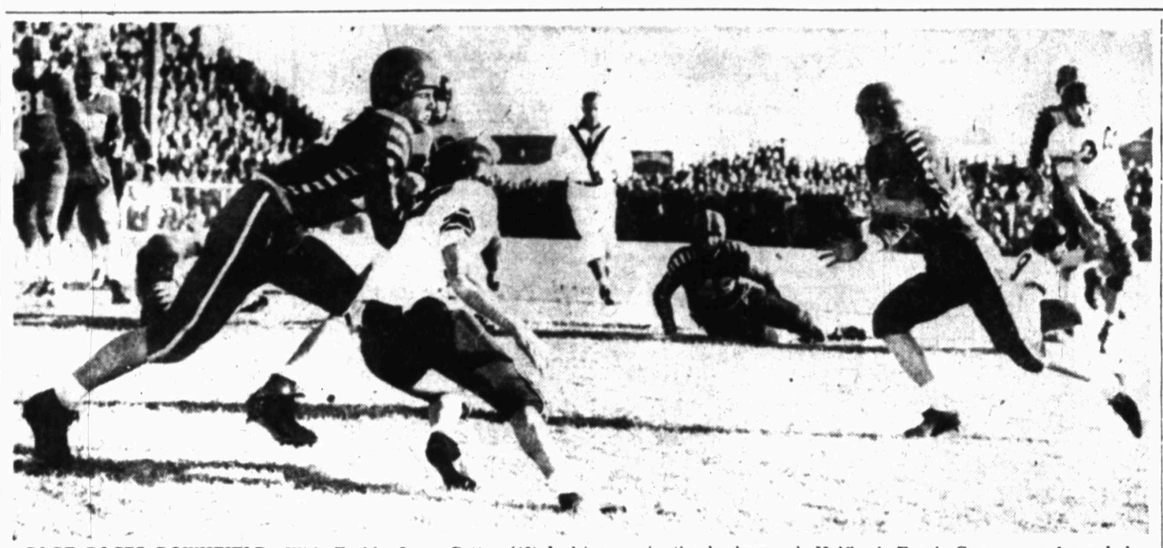

The Wildcats dominated play even more clearly than the score might indicate. They amassed 289 yards net rushing to only 14 for the losers, and did not allow Mexia inside their 20-yard line all afternoon. True, the Black Cats connected on 14 of 36 passes for 106 yards, but an alert Littlefield secondary came up with four timely interceptions that practically nullified Mexia gains via the airways.

As in previous playoff battles, the hard-charging Wildcat line paved the way to triumph. Fikes' forward wall, led by husky Jerry Cotter and the Fowler twins, John and Jim, repeatedly smeared Mexia's running attempts, and rushed Black Cat Quarterback Garland Cain so ferociously that the Panthers' heralded passing game never did catch fire with any consistency.

For the first eight minutes, play was on fairly even terms. Then Littlefield began the 94-yard land assault that produced the first touchdown. The drive was a chop, chop, chop affair, with Bailes and Gage alternating at cracking into the scrappy Black Cat line. These two workhorses of the Wildcat backfield carried the ball on all but one of the 22 plays consumed in the scoring march, with Gage finally smashing over left guard from one yard out for the counter. His attempted left end sweep for the extra point was stopped.

Just six plays later, five minutes deep in the second period, Littlefield had its second touchdown. On the first play after the kickoff to Mexia, John Fowler snagged a Black Cat screen pass on Mexia's 32-yard marker. Bailes, Gage and Donald Crossley ham-

Gage, who was one of the stars of the game, carried the ball 25 other times for a total of 106 yards. He averaged four yards per try through the line, only slightly less than his running partner, "Triphammer Tom" Bailes, who averaged 4.7 yards per carry. Gage also scored Littlefield's first touchdown on a line buck. (Staff Photo by Emmett Shockley.)

Solon Warns Against Any Tax Increase

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin, jr., warned today that a tax increase next year might throw the nation into an economic "tail spin which would cost millions of workers their jobs."

He predicted Congress will reject a "package deal" which he said President Truman is planning to lay before the lawmakers when they reconvene next month. This proposal, he said, will suggest slashing $600,000,000 off the excise levies, but also will call for a multi-billion dollar boost in income taxes.

Slash Is Predicted

(Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) predicted today that Congress will lose no time removing wartime excise taxes, International News Service reported.

(O'Conor said that elimination of so-called luxury taxes will provide a "healthy stimulus" and that the loss in revenue to the government will be made up in part through greater tax amounts paid by thriving businesses.)

Although Mr. Truman has not disclosed his tax plans for the coming fiscal year, he has said he knows of no way to avoid a deficit without higher taxes.

May Cut Some Levies

The Chief Executive and his financial advisers, however, have indicated that they might consider lowering some of the excise taxes which are levied on such things as furs, jewelry, communications and transportation charges.

On this point, Martin said in his statement:

"It appears Mr. Truman is about to fly a $600,000,000 kite with a multi-billion dollar tail on it."

The Massachusetts representative made it clear he favors the proposal to ease the excise tax load, but that he and fellow Republicans will do their utmost to prevent the administration from increasing the income taxes.

Martin already has introduced a bill to slash the wartime excise rates between $60,000,000 and

Mongrel Terrier Given Warm Home, Escapes Execution

ALLENDALE, N.J., Dec. 26 (AP)—A little dog with black ears began a week's trial in a warm home tonight, growling suspiciously at his new master.

John O'Dell, 40-year-old accountant of nearby Hawthorne, adopted the homeless pup that until yesterday faced execution. O'Dell took the dog on a trial basis.

O'Dell was one of more than 100 persons in all parts of the United States who offered to give the mongrel terrier a home. He made his offer in person tonight to Mrs. Sidney R. Drexler, dog warden, and Dr. Thomas J. Lynch, veterinarian.

He said he wanted the dog as a pet for his invalid mother, Mrs. Theresa O'Dell, who broke her leg in a fall several months ago.

Mrs. Drexler and Dr. Lynch received more than 100 telephoned and a dozen telegraphed offers after reports were flashed across the country that the dog would be executed if no master came forth.

371 Persons Are Killed In Auto Mishaps

(By The Associated Press)

THE Christmas holiday accidental death toll reached 530 Monday night.

Violent death was clipping off lives at the rate of about one every nine minutes as the Yuletide vacation period neared an end.

Since 6 p. m. (local time) Friday, 371 Americans died on their highways in automobile smashups. Sixty-four died in holiday fires, and another 73 were killed in other kinds of accidents.

The National Safety council has estimated that 435 people will die in traffic accidents alone by midnight Monday.

Texas continued to lead the death parade late last night with 33 persons killed in traffic accidents, 21 others died violently from fires, plane crashes and other miscellaneous causes, and 15 were homicides or suicides for a total of 69. California was running a poor second to the Lone Star state as the Christmas holiday tragedy toll mounted.

One of the worst Christmas tragedies occurred at San Antonio, Texas, where a mother and her six children died in a fire which destroyed their three-room house.

Town Hit Hard

Another fire at Hyndman, Pa., left the center of the town of 1,300 virtually destroyed, but only one person died in the blaze.

A Clearwater, Fla., Santa Claus carried death for one 12-year-old boy.

The lad was Max (Sonny) Waller. Police said Sonny was killed Monday when his bicycle collided with an automobile driven by George Shead, 25. Shead ws playing Santa Claus and carrying gifts to needy children at nearby Largo, Fla. No charge was filed against Shead .

The death toll by states, listing traffic fatalities, then fires, and then miscellaneous accidents, was:

Alabama 9 1 1; Arizona 3 0 1; Arkansas 5 0 0; California 36 0 1; Colorado 3 0 0; Connecticut 1 4 1; Florida 7 0 1; Georgia 8 1 2; Idaho 1 1 0; Illinois 29 0 2; Indiana 13 1 4; Iowa 6 1 0; Kanasas 4 1 0; Kentucky 7 0 3; Louisana 4 1 0;

Texas' Total Of 69 Leads Nation

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas toll of holiday fatalities mounted frimly Monday night to 69.

Thirty-three Texans were victims of traffic accidents, 21 died violently from miscellaneous causes such as fires and plane crashes and 15 were homicides or suicides.

The count of holiday deaths began Friday morning.

Two Die In Plane Crash

Two of the latest victims reported were prominent West Texas chiropractors, found in the wreckage of a light plane on the Sproles ranch near Slidell, in Wise county, North Texas. The plane crashed in heavy fog Sunday night.

The dead were Maj. George Grupe, 47, of San Angelo, member of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners and Dr. William L. McLaughlin of Big Spring, a former associate. Trapped in the wreckage for 13 freezing hours was James Thomas Livingston, 18, of San Angelo, student at Texas Christian university.

Thrown clear was George J. Grupe, 18, son of Dr. Grupe, who dozed and bleeding sought aid at the Sproles ranchhouse, found no one there and was picked up by a truck after dawn and brought to Slidell. He gave the alarm at 7:45 a.m., more than 13 hours after the plane had crashed at 6:35 p.m. Sunday. Young Grupe, a student

Mass Money Bill Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.— With fingers crossed because of the chances for "log-rolling," congressional leaders have decided to give the one-package appropriation bill idea a practical test in 1950.

That means that instead of handling the federal budget of $40 billion or so in a dozen or more bills, Congress will wrap up the entire sum in a single bill.

The Senate already has passed a resolution to do that. The House itself has taken no official position, but Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations committee has announced his agreement with the idea. No formal House action is needed, Cannon said.

Machinery Set Up

The machinery now is being set up to handle the government's money allotments in a single bill.

As in the past, subcommittees of the Senate and House Appropriations committees will continue to handle the budgets of the various federal agencies. But instead of each subcommittee writing its own money bill, the smaller groups will report to the full committees, which will incorporate all reports into one bill.

The House and Senate then will handle only one regular appropriation bill, presumably broken down into titles dealing with the various agencies. A single bill would go to the President and he'd have to approve it all or veto it all.

As it now stands, the President can veto an appropriation bill he doesn't like without affecting agencies other than the ones whose money is involved in that bill.

The claimed merits of the one-package bill are that it will give Congress a more orderly plan of financing the government and will

AFL Challenges Bright Outlook

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (INS).—The American Federation of Labor challenged the bright forecast of business and government leaders today with a warning that national unemployment may pass the five million mark next year.

The labor organization conceded that prospects for 1950's first six months are fairly good but predicted a "slackening of industrial activity" in the last half of the year that will put the free enterprise system to a serious test.

The AFL forecast clashed with the optimistic note sounded by Treasury Secretary Snyder, Commerce Secretary Sawyer and such business leaders as General Motors President Charles E. Wilson.

Bright Future Seen

Wilson, in an interview with U. S. News & World Report, weekly news magazine, said today that business "will be quite good" in 1950 if the nation can keep out of international difficulties and avoid major strikes.

The GM executive said the automobile industry still has a substantial market with 55 or 60 percent of existing cars of pre-war vintage. Wilson said consumer purchasing will continue high un-

Eight Die In Series Of Jap Earthquakes

TOKYO, Dec. 26 (AP)—An all-day series of earthquakes north of Tokyo today caused eight known deaths and did widespread but comparatively minor damage. No Americans were killed or hurt.

Simultaneously Mount Aso, rated as the world's largest volcano, erupted on Kyushu island, more than 500 miles to the southwest. It hurled forth great stones and quantities of ashes, but had done no recorded damage as yet.

The earth tremors on Honshu island in central Japan were felt in Tokyo and shook an area of nine perfectures (equivalent to counties) north of the capital.

Multi-Million Dollar Treaty Revealed

Britain, Yugoslavia Sign Economic Pact

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 26. — The West gave harried Yugoslavia a multi-million dollar shot in the arm today.

Britain and Marshal Tito's government—orphaned by the Soviet-dominated Cominform—signed a pact in Belgrade to sell each other 220,000,000 pounds ($616,200,000) worth of goods in the next five years after negotiations which had hung fire for months.

This was Tito's biggest economic achievement since his break with the Cominform 18 months ago.

Follows Another Deal

The big deal follows by only a month a decision by the United States and Britain to sell Tito commercial airplanes and engines.

Tito reciprocated last week by agreeing to let U. S. airlines make stops in Belgrade. In return, Yugoslav airplanes may land in the U. S. military zones of Austria and Germany.

The airline agreement, opening wide the doors to the West for Tito, was particularly notable because flights of American planes over Yugoslavia became one of the bitterest issues when Marshal Tito was close to Moscow. U. S. planes, straying over Yugoslav territory, were shot at and one was shot down.

The British-Yugoslav trade deal was anounced only a few hours before the Yugoslav parliament met in Belgrade for a five-day review of major subjects, ranging from defense measures to the 1950 budget and foreign policy.

It was told that the country not only balanced its budget this year but had a net surplus of $520 million.

Belgrade dispatches said it was likely Marshal Tito would use the session for a forum for his annual new year's address. The session will be the last of the Yugoslav parliament elected in the fall of 1945. New elections are to be held within a few months on a date not yet announced.

Signing of the trade agreement in Belgrade today was announced by the board of trade. A spokesman said the United Kingdom will give Yugoslavia 8,000,000 pounds ($22,400,000) credit repayable in six years as part of the deal.

The spokesman said the two nations agreed to send each other an annual average of 22,000,000 pounds ($61,600,000) worth of goods through 1955.

At the same time they agreed that Yugoslavia will pay 506,000 pounds ($1,416,800) annually for the next eight years to satisfy claims by British owners of prop-

Two Of Seven Escapees Nabbed

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 26. (AP) — Two of seven tough convicts who dug out of the state prison here were captured tonight in a barn near a church.

A murderer and two life-term habitual criminals were in the group of desperadoes who made the break shortly before noon today. After crawling through a tunnel under the prison wall, they stole a truck with a rifle in it. A few miles away they quit the truck and set out on foot through brushy lowlands.

Cecil Bill Isom, 25, serving 45 years for robbery, and David Crockett McCullough, 23, serving a 22-year robbery sentence, were caught by officers using dogs at Hawthorn church, six miles east of New Waverly. New Waverly is a village about 14 miles south of here.

Pickup Abandoned

After the break, guards found the pickup truck abandoned at an old sawmill about nine miles southeast of Huntsville. Bloodhounds picked up a trail that showed the convicts fled from the sawmill on foot.

O. B. Ellis, general manager of the prison system, said he believed the convicts split up, one group going north an the other south.

Bevin Leaves For Far Eastern Talks

LONDON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Ernest Bevin leaves for Ceylon Tuesday to help map the British Commonwealth's strategy for keeping 600,000,000 Asians out of the Communist fold.

The foreign secretary is said by his aides to regard the job as his toughest since he took office nearly five history-packed years ago.

He is making the trip despite the fact he suffered a mild heart attack on Christmas Eve. He recovered from the attack before physicians arrived and was described today as "perfectly well."

Working with him will be the foreign ministers of Britain's seven dominion partners. They are to meet in Colombo, Jan 9.

British officials see 1950 as Asia's crisis year.

They think it will go a long way in deciding the political fate of the thousand million people who live in the direct line of the Asian revolutionary movement, sweeping down from China to Indonesia, Indochina, Thailand (Siam) and the hills of Burma.

Chengtu's fall had been expected ever since the Nationalist government fled from there to the island of Formosa Dec. 8.

Atom Power Cost Slashed

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. — One of the first steps toward atomic power, namely getting the cost of uranium fuel down about equal to coal, was reported today at the opening general meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The association began a six day meeting, the largest scientific gathering ever held in the world in numbers of scientific reports — more than 2,000.

Costs Nearly Equal

The new uranium fuel cost is between $10,000 and $25,000 a pound, which is equivalent to coal at about $15 a ton. The equivalence is due to the fact that one pound of uranium 235—the atomic fuel—contains as much heat as 2,000 tons of coal.

The price was given by Dr. John R. Dunning, Columbia university physicist, one of the head scientists in sponsoring the Oak Ridge, Tenn., wartime, vast U-shaped factory produces uranium uranium 235 by a process known as gaseous diffusion.

Although this wartime plant was the biggest single production structure in the world, the U. S. Atomic Energy commission has since built a second diffusion plant and is now building a third.

Two Methods Known

The output of these plants in uranium 235, Dr. Dunning said, is now the most successful method of producing fissionable materials. There is only one other method in use in the United States, namely making plutonium, at Hanford, Washington. The government is using plutonium to make atomic bombs.

Uranium will make bombs, too, but Dr. Dunning said uranium must be used for at least the early stages in developing peacetime atomic power.

He did not say how much uranium 235 is being made but Dr. Niels Bohr, the famous Danish scientist who helped produce atomic bombs, said after the war that the single big Oak Ridge plant was making about six pounds a day. Afterward Bohr

Yanks Used In Germ Studies

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 27. — Japan used American war prisoners as guinea pigs in experiments preparing for germ warfare against the United States and Britain, a witness testified at Russia's bacterial war trial, the Moscow radio said today.

(In Tokyo, General MacArthur's headquarters said today there are no known cases in which Japanese used American prisoners in germ warfare experiments.)

A court sitting at Khabarovsk, in Siberia, is trying 12 former Japanese army men accused of sharpening up Japan's germ weapon.

According to the broadcast, Tomio Karasawa, second of the defendants to testify, said the Japanese army's top-secret unit 731 had tried out lethal germs against U. S. Army war prisoners "to ascertain the degree of vulnerability of the American army to different combat infection." Karasawa also was quoted as having said germ warfare against the United States was contemplated.

Intended For U. S.

Another defendant, Gen. Otozo Yamada, ex-commander of the Kwantung army, told the court the germs were primarily for use against the Soviet Union, Mongolian people's republic and China, but that "it was intended to use them also against the United States and Great Britain."

The fact that the Japanese experimented with germ warfare

Truman Gives 12-Foot Statue Of Jackson To Home County

By KARL BAUMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 26—President Truman today finally unloaded a 12-foot equestrain statue of one of his favorite characters, Andrew Jackson.

With about 1,500 fellow Jackson countians looking on, he gave the statue of "Old Hickory" to the county.

It took the President 15 years to dispose of the statue but everybody seemed happy when Miss Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, unveiled it in sub-freezing weather on the courthouse lawn.

When he was presiding judge of the county court, Mr. Truman thought it would be a fine idea to have a Jackson statue in front of the new courthouse in Kansas City.

The county got so big it needed two court houses. The larger is in Kansas City.

Sculptor Charles Keck of New York got the job. Apparently sculptors warm up just like baseball pitchers. First Keck turned out a very small job. Then a life-sized one, and finally the double-sized

CONCERN OVER CHARGE POSSIBLE

Brannan To Face Question Of New Production Controls Soon

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan may decide soon whether to put soybeans and dry beans under production controls to curb surpluses next year.

Some observers believe Brannan's decision on this issue may give some inkling as to whether he is concerned about charges that he is attempting to "regiment" the American farmer.

Some Brannan aides have proposed that he put both crops under acreage allotments next year. If he accepts their advice, it may indicate he thinks he can convince farmers without too much trouble that the "regimentation" charges are just so many words.

Acreage Allotments Given

Acreage allotments are a mild form of control wherein each grower is given a planting allotment. Those who overplant don't get price support.

That Brannan is sensitive to the "regimentation" charges raised by Republican opponents was indicated last summer when he announced the 1950 wheat planting allotment program.

He took pains to point out that the law requires him to put wheat under allotments to prevent a surplus. But while price support is mandatory for wheat, it is not for soybeans and dry beans.

Some department experts believe that on these two crops the choice lies between (1) drastically slashing or eliminating entirely price supports in 1950; or (2) Using allotments to hold down surpluses, with perhaps a moderate drop in supports.

That wouldn't leave Brannan much choice. He already has taken the position that a reduction in supports won't hold down production. Arguing against "flexible" price supports, Brannan told Congress that history shows that farmers frequently plant even more when prices drop in a vain effort to keep their total income up by sending more produce to market.

So, it would appear that Brannan might have to put allotments on these crops or lower supports drastically. Either way, some farmers probably won't be happy.

Huge Burden Possible

Another possibility would be to keep price props at present levels next year and let farmers produce all they want to. That could be expected to result in a multi-million dollar price support drain on the treasury.

The government will have nearly a year's supply of surplus dry beans up in its price support hoard when the current marketing season ends. Furthermore, some department experts feel that control measures will be necessary to keep corn belt farmers from planting to surplus soybeans a large share of the 10 million acres which the government hopes to divert out of corn under a corn allotment program. Soybeans and corn are competing crops in the corn belt.

Pope Leads Crusade For 'Non-Believers'

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 26. (INS)—Pope Pius XII knelt among 50,000 pilgrims and prayed for peace today, and Roman Catholic church leaders mapped plans for a crusade "to redeem" all non-believers.

The Pope stepped down from his papal throne and as a humble priest led thousands of Rome's clergy, including tonsured and sandaled monks, through St. Peter's holy door.

It is estimated that 200,000 pilgrims have entered through the holy door since Christmas Eve.

Two American orders — the Franciscan Friars of Atonement and the Paulist fathers — announced preparation of a special jubilee year "octave of prayer."

In line with the Pope's plea for conversion to the church of Rome of all non-believers it calls for:

"Unity of the Christian world; the return of Eastern schismatics (such as the Greek Orthodox church); return of Anglicans; return of Lutherans and other Protestant communities of Europe; return of American protestants; return of non-practicing Catholics to the observance of the sacraments; for conversion of the Hebrew people; for missionary conquests in the pagan and infidel world."

The Pope, in an obvious reference to Russia and the "iron curtain" lands, called on all Christians last week to unite against "militant atheism."

Ranch Boss Charged With Holiday Murder Of Woman Writer

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Dec. 26. (INS)—A 39-year-old ranch foreman with a smoldering grudge against "society people" was held on a murder charge in Santa Rosa today for the Christmas Eve slaying of a socialite newspaper woman.

The ranch boss, Carl Schwartz, was booked yesterday for the drunken shooting of Mrs. Jane Maggard Dickson, 34, wife of Frederick W. Dickson, jr., scion of the wealthy dollar shipping dynasty on the Coast.

District Attorney Charles McGoldrick said Schwartz still insists he "can't remember shooting anybody." Witnesses said, however, Schwartz returned from a birthday drinking spree in an ugly mood Christmas.

Vow To 'Get' Cook Claimed

They said he vowed to "get" the ranch cook whom he accused of flirting with his wife and Mrs. Dickson because "she's been working me too hard."

Associates said Schwartz harbored a brooding resentment against what he called society people.

The ranch foreman according to witnesses seriously wounded Lyman Lacy, a World War II flyer, with a shot in the abdomen. Lacy was shot while getting off a tractor.

Schwartz then, said the district attorney, entered the ranch house and cornered Mrs. Dickson in an upstairs bedroom where he shot her to death.

Wild Chase Made

He was caught in a 70-mile-an hour police chase punctuated with gunfire.

McGoldrick said a psychiatrist has examined Scwartz and expressed the view the man is "malingering."

Mrs. Dickson, long prominent in San Francisco social circles, is the daughters of Edward Maggard, retired president of the Northwestern Pacific railroad.

She married United Press correspondent Hugo Speck in Paris before the war and after her divorce she worked on a number of San Francisco newspapers. She was writing a Sunday column for the San Francisco Examiner at the time of her death.

She has two children and was expecting a third.

Bavarians Resent High Tax Levied On Brewing Of Beer

By DON DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 26—There's a tax revolt brewing in Bavaria against the high tax on beer.

Here in this big south German state they brew more beer and drink more beer than any place else in the world.

Or at least they used to. Now, the Bavarians grumble that they can't afford enough beer to keep them healthy. And brewers can't sell enough to keep them busy.

Why, last year, according to official statistics, the beer consumption in Bavaria was only 68 quarts per person.

Beer Drinking High

You think that's high? In 1942 the average Bavarian drank 311 quarts a year—nearly a quart a day. As late as 1939 he drank 212 quarts.

A decline like that is both a social and an economic problem in this state which depends so heavily on beer for its calories and its income.

The breweries, just beginning to get on their feet again after the war, now are working at far less than capacity. Thousands of workers are losing employment.

Munich's famous Hofbraeuhaus, and most of the quaint taverns where Bavarians in leather pants and feathered hats used to hoist big stone mugs are nearly empty. Everybody is grumbling.

High Tax Felt

Brewers and consumers alike put most of the blame on the state government, which classed beer as a luxury, and slipped a stiff tax on it, like the taxes on coffee and cigarets. The beer tax is 27 pfennigs a liter. That's about seven cents a quart.

The typical Bavarian insists beer is no luxury but a necessity. He claims he gets a large share of his food calories from those foaming steins.

Dr. Josef Baumgartner, former minister of economics, voiced this argument on the floor of the state parliament in arguing for a beer tax cut.

"When the beer tax question is handled with the understanding that beer in Baravia is no luxury, but rather a valuable food, then it will be better for the Bavarian breweries and for the Bavarian state as well," he said.

Brewing is big business here. Before the war, Germany exported more than $13 million worth of beer annually, most of it from Bavaria.

War wrecked that export trade. Now brewers complain the high tax is making their product too expensive for the foreign market.

There were no beer exports for a long time after the war. In fact, there was hardly any real beer. In those starvation days following the surrender, Germans were forbidden to make the usual strong brew because the grain was needed for food.

The result was a weak, watery imitation. But even that poor substitute sold freely in those days of inflated currency when everybody had money and nothing to spend it on. In 1946 and 1947, Bavarian breweries were making 800 million quarts of beer a year.

Real Beer Appears

When the ban was lifted last year, the brewers started making real beer again. Bavaria sold $146,000 worth of beer abroad last year, and $349,000 worth in the first 10 months of this year.

But with the strong beer came the high tax—and domestic consumption has dropped even more than exports have grown. Now Bavaria is producing less than six million quarts a year—only three fourths of its 1947 rate.

Figures show why the Bavarian hollers about the price of beer. A quart costs him one mark, which is 24 cents. That's not so high in America, but it's high here where wages are low. A quart of beer costs an hour's work.

Munich brewers, however, are confident that despite everything they can regain much of their old business. "People all over the world," said one white-haired old brewmaster, "still remember Bavarian beer."

Manganese deposits in Uruguay are being offered to Americans for exploitation.

FIFTY YEAR REVIEW OF FOOD SITUATION

IF you are one of the people who would like to see good old-fashioned cooking come back into its own, and are inclined to blame some of the 1949 American table concoctions on modern "scientific eating," stop a minute and look back fifty years.

Cecily Brownstone, Associated Press foods editor, says one of the most spectacular changes in our eating habits in the last 50-year span is our use of citrus fruits; oranges, grapefruits and lemons. Could it be that we are impressed with the vitamin C they offer and that we know we need a good source of that vitamin daily because our bodies cannot store it?

A CHART called "Trends In Our Eating Habits from 1909 to 1950" has just been released in Washington. It shows that while Americans still like their meat we are no longer the meat-and-potatoes nation we used to be. What accounts for the changes in our eating habits? Changes in income, the fact that some of the nutrition education has "taken" and improvements in food production, marketing and transportation.

Along with citrus fruits we've taken the tomato to our hearts and stomachs. Another excellent source of vitamin C, it's widely accepted. Tomato juice before dinner is so usual nowadays you'd think it had been with us always—but actually the tomato wasn't canned in this form until about 1930.

We've been helping keep our diets balanced by constantly increasing our use of milk in the years since 1909. . .not just for drinking, but in bread and other bakery products, in candy and other foods.

READY-TO-EAT FOODS

RECENT ready-to-eat developments have been exciting—cakes, pies (crusts and fillings), puddings, popovers, muffins, fried shrimp, soups, and practically anything else you can think of come canned, packaged or frozen. It looks as if these ready-to-eat foods were here to stay.

Food fads have been with us constantly for the past 50 years—aided and abetted by our intense interest in dieting. Food-fad quacks just naturally took over where patent medicine promoters left off.

ANOTHER influence on meals has been our disinterest in dining rooms. Dining alcoves, breakfast nooks, foyer tables, and lap-eating hold sway. As a result, the number of courses in a meal have been whittled down. Thank heaven we still splurge on holidays.

And how about recipes? I got a shock recently when I turned to my 1915 edition of Fanny Farmer. Next time you have the urge to blame the current ladies' magazines for some of our more dressed-up food numbers, just remember that Miss F. helped to start it with such offerings as her salad of tomatoes, asparagus, and beets all arranged to look like an Indian headdress. The color picture is there, too.

If by any chance you get fed up with some of the 1950 meals you taste, give a thought to the fact that your diet's undoubtedly improving, and that you'll probably live longer to taste more!

At the party was actor Lewis Willeford, who is presently visiting his mother, Mrs. Hughlet Willeford of 2111 Ave. V. Christmas night he called Mrs. Fannie Bea Wheelock, 1912-A Fifteenth, to give her holiday greetings from her sister, Mrs. Pearson, and her husband.

Price Hike Slated By Major Steel Firm

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (INS). — Clarence B. Randall, president of the Inland Steel company, today announced a raise in the price of steel effective tomorrow.

In a notice to customers, he said: "It is not possible to make an accurate forecast of the percentage of increase in our average selling price. However, in no instance are we higher than our competition and, in some cases, our prices are lower."

He added:

"These prices reflect the accumulated increases in our costs during the past year and the anticipated costs of our revised pension and insurance plans."

Inland Steel in raising prices, fell in line with other large steel producers who attributed price boosts to new pension and insurance plans recently gained by steelworkers in a nation-wide strike.

U. S. Steel, the nation's largest producer, was the first to raise prices with a $4 a ton increase.

Dominican President Granted Power To Declare State Of War

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Dec. 26. (AP)—President Rafael Trujillo received blank check power from Congress today to declare war against any Caribbean nation which knowingly harbors plotters of revolution in the Dominican Republic.

The President, in a speech thanking Congress, promised that the powers "never will be used in acts of aggression" but he violently attacked Cuba, Guatemala and Coast Rica.

He charged a new invasion of his country was being organized in Cuba with the aid of the Cuban Red Cross and that Cuba had refused to negotiate directly on the Dominican Republic's demands for damages in previous invasion attempts.

He said 1,600 men were mobilized and trained in Cuba for the ill-fated invasion attempt of the Dominican Republic in 1947. The Cuban government could not possibly have overlooked preparations of such size, he declared, but did not act until "the Cuban government's participation was established before the tribunal of public opinion."

'Cheap' Auto Lost To American Scene

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (INS).— A motor car manufacturer said today the "cheap car" — below $1,000 — is gone for good from the American scene.

General Motors President Charles E. Wilson voiced the opinion in an interview with U. S. News & World Report. Wilson said:

"People don't want the kind of car you would have to make in order to price it under $1,000. You would have to take too much out to get the price down, and there are many things you couldn't cut.

"Fenders, just to take one item, cost just about the same to make whether they are large or small."

Plains Shotgun Blast Victim Is Reported To Be Improving

PLAINS, Dec. 26. (Spl.).— Condition of Grace Bookout, 13, who was wounded by an accidental shotgun blast at the home of a relative here late Thursday, continued to improve today.

The girl, hit in the stomach by part of a shotgun blast when her brother-in-law, Bob Wiley discharged the gun, supposedly at a burglar, was reported completely out of danger.

Bailes, Gage Lead Littlefield To Victory In Class A Finals

Big Red Line Stops Mexia

mered to the 25-yard line in three plays. Then Bailes literally climbed over a heap of players at left tackle, did a complete spin as he was hit by a linebacker, broke into the clear and raced for the touchdown. He also added the extra point on a neatly-executed forward handoff from Crossley over the left side.

After that second Wildcat tally, the game—for all practical purposes—was over. Occasionally Mexia turned on fleeting offensive bursts good for short midfield gains, but whenever the Black Cats began to approach touchdown territory, the South Plainsmen rudely slammed the door in their faces.

Bailes, Gage Outstanding

It would be almost impossible to over-emphasize the roles of Bailes and Gage in today's Wildcat offensive. Operating behind the smooth-functioning Big Red line and aided by some deceptive ballhandling by Quarterback Crossley, these two pounded away at the outmanned Mexia line relentlessly. When the smoke cleared, the 185-pound Bailes had powered to a net pickup of 172 yards in 36 carries, while Gage had spun and squirmed to 106 yards net in 26 tries from scrimmage. Their total gain of 278 yards accounted for all but 11 yards of Littlefield's total for the day.

For the third successive playoff game, the Wildcats did not complete a pass, which emphasizes the overwhelming dominance of their bowl-'em-over ground juggernaut.

Operating at a "double-time" clip as always, the Fikesman ran 74 ground plays and one pass from scrimmage, in addition to five punts, giving them a total of 80 plays—or almost double the customary schoolboy figure—for the game. Mexia got away 71 plays from scrimmage, but 36 of these were passes which consumed comparatively little playing time.

Score Nullified

Late in the fourth quarter, the Panthers registered a 37-yard pass gain that carried into the end zone, but on the play a Black Cat lineman had obviously jumped offside, causing the score to be nullified. Mexia's deepest penetration came early in the final stanza, when the Central Texans reached Littlefield's 22-yard stripe before Gage intercepted a first-down pass on the Wildcat five.

The first half was all Littlefield. The Fikesmen piled up 191 yards net on the ground while limiting their foes to a net rushing gain of eight yards, and registered a 10-4 edge in first downs.

But just when it appeared that the heavier South Plains team was about to wear down the Mexia aggregation, the well-drilled Panthers came storming back to hold their own through the last two stanzas. Although they didn't have the guns to match Littlefield's heavy artillery, they battled to the very end before going down to their first defeat of the 15-game campaign.

Ty Bain, the former Texas Tech blocking back who now is head coach at Mexia, summed it up very well after today's game when he remarked, "Don't take a thing away from that Littlefield team. I think we have a good little ball club, but Littlefield has a good big ball club—the best we met all season."

Penalties Stall Littlefield

Six penalties totalling 70 yards and three recoveries of Wildcat fumbles by Mexia stalled the Littlefield scoring machine, but the South Plains squad countered with four timely pass interceptions that checked the Black Cats every time they began to move through the air. As mentioned earlier, one of the interceptions led directly to the winners' second touchdown.

Mexia's running attack never did click effectively against the smashing Big Red line. The Panthers were tossed for a total loss of 10 yards on the first two plays from scrimmage, which were something of an indication of what was to follow. Except for a crowd-lifting 24-yard gallop by Bobby Duke midway through the first period, Mexia was unable to gain as much as 10 yards on any one ground play all afternoon. Derrell Carlile, highly-regarded Black Cat fullback, showed flashes of brilliance in stacking up several short gains, but his mates never could shake him into the clear.

Stringbean Garland Cain, quarterback, provided most of the losers' offensive with a 36-pass barrage that brought 14 completions for 106 yards. But the aforementioned interceptions offset what gains Mexia made overhead.

Punting Poor

A noticeable shortcoming of both finalist teams today was a poor punting exhibition. Even in the ideal weather conditions that prevailed, each club's kicker averaged less than 22 yards per try. Carlile handled Mexia's punting chores, while End Floyd Golf did the kicking for Littlefield, whose regular kicker, Gene Renfro, played on defense only today because of an ankle sprain.

The victory was the Wildcats' 14th in a row since they bowed to Dalhart, 14-0, in a rain-soaked season opener. One of the wins, however, was by the slim margin of a penetrations edge over Sudan in a District 4-A game which ended in a 7-7 scoring tie.

The Wildcat triumph kept the Class A title in West Texas (Monahans having won in 1948), and gave Fikes a record of a state crown, a regional championship, two bi-district titles and a district division pennant in his six years at the Littlefield helm.

Westerners Prep For Abilene Five

Westerner cagers went through a light workout Monday at Chapman fieldhouse to limber up after a week-end of idleness, and Coach David Cook described the drill as one to "work the turkey" out of the boys.

Another bird, Abilene's Eagle, is facing the Westerner quintet Wednesday night in a game to be played in Abilene, a return of a game played here last week.

The local five will be out to avenge the setback at the hands of the Eagles, who gave Lubbock its second loss in 11 contests, and the sledding is expected to be tough in the home gym of the Abilene aggregation.

The return of Charles Lambert to practice was seen, but he is not expected to see action against Abilene. The senior guard injured his right foot in the third game of the season and has been out of action ever since.

A "B" team game will be played with the Abilene reserves before the varsity game Wednesday. The team representing Lubbock will be varsity reserves and several players off the Cowhands. It will not be a Cowhand game.

A hard workout is expected today at 4 p. m. at Chapman fieldhouse, and Coach Cook will send the team through rugged offensive and defensive drills.

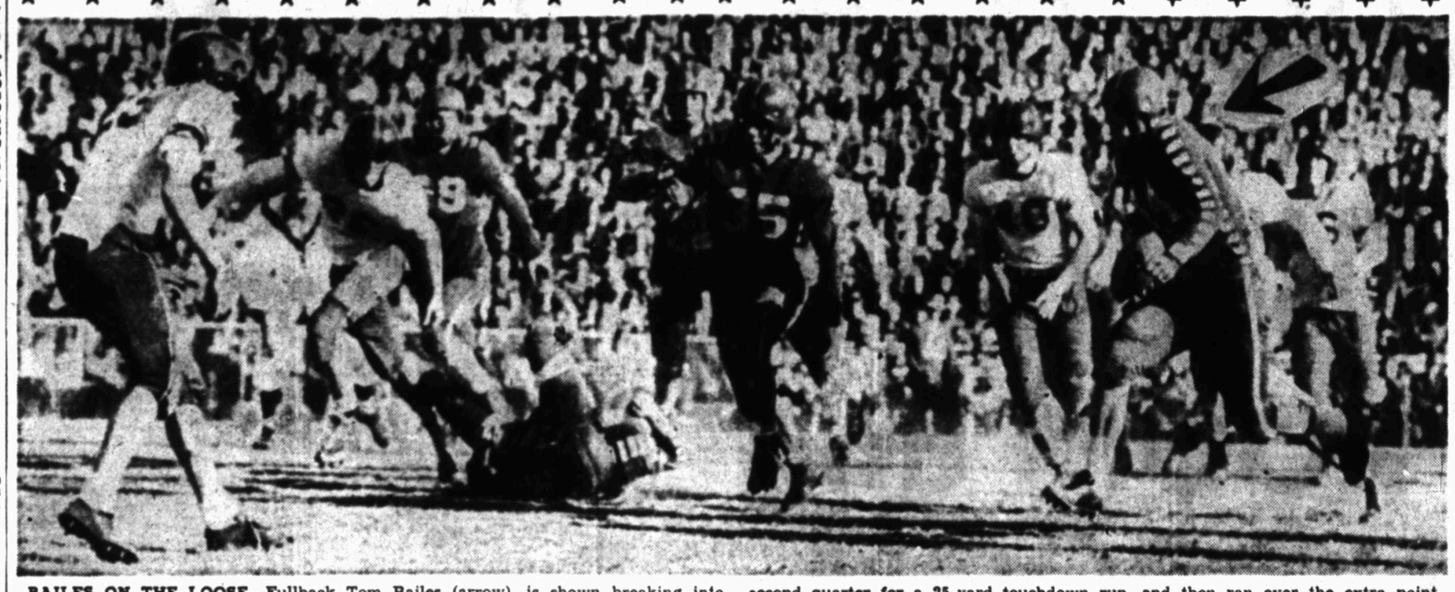

Grover Alexander Said Seriously Ill

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (AP).—Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of baseball's immortal pitchers, lies seriously ill in the hospital tonight while doctors conduct tests to determine if he is suffering from cancer.

Old Pete, as he came to be known during the 20 seasons his tireless right arm mowed down major league batsmen, underwent a cancer operation in St. Louis two years ago.

He was found lying unconscious Saturday in an alley behind his apartment. He was taken to Los Angeles county hospital for diagnosis.

Physicians there believe an injury Alexander suffered in 1908 when he was struck by a pitched ball is partly responsible for his present condition. His right ear was amputated in the St. Louis operation.

BAILES ON THE LOOSE—Fullback Tom Bailes (arrow), is shown breaking into the clear for a nice gain for Littlefield against the Mexia Black Cats in Abilene Monday. Moving up on the play to block out Mexia End Lawrence Davis, at left, is Halfback Stephen Brock (35). Directly to the rear of Bailes is Mexia Tackle Billy Wright (40), who is running back from the line of scrimmage. Bailes had them running back from the line of scrimmage all afternoon. He broke through in the second quarter for a 25-yard touchdown run, and then ran over the extra point. In all, he carried the ball 36 times, was thrown for losses only twice, and gained a total of 172 yards, an average of 4.7 yards per try. Shortly before the final whistle, Bailes hurt his leg slightly, but the senior star was in good spirits in the dressing room after the game. (Staff Photo by Emmett Shockley.)

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 26 (AP)—California's Golden Bears moved into range of the Rose Bowl today, reporting from Berkeley in good physical shape and well aware of playing a tough team in Ohio State in their Jan. 2 classic.

Coach Lynn Waldorf, at a press conference here, predicted a close ball game but he declined to prophesy the outcome or guess the number of touchdowns to be expected.

Halfback Jack Swaner was the only key man missing as the Bears reached here and proceeded on to Riverside, 60 miles east, for final training. He is due to join the squad tomorrow.

Swaner's wife is expecting a child.

HEAVY TITLE DECLARED VACANT

Magazine Names Ezzard Charles For Fighter Of The Year Honors

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (INS)—Ring Magazine, boxing's quasi-official publication, designated Ezzard Charles today as the Fighter Of The Year.

In so doing, editor Nat Fleischer went along with the previous selection of the Boxing Writers' association.

However, Fleischer also went along with the New York Athletic commission in declaring the heavyweight championship vacant. The National Boxing association recognizes Charles as world heavyweight champion.

Fleischer maintained that other contenders, including British champion Bruce Woodcock, cannot be ignored. But he put Charles all alone in "group one" in the heavyweight division.

Behind him, in group two, were placed Jersey Joe Walcott, defeated by Charles for the NBA title, Lee Oma, Woodcock and Lee Savold in that order.

Named Over Robinson

A third heavyweight group included Pat Valentino, another Charles victim in 1949, Turkey Thompson of Los Angeles, Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland, Omelio Agramonte of Cuba, Kid Rivera of St. Louis and Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa.

Ring's "Fighter Of The Year" rating went to Charles over welterweight champion Ray Robinson—who is recognized also as the outstanding middleweight challenger—and featherweight champion Willie Pep.

Maxim, Moore Listed

A surprise in Ring's listings was the ranking of both Joey Maxim of Cleveland, the American light heavyweight champion, and Archie Moore of St. Louis ahead of Freddie Mills, the world titlist.

Fleischer pointed out that Mills has not defended his crown since he won it from Gus Lesnevich in July, 1948. Leonard Morrow of Oakland, Calif., also was placed in group one of the light heavies.

Robinson was ranked second to champion Jake LaMotta in the middleweight division and all alone in group one among the welterweights.

Australian champ Dave Sands and Steve Belloise, veteran New Yorker, were given third and fourth position, respectively, in the middleweight class. Robert Villemain, the bouncing Frenchman, who outpointed LaMotta this month, rated fifth. Also in group one was Italy's Tiberio Mitri.

Graziano Fifth

Former champion Rocky Graziano was placed no higher than fifth in group two, technically tenth in line of succession to the throne.

Other rankings:

Welterweight—Group two, Kid Gavilan, Cuba; George Costner, Cincinnati; Bernard Docusen, New Orleans, and Charley Fusari, Irvington, N. J.

Lightweights—Group one, champion Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., and Freddie Dawson, Chicago. Featherweights—Group one, Pep and Sandy Saddler, New York.

Bantamweights—Group one, champion Manuel Ortiz, El Centro, Calif., Luis Romero, Spain; Danny O'Sullivan, England; and Elley Bennett, Australia.

Flyweights—Group one, Champion Rinty Monaghan, Ireland; Honore Pratesi, France, and Terry Allen, England.

Russell, Sauer To Join Montreal Nine

BOSTON, Dec. 26. (AP).—Outfielders Jim Russell and Ed Sauer of the Boston Braves were waived out of the major leagues today and shipped to the Brooklyn Dodgers' farm club at Montreal.

Braves General Manager John Quinn said the two players were part payment for Luis Olmo, traded to the Braves from Brooklyn last week. Waivers were given on Russell and Sauer by 15 other major league clubs, Quinn said.

The Olmo trade, Quinn said, called for a cash payment by the Braves and assignment of two players to the Brooklyn minor league team. The Montreal Royls play in the International League.

SANTA CLARA WINS

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (INS)—Santa Clara's basketball forces defeated Manhattan college, 73 to 64, tonight at Madison Square Garden.

North Rallies To Gain 20-14 Win Over South

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26 (AP)—The North's mighty All-Star football team coached by Herman Hickman of Yale tonight defeated the hand-selected All-Stars from the South, 20 to 14, before 37,378 rain-drenched spectators in the Orange Bowl.

After trailing 0-7 at the half, Hickman's heavyweights came back to score twice in quick succession in the third period and add another in the fourth.

The Southerners, coached by Andy Gustafson of Miami and Bob Woodruff of Baylor, moved into the lead in the second period when Lee Nalley of Vanderbilt took a handoff from Whitey Campbell of Miami and, behind perfect blocking, ran 80 yards for a touchdown.

In the final minutes of the fourth period Forrest Griffith of Kansas twisted 15 yards for the last Rebel touchdown and kicked the extra point.

The North's final score came after the Rebels made a goal-line stand and took over on downs on their own two yard line. Jim Powers of Southern California elected to pass from behind his own goal line to right end J. D. Ison of Baylor, who snagged the pass in a driving rain, took one step and dropped the ball.

Ray Dooney of Pennsylvania fell on the ball on the Rebels' 10 and Ralph Pasquariello of Villanova rammed over for the touchdown.

The Yankees' first touchdown came with the third period only five minutes old. Walter Crothaus of Notre Dame recovered a fumble on the South's 24. Two plays later Villanova's great quarterback Steve Romanik, flipped a short pass to Hart Wettlaufer of Pennsylvania to the eight.

Larry Coutre of Notre Dame bulldozed to the four and then to the one foot line. Romanik sneaked over for the score and Pasquariello missed the extra point from placement.

Rice Picked In Cotton Bowl

Favorites Named In Various Bowls

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—It is amazing how year after year the sponsors of bowl football games come up with teams which appear as evenly matched as book ends.

Often you look at the pairings when first they are announced figure it will be strictly no contest.

The more you contemplate the situation, however, the more confused you become and you're liable to make out quite a case for the underdog by wondering why they ever picked the team you originally favored, as it is certain to get the sawdust knocked out of it.

Rose Bowl Choice Small

The Rose Bowl people have little choice in their selection of teams, as the Pacific Coast and Western Conferences send their champions.

Lynn Waldorf's undefeated California Bears will be favored, but the more you think of how fast the Ohio State Buckeyes came along in their later games, and the stern competition they faced, the more you like their chances. Even so, we'd have to take Pappy Waldorf's team on this one.

The Sugar Bowl sees another undefeated team in action in Oklahoma. We've always had a soft spot in our heart, or maybe in our head, for the Sooners, and might be expected to give them the edge in their New Orleans encounter, particularly as their opponent, Louisiana State, has been beaten twice.

Rice Favored

We have a hunch on this one, though, and lean a little toward L.S.U.

On its record, which lists only one defeat, Rice would seem to rate the favorite role over thrice-defeated North Carolina in the Cotton Bowl, and we'd have to string along with Rice on this one.

We never saw the Owls, but we did see the Tarheels on one of the days they would just as soon forget. That was the day they met Notre Dame. Charley Justice will be ready to go Jan. 2, but even so we think they'll find Rice indigestible.

Santa Clara Picked

We'll take Santa Clara over Kentucky in the Orange Bowl, basing the choice largely on the battle the west coast team put up against rugged Oklahoma.

It will be Maryland and Missouri in the Gator Bowl, and that's another tougie to figure. Looking at Missouri's record, which shows three defeats, you have a tendency to take Maryland without hesitation.

However, Missouri lost two of its games by one-point margins, and one of these defeats was by Ohio State. Faurot's tricky, this high-scoring team plays an exciting game, but we rather favor once-beaten Maryland.

'WE'RE STATE CHAMPS NOW'—Coach J. S. Fikes, surrounded by three of the stars in Monday's championship victory, throws his hands into the air in the Littlefield dressing room as the Wildcats "whoop it up" after their 13-0 triumph over Mexia. Left to right are Fullback Tommy Bailes, Co-Captain and Tailback Frank Gage, Fikes, and Co-Captain and Tackle Jerry Cotter, who is waving his helmet. (Staff Photo by Emmett Shockley.)

Santa Fe Railway Reports Sharp Drop In 1949 Income

AMARILLO, Dec. 26. (INS)— The income for the Santa Fe railway for the first months of 1949 was $45,610,583.

President F. G. Gurley of the railroad said this amount compared with $58,175,986 in the first 11 months of 1948, a drop of nearly $12.5 million.

The net for November was $6,146,619.

Ohio State Gridders Stress Defensive Maneuvers Against California Plays

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 26 (INS) It was no holiday today for Ohio State's Rose Bowl Buckeyes.

While the majority of the public was enjoying the double holiday resting up, going to the races or for drives the Bucks were hard at work taking off pounds put on yesterday by Christmas turkey.

Buckeye coach Wes Fesler scheduled an extra heavy practice session this afternoon with emphasis on defensive maneuvers against plays of the California Bears, whom Ohio State will meet on January 2 to discuss the respective gridiron merits of the Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Ten.

Three players who are expected to play in an important role in Ohio state's offensive—Halfbacks Jerry Krall, Ray Hamilton and Vic Janowicz—suited up today for their first taste of the rough going since they received minor hurts last week.

Krall has been sidelined with a stiff neck, Hamilton by a sore throat and Janowicz with an ailing ankle.

Yesterday the Buckeyes were given a complete day of rest, the first they had had since flying in from Columbus a week ago. In the morning the boys attended church services of their choice and witnessed a radio show in the afternoon.

At dinner time they were treated to a Christmas feast with turkey and the rest of the holiday trimmings.

Fesler was a little pessimistic today when he herded his players into the dressing rooms for the afternoon session.

"With only five more drills before the Rose Bowl game, our squad has much work to do if we hope to approach our Big Ten form," he lamented.

Striking Cleveland Transit Workers Ordered Back On Jobs

CLEVELAND, Dec. 26 (AP) — Union leaders said tonight they will recommend that Cleveland's striking streetcar and bus workers go back to work tomorrow. They made this statement after an injunction was issued against them.

Officials of the AFL-Transit union said they will call a meeting for 10 a. m. tomorrow of the 4,900 strikers. An injunction issued early tonight by common pleas Judge Joseph Artl ordered them back on the job by 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The strike started last Thursday.

INJURIES FATAL

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 26. (AP)—Antonio Larrea of Brownsville was fatally injured when struck by a Victoria Transportation bus about 9 o'clock tonight. He was taken to a local hospital where he died a short time later.

All-College Tourney Set

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 26. (AP) The 14th annual All-College tournament opens here tomorrow, and coaches might produce a solution to the controversial two-minute rule as well as plenty of good basketball.

The tourney opens at 2 p.m. (CST) with Oklahoma City university meeting Baylor. The second half of the afternoon card finds Arkansas opposing Alabama. The night session opens at 7:45 p.m. with Wyoming playing Texas and then defending champion Oklahoma A&M meets Vanderbilt.

For several years, the All-College has been testing ground for proposed rule changes. Two years, three officials were used. The year before the NCAA rules committee approved the rule, the tournament allowed coaches to talk with their teams during timeouts.

Coaches generally have announced their dislike for the new two-minute rule, which provided that a team fouled during the last two minutes is given possession of the ball after a free throw is made.

A meeting of the eight coaches who have teams entered will be held tomorrow morning. Tournament sponsors expect the mentors to adopt a system which might be a solution to the controversial rule. Whatever the majority decides will rule the tourney.

Tournament coaches have expressed a desire to depart from the NCAA rule, probably modifying it.

The Oklahoma Aggies, with five victories and one defeat, are expected to take their sixth straight tournament.

Four Kentucky Backs Injured In Practice

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 26. (AP)—Kentucky's coach Paul (Bear) Bryant is crying the fullback blues.

Three of his four first string fullbacks are temporarily shelved because of injuries—all received in practices. They will, however, be in shape for the 16th annual Orange Bowl classic Jan. 2 when the Wildcats tangle with the Santa Clara Broncos.

To initiate Bryant's troubles, Lee Truman, leading defensive fullback who is a second cousin to the President of the United States, suffered a leg infection in Kentucky and didn't join the team until last Thursday—losing nearly a week of valuable training time.

On the first day of training at Little Cocoa, Fla., on the Florida east coast, big Bill Leskovar, the Wildcats' leading ground gainer and first string offensive fullback, pulled a thigh muscle and has been confined to the "sweat-suit" brigade since.

On Thursday Ralph Genito, bruising senior fullback used primarily on defense, twisted his foot and emerged with a bad bruise. He too, was sidelined.

Bryant hopes that all three will be able to play by Jan. 2. The loss of Leskovar would be a serious matter to the Kentucky offense.

Six Texas Conference Cage Teams See Action This Week

(By The Associated Press)

Just three of the Texas Conference's six basketball teams will see action this week, two in a tournament in New Mexico.

The Conference played five games last week and lost all five. This week, Howard Payne and Abilene Christian compete in the all-collegiate tournament at Portales while McMurry has a single game—against Texas Baptist Saturday.

Southwestern lost two last week to Corpus Christi university, 47-43, 39-33; Austin was beaten by Wayland college, 56-47, and by Texas Tech, 69-59. McMurry was defeated by Texas Wesleyan, 69-36.

Texas Open To Start PGA Tour

1950 Will Be Great Golf Year In Texas

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP) — Texas looks to its greatest golf year in 1950 and you can take the word of George Schneiter, tournament bureau manager of the PGA, for that.

There will be upwards of $60,000 in prize money in PGA cosponsored tournaments in this state, according to figures released today by Schneiter. In addition there will be some $15,000 in local tournaments.

The touring golfers visit four Texas cities in 1950 where $45,000 will be dangled before them. The Texas PGA also will have a tournament in the summer with probably $7,500 in awards.

The first Texas stop on the PGA tour will be San Antonio where Feb. 9-12 the Texas Open—one of the oldest tournaments on the winter trail—offers $10,000.

From there the links wanderers travel to Harlingen for the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open Invitational Feb. 16-19. Then they hop over to Houston for the Houston Open Invitational which also posts $10,000. The Houston meet will be Feb. 23-26.

The golf trail does not touch Texas again until May when the top men of the troupe compete at Fort Worth in the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation.

Texas also will have an amateur tournament of some kind virtually every week-end and in addition the Western Amateur will be played in Dallas in May.

"With this amount of golfing activitiy, typical of Texas, there is little wonder that Texas is developing so many outstanding golfers and will continue to do so," says Schneiter.

Raiders Return From Holiday

The migration of Texas Tech football players back to Jones stadium from Christmas holidays was successfully completed Monday, and the squad went through a vigorous workout.

Coach Dell Morgan found the team in good shape mentally and physically following the three-day leave of absence from practice, and the players are eager for their Dec. 31 battle with San Jose State in the Raisin bowl at Fresno, Calif.

The Raider team was divided into different groups Monday so that all could be kept busy in practice at one time, and Coaches Tipp Mooney, G. B. Morris and Allie White were in charge of different groups.

Readying of the offense for the San Jose Spartans has been the largest objectives of the coaches, and pacing the offensive backfield yesterday were Quarterback Ernest Hawkins, Halfbacks Cal Stevenson and Tim Hatch and Fullback Bud Conley. Milton Rathbone put in time working on laterals and other wide stuff around end.

The probable starting foursome worked mainly on ground plays in the cool session, and another group concentrated largely on passes, with Albert Salem hitting his mark accurately with his aerials. Today the routine will be alternated.

Making up the number one line in practice were Dick and Hugh Jackson at ends; Doug McSwane and John Andrews at tackles; Bobby Garner and Dan Pursel at guards; and Bobby Williams at center.

In addition to offensive maneuvers, defensive drills were run against San Jose plays as run by Tech players.

A wide-open style of play is expected to be used by both teams in the Raisin Bowl tilt, and pregame predictions have the team with the better passing attack tabbed as the winner. Both Tech and San Jose have good running attacks and powerful lines to stop ground games.

The Red Raiders depart for Fresno at 8:30 Wednesday morning, ariving there at 2:05 p.m. Thursday in time for a workout.

Blue, Gray Elevens Continue Practice

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 26 (INS)—A bunch of Northern football players found out today that it isn't always true that what they say about Dixie, but they went ahead with their practice sessions for the Dec. 31 Blue-Gray game in Montgomery anyhow.

Bad weather didn't stop the Yanks under Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois. But the Southerners, who will be master-minded by Blair Cherry of Texas, stayed close to their black-board.

Meanwhile, the Dixie boys found that Florida's great Charlie Hunsinger will be kept out of the game because of illness. Paul Campbell, of Texas, has rushed in to replace him.

The South's offensive backfield now contains Auburn's Travis Tidwell, Floy Reid of Georgia, Eddie Price of Tulane, and Randal Clay of Texas.

Those are the boys who will start the first time the Southerners get their hands on the ball.

Injury Jinx Hits Miners

EL PASO, Dec. 26 (AP)—Does the East have a jinx on the Border Conference in the Sun Bowl?

It began to look like it as final practices neared for the tussle in El Paso next Monday between Georetown university of Washington, D. C., and Texas Western college of El Paso.

The Georgetown Hoyas come from the section that boasts victory in four appearances in Sun Bowl games and a tie in a fifth.

Texas Western tried to stem that tide in the last Sun Bowl, but bowed 21-12 to West Virginia university. Then they took national rushing honors for a second year in a row with a 3,334 yards in ten games this season.

Today a volunteer practice session disclosed jinx news. Two defensive aces can't perform.

One of them is Sonny Holderman, the Texas Western punter. Although he'll be in at defensive halfback, a knee injury won't permit him to kick. Coach Jack Curtice put Bill Chesak, a former high school punting star to work as a replacement.

The other is Joe Holley, defensive tackle who is benched with a back injury.

Seventeen men who didn't leave El Paso for Christmas showed up for the volunteer drill. The full squad starts a twice-a-day grind tomorrow.

Georgetown training won't start until tomorrow. Then the Hoyas report after a training recess since mid-December. Coach Bob Margarito and his squad take off by air the next day for El Paso. A city-wide welcome is being planned for their arrival about 4 p. m. Wednesday.

Tony Butler Will Take Over As Pro Golfer At Brownsville Club

HARLINGEN, Dec. 26 (AP)—Tony Butler, for nine years golf professional at the Harlingen Municipal course, will go to Brownsville to succeed Al Escalante as Brownsville Country club pro. Butler has leased the course. He will go to Brownsville March 1.

Escalante resigned to go to Torreon, Mexico, where he will be the club professional.

Negro Charged In Slaying Here

Theodore Solden Jamison, 40-year-old Queen City negro funeral home operator, was charged with murder with malice Monday following the death earlier in the day of Fred Douglas Gibson, 29, another negro.

Jamison immediately posted $2,500 bond set in the justice court of C. E. Lynn. The charge was sworn to before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney by Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubank.

Gibson died at 2:05 a. m. Monday, about seven and one-half hours after he had been shot during an altercation at the Jamison Funeral parlor at 2507 East Ave. G. One bullet punctured his right lung and liver. Another had passed through his right wrist. A third wound in the left thigh was discovered by attendants at Chatman hospital after Gibson's death.

Jamison said he had returned to the funeral parlor after a trip to Littlefield, found Gibson there and forced him to leave. A brief time later, he said, Gibson returned, a knife in his hand. Jamison then got a gun from his office, it was related, and the shooting followed.

A .38 caliber pistol, with four bullets fired was found in a desk drawer at the establishment. A new pocket knife was found by officers near the spot where Gibson fell.

A youth paid a $15 fine for shooting firecrackers inside the city limits Monday, shortly after he had exploded a firecracker under a car. The vehicle selected for the "bombing" was a police radio prowl car.

City police, meanwhile, said they had warned operators of fireworks stands in certain areas that a city ordinance which became effective Saturday would force closing of the stands if they were not moved. The new ordinance annexes several outlying districts to the city where another ordinance prohibits sale of fireworks.

Donald Wells Hall, 25, of 421 Ave. F, charged Saturday with the robbery by assault of a Lubbock woman, was arrested Monday, the sheriff's department announced.

The prisoner, taken into custody in the 700 block Broadway, allegedly took $20 from Mrs. Pauline Wilson who lives in a tourist court here.

Convicts Escape

General Manager O. B. Ellis said the break occurred at 11:15 a. m. He said the convicts fled in a 1948 green Chevrolet pickup truck stolen from a Huntsville butane dealer. A Winchester rifle was in the vehicle.

The fugitives fled east from Huntsville on U. S. highway 190.

The convicts were serving terms ranging from six years to life. Ellis said they crawled through a hole in the outside wall that measured about a foot in diameter.

A guard atop the wall gave the alarm as he saw the seven dart away from the prison. No shots were fired.

The convicts are:

Charles Walter Thorp, a three-termer serving 25 years from Dallas county for robbery.

Weldon Green, a four-time convict, serving life as an habitual criminal..

Don Kemper, 32, a three-termer serving six years from Howard county for forgery.

J. M. Mershon, 38, serving a life term from Limestone county as an habitual criminal.

Thomas W. Tucker, 38, serving 64 years from Tarrant county for murder.

David Crockett McCullough, 23, serving 22 years for robbery in Dallas county.

Cecil Bill Isom, 25, serving 45 years for robbery from Hunt, Lamar, Woods and Harris counties.

Find Pickup Truck

Ellis said the escapees found the pickup truck about a quarter mile east of the prison headquarters.

"It was just the first vehicle they came to and just happened to have a hunting rifle in it," he said.

The truck was found abandoned near an old sawmill eight or nine miles southeast of Huntsville. Prison bloodhounds led guards there and again picked up a trail that indicated the men fled through the brush and lowlands.

Ellis said he believes the escapees split into two groups, with three men fleeing to the north and four going east and then turning south

He said no trace of the three going north has been reported.

The prison manager said the guard who reported the escape telephoned headquarters and said he "thought" he saw some men fleeing.

Co'der Weather

the Weather bureau said, with the exception of slightly lower early-morning temperature readings.

Monday's high temperatures reached 55 degrees. The early-morning temperatures dropped to 15, matching the minimum temperature recorded on Dec. 15 as the lowest recorded in the area thus far this winter.

Rain, Fog Reported

While the South Plains residents enjoyed fair skies and comparatively high temperatures Monday, scattered rain and fog blanketed much of east and south Texas, the Associated Press reported last night.

The Weather bureau said there'd be more rain in those areas today.

The heaviest rair was .89 inch at Texarkana. Brownsville had .52, Austin .49, Palestine.36, Waco and Corpus Christi .14, Galveston .04, Alice .02, and San Antonio and Beaumont .01 each. Rain was falling at Laredo Monday night. Galveston, Houston and Corpus Christi were fog.

Maximum temperatures ranged from 49 at Palestine to 72 at Houston.

Police Press Search For Murder Suspect

LAREDO, Dec. 26. (AP) — All available officers kept searching today on both sides of the Rio Grande for George Ochoa, charged with murdering two men.

Ochoa, 38, a customs broker, made a brief, menacing appearance Christmas morning in the home of a former employe. When he was refused money, he grabbed some cold tamales out of an ice box and fled—presumably back across the Rio Grande into Mexico.

He had gone there last July 31 after Henry D. Whittenburg, 31 South Texas ginner, and Corporal James Lindsay, 30, of Oneida, Tenn., were shot to death with the same pistol on separate floors of a Laredo hotel.

"I think it won't be long until Ochoa will be in custody," Deputy Sheriff A. C. Canales said.

That was after Ochoa, red-eyed, desperate and soaking wet from wading the river, broke into the home of J. M. Ballesteros, manager of the brockerage firm the hunted man used to own.

Ballesteros told Ochoa he had no money for him. Ochoa left after Mrs. Ballesteros pleaded with him not to harm her husband.

Officers immediately began searching for him.

'Mexican authorities are cooperating with us one hundred per cent.," Chief of Police David O. Gallagher said today.

Union Warns Nation

less "we do some foolish things, politically . . . and scare the people."

AFL's monthly economic survey declared, however, that a general 10-cents-an-hour wage boost — achieved through cost reduction and with-out raising prices — will be "essential" in 1950 to win the battle against a business recession.

AFL Voices Appeal

The federation appealed to management to join unions in lowering costs and pass on the savings in higher wages that could add $8 billion next year to consumer buying power.

The AFL listed four factors pointing to a business downtrend after next June. They are:

1. Most spending of veterans' bonus money will be over by mid-1950:

2. Farmers' incomes in the second half year will be well below 1949 because of price declines and production controls;

3. Business investments probably will taper off;

4. Resulting lay-offs will reduce workers' buying power.

Less Buying Power Expected

AFL economists estimated total buying now in prospect for 1950 at $253 billion, five billion less than this year, and added:

"Employment is therefore likely to be below 1949 by some 700,000 on the average, and with 1 million more persons seeking work, unemployment in 1950 would average 1,700,000 above 1949 . . . that means average unemployment of 5.1 million persons.

"During industrial dull seasons, unemployment would rise considerably above 5 million, the figure generally considered the danger point."

The AFL said, however, that the U. S. economy is "strong and healthy" and next year's business readjustment need not be disruptive if the right steps are taken. The union economists condemned as "foolhardy" any resort to larger government spending to bloster the economy.

Other Solutions Possible

Instead, the AFL asserted, several other constructive solutions are possible. Price declines in 1950 will release more buying power; continued business spending to improve equipment would maintain employment and increase productivity, and a reduction in many taxes would enable consumers to buy needed goods.

The federation forecast that the consumer price index as a whole is likely to be at least one or two percent lower by next June.

Truman Gives

one which now stands in Kansas City.

He gave the minature and the life-sized ones to Mr. Truman, who yields to no man in his admiration of "Old Hickory."

Two Are No Problem

The smallest one and the largest one offered no problem. Mr. Truman took the little job for his desk and the big one was unveiled in front of the Kansas City courthouse in 1934 by Margaret.

But it wasn't so simple deciding what to do with the middle-sized one.

"It is not small enough to keep in the house and it is too big to put in anybody's front yard," Mr. Truman said today. It occurred to him, however, that it was "just the right size to go with the Independence courthouse." So he offered it to several successive county courts with no takers.

Sculptor Tires Of Statue

Finally Keck got tired of keeping it in his New York studio and told Mr. Truman he would like for him to take it off his hands.

As the three members of the present court beamed approval, the President said the present court, an administrative (not judicial) agency, accepted the statue.

After the ceremony on the courthouse lawn, Mr. Truman went inside for the unveiling of a large picture of himself.

Mr. Truman made a brief speech for each event. In both he steered away from anything controversial.

NEWS BRIEFS

A Reese Air Force base soldier, Wilbur E. Denny, 18, was hurt slightly about 7:50 p.m. Monday when his motorcycle was in collision with a car driven by Ralph A. The accident occurred as Fletcher attempted a "U" turn, police said.

Man Burns To Death

Marcus Sasueda, 40, was burned to death early Monday when flames gutted his room in a four-room dwelling at Amarillo. Only the one room was damaged. The body was found huddled in a corner. Origin of the fire was not determined.

At least 10 other Texans had burned to death during the holiday weekend.

Dalton Jackson, 25, of Fort Worth died Monday as a result of a headon collision at Aspermont, Stonewall county, in which Kenneth Lunsford also was fatally injured.

Five persons were injured, three critically, when an automobile hit a train on the Austin-Borerne highway, two miles north of Austin, Monday. Four of the injured were members of a Houston family.

Injured Listed

The Texas Department of Public Safety listed the injured as: Warren Walden of Houston; his wife, Dora Elizabeth Walden; a son, Bobby Warren Walden; a daughter, Mary Hollis Walden, 13; a nephew of the Waldens, Joe Bob Walden.

Uninjured was Wendell Walden, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walden. The injured were taken to an Austin hospital.

Maria Beatrice Herrera, 2, was killed Sunday afternoon when an automobile accidentally backed over her in front of her parent's home in Victoria.

Bryan Wilson Messick, 28, was killed by a stray bullet fired in a gun battle at Victoria. Chester Cawthorn, 26, and Roy Eackelbary, 41, were wounded in the fight.

Solon Warns

$750,000,000. Although Congress did not act on his bill or many similar ones offered at the last session, this repeal drive has gained bi-partisan support in recent months.

A Republican fight on higher income taxes also may get a lot of Democratic support, as it looks now, since 1950 is an election year.

A top Democrat told reporters privately over the weekend that he doubts a tax increase, other than one to cover losses by any reduction of excise levies, could pass in the next session starting a week from tomorrow.

In fact some of Mr. Truman's best friends on Capitol Hill seem completely in the dark as to the tax program he will propose to finance the administration program for the 1951 fiscal year starting next July 1.

Demand For Hike Seen

While some of them doubt he will ask for any significant tax increase, others say he must be "consistent" with previous recommendations and ask enough revenue to balance the budget.

If so, that would require over $5,000,000,000 in more taxes.

There have been no hints from the White House on what tax action will be recommended. But in his call for a $4,000,000,000 tax hike last January, the President said:

"The principal source of additional taxes upon corporate profits, which can be applied without unduly interfering with prospects for continued business expansion and with assurances that profits, after taxes and dividends, will be sufficient for investments and contingencies. . .

"Another source of additional revenue should be the tax upon estates and gifts . . . Careful study should also be directed to the increase of rates of individual income taxes in the upper and middle brackets. Some additional excise taxes may be desirable, but some excise taxes . . . should be repealed."

ROBBERY SUSPECT NABBED

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 26. (AP) — A former convict, wanted in Fort Worth, Texas, for a $20,000 robbery in an oilman's home, was arrested here today. Detective Lt. O. R Brown of Fort Worth identified the man as Francis Howard May, 37 who had served three terms for robbery and burglary in the Texas penitentiary.

The New Zealand Government recently gave away 300 pounds of wartime tobacco.

'TWAS THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS—At the end of the day Monday Lubbock children were called in by their mothers, had their faces washed, and were put to bed. But many of them, like the girls above, insisted on taking their presents with them. So, tucking their dolls under the cover and crawling into bed with them are Virginia Ann and Marsha Sue Sinclair, six and eight years old, respectively. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Sinclair of 2121 Eighth street.

Susan Hayward To Play Leading Role In 'Sense Of Guilt' For 20th Century-Fox

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. — All the producers who have been trying to borrow Susan Hayward can forget about it. Susan stays right on at 20th Century-Fox to star in "Sense of Guilt." This was originally a French movie, and Darryl Zanuck will remake it a la American.

More interesting news about this picture is that mystery writer Maxwell Shane, who used to be a press agent at 20th, gets his first directorial assignment plus writing the script. And it isn't making him mad that he gets a trip to Quebec and Sun Valley, where the action takes place, to pick out location sites.

Jules Buck, associated with Mark Hellinger in most of his biggest hits including "Naked City" will produce.

Actress Nears Recovery

The Christmas season this year is especially happy for Donna Reed, who has been told by her doctor that she will be well enough to start work early in the spring. She's been very sick ever since the birth of her baby last July.

She chooses the lead in "Fear," the first independent picture to be made by Mark Robson and Robert Wise for Aspen productions. It is based on a highly provocative subject, and has a subject not unlike that of "Home of the Brave," which Robson directed.

Top Hat Given Actor

Carlotta Monti, who was the closest friend of the late W. C Fields, believes that when the story of his life is made, Wade Crosby, the character actor, should play Fields. She thinks so much of Crosby's characterization of Bill that she has gifted him with an old top hat and overcoat that the comedian owned.

Carlotta says the newest interest in Fields' life story is at Paramount and M-G-M.

In the voting, the 11 movie stars who were cited are:

Claudette Colbert, Joan Crawford, Irene Dunn, Jane Greer, Rosalind Russell. Gene Tierney Elizabeth Taylor, Sonja Henie, Jeanne Crain, Dorothy Lamour and Gloria Swanson.

Unfortunately, our girls failed to make the top 10, but we think our movie queens are awful pretty

Romance Ruled Out

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: At the Beverly Hills Brown Derby planning their New Year's Eve together were Jane Powell, her bridegroom Geary Steffan, and Elizabeth Taylor. And, I promised Liz I'd never mention the word "romance" in connection with her until she came and told me she was getting married.

Alan Jones led a group of friends from house to house Christmas Eve in Palm Springs singing Christmas carols.

Rudy Valee, bridegroom of a month, wrote his wife asking her to send his pet poodle to Canada to him because he is lonely!

Freedom Still Ahead

Lisa Ferreday begs me to say that she and Lex Barker are just friends and there is no romance. Lisa says she is only legally separated, and Lex won't be free for 10 months.

I hear confidentially that M G-M is trying to borrow Moria Shearer, star of "Red Shoes," to co-star with Gene Kelly in a dancing picture.

J Arthur Rank is planning to sell all his old films for telecasting in order to get the good old American dollar.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP)—Memphis, Tennessee, today was announced winner among 3,762 entries in the 26th annual national fire prevention week contest.

The city won another honor in the same contest, with the first place for Army bases going to the Memphis General depot.

Atlanta, Ia., and Fort Collins, Colo. won second and third places after Memphis in the United States. Canada's first and second cities were Arvida, Quebec, and Ottawa, Ontario.

Other cities in the 90 to 100 per cent group included:

Los Alamos, N. Mex.; Corpus Christi, Texas; and Abilene, Texas

Exports of copra from the Philippines have been disappointing thus far in 1949.

Lubbock Man Goes Rabbit Hunting, Gets Porcupine

Joe Billups, of 1708 Ninth, went rabbit hunting near Brownfield Monday and came back with a porcupine instead.

The porcupine was "quite vicious," Billups said. However, the local hunter managed to escape the animal's sharp quills. The animal was "captured" with aid of several pairs of old khaki trousers, which were wrapped around it for the return trip home.

Billups was accompanied on the hunting trip by his father, Carl Billups, and brother, Carlton.

The question foremost in Billups' mind now seems to be what to do with the animal, he says he has no adequate place to keep it. He wonders whether some school group might like the animal for study.

Billups said last night he had seen only two or three other porcupines in his life. The animals commonly are found in northern wooded areas.

Germ Studies

is not new. On Jan. 3, 1946, the U S. army intelligence reports gathered in Japan disclosed the Nipponese had experimented with use of germs as weapons, but added there was no evidence they had resorted to bacteriological warfare.

(Some observers see the trial as Russia's answer to demands of Japanese and U. S. occupation authorities for release of Japanese soldiers as prisoners of war. Russia claims she is holding 10,000 Japanese as war criminals, but Japanese officials say the total is much higher.)

The radio quoted Karasawa as having said:

Immunity Studied

"The beginning of 1943, when I was laid up in a hospital at Mukden, a scientific worker of unit 731 named Minato visited me. He told me the immunity of American war prisoners to infectious diseases was being studied in Mukden. Minato was specially sent by unit 731 to the camp of the prisoners of war to study the immunity of Anglo-Saxons to infectious diseases."

Karasawa told the court germ war against the United States was "envisaged," the broadcast added.

The 12 defendnts have pleaded guilty to an indictment charging they had prepared and used germ warfare.

The broadcast described Karasawa as head of the production depart of the Japanese Kwantung army's unit 731, whose alleged chief, Maj. Gen. Kawashima Kiyoshi, testified Sunday.

The radio said Karasawa had testified that his section of unit 731 had mass produced lethal germs in a boiler system holding eight tons of "nutritive material" at a time. It was alleged that the germs he had produced were used for experimenting on human beings and in germ warfare against the Chinese.

USE OF AMERICANS FOR GERM STUDIES DENIED

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 27. (AP). General MacArthur's headquarters said today there are no known cases in which Japanese used American prisoners in germ warfare experiments.

As far as is known here no Americans held prisoner by the Japanese at Mukden ever accused the Nipponese of using them as guinea pigs in biological warfare tests.

Dr. E. M. Waits, Former Head Of TCU, Dies In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Dec. 26. (AP) — President-emeritus E. M. Waits of Texas Christian university, died about 10 p. m. Monday at his home, 2916 Princeton, after an illness of 4 1/2 years.

Dr. Waits, 78, took a turn for the worse last Tuesday, his physician said. A heart ailment caused his death.

The educator relinquished his position as president of the university in 1941 after having served as its head for 25 years.

Dr. M. E. Sadler was named as his successor and Dr. Waits became president-emeritus.

Services for Dr. Waits will be conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday at University Christian church. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Aid To Education Bill Still Faces Hurdle Of Religious Argument

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Administration leaders conceded today that so far they have failed to resolve the religious dispute that has held up House action on an aid-to-education bill.

During the congressional recess, some top Democrats hoped to hit upon some compromise that would satisfy American Catholics and critics of federal aid to parochial schools.

But one legislator who has taken a leading role in their compromise efforts told newsmen:

"I don't think we can even get would be unconstitutional.

These admissions of failure foreshadow a lenghthy and angry fight over the iscsue within the House Labor committee.

A vast majority of congressmen agree that the federal government must allocate some money to improve the nation's schools. The big question, however, is whether Catholic parochial schools should share in this allotment.

The Senate side-stepped the issue during the past session by approving a bill which left it up to the individual states to decide how federal funds are to be parceled out.

A House Labor subcommittee, headed by Rep Graham A. Barden, (D-N.C.), refused to adopt this approach, it drafted a bill which prohibited any state from using federal money to help parochial or other private schools.

Catholic congressmen immediately protested. Committee Chairman John Lesinski, (D-Mich), a Catholic himself, denounced the subcommittee's action as a product of "bigotry."

He and other Catholic leaders contended that Catholic school children are entitled to the so-called "auxiliary services" of the bill—bus transportation, health programs, and, in some cases, secular textbooks.

Bardens defenders retorted that such aid would violate the traditional American separation of church and state and, as such, would be unconstitutional.

The controversy became the most bitter seen in Congress in recent years. It developed into a nation-wide dispute, with Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt heading opposing factions.

New Trade Pact

erty nationalized by Tito.

These two pacts replace agreements which expired last Sept. 30.

Under the old trade pact, Britain and Yugoslavia agreed to sell each other 15,000,000 pounds ($42,000,000) worth of goods a year—a total annual trade of 30,000,000,000 pounds.

The board of trade spokesman said the new trade pact commits the United Kingdom to "substantial credit guarantees" for Yugoslavia in addition to the 8,000,000 pound loan.

He did not elaborate, but this presumably means the British government will stand good for Yugoslavia in credit deals with sterling area businessmen.

British imports from Yugoslavia will be mainly timber, metals other than iron, and corn urgently needed here for cattle food.

Principal exports to Tito will be wool, yarns, chemicals, rubber and rubber products and heavy machinery.

Yugoslavia also will be guaranteed supplies of raw materials from parts of the sterling area other than the British Isles.

East Is Favored In Charity Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP) —Odds makers continued today to make the Eastern football Stars 7½ point favorites over their Western rivals for the annual East-West charity game here next Saturday.

The East, in fact, has been favored since co-coaches Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, Tuss McLuaghry of Dartmouth and Andy Kerr of Lebanon Valley announced the full 24-hour roster.

Five of the Eastern players marched impressively in the All-America parade this year. They are giant Notre Dame end, Leon Hart and his college team mate, Jim Martin, tackle; John Schweder, guard from the University of Pennsylvania; Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota center, and Army's contribution, T-formation quarterback Arnold Galiffa.

The East had a sixth All-America selection, Emil Sitko of Notre Dame but the hard hitting fullback withdrew because of family illness.

Western coaches Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, Jeff Cravath of Southern California and Leo "Dutch" Meyer of Texas Christian apparently haven't lost any sleep over the fact they are bossing the second choice team.

The West, in fact, usually is the underdog in the trans-continental battle of gridiron talent. And the West leads in total victories, anyhow.

Plainview Store Is Entered By Burglars

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 26. (Special) Burglary of Cobb's department store here was reported to police today by a store clerk who discovered the breakin during a routine check over the "long holiday."

Exact loss was not known. Police Chief Hoyt Curry said today. However, $95 in cash was believed missing from a cash register and a check by store officials indicated that at least two suitcases, two suits, an overcoat, several pairs of trousers and some shoes and boots had been taken.

Curry said the burglars entered the building through office rooms over the store, crossed to an office directly over a stair landing by moving along outside windows and drilled holes in the ceiling of the store. It was believed the intruders reached the roof of the building by climbing a telephone pole.

Store Manager C. E. Marse said the firm had closed its doors Saturday night and was not scheduled to re-open until Tuesday. The burglary probably occurred late Saturday, Hoyt said.

Solons To Try Bill

minimize the possibilities of red ink spending. The idea is that, at the time the omnibus bill comes up for passage, Congress will have a fairly firm estimate of how much revenue the government will receive, and can tailor the appropriation bill to fit the expected income.

As things now stand, with each department being financed in a separate bill, there is no overall picture of the financial situation when a bill is passed. Frequently, when the last bill is passed and the sum of all the bills is added up, it turns out that Congress appropriated more money than the government will take in. That means a deficit.

Several weeks ago he collapsed in a Hollywood drug store. He was treated at an emergency hospital and then sent home.

Flame-Stricken Pennsylvania Town Declared Disaster Area

HYNDMAN, Pa., Dec. 26. (AP)—The Red Cross moved into this blackened southern Pennsylvania community today to help rebuild after a Christmas night fire that leveled all of the town's business section.

Andrew M. Gregg, assistant director of the Red Cross eastern area disaster service, said Hyndman had been declared a disaster area and would be entitled to help in reconstruction.

The fire started last night when a Christmas tree in the home of Somers Fisher went up in flames. Fisher's wife, Corrine, 60, died in the blaze. Her body was recovered from the ruins of their home today.

Fisher, 67, was burned badly, and Memorial hospital at nearby Cumberland, Md., reported that his condition was still poor.

Mayor Ernest Harden said about 29 families, embracing some 62 persons, were driven out by the flames. He estimated the total damage at $500,000, although other citizens said the loss might reach $1,000,000. The bank, the postoffice, about 12 business buildings and a score of homes were destroyed.

Indonesian Troops To Prevent Trouble

BATAVIA, Dec. 26 (AP)—The United States of Indonesia deployed troops tonight and maintained a state of siege in wide areas to prevent trouble when the country formally becomes free tomorrow after more than 300 years of Dutch rule.

Communists and some die-hards are expected to try to embarrass the world's newest sovereign state by creating disorders, officials warned.

Sultan Hamengku Buwono, deputy premier and minister of defense, set 6,000 republican troops armed with machine guns to patrolling Batavia streets in open trucks. Machinegun posts were set up at street intersections and armed sentries were posted in front of foreign consulates.

The Sultan, hereditary ruler of Jogjakarta and a leader in the independence movement, is to accept the authority of Indonesia's central government from Dutch High Commissioner A. H. J. Lovinks. The ceremony will take place at the governor's palace at 6 p. m. Batavia time Dec. 27 (4:30 a. m. CST).

Premier Mohammad Hatta of the United States of Indonesia is in the Netherlands to receive the transfer of power direct from Queen Juliana at a similar ceremony starting an hour later.

Despite its new independent status, Indonesia will remain linked with Holland in a close union. Juliana will be Queen of Indonesia as well as Holland.

said he hadn't intended to tell.

Dunning said the new plant for diffusion is one-quarter the size of the first building. He did not say so but in industrial processes a smaller but more modern plant is more often a bigger producer than the original big one.

The great advantage of this process, he said, is that the only power cost is to pump gas. It has to be pumped through many thousands of strainers. Dr. Dunning said all the uranium 235 buildings at Oak Ridge now number more than 70, each big enough to house several football fields. Today he said it is a trip of 20 miles merely to walk past the panels of automatic instruments which control this uranium process.

Wobbley French Cabinet Struggles With Major Problem Of Preparing New Budget

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

As this is written the French assembly is so tangled up trying to figure out a 1950 budget—and where to get the taxes to pay for it—that the government could fall before you read it.

The present coalition government has been in power since Oct. 28. Regardless of whether it stands or falls, Frances problems remain.

Left-wingers and the military both want more money. Conservatives say taxes and government expenses must be cut.

Instead George Bidault's cabinet started the debate by proposing the highest postwar budget yet—about $6,750,000,000. This would take more taxes. The budget committee pared the sum a little but refused to consider more taxes. That left a deficit of $65 million.

Troubles Involve U. S.

The French troubles are no longer just a far-away wrangle for us to watch. For two years now we have poured hundreds of millions of dollars annually into the French purse. We asked from the start that the French try to clean up their money troubles, cut spending and get on a pay-as-you-go basis. They have failed so far.

Here are some of the reasons, as they are explained by a French embassy spokesman in Washington:

One of the big drains on taxes is reconstruction. Many homes still need repairs from war damage. Some families are still homeless and getting impatient. Some protest the government has spent too much rebuilding factories and not enough rebuilding homes.

Government Foots Bill

The government foots the rebuilding bills through a system which gives the property owner enough to duplicate what he lost. But, as the embassy says, "there just isn't enough to go around right away, and prices are higher now than when those homes were built."

Then there is the military budget, which is higher than ever, $1,300,000,000. It's being used to build up the French army, but a third of it goes to Indo-China, where 150,000 French troops are trying to hold that old French colony.

There is another big tax leak in the subsidies the government has had to pay some of the industries that were nationalized. Several aren't covering their costs.

The French embassy spokesman says that the French railroads, now that they are nationalized, can't pay their own way for the first time. Neither can the nationalized gas and electric industries. However, the coal mines and the big Renault auto works in Paris both seem to be meeting their bills, even though the government does run them.

Government Rolls Swollen

Then there are the swollen numbers of French who work for the government. French civil service rolls have always been top-heavy, but now 250,000 more people are on them than before the war. They have to be paid—out of taxes.

France's social security system is another big drain on taxes. It has grown so rapidly that it now takes 600 billion francs a year, as against only 100 billion just three years ago.

There have already been several suggestions that Marshall plan aid to Europe be cut—most notably from Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

The debate will probably force our congressional financial experts to consider not only our own high government costs, and deficit, but such problems in Europe also.

MOTHER OF THREE WINS AWARD

Boston Woman Again Heads List Of Ten Best Dressers For 1949

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. — Mrs. William Paley, the former Barbara Cushing Mortimer, of Boston again heads the 1949 list of the world's 10 best-dressed women, as announced today by the New York Dress institute.

The tall, slender, brunette Mrs. Paley, a fashion editor before her marriage to the Columbia Broadcasting system head, is a sister of Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. John Hay Whitney. She dresses simply, buys comparatively few clothes, is the mother of three children and is expecting a fourth. She was selected as "best-dressed" woman last year.

Others Named On List

Others on the current list are:

2—The Duchess of Windsor.

3—Mrs. Harrison Williams, New York.

4—The Duchess of Kent.

5—Mrs. Leland Hayward, the former Mrs. Howard Hawks, of Hollywood.

6—Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, jr., Washington and New York.

7—Mary Martin, star of "South Pacific," Norwalk, Conn., and New York.

8—Mrs. Byron Foy, New York.

9—Mrs. Louis Arpels, Paris.

10—Mrs. Kingman Douglas, the former Adele Astaire, Middleburg, Va.

Five Women Distinguished

Five women associated with the fashion design world polled enough votes to put them among the top 10, but were disqualified because of their professional ties.

They are: Valentina (Mrs. Geo. Schley), custom designer of New York; Sophie (Mrs. Adam Gimbel), fashion designer of New York; Mrs. John C. Wilson, associated with Mainbocher, New York; Mrs. Gilbert Adrian, wife of the California designer, and Countess Alain de la Falaise, young designer for Paquin in Paris.

Among the top 10 are many names identified with the "best dressed" lists for years. Mrs. Williams, the beautiful, gray-haired society leader, has been on the official best-dressed list every year except one since 1933.

The Duchess of Windsor also is a regular entry, as is Mrs. Leland Hayward.

Woman Loves Hats

Mrs. Hearst is the former Austine Cassini of Washington, loves hats and is noted for their variety. She is small, slender and dark, with a Southern drawl.

Though she currently is seen in a sailor suit most of the time, Mary Martin has been noted for years as a "best dresser." Mrs. Foy also is a familiar name on the list and is the only one of the current group, besides the Duchess of Windsor, who owns a lavish wardrobe.

Mrs. Arpels is noted as one of the smartest Parisiennes, is tall, with reddish brown hair and brown eyes. Her husband is a well-known jeweler.

Possible Trend Indicated

Mrs. Douglas is on the list for the first time, a fact which may indicate a return to the thinking of the twenties. She has maintained a gay look in the face of all fashion changes, likes simple country clothes and dark tailored suits, always wears little back-on-the-head hats and keeps her skirts short.

Women who received leading votes in various cities this year are:

Philadelphia, Mrs. Katherine Biddle and Mrs. Margaret Thompson Biddle; Pittsburgh, Mrs. Paul Mellon; St. Louis, Mrs. James S. Bush (the former Mrs. William Rhinelander Stewart); Havanah, Countess Revinna Camargo; San Francisco, Mrs. William Wallace (Ina Claire); Chicago, Mrs. Leon Mandel; London, Moira Shearer, one of the Saddler's Wells ballet; Rome, Countess Rudolfo Crespi (the former Consuelo O'Connor of New York); Akron, Mrs. Harvey Firestone, jr.; Detroit, Mrs. Henry Ford II; Dallas, Mrs. J. D. Lingo; Palm Beach, Mrs. Michael Phipps; Cincinnati, Mrs. Louis S. Kahn; Birmingham, Mrs. Morris Bush, Mrs. William Dexter; Baltimore, Mrs. H. Irvine Keyser; Ft. Worth, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby and Mrs. Robert Winifohr.

Amarillo Man Injured In Auto Crash Here Reported Improved

A 64-year-old Amarillo man, who was injured in a two-car collision at Thirteenth and College Ave., Sunday morning was in an improved condition late Monday afternoon, attendants at West Texas hospital said.

The man, H. R. Staples, suffered a fractured neck vertabrae and scalp lacerations. Others injured in the accident, Mrs. Nina Jane Braxton, 25, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Susie Braxton, 51, were treated for minor bruises and lacerations at the hospital and released.

The accident occurred when automobiles driven by James Allen Braxton, 27, and O. P. Foster, who gave his address as the Lubbock hotel, collided at the intersection of the two streets. Neither of the drivers was injured.

Foster was given a ticket for negligent collision by failure to grant right of way. Staples was taken to the hospital by a McDonald ambulance and the women by Braxton.

YEAR'S COST OF LIVING DOWN SLIGHTLY—The cost of living, as shown by the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index, was stabilized in 1949 on a high plateau slightly below the record high level of the previous year. The decline reflected an easing of food prices, especially meat, and an improvement in the quality of clothing and some other goods. As the year ended, the index stood at its lowest 1949 point. Couple Observes Golden Wedding

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 26. (Spl.).—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Malone, pioneer residents of Hale county, celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary with a party in their home here today.

Their anniversary was Dec. 24, but they delayed the celebration until today. A party was held in their home from 3 until 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Couple Married In 1899

Mr. and Mrs. Malone were married Dec. 24, 1899, at Capps, now known as View, near Abilene. They moved to Hale county in 1903 and farmed near Plainview for 15 years. They moved into Plainview in 1919.

Mr. Malone has been engaged in the real estate business most of the time since becoming a Plainview resident 30 years ago. He served as Hale county tax assessor-collecter from 1932 until 1938.

Bad health has forced Mr. Malone into semi-retirement from his real estate work during the past two or three years.

Former Marine Flier Reveals Research Findings

Flying Saucers Claimed 'Real'

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—The magazine True declares that the flying saucers are actually airships with which "living intelligent observers" from another planet are studying the planet Earth.

The January 1950 issue published today, contains an article called "The Flying Saucers Are Real," contending that this "systematic close-range observation" has been going on for 175 years; that the frequency of visits by these highly advanced types of aircraft is increasing; and that True's conclusions have been "fully accepted by informed authorities."

Author of the article is Donald E. Keyhoe, former Marine Corps pilot, and one-time chief of information of the aeronautics branch, Department of Commerce.

Three Types Identified

Keyhoe—whose contentions are supported fully by True—says the inter-planetary explorers are using three identifiable types of aircraft. He lists them as:

1. A small nonpilot-carrying disk-shaped aircraft equipped with some form of television or impulse transmitter; 2. a very large (up to 250-feet in diameter) metallic, disk-shaped aircraft operating on the helicopter principle; 3. a dirigible shaped wingless aircraft.

Keyhoe, who has had 25 years experience in aviation and was once aide to Col. Charles Lindbergh, bases his conclusions on an exhaustive eight month study of all available documents on the saucers, and interviews with Air Force personnel and civil aeronautical experts.

Key Statement Emphasized

Among the key statements listed by the author is the following, from an Air Force report, pointed out to Keyhoe by a leading aircraft designer:

"The possibility that some of the incidents . . . may represent technical developments far in advance of knowledge available to American engineers and scientists has been widely considered . . . observations based on experience with nuclear power plant research in this country label as highly improbable the existence on earth of engines small enough in size and weight to have powered any of the capricious saucers."

Keyhoe writes:

"Sighting of flying disks and rocket shaped aircraft has not been confined to the United States. Both types have been reported all over the globe . . .

"To avoid ridicule, most pilots and observers now make reports privately; these have been averaging 12 a month . . ."

The writer states that the pattern of observation of the "saucers" resembles "well-developed American plans for the exploration of space expected to come to fruition within the next 50 years."

He adds:

"There is reason to believe, however, that some other race of thinking beings is a matter of two and a quarter centuries ahead of us."

Usual Explanations Discounted

Keyhoe states that none of the usual explanations advanced for the recurring phenomena of the flying disks—which reached a peak in July 1947—"will stand up in the important, most highly authenticated cases." He includes in this group such theories as "hoax, hallucination, hypnosis, weather balloons, the planets and optical illusions."

The magazine says also that it accepts the official Air Force statement that the saucers are not a secret U. S. device, being kept from the public.

Approximately 300 reports of saucers have been made to Project Saucer, the U. S. Air Force unit set up to study the phenomena. The magazine quotes Dr. J. A. Hynek, a project astronomer, as saying that 17 per cent have been ascribed to stars, planets and meteorietes. The Air Force, True reports, says that 30 per cent of the disks have been explained, and more probably will be.

However, the magazine says, its investigators were not allowed access to the 1947-48-49 sighting reports of Project Saucer.

A service pilot is quoted as say-

Nation's Capital To Be Dry Not High On New Year's Eve

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26—New Year's eve will find the nation's capital dry instead of high this year.

Washington, D. C., a town reputed to like its whiskey, wine and beer a little more than most, will be as dry as a duck's pompadour when the tumult and the shouting start on midnight Saturday.

If there is any dancing on tables done, it will be done in the dining alcove at home—hardly a showcase for New Year's eve talents.

But if the new year is toasted at all in downtown hotels, bars or restaurants, it will be done with water. Fortunately, the municipal government reports that there is plenty of that on tap for the thirsty

The drouth is due to the inflexible curfew on tippling which prevails in the capital the year 'round.

It strikes punctually at midnight each Saturday, at 2 a.m. every other morning. By then, all glasses and bottles must be off the table, the bar stock is locked up tight as Fort Knox and the waitresses turn into pumpkins.

New Year's eve, of course, falls on Saturday this year so all liquid stimulation must be whisked away from the customers just a few minutes before bedlam is due to break loose.

The only comfort to be derived from the situation is that things will be much worse next year when New Year's eve falls on Sunday. Only beer and a very light sherry wine may be served in Washington on Sunday at any time.

CONGRESS MAY FACE 'MANDATE'

Solons Report Demands For Tax Reduction, Efficiency Growing

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. — "Cut spending, make government more efficient, reduce foreign aid and don't raise taxes!"

That continued today to be the mandate of the people to the second session of the 81st Congress opening Jan. 3.

The desires of the folks back home were disclosed by senators and representatives returning to the capital for the session.

Those wishes were the same ones which congressmen have been relating to the continuing International News Service canvass for several days. They come from Democrats and Republicans alike.

Spending Cut Wanted

From the beginning of the survey reduced federal spending and activation of the Hoover recommendations for more efficient government have topped nearly every legislator's list.

Tapering-off of foreign aid and opposition to more taxes have now moved into undisputed possession of third and fourth places on the congressional hit parade.

Here are the latest reports from the hot stove and cracker barrel:

Sen. Butler (R-Neb), "Nebraska people want less taxes, less federal spending, a farm program with as little control as possible. There is general belief that the Hoover recommendations will save $2 billion. In meetings there always is the question of 'Why not stop or considerably reduce expenditures for foreign aid?"

HST Program Favored

Sen. Thomas (D-Utah): "They want the whole Truman program—that's all I hear. Utah people want health and other welfare programs."

Rep. Arends (R-Ill), assistant GOP House leader: "The farmers are complaining about some of the prices they're getting for their crops and they're worried that government spending and failure to balance the budget may precipitate a depression. They're worried about the welfare state and government interference. They figure we're going too far in our foreign policy, that some foreign governments aren't doing enough on their own behalf."

Rep. Gossett (D-Tex): "Most universal complaint was about the

Stanolind Tests New Discovery

MIDLAND, Dec. 26 (Special)—A flowing discovery from the San Andres-Permian lime has been proven in east-central Lea county, New Mexico, at Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 House.

This project topped the San Andres at 4,270 feet, and drilled to 4,440 feet. It then took a drill-stem test with the packer at 4,263 feet.

Oil Flows At Top

Gas showed at the surface in 12 minutes. Oil started flowing at the top in one hour. The flow was through a one-half inch bottom hole choke.

In the first hour the well produced 43 barrels of pipe line oil. In the second hour the recovery was 22 barrels of oil and in the third hour the petroleum yield was 22.5 barrels.

Operator was to flow the well for another hour and then come out with the tester.

This venture was originally started to drill to 7,200 feet to test into the Drinkard zone of the lower Permian.

Well Near Hobbs

It is six miles southeast of Hobbs and about four miles south and east fo the nearest producers from the San Andres lime in the Hobbs field.

The venture is three-quarters of a mile south of the Stanolind and C. L. Norsworthy, jr., No. 1-U State, the discovery for a small production from the Drinkard zone of the lower Permian, to open the House field.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 11-20s-38s.

French Cabinet Wins Vote On New Budget

PARIS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Premier Georges Bidault's middle-of-the-road cabinet squeaked through a preliminary parliamentary test of its budget today.

By the narrow margin of 302 to 299 the cabinet won legislative approval of voting on receipts before expenditures. This three-vote victory was an even closer shave than the full-dress vote of confidence which the cabinet won 303-297 last Saturday.

The order of voting on the budge is considered a major question and Bidault has threatened to resign if defeated on any important issues.

Before quitting over any important point of difficulty however, the premier is expected to ask for a new vote of confidence. This means that, after a 24-hour delay, his opponents must muster 311 votes—an absolute majority—to throw him out.

If they succeed France may have new elections. The constitution says that if two cabinets are overthrown within 18 months, the second can order new elections without any further authorization.

Heavy Production Of Meat For 1950 Reported By Institute

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (INS)—The American meat packing industry produced more than 22 billion pounds of meat in 1949, including 11 billion pounds of pork.

John F. Krey, chairman of the board of directors of the American Meat institute and president of the Krey Packing Co., St. Louis, announced in a year-end statement for the industry today:

"In fact, the industry has processed this year the largest peacetime supply of hogs on record. Civilian pork consumption during the last three months of 1949 also appears to have been at an all-time high."

Publicity Drive Praised

Krey attributed the record pork production to the campaign by packers, schools, farm organizations and retailers to call public attention to the fact that pork was plentiful. He added:

"Indications are that the plentiful supply of pork will continue and that it will account for most of the seven per cent increase in meat production expected in 1950.

"In 1949, the average person ate 64 pounds of beef, nine pounds of veal, about four pounds of lamb and mutton, and 70 pounds of pork. In 1950, it is estimated consumption per capita will remain about the same for beef, veal, lamb and mutton, and about 76 pounds in the case of pork."

He predicted that the average per capita meat consumption would be about 153 pounds next year as compared to 149 pounds in 1949.

Plentiful Supplies Seen

He predicted more plentiful meat supplies in view of the tremendous supplies of grain and added:

"The present upward trend in cattle numbers is expected to continue; however, it should be remembered that while hog numbers may be increased substantially in a single year, it requires two to three years to raise a beef animal to maturity."

As to the price picture, Krey said that hog prices dropped to OPA levels during the latter part of the year and said that lower livestock prices generally resulted in lower cash income for farmers.

Price Drop Seen

He estimated the income for farmers from the sale of meat animals for the year as $8.25 billion and said it represented almost one-third of the total cash farm income for the year.

He said beef prices fell as much as 22 per cent from their 1949 peak during the year and 35 per cent from the 1948 peak.

He declared that earnings in the meat packing industry dropped sharply between 1947 and 1948 and asserted:

"Because of general price decreases, it is expected that 1949 earnings will be even smaller."

He said, however, that 1950 might be a better year for the industry because of the greater supply of meat and the fact that lower prices will stimulate consumer demand.

Star Explosion Is Reported Seen By Two Astronomers

MOUNT HAMILTON, Calif., Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Lick observatory astronomers today reported the comparatively rare sight of an actual explosion of a star.

The husband and wife team of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Kron of the University of California staff said they saw the explosion which covered an area of about 8,000 miles and caused a temperature increase of 15,000 degrees.

Astronomers reported that usually such explosions are recorded only photographically and records indicate that they have been seen by human eyes only four other times.

Dr. and Mrs. Kron saw the explosion while watching a star through the observatory's 36-inch telescope.

Two Admirals To Open Trip Of Inspection Into South

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (U.P.)—Admiral Forrest P. Sherman and Vice Admiral John Dale Price, chief and vice chief of naval operations, will leave Washington early tomorrow for a three-day inspection tour of southern naval aviation training facilities, it was announced today.

Pensacola will be the first stop. After inspecting that Florida naval air training station, the admirals will fly to Memphis, Tenn., arriving at 6 p. m. They will leave Memphis Wednesday morning for Corpus Christi, arriving at that station at 11 a. m.

The Navy said that Sherman and Price also would visit naval reserve aviation installations in the southern areas.

Solons Hit Secrecy On Senate Salaries

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Two senators have urged public records on all senators' office payrolls. One of them, Morse (R-Ore), thinks the senators also should be required to make sworn statements of their own earnings outside congress.

These proposals, by Morse and Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) were made last weekend. They came in the wake of rumors of congressional "salary kickbacks" and "payroll padding."

Former Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) now is serving a jail term for putting persons on his payroll who did no work and for pocketing salary returns or kickbacks.

A House rule requires that payrolls of representatives be kept available for public inspections. The names and salaries of senators' office staffs also were published up until 1947.

Both Morse and Humphrey told a reporter they were surprised to learn that official secrecy hides the names of persons and amounts of salary for office staffs of the 96 senators.

Morse said he would again press for "at least a public hearing on my bill which certainly would discourage any kickbacks or payroll padding."

He added that he wants every senator to file a sworn statement on the first of each year showing "all his sources of income, from whatever source, and all operations in stock or commodity markets."

Both senators said that all government payrolls should be open for public inspection at all times.

AIR ACADEMY

The Big Question

AGREEMENT seems virtually unanimous as to the need for and desirability of an air academy comparable to those maintained for the army at West Point, N. Y., and for the navy at Annapolis, Md.

About the only question to be settled is the location of the school for the training of air force officers. It is quite a question, with sites proposed in every section of the country.

Actually there shouldn't be much doubt as to several basic advantages of any location considered. It should be at a place where the climate allows a maximum of flight training. It should be in a locality least exposed to attack in the event of war.

About the only area in the United States which fits these standards is the Southwest. None fits the picture better, if as well, than our own South Plains. The chances are that the academy would be located somewhere in this general area if political considerations could be cast aside.

Unfortunately, political expediency is likely to be the decisive factor in determining the site. If that should be the case, the chances of a southwestern location are not encouraging despite natural advantages for such a school which no other region can match.

Vandenberg's Views

ANY opinions Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, may express concerning U. S. foreign relationships are sure to carry much weight with thinking Americans of all political beliefs both in Congress and out.

His recent statement that the American foreign aid program should be reduced sharply next year, therefore, was of significant interest to all taxpayers.

Although a Republican, he has demonstrated repeatedly the capacity to rise above political partisanship in matters involving relationships between this and other nations. He has supported the President's foreign aid policies when nearly all Republican and a good many Democratic members of Congress were disposed to oppose them. But most of them have followed Senator Vandenberg's lead. He unquestionably has saved many of the President's proposals from defeat.

If Senator Vandenberg should insist upon substantial cuts in foreign aid next year, he unquestionably will have strong support both in Congress and among the rank and file of Americans. The chances are that the administration will agree to reductions rather than risk a showdown with the Michigan senator. The outlook is encouraging for American taxpayers who have to pay for the huge aid program.

The Egg Travesty

EGGS continue to be a horrible example of this nation's screwball farm policies. The government has enormous quantities of this product stored in caves, warehouses and other places. Production far exceeds demand. Yet supplies available to American consumers are short and the retail prices are fantastically high.

The conditions are due, of course, to the support price program. It keeps eggs off the retail market except in limited quantities at very high prices. It has done absolutely nothing to discourage excessive production. On the contrary, the high support prices have stimulated this output. And the good, nourishing food represented by the eggs isn't even being used to help feed hungry nations.

Nor are these conditions likely to be improved by the Department of Agriculture announcement that egg support prices are to be reduced slightly and that the cost to consumers "may" be reduced 8 or 10 cents a dozen some time next year. But production will continue to exceed needs, additional surpluses will pile up and prices will remain high.

The whole thing is a travesty which weakens confidence in the entire farm support program. It creates the danger to farmers generally that more deserving supports may be imperiled by public resentment resulting from a policy which enables a comparatively few producers to collect a few extra cents a dozen for their eggs.

Guess You'll Just Have To Learn To Eat Grass, Junior

I Love My Doctor

By EVELYN BARKINS
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

I

BEFORE my marriage, there had been good reason for alarm. The unattached girls giggled and whispered "You know how the fellows are," and obviously, everyone did.

The wiser, but still comparatively immature matrons, breathed, "My dear, you've no idea what passion really is!" and sighed appreciatively.

But, as I told John after we were married. "For heaven's sake, darling, don't people make a big fuss about such a little matter?"

To which he replied facetiously: "What did you expect? An atomic explosion?"

As for our wedding itself, it was inauspicious, complying more with the dictionary definition, rather, rather than the social one. This was true, mostly, because nobody concerned thought we should get married anyway. I was too young (and still in school); John was too poor (intern's pay was $15 per month, plus room, board and uniforms).

Everybody, but John and me, agreed it would be far more sensible to wait. "What for?" asked John, "and why?"

"Well," said mother, carefully looking away, "It's all right for just the two of you. But what if —er—certain accidents happen?"

But John was unmoved. "You forget," he said seriously, "that I am a doctor." Heaven knows that in all the world there is no one more self-consciously The Doctor, than the brand new one.

But mother sniffed. "And you forget," she reminded him ominously, "that you are also a man."

But my father, who never let my mother stand alone, if he could help it, spoke too.

"What will you live on, young man?" he began, and much more.

John and I outlined our plans. In a few weeks he would have completed his hospital internship. Meanwhile, we would live in a furnished room, then find a small apartment, open an office and start growing rich. I would finish up my law course (only two school hours each morning), help him with the nursing and secretarial work, and eventually hang out my own shingle and contribute another large portion of our mutual wealth.

"I can only see," my mother answered angrily, as if there were brass knuckles on her tongue, "that you two are beyond making any sense. Let's discuss this at another time, when you may be more reasonable."

SO we discussed it again and again and again, until to break the deadlock and attain our goal, John and I decided to elope to City Hall.

When we went to get our marriage license, the clerk refused my application because I was under 21.

"What should we do now?" we asked him in dismay.

"Get a birth certificate or a note from your doctor testifying as to your date of birth," he recited by rote, completely oblivious of our plight, and more as if he were ordering: ham sandwich on rye, hold the pickle, no mustard

"Oh, John," I wailed as we walked away, "Now what?"

"Got a certificate at home?" he asked.

I shook my head.

"Well, then who is your family doctor?"

"Out of the city," I answered. My mother always regarded our ability to understand each other's unmatching questions and answers as a sure sign of marital insanity, but John always called it perfect compatibility.

For a long while, three whole minutes, we stood blocking the traffic of other eager aspirants, while reviewing our situation.

"I've really got it," I said. "You're a doctor, John. You write me a note as to my date of birth on your prescription blank and sign it. Then we'll give it to the clerk and get the license."

• • •

THE note written, we reapproached the desk. Without a glance or a word (we could have worn gas masks for all he looked or cared), the clerk handed us the license. To this day John tells our children that he got me by fraud and for some incomprehensible reason, it makes him the Great Lover, and all of them happy.

The wedding ceremony itself, which followed immediately like the check before the dessert routine in Max's Busybee during

See I LOVE MY DOCTOR Page 12

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

A READER in Hollywood sent me her definition of LOVE.

It may be an old one to you—it is new to me.

"Love," she writes, "is a tickling sensation around the heart that you can't scratch."

BRANDEIS

It's as good a defination as any other.

"Who can explain it? Who can tell you why?" sings Ezio Pinza in that lovely "Some Enchanted Evening" song in "South Pacific." "Fools give you reasons, And —Wise Men Never Try," he goes on.

Yes, what IS love?

That is another one of those many questions my precocious little nephew asked me.

"Why do you want to know?" I came back at him.

He explained.

This is Christmas time he said, and everybody is talking about love.

He knows that his Mummy loves him, he told me, because she hugs him and feeds him every day and looks after him "good".

His Daddy loves him, too, because he goes out and works hard every day so that he can buy toys and food and a lot of things.

But what my little nephew can't understand is all that stuff he hears on the radio and sees on television — all that stuff about moonlight and roses and people putting their arms around one another and kissing.

"Kissing is mushy," he declared. "What has that got to do with love?"

Well, I knew I couldn't get by with that old wheeze about his being too young to understand. Kids don't seem to fall for that nowadays.

SO, believe it or not, I told him how he could tell when he was in love.

"When your mummy is awfully nice to you—or your daddy—don't you have a tickling sensation around your heart and, no matter how much you scratch, it won't go away?"

He thought for a minute and then fully agreed with me.

And he even elaborated on my explanation.

"Every time Mummy or Daddy come home with a package around Christmas I get that tickling feeling around my heart. I used to think maybe I was just curious to know if there was another Christmas present for me in that package. But I guess it's love. Ain't it?"

All I could answer was "Please don't say ain't!"

Do you ever get that tickling sensation around YOUR heart?

I am sorry for you if you don't.

It's a wonderful feeling—and it gets more wonderful with every year you ARE in love.

At first, sometimes, it's very painful.

But when love becomes chronic the pain softens into a warm, homey, peaceful feeling.

I have it right now, just thinking how my wife enjoyed the presents I gave her on Christmas morning—and particularly the little poem I wrote to go with them.

I wouldn't scratch it away for anything in the world!

IN CAPITAL POLICY

Too Much Confusion

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: — "How do the Administration at Washington," exclaims M. R. of New York, "expect the average individual, a small business or even a great corporation to manage its affairs properly and plan for tomorrow, in view of the confusion surrounding almost every major domestic and foreign problem today?

TUCKER

"One day a 'White House spokesman' or a Cabinet member takes one side or a question, and next day he is contradicted or repudiated by another 'White House spokesman' or another Cabinet member. Is there any settled policy at Washington on anything? Who is the big boss?"

Answer: Mr. R.'s complaint is understandable because this has been a most confusing year at the Capital. The only explanation is that these are disturbing times both here and abroad, and it is difficult to make a plan today that will not be upset by tomorrow's developments.

As the highest officials admit, they are operating on a day-to-day basis with respect to almost every major problem.

However, referring to specific citations of inconsistencies and contradictions in recent correspondence, I shall try to summarize them briefly, and then give the underlying reasons for the clashes and the confusion.

The answers may not enable an individual or business man to plan his affairs any more definitely or wisely. But they may give some insight into the thinking and operations of the great minds at Washington.

IMPORTS: Marshall Plan: Administrator Paul Hoffman invites Denmark to ship 100,000 pounds of butter to the U. S., but Secretary Brannan uses his emergency power to block these imports. Organized labor also opposes imports designed to improve other nations' dollar and trading position, and there are signs that they have support at the White House.

Answer: The Administration wants to assist foreign countries to sell here, for its whole European and anti-Russian policy is based on that foundation. But it cannot afford to antagonize millions of voting workers and farmers. Mr. Hoffman is a business man. Mr. Brannan is a bread-and-butter politician.

DICTATOR: Foreign Affairs: The U.S. recognizes and lends money to Tito, an avowed Communist and dictator now on the outs with Moscow. It also deals with equally despicable figures like Peron in Argentina.

But we will have nothing to do with Franco of Spain, although our military experts maintain that we will need a foothold there in any war with Russia.

Answer: Secretary Acheson says that we help Tito because his break with Stalin has made him a menace to the whole Communist system inside and outside Russia. He also insists that, financially, Yugoslavia is a "good risk." For the sake of hemispheric solidarity, he says that we must play along with Latin-American governments.

DEFENSE: We do have extremely formal, diplomatic relations with Madrid, Mr. Acheson points out. But the Export-Import Bank and other leading agencies do not regard Franco's backward and undeveloped country as a sound investment. Spain does not match Yugoslavia in natural resources.

Moreover, Mr. Acheson explains that we cannot seem to plan for a military retreat to Spain in event of Russian invasion of Western Europe. That would make the French, Germans, Dutch, Belgians etc. feel that we were deserting them in advance of conflict. They want any defense line fixed at the Elbe or Rhine Rivers.

Domestic politics interfere here, too. The Catholics want friendship with Franco, but many Protestant bodies do not. The Administration is caught in a politico-religious crossfire. French and British labor and socialist groups are also opposed.

MERGER: Domestic Business: Secretary Sawyer says Mr. Truman has told him to temper administration of the anti-trust laws by giving advisory opinions to industry as to its merger possibilities under the statute. But Attorney General says he will continue with trust-busting.

Answer: In his Sawyer memo, Mr. Truman sought to placate large and small business by showing moderation in this field. But when labor and so-called liberals protested, the A. G. rushed to appease them. Here again, Mr. Sawyer is a business man, Mr. McGrath a politician.

CAPITAL: Finances: Federal Reserve Governor McCabe, also Mr. Eccles, say that industry's great need is equity capital for expansion. They say people will not invest in common stock because of the lack of return. But Secretary Snyder continues to insist on cheap money (2½ percent or less) by fixing a minimum return on government securities.

Answer: The terrific size of the public debt forces Mr. Snyder to keep his rates down, even though private industry suffers for lack of capital.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Dec. 27, 1929.)

Gathering around the banquet board in the Lubbock hotel dining room, members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club last night heard a review of achievements of the year 1929 and an outline of the plans of the new year, principal of which is to be the entertainment of the Texas-Oklahoma district convention.

The occasion was the annual installation of officers of the club and ladies night program. Approximately 150 Kiwanians, their wives, and guests were present.

Mayor Harley D. Woods was toastmaster for the affair.

Dean A. H. Leidigh, retiring president, gave a brief review of the accomplishments of the club during the past year, pointing out and praising the factors responsible for the success of the various activities and citing the inabilities of failures to carry responsibilities.

He pointed out that 34 additional members had been added to the club during the year and that three new clubs, Big Sping, Sudan, and Childress had been organized through the work of the local club.

Rotary President J. J. Clements and Mrs. Clements, Lions President C. F. Drexel and Mrs. Drexel, and Mrs. Tom Foster, club welfare worker, were introduced by Mr. Woods as special guests of the evening.

Formula for a sensational court trial: Take one-half sex, one-fourth whiskey, one-fourth money, a pretty woman, a man, and mix well.

No elections are held in the oddnumbered years, but we get a lot of odd things elected in the even-numbered years.

The Supreme Court is now seen as going conservative. It's refreshing to note that there is still something left to conserve

EXTENSION IS UNDER FIRE

Battle Looms Over Rent Curbs

By PETER EDSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Federal Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods has thus far found it necessary to reimpose rent controls in only three out of nearly 200 previously decontrolled areas. They are Americus, Ga.; a part of Somerset County, south of Johnstown, Pa., and Harrodsburg, Ky.

In each case, rents had risen precipitously after the controls had been removed. But it was the local rent control boards that recommended reimposition of ceilings to the federal government, and not the other way around. Two other petitions for reimposition of rent controls have been denied by the federal expediter, because rents had not risen unduly, after ceilings came off.

All these facts are now being kicked around by the real estate lobby in Washington as evidence that rent controls are no longer necessary. National Association of Real Estate Boards has just made a report on a national survey, tending to show that wherever controls have been removed, there have been no skyrocketing rents and no mass evictions—only isolated adjustments to iron out inequities.

El Paso, Amarillo Included

The areas surveyed included Tampa, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Dallas and Spokane in the over 100,000 population class; El Paso, Marion, Ind., Topeka, Salem, Ore., and Amarillo in the 25,000-100,000 class, and a dozen communities in the 10,000-25,000 and under 10,000 class.

As opposed to this view, it is pointed out that there are still some 400 areas remaining under rent control. On the basis of actual rental units, 12,000,000 out of the 14,500,000 houses and apartments under wartime rent ceilings are still under control.

Thus the picture today is that although one-third of the areas have been decontrolled, only one seventh of the actual rental units have been decontrolled. Nobody knows what would happen if all these areas were precipitously decontrolled. Even with limited decontrol, the Bureau of Labor Statistics cost of living rent index has shown a rise of two points —from 119.5 to 121.5—between December, 1948, and October, 1949, the latest figure available.

EXPEDITER Woods has been pushing decontrol as fast as he felt he could. It is surprising, but nonetheless true, that Woods has done more decontrolling than have the cities and states.

Local communities are holding back. No large city has decontrolled. Some six weeks ago, Woods started a movement to decontrol all communities which had 1940 populations of less than 25,000, provided they had no large military installation or no colleges with more students than they could properly house.

To the expediter's surprise, not one of these smaller communities wanted decontrol. So the controls are staying on.

On the state level, Arizona and Utah have removed all rent controls by action of local boards. Nebraska and Texas state legislatures removed all rent controls. Wisconsin has substituted state for federal control. Alabama has passed a law which will remove controls next May. So 43 of the 48 states, plus the District of Columbia, still think rent controls are necessary for a while longer.

Office Lacks Funds

The housing expediter's office has been forced to rush decontrol for a simple lack of money for enforcement. The last session of Congress cut rent control appropriations by a third—roughly $9,000,000. This was done with the distinct understanding that the expediter could come back January and ask for a deficiency appropriation.

This is exactly what Mr. Woods proposes to do when Congress returns January, to the tune of $3,500,000 to $4,000,000. This is the extra amount now estimated as necessary to continue controls through June 30, 1950, the present expiration date.

Whether the new Congrss will extend rent control authority for another year beyond this date is the big question.

THERE is, of course, no denying that new housing construction is gradually catching up with demand. The 1,000,000 new units started this year establishes an all-time record, greater than the 937,000 units begun in 1925. About 35,000 of this year's starts are publicly financed rental units.

Housing Expediter Woods says the safe time to remove all rent controls will be when the new federal rental housing construction program really gets rolling. He estimates this will take "about a year." This would put a cut-off date at approximately Jan. 1, 1951. Extending it to June 30, 1951, would provide a margin of safety.

Real estate interests are prepared to fight any such extension with everything they have, including the killing of all appropriations for rent-control enforcement.

Several of Ecuador's textile mills suffered heavily in the recent earthquake.

NEW PRODUCTION AREA FOR SCURRY OPENED

A new area for production from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian appears to have been opened in Central Scurry county, on the northeast side of the Snyder townsite.

Gene Goff of Midland, and associates, No. 1 Joe Rylander, which had apparently missed the Canyon reef, the pay zone in the nearby North Snyder and Kelley fields, found some sort of production in the top of the Strawn in a drillstem test at 7,175-97 feet.

The tool was open two hours and 40 minutes. There was a blow of air at the surface immediately after the tool was opened.

Gas came to the top in five and one half minutes, and the gas blow continued throughout the remainder of the period. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

When the tool was closed and the packer loosened, the drill pipe started unloading oil, and it was continuing to unload as the tester was being pulled.

No information concerning the actual fluid fill up in the pipe during the test had been received in Midland at the time this report was prepared.

Operator was planning to run casing and make a production test of the section of the Strawn covered by the drillstem test.

This indicated new discovery is 330 feet from north and 1,665.5 feet from east lines of section 124, block 3, H&GN survey.

It failed to find any Canyon reef lime. There was a 12-foot section of lime at 7,056-68 feet, which had a slight show of oil in the samples but it was not sufficient to warrant testing.

DRILLSTEM TESTS RUN IN UNPROVEN AREA

Center of interest the first of the week for oil operators watching developments in unproven areas of Scurry county will be Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Sun Oil company No. 1 Bert Branson, wildcat in Central-West Scurry county, 10 miles west of Snyder.

This venture developed a small amount of free oil in two drillstem tests in a lime in the Pennsylvanian, which some observers think is the Canyon reef, and it has cemented a string of 7-inch casing at the top of that lime formation, at 7,028 feet.

The plug will be drilled early in the week and production tests will be made on the open hole between 7,028 feet and the total depth at 7,090 feet.

The first drillstem test in the lime was at 7,055-70 feet. The tool was open one hour. Gas showed at the surface in 17 minutes. The gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

Recovery was 270 feet of free oil and 240 feet of heavily oil and gass cut drilling mud.

The project then deepened to 7,090 feet and a one hour drillstem test was run with the packer at 7,070 feet.

Recovery was 300 feet of free oil, plus a small amount of oil and gas cut drilling fluid. No signs of formation water were developed in either of the tests.

The exploration is 1,667 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 258, block 97, H&TC survey.

KENT COUNTY TEST HAS NATURAL FLOW

A natural flow of approximately 10 barrels of oil per hour was developed at the Central-South Kent county Canyon lime discovery of Chapman and McFarland No. 1 Cogdell.

The flow was from open hole in the top of the Canyon at 6,800-39 feet. The flow came after the plug had been drilled out of 7-inch casing cemented at 6,800 feet, over the total depth of 6,839 feet.

After the plug had been drilled out operator swabbed for several hours and the well then kicked off and started flowing oil at the top. No formation water was reported in the petroleum.

The 6,800-39 foot interval was to be treated with acid, and after the pay is tested following the injection, it was to be completed and put on production as the opener of a new area for production from the Canyon reef lime.

Top of the Canyon was at 6,796 feet. This new discovery is 467 feet from south and west lines of section 716, block 97, H&TC survey.

That makes it eight miles north and east of the nearest completed producers from the Canyon on the northeast side of the North Snyder field in Central-North Scurry county.

It is 16 miles north of the town of Snyder.

Drilling is to be started at once on Chapman and McFarland No. 2 Cogdell which is to be a one-quarter of a mile due west outpost to the new field opener.

The drillsite will be 2,046 feet from east and 467 feet from south lines of section 716, block 97, H&TC survey. It is projected to go to 8,000 feet, unless it develops commercial production above that point.

Drilling and Exploration Company, Inc., No. 1 Connell, five and one-half miles northwest of the Chapman and McFarland No. 1 Cogdell, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 19, block 5, H&GN survey, was bottomed at 7,210 feet in lower Pennsylvanian lime and shale, and was shut down for orders. An electric log survey had been run.

This project failed in the Canyon and it found a slight show of gas and a little salt water in the Strawn lime, just above the present bottom. It is low, geographically, to the No. 1 Cogdell of Chapman and McFarland.

NEW OPERATIONS TO BE STARTED IN GAINES

Humble Oil & Refining company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start operations at once on a 6,500-foot exploration in extreme Central-West Gaines county, 23 miles west of Seminole, and five miles east of Hobbs, N. M.

The venture will be Humble No. 1 B. B. Bailey, and others. It is located 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the northwest quarter of section 6, block A-10, psl survey.

That puts it one half mile west and one quarter of a mile south of a small discovery from the Clear Fork of the Permian, at Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Nichols, which is now in process of being completed as a pumper from perforated section at 6,390-6,448 feet, in the Clear Fork-Permian lime.

The Mid-Continent wall is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A-10, psl survey

RANDALL COUNTY DRILLING PERMIT IS SOUGHT

M. Z. Dibble of Snyder, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, asking for a permit to start drilling at once on a 6,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Randall county, in the south part of the Texas Panhandle.

It will be 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block 6, I&GN survey. That makes it eight miles northeast of the town of Canyon.

Combination tools will be used. The prospector will be approximately 15 miles south and east of Amarillo.

tremendous amount of government expenditures. My people are fearful we are drifting toward national socialism."

Tax Raise Feared

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex): "The main thing is the proposed tax raise. My constituents are opposed. They are very strong for the Hoover recommendations.

Rep. Auchincloss (R-NJ): "The people were mainly concerned with taxes. They don't want any more. They are worried about the expenses of government. Tremendous demand for implementation of the Hoover report."

(Rep. Mason (R-Ill): "My constituents are concerned with one thing. They are opposed to continuation of European relief aid and they want expenditures and taxes cut down. Vast majority are behind the Hoover report."

Rep. Wilson (D-Tex): "People think it is foolish to operate on a deficit spending basis. They are against civil rights, socialized medicine and federal education because they feel the government will take over the school system."

Federal Aid Wanted

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa): "My people are militant in endorsement of pension plans, want federal aid to education, concerned about taxes. Businessmen show concern about the national debt, but rank and file show little concern."

Rep. Perkins (D-Ky): "My district lists action on federal aid to education as the No. 1 job."

Rep. Scrivner (R-Kans): "Most constituents are concerned with high cost of government and proposed tax increase. Tremendous support for Hoover recommendations. Skepticism over our foreign aid program."

Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla): "I was surprised at the interest in international affairs. The people want to see the budget balanced."

Israeli Parliment Resumes Deliberations In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Dec. 26. (INS) — The Israeli parliament resumed its sessions in Jerusalem today after nearly a year in which Tel Aviv was the meeting place for the Congress of the young state.

Premier David Ben-Gurion ordered the transfer of parliament and other government departments to Jerusalem recently in defiance of a UN General assembly vote to internationalize the city. Israel holds the western half of the city and Jordan troops the other.

The Israeli parliamentary speaker in his inaugural address said he was "honored to open the session in Jerusalem again," and then proceeded with normal business.

Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett is expected to go before the cabinet today with first-hand details of the UN decision. He arrived in Tel Aviv from Lake Success, N. Y., yesterday.

Both Israeli and Arab leaders oppose the UN internationalization aim. Sharett reportedly will tell the cabinet of secret peace talks with Jordan officials who are said to be ready to by-pass the UN. move by making a pact with Israel Year's eve—and he adds that this will save a lot of people a lot of New Year's day headaches.

Hotel, bar and restaurant owners, sobbing bitterly, are withholding their gratitude for this favor.

They say that New Year's eve shapes up as a 100-proof Mickey Finn and they have the headache of the century to prove it.

It just naturally seems as though you can't please all of the people all of the time.

WICHITA, Kan. (U.P.)— Mrs. Ray Miller received a certificate for attending city-county stork classes, although she missed one of the six sessions. Her excuse for absence was accepted: she gave birth to twin girls.

Flying Saucers

ing that project Saucer is being continued because "they've obviously got a hot potato and don't dare drop it."

Air Force experts are quoted as theorizing that the planetary observers have most likely established a space vehicle, which circles Earth in an orbit. From this base, the observation aircraft could be sent down to survey Earth at close range.

Reassuringly, Keyhoe concludes: "There has been no sign of belligerence in any of the saucer cases—except the tragic case of Mantell."

(This is a reference to Capt. Thomas F. Mantell, jr., whose F-51 fighter plane disintegrated on Jan. 7, 1948, after reaching an altitude of 20,000 feet while chasing a disk reported to be 250 feet in diameter.)

The writer adds:

"Even the stoutest believers in the disk do not think any mass invasion from space is possible at this time . . . having survived the impact of the atomic age, we should be able to take the interplanetary age, when it comes, without hysteria."

Sharp Earthquake Smashes Dishes In California Area

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (INS). A sharp earthquake that struck "like an explosion" at dawn today rocked the Inglewood and Westchester sections of Los Angeles.

Police wires were jammed with calls from alarmed residents who reported pictures knocked from the wall, some broken dishes and a few smashed windows. There was no major damage however.

A gas company repair crew rushed to fix a broken pipe that had threatened the area with poison fumes.

Seismographers at California Institute of Technology recorded the quake however, as only a "minor shock of small intensity."

PEACE TREATY TAKES SHAPE

Israel Is Expected To Grant Jordan Corridor To Seacoast

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 26—Reliable informants said today that King Abdullah of Jordan has been assured an outlet to the sea northwest of Gaza in secret negotiations between the Hashemite kingdom and Israel.

These informants said that some obstacles still prevent a full peace treaty between the Arab state and Israel but it is believed they will be cleared away early in 1950.

Arab Split Looms

Authoritative observers believe that the signing of a separate peace pact will drive a deep and permanant wedge between Jordan and the other six Arab states, who suspect King Abdullah of ambitions to become political master of the mid-east by creating a greater Syria.

The UN sources said that the projected treaty, in addition to providing an outlet to the sea above Gaza, envisages the following important points:

1. Israel will grant Abdullah non-sovereign corridor rights across its territory in the Negeb, entitling Jordan to establish a fullfledged transport and communication system utilizing the Mediterranean outlet.

Jordan Given Free Hand

2. Israel washes its hands of the rest of Palestine, which goes to Abdullah and thereby enables the monarch to develop the old city of Jerusalem into a modern capital for Jordan.

3. In consenting to Abdullah's acquisition of the remainder of Palestine, it is to be stipulated in the treaty that Abdullah guarantees that no foreign power will have military bases or special rights in the acquired Palestine territory.

UN and other experts acquainted with the Palestine situation point out that in bestowing corridor rights on Abdullah across the Negeb, Israel in effect is establishing a formidable protective barrier for itself against the ambitions of Egypt.

Egypt May Be Blocked

If Egypt should launch an attack on Israel at any future time, Abdullah's forces would be in the way and no doubt fight to keep the Jordan corridor to the sea intact.

By the same token, Israel gets the advantage in consenting to let Abdullah have all of the remainder of Palestine.

In the first place, most of it outside present Israel-controlled sections is Arab-dominated anyway.

In the second place, the stipulation that foreign powers cannot have military bases in that territory would placate the Soviet Union in that such a provision strikes heavily at British power in the Mid-East.

The stipulation on military bases reportedly is causing grave concern in Britain and up to the present Abdullah has not received the green light on that part of the draft treaty.

UN observers returning to Lake Success from the Holy Land confirmed that Abdullah is as determined as Israel to transform his part of Jerusalem into the seat of government.

Although the world has rarely witnessed two former foes sharing the same city as the seat of government, it is believed at Lake Success that Israel welcomes such an intention on the part of Abdullah in order to bolster its own defiance of UN's decision to rule the holy city as an internationalized enclave.

Grant, New Bride On Short Honeymoon

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. (INS)—Screen stars Cary Grant and Betsy Drake, the latest Hollywood pair to succumb to "elopement fever," were enjoying a brief honeymoon today.

The couple will have to forego any lengthy vacation since Betsy is due to start work on a new picture on Tuesday.

They slipped into Arizona yesterday with not only the blessings but the assistance of their boss—RKO head Howard Hughes.

The millionaire sportsman flew the popular screen players to the desert home of Sterling Hebberd, wealthy Phoenix, Ariz., real estate man, where the wedding ceremony was performed.

Witnesses included Mrs. Hebberd, Will Hinckle, the handsome star's attorney; Col. C. A. Shoop, chief test pilot for Hughes, and Richard Mason, a Phoenix attorney.

After the "I do's," Hughes flew the couple back to Hollywood.

Miss Drake, returning from a successful stage appearance in London, met Grant two years ago on the ship returning them to the United States.

He was instrumental in getting her an acting role and the romance ripened when both were cast in the prophetic picture, "Every Girl Should Be Married."

I Love My Doctor

lunch hour, was distinctly unimpressive. The office we stood in was dark and bare, and smelled like a coat closet full of wet umbrellas, and dirty clothes. The witnesses, brought in out of the hall, were two dark shadows behind me. The justice himself was a short, queer-looking man, with a round shiny bald spot right in the middle of his head that reflected the electric light above him as does a shimmering pool of water. He stammered just enough to be funny, and I giggled.

As the little man began to read, though, the seriousness of the situation overwhelmed me, and just as I was becoming thoroughly frightened, it began to seem unreal instead. It did not appear to be possible that a few words read out of a little, black book by a homely, strange person could actually create the relationship of husband and wife.

I was terrified. This was my wedding. This was for keeps, forever. Tomorrow there was no going back to today, no turning away. I knew that I loved John and that he loved me. But who could tell? Life was something tremendous and terrible before me, indefinable, unyielding and frightening. How could anyone know anything for sure? All the calculated warnings I had heard, all the literary admonitions I had read came home to roost with shattering effects.

Suddenly, I felt the ring on my finger, and we were married. John, in the meantime, had contributed his own piece of individuality to the event. Three times, during the ceremony, whenever the little man paused for breath, John turned and kissed me. "Sorry," he muttered when reproached, "I thought it was all over."

"A v-very unusual w-wedding," the justice said with apparent displeasure, as he pocketed his fee; "that's the trouble with folks today. Don't anybody realize what marriage means any more?"

WE stayed at a near-by small hotel for most of the summer until John finished his internship and we found a place to live. Our room, No. 518, as hotel rooms ordinarily go, was probably as common as orange juice and toast for breakfast. But since I had never been in a hotel room before, my mind must have been subconsciously harboring something out of the motion picture set of "Anthony and Cleopatra," for, at first glance, I was somewhat disappointed. The plain wooden bed, the scratched, anemic looking dresser, the thin, straight rheumatic chair were no balm to my romantic spirit.

I turned to John, expecting to share my disappointment, only to note with surprise that he had never even noticed the room at all. It didn't take me long to realize that while clothes may make the man, furniture certainly doesn't make the honeymoon.

My mother, naturally, had offered us the opportunity to share the family bed and board, until we secured our own apartment.

"It'll save us hotel money," I told John when I repeated the invitation, "and we can probably chisel in on some food as well."

"But?" asked John.

For a minute or two I hesitated. It is difficult in any marriage to be completely honest at all times; in early marriage it is doubly so. The emotion is like a blindfold across the eyes; the shadowy unknown places in each other's characters loom like big, black dangerous craters. I have always been grateful that John and I instinctively chose the direct route.

"It's this way, darling," I said, "Despite all their best intentions, we'll have as much privacy as an office clock near closing time. And legal or not, it'll still be like having a man in my bedroom, and I couldn't feel comfortable with the family probably wondering what was going on. And besides," I finished, "since we aren't having a real honeymoon, I want us to be alone, at least like this."

John sighed with relief and gave me a tremendous hug. "And I was afraid you might want to go," he laughed. "But who wants to be economically sensible?"

So we sent our thanks home, and kept ourselves in 518.

Television Expected To Forge Ahead In Entertainment Field, RCA Head Reveals

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (INS) — David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, predicted today that Americans will own 20 million television receivers at the end of another five years.

He called 1949 the year in which television "shook off its adolescence and came into man's estate" —and began to exert a powerful impact on the entertainment habits of Americans. At present, he said, there are 3,700,000 TV sets in use, as compared with 61 million radio sets.

As for color television, Sarnoff said much experimental work and engineering development will be required before it reaches the present status of black and white transmission. He said RCA's new all-electronic color system, which was demonstrated recently, is regarded as "an important and logical forward step."

Other Advances Cited

In a year-end statement, Sarnoff also listed as important achievements in electronics the advanced development of radar, the introduction of the 45 RPM system of recording, and application of the electron microscope and electronic techniques in the fields of biology and medicine.

In addition, he said new fields of research were opened not only in communications but in science and industry. In this category he mentioned a new electron tube for computing machines which makes it possible to multiply two 12-digit numbers in a hundred millionth of a second.

Another new tube is used in a storage oscilloscope, capable of making visible for a minute miniature atomic "explosions" occurring in a billionth of a second.

Sarnoff said new photo-tubes developed by RCA have made possible a new instrument called a "scintillation counter" which detects and measures atomic and nuclear radiation at a faster rate than the conventional counter.

He also disclosed that the electron microscope is now playing an important part in cancer research and has proved invaluable in the study of viruses, which cause many diseases including influenza and poliomyelitis.

About 100,000 Greek refugees have returned home but 600,000 remain in security centers.
