Smith's Tax Bill Revived In Senate

AUSTIN (AP) — Squabbling senators pulled Gov. Preston Smith's original $307 million tax proposal from legislative oblivion today and approved it for full Senate debate Wednesday.

A preliminary 12-9 vote of the 21-member Senate Affairs Committee substituted the governor's tax plan for the House-passed measure that would have raised from $325 million to $341 million.

HIS PROGRAM

"This is the governor's special session and this is his tax program," said Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston. "This is the governor's program that is going to rise or fall in this session."

Smith recommended the $307 million tax program at the start of the special session which he called after he vetoed a one-year spending bill passed by the regular session that Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher said would take no new tax money.

SALES TAX

The governor's new tax program would increase the state sales tax from 3 to 3.5 per cent, put beer and liquor under the state sales tax, increase the motor vehicle sales tax, increase the corporate franchise tax rate 50 cents for two years only, and increase the state cigarette tax from 11 to 14 cents a pack.

The House bill also called for one-half cent increase in the state sales tax but it abandoned the governor's recommendations for new taxes on liquor and beer; boosted the cigarette tax five cents instead of three; put laundry, dry cleaning, auto repairs and other services under the sales tax, and added a 3.5 per cent entertainment tax and a token 10-cent stock transaction tax.

Efforts today by Sen. Jack Strong of Longview to remove this sales tax features from the governor's bill failed 12-9.

SPENDING BILL

"This would take about $180 million out of the bill," Strong said. "We don't need a tax bill this size. There would still be enough money left to pass a one-year spending bill and I think that is what we should have."

Senators voting against the governor's bill were Sens. Jim Bates of Edinburg, Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi, Criss Cole of Houston, Charles Herring of Austin, Barbara Jordan of Houston, Strong, Schwartz, Don Kennard of Fort Worth and Charles Wilson of Lufkin.

Barnes said the bill voted out of committee was merely a "vehicle" to be used in floor debate Wednesday.

"What it boils down to is this," Barnes said. "The Senate bill is going to be written on the floor."

However, Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher also indicated Monday the final tax version will be written by a conference committee—10 senators and representatives named to iron out differences between the two houses.

HOW BIG?

How big will the Senate bill be?

"We don't know," said Sen. W. T. Moore, Bryan, chairman of the State Affairs Committee and head of the subcommittee. "We haven't put it on the adding machine yet."

Barnes and numerous senators earlier criticized the House version as being too small for needed 1970-71 spending and spending and leaning too heavily on consumer pocketbooks instead of business. No senator would lend his name as sponsor of the House measure.

Texas AFO-CIO President H.S. "Hank" Brown told the Senate committee the House bill was the "straw that broke the camel's back" as far as the tax-paying working man was concerned.

PIPE DREAM

Mayor Louie Welch of Houston and other mayors protested the House bill would not let cities share in increased sales tax revenues. The House bill would gain $137 million by increasing the state sales tax from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent and another $104 million by broadening the base to include services such as laundry and dry cleaning, auto repairs and parking.

James Yancy of the Texas Manufacturers Association said businessmen could not live with the House version because business would be paying $169 million on top of the 50.5 per cent he said they now pay of each tax dollar.

Numerous senators questioned the House estimate that a 10-cent stock transaction tax would raise $18 million. Several senators said it would be more like $2 million. Dick Davis, Dallas stock broker, said $320,000 would be more accurate.

One senator recalled that Sen. Mike McKool, Dallas, planned to introduce a $2.50 per transaction tax which McKool said would raise $350 million.

"I know the senator smokes a pipe but I'd like to know what sort of tobacco he smokes," Davis said.

38,000 NAMES

James E. Johnson, operator of an amusement park in San Antonio, said the House-approved entertainment tax would hit teenagers who make up 80 to 90 per cent of his business. Rodeos were exempted in the House.

Jack T. Brown, Austin, presented 38,000 names from throughout Texas protesting the proposed new levy on laundry and dry cleaning.

Two witnesses testified against a one cent gallon refinery tax that is not in the House bill but has been considered by several senators.

"This could cause a shift of up to 600,000 barrels a day to refineries out of the state," said Frank Turpin, manager of Humble's Baytown Refinery.

Astros Tell Top Secrets Of Moon Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. reported today that working on the moon was easier than anticipated. They regretted not having more time to spend on the surface.

"I had no difficulty climbing down the ladder to the surface," said Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the moon July 20. "We had no problem operating."

Aldrin, who followed Armstrong by 20 minutes, said:

"We found out mobility on the surface better than we had anticipated. We found that a standard loping technique, one foot in front of another, was the best way to get around."

"Kangaroo fashion, two feet at a time, also worked, but not as easily," he said. "We found we had to anticipate two to three steps ahead on the moon, compared with one or two steps on earth."

Armstrong, Aldrin and Michael Collins, who orbited the moon while his companions explored below, told the story of their historic flight at a news conference today. They had been released Sunday from three weeks' quarantine when doctors determined they had contacted no lunar germs.

They accompanied a narration of the flight with color motion pictures and slides, most of which had been released earlier.

The pictures showed the landing on the moon, with the descent engine kicking up dust.

"This caused some concern because it degraded our visibility and ability to detect altitude," Armstrong said.

Other shots showed Armstrong's first step on the moon, beautiful views of a stark, boulder-strewn lunar landscape, the collection of rock samples, deployment of scientific instruments and planting of the American flag.

"It was one of my proudest moments to help plant the flag and to stand back and give it a quick salute," Aldrin told the newsmen.

As the lunar lander called Eagle took off from the moon, pictures showed the landscape receding in the distance, with craters shrinking as Armstrong and Aldrin headed for their rendezvous with Collins after nearly 22 hours on the moon.

"The departure was very smooth," said Armstrong. "We were real glad to have that engine light up."

"The primary difficulty on the moon," Armstrong said, "was there was too little time to do the things we wanted to do. We would have liked to have gathered samples of lunar bedrock. And there were some nearby craters we would have liked to explore."

"We had the problems of a 5-year-old boy in a candy store," he said. "There were just too many things to do."

Showing pictures of the earth on the quarter-million-mile journey home, Armstrong commented: "We certainly hated to leave the moon, but it was sure good to see the earth."

Armstrong said Apollo 11 was "an adventure that took place not just in the month of July, but rather one that took place in the last decade. We all here and the people listening in today had the opportunity to share that adventure over its developing and unfolding in the past months and years. That final month of July was certainly the highlight for the three of us in that decade."

13 EXPERIMENTS Versatile Satellite Launched

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A versatile spacecraft with booms almost the length of a football field rocketed into orbit today packing 13 experiments, including one that could help make transoceanic aircraft travel safer in the 1970s.

Called ATS 5 for the fifth applications technology satellite, the $12-million payload was wobbling in space slightly more than expected, however, forcing officials to consider firing a spacecraft motor 11 hours sooner than originally planned to kick the craft into its final orbit.

"I do not see any problem," said J. R. Burke, ATS program manager with National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters in Washington.

However, changing the flight plan would mean up to an additional week of minor orbital adjustments might be needed before the satellite could reach its final planned station 22,300 miles over the equator west of South America, he said.

HCJC Grant

A $6,800 program grant for law enforcement education at Howard County Junior College was announced today by Rep. Omar Burleson.

The funds will be to provide students in the regular law enforcement technology program with either student loans or grants. Local and state law enforcement personnel and persons who promise to enter the law enforcement field are eligible for assistance.

Grants may be made for tuition and fees, and those who apply for loans may have them cancelled at the rate of 25 per cent a year for four years if they stay in the law enforcement field.

The funds will be used during the coming school year.

Racketeering Counts Filed

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents today arrested three men and charged a fourth already in prison in connection with a gangland slaying and racketeering activities, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced.

The three were seized in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. At the same time a complaint was filed in Boston against three other men.

Base Pay Hikes

A pay raise for all Webb's 432 wage board federal employees was announced Monday afternoon by Warren A. Farrow, chief of civilian personnel, but base officials this morning would not immediately estimate the total increase.

The pay increase was announced from Washington and is effective with the pay period which began Sunday. The hikes range from 12.2 to 42.8 cents per hour, or 3.71 to 9.8 per cent. Night shifts remain the same.

Enemy Troops Plaster 128 Allied Bases

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops shattered the long battle-field lull early today, shelling 128 allied towns and bases across Vietnam. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese followed up with ground attacks on 14 allied positions and fought in the streets of two important towns north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said that all attacks were repulsed and that incomplete figures from the field listed more than 400 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were 51 dead and 345 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were called light but 23 government troops were killed and more than 60 wounded in two battles north of Saigon.

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said: "It's probably the start of their fall campaign but there is no indication how long they'll be able to sustain it. We can't tell if it's anything more than a high point so far."

One of the sharpest battles broke out at a U.S. artillery base blocking infiltration routes from Cambodia to Tay Ninh, 65 miles northwest of Saigon. The base was hit with 400 rounds of rockets, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

U.S. artillery fired back, and in the battle 54 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were killed in the hour-long fight, field reports said. Thirty-nine Americans were wounded.

The biggest enemy push came in an area near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. There about 2,000 North Vietnamese from two or three divisions attacked a dozen American bases around An Loc, a provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon; Loc Ninh, 10 miles farther north; and Quan Loi four miles northeast of An Loc.

Military spokesmen said the Communist command had planned to use more men, but more than 100 B52 strikes during the past five days along the Cambodian border and the doubling of allied strength there to 8,000 men disrupted some enemy units trying to move into attack position.

The spokesmen said the enemy's aim was to seize An Loc, Loc Ninh or Quan Loi, even if only for a short time, and establish a de facto provisional revolutionary government for a propaganda victory.

"This one we definitely were ready for," said one officer. "There attack was broken up before it really got going. Prisoners said they were going to attack the area probably Aug. 10th, 11th or 12th."

AUSTIN (AP) — A treasure hunter involved in the sunken Spanish galleon controversy dismissed as "crazy" today a charge by Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler that the ships have been "ravaged by pirates."

"This is the damndest, funniest thing I've ever heard," said Jeff Burke of Rio Hondo, one of the divers who figured in the first recovery of the sea treasures.

Sadler said Monday that "pilfering, plundering and pillaging" pirates had looted the treasure from three galleons that sank

Nixon Sends Congress Manpower Training Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed giving states and cities much of the authority for running $2.3 billion a year in federal programs to train more than one million Americans annually for jobs.

As part of his "New Federalism" concept of sharing state, local and federal power, Nixon sent to Congress a Manpower Training Act to streamline and make more flexible the welter of existing job training programs.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a briefing, said that despite Job Corps cuts which angered Congress, Nixon is proposing to add 150,000 Americans to job training rolls at an extra cost of $400 million a year.

Most of the additional training would go to welfare recipients if both the manpower bill and Nixon's welfare legislation are enacted. The welfare bill requires most recipients to take job training.

The manpower legislation also would boost job training funds 10 per cent if the nation's unemployment rate rose to 4.5 per cent for three straight months. It is now 3.6 per cent.

This, Shultz said, was to quell fears that many Americans might lose their jobs in Nixon's efforts to slow the nation's economy enough to cool inflation.

The bill also provides for a computerized national job bank to match the unemployed with job openings.

It would equalize living allowances for different job training programs, which now vary, to keep the unemployed from shopping around for the best allowance instead of for the most suitable job training.

Welfare recipients would receive, in lieu of the job training allowance, a special incentive of $30 a month in addition to welfare payments.

States and cities would take over much of the authority for planning and spending federal money for manpower programs heretofore largely run from Washington, but the Labor Department would retain overall responsibility.

Shultz said the bill provides for a gradual shift of authority to states and cities and that the Labor Department will retain power to run job training in any state or city that doesn't meet federal criteria.

A state would get 25 per cent of its federal funds when it proves capable of comprehensive manpower planning. Another 66.6 per cent of the state allotment would be turned over when it sets up an operating manpower agency, a state planning council and machinery to distribute the money through city or area agencies.

Desert Deaths

INDEPENDENCE, Calif. (AP) — Two men and a boy stranded in the desert by a car breakdown tried to walk 20 miles to civilization.

Without water and in 120-degree heat, they fell one by one.

Searchers found the sun-blackened body of Arnold Dobson, 65, seven miles from the stranded car Sunday. Three miles on lay Harold Mast Jr., 16. On Monday, the searchers came across the body of the boy's father, Harold Sr., 40. He had lasted 13 miles.

A deputy sheriff said the three had set out for their homes in Irvine and Corona Friday after visiting friends in Bishop, 40 miles north of Independence.

They said they planned to stop in Eureka Valley to look at the famous old El Capitan mine. Instead they wandered up an abandoned road into the barren Saline Valley, where their car stalled.

They set out on foot toward a paved road and a ranch house they had passed.

Although the two adults were mining equipment salesmen familiar with desert conditions, they had carried no water.

A mile from the car searchers found a spring-fed oasis in a willow grove. But the two men and the boy walked in the other direction.

Police Free Caretaker

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police have released the 19-year-old caretaker they held for questioning in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons.

"There is no reason to suspect him," said Inspector Harold Yarnell as William E. Garretson was released Monday after two days in custody.

The baby-faced youth wouldn't talk with newsmen. But his lawyer, Barry Tarrow, said Garretson was in his room in a guest house of Miss Tate's estate Friday night and Saturday when the five were shot and stabbed to death.

Garretson didn't know anything had happened until police kicked in his door at 9 a.m. Saturday, Tarrow said.

Investigators said they want to question friends of Miss Tate and Garretson.

Officers continued investigating the deaths of a supermarket owner and his wife whose bodies were found Sunday night, their heads hooded like one of the victims in the Saturday killings a few miles away. In both cases bodies were slashed and words were scrawled nearby in what appeared to be the victims' blood.

Despite the similarities, a police spokesman said, the cases apparently are unconnected. The couple, Leno A. LaBianca, 44, and his wife, Rosemary, 44, may have been the victims of a "copycat" killer, officers said.

Those killed with Miss Tate were Abigail Folger, 26, a San Francisco socialite; Voltyck Frykowski, 37, a movie associate of Miss Tate's husband, director Roman Polanski; Jay Sebring, 26, an internationally known hairdresser; and Steven Earl Parent, 18, a student from suburban El Monte who police and Garretson's lawyer said was a friend of Garretson.

SNUFF-DIPPING SADLER VOWS TO TRACK DOWN THIEVES

Pirates Ravage Spanish Galleons?

off Padre Island more than 400 years ago.

'CLOUD THE ISSUE'

He said it was "significant" that Burke, "the last man known to have operated a boat equipped for this type of work" is one of a number of persons allegedly trying to "cloud the issue."

Burke, in a telephone interview, denied he was involved in any piracy and said there is "no logistical or physical way that anything that he has said has happened could have happened. No way. No physical way."

He said "anybody that knows anything about diving would know beyond a shadow of doubt that the alleged pirating could not have been accomplished. There is no way."

He labeled "complete fallacy" Sadler's contention the sites were entirely cleaned out.

$100 MILLION

"By a small sub?" Burke asked. Those sites are full of ballast stones, canons, anchors, cannon balls, cargo . . . To get everything up from just one of the sites would take seven or eight freight cars.

"A submarine like that would cost $100 million."

"Besides, there was no chance that he was looking in the right place. We made aerial surveys while his divers were down last weekend and he was no closer than three-quarters of a mile from where any wreck that I know of."

"There also was a sand cloud that day. Any diver going down couldn't have seen anything anyway. It's so crazy, hell, it's pitiful."

"I welcome an investigation, I would just be happy as hell to see one.

Burke said he got involved in the matter when he ran across a salvage firm seeking the sunken treasures, "and we made loose association."

PROTECTION

Burke, also a commercial pilot, said he pulled out after "I realized that our methods to recover (the treasure from one ship) were atrocious and probably we were losing more than 75 per cent of what was down there."

He expressed concern over (See PIRATES, Pg. 6, Col. 1.)

Investment Club Purchases Stock

The Lucky Twenty Investment Club bought stocks in American Zyanamid Company at Monday's meeting in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Mrs. Elvis McCrary presided and appointed a nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Fred Beckham, Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Harold Hall. Reports were heard from Mrs. Clyde McMahon Jr. on the Zyanamid Company; Mrs. Sawyer Swords on Owens-Illinois Company; and Mrs. D. A. Brazel on Union Carbide.

Breakfast Club Honors Member

The birthday of Mrs. W. M. Gage was observed with cards and gifts when the Friendship Breakfast Club met Monday at Coker's Restaurant. Members gave favorite scriptures, and repeated the club prayer. The next meeting will be Sept. 8, when Mrs. Kyle Cauble will be honored on her birthday. Mrs. O. F. Williams will be hostess.

Married Saturday

Mrs. Marie Vines, 1002 Stadium, and Oscar Lee Johnson were married Saturday evening in the First Christian Church with the Rev. John Beard officiating for the ceremony. Following a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will reside at the Stadium street address. Mrs. Vines has been employed at Big Spring Nursing Inn, and Johnson works for Taylor Construction Company, Coahoma.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. McKinney, 5287 Drexel, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Renjia Ann, to Ronald A. Varley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Varley of Buffalo, N.Y. The couple plans a September wedding in Buffalo.

Pre-Nuptial Party Held Saturday

Fifteen hostesses honored Miss Mary Margaret Dettman with a pre-nuptial gift shower Saturday in the parlor at Wesley United Methodist Church. The honoree will be married to James Milner on Aug. 29 in the Methodist Church in Stockdale.

Wearing a beige dress with brown trim, Miss Dettman received guests with her mother, Mrs. R. H. Dettman, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Doyle Milner. All three were presented corsages of yellow carnations tied with green ribbon.

Appointments of crystal and silver were used on the refreshment table which was covered with a moss green cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery.

Mrs. Carmen Gonzales, publicity chairman, was unable to be present for the picture. Twenty-two members attended the installation.

83, She Turns From Law Briefs To Books

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer

Mrs. Kemper Campbell, a lawyer for well over half a century, got a late start on her writing career but she is making up for lost time.

The Grandma Moses of the literary world became a published author at the age of 77. Now, 83, she has just had her third book, "Marching Without Banners," released by Simon and Schuster.

"I write like some people paint, even though they can't give their paintings away," explained the octogenarian who looks and acts 20 years younger than she is, as she relaxed briefly after a busy day spent sight-seeing in New York. "I call what I write a manuscript."

I never call it a book until my publisher says it's a book."

The two previous volumes which her publishers have said are books are "Here I Raise Mine Ebenezer" and "Whom God Hath Joined Asunder," like the latest one collections of her opinions, observations, memoirs and advice.

Though she admits she may be more inclined today to say she is wrong than she once was, she still has fixed opinions on subjects ranging from urban renewal ("They should rejuvenate the old houses instead of tearing down whole blocks and moving people out") to sex in books ("We'll have a rage of it and it will go again"). "There's no use arguing with me because I'm not going to change my mind at this late date," she insists.

"Age is something you can't avert," declares the modestly dressed woman whose appearance and energy belie her words. "You have to submit to it and be gracious about it and meet the inevitable halfway. But you must keep up your mental curiosity. You don't have to die before you die."

Mrs. Campbell, who received her law degree from the University of Southern California at the age of 27, believes young people are not much different than they were when she was head of the juvenile department of the district attorney's office early in her career.

"They are getting progressively more outspoken and more articulate, but fundamentally I don't think they're any worse," she says. "They have become more aware of what should be done for other people. Justice is a holy word in my profession but these kids know what it really means."

She sees the Vietnam war as the basis for their present unrest and feels that if it ended adults would have a far better relationship with younger people.

"I don't blame them for rebelling against the war," she says emphatically. "It's a war nobody understands; they don't know why they are going, what they are fighting for and what the end will be."

Mrs. Campbell lost a son, Kemper Campbell Jr., in World War II but "he believed in the causes for which we fought. His death was a great sorrow, but a sorrow free from bitterness. But I would find death hard to accept in an undeclared war."

Another son, Joseph, practices law in California and a daughter, Mrs. Raymond DeBlaises, helps her mother run the Kemper Campbell Guest Ranch in Victorville, Calif., which the family has owned since the 1920s. There are five grandchildren.

Despite her understanding of the younger generation the outspoken Mrs. Campbell has some harsh words to say about them — and their parents: "I'm a friend to young people. I enjoy them. I appreciate them. They amuse me. I sympathize with them. But I'm not afraid of them. I can tell within one hour when people come to our ranch whether parents are afraid of their children and if they are I have to take over the discipline."

"We should compel young people to abide by respectable standards," she continues, her clear brown eyes, which need no glasses flashing. "We've catered to them too long, taught them to think they're being abused if they don't have everything they want. No student should be allowed in college unless he is well groomed, well dressed and his hair is a certain length. Violation of civil rights? Unless they want to build a college of their own they have no civil rights to go to colleges that we support."

In addition to being in private practice with her late husband, also a lawyer, the barrister-turned-bookwriter has been an elementary school teacher, deputy district attorney, professor of medical jurisprudence and legal counsel to the Los Angeles Planned Parenthood Association. "Those were the days when advocating birth control was a risk," she recalls. "Now they're giving the pill away."

An avid reader, devoted bridge player, dedicated gardener and enthusiastic cook, she also travels extensively and is working on another manuscript which she hopes will turn into a book. "I'm afraid my energy is going to outlast my intelligence," she says ruefully.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Honeybees:
Or should I say, dear sewing bees!

I just found out a secret, and I am absolutely singing it.

When you're going to have a patio or backyard party, why don't you go buy about three yards of that special cotton (the kind very few people can tell from linen and that lasts for years), or any kind of cotton for that matter, and make you some RED napkins!

Not only do they lend gaiety and color to your table, but the girls' lipstick doesn't show... I like the 18-inch napkins myself. You don't waste any material that way (because most of it comes 36 inches wide), and you've got a big enough napkin to spread out all over your lap when you try to hold that plate in your hand. This saves cleaning bills later.

For those of you who do not sew, these napkins may be fringed. All you do is pull out the threads until you get the fringe as long as you want.

But if you do sew and want to hem them, why not try putting a little decoration around the edge?

Take that little 'zig-zag' on your sewing machine and put it on the biggest stitch you have. Then some night when you're watching TV, just cut the excess off. I personally like this when the zig-zag is used to make scallops, because when you iron them it never puckers... Heloise

Dear Heloise:
If you like to use meringue on pies that you make with instant prepared pudding mixes, instead of the suggested toppings, why not try my method.

Prepare the meringue as usual, then arrange it on a greased pie tin just as you would on a pie.

I usually just make fancy blobs, brown it in the oven, and then, with the aid of a wide spatula, slide the meringue off the tin onto the pie... Marjorie J.

Dear Heloise:
Here's a timesaver your readers might appreciate:

When cleaning the two wire racks from my oven the other day, I placed one on top of the other, and by pushing the one a little forward and to one side, I was able to scrub them BOTH at the same time with the steel wool pad.

I turned them over and did the undersides the same way. The two racks were done in the time it usually takes to do one!... Marion Morris

Dear Heloise:

The best container I've found for haircurlers, and also a marvelous help for the traveler, is an old plastic rain hat (not cap) — the kind with a brim all around.

Punch holes around the brim of one of these little hats and draw a string or a ribbon through, one from each side so they will pull the hat closed for travel use.

This is so handy because it stays open if desired, and you can select the curlers easily. When traveling, the needed nightly items are available by just opening the hat on your bureau.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

I think my wife is a genius when it comes to disciplining our children. Humor is her password.

Our children were very disheartened to discover that their friends had never heard of "Herkimer." You see, Herkimer is the invisible mouse that lives at our house.

This mouse (a figment of my wife's great imagination) is responsible for ALL the naughty things our girls would never do.

My wife and I believe in consistency in discipline, well seasoned with common sense and spiced with humor.

I feel that the kind of humor my wife injects in our life keeps the world from closing in, and should be shared... Proud Husband

THERE ARE SIX CUBES, RIGHT?

It depends. Stare at them for a few seconds and the cubes suddenly become 7. It's just a visual illusion. Muzak is like that. It's what you might call an aural illusion. It sounds like music but it's actually a scientifically conditioned musical environment. One that people don't really listen to but react to psychologically and physiologically.

Companies all over the world—large and small—use Muzak as a programmed musical climate to motivate people and increase their efficiency. It is easily one of the most effective, low-cost management tools you can use to stimulate your employees to greater production.

We can show you precisely how Muzak can work for you most profitably. If you would like more information on our scientifically-planned musical environments, just phone.

Pilots Running Narcotics Prompts Tighter FAA Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hedge-hopping pilots running in narcotics from south of the border are prompting the United States to tighten its traditionally lax boundaries with Mexico.

The main concern, the FAA said in a notice of proposed rules in the Federal Register, is that illegal air traffic involving narcotics can create flight hazards.

Low altitude radar and pursuit aircraft currently are used against violators, the FAA said, concluding that "any pilot committed to escaping these devices may be expected to engage in extremely dangerous flight techniques."

In order to escape detection at the border narcotics smugglers operate from unprepared landing areas and in whether conditions beyond their flying capabilities, the FAA said.

Under the proposed regulations all pilots flying civil aircraft between Mexico and the United States would have to file flight plans and radio position reports. Pilots lacking a two-way radio would have to land at the nearest designated airport of entry and file an arrival notice.

Currently, there are no flight plan or radio position reporting requirements.

The new rule would provide identification for the aircraft and pilot, name the takeoff and destination airports, routes and altitudes to be flown and give departure and arrival times.

The FAA could suspend or revoke the pilot certificate of any violator. Or it could suspend the operating certificate of the owner or lesser when the airplane is owned or leased by an airline, commercial operator, air travel club or air taxi operator.

The Bureau of Customs reported that 8 per cent of the marijuana seized along the border during the first three quarters of the last fiscal year was involved in airplane cases.

Infidelity Woes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Johannesburg's Marriage Guidance Society says infidelity is the main cause of marital problems here. Incompatibility and sexual problems are also high on the list of marriage troubles, according to society statistics.

Mayor-Chief-Judge Sues Himself In Zoning Case

HYPOLUXO, Fla. (AP) — Mayor James M. Brown Jr. is suing himself, but he's darned if he's going to serve himself with a subpoena and then try himself in court.

Sound kind of complicated? It is.

In addition to being mayor and a member of the Town Council, Brown is police chief and judge in this hamlet of 200.

He and his nephew, Chris Robinson, jointly own a piece of property near the Intercoastal Waterway. Robinson recently opened a boat sales lot on the acreage.

The Town Council charged Robinson with a violation of its zoning ordinance which requires sales operations to be housed under a roof.

As mayor, Brown ordered his nephew either to comply with the act within 30 days or remove the boats.

Robinson did neither.

The Town Council, including Brown, then voted unanimously to go to court for an injunction to close the boat lot. As president of the two-man corporation owning the land, Brown was named defendant.

As police chief it seemed up to him to serve himself with the court papers. And then, as judge...

At this point Brown called a halt in the train of events.

He turned the whole problem over to the Palm Beach Circuit Court.

"I'm entirely innocent, but I'm caught in the middle of this mess," the mayor said in a press statement.

"I want it fully understood I don't condone any violation of our town zoning laws. I want our laws strictly enforced."

New Pan Am Pact Okayed

NEW YORK (AP) — Clerical and cargo employees returned to work today at Pan American World Airways after voting to approve a new three year contract and end a four-day, nationwide strike.

Pan Am said it resumed normal flight schedules early today following ratification of the contract agreement reached last Friday between the airline and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Harold Gibbons, a Teamsters vice president, said the vote was 65 to 35 per cent in favor of the pact which he described as "the best labor contract ever negotiated in the history of the airline industry."

The contract calls for a 37.4 per cent wage increase over the three years plus a variety of improved benefits. The wage hike will boost the average pay of 10,000 workers from $3.30 an hour to $4.52.

A Devotional For The Day

Give, and it shall be given unto you: good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over. (Luke 6:38)

PRAYER: Gracious God, our Father, who hath loved us into life by the giving of Thy Son, teach us to see the joyful need of sharing and sacrificing with others and for others. In the spirit of Jesus. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Why Hasn't This Been Done?

The American public has been led to believe that lightning-fast communications assure informing the presidential commander-in-chief of military crises abroad in time for quick decision and dependable defensive response. The short time span prepared for against a nuclear war threat has been widely and repetitiously publicized.

The televised phenomenal communications in the manned moon landing reinforced the complacency on operational speed in events affecting national security. But this complacency has been, or should be, shattered by the startling report from an investigative subcommittee, headed by Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., of the House Armed Services Committee.

Studying in minute detail the circumstances of North Korea's capture of the intelligence ship Pueblo and shooting down of the EC-121 spy plane, the subcommittee finds that the nation's ability to react to vital national emergencies has "serious deficiencies" attributable to the cumbersome civilian-military command structure. Most alarming is Pike's answer of a "flat no" to the question of whether the command-communications system is adequate for the President to react with timely effectiveness to a nuclear strike.

"We have never demonstrated any capability to get a message from the scene of a crisis to the President and get a message back from him on what to do about it in the time-frame necessary."

Shades of Pearl Harbor! Are we to understand that the tragic command-communications flop magnifying that disaster 28 years ago has not been satisfactorily corrected yet?

Surely it would not be overly difficult to simulate a variety of crises in a sufficiently realistic way for reliability testing of the information-decision-response communications systems of the defense command structure. And why has that not already been done, and checked and rechecked?

Handful Will Decide It

The Texas Senate faces the mountainous task of coming up with its version of a tax bill as answer to the House's nearly all-sales tax measure voted out last week. The liberal bloc in the Senate wants to put the load mostly on business instead of the consumer.

Observers feel that they will not be successful in this, but that they may force some modification of the House measure by putting some substantial amount of the new taxes on business.

With two weeks left, there is a pressing time factor, but veterans believe that the legislature can button up the job in the allotted time.

But Richard M. Morehead, a veteran statehouse reporter for the Dallas News, observes cryptically:

"Five senators and five representatives on the conference committee will write the final tax plan." He adds that Speaker Gus Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, as presiding officers of the two chambers, will naturally exercise considerable influence.

And when it is all packed up in the final hours, the parcel will be neatly delivered to both houses with a "take it or leave it" tag. That's the rules of the game. Someday we hope there are rules reforms that will provide for more latitude in the final decisions on something that not only reinvents the present tax schedules but adds on another $350 million. It is not wise, we think to invest in a dozen men such an awesome amount of power.

Health Is Everything

PARIS — A doctor's life in Paris can be a very interesting one, particularly when he is called upon to treat visiting tourists.

Recently a doctor friend of mine was called in the late afternoon to a hotel by a woman who said she thought her husband was having a heart attack.

When he arrived the wife was hysterical and while the doctor was examining the patient, the wife kept berating her husband.

"I TOLD you you shouldn't work so hard. How many times have I told you to slow down? You think you're a young man, but you're not any more and this should be a lesson to you. Business, business, business. That's all you ever think of. But you've never thought of me. What good is all your business if things like this are going to happen? Doctor, is he going to be all right?"

"Well," the doctor said, "all this talking isn't helping him much, nor is all this shouting and hysteria. We're going to have to take a cardiogram."

"A CARDIOGRAM?" the wife screamed at her husband. "How many times have I told you to take it easy? How many times have I said you'd wind up like all your friends who worked all the time? But you wouldn't listen. No, you were too smart. Now you have to have a cardiogram."

"Madam," the doctor said patiently, "there is nothing wrong with taking a cardiogram. I don't think there is anything wrong with your husband but I just want to make sure. Now please try to be quiet and let your husband rest until I can get a specialist to come over with the equipment."

Billy Graham

I see where the Red Chinese hierarchy has said: "Young love and marriage are a nefarious plot by the 'class enemy' to restore capitalism in China." Do the Red leaders think they can stop love and marriage?

Even the Red leaders must have made such a statement with tongue in cheek. Love and marriage are, after all, a decree from God to perpetuate the human race, and if there were no people the Reds would have no one to rule and push around.

This tack by the Reds in China only reveals how hard up they really are. The big problem in China is its exploding population, and Chairman Mao's pronouncement about love and marriage is an act of desperation to discourage young marriages, and the astounding birth climb in Communist China. There are, even now, many millions more mouths than they can feed.

But, historically, China is a nation with a great reverence for family life, and I don't think this will ever be swept away by a few quotations from Chairman Mao. The Communists make the mistake of presuming that political ideology should be first in the order of one's commitments. But, human nature simply isn't built that way. Even if they achieved an economic Utopia (which they have not), it would be sterile, and bore some, if there were no faith, hope and love. Witness the present affluence in the United States. Even with the highest standard in history, many are empty, restless and bored, because they have worshipped materialistic gods.

Nixon's Revenue-Sharing Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — There is some consolation in the President's revenue-sharing proposal for frustrated local taxpayers who increasingly have felt that funds sent to Washington were money poured down the drain.

Now, they are told, they might expect a return flow from the federal government that can be used on the local problems that always seem more pressing and real than national and international issues.

It is difficult to foresee what fate awaits this proposal, which would turn $1 billion a year back to the states and cities with far fewer of the strings and restrictions that usually accompany federal money.

There is no difficulty at all, however, in predicting that even if this proposal doesn't make the grade, the concept of revenue sharing in some form is going to get a thorough airing. It has been smoldering too long, and the pressures behind it are powerful.

Among the more serious reasons for studying revenue sharing is the cynicism that has developed among many citizens who work to pay taxes but cannot identify what they considered to be socially constructive projects resulting from the effort.

The news in recent months has pointed up how serious are the financial problems of local and state governments. Police and firemen have threatened to strike for higher wages. Churches have been criticized for not contributing revenue.

In many areas last fall a surprising number of bond issues were rejected by voters. And many of these projects were necessities: schools, sewers, health facilities. Local officials bitterly complained that the federal government had pre-empted the revenue-raising business.

The number and variety of taxes that have developed on the local and state level are staggering, and still they are considered insufficient. Some workers now file three income tax returns. And retail sales of ten have local as well as state taxes attached.

Personal income taxes now are collected in at least 37 states, and 7 of these raised the rates last year. Sales taxes exist now in at least 44 states and are becoming more common on the municipal level.

Last year eight states increased taxes on cigarettes, three on alcohol and five on gasoline. On the local level, property taxes went up nearly everywhere and now average $145 per person.

Life Would Be Rosier If . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Life would be rosier if the postman brought more letters like these:

"Remember Joe Jimcrack, the guy who beat you out by three votes when our high school graduating class was selecting the one most likely to succeed?"

"Well, it seems like he has been in nothing but trouble ever since he started passing those bad checks. Recently he had most of his teeth knocked out in a brawl in a low dive on Elm Street. Some of his old classmates are taking up a collection to buy him a set of false teeth so he'll at least look respectable at the 25th reunion of our class next spring."

"Shall I put you down for a buck?"

"The results of your annual physical examination are now in. As your doctor, I must say you are a medical marvel for a man your age."

"You have the heartbeat of a college athlete. Your lungs are clear: your liver and kidneys are A-plus; there are no signs of ulcer; your musculature can only be described as fabulous. You are in such good shape that I even believe your hair is growing back in."

"No, I see no reason for you to go on a diet or take special exercises. You are free to eat or drink anything you want."

"Elmer, I want you to take charge of the office during my trip to Europe. Confidentially, I'm considering early retirement, and on my return I'll probably turn over the keys to my desk to you permanently."

"There is one unpleasant chore I'd like you to do. I want you to hand his walking papers to Frank Climber, our third vice president. He spends so much time scheming to get the jobs of better men that his own work has slipped badly."

"The task of letting him go should be less unpleasant to you than it would be for me, however, since as we both know he has been trying to stick a shiv in your own back for at least 10 years. You can give him a farewell bonus if you feel like it—but keep it small."

"No, it won't be necessary for you to wear tie and tails or a masquerade costume to the White House Halloween ball. As you know, Mrs. Nixon and I are both pretty down-to-earth people and don't go in for stuffy affairs."

"So just tell your wife to wear something informal. An ordinary business suit will do for you. It should be doubly appropriate, as a matter of fact, because I'd like you to stay for a chat after the other guests leave and pick your brains for suggestions on my administration's business policies."

"Hope you won't mind also if we show you a few home movies taken during our recent world trip. Be sure to bring along a good appetite—Lyndon has sent up several dishes of fine Texas beef for the party."

To Your Good Health

It May Not Always Be Wife's Fault

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been trying to get pregnant for three years without success. I am 31 and have two children, aged 6 and 9.

I have talked to several doctors and taken tests including temperature graphs, salpingograms, and others.

All I get for an answer is, "I see no reason why you can't get pregnant. There's nothing we can do."

There must be something they can do. There are pills for everything else. — Mrs. M. B. Sounds to me as though you've gone about half way in trying to solve your problem. You make absolutely no mention of your husband having been examined.

For whatever reasons, men are far more reluctant to admit that they could possibly be responsible. Why, Henry VIII imprisoned or even beheaded wives who didn't have the children he wanted! But it takes two to make a baby, and medical experience shows that the basis of the problem is in the husband almost as often as in the wife.

It also is far easier to test the male for fertility. At this point you are wasting your time trying anything else until your husband goes to the doctor for a test or two.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 35 and have rheumatoid arthritis. Friends have given me the address of a uranium mine, and all you do is go down in the mine in an elevator and come up again, and do it for several days, and the pain just seems to disappear. These friends know a lady who went there and is almost cured. I would like your opinion on this.—Mrs. C.G.

That is one of a number of types of quackery which the Arthritis Foundation warns against. Just going down into such a mine, or into a tunnel, does nothing to help arthritis. Indeed, such faint radiation as exists in the minerals is vastly weaker than can be produced medically, if it really could do any good.

The explanation of people who say they feel better apparently is purely coincidental or psychological. Arthritis tends to fluctuate, for one thing. For another, just expecting or hoping that some such thing will be a "cure" can give the patient a temporary lift so he thinks he is better. But traveling to such places is a rather expensive way to get such a psychological lift.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Never Wanted To Be A Senator

(The following was the last "Rim" column Sam Blackburn wrote for The Herald before his death July 27. One of reminiscences, it reveals his distaste for pomposity.)

For the best part of three months, I had occupied a seat each day at the impeachment trial of a state governor. The state senators were the court; the house of representatives had a special committee serving in the role of prosecutor. The governor was charged with incompetency. Actually, the whole thing was a battle over control of the state's highway department. The outs couldn't swing things the way they wanted them swung; therefore they set out to get the governor.

I HAD, as you might realize, become just a little fed up with state senators and the way they operated. From the opening day of the trial, it was an open secret how it would end — the governor would be kicked out willy-nilly. It was not a question of whether his political foes had the evidence against him or not.

Finally, the vote was taken and the senators voted by a top-heavy majority to oust the state executive. None of the newsmen at the press table were surprised at the outcome. Nor for that matter were any of the governor's friends surprised — everyone had known all along how it would go.

WHEN THE verdict was announced,

I left the senate chamber and made my way out into the corridor and toward the office of the lieutenant governor who, by virtue of this verdict, was now the state's governor.

I wanted to ask him a question about some phases of his plans — what it was I have now forgotten. I never really got a chance to ask him the question, anyway.

About half-way to his office, I met the new governor going to the senate chamber. I stopped him and told him I had a question.

"WHY, CERTAINLY, Senator," said the executive. "I'll be back in my office in about 10 minutes. Why don't you go there, Senator, and when I get back we'll have a nice talk."

I didn't go there and we didn't have that nice talk.

I was too angry.

AFTER I HAD watched a house full of state senators in their native habitat for three months I did not relish being identified as one of the breed.

I had always thought the lieutenant governor a pretty nice fellow until that moment.

I never liked him after that meeting.

He should have known I wasn't a state senator and even if he hadn't known, he had no right to call me one.

The Arrest Of Minutemen Leaders

WASHINGTON — It may be only a fly speck on the confident surface of the body politic, or it could be a symptom of deep-seated internal trouble. The arrest of the founder of the extreme right Minutemen, Robert Bolivar DePugh, and his lieutenant, Walter Patrick Peyson, in Truth or Consequences, N.M., deserves more consideration than it has had for two highly significant reasons.

First, despite an intensive search for the two men by the FBI on charges of violating federal firearms regulations and for conspiracy to rob Seattle banks, it was a year and a half before they were apprehended. And then their arrest seems to have been due to chance recognition by a local law enforcement officer of the 1957 Jeep station wagon they were driving. The FBI had sent out an alert for the Jeep.

SECOND AND more important was the extraordinary cache of weapons they had built up. As uncovered by the FBI after the arrest, it included 48 rifles, carbines, shotguns, pistols and a variety of other weapons. Thousands of rounds of ammunition, high explosives, dynamite, bombs, fuses, cans of tear gas, rifle scopes, a signal pistol for flares, even boxes and arrows equipped with impact grenades were stored in the hideout. It was equipment enough to launch a small guerrilla war.

DEPUGH AND his followers say they are building up these arsenals in anticipation of a Communist takeover in the United States. Then they mean to take to the hills and resist to the last man.

In the charge involved in the Seattle bank plot, their tactics strongly resemble those of the early revolutionaries in czarist Russia in the first years of this century. They are alleged to have concocted a wholesale plot to rob the banks to get money for more arms, much in the same way Stalin in his native Georgia blew up banks to get funds to carry on the underground revolution.

THE MINUTEMEN may be no more than the paranoid lunatic fringe such as, in one form or another, has been a recurring phenomenon. It must be added, however, that no lunatic fringe apparently as well organized as the Minutemen has been seen before. At least two more other Minutemen caches have been uncovered, one in the New York area, one at Collinsville, Ill., the latter larger even than the New Mexico find.

J. EDGAR HOOVER puts a low estimate on the number of recruits in this militant rightist organization. But if two conspicuous leaders wanted on a variety of charges can hide out for so long, thanks to their own underground, "this estimate may be far too low. From around the country come disturbing accounts of Nazi-like tactics used to frighten and silence left-wing dissidents.

HOOVER RATES the Black Panthers as the most threatening revolutionary body in existence today. At least one Black Panther arms cache has been uncovered. In Oakland, Calif., shocking forays with the police threatened, at one point to break into open warfare. Eldridge Cleaver's imprisonment, his parole and his flight from the country were an outgrowth of this confrontation.

Arms on the extreme left, arms on the extreme right — here is the stuff that could explode into something like civil war. That has a wholly unreal sound. Surely not here in affluent America with the moon triumph putting all in a state of euphoria.

The Moon And The Caribbean

WASHINGTON — Columbia hasn't shone as Gem of the Ocean for some time now. It's questionable whether NASA's triumph with Apollo Eleven completely eclipses the simultaneous cruise of the eight-ship Soviet flotilla in American waters.

WHILE THE astronauts were on the Moon, Ted Kennedy in Edgartown, President Nixon starting round-the-world, this Soviet sea-force with its guided-missile cruiser, guided-missile frigate, submarines and oilers sailed along off the Florida keys, into Havana harbor for a visit and on to the Gulf of Mexico. The astronauts and Mr. Nixon completed their scheduled trips. Sen. Kennedy spoke his piece and returned to the Senate, and the Soviet flotilla is still around at this writing, "just punching holes in the water," says the U.S. Navy.

WE HAVE planted the American flag on lunar soil, a TV sight to thrill the patriot's heart, and the President has planted his feet in Saigon, symbolizing no retreat. But the Communists haven't retreated from the Caribbean either. Who is more firmly entrenched, President Thieu or Premier Castro? Are the Viet Cong harder to search-and-destroy than the Black Panthers who periodically turn up in Havana and boast of overthrowing American "imperialism?"

CURIOSLY, our conquest of the Moon, and the Russian conquest of Cuba cover about the same time span. President Kennedy welcomed John Glenn back from Space in February, 1962, at a time when Khrushchev was doing his missile-buildup as close as he could get to our shores. The U.S. Space program went forward in the open and was advertised as a scientific boon to all mankind. The Soviets were militarizing Space, and soon had FOBS, which is a vehicle for orbiting the H bomb. They were planting Cuban missiles capable, in President Kennedy's words, in October '62, "of striking Washington, D.C., the Panama Canal, Cape Canaveral, Mexico City, or any other city in the southeastern part of the United States, or in the Caribbean area."

MEANWHILE, there was a persistent line in U.S. policy for blaming ourselves, rather, than the Russians for the turning of Cuba into a war-launching base in the Western Hemisphere. President Kennedy let it be known that "the most positive policy would be to redouble support for Latin America's battle against poverty and illiteracy which create conditions that allow Castroism or Communism to develop. Mr. Kennedy's Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles said that our "struggle is against conditions in Latin America that created Castro in Cuba and could create more Castros if they are not met . . ." Of course, these "conditions" didn't exist in pre-Castro Cuba which was then foremost among Latin American countries in food, shoes, medical care and wages.

THE U.S. MISSILE, plane and Navy supremacy was so overwhelming in 1962 that Russia was in danger of annihilation while we were not. Much has changed since then, and, maybe our peaceful presence on the Moon, along with Russia's military presence in the Caribbean, sum it up. We've done a lot for mankind, but not very much for homo Americanus.

Will Durbin Testify At His Murder Trial?

AUSTIN (AP) — The defense in the Clyde Durbin Jr. murder trial was nearing the point today when it would have to decide whether to put the defendant on the stand.

Speculation among courtroom observers is that Durbin will testify, but probably not until after the state puts on its psychiatrist to rebut defense testimony that Durbin was insane Jan. 8 when a University of Texas couple was slain and is insane now.

A second defense psychiatrist was expected to testify today that Durbin is a psychotic schizophrenic.

SPLIT PERSONALITY

Durbin, 22, of Dallas, is being tried in the gunshot death of John Albert White, 21, of Corpus Christi. He also is charged in the slaying of a woman, Keitha Morris, 19, of White Deer.

Dr. Joseph Lindsey of Dallas testified Monday that tape recordings made of Durbin's voice during oral and written statements are consistent with a psychotic personality.

In the first tape, during the oral statement, Durbin sounds as if he was talking from the bottom of a well in a low, incoherent voice, with long pauses between words.

In the second tape, made 30 minutes later as he began writing his account of the killings he sounds light-hearted and loud, but less confused.

DON'T THINK SO

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith asked the doctor if the second tape was consistent with "someone who's gotten something off his conscience."

"No, I don't think so. I think he would be depressed," Lindsey said.

Outside the courtroom, Durbin's father, president of a Dallas manufacturing firm, said: "I think we've got an insanity plea cinched on the basis of those tapes."

The slain girl's father, John Morris, a school principal, disagreed. He said he still sticks with his opinion that "He's not insane, he's just mean."

BLAMES MOTHER

Durbin's mother caused his illness, Lindsey testified. She is a "schizophrenogenic mother," he said, which means she makes schizophrenics of her children.

A schizophrenic mind is divided with conflicting thoughts, like a photographic plate that has been double exposed, he said.

"She doesn't like her child. She doesn't want to play the role of a mother. Then she feels guilty and overplays the role of mother, worrying in the summer time about the child catching cold the next winter," he said.

"The child is spanked one day for spilling milk and laughed at the next day for setting fire to a house. The child doesn't know how to interpret people's actions," he said.

Durbin's psychosis was "well formed by the time he was 10 or 12," Lindsey said.

Asked if he had an opinion of Durbin's condition at the time of the slayings, the doctor said:

Cuts Wheat Allotments

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third consecutive year, the federal government has cut wheat acreage allotments—this time to a record low of 45.5 million acres for the 1970 crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin announced Monday the 12 per cent reduction from the 51.6 million acres in effect this year. The cut is a bid to head off rising surpluses.

Farmers would be eligible under the program for basic price support loans of $1.25 per bushel, plus additional payments for their share of wheat used domestically. Except for revisions reflecting changing prices, most of the 1970 wheat program remains unchanged from this year's arrangement.

U.S. wheat exports lag far behind peaks of recent years—with those for the fiscal year that ended June 30 totaling 542 million bushels, against 761 million in 1967-68. Carryover supplies reached 811 million bushels on July 1, compared with 539 million a year ago.

Hardin said it is likely there will be an additional buildup of wheat surplus by next July 1.

NEW TRAFFIC LAWS—NO. 3 Rules Cover Right-Of-Way, Following Too Closely

AUSTIN — Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, notes that effective Sept. 1, laws passed by the Texas Legislature will establish new rules of right-of-way and new rules for following too closely.

The right-of-way law sets out four rules governing the right-of-way at intersections. Speir urged all drivers to review the rules closely, and note the instances in which they must stop, yield and grant the right-of-way.

Drivers at intersections controlled by stop, yield or traffic control devices must obey the signs.

WHEN APPROACHING

Drivers of vehicles on a single lane street or roadway consisting of two traffic lanes, upon approaching an intersection not controlled by signs of a divided street or a street or roadway divided into three or more marked lanes, must stop, yield and grant the privilege of right-of-way to vehicles on the larger street.

Drivers of vehicles on unpaved streets intersecting a roadway that is paved must stop, yield and grant the right-of-way to vehicles on the paved street.

Drivers of vehicles on streets of equal size and paving must stop, yield and grant the privilege of immediate use of such intersection to any other vehicle which has entered the intersection from such driver's right, or is approaching such intersection from the driver's right in such proximity as to constitute a hazard.

CLEAR DISTANCE

Speir said the act further provides a rule of evidence that in cases of collision, the person shall have been presumed not to have yielded the right-of-way if the four conditions have not been satisfied.

The following too closely law, as amended, will require drivers to maintain an assured clear distance between the vehicle ahead, exercising due regard for the speed of the vehicles and the traffic upon and conditions of the street or highway. Drivers must be able to bring their vehicle to a stop, using these guidelines, without colliding with the preceding vehicle, or veering into other vehicles, objects or persons on or near the street or highway.

Horoscope Forecast TOMORROW —CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to conclude lots of matters that have been difficult to handle before. The very least you can do is reach some decisions that could make the road ahead easier for you. The evening is romantic. Be happy and have a good time.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your creative ideas can improve both your business and personal activities. Be happy when your closest friend shows true affection. Don't take him or her for granted. Be fair.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) It is important that you handle early those conditions at home. Try to get control over the things that bother you. Show compassion for a close friend who is feeling upset. Show that you are a calm and poised person.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Talk over with your regular friends your clever ideas. You can get their cooperation and suggestions. Be sure to keep your appointment with the dentist or doctor. Don't keep putting it off.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have much of a financial nature to take care of right now. Property could be involved. Follow your intuition where that worldly matter is concerned. Try not to lose your temper with anyone.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your personality is highly magnetic now. If you go after that aim in a direct fashion you will get the right results. Be with those who admire you for your own finest qualities. They have excellent ideas for your advancement.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do whatever will show your mate that your devotion is sincere. Do not procrastinate doing thoughtful little things that help others who are having difficulties. Don't forget to say that important bill.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Take some time to be with congenial friends at the pleasures that appeal to all of you. Be very friendly. You have some aim that means a good deal to you. It can now be realized easily.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You have to be exact in handling these vocational duties to keep that higher-up satisfied. Be careful to observe every regulation that applies to you. Stop being so egotistical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is not a good day to put new ideas into operation. You can get ahead much faster by pleasing some friend who is giving you valuable information. Study it well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy of the responsibilities that are most important. Do them without further procrastination. You can settle that situation between you and your mate. Be quiet. Discuss Don't lose your temper.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you want to continue a happy and successful life, it is important that you show your good partner your true cooperation. Listen to suggestions, also. Take it easy this afternoon.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are anxious to complete all those tasks on hand. But be sure to get home and improve the garden, too. Listen to the ideas a fellow worker gives you. Use the best ones. Be enthusiastic.

SAYS MORALE HIGH — Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commander of the U.S. Marine Corps, says morale "couldn't be better" despite recent racial brawls at Camp Lejeune, N.C., and Hawaii's Kaneohe Marine Air Station. Chapman made the statement in Honolulu Monday while enroute home from a tour of Vietnam and Okinawa.

Blistering Sun Shoots Waco Mercury To 112

By The Associated Press

With Texas temperatures soaring a little higher nearly every day it was bound to happen—somebody finally revived the old stunt of frying an egg on a sun-heated sidewalk.

This time the place was Waco and the temperature stood at a blistering 112 degrees. Boy Scout Ronald Woods, 11, a tenderfoot, cooked the egg and passed his cooking test for advancement to 2nd class.

It was only one degree cooler at 111 on Monday, but city official Glynn Weaver said nobody bothered about using a sidewalk for a frying pan. He explained, "It was too hot for the hens to lay."

The 112-degree reading was the hottest ever recorded at Waco in Central Texas, and several other points chalked up new highs for the date. Temperature hit 100 or better at all but a handful of the other stations making daily weather reports.

Showers and thunderstorms were expected again this evening in parts of East and South-east Texas.

disappeared along a line from Dallas to Lufkin, but few brought enough rain to measure. One of the heavier storms was accompanied by winds that smashed plate glass windows, snapped utility lines and toppled trees at Bryan. Torrential rain fell briefly. It measured .63 inch in Bryan's twin city of College Station.

The showers, playing out as they moved southward, left a trace of rain at the Houston airport.

Top temperatures elsewhere included Childress and Mineral Wells 107, College Station and Cotulla 106, Austin, Laredo and San Angelo 105, Abilene, Dallas, Lufkin and Wichita Falls 104, Alice, Del Rio and San Antonio 103, Fort Worth, Tyler and Victoria 102, Big Spring, Dalhart, El Paso, Houston and Wink 101, and Amarillo, Lubbock, McAllen and Midland 100.

Forecasts promised little change. A few thunderstorms were expected again this evening in parts of East and South-east Texas.

C-City Council Tables Disannexation Request

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City council Monday night tabled a request for disannexation from 20 landowners in the northeast part of Colorado City, pending an expression of opinion from other landowners in the north side of town. Landowners who have complained say that the area is mostly crop and pastureland and that they receive no city services in return for their taxes.

The council also heard a letter from the city's engineer, Bennett Reeves, Lubbock, who proposed to make a survey of the downtown area for $2,500 to determine the possibility of giving it a shopping center atmosphere. The report would include recommendations by city planners, engineers, and landscape architects. The letter was referred to the chamber of commerce committee, Operation Pride, for study.

In other business, the council: 1. Heard a letter from former Mayor Peter Martin who requested the return of a .38 calibre pistol he had left in City Hall in 1948 when he left Colorado City. It was approved. 2. Approved the low bid of R. H. Delaney for building two showers and two restrooms at the City Park at Lake Champion for $2,335.

3. Appointed Mrs. Peggy Bagwell to the city's museum committee and heard a recommendation from the committee to appoint Mrs. Mildred Campbell as museum curator. Mrs. Campbell was one of 11 applicants.

Green Berets Death Case Still Cloudy

NHA TRANG, Vietnam (AP) — Col. Robert B. Rheault's successor as commander of the Green Berets in Vietnam said today he believes Rheault and seven Special Forces men accused with him of murder will be exonerated.

Col. Alexander Lemberes, 43, also indicated that he would not object to a congressional investigation of the mysterious case.

A civilian attorney for one of the eight men, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C., proposed such an investigation Monday, charging that his client was being "sacrificed" for political reasons.

Lemberes, of Sparks, Nev., took command of the 5th Special Forces Group in June when Rheault, six other Green Beret officers, and a sergeant were arrested. They are being held in the Long Binh stockade, north of Saigon, while the Army decides whether to bring them to trial on charges of conspiring in the murder of an unidentified Vietnamese.

The Vietnamese is believed to have been exposed as a double agent working for the Americans and the Communists. Informal military sources said Monday his killing was an assigned "military mission," and Middleton's civilian attorney, George W. Gregory of Cheraw, S.C., said "the CIA was very gravely involved."

Fenders Bent In Accidents

Three minor traffic accidents were investigated by Big Spring police Monday afternoon and night.

The first mishap occurred at 12:45 p.m. at Second and Goliad, involving cars driven by William Charlton Roan, 1516-B Sycamore, and Tom Carl Hadley, 1214 E. 18th.

A car owned by James P. Ellison, Vincent Route, Coahoma, rolled from a parked position into the side of a house at 1022 Nolan.

At 9:45 p.m. police investigated an accident at Gregg and Edwards. Drivers of the vehicles were William Allen Jones, Webb AFB, and Erasmo Rangel Garza, Rt. 1, Edcouch.

Lemberes said in an interview that he could not understand the manner in which U.S. Army authorities had handled the case, although he conceded that "they have the facts and figures," and he does not.

But he added: "I think that when the real story comes out, Special Forces will be cleared of this wrong that they have been accused of."

Meanwhile, Gregory awaited a decision on his petition for the immediate release from custody of Middleton. The attorney contends that the detention of the men while the Army makes up its mind whether to try them is illegal.

U.S. officials in Saigon familiar with the case said they felt Gregory "tended to exaggerate" in his charges against the military's conduct of the case. One of these sources denied that the CIA was involved.

Autopsy Bid Looms Today

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis was expected to file either today or Wednesday his official request for an autopsy on the body of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, the young blonde secretary who died in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's July 18 auto accident, reports said.

The reports, both here and in Boston, quoted Dinis as implying that the initial paperwork could be handled by registered mail.

"The clerk of court (in Pennsylvania, where Miss Kopechne is buried) will then set a date for a hearing at which we probably will appear and argue," the Boston Globe quoted Dinis as saying.

Dinis and his assistants were reported nearing completion Monday night of their petition seeking the autopsy.

"It will recite what conditions substantiate our need for exhumation and an autopsy," Dinis said.

Miss Kopechne was buried in her hometown of Plymouth, Pa., without an autopsy three days after the accident.

The medical examiner who released the body without an autopsy because the cause of death—declared officially to be accidental drowning—was "obvious."

Dinis already plans an inquest into the case. It begins Sept. 3 in Edgartown District Court on Martha's Vineyard, a resort island off the Cape Cod Coast.

It was on Chappaquiddick Island, adjacent to the Vineyard, that the accident occurred.

QUESTIONS DEFENSE SPENDING — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., questioned the value of certain Defense Department research projects Monday as he urged passage of an amendment to slash $45.6 million from the defense budget. He is also pressing his demand for the top secret text of a U.S. military agreement with Thailand.

Thinks Embarrassment Might Pry Lose Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright is pressing his demand for the top secret text of a U.S. military agreement with Thailand—and he thinks embarrassment at the Pentagon may pry it loose.

The joint chiefs of staff ordered three military officers to brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today on terms of the five-year-old agreement.

But Fulbright, the committee chairman, already has declared that an unacceptable substitute for a look at the exact terms of the document, described as a contingency plan.

The Arkansas Democrat said in an interview he hopes the joint chiefs will send along a copy of the document, so the committee can examine it in closed-door session.

"They won't let us have it," he said. "The excuse is that somebody will make a copy of it."

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Thomas posted a "no solicitors" sign on his house. Recently, Thomas said, a salesman came to the door and tried to sell him some wax to polish the sign.

Ex-Rep. O'Hara Of Illinois Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Barratt O'Hara of Illinois, who was the oldest member of the House until he lost the Democratic primary last year, is dead at age 87. He was the last veteran of the Spanish American War to serve in Congress.

O'Hara, of Chicago, died Monday at Georgetown University Hospital from lung congestion and heart failure.

Survivors include three sons. Services will be Friday in Chicago.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: So much has been said about "louses" who are late with the support check I'd like to say a few words about the other side.

My husband was stationed in Alaska when his first wife started running around. By the time he got home it was too late to save his marriage—or his credit rating. When the case came to court, he was a "gentleman" and didn't use the grounds of adultery, so the judge gave his wife custody of their four children, plus support payments that amounted to two thirds of his salary.

Two days after we were married his wife shipped the kids to us for their "summer vacation." She came to pick them up 26 MONTHS later! During that time we had a child of our own and a second one on the way.

Whenever she gets tired of the kids she ships them to us. They are always shoeless, threadbare and starved for a decent meal. Their support money is obviously used for something else.

I believe a divorced man should support his children, but this is ridiculous. What do you say?

THE OTHER SIDE

DEAR OTHER: Hear heart! But take heart. Divorce reforms are in the works.

he also used a magnifying glass to read the newspaper, but he insisted on driving his automobile. All the people on our street knew what a terrible driver he was, and they'd get out of his way when they saw him coming. If anyone suggested that maybe he should quit driving, he had a fight on his hands.

I wrote to the State Motor Vehicle Department and told them my problem, asking them not to let my father know who tipped them off.

Shortly afterwards Daddy received an official notice to appear for a "re-testing." Of course he failed, and the examining officer who gave him the test said he had never seen a worse driver.

Our family was greatly relieved, and Daddy never knew who turned him in. Please don't use my name. He's still living and plenty sore.

Tomato Town Festival Blues

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Reynoldsburg, birthplace of the tomato, is having a tough time drumming up enthusiasm for its tomato festival, Sept. 16-21.

Although a botanist developed the basic domestic strain of tomatoes here years ago, Reynoldsburg never has been a tomato town.

The commercial tomato industry is located in northern parts of the state and tomato processors have shown little or no interest in Reynoldsburg's festival.

Planes Rake Arab Camps

By The Associated Press

Israeli planes killed one woman and wounded a number of persons Monday in three villages and several military posts in the Mt. Hermon area of southeast Lebanon, the Beirut government reported Monday night.

The Israelis reported seven Arab guerrilla camps hit in the 30-minute air raid and said all planes returned safely. A communiqué said the attack was in retaliation for 21 "terrorist acts carried out from Lebanese territory" in July.

Lebanon said the Israeli planes used napalm bombs. A spokesman in Beirut said the villages of Chouba, Shwaya and Hammam were hit.

The air strike into Lebanon followed four days of Israeli air attacks on Jordan, on the eastern front. It was the second raid inside Lebanon in two weeks. On July 30, jets strafed and bombed guerrilla camps around Mt. Hermon.

Today's hand which produced a sizable swing in a recent team-of-four contest might be titled by its victim as "justice thwarted." Altho the element of luck in the deal is admittedly great, this player might well have achieved a happier fate had he paid closer attention to his opponent's bidding before selecting his opening lead.

At one table, North opened the bidding with one club and South proceeded directly to four no trump. Employment of Blackwood holding a void suit and three losing diamonds is utterly pointless but, once North confessed to having both missing aces, South barged right into seven spades. Where he was going to dispose of all of his losers appeared to be a matter of small concern to him.

It was at this point that fate apparently stepped into the proceedings. West opened the four of diamonds and South proceeded to make a mockery of justice. East's queen forced declarer's ace and the latter trumped the ace of hearts was cashed on which a diamond was sluffed and now the queen of hearts was put thru. East did not cover, but declarer successfully shed his last diamond, and after drawing trump he claimed the grand slam.

West bemoaned his ill-fate bitterly and, while he is entitled to a little "tea and sympathy" for his sad story, it is suggested that he did not give due consideration to his initial attack. South's blatant sequence of bids proclaimed that his side held every first round control. The diamond lead therefore has little to recommend it and, since there is no hope of cashing a trick immediately, West might just as well get out with a trump on the outside chance that this might inhibit declarer from ruffing something in dummy. It can hardly cost since South would not leap with such precipitation into a grand slam lacking solid spades.

At the other table, a small slam in spades was reached on the bidding sequence presented in the diagram. The West at this table did, in fact, select a trump lead, and declarer was unable to bring in his contract. Deprived of the diamond ruff, he had only 11 top tricks and was obliged to fall back on a club finesse to obtain a 12th trick. When this failed, he was permanently disconnected from the dummy, and the outcome was a three trick defeat. The total swing on the deal to the victorious team was 2,510 points.

Wax For Sign?

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Thomas posted a "no solicitors" sign on his house. Recently, Thomas said, a salesman came to the door and tried to sell him some wax to polish the sign.

Is there an Area Code for Mazar-i-Sharif, Afghanistan?

Not yet. But in the future there will be Area Codes for cities all over the world.

You'll be able to dial direct to places like Rome and even Mazar-i-Sharif as easily as you now call New York.

Yes, international direct dialing will be introduced during the next decade. In fact, it's already being tested between New York, Paris and London.

We're working on tomorrow's telephone service today so that you will always have the phone service you expect.

We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

WINSOME WELCOME — Miss Buffalo, Kathy Harpinski, plants a kiss on O. J. Simpson's cheek as he arrives at the Greater Buffalo International Airport Monday night. Professional football's number one draft choice begins training with the Buffalo Bills today.

Vikings' Joe Kapp Injures His Knee

The Minnesota Vikings knew what to do with quarterback Joe Kapp's sprained knee. But what they will do about it is another matter. Kapp injured his right knee during Saturday's 26-6 exhibition victory over the Denver Broncos and was hobbling around training camp today in a walking cast. Coach Bud Grant says he hopes the cast will hasten healing so Kapp will be ready to go against the St. Louis Cardinals Aug. 23.

Davis, a 21-year-old rookie running back from Kansas State, had been acquired by Pittsburgh from Minnesota last week. But he was returned to the Vikings Monday after he reported to the Steelers' camp with a sore foot. Davis was the nation's leading scorer in his sophomore year. He had been acquired by Pittsburgh in a trade for wide receiver Ken Herbert and a kicker. The Steelers said Herbert would remain with the Vikings but the trade would have to be renegotiated.

The Broncos emerged from their first pre-season outing with nothing more serious than a few bumps and bruises.

The Buffalo Bills, still licking their chops over their 21-7 weekend upset over Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins,

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

SPORTS dialogue: EARLE EDWARDS, football coach at North Carolina State, when asked if his workouts were open to the public: "Oh, yes. I wouldn't miss a chance to confuse anyone."

DICK RADATZ, 6-8, 265-pound relief pitcher for the Montreal Expos, to the Pirates' 165-pound shortstop, Freddie Patek, when fistfists developed in a recent Montreal-Pittsburgh game: "I choose you and a player to be named later."

HAL RENIFF, one-time New York Yankee relief hurler, professing not to understand after watching pictures of the 1966 World Series while the audience applauded after watching the Baltimore Orioles beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight games: "What's so great about that? We lost five straight to them last season."

GREEN BAY quarterback BART STARR, when asked what the toughest adjustment a pro football player had to make: "Adjusting to the time and temperature differences late in the season. It may be zero in Green Bay and 90 in Los Angeles."

PAUL WIGGIN, top-flight defensive end for Cleveland for many years: "Charlie Krueger (San Francisco 49er lineman, formerly of Texas A&M) is the most fundamental, disciplined tackle in football. He's a leader, but in a quiet way. A glance from him is equivalent to a five-minute fight talk by somebody else. He's not spectacular like, say, Deacon Jones, but he's the most fundamental tackle I've ever seen. When I was with the Browns they had a training film of different players demonstrating the right way to do things. Charlie was the featured player."

MELVIN DURLAG, Los Angeles columnist: "The best job in football last year was performed, in our estimation, by Blanton Collier, of Cleveland. He had a team with no credentials for winning. He had quarterback problems. In early season, against the Rams, the Browns set a pro record of advancing beyond the 50 only once in the whole match. Yet, at the finish, Collier was in the title game. Picture the commotion if Vince Lombardi should do the same thing at Washington. Unlike Collier, Lombardi is not shy, retiring or hard-of-hearing. . . . If George Wilson (Miami coach) announced that you must teach your players to hate, it wouldn't sound the same as it would coming from Lombardi."

NORM SNEAD, quarterback for the Philadelphia Eagles, discussing the holdout of Purdue star Leroy Keyes: "I have no particular feeling for or against Keyes, or what he is asking, or what he will get. I don't blame him for trying to get as much as he can. But I do not like that no-cut contract business. When or if he does play with the Eagles, he will have to produce or there is bound to be feeling against him. . . . It would be interesting to see what Keyes can do. I still remember some of the No. 1 running backs who didn't do, like Bob Ferguson of Ohio State."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlanta writer: "Remember baseball's Smead Jolley? He perfected the outfield 'double play' in which nobody was retired. Right-field in Nashville was played on an embankment as steep as the Swiss Alps. Jolley, a big man with large feet and not a peppy dancer, fell down the back trying to field a line drive that hit the fence so hard he had a second chance coming back. Then he stumbled to his feet and booted the rebound."

A's Are Back In Divisional Title Scrap

By The Associated Press

Dave McNally has helped make the Baltimore Orioles the overwhelming choice to win the American League's Eastern Division, but he's playing no favorites in the West.

The Orioles' left-hander, who had his record-tying 17-game winning streak snapped by the Minnesota Twins last week, evened things out Monday night by losing to the Oakland A's 7-4.

Although he certainly didn't plan it that way, his only two losses this season have kept the Twins and A's nip-and-tuck in the West Division.

Oakland's six-run seventh inning pulled the A's within one game of the idle Twins, the closest they've been since July 5. But it didn't cause any great damage to the Orioles, who still lead their division by 14½ games over Detroit, which was beaten by California and Rudy May's three-hitter, 3-1.

MINCHER GETS HOT

In other games, Seattle's Don Mincher rapped a grand slam homer in an 8-2 rout over Cleveland, Boston handed the Chicago White Sox their sixth consecutive loss, 5-2, and Washington shipped past Kansas City 2-1 in the only games scheduled.

McNally, who won his first 15 games this season and has 16 victories in all, buried himself in the seventh when he gave a hit to Tom Reynolds, a walk and hit a batter to load the bases.

An error on a grounder by normally sure-handed Brooks Robinson let in the first run and Marcelino Lopez relieved Jose Tartabull, greeted him with a two-run single that put Oakland ahead and Reggie Jackson slammed a double for another run. Two more runs scored off Dick Hall on Danny Cater's sacrifice fly and an infield out.

That settled the nationally televised contest, ending Oakland's three-game losing streak and Baltimore's six-game winning string, the last three over Minnesota during the weekend.

May, 5-9, gave up an unearned first inning run without a hit and then yielded singles to Mickey Stanley in the fourth, Bill Freehan in the seventh and Willie Horton in the ninth as he ended the Tigers' five-game winning streak.

Batterymate Tom Egan gave him the hit he needed, a two-run homer in the second inning off Earl Wilson, 10-8, before Egan was hit in the head with a pitch by Wilson in the seventh and carried from the field. He was not believed to be injured seriously.

HAS SIX-HITTER

Mincher connected in the fifth inning and broke a 2-2 tie with his 20th homer. Diego Segui, 9-4, hurled a six-hitter, added three more runs with a bases loaded walk in the fourth and a two-run single in the ninth.

Boston landed on the White Sox with four runs in the first inning on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double followed by Reggie Smith's 23rd homer. The Red Sox didn't get another hit off four Chicago relievers after the second inning, but Mike Nagy, 7-2, and Sparky Lyle, who took over in the seventh after Pete Ward's two-run pinch-hit homer, held off the White Sox.

Dick Bosman, 8-5, stopped Kansas City on five hits and scored the tie-breaking run from second base on Jackie Hernandez' throwing error in the eighth inning for Washington's victory. Bosman drew a one-out walk off loser Jim Rooker, 2-10, and Hank Allen singled with two out for the fourth hit off Rooker. Shortstop Hernandez then threw wild to first on Frank Howard's grounder.

The only run off Bosman was Pat Kelly's third inning homer, but Tim Lullen mached home with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

COLORADO CITY — A special prize will be given for every contestant in the first annual Colorado City 25ers Partnership Golf tournament, which will be held Aug. 23-24.

A free barbecue will be offered in conjunction with the meet, as will a cocktail hour. Ben Hogan equipment will be given as prizes to winners. Competition will be held in both scratch and handicap flights, with sets of irons going to first place finishers, sets of woods to flight runnersup and golf bags to third place winners.

Fourth place winners each get two dozen golf balls while fifth place finishers earn putters. The field will be limited to the first 60 teams. Entry fee is $20 per player. George Powell is tournament chairman.

Broadricks Third In Links Tourney

ANDREWS — The Big Spring team of Dr. B. G. and Ronnie Broadrick tied for third with a 66 in the Andrews Father-Son Golf tournament staged here Saturday.

R. H. and Mike Weaver, also of Big Spring, wound up tied for fifth with a 67.

Winner of the 18-hole event were Ed and Tommy Williams of Odessa, who posted a 63.

They beat out the Andrews duo of Ray and David Porter by a stroke.

The others on the tour include Lee Elder, the top black golfer this year. Elder finished third at Milwaukee, picking up $7,100, and might have won the $20,000

Astros, Griffin Are Bad News To Mets

By The Associated Press

This has been a dream season for the New York Mets, marred only by an occasional nightmare courtesy of Tom Griffin and the Houston Astros.

The latest episode occurred Monday night by a 3-0 score. It was Houston's 85th victory in 134 games with the Mets since the expansion twins were born in 1962. The record in Houston is now 49-17-28-12 in the Astro-dome and 21-5 in old Colt Stadium.

Griffin was the chief culprit, yielding four hits and striking out nine in eight innings before giving way to Fred Gladding, who notched his 24th save. The 21-year-old rookie right-hander has whipped the Mets all three times he's faced them, allowing no runs, only 13 hits and fanning 28 in 25 innings.

NOW 7½ BACK

The loss dropped the second-place Mets 7½ games behind the Chicago Cubs in the National League East and left them only two percentage points in front of the surging St. Louis

HERE WEDNESDAY

Routine District Meeting Slated

Annual fall meeting of District 3-AAAA will be held in the library of District 3-AAAA starting at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

All schools will be represented, although only routine matters will be brought up. Basketball and baseball scheduled likely will be drawn during the session.

In addition, dates for the annual spring track and field meet, tennis and golf tournaments will probably be chosen. In addition, a director general of the sprint meets will be named.

Routine eligibility questions will also be discussed. Chaired the meeting will be Polly Wells, superintendent of schools at Abilene. Chick Moser also of Abilene, is the league's secretary.

Supt. Sam Anderson, high school principal John Smith, head coach Spike Dykes, basketball mentor Kirby Pugh and baseball coach Oakley Hagood will represent Big Spring at the session.

Hagood will present a baseball schedule which will be considered by the district committee for adoption.

If plans projected by the San Angelo delegates are adopted, a sportsmanship award will henceforth be given to some school within the district.

Sports writers of member cities are due to meet with the head football coaches following the regular session.

Other members of the team included: Mike Yennie, Refugio, second baseman; Merv Krause, Big O, third baseman; Tucker Rhea Killeen, shortstop; George Hawkins, Refugio, outfielder; Ed Phoels, Refugio, outfielder; J. B. Wilson, Refugio, catcher; Carl Anderson, Waco, catcher; Sonny Driskell, Big O, pitcher.

ABILENE — Garnie Hatch, an assistant at Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, has been named head basketball coach at Abilene Christian College.

He succeeds Dee Nutt, who resigned to work with the Mexican Olympic team.

Hatch, a graduate of the University of Mississippi, is 33 years of age.

For eight years prior to the 1968-69 season, Hatch coached on the high school level in Florida. He is a native of Hope, Ark.

NEGRO LINKSTERS HAVING EASIER TIME ON TOUR

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — first prize if it hadn't been for one hole, the 12th, which he bogeyed all four rounds. Elder wound up only three strokes off the winning pace set by Ken Still.

Also on the tour are veterans Pete Brown, the only Negro golfer to win a PGA tournament, Ray Botts and Cliff Brown.

Four more black golfers joined the tour this season: Curtis Sifford, George Johnson of Atlanta, Ga., Howard Brown of Detroit, and Nathaniel Starks of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Like the other young golfers on tour—black and white—Curtis just wants to "make enough money to break even with my sponsor."

"I want to play golf," he said. "I think my sponsor will go along with me for another year."

While Charlie Sifford had trouble sharing on the tour for lack of a sponsor in his early days, Curtis is sponsored by Bill Stennis, a Negro who owns a chain of restaurants in California and other states.

TITLE EVIDENCE IN SALES OF SEC-RETARY-OWNED HOMES AND MORTGAGES
On and after August 1, 1969, and until
FHA Form 284, Standard Retail Sales
Contract is revised to reflect such change, such form will be amended prior to execution by FHA by inserting the following language in Item H:
If the mortgage is to be FHA-insured,
FHA will not pay for any title evidence as part of closing costs mentioned in item "e" on the reverse hereof, except where the mortgage is governed by regulations of a governmental agency which require title evidence insuring a good and valid mortgage. If other than FHA-insured mortgage financing is involved, FHA will allow reasonable costs for such title evidence by a credit to the purchaser in the closing accounting.
Brokers must complete Item H prior to obtaining the purchaser's signature or offers submitted on or after August 1, 1969.
The inserted language shall be initialed by the purchaser.

Effort Made To Salvage Student Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plans a last-ditch effort to revive the college student guaranteed loan program before Congress leaves on its three-week recess.

But Republicans charge that amendments pushed successfully by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the Labor Committee last Friday have upset negotiations to rush action on the bill.

Extensive cloakroom negotiations Monday failed to resolve the controversy over these amendments although Senate leaders did win an agreement for a vote on the bill today.

Republicans said they would seek to eliminate one of the Kennedy riders and perhaps both.

Even if the Senate passes the measure there is no guarantee the House will follow suit before the summer recess begins Wednesday afternoon.

Consideration of a similar measure was blocked Monday in the House. Some members there wish to use it as a vehicle for a provision to punish students involved in campus riots.

The key provision of the Senate bill is a subsidy payment which could mean a yield to banks of 10 per cent on the student loans.

The present interest ceiling is 7 per cent. This has meant that loan funds have dried up with the prime interest rate now at 8 1/2 per cent.

The Senate committee was told about 220,000 students seeking to enroll this fall will be denied loans because of the tight money situation unless Congress votes the subsidies.

One of the Kennedy amendments would prohibit a bank or other lender from requiring a student or his family to have account with it to obtain a loan.

Republicans said they definitely would try to strike this from the bill.

The other would raise by $170 million the authorizations for two aid programs for youths from low-income families—the educational opportunity grant program and the college work-study program.

A GOP effort also may be made to eliminate this.

The Republicans said Kennedy had put the bill in danger by offering amendments.

Johnsons Sent Santa Fe Invite

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Republican Gov. David Cargo has invited former President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson to visit him in Santa Fe.

"I haven't heard from him yet," the governor said Monday.

The governor said a Washington reporter told him recently the Johnsons would like to visit Santa Fe. Mrs. Johnson's brother, Tony Taylor, is a businessman here.

"I'm pretty sure he's going to come visit us," the governor said.

He Suggests 'Managers' To Help Clear Dockets

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, agreed today with Americans who complain that justice takes too long.

He also proposed a possible solution: the immediate training of "skilled managers" to take over problems of administration, leaving judges free to judge.

In almost every large court house in the country, Burger told the American Bar Association's House of Delegates, frustrated and angry citizens called for jury service spend about 80 per cent of their time just waiting.

Witnesses called for a precise day and hour, having left their jobs, also find themselves spending most of their time waiting, the chief justice said.

"Many lawyers have come to accept this philosophically and many have simply surrendered to 'The System,'" Burger went on. "The public will not."

As hospitals concluded long ago that they needed a corps of trained administrators, he said, judges need trained people to do for them what they cannot do for themselves.

And yet, he said, except in details, a civil or a criminal trial today is essentially the same as in Daniel Webster's time, a century ago.

"Frankly, I do not know the answer," Burger added, "but I do know that the patience of the American people with the processes of litigation is wearing thin."

As an immediate start toward a solution, he said a dozen or so court managers and business administrators should be brought together within the next two months to plan a program to train court administrators.

The planning need not include lawyers and judges, Burger said, but should ultimately draw in universities.

Along the same lines, he supported legislation pending in Congress to provide administrators for the federal court. And he appealed to "the private sector" to support planned pilot programs to train administrators.

"The need is now, not at some distant future date," he emphasized.

New Name For Park

Chamber of Commerce directors voted Monday to ask the parks and recreation board to submit a proposal to the city commission recommending that the City Park's name be changed to Comanche Trail Park.

The action came at the regular noon meeting in the Settles Hotel, and followed a proposal to that effect by Jerry Worthy, chairman of the tourist and convention committee.

The board also heard a report on the Starlight Specials from Joe Dunn, cochairman. He estimated a total of 3,500 people, not including free guests from the VA Hospital, the State Hospital, and the Nursing Inn, or foreign students, attended the seven shows.

The specials netted $145, which the cultural affairs committee will use on such projects as the "Opera Corner" in the library. Included in the $145 was the $85 netted by the concession stand. It was divided evenly among Boy Scout Troop No. 300, the Alpha Beta Omicron and the Xi Mu Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, and the Big Spring Kennel Club, which operated the stand during the show.

A selection board which will draw up the yearly list of recommendations on one-star appointments began meeting Monday. The selection process takes several days.

There are about 11,800 WACs in uniform today, many carrying out secretarial and other administrative chores for the male side of the Army. WACs serve around the world, with some 160 currently assigned in South Vietnam.

Col. Hoisington figures that most of the 12 WAC colonels now in uniform probably will be under consideration for the temporary promotion to general rank. One or more could be elevated, depending on whether their military records stack up with those of male candidates.

Shrine Circus Set Sept. 8

Sept. 8 is announced as the date of the annual Shrine Circus, traditionally a fast-moving show which attracts a large crowd of children and grown-ups alike.

The Big Spring Shrine Association again is sponsor, and is working with local merchants to see that children 14 years and younger, receive tickets.

The circus, a big three-ring affair produced by Gus Bell, will be in the rodeo arena, with performances at 3:15 and 8 p.m.

Tickets for children will be available free from a number of merchants. Admission for children at the grounds will be 50 cents, and for adults $1.50.

Adult tickets may be had in advance for $1, however, at the Chamber of Commerce and the three local banks.

Gov. Cargo Jobs NM News Media

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — The New Mexico news media drew some jabs Monday from Gov. David Cargo.

"The people in journalism now and then need to take a look at themselves," he said.

"If people in government were in the same position and leveled the same degree of criticism there would be very little criticism."

Cargo, in his second two-year term told the New Mexico Inter-scholastic Press Association, "After you're sworn in, it becomes an adversary process whether you like it or not."

'Sense Of Humor'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Political cartoonist Earl McGinnis has initiated a "Sense of Humor" certificate for politicians who "relieve the tedium" of New Mexico politics.

He said he mailed the first certificate to Republican Gov. David Cargo who said during the Western Governor's Governor's Conference in Seattle that "It would better if the New Mexico Legislature met every 60 years for one day."

Muktuk, Anyone?

NOME, Alaska (AP) — A grocery advertisement in the Nome Nugget listed four items under "quality meats." They included fresh frozen black muktuk and reindeer stew.

Muktuk, which is whale blubber, heads an price list at $1.89 a pound.

If it's a bargain you're seeking, that would be reindeer stew at 48 cents a pound.
