Blood drive scheduled

The Kiwanians are sponsoring a blood drive at the Civic Center on Wednesday, September 18, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. This blood drive is to assure that there is a blood supply available for the citizens of Mitchell County.

Having an adequate and readily available supply of blood is very important to Root Memorial Hospital and to the community, especially in emergency and life threatening situations.

Blood can only be made by and obtained from people. It cannot be manufactured, so if someone doesn't donate it, the hospital doesn't have it.

Root Memorial Hospital maintains its blood supply through United Blood Services of San Angelo, a non-profit organization. All of the blood is collected from volunteer donors only. Root Memorial Hospital is expected to replace as much blood as it uses.

Last year, the hospital used 65 more units of blood than it replaced. In the first eight months of this year, 120 units of blood have been used and have replaced only 35 units. At this rate of blood the hospital will use 180 units this year, so 145 more units to meet our blood needs for the year needs to be collected.

Of the 120 units that have been used, 85 were given to elderly patients. Many of these people do not have family or the resources to replace blood for them, so their blood needs have to be met by volunteer donors from the community.

The only way of maintaining a blood supply is by volunteer donations at the periodic blood drives. The collection of blood at these drives is done by professional blood collection teams from United Blood Services. It doesn't take much time and your blood count and blood pressure will be checked to be sure you can give without any harm.

Pool, park fund climbs

The latest contributions total $1,015, which brings the total pledged or raised to $63,355.49.

The Park Board is hoping to raise $125,000 to match a grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. The money will be used to build a new swimming pool at Ruddick park as well as make other improvements to the park including new play areas, a hike and bike trail and an underground sprinkler system.

A list of the latest contributors, except for those who wish to remain anonymous, includes:

For the Record

By Ray Mayo
Editor

There's no doubt about it—this has been a year of firsts for me. As you recall, I did get married for the first time. From that moment on, it's been a series of firsts—some good, some not so good.

Now, don't get me wrong. I AM enjoying married life. It just gets some getting used to.

For instance, trying to get three people ready for school and work with one bathroom can be interesting—especially when all three like to sleep as late as possible in the mornings.

Shortly after school started, my school teacher wife came out of the bathroom one morning after washing and drying and curling her hair and putting her makeup on.

"It's all yours," she said, referring to the bathroom. "What time is it," she asked nonchalantly.

Glancing at the clock as I stumbled from bed, I said, "Oh, it's five to eight."

Janet leaves for work at eight, and third grader Jeffrey and I leave about 10 after eight.

Needless to say, we got it into gear that morning. We weren't early, but we weren't late, either, believe it or not.

Another first this year was when I slept on the patio one night with the two dogs.

No, my wife didn't kick me out of the house, and she only let me sleep outside if I promised to come in when it started getting daylight so the neighbors wouldn't catch me asleep on the chaise. It started about 2:30 one Sunday morning. I was asleep in bed (in the house) when our two dogs (the girls as we refer to them) decided they needed to go outside.

Janet was still up from the night before, working on something for school. I stumbled into the hall, hollered "the girls want out" and went back to bed.

A while later, I heard the door open, recognized the pitter-patter of little doggie feet going across the kitchen floor and smelled the unmistakable smell of skunk.

I realized at once as Sam the mongrel ran under the bed what had happened. The girls had gotten sprayed by a skunk!

I jumped out of bed, ran in the hall to meet face-to-face with a wide-eyed Janet. She didn't have to tell me what had happened. "Skunk," I said. She nodded in agreement.

I hurriedly put on some clothes, drug Sam out from under the bed and carried her outside. Cheeta, the Chihuahua, followed.

Now, getting sprayed by a skunk was nothing new for Sam. She had been sprayed several times when we lived in an old house in Corsicana. This was something new for Cheeta (and Janet).

"We need some tomato juice," I yelled to Janet as the girls and I sat on the patio.

Janet, thinking it must be an odd time to think about something to drink, went to the cabinet and brought back a small can of juice. "I need more than this," I can remember saying. Luckily, she found another, larger can.

Quickly explaining that tomato juice is one thing that will kill skunk odor, I found an old yellow plastic wash tub and started bathing the girls in tomato juice. Although the juice helped tremendously, it still didn't cut the smell completely.

By the time I finished the tomato juice baths, plus regular baths, it must have been about 3:30 in the morning. We didn't want to let the dogs back in the house, but we didn't want to leave them outside, either. We had just moved into the house in town and the girls weren't used to city life after living a year at the lake. Sam is a barker, and we were afraid she would wake the neighbors.

It was a cool, pleasant night, so I volunteered to spend the rest of the night on the patio, comfortably stretched out in the chaise, covered with a blanket.

When the roosters in the distance started crowing at daylight, I slipped back in the house. By that time, the dogs, still smelling somewhat like skunk, went back in the house, too.

It took a couple of weeks for the skunk smell to completely leave the girls.

It took almost that long for the bedroom to air out.

At CHS Student council plans projects

The Colorado High School student council has begun the school year enthusiastically.

With an early homecoming date, the officers and members began working in August to prepare for the activities. On August 23, the council members locked themselves in the high school from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. the next day to plan for homecoming and overall activities for the year.

The student council plans activities not only to make school a more enjoyable place, but to educate students by carrying out state educational projects. Projects include the Great American Smokeout, SMILE, a drug and alcohol prevention program, and Outstanding Student Council.

Dances and special dress-up days are also planned to break the routine of school.

The six officers are Blake Bingham, president; Melanie Rees, vice president; Lisa Garner, secretary; Holly Tarter, treasurer; Staci Wood, chaplain; and Andra McKinney, parliamentarian.

The officers began their preparation for leadership when they attended the Texas Association of Student Councils State Convention in Austin last April and a week-long summer leadership workshop at Angelo State University in August. They listened to motivational speakers and participated in activities designed to help them to become better organizers and to learn to communicate with students, faculty and administrators.

In January, they plan to attend the Advanced Leadership Workshop sponsored by the state organization in order to continue learning new leadership skills.

The CHS student council is a member of District Eight of Texas Association of Student Councils. The district, the largest in Texas, is comprised of more than 80 schools in West Texas. A tentative date of November 2 has been set for a fall workshop to be hosted by the CHS council. The workshop will bring district schools to Colorado City for a day of sharing and exchanging new ideas.

B&PW Club "looks to the top"

Hats were the order of the evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday, September 10 at the Civic Center.

Virginia Dearen, chairman of the membership committee which hosted the meeting, explained that all attending were asked to wear a hat was so that everyone would look at the "top," to symbolize the concept of seeing ourselves at the top.

Mrs. Dearen read excerpts from "See You At The Top" by Zig Zigler and then called on members to vote on the best hat. The vote was declared a tie between Mildred Free and Shirley Delaney.

Also as part of the program, six members were asked to give two-minute impromptu speeches. First place was taken by Glenna Garrett, second by LaRue Powell and third by Margaret Oyler. Others participating were Ernestine Stubblefield, Mildred Free and Christine Cooley.

During the business meeting, several decisions were made, including: endorsing Mrs. Dear-en as a candidate for Director-Elect of District 7, nominating Mrs. Cooley for the state nominating committee, nominating Mrs. Stubblefield as alternate on the state nominating committee and proposing Colorado City as the site of the 1986-87 BPW District Conference.

Appointments were made to special committees as follows: M. D. Anderson Fund, Anna Staats; Good Cheer, Mildred Free; Woman of the Year, Barbara Gray, chairman, assisted by Debbie Christian and Louise Logsdon.

Attending the meeting were Patsy Adams, Eddie Barclay, Molly Bruce, Ms. Christian, Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Dearen, Mrs. DeLaney, Mrs. Free, Mrs. Garrett, Nelda Garrett, Barbara Gray, Jean Holbert, Erdine Morgan, Velma Moseley, Mrs. Oyler, Mrs. Powell, Sallie Rogers, Juanita Schafer, Anna Staats, Mrs. Stubblefield, Judy Winkle and Wilma Wornack.

Guests present were Carolyn Shaw, Malie Alvarez, Sareesa Proctor, Donna Proctor and Mary Posey.

Extension Notes

By Debbie Christian
County Extension Agent

Because they want to be thin, many athletic teenage girls are not eating what they need to be good athletes.

A study published this year in the "Journal of the American Dietetic Association" warns that poor diets can affect growth and development as well as athletic performance.

The study of teenage female volleyball players revealed that 70 percent did not consume enough calories, calcium or iron. Their lack of nutrients did not result from lack of knowledge about nutrition. Concern about their weight was the key factor.

About 88 percent of the girls worried about gaining weight.

And 73 percent wanted to lose weight.

However, a third of their dietary choices were desserts, sweetened beverages, sugar, condiments, and salty snacks. Rather than give up the foods they enjoyed, the girls in this study cut calories by avoiding the foods they liked less.

Only ten percent of their food came from the milk and meat groups. This explains the low intake of calcium and iron—both of which are essential for growth and physical performance.

If you have a teenage girl, whether she's an athlete or not, look for some ways to help her develop good eating habits. Rather than criticizing and nagging, one of the best methods is to offer nutritious foods at home.

Wolves 2-0 after narrow win over Indians

By Tony Franco
Sports Editor

"Anyway you look at it we're 2-0," said Colorado High School head football coach Tom Ramsey after the Wolves hung on for a 10-6 victory over the Seminole Indians here Friday night.

"I'm sure some people are surprised. Some didn't expect us to win a game."

Colorado City's offense never was able to get untracked as it did in last week's 33-14 season-opening victory at Slaton—greatly in part to two tough defenses.

"We played pretty good defense. Both defenses nullified the offense. They had some (players) we just couldn't block."

"I felt there were a couple of incomplete passes that really slowed us down," said Ramsey.

The Wolves, despite a bit of sputtering, dominated the first half with a tough defense and a couple of big plays on offense. Colorado City gained seven first half first downs compared to Seminole's one.

The first quarter was a scoreless one. The Wolves first possession was kept alive by a roughing the kicker penalty on Seminole but the drive ended on an interception after quarterback Mike Ligon threw an eight yard completion to Michael Swann that gave the Wolves a first down at the Seminole 36 yard line.

Colorado City's next possession ended when an Indian defender dropped receiver Robert Lemons' for a seven yard loss. Lemons enjoyed an outstanding defensive game—recovering two Seminole fumbles and causing much pain for the Indians from his outside linebacker position.

The offensive line woes continued into the second quarter but Lemons and a couple of passes broken up by Adam Alvarez kept the Indians out of the endzone. Good punts by Reggie Gardner also helped.

Ligon also had a first half pass to Marty Cleckler that went for 11 yards and a first down. It was also Cleckler that dropped a pass at Seminole's five yard line.

That late first half possession came after Ruben Rivera's quarterback sack gave the Wolves the ball at midfield with 4:05 remaining in the half.

Cleckler's drop stalled the drive and it ended completely when Ligon was intercepted for a second time by Seminole's Ty Bryson, also a bruising fullback.

The Wolf defense again held Seminole and Colorado City got the ball with 48 seconds left in the half when a punt snap by the visiting team ended in a loss of seven yards.

Two plays and 43 seconds later the Wolves capitalized on the break when running back Sam Rivera took a Ligon pitch around the left side for 14 yards and a touchdown. Wylie Dakan kicked the point after.

Lemons recovered a Seminole fumble early in the third quarter but the Wolves were unable to move the ball.

When Seminole got the ball again the Indians put together the games best drive by going 75 yards in 12 plays. Five different ball carriers set up quarterback David Quintanilla's 19 yard fake and run that got the score with 2:07 left in the third quarter. Geoff Sims PAT attempt never cleared the line of scrimmage and hit a Wolf rusher—leaving the score 7-6 in Colorado City's favor.

Colorado City's next drive, which carried into the fourth quarter, went nowhere with Cary Ritchey quarterbacking for an injured Ligon.

The Wolves got the ball right back when Lemons recovered another fumble giving Colorado City a first down at Seminole's 15.

Seminole forced the Wolves into settling for a 38 yard field goal by Dakan with 8:02 remaining in the game. It ended the scoring.

Defensive pressure by Lemons, Eduardo Melendez and Albert Rivera put a stop to Seminole threats.

The threat ended for good when Jaime Nave coughed up the ball after a completion and Adam Alvarez recovered for the Wolves with one minute remaining.

Bulldogs clipped, 25-6

By Rick Alkire

Coming off a disappointing 26-0 loss to the Irion County Hornets last week, the Loraine Bulldogs came into Robert Lee with a full head of steam and a large amount of determination to correct the mistakes that were made the week before. Rain fell on the playing field for the second week in a row. There was no delay this time, but the Bulldogs lost their second straight 25-6.

The Bulldogs didn't give up as much on the ground as they did last week, but a well-balanced running-passing game along with good defense by the Steers contributed to their downfall. Robert Lee rushed for a total of 168 yards.

"We're going back to the drawing board and back to work," said head coach Sandy McSpadden. "Our front line just didn't block well. Our offense just isn't clicking right now." Robert Lee is a fine football team.

Coach McSpadden praised the defensive efforts of defensive back Eddie Benitez. Duane Li-nam and Billy Mayes also contributed well on defense. Robert Lee's defense did well against the Bulldogs. There were several players on both sides shaken up throughout the game. Tackle Charles McPeters started the game hurt.

Loraine's first possession in the opening quarter ended in a high snap to Edward Garza, who just couldn't hold on. Mike Sanchez recovered the ball on the Bulldog six yard line for the Steers. Two plays later, quarterback Kevin Johnson ran the ball in for a six yard touchdown. The kick by J. P. Skipworth failed.

With 33 seconds left in the first quarter, Skipworth recovered a fumble that gave the Steers possession of the ball going into the second quarter.

With 10:25 left in the first half, Steer quarterback Kevin Johnson was hurt and had to leave the game. Johnson was taken to the hospital for observation. Sophomore Robert Runnion replaced him at quarterback and filled his shoes quite well—completing four of eight passes for 65 yards. A couple of plays later, Skipworth kicked a 22 yard field goal that made the score 9-0.

The kickoff was fumbled by the Bulldogs at 10:07 in the second quarter. Play resumed and the Steers continued to dominate. The Bulldogs got the ball back deep in their own territory, but got pushed back on their own goal line. At the 3:23 mark, Michael Sanchez trapped Freddie Benitez in his own end zone for a safety. The score was 11-0, Steers.

The Steers continued to make things go their own way in the second half. As the ground game went into high gear, running back Tim Garringer totaled 113 yards on the ground and was the leading ball carrier for Robert Lee. The Steers kept the ball for the first six minutes of the third quarter as they started the opening drive of the second half on their own 36. With 6:13 left in the third, Garringer went over the goal line with a three yard run. The kick by Skipworth was good. The score was 18-0, Robert Lee. Garringer scored again late in the third quarter from six yards out after Wes Hood caught a 23 yard pass to set up the score. That drive began on the Bulldog 37 yard line. The kick again was good, 25-0, Steers.

The first two Bulldog drives of the second half ended up in a punt and an interception, respectively. The Steer defense really put the pressure on in the third quarter. The Bulldogs hit the trenches hard with them and were able to hold their own.

The fourth quarter was a seesaw battle between both teams. Both teams played conservative ball throughout the final period. The Bulldogs played intelligently, not trying to get 25 points all at once, but a little at a time. Unfortunately, there weren't enough ticks on the clock to get the job accomplished.

Just when the Steers thought Lorraine to be asleep, with 2:30 left in the game, on the first play of a drive that began on their own 30 yard line, running back Billy Mayes shot through a big hole made for him by the Bulldog offensive line and ran 70 yards for the score. The kick by Ricky Bailey turned into a try for two by Freddie Benitez. That attempt failed and the score stood—Robert Lee 25, Lorraine 6.

Billy Mayes rushed the ball 16 times for 111 yards and was the leading ball carrier for the 'Dogs.

JV, freshmen split games

Colorado High School football teams split a pair of contests at Seminole last Thursday night as the junior varsity won its second game without a loss and the freshmen lost their season opener.

The JV Wolves scored on their first possession and made it stand for a 7-0 victory while the ninth graders fell to the Indians 28-0.

The junior varsity's game winning score was a 10 yard pass to Ricky Arispe from Ismael Silva, who also kicked the PAT.

Offensive coach Mel Gierhart said the Wolves had a bad case of fumbleitis in the first half, which "was played on our end of the field."

The Wolves' first half offensive problems were erased by a defense that "held them good," said defensive coach Rick Robinson.

The Wolves "turned back" the Indians and also stopped a first half fourth and a foot. It marked the second time in as many games that the Pack has held the opposition scoreless.

"We came out in the second half and played on their end of the field," said Gierhart. "We had a couple of chances to score, but didn't. We were on their 15 when the game ended."

The contest was played in a rain that lasted the entire game. "After it started raining, we used dives and went straight ahead," said Gierhart. "The whole unit did a good job blocking. Mistakes kept us pinned."

Freshmen coaches Mike Hart and Raymond Zamarrappa said the ninth grade Wolves' loss was a result of a "slow start" hampered by inconsistency.

Heath Watlington made a couple of good catches, Bo Alvarez ran well and George Rivera, the quarterback, executed the option "fairly well."

Bass tourney sets new high and low

The fourth annual Colorado City Bass Club Open Tournament would probably be considered a huge success by the fish; the fishermen, however, found the going a lot tougher. Only one of the 116 registered entrants could catch three fish large enough to meet the minimum requirement of 14 inches and only 33 fishermen officially weighed in any fish at all.

Vic Keys of Big Spring weighed in the big stringer of the day and its relative light weight was a good indicator of just how tough the fishing was on both Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion. Keys weighed in two fish for a total of 6 pounds 4 ounces.

While everyone talked about "what if and if only" at the weigh in, no one could better the tale related by Adrian Hare of San Angelo. Hare fished Colorado City and landed a nice 5-3 which was just good enough to involve him in two ties. This tale of woe became more involved as Adrian was one of the few "lucky" anglers who missed fish. Adrian swore he missed "A real good 'un' and enough smaller fish to win the big stringer contest easily. As it was, though, he tied Paul Ham of Proctor for third place and Ham tied his 5-3 for the biggest fish of the day. To make matters worse, Hare and Ham decided to split the money but to flip for trophies. You guessed it, Ham won both.

While the number of contestants was a new tournament record so was the number of fish caught—a new low record, that is. The average stringer weighed only two pounds as the total catch for the day totaled barely 77½ pounds. This grim statistic was compounded by the fact

Adrian Hare of San Angelo tied for third place and big bass but lost the coin flip for both trophies. Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

To coincide with the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, several local businesses worked together during MDS's biggest fund-raising weekend of the year to help raise money for Jerry's Kids. A total of $1,215 was donated to the telethon from the special events in the Mitchell County area.

On Friday, the Sonic Drive-In was the location for the Kiwanis Club's dunking booth, the seating place for several KVMC disc jockeys and officers from the Colorado City Police Department. $375 was raised from this event along with $150 from the balloon sale also on the scene.

The Westbrook Skate-a-thon went on for 12 hours Saturday, raising a total of $650.

The MDA wishes to thank all the Mitchell County merchants and individuals involved in the fundraising events and special thanks to Lewis Martinez and Armando Garcia, two Colorado City youths, for their door-to-door collections.

Cook's Corner

Hoover shares recipes

The reason Sharon Hoover learned to cook was because of "marriage and a hungry husband."

When Mrs. Hoover was growing up, she didn't cook, so it was after she got married she learned.

"My husband did a lot of the cooking after we married, but I learned to cook by following recipes."

"I bought cookbooks and tried the recipes." Mrs. Hoover likes to try new recipes and doesn't change anything around until after she's made it three or four times.

"We've moved quite a bit, and I like to exchange recipes with friends."

"We would have luncheons and whatever dish we prepared and brought, we would bring copies of the recipes."

"I got a lot of good recipes that way."

She does not fry meat at all and always bakes and broils the meat.

"I never use salt in cooking and I don't have salt on the table either."

Mrs. Hoover doesn't prepare many casseroles because "I used to have casseroles a lot and I think the family got burned out on them."

She tries to prepare balanced meals and she has to prepare pretty big meals.

"The children are developing new tastes for food and they are a little bit more picky about what they eat."

"They will eat vegetables, so I prepare either fresh or frozen vegetables and we eat a lot of chicken and fish."

Supper is the main meal and Mrs. Hoover usually has meat left over from the meal.

Indonesian cooking and dishes for parties are the favorite thing that Mrs. Hoover likes to prepare. She also likes to bake.

"I like to bake cookies and my daughter helps me when I bake cookies."

You know you've heard the

saying about someone not being able to boil water.

Well an incident happened to Mrs. Hoover that is connected with boiling water, but has a little different "bang" to it.

"We were living in Midland and I was boiling some eggs."

"The eggs would begin to boil and after a couple of minutes some of the eggs, not all of them, would explode."

"I never knew what caused that, but my husband would have to scrape eggs off the ceiling and lights."

Mrs. Hoover and her husband, Rene, have two children—Deven 8 and Tamara 7.

Today she is sharing three of her recipes with RECORD readers that are easy to prepare and always come out right.
