TEXAS AVIATOR WINS IN RACE WITH DEATH

Texas Shivers As Freeze Nears

WICHITA FALLS GETS READY TO RECEIVE FROST

Low Temperature Recorded Monday Is 38 Degrees

COLDER IS FORECAST

Snow Blanket Reported In Upper Panhandle Country

Flannels and woolens came out with a rush Monday when a boistrous gale straight from the north brushed a frosty biting coat of winter over all north Texas.

A minimum temperature of 38 degrees—dangerously near the freezing mark—was recorded for the 24-hour period ending at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. And while Monday night brought no cessation of the strong wind, it appeared that a temperature fully as low would be reached before daylight. A freezing level was the weather bureau prediction.

Hits Without Warning.

Wichita Falls dug in under its heaviest covering between midnight Sunday and daybreak. The norther no advance predictions of which reached here, struck about 3 o'clock in the morning and by 7 was whipping things around in great shape. A brisk rain appeared early in the day, but this was of short duration and in all amounted only to .04 inches. No moisture fell after the middle of the morning, but the air throughout the day was damp.

Reports to local railroad offices last night told of continued low temperatures and high winds throughout the district. Northward into Oklahoma the Northwestern reported freezing weather around Woodward. The entire Panhandle north to Texline was in the grip of the cold snap, the Denver reported; while the Katy told of conditions similar to those here reaching eastward to Denison and south to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Rains Scattered.

Scattered rains were general throughout the territory, with the intensity of the showers increasing to the south. Heavy rains fell around Olney and Seymour, although they did not extend as far north as Wichita Falls.

Weather bureau predictions for Tuesday told of probably clearing skies and warmer weather.

MIDDLE WEST IN GRIP OR WINTER'S CLAWS.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8. (AP)—Winter delivered its first assault on the southwest today, blanketing the western portions of Kansas and Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle with snow.

Trans-continental trains were delayed by drifts in western Kansas, where in some places three inches of snow fell.

The storm, originating in Canada, was moving gradually eastward and southward tonight, with a forecast that before morning snow will be flying in Kansas City and along the northwestern Missouri border.

Temperatures were forced down toward the freezing point in the central and eastern sections of Oklahoma and Texas before the north wind. Rains were general over the southwest in the face of cold snap. Sleet caused damage to wires in some parts of Kansas.

NORTH TEXAS EXPECTS FREEZING WEATHER.

DALLAS, Nov. 8. (AP)—Most of Texas expected freezing or near freezing weather Monday night. Frost was declared probable as far south as San Antonio, while Amarillo, under clear skies, was prepared for a brisk freeze, brought on the wings of a high northwest wind.

Lubbock, on the South Plains, reported a maximum temperature of 58 for Monday, with 43 the minimum at 7 p. m. and the mercury still slumping. A freeze was expected and the wind was blowing hard but no damage to unpicked cotton was looked for. A light rain preceded the norther at Childress.

Frost Predicted.

Austin reported a prospective frost while Waco saw near freezing temperatures in the offing. A 40-mile wind was whipping the capital in gusts. "Clear and cool, first frost of season predicted for tonight," was the word from the Alamo City. Fort Worth expected a freeze Monday night, as did Dallas. Houston reported a high northwest wind and clear skies. Galveston said the temperature was falling slowly.

Have you seen the Record News' elephant yet? Do you know how much the pachyderm weighs? Do you think it's worth $1,000 to find out?

The Record News would like to know exactly how much the elephant weighs and is offering prizes for the correct answers.

On page three of today's issue is a picture of the elephant. The figure is composed wholly of numerals, which, when added correcly will give the elephant's weight.

See the contest manager at the Record News office at once and learn the details of this contest. There are to be paid prizes totalling $1,000 in this contest. The first prize is $500. It's worth trying for.

OFFICER'S WIFE DIES IN RIVER

Wife of U. S. Army Colonel Found Drowned at New Braunfels

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8.(AP)—The body of Mrs. C. H. Muller, wife of a colonel of Fort Sam Houston, which was found in the Comal river near New Braunfels today, will be buried in Sioux City, Iowa, her old home, her husband announced today. The funeral party will leave here early Tuesday.

A two-day search for Mrs. Muller who disappeared Saturday evening, led searchers to the banks of the Comal river near New Braunfels early today where they found a coat and hat belonging to the missing woman and jewelry and calling cards bearing her name. An hour later her body was found caught on a snag a short distance down the river.

She came to her death through drowning, a doctor reported and added that there were no marks on the body except a slight bruise below one eye which might have been caused by a snag in the river.

Texas-Oklahoma Lawyers Confer

Form of Judgment In Suit Concerning Boundary Is Discussed

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.(AP)—Form of the judgment to be entered in the Texas-Oklahoma boundary suit, decided favorably for Texas by the United States supreme court was discussed here Monday by Edwin Dabney, Oklahoma attorney general; Dan Moody, Texas attorney general, and R. H. Ward of Houston, special counsel for Texas.

The boundary suit involves the proper location of the 100th meridian. The supreme court held the line as now established is not correct and authorizes a commission to superintend a re-survey.

U. S. Government Receives Bids From Two Syndicates For Sale of Ships Now Operated In Merchant Marine

No Offers Submitted, However, For Five Ships Of Passenger Fleet; $4,000,000 Bid Alone For Purchasing of Giant Liner Leviathan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Two formal offers by New York shipping interest to operate the fleet of the United States lines and to purchase the five ships of the American merchant fleet for $1,000,000 was received by the United States shipping board today and taken under advisement.

The board had invited bids for both lines, but none was made to purchase outright the five passenger vessels of the United States lines. P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International mercantile marine, however, entered on behalf of the Atlantic Transport Line of New York, a bid of $4,000,000 for the Leyathian alone and the Potter steamship company, Inc., of New York offered $1,505,000 for either of the two sister ships, President Roosevelt and President Harding of the United States Lines.

Offers Rejected.

These offers were dismissed by the board because they did not comply with the stipulations of the offer, which provide for sale of the whole line.

The two companies making direct offers for the American merchant fleet, consisting of the steamships American Trader, American Merchant, American Farmer and American Shipper were William F. Kinney and the J. H. Winchester company present operators of the American merchant fleet. Both bid $200,000 for each of the five merchant vessels and offered to enter into an agreement to operate the United States lines fleet under charter.

A separate proposal by Kermit Roosevelt provided for organization of a corporation to purchase the vessels of the American merchant fleet for $252,000 each on condition that the vessels of the United States lines be allocated to the organization for operation.

Right To Reject.

The shipping board pointed out that the right was reserved by the board to reject any or all offers.

The proposal from the Winchester interests included a plan to build two additional passenger ships costing about $30,000,000, which would be in a class with the Leviathan and be operated with her initial class trans-Atlantic service. Under this arrangement the government in accordance with provisions of the shipping board construction loan fund would lend the company two-thirds of the cost price of the proposed vessels or $20,000,000.

Road Asphalting Contract Quizzed

State Probers Also Study Texas Penitentiary Situation.

AUSTIN, Nov. 8.—The manner in which the American Road company was awarded its contract for placing asphalt surfacing on state highways was the subject of questioning in Monday's session of the house investigating committee.

Questions seeking to bring out fresh points already revealed in the now famous American Road company suit, prosecuting of which brought Dan Moody personal fame and the governorship of Texas, occupied the major portion of Monday's quiz.

The American Road company last fall confessed judgment for $600,000 excess profits on its surfacing contract in a suit brought on behalf of the state by Attorney General Moody and was barred perpetually from doing business in Texas.

Conduct of affairs at the Texas state penitentiary also came in for study by the investigating committee.

QUARANTINE OFF

Texas Livestock Now Reported Free of Anthrax.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8. (AP)—The livestock sanitary commission, through Leo Callan, chairman, late today announced that Texas is now practically clear of anthrax, dread cattle disease, and that all areas quarantined will be released immediately. A few premise bans will be lifted within a week, he said.

WILL ROGERS TO BE HERE TODAY

Entertainments are Planned For Noted Cowboy Humorist

Will Rogers, cowboy humorist who has risen by the sheer brilliance of his wit from a plains obscurity to a character of more than national importance, appears in Wichita Falls tonight with his gales of humor.

Brought here under the auspices of the Musicianh club, he will speak at the Junior college auditorium, giving his dissertations on all things general and many things specific. A heavy advance sale of seats has presaged a capacity crowd.

Barbs of Fun.

Rogers, of course, needs no introduction. He has carved out a niche all his own in the world of wholesome fun. Cowed by no one, unabashed in the presence of the highest in the land, he has aimed his barbs of innocent and sparkling fun at the mighty and lowly alike. And so successfully has he worked, his name today is a by-word in America.

With Rogers will be the De Reske singers, a male quartet of high capabilities who were prime favorites in the city following their appearance last year.

Parties For Humorist.

Pretentious plans for entertainment of Rogers have been made locally. No announcements had been made last night of a change in the program because of inclement weather. A polo game in which the famous visitor will participate is scheduled for the Call field grounds, with a barbecue at the Ferguson-Johnson stables to follow. The polo game is open to the public, while the barbecue will be an invitation affair.

'BULL' IS COLE BLEASE'S VIEW OF TAX SLASH

South Carolina Solon Is Cool On Coolidge's Tax Cut Idea

BIG SURPLUS IS SEEN

U. S. Treasury to End Year With $250,000,000 Excess Cash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon ironed out the tax refund proposal of the executive today and agreed that it should be accomplished through a credit to the tax payer of about 12½ per cent on income taxes to be paid next year on this year's income.

While the president was busy adjusting his tax saving plan with his secretary of the treasury, congressional leaders were expressing varying views which indicated clearly the plan did not meet with full approval at the capitol. Mr. Mellon accepted the proposal to take his surplus away from debt retirement but he convinced the president that the idea for an immediate refund of income taxes collected this year would be too costly from an administrative standpoint.

12½ Per Cent Possible.

The secretary also boosted the ante of the executive who had suggested a refund of 10 or 12 per cent and it was agreed at the White House conference that the credit on next year's taxes could be made "at least 12½ per cent."

The plan worked out by the president and Mr. Mellon provides that the credit shall be taken on the first two installments of income taxes to be paid next year—in March and in June—which would permit a cut of 25 per cent on each installment if the 12½ per cent figure on the year's taxes is authorized by congress.

The credit must be taken in the first two installments to permit the government to adjust its books by the close of the fiscal year ending June 30. It was calculated at about $250,000,000 which is the surplus expected at the end of the year.

Smoot Is Silent.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee which would handle any tax bill cautiously declined a statement on the proposal pending a more complete study but he indicated he was not in sympathy with the general proposition.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, a leader of the Republican insurgents came flatly out against the president's proposal declaring that if the treasury had a surplus it should be devoted to retirement of the public debt. Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina, characterized Mr. Coolidge's plan as 'Bull.'

Death Sits In At Family's Reunion

Children Rush To Bedside Of Mother But Get There Too Late

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8. (AP) Funeral was to be held here today for Mrs. Nancie Marie Tillotson, 68, pioneer Texas mother, whom death cheated of a family reunion after three of her children already were at her home and the other seven on their way.

Mrs. Tillotson thought it was only a happy family gathering, but the children had been told by physicians that their mother could not live long and accordingly were coming here from Washington, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas points for the reunion.

Norris' Forces See Move To Harass Pastor In Suit For $150,000 Brought On Behalf Of Dexter Chipps' Son

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8.(AP)—Charging that efforts are being made to "harass," the Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, First Baptist church pastor, his attorneys today said that they "at the proper time" will file answer to the $150,000 damage suit brought against the preacher in behalf of Dougherty E. Chipps, 14, son of the late D. E. Chipps, for whose killing Norris faces a murder charge.

The suit, filed in district court here today, seeks $50,000 actual and $100,000 exemplary damages, on representations that the boy petitioner was deprived of "maintenance, education and support" by his father's death. It was charged that killing was "unjustified" and without "legal excuse."

News of the suit drew from defense counsel renewed claims that their client is being "persecuted." Such was the substance of allegations made in the defense's successful petition for transfer of the murder trial to Austin, although the local court ruled only on a showing of the purported prejudice inimacal to fair trial here. Charges of a "combine," including Mayor H. C. Meacham's $15,000 retainer of four special prosecutors, were not ruled on.

NORRIS' USE OF HALL IN SAN ANTONIO OFF.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8. (AP)—Definite assurances that the Rev. J. Frank Norris, Baptist minister of Fort Worth, would not be allowed to use the municipal auditorium immediately before or during the Baptist general convention here, November 17-20, were given Baptist leaders here today, and talk of moving the convention to some other city subsided.

A telegram informing the Rev. Norris that his request to use the auditorium, November 14, 15 and 16, would not be granted was sent by Acting Mayor Phil Wright, City authorities denied that any cancellation of the reservations had been received from the minister himself.

POLICE RESCUE MANIAC, BRIDE

Man Attempts to Hold His Wife in Front of Oncoming Train

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 8.(AP)—Police Saturday night rescued a man and a woman from a precarious position on the International and Great Northern railroad tracks in spite of the efforts of the man to keep his auto on the tracks until a train passed by.

He told police that his bride of six months had been unfaithful and that he had decided to solve their troubles by waiting for the train. The bride, who was a prisoner in the car, said that her husband had become insanely jealous when he found a picture in her possession, which had been given her long ago by another man.

LEAHY TRIAL DELAYED.

GEORGE WEST, Nov. 8. (AP) Hopes for a speedy termination of the trial in which Harry J. Leahy is charged with the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey went glimmering today when the venire was excused until Thursday, pending a hearing on a motion for change of venue.

Dancer Friend of Queen Marie Gets 'Invitation' To Quit Royal Retinue

QUEEN MARIE'S TRAIN AT GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov 8.(AP) Queen Marie took reluctant action today to bring to an end controversy and discord which marked her tour of the Pacific northwest during the last few days.

A member of her party announced that she had consented to an arrangemtnt whereby Miss Lois Fuller, former dancer and friend of the queen and Miss Fuller's press agent, Miss Mae Birkheard, will leave the train within a few days.

The spokesman's understanding was that Miss Fuller would quit the party when Chicago is reached and that Miss Birkhead would leave as soon as she is able in Denver on Wednesday or before. Miss Birkhead suffered a nervous collapse today following examination by Colonel John H. Carroll, in charge of the tour, concerning her activities on the train.

Miss Fuller whose war services to Rumania were warmly praised by Queen Marie in her Mary Hill museum address is associated with Samuel Hill, millionaire builder of the museum. She came aboard the train at Spokane last week as a member of Mr. Hills party which included Miss Birkhead and Miss Gabrielle Bloch, the former dancer's secretary.

Although not willing to appear publicly in the bickerings in her party, Queen Marie was said to believe that trouble began on the train with the arrival of Mr. Hill's party.

SERUM RUSHED BY AIR SAVES LIFE OF CHILD

10-Year-Old Girl Snake-Bite Victim Is Treated In Nick of Time

FLIES OVER 200 MILES

Messenger of Mercy Makes Record Trip Over Long Distance

HOUSTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Modern inventions were credited with saving another human life Monday when Bert Pidcoke, commercial aviator, completed a successful trip from Houston to Center, Texas, carrying rattle snake serum for the treatment of the 10-year-old daughter of C. H. Dillon.

The girl was bitten by the reptile early Monday, according to reports reaching Houston. At 10 a. m., W. L. Edwards, also interested in commercial aviation, received a request from the little Texas town for the serum.

Within an hour Pidcoke was on his mission of mercy. He covered the 125 miles to Center in less than 2 and a half hours.

Soon after his arrival in Center at 1:30, the serum was administered. With his return Pidcoke reported the child resting easily and that physicians predicted she would recover.

Ultimatum Given Church By Pastor

Houston Minister Seeks To Force Property Sale For Charity

HOUSTON, Nov. 8.(AP)—Several hundred members of Christ Episcopal church, an ivy clad structure in the center of the business district, Monday were discussing what they considered the startling proposal of Dr. Peter Gray Sears, their rector, to sell the property and give approximately half of the proceeds to charity.

The church and rectory occupies a half block of ground on Texas avenue, one block from Main street. The property is valued at $1,500,000. If the proposal is not accepted, Dr. Sears indicated that he might resign.

Hammer and Saw to Swing Today On New Unit of Christian Church

Business pursuits and secular matters along with little things like winter blizzards will be forgotten for a time today by a number of the city's prominent business men when they done carpenter's aprons, pick up hammar and saw and start in on the third unit of the Highland Heights Christian church. They expect to have the building ready in time for use Sunday.

Pending erection of the church's permanent home, definite plans for which will be announced in a short time, the congregation is worshiping in temporary wooden structure just across from the Junior college on Avenue H. Most of this building has been built by the men of the congregation, and such will be the procedure today. Ladies of the church will serve dinner at noon so the construction work can proceed without interruption.

This church is perhaps the fastest growing in the city. A crying need for more room has resulted in plans for putting up the third wing, Dr. Paul Henry Packard, the pastor, said Monday. The first structure was put nine months ago and was rapidly outgrown.

PRAIRIE'S STAND ON CRUDE PRICE BIG QUESTION IN OIL CIRCLES

NO CUT WILL BE MADE, IS MAJOR IDEA

Biggest Purchaser In The District Still Holds On Old Schedule

A matter of major interest and much discussion just now among the oil fraternity is the crude market situation. Since the Humble Pipelane company announced the first reduction one week ago, all the major purchasers in north Texas have posted new schedules conforming with the Humble program with the exception of the Prairie Pipeline company.

The Prairie is largest purchaser in the district and has always made the market. One year ago when the Humble and other companies announced a new schedule with a six cent differential the Prairie posted a schedule with an eight cent differential, which was later met by all purchasers.

Believe It Won't Change.

No few oil men are of the opinion that the Prairie will not make a slash, basing this idea on the fact that the Humble and others are of the Standard of New Jersey purchasing group and are trying to gain a stronger hold in Mid-Continent and the Prairie must hold the price high to hold its present sources of crude.

Another belief is that the Prairie will soon post a new schedule which will not be so drastic as the one now in effect by the other purchasers.

Magnolia Frowns.

The Magnolia Petroleum company does not believe in so many different price schedules, and announces that as of Friday, November 5, its prices for crude oil in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas and north Louisiana are the same. A five-cent differential is established, advancing from 28 gravity at $1.50 a barrel to $2.70 for 52 gravity and above. Below 28 gravity it has posted a price of $1.40 a barrel.

The Magnolia specifically mentions that its new prices apply to Pine Island, Haynesville, Bull Bayou and El Dorado districts, and that Cotton Valley and Smackover crude prices are to be the same as before.

Handberry's No. 1 Fette, located three miles south of Munester in Cooke county, being in the Chas. Cartir survey, abstract 1,190, is drilling below 1,000 feet.

PANHANDLE TESTS.

Canyon Oil company in No. 1 Jackson, in the northwest corner of section 60, block B2, I. & G. N. survey, Gray county area of the Texas Panhandle, had a show of oil in a lime formation at 2,871 feet. From 2,820 to 2,830 feet it had a show of oil and 4,000,000 feet of gas.

Murchinson & Fain in No. 1 Caine, in section 55, block 24, H. & G. N. survey, Wheeler county, made 200 barrels the first 14 hours from sandy lime at 2,290 to 2,335 feet.

Panhandle Area Slumps In Week

Production Down and No Extensions are Made In Field

The daily average production of the Panhandle oil fields for the past week was 158,300 barrels as compared with 160,020 barrels for the previous week, making the second successive week that the district has slumped in oil output.

No extensions to the proven areas were made and completions declined in number over the entire district with the exception of Hutchinson. Most of the chief producers are drilling to the pay and shutting down, using the earth for storage.

A severe setback was received when the Cadman test in Moore county failed to come through as a commercial well. This test drilled into salt water at 3,270 feet and is to be plugged back to its first showing where it may be shot.

DRILLING STOPS

Seminole Conservation Program Put Into Effect.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 8.—Oil history was made at noon Saturday where the Seminole conservation program was actually put into effect.

Orders to abide by the agreement in which all the Seminole field producers have joined, reached the field at noon after a final meeting of the shut-down committee representing the 15 producing companies had met with Ray M. Collins, of the Echo Oil company, who has been named as referee.

At the session held in the offices of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, Umpire Collins warned the operating companies that either further agitation or deeper drilling of present producing wells would constitute an infraction of the agreement. Drilling tools will not be permitted to enter present producing wells for any other reason, he said.

Pro-rating of oil runs under Umpire Collins' direction was commenced Monday morning.

PURE PIPE LINE RUNS.

In September the Pure Oil company received into its lines in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and eastern fields a total of 933,808.38 barrels of oil. The Oklahoma and eastern receipts were 406,493.30 barrels and 527,314.08 barrels was the Texas receipts.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring, waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

TEXAS GAINS IN PRODUCTION

Production Race Among States Attracting Much Attention

The race among the leading oil states for laedership is attracting much attention.

California still leads with $28,000 barrels a day, with Texas for around 620,000 a day and Oklahoma coming back with 539,000 a day. These are American Petroleum Institute figures.

Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, is quite confident that Texas will forge ahead of California by Jan. 1, 1927. He says that the prospects of Texas leading the country in production of crude oil by New York's is good.

North Texas, in which is included the Panhandle, is showing the largest increase over the corresponding period of 1925. For the the past week it totalled 252,600 while for the same week in 1925 it did barely 77,000 barrels a day.

The great variety of oil fields in such a large state as Texas is responsible for the Lone Star state forging to the front, but sooner oil men assert that the deeper sands in Oklahoma have been barely scratched and that Oklahoma could easily come forward and lead the nation if the oil companies were willing.

Over-Active Kidneys Backache! Torture!! Shumake Quick Relief

Excessive kidney action is almost sure to cause backache and other tortures to men and women. The strongest constitution will break down under the strain of continuously interrupted sleep caused by over-active kidneys.

Liquid Shumake is prepared specially for over-active kidneys of both adults and children and relieves kidney weakness by removing the cause.

HARD LUCK JINX

Electra Boy Breaks Arm In Fall From His Pony

ELECTRA, Nov. 8.—Hard luck seems to have been in store for T. C. McCorkle, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lindsey, of east Wharton avenue, for the young man had just recovered from a broken arm and broken leg, received August 31, when run over by an automobile, and has only been in school three weeks when his right arm was re-broken in a fall from a Shetland pony Sunday afternoon. His condition is not considered serious, but he is just wondering what bones will be next to be broken.

CHURCH PLANS NOV. CAMPAIGN

Doctor James Small Will Conduct Services For Christians

Announcement is made by Dr. Paul Henry Packard of the Highland Heights Christian church of a series of evangelistic meetings to begin in his church Sunday, November 21. The revival will be under the direction of Dr. James Small, noted evangelist, and Arthur Haley, song leader and special worker.

"The coming of Dr. Small to Wichita Falls marks an event of interest to religious forces. He is a native of Ireland, has conducted great evangelistic meetings on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean and held pastorates in both England and the United States," Dr. Packard said in speaking of him.

Arthur Haley who will have charge of the song service and children's work, has been engaged in religious work for a number of years and has been associated with some of the foremost evangelists of the country. His field of service is varied, being an entertainer of no mean ability, it was said. Mr. Haley appeared before the Lions club of this city last spring and in entertaining features kept the club in an uproar for 45 minutes.

Much interest is being shown in the coming of this team to the city and capacity audiences are expected to hear these men from the very start, Dr. Packard said. The services will begin each night at 7:30. Further announcements will be made in a few days regarding the campaign.

Many Calls For Salvation Army

Children 12 and 13 Years Of Age In Dire Need Of Warm Garments

The first wintry day of the season, Monday, brought scores of calls for clothing to the Salvation Army, according to Captain J. L. Cardiff, yesterday afternoon. Many calls were from school children who had no shoes, stockings or coats to keep them warm. Among the number were several girls 12 and 13 years old, but who do not have sufficient warm clothing for the cold weather, Captain Cardiff said.

Any one who has some cast off garments suitable, especially for boys and girls, is asked to tell the Salvation Army about it and it will be called for. The Army officer may be reached by telephoning 6221. Clothing that can be made over or any old coats, shoes and hose that can be used immediately is needed for the relief work, it was said.

BODY SENT TO MESQUITE

The body of T. J. Haney, 67, who died Monday morning at 1 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. E. Edwards, 2216 Seventh street, was forwarded yesterday by the Hines Mortuary to Mesquite for burial. Mrs. Edwards and son, J. W. Haney, of Floydada, accompanied the body.

M'DONALD WILL SPEAK

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Maskat Band Gets a Big Bass Drum From Johnson

Zoom! Zoom! (Double Basso).

That's the sound the new drum for Maskat Temple will give when it is introduced to Wichita Falls in a concert at Junior college at 8 o'clock the evening of November 16, it was said yesterday. This drum is unlike any other in Wichita Falls because of one thing. It is six feet in diameter, and is so large that it has to be on wheels, and from the ground up then is eight feet in diameter.

The new drum is the gift to the organization of D. O. Johnson, president of the Maskat Temple band. It will be decorated in Maskat Shrine colors and will have the following inscription: "Maskat Temple Band, Wichita Falls, Texas," and the Shrine emblem. Paul Pond is drummer.

The concert will be given as a benefit to the band to defray its expenses to the all state Shrine convention in Dallas, November 20.

GASOLINE PRICES HOLD.

Mid-Continent refiners report gasoline prices holding at 9 1-2 cents a gallon for 58-60, 437, U. S. motor material. News that Pennsylvania refiners had reduced spot motor fuel one-fourth of a cent a gallon was received.

The 41-43, water white kerosene grade is ranging from 6 1-2 to 7 7-8 cents, and fuel oil is easier, with 24-26 grade at $1.30 to $1.30 1-2 a barrel.

BOARD TO MEET

Salvation Army Advisory Unit to Meet Wednesday

A meeting of the advisory board of the Salvation Army will be held Wednesday noon, at the Y. W. C. A. according to Captain J. L. Cardiff, of the Army, yesterday. Important matters are to be discussed, he said.

You May Have It And Not Know It!

Are you constipated?

How do you know you are not? Constipation doesn't mean merely failure of the bowels to move! You must have a complete and thorough evacuation every day! If you don't your system is not thoroughly cleansed—and germs of disease and poisons breed in the putrefied wastes left in the intestines.

These poisons enter the blood through the blood vessels in the intestinal walls. The headaches you get—the fatigue — the skin blemishes — the mental sluggishness—the susceptibility to colds and countless other ills are directly due to the presence of these poisons in the system. Continuing constipation may lead to serious trouble and the sick bed.

Don't take a chance. Be sure your entire intestinal tract is THOROUGHLY CLEANED OUT. The best way is to take KLOK-LAX. Just a KLOK-LAX tablet with a swallow of water! And you may be sure that every inch of your twenty-eight foot drainage canal, including your stomach, upper and lower intestines, IS WASHED CLEAN, CLEAR AND PURE.

The KLOK-LAX way is the new, improved method to overcome constipation. It produces complete cleaning, not just cleansing in spots, as with oils, salts, cascaras and ordinary laxatives and purgatives.

Everybody is using KLOK-LAX now! It's so effective—and so easy to take! No griping—no nausea—no time lost from work. Just a nice, pleasant way to keep refreshed, alive and active—with plenty of "pep" and energy and a hearty appetite.

Miss. Sibyl Kell And Wilbur Cahoon Married

Banks of lilies and ferns transformed the spaciotu s reception suite of the Frank Kell home into a veritable fairyland of beauty Monday evening where the wedding of Miss Sibyl Kell and Wilbur Cahoon took place. The Episcopal ring ceremony was read by Dr. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at 7:30 o'clock, before a gorgeous improvised altar formed with the living room, of the chosen flowers and greenery, with cathedral tapers lighted on either side.

Only relatives of the bride and bridegroom and intimate friends were present.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Bruce Greenwood played for a violin number, Cadman's "At Dawning," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. I. Francis. Mrs. W. M. Priddy sang the pre-nuptial solo, "I Love You Truly," with violin obligato played by Mrs. Greenwood. Mrs. S. M. Gose, Jr., and Mrs. Alfred Miller played the wedding march on violins, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Francis.

Two small nephews of the bride, Wiley Blair III. of Dallas and Jack O'Donohoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Donohoe, acting as ribbon bearers, held white satin ribbons which formed an aisle for the bridal party to pass through to the altar. Little Master Billy Bullington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bullington, acting as ring bearer, wore a Colonial suite of white satin and carried the ring in the heart of a lily.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, Frank Kell, who gave her in marriage, was charming in her gown of white chiffon, modeled with basque of velvet, and rose point lace bertha. Her veil was of tulle and rose point lace and was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies and orchids.

Mother Is Matron of Honor.

Her mother was her matron of honor and wore a handsome gown of flesh colored beaded crepe Romain, while the bridesmaids, including Miss Mary Jo Kell, her sister and Mrs. Harry white and Mrs. Gordon West, wore gowns of shell pink crepe with velvet trimmings.

Mesdames Alfred Miller, Charles I. Francis, W. M. Priddy and S. M. Gose, Jr., also wore gowns of shell pink, and Mrs. Bruce Greenwood were black tulle over black satin embroidered in gold and gold slippers.

Mr. Cahoon was attended by his father, C. W. Cahoon, of New York City as best man.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kell were hosts at a reception held at the Country club when 500 guests were entertained. A house party was formed of the bride and bridegroom, the hosts, the bridal party and relatives of both Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon.

Club Profusely Decorated.

The club was profusely decorated for the occasion in baskets of huge plum chrysanthemums, greenery and autumn leaves, and the huge bridal cake formed the center of a beautifully appointed table.

The bride is one of Wichita Falls' most attractive and popular young women and since the announcement of the approaching nuptials, about a week ago, has been the center of a round of delightful social affairs. After finishing in the local schools she attended Ward-Belmont at Nashville.

Mr. Cahoon is manager of the Carson Petroleum company and is prominent in social and business circles in this city. Both his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon of New York City and many other out-of-town relatives and friends attended the wedding.

After the reception the young people left for New York City from which place they will sail for Europe to be away about two months. Upon their return from abroad, they will be at home in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Cahoon wore for her going away gown a King's blue crepe wool one-piece model with hat and coat of squirrel gray.

To guard your complexion

learn these important facts

The skin of your face is full of tiny pores which throw off moisture and impurities. Your face has also a multitude of what scientists call sebaceous glands. These glands supply natural oils—without these oils the skin would be drawn and rough.

So it is easy to understand that mistreatment of your skin or the use of unsuitable soap may fill up the pores or dry up the glands. Then these little organs will cease to work properly and your skin will lose its clearness and smoothness.

In order to remove dirt from pores and the skin surface, soap is necessary. The dirt that accumulates there combines with the oils and cannot be completely removed by any other method than soap-and-water washing.

Medical authorities say: "Wash sensibly with pure, mild soap. Then healthful, refreshing cleanliness will result." Ivory Soap cleanses thoroughly without needing to be rubbed in, yet it also cleanses gently without robbing the skin of its natural oil.

Daily washing with Ivory Soap and warm water, followed by a dash of cold water and a little pure cold cream, if you like, is the very best cleansing treatment for your skin.

Girls Too Young To Wed If They're In 'Teens

What Is the Time Limit on Matrimony These Days—Can a Man Support a Family of Four on $125 a Month?—Can the Friendship of an Older Woman Mean Anything to a Boy?

DEAR MISS DIX—How long can a girl stay single these days and still have a chance to marry? I was 22 this summer, but I am not ready to think of a husband. I take ballet dancing, and I want to learn more than I know now. I would like to go with different boys and have a few more years of good times. What do you think?"

FRIVOLOUS.

Answer:

There is no time limit on matrimony in these days. In the olden times a girl was called an old maid if she had not married by the time she was 23 or 24. Now she is considered a kid up to that age, a girl at 30, and she doesn't get to be a bachelor girl until she is around the 40 mark.

Recently a famous Brooklyn judge who presides over a domestic relations court expressed the opinion that no girl should marry before she was 26 or 27, and advised women to wait until they were 30 before they took the fatal step. This is good advice, for the older a girl is the better choice she will make and the more fitted she is for matrimony.

The girl who marries in her teens is almost certain to regret it, because her taste changes, and the boy who appealed to her childish fancy does not satisfy her demand in a mate when she reaches maturity. Therefore, by the time she is 25 or 26 she is nearly always out of love with her husband and in love with some other man.

The very young girl has not had her playtime, and so she gets tired of the monotony of domestic life and wants to be running around with the other girls and boys. She is disgruntled because she has to stay at home and walk the baby with the colic instead of jazzing in a cabaret.

So you are very wise in putting off marriage until you have had your fling at running around and want to settle down; until a good husband and a home look better to you than anything else.

Don't be afraid you won't have plenty of chances to marry when you are a little older. A woman is at her best when she is nearing the thirties and she attracts the men who are worth marrying.

You show your good sense in not tying yourself down to one boy until you are ready to marry. Go with as many as possible, and that will enable you to make a wise selection when you get ready to pick out one for keeps.

Girlhood is the only carefree time in a woman's life, and she is very foolish when she cuts it short. Stretch it out as long as you can.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widower 40 years of age with two daughters. The oldest, 14, is in her first term at high school. I am engaged to a young woman, but I earn only $125 a month. My fiancee thinks we could get along on that, but could not support the children on it, which is quite true, as she is accustomed to plenty. What do you think I should do? Keep my children in school or put the oldest one to work and have her attend a commercial school at night?

JACK.

Answer:

I think that you should put off getting married until your oldest girl has finished high school and has been taught some way to make a living.

If you take her out of school now you blight her chances in life, as she will have to take some very menial and ill-paid job. You owe it to her to give her at least a high-school education. When she is on her feet she can help take care of the younger sister.

That will defer your wedding several years, but that is the price you will have to pay for your fatherhood. When a man brings children into the world he is in duty bound to think of their good before his own happiness.

Don't try to marry on $125 a month. You couldn't possible support four people on that without dragging your family down into utter wretchedness.

DOROTHY DIX.

Household Hints

MENU HINT.

Bananas are a little heavy to serve by themselves for the breakfast fruit, therefore we will mix them with a little orange juice. Boiled rice is a nice change from the regular breakfast cereals and the raisins may be added or not, as you like. The rice may be cooked in the double boiler, but a cup of rice thrown into a quart of boiling, salted water and cooked rapidly until the water is absorbed will be delightfully fluffy and palatable. The saucepan in which it is cooked may be stood in another containing hot water to keep warm. Try cooking the breakfast cocoa in the double boiler and don't forget to add a pinch of salt.

SUGGESTIONS.

The Family Mending.

The problem of the sewing basket piled high with mending has been solved by one woman to her satisfaction. Possibly her solution may help others: Cut a piece of colored paper into small squares. Now when the basket of clean clothes comes up from the laundry, if you can't spare the time to mend just then, pin a square of the colored paper on each article of clothing or linen needing attention. Then put away both mended and unmended articles in the drawers and clothes presses where they belong. Each member of the family understands when looking for fresh clothing that the tagged article is in need of repair and is not to be used. Then when you mend, go to the drawers and closets and readily find the articles to be mended. There's a real satisfaction in having the things in neat piles where they belong rather than in a heterogeneous, untidy heap in a basket. However, the stockings find their way as usual to the capacious darning basket and that basket usually is tackled first last, and all the time.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

The tin wedding is celebrated at the end of the tenth year of marriage. Gifts for the tin wedding are a bit limited in these days of aluminum and glass cooking utensils, but there are still a few things made of tin that the housewife uses, dish pans, flour sifter, kettle lids, funnels, etc. As there is no aluminum wedding the "bride" will not be at all averse to accepting a few things of that useful metal.

The Wages of Folly

WHEN Helen announced her engagement to Joe Ducy, every one agreed it was a "perfect match." With their wonderful plans for the future, they were as happy as could be.

Then Philip Merton, an old school-mate of Joe's, arrived. Helen was instantly conscious of the good looks and fascinating manner of the stranger—and she often wondered what there was about him that attracted her so. And as the days passed, she found a strange transformation taking place within herself—a strange willingness to slip away for long drives with Philip—secret adventures which she thought of as innocent fun.

Then suddenly she found herself whirled into a drama of smashing events the like of which she had never dreamed.

Helen's story, "The Wages of Folly," appears in December True Story Magazine. It not only shows the difference between real love and the cheap imitation, but it will grip your interest and pull at your heartstrings as only a story of real life can do. Don't miss it!

Other Thrilling Features in December True Story are:

"The Uncertain Road"—Left an orphan, while still a young girl, to grope her way through life alone, unguided by the loving counsel of those older and wiser than herself, it is not strange, perhaps, that Betty made mistakes. But even then she might have escaped the crushing misfortune that came to her, if she had followed her own instincts, when she found herself in love with her employer. A heart-touching story every girl should read.

"Baby Fingers"—Abandoned at the height of a storm on an open prairie by her worthless husband—left alone with her helpless baby—Nellie began a battle with the world that few young mothers would care to face. How she afterwards fought to protect herself and child against the wicked plotting of ruthless enemies is an epic of courage and mother-love that will thrill and inspire you, and fill your heart with tender sympathy.

Worth While Reading

If you will recall the stories that have interested and impressed you most, you will remember that they told of events that could, or really did, happen.

True Story Magazine goes not merely part of the way in its quest for such stories. To be acceptable, stories must be true. As a result, the narratives that appear in this great publication have a meaning and a power for good that is not to be found in any other kind of magazine.

Every month you will find eighteen or twenty such stories in True Story Magazine—stories that dig below the crust of life and reveal the loves, sacrifices, struggles, triumphs and defeats of real people—the kind you see around you every day. Every issue is literally packed with thrilling, inspiring features. Your newsdealer has the December True Story. Buy it today.

Minister Recommends True Story Magazine

Dear Sirs:

I cannotoverestimate thevalue of True Story Magazine. I would recommend it without reservation to all. I am accustomed to use "Dramatic Story" sermons, taking the theme from some great book or inspiring magazine story. Already I have used three stories from the True Story Magazine before my great audiences of over 1400 people with great success. I watch for the arrival of your magazine with great interest, anticipating the finding of some great story to use as the basis of a dramatic address.

The True Story Magazine is something that the American people need.

Respectfully yours,
Rev. Laurence Breed Walker

A PAIR OF SILK STOCKINGS

ONE of the sweet-scented characteristics of the human race is the philosophic calm with which one man views another man's troubles.

The cotton crisis in the south furnishes a fair example of this charming trait. With the government reporting a 17,000 bale crop on hand the price of cotton has dropped to approximately 5 cents below the cost of production. Attention is directed to this startling fact and the rest of the country looks up from its newspapers, grunts a disinterested "Huh, huh," and then goes back to reading the account of the Hall-Mills murder trial.

The men in Washington are yipping their heads off to the effect that the cotton crisis in Dixie is in nowise to be regarded as a sensational affair. One of the correspondents, the other day, in a dispatch to his newspaper, wrote

"Damage to the buying power of the south, equal to the effects of '10 Florida hurricanes' will be the result of our record-breaking cotton crop, unless some way is found to lift the market price above the cost of production."

You can't upset the economic balance of one section of the country without disadvantage to the business structure as a whole.

The situation has created a chance for the women of the land to show the stuff they're made of. If every worthy sister in the country would substitute cotton stockings for the phoney "silk" product they now assume, Old King Cotton would experience an appreciable relief from the economic vertigo that is causing him to totter on his throne.

A pair of silk stockings today costs anywhere from $1.50 to $5.00—the price depending altogether on the strength of mind of the purchaser.

The life of an average pair of modern "silk" stockings may be said to comprise three appearances. After the third wearing a "run" makes its appearance or, a lesion manifests itself, a degree or two south of the garter clamp. That's the beginning of the end. These symptoms are almost immediately followed by rigor mortis.

Milady stamps and sighs and champs at the bit and runs around the boudoir saying "damn," over and over again, but she goes right on buying the shoddy shaft coverings, making a lot of greedy and dishonest "silk" manufacturers wealthier than men of their inclinations have any warrant to become.

Millions of women today who cannot afford them are purchasing "silk" stockings, because a few manufacturers with vast wealth behind them, by intensive advertising, have created a fictitious demand for their output.

It wouldn't be so bad if the material they made their stockings of were the real stuff. But it's doctored to a point where most of the durability is dissipated before it leaves the looms.

The process is to take a web of silk, smear it with gum, salts of tin and dye. This is called "loading." And when good, long-lived silk webs have been skilfully "loaded," and made into stockings, the product isn't worth carrying home from the shop.

A recent government test by the bureau of standards showed that "loading" reduces the durability of the silk about 75 per cent. The report was not widely published for obvious reasons.

If we were a woman and a manufacturer unloaded on us a pair of "loaded" "silk" stockings for which we had to pay a ridiculous price, we'd go out under a blasted oak tree and take an oath never to encase our ankles in anything but good old lisle hose that mother used to buy for 35 cents, three pair for $1.

Back in Maw's time a girl had to possess more than a pair of silk stockings before she could qualify as a "lady."

A STUDY OF JAIL BIRDS

THE annual report of the warden of Sing Sing prison, just published, presents some rather curious facts and figures, a few of them quite out of harmony with prevailing notions regarding convicts and how they got that way. Take the matter of education. Of the 1,452 criminals received from the courts during the prison's last fiscal year 67 were college educated, 136 had high school education and 707 passed the fifth grade. Forty-eight more college men turned to crime than in 1925 and 31 more high school graduates. Less than one-fifth were ignorant to the point of illiteracy. That idleness was not a prime cause of crime in these 1,452 cases is shown by the fact that 1,038 of the convicts were employed when they committed their crimes. Most surprising of all perhaps is the fact that of the 1,452 no less than 1,445 acknowledged belief in a Supreme Being and respect in the abstract, for religion. The extent to which they had received training the report does not reveal.

Speaking of "great moral victories," a good many folks have such coarse tastes that they prefer the common or garden variety of victory and will take no other.

The defeated candidate is in today for all the emotions experienced by the French king who marched his 20,000 men down again.

THE LADY OR THE POCKETBOOK?

NOT to be too personal, but to ask a simple question,, "Is it love or is it cash that commands your keenest interest?

In the movies the changes are usually rung on four vital interests—love, money, adventure and religion. Whether or not the list as printed here is in the regular order of importance, as conceived by the normal human being, is food for thought. The exaggerated accounts placed on love, topping all other human interests, is at any rate not set forth in life, though thus represented in the movies. It does not take a long journey from home to find that battles for money are longer, fiercer, than the occasional conflicts of love, whether physical, moral or spiritual love.

A man seeks his mate, the woman likewise, but the grinding cares of everyday life, the incessant rumbling and creaking of the machinery, all turn on money.

From the cradle to the grave, money, money, night and day, year in and year out, world without end.

American women complain of being neglected by their over-burdened husbands in business, but we have yet to see a photograph of an American woman who, to win more leisure for her husband would refuse to move into a larger house on a better street, "if" circumstances even remotely seemed to permit.

Love is a song, sung between the acts of the endless drama called "Money."

VERY BAD PRACTICE

THOSE who sink into the habit of scrutinizing other persons' general behavior, and passing judgment upon what they do and leave undone, do not thereby improve themselves, and work out their own perfection, for they do not always have sufficient sense of justice to avoid in themselves what they condemn in others.

Nevertheless, to observe and blame faults in others is a good way to become conscious of our own.

We require a looking-glass for the due dressing of our morals.

Wayne B. Wheeler is beginning to have a glimmering consciousness that things in real life don't always work out the way they do in story books and campaign propaganda.

Town Talk - - - By H. F. J.

A GRACEFUL GESTURE

Henry Ford, so reports say, is paying the "incidental" expenses of Queen Marie of Rumania during her American tour. And these expenses, the reports also aver, will amount to something like $500,000.

What of the proletariate find this as interesting, partly because anything pertaining to Henry Ford or Queen Marie either have an element of interest, but mainly because of the staggering cost represented. To the ordinary person, half-a-million dollars, of course, is a fortune of commanding proportions, and that such an amount should be spent on incidental expenses, "mainly for automobiles" come at once as a challenge to credulity and raises the spectre of extravagance.

Of course the world passes it off with "well, Henry can afford it." But at the same time it does seem to be unreasonable even for one of the wealthiest men in the world. It is hard for most folks to understand how even Henry Ford with his uncounted millions can toss off a half-million or so without batting an eye.

But even more puzzling at first glance is the question, "Why?" Why should the Detroit flivver king pass out this largesse to a foreign ruler? What prompts him to be the genial cashier of the royal party and distribute the nickles with lavish hand?

That is a question answered in generalities rather than by one or two specific statements. But put it down as rock-bottom fact that the astute Ford will reap in somewhere down the line.

That is a question to which there may be several answers.

The cold-blooded view, of course, conjures up a picture of Ford cashing in later on through an increased sale of his product in Rumania or elsewhere under the stimulus of queenly favor. This may have some element of truth, even though war-stricken Rumania, like most European nations, has never had the resources or human temperment to absorb automobiles with the avidity of an America.

Then, there is the advertising angle. Accounts of Ford's bounty have no doubt appeared in all the principal papers of the country and have brought the name of Ford to the forefront. And it always pays to advertise.

But both of these theories may be doing Ford an injustice. Probably he has given comparatively little thought to the question of whether or not his money spent on the royal party will ever return. Ford is no fool and ordinarily when he spends a dollar it goes as an investment designed to bring in profits later. But neither is Ford niggardly or tight-fisted when opportunity comes for real service.

So bearing that in mind, the present case is more than likely one in which the great manufacturer is making a courteous gesture. Marie and her entourage are traveling in true and queenly style, probably because of Ford's magnanimity. The queen, a worthy ruler if there ever was one, may have been saved some trouble, perhaps some embarassment and Ford can take credit for having devised a new and unusual philanthropy.

A bunch of us were sitting in the smoking car, and the conversation turned to incomes. One after another, the boys told pretty tall tales of the money they were making.

I had arranged my story carefully in mind. It was a dandy. It would make the rest of them look sick!

Just as I was about to spring it, the porter came in. "They's a telegrma for de income tax investigator," he said; "we can't make out de name. Any of yo' gentlemen in dat business?"

A man who had been sitting quietly through the entire bragging-match got up and claimed the wire.

Not such a bad world after all, considering the deluge of "Lucky Day" incidents that have come in to us! Go to it—remember that not only are accepted ones paid for, but quoted at the George White's Scandals! — New York's leading musical revue.

NOW WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT IT?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX.

1. What are the chief-wheat producing countries of the world?
2. What is durum wheat used for?
3. What country was durum wheat found in?
4. What states grow rice?
5. How can rice, which is a swamp plant, be cultivated on steep hills?
6. Which is more important as a human food, rice or wheat?

Answers to these questions in Tomorrow's Record News.

SCURVY AND PELLAGRA

It has long been known that scurvy and similar diseases are caused by eating too much wheat or rice from which the husks have been removed, thus causing it to lose all its vitamines. It was supposed at first that Pellagra, which is similar in some respects to the symptoms of scurvy, was caused by eating mouldy corn. Lombroso, who made a great reputation (now completely exploded) with his theory of a criminal type of face and head, also advanced the mouldy corn theory, showing that where Pallagra in Italy was worst mouldy corn was eaten. But when Pallagra broke out in places where no corn is eaten a British physician, L. W. Sambon, discovered that it was caused by a germ carried by the sand fly, as sleeping sickness is caused by the tse-tse-fly. Yet many people still believe that corn is unhealthy and may cause pellagra.

Now what do you know about that?

Answer to yesterday's questions:

1. Finland has more lakes than any other European country.
2. Besides the Great Lakes, Lakes, the Lake of the Woods forms a boundary between the U. S. A. and Canada.
3. Maine, Wisconsin and Florida have most lakes within their boundaries.
4. Crater Lake is situated in an extinct volcano.
5. Africa also has a chain of lakes called the Great Lakes, not so large as ours, but very big and at high altitudes and important as the source of the Nile.
6. Our Great Lakes were gouged of old river valleys by the Great Glacier, and then walled in by low morains.

TEXACO CUTS PRICE

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Nov. 8.—The Texas company reduced wholesale gasoline prices by one cent a gallon Saturday morning. Other companies are expected to follow.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the ginkette who calls up for long telephone calls. I pick out a time about meal time or late at night. I never mind if you tell me you are entertaining company. I assure you that I want to talk just a minute. I haven't anything important to say, but I must call and keep you from preparing the meal, from your friends or sleep. I haven't anything to do myself and so I make calls. All my acquaintances dread my call but I don't mind. "Just a minute, dear, and I'll let you go." The minutes stretch on as I talk just plain gossip.

Kellygrams

BY FRED C. KELLY

A man who has been superintendent for many years of one of the largest department stores in the United States sat with me at lunch today and told me a little about the different kinds of girls he has to deal with.

Since he employs hundreds of young girls, he has labored long and earnestly to learn their viewpoints. He says that he tries to deal with each girl according to her capacity to understand.

"It would not be just or sensible," he remarked, "to set up the same standard for girls of different temperaments and different intellectual grouping, any more than it would be wise to deal on the same basis with persons of different nationalities. When a foreigner makes a blunder in a question of ettiquet, because of his lack of familiarity with our American customs, we understand and make allowance. Similarily, in questions of morality I try to make allowance, according to a girl's breeding and early environment."

He then told me a surprising thing about the type of girls who most often stray too far from what is considered a safe route.

"Most people think," he said, "that girls who go wrong are instinctively vulgar. But I'm convinced that the truth is quite the reverse. Girls get into trouble because they are inherently refined but are so situated that they cannot easily be in the atmosphere of refinement that they crave.

"A girl lives, let us say, in a dingy section of a big city, but obtains work in a department store where she handles costly, delicate fabrics and comes in daily contact with customers who show evidence of culture and refinement. Her home surroundings begin to grate on her.

"The men she meets socially in her own neighborhood are vulgarians. Their language is coarse. If she were naturally vulgar herself she would feel at home with them. But because she is instinctively refined, she shrinks from their society. She doesn't wish to marry one of the men who have asked her, because their talk and ideas seem to her hopelessly rough and uncouth.

"On the other hand, there are men whose manners appeal to her sense of refinement. They talk in well-modulated tones, as if she were a princess. They take her to restaurants where she may eat good food, hear high-grade music and look at tasteful color schemes under soft lighting effects. But none of these men wishes to marry her. For their society and entertainment she must finally pay too much.

"My taste," he added," is to convince her that the price is too high."

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

THE FOLKS AROUND

We do not want so very much,
We do not ask for the praise,
We only ask for hands to touch
Our own on needful days.
The words of fickle flattery
So soon so empty sound,
But, oh, the joy of life if we
Can have our folks around.

A man may build a mansion fine,
And woman tend and care,
But all that makes a house divine
Is having someon there.
A very simple house will do,
A little bit of ground,
One room is quite enough if you
Can have your folks around.

And I, when I come home at night,
Shall not so much desire,
A little stable and a light,
An armchair and a fire,
I want to have, at set of sun
Some place that I have found
Where I can come, when day is done,
And have my folks around.

The saints have sung of jasper gates,
Have sung of streets of gold,
Yet not for these the sad heart waits
When life grows gray and old.
For heaven itself will just be this,
For this the harps will sound:
When we shall find the one they miss
And have their folks around.

C-C RECEIVING RESERVATIONS

Many Taking Tickets For Annual Banquet Here Friday Night

Several hundred reservations for the annual chamber of commerce dinner next Friday evening at the Junior college cafeteria had been reserved yesterday afternoon at the offices of the organization. Covers are to be laid at the cafeteria for 1,000 guests which will set a new record for attendance at these annual dinners. There will be a number of presidents and secretaries of chambers of commerce throughout the trade territory. Reports of the staff members will be submitted at the dinner. Five new directors are also to be elected. A number of features have been arranged for the dinner program.

Reservations should be made as soon as possible, so that if more than 1,000 expect to attend, arrangements may be made to care for them if possible.

Committees in charge of the plans for the dinner will meet today and tomorrow to make final arrangements.

A BUSY DAY

County Clerk's Office Handles 190 Papers In Day

Monday was the busiest day in the year in the county clerk's office, Miss Elizabeth Hall stated as she stamped the file number on document 190 for the day. That means that 190 instruments for filing were handled by the clerical force during the day, a much larger number than registered at any previous day during the year.

The documents consisted of the usual general run of filing instruments and did not represent any unusual type of business. "Filings in the clerk's office average better than one hundred a day, but when they near the 200 mark it makes a busy period," Miss Hall stated.

FIRST REFINERY

Alamo Plant Is Building in the Panhandle.

While the Alamo Refining company, composed of R. B. Pringle, O. L. Cordell, M. P. Youker and others, are building the first refinery in the Texas Panhandle field itself, the Humble Oil and Refining company is reported by Paul Wagner of the National Petroleum News to be planning a 10,000 barrel plant. It will combine skimming and cracking.

Amarillo Producers and Refiners corporation has a small plant in the Borger area, and at Amarillo the Amarillo Refining company has a fine plant.

Rumor has had the Skelly Oil company about to build a refinery in the Panhandle, but nothing has ever come of the fact.

TO ROUND CORNERS

Council Discusses Ways to Improve Traffic

A general discussion was held by the city council in regular session last night regarding the proposed system of cutting or rounding street corners so that traffic may be more easily handled, especially where streets are narrow.

On a great many streets of the city the curbing comes out so far cars turning to the right are clear across the street in making the turn, thus creating accident hazards, and slowing up traffic.

It is proposed to round off these corners so that a right turn can be made and still stay on the right sides of the street being entered.

TO BUILD PLATFORM

A contract was awarded to C. W. Hoggard of Oklahoma City Monday by the county commissioners court for the construction of a platform in the county clerk's office to facilitate handling of the records there. Two bids for this work had been submitted, one by a local firm, but the Oklahoma City man's bid was the lowest, being in the sum of $1,342.55.

TO BUILD NEW HOME

A franchise was voted favorably by the city council Monday for building of a spur railway track along portions of Pecan and Mill streets for the use of the Witherspoon Produce Company. The trackage will run alongside the property of the People's Ice Company, providing a spur for that concern as well as the produce company.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Also Take Little Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urninary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain 500 grains of acid and waste so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much! also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad salts. Take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice; combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. —Adv.

PAVING HALTS FOR PROTESTS

Little Progress Made On New Program at City Council

Little progress was made on street improvement program at the meeting of the city council Monday night as many of the projects are held up pending further investigation as to protests.

The hearing on the Forest street paving from York to Lexington streets was postponed for two weeks, as was also the Victory street, Duval to Harrison project. This latter project was delayed three weeks on request of both representatives for and against paving.

The city council accepted the paving work done on Sibley avenue, Holliday to Board, and the paving done on Galveston street, Mill to Mississippi streets.

A building permit was granted to W. C. Hudgins to construct a frame business house on his lot at 2306 Grant street.

Upon request of Panhandle lodge I. O. O. F. the city gave a deed for a cemetery lot which had been purchased for the burial of a brother member of the lodge, but no title was ever received for the property.

The city bought $5,000 worth of the city's water improvement bonds, which pay an interest rate of five per cent.

Pimples gone! a clean shave ready to meet the world

THEY'RE GONE! Those unsightly, annoying pimples that were such an embarrassment to you. Absolutely disappeared! S. S. S., the powerful blood cleanser and red, blood builder, did it!

Now you know what to do about such skin eruptions. Now you know how foolish it is to let pimples, blackheads, boils, blotches, eczema and such things remain to handicap you.

Now that you are free of such unsightly things, people will welcome you—like to see you and talk to you, instead of making excuses to keep out of your way.

When S. S. S. starts charging through your blood, skin troubles fade away. Your whole system is improved—nerves strengthened—appetite returns—strength and power comes back into flabby muscles—you feel like yourself again.

Howling Norther Halts Cotton Harvest As Pickers Desert Fields For Stoves

Northwest Texas was in the grip of a howling norther Monday which halted cotton picking activities when the colder weather was aggravated by a drizzling rain during the early morning hours. High winds accompanied the precipitation which was however minor in amount. Reports from various points about Wichita Falls indicated that at many places pickers deserted the cotton fields for the warmth of the kitchen stove. Towns from which reports were received were:

MUNDAY— The temperature hovered near freezing here today as the coldest norther of the season struck Monday.

DUNDEE—Cotton picking here slowed up Monday with the worst norther of the season blowing here. Gins reported a reduction of business due to the temporary halt in picking.

BOMARTON— Stoves, red-hot, and heavy overcoats were in order here today, with near freezing weather early Monday. High winds and cold hampered cotton picking.

ARCHER CITY—No damage was reported to derricks from high winds early Monday in the oil field here, but cotton picking was retarded.

BOWIE—Unusually high winds coming in the form of a raging norther struck here Monday. No damage was reported.

HENRIETTA—Gins here Monday reported a slump in business as cotton fields remained deserted by pickers who preferred the warmth of a stove to the howling norther.

OLNEY—Gins continued busy Monday morning turning out accumulated cotton already picked before the arrival of the norther which swept this section of the state. Many fields were reported deserted however.

FOUR LINES FIGHT

Opposition To New Ardmore-Vernon Railroad Grows.

VERNON, Nov. 8.—Four railroads have filed protests against the building of the proposed Ardmore, Vernon and Lubbock line from Vernon to Lubbock, officials of the new road announce. They are the Santa Fe, Frisco, Denver and Quanah, Acme and Pacific. The Kansas City, Mexico and Orient announces that it has no objections to the construction of the new road, while the M.-K.-T. unofficially states that they favor the new line.

The company will file application for a Texas charter they having operated so far under Oklahoma charter.

Electra Ranches Buy Fine Cattle

Several Hundred Head Fine Herefords to Restock Three Ranges

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Nov. 8.—Three hundred head of Hereford cows and heifers were purchased this week by George B. Ancell, Sr., from the Willis Johnson estate of San Angelo. They arrived in Electra early Sunday morning and were taken to the Ancell ranch, 10 miles south of Electra. Part of the shipment included 18 high-grade Hereford bulls.

Mr. Ancell says that he is restocking his ranch, having shipped out a number of yearlings and two-year olds this year. This new herd is expected to add to the value of what is known as one of the best bunches of cattle in this part of the state.

Mrs. Grace Jennings, pioneer ranch woman of Electra, also received 35 head of these heifers which will be used in restocking her ranch three miles southeast of Electra.

DOUGLAS BUYS HEREFORDS FROM ARCHER CITY MAN

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Nov. 8.—L. P. Douglas and sons of Electra, purchased 40 head of high-grade yearling heifers of the Hereford strain from C. G. Scott of Archer City. The herd was in a pasture near Chillicothe. Douglas bought them Saturday and shipped them to Electra where they were received Sunday morning and will be taken at once to Mr. Douglas' Wilbarger county farm to be pastured on the fall wheat during the winter months, and will later be brought to the Douglas' home ranch at Electra.

Tiny Tot Tales

MEDDLESOME MOLLY THE BAD LITTLE DOLLY

BY MARTHA HART

The two [owls] set the [doll] down just inside the [fence] of the little red [house]. "Now remember," said the larger [owl], "we will be near you all night. Don't try to run away or we will bring you back. Besides, we will tell the [fairy] queen and she will make you stay still longer."

So the [owls] left the [doll] just inside the [fence] and then flew to the top of a tall [tree] near by.

At first the [doll] thought she wouldn't even shut her [eyes] but the grass was so soft and she was so tired that before she knew it she fell fast asleep.

JEWEL SISK, SCRAP-IRON YOUNGSTER AT A. COYOTE WING, BROKE HIS JAW IN TWO PLACES DURING THAT TORNADIC AFFAIR IN THE LION LAIR SATURDAY, THEREBY TEMPORARILY LOSING POWER OF SPEECH.

Whereupon, one cannot resist the opportunity to arise and utter that wheeze: Think what a tough break it would have been were he of the talkative sex.

Correct this sentence: So great was her astonishment at hubby's unusually intelligent retort that she was struck speechless.

(Two errors there, the other being if you take Friend Wife's word for it, hubby cannot make an intelligent retort.)

* * *

But back to the fortitude of Sisk. The Wichita Falls footballer played an elephant of a game, (which is just another way of saying "a large game" without using that trite term "whale") and cracked nary a crack about jaw busted. He lost a bunch of molars during the melee, spit 'em out and carried on. In fact, didn't realize extent of injury until next day when X-ray photo was taken.

Don't know for certain whether that was courage or just darn foolishness, or perhaps hard-headedness.

PRO VS. AMATEUR

Which displays the difference between your professional and your amateur. Doughty pro grid athlete rarely ever gets crippled that seriously. He doesn't play so roughly. And if hurt, time out is called and a substitute trots onto the field. It's in your college and high school games that real battles for blood are waged. That and the sentiment attached is why the amateur draws fandom's hosts as compared to a few thousand who attend the professional contests. When Red Grange takes the field in professional regalia, there's a heavy rush for the pasteboards, that is, if it's his first or second appearance in that particular section. But Grange as a professional game after game will not draw a handful as compared to Grange of the Illini. The spirit, the fight and the sentiment is not there.

So would a deposed bank president like to have his bank back.

UNFAIR TO LUTTRELL

Some quarterbacks direct play with the effectiveness of the unsophisticated one sitting in at his first poker fest with the smart but fairly honest boys in the corner room down the boarding house hall—just proverbial luck of the beginner.

But wee Chester Luttrell, Vernon's sturdy little field general, didn't fall into that category Saturday. Fortune failed to favor, yet he ran his team like a veteran. Many of the miffed money boys who let sentiment place their wagers for them in direct contradiction of the dope, were prone to criticize Luttrell because Vernon did not make good that last gallant effort to turn defeat into victory. They would have had Vernon placekick for a field goal when three efforts to penetrate the Coyote forward wall failed within four yards of the goal. On the last down, Vernon had two feet to go. Had Gelhausen or Key, both worn to frazzle, dropped back and attempted a field goal, the odds, conservatively, were the kick either would have been blocked, or would have gone awry. If such a step had been taken and the goal made successfully, the score would have been tied with a minute or so to play. Slight chance for a victory. Luttrell staked all on a two-foot plunge, win or lose, rather than take the chance on a field goal with a deadlock score the best he could get out of it and defeat staring him in the face. For that matter, it is said Captain Gelhausen refused to try for a field goal. He was imminently correct.

* * *

The center held the football
And passed it with a thud,
And then they ran across the line
And all they held was mud.

At least, what they got had no more intrinsic value than an armful of mud.

LIEB TO COACH BADGERS

MADISON, Wis. Nov. 8.(AP).—The Capital Times today declared that George Little, athletic director and head football coach at the university of Wisconsin would turn over the football coaching job to Tom Lieb, assistant at the end of the present season and devote his time to the directors work.

Lieb came here from Notre Dame where he assisted Knute Rockne. Little has coached the team for two seasons.

MIKE SEEKS TITLE AGAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 8(AP)—Mike McTigue wants his light heavyweight title back. He plans to post a $2,500 forfeit check with the New York state boxing commission Tuesday, McTigue claims that since Jack Delaney added 12 pounds to his weight and is seeking a heavyweight match with Gene Tunney, the French Canadian has vacated the crown he won from Paul Berlenbach.

COYOTES MAY BE FORCED TO TAKE LAY-OFF

However, McCallum Angles For Hard Practice Game

Coach Bud McCallum Monday had not been informed as to the exact course his Crimson and Black penant streak would take this week. The muddle in the western half of interscholastic district number one occasioned by the triple tie of Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock left the Coyotes with a week of rest from league competition on their hands. Whether rest would be given the Pack or whether further activity would be in order McCallum had not decided, although he indicated that negotiations had been undertaken with two strong teams from North Texas one of which may be picked to give the Wichita Falls team another hard seasoning scrimmage this week-end. If Ludgate schedules a home event, the Coyotes will leave, but if the Indians do not play here this week the Coyotes will play here, according to a statement of McCallum's Monday. That all goes, provided that he finds his squad able to take more heavy grid nourishment this week after the bulky order of Lion dished out to the Pack Saturday.

According to information available to McCallum last night, the three teams now tied for western honors will decide by a toss of the coin the teams to play first. The first round will be played this coming Thursday. The winner of this round will meet the third member of the western league A group next Tuesday. According to league rules the winner of this round will then meet the Coyotes, champions of the eastern district half, Saturday, November 20.

Chance for Tie Again

With the three teams winning over each other by such narrow margins in their first series, a scant three or four points deciding the approximate superiority in each contest, there is no certainty that another tie will be averted in the ensuing schedule. This year under league rules if two teams tie, honors may be decided on the basis of first downs. The fact that no tie games resulted and that each team took a turn in licking the other kept that method from solving the western struggle this year. What would happen if another round robin of tie games should result from the next two engagements, something which is possible either in scores or in downs in such closely matched teams, is hard to conjecture, for the league rules require district titles to be decided finally not later than the twentieth of this month.

TOUGH SLATE ON EAST GRID

Brown, Navy, Army Swing Down Hard Home Stretch

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP) The "big three" in the eastern championship race—Brown's "iron men" the Navy's rugged crew and Army's stalwart eleven—start drives this week that will make or break their gridiron title aspirations.

The closing campaigns of this trio rival in interest even though they do not eclipse in tradition the struggles of the original "big three"—Harvard, princeton and Yale.

All three of the championship contenders face stiff opposition in the run down the stretch. Brown, with triumphs over Yale and Dartmouth already scored, tackles Harvard this week, then may ease up against New Hampshire before meeting the Colgate team that nearly upset Navy's victorious march.

Middies Pressed.

The Midshipmen have a difficult barrier to hurdle next Saturday in Georgetown which turned back Syracuse last week. This will be the last for the Sailors before going to Chicago for the big climax with the Army.

West Point has Notre Dame to worry about Saturday. Knute Rockne's warriors have pointed for this game. The string of a 27-0 defeat at the hands of the Cadets last year at the Yankee stadium, scene of this week's conflict has spurred on the midwestern eleven and its full bag of tricks will be opened for the benefit of the soldiers.

Army Same Team.

Army has virtually intact the eleven that trampled Notre Dame last season but Rockne's men with ad added season of development and experience, are expected to furnish much stronger and more resourceful opposition than they did a year ago.

Should both the Army and Navy hurdle this week's obstacles and go to Chicago for the annual battle unbeaten, claims to the championship of the east will depend on the result. Brown alone, the critics concede would be able to challenge the supremacy of either the Cadets or Middies. The Bruins will have a strong voice in the argument if they beat Harvard and Colgate.

New York university, LaFayette and Boston college may enter the college debate but none of these contenders play as imposing or exacting a schedule as Brown or the service eleven. The Navy, for instance, in beating Purdue, Drake, Princeton, Colgate and Michigan with Georgetown and the Army yet to come, will complete as difficult a schedule as any eleven in the country.

LaFayette Sides Easily.

LaFayette seems certain to keep its unbroken record intact with only Susquehanna and Lehigh to conquer. Victories over Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson comprise the chief items of the Maroon record. New York university facing Davis Elkins this week looks for its biggest test against Nebraska on the following Saturday at Lincoln. Boston college is on the war path this week with the Haskell Indians. If the hub team escapes a scalping it will have Holy Cross as the last big obstacle.

Holy Cross also is undefeated to date but has been tied by Fordham. Maine is another unbeaten eleven but scarcely figures among the major title contenders.

Baseball Is Seeing Its Greatest Shakeup
* * * * *
Ty Cobb Went Out of Game Gracefully
* * * * *
Moriarty Could Have Gone With Browns
* * * * *
Detroit Figured Heavy In Latest Deal

Never in the history of sports have upsets been so prominent. Pugilism has been turned topsy-turvey and now baseball gets its chance, especially so when the national game loses Ty Cobb and takes on two new managers in a single day. The occasion has never been duplicated.

Baseball has received its greatest shakeup. Four managers have lost their rain checks and five new "razzberries" have been named, all within the brief space of one month after the world series.

All of these have been a surprise to balldom, with the possible exception of Stuffy McInnis, who succeeds Fletcher at Philadelphia.

Moriarty, Dan Howley and Donie Bush came more or less as a shock to students of the game. Cobb steps out at a time when he could have gone on five years at least. There was that much baseball in him. He could have made a greater bench manager than a playing manager, but preferred to stay active in the game he liked so well.

* * *

In stepping out he does so because he thought he had had enough. He will be 40 years old on December 18, nearly twice the age of some of the boys around him, and still a far better player. Cobb never slipped for a minute as a baseball player. He played the game right up to the very end.

He showed the fans his rarest intelligence when he resigned because he thought he had enough of baseball. It was not that he must be razzed out of the game. He is as good today as the day he started physically.

Cobb's memory will always stand fresh in the minds of many by his quitting the game at this time and not through the ridicule of the faded and old-time ball player.

* * *

The selection of Moriarty as the new leader of the Detroit Tigers was not new. This writer and Moriarty knew it two weeks before the news was finally spread for the approval of the sporting world.

Cobb was on a hunting trip when George signed to manage the Detroit clan and it was decided at that time there would be nothing said until Ty came back. That would give the world's greatest all player a chance to excuse himself from the national game, with due respects, as a manager.

* * *

Early last spring, just before George left for his review of the spring training camps, he told me he was being "fished for" by Ball of the St. Louis Browns. Ball at that time offered Moriarty $15,000 and a certain per cent of the gate receipts on a three-year contract.

That was occasion for the early talk of Sisler's going as head of the Browns. George decided not to take Ball up at the time, but probably would have done so had not the Detroit bee started buzzing.

In deciding to take the Tyger job he only does so because of his allegiance to that club and Navin, for whom he played, and as captain of the Detroit baseball club.

Moriarty, at the time, had the Detroit idea in mind but could hardly make a decision when one was as favorable as the other.

More of Detroit comes to light when Dan Howley takes over the whip at St. Louis. Dan used to do the coaching for the Detroit club and singular enough he brings along with him a big leaguer who was pushed to a hurried exit from the majors to the lowly minors, in Steve O'Neil.

* * *

Fans are glad to see Steve come back home again; he was a most likable chap and we're glad to see him being "done right by."

Steve could have come back to the big league last summer. The Detroit club was playing in Cleveland and the Indians, Steve's former team, when Bassler, Ty's first-string catcher, broke his ankle. Ty wired for O'Neil's services to finish out the season, but Dan never as much as showed the telegram to Steve.

Howley wired Ty that it was impossible and at a later date told Steve about I tand told him exactly why, in that he was goin gto manage a big league club and at that time would take the receiver with him, "but you can't go without me," retorts Dan Howley.

That's answering the biggest shakeup in baseball. All have had some connection or other with the Detroit club, three directly and one indirectly, and Detroit was playing Steve's old team in Cleveland when O'Neil was wanted by Cobb.

LIGHT SESSION FOR PACK AND TRIBE GRIDMEN

Wintry Wind and Casualties Curtail Workouts of Both Clubs

Monday proved a restful day for the gridiron pastures behind Junior college, where for weeks the thud of tumbling wearers of the moleskin has made music of a sort to the evening breezes. The earnest arguments of old Boreas as he shot his biting shafts around building corners and across the open campus did not need much further support to convince the gridders of the two teams at the college and the high school that stayig under cover was a point of wisdom for the day.

Coach H. T. Ludgate of the Junior college was out of school all day entertaining a case of cold or flu, or some sort of relative to this kind of ailment, and, with the exception of Captain Steve and a few of his boys out for a little punting practice, the Indians called it a day. No game has yet been scheduled for the Tribe this week-end, and there is some possibility that none will be matched, to rest the team for the heavy duo with Tarleton and Decatur Baptist college November 19 and 25 respectively.

Tribe Unharmed.

The collegins survived their harc clash last Friday with the Cameron Aggies in good fashion, no injuries of any consequence turning up. The eligibility lists again failed to show any casualties, continuing the excellent record scholastically made by the Maroon and Gold gridders this year in keeping ineligibilities few and far between.

A few laps around the field for the small number of men able to make them was the whole program for the men of McCallum Monday. The Vernon clash turned out to be by far the hardest and most devastating of the games this year and the Pack was far from fit for duty Monday. While few serious injuries were suffered there were plenty of minor bruises and stiff joints that slowed up locomotion.

Two Coyote Cripples

Two Coyotes suffered more serious results that may prove a big handicap to the team for the remainder of the pennant sprint. Hunkie Ray, punting ace and hard-fighting guard of the Coyotes, was almost battered to a pulp from his numerous efforts to stem the Lion tide and suffered a broken nose that is practically mushroomed, according to reports given at school Monday by teammates. Hunkie will be missed in many ways if he should find his nose contrary at coming back in shape. His kicking has been a feature of the season, all the time until the Vernon game, where his boots were not so good. At Vernon the speedy Lion ends frequently rushed Ray before he could get his kicking stride and made some of his boots short of their usual range. Against the Lions Hunkie's fighting spirit was right at the top of a Pack in which every one fought in more than average style. Jewel Sisk, first-string end, is the other serious casualty, his allotment being a crash that cost him three jaw teeth and possibly a fracture of the jaw, according to teammates. The full extent of the two injuries and their consequence cannot yet be told. A rest therefore did the Packmen no harm.

To Meet Kopecky

CHARLEY MILLER

The middleweight champion of the Pacific coast, meets Joe Kopecky in a finish match preliminary to the Grip-Yaqui Joe embroglio Wednesday night at the Majestic. He is said to be an exceptionally tough egg. Matchmaker Ross declares Miller, without a doubt, is the best man matched with Kopecky in Wichita Falls to date. Kopecky has tangled with several hard onions here.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7.(AP) What is believed to be one of the most remarkable running performances in sporting history, if, indeed, the feat has a parallel in modern athletics, was witnessed today when two Tarahumare Indians, Tomas Zafiro and Leonicco San Miguel, ran more than 100 kilometers, or 62 1-2 miles on the highway from Pachuca to Mexico City, in nine hours 37 minutes. They finished fresh and fit. They were not panting and showed no evidences of fatigue and apparently were in shape to have continued running much longer.

BUCKEYES BAIT WOLVERINES IN BIG TEN CRUCIAL BATTLE

Wilce's Galloping Phenoms Stand Out As Stiff Test For Rolling Michigan Juggernout.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. (AP)—The same Ohio State football team which got kicked all over the western conference last fall went to work tonight with a big ten championship in view. The Buckeyes meet Michigan Saturday in a game which will eliminate one of three surviving title contenders unless a tie results.

Wilcie's galloping phenoms are the sensation of a vivid season with smashing triumphs over Iowa, Chicago and Columbia written into the record.

Yet the Ohio State team is the same one except for Raskowski, lineman, and Robin Bell, end, which a year ago was beaten by Michigan, Illinois and Iowa, tied by Chicago and a single touchdown better than the humble Indiana eleven.

Sensational Backfield.

Eby, Grim, Karow and other Buckeye luminaries have developed this year, however, into the most sensational backfield in the conference and big ten followers agree that Michigan's onrush to-iron title will confront its greatest test of the season Saturday. Preparations have been made to entertain 80,000 spectators at the Columbus stadium.

Michigan preparing for Ohio State with renewed confidence born of the wisconsin rout, saw a new ogre today for Minnesota must be met again a week after the Ohio game and the decisive manner in which the Gophers overwhelmed Iowa indicated that they will be no set-up such as the Wolverines found in the season's first engagement between the two teams, which Michigan won, 20 to 0.

Minnesota has a fortnight to prepare for the second Michigan game, meeting the weak Butler team Saturday.

Purple vs. Maroon.

The other head-liner of next Saturday's card engaged the attention tonight of Northwestern and Chicago.

Northwestern, having proved by beating Purdue that it is a real football team, shares the conference lead with Ohio State and Michigan and is a heavy favorite over the Maroons, who have not scored a point in three conference contests.

Iowa and Wisconsin, their seasons smeared by frequent defeat, will fight at Madison for comparative rank in the second column of the standings.

Purdue rests by playing Franklin before engaging Indiana two weeks hence and Illinois will have a casual afternoon against Wabash, giving the Zuppke force a chance to prepare for Ohio State, November 20. Indiana, having failed in all its big ten starts, may find a tartar in Mississippi A. and M., which is among the good teams of the south.

LOTS OF DUCATS

Rice Takes Host of Fans To College Station Battle.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 8. (AP)—With 1,000 tickets for the Rice-A. and M. game already sold in Houston, indications are that the Owls will bring with them for the game here Friday the largest delegation since the two elevens began meeting.

Rice showed much improvement Saturday in its game with S. M. U. and will be a hard foe to beat, Coach Dana X. Bible declared Monday.

Despite the fact that the game Friday will probably be to decide the cellar championship, there is as much interest in it here as though the conference's highest honors were at stake.

Coach Bible announced Monday that his squad is in excellent shape following the Texas Christian university game, and that the stiffest practice is in store for the Aggies. "Beat Rice and Texas and A. and M. and it won't be a bad year after all," seems to be the sentiment.

RED GRANGE SAYS PENALTIES OFTEN EXCEED GRID OFFENSE

Greatest Football Player in History of American College Competition Gives His Impressions On Rules For Record News Sport Readers.

BY HAROLD (RED) GRANGE
World's Most Famous Football Player.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—I am occasionally asked if I think the rules of football might be improved and, if so, where might the improvement be made. It is not for me to advise the rule makers who have done very well with the code but I do believe that football suffers from too many penalties, and furthermore that it is unwise to place further restrictions on the forward pass.

Secs. Reduction Needed.

Just how the number of penalties might be reduced will require earnest thought but I believe a reduction can be made, and the fewer penalties the better the public will like football. Of course I seldom sit in a stand while a game is going on but friends of mine who know football only in the role of spectators tell me that it disgusts them to see officials continually marking off the amount of yardage which one team or the other must give up for some rule infraction.

The officials are sometimes blamed for too strict enforcement of the code but in many instances they have nothing else to do. Often the rules imposes a penalty entirely out of proportion to the offense and one that takes many times the amount of ground which the rule-makers intended.

Cites An Illustration.

I recall one instance in an important game which is a fair sample of how the penalty is often too severe. The team in possession of the ball lined up at its own 20-yard mark and started a play around its left end. The back got away well, made a dazzling run that thrilled the crowd and was inside the opposing team's 20-yard line when downed. He had gained more than 60 yards but all the time one of the officials was standing with heel dug into the dirt where the play had started. The right end had taken his step over the line and so the ball was brought back and the team that made the long gain was set back with a penalty.

Too Severe Penalty.

Here was a player who in no way figured in the long run. He did nothing to help his own team or handicap the opposition and yet his one hundred step cost his eleven sixty-five yards of well earned ground, killed off any chance of a touchdown and possibly kept his team from winning the game.

LATE HOURS.

Coach Woodruff, at University of Georgia, has suspended 18 members of his team because they broke training rules during homecoming day. Whether the boys will be permitted to participate in other games this season is up to the coach. Late hours lead the charges against the players.

BULLINGTON IS KIWANIS PICK

Is Named By Nominating Committes as Next President

Reports of the two nominating committees appointed last week by J. L. Jackson, Jr., president of the Kiwanis club were given Monday at the regular meeting at the Kemp as follows: Jean Montgomery, chairman of committee number one read the following ticket: President, Grover Bullington; vice-president, Judge J. W. Akin; treasurer, Mike Ellis; district trustee, J. L. Jackson, Jr.; directors, Homer Sanderford, Ray Patton, Dr. R. H. Peterson, Lawrence Elkins, Kenneth Bebb, Hank Wolf, Gerald Pond.

Bullington.

D. M. Bernard, chairman of the second committee, read his report as follows: Grover Bullington, president; Ir. L. Cain, vice-president; Mike Ellis, treasurer; district trustee, W. H. Caldwells, Wiley Brown, Jake Price, Dr. F. R. Collard, Henry Wolf, Joe Aiken, W. S. Langford, Jean Montgomery, directors.

A classification talk was made by Ray Patton of the Nafziger Baking company, and Charles I. Francis represented the chamber of commerce in making an address to the club, asking co-operation of Kiwanians in the chamber of commerce drive for $75,000 to carry on the work of the organization in 1927. Saul Lebenson, member of the club, who has been away several months in New York and Europe, spoke briefly.

"To make the drive successful for the $75,000 next year to do the work outlined by the chamber of commerce we will need your help and co-operation," Mr. Francis said.

A committee composed of J. L. Jackson, Jr., Jouette Bonner, Harry Naylor, Wiley Brown, Hank Wolf volunteered from the club to aid in the drive when called upon for additional help.

"The baking industry is one of the oldest trades in the world," Mr. Patton said in his address. "It was recognized as an industry only a few years ago, and only as a business ten years ago."

Mr. Lebenson brought an encouraging message to the Kiwanians and expressed appreciation for Wichita Falls, in which he said there was some activity all the time.

"You may hear that Europe doesn't like Americans, but she does. They respect and admire them. They like vice-President Dawes very much, but there is a dislike for the late President Wilson," he said.

90 Per Cent of Junior College Students Photographed

Approximately 90 per cent of the Junior college students will be in the 1927 Wai-Kun, according to estimates made Monday after all had been photographed at the school. Out of the 200 enrolled in the school, nearly all were patriotic enough to have their pictures in the annual. This unusual showing is probably partially due to the fact that the Wai-Kun is not a one class book, as are most college annuals, but is an all-school book, and freshmen and sophs are both well represented on the staff.

WOMAN COULD NOT SLEEP

Her Mother-in-Law Knew A Remedy

Mrs. Belle Thompson, of Georgia, was in a very weak and run-down condition for four years. She had great difficulty in getting to sleep at night and even then did not sleep soundly. She would wake up again and again. Besides this her appetite was poor. "My mother-in-law told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash," she writes. "I took six bottles of the Vegetable Compound and I was not the same woman at all. I could sleep and would get up in the morning singing and feeling fine. I am the mother of three children and always after the babies came I had to take treatments, but I can truly say that this last time I have only used the Sanative Wash. It does me more good than the treatments. It keeps me on my feet to care for my children and I do most of my work. I feel it my duty to let you know how both of the medicines have helped me."—Mrs. Belle Thompson, R. 2, Rossville, Georgia.

BUILDING PERMITS

Residential Structures In Lead in New Building Of Past Week

Wichita Falls continues its giant strides in home and industrial building during the past week by piling up a total of $95,665 in new structures and improvements of old ones. The building permits, as issued by City Clerk W. E. McBroom, were slightly less than that of the previous week when $105,265 worth of business was done, but it is nevertheless keeping pace with the record set in the spring.

Practically all of the past week's building was residence property. There were only four permits, out of the 34 issued, for business property.

The total runs the yearly figures to $5,757,433, just a little more than a million short of the $10,000,000 goal set in the spring.

Individual permits were issued as follows.

Mrs. A. Aberoni, lot 4, block 7, Kemp addition, residence $1,000.

C. W. Kaid, lot 1, block 1, Patterson addition, residence, $400.

C. C. Parfet, 1706 Monroe, garage, $400.

H. R. Carter, 1909 Taylor, residence and garage, $5,000.

KNICK TO PRESIDE

Former Pastor Here to Conduct Mid-Week Service

Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker, presiding elder of the Dallas district of the M. E. church, south, and former pastor of the First Methodist church of this city, will conduct the mid-week service at the church, according to announcement yesterday. Dr. Knickerbocker has been transferred to the Little Rock, Ark., district, by action of the recent conference held here.

What might have been a serious injury for two men was averted Monday morning when a 20-foot section of the signboard in front of the J. C. Penny store fell very close to the men, who were standing on the sidewalk in front of the store.

DOKEYS HERE

Visitors for Few Minutes Enroute to Burkburnett.

This city was visited Monday morning by a delegation of Dokeys from the Azotes Temple of Fort Worth enroute to Burkburnett to organize a Crescent in that city, which will probably have headquarters in this city. A 35-piece band, a patrol of 16 men and the divan of 10 officers were included in the party.

The organization was perfected in Burkburnett last night when several hundred Knights of Pythias in the district were present.

Seeking Home For Three Little Girls

Texas Children's Home And Aid Society Has Trio Of Misses

In these trying days it is said that parents load themselves with responsibilities when they have a daughter to rear. It takes a person of a philanthrophic heart and a desire for mission work, probably, to undergo the task of training a girl child in this day and age, but that is just what Miss Katherine Henricle, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society of West Texas is trying to find—persons who are willing to become the parents of three little girls who are wards of the society.

All three have passed all tests required before they can be adopted, and have reached the age where they have already shown ability along certain lines. Two of them are musically inclined.

No home ties have these three little girls, who are not related, as it happens. There are no relatives for them to go to, and they need a dad and mother more than any three little children you nearly ever saw. Information concerning them may be had by calling Miss Henricle between 9 and 4 o'clock at 7756.

SPLAWN IMPROVING

Man Injured in Auto Accident Sunday Not Seriously Hurt

S. C. Splawn, 21, who was injured in an automobile accident Sunday night on the Petrolia road is reported improving at the General hospital.

The automobile in which the youth was riding collided with another machine and he suffered bruises and lacerations in the crash. He was brought to the city by a Hines ambulance.

COTTON GAINS 19 POINTS IN FACE OF BIG U. S. CROP REPORT

RECORD TOTAL OF PRODUCTION SET IN REPORT

1926 Crop Estimated At 17,918,000 Bales By Census Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. AP)—Production of 1,918,000 bales of cotton this year, based on November 1 indications, was announced today by the department of agriculture. A fortnight ago 1,454,000 bales were indicated. Last year's crops was 16,103,679 bales.

The indicated production by states follows: Virginia 48,000 bales, North Carolina 1,210,000, South Carolina, 1,160,000, Georgia 1,400,000, Florida, 28,000, Missouri 250,000, Tennessee 480,000, Alabama 1,450,000, Mississippi 1,830,000, Lounsiana 760,000, Texas 5,550,000, Oklahoma 1,780,000, Arkansas 1,550,000, New Mexico 75,000, Arizona 112,000, California 124,000, all other states 21,000, lower California (Old Mexico) 80,000.

Cotton of this year's growth ginned prior to November 1 totalled 11,259,038 running bales counting 358,327 round bales as half bales and excluding linters, compared with 11,207,187, including 184,706 round bales, to that date last year, the census bureau today announced.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8. (AP)—The cotton market was more active today, owing to the publication of the government report, but there was decidedly less activity than ordinarily is experienced on bureau days owing to the fact that the crop forecast of 17,918,158 bales were only a little above what was looked for. Prior to the publication of the government figures prices had advanced 14 to 18 points, mainly on covering by belated shorts. The first reaction to the government figures was a dip of only nine to 15 points which eventually extended to a loss of 16 to 19 points. This moderate dip attracted trade and investment buying and prices rallied 29 to 23 points from the lows and the market then quieted down for a time, but continued to rule near the highs. The market turned firmer again in the last half hour of trading and advanced almost to the highs on a fair volume of trade buying. The close showed net gains for the day of 17 to 19 points.

Liverpool came in lower than due, but the local market opened one to three points up on rather general rains in the belt. Prices soon became firmer on shorts covering and by the end of the first hour December traded at 12.50, January at 12.41 and March at 12.69, or 14 to 18 points above the previous close. These were the prices ruling just before the bureau figures were issued.

The market eased off right after the government figures until December traded down to 12.31, January to 12.35 and March to 12.52, but soon rallied on good buying. December advancing to 12.54, January to 12.57 and March to 12.72. The market turned firmer and rallied almost to the highs in the late trading, closing only a few points under the best of the day.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—The government report placing the indicated crop at 17,918,000 bales and the ginnings to November 1, at 11,259,038 bales was followed by slight reactions in the cotton market today, but after selling off from 12.54 to 12.37, January rallied to 12.49 and closed at 12.40. The general market closed steady at net advances of 14 to 17 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of five points to an advance of six points with near months lower under southern hedging and local selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. Trade buying and covering absorbed the offerings promptly, and the market turned upward shortly after the opening on pre-bureau covering. December advanced to 12.44 and March to 12.78, active months generally showing net gains of about 20 to 25 points just before business was suspended to receive the government report.

The official crop figures were almost in line with expectations as indicated by last week's canvass of New York cotton exchange members, showing an average crop idea of 17,912,000 bales, but the ginning figures were slightly above the forecasts and the report proved the signal for some realizing or liquidation and reselling by early buyers.

Prices sagged off to 12.37 for December and 12.64 for March, or within five to 10 points of yesterday's closing quotations. Trade buying continued, however, while there was little or no liquidation of increased southern hedging and prices rallied during the afternoon. The volume of business, which was fairly active early, tapered off, at the advance. December rallied to 12.56 and March to 12.73, and the close was within a point or two of these figures.

A comparison of the ginnings to November 1, with the estimated crop was regarded by local traders as indicating that an unusually large amount of cotton was still in the fields and that some of it might be left unpicked, if seriously damaged by unfavorable weather conditions.

Exports for the day 41,950, making 2,879,933 so far this season. Port receipts 92,207; United States port stock 2,478,938.

MQKT—NEW YORK STOCKS ....

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—Renewed efforts of bear traders to bring about a general reaction in stock prices by attacking the motor shares again failed today when the market moved upward, after several intervals of heaviness, under the leadership of U. S. Steel common. Steel closed 3¾ points higher at 147⅝ on buying influenced by predictions of an unusually favorable October tonnage statement on Wednesday.

Speculators for the advance laid considerable stress on President Coolidge's advocacy of a rebate on 1925 income taxes pointing out that several large corporations would benefit materially by such action. Another interesting development of the day was the New York stock exchange's correction of brokers' loans figures for last month, making the decrease $107,760,086 instead of a drop of only $27,600,935. An increase of $38,183,000 in brokers' loans for the week ended last Wednesday was reported after the close by the New York Federal Reserve bank. Banks called about $20,000,000 in loans during the day and the call money rate held steady at 4½ per cent, although loans in the "outside market" were reported as low as 4.

The government's latest forecast of cotton crop of 17,918,000 bales, a record-breaking figure, proved to have been discounted, cotton futures actually closing 14 to 17 points net higher on the day. The average guess of 96 members of the cotton exchange was only 8,000 bales below the government estimate.

While several brokerage houses circulated reports that a $4 would be declared on General Motors common at Thursday's meeting large blocks of stock were pressed for sale throughout the session, the closing price of 149 representing a net loss of 1¼ points on the day, but 2¾ points above the day's low. Jordan broke below 14 to a new low level for the year.

Railroad equipment shares responded to reports of good October business, Baldwin closing three points higher at 125¾, after having touched 128 and Pullman showing a net advance of 3¾ points at 179½. Coppers also gave a good demonstration of group strength, American Smelting climbing over three points while Kennecott, Utah and Green advanced to new high levels for the year.

Allied Chemical Foundation company, Sloss Sheffield, U. S. Smelting, Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke and Woolworth also closed three to six points net higher.

Heavy buying of Rock Island, which touched a new high at 65⅝ in anticipation of an early declaration of dividends, was one of the features of the railroad group.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges eased slightly in quiet trading. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.84¼ and French francs just below 3.30 cents. Italian lire held steady just below 4⅛ cents pending further study of plans for the proposed debt.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. (AP)—Dispiriting crop news from Argentina and Australia brought about something of a stampede to buy in the wheat market today. Largely as a result closing quotations here for wheat were firm, ⅝ to 1 c net higher. On the other hand, visible stocks of corn showed a tremendous gain of 4,074,000 bushels and corn reached a new all around low price record for the season. Corn finished ⅞ to 1⅛c off, with oats ⅝ to ¾c off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 52 cents.

Corn visible supply figures announced today, 26,332,009 bushels, were the largest of this season in many years, if not ever. Under such circumstances buying support was absent despite a forecast of general rain or snow throughout the corn belt. Oats eased with corn.

Demand for provisions lacked vigor.

OUTGUESSES SHARKS

LONDON, Nov. 8.—In the shark infested sea with the water colder than that of the English channel, 15-year-old Peggy Duncan, Monday swam from Robben's land at Capetown, a distance of about seven miles in nine and a half hours. Of six women and six men who started the race, Peggy was the only one to finish. One girl abandoned the swim a mile off the coast after having been 13 hours in the water. Another saw a shark three miles off the coast and scurried to a nearby boat. Owing to the coldness of the water all the men had given up at the end of three hours.

THORPE STILL PLAYS.

Jim Thorpe is with us again, playing on the Canton, Ohio, Bulldogs. In a recent game with the Louisville Colonels he scored two touchdowns and kicked a goal for the 13 to 0 victory.

"Honey Lou"

BY BEATRICE BURTON

READ THE FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

At a party given by ANGELA ALLEN, Honey Lou has two cocktails which are her first taste of liquor. She "passes out" and Angela takes advantage of her unconscious state to turn Jack against her.

Angela pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack begins to call on Honey Lou again, but he is very jealous and one night when DR. STEVE MAYHEW comes to the house Jack is very angry, although Steve is a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

A few nights later while Honey Lou is taking part in a Charleston contest just for a lark, he stalks out of the theatre where the contest is held, furious because Honey Lou was "making a holy show of herself," as he says. Honey Lou decides to leave Wallack's, and goes to work with Margret in the office of the Holy Cross hospital. One day she goes to tea with Angela and meets Jacks' mother, whom Jack calls THE HEAD, because she manages everything at home. She tells Honey Lou that "Grumpy" is not satisfied with his new secretary, ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp. The next day Jack asks Honey Lou to work for his father, who is at home sick with lumbago, and Honey Lou promises that she will.

Honey Lou is asked by "Grumpy" to bring the mail from his office to his sickbed. At the office she has an encounter with Ann, who accuses Honey Lou of stealing her job. Later "Grumpy" startles her by asking "What'h this I hear about you and Jack running around together?"

Honey Lou is angered by his question and decides to quit her job, but is argued out of it by the fact that "Grumpy" finally admits that he considers her good ted with brushes and bottles and jars of silver with three letters engraved on them—"H. L. W."

"For Honey Lou Wallack," she enough for Jack or anyone. Honey Lou meets Angela who tells her that Jack Wallack is taking her out to dance that evening. Honey Lou calls up Tim Donegal, determined to have him take her to the same place.

Honey Lou goes with Tim to the restaurant and he has been drinking. The place is raided by dry agents and Honey Lou escapes with Jack Wallack. Jack tells Honey Lou that he thought she was tricking him and ends by telling her that he loves her and wants her to marry him.

Honey Lou tells her mother that she is to marry Jack Wallack the next day, but her mother ask her to wait and have a wedding. Honey Lou's engagement is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

She meets Angela downtown and she persuades her to open acharge account under name of Mrs. Jack Wallack, Jr., and to put the shoes she is buying, along with some lingerie, on the account. But at home with Margret, who sees through Angela, she decides to take back the lingerie and Margret pays for the shoes for a wedding gift. Steve Mayhew's gift of a sewing cabinet is received, but Steve does not come to wish the bride happiness.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER XXVIII

It was still raining when Honey Lou got home. A steady gray downpour that darkened the sky and chilled the air.

But within the little flat, everything was warm and bright and cheerful. The rooms were filled with red and gold leaves, with golden rod and purple iron weed that Jack and Honey Lou had brought from the autumn woods, two days before.

"The wreath of orange blossoms for your veil came while you were out Honey Lou," Mrs. Huntley told her, as she helped her out of her wet coat. "My but you're like a drowned rat—I DO wish it would stop raining. You know what they say—'Lucky the bride that the sun shines on, luckless the bride that the rain falls on'!"

Honey Lou only laughed. "Yes, but it isn't raining rain to me—it's raining orange blossoms!" she cried, and ran out through the kitchen to the life pantry beyond. What did she care if it was raining?

In a white box in the refrigerator, lay her bridal wreath of tiny starry white flowers among their glossy leaves—her crown!

As she knelt before the ice box, looking at it, she heard someone come running up the back stairs and there, when she opened the kitchen door, stood Jack. He had a big brown paper bundle in his arms. It was wet with rain and so was he.

"Oh, you mustn't see me 'til the wedding," Honey Lou told him, and tried to shut the door on him. "It's bad luck—and mother's having a perfect fit now because it's raining. That's bad luck, too. You mustn't come in!"

But Jack was too quick for her. He put one of his feet into the crack of the door and pushed his way into the warm clean kitchen.

He dropped his package on the table, beside the frosted cakes that stood there in readiness for the wedding supper. Then he turned quickly and took Honey Lou into his arms.

"Darling, nothing can be bad luck for us," he said pushing back her hair from her forehead and kissing her all over her face.

"Do you like me as well today as you did yesterday?" he wanted to know, holding her tight.

"I love you much more—but you're cracking my ribs!" gasped Honey Lou breathlessly. "And besides I want to see what's in the package you brought me."

"I want you to see something else first," Jack told her, letting her go at last. "It's your engagement ring. We forgot to get one, you know."

It was true. They had actually forgotten all about Honey Lou's engagement ring in the excitement of the last six days.

"I never would have thought of it if The Head hadn't reminded me of the wedding ring this morning," Jack confessed in a shamefaced way. "It isn't much of a diamond, I'm afraid."

He slipped it over Honey Lou's slender little third finger. It was not a large diamond but it was as bright as a dewdrop with the sun on it, and Honey Lou put her lips to it.

"I love it," she said with a wonderful smile. "It's the most beautiful ring that ever was!" She meant it.

"The package," Jack said, picking up his wet hat from the kitchen table, "conjains another slight token of love from the smitten bridegroom. And now, I'm going, Honey Lou. If it really is bad luck to see you now, I'd better be toddling, I guess. "Goodbye, little wife!"

When he had gone Honey Lou opened the package. It was a dressing bag of tan leather, all fit-murmered aloud and dreamily, as she carried her treasures into the sitting room to show them to her mother and Margret. "Oh, I'm just too happy to live!"

While they were all admiring the ring, a knock came on the door and in walked Miss McComber. Her plump rosy face was wreathed with smiles, and her kind blue eyes twinkled behind rain-spotted glasses. In her hands she carried two little packages done up with white satin ribbon.

"I declare, Honey Lou," she said breathless for her climb up the stairs, "I feel just as if you were my own daughter getting married. I declare I do!" Poor old Miss MacComber, who had never had any children to mother but other peoples' children who came to her kindergarten!

"I brought you something 'borrowed and something blue,'" she said, handing Honey Lou the little package. "You know, a bride's got to wear certain things if she's going to be happy."

And then she quoted the little rhyme that hundreds of brides have said on their wedding days, for hundreds of years:

"Something old and something new,
Will make a bride's best wish come true."

Honey Lou opened the little packages. In one was a pair of pale blue garters, trimmed with blue silk rosebuds. And in the other was one of the plain silver cuff pins that Miss MacComber wore to school every day.

"You may borrow it, and pin it on your self while you're getting married," she told Honey Lou, "but remember to give it back to to your ma before you get ready to go, because I'll need it tomorrow morning."

The girl nooded her bright head. "I'll wear it, and thanks lots" she said, "but I don't believe such superstitious nonsense, do you? Why, I know I'm going to be the happiest woman in the world with Jack, no matter what happens!" She gave the three women a smile that went straight to their hearts, as she said it.

Long afterward, she remembered what she had said that day to Miss MacComber—and Miss MacComber and Margaret and her mother remembered it, too. They had good reason to, all four of them!

* * *

She stood before the wavy old mirror in the bedroom, and looked at her shining reflection in it. Ex-

"How do you do," she greeted Margaret shortly in a cold tone.

Then she went on talking to Honey Lou: "I brought you a book to slip into your traveling bag, darling. Even the happiest bride is sure to want something to read on her honeymoon." She slipped the book into the new tan dressing bag.

Five minutes later when she and Honey Lou left the room to help Mrs. Huntley hook up her new lavender silk dress, Margaret citement had drained all the pink from her cheeks, and her skin almost the color and sheen of the white satin dress that fell around her in heavy stiff folds.

She ran her eyes along the ivory smoothness of her arms and her neck, and was thankful for her loveliness as only a bride is thankful for her beauty.

"I haven't a thing to give Jack but myself, and I'm glad I'm not—exactly ugly," she was thinking when Margaret's voice broke in upon her thoughts.

"Honey Lou," she said, and in the glass her eyes were fixed on Honey Lou's smooth whiteness, "you just have everything worthwhile in the world, don't you? You're making a wonderful marriage, and you're so beautiful that it's no wonder every man who comes along falls head, neck and heels in love with you. Steve Mayhew—" She could get no further. Her voice broke on Steve's name, and she drew in her breath with a sharp little hiss.

The next second she had turned away from the mirror, and dropped into the rocker by the window with her head down in her hands. She was crying.

Honey Lou said nothing. There was no use in saying anything.

She knew and Margaret knew why Steve had stayed away from the house for the last six days—ever since the engagement had been announced in the paper. There was no doubt in her mind that Steve was in love with her as he never had been in love with Margaret—and she was far too honest to pretend anything else.

She could only put her arms around Margaret, and hold her close, stroking the dull, dun-colored hair with a comforting hand.

The first of the wedding guests to arrive was Angela. Angela, all in white satin and pearls, and carrying a great sheaf of flowers.

"Why, you look like a bride, yourself!. You're going to put me completely in the shade! Honey Lou declared when she walked into the house. "Doesn't she look wonderful, mother?"

Mrs. Huntley frowned a little at the question. There was no doubt that Angela looked very beautiful in her white clothes, and very bride-like, too. She smiled angelically.

"This was the dress I'd planned to wear when I got married, myself," Margaret heard her say from the bedroom where she was putting a few last touches to her own dress of green taffeta. "I bought it in Paris, years ago."

"I'll bet she was planning to marry Jack Wallack, herself, when she bought it!" said Margaret to herself, with a tight smile.

looked at the book she had bought.

It was one of May Sinclair's—the story of a man who marries one woman while he is in love with another.

Margaret happened to have read it, and knew what it was all about.

She gave a little snort as she looked at it. Then she carried it to the window and deliberately dropped it into the rain-swept alley below!

"That's a nice book to give Honey Lou on her wedding trip!" she said to herself, "and she's a fine kind of a friend!"

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Wichita County.—Greetings:

You are hereby commanded to summon W. G. Burton, Lon C. McCrory, A. L. Steel, C. M. Beeler, J. D. Dunn, G. W. Wentz, G. W. Hustead, A. H. Hustead, R. H. Hustead, J. W. B. Tucker, J. W. Rowley, T. Frank Hines, Robert C. Evans, William Carter, H. C. McClelland, George H. Weber, the Fort Steubin Oil Company, a joint stock association, and PuLox Oil Company, a joint stock association, all of whose residences are unknown, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th District Court of Wichita County, to be holden at the Courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in December, A. D., 1926, the same being the 6th day of December, A. D., 1926, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 1st day of November, A. D., 1926, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 19069-B.

Wherein W. W. Fraser, who resides in Wichita County, Texas, is plaintiff, and W. G. Burton, Lon C. McCrory, A. L. Steel, C. M. Beeler, J. D. Dunn, T. W. Wentz, G. W. Hustead, A. H. Hustead, R. H. Hustead, J. W. B. Tucker, J. W. Rowley, T. Frank Hines, Robert C. Evans, William Carter, H. C. McClelland, George H. Weber, the Fort Steubin Oil Company, a joint stock association, and DuLux Oil Company, a joint stock association, all of whose residences are unknown, are defendants, and said petition alleging:

That the plaintiff resides in Wichita County, Texas, and that the residences of the defendants are unknown; that on or about the 14th day of September, 1925, plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of the oil and gas leases and leaseholds, carrying therewith 7-8 of the oil and gas produced and saved therefrom, on and covering the following described land in Wichita County, Texas, to-wit:

FIRST TRACT: Five-acres in the Northeast corner of Block 55, Kemp's Wichita Valley Farm Lands Subdivision, and being the East 5-acres of the North 15 acres of a 110-acre tract, out of said Block, said 110-acre tract being all of said Block save and except the 50 acres in the form of a square in the Northwest corner of said Block.

SECOND TRACT: 21-acres out of Block 1, Meade's Subdivision of the West 1-2 of the Margaret Ramsey Survey, described as follows:

Beginning at the Northeast corner of said Block No. 1, thence West with its North line 691 feet to a stake; Thence South 1,275 feet to a stake; Thence East 691 feet to the East line of said block; Thence North 1,275 feet to the place of beginning.

That on or about said date the defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom, and unlawfully withholds from him the possession thereof to his damage in the sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars.

Plaintiff prays for citation and for judgment for the title and possession of said premises, oil and gas leases and leaseholds, for his rents and damages, costs of suit and general relief.

Further complaining of said defendants he alleges that they executed the assignments of said leases hereinafter mentioned, under which plaintiff holds, and which assignments through mutual mistake erroneously or inaccurately rescribed the property assigned to-wit: (a) Assignment from W. G. Burton to J. Y. McQuigg, Jr., dated December 16, 1918, recorded in Vol. 109, page 467, Deed Records of said County, covering the first tract mentioned; (b) Assignment from Lon C. McCrory and A. L. Steel to C. M. Beeler and J. B. Dunn, dated March 27, 1919, recorded in Vol. 123, page 230, of said records, covering first tract mentioned; (c) Assignment from J. B. Dunn and C. M. Beeler to PuLox Oil Company, dated May 10, 1919, recorded in Vol. 131, page 237, Deed Records of Wichita County, covering the first tract above mentioned; (d) Assignment from PuLox Oil Company to G. W. Wentz, dated December 23, 1919, recorded in Vol. 153, page 290, of said records, covering the first tract above described; (e) Assignment from G. W. Wentz to Fort Steubin Oil Company, dated May 1st, 1920, recorded in Vol. 158, page 307, of said deed records, covering the first tract above mentioned. Plaintiff also alleges that by reason of the mutual mistake and inadvertence the following named instruments do not correctly described the property assigned to be affected, which property was the two tracts above mentioned, and which instruments are also muniments of his title: (a) Judgment of the 89th District Court of Wichita County, Texas, of date October 11, 1921, in Cause No. 11767-C, styled A. E. Davidson et al vs. Fort Steubin Oil Company; (b) Order of sale issued out of said cause on November 5, 1921; (c) Return of Fred K. Smith, Sheriff of Wichita County, Texas, on said order of sale; (d) Sheriff's deed of the 6th day of December, 1921, from Fred K. Smith to W. E. Wilson, recorded in Vol. 183, page 594, of the deed records of said County.

Plaintiff prays for judgment reforming all of said instruments so that they will speak the true intent of the parties and the court executing the same, and so that they will correctly describe the two tracts of land as above described.

Plaintiff also alleges that defendants, George W. Hustead, A. H. Hustead, R. H. Hustead, and J. W. B. Tucker, are claiming some interest in said land by virtue of an alleged mechanic's lien, which lien and claim plaintiff says is barred by limitation and is void and of no effect, and prays that the same be cancelled as a cloud upon his title.

Herein fail not but have before said Court at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said Court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 1st day of November, A. D., 1926.
(Seal) EUNICE JACKSON,
Clerk, District Court, Wichita County, Texas.

NOTICE
To C. W. Lewis and all who may be concerned:

You are hereby given notice that on Wednesday, the first day of December, A. D. 1926, I will offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, one Chevrolet touring car, state license number 21-314, engine or motor number 3A-51107, model 1921, said car now at Scotland Service station, 1200 N. Third street, Wichita Falls, Texas, the sale to be at 2:00 o'clock p. m., at said garage, the money received to be applied to payment of my bill for $68.75 for labor, repairs and storage charges, as provided by law.

Witness my hand this fifth day of November, A. D. 1926.
A. A. SPENCER.

Physicians of County to Conduct Study Course at General Hospital

Physicians of the medical profession of Wichita County have just completed plans for a scientific course to be given in the General hospital, of Wichita Falls. The course will be in the form of post graduate medicine, and will be given by Dr. W. A. Rupe, chief of children's clinic, children's hospital, St. Louis. The entire course will be in pediatrice. (Care and treatment of children).

The course is open to regular licensed practicing physicians only. The course will start about November 18, the exact date to be determined later.

This work is being given under the joint auspices of the Oklahoma state school of medicine and the extension division of the University of Oklahoma. The same course will be given in several Oklahoma towns, on different days of the week. One lecture and one clinic will be given each week for nine weeks. In the clinics any children will be examined by this specialist, however, parents desiring their children examined should first secure a permit through some physician affiliated with this movement. The following physicians of this section are promoting this course:

Dr. Curtis Atkinson, Dr. F. R. Collard, Dr. J. H. Fletcher, Dr. J. C. A. Guest, Dr. H. P. Ledford, Dr. T. C. Lynch, Dr. L. Macheckeny, Dr. W. L. Parker, Dr. L. D. Parnell, Dr. A. D. Patillo, Dr. J. W. Powers, Dr. William Rosenblatt, Dr. C. W. Stevenson, Dr. A. P. Terrell and Dr. W. S. Tyson, all of Wichita Falls. Dr. Gordon Clark, Iowa Park; Dr. Bain Leake, Burkburnett; Dr. F. C. McCurdy, Archer City; Dr. J. W. Shaddix, Electra; Dr. I. D. Russell, Burkburnett.

'Scandals' Dance To City's Delight

Big Road Show Gives A Gorgeous Exposition At Majestic Monday

George White's "Scandals" lanced its collective way into high favor in Wichita Falls Monday when the seventh annual renewal of the big dancing and musical show made its local appearance at the Majestic.

Dancing of the highest order, brilliant costumes and lighting effects, with fair music and comedy comprised the offering. The "Scandals" was a melange of about all that is to be found in the usual comedy show of its type. It was good, but the real artistry of the troupe lay in the intricate and gorgeous dance ensembles, the skillful solo numbers and the intricate combinations of tripping figures that wove colorful patterns over the stage.

Sammy and Lillian Howard, Eddie Lee, Georgia Carson, the Scandals chorus, the Albertina Rasch girls and a few others carried the bulk of the individual work.

DOG TAX ADOPTED

The new city dog tax ordinance finally became a law at the third and final reading before the city council last night, when it was unanimously adopted.

The new ordinance makes very little change so far as the dog owner is concerned, but it eliminates the double issuance of receipts and tags by the city department. Under the old law a dog owner was required to get a certificate and tag for vaccination and a certificate and tag for dog tax. Under the new regulation he is only required to get a certificate and tag for the license, but these legal evidences will not be issued until the dog has been vaccinated.

GAUDY DRESS FOR SENIORS

Dress-Up Day to Be Observed Each Week Hereafter

Colors of orange and white tied in decorative bows marked one table in the Junior college cafeteria Monday, when mid-year seniors sat together during the lunch hour at the school. Boys in white trousers and orange shirts, and girls in orange dresses were seen in all senior classes and in the halls. Monday will be set aside from now on as the mid-year senior dress-up day, and the table in the cafeteria will be reserved each Monday.

ALL DRESSED UP.

Black, red and white were chosen as the class colors for the spring graduating class of the high school Monday morning at the regular class meeting. Boys will wear black trousers, white shirts and red ties and girls will be attired in red and white checked frocks with black ties on every Friday from now on, according to the plans made in the meeting.

Billie Hood was elected class poet and Jack Jamison class reporter at the meeting. James Moore, president, was in charge.

ORDERS FOR RINGS.

Those who want Junior college rings and pins by Christmas are advised to place their orders this week, according to announcement made at the school Monday. The first order will be sent off this week-end or the first of next week and the next order will probably be too late for Christmas.

NEGRO ACQUITTED

John Walker Found Not Guilty On Murder Charge.

The case of Jim Walker, negro, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of another negro, Charlie Hudson, was tried in Judge P. A. Martin's 89th district court Monday and an instructed verdict of not guilty was returned on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Walker was arrested shortly after Hudson was killed in an alley just off Scott street on May 19. He was formally charged with the crime. The state could not produce evidence sufficient to convict and Judge Martin instructed the jury for acquittal.

CANVASS RETURNS

County Commissioners Find Two Boxes Are Missing.

That voters in at least one precinct in Wichita Falls did not even know an election was held last Tuesday is the opinion of county commissioners who met Monday morning to canvass returns of the general election. Of the 24 boxes in the city all were present or accounted for but two boxes, No. 9 and No. 16. One of these was brought in later in the day, but one is still out and no information was available as to its whereabouts.

The court examined and canvassed returns of all boxes with the exception of these two. It postponed announcing winners until these boxes could be canvassed, which will be done next Monday.

There were 1941 democratic votes polled in the county; 253 republican votes and eight socialist votes. There were also several independent votes cast for various candidates but no full independent tickets. The figures given are those in the governor's race.

It is said to be the lightest vote polled here in several years.

$20,000 BUILDING

A building permit was issued yesterday by city clerk to Walter Reid for construction of a two-story brick business house at 907 Scott street. The building will be erected at a cost of $20,000, and the contracting work will be done by Reid & Costley.

GAS IS "DELIVERED" right up to your burners

think of the work and the time you save with GAS

GAS HAS been accepted as a modern convenience by most people for so many years that few realize any longer just how much of a convenience it really is, compared with its predecessors, wood and coal.

Just consider wood for a minute.

Wood had to be ordered from varying sources; it had to be neatly piled in the yard or wood shed, after it was delivered. It had to be sawed, chopped, and carried, armful by armful, to the wood-box on the porch or in the kitchen. The fire had to be "built" each time, and started off with paper, kindling, shavings, and perhaps a dash of oil to make it burn quickly. Then, you had to put in heavier wood, wait for the stove to get hot, readjust the damper, put in more wood from time to time, shake it down once in a while, etc. To say nothing of the ashes that had to be dumped and carried out—and a lot of things that we haven't the space to mention! Frankly, now, how DID you ever manage to cook and heat with wood?

And coal—it wasn't much better. Coal had to be broken up, carried from the coal shed to the coal box. The fire had to be started with paper and kindling wood; you had to put in coal every little while, adjust dampers, dump and carry out ashes, etc. And think of the soot and coal smoke that made it almost impossible to keep curtains, carpets and furniture clean!

Wood and coal were among the greatest INconveniences that the whole household had to contend with!

But gas—now there's real convenience! All you have to do is turn a handle and light a match. The gas company "delivers" the gas right up to your burners—you never run out—and you get instant heat, whenever you want it, day or night, or steady, continuous heat, if you want it. Gas is clean, quick, cheap, convenient—the ideal fuel—for cooking meals, heating water, or heating your home.

For 17 years, Lone Star Gas Company has been developing the natural gas resources of the Southwest, and making gas available through its pipe lines to an ever-increasing number of Texas and Oklahoma communities. It has the pleasure of serving you, indirectly, through delivering gas to your local gas company.

Lone Star ★ Gas Company

★ The Lone Star Gas Company is a producer, purchaser, pipe line transporter and wholesaler of natural gas. It bridges the gap between the gas fields and your local gas company's city distributing lines and thus serves you by backing up the service of your local company.
