County Voters To Polls Saturday For Primaries

'LOADED' TRUCKS — LEGAL 'HANGOVER'

$50,000 Bourbon Staggers Officers

BY RUTH COFFEY
Record Staff Writer

It looked like liquor. It was liquor. It was about $50,000 worth of high-grade liquor, at wholesale prices. It was enroute from Kentucky to Los Angeles, Calif.

It was sailing along, smoothly enough, right through Colorado City, via huge, silver transport truck, via Highway 80, Tuesday. And that's when trouble began. Two out-of-state drivers of the big transport drove into trouble, trouble, and more trouble with all that liquor here Tuesday afternoon when they were first stopped. Wednesday morning, their troubles landed them in jail.

Stopped near Roundtop cafe by Texas Department of Public Safety license and weight officer Rip Allen, the two first faced charges of driving a truck two feet too long plus driving without a Railroad Commission permit. Later there was the matter of hauling alcohol on a public highway without proper papers.

Justice of Peace T. E. Arnold who happened to be riding with Allen, heard the first charges and fined the two brothers, Marvin L. Jennings and Murry Jennings, $40.50. Theirs was one of three trucks inspected and fined for overlength, over-weight, or lack of proper credentials here in precinct one J. P. court.

Officer Allen next became interested in contents of the transport marked "Pacific and Atlantic Shipping" and driven by the Jennings brothers, who are 27 and 32 years old. Their home, testimony shows, is Sun Valley, Calif.

C. B. Arnold, State Liquor Control Board, called over from Big Spring, and Allen found the truck hauling 950 cases of full quarts of name-brand whiskey. The Jenningses had said they were hauling "California red wood furniture."

Criminal charges of transporting liquor on a public highway without the mandatory written statement were then filed in Mitchell County Court.

County Attorney Frank Ginzell acted as state's attorney with County Judge Elmer Martin hearing criminal charges.

Harry Ratliff and Austin McCloud are representing the defendants. Judge Martin set bond at $500 each, as requested by Ginzel. Unable to make bond, so far the Jennings brothers were still in Mitchell County jail at noon Thursday. Attorney for alleged owners of truck and contents is said to be enroute to Colorado City.

More charges were filed in District Court by Liquor Control Board member C. B. Arnold, seeking to confiscate both transport and contents.

Contents were variously estimated to be worth between $40,000 and $50,000 wholesale and the arrest may have been, local law enforcement officers said, "The largest single liquor haul ever made in Texas."

The whiskey board in the haul were early times (full quota) and old forreign (4/5th quarts.)

Along with the criminal charging "unlawful possession" in a dry county. Mitchell County has been legally "dry" since June, 1904, a period of 58 years.

Federal Officer Kirkpatrick arrived here Thursday at noon. He was in town checking possibility that federal laws have been violated by the still-jailed pair. If federal laws have been broken by the two "just driving through" that means more trouble for them. Sure enough trouble.

JUST PHONE JAYCEES

Free Transportation To Polls Saturday

Colorado City Jaycees have again announced a service of free transportation to the polls Saturday, May 5, date of the Texas First Primary.

Austin McCloud, Junior Chanmber president, in making the transportation offer emphasized today the importance of every voter's casting a vote in the Saturday election.

Jaycees will provide, McCloud said, free transportation to and from polls for any citizens without means of getting there.

Central telephone number for the service is RA 8-3403, Chamber of Commerce office number. Calling that number and leaving name and address will bring free transportation to the door of voters needing the service.

"Vote as you please, but please vote, this Saturday" is the Jaycee slogan once more this election time.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Backs Project Back Project

Kiwanis Club members officially joined with Lions Club and Jaycee members, Tuesday evening, with Kiwanis backing of the Foreign Exchange Student program here. Next day, first formal application papers were mailed, asking that Colorado City High School be host to a foreign exchange student.

In a meeting of Kiwanis board of directors that civic club made financial support of the move unanimous. Plan advanced by Colorado City chapter of American Field Service is for the town's three service clubs — Kiwanis, Lions, and Jaycees — to subscribe to the student exchange fund on a pro rata (number of members) basis.

Business & Professional Women's Club donated $100 to the fund. Hesperian Study Club gave $20. All women's clubs are being invited to participate in the current drive for funds. J. R. Ridley is treasurer. Contributions, of any amount, may be taken or mailed to him.

Student Council at high school, where the campaign to host another foreign student during 62-63 school term began, have a new committee at work on details concerning the student body plan for 50 cents per pupil donations to the fund.

Minimum budget of $1,000 was set up by finance committee members, headed by Dr. R. D. Bridgford and J. O. Wood. Of the first amount, $650 is to be sent immediately if and when local application is accepted by the national Field Service organization.

Committee to choose a home for the student from applications submitted is to be named by Mrs. George O. Witten when the local chapter receives notice of its first-step approval.

Out-of-Towners to Join Mahon Salute

George Mahon, a man with honor in his home county, his state, and nation, will be in town Friday, May 11, to help celebrate Tumbleweed Festival Week.

Friday is Mahon Day. Colorado City, Mitchell County, and a group of visiting dignitaries will offer vocal and visible honor that day with a "Salute to George Mahon" luncheon in Civic House.

Congressman George H. Mahon, head of the power-packing House Military Appropriations Sub-Committee, Mrs. Mahon, and Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert have accepted this town's invitation to take part in Colorado City's biggest annual event.

Charles C. Thompson, banker-rancher-attorney and lifelong friend of the Congressman from this Texas district, will act as master of ceremonies for the Mahon Day luncheon hour. AAF Secretary Zuckert will be among the main speakers. To be featured in musical numbers is the Texas Technological College choir, from Lubbock. The choir will also sing several numbers as part of the Friday evening Tumbleweed Queen pageant in Colorado City High School gymnasium.

Reservations for the luncheon paying tribute to Congressman Mahon are growing fast, the Chamber of Commerce office reported Thursday. Reservations can be made at the chamber office, according to Dick Kendall, manager of the Chamber of Commerce which annually sponsors Tumbleweed Festival activities. Tickets can be bought by any citizen, at $2.50 per person.

Out of town dignitaries who have accepted invitations to attend the May 11 Salute to Mahon luncheon and other festivities include Mr. and Mrs. Beeman Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baker of Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whipkey, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Orme, Mr. and Mrs. Stormy Thompson, Lester D. Morton, and Raymond Tollett, all of Big Spring.

GOP LEAGUE IN ACTION

Republicans' Primary Makes History Here

Republicans make history here Saturday.

They'll vote in their first Mitchell County primary election.

And their leaders vow their action heralds a Republican Party movement that in the future will offer candidates for every level of office— from precinct and up.

The primary — which, incidentally, leaves no doubt about the two party system reaching Mitchell County — has been arranged by Glenn R. (Bob) Robinson, Republican county chairman, and members of the newly-formed Mitchell County Republican League.

Balloting will be from 7 a. m. until, 7 p. m. Earnest Estate Building, 100 block of Walnut, with, Lon Allmond as election judge.

Following up one week later at 10 a. m. Saturday, May 12 — will be the Republican's County Convention.

The Republican ballot Saturday lists candidates for five top state offices — two with competition — plus two Congressional posts. In addition are the state constitutional issues — (1) racetrack parimutuel betting, (2) the poll tax — and a referendum concerning the establishment of State or National Park on Padre Island.

Jack Cox of Breckenridge and Roy Whittenburg of Amarillo are the Republican candidates for governor while O. W. (Bill) Hayes of Temple and Kellis Dibrell of San Antonio are the opponents for Republican nomination to lieutenant governor.

Unopposed on the Republican ballot for state offices are Bernold M. Handson of Midland, for Railroad Commissioner; Albert B. Fay of Houston, State Land Commissioner; Harry J. Hubbard of Presidio, Commissioner of Agriculture.

Dennis Taylor of Crosby County, who has made campaign appearance in Mitchell County, is unopposed for Republican nomination for Congress — which will place him against Colorado City's George Mahon in next fall's general election.

In a three-way race for Congressman at Large are 3 Republicans — Desmond A. Barry of Houston, Giles Mifler of Dallas, Joe B. Phillips of Lubbock.

"Texas is now a two-party state," said Robinson, "as last year's U. S. Senate race so definitely pointed out.

We believe this two-party system should be at the grass roots level . . . in the home counties . . . and that's the reason for our first Republican Primary here."

Robinson said that Republican Party leaders here believe, since there are contested races within their party, that the primary is essential in order that all persons, who so desire, can express their choice by ballot in the Republican Primary.

"But there is more to it," the party chairman added, "for we believe the Republican Primary also provides the only sure way to protect against the New Frontier's left wing philosophy . . . and to build real conservative candidates from the local level right on up through regional state and national offices.

"This is a thoughful, serious political movement for we believe Republicanism is best for the sound government. That's why we are putting our support behind Dennis Taylor in his race against Congressman George Mahon."

MILITARY BAND TO PLAY

Air Force Band To Join Parade

The Air Force Band headquartered at Amarillo will be a major feature of next Friday's Tumbleweed parade. Announcement of their scheduled appearance here was tan, made to Bob Reily, parade marshal.

Bringing official conformation of the band's acceptance of Colorado City's Tumbleweed invitation was Capt. Donald Jonker, information officer from Webb Air Base. Captajin Jonker met with the parade committee here Wednesday.

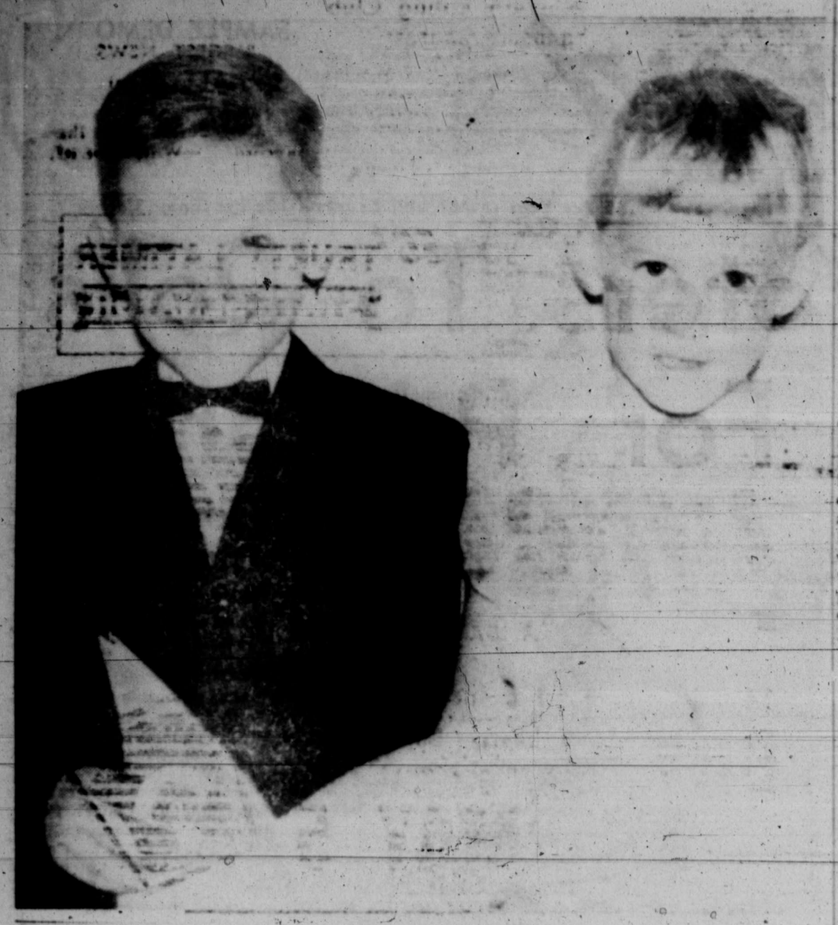

Other bands sure to march are Colorado City High School band and Loraine High School band. Yet to be heard from are bands at Roscoe, Merkel, Ruled Post, Coahoma, Bronte, Stanton, Forsan, Hamlin, Abilene, and Stamford.

Heading the parade will be a number of visiting V. I. P.'s — Congressman George H. Mahon, Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert, and other guests here to celebrate Mahon Day.

Parade will form at Second and Austin Streets and is to start promptly at 2:30 o'clock, Friday. Its course will be down Second from Austin to Oak. Disbanding will take place at Court House square.

About twenty decorated floats will be entered and sponsored by Colorado City business men. Loraine, Big Spring, Brownfield firms have also notified parade backers of intenfions to enter a float from each of those towns. All floats will be done in Tumble-

TO FORT WORTH AND WEATHERFORD

Colorado City Garden Club Returns From Pilgrimage

Members of the Colorado City Garden Club were in Fort Worth and Weatherford Monday to make their annual pilgrimage. The group visited the Texas Garden Club head quarters building, the Botanic Garden and Iris Test Garden in Fort Worth and toured the Chandor Gardens in Weatherford on the return trip.

Mrs. Ben Elliott described the Chandor Gardens. She said, "The late Douglas Chandor created the gardens out of a rocky hill. A little bridge leads to the front door of his home where his wife distributes brochures about the gardens and Douglas Chandor. The house is white painted brick with ivy clinging to the walls wherever you look. An open porch is at one end, looking out three ways over the different gardens. On the other end of the porch are big windows where the window portrait of Queen Elizabeth is displayed. The Queen's husband was commissioned to paint the portrait when Elizabeth was a princess.

"Just of the house is the bowling green, one of the garden's highlights. The grass is a brilliant shade of green and looks like velvet. Behind the green is a small garden with little statues of squirrels and rabbits. Throughout the gardens are Japanese statues and lanterns.

"The other gardens are located on the other side of the house. The winding stream filled with huge goldfish and all kinds of water plants separates the house and gardens. Overhead are trellises holding wisteria and other plants. There is a small boat in the water with 'S. S. Chandor' painted on its side.

"On the other side of the house, the scene looks like the outdoor setting for a Roman movie. There is a wide circular walk, white columns that support vine-covered rafters and a gorgeous tree, under which are bricks for Roman numerals showing the year the garden was started. Shrubs, flowers and iris grow profusely.

"At the end of the walk is a large hole made in the brick wall. Through it is viewed a miniature waterfall with beautiful flowers cascading down the rocks.

"Down another walk is the pool Mr. and Mrs. Chandor spent 2 years building, baking the clay tiles in their kitchen oven. A huge Chinese fountain in the center spurts water 20 feet into the air. Off to the side is a tiny pool built in the side of the rock which has a little waterfall and chinese figures in it. This is all surrounded by azalea bushes and wisteria. Magnolia and pine trees cover the scene that was once only a rocky hill with 6 trees."

Mrs. Elliott finished her description by telling of Chandor's efforts to complete the gardens before his death. She said, "Chandor worked on the gardens for 17 years, and at the time of his death was still planning a giant waterfall which would feed water to all the streams. His wife charges $1 admission to the gardens and this will go into a fund to be used to complete the waterfall."

Accompanying Mrs. Elliott on the pilgrimage were: Mmes. L. L. Comer, Roy Coles, Earl Brown, John Brown, G. D. Foster, A. H. Jackson and L. J. Taylor.

The group also visited gardens in Abilene on the return trip.

Junior High Students Present Play

"If Boys Wore Skirts" was the title of the one-act comedy play presented at the Junior High School Auditorium today (Thursday) at 1:30 p. m.

In the play, the boys all wore skirts which they accepted as their proper apparel. This was because they had never worn anything else — however, they remained very rugged and masculine.

The girls were very sweet and feminine — in slacks.

Characters in the play were: Connie, a modern girl, portrayed by Sylvia Minatree; Arlene, Connie's friend, played by Martha Masters; Matt, a problem boy, Austin Helm; Barney, Matt's pal, played by Bill Smith; Miss Crawford, a history teacher, portrayed by Willie Mae Bradley; Margie, a girl in the band, Glenna Sue Bearden; Chuck, a handsome boy on the football team, Ricky Houston.

Elsa, played by Mary Contrerez; Dick, played by Milton Harp; Herbie, played by Robert Salazar, Oscar, a hospital attendant, David Way and Phil, a drum major, Randy Phillips.

Grace Hollaway was announcer. The place was a history class and the time was the present with a glimpse at the possible future.

HOME TOWN

Talk

By PEGGY BELVIN

THE LORAINE SENIOR CLASS left Wednesday for their annual Senior Trip to NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA. . . . Brings back memories of another May . . . 2 years ago . . . when this writer boarded the same school bus for a similar trip.

Such a long trip with such treasured friends and a week in such a glorious city is memory-making. Along with sponsors, it was a very young and very unworldly group of senior students who left that small town in May, 1960.

* * *

NEW ORLEANS IN MAY is a sight not many Texans will soon forget. The swamplands, decked out in a hundred different shades of green and crawling with alligators and turtles and brushed by the wings of exotic-looking birds was something that these small-town kids had never seen "down on the farm."

Excursions along beautiful CANAL STREET, broken in the center by gardens of native foliage, first rides on trolley cars and a ride up and down a length of the MISSISSIPPI RIVER on a paddle-wheel ferry boat with 5 decks and 5 ballrooms and quiet tours through residential sectour through the cathedral, a colorful but solemn street bedded permanently in the memories of those 25 starry-eyed youngsters.

Very awed and very insignificant they felt as they strolled along BOURBAN STREET and through the fairy-land beauty of the FRENCH QUARTER.

A new appreciation for art galleries and museums were gained as they viewed sights that brought them face-to-face with history. Old ships and armor, guns and historical documents, old jails and uniforms . . . the famed HANGING TREE, plus the death mask of NAPOLEON done in bronze 30 minutes after his death all helped to create a historical atmosphere in the huge gloomy museums. Preserved in glass cases were the award-winning MARDI GRAS costumes and headdresses.

* * *

ONE OF THE MOST BREATH-TAKINGLY BEAUTIFUL sights in New Orleans was the ST. LUIS CATHEDRAL, located in the heart of the French Quarter. After a guided tour through the cathredral, a colorful but solemn street ceremony celebrated the anniversary of the highest church official in the cathedral. The brillant maroon-colored robes of the church officials plus the black robes and white headdresses of the students contrasted sharply against the somber but beautiful exterior of the old cathedral.

* * *

Swims in huge PONCETRAIN LAKE, browses through curio and antique shops, watching the loading and unloading procedures on the docks fringing the Mississippi and stealing glances through fancy grill work gates that close off gorgeous back-yard patios claimed the fast-flying time alloted for the trip.

Meals were in various FRENCH CUISINES, with such delicacies as SHRIMP, LOBSTER and other native foods introduced to the hamburger and fried chicken palates of the Texas youngsters.

The scenery was breath-taking, the food delicious, the people bronzed and dark-haired and the Mississippi raging, dangerous and beautiful . . . but when the bus crossed the LOUISIANA-TEXAS line on the return trip . . . the REBEL YELL that burst forth could be made by no one but TEXANS.

TO TEXAS REHABILITATION CENTER

New Donations Total Over $200

New donations to the local fund to contribute to the state wide emergency fund-raising campaign to keep Texas Rehabilitation Center, near Gonzales, in operation has been swelled by over $200 in the past 2½ weeks.

Miss Bette Williams, Snyder Highway, is spearheading the local drive. The drive here is part of the state-wide campaign being conducted by former patients of the center.

Each former patient works in his or her community to raise funds for the center, which is in danger of closing because of financial difficulties. The patients head fund-raising drives and appeal to state and national officials for their help.

TRC is a part of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation and is located approximately 12 miles northwest of Gonzales. It is a non-profit, non-sectarian, charitable corporation, organized in 1937 by a group of Gonzales business and professional men.

The Buildings, equipment and other assets represent more than $2 million dollars of Texas generosity. The entire center is divided into 6 principal units, some of which have already been closed for lack of funds and others in grave danger of closing.

The Gonzales Unit was the orginal building. It has not been used for patient care since July, 1959. The Fort Worth Unit was built and equipped in 1948. It has been closed since July, 1959. The Houston Unit was ready for occupancy early in 1948. It houses an office for 1 physician, x-ray facilities, a clinical laboratory and an indoor treatment pool. On the lower floor is a brace shop, shoe shop, leather-working section and laundry.

The Medical Administration Building and the Cullen Unit house the out-patient and in-patient clinics, consultation rooms, library, offices, Wheel Chair Chapel and schoolrooms. The Middl and Building is the focal point of many Foundation activities. Large areas for physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy are housed in this building.

The 3,000 ex-patients of the center are all working toward the goal of financial security for the center. As a part of the work, the patients write letters to peisons who are in a position to help the center. Miss Williams have received letters attesting their help for TRC from Price Daniel, Governor of Texas and Lyndon B. Johnson, vice-president of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wasson contributed $200 to the local fund. Othr contributors were Bernie Grable Service Station, Bill Hammons Service Station and Master Cleaners.

Miss Williams asks that anyone wishing to gain further information about the center's activities or to make a contribution, to call her at RA 8-4092 or to write her on Route 1.

"INVITED GUEST INTO MORE THAN THREE-FOURTHS OF MITCHELL COUNTY HOMES"

CROSSWAYS ETQRT

—from Dallas Perkins

There is a lot of criticism of our welfare programs. You hear about all kinds of fraud and swindles. Like the people getting a hand-out of surplus food and driving off with it in a new Cadillac car.

My opponents are opposed to all these programs. They say if these people on welfare had any iniative they would be getting a big soil bank check or a twenty seven and a half per cent depletion allowance, or even inheriting a big department store. Then they wouldn't need welfare.

But both of these perennial politicians that I'm running against have been on the public payroll almost ever since they were old enough to vote. After they lose this election, they may be glad they passed all those welfare programs.

TOWN'S NEWEST INDUSTRY

Dividend Declared By Gin Share Value, Show Gain

Colorado City's newest industry, Farmers Gin and Supply Company, Incorporated, is showing a profit. Board of directors for that new company, organized and incorporated Sept. 6, 1961, have declared a dividend totaling $11,948.48.

That amount was announced here Wenesday following a meeting of stockholders in Civic House Tuesday afternoon at two p. m. Perry Bowles, Looney community farmer-stockman, is chairman of the board. Bob Golden is company president.

There are now 52 stockholders in the new venture. Thirty-four holders of stock and Farmers Gin and Supply customers heard the declaration of dividend and reports for the first six months operation in the Tuesday session presided over by Bowles.

A total of 4,050 bales of cotton were ginned in the first season, late '61 and early '62. Shares in the corporation, originally sold at $10 per share, are now bringing $12.76 per share.

During the recent season the gin paid $1.77 dividend per bale ginned, plus $1.62 dividend per bale to stock owning cotton growers.

Total assets of the gin are now listed at $118,105.00, with total liabilities of $38,690.05, total net profit of $21,914.95. Total capital now hits the $79,414.95 mark.

At Tuesday's meeting Harry Ratliff, counsel for the company, gave a brief history of the corporation.

In business session all members of board of directors were re-elected. They are Bowles, Golden, Foy Webb, Dennis Fortenberry, Tex Keel, Dave Stubblefield; Sam Thompson, secretary; Bob Ratliff, assistant secretary. Henry Lewis is auditor.

Wayland Webb was manager of the gin, 245 Bridge St here, through April 1. Manager for the coming season has yet to be named, board members said this week.

DEMOS—

Democrat voters will be the warmly contested race for Governor of Texas. Six candidates are seeking election to the governorship on the party's ticket. Even so, feeling in the biggest race of all has been running only mildly high in Mitchell County.

Marshall Formby 'of Hale County, former Railway Commissioner and early owner of KVMC radio station here leads off the Demo ticket. Edwin A. Walker, Kerr County, who resigned as general in the United States Army after certain controversies follows.

Price Daniel, Liberty County, Governor of Texas who seeks an unprecedented fourth term re-election is third man on the official ballot. Will Wilson, Dallas County, former attorney general of Texas; Don Yarbrough 36-year-old Harris County attorney; and John Connally, Tarrant County, recently resigned Secretary of the U. S. Navy are other gubernatorial candidate names, in that order, from which Democrats are to choose this go-round.

There is only one contest for a county wide office, that of county treasurer with Mary Lee Moore, Eula G. McClure, and Mary T. Post, all of Colorado City making that race.

Race for state senator of 24th district also finds three in the running. Dallas Perkins of Taylor County, David Ratliff of Jones County, (seeking re-election to a third term) and Truett Latimer, Taylor County, seek the state senate seat from this district.

Max D. Carriker, 80th district representative, running for re-election, is faced with of Nolan County and Giles two opponents—Van Baucum Bradford of Nolan.

For associate justice of Supreme Court, place three, Zollie Steakley, making his first election race to hold the place to which he was appointed, has one opponent, Williard (Bill) Street of Lamb County. Steakley is the brother of Dr. H. Jene Steakley of Colorado City.

Hottest thing on the Demo ballot in this county is the race in Westbrook where eight contenders for the job of county commissioner, precinct two (Westbrook) have been waging campaigns for election. W. N. Bacon asks re-election, there.

The eight precinct two names appear in this order on the First Primary ballot: W. N. (George) Bacon, George Dawson, Drue Cawthorn, J. L. (Bill) Rees, W. L. (Doc) Sweatt, Altis (Puny) Clemmer, E. L. Ashford, and Thomas E. Lewis.

Loraine, too, has a contest between three would-be-commissioners for precinct four. Moody Richardson, present commissioner, faces C. E. (Jack) Walker, and J. M. Templeton.

Both Democrats and Republicans will vote for or against three proposals printed at the bottom of both party official ballots. Texas is asked to vote for or against the submitting of a Constitutional amendment to legalize parimutuel wagering on horse races as number one proposition.

Number two is number one's team-mate. Voters will vote for or against a law legalizing parimutuel wagering on horse races with the State and track sharing 14% of the parimutuel pool, home county receiving 2%, all other counties receiving half the net State share on basis of county population.

Proposition three gives all Texans an opportunity to vote for or against a Constitutional Amendment to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite to the right for voting.

PRECINCT MEETS SATURDAY

County Demos Will Convene

Precinct meetings for all Mitchell County Democrats are coming up Saturday, May 5, First Primary day.

Precinct two, with Homer Gregory as chairman, will meet at Westbrook School, 2 p. m.

Precinct three, headed by Wright Hock as chairman, will select county delegates in a meeting at the home of Robert Bolin, Spade community.

In Loraine, precinct four, J. C. Hall, Jr., will preside over that town's precinct convention in the office of the Mitchell County News.

Harry Ratliff, Mitchell County Demo chairman, in announcing precinct conventions, pointed out that one delegate will be chosen for every 25 votes cast in any precinct in the last general presidential election, Nov. 1960.

Precincts will also ready resolutions to be presented at the May 12 county gathering of Democratic forces here. One delegate for every 300 votes cast Nov. 1960, is the ratio to be chosen by county party members in session for attendance to state convention to be held in June.

FINAL DISTRICT GAME SATURDAY

Wolves Clinch Title With S'water Triumph

You don't have to wait until they play Lamesa High Saturday in Lamesa.

You can call 'em champs now . . . and rightfully so.

Coach Ken Kearns and his efficient Colorado City High baseball team kayoed Sweetwater Tuesday, 10 to 1, in Sweetwater. And with the impressive victory, they assured themselves of the undisputed 1962 District 3-AAA baseball championship.

Their final district contest is Saturday in Lamesa, but the game will have no bearing on the championship.

The most that the Saturday final can do . . . would be to ruin a perfect district record for the Wolves, who have won all five games without a defeat.

While the Wolves were plastering Sweetwater again Tuesday, Snyder was beating defending champion Lamesa, 3 to 1, in Snyder.

That had little bearing on the race, too, because neither of Snyder or Lamesa had a chance to catch C-City, as the Wolves beat Sweetwater. About the only thing it did was put Snyder and Lamesa in a tie for second place, 2 wins and 3 losses each, to await this week's final games before deciding the runner-up to the Wolves.

The Wolves, who have combined timely and powerful hitting with Steve Hillhouse's masterful pitching all season, repeated the combination Tuesday in walloping Sweetwater, 10 to 1.

Mustang batters couldn't touch Hillhouse except for 4 hits all afternoon. Their only score came in the sixth inning.

Colorado, led by Mike Hart and Charlie Houston, embarrassed Sweetwater pitching by slamming out 15 hits. Hart, by the way hit 4 for 4 including a double. And Houston connected for another home run.

Just to be sure nobody threw a firecracker into their championship plans, the Wolves scored 2 runs in the first inning. That was enough really, but 3 more were added in the third, one each in the fourth and fifth, two in the sixth and one more in the seventh.

Saturday the Wolves knocked Snyder for a loop, 9 to 2, as Hillhouse was tough enough in the pinches although giving up 11 hits.

Third Baseman Denzil Pendergrass put the Wolves on the road to victory for sure in the fifth inning when he homered with two teammates on base. Previously, the Wolves had gone ahead, 2 to 0, with an uprising in the third.

* * *

—The Snyder Tigers defeated the Lamesa Tornadoes, 3-1 in Snyder Tuesday afternoon to pull into a tie for second at 2-3 in the District 3-AAA standings with Lamesa.

A double by Steve Free, a triple by Bob Smith and a double by Harley Bynum accounted for two Snyder runs in the first inning, all winner Leonard Mathews needed.

Robert Hollmann doubled for Lamesa.

Misses Sue Holman and Janie Lee received State Degrees in Homemaking last weekend at the state Future Homemakers of America Meeting in Dallas. Miss Holman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Holman and Miss Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Lee. Both girls are junior students in Colorado City High School.

Attending the 3-day meeting with Misses Holman and Lee were Mary Ann Lipps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farris Lipps, Mary Glenda Dunn and the chapter advisor, Mrs. Jay Craddock and Mr. Craddock.

The girls represented the local high school chapter of FHA and Miss Lee, local chapter president served as voting delegate.

Miss Marilyn Selcraig, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Jack Selcraig, former residents of Colorado City, also received a State Degree at the meeting. The Selcraigs are now residing in Houston.

A State Degree is the culmination of 3 years of outstanding work in FHA. The recipient must have received a Junior and Chapter Degree the previous year. The degree is made up of personal goals, community goals, school, chapter and home goals. Each girl sets up her own goals to work toward in these 4 divisions.

Theme of the meeting was "Values Point the Way for FHA." Keynote speaker for the first morning session was Dr. James A. Jauncey of El Paso.

Highlighting the afternoon session was the conferring of State Degrees for the 300 outstanding FHA members of Texas.

Friday night was the date scheduled for the "FHA Miss America" pageant and the Saturday morning session included business discussions.

FIRST PRIMARY BALLOTS

Absentee Vote Total Is Heavy

Absentee ballots cast in this week's First Primary total 128 to date, County Clerk Gilbert Leach said today.

Number of absentee votes has proved unusally heavy, "About twice the number of the last early primary, "Leach said.

Formerly held in July, this First Primary is the second primary election to be held in the month of May.

Ballots mailed in by absentee voters indicate keen interest in state, county, and district officials vying for places on November's General Election — or on the Second Primary ballot, for Saturday, June 2, when run-off races will be held.

There's No Sport In Pari-Mutuel Betting

Our experience in placing pari-mutel bets at a race track isn't lengthly, not at all.

But our experience in crime and police reporting can be counted in years —through metropolitan cities as well as small.

And you will hunt far and long before finding a competent, dedicated police officer who does not fear the consequence of race track gambling within his area.

That's because police, from experience, know the consequences—the lawlessness that breeds from race track gambling, the threat that comes from syndidate crime with its ugly paws in gambling, the breakdown in family relations among so many who succumb to the lure of the gambling window, the damaging effect upon the lives of many youngsters.

Horse-racing long has been a vehicle for the major operation of organized crime in the United States. To legalize pari-mutuel betting in Texas would be like sending an invitation to organized crime and all its diversified interests to bring their corrupting power to our state.

Make no mistake about it, the same forces that control the operations of pari-mutuel betting are active in prostitution, narcotics, protection rackets, killing for hire, illegal liquor traffic and virtually every other facet of crime. To give these criminals a legitimate reason to be in Texas would be foolish.

Statistics quoted by the proponents of pari-mutuel betting indicate they expect this to be a multi-billion dollar business in our state.

But to gather the 15 million dollars they cite as being available to charities and schools through the state government's share of the betting, the total betting gross in Texas would have to be over one billion dollars a year.

This is about $100 annually for every man, woman and child in Texas—nearly double the amount the average school child spends on school lunches for the entire school year.

It is doubtful that our Texas economy can afford to divert into the channels of betting and its hanger-on crime more than one billion dollars of the wages, salaries and earnings of Texas people.

A few years ago some of the residents of Port Arthur and Beaumont felt that because so much money was being spent at the gambling tables and on vice and prostitution, that it was a good thing for the cities. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

In the year following the clampdown on vice and organized crime in the Gulf coast cities, bank deposits have risen more than $15 million . . . almost exactly the amount of the estimate of annual gambling losses in those cities prior to the investigation.

Years earlier, the same lesson was learned in the Dallas-Fort Worth area where the fame Arlington Downs race track operated and the criminal element played havoc.

Pari-mutel gambling isn't a sport. And the good citizens of Mitchell County had best realize this Saturday when they vote on the question in our state primaries.

Dividends In Clean Up Campaign

Keeping Colorado City clean, beautiful, healthful and safe is not only good citizenship but good business.

This project maintains and improves real estate values. It prevents fires and lowers insurance rates.

Statistics show that it even cuts down on loss of time to sickness and improves employe morale. And of course, there is the extra amount of community spirit, civic responsibility and respect for property—pride, if you want to use the word —which it develops, too.

Business wheels turn in clean, well-kept and safe communities. For the attractive and well-organized has a tendency to encourage and increase business.

Check any industrial development expert and the appearance and living conditions of a city are among the first checked by a prospective industry. Even though a community has practical and natural resources, it can snuf out its chances for new industry when it is shabby and run-down.

For, most industries believe, that if a community isn't interested enough in its own belongings to give them the best of care, then it won't regard the properties, personnel and assets of the industry too highly.

So, you see, this Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up campaign started by the Chamber of Commerce is not just for publicity. It is a good project with practical benefits to all the community.

When we all give our full and wholehearted support to this campaign—realizing its true worth—then it will provide full measure dividends for all of us.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Science Farming Is Like Fishing

Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses scientific farming this week, a subject rather strange for him.

* * *

Dear editar:

A lot of people lately have been talking about scientific farming. I've been noticing, and I have been giving this idea considerable thought.

They say, a farmer has to get scientific if he intends to make it on the land these days, and I guess they're right in one way, but in another way I'm afraid they'll find it takes more than science to farm. What more, I can't put my finger on right now.

I mean, scientific farming is sort of like scientific fishing. If you've got a high-powered boat to get you to the fishing spots and all the modern gear and tackle to catch them with, you can catch some fish, maybe more than the man sitting on the bank with a pole, but you won't catch them all the time.

You can have all the farming equipment available to man, all the scientific know-how on insects, poisons, fertilizers, soils, etc., but that doesn't mean you're going to wind up every year with a profit, or even with much of a crop some years.

I read in a newspaper last night where a farmer was talking to a group of city people studying the farm problem and he told them "it's not just a matter of intelligence as to whether you make a success of farming or not," and of course he's right. Intelligence helps, I suppose, I'm not too experienced along that line, but I doubt if you could say the most successful farmers around here is the most intelligent, any more than you could say the most successful business man in town is the most intelligent.

Or take politics. Politics is sort of like farming. Intelligence helps, provided you haven't got too much, but there's a whole lot of luck involved. That is, the successful politician's luck, not necessarily the people's.

Understand, I'm in favor of scientific farming. It works, I know. I've seen my neighbors do it. But it takes more than science to farm, just as it takes more than science to raise a kid. What that extra is, don't ask me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Long-Lasting Decisions Face Voters In Pari-Mutuel Issues

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Whether voters take part in the democratic or republican primary elections Saturday, they'll face a mighty long list of decisions regarding national, state and county offices — plus the much-touted question of parimutuel betting on the horse races.

Democrats will attack the matter on two fronts:

"FOR (or AGAINST) the Legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horse races."

"FOR (or AGAINST) the Legislature to enact a law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse races with the state and the track sharing 14 per cent of the pari-mutuel pool, the home county receiving two per cent of the total pool, and all other counties receiving one-half the net state share on the basis of population. No racing on Sunday."

Democrats fathered the issue after 200,000 voters petitioned the State Democratic Executive Committee to submit the proposal on the primary ballot to meet legal requirements for including specific legislation in the party platform.

Republicans added the issue to their ballot too, and phrased the following proposition:

"FOR (or AGAINST) the State Legislature of Texas submitting, for vote of the people of Texas, a constitutional amendment which would legalize pari-mutuel wagering in Texas, on a local county option basis."

Both parties will take a sampling of voter sentiment on the question of repealing the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting.

Should the proposals carry on May 5, it probably would be two or more years before either issue is settled. They would have to pass by two-thirds majorities in both houses of the Legislature, and then win a majority vote of the people in a statewide election. Which likely would be the November election of 1964.

NEW LIFE — Congressman-at Large race took on new life with Internal Revenue's verification that Judge W. W. Bean of El Paso, generally regarded as the leading candidate in that race had not filed an income tax report since 1952.

One of his opponents, Phil Willis of Kaufman County, who calls himself "the middle-of-the-road democrat", immediately demanded that Bean "withdraw from the race and apologize to El Paso newspapers and organizations that have endorsed him."

Bean's reply to newsmen was that he didn't believe in the income tax and that the government already had taken the money out of his paycheck in withholding taxes.

"MERIT" PLAN — If the Texas Supreme Court inherits a recent traffic law case from the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals, State Board of Insurance's merit-rating plan of auto insurance rates, as well as the whole driver license suspension law, could be upset.

Court of Appeals upheld a Bexar County court ruling that when 28-year-old Billy Van Williams mailed in his payment for a traffic fine, it was not a "conviction" on which his driver's license could be suspended.

When Insurance Board Chairman Ned Price learned of the decision, he said: "My quick opinion is that if the courts finally hold such are not convictions, then they would not be, for purposes of the point system of the safe driving insurance plan."

If the Department of Public Safety appeals the case to the Supreme Court and that court approves the appellate court's decision, a driver then could avoid the "extra punishment" of higher insurance rates and loss of license by paying his fine by mail.

HEALTH & SAFETY TIPS

Early Meal Habit Is Weight Factor

(Prepared for Colorado City Record by the American Medical Association.)

Faulty eating habits started in early childhood often are the cause of overweight adults in later life.

All too many mothers, with the best of intentions, nag and wheedle their small fry into eating more than they want to eat. The healthy, fat baby who remains chubby as he grows into pre-school and first grade years becomes less attractive as an individual. And the habit of eating more calories than necessary are likely to remain the rest of his life.

The parent should not be the one to decide whether the child should lose weight, now he should lose it, or whether he should continue to remain "pleasingly plump," says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. The doctor should be consulted.

Plenty of physical activity is needed for the child to burn up the calories, and it often is found that the overweight youngster plays less and walks less than the lean one.

If it fits your doctor's counsel, here are some tips to help your youngster lose weight—

Weigh once a week and keep track of the weight. Use the same scale and wear approximately the same clothing.

It isn't necessary to cut out all desserts and snacks, as long as their calorie count is included in the daily total. Fresh fruits are good for snacks.

Keep a supply of raw carrots, radishes, celery sticks and pickles for more snacking. Tomato juice or clear bouillon can serve for drinks.

Use smaller plates in serving meals, so that the portions will look larger. Encourage the family to eat slowly and really taste the food.

Cut out rich salad dressings; instead use vinegar and lemon juice.

Trim fat from meat, take it easy on the butter and substitute skim milk for whole milk. But be sure to get sufficient vitamine A from fruits and vegetables.

The most important factor in helping the obese child to reduce poundage is to handle it naturally. Don't make a point of telling the child he is on a reducing diet. Just serve the meals naturally and as a matter of course. Avoid nagging the child about his diet. It will only make him rebellious and more inclined to snack on the sly.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

FOR MANY YEARS the people of the United States have heard rumors of possible dictatorship. At the same time, they have noted the spread and growth of government bureaus, none of which are ever abandoned. Today, these two factors seemed to have joined forces under the jurisdiction of America's Wage and Hour division.

Invariably, representatives of the Wage-Hour division are reported to be insolent, high handed, and dictatorial. They enter a business firm on routine checks with the assumption that the operator is "guilty until proven innocent". In true Russian style, the so-called investigators have frankly told business men that they are not interested in their business or what happens to it. Their sole objective, according to all reports, is one of subjection rather than assistance and, no matter how hard the operator tries, rare indeed is the man who gets through with a clean bill of health.

The child labor laws, too, appear to have more teeth than most people realize and as one man puts it: "The law does not say you cannot employ a youngster under 16 years of age, but the regulations leave things where you do not want to do so." As a result, parents report that it is next to impossible for the average youngster to find any summer employment.

TO THOSE WHO witnessed the White House press conference of April 11th, President Kennedy, in his prepared message on the steel price hike, displayed a cold fury that compared in intensity with the heat of his words. Since the people at large have been admitted to these conferences via television and newsreel clips only comparatively recently, it seems safe to say that such a public display is unprecedented in American history.

The charge of "utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans" which the President hurled at those steel executives who had, up to that moment, approved a price increase for their products, must have seemed a little ridiculous, even to him, before sundown. But, as he said, he had already put the wheels of Federal and Congressional investigation in motion. A purge has been ordered, and we shall see what we shall see.

It should not take much study to realize that a business is no more contemptuous of its customers than a politician is of voters. On the other hand, it requires some comprehension of economics, perhaps, to realize that wage increases and a steady rise in the other costs of doing business cannot continue indefinitely without price adjustment if a business is to survive.

The expansion of the city police department will call for good cooperation between the city and county law enforcement arms if the taxpayers, who pay both bills, are to get the most for their money.

We hope this is forthcoming from both sides.

As the city's law enforcement arm has grown, the county's law arm has been weakened by the loss of a deputy. This is regrettable. But it was foreseeable if the city ever was to establish an effective police department and assume its full share of the law enforcement burden.

The shift to a real law arm for the city means mounting law enforcement costs to the city. This is why the step was postponed for many years. The city simply didn't have that kind of money.

As the area moves into a new phase of law enforcement and one that promises much many adjustments will have to be made and real public support given.

A city police force one of the municipal objectives long supported by this newspaper—is at last becoming operating fact.

Given the proper chance, we are sure it will prove itself to be a worthwhile investment for the community.

Women See Store Image In Ads

BY MADGE BELL
Record Staff Writer

What is the relationship of advertising to the image the consumer carries of a retail store?

It may be everything. Several years ago a Chicago research company did an exhaustive study to learn what women "read into" department store advertising.

The answers of 675 housewives indicated that women form a complete image of a store from the kind of advertising a store runs.

"They can tell about such things as the store's size, its appearance and displays, efficiency of operation, trustworthiness," the research company reported.

It was reported that readers of advertising could make judgments on the stores courtesy, the nature of customers and salesmen, the quality of merchandise, and the style of goods sold.

The researchers pointed out that this ability of the advertising reader to judge between the lines, did not mean that every store should attempt to convey an image of being a "quality" store.

This is that time of the year when people who don't have want a new one!

So, whether you're a boat owner or an owner to be — read on. We want to tell you about the newest sensation to hit the Texas market.

It's not a large boat — in fact only a little over 13 feet in length. Big enough for a small family outing — yet small enough for ideal lake fishing. And it can be used for skiing if equipped with a 25 horse power or larger motor. (Actually, it'll take a 40.)

So, it has a 3-fold usefulness — family, fishing, and skiing.

What appeals to everyone is its unsinkable features. You can saw it in half, right across the middle, from gunwale to gunwale, and she'll still float.

Now you know we're talking about the new Boston Whaler.

* * *

At least you do if you've seen the demonstration pictures which show a man at the bow rowing off with the fore part of the boat, while another cranks up the motor in the stern and speeds away with the aft portion.

Reason it's non-sinkable is this — it has an outside and an inside hull. Between the 2 are 4 inches of liquid polyurethane foam floatation.

Floatation is not just in the bottom either. It extends 2 inches thick up the sides.

With the Boston Whaler, the flotation is poured in, liquid foam. When the liquid cools it solidifies, and expands . . . to fill all the space between the 2 hulls. This helps strengthen the boat as well as keep it afloat.

Ever forget to re-insert the drain plug in your boat . . . and have it sink while launching?

Ever have rain fill your These things do happen!

But not with the Boston Whaler. Its great buoyancy will keep it afloat even if both drain plugs are out — and a heavy motor hangs on the transom.

* * *

Smooth riding is assured with the Whaler's triple-V bottom — which also makes it virtually impossible to tip over. Great for swimmers wonderful for skin divers!

And what a boat for children!

Fishermen rave about it too. They like it for many reasons, in addition to those already mentioned.

First, they can stand up and fish with absolutely no worry about tipping.

Second, its low-slung body makes it easy to flip a fish over the side and into the boat.

Third, the Whaler has a special compartment in the rear that holds water — serving both as a spill-over well for wake and a space to keep the catch alive without your having to hang a stringer over the side.

There are several other interesting features about the Boston Whaler — such as the adaptability of the steering wheel; and a storage compartment under the bow seat for icing down the fish or cold drinks ,or for stowing extra gear.

* * *

Then there is a built-in bow light; time-saving tie-up-bits; a handy, yet out-of-the-way channel in which to lay the oars when not in use; and oar lock sockets.

Too — there's ample room to hang a Sportsman's electric trolling motor or a 7½ horse power Scott on the transom alongside a larger power plant . . . like the 25 horse power Gale. Either one of these will fit nicely.

Another delightful feature of the Boston Whaler is the time it saves you in housecleaning. Just douse a few suds inside the boat, turn on the hose . . . and let the wash drain out through the transom.

You can flush out the boat while it's on the trailer or even in the water.

* * *

Speaking of the trailer — despite the Whaler's unusual 3-point hul, the boat fits neatly on any standard trailer.

It's a sturdy, non-sinkable fiberglass boat — with mahogany seat tops.

All in all it's a beautiful, practical rig. Seldom do you find a boat so ideally built . . . designed efficiently for the fisherman, the skier, and all around family use. But here's one that all can use and all will enjoy.

Only a few Boston Whalers are to be seen on Texas waters — as yet. But they are beginning to appear here and there.

Don't Forget the Garage During City Clean Up Time

EDITOR'S NOTE: As Colorado City starts its campaign for clean up, paint up, fix up all during the month of May, members of the committee appointed by Chamber of Commerce to assist with the town project are ready with clean up suggestions. JOE EARNEST, attorney, and committee member, writes for the Record the first in a series of clean up hints, printed herewith.

* * *

The home owner in his spring chores for Colorado City's Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up campaign can well begin with his garage or carport.

Do you have trouble finding enough room in the garage for your car because it is filled with an accumulation of discarded furniture, outgrown toys, odd pieces of lumber, old newspapers and magazines?

Now, during Colorado City's Clean-Up Paint-Up, Fix-Up season, is the time to restore the garage to its original purpose by organizing its contents, cleaning it, painting the inside, if necessary, and painting and planting outside.

Start by taking everything outside so that you can give the garage a thorough cleaning. Sweep the floor, hose it down, and scrub if necessary. You may want to paint the inside with a light, bright color which will make the interior more visible at night because light colors reflect more light. At the same time; replace any broken window glass, securing the panes with putty or glazing compound.

Before returning the contents to the garage, see what doesn't belong there. Useless articles should be put out with the trash. Old newspapers and magazines can be given away, along with furniture and old clothing from other parts of the house. Get rid of oily, greasy and painty rags. Be sure that any gasoline is in an airtight container. Old toys can be given to the Red Cross.

Organize the interior for better storage. Large sheets of perforated hardboard can be attached to the walls to hold almost any article from ladders down to screwdrivers. Utilize the ceiling beams for storage, too, place nails and hooks in strategic places.

Turning to the exterior of the garage, cut back bushes and hedges that obscure vision. Flower boxes or climbing plants such as roses or morning glories strategically placed, will help change the appearance of the garage from an eyesore to an attractive adjunct to your home.

Work like this on the garage will help Colorado City in its attempt to help it become one of the brightest spots in West Texas as part of the city's Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up, effort.

LAKE PART OF TRANSMISSION

Morgan Creek Power Plant Link In Steel Tower Line

The longest steel tower electric power transmission line ever built in the Southwest has been put in operation by Texas Electric Service Company between Fort Worth and Odessa. The line, which is 336 miles long, more firmly links Texas Electric's eight power plants — including the Morgan Creek power plant here at Lake Colorado City.

Announcement of completion was made by Beeman Fisher, president and general manager of the company.

"Construction of this new line is further evidence of Texas Electric's confidence in the continued growth and progress of the North Central and West Texas area we serve," Fisher said.

Construction of the big, new line required nearly 500 carloads of steel and conductor, Fisher said, pointing out that the line was built in the shortest time of any line of its type and size anyplace in the U. S.

The western terminus of the new power line, which now operates at 138,000 volts but is designed for conversion to 345,000 volts as the use of electric power increases, is near Odessa.

Later the line ill interconnect with a 345,000-volt line to be completed by other Texas power companies in 1964 between the Fort Worth-Dallas area and Houston.

When this connection is completed, the power systems of Texas Power and Light Company, Dallas Power and Light Company, Houston Lighting and Power Company and Texas Electric will be more firmly interconnected to exchange much greater quantities of power during emergency conditions and to achieve maximum economy in providing the electric power generating reserves of each company system, Fisher said.

Bob Payne, Reg Hyer, Wayne Whiteside, Donald Webb, Jerry Smith and Wally Franklin. The Rituals climaxed several weeks of preparation by the Rushees for their installation as sorority members.

The Case Against Race Track Gambling

Texans on May 5 will vote their opinion "for" or "against" legalized gambling. The primary ballots of both parties will carry the question. We who are against legalized gambling urge every thoughtful man and woman to vote "against."

Not one valid argument can be advanced on gambling's behalf. The total experience of mankind argues eloquently against it.

Is gambling economically justified?

Virgil W. Peterson, director of the Chicago Crime Commission, testifies "Gambling drains the salaries, savings and investments of a community into a business enterprise that serves no human need. Those who benefit from gambling profits are almost without exception members of the underworld who invariably control the gambling business."

Gambling is the biggest single cause of such crimes as embezzlement and invariably brings in its wake a mounting stack of unpaid bills, skipped installment payments, repossessed automobiles and furniture, and lapsed insurance policies.

Since some people gamble anyway, shouldn't we make it legal in order to police it?

The Chairman of the United States Senate Investigating Committee says no. "No plan for legalized gambling that was presented to us seemed to carry any guarantee of success."

Isn't race track gambling a good source of tax revenue?

Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin says, "The idea that legalized gambling will be a revenue-raiser is an illusion. Every dollar raised from such sources means five dollars spent in higher police costs, higher court costs, higher penitentiary costs and higher relief costs."

But after all, isn't pari-mutuel gambling pretty harmless? So a guy loses two dollars.

This is the same, tired, fallacious combination of words mouthed by every gambling profiteer from Al Capone to Benny Binion.

The sad fact of gambling can be told in four words of Damon Runyon, "horse players die broke." A two-dollar bet is murder. Gambling . . . two dollars . . . ten dollars . . . a hundred to recoup . . . is a cause of broken marriages, neglected children, poverty and sometimes suicide.

Ask a bank examiner. Ask a divorce court judge. Ask a probation officer. Ask your retail credit association. Ask the relief people. The easy money boys won't give you the answer.

Small wonder that the three D's of gambling have been described as Debt, Degradation and Death.

You won't succumb to the fever, nor will we. But frankly we don't want our kids to be exposed to such characters as Hot Horse Herbie, Harry the Horse, Bookie Bob and John the Boss.

We don't want our kids to grow up around a race track.

Do you?

COMPLETE ACHIEVEMENT SERIES

Student Tests At Westbrook

Pupils of the following grades in the Westbrook school have finished the Spring Achievement tests and have been issued profile charts explaining the tests: Mrs. Cook's second grade; Mrs. Smith's fourth grade; Mr. Bryant's sixth grade; and Eighth grade on the junior high level.

Achievement tests were administered over a period of two or three days.

The SRA Achievement Series, new and modern in concept, is an integrated program for measuring the educational development of the elementary and junior high school pupils in the broad curricular areas for reading, language arts, arithmetic and work-study skills (except for Grade 2). The tests measure out-of-school and incidental in-school learnings, as well as the knowledge acquired from formal classroom instruction.

Sophomore students have finished taking the Iowa Tests of Educational Development (ITED tests) which administered over a two-day period. Profile charts are being provided for each student.

Seniors completed the ITED tests and the 7th Grade the SRA Achievement Tests earlier of this year as a part of the Texas State Testing Program.

The ITED tests are designed to measure how well a student can apply what he has learned. They measure his ability to read and interpret sciences, social studies, literature and to think quantitively.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

"IS ANYBODY HAPPY?" is the cryptic title of a new book by somebody named Norman Lobsenz, published by Doubleday. In it the writer opines "America is the only country where pleasure is a problem, and where the problem is so solemnly debated."

* * *

AT OUR HOUSE on Chestnut St., it is not having fun that gets debated pro and con. It's having funds. Pleasure's no problem. It's the play now pay later angle that makes us so solemn.

* * *

WHETHER LIFE'S a pleasure or a pain in the neck depends on any number of "whethers!"

Whether you're looking at bright travel folders . . . or paying for the round-trip ticket.

Whether you're having a beautiful time window shopping . . . or miserable because you can't afford things.

Whether you're buying, trying, or crying to keep up with Lord and Lady Astorbilt.

If you're the type to worry, 'cause you're tryin' to and caint,
Findin' life pure pleasure is exactly
What you aint.

* * *

IF YOU FIND JOY knowing it's true that the best things in life are free, chase around our town this week and see what you can see!

Roses are beginning to bloom! There's a hedge of red climbers outside the stone fence at the John Hale house, Dallas St. . . . The front of the Pete Ainsworth home on Chestnut wears white rambling roses . . . And the rose garden of Selma and Willie Landau on Marshall looks like a spring nosegay . . . There're red ramblers refopping the Joe Bell fence, on Dallas and 16th . . . T&P depot's yellow roses are preening their petals . . . And there are red popples lifting faces in the John Brown home on Pine.

* * *

SUNDAY'S ART SHOW was free. And worth more than a casual stroll. Saw Violet Moeser and Mrs. Chester Hart, two of our local artists, and Peggy Bagwell, of City National was there.

So were all the town's art lovers . . . Harry and Isabel Ratliff . . . Elna Powell (Mrs. W. R. "Jinks") . . . Joe Earnest . . . Katherine Dorn (Mrs. Landon) . . . Emily (Mrs. Tom) Barry . . . The show was beautifully interesting this year. And well received by the 75 people who registered.

* * *

ISABEL RATLIFF was saying she and Harry had a card from the Vance Phenixes who are making a tour of Italy. Vance is a successful architect in Houston. Among local buildings he planned are the new Primary school and the Bridgford Clinic. Mrs. Phenix is the former Ida Richardson, daughter of Mrs. T. C. Richardson of Cedar St. Which makes her, of course, sister of Mrs. Mike Smith, Ray Richardson of Midland, Earnest Richardson of Big Spring, Jake Richardson, Mrs. W. B. Crockett, Doug Richardson, and Doris (Mrs. Jay) Crouch. Vance and Ida are doing an Italian architectural study tour. Both are members of old families here and frequent C. City visitors.

* * *

VISITING VENICE, from whence he air-mailed an air mail card picturing a gondola drifting on bright blue water against a panarama of pink castles, is our Touring Texan George Womack! Members of his party gave him a birthday party with cake and champagne last week in Florence, he wrote his mama Ada.

To Conversation he penned, "I have the perfect solution to our sandstorm problem. Flood the streets. Venice is more like an allegory than an existing place . . . Don't know how I'll ever return to anything as mundane as work . . . Oh well, que sera sera and keep a lamp in the window!"

After cake and champagne at every port our boy may need us to turn on the football field flood lights. Quo vadis.

* * *

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS: Saw again for the first time in forever fayorite person named Lily Sparks . . . And another old friend, that tall man, Leonard Henderson . . . Mrs. Luke Thomas was wearing a little white and toast straw hat that makes for second looks.

Saw, too, C. City's own Jack and Jacqueline—Jack and Jackie Smith, with their little blond daughter . . . Lily Bennett of Loraine . . . Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Miles of Longfellow . . . Dr. Laurence H Rudd doing the eat-and-run act . . . Milton Bodzin and wife Aline (Moore) with Aline wearing a new bonnet covered in salmon pink roses . . . Otho Rice . . . Bob Ratliff . . . Pearl Shrophire . . . And Mary Lee Moore 'lowing as how she got lost in Loraine the other day and wound up going in politicing circles.

* * *

OFF THE CUFF: Had forgotten, if ever we knew, that Ben Elliot, Hickory St. grocer, and Mrs. Simms Palmer of Vine St. are brother and sister.

Mrs. J. C. Hooker (Mary) and her sister Caludia Longley are both recovering from broken hips received early last year.

* * *

ROUTE 66 boys, who had our whole town talking, just never did show up in Mitchell County.

THE SHERIFF OF COCHISE did! He fished, recently, at Lake Colorado City! John Bromfield, who plays the sheriff, his writer Paul Savage, author of numerous westerns, stopped two whole days for lazy fishing at Earl Richardson's Lake View Camp. Richardson has an appreciatively signed snapshot of the pair to prove it.

Their stop here came because they paused at Bernie Grable's Gulf Station for gas, saw a string of fish, asked how come here in the middle of the prairie, and took off for Lakeview Camp themselves. Sheriff of Cochise and writer Savage had good luck and a good rest.

* * *

THE WHOLE TRIBE of TV lawmen, comedians, and actors could be fishing at Lakeview for all we know. Tuned in on Andy Griffith and got Don Yarbrough . . . Red Skelton was replaced one night by a man named Marshall Formby . . . And Governor Price Daniel blotted out Danny Thomas . . . It's getting to be frustratin' as an eight-party rural telephone line.

* * *

Will May the Fifth just never come?
Candidates, candidates, speeches! Ho-hum!
Hasten the day when we vote, and TV
Is half the fun it usedto be!

HUGH R. NIXON, NEWEST RETIREE

Veteran Cosden Worker Retires

When Hugh R. Nixon went to Cosden Petroleum Corporation's clockhouse Monday to punch out for the last time, he was closing a career that has spanned some 19 years, 3 months and 12 days.

Veteran personnel at the refinery considered that they were losing one of the fixed assets. Particularly was this true at Crude Unit No. 1, where Nixon had been stillman for 15 years. As a matter of fact, the crude department had been his bailiwick since a month after joining the company.

Fickle West Texas weather provided a memorable climax for his departure from the refinery, as it had for his arrival. The warmth eventually exploded into a furious sandstorm. Not so on January 18, 1943. Hugh Nixon recalls that it was five degrees below zero that day, a temperature all the more intense to a refinery yardman as he was then. He remembers the fleeting comfort of the huge stove that stood then at the center of the shop.

Refinery work was not new to Nixon 19 years ago. He had racked up seven years experience at the cracking unit of Col-Tex Refining Company in Colorado City, where he lived for a quarter century. It was there that he met Grace McElrath of Loraine. July 2 will mark the 37th anniversary of their wedding day in Temple, near which Nixon was born and reared.

Cosden's newest retiree and his wife are in no hurry to map plans for the immediate future. They want to do some traveling and, laughs Nixon "We might look around for a little place on a creek where my wife can fish and I can sit in the shade." Acknowledging his wife's favorite hobby he has determined to try to take up fishing too. In turn, she may find his prime pursuit of hunting birds more acceptable. Their nome is at 1706 Donley, where part of the lot is devoted to a garden.

Nixon is a member of the Elks Lodge; she participates in the DOES. Foremost of their interests, however, are their daughter, Mrs. James H. Hughes, and the grandchildren — ten-year-old Karen Lee and James H., Jr., 5 — who live in the Silver Heels Addition.

When the Nixons find that place on the creek, they will have to save plenty of room in the shade for their friends from Cosden and elsewhere.

Representing Loraine and providing some pretty keen competition in the "Miss Tumbleweed" contest are these Loraine High School students. SIX TRIPS TO THE MOON ON A MAGIC STRAND!

If the lines of all the electric cooperatives in the nation were put end to end, they would stretch to the moon six times, or a distance of nearly 1½ million miles. These lines were strung through swamps, over hills, across plains, and through forests to serve rural people who built their own electric systems because they couldn't get electricity any other way. The nation's rural electric systems are dependable and efficient. Their service is modern and up-to-date. They are a shining example of what free enterprise can accomplish, building a brighter tomorrow.
