Iditarod winner

Butcher

NOME, Alaska — Rick Swenson overcame a whiteout and four-time winner Susan Butcher to win the 1,163-mile Iditarod Trail Sled Dog Race on Friday for a record fifth time. He completed the race at 1:34 a.m., with an official time of 12 days, 16 hours, 34 minutes and 39 seconds.

Behind the times

NEW YORK — The war is over? It's news to Spy magazine, which just put out its April issue with a cover story discussing how "victory remains undeclared" in the Persian Gulf. "We didn't assume the war would be over as quickly as it was," said editor Susan Morrison.

The time lapse between the delivery of the April issue to the printer and the end of the war was responsible for the mix-up. But here's what Spy's readers read in the current issue: "Uh-oh. A spring war was not part of the plan. Now Ramadan is under way, buds are on the trees, mid-season replacements are on TV, and still, 100,000 sorties and a fair number of U.S.-bound human-remains pouches later, victory remains undeclared. Colin Powell's face seems not quite so fresh anymore."

Does crime pay?

ANN ARBOR, Mich.— Whoever said crime doesn't pay probably didn't get enough money, says G. Gordon Liddy, who spent 4½ years in prison for his role in the 1972 Watergate break-in. "Obviously crime pays or there would be no crime," Liddy said at a book signing Wednesday for his latest spy novel, "The Monkey Handlers." More than 50 people lined up for autographed copies at the Michigan League on the University of Michigan campus.

Troops move back

Red Cross turns over Iraqi POWs

Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Some American troops have returned to positions deep inside Iraq, but a senior U.S. military official denied Friday that the move was intended to pressure Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

Marine Brig. Gen. Richard I. Neal insisted that the military had moved soldiers back to their most advanced positions in the Euphrates River valley only to be sure they could control the area pending a formal cease-fire agreement.

Also Friday, 499 Iraqi prisoners of war were driven in buses into their homeland from an isolated Saudi border crossing. A lone soldier changed his mind at the last minute and refused to go home.

In other developments related to the Gulf War:

■ Three U.S. soldiers were awarded the Silver Star for bravery in a ceremony in Kuwait City. They are the first Americans to be so honored in the gulf war.

■ The Kuwaiti government temporarily stopped issuing entry visas to journalists, saying there were too many in the emirate for its meager resources to handle.

The report about troop movements in Iraq came first in Friday's editions of the Los Angeles Times, which quoted Neal as saying: "The purpose is to maintain a presence until the cease-fire is agreed to."

The Times said the troops — elements of the 101st Airborne and the 1st Cavalry Army divisions — were intended to send a signal to Saddam to sign a permanent cease-fire agreement.

But in an interview with The Associated Press, Neal insisted that was not the case. "There are other ways to send signals," he said.

He said the Army divisions had reoccupied positions they'd taken by the time the war ended on Feb. 28 in order to maintain troops on the ground rather than attempt to cover the area by helicopter reconnaissance.

Gary Glass of the Midland Fire Department examines a car that struck a Town & Country convenience store, 7100 W. Highway 80, in Midland Friday afternoon. Nationwide probe spurred by indictments

■ Thornburgh calls for investigation into other claims of police brutality.

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — An indictment unsealed Friday charged four lawmen with beating a black motorist in an assault that was documented on videotape and has spurred a federal probe of police brutality nationwide.

"It is a terrible moment and time for reflection when officers sworn to uphold the law are indicted for these most serious felonies," District Attorney Ira Reiner said.

There was no immediate comment from Police Chief Daryl F. Gates, who has been under growing pressure to resign because of the beating, which minority communities claim is evidence of racism within the Police Department.

The indictment charged Sgt. Stacey Koon, 40, and Officers Laurence Powell, 28, Timothy Wind, 30, and Theodore Briseno, 38, with felonies in the March 3 attack on Rodney G. King, 25, of Altadena.

The Los Angeles County grand jury returned the indictment late Thursday after four days of testimony on the beating, which broke King's skull in nine places.

The policemen surrendered to the district attorney's office and were placed under arrest, photographed and fingerprinted. Koon,

Krueger to push for strong energy policy

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Railroad Commission Chairman Bob Krueger said Friday he will push for a strong national energy policy to prevent a repeat of Operation Desert Storm.

Americans died in the Persian Gulf war to protect the U.S. oil supply, Krueger said.

"As one person said, if Kuwait had been producing broccoli instead of oil, it is doubtful we would have been there," he said.

Congress should adopt an energy policy that increases domestic production, makes the United States more independent, and stabilizes prices, Krueger said.

"If oil is worth dying for in the Middle East, it's certainly worth drilling for in Texas," he said.

Krueger said he will testify next week before the U.S. Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. He is proposing:

■ An oil import fee that would result in a floor price of $20 per barrel for domestic oil.

■ More use of natural gas, including its use as an alternative vehicle fuel.

■ An emphasis on developing new technology to enhance oil recovery and protect the environment.

President Bush has endorsed an energy strategy that rejects the idea of an oil import fee, saying the levy would produce net losses for the national economy and transfer wealth from oil-consuming states to oil-producing states, Krueger said.

The potential for conflict between states exists, Krueger said. But he added that the United States should look for a policy that would best serve national interests.

"Texas, after all sent more people to the Middle East than any other state, and nobody said, you know, we were taking more than our share," he said.

Krueger said his proposal would benefit the Texas economy.

He said a floor price of $20 a barrel for oil would double the number of rigs in the United States that are exploring for oil, currently 900. It also would give consumers fair and predictable prices, he said.

The Railroad Commission regulates oil, gas and transportation in Texas.

Council awards Wadley drainage project contract

By Allen E. Howland
Assistant City Editor

A Phoenix, Ariz., contractor unanimously was awarded the nearly $1.5 million contract to improve drainage along Wadley Avenue between Godfrey and Whitney streets, by the City Council in a special session Friday.

A tentative start date of April 8 has been set by the city and Gilbert Texas Construction Corp. on the project to replace the existing 36-inch diameter storm drain with intakes only at intersections with a 54-inch drain with intakes along the entire eight blocks of the street.

Merchants and residents in the affected area will have a chance to learn about the scheduled construction in a public information meeting set for 7 p.m.

Ex-teacher files for board

By Myra Lee Salcedo
Staff Writer

Gary Willis, 39, a businessman and former educator, wants to bring his knowledge of both worlds to the Midland school board.

Willis

Willis filed to run for the District 6 position — held by Larry Rusk — Friday. He will be vying for the seat with Jerry Weant, who filed Thursday.

"The next three years will be real critical," Willis said. "A lot of things will be happening to affect Texas public schools. I can offer something to the community with a combination of both business and education experience."

Willis acknowledged that serving on the school board is "a significant time commitment."

"My family will be most impacted," he said. "Serving on the school board is essentially a part-time job with no pay. Over three years, I would expect to work 10-12 hours per week."

Willis said he is committed to "focusing on education."

"I voted for the last bond issue and I will vote for whatever package the school board puts on the ballot, however they put it on the ballot," he said. "We need those facilities. I think people in District 6 are for the bond issue as well."

The prospective board member noted, "This is my opinion. It's not the district's opinion."

Willis said, if elected, he would make it a priority to keep members of his district informed.

"The members of the public don't have the time to keep informed," he said. "They must really rely on representatives to inform them on issues, especially issues they are expected to vote on."

He said "availability" is the key word to keeping constituents informed. "I would attend district school functions and PTA meetings."

Willis said he would like to see the Rebel flag issue resolved be-

Cloudy skies forecast

Staff Report

The National Weather Service forecast for today calls for mostly cloudy skies, with a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms and a high between 60 and 65 degrees. Winds will be from the south at 10 to 20 mph and gusty, becoming westerly in the afternoon and increasing to 20 to 25 mph under clearing skies.

Tonight will be mostly clear, with a low in the mid 30s.

Sunday is expected to be mostly sunny, with a high in the mid 60s.

Friday's high was 70, compared to the date's record of 88 set in 1974. Friday's low was 37. The record low for today's date is 23 degrees, set in 1947.

STATE

An upper-level disturbance moved across Texas on Friday, triggering showers, thunderstorms and cooler temperatures.

Precipitation dampened much of the state, with showers from the Red River to the Rio Grande.

Skies were mostly cloudy because of the rain.

Readings were in the 50s and low 60s from Wichita Falls to Abilene but in the mid and upper 40s in the cloudy and rainy areas east of the line. South Texas had highs in the 70s.

Forecasters expected clouds and rain to continue statewide Saturday with highs generally in the 50s and 60s but 70s in South Texas. A few severe thunderstorms were likely in the southeast. A winter storm watch was posted for the northern Panhandle Saturday night.

NATION

Rain and snow hit the Northeast on Friday, bringing a record March snowfall in Pennsylvania. Another late-winter storm pushed across the Southwest, dumping snow in Southern California.

The one-two storm punch affecting most of the nation showed no sign of weakening overnight, with weather warnings posted from Maine to the Hawaiian Islands.

Eastern Seaboard snowfall ranged from 11 inches at higher elevations in Pennsylvania to 2 inches at Islip Airport in New York. In the West, more than 1 foot accumulated atop Mount Charleston, Nev.

Flakes fell as low as 1,000 feet in central California and ski resort areas to the southeast reported 6 inches. Snow also fell in parts of New Jersey, New England, Utah, Arizona, Colorado and Montana.

Snowfall 6½ inches deep at Williamsport, Pa., set a record for the date, beating the old March 15 mark of just over 3½ inches in 1975.

Half-inch hailstones fell in Needles, Calif.

Rain fell across much of the nation, including most states that got snow, as well as Florida, Texas and Kansas. More than 1 inch deluged Key West, Fla.

By afternoon, temperatures were in the 30s and 40s across much of the nation, with 50s and 60s in the Southwestern deserts. South Florida had highs in the 80s.

The Associated Press also contributed to this report.

POLICE: Officers surrender to DA

(From 1A)

Powell and Wind posted $30,000 bond each. Briseno posted $5,000 bond.

King's attorneys, Steve Lerman and Robert D. Rentzer, were pleased with the indictments.

"Although the family wishes privacy, I am sure attorney Lerman and I speak for them in saying they thank the Lord for sparing Rodney, they thank the public for their concern and support and they thank the grand jury for their dedication to justice," said Rentzer.

He said he hoped other officers involved in the beating would be punished.

At least 11 other police officers were reported to have been at the scene as King was clubbed more than 50 times, stomped and shocked with a stun gun.

A neighborhood resident captured the beating on videotape. Reiner said he asked FBI help in enhancing the tape, which was broadcast on news programs, triggering a national outcry.

"The conduct of those officers on that scene that night is the most reprehensible thing that I've seen occur in this city. And I think that we are now on the road to bringing to justice those who committed the illegal acts," Mayor Tom Bradley told reporters after the indictment was unsealed.

In Washington, Attorney General Dick Thornburgh on Thursday ordered the Civil Rights Division to broaden an inquiry into the Los Angeles beating to look for any patterns in all police brutality complaints over the last six years.

Shortly after the indictments were announced, the four officers appeared in a jammed courtroom where they stood and heard Superior Court Judge Gary Klausner read the charges against them.

Defense attorneys said they weren't prepared to enter pleas. Over a prosecutor's protest, the judge agreed to a postponement and scheduled a March 22 hearing. Klausner also gave the officers time to post bail and be released without being jailed.

The indictment charges all four with one count of assault with a deadly weapon by force likely to produce great bodily injury. Koon, Powell and Wind also were charged with inflicting great bodily injury.

The four also were charged with violating laws that make it a felony for an officer to unnecessarily beat any person. Koon and Powell were charged with filing a false police report, and Koon was charged with being an accessory after the fact to the assault.

Reiner said Koon attempted to cover up his own criminal conduct and that of the other officers after the beating.

He said the indictment of the four doesn't clear other officers present at the beating, which occurred when King was stopped for allegedly speeding.

Reiner said investigators continue to gather evidence about the others and will go to the grand jury next week for more possible indictments.

"Rather than wait until the investigation is complete as to all officers who were present at the scene of the crime, we have asked for immediate indictments of the four officers who personally assaulted Mr. King, including the supervising sergeant," the district attorney said.

If convicted, Koon and Powell could be sentenced to a maximum of seven years and eight months in state prison. Wind faces a possible seven-year maximum and Briseno a possible four-year term.

"I'm glad that some indictments have come down, but I think we have to be careful," said Ramona Ripston, the Southern California executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union.

"I believe this is a product of racism and as time goes on we will find out there were racist remarks made by these officers," Ripston said.

GULF: Troops move back inside Iraq

(From 1A)

Officers had initially thought they could cover the northern area well enough by helicopter, Neal said. But when Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, commander of U.S. forces in the war, learned what they had done, he ordered the troops back.

"He said, 'No, I want you on the ground up there, not covering it by flying over it periodically,'" Neal said. He said Schwarzkopf "wanted them at those positions that they were at prior to the cessation of hostilities."

President Bush has said U.S.-led allied troops, who control 20 percent of Iraq's territory following the Gulf War, "are not going to be — all of them — out of there until there's a cease-fire, a formalized cease-fire."

The Red Cross handed over the 499 Iraqi prisoners to Iraqi officials after a four-day delay that a Western source attributed to chaos in Iraq, although Baghdad said its army needed the time to clear mines from the road.

A 500th POW refused repatriation at the last minute. "Some people, for personal reasons, don't want to go back," said Pascal Daudin, a spokesman for the International Committee of the Red Cross in Riyadh.

Daudin said that just before the 12 Red Cross-chartered buses were to drive into Iraq with the POWs, the prisoner refused to return and was later taken back to a Saudi camp.

There has been concern that many of the 60,000 Iraqis captured by the allies might refuse repatriation for fear of reprisals by their government.

The handover took place at the Saudi-Iraq border near the Saudi desert town of Arar, 650 miles northwest of Dhahran, Daudin said. The Red Cross rented a dozen Jordanian buses to take the prisoners home.

About 900 Iraqi POWs had been repatriated earlier. In Geneva, a Red Cross spokesman said he expects an additional 1,000 Iraq prisoners to be sent home next week.

The repatriation of POWs was one condition set by the allies for a permanent cease-fire.

A search team located the site of an American medical evacuation helicopter that crashed in Iraq, killing six crewmen, a military spokesman reported Friday.

Rebels say nearly 2,000 troops of Republican Guard surrender

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Shiite Muslim rebels claimed Friday that about 2,000 troops of Iraq's Republican Guard surrendered to them near the city of Basra in southern Iraq.

In northern Iraq, where Kurdish rebels claim to have captured large expanses of territory, fierce fighting persisted near the cities of Mosul and Kirkuk, according to Kurdish spokesmen and the government radio in Iran.

Iraqi radio, meanwhile, said President Saddam Hussein would give "an important, historic address" over national television Saturday at 6 p.m. (9 a.m. CST). It did not elaborate.

It would be Saddam's first televised address since Feb. 26, when he announced he would pull his troops out of Kuwait to achieve a cease-fire with the U.S.-led military force in the Persian Gulf.

Rebel spokesmen maintained their forces north and south were making headway against the Iraqi army. It was not possible to verify any of the claims because Western reporters have been unable to reach the scenes of the fighting.

Rebel reports said Shiite and Kurdish forces captured 19 tanks from Baghdad government troops in the battlefields along the Iranian and Turkish borders and that fleeing Iraqi troops set ablaze four oil wells around Kirkuk.

On Friday, Iraqi television broadcast an interview with a young, mustachioed man who said he fought as a rebel in the Shiite holy city of Karbala and said he had murdered and raped Iraqis.

The man, identified only as a 22-year-old, said he joined the revolt after promises of money, cars and a beautiful house. "We have sold ourselves to traitors from outside this country," he said.

The TV said the rebel confessed to cooperating with Iranians. Predominantly Shiite Iran has denied it was helping Iraqi Shiites in their effort to topple Saddam's government, whose leaders are primarily Sunni Moslems.

The broadcast said the Iraqi army was in full control in Karbala and in Najaf, another Shiite holy city where rebel forces were reported fighting.

Bayan Jabr, a spokesman in the Syrian capital of Damascus for the Supreme Assembly for the Islamic Revolution in Iraq, said 2,000 Iraq troops from the Republican Guard gave up to Shiite rebels Thursday in Nashwa.

The town lies about midway between Basra and Qurna, where the Euphrates and Tigris rivers join. Shiite rebels have been fighting Iraqi troops in the area since just after U.S.-led forces routed the Iraqi army from Kuwait last month.

Jabr's communique also said that Republican Guard forces who "sold themselves to the devil" were shelling residential areas in Najaf and Karbala.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency earlier quoted Iraqi rebels as saying that Republican Guard artillery damaged the burial shrines of Hussein and Abbas — figures revered by the Shiites — in Karbala, 50 miles south of Baghdad. Hussein was grandson of the Prophet Mohammed. Abbas was Hussein's half-brother.

Tehran radio said Shiite rebels captured 15 tanks north of Basra.

COUNCIL: Project to be finished by September

(From 1A)

March 26 at the Trinity School auditorium.

City officials are striving to have construction complete and Wadley completely reopened before school resumes in the fall.

"If construction goes into September, the community is going to be upset," said District 1 Councilman Bill Williams in encouraging other council members to support building a $2,000 per day incentive into the contract for finishing ahead of schedule.

The incentive is capped at a maximum of $10,000, which Mayor Carroll Thomas called "cheap compared to the overall cost," if it can help ensure completing the project on time.

The bid specifies a 135-calendar day work schedule for the project which will begin with utility adjustments on the major 30-inch water line that also runs under Wadley. Valves will be replaced on the line and its elevation altered in spots, according to Rick Menchaca, director of economic development and community relations for the city.

The utility work and contingency funds included in the resolution passed on a 6-0 vote bring the total value authorized to $1,795,000. Councilman Tom Johnston was not at Friday's special meeting.

The new drain line will increase the carrying capacity five-fold from 30-35 cubic feet per second to 170 cu.ft./sec., said city engineering director Harvey Hansen.

"That will handle a one-inch rain well. A two-inch rain will still flood the street, but it should drain down much quicker," Hansen said.

"We intend to keep two-way traffic moving throughout almost all of the construction. We'll keep business access open at all times and try to keep inconvenience to the residents at a minimum," he said.

Plans call for construction to begin on the north half of the street at the east end of the project area — Whitney Street. Crews will work their way west to Godfrey, turn back and work the south half of the street on the way back, Hansen explained.

Gilbert Texas' bid was the lowest of three submitted and considered at Friday's meeting.

In other action at the half-hour special session, councilmen:

■ unanimously approved a two-year contract with Transworld Systems to collect deliquent emergency medical service accounts. The contract carries a flat-fee cost of $6,950 for up to 1,000 accounts over the two-year period.

■ approved reducing the rent at Angels Stadium by roughly $8,000 in return for the team's purchase of a new sound system, which will be turned over to the city.

■ approved a permit for a street dance sponsored by KCHX-FM 106 following the March 23 troop-appreciation parade.

FAA: Airport officials receive $267,000 grant amine the effects of jet noise on areas surrounding the airport, he said.

(From 1A)

The same study will address the "compatibility" of airport land with planned expansion projects, he said.

Total cost for the update and the studies is $297,000.

Airport officials met with Leonard Griggs, FAA associate administrator for airports, to discuss airport expansion plans. Griggs flew to Midland with two other FAA officials Friday to deliver the grant check.

Day said he emerged from the meeting optimistic that more FAA money will be available as Midland city officials move forward with airport expansion plans.

"It was a very positive meeting," Day said.

Griggs, who is headquartered in Washington, D.C., told reporters the FAA remains "supportive of the airport's expansion plans."

He said cities like Midland are wise to improve airport facilities, which will be vital components of the country's future transportation infrastructure.

"Aviation is going to be the bridge into the 21st century," he said.

To prepare Midland International for the future, the city is drawing up plans for $20 million in airport improvements, including a new $13 million terminal building.

Additional gates, a larger security check area, an additional baggage carousel and a reconstructed driveway and parking area are included in expansion plans.

City officials estimate that construction on the proposed improvements could begin by January 1992 and be complete within 2½ years.

To pay for the proposed projects, city officials are counting on FAA grants and a federal law allowing enplanement fees of $1, $2, or $3.

By collecting the fee on Midland International enplanements, the city could raise an estimated $600,000 to $1.8 million annually. The revenues would be used to pay off certificates or bonds issued for airport improvement projects.

The FAA will inform the city in May whether it qualifies to impose the enplanement fees, Day said.

Staff Reports

A man was free on $10,000 bond Friday night following his arrest Friday morning on charges of aggravated possession of cocaine.

David McGruder, 22, was arrested after officers on a stakeout saw him allegedly pick up about 60 grams of cocaine in the 1600 block of east Oak Street, reports show. The cocaine apparently had been left as part of prearranged pick-up.

The officers were acting on a tip, reports show.

McGruder was arrested after a short chase, according to reports. The cocaine seized has an estimated street value of $13,000.

A security guard called police after noticing an open door and broken window at the school, at 900 E. Gist Ave., around 10:30 p.m. Thursday, reports show. A K-9 officer arrived and released a police dog inside the building.

Governor: Better site can be found for dump

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards said Friday a better site can be found for a low-level nuclear dump now proposed for an area near Fort Hancock in West Texas.

"I think from the time that that site was chosen, we were worried about its proximity to a highly populated area, we were worried about its proximity to the water supply and the Rio Grande," she said.

The Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority chose an area near Fort Hancock, about 50 miles southeast of El Paso, for a planned nuclear waste site that would store radioactive waste from hospitals, nuclear plants and universities for the next 500 years.

But a state district judge in El Paso ruled in January that the site was unsuitable for a nuclear dump. His ruling was on a lawsuit filed by El Paso and Hudspeth counties alleging the site was prone to earthquakes and flooding.

An appeal of the ruling is pending.

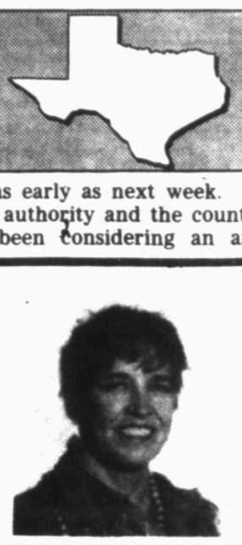

"The district judge's ruling I think now certainly dictates that they have got to find another site. I have asked the low-level radioactive waste authority to do that, and I think that they will," Richards said.

The Rio Grande Council of Governments, which represents local governments of the six westernmost counties of Texas, voted Friday to bring together El Paso and Hudspeth counties and the authority in meetings in El Paso to find alternate sites for the dump, said Justin Ornsby, council director.

Ornsby said the meetings should start as early as next week.

The authority and the counties have been considering an area east of Sierra Blanca, about 90 miles east of El Paso as an alternative site.

Committee chairman may bar bills that cost

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the committee that controls the flow of legislation to the House floor said he would block any bill that costs money because of the state's budget problems.

"If it costs the state anything, it won't go anywhere," Rep. Hugo Berlanga, House Calendars Committee chairman, told the Austin American-Statesman. "I'm saying none this session."

The state is facing an estimated budget shortfall of $4.6 billion over the next two years.

Top state officials have said the budget may be written in July, more than a month after this regular session ends. They are waiting to see performance audits of state agencies and recommendations from Gov. Ann Richards' study committee on taxes. The information is due July 1.

Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, said Thursday he talked with House Speaker Gib Lewis about his decision on bills. It will be discussed with House committee heads Monday.

"It looks like we might have a longer special session than I anticipated," said Richards of Berlanga's plan, referring to pent-up legislation requiring funding.

Rep. Gary Watkins, D-Odessa, said the decision of the Calendars Committee chairman to hold up bills that would cost the state money should not hold back expansion of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Watkins, who has made expansion of UTPB to a four-year university one of his major legislative goals, said the move may actually cost the state less.

He questions a Legislative Budget Board estimate that the change would cost the state $1.3 million. Watkins said the four-year school would have a lower per-capita funding formula than the current upper-level school, which could cost the campus $1 million.

"Our real concern is that we are going to go to four years and have less money to operate on," said Watkins, who is seeking a revised fiscal estimate to show no net cost to the state.

Watkins also doubts the broad prohibition on spending bills Berlanga envisions would last for long.

"Any time you say never, you run into problems," he said.

Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, who opposes expansion of UTPB, said he believes the move would end up costing the state more, as it has when other upper-level institutions have achieved four-year status.

School finance reform would not be stopped because a bill already has been passed by the House and is in conference committee. But anti-crime measures and emergency welfare spending could be affected.

Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, the sponsor of ethics legislation, said he did not think Berlanga meant to stop his measure.

"It's definitely going to cost, but it's down-the-road cost," said Laney. A provision in his bill would create an ethics panel with enforcement powers.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who presides over the Senate, wants to know how much pending legislation would cost before it comes out of Senate committees, said Rafe Greenlee, his press secretary.

Sen. Carl Parker, a Senate leader, said he hopes all bills costing money would be stopped until the state's money problems are resolved.

He called the tactic "truth in legislation."

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said too many lawmakers vote for bills that require funding without voting for bills that raise the needed money.

"They need to be honest with the people," Parker said. "We have all these people with ambitious plans, but then they turn around and say they won't vote for any new revenue measures."

The Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau contributed to this report.

STATE IN BRIEF

Pilot survives Lubbock crash

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza crashed upon approach to Lubbock International Airport, but the pilot walked away with only minor injuries, officials said.

The plane was demolished in the crash Thursday, but Dan Berry, 55, of Wichita Falls suffered only nicks to his head.

A fire truck and three rescue units responded to the crash, but there was no fire, aviation director Bern Case said.

"I was landing and caught a burst of wind, and the nose wheel broke off," Berry said.

"It happened so fast I didn't have time to get scared. I turned off the fuel and the ignition and tried to get out before a fire broke out, but I couldn't get the door open. Someone outside helped me get out."

Income tax supported

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Association of School Administrators rallied behind Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock's call for a state corporate and personal income tax.

"In January of last year, TASA publicly endorsed the need for an income tax," said Terry Harlow, superintendent of the Midway Independent School District and association president.

"Since then, we have encountered both resistance and support. It's never popular to advocate a tax increase, but it's more unpopular to slash services, especially those services that affect the very future of Texas and its young people," Harlow said in a Friday statement.

Citizen pursues robber

HOUSTON (AP) — Police are praising the efforts of a windshield installer-turned-hero who helped catch a bank robber by chasing the bandit in his truck at speeds nearing 100 mph.

Joe Ralston, 32, was filling out a deposit slip Thursday morning at a NCNB Bank when a man wearing a hood over his face walked up beside him, pulled a gun and ordered two tellers to put money in the bag.

After the gunman walked out, Ralston waited a few seconds and then followed him outside, got in his company pickup truck and flipped on the two-way radio.

"I called my office and told them to call 911 and tell police that I was following a bank robber," said Ralston, who works for Windshields America Inc.

Ralston fell in behind the robber's sedan as the bandit headed north on Interstate 45.

"At that point he realized I was behind him and he speeded up," he said. "At one point I was going 95 mph."

Ralston stayed with the pursuit until a police car pulled up next to him and the officer motioned for him to slow down and stay back.

U.S., Soviets in treaty deadlock

By Barry Schweid
AP Diplomatic writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III failed Friday to break a stalemate on arms control treaties with the Soviet Union, but he offered praise for Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's efforts to defuse tensions in the Baltic republics and to energize his stagnant economy.

The deadlock in implementing one treaty and finishing another means further delay in rescheduling a visit here by President Bush for summit talks with Gorbachev. But Baker said U.S.-Soviet relations were on the upswing.

"The relationship has gone through a test recently and it has survived," he said. "That is good for the Soviet Union and good for the United States and good for the world."

Baker's glowing statement concluded a joint news conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Alexander A. Bessmertnykh.

As they parted, away from microphones in the foreign minister's guest house, Bessmertnykh said quietly to Baker: "Excellent final words." But in answering reporters' questions, Baker and Bessmertnykh appeared somewhat at odds over Iraq.

Baker pointedly warned President Saddam Hussein that the cease-fire agreement in the Persian Gulf War imposed strict limits on his military operations. The implication was that the United States might resort to force to restrict his tactics in conflicts with rebels.

Bessmertnykh, however, emphasized that the U.N. Security Council had authorized force only to reverse Iraq's seizure of Kuwait.

Earlier, in a picture-taking session that developed into a mini-news conference, Gorbachev signaled Saddam that he would not get support from Moscow as he tries to put down rebellions.

"Let the Iraqi people themselves take care of that," Gorbachev said of the unsettled political situation.

Bessmertnykh voiced his support for Baker's efforts in trying to bring the Arabs and Israel together. However, he disagreed with the Bush administration's attempt to exclude the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"The PLO has remained an organization that speaks for the interests of Palestinians, and the PLO should be involved," he said.

The stalemate in arms control involves one treaty signed by 22 nations in November to make historic cutbacks in troops, tanks and other non-nuclear forces across the expanse of Europe, and a second, long-delayed treaty to reduce U.S. and Soviet long-range nuclear missiles by about 30 percent.

Baker said none of the problems in carrying out the Conventional Forces in Europe treaty had been resolved. And, he said, there was no substantive movement on the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty.

He said a Bush-Gorbachev summit, which was supposed to be held last month, would not be rescheduled until the START treaty was finished.

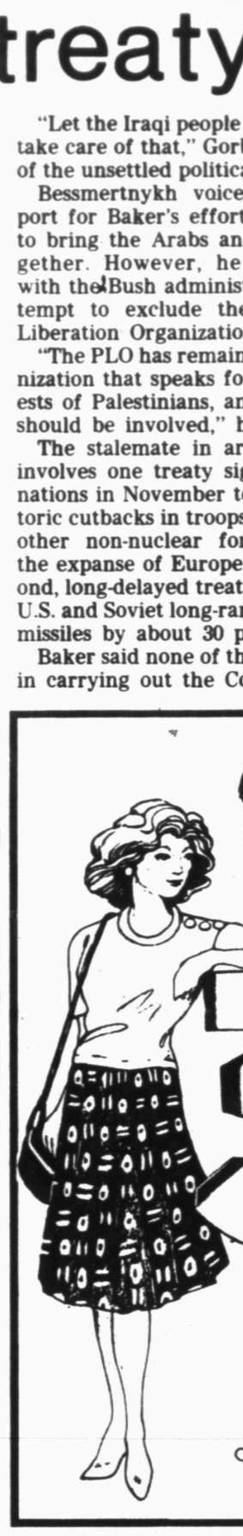

As for domestic Soviet problems, Baker registered sympathy for Gorbachev's uphill effort to westernize the Soviet economy and spoke approvingly of the measures he is taking — with some prodding from the Bush administration — to engage the independence movement in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

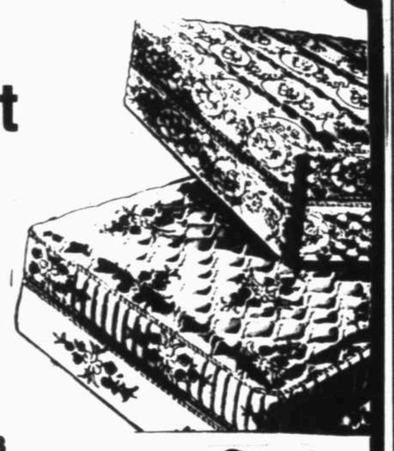

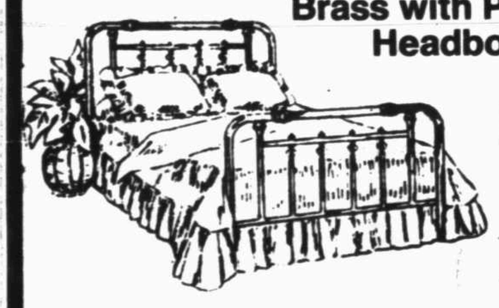

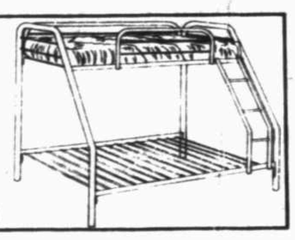

Baker plans to meet with leaders from the Baltics on Saturday and also to spend some time with Eduard A. Shevardnadze, who quit last year as foreign minister.

Hated poll tax may be history

LONDON (AP) — A government minister said Friday that a final decision has yet to be reached on the fate of an unpopular local tax, despite news reports that Prime Minister John Major has decided to ditch the tax.

Environment Secretary Michael Heseltine told reporters in Nottingham the Cabinet is still "narrowing the options. ... Don't ask me what the options are going to be because that is to go beyond what the Cabinet has decided and therefore I will not tell you."

Friday morning newspapers had reported that Major would announce the death of the so-called poll tax next week.

The tax, a flat charge on each adult in a local government district, replaced the property tax in England last year. For many voters, the result has been higher taxes, while taxes for many of the wealthy were reduced.

Last week, the Conservative Party lost a formerly safe seat in a special Parliamentary election in which the tax was virtually the only issue.

The Times, The Daily Telegraph and The Guardian reported Friday that Major and the Cabinet agreed on a new tax based on the value of property and number of occupants.

Top leader resigns

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Claiming the country was headed for civil war, the Serbian chairman of Yugoslavia's federal presidency resigned Friday after failing to persuade others to declare a nationwide state of emergency.

"I am not ready to go along with decisions that are leading to the break up of the country, with possible catastrophic consequences for its people," said Borisav Jovic.

Jovic, who headed the eight-member presidency since last May, had joined with army officials to seek a state of emergency that would expand the military's powers to intervene. They claimed the order was necessary to restore order amid mounting political and social unrest in the multi-ethnic nation.

Salinas backs trade pact

NOGALES, Mexico (AP) — A free trade agreement with the United States "will, without a doubt, stimulate investments and jobs here," Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari Salinas said. But he also said local government must find ways to deal with such problems as needing paved streets and reducing a housing shortage.

He also vowed that if the free trade agreement becomes reality, he will accept only industries committed to protecting the environment.

FDA committee rejects first Alzheimer's drug

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration panel ignored a last-minute emotional plea Friday night and decided not to recommend approval of the first proposed drug for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease.

In a meeting that last almost 14 hours, the eight-member advisory committee made its final decision without a vote. Chairman Dr. Steven H. Ferris of the New York University Medical Center announced that members had arrived at a consensus opposed to marketing the drug tacrine.

The committee decision came in response to an application by Warner-Lambert Co. to sell the drug under the brand name Cognex.

Warner-Lambert presented results from two separate clinical trials, one at 16 medical centers in the United States and one conducted in Britain.

The committee voted to accept the American study as showing the drug was safe and had some beneficial effects, but it rejected the British study as posing too many uncertainties.

An FDA official said the law requires repeated studies before a drug may be approved, except in rare circumstances.

The committee's action is only a recommendation, but the agency generally follows such decisions by its advisory committees.

■ More nation news/6C

Alzheimer's disease is the fourth leading cause of death among American adults, killing more than 100,000 annually. About 4 million people in the United States are thought to be afflicted.

The disease causes a slow deterioration of mental function, such as memory. Eventually patients lose control of body functions, become unable to care for themselves and then die. The disease process may take 20 years, causing an immense financial and emotional burden on families.

In a last-minute pitch to the committee, Warner-Lambert Vice President Ronald M. Cresswell said if the drug were rejected, no new study results would be available for at least 18 months.

"If you reject it, you deny this drug to the large population that has no other treatment and you deny it for at least another year and a half," said Cresswell.

Ferris replied that the committee believed it had no other choice.

"We simply find that the data are insufficient," he said. "I don't think we should be influenced by an emotional side of the story."

Warner-Lambert spokesman Peter Wolf said after the meeting: "We'll continue to work with the agency. When the smoke clears people will see that there are reasons to believe what we've presented here."

During its long discussion, the committee concluded that tacrine showed some very small indications of benefit for some patients. But Ferris said, "There were too many uncertainties" in the studies and the benefits were not great enough to overcome the uncertainties.

"All of us agreed that the effects of the drug are small," he said.

One committee member, F. David Butler of Columbia, S.C., said, "It does not give us confidence that the fundamental problems that Alzheimer's patients confront would be affected by this drug."

The conclusion was arrived at after a series of votes in which the committee members expressed uncertainty about the validity of certain specific findings of the two studies.

They rejected the British study 8-0 because it involved the testing of tacrine with another drug, lecitrin. Several panel members said they were uncertain how the lecitrin affected the benefits of tacrine.

The committee voted 7-1 to accept the U.S. study with Ferris as the only dissenter.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain (AP) — Sergei Bubka of the Soviet Union became the first pole vaulter in history to clear 20 feet, reaching that record height Friday at an international track and field meet.

Bubka, whose previous world mark was 19-11¼, cleared the bar cleanly on his first attempt at 20-0.

■ Georgetown's 10-point victory over Vanderbilt sets up a much-anticipated showdown with UNLV.

Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz. — Georgetown advanced to a likely second-round matchup with top-ranked UNLV, beating Vanderbilt 70-60 Friday night behind 23 points from Alonzo Mourning.

The Hoyas (19-12), who dropped out of the rankings in the final three weeks of the regular season, fell behind 40-39 on Matt Maloney's 3-point goal with 15:03 remaining. Mourning had two free throws and a three-point play in a 9-0 run and Georgetown led 51-42 with 10:36 to go.

UNLV, unbeaten in 41 consecutive games, beat Montana 99-65 later Friday night. The Hoyas have won all five of their previous games with the Runnin' Rebels.

Vanderbilt (17-13) became the fourth Southeastern Conference team to lose in the first round, joining LSU, Georgia and Mississippi State. Only Alabama advanced to the second round among SEC teams.

The Commodores, making their fifth NCAA appearance, couldn't handle the taller and quicker Hoyas, in the tournament for the 13th consecutive year.

UNLV 99, Montana 65

TUCSON, Ariz. — Massacre No. 1 came as expected, but UNLV showed signs of vulnerability.

The undefeated Runnin' Rebels, playing in a world of their own high above the rim, took apart overmatched Montana to kick off a run for their second straight NCAA championship.

Larry Johnson's 23 points and Stacey Augmon's 20 led UNLV's dunkathon, and Greg Anthony scored from the outside for 20 more as the top-ranked Rebels notched their 42nd straight victory and ran their season mark to 31-0.

But the game may have exacted a high cost as UNLV starting center George Ackles limped off with a sprained left foot late in the first half and didn't return. If Ackles is unable to play in the second round Sunday, or is not able to move well, UNLV may have a tough time against a bigger, more aggressive opponent in Georgetown.

The Hoyas beat Vanderbilt 70-60 in a bruising affair and should pose a more difficult challenge than Montana, the 16th seed in the West regionals.

Georgetown won all five of its games against UNLV from 1981 to 1985, including their only NCAA playoff clash — 62-48 in the second round of the 1984 West regionals en route to the championship for the Patrick Ewing-led Hoyas.

Cheered wildly by a Rebel-hating Arizona crowd, Montana (23-8) gave a gutsy effort and stayed close to a surprisingly disorganized UNLV for about 10 minutes before Augmon, Johnson and Anthony began to run wild.

UNLV's "amoeba" defense, a zone that reaches out in all directions, forced a dozen Montana turnovers in the first half

UT, Hogs advance

Associated Press

DAYTON, Ohio — Guillermo "Panama" Myers was just waiting for the chance to get physical.

Myers' presence dictated the outcome as Texas beat St. Peter's 73-65 Friday in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regional. He had nine points, grabbed 17 rebounds, blocked four shots and altered several others.

"The referees in this tournament, and in this particular game, let me play," the muscular 6-foot-8 senior center said. "They allowed me to play physically, and that's the way I play."

Myers had 11 rebounds in the second half. That matched the team total for St. Peter's, which was making its first NCAA tournament appearance.

Davis resigns

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Embattled Texas A&M University basketball coach Kermit Davis resigned Friday in the wake of a school investigation that accused him of recruiting violations, his attorney George Parnham said.

"Coach Davis determined that it was in his best interest and in the best interest of his family to resign amid all the speculation concerning the circumstances surrounding his tenure as basketball coach," Parnham said at a news conference.

"He is convinced that the unsubstantiated clouds of speculation would plague him and his program if he fought to remain in his present position," he said.

Davis, 31, and his attorneys contended the school's investigation as outlined in a 95-page report to President William Mobley was unfair, lacked specifics and legally was insufficient to be used as the basis for firing the coach.

Davis would not be available for comment Friday, Parnham said.

Bulldogs look to bite back

By Bill Price
Staff Writer

While Midland High is at home trying to gain its first District 4-5A baseball win of 1991, Midland Lee is on the road in a critical game at Abilene Cooper.

MHS, 4-7 on the season and 0-1 in district after a painful 10-9 league-opening loss to Lee Tuesday, will try to get back on the winning track at 2 p.m. today when it hosts Abilene High at Angels Stadium.

The Eagles are also 0-1 in district after an 8-5 loss to Cooper Tuesday, and are 7-5 overall.

The other 4-5A game will pit Odessa Permian against San Angelo in San Angelo, while Odessa High is open.

For the Bulldogs, who were ahead of Lee 8-1 going into the bottom of the fourth Tuesday, the loss could be a blow to their confidence. However, MHS head coach Rick Wood takes another view.

"The kids played well. We didn't have anything to be ashamed of. It's not so much that we lost that game but that Lee won it," he said.

The big question for the 'Dogs is the health of pitcher James Madrid. Madrid (2-1) was originally was scheduled to throw against Lee, but was used only as a designated hitter after complaining of a sore throwing arm.

If Madrid is able, he will probably start for MHS, with Jeremy Burton and Ritchie Greth waiting in the wings if needed.

Leading the Bulldog hitters early in the district race are catcher Jeff Casbeer, who was 3-for-3 against Lee for a 1.000 district batting average, and Dewayne Culpepper. Culpepper was 3-for-4 against the Rebels with a double and a solo home run. Jeremy Burton is also at .750 in 4-5A play and Ritchie Greth .500.

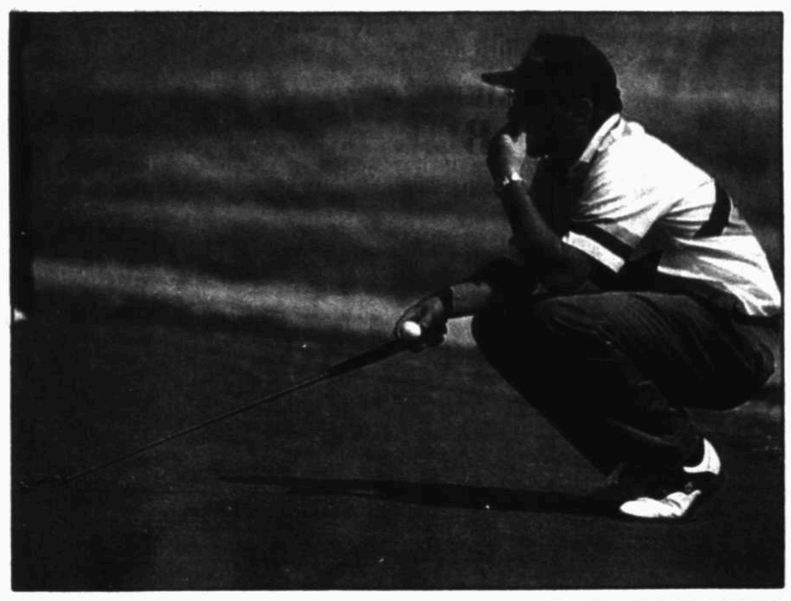

Expected to pitch for the Eagles is sophomore righthander Eric Montelongo, who is 4-0 for the year.

For Lee, the Cooper game should be the biggest of the first half.

The Rebels and Cougars are tied with Odessa High atop the district standings, as all three are 1-0 (OHS defeated Permian 7-1 Tuesday).

Cooper, which has been ranked as high as No. 1 in the state in preseason and is currently No. 4, lost the services of nine-year head coach Andy Malone Tues-

Borger claims MTCI, MHS' Rojas medals

■ Midland High's Reuben Rojas wins the gold medal in a playoff at the Midland Tall City Golf Invitational.

By Jimmy Patterson
Assistant Sports Editor

The Borger Bulldogs came from out of nowhere in second round action to capture the top spot in the fifth annual Midland Tall City Invitational golf tournament. Final round action was played at Ranchland Hills Country Club.

Borger, led by fourth medalist Dusty Green's 155, finished the 36 hole event with a team total 633. The 'Dogs shaved 17 strokes off their total from first to second rounds, shooting a 325 the first day and closing with a 308.

Midland High kept its consistency, firing a second round 319 for a third-place total of 637. MHS was two shots behind second place San Angelo.

Although Midland Lee finished in fifth place, the Rebels were only 11 strokes out of first after shooting 10 strokes better than during first round action.

Midland High's Reuben Rojas, with a two-round total 153, tied two others for first medalist in regulation play but won a one-hole playoff for the individual championship. Odessa Permian's Cainan McCandless and Abilene Cooper's Brian Brent fought for four sudden death holes before McCandless claimed second medalist honors.

High school golf in Midland, Rojas said, is he reason he wanted to move from El Paso in the first place.

"I knew the golf was better here," Rojas said, "and I wanted to improve."

Borger head coach Bill Johnston, despite the top finish, was generally displeased with his team's scores.

"We're going to shoot some good numbers before it's over," Johnston said of his Class 4A team. "We're staying competitive, but better things are to come."

"We didn't play as good as I thought we would," MHS golf coach John Ford said, "but I guess we played good enough. I was really pleased with the sophomores' scores."

MHS sophs Bill Buffaloe (159) and Dean Watson (160) both shaved strokes off their second rounds.

Lee head coach Ronnie Stephens, complimentary of the conditions at the three host clubs, was also complimentary of his team's turn around.

"It was good to make it up (10 strokes)," Stephens said. "It was good to

SWC: Hogs rout Panthers

(From 1B)

"Myers was just a beast on the backboards," St. Peter's coach Ted Fiore said. "It was our greatest fear that (Texas' strength inside) would be the most significant factor in the game. They were everything I anticipated they would, at least for us on the boards. My guys were outrebounded all year, but they were never so flat-out punished."

The Longhorns (23-8), who advanced to the regional finals last year, outrebounded St. Peter's 41-26.

Dexter Cambridge came off the bench to score 18 points for the Longhorns, which plays 20th-ranked St. John's on Sunday. Benford Williams added 15.

Texas led 32-30 at halftime and scored the first seven points of the second half on two driving layups by Joey Wright and a short jumper and free throw by Williams.

St. Peter's (24-7), which won the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference, pulled to 41-35 before Texas went on a 9-2 spurt for a 13-point lead.

"I told my team, 'When we get a lead, let's grind it out. Let's not try to knock them out with shooting,'" Texas coach Tom Penders said.

So the Longhorns played more deliberately with the lead down the stretch. St. Peter's got within seven points two more times, the last with a minute left, but Cambridge made two free throws with 38 seconds remaining and Courtney Jeans added another free throw.

Cambridge, Texas' fourth-leading scorer with an 11.8 average coming in, scored 12 points in the first 20 minutes.

No. 2 Arkansas 117

ATLANTA — Ron Huery scored 21 points and Oliver Miller added 20 as top-seeded Arkansas overcame an early scare to rout long-shot Georgia State n the opening round of the NCAA Southeast Regional.

Arkansas (31-3), the Southwest Conference champions and ranked No. 2 in the nation, fell behind 13-4 and still trailed 26-23 before getting on track. The Razorbacks outscored Georgia State 29-9 over the final nine minutes of the first half to take a 52-35 lead and cruised the rest of the way.

Georgia State (16-15), the No. 16 seed, was making its first NCAA tournament appearance.

Lee Mayberry scored 18 points for Arkansas. Arlyn Bowers added 14 while Todd Day and Roosevelt Wallace had 12 each.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Steve Smith hit a 20-foot jumper at the buzzer to give fifth-seeded Michigan State a victory over 12th-seeded Wisconsin-Green Bay in the first round of the West Regional.

Utah 82, South Alabama 72

TUCSON, Ariz. — Tenth-ranked Utah solved a fierce full-court press, escaped South Alabama's "Boobie Trap" and muscled to a victory with a 20-2 burst at the start of the second half.

Josh Grant, Utah's slick-shooting 6-10 power forward, scored 17 of his 22 points in the second half after the Utes stumbled and fumbled to a 41-34 halftime deficit in the opening round of the NCAA West Regional.

Utah, a first-round loser in 1986, will meet Michigan State in the second round Sunday.

MIDWEST REGION

St. John's 75, N. Illinois 68

DAYTON, Ohio — St. John's built a huge second-half lead and coasted to a victory over Northern Illinois in the Huskies' first NCAA tournament appearance in nine years.

Jason Buchanan scored 20 points to lead four St. John's players in double figures.

Ohio St. 97, Towson St. 86

DAYTON, Ohio — Jim Jackson scored 24 points and top-seeded Ohio State used a 10-0 run early in the second half to beat Towson State in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

The Buckeyes, ranked fifth in the nation, led by only six points before going on their second-half spurt, which featured 3-pointers by Jackson and Jamaal Brown.

Georgia Tech 87, No. 24 DePaul 70

DAYTON, Ohio — Kenny Anderson pulled Georgia Tech out of its late-season tailspin with a little more of his NCAA tournament magic, scoring 31 points in a first-round victory over No. 24 DePaul.

The sensational sophomore guard, one of the brightest stars of last year's tournament, bedeviled the Blue Demons with outside shooting and no-look passes.

SOUTHEAST REGION

Arizona St. 79, Rutgers 76

ATLANTA — Tarence Wheeler scored 21 of his 25 points in the second half and Isaac Austin also had 25 as Arizona State rallied to beat Rutgers in the Southeast Region.

The Sun Devils (20-9) overcame a nine-point deficit in the last nine minutes to give coach Bill Frieder a victory in the same arena where he was denied an opportunity to coach Michigan two years ago when the Wolverines began their run to the national championship.

Alabama 89, Murray State 79

ATLANTA — Melvin Cheatum scored 23 points and Robert Horry added 21 to power Alabama over Murray State in the Southeast Regional.

Cheatum and James Robinson did the damage for the fourth-seeded Crimson Tide (22-9) in the first half. Cheatum hit eight of nine from the field.

Wake Forest 71, Louisiana Tech 65

ATLANTA — Freshman Randolph Childress scored seven points in a row during one stretch that created a 10-point lead and then helped stave off a late rally with last-minute free throws as the Deacons won 71-65 in the first round.

EAST REGIONAL

Penn St. 74, No. 16 UCLA 69

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Penn State, making its first NCAA tournament appearance in 26 years, used its inside strength to upset fourth-seeded UCLA.

Penn State's victory, coupled with Eastern Michigan's 76-56 victory over Mississippi State, set up a second-round meeting between 12th- and 13th-seeded teams.

Eastern Michigan 76
No. 21 Miss. State 56

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Marcus Kennedy had 22 points and 16 rebounds as 12th-seeded Eastern Michigan continued the string of opening-round NCAA upsets, beating fifth-seeded Mississippi State.

No. 4 North Carolina 101
Northeastern 66

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — North Carolina ended the East Regional's bad day for high seeds in convincing style.

The top-seeded Tar Heels followed the losses of fourth-seeded UCLA and fifth-seeded Mississippi State.

Villanova 50
No. 18 Princeton 48

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Calvin Byrd blocked a shot by Princeton's Kit Mueller to set up Lance Miller's driving jumper with 1.5 seconds left and Villanova beat the Tigers.

BASEBALL: Coog starter 2-0

(From 1B)

day. Malone was suspended just prior to the Coogs' game against AHS for a profanity-laced tirade against his team.

Malone will sit out the remainder of the season, and could be gone after that, while former assistant Randy Jones takes over the team.

The probable starter for the Cougars is senior lefthander Kevin Bredemeyer, who is 2-0 for the season and four-hit Duncanville earlier this season.

Lee could counter with its own senior lefty in Jeff Johnston, who threw two shutout innings against MHS, or sophomore righthander Julian Urquidez. Johnston is 4-1 for the season while Urquidez is 2-0.

The top hitters for the Rebs include Shane Greeley, whose 2-for-3 effort with a double against MHS represents a .667 average. Allen Chase, Sean Salois and Brad Sanders are lumped at .500, while Smily Hinojos, Jimmy Patton and Urquidez all sit at .333.

life," the attorney said. "I am not content or absolutely happy with the decision. I believe Kermit was not treated fairly."

Asked if he believed Davis could have had legal grounds to fight for his job, Parnham replied, "In my mind, absolutely.

"He just simply deemed it was in the best interest of his family and his future career to go on about his business and get this behind him as soon as possible and hopefully to proceed into another institution where he can ply his trade."

Hershiser disappoints self

Associated Press

Baseball Roundup

Orel Hershiser, nearly a perfect pitcher in 1988, was disappointed that he was less than perfect in his first game since a shoulder operation last April 27.

Hershiser allowed six hits and two earned runs over five innings Friday in a game against Los Angeles Dodgers' minor leaguers. He made 52 pitches.

"I think I should be happy, but I'm not," Hershiser said. "There was pain, which is a very good sign, but I feel kind of blah about the results in general.

"The first three innings, I threw the ball well. In the fouth and fifth innings, it was kind of like I wasn't good at all. I'm a little disappointed in that I got tired at the end."

Dodgers physical therapist Pat Screnar said the team will wait to see how Hershiser's shoulder responds before deciding on the next step.

"We were pleased," said Screnar, who has supervised Hershiser's rehabilitation program. "He's getting in his innings and that's what is important right now. I thought he threw very well."

The news was far less optimistic in Kansas City, where Bo Jackson's right hip, injured during the NFL playoffs in January, was examined by the Royals' team physician. But a newspaper reported that the injury could threaten his career.

The Royals said there would be no comment on Jackson's condition until Tuesday.

Jackson was examined at a Kansas City hospital by Dr. Steve Joyce. He was to be checked Monday by Dr. Jim Andrews, an orthopedic surgeon in Birmingham, Ala.

The San Diego Tribune reported Friday that Jackson has a hip condition known as avascular necrosis. The Tribune cited an unidentified source close to Los Angeles medical authorities familiar with the case.

The Tribune quoted Dr. Gary Losse, team physician for the San Diego Chargers, as saying avascular necrosis cuts off the blood supply to part of the bone. Jackson has a career .250 batting average and hit 28 home runs last year.

In Phoenix, Rickey Henderson returned to practice after missing eight days of full-squad workouts in a huff over his contract.

"Rickey's here, and as far as I'm concerned, that's demonstrated enough for me," Oakland general manager Sandy Alderson said. "I'm glad he's here, but I wouldn't have been surprised if he wasn't."

Henderson is in the second year of a four-year contract that pays him $3 million annually, but wants an extension that would make him one of the five highest-paid players in baseball.

Alderson has said the A's will not neither offer Henderson an extension, nor trade the unhappy outfielder.

Henderson emerged from the A's clubhouse in uniform during the afternoon and attended a team meeting. Because of poor weather the team did not take batting practice.

In Clearwater, Fla., the Philadelphia Phillies anticipated Saturday's visit of baseball Commissioner Fay Vincent, who is expected to announce a decision on the Lenny Dykstra gambling controversy.

"I've been told he's going to talk to Lenny," manager Nick Leyva. "We think he's going to tell him not to do it (gamble) and Lenny will say he won't.

"Then it could go the opposite way. 'You did it. You're in trouble,'" Leyva said.

In other spring training news, New York Mets catcher Rick Cerone, who fractured a finger this week catching a pitch from Dwight Gooden, will not have to miss any games, a team doctor said.

"He will be able to play as he can tolerate pain with a splint," Dr. Richard Eaton said.

Bo's injury may be worse than expected

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A football hip injury that has sidelined Bo Jackson at the Kansas City Royals' camp reportedly is more serious than first thought and could force the two-sport athlete into retirement.

The San Diego Tribune, citing an unidentified source close to Los Angeles medical authorities familiar with the case, reported that Jackson is suffering from a hip condition known as avascular necrosis.

Jackson, also a running back for the Los Angeles Raiders, injured his hip in the third quarter of the Raiders' 20-10 AFC playoff victory over Cincinnati on Jan. 13 in Los Angeles.

At the time, the injury was said to be a hip pointer and not believed to be serious.

However, Jackson, 28, has been inactive since the injury, and has been unable to workout at the Royals' camp in Gavinport, Fla.

Royals officials have not elaborated on Jackson's condition.

The Tribune said Jackson's hip condition may be similar to the one suffered by Neil Lomax, the former Phoenix Cardinals quarterback who was forced to retire two years ago.

Dr. Gary Losse, a San Diego Chargers team physician and a leading sports orthopedist, said avascular necrosis cuts off the blood supply to part of the bone, which then becomes necrotic, or dies.

Losse said he did not know anything specific about Jackson's case. When told by the Tribune that the injury is believed to be at the end plate at the top of the femur, which joins the hip, Losse said, "If that's the case, that's not a good place. In a joint it's more of a problem. In the middle of the bone, it's not as big a problem."

Herk Robinson, Royals vice president and general manager, said from Davenport that he was unaware of such a diagnosis on Jackson. However, he confirmed that Jackson is on crutches and was scheduled to undergo further tests today and Monday.

Robinson said the tests today would be performed in Kansas City by Dr. Steven Joyce, the Royals' team physcian. On Monday, Jackson is scheduled to be examined by Dr. Jim Andrews, an orthopedic surgeon.

Parker trade latest in Angels' age movement

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The California Angels are not getting better; they're only getting older.

In 83-year-old Gene Autry, they have baseball's oldest owner, and they seem intent on assembling the sport's oldest team.

The latest move in that direction came Thursday when the Angels acquired 17-year major league veteran Dave Parker from the Milwaukee Brewers for 27-year-old outfielder Dante Bichette and a player to be named later.

Parker, who will be 40 in June, joins fellow 39-year-old Dave Winfield in the Angels' lineup, bringing together a pair of National League All-Stars during the 1970s when Parker was with the Pittsburgh Pirates and Winfield with the San Diego Padres.

Angels general manager Mike Port said age is relative.

"When you look at the thing in a chronological sense, yes, you see a right fielder who is this age and a Dave Parker who is that age," Port said, "but I don't think Dave Winfield or Dave Parker fall into the category of your average 39-year-olds.

"Performance-wise is what we're looking at, and we think we are going to get performance."

Among others expected to be in the Angels lineup when the season starts are 34-year-old catcher Lance Parrish and 32-year-old third baseman Gary Gaetti.

Pooley nabs lead at Nestle

Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla. — Don Pooley put something new in his swing and moved into the lead Friday at the halfway point of the Nestle Invitational.

Arnold Palmer found something old — that old-time putting touch — and made the cut in the tournament he hosts on the Bay Hill Club he owns.

"I get to play some more golf," the 61-year-old Palmer said after his 8-foot par-saving putt on the final hole preserved a 71 that qualified him for the final two rounds.

It marked the first time in seven years he'd made the cut in his own tournament, was the first time since the 1989 PGA Championship he'd made it into weekend competition in a regular-tour event, and was only the third time in five seasons he'd made it against players 20 and 30 years his junior.

"I was driving well and putting well, but the irons were a little shaky," Palmer said. "I kept waiting for the wheels to fall off, but they didn't."

At times, he said, his thoughts were much more positive.

"A couple of times out there, I thought, 'Hey, you could get in contention,'" Palmer said.

"Then I thought, 'You'd just better tend to your knitting and make the cut.'"

He did that, with a 143 that left him nine strokes behind Pooley.

Pooley, who won a $1 million prize with a last-round hole-in-one on the 17th hole in this event last year, said a minute adjustment in his setup resulted in his "best round in, well, it's so far back I can't remember the last time I played that well."

Only a last-hole bogey, where he missed the green in a heavy shower, marred the 6-under-par 66 that put Pooley through 36 holes at 134.

Mark Calcavecchia and Tom Sieckmann were a single stroke back at 135.

Calcavecchia, whose last victory came in the 1989 British Open, one-putted the last four greens for a 69 and, he said, "might have found something" in a putting stroke that has driven him to distraction.

"Don't ask me what it is, because I don't know yet," Calcavecchia said. "But those last four holes, that gives me something to think about, something to sleep on, something to work with."

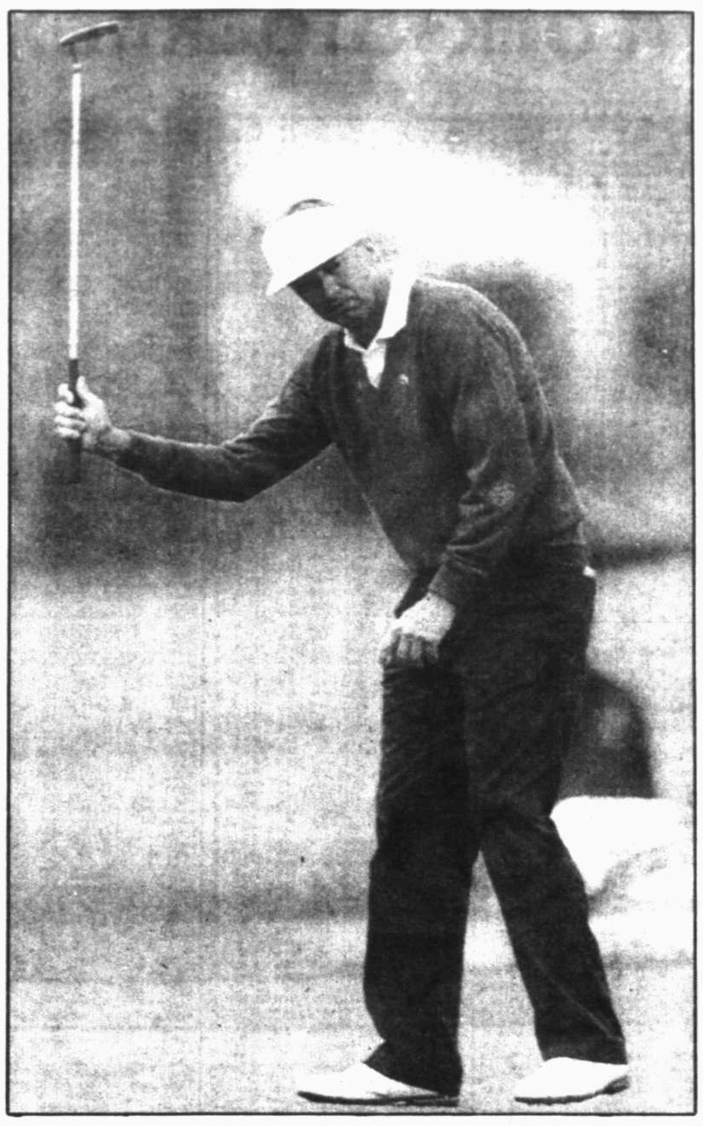

Sieckmann moved up with the best round of the day, a 65.

Scott Hoch was another stroke back at 66-136 and was followed by Curtis Strange, Rocco Mediate and three others at 137.

Strange had a 67 and Mediate, who hasn't finished lower than 13th this season, shot 69. They were tied with Mark O'Meara and Andrew Magee, each with a second round 69, and Buddy Gardner, who shot 70 despite an erratic driver.

Nick Faldo, the Englishman who owns the Masters and British Open titles, went to a 71 and was at 138 in his first start of the season.

"I didn't play at all well today," Faldo said. "My swing didn't feel comfortable. I'm pleased I was able to get out of if with a decent score."

Rockets 135, Suns 128

PHOENIX — Sleepy Floyd scored 17 points in both the second and fourth quarters en route to a 37-point effort that carried the Houston Rockets over Phoenix.

The Rockets turned the tables on the streak-busting Suns, who have specialized in ending opponents' winning skeins. It was Houston's seventh victory in a row, ending a seven-game run by the Suns.

Neither team had lost in March going into the game.

Bulls 105, Hornets 92

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Michael Jordan scored 34 points and the Chicago Bulls used a 13-4 spurt midway through the fourth quarter to win their sixth consecutive game.

The Hornets, who have lost 10 straight to the Bulls after winning the first meeting during Charlotte's expansion season of 1988-89, kept close in the second half until the Bulls' 13-4 run turned a two-point advantage into a 96-85 lead with 4:34 left.

Timberwolves 100, SuperSonics 96, OT

SEATTLE — Scott Brooks came off the bench to score 16 points, four in overtime, leading Minnesota past Seattle.

The Wolves, who overcame a 20-point third-quarter deficit, ended a four-game losing streak overall and snapped a 12-game road losing streak.

Tony Campbell, who had 26 points for the Wolves, scored five in overtime.

Celtics 94, Bullets 86

LANDOVER, Md. — Rookie Dee Brown matched his season high with 22 points and Larry Bird overcame a slow start to finish with 19 points and 11 rebounds, leading the Boston Celtics to a victory over the Washington Bullets.

Brown scored 12 points in the fourth quarter for the Celtics, winners of six of seven games.

76ers 105, Heat 103, OT

PHILADELPHIA — Charles Barkley had 27 points and Rickey Green scored eight of his 14 in overtime as the Philadelphia 76ers defeated Miami for their 11th consecutive victory over the Heat.

Sherman Douglas had 28 points and 11 assists for Miami, which lost to New York in double overtime Thursday night.

Trail Blazer 106, Jazz 96

SALT LAKE CITY — Terry Porter scored nine of his 18 points in the final 1:33 and Clyde Drexler had 26 points as Portland beat Utah.

Kevin Duckworth scored 20 points for the Trail Blazers, who lost six of their previous eight games to fall out of first place in the overall NBA standings.

Lakers 127, Nuggets 117

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — James Worthy scored 23 of his 35 points in the second half and Vlade Divac matched his career high with 25 points as Los Angeles beat Denver for the ninth straight time.

NBA Roundup

Hamel owner of only sub-par score

LPGA

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Penny Hammel overcame rain, wind and record cold weather to stand alone under par with a one-shot lead Friday after the first round of the $400,000 Desert Inn LPGA International.

One shot back of Hammel's 1-under 71 through 18 holes in the 54-hole event were Amy Benz, Beth Daniel, Vicki Fergon, Amy Read, Trish Johnson, Debbie Massey, Missie McGeorge and Patty Sheehan.

"It was brutal," said Hammel, who had four bogeys and five birdies in an up-and-down round. "You'd make bogeys but you couldn't worry about it because you knew everybody else was going to, too.

"You just have to be patient and live with yourself. You have to live with the good shots and take the bad breaks and go on."

Records fall at state high school swim meet

AUSTIN (AP) — Three state records fell Friday during preliminaries of the University Interscholastic League Swimming and Diving Championships at the Texas Swimming Center.

Jennifer Banda of San Antonio Taft broke a four year-old mark in the 200-yard individual medley. Her time of 2:04.17 broke the old mark by five hundredths of a second.

Wyatt Russo of Plano set a new record in the boys 100-yard backstroke with a time of 50.33. That eclipsed a 2-year-old record of 50.74.

The girls' 400-yard relay team from Conroe McCullough also broke a 2-year-old record. McCullough turned in a time of 3:31.18 to break the old mark by more than 1 second.

New state marks also were recorded in the 200-yard freestyle relay, which was held for the first time at the UIL meet.

The McCullough girls' team finished the race in 1:37.37, while the Plano boys' team set the record in 1:24.57.

McCullough dominated the girls' competition, qualifying a total of 12 swimmers and relay teams for Saturday's finals.

Arlington Martin and Klein Oak both qualified four, while six schools qualified three.

Cinderella Butler falls from NIT tourney

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Butler's rags-to-riches season ended Friday night as Reginald Slater's 27 points led Wyoming to a 63-61 victory over the Bulldogs in the first round of the National Invitation Tournament.

Slater hit key free throws with 62 seconds left and again with 22 seconds to go to hold off Butler, which had gone from 6-22 last year to 18-10 heading into the game with Wyoming.

The win was Wyoming's 20th in 31 games, and sent the Cowboys into a second-round game Monday at Colorado.

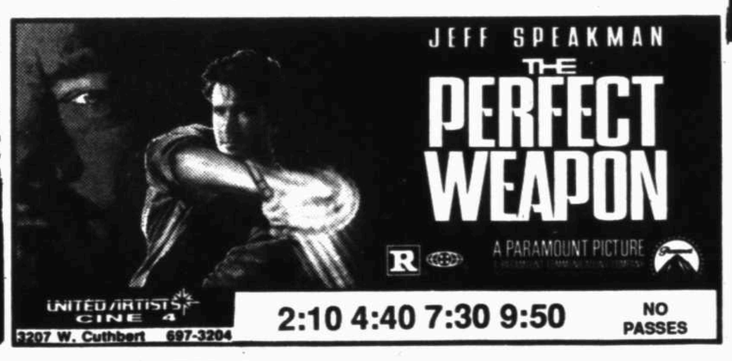

The 6-foot-7 Slater went to the foul line with Wyoming leading 59-57 with 1:02 to play when Brett Etherington collected his third foul of the game, and the forward hit both shots.

Butler pulled within 61-59 when Etherington went over Slater for a baseline jumper with 24 seconds left. But the Bulldogs' J.P. Brens fouled Slater two seconds later to send the forward back to the line, where his shots put Wyoming ahead 63-59.

Archbold's 16 points led Butler.

"One Body, One Spirit"

Those of us who have more than one child are often amazed at the differences in them. How could children created from the same genes possibly have such varied physical and emotional makeups! But just the same, we love each one.

God has promised us, His children, that He loves us all equally, regardless of the color of our skin, what language we speak, or whether we are crippled or whole. Our bodies are only the shells of the soul, and, in actuality, we are all souls striving to learn and to grow, and to survive in this earthly existence. The Bible tells us that we are "one body, one Spirit."

Come to God's house and discover how unconditionally God loves you. Experience this, and your heart will be filled to overflowing with the peace and warmth that God has in store for those who follow His example.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Church plans youth weekend

The Christian Church of Midland, 2608 Neely Ave., is sponsoring a Youth Emphasis Weekend with guest speaker Mark Workey, recruitment and alumni director of Dallas Christian College.

On Sunday, a ministry team of students from the college will lead the youth Sunday School classes and Worley will lead a joint adult Bible class. He also will present the morning service message at 10:45 a.m.

Then, Sunday evening the ministry team of students will present their program of praise, worship, communion, special music, skits, a slide presentation and a short devotion. Local youths will be leading the services throughout the weekend.

For more information call the church, 684-7681.

Home Church film set

"Beyond the Great Wall: The Underground Church in Communist China" will be shown at 7 p.m. Wednesday at First Church of the Nazarene, 1208 W. Wall Ave.

"The story of the Home Church unfolds through the testimonies of Chinese itinerant preachers who tell why the Home Church began, how it has grown despite the constant threat of persecution and of the many spiritual victories that proclaim the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ," said a release from Underground Evangelism, makers of the film.

The public is invited to view the film.

Devotional planned

St. Marks United Methodist Church, 1701 N. Main Ave., will hold a Good Friday devotional service from 12:10 to 12:40 p.m. March 29.

A light lunch will be provided from 12:45 to 1:15 p.m. at no charge in the fellowship hall adjoining the church sanctuary. The service is open to the public.

The Rev. Earl Ball, pastor of the church, will officiate at the service.

For more information call the church, 683-3339, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Youths to host lunch

The Youth Group of Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will host a St. Patrick's Day luncheon after the morning worship service Sunday.

The menu of Irish stew, dessert, tea, coffee and lemonade will be served restaurant style, with youth members serving the tables. All proceeds from the luncheon will go to the Youth Fund and be used for the young people's summer activities.

Cost of the luncheon will be $3 for adults and $1 for children age 9 and under.

The morning worship begins at 11 a.m. For more information call 683-1947 or 684-7233.

Grieving program set

Dr. John Wennerbom, local psychiatrist at Glenwood Hospital, will speak on grieving at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave., at 7:30 p.m. March 19.

Chancel Choir to present Brahms Requiem

The Chancel Choir of First United Methodist Church will present the German Requiem by Johannes Brahms at 4 p.m. Sunday in the church's sanctuary, Main Street at Ohio Avenue.

This choral masterwork will be accompanied by members of the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra and Carol Hall, organist. The concert will be directed by Brad Kisner, director of music ministries at First UMC.

Soloists will be Dacia Lust and Kevin Riehle. Mrs. Lust, a Midland music instructor, grew up in a Methodist parsonage and graduated from Texas Tech University. She maintains a piano and voice studio, has appeared with the Midland-Odessa Symphony Chorale and is one of the leads in Midland Community Theatre's production of "Fiddler on the Roof," on stage at Theatre Midland. She is the wife of the Rev. Jeff Lust, associate pastor at First UMC.

Riehle is choirmaster/director of music at Marvin United Methodist Church, Tyler. He also serves as adjunct instructor of voice at Tyler Junior College. A graduate of Ohio Northern State, Riehle earned his master of sacred music and master of music degree at Southern Methodist University. He and his wife, Paula, are parents of three daughters.

The text, a combination of passages from the Bible and the Apicrypha, is almost entirely non-liturgical and different from that of the traditional order of the Mass for the dead. In the requiem, passages from Psalms are followed by passages from the New testament.

The first three movements were first performed in 1867 in Vienna with little success. The other movements were completed in 1868.

The public is invited to attend. No admission will be charged. Child care will be provided for small children. For more information call 682-3701.

Cost of the workshop is $15. Free child care is being provided.

The workshop is being held in the church's parlor, Main Street at Ohio Avenue. For more information call 682-3701.

Making it a federal case: U.S. resorts to 19th-century laws

By Neil A. Lewis
N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The federal government's authority to deal with police brutality cases like the one in which four police officers were charged in Los Angeles on Friday rests on a pair of Reconstruction-era laws that lay largely dormant until the civil rights crusades of the 1960s.

In a meeting with news executives Friday, Attorney General Dick Thornburgh emphasized that the indictments in Los Angeles would be supplemented by an inquiry involving the FBI.

Other Justice Department officials said the inquiry would almost certainly result in civil rights charges.

"We in the Justice Department have responsibilities under the Civil Rights Act to take action against anyone who abuses their official authority against the citizens of this country," Thornburgh said.

"We are doing in this case what we do in a variety of other cases, and that is conduct an investigation under the civil rights laws using the FBI to determine whether or not there is sufficient evidence to prosecute under the federal laws these offenses that are alleged to have occurred in Los Angeles."

Thornburgh said the investigation of the Los Angeles incident, in which a man was beaten by police officers, was in addition to a nationwide survey of police brutality reports he has ordered.

The survey, announced Thursday, is intended to determine if there are patterns to police misconduct, Justice Department officials have said.

John R. Dunne, the head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, said that even though the department is entitled to take action no matter what happens locally, one of the main factors in deciding on federal civil rights charges is the outcome of the case locally.

"If we believe the local prosecution has resulted in a heavy enough penalty, we will not prosecute any further," he said.

But the Los Angeles case, in which a widely televised videotape of the beating of Rodney King has aroused public outrage, will apparently be an exception to that procedure, judging from Thornburgh's remarks Friday.

And another official said that Justice Department will almost certainly involve itself in the case because of the national attention.

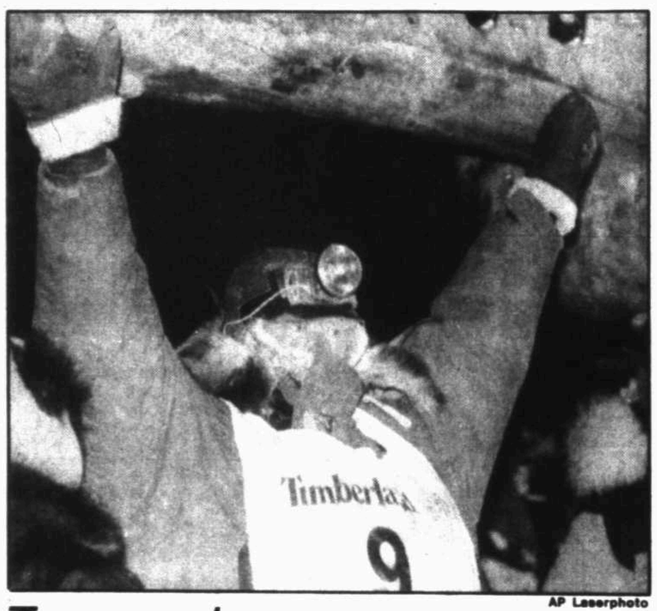

The Reconstruction-era statutes likely to be used by the government, one of which was enacted to cripple the Ku Klux Klan, give the FBI a reason to enter brutality cases, especially those in which local prosecutors may be close to the police.

The laws provide for penalties for anyone who conspires to deprive a person of civil rights or anyone who deprives someone of civil rights "under color of law" — that is, as an official like a police officer.

Although the statutes existed since the mid-1870s, they were little used, said Burke Marshall, a professor at Yale Law School and a former head of the civil rights division in John F. Kennedy's administration.

When three civil rights workers were murdered in Mississippi in 1964 and local officials failed to prosecute, the Justice Department used the old laws to charge several sheriff's deputies and won convictions that were later upheld by the Supreme Court.

The laws provide for penalties of up to 10 years in prison for each violation, but if a rights violation results in a death, a defendant can be sent to prison for life.

Top musher

Musher Rick Swenson of Two Rivers, Alaska, celebrates in Nome early Friday after winning the 1,163-mile Iditarod Trail Sled Dog Race for a record fifth time. Swenson plowed through blizzard conditions to the finish, while last year's winner, Susan Butcher, turned back.

Jazz world loses tenor sax pioneer

CHICAGO (AP) — Lawrence "Bud" Freeman, who helped make Chicago the jazz capital of the Roaring '20s, died Friday of cancer. He was 84.

Freeman, a tenor saxophone player, was the last surviving member of the "Austin High Gang," a group that forged the Chicago jazz sound of the 1920s.

As a teen-ager, Freeman and his friends used to sneak into clubs to hear the likes of trumpeter Louis Armstrong and pianist Earl "Fatha" Hines.

They took what they heard, changed it somewhat and created what was known as Chicago jazz.

A voracious reader, Freeman often would pick up a book between sets, a habit that once led to an unlikely raise.

Freeman was playing in a mob-owned club, Koester said. "The guy who ran the joint picked up his book and could hardly get through it. He figured anybody who could read stuff like that deserved a raise."

Freeman is survived by a sister.

NATION IN BRIEF

Economists eye drop in output

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, helped by the biggest drop in energy costs in 1½ years, fell for a third consecutive month in February, the government said Friday.

The government also reported that output at the nation's factories, mines and utilities fell sharply for the fifth straight month, the worst string of setbacks since the last recession eight years ago.

"This is further evidence that the economy as of February was still in a full-fledged recessionary decline," said Robert Dederick, chief economist at the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago.

Economists had a mixed reaction to the 0.6 percent drop in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index, which measures price pressures before they get to the consumer level.

Over the past three months, wholesale prices have been falling at an annual rate of 4.8 percent, the fastest pace of decline since early 1986.

However, some analysts worried that the underlying inflation rate, absent the volatile energy and food sectors, climbed by 0.4 percent in February after rising an even faster 0.5 percent in January.

"If all you do is consume energy products, it was great," Dederick said. "But ex-food and energy, it came in disappointingly high."

New law fails first test

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury Friday declined to recommend the death penalty for a drug kingpin and convicted killer in the first test of a 1988 law allowing capital punishment for drug-related murders.

Alexander Cooper, 31, was convicted of murder last week in the death of Robert Parker, the dealer's former financial adviser. Cooper ordered him killed after Parker turned federal informant.

Jurors said Friday that they found Cooper clearly intended to use lethal force against Parker and gave substantial forethought to the crime, factors which alone might have led them to impose death.

But those factors were outweighed by Cooper's troubled upbringing and his lack of a prior criminal record, the jury found.

It will be up to U.S. District Judge Milton Shadur to sentence Cooper in the absence of a jury recommendation. No immediate sentencing date was set.

Pols must pay to parade

BOSTON (AP) — Marchin' for the green is gonna cost some green this year.

Politicians looking for exposure in the St. Patrick's Day parade will have to pay $200 to walk through Irish-controlled South Boston on Sunday.

The new fees — described by some as a donation — will help pay for marching bands. Organizers say the recession is putting the squeeze on their event. So they want the pols to pay for the publicity.

Several politicians said they weren't enthusiastic about the charges, but would pay.

Cranes attract birders

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Bird watchers stood in the snow Friday to watch thousands of sandhill cranes preening, eating and dancing in south-central Nebraska in a sign that spring is near.

A three-day celebration of the return of about 500,000 gray, red-crested birds has attracted more than 1,000 people from 39 states, Germany and Japan this year, said Lonnie Logan, chairman of the Wings Over the Platte task force.

The birds — 80 percent of the world's crane population — spend six-to-eight weeks eating and resting in the Platte River Valley before making their annual migration north.

But a diminishing habitat, attributed to encroaching vegetation and man's development of the Platte River, has reduced the landing and feeding area for the birds.

Bert Parks not likely to emcee Miss America Pageant this year

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bert Parks, the former Miss America Pageant master of ceremonies who returned for last year's 70th anniversary show, will probably be back on the sidelines this year, a pageant official said.

Parks

A day after host Gary Collins said he was too busy with his television show to be host of the September pageant, Executive Director Leonard Horn said that Parks, too, was unlikely to be returning.

It had nothing to do with Parks flubbing his long-awaited return last year by failing to introduce at least a dozen former Miss Americas, Horn said Thursday. Parks returned only to be part of the pageant's anniversary with no commitment beyond that, Horn said.

Horn said no decision has been made on who will replace Collins, who wants to devote more time to "The Home Show" and other business interests in Southern California.

Collins had been the host since 1982, replacing former Tarzan Ron Ely. Ely replaced Parks when he was fired in 1980 after a 25-year career that saw him become a national institution with his trademark serenade, "There She Is."

Parks or his agent, Richard Shack, did not immediately return telephone messages for comment.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Paar, host of "The Tonight Show" before Johnny Carson replaced him in 1962, was honored for his contributions to television by the Museum of Broadcasting.

Parr

Parr, 72, once characterized by TV critics as "a bull in his own china shop" and "a Methodist minister after five martinis," got a standing ovation Thursday from an audience of 600 at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

Paar showed a retrospective of clips from his show and commented on everything from his ill health to former sidekick Jonathan Winters.

Paar said he had suffered two heart attacks, a hernia operation, and a prostate operation in recent years.

His guests on the show from 1957 to 1962 ranged from Richard Nixon to actress Tallulah Bankhead.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Rap artist Vanilla Ice pleaded no contest to violating a fire code by inviting fans at a concert to crowd toward a stage.

Robert V. Van Winkle, 23, the chart-topping performer known as Vanilla Ice, was cited for violating an ordinance barring overcrowding of aisles after his Feb. 21 concert at the Municipal Auditorium. The surging crowd snapped a thick brass rail in front of the stage, but no injuries were reported.

Municipal Judge Michael O'Quinn fined Van Winkle $500 on Thursday and placed him on four months' probation. Court records show that the performer was not in court when the plea was entered.

He will not have to pay the fine, and there will be no record of the conviction, if he meets terms of the probation. He was ordered to pay $81 in court and probation costs.

Fire official Jose Garza charged that when Van Winkle took the stage, he told the audience, "You paid good money. Come on down, and let's get with it."

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Oral Roberts underwent surgery Friday to open a narrowed carotid artery, the second operation in two weeks for the 73-year-old evangelist.

For the past six months, The founder of Oral Roberts University has been suffering tingling and numbness in some fingers, said his son, Richard.

The surgery at Hillcrest Medical Center went well and Roberts was awake and alert afterward, the University said in a statement.

He underwent a similar operation on Feb. 28. His recovery was so quick that doctors decided to perform the second operation rather than wait, his son said.
