Board reviews Rural Health Clinic

By Alice Gilroy

FLOYDADA — Caprock Hospital Board members met on Thursday, October 1, with representatives from Methodist Hospital Regional Services and Hospital Home Care Corporation, to discuss opening Caprock Hospital as a Rural Health Care Clinic.

Arthur Rice and Mark Rawls, from Hospital Home Care Corporation, of Dallas, explained benefits and drawbacks of a Rural Health Care Clinic.

According to Rice, a RHC would expand the hours that health care was available to the community, and it would get people coming back to Floydada for their health care. Rice also told the board that it could also make it easier to recruit another physician.

The problems with an RHC would be the cost of opening the clinic and the fact that Caprock Hospital no longer has a Health Provider number.

Rice explained that Methodist Hospital could open the clinic with their own Health Provider number and run it until Caprock Hospital was able to take over.

Caprock Hospital would not be able to obtain another health provider number until they opened the hospital as a 24 hour health care facility with doctors on call and fully staffed with nurses.

"Before we can do anything," said Truman Swinney, Caprock Hospital's Interim Administrator, "we have to update the hospital to current building standards.

"This is the first priority of the hospital. There are a lot of renovations that need to be done to meet life safety code standards, as well as requirements from TDH and EPA.

"We need two new boilers right away. The old ones are beyond repair. They have been there since the building was built. There are small items such as getting the fire alarm system repaired and recertified, new locks on patient doors, and even testing the wall paper to see how much heat it will withstand. There are also major items that need to be repaired and updated.

"It is not just not a matter of hiring some nurses and opening the doors."

Besides the cost of replacing the fire tube boilers at a cost of $25,000 each, other repairs include: repair of four compressors and heat exchangers of 50 ton reciprocating air conditioning units, estimated cost of $5,000; installing new emergency power transfer switch, estimated at $12,000; recertification and refilling of oxygen system at a cost of $10,000; repair both water softeners and controls, $2,500 each; repair steam and water valves associated with domestic hot water system, $1,000; and registration and leak testing of underground storage tank, estimated cost of $1,000.

After explaining the RHC to board members, Rice, Rawls, and Methodist Hospital representatives, Ray Mason and Joe Kennedy, adjourned to the clinic to visit with Dr. Hoang and his wife Lisa.

"The Hoangs are supportive of the RHC," said Swinney. "Dr. Hoang would oversee the operations and any one admitted to the emergency room would be seen by a physician assistant who would be accountable to Dr. Hoang. If there was an emergency that the PA could not handle, then Dr. Hoang would be called."

Swinney also reported to the board on physician recruitment which is continuing.

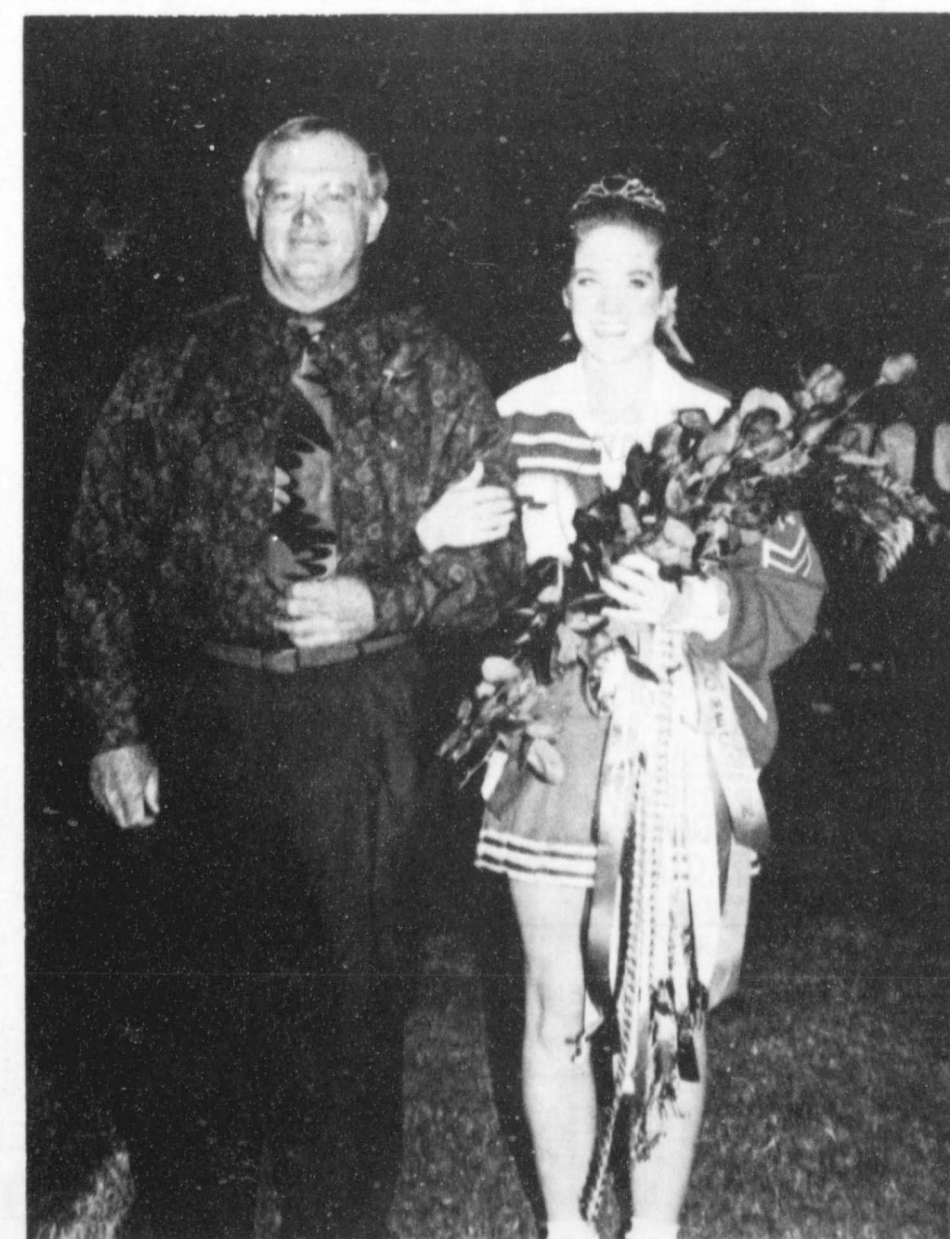

"I don't believe it would be wise to open the hospital on a 24 hour basis until we got another doctor," said Swinney. "One doctor could not handle everything."

"I am looking into several leads on doctors, at this time."

No decision was made by the board on opening Caprock as a RHC. They agreed to study the matter and will meet again for a regular board meeting, Thursday, October 15, at 7:00 a.m.

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

Floydada's Homecoming Committee can now breathe a sigh of relief. They did a great job!

Now we have to pray for the Homecoming folks in Lockney this week-end. Good Luck!

Floydada and Floyd County are getting a lot of very good publicity out of their pumpkin production this year.

A photographer from Texas Highways was in town last week and spent two days taking pictures of pumpkins, etc., all over the county. First he was taken from field to field by the Punkin Day Chairman Anne Carthel, and then he was flown all around, for aerial pictures, by Jeff Johnson, president of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce.

A Texas Highway reporter and photographer will also be at the Punkin Days festival, October 31. The photographer said he will be looking to take pictures of pretty women and cute kids. I'm sure we'll be able to accommodate him.

Jeff Johnson also donated his time, plane, and expenses, to fly a TV crew from Bryan to Floydada. The folks are filming a commercial for a farmers market in Bryan. A reporter also came with them. The reporter will be getting information for his farm news broadcast.

The film crew had called Anne a while back and expressed an interest in filming a commercial here about the pumpkin production. They started to back out because of expenses and Jeff came to the rescue. He flew down there and brought them back. (I'm not sure if he has agreed to take them home.)

Karla Leslie, of KCB, will be filming a program about cooking with pumpkins, at the Floydada High School Home Economics class. Karla will also be filming at the Circle Dot Ranch, for breakfast, on October 19 (see the ad inside the paper).

The Fort Worth Star Telegram, the San Antonio paper and the Austin American Statesman will also have stories about Punkin Days.

Punkin Days is three weeks away, but Lockney's Old Fashioned Saturday is this Saturday. If you have never made it to Lockney for this event, you have really missed out. Their entertainment throughout the day and their street dance in the evening are lots and lots of good clean fun.

We have a story in this week's paper about Lockney's Homecoming events and Old Fashioned Saturday. Check it out and come bring your family to the fun on Saturday.

For those of you who noticed that there was no By The Way column in last week's paper, I just wanted to explain that I shrugged off my work responsibilities and stayed home to take care of a little boy with the flu.

As usual, I was feeling guilty while I stayed home all week and made the girls I work with do everything. I was crying about my guilt complex to my mother over the phone when she told me something which was supposed to make me feel better.

She said, "Now Alice, you know they can handle it just fine without you."

Yes, I know that, but I was hoping the big bosses didn't know that.

Anyway, I want to take this space to express my own little thank-you to the girls that work with me here. They are all such hard workers, who know their jobs and do it very well.

I never have to worry about if the work is going to get done and thank goodness I don't work with people I have to follow around to make sure they aren't goofing off. More often than not, they have to stay on me to make sure I'm not goofing off.

We are a family and although we sometimes bite each other's head off, we always support each other and depend on each other. I appreciate them. I'm glad I am fortunate enough to have a job that I know I can leave for my family when needed, and the job will still get done just fine without me.

This little poem is for those people who have a spell checker on their computer.

puter. You will appreciate this.

For those of you who don't know, a spell checker proofs your copy on the computer and highlights words that it thinks are misspelled. It can come up with some very strange words that it thinks you should use.

You can't rely on your spell checker to find all your mistakes because it won't tell you if you are using the word in the right context. For instance, it will not tell you if you used the word "to" right. You may have typed in "two", and as long as it is spelled right, it won't catch it.

Anyway here is a little poem for you spell checkers.

Human Brain Not Yet Obsolete

I have a spelling checker,
It came with my PC;
It plainly marks four my revue
Mistakes I cannot see.
I've run this poem threw it,
I'm sure your please too no,
Its letter perfect in it's weight,
My checker tolled me sew.

Photography exhibit on display in October

"Images of San Miguel de Allende, Mexico" is the title of the month-long exhibit of photographs by Ann McDonald, Ralls, in the First National Bank of Floydada.

Mrs. McDonald participated in a photography workshop in San Miguel, a city of 73,000 in the state of Guanajuato, during Easter Week of this year. The site was chosen because of the unusual religious processions on Thursday and Friday.

"This was an ideal place for creativity," she commented, "because the people are friendly and colorful, and the area is very photogenic."

Involved in photography since her undergraduate days at S.M.U. where she received her degree in journalism, Mrs. McDonald began to concentrate on the medium as an art form in 1981.

"When I moved to Ralls as a newlywed in 1960, I began volunteering my services as a writer and a photographer in many different ways," she explained, "but I found that I was constantly trying to photograph in the most artistically-pleasing way I could. After attempting all the usual handicrafts, I finally decided that photography really is my first love and probably only talent and that I should concentrate on improving. The challenge is in the learning and the application."

Coincidentally, in 1981 she and her husband, Craig, had the opportunity to be in California, and a close friend arranged for them to meet Ansel Adams and his wife in their home in Carmel. Through that meeting, Mrs. McDonald was introduced to a vision of photography that had not been available to her in the past.

Since then she has taken the opportunity to attend advanced workshops in Carmel and Bishop, California, as well as Santa Fe and Taos, New Mexico.

"These workshops have to be intense because they are rarely over six days. I find that I learn much better in situations like this rather than in a semester-long course. I personally would not have the patience, much less the luxury of the time, to be involved in a college course," she laughed.

She added that the instructors are among the contemporary "great" in photography and are true teachers. "They are there to help you learn to express yourself and to use the medium to the limit."

The exhibit at the bank combines many of Mrs. McDonald's favorite themes: windows, abstractions, the human comedy.

"I learned early on that I prefer to show the glory of life and the beauty all around us rather than the depressing parts. We know that there is pain in the world, but I really attempt to show that we can find the bright spots and the beautiful in almost anything if we have that attitude in our hearts," she said.

The majority of the images were printed from slides because she prefers the color quality in the positive film. She works with a professional printer in Los Angeles to achieve the results she wants. Although there are no black and white images in this exhibit, she does process and print her own monochrome in her home darkroom.

She will be teaching a series of four classes on "Very Basic Photography" through the City of Lubbock Parks and Recreation department at the Garden and Arts Center each Monday night in November.

"This is a fun thing for me to do because I find that I love giving people confidence about their photographing. I have done these kinds of classes in Ralls and Crosbyton before and have aimed them at parents and grandparents who just want to get a decent picture. It's very frustrating to buy a 'fool-proof' camera and not get what you expect," she declared.

In December she will exhibit a portfolio of abstract images entitled "My Eyes Have Seen..." at the Center for Creative Arts in Abilene.

Through friends, she may possibly show in several northern German galleries in Hamburg, Hannover, and other cities next Spring.

The artist was named one of three Merit Award winners in the recent Lubbock Art Association Merit Award Show which will entitle her to exhibit a new portfolio of images with the other two winners in November of next year. She is the first photographer to be given his honor.

The First National Bank is privileged to present this exhibit to the community during regular banking hours through October.

Floydada Police Report

By combining their forces, Floydada Police and the owners of Davis and Sons were able to catch a burglar, on October 2, when he became trapped inside Davis & Sons.

According to Floydada Police Chief, James Hale, "We were dispatched to Davis and Sons at 1:00 p.m. on October 2, regarding a burglary. The owners told us that they believed that they had been burglarized during the noon hour, when the store was closed, and they believed that the suspect was still in the building.

"When we arrived we found the suspect hiding in a false ceiling. As he was trying to escape he fell through the false ceiling. We also found $153.95 in marked cash and coins in the place the suspect was hiding."

Arrested at the scene was Edward McGregor, 38, of Floydada.

On September 30, at 12:30 p.m., police were called to Floydada High School in reference to a student assaulting a teacher. The 16 year old male had pushed a teacher several times. He was taken to Lubbock County Youth Center overnight and then turned over to the Floyd County juvenile officer.

September 26, at 12:30 a.m., in the 500 block of W. Jackson, Tomas Hernandez, 30, of Floydada, was arrested for DWI, DWLS, and refusing the breath test.

September 25, at 9:48 p.m., on 516 W. Lee, police stopped a vehicle for driving with a broken tail light. The driver, Rudolfo Esquivel, 26, of Floydada, was also charged with driving while his license was suspended.

ACCIDENTS

On September 28, at 8:00 p.m., in the 500 block of W. Missouri, the driver of a 1964 Ford Truck, traveling west on Missouri, hit a 1976 Tan El Camino Truck parked on Missouri Street facing west.

Lockney Police Report

LOCKNEY — On Saturday night at 8:30 p.m., Lockney Police were dispatched to the 400 block of SE First Street in reference to a trash dumpster fire. Within five minutes from the time the fire was put out two more trash dumpsters were set on fire on the 400 and 500 blocks of SW First Street. The Lockney Fire Department responded to the fires and put them out.

Persons caught setting these fires will be filed on for arson. A person convicted of arson can be punished by 20 years in prison and up to a $10,000 fine.

The City of Lockney is offering a $250.00 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person(s) involved in setting these fires. If you have any information please contact the Lockney Police Department. Your name will be kept confidential.

On September 25, Lockney Police investigated the theft of two lawn mowers from a residence on the 300 block of East Bryant Street. The lawn mowers were valued at $35.00 each.

On September 26, at approximately 9:45 p.m. someone stole a Cadillac hood ornament off a 1986 Cadillac that was parked at the Allsup's store. The vehicle was at Allsup's for a short time and when the owner returned to his vehicle he observed that the hood ornament had been stolen. The hood ornament was valued at $65.00.

On September 27, Lockney Police took a theft report from a resident on the 400 block of West Houston Street. Someone entered the home and took $130.00 cash from a woman's purse.

On Oct. 1, 1992, Lockney Police took a report of criminal mischief from a residence on the 300 block of SW Second Street. Someone busted the front window on the house with what appeared to be a rock.

PLANTATION TOBACCO—Jack Yeary of Lockney, has brought a little bit of the "deep south" to his front yard with his three blooming tobacco plants. The plants were given to Yeary, by his aunt, when they were very small seedlings. They were planted in his front planter in the spring and watered every day. "A lot of people have asked me for some seeds from these plants," said Yeary. "There has also been a lot of discussion from passers-by as to what kind of plants they were."

When to keep sick kids at home

With the fall and winter months come cold and flu season. And, because youngsters can often seem healthy when they're actually sick, parents are sometimes confused about when to keep their children home from school or day care.

Yogesh Pandya, M.D., Methodist Children's Hospital chief of staff, suggests the following guidelines for deciding whether to keep your child home.

* Appearance/behavior - unusually tired, pale, difficult to wake, confused or irritable, with lack of appetite.

* Diarrhea - three or more watery stools in a 24-hour period, especially if the child looks or acts ill.

* Ear infection - children may attend school after receiving medical treatment for ear infections. Untreated infections can cause permanent hearing loss and even more serious problems.

* Eyes - thick mucus or pus draining from the eye, or pink eye. Children can usually attend school soon after starting medical treatment.

* Fever - temperature of 102 degrees (orally) or higher and confusion.

* Lice/Scabies - children may not return to school until their hair has been treated with lice shampoo and the dead eggs (nits) have been combed out with a special comb. Children with scabies can go to school after treatment has started.

* Rash - body rash, especially with fever or itching.

* Sore throat - especially with fever, or swollen glands in the neck.

* Vomiting - vomiting two or more times in the last 24 hours.

* Common cold - children may attend school if they have only minor cold symptoms (symptoms other than those described above.) Children with long-term coughs or nose discharge should be seen by a doctor.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Another school reunion has come and gone, it was well planned and executed. Many times we from out-of-town do not realize the planning and work that is involved to put on an affair as large as this, we also do not in many cases find the time to THANK people such as DarLynn Hambright and her officers for all the hard work and frustration in preparing this excellent day or days for us.

So on behalf of all Exes I would like to say THANKS, plus I want to express our appreciation to you for an outstanding reunion. While we are passing out roses, we would like to thank your newspaper and the Floydada Independent School District for allowing us to use their facilities, and for all the good coverage of this event.

Once again, I would like to express our appreciation and gratitude to all the people who had a hand in making this wonderful day.

Sincerely,
Ken (Pecos) Hart

Dear Editor,

Are you like the majority of Americans across the country?

We want to exercise our right to vote, but our stomach turns over every time we think of the two choices for president.

Where did our freedom go?
Where did our sovereignty go?

Why don't we have candidates we can vote FOR, instead of having to pick the lesser of two evils.

Of course, we have a third possibility - a poor, little rich boy who can't decide if he wants to play or not. If he can't win, or even play by his rules, he'll take his toys and go home. Phooey!

BUT, something to think about — if we mark our ballot Perot, maybe enough people across our land will realize there are more than enough of us to have a third party.

Most people do not agree with either of the present major parties, so WHY NOT HAVE A THIRD PARTY THAT WE PATRIOTS CAN SUPPORT???

Whirlwind Sams Club listens to program on China

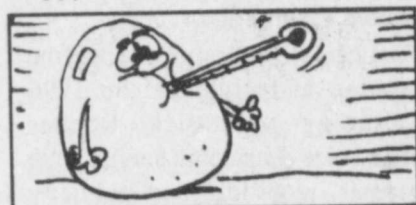

By Carol Reese
FLOYDADA — The Whirlwind Sams met at Lighthouse Electric on Monday evening, October 5, for their regular monthly meeting. The invocation was brought by Carol Reese.

Refreshments were served by Harold and Charlene Norrell, Mac and Marge McElyea, and Milton and Jo Harrison. The tables were decorated with a Halloween theme.

Harold Reese, program chairman, introduced Myra Applewhite of Plainview, who told of the three and one-half terms that she spent in China teaching English to Chinese students in four different universities. She told of her leaving China after the massacre on Tiananmen Square in June 1989. The train stations, roads, and the airport in Nanjing were all closed, and she and an American couple arrived in Hong Kong after a 32-hour boat trip. She showed a video that she had taken of many scenes in Beijing, where she lived when she returned to China after the massacre.

After the program, Boone Adams, president, conducted a brief business meeting. Claude Weathersbee discussed plans for the next campout which will be in Kerrville. The door prize was won by the Harrisons.

Special guests were Gordon and Teta Kirkley, former members of the club. Thirty four members were present. The meeting adjourned after the singing of "Happy Trails."

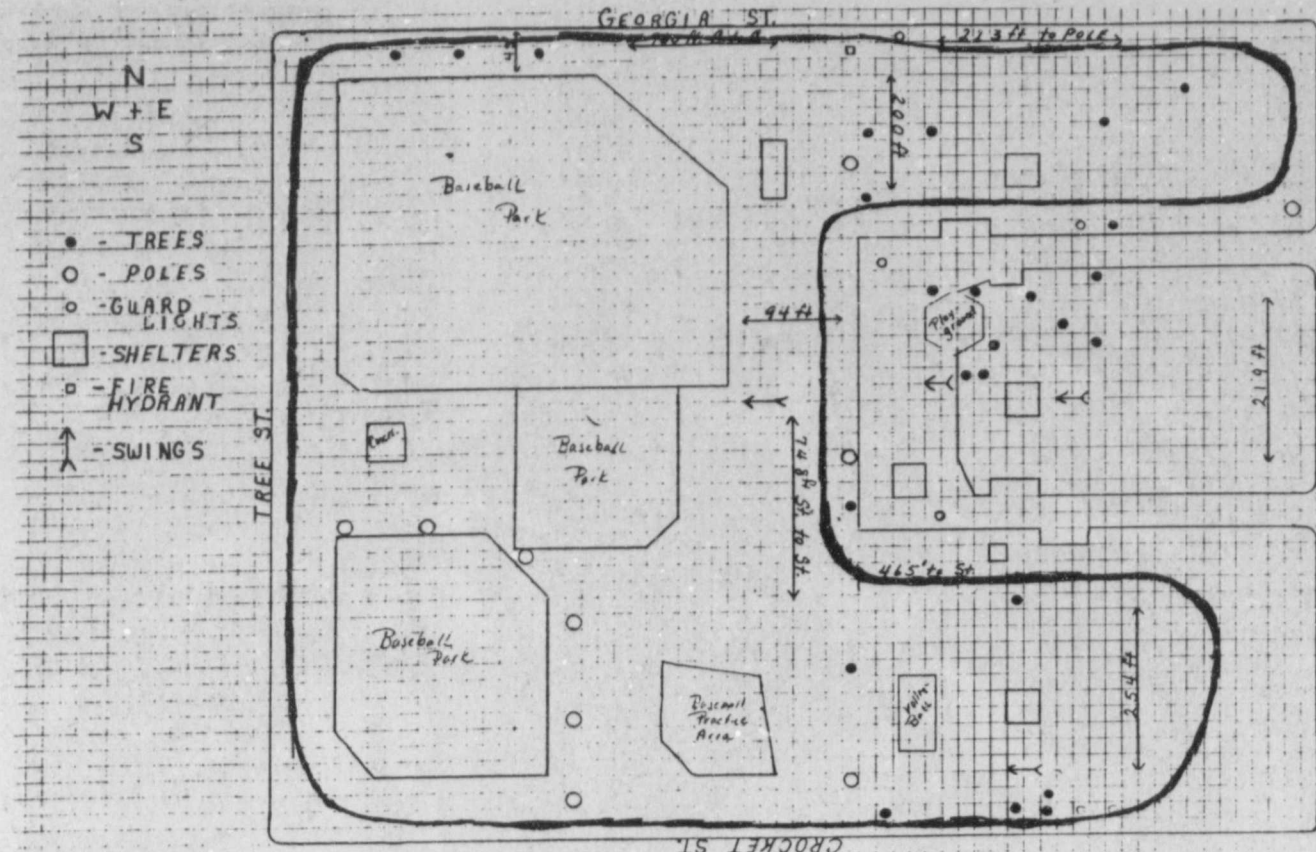

When making meringue, make sure the eggs are room temperature and add a pinch of baking powder before beating.

Steps to building your child's self-esteem

Submitted by Melissa Long, CEA-HE

Editors Note: This is the first article in a series of three.

At one time or another most parents ask themselves: "What can I do to help my child feel better about himself. . . to feel more confident. . . to view life positively?" The answer, of course, is not a simple one. It does, however, merit our serious concern since it is widely recognized that the presence of these characteristics in children and adults is critical to their happiness and well-being in life. Let's look at some of the important techniques that can be employed to build a feeling of self worth or high self-esteem in our children.

First, Check Your Own Feelings Of Self Worth

Experience has shown that parents must feel secure and good about themselves before it is possible to help their children reach this same goal. Parents with high self-esteem are most successful in creating a home atmosphere where communication techniques and family routines help children to feel loved and important for their own special talents and qualities.

Give Each Child Some Undivided Attention

Taking time to focus full and undivided attention on your child is a quality that conveys love by saying: "I care." "I have time for you." It means being with your child both physically and mentally. It means taking some time to be completely absorbed with your child. Be assured that constant, intense involvement is neither necessary nor realistic. The important thing is to let your child know that he can count on some of this kind of attention at regular intervals. It may be necessary during especially busy periods to set up a definite time for these get-togethers. Special times of stress such as those occurring during family moves, when a new baby arrives or upon entering school often require additional periods of full involvement with a child.

Look At Your Child As A Unique Person

Every effort must be made to view, respond to and value each child on the basis of his own personal criteria. . . not in comparison to brothers, sisters or classmates. When a child feels that he is accepted and valued for the unique qualities which he possesses his sense of well being grows. Problems in this area frequently arise because parents. . . often unconsciously. . . fall into the trap of viewing a child in terms of their own traits, needs, talent and shortcomings. As a result the focus is often on what a child does not have rather than on his countless assets.

Be Positive and Honest With Your Child

Whenever possible comment honestly and positively about what your child had done. Remember to tell him when he has done a good job. If you feel that you can't comment honestly perhaps you can encourage with a general statement such as: "You've worked hard today. I appreciate it!" Keep in mind too that positive responses are conveyed not only by words, but by actions as well. The value of a warm smile or a pat on the back should not be discounted.

Avoid Being a Judge

How we respond to our child and his behavior and how we express our feelings about him are critical factors in building up or tearing down his self image. Parents who learn to react to a situation without being judgemental in the process encourage positive self-esteem.

Stop for a moment and consider how you normally respond to your child's behavior. If your statements frequently begin with "you" it is likely that they include both a reaction to his behavior plus a judgement of him. If they begin with "I" you most likely are directing your response to his behavior only. Put yourself in your child's shoes! How would you feel after hearing each of these statements?

Situation

Your child's school evaluation indicates achievement below your expectations.

"You" Judgement

"You're lazy!"

"I" Reaction

"I'm worried about your grades."

Situation

A car almost hits your child in the street.

"You" Judgement

"You dope! Don't you know any better than to play in the street?"

"I" Reaction

"I'm so frustrated I can't stand it! I've repeatedly told you about the danger of playing in the street. I'm scared stiff you will be hurt."

Situation

Your child wins an art contest.

"You" Judgement

"You're such a good boy."

"I" Reaction

"I'm so proud of the drawing you entered in the contest because they show how carefully you have been observing nature."

Encourage Independence

Children build self-confidence when they are permitted to participate in or make choices and decisions. Special care should be taken, however, to provide choices and opportunities for decisions which are appropriate for the children involved. For example, allowing a young child to determine his own bedtime may not be in his best interest because he has little concept of his physical needs. On the other hand, asking him to make choices about the clothing he wears for play may be quite realistic.

Be Realistic in Your Expectations

When expectations for a child are based on his age, his particular personality and the current circumstances in which he is operating, he can more easily experience success and enjoy a feeling of accomplishment. Repeated successes make a child feel more valuable and consequently build his self-esteem.

Coleman named president of HSU Black Fellowship

FLOYDADA -- Brandy Joyce Coleman has been selected as President of the Black Student Fellowship at Hardin-Simmons University. She will represent the Black Student Fellowship on the Hardin-Simmons Baptist Student Union Executive Council.

Coleman is the daughter of Virginia Coleman and T. J. Coleman, both of Floydada. She is a 1992 graduate of Floydada High School and is a freshman student at Hardin-Simmons University.

1950 Study Club show plans for walking path

Plans are progressing for the walking path to be constructed at High School Park. The 1950 Study Club is sponsoring the campaign to raise funds to assist the City of Floydada in the construction of the path.

The path will be approximately seven-tenths of a mile and will be constructed of a suitable material for safe and healthful walking. A map of the proposed path is attached.

The club members have already contacted several of the other civic organizations to ask for their support. They have received a very good response from the organizations, businessmen and individuals. Should you desire to be a part of this worthwhile and enjoyable project please contact any 1950 Study Club member or Doris McLain at 983-3994 or Genevieve Evans at 983-3830. Also, you may leave your donation or pledge with Martha Lotspeich at the First National Bank.

Lockney Junior High implements P.A.W.S. program

By Zelda Ellison
LOCKNEY — P.A.W.S. is a comprehensive program to reward students for what they do well. The Lockney Junior High School Student Council has adopted a program to encourage and promote student achievement, attendance, and teacher morale. The objectives of this program include: Emphasizing the importance of academics, improving school climate, improving student grades, improving staff morale, raising TAAS and NAPT scores, rewarding top producers, and building self esteem and pride in every student.

The "A" exchange is one of the focus activities. For each "A" on a student's report card, his/her name is placed in a hopper. The more "A's", the more entries. When a student's name is drawn, he/she receives a prize. That student will be honored as the "Student of the Six Weeks."

The student council has also decided to honor a "Teacher of the Six Weeks." This will give the students an opportunity to express how teachers have touched their lives in a very encouraging and positive way.

If your club or organization would like to be involved in helping fund and maintain the program, the junior high could use your support by donating prizes and awards. Parents who feel that performing well enough to make an "A" in school is important that they might also want to donate prizes. Awards might range anywhere from a free doughnut to a quartz watch.

Adults, your youth are looking to you for support. They know that they have our support in athletics. This is an excellent opportunity to show them that they also have it in academics.

HOW MUCH FURTHER--Quaran Thomas, Shorthorn #44 on the 8th grade football team outdistanced everyone as he took the ball and carried it for a 99 yard touchdown run. The junior high seventh and eighth grade Shorthorn teams played the Hale Center teams on October 1st. Photo by Deanna Brew

Lockney Longhorns fall to Hale Center

By Les Reed

LOCKNEY — Coming off of a big win against the Lions of New Deal the Horns found themselves in a sticky situation as they faced off with the Owls of Hale Center. Most everyone had the Horns favored in this 3-2A match up, that is everyone except the Owls. Hale Center came to play ball while the Lockney Longhorns didn't seem quite up to the challenge.

The Longhorns found fumbles to be a costly mistake as they put the ball on the ground 5 times up against the Owls who held on to the ball and ended the game without any turnovers. This hurt the Horns as the Owls converted many of these turnovers in to points. Along with the fumbles the Horns just could not get their offense rolling. The Owls held the Horns to a total of 69 rushing yards and 10 yards passing for a total of 79 yards. This in comparison to the Owls 242 yards rushing and 75 yards passing for a total of 317 yards proved to be too much for the Lockney Longhorns.

With the Owls scoring first from a 15 yard pass from Rogers to Hooks the score was 6 to 0 as the point after attempt failed. The Horns moved the ball down the field and at one point seemed ready to answer the Owls 6 points but a fumble ended that drive and allowed the Owls to go up by 14 as the Owls went for 2 after the Cavazos touchdown. Once again the Horns had a chance to score after a couple of penalties put the Horns on the about the 20 yard line. The defense of the Owls stood in strong though and held the Horns to only a 3 point field goal leaving the score at the half 14 to 3.

With 2 full quarters left to play the Horns were still in the game being down by only 11, but the Owls had something to say about that. Rudy Cavazos put another 6 points on the board with the extra point attempt good leaving the score at 21 to 3. The Horns were unable to score during the 3rd period so the game went on to the 4th.

The 4th and final period ended without a score from either team, but this was okay with the Owls. Looking at the stats from the game the Horns are going to have to come out next week and play a much more aggressive game. The Morton Indians are 0-2 in district play but the Horns must realize that the Indians will be looking to ruin our plans for a Homecoming victory.

Right now there is a 4 way tie as we hold the same record in district play as Shallowater, Hale Center, and New Deal at 1-1-0. Let's all turn out for the game and see if the Mighty Horns can improve that record to 2-1-0 for the season. See you at the game.

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL FEATURE "The L.H.S. Cheerleaders"

We have a great group of cheerleaders that put in a lot of time and effort to keep the enthusiasm and noise level up at the game. Let's all get with the cheerleaders and help them out this coming Friday. It sure is easier to make a lot of noise with a lot of people than it is to make a lot of noise with just a few. Use your talents of screaming and hollering in a positive way and support your cheerleaders. They will greatly appreciate it.

Blanco is first in weekly grid competition

Noe Blanco Jr. of Lockney was the first place finisher in the fifth week of the annual Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon Football Contest. He missed eight games on the contest. A check for $25.00 will be waiting in the Lockney Office on Friday.

Second and third place were determined by tie breakers from among five entries with nine incorrect games on them. Each of the five tied entries had chosen Floydada to win in the first tie-breaker. Three of the entries had tie-breaker scores which missed the actual score of 28 points by seven. Moving on to the second tie-breaker, each of the three entries chose Lockney to win, making the outcome dependent on the total combined score selected in the second tie-breaker.

Holly Norwood of Lockney emerged as second place winner. She chose Floydada to win with a total score of 21, seven points less than the actual score, and selected Lockney to win with a total score of 28, one more than the actual score, in the tie-breakers. A check for $15.00 will be waiting for her in Lockney on Friday.

Third place and the $10.00 prize will be split between Boyd Lee of Lockney and Jean Hale of Floydada. Both chose Floydada to win with a combined score of 35, again seven points away from the actual score. Each selected Lockney to win and guessed the total combined score in the Lockney vs. Hale Center game to be 30 points, three away from the actual score. Each of these contestants will find a check for $5.00 waiting in the Hesperian-Beacon Office of their city on Friday.

Honorable Mention goes to the other two who missed nine, Brandon Widener of Lockney and Keith Marricle of Floydada. Widener chose Floydada to win with a combined score of 50 and Lockney to win with a combined score of 39. Marricle chose Floydada to win with a combined score of 52 and Lockney to win with a combined score of 52.

Each of the 75 entrants in this week's contest had one game wrong on the contest due to a tie in the Boston College vs. West Virginia match-up. Among the entries was one from Lockney which missed 14 games and had no name on it and one from Floydada which failed to mark the games on the entry blank and cut it out. Contestants are reminded to fill out the entry blank completely before cutting it out and taking it to one of the offices.

BRAND OF EXCITEMENT

Whirlwinds celebrate Homecoming with blitz

By Bill Gray

The Floydada Whirlwinds treated a huge Wester Field Homecoming crowd to a convincing 28-0 whitewash of perennial nemesis Childress on October 2.

Floydada's Michael Henderson rushed for over 100 yards in the first quarter to pace the Whirlwind ground game, and finished the night with 206 yards on 14 carries and two touchdowns. Teammate Jammie Davis also scored twice and ran 12 times for 82 yards in the final non-conference game of the season.

It was a welcomed victory for the Whirlwinds, who were coming off a 26-0 setback to state-ranked Reagan County a week ago. It was especially sweet for those Floydada upperclassmen still remembering the heartbreaking 21-20 Bi-District loss to the Bobcats at Plainview last November.

Childress, one of the favorites in District 1-3A, falls to 2-3 for the season. The 'Cats open league play at Amarillo River Road this week. The Whirlwinds take their momentum and 3-2 record to the unfriendly pasture at Muleshoe on October 9 as the curtain opens on District 2-3A action.

The Whirlwinds had little success in their initial series following the opening kickoff, and Jesse Rodriguez was called on to punt for the first time in his varsity career. Childress fared no better against the revamped Floydada defense. Michael Gilliland (tackle), Wayne Wells (linebacker), and Josh Thayer (cornerback), were all making their first starts on the Whirlwind stopper unit, and all three came through in grand fashion.

Bobcat Jimmy Salas' punt came close to nailing the 'Winds within their own 2-yard line, but the punt rolled into the end zone and was brought out to the Whirlwind 20 on the touchback. Micheal Gilliland and Rance Golightly opened a gaping hole, Michael Henderson found the seam, and the nifty Whirlwind halfback rambled 80 yards to put Floydada on the board. Micheal Gilliland boomed the extra point, and the 'Winds were up 7-0 within the first four minutes of play.

Micheal Gilliland sacked Childress quarterback Wade Keys for a 12-yard loss in the next Bobcat series, and the 'Winds were back in business at their own 43-yard line. In the waning minutes of the first period Floydada mounted a 12-play, 57-yard drive to the Childress end zone. Jammie Davis covered the final eight yards on a well-executed option pitch from QB Sammy Rodriguez, Gilliland's kick was perfect, and the 'Winds extended their lead to 14-0 with two minutes remaining in the first quarter.

Following a Floydada punt, Childress runningback Peter Rodriguez scampered 37 yards early in the second quarter to give some spark to the stagnant Bobcat offense. A sure tackle by cornerback Josh Thayer prevented the certain Childress touchdown. Three plays later the Bobcats were again forced to punt. Exchanges of punts and possessions by both clubs helped wind the clock down to close the first half of play.

Floydada fumbled a punt return attempt early in the second half, but the Bobcats were unable to capitalize on the Floydada miscue. The 'Cats attempted to go for it on fourth down, but Micheal Gilliland buried Childress QB Wade Keys and the 'Winds took over on downs at their own 30 yard line.

Highlighted by Michael Henderson's 33-yard run on second down from the Bobcat 48 yard line, Floydada moved 70 yards in only six plays to the Childress end zone. Jammie Davis crossed the Childress double stripe from five yards out, Gilliland's PAT kick attempt was deflected, and the scoreboard read: Floydada 20, Childress 0.

The 'Cats managed a first down during their next series on the strength of a 21-yard pass from Wade Keys to Chris Jones, but bogged down and had to punt back to the 'Winds. Floydada moved 73 yards in only eight plays to score an insurance touchdown late in the third quarter.

Michael Henderson passed the 200-yard mark on the drive and scored his second touchdown of the evening from the Childress 5 yard line. Jammie Davis ran in the 2-point conversion, and the 'Winds extended their lead to 28-0.

Childress made two attempts in the final period to get on the scoreboard, but the Floydada defense was too much for the smaller Bobcats. A 40-yard pass from Wade Keys to Josh White was nullified by a Bobcat offside penalty. The visitors moved as far as Floydada's 11 yard line late in the game, but Childress fired blanks on pass attempts while Floydada's defense preserved the shutout. The Whirlwinds were in possession of the ball at their own 27 yard line when the final horn sounded.

BILL'S NOTES

Enough for non-conference games, and enough for turnovers! The 'Winds have already registered more giveaways than in all of last season's 11 games. It was mighty sweet to pound the Bobcats in the way we did. Childress has been a thorn in Floydada's side longer than most of us want to remember. To "drum" them like we did at Homecoming was a real tribute to our boys and the COACHING STAFF.

The coaches had a great game plan for this one, and the players responded very well to the call. It was an overall team victory. The defense shut them down early, and the offensive line methodically blew them off the line of scrimmage.

Senior Rance Golightly, subbing for the injured Adam Gonzales at right tackle, came in and did a superb job. He and Micheal Gilliland opened the first big hole for Henderson's 80-yard TD, which I'll call the offensive play of the game.

For the second time in three weeks, Michael Henderson gets my nod for offensive player of the game. Despite playing with a hyperextended knee, the talented running back cracked the 200-yard rushing barrier and scored twice.

Wayne Wells may have found a home at "mike" linebacker. His hit on Childress QB Wade Key late in the second period gets my first "Head-hunter" award of the season. It was a clean, but vicious hit, and Key was never the same.

Josh Thayer has to be mentioned when handing out defensive accolades. Time and again Josh came up on the play from his corner spot... and twice saved long gainers or possible touchdowns with sure tackles.

As usual, Micheal Gilliland performed well with his kicking and offensive line play, but it was his defensive work (subbing at right tackle for Gonzales) that gets my nod as defensive player of the game. I cannot give any one defensive player. It took a good overall effort to hold the Bobcats scoreless!

The district schedule is now upon us, and every outing from now on is THE important game, starting with an improved Muleshoe squad at their place this week.

Quarterback Ruben Gonzales guided the Mules to their first victory in 18 games two weeks ago against Lubbock Roosevelt as he completed 10-of-22 passes and three touchdowns and ran 10 times for 77 yards and another touchdown. He also kicked four extra points in the 34-26 Mule win.

Muleshoe has opened district play the last several years with very close losses to Littlefield and Dimmitt. Floydada needs to play solid football, because STRANGE things can happen over there (just ask the folks who were around for the '79 game!).

Muleshoe has a new coach and is an improved club from the one the 'Winds trounced 55-6 at Wester Field in 1991. But, the 'Winds are improving as well. Floydada will be a prohibitive favorite (probably 26 points in the Harris spread). The way I see it is Floydada 47, Muleshoe 13.

Coach's Comments

By Coach Dean Bates

We played a solid football game Friday night against Childress and showed improvement in a lot of areas. It was our most complete game to date defensively.

We chased the ball very well. We dominated the line of scrimmage offensively, and moved the ball extremely well. We still have work to do to attain the goals that we have set.

We open the district schedule at Muleshoe against an improving team. We can ill afford to look past anyone in this district. We will take seriously each opponent and prepare one week at a time.

It was a real thrill for our youngsters to play to such a large and supportive Homecoming crowd.

All district games are slated to begin at 7:30 p.m. See you at the game!

Whirlwind JV defeats Childress

By Bill Gray

The JV Whirlwinds played their best game of the year at Wester Field on October 1 as they held on to defeat the Childress junior varsity 26-16.

Gabriel DeLaFuenta put Floydada on the board first with an 8-yard run for a first quarter touchdown. J.R. Quilantan ran for the extra point. Childress countered with a 70-yard TD run and conversion, and the first quarter ended with the score knotted at 8-all.

Quilantan ran for a 10-yard touchdown in the second period to give the Jr. 'Winds a 14-8 halftime lead.

Quilantan was in the Childress end zone again early in the third quarter after a nice 25-yard scamper off the option. Late in the period QB Tate Glasscock scored from 12 yards out to stretch Floydada's lead to 26-8. The young Bobcats clawed back for a fourth period touchdown and conversion for the final scoring of the contest.

Mentioned by the coaches for their outstanding offensive performances were Tate Glasscock, J.R. Quilantan, Eric Smith and Gabriel DeLaFuenta. DeLaFuenta, along with Peter Vallejo, were named as the defensive players of the game.

Injuries and grades have taken a toll of several younger Whirlwinds. In all likelihood the 9th graders will combine with the junior varsity for the balance of the season.

Breezer Football Report

By Bill Gray

Floydada's 7th grade Breezers traveled to Childress on October 1 and came away with a 6-all tie with the young "Bobkittens." Childress scored on a halfback pass late in the second quarter to take a 6-0 lead at halftime. Fernando Maldonado ran a 55-yard reverse for a touchdown in the third period, but the extra point conversion failed.

Coach Jimmy Webster named Jason Campbell, Adam Perales and Jorge Saldana as the defensive players of the game. Maldonado received the coach's nod for his special teams' performance.

Webster stated, "We are improving in many ways, but our intensity level needs to be picked up. Jason Campbell played one heckuva game at noseguard. Perales was in on a number of tackles, and Saldana played well after having a great week of practices."

The coach added, "Offensively we need to get more physical up front... we are getting whipped on the line."

The 8th grade Breezers came up on the short end of a 30-12 score to Childress. Vernon Cooper and QB Monty Anderson scored on touchdown runs of 65 yards and 55 yards, respectively, for all the Floydada scoring.

The coach pointed out that the 8th Breezers suited-up only 16 players (compared to Childress' 40-plus), and was very pleased with Floydada's efforts. Some were playing new positions for the first time. Vernon Cooper was named the outstanding offensive player.

The coach commented, "Injuries hit us hard last week. Prior to Thursday's game, we lost two halfbacks, one guard, and Benjamin is still out with a broken arm. We played four guys in spots they had never played before."

The coach was very pleased with their effort and stated, "These kids go as hard as they can... I'm proud of them."

Floyd County 4-H News

From Mike Mallett

CEA-Ag.

Floyd County 4-H members had a strong and positive showing last week in the livestock division of the South Plains Fair held in Lubbock. Nine Floyd County 4-H members exhibited lambs and cattle at the Fair.

In the lamb show, Ryon Smith, son of Brad and Shari Smith, exhibited the Grand Champion lamb of the show. Ryon also exhibited lambs to 3rd and 8th places. Desha Smith, daughter of Brad and Shari, exhibited 7th and 10th place lambs. Gretchen Quebe, daughter of John and Karen Quebe, exhibited a 13th place lamb. Other lamb exhibitors included Josh Quebe, and Allen, Cynthia, and Sarah Martin.

Steer exhibitors were Cody Hayes and Cassidy Mallett. Cody, son of Cleatis and Betty Hayes, exhibited two steers and placed 3rd and 6th. Cassidy exhibited two steers and placed 3rd and 7th. Cassidy also won the steer division Showmanship Award.

HORSE PROJECT

For 4-H members interested in the horse project, the Texas State 4-H Reining Horse Clinic will be held December 19-20 in Abilene.

Participants will have the opportunity to receive "hands-on" practice and assistance throughout the clinic.

To attend the clinic, a youth must be a bonafide 4-H member. Young people under 13 must be accompanied by a parent or volunteer. Also, each participant must bring a horse upon which to practice basic maneuvers. The cost of the clinic is $50 for each 4-H member.

For more information on the youth reining clinic or the April 1993 Adult Reining Clinic, write to Vicki Hoggett, Somervell CEA's Office, P.O. Box 895, Glen Rose, TX 76043 or phone (817) 897-2809.

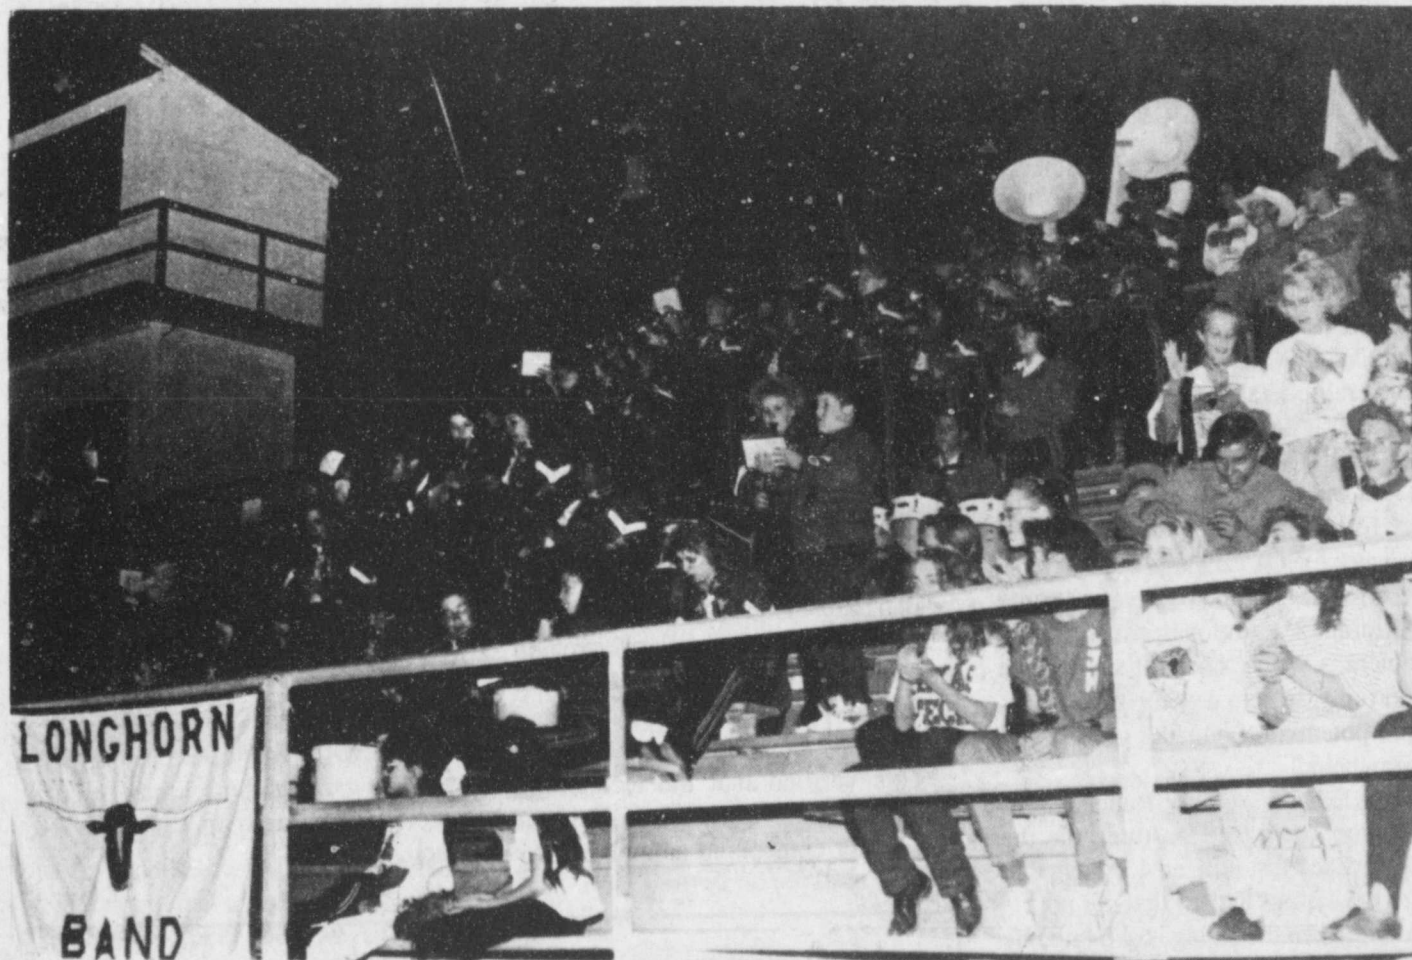

LIVESTOCK PROJECTS

4-H members wishing to feed and exhibit lambs and swine for the county stock show and major stock shows are reminded to get these animals purchased soon. There are several pig sales in the area and for more information of these sales you may contact the County Extension Office at 983-2806. Assistance with selection may also be obtained by contacting the County Extension Office.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT BANQUET

The 1992 Floyd County 4-H Achievement Banquet will be Sunday, Oct. 18. The Floyd County 4-H Leaders Association will be hosting the catered meal. You must RSVP so a meal ticket can be reserved for you and each member of your family.

Did You Know You Are Paying 20% Less For Electricity Than You Did Nine Years Ago?

(94% of our customers didn't.)

Compare this to the average residential cost of electricity in the SPS service area. In 1983, you paid 7.59 cents per kilowatt-hour. Today that rate has been reduced to 6.08 cents. That is 20% less! And when you adjust for inflation, the real cost has been reduced 42%!

Our heating rate has been significantly reduced, too. Today, you pay only 2.92 cents per kilowatt-hour to heat your home electrically. That is much less than the national average for electric home heating.

And, because industrial and commercial rates, as well as residential ones, have come down, the area as a whole benefits. SPS' low rates can help attract new industry and encourage local companies to stay in our area.

PCG hails efforts of USDA

Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) hailed the effort of USDA to provide disaster benefits to eligible producers in a timely manner as a boon to High Plains cotton producers.

USDA officials announced Thursday, that disaster payments would be distributed immediately following the approval of disaster claims by local ASCS committees. Also announced was the extension of the phase II sign-up period through February 12, 1993.

To accomplish this USDA has guaranteed a 50.04 percent payment rate on approved losses under phase II and phase III of the payment. Payments can be expected within two weeks to completing the necessary paperwork.

"Ever since June when PCG began the effort to secure disaster assistance our goal was to get funds into the hands of producers as quickly as possible so they would not be delayed in their efforts to secure financing for the 1993 crop," explains PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson.

Johnson noted that providing disaster funds immediately after he claim is approved a significant change from the way payments were distributed under phase I of the program. Phase I payments were not made until April 1992 causing delays in many producers efforts to obtain financing before the start of the 1992 crop. Mailing the disaster checks as soon as claims are approved will also help ease the strain on individual county offices and speed the sign-up process.

ASCS officials also said that if the final pro-rata percentage exceeds 50.04 percent when all claims are processed, checks for the difference will be issued.

MORE COTTON NEWS

The status of Arsenic Acid as a desiccant on cotton is still up in the air pending a decision by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) according to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG).

PCG officials say that all indications point to EPA following through on its previous intention to cancel arsenic acid as a desiccant on cotton. Under this situation only existing stocks will be available for use in the upcoming harvest season. At this time no additional supplies of this material are being prepared and most, if not all, of the companies who manufacture arsenic acid have voluntarily pulled their labels.

Arsenic acid's problems originated in North Carolina when a textile mill was cited by the state Environmental Protection Agency for having excessive levels of arsenic acid in its waste material being disposed of in a nearby landfill.

Because of this finding several textile mills have announced that they will not buy cotton treated with arsenic acid under any circumstances. Other mills have stated that cotton treated with arsenic acid could face market penalties. The majority of cotton treated with arsenic acid is produced in Texas.

Producers considering the use of arsenic acid to prepare the 1993 crop for harvest should do so carefully in light of the current situation and take into account potential market risks or penalties that may exist.

Fruit tree disease needs to be controlled

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Sometimes fruit tree care is forgotten or neglected in the fall, but it's a critical time for controlling many peach and plum tree diseases to insure a good crop next year.

Applying a copper fungicide now can stop or help reduce three of the major diseases that attack peach, apricot, and plum trees in Texas. These are peach leaf curl, bacterial leaf spot, and bacterial canker.

The puckered and distorted peach tree leaves that were either bright red or light green in diseased areas last spring were the results of peach leaf curl fungus. The time to control this disease effectively is in the fall by use of a copper-containing fungicide.

Bacterial leaf spot and bacterial canker can be partially controlled by fall spraying with a copper fungicide. Bacterial leaf spot affects both the fruit and the foliage. The infection causes fruit to crack, and leaves develop angular spots that drop out. Bacterial canker will kill

Four-H, the youth development program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, extends learning opportunities to 16,666 boys and girls in the 20 South Plains counties which comprise Extension District 2. Working with County Extension Agents and specialists through 24 organized 4-H Clubs in the district, 2,103 volunteers continue the 4-H tradition of more than four generations.

National 4-H Week is being observed throughout the land this week, October 4-10.

In Floyd County, over 200 boys and girls take part in the 4-H programs which help them learn by doing. The county has two organized clubs and more than 25 volunteers help County Extension Agents, Melissa Long and Mike Mallett, plan and direct the programs.

The national 4-H program began in Texas in 1908 when the first boys' corn club was organized in Jack County. T.M. Marks, holding a position similar to that of county Extension agent today, enrolled 43 boys in the club to demonstrate to them the best practices in corn production. The boys' corn clubs were quickly expanded to beef calf clubs and in 1912 to tomato clubs for girls.

Texas also is credited with adding the fourth "H" for health to the 4-H emblem. The First emblem, adopted nationally about 1911, had only three "H's" for head, hand and heart. O.B. Martin, who later became the director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the first national 4-H club leader for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, promoted the addition of the fourth "H".

The national 4-H youth development program has grown to become the largest youth program in the nation. Through the years there has been a close affiliation between school, home, and 4-H. Adults in 4-H families have often been persuaded to adopt new practices as a result of the experience of 4-H youth. Today's 4-H youth development program involves youth as the primary audience, but serves volunteer adults as a secondary audience.

Since its establishment in 1914, the Cooperative Extension Service has provided the professional staff and support educational programs for 4-H. The Extension Service is a cooperative effort among the USDA, the land-grant university system and county governments.

Youth development education is a vital concern of land-grant universities. Outreach initiative of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas A&M University System are focused on helping families, schools, youth organizations and communities prepare young people to deal with life's challenges.

*4-H uses meaningful, real life experiences and allows youth to set their own goals for achievement.

*4-H encourages individual initiative and provides opportunities for young people to experience success, which raises the level of their aspirations and contributes to a feeling of self-worth.

*4-H incorporates the methodology of "learning-by-doing" personal development.

*4-H provides laboratory situations for individuals learning in practical projects and activities.

*4-H effectively uses the demonstration method of teaching.

*4-H provides opportunities for young people to practice democratic group action and social development through local clubs and group experiences.

*4-H provides for natural progression for simple to more complex tasks.

*4-H provides opportunities to become part of a program that benefits the community.

*4-H provides for effective youth/adult relationships to help integrate youth into society and keep adults in tune with the needs and interests of youth.

*4-H utilizes the dynamics of peer-group influence to encourage youth to develop positive personal competencies.

Electronic eartags: New approach to cattle fencing

The young steer spoils some fresh grass at the back of a pasture and walks leisurely toward it. Suddenly, his head jerks up, and with ears laid back, he wheels around and trots away. About 50 yards later, he stops and looks back, confused, at the unseen intrusion into his life.

The steer had walked into an invisible "fence." He was wearing an experimental electronic eartag that administered a small electrical shock when he entered an area where cattle grazing wasn't permitted.

The eartag, field tested for the first time in Texas this summer, is the brainchild of Drs. Art Tiedemann and Tom Quigley, who are both researchers with the U.S. Forest Service and Blue Mountain Natural Resources Institute in La Grande, Ore.

The high cost of traditional fencing on public grazing land in the western

United States also has encouraged research into alternative ways to control livestock.

The scientists conducted their two-week field tests on the Petty Ranch near Hondo. Working with them was Dr. Larry White of Uvalde, a range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Wes Newman of Hondo, Extension assistant.

In Texas, Newman said, electronic eartags could be utilized in rotational grazing, protecting crops, or "any place you want to keep cattle from grazing."

"You don't have an expensive and unsightly traditional fence, or any gates to open," he added.

Fenceless livestock control could save $1,900 to $5,100 per mile compared to conventional fencing, Quigley said.

"Back in 1982, I had this idea that you ought to be able to control animals without using fences," he said. Taking a cue from dog trainers, he and Tiedemann first tried using electronic collars for cattle.

However, they found that the adapted collars were to expensive and bulky, so they began experimenting with electronic circuitry on cattle eartags, now used for identification or fly control.

White heard of their research and agreed to help them test the eartags in Texas. The experiment is part of the Seco Creek Water Quality Project, one of several federal endeavors to provide agricultural producers with the knowledge and technical means to protect ground and surface water supplies. The Seco Creek watershed provides much of the water for the Edwards Aquifer.

"The eartags are innovative and could revolutionize traditional grazing management," White said. "It's a unique opportunity to help develop a new technique potentially valuable to ranching everywhere."

Scott J. Petty of Petty Ranches provided the cattle and pastures for the project. Each test utilized 15 steers that wore the eartags and 15 that did not.

A tone from the eartag is activated by a signal from a transmitter when the animal enters the "forbidden" zone. Four seconds later, the animal receives a mild electrical stimulus if he has not turned around. He will receive three more at 4-second intervals if he is still within range. If he still has not moved, the electrical instrument "locks up," so the animal will receive no further shocks.

"That's for the safety of the animal," explained Tiedemann. "We don't know exactly what it could do, but continuous shocks probably could drive an animal out of its mind."

From the Texas test, the researchers determined that a second tone should be repeated before each electrical stimulus, so that the animal can better associate the sound with the stimulus.

They also learned that they needed to know more about the response of animals to the stimulus, Tiedemann said. Each animal reacted a little differently.

"There were some surprises, but we learned many things we needed to know to modify the eartag and train the animals properly," he said.

One of the surprises was how much the signal from the transmitters would "widen" or spread with changing environmental conditions. The researchers would leave in the evening with the 15 tagged steers grazing in the "safe" zone, then return the next morning to find the steers, with eartags "locked up," scattered past the signal to the other end of the pasture. Tests the first week verified that the signal enveloped the safe zone at night.

"It may have been the temperature change at night, or a change in the resistance of the circuitry as the temperatures dropped at night, making the signal 'widen' substantially," he said.

The second week, the signal strength was decreased at night and the cattle remained in the safe zone without "lockup up" their eartags.

"This verified that the technology works and this can be a successful method for controlling animal grazing distribution," White said.

Several modifications of the eartag will be necessary before commercial production, such as protecting the circuitry from moisture, making antennae that cannot be chewed off, reducing the weight of the eartag, and changing the transmitter output, he said. All of these are possible with miniaturization and current technology, he said.

Tiedemann said that more research will be done on animal behavior, particularly regarding livestock conditioning to the tone and the stimulus.

"Cattle producers can expect to hear more about his technology over the next several years," White said, adding that fenceless grazing control may be commercially available in the next five years.

Obituaries

A.D. FULTZ

Graveside services for A.D. Fultz, 81, of Midland were held at Fairview Cemetery with Colquitt Nash, assisted by Glenn Pemberton, officiating. Services were under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Fultz died Sunday, September 27, 1992, at his residence.

He was born December 7, 1910, in Delta County, where he was reared and attended school. He received a bachelor of arts degree from East Texas State University and a master's degree from Texas Tech University.

He taught school for 33 years in Greenville and Klondike.

He was in the civil service during World War II, where he taught in the technical branch. He then moved to Floydada, where he taught until moving to Midland in 1955. He taught at Cowden Junior High School and Midland High School.

He was a member of North A and Tennessee Church of Christ.

His hobbies were working with antiques and refinishing furniture.

Survivors include his wife, Ava Lee Fultz of Midland; a son, Gary D. Fultz of Spring; a granddaughter; and a cousin.

GUY SECHRIST

Services for Guy Alton Sechrist, 80, of Ralls were at 2 p.m. Sunday, October 4, 1992, in Ralls First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Mike Struve, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Ralls Cemetery under direction of Carter-Adams Funeral Home.

He died at 1:30 a.m. Saturday, October 3, 1992, in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital after a brief illness.

He was born in Erath County and moved from Lubbock to Ralls in 1933. He married Vera Ruth Sparkman on January 24, 1937, in Lorenzo. He was a retired farmer, and he owned Sechrist Texaco Gas Station in Ralls. He was a member of Ralls First United Methodist Church. His wife died on January 27, 1987.

Survivors include a son, Charles A. of Ralls; two daughters, Frances Davis of Crosbyton and Martha Wilmet of Ralls; two brothers, Lloyd of Lubbock and David of Lockney; two sisters, Thelma Caudle and Alma McElroy, both of Lubbock; seven grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Matt Wilmet, Randall Wilmet, Gary Davis Jr., Larry Davis, Jerry Davis and Allen Sechrist.

The family suggests memorials to a favorite charity.

Local play to stage last performances

The Upstairs Theater production of "Opal is a Diamond" will be offering its final three performances on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Friday and Saturday shows are dinner theaters with dinner served at 7:00 p.m. and the play beginning at 8:00 p.m. The Sunday matinee begins at 2:30 p.m. Ticket reservations can be made by calling 983-2445 or made in person at CRH Systems, 118 W. California.

The play is a sequel to the theater's 1990 production, "Everybody Loves Opal". Again Opal's abundant good nature has made her the victim of another's baser instincts, this time the culprit being an oily, unscrupulous politician who is running for re-election as mayor. But Opal, aided by new friends and old, decides to fight back by becoming a candidate herself.

To the chagrin of her rival, Opal's appeal to the voters is embarrassingly great, and foul play appears to be the only way to stave off an upset. What ensues will keep the audience in suspense and tickle their funny bone at the same time.

Community Health Center Week observed in Floydada

A recent study by the National Association of Community Health Centers found that, in 1990, 51 million Americans were at risk for medical underservice, with 35 million having no insurance at all.

"We know that there are a lot of more people in the community who are not seeking medical care they need because of financial worries," said Henry Hawley, Executive Director of South Plains Health Provider Organization in Plainview. "The situation is the same all over the country. That is why we are joining in sponsoring Community Health Center Week, October 5-10. We want people to know that quality health care is available to them regardless of their financial situation."

South Plains Health Provider Organization is one of approximately 550 health care organizations throughout the nation who are part of the Community Health Center Program. This is one of the few successful programs remaining from the mid-1960s and the War on Poverty.

More than six million people are now served by this system of private, community based health care facilities. Their federal grants mandate that services be comprehensive and delivered in ways that are sensitive to local community customs and needs.

A unique feature of the program is that a majority of health center board members must be persons who use the center's services for their own health care.

South Plains Health Provider, 319 S. Main, is just one of the 11 clinics under South Plains Health Provider Organization in Plainview. The clinic is staffed on Monday's and Wednesday's by Pat Williams, M.D. of Matador. Marta Muniz is the clinic supervisor and has been with the organization for six years.

Many services are offered through the clinic, such as diagnosis and treatment of acute and chronic disorders, well-child/well-adult physicals and immunizations, minor surgery, laceration repair, women's health care, electrocardiogram services, and full laboratory services.

Medicare and Medicaid, as well as private insurance is accepted for health services. For more information concerning the services of South Plains Health Provider, please call 983-5371 or come by 319 S. Main.

To the Workers for St. Jude

At a place called St. Jude, tonight a precious child will die; the parents stand beside the bed and sadly wonder why.

Why must a child so lovely, whom no harm has ever done, never again pick a flower or in the sunlight run?

Why must a disease so dreaded and feared by one and all, entwine this tiny body 'til it in death does fall?

Full of hopes and dreams of things to be, this life so very young—why must it end now its song only just half sung?

Yes, some still die but many live, because there are folks like you, who give of your time, your energies, your dollars and dimes, year after year, and time after time.

There's no way to measure the worth of a child with eyes that glow and lips that smile.

So 'til a cure is found our work is not done, the job is not finished—only just begun.
