Annual Museum Meeting Slated

The Collingsworth County Museum board has set Sunday, November 18, as the date for the annual meeting of the full museum membership, Clyde Drake, president, announced this week.

Officers and board members will be elected at that time, and the meeting will be in the Heritage Room at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Russell Yates and Mrs. Hiram Cudd are in charge of arrangements.

This Sunday afternoon meeting will coincide with Collingsworth County's History Appreciation Week, which is to be celebrated Saturday, November 17 through Sunday, November 25. Featured will be the Marked Patchwork Pattern of "Grassroots" Trails and Tales to the four corners of the county.

The museum will also be open on that afternoon for members and friends to see the progress which is being made with the exhibits housed there.

Winners of the Trails Treasure Hunt will be announced at the annual museum membership meeting.

Green Named Paid Fireman

John Green III was approved as the paid fireman for the Volunteer Fire Department by the City Council Monday, November 5.

Mr. Green is already a city employee.

Kenneth Minatrea, also a city employee, was approved to work as relief man to Mr. Green and he and his family will live in the apartment at the Fire Hall.

Mr. Green has the responsibility of caring for the fire department equipment, along with other duties. Either he or Mr. Minatrea will receive all incoming fire calls.

Mr. Green replaces Howard Breece, who is moving to another city.

Eighth Grade Closes Season at Claude Thursday

Wellington Eighth Grade Firecrackers will close out their season at Claude Thursday, November 8, Coach Carroll Nunnelley said this week. Game time is 6:00 p.m.

"They have a very good Eighth Grade team, having been defeated only once and tied once," the coach said.

The loss was the McLean and the tie was with Clarendon.

Both Wellington and Claude have defeated Memphis.

This game will determine the District 2-A Junior High Championship, and Coach Nunnelley is confident his boys will be the winner. The 1972 Eighth Grade team also was the district winner and has gone on to win the B Team championship this season.

OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD

All the delightful characters in the "Wizard of Oz" will come to life on the stage of Wellington High School Tuesday, Nov. 13 when the speech classes present their annual children's play. There'll be the Scarecrow (Dean Baker) with patches on his clothes; Dorothy from Kansas (Gwen Lewis); the Cowardly Lion (Dickie Johnson) and brandishing his axe, the Tin Man (Tim Jones).

Speech Classes Present "Wizard of Oz" Tuesday

Dorothy from Kansas and the Timid Lion, Boq and Zoq, witches good and bad, and a coterie of other beloved people and beasts will come to life on the Wellington High School stage as the speech classes stage the familiar "Wizzard of Oz."

Two performances are slated for Tuesday, November 13. There will be a matinee at 1:00 p.m. for children in the sixth grade and below, and an evening performance at 7:30 for older students and the community as a whole.

Under the direction of Mrs. Bob McAlister, "The Wizzard of Oz" will be presented with some of the familiar music made famous on the screen by Judy Garland more than a generation ago.

That role, Dorothy, is played by Gwen Lewis. Caught up in a Kansas cyclone, she makes her way through many dangers, to the castle of the "Wonderful Wizard of Oz," with her three companions, the Scarecrow, who is Dean Baker; the Tin Man, Tim Jones; and the Lion, as portrayed by Dickie Johnson.

The Wizard, whom the story is all about, does not appear until late in the production, and is played by Robin Maddox.

Ramona Ford will be the pianist for songs by various members of the cast.

On their way to Oz, Dorothy and her companions encounter Melinda, one of the good witches, played by Juliana Baumgardner, and two munchkins, Boq and Zoq, parts taken by Ricky Seale and Edi Watkins.

They find Verdo, Randall Hodges, who is the Wizard's guard, and his maid, Jade, played by Angie Mitchell.

But they must by-pass Belinda, the bad witch, (Patty McAlister) her three cats, Inky, Blinky and Slinky (Mary Thomas, Lennie Morgan and Phyllis Sullivan) and her slaves, Amber and Topaz (Dian Brooks and Connie Lewis). Other slaves are Winkle and Wonkle, (Dale Blakes and Lonnie Blakes)

But also along the way, they encounter Glenda the Good (Annabelle Harris) and her soldiers who are Mike Williams, Steve Kane, Keith Davis and Ray Jeffrey.

Then they reach the Wizard of Oz!

There are the poppies, too, Debra Long, Cheryl Spillman, Maxine Sterling, Teresa Patterson and Marena Peters.

The Munchkin People also form the chorus that sings some of the delightful songs from the play. These are Brent Wade, Nancy Graham, Paul Gonzales, Connie Lewis, Ken Maxwell, Sharon Robertson, Gary Scott, Dian

Skyrockets to Play Final Home Game with Claude

Wellington Skyrockets meet the Claude Mustangs in their final home game of the season Friday, November 8.

Claude is tied with Clarendon and Memphis for top place in District 2-A, and Wellington Head Coach James Williams calls them "probably one of the most underrated teams in the district."

The Mustangs have a big stake in their game with the Rockets, as it will determine if they can tie for district championship or if they will be out of the running. Of all the teams Wellington has met this year, Claude will probably be the one that is psycholigically the most ready and determined to play.

In Forbes, Claude has one of the better quarterbacks in District 2-A. He can throw well and he can also run with the ball.

Tony Stephenson also has proved to be a score-maker, and the passing combination of Coy Johnson to Bill Merrell has been potent. Mike Campbell's yardage has set up some Claude touchdowns.

Claude's key game came when they upset the powerful Clarendon Bronchos 29-19 at Clarendon. They followed this with a victory over Wheeler.

The Mustangs, coached by James Anglin, are tall and rangy, and overall have good size. They run usually from a double-wing formation and use a 5-4 arrangement of defense.

Coach Williams said several of the Rockets have painful bruises, but there are no major injuries. Jim Bob Nall still favors an injured leg, Richard Sanders was nursing a bruised knee, and George Brewer has a muscle pull. All three are expected to be ready to go Friday.

Grid, Band Royalty Crowned This Week

Those attending the Skyrocket-Claude Mustang game Friday night, November 9, will see the presentation of the Football Queen and her attendants and the Skyrocket Band Sweetheart and Beau.

The Football Queen and her two attendants will be revealed at the school Pep Rally Thursday, November 8, at 3:00 p.m. in Rocket Gym.

The queen and her attendants are chosen by members of the varsity football team and come traditionally from among the cheer leaders. They will be presented again during half-time festivities at the Friday night game.

The pep rally and coronation of the football queen was set for Thursday because classes will be dismissed Friday so the faculty can attend the District TSTA meeting in Amarillo.

That Skyrocket Band Sweetheart and Beau will be selected by the band members from among the seniors and juniors of their group.

Here again, the identity of the winners will not be revealed until they are presented to the crowd.

This also will come during half-time, with the entire band on the football field, according to Keith Wood, band director.

City Men at Water School

Three city employees are attending the three-day West Texas Water and Wastewater Short Course now under way in Lubbock.

They include City Manager Lyman Daniel, along with Kenneth Minatrea and Peyton Mallard of the Water Department.

The school opened Tuesday, November 6, and will close Thursday afternoon.

This is one of the series of courses that lead to certification from the Texas State Department of Health.

Mr. Daniel is already certified and the other two men are working toward certification.

City Hires Engineer For Airport Study

The City Council is probing deeper the possibilities of securing federal and state funds for major improvements at Marian Airpark.

Bill McMorries of the engineering firm, McMorries and Associates, Amarillo, has been retained to work with the city to determine the airport needs and the improvements which can be covered by federal and state funding.

He and City Manager Lyman Daniel will begin work within a few days, and the city will go for the maximum improvement possible. It is urgent that this be done if Wellington expects to take advantage of funding offered by FAAs new National Airport System Plan, Mr. Daniel pointed out.

To begin with, an Environmental Impact Statement must be filed and go through several agencies for approval, the city manager pointed out. Applications for funding will then be made through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

If eligibility can be established the FAA funding can cover 75 percent of the cost of improvements and state funding is available for one half the remaining or 12½ per cent. This would give a total non-local funding of 87½ per cent.

Mr. Daniel cited Crosbyton as a small city that has taken advantage of this. Federal and state funds total $329,000, while Crosbyton's part was only $29,000, according to Mr. Daniel.

It was the feeling of the council that airport updating is a must if the town is to progress.

In other business, the council approved signing of a new contract with West Texas Utilities Co. The contract under which the city and WTU had been operating was signed in 1946, more than 27 years ago.

Burglars Make Big Tool Haul at Farm

Burglars recently took a large quantity of tools from a locked building on the Truman Estes farm at Shinnery, stole a welder from a farm just across the state line in Oklahoma, and were interrupted while trying to take 10 tires from Cudd Brothers Trucking.

Sheriff John Rainey said the items taken in the Estes burglary probably could not be replaced for under $1,000. Entry was gained by breaking the lock on the door.

Among the farm tools reported missing were a welder, cutting torch, guages, drills, 7 stilson wrenches, a jack power graft grinder, air compressor, skill saws, an assortment of other items, and a pump from a diesel tank, the sheriff said.

The welder taken from the Oklahoma farm is only a short distance east of the Estes farm.

A car driving out of Cudd Brothers Trucking with the turtle raised early Saturday, November 3, aroused the suspicion of Chief Probation Officer Bob Watson. The vehicle was too far away for him to get the license number, but he gave chase and lost the car near Fairview Cemetery west of town.

The two large truck tires were found in weeds beside the cemetery, Sheriff Rainey reported, and during further investigation at Cudd Brothers, eight other truck tires were found stashed behind a trailer which was not in use.

The tires were stored in a warehouse on the trucking firm's yard, according to the Sheriff.

The burglary attempt was made while Mr. and Mrs. Watson were substituting for their children in making early morning newspaper deliveries.

B&PW Plans Annual Progressive Dinner

This is the club's only money-raising project of the year, and funds from it go toward sending a local youth to the American Legion Boys State and a girl to Bluebonnet Girls State during the summer.

Mrs. Raymond Patton, club president, is general chairman of the progressive dinner. Other plans are under the direction of the finance committee, which includes Mrs. Sweat, Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Doc Turner and Miss Myra Hays.

All club members are involved in some way in giving the dinner.

Interest Growing in Wildlife Management

By Bobby Gronewald

Retaining, creating and managing wildlife habitat in Collingsworth County has become the desire and plan of many farmers. ranchers, and community citizens. These people from different walks of life realize that wildlife and wildlife habitat are essential in the overall ecological system. Wildlife provides many pleasurable hours for people, ranging from those that simply enjoy observing wildlife in its natural habitat to the hunter who enjoys the thrill and excitement in the challenge of outwitting different species of game animals and birds.

Wildlife in Collingsworth County includes many different species such as quail, racoon, beaver, deer, sparrows, a variety of hawks, turkey, crows, coyotes, bobcats, prairiedogs, prairie chicken and many other species. Many migratory species such as sandhill cranes, ducks, dove, and geese inhabitate Collingsworth County during their annual migration to winter nesting grounds.

There are many things which can be done to improve wildlife habitat for both resident and migratory species of wildlife. Small areas of food plantings made especially for wildlife will benefit many different species. Plantings of corn, rye, vetch, wheat, grain sorghum, winter peas, alfalfa will provide food for a variety of wildlife from deer, turkey, to ducks and geese. Food for dove and quail can be provided by discing a small area adjacent to shelterbelts and allowing weeds and sunflowers to flourish or by seeding such food plants as Japanese or Browntop millet, sorghum almum, blue panicum, switchgrass, or dove prosa.

These food plantings made especially for wildlife need to be protected from livestock. Many food plantings made for wildlife are also favored by livestock and in most instances the livestock will utilize the plantings before wildlife can utilize them.

The staff of the Wellington Field Office of the Soil Conservation Service is continually receiving technical training to use when assisting anyone interested in the management of wildlife and wildlife species that are available to the public. Anyone desiring information on wildlife and wildlife habitat is encouraged to stop by the Soil Conservation Service office in Wellington and browse through the publications and talk with the staff about any specific problems in habitat management.

Governor Proclaims Food, Fiber Month

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has officially proclaimed November as "Food and Fiber Appreciation Month" in Texas, and various observances are being planned in the state's 254 counties.

Local chairmen and their committees have indicated that a wide array of activities are being planned to highlight the month-long educational event saluting agriculture's contributions.

Briscoe, in the official proclamation, noted that Texas -- long a giant in the production of agricultural products -- is third in the nation in total farm and ranch output, yet currently leads the 50 states in annual production of beef cattle, sheep, goats, grain sorghum, cotton, rice, onions and wool.

Texas also harvests substantial amounts of peanuts, vegetables, citrus, fruits, honey, cereal grains, soybeans, turkeys and dairy products, the governor noted.

"The unparalleled efficiency of Texas agricultural producers and associated agri-business has helped provide food and fiber that allows Texas consumers to purchase more milk, bread, steak, butter, eggs and other food and fiber products for fewer minutes of work than ever before in recorded history," Briscoe said.

Today, only one-half as much work time is required to purchase as much food and fiber products as in the "good old days", the governor added.

"Even with a declining farm population, each farmer produces enough food and fiber for himself and more than 50 others. Therefore, it is fitting that November be observed to recognize contributions of Texas agriculture and to encourage renewed appreciation for agriculture by every citizen," Briscoe said.

Briscoe is serving as honorary chairman for the FFAM observance, along with Charles G. Scruggs, editorial director for Progressive Farmer.

Officers for the November observance are Jack H. Barton of Houston, president; Neal Johnson, vice president; Bruno Schroeder, treasurer; and W.H. Meischen, coordinator, all of Austin. There are 13 directors and task force chairmen and four division coordinators, along with 254 county FFAM chairmen.

Directors at Lung Meeting

Mrs. Jimmie Sessions, county director on the American Lung Association's Top of Texas program board, and Mrs. Tessie Burba, co-director, attended a board meeting in Canyon Saturday, November 3.

In the afternoon, they also attended sessions of a student seminar on smoking and health at West Texas State University.

Mrs. Sessions said the seminar is a pilot experiment co-sponsored by PTA District 8 and the Lung Association to test the feasibility of preparing teams of older students to teach younger students the dangers and social undesirability of smoking. An earlier pilot worked extremely well in the Sunray schools, she said.

If this district approach to the student smoking problem proves equally successful, she said that Texas PTA and the Christmas Seal group will promote it throughout the entire Texas Panhandle.

"Even parents who smoke don't want their youngsters getting hooked on cigarettes," she added, and urged all residents of Collingsworth County to support the Lung Association's work through Christmas Seal donations.

During the past week end Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Motsenbocker had as guests his brother, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Motsenbocker of McKinney, and a sister, Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Myers of Kirkland.

Group Fishes at Port Aransas

A number of county residents were in Aransas Pass recently for fishing.

They included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Horton, Ernest Harwell, Jimmie Kelso, Mr. and Mrs. Oran Starkey, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clubb,

Mr. and Mrs. Murl Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. R.T. Savage, Jerry Nix, David Caison, and from Samnorwood, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Caison are spending the winter in Aransas Pass.

The Wellington group reported fishing to be "fairly good" although the flounder had not begun running, as they had hoped.

Aransas Pass old timers told them they believed so much rain had poured too much fresh water into the coastal bays.

Depression Years Hold Good Memories

Ora Blandford Powell of Yucaipa, California, spent part of her childhood here, in the depression years of the early 1930's.

Here, she looks back to some of the incidents of those time.

BY ORA BLANDFORD POWELL

Someone in the community may wonder what ever happens to a family that has to move on as many did during the years of the great depression-I feel I must let someone know that goodness can come from any family if the parents hold together like mine did-and kept urging the children to learn and be respectful.

May I relate a few good memories--where we attended school the longest was at Needwood with good teachers who were Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. Flossie Sweat. Mrs. Jones taught everyone how to play basketball, we had our physical education and about that time advertising became of importance and we had lots of pictures from Listerine tooth paste that sure helped in the health program.

Another memory was when my Mother wrote the County Demonstrator to come out to give a demonstraction on canning beef. That must have been an experience for the two demonstrating, as our kitchen was furnished with a wood range and to hold the pressure gage wasn't too easy-but the neighbors and demonstrators and children seemed to have a great time. She had courage to attempt that one.

I hope parents are still taking their children to play on the beautiful sandy banks of the Salt Fork River where we had wonderful times.

In 1936 we moved to Portales, New Mexico for survival reasons-where home has been ever since. With the steady hand of guidance from our parents we have all had some formal education, five are school teachers, one cotton farmer, three who are self employed in their small business, one still working toward a degree.

We are all grateful that we had the privilege of living in Collingsworth County and feel it was a good base for stepping on into the world where we have found our way.

With the great loss of our Mother, naturally our thoughts are turning back to the wonderful years of childhood.

(Other children in the family are Jack Blandford of Deming, N.M.; Buster Blandford of Yucaipa, California; R.C. Blandford, Jr., of Los Alamos; Dr. Robert Blandford of Pueblo, Colorado; Dale Blandford of Mesa Arizona; Paul Blandford of Redlands, Calif.; Jerry Blandford of Roswell, N.M.; Mrs. Louise Bruce of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Linda Dillard of Portales, N.M.)

The new contract brings the old one up to date, Mayor Billy Hatch pointed out.

The council also defined Mr. Daniel's duties in the field in which the city manager operates.

A policy for renting tables and cooking utensils from the community building was set up.

At those times when the folding tables are not being used in the community building, part of these will be available for loan at the rate of $1.00 per day each. The borrower will be responsible for any damage and the tables will be inspected by a city employee upon their being taken out and returned. The same policy and rate will apply to certain commercial size cooking utensils which are sometimes needed for affairs not held in the community center, discussion brought out.

The council also voted to rent a vacant lot near the City Barn from Mrs. P.E. Starr, and to rent the small building at the corner of 10th Street and East Avenue to R.A. Williams as his real estate office.

Quails Defeat Briscoe 61-24

Quail teams split a pair of games with Briscoe Tuesday, October 30 on the road, with Briscoe girls and Quail boys winning.

Briscoe girls jumped to a 15-5 lead over their opponent at the end of the first period and continued to enlarge this margin to the 63-36 final score. It was, altogether, a slow night for the Bobwhites.

Brenda Meadows lead Briscoe's scoring with 33 points. Debra Culpepper made 21 for Quail; Lenora Oatman 10, Kathy Guthrie four and Martha Torrez one. Quail guards were Doris Peters, Hope Souder, Sheri White and Sharon Childers.

Quail girls had defeated Briscoe by 10 points in a game played here earlier in the season.

Quail boys won their game 61-24. They had a 21-4 lead over Briscoe at the end of the first period and enlarged this to 29-12 at halftime, and 41-18 at the third quarter.

Steve Zybach, scored 12 points for Briscoe. Tommy Caldwell led the Quails with 16; Johnny Needham had 13; Gary Wischkaemper 11; Roland Torrez 6; Lonnie Green 10; Joe Barton and Charles Hall, two each; and David Russell one.

Cyclone Sweeps Past Skyrockets 41 to 9

By Colquitt Nash

Taking the initiative at the kick-off, the Wellington Skyrockets moved the ball well and scored. But after the first quarter, they were plagued by penalties and mistakes such as fumbles and pass interceptions and the initiative went to the Memphis Cyclones as they then rolled past the Rockets by a score of 41 to 9.

Ben Smith's kick-off went to Mike Williams who moved it back to the 29. Using a good variation of passes and running plays George Brewer moved the Rockets upfield to the Memphis 10. From here the drive was stalled. Setting up for a field, Randall Hodges split the uprights for the three points and Wellington led with 8:02 in the first quarter 3 to 0.

The Rocket defense held the Cyclones as they attempted to move from their 30. Forced to punt, Memphis gave up the ball.

Wellington put together another good drive but saw it stall at the Memphis 30. On fourth down the Rockets lined up over the ball with only short yardage to go. A pitch-out pass to Hodges as he set up to hit Mike Williams. The pass was long and right at the last minute the ball was batted away by Ronnie Browning. So Memphis held at their own 30.

From this point Memphis began to put their ball game together and began moving downfield. Finding a first down at the Rocket 34 quarterback Wayne Davis gave to Don Davis who then set up to throw and found James Beck open at the 10 and from there Beck had clear sailing on into the end-zone. The extra point was good and with 1:08 left in the first quarter Memphis took over the lead 7 to 3.

Taking the kick-off again, Mike Williams fumbled the ball but Randall Hodges found the ball at the 25. Despite some good efforts by Sammy Gonzales and Randall Hodges the Rockets were unable to move and were forced to punt.

As the Cyclones began to move it was a story of defensive play by the Rockets as they forced the Cyclones to punt. Hodges let the punt roll dead at the 10.

Only able to find the 13, the Rockets were stopped at this point. Punting away to Memphis, the Rockets again put some fine defensive play together to hold Memphis at the 13. But from here neither team could seem to move. The Rockets were forced to give up the ball by punt. The Cyclones then were stopped on downs, but soon regained the ball as James Beck picked off a George Brewer pass. Wellington retaliated by stealing a Wayne Davis pass on the next play as Mike Williams took it back to the 33. Unable to find the combination for success the Rockets again gave up the ball.

However, this time Memphis was able to score. Moving from the 10, Davis called on Charles Bryley to run and so around the end he came. Finding room Bryley scampered into the end-zone with 2:19 left in the half. Again the point was good and Memphis led 14 to 3.

Finding themselves on the 15 after the kick-off, the Rockets set up to pass. Going back, Brewer found Ben Smith in the backfield with him and was thrown for a loss at the 3. Pitching out to Hodges, the ball rolled loose and Memphis recovered at the 5.

One pass play from Davis to Beck was good enough for the score with only 1:53 in the half. Point good and Memphis stretched their lead to 21 to 3.

Wellington moved the ball down to the Memphis 32 but was unable to find the rest of the yards needed for the touchdown, and on downs gave the ball over to Memphis with only 4 seconds left in the half. So at half-time Memphis led 21 to 3.

Moving from their own 44 after the kick-off, Memphis moved down the field to the Wellington 3 where Jim Dixon, took it in for the score. Extra point was good and with 8:17 in the third quarter the score moved to 27 to 3.

Taking the kick-off, Mike Williams brought it back to the 30. Brewer then took it to the 43 but on the next play the ball was fumbled into Memphis hands at the 43.

Defense again helped the Rockets as the Memphis quarterback, Davis, was sacked at his own 45. Setting up to pass, it was picked off by Mike Williams and returned to the Wellington 46. Aided by a penalty Wellington then took over on the Memphis 47.

Moving behind the running of Randall Hodges the Rockets found the Memphis 25. Brewer lost eight to the 33. Calling on Hodges again Randall hit off-tackle and then picked up some good blocks behind Mike Williams and Steve Kane to break him into the end-zone with 5:37 in the third quarter. Setting up for the two point try, the call was for Sammy Gonzales who hit the middle of the line but could not find the goal line. So with 5:37 in the third the score was 28 to 9.

Moving from their 20 Memphis plunged through the Rockets defense all the way to the Wellington 18. But from there the Rockets held and took over on downs.

Hoping to get their backs off of their own goal line the Rockets sent Cantu up the middle but he found only the line of scrimmage and then it was ruled that the Cyclones sent James Beck into the end-zone with 22 seconds left in the third quarter. The point after was good and the score was 35 to 9.

Wellington was unable to score or seriously threaten for the rest of the game although they were able to move the ball. The defense continued to do their job well but Memphis had time to score once more on a pass from Jim Dixon to Ronnie Browning with 6:02 left in the game. The extra point was no good and the score was set at 41 to 9.

Although the score is somewhat one-sided the game was actually close. Memphis was able to cash in on some Wellington miscues and so the high score. However, all through the game it was somewhat questionable as to how the officials were calling and just what they were calling. But even against that the Fighting Skyrockets never gave up. They played a good game and their spirit can give us something to be proud of.

Junior Varsity Win Assures 2-A Title

That Skyrocket Junior Varsity cinched the District 2-A title with a 6-0 victory over Memphis Thursday, November 1, but in true cliff-hanger fashion, they did not do it until the last play of the game.

Coach Robert Hicks' JV still has two games to play, against Claude and McLean, but both opponents have lost more than one game already, and are out of the running for top place.

Wellington took the kickoff to open the game and moved the ball freely from their own 30 until they reached the Memphis 30 and then stalled.

Memphis brought the ball right back to the Wellington 30 and lost it on downs.

For the remainder of the half, the ball was moved freely here and there but no one went anywhere that counted and halftime saw an 0-0 score.

In the third period, Memphis drove to the Wellington 15, where they were held for four downs and turned over the ball.

Play was again mid-field until only two minutes remained on the clock. Memphis broke out a long play from the Wellington 40 to the 15. From there they moved to the 5 yard line with 38 seconds left -- and again Wellington held the Cyclone JV three straight downs.

On the fourth down, a Memphis pass into the end zone was intercepted by Randall Sims for a touchback. In the scramble, a Memphis player grabbed Sims face mask and garnered a 25 yard penalty.

This brought the ball out to the Rocket 35 instead of the 20, with 16 seconds to go.

On the first play from scrimmage, Rocket Quarterback Shane Tarver rolled out to the right and ran from the Wellington 35 to the Memphis 40, where he was knocked out of bounds, with 6 seconds showing.

On the next play, Tarver ran another roll-out pattern to the right, then threw to left end Edward Thomas who caught the ball on the Memphis 25 yard line. With a tremendous block by Richard Sims, Thomas went into the end zone with no time at all left on the clock. No one seemed to care that the try for extra point failed.

A good crowd watched the Junior Varsity in its hour of victory.

Coach Hicks had praise for the whole team -- not for individual players.

"They had their backs to the wall a couple of times and it would have been easy to give in, but they came back with poise and desire to win and they pulled the game out," he declared.

Players on the offense in this crucial game were Robert Wolf, center; Don Allred and Randall Maxwell, guards; Danny Morris and Jackie Black, tackles; Edward Thomas, Joe Baumgardner and Allen Sanders end; Shame Tarver quarterback; Jessie Davis, fullback; Randall Sims, wingback; Richard Sims, halfback.

Defensive players ere Allred, Morris, Victor Aguero, Black, Thomas, Ricky Ford, Cliff Pennon, Davis, the Sims twins and Tarver.

Eighth Grade Downs Memphis 26-14 Thursday

Wellington Eighth Grade Firecrackers downed Memphis Eighth Grade 26-14 Thursday, November 1, coming one step nearer the District 2-A Junior High Championship.

Wellington kicked to Memphis to open the game, but the visitors were unable to mount a drive and had to punt to the Firecrackers.

George Darton returned the punt for a good gain, setting up the opening drive at the Memphis 40. The Firecrackers carried the ball down the field with good blocking from the line, and good runing by Darton, and Arnie Ingram.

Ingram scored from four yards out on an off-tackle play and Wellington took the lead 6-0. The try for extra point failed.

After the kickoff following the touchdown, Memphis was unable to move the ball once again and had to punt. Wellington once more got a good return and started another drive from mid-field.

They took the ball downfield with Ingram repeating his score from four yards out on an off-tackle play. The extra point try was good on a run by Ingram.

Memphis got on the scoreboard in the middle of the second quarter by a 40 yard pass and the try for extra point failed. Wellington led 14-6.

The Firecrackers scored with a minute left before the half on a 35 yard pass from Clay Don Lacy to Ingram. Memphis was unable to mount any drive for the remainder of the half, and the halftime score was Wellington 20, Memphis 6.

Wellington received the second half kickoff and drove the ball downfield, but was unable to score. Memphis took over on downs on the 7 yard line, but were unable to mount a drive and punted.

Wellington then started from its own 40 yard line. Craig Needham picked up a 12-yard gain and Ingram gained another 10, then Darton scored on an end run from 40 yards. The try for extra point failed, and the score was 26-6 as the third quarter closed.

The last quarter was dominated by defensive play, with neither team penetrating beyond the opponents 20.

Memphis' last score came late in the fourth quarter on a 30 yard pass and the try for extra point was good to end the game 26-14, Wellington, with a minute and 20 seconds left in the game.

"We played a real good ball game, against a real strong team," said Coach Carroll Nunnelley. "The defense did an excellent job of holding Memphis to only 14 points. Our offense looked better than it has all year. We had excellent line blocking and excellent running from Darton, Ingram, Needham, and Lacy. This was an all-out team effort to win."

Visiting with Mrs. Ray Scott was her son, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Scott and Lisa of Morton.

Bill Hughes of Santa Fe, New Mexico, was a business visitor here early this week.

Mrs. Lewis Morris and Mrs. Barney Glenn visited with their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L.S. Riley, in Pampa Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bouchelle and Bill Havens visited in Hereford with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Havens. They returned through Amarillo and visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanley and Mrs. Floyd Branum. Mrs. Branum recently underwent eye surgery and is making a good recovery.

Clarendon will come here Thursday, November 8, for a game starting at 4:00 p.m. This is the second meeting of the teams, and Wellington was the winner of the first contest 12-0.

The final game will again bring together Wellington and Memphis, and Coach James Williams and his boys are certain the location is going to make a difference.

Ko Shari to Work with Collingsworth Museum as Community Service

Ko Shari, social and service club for high school girls, this year will work at the Collingsworth County Museum and with special projects sponsored by the Historical Survey Committee.

This was chosen as their annual community service project as members met Monday, November 5, in the home of Mrs. John Henard, III, a sponsor.

Toni Taylor, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Committee groups to help with marking the Patchwork Pattern of Trails & Tales were named.

Girls in this work include Edi Watkins, Kim Goforth, Karen Jeffrey, Lucy Sullivan, Cathy Trimble, Toni Taylor, Debra Stallings, Della Shumate, Darla Dodge, Janie Taylor, Kim Cannon, Terry Vassey, Ranee Taylor, Pam Shumate, Suzy Castleberry, Lana Lacy and Rhonda Hernandez.

Besides its community service projects, Ko Shari includes a number of social events for the high school set. These began with the formal initiation of pledges and the presentation ball, which were highlights of September.

Sixteen pledges were taken into membership this year, all younger high school girls.

These are Terry Vassey, Darla Dodge, Sonya Scott, Ranee Taylor, Janee Taylor, Debra Stallings, Kim Cannon, Penny Morgan, Kathy Trimble, Kathy Patterson, Suzy Patrick, Suzy Castleberry, Kay Coffee, Pam Shumate, Linda Coffee and Rhonda Hernandez.

Mrs. Alexander Entertains UMW

Mrs. Earl Alexander was hostess to the Esther sub-group of United Methodist Women on Friday, November 2.

Mrs. John Holton, chairman, presided, and Mrs. J.B. King gave the opening prayer.

Members voted during the business session for each member to buy a book and pass it around to others. When all books have been passed and read, they will be donated to the church library.

Mrs. Lowell Wells gave the program on the history of great Christian hymns, and how they were used in the old-time revivals of other years. These were often held under tabernacles, she pointed out. Mrs. Wells then played recordings of a number of these hymns.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Cecil Masten, Mrs. Mayme Somerville, Mrs. John Henard, Mrs. Robert Karnes, Mrs. John Holton, Mrs. S.L. Lindsey, Mrs. King, Mrs. W.F. Vaughan, Mrs. L.J. Courtney, Mrs. Cal Hurst, and a guest, Mrs. Wayne Cook of Dallas.

Henotheism

Henotheism was the ancient belief that there is one Supreme Being but that there may be other subsidiary gods. It allowed for belief in tribal or family deities, subject to the Supreme Being.

Fix-It Tip

Furnace thermostats are sometimes placed incorrectly. The stat should not be installed where there is a draft. If the thermostat can't be moved to a different place, find a way to block the draft.

A lamp or a television set near the thermostat will make it warmer in the area, affecting the setting. Take the cover off the stat now and then to see that it isn't dusty. Dust will interfere with the contact points. Blow the dust out and run a piece of paper — not sandpaper — between the contacts to clean them.

Fish Requires Delicate Care

AUSTIN - Some persons treat fish in a shameful way, according to a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department official who says his interest in fish is more epicurean than humanitarian.

"Fish is a delicate meat, and it it takes the utmost care to keep its fresh flavor," according to Bill Schwartz, the department's seafood marketing specialist.

Whether you catch the fish yourself, or buy it in the store, there are a few common rules which could mean the difference between a successful meal and a disaster, says Schwartz.

"When you go out and spend good money for fresh fish," he says, "eat it as fresh fish. Don't let it sit for more than 24 hours.

Schwartz recommends that if you intend to store fish for later consumption, go ahead and buy frozen fish. It is already packaged correctly.

"When properly thawed, frozen fish can be almost as good as fresh fish," says Schwartz. "But you can't let it set out at room temperature all day and expect it to taste fresh."

According to Schwartz, frozen fish should be thawed under cold, running water an nour before cooking to preserve flavor.

The same techniques for handling fish should be borne in mind by anglers after a successful fishing trip. Fishermen can preserve the flavor of their fish by getting their catch on ice as soon as possible.

Some freshly caught fish should be set aside for the next meal. The remainder should be gutted, wrapped in freezer paper and frozen as soon as possible. The skin and scales should be left on to protect the fish from freezer burn.

Fish will take up more room in the freezer this way, but they will keep their flavor much better.

Packages of fish should be just large enough for a family-sized meal so that waste can be avoided.

There are a few things to check for to make sure you are getting the best buy in fish, according to Schwartz.

A whole fish of prime quality actually appears as if it were just taken from the water. The skin is bright, firm and shiny.

Any visible blood is bright red. If the fish has not been headed, the eyes should be clear and bulging. Cloudy or sunken eyes are telltale signs of inferior quality. Pre-processed fish fillets should appear moist and freshly cut, with no separation of flesh.

And, very importantly, whole fish or fish fillets have no strong odor. Don't be affraid to sniff before you buy.

Breaded fish is a different proposition, says Schwartz, and the consumer's best chances of getting a good product is to only buy seafood which has been inspected and graded by the U.S. Department of Commerce. The inspection stamp and grade will be plainly visible on the wrapper.

WASHINGTON -- Mrs. Bob Price, wife of the 13th District Congressman, was one of nine Congressional wives who modeled Korean fashions Thursday, October 25, at the Congressional Club in a benefit for Korean orphans.

A short hack matte jersey hand-smocked dress, with a pheasant feather tie and black picture hat with matching feather trim.

A short green lace cocktail dress with matching stole.

An orange and gold brocade floor-length gown.

And a long, black, silk dress with embroidered butterfly trim and black feather boa.

Food, Fiber Month Reminds Of Farming's Vital Role

The recent possibility that the country might be faced with a shortage of certain foods made many aware for the first time of the vital role of American agriculture.

November is traditionally Food and Fiber Appreciation Month, and a good time to emphasize again some of these facts. We in the rural counties have always been aware of what it costs to do it.

Agriculture is more than farming and ranching. It covers the supply and service industries that aid in production -- fertilizers, seed, machinery, etc. It also includes marketing and distribution, other phases of the complex system that moves our goods from field to consumer.

Texans spent about $6.4 billion last year in food stores, and in the U.S. as a whole, food retailing topped the nation's retail industry. Yet food is still a bargain compared to most other items.

To continue to satisfy our nation's food and fiber needs, as well as to meet overseas commitments, requires a strengthened agricultural complex in the years ahead and the development of strong agricultural leadership.

Cotton Again Is King

Ramifications of the cotton crop, harvest of which is just beginning, are tremendous for the upcoming harvest season. It looks right now to be a bumper yield with all-time high prices, and that means a flood of money in circulation during November and December. Farmers never had it so good and the fallout, for business, should be substantial.

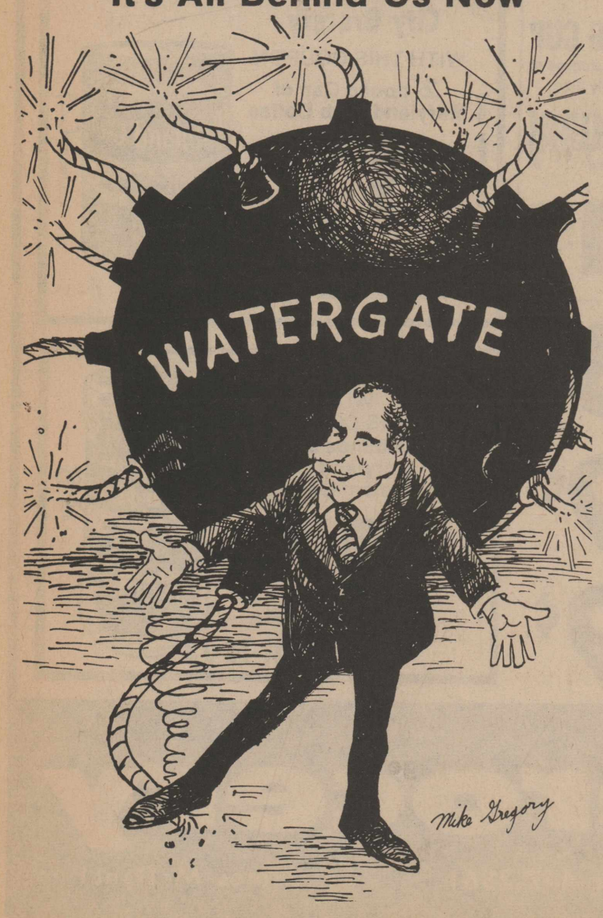

This bright outlook is due in considerable part to the fortunate stretch of dry weather in recent weeks. The rains subsided at the proper time to allow the bolls to open, to keep down insect infestations and for the harvest to begin on time. All these factors have come together nicely.

Mechanical pickers already are in operation around Altus in Southwestern Oklahoma. Out in the Wellington, Tex., area, crop prospects are best ever to go with the high prices.

In the immediate Wichita Falls area, farmers mostly are awaiting frost, prefering that nature, rather than chemicals, do the job of defoliation for them. After the first frost the harvest will begin in earnest.

It should be a mammoth one, and like last spring's wheat bonanza, bring farmers an all-time high income. We all benefit from this, of course.

"It's All Behind Us Now"

State Capital NEWS

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Over 200 leaders of industry and representatives of professions met in the capitol last week to review the new state laws governing campaign contributions, expenditures and lobbying.

Secretary of State Mark White and Attorney General John Hill discussed the major legal changes brought about by the "reform" legislation of the last Texas legislature.

"We are living in a period of legal transition," the Attorney General told the business and professional men and women. "My office has produced over 200 opinions so far this year -- more than the total last year -- and over 100 opinions are stacked up to be prepared."

White outlined his recent "campaign contributions and expenditures directives" at the meeting sponsored by the Texas Society of Association Executives.

Other speakers reviewed the details of the new lobby law and the sections of the penal code which affect campaigns and lobbying.

"H.B. 2 -- the new lobby law -- is unconstitutional," stated Frank Maloney, Austin attorney. "It violates both the first and fifth amendments to the constitution."

He cited federal cases which supported his opinion on the new Texas lobby law, and other speakers pointed out that several AG opinions are needed in this state to clarify sections of the campaign expenditures law and lobby law.

Political action committees for state businesses and associations are being formed as a result of the new laws.

Labor unions must go the PAC route in Texas now also, because they are prohibited under the new law from contributing to political campaigns.

Speakers on the program indicated that the Sharpstown scandal and Watergate investigations are going to make office holders, candidates and those who work and contribute to campaigns very wary about future political activities in this state.

"Until we get more information from the Secretary of State's office, and additional Attorney General's opinions, most representatives of business, professionals, labor and industry are going to be very cautious about participating in political campaigns and contributing to campaigns," one spokesman for the group said.

"None of us wants to be the first 'test case' under these new laws," he concluded.

Others observed that it was going to be harder to get good people to run for public office because of the tough new laws, and predicted the strict campaign laws would make it easier for incumbents to remain in present offices.

Both Jack R. Martin, Houston, president of TSAE, and Gene N. Fondren, chairman of the TSAE Government Relations Committee, outlined the need for future briefings for state business and industry leaders on the new laws governing the mechanics of "Texas politics."

Details of the lobby law were explained by Austin attorney Gaylord Armstrong.

MARIJUANA CASE REVIEW ORDERED -- The Board of Pardons and Paroles has been called on by Governor Briscoe to review marijuana possession felony convictions under old state law where less than four ounces of the substance was involved.

Although the Court of Criminal Appeals has struck down a portion of new state law providing for resentencing of prisoners convicted of felony possession, Briscoe said the legislature obviously intended that sentences of minor offenders would be lowered. New law effective last August lowered the penalty for first offense possession of small amounts of marijuana to a misdemeanor.

About 800 are serving time in Texas prisons for marijuana offenses. Briscoe is particularly interested in granting clemency to first-time offenders who had small amounts of marijuana in their possession.

SHORT SNORTS -- Tyler Oilman Jack Warren announced his candidacy for chairmanship of the State Republican party.

The election, by the State GOP Executive Committee, will be held November 19.

South Central Texas cotton farmers have been granted an extension on cotton stalk destruction on a personal-need basis only.

State agency heads received a briefing from top officials on benefits of new zero-base budgeting.

Sen. O.H. (Ike) Harris of Dallas will serve as governor for a day December 1 -- the first Republican to hold the position.

Linda Ruth Lane of Houston and Judith Ann Prince of Odessa are the first women graduates of the Texas Department of Public Safety's Academy.

CROSSROADS REPORT

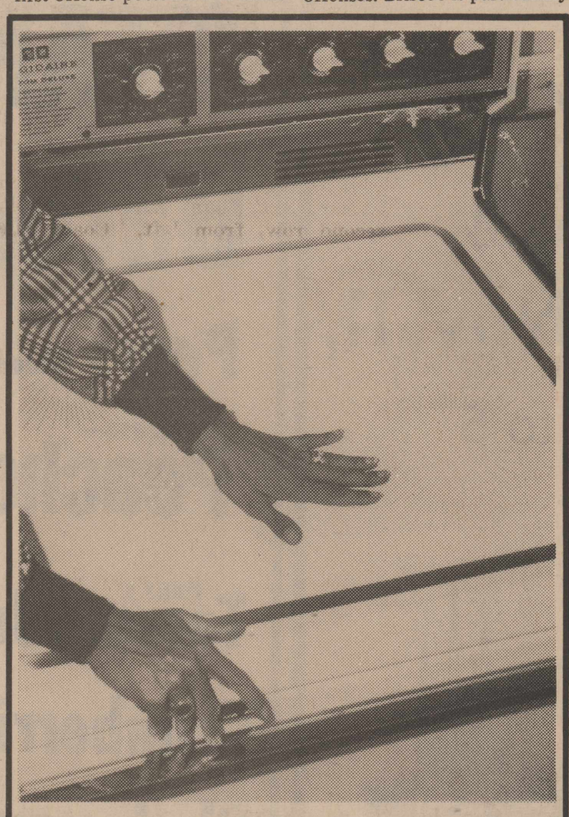

Dear Editor:

My antiquated neighbor says that in his youth he was compelled by the state of progress to use straps, buckles, etc., to attach a horse to his wheels before he could locomote.

Now he is required by federal functionaries to harness himself to his vehicle with a similar arrangement of belly-band, breast strap, crupper detent, etc.

But Old Dobbin, sweating for his master's profit and pleasure, had a better deal. He did not have to go easy on oats to pay for his own harness.

Deer, Turkey Seasons Open November 17

Both Deer and Turkey seasons will open in Collingsworth County in mid-November.

The deer season opens Saturday, November 17, and will close Sunday, December 2. The bag limit is two bucks, but no more than one buck mule deer and no more than one buck white-tail deer.

The turkey season also will open November 17 and close December 2. The bag limit is one gobbler or bearded hen.

The Quail season in both Collingsworth and Wheeler counties does not open until December 1, and it will continue through January 31, 1974. The limit is 12 birds per day or 36 in possession.

In all other Panhandle counties, the season opens November 17 and will continue until February 15. For these also the bag limit is 12 quail per day or 36 in possession.

A hunting license costing $5.25 is required of every Texas citizen who hunts outside the county or his residence or who hunts deer or turkey. However, the exception covers persons under 17 or over 65 years of age or persons hunting on their own land, but they must have an exempt license to hunt deer or turkey.

Ruffin Urges Ford Approval

Ray Ruffin, Democratic candidate for the 13th District seat in the United States Congress, today urged the confirmation of Representative Gerald Ford as Vice-President.

Mr. Ruffin stated: "Our sense of community and pride in America's greatness has been damaged by recent events in Washington. It seems to me that Mr. Ford is qualified to continue Mr. Agnew's term and that it would be great good sense on the part of Congress to confirm him as quickly as possible, to provide this country with the kind of moral leadership it so sorely lacks.

Couple Travels in Historic Virginia

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Parsons have returned from a trip that took them to historic sites as far east as Tidewater, Virginia.

Traveling in their motor home, they drove leisurely through Arkansas and Tennessee until they reached the foot of the Smokey Mountains.

Their first major stop was at the annual Crafts Fair at Gatlingburg, Tenn. One of the most famous of its kind in the United States, it recreates pioneer skills and gives a picture of early American life. Men and women in dress of the period demonstrated cooking and weaving and spinning and other crafts and skills.

After crossing the Blue Ridge Mountains, they visited through North Carolina, and their next stop was at Williamsburg, Va., one of the nation's oldest towns.

Buildings along mile-long Gloucester Street have been restored to their Colonial splender, for here were some of the finest homes and public buildings of early America.

"It was most interesting of all to us," said Mrs. Parsons, "and we spent a full day on Gloucester Street alone. The colonial capitol is at one end and William and Mary College, oldest in the United States, is at the other."

Men and women in colonial dress show visitors through these beautifully restored and refurnished buildings and explain how their original owners lived.

After leaving Williamsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons traveled along the James River, visiting plantation homes that are now open to the public. Some are still occupied by members of the families that built them. Among these are Berkley Hall and Shirley.

The return trip was marked by a visit to Petit Jean State Park in the Arkansas Ozarks.

This beautiful mountain resort area features a golf course, tennis courts, restaurant and facilities for vacationers to stay overnight.

Quail Hunts In Two Areas

AUSTIN -- For the small sum of $1 a quail hunter can gain access to two wildlife management areas near here.

Starting Oct. 13, four of the Parks and Wildlife Department's management areas -- Gene Howe and Matador, are open to public quail hunting for a fee of $1.

Hunting will be on a first-come, first-served basis with no restrictions on the number of hunters allowed on the areas. The sole exception is the Gene Howe Area where 30 hunters per day will be allowed with no repeats after the first day unless the daily quota is not filled.

Quail hunting on the Gene Howe Area in Hemphill County is Nov. 3-4, Dec. 15-16, 1973. Jan. 12-13, 26-27, Feb. 9-10 and March 9-10, 1974.

Cottle County's Matador Area is open Nov. 3-4, 10-11, 17-18, Dec. 1-2, 8-9, 15-16, 1973; Jan. 5-6, 12-13, 19-20, Feb. 2-3, 9-10, and 16-17, 1974.

Nine Register With Service

Nine young Collingsworth County men registered with Selective Service during October, Bill Hatch, member of Local Board No. 20, said.

All registered upon reaching their 18th birthdays.

They included Noah Solis, Harold Glen Maxwell, Elijah Paul Gowin, Alton Lee Belew, Cleo Pennon, Jr., Leonard Arnold Fincher, Paul David Wilbur, Ruben Sanchez, and Robin Lee Maddox.

Mrs. Manuel Attends RSVP National Meet

Mrs. Mecca Manuel, director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program for Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties, was among 36 representatives to take part in a national training conference held recently in New Orleans. The conference was one of a series sponsored by the Federal Volunteer agency, ACTION.

She attended lectures and workshops in program concepts and administrative techniques. The conference was conducted by ACTION, assisted by the Community Service of New York, a private, non-profit social service agency which has pioneered in establishing programs for older volunteers.

Grants to assist in the operation of a local RSVP are awarded by ACTION, the Federal agency which is also responsible for Vista, the Peace Crops, the Foster Grandparent Program, SCORE, and other volunteer programs. ACTION also has awarded grants to the State offices on Aging to enable them to help communities develope senior volunteer programs and to provide technical assistance to these programs.

RSVP provides significant volunteer service opportunities for retired persons, enabling them to participate more fully in life of their communities, and establishing a respected and rewarding role for older adults. Nearly 600 communities throughout the United States have started local Retired Senior Volunteer Programs.

There are over 42,000 senior volunteers now serving.

"As RSVP Director for Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties," said Mecca Manuel "it is my hope to work closely with organizations in these communities and make it possible for our retired citizens to use their time and talents productively in volunteer service."

Any retired person who is 60 or older is eligible to become and RSVP volunteer. There are no restrictions based on education, income or experience. Senior volunteers serve in a variety of organizations, agencies, and institution, including schools, libraries, parks, day-care centers, hospitals, courts, nursing homes, museums, and economic development agencies. They serve without compensation, but may be assisted with transportation and meals associated with their service.

Unnamed

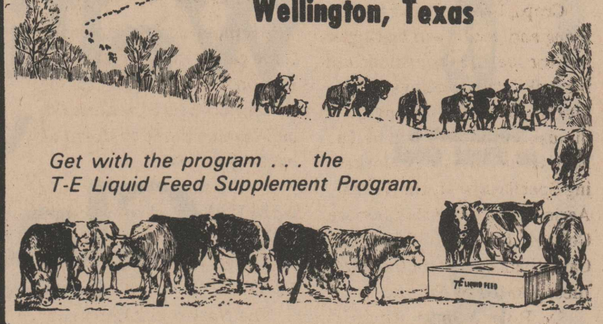

The names of the two thieves crucified with Christ are not given in the Scriptures, but there is a tradition that the one who was penitent on the cross was named Dismas and the other was named Gestas.

PEP Meeting Spotlights Panhandle Agriculture

Trends in Texas Panhandle agriculture will be spotlighted at the annual meeting of the Panhandle Economic Program at Canyon Friday, November 16, with several Collingsworth representatives attending.

Taking part will be Mrs. Arla Felts and Don Reeves, county Extension Agents, as well as the board members, County Judge Zook Thomas, John R. Henard, and Louis Allred.

One of the featured speakers will be a former Quail woman, Lynn Bourland, home management specialist with the Extension Service.

Governor Dolph Briscoe and Senator Max Sherman, along with specialists and local producers in beef cattle, grain marketing, and family living-youth will headline the event which begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Activities Center, on the West Texas State University Campus.

People from across the 25-county PEP area (Upper Panhandle) will be on hand, along with key leaders from each county will be welcomed to the WTSU Campus and 4th Annual PEP meeting by Dr. L.I. Watkins WTSU President.

Crops, livestock and family living and youth will be singled out for specific discussions during task force meetings in the morning session. Leading the discussions on beef will be Dr. Ed Uvacek, Livestock Marketing Specilaist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service College Station, and Mr. Jack Carrothers of Friona Industries Incorporated of Friona.

Dr. Roland Smith, Grain Marketing Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station and Carl Jahnel, farmer from Hemphill County will examine the world and local grain situation.

The Family Living Youth Task Force will discuss what the future holds for the family in health, family economics as they relate to health programs, and foods and nutrition. Dr. Barbara Sears, Miss Bourland, and Sally Springer, Extension Specialists in health, management, and food and nutrition will be featured speakers.

Senator Max Sherman of senatorial district 31, said Mrs. Felts, will be the first speaker, addressing the group on activities of the recently created Regional Water Council.

Following his speech, the agricultural task force and the family living youth task force of PEP will meet.

The governor's address comes at 1:30 p.m. with a business meeting scheduled at 2:30.

Governor Briscoe's address, he said, is expected to center around the role that Texas will play in the nation's agriculture future.

Included in the business meeting, the agent noted, will be an outline of task force goals, the introduction of the executive committee, the chairman's report, and election of officers.

County Agents will plan to attend this meeting.

Norwood Girls Have Winning Streak Going

Samnorwood Eaglettes won three games in a row, dropping Allison 41-37 at home, taking an easy 65-33 win at Guthrie, and coming home to down Mobeetie girls 58-11.

At the same time, Samnorwood Eagles won over Guthrie 58-54, but dropped games to Allison 61-46 and to Mobeetie 58-53.

The Norwood-Allison girls game was close all the way, with the Eaglettes outscoring their opponents two points in the first and second quarters, 7-5 and 20-16, then playing even the last two quarters. Cindy Coleman scored 24 points, Alethea Ray 15, Debbie Roberts two. Other forewards were Ida Beth Stice and Mable Bryant. Guards were Connie Dwyer, Teresa Ray, Judy Bell and Ethel Bryant.

Eaglette guards did a fine job in containing the Guthrie Girls in the October 30 game there. Norwood jumped to a 21-6 lead by the end of the first quarter and enlarged on that the remainder of play.

Cindy scored 38 points, Alethea 11, Ida Beth 8, Mable and Debbie two each, and Vonnie Knoll four. Guards were Connie, Teresa, Judy, Ethel, Jayne Morgan and Rebecca Graves.

Traveling to Mobeetie Friday, November 2, Norwood held their opponents to only 5 field goals for the entire game. They were up 41-7 at half time and shut out the Mobeetie Girls in the third period.

Cindy scored 22 points, Alethea 20, Mable 10 and Debbie 6.

Leading Eaglette rebounders are Connie Dwyer and Teresa Ray.

Samnorwood boys did a good job against the strong Allison boys on the Eagles Court and stayed with them through three quarters, when the score was 41-37. Allison scored 20 points in the last period to 9 for the Eagles.

Doug Coleman scored 17 points and Steve Trostle 11. Grayson had 16 for Allison.

The Samnorwood team rates Allison as the best they have played this year.

The Eagles played another fine game against Guthrie -- a game that was close all the way. They also did a good job of protecting their lead late in the game. Norwood led 32-22 at halftime and 48-39 at the third. Guthrie boys scored 15 points in the last period to 10 for Samnorwood.

Coleman scored 26 points, Trostle 14 and Morgan 11.

The Norwood Eagles were flat in the first half of their game with Mobeetie Friday, November 2, and were behind 32-18 at that point. They came alive in the final two periods but had allowed Mobeetie to work up too large a lead.

Trostle scored 22 points and Coleman 15. Gary May had 19 for Mobeetie.

Veterans Must File Income Statements

All persons receiving pensions from the Veterans Administration must submit a statement of income before January 15, James R. Bowen, veterans service officer, pointed out.

The forms to be filled out are now being received by veterans or their beneficiaries, and persons who do not return them by the deadline date, January 15, will have their pension checks cut off, Mr. Bowen emphasized.

"We cannot urge you too strongly to file these statements of income as early as possible," he said.

These pensions go to disabled veterans, their widows or orphans he pointed out.

All veterans benefits paid to Collingsworth residents total approximately $28,000 per month, or $336,000 per year, Mr. Bowen said.

Norwood Team Places Second

The Samnorwood Future Farmers senior chapter conducting team placed second at the annual Greenbelt Leadership Contest in Clarendon Saturday, November 3.

This was the only team entered by the chapter.

Team members were Mike Oldham, president; Johnny Morgan, vice president; Larry Stages, secretary; Stephen Trostle, reporter; Mark Simpson, treasurer; Harald Hill, sentinel and Ralph Graves advisor.

Jimmy Brown is the vocational agriculture instructor and chapter advisor.

Seventh Loses To Memphis

Wellington Seventh - Grade football team lost a hard-fought game to the Memphis Seventh Grade 12-0 on Cyclone field Thursday, November 1.

Memphis scored early in the game after blocking a punt on the Wellington 10 yard line. The try for extra point failed.

Wellington mounted a drive in the third period but failed to score and the game ran along on a give and take basis until late in the fourth when Memphis scored again on a 40 yard run.

Again the try for extra point failed.

Nevertheless, the Wellington team played hard and Ronnie Anderson was cited as a defensive standout and Neal Vevarez for his offensive work.

Two Events Planned By Senior Citizens

Two November events are being planned at the Senior Citizen Center, according to Mrs. Mecca Manuel, RSVP supervisor.

Mrs. Otis Fletcher of Olney, a former star of the East Texas Jamboree, will present a program of country and western music Friday, November 9, at the RSVP Center. It will begin at 3:00 p.m. and last about an hour.

Mrs. Fletcher sings and also plays the guitar and fiddle. A versatile entertainer, her songs will include old-time favorites, contemporary country and western, and gospel songs.

A Thanksgiving supper will be held at the center Friday, November 17, at 7:00 p.m. This will be a covered dish event, and all persons over 60 years of age are invited, Mrs. Manuel said.

There will be a short business organization in which the officers for the senior citizens organization will be elected.

Mrs. Manuel explained that this senior citizens group is entirely separate from the RSVP - Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

RSVP is an administrative body which is set up for Collingsworth and Wheeler counties, and which is responsible for setting up a variety of services to which retired men and women may give their time.

One of the services is the senior citizens group, which does meet in the RSVP office because of the excellent facilities available.

Upon the election of officers, RSVP will be completely separate from the senior citizens group, Mrs. Manuel explained.

WITCHES - GOOD AND BAD

Melinda the Good Witch and Belinda the Bad Witch (Julianna Baumgardner, left and Patti McAlister) are seldom so amiable toward each other, as they appear in costumes they will wear in "The Wizard of Oz." It will be staged Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 13, by the speech classes of Wellington High School.

Quail Slates Lakeview and Hartley Tilts

Quail Quails and Bobwhites will play Hartley and Lakeview in the week coming up.

They travel to Hartley for a double header Thursday, November 8. Due to the distance, this will be a 6:00 p.m. game.

It will be a second meeting for the teams, with the Quails losing by two points in an overtime period at the October 26 meeting.

The Bobwhites were victors by 9 points.

Quail Coach Bill Wilson called both Hartley teams "pretty good." The girls get outside well, while the boys have 6-4, 6-2 and 6-foot players who dominate the floor. It was this height problem that troubled the Quails last time.

This game was originally scheduled for Friday night.

Lakeview will come to Quail November 13, and this also is a second meeting. Quail girls won by 15 points in the first game but the boys lost. Lakeview boys are small but their quickness is something to be reckoned with.

City Policeman Mike Gilmore is attending a three-day short course sponsored by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs in Amarillo.

The course, entitled "Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs," is given at the Law Enforcement Academy, Amarillo College of Vocational Arts.

Officers from throughout the Panhandle are attending.

This is one of the series of courses which Mr. Gilmore will attend to receive certification as a law enforcement officer, which is required of all city and county officers within a year after they are employed.

Mrs. Montague Dies Tuesday

Mrs. R.S. Montague, 90, longtime Wellington resident, died at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 6, in Thomas Nursing Home.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Dear Deck:

Thought you would be interested to know that one of your "Printer's Devil" thinks he has made it to the top by working for The Wall Street Journal. I have been in their employ since last February in their main production plant in Chicopee, Mass.

This plant is still hot-metal, with plans for converting to cold-type in several years. There are about 45 printers in this plant.

Alta is enjoying her work as Systems Engineer with G.E. She just recently returned from Charleston, S.C. to conduct crew interviews with members of atomic submarine crews. Her work involves the fire control systems on the atomic submarines but for security reasons, she cannot say much about it.

We just moved into our new home. We are in the country so Alta and I both commute to work and the children ride the bus 25 miles to school.

Our oldest daughter, Laurie, was elected sophomore class representative this year. We were quite proud,,because usually a new student has to prove himself, herself, anyway you know what I mean. With equal rights for women it sure is difficult even to write a letter!

In closing I want to thank[you and Billy Bledsoe, James "Ish" Miller, and D.E. Scott for sharing with me your knowledge of the printing industry.

Also change my address so I can keep up with the news at home.

Sincerely,
Don Wheeler

Rummel Details Weevil Resistant Cotton Test

Farmers throughout most of the cotton producing areas of the nation have fought a continuous battle against the boll weevil for years, but have seen relatively little success in stopping the destructive pest. Researchers at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock are attempting to add a new weapon to the farmer's arsenal in the fight against the cotton boll weevil.

Dr. Don Rummel, cotton research entomologist at the Experiment Station, said that preliminary work is underway in an effort to develop cotton types resistant to boll weevil damage.

While the insect is not yet established in High Plains cotton, it has been a threat to the area since 1960, says Rummel. According to the scientist, a wide scale boll weevil suppression program has been conducted annually since 1964 along the juncture of the High and Rolling Plains in an effort to keep boll weevils out of High Plains cotton. This effort has succeeded in slowing the advance of the weevil.

Research on boll weevil resistant cotton has been conducted for many years in other parts of the Cotton Belt, he reports. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has an extensive program underway at College Station, Texas. Several other state experiment stations and the USDA also are working on this problem. However, this is the first time that this line of research has been attempted in this area, he adds.

"The completion of a boll weevil research laboratory, plus a well-established cotton breeding program have allowed us to expand our research in this area," Rummel explains.

Initially, research at the Experiment Station under high and rolling plains conditions will be directed toward an evaluation of cottons developed by existing insect resistant programs at other locations.

"Several modifications of the cotton plant have been found to impart resistance to insects," says Rummel. "These range from a change in the shape of the bract, sometimes referred to by growers as the boll shuck, to an unknown chemical substance in the plant, referred to as the "x" factor.

"The bract modification is termed "Frego" and is a long, narrow, rolled bract which spreads away from the boll," Rummel explains. "It has been shown that the weevil does not lay eggs as abundantly on this cotton as on the normal type with the large flat bracts. This characteristic was shown to be effective in the Rolling Plains in preliminary tests in Kent County this summer," he reports. "However, this cotton was damaged much more by fleahoppers than were standard varieties, introducing a new problem in the modification."

Plant breeders Dr. Levon Ray of the Experiment Station and Dr. Jerry Quisenberry, USDA, are cooperating in the program.

When proven insect resistent characteristics become available, they will be transferred to cotton types adapted to area conditions for a more accurate evaluation of their effectiveness in minimizing insect damage. Should they prove effective, these cotton types can be used by breeders to develop insect resistant varieties for the area, Rummel notes.

The introduction of insect resistant varieties is one of the most promising methods of insect control, according to the scientist. This method does not add to production costs, and with less insecticide use the critical problems of pollution, human health and safety are reduced.

While research is directed mainly at the development of a boll weevil resistant cotton, other cotton pests such as cotton fleahoppers and bollworms will be considered, he points out.

Rummel concludes that the development of commercially desirable insect resistant varieties is a long-term project, requiring close teamwork between entomologists, plant breeders and agronomists.

Legion Holds Open House All Day Saturday

Veterans are reminded of open house which the Frank King Post of the American Legion will hold throughout the day Saturday, November 10, Commander Raymond Horton has reminded.

Coffee and donuts will be served throughout the day.

The local veterans organizations elected to observe the traditional Veterans Day, and since November 11 fell on Sunday, the open house is planned for Saturday, Mr. Horton said.

Walleyes Doing Well at Canyon

AUSTIN -- Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists and hatchery personnel dumped 750,000 walleye fry into Canyon Lake in June and have not heard a peep from them since -- until last week.

Then, when department biologists were setting nets in the lake in search of some of the approximately 17,000 striped bass stocked there, the caught 15 walleyes in 300 feet of net.

Biologists say this is a remarkable sampling. The walleyes averaged 12 inches long and weighed seven to 11 ounces. They were 1¼ inches long when they were stocked in the lake in June.

Social Security Has Speakers

"The Social Security Administration is charged with the responsibility of informing people about their rights and responsibilities under the Social Security law," said Travis C. Briggs of the Amarillo social security office today.

One way the office does this is to provide speakers, films, and written materials to organizations and groups that request them.

"An organization can schedule a speaker from our office on very short notice," said Briggs, "and with little advance notice, an interesting film can be shown to the group."

Several of the full-color films available have received awards for quality as educational films. Colorful and informative pamphlets about all types of social security benefits payable are also available.

"Because social security coverage is so extensive, everyone should know about the protection his tax dollar buys against the major causes of economic insecurity - reduced earnings due to retirement, death, disability or long illness," Briggs said.

Clubs, classes or groups which want to know more about social security can schedule a speaker or a film - or both - by calling the social security office.
