Motorcycle Driver Sheridan
Bailed Out Of German Jail

By ANN SHERIDAN
(For Erskine Johnson, who is on vacation)

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Are you trepidulous in traffic, a freeter along the freeways?

Suppose you took over piloting a motorcycle, after three easy lessons, and they turned you loose on German highways with $5,000-10,000 worth of property in the sidecar?

It happened to me.

Nervous? You don't need to ask. But it wasn't for long.

My multi-million-dollars' worth of cargo was Cary Grant.

He went riding with me and was as calm and casual about it as he would be in a chauffeur-driven limousine out on the wide open stretches of Route 66. At least he appeared that way, so I lost my jitters and we went merrily on our way over the countryside in the American zone.

It wasn't exactly carefree touring. You've heard of Los Angeles drivers and the terrors they are in traffic. Angelenos are docile compared to the motor jockeys in Germany. Believe me.

The drive with their horns instead of the brakes, they take chances that make a hot rodder look like that retired school-teacher from Pasadena whose automobile is always for sale on the used car lots.

For my role in "I Was a Male War Bride" I had to drive a B. M. W. motorcycle which was German army issue. I'd never driven one by myself, but I was no complete stranger to the sport. Bobby Jordan used to take me on wild rides on his motorcycle and I was crazy about it.

Just Got On And Go

In Heidelberg, a taxi driver named Hans Seidel was our chauffeur. He had been a motorcycle instructor in the Wehrmacht and was captured while serving as a courier in North Africa. He was a prisoner of war in Tyler, Texas, for two and a half years. Even though a behind-the-barbed-wire resident of my home state, he probably had heard that the way Texans learn to ride is just get on and ride. Motorcycles or horses, what's the difference?

So Hans set out to teach me the short course. On the third lesson, we went to a vacant lot and he put me on my own. In an hour, I was driving alone.

We had no license for the motorcycle, but we started dashing all over the American zone. Officers in Heidelberg had been briefed not to bother us, but in the town of Neckar-Gemund we encountered a policeman who wasn't in the know, but who was conscientious about his duties.

When we stopped at an inn, the policeman demanded the license papers for the motorcycle.

We explained the situation at length and he finally let us go—with a warning that we never drive again without a license.

A short time later we took a trip to the oldest monastery in that part of the country. Rain poured down on us during the return trip and we stopped at the first convenient inn to get dry.

It turned out to be the very same inn where we had stopped before. And it had to turn out that our policeman friend saw the motorcycle parked without a light.

He was waiting for us when we came out.

There, after all his previous warning, was the motorcycle without a license. Deaf to excuses and explanations, he hustled Hans into the nearby police station. After great shouting and arm waving, with all three of us getting into the act, the policeman let Hans call the M.P.s. In five minutes those handsome boys with the arm bands had us out of the clink.

A jail is a jail, no matter what country, and we had come close enough. So we got a letter from the provost marshal and later a license for the machine.

As we toured the country, I hunted for antiques. I came back eventually with enough china to fill seven crates. When I came upon a good find, there was no place to haul it but in the sidecar with my passenger, Cary Grant and dishes! It reads like a pre-war museum.

I guess the only reason "I was a Male War Bride" is because I didn't get a chance to twist the throttle on the motorcycle in that left-handed traffic in the narrow streets. Riding a motorcycle in England was the least of the things in which I was interested right then. All my time there was spent in a hotel suite, ill with pneumonia and pleurisy.

The motorcycle was brought to Hollywood by 20th Century-Fox. I'm going to try and buy it. I'll ride it, too, out in the San Fernando Valley and maybe elsewhere. A motorcycle's no more dangerous than an automobile if you treat it with respect. I'm a very respectful girl.

Confessions Of Engel, The Romantic Swindler

By SIGMUND SAMUEL ENGEL
As Told To Edgar Brown
(Copyright, 1949, Chicago Herald-American)

Hell is said to be fresh out of anything resembling the fury of a woman scorned. Double this in spades and you get a notion of my predicament in the Singular Episode of the Spinster Sisters from Cincinnati.

Not that I ever scorned women, least of all those who were all bent over with the weight of their worldly wealth. The Freedom girls from Cincinnati weren't furious, either—they each hatched a wild idea that she owned me body and soul.

Probably these sisters' peculiar type of attractiveness wouldn't have interested me at all had I not been holed up in the Plaza, my favorite New York hotel, in pressing need of funds after my latest European adventure.

Heart Remained Young

I was now middle-aged, but my heart remained young and I still had everything required to strike out any femme I chose in the game of hearts. That time hadn't arrived when commercialism was to dictate my every act.

Circumstances were such, however, that I gave Patricia and Verna Freedom a prompt reply when they spotted me in the Plaza dining room one evening and began ogling and squirming and waving like the Cherry Sisters dodging vegetables.

These unmarried gals in their early '30s were not without a certain allure, though I didn't really appreciate it till I'd learned they were scions of wealth and had large, independent stacks of chips in their own rights.

I learned this almost immediately, once I'd stopped at their elbow in response to their strange antics and had begun rather glumly to turn on the charm.

Talked Of Wealth

They were in no way reluctant to talk about their money—possibly because they had so little, else they wouldn't have mentioned it. I wasn't peanut prattle—and I was so smitten by it that I suggested generously:

World Greats Honor Ethel Barrymore; Lionel Unimpressed

HOLLYWOOD—P.—The President of the United States and the only living former President, and a former prime minister of England think Ethel Barrymore is pretty wonderful—but her brother, Lionel, is not impressed.

Miss Barrymore, distaff ruler of America's royal family of the theatre, was 70 years old Monday. In honor of the occasion, a nationwide broadcast Monday night carried tributes from President Truman, Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and scores of other great personalities.

But at a luncheon Monday Lionel Barrymore could think of nothing more to say than:

"Well, Ethel, I'm awfully happy you are with us and I wish you many happy returns."

Studio Head Louis B. Mayer, who gave the luncheon for Miss Barrymore, said: "Gosh, that's a heck of a speech. You say more than that."

"I'm sorry," replied Lionel, "but my writer has gone to San Francisco."

"Ladies, perhaps I could offer my humble services as escort on a series of little trips about town. I would deem it an honor to be permitted to make more enjoyable the New York stay of such distinguished visitors..."

That sort of drive simply never failed. Women dream often of chivalry but seldom get any. They respond to open admiration from a man like thirsty buds to rain-fall. And you cannot lay it on too thick.

When will stupider suitors learn this basic fact of living and loving? It started, then, as a gay little ride on a carousel with two merry old maids and their courtly and deferential escort.

Routine Technique

The fact that I managed to be alone with each in turn and to convince her that she was the sole object of my affection and that I was seriously smitten was just part of the routine technique. It was strictly the story that each gal wanted most to hear.

My invitation to Cincinnati arrived, then, as I knew it would. Patricia and Verna tried to outdo each other in the warmth of their insistence. Graciously, reluctantly I yielded under their united pressure.

At the point of their departure for home I hadn't scored a blithering point in the financial realm; but I was content to put 'em on a train and bide my time, for I knew in my heart there was gold in them thar hills.

Despite my distressing lack of money I put up at the Netherlands-Plaza on arrival in Cincinnati a few days later. I well knew an older basic precept which few men learn: Be coy. Play hard to get. Seem almost unavailable.

"Why, you bad, bad boy," fumed Patricia when the girls met me downtown, and, "You're coming to our home right away," scolded Verna with an injured air.

Not Wasting Time

Again I capitulated, exactly at the right time. When I saw their truly palatial suburban estate my reasoning was verified; I was not wasting my time.

Now began a three-way romance in earnest; and now my trouble started. In New York I'd found elbow-room for my maneuvering. Here it was harder to separate the two sisters, though each was a willing conspirator in her own behalf.

As well as I could, I made love to each sister impartially. I went all out for each with my customary gay abandon. But it was inevitable, I guess, that each should be stricken with the virulent disease of jealousy.

A "showdown" came before I'd even had a chance to dig for some of that gold. One 2 a.m. in my bedroom I heard the sisters arguing heatedly in an adjoining chamber. I was the topic of discussion.

Boldly I grabbed this raging tiger by the tail. I invaded Patricia's room, very rich and genteel in silk pajamas and robe. They welcomed me in.

Things Get Messy

"I'm glad you've come. It's okay that you heard us quarreling," snapped Patricia. Her sister, white with tension, agreed.

"Yes, indeed, let's have this out once and for all. My dearest of friends, whom are you courting? Tell us now: which do you really love?"

Both stared at me, waiting. I tried to be nonchalant, but I was agitated. Of all things, too many rich and lonely women! Things like that can get messy.

"My darling darlings," I finally babbed, "it's late at night and we want no excitement, no scandal. At this moment I love you both equally. Tomorrow I shall be candid. Meanwhile, let us sleep and calm ourselves."

They agreed; but at 5 a.m. both Patricia and Verna, wrapped in some mighty costly and somewhat revealing negligees, pounded on my door and we all gave up sleep in favor of coffee. And Patricia gave me a comforting "out."

"We were silly," she said, and Verna smiled shyly and nodded. "Perhaps you don't know yourself which you love. Take all the time you want to decide."

Commercialism Again

"Meanwhile," Verna added, "we've decided to share your wonderful company. But Cincinnati is too small, it cramps our style. Let's all move to New York!"

I knew, then, that the iron was hot so I struck boldly. Their plan was appealing, I admitted, but it had a minor flaw. Until arrival of certain bonds, er, that is pending completion of a business deal, er, I was, er, temporarily—

They stopped me with a chorus of astonished cries. They could hardly believe their ears. You'd have thought no man ever ran out of money before. Each rushed to her room, returned with a fat roll, laid it on my table and chuckled.

"Silly boy," Verna smirked as she left, and, "So much fuss over details," chided Patricia at the door. When it closed I rifled swiftly and expertly through the cash on hand.

In this absurd, almost fantastic competition for my favor Patricia, the elder sister by a year, had won by a couple of grand. Her contribution: $12,000. Verna's, $10,000.

We left that day for New York. The "girls" went to the Plaza, I to the Waldorf-Astoria. For many happy days, then—and I really mean happy for all of us—I walked a tight rope successfully, preserving a tidy balance.

When the "girls" suggested we all go to a Mardi Gras fête at Coney Island—slumming, as it were—I got Verna aside and announced unhesitatingly:

Women Pay Again

"I'm wild about you, and you alone. In your heart you know it. I'm broke."

"How much?" she demanded, and flew downstairs before I could answer. She cashed a check, returned with $25,000, handed it to me, said smilingly:

"Your word, darling, is all I want."

In a subsequent scene with Patricia I used almost the identical words.

"Why certainly," she responded instantly. "I have $20,000 on hand; take it and use it all. On my love, I'm so glad that you have chosen me!"

Awaken To Reality

Yet each Miss Freedom knew in her heart, now that she was being taken. The thing was becoming too, too far-fetched. An episode en route to Coney in Patricia's limousine, shipped from Cincinnati, seemed to waken both to reality.

There was a traffic crash. Nobody was hurt, but the Freedoms had to give police their correct names due to the car license. Of course I, as a passenger, supplied an alias. All night the "girls" were plagued by fears of scandal.

In the morning they quietly packed their bags and went home. No reproaches, no tears, no regrets. At the parting we all agreed that we'd meet again in Cincinnati "for more good times." But we all knew, I think, that we wouldn't.

They had had the time of their lives. To them the $67,000 cost was a bagatelle. Okay, moralists, say it was wrong. But I don't believe it.

(One of the amazingly few times when Great Lover Engel's romanticism won him a prison term is told frankly in the next installment.)

Mother Can Help Girl Who Thinks She's Unattractive

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

What can a mother do about a daughter who is convinced she is unattractive?

"I'd do anything in my power to help her, but I don't know what to do," writes the mother of an unhappy 16-year-old.

Lots of mothers have had to face this problem—and they've tried to solve it in a variety of ways.

Some of the systems don't work too well. Mrs. R. tried to make her daughter "feel" pretty by paying her frequent and exaggerated compliments. But the compliments don't ring true, so they don't help much. It's almost impossible to fool a teen-ager about her looks, if she has a mirror in her room, and if the only compliments she gets come from a doting mother.

Mrs. G. tries to nag her daughter into being better looking. She is always after her to "stand up straight," to stop eating between meals, or to take more pains with her grooming. That just makes Frances G. feel homesick than ever and it also gives her the idea that her mother is as dissatisfied with her looks as she is herself.

Better Way
Well, what's a better way? Mrs. W. seems to be on the right track. She accepts her daughter's looks for what they are, neither paying her exaggerated compliments or nagging at her to do this and stop doing that.

But she does take pains to help Jane W. select the most becoming clothes, to find the most flattering hair-do, and to use make-up skillfully.

She also has encouraged Jane to make the most of a good mind, to learn to dance and swim well, to go out for activities at school.

But most important of all, perhaps, she has encouraged Jane to show a friendly, gracious interest in other people.

If she has brains and charm, plus some spunk, a girl can get along remarkably well without beauty. A pleasing personality is, after all, a fairly satisfactory substitute for beauty, even in youth. And it has the decided advantage of being more durable.

New Fall Colors Make Matches

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Dress and coat color will not stage fights in public this Fall, if one New York designer has his way.

To avert this embarrassing situation, he creates ensembles of dresses, suits and coats for which colors—even several blended—can't clash.

The reason colors can't clash is because the designer has limited his range for particular harmonies, has chosen each carefully from the Navajo sand paintings of the Southwest.

Because the elected colors—prairie gold, scout green, republic blue and buckskin brown—have such close affinity for each other they are almost completely interchangeable.

For that steady companionship between a dress and a coat, colors that link the two together by means of contrasting fabric touches make outstanding ensembles. Take the sheer worsted dress of buckskin brown, for example, which is linked to a wool coat of republic blue by narrow bandings of matching blue which edge the neckline, yoke-line and sleeves of the dress.

Another coat and dress is identified as an ensemble by the bright bond of Custer red woolen. Blazing across the bodice of a dress of black wool jersey, yoked with white is a stripe of Custer red, which is a color repeated in a short swag coat of heavy wool tweed.

New Unification Bill

Another milestone has been reached on the road to military unity. Congress has approved a new measure to tighten relations among the armed services to produce greater economy and efficiency.

Merger of land, sea and air forces is still a good distance off. But the present action marks real progress toward that goal.

First of all, it embodies fiscal and budgetary reforms recommended by the Hoover Commission on government reorganization. The commission believes these changes will save $1,000,000,000 a year.

Economies in the national military establishment are highly important, because about one of every three tax dollars now is consumed by this department.

Secondly, the new bill raises the military agency to full cabinet rank as the Department of Defense. In the process, it reduces the Army, Navy and Air Force to subordinate status.

The heads of these three branches will retain their titles as secretaries but they will be subject to direction not only from the secretary of Defense but from a newly created undersecretary of Defense. The measure in addition establishes three new assistant defense secretaries.

The defense secretary thus gains greater authority than he now has to direct the nation's military affairs and to advise the President in such matters. But he is still far from all-powerful in his field.

He specifically is barred from transferring, reassigning, consolidating or abolishing any combatant functions now fixed by law. For example, he could not wipe out the Marine Corps or shift it to Army jurisdiction.

Furthermore, the secretary is not empowered under the new act to prevent the secretary of any military department or any member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff from presenting individual recommendations to Congress on armed forces policy.

Numerous other changes will coordinate various subsidiary boards more closely and enlarge the secretary's power to direct military programs.

Intelligent citizens almost certainly will applaud this bill as a step that promises to slash the high cost of operating the military establishment and at the same time to lessen the bitter intramural conflicts in that agency.

A Good Time To Make Him A Suit That Fits Properly

DREW PEARSON ON 'The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND'

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Robert S. Allen says: Gabrielson plans clean-out of GOP's "defeatist-minded deadwood." Dems nursing brickbat for new Republican chairman; U. S. seeks release of imprisoned Filipinos who fought under Americans during war.

WASHINGTON—Republican national headquarters is in a dither. The air is thick with reports that new Chairman Guy Gabrielson plans a wholesale head-lobbing.

Gabrielson takes over active command this week. Friends have been dropping hints that high on his agenda is hardboiled housecleaning of "defeatist-minded deadwood."

It is known that since his election, Gabrielson has conferred with congressional and other party chiefs on revitalizing the committee's big staff. Former chairman Hugh Scott made no changes when he took over. He became very popular with the staff, on which he leaned heavily. Some of his critics held this as a complaint against him.

There has been no indication who is listed for the ax. That's the reason for the staff's uneasiness. Also, Gabrielson has a business reputation of a hard worker and driver. National headquarters has 80 full-time employees. Highest paid are publicity director William Murphy who gets $27,000 a year and finance director Edwin Bachner who receives $20,000.

Meanwhile, Democratic warlocks have a brickbat they are nursing for the first time Gabrielson sounds off on "big government spending."

The Carthage Hydrocol Corporation, which Gabrielson heads, has received three RFC loans totaling $18,000,000. The first loan, for $9,000,000, was granted in April, 1948. Subsequently, the company got two other loans of $3,500,000 and $5,000,000, the last in April of this year.

The transactions were perfectly legitimate. The corporation with offices in New York and Brownsville, Texas, is engaged in making gasoline from natural gas under a new process. Full-scale production is scheduled for November.

Democrats will not attack the loans. But if and when Gabrielson assaults administration spending, they are all set to counter that he is a big beneficiary of the spending.

Washington's fetid heat has made no dent on Rhode Island's Senator Theodore Green. The rugged, 82-year-old millionaire still travels to and from his office in crowded, steamy streetcars. . . . Workers remodeling the Senate and House chambers are uncovering smudge marks of the burning of the capitol by the British. The marks are under inch-thick coats of paint. . . . Iowa supporters of Senator Robert Taft emphatically deny that close ties prevail between him and national committee chairman Harrison Spangler. The Tafts are saying they favor the Iowa State Central Committee's demand that Spangler resign. . . . All three of Connecticut's Republican congressmen—James Patterson, Antoni Sadiak and John Davis Lodge—would like to run as successors to Sen. Raymond A. Baldwin. Rep. Chase Going Woodhouse, (D-Conn.) is practically certain to be named to Baldwin's seat by Gov. Chester Bowles.

Philippine President Elpidio Quirino got no definite promises of aid while in Washington, but he did take away with him a pointed hint. . . . It was that the U. S. would look with favor on the liberation of several hundred imprisoned wartime Filipino guerrillas who fought under American officers.

The partisans fought valiantly against the Japs. After the war, they were imprisoned on murder and other charges made, in many cases, by former collaborators now holding high Philippine offices. Many of the alleged offenses were "liquidations" ordered by American officers. The imprisoned guerrillas were offered amnesty several years ago on condition they "confessed their crimes." They flatly refused. One reason was their desire to avoid embarrassing their former American commanders.

Note: Members of Quirino's party told Washington officials that Chiang Kai-Shek's visit to Manila was chiefly to try to obtain funds from wealthy Chinese. It also was intimated an effort was made to call off Chiang's trip but he insisted on making it.

Brannan Plan
While Secretary Charles Brannan's farm plan is getting the gate in Congress, the Farm Bureau Federation is losing membership in Iowa and Minnesota because of opposition to the project.

The Farmers Union definitely has made membership gains as a result of its pro-Brannan-Plan stand. Sen. Edward Thye, (R-Minn.), says Farm Bureau membership in his state is higher than last year, but admits the Farmers Union is making "inroads." Also, that the fight between the two organizations is intensifying.

"The militant opposition of the national officers of the Farm Bureau to the plan unquestionably is causing a lot of doubts among rank-and-file members," Thye said. "It looks like the fight between the bureau and the union will get hotter in the months to come."

Note: Wallace Iowa Farmer (no connection with Henry) will release figures next week on a poll on the Brannan Plan. They will report the following: 24 per cent of Iowa farmers are for the plan, 16 per cent opposed, remainder no opinion. Twenty-six per cent of Iowa Farm Bureau members are for the plan, 18 per cent opposed.

House Appropriations Committee members rubbed their eyes, figuratively speaking, when they scanned the latest list of strategic materials being stockpiled by the Munitions Board. One item called for a huge amount of pepper.

"What's that for?" asked Karl Steffen, (R-Neb). "Are you planning sneeze warfare; to blow this stuff into the face of the enemy?"

Munitions Board experts explained large quantities of pepper would be needed in wartime as a food preservative.

Training Meeting For Humble Service Station Employees

A sales training meeting and dinner for employees of Humble Oil and Refining Company's West Wall Street service station is scheduled at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Private Dining Room of the Scharbauer Hotel.

Jack Kimbrough, district manager for employees of Humble Oil and Refining Company, who is the director of the intercollegiate matches, said that today's hand resulted in a tremendous swing, many pairs being "wrecked on the rocks of distribution."

Most of the North players opened the bidding with a preemptive three-spade bid, which East doubled. Now East and West took an active part in the bidding until either North or South, thinking that they were taking a sacrifice or that they might make the contract, went to six spades.

The ace of hearts was opened, and then East shifted to the ace of diamonds, he got the eight-spot from West. So a diamond was continued, won by West, and East was given a heart ruff.

At a few tables East tried to cash the ace of clubs, after the ace of hearts opening. Of course, North ruffed the ace of clubs, then picked up the trumps and all his hearts were good. These players made six spades doubled for a plus score of 1660, or a swing of 2460 points on the hand.

Such meetings are to be held once a month, according to Cothern.

McKenney on Bridge

During the war the bridge players of the nation started the project known as War Orphans Scholarships, Inc. Each year the problem of the American war orphan becomes greater. The nice response that we have received from colleges throughout the country is certainly pleasing to me. Many colleges have offered us scholarships or aid in providing educational opportunities for these children.

Each year the colleges hold their own intercollegiate national bridge tournament, and many of these groups have become interested in the scholarship work.

British Bid For Congo Uranium May Be Big Business Deal

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Suspicion is growing in Washington that British efforts to get a piece of the Belgian Congo's uranium production may be part of an international big business deal. Ramifications of this deal are not entirely clear because of the secrecy imposed on the negotiators for military security.

But behind this cloak may be the start of an international rivalry to control the peacetime, commercial uses of atomic power. If the uranium mining business is going to be a good thing, the shrewd British want their share.

If this turns out to be the real motive for recent British efforts to get a reported one-fourth of the Congo's uranium production, it might eventually lead to a break in the American and Allied plan for control of atomic energy by an international authority which might lead to an international atomic race. In this race, the country with the most atomic power would be the winner.

The current belief that the British merely want uranium to make bombs with is being discounted for several reasons. The British probably know that in an emergency they could get all the atomic bombs they needed, delivered for them free by the United States. If the British just wanted to get uranium for their own uses, they have other potential sources in Canada and Union of South Africa.

Financial Evidence
The theory that the British want uranium for commercial purposes is supported by an examination of who owns the world's uranium supply and who is getting rich at it. This devious trail leads through little-known financial areas.

No production figures and no dollar purchase figures ever have been made public. But the biggest producer has been the Shinkolobwe mine in the Belgian Congo. For the last five years the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has bought its entire output.

The contract between AEC and the Belgians expired on July 30. Deliveries to the U. S. now are being cut down, pending the working out of a new contract. The catch in this seems to be how much of the mine's output should be allocated to the British.

The Belgian company which owns and operates the Congo concession is Union Miniere de Haut Katanga, the United Mining Company of Upper Katanga. It was founded back in 1906 by grant from the old King Leopold, to develop various resources. Until 1940, its principal business was copper mining.

There have been private British interests in Union Miniere since it was founded. Originally British shareholders had a 40 per cent interest, held through an organization known as Tanganyika Concessions, Ltd. During the depression and since, the British apparently liquidated most of their holdings. That was where they made their mistake. At the annual stockholders' meeting in Brussels on June 23, 1948, it was reported that the British Tanganyika Concessions, Ltd., held 180,000 out of Union Miniere's 1,242,000 shares. This is about 14 1/2 per cent.

Britain Has Men On Board
Recent reports that the British owned 49 per cent of Union Miniere's stock are therefore incorrect, unless the British have subsequently acquired additional stock, not on record. Nevertheless, the British do have two men on the Union Miniere 12-man board of directors. They are Morris Hely-Hutchinson, vice president, and Geoffrey C. Hutchinson.

One unsatisfactorily answered question concerning the British pressure to get a share of Belgian Congo uranium ore is how and why the minority holding of Tanganyika Concessions, Ltd., is able to push the Q—Are dogs susceptible to poison ivy?

A—Dogs are not susceptible to ivy poisoning. At times they may show symptoms like those suffered by victims of poison ivy. The dogs with such symptoms are apparently victims of hives—the same kind of hives from which we humans suffer.

Q—Is the President of the United States required to make a yearly economic report to Congress?
A—The President is required by the Employment Act of 1946 to make an economic report to Congress at least once a year.

Q—Does Bermuda still prohibit the use of automobiles on the islands?
A—Once autoless, the island now permits the use of cars. The law permits the operation of private cars and taxis with a speed limit of 15 miles an hour in the city and 20 miles in the country areas. The importation of second-hand cars is forbidden.

Q—Where does Mocha coffee come from?
A—Mocha coffee comes from Arabia and takes its name from the city of Mocha, a great export center for coffee.

Q—Where is the largest study collection of birds in the world?
A—The American Museum of Natural History, New York, with over 750,000 specimens.

SITUATION: You are thanked for a small courtesy.
WRONG WAY: Say, "Okay" or "All right."
RIGHT WAY: Say, "You're welcome" or something else that sounds gracious.

As many as 100,000 young Musk deer have been killed in a year in Tibet so that the glands may be used in the making of perfume.

Q—Do you wish, Gaynel, that I had been born cute?
A—"Heaven forbid," Gaynel said. "You're not the type, Barry dear."

MELVIN pounded for quiet now. He told each player to be ready with his script. The rest found chairs or squatted on the floor. Fritz sat on one side of Gaynel, Barry on the other. Punch and Judy crawled over to curl up in her lap and go to sleep.

"I think we'll start with the scene in the second act where the young country girl—that's you, of course, Miss Pierce—talks with the city boy. Give me the line. . . . Have you the script for cues, Miss Cupples?"

Melvin rapped again for silence. They began the scene. . . . After they had gone over it three times, Gaynel said, "Why, it wasn't bad." She really had been amazed at Melvin. He seemed to know what he was about; at least the effect he wished to obtain.

"He's got something," Gaynel said. "If he could inject it into all of our parts. Even Miss Pierce fits her part. It's too bad, though, she's so pleasantly plump. Isn't she supposed to be slender and alluring?"

Fritz said, "You'd be surprised at the illusion footlights can create. She won't look nearly so stout from a distance."

Melvin rapped for order again. Now they were to go through the Big Scene. Where the husband crookes the Other Woman.

"The Eternal Triangle is always good—and interesting," Barry said. He looked across Gaynel to include Fritz, signifying that he inferred a personal significance by his remark.

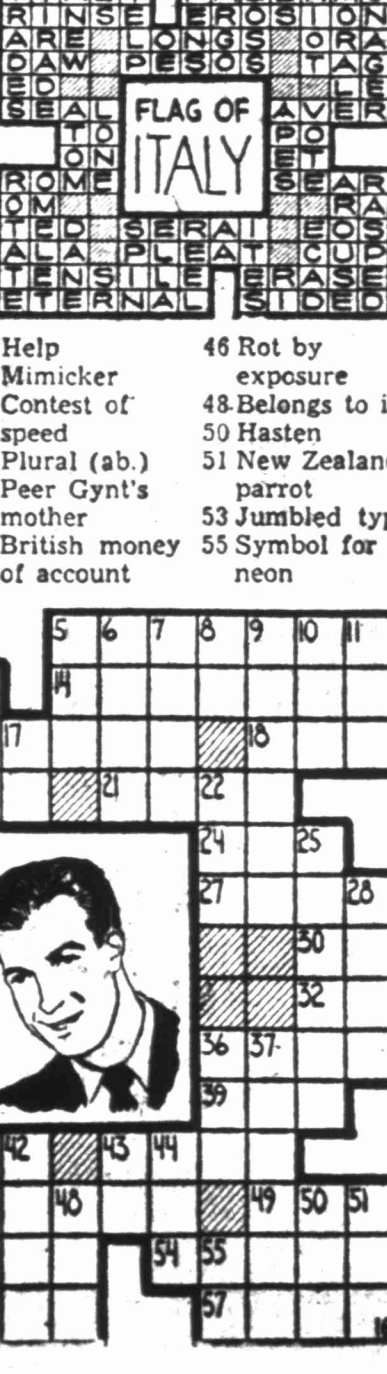

"There's nothing I like better than competition," Fritz said. "Providing, of course, it's clean, fair and unbiased."

Summer Savings Are Lost By University Student In Midland

A billfold containing $55 and social security papers was lost Monday by Gwen Griffiths, one of the Texas Invincibles working in Midland in connection with the Summer Revival of the First Baptist Church.

Although $55 is not a fortune, it is the Summer's savings for this Hardin-Simmons University student. The billfold is Mexican brown leather engraved with a sundial. She was visiting the Breesway Courts Monday and it is possible she lost the billfold there.

A return address in the purse is given as Wichita Falls, her home, but anyone finding it may return it to the First Baptist Church or call telephone number 924 and it will be picked up.

B&P's To Have Watermelon Feast

The annual watermelon feast of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Eddie Simms, 1211 West Missouri Street. Maud Prather is in charge of arrangements for the feast, which is held each year during the month of August.

Youth Center Plans A Formal Dance

Plans to have a formal dance in the Midland Youth Center in honor of the young people going away to school were made at a meeting Monday of the Adult and Junior Advisory Councils of the Center.

Present from the Adult Council were Raymond Leggett, chairman; Mrs. J. J. Black, vice chairman; Mrs. Delbert Downing, secretary; Mrs. Neta Stovall, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Leggett, Roy McKee, E. A. Culbertson, C. E. Nelson, Dr. and Mrs. Waldo Leggett and Mrs. Clyde Hamilton.

From the Junior Council Alex Oates, Bob Short, Marion Sevier, Joan Nelson, Sarah Lew Link and Joan Boykin attended.

The council will meet again soon after school opens to make plans for the Fall and Winter.

Bible Study Is Held For Calvary Circles

The two circles of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Calvary Baptist Church met for Bible study in meetings Monday.

The Katie and Alvin Hatten Circle met with Mrs. Sarah Thornton, 1011 South Main Street, for an afternoon study conducted by Mrs. G. C. Brazzel. Others present included Mrs. C. H. St. John, Mrs. L. D. Martin, Mrs. Flora Hardin and Mrs. Bob Allen.

Mrs. J. C. Crowe was hostess to the morning meeting of the Jean Newton Circle in her home, 507 South Lorraine Street. Mrs. W. A. Lumpkin led the study. Others present included Mrs. W. G. Flournoy and Gloria Crowe.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulky person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit—back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate, have been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money.

Bible Schools Are Conducted By Invincibles

Four Vacation Bible Schools are being conducted this week by the Texas Invincibles and some of the young people of the First Baptist Church.

Included are two negro schools, one at the negro kindergarten and another in the Macedonia Baptist Church; a Latin American school in the Baptist Mexican Mission; and a school in the North Midland Baptist Mission.

The total attendance for the starting day, Monday, was approximately 175. The time for the schools is 9 a.m. daily.

Three More Invincibles
In addition to the nine Invincibles who have been in Midland the last week three others are here to work with them. They are Wimpy Smith, a 1946 graduate of Texas A&M; Kitty Ritter, a Senior at Hardin-Simmons University; and Bill Frazier, a Junior student at Hardin-Simmons.

Arrived Saturday night and will be here this week to work with the others in taking a religious census, in personal visitation and in the Bible Schools.

Constitution Revised By Perennial Club

Red and white were chosen as official club colors, the constitution and by-laws were revised and the number of members increased from 18 to 22.

The Perennial Garden Club Monday in the home of Mrs. J. W. Christian, 1017 North Main Street.

The year's program was outlined briefly and it was planned to carry out the club's work during the yearbook.

Attending were Mrs. Lucille Johnson, Mrs. Gladys McCamey, Mrs. Maude Miles, Mrs. Brittle Holster, Mrs. Res Johnson, Mrs. Nita Prothro, Mrs. Neta Stovall, Mrs. Earlean Christy, Mrs. Vivian Wilson, Mrs. Betty Webb and Mrs. Ruby Sharp.

Pink, Blue Shower Honors Crane Woman

CRANE—A pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. J. F. Kendrick was held recently in the home of Mrs. D. L. Welser with Mrs. Sam Edwards, Mrs. Gayle Young, Mrs. LeRoy Brookover and Mrs. C. H. Danneley assisting as hostesses.

A white stork surrounded with flowers decorated the coffee table and a bassinet holding out flowers was used near the registry. Games using baby garments as clues were played before the bassinet holding the gifts was presented to the honoree.

Guests were Mrs. Glenn Jones, Mrs. James Bryan, Mrs. Lee Turner, Mrs. R. A. Carter, Mrs. Floyd Welch, Mrs. Peggy Hill, Mrs. C. E. Shirley, Mrs. Leon Johnson, Mrs. D. E. Havins, Mrs. R. V. The weekly Ceramics Class will be held Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Palette Club.

Library Reports Top Circulation In July

The Midland County Library reports the highest circulation record in its history for the month of July, Mrs. Lucile Carroll, librarian, said Tuesday.

Of 8,386 home readings, 6,022 were fiction; 1,266, non-fiction; and 1,024, magazines and pamphlets. Fifty-five new juveniles and 118 adults have registered for library cards.

The library received 128 new books during the month of July. Story Hour for the children has been held each Saturday morning in the main library and in the Dunbar Branch.

Midland County Residents Eligible
All residents of Midland County are eligible for registration for borrower's cards. Cards are issued after the person has presented the name of one reference, his name and mailing address. School children are urged by Mrs. Carroll to register early in order to avoid the first-of-school rush.

The library is located in the Midland County Court House and is open from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekdays.

Constitution Revised By Perennial Club

Red and white were chosen as official club colors, the constitution and by-laws were revised and the number of members increased from 18 to 22.

Delegates are Mrs. A. S. Norwood, Mrs. R. R. Phillips, Mrs. J. D. Smith, and alternates, Mrs. J. D. Partlett, Mrs. E. D. Ward and Mrs. E. O. Sherman.

The convention will be in Mineral Wells, September 22-24.

Mason Says Attack Not Connected With Slaying Of Father

HOUSTON — (P) — Reaffirming his intentions of following in his father's footsteps, Burton H. Mason, son of slain Bill Mason, Alice radio commentator, was discharged from Methodist Hospital late Monday and he returned to his home in Houston.

Mason received injuries in a fight with three young men here early Sunday.

Hospital attendants said young Mason was treated for a brain concussion, a cracked ankle and cuts and bruises received in two "rounds" of the clash, shortly after midnight, as the young man and his secretary, Floy Kennedy, were leaving Houston near the hospital on South Main.

Capt. George Seber, head of the Homicide Department, said investigation and search would be continued for the three men involved in the fight.

Knocked Unconscious
Young Mason, pointing out he had never seen the antagonists before and that no one in Alice knew he was coming to Houston, expressed belief that the fight had no connection with the slaying of his late father.

"The three who jumped me just looked like young guys out to raise a little trouble," he said.

The first round took place when the couple had stopped for a red light and the three men, in a red convertible, pulled alongside and began cursing them, Mason said. He jumped out of his car, and the three attacked him, he said.

A little farther down the street, the same three attacked him again, knocking him unconscious. Miss Kennedy took him to the hospital.

DR. J. O. SHANNON'S CONDITION IMPROVED
The condition of Dr. J. O. Shannon of Midland, chairman of the Midland-Glasscock-Sterling County Selective Service Board, who suffered a heart attack in Austin last Tuesday, is reported to be improved.

He has been undergoing treatment in an Austin hospital, but is expected to be moved Tuesday or Wednesday to Scott and White Hospital in Temple for further treatment.

Daddy Ringtail And Important Somebody

By WESLEY DAVIS
Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, one fine day was feeding his chickens. They were there on the ground beneath the very tall tree—the one with Daddy Ringtail's monkey house in the top. From somewhere near on the Elephant Path there came the howl of a wolf. The wolf was the Huffy Puffen.
Daddy Ringtail stopped the feeding of the chickens. He waited. Oh, the Huffy was a very dear friend. Daddy Ringtail was worried about him, because maybe the Huffy was in trouble.
Why wasn't he coming up the Elephant Path, walking his Huffy Puffen along, singing his Huffy Puffen song—all to show how important he was? Those were the things he usually did.
"Oh, Huffy Puffen!" Daddy Ringtail cried.
"Shh!" said the Huffy in a strange quiet voice. The Huffy had slipped up quietly through the forest.

"Huffy Puffen," Daddy Ringtail said, "why the being so mysterious?"
"Shh!" said the Huffy again. The Huffy looked around to see who might be listening. He looked up and down the Elephant Path. He looked in the chicken house. He looked behind the very tall tree. No one was anywhere near, and so he said: "Daddy Ringtail, I have been thinking, I have, about how important I am, and what if people believe how important I am? What if they think I have a whole lot of money because I am so important? What if they want to borrow all the money I have?"

Daddy Ringtail laughed to hear it, but the Huffy said: "It would be a terrible thing, if I lent all my money away."
But Daddy Ringtail said in a quiet voice: "Huffy Puffen, you don't have any money to lend."
"Oh!" said the Huffy. "Oh! I guess I forgot. I did, that I don't have any money at all."
The Huffy laughed as he thought about it, and so did Daddy Ringtail, but the Huffy was as happy as though he had a million dollars, and the being happy was the thing that mattered, I guess.

Kenny Jones Is Named Longhorn Rookie Of The Year

Midland-Oilers Go In Two Games At Odessa Tuesday

ABILENE—(P)—Kenneth Jones, catcher for the Midland Indians, was chosen as "Rookie of the Year" in the Longhorn Baseball League Tuesday by sportswriters and radio announcers.

Jones, who hails from Warrensburg, Mo., polled 38 1/2 votes. Second was Wayne Batson, Odessa Oilers first baseman, with 36 1/2 votes.

Jones will receive a trophy from Longhorn League President Hal Sayles.

Other contenders were, in order of their standing in the voting, Wayne Wallace, San Angelo; Carlos Pascual, Big Spring; Ray Hill, Roswell; Bill Dossey, Ballinger; and Wayne Moon, Vernon.

The scheduled game between the Midland Indians and the Odessa Oilers at Odessa Tuesday night was postponed because of rain. A double-header will be played Tuesday starting at 7 p. m.

Lefty Ernie Nelson and Lefty Leon Hayes are the probable starters for Midland.

Manny Rodriguez and Don Newburn have been given the nod by Manager Al Monchak of Odessa. The Oilers and the Indians are closer together in the standings now than at any other time this season except for the first few days. Both teams need to sweep the twin-bill. It looks like one of the best cards of the year.

Oilers Strengthened
The Oilers, with an almost completely new outfield and a strengthened infield, are moving up in the standings.

Midland has added some power with Kenny Peacock at third base and Kenny Jones back in the lineup. The Indian hurling staff also is in good condition for the first time in several weeks.

The Indians move to San Angelo for a three-game series opening Wednesday night.

Murray Foresees Increased Oil Flow

AUSTIN—(P)—An upturn in permissive flow of Texas crude oil next month is foreseen by Railroad Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr.

Murray said Monday that purchasers have advised the commission they will need 2,365,597 barrels of crude daily next month, 48,066 more than they requested for July, the last month for which a hearing was held on nominations.

The next statewide oil proration hearing has been set by the commission for August 18 at Mineral Wells.

Murray said he didn't want to anticipate evidence at the hearing but that the strengthening of demand "indicates a reversal in the trend which has prevailed throughout this year."

"It is quite probable that July and August will represent the lowest rate of production during this year," he said.
The East Texas bottom-hole pressure for August 1 was reported at 1,025.16 pounds per square inch, 0.79 above the July pressure.

Bulldogs Show Pep, Hustle In First Workout

Coach Tugboat Jones sent the Midland Bulldogs through their first workouts for the 1949 season Monday at the Memorial Stadium practice field and he was well pleased with the hustle and pep shown by most candidates.

Passing drills, signal drills, blocking and plenty of running were features of the first-day sessions. The boys worked in shorts Monday morning but were in full uniform for the afternoon drill.

The coaches are sifting the more than 80 A and B stringers in an effort to place them in the correct positions. The first workout showed a lack of speed in the backfield but it partially is made up by the hustle shown.

Good Spirit
Team spirit was at a peak during both workouts. Every man was going at top speed all the way.

Cecil Stevens, a letterman from last season's team, reported and is expected to fill a backfield spot. He has more actual game experience than any of the returning lettermen.

Jimmy O'Neal worked nicely at center in the afternoon drill. He is counted on heavily to add power to the middle of the line.

Reed Gilmore, earmarked for the quarterback position, was calling plays and doing some passing.

Beauchamp Works Line
Jones said there probably won't be any punting for three or four days. He wants the punters' legs to be in good shape before they start.

Line Coach Carvin Beauchamp drilled his candidates on blocking and tackling during the afternoon. The linemen looked sharp plenty for a first-day drill. The weight of the forward wall is a pleasing factor.

Two drills will continue until school opens. The first game is with Ysleta September 9.

Tickets for the Bulldogs' home games will go on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office at 9 a. m. Thursday.

Tulsa Oilers Gain On Cats; Missions, Oilers, Tribe Win

By The Associated Press
Tulsa picked a heck of a time to make a lousy bid to overtake Fort Worth in the Texas League, if you want Shreveport's opinion.

The Oilers trimmed Fort Worth's margin to three and one-half games Monday night by breaking loose for 15 hits and a 13-4 decision over Shreveport. The defeat dropped the Sports into fifth place.

While Tulsa was making with the hits and runs, San Antonio nicked Fort Worth 6-2, Dallas blanked Houston 4-0, and Oklahoma City edged Beaumont 3-1.

Five Sport hurlers worked Monday night. The first one, Kraus, got up a home run to Steve Filpovich in the first inning with one Oiler on base. After this, Tulsa ran wild.

Al Gerheuser won his eleventh game for San Antonio in scattering eight Fort Worth hits. The Missions got only five hits, but used several walkers to best advantage.

Andy Sierra blanked Houston and five singles gave Dallas three runs in the fourth inning and a comfortable working margin.

Oklahoma City clung to third place in the standings as George Zuvink set Beaumont down on five hits to win his thirteenth game of the year.

Pecos Among Class A State Title Favorites

Texas high school football is in its 29th campaign with more than 850 schools with approximately 25,000 gridders in action.

There will be three state champions determined and various regional crowns won among the Class B boys.

Pre-season dopesters pick the following favorites in the various classifications:

City Conference—Jeff Davis (Houston), Paschal (Fort Worth) and Arlington Heights (Fort Worth).

Class AA—Odessa, San Angelo, Temple, Lubbock, Abilene, Gainesville, Marshall, Texarkana, Orange, Port Arthur and Austin.

Class A—Dallas, Hereford, Memphis, Shamrock, Lockney, Spur, Levelland, Post, Littlefield, Monahan, Pecos, Wink, New Braunfels and perhaps others.

The Class A chase involves 32 districts with 228 teams. So quite a battle is forecast.

U. S. Davis Cup Entries Selected

RYE, N. Y.—(P)—Those tennis observers who watched Australia's Davis Cup team overwhelm a highly-touted Italian entry 5-0 in the inter-zone final over the weekend nursed a suspicion Tuesday that the Aussies are going to be rough in the challenge round August 26-28.

The American team picked Monday—Ted Schroeder, Pancho Gonzales, Gardnar Mulloy and Billy Talbert—still rates the favorites in the big play-off at Forest Hills, but not by any one-sided margin.

Western Plastic To Try Two Opponents At Wadley Tuesday

Western Plastic, first place team in the Midland Softball League at present, will try the "iron man" stunt at Wadley Field Tuesday night when they take on Shell and the Rendezvous Club in consecutive games. All games scheduled Monday night were postponed due to rain.

The league leaders have four makeup games to play. They will unveil the twin-bill Tuesday night and will play again Wednesday night against Standard and possibly Joe's Gulf.

Only eight games remain to be made up in the league. It is expected all will be played this week. The playoffs between the first four teams are to start immediately following completion of the makeup schedule.

Johnny Palmer Is Top Money Winner In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO—(P)—Let it be a warning to top money-winner Sammy Sneed, up-and-coming Johnny Palmer may be golf's greatest man of concentration since Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson left the circuit.

That's why Palmer Monday walked off with golf's biggest single victory, the $10,000 nugget in Tam O'Shanter's "World" meet.

Johnny's 68 to 70 playoff triumph over Jimmy Demaret hoisted him to third spot in the cash-collecting rank with $23,512. Sneed, who finished third in the "World," has $30,893, and National Open Champion Cary Middlecoff has $24,604.

Perhaps owing some of his ability to bear down in the pinches to his meditation while a waist runner on 32 bombing raids over Japan, Palmer fashioned his "World" triumph on an iron-nerved approach game. It was his biggest win since taking the 1947 Western Open.

Pampa Oilers Enter Top Division; Dukes, Blue Sox Tab Wins

By The Associated Press
The Pampa Oilers are in fourth place in the West Texas-New Mexico League race after edging the Amarillo Gold Sox Monday night 8-7.

The loss dropped Amarillo into fifth place.

On Engel's eighth-frame double, scoring Ernie Velasquez and Roy Parker, gave Pampa the victory over the Gold Sox.

League-leading Albuquerque defeated Lubbock 7-4. Len Aftyd's grand slam homer in the eighth gave the Dukes the win.

Stubby Greer batted the Abilene Blue Sox to a 6-4 win over the Borger Gassers. Greer hit four for four, scored twice, drove in two runs and stole two bases.

The Clovis-Lamesa game was rained out.

Hot Sox Roll On; Trim Yanks' Lead

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox, rolling like a Sherman tank through a corn field, are beginning to sniff that World Series dough.

Joe McCarthy's crew, staging one of the best comebacks in recent years, Tuesday was only three games away from a sputtering New York Yankee machine for first place in the American League.

The Sox, presumed dead on July 4 when they occupied fifth place, 12 games off the pace, charged closer to the Yanks by beating Washington 3-2 as Casey Stengel's outfit dropped a 9-5 decision Monday night to Philadelphia.

Washington surprisingly carried the Red Sox 11 innings before submitting.

The Senators took a 2-1 lead in the eighth with former Soxer Sam Dente singling home Johnny Simmons from second, but Boston tagged Hudson in the last half for the payoff runs on doubles by Billy Goodman, Dom DiMaggio and a single by Ted Williams.

The Athletics came from behind to nip the Yanks, scoring five runs in the sixth inning to overcome a 5-4 deficit. Eddie Joost singled home the tying run, Ferris Fain singled across two more and Sam Chapman doubled in another pair to clinch matters.

Cleveland's third-place team also

SPORTSLANTS

BY SHORTY SHELBOURNE

Congratulations to Kenny Jones, Rookie of the Year in the Longhorn League. Kenny's untiring, never-ceasing hustle as catcher for the Midland Indians made him the favorite of the majority throughout the circuit and he has been voted the top rookie as much by those outside of Midland as those who back him here.

Sports Slants has plugged Jones for the award all season but it was Kenny himself who did the work which won him the honor. We had no part in it except for casting the vote we were allowed.

—SS—
"Little Kenny, although out for a month due to an operation, piled up 38 1/2 points to finish two points higher than his next opponent, Wayne Batson of Odessa.

It could be said that it was Odessa's vote that put Jones in. We thought the Odessa writers and sportscasters would place him second on the list but they dropped him to third, giving him five points. That was enough.

We wish to thank Dick Snider and the Odessa radiomen for their support.

—SS—
In Sweetwater, where Jones, Harold Webb and the Midland Indians always have been favorites, Kenny gathered the only other first place vote besides the one we gave him. The Sweetwater boys stuck with Jones all the way, naming him first in the preliminary voting and again in the finals. Their seven points helped greatly.

Thanks to Sweetwater.

—SS—
The remainder of the towns in the league came in for a few votes on Jones to prove again he is liked and respected all over the league for his hustle and ability.

Big Spring gave Kenny four and one-half points, San Angelo six, and Ballinger five. Roswell and Vernon gave him a few.

That's the way they voted him in.

—SS—
Kenny will receive the Rookie of the Year trophy, a personal award from President Hal Sayles, at appropriate ceremonies in Indian Park some time soon. The definite date has not been set.

It is the first year such an award has been presented. Without a doubt, it went to the best of the rookies in the league.

—SS—
Finishing second to Jones in the race was Wayne Batson, Odessa's flashy rookie first baseman. He received 36 1/2 points in the finals.

Wayne Wallace of San Angelo collected 34 votes to finish third and Potato Pascual of Big Spring finished fourth with 32.

Trailing were Hill of Roswell, 28; Dossey of Ballinger, 27 1/2; and Moon of Vernon, 24 1/2.

—SS—
President Hal Sayles Monday announced he has decided the game between Roswell and Midland, in which stalling was charged, is nothing more than any other rained-out contest. It will be made up later in the season.

Sayles hasn't handed down the final decision on the disposition of the case. He said he found both clubs were equally guilty of stalling. Pines may be assessed against both teams.

—SS—
Concerning the Longhorn League playoffs, Sayles said September 13 has been set as the date for starting. The first place club will meet the fourth place team and second will play third in the first round.

The president said he will call a meeting about a week before the season to decide where opening games will be played.

—SS—
HALF SLANTS... Muscles Conruff has been sold to Vernon by Odessa. He is a left-hander.

—SS—
Lou Brisele, the Philadelphia Athletics' Purple Heart hurler, is the father of twin sons born recently. Maybe they will help Connie Mack to "just one more pennant".

The official meaning of Ezzard Charles' NBA heavyweight championship is shrinking more every day.

The Virginia Boxing and Wrestling Commission has voted to not recognize Ezzard Charles.

—SS—
Texas sportswriters have voted to establish a "Hall of Fame" for the state's famous sports figures. It's gonna take a big place to get all of them in.

Rice will have a football team made up almost wholly of seniors this season—20 in all. They are hoping for the best year in history.

Tickets to the Owls' home games went on sale Monday... Commissioner A. B. Chandler has turned a cold shoulder to the Dick Burnett incident in the Dallas press box last week.

Millard Burnett jerked a telephone out of the wall and tore down a teletype machine in a show of temper. Chandler termed it a "trivial matter".

The Longhorn League now has three once-a-week meetings. Larry Epperson for Odessa, Claude Horton for Midland and Lefty Shelton for San Angelo. Of the three, Horton travels farther each week. He lives in Fort Worth.

Bonanza Year—

Cotton Is Kingpin In Up And Coming Farm Empire Around Pecos

By E. W. BESSENT

PECOS—Mention agriculture in Reeves County and you're talking about cotton—52,300 acres of premium grade cotton just beginning to open in what promises to be the bonanza year in the up and coming cotton empire around Pecos.

Everything is right. There is plenty of water waiting to be drawn up from a vast underground basin, crops were put in early, prices are good, and labor outlook is the best in years under the new International Executive Agreement for using Mexican harvest laborers.

"The best plan we've ever had," says J. C. Wilcox, head of Texas Cotton Industries here.

Almost three-fourths of the county's farm land is in the big money crop. If yields are up to the widespread expectation of a bale to the acre well over $8,000,000 will pour into the county between September and New Year.

All the cotton in this basin makes fiber over an inch long, which brings premium prices on the market. Miss Marjorie Smart, AAA administrative officer, said this cotton has a value of at least 33 cents a pound this year. Last year's yield of 20,000 bales may well be doubled because of almost doubled acreage and because crops are better planned, say farmers who are working this year with the benefit of last year's crop experience.

—SS—
Water is the miracle worker which caused a 600 per cent increase in cotton acreage in three years. The life-giving water is found at shallow depths under land which 10 years ago was being sold at sheriff's auction because it wasn't worth tax payments. Now the same land is going as high as $40 an acre in the rough and another $100 is spent on putting it into cultivation—counting well pumps, power units and land clearing. Prices are high, but so are the gains. Some farmers have paid off loans on their land with two harvests and are operating in the clear; others are depending on this year's yield to turn the trick.

There now are more than 350 water wells in the county. An average well will pump 1500 gallons a minute and will irrigate from 150 to 200 acres. The water lies at different depths, but most is less than 300 feet below the surface. Water flows out at 72 degrees, an ideal temperature for irrigation water, and is drawn up by pumps using power by electricity, diesel, or butane. Skippers were afraid the water would give out when the water table began to drop slowly under the stress of early summer pumping, but wells have held out, and farmers are cooperating to establish water conservation practices which should be in operation next year.

—SS—
Pecos Cantaloupes
If cotton is the kingpin crop, cantaloupes are the specialty crop in this area. There are 429 acres in cantaloupes and shipping has been underway the last month. Pecos cantaloupes are nationally known for their exclusive quality. The unique combination of minerals in the soil and water, and the ideal growing climate here combine to make the melons the best grown anywhere. The yield never has met the demand. Neil Thompson, one of the area's leading growers and shippers, says, "We are shipping between 300 and 350 crates a day, and our crop is only about half gathered."

Other crops in the area are doing equally well. There are 5,000 acres in grain sorghum, and 4,100 acres in alfalfa. Most of the crops are grown in the older, established Balmorhea irrigation district.

Farms in the Pecos area are new. Most of the 350 units were put in last year or the year before. Most of the farmers are cooperating with government agencies such as the Soil Conservation Service and the AAA. A good many of the farmers are young men, some veterans, having their first try at farming. They have a well-grounded confidence in the ability of the land to pay off big loans—a faith which is shared by old timers who have expanded their acreage, and by the large industries who have moved into this area. The boom is on and Pecos is growing at an unprecedented rate.

Longhorn League— Cats Claw Dustlers; Colts, Rockets Win

By The Associated Press

The second-place Vernon Dustlers outlived the Ballinger Cats 15-7 Monday night in a Longhorn League game, but the final score was Cats 8, Dustlers 4.

Six Cat tallies in the eighth frame won the game. Five walks, a hit batsman and two hits produced the six runs.

The San Angelo Colts downed the first-place Big Spring Broncs 5-2 in a rain-shortened contest. Ken Clukey's three-run homer in the first frame was the winning blow.

Roswell downed Sweetwater 7-2. The win gave the Rockets a tie with Odessa for fifth place.

Midland's game at Odessa was rained out.

HOUSES FOR SALE

LARRY BURNSIDE, Realtor

Lovely suburban home with over 2,200 square feet of floor space. This is a spacious living room and dining room, and a large front porch, with breezeway between the double garage and house. This home has 3 bedrooms, and 2 baths, one bathroom being very large with lots of built-ins. This house is located just off the Andrews Highway and has 5 acres with lovely trees and two wells with electric pumps. There is a den with a wood-burning fireplace just off the kitchen. The kitchen has lots of built-ins with a nice pantry. There is also a nice efficiency apartment separate from the house, which brings in a nice income. There is not a nicer arranged home anywhere than this one. It also has central heating—a large loan, which can be assumed—see this place—$24,000.00.

Two bedroom brick on corner lot in Grafaland $13,500.00

Suburban, on Andrews Highway, 3 bedrooms, large living room with fireplace, tile bath, attached garage, brick veneer, would consider trading for well located home in town—this house is well worth $13,500.00.

TED—Says IT'S A FACT

You won't believe it but it's a fact—we are selling today a home that you will want and can buy. If you will only try, yes? It has been appraised by two companies. One figure was $16,800 the other figure was $13,754. One of Midland's architects says it will cost $25,000 to replace house and location. But you know us! We always give more for your money. Listen! This 4 bedroom home, with two baths, living room, dining room, extra large kitchen, closets, and storage space far beyond your expectations. Floor furnace, dummy fireplace, double garage, fenced yard, good size lot on paved street. Near Country Club and school. We can loan money to buy this home plus another loan to redecorate, remodel, or if you so desire, and listen! The price is below any figure shown above. Call us today if you need the best buy in town. Immediate possession. And it will be a pleasure to us and a real unheard of bargain for you. Just call Ted at 1255 today.

Newspaper Boys Tell About Camp

Billy Harmon and Jimmy Streun, newspaper boys who attended Summer camp at Eagle Mountain Lake near Fort Worth, told the Optimists of their experiences there at the club's luncheon Tuesday noon in Hotel Scharbauer.

The boys were sent to the camp through the cooperative efforts of the Optimists and The Reporter-Telegram.

The newspaper boys were introduced by R. R. Russell, The Reporter-Telegram's circulation manager, who was a special guest.

Russell expressed his thanks to the Optimists for the privilege of selecting the boys to attend the camp.

John Grimlock, Jr., received the weekly attendance prize, which was furnished by Rudy Rubin.

W. M. (Bill) Cross, 58, owner of Cross Drilling Company, died at his home in Odessa Monday afternoon from a heart ailment.

Funeral will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church in Odessa. Interment will be in the Odessa cemetery. The body is at Rix Funeral Home in Odessa.

Survivors include his wife, one brother and three sisters.

West Texas Oil & Gas Log—

Operators drilled the plug Sunday on 5 1/2-inch casing, which had been cemented at 6,580 feet, over total depth of 6,800 feet.

After the plug had been drilled the well was circulated and it kicked off and flowed some oil to the pits. No dependable estimate of the petroleum yield during the short period of flowing has been reported. Some observers said it appeared to be producing at the approximate rate of 40 to 50 barrels per hour.

Crowd Slowed Work
Bob Hope, moving picture and radio star, and one of the owners of the wildcat visited the drill site Sunday, in company with W. A. Moncrief, Sr., of Fort Worth, another of the owners, and the operator of the project.

Oil field hands who were at the well Sunday said it was almost impossible to do any work, because of the press of several thousand persons who crowded around to get to see Hope in person.

After flowing a short time Sunday the well was shut in to build storage. The tanks were slated to be ready to use during Tuesday. That should allow an accurate gauge to be taken, and the important extender to be completed.

Eddy Deep Venture Is On DST In Wolfcamp

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Wiggs, deep wildcat in Central-Eddy County, New Mexico, 15 miles south of Carlsbad, was on a bottom of 10,006 feet in shale in the lower Wolfcamp of the Permian, and was taking a drillstem test.

This exploration, located at the center of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 31-24s-27e, encountered gas at 10,001 feet in black shale.

The gas was strong enough to kick some drilling fluid out at the top of the hole.

Heavier mud was mixed to hold the gas and an electric log survey was taken. In carrying out those operations operator deepened the venture to 10,006 feet.

So far no appreciable amount of oil has been shown by the drilling mud which has been circulated to the top.

No. 1 Federal-Wiggs is contracted to 13,000 feet.

Kelly-Canyon Outpost Is Now On Production

Daily initial production of 1,008 barrels of 41-gravity oil has been reported for Bert Fields of Dallas No. 1 Harmon, one mile north and one-quarter mile west extender for the Kelly-Canyon field of West-Central Scurry County.

This development, located 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 210, block 97, H&TC survey, is getting its petroleum from open hole in the Canyon at 6,739-59 feet. The production is natural, and no formation water has been developed. This well is four miles west of Snyder. Gas-oil ratio is 800-1. The extender is now on production.

Tide Water Finishes New Scurry Producer

Tide Water Associated Oil Company has completed its No. 2 R. H. House on the southeast side of the south extension to the North Snyder field, and six and one-half miles north of the town of Snyder.

It flowed natural for a calculated daily potential of 1,128.89 barrels of oil which had a gas-oil ratio of 95-1. Gravity of the petroleum was not reported. Flow was through a 3/4-inch choke.

Production was from open hole between the five and one-half inch casing set at 6,548 feet and the total depth at 6,558 feet. Flowing tubing pressure was 200 pounds. Location of this new producer is 1,867 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of section 384, block 97, H&TC survey.

Another North Snyder Extension Completed

Completion has been made by Lipscomb and DeLange of San Antonio, at their No. 3 A. L. Wren, on the southwest side of the south extension to the North Snyder field, and 467 feet from north and west lines of tract 11, section 20, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

The new producer flowed natural through the five and one-half inch casing at a daily yield of 472.39 barrels of 44-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio of the oil was 960-1. There was no formation water.

The production was from open hole between 6,840 feet where five and one-half oil string was cemented and the total depth at 6,900 feet in Canyon lime. Top of the pay was 6,612 feet.

Flowing casing pressure was 920 pounds and the tubing pressure was 550 pounds.

SW Andrews Wildcat Makes Sulphur Water

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Deeprock Oil Corporation No. 1 Mayhew, Southwest Andrews County wildcat to 12,000 feet to explore into the Ellenburger, made sulphur water in the Montoya, upper Ordovician, in a drillstem test at 10,821-11,018 feet.

The tester was open one hour. There was a strong blow of air throughout the possibilities of oil or gas production. It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 20, block A-51, psi survey. That makes it five miles north of the Dollard multi-pay field.

The venture is to continue drilling. Up to now it has not encountered any possibilities of oil or gas production. It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 20, block A-51, psi survey. That makes it five miles north of the Dollard multi-pay field.

Plans For Teacher Picnic Are Mapped

Plans for the third annual Chamber of Commerce-sponsored "school teacher" picnic, scheduled September 2 at Cloverdale Park, were mapped and committees appointed Monday afternoon. A meeting of the Chamber's Education Committee, Chairman Jack Jones presided at the session.

The purpose of the annual event, Jones said, is to assist faculty members and townspeople in getting acquainted.

School teachers and their families and Chamber of Commerce members and their families are invited to attend.

Committee appointments include: Charles Mathews, H. A. Thomason and Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., preparation of food; Cal Glass and Delbert Downing, drinks and dessert; Frank Monroe and Ray Lynch, program; and Jones and R. D. Scruggs, serving.
