Allies Hammer Naziland With 8,000 Planes

Enemy Aircraft Plants Pounded In 3 Countries

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 29. — A thousand heavy American bombers and 1,200 fighters spanned the length of Germany today, bombing two aircraft factories in Poland and four in central and eastern Germany while other fleets struck up from the south at the Vienna and Wiener Neustadt areas.

As the stunning day of bombardment drew to dusk, it appeared that the Allies might have sent out another fleet as large as the record number of 8,000 warplanes which flew Sunday from British and Italian bases.

The predominantly American fleets of warplanes scoured the face of Europe, bonded the invasion coasts of France and Belgium, strafed the front lines in Italy and reached deep inside Germany, Poland and Austria to tear up hideaway plants of the German aircraft industry.

Plants Bombed In Austria

Between 500 and 750 Flying Fortresses and Liberators bombed an aircraft plant at Atzgerdsdorf, near Vienna; the Wiener Neustadt plant No. 1 and the nearby Nord and Wollersdorf airdromes.

Other Liberators from Italy bombed two German troop concentrations in Yugoslavia in support of Marshal Tito's peasant army.

It was reported officially in Naples that considerable numbers of enemy fighters were encountered over Austria, precipitating great sky battles. Convoying Mustang fighters tangled with the bulk of the German interceptors.

Lightnings Strafe Transports

Lightnings which escorted the motor transports, trains and an airdrome in northwest Yugoslavia.

One Liberator formation attacking Wiener Neustadt was assigned the task of destroying anything still intact in the main Messerschmitt factory which has been damaged in six previous assaults.

One force of Liberators from Britain was jumped by between 100 and 200 German fighters over North Germany. The bombers were without escort temporarily and a vicious battle developed.

The Polish factories were at Poznan and Kreising. Those in Germany were at Leipzig, Tutow,

Many Streams Flooding After Heavy Rains

Abilene Area Gets Five-Inch Rain In 40 Minutes

(By The United Press)

No relief was in sight today for what was to many sections of Texas an exceptionally wet spring.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms prevailed over North Texas this morning, while streams in Central, North and portions of West Texas were out of their banks as a result of a week of sporadic rains that ranged up to five inches in some spots.

At Dallas, where it has rained on 10 of the last 11 days, total rainfall since January 1, reached 23.61 inches, as compared with a 1943 12-month total of 22.94 inches.

Trinity Out Of Banks

There the Trinity was three feet out of its banks and spreading over lowlands from Dallas southward to Trinidad, but little material damage was expected.

The Guadelupe and Little rivers in Central Texas were rising and threatened considerable damage.

At Buffalo Gap, near Abilene, a deluge that measured five inches within 40 minutes, sent nominally placid Elm creek out of its banks 200 yards on each side for a distance of six miles.

Most beneficial rainfall fell in the Rio Grande valley which had been suffering from a prolonged drouth. Brownsville reported 3.96 inches in the past 24 hours.

Five-Foot Rise Expected

The Guadulupe river stood at a level of 26 feet near Gonzales, and the sheriff's office reported that a rise of five more feet was expected.

Hundreds of acres of farm land were under water and thousands more will be inundated if the river rises to the anticipated level of 31 feet, Sheriff Knapp Burnett said.

Livestock losses in the area were comparatively heavy, Burnett said, and traffic on highway 20 south of Gonzalez was expected to be halted momentarily by the water.

At Cuero, below Gonzales on the Guadulupe, farmers watched the river rise rapidly and it was feared that crop damage would be extremely high. An overflow of the river would put thousands of acres of fertile lowlands under water.

LUTHERAN MINISTER DIES

HOUSTON, May 29. (U.P.)—The Rev. Henry Schliesser, Lutheran minister for a half century, died at his home in Houston yesterday. He was 73 and had served as field missionary for Texas from 1939 until he retired from active service in January. Services are to be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

We're Sorry, But:
Rationing Results In 'Skimpy' Paper

Wartime shortage of newsprint and the stiff rationing applied by the government today forced Lubbock Evening Journal to publish in an abbreviated form.

The management regrets this necessity to the very utmost, but the move was dictated by conditions entirely beyond our control.

The situation is not peculiar to Lubbock, but is nationwide, some papers being forced occasionally to miss publication entirely; others to printing occasional four-page issues, each page no longer than an ordinary letter-head.

We're sorry—but there's nothing we can do about it.

Nazis Show Mounting Tension On Invasion

Tone Of Broadcasts Indicates Another 'Wrong Guess' By Hitler's Command

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 29.—German broadcasts reflect increased tension in Marshal Von Rundstedt's entire invasion front facing this troop-packed island today as temperatures over the glassy Strait of Dover reached an unofficial 100 degrees shortly before noon.

Nazi commentators asserted that Gen. Eisenhower had missed one favorable invasion date when the tides and weather were perfect and cried out: "Germany would prefer for the invasion to come today rather than tomorrow."

That suggested that enemy defenses at least once already had been brought to a nerve-wracking peak of alertness, only to find that Hitler's command had guessed wrong.

Nazi Railroads Snarled

The Swiss newspaper, Gazette de Lausanne, gave a new clue to the defense problem of Von Rundstedt, complicated by railroads tangled and snarled by profusion of Allied bombs. The newspaper said there was increasing fear of a general D-day strike of French railroad workers and that the Nazis were sending in more key transportation officials and workers for key posts.

Nazi propaganda broadcasts asserted the Allied high command already had passed up its most favorable invasion opportunity because it had found out its legions of men and stupendous array of equipment were not as ready for the great event as it had thought.

Berlin made a wild guess, also, that "Gen. Eisenhowe. is waiting for fresh troops from America" before giving the go-ahead for the western assault.

"Allied Flaws" Said Found

"The Allied high command has allowed the past-week—most favorable both from the point of view of tides and weather—to go by because it has discovered flaws in armament and preparations of the invasion forces," proclaimed the German-controlled Brussels radio.

Allied authorities said they

Thousands On Strike In U. S.

(By The United Press)

More than 30,000 lumber and sawmill workers remained idle in the Pacific Northwest today while a strike of bakers employes gave Detroit a threat of a bread shortage and AFL mechanics at San Francisco defied a War Labor board directive to work more than 48 hours per week.

At Washington, D. C., bus travel to Pennsylvania and Maryland points was halted after 450 drivers and mechanics in that city and Baltimore walked out after charging the Greyhound bus lines management with refusal to mediate seniority and other grievances.

In the Puget Sound and Portland, Ore., regions lumber workers continued a strike, now 10 days old as members of the AFL union charged that the War Labor board lacked jurisdiction to end the walkout because it had failed to investigate cause of the strike directly.

A wildcat strike of CIO workers at the Chrysler Highland Park plant ended after officials told workers that "the strike is threatening the life of our union." The members then voted 3 to 1 to end the work stoppage.

Armed Forces Merger Hit

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP) — Plans of Senator Hill (D-Ala) to introduce legislation to merge the Army, Navy and Air forces into a co-equal "department of armed forces" brought a cautionary note today from the chairman of a special House committee on post-war military policy.

Asserting "such precipitant action would be most unfortunate," Rep. Woodrum (D-Va) said his committee shortly will make a report to the House on its "very interesting hearings" on proposals for unification, adding:

"A consolidation of the armed services undoubtedly offers food for thought and has possibilities. I feel confident, however, that the House committee and the House will not favor rushing into a revolutionized reorganization of the Army and Navy at this very critical hour in our military operations.

Would Divert Command

"It would divert the attention of the high command of the Army and Navy from the important business in winning the war quickly and might plunge us right into a violent controversy within our armed services, which must be avoided."

Hill told reporters that, acting on his own responsibility, he was proposing abolition, six months after the close of the war, of the War and Navy departmentes and the establishment of a new, consolidated military setup under a

Revolution Starts In Ecuador Today

QUITO, Ecuador, May 29. (AP)—A revolution broke out today among military forces and civilians.

The movement was led by supporters of Velasco Ibarra, former president who is in exile and has been living near the Ecuadorean border in Colombia.

Ecuador is amid a heated presidential campaign, with elections scheduled June 2-3. Some groups opposing the present regime described Valasco Ibarra to return to the country as a candidate, but the government refused him a visa from Chile. Velasco Ibarra then went to Colombia, where he previously lived several years in exile.

The liberal candidate in the elections is Miguel Angel Albornoz, who is opposed by the Velasco Ibarra forces.

OKLAHOMA GIRL DIES

GALLUP, N. M., May 29 (U.P.)—Preparations were being made today to ship the body of Vivian Witten, 14-year-old daughter of Postmaster Earl Witten of Pauls Valley, Okla., who was injured fatally in an automobile accident east of here, back to her home for funeral services. Her mother, Mrs. Earl Witten, and another woman, Mrs. Hazel V. Foster of Los Angeles, were recovering from their injuries at St. Mary's hospital.

Allred Favors Vote On Stand By Electors

State Convention Said Manipulated By 'Steamroller'

HOUSTON, May 29 (AP)—Former Gov. James V. Allred asserted today that "it is high time for the people to rise up when a steamroller convention, claiming to be Democratic, instructs its nominees to bolt unless they get their way."

In a statement released to the press Allred asked that the state executive committee "submit to a vote of the people in the coming primaries whether Presidential electors shall be pledged to cast Texas' vote in the electoral college for the party's candidates."

Allred Did Not Bolt

Said Allred: "While I did not bolt and do not intend to do so, it is funny to hear this crowd condemning 'bolters' at the state convention and, at the same time, instructing their delegates to the national convention and their candidates for presidential electors to pick up their balls and bats and quit the game if it goes against them in Chicago."

Asserting that it is "silly to talk about Texas not going Democratic if the people get to vote on it," Allred said:

"If George Butler won't let the people vote on this in the coming primaries, we'll all go out to our precinct conventions in July and teach those who would deny the people's will a real lesson at the governor's convention in September.

BUTLER SAYS CONTEST ON ELECTORS UP TO COURTS

Woman Slain At Amarillo

AMARILLO, May 29. (U.P.)—Civil and military authorities still sought a clue today to the slayer of pretty 22-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Snelson, mother of two small children.

The woman's body was found on a street in a residential district early Sunday. A powerful blow, evidently delivered from behind, practically had beheaded her.

A short time previously she had left her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joy Heathington, a soldier whom Mrs. Heathington knew only as "Harold," and another woman.

Went Toward Mother's Home

Mrs. Snelson proceeded toward her mother's home, while the trio went to Mrs. Heathington's home where they remained until later in the morning.

R. D. Snelson, the slain woman's husband, is in the Navy and stationed at Oakland, Calif. Since he left for the service, Mrs. Snelson has lived at Borger. She came here Saturday night to attend a dance with her sister-in-law.

Investigators discounted robbery as a motive, as the woman's purse containing $8 and personal effects was found near the body untouched. Neither had the woman been molested in any way, they said.

Mrs. Snelson was the mother of a three-year-old boy and 11-month-old girl.

Young Woman Near Death After Beating

SAN ANGELO, May 29. (AP) — Peggy Arnold, 20, telephone operator, was near death here today from injuries received in a beating late Saturday night. Preparations were made to give her a blood transfusion.

A negro soldier from Illinois, stationed at an air field here, was held by military authorities.

Miss Arnold was beaten at a bus stop.

Military authorities said the suspect had served time in a Texas military prison several months ago for an assault on a negro girl here.

NEGRO SURRENDERS

SAN ANTONIO, May 29. (U.P.)—Sedrick "Honey Boy" Horton, 30, negro charged with the slaying a week ago of Mary Lou Lowery in a downtown building elevator, today surrendered to Police Chief J. R. Emrie of Terrell Hills after eluding police over the weekend.

China Enters Critical Stage

Jap Drive Most Ambitious In Seven Years; Chinese Fighting Desperately

BY J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

China's armies fought desperately on four fronts today to thwart the most ambitious Japanese offensives in seven years of warring against the Chinese.

The Asiatic fighting overshadowed all other Pacific war fronts, including the progressing American invasion of the Schoutens, because it was the most ominous. Chungking authorities felt that China, beset in the north and east, may be entering its most critical period of the conflict.

Japanese troops pushed down the Hankow-Canton railroad to within 80 miles of Changsha, a city the Chinese have seen fit to defend with great effort on three previous occasions, all successfully. Four enemy columns pushed southward toward Changsha, apparently to gain full control of the rail line, which would help sew up a great segment of China fronting on the Pacific.

Could Seal Off East China

Coupled with Japanese drives to win control of the Hankow-Peiping or northern section of the railway, the enemy obective could be to seal off all of eastern China — richest part of the country — against future Allied use as a base to bomb Japan.

Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's 14th U. S. Air force rushed into the Changsha fighting, strafing the road from Yoyang to Puchi, destroying trucks, troops, warehouses and barracks. Farther north his airmen attacked barracks at Sinyang on the Hankow-Peiping section.

Fighting in Honan to the north raged on, at last report, but Chungking reports gave no new word on the Chinese counter-offensive. The Japanese crowed that in capturing Loyang, key rail city, they had dealt Allied plans for a China-based air offensive a mortal blow.

Pursue Retreating Japs

On a third front Chinese troops slogged through rain, fog, mud and sleet in Yunnan province, pursuing Japanese retreating toward the Burma frontier. The Chinese, aiming at a junction with Allied forces in Burmese Myitkyina, assaulted prepared mountain positions eight miles west of captured Tatangtzu village.

Myitkyina battle was a vital part of the China battle, for Stilwell needs it to link the Ledo and Burma roads for a supply line into China.

On Biak island in the Schoutens American troops moved from captured Bosnek, principal port, to within two and a half miles of Mokmer airfield against increasing enemy fire.

AAU Meet In Dallas Is Not To Be Held

DALLAS, May 29. (U.P.)—Texas' crack track and field starts will have to wait another year before getting a chance to compete in a southwestern AAU championship meet which would entitle them to make the trip to the national AAU meet.

Persistent rains over the week end forced cancellation of the scheduled championships and all contestants returned home. No effort will be made to bring them back, Director P. C. Cobb said, because of the expense involved and because most schools have either closed out their spring terms or are in the process of doing so.

Negro Held In Rape, Slaying

Suspect Admits Double Offense

(By The United Press)

TEXARKANA, May 29 — A 30-year-old negro cemetery caretaker was held in a secret East Texas jail today for safekeeping after admitting murdering a 22-year-old Texargana housewife and raping her while she lay dying.

The negro, George Johnson, told officers he had attacked Mrs. May Boatwright, wife of a railway mail clerk, last Wednesday when she resisted his advances.

The victim's husband did not report her disappearance until Saturday night.

Johnson was arrested a few hours later at his home after neighbors reported Mrs. Boatwright was last seen Wednesday afternoon leaving her home in a truck driven by Johnson.

The negro admitted after an hour's gruelling he had killed Mrs. Boatwright and led officers to her battered body in a thicket infested portion of the cemetery which was used as a dumping ground.

Worked At Boatwright Home

He said he had been doing yard work at the Boatwright home and that Mrs. Boatwright had accompanied him in the truck after asking if he knew where she might obtain some blackberries.

When she resisted his efforts to hug and kiss her, Johnson said, he struck her with a club and dragged her from the truck into the thicket where he assaulted her as she died. He said he covered the body with leaves and brush and left it.

Public Works Policy Urged

HERSHEY, Pa., May 29 (AP)—Immediate announcements by the federal government of its post-war public works aid program was demanded before the national conferences of governors today.

"We should be told what the federal government is going to do," declared Gov. Dwight Griswold (R) of Nebraska, during a round table discussion on postwar problems.

"I feel it would help tremendously in local planning if we knew."

Gov. Matthew M. Neely (D) West Virginia, asserted he would like to hear views of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, top figures in discussions over the Republican presidential nomination.

Holiday Fatalities Total 118 Today

(By The Associated Press)

A week end death toll from traffic accidents, drownings and other mishaps stood at 118 today as the nation began the third day of a four-day Memorial holiday.

Only 33 of the deaths reported today in an Associated Press survey resulted from automobile accidents while 51 were from miscellaneous causes and 34 from drowning.

Massachusetts, with 13 deaths, led in the number recorded. California had 11 dead and Illinois and New York 10 dead each.

(Accidental deaths in Texas by a late count totaled four.)

Nazi Defenses Threatened By New Offensive

Enemy Striking Viciously To Halt Onrush

(By The United Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 29—American troops pushed to within 16 miles of Rome today in a new drive threatening to turn the enemy's Alban hill defenses from the south, and to the northeast seized heights within sight of the Italian capital.

(A German Transocean dispatch from Rome said Allied shells and bombs were "raining ceaselessly" on the outskirts of the capital while Romans "united in prayers for the salvation of their city.")

The Germans, reinforced by fresh troops drawn off from their forces above Rome, were counter attacking viciously with tanks and flame-throwers in a so-far futile effort to throw back Fifth army forces that were threatening their last defense line below the capital.

ALLIES STORM TOWARD ROME-LINE STRONGHOLD

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 29—Fifth army troops stormed toward four Rome-line strongholds against fierce resistance today, thrusting one [illegible] within 17 miles of the [illegible] City.

Headquarters declared th[illegible] 18 German divisions enga[illegible] battle had been virtually de[illegible]ed in the broad offensive lau[illegible] May 11, with more than [illegible] prisoners taken.

Overwhelming Aprilia, once bitterly-contested beachhead fortress, the Fifth punched north within a mile of Compoleone — the closest penetration toward Rome. To the east of the Fifth army advanced within 2,000 yards of Valmontone, on the shell-torn Via Casilina, despite flame-throwing German counterassaults.

Steady artillery fire was pumped onto the Via Casilina, main escape route for eight German divisions being forced back on the front to the southeast.

Fight Near Velletri

In between on the Campoleone-Valmontone line, other forces fought in the outskirts of Velletri on the Appian Way, and closed upon Lanuvia, four miles southwest, where the Alban hills begin to rise from the Pontine plain.

"Despite several sharp German counterattacks, the Americans are advancing slowly in the direction of Rome," a battlefront dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Edward Kennedy declared.

Meanwhile the Eighth army in the Liri and Sacco valleys to the southeast pushed ahead, breaking down German rear guard stands.

Kimmel Demands "Open" Trial Soon

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP) — Accompanied by a demand from Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel for an "open" trial soon, legislation allowing more time for court martial action against the men in command at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck moved swiftly forward in both houses today.

The House rules committee approved a measure extending for one year from June 7 the time in which the proceedings might start and "directing" that the trials be held, rather than merely permitting them.

The Senate judiciary committee voted to act next Monday on a resolution fixing Sept. 8 as the deadline for action against Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short.

The Senate group also named a subcommittee, headed by Senator Hatch (D-NM) to meet in closed session Wednesday with high military, naval and Justice department officials and discuss the resolution.

Ferguson (R-Mich) disclosed receipt of a letter from Kimmel in which he said he wanted a "free, open and public trial" at the "earliest practicable date."

Wallace Believed 'In' Despite Opposition Of Many Democrats

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 29 — Frustrated conservative Democrats are turning today from their futile anti-fourth term campaign to the problem of preventing renomination of Henry A. Wallace of Iowa, for vice president.

There is increasing belief among Democrats here that President Roosevelt will insist on Wallace's renomination this year as he did in a surprise maneuver in 1940. Even some cabinet members are known to oppose Wallace now and the mere thought of him gives avowed anti-Roosevelt party men acute melancholia.

Any one of 50 or so Democrats would satisfy the anti-Wallace forces but their weakness is that they have not gotten together behind a single individual and forcefully presented his qualifications to Mr. Roosevelt. Many of them would like a stand-out business man for Mr. Roosevelt's running mate but concede that there is hardly any chance of that.

Primarily they want a vice presidential nominee who, if the President did not serve out a fourth term, would restore party control to the Democratic organi-

Dewey Is Willing To Express Views On Platform Matters

(By The Associated Press)

To the long-standing fact that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has not come out for the Republican presidential nomination was added today the news that he is willing to "express my views" on platform matters and is doing exactly "nothing" to discourage talk of his long pre-convention lead.

The new developments came in a press conference on the eve of the national conference of governors at Hershey, Pa., where the New Yorker told questioners that whether he would accept the nomination, if tendered, is "a hypothetical question."

The pre-convention delegate listings show that Dewey to date has at least 386 pledged and claimed delegate votes to 64 for Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, his nearest rival.

The New Yorker also was asked by a soldier at Indiantown Gap, Pa., whether he would run for president in 1944 or 1948. His reply was, "I guess I don't have any control over that."

zation as it existed before 1933 when the New Deal organization was born.

May Upset Plan

If Mr. Roosevelt insists upon Wallace, the vice presidential nomination will arouse a bitter if one sided contest at the Democratic national convention, perhaps even upsetting Chairman Robert E. Hannegan's plans for a short three or four day meeting.

More likely, however, the anti-Wallace faction will go down fighting on the first ballot after warning the convention—and suggesting to the nation's voters—that keeping Wallace on the ticket will make it doubly hard for many organization Democrats to support the ticket this year.

Mr. Roosevelt is believed to want Wallace for precisely the reason that the conservatives do not want him—the President evidently hopes that Wallace can carry on in command of the New Deal-Democratic party after he steps down.

"Must I keep used fats in a cool, dark place?"

THE ANSWER IS "No." Keep the can on the back of the stove where it's always handy—always ready to receive scrapings, skimmings, drippings, as you cook and clean up. Sure, the warmth will keep the grease melted, but then when the can is full, set it in the ice-box to get firm.
MAKE IT AS EASY for yourself as you can to save as much fat as you can. Every drop is urgently needed to make munitions, battlefield medicines and for other vital materials. No amount is too small; none too black or smelly to be of use. Save it in any kind of tin can, and when the can is full, hurry it to your butcher. He will give you 2 free red points and 4¢ for every pound. Start today—it's one of the important things you can do to help win the war.

A new microscope is 50 times as powerful as any here-to-fore manufactured, so perhaps that economy movement we're always hearing about from Washington soon may become visible!

ON its editorial page the other day, the Pontiac, Mich., Daily Press sprung a yarn that bears repeating—not only because it's good for a chuckle, but also because it could be true.

It seems that a church official had just finished passing the collection plate and was returning to the pulpit with the offering when a woman, a late comer, rushed down the aisle and dropped in a nickel. She turned to find a seat, looked around, then rushed down to the pulpit and grabbed a nickel out of the plate—and made for the door.

An usher stopped her, asked what she meant by taking her money back.

"I just noticed," she said, "that I am in the wrong church."

There are some people that denomination-conscious all right, and most of them are those among us surest of getting to heaven!

THE other day, right here in Lubbock, we were in company with a friend who ordered a chocolate nut sundae. He got a reasonable wartime substitute of his order all right, but he noticed that instead of nuts being used, the top of his ice cream was scattered with pieces of soybean.

They tasted pretty good, too, our friend said. Fact is, he'd never know they weren't ordinary nuts from the taste of them.

That put us to thinking and since the occurrence, we've been digging into the general subject of soybeans.

We find that this Oriental legume (that's a $10 word for 'pod') which was comparatively unknown in this country until 20 years ago, has become the nation's fourth most valuable crop. In actual money value, it is topped only by cotton, corn and wheat.

The soybean is being used widely to augment the stuffing in frankfurters, in macaroni and in noodles and, of all things, to stabilize beer foam. Formerly used only as a feed for animals and later as a raw material by industries manufacturing plastics, the soybean is now a substantial item of human diet and many tons of them are being shipped overseas for soldiers and recipients of Lend-Lease.

All of which brings to mind our contention that South Plains grain sorghums can be used, as soybeans are used, to feed human beings. Certainly, the acceptance of soybeans as human food denies the claim that people will refuse to eat breads made partially from grain sorghums flour simply because they're not used to that type of food.

Why lend money to a friend in order to get rid of him when you can accomplish the same thing at no cost by being frank with him?

YOU'VE probably heard, off and on all your life, how sheep and goats will follow their leaders wherever they go—even over a cliff, from which, of course, comes the comparison applied to thoughtless people who do the same thing.

But you've also heard that goats and sheep really aren't that dumb; that the idea is merely an "old wives' tale," something that has "grown up with the country" as a superstition.

However, the proof of the old story recently was indelibly impressed upon the mind of one Otis Grubb, foreman of a sheep outfit near Fort Davis.

According to Grubb, his flock got onto a narrow mountain trail and began crowding. Two or three got pushed over the brink. Others, seeing these, began to leap after them in panicked suicide.

Mr. Grubb told a correspondent of the El Paso Herald-Post that he was able to stop the white cascade only by riding hurriedly to the foot of the bluff and shouting up at the animals. He declared goats were piled up at the foot of the bluff and estimated his loss at 250 head.

WHEN an epidemic of strikes—many of them without reason and all of them without defense—tied up a lot of war plane production a few days ago, assistant Secretary of War Robert Patterson characterized the situation in a way which will appeal to patriotic Americans who ran across it. Said he:

"We have bombed German aircraft engine factories. They don't need to bomb ours."

That is a statement of fact, not merely an expression of burning anger and indignation.

The reason we feel those high-sounding post-war plans are fore-doomed to failure is because none of them include specifications for changing human nature.

OF interest to local and South Plains people should be the fact that on one map, at least, Lubbock is not Lubbock. Instead, it is Cork, Ireland.

Down at Terrell, a few miles east of Dallas, there is an air field at which three score aviation cadets of England's Royal Air Force are being trained for combat. As our old friend, Jack Stinnett, puts it in his Washington Associated Press column, "Great Britain, and a large slice of Hitler's 'Fortress Europa' have been lifted from under 'Der Furore's' nose and set down in Texas and surrounding states" as a part of the Terrell training program. On the map thus superimposed upon Texas and neighboring states, by which actual training missions are simulated, American towns take on foreign names in ratio to distance and direction in Europe with London supplanting Terrell as the focal point.

"For example, out of Terrell," Stinnett explains, "the RAF trainees streak across the skies to Emden (Turner, Ark.); Cologne (Vicksburg, Miss.); Paris (Beaumont); Dunkerque (Henderson); Cork (Lubbock); and Warsaw (Albuquerque)."

As far as we are concerned, we hope the plan helps make better fliers for the RAF, but we hope the simulated training never gets to the actual bombing status; and that Cork never becomes an occupied city.

Otherwise, it might be too bad!

Smoking is an expensive habit, but we have never run across a non-smoker who could tell us what becomes of the money he saves by not smoking!

IF you happen to be one of those armchair meteorologists who leans to the theory that war and rainfall have an affinity, one for the other, relax. T'ain't so.

Europe, rocked by detonations of one kind or another for quite a spell now, is experiencing its driest spring in 50 years. Not even the block-busters and the super-block-busters are doing any good—that is, from the standpoint of coaxing moisture from the clouds.

A lot of the members of that first AEF of more than a quarter century ago came home convinced that the almost continuous downpour in France resulted from the firing of heavy shells. Many a hopeful soul has tried to break a drouth with dynamite—the late C. W. Post, in this area, for example. But whenever rain followed the setting off of charges, it was, as Hollywood says, "purely coincidental."

It's too bad, of course, to blast an old superstition and an interesting calculation. But facts are facts.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

A WAR WIFE, whose husband has been stationed "somewhere in the Pacific" for more than a year, told me her scheme for improving on the quality of letters she writes her husband. It is such a sensible idea, other service wives might find it helpful.

MILLETT

This wife keeps a copy of all the letters she writes her husband. Then once a month or so, she sits down and reads the last batch of them she has sent out.

That shows her just what kind of a general impression she has been giving her husband about how she is getting along, what she is doing, what her life is really like, and how she is taking separation and loneliness.

She says that several times she has made discoveries which surprised her. After reading one batch of letters she decided that she was talking too much about the children — enough so that her husband might assume she had no other interests and no other thoughts.

DON'T DISTORT EVENTS

AGAIN, on rereading a stack of letters written during a period when she had been over-worked and worried, she found that her letters sounded as though she were turning into a self-pitying woman who had forgotten how to laugh.

And she made other discoveries that helped her to write better letters.

This wife was wise enough to realize that since a husband who is out of the country has only his wife's letters by which to judge what is happening at home and how his wife feels about him—those letters must not give the wrong impression.

OF interest to local and South Plains people should be the fact that on one map, at least, Lubbock is not Lubbock. Instead, it is Cork, Ireland.

Down at Terrell, a few miles east of Dallas, there is an air field at which three score aviation cadets of England's Royal Air Force are being trained for combat. As our old friend, Jack Stinnett, puts it in his Washington Associated Press column, "Great Britain, and a large slice of Hitler's 'Fortress Europa' have been lifted from under 'Der Furore's' nose and set down in Texas and surrounding states" as a part of the Terrell training program. On the map thus superimposed upon Texas and neighboring states, by which actual training missions are simulated, American towns take on foreign names in ratio to distance and direction in Europe with London supplanting Terrell as the focal point.

"For example, out of Terrell," Stinnett explains, "the RAF trainees streak across the skies to Emden (Turner, Ark.); Cologne (Vicksburg, Miss.); Paris (Beaumont); Dunkerque (Henderson); Cork (Lubbock); and Warsaw (Albuquerque)."

As far as we are concerned, we hope the plan helps make better fliers for the RAF, but we hope the simulated training never gets to the actual bombing status; and that Cork never becomes an occupied city.

Otherwise, it might be too bad!

IF you happen to be one of those armchair meteorologists who leans to the theory that war and rainfall have an affinity, one for the other, relax. T'ain't so.

Europe, rocked by detonations of one kind or another for quite a spell now, is experiencing its driest spring in 50 years. Not even the block-busters and the super-block-busters are doing any good—that is, from the standpoint of coaxing moisture from the clouds.

A lot of the members of that first AEF of more than a quarter century ago came home convinced that the almost continuous downpour in France resulted from the firing of heavy shells. Many a hopeful soul has tried to break a drouth with dynamite—the late C. W. Post, in this area, for example. But whenever rain followed the setting off of charges, it was, as Hollywood says, "purely coincidental."

It's too bad, of course, to blast an old superstition and an interesting calculation. But facts are facts.

OUR GOOD NEIGHBOR IS GROWING

A study of the growth of the population in Canada during the past 40 years, as shown in a bulletin issued by the Canadian Wartime Information board, might justify some speculation concerning what the future may hold for our great neighbor to the north.

The report shows that, between 1901 and 1941, Canada's population grew from 5,731,000 to 11,560,000—figures which seem small when compared with the approximately 135,000,000 people in the United States.

But the record assumes more significance when considered that Canada's population growth during the past 40 years has been almost as great as was that of the United States during its first 40 years. Between 1790 and 1830, the U. S. population increased from 3,929,000 to 12,866,000.

The favorable comparison to Canada is emphasized by the fact that its immigration regulations are among the strictest of the nations of the world. There were no restrictions of that kind upon entry into the United States before 1830, nor for a long time afterward.

It seems impossible, of course, that Canada ever could support a population anything like as large as the U. S. Still, our neighbor has extremely fertile and entirely habitable areas many times larger than nations in Europe with populations numbering in the scores of millions. Those nations are the proof that Canada's future place in the world's family of nations is sure to be a most important one.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 29. — Not much has leaked out about it, but the ticklish problem of meat rationing has caused almost as much trouble behind the scenes in the administration as it has to the housewife.

It almost prevented OPA Administrator Chester Bowles from going on the air last week. It also culminated in a letter written to Bowles by Food Administrator Marvin Jones, pointing out that it was his, Jones', job to determine how much food there was in the country, and Bowles' job to ration it.

PEARSON

The argument has been friendly, but it illustrates how difficult it is for two good men (Bowles and Jones are rated careful, conscientious administrators) to decide exactly when meat and canned vegetables should be rationed.

OPA Boss Bowles believes that the country can scrape through the summer and perhaps early fall without returning to rationing of meat or most canned vegetables—if the weather is good. But war food boss Jones is more cautious. He thinks maybe Bowles is too optimistic.

The showdown came when Bowles was scheduled to go on the air in his regular radio broadcast with an explanation of why most meat and canned-vegetable rationing was abandoned and when he thought it might be resumed.

WFA Tries Censorship

When Bowles sent his speech over to the Office of War Information, Elmer Davis and the War Food administration clamped down a stiff censorship. They didn't want Bowles to talk about rationing at all. The matter was then referred to Economic Stabilizer Vinson, who finally passed the ticklish dispute on to Justice Byrnes at the White House.

Byrnes leaned toward War Food Boss Jones and against Bowles' radio talk. However, Bowles argued that it would look extremely funny to the public if his scheduled broadcast on rationing suddenly was called off. So, in the end, Bowles virtually took the bull by the horns and went on the air.

Next day, he received a letter from Jones in answer to one which he had sent — ones — telling Bowles bluntly and firmly that he should stick to rationing not undertake crop estimates. Jones said that his men were making a study of crop conditions and would announce the outcome shortly. He said that, except for predicting the weather, he could soon tell how much food the country would have on hand.

Jones also reminded Bowles that the two had got along pretty well in the past and he hoped nothing would interfere with their cooperation. He intimated that, if Bowles struck to his side of the road—rationing—and Jones stuck to his side—food and estimating production—then there wouldn't be anything to row about.

Basis Of Optimism

WHAT Bowles said in his radio speech which WFA objected to was the optimistic opinion that "in the fall months, beef should be plentiful and the same should apply to hogs." Bowles also said that, if hog shipments should slow down, then pork rationing would have to be restored promptly. But he added, "Frankly I don't expect that to happen."

Bowles also pointed out that "the number of cattle available for beef are at an all-time high," and pointed out that we were now consuming 145 pounds of meat per person compared with an annual average of only 126 pounds between 1935 and 1939.

Though he didn't go into all the details in his speech, Bowles based his estimates on the fact that farmers will be selling hogs this summer while prices are high, knowing that the price support is scheduled to be cut down to $12.50 per hundred weight on Sept. 30.

Bowles also knew that Lend-Lease had stopped buying much meat, partly because it was well stocked up, partly because shipping space is tight because of the invasion. Also, the Russians had found they didn't need as much food as they expected because of the fact that the Germans had retired from the Ukraine so quickly.

In addition, Bowles figured that, while farmers would keep their cattle on the range most of the summer, they would begin hitting the market with a rush around Aug. 15, especially if there was dry weather. Thus, renewed meat rationing could be postponed until the fall.

Finally, Bowles' estimates showed that there was plenty of meat in the butcher stores now, and he argued that there was no use cluttering the butchers up with red tape and worrying the housewife as long as there was a reasonable amount of meat on hand.

So, unless the weather gets bad, meat and canned-vegetable rationing will not be tightened up during the first part of the summer—if Chester Bowles has his way.

NOTE: One thing on which both Jones and Bowles heartily agree is that Victory Gardens are essential. If gardens are neglected, then rationing of canned vegetables will have to be resumed pronto.

NEGRO CONGRESSWOMAN?

NEW YORK Democrats, in the past accustomed to electing a Democratic congressman from Harlem, largest negro community in the world, now admit privately that Harlem probably will elect a Republican this year.

Furthermore, the Republicans will probably send the first negro congresswoman in history to Washington. She is Sarah Speaks, recently nominated on the GOP ticket to run from New York's new 20th district.

Opposing Sarah will be flamboyant A. C. Powell, negro clergyman, newspaper publisher and left-wing member of the New York City council.

Sarah comes from one of Harlem's widely known families. Her husband is a doctor who formerly played with a jazz orchestra. She herself is one of the most successful criminal lawyers in Harlem.

Meanwhile, Herbert Bruce, negro leader of Tammany Hall, has refused to support Sarah's opponent, Powell. This, together with the zeal of negro women to elect one of their own sex to Congress, probably means certain Republican victory.

"COTTON ED" SOFTENS HIS INDICTMENT!

SOUTH CAROLINA'S gregarious "Cotton Ed" Smith rose in the Senate the other day and addressed some pointed words to his constitutents at home.

"I pledge my colleagues here," he said, "that for the last 11 years I have not changed a hair's breadth. I have stood for the Constitution, for the rights of my state, and for white supremacy. Those who do not like it, by George, can lump it. Those who want to vote for me, I shall be glad to have do so.

"The remainder," he shouted, "can go to Hell."

But when the senator's speech appeared in the Congressional Record, it had been carefully changed to read: "go to Heaven." Apparently, "Cotton Ed" got a little worried about the reaction of the folks at home.

POLL TAX ISSUE

OPTIMISTIC Senator Wherry of Nebraska will bring up his Constitutional amendment, outlawing the poll tax, for a vote probably today.

The idea originally sprang from the brain of Sen. Sinclair Weeks, who replaced Cabot Lodge as solon from Massachusetts. No one expects it to pass, but it is a good GOP bid for the negro vote.

Also, backers of the old anti-poll-tax bill have a neat move up their sleeve. Their bill, though sidetracked by a Southern filibuster, is still before the Senate. So when Senator Wherry moves to consider his Constitutional amendment, the anti-poll-taxers will move prior consideration of their bill, thus hoping to force a vote on it.

Whereas Wherry's Constitutional amendment would require a two-thirds vote in both houses of Congress, the anti-poll-tax bill would require only a majority vote in the Senate alone. It has already passed the House.

Enough senators are already on record against poll taxes so that, if they could ever reach a vote, passage of the bill is a real possibility.

IT is supposed to have happened during Churchill's last visit. . . . A youthful War dep't aide was rushed over to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue one hot Sunday dawn with confidential news of military importance for the President . . . Though the hour was terribly early he was brought to FDR's bedside . . . The President listened and then ordered the young officer rushed to the Prime Minister.

Breathlessly, he retold the news to Churchill, whose huge round face was all he could see imbedded in four or five pillows. The celebrated cigar smoldering in the semi-darkness . . . The officer ended his message and stood at attention, waiting tensely for Churchill's answer . . . The Britisher kept focused on the youth and then softly growled.

"Are you the young man who took my daughter out last night?"

"Yes, sir," gulped the astonished fellow.

"I'd like you to understand," said Mr. Churchill, "that my daughter is not accustomed to staying out until 3 in the morning!"

And then, getting out of bed in his white sack-like nightgown, England's commander-in-chief, cigar between his teeth, strode off hurriedly down the White House corridors in his nightie.

Over at the British embassy they enjoy telling the one about the pair of Gurkhas (noted as India's bravest tribe) who volunteered for the Indian army's skytroops. They asked the British officer: "From what height are we supposed to jump?"

"Five hundred feet," they were informed.

"Nothing doing," one complained, "that's too high. Cahn't we try from 300 feet, old chep?"

"No," said the officer, "from such a low height there is great danger the parachute won't open in time."

"You mean," they exclaimed, "that we get parachutes?"

Beaverbrook's former editor on his London Standard is editing a one-sheet newspaper for Mountbatten . . . His name is Frank Owen . . . It has the best comic strip in England, and Owen writes a daily editorial called "Good Morning" . . . Naval officers here on leave tell us Owen's paper is so popular that Mountbatten issued an order not to permit anyone to read it—unless they first buy a copy of The India Times, which almost "went out of business" because of Owen's circulation.

Capt. Jack Vietor, a prisoner of the Germans after bailing out of his stricken plane, was one of the more popular Men-About-New York-Washington-and-Hollywood . . . WE presume your fists clenched when you read about the German family who told a judge they loathed America, loved Adolf and wanted to have their American citizenship cancelled. They boasted they'd be willing to aid a Nazi saboteur if they had the chance. . . . Of course, they all belonged to the Bund . . . They are to be interned, but their temporary address is Ellis Island . . . Taxpayers will pay for their bed and board. . . . No longer will they be bothered with landlords, bills and the other matters some folks fret about . . . They will also enjoy the breezes of New York Bay all summer with one of the finest views—the Statue of Liberty . . . And, of course, they will enjoy sound slumbers—probably induced by counting American dunce caps.

THERE is a story behind one of the pictures in the "gallery" of a smart East Side place . . . When the magazine illustrators first discussed hanging their favorites in public, one of them decided to draw a woman of the streets . . . A pal was recruited to bring one in to serve as model . . . The picture turned out fine, and the various celebs who see the same "art" every night admire it most—not knowing until now that it is a study of "a bad girl" posed by a prostitute . . . We learned the story last night from the girl as she sat opposite herself in a night club.

On Fifth Avenue yesterday afternoon the column encountered the charming Arleen Whelan of "Doughgirls" . . . Her flaming hair and freckles are only some of her beauty . . . "A girl I know," we said, "gave me a good line this morning. She said she used to hate her freckles until she read somewhere that orchids have them."

"When I was a little girl," answered Arleen (must be heaven) "my mother used to say freckles are where God kisses you."

Yank Airmen In England Have To Use Bicycles Too!

Various Activities Break Flying Monotony

By ERNIE PYLE
Special War Correspondent

A B-26 BASE In England (By Wireless)—Every pilot and enlisted combat crewman on this bomber station has an English bicycle, for the distances are long on a big airdrome. The boys in my hut have to go about a mile to flying line and about a quarter of a mile to eat. Breakfast ends at 8:00, and like human beings the world over those not flying get up just in time to run fast and beat the breakfast deadline by five seconds.

ERNIE PYLE

They eat at long wooden tables, sitting on benches. But they have white tablecloths, and soldiers to serve them. At supper they have to wear neckties and their dress blouses. The officers'-club bar opens half an hour before supper and some of the boys go and have a couple of drinks before eating. As everywhere else in England, the whisky and gin are all gone a few minutes after the bar opens.

The enlisted crewmen eat in a big room adjoining the officers' mess. They eat exactly the same food, but they eat it a little differently. They line up and pass through a chow line. White porcelain plates are furnished them, but they have to bring their own knife, fork, spoon and canteen cup.

Food Exceptionally Good

Their tables are not covered. When they are through they carry out their own dishes and empty anything left over into a garbage pail, but they don't have to wash their dishes. The enlisted men don't have to dress up, even for supper.

Everybody feels that the food is exceptionally good. Since I've been here we've had real eggs for breakfast, and for other meals such things as pork chops, hamburger steak, chocolate cake and ice cream.

Of course both of these messes are for combat crews only. Ground personnel eat at a different mess. They don't have quite as fine a choice as the fliers, but I guess nobody begrudges them a little extra.

IN various clubrooms on the airdrome, and even in some of the huts, there are numerous paintings on the walls of beautiful girls, colored maps of Europe, and so on. One hut has been beautifully decorated by one of the occupants—Lt. C. V. Cripe, a bombardier from Elkhart, Ind. He also paints insignia on planes.

This same hut has a tiny little garden walk leading up to the door. On a high post flanking the walk there hang white wooden boards with the name of each flier in the hut painted in green letters, and under the name rows of little green bombs representing the number of missions he has been on.

All the names are of officers except for the bottom board, which says "Pfc. Gin Fizz," and under it are painted five little puppy dogs marching along in a row with their tails up.

Pfc. Gin Fizz is a little white dog with a face like a gargoyle, and altogether the most ratty and repulsive-looking animal I've ever seen. But she produces beautiful pups practically like an assembly line, and the station is covered with her offspring.

Dogs are rampant on this station. They have everything from fat fuzzy little puppies with eyes barely open to a gigantic Great Dane. This one magnificent beast is owned by Lt. Richard Lightfine, of Garden City, L. I., and goes by the name of Tray.

Omer's A Lucky Dog!

The gunner sergeants in the barracks where I've been living have a breedless but lovable cur named Omer. It came by its name in a peculiar fashion.

Some months ago the squadron made a raid on a town in France named St. Omer. One plane got shot up over the target, and back in England had to make a forced landing at a strange field. While waiting for the crippled plane to be patched up the crew acquired this puppy. In celebration of their return from the dead they named him Omer. Omer sleeps impartially on anybody's cot, and the boys bring him scraps from the mess hall in their canteen cups. Omer doesn't even know he's at war, and he has a wonderful time.

THIS station has a glee club too, and a very good one. They gave a concert for the people of the nearest village and I went along to hear it.

The club has 29 men in it, mostly ground men but some fliers. The director is Corp. Frank Parisi of Bedford, O. He taught music in junior high school there.

The club has already given 10 concerts and they are so good they are booked for three concerts weekly for the next six weeks and slated to sing in London. So you see lots of things besides shooting and dying can go along with a war.

USE SEA POWER TO GET HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S 20% PIG RATION
Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and — through creep feeding—to pigs from 2-3 weeks of age on up.
MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."
B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra tract minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

FAMOUS WINTER GARDEN OF TEXAS

Just came back from an inspection tour with Mr. Bishop, from the Winter Garden, and I took one of his 64-page booklets with me, so a great many of the places where he has letters from the farmers, also pictures in the booklet, and found all to be as good as represented. I knew it was a wonderful country before I went—after reading Mr. Bishop's advertisements, and talking to him personally, and knowing his reputation for honesty, and good judgment on land values, also knowing that he never would sell land in any country except in territories that he knew to be good—where the price of land is cheap, due to the fact that the country was not yet developed, but I found the country was very much better than I had expected, therefore, I made a deal with him to be his Sales Manager, and I am going to devote my time in selling what I consider the best bargains in the country. I believe that I will be doing a favor to anyone to assist him in buying a real bargain where he can make lots of money, and at the same time have a desirable place to live—as well as a healthy place, and a fisherman and hunter-man's paradise.

If you are in the market to buy land anywhere, I want you and your wife to go with me (if you have a wife), at the earliest date possible, as the ones who buy first will get the best bargains. If you are able to buy as much as $5000 worth, and in the market to buy somewhere, I will take you down in my car, and pay all expenses, whether you buy or not, and if you do not think it is a good buy you are not obligated.

Write for 64-page booklet, and other literature. Phone or come to see me.

Allies Smash 3 Divisions —

tle rolled into Rome, the enemy in the mountains southeast of Valmontone was driven out of the towns of Sermoneta and Bassiano, below Norma, which was overwhelmed yesterday. Snipers were active in the hills beyond this area and Fifth army patrols were mopping them up.

In its northward drive the Fifth army slashed across two of the bitterest battlegrounds of the beachhead fights of last February.

French Driving Ahead

French forces meantime followed up their seizure of Ville Santo Stefano by taking off northward through the hills toward the Liri valley making only casual contact with the enemy and capturing Monte Siserno, 2,400 feet high.

From the beachhead Fifth army troops met stubborn resistance every inch of the way in their drive to crack the Anzio-Albano highway, down which the Germans poured vicious attacks last February, and past the Aprilia highway, railroad and factory area, scene of much of the bloodiest fighting since the beachhead was established.

Raids On Europe

Cottbus and Soran. The flight to Poznan entailed a roundtrip of at least 1,450 miles.

French Coast Bombed

Simultaneously, hundreds of lesser American bombers struck heavily and repeatedly at the French invasion coast, bombing bridges, railroads and airdromes.

The attacking Fortresses and Liberators split into several spearheads in efforts to confound the enemy defenses. The German radio reported the fleets engaged in a number of sky battles.

The daylight assaults capped a night in which the RAF kept the snow-balling air offensive rolling unchecked by assaults on the northwestern French railroad center of Angers, the German chemical city of Ludwigshafen, and other targets on the French coast.

Brilliant Channel Skies

The planes flying out from Britain raced through brilliant, hot channel skies to the continent. The German radio reported that as the Allies' southern fleet—its bombing presumably accomplished—wheeled for home, bomber formations from Britain approached northwestern Germany. The broadcast added that attacking fighter squadrons had swept into the southwestern portion of the Reich.

The RAF operations last night, which also included mine laying in enemy waters, cost one British plane.

The railway center at Angers—a new objective — was the main target of the British night bombers. The attack was reported heavy, although the Air ministry indicated the force was not unusually large.

Texas Demos' Rift

numerous queries and suggestions concerning the problem posed by two sets of electors. In one of them, W. S. Bramlett, chairman of the Dallas county executive committee, proposed a referendum to determine whether Texas Democrats want their presidential electors pledged to a fourth term for President Roosevelt or uninstructed.

Butler said he would not answer any particular query. However, he said, "the properly constituted Democratic party convention was held in the state senate chamber on May 23 and that convention selected 23 electors. Those electors . . . have been certified to the Texas secretary of state by the chairman of that (uninstructed) convention.

"So far as the executive committee is concerned, they were the properly selected electors for the Democratic party of Texas. If anybody disputes this, the place to determine the dispute is in the courts."

Invasion Speculation

failed to see how a Berlin-announced meeting between Hitler and the Japanese ambassador to Berlin, Lt. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, fitted into the invasion picture.

The meeting at Hitler's headquarters, with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop present, was for consideration of "acute questions of German-Japanese collaboration," the German radio said.

It was hard to see how Japan, currently taking a military beating in the Pacific, could do much "collaborating."

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Heavy Battle Waged For Highway Center

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

German held Valmontone, astride the great Casilina highway twenty miles southeast of Rome, was the outstanding strategic prize for which a furious battle was being fought today, as the Allied offensive from the Anzio beachhead continued to surge forward.

Nazi retention of Valmontone was a matter of death or capture for a host of their badly mauled troops which are falling back towards the Eternal City from the shattered Adolf Hitler line. This town forms a barrier across Via Casilina (frequently referred to as route No. 6) which is the chief remaining avenue of escape for the retreating enemy since they lost the Appian Way to the south.

Means Even More

But possession of Valmontone meant even more than that. Its loss by the Hitlerites would be a heavy blow to their defense of Rome — if indeed they intend to defend it to the last.

No wonder then that as dawn broke over the battlefield the Germans were counterattacking furiously from Valmontone with flame throwers in an effort to hold open this route for their comrades, and that Fifth army beachhead troops were driving straight through this hellish assault until they were close to the outskirts of the town. Valmontone decidedly was a point worth watching as a key to Allied progress.

Via Casilina isn't, however, the only avenue of escape for Nazi Field Marshal Kesselring's retreating troops. About 25 miles along this highway to the southeast lies the strategic town of Frosinone and from there another highway, and also a railroad, run a bit northward and then turn towards Rome above Via Casilina. This Frosinone thoroughfare also divides after a bit, providing still another avenue which ultimately winds in towards Rome.

Thus the wily Kesselring won't be cut off even if he loses Via Casilina. However, that is his chief avenue for withdrawal not only of troops but of mountains of equipment. So while he may be able to save many of his soldiers, he already has lost heavily through death and capture, and his losses in materiel already are grave.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Plunkett, 509 Avenue C, on the birth of a son weighing 8 pounds at 3:45 p. m. Sunday in the home, Porter-Sistrand clinic reported. The father is a salesman for the Bowman Lumber company.

Strikes In U. S.

delivering goods from 47 bakeries continued on strike, hastening the closing of some Detroit restaurants as bread, already five days old, disappeared from grocery shelves.

At San Francisco Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor board charged that refusal of AFL machinists to obey a directive to work more than 48 hours per week had disrupted functions of the WLB. The statement was made after the machinists voted to refuse to permit overtime in excess of 48 hours per week in 104 San Francisco plants despite a WLB directive that overtime be worked pending arbitration of the dispute.

Other developments included:

Prividence, R. I. — Almost 7,000 employes of the Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing company continued a strike in protest against the hiring of a woman to replace a man.

Cincinnati — More than 300 AFL bakery truck drivers called a "holiday" today in protest after the regional WLB awarded them part of a requested wage increase. As a result only chain stores received fresh bread.

Governor's Meet

rose to face the governors and declared:

"It shouldn't be embarrassing for any governor to express his position on matters of that kind. I'd like to see the governor's conference take the position we can take care of our local responsibilities and will not ask the federal government for its help.

"The federal government, now desperately in debt, will have a difficult job solving its financial problems. The state and local governments are either out of debt or approaching solvency and can better assume this responsibility."

Rev. Patrick Henry Speaks To Jaycees

Man can be confined within the four walls of a prison but his spirit — his inner life — will remain free, said Rev. Patrick Henry, jr., pastor of the Preston Road Christian church in Dallas, who spoke at the luncheon of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce today noon in the Hilton hotel.

Rev. Henry, who is visiting in Lubbock, cited the fact that the Allies are depending largely in planning the forthcoming invasion upon the people on the continent of Europe who, though faced with threats of the Nazis and the mass murders of their people, still maintain a free spirit. "History is filled with stories of men who have maintained this free spirit in spite of coercion," he added.

The speaker was introduced by John C. Oldham. Ray Blackwell presided.

This civilian secretary would be provided with under secretaries for the Army, Navy and for Air, who would each have two assistants. In addition, an officer of general or flag rank would be named as director of supplies for all of the armed forces.

In addition, Hill proposed the creation of an over-all military strategy, operations and supply board known as "the United States chiefs of staff," with a single chief of staff to be responsible to the President as commander-in-chief. Army, Navy and Air force commands would make up this board.

Classes To Begin At 8 A. M. At Tech

Due to the manpower shortage in the dormitories, all classes and laboratories for the first six weeks of summer school at Texas Technological college will begin and end a half-hour later than the time shown in the printed schedule, Dean James M. Gordon, summer school director, announced today.

Classes had been scheduled to begin at 7:30 a. m. each day but instead they will open at 8 o'clock and the remainder of each day's schedule will follow in the same order.

Registration for the first summer term will open at 8 a. m. Tuesday and indications today pointed to a heavy enrollment, Dean Gordon said.

LAMESA, May 29 (Special)—Joe Gurrant posted $2,000 bail in connection with a charge of murder without malice early Saturday morning of Allie Estes Staags, 33, of Abilene, said D. M. Campbell, justice of peace. The grand jury, Campbell said, meets Aug. 3.

Yanks Take Double Bill With Browns

Cards And Giants Split Twin Bill

(By The Associated Press)

It seems to be double or nothing for the world champion New York Yankees whenever they play a doubleheader.

Manager Joe McCarthy's Bronx Bombers have played four twin bills so far this season and have swept all of them. Their latest double success came yesterday at St. Louis where they whipped the Browns twice, 6 to 3 in 11 innings and 6 to 2, to take a three-game lead in the American circuit.

Denny Galehouse, making his first start of the season as a weekend Brown pitcher, stayed on even terms with Hank Borowy for 10 innings in the opener, but Johnny Lindell's homer started a four-run Yank uprising in the 11th. Rookie Joe Page outpitched Jack Kramer in the nightcap.

Voiselle Hurls Three-Hitter

The St. Louis Cards, National league leaders, gained only a split with the Giants when newly-married Bill Voiselle hurled a three-hitter for the New Yorkers to take the nightcap, 3 to 1, before 33,104 paid at the Polo Grounds. In the opener big Mort Cooper also twirled a three-hitter and fanned ten in blanking the Ottmen, 8-0.

Jim Tobin and Al Javery, of the Boston Braves, put an abrupt end to the seven-game winning streak of the Chicago Cubs. Their pitching, coupled with Butch Nieman's two homers and a triple, gave the Braves both ends of a twin bill, 7 to 3 and 7 to 4.

The Boston Red Sox made it six straight over the Chicago White Sox by pasting the Dykemen twice, 6 to 4 and 4 to 2, hitting opportunely behind bases on balls and Chicago misplays. Joe Bowman and Rookie Clem Hausman went the route for the Red Sox.

Bums Win Pair

Brooklyn delighted a turnout of 28,061 at Ebbets field by beating Cincinnati twice, 8 to 7 and 3 to 2. Augie Galan's eighth inning single won the opener. A one-baser by Rookie Eddie Basinski with the bases full shattered a 1-1 deadlock in the nightcap.

Detroit managed to win its third of 16 home starts by pounding out a 15 to 2 triumph over Washington in the second game of a bargain bill. The Senators won the opener, 4 to 2, behind Johnny Niggeling's effective pitching. A first inning homer by Jimmy Outlaw with the bases loaded started the Tigers to an easy conquest in the afterpiece.

Rip Sewell pitched and batted Pittsburgh to a 4-0 victory over the Phillies, but Freddy Fitzsimmons' men turned on Nick Strincevich to grab the nightcap, 8 to 2, for a split. Sewell tripled one run home to back up his six-hit twirling.

Cleveland and the Philadelphia Athletics also divided a doubleheader. Jesse Flores was effective in the pinches to take the opener for the A's, 4 to 3. The Tribe took the second, 5 to 3, behind Rookie Pitcher Paul Calvert.

Zurita To Be Able To Fight In 10 Weeks

MEXICO CITY, May 29. (AP) — Dr. Armando Zambrana says that Juan Zurita, Mexican lightweight boxing champion of the world who accidentally shot himself in the hand Saturday, should be able to defend his title in about ten weeks.

Bone splinters were removed from the boxer's hand. He is under care of a physician at his home.

Zurita was packing his suitcase for a trip to New York, where he was slated for a non-title fight with Willie Pep, when a pistol fell to the floor and discharged. The bullet hit a bone in the middle finger of his left hand.

College 'World Series' Urged

Plan Proposed By Red Rolfe

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 29. (AP) — If Red Rolfe, the ex-New York Yankee third sacker, has his way, there's going to be a college baseball world series.

"And why not?" argues the popular red-head, now coaching at Yale.

"The major leagues would cooperate and, since the games would be played in June after colleges close, there shouldn't be any reason for academic conflict."

Plan To Await Victory

Rolfe doesn't expect his idea will see fruition until after the war, of course, but the former big-leaguer who gave Yale one of its snappiest nines in modern athletic history last summer in his first crack at college coaching, says the groundwork should be laid now.

"We should have our plans formulated and ready as soon as possible," suggests Red, "so that we can get going when the boys return to college from the war."

Regional Eliminations

What Rolfe, veteran of six major league World Series as a member of the Yanks, has in mind is a short series of regional eliminations, with the two survivors meeting for the title in a major league ball park. He would, for example, have the winner of the Pacific coast conference meet the Missouri Valley champs; the Western conference titlists oppose the Eastern Intercollegiate league victors; the Southwest battle the Southeast.

"The playoffs and championship series could be completed within a 10-day period after college ends in June," Rolfe figures. The ex-major leaguer feels confident college officials will welcome the idea and sees no trouble in financing the program.

'Liberal' Group Of Coaches' Association Favors Five Changes In Football Rules

NEW YORK, May 29 (U.P) — Liberal and conservative factions of the American (college) Football Coaches association took the field today at the Hotel Astor for their verbal battle over proposed rule changes.

Liberals, headed by Lou Little of Columbia, favored five changes that would step up the action and help the college game to compete with the professional pastime for public approval. They decry the attitude of Lt. Col. William J. Bingham, Harvard's director of athletics, who recently was named chairman of the Natonal Collegiate Athletic association's rules committee. Bingham, not a member of the coaches association, insists that the current rules remain "frozen" for the duration.

Five Changes Proposed

The five changes sponsored by Little, chairman of the coaches rules committee, would: (1) Virtually eliminate the intentional out-of-bounds kick-off by providing proper penalties; (2) permit forward passes to be made anywhere behind the line of scrimmage; (3) permit the defensive team to advance a recovered fumble; (4) clarify the off-side rule, and (5) modify the penalty when an attempted lateral pass becomes a forward.

The coaches launched their campaign to combat the increasing popularity of the professional game at yesterday's opening sessions of the two-day meeting. They appointed a committee to study the advisability of establishing a full time publicity bureau which would give the public a better understanding of the benefits of college football. Charles W. Bachman of Michigan State was appointed chairman of this committee.

"Unionizing" Coaches Discussed

There was some discussion of "unionizing" the coaches to protect those grid pilots who had gone into service on leaves of absence from their schools, and who later were informed that their leaves had expired and that they were at liberty.

Fritz Crisler, athletic director and coach at Michigan, suggested football "carnivals" on Saturdays instead of single games. When two colleges were slated for a game, they would have four contests that day, instead of one. The visiting school would bring along the varsity, 150-pound, junior varsity and freshmen teams, and play in the forenoon and afternoon —somewhat in the fashion of a regatta. This would create more interest in non-varsity teams, thereby providing a basis for larger participation among the students.

One-Armed Fielder Knocks Home Run

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 29 (AP)—One-armed Pete Gray, sensational outfield playing outfielder with Memphis of the Southern association, brought cheers from fans yesterday when he hit a home-run over the right field fence 330 feet away and 20 feet high. The blow came in the ninth inning of the first game of a doubleheader here with one man on base, and helped Memphis beat Chattanooga, 10 to 2.

Gray also stole two bases during the game to give him the league lead with a total of 15.
