

HOAC GETS SHOW IN NORTH
PECOS SHALLOW WILDCAT
Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Alma D. Unsticker, et al, North Pecos County wildcat, two miles southwest of the shallow Pecos Valley field, had a show in an upper Permian zone which might be developed for a small oil well and a discovery.

This venture ran a one hour drill-stem test at 1,410-90 feet. Gas showed at the surface in 30 minutes, the flow was not gauged or estimated.

Recovery was 90 feet of gas cut drilling mud; 90 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud, and 90 feet of heavy oil and gas cut drilling mud. No water was developed.

The project is drilling ahead below 1,516 feet in line. It is contracted to run to at least 7,500 feet—and may dig below the level.

Interested observers think the section which had the above show might be completed for a small well.

FOREST STEPUOT TO TIPPETT FIELD IS FLOWING OIL
Forest Oil Corporation No. 1-A Tippet, stepout from the discovery well of the Tippet field, in extreme Northwest Crockett County, and 330 feet from southwest and southeast lines of section 4, block J-H, J. H. Tippet, was flowing to clean out and test in the lower Permian pay section of that area.

After swabbing, the well kicked off and started flowing. It flowed to pits for a short time, and was then turned to tanks. In two hours of flowing through a one-eighth-inch choke it produced 13 barrels of oil. Testing is continuing.

The oil is coming from perforations above total depth of 6,127 feet. The perforations are at 1,108-21 feet. That interval had been washed with 100 gallons of acid.

DRILLING STARTS AT SE COKE
ELLENBURGER EXPLORATION
Drilling has started at Shamrock Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Wendland, slated 7,000-foot wildcat in Southeast Coke County. The prospector had reached 750 feet in line and anhydrite, and was drilling ahead.

Rotary rig is being moved in for the Alford Oil Company of Dallas No. 1 Jack Lassiter, to be a 7,000-foot wildcat in North Coke County. This project was originally reported with Allan Culberson of Dallas being the operator. He is one of the owners of Alford.

The location is 860 feet from south hand 1,980 feet from east lines of section 33, block 1-A, HATCO survey. That puts it two and one half miles south and three quarters of a mile west of Sun Oil Company No. 1-A survey. Discovery for flowing production from the Marble Falls line, to the Alford survey.

The Alford venture is due to test into the Ellenburger.

OPERATIONS HAVE BEGUN AT N-C FISHER DEEP VENTURE
Operations have begun at a slated 7,500-foot prospect in North-Central Fisher County, about five miles southwest of Rotan.

It is at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Sallie Crowley. The drillsite is 600 feet from north and east lines of section 42, block 3, HATCO survey. The projected destination of 7,500 feet is calculated to take the project into the Ellenburger. It had reached 1,967 feet in shale, and was drilling ahead at last report.

ANOTHER ANDECTOR PROJECT GETS OIL IN CLEAR FORD

The Texas Company and Phillips Petroleum Company No. 3 J. P. Cowden, stepout from production in the Andector area of Northwest Ector County, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 8, block 44, TP survey, T-1-N, was drilling ahead past 6,304 feet in Clear Ford lime, after a two hour drillsite test in that formation at 6,099-6,235 feet.

Gas showed at the surface in four minutes. The drill pipe started spraying oil and drilling mud at the end of one hour. Recovery was 770 feet of free oil, 660 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. There was no water. The gas volume was estimated at one million cubic feet per day.

The exploration is to continue to about 9,000 feet to test for production in the Ellenburger.

SE ANDREWS PROSPECTOR MADE SALT WATER IN DST

The Texas Company No. 1-A-3 Mabes, Southwest Andrews County wildcat, five miles north of the Mabes field, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 24, block 38, G&MB&A survey, T-3-N, was coring ahead below 4,810 feet in middle Permian lime.

It ran a drillsite test at 4,733-77 feet, with the tool open two hours. There was a blow of air for one hour. Recovery was 730 feet of drilling mud and 920 feet of salt water. No signs of oil or gas were reported from the test.

GARZA WILDCAT MADE SALT WATER AND A LITTLE OIL

The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Swenson Land and Cattle Company, Northeast Garza County wildcat, 2,307 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 26, block 2, H&ON survey, had swabbed about 20 feet of salt water and 20 per cent oil from perforations in the top of the Ellenburger at 7,540-48 feet.

A very small amount of either fluid had been recovered. It was standing at about 6,100 feet below the surface while swabbing was in progress.

This exploration is bottomed at 7,976 feet in the Ellenburger. All of the section from there back up to the 7,540-48 foot zone had been standing at about 6,100 feet.

Two identical services will be held in the First Christian Church on Easter Sunday: company No. 1 at 9:00 a. m., the other at 11:00 a. m.

Truman Defends Shipments Of War Supplies To Russia

WASHINGTON—(P)—Congressional indignation over the shipping of supplies to Russia drew from President Truman Thursday the observation that the USSR at the present time is a friendly nation.

Truman told a news conference that many of the shipments which have drawn fire on Capitol Hill were contracted for by the Soviet two years ago.

He said the Commerce Department is handling the situation and referred further questions to that department.

After all, he said, Russia is at the present time a friendly nation.

He spoke after Congress had heard testimony that American warplane engines and other supplies have been shipped to Russia at a time of critical world tension.

Moves Under Way
Spurred by disclosures before his House investigating committee, Chairman Riley (R-Okla.) told reporters these moves are under way:

1. A demand on the Department of Commerce for a complete breakdown of all U. S. materials sent to Russia and her satellite nations.

2. An immediate check into reports that boxes and crates marked for shipment to Russia "are lying all over the New York waterfront."

3. A full-scale inquiry into the operations of Moore-McCormack Steamship Lines of New York, described by a witness Wednesday as the handling agent for the Russian purchasing agency in this country.

Riley said committee investigators are "already on the spot" to go over Moore-McCormack's records. He said they also will check reports that 60 Russian-flag ships have been loaded in New York harbor since January 1.

Engine Sales Cited
Riley called for Thursday session of his committee for Thursday with Richard P. Finkle, a former War Assets Administration official, now president of the Alpine Corporation of Washington, D. C., scheduled as the first witness.

Two witnesses at Wednesday's first hearing testified that Finkle sold 30 new B-24 airplane engines to Russia through Amtorg for $6,000 each and 16 to Poland some time after May, 1947.

Site For New T&P
Depot Is Approved

A Front Street site between Lorain and Colorado Streets has been agreed upon tentatively by the Texas & Pacific Railway and the City of Midland as the location for the new T&P depot to be erected here this year, City Manager H. A. Thompson said Thursday.

Members of the City Council Tuesday night agreed upon the location, subject to the approval of the city planning engineer and railway officials. Thompson said he had discussed the matter with both parties Wednesday.

The railway company is expected to start construction of its new building here before summer.

RRC Officials Will Visit In Midland Friday

Officials of the Railroad Commission of Texas, including two elected members, Olin Culberson and William J. Murray, will visit Midland Friday.

Also to be here are Jack K. Baumel, chief engineer of the Oil and Gas Division of the commission.

Olin Culberson

and Clark Floyd, director of production of the Oil and Gas Division of the commission.

The officials will attend a meeting at 1:30 p. m. Friday of the Yates Pool Engineering Commission to be held in the Scharbauer Hotel.

Culberson will be a featured speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce at noon Friday in the Scharbauer Hotel.

Culberson, Baumel and Lloyd were scheduled to arrive in Midland Thursday night with Murray coming here Friday in time for the Yates meeting.

New Coal Saving Orders Prepared

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman said Thursday he is not disturbed by what a reporter described as the "rising revolt" against his nomination this year.

Truman told a news conference he was correctly reported by Senator Hatch (D-NM), who said a few days ago the President was in the fight to a finish.

Moreover, Truman predicted the Democrats will win in November. He said that was a prophecy.

As to those who have walked out of the Administration camp, he suggested to reporters that they wait and see whether they will walk back.

He added let's give them "until November; he will give them a chance to walk back.

The other car did not stop, Arthur reported. Arthur was treated at a hospital for arm injuries.

Uncle Sam Holds Surplus War Plants
'On A String' For Defense Speed-Up

CLEVELAND—(NEA)—The national defense speed-up means increased production of war materials from heavy long-range bombers to G. I. mess kits. And that means plants for production.

Where's Uncle Sam going to get them? The answer is he has them on a string.

During World War II, the U. S. spent $18,000,000,000 building 1200 defense plants and expanding countless others. In the current defense program that won't be necessary.

After the war ended, many of the plants were sold to private industry as surplus. But there is a security clause in the sales contract for every surplus structure which military planners tagged for possible future emergency use. It permits the government to retain the plant's wartime productive capacity for 20 years after the plant is sold.

No Changes, No Sales
During that time, it is up to the Army, Navy and Air Force to see that neither the plant nor its equipment is altered in any way that will weaken its war-potential output. No structural changes or sales of equipment may be made during security clause period without official military consent. About 175 vital war plants, sold or being sold by WAA, as surplus, have this security clause.

From planes to pans to planes? Built by the war, this factory made propeller nose spinners for fighter planes. Now it makes aluminum pots and pans, but it's still tied to U. S. defense by a security clause.

Jew-Arab Truce Talks Suggested

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman proposed Thursday that the United Nations call Arab and Jewish leaders into a truce parley to halt bloodshed in Palestine.

He said Warren Austin, American delegate to the UN, will put the proposal before the UN Security Council.

The President told a news conference the United States reversed its original stand for partition of Palestine because partition could not be enforced without American troops.

Austin, American delegate to the UN, announced the reversal last Friday. He proposed a temporary United Nations trusteeship over Palestine.

Truman said the United States proposed the trusteeship to provide a government "to keep the peace."

He read to reporters a prepared statement saying a truce must be reached between the Arabs and the Jews "if we are to avert tragedy in Palestine."

Unless something is done, he declared, "open warfare is just over the horizon."

The President, under questioning, said the British were supposed to stay in Palestine until August 15, but suddenly decided to pull out on May 15.

He commented that he did not run the British government.

Italy Expresses Willingness To Talk On Trieste

ROME—(P)—A Foreign Ministry spokesman announced Thursday Italy is willing to negotiate directly with Yugoslavia on the question of Trieste and the free territory.

He added that such negotiations could be considered by the Italian government only in the spirit of the British-French-American note proposing return of the area to Italy.

The announcement was in reply to correspondents' questions on the possibility of direct negotiations.

The ministry's spokesman emphasized his government's belief that only by eliminating the "discord revealed in the question of the Trieste free territory can constructive peace be reached with our neighbors."

Strike Cramps Politics
The Trieste announcement came less than a month before a crucial Italian parliamentary election, scheduled for April 18.

Italy's nationwide printer's strike cramped the political campaign Thursday, said Premier Alcide De Gasperi, said the election will be held on schedule.

The people have been without newspaper announcements of political meetings since the Communist-led union of typographers struck for higher pay Sunday midnight, closing about 150 dailies. Crowds at the meetings have dwindled.

Commodity Exchanges To Close Good Friday

By The Associated Press
Easter holidays will be observed with the closing of all principal domestic securities and commodity exchanges, Good Friday, March 26. Banking institutions in most states will be open as usual, and various livestock reports will be gathered by the Department of Agriculture.

The New York Stock and Curb exchanges and domestic grain and livestock markets will operate as usual Saturday, March 27.

The New York Cotton, Wool and Commodity Exchanges and the New Orleans Cotton Market will extend their holiday and remain closed Saturday.

Blast Furnace Flash
Kills Four, Hurts 13

BETHLEHEM, PA.—(P)—Hot coke pouring from a blast furnace pipe in a flaming flash killed at least four men and burned 13 others at the Bethlehem Steel Corporation plant Wednesday night.

Three of the victims were charred beyond recognition, preventing immediate identification. The fourth died at a hospital early Thursday.

Two others suffered third degree burns and were reported in critical condition.

Two identical services will be held in the First Christian Church on Easter Sunday: one at 9:00 a. m., the other at 11:00 a. m.

Killing Of Negro Convict Brings Probe, Discharges

HOUSTON—(P)—Sheriff Rue Lincecum of Richmond Thursday launched an investigation into the fatal shooting of a negro convict at the Central Prison Farm No. 1 near Sugarland, and declared his findings will be presented to the Fort Bend County grand jury.

The convict, Ernest Williams, 22, was serving a 10-year robbery sentence from Bexar County. He died late Wednesday night 15 minutes after being shot in the prison farm's dining room.

O. B. Ellis, general manager of the Texas Prison System, said he discharged two guards at 3 a. m. Thursday. He said there was no excuse whatsoever for the killing. He said investigation revealed the pistols of the guards discharged had been fired.

The discharged guards, E. W. Pryor and Ivey Smith, were expected to report to Sheriff Lincecum's office for further investigation.

Food Strike Disturbance
Ellis said the two guards were stationed outside the dining room during a disturbance when the prisoners went on a food strike. Ellis said tear gas and sickening gas were shot into the dining room to get the prisoners to return quietly to their cells.

"Williams started to open a window," Ellis said. "He could not have escaped because there are bars outside the window, he probably wanted some air."

"Then he was shot. He was shot once under the left arm and died 15 minutes later."

"I think that whoever shot him lost his head. And since I learned (Continued on page 9)

NEWARK, OHIO—(P)—When the judge said "it says," Harold Offenbaker, 26, of Newark, gasped. "For goodness sake, you aren't going to send me to jail are you?"

"Yes, sir," replied Common Pleas Judge Charles B. Holtzberry.

"I'm not going," Offenbaker cried, jumping from his seat and running out of the room, where he appeared on a contempt of court citation.

That was Wednesday afternoon. Authorities still sought him Thursday.

More Men, Money, UMT Called Musts

WASHINGTON—(P)—The nation's top military leaders asked Congress Thursday for an immediate expansion of the armed services and the drafting of men 19 to 25 years of age.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal grimly outlined the recent turn of world events in urging steps to make United States military might match that of Communist Russia.

As Forrestal spoke before the Senate Armed Services Committee, President Truman announced he is preparing to give the Congress a revised defense program.

Truman told his news conference he can't estimate yet how many additional billions of dollars the program will cost. Estimates from the defense department have not yet reached him, he said.

Forrestal said the odds still favor peace and the free nations of the world.

Increased Armed Strength
But he asked Congress to approve immediately:

1. An increase in the present authorized strength of Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force manpower by 348,000 officers and men.

2. Another $3,000,000,000 in cash and contract authority for the armed services to cover this expansion. This presumably would (Continued on page 9)

Demos Talk
Switches On Veto Ballot

WASHINGTON—(P)—Reports that President Truman soon will propose new billions for defense prompted vote-switching talk Wednesday among Democrats who cast previous ballots for tax cutting.

Republican leaders insisted, however, that not enough shifts will occur to uphold Truman's victory certain veto of their $4,800,000,000 tax-reduction bill.

That measure completed its first trip through Congress Wednesday. Representative Cox (D-Ga.), who voted for the tax cut, raised the possibility Thursday of a wide shift of votes, including his own. He told newsmen:

"Reports now are that the President will ask for a large sum of money for the Air Force and for atomic energy, about $10,000,000,000 more. This would greatly change the whole matter."

May Sustain Veto
"If the President shows Congress that this $4,800,000,000 is needed to protect this country—and I believe he has understated the world emergency—it is my belief Congress will sustain his veto of the tax bill."

In the House voting, 84 Democrats deserted the Administration to join 206 Republicans in support of the measure. Opposing were 64 Democrats, a single Republican and the two American-Labor Party members from New York.

Truman is widely expected to send his veto message to Congress early next week, although he has 10 days in which to act.

Scattered Showers
In West Texas Forecast

By The Associated Press
Scattered thundershowers in the Northwest and drizzling rain in parts of East and South Texas Thursday ended a two-day period of fair weather in the state.

Scattered showers were forecast for West Texas and the western part of East Texas Thursday afternoon and night, and for the eastern part of East Texas Friday.

WEATHER
Becoming partly cloudy Thursday night and Friday. A few scattered showers in West Texas Thursday night and Friday. Cooler Friday. Maximum temperature Wednesday was 86 degrees, minimum 48 degrees. Minimum Thursday was 61 degrees.

Barking Rifles Curtail Attendance At Jerusalem's Holy Thursday Rites

JERUSALEM—(P)—Christians knelt in prayer this Holy Thursday in Jerusalem, while around them rifles barked in the bitter strife between Arabs and Jews.

Holy Week worshippers prayed in commemoration of Christ's last supper. His betrayal and arrest. While they knelt here gunfire clattered from an Arab village on a hillside where, the Bible says, Judas Iscariot hanged himself.

The danger of death out to a mere handful of the number of Christians of Roman Catholic and Protestant faith who usually participate in daylong services.

Walk To Gethsemane
At the spot on Mount Zion where Christ is believed by Christians to have had his last supper, pontifical mass was scheduled by Archbishop Magr. Arthur Hughes, internuncio of the Catholic Church of Cairo.

After mass the churchmen went to walk to the Garden of Gethsemane for prayers at the spot where Christ is believed to have been betrayed by Judas and arrested by Roman soldiers.

Traditional night services in Gethsemane have been cancelled. After dark in Jerusalem has become a dangerous time to roam abroad.

Arab guards, however, have promised immunity to worshippers and will mount a sentry stop the old city walls. It is through a gate in this wall the Bible says that Christ walked on his triumphal entry into Jerusalem more than nineteen hundred years ago.

It is a day of celebration for the Jews, too. Thursday is Purim, commemorating the legendary victory of Mordecai and Queen Esther over Haman, the Persian premier of the time of Jewish residence there.

Children play in the streets in gay holiday costumes, while their parents brave possible sniper fire as they visit friends and eat traditional "Haman's ears" cookies.

But the Jews have curtailed these observance, too. Fireworks displays, large customary, were cancelled. There are too many other fireworks.

FAIR WEATHER LESSENS FLOOD THREATS; RAIN RELIEVES CALIFORNIA

CHICAGO — (AP) — Fair weather and mild temperatures prevailed over most of the central and eastern sections of the country Thursday, further easing flood fears in the principal river valleys.

Rain and snow fell in scattered areas of the mountain and plains states. The precipitation belt appeared headed toward the north central region.

Heaviest snowfall was four inches in Great Falls, where lesser amounts fell in Western Utah and over Nevada. The soaking rains which hit drought-stricken areas of California Wednesday ended, but there were falls in the plains states and in Northern Minnesota.

The precipitation in California brought a measure of relief to ranchers and helped late crops, but much more rain was needed to ease the critical irrigation and water problems in the rich agricultural central valley. The falls measured more than three inches in northern sections.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH CIRCLE HAS WEDNESDAY MEETING

20th Century Study Club To Support City's Youth Center

The Twentieth Century Study Club, at a Tuesday afternoon meeting in the home of Mrs. Louis Chnd, 1105 West Missouri Street, voted to accept as the year's project the raising of funds for the Midland Youth Center. Recent box supper and square dance proceeds will go to this project, club officials announced.

The group is planning a "silver" anniversary tea later in the Spring, celebrating the club's tenth anniversary.

"A World of Women," the year's study continued Tuesday with the presentation of "Women in Medical Practice and Research," featuring Mrs. M. S. Metz in a discussion of "Nurses and Doctors" and Mrs. Frank Monroe in an address on "Technicians and Research Workers."

During the business session, announcement was made of the April district federated convention, in Peecos to which Mrs. James O. Simmons, Jr., will be the club's delegate.

Mrs. J. B. Bain, captain of the Twentieth Century Study Club's volunteer Red Cross workers, reported on the group's activities in the present drive.

Recent Grads Conduct 'Cokes, Careers' Party For High School Girls

AAUW's "Cokes and Careers" party, presented Wednesday night in the high school library by the Recent Graduates Group, was well-received by high school junior and senior girls seeking advice and instruction on careers and education in the higher schools or business colleges.

The Recent Graduates Group announces that any girls unable to attend the Wednesday vocational guidance course, but who desire certain information which was offered, may contact Mrs. Josephine Farr, Midland High School teacher, who will arrange personal conferences for them with one or a group of recent graduates.

Among the college majors and careers represented in the diverse group were geology, home economics, news writing, advertising, radio speech, psychology, personnel work and office and statistical work.

GOOD NATURE IS VALUABLE ASSET, CHARM-EXPERT SAYS

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

"A reputation for good nature," says charm expert Margery Wilson, "is one of the most valuable assets in life."

Maintaining this reputation as we grow older isn't always easy, particularly if health becomes less buoyant. It's tough to be good-natured when vitality diminishes or age makes its demands of physical well-being.

When you don't feel as well as you might, for instance, there is a tendency to become short-tempered and to turn on a less dazzling smile.

But proof that even trying physical handicaps can't wreck a good nature are the numbers of women whom we all can count among our acquaintances who have smiled through their tribulations; even poked fun at long convalescences.

The power to charm people by the manifestations of a sunny disposition diminishes the minute you start giving in to temper, show other signs of nervous strain or succumb to the temptation to be sarcastic or sardonic to friends and intimates instead of being your usual sweet, kind self.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH SLATES GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES AT NOON

Good Friday services, based on the seven last words of Christ on the cross, will be conducted from noon until 1 p. m. Friday in Trinity Episcopal Church, the Rev. R. J. Snell, rector, has announced.

The public is invited to attend this service which is based upon the following last words: "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do . . . Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise. . . . Woman, behold thy Son! Behold thy mother. . . . My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me? . . . I thirst. . . . It is finished. . . . Father, into Thy hands I commend my Spirit."

All-American Mother Loves Her Homework

THURMONT, MD.—The high cost of living is no joke for Mrs. Charles H. Clarke, who has to cook potatoes by the peck to feed her family of 12 children.

Mrs. Clarke was married when she was 20 and had 24 children, 12 of whom are still living. They range in age from eight to 30, and include 16-year-old twins. Despite the fact that she must rise at 4:30 to start packing lunches for the children who are still in school, and serve breakfast on an assembly-line system, Mrs. Clarke, placid and smiling at 52, still thinks housework is fun.

She measures her laundry by the bushel basket—10 baskets are a normal washday. In addition, she helps her husband take care of their acre farm, which helps cut down the food budget.

Clarke, 67, also runs a tavern restaurant for the mountain community, and takes turns getting dinner. During the war Mrs. Clarke served hot coffee and sandwiches to hitchhiking soldiers, and has given 18 pints of blood to the Red Cross. In recognition of the latter service, the local Lions Club once financed a trip for her to Los Angeles, for a radio appearance.

The children and Clarke took care of the chores for the week that she was gone. Mrs. Clarke admitted that she enjoyed the train trip—her first—but confessed that for the last 100 miles she was "sitting on the edge of the seat, anxious to get back to the children and the housework."

Beauty Spots Are Back In Style To Point Up Prettiest Dimples

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

Beauty spots—those coquettish little black patches of courtplaster which used to flag eyes to great-grandma's dimples—are back on the faces and shoulders of modern belles.

Meant for the gala occasion when a girl wants to look her most alluring, these tiny foils put provocative emphasis on a dimpled chin or cheek, beautiful eyes, a smooth brow, a pair of shoulders.

Beauty marks can be used singly or twinned for greater effect—if features are that good. The girl flitting over her black lace fan in the picture above uses three heart-shaped motifs to pull glances first to her sparkling eyes, then to her smooth white shoulder.

In addition to heart-shaped conceals, a girl has her choice of beauty-spot motifs cut in star, crescent, triangle or three-leaf-clover designs. To give her free rein in experimenting with all shapes, one pretty little pink and black package holds 100 dots in all designs.

YOUNGSTERS WARNED TO AVOID OBVIOUS CLOTHES TRICKS

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

Young girls learning their first grown-up tricks of ensembling clothes are warned against overdoing the effects that tie a costume together.

Don't, for example, repeat a note in too many accessories. Your ensembling effect will look more subtle if you repeat the note just once than it will if you repeat it two or three times.

To get down to cases, a leather band on a hat which is matched exactly or almost exactly to a leather belt worn on a dress will give you a neat trick of ensembling. But if you make this twosome a foursome by matching belt and hat-band to shoes and bag, your effects are apt to look too repetitious.

You could avoid the error of overdoing a costume tie-up by introducing another color into your ensemble with shoes, and bag.

Home Sewing Room Sweeps The Country

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Fashion Editor

Today's busy young woman, whether she keeps house or spends her days in an office, does a much more professional job of home-sewing than her much trumpeted grandmother.

That's the consensus of experts, drawn from a recent survey which shows that more women are doing more home-sewing today, and doing it better, than at any time since the first ready-made dresses appeared on the U. S. market.

The sewing boom isn't confined to any class or age group. Career girls are just as interested as housewives, and teen-agers often turn out garments as smoothly finished as those of their mothers.

One concrete evidence of the growing interest in home dressmaking is found in the results of the National Sewing Contest, now in progress, sponsored each Spring by the National Needlecraft Bureau. Forty-five major U. S. cities are now represented in the contest, in which thousands of coats, suits, dresses and children's clothes are entered in local contests. The 400-odd local winners are then forwarded to New York for final judging, and eight national prizes are awarded at an elaborate fashion show held at the Waldorf-Astoria.

A jury of top American fashion editors, designers and stylists make the final decisions on the competing garments, and each year express amazement at the professional skill and designing talent of the contestants.

Further proof of the sewing boom is the fact that sales of patterns, yard goods and notions are breaking all previous records, the demand for electric sewing machines is far ahead of the supply in most cities, and attendance at local sewing centers is setting a new high.

Department stores and sewing centers report that attendance at dressmaking classes is not limited to beginners. Many women who have been sewing after a fashion all their lives are enrolling to learn special techniques of tailoring and finishing. In one city, Tulsa, Okla., special classes for men have proved a success, attended by university students interested in making their own shirts and jackets. Instructors report that the men are smart draftsmen, too.

Forces behind the home-sewing trend are several. First, of course, is the increasing cost of ready-made garments. Second is the fact that so many women took up home-sewing during the war, and have continued because they found they enjoyed it. Whatever the reason, indications are that home-sewing is here to stay, as women learn that they can do first-class dressmaking and turn out thrifty garments that have an expensive, custom-made look.

Typical of the new attitude is that of Marie Denham, top-flight New York model, who says:

"Yes, I know how to sew. I make all my own dresses and many of my suits. In my work I need a great many more clothes than I could afford to buy ready-made. And I like to sew."

Social Situation

SITUATION: You are the only man in a group having dinner in a restaurant, who does not dance, and you find yourself sitting with a woman while the others are all out on the dance floor.

WRONG WAY: Don't explain that you don't dance. Let her think you don't care to.

RIGHT WAY: Strike up some sparkling conversation, mentioning casually that you don't dance.

The horse is one of the oldest existing mammals on earth today, while man is the youngest.

East, West Cage Stars Set For All-Star Battle

NEW YORK—(P)—A spectacular, high scoring exhibition is expected Thursday night when East meets the West in the third annual Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund all-star basketball game.

A large gathering of pro scouts and coaches will be on hand to give the talented casts a final once-over. Both squads are big and husky and for once the East will have an edge in both height and weight. The Easterners, coached this year by Navy's Ben Carnevale, average six feet, three inches and 194 pounds. The Westerners, piloted by Notre Dame's Ed (Moose) Krause, average 6-2 and 182.

Bennett West's Pilot A. L. (Amby) Bennett of the Oklahoma Aggies was chosen by the Western cagers to captain their team, and Leland Byrd of West Virginia was picked to lead the Easterners.

That doesn't mean that either will start. Both coaches are jubilant over the wealth of material at their command but are stumped over whom they will select to start. All 12 of the Western aces will participate as will the 11 Eastern stars.

Ken Rollins was to have been the twelfth member of the Eastern squad but Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky withdrew his stellar guard. Kentucky competes in the Olympic trials beginning Saturday and Rupp said he wanted to have his player in one piece for that tourney.

Mangrum Rated As Favorite In Charlotte Open

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—(P)—The spot reserved for the favorite of the $10,000 Charlotte Open Golf Tournament was marked off Wednesday, and planted firmly on it was Lloyd Mangrum, the lanky Chicagoan.

The mustached Mangrum clinched that distinction when he won the Greensboro Open Sunday and brought his year's earnings to just under $11,000—top among the pros.

He has won three of the 11 tournaments with a $10,000 price tag on the Winter swing that ends in Augusta, Ga., early next month. (The other eight events have gone to as many players.)

Mangrum, who came out of the battlefields of Europe to win the 1946 National Open, didn't lessen his chances to be cast as favorite in Thursday's 72-hole event at the Myers Park course by his pre-tourney tuneup.

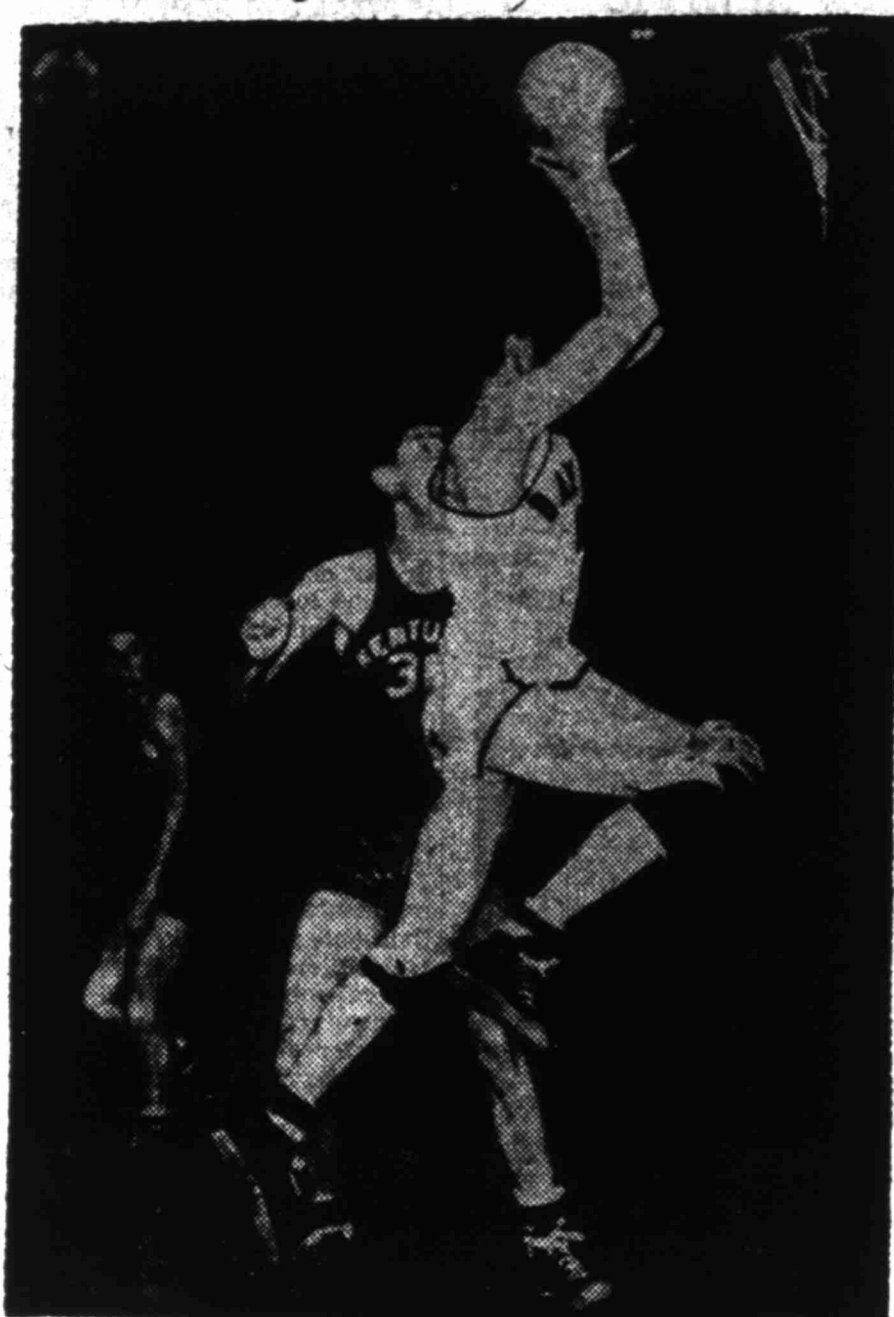

He unloaded a 64 in a warmup two days ago to tie the competitive course record he set during the 1946 tournament. Par for the 6,400-yard strip is 72.

—SL—
Cary Middlecoff, of the Memphis, Tenn., dentist, won the tournament last year, shooting a 64 in a playoff after deadlocking with George Souch of Mamaronock, N. Y.

Middlecoff has made it clear in practice this week that he hasn't lost his ability to pummel par. He went around in 65 the same day Mangrum turned in his 64. Another 65 shooter that day was Clayton Heafner, the 200-pound plus Charlotte blonde better.

Chief amateur threats are Walker Cup teammates Dick Chapman, former national champion from Pinehurst, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio.

Kentucky Wins Basketball Title

Baylor University's high-leaping Odell Preston (9) heads the ball for the hoop during the NCAA East-West final game at Madison Square Garden in New York City. Kentucky's Alex Croza (36) is unable to stop the shot. Kentucky went on to win 58-42, thereby annexing the national collegiate basketball championship.

It happened during a Spring football scrimmage at the University of Florida. A player failed to get up after a play and the quarterback called across the field, "Hey, coach, send us a half-back." The coach, unable to identify the casualty as a right or left half, asked, "What kind?" In unison three voices came out of the huddle: "A good one."

Ben Hogan reports that all is serene in the ranks of the golf professionals. The game's little giant also belittles the importance of the tournament tiffs that recently got the golfers more headlines than their winnings.

Training Camp Notes

SARASOTA, FLA.—(P)—Outfielder Hank Sauer, whose timely hitting has been missed by the Cincinnati Reds since he was sidelined three days ago with an ankle injury, has been sent back to the training quarters in Tampa for an X-ray.

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.—(P)—Murray Dickson was scheduled to open on the mound for the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday against the Philadelphia Phils.

CLEARWATER, FLA.—(P)—Rickle Ashburn, rookie outfielder, is continuing his fine hitting streak with the Philadelphia Phils.

Wednesday it was Ashburn's triple in the eighth that gave the Phils a 3-2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

LAKELAND, FLA.—(P)—John Groth, 21-year-old rookie from Chicago, is putting in a stout bid for an outfield berth with the Detroit Tigers.

LOS ANGELES.—(P)—Versatility may land newcomer Ray Boone a position on the Cleveland Indian's roster—the 24-year-old rookie can both catch and play shortstop.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D. R.—(P)—A couple of rookie pitchers are catching the eye of Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Big Chris Van Cuyk and John Hall both looked exceptionally good in hurling the Dodgers to a 10-1 win over a mixed Montreal-Dominican team Wednesday.

Webb Back Rarin' To Go

By TANNER LAINE

Harold Webb hit town Wednesday yelling "I've got 'em, I've got 'em, we're gonna have a good ball club." Specifically the rotund owner-manager of the Midland Indians, whom we all like for his hustle and fight, meant he was back from the Oklahoma City Indians Spring training camp at Marshall and he had some promising rookies on the line to become Midland Indians.

Webb is going to start the home club training April 1 at Indian Park. He expects 25 ball players and from them he will pick his 16 for his Longhorn League roster. Webb says there will be ball players three deep trying out for each position.

The 1948 Indians will play eight or 10 exhibition games. A tentative opener is April 7 at Lubbock. The locals play the Sweetwater Sports at Sweetwater April 6; a Mineral Wells semi-pro team at Mineral Wells April 9; Longview (Class C team of Lone Star League) at Longview April 10; Henderson, Tyler, Kilgore and Gladewater on dates of April 11, 12, 13 and 14, at those cities on a swing through East Texas.

Webb wants one exhibition game at Midland if the park can be whipped into shape for it. Will "Spice"

The old boy himself has whacked five inches off his belt since last season and proves it by his own belt. He will catch the exhibition games and spice-in during the season of league games.

Webb is elated over two first base-men prospects. One is Ivan Wilkerson, the Oklahoma University star, and the other is Lefty Jackson, also an outfielder. A newcomer, Rosetti from Albuquerque, will scrap Henry Melillo for the second base job if Dwight Collins, bright Oklahoma City Indian recruit, doesn't come Midland way. Eddie Melillo may return to battle a couple of newcomers for the shortstop position. But Webb has warned Melillo he must win the place. A boy named Lynch, who once was a Chicago Cub rookie and is back from military service, is likely to win the shortstop job.

Aubrey Davis of Oklahoma City is a sweet third baseman and Webb wants him. Davis has been looking so good the parent OK Indians want him but Webb has first cutback on him.

A fixture in the outfield will be hard-hitting and clever-fielding Harvel Jakes, who performed with Odessa. Webb got Jakes clean and sound. The protective presence of Jakes in the Midland outfield pleases us all, except Odessa followers. Jakes is happy to be with us, for sure. And we are glad to have him.

Business Picks Up
There are several other outfielders bidding for a Midland job. One is Carriel Nipp, who was in the right garden last year but who Webb will not use as an outfielder again if he uses him at all. Harold Colyer, a good utility prospect, already is in Midland. Several Oklahoma City "raw" want seasoning in the Midland outfield. Webb will select the best.

Ralph Blair looked good in Spring training and his curve is sharper, causing Webb to bring him back. Weldon Stewart has signed. Levi

Standards Chief Battles Congress; Atom-Smasher Charged As Disloyal

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Whether or not the House Un-American Activities Committee proves the charges of disloyalty against Edward Teller, head of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, that group will know it has had a fight on its hands when it's all over. The jolly, rotund Condon is no shrinking violet of the absent-minded professor variety. When the occasion calls for it he can become an uninhibited public debater with the best of them. And he doesn't hesitate to throw into a fray the full force of his scientific mind.

Edward Teller: He swaps words and splits atoms with equal ease.

Condon is an aggressive fighter and seems to get as much pleasure out of swapping hot words as he does out of splitting hot atoms. Several Army generals are the best known of his scarred opponents. Condon brought out into the open, just after the war ended, the big scrap between American scientists and the military over who was to control atomic research. He lashed out at Army officers who up until that time had controlled atomic energy study. They are without knowledge, and so without competence, and yet are in a position to censor exchange of scientific knowledge," Condon cracked.

Free Exchange
His conviction that there should be a completely free exchange of ideas between scientists if scientific progress is to continue is the crux of the present charges against him. He is accused of "associating with Soviet espionage agents" and being "the weakest link in atomic energy security." Condon's answer to this is a statement he made several years ago:

"The question now is not whether we tell Russia the things we know, but whether scientists can talk to each other. As it is, their work is stymied, both for peaceful purposes, or for making better bombs."

The day after the recent charge was made against him, Condon came out swinging in typical fashion. In unscientific words he said: "Sneering of American scientists with insinuations of disloyalty must be stopped and the time has come to raise hell about it—because of the national weakness that is bound to result from such a government policy."

Embarrassed Solons
It also was typical of Condon's tactics to appear as a spectator at a preliminary hearing of the Un-American Activities Committee when it debated whether to have a major probe of his activities. He smiled and grinned every time something particularly nasty was said about him and embarrassed the congressmen on end.

Condon's unscientist-like demeanor is attributed to his youthful experience as a reporter. After one year at the University of California, and before he began his career in theoretical physics, he worked for a newspaper in Oakland, Calif. His cropped, brush haircut—which still distinguishes him—his good nature and quick mind made him a well-known local character. From reporting he drifted into writing for popular scientific magazines. He then returned to the university to study astronomy and quickly changed to the study of physics. He was graduated in 1924 with highest honors and a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Abroad On Scholarship
On a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship he continued his study in Germany. After his return he lectured and taught for various periods at Princeton, Columbia University, and the University of Minnesota. He was then lured into private industry by The Westinghouse Electric Company where he won the title of "king of the atomic world" for his advanced work on atom smashing. During World War II Condon served as a consultant to the National Defense Research Committee and in that capacity contributed much toward developing the atomic bomb. He was appointed head of the Bureau of Standards in October, 1945, by President Truman on the recommendation of Henry Wallace.

Condon was born near Alamogordo, N. M., close to the site of the first atomic bomb explosion. He is 44 years old. He married Emily Honzik, a Czech, when he was 20 years old. They have one daughter and two sons.

It is reported that Condon likes band music and "complicated ice cream sodas."

UN Delegates Optimistic As Two-Year Mark Passes

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Don't

count the United Nations out yet.

That is the opinion expressed by United Nations leaders and delegates two years after the Security

Council held its first meeting in America.

The U. N. now is going through perhaps its blackest days, but no responsible leader here, from Secretary-General Trygve Lie on down, and no responsible delegate shows any sign of throwing up his hands and quitting.

The overriding concern is the split between the Slav countries, led by Russia, and the Western powers—chiefly the United States, Brittain and France. None of the big powers, especially Russia, is showing any letup in interest.

Expect U. N. To Make Peace

In the 1947 General Assembly several delegates complained that the world apparently expected the UN to establish peace.

They pointed out that the UN

was not built to make the peace

after World War II. The UN, they said, is intended to preserve peace

once the big powers have agreed upon it.

Some delegates consider that the top achievement of the Security

Council during its two years in America came in the Indonesian case.

The council and its Good Offices

Committee succeeded in stopping serious fighting in Indonesia.

There still is no agreement on control of atomic energy, in the Balkan case, in Korea, in the Egyptian complaint against Brittain and other top items on the Security Council's list of headaches.

Palestine Partition

Backers Seek Entry Of MacArthur Into California Primary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Backers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur Thursday began circulating petitions to place delegate-candidates for him in the California primary June 1.

Allen Worcester, chairman of the "Draft MacArthur for President Club," said a delegation would be sought for California at the Republican National Convention. Joseph Chaste, chairman of the "MacArthur for President Club of California," said his organization, which he termed the only committee approved by the Wisconsin MacArthur Headquarters, did not sanction the petitions.

The California Republican Party organization is supporting Governor Earl Warren.

Device Removes Pin From Child's Throat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It'll be a long time before 15-months-old Patricia Loomis, who swallowed a pin 12 days ago, can understand or pronounce the name of a new gadget that removed it.

The device is called a stereoscopic fluoroscope. Children's hospital technicians say it enables an operator to determine the depth as well as the top position of a swallowed object. They say it was invented by Leroy J. Leischman of Los Angeles.

Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Loomis of North Hollywood, swallowed the pin while she was playing with a pin cushion she had somehow gotten hold of at home.

The hospital said two attempts to remove the pin with a bronchoscope had failed. It was believed an operation would be necessary. Then a physician decided to try the new instrument Wednesday. Out came the pin, within three minutes.

Need For 'Get Tough' Policy

Russia's aggressive menace to freedom has reached a point where it can be met in only two ways by the U. S. One is the Communist-isolationist way of appeasing and ignoring. The other way is to be tough and stay tough until Russia is ready to be reasonable.

Most Americans, including those in government, have slowly and reluctantly come to realize that the second choice is necessary and, if peace is to be preserved, inevitable. For two years our government tried patience and concession. These only provoked Soviet leaders to further excesses.

Then last June, with the announcement of the Marshall Plan, America began to abandon her passive role. Since then our government's words to the Kremlin have been increasingly blunt. But bluntness has not stopped Russian aggression either, for the very good reason that our tough policy was only a policy of words.

So the program that President Truman outlined in his speech to Congress was as necessary and inevitable as the policy to which the government is committed. It is not a complete program, but at least it would give the basic minimum of substance to support our strong words.

It appears that the timing of the President's speech was dictated less by Russia's recent actions than by the actions of five friendly states, Great Britain, France and the Benelux nations. As Mr. Truman pointed out, those five states were signing a 50-year agreement for economic cooperation and mutual defense at the time of his speech to Congress.

The President could not at that moment commit the U. S. to military as well as economic aid for those countries. But it is clear that democratic unity abroad is meaningless without American support. The encouragement that Mr. Truman's message obviously gave five governments may encourage others to speed toward the hoped-for goal of a united non-Communist Europe.

Naturally the request for action on UMT and a temporary return of selective service will meet opposition. Yet even the objectors should realize that the building of our armed forces to their minimum peacetime strength does not mean war. Only the most wishful-minded or those who refuse to recognize the clear pattern of Soviet aggression can believe that strong words and weak defenses will make the Russian leaders retreat, or even pause.

UMT and a temporary draft will cost money. It will cost more to modernize and strengthen our Air Force, and continue military research and development. But as Mr. Truman said, "we must be prepared to pay the price of peace, or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

The price of peace is not counted alone in money. We must also be prepared to pay the price of unity. Some will balk at that payment in this election year, particularly those who are actively engaged in politics.

We are coming into perilous months during which political disunity on foreign policy could be a fatal weakness. Stalin is doubtless counting on our disunity. Hitler did. He thought that it would immobilize America while he conquered Europe and the world. He thought our wartime presidential election would divide us and weaken our prosecution of the war. He was wrong. We were united on foreign policy then, and we can be again.

It makes no difference whether one is a Democrat or Republican, or whether he likes or dislikes Mr. Truman. The question is whether we want to see freedom destroyed in Europe and imperiled in America. It is Josef Stalin, not Harry Truman, who really has dictated America's choice and America's policy.

An Illinois man tells of birds pecking the paint off of his car. Maybe the thing has gone to seed.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

U. S. Believed In Good Shape For New Preparedness Effort

NEA Washington Correspondent
By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Since everybody is talking war scares, it's in order to take a long look at U. S. business conditions to see how well the country is prepared for the shock of another big national defense effort. Beardsley Ruml, chairman of R. H. Macy & Company, in Washington to talk before the Board of Trade, had a few ideas on the subject.

Ruml looks for some changes in the business picture right after Easter. Pre-Easter trade has not been good. Customers simply have not been buying the high-priced goods.

The result has been that manufacturers have been preparing new low-priced lines of merchandise. They aren't as good quality as the higher-priced stuff now on sale.

What the merchants have yet to determine is whether these lower quality goods will sell. If they do, apparent living costs may be cut somewhat. If they don't, prices on the better lines may have to be cut and the merchants will have to take their losses. Only way that might be avoided would be for the customers to decide that if prices on quality merchandise aren't coming down, they'll buy anyway.

How much effect any cuts in the prices of clothing and household goods might have on third round wage demands is another puzzle. Ruml is of the opinion the country has passed the peak of inflation. The three big items are food, clothing and rent.

Food prices stayed high last year because of short crops in Europe. Good crops starting to come in should bring prices down. Congress is showing inclinations to relax rent controls. Local rent control laws would still take care of the situation in places like New York and Washington, but general relaxing of controls can still increase national cost of living averages.

If living costs can't be cut enough to head off third round wage demands in April or May, the only hope is that these demands may be settled for less than in rounds one and two.

If the third round increases are in the nature of five to 10 per cent, business could absorb the increases without further raising prices, Ruml believes. If the wage increases go above that amount, it may be another story. And a prolonged coal shutdown over John L. Lewis' demands for pension payments could upset the whole picture.

Ruml favored the wartime, pay-as-you-go tax plan. He now believes that a tax cut is advisable. He'd settle for either the House $6-

Dude Gold Hunting Is Latest Fad In Arizona

PHOENIX—(AP)—Dude prospecting is the latest wrinkle in Arizona gold mining.

In the place of the bearded prospectors of earlier days is the sleek Winter set. They combine sunbathing and hiking with gold panning in hills near the resort hotels.

It's true that none of the rock hounds has amassed a fortune from this newest hobby among the state's vacationers. But many have been rewarded by small mineral discoveries.

Along with the Winter set, there are still those who have devoted their lives to the search for the yellow metal. They putter along the ribbons of dry river beds hoping to stumble across a fortune just around the next bend.

Gold mining on a commercial basis has been abandoned by the larger mining companies. What little is taken from the ground by the operators is mainly a by-product of copper and zinc.

During the war, other metals were considered more essential. So gold mines shut down because of difficulties involved in getting high-priority materials.

Small Mines Re-Open
A few small mines have re-opened since the war's end, but the unprofitable price gold brings and high costs make large-scale operations undesirable.

Mining companies say there was never a subsidy paid on gold, and there is no free trade in the metal as there once was. During the depression, the government set the price at $35 an ounce and ruled that all gold must be sold to the U. S. mint.

The Arizona Department of Mineral Resources says small mines are operating near Mesa and Congress Junction. The Congress Mine near Congress Junction was worked until three months ago when it shut down.

Arizona Mines
Frank Carson, manager of the Chumley Ranch in the Bradshaw Mountains near the Humboldt mine reports some gold is being taken from the ground there. Operations also are in progress at King's Ranch in the rugged Superstition Mountains east of Phoenix, site of the legendary Dutchman mine.

But while gold mining on a large scale is almost a thing of the past, Arizona's prospectors manage to bring out about eight or $10 worth of gold a day.

Besides gold, small deposits of copper, lead, silver, zinc and tungsten have been uncovered by individuals who have combined their search for sunshine with the adventurous search for gold.

However, Robert Ames, an Arizona man who has done more than his share of prospecting, warns dude hunters of the dangers involved.

"The Indians don't constitute the menace they did in years gone by," he says, "but there's always the peril of getting lost or running out of water. If you don't know the back country, you'd be wise in taking along someone who does."

Scrapping Mood

(NEA Telephoto)
Still in a scrapping mood, 17-year-old William Tomasek struggles with police as they try to put handcuffs on his wrists. It took eight squads of police and a tear gas barrage to dislodge the boy from a barricaded apartment in Chicago, after he shot his half-brother in the chest with an arrow and chased the rest of the family from the house. During the 30-minute siege, Tomasek fired three shots at police from a .22 rifle.

Old Dobbin Still Here; And Nine Million More

CHICAGO—(AP)—Old Dobbin and family have fallen to the lowest national numbers in 80 years, but don't count the old boy out yet. There is a lot going on in the horse world still.

This year for the first time since before 1870 the nation's horse and mule population dropped below the 10,000,000 mark. The Department of Agriculture estimates them at 6,607,000 horses and 2,544,000 mules for a total of 9,151,000.

In spite of the general drop in numbers, however, the use of horses is increasing in three directions. You'll find more of them on city bridge paths, on flat and harness racing circuits, and in use as factories of human and animal medicines.

Wayne Dinmore, secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America, declares:

"The horse has not disappeared from the American way of life, as many persons think."
Most of those which are left, he

COLLEGE ASSOCIATION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

DALLAS—(AP)—The Association of Texas Colleges elected Max Pichtenbaum, assistant registrar at the University of Texas, president at the end of the annual convention here Wednesday.

Vice presidents elected included Dean Jerome Moore, Texas Christian University, and Dean Walter Adams, Abilene Christian College. W. B. M. McDaniel, McMurry College, is serving a two-year term as secretary.

said, in an interview, still are working the fields, as always. Others are riding the ranges or are on police traffic duty in the cities. These are all on the decline. Tractors have long been taking over the fields. Airplanes are increasing for range use. Motorcycles are monopolizing city traffic work.

English Aluminum House Erected in One Day

Featured exhibit at London's Ideal Home Exhibition is this two-story pre-fabricated aluminum house. It can be assembled on site in one day. Ground floor sections are built complete in every detail, including equipment, so that site work is limited to bolting them together.

Hendl Busy Man As He Moves From Home To Podium To Piano To Class

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK—(AP)—You can call Walter Hendl maestro, professor, pianist, composer or just plain papa, and they all fit. It's lucky he's young, strong and husky, for otherwise he couldn't stand the life he leads on podium, in classroom, at a desk pushing a pen or in the park pushing a baby carriage.

Hendl is assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic, teacher of musicology and other subjects at the Julliard School of Music, and starting in June, conductor of the Julliard Summer school orchestra. He attends all rehearsals and performances of the Philharmonic, conducts the regular young people's concert, and writes music. His score helped "Dark of the Moon" to nine months on Broadway and a road tour; he has another mainstay show in mind; last fall he finished symphony No. 1.

Few Spare Minutes
When he leaves New York, it's not for a vacation, but for more work. He has conducted the symphonies in Washington, Pittsburgh, Houston, Detroit, Baltimore and other places, and played the piano far and wide. When he has a spare minute, he reads; the current book is a life of Haydn. Here's a weekly schedule:

Monday: Julliard extension orchestra.
Tuesday: One or two Philharmonic rehearsals, musicology class.
Wednesday: Philharmonic rehearsal.

Thursday: Philharmonic and Julliard in the day, Philharmonic concert in the evening.
Friday: Philharmonic performance, teaching.

Saturday: Philharmonic rehearsal or young people's concert, Philharmonic performance, teaching.

Sunday: To the park with the baby in the morning, Philharmonic concert in the afternoon.
On top of his public appearances, he prepares lessons, corrects papers, figures marks for 400 pupils. He's always home, for dinner, but he can't call the rest of his time his own, or his family's; it all goes into his work. This has been the busiest year of his life, and he expects, and even hopes, next year will be busier.

Studied Under Masters
Born in West New York, N. J., in 1918, he began to study the piano seriously at 15, won important prizes, taught at Sarah Lawrence College, conducted a New Jersey orchestra, studied with Koussevitzky at Tanglewood and with Reiner of Pittsburgh. After more than two years in the Army, he returned to New York in 1944, and was appointed to his present Philharmonic post of Rodinsky in 1945. He was married to Newby Williams, actress, poet and painter, in 1945, and their daughter, Susan, is a year and a half old.

With the Philharmonic now under a series of guest conductors, he thinks he's in a grand spot to learn from the top-notchers, but he can teach them a trick or two. One of them programmed De Falla's "El Amor Brujo." It has a Glissando passage, up and down the scales on the white keys and then on the black, and it is marked "very loud." If you don't beat down on the keys, you aren't heard; if you do, you rip the skin right off.

Hendl used a pair of woollen gloves at rehearsal, and got such an effect that the conductor stopped the playing to ask how it was done. He wore them at the performances in Carnegie Hall, too, pulling them off with his teeth so that he'd be ready quickly to continue the piano part. It rubbed holes right through the gloves.

Industrialist Given Presidential Award

WASHINGTON—(AP)—R. G. Le Tourneau received a presidential certificate Wednesday night for aid to the war effort and in accepting warned: "Anti-God forces are on the march" and must be stopped even at the risk of war.

Lt. Gen. E. A. Wheeler, chief of the Army Engineers, presented the certificate of merit "for outstanding fidelity and meritorious conduct in aid of the war effort" to the industrialist and layman preacher.

Le Tourneau operates plants at Peoria, Ill., Longview, Texas, Vicksburg, Miss., and Toccoa, Ga. His plants manufacture heavy earth-moving equipment—used extensively in building airfields for the Air Forces.

Wallace Club To Meet Despite Violence Threats

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Harry Koger, San Antonio leader of the Wallace-for-President Club, said a scheduled meeting would be held Thursday night despite threats of violence.

Mayor Alfred Callaghan Wednesday overruled City Auditorium Manager Gene Wildenstein and said the club would be permitted to meet in the building.
Wildenstein had canceled a permit for the meeting because of threats of violence. He told Koger he had received threats both by telephone and letter.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO SOLDIERS CHILD

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Dianne Cross, seven-month-old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Nancy B. Cross, died Wednesday of burns received in a fire at her trailer home. Cross, a Lackland Air Force soldier was reported recovering from burns received in the same fire Tuesday.

Gas By-Products Show Production Increase

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Natural gas and its by-products showed steady production increase last year, the Natural Gasoline Association of America was told.

C. R. Williams, association president, reported Wednesday:
Natural gas liquid hydrocarbons in 1947 reached 130,000 barrels.

Natural gasoline and heavier products gained 5.9 per cent over 1946. Liquefied petroleum gases showed an increase of 34.1 per cent.

Williams told the association's annual convention that liquids produced from natural gas are expected to increase in quantity.
He also reported the natural gas industry is seeking a solution to the problem of meeting seasonal demands of liquefied petroleum gases for home heating and cooking.

Storage and the use of underground reservoirs are being considered.
Williams said 57 natural gasoline and recycling plants are now under construction or planned and authorized in nine states.

He added that while production of natural gas has increased almost five-fold since 1919, the reserves of gas have increased more than ten-fold.

War Widow Saves Tax Delinquent Home

BEDFORD, IND.—(AP)—A modest little home north of here still is owned by a World War II widow and her five children even though it was auctioned off at a tax delinquent sale recently.

When the home came up in the sales, County Auditor Donald Smith explained the circumstances. The auctioneer called for bids and the crowd was silent.
"I'll bid $15," a woman's voice finally said.

"Again the crowd was silent. The auctioneer shouted 'sold,' and gave a receipt to the woman who had made the bid—Mrs. Dona Blevins, the war widow who lives in the place.

Texas City Plant Sees June Operation

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The Texas City, Texas, plant of the Monsanto Chemical Company is expected to be in operation by June. The plant was destroyed last April by a ship explosion in the harbor.

Edgar M. Queeny, chairman of the Board of Directors, has informed stockholders that the insurance claim of $22,000,000 is in negotiation.
Queeny said that the first unit at Texas City, the ethylene plant, will be running next month.

President Of Baptist Alliance Will Speak

DALLAS—(AP)—Oscar Johnson of St. Louis, president of the Baptist World Alliance, will speak April 6 in Houston for the Texas Baptist Sunday School Convention, meeting in the historic First Baptist Church.

Eight thousand Texas Sunday School workers are expected to attend the 20th general convention April 6-8. Dr. G. S. Hopkins, state Sunday School secretary, said, Doctor Johnson will speak at both the morning and evening sessions of the opening day.

Wait Until April Showers!

(Continued from page 1) and drop and upset forgings. Leading all other industrial sections of the county is the Gulf area of Texas, with 17 government-built plants on the security list. Their World War II roles were largely in the manufacture of munitions, zinc, magnesium, butadiene and synthetic rubber, engine parts and aircraft.

Next in number is the Los Angeles-San Diego area with 11 plants. During the war they contributed synthetic rubber, aircraft parts; vital chemicals; ship fitting; aircraft research, modification and assembly.

Within an 80-mile radius of Chicago are 10 vital wartime factories maintained in a state of semi-preparedness under the security clause. They will be ready to roll out boats, cast armor and forgings, zinc and munitions.

Security Clause String
The security clause string is tied to nine plants in the New York-New Jersey area. During World War II these were used for ship construction and repair, production of electrical equipment, aircraft instruments, tungsten ore, distress signals and other special products.

Four emergency plants are located in Seattle and in Spokane's "Island Empire." Before V-J Day, they repaired battered ships and produced aluminum ingots, steel, magnesium and ferro-silicon castings.

If and when military leaders feel the nation needs to resume use of a plant's wartime output, the government will negotiate

MacArthur Supporter Allocates Cabinet Jobs

By The Associated Press
MacArthur-for-President supporters stepped up their western campaign Thursday but ran into a fumble and a fight.

National headquarters in Washington first announced that the general, if elected, will allot at least four cabinet posts to the West. Later this was revised to say that such a geographical allocation had been "recommended" only. The new version did not say by whom.

Ervin Hobensee, executive secretary of the MacArthur-for-President group, said the distribution would be: labor to Ohio, interior to California, commerce to the Northwest, agriculture to the Southwest and the attorney generalship to New York.

"Other announcements will follow shortly," the statement said. Hobensee declined to tell a reporter whether MacArthur had authorized the statement.

with the owners for a contract. If both parties fail to agree within 15 days, the Government can then take over the plant. Owners will be paid the prevailing rental for similar industrial buildings.

Change Of Direction Asked For Deaf School

AUSTIN—(AP)—A new plea for improvements at the Texas School for the Deaf was in Gov. Beauford H. Jester's hands Thursday.

It came from E. B. Burnes, president of the National Association for the Deaf, who asked that the institutional educational standards be raised and that its direction be removed from the Board of Control and placed in the hands of the Board of Education.

FORT WORTH WOMAN GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Meyer, 26, was given a two-year suspended sentence Wednesday on a plea of guilty in the fatal shooting of her jockey husband last January 4.

Mrs. Meyer testified about beatings and threats she had received from her husband, Frank Meyer, 36.

be in addition to $11,000,000,000 already in the budget.

3. Drafting by selective service of men from 19 to 25 years inclusive. He said this would provide 1,335,000 men but added that only about 220,000 probably would be taken. He estimated 500,000 probably would volunteer.

4. A permanent system of universal military training which would become fully effective within three years. Forrestal said this would provide some 850,000 men each year with basic training.

Forrestal said some of the details of the expanded armed service program must be presented later "behind closed doors."

"Because of the world situation as it exists today, there is certain detailed information which we cannot safely disclose in open session," Forrestal said.

Veterans Not Included
The current strength of the armed services is 1,292,000.

Forrestal indicated in his testimony that war veterans will not be included in the draft plans.

He said the 19-25 year age group includes a total of 3,900,000 male non-veterans.

Exemptions and deferments would reduce that number to 1,335,000, the secretary said. He did not immediately explain the basis for exemptions and deferments but senators have said they would exclude married men.

Forrestal said the $49,500 increase in the regular armed forces would be provided this way:

"The Army, by 240,000, from $43,000 to $45,000;
"The Navy by $3,000, from 397,000 to 400,000;
"The Marine Corps, by 11,000, from 81,000 to $2,900;
"The Air Force, by 25,500, from 364,500 to 400,000."

$300,000,000 for aircraft. This would require an additional $30,000,000 outlay, he said, which soon will be asked of Congress.

Biggest items in this were listed as $750,000,000 for aircraft procurement, research and development for the Air Force and Naval aviation.

About $700,000,000 for military personnel costs.

He said the costs of U.M.T. already covered in the budget and include an appropriation of $500,000,000.

Forrestal used blunt words to make clear he is asking for men and money to combat the spread of Russian influence. Comparing the Soviet with the governments of Kaiser Wilhelm, of Hitler and Mussolini, he told the committee: "Must Not Happen Again."

"Today, another power, wearing the false mask of freedom for the people, is spreading its web over all Western Europe," he said, "and it must be made clear and manifest to the world that any nation which tries to copy the pattern of action which through Hitler brought so much disaster on mankind must, like Hitler and Germany, face the determination and will of the United States that it shall not happen again."

The defense secretary likened the current strength of Hitler and the toppling of the governments of Poland, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia.

Reconversion To War Production Is Talk Among Military Chiefs

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Plans for another reconversion—this time back to war production—are being batted about in many quarters.

Military chiefs are reported ready to ask Congress for $4,000,000 more this year for rearmament. If they get it, the civilian output of many industries may shrivel away.

More and more industries are wondering what they'll be asked to do, and when. Distillers as well as ordnance men, steel as well as aluminum, exporters as well as auto makers and tire manufacturers.

If plants retol for defense production, the steel men believe the voluntary allocation plan they are now working out will have to be scrapped. It calls for more steel for freight cars, oil drills and pipes, and farm machinery. An entirely different priority system would probably be set up by the Administration, they think.

Distillers say that they will probably go along just as now, until an emergency arises, and then switch immediately to making industrial alcohol for military use. In time, whisky would be in short supply again, as all whisky-making would cease.

Ordnance men say there have been no new orders placed, nor have they been alerted. Mobilization of ordnance facilities would take 60 to 270 days, they add.

Aluminum makers see the effect on them as much more immediate. The most likely first step in Washington will be an increase in aircraft manufacture. Planes take aluminum. Producers of the light metals say that fabricators of civilian products will have their allotments of aluminum cut sharply, if the plane factories start humming again.

Naval needs are called less immediate. Drydocks and shipyards are reported to have stocks of Naval equipment on hand adequate to keep the Navy supplied for some time.

Fishing Companion Charged With Murder

BEAUMONT.—(AP)—B. J. Box of Beaumont was charged here Wednesday with murder in the death of Obed L. Horne, 32, of Vidor early Saturday.

Horne's body, recovered Tuesday night, showed that he died of knife wounds. Horne at first was believed rowed while fishing on the Neches River.

Box had told officers and a representative of the Beaumont Enterprise that he was in the boat with Horne and Mitchell Ford when the boat overturned.

He said Horne reached the bank but re-entered the water to help Box to shore and disappeared. It was not definitely determined what happened to Ford.

The murder charge was filed with Justice of the Peace Horace Blades, who earlier had returned an inquest verdict that Horne died of knife wounds.

Pacific Coast Cop Wages Safety Fight

HERMOSA BEACH, CALIF.—(AP)—Motorcycle policeman Stanley Elkins is "running a one-man, dramatized campaign against reckless driving and speeding."

From an auto wrecker he obtained, free of charge, the smashed, twisted wreck of a car that had been in a bad accident. He placed it on the curb along the Pacific coast highway. Alongside it, he mounted a big sign he designed.

The sign has a finger pointing at approaching motorists and says: "Was that minute saved worth this?"

Then Elkins patrols the area, frequently flagging down an offender and requiring him to take a good look at the exhibit.

"If the object lesson on the curb saves one life on this busy highway, it will have been worth while," Elkins said.

Deserted Pups Find Substitute Mother OK

PASADENA, CALIF.—(AP)—Six deserted puppies are thriving with their "wooden mother."

It's a rack designed by Mrs. Peggy McGarvin of the Humane Society, who frequently had trouble finding foster mothers for pups whose canine parent died or deserted them while lunch time was still an extremely important business.

The rack holds six nipples bottles at just the right angle. The present batch of setter-shepherd puppies have discovered that it delivers milk with practically natural facility.

Soldier Gets 16 Years In Shooting Of Texan

TOKYO.—(AP)—Pvt. Harry J. Lisberg, Glen Head, N. Y., has been convicted of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of T/Sgt. Lee V. Adams, Groveton, Texas, last December 14. A general courtmartial sentenced him to 16 years imprisonment, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay.

The shooting took place at Yokota Air Base, about 25 miles west of Tokyo.

WIRELESS EXPERIMENTER DIES IN ITALY FROM FALL

ROME.—(AP)—Antonio Marchi, who aided Guglielmo Marconi in his earliest wireless experiments, died Wednesday in Bologna at the age of 106, the Italian news agency Ansa reported Thursday. The dispatch said Marchi died from the effects of a fall several days ago in which he suffered a broken leg.

Peoria Has Shop For Hand Work By Citizens

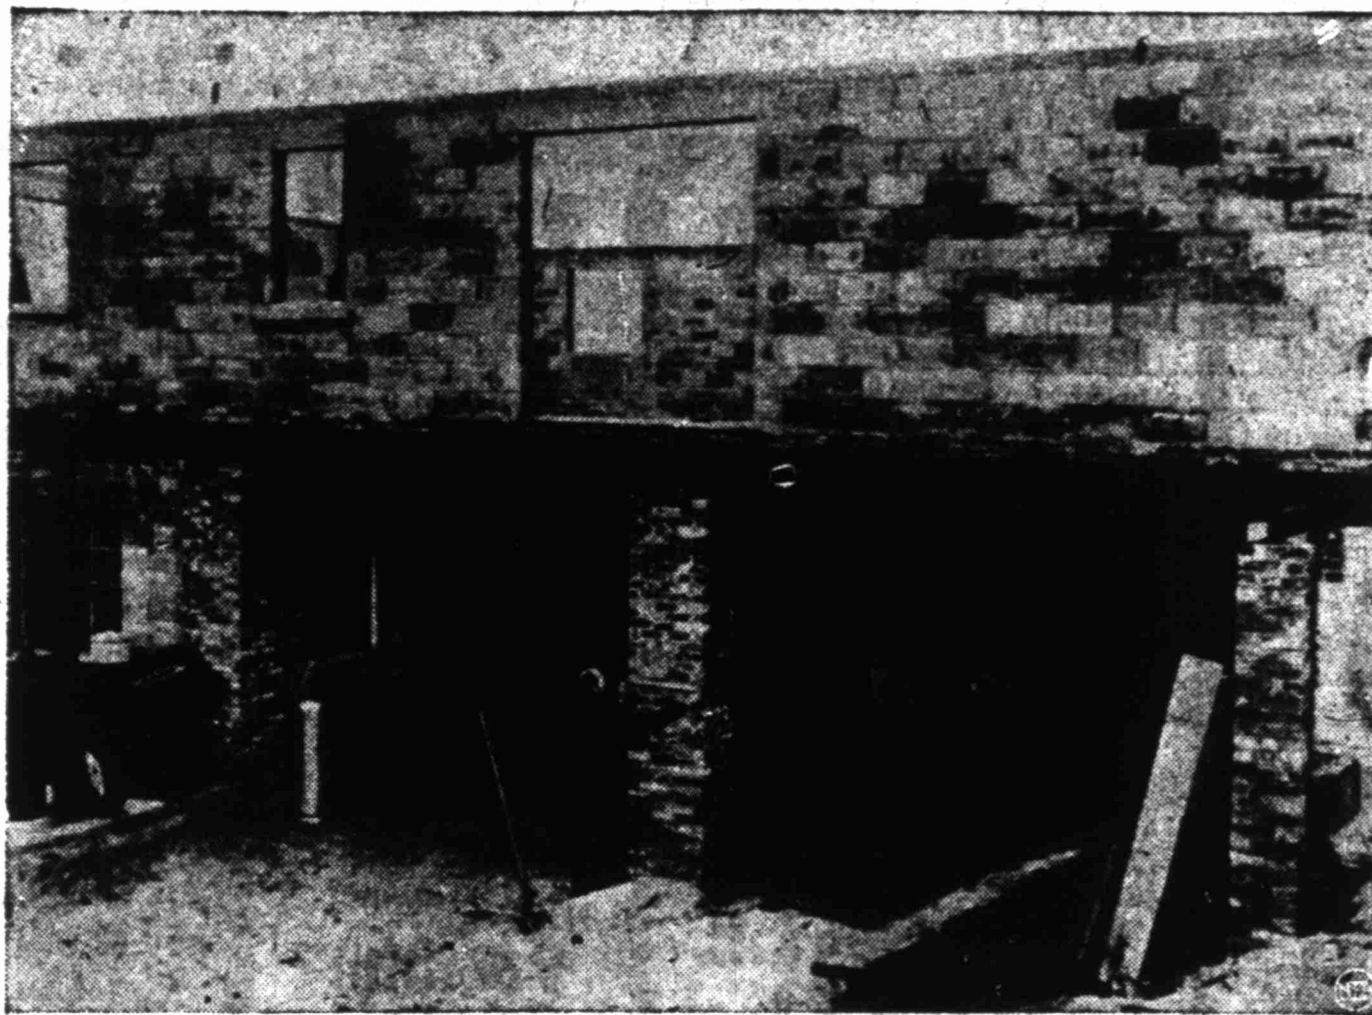

PEORIA, ILL.—(P)—If a lady needs a new purse, she can buy it or make it. If a man wants an ash tray, he has the same choice. The Peoria recreation board runs a center where folks who are handy with their hands can turn out the things they fancy. Among the products are slippers, wallets, artificial flowers, plates, cups, saucers, tea pots, metal serving trays. Some 500 persons participate.

CRY BABY WELCOME IN LOS ANGELES APARTMENT
LOS ANGELES.—(P)—A fellow reading the classified advertisements recently said, "Well, I'll be doggoned, whatever became of the housing shortage," when he came across this one:

"For rent—3-room apt., all furnished, cry baby welcome."

Minute quantities of gold are found in almost all rocks, all copper and lead ores, and even in vegetation.

Is He Pessimistic—Or Just Ahead of His Time?

Clarence Booth, businessman of Lakewood, N. J., is building an atom-bomb-proof home. The house has one floor above ground and one floor below. It will be reinforced with tons of steel and concrete. It will be protected against atomic radiation by glass-like tile, and against poisonous gases by an air-proof locking door system.

Young Convict Lives With Warden; Studies Under Scholarly Prisoners

CANON CITY, COLO.—(NEA)—Twelve-year-old Jimmy Melton is stepping into oblivion to grow into manhood in a world he never knew existed.

He discovered his new world when he arrived at Colorado's state penitentiary at Canon City to begin a sentence of 12 years to life for killing his 16-year-old sister. But he will never go inside the prison walls.

Jimmy came from a home abandoned by his mother. He resented his sister's orders to do the chores. As she wrapped Christmas presents last December, he shot her five times.

When the boy arrived at the penitentiary he met Warden Roy Best, who rules the prison with an iron hand, but who has an abundant heart for man or boy in whom shows a spark of rehabilitation. "I can't put that kid behind bars with the toughest thugs and bums in the state," Best said.

Without precedent or law, Best took Jimmy home. The first night there was little rest. Best's household, Jimmy couldn't sleep. He'd been in jail for several months. He had walked around too much on his long-idle legs and they pained him. He wondered what the future held for him. Mr. and Mrs. Best made up their minds that night to keep Jimmy in their home and rear him as their foster son. Now that the decision is made,

Best wants the boy to drop out of public attention for his own good. "The public is entitled to know what goes on—and now it knows," Best said, "but it must be obvious to everyone that we can't do much to rehabilitate Jimmy until he is forgotten. He must be allowed to lead a normal boy's life. He will have work to do and a routine to follow just like any boy. He must study and prepare himself for the day when he will be on his own. We'll try to furnish him a happy home. He seems extremely grateful and never ceases thanking us for any kindness. He has a lot to forget and must be kept busy."

Chores that rankled Jimmy Melton in his old life create a different attitude in his new role in Warden Best's household.

Best tried at first to have Jimmy enrolled in nearby Washington grade school, but he has decided it may be better for Jimmy not to have any "outside" contacts—at least for the present.

So he is buying textbooks and screening the Ph.D.s and M.A.s in the penitentiary to find the right inmates to tutor Jimmy. A convict musician will become Jimmy's piano teacher.

The Colorado public almost universally approves Best's handling of Jimmy's case. Some Canon City parents objected to the thought of Jimmy in public school classes, but none wanted him to be placed behind stone walls.

Jimmy calls the Bests "Uncle Roy" and "Aunt Mabel," and between Best and Jimmy there has developed a strong attachment. The other night, as Best read his newspaper, Jimmy came over, knelt down, and put his hand on Best's knee.

"He told me he wanted to thank me for everything I'd done. He said he's getting a lot of favors and that he wanted to do everything he could to make up for them. The way he said it put a baseball-size lump in my throat."

That's what Warden Best means by a spark of rehabilitation.

Dynamite Bombs Kill Crows In North Texas

DALLAS.—(P)—Using dynamite bombs, seven Texas game wardens blasted to death an estimated 10,000 crows in a roost near Leonard, Fannin County.

"This is the first successful shoot of this kind in North Texas," said A. W. Lewis, state game supervisor of the North Texas region.

Approximately 50,000 crows were roosting in a small timbered tract a mile west of Leonard. Wardens placed 71 dynamite bombs in trees near the center of the roosting area. The bombs, loaded with steel shavings and other machine shop waste, were wired to 12 six-volt batteries through a detonator switch. Each bomb weighed seven pounds, and was 10 inches long, with a stick of dynamite in the center.

Stationed on nearby hills near sunset, wardens watched the crows pour in from every direction, and settle in the roosting area.

At 7:40 p. m., warden Eddie Laird from Lake Texoma closed the switch. Onlookers who rushed through the pall of smoke found a scene of devastation. Crippled birds were dispatched with clubs when found.

"Maybe we can grow some corn this year, after all," one farmer observed.

In the 13th century, a widespread belief was that a sapphire set in a ring would cure carbuncles; a garnet, bee stings.

Baby Gorillas Are Up As Inflation Hits Zoo

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(P)—Speaking of high prices, a couple of automobiles would be cheaper than a baby gorilla.

This note on inflation comes from Mrs. Belle Benchley, in charge of the San Diego zoo. Gorillas that are babies (with only an outside chance of living in captivity) now cost around $5,000, she said.

Two-year-olds bring $7,500 and a healthy, adult 200-pounder $10,000.

They used to cost less than half of that, Mrs. Benchley recalled.

A pair of Egyptian shobills (species of stork) reaching the zoo this week are valued at $3,000. They used to market at $800 to $800 apiece.

Elephants that once were available for $3,000 in Africa now cost $6,000, plus transportation charges. Higher pay for natives.

In pre-inflation days, chimpanzees could be had for from $250 to $300. They now cost from $800 to $900.

Time was when you could buy a pair of saurs (Indian buffaloes) for $2,500. A dealer in India has offered Mrs. Benchley one for $8,500—just one saur.

Factors behind the sharp boosts include higher pay for native trappers in such places as India and Africa. Mrs. Benchley said it has increased from the equivalent of around 20 cents a day to $1.50 and $2.00. And government li-

Wall Street Careers Offer Promising Future For Young Girls

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK (NEA)—Wall Street's future financiers may be women.

For the first time, a few corporations in the austere and almost solidly masculine domain of high finance are inviting young women to train for executive careers as bankers and brokers.

The door was opened to the

ladies when Charles B. Harding, senior partner of Smith, Barney and Company, investment bankers, recently okayed the admission of 22-year-old Ellen Van Deusen to his company's junior executive training course.

Harding's move was made because he says, "A woman can do a job as well as a man." In addition, he points out, Wall Street needs young blood. Average age of present executives is 55 and companies are in real need of young people to train to fill the top jobs in the future.

The slim, blonde banker-to-be—only girl in a training class of 16 and the first girl to be admitted to the Junior Investment Bankers and Brokers Club—is aware of her responsibility as a pioneer. She is friendly but reserved and dresses in neatly tailored clothes, many of which she whips up herself.

On the daily commuting trips from her Boonton, N. J. home, she reads the financial pages in the newspapers with thoughtful attention.

The 18-month course gives her intensive training in various phases of investment banking. When the course is finished, Ellen will take over a junior exec's desk in the research department or in the departments which buy and sell securities.

Her present $200 monthly salary will be raised after her "graduation" to $300 a month. From then on, salary possibilities are "unlimited," says the gentleman who is opening the door to the girls.

Mathematics and economics were Ellen's major at Wellesley College, from which she was graduated last year. As winner of the college hoop race, she should, according to tradition, be the first girl in her class to marry.

"I'm going all out for a career now. Marriage will come later," she says. "If there is any masculine resistance to career girls down here, I haven't seen it," she adds tactfully.

Only disadvantage of a career in Wall Street, she says, is that "my dates keep asking me for inside tips on the stock market."

Southern 'Revolt' Move Is An Old American Custom

By BEM PRICE
ATLANTA (AP)—What Gov. William Tuck of Virginia is trying to do to President Truman, Alexander Hamilton once tried to do to Jefferson. Only the details differ slightly.

Governor Tuck recently asked the Virginia General Assembly to change the state's election laws so the President's name could be barred from the ballot. Tuck objected to the President's civil rights program as undue interference in the affairs of states.

Back in 1800 Hamilton tried to do pretty much the same thing to Jefferson because the latter objected to federal interference in what he deemed the prerogatives of the states.

Specifically, Jefferson opposed the United States Bank, forerunner of the federal reserve system of today, on the grounds it concentrated too much power in government hands.

But Hamilton proposed to New York's governor, John Jay, that a special session of the legislature be called to change the election laws. He said openly he wanted to rig the setup of the electoral districts in such a fashion that Jefferson would be sure to lose the state's votes. He said anything was justified to prevent a "fanatic in politics from getting the helm of the state."

Though Jay was a bitter enemy of Jefferson's, he declined to accede to Hamilton's request.

But it's true that Jefferson was considered a fanatic by the more conservative elements. In fact, the very word "Democrat" was synonymous with "Jacobin," and the Jacobins were the revolutionists of their day. French revolutionists to be exact.

At any rate, both were words used by early American conservatives as the equivalent today of "Communist."

Policy In Reverse
Ironically, though a state's rights man, Jefferson while serving as the third President of the United States did as much as any man save John Marshall to broaden the conception of powers available to the federal government under the Constitution.

In 1803 Napoleon wrested the vast territory of Louisiana from Spain, but because of the war with England was badly in need of money.

Under Jefferson's interpretation of the Constitution—no powers were granted unless specifically stated—the United States could do nothing to acquire the huge area.

But in face of the clamor from settlers already in the territory and fear of Napoleon's armies at New Orleans, Jefferson agreed to the purchase for $15,000,000.

These same wars in Europe forced Jefferson to another decision he believed not stated in the Constitution; federal abolition of foreign trade.

With France blockaded by England, nearly every ship sailing for Europe was subject to seizure by the British.

To offset the danger of war Jefferson declared an embargo on all foreign trade.

By doing so Jefferson, with Senate approval, invoked a clause of the Constitution authorizing regulation of foreign trade and stretched it to mean power to halt all trade.

States Rights View
Despite these two deviations from his policy of strict construction, Jefferson is the man responsible for the viewpoint being invoked today in his name as "True Jeffersonian Democracy."

The phrase is being used by opponents of the civil rights program to mean that on such matters as imposing an anti-lynch law, an anti-segregation and a fair employment practices commission, the federal government is exceeding its authority.

Jefferson firmly believed that the states retained the bulk of powers; that is, all authority not granted the federal government in the Constitution remains with the states.

Perhaps no clearer expression of the opposite point of view could be found anywhere than in the rulings of Marshall as chief justice of the Supreme Court.

In the case of Marbury vs. Madison in 1803, Marshall set forth that "a law repugnant to the Constitution is void and the courts as well as other departments are bound by that instrument."

Later in the case of McCulloch, Marshall wrote that the words "necessary and proper" found in the Constitution to safeguard the U. S. gave Congress a wide range of implied powers. Under these powers the civil rights program would be enacted.

Before World War II the Far East exported a net of four and one-quarter million tons of foodstuffs, but in 1947 it was a net importer of six and one-half million tons.

Truck Driver Ahead Of College Prof In Spoken Language, Says Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Truck drivers speak the American language of tomorrow.

And if William Shakespeare himself came back to life today he would sound pretty much like a Kentucky or Tennessee hillbilly.

So says Norman Lewis, language lecturer at the College of the City of New York, who doesn't take up the question of whether the Bard of Avon could pronounce "you all" on the truck beat.

"The truckdriver, the stevedore and the short order cook," he said, "are using English that probably will be standard with educated people fifty years from now."

"English grammar veers always toward the illiterate, and school-marm or textbook English lags about fifty years behind spoken English."

Which would indicate that all us 1948 intellectuals talk like brewery wagon pilots did back in 1898—cuss words excluded.

Lewis doesn't want to call out the militia to rescue grammar from the common people. He thinks it is a healthy situation, because language is normally a dynamic, changing thing. He even has written a book called "How to speak better English" which advocates a "New Look" in grammar and the junking of many old classroom rules.

Why break your childhood training by saying "It's me," "Who are you talking to?" or "Can I have a piece of cake?"

Why not? asked Lewis. That's the way most educated people really talk. Therefore, it is all right. Only hidebound folk still insist on "It is I," "To whom are you talking?" and "May I have a piece of cake."

The reason Shakespeare would sound like a Kentucky hillbilly, he said, "is that the mountain people have been the most isolated from change and therefore speak the nearest thing to Elizabethan English."

Graduate In Fifty Years
Lewis said that college professors, philologists and other language scholars were the most liberal on grammar changes and that editors and businessmen were the most conservative.

Where do you draw the line on what is or isn't the King's English? Lewis listed these as definitely still illiterate:

"Can you learn me to skate?"
"Lay down for a nap."
"Leave me go."
"Them there books."
"He ain't going to do it no more."
"He don't live here."

But couldn't a student who used these terms dawdle along until they were acceptable and then graduate with honors in English?

"Perhaps," said Lewis, "if he did not mind waiting fifty years."

Biologists To Search For Summer Home Of Near-Extinct Crane
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two biologists are going to search the Arctic coast this summer for the nesting grounds of the whooping crane.

After two years of observing the 37 known survivors of the species in their Texas wintering area, the scientists say they have a clue as to the nesting region.

But they are keeping the location a secret so that hunters or amateur ornithologists can not go into the area and disturb the birds.

The whooping crane has been called the tallest and most stately of North American birds. Once common throughout the United States, its size and conspicuous white color made it an easy target and it has been near extinction for several decades.

The 37 survivors winter in the Arkansas refuge in Texas.

Texas Construction Shows February Slack

AUSTIN —(AP)— Texas construction slackened off 28 per cent in February.

The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported that the slump still left building permits for the month 77 per cent ahead of permits in February, a year ago.

Houston continued to lead the state with $10,819,125. Dallas was second with $6,119,065. Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Fort Worth followed in that order.

Marshall, Cleburne, Lockhart, Borger, Snyder and Temple turned in high January-to-February gains. Permits declined for the same period in Graham, Gladewater, Waco, Tyler, Longview, Fort Worth and Port Arthur.

Adrian Puts Accent On Slim Lines, With 14-Inch Hemlines And Square Shoulders

Slim-lined ensembles star in Adrian's spring and summer collection. The sleek lines of a bull-fighter's costume are captured in the black wool ensemble, left, with its ruffled cape, front-ruffled skirt and close-fitting bolero jacket. Sex Life Of Fish Sets Vitamin Potency

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The sex life of the grayfish shark has shed light upon a major source of vitamin A.

Two western scientists found that the vitamin A content of oil from the grayfish liver is correlated to the sex, sexual maturity and length of the fish.

The male begins to mature early, and as he does the vitamin A potency of his liver oil shoots upward. By the time he's 36 inches long his liver has four and a half times as much vitamin A as does that of an immature female the same length.

F. Bruce Sanford, Fish and Wildlife Service chemist at Seattle, and Kelslow Bonham, biologist for the Washington State Department of Fisheries, said in an article in the government publication "Commercial Fisheries Review."

Sixty Per Cent Oil Only 20 to 30 per cent of the liver's weight in the smallest grayfish is oil. At commercial size, or 30 inches, the liver is more than 60 per cent oil, and with continued growth this increases to 75 per cent.

Most female grayfish mature around the length of 40 inches. Then the vitamin A potency of liver oil starts increasing rapidly, too, in the fish that continue to increase in length.

Sanford and Bonham said the grayfish is the source of more than one-fourth of the nation's vitamin A.

The government has recommended that no male grayfish less than 30 inches long and no female grayfish less than 36 inches long be taken.

Senator Chunks Out $50 At Revenues Hearing

WASHINGTON —(AP)— It cost Senator Cain (R-Wash) $50 to preside at a Senate hearing recently.

Cain's secretary cashed a $50 check for him and brought the money to the hearing in an unsealed envelope.

The senator put it down and listened to more than a dozen witnesses testify on the need for higher revenues in the District of Columbia. He picked up many papers and tossed them aside.

Then he remembered the envelope and the money. It couldn't be found.

some of the nation's most discriminating women, comes such advice. He urges the woman who wants to be well-dressed to shake her head at the saleswoman who tries to sell her an unbecoming dress; to ignore "new look" styles which she can't successfully wear.

Compromising only slightly with new trends, Adrian's Spring and Summer collection shows hemlines lowered to 14 inches. This designer, however, keeps shoulders square and introduces only enough fullness into a slim silhouette to make it more fluid and easier to walk in.

Best known, perhaps, for suits of impeccable tailoring with squared shoulders, long-torso lines and slim skirts, these styles are starred again in Adrian's new collection. Such suits this Spring are fashionably wedded to coats of matching fabric and related design. These make superlative ensembles which their designer insists can withstand style changes for many seasons to come.

One ensemble of black wool takes its lines from a bull-fighter's costume. The suit combines a close-fitting bolero jacket and a long slender skirt which is softened in the new manner by rows of ruffles placed only in front. The matching "bull-fighter" cape which completes the ensemble is ruffled from neck line to hemline.

Another eye-catching woolen ensemble makes use of shoulder-widening "fins" and stripes, devices liked by Adrian because they make a woman's figure look slim-hipped. The "fins" on the suit's sleeves are extensions of woven woolen stripes carried across the bustline of the jacket, on which the striped detail is repeated below the waistline and at the cuffs. The shoulder-line of the matching top is also accentuated by horizontal stripes. The slim skirt of this ensemble owes its fluid look to a front kick-pleat.

Valley Men Tell Safety Conference Of Highway Measures That Work

DALLAS —(AP)— Two Lower Rio Grande Valley men told the governor's highway safety conference recently about a valley safety campaign that has really worked.

The valley speakers were R. P. Ward, superintendent of the Edinburg Consolidated Independent School District, and Brad Smith, publisher of the Weslaco News and chairman of the Valley Chamber of Commerce Highway Safety Committee.

Ward urged legislation that would require motorists to halt completely while school buses are loading and unloading passengers. Ward's school district is the world's largest in point of area—945 square miles.

Smith gave a traffic safety panel an explanation of methods used by his 26-man committee which resulted in an 18 per cent reduction in the valley traffic death toll 1947, as compared with 1946.

Under the subject, "Officials Can't Do It Alone," Smith told the group that his committee sponsored a valley-wide dinner for law enforcement officers in early 1947 after the 1946 toll reached a new all-time high of 106. At the dinner, valley officials and court judges were told that the committee would back them in an intensive traffic law enforcement campaign and that it represented citizens of 26 valley cities and communities who wanted the laws enforced.

Then his committee went before the valley public through newspapers, radio stations and public meetings to tell citizens to expect enforcement. The committee also undertook an intensive educational program to (1) convince valley residents that their highways were dangerous because they were overcrowded, (2) create "an acute public awareness of the actual danger of possible highway accidents" and (3) reduce the average speed of valley motorists. The latter was implemented by a volunteer organization of 100 traffic observers, who reported to Sheriff George Ingram of Hidalgo County and Byron Fleming of Cameron County the license numbers of any cars seen committing traffic violations. They were known as "traffic men" or "T-men," an idea borrowed from the Dallas Citizens' Safety Commission and the Dallas County sheriff's department.

Reduction In Death Toll.

Net result of the campaign, Smith reported, was a reduction in the 1946 death toll of 106 to 86 for 1947, a drop of 18 per cent as compared with an increase of one per cent statewide.

The conference was proclaimed by officials of the Texas Safety Association, who collaborated with Gov. Beauford H. Jester in its sponsorship, as the most successful of recent years. It was attended by more than 1,000 persons from every section of Texas.

C. G. Conner, assistant chief of the Texas Highway Patrol, accused school administrators of being less interested in safety than any other group. He said they are the hardest set to arouse to awareness of the need for safety.

Russians Term Jordan As Menace But Buy Reports Of His Board

Virgil Jordan: Russia calls him sinister, but the Russian purchasing agency buys his statistics.

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEW YORK (NEA)—Communists in this country have spent seven years trying to build Virgil Jordan, arch-apostle of American "imperialism," quoting from a 1940 speech in which Jordan said that one inevitable outcome of World War II would be this country's expansion into imperialism.

The Communists have been denouncing Jordan as an imperialist since before Pearl Harbor. They have described him as a puppet-master who, they say, makes Herbert Hoover and Thomas E. Dewey dance, and pulls the strings on the National Association of Manufacturers and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Jordan was number two man on the list of American "warmongers" named by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy Foreign Minister, at the latest session of the United Nations' General Assembly.

In their long campaign against Jordan the Reds have built up, in some minds, an idea that the Communist Board itself is a stealthy, sinister super-agency which works for monopoly capitalism behind the scenes while the NAM, the U. S. Chamber, and others hold the stage.

Actually there are two Jordans. One is the business man's economic imperialist, the blunt and belligerent enemy of both economic and political Communism, who urges on every occasion that we hold the atom bomb over Moscow's head and—if we need—use it.

The other is the executive head of the entirely objective Conference Board, which is the nation's best-known and most highly-respected compiler and distributor of unbiased facts and figures.

Often Jordan's views are at odds with those of the board's members; and more often the Board's factual findings provide ammunition for those who think Jordan is all wet.

The Board consists of 194 major industrialists, plus representatives of various big trade associations and manufacturers groups, plus the Army, the Navy and the Air Force. They range from extreme right to what industrial circles consider rather leftist.

The Board's staff makes statistical and factual studies of anything it thinks would be of value to business as a whole. Some ideas it originates, others are suggested by business. Some ideas are suggested by unions.

The NAM and the Chamber of Commerce are subscribing associates. That is, their contributions help finance the work, and they get copies of all studies, which they can use as they see fit.

But so also are the APL and CIO headquarters, the United Automobile Workers, John Lewis' miners, Phil Murray's steel workers, the late Sidney Hillman's clothing workers and a lot of other unions. So, too, is the Soviet purchasing agency, Amtorg; during the war the Soviet Purchasing Commission also bought and used the service. Their contributions, too, help to pay for NICB studies.

In the wage negotiations now under way, the Railroad Brotherhoods are resting their case more on NICB cost-of-living and other statistics than even on the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. At the same time, the carriers are using NICB figures to fight the proposed wage boost.

The Board's cost of living studies and index were established before the Labor Department's. A suspicious Washington labor reporter, after a visit to the Board's office, asked the BLS if the Board's studies could be trusted. He was told that they enjoyed high repute.

Newspapermen, businessmen and laborites who use NICB statistics regularly have found that they reflect no viewpoint. They aren't made to order.

Speech Begins Work

The Communist party's campaign to discredit Jordan and the Board apparently began with a speech by Earl Browder in Madison Square Garden at a Lenin Memorial Meeting January 13, 1941. He quoted a rather bitter Jordan passage criticizing the Roosevelt administration's failure to take the public into its confidence about the national defense program, and twisted it into approval of what Jordan condemned.

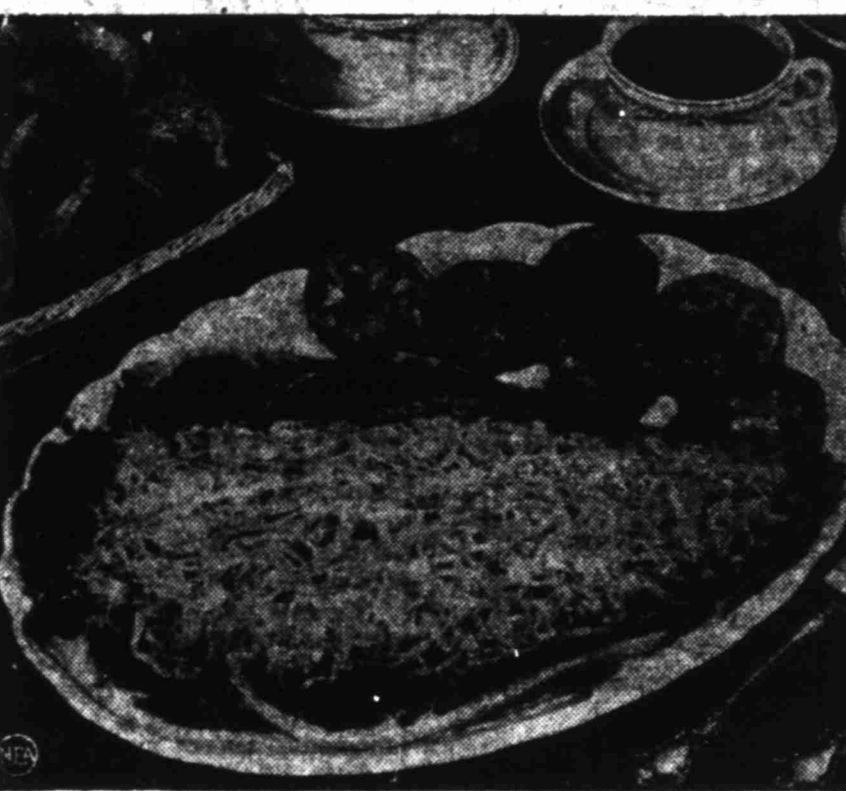

The quotation used by Wallace before the House Foreign Affairs Committee came from a speech made by Jordan December 10, 1940, before a bankers' group, on "Capital Needs of Industry for National Defense."

The quotation used by Wallace has appeared frequently in Communist speeches and literature since the speech was made, but apparently escaped attention from others.

The Communists hate Jordan because for years he has blasted, in vigorous language, on every occasion, their deceit and expansionism as well as their ideology. He is urging, now, a strong U. S. military establishment; he supports the Marshall Plan as a military measure, though doubtful of its economic success; he demands that the western world stop appeasing Moscow; he argues that we should use the atom bomb, if that is the only way we can stop Soviet expansionism.

A device so sensitive it can weigh a fingerprint is one of the key research tools being used by scientists to test metals to improve jet engines.

Save By Serving An Old Favorite

Corned beef with sauerkraut makes a tangy spring dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Looking for an economy Spring dinner? Remember two of men's favorite foods, kraut and corned beef, rate highest when teamed for dinner. Serve with broiled tomatoes and poppy seed rolls. A sprinkling of Dutch caraway seeds in the hot sauerkraut spices up the meal.

Savory Sauerkraut
(Serves 4)

Three cups sauerkraut, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, 1/2 cup sauerkraut juice, drained from the can. Combine all ingredients in a heavy saucepan, cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, about 10 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Use canned corned beef, sliced, or prepare it at home from a butcher's cut of the cured meat.

Corned Beef
(Serves 4)

Two pounds of corned beef. Wash corned beef well in cold water. Place in a pot and cover meat with fresh cold water. Cover. Bring to a boil and simmer about 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Use any remaining corned beef for hash, combining with potatoes and onions.

Hull Attends Cancer Meeting In Lubbock

H. Winston Hull of Midland presided at a bi-district meeting of county chairmen of the American Cancer Society at the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock Tuesday.

The meeting was called to discuss the April fund-raising drive of the society and to brief county chairmen on their parts in the drive. Districts one and two were represented. Hull is chairman of District two.

Thieves Get Stung In Burglary Attempt

PHILADELPHIA — (AP)—Two thieves heaved and hauled two boxes from the yard of A. Freeman Mason recently. They got stung.

The boxes were bee hives—empty of honey, filled with bees. Apian Mason decided the thieves had an unpleasant time. "Every bee at this time of the year is ready to sting at the drop of a hive," he said.

Criminal Rooster Gets Reprieve From Death

DALLAS — (P)—Jim, the criminal rooster, only miscreant ever assessed the death penalty by Justice of the Peace W. E. Richburg, now enjoys his third reprieve, pending an appeal which may save him from the executioner's axe.

The belligerent white rooster was given the death sentence by Justice Richburg after several residents on West Turtle Creek Boulevard complained the bird had attacked them. His trial resulted in February when he inflicted painful spur wounds on Carolyn Sue Manes, 18-month-old daughter of Mrs. Thelma Manes.

Justice Richburg intended to auction the rooster off to the highest bidder, the proceeds to go to the West Dallas Community Center. This plan was altered after scores of readers learned Jim's plight in the newspaper, and sent in donations along with pleas for clemency for the culprit.

Jim was kept in a pen near Justice Richburg's home, but he flew against the wire trying to reach passing children, and his crowing every morning disturbed neighbors.

Recently the bird was taken to the Marshall Park Zoo, and turned over to Walton Carlton. Like other animals unable to adjust themselves to society, Jim the criminal now is locked up where he can do no harm.

Gen. Jan Smuts, of South Africa, is credited with originating plans for organization of the League of Nations.

Stained Church Windows Modernized Atomic Blast With Agony In Garden

KANSAS CITY, KANS.—(NEA)—A 34-year-old Lutheran artist and a 71-year-old Catholic priest have combined their talents to modernize an ancient art—the designing of stained glass church windows.

The artist is Milton Frenzel, a native of Kansas and pastor of the Blessed Sacrament Roman Catholic Church here. Together they planned for Father DeKatz a series of windows which picture Biblical figures in modern clothing and even contain a symbolic atom bomb explosion.

Father DeKatz supplied the general themes for the windows, believed to be the first of their kind, but all symbolism and designs were left to Frenzel.

"Picturing the figures in modern clothing makes it easier for us to identify ourselves with Christ, as a living, ever-present force," Father DeKatz says in explaining the drastic departure from orthodox window designs.

Christ's Spirit Real

"Christ's precepts and His spirit are as real as the food we eat and the earth we are permitted to walk upon. Where we have felt that modern 'terminology' would help to express an idea, it has been used."

The eight nave windows depict sacrifices of the Old and New Testaments leading up to the sacrifice of the Holy Mass. In the first of the group, Cain wears farmer's overalls and Abel, shepherd's clothing.

"No one knows exactly how Cain and Abel covered their nakedness," Father DeKatz says. "Some artists show them draped in the skin of an animal in order to approximate a historical fact. The spiritual truth is that they were men, as we are, with the same problems and temptations. God gave us the story of Cain and Abel for instruction and inspiration; this is an attempt to bring out of it all that we can."

Disciples In Denial

An entirely new treatment is given the familiar scene of the agony of Christ in the garden. The kneeling Savior is gaunt; His face reflects pain. Three reclining figures, wearing blue denim work clothes, represent Christ's sleeping 20th century disciples, counterparts of Peter, James and John. One of them dozes over a daily newspaper with legible print. Behind the trio, a crimson atomic bomb mushrooms upward. Skyscrapers, factories, a searchlight, moneybags and toppling church steeple are depicted for their symbolic value.

One of two panels on the "Wedding at Cana" shows a bride and groom, in up-to-date clothing, kneeling before the witnessing priest who wears present-day vestments. The groom wears a blue business suit and striped tie. In the other panel, Jesus and Mary stand nearby while a man, in shirt and trousers, pours water into a jug.

Appropriate in its wheat state setting, a section of the window on the "Loaves and the Fishes" is devoted to farmers, dressed in overalls, who are baking bread and gathering golden wheat from a field of the growing grain.

Details True

All "modernized" figures in the windows are beardless and have haircuts like those worn today. A red plaid tablecloth appears in the window on the "Paschal Lamb." Stitching and buttons are brought out in clothing. Shoes, all of the work type, are true in detail.

The artist's designs are conservatively modernistic. The coloring is delicately tempered with balanced brilliance. Blue and water green, highlighted by red used sparingly, are predominant.

The windows required two and one-half years to complete and cost $17,000. The nave windows are 14 by 5 1/2 feet, and twin picture panels, set in the lower section of each window, are five feet square. Three other windows, which are larger, depict "The Last Supper," "Bringing Gifts to the Altar," and the Blessed Virgin as "Our Lady, Tabernacle of Our Lord."

The windows are composed of hundreds of pieces of mouth-blown, antique glass, stained in colors specified by the artist. Designs are painted on with special pigment which is fused into the glass by baking at a temperature of 1250 to 1280 degrees Fahrenheit to assure "permanent" coloring. The process essentially is the same as it was in the 13th and 14th centuries.

British Promise All But Running

LONDON — (P)—The British have promised that the track and field events at the Summer Olympic games would have the "new look," and they weren't referring to the athletes.

It seems that British inventors, and H. Rottenburg of London in particular, have come up with a flock of new mechanical gadgets designed to help the track and field stars.

Among the devices is a new type of starting block. The whole heel pad can be set at any required angle on the ground. The blocks can be reset accurately to any desired position. This will make it possible for a runner to come to the starting line and find the blocks already set to his instructions.

Rottenburg, a scientific engineer, has produced a new design for hurdles in tubular aluminum. They can be folded flat for storage and are adjustable to 30, 36 and 42 inches.

Automatic Devices

Pole vault and high jump equipment also will be built of aluminum. A no-jump indicator will show if an entrant in the broad jump has stepped over the take-off board. A mechanical sand leveler will quickly and accurately prepare a level pit surface for the next jumper.

Pole vault bars will be put back into position by a patent pulley and hoist.

A new photo-finish camera will produce within 90 seconds a print showing the exact order of the runners as they pass the finish line.

The British committee also is considering electric timing.

Blame For Ulcers Goes To Better Half At Home
LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Men, are you bothered with peptic ulcers? Maybe the "little woman" is to blame, says Dr. Earl E. Congdon, of Lapeer, Mich., president of the American College of Osteopathic Internists.
"More men have peptic ulcers," Doctor Congdon declared in an interview, "because they can't get along with their wives."
Along with matrimonial discord, he placed "worries and frustrations" as major ulcer producers.

Big Muscles Not Sign Of Fitness

CHICAGO—(AP)—Big muscles do not necessarily make a man fit. Neither do sharp eyes, keen ears or a strong heart.
The reason, says a subcommittee of the Baruch Committee on Physical Medicine, is that "the only final test of fitness seems to be the ability to perform the task desired without undue fatigue or exhaustion."

Job Grows For Navy's Big Brass Baby Sitter

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's duties here as "baby sitter" are on the upswing, since his daughter, Mrs. James T. Lay, gave birth to twin boys at the Naval hospital.
The boys weighed six pounds, 14 ounces and six pounds, 12 ounces. Both mother and sons are reported doing well.
Admiral Nimitz has been the Navy's "official baby sitter" since his retirement last year.

Plant breeding and selection of seed gradually is pushing cereal-growing regions toward the poles.

Indians Scorn Dry Ice; Rain Comes Anyway
ZUNI, N. M.—(AP)—This routine of dropping dry ice into clouds is a lot of malarkey. The Zunis will take their Indian rain dance anytime. The Zunis showed their stuff recently at an Indian program in the Los Angeles Biltmore Bowl sponsored by the Santa Fe Railroad.
"See what you can do for us fellows down here," urged Bob Hope, MC for the program.
The Zunis danced. And for the first time this year, the rain poured down for 48 hours.

Two Hands In Bar Provide Efficiency
CHICAGO—(AP)—An old man in a tavern asked for a glass of bourbon. Then he ordered a glass of water, poured in a medicinal powder and stirred it. He took a sip of one and a swig of the other. The two-handed tippler noticed he had a round-eyed audience.
"One gives me a headache. The other takes it away," he said. "Practical, ain't it?"

Guerrillas Release First Captive

SAIGON—(AP)—Andre Lafourge is believed to be the first Frenchman captured by Viet Nam guerrillas and then released.
His wife's refusal to believe reports he was killed during an attack on a convoy near Saigon hastened his return to French territory. A French official headed Mrs. Lafourge's insistence that no one reported seeing her husband's body.
A letter was given to a house servant. What happened to it, no Frenchman knows. But five months after Lafourge's capture a letter from him reached his wife through the French post office.
Meanwhile, his wife and his 18-month-old son became ill. The son died later. But guerrilla leaders were informed of the illnesses. It is believed they released Lafourge, a public works engineer, because of sympathy for his family, not as a political gesture.

Cattle Of India Are Starving

NEW DELHI, INDIA—(AP)—India has the largest cattle population of the world but is in short supply of bullocks and milk.
India's cattle suffer like her population from food shortage and most of them are walking skeletons. Pressure on land is heavy and there is keen competition between man and animal. There is no scientific breeding and worthless cattle are not destroyed. The cow is sacred to the Hindu.

Bananas Make Tasty Vegetable

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Ever use bananas as a cooked vegetable? More and more people are—and they are praising them. Here are a few brand-new recipes just being introduced to the public by banana experts.

Fan-Fried Bananas

(Serves 6)
Six firm bananas (use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas), salt, 1/4 cup melted butter.
Peel bananas. Keep whole or cut crosswise into halves or quarters. Fry bananas slowly in butter until tender—easily pierced with a fork—turning them to brown evenly. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Serve hot as a vegetable.

Ham Bananas Rolls with Cheese Sauce

(Serves 6)
Six thin slices boiled ham, prepared mustard, 6 firm bananas (use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas), 2 tablespoons melted butter, cheese sauce.
Spread ham lightly with mustard. Peel bananas. Wrap slice of ham around the banana. Brush tip of banana with butter. Place ham-banana rolls into a shallow baking dish and pour cheese sauce over them. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until bananas are tender—easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot.
Cheese Sauce
(Makes about 1 cup sauce)
One and one-half tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, 3/4 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups grated American cheese.
Melt butter, add flour and stir until smooth. Stir in milk slowly. Add cheese and cook over low heat, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. Pour over ham banana rolls.

Baked Bananas

(Serves 6)
Six firm bananas (use all-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas), salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter.
Peel bananas. Place into a well-buttered baking dish. Brush well with butter and sprinkle lightly with salt. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes, or until bananas are tender—easily pierced with a fork. Serve hot as a vegetable.

Argentine Eats Pound Of Meat Every Day

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—People who live here are proud of Argentine meat—and prove it by eating an average of 25 pounds a month each. Since a lot of the three million inhabitants of the city are children, this means the adults eat more than a pound of meat a day. The U. S. average is only three ounces.
The average consumption of meat is nearly twice the bread average—12 pounds of bread per month compared to 25 pounds of meat. One reason is that the great number of Italians here eat spaghetti instead of bread.

Flocks of geese have been seen flying over the Himalaya Mountains at an altitude estimated at six and one-half miles.
