POSTMASTER FOILS ROBBERS

MEN IN FATAL GAME TELL OF HIDING MONEY

Think "Law" Wasn't Mentioned Until After Slaying of Pair.

Frequent Tilts Between Lawyers Mark Day Favoring Snow's Defense.

By BOB CURRAN

"Stick 'em up, hands over your head, faces to the wall; first man who moves will die."

That was the burden of one statement after another of defense witnesses Friday afternoon at the trial of Doc Snow, charged in grand jury indictment with having murdered W. S. Toney and Marvin Caple in a Kemp City gambling den, September 30.

The defense was constantly insisting through its witnesses that this was the first break before the trouble and that it came prior to any knowledge or announcement that the men in the gambling house had of the presence of "the law."

Not Told of Law

The "stick-'em-up" order, then the shooting, then the stampede, then the return of the men as Belcher and Spiller forced them back and finally and absolutely last, the defense witnesses repeated, the announcement of Smithey that the "law" was there.

District Attorney Jones was just as insistent with his negative question the effect of which was:

"But even though you did not hear Smithey announce the presence of the law before the stick-up order, can you swear that the announcement was not made?"

They couldn't do it. Apparently the state would rest its proof of this big issue in the trial on the fact that state witnesses testified that the warning was given in advance and that the defense witnesses, though they did not hear it, can't swear that it was not said.

Robert Wimmer told the jury that he "never had gambled and didn't even know how." He said he had been there for ten minutes. He explained that he came to the gambling hall to "get a friend." His attention was attracted when two men wearing guns walked into the rear of the gambling hall and said, "hands up." He believed they said, "hands up, high."

Wimmer dropped behind a blackjack table.

Q. "Why did you do that?"

A. "I thought that they were highjackers. I next heard three or four shots."

Q. "What did you see at back of the hall?"

A. "I saw two men fall on the floor. They were directly in front of the men shooting."

Q. "Do you know who did the shooting?"

A. "I could not be sure."

Q. "Did you hear anybody make any statement about 'the law' prior to the shooting?"

A. "No, sir. But I believe I heard that after everything was quiet. Then I heard Smithey tell about the law. Snow said he 'knew what he was doing. He said he knew the law."

Told After Shooting.

On cross-examination by District Attorney Jones, Wimmer said that he heard Smithey tell Doc Snow, after the shooting, that it was "the law." He said he saw Doc Snow just before the shooting with his pistol pointed forward about waist high.

Q. "Did you still continue to look in that direction?"

A. "Yes, sir, I had business there."

And folk in the audience thought of the gun and smiled that Wimmer was right. They couldn't think of any other business more important on such an occasion.

Q. "How many times did Snow fire?"

A. "I could only say positively once. Snow's back was turned to me. After the shooting I saw a lot of

OIL MEN TOLD MEXICO WON'T TAKE HOLDINGS

Pesqueira Assures Institute Retroactive Laws Are Repulsive to Nation.

Asserts Article 27 of Constitution Is Basis of Country's Happiness.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—R. V. Pesqueira, representative in Washington of the provisional government of Mexico, told the American Petroleum Institute here today that his government would "never shame itself by confiscating private property." He spoke at his own request "to correct," he said, statements previously made at the institute by Frederick Kellog, counsel for the Mexican Petroleum corporation.

Questioned by Mr. Kellog as to whether the provisional Mexican government intended to continue "Carranza's confiscatory policy" toward American oil companies with properties in Mexico, Mr. Pesqueira did not commit himself as to the future policy of his government.

Hadn't Answered.

When the Mexican representative concluded his address Mr. Kellogg declared he had "failed to answer any of the points raised by American oil producers with holdings in Mexico who feel themselves aggreived."

Mr. Pesqueira charged that American oil interests in many instances had acquired huge tracts of land by dealing in a questionable way with Mexican government officials. Methods frequently used in acquiring oil concessions, the speaker declared, "stand as a shame to both parties."

During Mr. Pesqueira's remarks and Mr. Kellogg's rejoiner, there was an exchange of personalities framed in more or less diplomatic language.

Defeats Article 27.

Mr. Pesqueira declared that article 27 of the Mexican constitution of 1917, which Mr. Kellogg said was confiscatory in principle, was not retroactive and "can't be considered as such." He objected to the policy of those who are "defaming my government and obstructing steps toward its betterment."

"The Carranza policy toward oil interests might be regarded as a step toward nationalization," Mr. Pesqueira said, "but is not the tendency of the world toward nationalization."

His government, the speaker said, is against the retroactive laws.

People Want It.

Article 27, he declared, is the "tremendous aspiration of the Mexican people embodying all their hopes of happiness." Division of land into smaller tracts for the benefit of a greater number of inhabitants, Mr. Pesqueira said, it is essential to their peace and prosperity.

Other speakers of the afternoon session of the institute meeting were M. L. Requa, vice-president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, who urged the peroleum and automotive industries to help in eliminating fuel waste and Senator Owens of Oklahoma, who discussed the credit situation.

The meeting of the institute closed tonight with a banquet at which all officers and directors of the institute were re-elected.

MARINE DENIES HAITI MURDERS

Long Tells Probers He Killed Only Escaping Bandit.

PORT AU PRINCE, Nov. 19.—Freeman Lang, former American marine, charged with the murder of nine Haitian prisoners, again took the stand today in his own behalf and denied every accusation against him. He frankly admitted, however, killing one bandit chief with a machine gun at Hinche, while the man was attempting to escape. He fired at the bandit from his own front porch, he said.

Lang testified after four native gendlarmes had taken the stand and declared they saw him murder several persons, bringing the number of victims up to nine. Just after beginning his testimony Lang suffered a nervous weeping attack. Taking the stand after Captain Patrick Kelley of the local gendarmarie and the jail sergeant had denied every native charge regarding wholesale murders, Lang declared that he had shot only one prisoner.

"This was a division bandit chief," he said, "who was brought from the jail by a gendarme to my residence for questioning. The bandit chief refused to talk and was ordered rejailed. He tried to escape from the gendarme who fired twice, missing him. I quickly got the machine gun, firing a spurt of bullets and killing him instantly. The report of the occurrence was all right.

Answering an inquiry of Major Dyer, judge advocate, as to whether he applied electric treatment to prisoners, Lang admitted putting coins in a water bucket and offering to give them to the natives if they removed them, while other natives turned on a generator, shocking the prisoners.

Captain Kelley testified he was with Lang the night of the shooting and they inspected the jail together. He swore that Lang had killed no one.

The testimony of the prosecution and defense was conflicting, the defense attempting to discredit the gendarmes, who told stories similar to those given in previous hearings.

LABOR COMBINE TIED UP NATION

Prices Drop, Work Advances From Building Probe in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Disintegration of the contractor-dealer-labor combine forming New York's alleged "building trust," has begun and prices of construction materials have dropped since active warfare against these interests was opened, it was revealed today by witnesses before the joint legislative committee conducting the investigation.

Increased productivity of labor also has been apparent since the investigating committee began exposing one scandal after another and the grand jury started returning indictment, employees testified.

Mingling with these developments came evidence to show a country-wide control of production and prices in marble, cement, limestone and other trades. National associations are throttling these industries, it was alleged.

More than a year ago, Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the investigating committee, declared that if given an opportunity to conduct an inquiry into these "combinations" he could send prices tumbling and today, as his questions brought replies showing his predictions have come true, he seemed the happiest man in the big crowd that jammed the committee's chambers.

Testimony that the cement trade of the entire country is under control of a national association and that there is "a very rock-bound agreement" in the granite and marble industry was given by Hugh White, vice president of the Georgia A. Fuller Construction Company, one of the largest concerns of its kind.

Proceedings of the day also brought forth evidence that a policeman, Stephen Birmingham, was granted six months leave from the police department while he worked under Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council, in the "Compensation Bureau" of the council.

It adds that having signed the pact of the League of Nations, Germany understood she would be admitted to the league and consequently takes part in the allotment of mandates, but that now she no longer considers herself bound by that clause of the treaty.

SWEAR BRITISH RULE IRELAND THROUGH TERROR

Irish Official and U. S. Citizens Describe Conditions to Probe at Capital.

Reprisals Mere Murders; Houses Burned, Liberty Gone, Is Testimony.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19. — From early this morning until this evening the military was busy raiding in all parts of the city. The places raided included the offices of the food emergency committee in the city hall.

Twelve persons were arrested.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—More eye-witness tales of violence in Ireland and accounts of social and economic developments resulting from the efforts for Irish independence were received today by the commission of the committee of one hundred investigating the Irish question. The commission then adjourned over Thanksgiving to resume its inquiry probably the first week in December.

Personal accounts of the killing of citizens and police last September at Balbriggan and the burning and looting of many Irish homes and stores there and at Galway and other Irish towns were related by John Derhani,, town commissioner of Balbriggan, and Americans who toured the country recently, including Mrs. William A. King of Ironton, Ohio, and Mrs. Francis Hackett of New York.

A copy of the report made by the committee from Great Britain, which investigated Ireland recently, was submitted by Paul J. Furnace of New York, representing the Society of Friends.

Rule of Terror.

"Terrorism" was the terms applied by all of today's witnesses to the military rule in Ireland. Mr. Derham said the "black and tan" bayonetted two citizens of Balbriggan and burned 25 houses during a raid in reprisal for the shooting of two officers by unknown persons. He said he was himself beaten with bayonet butts and otherwise maltreated. No compensation, he said, was offered by the British government for property destroyed by the military.

A picture of the military rule maintained with armed lorries and tanks in Cork, Limerick, Dublin and other cities was given by Mrs. King, who said that street shootings were nightly occurrences.

Mr. Hackett said makistrates and civil police had resigned "in shoals" and that the people generally were submitting their civil and other offices to republican courts. Barring only the nominal authority of Dublin Castle he said, there would be little British dominion in Ireland except that of the military forces.

80 Per Cent Sin Fein.

"Eighty per cent of the people are for "Sinn Fein," said Mr. Hackett, who stated that he always had sympathized with the Sinn Fein movement.

The judicial administration of the Sinn Fein officials, the witness stated, includes formal, although secret "trial" of police, constabulary and soluiers charged with killing Irish citizens.

"Responsible Sinn Fein leaders," said Mr. Hackett, "believe that these killings of policemen were an absolute necessary of justice, most of

'THE CITY THAT FAITH BUILT'

Chester, Caught Tries Suicide

WRONG PARKING CAUSES CRASH

Newsboy, Run Down Wagon Driver Is Blamed.

A delivery wagon of the City Laundry Company left standing on the wrong side of Lamar street between Sixth and Seventh, nearly cost the life of Virgil Fletcher, 9, a route carrier of The Wichita Daily Times, late yesterday afternoon.

By its position, the wagon caused H. M. Miller, of Scotland addition, who was driving a Ford maching, to swerve his car far to the left as he turned out of Seventh street into Lamar. The boy, coming from a house where he had delivered a paper, walked into the path of the machine from behind the wagon and was run down.

He was rendered unconscious, and onlookers, among them Assistant County Attorney Wayne Somerville, believed him dead. He was rushed to the Wichita General Hospital, however, and upon being revived was found to have sustained only minor bruises and hurts.

The official, after assisting the lad brought charges of traffic violation in the county court at law against Miller and W. R. Cunningham, driver of the laundry wagon. After an investigation, Mr. Somerville declared:

"There was no occasion for the accident. While several automobiles were parked on the right side of Lamar street, there was plenty of room for the wagon also as the street is wide. The driver plainly was violating the law, and the man in the automobile also was driving on the left side of the street.

"I saw the entire incident and studied the situation closely before bringing any charge."

AGED MAIL MAN SHOT; MOB ON HUNT FOR TRIO

Masked Man Shoots Down Official When "Hands-Up" Is Ignored.

Rangers and Police Seek Battered Ford Carrying Three Men Toward City.

An attempt to loot the postoffice at Charlies, 21 miles from Wichita Falls, early last night ended in the probably fatal shooting of R. F. Allison, 60, the postmaster there, and in a determined man-hunt with lynching as the probable consequence if successful.

Three men, fleeing in a Ford touring car, much battered and in need of water, were being awaited at the Wichita river bridge here by a detachment of police headed by Captain Lindley Humphies early this morning.

Rangers Brady, Laye and Gonzaullas were in Charlies directing the hunt. Two local doctors also were there to attend the postmaster, who was in a critical condition from a bullet through the right lung.

Shot at Door

Allison was shot just after he had turned out the light in the combination postoffice and drug-store over which he presided and was passing with his wife through the front door.

A man, his face covered with a red bandanna handkerchief which had been slitted, had stopped them with the command, "Hands up!"

Allison, believing the scene a joke, poked the robber with his cane. The man then fired and fled. He was traced by foot prints through two fields to the main road where the track was lost.

Watch Through Window

With him, it was believed, were two men whom Allison had seen watching him through rear windows of the postoffice while he was counting the day's receipts of several hundred dollars a few minutes before. This pair had disappeared when the hunt was started.

Despite the darkness, broken only by the feeble glow of the light which they had just extinguished, the postmaster's wife believed a description she gave of her husband's assailant was fairly accurate.

She described him as having grey eyes, about five feet and nine inches tall, weighing about 135 pounds, wearing a dirty white felt hat, dark trousers and a shirt believed probably to be striped.

Stopped Robbery

The unexpected resistance of the postmaster was believed by officers to have forestalled a carefully planned robbery of the postoffice. The town and immediate vicinity is filled with strangers drawn here by the cotton picking season.

Allison had believed the two men he saw watching him from the rear to be cotton pickers. He said he expected no trouble and did not until shot realize that the command to throw up his hands was in earnest.

The postmaster is a cripple. Both legs were broken in a mine accident thirty years ago. He has served as postmaster for 14 years and is intimately known to the whole countryside.

Word of the attempt spread rapidly and hundreds armed with rifles and shot guns hurried into the town and then set out on the trail of the robbers. Feeling was intense. It was thought unlikely even the Rangers' presence could prevent lynching if the men were captured near the town.

fellows who had stampeded for the front door, backed back into the hall. Then I saw two big fellows come in from the front. One of the big fellows was Hancock. He had two big guns."

Q. "Hancock then did not come back until after the other men, Spiller and Belcher, came back?"

A. "Yes, sir."

Didn't See Dodson.

Q. "When was the first time that you heard Smithey?"

A. "After the rush started."

Q. "Where was Frank Dodson?"

A. "I did not see him at that time."

Wimmer denied that he was a friend of Snow; said he had never had a personal conversation with him.

Q. "What did Hancock say after the men came back into the hall?"

A. "He said of Caple, 'poor fellow, he died with his gun cocked.'"

On cross-examination Wimmer admitted that he did not know either Caple or Toney and could not have known whether it was Tony or Caple who was dead.

H. V. Griffin, a farmer living on the Munger ranch west of Wichita Falls, was the next witness. Griffin figured his stay in the gambling hall at five minutes prior to the shooting. Griffin avowed that he, too, had never gambled in his life.

"I was standing two feet from the west side of the door as you enter," he said. "Some men walked in and went to the back end of the room. Then they turned and came back towards the entrance and walked up to a gambling table. The men in front told the players:

"Stick them up, hands over your head and turn your faces to the wall. The first man who moves will die."

Gibson Is Peeved

The trial waited while District Attorney Jones and Attorney George Gibson, who is associated with Heyser in defending Snow, had a tilt. Gibson appeared peeved. He explained to Judge Martin that he had "tried and tried to be as courteous to the state as possible." Mr. Jones was just as insistent on that point. Judge Martin assured the attorneys that things were progressing affably and the incident was closed.

Griffin resumed with the statement that the next thing he knew after the "stick 'em up" order was the shooting. Then Spiller and Belcher came back after the stampede. He heard Smithey tell them who the officers were. Griffin was trying to get out of the hall but he was driven back with the others.

Q. "What did you think had happened when the shooting began?"

A. "That was the first time that I had ever been in anything linke that but I thought they were highjackers. There were several shots fired."

On cross examination Griffin stuck to his story that the "stick-'em-up" order was given and added that he believed they said, "damned quick."

Didn't See Deputies

He insisted that he did not see Spiller and Belcher when the shooting began. He saw them later force the crowd back. He stood pat on his refusal to say that he heard Smithey say to Snow, "Do not shoot, but throw your gun away; it's the law."

A. W. Gressinger, K. M. A. oil field worker, was the next witness. He has worked there for ten months. He had started to walk out of the gambling room when he heard the "stick-'em-up" order. Gressinger walked to the west wall because he "did not want to get in the way of any bullets." In the rush that followed the shooting, he was knocked down. He repeated that he had heard no announcement of the "law" prior to the shooting. He heard somebody called "Pug" say that the "dead man died with his gun cocked."

He said he thought that Toney and Caple were highjackers, that they had no badges or other legal insignia.

On cross examination he said that Toney and Caple were not masked. He said he was sitting four feet from Doc Snow at the outset of the trouble, that he saw Snow get his gun, but did not see him fire it. When he saw Toney and Caple, their guns were over their heads at an angle of about forty-five degrees to the perpendicular line of their bodies.

Bob Sansbury, druggist, testified that a man introduced to him as Caple had borrowed his gun on the night of the shooting. Spiller and Belcher were with Caple then.

Clash Over Faggart

A clash as to admitting the testimony of W. F. Faggart, Kemp City grocer, resulted when Attorney Heyser sought to introduce his statement that a boy ran past his store, which adjoins the gambling house, and said that he had been robbed. The jury was removed. The defense brought out that it wanted to bring out about an armed man whom Joe Hancock searched in the anteroom of the gambling house and from whom the defense claims a gun and some money were taken.

Judge Martin ruled the testimony immaterial to the killing later and hearsay evidence. The defense took exception.

J. F. Deer, an oil employe of Haynes and Cannon, in the K. M. A. field, took the stand. When he heard somebody say "stick 'em up" he didn't comply, but dropped to the floor. He turned around and looked to the rear. Two men, he said, had their pistols drawn. Deer turned away to the side and the firing took place behind him. He thought that there were three or four shots.

Q. "What did you do then?"

A. "I crawled over to the wall and pulled a board loose. Then I got about $100 of my money in the crack."

Q. "Why did you do this?"

A. "I thought the men in the rear were highjackers and I did not want to be robbed."

Q. "Did you try to get your money back later?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "What happened?"

Hancock Interferes

A. "Joe Hancock saw me prying into the wall and he told me to stop. I told him I was trying to get my money back from the crack. He said he'd 'shoot it loose for me if I didn't stop.'"

He related that "Pugs" or Hancock was talking all the time while he was "shaking down the men lined up against the wall." He asserted that "Pugs" shoved men on the outer edges of the line back against the wall with his gun. "Pugs" also added, the witness said, for the information of the men being searched, that "he did not want to kill them." He remembered the same statement of Hancock's that "Caple died with his gun cocked."

G. F. Humphrey, fireman in the K. M. A. oil field, was the next witness. Humphrey was at the dice game when the trouble began. The way he heard the "stic-'em-up" order was touched up with the addition, "not a damned one of you move."

His was the same story as that of the other witnesses—the stick-'em-up order, the shooting, the stampede and the announcement of the "law" later.

Q. "What did you think when the shooting began?"

A. "I thought I was held up. No, I did not think it; I knew it!"

J. S. Griffith, an employe of the Boges-Ard-Haynes-Art oil interests, took the stand. He told substantially the same story. He was emphatic in his denial that he thought that Toney and Caple were officers. They had no badges, he said. Griffith did not know whether the shots came from different directions. He recognized two different gun reports, one that of a small revolver; the other of a larger gun.

He also related that Hancock stopped the former witness from getting his money out of the crack in the wall. But when he was asked if Hancock said that he'd "shoot it loose" for him, he denied hearing that. The witness thought he could pick Belcher out of a crowd.

C. J. Stanley, K.-M.-A. oil field worker, caused another tilt between attorneys. Just before Mr. Heyser finished asking a question, District Attorney Jones rose to his feet.

"I ought to let you stand there for a while," Heyser said as he looked up and smiled.

Jones smiled back. "I know what you are going to feed me," he said. Heyser was certain that Mr. Jones didn't. Judge Martin stopped the discussion.

Backed to Floor.

Stanley said he went to the floor when the firing began.

Q. "What did you do with your money?"

A. "I took it out of my pocket and stuck it in my belt."

"Why did you do that?"

"I thought I was going to be robbed and I wanted to save my money. I thought the men in the back were highjackers."

Stanley said that the "law" told the witness who was trying to get his money out of the crack in the wall, "never mind."

In the third tilt between attorneys, Mr. Gibson began to explain to Judge Martin that the defense had gotton all of its witnesses by summonses to the men who were fined for being in the gambling joint. District Attorney Jones said that if Mr. Gibson was going to testify that he had "better be sworn." Judge Martin ruled the entire matter out of order.

Dr. Kimbrought, a graduate physician, was called to the stand by council for the defense and testified that both Toney and Caple were under the influence of liquor at the time of their death. This statement was substantiated by G. F. Emerson, who was next called to the stand. When asked how he could detect the odor of liquor on the breath of a dead man, he stated that this was not possible but that the odor of corn whiskey was perceptible from the liquid issuing from the man's mouth.

Heard Four Shots.

The first witness for the defense stated that he first became aware of the incident in the gambling house when he heard a shot fired, then a pause and three more shots in quick succession. Dr. Kimbrough said that he ran toward the house and was met by a man with two guns in his hand, whom he said was Deputy Sheriff Atchley. Atchley, he said, called to him to come on in and help, that some highjackers were cornered there.

County Attorney John Davenport, on the stand as witness for the state, testified in substance to that which Deputy Constables Spiller and Belcher stated, that they came to his office in the afternoon, asked him to go with them and that he told them that an important engagement would prevent his going. He said that he did not know the men had gone until after it was all over.

Deputy Sheriff Lee McDonald, the next witness for the state, who was called when it was learned that Sheriff Bob McFall was too ill to appear in court, told of the capture of Snow in a tent on the banks of Red river three days after the shooting. He said that a revolver was removed from under his pillow before he was awakened and told that he was under arrest.

Smith Continues.

Wiley Smith continued his testimony at the opening of court Friday, stating that Belcher used him as a breast protector when the shooting began in the gaming hall. He declared that when he saw Belcher and Spiller first, they were standing together in the doorway of the hall but that after the shooting began he did not see them again until they returned and lined the crowd up to be searched. He further stated that the two officers disappeared before any rush for the door was started.

MAY BE HARDING'S SECRETARY IN CAPITOL

George B. Christian, Jr.

George B. Christian, Jr., for six years secretary to Warren G. Harding, is talked of to go with Harding to the White House in the same capacity. Christian was a Democrat years ago, until there was organied in Marion, O., the "Harding Democrats." Christian was assistant clerk and called the roll of delegates at the Democratic convention that nominated Wilson in 1912.

SWEAR BRITISH RULE IRELAND THROUGH TERROR

them having committeed actual murder."

Conditions in Ireland are "working to massacre," Mr. Hackett said, "and many of the black and tans were ex-convicts and other desperadoes."

"The English are pursuing a policy of oppression and assassination," he continued, "and making no effort to bring to book those guilty among the military forces of lawlessness."

The British policy regarding restitution for property destroyed by the military is to impose assessment on the community where it occurred, the witness said. He added that Sir Arthur Griffith had told him that in September there were about 150,000 troops in Ireland and he estimated the number of police killed within the last few years at about 120.

Before the world war, Mr. Hackett stated, British officials permitted Ulster revolutionists to import arms from Germany without hindrance, but balked with military force attempts at similar importations into southern Ireland.

PROBERS TO ASK SHIPPING BOARD HEADS TO TALK

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Present and former "high officials" of the United States shipping board will be asked to testify before the Walsh congressional committee how investigating the board's affairs, it was indicated today.

During the session today, William Denman of San Francisco, first president of the emergency fleet corporation first activce head of of the shipping board and around whom much of the "wooden ship" controversy of 1917 centered, appeared and volunteered to testify.

He was informed by Chairman Walsh that the committee expected to hear all of the officials. Denman was told the committee would hear him before he returned to the coast.

Curlee to Build Big Country Home

Preparations to build a country home on 20 acres of land south of the Seymour road and adjoining the city limits were made known Friday by Walter Curlee, owner of the land. The statement was made by Mr. Curlee in connection with the announcement that the Curlee home at 1600 Buchanan street, had been sold to T. F. Waggoner for a consideration of $80,000.

The latter residence was only recently completed and is one of the finest properties in the city, covering four lots. The Waggoner residence at 2506 Tenth street, was taken by Mr. Curlee in part payment for the Buchanan street property.

It is the intention of Mr. Curlee to commence the construction of building on the 20-acre tract in the near future. Shade and fruit trees with gardens are provided in the plans for the 20 acres which will be made into a modern country estate.

The decision to sell the city property and construct a country home followed the visit of Mr. Curlee to the Elephant dam district near El Paso. The 20-acre tract will be watered by the irrigation project of this county and it is believed by Mr. Curlee that the irrigation possibilities of this county exceed those of the El Paso section.

NEW YORK LETTER

By Lucy Jeane Price

By LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Election post-mortems are supposed to be about the monotonous occupation as one is ever made to indulge in, and it is rare indeed that any one ever says anything at such a time which lives for a moment in his hearers memories. But one exceedingly—one might say, exceptionally—truthful woman in New York will swear that there can be remarks of the kind that dent deep into one's soul. In spite of the fact that "over thirty" is a recognized description of one's age at the polling places of this entire state, she bravely said "forty-five" in answer to the query on election day and only murmured in her heart a thanksgiving for the secrecy of the ballot and all connected with it. Then the other day she met a neighbor, who has served as a clerk at her polling place. "How well you are looking," chirruped the neighbor. "Do you know if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes I'd never believe that you were 45." I suppose I looked startled," explained the truthful woman," for she went on to explain, "we had the registration books home the other night and were looking over the ages, and as I was telling the lady next door, I nearly fell over when I saw how old you really were."

At last New York has seen the much heralded "Afgar," in which appears the even more-heralded Alice Delysia, who made a hit in her own Paris and a veritable knockout, so to speak, when she crossed the channel and had a chance at London. It is a magnificent production, an extravaganza with even more than the usual elaborateness of scenery and costume that one expects from an extravaganza, and with some exceedingly catchy, although not always—well, Puritanical songs. However Mlle. Delysia has never been booked as a Puritan and probably wouldn't care to be. The costumes by Poiret and are as stunning creations as Poiret has done, for the American stage, at least.

One more famous Fifth Avenue landmark is soon to pass; the most famous of any landmark of recent years. The big red and cream home of the late W. K. Vanderbilt has been sold and a business block will take its place at the corner of the Avenue and Fifty-Second street. It is reported that the price was aroond $3,000,000.

In spite of all that is condemnatory in such a practice, there must, after all, be a certain interest in having two wives—just to learn how different women's temperaments can be! Joseph Stevenson, former army aviator, now behind the bars on the charge of bigamy, is discovering this. After swearing to the complaint against him, Frances Reddy Stevenson, the second wife, has been sent to the hospital suffering from nervous shock; while Ethel Gernhardt Stevenson, wife No. 1, who was, of course, the really deserted one, is visiting the jail and soothing the aviator's feelings with sandwiches and cigarettes.

Spontaneity is a great thing; but there is sometimes difficulty in harnessing it for use. A Sheridan Square restaurant, there in the heart of Greenwich Village, advertises in this wise: "An unspoiled rendezvous where spontaneous entertainment frequently occurs among a talented and distinguished patronage."

Bernard Shaw seems to grow talkier as time goes on. There always was much more conversation than anything else in his plays. But the conversation itself was so rapier-like that it pretty well took the place of action. In his newest play, however, the talk is so overspreading and so all-inclusive that it rather confuses what action remains. "Heartbreak House" is the title, and it has just been produced for the first time anywhere, by the Theater Guild at the Garrick Theater. New York is considerably set up over seeing a Shaw play before London has had a chance at it, and it is interesting, of course. The brilliant and erratic cynic can't be anything else. But it does take too long to say the much that he says, and there are too many interludes between the cases of brilliance.

It's dangerous to swear at a person even in a language foreign to him, or in no language at all. Emanuel Simon, a deaf mute, was arrested the other day for swearing at the street car passengers—with his fingers. Some one caught on that the gestured conversation was not entirely friendly and protested. It made him nervous, he said, to have fingers going at him, that way. Whereupon Emanuel expert in lip-reading, up and punched him. That was also included in the charges against him. But the nimble swearing was the principal indictment. His fingers were still twinkling profanity when he was finally locked in a cell.

Charles L. Crovat, of Bayside, Long Island, has great faith in the love-winning power of having oneself all banged up. He and Emily Drange, a leading dancer of the "Midnight Frolic," and Captain Frank Fitzsimmons, are all recuperating in hospitals as the result of a ride in Fitzsimmon's hydroplane. "We're going to be married now, sure," Mr. Crovat's only comment on the accident. "Miss Drange and I were practically engaged before, but I wasn't dead sure she would marry me. But now it will be all settled." And true to traditions of romance, Miss Drange doesn't deny it.

WILL NOT SURRENDER MAN WHO WAS 'DEAD'

ABILENE, Nov. 19.—Despite reports emanating from El Paso to the contrary, Sheriff W. B. Bingham of Stonewall county, will not surrender P. J. Cochrain, under indictment at Aspermont in connection with the empty grave mystery there, to the New Mexico authorities for trial in that state on a murder charge, Sheriff Bingham declared while here today.

Cochrain must first stand trial in the cases at Aspermont, Sheriff Gingham said. The Stonewall county sheriff held a conference at El Paso Wednesday with Sheriff Baca of Socorro county, New Mexico, in connection with the surrender of Cochrain.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hutson, 2102 Buchanan street, were hosts at a party for the Buchanan street block Thursday evening. In the short session, officers were elected as follows: R. J. Hutson, chairman; Leon Deatherage, secretary, and J. H. Cline, treasurer.

A musical and reading program was also given.

The Buchanan Block association will meet December 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Deatherage.

GIRLS PLEAD GUILTY TO DISTURBING PEACE

Vera McFall and Alpha Gasperson, two young girls of Kemp City, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace Friday before Judge Guy Rogers in county court at law and were fined $5 each. They were arrested Thursday night at Kemp City and brought here by Deputy Sheriff Shouse.

YOUTHS HELD IN THEFT CASE WAIVE

Bert Smith and Oscar Lafferty, two youths who were recently arrested at Burkburnett charged with burglary in connection with the theft of a quantity of cigarettes and cigars and about $60 in cash, from a store there, waived examining trial before Justice R. V. Gwinn Friday and were placed under $750 bond each to await action of the grand jury.

The storm which has been brewing for some time was fast gathering overhead. Mother-in-law—confound all mothers-in-law—was at the bottom of the quarrel.

"Ah, me," sighed the young wife. "The days of chivalry are gone!"

"Chivalry be blowed!" was the husband's heatest retort.

"Yes," continued the now-weeping young wife, "Sir Walter Raleigh laid down his cloak on the ground for Queen Elizabeth to walk on, but you—you get angry simply because poor, dear mother sit down on your hat."

CRIME IN THE UNITED STATES

Raymond D. Fosdick, well known as the head of the Fosdick Commission which did so much during the war to make our army a moral army, the cleanest that ever went to war, as was truthfully said about it, has just issued a volume, entitled "American Police System." In it he says there is "more undisciplined, mischievous force in the United States than in any country of the first rank in the world." Mischievous force is a very mild phrase to comprehend murder, robbery, burglary, automobile stealing, etc., which are the crimes he presents statistically to support the assertion. Just a few comparisons are enough to convince the most skeptical. Probably nobody will question his figures, and so we give them as presented by him. Chicago has more murders than all of England and Wales combined, including London and all other cities. There were six times as many in Chicago as in London, which is three times as large, making the real proportion 18 to 1. There are six times as many in New York as London, which is a far better showing for New York than for Chicago. Glasgow, which is much smaller than Philadelphia, has only one murder to every eight in the latter city, and yet we have been accustomed to look upon the city of brotherly love as a quiet, staid, safe place in which to live. Coming close to home we find that, while St. Louis and Liverpool are about the same size, eleven murders are committed in this city to every one homicide in Liverpool.

Naturally we ask why this is so. It would take a volume to answer. Mr. Fosdick expresses the opinion that the presence in our midst of masses of unassimilated or poorly assimiliated races is largely responsible for this state of affairs. This is a theory that naturally appeals to us. We would be glad, indeed, to shift responsibility to foreigners, though to do so logically we ought to lay the foundation of proving that the lands from which they come have worse conditions than ours. Unfortunately that is just what the statistics do not prove. Nor can we say that we receive as imigrants only the criminally inclined from other lands. A survey of our foreign-born population and what they stand for and have achieved negatives that theory. We have not at hand the statistics of the prison population in the United States, so that the proportion of foreign born and native may be given, but from general knowledge we can state that crimes of violence are not committed much if any more proportionally by immigrants than natives. Names are no standard of judgment, because our nomenclature has been largely foreignized, if that word may be used, for our native-born population. We cannot charge to imigration, not directly at least, responsibility for our excess of crimes of violence.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat. (Rep.)

WAR COST BILLS OF REPUBLIC

More than 6,000 residents of Wichita Falls went over the limits of tax exempted income in 1919. Income tax reports were filed for 1919 by 6,000 persons and each report means an income of more than $1,000 for a single man and $2,000 for a married man.

In the year 1921 a republican congress promises to repeal the excess profits tax and simplify the income tax. But all government officials as well as majority and minority congressional leaders agree that the cost of government until 1925 will run from four to five billion dollars each fiscal year.

Regardless of the party in power, this enormous revenue must be raised. Moreover it may be said that 93 cents of every dollar taken from the pockets of the American taxpayer goes to pay the expense of maintaining the army and navy or the war cost bills of this republic.

American entered the war to prevent wars in future. Americans were in at the death of the central Europe military autocrats. Having rolled up a world debt of $240,000,000,000 the wealth producers of the world should be in a position to enjoy peace for fifty years to come.

They will be kept busy paying the cost of that world war staged by a German kaiser and which led to his dethronement and the destruction of his empire.

"Well," replied the inquiree, "he says he can get it, all right, but it costs five pounds a bottle."

On the Spur of the Moment

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE

It is great to have
A knowledge of the milltary
Such as we possess.
The other day we were
Standing in the lobby
Of a great hotel, waiting
To see a general
Who had come from
Across the big pond.
Finally we were rewarded.
A ponderous person,
With brass buttons
And covered with gold lace
And wearing a visored cap,
Walked toward the door.
We hurried to the clerk
And gave him our card
And asked him to send it
To the general at once.
"General? Har-har!" he replied.
"That's Bill Hicks,
One of our carriage openers,
Going on duty for the day."
We hurried away from there.

We are inclined to take considerable umbrage at the remark of our steamed contemporary, the fat prophet Don Marquis, to the effect that we have to get into our private office with a shoehorn.

As a matter of fact, we have a very wonderful private office. The only room we can compare it with offhand is the main reading room of the Congressional Library at Washington. The furniture is roomy and plentiful and of all kinds—mahogany, rosewood, sandalwood, birch bark, hickory and fumed oak. On the walls of our office, which is known locally as the morgue, we have over 15,000 volumes of the sort of books that people leave lying around newspaper offices—the sort of books that no one ever reads. For instance: "The Immutability of the Cosmos," by Prof. Ignatz Hitemupski; "Bedtime Tales for the Children," "Report on Our Trade with Paraguay in 1876," "The Habits and Customs of the Boll Weevil," etc. There are only four desks in this private office and they accommodate eight or ten people, so it is necessary at times to hang out the "S. R. O." sign, and when company comes we have to entertain them on the fire escape. But if anybody is going to knock our office we prefer to do it ourself. Anyhow, it is the best one we have ever had and the best one we are likely to get in some time, so that settles that.

CONTEST

When I was but a little lad,
My father used to say:
"Be good and then perhaps you may
Be president some day."

I've waited round for quite a spell
To have this thing come true,
But I'm convinced it's just as well
To let the plan fall through.

The more I contemplate the job
And troubles it can find,
I'm glad I'm just a common lob
And have my peace of mind.

We are pleased to note by today's reports that turkeys will be higher this year. This is very satisfactory to us, for it leads us to believe that things are normal in this country. If we should read, for instance, that turkeys would be lower this year or even the same price as last, we would feel that some sort of disaster were impending. Since we were a small lad, we have read every year that turkeys would be higher, and we have held our breath until we have found the report. In good times and bad, in war and in peace, in sickness and in health, turkeys have been reported higher every year, and it has been one condition that we could always depend upon absolutely beyond the slightest peradventure of a doubt. Every year we swear that we will not buy a turkey, and every year we buy one. It is about the only thing that we have done consistently in our life. We have been a bit worried about things lately, but now we are content, for we know all is right with the world. Turkeys will be higher this year.

NO AUTO LICENSE COSTS OWNER $10

J. W. Holt, of Burkburnett, pleaded guilty to the charge of operating an automobile without a license and was fined $10 by Judge Guy Rogers Friday in county court at law.

Holt was arrested with Joseph Ford several days ago at Burkburnett on suspicion and held to await investigation of the theft of an automobile there. The suspicion charge was found unwarranted and later withdrawn.

Ford pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was fined $5.

ACQUIT NEGRESS IN MURDER CASE

Malinda Higgs, negro woman, was acquitted Friday in Seventy-eighth district court of the charge of murder on an instructed verdict from the court. The trial began Thursday before Judge Edgar Scurry.

The woman was charged with the murder in July of Homer McClain, another negro woman.

County Attorney John Davenport, attorney for the prosecution, recommended that the jury be instructed to find the defendant not guilty.

GIRL HELD AND MAN IS SOUGHT

Elizabeth Mohring, a young girl, was arrested here Friday and confined to the county jail pending trial in the county court at law.

It is charged in the complaint filed against her that she had traveled to Missouri and other states from here in company with a man who is now being sought

BUSINESS MEN SEEK GREATER GAS PRECAUTION

Rutber hose connections for gas stoves and the need of flues for all gas stoves were the principal topics of discussion at the weekly luncheon of the business council held Friday noon at the Kempt hotel. The discussion was in line with a report from an inspection of representatives of the National Underwriter s Association which mentioned the increased fire hazard due to the rubber hose connections. The danger to life which has recently been illustrated in the city was also mentioned in the discussion..

J. C. Hunt contended that the ordinance forbidding rubber connections should be enforced at least to the extent of eliminating them in sleeping rooms. A. M. Lewis, local hardware , stated that flues were not necessary either as a precaution against fire or danger to life. In this he was supported by Stanley Field, local architect, who said that contrivances were now being manufactured which automotically shut off the gas when the pressure became low.

A committee consisting of J. C. Hunt, Stanley Field, Herbert Voelcker, A. M. Lewis, and Tom Bergin was appointed to futher investigate the local situation. It is likely that the committee will recommend that a building inspector be appointed as the means of aiding in the solution of the problem.

Better train service to the north is needed, according to W. M. Priddy, who asked that members of the council write railroad officials requesting it. The traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce is now considering the matter and will make recommendations in the near future.

Homer Lowry chairman of the committee on arrangements for the trade dinner to be held here December 4, made a brief report as to the plans made for the occasion. W. J. Daugherty, Nat Inge, and R. A. Day were named on a committee to investigate the practicability of a city ordinance ordering the dimming of lights on machines within the limits and also requiring the burning of tail lights when parked on the city streets. The new traffic ordinance now being formulated by the city council has no provisions for these rules.

Chicago Packers Get Heavy Terms

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Sentences ranging from seven years imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth to six months in the county jail and fines of from $1,000 to $10,000 were imposed on officials and directors of the Consumers Packing Company by Federal Judge Evan A. Evans here today. The defendants were recently convicted of conspiracy to use the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Among those sentenced to Leavenworth are:

A. J. Nessing, former rabbi, who was given three and a half years imprisonment and a fine of $1,500; Edward J. Ader, secretary, who was sentenced to five years on each of thirteen counts, the sentences to run concurrently and to two years on two other counts. He will serve a total of seven years and is also assessed a fine of $10,000.

Eli Pfaelzer, president of the company, who pleaded guilty after the trial was begun, was fined $10,000.

JAPS SEEK PACT WITH U. S OVER NAVAL PROGRAM

TOKIO, Nov. 19.—The suggestion that the Japanese-American negotiations in Washington be extended to cover all subjects affecting the relations of Japan and the United States is made in an article printed today by the Asahi Shimbun of Osaka. In particular it urges the necessity of naval understanding.

The newspapers asserts that American's naval policy is entirely under control of her "naval bureaucrats." It argues that America's present naval policy shows that some of her ambitious men wish to crush Japan before the latters power increases, and it urges the Japanese government to take the initiative toward an understanding which would eliminate naval competition.

The Asahi also advocates that a complete understanding be repeached with China and proposes that the Washington government be invited to publish what it refers to as the Root-Kerensky agreement regarding the Siberian railroad and define the attitude of the United States toward the acquisition of rights and interests in Siberia.

Hunter Battles Crows for Hours

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Attacked by a thousand of crows while duck hunting on the Missouri river near here, M. L. Murray of Salix, killed and wounded more than five hundred of the birds in three hours, using about 200 shotgun shells. The coming darkness gave him an opportunity to escape.

The fight started when Mr. Murray shot at a lone crow and wounded it. The wounded bird cried for help and soon hundreds of others came to its aid. Soon the ground was covered with dead and wounded crows. The remaining birds attacked Murray, striking him with their wings and beaks. When darkness came the hunter was able to retreat to a willow patch and the crows, unable to advance upon him, returned to roost.

Price of Gas Drops to 28c

Gasoline is now selling at 28 cents in practically all filling and service stations in the city, according to information from local retailers Friday. The reduction from 30 cents followed the lead of the Gulf Production company which dropped the retail price two cents at all Gulf stations in the state.

The decrease in the retail price has resulted in similar cut in tank wagon prices of local refineries in some cases. In other cases, according to the retailers, the reduction has come entirely from their profits. Local refineries supply to retailers the major part of the gasoline sold in the city.

The reduction is the second to be made in the city and state within the last month. The Magnolia company four weeks ago cut the price from 32 to 30 cents at all filling stations in the state the decrease being met at once by all other retailers of the product.

BLACK-DRAUGHT AS A PREVENTIVE

When You Begin Feeling Bad With Feverishness, Headache, Cold, or Constipation, Give Your Liver a Tonic —Take Black-Draught

Candler, N. C.—"I don't believe there is a better medicine made than Black-Draught. I have used it and my mother's folks used it for colds, feverishness, headache and deranged liver." This statement recently was made by Mr. C. B. Trull, a well-known farmer on Route 3, this place.

"I have, before now, begun feeling dull, a headache would come on, and I would feel all full of cold and take a few doses of Black-Draught and get all right," adds Mr. Trull.

"Last year my brother had measles, flu and pneumonia. They wired us; I went to Camp Jackson to look him up. Down there different ones were using preventatives. I stayed with him. The only thing I used was Black-Draught. It kept my system cleansed and I kept well and strong.

By keeping your liver and stomach in good order, you stand in little danger of catching serious ills that occasionally spread through town and country.

Get a package of Black-Draught and have it ready for the first symptom of a disordered liver.

FROM THE JUDGES' STAND

Assorting the News From the Sport Realm

When "Strangler" Lewis and Wladek Zbyszko step on the mat in New York November 22, they will start an elimination tournament in quest of a rival worthy to battle Joe Stecher for his championship Every grappler in the country made strenuous efforts last year to wrest the crown from Stecher, but all failed.

As in the previous season all the matches this year will be fought to a finish. This is the only method to place the titanic sport in its proper sphere. The "Strangler" and the Polish Hercules are worthy opponents. Each is possessed of championship calibre and know every move in the sport of giants.

"Hank" Gowdy of Columbus, catcher for the Boston Braves, will make the trip with the Cincinnati Reds when that organization plays a series of games in Cuba. The team will leave shortly and will probably spend a month on the southern island.

Matching of Johnny Murray and Young Andy Chaney, two of the top-notch featherweights in the east, for a ten-round bout at Cleveland, Ohio, November 19, has set the fight colony in Cleveland to talking fight. This pair of mitt wielders battled through eight hard rounds at Philadelphia. They boxed also at Madison Square garden and brought down the house. If they can put up another battle equal to their eastern performances they will have won a home in Cleveland.

Willie Jackson will probably be the young man found battling Benny Leonard in the first lightweight championship match to be held in New York. This is as it should be, for Jackson stands next in line to championship honors. Ever since since Billy Gibson, the manager of Leonard, made the defiant announcement that Leonard was willing, yea, eager, to meet any rival, there has been a dull, leaden silence in that division. In fact, the situation was so deathly that it gave indications that the lightweight class was wiped off the map in one swift sweep.

This doesn't mean that none piped up and said he'd be willing to meet the chamoion. Quite a few chirped their agreeableness to play second part in the slaughter, but all insisted upon a king's ransom as the losing end. Jackson, however, stepped into the breach recently and declared he was willing to swap punches with Mister Leonard. No date was arranged, as Jackson's manager, Doc Bagley, is under the weather and he will attend to the necessary details. In the meantime we'll have to wait development.

Ed Ray and Ted Vardon traveled 40,000 miles and played 26,000 holes during their exhibition golf games in this country. They won fifty and lost 13 matches.

Coach Hurry-Up Yost may retire from football after this fall. He has been actively engaged in coaching since 1879. He's a wealthy coal operator.

The local High school eleven will journey up to Electra today where they will meet the High school of that place. Electra has not suffered defeat this season, and the local squad faces the hardest game of the year. It is thought that a large number of local rooters will accompany the team.

Babe Ruth has been in Cuba with the Giants and has played in fifteen games, receiving $1,000 per game in return. He failed to make a home-run in the fifteen games, though he batted .500 on the trip. Torrientes, the "Black Babe Ruth" on the other hand, hit three home-runs in one game last week, and on a fourth trip to the plate a two-bagger. For this feat, he received $134, which was showered on him as he rounded the bases—and he had to pick it all up.

Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan will fight at Madison Square Garden on December 14. This information comes from authoritative source and the bout between the two heavyweights will be only one of three championship contests which will be decided at the garden between now and December 15. The other two titular contests arranged for are Benny Leonard and Joe Welling on November 26, and one on December 2, between Pete Herman, bantam title holder and Joe Lynch, who has been a contender for some time.

GREENBERG AND JOE PATE WIN SHOOT HONORS

Charles Greenberg won high score and the first prize turkey at the Gun Club Turkey Day Shoot, Friday. He won with 50 hits out of fifty tries. Joe Pate won the second prize turkey with a score of 49. H. R. Paskett and L. S. Mankin tied for third place with a score of 48. The two turkeys for first and second high score were donated by A. G. Deatherage and J. L. Nabb, secretary of the club.

Another feature of the shoot was the good shooting done by W. Newton Maer who used a new gun and made a score of 46, which was considered good because it has been about a year since Mr. Maer participated in trap shooting.

The following scores or "hits," based on fifty shots, were made:

Chas. Greenberg	50 out of 50
Joe Pate	49 out of 50
L. S. Mankin	48 out of 50

C. B. Woods	47 out of 50
Bert Adrian	47 out of 50
A. G. Deatherage	47 out of 50

R. O. Harvey	43 out of 50
Lloyd Weaver	42 out of 50
Lynn Boyd	42 out of 50
Spradling	41 out of 50

The next shoot will be held on Thanksgiving morning, starting promptly at 9 o'clock. This will be another "Turkey Shoot," each member being allowed to use his handicap. Thus far two turkeys have been donated for Thursday's shoot. One is given by H. R. Paskett and the other by L. H. Little of the Winfrey gun store. Two additional trophies will be up for shooting, one, "an unknown trophy" at this time donated by Charles Greenberg and the other a handsome set of silverware donated by C. J. Pate.

A record attendance of both old and new members are expected at Thursday's shoot.

MIKE KELLY WILL MANAGE PHILLIPS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—Terms have been reached with Mike Kelly manager of the pennant winning St. Paul American Association team last year, to be manager of the Phillies, said William F. Baker of the local National League club here today.

"Kelly is in St. Paul arranging his affairs with the American Association club there" he said. "If he can get away, and I have no doubt that he can, he will be our manager next season."

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 19.—Mike Kelly, who has piloted the St. Paul American Association team to two championships in as many years, announced today that he would decide definitely tomorrow whether he would go to Philadelphia as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals next year. Betting Favors Harvard in Yale Contest Today

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 19.—Legions of football followers took possession of New Haven tonight on the eve of the annual Yale-Harvard game. Never in the long history of this gridiron classic has there been such an outpouring of prospective spectators 24 hours before the contest. All day the early arrivals came by train, boat, and motor car.

According to official estimates, fully 78,000 spectators will witness Saturday's contest.

The Harvard squad, consisting of more than 50 players and attendants, arrived shortly after noon and held signal drill and kicking practice in the bowl later in the afternoon.

The Yale squad had its last workout previous to the game on the field before the Crimson clan came out.

Harvard's eleven still ruled favorite in the wagering at odds ranging from 10 to 4, 5 to 3.

Odds Not Justified

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Harvard-Yale game, the last of the great eastern inter-varsity football classics is the outstanding contest of tomorrow's gridiron schedule.

Harvard will enter the contest in the Yale bowl an overwhelming favorite over the home eleven, but the probable playing form the two teams does not warrant odds quoted to a great extent in the past week's showing of Yale against Princeton.

Other leading games of the east: Penn and Columbia, at New York. Dartmouth and Brown at Boston. Colgate at Syracuse. Williams at Amherst.

LEWIS K. O's. BAIHM

Baylor Smashes Way to Victory

WACO, Nov. 19.—Baylor's smashing drives against Howard Payne, proved to be too powerful for the visitors, and Baylor carried away the big end of a 20 to 3 score here this afternoon on Carroll field.

The outstanding play of the game in the last quarter when Blailock, right tackle for the Bears, carried the ball for 45 yards around left end for a touchdown. It was the prettiest fake play seen here this season.

T. C. V. DEFEATS SIMMONS 31-2

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Sensational broken field runs by Rowsen featured T. C. U's. 31 to 2 defeat of Simmons College of Abilene here today. Simmons scored a safety when Rowsen fumbled back of his own goal line and was forced to fall upon the ball. Ryan's line plunging also was a feature. Simmons used a cross back to good effect but fumbles cost them chances to score.

GA.-ALA. CLASH TODAY FEATURE OF ALL SOUTH

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 19.—The football teams of the Universities of Alabama and Georgia meet here tomorrow in a contest expected to determine which one of them shall complete its 1920 season with a clean slate of victories.

Both appear in form that would enable them to take their Thanksgiving games. Each team appears on its record to date to be better perfected than a year ago and in weight they are fairly well matched. Odds here are on Georgia this year.

Centre College plays Virginia Poly in Louisville, and Washington Lee meets Georgetown University in Washington in the other two big games of the day which finds Auburn, Georgia Tech, Virginia Military Institute and many of the other more important elevens resting up for the Thanksgiving day battles. Centre has turned down, because of factulty objection, a challenge from V. M. I. for a post season contest.

ILLINOIS AND OHIO STATE TO FIGHT FOR FLAG

CHICAGO, Nov. 19—The Western Conference will close its 1920 football season tomorrow with every team in action and six elevens fighting for the first four places in the team standing.

Illinois and Ohio State, champion and runner-up, respectively, in 1919, again will meet to decide the championship. Ohio State, in first place with an undefeated record and victories over Wisconsin, Michigan, Chicago and Purdue, was expected to be a slight favorite over the Illinois team, which lost to Wisconsin.

Ohio State by winning tomorrow would have a clean slate, while Illinois, if victorious, would possess a record of five victories and one defeat against a mark of four and one for the Buckeyes.

Wisconsin meets Chicago here.

Michigan battles with the last place Minnesota elevens, Indiana meets Perdue, Northwestern plays Notre Dame at Evanston, Iowa plays the Ames Aggies at Ames, and Nebraska will meet the Michigan Aggies at Lincoln.

URBANA, Ills., Nov. 19.—Illinois and Ohio State football elevens will fight it out here tomorrow for the championship of the western conference with the two teams, which fought the title deciding contest in 1919 apparently on even terms.

Thousands of football followers were here tonight and with every ticket for the game sold, the largest crowds in Illinois football history was expected to attend the contest. Cold weather was predicted fog tomorrow.

The records of the two elevens apparently show a slight advantage for Ohio State through its 13 to 7 victory over Wisconsin which defeated Illinois 14 to 9.

MORE THAN 100 HIGH STUDENTS GO WITH TEAM

More than 100, possibly 150 High school students, will accompany the Wichita Falls eleven to Electra Saturday when the locals will invade on its home grounds one of the strongest gridiron aggregations in the Panhandle.

A pep meeting was held at High school Friday to bring the rooting spirit and support of the students to a high pitch. Phillip Pink, yell-leader, was all agog. His arms were flying, he was shouting something like this:

"Eyes like a tiger, teeth like a saw, "Wichita, Wichita, Rah, Rah, Rah."

And the students trailed all along, all along to the same old cry. Captain Wilson, Cornelius Chewning, Vi-ron Norris and Coach Cantwell made pep speeches. Ebon Keith spoke. Margarite Fisher gave a reading.

Electra has not been defeated. It has won over teams that Wichita Falls has also defeated, but by much larger scores. Coach Cantwell's men are declared, however, to be in much better condition than in any other game this season. They insist that "you never can tell until the game is over."

The local eleven and their followers will leave here at 1:15 o'clock Saturday for Electra. The game starts at 3:30 o'clock.

The tentative line-up for Wichita Falls is: Keevil, lf; Waggoner, lt; Walker, lg; Haney, c; Harper, rg; Talbot, rt; Jordan re; A. Chewning, qb Moore, lh; G. Kenley, rh; Wilson, fb.

Substitutes are R. Kenley, Cook, Benson, Beatty, Norris, Calvert, Cauble and Kizziar.

COTTON GOES STILL LOWER IN NERVOUS WEEK

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—The cotton market has been extremely weak and unsettled with all deliveries making new low records for the season during the past week. Reports of increased spot offering or liquidation of spot holdings in the south were much in evidence, particularly toward the end of the week when January contracts here sold off to 15.35. This decline has been accompanied by continued depression of business. Less favorable weather condition in the belt have atracted little attention, while unsettled foreign exchanges, rate, increase mill curtailments and weakness in Liverpool have abated the declines.

The census report on supply and distribution for October showed domestic mill consumption of only 399,837 bales against 556,041 last year and local traders expect that the figures for November will make a still more unfavorable comparison.

On the basis of the percentage of the crop ginned to the middle of November during previous years local statisticians says present figures do not point to a yield of over 11,900,000 bales, but recent trade estimate however, run 12,000,000 bales, excluding linters.

GRAIN CRASHES TO OLD PRE-WAR PRICE LEVELS

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Pre-war prices made their first appearance today in the grain market. Corn and oats were sacrificed wholesale in the trading pits until both cereals were squarely on an ante-bellum basis of value. Transactions in wheat were also greatly reduced in price.

Unsettled general business conditions furnished the background and large supplies of feed stuffs were said to be in sight with livestock being rushed to market instead of being held on farms, according to reports.

Wheat showed itself the most sensitive of any board of trade commodity and stopped falling only after having broken 9 3-4 cents a bushel.

Bear leaders conceded that farmers were to a large degree successfully maintaining a holding policy as to wheat, but took the ground that the wheat must be sold some time, and that in the meantime Canada was supplying the urgent demand in this country and was furthermore glutting United States markets with cattle as well.

WOOL PRICES DOWN ALL OVER WORLD

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"Business in wool in the American markets this week has been less active although there has been some business in a moderate way. Prices are showing a tendency downward all over the world. Australian cables indicate a lower tendency and the same is true in South Africa and South America, while London has ruled dull and irregular.

"The goods market is still dull and unsettled, although the announced cuts in prices by the wholesale clothiers is taken as a good omen. Talk of an early tariff action is also encouraging the trade somewhat."

DUN'S FORECAST SEES BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Dunn's tomorrow will say:

"Changes have appeared for the better in business. The improvement is noticeable in all quarters, but some of the indications are more favorable than in recent weeks. Sentiment among semi-interests has strengthened even with appreciable gain in activity, and the encouragement in the outlook is being rather more freely stressed.

"While immediate commercial revival is not expected, sounder conditions in the future are foreshadowed and a long range view of the situation wives rise to confident hopes. With lower temperatures in most sections, demand for seasonable goods has moderately increased, and offerings of merchandise at lower prices seem to be meeting with a somewhat broader response.

"At the best, however, the buyinx is still conservative and restricted and curtailment of production through lack of new orders has not yet ceased. Weekly bank clearings $7,976,830,036."

RESERVE BANKS CAN CASH OTHERS' CHECK

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—Federal reserve banks can collect checks at par over the counters of non-member banks, United States Circuit Judges Walker and Bryan, and District Judge Grubb, sitting as a United States circuit court of appeals, declared here today when they affirmed the decision of the northern district court of Georgia in the case of the American Bank and Trust Company of Cordele, Ga., and other banks of Georgia against the federal reserve bank of Atlanta.

It also was held that Federal courts are the only courts in which cases affecting federal reserve banks can be brought.

More than 200 banks throughout the south were affected by the decision, it was said. Similar action is pending in numerous other circuits.

HOOVER POINTS WAY TO STEADY U. S. INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Three sources of waste in production and means of combatting each were outlined by Herbert Hoover tonight in an address before the Federated American Engineering societies, speaking as president-elect of the organization.

Intermittent employment, unemployment that arises in shifting industrial currents and strikes and lockouts were the causes he mentiontl.

Intermittent employment, the former food administrator said, might be eliminated, at least in part, by co-ordination of economic groups, the various industries working together to aid each other. Using the bituminous coal industry as an example he said the bad economic functioning could be remedied through concerted effort of co-operation of the coal miners, the railways and the great consumers to prevent alternate demand and shortage.

Co-ordination Impossible

Present necessary legislation against combinations, he added, makes co-ordination impossible, but he suggested that there be developed" some method of governmental interest, not in governmental ownership, but in stimulation."

Loss of production, incident to shifting of workers, because of seasonal and short period operation in industry, Mr. Hoover told the engineers, could be lessened by the expansion and better organization of local and federal labor exchanges.

"Unless such machinery is provided" he said, the individual worker "is helpless to find the contract necessary to man this shift."

Strikes and lockouts would be materially lessened by the universal acceptance and use of collective bargaining, Mr. Hoover declared, adding that he was confident that this could be worked out along the lines laid down by the president's second industrial conference of which he was a member.

Reaping Time Here

Mr. Hoover then issued a warning, saying "we have past passed through a period of unparalleled speculation, extravaganee and waste. We shall now not only reap its inevitable harvest of unemployment and readjustment, but we shall feel the real effect of four years of world destruction and from its economic and social problems will stand outtsin vivid disputation."

Other suggestions made by Mr. Hoover to clarify the labor situation include the establishment of two or three levels of wages in each trade, the position of each man in such a scale to be based upon comparative skill and character.

This, he said would revive self-interest and initiative. He also advocated extension of the shop committee system.

W. E. D. Stokes has sold Peter Volo, world's champion trotting colt, to Walnut Hill farm for breeding purposes, it was announced recently. The price was not made public, but it was said to have been "about" $50,000. Peter Volo was a champion yearling, set brilliant marks as a 2 and 3 year old, and as a 4 year old made the world's record of 2:03.
