

Inquiry Set On Medical Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four Senate committees are preparing separate investigations into the unprecedented increases in the cost of medical care, notably physicians' fees and hospital charges.

With the Johnson administration pinpointing the rising cost of medical care as the single most inflationary aspect of the nation's economy, congressional concern was expected to produce a series of critical hearings dealing with almost every major phase of the $40 billion a year health industry.

Included in the various studies will be a close look at the relationship between cost increases and the policies of government and private health insurance programs.

While final details are still being ironed out, the big health care investigation shapes up this way:

—Government operations subcommittee on executive reorganization, headed by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., a former secretary of health, education and welfare; hearings to begin next month or in March.

Ribicoff is moving cautiously.

LBJ Continues Work on Budget, New Legislation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson continues preparations today on the election-year legislative package and whopping federal budget he must sell to Congress.

Unlike previous years, Johnson and his Texas White House spokesmen have dispensed minimum of preliminary information on future "Great Society" proposals and budgeting.

While the Chief Executive has stayed out of the limelight at the LBJ Ranch, high administration officials in Washington have been setting the stage by passing the word that next year's budget will go anywhere from $180 billion to $190 billion.

The President gave no hints prior to the State of the Union address he will deliver at 9 p.m. EST Wednesday to Congress, and to the nation on TV and radio.

He has worked in the solitude of the LBJ ranch during the 17 days he has been in Texas. And he has had only a few visitors of Cabinet level and a few staffers with him.

The traveling White House press crew has seen him only twice in that period—at a news conference on Jan. 1 and at a welcoming ceremony for Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol. On each occasion he was in jovial spirits and appeared to have slimmed down a bit.

Marine Transport Missing in Storm

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (UPI)—A four-engine Marine Corps transport plane, carrying at least 19 military personnel, was missing and "presumed down" Wednesday night in a storm over the Nevada wilderness.

The plane, a C-54 capable of carrying up to 50 passengers, was enroute from the Marine base at Quantico, Va., to Seattle, Wash.

Marine officials at Quantico said the plane's passengers were "to visit a number of western military bases for a period of four days." The craft left Quantico on Jan. 8 and stopped at the Buckley Air National Guard station in Colorado where the party visited nearby Lowry Air Force Base.

The Marines said the plane left Lowry at 11:44 a.m. EST, on the flight to Seattle. It was last heard from at 4:50 p.m. EST when the pilot reported that the plane was "dropping fast" with heavy icing on the wings.

Battle Mountain is in northern Nevada, about 160 miles east-northeast of Reno.

A spokesman said when the plane left Quantico it carried 13 passengers and a crew of six. "Other personnel may have boarded the plane at Buckley, but I don't know," he said.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Howe. (Adv.)

but Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another member of the panel, is expected to dig deeply into physicians' incomes and possible fee abuses. Physicians' fees jumped 7.8 per cent in 1966 and about 7 per cent last year compared to only 3.8 per cent in 1965—before Medicare went into effect for 19 million Americans.

Judiciary subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly, headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., has been conducting a series of hearings on doctors' relationships with various health industries.

This panel's particular concern now is the "fat doctor" (See COSTS, Page 3)

Rusk Suggests Population Is More Serious Threat Than War

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In another week, Dean Rusk will have served as secretary of state longer than all but five of the previous 53 secretaries. Primarily because of Vietnam, he has become one of the most controversial occupants of that office in history. In the following dispatch, based on an interview with UPI's chief Washington diplomatic correspondent, Rusk looks back on his years in office and assesses the future.)

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—As the world approaches the 21st Century, the population explosion may well pose a greater threat to peace than the problem of nuclear weapons, in the view of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Assuming that the Vietnam war is settled and nuclear holocaust averted, the secretary regards the ever growing number of people in the world as among "the major tasks, perils and problems ahead."

"The major problems will arrive out of the sheer numbers of people," he said Wednesday in an anniversary interview with United Press International. "At the present time there is no nation that is putting forward the doctrine of 'lebensraum' (living space) for territorial expansion or aggression against its neighbors. That's because there is considerable confidence that science and technology can somehow deal with this problem of people and resources."

"If that hope disappears, we could have new crises arising out of sheer pressure of population. It is a race between scientific and technological advance on one side and limitation of the growth of the species on the other. In the 1980s and 1990s this problem could be at least as explosive as the nuclear weapons problem."

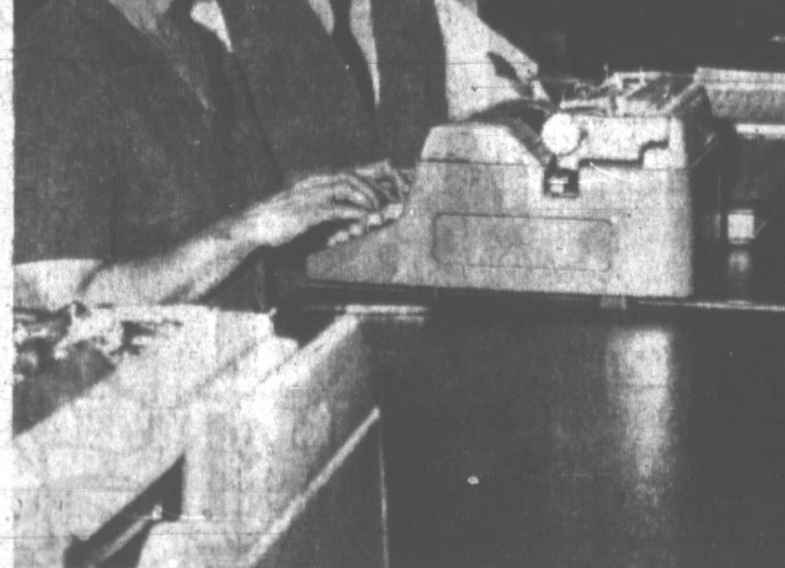

Rusk, who began seven turbulent years in the top

Cabinet post on Jan. 21, 1961, ranged over a wide variety of topics during the interview, viewing the attacks he has undergone since taking office with philosophic detachment and with a wry humor seldom glimpsed in public.

In the early Kennedy days, these assaults came principally from critics who viewed him as "weak and vacillating." Currently he is pictured as the evasive genius behind the unwavering Vietnam policy that has provoked one of the greatest public debates in U.S. history.

Through it all, Rusk has maintained the aplomb and courtesy he considers vital armor for a diplomat entrusted with life-and-death matters in the nuclear age. "This job doesn't have much room for losing one's temper," he said.

But he acknowledges privately that he frequently has to "bite my tongue" to suppress the retorts that might naturally (See RUSK, Page 3)

1968 VOTER REGISTRATION — A. M. Barnes of 515 N. Russell was well ahead of the Jan. 31 deadline for 1968 voter registration when he appeared at the tax assessor-collector's office yesterday in the Gray County Courthouse to sign up. Mrs. Fran Gleson, left, registered Barnes while Jack Back, center, Gray County tax assessor-collector, looks on. Voter registration is expected to run well ahead of last year's 10,000, Back said.

School Board Meets On Damron Contract

The Pampa School Board was to meet in executive session today to discuss the contract of Superintendent of Schools Dr. John Damron following the regular board meeting, which at 11 a.m. was only half-way through an exceptionally large agenda.

The board will meet again Jan. 25.

Through the morning session, the board had gone through routine matters, holding a discussion on food served in Pampa High School cafeteria, approved cafeteria bills, heard a report from Glenn Cox and Bob Carmichael on the Gray County Unit for Mentally Retarded Children, and heard reports from several Pampa school teachers.

Cox thanked the board for help they have given to mentally retarded children and asked a fund be established for the sole purpose of special education to be administered by the board of trustees. The board approved Cox's request.

The board heard a report on foreign language classes from Mrs. W. A. Morgan, on the high school English department from Aubra Nooncaster and on vocational office education and distributive education from Melvin Cardwell and Clinton Forbes.

Next on the board's agenda were discussions of senior high and junior high athletic schedules for 1968, employment of a high school head football coach and hiring of an athletic director.

Rap Brown, Police Scuffle Outside Cuban UN Office

NEW YORK (UPI)—Black power militant H. Rap Brown and a city policeman scuffled Wednesday outside the Cuban United Nations Mission. The Cubans protested to Secretary General Thant that their "territorial integrity" had been violated.

The policeman, seeing the incident in a different light, planned to seek a summons charging Brown with harassing a police officer.

Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), and an associate, Robert Smith, took refuge inside the mission for more than six hours Wednesday following the scuffle about 4:30 p.m.

The two men left the mission at 10:45 p.m. after consulting with their lawyers. No effort was made to arrest them.

Jesus Jimenez, interim charge d'affaires of the Cuban U.N. mission, immediately said his government had protested the incident. In a note to Secretary General Thant at the United Nations.

"The note," Jimenez said, "denounces U.S. police authority" (See BROWN, Page 3)

Guerillas Die In Neck-Deep Swamps

SAIGON (UPI)—American troops fighting in neck-deep swamps wiped out a Communist ambush force and killed at least 46 guerrillas in the Mekong Delta today.

About 600 Viet Cong ambushed about 200 GIs making a helicopter landing into the snake-infested swamp 54 miles southeast of Saigon and the battle raged through the night until the Communists fled at dawn, U.S. spokesmen said.

American casualties numbered 18 killed and 56 wounded, spokesmen said. "The terrain couldn't have been worse," a U.S. Army 9th Infantry Division spokesman said.

U.S. reinforcements, driven back by Communist fire that battered their helicopters, had to slip through the mangrove swamp at night, chins and guns above water.

In Saigon, U.S. officials confirmed the earlier South Vietnamese announcement that a record 2,868 Communists were killed in action last week. They said also that 184 U.S. fighting men were killed, 1,132 suffered wounds and 37 were captured or missing last week.

South Vietnamese troops suffered 263 men killed, 667 wounded and 83 missing last week. Other free world forces lost 19 men killed and 36 wounded, spokesmen said.

The losses raise total American casualty figures in the war to 16,181 men killed, 100,874 wounded and 915 missing or captured.

The swamp fight marked yet another defeat for the Communists in their new year series of battles in search of a propaganda victory. About 3,000 Viet

Man Who Posed As Doctor Is Hoping for Leniency

KAUFMAN, Tex. (UPI)—Freddie Brant, who posed as a doctor, is hoping the Kaufman County grand jury reacts to his case the same way another grand jury did earlier.

Brant, charged with forgery and perjury in Kaufman County, posed as a psychiatric resident at the Terrell State Mental Hospital and then as a doctor in the tiny Southeast Texas town of Groveton, was not billed by a Trinity County grand jury.

Kaufman County Atty. Harold Hollingsworth said Wednesday the grand jury would hear evidence in the case Jan. 25.

"The grand jury will probably not return any indictments until the 26th," Hollingsworth said.

Hopes for Best
Brant, contacted Wednesday in Groveton, said he had no way of knowing the result but he hoped it would be the same as the earlier grand jury.

"I hope, of course, that I'll come out in Kaufman as I did here in Groveton—that they'll realize what I did was not to defraud someone or take something away from somebody or violate the law—that I really intended to help," he said.

Brant, whose exposure as a fake first shocked the small town and then rallied it to his support, has had several offers to go to medical school. That is something he would "like very much."

Brant's attorney, Emmett Colvin of Dallas, said he planned to be in Kaufman when the grand jury meets and "I'm sure I will request that Mr. Brant be there also."

The forgery and perjury charges against Brant revolve around the obtaining of a license to practice medicine in Texas.

Students to Vote On Mayor Friday

Pampa Junior High School students will vote on a mayor for the spring semester in an election Friday morning after campaign speeches by the five candidates.

Candidates are Doyle Gercken, Diane Gray, Monica Hernandez, Hugh Jones and John McPherson.

The new mayor will take office at the second semester, Jan. 22. The candidate with most votes will be named mayor or runner-up as vice mayor.

Home room officers will be elected after the second semester starts, Pernal Scoggins, Pampa Junior High School counselor, said.

ties for ill treatment and abusive behavior with persons visiting the mission as guests. "The Cuban mission, also following instructions from its government, has denounced before the United Nations the flagrant violation of Cuban soil's territorial integrity by U.S. authorities, and has asked the U.N. secretary general to intervene."

Brown, under indictment on charges of inciting a riot in Maryland last July, also had nothing but harsh words for the police.

The 23-year-old firebrand said that when he was leaving the mission there was a confrontation between Patrolman Michael Gleason and Smith. "He, (the policeman) tried to eject Bob Smith with a nightstick and that was when I intervened and took care of him," Brown said.

Brown described the incident as an example of the New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and Lyndon Johnson striking out against black people in an oppressive manner.

Police officials claimed Smith and Brown initiated the encounter, shoving Gleason, one of two policemen guarding the Cuban Mission.

Commissioners Expected To OK Raises in Salary

County commissioners are expected to give formal approval tomorrow to a pay raise for all precinct constables and justices of the peace of precincts No. 1 and 5.

The pay raise is an effort to equalize salaries for all county constables and justices of the peace.

The increases would raise salaries for the constables of precincts 2 and 5 from $4,024 yearly to $4,698. H. A. Doggett of Pampa is the constable of Precinct 2 and J. D. Fish of McLean is the constable of Precinct 5.

The constable of Precinct 1, W. R. Combs of Lefors, would have his salary raised from $3,718 to $4,421.

The Justice of the Peace of Precinct 2, Place 2, Nat Lunsford of Pampa, would have his salary raised from $4,800 to $5,011. Mrs. Jess Graves, Justice of the Peace of Precinct 1, would have her salary raised from $3,588 to $5,011. Justice of the Peace Earnest Beck, Precinct 5, would have his salary raised from $3,896 to $5,011.

County commissioners voted the raises several months ago when they approved a proposed 1968 budget.

But due to a legal technicality the salary increases were never approved. State law requires that public notice of a proposed raise for constables and justices of the peace be published in a local newspaper.

The notice must be published at least 15 days before a regular monthly meeting. A regular monthly meeting is defined by state law as falling on the week of the second Monday in the month.

Commissioners have also set tomorrow as the date they will accept bids for the handling of the $250,000 Perry Lefors Airfield and $850,000 Highland General Hospital improvements bonds.

Bids for the bond handling will be opened at 11 a.m. First Southwest Investment Company of Lubbock has been acting as the county's agent in handling the bonds.

Rusk

Reviewing the triumphs and frustrations of the past seven years, he said his greatest satisfaction has been "keeping the nuclear beast in its cage."

Rusk said the Cuba missile crisis of 1962, which he has described as his "toughest experience," marked a turning point in Soviet-American relations but he didn't know whether this trend would continue.

"I hesitate to use the word permanent," he said, "but I think it was an experience that led to an increase in prudence in many capitals, including Washington. It dramatized the dangers of such a confrontation. It reminded everybody that peace is pretty important because of the alternative." He frequently describes this alternative as the "incineration of the North Hemisphere."

Asked whether he believed Communist China's acquisition of a nuclear arsenal would increase Peking's caution in like fashion, the secretary replied:

"That's a large question: we don't know what the next generation of leadership in China will look like. We would hope that they would be more pragmatic, more realistic and prudent," that they would be "more concerned with the problems of their own population" than present Chinese leaders appear to be.

If this happens Rusk said, "the opportunity for peaceful co-existence and cooperation with the rest of the human race can open up. There is a strong pragmatic element in the Chinese tradition and we would hope that tradition will assert itself."

—Labor and Public Welfare Committee, under Chairman Lister Hill, D-Ala., expected to look into the over-all hospital dilemma.

Hospital charges have increased 31 per cent over the past two years. Room charges of $50 a day are now common, and $100 a day bills are expected shortly at some New York City Hospitals.

The legislative reason for the Hill study will be renewal of the Hill-Burton act, a major federal program which has provided billions of dollars over the years for hospital construction.

—Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., oversees the operation of the Medicare program, providing hospital and doctor bill coverage for those 65 and over, and Medicaid, a federal-state program that provides free health care for welfare recipients.

Jack Hazelwood To Seek Post on Appeals Court

AMARILLO (Sp)—Jack Hazelwood, Amarillo attorney, and candidate for Associate Justice of the Seventh District Court of Civil Appeals, will be the honoree at two coffees Friday hosted by Justice Alton B. Chapman who now holds the position Hazelwood seeks.

Judge Chapman plans to retire at the end of his current term of office. A coffee Friday morning will be held in the Pioneer Hotel in Lubbock, Hazelwood said; he would wire his filing fee from Lubbock to Will Davis, chairman of the State Democratic Party in Austin.

Friday afternoon Judge Chapman will host a coffee for Hazelwood at the Amarillo Club in Amarillo. Hazelwood is a life-long resident of Amarillo and for the past 15 years has practiced law there.

Debaters Give Rotary Program

A debate team from Pampa High School provided the program at the weekly Pampa Rotary Club luncheon meeting yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

Topic of the debate presented was "A Uniform Code of Regulations" as it pertained to law enforcement. Ellen McDaniel and Joyce Fischer took the negative side of the issue and John Karr and Warren Wilson took the affirmative.

Debate teacher Miss Dona Humphreys was introduced by Terry Culley. She in turn, introduced her students.

Sanity Hearing

Set for Hippie

DENVER (UPI)—A 24-year-old hippie mother, accused of slashing her child's wrists and then plunging a broken wine bottle into his chest, will have a sanity hearing Jan. 24, Dist Judge Don Bowman said Tuesday.

The woman, Mrs. Carolyn Anne Methard, has been undergoing treatment at Colorado Psychiatric Hospital since shortly after the death of her 2-year-old son Nov. 21.

The body of the young boy, William Schellhammer, was found in a bathtub at the Denver Provo House, a hippie haven. Police said Mrs. Methard was found slumped nearby in what police called a "trance-like state."

Three psychiatrists already have said they believe the woman to be legally insane.

WOOL CONTEST BEGINS

NACOGDOCHES, TEX. (UPI)—A state "Make It With Wool" contest began at Stephen F. Austin College with some 50 winners from the 10 state districts participating in the competition at junior, senior and adult division levels.

Miss Sherrill Reagan, a Texas Tech coed from Fort Worth and current Miss Wool of Texas, will be narrator for the two-day contest.

60TH YEAR

Surveyor Seven Ready To Dig Into Surface or Moon at Tycho Crater

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—America's Surveyor 7 spacecraft, triumphant prelude to landing of U.S. astronauts on the moon late next year, was ordered to get ready to dig into the lunar soil today after giving scientists their first closeup look at the rugged Tycho Crater region.

The spacecraft, the 28th and last of America's unmanned moon probes, beat unfavorable odds late Tuesday and soft landed in rugged terrain near the edge of the crater, then transmitted to earth 1,225 "superb" pictures of the previously unexplored area during its first eight hours on the moon.

The most unusual aspect of the pictures was the large number of rocks and the "quite hilly, undulating landscape" found in the area, according to a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Previous Surveyor shots had been sent to the flat lunar seas and few rocks were seen in photographs returned to earth.

The Tycho Crater area also was found to be considerably lighter in color than the lunar seas, indicating that some variation in temperature and atmospheric conditions may be found, according to the JPL spokesman.

Digging equipment aboard the three-legged spacecraft was scheduled to attempt to penetrate the lunar soil, possibly to a depth of as much as 18 inches, this afternoon.

Scientists eagerly awaited information indicating the small metal scoop had been able to penetrate the surface and possibly to crush some of the rocks. They indicated, however, that the soil may be so saturated with rocks that the digger will be unable to penetrate it.

Picture taking was expected to be curtailed somewhat during the day because of the digging operations.

The Texas National Guard was first organized by Maj. Gen. Sam Houston to fight the Mexican government in 1835.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Dines Letter regards the current stock market as in "reasonably close balance" and says it could tilt either way. The analyst suggests that with "more dynamic" opportunities for investors ahead, it favors retention of cash reserves for the moment, with less concentration on the market itself and more on some of the cross currents.

Shearson, Hammill & Co. says that barring a breakthrough in the Vietnam situation, the market seems likely to be directionless enough so that investors will be "forced to work and think very hard" if they wish to make money as rapidly as they did in 1967. It says it believes that the stocks to concentrate on are those which qualify, in one way or another, as special situations.

Largest Load of Bogus Bills in History Taken

NEW YORK (UPI)—The largest single seizure of counterfeit money in the history of the Secret Service was announced today with the disclosure that $4.1 million in bogus $100 bills had been confiscated.

The bills seized were only the first shipment in a deal for the purchase of an additional $50 million in counterfeit $100 bills according to Joseph P. Hoey, U.S. attorney for the eastern district of New York.

The seizure was announced today in the aftermath of the arrest Tuesday night by Secret Service agents at Kennedy International Airport of Joel Lee, a 39-year-old Florida attorney.

Lee, of Miami Beach, was arraigned today before U.S. Commissioner Max Schiffman in Brooklyn federal court and held in $25,000 bail for a hearing Jan. 19.

Following the arraignment, Albert E. Whitaker, agent in charge of the U.S. Secret Service office in New York, revealed that two other persons had been arrested in the case. He identified them only as a man named Clark, arrested in Akron, Ohio, and a man named Christian, picked up in Canton, Ohio.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Raymond B. Grunewald said the $4.1 million in bogus bills was shipped by air from Miami to Kennedy Airport on Dec. 29 after a deal was worked out between Lee and a Dennis Lorraine, who was not further identified.

It was not immediately clear whether the counterfeit shipment was seized at the airport or elsewhere.

Grunewald said Lee was supposed to receive 10 per cent of the face value of the shipment, the confiscation of which "represents the largest single seizure of counterfeit U.S. federal reserve notes in the history of the U. S. Secret Service."

Grunewald said negotiations between Lee and Lorraine began last Sept. 21 when the latter allegedly received an airmail special delivery envelope containing 35 counterfeit $100 bills.

The two then allegedly met at Miami International Airport on Sept. 23 to discuss the "samples" and the following

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Nikita Khrushchev, early in 1956, denounced Stalinism he opened among Soviet artists and writers a Pandora's box which the Communist leadership with only moderate success has been trying to close ever since.

The trouble was that the artists and writers took too literally a phrase in the Soviet constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech and expression. And from Khrushchev to the present, Kremlin leaders have vacillated between harshness and cajolery in their attempts to determine just how much the people should be permitted to know and to think.

Thus, in Moscow last fall, a young girl hurried home at 4 p.m. to listen to a Voice of America broadcast of the book by the defector Svetlana Stalin. In Rostov-on-Don, a young boy walked a downtown street with a transistor radio to his ear, listening to a VOA disc jockey show.

Loud and Clear
The Soviet leadership didn't like it, but they didn't prevent it.

The "voice" came in loud and clear.

Of a more serious nature, but within the framework, was the trial of four persons that opened this week in Moscow.

The four were Alexander Ginzburg, 31, a poet; Yuri Galanskov, 28, a poet and editor of Phoenix 1966; Aleksei Dobrovolsky, 29, a writer, and Vera Lashkova, a student of drama. None was a writer or poet of any great import and the underground journal, Phoenix, circulated mostly among themselves.

But it also was true that all had been held incommunicado for a year, longer than permitted under the Soviet code of criminal procedure which sets a limit of 10 months, and that their case had attracted

Tech Entomologists Call for Removal From State of Costly, Hated Mesquite

LUBBOCK (UPI)—Two Texas Tech entomologists called today for an international research program into proposals to use insects to rid West Texas of the costly, hated mesquite.

Dr. Charles R. Ward and Ellis W. Huddleston returned recently from a five-week study of brush problems in South America in search of such an insect—one that would eat mesquite but leave crops and other vegetation alone.

They said the interest and research they found in that continent concerning the mesquite problem enhances the possibility of finding one or more species of insects that could solve the dilemma.

Mesquite is a major problem in West Texas because of its mass consumption of a precious and diminishing commodity in the region—water. The brush has overrun millions of acres.

Among the latter was Pavel Litvinov, a grandson of Maxim M. Litvinov, a one-time Soviet foreign minister and ambassador to Washington. Litvinov had defied the threats of Soviet secret police to circulate to the outside world a transcript of a trial last September of three persons sentenced for demonstrating in Pushkin Square in protest against the arrest of the four mentioned earlier.

which farmers and ranchers would like to put to better use. Attempts to bulldoze the mesquite or to clear it out with chemical methods has proved too expensive to be practical.

Australia and Chile have shown extensive interest in the project, but for a different reason. Those two countries have species of mesquite which they consider beneficial, and they are looking for parasites and predators of mesquite-eating insects in order to protect the species.

Eventually, it is hoped, to be able to introduce into West Texas insects, free of predators and parasites, to reduce the mesquite stand here and allow reclamation of this land for farm and pasture purposes," Dr. Ward said.

COURT CURB
TOKYO (UPI)—Japan may be forced to curb overseas tourism by Japanese to counter U.S. moves to defend the dollar, transit minister Yasuhiro Nakasone said Tuesday. Nakasone said the balance of payments in tourism last year was a minus $58.6 million.

FOOD RIOTS
HONG KONG (UPI)—Ming Pao newspaper said today more than 200 persons were killed and 40 homes burned in food riots in China's Kwangtung Province recently. The newspaper said soldiers intervened to stop the disorders in the village of Toishan, 70 miles southwest of Canton.

SPANDIDAKIS RETURNS
ATHENS (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Gregorios Spandidakis, the former Greek deputy premier who went to Rome with King Constantine after his unsuccessful counter coup last year returned to Athens Tuesday as an ordinary citizen.

BERLIN (UPI)—A West German private intelligence organization said Wednesday East German courts jailed 327 persons in 1967 for political reasons. The "Free Jurists Investigative Committee" said the jailed were sentenced to a total of 565 years.

ROME (UPI)—Italy's Health Ministry reported the nation's polio rate is steadily declining, thanks to a four-year-old vaccination campaign. The ministry estimated the campaign spared the country 12,375 polio cases and 1,626 deaths since 1964.

Rusk Affirms US Will Meet Reds 'More Than Halfway'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk insisted today the United States "will meet more than halfway" Communist proposals for peace in Vietnam.

COPTER CRASHES
HAMBURG (UPI)—A French-built helicopter of the West German Aerospace Research Institute crashed into the Elbe River during a driving snowstorm. The two pilots are missing.

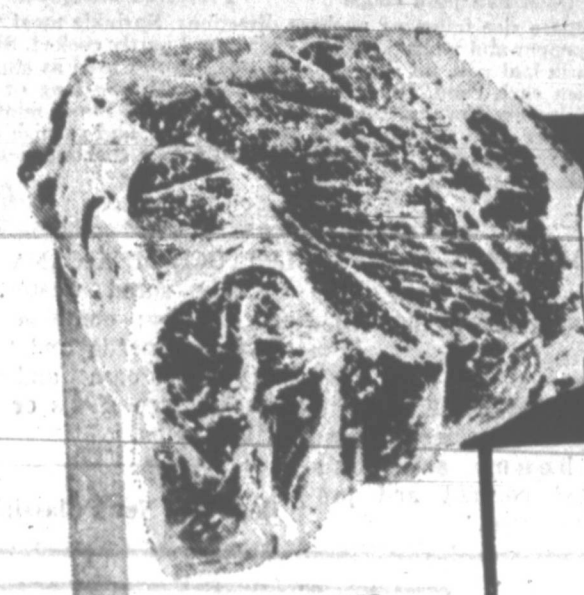

POLIO RATE DROPS
ROME (UPI)—Italy's Health Ministry reported the nation's polio rate is steadily declining, thanks to a four-year-old vaccination campaign. The ministry estimated the campaign spared the country 12,375 polio cases and 1,626 deaths since 1964.

State Department officials have regarded the Trinh statement with considerable skepticism because Hanoi does not appear to have changed its basic demand that the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front, rule South Vietnam.

Rusk said U.S. policymakers are still studying a statement by North Vietnam on possible talks about "relevant questions" to determine its precise meaning and to see how Hanoi's attitude and President Johnson's position could "move towards peace."

Addressing the "Share in Freedom Conference"—a meeting primarily devoted to promoting U.S. savings bond sales—Rusk avoided further comment on a proposal for talks made Dec. 30 by North Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh.

State Department officials have regarded the Trinh statement with considerable skepticism because Hanoi does not appear to have changed its basic demand that the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front, rule South Vietnam.

Cool, Quick Molasses Chiffon Pie

West Indies Molasses Chiffon Pie combines the mellow, distinctive sweetness of unsulphured molasses with the refreshing tang of lemonade concentrate. The crust is made of crisp cornflake crumbs.

It's the aromatic touch of rich molasses that gives the chiffon filling its sophisticated flavor. Unsulphured gelatin and whipped evaporated milk provide the fluffy texture. For a dressy touch, garnish the top with a ring of whipped cream and chocolate curls or sprigs of fresh mint.

West Indies Molasses Chiffon Pie

Corn Flake Crust:
1 cup corn flake crumbs
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons sugar

Measure corn flake crumbs, butter and sugar into a 9-inch pie pan. Place in 350° F. oven, 5 minutes. Remove from oven and mix thoroughly. Press against bottom and sides of pan. Chill.

Molasses-Chiffon Filling:

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup water
3 ice cubes equivalent to 1/2 cup water
3/4 teaspoon salt

Sprinkle gelatin on 1 cup of water in a 2 1/2-quart saucepan to soften. Place over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved, about 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in ice cubes, salt and molasses. Stir in concentrate. When the concentrate is melted, the mixture should be slightly thickened. Whip chilled evaporated milk in small bowl of electric mixer until soft peaks form, about 2 minutes. Fold into gelatin mixture. Turn into crust; chill until firm.

YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.
To chill evaporated milk, pour into ice cube tray and freeze until soft ice crystals form around edge.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — The growing export market for American foods includes a request from a Swiss winery for a concentrate to make cranberry-flavored white wine.

A New York and a California winery also are experimenting with cranberry wines, says Edwin F. Lewis, senior vice president of the United States' largest cranberry growers' cooperative.

In an interview here, Lewis talked about his company's efforts to expand foreign markets and develop new products for both foreign and domestic distribution.

"We ship cranberries to 39 countries in the free world," he said, adding some are bought by Americans living overseas but more and more are being eaten by foreign nationals — largely according to U. S. tradition, with turkey, chicken and big and feathered game.

Lewis said the cooperative is showing consumers abroad how to fit cranberry products into their traditional food patterns and will, if necessary, modify U. S. cranberry products' flavor and acidity to suit foreign customers' tastes.

He added cranberry producers are not fighting for a share of an existing market in such places as the United Kingdom, the Low Countries, France, Germany and northern Europe because cranberries are completely different from the lingonberries and preisselberries traditional there.

But both are members of the cranberry family botanically.

Gourmets Suggest Steak a la Cognac

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Editor
Entertaining calls for a dish just a cut above the average. We think these two recipes fit deliciously into that special category.

STEAK A LA COGNAC

2-pound sirloin steak
1 tablespoon butter and oil
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons brandy
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) beef gravy
1 tablespoon chopped chives
In large skillet, brown steak quickly in butter on both sides. Season with salt and pepper. Remove; keep warm. Pour off excess fat. Add brandy; stir to loosen browned bits. Add gravy and chives. Heat; serve with steak. Four servings.

MERINGUES A LA LEMON

2 eggs, separated
3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
Generous dash salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 can (1 pound 1/4 ounce) lemon pudding
1 tablespoon lime juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lime rind
Toasted coconut
Combine egg whites, cream of tartar and salt. Beat until frothy. Gradually add sugar, beating after each addition until stiff peaks form. On baking sheet lined with brown paper, place 4 mounds, 3 inches apart. With back of spoon shape each mound into a shell. Bake at 275 degrees for 1 hour. For crispier meringues, turn off oven and leave in until cool. Combine pudding, egg yolks, lime juice and rind. Cook over medium heat until thickened. Stir now and then. Fill meringues with cooled pudding mixture. Refrigerate 4 hours. Garnish with coconut. Makes 4 servings.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's consumer and marketing service reports that weekend shoppers will find ample supplies of meat and poultry and adequate supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables at food stores and supermarkets. Heading the list of abundant meats are broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys. Beef roasts and steaks are also in ample supply in most areas with corned, and ground beef featured in some areas. Pork features include hams, chops and roasts, and bacon. The U.S. Department of the Interior again reports that stocks of fish sticks and frozen fish fillets and steaks are again ample in all areas.

Cabbage, onions, and potatoes continue in good supply in all areas. Apples, grapefruit, and oranges are again the leaders as the most abundantly available fruits. Bananas belong in this group in some areas.

and one problem yet to be solved involves the practice of some European canners of using the names of cranberries and lingonberries interchangeably on their canned lingonberry labels.

Lewis said his company is putting together canned apple-cranberry pie filling for the British market, where pastries, cakes and pies are even more popular than in the U.S.

The British also differ from Americans in preferring whole berry sauce to jellied sauce, eight to one U.S. consumption is the opposite, he added.

Of U. S. eating patterns, Lewis said:

"We're growing up in taste sensitivity. There's greater acceptance of cranberries in other forms, such as juice and cranberry-orange relish."

One new product expected to reach U.S. test markets this spring is a thick sauce for serving with meat, fish, poultry and barbecued foods.

Lewis added that fresh cranberries are going to be phased out of U.S. markets starting this year.

They will be replaced gradually by frozen fresh ones, which cut and grind easier than fresh berries and don't lose juice or make a mess in the process.

TASTY

Cranberry candles are a dessert recipe developed for the English market by the test kitchens of U.S. growers.

Combine 1 medium apple, peeled, cored and thinly sliced, with 1/4 cup of water. Cover and simmer slowly until fruit is soft and pulpy. Remove from heat; beat with fork or wire whisk to make smooth puree.

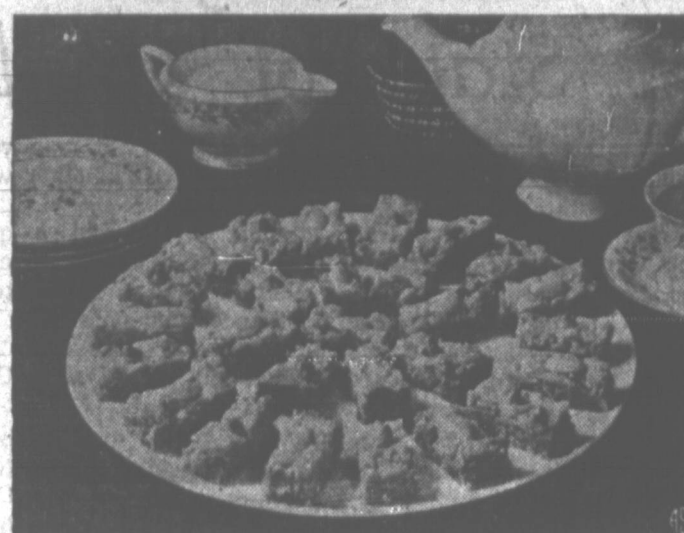

Cool, then combine with 1/2 pint of heavy cream, whipped until thick.

In separate bowl, add a pinch of cream of tartar to 1 egg white and beat to a stiff snow. Gradually add 1/4 cup of sugar to beaten whites and continue beating until meringue is shiny and forms firm peaks. Gently fold apple mixture in meringue, then tint it a pale green with food coloring. Fill 6 medium parfait glasses with alternate layers of apple mixture and 1 (1-pound) can of whole berry cranberry sauce. Chill at least one hour before serving.

Bar None, Best Of All Bars Is Butterscotch Cookie

Here's a delightful butterscotch bar cookie, ideal for entertaining. Butterscotch Coffee-Spice Bars have all the delectable flavor their name indicates. Their delicate cake-like texture and handsome appearance recommend them for snacks, desserts and party fare. Old time favorite butterscotch flavor is achieved here in an instant with butterscotch flavored morsels. Butterscotch Coffee-Spice Bars are easy to prepare for all their homemade goodness. They keep well and freeze beautifully.

Butterscotch Coffee-Spice Bars

1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup soft shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup hot water
1 teaspoon instant coffee
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch flavored morsels
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine brown sugar, shortening and egg; beat until creamy. Combine hot water and instant coffee; blend into creamed mixture. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; gradually stir into creamed mixture. Add butterscotch flavored morsels and chopped nuts; mix well. Spread in greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Bake in 350° F. oven about 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into 3 x 1 1/2-inch bars.

YIELD: 2 dozen bars.

Pork Chop Roast

A thrifty version of the elegant crown roast of pork is a pork chop roast. Made of everybody's favorite — loin pork chops — the "roast" is a handsome and tasty platter to serve for dinner. Rice stuffing — made from one of the new flavored rice mixes — makes the roast a little unusual, too. Curried, saffron, or spiced rice mix could be used equally well for this unusual pork roast. The mixes are easily prepared whether for use as a stuffing or to serve as the main accompaniment to poultry, fish or meat on the family's dinner plates.

Flavored rice mixes represent an additional accommodation to the first convenience food known to man. These mixes contain American-grown regular milled white or parboiled rice to which spices, herbs, cheese, vegetables, poultry or meat flavoring have been added to provide extra consumer convenience to an already easy to prepare food product.

Rice Stuffed Pork Chop Roast

1 package (6 to 8 oz.) curried, saffron, spiced or white and wild rice
6 thick loin pork chops
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika
Preserved Kumquats

Prepare rice following package directions. Sprinkle meat with salt, pepper and paprika. Brown chops until partly cooked. Stand chops in loaf pan, fat side up, with rice mixture used as stuffing between each chop. Hold chops together with one long or two short skewers. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve pork chop roast on a bed of the rice mix, and garnish each chop with a preserved kumquat, secured with a cocktail pick. Makes 6 servings.

FIX GRAPE SNACK

Spread wheat thins with spread; top with halved, seeded grapes.

NOVEL CONDIMENT

Coarsely chop drained canned green beans and toss with flaked coconut and prepared mincemeat.

LETTUCE MEXICANA

Finely shred western iceberg lettuce; combine with chopped avocado and tomato, dairy sour cream and oregano. Serve in taco shells or with tortilla chips.

Bishops Express Deep Concern on Criticism

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States voiced deep concern Wednesday about a spirit of criticism, impatience with authority and reluctance to obey which has developed in the church since the Vatican Council.

In a collective pastoral letter some 25,000 words in length, the bishops appealed for "a renewal of that love for the church that has so characterized the faithful of all ages."

They said that in the past five years the church has undergone some of the most rapid and profound changes in its history. "Such a period is no time to lose patience, above all with the church, or to attempt to decide, on the strength of one's own insights alone, what things are to be believed or what values are to be affirmed for salvation," the letter said.

"Crisis of Obedience" "We ask all, scholars and simple faithful alike, for honest adherence to the teachings of the Vatican Council. . . we ask that the same love and loyalty shown toward the church which called the council be shown to the church which must now interpret the council, implement its reforms and give direction to the spirit of renewal which is its heritage."

The lengthy document was approved by the bishops at a closed meeting in Washington last month but was not made public until now. It was official recognition of a "crisis of obedience" in the church—a crisis which affects liberals who want the reforms to move farther and faster, as well as conservatives who feel that there has been too much change already.

The bishops expressed particular concern about priests who quit to get married or who publicly voice their disagreement with the church's teachings on such subjects as birth control.

"Some priests . . . have not only lost their own vision but have sought to shatter the ideals of others and made a public display of their defects," the letter said. "When a priest falters, the whole church trembles. However a priest may think of himself as being exactly like everyone else, the world does not see him."

Attack Indifference The bishops emphasized they did not wish to "discourage the positive forces developing in the American Catholic church" nor apply a brake to the process of reformation set in motion by the Vatican Council. They did want to make the point that not everything old is bad, and not everything new is necessarily good.

Foot-dragging conservatives as well as impatient liberals came in for rebuke. The bishops particularly admonished Catholics who are indifferent or hostile toward social reforms such as efforts to eliminate poverty and racial discrimination.

"Indignity, injustice and inhumanity at any time, in any place, toward any man should arouse in us a deep and burning concern. This concern is not accidental to the devout life. . . it is the faith at work."

The bishops vigorously defended the claim that the teaching authority of the church, vested in the Pope and bishops, is infallible on issues of faith and morals.

Organ Transplants Make News; With Skin Successes Rare

United Press International Transplants of vital organs from one human being to another have made headlines in recent months from South Africa to Palo Alto, Calif.

One type of organ transplant that has not made news recently is that of transplanting skin from one person to another.

The reason it has not made headlines is simple. It does not work. At least, a number of doctors said today, it does not work on a permanent basis with other than identical twins.

In Burn Cases Dr. Mark Lemmon, a Dallas plastic surgeon, said skin grafts from one person to another are used almost exclusively in cases where the patient has sufered severe burn damage and does not have enough of his own skin to cover the damaged areas.

Lemmon said a skin transplant actually "begins to take" or become accepted by the host but sometime within a period of about 21 days, an immune reaction sets in and the new skin is sloughed.

A number of doctors contacted said the only successful skin transplants from another person they were aware of were in cases of identical twins. A professor at the University of Texas at Medical School in Galveston said in very rare cases, where both parties have certain serum protein deficiency diseases, a transplant would take but he emphasized those cases were extremely rare.

Mother Often Used

When burn cases involve infants or children, the mother is often used as the skin donor because the new skin will adapt better and will be more effective over a longer period of time if the donor is a close blood relation because the genetic make-up of the two will be closer, Lemmon said.

Dr. E. Frank Dunton, a Dallas plastic surgeon, said he performed about 50 skin transplants while he was at the Galveston school in 1959 and 1960. He said about 90 per cent of those were from a mother to a child but none of them lasted.

Dunton predicted the skin

"will probably be the last organ to be transplanted." A professor at the Galveston facility said this was because the skin is more specific than many organs concerning what it would accept and what it would reject.

Lemmon said transplants of outside skin are used because large burn areas result in large amounts of fluids lost and electrolyte and fluid balance being upset. He said it was important that the exposed area be covered by something compatible to give the body time to heal.

FREIGHTER GROUNDED MANILA (UPI)—A Korean freighter ran into coral reefs off Mactan Island in the southern Philippines after the captain mistook an airport beacon for a lighthouse, the Philippine navy service said Saturday. Lee Duk, master of the freighter Dai Yonig, told customs a boarding inspector was unaware the lighthouse was down.

40 RELEASED

BILBAO, Spain (UPI)—Prison officials released 40 Basques who spent the Christmas holiday behind bars because they refused to pay fines for attempting to stage a demonstration. They were among 450 persons arrested and fined.

Houston Again Has Best Auto Death Safety Record Among US Big Cities

CHICAGO (UPI)—Houston kept the best big-city auto death safety record in the nation another month, the National Safety Council said today.

The council's report for traffic deaths through November showed that for the first 11 months of 1967, Houston had 123 deaths, down from 154 a year previously. That means only 2.3 deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles, down from 3.2 in 1966 and the best record among cities of more than 1 million population.

In November, Houston had 17 deaths, down one from November of 1966. Its 11-month total was down 20 per cent.

Dallas was third in cities of 750,000 to 1 million with a rate per 10,000 registered vehicles of 3.1 deaths in the first 11 months of 1967. This was down from 3.5 in 1966. Dallas had 107 deaths through November of 1967, down from 120 the previous year for a like period. Dallas moved to third from fourth and remained behind Milwaukee and San Francisco in cities its size.

San Antonio was ninth in its population group with a rate of 3.2 deaths per 10,000 vehicles. That meant 83 auto deaths in San Antonio through November, 1967, up one death from the

Flu, Temperature Empty Schools In Rio Grande Valley

By KENNETH R. CLARK McALLEN (UPI)—In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the only thing that empties the classroom faster than the flu is the mercury in the thermometer. When it drops, interest in the "three r's" drops right along with it.

This week, it dropped—all the way to a marrow-chilling 30 degrees on Monday—and the school system may just as well have had another epidemic on its hands.

In Brownsville, the school superintendent's office reported 3,000 children out of the classroom Tuesday morning, and Harlingen reported absenteeism up 35 per cent. The situation appeared consistent all over the valley, but school officials said they were sure cold weather, rather than influenza, was denting the attendance rolls.

"We had a bad day Monday," said McAllen Supt. S.P. Cowan. "More than 2,100 children were absent—and I doubt if many of them were sick. People here aren't accustomed to freezing temperatures. Thirty degrees to them is just as drastic as zero is in Dallas. So they stay home."

And stay home they did—from one end of the Valley to the other, but Dr. John Copenhaver, health director for Cameron and Hidalgo counties, wasn't entirely optimistic about the incidence rate of influenza and the host of similar microbes which match it for misery.

He said recent samples of serum submitted to the State Health Department in Austin analysis indicates the presence of true influenza in the valley. He said a lot of people still are on the sick list as a result.

Johnson Sends Congratulations To Prime Minister

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson has sent a congratulatory message to Australia's new prime minister, John Gorton, saying it gives him "strength" to know close ties between their two countries will continue under his leadership.

The Texas White House disclosed today that Johnson dispatched a message to Gorton Tuesday stating his anticipation of "close communications and consultations" with the prime minister in the coming months.

RADE RECORD

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Nationalist China's foreign trade in 1967 reached a record $4.5 billion, up 26 per cent over the previous year, the government said Saturday. P. Y. Hsu, foreign trade commissioner, said the nation's exports last year totaled $669 million.

Highlights and Sidelights From Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Any way you look at it, 1968 shapes up as the most action-packed political year for Texas in more than a decade.

It will start with a wide-open governor's race in the Democratic primary perhaps the roughest since 1956. Also, there may be some other close races for less exciting offices. And of course, the presidential battle will hold the November general election spotlight. If Texas Republicans make good their threat to field a strong candidate for governor, and it seems they will, there will be plenty of action on that front almost the year around.

There is no sure way of predicting at this point whether U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Secretary of State John Hill, former Adm. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Dallas radio man Gordon McLendon, Houston attorney Don Yarborough or an unheralded dark horse will emerge the Democratic nominee for governor. Neither is it clear who the Republicans will put up to oppose him. Congressman George Bush of Houston Sen. John Tower? An unknown?

While Texas national Democratic convention delegates obviously will be pledged to support President Johnson, state Republican leaders have not tipped their hands as to their favorite candidate for nomination.

Although the winners can't be picked in advance, red letters dates can be marked on the 1968 political calendar.

Here are the main ones:

- Feb. 5—Last day for filing as candidate in primaries.
 - May 4—First primary election and party precinct conventions.
 - May 11—County party conventions.
 - June 1—Second primary election.
 - June 8—State conventions to pick national convention delegates.
 - Sept. 17—State conventions to pick Texas party leadership (executive committees) and write the state party platform.
 - Nov. 5—General election.
- Remember that, to participate in any of the action, you must register (if it is free) with the county tax assessor-collector or authorized deputy by Jan. 31. Registration is simple and can be accomplished through the mail on forms provided by most newspapers.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—State Welfare Department can pay medical aid directly to recipients of services or to physicians. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

Tower of Americas
Expected to Be Complete on Time

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The man who heads construction of the Tower of the Americas at HemisFair, Gerald Lyda, told a news conference today that bad weather notwithstanding, the tower will be finished on schedule.

When HemisFair opens at 9 a.m. April 6, the tower will be ready, Lyda said. Work stopped during the cold weather last weekend, but resumed today lifting the big restaurant slowly toward the top of the tower.

Everett Jennings, a projects manager with HemisFair, said the tower work was 18 days behind schedule, but Lyda said his crews will work around the clock to make up the difference.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—An anhydrous ammonia pipeline is subject to jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission.

—A qualified agricultural engineering major can be licensed as a professional engineer.

—Cochran County Memorial Hospital District can pay expenses of sending needy persons to outside hospital facilities where it cannot discharge its full responsibility to provide adequate medical care.

Social Security
Disability Pay
Requirement CutBy ROBERT M. BALL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—If you become disabled before age 31, you will not need as many work credits to get disability benefits as you needed under the old Social Security law.

To get disability benefits under the old law, you needed Social Security credits for at least five out of the 10 years before you became disabled—unless you became disabled before age 31 because of blindness. Many young workers did not have a chance to work long enough to meet this requirement.

Now, if you become disabled between ages 24 and 31, you will need credits for only half the time between age 21 and the time you become unable to work. If you are disabled before you reach age 24, you will need only 1½ years of work credits out of the three-year period ending when your disability began.

The first month in which payments can be made under this change in the law is March, 1968. If you became disabled before age 31, get in touch with your Social Security office soon; even if a previous claim was denied because you did not have enough work credits, the new law may help you—and if you are entitled to benefits, your dependents also may be eligible.

If you are a woman worker, the new law makes it easier for your dependents and survivors to get benefits based on your earnings.

Under the old law, there were circumstances under which benefits could be paid to dependents or survivors of a woman worker only if she had worked under Social Security for 1½ years of the last three years.

Now this special requirement has been removed. Benefits may be paid in these cases beginning in March, 1968, if the woman worker has enough work credits (earned at any time) to be "fully insured."

This change in the law will provide benefits for some children whose mother died after working under Social Security, or who retired under Social Security, or who retired or became disabled; some widowers who were dependent on a wife at the time of the wife's death; and some husbands who were dependent on a wife at the time of the wife's retirement or disability.

If you think you or members of your family may be affected by this change, get in touch with your Social Security office.

In 1932, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of an Arkansas congressman, became the first woman ever elected to the U.S. Senate.

craft center in Houston who had a plate yanked out of his hand by a private club manager is entitled to $900 in damages for "battery". State Supreme Court agreed. Decision reversed lower courts.

Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, in a Webb County case, agreed the state has the right to regulate picketing in labor-management dispute. Labor group unsuccessfully attacked a ban against more than two pickets at a time within 50 feet of the struck establishment or other pickets.

COOPER DAM ROW RESOLVED — Controversy with federal authorities over Cooper Dam and Reservoir (Sulphur River in Northeast Texas) has been resolved to the state's interest.

New contract omitted the controversial water quality requirements, according to Joe G. Moore Jr., executive director of Texas Water Development Board.

POLICY CANCELLATION GUIDELINES SET — State Board of Insurance announced these general guidelines for cancellation of certain insurance policies or company refusal to renew coverage:

—Family auto policies and auto coverage should be cancelled only for premium non-payment or for license suspension or revocation.

—Companies should not balk at renewing family auto policies strictly on account of ages of insured.

—Thirty days' notice of non-renewal should be given before declining to renew family auto policies and auto coverage, homeowners policies and standard fire policies on one-family dwellings.

Cancellation cannot be ordered on home owner and standard fire policies for one-family dwellings solely because the company changes underwriting requirements during the policy term.

FOURTEEN CITIES START SALES TAX—January 1 marked the start of actual collection of the new one per cent city sales tax in 14 of more than 150 cities which have approved the tax since September. These 150 cities which have approved of Texas' urban population.

Cities starting the tax January 1 included Aransas Pass,

Austin, Bracketville, Corpus Christi, Elgin, El Paso, Henrietta, Ingleside, Nacogdoches, Orange Grove, Port Aransas, Taylor, Texarkana, and Wichita Falls.

Collection of one per cent levy (added to the two per cent state tax) will begin April 1 in at least 140 other municipalities. Only about 20 city sales tax elections have failed.

State comptroller has a full quarter of a year to set up collection machinery after a city reports approval of the tax.

NEW BOOK ON CAPITOL—Winston Churchill once said, "We shape our buildings, and they shape us." His quote is used in the handsome new book, "The Texas Capitol, Symbol of Accomplishment."

This 168-page volume is illustrated with color photographs and reproductions of historic documents. It was written and produced by the Texas Legislative Council in cooperation with the State Highway Department, at the direction of the 1965 Legislature.

It's so "hot off the presses" that it records some significant events of the 1967 session of the legislature. "The Texas Capitol" reaches back graphically to those 18 days at Washington-on-the-Brazos in 1836 when Texas' independence was declared. That story is followed by a brief history of the Republic and the joining of the Union in 1845.

From that point on, the reader will find himself engaged in the story of the state's growth through the development of its government and the men who have guided it the past 122 years. Pictures and stories acquaint the reader with the present-day Capitol complex and surroundings.

SHORT SNORTS

John C. White has announced for a 10th term as Texas Commissioner of Agriculture. State Securities Board reports handling a record volume of $550,400,000 in permits to sell securities during the year, an increase of $100,000,000 over 1966.

B. F. Masters, president emeritus of Kilgore College, resigned from the State Board of Education effective January 1. Texas Commission on Alcoholism estimates there are 300,000 alcoholics in the state and warns that one out of 10 who drinks is an incipient alcoholic.

BENELUX MEETING

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Foreign ministers of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg will discuss future economic cooperation with Britain at a meeting Jan. 15. Foreign Minister Pierre Harmen of Belgium will be host.

WARNING ISSUED

KINSHASA, Congo (UPI)—The Congo warned Tuesday it may cut off diplomatic relations with Rwanda if President Gregoire Kayibanda authorizes the return to Europe of mercenaries held in Rwanda. The 120 white mercenaries led by Col. Jean Schramme of Belgium fled to Rwanda after abandoning the Congolese city of Bukavu to the Congolese army last year.

Miss Mary Gerik Will Officiate At Bank Opening

Miss Mary Louise Gerik, winner of the national "Miss Drive-In Teller" contest, will start her duties as the 1968 bank teller queen when she officiates for the opening of Exchange National Bank in Pampa, Jan. 21-23.

En route, she will stop in Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 19, and tour a safe factory at Hamilton, Ohio, Jan. 20.

The safe company, sponsors of the drive-in teller contest, will fly Miss Gerik to several bank openings this year as she completes her reign.

After her 1968 reign, Miss Gerik will take a 10 day vacation trip to Europe for two as grand prize in the contest. She was chosen from nearly 1,000 entrants and was a guest of the safe company in New York in September at the annual convention of the American Bankers Association.

Miss Gerik, a teller for Citizens Bank and Trust Co., is a 1959 graduate of Pampa High.

Stripes Stretch, Swing

By HELEN BROWN
NEA Women's Editor

words that have become synonymous with fashion are knits and stretch. A combination of the two has turned out the best looking swingy shifts, tunics and tights, at-home wear, sleepwear and top designer ensembles.

Never before have so many different branches of the apparel industry been so unanimous in their praise of a single phase of the fabric business. Stretch-knit has found its way into design rooms everywhere. The versatility of knits cannot be denied. And new printing techniques have further expanded this most important fashion category.

Textures now range from single to heavy double weight in pebble weaves, ottomans, fishnets, crepes in many yarn mixtures. Shiny and dull threads often produce a new glistening effect that is lovely for evening wear.

Colors are vivid, with several fabrics featuring a potpourri of stripes to mix and match with solids. Intricate designs in brilliant and softened shades provide the designer with endless inspiration.

The very important incoming look of teaming tunics with matching tights finds expression in dramatic designs that combine screen-printing on double-knit for tops with sheer nylon tights printed to match. Outstanding in this group is a harlequin printed Romeo tunic with saw-tooth bottom that tops the print-matched tights.

There are also clingy, swingy, little minidresses that pack and hang out in a wink. Colors do not fade and shape is retained for seasons.

Stretch-knit offers fashion, color and wrinkle-free qualities that are a boon to the working gal.

DOCTOR TO POET
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Dr. Park J. White, a 75-year-old pediatrician always got along with child patients by the way he talked to them, but he remembered one youngster saying, "you sure are a blabbermouth."

White retired from private practice, is a staff member of the St. Louis County Health Department's Well-Baby Clinic. He also in his spare hours is a poet.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Me and my big mouth. Now I've really done it. My little 4-year-old granddaughter asked me if the stork really dropped her down the chimney, and I laughed and said no. Then she asked me how she got here, and I simply told her that she grew from a tiny seed in her Mommy's tummy. Now what was so terrible about that?

My daughter-in-law is very angry with me because she's afraid the child will ask her how the seed got there. My son has sided with his wife and I am in the dog house.

Abby, I cannot see putting off telling a child what he will eventually learn anyway. But what am I to do about my son and his wife? I don't like being on the outs with them, but I think they are wrong, wrong, wrong.

MODERN GRANDMA

DEAR MODERN: I happen to agree with you. First, try to educate your son and his wife to your way of thinking. It is far healthier for the child. Should you fall (heaven forbid) to bring them out of the Dark Ages, continue to answer all questions as honestly as possible. Time will prove you right.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a man who would cheat on his expense account would cheat on his wife?

CHRISTY

DEAR CHRISTY: Only a man who can't resist nice round figures.

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is 82, wants to remarry. This will be his fourth wife since Mother died six years ago. His lady friend is 79. She seems pleasant and intelligent enough, although she, too, has had three divorces in the past 10 years. Question. My brother and I are paying for Dad's support. He is still able to enjoy life and look after himself, but at times he acts a little strange. Should we give our blessings to this marriage? We want to be fair, but, oh, dear!

DILEMMA IN DAYTONA BEACH

DEAR DILEMMA: I would not encourage anyone who "Acts a little strange" to marry. Especially at age 82, with a history of three divorces in six years.

DEAR ABBY: The other evening I very nearly hit a little boy on a bicycle. I was almost on top of him before I saw him. His bicycle had no reflectors! Please print this as a reminder to parents of youngsters who have bicycles. I am not selling "reflectors." They can buy luminous paint and "decorate" the child's bicycle so it will be seen by motorists at night.

Every time I think of how close I came to hitting that little boy, I tremble.

The Baby Doll, left, is a swingy little mini-dress in a bright orange and black stripe. The skirt flares, the neckline is scooped, and the sleeves are tiny and puffed. The two-piece sportswear outfit right, has the high-length top with stripes, corded cowl neck, skinny sleeves and side vents. It is worn over solid knit-fitted pants.

ESA Chapter Has Business Meeting

Kappa Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met recently in City Club Room as Mrs. Dale Haynes, vice president, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Irvin Hungerford, chairman, ways and means committee, reported on the chapter's last money-making project. Mrs. John Dameron, welfare committee chairman, discussed the Christmas basket given a needy family.

Mrs. Joe Miller, program chairman, introduced the program on "Arts and Crafts." Each member attending presented her hobby to the chapter. Members discussed the District X meeting which will be held in Perryton Jan. 28.

The next meeting will be a social at Mrs. Hungerford's home 2105 Christy, at 8 p.m., Jan. 18.

Members attending the business session were Mrs. Frank Maher, Phillip McCarley, Hungerford, James Frazier, Dameron, Haynes, Joe Miller, Joel Plunk, Charles Scott and Ray Woodridge.

Official Sponsors Nutrition Program For Women's Club

Mrs. Lester Reynolds, 420 Crest, was hostess recently for the Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club as Mrs. N. B. Cude, president, presided for the business program.

Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent, was in charge of the program as members discussed a diabetic diet and took a test on nutrition.

Members discussed plans for programs and partially completed the club year book.

Hostesses were Mrs. Reynolds, Miss Yvonne Reynolds and Mrs. J. L. Carlton.

Members attending were Mrs. Pearl Ferguson, Boyd Brown, John A. King, N. L. Welton, Roy Tinsley, N. E. Cude, Ray Robertson, W. G. Kinzer, John T. King, Lester Reynolds, a new member, Mrs. W. F. Nidiffer, and Miss Yvonne Reynolds.

Members will meet with Mrs. Boyd Brown, east of city, at 1:30 p.m. Jan. 19.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RUGHTER

FOR FRIDAY, JAN. 12

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to make sure that you do everything in a most careful and precise manner. Refusing to let any resentment or problems cause you to do any job in a slovenly or careless fashion or you can have much criticism and fail to gain the good will and active assistance you desire from others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Showing all about that you are a conscientious person, no matter where you may be today, can bring the finest results and benefits. Do whatever is necessary to feel better physically. Don't try to take advantage of others.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get into all those interests that help up your spirit instead of feeling so dull and helpless. Be an understanding, charming person and others will be attracted to you more. Forget that broken romance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Kin will not criticize but will give helpful hints; accept them. Use more diplomacy in talking with others. Then you find that life will be infinitely happier for you in the months ahead. Take the initiative.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Straightening out written reports, other papers, getting surroundings more orderly is fine now. Then be with close friends for relaxation, talk, buying and selling comes easier now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find out what the needs of others are and then you can add considerably to present income by supplying them. Look to that clever business person for the right ideas. Then channel your efforts.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Carry through with commitments made without further delay. That is the only way to have harmony with others. Get to the heady and hasty shop for the treatments that make you far more charming.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many annoying little problems that require your immediate attention. Do not waste any time. Be sure you give a helping hand to those who need it. Do not turn them down without a thought.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find a better modern operandi for the days ahead and show good friends that you have an interest in their welfare. However, do not give them too much of your time. Schedule it wisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take the greatest care you do not jeopardize the interesting and fine reputation you have so carefully built up. Be circumspect in all that you do, say. Get career built up by some unique methods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show new contacts that you value the fine favors they are extending to you as well as wise, older friends. Do not neglect regular duties, though, in your quest for new contacts. Plan time, activities intelligently.

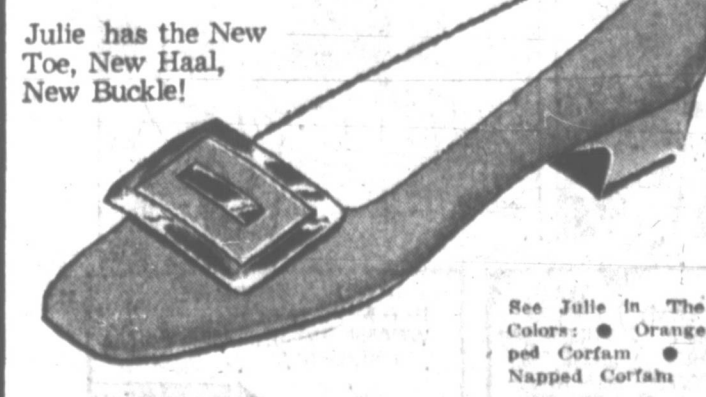

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show generosity in attending obligations that seem more than you can rightly handle. Do not lose your temper to you as busy. Listen carefully to what is being said; then count to ten. Be happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what it is that your associates want from you and then do your utmost to meet expectations. Get their good will for the days ahead. Talk over any differences of ideas and you come to a real understanding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those interesting young people who early will be as busy about everything that you, as parents, could get almost anyone to teach to place principles above other things. Ideal charts for pleasing the public where commodities etc. are concerned.

FIRST HALF TITLE NEAR — The Pampa Harvesters will try to tame the Borger Bulldogs in Harvesters gym Friday night and if they can, Pampa can wrap up the first half title in District 3-4A. The Harvesters stand 7-0 with only two games left and a two game lead in the district race.

Grant Comes As Surprise For NT PLAYER

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—Paul Draper, listed as a "small but scrappy" player on last fall's North Texas State football team, still is a bit shaken by his biggest Christmas present.

Draper is one of those unobtrusive guys down in the middle of the line the fans seldom notice and whom they seldom go about their way doing a consistently good job without much fanfare.

So, when the 21-year-old youngster from Pine Tree High School in the piney woods of deep East Texas got word just before Christmas that he was one of only 33 college athletes in the nation picked to receive $1,000 post-graduate scholarships from the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), he was "sure surprised—to put it mildly."

"When I asked Athletic Director Jess Cearley about my chances last fall," Draper said, "he told me, 'Oh, about one in a million.'"

"And, that's about all the thought I gave to it until they called me into the athletic office just before the Christmas holidays and said Dr. Cearley wanted to see me," Draper said.

"I thought to myself, 'What have I done now?' since I had completely forgotten about the scholarship thing. When he showed me the letter, I nearly fell over."

Football has been good to Paul Draper and he is the first to point that out.

"It got me a college education that I might not have been able to manage any other way," he said. "And, now this."

"I plan to use it (the $1,000) but I don't know just where yet. It's been so unexpected."

Draper has maintained a 3.2 grade point average with a major in math and a minor in physics while winning all-Missouri Valley recognition the past two seasons. But, it has not been easy.

"I've had to go to summer school so I could take lighter study loads during the fall football season," he said. "Then, I had to load up again in the spring when I had more time to study."

Books are not all that Draper mixes with his football. He is a prime mover in the North Texas group of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and credits the organization and its contacts with much of the mental and moral stamina it takes to make good in college.

'Dogs Stand Between PHS and 3-4A Crown

By RON CROSS

Pampa will host Borger, beginning at 8 p.m. Friday night in Harvesters gym and the Harvesters should wrap the District 3-4A first half title up in a neat little package.

The Pampans can win their eighth league victory in as many starts with a win over the arch-rival Bulldogs. After Friday night's affair, Pampa will have but one league team left to play and Monterey is two games behind the league-leading Green and Gold.

The Bulldogs are tied for ninth place in the district standings with a 2-5 record and stand 7-11 for the season.

But the last time these two teams met, and it was in Harvester gym, the Bulldogs were riding low and the Harvesters were hoping to cap off a most successful season.

But the Bulldogs shot down Pampa 60-59 in one of the better games of this bedlam series.

While Pampa is poised and experienced the Bulldogs welcomed back only two new faces this season and just one, 5'11 senior guard Lynn Kelley has done hardly anything.

Kelly is the Bulldogs leading scorer, with 91 totals in the seven league contests for a 13.0 league average.

The 'Dogs have had to depend on juniors and 6'4 Mike Steinkoenig has come through in fine fashion with 79 points and a 11.2 league average.

Kelley was held to nine points against Palo Duro Tuesday and Steinkoenig to nine also but a new Bulldog, 6'2 Carl Taylor, came along to tally 12 points while 5'9 Junior Mar k Groves led the scoring with 16 points.

The Bulldogs also start 5'10 speedster James Lee Robinson and 6'0 senior Mike Mittelstet. Borger is averaging only 58.7 points per game in district competition while giving up an average of 68.6. In season play Borger has averaged only 55.2 points per contest while giving up an average of 59.8 points per game.

The Harvesters with their "Fearsome Fivesome" leading the way, have averaged 73.5 points per district game while giving up an average of only 57.7.

George Bailey dropped from a tie for the district scoring race to second place behind Tascosa's Bill Pierce.

Bailey has 149 league points and a 21.2 average. Gentleman George is averaging 24.2 points for the season.

Bo Lang carries a 16.8 league average and a 13.6 season mark while Beau Bond is 9.5 in the district and 11.4 for the season. Pampa guards Jimmy Cornutt and Johnny Carlos have continued to keep pressure off the big men in the lineup.

Carlos is averaging 9.8 points in district play and 8.1 for the season while Cornutt is carrying a 10.2 season average and 10.5 league average.

Two All-Stars Pace Pacers to Win

By United Press International All-Stars Bob Netolicky and Roger Brown showed why they were chosen Wednesday night by combining for 55 points in leading the Indiana Pacers to a 105-79 victory over the Minnesota Muskies.

Netolicky scored 28 points and Brown 27 as the Pacers romped to victory at Indianapolis, where the first American Basketball Association All-Star contest was held Tuesday night. The loss dropped the Muskies to second place in the Eastern Division.

In other games Willie Somerset's field goal earned Houston a 122-120 victory over Anaheim;

Denver defeated Kentucky 99-83 and Pittsburgh tripped Dallas 123-120.

Somerset wound up with 28 points. Warren Davis and Larry Bunce each hit 24 for the Amigos.

Wayne Hightower and Larry Jones each scored 22 points in Denver's victory. Jim Ligon topped Kentucky with 18.

Charlie Williams netted two three-point field goals and Art Heyman hit one long-range jumper as the Pipers snapped a five-game Dallas winning streak. Connie Hawkins led Pittsburgh with 24 points while John Beasley scored 34 for the Chaps.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (UPI)—San Francisco 49er halfback John David Crow described the game of professional football as one where, with a little hard work, you have everything to gain and little to lose.

Come Jan. 25, Crow and nearly a dozen other players will be in Vietnam—where the game is survival.

Crow, who admits he looks forward to the excursion with mixed emotions, will serve with his mates as good will ambassadors of the National and American Football Leagues. The players will form two teams called the troop team and the hospital team and visit servicemen for a little more than three weeks.

Arranged through the USO, the program is now in its third year. Don Perkins of the Dallas Cowboys, Jackie Kemp of the Buffalo Bills, Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers and Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers will be some of Crow's companions.

Kansas City To Get Franchise

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—American League club owners and officials met today to name the owner of the new baseball franchise for Kansas City, the town they voted last October to abandon for one season.

Announcement of the new owner was expected at a news conference following a noon (EST) meeting at the Hotel Muehlebach.

"Selection of the new Kansas City owner will be the first order of business," said league president Joseph Cronin. "We'll make the announcement as soon as we reach a decision."

The owners and representatives, before making the announcement, will hear recommendations prepared by a special four-man screening committee on expansion, headed by Arthur Allyn, president of the Chicago White Sox.

Of the four applicants interviewed by Allyn's committee last month, Ewing Kauffman, founder of a drug laboratory that made him a multimillionaire, appeared to have the inside track.

Price of the franchise, including players, was set at approximately $5.3 million.

Other applicants were Alex Barker, president of the Civic Plaza National Bank; Richard Stern, president of Stern Brothers, and Crosby Kemper Sr., retired chairman of the City National Bank, and John Latshaw, vice president of Hubert & Co., who heads a group of civic leaders interested in obtaining a major league baseball team.

"I'm really happy that the league asked me," Crow said from his home in Pine Bluff. "Of course, I'm not looking forward to getting shot at. Those boys are giving their lives to preserve freedom and we get the applause when we run for a touchdown. Hard to understand sometimes I guess."

Mrs. Crow admitted she is not really tickled about her husband going but said the cause made it easier to think about.

"The 49er wives worked at the Veterans Hospital last season and it made war seem real to me all of a sudden," she said.

Crow and five other players will make up the troop team while the others visit the hospitals. According to Crow, the players will headquarter in Saigon and visit different bases from there.

"We probably will show highlight films and I hope to visit everyone I can," Crow said. "I talked with Larry Wilson of the Cardinals briefly and Johnny Unitas of Baltimore and they said it was quite an experience."

"I have had five of the eight shots I have to get before we leave and from what I hear, the worst is yet to come," he said. "Unkink said adjusting to the drinking water was the toughest part."

Crow enjoyed one of his better seasons with the 49ers this fall. He rushed and received for nearly 500 yards, caught 30 passes and averaged over four yards a carry.

Spring Sports Schedules Given

Schedules for Pampa High school and both junior high spring sports and tentative schedules for 1966 junior high football have been released.

Pampa's baseball team will open the 1966 season on March 1 when Canyon visits Optimist Club park. The baseballers will host Borger March 5 before hitting the road for three straight games.

March 8 and 9th Pampa will play at Anadarko, Okla., then go to Borger March 12 and to Liberal, Kan. on March 16 before hosting the Kansans on Mar. 19.

Then the Harvesters open District play with a game at Lubbock High on Friday, March 22, then meet Monterey the next day in Lubbock.

Next comes Caprock here, Tascosa here, Borger, Palo Duro, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock and Monterey here; Caprock in Amarillo; Coronado and Estacado here; Tascosa there; Borger there; Plainview here and Palo Duro and Amarillo, both in Amarillo, May 10 and 11 when the regular season concludes.

Former Pampa football coach Eural Ramsey's golf team will open their season February 24 at Andrews, then on March 2 go to Snyder, go to Lubbock on March 8, to Plainview on Mar. 15, to Borger March 22, host one round here April 5 then finish up regular play in Amarillo on April 12.

Ramsey will be assisted by coach Don Wieser who will handle the B team golfers.

Track coach Ed Lehnick and assistants E. C. Jenkins and Curtis Didway will see their season open on February 24 in a meet at Plainview. Meets will follow at Vernon, Dumas, Dallas, Perryton, Amarillo, Borger and the District meet at Lubbock.

Naturally there will be no high school meets held here in Pampa.

Shocker basketball coach Bill Brown will handle the tennis team again this year.

The netters open March 7 in Perryton, then host Spearman, go to Borger, Spearman, host Perryton, go to the Amarillo Relays, host Borger then go to Lubbock on April 6 for the district meet.

Girls volleyball, coached by Betty Culley and Lynn Priscock will open the season Feb. 1 in a tournament at Odessa, then journey to Phillips, hosts Phillips, play in the Denver City meet; go to Phillips, hosts Phillips, goes to a tournament at Big Spring, goes to Phillips, plays in a tournament at Perryton, hosts Phillips then plays in the regional tournament.

All junior high schedules, golf for Lee Junior High and track for Pampa junior high and the 1966 football schedules for both have not been approved.

Board Facing Problem on Hiring Coach, AD

By RON CROSS

There have been 19 applications received for the position of head football coach at Pampa High School. Three other coaches simply filled out a questionnaire sent them by Pampa School Superintendent John Damron, but let it be known they were not interested in the coaching job here.

Only about three of the applicants qualify for the position of a District 3-4A coach, although one other one may come in that would qualify.

One coach, who finished high, high, high, in the state AAAA playoffs this year has indicated a remote interest and could send down word any day.

Damron's questionnaire was interesting. The questions were very good, although one was seemingly out of place.

In every application, though, each coach who applied for the job stated quite clearly he would not take the job unless the Athletic Directorship went with it. It has been a while since Pampa had an actual athletic director, although Weldon Trice has been serving in this capacity, unofficially.

Another coach in the Pampa system has expressed an interest in the job of athletic director only.

The Pampa School Board met today and invited the Sports Committee which was supposedly dismissed from their duties last month with a nice pat on the head, to meet also.

One of the items on the agenda at the Board meeting today was discussion of the employment of a senior high school head football coach and recommendations of the Athletic Study Committee or Sports Committee.

A new coach was not to be hired today, which is a step in the right direction, even though some of the best have already been hired.

The board was also to be given a job description of the athletic director.

The problem seems to be money. But isn't that the usual case. There are only three persons in the Pampa school system that can qualify for the Athletic Director's job.

Basketball coach Terry Culley, golf coach Eural Ramsey or assistant high school principal Weldon Trice.

But, to get the very best qualified coach for high school football the board must realize that the athletic director's job would have to go to the coach.

Looking Beyond Death Penalty

The sentencing of a 16-year-old Painesville, Ohio, boy to die in the electric chair for the murder of his father has ignited a controversy in that state over this case in particular and capital punishment in general.

In a two-week period, two other teen-agers in the greater Cleveland area also received death sentences for murders they committed.

The odds are good, however, that none of the sentences will actually be carried out. Although Ohio is one of 37 states still retaining the death penalty, there has been no execution there since March 1963.

Capital punishment is slowly disappearing, either through outright abolition or through increased readiness of governors to exercise their power of commutation. In the five years that he has held office in Ohio, Gov. James A. Rhodes has commuted the sentences of five men.

According to jurors in the Painesville case, it was the particular brutality of the crime, as testified to by vivid color photographs, that moved them not to recommend mercy, thus making the death sentence mandatory.

Bitter Prescription

Every so often emperors have to be reminded that they have no clothes.

The late Sen. Estes Kefauver performed this service for the U.S. drug industry with his investigations of its pricing practices several years ago. Since then, the pharmaceutical manufacturers have been particularly sensitive about their image.

An ongoing public relations campaign has attempted to clothe them in shining white and convince the public that what is good for General Drugs is good for the U.S.A.

Now one of their own has advised them that their underwear is still showing.

George S. Squibb, former vice president of and now consultant to the firm that bears his great-grandfather's name, has told drug companies that they should expect "ordinary profits" but not "windfalls" from the manufacture of products on which the life and well-being of millions depend.

This may be a shocking idea to some, says Squibb, but unless the drug industry reforms itself, he warned, government regulation "is by no means unrealistic or inconceivable."

Unlike the emperor in the story, however, the drug makers still seem not to have gotten the message.

The Same Old Tragedy

"The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" was written by Edward Gibbon in 1788. It is a classic, widely read, often quoted.

Gibbon listed five basic reasons for the downfall of Rome. They were as follows:

—The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis for human society.

—Higher and higher taxes; the spending of public money for "free" bread and circuses for the people.

—The mad craze for pleasure; sports becoming every year more exciting, more brutal, more immoral.

—The building of great armaments when the real enemy was within—The decay of individual responsibility.

—The decay of religion, which lost its power to guide the people.

These things brought to an end the splendor and grandeur, the material prosperity and the intellectual and cultural leadership enjoyed by the mighty Roman empire.

Any resemblance between the present state of affairs in our own country and that of the Romans in the days of the emperors is all too real. The appropriate warning has been stated so often it is commonplace: "Those who ignore the lessons of history are destined to repeat its mistakes."

Love-Blind Computer

Automation has suffered a setback — automated romance, that is.

Two Stanford University psychology students computer-matched 350 men and 210 women on the basis of personalities, mutual interests and opinions. The results of the machine-made dating were disappointing.

They found that how closely two people were matched seemed completely unrelated to how much they liked each other.

"Apparently the blindness stays in blind dating even when you use a computer," they report. While they concede that the number of people involved in the experiment was too small to be statistically significant, computer dating seems "just like roulette — you pay your money and take your chances." The students concluded that it's just "too inefficient a way to meet dates."

Only one marriage resulted from the dating experiment — but neither partner had been matched with the other. They met elsewhere and fell in love the old-fashioned way.

Which brings to mind an old (?) saying: The computer disposes, but it's still the man who proposes.

TIME: THE LAST FRONTIER

Thinking about the recent advent of new year and that magic moment when 1967 ceased to be and 1968 was born, got me to puzzling over the question of time. What's it? I'm not sure that any of us know. But its importance is so great that our success or failure in life is largely a matter of timing. Some call it luck.

There are few decisions we make in business or civil life which are either wise or foolish as such. Obviously, there is an area of morality and decisions made which contravene moral law are always in error and, in the long run, invariably destructive and foolish. But if we think in areas other than the moral for a moment, we are confronted at once with the wisdom or folly of our decisions.

For instance, buying a share of stock is neither moral nor immoral. But it can be either wise or foolish, depending on our timing. We might like to take a trip. Traveling is not immoral, per se, nor is it moral. It does not enter that framework of reference. But taking a trip could be either wise or foolish, depending upon the timing.

There are few decisions we make within the moral framework which are universally wise or universally foolish. It depends on how they are made and how they are timed.

I can begin to understand why the ancient Mayans worshiped time as a god. It is the inexorable force we know. Time is our greatest friend, when our actions are in harmony with it. When they are not, time becomes our worst enemy. And no man has ever defeated it in the end.

Regardless of the creative imaginations of science fiction writers, time is irreversible. It flows in a given direction. We move from the now toward future nows, and never toward past nows. We are born young and we grow old. We are never born old to grow young. Unlike space, time is not subject to our own movement in it. We can move about in space, fairly much as we please. Space we can understand. Space we can occupy and (for a time) dominate. People are prone, at the moment, to say that space is the "last frontier." I am not at all certain but what it is really the first frontier; the last one to be approached and understood will be time.

The old year has gone. We can never walk its vaulted arches of hours, days, and weeks again. If we didn't make the best of it, it is now too late. Whatever decisions we made are not subject to recall. We may change our minds, but the opportunity of erasing what has already transpired is not available to us. We can only decide to do better in the future; the past is written.

H. L. Hunt Writes

BETTER DAYS TO BETTER DAYS

Americans who love their country and are genuinely opposed to communism and socialism have the facts on their side. But the truth can be unpopular and unwelcome, and up to now we have been unable to win many arguments. People who want to change our laws by demonstration or to interpret the law in a way that will permit them to do whatever they please belong on the opposite side from those who cherish freedom.

Left and right of center will have more meaning when we begin thinking of left or right of the "average." The debate between people with the burdensome label "Conservative" and those who have preempted the very fine title "Liberal" is going badly for freedom. The much-sought-after and highly regarded title, "Moderate," is only a new version of "Middle-of-the-road." Moderates, after all, are those who cannot think through the issues accurately and lack the courage of their convictions to take a stand. Trying to listen to public opinion, they weave back and forth, with little depth and weight.

The lines would be more easily discernible if drawn between those showing love of country who could be called "Constructives," and those who have permitted their thinking to be twisted to such an extent that they are tolerant of communism and crime.

Many ask, "Is there real danger that we will lose our liberty or that the nation will surrender its sovereignty?" If the answer is affirmative, surely everyone must begin doing all that he can to safeguard our future.

That 30-hour week is almost a reality. It's been estimated that within the next decade there will be almost 4 million vacation homes in the U.S. And if there are that many homes you can bet there will be five times as many hotels and motels catering to vacationers and long-weekend families. . . . And speaking of vacations reminds us there are 10,000 beds for winter skiers and vacationists at Aspen, Colo. If you arrived there without a reservation and dropped into any one of the 80 lodges and inns they could find a spot for you immediately through a hook-up with a computer in the local Chamber of Commerce. It's the only winter resort with that kind of set-up.

Most folks think P. T. Barnum the great showman, invented the name Tom Thumb for his famous dwarf, but the name goes back to the 16th century when it was invented to fit a dwarfish character in nursery tales. Barnum's Tom Thumb was actually Charles B. Stratton of Bridgeport, Conn., where Barnum quartered his circus and heard about the little man who lived nearby.

Thoughts while shaving: An old New England grocer told us recently that fresh eggs should never be washed since that removes a protective covering from the shell. He said the shells are porous and eggs should never be stored near strong-smelling substances, and should always be kept in a covered container because they evaporate. His observations convinced us we have been doing everything wrong in the egg department for years in our household. . . . Everyone knows that the gasoline-powered automobile contributes in a large measure to the air pollution, but the main reason a battery-powered electric car is not yet practicable is that it will only go about 50 miles before the batteries need recharging. Back in the days when "electrics" were commonplace, they were driven mostly by elderly ladies who didn't travel 50 miles in a week. . . . The real champs leave nothing to chance. A school friend

Question Box

QUESTION: In a semimodern civilization has any man ever been free? What is unrestrained freedom?

ANSWER: Dean Russell in the December issue of The Freeman has a very thought-provoking article, "My Freedom Depends on Yours." It was especially thought-provoking to us because we had believed that people could be free. But after reading that article, we don't believe anybody in a modern civilization as it is today can be completely free.

Dean Russell defines unrestrained freedom in this manner: "When I speak of freedom, I mean a condition of mutual non-molestation, with no person molesting any other person. Under that concept, I fully endorse 'unrestrained freedom' — a society based on the idea that no one has the right to molest anyone else; a society wherein everyone is legally forbidden to molest anyone else."

We hadn't thought of it before, but a man is not free if any other nation, let alone our own, interferes with men freely exchanging goods and services. . . . with others where both parties believe they'll make a profit by the exchange. Certainly in Russia you don't have freedom of discussion or religion, even; and in the United States we do not have freedom for parents to educate their children. The state has intervened and molested to the extent that the parents have to send their children to a school sanctioned by the elected majority.

Any nation that has immigration restrictions or protective tariffs or quotas is interfering with everybody's natural right to trade with anybody in the world.

If we really had freedom, where people were free to exchange goods and services, our standard of living would be very much higher, we'd have peace and good will among mankind.

It's Up To You

God or State

Dr. S. A. Aluko, professor of economics at the University of Nigeria, was a delegate to the World Conference on Church and Society at its recent meeting in Geneva, Switzerland. He has made a very significant observation from which I quote:

"The time that a man knows that the state is capable of taking care of him from the cradle to the grave, state worship becomes easier to substitute for God worship."

This is a profound truth to which we have many times called attention, but we never have articulated it more succinctly, briefly and accurately than this statement by Professor Aluko. Welfare statism, or socialism, teaches men to forget God and, in effect, pray to the state. It is the devil in his most cunning disguise again seeking to supplant God. How subtle the appeal to help the needy by appropriating more and more public funds! How little noticed, the fact that this is in reality an appeal from Christian charity to the law and police power to dispossess some for the benefit of others. It is an appeal from God to Caesar. It is proof that many people no longer trust in God, and are no longer willing to do their Christian duty in aiding the unfortunate, but choose rather to engage in the business of redistributing wealth. This they do with the thought that they will get more from others than they themselves must contribute. Little do they realize that the process will so retard the production of wealth that there will be much less for all concerned.

How to Keep Tourists at Home
NEW YORK (NEA) — To defend the dollar against devaluation, President Johnson has announced a sweeping program aimed at keeping American spending at home.

Most of the program will slow down U. S. investment abroad through legal and financial restrictions. But a big part of the plan calls for a voluntary effort by the people. It is the President's hope that the spirit of patriotism will keep the American tourist from spending his vacation dollar in foreign lands.

That is a forlorn hope, it seems to us. Patriotism is a fighting word nowadays. And the only voluntary act most people perform easily is to break the law.

To our way of thinking, the only way to get the American tourist to vacation in the United States is to provide him with the things he enjoys most abroad.

Well, what are the chief things people enjoy about their foreign vacations?

To find out, we conducted a nationwide survey the other day at lunch with a friend of ours whose name is Legion.

"Have you ever been to France on vacation?" we began.

"Sure," he replied gaily. "Three times — no, four counting last summer."

"What do you enjoy most about France?" we inquired.

"Enjoy?" he repeated, aghast. "What's to enjoy when a people insult you at every turn? Why, the French hate Americans. . . ."

"How about England?" we asked. "Have you ever vacationed there?"

"Oh, yes," he said, his eyes misting with remembrance. "I go to England every other year."

"And what do you enjoy most?" we asked.

"How can you tell?" he said. "The English weather is always terrible. And they don't have any heat in the rooms. . . ."

"Italy?" we asked.

"Twice," he said. "The wife always gets painfully pinched. And the traffic is always bumper-to-bumper. . . ."

"What about Spain?" we asked.

"Ah, Spain," he said. "Now, there's a country."

"Really?" we said.

"Absolutely," he said. "Absolutely no relief from the heat. And they don't eat dinner until midnight. Why I went around half-starved. . . ."

We also have complete notes on what he enjoyed most during his vacations: in Greece ("The poverty is heart-breaking"); the Middle East ("I expected bombs to fall any second"); and North Africa ("You can't drink the water").

Now, these tourist attractions should not be so very hard to duplicate in the United States. In fact, some of them are already here.

True, we do not know any counties where you cannot drink the water. But we do have a fairly long list of native quarters where you cannot eat the food. And as for the poverty, insults and bombs — why, that's a lead pipe cinch.

In all honesty, however, we must point out that this catalogue does not include any of the tourist enjoyments to be found in Asia as we did not survey anybody who has ever been there.

"But I'm planning to go next summer," our friend said. "I hear they've got wonderful things to offer."

"Such as?" we inquired.

"The highest prices in the world," he said eagerly. "And I hear that in Tokyo you can't find any street addresses at all. It's supposed to be absolutely impossible."

SPANISH VISIT

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I'm afraid I disrupted a dinner party thrown by a friend of mine here recently. I don't especially like to impose television shop talk on such occasions, but I was forced into it there by a gentleman I didn't like very much. I had never met him before. He is a television director. He is very ignorant about his own business. What gadded me, I guess, is that I have met his kind of mentality at such gatherings from coast to coast—the sort of all-around show business expert on television who hardly ever really watches the home tube outside of his own work, but is certain the medium is very bad. I don't mind a fellow who can cite me chapter and verse. But I have been astounded in mingling with many television people—commercial and intellectual figures—to find out how rarely some look at their own medium.

Defends Television

Of course there are the pros who do watch just about everything worth watching, as they very well should in their business. But here I was face to face with another fraud, and of all things, I found myself almost defending television.

It was a very bad year, last year, he said. Oh, I said. I asked him whether, by chance, he had seen the four-part series of the Warren Commission Report. Well, only a bit, he said. Did he see the four-hour program on Africa? Unfortunately he caught only a few minutes. Did he see the exclusive hour on Khrushchev? No. Did he see the series of Jim Garrison's investigation of the Kennedy assassination? No. Did he see Garrison's rebuttal? No. Did he see Ted Yates' "The Battle for Asia"? No. Did he see the French documentary "The Anderson Platoon"? No. Did he see the conversation with Eric Hoffer? No, but he heard about it. Did he see the hour on homosexuality? No. Did he see CBS' exploration of the possible therapeutic uses of mind-opening drugs? No.

Not A Watcher

How about the charming hour entitled "The Italians"? Yes, he caught that—had forgotten it. Did he see "How Israel Won the War"? No. The hour about press coverage of trials? No. The program about Cortez? No. What about "Mark Twain Tonight"? Yes, he saw it. And "The Investigation"? No, missed it. And the Frank Sinatra hour? Yes, saw it. And "The Diary of Anne Frank"? Missed it.

And the program about Gauguin, and the National Geographic specials, and "At the Drop of Another Hat" and "Diary of a Madman"? No to all four. I asked him about a few more shows and then just gave up. My host said it was a successful evening.
