Awarded Bronze Star Medal

Private First Class Thomas L. Cassel, son of Mrs. Walter Cassel, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device for heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam.

Private First Class Cassel distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous actions on 12 May, 1968 while serving with his unit at Special Forces Camp near Kham Duc.

After several hours of heavy hostile mortar and automatic weapons fire the second platoon, of which Private Cassel was a member, was ordered to move into Camp Conroy to relieve the engineers who were being evacuated.

After securing the perimeter, the men set about preparing a 60 mm mortar which had been left behind. Private Cassel was instrumental in setting up the mortar and directing it's fire on the hostile forces.

While securing more ammunition for the 60 mm mortar, Private Cassel discovered an 81 mm mortar. Private Cassel immediately set up this heavier weapon and began firing at the numerous hostile positions in the area. The use of these weapons gave much needed support to the friendly aircraft as they evacuated the camp.

Private First Class Cassel's heroic actions are in keeping with the highest traditions of military service and reflect great credit upon himself, the Americal Division and the United States Army.

The 1 per cent city sales tax, which was approved by voters of this city, will go into effect on Tuesday, Oct. 1. The tax will apply to every item covered by the state sales tax.

Also on Oct. 1, the state sales tax will go up from 2 to 3 per cent.

Consequently merchants within the city limits, beginning Oct. 1, will start collecting 4 per cent instead of the present 2 per cent. State and city sales tax will start on sales of 13 cents or more.

On Friday, Sept. 27, City Hall officials expect to receive a supply of charts which show the exact amount of 4 per cent collections to be made on purchases ranging from 13 cents to $100.

Business concerns in the local area but outside the city limits will not collect the Rockport city sales tax of 1 per cent, but will conform to the state sales tax increase from 2 to 3 per cent.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller has been informed by the Texas Municipal League that the 1 per cent city sales tax will produce at least $22,500 for the city in one year.

Central Power and Light Company, appeared before the Council and explained the progress that has been made on this project, naming a number of firms which already have signified their intention of participating.

The Council authorized Ross to proceed with directing the planting of palm trees and installing general planters and ground covering in the central business district.

When the project reaches the point when concrete is to be removed from sidewalks to provide space for planting the palm trees, city workmen under direction of Commissioner of Public Works Tom Shults will do this without charge. Individual firms will pay the cost of purchasing and planting the palm trees and installing planters, etc.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller hailed this project as a "step that fits into the overall long range plan for the city." "The business people are to be commended for their action," he added.

In other actions, the Council:

—Employed Harris, Mosier and Robertson, certified public accountants, to audit the city's books at the end of the fiscal year and develop a balance sheet for the water and sewer accounts. The fiscal year ends Monday, Sept. 30. Aldermen N. F. Jackson and Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden voted in favor of hiring the firm, and Alderman Charlie Garrett and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano "no." Mayor Hiller broke the tie by voting in favor of hiring the firm.

—Voted to make a number of changes in street light locations as follows: Take down three 20,000 lumen lights at Liberty Street (Highway 35) and Broadway since there is ample lighting without them; take down one 2,500-watt light at First National Bank corner because it isn't needed; put in 7,000-lumen lights on Omohundro from Linden to the high school; substitute 7,000-lumen for 2,500-watt lights at Church of Christ, Sacred Heart Catholic Church, St. Peter's Episcopal Church and Greater First Baptist Church. After the changes are made, the city will save $2.80 per month in electricity.

Oil News

Union Producing Co. proposes a new sand name for the B-2 V. H. Tatton, located in Aransas County Cavasso Creek Field 8.7 miles northwest of Lamar.

Producing in the proposed 8,300 foot West Sand, from perforations at 8,241-48 feet, the well was gauged for an absolute open flow of 44 million cubic feet of gas a day. Gas condensate ratio was 17,500-1 and liquid gravity was 60 degrees. Flow pressure on 8-64-inch choke was 2,972 pounds and shut-in pressure was 2,990 pounds. The well was plugged back to 36 feet from the original total depth of 8,400 feet. Location is in J. M. Shreve Survey, A-186.

Union Producing Co. has gained location for a deep Aransas County Virginia Field Explorer four miles northeast of Lamar.

Projected to 13,000 feet, the No. 18 Tattan will be located 4,700 feet from the west line and 7,150 feet from the south line of John Durst Survey, A-51. And location scales approximately 2,550 feet east of Highway 35 and 5,200 feet south of St. Charles Bay.

Flournoy Drilling Co., Alice, has made application to the Corps of Engineers for a blanket permit to drill for oil, gas or other minerals in Aransas Bay.

The permit would cover the area of State Tracts 228, 229, 230, 231, 240, 241, 253 and 244, central to a point approximately 6.5 miles northeast from Aransas Pass.

If a well should prove productive, then a well protective structure, separator platforms and tank battery platforms would also be erected. Pipelines would be laid below the bottom of the bay. No structures would be constructed within 1,000 feet of the centerline of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway alternate channel through Lydia Ann Channel.

Plans may be seen in the Corps of Engineers Area office at Corpus Christi Monday through Friday not later than Oct. 2.

Pirates Beat Tuloso 30 to 6

By Dan T. Oliver

The Rockport-Fulton High School Fighting Pirates traveled to Tuloso-Midway last Friday night to meet the Warriors in their second game of the season.

The game opened with the Pirates kicking off to Tuloso with the action starting when halfback Rogers ran the ball back for an 85 yard touchdown for the Warriors.

With the Pirates next receiving the kick from the Warriors, they were able to move the ball down the field, getting first down after first down. The Pirates were no more than 10 yards from the goal when quarterback Johnny Jackson ran the ball outside to score. The attempted conversion by Davis failed, tying the game, Warriors 6, Pirates 6.

The Warriors next moved the ball down into Pirate territory. A few plays later, there was a Warrior fumble with tackle Andy Crawford recovering it for Rockport.

The Pirates moved out of their own territory into the Warriors' as the goal line came closer and closer. It was now fourth down and three yards to score, when halfback Robert Brooks saw daylight and crossed for another Pirate touchdown. The attempted conversion was made good by Huff. Warriors 6, Pirates 14.

The Warriors received the Pirate kick and moved to midfield within a few plays. Then a Warrior pass was intercepted by Pirate halfback Ruford Huff.

The Pirates were able to move down field to find themselves soon on the 1½-yard line and first down.

Davis tried but was a half yard short. Once again the ball was handed off to halfback Glenn Davis as he pushed across to score, with Brooks following with the conversion. The clock ran out to end the first half, with the score board showing Warriors 6, Pirates 22.

The third quarter was scoreless. In the fourth quarter the Pirates had the ball and moved to the 15 yard line. The ball was pitched out to junior halfback Ruford Huff who went over for another Pirate touchdown. The conversion was made by quarterback Jackson.

There was another Warrior fumble recovered by tackle Crawford. With little time left on the clock the second string went in to finish the game which lasted a few plays. The game was over with the Pirates having their second victory, Warriors 6, Pirates 30.

Coach Stephenson gave this field report:

J. Jackson ran the ball nine times for an average of 8.6 yards.

G. Davis ran 12 times for an average of 5.17 yards.

R Huff ran nine times for an average of 5.0 yards.

R. Brooks ran 13 times for an average of 4.0 yards.

The Pirates made 16 first downs to Warriors 10. Pirates made 285½ yards rushing to Warriors 134½.

TEXAS CRIME RATE UP 15%

Col. Welson E. (Pat) Speir, acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says the Texas crime rate for the first six months of 1968 is running about 15 per cent over the rate recorded for the same period in 1967.

Speir said information provided by sheriffs and chiefs of police and completed by the DPS indicates an increase in each of the seven major crime categories. For example, murders and homicides were up nearly 9 per cent; rape, up nearly 14 per cent; robbery, up about 14 per cent; burglary, up nearly 22 per cent; aggravated assault, up nearly 6 per cent; theft, up about 12 per cent; and auto theft, up nearly 24 per cent.

"In the January through June period, major crimes occurred in Texas in the of one every 1½ minutes," Speir noted. "This generally figures out to be a murder every 7½ hours, a rape ever 3¾ hours, a robbery every 1½ hours, a burglary every 5½ minutes, an aggravated assault every 26 minutes, a theft every 2½ minutes, and an auto theft every 18¼ minutes," he added.

The overall crime rate increased about 15 per cent in the state's urban areas and almost 11 per cent in rural areas. In was up about 17 per cent in cities over 100,000 population, up about 7 per cent in cities between 50,000 and 100,000, up almost 9 per cent in cities between 25,000 and 50,000, up almost 15 per cent in cities between 10,000 and 25,000, up 25 per cent in cities between 5,000 and 10,000 but up only about 1 per cent in cities between 2,500 and 5,000 population.

The largest rural increase came in counties with over 50 rural population per square mile, and was tabulated at almost 34 per cent. The overall crime rate decreased by almost 20 per cent in counties with from 20 to 35 rural population per square mile, and decreased about 3 per cent in counties with under five rural population per square mile.

As the county agent sat relaxing he was suddenly startled by a fellow who came in the office lugging a sack of dirt and asking where he could get his samples of soil tested.

"How did you take your sample?" asked the agent.

The farmer replied, "Well, I'll tell you. I waited for a rainy day, drove the tractor all over the farm, and then just cleaned off the tires."—Grit.

Cowbells for Kids

If you're taking your kids to camp or on a hunt bankside fishing trip, try this trick used by hunting-dog owners. Attach a small, sturdy bell on the back of the child's jacket. Then as he moves about you can hear him heading for trouble and forestall.

MARINES END RECRUIT TRAINING

Marine Private Librado Reyna, 20, son of Mr. Conrado Reyna, Marine Private Joe D. Harris, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Harris, and Marine Private Danny E. West, 18, son of Mrs. Patsy West were graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif.

They will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

Fishing Hints

By Danny Adams

A couple of weeks ago I wrote about the big one that always gets away. Well, sometimes they don't. This week was one of those rare magic periods that produce fish stories that grandchildren will hear about for eons. It's hard to explain why fishing is like this. Perhaps this is what makes fishing what it is.

I will try to give a partial example of what took place this week at the Causeway. To begin with, Edgar Berger, of Goliad, whose picture is shown, was fishing under the seventh light on the bridge. Mrs. Berger was casting with live shrimp and was picking up some very nice trout, averaging 1 to 2 pounds each. Bergar, casting a double rig, white and yellow, was not doing nearly as well but then his turn came. A seven pound trout is no slouch for any type of fisherman.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hester of Austin had a real field day. Using live shrimp they had already caught 62 very fine trout and one that tipped the scales at a magic 6½ pounds. Around 4 a.m. they had run out of live shrimp and Hester picked up a rather large dead shrimp from the bottom of his pail, put it on a bottom rig, cast it to the edge of the light and wham. Fifteen minutes later a beautiful nine pound redfish.

However, to mar a beautiful week is always one person who does not always play the game according to the rules. There was a man and his wife, whose name I didn't get, who caught a beautiful 35 pound drum. Along with this drum they had 30 redfish which would go approximately 12 inches in length.

I informed them that these fish were not of legal size and should be returned to the water. They agreed with me and while I went to get my camera they grabbed the reds and drum and scurried down the highway. This kind of behavior is what makes a bad name for many sportsmen. If I tried that, not only would I get caught, I would have a guilty conscience.

The game wardens in Aransas County, whom I know personally, are doing a great job. I don't see how they can keep an eye on as much as they do. Hope I'm not stepping on any toes, but I don't' think it fair for our wardens to have to keep up with as much as they do and have no more help than they do. The inland wardens have their trouble with poachers, trespassers and netters but sports fishermen, trotliners, bait and commercial shrimpers, oysters duck and goose hunters and goodness knows what all. I say, lets help our game wardens because they are trying to keep those 7-pound trout and 9-pound reds more plentiful for us.

Headless Shrimp Landings Down

Landings of headless shrimp at Texas ports amounted to 9.1 million pounds in August. This was 2.1 million pounds below landings in August 1967 but 1 million pounds above August 1966 and 2 million pounds above August 1965 landings. Current August landings brought the eight-month 1968 total to 29.2 million pounds compared with 30.0 million pounds during the corresponding 1967 period.

The following represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Galveston-Seabrook Area: Aug. 1968 879,000 pounds; Jan.-Aug. 1968 2,390,900; Jan.-Aug. 1967, 4,336.000.

Freeport Area: Aug. 1968, 2,291,000 pounds; Jan.-Aug. 1968, 5,327,700; Jan.-Aug. 1967, 9,314,000.

Matagorda-Palacios Area: Aug. 1968, 439,400 pounds; Jan.-Aug. 1968, 852,700; Jan.-Aug. 1967, 731,800.

Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift Area: Aug. 1968, 565,900 pounds; Jan.-Aug. 1968, 1,246,900; Jan.-Aug. 1967, 2,230,500.

Brownsville - Port Isabel Area: Aug. 1968, 2,193,200 pounds; Jan.-Aug. 1968, 11,729,200; Jan.-Aug. 1967, 12,247,400.

Trawl vessels working brown shrimp made only fair catches from southeast Aransas Pass Texas to southeast Cameron, La. Catches were somewhat better south of Port Isabel on the high seas off Mexico. Catches in adjacent waters averaged about 350 pounds per night whereas catches from off Mexico averaged 400 pounds per night. Gulf vessels working white shrimp found scattered pockets of small whites in the proximity of major passes and a few spawned-out females along the entire coast. The 1968 brown shrimp season leveled off at about the 1965-66 level in volume, however, a definite shift to waters off south Texas and north Mexico is evident by analyzing individual port activities. The Galvestan area has dropped 1.9 million pounds below 1967 landings; Freeport, four million pounds; Aransas Pass Rockport, 2.8 million pounds; whereas Brownsville-Port Isabel dropped only one-half million pounds below their 1967 record landings.

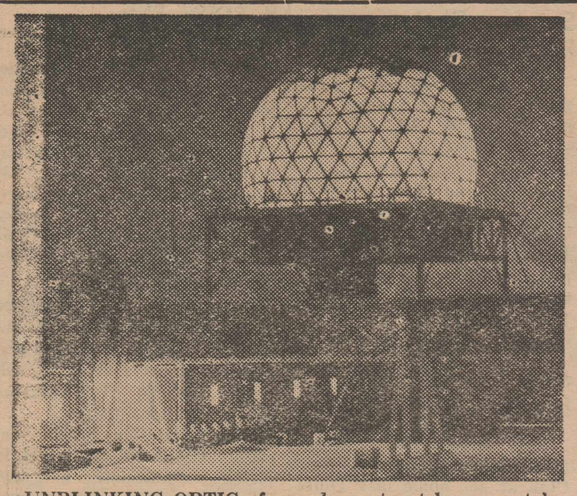

The 1968 fall shrimp season opened at mid-August. All bays from Galveston southward have a good to excellent crop of white shrimp. The largest volume harvest since the late 1950's was reported from Aransas, Corpus Christi, and Matagorda Bays. The Galveston and San Antonio systems have catch volumes equal to 1960. White shrimp were very small at mid-August in all bays except Galveston. Fishermen had difficulty maintaining the minimum legal size count of 65 heads-off.

Blue crab landings totaled 525,000 pounds compared with 225,000 pounds in August 1967. About 75 percent of the current landings were from the Galveston Bay-Sabine Lake areas.

Some 35 new shrimp trawl vessels made trips into Texas ports in August. In addition, nine vessels rejoined the Texas fleet after working waters off Central and South America. The ever increasing number of these "super trawlers," has restricted the individual trip catch considerably. Only a few vessels have made trip landings of 100 boxes during the entire season even through total Texas landings for the year are surpassed only by 1960 and 1967.

The shrimp fishery was plagued throughout August with a shortage of qualified captains and crews. Many vessels lost valuable time as crewmen changed vessels for various and sundry reasons leaving marginal vessels without crews. The situation is not expected in the foreseenot expected to improve in the foreseeable future.

Dental Check Up For Three Year Olds

College Station — When should a child first see the family dentist?

By his third birthday or as soon as all 20 of his primary teeth have appeared, urges Jennie Kitching, Extension family life education specialist.

Never neglect the primary teeth. If one of these teeth is lost prematurely, the space may close and the permanent teeth can't grow into proper position, according to the Texas A&M University specialist.

Early visits to the dentist make possible preventative dental care. On the first dental visit, routine cleaning and careful inspection of teeth and gums may be all that is necessary for your child.

UNITED FUND—

and he expects the entire drive to be completed by the middle of October.

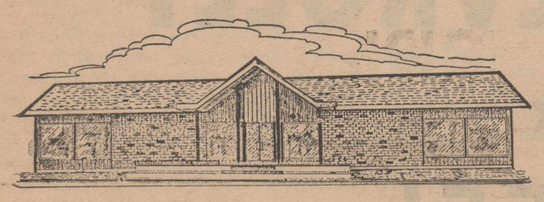

When asked what amount of money the people will be expected to give, Nuckles said, "We hape everyone will give his fair share." He pointed out that the United Fund Slogan is:

"Give a Day's Pay the United Way."

For the third straight year, Miss Elsie Hawes was the first person to turn in a generous contribution to the United Fund campaign.

Residents of Aransas County, in considering their contributions to the United Fund, may wish to consider Harry Emerson Fosdick's comment:

"Money is a miraculous thing. It is a man's personal energy reduced to portable form and endowed with powers the man himself does not possess. It can go where he cannot go; speak languages he cannot speak; lift burdens he cannot touch with his fingers; save lives with which he cannot directly deal—so that a man busy all day downtown can at the same time be working in boys' clubs, hospitals, settlements, children's centers all over the city."

SPEECH ON 'LAW AND ORDER'

Deed Vest, dean of students at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, recently gave a thought provoking speech on "Law and Order," a copy of which was sent to James H. Sorenson, Jr., by the Very Rev. Louis J. Blume, S.M., president of the university.

The text of the speech follows:

I call the subject upon which I have chosen to speak this evening, "Law and Order."

Therefore, let me make clear at the very beginning that I speak today as an American. I do not speak as a conservative. I do not speak as a Liberal. In truth, I fear the extreme Right as greatly as I fear the extreme Left. The first leads us in the direction of an authoritarian or fascist government. The second drags us in the direction of an anarchy, and I want neither of them. Like millions Americans, I am caught in a dilemma that impels me to stand up and be counted on the side of those great principles which, since time immemorial, have served to guide Americans.

To begin, let me sketch for you the picture as it exists.

In Indiana, not long ago, a college professor burned the American flag in his classroom and explained that it was not the symbol of the United States he burned to ashes, but merely a piece of cloth and a stick.

At Harvard University, that renowned training school for American Presidents and Justices of the United SSupreme Court, fist swinging members of the Students for a Democratic Society manhandled the United States Secretary of State.

At the University of Texas a few short months ago, a Professor of Sociology issued an impassioned call for revolution against the government of the United States; and at a National Convention held for Deans of Students at the University of Minnesota this past Spring, I heard the President of the National Students' Association outline the strategy by which students and liberal faculty members could change the course of history and the trends of American life. First they disrupt and destroy the system of student government, since agitators cannot function within the framework of a constitution;—if one is in existence they try to change it before destroying it. Second, they take control of the office of the Dean of Students, attacking him physically if necessary; Third, they take control of the President's office, occupying it physically, destroying his records, and requiring him to use police force to oust them. We have recently seen, at Columbia University, just exactly how this strategy works!

Two colleges have recently had to close down because of riots and demonstrations; and I know of college faculty members and administrators whose lives have been threatened by students.

A few months ago, St. Mary's University, at which I am proud to teach, in keeping with its century old tradition of inviting to its campus speakers of varying philosophies, heard Dick Gregory, the Negro comedian, express his hate of the White Man, his contempt for the government of the United States, his dislike of the President, and describe the flag of our nation as a dirty rag. In all of this he was protected by our adherance to the principle of free speech. But listen. When the President of the University condemned Gregory's statements, one of our college professors stated publicly that our President dit not have that right. Free speech? And don't condemn my university too quickly. Remember, incidents of this sort are occurring on every campus across the nation, many fostered by young professors. Even as recently as 10 days ago, the same professor is quoted in the San Antonio News as follows, "Read the now illegal Declaration of Independence, which affirms the 'right to alter or abolish' an oppressive government."

At Watts, in Harlem, in Washington, New York, and Detroit, this nation has suffered riots that culminate in acts of violence against lives and property from which those communities will be many years recovering.

During the last Christmas holidays, our nation's capital was desecrated by acts of vandalism so profane and obscene as to sicken us all.

Even the President of the United States dares not to venture out on the streets of that city without protection. And worse yet, across the whole face of this land of ours it is unsafe for a woman to go out alone at night in any city.

Across the nation, youngsters, 18 to 25 years of age, burn their draft cards in protest against the war in Vietnam. Right now there are 25 deserters from the American armed forces living in Sweden and nobody knows how many in Canada.

Since the beginning of time, man has sought order and law and system in all he does. Man, it is said, is made human through his culture. His sense of himself, his ability to form a coherent picture of the world about him, to live and die and work with dignity are all dependent upon his culture.

All human cultures are systematic. In every society, regularities are found in the ways members of the same culture earn a living, conduct their personal relationships, build and arrange their houses, rear their children, and live out their lives. Law is a natural part of life.

Change, too, is a natural part of life. The world about us changes constantly. The wind churns the water into turbulent waves; the water erodes the mountains until they become valleys; man plows the valleys to produce his sustenance.

So it is true, also, of culture. Man seeks relief from injustice, and he finds it. He knocks at the door of knowledge and it is opened to him. He seeks economic improvement, and he achieves prosperity. He seeks God, and he finds Him in his own way. All this is accomplished through the miracle of change.

This has been the story of America. Trial and tribulation give way to prosperity and ease; injustice gives way to justice; intolerance gives way to tolerance, and finally to acceptance. As we bear these gains in mind, shall we ask the question from the other side of the coin? Is law to give way to anarchy?

The picture of strife and contention, of bloodshed and crime, of indifference to the needs of others, and of disregard for the rights of others causes concern in those of us who believe in law, who abide by law, and who still profess that we adhere to principles of morality, integrity, and responsibility which are the foundation stones upon which this nation was erected.

As we view that picture, we must ask ourselves: What can we do to halt the spread of disorder, the epidemic of insurrection, and the spreading river of blood spawned by riot, disorder, and insurrection. How shall we reason with a generation that seems to demand: "Give me yesterday what I ask for tomorrow."

There are, of course, encouraging signs in the heavens. The radicals and extremists on either side in America usually shout themselves out, and a fundamental balance in the country reasserts itself in the long run.

Ninety percent of the new generation is intent, not upon the changing of the world, but upon acquiring knowledge which it hopes to use in correcting evils and shortcomings of the past. And I have faith in them. It's the ten percent that alarms me.

Will this new generation, only now reaching adulthood, carry us farther into the realm of the stars, or will it dash us into the oblivion of another Dark Age, as has happened before as a part of change? Will racial strife, religious bigotry, and ecenomic envy, along with aspirations for a juvenile identification, condemn our children and grandchildren to an existence less desirable than our own? The answer here is clear: We cannot afford to be patient much longer with the children who play so irresponsibly with the heritage of freedom they have been given.

I am not talking about the long-haired boys and the miniskirted girls who are on a rock-and-roll binge. They will all pass in good time, as did the flapper the goldfish swallowers, and other faddists.

I'm not talking about individual acts of crime. All nations have always had the people with the twisted minds who want to assassinate public figures.

What I'm talking about is the planned, organized, disrupting, unprincipled, violent kind of minority dissent. I'm talking about the groups who create dissent, harrass, disrupt, make demands, call for a showdown, destroy, riot, and blame the other fellow, or society.

They have a typical ultimatum. You hear it over the radio and on TV. You read it in the newspapers and in the magazine.

It goes like this: "If you don't do what we want, we can't be responsible for what we do."

They have a favorite charge: "All society is rotten. We've got to start over."

And they have a favorite excuse: "After all, this nation was founded by revolution and violence. It is as American as apple pie."

But their ultimatums, charges, and excuses are poppy-cock, with not one word that's valid or logical.

Their words make a mockery of our history. Their words call for a resort to destructive force, even hate where before there was no hate, and they attempt to create chaos — the very opposite of orderly change. There is no healing power for the ills of society in their methods.

What can we do about these violent dissenters? The first thing that we must do is to be sure that we do have established, workable methods for making change in our society.

The dissenters should be able to publicize, start a drive, harangue, advertise, propose a law, petition, file a suit, organize a movement, lobby, talk on a street corner, put up a candidate, protest, appeal to reason, use economic pressure, create a better way, and otherwise try to persuade other people that a change is needed. But these things should be done in an orderly fashion, and they should recognize the rights of others—and that includes property rights!

If people are impatient, we must offer an opportunity to get on the economic escalator, to change jobs, or to invent something, to learn a new skill or to start anew and to achieve recognition. We must keep the door open for young dreams. We must reward ambition. We must acknowledge merit. We must continue to be a nation of hope. But we must also be a nation of law and order. Orderly change is a virtue that mankind has learned through a thousand generations of bloody experience. We must be stern, and just, with those who would destroy what a thousand generations have built. We must have safe streets, highways, and homes. We must have security of persons and of property.

The alternative is lawlessness and anarchy. The choice is clear. It's time that local governments, the courts, the nation's leaders, and you and I stand up and say so.

Back in 1963, standing on the marble steps of the Lincoln Memorial, a great American stirred 200,000 marchers with words that began:

"I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal . . .

"I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character."

But he was not the only American who has had a dream.

I have one, too!

I dream of a land where it is more important that child be loved than that a store be burned.

I dream of a land where gun laws are unimportant because of violence is not held up as a means of solving problems.

I dream of a land where television and movies and novels and magazines do not extoll the perversions of sex and murder or of robbery and drugs.

I dream of a land in which love of country is a living, moving, vibrant thing.

I dream of a land in which every woman, man and child can walk its streets in safety.

I dream of a land where God is loved and faith and hope reign supreme!

This and That *

JOHN KINSEY

It's good to be back in Rockport after a trip to Chicago to see our first grandchild, Scott Linden Kinsey, undoubtedly the best looking, most intelligent five-week-old baby in the Middle West or anywhere.

An amusing thing happened one evening when our son, his wife, the baby, my wife, her dad and I went to a crowded restaurant for dinner. Wanting a table for six, our daughter-in-law and I took a table for two to wait until a larger table was available. I held the baby.

In a few minutes, we noticed that several people at a nearby table began staring at me and the baby with a look of disbelief. Knowing what they were wondering, I leaned over, pointed at my daughter-in-law and whispered confidentially, "She's my third wife."

Pocket billiards, or pool as we used to call it, seems to be the most popular form of recreation in the Chicago area these days. Most people have recreation rooms in their basements with a pool table for diversion. Our son has one and so have three of his friends who we visited.

And they're pretty good players. I had to run six or seven balls to win a few games.

Prices are sky high in the Chicago area. My wife and I went into a restaurant in suburban Deerfield (not a fancy eating place) and ordered two cups of coffee.

The waitress brought two little pots of coffee and gave us a check for 53c. Fifty-three cents plus tip is pretty high for two cups of coffee.

O. T. Stewart Family Reunion

The O. T. Stewart family had a reunion and get together Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wendell in Fulton.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs Hub Stewart, San Pablo Calif; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stewart and children, Copperas Cove; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stewart of Bay City; Mrs. Doris Stewart and son, Mr. and E. J. Offer and children, Mrs. Billy Mircovich and children, O. T. Stewart of Ingleside; Miss Kathy Hiller and fiance of Annaville.

Gifted actor Jose Ferrer will be seen in a dual role as the eccentric but lovable would-be knight, Don Quixote, and as his novelist-creator, the Spanish author, Miguel De Cervantes, in "Man Of La Mancha," the State Fair of Texas show at the Dallas Music Hall, Oct. 4-20. This prize-winning, record-breaking musical hit is a masterful and unusual presentation filled with humor, idealism and the triumphant call to courage of its classic song, "The Impossible Dream."

Miss Debra Kelly Birthday Party

The group enjoyed the evening dancing.

Mrs. John Minton of Paterson, La., visited her mother, Mrs. Somerville Ballou, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wallace and other relatives over the weekend.

Chevrolet introduces 1969.

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's!
There is no joy in the land of our competitors today.
But let us ask you this.
Should we have made Caprice shorter instead of the longest Chevrolet ever built? Or adorned it with flashy nicknacks to make it look less expensive?
Just because competition doesn't, should we not have offered you washers to clean your headlights, new variable-ratio power steering, liquid tire chain you can apply to your rear wheels at the touch of a button?
Should we have given you less power, instead of the largest standard V8 in its field?
Some people think so.
Our competitors.

'69 Caprice Coupe

'69 Camaro SS Sport Coupe, plus RS equipment

Camaro. Who needs to say "announcing" or "new".
The Hugger.
And just look how it all hangs together. No gingerbread anywhere.
We've improved the interior, too. Quieted the ride. Made the Astro Ventilation ventilate better.
The power range is very impressive.
Standard V8 is 210 hp. SS engines available up to 325 hp. For added SS appeal: sport striping; power disc brakes; wide oval, road-hugging tires.
Your Chevrolet dealer offers this advice:
Go on, you other sportsters. Gnash your gears and look tough.
Maybe it will help.
Putting you first, keeps us first.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Rabbit hunting is almost a lost sport in Texas.

I mean honest-to-goodness rabbit hunting.

Sure, some hunters will be out after doves or quail and will plunk an occasional bunny. But how many Izaac Walton Leaguers do you know who go hunting strictly for rabbits? Very few, I betcha.

Why this is true, I don't know. Rabbit hunting offers some of the finest sport to be had in the great outdoors.

Perhaps it is because the bunny isn't protected by game seasons in Texas. You can hunt cottontails and jackrabbits anytime. Somehow, by throwing the sport open to anyone, any time, it sort of takes something out of the pleasure.

But it shouldn't. Rabbit hunting actually is a bonus hunt. When other hunting seasons are closed and the hunter is home twiddling his thumbs, wonder what in blazes he can do, there is great sport to be had in scouting the woods for rabbits.

Believe it or not, rabbit hunting can be as simple or as complicated as you want it to be. This is one of the real appealing aspects of the sport. There are deluxe rabbit hunts and plain vanilla rabbit hunts, and just about everything in between, depending on your pleasure.

One of the most enjoyable means of seeking Mr. Rabbit is with a dog or dogs. Any canine that will chase rabbits can be used in the sport. But when you talk about rabbit hunting, you sort of think about Bassets and Beagles. These are the rabbit-hunting hounds.

Basically, both accomplish the same purpose. Idea behind rabbit hunting with dogs is to flush the bunny into the open where the hunter can get his sights on it. But the dogs are not alike in their hunting methods. Beagles pursue rabbits mostly by sight; Bassets by scent.

When a Beagle spooks a rabbit into the open, the dog takes out right on the heels of the bunny, its legs a blur of motion. Since the Beagle has short legs it can't stay up with a rabbit in a foot race. However, this really is an advantage rather than a disadvantage. If the dog makes the rabbit run too fast, it will take off instantly and soon be out of gun range.

Experienced hunters know that a rabbit often will circle and come back to the spot where it started. Thus the hunter stands still and waits, listening to the high chop-chop bark of the pursuing Beagle. Chances are the bunny will soon come hippity-hopping back in view again.

A Basset hound moves along with its nose almost dragging the ground. Seldom does it look up to see where it is going. When a rabbit is spooked by a Basset, the bunny sort of hops off leisurely in front of the dog, always keeping well out in front, but not hurrying. The hunter tagging along usually can get some fine shooting opportunities.

But dogs are not absolutely necessary to make a rabbit shoot a memorable event. If you don't believe this just take out your trusty shotgun or .22 rifle and walk through any wooded area known to be inhabited by rabbits. Keep your eyes alert. Be on the lookout for one to jump suddenly into view . . . often from almost under your feet.

Best time to hunt is real early in the morning or late in the afternoon. During these periods the rabbits are up and about, feeding. Then they are more suspective to a stalk. In mid-day they bed down in clumps of brush and you almost have to step on one to make it show itself.

Whether you prefer a shotgun or a .22 rifle is simply a matter of personal preference. A shotgun loaded with No. 6 shot shells is more deadly at short range and on running shots, but the .22 rifle is more sporting. Get your .22 out often during the year, for a rabbit shooting, and you won't have any trouble connecting with a deer when the the big-game season rolls around.

Another facet of rabbit hunting, usually ignored, is that cottontails are very good to eat. A young, tender cottontail is especially delectable.

Skin one by making a cut crossways right on the backbone, insert your fingers under is skin on each side of the opening, and spread your arms apart. Half of the skin will peel down over the hindquarters, the other half over the head.

Cut the meat into chunks and fry it just as you would Southern fried chicken, in a deep skillet brimming with lard and laced with some bacon drippings. Or if you prefer, boil and later add dumplings.

One session at the dinner table when cottontail rabbit is the specialty of the house and you'll be a rabbit-hunting convert for life.

Mr. John R. Kinsey
Editor
The Rockport Pilot
Rockport, Texas

Dear Mr. Kinsey:

I have spent some time in Rockport during the past three summers and am very interested in keeping up with the town. I was interested in reading about plans proposed by Harland Bartholomew and Associates and was especially interested in the Letter to the Editor in your Aug. 29 edition from Mr. Joe Browne, Jr., responding with some extremely sound ideas and suggestions.

I would like to continue to follow the thinking and planning of your community and am enclosing a check for $5.00 for a year's subscription to the Rockport Pilot.

I look forward to another visit soon to Rockport, but with your publication, can follow what is happening between visits.

Thank you so much.

Sincerely,
Johnne Kimberlin
