SHREVEPORT, La., April 16.—The Spudders are finished with playing ball for fun; tomorrow they play for keeps.

Led by Prexy J. Alvin Gardner, Skipper Jim Galloway and William E. Huff, the Wichita Falls athletes arrived tonight in the bailiwick of the Sports, ready to start tomorrow the serious business of winning the Texas league pennant.

Shreveport is all agog on the eve of the championship season opener. It has been two years since they started the campaign in this town, though of course they had their own home inaugural after their first road trek. And too, hopes of fandom here is high and they regard their Sports not as dark horses, which is how they are held elsewhere around the league, but as real pennant contenders.

Holiday at Shreveport

Well, the Spudders are pretty good TRIAL horses and we shall know a bit more about it after the next three days.

They are making preparations over here to win the opening day attendance trophy. Mayor Thomas today issued a proclamation declaring a half holiday for tomorrow, in honor of the occasion. The chairman of the "Kop the Kup" committee has induced many employers to give employes a half holiday and they look for an attendance of more than 10,000.

Civic organizations are speeding the sale of tickets and tonight it was said that more than 4,000 ducats have been purchased for the opener.

The usual parade through the business part of the town will precede the game, which starts at 4 o'clock.

Brown vs. Payne?

It seemed likely tonight that the same hurlers who were opposing chuckers last year in the Spudder-Sport opener at Wichita Falls will be named to start tomorrow. Fore-

Officers Prepare Burglary Evidence For Return of Grand Jury April 25

Bond for Mrs. Q. T. Hart Placed at $1,000 on Three Charges; Cagle Faces New Complaint

Evidence gained through the recovery of several thousand dollars worth of stolen goods in a raid on a Burnett street apartment last Saturday will be laid before the 30th district grand jury when it convenes here next week, George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, announced Tuesday. The grand jury, called April 1, adjourned two days later to reconvene on April 25.

T. O. Cagle, alias Richard Newman, and Mrs. O. T. Hart were arrested in separate residences by members of the sheriff's department in connection with the recovery of the goods. Three burglary complaints were filed against Mrs. Hart Tuesday, Mr. Anderson said. Her bond was set at $1,000. One similar complaint has been entered against Cagle, who has not yet asked for bond, the attorney said.

The work of identifying the goods, stolen from 17 Wichita Falls homes during the last two months, was almost complete Tuesday. The articles, largely wearing apparel, but including furniture and jewelry, are being marked as identified and will be returned to their owners as soon as circumstances permit, Sheriff W. G. Bralley declared.

Warren W. Belcher, deputy sheriff, was sent to Fort Worth and Dallas Tuesday to continue investigations which are expected to lead to further arrests and the recovery of additional loot.

FALL INJURES WICHITA MAN

Owner of Idle Hour Club In Hospital After Tumble

W. E. Hodges, proprietor of the Business Men's Idle Hour club, suffered a broken nose and severe bruises about the face and body when he crashed down the steps of the Wichita Inn at 718½ Ohio avenue Monday night.

Hodges was said by officers who investigated to have participated in an altercation in one of the front rooms of the rooming house before he fell down the steps.

He was badly bruised about the head and on the face, according to Ellis Summers, city plain clothes officer who investigated the case. His course down the stairway left a stream of blood which drew a large crowd of spectators before Officer Summers, Rohatsch, Clyde Bentley, Leverett, McDonald and Lowry arrived on the scene.

The injured man was given treatment at the Wichita General hospital where he was carried by a Merkle Undertaking company ambulance.

Two men and a women, who were alleged to have taken part in the affair, were questioned and held for investigation at police headquarters Tuesday night by Summers.

Bob Silver Put in Solitary Cell To Ponder Dismal Future He Faces

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, April 16 (AP)—In "solitary" and "stripes" within the bleak walls of the state penitentiary here, Bob Silver Wednesday night faced a dismal future.

A forceful reminder that he was to be tried again on a charge of robbery with firearms, the charge on which he was once assessed the death penalty, was given him this afternoon only a few hours after he had been returned to the prison.

With John Reid and Robert Hill, who were two of his companions in the escape from the Wynne state prison farm near here Friday night, he was taken before S. W. Bean, district judge.

The judge ordered the three men and Marvin W. Asbell, all of whom were indicted today for robbery with firearms, to appear before him Thursday and make arrangements for counsel. Asbell, who had been taken back to the tubercular ward of the Wynne farm, was not forced to appear before the judge today.

As Silver and the other two convicts marched down the street with chains about their necks and in the

HOUSE IN HARMONY

Senate Agriculture Body Tacks Debenture Plan On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, Aprily 16. (UP)—President Hoover's message to congress today on farm relief and tariff revision, which followed the general line of his campaign promises, opened the way for controversies at the capitol on both issues which may produce fire before the session is very far advanced.

There was the usual and expected division along regular party ranks, administration Republicans praising the president's formulas on both subjects highly, with Democrats dissenting in some particulars.

Farm Leaders Aloof

But there was a coldness among a few agricultural leaders, former supporters of the McNary-Haugen bill who had espoused the Hoover cause during the campaign, because of the president's failure to offer any new and detailed farm relief plan. They confessed disappointment. The president endorsed in his message today, in general terms and without naming it, the measure drafted by the house committee. This bill sets up a federal farm board and provides other agencies for handling surplus crops, with a [illegible] fund to finance corporations.

As regards the tariff, high protectionist Republicans saw in the president's admission that changes were needed in other rates besides those on agriculture an excuse to provoke controversies with Democrats and prolong the session.

Debenture Adopted

There were indications of friction ahead on farm relief when the senate agriculture committee, meeting in secret session after the president's message was read, showed a general inclination to tack on to its measure as an option the so-called debenture plan sponsored by the National Grange. Chairman McNary said a vote was not taken, but probably will be tomorrow. President Hoover gave no specific opinion on this plan in his message today but denounced the equalization fee which caused so much difficulty formerly. The debenture plan may become another equalization fee in potentiality. There were indications today that a few farm leaders who were dissatisfied with the president's formula may rally about this idea.

Harmony, meanwhile, prevails in the house. The agriculture committee formally reported the measure to the house late today. It will be

CANDIDATE

Oscar Holcombe to Make Race for Governor In Next Election

HOUSTON, April 16. (AP)—Former Mayor Oscar F. Holcombe tonight had veered his course from city to state politics. Houston's mayor until today had set his sails for the governor's mansion in Austin.

The eight-year chief executive of this city entered the 1930 governor's race immediately after swearing in his successor, Walter E. Montieth.

Holcombe is a representative of the younger school of politics. But 40 years old, he had never engaged in public life until 1920 when he made his first campaign for mayor. He was nominated on the Democratic ticket and elected. After that he had been re-elected each two years until last December when he ran far behind Monteith.

BLUNDERBUSS PRINTER FINED

Cook Appeals $100 Penalty For Obscene Paper

AUSTIN, Texas, April 16. (AP)—The heaviest penalty provided by statutes, a fine of $100, was assessed against Frank W. Cook, owner of an Austin printing shop, found guilty in justice court Tuesday of printing obscene matter in connection with circulation of the "Blunderbuss" outlaw University of Texas publication.

The verdict was returned by the jury within less than ten minutes after testimony was finished.

Cook's attorney filed immediate notice of appeal to the county court.

Five other defendants similarly charged, will be tried separately tomorrow.

Over vigorous objection of state's attorneys, counsel for Cook included in the court record a volume of Boccaccio's works and Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," in an attempt to prove that the "Blunderbuss" was not as objectionable as pictured by the prosecution.

The "Blunderbuss" which appeared on the campus April 1, contained spicy versions of college life and frequent personal mention. All available copies were confiscated by police.

AMARILLO MEN DENY CHICAGO OPERA'S CLAIM

'We Dare Them to Sue,' Says Mayor Anent $1600 Balance Unpaid

ARE CITY FOLKS NOW

Town's No Toonerville And 'Intelligent' Guarantors Will Prove It

AMARILLO, Texas, April 16. (AP)—A committee of Amarillo business men through Ernest Thompson, mayor of Amarillo and chairman of the committee, today announced it would not pay the $1,600 balance claimed by the Chicago Civic Grand Opera company on the guarantee that brought the opera there.

Thompson said today: "We dare the Chicago Civic Grand Opera company to bring suit. Sixteen of our business men signed the guarantee and they do not intend to make good. The opera company alleges we owe it $1,600. We did sign the guarantee, but our position is that we were not given what we were promised.

"We intend to show that Amarillo has ceased to be a Toonerville and that it is populated by intelligent folks who know what is opera and what isn't. We plan to give a banquet in favor of Gene Howe to show we appreciate an editor who isn't afraid to speak out."

When the company played in Amarillo several months ago, Howe criticised it, and a boycott was declared on his paper by a group of music lovers of Amarillo. It was in appreciation of Howe's comment and publicity on the proposition that Thompson spoke.

The management of the opera company corresponded with the Amarillo guarantors demanding the $1,600. A draft sent from Chicago for that amount was turned down.

Two men registered at a hotel here today from Chicago. One was said to be an attorney, and the other his assistant.

TWO EVENTS THRILL HELEN

Visit to St. James and Engagement Foremost

CHICAGO, April 16. (UP)—Helen Wills, queen of tennis, en route to Europe to defend her titles on European courts, said during a brief stop here today that she is somewhat thrilled over the prospects of being presented to the court of St. James in England next month.

She also said she was thrilled over her engagement to Frederick S. Moody Jr., of San Francisco but refused to announce the date of their wedding.

"You know there is a thrill to winning championships," she said in discussing her engagement. "I suppose there is a thrill to losing that way."

The tennis champion, who will defend her title first in Holland, later at Paris and finaly at Wimbledon, discussed enthusiastically her interest in art and said she had the ambition to become a great artist some day.

She pointed to several paintings she had made in California just before she departed, saying:

"It was too late to pack them so I brought them along in the portfolio. I like to paint and often do sketches even when I am on a tennis court. I won't have much time for painting in Europe but I'll be able to view the latest exhibitions."

The gracious Helen, calm as she posed for photographs, extended her left hand to those who came forward to shake hands and wish her luck in the international matches abroad.

I'm not taking any chances with my racquet hand," she said smilingly.

Asked if she intended to give up the game after her marriage, she said:

"Not as long as I can wield a racquet. You know it is enjoyable—especially to win."

Discussing her presentation at the forthcoming court, at Buckingham palace, where she probably will meet the Prince of Wales, who may represent his father, the king, Miss Wills said she looked forward to the occasion anxiously.

ODELL KILLING RECITED FOR VERNON JURY

Knife Thrust Made in Self Defense, Defendant Declares

ELECTION BET TOLD

Mail Carrier's Last Statement Admitted As Evidence

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, April 16.—Offering of testimony in the trial of W. H. Stroud, who is charged with murdering Wayne Lawson, Tolbert mail carrier, who died after he was stabbed in an affray at Odell Sept. 1, 1928, was completed this afternoon.

The defendant took the stand and testified that he struck Lawson once with a knife after Lawson had charged into him with a knife.

15 Witnesses Called

Although a hundred witnesses were summoned in the case, only 15 were called during the trial. The feature of the taking of testimony was the introduction by the state of the last statement of Lawson.

This statement told of an election bet which engendered the dispute that ended in the stabbing affray.

The defendant was noticeably nervous during his 40-minute stay in the witness chair. He testified that Lawson had a knife during the altercation. He testfied that he pulled out his knife and stabbed Lawson only one time, fearing that his opponent would kill him. He testified that he was cut in the left ear during the fight.

The defense presented S. B. Starr, T. J. Watson and Miss Lena Tull as eye witnesses to the affray. Dr. M. J. Moore of Vernon testified of treating a wound in Stroud's ear after the stabbing.

Officials Heard

The state offered no eye witnesses, calling J. M. Underwood, embalmer; Dr. T. A. King, Deputy Sheriff Clyde Watts, Deputy L. G. Cole, District Attorney John Myers, C. B. Haynes and C. R. Daniel of Odell.

Watts told of hearing the defendant say that if "Lawson is hurt he did it himself."

Cole told of finding a knife in Lawson's pocket that apparently had not been opened recently.

After completion of the testimony Judge Robert Cole recessed court until Wednesday morning when he will read his charge to the jury and counsel will begin arguments.

Mrs. Bailie Made Permament Outcast By Vote of D. A. R. at Annual Meeting

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Daughters of the American Revolution, holding their annual congress here, decided almost unanimously today that Mrs. Helen Tufts Bailie, who exposed their speakers' blacklists, must remain an outcast from the organization.

She was expelled last year by the board of directors for "disturbing the harmony and injuring the good name" of the society by her public agitation against the practice adopted by some chapters of forbidding certain liberal speakers their forums.

An appeal from the board's decision was brought before the congress unexpectedly this morning under a suspension of rules to permit consideration of unfinished business out of the regular order. The ouster proceedings, carried on at a secret session, required only ten minutes.

The motion to suspend rules and dispose of the Bailie case was first passed by an overwhelming vote, it was learned. Then a resolution upholding the action of the board was adopted with only one officially recorded dissenting vote.

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, retiring president-general and arch enemy of Mrs. Bailie, apparently made the only extended speech.

SPUDDERS OPEN SEASON TODAY

Galloway's Men in Shreveport for Series

man Art Phelan of the Sports has nominated Joe Brown as his pitcher and George Payne probably will be Galloway's selection. Jim, however, refuses to definitely name his chucker and there is the possibility that Steengrafe will be selected.

Because of the fact that Payne has pitched openers for the past two seasons and that the Spudders won both may cause his selection. The Spudder skipper may decline to reverse precedent in naming Milt. But as written yesterday in this column, it doesn't apparently make much difference; both George and Milt are ready.

And as Rabbit Benton said, "we knocked that fellow Brown off the hill last season and beat him, and we can do it again tomorrow."

Southpaws No Worry

Lefthanders will hold no terror for the Spudders this season. No more than two athletes who hit from the near side of the plate will follow in the batting order and when Brick Eldred gets back in right field there will only be three lefthanded hitters, exclusive of the pitcher, and they will be scattered along the list. For that matter, neither Benton nor Fitzgerald is bothered by the southpaws. Bud Stapleton is said to be about as good hitting the portsiders as the righthanders.

The Spudders, except for two or three athletes recovering from injuries, and Pitcher Fred Stiely, left at home on this road jaunt until his comrades return next Tuesday, are in excellent condition. Fitzgerald will be a trifle slowed up a few days until his twisted ankle regains its full strength. But the greyhound can be slowed up and still have no superiors and few equals as a ball hawk in the Texas league. Brick Eldred made the trip despite his injury.

Reserves Aplenty

There is plenty of reserve strength all along the line, in the squad of 24 making this trek; at least four pitchers seem ready to go out right now and hurl winning ball; the club showed attacking power and a sparkling defense Sunday against the Cats.

I was optimistic, and in that mood approached Skipper Jim. "Think we'll win the pennant?" I asked. "Looks like we'll have a nice day," he quothe.

"Who's going to pitch tomorrow," queries I. "Milt or George," he says.

"We HAVE got a good ball club, haven't we?" I stated. "Boy," says Jim, "it's a REAL ball club."

That, from Bad News, is optimism, too.

A large gathering of Wichita Falls fans sped the athletes on their way yesterday as they left at noon.

The following members of the club are here awaiting the opening bell tomorrow:

Catchers—Pete Lapan, Bob Snyder and Jack Crouch.

Infielders—Dallas Clements and Bud Stapleton, first base; Pete Turgeon, second base; Willy Swenson and Milton Gordon, third base; Rabbit Benton, George Spiers and Debs Garms, shortstops.

Outfielders—Fred Bennett, Howard Fitzgerald, Dick Sullivan and Garland Orr.

OPPOSITION TO HOOVER SEEN

Farm Policies May Meet Stiff Opposition

debated there Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and taken up for reading and amendment Monday. The house may pass the measure before the end of next week.

Bill Up Thursday

The president's message was transmitted to congress undramatically. It was delivered to the capitol by a White House messenger and read by clerks to both houses, after which both adjourned. The house will meet tomorrow, adjourning after a brief session for the opening ball game, while the senate will not meet again until Thursday. The house will take up the farm bill Thursday, and the senate will do likewise if its measure is ready.

After discussing general farm conditions and outlining the general formula for relief he advanced in the campaign, President Hoover warned against any "price-fixing" legislation and any activities that would result in increasing farm surpluses. He also warned against any hopes that any one remedy can change conditions over-night.

"The difficulties of agriculture can not be cured in a day; they can not all be cured by legislation; they can not be cured by the federal government alone," he declared. "But farmers and their organizations can be assisted to overcome these difficulties.

"Every effort of this character is an experiment, and we shall find from our experience the way to further advance. We must make a start. With the creation of a great instrumentality of this character, (the federal farm board) of a strength and importance equal to that of those which we have created for transportation and banking, we give immediate assurance of the determined purpose of the government to meet the difficulties of which we are now aware, and to create an agency through which constructive action for the future will be assured."

The president urged changes in administration of the tariff to cure certain "weaknesses" which now exist, his recommendation for a change in valuation methods, while not specific, was interpreted by house Republican tariff leaders as approval of a change they have provided in the new tariff bill which would provide greater use of the "United States" valuation method.

DEBT PARLEY TO BE RESUMED

German Counter Proposal Is Expected

PARIS, April 16.—The reparations conference of experts decided tonight to resume sessions Wednesday afternoon, when the delegates will await a memorandum from Dr. Hjalmar Schacht which is expected to be equivalent to a German counter proposal to the allied demands.

Although there was no indication that the chief German delegate would make a definite offer to the allies, he made it plain again today that he considered the allies figures too high for Germany to accept. As a result many sources here expressed confidence that Schacht would make an offer at the plenary session tomorrow.

Undoubtedly the allied delegates were in the proper mood to receive a counter proposal from the German delegates on the amount of annuities which Germany must pay and the number of years over which the payments would run. No official proposition has yet been advanced by Berlin and there has been considerable impatience in unofficial circles over the delay, although the experts have maintained cordial relations throughout the ten weeks of negotiations.

A two-hour session this morning and another session this afternoon were devoted to discussion of Germany's capacity to pay and Dr. Schacht's contention that the reich was not able to meet the demands of the allies.

City Builds Wire Fence Around Wading Pool

The erection of a net wire fence around the "wading pool" in Scotland park was completed Tuesday afternoon, C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, announced.

The pool, which will be used as a wading pool for small children during the summer months, will be opened about May 1, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

The necessity of having a supervisor of the pond present while it is in use to prevent accidents led the park department to construct the fence. The pool will be kept locked except at the hours scheduled for use.

Ticket Sale for Schumann-Heink Opens Today; Story of Life Told

Sixty-six years ago, there was born in Austria a girl baby destined to become the greatest of contraltos. Her father was a Bohemian, and a poorly paid officer in the army and her mother was an Italian. The child was Ernestine Schumann-Heink, renowned prima donna who will be heard here on her farewell tour in the Memorial auditorium on Monday, April 22.

The downtown ticket sale will open at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Renfro Drug store No. 1, corner Scott avenue and Eighth street. The out-of-town demand for tickets has already been heavy and a capacity crowd is expected for the performance. Persons who wish to get choice seats are expected to place their reservations early as many of the downstairs seats have already been sold.

Little Ernestine was placed in the Urseline convent at Prague when she was 12 and it was there that a nun discovered her remarkable voice. She was designated to sing in the cathedral where Mme. Le Claire, French prima donna heard her, and begged to give her lessons. So her family moved to Gratz, where Mme. Le Claire lived, and Excellence Benedek, a well-to-do army officer, provided funds for her lessons for years.

Then he sent her to the director of the Hof opera in Vienna. The director looked at her and said, "With such a face and so personality she could never hope to be a singer. She might better go home and run a sewing machine." Undaunted, she mede a successful concert debut in Gratz and went to Dresden to study under Franz M. Wuellner. It was not long before she made her operatic debut as "Azucena' in "Il Trovatore" at the Dresden opera. She remained with this royal opera company for four years, being married in the third, and then progressed to Hamburg. Her husband died there, leaving her with five children and pitifully small pay.

During an engagement in Berlin opera she met Lillian Nordica who took interest in her and begged her to come to America, but she was first to have the honor of singing in the Wagnerian shrine at Bayreuth. For two years Maurice Grau, impressario of the Metropolitan opera in New York tried to secure her for America but another contract with the Hamburg opera prevented her coming here, until 1899. The American public took Schumann-Heink, artist mother, straight to its heart.

Nearly 500 brands of tobacco are now being grown in the British Empire.

"PEOPLE are fascinated by beautiful smooth skin."

George Fitzmaurice thus sums up the experience of 39 Hollywood directors. "A smooth skin is a supreme necessity to a screen star," he says. "Under the merciless test of the close-up, make-up is next to useless. The skin itself must be rarely lovely."

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap for smooth skin. And all the great film studios have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms.

You, too, will love this white, fragrant soap. Made by the famous French method, it will keep your skin satin-smooth. Buy several cakes—today.

DRY AGENT TELLS OF BRANDY SPREE IN HELEN MORGAN'S TRIAL

Broadway's Helen of Troy Seems Dejected

NEW YORK, April 16. (INS)—While Helen Morgan, Broadway's Helen of Troy, hung her head, Prohibition Agent John J. Mitchell today testified to an alleged drinking orgy with the actress at her night club, "Helen Morgan's Summer Home," at her trial in federal court, for maintaining a nuisance in connection with the sale of liquor.

"Order brandy—that's my drink," Miss Morgan said one night at her club, according to Mitchell.

"The waiter said the brandy was all out," continued Mitchell. "Then Miss Morgan called Herman Brooks and said: 'Herman, run over to the house and get six quarts of brandy. Tell mama not to give you the Napoleon brandy.'

"Brooks came back with a package the size of a suitbox. We started to mix the brandy with ginger ale and Miss Morgan said, 'That isn't the way to mix brandy—it will give you a headache with ginger ale.'

"Did Miss Morgan drink with you?" Assistant U. S. Attorney Leslie Salter asked.

"Yes," replied Mitchell.

The witness said that one time Miss Morgan suggested a member of his party start a night club. "Just get three good fellows to go in with you and if there's any trouble you're only an employe," he quoted Miss Morgan as saying.

"What was Miss Morgan's condition that night?"

"She was kind of intoxicated," said Mitchell.

Mitchell then testified they all went over to another night club where Miss Morgan told him to "boost her up on the bar" where she gave away dollar bills to the entertainers.

Special Assistant United States Attorney Leslie Salter, sent here from Washington by Mabel Walker Willebrandt to prosecute the fair Helen, and Defense Counsel J. Arthur Adler are the attorneys in the case.

MORE UTILITY LETTERS READ

50 Exhibits Introduced at Power Hearing

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Approximately 50 exhibits covering publicity activities of public power utilities in several southern and western states were introduced today at a hearing of the Federal Trade commission in its investigation into the public power utility industry.

The exhibits placed in the record today supplemented testimony and documents submitted at previous hearings.

A letter from M. H. Aylesworth, managing director of the N. E. L. A., to S. J. Ballinger of the San Antonio, Texas, Public Service company, also was placed in the record and described purported cooperation between the public utilities industry and the General Federation of Women's clubs in connection with a survey on home electrification.

Another letter, dated Jan. 31, 1928, from Curtis Vinson, publicity director for the Texas A. & M. college to George McQuaid, director of the Texas Public Service Information bureau, was presented in the evidence and disclosed an offer to carry utility publicity in the college news service. Vinson wrote he would be glad to distribute articles supplied him by the Texas Public Utility Information bureau.

Other exhibits in the form of letters related to the reaction of Texas newspapers to disclosures that Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities magnate, had contributed to the senatorial campaign of Frank L. Smith.

Writing Bernard J. Mullaney, Chicago utility official, McQuaid declared the attitude of most Texas newspapers was "almost negligible." The letter called attention also to a cartoon in the Dallas News, which described Illinois as a "piker" in comparison to Pennsylvania in connection with election expenditures.

TRUE EXPRESSION

Gas Pipe Tactics Used By Irate Hubby Pleases Judge

LOS ANGELES, April 16. (US)—While it isn't lawful at any time to twack a man on the head with a gas pipe, still, under certain circumstances, that is about the only way one's feelings can be properly expressed.

Municipal Judge Stanley Murray must have viewed it that way today, for he fined Arvid Swenson only $1 on an assault with a deadly weapon charge.

Swenson had expressed himself with the pipe when he found his wife and child with J. R. Mose, who had figured before in the marital difficulties of the Swensons, in an apartment.

For People Who Want

Something Different in Coffee

Try this new coffee flavor from the West Coast of Central America. Experts say its rare tang and rich, mellow body are different from any other coffee in the world.

PERHAPS you have wondered if there is any coffee that is really different. Like thousands of others you may have discovered that 70% of all coffee sold in the United States—regardless of the brand you buy, or who recommends it—is practically alike. For it is all of the same common type and comes from the same country. That is why you notice so little difference when you change from one brand to another.

Down in Central America, however, on high western mountain slopes, nature grows a coffee that is different. It has a rare, flavorful tang utterly unlike any other coffee you ever tried. It is unforgettable. Experts concede that this coffee is not only different, but probably the finest flavored of any region in the coffee world.

Folger first introduced this new coffee in San Francisco. From the famous Bohemian restaurants of that city its reputation spread. Travellers who discovered it, wrote back for shipments. For years that was the only way it could be obtained. Today, however, your grocer has it, sealed by Folger in vacuum tins that keep the flavor always fresh.

Accept Please, The Folger Test

Because Folger flavor is so different we make this unusual offer. Buy one pound from your grocer today. Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. Then take a vote. If for any reason Folger's is not the family choice, your grocer will gladly refund the full purchase price. It will be our treat. That's fair, isn't it? You risk nothing—so why not order a pound of Folger's today? Folger Coffee Co., Kansas City Missouri.

"I Paid $1.25 for My Bottle of Orgatone, But Would Not Take $100," She Said

After Suffering Seven Years She Finds Relief—Sleeps Fine Now and Eats Anything She Wants, Says Wichita Woman.

"It's worth many a dollar to feel like I do now, since taking just one bottle of Orgatone. It has removed all of my troubles that caused me to suffer for seven years," said Mrs. W. T. London, of rural route 6, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"When a woman suffers as I did, they get to feeling so despondent and really haven't an interest in anything," she continued. "Well, that was just the way I was, until I got a bottle of Orgatone. I just paid $1.25 for a bottle of it, but I wouldn't take $100 (one hundred dollars) for it.

"I couldn't carry on my work for spells of stomach trouble and nervousness. I suffered misery from kidney trouble, and would have such intense pains in my back and sides that I could hardly stand it. I would have bilious and dizzy spells and would at times get so blind I couldn't see to stand, but would have to hold to something to keep from falling. Everything I ate seemed to disagree with me, and I would have a puffed up, bloated feeling, and would suffer agony from severe headaches. I was extremely nervous and when night came would not get any rest, but would lay and toss all night long. I was so nervous at times I would feel as if I were going distracted. I had a bad case of constipation. No one will ever know how much I suffered with my condition.

"Orgatone was advertised so highly and everyone was telling how much it had helped them, so I got a bottle. That bottle of medicine was my health. I can eat anything I want and could just as soon as I had taken my first half bottle of it. I don't have those bloated, dizzy, bilious spells, and sleep fine every night. I feel better than I have in years, and my nerves are just about back to normal. Orgatone has built me up all over, and I want to give this statement in hope that it will be the cause of others being benefited like Orgatone has me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by by the Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Also in Burkburnett at the City Drug store, in Electra at the Tarleton Drug Co. and in Vernon by the Vernon Drug store.—Adv.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, April 16. (US)—woman of 35, still unmarried, heard how girls these wise days were marrying limousines and stone fronts, and finding life extremely easy. So she set out to marry money. She did it, but now her 68-year-old husband, a smart, pleasant old codger, won't give her the dough. She has an allowance which is less than she made before she married and she has to do her splurging on that. Which isn't at all what the lady intended.

(Tee hee!)

These women who marry rich old men thinking "it won't be long now," get fooled so often. Besides, the wait seems interminable.

In England they won't let women teach boys any more. They claim part of "America's bribery and corruption" is started in the schools where the women teach boys, "managing them by bribery." How English!

As a matter of fact it's the girl pupils who practice their wiles on women teachers, bring in red apples and flowers to cover student deficiencies. A little fellow who wants to act like a grown man (and doesn't know the half of it) always has his go-to-hell attitude with the other sex, and no bribery could reach that.

A girl at Columbia university wanted to know why it was she wasn't popular and never got invited to parties like her club sisters.

"Well, I'll tell you Grace," said an outspoken one, "you are so awfully wholesome, and so—well just what a girl ought to be. There's nothing wrong about you to lend interest," and the wise little one pulled out a flaming red cigaret case with a long green tassle hanging from it and extricated a smoke.

High school girls in Jacksonville, Fla., wore "sun back" dresses to sunburn their spines. "It's healthy," they announced. To which their teachers replied: "You all go straight home and put on decent clothes."

And now because the instigator had a pretty back, everybody in the United States knows there is a Robert E. Lee High school in Jacksonville.

No girl whose spine looked like a drainage map of the Mississippi valley would start that fad.

"I want to take exercises to get thin," said a woman who was already lilly like. And she was assigned to the most expensive class in the school. She stepped into a track suit and out came teacher—a woman as broad as she was long. As a matter of fact, she looked perfectly round once she started rolling.

"When anyone teaches me dramatic grace," said the erstwhile prospective pupil, "she's got to be at least thin enough so that I know when she's right side up."

Fair enough.

Boy Accidentally Hangs Self on Rope Ladder

BURWELL, Neb., April 16. (UP)—Ivan Jurgensen, 15, was accidentally hanged in the barn of his father's farm near here last night while playing on a rope ladder. His head became caught in the ladder and he died from strangulation a few minutes after he was released.

Representative Gathering At Altrusa Luncheon and Lecture

A short lecture by A. L. Van Houtte was the feature of the Altrusa luncheon Tuesday at the Wichita club. After the Altrusa invocation, Dr. Van Houtte spoke on the cornerstones for building an organization. The starting of the baseball season was the initiative of his talk. He told of how the teams had trained and co-operated and worked up to this date when over the nation, the call of "play ball" went out. Unity and cooperation, he said, were the cornerstones of a successful organization and he urged Altrusa to stand back of the leaders, to forget personal feeling, to focus on the success of the organization, and so build, in Altrusa, a club that would be as strong and as able to do worthy work as the states united under "E Pluribus Unum."

On special request, Dr. Van Houette gave Kipling's "If" to hearty applause.

A committee was appointed to select delegates to the national Altrusa conference in Denver in the month of June.

The question of helping the Junior Business girls send delegates to the conference at Estes park was discussed. Miss Catherine Walker told the purpose of this conference in a brief talk.

The meeting was adjourned with the Altrusa song of benediction.

Covers were laid for Mesdames James Lomax, M. M. Adickes, H. F. Weldon, Luella B. Thompson, Wayne Holmes, B. C. Nicholson, and W. M. Cason, and Misses Cathleen Coffield, Mineola Harding, Benita Boone, Mamie Morris, Katherine Henricle, Eva Wallace, Catherine Walker, Dorothy Greathouse, Katherine Orr, Lucia Powell, Made Thomas, Myrle Neely, Maurine Williams, Anne Owens, Dr. Maude Lindsay and Dr. Fleta Woolsey.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

HE NEVER COMPLIMENTS HER

"MY DEAR Betty Brainerd: My fiance exasperates me because he never pays me any compliments. I resent his total indifference. What can I do about it? I have talked it over with some of my friends and they, too, have similar grievances. I am crazy about him but his attitude makes me frantic. If he really loved me, wouldn't he tell me so and make a fuss over me all the time?"

I APPRECIATE the hunger in the hearts of all women for pleasant words of praise from their loved ones but when that hunger goes out of bounds it becomes not only ridiculous but quite dangerous.

It also makes for trouble.

It's a bad sign.

There surely are storm-clouds in the distance, ready to break and drench the hungry with the tears of misery.

WHAT is behind this hunger for compliments which so many women have? Is it a natural and intelligent appetite? What kind of women are they—intelligent or just brainless and vain?

Of course, all women do enjoy compliments when they are come by naturally, but they do not go around begging for them.

I SUSPECT that what my correspondent wants from her boy friend is not a compliment every now and then but constant flattery.

Compliments are real and authentic things and gladly given. But is the actual act of giving necessary?

Speech often profanes the finest appreciation. Paraphrasing again, as I have done before, the old Swiss saying: "Those who dwell in speech dwell in time; those who dwell in silence, dwell in eternity."

Why do women like you crave the falsity of flattery when honest and natural compliments are not forthcoming as much as you'd like? Haven't you learned to "Accept no Substitutes?"

I think it all gets down to a question of vanity, intelligence and control. An intelligent woman will appreciate a compliment but she will resent—and properly resent—flattery.

A woman who demands flattery and gets what she insists upon gets exactly what she deserves.

But the time will surely come when she will want something else—something real—but then it will probably be too late. She will find that the flowers of true appreciation have been frost-bitten with cold, illicit accommodation.

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

OFTEN WOKE UP WITH A HEADACHE

Finally Took ALL-BRAN Instead of Drugs and Now "Couldn't Feel Better"

How much suffering constipation brings! Headaches, loss of strength and appetite. Sleeplessness. Often it leads to serious diseases. But here is one of the thousands who have suffered and found relief. Read this letter—

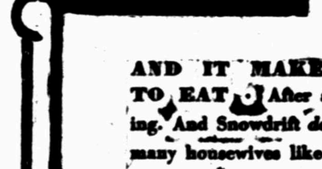

"I am 52 years old and have put in years suffering from constipation. Spent lots of money with doctors, bought all kinds of pills and drugged myself every night with them and woke lots of mornings with a headache.

"Haven't taken one pill since I began on ALL-BRAN years ago. I am now feeling the best I have felt in 20 years. I eat heartily and nothing hurts me."—Albert F. Parker, 387 N. Cary St., Brockton, Mass.

It's never too late to try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is 100% bran and brings sure, natural relief from constipation. Because it is a bulk food it sweeps the intestine clean and stimulates normal action. Results guaranteed. Two tablespoonfuls daily, or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is ready to eat with milk or cream. Try the recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, dining-cars and restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

AND IT MAKES UNUSUALLY GOOD THINGS TO EAT. After all, that's the final argument for a shortening. And Snowdrift does make good things to eat. That's why so many housewives like to use it. Have you ever made tarts with Snowdrift, for instance? Here's a recipe you'll want to use again and again:

FRUIT TARTS

1½ Cups Flour . ½ Teaspoon Salt . ½ Cup Snowdrift . ¼ Cup Ice water

With a knife cut the Snowdrift into the sifted flour and salt. Add ice water. Roll on board and cut with round cutter. Bake over inverted pans (for small tarts) until delicately brown, in a hot oven, (425 degrees F.). Fill cases with fresh fruit, or preserves, and garnish with whipped cream. This makes two medium size tarts.

Delicious! Of course, because they're made with Snowdrift. They can't help being better-than-most, when Snowdrift is so delicate in flavor and good to eat in itself. Taste a bit on the tip of a spoon sometime and see for yourself.

28-35 BEST MARRYING AGE

Childhood Not Outgrown Until One Is 28

A Man and Woman Who Marry Between the Ages of 28 and 35 Have the Greatest Chance of Happiness, Because Their Taste and Habits Are Formed and They Have Learned Tolerance

A woman wants to know what chances a couple of 35 have of happiness if they get married. The best. I should say that if there is one period in life more auspicious than any other in which to enter into matrimony it is between 28 and 35. It is then that all the signs point to the altar and all the vibrations are in harmony and the stars of the high contracting parties in the ascendant, and any fortune-teller is safe in predicting that if they marry they will live happily ever afterward. To my desk come every day hundreds upon hundreds of letters —sometimes as many as a thousand letters a day—and a large proportion of these are wails from the unhappily married. Most of them are from men and women who married when they were just boys and girls and who at maturity find that they have nothing in common; that they are bored to death by their husbands and wives or, worse still, those who have found their predestined mates too late.

Thousands upon thousands of letters from men and women who are still nothing but boys and girls in age, who are tired and discouraged and worn out from taking care of babies and trying to support a family and doing without all the pleasures that belong to their time of life and whose feet ache to dance and make whoopee and who long to be rid of the burdens that are too heavy for their young shoulders to bear.

Thousands upon thousands of letters from husbands and wives who bore each other to death, who fight and quarrel and bring out everything that is worst in each other and make their homes a hell on earth. Thousands upon thousands of letters from husbands and wives who are nibbling on forbidden fruit —wives who are having secret dates with men who tell them how beautiful and wonderful they are and what lovely eyes they have and who feed them on the romance and flattery that their husbands never give them. Husbands who are stepping out with girls who jolly them instead of nagging them as their wives do.

In trying to analyze all of these letters the conclusion that I have come to is that the chief reason marriage is a failure is that people marry too young and before they are ready for it. It is because boys and girls get married that we have so many divorces. They enter marriage like children making a playhouse and they quarrel over trifles as children do and get tired of it when the novelty has worn off and scrap it as children do when they see some other new toy that attracts them.

Naturally, not every young couple that gets married goes on the rocks. Occasionally a boy and girl get married and develop together and live out a beautiful and harmonious wedded life, but such cases are rare. It is a miracle when either the husband or the wife does not outgrow the other and when a man and woman have the same tastes at 40 that they had at 20. This miracle happens so infrequently it isn't worth banking on.

Marriage is bound to be a gamble. We are compelled to take a chance on what the man or woman we marry is and what he or she is going to be, but youth adds to these hazards the risk of what we ourselves are going to develop into and what we are going to need in a life partner. No boy or girl can possibly know this. No boy or girl has the faintest idea of the kind of woman or man he or she will be able to love at 45.

It is because they married before their tastes were formed that so many husbands and wives are uncongenial and that so many homes are filled with ceaseless arguings and bickerings. For how could it be otherwise when they have developed along different lines and have not a thought nor a purpose nor an idea in common? This is what sends so many men and women away from their homes hunting for that sympathy and understanding that we all crave and without which life is cinders, ashes and dust.

Boys and girls are not ready for matrimony because they have not had their playtime. They are not ready to settle down and assume the responsibilities that go with matrimony. It is as natural for them to want to dance and skylark and laugh and have good times and be carefree as it is for a kitten or a puppy to play with a painted ball or for a colt to kick up its heels in the pasture.

When they get married and they have to inch and pinch to meet the bills, when they have to stay at home with the babies instead of dancing the Charleston, when they have to push the perambulator instead of going on joyrides, they get disgruntled and blame each other for their plight and one or the other is apt to kick over the traces.

Nor is the average young couple ready financially to marry. Very few boys are making enough money to support a family, and there is mighty little love strong enough to stand the strain of shabbiness and sordid living and anxiety about where the money is coming from to pay the rent and the grocer.

All of us know hundreds of marriages that are failures that would have been successes if only they had been properly financed. If only there had been enough money for the couple to live on in decent comfort they would not have got on each other's nerves until they could not endure each other any longer.

All of these pitfalls the two avoid who marry around the 30s. They have come to themselves. Their tastes and habits are formed.

They know what qualities they desire in the one with whom they are to spend the balance of their lives, and their knowledge of the world and of people makes them capable of judging the character and disposition of the man or woman they select as a mate. Then, by the time a man is 30 or 35 he has got on his feet and is able to provide for his home. Also by the time they are 30 a man and woman have had their fling and are ready to settle down and be fireside companions.

Above all, the mature man and woman have had enough experience of life to be able to make the adjustments of matrimony better than any boy and girl can. They have learned self-control and acquired tact and patience and how to keep off other peoples' prejudices and to step around the angles of their dispositions. We talk about the adaptability of youth. Nonsense. It takes age to teach us how to give and take.

For these reasons and many others I think that around the 30s is the ideal age for marriage.

Distinguished Transportation for many years to come

THE purchaser of a Packard Eight does not invest in a car. He invests in distinguished and trouble-free transportation — not for one year, but for many years to come.

If he chooses to buy from income, as so many do, the beauty, comfort and distinction of his Packard remain a source of pride and satisfaction for many times the payment period—long after the purchase price has been forgotten.

For the Packard Eight is a long-lived car—precision built and precision protected. Its characteristic beauty is always up to date, for Packard has never depreciated cars in the hands of owners by radical changes in design.

Most owners, therefore, keep their Packards twice as long as they once kept ordinary cars. This means that they enjoy Packard luxury at costs no greater than they would pay for motoring in cars with far less to offer in prestige, in beauty and in performance.

Why not invest now in a Packard Eight? Packard offers three complete lines at three distinct ranges of price. Each model in each line is a Packard in every sense of the word. Packard builds to a single standard of quality — the highest. The differences lie only in size, power and the degree of individuality available in appointments, upholstery and color.

The Packard Standard Eight (reduced March 4th) is priced at $2275 to $2675 at the factory. The Custom Eight lists at $3175 to $3850. The Eight De Luxe ranges from $4585 to $5985—with individual custom cars on the De Luxe chassis available on order.

When may we place a Packard Eight at your disposal for a demonstration drive?

If you prefer to buy out of income, you will find the Packard Payment Plan most attractive. Many take possession of their new cars without any cash outlay because the used car allowance equals or exceeds the down payment.

Kitchen "Styles" have changed too!

THIS advertisement might easily be "A Story Without Words," as the pictures really tell the story—and what a story! The modern woman simply would not "fit" the old-fashioned kitchen, any more than the old style kitchen with its many IN-conveniences would fit the modern woman! Kitchen styles have indeed changed. And greatest of these changes has been the change to GAS instead of wood and coal—gas for cooking in cool, clean, comfort—gas for heating water automatically for a dozen needs! Other modern utilities and conveniences have helped free the modern woman for an easier, healthier, happier, fuller life—but leave out GAS and woman would still be in the dark ages of kitchen slavery! COLQUITT FIRST TEXAS 'HOOVERCRAT' TO SHARE G.O.P. SPOILS

TEXAN NAMED TO RAIL BOARD

Former Governor's Choice May Be Contested

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Former Gov. Oscar B. Colquitt, a leading Hoover-Democrat in the last election, won the first of the coveted plums in this administration when President Hoover today sent his name to the senate for the place on the United States board of mediation formerly held by Pat M. Neff, also a former Texas governor.

The selection of Colquitt came as something of a surprise as the place he has been selected to fill has been considered a Democratic position, former Governor Neff having been so selected. It may indicate that President Hoover has been won over to the theory advanced by some of the Texas Republicans that the so-called Hoover-Democrats are eligible for appointment as bonafide Democrats.

This may precipitate a row on the confirmation of Colquitt by the Democrats of the senate comparable to the one headed by former Senator Earl B. Mayfield against confirmation of Neff in the last congress.

Colquitt had the endorsement of the Republican organization, being one of the men recommended by R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeemen, immediately following the inauguration of President Hoover.

Truck Operator Sued for $285,000

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 16. (UP)—R. H. Gracey, truck line operator, today was sued for $285,000 for injuries and deaths in the H. G. Young family in an accident between Shawnee and Tecumseh late Sunday.

The petition for the damages alleged that Young's car was forced into a ditch by a Gracey truck driven by Fred Buchanan.

Ethel Young, his wife; Joyce, 2; and Dick, 4, their children, were killed. Damages of $50,000 for each death is asked. Young asks $50,000 for personal injuries, and Lola Young, a sister-in-law, asks $35,000.

Charlie Chaplin Turns Down Huge Contract

HOLLYWOOD, April 16. (UP)—Charles Spencer Chaplin, celebrated his 40th birthday today by turning down a film contract which, it was said, would have netted him $1,000,000 in six weeks.

Chaplin worked on his new production, "City Nights," and credited it with his refusal to accept the million dollar offer made by James Cruze, the producer. Cruze wanted the comedian to play a part in a talkie dealing with theatrical life.

Wives, Mothers and Grandmothers In 49 Women Booked for Gambling

Babes Carried In Arms In Court 'Show-up' of Chattering Group of Alleged Dice Manipulators

CHICAGO, April 16. (UP)—"Bunco," the game in which daring girls, mothers and grandmothers chance their dimes for groceries, is Chicago's latest racket.

Forty-nine offenders who were taken in a raid on the Peacock Social club, some supported by husbands others supporting babies in their arms, were haled into the racket court of Judge Howard Hayes to deny they were common gamblers and to demand separate trials.

No charges had been placed against the grandchildren who appeared with their relatives today although three infants were taken in the raid conducted when it was found the women were rolling dice for sacks of flour, cans of peas and other necessities of the family table.

Separate Trials Granted

The incensed defendants were not given the opportunity to make official denials but Judge Hayes granted the request of Attorney John Byrne for separate jury trials and the chattering wives, husbands, mothers and grandmothers filed out of the courtroom to await the calling of their cases.

The scene before Judge Hayes was the most unusual witnessed here since the racket court was stabilized several weeks ago to handle the cases of racketeers, bombers and hoodlums who have been creating terror with their "rackets" throughout Chicago.

The Englewood district was thrown into confusion Saturday night when patrol wagons backed up to the Peacock club and police urged the women to take it calmly, advising that those getting in the official conveyances first would be assured of best seats "for the ride."

Strong Words Used

A few became hysterical, some sought to escape and others used strong terms of denunciation for the disgrace of being arrested as gamblers and racketeers of the common type. Mystified husbands, waiting the return of their usually punctual wives, sent out appeals to police stations until it was learned what had happened.

The prisoners were released on $400 real estate bonds but they shook fists under the sergeant's nose and had their say of their regard for the law when they learned they had been booked as inmates of a disorderly house.

Still smarting under the disgrace of spending several hours behind the bars of the stockyards district police station, the 49 women came into court all ready to talk at once and explain the "innocent pastime" which the law termed gambling.

"My husband will fight this case to the supreme court," one woman said aloud but she and others were silenced finally when the bailiff hammered his gavel until he broke the handle. Substituting a hammer he finally was able to deliver his customary "Hear ye, hear ye," which many heard for the first time.

Judge Hayes applied a little balm to the injured and indignant minds in the crowded room when he told them he disapproved of their arrest.

"These women are so innocent of any gambling charge or any kind of crime," Attorney Byrne said in addressing the court, "that they should be released immediately."

When the judge explained no one could be released until some testimony was given, the defense counsel asked for a jury trial for the 49 defendants.

"It will be an endless task," the judge replied. "I didn't realize when I issued the warrants that all would be arrested. I thought that only those guilty of operating the games would be taken into custody. Jury trials are ordered."

And the wives, mothers, grandmothers, and innocent husbands and children went home determined that the stain "common gambler" shall be erased from the family escutcheon.

Quanah Club To Give Last Play

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 16.—Quanah Little Theater players will present the last of this season's plays at the High School auditorium Thursday and Friday, April 18 and 19, when "Aunt Lucia" will be staged. The play is a comedy and employs a cast of more than 100, including a "flapper chorus" of 28 Quanah business men dressed in latest feminine attire. A glee club, two chorus numbers by different groups of high school girls, with plenty of in-between features will make this the most elaborate of the several plays held by the Quanah Little Theaters club.

This club is having extensive improvements made to the building acquired by them several months ago, and next season's plays will be staged in their own building.

PRINCE CAROL TO BE REGENT

Exiled Heir Will Return to Bucharest

BERLIN, April 16. (US)—Premier Julius Maniu of Rumania has agreed to the return of former Crown Prince Carol to Rumania as regent to supplant Prince Nicholas, who will resign, it was learned today from one high in authority in Bucharest.

The approval of the Rumanian parliament is needed, but with Premier Maniu's consent, this approval is hoped for.

Prince Carol renounces all claims and hopes to the throne now held by his 7-year-old son, King Michael, but will do everything to help consolidate the power of the throne.

G. V. Buzdugan, president of the Court of Cassation, and Patriarch M. Cristea, who, with Prince Nicholas, from the governing regency, have advised Prince Carol that on the basis of his love for his child and the promise to be responsible for his actions to the regency, they will not oppose his return and will accept him as regent as soon as parliament approves the step.

Prince Nicholas is resigning at the request of Queen Marie, who is responsible for winning over Premier Maniu, as she is anxious to end the exile and disgrace of her eldest son.

Rejection of Engagement Ring Stops Heart of Boy Who Endured Football

KANSAS CITY, April 16. (AP)—Daniel Mingler knew that football and basket ball at Ellis Grove, Ill., High school had overtaxed his 20-year-old heart. He did not count on the effect of a discarded engagement ring.

Mingler and his fiancee, Vivian Mitchell, 19, fought the age old lover's tiff as they rode in the youth's motorcar. She wouldn't promise not to have other "dates." Young pride flared and she dropped a sparkling circlet into his lap.

Then Vivian held her head high as the car reeled crazily into a curb and zigzagged dangerously. Just trying to frighten her, she thought. A wreck seemed imminent and she reached down and snapped off the motor. Then she turned reproachfully toward Mingler.

He was dead.

Jury to Hear Illegal Operation Case Selected

KINSLEY, Kan., April 16. (UP)—A jury was empanelled today in the trial of Dr. D. C. Munford, charged with performing an illegal operation on Imogene Ratliff, Larned, Kan., telephone operator, whose body was found Oct. 22 lying in the water of Pawnee creek.

State prosecutors were expected to produce a witness who is alleged to have seen Dr. Munford leaving town in the Ratliff car on the afternoon the girl disappeared.

CHILD TORTURE SLAYER HELD

Young Father Arrested For Murder

SIDNEY, Neb., April 16. (AP)—John Victor Montour, 23-year-old Mexican who tortured his 2-year-old step-daughter to death at Wheatland, Wyo., April 6, was captured here last night by Chief of Police Carl J. Levoni, and a night watchman, Arthur Kenfield.

Montour, who after torturing the child, crushed her head with a "rat tail" file, made no attempt to resist arrest and readily admitted his identity, Livoni said.

Rewards totaling $950 were offered for his capture.

Police, relating the details, said he tortured the girl for hours in sight of its invalid mother who was unable to leave her bed to protect the baby.

WANAMAKER WINS FIGHT TO ESCAPE FEDERAL TAX

WASHINGTON, April 16. (INS)—The Wanamaker estate in Philadelphia was relieved from the payment of federal estate taxes amounting to $10,041,000 on property valued at $36,790,000 in a ruling made today by the board of tax appeals.

The decision held that property transferred to relatives by John Wanamaker in the two years preceding his death in December, 1922, was not deeded over in contemplation of his death. Evidence before the board showed that although Wanamaker transferred his business to his son, Rodman Wanamaker, not long before his death, he had intended taking that action for several years. Rodman Wanamaker died last year.

AD CLUB TOLD OF PARK WORK

Facilities Help Sell City, Bunnenberg Says

Adequate public parks and supervised recreation go a long way toward selling a city to prospective private and business residents, according to C. C. Brunnenberg, city park superintendent, who spoke before the weekly meeting of the Ad club Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Recreational Needs

National recognition of a city park system can not be expected unless the facilities for supervised recreation be developed to the maximum degree possible, the speaker said. Large corporations investigate the park and recreational accommodations offered by a city before giving serious consideration to the location of a plant there, he added.

With reference to the park system in Wichita Falls, Mr. Brunnenberg said the system is now eight years old, and has 580 acres of ground in parks ranging from 270 acres down to one acre in size. Between 50 and 60 playground baseball teams in the city are provided with playing grounds, it was stated, and a new activity, boxing and wrestling, is now being started. This city has been awarded the 1929 state amateur tennis tournament, Mr. Buunenberg said, and four or five new tennis courts will be built this spring. Plans for the coming summer call for the most extensive of recreation and entertainment program ever attempted by the city park department, according to the outline given by the speaker.

A committee consisting of T. C. Scott, A. F. Edwards, and Mrs. R. E. Davis was appointed by A. E. Kelly, president, to recommend to the Ad club means of assisting the park department in recreational work during the summer.

Citizenship Award

Announcement of the judges who will select the winners of two silver cups to be awarded by the Ad club next January on the basis of "valuable citizenship" during 1929 was made by A. E. Kelly. The 24 men and women named represent the various clubs in the city. One cup will be awarded for the most valuable financial service to the city, the other to the citizen who does most for the city through personal efforts or ideas, it was stated. The list will be corrected, Mr. Kelly stated, in accordance with any changes of official personnel of the clubs, or removal from the city. W. S. Abbott wil lact as secretary of the committee of judges. The following were named: Orville Bullington, chamber of commerce; A. E. Kelly, Advertising club; Homer Sanderford, Kiwanis club; Dr. R. H. Graham, Lions club; James V. Allred, Optimist club; Mrs. T. H. Lawson, Parent-Teacher association; J. M. Baber, real estate board; P. M. Cordell, Technical club; Walter K. Campbell, Wichita club; P. B. Roberts, Labor council; Dr. J. W. Powers, Wichita county Medical society; Rev. W. H. Townsend, Ministerial alliance; Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, Woman's Forum; J. H. Allison, Boy Scout council; Mrs. Glenn Lasky, Y. W. C. A.; R. D. Kennedy, Retail Merchants association; W. L. Robertson, Clearing House association; Ed Howard, Press association; J. W. Akin, mayor of Wichita Falls; J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools; T. R. Boone, bar association; John Kilgore, Rotary club; Mrs. G. R. Ellis, Federated Missionary society, and W. S. Abbott, secretary of the Wichita Falls Advertising club.

Gibbs Opposes Any Change of Court

O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, declared Tuesday afternon that he is unwilling to release his court room in the basement of the courthouse for the use of the highway department of the county tax collector, as proposed to the county commissioners court Monday. The court at that time declined to take any action, leaving the matter to be handled between Judge Gibbs and the collector's office.

"This space has been alloted to me, is needed in court work and I feel that it is only fair for me to retain it," Judge Gibbs explained.

Wins Praise

The quality of her acting as the Private Secretary in "The News Parade" is winning the praise of movie fans everywhere for this lovely newcomer to the screen. At home in New York City, hundreds admire her charming personality and she has fairly "set the style" on Broadway by the way she dresses her hair.

"The simple method I use in caring for my hair," says Miss Shea, "has been of great help to me in my motion picture work, where one's hair must always look its best. It's just the thing for busy girls, too, because it is so easy. Most of the girls I know in stage and picture work are taking it up as soon as they hear about it. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you use it. It makes your hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It's ideal for girls who are letting their hair grow. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable. I don't shampoo half so often, now. It gives my hair such a silky, soft, lustrous appearance that all my friends comment on it."

Danderine removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it more luster than brilliantine. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. It is delightfully fragranced; isn't stick or oily; doesn't show. Waves "set" with it, last longer. All drug stores have it, in generous 35c bottles.—Adv.

200 Women Guests Here as W. M. S. Opens North Texas Conference

Over 200 visitors arrived Tuesday to attend the North Texas Woman's Missionary conference. This is the 17th annual session of the W. M. S. of North Texas, and the Floral Heights Methodist church was crowded from the opening. At least 250 delegates are expected besides a number of visitors.

The Floral Heights W. M. S. circles numbers one, two and three served lunch on Tuesday. On Wednesday, circles three, four and five expect to serve to about 350 people.

Delegates were given homes, reports made and the chief feature of the afternoon was the address of the conference president, Mrs. S. M. Black.

Tennessee Woman Speaks

Tuesday evening, the church was well filled. Viola Grace Doern and Joseph Rabinowitz gave a lovely violin duet and Mesdames George Thorburn and Fred Schmann, accompanied by Mrs. Edward R. Barcus, sang a duet.

Dr. Barcus gave a short devotional talk and then Mrs. C. M. Simpson of Dallas, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. W. B. Lipscomb of Nashville, Tenn., organization secretary for the Woman's Missionary council.

Mrs. Lipscomb came, she said, not for herself but representing more than 300,000 missionary women and children and more than 10,000 missions, representing people who had given more than a million dollars to the service and pledged more than a million more to keep the work going in the future. She spoke of the fellowship, the sacrifice, the service and faith needed to carry on the work so well started.

She told of how the missionary work was a world wide enterprise, reaching to the very ends of the earth. This she spoke of as being demonstrated in the Jerusalem conference, where 10 days before Easter, people gathered on the Mount of Olives representing the churches of 52 nations, speaking the languages of those countries, wearing the costumes, and how, with different historic backgrounds and creeds they had discussed the task of today in the same spirit.

Progress of Work

She compared the return of the missionaries in the Acts, where they told how the church had been organized to this Jerusalem conference, and said that the Jerusalem conference was as truly sacred and momentous as though it had been recorded in the Bible.

The nations and churches are no longer isolated, said Mrs. Lipscomb, but shoulder to shoulder, they have to face the task before them. The meeting in Memphis, Tenn., was cited as another conference that thrilled the workers of all lands. And then Mrs. Lipscomb told of the first conference she had ever attended in New Orleans when she was a very young woman and heard Bishop Galloway call for $50,000 to build a theological school in Suchow and how they went home thrilled at the thought of so much money raised—more than had ever been raised for mission purposes up to that time.

CLUB PRESENTS FINAL CONCERT

Musicans Feature Works Of Mrs. Stacy

The closing musicale of the year on the program of the Musicians club, given before a large attendance at the Episcopal Parish house Tuesday night, was featured by the presentation of a group of violin numbers written by Stella Stacy, formerly of this city.

Mrs. J. E. Hall, violin, and Miss Kathryn Orr, piano, were the artists chosen to interpret Mrs. Stacy's "Berceuse" and "Air de Ballet." Both compositions reflected the brilliance of spirit and sweetness of melody which characterize all of Mrs. Stacy's work. The second of the two numbers is a particularly ambitious score, with an unusually rich accompaniment in the piano. Mrs. Hall, accompanied by the composer, will play these two selections on the opening musical program at the meeting of the State Federation of Music clubs Thursday night at Corsicana.

Miss Harriett Bradley, who has appeared in solo several times here recently, following two years of voice study, contributed Molloy's "Kerry Dance" to the program Tuesday night in one of the most appealing contralto voices with which Wichita Falls has been favored. Conspicuous among the instrumental numbers were the group of two-piano compositions played by Mrs. F. R. Collard and Miss Erma Nala Voss, and a double number by Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, piano. Mrs. Mahaffey's rendition of Chopin's "Nocturne" was especially effective, while the two piano numbers which closed the program reflected a complete sympathy between two highly artistic performances.

The program follows:

Fantasie in F Minor ..... Chopin
Miss Mildred Price

Kerry Dance ..... Molloy
Miss Harriett Bradley, contralto
Mrs. J. W. Bradley, accompanist

"Se Tu M'ami Se Sospiri" ..... Pergolesi

New Officers Named At Meeting Tonight

Election of officers for the following three months, and conferring of the second degree upon a number of candidates, will feature the meeting of the Wichita Falls chapter of DeMolay to be held Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Maskat Temple auditorium.

Henrietta Legion Post Reorganized

HENRIETTA, Texas, April 16.—Plans for the reorganization of the Orin S. Scarion post No. 18, American Legion, in this city were formulated at a meeting held Tuesday night in the courthouse here at which about 30 of the present membership were present.

Post Commander Charlie Edwards presided at the meeting, which was addressed by Sam B. McCarty of Graham, assistant state adjutant. The post here has been comparatively inactive for several months, and efforts are to be made during the coming week to obtain the active support of the entire membership, which numbers approximately 80 men, in the reorganization of the post. A meeting will be held Tuesday night, April 23, at the courthouse here for the election of officers for the coming year.

Mock Majestic Draws Crowd

Good Program Presented By Collegians

Wichita Falls theater-goers had their first opportunity of witnessing an all-male ballet chorus Tuesday night at the Junior college auditorium when the fourth annual Mock Majestic of the college was held under the auspices of the college year book, the Wal-Kun. The chorus, led by Dolores Peavy, consisted of nine male students of the high school and college dressed in costume befitting their role, with appropriate wigs and dancing slippers.

"Ham and Sam," a series of blackface numbers by Walter Pinney and Curtis (Lefty) Watson, proved one of the headliners of the bill.

"Fred and Red," a musical act with Frederick Sehmann, tenor, and Mildred Anderson, pianist, was also well received by the audience.

The performance was witnessed by more than 1,000, one of the largest audiences that has attended an entertainment of this kind at the local college.

The following program was presented:

AUTO STRIKES WICHITA BOY

School Report Card Leads To Identification

McRay Tantenhahn, 7-year-old son of Mrs. O. T. Tantenhahn, 710½ Seventh street, suffered minor cuts and bruises when he was struck down by a hit and run driver Tuesday afternoon at Ninth street and Indiana avenue.

He was carried to the Wichita General hospital by a Hines ambulance where he was given treatment for his wounds.

Ralph Rohatch, city motorcycle officer, who investigated the case said that he had been unable at a late hour Tuesday night to locate the driver of the automobile. The child was unable to tell his address after the accident and his mother was located from a school report card found by Rohatch in his pocket.

Silver Put In Solitary Cell

custody of three prison guards, they were the objects of considerable interest. A large crowd gathered in the courtroom to hear the judge give his instructions.

The district judge indicated that the trial probably would not be reached until the fourth week of this term, which started yesterday.

The charge of robbery with firearms was filed against the four men after officers were told that they had commandeered an automobile to make their getaway, Hill carried a pistol, it was said.

Silver, caught at Houston last night, arrived at the prison here today in the custody of two state rangers. He managed to smile as the warden greeted him with a "Hello, Bob." Warden E. F. Harrell then placed him in solitary confinement and said he would keep the convict there as punishment for from 30 to 60 days.

No time was lost in hurrying Silver into the prison. His natty brown suit, said to have been given him by a Houston friend, was supplanted by the "stripes" which prisoners wear while they are being punished.

With Silver's return today all five of the convicts who cut their way to liberty in a blinding rain last Friday night were again in prison.

Silver was sentenced to death in the holdup and slaying of Roscoe Wilson, cashier of a theater at Fort Worth. His sentence was commuted about six months ago.

K. E. Brewer, the only one of the escaped men against whom no charges were filed, was captured near the farm.

5 reasons why 5 families bought used cars

At the right are statements typical of interviews with hundreds of families—in cities, towns and in the country—who have purchased used cars.

Used cars are unused transportation

More than 3,000,000 American families have learned that a second car is not only a great convenience but an economy. The second car need not necessarily be a new car. Many used cars have thousands of miles of unused transportation in them and can be purchased at very low prices. General Motors dealers offer a wide selection of used cars, plus the convenient GMAC Purchase Plan.

SPRING SHOWING OF GENERAL MOTORS CARS
April 20 to 27

HUNDREDS of thousands of people inspected General Motors' new model when displayed together during the national automobile shows. Now, for the benefit of the millions who did not have that opportunity, General Motors has arranged a special Spring Showing to be held individually by its dealers. You are cordially invited to see the cars at local dealers' showrooms.

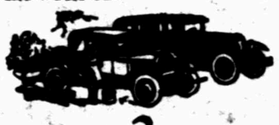

1

"I am a carpenter. By owning a car I can work on any job that comes along in any of the surrounding towns. My car was a used car. It cost very little and makes money for me every day."

2

"We bought a used car which we call our utility car. Every other week I take my own and a neighbor's children to and from school. The week in between, my neighbor drives and I get the week off."

3

"We kept our old car when we bought a new car, instead of trading it in. It's such a convenience to have two cars that we hardly know how we got along with only one."

4

"When our children grew up and began to have engagements of their own, we found that one car was not enough. We could not afford two new cars. So we bought one new car and a used car."

5

"We live out of town. Our new car is the family car. Our used car is what we call our 'work car.' It does all kinds of jobs in all kinds of weather."

WHAT IT Is— not what it Costs!

THAT heading epitomizes Pierce-Arrow. It is the philosophy which says that ideals must be met before markets—that traditions should come before trading.

As an example: To the typical Pierce-Arrow purchaser, this car is not just so many dollars' worth of automobile. It is something which yields a high type of personal gratification—the consciousness of a possession that is recognized as the very finest thing of its kind.

With this enviable background, the new Pierce-Arrow Straight Eight came into being at a truly psychological moment. Its slender, low-swung beauty found instant favor in eyes long tired of bulk and stodginess in fine motor cars.

As a consequence, there has been a waiting demand for this new and ultra-modish creation that is without parallel in all the twenty-seven years of Pierce-Arrow history.

Daily Editorial

RATZKOWSKI, the Parisian art dealer, who began as a store clerk, didn't realize he was waiting upon Mrs. Opportunity in person, when a plainly dressed little woman approached his counter at the Bon Marche and requested samples of various dress materials.

His kindness and patience made such an impression upon the "customer" that, a few months afterwards, he was promoted, at the age of 17, to assistant silk buyer in then the greatest retail establishment on earth.

Like all shrewd merchants, she had the gift of recognizing talent in the bud.

J. H. Barringer, under whose charge National Cash Register has advanced in leaps and bounds, himself leaped in a single bound from a minor post to captaincy of the company.

Barringer was John H. Patterson's private secretary. One day, Patterson instructed him to transmit certain orders, which the other considered detrimental to the best interests of the concern, and didn't hesitate to express his mind.

Patterson momentarily studied the plain-speaking youngster, then abruptly suggested that he handle the situation according to his own ideas.

"But I' haven't any authority," Barringer demurred.

Five minutes later, he held the credentials of vice president and general manager—and still carries 'em.

"Yes-men" and lickspittles, please note.

ATYRO COLLECTOR, destined to head one of the country's greatest industrial units, showed the stuff he was made of when his concern sent him after a dead-beat, who had included a thoroughbred bull in the collateral for some agricultural implements.

The debtor protested he couldn't pay.

"Then I'll take the bull."

"The bull's dead," said the farmer.

"Show me where he's buried and we'll dig up the bones—they'll bring something at the fertilizer plant."

"Oh hell," grinned the farmer, "if you're that sort of a go-getter I'd better settle." And paid the bill.

Business doesn't choose its leaders blindly. Favoritism and pull seldom confer field-marshalships.

Once in awhile, a "fair-haired boy" does burglarize an office to which his ability isn't entitled, but vital responsibilities are reserved for proved capacity and demonstrated character.

Capital doesn't often make an ace bet on a deuce spot, despite prevalent shallowpate conviction that "a fellow without influence" never gets a crack at the bull's-eye.

If merit were not the generally deciding factor in promotion, commerce would be crowded with bankruptcies, and dividends would be as scarce as auk's eggs.

Money is searching for watchful guardians and productive stewards just as hard as ambition is hunting prize berths.

Ninety per cent of the folk in charge of national affairs were selected by the balance sheet and located among the ranks.

That's why America needs billion dollar banks and so many securities are selling above par.

Requisition Is Issued

AUSTIN, Texas, April 16. (INS)—Gov. Dan Moody today issued a requisition on the governor of Arizona for the return of W. Randolph Thorne, charged by indictment at Houston with swindling. Thorne is under arrest at Phoenix, Ariz.

During the trial of Texas Guinan, it was revealed that the night club where she served as hostess was operated by Johnnidis and Prounis. Does anybody remember a saloonkeeper named Paddy Healy?

An Old Man, a Smash-Up and a Home-Coming

YOU NEVER KNOW how much happiness rubs elbows with you on the street. Most of us move behind a veil that keeps us from seeing what is going on right beside us. Once in a while, though, the veil breaks for an instant—and then we get a look at the cruel, tragic things that can happen.

Motorists driving out of Cleveland, Ohio, the other day on the road to Pittsburgh passed a rickety old ice wagon drawn by a mangy old horse. In the wagon were a bale of hay, two bushel baskets full of oats and a crate of live chickens. On the seat sat an old, shabby man, holding a little white puppy in his arms.

His progress was painfully slow, and if any of the motorists gave him a second thought at all it was only to berate him for clogging the road. Yet every driver who passed him would have stopped to offer help if they had known the facts.

The old chap—he was past 65—was on his way to his daughter's farm, in western Pennsylvania. It was his last journey; once he reached the farm he would settle down to spend the rest of his life resting. He was very tired.

He had planned to join her for a long time. But he hadn't been much of a success, and he hated to go back, empty-handed, to be a burden to her. So he had spent the past winter in Cleveland, trudging the streets to do odd jobs, saving every penny so that he could take something with him and make the homecoming look better.

The wagon, the horse and the few possessions in the wagon box were his gifts. Neither wagon nor horse amounted to much, but they could be used; besides, he could ride to Pennsylvania in them and save carfare. The hay and oats would help, too, and the chickens surely would be gladly received. Then, just to show that everything didn't have to be utilitarian, there was the puppy—a white, wriggly little terrier that any farm family would be glad to have.

A few miles out of Cleveland he met disaster. There was a steep hill, very slippery. The tired old horse couldn't make the grade—and presently horse, wagon and all slid downhill, skidded off the road and went into a ditch. The wagon was wrecked and the horse was killed.

An hour or so later a suburban police officer found the wreck. The old man was sitting on the broken wagon, still holding the puppy in his lap, crying.

It takes a little bit of the sting out of it to learn that the policeman wasn't one of the hardboiled kind. He led the old chap to a nearby town, and dug down in his pocket for enough money to pay his fare to the Pennsylvania farm. The town's business men took an interest. They bought the wrecked wagon, the chickens and the feed for rather more than they were worth—and so, finally, the old chap continued his journey, still holding the puppy, and with money in his pocket.

We brush against situations like that every day, without recognizing them. Once we find out, of course, we're ready enough to help. But couldn't we be a little more eager to find out?

Our Municipal Back Yard

AN ITEM of $10,000 placed in the new city budget for repair of the municipal incinerating plant should remind residents of Wichita Falls that sooner or later steps must be taken here to provide a better system of garbage collection and disposition. The problem is becoming almos as acute as that involving the water system, although it is to be hoped that improvements will not be delayed so long.

The present system of garbage collection and disposition, while undoubtedly the most efficieint the city manager could possibly devise with the facilities and funds at hand, is the shame of Wichita Falls. The licensed collectors' system is on the whole expensive, inefficient and incapable of providing strict sanitation. It is a troublesome thing for the taxpayer who pays to have his garbage removed. It provides this man no protection from a neighbor who may choose to let his trash accumulate to the detriment of general health and neighborhood appearances. It seems a city the size of Wichita Falls should be able to provide some system of regular municipal collection.

As for the garbage dump, one suit seems to follow another over this adjunct of municipal government. The frequency and bitterness of these suits, regardless of their disposition by the courts, must inevitably lead many of us to conclude our own municipal back yard needs attention. We are beginning to suspect, rightly or wrongly, that fine lawns and pretty shrubbery in the front may not excuse an open garbage dump in the alley.

One or two additional incinerators would provide for the burning of every combustible piece of garbage, refuse and trash in the city. The ash and residue from the modern incinerator is neither offensive in odor nor in sight, according to this newspaper's information. This year we spend $10,000 for repairs on an old incinerator. Next year it should be the construction of one or more additional units.

A Lake of Gasoline

DURING 1928 the citizens of the United States burned upwards of 14,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline. A speaker at the recent meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, in New York, pointed out that this would make a lake five miles in diameter and nearly four feet deep.

Putting it in terms like that helps one to realize the tremendous importance that oil has in modern American society. It also emphasizes the difficulties that would lie in the way of adopting gasoline substitutes. Benzol, for instance, can be made from coal; yet if all the soft coal mined in the country last year were made into benzol, it would only make a lake a tenth as big as this one.

We have a gasoline civilization, obviously; and one of our greatest problems is to insure a steady, cheap supply of the all-important fluid.

LESS COTTON—MORE PROSPERITY

In 1928 the peanut crop in Comanche county brought the farmers a million dollars. This was $200,000 more than cotton brought in the same county. This report shows that cotton is taking less acreage and maintaining less importance in our economic life than it once did. Though it would be a calamity to the South to let any other country excel us in the cotton industry, nevertheless the southern farmer who has cut his cotton acreage and devoted some of his land to other crops has almost invariably prospered. —Denison (Texas) Herald.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, April 16.—Orchestra conductors in most of the large motion pictures palaces in New York do not seem to realize how amusing they are.

Most all of them are pictured of pompesity, flooded constantly in a special spotlight, as though their ludicrous and futile antics with the baton were more important than the music. Their perspiring, self-conscious gymnastics dominate the scene, regardless of the overture, the occasion or the necessity.

Sometimes, when I am almost prepared to detect merit in a movie theater's rendition of a fuge, my senses are rudely interrupted by the fellow in the spotlight, weaving back and forth, throwing into his actions all the exaggerated drama at his command, when it would be much more sensible if he sat down and got out of the way. He exaggerated his importance, even though I am willing to admit that a conductor may be valuable to his orchestra—but certainly not as a spotlight spectacle or museum piece.

There is something hilariously amusing, too, in seeing a conductor waving his baton determinedly, and even with all the fury at his command, while a calm, detached orchestra plays, under his solemn direction, the latest jazz hit; or in watching his fierce physical sussions while a bored violinist renders a popular solo.

◆ ◆

The gentlemen I have referred to above might with profit study such excellent and admirable conductors as those who appear in the Metropolitan Opera house, Carnegie Hall, Town Hall or, in the summer time, in the stadium of the College of the City of New York. Such men, for instance as Toscanini, Mengelberg, Gabrilowitich, and Eugene Goosons. These men do not stand in the glare of spotlights. They are not present to bewitch the audience with their antics btu to guide and stimulate and fire the spirit of the orchestra. To the superficial-minded, in the audience, such conductors may be spectacles, but to the conductors it is the music that becomes the "spectacle"—sublime, capricious, morose or joyful. These men need no colored spotlights, no cleverly conceived platforms that rise mysteriously out of the depths of a pit in spectacular fashion. As Lupton Wilkinson, the poet, has said:

"Music, man, that's the thing!"

Every once in a while there goes out a report of a plane lost in the wastelands and marshes of New Jersey. Perhaps New York knows more about these places than those outside of the metropolitan area (in which I include practically all of New Jersey). Hikers from the city, not to mention air pilots, have come to know of them and of their dangers. They are as treacherous as the bad lands of the Dakotas.

Even a couple of dozen stone throws away from New York will bring you upon a part of these marshes. Lonely and flat they are, stretching for miles. Sometimes they are at the edge of a town or a city, even such metropolitan places as Newark and Jersey City. In them, fliers have become lost and, if they survived, have been rescued only by the grace of good luck.

St. John Ervine (they call him Sinn Jinn), the imported critic of a New York newspaper, has created a great deal of rumpus with his consistent and, if I may say so, laudable, denunciations of a good many of our stage performances.

But the other day one of Ervine's plays was produced. The reaction was a credit to our so-called and often mis-called spirit of fair play. The American critics, very much chagrined over Ervine's lofty attitude, praised Ervine's play unstintedly.

Yet some critical friends tell me the play is impossible and the vague feeling overcomes me that the critics, fearing the appelation of poor sports betrayed themselves by becoming, for the moment, good sports and bad critics.

Of course, in these days, we haven't the round table of wits who gathered, without conscious manners, to spill brilliant bon mots about life and things.

The substitutes are the columnists who appear in print. The columnist has made his way into most American newspapers. In New York he dominates them. Such personalities as Heywood Broun, F. P. A. (Franklin P. Adams), Edward Hope, Russell Crouse, Mark Hellinger, Walter Winchell are to be found and, instead of bantering with one another over a table they do it over the columns. And, not that it matters, their cute public bits of repartee bore me very much.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE CURIOUS CASE OF BRIDGET FARRY

Arnold Rothstein, known from coast to coast as a notorious race track man and gambler, was slain in a New York hotel nearly six months ago. The police have failed to clear up the mystery and the only person remaining under detention is a scrubwoman named Bridget Farry, who was working at the hotel at the time of the crime. Why she is incarcerated has never been explained.—Editor.

Dablyn Crymes, The Great Detective, came forth today with the first explanation about Bridget. "I have been investigating the Rothstein murder ever since the day after it happened, and I alone am in a position to tell the public the reason for the scrubwoman's long incarceration."

PHILLIPS

The Great Sleuth removed a blue wig, which he had been using as a disguise, and resumed:

"Arnold Rothstein was supposedly summoned from a restaurant by a telephone call from the Park Central hotel, was he not? Yes. But what evidence is there to support this? None. The truth is that he was summoned, not by telephone, but by a signal from one of the hotel windows. This signal was given with a mop.

◆ ◆ ◆

"Now, proceeding from that point, who had or might have had a mop? McManus? It would not have been impossible for McManus to have a mop but the best evidence is that it was not his custom to carry one. He was never accompanied by a mop on his curious excursions about town with Rothstein. Arnold hated mops. He never used them.

◆ ◆ ◆

"That brings us, by process of deduction, down to John Doe and his half-brother Richard Roe. Might they have signalled from the hotel with a mop? I think not. I found what I thought at first to be a mop in John Doe's baggage but it turned out to be a carpet-sweeper. This signal was not given with a carpet-sweeper. As for Richard Roe, I have evidence that he at times was seen going up and down Broadway with a pail, but never with a mop.

◆ ◆ ◆

"Now we come to Bridget Farry. Did she have a mop? Certainly. She admits it. On the day of the murder she not only had in her possession a mop, but a pail of soap!

◆ ◆ ◆

"What was she doing in the Park Central hotel with mop, pail and soap? Cleaning, she says, but shall we swallow such an incredible story. A scrubwoman really using such things for such a purpose? Does she think me as simple as that?

◆ ◆ ◆

"Now I come to the most significant evidence so far dug up. Just before Rothstein was summoned to the hotel by the signals given with a mop, a strange little man with pink whiskers and green knickers came up to him and slipped him a cake of soap. On the back of this soap was this message:

"'I love you. B. F.'"

◆ ◆ ◆

Dablyn Crymes paused for a moment and smiled. "Do you see it all?" he asked. "What do those initials B. F. mean? Bellowe Falls? Bare Feet? Baked Fish? Banana Fritters? Certainly not. They mean Bridget Farry."

◆ ◆ ◆

"You mean . . . ." gasped his listener.

"Yes," declared Dablyn Crymes, snapping on his early evening yellow whiskers and starting out on the Congressman Morgan Mystery.

The "My Home Town" contest will be held during the afternoon just before Dr. P. W. Horn, president of Texas Tech, makes his address on "Education, an Aid to Business."

At the agricultural group meeting which will also be held in the afternoon, the speakers will be Col. C. C. French of the Fort Worth Stockyards company, and B. M. Whiteker, agricultural manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

At 4 o'clock will come the report of the resolutions committee, and the selection of the next meeting place.

Large delegations are expected to attend the meeting from 40 towns of the South Plains, including Plainview, Lamesa, Lubbock, Floydada, Slaton, Crosbyton, Brownfield, Abernathy, Matador and Ralls. Representatives from most of the towns will come in groups forming motorcades.

Both highways leading into Tahoka, No. 9 and No. 84 are in good condition and this fact will have a good influence on the size of the crowds.

Health And Diet Advice

Get Rid of the Toxins

This is the second article of a series which will run for two weeks. It will be a cleansing diet course which must be read each day and followed closely by those who wish to get good results in a spring bodily housecleaning diet. Look up yesterday's paper, and save these articles for reference.

The first plan in this course is for you to use a method by which you can get rid of the accumulated toxins that are present with every disease.

I have never found a person, whether well or sick, who would not benefit by a few days of bodily housecleaning!

Those living on the ordinary meals are found to use too much of certain kinds of foods, to use bad mixtures of foods, and to commit other dietetic mistakes from which the body will suffer from what is commonly called "auto-intoxication" or self-poisoning. This may not produce an acute or chronic illness until after many years, but much sickness could be avoided if everyone who thinks he is well would, at periodical times, adopt a regime which would produce an extraordinary amount of elimination of any toxin which may have accumulated in the body. So this course is for even those who seem to be well at the present time.

One Regime for Many Disorders

Those who are suffering from any definite disorder will, of course, receive a great deal of benefit from this short course of diet treatment, and from this they may learn how to apply a more extended treatment to their own case. This treatment will prove effective in the relief of any of the following disorders:

Acne, anemia, appendicitis, asthma, auto-toxemia, backache, high or low blood pressure, bronchitis, catarrh and colds, constipation, cystitis, defective circulation, deafness, diabetes, digestive disorders, dropsy, chronic discharge from the ears, eczema and psoriasis, enervation, epilepsy, flatulence, gallstones, goitre, hay fever, headache, heart derangements, insomnia, kidney stones, liver trouble, painful or excessive menstruation, nephritis, rectal troubles, rheumatism, diseased tonsils, tuberculosis of the lungs, and varicose veins; also, in normalizing the weight of the individual who is either too fat or too thin.

I have just named a list of the most common disorders which have been successfully treated by this method that I am suggesting for you. You will say, "It seems almost impossible! Why, some of these disorders have been pronounced incurable! How can one kind of dieting have such an effect?" This curative diet system does help in all of these cases and, although there may be certain individual cases which are incurable, there are practically no incurable diseases.

You must remember that I am giving you the benefit of my years of study and experience in my private practise, from the experience gained from the lecture platform and from correspondence with the millions of readers of newspapers who write to me for advice. So when I give you this simple plan of dietetic cure I am condensing a good deal of valuable advice which has already brought marvelous results to thousands of others, and there is no reason why you should not benefit in the same way if you will strictly follow the instructions.

Because of the limited amount of space which I can use for this column each day, the instructions must be given a little at a time, and you must save these articles for reference so that you will not miss any of the points I want to bring out in this series.

Tomorrow's article will give you very definite instructions on how to start with the body-cleansing course on the first day. Watch for tomorrow's paper.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Combining Melba Toast

Question—Mrs. W. M. asks: "May melba toast be used with the fruit and milk combinations?"

Answer—Melba toast may be used with any other kind of food, and combines well with milk and fruit.

Salts for Punishment

Question—O. L. B. asks: "What do you think of giving a little boy 9 years old Epson salts as a punishment? My mother gives it to him every time he is late from school, or runs across the street, etc. If this is continued, will it not cause him to have chronic constipation? I told her that it would, but she said salts were good for him—that they never hurt anyone. Which is right?"

Answer—Your mother must have read about Mussolini's treatment of Italian labor agitators. You know, he has been giving castor oil to some of the unruly ones until they promise to be good. It should never be necessary to give salts as a laxative to a child, and certainly not as a punishment. Tell your mother to read some of the latest books on child psychology.

MORAN AND MACK

MORAN: What's th' difference between th' talkies an' the movies?
MACK: I don't know. Does yo'?
MORAN: Nope.
MACK: Then I'll explain it to yo'.
MORAN: Proceed cawtiously.
MACK: Well, in th' movies only th' director had a megaphone.
MORAN: I gets yo'.
MACK: But in th' talkies everybody has a megaphone.
MORAN: What is yo' going to do in th' talkies?
MACK: I'm goin' to yell until I is a star.
MORAN: I didn't know yellin' would make yo' a star.
MACK: They makes yo' a star so yo' will shut up.
MORAN: If I yell will I get to be a star?
MACK: Yo' will either get to be one or yo' will see plenty of 'em.

The Two Black Crows are on their way to get notice. If they don't get it from the directors they will get it from the landlord.

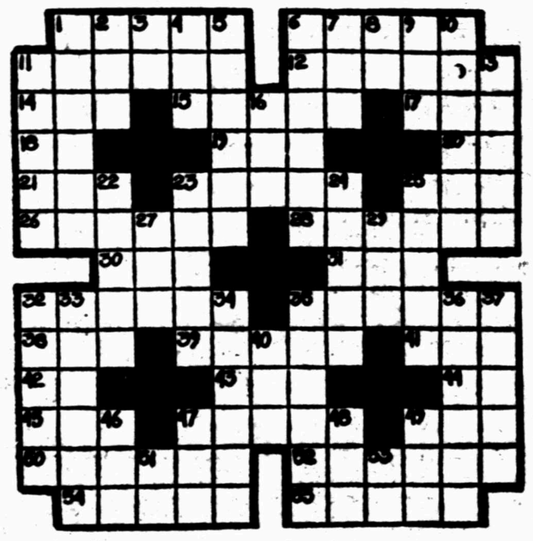

'Mental Marvel' Draws Big Crowds

Large crowds have marked the first three days' appearances of Marjah, the son of India, at the Olympic theater, where the "mental marvel" dispenses information both domestic and social in response to questions submitted by members of his audiences.

His ability to answer speedily all questions put to him is attributed by the performer to thought transference. Using no equipment or setting save a crystal ball, he takes written questions from an urn in which they were dropped by patrons of the theater and without seeing the inquirer rapidly enunciates his reply.

A special matinee has been announced for Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when only ladies will be admitted. Detailed answers to intimate questions are promised at this hearing by Marjah.

TEXAS BALL CLUBS MEET RIVALS IN SEASON OPENERS TODAY

LOOP WARFARE IN SPOTLIGHT

Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Waco and Houston Play

"What makes you look so pale, Granny," Little Red Riding Hood asked.

"My grandson is an office boy, and I must die today," she said.

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

SHREVEPORT, La., April 16.—Mayors, governors or other dignitaries in four cities will hurl a glistening baseball in the general direction of home plate; blue-coated guardians of diamond law will order, "play ball," and the twenty-second championship season of the Texas league will be on tomorrow.

Indications point to another highly successful season in this fastest of minor league loops. Revamped clubs entered for an uncertain pennant race, the presence of hustling and promising rookies required by the five-man class rule and the return of many star veterans and addition of other well-known experienced athletes assure all that could be desired of the Texas league this season in an artistic way.

Closely Contested Race

The dominance held by the Wichita Falls and Houston clubs of the past two seasons seems in a fair way to be ended, though those two teams will be foremost contenders for the flag, and the expected strength of other nines will provide a closely-contested race. Which should be reflected at the box office.

Preparations in all cities in which openers are held tomorrow have been made to win the annual attendance trophies, and clubs now on the road will have their bow before home fans later. Today's openers are:

Wichita Falls at Shreveport.
Fort Worth at Dallas.
Houston at Beaumont.
Waco at San Antonio.

Spudder Hurlers Slated For Mound Honors Against Sports

GOLF COURSE IS IMPROVED

Greens Made Ready For Opening Tournament

General improvements all over the Weeks park gold course are being made in order to get the links in condition for the beginning of the spring tournament, Phil Hessler, newly elected professional of the club, said Tuesday.

A set of new flag staffs have been completed by Hessler and will be put on the greens within the next two days. They are painted black and white and will fly an orange flag making them very noticeable from any angle of the course.

New foot bridges over the creeks and ponds in the course are being constructed and will be ready for use before the beginning of the tourney.

Grass tees are being constructed on the muny course under Hessler's direction four of them being already completed. The remainder of the tees should be completed within the next two weeks and should be ready for use by early summer.

It was estimated that the number of players using the Weeks park course had increased 100 per cent since April 1. The course is in constant use all through the week and almost covered with exponents of the game during the week ends, Mr. Hessler asserted.

Hessler said also that increase in interest in the game at Weeks park is being shown by the number of golf enthusiasts taking lessons from the professional. Hessler's duties as an instructor have been decidedly on the increase since he assumed the position here April 1.

Bob Cats' Manager Arrives in Coleman

Special to The Record News

COLEMAN, Texas, April 16.—Manager Carl Mitze of the Bob Cats has arrived in Coleman with catchers and pitchers and training will start at once, preparatory to the opening of the season May 1. The first contingent of the tribe arrived ahead of time. The balance will come next week-end. The diamond has been put in shape and Coleman fandom looks forward to a profitable season.

5-Month Chase For Westerners

Split Season Abolished for 1929 Campaign

TOPEKA, Kan., April 16. (AP)—A five month pennant chase, with no halfway mark at which to pause for breath and make a new start, will begin Wednesday for the Western league. The split season adopted last year did not find favor with the managers and club owners and was abolished for the 1929 campaign.

The opening games:

Des Moines at Oklahoma City.
Denver at Tulsa.
Pueblo at Wichita.
Omaha at Topeka.

Tulsa, last year's champions, again appears formidable despite the weakening of the club by a parade of its best players to other clubs, including the St. Louis Browns who got the 1928 league leading hurler Chad Kimsey and the clever infielder, Leonard Dondero. Oklahoma City, winner of the first half of the 1928 race and subsequently victim of Tulsa in the playoff, appears dangerous. Pueblo and Des Moines, the latter a poor second division club last season, are generally rated by sports writers as the other two first division clubs.

The only change in the circuit is the substitution of Topeka for Amarillo.

Stribling Mentioned to Fight Gotham Winner

NEW YORK, April 16. (UP)—Young Stribling of Georgia has been mentioned as a probable opponent for the winner of Friday night's match between Jim Maloney and Con O'Kelly in the New York coliseum. Maloney is an 8 to 5 favorite.

Pladner Is Favorite Over Frankie Genaro

PARIS, April 16. (UP)—Emile (Spider) Pladner of France, European flyweight champion and claimant to the world's title, is a 2½ to 1 favorite over Frankie Genaro, former world's titleholder, for their 15-round return bout at the Velodrobe Thursday night. In a previous bout Pladner knocked Genaro out in the first round, the latter protesting he had been fouled. Both fighters were pronounced in perfect condition today.

TRAMEL MEETS HALL TONIGHT

Knockout Artists Clash At Palace Theater

PLACE: PALACE THEATER
Time: 8:15 p. m.

Henry Adams, Wichita Falls, and Corporal Barnes, Fort Sill, four rounds.

Jack Batts, City View, and Kid Lewis, Wichita Falls, four rounds.

Joe Hooks, Stamford, and Tommie Carpenter, Fort Worth, six rounds.

Red Williams, Childress, and Jack Walker, New Orleans, eight rounds.

Main Event

Duke Tramel, Fort Worth, and Cyclone Hall, Childress, ten rounds.

Duke Tramel, Fort Worth, welterweight, will tangle with Cyclone Hall, junior middleweight from the badlands of Childress, as the feature of the card Promoter Alec Ross has arranged for Wednesday night at the Palace theater.

Tramel comes before his audience here with a reputation of 56 victories in this town alone, and fans will remember that 45 of these were knockouts. Tramel weighs 147 pounds, is in the pink of condition. The memory of his former prowess here is likely to encourage yearners for more than ordinary bloodshed to look for a wild night.

Certainly it will be a wild night, if Promoter Ross' advance dope on Hall holds out. Hall's jabs to the stomach have dealt plenty misery in this trade territory recently, Ross says, and the youngster—he has developed within the last six months—is expected to do much to counter the dexterous chin punches that have so pumped up Tramel's fame.

Both, indeed, have a following that is much impressed with their hard punching. How hard they will punch Wednesday night remains to be seen.

Williams of Childress will meet a real knockout artist when he goes up against Jack Walker in the semi-finals. Walker, a Texas youth who battled his way to recognition in New Orleans, is regarded as a middleweight of more than ordinary promise.

The other preliminaries are expected to serve as tasty appetite whetters, and their selection has been made to serve this purpose well, Ross says.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 16.—Managers of Texas league clubs pleased their fans and club owners last season. Only two new pilots will lead teams in the Lone Star state loop when they open the championship season today.

Bill Alexander returns to the circuit to succeed Frank Gibson as pilot at San Antonio and Milt Stock is the latest hope at Dallas. Bert Ellison was the Steer manager when the 1928 season opened, but he was relieved of the job late in the campaign and Bob Tarleton and Hap Morse held the reins the rest of the way.

The managers this season are:
Wichita Falls—Jim Galloway.
Dallas—Milton Stock.
Fort Worth—Jake Atz.
Shreveport—Art Phelan.
Houston Frank Snyder.
Beaumont—Claude Robertson.
Waco—Del Pratt.
San Antonio—Bill Alexander.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOUR OF the skippers are listed as playing managers and two will be most active in the actual work on the field. Frank Snyder and Claude Robertson are the regular catchers for their nines. Milton Stock may get into the game frequently, though it seems that his infield is satisfactory without his presence. Pratt is about through as a player and if Jim Battle fills the first base job at Waco, Papa Del will stay on the bench and coaching lines and let his hirelings do the work.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT IS indicative of the success of baseball in the Texas league and the faith held by Rube Stewart in his city, that Beaumont opens its season in a costly, modern and handsome new stadium. The Exporters, perennial tailenders, give promise of better days ahead and a winning ball club would be fitting reward for such a sportsman as Rube Stewart.

GALES AND RAIN MAR OPENING GAMES OF MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS

ALL EASTERN LOTS SOAKED

50,000 See Pirates Trounce Cubs, 4 to 3

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 16.—The 1929 baseball season opened disastrously today. All of the eastern games were rained out, while near freezing weather marred three of the four openings in the west.

The unseasonable weather reduced the aggregate attendance to less than 100,000, with half the number packed into Wrigley field to see the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 3.

Crowds Brave Cold

Twenty-five thousand shivering fans watched Grover Cleveland Alexander, oldest pitcher in the National league, begin his nineteenth major league campaign by pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5 to 2 victory over the Reds at Cincinnati.

Only 23,000 fans turned out for the two American league openings. A crowd of 17,000 braved the cold weather at Cleveland to witness the Indians' 11-inning triumph over the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 4. A bare 7,000 attended the opening at St. Louis, where the Browns defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 1.

Weather permitting, the opening games postponed at New York, Washington, Boston and Philadelphia today will be played tomorrow.

Gale Halts Champs

Rain transmitted the field at Yankee stadium into a quagmire and a biting gale whistled through the steel rafters of the giant stands, preventing the world champion New York Yankees from trotting out against the Boston Red Sox.

With clear weather tomorrow, 60,000 persons are expected to see the Yankees go into action. Miller Huggins has switched his pitching choice from Waite Hoyt and will start George Pipgras. Ed Morris or Charlie Ruffing will pitch for the Red Sox.

With the Yankees, Giants and Robins all idle today, the principal baseball news in the metropolitan district was Babe Ruths approaching marriage to Mrs. Claire Hodgson, a former "Follies" girl, at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow.

"I'm going to celebrate my wedding day in a big way," Ruth said. "Watch me go tomorrow."

Hoover Laid Off

Down at Washington the rain and cold weather kept the Senators and Athletics idle and gave President Herbert Hoover another day to get his arm in shape to toss out the first ball.

The other two games postponed were at Philadelphia, where the Giants and Phillies were scheduled, and at Boston where the Braves and Robins were scheduled.

Despite the dismal weather, midseason baseball prevailed in the four opening games.

Alexander and Lucas staged a pitcher's battle at Cincinnati, "old Alex's" control enabling him to win the 365th victory of his major league career—only eight short of superseding Christy Matthewson as the leading National league winner for all-time.

Each pitcher allowed five hits, but a wild first inning was costly to Lucas and the Cardinals scored three runs. Chick Hafey, playing in spectacles, hit a home run and single, driving in four runs.

Hornsby Makes Debut

Rogers Hornsby made his debut in a Chicago Cubs' uniform, but was unable to prevent his team from losing the opening game. Burleigh Grimes, pitching an opening game for the first time in his career, blanked the Cubs until the eighth and successfully staved off a ninth-inning rally.

Captain Pie Traynor, the Pirates star third baseman who has been troubled by an injured hip, starred at bat with three hits.

Tying the score in the ninth inning, the Indians beat the Tigers in the eleventh when Carl Lind daubled and scored Luke Sewell with the winning run.

Earl Averill, the Indians' $45,000 rookie outfielder, made his initial major league appearance by hitting the first home run of the season off Earl Whitehill in the opening inning.

Sam Gray, who won 20 games last season, held the White Sox to five hits, and the Browns got away to a flying start in their quest of the American league flag.

BUFFS BREAK IN NEW PARK

Beaumont's Largest Crowd Expected at Clash

HOUSTON, April 16. (AP)—The Dixie champions of 1928 will leave here Wednesday morning for Beaumont, where Wednesday afternoon they will help the Exporters dedicate their new park before what is expected to be the largest crowd of Beaumont's history.

Of the ball players who last season brought the Buffs their first Dixie championship if history, only four will be on the train to Beaumont. These four are Manager Snyder, Jim Lindsey, "Chuck" Abbott, and Eddie Hock.

Weather Looks Good

BEAUMONT, April 16. (AP)—With a record attendance in sight as a result of the new Stuart stadium, hopes for tomorrow's opener with Houston received a severe setback this afternoon when clouds gathered low over the field. However, by the time the Exporters swung into their final practice session the skies were clearing and tonight everything is merry for Beaumont's greatest baseball day.

Dallas Crowd Assured

DALLAS, April 16. (AP)—Hopes of Dallas officials of winning the annual Texas league opening day attendance cup bounded tonight with the announcement that 3,500 tickets already had been sold for tomorrow's inaugural against the Fort Worth Panthers here. It was anticipated that at least 15,000 would be crowded into Steer stadium when the festivities begin at 4 p. m.

As a departure from the usual custom, Steer officials have persuaded Temple Morrow and J. Waddy Tate, rival candidates for mayor in an approaching run-off election, to throw and receive the first ball tomorrow.

Dempsey Arranges Stribling Bout

NEW YORK, April 16. (UP)—Plans for a bout between Young Stribling, Georgia heavyweight, and an opponent not yet selected, were announced here today by Jack Dempsey, of the new Dempsey-Fugazy promotion combination.

Dempsey said he had Stribling's promise to sign for such a fight, to be held at Ebbetts field, Brooklyn on the night of May 29, if plans could be completed.

An attempt is being made to obtain Johnny Risko, Jimmy Maloney or K. O. Christener, Dempsey said.

Rice Owls Beat S. M. U., 14 to 8

DALLAS, April 16. (AP)—Banging out 13 hits off two Southern Methodist university hurlers, the Rice Owls defeated the Ponies, 14 to 8, in their Southwest conference game here today. The slugging Owls knocked Collins from the box in the early part of the game and continued their assault on Lyles, ending up with a six-run splurge in the ninth.

Ables went the route for the visitors and with the exception of two frames, the fourth and eighth, kept the Mustangs well in hand. Six bases on balls kept him in trouble.

Montgomery led the Rice attack with three singles in five trips. Stoppel had a double and triple in five trys and Austin got a single and triple. Connor with a single and double, had the best luck against Ables' slants.

Burleigh Grimes held the Cubs helpless until the ninth when two runs were scored. Pittsburgh got away to a start of three against Charlie Root in the first, and never was headed. Score:

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Vice Presidents and Precedence

NEW YORK, April 16. (UE)—There was a war regatta over at the British embassy in Washington last week.

The question was precedence at White House luncheons.

Shall the sister of the vice president grab the celery before the wife of the Siberian diplomat removes the shad bones from her family tree?

This is an important item among diplomats. Proving nothing except that diplomats have little to do.

The wife of a diplomat is a diplomattress.

There is nothing in the world court or the League of Nations making it illegal for a vice president to have a sister.

So, if a vice president wants to take his sister to an official dinner, it is her own fault.

Mr. Curtis insists that his sister ranks above the ladies' auxiliary of international gossip and that she is entitled to a spoon with her soup.

When this fact became known in the aspirin and lorgenette belts, all the Daughters of the American Revolution immediately went for another sail on the Mayflower.

We agree with Mr. Curtis on this subject.

Senator Heflin agrees with him too.

Maybe, we're wrong.

The question of precedence at dinners was responsible for King Arthur's round fable. The knights were scrambling for positions of honor. So King Artie designed his circular trough. He said:

"The table is round. We're all here. We are all equal and we're all elbows. Pass the biscuits."

The question of precedence and the vice president's sister could be settled without going to war.

Why not dine in a cafeteria?

When it comes to making all men equal, democracy runs second to a cafeteria platter.

The climax simmered sweetly at the Chilean dinner last Thursday. After that dinner all the ladies went back to school to brush up on their snubbing.

But international trouble was narrowly averted. None of the hostile nations called its ambassador home.

Except in the case of the Eskimo envoy. And he was carried home.

The Babe and 1929

In 1918, the year after the war closed out, I recall a Florida wallop Babe Ruth delivered against the Giants in spring campaigning. It cleared a road beyond the field and fell into the stubble well past the confines of the park.

The Babe had been a great left-handed pitcher up through 1920, but now they were giving him a chance to reverse the act by assaulting other pitchers. From a star piece of defensive machinery he was to be featured on the offensive side.

Ruth hit 29 home runs that year. Ten years later on, with middle age beckoning, he hopes to double this output. Perhaps he won't. He may not pass or reach the 50 mark. But he will get his share and a few more. The oldtimer has maintained remarkable agility when you consider his size and his length of service. He can't go on forever, but he will again be the big single feature of baseball, one of the few big stars the American league holds with the passing of Cobb, Speaker and Walter Johnson.

Ruth would rather play baseball than get a job as a king. This goes whether he is sick or well, wounded or uninjured. Here is further proof that love of a certain job is the greatest factor for success.

Ruth's old contract ends this season and you can gamble that he will shoot the works in order to be ready to talk business when the season is over. For that matter, he would play just about as hard if they made him pay admission to the park. The crowd has sensed this fact for a long time and it is one of the reasons why the crowd has flocked in his direction.

The Stars of 1919

Nineteen hundred nineteen sent three stars into the big headlines of sport. They were Ruth, Dempsey and Tilden.

Ruth had been a star before, but not an outstanding magnet. It was in 1919 that Dempsey flattened Willard and that Tilden started on his great march to tennis fame, just after he had lost to Bill Johnston at Forest Hills.

Ruth was the first of the three to get any publicity and he is still riding the heights, while Tilden is no longer the oldtime wonder and Dempsey is practically out of the ring.

It will be a long time before any other single year will send out three such headliners as Babe Ruth Jack Dempsey and Bill Tilden. It may not happen again in half a century—or a century. This type doesn't grow on every bush.

Bobby Jones is nearly nine years younger than Tilden or Ruth and is six years younger than Dempsey. Yet he got his first blast of fame some years before any of the others had collected any applause. Jones broke into large type as far back as 1916 and he should still be a headliner 10 years from now. He is the first competitor known to any game who caused an uproar in championship circles at the age of 14. And at the age of 14 he was mechanically almost as fine a golfer as he is today—minus the experience that 13 years of campaigning have to brought him.

"I always thought a post stuck in the ground was perfect balance," writes L. D. "If that isn't balance, what is it?" A post stuck in the ground. Balance is flexible, not fixed.

Impromptu Wrestling Match Leaves Dempsey Puffing in Corner

NEW YORK, April 16. (AP)—A good-natured rough and tumble wrestling match gave Jack Dempsey a private strenuous workout today and gave newspapermen, all rooting for his opponent, an insight into the former heavyweight king's physical condition.

Dempsey returned to New York from a scouting trip to Chicago and Detroit so enthusiastic over the fistic situation in general that he decided on a gymnasium workout "just to keep the fat off."

After stalling off all efforts to determine whether he would fight again, Dempsey tackled a big newspaperman who knew a few wrestling holds. Collars were twisted, neckties flew out, and clothes were ruffled and soiled in the frenzy that ended with the old man mauler wedged into a corner, puffing and all but conquered. He therefore decided to forego the first of conditioning gym drills he had planned for this afternoon.

Dempsey said he still had hopes of staging bouts this year both in Detroit and Chicago although he admitted his recent excursion westward to purchase the Detroit Olympic indoor arena had failed.

FORT WORTH, April 16. (AP)—The Fort Worth Cats, dressed in their new uniforms, took their final drill today. Wednesday they journey to Dallas to open the 1929 campaign.

International Elects New Prexy

NEW YORK, April 16. (UP)—Charles H. Knapp, president of the Baltimore club, will be the executive head of the International baseball league during 1929. It was decided today at a meeting of the league magnates.

No attempt was made to select a president to succeed the late John Conway Toole, who died last February, but Knapp was named chairman of an executive committee of three with all powers of president except in matters involving the Baltimore club. Such matters will be handled by Lawrence Selman, vice president of the circuit.

A president is expected to be named next December when the International league holds its winter meeting.

The jury trial was demanded by Bob Crain, attorney for the bondsmen, on the contention that Shook was surrendered back to the state while he was being held in jail on a murder charge. The bond, which bears the names of Otto Bierwirth and D. D. Pryor, is alleged to have been made for Shook's release on charges of burglary. It was estimated that 400 business houses were closed. Saloons, cafes and drug stores were open.

The entire action was described as a general protest to Governor Castellanos, Tampaulipis, that drivers of all automobiles must pay tax or not drive.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 16. (AP)—Relatively easy Liverpool cables and an improved weather forecast seemed to offset bullish features in cotton today and prices were generally lower. President's Message Fails to Give Stock Market Any Undue Thrill

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 16. (US)—Can and Chrysler featured an otherwise unsettled and extremely dull stock market today. Short covering caused recovery at the close that made up most of the early losses but despite the greater activity of the closing minutes of trading total turnover fell below 2,500,000 shares. Call money advanced from renewal of 8 to 9 per cent as the banks called in loans to meet the April 15 interest and dividend payments. Steel was in rather steady supply and lost 2⅜ for the session. Can gained 5½ and Chrysler finished 3⅜ higher while other active stocks showed but a point or less price change for the session. Oils were in good demand with Skelly taking leadership of the group. Copper shares were very soft early in the session while the rails remained dull and irregular.

The most pleasing part of President Hoover's talk to congress in so far as Wall street was concerned was his approval of the plan of congressional leaders to limit activity in the special session. Of course, there is bound to be speeches made by both senators and representatives about the reserve board, the stock market and the credit situation, so long as the leaders and the president agree. However, there is little or no chance of any legislation being passed. It is believed that the administration forces will put through agricultural relief legislation and the resulting benefits to the farmer should be refelected in mail order, agricultural implement and packing stocks when the credit situation is straightened out. Had it not been for the money nervousness all of these stocks undoubtedly would have made immediate response to the president's message.

Skelly Oil took leading place in the petroleum group due largely to activity of the Detroit interests who became associated with the management several months ago. They maintain that on the basis of sustained earnings and prospects for further improvement Skelly has been out of line with other oils. Pan American petroleum benefited from special analysis issued by one of the most active stock market exchange firms. It forecast earnings of from $8 to $10 a share for the current year. Standard of California is another oil that meets favor. Few in the East realize the benefits the company derives from its Kettleman Hills holdings.

Chrysler's outstanding strength was due largely to short covering influenced by the optimism expressed by President Chrysler at the annual meeting of stockholders. Anaconda and other copper shares continued under constant pressure. The decline in price of the Red Metal has proceeded more rapidly than had been expected. Anaconda interests obviously have withdrawn their support from the metal market but should be buyers again if the price drops any further. American Can holders are expecting a small stock dividend distribution later in the year. Crossley Radio earnings for the first half of this year, it is claimed, will break all records.

The Steel melon turns out to be more or less of a lemon. Offering of one share for seven at price of $140 a share gives the stockholders rights that are only worth a little over $5.50 a share at last night's closing price. The general expectation had been that the rights would be worth $18 a share at least. As pointed out here even rights of that value would not have been bullish at current price levels. As trading progressed today there were whispers that the steel directors would decide to offer the stock at a higher price than had been expected so that continual liquidation was experienced. Some of the offerings were reported coming from the Durant group as Durant sails for Europe tomorrow night.

Unions Urge Compensation

DALLAS, April 16. (AP)—Rail workers should receive compensation for their property when they are moved from one place to another in the same way that a property owner receives compensation from a city which condemns his land for a street for the public good, according to testimony given today by J. A. Gannon, representative of 4,000 employes of the Texas & Pacific railway, in the strike hearing before the federal board of mediation.

The board was named by President Herbert Hoover two weeks ago at the request of officials of the road in an effort to avert a strike voted by the men. The strike vote was taken after the road and men failed to agree over differences involving the removal of the roads division points from Longview and Marshall to Mineola and Shreveport. The men claimed compensation for property losses sustained by them in the move.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 16. (AP)—Nearly 5c a bushel tumble in wheat values today resulted from greatly enlarged selling that was associated with disappointment over proposed agricultural legislation at Washington. President Hoover's message relative to methods of overcoming farm difficulties was of no avail apparently as stimulus to buy, all grain prices finishing at virtually the day's lowest level.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsteady, 4⅛c to 4⅝c net lower, with corn 2⅛c to 3⅛c down, oats 1⅛c to 2c off, and provisions unchanged to 12c setback.

Downtourns in the price of wheat began right at the opening, and for a while the appearance of the trading pit suggested that something akin to a selling stampede was in progress, especially on the part of recent speculative buyers.

NICHOLS TRIAL OPENS TODAY

Wichitan Faces Charge In Spoonts Holdup

The second trial of R. B. Nichols, for robbery with firearms in connection with the holdup of the Spoonts Drug store at Ninth and Van Buren will be called in the 30th district court Wednesday morning. An earlier trial, held in January, resulted in a hung jury.

Nichols was indicted with Freddy Hostler and Joe Ireland. Hostler, whose second trial ended in acquittal Monday night, is to face a third trial, on a separate indictment growing out of the same holdup but involving the robbery of another man. The third trial was set Tuesday afternoon for April 29, according to an announcement from George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney. Joe Ireland is one of the state's principal witnesses.

Nichols is accused by the state of being the man who pulled a gun on J. M. Spoonts, owner of the store, on the night of the hijacking. In the former trial Nichols attempted to prove an alibi, claiming that he had gotton drunk early on Christmas night and had gone to bed in a room in a boarding house operated by his sister.

The case which is expected to follow the same lines as those developed in the earlier trial, will probably be finished Wednesday, attorneys said.

The visiting delegation was shown through the Charles Weeks small farm community by James Yeths, superintendent.

Following the inspection of the Kraft Cheese factory, under the direction of C. L. Teissler, manager, members of the group were served crackers and newly-made cheese. BAND LEADER HERO OF WAR

Captain Prevost Decorated By Many Nations

Capt. Arthur Prevost, who comes here Saturday as the leader of the Symphonic band of the Royal Belgian Guards, is probably the most decorated bandmaster in Europe. His service to the allied cause during the world war was recognized in awards of medals and decorations by practically all the allied governments, and he had already received, in the old days of peace, the similar recognition of Germany, Austria and other powers which became his enemies with the opening of hostilities in 1914.

Like all other allied officers, he renounced the wearing of enemy decorations with the beginning of the world war, and like most of them, he was too close to that conflict to have resumed them even now.

Captain Prevost is excessively modest about his decorations "They are not given to me, but to the great band which I have the honor to command," he insists, adding: "They should be worn on the standard of the band, rather than on my breast."

The historic flag of the band, incidentally, has itself been decorated several times, in accordance with the European custom of conferring honors upon the standard of a military organization which has distinguished itself as a complete unit.

Captain Prevost, on this tour, is making his first visit to America. "I have long felt the desire to visit Texas," he writes to the chairman of the committee here, "especially as I have long enjoyed the accomplishments of your musical people, especially your great bandmasters.

"I shall be specially interested in studying the abundant artistic life of America, and its musical manifestations and personalities. Your American music has a flair, a verve, and an esprit which is all its own. It has flavor; it has youth; it has stamina. For the past few years I have been studying your music, and I shall continue to do so. It interests me, even in those departments which are not adopted to use by a military band."

Programs for the two concerts here of the symphonic band were arranged by a committee, composed of members of the music committee of the Woman's Forum, Mrs. O. E. Nichols, chairman, and Miss Erma N. Voss, supervisor of music in the Wichita Falls public schools. The programs as announced Tuesday follow:

Three Wichita Falls Men Held In Series of Texas-Oklahoma Robberies

Raids In Randlett, Temple, Walters, Duncan, Burk, Iowa Park and Electra Attributed to Trio

Three Wichita Falls men, believed to be the trio who held up a filling station on the Iowa Park road and escaped after a chase and a gun battle with police officers two weeks ago, suspected of a part in the recent attempted Burkburnett bank robbery, in the holdup of the postoffice at Temple, Okla., and in a series of hijackings from Electra to Randlett, were arrested in Tulsa, Okla., Tuesday, according to word received here by Sheriff W. G. Bralley, who shared in the investigation which led to the arrests.

The three men, all ex-convicts, were arrested by federal postoffice inspectors who have been working with Mr. Bralley and Oklahoma officers since the Temple postoffice robbery. Three women were taken into custody at the same time, and a Buick automobile, believed to have been stolen two weeks ago from Paul Browning at Burkburnett, was seized.

At least eight robbery and burglary charges are already in preparation against the three in Walters and Duncan, Okla., and federal counts, involving the postoffice robbery and the transportation of the automomible will be filed, Mr. Bralley said. Any effort to identify the group as having part in the attempt to rob the First National bank at Burkburnett and in other Wichita county holdups will necessarily depend on the disposition of the other cases in both the Oklahoma state courts and the United States district court, Mr. Bralley said. He expects to make no immediate attempt at identification.

WICHITA BAR HONORS BAILEY

Resolutions Pay Tribute To Former Senator

The death of Joseph Weldon Bailey, "Texas' distinguished son whose name will be linked with the constitution as long as men revere the fundamental law," was the subject of resolutions drafted here Tuesday by Judge Edgar Scurry, chairman; R. H. Wilson, R. E. Taylor, B. Y. Cummings, W. E. Fitzgerald, and Judge W. W. Cook, comprising a committee appointed by Tarleton Morrow, president of the Wichita County Bar association.

The resolutions paying tribute to the former senator, who was buried at Gainesville Monday afternoon, were as follows:

"To the Hon. Tarlton Morrow, president Wichita County Bar association:

"Your committee, appointed today to draft resolutions upon the death of former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, presents the following:

"In humble submission, we mourn the passing of Texas' distinguished son. We shall miss him as statesman, lawyer, man and friend. We know that when his great head fell it leaned against a stricken, quivering heart that ne'er before had faltered.

"It is fitting that when the summons came he was within the bounds of the old fifth district that honored him so long and loved him so well, and that beneath its soil he rests this afternoon.

"As a lawyer he reached the heights to which the great alone can rise, and from such vantage ground peered to the deep foundation upon which our legal system rests. The constitution and his name are linked as long as men revere the fundamental law.

"As a statesman none towered above him. Leadership to him meant simply that he must go along his course within the constitution; and neither clamor nor applause could lure him from his way.

"As a man he was endowed with nature's rarest gifts—fine soul, fine mind, fine body, and he was true, withal, to the high standard of manly conduct.

"A friend he was to countless thousands, and throughout Texas, from end to end and side to side, they mourn his loss today and will miss him through the coming years.

"Resolved, therefore, that the Wichita County Bar association, in session at Wichita Falls, Texas, hereby expresses its sorrow to the family and friends on account of the death of our deceased fellow citizen; and, to them, expresses the hope and faith that, across the river, he rests under the shade of the trees.

"Resolved further, that a copy of these comments and resolutions be furnished the press and the wife and sons of the deceased."

Benzene and benzine are two totally different substances. To add to confusion, benzene was originally called benzine and is now often called benzol.

Abernathy to Recount Famous Ride Across U. S.

Members of the Lions club will be entertained in their weekly meeting Wednesday noon at the Y. W. C. A. by L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, and Dr. A. D. Pattillo.

Mr. Abernathy will describe the experiences of himself and a brother, Temple, when the two boys traveled on horseback from Southern Oklahoma in 1910 to New York city to visit Theodore Roosevelt shortly after the latter's return from his prolonged hunting trip in Africa. The two brothers had not yet reached their 'teens at the time of the long ride, and the feat received nation-wide attention. They drove a car back from New York after their visit with the former president, but in 1911 returned to the Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay again mounted their ponies and rode to San Francisco.

YOUR HOUSE NEED PAINT? . . . THEN—
Look to Both Ends of the Paint Brush
WHEN you paint your house, do as wise homeowners have done for generations. First, select a reputable painter, whose long experience insures a first-class job of paint application. Second, let pure lead paint be at the other end of the brush.
Then you'll have the two famous partners of the painting industry protecting and beautifying your house.
Master painters today use pure lead paint made with Dutch Boy white-lead. They mix it and tint it to meet the special requirements of the job. They use it on wood, stucco, concrete, brick, plaster, wall board . . . to produce fine types of interior as well as exterior finishes.

Dutch Boy white-lead is sold by paint dealers everywhere
