Greek Ship With Americans Aboard Reported Lost

Brooklyn Fan Evades Draft To See Game

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Robert T. Anderson, 26, is an ardent fan of the Brooklyn Dodgers and hasn't missed an opening game at Ebbets field for ten years. This year Selective Service posed a question mark—temporarily.

He was drafted and marked down for induction a week before the first contest but, at the suggestion of a friend, filed as a conscientious objector. The induction automatically was held up. Anderson went to the opening game, and on the following day withdrew the objection. He is in the army now—stationed at Camp Upton on Long Island.

French-German "All-The-Way" Pact Suggested

(By The Associated Press)

Two actions of the French government—an undeclared shooting war against the British over Syria and a stated threat to recapture the great colonial areas which have gone over to the "Free French" forces—suggested last night that Vichy's new "collaboration" with Germany would be close to an all-the-way agreement.

The challenge in effect made—and it was issued officially through the French information office—was that offensive action would be taken soon to regain old French territory, such as vast French Equatorial Africa, which has broken with Vichy and is following Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the French officer whose forces are fighting on at Britain's side.

"One of the objects of English politics," it was stated, "is to separate Syria from metropolitan France," and it was added:

"France cannot permit a foreign power to intervene."

"The hour without doubt has now come for Moy (France) to retake especially into France all her empire."

Charge Of "Blackmail"

The Paris press, under Nazi control, denounced United States diplomacy as "flour blackmail."

All this appeared against a background of recurring speculation that the Nazis had promised Vichy help in the restoration of colonial France.

France has two island possessions in the western hemisphere which are geographically close to American interests — Martinique and Guadeloupe—but these have remained loyal to Vichy.

What is to happen in another possession, Dakar in West Africa, has caused great concern in the United States. That colony is in easy reaching distance of South America, and any German military activity there would be full of grave potentialities.

Action Already Opened

Vichy's already opened action against France's old British Allies was in the skies over Syria.

British pilots attacking German-occupied Syrian airdromes—which are being used by the Nazis to aid Iraq against the British — have been fired upon by French anti-aircraft guns.

This was disclosed yesterday although it was said that no British plane had as yet been hit—at about the same time that the Royal air force was answering the growing hostility of the Vichy government's attitude with new raids upon German aircraft based in Syria at Palmyra, Damascus and Rayak.

Already At Crisis

The situation already has reached a crisis, for Gen. Henri Dentz, the high commissioner of French-mandated Syria and Lebanon, had passionately called upon the people to resist "the criminal aggressions" of the British.

"I have been ordered," he went on, "to defend the sky and the land of the Levant states. That mission I shall carry out inflexibly."

British Figures Claim 60 U.S. Citizens On Ship

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 20 (Tuesday)—A British broadcasting company announcement that "it was learned with regret of the loss of the Egyptian steamer Zamzam in the South Atlantic" early today minimized previous radio reports from London indicating the liner, carrying many Americans, might be safe.

MAY HAVE TURNED BACK

PALESTINE, May 19. (AP)—Dr. W. R. Minter said today he received a confidential report through congressional channels last Thursday that the Egyptian freighter Zamzam had changed its course and headed back toward New York rather than risk attack by Nazi raiders.

The ship, with 120 Americans aboard, has been reported variously as having sunk and as being safe.

Dr. Minter said this sources disclosed the ship turned for New York after having headed for Capetown, South Africa, from a South American port.

Minter, Palestine Presbyterian pastor, and Mrs. Minter are parents of Mrs. Tinsley Smith, believed to be a passenger on the vessel with her husband, Dr. Smith, and their 16 month old son.

The National Broadcasting company, Columbia Broadcasting system, and Mutual networks carried the statement by the official British announcer shortly after midnight. The report added that "60 American citizens and 23 Canadians were on board, as well as the British-American ambulance unit, which was being carried to the Free French forces in the Middle East."

MAY NOT HAVE SUNK

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, Tuesday, May 20. (AP)—Naval authorities said today they had reason to believe the Egyptian liner Zamzam may not have been sunk, stressing the fact that the report here was only that the ship was overdue.

(This could be taken as a hint that these sources believed the ship had been detained rather than destroyed.)

The naval sources said it is possible the crew and passengers, including many Americans, are safe.

List Not Released

"This unit included 20 vehicles lavishly fitted with X-ray and other valuable equipment.

The official passenger list of the liner had not been released by the state department which was scheduled to consider the matter during the night but other sources placed the number of American citizens aboard at 138.

The Associated Press was informed by its Berlin correspondent shortly after midnight "authorized sources say they know nothing about Zamzam."

Two London broadcasts heard here earlier had indicated the possibility that the Zamzam, a 8,229-ton motorship 26 days overdue on a voyage to Africa with 322 persons, might be safe.

A short time later the Berlin radio was heard to state that the Zamzam had sunk "en route from Pernambuco (Recife, Brazil) to

O'Daniel Approves New Liquor Law

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 19.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today signed into law a bill prohibitng physicians to write more than 100 prescriptions for liquor in 90 days and designed to curtail liquor sales in dry areas.

The new law provides prescription forms must be obtained from the liquor board, and the doctor must write his diagnosis of the patient on the form.

Consent of the parent or guardian is necessary before prescriptions for minors may be issued.

No doctor may write a liquor prescription unless he has a permit issued by the liquor board.

Drug stores are forbidden to have in stock more than 10 gallons of liquor at any given time and prescription liquor must conform to the standards set up in the United States pharmacopea.

C. A. Paxton, chief enforcement officer of the liquor board, said that forms which the doctors must use have been ordered, and that the board was ready to grant permits.

Doctors and drug stores, Paxton said, were asked to "observe the spirit" of the law until machinery could be set up for enforcement.

It was expected about a week's time would be needed to put the new regulations into operation.

Paxton declared that liquor board agents have been given preliminary instructions as to enforcing the law and that they had been informed as to the provisions of the bill.

Druggists Report No Liquor Being Sold

It was rumored Monday night that some Lubbock druggists were disregarding a law made final with Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's signature, putting the lid on sale of liquor by prescription.

There, however, was no basis of confirmation since all druggists approached by The Morning Avalanche denied they were continuing sales under the old law.

The governor affixed his signature to the bill Monday afternoon, according to wire reports from Austin.

Druggists did claim a large volume of money was lost by false reports coming from Austin Saturday that Gov. O'Daniel had signed the bill then. He was quoted as saying he had posed for pictures Saturday as though he were sign-

New Air Schools To Be Sought

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, May 19—Recommendations for establishment of additional army flying schools for the Gulf training center will be forwarded to Washington early this week by Brig. Gen. Gerald C. Brant, training center commander.

A number of proposed sites for new army flying fields have been surveyed by a board of army officers under direction of Gen. Brant for additional basic and advanced flying schools, but officials here do not know how many more schools will be built.

Similar recommendations are being made by the West Coast and Southeast training centers.

Recommendations for additional civilian elementary flying schools to provide primary training for the 30,000 pilot training program and selection of those fields by the war department is expected soon.

Ten In Operation

The Gulf training center at present is operating ten civil elementary schools, one civil and two army basic flying schools and two advanced flying schools, the latter being at Kelly and Brooks fields here. The army basic schools are at Randolph field here and San Angelo and the civil basic school at Brady.

By late summer the advanced flying schools at Ellington field near Houston and Victoria will be in operation, and the new flexible gunnery school at Harlingen will be opened next fall. The bombing and gunnery range on the Matagorda peninsula also will be placed in operation during the fall.

Civil elementary schools are now being operated by the Gulf training center at Stamford, Cuero, Corsicana, Fort Worth, Texas, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Muskogee, Okla.; Pine Bluff, Ark.; and East St. Louis and Sikeston, Mo.

NAVY PILOT SAVES PLANE IN CRASH LANDING — Flying his single-seater navy fighting plane like a glider, Ens. H. E. Tennes, 28, of Chicago settled the damaged craft on San Diego bay, as shown above, and was rescued uninjured. The plane, attached to fighting squadron six, aircraft carrier Saratoga, was recovered. Notified by radio his landing gear was damaged, Ensign Tennes cruised over the bay to deplete his gasoline supply. Gliding for nearly a mile, he hit the water near a navy crash barge.

Straight-Talking Texans In Army Declare It Must Have Guns And Public Interest

By J. B. KREUGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

TEXANS like plain, straight talk, and the army has been letting 'em have it these last few days.

The men responsible for training many thousands of soldiers indicate by their utterances they are concerned about two things every first class Democratic army have: Arms and public interest and support.

Two generals and a colonel, Texans all, laid the cards on the table a few days ago in speeches attacking what they diagnosed as the dread malady of public apathy.

In quieter days big-shot army men limit their public opinions to nothing more controversial than the weather, say, but these days of May, 1941 are not quiet.

Problems Attacked

Thus Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead, leathery commander of the 36th division at Camp Bowie, let fly at problems bedeviling army minds.

In a speech at Gatesville he struck out at the estimated aggregate loss of 13,000,000 mandays this year because of industrial problems and tieups in production in key industries vital to national defense.

"This will continue unless America is aroused," he warned, and we shall find ourselves in the same condition as France, reduced to a state of abject slavery."

Morale Compared

With great pride Gen. Birkhead obliquely compared the morale of the men he commands (18,000 of them Texans) with that of the public: "In the camp which I have the honor to command, including 20,000 men,... only 12 were in the stockade (army jail) last Saturday night."

Another commander of Gen. Birkhead's division, Brig. Gen. Preston A. Weatherred tackled the subject in even harder language in a speech to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"We are on the brink of war," he said with no ifs and ands about it. He proceeded then in stern words asking Texans and Americans generally to call a halt to industrial tieups which he said are

Two More Labor Disputes May Slow Defense

(By The Associated Press)

Two major labor disputes directly affecting defense production developed yesterday.

One was a walkout of AFL workmen at the Lorain, Ohio, yards of the American Shipbuilding company which is constructing six submarine net tenders for the navy and has a $7,000,000 order for navy mine sweepers.

The other was a CIO strike at the Apollo Steel company, Apollo, Pa., affecting 900 men and stopping work on $100,000 of defense orders, including galvanized sheet iron for the navy.

Meantime, railroad workers put in a bid for a 30 per cent increase in wages as another big group of workers, the hard coal miners, got together with operators on a new contract providing for pay increases and ending a work stoppage which began Sunday.

Crisis Due Soon

It appeared that a crisis might be reached tonight in the strike of greatest concern to defense officials—that by CIO and AFL machinists which has shut down 11 shipyards and drydocks in the San Francisco area and halted work on $500,000,000 worth of defense orders.

Gov. Culbert Olson of California will address a meeting of the 1,700 strikers and ask them to return to their jobs. AFL metal trades leaders have indicated that if the strike is not settled then they will go past the picket lines leading a back-to-work movement among the 15,000 other employes of the yards.

The machinists want $1.15 an hour with double time for over-

Union Resistance To Naval Recruiting Efforts Charged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—An official report of union resistance to naval recruiting efforts aboard a swastika-adorned American merchant vessel brought the promise of a congressional investigation today and legislation was proposed to prevent possible recurrences.

Three Nazi insignias were found painted below deck on the S.S. Delta-Argentino after a naval recruiting party tried unsuccessfully to sign crew members as naval reservists in New Orleans harbor May 1, Commander J. F. Shaforth of the navy judge advocate's department told the House naval committee.

Seamen on the Delta-Argentino were told by a "floating delegate" of the AFL's Seafarers' International union that they were not to become merchant marine naval reservists, Shaforth declared.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the committee announced that crew members of the Delta-Argentino, the union representative involved and Lieut. N. J. Blanq of the recruiting party would be summoned to testify.

Vinson introduced a bill to make it unlawful to interfere with naval recruiting at any time.

La Guardia Will Head Civilian Defense Agency

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 19—President Roosevelt has selected Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, it was learned authoritatively today, to head a new government agency dealing with civilian defense.

LA GUARDIA

At a long luncheon conference at the White House, the energetic little La Guardia accepted the post, it was learned, with the understanding that he would be able to continue as mayor of the world's biggest city. He also is chairman of the United States Conference of Mayors and co-chairman of the Canadian-American permanent defense board.

In his new job he will be asked to organize a nationwide air raid precaution system, coordinate federal and local defense projects, plan recreation and health facilities in training camp communities and direct related activities.

Executive Order

Mr. Roosevelt already has drafted an executive order creating the new agency, it was learned, but formal announcement has been held up for personal reasons. The agency will be called the Office of Civilian Defense and will rank with the Office of Production Management as a major branch of the office for emergency management.

The president, still convalescing from a stomach disorder and confined by his physician to the White House living quarters, nevertheless spent an active day. Reports on Capitol Hill said he discussed with congressional leaders the possibility of a special message to Congress on foreign affairs but it was asserted later at the White House that he had no present plans to dispatch such a message.

He also issued an executive order calling eight additional air observation squadrons and an infantry and a coast artillery battalion of the National Guard to active service.

The House also was busy on defense affairs. It passed by voice

Changes In Pension Law Are Approved

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 19.—In a move sponsors said was designed to assure continued federal matching of social security funds, the Texas House today overwhelmingly approved amendments to the public welfare act.

The bill which now goes to the Senate resulted from Federal Social Security board advices Texas statutes do not conform with federal security act amendment which becomes effective July 1.

The principal change in state laws affecting old age assistance applicants was that all income and resources, except casual earnings and unpredictable gifts, must be considered in determining eligibility of an applicant.

Not Necessarily Barred

Texas law now exempts from consideration residence homesteads and accumulated loan or cash values of insurance policies not in excess of $1,000.

As explained by proponents of the House bill these factors hereafter would be considered in determining eligibility although they do not necessarily bar an applicant from assistance.

The bill states assistance shall be given needy qualified persons who have not sufficient income or other resources to provide a reasonable subsistence compatible with health and decency."

National defense shared interest with social security as the House also sent the Senate a bill appropriating $65,000 with which to purchase and transport small arms and other equipment for the Texas defense guard, a home defense organization which has taken over ordinary national guard functions while the latter organization is in federal service.

Funds To Study Cancer

Passed to final reading in the House was a measure alloting $1,750,000 to a state cancer hospital and research program. Proponents failed to suspend the rules for an immedate final vote.

The Senate turned to a wide variety of legislation, finally approving, with amendments, a House bill requiring special certificates of necessity for motor carriers hauling oil field equipment, livestock, livestock feedstuff, farm machinery, grain, timber, milk, wool and mohair.

Sent to final reading in the Senate was a resolution submitting a constitutional amendment permitting the court of criminal appeals to sit the year 'round, eliminating the tribunal's enforced three-month summer recess.

Wildcat May Be Made Deep Test

Possibility that Magnolia Petroleum company may make deep test out of its No. 2 Maple Wilson, southwestern Hockley county wildcat, was indicated Monday by the report it is drilling at 3,331 feet in brown lime.

At that point it is several hundred feet deeper than the regular pay horizon of the Slaughter pool, in which it showed both oil and water. No. 2 Wilson is 3,150 feet east of the same firm's No. 1 Wilson, small pumper one mile north of the Slaughter pool proper.

The Texas company completed its No. 2-E Mallett Land and Cattle company in Hockley county for a 24-hour potential of 1,037.76 barrels of 31-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 580 to one, after 6,000 gallon acidization of pay formation from 4,961 to 5,035, the total depth.

In the southeastern Cochran district of the Slaughter field, Magnolia No. 4-J Mallett was acidized with 10,500 gallons at a total depth of 5,080 feet in lime and made 1,263.60 barrels a day, with a gas-oil ratio of 590 to one.

Swabbing After Test

Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 F. L. Woodley, extension try four-fifths of a mile northwest of Slaughter production in Cochran, is swabbing after an initial acid injection of 1,500 gallons. It is bottomed at 4,981 feet, plugged back from a total depth of 5,010 feet in lime to exclude bottom-hole water. One location south, Magnolia No. 6 Woodley is drilling past 4,255 in anhydrite. O'Neal Drilling company of Lubbock and G. W. Wheeler No. 1 Della Slaughter Wright, southeastern Cochran outpost four miles north of the Slaughter pool, is scheduled to drill plug early Wednesday from 5½-inch casing cemented at 4,940 feet with 150 sacks. Total depth is 4,983 feet in lime. The prospect showed intermittent streaks of oil and sulphur water in cores over the last 120 feet. It is reported acid treatment will be given the well after plug

Governor Keeps Silent On His Other Plans

He Tells Newsmen He Will Not Quit Governorship

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 19.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel tonight announced his candidacy for the United States Senate.

In a statewide broadcast, he told the people of Texas "we have got the job done" and asked their support in the race for the seat of the late Morris Sheppard.

He said nothing about resigning from his present office, thus failing to answer one of the outstanding questions concerning his future plans.

Call Of Duty

The governor said nothing could induce him to give up the governorship except the call of duty and he would be derelict in duty if he did not make the race.

He declared he would take to Washington with him the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule, which in his campaigns he has held up as the tenets of his personal and political life.

Asked by newspapermen immediately after the broadcast at the mansion whether he would resign O'Daniel replied:

"No, I should say not!"

A moment later, he added:

"And you know the reason why."

He did not elaborate.

Fight Mostly Won

ARMY MENUS

INCREASED emphasis on better balanced diets with more fresh fruits and vegetables for the rapidly growing army is being shown in the new type of field ration which went into effect recently.

The new ration, known as Field Ration A, shows by comparison with former menus, that the soldiers are going to be better fed than they have been in the past. Food components for 100 men for the day include: 100 grapefruit, 100 individual dry cereals, 100 half-pints fresh milk, 22—14½ ounce cans canned milk, 60 pounds bread, 80 pounds potatoes, 9 pounds butter, 8 pounds jelly or jam, 18 pounds coffee; 15 pounds sugar, 50 pounds pork loin, 19½ pounds peas, 5 pounds carrots, 20 pounds fresh tomatoes, 23½ pounds pineapple, 500 ginger cookies, 45 pounds chuck beef, 3¼ pounds tomatoes, 8 pounds onions, 18 pounds hominy, 14½ pounds apple butter, 5 pounds lard.

WANTS COMPANION

DEAR Miss Turner: I read your column every day and have observed that you sometimes give space to letters from your readers on different subjects. I wondered if, through your column, I might learn of at least one Newcomer to Lubbock (preferably a woman between the ages of 30 and 40) who is as lonely and homesick as I.

The resident women who have their own circle of friends seem to have neither the time nor the inclination to bother with strangers who move into their midst. I am not a "social climber," and have no desire for active social life in the usual sense of the word; but simply would like to know some congenial woman or women with whom I might find something in common. My husband and I came here several months ago, and as yet I have made no friends.

We are of moderate (perhaps I should say MODEST circumstances, rent a furnished apartment and have no children.

Please withhold my name and telephone number, except from the afore mentioned newcomer, if said newcomer is interested, for this is not a bid for sympathy.

Thank you,
Mrs. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: You did not say whether or not you are a church member but I believe there would be the first place you would likely find friendly women. We know it is difficult to get acquainted in a new town but from past experience are just as sure that there will be middle-aged women who will lseek your friendship and help to overcome that homesickness. Glad you are a Lubbock citizen at any rate and just wait for the responses. They'll come we feel sure. Thanks for your letter.

DAPHNE'S POEM

THE poem, "I'm Glad I live in Texas," written by Mrs. Grace Dupree Ridings of Sherman and read over NBC Sunday afternoon by Daphne Mahon, daughter of Congressman and Mrs. Geore H. Mahon, is a lovely thing. Miss Delia Wilkinson gave us a copy which we are reproducing below.

Mrs. Ridings is past poet laureate of the Texas society of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

I'm glad I live in Texas.
Where the crumbling missions stand
As a monument to heroes
Who have built this glorious land.
Where the songs are of the martyrs
Fighting at the Alamo
And the prayers are for the future
Texas dreamed of long ago.
I'm glad I live in Texas
Where the sturdy pioneers
Cut a path for men to follow
With their wagon and their steers.
Where the women gave their lifeblood
Steeled their nerves,
And staunched their tears
Helped their menfolk build our Texas
Land that knows a 100 years.
I'm glad I live in Texas
Where 100 years ago
Soldiers met at San Jacinto
Warriors from Old Mexico,
Gained a victory in battle
That was heard around the world
I'm glad I live in Texas
Where six flags have been unfuried.

...re than 200 aliens, mostly ...amen, were arrested over the week-end. Raids in principal seaports led to the questioning of approximately 1,000 to determine their status.

Keeping His Promise

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson felt that the raids, the third since he announced a "crack down" policy on questionable aliens May 7, was in line with his promise of "vigorous action" against the undersirable visitor.

Some Youths May Be Of More Value To Uncle Sam In School Than In Army

Some young men may be of more use to Uncle Sam by remaining in college than by entering the selective service army.

That is indicated in communication to the draft boards and to Texas Technological college.

Deferment of students training for work in certain fields in which a shortage exists has been recommended.

"It is urgently recommended that the most serious consideration be given by the selective service system to the individual occupational deferment of students in the following courses, so long as they continue to be in preparation or training as necessary men in activities essential to the national defense."

The courses listed, after investigation by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showing that a shortage exists in those fields, are engineering (civil, electrical, chemical, mining and metallurgy and mechanical); chemistry; medicine, and dentistry.

Average Or Better

Fields in which there is reason to believe a shortage now exists or will soon develop, although investigation has not yet confirmed such a shortage, are agricultural and sanitary engineering, pharmacy, physics, biology and bacteriology and geology (geo-physics, meteorology, hydrology and cartography.)

Although enrolled in courses training him for work in one of the fields in which there exists a shortage, a student must be making "average or better" grades indicating he will be graduated in the usual time before he is recommended for deferment.

Numerous students received their questionnaires during the long session, but were deferred until end of the session, not later than July 1. The long session at Tech ends June 2.

Registered with draft board number one in Lubbock are 51 students who were deferred until conclusion of the college year, at Texas Tech, Baylor university, Texas A. & M., University of Texas and other colleges. Registered with board number two in Lubbock are 40 students who were deferred until conclusion of the term. Highest number of a conscriptee with board number one is 328 and highest number with board number two for a white conscriptee is 1,222, although there have been trainees of higher order numbers volunteering with both boards.

Dr. Harry L. Kent, director of administrative research at Tech, is the Tech institutional representative for deferment matters. His office considers cases and makes recommendations only when requested by the student or by the draft board.

Policy under which deferments are recommended is the national policy specifying those fields in which a shortage exists.

Also recommended for deferment are students who are candidates for graduation in August of this year or mid-year next long session, which would be in January or February. Some deferments have been granted to students expected to be graduated soon.

The college must furnish affidavits concerning the student's records showing whether he is doing work satisfactory enough to indicate that he would be graduated in the usual four-year period.

Jaycees Hear Students From Levelland Sing

Students of the music department of Levelland High school entertained the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce in its luncheon Monday noon at the Hilton hotel. Supt. of schools Ray D. Brown and J. Bud Farrar, band director, were special guests and introduced the entertainers.

Rex Hodges, Evelyn Hale, Evelyn Stewart Bernice Jones, and Geraldine Smith sang with Capitola Smallwood as their accompanist.

Wm. H. Evans, member of the Lubbock Recreational council, spoke briefly on the activities of this group after which pictures of a soap box derby were shown in the Chimayo room by Mrs. John Wilson, director of recreation. The Jaycees are planning a soap box derby under sponsorship of the WPA.

Ambulance Is Total Loss After Wreck

Sliding out of control on wet pavement south of Lamesa slightly after dark Sunday night, a 1940 model Rix ambulance overturned and received damages making it a total loss, W. W. Rix, owner, said Monday night.

The heavy vehicle was being driven home from a funeral at Stanton by Albert McCarty, who suffered only minor injuries.

Important to any smoker . . . to you . . . no matter how much you smoke . . . because this extra mildness is in the smoke itself. After all, it's the smoke you smoke.

Government-Sponsored Campaign May Be Launched For Discarded Alumin

Metal Shortages Said More Acute

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 19— An intensive government-sponsored campaign may be launched soon to collect the discarded aluminum ware in every American home for use in the defense program, it was learned today.

Some thought has been given to including tin, nickel and other metals in the gigantic scrap-collecting drive, but the probability is that it will be confined to aluminum, at least for the present. Officials of the Office of Production Management are now studying all the proposals.

Shortages More Acute

The possibilities of scrap collecting campaigns were considered by the OPM last fall but the idea was pigeonholed when surveys indicated that the results might not be worth the efforts. However, shortages in some critical metals have since become more acute, and a complete re-examination of the subject has been undertaken.

Local drives for collection of scrap metals, tin and lead foil, rubber and other materials have been carried on in many communities and in recent weeks. Officials here have not encouraged any such drives and it was learned that some of them are hopeful now that no more will be organized until it is determined if one unified effort would be worthwhile.

O'Daniel In Race

sidered all phases of the problem, that thousands had written him, urging that he continue as governor even for a third and fourth term.

But the fight for the things the people wanted, including financing of the social security program, had been largely won, he said.

What he has termed the number one problem of state government, social security, he declared had been settled "up to the present time."

House Hears Speech

Among accomplishments of his administration he included the approval by the legislature of a constitutional amendment to prohibit appropriations beyond available revenue, appropriations to expand the eleemosynary system, steps to industrialize the state, larger appropriations for educational institutions and progress toward a merit system for state employes.

After pointing out that new taxes recently levied by the legislature would permit a much more liberal old age pension program, the governor said the only place to get additional aid for the old folks was the federal government.

The House of Representatives at a night session heard the address when a radio set was tied in to the House public address system.

Early in the talk the governor read a resolution of the House recently adopted which praised and endorsed him for the Senate.

When he said the resolution was "unanimously" adopted there were cries of "no, no," and "ayes and noes on that."

Family Is There

The governor read his speech into a battery of microphones under the glittering chandelier in the gold room of the Texas White House. There was no music in the program.

Mrs. O'Daniel, his sons, Pat and Mike, and daughter, Molly were seated behind him and Mike occasionally wiped the back of his father's neck with a handkerchief. The room was warm.

The governor's official family was present, including his secretaries. Around the large room were Secretary of State Bill Lawson, Director of Unemployment Compensation Claude Williams, Criminal Appeals Court Judge Tom R. Beauchamp, State Auditor B. D. Battle, Highway Commission Chairman Brady Gentry, former member of the Public Welfare board, M. E. Sadler, former State Representative, Fred Felty of San Antonio, and other state officials.

Resolution Is Read

Members of the House included Lawrence Bruhl of Llano and Don Dove of Groesbeck.

The governor read the House resolution of endorsement after reminding that the people had elected the representatives and the latter had had ample opportunity to observe him.

"Where can you find another candidate in this race for junior senator from Texas who has a more comprehensive and wholehearted endorsement for that high office?" he asked.

The governor said he had replied to the resolution with a reminder much important business had not been completed, whereupon the legislature "pitched in and the fruits of their labor are almost miraculous."

In Short Order

"The fact of the matter is," he continued, "this 47th Texas legislature has so nearly completely finished the program which I advocated during both of my campaigns, and has done it in such short order that the general public is not yet fully aware of the full significance of what has actually been accomplished.

"I say this because of the thousands of letters still pouring in begging me to stay here as governor for the third term, or fourth term, and to keep on fighting for this social security program, and old age pensions, and the rights of the common citizens of this state.

"Well, friends, the fact of the matter is, the fight has already been largely won, and the victory has been more complete than that of any other governor's program in the entire history of this state."

He then named a series of "victories."

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—The stock market today ambled through one of the slowest sessions in the past 25 years without developments any real strength or weakness in any department.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 39.6. Of the 530 individual issues traded, 170 were up, 179 down and 181 unchanged. Transfer of 223,010 shares actually were the smallest for a full-strength since Aug. 26, last, and there have not been many under this figure since 1916. The total compared with 287,060 Friday.

Lack of inspiration in the war news and a slight chill resulting from the treasury's excess profits tax program presented to congress tended to restrain the speculative urge, brokers said. While prospects for peace in coal mining controversies brightened, the demand of the railway brotherhoods for a 30 per cent wage increase involving some $168,000,000 annually was an offset here. Rail stocks and bonds, however, generally kept declines to relatively minor amounts.

On the credit side of the market ledger was an estimated jump in this week's steel mill operations to a new record peak insofar as tonnage production was concerned, another lift in crude oil prices and expanding demand for copper. Steels, coppers and oils were slightly in front most of the day.

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—On the tug of opposing forces cotton prices fluctuated erractically today, closing 1 to 5 points lower.

Against the disposition of traders to interpret bullishly the remarks of Agricultural Secretary Wickard on the parity price loan situation, there was an offset in reports that ceiling prices would be set on combed yarns.

In the course of the volatile session prices at one time showed moderate net gains but late trading was dominated by hedge selling by spot interests.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—A strong hint that President Roosevelt will approve the 85 per cent of parity crop loan measure passed by Congress last week gave the wheat market a jump of about four cents a bushel today from early lows.

Prices had sagged around a cent in early dealings but when the hint came one of the most rapid rises in recent years took place. Quotations at one stage showed net gains of as much as 3¼ cents compared with Saturday's close, May reaching $1.03⅜. All deliveries were at new highs for the past year.

Heavy profit taking reduced these gains about a cent but wheat closed 1¾-2⅛ higher than Saturday, May $1.01¾, July 99¾-⅞. Lard and soybean futures reached highs for the past four years and other grains were affected by wheat. Corn closed ⅜-¾ higher, May 71⅝, July 73⅜-½; oats unchanged to ⅝ up; rye unchanged to 1⅛ higher; soybeans 1⅜-2⅜ up and lard 12-15 higher.

Murphy, new wildcat start in west central Terry county, was spudding Monday, Denver Producing and Refining company No. 29 Whittenburg estate, also in the Wasson, made 1,058.40 barrels daily after acidizing with 10,000 gallons at 5,163 feet.

Drilling Continues

Two wells were completed by Amerada Petroleum corporation in the Seminole pool of central Gaines county. Its No. 2 Austin set a potential of 612.72 barrels a day after a 120-quart nitro shot at 5,240 feet. No. 7 Walter Turlin was acidized with 2,000 gallons at 5,320 feet and flowed at the rate of 613.12 a day. Magnolia and Atlantic No. 1-189 Havemyer & Jenny, in Seminole townsite, is rigging up rotary. North Shore Corporation of Midland completed two more producers on its Ruth Bennett lease in the Wasson field of southern Yoakum county. Both are on the north line of production. No. 2 Bennett rated daily potential flow of 1,040.40 barrels after acidizing lime from 5,070 to 5,276 feet, total depth, with 7,500 gallons. No. 3 Bennett made 1,139.68 barrels a day following a similar treatment in pay from 5,065 to bottom at 5,275 feet.

ing the bill.

Agents Not Reached

Members of the Texas liquor control board were out of town Monday night and could not be reached to give information on the policy they would follow in prosecution of cases of sales today.

Other law enforcement officers were of the opinion there could be no arrests on sales of liquor Sunday and, even, until the bill became law Monday afternoon. The bill was made law immediately on the governor's signing it.

Under the new measure, a physician can issue no more than 100 liquor prescriptions in any 90-day period.

Army Bomber Crash Is Fatal For Four

RAINS, S. C., May 19.—(AP)—A collision of two light army bombers high above this little eastern South Carolina town, followed by fire and an explosion, cost the lives of four fliers today.

Army authorities at the Savannah air base, from which the planes had taken off on a training flight to Langley field, Va., said the victims were: Second Lieut. Frank B. Ralston, Pittsburgh, Pa., Second Lieut. Allen J. Moore, Reno, Nev., Serg. David L. Boyd, Frost, Texas, and Corporal Herbert O. Pruitt, Collinsville, Miss.

One of the planes was shattered by an explosion as it landed atop a deserted tenant house, and the other caught fire and was so thoroughly consumed that eyewitnesses at first were certain there had been six men killed.

French-German Pact?

thus remained for the moment more important for what was foreshadowed, but in Africa there was a different story.

A signal British success in Ethiopia—the fall of the lofty fortress of Amba Alaji after a long and bloody siege—was acknowledged by the Italians.

It was the last strong position of the Fascists in northeast Ethiopia and its surrender, along with some 7,000 troops by British estimate, and the Italian commander, the Duke of Aosta, left only two areas of resistance, the Gondar section of the northwest and in the Jimma area in the south.

Against these the British hurried their offensives in the hope of breaking the whole of the colony despite the arrival of the rainy season. General advances were claimed by British headquarters; the Italians went no further than to say that their resistance was "continuing."

The British announcement limiting Fascist captives at Amba Alaji to probable 7,000 occasioned some surprise, since it had been generally understood that the Italian gathered there had once numbered 38,000.

Losses Enormous

A probable and partial explanation lay in the Italians' implications that their losses were enormous. They saluted Aosta and his men as heroes who had not quit until the last of their cartridges, food and water were gone and they could no longer treat their wounded.

The situation in North Africa, where the British may shortly be greatly strengthened if their army of Ethiopia is able to smash out a final victory there, appeared to be still one of see-saw fighting in and about the border Egyptian village of Salum.

Greek Ship Missing

Capetown," but this report was substantially the same as the one the German station broadcast earlier in the day under a New York dateline.

At that time the source was given as the official British announcement that the ship was "presumably lost."

Although there was no official word that the Zamzam had been heard from since leaving Recife (Pernambuco), Brazil, April 9 for Capetown, where she was due April 23, a commentator on the British radio said at 7:59 o'clock (EST) tonight "the Zamzam may be safe after all."

Source Not Revealed

The commentator, in the broadcast recorded at the Columbia Broadcasting system's short wave listening station, said:

"It's good news by the way that has just come in that the Zamzam may be safe after all. We were not less sorry than you about the presumed fate of the Americans on board; let's hope it's true that the gallant band of disinterested workers have in fact escaped the fury of those modern pirates, who took their orders from Berlin."

There was no explanation of the source of the "good news."

(In London both the admiralty and the naval affairs division of the ministry of information said the BBC report was "all news to them.")

Earlier, Edward R. Murrow, CBS correspondent in London, said in a broadcast to this country:

Was Safe Sunday

"The latest news to reach London concerning the reported sinking of the Zamzam . . . quotes the American vice consul in Alexandria as saying that the ship was safe at 7:30 Sunday night but he adds that her present whereabouts is unknown."

If the Zamzam went down with the loss of all aboard, the loss of American life would exceed that in the World war sinking of the Lusitania, when 124 Americans lost their lives.

The confusion concerning the Zamzam's fate led shipping circles in New York to wonder whether she would be a second Cyclops case. The Cyclops, a United States collier, was never heard from after being reported missing March 4, 1918, with 293 persons aboard.

The state department, meanwhile, announced it expected to receive a passenger list during the night and would decide tomorrow morning whether it could be given out.

Among the unofficial theories as to what befell her were these:

1. She may have been sunk by a German sea raider which took the survivors aboard.

2. She may have been torpedoed or mined.

3. She may have foundered in rough weather.

Or, she may still be afloat, her radio silent.

Eight Texans Said On Board Zamzam

DALLAS, May 19 (AP) — Eight Texans were believed today to have been among the 120 Americans reported missing in the sinking of the Egyptian steamship Zamzam.

Seven were listed among the passengers. The eighth, W. D. Massey, of Dallas, en route to Capetown, South Africa, for a textile concern, was known to have obtained passage on the liner.

The others missing were:

Dr. and Mrs. J. Paul O'Neal and their three year old daughter, Ann, young Dallas missionary family en route for missionary duty in Nigeria, West Africa.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Ted Fix and their two year old daughter, Mary Lenora, formerly of Dallas but more recently of Ashland, Ky., en route to Africa for missionary duty.

Mrs. Tinsley Smith, formerly of Palestine, who was en route to the Belgian Congo with her physician-missionary husband, Dr. Tinsley Smith and their 16 months-old son. Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Minter of Palestine.

Survivors Of Ships Reach Canadian Port

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, May 19. (AP) — Fifty-two survivors of three torpedoed ships were landed here during the week end after being rescued in the Atlantic, it became known tonight.

The names of the lost ships were not given, nor was their any information on how many sailors might have perished.

One 20-year-old seaman was said to have been a survivor of the British liner Athenia, first vessel sunk in the war.

Increased Prices For Crude Are Predicted

TULSA, May 19.— (AP) —Widespread crude price increases were predicted tonight by oil executives after three companies boosted prices in Oklahoma, Kansas, Illinois and the Texas Panhandle.

The price boosts, ten cents in Oklahoma, Kansas and Illinois, and nine cents in the Texas Panhandle, came just two days before Gov. Payne H. Ratner of Kansas and Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma had planned to confer with purchasers.

Ratner had declared the governors would seek a price increase because crude prices had not kept step with the upward movement of other commodities during the defense boom. The governors' conference may not now be held.

At a press conference in Washington, President William Green of the AFL said there was "a growing belief" that the AFL machinists "will recede from their position soon."

The Lorain yards of the American Shipbuilding company employ about 1,000. The strikers were understood to be asking 12 cents an hour increase in the undisclosed current pay scale.

At the Apollo Steel company, union leaders said they were asking 10 cents increase in the minimum scale of 53 cents hourly and restoration of a six per cent wage reduction made in 1938.

The five big railroad operating unions, representing 350,000 workers, joined in seeking a 30 per cent wage increase. Meeting in Chicago, representatives of the unions agreed to make formal demands on the railroads of June 10.

The new contract agreed on by the United Mine Workers (CIO) and anthracite operators provided for a 7½ per cent increase in contract and day rates until Oct. 1, and an advance to 10 per cent at that time. The basic rate has been $4.62 a day, and the union had asked $1 increase with a 20 per cent increase for contract workers. There are about 100,000 hard coal miners.

Jahncke Is Named To Post At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, May 19. (AP)—Ernest Lee Jahncke of New Orleans, a former assistant secretary of the navy, will be special representative of the bureau of ships in the Gulf of Mexico area for the United States Navy.

Jahncke accepted the post from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. With headquarters here, he will check on all naval shipbuilding contracts, expedite labor and material priorities and survey any "bottlenecks" along the coast lines of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. He was assistant secretary of the Navy from 1929 to 1933.

If Injunction Holds, Proration Said Out

AUSTIN, May 19.— (AP) —Texas Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler said that if a district court injunction issued today is "upheld by the higher courts, it means proration has failed.

The order invalidated, in the case of one oil company, the present formula used by the railroad commission in fixing allowables.

Representatives of the oil industry learned of the court decision while they attended a statewide proration hearing.

Sadler announced just before the hearing closed that Continental Oil company had been granted a permanent injunction against the enforcement of the April allowable order. The formula in the commission's statewide orders has remained unchanged since March 10.

Athens Preparing To Entertain In Annual Fiddlers Contest

(Special To The Avalanche)

ATHENS, May 19—This city is again preparing to put the big pot in the little one for the annual Fiddlers contest and homemaking on May 30. Approximately fifty fiddle bands will vie for honors in this "East Texas Grand Opry" contest which annually draws from 25,000 to 35,000 people.

The famous prison band which made its first appearance outside the walls when it came to the 8th annual contest will be back again this year. And added attraction to the band competition will be fifty dollars in prizes for the best left-handed fiddler. All southpaw fiddlers are invited to file their entry immediately.

Newspapermen, Solons Coming

A large majority of the members of the state Senate and House of Representatives have signified their intention of being present and along with some 250 newspaper men will be guests at the annual barbecue given members of the fourth estate by Arch Underwood of Lubbock at his club lake.

The Fiddlers contest is one of the outstanding events in Texas. It is conducted solely for pleasure and no one profits from it.

Principal speaker (and the speeches are always short) will be Gerald Mann, who will deliver a non-political address. The program will get underway at 10 a.m. and will last until the wee smal hours of the following morning, culminating in a street dance that annually sees 10,000 people dancing at one time on the spacious square at Athens. Because May 30 is a holiday Athens is preparing to take care of its largest crowd in history.

Texas Ratification Of Measure Repealed

AUSTIN, May 19.— (AP) —The Senate today passed a House bill repealing Texas' ratification of a compact to share with New Mexico regulation of the Pecos river.

The compact was never ratified by New Mexico.

No amendments were added to the bill in the Senate; thus it will go to the governor's office for his signature.

No action had been taken on a resolution by Rep. Taylor White of Odessa instructing the attorney general to file suit against New Mexico for Texas' share of the Pecos river waters in the Alamogordo reservoir.

The resolution, which would appropriate $30,000 to finance the suit, has been approved by the House appropriations committee.

Claim of Texans who live along the Pecos river and depend on irrigation from the Red Bluff reservoir is that New Mexico captured more than its share of floodwaters.

Unfavorable Reply To U. S. Is Predicted

TOKYO, Tuesday, May 20.—(AP)—The newspaper Yomiuri said today in a dispatch from Hanoi, French Indo-China, that the United States government recently sent the Indo-China government a strong protest against any possible Axis alignment.

The note, the paper said, was in the same vein as President Roosevelt's appeal last week to European France and added that the Indo-China government was preparing a reply that will not be favorable.

Arms Supp[li]ed Needed By A[rmy]

holding back from raw soldiers the arms, equipment and protection they may so sorely need.

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, quartermaster of the thirty-sixth, is a Texan like Generals Birkhead and Weatherred and his tongue is no less sharp.

Prove It In Speech

He proved it in another speech to the West Texas chamber. The hot-tempered colonel expostulated on the sorry state of the division's equipment. Recently, he said, the men were out practicing artillery firing. Instead of real shells the men used firecrackers to simulate the noise of battle.

"Now isn't that a hell of a note—firecrackers!" he snorted.

The problem of stirring the public out of its supposed lethargy is a bit more ticklish. You can't be too rough with such an all-inclusive group as "the public."

Gen Weatherred attacked head-on. The public—the fathers, mothers and sisters, the older brothers, uncles and aunts — just won't understand how real, how earnest is the peril facing the U. S., which means they are not realistic about the peril facing their own son or brother.

May Not Be Long

A junior officer at Camp Wolters recently commented on public—and military—attitudes. The public is amazingly unconcerned about all this mess, he said, and even among the men in this army camp there is a sense of being far away from it all. Only in Washington do you sense a breathless urgency, a feeling that tremendous things are afoot and that they concern every man-jack of us.

A white-haired old man who founded the thirty-sixth but who no longer soldiers found public feeling in a sad state not long ago when his old division put on a review.

It was Brevet. Lieut. Gen. John A. Hulen of Fort Worth speaking:

"These are terribly serious days—but look at the people. Still going around as if they had not a care in the world.

"This doesn't seem to mean anything to them this new army we are building, this terrible need for defense.

"It'll probably take something big to shock them into reality—and I don't think it will be long in coming."

Rep. Case (R-SD) introduced a bill authorizing the United States to acquire French colonial possessions in the western hemisphere and "such ships, airplanes and cargoes as the French government may care to sell." In this field, Secretary Hull told his press conference that no consultations were in progress with other American republics on the question of occupying French possessions.

Casing Is Set On Whiteface Test

By HOWARD A. TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WHITEFACE, May 19.—Casing was set at 4,940 feet, on the John O'Neal-G. W. Wheeler outpost well on the Waterdog ranch, Dela Slaughter-Wright lands, 2.2 miles south of the J. E. Alexander addition to the town of Whiteface. This well is in the northeast corner of labor 12, league 60, Martin county school lands.

Since this well cored saturated lime showing oil and gas, O'Neal et al have recorded a total of 2,000 acres more leases out of leagues 60 and 61, offsetting the well to the south and west. The operators are said to be negotiating for more close up holdings. The first of the added acreage to the block, was recorded with the county clerk at Morton, the instruments being dated May 15, in Dallas, Texas.

Test 43 Feet Of Pay

From the figures disclosed, this well will be tested from 4,940 to 4,983 feet, the total depth, unless it is decided to cement off the bottom. The bottom part of the cores taken, however, is claimed to be the best of the highly saturated, soft lime formation. Those who know details of the samples tested so far claim that the showing of sulphur water indicated in the cores, came from the hard formation between the upper and lower soft places. It is evident now that the formation which carried the water will be cased off since it is known that the water showing was had above the point where the casing is being set.

John O'Neal who was at the well while casing was run Saturday night and early Sunday, announced that the cement will be allowed to set for 72 hours. This makes possible the drilling of the plug and acidizing early Wednesday. After the acid is pumped into the hole, swabbing will begin and the preliminary tests will follow at once.

Home Guard Members To Study First Aid

Enrollment of members of Lubbock unit of the Texas defense guard in a Red Cross first aid course has reached 25, K. N. Clapp, top sergeant of the local company, announced Monday.

First session of the course will be held Wednesday night at 7:45 o'clock in the American Legion home.

The course will be in connection with a specialization program which has been adopted for the local company, of which George S. Berry is captain. Plans are to provide special training for all members of the company. Twelve have enrolled for a signalling course, Clapp reported.

Cotton Is Said To Be Sprouting; Farmers Are Busy Planting

Cotton planted last Thursday is sprouting, said Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station, pointing out evidences that seed is germinating rapidly.

"We planted cotton Thursday and Friday and I noticed Monday morning that some seed had begun to show signs of sprouting," he explained. "Of course, it may not show up above ground for a day or two, but that is coming through pretty fast."

Farmers throughout the territory were busy planting during the past week. Jones said he believed that many farmers would finish their planting of crops, except late sorghums, this week or next. Farmers who had talked to him of their work said they were making good progress.

Jones added that there is a tendency to delay late sorghum planting until about June 1. With an abundance of moisture the late sorghums can be planted in June and make better yields than with earlier plantings.

Knifing of weeds, which sprouted as a result of late April and early May rainfall, has been the job for most farmers to finish before planting.

Bombers Blast Lubbock In Opener To Hold Loop Lead

Big Spring Wins 5 To 2 Decision

(Special To The Avalanche)

BIG SPRING, May 19.—A revamped Lubbock Hubber lineup failed to find the victory column tonight, losing the first of a three-game series to the Big Spring Bombers, 5 to 2.

Long John Hyma pitched his best game of the year, but wildness and failure of his mates to hit in the clutches cost him the ball game.

Skipper Charlie Engle sent himself into the lineup at third base, benching Eddie Ledwin; put Dan Kauzlarich back in at first base, sending Elvin Mahan to left field and Ralph Wobszal to the sidelines. Warren Lorenz, the newest addition to the team, remained at shortstop.

Whelchel Holds Hubs

Hyma allowed only four hits, but one of them was Pitcher Charlie Whelchel's homer in the second with Art Shillings board. Those two runs, added to two in the first, gave the Bombers a lead they never relinquished.

Whelchel blanked the Hubs until the seventh, when Schlereth came across with the first tally. Bartkowski scored the other Lubbock run in the ninth.

The two teams continue the series here tonight.

Lamesa Dumps Spudders, 6-4

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, May 19.—D. B. Trees came through with a seven-hitter tonight to take the opener of a three-game series from the Wichita Falls Spudders, 6 to 4.

Don Lang, the speedy Lobo shortstop, paced the winning attack with four for four, and in addition handled nine chances well afield. Doc Carmichael aided the Lamesa cause with two singles and a double, driving in two runs.

Lefty Warren Kanagy pitched good ball for the Spudders, but five passes, three wild pitches and a balk contributed to his downfall.

McCrabb Pitches Athletics To 5-4 Triumph Over Tribe

PHILADELPHIA, May 19. (AP)—Rookie Right-hander Les McCrabb turned the tables on the Cleveland Indians today as the Athletics made it two in a row over the American league leaders, 5 to 4. McCrabb now has beaten the Indians, Yankees and White Sox and lost to Cleveland and Washington.

McCrabb dropped a 6-5 decision to the Indians on April 30 when Cleveland scored three runs in the ninth after two were out. He was in trouble in the ninth today, too, but with men on first and third and only one out he got Clarence Campbell to hit a 3-1 pitch into a snappy double play.

The A's won in the eighth on Frankie Hayes' infield single that scored Siebert from third.

Hayes, who had two doubles and two singles for a perfect day at the plate, also batted in the first Athletic run with a double scoring Sam Chapman in the second and did the same thing again in the sixth to tie the score. He scored one run himself in the fifth.

Big Al Milnar accounted for two of Cleveland's runs with a home run clout to score Rollie Hemsley ahead of him in the fourth.

Galehouse Sets Yanks Down For 3rd Victory

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Dennis Galehouse, one of the Browns' winter pitching pickups from the Boston Red Sox, won his third game without defeat today with a four-hit performance that helped St. Louis stop the New York Yankees, 5 to 1.

The only run off the tall, 29-year-old right-hander was a homer into the right field stands by Bill Dickey in the eighth inning.

Coming on the heels of his one-hit shutout of the Washington Senators, today's fine exhibition gave Galehouse a string of 17 scoreless innings since Cleveland counted against him May 11.

Liston and Gordon Thompson each had a homer, double and two singles in five times at bat. Liston's homer added the finishing touches to a seven-run rally in the seventh inning that erased a 14-9 advantage the Federals boasted at the beginning of the inning.

Chicago Tumbles Brooks From Top With 14-1 Win

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 19.—The Chicago Cubs, hopping on Hugh Casey and Mace Brown for nine runs in the second inning, buried the erstwhile league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers under a humiliating 14 to 1 score today before 13,120 spectators.

This was the Cubs' second straight victory over the rollicking Dodgers, and drove them into second place behind the St. Louis Cards, but there is a possibility neither game will count in the standings. Midway of today's game Manager Leo Durocher announced he was protesting both games, contending the Cubs had 26 men on the active list, one over the limit. His protest was forwarded to League President Ford Frick for possible action.

Hugh Casey started for the Dodgers in quest of his sixth straight triumph, but wildness and ineffectiveness sent him to the showers in the big blowup in the second frame.

Four of the second inning's nine runs were on Pitcher Claude Passeau's homer with the bases loaded.

Passeau yielded only four hits, one a home run by Babe Phelps.

Steers Halt Ags, Tie SWC Race

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 19.—Pete Layden, University of Texas center fielder, today homered in the last of the tenth inning to give his teammates a 3 to 2 win over Texas A. and M. college and throw the teams back into a tie for the Southwest conference baseball lead.

When Layden broke up the game by smashing one over the left field fence, both teams had won 11 and lost 3 in conference competition.

Each hopes to play one remaining game, Texas taking on Texas Christian in Austin tomorrow and the Aggies journeying to Waco for a title with Baylor, also tomorrow.

That Layden Man Again

The Aggies scored first in the fourth when Rex Francis went home on J. D. Scoggins' single.

The second A. and M. score came in the sixth when Scoggins homered.

Texas tallied twice in the fifth. Koschak singled and Pitcher Melvin Deutsch doubled, sending Koschak to third. Smith flied out and Hatton grounded out, pitcher to first.

Then Elmer Layden, the Aggies' nemesis in both baseball and football, doubled to center, scoring Koschak and Deutsch.

Lefty Bumpers, hurling for the Aggies, permitted nine hits while Deutsch allowed the Aggies six.

Come On, Kids, Let's Play Ball!

Junior Baseball School And League For Lubbock Planned

Organization of a Lubbock junior baseball league, follwing a proposed baseball "school" for youngsters under 17, is being undertaken by Clarence Fox, recently appointed West Texas director of junior baseball by the Texas Amateur Athletic federation.

The baseball school, if there is sufficient demand for it, would be conducted next week, from Monday, May 26 through Friday, May 30. It would be sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored a similar school last year.

Boys from Lubbock and all surrounding towns would be invited to enter the free school, which would be under the immediate direction of Head Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech, assisted by Coach Berl Huffman and Mule Dowell, all of whom have played considerable baseball and who are interested in seeing the "kids" start playing the game.

Summer League Slated

At the conclusion of the school, it is planned to organize a junior league to run during the summer. Teams from out of town, as well as those in Lubbock would be invited to enter the league competition.

The Lubbock Recreational department, under supervision of Mrs. John W. Wilson, has agreed to provide two playing fields this summer, and to furnish bats and baseballs. The league will become a part of the Recreational department for the summer.

Inter City Playoff Planned

Leagues also will be formed, under present plans, at Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Abilene, cities under Clarence Fox's jurisdiction, and a play-off between winners of the leagues is planned for early August, the winning team to compete in the state tournament.

Boys who are interested in the school and the proposed league are asked to register at once, by card or letter addressed to the Sports Department of the Avalanche-Journal. Each boy should give his full name, address, telephone number and age, when sending in his entry. If enough of these entries come in right away, plans will go forward for the school and the league.

Entries For National Open Number 1052

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—One thousand and 52 entries—the lowest total since 1933—have been accepted for the 1941 United States Open golf championship at Fort Worth, June 5, 6 and 7, the United States golf association announced today.

This number, slightly larger than the first count when the entries closed a week ago, includes the unusually large number of 42 players who have earned exemption from the sectional qualifying rounds. The remaining 1,010 players will have to shoot for 128 places in the big tournament at 27 locations on May 26.

The field at Fort Worth has been limited to 170 starters. Those who turned in the 30 lowest scores or tied for 30th place last year, eight former champions who weren't in that group and the home club professional, Bob Byrnes, can go in without playing in the 36-hole preliminary tests next Monday.

Two of last year's low scores, Eddie Kirk and Al Huske, did not enter. Another notable absentee will be Corporal Ed (Porky) Oliver of Camp Dix, N. J., who wanted to take advantage of the exemption offered to service golfers but said yesterday that he couldn't get away for the trip to Texas.

The complete entry lists for each of the 27 qualifying locations and the groupings for these tests will be announced next Friday.

The field will include 15 former Open championship winners.

TAAF Play To Begin June 1

Organization of the South Plains TAAF baseball league was perfected and plans for the season laid at a meeting Monday night at Powers Sporting Goods.

Six teams were represented at the meeting and were declared ready to go for the season. Two others will be added to complete the eight-team circuit.

The season's schedule will begin Sunday, June 1, and each team will play one game per week, on a round robin home-and-home basis. Joe Pierce was named league secretary.

Lineup Near Completion.

Managers and their teams at the meeting Monday night were Fred Rich, Wolfforth Richman; Rufus Bushyhead, Motor Fuels Refiners of Levelland; Jack Thompson, Lubock Dr. Peppers; Gene Cameron, Central Labor Union of Lubbock; and Marion (Lefty) Bettes, whose team is yet to be named, and W. L. Henyan, Lubbock Sandies.

Lewis Spears and Clarence Fox, TAAF director and assistant director for this district, said they hoped to complete the league with teams from Morton, Seagraves or Plainview.

Winner To Dallas

The season's schedule will be released next Sunday and will be printed, along with the TAAF rules, in Sunday's issue of the Avalanche-Journal.

The eight teams which participate in the round robin schedule will compete in a championship tournament in August to determine the district's representatives in the state playoffs. District champion will receive an expense-paid trip to Dallas to play the Dallas champion in bi-district competition.

State winner goes to Battle Creek, Mich., for the national tournament.

Mrs. Akey Hostess In Ladies Day Meet

Mrs. Charles Akey will be hostes for the day, and will award a prize for outstanding golf on the front nine.

All women players of the club are urged to attend the Tri-City league meeting at Big Spring Saturday, May 24. Those who can make the trip should contact Mrs. Akey at the club.

New Breaches In Rio Grande Levies Feared

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 19. (AP) — Flood weakened levees along the boiling Rio Grande crumbled today at Polvadera and new breaches were threatened tonight further downstream.

Some 150 familes were routed from their homes early in the day when the flooding river, swollen from melting mountain snows, swept out several hundred feet of dike and inundated more than 5,000 acres of farm and river lands.

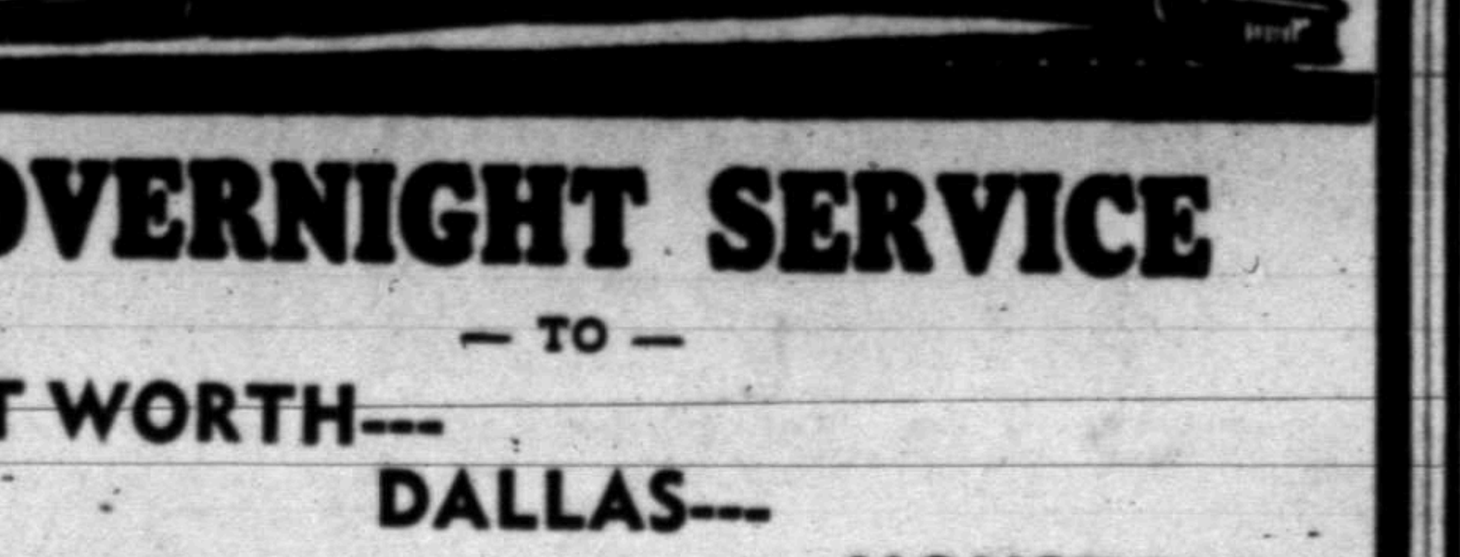

Between Polvadera, about 65 miles south of Albuquerque, and Socorro, 10 miles south, river observers warned of the threat of new breaks at the community of Pueblito.

Broadening Of Excess Profits Tax To Reach All Corporate Profits Urged

Higher Schedule Is Recommended

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 19—John L. Sullivan, assistant secretary of the treasury, recommended today that Congress broaden the excess profits tax to reach all corporate profits that increase during the defense period.

Testifying before the House ways and means committee, Sullivan said the present excess profits tax fails to reach many corporations which are making substantial profits on defense work. The present tax is 25 to 50 per cent on profits in excess of those made in certain base periods.

Should Broaden Base

Sullivan, speaking the tax sentiments of the administration, said the base should be broadened or the excess profits tax should be abandoned and replaced with a higher corporation income tax sufficient "to produce the desired revenue."

He advocated the broadened excess profits tax first, then offered the higher corporation income tax as an alternative which he said would be "a simpler, more easily administered plan."

Large sums are being collected through the present excess profits tax, he said, "but the profits of a good many business firms are not being touched by the tax, although some of those profits are excess profits by any reasonable standard."

Defense Profits Are Cited

The first type of profits which should be subjected to special taxation, he said, are those accruing from the defense program.

"Such profits are being made out of the sacrifices of the people as a whole and should be returned to the people in taxes, insofar as may be possible without destroying necessary incentives to produce defense goods," he said.

The second class of profits which should be reached by a broadened tax, he said, are those in excess of a necessary normal return on invested capital, "even if this return was being earned in the years prior to the defense program."

The existence of such profits, while often due primarily to good management, is in numerous cases due to monopoly, imperfect competition or fortunate circumstances, and not to any outstanding service to the public.

"To take an additional share of the profits in excess of a normal return on invested capital will not cause any companies to go into bankruptcy or withdraw from business."

Rites For Mrs. Scott Will Be Read Today

Funeral services will be conducted in Portales, N. M., this afternoon for Mrs. G. H. Scott, 21, victim of a non-collision accident near Denver City Saturday night, who died at noon Sunday in West Texas hospital.

Sanders Funeral home took the body to Lovington Sunday night.

Mrs. Scott suffered skull fracture and concussion, fracture of both thighs, lacerations and contusions and shock.

Her two children, Harlen Glen, 4, and Bobby, nearly 2, were dismissed from the hospital after treatment. The older had a collar bone fracture.

Body of Mrs. Scott was taken to Portales, N. M., Sunday night and funeral services probably will be conducted there Tuesday afternoon, Sanders Funeral home reported.

Survivors include the husband, two children, and her mother, Mrs. C. C. Bishop of Logan, N. M.

Mrs. Scott and two sons were en route to Denver City from Lovington when the accident happened.

As An Expert Sees It—

Behind War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The prime strategic importance of the Greek island of Crete is reflected in the struggle for control of the eastern Mediterranean.

While that water-guarded remnant of free Greece remains in British-Greek hands, the Axis will be seriously hampered in expanding the war against the British in Iraq or in converting the Franco-British clash in Syria into a stab at the Suez canal defenses.

Situation Eased

Meantime, surrender of the major remaining Italian force in Ethiopia, the duke of Aosta's army, has eased the situation for the British. That surrender, ending the most valiant stand Italian forces have made in this war, freed virtually all British imperial forces in East Africa for use elsewhere, and that at a time when they are vitally needed.

Presumably, final mopping-up in Ethiopia can be left now to Ethiopian troops with some British air and technical assistance. The bulk of the British and imperial air forces in East Africa can be shifted immediately to Iraq, to North Africa or to Crete or other eastern Mediterranean bases. From Crete, 70 miles off the Greek mainland, British air forces can and already are striking at Axis attempts to span the eastern Mediterranean by sea or air to take advantage of the war in Iraq or of the situation in French-mandated Syria.

How large an army the British can now rush westward from East Africa to bolster forces in Iraq or in Egypt is a matter of conjecture.

The Italian surrender in Ethiopia was peculiarly well-timed from the British point of view and ill-timed for Axis purposes for that reason.

With the virtual collapse of Italian resistance in East Africa, there seems urgent reason for Nazi-Fascist strategists to turn the heat of their Eastern offensive on Crete. It is a powerful obstacle to transportation of major Axis forces across the eastern Mediterranean to Syria or Iraq.

Sheriff Abel Reminds About Dancing Curfew

All public places must abide by a state law governing hours for dancing, the sheriff's department warned Monday.

Precisely at midnight on Saturdays, juke boxes and orchestras must shut down—at least, the dancing to them must stop. And there must be no renewal of dancing until the stroke of Sunday midnight, the law says.

Sheriff Tom Abel said with few exceptions operators of night spots, cafes and the like had been rather uniform in observance of the law but that there had been an "occasional complaint."

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Help For The Chinese

MOST Americans have been persuaded of the importance of getting all aid possible to Britain quickly.

But in our anxiety about the British, are we overlooking an opportunity to give help elsewhere of even greater importance to the safety and future of this nation? We refer to China.

True, the United States is helping China. Chinese leaders say they have been enabled to continue their resistance to the Japanese only because of the materials they have received from America. But while we have sent millions to China, which had almost nothing, we have provided billions for the British, the second richest nation on earth.

The Japanese now give every evidence of being heartily sick of what Tokio terms the "China affair." They want peace. True, they want to keep most of the fruits of their conquest. But the terms they offer still are by far the most favorable mentioned since the "affair" began.

Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese leader, has refused to rise to the bait. He is beginning to scent victory. He says he can win if the materials with which to fight are available. There are good reasons to believe he can do just that. Think what such a victory would mean in the Pacific. A Japan defeated by China would be ended as a menace. Or, if China can keep on fighting, Japan is going to be too busy and too worried to take any chance of becoming actively involved with Uncle Sam. If China is on Japan's back, there need be no great fear that the Japs will try to climb on our back if we should become involved in Europe.

The Japs now are in very much the same position as the hunter who holds a fighting bear by the tail. They will have neither the time nor energy for anything to hang on so long as the bear continues willing and able to fight. Our part, and our opportunity, is to do everything we can to keep this particular bear in its fightingest mood.

Gifts For Our Soldiers

WE hope all persons with reason to be interested saw a brief news item from Abilene a few days ago in which suggestions were offered on the general subject of keeping our soldiers happier.

Perhaps not the most important among those suggestions, but certainly the one which hit with most force the eyes of the men who were in service in 1917-18, was this: "Send along some candy, and be certain to wrap it in wax paper."

That suggestion, we believe, could have been made to read more correctly: "Send him almost anything to eat."

If the boys in camp today are like those who were in training 23 or 24 years ago, they are mostly appetite. They will consume the most astonishing quantities of food at meal-time, and then will reach the table for their next meal with the feeling that they have just barely beaten Old Man Starvation under the wire. They are at the age and are engaged in the kind of life when they really enjoy their food—when their first question concerning food will be the available quantity.

So, next to the actual cash, we would say that candy, cake, salted nuts or something of a between-meals type is likely to be received by the boy in service with the most enthusiasm.

But the other suggestions listed in the news item also were important. Lets list them again: Write him at least once a week (if you are his "girl" try to make it at least three times a week); send extra socks, preferably brown, and handkerchiefs; keep him supplied with stamps; send him the home-town paper; and try to send him a package of some kind every week because he is apt to be pretty lonesome.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE BIG SHOT OF BAGHDAD

The old cannon in Baghdad, known as Abu Khezama, was installed at the gate of the citadel about 300 years ago. Ever since it has been held in great reverence by the native women. All those who desire children come here at night to place a dedicatory lamp within the mouth of this cannon. The authorities of Baghdad claim that at least 20 per cent of the population of Baghdad owe their lives to this gun. Doctors say that, psychologically, the claim is justified.

Someday I'll Find You

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

YESTERDAY: Eileen had gotten the radio job she wanted and made a success of it. But the war came along and crowded her off the air, and now she is about down and out. She has agreed to go with Molly Flanagan to burn a candle to St. Anthony, although she is a Protestant, but on the way she decides to capitulate—to go back to Denver and the man she does not much want to marry. She gives Molly's fiance Ris a telegram to send, and goes on with Molly.

Chapter 17

Chance Meeting

The two girls pushed open the noiseless leather-covered doors and tiptoed over the stone floor; Eileen stood a little back while Molly curtsied to the tall, colored St. Anthony, near the front by the right hand aisle.

"Think what you'd be wantin' while I light the candle," Molly whispered.

Eileen could not think. Her mind went round in circles. "If I only knew what to do," she thought vaguely. "If I could only tell Jordan that I would marry him, and do it, without having to pretend I loved him. . . . Oh, well, perhaps love will come. . . ."

Molly pulled her down into a pew. "I'll be saying a decade or so," she whispered.

The little candle burned brightly on, stuck on its holder among hundreds of other candles Molly, on the inside of the pew, head bowed, was whispering prayers as the beads ran through her fingers. Eileen, half kneeling, watched it.

As she watched, two people came along down the aisle, between her and the lights. She noticed the girl's hand dilly—engagement ring, wedding ring, fur-sleeved coat. Her own hand would be like that now in a month or so.

Then suddenly, her eyes focused more sharply. She knew the shape inside the smart new coat. Lucille Anders. Lucille, married, in New York with—yes, her arm was through a man's, a man not enough taller than she was to show sharply.

They moved as Eileen started. She heard Lucille whisper, "Darling, let's burn a candle, just for luck—to make sure it's a happy marriage! Do you mind?"

And the man, moving forward, whispered back, "All right, darling." He moved a little ahead of her to pay for the candle. Eileen saw him, outlined against the treeful of candles; they glinted on his glasses, his pale, regular profile, his little stoop. Jordan Estill. . . .

St. Anthony had certainly lost no time.

Molly was rising; there was nothing for it but to face it through. She stepped into the aisle; she smiled and held her hand out. Molly, behind her, made her mouth into a round O of surprise, then swept them all outside, before Jordan could more than gasp and color.

"Isn't this splendid!" Eileen said, head high, hands out in greeting. "And what a blessing we met just now. I'd have hated to miss you, Lucille, and I'm just on the edge of a trip—how long are you both in town for?"

Lucille, beaming, proud, possessive, talked enough for herself and her bridegroom. They were in town for a week, then Jordan had to get back to work. They were doing New York. They'd called up and couldn't get Eileen's address. Wasn't she on the radio now? What network?

"Just in between things," Eileen answered steadily. And then, Molly, as it proved honestly, said that she had to be getting back. The Estills gave Eileen the address of their hotel, and the painful scene broke up. Jordan, throughout, had been silent and ill at ease; he looked at Eileen as little as he could manage.

Narrow Squeeze

Molly broke the silence as they got into the bus to get back to Third Avenue.

"You got to hand it to St. Anthony," she said. "He made up your mind for you. Well, you never liked him anyhow."

She referred, as Eileen knew, to Jordan Estill, not the saint.

"No," Eileen answered. Her whole mind was wrapped up in the fact that when Jordan got back—or perhaps by tomorrow, if people carefully forwarded his telegrams — he would have her telegram, telling him that she would come back to him and marry him.

She laughed aloud, there in the bus, so that people turned and looked at her. Well, Jordan would be getting a little of his own back, anyway.

"You coming in?" Molly said, in surprise, as Eileen walked with her to the flower shop, brightly lighted still, with Ris moving about, plain within the plate-glass windows.

Eileen nodded.

She went straight up to Ris. "Did you send the telegram?" she demanded. There might be some hope, she thought, of countermanding it.

Ris's brown eyes dropped guiltily.

"Well, no—you see, Eileen I—things went so fast I just couldn't get round to it. I'll sent it right away, now. Molly, you see to this lady, please, no?"

Eileen said excitedly, "No, no, Ris. I've changed my mind. I'm gong to stay in New York." It hadn't gone! At least her pride was saved.

Molly, leaving the lady for a minute, said, "All right, Ris, don't you bother. It was just as well, and better."

Just then another customer entered. Eileen, in gratitude, took her over. For the next hour, one of those sudden swirls of activity known as "it never rains but it pours" struck the modest little flower shop.

Eileen, glad of something to distract her mind from the shock of what she had been through, tied up sprays of gardenias and put violets into boxes and telegraphed flowers to peoples' relatives with swift capacity. Presently the tide died down.

"Gosh! A good evening. You bring us luck, Eileen," Ris said, smiling at her. "You work well. I am very glad you stay."

She stood still in the doorway. For the moment the shop was empty except for the two girls and Ris. Through the door that communicated with Nick's delicatessen, she could see Nick, with his friendly, professional smile, busily tying up a package of groceries. He beckoned Molly, gesturing to the cashier's cage. Molly, with a desperate, cocked eyebrow, laughed and started to go.

"Wait a minute," Eileen said. "Molly, didn't you say Ris wanted another helper, only he couldn't afford to pay for the kind he wanted?" "Why — why, sure I did," Molly said, startled.

"Ris," Eileen said earnestly, turning to him. "Will you take me on, for what you can pay? By the time I can find something else probably you'd be able to pay somebody else more."

"You would? You would?" Ris cried. "Oh, swell. Molly, would it not be swell?" His face brightened. "It suits perfectly. And I give you time to hunt work, when things are slack, and this poor Molly's feet get rested. What you say, Molly?"

"Why, it looks as if it might work," Molly said slowly. She went to answer Nick's frenzied gesture. And just then some more belated customers came into the flower shop, and Eileen fell to work with no more words said.

"Don't you like the idea, Molly?" she asked, when the two girls were alone together in their room, that night.

"It's all right," Molly said slowly. "We'll see how it works."

Proposal

Eileen went on hunting for work. She went on faithfully, through the rain and snow of that January, with the nondescript job at Ris's flower shop. She tried to be cheerful, to keep on having hope, to feel that somewhere, somehow, there was a future for her; that there was something better, here in New York, for that Eileen Gardner, who had been going to be so wonderful, than wearing out shoeleather trying to find work that couldn't be found.

She was sitting at the back of the little shop, rapidly making up bunches of violets, wrapping them with black thread, tin foil, adding false shiny leaves.

She had time to think, more than she wished. She preferred the work of actual selling, or keeping the books, it occupied her mind. Things were odd with Molly, too, lately. Molly was kept more and more occupied with Nick's end of things. Molly had been so good to her, always, that Eileen tried especially hard to do all the flower-shop work she could.

But lately Molly had been queer; depressed, even snappy sometimes. Which made things harder still for a girl going through one of those times in life when everything is hard. Martin . . . Martin. If she could only stop thinking and dreaming about him: a man she had seen only once, kissed only once, heard from only once more. . . .

The violets were done. Eileen's mouth set. She walked across to the high desk, and deliberately picked up the wire cutters that lay there, to twist Martin's gold ski off her bracelet and stop being a little fool. A hand on her shoulder stopped her.

She turned. It was only Aristides. The shop was empty, this day of cold downpour.

Aristides looked at her with those doglike brown eyes of his. He said to her, "Eileen, I have

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

OFFICIAL uneasiness over pro-Axis symptoms in Brazil accounts for the Administration's unpublicized decision to invade that country with American funds, in an effort to "de-Germanize" several commercial air lines which fan out into the interior and toward the Panama Canal. As the nearest point to French-controlled Dakar in Africa, Brazil is the most vulnerable spot on the Western Hemisphere.

For several years the State Department has tried to persuade Pan-American to buy a controlling interest in these feeder lines. But Pan-Am has replied that the business is unprofitable, and it cannot afford to put its own money into this defense venture. Although surrounding republics are friendly to the United States and probably would expropriate the German-owned services, Washington hesitates to counsel the use of such a weapon for fear it may be turned against us some day.

The bill permitting the R.F.C. to create any kind of corporation anywhere, even outside American boundaries, would solve the problem. Funds could be advanced to Pan-Am in the name of national defense, to buy into existing lines or to set up competing companies. But that measure remains bogged in Congress. So President Roosevelt plans to expedite the movement to loosen the Nazi grip by advancing money from his special fund for "emergency" national defense purposes.

CONQUEST: Powerful Axis interests in Brazil, particularly German and Italian, are waging a fierce battle to overcome the present dominance of a faction favorable to hemispheric solidarity. In recent weeks there have been ominous signs that they are making headway.

Our principal friend in Brazil is the Foreign Minister, Oswaldo Aranha. Formerly Ambassador to the United States, he married an American wife and was a close friend of President Roosevelt. But his influence apparently has waned, and recently he was given a two months' leave. There are 900,000 Germans and 1,200,000 Italians in the country. These are engaged in trade, finance, industry, aviation, transportation, etc. They are powerful figures, politically. And there are also many Spanish Falangists (Fascists to us) sympathetic to the Axis. Every man is a salesman for dictatorship. Significant, too, is the failure of Brazil to seize the Italian and German ships in her harbors.

High Army officials are suspected of inclining toward the Axis. They visited the United States last year, when we were just embarking on our rearmament program, and they were not impressed by our then military strength. They have been amazed by Hitler's conquests on the Continent. An Army coup, in Washington's opinion, easily might install a new Government friendly toward the totalitarian setup, and force this country to intervene with more than note writing. Any pro-Axis regime would be of a Fascist rather than a Nazi nature, for fear of antagonizing the large Catholic population. But any kind of revolution in such a powerful western republic would suit the Germans.

DILATORY: Frank admissions of shortsightedness, made before the Truman Committee by O.P.M. spokesmen, corroborate what every insider and keen observer at the Capital has known for months. The job of preparing the United States for all-out defense or war has been bungled beyond belief, but the American people have refused to believe it.

Only last August Edward R. Stettinius denounced those who forecast a shortage of aluminum. Now the O.P.M. proclaims that there will not be enough for "indirect" military needs, or even for kitchen pans. Automobile production must be reduced still more to save essential metals, rubber and machine tools. Gano Dunn's White House-sponsored report on the sufficiency of steel has been repudiated by events. The original shipbuilding program has turned out to be too small and too slow. O.P.M. accepted the railroads' report of sufficient rolling stock, but new cars and locomotives will be needed soon. No serious provision for preventing strikes has been made as yet.

It is true that the re-armament program has been expanded. But as late as last Fall the O.P.M. took a complacent and comfortable view of the defense problem. By that time Hitler had conquered almost all of Europe. Now the planners have set out to awaken Congress and the American people to facts and problems which should have been faced long since.

NEW YORK
By S. Burton Heath

PRESISTENT reports are current in New York military circles that the famous American Navy bombsight, already considered much the best in the world, has been still further improved. The subject is cloaked in even greater mystery than has been the case hitherto. There is reason to believe the Germans now have obtained or produced the equal of our second-best device and are using it on their own planes.

The Air Corps is said to have tightened in recent weeks its already drastic regulations concerning the release of information on bombardment training and equipment. At one field carefully guarded test operations have been going on, at night. Participants have been limited to a small group of carefully selected men. The plane used is of a standard type, which no longer holds any mysteries to be protected. Military men draw the inference that there is special equipment in process of being tried out on the machine—specifically, the reported new bombsight—which is responsible for the hush-hush.

With the present secret sight a good bombardier is supposed to be able to drop his missile into a barrel from two miles in the air. Any improvement upon such performance would verge upon the miraculous.

UNCONTROLLED: The Pacific Coast walkout of shipbuilding machinists has given to advocates of more stringent wartime control over organized labor the strongest talking point yet. Both A.F. of L. and C.I.O. unions are involved. The strike violated the existing agreement, was started against the advice and consent of higher labor officials, and arose because of relatively slight differences which produced little popular sympathy. It is being advanced as a clearcut illustration of how a mere 1700 key strikers can hamstring the hugest of our defense efforts.

Previous strikes have offered one, two or sometimes even three of these talking points. But none before has concentrated so many of them, so clearly and unequivocally presented, as does the ship strike. The men had been getting $1 an hour, and double pay for overtime. They asked for $1.15 an hour and double pay for overtime. They refused to accept $1.12 and time-and-a-half for overtime. The scale was so high, and the difference between the yards' offer and the men's demand so small, that many of those most ardent in Labor's behalf are saying that there was no excuse for striking in a key defense industry.

The situation has given much impetus to the drive for some new legislation which will make organized labor, perforce, a cog in the nation's war effort. It is being advanced as evidence that the brave statements of the unions' general staffs mean nothing, because they have proven incapable of controlling their members.

Another thing this country needs is some means whereby the ultimate consumer could see an invisible tax.

The greatest problem concerning the use of your leisure is how to keep other people from using it.

An insane person is one who believes a large number of things that aren't so. How crazy are you?

Inflation comes so gradually that a number of people will not realize it is here until the ten-cent stores begin handling stock and bonds.

When that gal friend sets the clock ahead it's you who are slow.

Side Glances---By Galbraith

"He'd get humpbacked if he had to carry all the money he's got socked away in this bank—yet he bums a cigaret off me every time he makes a deposit!"

The Plainsman Says:

WASHINGTON, (By Air Mail)—The most powerful, the most dynamic personality this capital city has seen since that March day in 1933 when Franklin Roosevelt moved in at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue, is Robert G. Menzies, prime minister of Australia.

Here on a closely guarded diplomatic mission and to confer with the President of the United States on "matters of importance to the country each represents," Mr. Menzies took time out to lunch with 500 Washington correspondents, senators and representatives at the National Press club; to make a ringing speech and, incidentally, to astound his listeners.

Billed to make an "off-the-record" address, "the strong man from down under" surprised one and all by talking "on-the-record," which means he can be quoted; and by further putting himself "on the spot" by receiving and answering questions from the floor.

So well did he speak; so honest was he in his remarks, his audience—without a doubt the most hardboiled in the world—frequently was moved to applause and outright cheers. Upon several occasions he had his listeners on their feet as he brought his message from far-away Australia and from a people more like our own than any other race in the world.

"I HAVE traveled 30,000 miles," said Mr. Menzies, "since I left Melbourne. During my travels at least 100 persons have told me what NOT to say publicly in the United States. But I have declined to accept the advice given men and here, today, I prefer to speak to you as one free man to other free men in a world in which freedom has all but disappeared."

To tell the unvarnished truth about Mr. Menzies' speech, it frankly was aimed at stimulating American support for the British empire in the latter's struggle against the Axis powers.

Yet to continue in the cause of truthfulness, the man was so sincere, so thoroughly honest, that even those isolationists and peace-lovers in his audience were moved by his plea that "this is no part-time war," and "whichever side wins must do so by going 'all out' for the purpose."

Stocky, gray-haired Premier Menzies told his listeners that support of Britain could not be measured in the expenditure of pounds, or dollars, alone.

He sketched the contributions of his Australia in World War No. 1, and contrasted those contributions with those in the current struggle, stressing the fact that Australia is spending more today than in the 1914-1918 period in both money and blood.

And by inference he let his listeners know that in his opinion the United States must follow through.

AS ALL and sundry on our South Plains must know, The Plainsman personally has doubted the necessity of our getting into this war.

The writer, since the first shot was fired in the fall of 1939, has clung tenaciously to the theory—and the belief—that the United States should not again be sucked into the morass of European troubles. And never has he doubted the wisdom of pursuing peace until listening to Robert Menzies. Admittedly, the Australian prime minister hammered his thoughts home.

Here was a man representing a nation very similar to our own.

Here was a man, chosen as a leader by a proud, free people unwilling to bend the knee to Britain, or to any other foreign power, although a part of the far-flung empire of King George.

And when he said that he and his people were fighting the Axis powers because they could not look forward to living in a world dominated by the theories of Hitler, and Mussolini, and Stalin, he made a deep impression.

So nearly sold was The Plainsman by Prime Minister Menzies that he purposely went to Arlington cemetery directly from the Australian's speech and immediately prior to writing these lines.

There he gazed upon the tomb of "an American soldier known but to God"; there he gazed over row upon row of white crosses which mark the final resting place of men who have died for our country; there, on the rolling hills of Virginia with the capitol's dome and the monument as a backdrop, The Plainsman communed with our nation's hallowed dead in a deliberate effort to offset the effect of the Australian's convincing appeal.

And as we rode back across the broad Potomac, down the tree-lined streets of Constitution avenue, we were glad the decision is not ours to make.

Maybe we should go in; maybe we should not. The Plainsman doesn't know.

But whatever we do, let us hope it is the right thing for our people and the generations to come.

THE WORD "propaganda" is one we use a great deal these days and because we use it frequently we are inclined to be puzzled as we seek to separate propaganda from truth.

To be absolutely honest with the readers back home, The Plainsman cannot say whether Australia's prime minister is a clever propagandist, or a man with a message which all of us should heed.

But we can say that he was as dexterous as a master organist as he played upon the emotions of those who heard him; that he was—and is—a super salesman.

Our only regret is that immediately after the Menzies speech we were not able to hear another great and convincing speaker attack the problem from the other side of the picture.

Then we might do a better job in evaluating the problem.

As The Plainsman looked around and about he missed no opportunity public opinion whether or not the States should enter the

He has talked to people many walks of life, has questioned them and carefully chronicled their feelings. As a result he can say without fear of being wrong that people here feel much more strongly about the war than we of West Texas.

People up here do to temporize. They reason. Their mind up, one way or the other that's that.

But everyone whether for or against entry, that "we ready in the war." ing can be done ab calling for peace.

It wasn't a big demonstration, and the closest thing to a lethal weapon used were leather belts with heavy buckles. Not over 30 persons were involved and less than a score of policemen broke up the fight. We saw only one person picked up by ambulance attendants and the morning papers recorded only that one victim.

But the incident shows the temper of the people and is important for what it indicates, rather than for what it really was.

The Plainsman can't imagine people fighting each other on Lubbock's Broadway over whether we should remain at peace, or go to war.

Yet it happened here—and in front of the most famous residence in all the land.

But if there is confusion and bewilderment and difference of opinion among ordinary citizens, those ordinary citizens are not alone in their dilemma. The same situation holds, generally speaking, among the men who make our laws.

Yesterday, The Plainsman had lunch with four members of Congress, including a couple of fellows who have been his friends since college days, and we all "let down our hair" and told each other the truth.

Your home town correspondent can tell you in all honesty that Congress, too, is bewildered, just as you probably are.

Nobody seems to be able to give the right score and the correct inning of the game!

Armed Might Must Be Answer To Nazis, Wickard Says

Parity Prices Said Objective

(By The Associated Press)

HUTCHINSON, Kas., May 19—Secretary Wickard charged today that Nazi Germany was "deliberately trying to form a combination of nations to attack us."

Speaking on a farm and home hour program, he said:

"The answer to any dictatorship combination aimed at the United States will be something the Nazis should understand and respect—armed might."

"We are the only hope of millions living in bondage. In Latin America, many countries are watching us to see whether we will make good our promises, or whether we simply mean to talk and gesture...."

Wants Crops At Parity

"The Nazis and Fascists are watching us and every sign of indecision fills them with joy. If we simply talk, why the rest is easy. They'll rule the world and spit on democracy every day."

Turning to domestic agriculture problems Wickard said that President Roosevelt "wants the basic crops to reach parity this year."

(Parity is a price that would give farm products relatively the same purchasing power as they commanded in the years 1909-1914.)

Wickard made the announcement in an address for delivery on a farm and home hour program. Besides wheat, the basic crops he mentioned were corn, cotton, tobacco and rice.

He coupled his discussion of agricultural problems with renewed advocacy of assuring the safe delivery of lease-lend shipments to Great Britain.

"There is no sense in producing for delivery at the bottom of the ocean.... I say, let's see that the goods are delivered."

In his forecast of parity, Wickard indicated that it would be achieved by current benefits plus the parity loan bill which congress sent to the White House last week. There had been some questions as to whether President Roosevelt might veto that measure, but Wickard intimated that it would receive approval.

tried to show you. Eileen, I have fallen for you hard. I am in love with you."

She pulled away. She said sharply, "But good gracious, Ris, you're going to marry Molly Flanagan!"

Ris said, with that disarming gentleness of his, "I have always liked Molly. I do not wish to be rude with Molly. But Eileen, you must know how it was. Nick and Molly, they always both tell me what to do. Tell me to wake up, be a sport. Nick pushes me, Molly pushes me, and presently I find that everybody is sure I will marry Molly."

He had taken his hand off her shoulder. He did not try to touch her, he only stood, looking at her, gently, adoringly.

She shook her head. She said, "I don't love you, Ris. I never thought of you that way any more than I would a married man. And even if I did, Molly's been the best friend I ever had."

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Total railway operating revenues of the Southern Pacific transportation system in 1940 were $231,932,279, an increase of $14,359,390 or 6.6 per cent over 1939, A. D. McDonald, president, said in his annual report to stockholders today.

McDonald said freight revenues of $189,213,149 were larger than for any year since 1930 and were 9.55 per cent ahead of 1939.

Peru estimates it now has 1,500,000 wild vicunas.

Labor Hearing Is Conducted Here

Cliff Potter, NLRB field agent, conducted first hearing to be held in Lubbock under the National Labor Relations board act in the federal building Monday for employes of the Arizona Chemical company plants at Brownfield and O'Donnell.

Potter, who acted as trial examiner, said the hearing was for the purpose of certification to the company by the board of Chemical Workers Union No. 22,645 as the official bargaining unit for workers at the two plants. After certification, the union will be the legal bargaining unit for employes with the company on wage and working conditions and other matters.

43 Join Union

There are 43 employes of the two plants who have joined the union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. The plant produces chemicals used in industries.

W. L. Sturgis, superintendent of the plants, represented the company, with George W. Dupree, as attorney. W. R. Williams of San Antonio, an organizer and representative of the American Federation of Labor, appeared for the union.

Carnie Russell, also of Fort Worth, a field examiner for the board, participated. Potter said he was both a field examiner and a trial examiner for the board, empowered to conduct hearings.

Protection Of Jobs For Registrants Is Urged By Gen. Page

"Help protect your civilian jobs by keeping your employers informed of your selective service status," Gen. J. Watt Page, state selective service director, urged in a communication to Lubbock draft boards Monday.

Complete cooperation between employes and employers at all times is imperative to insure civilian job protection for registrants, Gen. Page said. "Each registrant should advise his employer promptly as to how he has been classified for selective service, when he expects to be called for training, and then as to what his plans are after he has had experience in military life."

The selective service act, he pointed out, gives civilian job protection to every man inducted into the military service under its authority, whether he be a selectee or a volunteer. It provides that each shall receive a certificate of merit if he completes his military training to the satisfaction of his superior officers. Then, if he makes application within 40 days after he has completed his year of training and is still qualified to perform the duties of his civilian job, the law says he shall be restored "to such position, or to a position of like seniority, status and pay unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it unreasonable or impossible to do so."

The selective service training shall be considered by their employers as a furlough, he added.

3. The Equitable Life's total investments in Texas amount to over $36,000,000.

6. During the year 1940, the Equitable Life issued policies on the lives of citizens of Texas in the amount of $16,595,902.
