

Sarpalius planning for office

By MELANIE MILLER
Of The Pampa News

Energy, education, agriculture and inflation are potential problem spots for Texas Panhandlers. And Bill Sarpalius says he'd like to find out other specific problems area people have, then help them.

How? Via the Texas Legislature. Sarpalius, a Democrat from Hereford, is planning to run for District 31 state senator, a position now held by Bob Price of Pampa.

Although he hasn't officially announced his candidacy and doesn't plan to until early next year, Sarpalius believes most legislators forget their constituents once they're in office.

"Legislators spend less time legislating than you'd think — voting is a very small part of the job," he said. "Eighty percent of their time should be helping the people in their district with their problems. But a lot of legislators go home at the end of a legislative session and forget what they're elected to do."

Sarpalius adds that he's not interested in the money and said it would be a big cut in salary for him. It won't be an "ego trip" for him, either.

"I enjoy working with people," he said. "I feel like I can understand a lot of the problems people in this area have."

His understanding of agriculture stems from living at Boys Ranch for seven years where he managed the dairy. His experience in education comes from his agriculture education degree from Texas Tech University as well as from five years' teaching experience. Plus, after two years' work with House Speaker Bill Clayton, Sarpalius said he understands the Legislature.

"Some people might say I'm running on Clayton's coattails, but I'm not," he said. "I was interested in running for political office before I ever worked for him and he knew that when he hired me."

He'd like to work on implementing alternative energy sources such as gasohol and agrees with the balanced budget concept, especially on the state level.

Sarpalius also believes education "gets the leftovers" and sees a need for improvement of junior colleges because of increasing enrollments at those levels. He also favors improved vocational education programs as well.

He served as Clayton's district office manager during his employ with the speaker. He traveled around Clayton's district in a mobile van, talking to the constituents and finding out what their needs were.

Hostage 'confesses' to being agent

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The Moslem militants holding the U.S. Embassy claimed Saturday that one of their American hostages had confessed to being a CIA agent. The militants and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini threaten to put their 50 captives on trial as "spies."

At the same time, new signs appeared of divisions on the Iranian side in the confrontation with the United States.

The embassy militants objected to a statement by acting Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh that three senior U.S. diplomats who have been at the Foreign Ministry were free to leave Iran, and Ghotbzadeh backed down.

In a more surprising development, the foreign minister's more moderate predecessor, Abolhassan Bani Sadr, was quoted as accusing Khomeini and Ghotbzadeh of having undermined efforts at negotiation.

"The point really is we adopted a policy that led to deadlock," Bani Sadr was quoted as saying in an interview published by the afternoon Tehran newspaper Ettelaat.

He reportedly said Ghotbzadeh had spread false propaganda and slandered the U.N. Security Council, and Khomeini's hard-line demand for the extradition of the ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in exchange for the hostages "is not something that would be fruitful."

Khomeini replaced Bani Sadr with the more uncompromising Ghotbzadeh last week, but Bani Sadr remains a member of the all-powerful Revolutionary Council.

The U.N. Security Council, which the Iranians have condemned as a tool of the United States, was meeting Saturday night to discuss the crisis.

The militants' new charges about espionage at the embassy came in a news conference with more than 100 foreign reporters who were allowed into the embassy compound.

They showed the reporters a message they say was sent from the embassy to Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance in August concerning the arrival at the embassy of a William Daugherty and Malcolm Kalp on "SRF assignments" and indicating that this involved the Central Intelligence Agency. The students did not appear to know what "SRF" signified, telling reporters, "Ask the CIA."

They said both men were among their hostages and that Daugherty had confessed to being a CIA officer. Kalp had not yet been asked, they said.

In Washington, State Department spokesman David Passage would not comment on the allegation that Daugherty was a CIA agent, but said the Iranian militants "have an ample record of forgery, misrepresentation and fabrication."

Because no list of the remaining hostages has been released, it could not be determined whether the two men were, indeed, among the captives.

The militants said the document helped prove their allegation that the embassy was an espionage center.

Students said the telex message, allegedly from Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen, one of the three senior diplomats being held separately at the Foreign Ministry, agreed to the stationing of Kalp and Daugherty in Tehran, "as assigned."

In the message as displayed, Laingen purportedly insisted that because of the "great sensitivity locally to any hint of CIA activity, it is of the highest importance that the cover be the best we can come up with."

KUWAITI AND IRANIANS raise their fists and shout anti-American slogans during a mass demonstration at the American Embassy in Kuwait, Friday.

Demonstrators were later dispersed by Kuwaiti security forces firing tear gas.

Shah still looking for asylum

NEW YORK (AP) — Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, the deposed shah of Iran, remained secluded in his hospital room Saturday, still looking for a nation that will grant him asylum so he can leave the United States.

Most of his personal belongings were removed from the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center on Friday so he could leave as soon as a haven was found.

Doctors have said he has recovered from cancer therapy and gallstones surgery and is well enough to travel.

Iranian militants holding 50 Americans hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Tehran have said they will not release their hostages until the United States turns the shah over to them for trial for alleged crimes against the Iranian people. The Carter administration has refused.

A spokesman for the former shah announced the shah had intended to leave during the weekend, but then Mexico withdrew permission for him to return there. That news left the deposed ruler "quite distressed," his spokesman, Chris Godek, said Friday.

The shah, 60, asked the Carter administration to help him find refuge elsewhere, but the only official response was that he must make his own travel plans.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has repeatedly invited the shah to Egypt, saying his personal aircraft is at the shah's disposal to carry him to Cairo.

There were reports the shah might consider going to South Africa, where his father, Reza Shah, died in 1944 after being forced into exile during World War II. It was not known if South Africa would accept him.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Covington Commandment.

OPINION PAGE

Government itself is root of oil problems

"Oil feeds my family and pays my taxes." is a slogan on bumper stickers that can be seen all around the Panhandle. Surely no one can deny that oil is a very big part of our local economy. It can be said that what is good for the oil business is good for the Panhandle, but this is not always the case.

There was a plan to build a pipeline from California to Texas to move the surplus Alaskan oil to inland markets. Presently, this surplus is being shipped through the Panama Canal which slows down the distribution process and adds an unknown cost to the price of oil products.

This pipeline would have been a big boost to our economy if it was completed. However, last May Standard Oil of Ohio dropped its plans because of a multitude of environmental demands by the various states involved. Standard Oil was trying to obtain 735 permits before they finally called it quits. California was responsible for most of the regulations and ironically they were the first ones complaining during the last oil shortage.

Now the prospects for a pipeline being built are greatly improved, but it will not be coming through our locale. There are four pipeline proposals being considered and all are in the Northern states. The Federal government has now decided that a pipeline is of great national importance and they are going to make sure that one is built.

Why the big push now when nothing was done before? Mainly because the government, by its regulations and inactivity, has caused matters to come to a critical point. One reason is because of an estimated $2.50 per barrel savings on oil piped instead of shipped. But the main reason is because Canada is going to stop exporting oil to the U.S. in 1982. Canada is not being greedy or trying to put any pressure on the U.S., they simply cannot meet their needs and ours too.

The Midwestern states have usually been able to meet their energy needs by using oil from Canada, locally produced oil, and oil from the Southwest. These sources have been declining in recent years and they need new sources. The pipeline is their solution and the government is now making sure that one is built.

Even the liberal Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.), chairman of the Senate Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, has become upset over the costly delays. His solution is to somehow coordinate and expedite the actions taken by all the governments involved. This means appointing someone with the power to break through all the local, state and federal laws to get something done because a private firm can't.

Wouldn't a private firm like to have this kind of power? Wouldn't abolishing the laws speed things up and reduce the costs immensely? If the government didn't have the power to restrict these private companies from acting, a pipeline coming to West Texas would already be under construction and the U.S. wouldn't be in the situation it is in now.

Our government should stop blaming everything on the big oil companies and start realizing that it is the problem. Instead, they hire more people and create new agencies to straighten out all the mess. Until everyone realizes this, our country will continue to have problems and will continue to act only after the government discovers what problems it caused in the first place.

Looking back

Santa Claus will fly into Pampa today at 3 p.m., just half an hour before the annual Santa Day Parade begins. All three Pampa school bands, as well as that of Lefors, will march amid floats and an entourage of children's pets, bicycle and costume selections.

If Pampa eventually votes to participate in the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority dam - and - reservoir project, she would have an estimated 19 percent more water capacity in 1969 than today.

W.E. Keeler, vice - president of Phillips Petroleum Company in Bartlesville, Oklahoma, will speak tonight at the 26th annual meeting of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council.

1964
The 1964 Traffic Count stood at 563 accidents today, according to officials. However, of that total, only 130 injuries and one death was the result of any Pampa traffic accident.

The annual sale of Christmas Seals will officially be launched in Pampa and Gray County this weekend.

The new total in the Pampa - Lefors United Fund campaign stood at $59,651.47 today following a check - in coffee of volunteer workers this morning in the Coronado Inn.

1969
Gray County Commissioners turned down with a 3-2 vote today the proposals to redistrict Gray County.
Assistant Fire Chief J.V. Pirkle announced today the Pampa Fire

Department is preparing food baskets for need families at Christmas.

1974
Another step that could determine the fate of Pampa's request for a 75 percent federal assistant grant on the estimated $12 million cost of remodeling the city's waste treatment plant was taken recently in Austin.

Two plane crashes Sunday which accounted for more than 90 deaths sent the Thanksgiving weekend fatality figures spiraling, but appeared traffic deaths could be the lowest in six years, said officials today.

Well, Americans are at it again. It's official now. The presidential campaign is under way, that quadrennial rite that to the rest of the politically civilized world is in large part or wholly incomprehensible.

Why official? Because Edward Kennedy finally announced his intention to announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination.

But he is challenging the incumbent president of his own party who has yet to make his own official announcement of candidacy for re-election. (It's official, however, that Jimmy Carter will be announcing on Dec. 4.) Meanwhile, the official opposition already has fielded five declared candidates.

So why should it have taken the Kennedy candidacy to make it official?

That's what we mean - incomprehensible.

And there's so much more to come.

Consider the focus of the Kennedy campaign - leadership, to the lack of which he ascribes the Carter administration's problems. No matter that his own qualifications in this area have yet to be demonstrated convincingly. He had a try at a leadership role early in his Senate career, but that came to an abrupt end in 1971 when his Democratic colleagues decided he wasn't hacking it as majority whip.

Incomprehensibly American

Carter's already evident response is to tag Kennedy as an old-line, big-spending liberal, addicted to expensive social projects the feverish economy cannot afford. Never mind that his own promise hanging over from the last campaign to balance the federal budget is still unfulfilled, with prospects of ever being able to do so receding.

And his is the proposal for a $142 billion crash energy program to free us from dependence on the oil cartel. (Yes, yes. Most of that is supposed to be financed by tapping oil-industry profits. But that windfall is still written on the wind, not something you can write checks on.)

Meanwhile, it is not Carter himself who is the most active campaigner in his cause, but his wife. Which is probably just as well since polls indicate Rosalynn is by quite a bit the more politically effective Carter. Which could raise the question as to why she isn't running instead. And that's a possibility the Carter camp may yet want to consider.

In what is going to be a media-oriented campaign like the last several, only more so, Carter appears to have lost an early round with the refusal of the networks to sell him air time for his Dec. 4 announcement. Can you see the French president or the Japanese prime minister being refused time at a similar request? Incomprehensible.

The Carter-Kennedy confrontation is only the preliminary. There are still the finals against whoever emerges from a Republican melee that, with the more dramatic Democratic contest monopolizing center stage, may very well take place mostly in the wings. An apparently party-splitting fight could actually work out to be a plus for the eventual Democratic nominee, giving him a long publicity lead over the Republican challenger.

Kennedy may have the charisma, but Carter may be able to look to tradition to compensate. Not since Franklin Pierce in 1856 - and that was the sole such instance - has an incumbent president been denied renomination by his party.

On the other hand, tradition has not fared well in recent presidential elections. John F. Kennedy in 1960 retired the one about Catholics not needing to apply. Richard Nixon demonstrated that a loser on his first try could still come back to pick up the big prize. Carter brought a bona fide Southerner back into the White House by direct election rather than succession for the first time since before the Civil War.

Incomprehensible as it may seem, Kennedy's challenging of tradition may put him right in step with the latest tradition.

It's all part of a process non-Americans probably will never completely understand.

For that matter, neither may Americans. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

"My oil price hike expert is OPEC, and OPEC says ..."

Playboy on TV

by Paul Harvey

You've heard by now that Hugh Hefner of Playboy Magazine plans to put his naked playmates on television.

He plans a series of television shows called "Electronic Playboy" - a TV version of his girls magazine - to be released on cable television next year.

He intends to make Playboy Enterprises a major supplier of TV programs.

Subsequently, the programs will be available on video tape or video disc which you can purchase for frequent replay - a video version of the magazine, a new one each month.

The major challenge of this era of accelerated change for a professional observer is to keep his intellectual arteries sufficiently pliable to accept and adapt to inevitable change - without losing all sense of direction.

A Commerce Department survey seeks to explain the significant audience for television's daytime soap operas and titillating quiz contests. It concludes that "Americans apparently like a little sex in their entertainment diet, but not too much."

How much is "too much"? With our highest court unable to define pornography, we've let it all hang out on the newsstand. Why not on TV?

The dictionary defines prurience as "lustful itching desire."

I itch. I am not opposed to sex or desire.

But I am offended - and if I were a woman I would be enraged - by the manner in which exploiters of pornography for profit degrade the female for the erotic stimulation of the male.

Though the Supreme Court has never been able to define hard-core pornography, Justice Potter Stewart once said, "I know it when I see it."

And what you can now see in X-rated publications and performances are persons, usually females, stripped, bound, raped, tortured, mutilated and murdered - in the name of entertainment and free speech.

Pornography is sometimes defended as "a victimless crime." It's argued that nobody is forced to purchase those magazines; it will be argued that nobody will be forced to watch Hefner's television programs.

And you can watch the near-nudity on some programs already on television and wonder if it is not hypocritical to resist removing the seventh veil.

I don't know. I resist the notion of censorship because I would not know whom to trust with the responsibility and because the history of censorship militates against it.

But I am opposed to putting garbage on television for the same reason that I would oppose open sewers in our streets.

It can be argued that what's in those sewers is "natural" and "normal" and "everybody does it" and that it's "not dirty."

But everywhere in the world where that sewage flows unconfined it breeds disease.

On the other hand

There is always an exception to a rule, and in this instance it goes by the name of Ronald Reagan.

Because he has already been to the post so often, and possibly for other reasons, Reagan is currently regarded as the frontrunner for the Republican nomination.

At times he appears to confuse that position with actual presidential incumbency.

In officially announcing his candidacy, for example, he also announced that he has no intention of debating or otherwise publicly appearing with any or all of the clutch of rival Republicans.

This has been considered wise incumbency tactics, the theory being that there may well be more to be lost through increasing the exposure of rivals than there is to be gained in debating points.

Considering Reagan's present position of leadership, the tactic may be in the interests of his candidacy. But it is not in those of an informed voting public.

Today in history

By The Associated Press
Today is Sunday, Dec. 2, the 336th day of 1979. There are 29 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1942, a nuclear chain reaction was demonstrated for the first time by scientists working on a secret project in Chicago.

On this date:

In 1804, Napoleon Bonaparte crowned himself Emperor Napoleon I of France.

In 1823, President James Monroe outlined the Monroe Doctrine, opposing European expansion in the Western Hemisphere.

In 1852, the Second French Empire was proclaimed - with Napoleon III as emperor.

In 1956, Fidel Castro and his followers landed in Cuba to overthrow the Batista government.

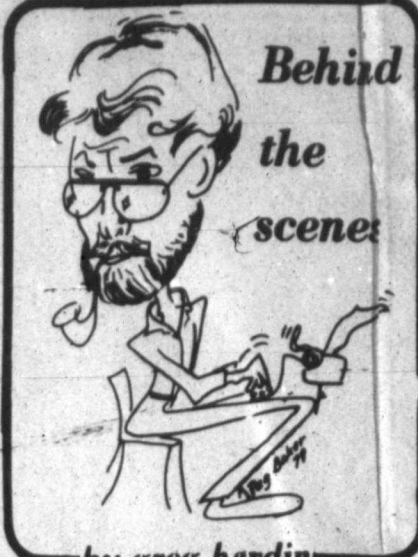

In 1960, the Archbishop of Canterbury visited Pope John XXIII at the Vatican, the first such visit ever.

Ten years ago, 54 people died in a flash fire in a home for the elderly in Notre Dame du Lac in Canada.

Five years ago, President Gerald Ford said the nation faced a triple threat of inflation, recession and an energy crisis.

One year ago, martial law troops in Iran opened fire to disperse curfew violators during a dispute between the shah and his foes.

I got caught by surprise this week as many Pampa residents did during the Civil Defense drill at St. Vincent's.

I was at home right in the middle of dinner when I looked out my window and saw all the emergency vehicles in the world around the church. So naturally I jumped in my car and rushed to the scene of what I knew was a major disaster.

Well, if you have never seen a newsman with egg on his face just ask J.J. Ryzman what I looked like. He certainly got a good laugh at me.

But, there will be a time J.J. just remember that.

Fire has been the topic of the news this week and I want to caution everyone about candles and Christmas lights now that the holidays are upon us.

Don't leave your Christmas tree on when you go to bed or when you leave the house.

Be sure to make sure holiday candles are placed away from anything that will burn. Above all don't take chances, it is your life you are playing with.

I want to give my congratulations to Debbie Duke for her performance in this weekend's speech contest. I am behind you 100 percent.

Today is the best day to start regular attendance at the church of your choice.

I also want to extend my congratulations to those people at Cabot and Celanese who have mark 25 years with those corporations. You are the kind of people that make Pampa the place that it is.

Well, I guess Christmas time is here again. Santa Claus has made the Pampa scene and Christmas carols may be heard everywhere.

This is the time of year that we should remember our fellow man.

Between now and Christmas we will be relaying stories of Pampans who are less fortunate than most of us in an effort to raise money for those and other families in the Pampa area.

These stories will be of only a few of the people who, without your support, will not have a Merry Christmas.

Anyone wishing to make sure everyone has something to make their Christmas a little merrier may contact the Salvation Army here.

Remember that this is the time of the year to help your fellow man through gifts from the heart.

Health board orders major shakeup

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Health reacted to six weeks of misconduct charges Saturday by ordering a major shake-up in personnel policies and one or more possible firings at the State Health Department.

Allegations against various supervisors have included sexual harassment, use of equipment and employees for personal tasks and failure to investigate employee complaints of misconduct.

In an action apparently unrelated to the various allegations, the board made Dr. Robert Bernstein acting commissioner of health. The board said Dr. A. M. Donnell Jr. had requested reassignment from acting commissioner to his previous job of deputy commissioner for health maintenance.

Dr. Raymond Moore still holds the title of commissioner but has been out for several weeks following a heart attack and open heart surgery.

The board directed Bernstein to immediately start "procedures to terminate" personnel director Frank Hejl, "contingent upon the verification of charges levied against him."

R.B. Foster, a department employee, claims Hejl harassed him for telling investigators Hejl knew that department employees were going personal work for certain supervisors on state time.

Earlier efforts by Moore to demote Hejl were stymied by District Judge Jerry Dellana, who ordered Hejl reinstated. Hejl contended he was demoted for backing a woman employee's sexual discrimination complaint.

Bernstein received orders to "carefully scrutinize" the administrative services division, headed by Al Joe Hunt and take steps to correct "all existing management and administrative problems ... including making any personnel changes that are appropriate."

The board said the majority of problems currently experienced by the department centered in Hunt's division.

Board action eliminated all intermediaries between the personnel director and the acting commissioner, giving the department's head man greater control over personnel.

Other actions directed by the board include:

— Establishment of penalties for proven harassment — sexual or otherwise — but with "due process protection to the parties involved."

— Creation of an employee advisory committee to investigate complaints and grievances.

Clements doesn't care what Schwartz believes

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says no matter what Sen. A.R. Schwartz believes, the Coast Guard has done an "admirable job" at the scene of a gulf ship collision.

"I think most of that is political rhetoric," Clements said of Schwartz's criticism of the Coast Guard. He said the Coast Guard has "done an admirable job ... I think they did all they could under the circumstances."

The Coast Guard is in charge at the scene of a Nov. 1 ship collision that killed 32 men and sent thousands of barrels of oil into the gulf near Galveston. The tanker Burmah Gate is still on fire.

Schwartz, D-Galveston, had hoped to question a Coast Guard captain about the handling of the collision, but the captain did not show up Thursday for Schwartz's Senate Natural Resources Committee hearing.

Rear Adm. Paul Yost of New Orleans told Schwartz the captain will be at a similar hearing in Washington next week, so there was no need for his testimony here.

Schwartz angrily promised to subpoena the captain and Yost. Clements said the Coast Guard "brought in men and equipment in a timely manner." But Schwartz said it took 57 hours to get set up on the scene — while Coast Guard officials once told the Legislature they could respond in six hours.

Texas lawyers a different group

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of University of Texas Law School graduates were sworn in to the state bar at a ceremony in exile, sparked by a woman who regretted missing the November rite in Austin.

"Being sworn-in to the Texas bar is something we've worked toward for a long time," the woman, Julie Parradis, told the small audience before presidential aide Sarah Weddington administered the oath.

The ceremony for seven new members of the state bar was held Friday in a Senate reception room at the Capitol.

Ms. Weddington, a former state legislator from Travis County, said she was pleased there were five women and two men among the group, a change from the days when she attended UT Law School.

"It's really a moment of pride to know that there are such outstanding young men who join the young women of today," she said.

Ms. Weddington first came to the White House as President Carter's adviser for women's issues.

Ms. Parradis said later that arranging the ceremony for the seven Texans in Washington was "extremely easy."

The clerk of the Texas Supreme Court said Ms. Weddington was qualified to administer the oath. Ms. Parradis said, and the staffs of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Rep. J.J. Pickle helped with the Capitol arrangements.

Ms. Parradis, 32, of Austin, is working for the general counsel of the Agriculture Department and has no plan to return to Texas.

"This (Washington) is my hometown originally, so I'll be here probably forever," she said.

Cindy Work, 26, of Austin, who helped arrange the ceremony, said she became hooked on Washington while working here during the summers between law school sessions.

Ms. Work, from Oklahoma City before moving to Austin for law school, still is looking for a job.

James Ertle, 28, of Racine, Wisc., before law school, and Betsy Loar, 27, of Austin, are both working for Pension Benefit Guaranty Corp. They both said a return to Texas was possible at some point.

Liz Maxfield, 25, of Dallas, also is looking for a job. She said she would like to stay in Washington for several years before returning to Texas, but definitely not to Dallas.

Patti Tilson, 25, of Texas City, has held several part-time jobs as a law clerk at private firms since moving to Washington. She is looking for a fulltime position in Washington, the first place she has lived outside of Texas.

"Washington is not the nasty Yankee city that everyone said," she said.

David Whitten, 26, of Denton, is working for Rep. Ray Roberts, a Texas Democrat who has announced he will not seek reelection next year.

"I'll be here for awhile," Whitten said. "I'll do something else (after Roberts retires)."

All seven graduated from law school last May, took the state bar exam in July and learned they passed in October.

Complaint filed against service

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Davis Benton says he would have been shipped to Alaska if he had complained about the National Weather Service while he ran its bureau in Galveston.

But Benton took early retirement last month and is eager to talk about what he sees as poor storm forecasting by the NWS on the Texas Gulf Coast.

"They are just too slow in getting it out. It borders on being negligent," Benton told the Texas Coastal and Marine Council Friday.

Benton ran the Galveston bureau for 14 years and spent 35 years with NWS. He said Texas coastal residents do not get the service they need in an area frequently threatened by severe storms.

He said warnings of such storms now come from San Antonio — after weather data is relayed from coastal stations.

"Obviously it can be handled at the (coastal) radar sites. The warnings should be issued from the radar sites, not remotely from someplace else," Benton said.

He told the council last summer's severe flooding in Houston proved his point. "The first flood warning went out after 26 inches of rain had fallen," he said.

He also said NWS provides insufficient staff for the coast. Only 20 percent of NWS 360 Texas employees are stationed in the area, he said. The Beaumont-Port Arthur station "is down to three or four people, which is just ridiculous."

Weather forecasting for the Beaumont-Port Arthur area is further hampered by an insurance company building in Galveston, he said. The structure blocks the Galveston station radar — cutting out 15 degrees of its 360-degree sweep. The blocked area is a 40-mile stretch in the Beaumont area, he said.

"In a word, the governor is not adequately informed," Schwartz said after Clements' Friday news conference.

The senator was here Friday for a meeting of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, which he also chairs. He said the Coast Guard also was inefficient in its handling of the Mexican oil spill.

"If the winds had not changed, we would have had a major environmental disaster in the bays and estuaries of South Texas ... That is not proficiency. That is not the kind of behavior you commend. ... I do not believe the governor has the same degree of anxiety about the Texas coast as the people who live on the coast have every day," he said.

PAMPA

It's easy to see where many of our priorities are.

The children of today are looking to us for ways they can prepare for their own style of life ... families ... and job opportunities.

To help, we'll need more electricity. It's true, electricity will play a big role toward helping expand the job market to include these adults of tomorrow.

The modern use of electricity has contributed to a better educational system to prepare our young people for the new experiences yet to come.

Almost 10 years ago, the folks at Southwestern Public Service wanted to make sure there was enough electricity to keep today's wage earner, working. They decided that the fuel used in their power plants should be coal because, coal would be more abundant and cheaper to use than the conventional fuel ... natural gas.

Now, Southwestern Public Service has a new coal plant in operation and more on the way. Yes, coal plants will help stabilize fuel costs while providing a long-term, reliable, energy source to provide electricity.

It's good to be able to tell someone what they can depend on.

minor accidents

There were no minor accidents reported to the Pampa Police Department during the 32-hour period ending at 3:00 p.m. Saturday.

fire report

3:20 p.m. — A storage shed and grass fire was reported at 1110 S. Faulkner. The shed and contents were a total loss.
 3:30 p.m. — A grass fire at Price Road was caused by a welding torch. One-half acre was burned.
 3:15 p.m. — A grass fire burned two acres of land one and one-half miles west of the city. Cause is unknown.

Fire termed as accidental

The state fire marshall, after investigating the scene of Thursday night's fatal fire 20 miles north of Pampa, has declared the fire started by "natural causes."

According to the report given to Sheriff Eddie Brines of Roberts County Sheriff's Department, the fire marshall was called in by the district attorney's office to investigate the house - fire which proved fatal to rancher H. L. Ledrick.

"A small leak in the butane line which ran over to the fireplace from the back of the house caught fire," Brines said, was cited by the state fire marshall as the cause of the blaze. "Everything was an accident," he added.

The Pampa Fire Department received the house - fire call at about 4:45 p.m. Thursday. When the three units arrived on the scene, they

Girl gunned down in school hallway by 14-year-old

LEWISVILLE, Texas (AP) — An 11-year-old girl struck in the back a .22-caliber bullet apparently which was fired at random by another student in a school hallway, was in satisfactory condition Saturday.

Police were trying to figure out the reason the shot was fired. "As far as we know, the suspect and victim did not know each other," said Detective R.D. Tillitree. "We have not been able to establish a reason for the shooting."

A 14-year-old pupil was taken into custody after the shooting Friday. He was carrying the gun in a western-style holster when confronted by officers on a nearby athletic field and "dropped his hand" to the weapon, according to Police Chief Steve McFadden.

But the boy did not draw the gun and was taken into custody without further incident, the chief said.

The girl was hit by a single shot as she walked down the hallway, McFadden said. The bullet missed the girl's heart but punctured a lung and caused it to collapse. The bullet continued on, but no one else was hit.

She was taken to Lewisville Memorial Hospital where she was moved out of the intensive care unit Saturday to a private room. A nursing supervisor said she was in stable and satisfactory condition and there were no complications in her recovery.

The suspect ran from the school after the shooting. McFadden said the boy apparently brought the .22-caliber revolver to school to show other pupils. Officials said he apparently fired at random.

"The first bell had run and most of the youngsters were in class," McFadden said. "There weren't too many in the halls. We're lucky it happened as it did."

The boy was turned over to Denton County juvenile authorities. McFadden said, "He's just a little kid. The gun was almost as big as he is."

Superintendent Leo Struver said, "The reason for the shooting is baffling. The only possible explanation seems to be that the boy either had an innate, mixed-up feeling toward school or, possibly, toward accepting direction from those in charge."

Illegal aliens to be prime topic of talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The role that illegal aliens play in the U.S. economy will be one of the prime topics for a meeting in San Antonio, Texas, of the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy.

The hearing will be held Dec. 17.

Questions to be examined include:

—whether illegal aliens take jobs from U.S. workers or fill positions that otherwise would have no takers?

—what are the economic costs and benefits of undocumented workers?

—what rights should the undocumented worker have?

Commissioners also plan to examine U.S.-Mexican border issues, including how to prevent unauthorized entry and ways to increase cooperation with the Mexican government.

Experts to speak during session

McALLEN — A number of agricultural experts will speak on Monday at special conferences during the 46th annual Texas Farm Bureau convention.

The Young Farmers and Ranchers breakfast meeting will kick off the conference schedule early that morning.

Other special conferences — animal health, energy, cotton, wheat and feed grains, rice, livestock, peanuts and oilseeds, research and education, farm labor, water, dairy and Farm Bureau services — will convene in the afternoon.

The Young Farmers and Ranchers group will hear J.L. Taylor of McAllen, agricultural sales representative for Union Carbide Corp., speak on "Your Heritage and the Future."

The animal health conference will host Dr. Neville Clarke, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in College Station. The program will cover the new cooperative brucellosis program.

The program leader for the energy conference will be Dr. Ed Fulton of the agriculture department at Tarleton State University in Stephenville. His topic will be on current energy supplies.

In the cotton conference, Rick Shaw of the Cotton Board, Memphis, will speak on the commodity's research and promotion program; and J.K. Jones, vice president of Cotton, Inc., Raleigh, N.C., will talk about his organization's research on cotton.

The wheat and feed grain marketing system will be discussed by Fred Hejduk, market analyst for Great Plains Wheat, Inc. in Washington, D.C., during the wheat and feed grains conference.

Featured speakers for the rice conference will be Dr. Carl Anderson of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Texas A&M University, and Bill Wedemeyer, TFB research and education director. Dr. Anderson will be discussing the general outlook for rice and the commodity's present economic situation, while Wedemeyer will speak on the National Grain Board.

There will be three livestock conference program leaders. Director of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University, James Parker, will speak about current wool research.

The new tax law for agricultural lands will be the topic discussed by Kenneth E. Graeber, executive director, School Tax Assessment Practices Board in Austin. TFB Associate Director of Commodity Activities J.D. Jordan will talk on the Beefers' program provisions.

The peanuts and oilseeds group will also hear three speakers. Ben H. Baisdon, director of the marketing division, Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin, will present a program of peanut promotion. Nutritional research will be the topic of Dr. Alice Milner, acting chairman, Department of Nutrition & Food Sciences, Texas Woman's University in Denton. Tom Chapman, Johnson County Farm Bureau Board member, will speak on sunflower production.

Vice president of Freeman Institute, Glen Kimber, Provo, Utah, will address the research and education conference on the Constitution.

The farm labor conference will have Jack Angell, communications director for labor activities, American Farm Bureau Federation, Park Ridge, Ill., as guest speaker on the history of California labor relations and program and implications of a similar law in Texas.

In the water conference, Harvey Davis, executive director, Texas Department of Water Resources, Austin, will present a program on the water system.

Guest speaker in the dairy conference will be Carl Zuborg, chief executive, Mississippi Valley Milk Producers Association, Davenport, Iowa. He will discuss his organization's protein pricing plan.

Also speaking to general sessions at this year's convention will be U.S. Congressman Kika De La Garza of Mission, vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Origin of brands dates back to antiquity

The origin of brands dates back to antiquity, and there has never been anything to take its place.

As the cowman knows a brand is something that won't come off in the wash.

Branding soon became a systemized business, and brands had to be registered. Brands have made the coming of a language all their own, the characters read from top to bottom, from outside to inside. To be able to read a brand is to "call the brand."

Every conceivable symbol is used in brands: triangles, bells, pots, kettles, spurs, bits, hearts, and many others. Ranchers were often called by their "brand names" and lost their own identity to that of the range.

The following is a list of the oldest active brands in the Roberts county and a brief summary of each:

O'LAUGHLIN RANCH—FLYING T

Tommy Miles from Miami now manages the O'Loughlin Ranch, he is the fourth generation to live in Miami, Texas. The story started in 1875 when Tom and Ellen O'Loughlin settled in Mobetie. Their son Miles was the first white child to be born in the Panhandle. Miles married in 1933, his two children were Thomas, (Tommy) and Sarah.

L.A. MADDOX ESTATE—BAR-6

In 1922 the Bar-6 brand was registered to the Maddox brothers, Newton and Lawrence. The brothers retired from ranching in the 1950's. Lawrence Maddox and his son Bruce formed a partnership in 1955 and resumed the use of the Bar-6 until his estate was settled in 1966.

MORRISON BROTHERS—HORSESHOE

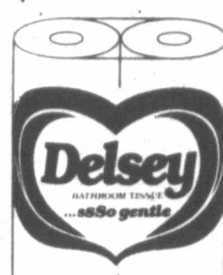

J.W. Morrison came to Roberts county in 1916, when he bought the M.S. Brazil ranch, he bought the brand as well. The two sons of J.W. Morrison ran the ranch as the Morrison brothers until the death of one brother, J.G. Morrison now operates the ranch with his son Don Morrison.

HERSHEL GILL ESTATE—LAZY H

A.W. Gill came to Roberts County in 1889 with his father G.W. Gill. A.W. Gill's son Hershel ran the ranch until his death in 1960.

IN AGRICULTURE

Wheat pasture is a high quality forage which offers excellent potential for weight gains on stocker cattle. Wheat pasture will generally analyze 20 percent to 22 percent crude protein and 70 percent TDM. This level of protein in wheat forage is about twice as much as the typical stock animal needs, so utilization is not very efficient.

Supplemental energy, from feed grains, can be provided to increase performance and make fuller use of the protein levels in wheat pasture. Corn, sorghum and wheat can be used for this type of program. Benefits to the cattle operator include: 1) increased rate of gain; 2) increased stocking rate; 3) improved bloat control; 4) sustained performance during periods of reduced forage growth; and 5) severe weather protection.

Additional gains of .5 to .75 pound per day have been experienced on stocker cattle consuming 4 of 10 percent of their body weight in grain per day while grazing good wheat pasture.

The grain can be hand fed in troughs. However, many producers have successfully fed grain free-choice in a salt-limited ration, which reduces labor and trough space. The grain should be rolled or coarse ground and mixed with salt of a similar particle size.

A table is available at the County Extension Office which shows the percentage of salt to mix with grain in order to regulate intake at specific levels for various weights of cattle. As an example, for 400 pound cattle to consume 4 pounds of grain daily they need a 12 percent salt mixture. Individual sets of cattle may need minor adjustments in the salt mixture after getting on feed.

PHEASANTS:

Pheasant season is just around the corner, December 8th. Our pheasant population is still in the infant stage in the Gray County area. Would-be pheasant hunters are reminded of this fact. If you are serious about hunting pheasants, let me recommend that you try to satisfy your hunting fever in the northern or western parts of the Texas Panhandle. Your chances of finding ample pheasants are better elsewhere and we still need more seed stock here in Gray County, especially the hens.

Even though there may be a few cock pheasants to spare, it seems that invariably a hen gets up at the wrong time and location and is mistaken for a cock. When hens are killed, besides being against the law, it serves to reduce next year's population.

We can thank the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation Board for purchasing pheasants which were released in the Gray County area about 3 or 4 years ago. Let's all do our part to conserve these so that maybe in several more years, we'll have as many pheasants as other good areas.

CHRISTMAS TREE SELECTION:

Buy your Christmas tree early and care for it properly so that it will last through the holiday season. Make sure the tree you select is fresh. If the tree is shedding needles or is brittle, it's become too dry. As soon as you get the tree home, cut one to two inches off its base on a slant, and stand it in water. In the home, place the tree away from heat sources and check the water level often.

4-H CORNER

BY MARILYN TATE & CARL GIBSON

4-H youth in the electric energy program know fluorescent lights can save energy. For example, one watt of fluorescent lighting will provide four times more light than one watt of incandescent lighting.

Young people 9 - 19 in the national 4-H electric energy program have made wise energy use a way of life.

Among energy conservation practices they engage in are these: turn lights off when a room is vacated for more than 15 minutes; keep lamp bulbs, fixtures and shades clean (dirt and dust can absorb as much as 50 percent of the light); and replace a darkened bulb with a new one where possible.

Each year, more than 10,000 4-H members learn - by doing to conserve and manage their own use of electric energy, and to explore more efficient uses of energy and energy sources.

Their projects and activities, supervised by the Extension Services nationwide, also include making useful electrical items, repairing small appliances, and working with electronic equipment. And 4-Hers investigate career opportunities in electric and allied industries.

Westinghouse Electric Corporation offers incentives for these 4-H members at all levels of participation: six $1,000 scholarships nationally, expense paid trips to National 4-H Congress each November in Chicago for state winners; and four medals of honor in each county.

Winners are chosen by the Extension Service and awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council.

More information on the 4-H electric energy program is available from the County Extension Office, located in the Courthouse Annex in Pampa.

AMY CARTER runs up to her father to say goodbye on the South Lawn of the White House Friday as the president prepared to board a helicopter on his way to Camp David, Md. (AP Laserphoto)

Carter's job rating remains low

NEW YORK (AP) — While Americans overwhelmingly approve of President Carter's handling of the Iranian crisis, the twin demons of inflation and energy problems weigh heavily in their judgment of his overall performance, an Associated Press-NBC News poll says.

The result of these clashing sentiments in public opinion is a six-percentage-point jump in Carter's overall rating since a similar AP-NBC News survey was conducted in mid-October.

But even with that increase, the second in a row since Labor Day, Carter's job rating remains at a relatively low level compared to past presidents.

The latest AP-NBC News poll was taken Tuesday and Wednesday, in the fourth week of the crisis triggered by the seizure of American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, Iran. The survey was completed before Carter's news conference of Wednesday night.

Thirty percent of those interviewed this week rated

Carter's work overall as excellent or good, up from 24 percent last month.

Forty-nine percent gave Carter's work an "only fair" rating, about the same as the 50 percent in the mid-October survey. Eighteen percent rated his efforts poor, down from 24 percent. Three percent of the 1,381 adults interviewed across the country by telephone were not sure, versus 2 percent last month.

Carter's job rating now stands 11 points above the historic low point of less than three months ago — in early September — when only 19 percent of those polled gave him good or excellent rating.

A major part of this improvement for Carter came from his handling of the Iranian crisis.

Sixty-seven percent said they approved of Carter's handling of the crisis and only 22 percent disapproved. Twelve percent of the 1,381 adults interviewed across the country by telephone had not heard of the crisis or were not sure.

Thus, with substantial public approval of his work on the crisis, public opinion on Carter has improved quite a bit recently. But it remains low by historical standards. For example, Richard M. Nixon's rating did not reach these low levels until early 1974, as the Watergate scandal built toward its conclusion and the president resigned. Lyndon B. Johnson's rating as president never dropped as low as Carter's.

The major reasons for the still-depressed ratings are the public perceptions that Carter has mishandled the nation's economy and the country's energy problems.

For example, only 15 percent of those interviewed this month gave Carter good or excellent marks for his work on the economy, up a bit from last month's 13 percent. Forty percent rated his handling of economic problems only fair; 42 percent said his efforts had been poor and 3 percent were not sure.

On energy, 19 percent gave Carter top marks, up slightly from 17 percent in mid-October. Forty-two percent called his energy efforts only fair, up from 35 percent last month.

Have interest rates peaked?

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Put two or more Wall Streeters in the same place these days, and the question is bound to come up: have interest rates peaked?

That was just what happened over and over again this past week as nearly 1,000 people who make their living in the stocks and bonds business made their annual pilgrimage to Boca Raton for the convention of the Securities Industry Association.

While they golfed, partied and did some collective worrying over whether the markets would fare better in the 1980s than they did in the inflation-plagued 70s, the markets themselves were staging a moderate rally on Wall Street.

The spark for that advance was a continuing decline in interest rates from the record highs they reached in October, after the Federal Reserve announced a stringent new plan to restrict credit.

Rates on some U.S. government securities that soared above 12.5 percent in late October were down to just above 11 percent in the waning days of November.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 10.58 to 822.35.

Rookies graduate from fire academy

Six Pampa men were among the 24 area fire fighters who recently graduated from the Amarillo Fire Academy.

Receiving diplomas in the graduation exercises were: Bryan Going, Tom Wheeler, Wayne Smith, Kelvin Randall, Daniel Rose and Gary Stevens.

Assistant chief for the Pampa Fire Department, J. D. Ray said the academy provided a "good basis" for fire-fighting.

Academy classes include basic fire-fighting, fire streams, ladder practices, mathematics and arson investigation.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — More than 100 investors have lost between $10,000 and $1 million each in a multimillion-dollar land investment swindle, a newspaper here reported.

The Morning Union of Springfield reported Friday police were seeking Longmeadow businessman Philip R. Cohn in connection with a pyramid-style deal, which promised investors a 30 percent return on their money in 90 days.

The report said businessmen and lawyers had invested $14 million to $18 million during the scheme's four years of operation. Authorities have refused to comment on the report.

MIAMI (AP) — The 1979 Atlantic hurricane season, which included two of this century's most destructive hurricanes, has ended quietly.

Hurricane Frederic hit Mobile, Ala., and Pascagoula, Miss., in August, causing a record $2 billion in damage.

Hurricane David, with 165 mph winds, claimed an estimated 1,200 lives in the Dominican Republic in August.

SHOULD A CHILD ATTEND THE FUNERAL

Some parents try to protect their children against the reality of death by not talking about it and keeping them from direct experience with death. As a result, when death becomes unavoidable in a child's life, he is totally unprepared to meet it, and it frequently has traumatic effects.

Gardening by moon signs

BY LOIS BOYNTON

The moon will be increasing: 1st through noon the 3rd; 24 - 31. The moon will be decreasing: from noon the 3rd through 31st.

The fruitful signs are: 5 - 6 (Cancer); 15 - 16 (Scorpio); from 2 p.m. the 23rd until 4:40 p.m. the 25th (Pisces).

The semi-fruitful are: 1st (Taurus); 12 - 14 (Libra); 19 - 20 (Capricorn); 28 - 29 (Taurus).

The barren signs are: 3 - 4 (Gemini); 7 - 9 (Leo); 10 - 11 (Virgo); 17 - 18 (Sagittarius); 21st until 1:50 p.m. the 23rd; 26 - 27 (Aries); 30 - 31 (Gemini).

It is good reason that the American Indians called December the "long night moon," because winter comes officially this month. We will be experiencing the coming of the year's shortest day. The first day of winter precedes Christmas only a few days. We will all be caught up in the festive preparations of Christmas, but let us also pause to enjoy the year's ending.

During winter days we do expect a bit of leisure and relief from many garden chores. But there is no shortcut in the basic winter routine if one wishes to ensure a more productive garden in the season ahead.

When the leaves have fallen and the flowers are gone, it is possible to look at everything with a clear eye and evaluate the success of your basic planting plan. Are the evergreens placed correctly, or should another one be added? Evergreens make strong color contrast against the bare trees. When the deciduous tree leaf out, we tend to forget the evergreens that do so much for the yard during the empty winter months. It is then they come into their own. For all their sturdy independence, they do need care. They should not be fed regularly and watered during dry spells and should have additional watering before the ground freezes.

Plant tulip bulbs the 1 - 2 or 19 - 20. Give each bulb a generous handful of bone meal, stirred into the bottom of each hole. If rodents are a problem, plant each bulb inside a tin can whose ends have been removed. Bulbs planted at the same depth should bloom at the same time, if they are the same variety. For a succession of bloom, vary the depth, from five to seven inches. However the shallower - planted bulbs will produce several small bulbs and smaller blooms while the ones planted deeper will give you one bloom and will be more likely to flower again the following year. Tulips thrive in sunny places and fairly rich well cultivated and well drained soils. They are not as permanent as daffodils, but some varieties will go on increasing for years, we have often had them to last for ten years, when planted as deep as eight inches.

To force lilies - of - the - valley, put roots in pots of half leaf mold and potting soil, place inverted pots over them and put in a warm place.

It is a good time to trim evergreens, so that the branches can be used in floral arrangements in the house or for Christmas greens. This is the season when evergreens come into their own.

When bringing them inside for use in your Christmas decorations, they will be dirty and dusty. They should be washed and cleaned well so that their leaves can breathe properly for them to last well. Then put the stems into a pail of hot water until they become turgid. Once arranged, keep the water level topped up daily.

Have little house plant food solution ready mixed. Fill up with this from time to time.

It is surprising how much color one can create from a collection of evergreen trimmings. The color can be emphasized by the inclusion of a few fresh flowers or berry clusters.

To correct an omission from last month's column: It is the nandina and not the pyracantha berries that hold their color and do not shrivel or get soft when brought inside and used for floral arrangements. The should be kept standing in water and away from direct sunlight.

Newly planted evergreens and trees should be provided special protection from the intense winter sun. Screens of burlap or branches of pine or other suitable evergreens will give satisfactory protection.

Wrap young trees from the ground up to the first branches with four inch waterproof heavy duty kraft paper. This can be ordered from nursery or seed catalogs. This will protect your newly set trees for a season against knowing animals and sun scald.

Pruning of fruit trees should proceed even in cold weather. Always make clean cuts, leaving seven to eight buds on the main branches.

Grape vines may be safely pruned now and until the end of February. When pruning, remember the fruit will be born near the base of new growth yet to appear, on canes from this year's growth.

Eliminate all but six to eight canes of last year's growth. Cut back the remaining canes to leave no more than five or six buds each. Each new shoot should beat two or three clusters, depending on the productivity of the variety and the vigor of the plant. Not all shoots will bear fruit.

After pruning, side dress the vines liberally with well - rotted manure and a low - nitrogen mixture.

The most important point in buying your Christmas tree is to make sure that the tree is reasonably fresh. Bang the tree hard up and down on the pavement. If the needles fall to the ground in a shower, look for another tree. After getting the tree home, make a fresh cut from the base and stand the tree in a pail filled with lukewarm water, check the pail from time to time and keep it filled with sugar water to help preservation.

December is the last page on the calendar, but there is no end to the garden year. May the joyful song of Christmas with its peaceful, loving strain fill your hearts with cheer and gladness 'til the yuletide comes again.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent to President Carter a plan for complete renovation of the Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison, one of the oldest in the nation.

The proposal, included in a House-Senate compromise on a bill providing funding for the Department of Justice, calls for the maximum security prison to be renovated into a medium-security facility by 1985.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new public television series aimed at encouraging an interest in science by pre-teenagers will make its debut on Jan. 14, the National Education Association said Saturday.

The series is being produced by the Childrens Television Workshop and will be broadcast daily in late afternoon by the more than 280 member-stations of the Public Broadcasting Service.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Predictions that many of the world's mineral resources will soon be exhausted are exaggerated, according to a study released by the Center for Strategic and International Studies at Georgetown University here.

Entitled "Strategic Mineral Dependence: The Stockpile Dilemma," the report says such forecasts fail to take into account factors "such as the impact of price in stimulating new discoveries and in making economic what have hitherto been too costly reserves," the study says.

Pampa takes third in Hereford tourney

HEREFORD-Pampa failed to solve Lubbock Monterey's height advantage Friday in the semi-finals of the Hereford Basketball Tournament.

Lubbock's Trav Clardy, a 6-6 pivot, poured in 35 points and dominated the backboards to help drop Pampa into the loser's bracket, 58-40. Andy Huelett, also 6-6, lent Clardy support up front.

Lubbock jumped off to an 11-2 lead as Pampa had trouble shooting over the tall Plainsmen. The Harvesters hurt themselves by committing 23 turnovers.

Pampa made a strong surge in the second half after trailing by 20, 29-9, at intermission, but there just wasn't enough time left on the clock.

Back to back baskets by Pampa guard Joe Jeffers pulled the Harvesters within 11, at 49-38, but there were only two minutes to go in the game.

Ronnie Faggins, who scored 14 of his 18 points in the second half, was Pampa's top scorer. But he was the only Harvester in double-digit as Jeffers, Kyle Bradford, and Cedric Parker followed with 6 points apiece. Steve Glover added 2.

Parker and Faggins had 9 and 7 rebounds respectively. Faggins, a 6-5 junior, led the Harvesters to a heart-throbbing 48-46 victory over Amarillo High to claim third place Saturday. The win evened the Harvesters record at 3-3.

The Harvesters hit their first five shots from the floor to break away to a 15-9 first-quarter advantage, but the Sandies bounced back to tie the score at 23-all at halftime.

Amarillo threatened to break far out in front by hitting its first three shots at the beginning of the third quarter, but the red-hot Faggins put the Harvesters out in front to stay, 31-29, by connecting on four out of five shots from the floor.

Pampa led by five, 37-32, going into the fourth quarter where the Sandies cut the lead to one point on four separate occasions.

Pampa led 47-46 with one second showing on the clock when Harvester guard Joe Glover was fouled. Glover sank the first foul shot and missed the second one, which was grabbed off by a Amarillo player. He heaved a desperation shot the length of the floor that was way off the mark just as the buzzer sounded.

Faggins, who scored most of his points from the 15-foot range, led all scorers with 26 points. He also had a half-dozen rebounds, blocked three shots, and had three steals.

Joe Jeffers added 10 points, Kyle Bradford and Steve Glover, 4 points apiece. Cedric Parker and Jim Agan, two points each.

In girls action, Kellye Richardson drilled in 28 points to pace Pampa to an easy 58-39 win over Lubbock Dunbar Friday in the consolation bracket. Bobbie Skaggs added 12 points for Pampa.

Boxer's death to be probed

NEW YORK (AP) — As a subcommittee of the House of Representatives prepares to join the list of groups investigating the death of boxer Willie Classen, Wilford Scypion, the unbeaten middleweight who administered the 10th-round knockout last Friday that led to Classen's death, says he has no intention of quitting the ring.

"I owe it to myself to continue fighting," said Scypion. "I am going to be the world champion. I know it won't mean much to the Classen family, but if they see me become the champion, maybe they will say this is what Willie had to go for."

"I owe it to Willie to give him a world championship."

Rep. Edward P. Beard (D-R.I.), chairman of the labor standards subcommittee of the House Education and Labor Committee, said Friday in Washington that the state investigations of the bout "may not be enough" and a federal probe may be necessary.

Beard, one of the sponsors of a bill to establish a federal boxing board, was scheduled to arrive here today.

Classen, 29, a Puerto Rican-born father of four, died Wednesday night of brain injuries suffered in the fight five days earlier.

Scypion, contacted in Houston, said he felt the fight should have been stopped in the ninth round. Instead, referee Lew Eskin did not call a halt until 12 seconds into the 10th round, after the 29-year-old Puerto Rican-born father of four had been knocked through the ropes.

THE BALL pops from the grasp of Texas A&M running back Curtis Dickey (22) just after he crosses the Texas goalline to put the Aggies ahead of Texas, 13-7, in the second quarter Saturday in College Station. Texas defensive back Adrian Price trails Dickey by one step. The Aggies held on to upset the sixth-ranked Longhorns.

CHALLENGER SUGAR Ray Leonard takes a swing at the bowed head of world welterweight boxing champion Wilfred Benitez during the third round of their championship bout Friday night in Las Vegas. Leonard won the fight and the world championship with a 15th round knockout.

(AP Laserphoto)

Leonard claims boxing crown with knockout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Sugar Ray Leonard is just what he said he was going to be — a welterweight champion of the world. Now if promoter Bob Arum has his way, Leonard could get a chance to expand that world in his next fight.

"To make a long story short...you're looking at the welterweight champion of the world," Leonard said at a pre-fight press conference.

Friday night he backed up his words by stopping Wilfred Benitez in the 15th round of the richest non-heavyweight fight in history to win the World Boxing Council welterweight title.

The 23-year-old Leonard said he would be happy to give the 21-year-old Benitez a rematch. But Arum said "My recommendation to the Leonard people will be that they go fight Pipino Cuevas next. I have reason to believe he (Cuevas) will accept."

Cuevas is the power-punching World Boxing Association welterweight champ. Also looming in Leonard's future is former lightweight champion Roberto Duran.

There's no doubt that the unbeaten Leonard's 21st television appearance in 26 fights was an artistic success. But the 1976 Olympic hero had to share the national television spotlight with middleweights Vito Antuofermo and Marvin Hagler and light heavyweight Marvin Johnson.

Antuofermo retained the undisputed middleweight championship by fighting a 15-round draw with Hagler on the Leonard-Benitez card at the Caesars Palace Sports Pavilion. Johnson won the World Boxing Association light heavyweight title by knocking out Victor Galindez in the 11th round at the New Orleans Superdome.

The middleweight fight was action-packed all the way, and Arum said he will offer Antuofermo a lot of money — he got $150,000 Friday night — to make his next defense a rematch against Hagler, who got $40,000. "That's the fight the public wants to see," said Arum.

However, Jose Sulaiman, president of the WBC, said that Antuofermo must defend next against Alan Minter of Britain, currently ranked No. 1. Failure to do so could lead to the withdrawal of title recognition. The WBA and WBC already has split every title but the middleweight.

After Antuofermo and Hagler, put the Caesars Palace crowd of 4,600, including heavyweight champions Larry Holmes and John Tate, on an emotional high, Leonard and Benitez came on for the million-dollar showdown of unbeaten fighters.

Benitez, who was paid $1.2 million, went into the fight with a 37-0-1 record. Leonard got $1 million.

There was some criticism about referee Carlos Padilla stopping the fight so near the end, but Benitez said: "I don't have a question about the fight. He's a tremendous champion and he won the fight."

Leonard, who weighed 146, had the fight clinched on the cards of all three judges going into the 15th round, and Benitez needed a knockout to win.

"I felt I had the edge going into it (the final round) but you never know," said Leonard. So, he did not take it easy.

Wheeler surges past Grandfalls

SUNDOWN—Wheeler scored on four of its first five possessions enroute to an easy 31-6 Class B quarterfinal victory over Grandfalls Friday night.

Wheeler is now 12-0 on the season and will meet Valley View, which defeated Windthorst, 21-14, in the semi-finals.

The Mustangs were overwhelming, rolling up 484 yards while holding Grandfalls to 169 total yards.

Wheeler started things rolling on the very first play of the game when Benny Baker took a screen pass and raced 73 yards for a touchdown.

Baker finished the night with 112 rushing yards on only 13 carries.

After Baker's first score, the Mustangs continued to take command the rest of the night.

Wheeler went on a 62-yard, 5-play scoring march following a Grandfalls punt late in the first quarter. Baker went over from 20 yards out with nine seconds to go in the first period.

Mike Evans, who booted four conversions, made it 14-0 with his PAT.

Wheeler's next TD came 7:14

Giants may boost Cowboys' morale

IRVING, Texas (AP) — There's just something about the New York Giants that causes the heavens to smile on the Dallas Cowboys and their 38-year-old quarterback, Roger Staubach.

The struggling Cowboys are in dire need of good fortune and the Giants usually provide it.

The Cowboys host their perennial good luck charms at 3 p.m. CST Sunday in a sold-out Texas Stadium.

Dallas has a 10-game winning streak over New York and a whopping 25-9-2 all-time record.

Staubach has a 15-1 career mark against the Giants. He's had seven games of 200 yards passing or more against New York.

He rallied the Cowboys to a 16-14 last-second victory over New York Nov. 4 after rookie Phil Simms had helped the Giants build a seemingly insurmountable 14-6 lead.

Since then the Cowboys have lost to Philadelphia, Washington and Houston.

They have dropped into a second-place tie at 8-5 in the National Conference Eastern Division with Washington a game behind Philadelphia.

"We expect Dallas to be fresh and at a season high," said Giants Coach Ray Perkins.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry hopes so.

"We can win three in a row and take the division championship," he said. "I believe our chances are excellent. I was very much encouraged by our performance against Houston although we lost (30-26). Philadelphia is in the driver's seat because we still have to play them at home."

The Giants have a 6-7 record but are 6-2 since Simms took over at quarterback.

Wilson gets new contract

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M football coach Tom Wilson received a contract extension from the university's board of regents Friday.

The regents unanimously approved a motion to lengthen Wilson's contract until Jan. 1, 1983.

"Coach Wilson has demonstrated personal qualities of leadership, character and integrity that reflect credit upon Texas A&M University," said regent John Blocker of Houston.

Rockets dominate Atlanta again

HOUSTON (AP) — During the past two seasons, the Atlanta Hawks seemed to own the Houston Rockets, beating them in eight of 10 games, including two straight in last year's playoffs.

The Rockets, who have a new coach this year in Del Harris, seem to have figured out the Atlanta mystique with wins in all three of their meetings this year, including a 106-95 victory Friday night.

Calvin Murphy says the difference is Houston's reserve corps.

"The key this year is our bench," he said. "Moses (Malone) didn't have a real good game tonight, and we still won big."

"Last year, their bench would come in and score quite a few points, then the regulars would play on even terms," he said. "This year we have a much stronger bench."

The normally high-scoring guard, who had problems putting points on the board early in the season, said his shooting and his team seem to be solidifying now.

"I had a new coach this year and I was trying to impress him, but I didn't really know when I should shoot," Murphy said. "Harris told me, 'Murf, you're playing good defense. When you get your shot, shoot the ball.'"

"This really helped me," he said. "The fact that my teammates kept feeding me the ball even when I wasn't shooting well made a big difference, too."

He had no problems hitting the hoop in Friday night's National Basketball Association game as he pumped in a game-high 31 points.

It was Rick Barry who gave Houston its early impetus, however, scoring 11 of the Rockets' first 23 points as Houston burst to a 23-11 lead late in the first quarter and took a 58-49 advantage into the locker room. Barry finished the game with 20 points.

They extended their lead early in the third quarter, outscoring Atlanta 14-5 in the first three minutes of the period to take a 72-54 advantage.

Atlanta rallied behind the shooting of John Drew to score 10 straight points and cut the lead to 72-64 with 5:45 left in the quarter.

But Houston cut off the rally and built the lead back to 17 points at 102-85 with 3:42 left to play.

Dan Roundfield led the scoring for Atlanta with 22 points, followed Tom McMillan with 17 and Eddie Johnson with 14.

Eleven Harvesters named to 1979 all-district grid team

Eleven Pampa Harvesters were named today to the 1979 All-District football squad.

Amarillo High fullback Mark Mathiasmeier was named offensive player of the year while his coach, Larry Dippel, was tabbed as coach of the year.

Metzger in pain

HOUSTON (AP) — San Francisco Giants shortstop Roger Metzger is in "a lot of pain" following surgery to repair four severed fingertips on his right hand, a hospital spokesman said.

Metzger, a former Houston Astros Golden Glove shortstop, was building garage shelves Thursday at his home in Brenham, about 80 miles west of here, when his power saw apparently hit a knot in the wood and jerked into his hand.

Although relatives gathered the severed fingertips and carried them to the hospital, surgeons decided to suture the fingers, which were sliced just below the fingernail.

Hollywood harassed by law officers

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, local investigators and National Football League officials said Friday they don't know anything about an investigation of former Cowboy Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson.

"Anytime there is an investigation we would obviously be aware of it," said Cowboys President Tex Schramm.

Henderson said Thursday law officers have been harassing him in recent weeks and questioning friends about his activities. He recently retired after coach Tom Landry put him on waivers, and he suggested his dismissal came because of the alleged investigation.

"There is absolutely no reason, other than the one Tom (Landry) gave, for Henderson's being placed on waivers," said Cowboy official Gil Brandt Friday.

Landry said at the time Henderson was not playing well enough to keep his starting berth, and demoting him would be detrimental to the team's effort.

Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade, local police investigators, and Jack Danahy of NFL Securities all denied any investigation into Henderson's activities.

Landry warned a recent team meeting to avoid drug involvements. Henderson said, apparently after the coach heard that some Cowboy players were mentioned in a state investigation.

"It is my understanding that two of our players' names did come up in the investigation of a doctor over in East Texas," said Schramm, "and authorities asked to talk to them."

Newcomer award goes to Shocker

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — It wasn't a good year for Wichita State football, but freshman quarterback Prince McJunkins emerged at mid-season to give the Shockers hope for better seasons.

McJunkins got his chance in the third game of the season and eventually nailed down the role of starting signal-caller. He completed the year with 834 yards in offense, one-third of the team's total.

For his performance, the former Muskogee, Okla., High School standout was named this weekend as the Missouri Valley Conference's newcomer of the year.

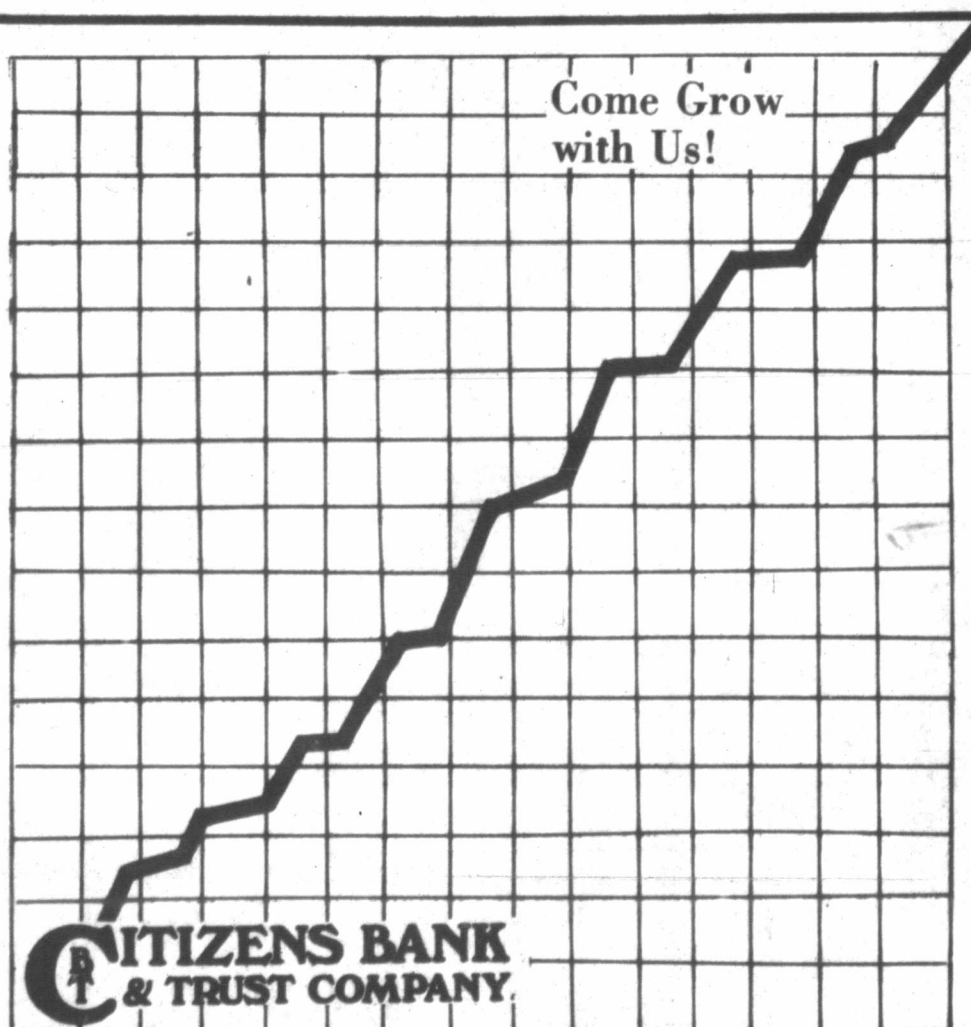

McJunkins finished the season as the team's third-leading rusher with 290 yards. He led the team in scoring and completed 45 of 99 passes for 584 yards and three touchdowns.

"Prince is really the kind of young man with which we want to build our program," said Coach Jeff Jeffries, whose squad went 1-10. "When we saw him on film last year, he had all the tools which we desired in one of our quarterbacks. There were several other schools recruiting him, so we truly were lucky to get Prince."

McJunkins credited Jeffries with keeping the Shockers in a good mental attitude.

"Coach Jeffries was really an inspiration to all of us," McJunkins said. "He kept everybody enthusiastic about the game. You might say he was the driving force which kept us going."

"We had a lot of younger players in key positions this year," McJunkins said. "The older guys kept telling us that with our experience we should be much better next year, and we will be."

Texas knocked out of Sugar Bowl by A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — David Hardy and David Appleby of Texas A&M kicked Texas out of the Sugar Bowl Saturday as unranked A&M upset No. 6 Texas 13-7 before a record crowd of 69,017 at Kyle Field.

A Houston victory over Rice puts Houston in the Cotton Bowl, with Arkansas, another Southwest Conference team, claiming a Sugar Bowl spot.

Texas, falling to 9-2 for the season, will meet Washington, 8-3, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso on Dec. 22.

The Longhorns could have clinched a place in the Sugar Bowl had it defeated A&M, which avoided its first losing season since 1973 by raising its record to 6-5.

Texas, playing without its entire starting backfield who were sidelined with injuries, had to rely almost entirely on its nationally third-ranked defense, and it was not enough against aroused A&M. Hardy kicked first-half field goals of 23 and 22 yards and Curtis Dickey, returning from a rib injury, flashed 20 yards as A&M took a 13-7 halftime lead.

Hardy's first field goal was set up when Ted Constanzo punted only 27 yards to the A&M 40.

His second three-pointer came after Appleby had boomed a 49-yard punt and Texas was penalized 15 yards to its 18-yard line. Leroy King fumbled at the 28, with Carl Grulich recovering and Hardy booted his field goal with only 1:37 left in the first half.

*Johnny "Lam" Jones then fumbled Hardy's high kickoff and Darrell Adams recovered at the Texas 21.

On second and 9, Dickey took a pitchout and headed right, pulled up as if to pass and raced through the startled Longhorns for a touchdown.

Houston routs Rice

*HOUSTON (AP) — John Newhouse shocked Rice with three first-half touchdown runs including a 64-yarder as 10th-ranked Houston blasted the Owls, 63-0 Saturday to gain a share of the Southwest Conference championship and earn its third trip to the Cotton Bowl in four years.

Houston's victory, coupled with Texas A&M's upset of sixth-ranked Texas, left the Cougars tied for the SWC crown with Arkansas, both with 8-1 league records.

Houston, which shared the title with Texas Tech in 1976 and won it outright last season, gets the Cotton Bowl berth against Big Eight runner-up Nebraska by virtue of its victory over Arkansas earlier in the season.

The Cougars, 10-1, rolled to a 35-0 halftime lead on Newhouse's runs of 1, 64 and 21 yards and runs of 9 yards by David Barrett and 12 yards by Allen Polk.

There was little apparent interest in the Rice-UH game after the Cougars took their big second-quarter lead. Instead, the red-and-white clad Houston band cheered to the playing of the Aggie War Hymn throughout the rest of the game as they followed Texas A&M's upset.

The loudest cheering in the game came after each periodic announcement of the Aggies' lead in College Station. When the final score was announced, the Aggie War Hymn rang out once again.

Houston made it a rout in the third quarter when Terald Clark scored on a 12-yard run and Polk got his second score from two yards out.

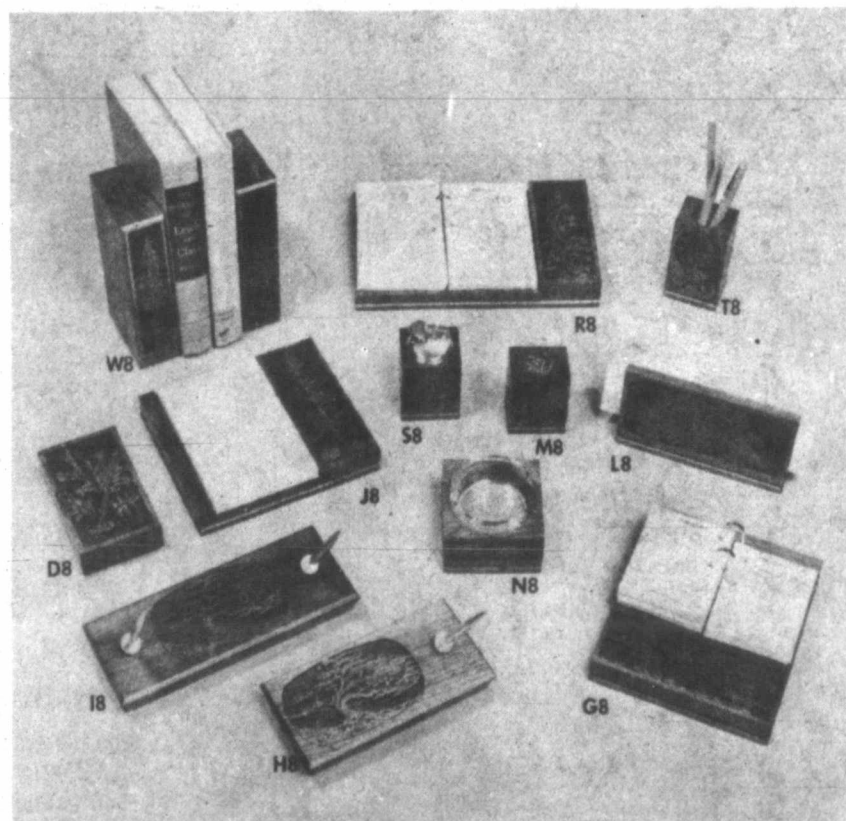

Third-string quarterback Mark Jermstad scored Houston's seventh touchdown on an 11-yard run midway through the fourth quarter, and Eddie Wright scored on a 2-yard run with 1:01 left to play to complete the victory.

It's nice to feel so good about a meal.

Finalists for Lombardi award are selected

HOUSTON (AP) — Four stars from Southern California, Pittsburgh, Texas, and North Carolina State were selected Saturday as finalists for the 10th Lombardi Award honoring the outstanding collegiate football lineman.

They are Brad Budde, Southern California guard, Hugh Green, Pittsburgh defensive end, Steve McMichael, Texas defensive tackle, and Jim Ritcher, North Carolina State center.

The winner will be selected Jan. 17 at a $125-a-plate dinner for the benefit of American Cancer Society research.

A committee of 100 coaches, writers, and broadcasters selected 12 candidates and then reduced the field to four. A final vote will select the successor to Bruce Clark, the 1978 winner from Penn State.

MRS. THAD GREENE

Paula Hickey wed to Thad Dodds Greene

In a recent ceremony in Central Baptist Church, Paula Marie Hickey became the bride of Thad Dodds Greene. The Rev. George Warren, assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Jessie Fields of 418 N. Wynne. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Greene of Route 1.

The bride wore a formal white gown featuring full lace sleeves and a chapel length train. Tiny pearls adorned the crown of the waist length veil.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Jamie Greene, sister of the bridegroom. Tammy Greene, the bridegroom's cousin, was flower girl. Candlelighters were Amie Greene, the bridegroom's sister, Kelly Fields, the bride's sister, and Marinda Brandt.

Best man was Jim Bill Walters. Will Greene, the bridegroom's cousin, was ring bearer. Seating guests before the ceremony were Clyde Coffee and Monte Williams.

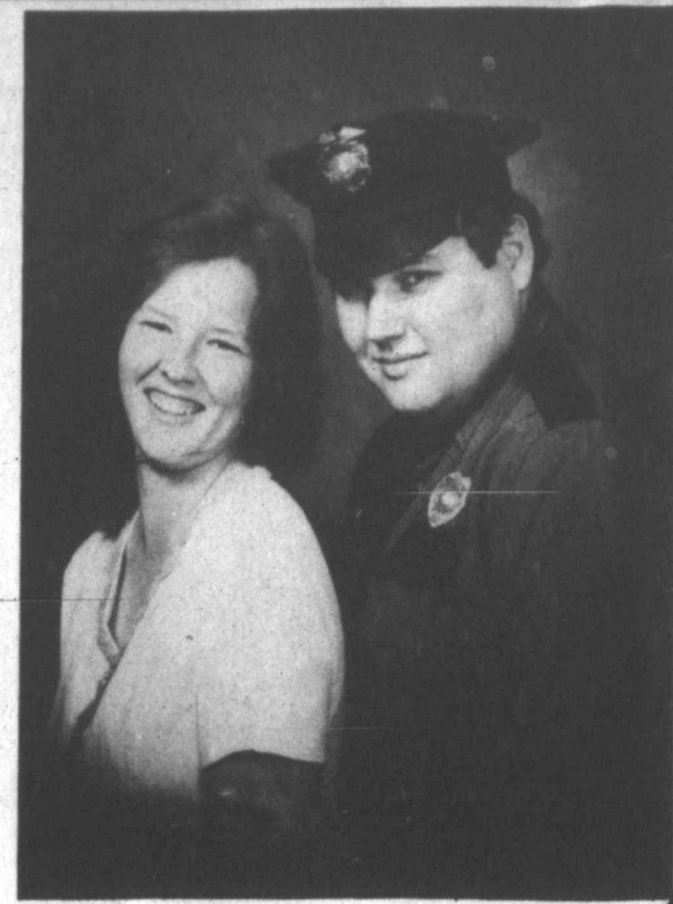

Providing music was Dixie Danner, who played the piano and also presented vocal selections.

Serving at a reception in the church parlor were Donna Turner and Nancy Morgan. The tiered cake was made by the bridegroom's mother.

After a honeymoon to Red River, N.M., the couple is at home at 1217 S. Sumner. The bride is a student at Pampa High School and the bridegroom is employed in the cattle business.

MRS. TOMMY BRUCE

PANSY RUTH RICHARDSON AND JERRY EVERETT PALMER

Miss Richardson to wed Dec. 4

Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Richardson of Skellytown announce the engagement of their daughter, Pansy Ruth, to Jerry Everett Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.S. Palmer of Borger.

The couple will exchange wedding vows Dec. 4 at the Bible Baptist Church in Borger.

The prospective bridegroom is an employee of the City of Borger Police Department.

MENDING MATURE MARRIAGE

By Louise Pierce

Adapt; don't resist change

My Aunt Ella reared me in a no-nonsense home, meaning no dancing, no card playing, no movies or ballgames or even fishing on Sunday.

After Otis and I were married, he brought out his rod and reel during one of her visits. She said severely, "Nobody catches fish on Sunday." He smiled. "I do." She countered, "If you do, they won't taste good." He argued, "I think they will. I'll catch them and I bet you'll eat them with me." He did. And she did.

I never upset her by telling her that I had learned to play bridge and loved it. But Otis told her. He never hid anything he disapproved of. When he gave out the story of the card playing, Aunt Ella was horrified and exploded, "I raised Louise right. If you've let her stray, you'll be held accountable." He laughed. "She's strayed just far enough to enjoy life a little more than she used to. Okay?" My dear old auntie nodded reluctantly. "All right, maybe so. Every generation has got to change a few customs, I suppose. Maybe some day you can even liberate my thinking a little." Long before she died at 93, he had.

A friend of mine was a church secretary during the no-card-playing days. When she noted that the book racks in the sanctuary had been emptied of pencils, she rushed to the nearest dime store and bought enough packages of short, cheap ones to supply the whole congregation. The first Sunday after that, her husband started to fill out a church form and whispered to her, "Have you read what's on these pencils?"

She hadn't, but she did so now. Printed on each one were the words, "Let's Play Bridge!"

Well, most of us live more leniently and more comfortably now. And let us hope that we can adapt to whatever changes the youngsters of today and tomorrow bring about. We need to let them have their say with us, the way we had ours with our folks.

Even more importantly, we need to consider whatever changes our mates want in our life styles. If we fly off the handle at first mention of any deviation from our status quo of half a century, more or less, we may hurt the pride of our mates as well as their initiative and their desire to improve uninteresting routine. We may not relish the suggested changes. We may offer counter measures. But, for continued compatibility, we need to listen and consider and negotiate and finally reach happy agreement with our mates.

DEAR LOUISE: B.R. wants us to go to dance classes at the advanced age of 68! Neither of us ever waltzed or fox-trotted in our lives — and I can't even think of doing the modern stuff. But he says we sit at home too much since we're retired and we ought to get out of our shell and have a little fun. He knows some Golden Oldies couples who learned to dance and now kick up their heels at least twice a week.

Well, I like the shell we've lived in for 44 years. I could be happy watching TV every night for as long as we live. Do you agree with me — or with B.R.? HIS WIFE.

DEAR H.W.: If you've been reading my columns, you know I'm on your husband's side. I'm for fun — filled activities with other couples and pleasurable periodic changes that improve the mood of marriage.

What's "advanced" about age 68? Otis and I are in our sixties, and we were never as happy or as active as we are now. People live longer than they used to. Old — old age isn't supposed to catch up with us for another 20 or 30 years. Medical science is constantly enhancing our chances of adding life to our years as well as years to our lives.

You owe it to B.R. to give his suggestion a try. We didn't learn to dance until after we were married, and we were a little skittish about it at first. But once we started, we never stopped. You may enjoy the same exciting experience that we did. Your feet, and your spirits, may have rhythm you never suspected. And you are likely to meet new friends, broaden your outlook on life and find a refreshed relationship in your staid marriage.

Don't be a stick in the mud any longer. Climb out of the mire and get into the sunshine with B.R. Be glad to want to you.

DEAR ABBY

Don't judge mom

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is 50, has always been a model mother — until now. She and my father were divorced three years ago. Mom and I recently moved to California where we share an apartment. Now I'm suddenly finding out some things about her I never knew before.

She has been getting frequent telephone calls from a man who lives in the Middle East. She tells me he is coming to the States next month and she plans to meet him in New York! I started asking questions and learned that she had known this man for 10 years.

Now, I ask you, is this the way for a respectable 50-year-old woman to act? It's really changed the way I feel about my mother, Abby. But if you say it's all right, I'll accept your decision.

Let me know soon. I am building some bad feelings for a person for whom I've always had a lot of respect.

—TORN IN CALIF.

DEAR TORN: Don't jump to conclusions. And don't judge your mother until you have walked in her moccasins for three years. Better make that 10!

DEAR ABBY: Diane, our 21-year-old daughter, phoned last week to inform us that she and her boyfriend have decided to get married. In closing the conversation, she said, "When can we pick out my wedding dress, Mom? You're supposed to pay for it, aren't you?"

Abby, what are the obligations of the bride's parents when the bride and groom have been living together openly for over a year?

My husband and I never approved of that setup, but we accepted it since she was of age and we had no choice. Our family and friends were aware of our daughter's lifestyle; we made no effort to hide it, although we weren't exactly proud of it.

Now that the wedding date has been set, Diane expects a lovely church wedding with all the trimmings — at our expense.

Both Diane and her boyfriend work, have cars and a fairly nice apartment. I know they have nothing saved because I've had to help Diane out when emergencies and unexpected bills popped up.

My husband is a kind and generous man who will go along with my decision. My question: Under the circumstances, are we obligated to foot the bill for the kind of wedding our daughter wants?

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: No. Your obligations to Diane ceased when she became of age. Do only that which will give YOU pleasure.

Hon-Bruce vows said in Saturday ceremony

Miss Theresa Lynn Hon became the bride of Thomas Wesley Bruce in a Saturday evening ceremony in the Hobart Baptist Church. The Rev. Dennis Barton, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Gene Allen of Lamar Full Gospel Assembly, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Hon, 1329 E. Foster, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bruce, 1200 Williston.

The bride wore a formal gown of woven nylon and cotton Chantilly lace, featuring a five-tiered bouffant skirt with a full, attached chapel train. The square neckline featured a lace ruffle and front ribbon trim. Long lace sleeves were designed with ruffled lace cuffs and covered buttons. Her veil, highlighted with seed pearls, was of matching lace.

Serving as maid of honor was Jo Johnson. Bridesmaids were Cindy Hammett, sister of the bride, and Valerie Butler. Flowergirls were Jennifer Caldwell and Tammy Bruce, the bridegroom's nieces.

Serving his brother as best man was Wayne Bruce. Groomsman were Kerry Adair and Lakan Mariano. Ushers were Shaun Hon and Joe Murray. Clay Buchanan was ringbearer.

Vocalists were the bridegroom's sisters, Doretta Bruce and Sharon Caldwell. Troy Ann Dennis was pianist.

Members of the houseparty at a reception in the fellowship hall were Terri Sober, Jana Peercy, and Teresa Bruce. Jana Peercy registered guests.

The couple will live in Amarillo, where the bridegroom operates Bruce Moving and Storage in Amarillo. The couple graduated from Pampa High School in 1979.

Find out about employee benefits

When is a breadwinner's paycheck less than meets the eye?

When it's not backed by sufficient employee benefits, reports the American Council of Life Insurance.

These benefits — the most common being a pension plan, life insurance, health insurance, paid sick leave or other disability income protection and in some cases dental insurance — can be worth thousands of dollars to a family.

So, make sure you know about all your company's employee benefits, the Council advises.

There's something special about the months of August and September, reports the Council.

Usually, more babies are born in August and September than any other time, while August and September are also the months that record the fewest deaths of the year.

HOMEMAKERS NEWS

By Elaine Houston
County Extension Agent

MICROWAVE USE:

Routine servicing, careful maintenance and proper use of microwave ovens can insure many years of safe use.

If the microwave oven gets hard use or if the user tends to overlook manufacturers' use and care instructions, have it checked for possible radiation leakage at least once or twice a year. Also, check for possible radiation leakage if the oven has been moved either voluntarily or involuntarily. You can buy hand-held leakage testers for home use; however, the accuracy of some of the commercially available testers has been questioned by independent testers. Call your appliance dealer or a service representative for servicing information.

Microwave ovens sold after Oct. 6, 1971, meet the federal safety standards for microwave radiation emission levels. They do not present a radiation hazard when used according to the manufacturer's instructions. However, if your microwave was manufactured before this 1971 cut-off date, have it checked for possible leakage.

Regardless of when your microwave was manufactured, check for leakage periodically. Also, check for build-up of cooking residues on door seals. If this region is not kept clean, it may contribute to energy leakage. Clean the oven cavity, door and seals frequently with water and mild detergent. Do not use scouring pads, steel wool or other abrasives.

Never operate an oven if the door does not close firmly or if it's bent, warped or otherwise damaged. Never tamper with or inactivate the oven safety interlocks. Never insert objects through the door grill or around the door seal.

MICROWAVE RECIPES:

Stop by the County Extension Office and ask for a copy of recipes for the microwave. One leaflet is especially for cooking candy in the microwave. Call the Extension Office at 669-7429, or stop by the office in the Courthouse Annex for a copy.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS, STOCKING STUFFERS:

Accessories, fabrics, notions and sewing tools make great Christmas gifts or stocking stuffers. Belts are a fashion must this fall and range from wide to skinny. Choose from fabric belts in sashes, cummerbunds, obis or cinches. Or, select thin belts in leather or leather-like strips, braided ropes, or shiny silver or gold metals.

With emphasis on the leg, choose opaque or textured hosiery in fashion colors or skin tones if unsure of colors. If the person on your list is a bit daring, select knitted leggings to team with boots or pumps for a warm winter.

Jewelry is always a popular gift. Choose jeweled pins, clips or brooches, bead necklaces or pearl chokers and ropes. Or, select big geometric earrings and bold colored bangle bracelets. Gold or silver chains, pins or earrings are classic and always appreciated.

Hair ornaments are fun and include feathers, combs, jeweled or plain picks, clips and bows. Hats may be just the choice for your favorite female. Popular styles include the pillbox, brim, fedora or cloche.

For the homeseers on your list, give yardage of fabric teamed with notions and a pattern. Other appreciated items include a cutting board, scissors, shears, pinky shears, thread clippers, a needle board, a sewing organizer caddy, fashion or French rulers, a wall thread holder, a steam iron and - or iron cover to prevent shine when pressing, and pressing hams, rollers or boards.

For stocking stuffers, choose an assortment of thread, needles, elastic, zippers, buttons, buckles and hem, bias or twill tape. Other handy items include folding purse scissors, a tape measure with metric measurements, a knit picker to remove picks or pulls in knits, a needle threader, marking pencils and personalized embroidery name patches to sew into home-sewn garments. Also, a small sewing kit is handy for travelers.

Phi Epsilon Beta chapter has pledge ritual at meeting

Phi Epsilon Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi conducted a pledge ritual before a recent meeting, with Karen Lang joining.

The group discussed a Christmas social, planned for Dec. 15. The affair, featuring a big meal, will be for the children of members. The Thanksgiving program was given by Suzanne Stanton and Phyllis Akins. The membership committee members, assisted by Kathy Topper, president, acted as hostesses.

The next meeting will be Dec. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ready Room of the Southwestern Public Service Co.

Reception set for Luedeckes

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Luedecke, 2133 Williston, will be honored Dec. 8 at a reception celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The open house on Saturday will be from 2 to 5 p.m. in the parlor of the Central Baptist Church. Friends are invited to attend.

The former Clara Prescott married Luedecke on Dec. 26, 1929, in Cordell, Okla. They moved to Pampa in 1936. Luedecke retired from Gray County in July 1979.

Hosting the reception will be their children, Bill Luedecke of Austin, Wanda Leith of Amarillo, James Luedecke of Midland, Rondal Luedecke of Big Spring, Douglas Luedecke of Lubbock, and Johnny Luedecke of Glendale, Ariz.

The couple has 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Ticket deadline is Tuesday for Knife & Fork members

Members of the Top O' Texas Knife & Fork Club are reminded to purchase their tickets for Thursday's dinner meeting before Tuesday night. Tickets for the dinner, featuring rural philosopher and humorist Ernest Upham, are on sale at the registration desk at the Coronado Inn. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.

DR. LAMB

DEAR DR. LAMB — Six months ago I had my uterus removed because it was infected. Is it possible that I might have monthly cramps as if I still had a uterus and was having periods? I discussed this with my doctor and he said it's impossible. But every month I have severe cramps. I'm 35 years old and in good health otherwise.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My first reaction is to say no. My second reaction is to remember that people can have a phantom limb. That means that after you've had a leg amputated, for example, you may still have the sensation of having a leg. So I wouldn't entirely rule out the possibility but I would say it's most unlikely.

You might still have some increased circulation or engorgement with blood in the pelvic areas even though you've had the uterus removed and that might contribute to the sensation. After all, unless he also removed the ovaries, which I doubt at your age unless they were diseased, you still have the normal hormone cycle and are still ovulating.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 27-year-old woman. Eight years ago after my first child I had a bladder infection. I was never bothered with it again until two years ago. Since then I have had it six times. I drink a lot of fluids. The last two times I had it within 24 hours of having intercourse. What can I do to prevent this and what causes it?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I hate to tell you this but the immediate cause is probably intercourse. Many young women who have recurrent urinary tract infections develop these shortly after sexual activity. This occurs so frequently in young women during their honeymoon that it's sometimes given a special term, "honeymoon cystitis." The young woman who doesn't know this may think that her husband has given her a bad disease. This may cause the marriage to get off to a rocky start.

The problem is that the urethra that drains the bladder in the female is very short. Bacteria at the opening of the vagina gain easy access to the bladder and set up the infection.

In most instances the proper treatment is the use of antibiotics once the infection has occurred. Many antibiotics are much more highly concentrated in the urine than they are in the bloodstream. This helps to treat the urinary tract infection without overloading the body.

With this thought in mind, many specialists in urinary tract infections advise women who have recurrent urinary tract infections following sexual activity to use antibiotics to prevent the infection. The usual advice is, immediately after sexual activity, to empty the bladder totally and drink a lot of water plus take your antibiotic. Usually one antibiotic pill immediately after intercourse is effective in preventing the urinary tract infection.

Discuss this with your doctor and if he thinks you're having enough trouble to warrant it, he could prescribe an antibiotic for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 75 years old and about a year ago I lost my immediate memory. By that I mean that someone will tell me something of importance and a half hour later I won't remember it. I do not put things back where they belong and many times I misplace things. I am told to do things and later I have to ask what I was supposed to do. Otherwise, physically I am OK. I am concerned because I realize my memory is failing. Is there a cure for this? In years past my memory was great.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What a sensible letter. You understand you have a problem, are willing to admit it and want to do something about it. I really wish I could tell you that there was a perfect solution that would work in your case.

By Lawrence Lamb, M. D.

There isn't, but there are some things that will help. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 14-2, The Aging Mind. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The Health Letter I am sending you describes the kind of changes that occur frequently with advancing age and in greater detail some of the things which can be done to prevent changes or help improve such things as memory.

There really hasn't been nearly enough work done on it but I think that even people who begin to have symptoms as you do can often improve their memory with memory training exercises. In their simplest form, that means sitting down and memorizing things just as you probably learned poems and things as a student when you were younger. Do memory training of some sort every day. You might find a book that will teach you some memory training through word association and other mechanisms.

Of course, it's harder to train your memory and your thought process when you get older, but that's not surprising. It's also more difficult to train your muscles when you get older and haven't used them adequately for a long period of time. It's better to get yourself in good physical condition when you are young and stay that way, rather than try to become physically fit for the first time when you're older. It's equally important to work on developing good mental and memory ability when you're young.

AROUND 300 people attended the Beef Fiesta, sponsored Thursday by the Top O' Texas Cowbelles and the Gray County Extension Homemakers Council. Dr. Frank Orts, meats specialist with the Texas A&M Extension Service, cut up a hind quarter of beef to demonstrate the various cuts, which were later given away in drawings and also used to serve guests during a beef tasting session. Businesses and organizations from McLean, Wheeler and Pampa donated half a beef for the demonstration. Several other businesses set up educational displays and students from White Deer, McLean and Lefors attended the seminar. As part of the beef promotion, the Cowbelles presented Mrs. Nadine Arney and Homer Johnson, Genesis House directors, with a check for the group.

Physical fitness is good business practice

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Business and industry, increasingly aware of the dollars and cents value of physical fitness, purchase more athletic equipment each year than all the high schools and colleges in the nation, says a Syracuse University fitness researcher.

Gary Shine, assistant professor of health, recreation and physical education, says research has proven that physically fit employees generally have better attitudes toward their jobs, are more productive and have lower absentee rates.

"Employees are most productive between the ages of 35 and 55 and an employee's death during that time span is extremely costly to industry," Shine says. "Not only must a business rehire someone, but it must retrain and deal with the loss of contacts and experience. It's more sensible and productive for industry to get people involved in a fitness program to keep them healthy — and alive — during their prime working years."

An increasing number of employers encourage fitness by creating in-house gymnasiums, sponsoring exercise and running programs and emphasizing the benefits of physical fitness for their employees. In some cases employees are encouraged to use exercise facilities during the working day. In others, special before- and after-work hours give personnel a chance to exercise.

Some of the newly developed equipment undergoes testing at Syracuse University's Institute for Fitness Research, which designs programs for business and industry, screens youngsters for hypertension and studies the psychology and motivation affecting exercise.

The fitness institute makes use of specialists in physical education, nutrition, medicine, psychology, special education and engineering.

Gamma Beta initiates six members

Six new members were recently initiated into the Gamma Beta Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota.

President Bobbie Thomas conducted the ceremony, initiating Vicky Schaffner, Carolyn Newcomb, Sharon Palmer, Sue Tolbert, Fran Stellman and Cheryl Robbins.

Sheryl Nichols gave the program on health-food products.

The meeting, held in the home of Maria Eckhart, ended with a silent auction of handmade Christmas decorations made by the members. Assisting Maria Eckhart as hostess was Jill Duggan.

Community Choir organizing; will present concert in April

The Community Choir, which organized last year, will begin rehearsals sometime in January in preparation for an April concert, according to John Woickowski, director.

Anyone interested in singing is welcome to participate, said Woickowski, who stressed a need for basses and tenors. He also encouraged those who have experience in high school or university chorales to join the group.

A program of religious music will be presented at the April concert, for which the date has not been set. Tentatively scheduled are Heinrich Schutz' "Psalm 150" with brass, choir and organ, and Maurice Durufle's "Requiem" with organ accompaniment.

Janna Hogan and Ann Thomas served as accompanists last year, when about 40 performers sang in the community-wide concert.

New officers will be elected in January. Jason Luck is currently serving as president and Sara Hall is vice president and secretary.

For more information, call Woickowski at Pampa High School at 669-2681 or at home at 669-6709.

Opti-Mrs. Club has paint demonstration

Theresa Maness and Jackie Barrett gave a paint demonstration for a recent meeting of the Opti-Mrs. Club.

They also donated the door prize, won by Berdeana Richardson. Wanda Watson, president, conducted the business meeting. The club voted to take a fruit basket to Leisure Lodge and Pampa Nursing Center for its Thanksgiving project.

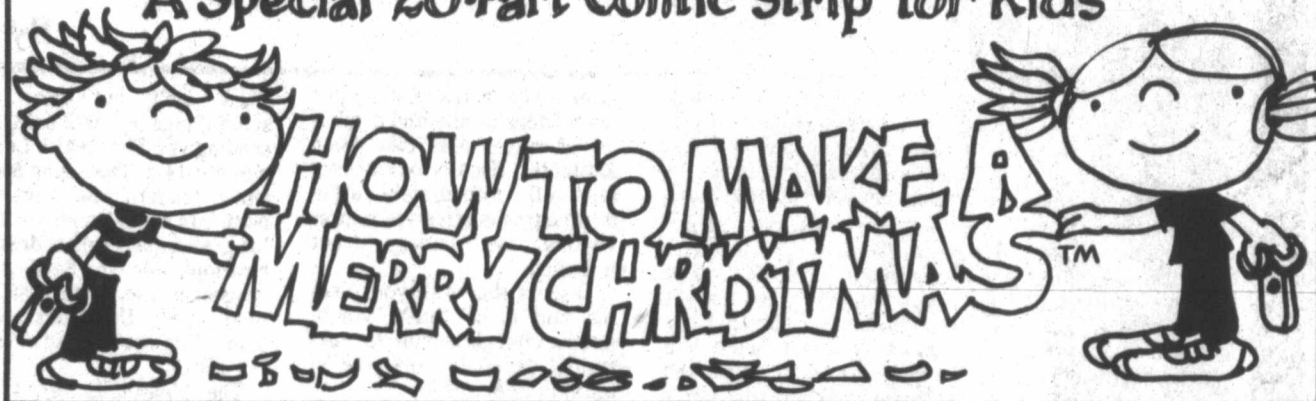

A family from Meals on Wheels will be selected for the Christmas season.

Hostesses were Tanga Hood and Jo Ann Dixon.

The next meeting will feature Mildred Prince of the Southwestern Public Service Co. demonstrating festive foods. The date for the meeting will be announced later. Gifts will be exchanged at the meeting.

Student adds 'Old West' to TSTI

An old mess hall at Amarillo's Texas State Technical Institute is undergoing a facelift, thanks to a Pampa woman.

But this facelift is unique. Sarah Walker Burrell, using designs of the Old West, has brought images of the past into the old mess hall.

Burrell, 25, is a fourth quarter interior design student at T.S.T.I., but she designed seven rooms for the new "Boot and Shoe Operations, Saddle and Tack Making" building as a third quarter student.

The building should be ready for occupancy by late December. The ceiling on the building blew off in a late October blizzard; that, and ensuing windstorms, causing a delay in work time, she said. "We're trying to make it (the building) a landmark," Burrell said of her project. "Our program has a lot of cowboys around and we wanted the building to be aesthetic and pleasing."

With those ideas in mind, she designed a saloon-style break room, complete with ceiling fans, flocked wallpaper and wall sconces.

"We wanted it to look like a saloon," she said. "And we also wanted it to have atmosphere—that's why there's going to be a low-light level in it."

Burrell designed all the rooms in the building except for two large classrooms which were repainted. She added that the new building is at least twice as big as the old boot facility.

She first heard about designing the new building last May and she presented her own design to officials in August.

"I didn't really have a budget to work with, so I just designed it the way I wanted to," Burrell said. "When I presented it to them, they said there were a few things they might want to cut but it would've been hard to do that because it would've ruined the whole effect."

Dr. James Bird, general manager of T.S.T.I., helped her because of his love for "period" decor, Burrell said. She added that although she made mistakes, she learned from them.

She viewed the design project as one more challenge for her in interior design, a challenge she loves.

"Interior design is so exciting and you can be flexible with it," Burrell said. "You can design a way to solve particular architectural problems."

An art major for two years at the University of Texas at Arlington and at New Mexico State University, Burrell said she realized she could never make a living at being an artist.

Before she began T.S.T.I.'s interior design school, she was involved in painting, among other art forms. Painting is one of the things she misses.

"I don't have as much time anymore to paint like I did," Burrell said. "But there's so many things I can do with interior design—either designing wall paper or fabrics, or clerking in a design store."

LINDA CARTER AND TOMMY HAMBY

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Carter, 1906 Chestnut, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Rozann, to Tommy Lynn Hamby of Lubbock.

The couple will exchange wedding vows Jan. 4 in St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Stephenson of Amarillo.

The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Pampa High School. She attended McMurry College in Abilene for two years and earned degrees in sociology and math education from West Texas State University. She is employed at the Bank of the West in Lubbock.

Her fiancé, who graduated from Amarillo High School in 1974, is attending Texas Tech University, where he is studying computer science and mathematics. He is employed by the TTU School of Medicine in the department of research and evaluation.

Carter sisters schedule January weddings

CYNTHIA CARTER AND ALVIN BEDFORD

Cynthia Marie Carter will become the bride of David Alvin Bedford in a ceremony Jan. 19 in the First United Methodist Church of Abilene.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Carter, 1906 Chestnut, are announcing the engagement.

Miss Carter, a 1970 graduate of Pampa High School, received a music education degree from Hardin - Simmons University in Abilene. She is church pianist and director of children, youth and bell choirs at First United Methodist Church in Abilene. She is also a voice and choir instructor at McMurry.

Bedford graduated from Cooper High School in Abilene in 1970 and received a mechanical engineering degree from Texas Tech in 1974. He is vice president of DAB Oil Service in Abilene and is also a student at Hardin - Simmons University.

20th Century Club has floral program

The Twentieth Century Club met last week in the home of Mrs. Jerry Gardner for a program on dried flower arrangements.

Mrs. Martin Stubbe presented the program, describing her hobby of making wreaths from dried flowers, weeds, seeds and pods collected from the Panhandle and the Southwest.

Mrs. Carlton Freeman, president, conducted the business session of the meeting. A book review on "Tisha", the story of a young teacher in the Alaskan wilderness, was given by Mrs. William Hunt.

Eighteen members attended. The next meeting will be Dec. 11.

TWEEN 12 AND 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Tell 'missing' sister to contact your parents

Dr. Wallace: My older sister, 18, left home and is staying in a lady's house whom I baby-sit for. My parents asked me if I knew where my sister was but I lied and said no because my sister and this lady asked me not to tell.

Last night this lady told me she thinks my dad has an emotional problem. When I told her she was crazy, she said that I was a problem child.

Please tell me what I should do about my sister. — Jan, Windsor, Ontario, Canada

Jan: Go to your sister and ask her to get in contact with your parents. If she refuses, tell your sister you feel that you must inform your parents of her whereabouts. Then do it!

Dr. Wallace: I met this really nice guy at a church camp last summer. He was extra shy and we didn't see each other too often but whenever he was near me, he would stare and smile. Now I wish I knew him better.

I live in Marysville, Calif., and he lives in Fullerton, Calif., and we don't have each other's address. Our family is moving soon to Fresno, Calif., and I have a girlfriend who has his address.

My question is this: Should I write to him and tell him I like him or should I forget the whole thing? — Connie, Marysville, Calif.

Connie: By all means write to this boy but don't frighten him away by telling him you like him. Just get him to be your pen pal and let the relationship wait until you see him again.

Dr. Wallace: My girlfriend and I talk a lot on the phone. When we can't talk, we tell each other. Last night when I called her, after a few minutes, she said someone was at the door (I heard the doorbell ring) and hung up.

Now I found out that she had another girl at her house and told the girl to go out and ring the doorbell.

I found out what happened because her brother is my boyfriend. He told me not to tell his sister or he would break up with me.

What should I do about this? I'm really upset. — Sue, Hagerstown, Md.

Sue: Wait a week, then have a little chat with your girlfriend. Don't mention the doorbell ringing incident but review the ground rules for telephone talking.

End the conversation with something like, "Don't forget, if there is some reason one of us can't talk, all we have to do is say so. We're the best of friends and friends understand." Then forget the entire incident.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20 in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Children are people, too

(First in a series)
Too often we in the child-development field have inadvertently increased the anxiety of parenthood. We have encouraged a view of children as little more than computers to be programmed by parents.

Press the right button and you can teach your child to read at age 2, we seem to suggest. Choose the proper educational program and you can raise your child's IQ by 20 points.

We must remember that children are people, too. It is vital for adults to recognize that children are complete, complex human beings with the same sensitivities and requirements for emotional support as adults.

A healthy child comes equipped with a powerful drive to learn. Most children achieve their full intellectual potential regardless of the specific child-rearing and educational practices of their parents and teachers.

If parents are not obligated to buy the latest educational toy or to enroll their child in a progressive school, does that mean they are incidental to his or her intellectual and emotional development?

No. If anything, the importance of parents to their child's growth—intellectual and emotional—has been underrated.

The magic formula for child development may not be as simple as that suggested by the familiar bumper sticker: "Have you hugged your child today?" But while love may not be enough, it does seem to foster love of learning.

Studies of youngsters in orphanages have long suggested that deprivation of affection in childhood is related to lower motivation to learn in adulthood. Later research has shown that the home is the environment for the longest-lasting learning.

A recent study by Earl Schaefer at the University of North Carolina found that children who do best in school have parents who share with them many common activities, such as reading, gardening and other hobbies. Formal instruction by parents seems far less effective than the simple sharing of ideas and interests with children, says Schaefer.

The importance of adult-child interaction underscores the disturbing nature of recent evidence that children are spending less and less time with adults and more and more time raising each other. Some researchers say parents devote less time to affectionate child rearing today than they did 20 years ago.

"The children's hour has become the cocktail hour," says Cornell psychologist Urie Bronfenbrenner, adding that the average American child spends more time watching television than in any other activity except sleeping.

Nearly 2 million "latch-key" children return to empty houses after school each day. Rising rates of youth alcoholism, pregnancy and even suicide complete the dismal picture of the increasing fragmentation of age groups.

Yet, the solutions lie less in blaming parents than in asking ourselves seriously how we can make child rearing more enjoyable.

Clearly, a host of social and economic changes—such as flexible work hours and better supplemental child-care services—could help free parents to enjoy the time they spend with their children.

Child rearing is not instinctive. Most of us need preparation not only to accept the dirty diapers and the crying in the middle of the night but to enjoy watching our children's capabilities unfold.

The joy of child rearing can be greatly enhanced by understanding children's remarkable capacities right from birth.

T. Berry Brazelton, professor of pediatrics at Harvard, has found that when parents are shown by hospital staff what their newborns can do—see, hear and respond like anyone else—they treat the babies differently and talk to and cuddle them more. This positive response lasts right through infancy.

In summary, the keys to encouraging a child's emotional and intellectual growth lie in:

1. Providing an atmosphere of love and security.
2. Encouraging parent-child interaction.
3. Respecting each child as an individual.

"The child is father to the man," wrote poet William Wordsworth. Surely we can not only teach our children but also discover more about ourselves and our world if we learn from them how to experience life with their boundless curiosity and enthusiasm.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

December 3, 1979
This coming year important goals can be realized if you don't take things for granted. Even if something is handed to you, be sure you make the most of it. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Believing you have all the answers concerning an important decision could get you off in a wrong direction today. You might lose out entirely. Get expert advice. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y., N.Y., 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Bluffs won't work today. If you don't have the competency to perform the tasks at hand, you had better seek help from someone who does. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Trying to play the big-shot role today could prove more expensive than you bargained for. Just be yourself and others will still be impressed. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may make an important judgment today based upon information from one who really doesn't know what he or she is talking about. Take care. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you have a tendency to look for an easy out by promising things you say you'll do later.

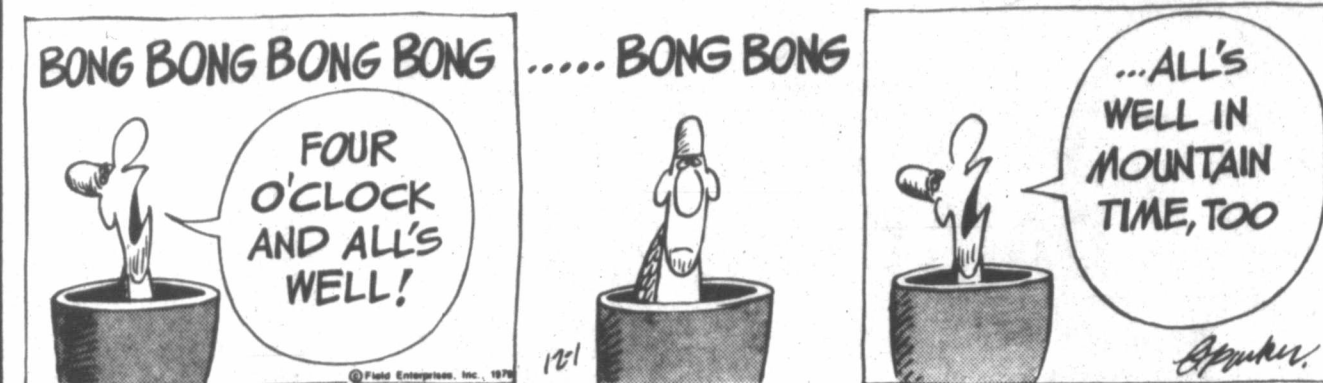

In the long run it'll be better to do what's necessary now. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're not the shrewd buyer you usually are. Today you could easily be talked into purchasing merchandise of inferior quality. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't assume others are as sincere as you are about keeping their promises. It isn't necessarily so. Get anything important to you in writing. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you're apt to rely more heavily on your feelings and intuition than you should. This could get you into trouble. Bank only on facts. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're not likely to be moderate or prudent today regarding your social interests. Waste or overindulgence could quickly gain the upper hand. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take extra care today to make certain you don't do anything to reflect on your honor or reputation. It would be difficult to regain your good status. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't try to cover up or rationalize your mistakes. You have everything to lose, nothing to gain, by taking a stand on a hopeless position. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If your material affairs appear complex and jumbled at present, look about you. Someone you're involved with might be responsible.

The Gibson triangle

By DEBBIE DUKE
Pampa News Intern

In the midst of laughter and gossiping in the Pampa High School halls, you may hear a joking word of warning about the dreaded "Gibson Triangle," in a playful reference to the Bermuda Triangle.

Three teachers with the last name Gibson instruct students at Pampa High School. Mass confusion grips students when reference is made of one Gibson and understood of another. Two of the three are related.

Beth and Gloria Gibson are sisters and both teachers at P.H.S. Beth, in her eighth year of teaching, instructs Environmental Chemistry and Physical Science, while younger sister Gloria, in her second year of teaching, instructs students on the basics and fundamentals of English I and Accounting.

Both were raised in Eunice, New Mexico, a small Southeastern New Mexico town. Beth graduated from Eunice High School, later to be followed by Gloria. Following two years at the University of Southern Mississippi, Beth graduated from New Mexico State University with a Bachelor of Chemistry Education degree in her hand. She later received her Masters degree in Chemistry from Southwestern Oklahoma State University.

Following graduation from high school, Gloria was a two-year student at the University of Southern Mississippi State University, somewhat following in her sister's footsteps. She received her Bachelor of Business Education degree, upon graduating from West Texas State University in Canyon.

Both admitted to enjoying their teaching careers immensely, glancing at each other and grinning slightly. "I think it really keeps you young," claimed Beth, looking to her sister for another opinion. "It's a big challenge," said Gloria, adding, "I love being around the kids. I think I was just made to be a teacher."

When questioned about her decision to enter the teaching field, Beth smiled and said, "I don't know why I got into it at first. But now I know I really like it. I even turned down an opportunity to become a full-time chemist to continue teaching."

Even though their mother was a teacher for several years, both agree that she had little influence in their choosing teaching as their trades.

Both Gibsons were extremely active in their college lives. Beth was a member of the Student Government and a selected member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, while sister Gloria was selected Outstanding Business Education Student in 1977-78 and Outstanding Woman of the Year in 1978-79. Both graduated from college with several honors.

Every Wednesday noon the Gibsons head "Lunch Encounters," which is a weekly rap session for students wishing to have a short time of Christian fellowship. Both agree that their main goal and reason for setting up the program is to "share with the kids the joy of a personal relationship with Jesus Christ."

If you're ever strolling the halls of Pampa High, there's no need to worry if you hear the soft, cautioning words "beware of the Gibson Triangle."

MY PREROGATIVE

By DEBBIE DUKE
Pampa News Intern

Now that football season is over, it's time to focus our support towards basketball. Maybe our basketball team, with the help of Coach Garland Nichols, will have as a successful season as our other teams so far.

I hope all of you will find time to get out to a few of our several home games and witness our guys battle in the "Green Pit."

The Harvesters will take on Plainview, there, Tuesday evening while the next home game will be Dec. 14th, when we face Liberal, Kansas.

I want to wish Coach Nichols and the team loads of good luck in the season to come.

As everyone knows, a lot of conflict is going on in Iran. 49 American hostages are still being held in Tehran, marching and demonstrating is taking place, and the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan has been burned to the ground.

I now see a certain bondage of the American people I've never really seen before. Maybe it's because there has never been a crisis like this in my 18 years, or at least not anything I was old enough to remember.

I do hope our Americans will stand behind our President and stick together during this time of despair. Now is when we really need that "close-knit" feeling. I believe that the late cartoonist Al Capp said something touching when he wrote this short note of his personal feelings entitled "America the Lovable," which really means something as we go through this time of crisis.

"It has become unfashionable to say this: it may be embarrassing to hear it, but I believe that America is the most lovely and livable of all nations."

I believe that Americans are the kindest and most generous of all people.

I believe that there are no underprivileged Americans; that even the humblest of us are born with a privilege that places us ahead of anyone else, anywhere else, the privilege of living and working in America, of renewing and repairing America; and one more privilege that no one seems to get much fun out of lately -- the privilege of loving America.

SOUND COUNTRY

Columbia Records will soon rack another winner in its newest Willie Nelson LP titled Willie Nelson Sings Kris Kristofferson. The combination of Nelson's delivery and the KK's million dollar lyrics will keep both the bearded ones in razor blades for a couple of million years.

The "Me and Bobby McGee" track features Nelson's laid back, down home country, electrified, gut-string, flat-top guitar. Nelson's talents as a musician are up front on all the cuts in this album, which makes the guitar runs on the LP worth the price of the disc. His version of "Why Me Lord" is by far the best version of this song ever recorded.

Mel Tillis is hitting again with his Elektra single "Blind In Love." This is a more pop-country flavor than Tillis has shown in quite a few offerings. But that doesn't seem to bother his fans. The single has climbed steadily up the charts.

TEXAS

By The Associated Press
TYLER, Texas (AP) — Shirley Murray hopes that Western Union's dedication to deliver all telegrams will help American's communicate their support of President Carter to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.
 The 29-year-old Tyler Junior College sophomore has mounted a mass telegram campaign something like a neighborhood petition.
 So far, she has sent three telegrams signed by 25 persons each, to the Ayatollah and a fourth with two names.
 Each telegram contains a 22-word message and 25 names, at a cost of about $1 per person.
 The message reads:
 "Tyler, Texas, Americans, stand united in their support of President Carter's firm action and demand the release of our fellow Americans."
 The wires go to the Western Union office at Chase Manhattan Bank in Tehran, and Mrs. Murray said she is depending on Western Union to see they are delivered. But, she said, she has no way of knowing if the telegrams ever reach their destination.
 "I wanted to say something to Ayatollah Khomeini. Everyone's talking about this situation, but only to one another," she said. "Even if no one except an Iranian Western Union operator gets the telegram, that would be better than just telling a neighbor."

COMMERCE, Texas (AP) — Dr. Moses Atrep has discovered a home remedy for high blood pressure that will bring tears to your eyes.
 Literally.
 Atrep, a chemistry professor at East Texas State University, and his wife, Katherine, recommend a large glass of onion juice.
 It worked, at least in laboratory rats the Atreps used in their research of prostaglandin A-1. The substance had not been discovered in plant life until the Atreps recently completed 13 years of research.

 Prostaglandin is a combination of unsaturated fatty acids in animals that can control blood pressure and smooth muscle contractions.
 "Whether it has real medicinal purposes, I don't know," Atrep said. "But this is going to open a new ball game for botanists."
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — John B. Connally, a Republican candidate for president, announced Friday a statewide steering committee of more than 3,000 Texans.
 Campaign Coordinator Jim Campbell, Pampa, said the list includes Jack Cox, former GOP candidate for governor and a Ronald Reagan backer in previous years; Paul Eggers, former Republican candidate for governor and former Texas Supreme Court Justice W. St. John Garwood, who was a Reagan delegate in 1976.
 Others include former State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison, Dallas; former Democratic state Sen. Grady Hazelwood; former Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson; Dr. Lorene Rogers, retired president of the University of Texas at Austin; Baylor University President Abner McCall and UT-El Paso President Arleigh Templeton.

DALLAS (AP) — A former Garland police officer took a chance for leniency by pleading guilty to two burglary charges, and was rewarded with two sentences of five years probation.
 Johnny Isaac Bosque, 29, could have been sentenced to 30 years in prison for his guilty pleas. Jurors deliberated three hours before deciding Thursday the former officer should not have to go to jail.
 He pleaded guilty to burglarizing a car dealership while on patrol in September of 1978 and cashing a $2,343 check he stole from the premises.
 "The life of a police officer is tough and at that time in my life I was weak and couldn't stand up to it," he said after the jury's decision. "They jury had my life in their hands. I felt like my neck was lying under a guillotine and they could have yanked the rope or given me the chance to live another day."
 "The jury didn't make a bad decision."

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Purchasing and General Services Commission agreed Friday to delay an increase in parking fees for state employees for 90 days.
 The commission also voted to appeal a state district judge's ruling that it lacks authority to raise the parking fees.
 Under the original plan approved by the commission, the present $3 per month fee would rise to $12 for a reserved space. It would remain $3 for "open lots" — those without reserved spaces. Carpoolers could get a reserved slot for $6 a month.
 The Texas Public Employees Association opposed the increase. It said the 90-day delay was its suggestion.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Traffic accidents have claimed 3,645 lives in Texas this year, the Department of Public Safety reported Friday.
 This was a 6 percent increase over the 3,451 fatalities recorded during the comparable period of 1978.
 The DPS said the deaths occurred in 3,174 fatal accidents, a 5 percent increase over the year before.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Dr. Rodolfo E. Margo, Weslaco, was named to the board of regents Friday for Pan American University.
 Gov. Bill Clements said Margo, an ophthalmologist, will serve a six-year term replacing Ruben R. Cardenas, McAllen, whose term expired.
 Clements also announced the appointment of Gary L. Thurman, Midland, to the Regulatory Practices Committee of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Petitions to force a public vote on a proposed $350 million onshore superport have been submitted to the City Council.
 "We are not unreasonable people, but this is what the council has forced us to do," said Dr. Murphy Scurry, head of the Stop Terminal On Pelican organization.
 Scurry said the referendum petitions submitted Thursday hold 3,900 signatures.

TRAVELING ZOO
TORONTO (AP) — The Metropolitan Toronto Zoo may go on the road next year.
 Director Tommy Thompson says a soft-drink delivery truck may be converted into a zoolmobile to carry small Canadian animals to schools, shopping centers and trade shows.
 "We'd have frogs and snakes and groundhogs — nothing terribly large," Thompson says. "We might get a bit exotic and have a wombat."
 That's an Australian animal resembling a small bear.

WHY STRUGGLE TO GET TO THE TOP IN SOMEONE ELSE'S BUSINESS WHEN YOU CAN START AT THE TOP IN YOUR OWN?
If you have the required investment of $9,975.00, you can have your own highly successful business.

TWO BOOMING INDUSTRIES COMBINED INTO ONE.
You will have income from two different sources, not just one. You will manufacture demand items for Banks, Savings & Loan Associations, Hospitals, Schools, Shopping Centers, Office Buildings, Retail Stores, Tourist Industry, Professional Buildings, Factories, Apartment Buildings, Motels, Restaurants, City, County, State and U.S. Agencies, and other businesses too numerous to mention.

We personally install the machinery and equipment for both industries at your location. You will be thoroughly and expertly trained in both phases of factory operations (two guarantee your complete satisfaction).

You will have a protected territory and each state will have a limited number of our factory operations — so be one of the first applicants in your area — act now — an unheard of opportunity to be in an exclusive business for yourself. Achieve total financial independence and become one of the top money makers in your area.

WHY STRUGGLE TO GET TO THE TOP IN SOMEONE ELSE'S BUSINESS WHEN YOU CAN START AT THE TOP IN YOUR OWN?
If you have the required investment of $9,975.00, you can have your own highly successful business.

TWO BOOMING INDUSTRIES COMBINED INTO ONE.
You will have income from two different sources, not just one. You will manufacture demand items for Banks, Savings & Loan Associations, Hospitals, Schools, Shopping Centers, Office Buildings, Retail Stores, Tourist Industry, Professional Buildings, Factories, Apartment Buildings, Motels, Restaurants, City, County, State and U.S. Agencies, and other businesses too numerous to mention.

We personally install the machinery and equipment for both industries at your location. You will be thoroughly and expertly trained in both phases of factory operations (two guarantee your complete satisfaction).

You will have a protected territory and each state will have a limited number of our factory operations — so be one of the first applicants in your area — act now — an unheard of opportunity to be in an exclusive business for yourself. Achieve total financial independence and become one of the top money makers in your area.
