FALL STARTS JOURNEY TO PRISON

Rail Commissioners Called in House Oil Investigation

THREE REFUSE ANY OPINIONS ON MONOPOLIES

Major Phases of Inquiry to Be Completed by End Of Week

NEFF AND STERLING TO BE AMONG WITNESSES

All Commissioners Agree East Texas Is Thorn In Industry's Side

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—The lower house of the Texas legislature delved into the oil industry and the state proration structure today, interrogating members of the railroad commission and the chief of the oil and gas division.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, Lon A. Smith, commissioner, and R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division, were unanimous in statements the present prorations orders were unenforceable because of inadequate conservation laws. Terrell and Smith agreed the commission was not overworked and could enforce conservation if given proper facilities.

The witness would express no opinion as to whether the oil market was controlled by monopolies or that the price of oil at the wells and the price of the refined products was set by agreements in restraint of trade. Parker said he would express no opinion because he could not substantiate it.

Members of the steering committee directing the investigation said they believed the major phases of the inquiry probably would be completed by the end of next week after which action will be taken on bills pending. The investigation is being carried on by the house acting as a committee of the whole.

Neff to Be Called

Pat M. Neff, third member of the railroad commission who has dissented from the proration policy of the commission majority, will be called before the committee Monday.

Today's witnesses also were unanimous in the opinion that East

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE DENIES KNOWLEDGE PLOT AGAINST PRESIDENT CUBA

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The justice department's bureau of investigation today denied knowledge of any recent investigation to a reported plot for a revolution against President Machado of Cuba.

One official said it was possible federal agents in New York had conducted such an investigation under orders from the United States attorney there.

He asserted emphatically, however, that the bureau here had ordered no such investigation.

It was said authoritatively that the task of investigating such a situation as that reported, logically would fall within the province of the bureau of investigation here.

Officials asserted, however, that they knew of no recent plot against Machado germinating in this country and had heard nothing of the raising of a million-dollar fund to finance such a plot or the signing of contracts for arms to carry it through.

PARIS, July 18.—The United States stepped to the center of the old world stage tonight when Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius of Germany called on Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Ambassador Walter E. Edge at the American embassy.

The German-American conference, which began at 10 o'clock, followed a prolonged meeting of the Germans with Premier Pierre Laval, foreign minister Aristide Briand, Minister of Finance Flandin and Budget Minister Pietri, at which the European politico-financial situation was discussed in its broadest aspects.

When representatives of the seven nations going to London meet tomorrow morning, France will insist that observations be limited solely to the German situation, it was authoritatively stated tonight. Neither the Young plan nor disarmament will be discussed by the French.

The French spokesman simultaneously declared France's formal readiness to join in the London meeting of government heads on Monday. Premier Laval, Foreign Minister Briand, Finance Minister Flandin and Undersecretary Poncet will leave Paris for London Monday morning.

Hall, who took off from Roosevelt field, New York, at 5:45 a. m. eastern daylight time, on an anti-prohibition propaganda flight landed at Columbia airport at 2:15 p. m., completing the hop in 8 hours and 30 minutes.

Learning that Hawks had ended his record flight at Curtiss airport, Hall took off again, landing at the Curtiss field 20 minutes later. This gave rise to the first report that he had failed by one minute to set a new mark. His time from New York to Columbia airport is official.

MURRAY GAINS ADVANTAGE IN BRIDGE FIGHT

Two of Free Bridges Carry Traffic Formerly Paying Toll

HEARING POSTPONED BY DURANT DISTRICT JUDGE

Assistant Attorney General Of Oklahoma Plans Suit U. S. Supreme Court

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—The attorney general's department today was preparing an opinion holding invalid the contract between the highway commission and the Denison Toll Bridge company under which opening of a parallel free bridge had been delayed.

DENISON, Texas, July 18. (AP)—Governor Murray's drastic action in opening free bridges across the Red river between Texas and Oklahoma appeared tonight to be a coup d'etat which had found right of way in legal channels and seemed likely to meet hastily the goal sought.

Within 48 hours after the colorful chief executive's highway "shock troops" had barricaded the Oklahoma end of the Denison-Durant toll bridge and ordered traffic to detour to a small free bridge a few miles downstream when attempts to open the main free span paralleling the toll structure were frustrated by Texas rangers at the south end, the battle between Murray and Governor Sterling of Texas apparently had turned in the former's favor.

The situation found free bridges near Denison and Ringgold, 70 miles up the river from Denison, carrying traffic that prior to last Thursday passed over the toll bridges; and plans under way for opening the new free bridge at Gainesville, the third point involved in Murray's move.

Developments Favor Free Bridge

Soon after a tractor started to plow up the asphalt topping along 200 feet of roadway leading to the Denison toll bridge on the Oklahoma side, to reinforce barriers already set up at that end, came a succession of developments favorable to the free bridge sponsors.

FORMER SECRETARY INTERIOR LEAVES EL PASO IN AMBULANCE TO SERVE TERM IN NEW MEXICO

EL PASO, Texas, July 18. (AP)—Just as the sun sank into low-hanging clouds, Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, this afternoon began his journey to the New Mexico penitentiary at Santa Fe.

While his wife and daughters, weeping, and a group of friends stood near, he was assisted down the rear steps of his big red brick mansion and into an ambulance, which then left for his ranch at Three Rivers, N. M. It was believed he would spend the night there and continue to Santa Fe tomorrow.

It was a dramatic scene that depicted the beginning of Fall's trip to the prison where he will serve a sentence of a year and a day given him on conviction of accepting a bribe while a member of President Harding's cabinet.

Ambulance Arrives

Shortly before 6 o'clock, a big black ambulance rolled down the street before the Fall house and turned into a driveway at the rear. A dozen photographers and reporters who had waited at the residence day and night for nearly a week stood in silence.

A motorcycle policeman stopped his machine with muffled motor in the street outside the driveway. In

JOBLESS MINERS MARCH ON STORES DEMANDING FOOD

HENRYETTA, Okla., July 18. (AP)—Their leader carrying an American flag, a crowd of 300 unemployed men and women marched on several downtown grocery stores here late today and demanded food supplies after establishing an emergency relief store in the city hall. In most cases they got the supplies.

Charles Holmes, a minister of Dewar, a mining village near Henryetta, met with the crowd in the city hall prior to the march and prayed for divine guidance in procuring the food for families which have been in need for months because of shutdown coal mines and depression in other industries here.

Although there was no effort at rioting, a group of persons in the crowd entered at least one store with threats of obtaining food by force if it was not to be had otherwise. They left without carrying out their threats.

Several stores quickly heeded the demands of the marchers, supplying boxes for the food, which was taken to the city hall.

Help Promised

MORE RAINFALL NEEDED TO END SEVERE DROUTH

Precipitation Here Saturday Totals .98 of an Inch

ROW GRAIN AND COTTON BENEFITED BY DOWNPOUR

Cloudy Skies and Forecast Promise Further Relief

Nearly an inch of rain, skies which were cloudy at dusk and the forecast of showers and cooler weather Saturday night and Sunday brought a spirit of optimism to a large area of Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma which, for more than two months, had been in the grip of a severe drouth.

Although pointing out that more rain still is needed and that much of the benefit from the precipitation would be counteracted by an immediate heat wave, G. C. McGown, county farm agent, said that there had been sufficient moisture to be of help.

The total precipitation in Wichita Falls from 5 p. m. Friday until 5 p. m. Saturday, the latest available report from the cooperative weather bureau of the Texas Electric Service company, was .98 of an inch, more than for any 24-hour period since May 5, when 2.5 inches fell. The heaviest downpour for any 24-hour period since that time was on June 18, when .46 of an inch was recorded.

Moisture is particularly needed at this time, Mr. McGown said, for

Oil Worker in Dying Condition From Burns Received in Kilgore Tank Fire Threatening Business Area of Town

KILGORE, Texas, July 18. (AP)—Earl Renwick, 34, Oklahoma City oil worker, was in a dying condition here today from burns received when a battery of tanks at the Pace Petroleum company well caught fire. He was working on top of a tank when the fire broke out.

Falling into a slush pit where oil was burning, Renwick was burned on both his legs. One leg was broken by the fall.

The blaze was believed to have originated when a welding torch set the oil afire. The torch was used to weld a vent line from the tank.

A violent explosion occurred shortly after the fire started, spreading the flames to other tanks. The fire department prevented the fire from razing a cotton gin nearby, but were unable to save a cotton seed silo. Firemen kept the fire from igniting the Pace Petroleum well which was only about 300 feet from the Kilgore business district.

Out of Danger

The entire business district was threatened at outset of the fire, but danger was believed past after a three-hour battle had placed the flames under some degree of control.

Renwick has a wife and four children at Oil City.

The fire was believed to have been caused by Renwick who was welding a vent line into one of the three 1,000-barrel tanks. It was thought the tank exploded from the welding.

Renwick was hurled from the tank into the smudge pit by the explosion. His clothing burst into flames and when rescued by an oil worker his burns were such that physicians held no hope for his life.

Total damage of the fire was placed at $10,000.

The burning tanks were directly in the business section of Kilgore. All citizens were alarmed when the fire broke out as the entire town appeared to be menaced by the blaze.

Two youths were being held by authorities in connection with the fire on a report they had been seen smoking in that vicinity. Officials were inclined to believe the blaze resulted from the welding, however.

MILLIE DURGAN VISITS SCENE OF CAPTURE BY INDIANS NEAR NEWCASTLE OVER 66 YEARS AGO

NEWCASTLE, Texas, July 18.—Millie Burgan, who was captured by the Indians 66 years ago and has lived with them since then returned to the scene of her birth and early childhood for the first time this week and was an interesting visitor at the three-day picnic of the Kutch-Manning Pioneer association here.

Sain-toh-oodie-Goombi, which is Millie Durgan's Indian name, came to the picnic with a group of Kiowas headed by her son-in-law, John Hunt, of Mountain View, Oklahoma.

H. C. Williams was elected president of the association at the closing business session. R. J. Johnson was chosen vice president and George Whiteley, secretary.

The three-day program included addresses by Judge P. A. Martin, Judge John C. Kay, Judge B. D. Sartin, all of Wichita Falls; and Judge Al McConnell, of Fort Worth.

Band concerts by the Graham High school band, and programs and dances by the visiting Indians furnished amusement during the afternoon and evenings.

Millie Durgan Speaks

An inch rain Friday night interrupted the plans for the Saturday morning program but the afternoon program was carried out as scheduled.

Hundreds of people heard a short talk by Millie Durgan, interpreted by Mr. Hunt in which she told briefly of her life among the Indians and expressed her appreciation for the opportunity of returning to the scene of her early childhood. She was only 2 years of age at the time of her capture by the Indians, who raided the home of her parents on Elm creek, 10 miles west of Newcastle. It was only a year ago that it was definitely established that she was the white child who had been kidnaped in the raid.

"I am proud of my Indian associations and can look back to a very happy and pleasant childhood," the aged woman said. Fortunately I was adopted into one of the most important families among the Kiowas and was always accorded the best care and treatment.

"I learned early in life that I was white but resented being called 'a captive.' I was the adopted daughter of the chief and felt that I perhaps lost caste when referred to as a captive. I had no desire to return to the white people—in fact I gave out no information that might have lead to the re-establishment with civilization."

She said the first desire to find her own people came after the death of her son a few years ago.

Expect Appointment Receiver for People's Exchange Bank Archer City In Federal Court Early This Week

An application filed in Federal district court here several days ago asking that a receiver be appointed for the People's Exchange bank of Archer City was presented to Judge Walter Nelson, referee in bankruptcy, Saturday by T. R. Boone, attorney for several individual depositors who filed the suit.

No receiver had been appointed Saturday night, but Mr. Boone said that the referee had indicated that one would be appointed early this week.

Mr. Boone explained that this receivership, if granted, would apply only to bank officials and would not include county depository bond sureties, whose property was placed in the hands of a receiver appointed in the 30th district court by Judge Allan D. Montgomery Thursday.

The petition in state court was filed on behalf of Archer county, which had over $1,000,000 on deposit in the bank when it closed its doors several days ago.

Local attorneys said Saturday that a federal receiver would supercede the state court receiver insofar as the bank officials were concerned.

The order by Judge Montgomery in the 30th court also included an injunction restraining several Wichita and Archer county men from disposing of certain liens, mortgages and other properties alleged to have been transferred to them by some of the defendants in the receivership suit.

row feed crops, corn and cotton. Farmers likewise have been waiting for rain before plowing under grain stubble to provide a seasoning for the planting of fall crops. Ranges have been benefited and watering tanks have been somewhat replenished. Harvesting of grain has been delayed, but without damage.

Reports to dispatchers of railroads here indicated that the precipitation here was about equaled by that which fell along the Fort Worth and Denver from Fort Worth to Harrold; along the Wichita Falls and Southern from Wichita Falls beyond Breckenridge; and along the Missouri-Kansas-Texas in Southern Oklahoma for a distance more than 170 miles north of Wichita Falls. Rain was general, but light, along the Wichita Valley. The value of the precipitation was increased by the fact that it fell slowly so that little was lost by run off or evaporation, it was said.

Little rain fell along the Fort Worth and Denver in the Panhandle and on the South Plains. D. M. Puckett, division engineer for the state highway department, received information from Paducah about noon Saturday that the sun was shining, the weather hot and no apparent prospect of rain there.

Milk-Ice Fund Keeps Seven From Starving

Of all diseases for a poor mother to be afflicted with, pellagra is probably the worst, and when the husband has tuberculosis, and can do only very light work once in a while, she may as well give up hope of recovery.

This case reported from the offices of the Family Relief association shows that there can be no limit to the ravages of trouble. The mother and the father of five children must witness each day their helpless children suffering from lack of the necessities of life, and this sight is worse than the disease of either. Three of the children are too young to work, the eldest child is a married woman who must assist her young sisters and brothers as well as care for her invalid parents and her own family. The big brother of the family is 16 years old, and has always done creditable work to support the family, but now he can't find enough work.

The family relief gives a regular supply of milk and ice tickets, as well as groceries, to the family, to avert starvation. But the Times and Record News milk and ice fund, which pays for the milk and ice that many poor families in town use, cannot always be relied on if the citizens of Wichita Falls do not revive it with some generous contributions, according to the opinions of the relief workers, who report daily that the proceeds of the fund are rapidly being diminished by the demands of the needy.

Contributions are as follows:

Catholic Daughters of America	$ 5.00
Previously acknowledged	408.87
Total to date	$413.97

OIL INVESTIGATION BEGINS IN HOUSE

Texas was the thorn in the side of the oil indutry and that unrestricted production was causing serious physical and economic waste.

The special session of the legislature was called by Governor Sterling to enact laws to strengthen the conservation statutes after conditions in the oil industry had reached a chaotic stage and after the failure of proration was generally acknowledged.

Terrell and Smith, while saying new laws were needed, did not advance any recommendations to the legislature, apparently preferring that the legislature reach its own solution as to what should be done.

Parker, however, recommended changes in court procedure to give the commission a better advantage and revision of the conservation and common purchaser or ratable taking law. Parker testified that under the present laws a suit to enjoin enforcement of the proration orders automatically released the operator from penalties. If the operator obtaining the injunction opens up his wells, it forces the offset operator to do likewise to prevent lease drainage with the result that increased production spreads rapidly to other parts of the field, Parker said.

Gas Wastage Tragic

The East Texas field, where the producing area is divided into small leases, is the only field in which the commission has had trouble with the enforcement orders, Parker said.

Gas wastage in all Texas fields was termed "tragic" by Parker who recommended a law giving the commission authority to set the oil-gas ratio on a sliding scale, based on local producing conditions. The oil-gas ratio is the amount of gas that can be used to bring a barrel of oil to the surface.

Changes in the common carrier law to require railroad companies operating loading racks and pipe lines to take ratably from a field, the same as required of common carrier pipe lines, were recommended. Failure of small producers to obtain connections has caused considerable trouble, Parker said.

In an effort to determine Parker's views on monopolies, he was asked if he did not think it peculiar that oil was selling for higher prices in 1929 when the nation's production was greater than now when production was considerably blow the 1929 figure. Parker said it would appear peculiar unless the price of oil was affected by increases in surface storage.

Sterling Invited

A motion was made shortly after the session opened by Representative Jack Keller to instruct the steering committee to request Gov. R. S. Sterling to appear before the committee of the whole at the earliest opportunity. The motion was ruled out of order and Keller instructed to make the request of the committee in writing. The committee indicated it would confer with Governor Sterling to ascertain when it would be convenient for him to appear.

Terrell said recommendations for allowable productions were made to the railroad commission by a central advisory committee elected by the operators and purchasing companies. The commission chairman testified the East Texas allowable was partly a compromise agreement between operators and based partially on prevention of wasteful production. The proration orders were "supposed to prevent waste," Terrell stated.

Asked what factors entered into the proration orders, Terrell stated the market demand was one of the main items. Questioned relative to what effect the last proration order had on the price of oil, Terrell answered he did not know the effect, adding he was not interested in the price of oil.

Terrell said the railroad commission umpires were paid by the operators and appointed by the commission with the advice of the central advisory committee. He was asked if any of the umpires were in the direct employ of any oil company or operator.

"If they are, I don't know it. If I did know it, I certainly would vote to discharge them," Terrell replied.

Economic waste was not considered by the commission in drafting its orders, Terrell stated.

Would Bar Foreigners

One bill was introduced in the house today. It would prohibit foreign corporations from acquiring stock or controling the operation of Texas domestic corporations. The bill was in line with charges made in the resolution, authorizing the house investigation, that trusts and monopolies controlled the oil market and were violating the anti-trust laws. It was offered by Representative Joseph Greathouse of Fort Worth.

The preamble to the bill declared foreign corporations in many instances "have so managed the affairs of domestic corporations producing and marketing said natural resources as practically to deplete the source of supply, and in other instances, it is charged, so combined and conspired as to destroy the market for minerals produced and thereby have deprived the citizens of this state of the benefits to which they are entitled."

The bill also charged a number of foreign corporations were producing and marketing out of the state great quantities of the state's resources without payment of taxes. It cited a large number of "gigantic foreign corporations not having a permit to do business in Texas have acquired stock and control all domestic corporations producing and marketing said natural resources."

Drafting of Order

The committee questioned Terrell briefly concerning the method pursued in drafting and issuing the proration orders. Terrell testified the orders were issued after a public hearing following conferences between the commissioners. Several week ago Pat M. Neff, former chairman of the commission, issued a public statement charging the orders were prepared without his knowledge or consultation and were presented to him at the time they were made public.

He strongly recommended enactment of laws not only to strengthen proration but to conserve the gas supply, stating the waste of natural gas was "deplorable." A law whereby the production of gas would be limited according to the amount of oil produced was recommended.

Lon A. Smith, another member of the commission, was next on the the list of witnesses.

Governor Sterling told newspaper men he would be glad to appear before the house to give his views on the oil situation and on production.

"It has been a long time since I was actively engaged in oil production and I'm not up on these new engineering methods so it won't take me long to tell them what I know about this phase of the industry," the governor said.

Loses 16 Pounds of Fat—Eats As Usual

Fat Folks—Here's More Proof—One Bottle of Kruschen Salts and Sixteen Pounds Gone—Eats As Usual—Sleeps Better—Costs 85 Cents

Modern Science now makes it possible for you to easily and what's best, to SAFELY obtain a bewitchingly lithe, free-from-fat figure and actually enjoy exhilarated health and increase your attractiveness while doing so—

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—you can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, fatty meats and pastries.

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. I feel so good in many ways. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat too. I have told 2 of my friends about Kruschen and they find it as I do."

Unlike other salts, Kruschen doesn't aim to reduce by rushing food through the system—rather it's a superbly blended combination of SIX separate mineral salts which help glands, nerves and body organs to function properly—it drives poisons and harmful acid from the body—Kruschen strikes at the usual CAUSE of fat—that's why it's so amazingly successful in cases where everything else has failed!

And just stop to consider how inexpensive Kruschen is—an 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks and offers the same marvelous reducing and health-giving properties which hitherto wealthy people paid thousands of dollars to go to the famous mineral Spas of Europe to obtain. Allison Drug store and all druggists the world over sell Kruschen and will give your money back if you don't obtain the results you're after.—Adv.

GERMANS CALL ON U. S. DELEGATION

from insurmountable. The Germans, probably largely for home consumption, announced they had dealt only with financial phases, avoiding political discussions "most carefully."

While the Germans were explaining to the American statesmen the impossibility of accepting "suggestions" under which France would make financial aid available, Premier Laval and his colleagues were laboring hectically on new calculations based on the day's conversations.

So pressing and intensive was this work that M. Laval at the 11th hour cancelled his acceptance to attend the dinner in honor of the Duke and Duchess of York in order himself exclusively to the vital tasks imposed by Europe's financial crisis.

M. Laval's work involves not only approaching closer to the German objections, but also reckoning with the fact that both Washington and London are not in sympathy with many aspects of the elaborate "suggestions" put forward by Paris.

Partial to Paris

America and Britain are known to be resolutely opposed in particular to those phases of the French proposals which would, in effect, put Germany to the slightest extent under foreign financial tutelage.

So far as possible, M. Laval and Briand desire to iron out their difficulties in the atmosphere of Paris, feeling certain they can gain more here than in London's neutral environment. Their idea is to proceed as far as possible to agreement before crossing the channel to London.

Tomorrow morning, representatives of Great Britain, the United States, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Japan will gather at Premier Laval's office for a general round-table discussion. Then, following a dinner tendered by the French premier, all the visitors will withdraw, leaving the French and Germans again to go hammer-and-tongs at their particular problems.

An ordinary Pullman car brought Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius into the French capital at 2:05 p. m. at the Gare de L'Est. On the flowery platform, they were met by Premier Laval, M. Briand and other members of the government. Thunderous "hochs!" from the Paris German colony and cheers and jeers from French spectators greeted them as they left for their hotel. After courtesy visits, the conferences began.

SINCLAIR COMPANY SEEKS INJUNCTION AGAINST PRORATION

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—The Sinclair company, one of the large oil operators in the East Texas field, late yesterday filed suit to enjoin the enforcement of proration against its properties. The filing of a suit stops penalties for violation of proration.

The Sinclair was the second large producer to file suit, the Arkansas Fuel Oil company having taken like action.

FALL STARTS HIS JOURNEY TO PRISON

many windows of adjacent houses appeared faces of men, women and children, some of whom had been Fall's neighbors for 20 years and more. Others stood on curbs nearby. Many were crying.

There was a delay of several minutes. Someone carried a few articles into the ambulance. An attendant sent with the ambulance from a mortuary arranged the pillows on the bed on which Fall was to lie. Mrs. Jouett Elliott, Fall's daughter, appeared on a small back porch with a handkerchief to her eyes.

Supported by Friends

Then the door to the small chamber in which Fall had lain most of the time for the past several months since he came to El Paso from his Tres Ritos ranch was slowly drawn open, and Fall himself appeared, leaning heavily on a cane and supported on each side by two men friends of the family.

The porch was suddenly filled with friends, relatives, all gathered around the former secretary, most of them weeping. There was a moment's hesitation at the head of the short flight of steps. Fall seemed to be placing his feet carefully.

He was dressed in pajamas, which gleamed white beneath a green smoking jacket. On his white hair, dishevelled as it has been always in recent weeks when he talked to newspapermen, was pressed a white hat. The big black felt he usually has worn and which is most readily identified with his photographs had been laid aside.

Down one step. A pause. Another step. Another pause. At last the ground was reached, and the ambulance door swung open. He was lifted in, almost bodily, and laid upon the bed.

Dr. J. H. Gambrell, his personal physician for years, entered the ambulance to go with him. Martha Fall, his 16-year-old granddaughter, likewise entered.

Then the big car backed out of the driveway, and preceded by the policeman on his motorcycle, drove rapidly away. The photographers folded their cameras. The scene was ended.

RETAIL COAL MERCHANTS OPPOSE INCREASED RATE PROPOSED BY RAILROADS

CHICAGO, July 18. (AP)—Milton E. Robinson Jr., president of the National Retail Coal Merchants' association, announced today that the association after a nationwide poll of its 5,000 members has decided to oppose the petition of railroads for a 15 per cent freight rate increase before the Interstate Commerce commission.

The opposition will be crystalized at a meeting of the merchant's traffic committee in the east sometime before Aug. 31, when the I. C. C. will hear arguments against the proposed boost. The carriers are now presenting their case.

GOVERNOR MURRAY GAINS ADVANTAGE

Durant, announced today he had postponed indefinitely hearing on the petition of A. G. Gilbert, part owner of the Denison-Durant toll bridge, asking that the Oklahoma highway commission be required to remove barriers from the highway preventing crossing of the structure.

A further legal move designed to back Governor Murray's fight was under way at Oklahoma City, where W. C. Lewis, assistant attorney general, was drawing up a petition for an original action in the United States supreme court to open the three new free bridges.

In his determination to encourage the use of free bridges, Governor Murray was reported by highway employes to have issued orders to begin tearing up a section of road near Achille, Okla., leading to the K. O. & G. railroad bridge at Carpenter's Bluff, eight miles east of Denison. The bridge has a toll runway for vehicles.

COURT GRANTS CONTINUANCE DOUGLAS TRIAL

CORSICANA, Texas, July 18. (AP)—A motion by defense attorneys asking for a mistrial and a continuance in the trial of Charlie Douglas, for the slaying of Texana Hall, was granted in district court here today by Judge Hawkins Scarborough.

Douglas, suffering from wounds in the neck and arms inflicted with a safety razor blade in his cell yesterday, was brought into court on a stretcher. After dismissal of the jury he was returned to a Corsicana hospital under guard.

Arguments in the trial, which began Monday, were to have been presented yesterday, but discovery of the defendant lying in a pool of blood, made a continuance necessary.

Douglas was alleged to have shot Texana Hall, his sister-in-law, near Athens April 12. He also faced trial for the slaying of Davis January, his son-in-law, on the same date.

The court did not announce when the cases would be reset for trial.

A change of venue resulted in the cases being transferred from Henderson to Navarro county.

Physicians said today that Douglas should recover from his wounds, although his condition remained serious.

Radio Audition Contest Will Be Held on July 27

NUDE BODY OF AMERICAN FOUND IN RIO GRANDE

LAREDO, Texas, July 18. (AP)—The nude body of an American man, with a bullet wound in the head, was fished from the muddy waters of the Rio Grande south of Zapata last night.

Officers were trying to link finding of the body with discovery of an abandoned automobile south of Laredo three weeks ago.

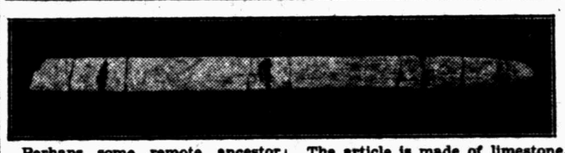
An investigation was conducted to determine whether the deceased was Daniel Boone Davis of Corsicana, who had been missing since June.

The theory that the man had been waylaid while driving on the Zapata highway, robbed of his clothing and valuables and slain, was advanced by officers.

The body was badly decomposed and was immediately buried near the spot where it was found.

Papers in the automobile bore the name of Davis, an ex-service man.

ANCIENT TEXAS WAR CLUB



Perhaps some remote ancestor wielded this as a club when he got into an argument, perhaps it was part of some religious relic that he worshiped. The original user of it having been dead some thousands of years, there's no way of knowing its original purpose.

It was found on Double Mountain creek near Snyder in Scurry county and was acquired later by H. H. Johnson of Henrietta, who brought it to Wichita Falls recently.

The article is made of limestone, which presumably was fashioned into the club-like form by painstaking and tedious labor. It is two feet, eight inches long. Fragments which were found indicate that it originally was somewhat longer.

As the Indians who were roaming the Texas plains when the white man came did not use clubs or spears of this nature, it is supposed to be a relic of tribes other than Indians, who lived in Texas before the Indians.

SIX BALLOONS TO ENTER RACES FOR LITCHFIELD TROPHY

AKRON, Ohio, July 18. (INS)—Inflation of the six giant balloons which are to participate in the 1931 national balloon races starting from the municipal airport here tomorrow afternoon, got under way at Akron airport today.

The first balloon will take off at 5 p. m. Sunday, with the other five at five-minute intervals. Start of the race will follow an all-afternoon heavier-than-air show at the airport. Nearly 100,000 persons are expected to witness the take-off.

The six entries will compete for the Litchfield trophy and the right to enter the Gordon Bennett international races. Two of the bags represent the United States army and one the navy. Roland J. Blair and Frank Trotter, last year's winners, will again fly the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation entry. Radio station WJZ at Detroit and the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore association are sponsoring the other two entries.

Army balloon No. 2 and the defending champions representing Goodyear-Zeppelin drew the tail-end positions in the drawings for take-off times, held at noon today. The last positions are favored, inasmuch as the pilots can judge the wind by the action of the first balloons and can take along the proper amount of ballast.

The order to take-off follows: U. S. army No. 1, Del-Mar-Va, Radion station WJR, U. S. navy, Goodyear-Zeppelin and Army No. 2.

A luncheon for all pilots and their aides was held at the airport following the drawings.

'MA' KENNEDY THROUGH WITH LATEST HUSBAND

LOS ANGELES, July 18. (INS)—Mrs. Minnie Kennedy today declared that she was through with her latest husband, Rev. Guy Edward Hudson, and that hereafter he would have to fight his own battles.

There were battles to be fought, too. From Cecil C. Hallin, prosecutor in Evergreen, Wash., came word that he was preparing to ask Hudson's extradition from California to answer bigamy charges. Mrs. L. Margaret Newton Hudson had filed suit for divorce and obtained an order hailing Hudson into alimony court, and indicated that she, too, would file bigamy proceedings. And "Ma" herself has started annulment proceedings against the popular evangelist.

"I'm through. I'm out of the picture," Mrs. Kennedy said.

"I'm not going to battle for him with any other woman. If he belongs to someone else, I hope they take and keep him."

THREE CHICAGO BANDITS HELD FOR BANK ROBBERY AND SLAYING OF OFFICER

WATSEKA, Ill., July 18. (INS)—Three Chicago bank bandits were in jail here today, charged with bank robbery and the murder of Henry Ennen, 45, deputy sheriff, who was slain after the holdup of the Buckley State bank. The bandits were heavily guarded, police fearing mob violence.

The robbers were captured following a gun battle in which the officer was killed while trying to capture them with a posse from Buckley. Two of the bandits were injured. They were Joe Mulchowski, said to have been the killer, and Joe Bornes, who were wounded in the head. The third robber, Joe Lanigan, 35, was unhurt.

The $5,200 loot was recovered.

Notified of the bank robbery, Deputy Sheriff Ennen organized a posse of Buckley men and pursued the bandits out of town.

CALCUTTA, India, July 18. (UP)—A ruby weighing 17 carats and valued at $135,000 was found recently at Mogok, Burma.

MOTORISTS WARNED AGAINST TRIPS TO MEXICAN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Motorists were warned today by the American Automobile association against attempting to reach Mexico City by automobile.

The association said it would be at least a year before the capital of Mexico and the United States were connected by an adequate highway, and that motorists should not under any conditions attempt to travel much farther south than Monterey "which is reached by an excellent highway."

The organization said a letter from Secretary Almazan of communications and public works for Mexico had pointed out tourist travel south of Monterey would interfere with road building and risk inconvenience to the motorists themselves.

It was explained that the association's warning was prompted by inquiries "indicating that false and exaggerated reports are current to the effect that modern highway is now open all the way to Mexico City."

Vice President Ernest N. Smith of the automobile organization said these reports followed opening of a "provisional road," which in Mexico means merely a road in early stages of construction.

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION IS MODERN CONVENIENCE FOR AMERICAN KITCHEN

Electricity is conceded to be nature's greatest contribution toward the elimination of drudgery.

"Electric power is reducing the burden of human toil," Herbert Hoover once said. And this may be applied to our greatest institution, the American kitchen.

Electricity has been applied successfully to every household task, minimizing the labor and giving more leisure hours to the homemaker.

The newest convenience in this great American kitchen is the electric refrigerator. A realization of the necessity for a dependable means of refrigeration has swept the country. Government health authorities and refrigerator manufacturers have impressed upon the public the dangers lurking in spoiled foods. The electric refrigerator is the most satisfactory solution to the problem of food preservation. A constant temperature of less than 50 degrees is maintained automatically, and the food kept in an electric refrigerator will remain fresh and wholesome for days.

Although electric refrigeration, ever since its inception, offered a solution to the problem of keeping food wholesome, until recently it was considered a luxury by many. People thought that only the wealthy could afford electric refrigerators. This attitude has changed. Every family realizes the value of proper food preservation and its relation to health. Because of this realization, 468,000 electric refrigerators were sold in 1928, representing an amount of $128,700,000, as against 365,000 electric refrigerators for 1927, which represented a total of $82,125,000, according to figures compiled by the Electrical Merchandising magazine.

"Electric refrigeration is designed to play the part of servant in addition to that of health keeper," stated Carroll Maxwell, manager of Maxwell & Son Hardware, dealers in General Electric refrigerators. "Only 6 per cent of the country's 27,300,000 homes employ servants. The majority of housewives do their kitchen tasks unassisted. With electric refrigeration the daily seven miles traced on the kitchen floor is reduced to a minimum. The electric refrigerator, range and kitchen cabinet are conveniently arranged for combined beauty and efficiency.

"Meals can be planned in advance and the ingredients stored safely in the electric refrigerator. Vegetables and fruits can be bought at economical prices, and none is wasted if kept at the proper cold temperature."

MERGER GIVES PERMANENT STOCK BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION TO WICHITA

Following the approval of the state banking commissioner of Texas the Southern Savings and Loan association of Wichita Falls was recently merged with the Western Building and Loan association of Pampa, Texas.

By this merger a reserve fund (or permanent) stock association was created. Thus the permanent stock in the new association is an additional reserve for the benefit of the stockholders against the loss of the savings of the shareholders of the association.

As the merger was not effected until July 1, both of the associations mailed their individual dividend checks of 7 per cent per annum to their respective stockholders June 30, according to custom.

Officers of the new association, which will operate as the Western Building and Loan association, are as follows: M. K. Brown, chairman of the board; R. Earl O'Keefe, president; P. B. Carlson, vice president; S. Wayne O'Keefe, vice president, and J. B. Bourland, secretary.

Payments on installments and loans will be continued through the Wichita Falls office by those residing in this vicinity, while those near the Pampa office will have the privilege of dealing directly with that office. The Wichita Falls office will be in charge of Walter J. Daugherty.

Synthetic Cotton Will Be Produced In Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, July 18. (AP)—Synthetic cotton is about to be produced in Soviet Russia.

Perfection of a machine which "cottonizes" rough bast fibers, converting them into manufacturing textiles, is announced by the institute for experimental research.

The announcement follows closely publication of Russia's plan to increase its output of actual cotton to the point where imports will be unnecessary by next year. Development of the cotton substitute would provide cheaper textiles to augment the production of cotton goods, vast quantities of which are needed by the population.

The new machine, called a decorticator, utilizes flax, hemp, mandyr and ramie, fibers which grow extensively in many sections of the Soviet union and are far hardier than cotton, which requires certain climatic conditions.

With it, only 30 minutes are required for the "cottonization" process, which consists of separating the fiber from the plant stem and breaking the longer fibers into short, fluffy "cotton" after a series of baths which removes the pectines. The expensive, time-consuming "retting" process is eliminated in the conversion of such fibers, which formerly required 30 days and therefore was considered economically impracticable.

Find Ancient Tomb

SAKKARA, Egypt.—Excavators working here on the site of ancient Memphis have entered the tomb of Queen Neith, daughter of Pepo I, thought to be more than 4,200 years old. These excavators found about 800 lines of well preserved inscriptions on the tomb which throw much light on the history, language and religious beliefs of the old empire.

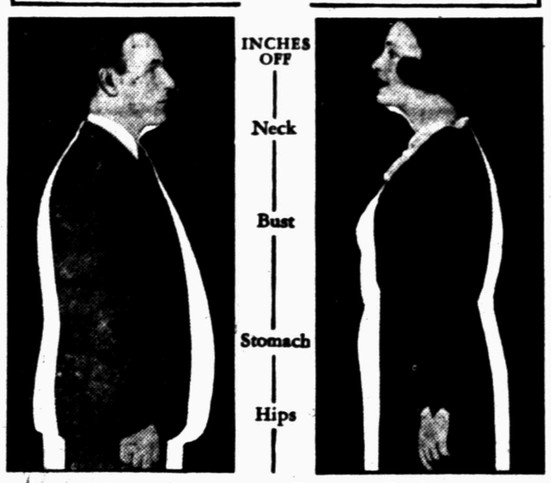
Simple to Lose a Pound of Fat a Day on a Full Stomach



Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

Here is a quick and easy way to take off a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week!—with never a hungry moment. A way any doctor will tell you is safe and sure.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad Salts in glass of water half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisture-weight instantly. Also cleanses your system of the waste, matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating. FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute. Cut down on butter, sweets and desserts, bread. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clears your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns to energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—Adv.

Just A Minute...

Here is something that demands your serious consideration! You know the old saying, "United we stand, divided we fall." It can be applied to the refining industry of Wichita Falls this minute!

Every business man and woman and property owner of our city and surrounding communities needs the continued operation of our refineries . . . the very lifeblood of Wichita Falls!

Friendly Cooperation...

will bring continued operation to this great industry . . . payment of salaries, buying of oil and numerous other operating expenses that means employment and happiness to every one of us.

Panhandle Products...

are as fine as can be refined anywhere . . . costs no more and when you buy from a Panhadle Station or a Dealer of Panhandle Products you are not only getting a good product and good service . . . you are paying yourself a dividend!

Remember The Old Army Song...

"That's Where My Money Goes" . . . and where is it going? We mean the money you spend for gasoline and oils. If you will seriously consider this important matter for ONE MINUTE we are sure you will demand and use nothing but the products of our Local Refineries . . . the Lifeblood of Our Community!

FIRST CANTALOUPE SHIPMENTS LIKELY THIS WEEK

Arrangements Completed for Handling of Crop for Members Of New Marketing Association

This week is expected to witness the first shipments of cantaloupes from Wichita county by the Wichita Valley Growers association, the marketing organization formed last winter.

A representative of the B. F. Cook company of Wichita, Kan., was expected to reach Wichita Falls Monday, to take charge of shipping arrangements. Owing to the fact that most of the members of the association live near Iowa Park, the shipments will be made from there. The B. F. Cook company is the one which has handled most of the shipments from Wise and Montague counties.

The crates will be labeled to show their origin. "Lake Kemp Brand" is the name chosen for the label and it will appear on all shipments. The variety known as Hale's Best will be used for the shipments. The Cook company will furnish crates and do the packing and icing. It is not known as yet what price will be made, the shipments being handled on a commission basis.

The association, which includes about 25 growers, plans to market watermelons and Bermuda onions later in the season, if conditions justify it. Growers who are not members of the association may be permitted to use its facilities, but definite arrangements for that have not been made.

The local cantaloupe crop is somewhat late and it is not known just when the first shipment can be made. It is thought, however that enough cantaloupes are ready to move out at least one car this week.

THIRD TOUR OF VALLEY TO BE STAGED FRIDAY

Mayor's Proclamation Will Urge Record Crowd for Farm Inspection

IRRIGATION PROJECTS TO BE VISITED HERE

State Experiment Station Is Final Stop for Business Men's Trip

Wichitans who don't know what is going on in the irrigated valley will have an opportunity to see for themselves next Friday, when a tour of the farms under the ditch will be staged under auspices of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The tour is the outgrowth of the two earlier tours. On those trips, local business men saw so much that was interesting and encouraging that they made up their minds that more Wichita Falls business men ought to be brought to a realization of what is happening. Plans for the tour were worked out at an enthusiastic meeting at the chamber of commerce Friday afternoon.

The tour will start from the courthouse at 1 p. m. and the afternoon will be spent in visiting irrigated farms. Some of these will be inspected in detail, others merely viewed from the road. The final stop will be the state experiment farm near Iowa Park where it is likely that supper will be served, though definite arrangements have not been made. The tour will end at nightfall.

Mayor Nelson will issue a proclamation urging Wichitans to participate in the tour, but no half-holiday is planned.

Oral Jones is general chairman of the tour, with B. B. Greever in charge of transportation arrangements and Frank Wolf chairman of the personnel committee. The itinerary will be mapped by G. C. McGown, county agent.

It is hoped to have not less than 100 on the trip, but no maximum limit will be set. Arrangements will be made to accommodate as many as wish to go.

Truck farms, dairies, turkey ranches, and alfalfa, cotton and feed fields will be included in the tour.

Speakers at Friday afternoon's meeting voiced the opinion that the valley offers an opportunity such as few cities have and that the time had come for Wichita Falls business men to understand its possibilities and help make the most of them.

LAKE KEMP IS LOW BUT MUCH HIGHER THAN LAST SEASON

Lake Kemp, despite the constant drain upon its supply of water for irrigation, is still 6.7 feet higher than the low mark of last season, General Manager G. A. Remington of the irrigation district said Friday.

At the start of the irrigation season, the water stood at the 1,142-foot mark, above sea level. The present mark is 1,138.7. The lowest mark reached last season, in October, was 1,132.

Reports that the lake is at a lower level than ever before are thus shown to be inaccurate, Mr. Remington pointed out.

THIRD TAX INSTALLMENT DUE AUGUST 1, SAYS TAX ASSESSOR HYER

Ralph Hyer, tax assessor and collector of Wichita Falls, announced Saturday that the time is drawing near for the payment of the third installment of city taxes, as the last payment is due before Aug. 1, 1931.

Mr. Hyer added in his statement as a reminder that a "10 per cent penalty shall attach on failure to pay first, second, and third installments and said installments shall become delinquent and draw interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum," as his special notice to the taxpayers at the beginning of the year stated.

W. W. Brown, secretary and business manager of the board of education, stated Saturday that H. D. Fillers, new superintendent of Wichita Falls schools, has been here since July 1 and has already ordered work and preparation for the beginning of school, which will start Sept. 14. As the schools need funds to operate on, any payment of school taxes will be appreciated. Mr. Brown reported that the board of education has paid its July installment of interest on its bonds, and has diminished its indebtedness by $54,000.

In regard to the school taxes, Mr. Brown stated that the state has passed a law allowing school taxes to be paid until Oct. 15 without a penalty or costs but to draw 10 per cent interest from Feb. 1 to Oct. 15. If the school taxes are not paid before Oct. 15, they will draw a 5 per cent penalty and 6 per cent interest. Therefore, any taxes to be paid between now and Oct. 15 will draw 10 per cent interest.

CROPS BENEFITED GREATLY BY RAINS THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Crops which had been suffering from dry weather have been greatly benefited by the past week's general rain. Cotton and feed had been damaged by the drouth and corn, in particular, was in need of rain. The rains of early in the week were of comparatively little benefit, but that of Saturday meant a good deal.

The rain is expected to lessen grasshopper damage. Farmers had been vigorously combating the pests with poison mash, hundreds of pounds of poison being used. It is recommended that the poisoning be continued if the hoppers are still in evidence.

SENATOR ASHURST GOES TO EUROPE FOR SURVEY OF ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Senator Henry F. Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, sailed today on the liner Minnetonka to survey economic conditions in Europe.

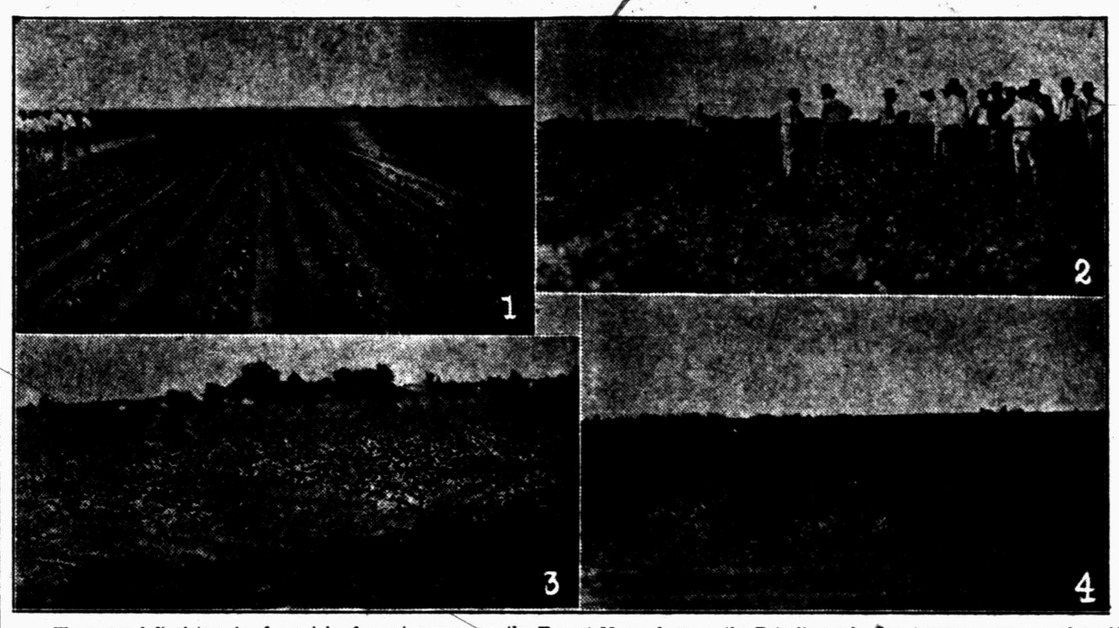
He said he was going at his own expense to learn, among other things, what the sentiment is in Europe toward stabilization of silver so that the third of the population of the world affected by the "disfranchisement of silver" may be drawn again into world trade.

JUDGE M'CRORY REVERSED SAN ANTONIO TAX CASE

SAN ANTONIO, July 18. (AP)—The fourth court of civil appeals today unanimously reversed District Judge W. W. McCrory when it reversed, rendered and dismissed an injunction suit to restrain the city of San Antonio from collecting the municipal advertising tax.

Judge McCrory had granted a temporary injunction sought in a suit brought by Ivan A. Britt and Paul Anderson which alleged that the city advertising commission is not authorized by the city charter and that the tax is in violation of the national and state constitutions. It asked the court to hold the tax ordinance void.

SOME MIDSUMMER SCENES ALONG THE DITCHES



The upper left picture is of a patch of sweet peppers on the Ernest Moore farm on the Petrolia road. Sweet peppers are one of a wide variety of truck products on the Moore place.

The upper right picture shows some of the visiting farmers looking at the remarkably fine cotton on the J. S. Bridwell farm. The cotton was knee high when the picture was taken and had an excellent stand. It was planted on land that had been in alfalfa.

Cantaloupes and pecan trees on the William Fehler place on the Charlie road are shown in the lower left picture. The cantaloupes are now coming on the market. The pecan trees have not attained much size as yet, but are bearing.

Asparagus, a crop that seems destined to play a much more important part in the valley's program, is pictured in the lower right picture, taken on the state experiment farm. Asparagus, it has been found, does well here, and can be developed into a money crop by marketing facilities.

GATTY SUGGESTS 'CROWNING' IDEA

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 18. (UP)—During the course of today's international broadcast between Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, and Australian fliers, a suggestion was made that Gatty should be knighted so he would remain an Australian.

"You should be crowned for your achievement," Sir Keith Smith, Australian aviator broadcast to Gatty.

"Yes, over the head with a beer bottle for going on a flight like that," Gatty responded.

BURKBURNETT MAN LEADS COUNTY AS ALFALFA PRODUCER

B. F. Preston of Burkburnett seems likely to rank as Wichita county's premier alfalfa raiser this season. He recently completed his second cutting of this 17-acre patch, getting 1,142 bales of 60 pounds each, totalling nearly 35 tons; or slightly better than two tons to the acre.

His first cutting yielded 1,035 bales, or about 32 tons. Jess Ashton, also of Burkburnett, cut seven tons in his first cutting and 12 in his second, on nine acres.

Both of these tracts were fall-sown alfalfa.

Most of the entrants in the Times and Record-News alfalfa growing contest have completed their second cuttings, but no figures on yields are available as yet. On the first cuttings, G. A. Parrish of Kemp City made the best showing, 4¾ tons on five acres.

RATTLESNAKE BITE FATAL TO ELGIN, KANSAS, YOUTH

ELGIN, Kan., July 18. (INS)—Joe Fletcher, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Fletcher, died today as the result of a rattlesnake bite he received several days ago while playing in a berry patch where his parents were working.

The child was rushed to a doctor who administered a serum, but all attempts to save the child's life were futile.

WICHITANS WILL BE AMONG THOSE AT SHORT COURSE

Wichita county will be represented at the annual farmers short course at A. & M. college by County Agent G. C. McGown, Superintendent McDowell of the state experiment station, Horticulturalist Brooks and Miss Ethel Luise Webb, home demonstration agent.

In addition, Mr. McGown will be accompanied by several of the feed club boys, yet to be chosen, and several members of the 4-H clubs will go with Miss Webb.

The short course will start one week from Monday.

JULIAN AND TOPP FREE ON BOND OKLAHOMA CITY BOREN REMAINS IN JAIL

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18. (AP)—H. D. Topp, 27, accountant for the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties company, was released from the county jail today where he had been held since Monday on charges of mail fraud, filed by Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney.

C. C. Julian, former head of the company bearing his name, was released late yesterday on $25,000 security bond, which was cue from $50,000. Topp, whose bond was reduced from $10,000, made personal bail. George J. Peacock, United States commissioner, declined to reveal the name of his bondsmen.

C. C. "Tex" Boren, Julian's bodyguard, remained in jail, although his attorney, J. B. Dudley, said bond probably would be made for him within a few days. Boren is also under mail fraud charges, in connection with operation of the Julian company's oil stock frauds.

Six Children Need Foster Homes as Family Income Cut

Some one who wants a fine young child to make happy can find a good selection in a certain family which has lived in Wichita Falls for many years, according to Mrs. Harley Snyder, executive secretary of the local Childrens Aid society.

The mother of the family has been dead for seven years, and now the father, who has always had an urgent struggle in life, is ill with a dread disease. He can't support his family, so the husband of his oldest daughter stepped in and reared the family, which consists of six children under 16, as well as the sick father-in-law, his wife and their own two children. The man managed to get along by strict economy, and he might have called his attempt to support two families totaling 11 persons a success, but on came the depression and he was faced with a salary cut of 50 per cent. Therefore, the Children's Aid must now care for the six motherless children, who want and need a home.

Any one interested in giving one of the children a home and care at least till school starts is asked to call Mrs. Snyder, phone 2-2183, for a personal conference with her about the children.

PANTRY PRODUCTS TO BE DISPLAYED IN LOBBY OF BANK

A well-stocked 4-H pantry, with a great variety of canned fruits, vegetables and meats and other specimens of live-at-home products, is being installed in the City National bank lobby, under the direction of Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county home demonstration agent.

The display is to be made up of selections from various 4-H pantries and will serve as visible proof of the soundness of the live-at-home doctrine.

DONORS ADD NEW BOOKS KEMP PUBLIC LIBRARY

Recent books chosen by the Book League of America and the Book of the Month club have been donated to the Kemp public library for public use, Miss Lucia Powell, librarian, reports.

The books recently donated include "Mrs. Fischer's War" and "Pure in Heart," from the Book League of America, and "Men of Art" and "Square Circle," from the Book of the Month club. Several Wichitans have been donating books to the library which they have already read, according to Miss Powell, and many volumes have been added in this manner.

WIDE PUBLICITY WILL BE GIVEN AIR MAIL START

Thousands of Letters to Tell of New Service

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO PROVIDE ENVELOPES

American Airways Officials To Be Visitors Tuesday

Thousands of letters will go from Wichita Falls Aug. 1 to every portion of the United States and a good many foreign countries to spread the news that this city has been supplied with air mail service, according to information given Saturday by Joe B. Carrigan, chairman of the aviation committee of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The committee of which Mr. Carrigan is head has as one of its chief duties encouragement of the use of the air mail service which will be inaugurated by the American Airways between Fort Worth and Amarillo, Aug. 1.

While no elaborate celebration is planned for the occasion, numerous plans have been made for the occasion. Among them are included:

The printing of special envelopes which will be distributed without cost from the chamber of commerce and banks to Wichitans who wish to send letters on the first air mail ship out of Wichita Falls, has been ordered.

The provision of enclosures for merchants of the city relating to Wichita Falls in letters they send out, also will be made. Some of the local merchants, it was added, will send out hundreds of letters.

Campaign to Continue

The featuring on radio programs of the statement that air mail service is to be inaugurated, along with the fact that it will put Wichita Falls within 24 hours or less mail connection with practically every point of importance in the United States.

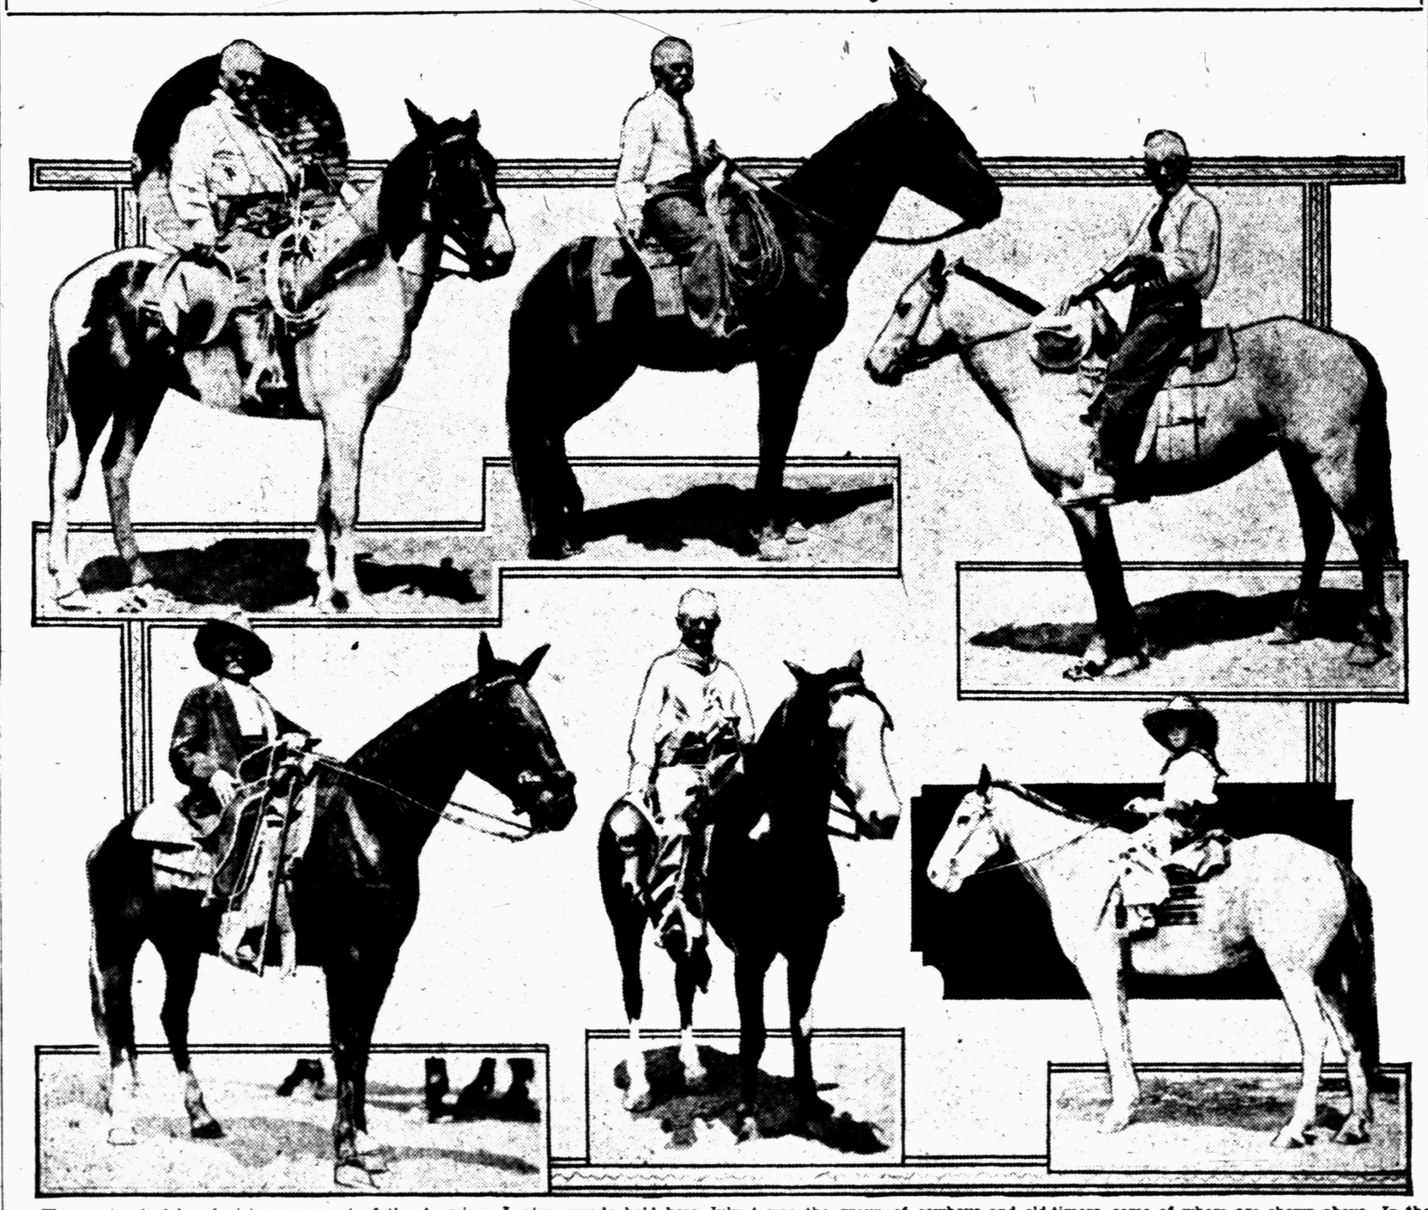
A persistent campaign to continue after the service has been started to encourage use of air mail advantages.

The special envelopes to be provided, which will be available about the middle of next week, will be of ornamental design, including a picture of the Wichita Falls sky line.

Several hundred letters have been received at the Junior chamber of commerce and several times that many more at the postoffice from persons who have enclosed self-addressed, stamped envelopes with the request that they be placed in the first air mail out of here. In most instances, it was explained, such letters are from stamp collectors.

In addition to continued activities of the junior chamber committee, the senior chamber of commerce committee headed by J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the senior organization, will be host at a luncheon Tuesday to C. R. Smith, general manager of the American Airways, and Silliman Evans, publicity director. The luncheon was scheduled to have been held Saturday, but was postponed because of unfavorable flying conditions. The luncheon will be held at the Wichita club.

COWBOY OLD-TIMERS ADD COLOR TO JULY FOURTH PARADE



The most colorful and picturesque part of the American Legion parade held here July 4 was the group of cowboys and old-timers, some of whom are shown above. In the group is R. T. (Tom) Pickett, one of Northwest Texas' oldest living peace officers. Tom's mount was guided by a bridle made by Cole Younger, famous character of the early Southwest. I. (Bud) Knight, pioneer of this section and cowboy and cattleman for many years, settled here before Wichita Falls became more than a straggling village. John Taylor, well known here, is a member of one of this section's oldest families. D. P. (Phy) Taylor, brother of John, was with the group which accompanied Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, on the famous "Big Pasture" hunt. R. L. (Pete) Randolph, a former sheriff, was with the posse which hunted down the bank robbers here in 1896. Kiel Boone is a young member of one of Wichita Falls' most prominent families.

Miss Freedom to Again Enjoy Her Quadrennial Bath

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Soon Freedom will get her neck washed and shine again in the sun.

Already, with a ladder alongside each ear, she is waiting her brief, quadrennial season of human companionship.

She's past 70 years old now, this noble-browed Miss Freedom who keeps solitary vigil on top the capitol dome. She's inclined to stay aloft—and aloof from mere mortals. But the longer they leave her to herself, the dustier she gets.

So once each four years it has become a capital custom to climb right up and shine Miss Freedom until her bronze is as fresh as that of any sunburned bathing beauty on the sea shore. This is always done when congress is not in session.

No professional steeplejacks and flagpole sitters will have a chance to flirt with Miss Freedom. Her opportunity to chat at last with earth-folk will be conducted with a dignity worthy of her high station. From the regular national capitol staff workmen her callers will be chosen.

ARREST OF MEXICAN IN OKLAHOMA CITY CLOSED INCIDENT SAYS TELLEZ

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Ambassador Tellez of Mexico said today the incident arising from charges filed against Consul Galdez at Oklahoma City had been closed.

The ambassador said a report he had received from Valdez related that Valdez was not arrested and that complaints made by Walter Benson, former justice of the peace, against Galdez and Miss Kay Barrett, charging them with the manufacture and possession of beer had been expunged from the record.

Tellez said Valdez reported the mayor of Oklahoma City had apologized and ordered the case blotted from the record in the presence of the consul.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Swimming Classes

Swimming classes will be held at Westmoreland on Friday as usual for Camp Fire Girls who are not at camp.

Off to Camp

Plans are completed to begin the week of camp at Craterville, Okla., with the evening meal on Sunday. Cars are to leave the Memorial auditorium at 2 o'clock on Sunday. In case the rain continues too hard, making the roads too muddy, each girl registered will be called from the local headquarters giving her information as to when the trip will be made.

Those registered for camp Saturday morning were Ruth Van Wormer, Margaret Hutchinson, Dorothea Whitehead, Lois Schram, Nadene Steward, Helen Benninger, Mary McGeehee Rogers, Charlotte Lewis, Anita Underwood of Wichita Falls and Mildred, Edatha and Olive Reich, Lois Mae Austin, Jacqueline Runnels of Electra. A number of others will register before Sunday.

The camp staff includes Mary McIlheran, executive, as director; Louise Taylor of Sherman, as swimming instructor; Mrs. Frank W. Michaux as nature lore counselor; Thelma Bridges for camp craft, Charlotte Kennedy for hand craft, and Miss Peggy Anderson, graduate nurse, as camp nurse.

A week of fun with instruction in the various crafts has been well planned by the camp staff. A council fire will be held on Saturday evening when honors will be awarded for the week's activities.

Oawakiya Group

The Oawakiya group had an outing at Cedar Park pool on Wednesday afternoon. After a swim the picnic lunch was spread. Plans for camp rally and camp were discussed. The group has turned in 24 articles made and contributed by members of the group toward the needlework guild honor. The articles include clothing and cup towels for the day nursery. A money contribution will be turned in to the national headquarters of the Needlework Guild of America.

Those attending the meeting were Bernice Cyr, Lois, Peggy and Mrs. Frank Schram, Ina Jo Ogle, Mary Arwood, Beverly Nan Witherspoon, Ruth Van Wormer, Annette Adair, Leoni James and two visitors, Mildred Fisher and Juanita James. This week the group will meet at Cedar park pool again as they did last week.

Ada-Iwah Group

The Adi-Iwah group visited the general hospital on Thursday afternoon, taking picture puzzles and magazines to patients. They visited 11 different patients, distributing the puzzles to the children and magazines to older patients. The members enjoyed the project so much they decided to try it again real soon.

Those taking part were Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, guardian; Mrs. O. W. Largin, who furnished transportation; Mary Elizabeth Largin, Thelma Simmons, Edith McClure, Charlotte Kennedy.

Ahsonzong Group

The Ahsonzong group met at the home of Lucile Murchison, 1630 McGregor, on Thursday afternoon. A program for meetings for the next six weeks was worked out. This week a Fire Makers dinner will be cooked at Weeks park on Thursday, two of the girls preparing and serving the meal.

Those attending the meeting were Lucile Murchison, Irene and Pauline West, Gladys Young, Loucille and Mrs. W. J. Willis.

Council President

Camp Fire Girls as well as council members regret the loss of Mrs. T. H. Lawson from Wichita Falls Camp Fire. Mrs. Lawson, whose life is so typical of the ideals of Camp Fire, has contributed a great deal of inspiration and help during her term of office as president of the local council.

Dr. Wallace Masters, who was elected to succeed Mrs. Lawson, has already shown his sincere interest in the program by his services on the council, as a member of the camp committee. Camp Fire welcomes the new president.

Headquarters

During this week while the executive is at camp the office will be open only from 10 to 12 and from 3 to 5 when some of the Camp Fire Girls will be in charge. 2-2187 will be the phone number to call the office over Sunday.

ODD FELLOWS TO INSTALL OFFICERS MONDAY NIGHT

The installation of officers for the new term of Panhandle lodge No. 341, I. O. O. F., will take place at Odd Fellows hall Monday night, and the semi-annual report will be made showing the condition of the membership.

The entire membership should be interested, since a member must have held continuous membership for a number of years to be entitled to the benefits of the children's or old folks home, it was explained.

Fifty-five College, High School and Junior Graduates to Be Awarded Diplomas at Close Summer Session

Summer school classes in session at the Wichita Falls college building will come to a close Wednesday, and members of the college, high school and junior high school graduating classes will receive their diplomas at commencement exercises to be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium of the college building.

Three hundred and twenty-three students were enrolled in classes this summer at the Junior college building. A large number of these were working either toward advancement in studies or extra credits, school officials reported. The Junior college graduating class is composed of six members; the high school class of 27 members; and the junior high school class has nine from Reagan and 13 from Zundelowitz.

The commencement program at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning will be opened with the invocation by Rev. C. W. Thomas, followed by a piano solo by Marie Leonard. "Facts About the Summer School" will be given by Cornell Chewning, and the "History of the Class" by Cora Dell Woodward. A violin duet by Loraine Mathis and Claudeen McCarty will precede the awarding of diplomas by H. D. Fillers, new superintendent of public schools here. The benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. J. E. Montgomery.

The baccalaureate service, opening activities for senior week, is to be held Sunday morning at the First Baptist church, with Dr. O. L. Powers delivering the sermon.

Junior college and high school students, who made up a joint graduating class, were active this summer in staging many class parties, swims and picnics. An outing at Medicine Park, Okla., is scheduled for Monday, and a swim and picnic will comprise the activities on Tuesday. Every Monday morning since the present session opened a class meeting has been held, and other activities were staged during each week. Class officers are Hulda Maude Cole, president; Cora Dell Woodward, secretary-treasurer, and Myrna Lucille Hendrix, reporter. The sponsor is A. F. Edwards, college professor.

Members of the college graduating class are Valtia Oleta Allen, Claudean McCarty, R. D. (Jack) McGaughey, Mary Gertrude McGrath, Thelma Nell Norvell and Cora Dell Woodward.

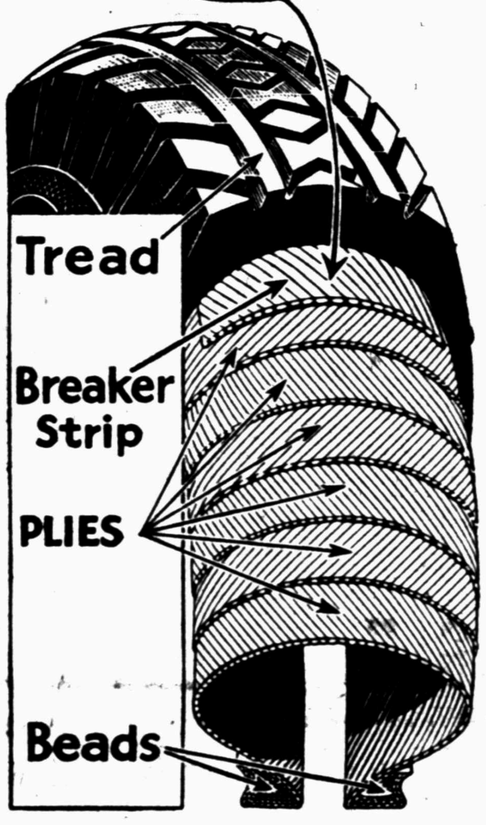
ANY TIRE manufacturer or dealer who tells you a "breaker strip" is a "ply"—or that tire performance depends on weight—deceives you.

BEWARE THE MAN WHO TELLS YOU THIS IS A PLY . . . . . .



It is NOT A PLY, it is a breaker strip! The National Better Business Bureau defines a "ply" as follows—

> "A ply is one of a number of layers of rubberized cotton fabric, either cord or square woven, extending from bead to bead, and forming the body of the tire."

Four or six plies form the carcass or the body of the tire. If the fabric does NOT extend entirely around the tire from BEAD TO BEAD, IT IS NOT A PLY. The illustration points out the difference between a ply and a breaker strip. It also points out the "beads."

Certain manufacturers and dealers, jealous of Ward's commanding position in the tire industry, have made misleading statements about Ward's tires. They have published and displayed misleading charts—they have shown sections of obsolete tires—they compare their "second line" tires with our "first line" tires—and now in advertising and selling talks, "breaker strips" are being called "plys." These misleading statements, however, are cleverly worded and the breaker strip is called "a ply under the tread." No twisting of words, however, can turn a BREAKER STRIP into a PLY. Every tire manufacturer and dealer knows it, AND WE BELIEVE THE CUSTOMER, TOO, IS ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS.

BEWARE THE MAN WHO SAYS WEIGHT DENOTES SUPERIORITY

Many readers are familiar with the recent Firestone ads which compare Firestone tires with unidentified mail order tires. Weight has been given prominence as one of the items of comparison. Montgomery Ward & Co. maintains that weight is NOT AN INDICATION OF TIRE QUALITY.

We recently purchased five Firestone Oldfield tires and five Firestone High Speed tires—the High Speed tire is more expensive than the Oldfield. These tires were carefully weighed by Dr. Ellery H. Harvey, and the results are shown in the statement at the right.

In the first place, note that there is a variation of five ounces between the heaviest and the lightest Oldfield, and that there is a six-ounce variation between the heaviest and the lightest Firestone High Speed. MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL NOTE THAT THE AVERAGE WEIGHT OF THE OLDFIELD IS ONE POUND FIVE OUNCES HEAVIER THAN THE AVERAGE WEIGHT OF THE HIGH SPEED TIRES. If weight denotes superiority, why is the cheaper Firestone tire heavier than the more expensive Firestone tire? Surely this should convince any unbiased person how ridiculous it is to consider weight an indication of tire quality. Again we say, WE BELIEVE THE CUSTOMER IS ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS.

On June 20, 1931, I weighed five Firestone Oldfield tires on a tested Howe scale. Immediately after on the same scale I weighed five Firestone four ply High Speed tires. All ten tires were size 4.50-21. They weighed as follows:

	Firestone Oldfield	Firestone 4-Ply High Speed
	17 lbs. 11 oz.	16 lbs. 2 oz.
	17 lbs. 8 oz.	16 lbs. 5 oz.
	17 lbs. 9 oz.	16 lbs. 1 oz.
	17 lbs. 6 oz.	16 lbs. 7 oz.
	17 lbs. 7 oz.	16 lbs. 3 oz.
	87 lbs. 9 oz.	81 lbs. 2 oz.
Avg. wt. per tire	17 lbs. 8 oz.	16 lbs. 3 oz.
Variation between lightest and heaviest tire	5 oz.	6 oz.

Here Is THE TRUTH About Ward's Riversides and Trail Blazers!

The* RIVERSIDE *is our first quality tire. It is made by one of the largest tire companies in the world. It is built to one of the most stringent sets of specifications in the tire industry. It has been sold by Ward's for 19 years. Millions are in use today. Riversides are backed by a guarantee without limit as to time or mileage. Other famous nationally advertised tires that are equal to Riversides are much higher priced than Riversides.

The table at the right gives you the sizes for size price comparison. Having studied the price comparison with other makes, the only question for you to ask is: "Are Riverside tires really as good as these other tires with which they are compared?" Well, Montgomery Ward & Co. is one of the largest and oldest merchandise institutions in the world. It is the originator of the "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back" guarantee. It depends for its business not only on tires but also on some 40,000 other items of merchandise which it sells to you. Certainly it is reasonable to believe that Ward's is maintaining the truth in making these statements.

FREE MOUNTING SERVICE AT EVERY WARD STORE

The* TRAIL BLAZER *is our second quality tire. It is equal to any of the "second line" tires offered by well known tire companies. As you no doubt know, close to 90% of all newspaper advertising of the big tire companies is devoted to their "second line" tires, and it is these tires with which Trail Blazers compare. However, Trail Blazers SELL FOR LESS than other second line tires.

This combination of quality with lowest price which is offered by Ward's seems to have made some of our competitors very envious, so they are making and publishing misleading and incorrect statements about mail order tires. But they do not compare their first quality tires with our Riversides and their second quality tires with our Trail Blazers. They know to do so would immediately indicate how much lower Ward's tires are priced. So they have cunningly priced their "second line" tires at exactly our Riverside prices, and they print comparison tables which are intended to make people believe that their prices are the same as ours. Well, they are not. The chart at the left is a true comparison, quality for quality, and price for price.

IS A BASEBALL PLAYER TAXABLE?

The city tax assessor of St. Louis has raised a question that has alarming possibilities. He wants to know if baseball players are personal property and, if so, whether their owners may be required to pay taxes on them. So far as we are aware, the question has not been raised before, and the interesting possibilities of it are at once apparent.

Under the system which professional baseball has adopted, a baseball player is a chattel. He may not be forced to play against his will, but if he does play at all, it must be on the team which has acquired prior right to his services. This prior right is some of definite value. It is listed among the assets of the organization for which the team plays. The minor league club owner holds onto his franchise in the face of dwindling gate receipts in the hope that one or more of his players will be "sold" to a major league team for a five-figured sum. Professional baseball in this country has been built up on the rule of "ownership" of players.

But that does not provide an answer to the question whether a ball player, considered as a piece of property, is taxable. We doubt if the courts would take the narrow and legalistic view that an affirmative answer would involve. There is a human factor that cannot be ignored. The idea that a human being can be a piece of property, in any sense, is repugnant to American ideals. But it might not be repugnant to tax collectors.

THE CONSERVATION BILL

The bill at Austin which is understood to have the governor's indorsement is in line with the beliefs of oil operators who have been most closely in touch with the situation. It provides for the creation of a new commission. There are two reasons why that is wise. One is that the railroad commission has failed utterly to cope with the situation and has emphasized its failure by internal dissension. The other is that the work of other bodies, in connection with conservation, can be handled by the new board if it is created. The objections which normally would hold against creating a new board instead of enlarging the duties of a board already existing, do not seem to be valid in this instance. The situation demands a new regulatory body, with the maximum of authority that the law permits.

We believe that a measure embodying the basic principles of the measure as drawn will go as far toward meeting the situation as any that could be offered. Nothing worth while can be gained by the investigations for which the legislators are clamoring. The problem of conservation, which is the one for the legislature to solve, is not to be brought any nearer solution by the work of investigation committees. And it ought not to be necessary, in the light of the desperate nature of the problem, to develop sentiment for a conservation bill by means of investigations. Those urging such investigations evidently have it in mind that the disclosures that will be made will engender and strengthen sentiment for the needed legislation. There ought to be sentiment enough, without resorting to such an expedient.

The path of the legislature's duty is plainly charted and there is no occasion for exploring parties to follow every trail that appear

A WISE PROVISION

Under the Missouri constitution, the governor, secretary of state and attorney general may redistrict a state if the legislature fails to do so following the publication of the census. Missouri courts have held that another constitutional provision, adopted as an amendment, providing for the initiative and referendum, sets aside the earlier provision.

The three officials, however, recently proceeded to redistrict the state senatorial districts of the state after the legislature failed to do so. Their action will, presumably, be tested in the courts, and a new decision obtained on the constitution's meaning.

Practically all state constitutions provide for redistricting after each census, but few of them provide for any alternative action. The Missouri provision is a wise one, and we hope to see it upheld by the courts. If legislators know that the task of redistricting is to be taken entirely out of their hands, they will show more energy in dealing with it than they now do. We would not see senatorial redistricting in Texas postponed for over a decade, as has happened in the past.

A GOVERNOR VS. THE FEDERAL COURT

Governor Murray of Oklahoma is on the popular side of the question, of course, when he calls for the prompt opening of the free Red river bridges which have been erected. The public is glad to see the bridges built, and is anxious to use them.

A governor of a sovereign state, however, does not appear in a very happy light when he undertakes to challenge the authority of a federal court. The builders and owners of the toll bridges have certain rights for the protection of which they properly look to the courts. It ill becomes a governor to set himself up as the arbiter of those rights, in defiance of what the courts have done.

It is to be hoped that Texas highway officials will refrain from any step that might be construed as cooperating with Governor Murray. However desirable free bridges may be, they must be built and opened in accordance with the law of the land. No governor is above that law.

MUSCLE SHOALS AGAIN

Three commissioners appointed by President Hoover will serve, with three Alabamans and three Tennesseans, on a commission which will try to determine a method of handling the Muscle Shoals plants on the Tennessee river.

"I am loath to leave a problem of this kind without a suggestion for solution" wrote the president last March when he vetoed the Norris resolution for government operation of the plants. The appointment of the commission is a move toward such a suggestion.

Mr. Hoover indicated, in his campaign speeches in 1928, that he would consent to government operation of the plans "as a by-product of some great major purpose," but in his veto message he took the position that the Norris resolution put the government into the power business, not as a by-product, but in a dominant sense. He has several times shown that he favors the leasing of the plants to private interests.

It is difficult to see what the new commission can accomplish. If the Alabama and Tennessee commissioners represent public sentiment in their states, they must take a position directly opposed to that of the administration. The probability is that the plants will remain comparatively idle until there is an administration less rigidly opposed to federal operation.

A Massachusetts man is said to be holding 16 different jobs. Sweet are the uses of diversity.

Europe's Buying Power

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

The current discussion about a year's vacation of war debt payments in order to allow Europe to catch its breath economically touches one of the fundamental issues of our time.

It is an issue that is vital alike in industrial affairs and in international affairs.

It is the issue of the producer-consumer relationship.

Over and over again, in these articles, I have insisted upon the elementary fact that in an age of high productive capacity buying power must be spread widely enough to assure a steady demand.

Otherwise the industrial system must face periodic crises of depression, if not end in collapse.

The same situation obtains in international affairs.

The United States can come nearer to maintaining itself upon domestic trade alone than any other great nation in the world.

But not even the United States can make itself an economic hermit without suffering the handicaps of hermitry.

Our prosperity and stability interlock with the prosperity and stability of Europe.

Insofar, therefore, as our economic prosperity is dependent upon foreign trade, our national policies respecting tariffs and war debts should be determined largely by what effect they will have upon the buying power of the rest of the world.

The manufacturers and the laboring masses are not two distinct groups with conflicting interests.

They are correlated parts of a unified process.

The manufacturer now knows that it is to his interest to safeguard and sustain the prosperity of the laboring masses.

And so the far-sighted captain of industry will bring a jealous and intense interest to protecting the working man as any labor leader can bring.

Our national policies in the field of tariffs and war debts must likewise be animated by a genuine concern to promote the best interests of the other nations.

This is the higher selfishness!

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For I the Lord love judgment, I hate robbery for burnt offering; and I will direct their work in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant of them.—Isaiah 61:8.

We neither know nor judge ourselves; God alone judges and knows us.—Wilkie Collins.

One Consolation

The farmer may fret, the farmer may swear
At the prices paid for what his fields bear,
But though he gets little for what he sells,
It might be worse—he might own some oil wells.

Another consolation, while we're on that subject, is that while the legislature may not help the oil situation, it can't make it much worse.

Kinfolks

It's funny about kinfolks. It's funny, we mean, the way they average up. You take one person's kin, and line them up, they will look almost exactly like the kin of anybody else you could pick up at random. There would be differences, of course, but no really important ones.

For instance, any given assortment of relatives is certain to include at least one male cousin whose teeth are too large for his face. And one whose ears are translucent and oversized, so as to give a sort of concave effect to his physiognomy.

There was a time when any family reunion was bound to include one kinsman who wore a full beard and who chewed tobacco. We never learned whether this was because all full-bearded men chew, or whether all addicts of eating tobacco affect full beards. The net result is the same, either way.

The chances are there are no bearded folk among your kin, nowadays, but this has wrought no improvement in the ensemble. For the gathering is now much too likely to include one male relative whose chin starts retreating just below his nether lip and slants sharply from there in the direction of his Adam's apple. He makes you wish that beards, even with tobacco stains on them, would come back into style. Not that the average beard was anything to burst into gladsome song about, even when it adorned a venerable and respected relative, but it was easier to look at than one of these reverse-English chins.

The subject of beards brings to mind, just in passing, that bit of verse—

A full beard's a handsome thing,
but I don't like it much,
When it is full of bread crumbs and bits of egg, and such.

Others

If the galaxy does not include at least one uncle who thinks that a bath every Saturday night is bathing enough, you are fortunate. And too often, such a one is apt to be broad-minded on that subject and to be willing to skip a Saturday night every now and then.

There will of course be two or three cow-licks in the group, with at least one aggravated case of same. And there will be one male relative by marriage whose nose is unduly red. He is dead sure to have a wife who finds occasion to explain that it's erysipelas; or maybe, catarrh.

The Artist

The chances are approximately 50-50 that there will be a sword-swallower in the collection of kin. There was a time, not so very long ago, when the odds were about nine to one, but the practice of eating with one's knife isn't as widely prevalent as it was, and it seems to be dying out.

When we were a boy, a certain kinsman who visited our home occasionally was one of the most talented sword-swallowers we ever knew. His gustatory idea was that victuals should be mingled, rather than enjoyed separately. He believed in combining the effects. His habit was to put a morsel of food away back on his knife, close to the handle, and then work toward the point with other comestibles until the knife was loaded. Then, with a not ungraceful side-arm delivery, he would unload the whole assortment into his mouth. It was a fascinating performance to watch, and well charged with the element of suspense. For there was the chance that something would fall off of his knife, and there was the possibility that he would misjudge his distance, or miscalculate his timing and stab himself in the tensils. Neither of these things ever happened at our house, despite the fact that he was using a strange knife. We know, because we watched him closely.

Those of our readers who have sword-swallowing relatives will understand the extent of this kinsman's talent when we say that even English peas did not daunt him. There are, we are aware, certain expedients in using one's knife in eating peas, hey may be crushed into a pulp, or they may be mixed with the mashed potatoes. This kinsman would have scorned to use such methods. They would have seemed under-handed and unsportsmanlike to him, we are sure, like lifting a golf ball out of bad lie. He was, in his particular line, a true artist.

The Female Ones

The array of relatives will include its quota of females, of course, and there are some types of these that are to be found in every reunion group. There will, without fail, be one middle-aged lady, with no children of her own, who has ideas and notions about the raising of children and who airs them—the ideas, we mean—on little or no provocation.

The uncomfortable feature of it all is that she is quite correct in her observations and recommendations. When she says that little Jethro ought to be spanked within an inch of his life, she is apt to be eminently correct; she is voicing an opinion that all of the other kinfolks except, unfortunately, little Jethro's own parents, have long held. The effect of her advice, however, is not wholesome. For, parents being what they are, the amount of corporal punishment administered to Jethro becomes less instead of more. And there are little Jethros in every family group.

Space does not permit discussion of all the kinds of female kin that the average individual has, but this article would not be complete without at least mentioning the one who simply has to tell about her Operation.

Well, kinfolks have this comforting feature: you aren't to blame for them. And probably you have some who find comfort in the thought that they aren't to blame for you.

The hat pin, it is reported, is coming back into style. But we may expect the modern woman to stick to the revolver for the present.

CHILDRESS COUNTY PIONEERS OBSERVE 44TH ANNIVERSARY

CHILDRESS, Texas, July 18.—Childress county pioneers celebrated the 44th anniversary of the first barbecue and picnic held in Childress county, which was on July 18, 1887, at the old town of Childress, three miles west of the present city. There were more than 300 of the old pioneers present. The forenoon was spent in renewing acquaintances made 40 years ago. At noon the local chamber of commerce served dinner to the visitors and members of the Pioneer society. The barbecue was spread in the large grandstand at Fair park, with seats being arranged for the older people, who were served by members of the younger generation.

After dinner a short program was given at the auditorium of the park. Judge A. J. Fires, first judge of Childress county, made a short talk, in which he told of some of the early history of the county and the troubles in organizing the county.

W. T. McConnell of Oklahoma City, one of the pioneers, talked of the early days when the county was new. He entered upon the practice of law at Childress almost 40 years ago. Walter Rush of San Antonio, one of the first music teachers of this city, entertained the audience with several solos on the trombone. Later space on the floor of the auditorium was cleared and the old-time square dance was started, which kept up to a later hour in the night.

NEW PACKARDS HERE DISTINGUISHED FOR EASE OF OPERATION

The new model Packards are on display at the Weaver Motor company showroom. Lloyd Weaver is showing the cars, assisted by S. B. Scruggs, general manager of distribution for North Texas; C. W. Mowdy, wholesale manager, and Ray Pitman of the general service department.

The new features of the new Packard are being demonstrated and among those emphasized is the "Riding Control," a device to regulate the shock absorbers which is operated from the dash, adjustable to three road conditions and greatly increases riding comfort.

Another feature is the automatic starter. When the switch is turned on it is not necessary to press the foot button as the power is immediately supplied and the engine is started.

Easy steering and silent gear shift with motor and radiator all mounted in rubber, are other improvements while the entire body is insulated against heat and cold, thus providing further comfort for the passengers.

Cabbage Grew Nine Heads

JIM REED SEES TROUBLE AHEAD FOR U. S. FROM PARTICIPATION IN EUROPEAN CONTROVERSIES

CHICAGO, July 18. (INS)—That the United States may be drawn into serious international difficulties, and perhaps war, as a result of its participation in the coming London politico-financial conference, was the prediction made today by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri.

"The interference by the Hoover administration in European controversies is liable to involve the United States in serious and interminable difficulties, Senator Reed said.

The senator explained that this country canont mix in disputes between France and Germany without incurring at least an implied responsibility.

"The words of George Washington that 'Europe has a set of interst in which we have little or no concern' are as true today as when first uttered.

"In the teeth of Washington's warning and the policies of American presidents for nearly a century and a half we find the Hoover administration, without the slightest authority of law, first proposing to extend the French payment to the United of $260,000,000 in consideration of France extending the payment of her war claims against Germany.

Assume Huge Debt

"In a word that means that the United States for 12 months will carry Germany's indemnity to France and shall in order to do so assess our taxpayers for $260,000,000 to pay interest on the national indebtedness we incurred in order to obtain money to loan France."

"Immediately when that proposition was made we were confronted with a second proposition. That was that France or French capitalists shall carry certain other obligations or advance to Germany large sums of money, France demanding political advantage and securities.

"Thus the first step we propose to take already draws us into a second proposition which before we are through with it, if we go into it, may involve the United States in political disputes ultimately engulfing the nation in a new European war.

Needed at Home

"This blunder of the administration may be fought with the most tragic consequences. The administration should keep within the bounds of legal authority and if it does it will recall Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his conferees.

"The United States government officials should stay at home and attend to the business of this country, keeping within the bounds of their legal authorities. We have here domestic problems sufficiently grave to require all of the talent of the present administration and the best thought of all the leaders in finance and statesmanship.

"With wheat at 25 cents a bushel, railroads running at a loss, finance houses staggering on the precipice of bankruptcy, with the banks suffering great losses through crash or financial and industrial corporation and with 10,000,000 out of employment and taxes draining the life blood of enterprise we had better look after our own household."

The United States cannot carry the financial burdens of Europe nor settle European political and international disputes Senator Reed explained.

A Successful Life

It is a good plan to walk home after work or to at least cover from three to five blocks every day, even though you may have been walking during your working hours. In addition, use some calisthenics or exercises, trying to work up a good sweat through the exercising, and taking a cold shower afterwards. Next, lie in bed and relax for about a half hour and then change into fresh clothes for dinner. You will feel an abundance of health and vitality after following this regimen for a few weeks.

Your dinner should consist of one of the good proteins such as beef, mutton, rabbit, chicken, fish or fowl, using one-fourth to a half pound, and the choice of one or more of the cooked non-starchy vegetables (which are listed in last Sunday's article) for your luncheon, and a choice of any of the raw salad vegetables. You may also have a dish of jello, stewed fruit or ice cream for dessert.

Your evenings should be spent in some type of recreation, such as reading, conversation, or attending the theater. You owe it to both yourself and your family to take in a good show once or twice weekly. Do not work during the evenings. You will have better success with your business if you relax and save your strength to concentrate during your working hours.

Try these suggestions which I have given you and I am sure that you will notice an improvement both physically and mentally. Many of my patients tell me that after they have gained their health they were able to do five or six times as much as they were capable of previously, and in many instances their incomes and salaries have increased in a like proportion.

Even though you come to my office for personal advice, unless you are suffering from some serious disease, I doubt if I could give you better advice than the regimen which I have just outlined, and although this advice has not been very costly to you, you can make it just as valuable as you wish, if you are willing to follow strictly the rules I have outlined.

A strong body, free from pain, is the natural right and heritage of every living being. Even though you have lived haphazardly up to the present time, you can probably develop a stronger and more efficient body than you have now.

Physical and mental improvement are not accidental. They are a result of scientific laws which you can learn as well as any one else. While health should be a natural condition, so many have departed from natural living that it is necessary to make an intensive, scientific study of health-building if we wish to obtain the highest mark of perfection.

It will be splendid if each of us will remember that we have a body for development, and that this body is the finest piece of property that we will ever possess during this life, and the conservation and cultivation of our health and ideals will bring us far greater dividends than any real estate we may develop, business we can control, or bonds we can own.

Make the preservation and development of health the paramount interest in your life.

Here's to your health, vigor and vitality!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dislocation of Knee

Question—P. L. writes: "About four months ago I dislocated my knee. It was adjusted by our doctor, and I stayed off my feet for about a week. Twice since then my knee has partly slipped out again. Is it possible I may outgrow this, or is there a cure? I am 16 years old."

Answer—After the knee has been dislocated the ligaments are lengthened and it requires a long time for them to become contracted again, making it very easy for the knee to get out of position with very little strain. It would be a good plan for you to have an osteopathic physician examine your knee joint, and possibly wear a leather or rubber support for a time.

Frozen Canned Fruit

Question—Mrs. B. asks: "Will you explain the method of preparing canned fruit?"

Answer—Do not open the can of fruit—pineapple, peaches, berries, etc., but remove the label, placing the can in a bucket and entirely surround it with a mixture of chopped ice and ice cream salt. The contents of the can will freeze in about a half hour, after which the can may be opened by cutting around the outside edge, not the top. The frozen fruit or "ice" may then be slipped out of the can intact, sliced and served. If you have one of the electrical refrigerators, you may place the can of fruit in the freezing compartment for about a half to three-quarters of an hour to achieve the same results as with the bucket of chopped ice and salt.

Nervous Trouble

Question—M. R. writes: "I have been ailing for two years from what the doctors describe as fundamental nervous trouble. It has affected me somewhat like rheumatism. What in your opinion is a correct treatment?"

Answer—"Fundamental nervous trouble" is not the name of any disease, and is not enough of a diagnosis for me to give you any definite advice. If you will send me your doctor's report I will then be able to give you some helpful information.

RANGER HOTEL MAN HONORED

continued through most of the afternoon, and a banquet in the evening at the Kemp hotel followed by the Junior chamber of commerce dance at the Wichita club, at which the visitors were guests of honor.

The discussions, in which all present participated, dealt in particular with the greeting and entertaining of guests, the handling of the worthless check problems and methods of dealing with "skippers."

One of the principal talks was made by W. Bryan Karr of Dallas, assistant manager of the Jefferson hotel of that city, a director of the Greeters Association of America and a past president of the Dallas organization of Greeters. Mr. Karr appeared as the representative of Charles Mangold, manager of the Jefferson hotel of Dallas and president of the national Greeters.

Tells of Guests

Mr. Karr emphasized the value of membership in the national association. The duties of the hotel executive, particularly the clerks and managers, are both confining and exposing, he said. The national association, he continued, maintains a modern institution in Denver, Colo., where members who have become disabled receive care.

Further discussions indicated that the professional diplomat has an easy test compared with that of the hotel man in his effort to detect and thwart would be "skippers"—the type of guest who leaves without paying his bill. The type of baggage and the general appearance of a guest may serve to put the clerk on guard when a guest registers, but it often occurs that the seedy looking individual with the dilapidated hand bag is the one with the big bank roll and good will influence, while a person of prosperous and affluent appearance may pile up a big bill on the strength of a handbag loaded with bricks, it was declared. An error in judgment, it was added, invariably is costly to the hotel.

One type of individual every hotel encounters at intervals, it was declared, is the guest who procures cheap luggage and takes advantage of the usual hotel policy which does not require payment in advance by those with baggage. One example was cited of a jobless actor who registered at a hotel near here recently and succeeded in piling up long distance charges in excess of $30 before a halt was called. Another problem is presented, it was continued, by the penniless guest who orders meals, cigars, cigarets and other commodities delivered to his room and signs a hotel check instead of paying for them.

Most Guests Honest

It was added, however, that although hotels must deal occasionally with impositors, the percentage of such guests is remarkably small, a condition declared to be due primarily to the innate honesty of the guest rather than to the alertness of the hotel operatives. The experience of the hotel man, various participants in the discussion declared, serves to inspire rather than to discourage confidence in human nature.

Discussions developed also that hotels have systems of their own which make the problem difficult for the hot check artist. Just what those systems are, are more or less secret to the profession, although methods were declared sufficiently effective that few hot checks by the same individual make their appearance before most hotels are on their guard. The precautions have been developed to a sufficiently fine point, it was added, that the guest of substantial rating seldom is subjected to embarrassment.

Arrangements for the quarterly meeting here were made by Mr. Montgomery; C. S. Cate, manager of the Kemp hotel; Dick Levy of the Texan hotel; and W. R. Carter of the Marchman hotel.

Others registered for the meeting were Will Reeves, Irvington hotel, Dallas; Mr. Gholson; M. L. Tinsley, Settles hotel, Big Sping; H. S. Ford, Holt hotel, Wichita Falls; Quentin Lacy, Campbell hotel, Dallas; Mr. Karr, Dallas; S. W. Bailey, Bailey hotel, Vernon; Mr. Campbell; Lynn Austin, Hotel Wooten, Abilene; J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Sheffield; D. E. D. Elliott, De Soto hotel, Dalhart; Headley Abbott and W. D. Parmalee, New Orient hotel, Altus, Okla.; J. J. Gallaher, Dolman house, Graham; Bob Womack, Quanah; J. R. Boarder, Hotel Frederick, Frederick, Okla.; C. G. Meyer, Capital hotel, Amarillo; Will Dorsey, Paramount hotel, Ranger; and Kappy McGuire and Lance Sears, Hotel Grace, Abilene.

NEGRO CLAIMS HE WAS OFFERED $800 TO SLAY OFFICER

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18. (AP)—Alleged to have offered $800 for the assassination of Guy Jarvis, Blaine county undersheriff, who was murdered on June 25 at a farmhouse north of Watonga while investigating a gasoline theft, two men were sought today by Blaine county officers for questioning.

A story of an alleged plot against Jarvis because he "interfered with alleged liquor activities in the county," was detailed to officers here last night by Fillmore Davis, negro, accused of killing Jarvis. Davis was brought to the Oklahoma county jail yesterday by Henry Law, Blaine county sheriff, following his arrest at Drumright.

Davis had been the object of a state-wide search since the day of the slaying, when he escaped in Jarvis' automobile and abandoned it near Cleo Springs.

The negro told officers that Jarvis was "put on the spot" by two men because he repeatedly had raided their liquor stills.

TWO INJURED BY AUTOS HERE LEAVE HOSPITAL

Two men seriously injured when struck by automobiles while repairing tires beside the road at night had sufficiently recovered Saturday to be discharged from the Wichita General hospital.

Van Buren Rogers, who suffered several broken ribs, internal injuries and a severely gashed leg when struck on the Fort Worth road about seven miles beyond Henrietta, was taken to his home on the Petrolia highway.

T. D. Kelly, of near Knox City, who was struck and injured on the Seymour road earlier in the week, also was discharged.

TWO REFINERY WORKERS BURNED IN EXPLOSION

DALLAS, Texas, July 18. (AP)—Two oil refinery workers were seriously burned today at the Texas company's Dallas plant when a pipe containing boiling oil burst.

T. Blackwood, 26, and Roy Ledford, 30, were working on pipes connecting oil stills at the refinery when a coupling broke, spraying the hot liquid over their bodies.

Voice of the People

WHEAT FOR FLOUR TO HELP FEED HUNGRY

Editor Times: From indications of distress it is apparent that Wichita Falls will be compelled to feed a great many people during the coming winter. The matter of raising the community chest fund will very likely present diffieulties and therefore, it behooves us to make our funds reach as far as possible.

It has come to my attention that a mill at Megargel and also one at Grandfield is grinding wheat and delivering the flour back to any one presenting the wheat. The ratio is 100 pounds of flour to three bushels of wheat. As wheat is now 26 cents per bushel 100 pounds of flour cost only 78 cents. The retail price of 100 pounds of flour is approximately $2.30, so that $1.52 per hundred pounds can be saved by buying the wheat. It is my suggestion that the community chest make a drive now for funds and that same be augmented by both the city and county and that sufficient wheat be purchased to furnish flour enough to supply the estimated need for the coming winter. In this manner 66 2-3 per cent of the cost of feeding these people can be saved and a part of the surplus wheat thus disposed of. Yours truly,

C. B. MIMS.

Wichita Falls, Texas.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

July 19, 1911

The women of Wichita Falls are holding prayer meetings every afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. All women interested in civic righteousness are urged to be present.

Quite a number of automobile owners responded to the call for a meeting of the Wichita County Good Roads club at the city hall last evening and considerable business was transacted by the membership. As announced in The Times of yesterday afternoon, a total membership of 62 was reported and those present at the meeting evidenced much enthusiasm and were confident that this number could be increased to 100.

Constitution and by-laws were adopted for the organization, the charter membership fee being fixed at $1 with $1 per month for dues, this amount to be used in connection with the good roads campaign in this county. It was also decided to admit all persons interested in the good roads movement whether or not they were owners of automobiles.

An executive board of five members was selected to direct the affairs of the club, the board being composed of the following members: J. C. Culberson, C. W. Snider, T. C. Thatcher, S. T. Scaling, and J. C. Tandy. A meeting of these gentlemen will be held Thursday at which time officers will be elected.

A committee from the Wichita Falls Ad club is today soliciting for a fund with which to defray expenses of a delegate to the national convention of advertising clubs at Boston early in next month.

C. L. Fontaine, general freight and passenger agent of the Wichita Falls route, is up to Northwestern on a business trip today.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Raley and little child from Dallas are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Raley, 1601 Eleventh street.

Music of Highest Type and Exquisite Drama to Be Open To 1931-32 Forum Members

Programs that have already been announced for the 1931-32 year of the Woman's Forum hold forth an assurance of one of the most interesting seasons the organization has ever known. The music, drama and art departments will function under one name, "The Fine Arts Department," and women of recognized talent will be at the head of the classifications. With Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis named chairman of music; Mrs. E. L. Fulton of drama and Mrs. Walter K. K. Campbell of art, the forum is assured of the best.

Mrs. Davis, chairman of the music department has announced that the Musicians club will hold its meetings at the forum for the coming year and will supply the music for the music department. This gives forum members anticipation of an unusually interesting year.

As is customary, the Musicians club will hold one morning study program and one evening program each month. In these programs, all forum members as well as members of the Musicians club will be welcome.

Their first meeting will be held on the evening of Oct. 20 when "16 rue Pigalle," an exquisite improvisation on the life of Frederick Chopin will be presented. This play was presented at the forum last year with the original cast and it roused so much interest that many who did not hear it expressed the desire to do so. This year it will be presented by local artists. Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis is a member of the original cast.

At the first four morning meetings, the study of different instruments will be taken up, including the development of the piano, the history of the violin, the orchestra and the use of brass and percussion instruments and the voice.

The last two morning meetings will be given over to the study of American composers and American artists.

Among the evening programs will be featured a lecture recital and an evening of opera. The annual Christmas program and the two Junior college programs, which will be of unusual interest, will as customarily, be open to the public.

A corps of music lovers of executive efficiency are numbered among the officers of the Musicians club. They include Mrs. C. A. Rogers, president; Mrs. Fred Sharp, first vice president; Mrs. Howard Renfro, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Borland, third vice president; Mrs. Clarence Beavers, recording secretary; Mrs. Jasper Ferguson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lester Jones, treasurer; Mrs. H. Duff Jones, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., accompanist; Mrs. J. L. Art, librarian.

Drama Plans

The series of dramatic entertainments arranged by Mrs. E. L. Fulton inspire interest in the mere naming. The first play which will be given in December will be "The Ship" by St. John Erwin, a long play that will take the place of one of the artist's programs. It promises to be really professional in direction and action.

Two plays will be given at the second meeting of this department, a comedy and a serious number. "Joint Owners in Spain" by Alice Brown, will be the name of the comedy which will be directed by Mrs. Ben G. Oneal and the second, "The Conflict," by McCawley, will be directed by Mrs. Harry Fuller.

Another appealing two part musical program will be a musical cantata, "Pipes O' Pan," followed by "Peter Pan" by James Barrie, read by Ella Merle Mathis Bristol. Mrs. Bristol is said to have improved the play with each rendition she has given and her "Wendy," is reported to be magnificent.

But probably nothing arranged by Mrs. Fulton, who has a positive genius for arranging interesting entertainment, will go beyond the "Afternoon with Shakespeare."

Exposition of the scenes to be played will be given by the woman probably best fitted among many women to give them, Mrs. Charles William Wallace. The scenes will be given from "As You Like It," "Taming of the Shrew," "MacBeth" and "Merchant of Venice." Music for the afternoon will include airs from "Midsummer Night's Dream" and the ever glowing "Hark, Hark, the Lark."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HONORS FIVE MEMBERS

Honoring five members who are moving away from the city, the Business and Professional Women's class of the First Methodist church gave an informal dinner at the Wichita club, Thursday evening.

Gifts hidden in a miniature wardrobe trunk were presented to the honorees, Misses Stella and Alene Covey, Maude Cummins, Clara Krajca, Mrs. Maudie Mae Greer, and Miss Birdie Simmons who is leaving Saturday for Montreal, Canada, on her vacation.

In the center of the table was a large emigrant bag from which protruded a mass of zinnias and shasta daisies, and the flowers were used in the table decorations. Plate favors were miniature corsages of mints.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Lulu Ligon, and Miss Birdie Simmons, president of the class, acted as toastmistress. The program, in the nature of an original travel poem, was in charge of Miss Llerena Friend, and those taking part brought out pleasant events of the past and prophecies for the future.

Those present were Misses Stella and Alene Covey, Maude Cummins, Clara Krajca, Lowana Preslar, Ruth Frank, Llerena Friend, Maude McClesky, Louise Lipscomb, Juanita Bachman, Vera Miller, Ruth Downing, Grace and Margaret Haney, Edith Slaten, Gertrude Price, Anna Keevil, Margaret Corbell, Eva King, Birdie Simmons, Mesdames Josephine Miks, Freda Miks, Maudie Mae Preslar, Lona Brown, Ben Friend, Pauline Nelms, Lulu Ligon, Hessie Mae Mercer, Fannie Snider and Mrs. Hartsook.

WINDOW MANIKINS SHOW VELVET WINTER STYLE

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Nothing can irk a window manikin.

Late last winter she and her statuesque sisters languished in Fifth avenue shop windows in sheer organdies and transparent chiffons while passersby shivered under their furs.

Now, in the sweltering day she spurns summer-weight attire and dons costumes of velvet, satin and wool, felt hats, shoes of suede and fur scarfs.

Perverse, perhaps; but she is only showing women what to wear next season.

Velvets predominate. They are shown for every purpose, from sedate street tailleur to luxurious, daring evening gowns.

Satins will be worn for early fall. They are shown in two and three-piece daytime suits, afternoon and cocktail-time frocks, and creations for formal occasions. Lustrous black is the accepted color, though white and pearl pink will be worn for evening.

Accessories are of black suede—unadorned pumps, chaste in line, pull-on gloves with four-inch cuffs, flat fold-over purses. For dressier wear white is retaining its popularity while a new blue, vital and flattering, is also stepping into the fall fashion parade.

Good Fellowship Operetta Event Of Thursday Eve

Proving perhaps the most delightful summer entertainment of the season, a romantic comedy operetta, "The Gypsy Lover," will be presented Thursday evening, July 23, at 8:15 o'clock at the land office of the Country Club estates under the auspices of the Good Fellowship of the Church of the Good Shepherd, and under the direction of Mrs. Lois Parker. The date was first announced for Friday evening, but has been changed to Thursday, according to information received.

Splendid choruses of 40 boys and girls are being trained for this huge and spectacular event, and a talented cast has been selected.

The story of the play which is unusually amusing is built around the character of Rob, later known as Sir Gilbert Howe, of English nobility. Rob is stolen when an infant by his nurse, Meg, who later becomes the wife of Marto, a gypsy. Rob grows to manhood amongst the gypsies believing Meg and Marto to be his parents.

Wander to Camp

It happens one day, while riding with her fiancee, Lord Craven, Lady Constance Martendale becomes lost in the woods. They wander to the gypsy camp where Constance and Rob fall in love at first sight. Craven objects to Rob's attitude, but in a very funny comedy scene with Marto and Sinfo, he is made to tell Sir George, who later comes in search of Constance, that Rob is a charming fellow. In act two Rob goes to the home of Constance and serenades her. They plan to elope but are overheard by Craven who informs Sir George, and plans are made to capture Rob. This is successfully accomplished and Rob is thrown into prison, but later escapes.

Two years elapse and Rob has come into his estates, his identity having been proven by Meg. He becomes a successful composer, a friend of the prince, and a social lion. Constance has remained true to her love for Rob and on his return to England, he woos and wins her for his wife. As Rob says, "The good fairies have led me to the beautiful country after all, and our story, Constance, can end in the proper way. They lived happily ever after."

There are also pretty love affairs between Nina and Capt. Jerome, and Zara and Sinfo, and many comedy scenes by Sinfo and Marto, but lack of space prevents giving more than a thread of the plot.

The music is tuneful and the costumes colorful and elaborate.

Cast Announced

The cast is as follows:

Lady Constance, daughter of Sir George Martindale, Miss Sarah Virginia Bancroft.

Rob (afterward Sir Gilbert Howe, the gypsy lover, lost heir to the Sir Gilbert Howe estates), George Napier.

WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS PATTERNS

The very newest fashions are introducing a new type of slenderness. In the clothes we are already wearing, every one is supposed to be slim, and even if one isn't, there are smart ways of creating the illusion. In the clothes we are going to wear, there is no change in the rule of slenderness, but the ways of suggesting slender lines are changing. There is a new desire to simplify the silhouette, to depend less on complicated flounces and elaborate sleeves that make a waistline look slender by contrast, and to give more attention to flattering the figure with long sweeping lines, only slightly broken at the waistline. The frock at the left provides a charming example of this treatment. By its very simplicity it becomes the type of all-purpose model every woman likes, a frock which in printed cotton, silk or lightweight wool is smart for any daytime purpose, and can be a lovely informal dinner gown, made in soft silk with a transparent top of lace, net or chiffon. Slender lines are also the feature of the slip shown in the center, skilfully cut to suggest perfect figure lines. Even the house frock at the right illustrates the new slenderness, proving that however practical a frock may be it need not sacrifice style or becomingness.

Pattern 1133

Color contrast is attractively introduced in the yoke of a simple frock made with a slightly draped neckline and short sleeves finished with a flounce. The skirt is gracefully flared, and joined to the top in a curved line matching the line of the yoke. A loose belt marks the waistline. Long sleeves are included with the pattern. Pattern 1133 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39-inch fabric and (with short sleeves) 1¼ yards contrasting.

Pattern 1093

A slip, over which the slenderest frocks can be worn without a suspicion of wrinkles to mar their smooth surface, is cut on princess lines. The molded suggestion at the waistline is just enough to flatter the figure without restricting it, and the skirt is wide enough to provide for freedom of movement. Lace adds a dainty touch to underthings and is most popular in the ecru shades. Patterns 1093 is obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material and 1¾ yards of 5-inch lace for trimming.

Pattern 1090

The diagonal line of the closing and a flaring flounce at the hemline make a serviceable housefrock becomingly slender. The front wraps over like a coat and closes by means of a belt pulled through a slash and tied or snapped in back, a practical feature in a frock that must often be put on and taken off in a hurry. Pattern 1090 is obtainable only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Send for our catalog of fashions. It features a wide assortment of delightful afternoon frocks, sport models, house dresses, lingerie, pajamas, clothes for the kiddies, and accessory patterns. They Want to Get Married on Nothing at All

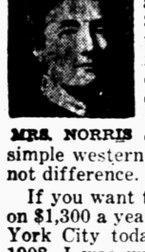
By Kathleen Norris



MRS. NORRIS

In answer to 1,000 questions; from every state in the union; yes—you can marry on any income at all, from $100 a month to $5,000, and make a success of it, financially speaking. Where you live, eastern city or simple western village, makes not difference.

If you want to, you can live on $1,300 a year, right in New York City today, as I did in 1908. I was wrong in saying that it would "make no difference." It does make a difference, in the actual details of the way you live; the cost of what you eat and wear and what you pay for rent is entirely different, in Santa Clara, Calif., or on East Fifteenth street, New York City. But it makes no difference in the fundamental fact; that it can be done.

In New York your meals and your clothes would be much cheaper than in the West; your rent much higher. In New York, to live on that sum, you must find rent under $33. Don't say it can't be done, for I have friends there living in four-room apartments that cost less than that; apartments that have electric light, gas stoves, bathrooms and sunshine. Have they also unattractive halls, smells, humble neighbors, noise, shabby neighborhoods and crowding? They have.

Other friends of mine, in Brooklyn, pay $12 monthly for a large loft. It has 18 windows, a wash basin, and a toilet for luxuries; the man of the family, a carpenter, has divided it neatly into eight large rooms, with plaster board; the daughters—there are eight handsome, vital children, have papered the walls very nicely. It is a good home.

Not easy, not particularly inviting when you read about it. But it can be done; it is more fun than it sounds, and afterward it is remembered as a great adventure.

It takes pioneers. Because smart as we are, and much as we teach in our schools, very few Americans are willing to be simple, to be poor, to be grateful for the essentials of roof and food and clothes.

The woman who knows she must manage on $25 a week in the larger cities today, must seek an apartment far from fashion and modernity. She may even have to wear second hand clothes, and go to a public hospital to get her baby.

A Frenchwoman would do these things as a matter of course, and be grateful to the community that provided them. But we're different. We don't work out our problems individually; we must do what the crowd does.

If you have only $100 a month, rent mustn't be more than $30. If it possibly can be less, make it less. Rent $30, table $30, and other household incidentals, gas, laundry, newspaper, telephone, about $15 more. The wife saves $5 out of her table allowance for herself; the husband gets another $5 for carfare and cigarets. She gives him one big hearty sandwich to put in his pocket for lunch, and he buys coffee to go with it.

The remaining $20 they divide, or apply to some form of saving together, like buying their home, or insurance.

It takes a real man and woman to do this; it takes love, imagination, confidence, courage, intelligence. But these are fine things to have, in a marriage, and some women have a lot of fun working out this sort of problem. They have to cut out a lot, for awhile.

But presently they reappear in society, prosperous and happy and socially desirable again, and then every one forgets what they did in the beginning. The history of every one of our self-made men is invariably this; the story of a brave, original, capable wife, who started him, and herself, and their affairs, on a sound basis.

You can marry on $35 a week, and on $45 a week—you hundreds of girls and boys who want to know. Yes, you can learn to manage and cook and you can economize just as well in a strange city as in your home town—in fact you can economize better, because in a distant place you won't have to consider the sensitive feelings of the dear old friends.

For $50 a week, until babies come at least, one quarter of it ought to be saved, by any really economical woman, who wants her husband to enjoy quiet nerves, and to get ahead.

If you haven't imagination and originality enough to use your own judgment about your own affairs, don't marry on a small income. Too often I've seen over-worked little mothers squeezing out beef juice, straining applesauce, mincing carrots, for husky babies of 2 and 3 who would have been just as well off with a piece of stale wholewheat bread with the applesauce spread on it, and a half-cup of milk.

Size of your income is not the important consideration, in getting married. The only important thing is what you do with it. Some women manage better on $100 a month than others do on $500.

Yes, you can learn to manage and cook and you can economize just as well in a strange city as in your home town—in fact you can economize better, because in a distant place you won't have to consider the sensitive feelings of the dear old friends.

For $50 a week, until babies come at least, one quarter of it ought to be saved, by any really economical woman, who wants her husband to enjoy quiet nerves, and to get ahead.

Yesterday, in the morning paper, some working man was protesting indignantly at a statement he saw somewhere, about feeding seven persons on $7 a week. The maker of the statement said it could be done; the man said it couldn't.

What he meant was "it couldn't be done the way my wife and I want to live. It couldn't be done with steaks, butter, coffee, cream, desserts on the table at every meal."

Both men were right. The statistician was right in saying it could be done; the angry man who wrote the letter was right in saying it could not—"the way I want to live."

We all know that he and his wife and five children could live on $2 worth of bread and $2 worth of milk per week. That would be about 18 loaves of bread, and about 18 quarts of milk. They could live. They would have $3 a week for macaroni, prunes, rice, potatoes, tea, flour, lard, apples, peanuts and certain other staples that are always plentiful and comparatively cheap. They could have cabbages, beans, beets, turnips, carrots for variety.

What they can't have every day is broiled meat, cream, chocolate bars, bacon, sausages, liquor, cakes, rich desserts.

Another woman contributed a fiery letter to this little newspaper debate. She said that her table allowance, for a father, mother and five children, was $10 a week, and that it couldn't be done. According to the children's teacher, each child had to have a quart of milk a day, "with eggs or fresh-broiled meat. And with extra milk for puddings and baking that brings our milk bill alone to $5 a week."

What this woman needs isn't more money, it's more sense. If her husband's job took them all to Rio Janeiro what would she do, with her complete lack of imagination, and her dependence upon what teacher says? In Rio Janeiro you can't get fresh milk at any price; milk is boiled before it is delivered, hot, at your door.

But joking aside, this woman must be simple. She lives in a north California town, where rents are low, vegetables and fruit plentiful, and where every family can have a few chickens if it wants to. And she is treating her children—all in high school or junior college but one, as if they were weaklings, needing special nourishment and care.

If you haven't imagination and originality enough to use your own judgment about your own affairs, don't marry on a small income. Too often I've seen over-worked little mothers squeezing out beef juice, straining applesauce, mincing carrots, for husky babies of 2 and 3 who would have been just as well off with a piece of stale wholewheat bread with the applesauce spread on it, and a half-cup of milk.

What do these people do when the doctors suddenly change their tactics completely, and say that raw milk is better for babies than sterilized milk, and that beef juice is too vulnerable to infection to be given them at all, and that the iron content of carrots has been grossly overrated?

In 1885 you had to put cobwebs—filthy, germy cobwebs, on delicate little cut fingers. Then it was peroxide, which bubbled agreeably, at least. Then only wicked mothers used peroxide, and good mothers used iodine. And now iodine is as bad as cobwebs, or worse, for it spreads the infection, and we're all for mecurachrome! mercurochrome (somebody spell this right).

Not that doctors are apt to discover, ever, that milk isn't good for children. But any smart mother can discover balanced diets that cost less, and limit the milk to what is eaten on porridge or rice, or made into soups, on special occasions.

The size of your income is not the important consideration, in getting married. The only important thing is what you do with it. Some women manage better on $100 a month than others do on $500.

PATROLMAN KILLED WHEN HE QUESTIONS BURGLAR SUSPECTS

CUSHING, Okla., July 18. (UP)—W. A. West, Cushing patrolman, died early today when his efforts to question suspected burglars were answered by a volley of shots from an unlighted garage.

Three suspects were held in the city jail and Sheriff M. J. Bradley of Payne county led the search for one of two suspects who were believed to have escaped.

West and another officer, Corbitt Ritter, were attracted about 1 a. m. by calls for help from Phil Estes, who had been bound and robbed of more than $100 at his home. Estes told the officers he believed his assailants ran to the Pangman garage which is about 50 yards from the Estes home.

The officers entered the garage which was unlighted and found two or more men working on a car when officers attempted to search a grip beside the car, they were disturbed by a noise in the garage office.

West walked to the office and a man standing behind a counter fired three times at him. He fell, fatally wounded, but fired three times at the man. Ritter fled.

Claude Brummitt, 26, who served a term for robbing the Oilton bank, his 17-year-old brother, Thomas, and E. E. Clark, were arrested shortly after the shooting. Ritter believed one or two men escaped. He could not tell who did the shooting but identified Brummitt as one of the men in the garage.

IOWA PARK FIREMEN WIN IN WATER FIGHT

IOWA PARK, Texas, July 18.—Practice water fights between members of Iowa Park volunteer firemen have become quite common and never fail to attract a large crowd. An unusually large group of sightseers watched the fight staged Friday night between the teams of Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park, with the final score leaving the Iowa Park team winner. Iowa Park beat Electra two out of three; Iowa Park also beat Burkburnett two out of three, and Burkburnett beat Electra, leaving Iowa Park victor. The battle was hard and at times the result seemed uncertain.

The Chillicothe team was scheduled to participate in the fight, but failed to appear.

Coats of Tan Win Prizes

MEMPHIS, July 18. (UP)—Prizes were awarded here recently to the children who had the "best coats of tan." The award was part of a playground festival staged.

GASOLINE ORDERED WILL NOT BE USED LINDBERGH FLIGHT

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 18. (AP)—At the request of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the Danish government has deposited a supply of gasoline at Godthaab on the western coast of Greenland for his forthcoming flight to the Far East.

It was not known here whether the American airman intended to take advantage of this fuel depot on an easterly trip to the orient via the North Atlantic and Europe, or whether he was planning to use it for the final stages of a westerly circuit of the world.

A supply of gas also was placed at Godthaab for Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau, German conqueror of the Atlantic, who had been planning to go to the relief of the Wegener expedition in Greenland. Another was cached at Anmagsalik for Bert Cramer, American flier, who once crashed in Greenland on an attempted hop from Rockford, Ill., to Sweden.

Will Not Be Used

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Gasoline deposited in Greenland at the request of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will not be used by him under his present plans.

The request for fuel was made last spring when Lindbergh was undecided about the course of his proposed flight to the orient with Mrs. Lindbergh. Since then he has decided to fly westward across Canada and by way of Alaska and so will not use the Greenland depot.

Pay for "Free" Game

FORT WORTH.—Two members of the knot hole gang were watching a baseball game free through holes in the park fence. Not content with their vision, they cut a huge hole in the fence just as Sergt. C. T. Stamps and Patrolman R. S. Hicks came along. Both long distance fans were arrested and fined $10. They could have had seats in the bleachers for 50 cents.

Author Publishes New Book Telling Of Great Plains

AUSTIN, July 18.—Students and scholars of history have been looking forward with anticipation to the publication of "The Great Plains," by Walter Prescott Webb, associate professor of history at the University of Texas. The book has just come from the press, and is expected to prove extremely valuable as a source of historical material on the great plains region.

In this book, Mr. Webb has sought to treat the migration of the people from the wooded region of the eastern and more central part of the country to that vast expansion of level prairie which came to be known as the great plains. The pristine land, early settlement and wonderful development along agricultural and industrial lines of what was formerly a little known part of the United States are taken up and pictured in an interesting way.

Included in the scope of territory that is embraced in this written portrayal are the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas. No section of this country has a more interesting history than the great plains. For an untold length of time, it was the habitat of the buffalo, the antelope and other wild game and afforded a bountiful hunting ground for the Indian. Following the early exploration by daring white men came the pioneer settlers who braved the dangers of frontier life to pave the way for the coming of the civilization that has swept over the once little known part of the West and builded it into a great empire.

Mr. Webb spent several months in research and in gathering material from various sources for the facts that are presented in his book.

Obviously Right

"What do you want your coat for, dear?" John's wife asked as he scurried around looking for it.

"That fellow Smith across the road has just telephoned to ask if I can lend him a corkscrew."

"My dear," John said, "your last remarks sum up the whole reason why women cannot lead armies, control nations, or take anything but a subordinate part in the affairs of the world."—Tit-Bits.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY COURTHOUSE BONDS SOLD

WELLINGTON, Texas, July 18.—Bonds totalling $150,000 voted by Collingsworth county for the erection of the new courthouse in Wellington have been sold at par by the commissioners to the Ulen Securities company of Dallas. The Dallas concern agreed to buy the bonds at par with accrued interest, and gave a premium of $960. The commissioners considered the bids of seven bonding companies, disposing of the bonds to the Ulen company after all bids were examined.

County Judge Edward Brown said that the commissioners court was well pleased with the price brought by the bonds, since many counties over the state in recent months had been unable to sell bonds at par.

DID your child come out of school underweight, nervous, or "finicky" about meals—does he show signs of lassitude, irritability, lack of energy and appetite?

Then you should use this summer to make that child over! You can add more than a pound a week in weight; you can relieve nervous and irritable conditions; you can build abundant new mental and physical energy.

You don't give a drop of medicine to do this—and you don't need to coax your child to eat. A food chemist in Switzerland has solved the problem for you, in a very remarkable and novel way.

Thirty-eight years ago this Swiss food chemist developed an unusual method of processing certain natural foods. A process that gave these foods certain values which none of them have when taken alone or in an ordinary mixture. It created world comment then, for it solved the problem of feeding invalids. It is called Ovaltine and today its use has spread all over the world and it is solving the problem of child feeding for modern mothers.

Ovaltine is made by a unique process—it is prepared under vacuum, thus preserving all vitamins and enzymes. Further, it is processed in such a way that it digests almost at once, without effort. It will digest when nothing else seems to "agree." And constitutes in itself a complete food.

You mix it with milk and drink it as a beverage.

Famous Ovaltine Oatmeal Test

Put 3 teaspoonfuls of Ovaltine into a full glass or cereal dish of cooked, warm oatmeal. Stir a few times to mix. Then watch and you will see the oatmeal liquefy before your eyes. You will see how a small amount of Ovaltine digests the entire starch content of the oatmeal in the same way that your own digestive organs should. It is a perfect demonstration of how Ovaltine, if taken with a meal, digests the starch content of other foods in your stomach. And why it speeds up digestion and creates the sensation of hunger.

And when mixed with milk it will break down the curds and make the milk digest twice as easily. (For milk alone, as you know, turns to solid curds in the stomach.)

Children drink twice as much milk, when it's mixed with Ovaltine, because they like the taste.

It also contains a natural but vital property called "lecithin", which is the important part of nerve and brain tissue. A few days use of Ovaltine usually curbs nervousness noticeably.

Increased Appetite

Ovaltine has a high content of the appetite producing Vitamin B. But of greatest importance is its high proportion of the remarkable food element known as "diastase." (A substance that gives one food the power to digest the starch content of other foods in your stomach.) Ovaltine is so processed that it contains enough diastase to digest from 4 to 5 times its own weight of other foods! It is this digestive power which chiefly distinguishes Ovaltine from any other health food in the world, and is the main reason why Ovaltine actually stimulates appetite.

Quick Digestion

By breaking down the curds in the milk, by digesting the starches in the stomach, Ovaltine speeds up digestion and empties the stomach sooner. This makes a child hungry. For the sensation of hunger is caused by the walls of an empty stomach pressing together, and hunger is the basis of appetite. Child specialists will tell you that usually when a child refuses to eat, it is because he hasn't fully digested his previous meal—"poor eaters" invariably have slow digestion.

Not New

Ovaltine is not a sugar-loaded chocolate drink, but a scientific food concentrate that has stood the test of time. It is used today in 54 nations. Over 20,000 doctors endorse it. It has been used in hospitals as a food for invalids and convalescents for over 35 years. During the World War, it was a standard ration given by the Red Cross to nerve-shattered, shell-shocked soldiers.

For the sake of your child, we urge you to try it this summer. Results will surprise you. Note the almost immediate difference in your child's weight and nerve poise, and in greater strength, energy and appetite.

Give it at breakfast always. At meals and between meals. You can get Ovaltine at any drug or grocery store. Or send the coupon for a 3-day test supply.

(Note) Thousands of nervous people, men and women, are using Ovaltine, on physicians' advice, to restore vitality when fatigued. It is also recommended for sleeplessness, nursing mothers, convalescents, and the aged.

Nancy Carroll and Fredric March In 'The Night Angel' at Majestic; State Showing 'Women Love Once'

Theater Calendar

Majestic

Sunday through Tuesday: Nancy Carroll, Fredric March and Phoebe Foster in "The Night Angel." Other units of entertainment include a Boy Friend comedy, "Love Fever"; a talkertoon comedy, "Bimbo's Imitations" and Majestic talking news.

Starting Wednesday: "The Great Lover," with Adolphe Menjou, Irene Dunne, Neil Hamilton, Olga Baclanova, Cliff Edwards and Ernest Torrence.

Starting Saturday: Ruth Chatterton in "The Magnificent Lie," with Ralph Bellamy and Stuart Erwin.

State

Sunday through Wednesday: "Women Love Once," with Paul Lukas and Eleanor Boardman; comedy, "Riley Goes Hollywood"; Terrytoon, "Sultan's Cat" and Paramount sound news.

Starting Thursday: Marion Davies in "Bachelor Father"; also comedy, a cartoon and Universal talking news.

Gem

Sunday for three days: Jack Holt in "The Last Parade," with Constance Cummings and Tom Moore and comedy, "Dumbells in Derbys."

Wednesday and Thursday: Richard Arlen in "The Conquering Horde" with Fay Wray and comedy, "The Great Pants Mystery."

Friday and Saturday: Ken Maynard in "The Two Gun Man"; also first chapter of "Heroes of the Flames" with Tim McCoy and comedy.

"The Night Angel" is one of the most absorbing of the recent talkies. It has a plot that is filled with the pulsing thrills of modern life; a love-tale that is inspiring; a color and verve that is agreeably fresh—and a group of actors who know their acting.

Nancy Carroll and Fredric March head the cast of this production—and nowhere could two more competent performers have been brought to the chief roles. Their work as a romantic team was well demonstrated in "Laughter."

The story has a fresh viewpoint. It delivers its punch through an up-to-the-minute timeliness which every person in an audience can understand and appreciate.

The locale of "The Night Angel" is Prague, glamorous continental city which rivals Paris for its night life and gaiety. Miss Carroll is seen as the youthful dancer and entertainer in "The Duck"—an inn of questionable honesty—where customers are "shaken down" for much more money than they ever intended to spend. March is the city prosecutor who resolves to clean up this infamous resort. In doing so he incurs the enmity of Alan Hale, husky bouncer of the place who is in love with Nancy. The girl at first hates March, but later finds she has fallen in love with him. A series of gripping situations and tense emotional conflicts brings the story to a happy ending.

Other units presented are a boy friend comedy, "Love Fever," Majestic news events in sight and sound and a clever talkartoon, "Bimbo's Imitations."

"The Great Lover"

"The Great Lover," starring Adolphe Menjou, is an even greater performance for this star than was given in "Front Page," with Irene Dunne of "Cimarron" fame handling the feminine lead in a manner that will take her to even greater heights. And all will remember Neil Hamilton, co-star of "Strangers May Kiss," Cliff Edwards of many a screen feature, in all of which he has never disappointed. Then there is Ernest Torrence, that lovable old man of "Covered Wagon." Truly it's an all-star cast in a mighty drama.

"The Magnificent Lie"

At last the public has been given their favorite feminine star, that first lady of the silver sheet, in her greatest role, a highly dramatic story, held as a surprise to let you see a marvelous picture without telling you anything except that it's Ruth Chatterton in her greatest, "The Magnificent Lie."

Nancy Carroll with Frederic March in "The Night Angel," featured at the Majestic through Tuesday with other units of good entertainment.

Paul Lukas, Juliette Compton and Eleanor Boardman as they appear in "Women Love Once," at the State through Wednesday.

Jack Holt Star In 'Last Parade' At Gem Sunday

Jack Holt, one of the popular stars in the screen world, will play the role of a wisecracking gangster in "The Last Parade," which comes to the Gem Sunday for three days. As everyone who has followed pictures knows, Holt established a reputation for roles of the reserved, dignified type.

It is therefore a decided innovation for this star to transform himself into a fast talking, impulsive, hardboiled racketeer. But he has been extremely successful in creating a character different from those he has portrayed in the past.

Tom Moore supports Holt in "The Last Parade," and Constance Cummings will supply the feminine interest. Other well known screen performers are in the cast.

DALLAS WOMAN DECIDES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

DALLAS, July 18. (AP)—Mrs. Ed Smith decided today that she would rather answer questions relative to the fatal shooting of Miss Helen Ruth Lamar, 19, for which her son, Elmo Berry, 20, was charged with murder, than remain in the Dallas county jail.

She was fined $100 and remanded to jail on a contempt of court charge yesterday when she refused to answer questions about the shooting. She informed the grand jury that the defendant was her son and she was not going to say anything that could be used against him.

In announcing her change of mind, Mrs. Smith said she was terribly excited when she entered the grand jury room.

The question on which she balked was whether she was at her home when Miss Lamar received the pistol wound which resulted in death.

"WOMEN LOVE ONCE" STATE ATTRACTION TO THURSDAY

Paramount has correctly sensed the public taste for Paul Lukas' effective acting and his parent company has placed him in the most significant role of his career in "Women Love Once," the romantic drama which opens at the State theater Sunday.

Paul Lukas can act. He is an actor who has studied his work, knows it well and loves to exhibit his skill.

"Women Love Once" is tense, absorbing stuff. It is the story of a happy family whose placid contentment is all but dispelled by the force of worldly circumstances. "Women Love Once" also gives Eleanor Bordman a great chance to connect with the public as a talkie performer. She doesn't miss the chance. The enactment of the wife and mother role in this picture is a very bright spot in the season's round of acting.

Little Marilyn Knowlden will melt your heart away. She is adorable as a child actress.

All in all, "Women Love Once" is a great talkie.

Short subjects include "Riley Goes Hollywood," educational comedy; "Sultan's Cat," Terrytoon and Paramount sound news.

"Bachelor Father"

Marion Davies achieves the finest performance of her career in "Bachelor Father," her new starring vehicle, which opens at the State Thursday for three days. As the mad cap, vicious and pugnacious little Hogan's Alley heroine of the Edward Child's Carpenter play, Miss Davies registers a characterization perfect and delightful to behold.

The supporting cast in "Bachelor Father" includes Guinn Williams (a Texas lad), David Torrence, Edgar Norton and Doris Lloyd.

A cartoon comedy and news reel are on the program.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Sue reached for her pocketbook, opened it, removed Jack's letter, and started to tear the flap. The sight of the familiar scrawl on the envelope seemed to draw her back to her own world and make life right again.

She put the letter down very carefully.

"I'll get ready for bed before I read it," she told herself. "Then I'll enjoy it better."

She filled the tub with warm water and lay in it a while, relaxing, letting the sordid events of the evening slip away. Then she found her best pajamas, cool, dusky pink with inserts of lace, and gay pink mules that matched. Ready at last, she sat down in the big chair again and picked up the letter.

The letter satisfied every longing of Sue's. Jack hadn't changed. She smiled ruefully as she wondered what had given her the idea that maybe he had. He was coming to her as quickly as he could. Perhaps he would have to stop over along the way for a few weeks on the homeward trip, and if he did, he wondered if she couldn't meet him.

"And we can be married right away, Sue. It's so foolish to wait. I'm counting the days. I'll wire when I start home, and you start too, and we'll meet. Don't laugh, Sue. Maybe it is a dumb idea. But if you knew how much I want you you would understand."

There was more of it. Jack was a darling, Sue told herself. She propped her chin in one hand and sat smiling softly for a while. She would answer any summons and never ask the reasons. It hurt to be so crazy about any one. But it would hurt more not to be, she mused.

Already the unpleasantness of the evening was disappearing. She remembered rather uneasily that she had not told her own name. She was sure now that she had made a mistake. She even considered calling the police station and rectifying it. But almost at once she forgot about it. The next day she was going to wish that she had.

She sat down and answered Jack's letter, telling him all about the evening, of her worries and fears and loneliness. She didn't say that she had lost her job and was hunting another. There would be time for them to laugh about that later. She was confident now, while the clock hands touched the first hour after midnight, and then the second and third, that everything would be all right.

"Such a nightmare of a night," she told the quiet street as she flung the window high. "But that's life. It makes it interesting, never knowing just what is around the corner. A wedding or a smash-up. But I'm sorry for Jean. And Barbara turned him down, in spite of his own nonsense about not caring. How a man could want a saw-dust doll, I don't know. But he probably thought she was too pretty to be saw-dust."

"It's hard for a man to realize that a ruffled doll may have a blue serge soul and a flat heeled heart. But it happens. Oh, how it happens!"

She turned back the rose quilt on the bed, pulled the chain in the little lamp, and climbed between the sheets. But once in bed a sense of the evening's unhappiness tried to drift back. It became mixed with her dreams. She thought she was calling the police station and giving her right name. When she wakened, it was with a queer sense that she must do something right away.

Next—A mixup.

What How Why ?
PLYMOUTH FLOATING POWER
THE WHOLE NATION WANTS TO KNOW MORE ABOUT IT

The revolutionary character of the New Plymouth has created a great flood of interest. Even the hardiest of skeptics are so amazed at this new four that performs like an eight that they ask eagerly for the facts behind this tremendous accomplishment.

What is Floating Power?
Floating Power is a term applied to the new and revolutionary principle of mounting the engine in the car frame, developed by Chrysler Motors engineers for the New Plymouth.

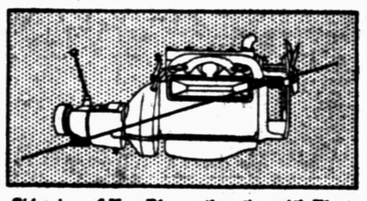
Just how is the engine mounted?
On two live-rubber mountings nearly an inch thick. These mountings are so placed that a line drawn through them passes through the center of gravity of the engine. Thus the engine is suspended in perfect balance.

What does Floating Power do?
The live rubber mountings allow the engine to rock upon its natural axis as if in a cushioned cradle. Vibration is thus entirely eliminated from the car.

Why does Floating Power succeed when all other methods fail?
Because Chrysler Motors engineers have not tried merely to dampen vibration; they have achieved an entirely new principle which dissipates the motor impulses so that they never reach the body and frame.

Why and How is Power Increased?
Because the elimination of vibration allows higher compression, which gives greater horsepower without increasing cylinder size. Floating Power makes possible 56 brake-test horsepower and actual stop-watch speeds of 65 and 70 miles an hour, and pick-up from a standing start to 40 miles in 9.7 seconds.

What else does Plymouth offer?
A score of things! Plymouth's Free Wheeling combines the advantages of the various types now in use. As a result, it permits Free Wheeling in all forward speeds, and it also may be completely locked out. The Easy-Shift transmission which enables you to shift, without clashing, from second into high and back into second, if you wish, at speeds up to 50 miles an hour. The new, double-drop frame for greater safety and roadability. New and eye-compelling trimness and beauty. Weatherproof hydraulic brakes. Safety-Steel body.



Side view of New Plymouth engine with Floating Power. Front Mounting elevated so that line connecting two mountings passes through center of gravity of engine. Thus, engine is suspended in perfect balance.

You must see and drive the car to appreciate the phenomenal results in performance, quality and value made possible by one of the greatest engineering developments the industry has ever seen.

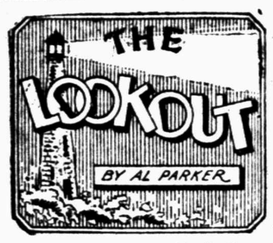
BUCS WIN TWO EXTRA-INNING GAMES FROM CATS, 1-0 AND 3-2



The Spudders of 1930, A. D., not only made up one of the best of many good ball clubs Wichita Falls has known in its 11 years in the Texas league, but the team of youngsters was one of the best behaved of all Wichita Falls clubs. We don't mean to say that the entire cast was about to sprout wings when they were performing for Bill Huff and Carl Williams, but they were sufficiently ambitious to take good care of themselves off the field. It was more or less startling news the other day to learn that Lin Storti and Jim Levey had received a fine from the management of the Browns for keeping hours that were entirely too late. The Sporting News records the incident as follows:

"Jim Levey, shortstop, was suspended and fined $100 and Lin Storti assessed $50 by Manager Bill Killefer of the Browns for breaking training rules at Detroit, July 12. Both picked the same night to stay out late, unfortunately for Storti, as the Brownie boss was waiting up for Levy, when Lin blew into the hotel at 2:55 the morning of July 12. Killefer, however, was out-stayed by Levey, who came in after Bill went to bed. The house detective's report showed the shortstop reached the hotel at 4:30 a. m., just a step ahead of the milkman."

One reason that Carl Williams has so little trouble with his athletes breaking over the traces is that he gives them as few rules as possible to follow and is lenient with them in controlling their outside habits as he is in directing their work on the field. He believes that such a policy pays, and judging from the behavior of teams he has managed, both present and past, he has good grounds for holding to such a policy. But that doesn't mean that his men run wild and are permitted to get by with everything. Every once in awhile a player takes advantage of the skipper's leniency to the result that it is necessary to stick on a fine. More than one fine has been plastered on the Spudder players of 1931.

In enforcing discipline Carl employs something in the fashion of an honor system. Or at least, he goes little out of his way to hound the tracks of his players after the game is played. He learned when he was managing the Abilene club that as a detective he didn't click. A certain pitcher on the club was not getting enough sleep to be at his best and Carl started out one night to find out just how late—or rather how early in the morning—this pitcher turned in for his 20 winks. The club was on the road and the hotel lobby was the chief loafing place. Carl parked in the lobby with a good view of the stairway leading up to the player's rooms. He continued to park there until 3 a. m. and finally decided he didn't have a chance to outwait the pitcher. The next morning he discovered the player had gone to his room immediately after dinner and had never emerged therefrom. From then on Carl decided if it was necessary to employ gum-shoeing in watching his athletes, he would hire a professional for the job.

Two of the Texas league's prize graduates of last season have dropped from the majors into the lap of an International league club that promises to battle for the pennant in that circuit right up to the finish line. The duet of Texas league graduates consists of Joe Moore and Jim Moore and their new club is the Newark Bears. Rather it is a new club for Jim Moore. Joe Moore has been there long enough to play in more than 50 games and to lead the league with an average of .382. Joe Moore was considered by many the prize of the Texas league rookie crop and San Antonio sold him before the close of the season to the Giants, who still have strings on him. Jim Moore also has been optioned to the Bears by the Philadelphia Athletics, to whom he was sold by the Dallas Steers.

Whether or not you like Ziggy Sears' um-pirating—and if you live in Wichita Falls you probably don't—you'd have to admit he is a good story teller after listening to his version of the costliest error ever made in baseball. Errors have been known to cost league championships and even world championships, but this error of which Ziggy tells almost cost a human life, with Jake Atz the victim. It was back in the midst of the Panthers' pennant reign, near the close of the season when the Cats were well out in front but needed quite a few more wins to clinch the verdict. Joe Pate was pitching a game against Dallas at Dallas and had the home club whipped, 2 to 1, with runners on third and second and two away in the ninth inning. The Dallas hitter popped a short fly into center field, which Ray O'Brien sauntered under in nonchalant fashion only to muff and permit both runners to score and Dallas to win the ball game. Ziggy says the players, growling as might have been expected, jogged into the dugout to find Atz sprawled flat on the concrete floor dead to the world. All the ice water in the keg failed to revive Jake and an ambulance was summoned. He was taken all the way to a Fort Worth hospital, where pneumonia developed and Atz pulled through by a narrow squeek after more than three months abed. That, says Ziggy, undoubtedly is the costliest error in the history of the game.

Herb Kelly, the outfielder who couldn't hit for the Spudders this spring, is leading the Western league with an average of .408. . . . Frank Watt, given up as through because of a lame wing several years ago by more than one Texas league club, was leading the National league pitchers one day last week, with four won and one lost. He has lost once or twice since then . . . Art Shires' average with the Brewers has fallen away to a mere .390 . . . And Alex Metzler is hitting only .340 for the Brewers . . . Whoda thought Bubber Jonnard would hit class double A pitching a la .333 for half the season? He did . . . Jimmy Walkup had won 11 and lost four for Birmingham at last accounts . . . And Andy Messenger 11 and seven for six and lost three with Springfield Atlanta . . . Buster Ross had won of the Three-Eye after having failed to make the grade with Shreveport.

Both Games With Alamo City Team Blocked by Rains

All Hurlers but Cooney Ready for Opening Beaumont Game

The Spudders were en route to Beaumont Saturday night after all-day rain had postponed the doubleheader scheduled to have been played in San Antonio Saturday afternoon and night.

The entire pitching staff, with the exception of Bob Cooney, who pitched Friday night's game, will be available Sunday, as the Thursday night game in the Alamo city was also rained out.

The Spudders will take on an Exporter team still stinging from the two-hit shut-out defeat handed them by Pitcher Hansen of the Dallas Steers Saturday afternoon. This victory put the Steers up into third place and left the Spudders in fourth place after the Cats had dropped into second division as the result of losing both ends of a night double header to Galveston.

Houston and Shreveport were also idle Saturday after their scheduled night game was rained out.

HOUSTON, July 18. (AP)—"Dizzy" Dean, Houston Buff pitching star, suffered a slight attack of appendicitis today and was confined to his room. His physician said he was out of danger and would be able to take his regular turn in the box.

The loss of Dean at this time would be costly, as he is slated next Saturday at Beaumont to pitch the first game of the first half playoff series against the Exporters.

OFF TO TEXAS' P.G.A. WARS

PHIL HESLER

When Texas' leading professional golfers go into action this week on the course of the Harlingen Country club, Wichita Falls will be represented by Phil Hesler, Wichita Falls Golf and Country club pro. Phil packed up his bag of clubs and departed Friday for the scene of battle, planning to get in a few practice rounds before the start of warfare Wednesday. The tournament is the annual Texas Professional Golfers association championship and will extend through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Hesler has put in several weeks on his own course polishing up his game, and has been shooting consistently good golf through the summer. He has kept his score at or near par and if he can continue that sort of game at Harlingen he might bring to this city its first professional championship.

Lefty Hansen Blanks Beaumont for Steers

BEAUMONT, July 18. (AP)—Lefty Roy Hansen limited the Exporters to two singles today to lead the Dallas Steers to a 4 to 0 whitewash victory over Beaumont. The lanky southpaw was in great form and in five of the nine innings only three men faced him. Score:

Ed Olle Appointed Basket Ball Coach Texas University

New Cage Mentor Lettered In Three Sports as Longhorn

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—Ed Olle, former Longhorn three-letter man, and present business manager of the university athletic council office, was chosen as varsity basketball coach at the University of Texas here Saturday afternoon, by a unanimous vote of the athletic council.

Olle will succeed Fred M. Walker, retiring coach, who the athletic council several months ago recommended be not re-employed as basket ball coach. This decision was upheld by the board of regents at a meeting here a week ago.

Olle's selection was a big surprise to those close in touch with university athletic affairs. Marty Karow, assistant varsity football and freshman baseball coach, was considered a practical certainty for the post.

Mac Burnett and Joe Ward, both of whom are former Longhorn lettermen, were named assistant freshmen football coaches by the council.

Olle was a star basket ball, baseball and football player while attending the university. He lettered in football in 1925 and 1926, basketball in 1926-27 and baseball in 1926-27. He was elected Longhorn basketball captain in 1927.

Upon graduation at the university, Olle accepted a position as coach at the El Paso High school, where he served for two years, from 1927 to 1929. He was then appointed business manager of the university athletic office, which position he now occupies. Olle will continue as athletic council business manager in addition to his duties as varsity basket ball coach.

Americans Take Commanding Lead Davis Cup Play

One More Victory Will Put United States in Challenge Round

PARIS, July 18. (AP)—The United States took a commanding lead in the inter-zone final of Davis cup competition against Great Britain today as George Lott and Johnny Van Ryn trounced Fred Perry and George Hughes, 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, in the doubles.

If Frank Shields can defeat Henry W. (Bunny) Austin in the singles tomorrow or the youthful Sidney Wood can turn back Perry, an accomplishment each achieved at Wimbledon, then the United States again will challenge France for possession of the cup.

The British pair of Perry and Hughes was not only soundly beaten but in danger of something like disgrace in international tennis warfare before they rallied bravely and captured the third set after the Americans had won the first two and led three games to one in the third. It was the third 1931 victory for the American combination over the British pair. The others were in the French championships, and at Wimbledon.

Victory in one of the remaining two singles matches scheduled tomorrow would send the United States into the challenge round against France for the fourth straight year. Frank Shields, who beat Perry in the singles yesterday, will oppose Henry W. Austin, who was the victor over Sydney Wood Jr. Wood's opponent will be Perry.

British Stars Sail

LONDON, July 18. (AP)—England's team of five women tennis players sailed on the Aquitania today to play the United States for the Wightman cup, at Forest Hills, Aug. 7-8.

The team includes Betty Nuthall, who will defend her American singles championship, also at Forest Hills, the week of Aug. 17.

Helen Wills Wins

LONGWOOD CRICKET CLUB, Brookline, Mass., July 18. (INS)—Helen Wills Moody, America's premier woman tennis player, today brought her first invasion of eastern courts this year to a successful climax when, teamed with Mrs. George W. Wightman of Boston, she captured the Longwood doubles title.

"Little Poker Face" and Mrs. Wightman defeated the Palfrey sisters, Sarah and Mianne, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, in the doubles finals.

Miss Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., won the women's singles title by besting Sarah Palfrey, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Doeg Defeated

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 18. (AP)—Ellsworth Vines, latest California tennis sensation, today handled Johnny Doeg's terrific service in such a masterly fashion that he defeated the national champion, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, in a thrilling Longwood bowl singles final. The 19 year-old youngsters amazed a fairly large gallery by his sudden sweeps to the net to slice off placement volleys which broke down the blond giant's delivery six times during the five-set racquet duel.

Vines also gained half of the doubles honors, for he teamed with Keith Gledhill, intercollegiate champion from Santa Barbara, Calif., in a dull 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Doeg and his partner, Wilbur F. Coen, Kansas City.

Dorothy Andrus, unseeded player from Stamford, Conn., upset Sarah Palfry, Brookline, in the women's singles final and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Mrs. George W. Wightman, twice national doubles champions, gained the team title by defeating Sarah and Mianne Palfry, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Don Moe Repeats

PORTLAND GOLF CLUB, Portland, Ore., July 18. (AP)—Don Moe, Portland, today won the Western Amateur Golf championship for the second time in the last three years when he trounced Mac-Naughton, fellow townsman, 9 and 7 in a 36-hole final match.

MATE SETS NEW TRACK RECORD TO BEAT TWENTY GRAND

Favorite Finishes Third in $86,000 Arlington Classic

Mate Races to Victory by Four Lengths Before Crowd of 67,000

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 18. (AP)—The pounding hoof beats of Mate ground Twenty Grand, the super-race horse of America, into startling defeat to the astonishment of 67,000 howling spectators today.

Twenty Grand, winner of four successive rich stakes this season, and rated as the greatest race horse produced in America since Man o' War, was soundly beaten in the $86,000 Arlington classic, richest 3-year-old race in the world. Twenty Grand, a 1 to 3 favorite finished third, four lengths back of the speeding Mate, with Spanish Play, a Kentucky bred horse, second, just a nose ahead of the supposedly unbeatable Twenty Grand.

Sir Ashly, carrying the silks of William Woodward, New York, was fourth, with Sun Meadow fifth, Joey Bibb sixth and St. Brideaux, stable mate of the defeated champion, last in the field of seven.

There was no fluke in Mate's flashing victory, and if there is a 3-year-old champion of America, A. C. Bostick, the 30-year-old millionaire of Philadelphia, who lives with his own horses, trains them, and often rides them in steeple chases, is claiming the honor for his Mate. Mate already had won the Preakness, and the American Derby, both $50,000 stake events, and today's victory was his third big stake triumph of the year against two for Twenty Grand.

Mate, in his smashing victory, ran the mile and a quarter in 2:02 2-5, to set a new track record, clipping one and one-fifth seconds off the mark established by the western handicap star, Chicago, when he carried 122 pounds.

Mate carried 126 pounds today, the same impost Twenty Grand shouldered.

The conqueror of Twenty Grand, second choice in the betting, rewarded his backers $10.80 for $2 in the mutuel wagering. The place price on Mate was $5.96 with $2.68 to show. Spanish Play, winner of the Louisiana and Latonia derbies, paid $10.12 to place and $2.64 to show. Twenty Grand, coupled with his stable mate, St. Brideaux as the Greentree stable entry, paid $2.22 to show.

The classic had a gross value of $86,200 of which $73,650 went to young Bostwick, owner of Mate.

The start of the race was perfect, with only a second's delay at the post.

Sun Meadow bounded into the lead, with Spanish Play moving into second place on the turn, with Mate third. Sun Meadow set a smashing pace until the field neared the three-quarters mark. Mate was winging along second with Spanish Play third, and the big horse, Twenty Grand, running fourth.

As the horses began their dash around the far turn, Mate found a hole on the rail and shot through into the lead.

MACDONALD SMITH SETS NEW COURSE RECORD IN CAPTURING GOLF CROWN

WEST ORANGE, N. J., July 18. (AP)—Macdonald Smith, New York veteran, hit a streak of unbeatable golf today to win the Metropolitan open championship for the third time.

After setting a new course record of 66 in this morning's round, he played through a driving rain this afternoon with another par-breaking round of 71 for a 72-hole total of 285 and a lead of five strokes over his nearest rival, Gene Sarazen.

A stroke behind Sarazen was Johnny Farrell, 1927 champion, who had 291.

CALIFORNIA MAKES BID FOR BIG LEAGUE CAMPS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18. (INS)—California cities are making a determined bid to take away the spring training camp business of the major league baseball clubs from Florida and other southern states.

At least four clubs and probably seven will journey across the continent next spring to put their ball players through the paces under California's sunny skies.

Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York of the National league, and Detroit of the American league already have arranged to train in California.

Cleveland in the American league and St. Louis and Brooklyn in the National league have had scouts prospecting for suitable locations for their 1932 camps somewhere in California with its 900 miles of coastline.

Cleveland, it is understood, will establish its spring headquarters next year somewhere near Sacramento while Detroit probably will go 50 miles away from Stockton.

San Diego, close to the California-Mexican border, is trying to land the Brooklyn Dodgers, while half a dozen cities are after the St. Louis Cardinals. The New York Giants will train near Los Angeles, moving out from Texas where they have encamped annually for years.

Flaskamper's Yarn

Ray Flaskamper admitted, according to the Sporting News, that one time he hit a line drive between second and short, and was so fast that it hit him as he rounded second.

Majority of Golf Players Prefers Old Lively Ball

Nation-Wide Poll Shows Count of Three to One Against New

NEW YORK, July 18.—Only 11,984 golfers throughout the country took advantage of the opportunity to cast the votes in the nation-wide poll on the new golf ball conducted by NEA Service.

The vote, according to returns that are virtually complete, showed sentiment against the new larger-lighter ball practically 3 to 1, with 8,846 golfers expressing disapproval of the ball and 3,088 endorsing it.

Golfers generally showed a disinclination to vote on the subject, though most cities reported a great deal of talk against the ball at the public links and country clubs.

Standings in the poll, in which The Times participated, were:

SAN FRANCISCO TEAM PLANS HAWAIIAN TRIP

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18. (AP)—A charity football game in Honolulu Dec. 9 will mark the first appearance of a San Francisco team in Hawaii.

The San Francisco university, formerly St. Ignatius, eleven will meet the "Roaring Rainbows" of the University of Hawaii in the annual Shriners event that day.

Coach Otto Klum of the island varsity wants games with Oregon and Oregon State next fall if possible and already has made arrangements to meet Drake's eleven in the mid-Pacific next season.

Pair Double-Headers Slated City League

With the Spudders out of the city Sunday, more than a thousand Wichita Falls baseball fans are expected to gather at Katy park and Jalonic street diamonds to witness the brace of double-headers carded in the City league race. The feature game and one which is expected to draw the heaviest of the two is the battle for the league leadership at Katy park between the I. O. Boosters and Sullivan Grocery company. Bailey-Moline Hardware company will make a brave attempt to get back into the race for last half honors in its double bill on Jalonic street with the Modern Woodmen.

Two undefeated teams battling for the league leadership with a split of the two games throwing the league into a three-way tie is a choice dish for Wichita Falls sandlot fandom. The Boosters likely will shoot their fireball ace, O'Dell McDuffy, against Sullivan Grocery in the first game with Cecil Stovall the likely twirler in the nightcap. Steve "Smokey" Franklin is slated to toss the opening game with the second game selection between Jack Alexander and Flip Hoskins. The first game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The Woodmen are expected to start Nig Bell in the first game against Bailey-Moline, but who will hurl the second is an uncertainty. Lefty Bill Robertson, Clyde "Red" Nichols and Smokey Lupher all are available for duty for the hardware men.

With the first half play-off yet two weeks away, the Bailey-Moline and Star Transfer company teams will be closely watched, and one of the greatest turnouts ever seen in Wichita Falls amateur baseball is expected for the Aug. 1-2 games. Star Transfer plays Byers Sunday at Byers, then meet Sullivan Grocery in a double-header next week, while Bailey-Moline and I. O. Boosters battle in a double-header the same day. These two double bills the week before the play-off are expected to put the polish on both clubs for the three-game play-off the following week.

NORTH SIDE NINE HOLDS LEAD IN CLOSE BATTLE IN TWILIGHT FLAG RACE

With the fighting North Side club holding a one-game lead in the Twilight league and pressed close by the Katy railroaders, Panhandle and Taxman refiners, the league race is fast settling down into a hard fought grind to the finish. The Wichita Posters and Sibley Street Loafers are pressing close on the heels of the leading four clubs.

Sunday afternoon the North Siders and Sibley Street Loafers meet on Jalonic street while the second place Katy nine and the Wichita Poster Advertisers play on Katy diamond. The Panhandle and Taxman clubs battle for third place honors on the Scott street diamond. The Denver railroaders play Smoots on Uncle Jo while Northwest Motors and Tarry Transfer play on the Third and Broad diamond.

Tuesday finds the four leaders all playing clubs further down in the league standing, with North Side playing Fort Worth and Denver on Katy diamond, Panhandle playing Smoots on Scott, Katy playing Tarry on Jalonic, Taxman playing Northwest Motors on Third and Broad and Wichita Poster playing the Sibley Street Loafers on Uncle Jo.

The closing games of the week bring together Wichita Poster and Taxman on Scott, Panhandle and Tarry on Third and Broad, Katy and Smoots on Katy, North Side and Northwest Motors on Jalonic and the Sibley Loafers and Fort Worth and Denver on Uncle Jo.

YALE-HARVARD TRACK TEAM DEFEATS STARS OF OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE

STAMFORD BRIDGE, London, Jly 18. (AP)—The Yale-Harvard track and field team Saturday defeated the combined Oxford-Cambridge forces. With first places alone counting, the final score was 7½ to 4½.

Two international meet records were broken and a third equalled by the victorious Yale-Harvard performers.

The only double-winner was Eugene Goodwillie, of Chicago, the former Cornell university star, running for Oxford. He captured the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Yale's athletes captured four first places. Harvard and Oxford won three outright and divided honors in another, the high jump. Cambridge's only victor was Denison, in the three mile run.

Presbyterians in Three-up Lead and Ten More to Play

Leading Church Team Faces Pair of Tough Foes This Week

Three up and 10 to go!

The hard-hitting First Presbyterian church team reached the half way mark in the last half race in the Commercial league three games ahead of Texas Electric Service company and Malone's Beauty shop who are tied for second place. John "Babe" Horsley will lead his club against two hard opponents this week in games that are likely to see several changes made in the league standing. Tuesday the Empire Paper and Gib Lowery will go after their fifth straight win in the Commercial league and many of the close followers of the league are predicting a tough day for the church men. Thursday the Malone's Beauties, champions of the first half, will take a cut at the Presbyterians' lead in the second big game carded for this week.

The Texas Electric Service company Frigidaires and Malone's cross bats Monday afternoon on Harrison field with second place in the league standing at stake. This game is the third important game of the week. Noble-Little Hardware company and Dixon Sign company meet on Debus field Monday in a battle for fourth place with the two tied with Empire Paper now for the three second division notches. Tuesday is the Empire Paper-Presbyterian clash on Harrison field.

Besides the Thursday clash between Malone's and Presbyterians carded for Debus field, the Texas Electrics and Dixon Sign clash on Harrison field on the same afternoon. The Friday afternoon game on Harrison field finds the hard-hitting Noble-Little club and the Empire Paper nine battling for supreme honors of the second division.

With the last place club only four games from the leader there is room for many things to happen in the Commercial league in the next five weeks of play. One of the most surprising upsets of the last half has been the way the plucky Noble-Little club has stayed within striking distance of the top with the injury jinx hovering over them and the loss of several players through other causes.

After a rocky start since coming into the Commercial league the Empire Paper company team seemed to hit their stride in the last five games with Gib Lowery hurling winning ball time after time and right now they are the most feared club in the league.

Morgan Forges to Peak in American League Swat Race

Klein Continues to Pace Hitters of Senior Loop With .359 Mark

NEW YORK, July 18. (UP)—Eddie Morgan, hard hitting first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, had wrested the American league batting leadership from Babe Ruth, home run king of the New York Yankees.

Official averages released Saturday and including games of Thursday place Morgan on top with a mark of .381, five points more than the record compiled by Ruth. Harris of Washington is third, Simmons of Philadelphia fourth and Goslin of St. Louis fifth with averages of .364, .362 and .361 respectively.

Chuck Klein of Philadelphia still is setting the pace for the National league hitters with an average of .359. His teammate, Davis, is next in line with .356, followed by Terry of New York with .348. Hendrick of Cincinnati and Hogan of New York are tied for fourth and fifth, each having an average of .345.

Club batting honors in the National are held by Chicago with New York second. The Cubs are batting an even .300 and the Giants .296. The Cubs also lead in club fielding with a mark of .977. Cincinnati and New York are tied for second, each with a percentage of .973.

Jimmy Sanders, outfielder of the Greensboro, N. C., Patriots last year, is having a good season with the Texas league this summer.

Spudder's Walloper Still Far in Front

Buck Stanton of Wichita Falls continues to make a runaway race of the batting leadership of the Texas league, holding his average at .364 and making the question of real interest whether with more than a third of the campaign left he can collect enough base hits to set a new record. Stanton's closest challenger is Boroja of Beaumont with .353. Other Texas league leaders: Runs, White of Beaumont 75, Selph of Houston 73, Schuble of Beaumont 71; hits, Stanton of Wichita Falls 144, Stebbins of San Antonio 123, Brown of Fort Worth 123, Hock of Houston 121; doubles, Stanton of Wichita Falls 34, Medwick of Houston 30, Brown of Fort Worth 28; triples, White of Beaumont 15, Garms of Wichita Falls, Hughes of Beaumont, Frits of Beaumont 10, Fowler of Fort Worth 9; home runs, Gullic of Wichita Falls 17, Solters of Shreveport, Winegarner of Shreveport, Easterling of Beaumont 9; runs batted in, Gullic of Wichita Falls 74, Medwick of Houston 69, Stanton of Wichita Falls 65; stolen bases, White of Beaumont 33, Nash of San Antonio 22, Flaskamper of San Antonio 21.

With only one defeat against him, Lil Stoner of Fort Worth leads the pitching percentages with .857, but Dizzy Dean of Houston easily tops in games won with 17.

Club batting, pitchers credited with victory or defeat, and individual batting through the day game of Thursday, July 15, follow. Only players listed still in the Texas league:

WHAT CAN STATE DO OIL INDUSTRY CANNOT? ASKS WILBUR

Oil Producing States Have Laws Designed to Conserve Resources Wide Discrepancy in Provisions

(This is the second of two articles by Secretary Wilbur on the problems confronting the oil industry in the United States. In the first, Secretary Wilbur outlined the over production that has prevailed and the agreements for unit production that have been consummated between operators to limit the output and conserve the supply in specific fields. In the accompanying article he continues his analysis of the problem.)

By RAY LYMAN WILBUR
Secretary of the Interior in President Hoover's Cabinet and Chairman of the Federal Oil Conservation Board

What can the state do which the oil industry itself cannot? All of the oil producing states have conservation laws of some sort. They range from very brief statutes in Ohio and Pennsylvania, which require protection of producing formations from water intrusion, to the long and extremely detailed laws of Louisiana. In all 19 oil states protection of producing formations is required. In most of them the "waste" of gas and oil is prohibited. In defining "waste" wide discrepancies are found. So much for the physical methods of drilling a well.

In the production phases there is also wide discrepancy. Again waste is prohibited in general terms in the mid-continent oil states, the Rocky mountain states and California.

Blowing gas into the air is specifically prohibited in some states; in others it is specifically permitted if necessary to produce an oil well. In California production of more than a reasonable amount of gas per barrel of oil is prohibited, even though the gas is put to beneficial use. So much for the actual physical loss and escape of oil and gas.

On the question of control of production, the laws of the mid-continent states are generally alike. In Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas there is a provision for proration of production, at least during times of overproduction, all under production schedules to be fixed by some state agency.

In California, the restriction on production hinges on the amount that can be produced without waste of gas. The California gas law was passed in 1929; the Kansas law in 1931; the Arkansas law in 1923. Some of the Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana statutes are older.

The modern trend toward state protection of its oil and gas resources is clearly indicated. The sphere of state authority is not completely determined. Two bases for state action have been variously relied upon—one the common right of the surface owners to the oil and gas in the pool, the protection by the state of each of them from unreasonable action on the part of another; second, the interest of the people of the state in its natural resources, justifying the prevention by the state of waste.

As time goes on and it becomes more apparent that as a nation we have needlessly deprived our grandchildren of what should have been one of their greatest assets, there is no doubt that the power of the state will be more and more recognized.

So much for the industry and for the state. As for the United States, it has certain very broad powers on the public land, but most of the known oil deposits are under privately-owned land. As a potential source of supply, and so far as existing law permits, the public domain is being carefully guarded against speculation.

During the last two years the administration's oil conservation policy has resulted in a denial of all applications for prospecting permits, except those based on prior equities, and slowing down as much as possible drilling on public land.

But, aside from its authority over the public domain, the federal government has never undertaken to regulate production in any state. There are those who think that such a power rests in the United States, possibly growing out of the war power; but the weight of legal opinion is overwhelmingly against the possibility of direct action by the United States.

If the industry and the states must solve this problem, how are they to do it? Regulation by any state can only extend to its own border, and interstate agreements among oil operators are apt to bring them within the prohibition of the federal antitrust laws.

Yet curtailment of production in California may be followed by an expansion of production in Texas, and curtailment in Texas may be followed by an expansion in Oklahoma, and so on. States have therefore, been just as reluctant to limit their own citizens without any guarantee of reciprocal action by other states as individual operators have been.

The constitution provides a method for coordinated state action.

In the federal oil conservation board's first report, in 1926, it was suggested that "there should be active cooperation between the oil producing states in the study of proposed legislation, to the end that uniform laws may be enacted or even agreements or compacts entered into between the states, subject to ratification by congress."

In June 1929, at an oil conference at Colorado Springs, the same thought was suggested by the government representatives. At present there is considerable discussion among the oil states of this possibility.

During the first week in April representatives of the governors of 10 oil states met in Washington and requested a conference with the federal oil conservation board. They presented to the board a program calling for co-ordinating state conservation effort through an interstate compact which would reserve to each state the regulation of production within its own border by its own enforcing agency, but would coordinate their action through the 10 oil states by some conference group.

These 10 states, within which over 97 per cent of the nation's oil is produced, are trustees of these great resources for the benefit of the people of the nation. They must exercise their police power on behalf of the other 38 states if these resources are to be protected from reckless exhaustion.

Our oil is being thrown on the market now at prices from 20c to 50c a barrel, driving out of business the independent producers in the old, settled fields, forcing the permanent loss of many of these old wells through salt water intrusion following their shutdown, and driving the oil produced into inferior uses which compete with coal, instead of preserving the oil for use of its gasoline content.

It is a national problem, yet the federal government under our usually accepted concept of federal and state sovereignty has no power to protect itself against this waste. the 10 oil states must act for the rest of us, and the country will watch with the deepest interest their present effort to coordinate their action.

Whatever agreement they may reach must have the consent of congress and will undoubtedly call for federal cooperation in some manner, so that the danger of unreasonable prices of oil products may be eliminated.

It is a new application of the means created by the writers of our constitution to provide for the joint application of the state's police power to a problem which transcends state lines. But it is a method which has been exercised over 50 times in the various states for protection of their harbors, settlement of boundaries, division of water of rivers, joint police protection of certain areas, creation and patrol of interstate parks, and so on.

The federal oil conservation board has no power to direct either the industry or the states. Its power is purely advisory. It has consistently asked that sound, uniform laws be enacted by the oil states for the protection of the rest of the country and it is hopeful that some such result may come out of the present state effort.

Violinist Will Play Works of Mozart Sunday

Varied works by most prolific composer in all music will be heard from 1 to 2 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, July 19, over the WABC-Columbia network, when the symphonic hour, with Toscha Seidel as solo violinist, will be devoted entirely to Mozart.

First is the overture to one of his early operas, "La Finta Giardiniera," composed when Mozart was only 19—but nevertheless his fourth full-size work in operatic form. In common with all his music, the overture is a gay, highly melodious piece, with little or no underlying program—pure music in the fullest sense of the term.

Toscha Seidel will be heard with the orchestra in the fourth violin concerto, in D major. Written for an orchestra consisting mainly of strings and woodwing, the certo is a mellifluous work, in the usual three movements, concluding with a brilliant rondo. Another rondo, arranged by Kreisler, will be played as a solo by Seidel, with Herbert Jaffe accompanying at the piano.

The program concludes with the first and last movements of the E flat symphony, one of the three great symphonies which he wrote in three months.

ROBIN HOOD OPERETTA TO BE REVIVED DURING STAR REVERIES BILL

A miniature musicale of excerpts from Reginald de Koven's operetta, "Robin Hood," will be presented for radio listeners during the broadcast of Star Reveries over the Columbia network on Sunday, July 19, at 8:45 p. m., central standard time. Helen Gilligan, soprano, and Milton Watson, tenor, the regular soloists for this program, will be heard in the leading roles. The orchestra and chorus will be under direction of Mark Warnow.

One of the musical highlights from this production is the ever-popular "Oh Promise Me" which is almost as much of a part of every wedding ceremony as the Wedding March from "Lohengrin." It is interesting to note that "Oh Promise Me" was composed sometime before de Koven wrote the operetta in which the selection first was introduced to the public.

The concluding number on the Star Reveries will be "Cross Your Fingers" from "Sons o' Guns" which Milton Watson sang in that show. Both he and Miss Gilligan will be heard in the radio rendition of the song.

A part of Gustav Mahler's seventh symphony will be broadcast between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, July 19, over the WABC-Columbia network, from the Lewisohn stadium at the College of the City of New York, where Willem van Hoogstraten will conduct it for the first time at any stadium concert.

Russians May Be Cuckoo but You Can't Laugh 'Em Off

By WILL ROGERS

Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers. And this hot weather the last few weeks, every paragraph in the paper is prostration. Then come along the Fourth a couple of weeks ago, and that with its firecrackers, Drownings and Auto accidents just about got what the heat had left. But if things dont pick up it dont make much difference anyhow. But they seem to think this debt thing is going to help some of em out—some of em. Well its kinder lonesome around the Rogers ranch (not really a ranch, but we call it that; it sounds big, and dont really do any harm) Mrs. Rogers and Mary, that's the Daughter that just become a young Lady right while I was looking at her, she turned 18 and I swear it dont seem 10, are away.

I was playing in a Vaudeville Theater in Houston, Texas. It was the opening matinee, and I got the telegram of her arrival. She was with her Mother and her Mother was at her old home at Rogers, Ark. A beautiful little town in the edge of the Ozarks, on that wonderful White River, great summer resort all around there. We dident have any home, we was just living in Theater Dressing rooms, and raised in trunks. That was before I knew there was such a thing as a Ziegfeld Follies.

The Act then was mostly roping, and a good deal of jokes, in fact the same ones I am still using. Roosevelt was my best bet in those days. He was the best known public man that ever lived, and they kept up with everything that he did, so when you started in talking about something that he had just said or done, you dident have to stop to tell what it was before going ahead with your comment. Our Public men nowadays havent got near as much color as the ones then had. People are not interested enough in the ones nowadays to read what they are doing, which generally they aint. But they are pretty able I guess at that.

But what I started out to say was that Mary and her Mother have gone on a little trip over to Honolulu. Mary had heard that the dance Orchestra's over there were especially good so she wanted to make sure. I was working on a Movie and couldent get away. I would like to go to that Honolulu some time. I just come by there one time many years ago, on my way from Australia. But I do hate that boat trip. If I could fly over I would go tomorrow, if I could get this Gatty and Post to take me over. Those boys did a great Job, dident they? It will be a long time before that record is beat. You wont get another combination like that.

Such a Navigator and such a Flyer, and they cant get any better ship. Just think! Clear around the World with one Motor. Then you find people that are afraid to go up for an hour with three motors. How in the deuce did they do about all that loss of sleep? Lord, if I miss two hours sleep I am dopy for the next day or so. I would have gone to sleep right in some Russian Reception Committees whiskers, and when it would have come time to get up and take off again, I would have left the record remain with Jules Verne in eight days, and even that was imagination. Poor old Jules, he must have had a relapse when he heard them flying over his grave.

We hear a lot now about the World becoming little, but I tell you its plenty big yet. It will be a long time before we know much more about each other than we do now. And I guess it will be just as well we dont. Just think of those Boys flying away up in Siberia. Thats where we used to see the pictures of these Wolves jumping up at those sleighs, and the Horses had something like a high yoke up over his neck. Well, these old boys got enough altitude that no old wolf couldent jump at them. You know, too, those Russians were mighty nice to these Boys, when you consider that we dont give them much the best of it. We think they are running their Country cockeyed, and I guess its mutual, at least it should be.

Now dont get the idea that a plane is new in Russia, for they have a fine aviation system. I made a little part of this trip that these Boys made. That is, I flew from London to Berlin, then to Moscow in 1926. They made practically the same jump, and when I landed in the afternoon in Moscow in a Commercial Plane, single motor, I was the only passenger, and the air was full of planes training, and we had to circle the field several times before we got the signal to land.

Now that was five years ago. I bet these Boys saw many a Plane in Russia. They have Aviation Societys over there that are maintained by the members, not the government. They all throw in a small sum each and that goes to buy planes and fields and training flyers. Its a patriotic thing like we donate to our Red Cross or some other Charity. You know those Rascals along with all their Cuckoo stuff, have got mighty good ideas. If just part of em work they are going to be hard to get along with. Just think of everybody in a Country going to work. I dont mean just the ones that want to work, but I mean everybody.

What they mean by work is to produce something, to be of some benefit to the whole Community. Just look at the millions of us here that tonight we haven't done a thing today, that helps the country, or that helps anybody. We have just gone along and lived off of it, and we are just "lousy" with satisfaction of ourselves. Just think what we could do over here if we ALL worked. Dont get scared, I am not putting this in as a Plan. But we must admit that other things being equal the Nation that works and saves and dont let the profits go into the hands of a few thousand or million men. They are going to be dangerous competitors. We cant just laugh it off. We prospered for years on nothing but our natural resources. Well they have got twice as much of anything as we ever had before we used it up. Its a terrible way to live, and do, but you cant beat hard work, sacrifice and unlimited resources. Its liable, if it does just even half way work out, to have us winging on our foreign trade. But thats for Mr. Hoover and Pat Hurley to worry about. I am sleepy, goodnight.

FOUR SAXOPHONES TO BE PROGRAM FEATURE

Tony Parenti and his four singing saxophones will present a unique arrangement by him of southern melodies, including several Stephen Foster tunes, as a feature of their broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network on Sunday, July 19, at 6:30 p. m. C. S. T.

This novel quartet, which also utilizes several woodwind instruments in addition to the saxophones, is composed of Tony Parenti, director; Sam Thompson, Doc Opsahal and Teddy Greenberg. All are well-known soloists, and have been heard frequently over the radio on various programs.

PARIS TO BROADCAST PROGRAM ON FASHIONS

Jean Patou, noted couturier of Paris, will speak from the French capital over the WABC-Columbia network in the regular international broadcast hour on Sunday, July 19, at 10:30 a. m. C. S. T. The topic will be "Fads and Fashions."

Patou has been considered a foremost style authority for more than 20 years. His gown creations have been well publicized on both sides of the Atlantic.

TELEVISION TEST BROADCASTS WILL OPEN THIS MONTH

The Columbia Broadcasting system's experimental television station in New York will be opened officially on Tuesday, July 21, from 8:15 to 9 p. m., central standard time. At that time a sight and sound program will be broadcast over WABC, W2XAB, W2XE and the coast-to-coast Columbia network.

Although details have not been completed, the program inaugurating seven-hour daily television will be one of the most elaborate of the year. Celebrities from the stage, screen and national life have been invited to participate.

During its tests over a period of two weeks lookeds-in as far away as Boston, Hartford, Schenectady and Camden have reported reception of programs sent out by the Columbia station.

Licensed under the call letters W2XAB, the experimental television station will operate in a frequency channel from 2750 to 2850 kilocycles with 500 watts power, utilizing 60-line scanning at 20 frames per second. The installation represents ultra modern television transmitting apparatus.

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON—The Faquir Who Crossed India on Foot Wearing Spiked Sandals: The Spike Saints constitute a distinct branch of Hindu religious ascetics. While most of them spend their lives lying unprotected on a bed of nails, Suraptas, who is of a more athletic disposition, devised sandals, the insides of which were studded with long wicked looking nails. On the points of these nails Suraptas walked a distance of more than 6,000 miles, crossing India repeatedly in several directions. This feat assures Suraptas of great spiritual benefits, and of an honorable standing in the guild of Hindu faquirs. The Mocking Bird Is Unjustly Named: The mocking bird is one of the sweetest and most beautiful of the American songsters. It does not mock anything, but has extraordinary powers of imitating surrounding noises. Their native song is extraordinarily beautiful, and in reproducing the songs of other birds they even deceive the imitated birds themselves.

OIL INDUSTRY OF AREA IN SLUMP AS LEGISLATURE MEETS

Deep Tests North of Archer City And Near Wichita County Boundary Continue as Center of Interest

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

While lawmakers in the legislative halls at Austin wrestle with the intricate problem of how a halt can be called in the demoralization of one of the state's largest bank rolls—the oil industry—operations throughout the Wichita Falls district continued to slump.

A review of development in the past week showed a number of important deep tests drilling as usual, these being in the vicinity of Deep Oil-Lindsay deep well, No. 1 Wilson north of Archer City, with others near the Wichita-Archer boundary.

East Texas Oil

KILGORE, Texas, July 18. (AP)—Permits to drill 69 wells were granted in the East Texas field during the past week.

The last group of permits, numbering 32, were distributed to the following counties: Gregg 14, Rusk 12, Smith 4, Shelby 1 and Nacogdoches 1.

DALLAS, July 18. (UP)—Total production of the Magnolia Petroleum company in the East Texas field today had been increased to 19,968 barrels daily with completion of its No. 1 J. W. Free and No. 4 Roy Loosier.

GLADEWATER, Texas, July 18. (UP)—The Sinclair Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Tom Cole, which caught fire and killed nine men three months ago, today was reported making four and one-half per cent basic sediment without the use of tretolite. With the use of tretolite the well showed one and one-half per cent basic sediment and one per cent water, it was reported. The well flowed wild for several days after the fire had been extinguished.

OVERTON, Texas, July 18. (UP)—Efforts to smother the burning Vitex Oil company's No. 5 Eaton near here with carbon dioxide gas will be undertaken as soon as special gas generators arrive from New York, it was announced at the well today.

Workmen today had succeeded in dragging 8,000 feet of drill pipe and all machinery but the rotary table from the center of the blaze. A special tool with which to snake the heavy rotary table out was being made under direction of B. F. "Blackie" DeLong, Borger oil fire fighter.

Fighting the fire with carbon dioxide gas will be an innovation in Texas oil fields, according to DeLong. In case the method fails, he is holding 100 quarts of nitroglycerin in readiness.

Three men, including Paul Vitex, the owner, were burned to death when the oil caught fire last week.

A few wells of the stripper type on the older leases were forced to shut down by the low prices for crude. However, the general shutdown of all wells pending improvement in the market failed to materialize.

Despite the posted price of 20 cents a barrel made last week by all major purchasing agencies, with the possible exception of the Magnolia Petroleum company, which so far has maintained the older price, the refiners in the district continue to pay the schedule of 35 to 37 cents per barrel.

The announcement made Thursday by the Texas Pipe Line company of a readjustment in its pipe line carrying charges, which means a saving of 5 cents per barrel on all crude shipped from the Panhandle field, and a two and one-half cent reduction per barrel for oil transported to the Wichita Falls area, will help to a great extent the producers in these fields, and will also assure a supply to meet the daily requirements of the refining plants in the district.

Hook Up New Wells

According to O. R. Burden, district superintendent of the Texas Pipe Line company, the company to further facilitate the transportation of crude from the Panhandle pools, made arrangements with the Prairie Pipe Line company to handle through its system all oil purchased by the Texas company in this area. The withdrawal of the Prairie company as an active purchaser of oil from these fields some time ago was a factor in the shutting down of a number of producing leases.

The Prairie will charge the producer a tariff of 12½ cents per barrel from its connections through its line to the Texas company system. However, effective July 9, the Texas company absorbed this charge for pipage instead of the producer. The new plan is hailed with considerable enthusiasm, as it means the hooking up of a big number of wells in this section which were forced to shut in production.

Among the important tests now under way in the district, and one that is being watched with interest, is the Jack Martin and others' No. 1 Kemp townsite in south Wichita county. This test, which expects to drill out the plug and bail some time Monday, topped the saturated sandy lime formation at a depth of 3855 feet. Traces of oil were found and the sand was cored further, each foot showing more oil. Eighteen feet were drilled and a test was warranted, casing was set and cemented. The well is about one mile south of the Deep Oil Development company No. 1 Munger which, after troubles galore, was finally placed on the pump with a daily output of 140 barrels. A commercial producer from the Martin test will mean the proving up of a nice extension to this deep pay in the south part of the county and the outcome of bailing is attracting much interest in this section of the state.

While several deep tests are drilling in the various territories, Archer county interest at present is centered in the result of operations on the Shappell Oil company's No. 1 Ferguson deep test in the E. Patterson survey, a short distance south of the Wichita county line and two miles southeast of the Martin test.

Drill Formation

The well, some time ago at a depth of 3815 feet, drilled three feet of saturated formation showing enough oil to make a test. Casing was set and while waiting to drill out the plug to bail a split joint at a depth of 2430 feet developed water trouble. In order to shut off this menace cement was poured in which eventually shut it off. Later when operations were resumed this cement failed to hold and recementing was made necessary. At present the well is shut down waiting for the substance to harden, when operations will resume.

Other wells in the Windthorst and Scotland sections of the county are going along in a satisfactory manner, but so far no interesting developments have been brought forth.

Low prices proved a poor incentive for the search for petroleum as reflected in the activities under way in the different pools during the week. Two locations were staked out, the smallest number reported for the year. Young county operators are stacking tools with each completion and very little new work is to be started until the market shows some sign of an upward trend.

The same conditions prevail in Jack, Wilbarger, Cooke and other fields in the district.

Pipe line runs from the pools of the district for the week ended Saturday averaged 59,614 barrels daily, a decrease of approximately 2,264 barrels per day when compared with the previous weeks run of 61,878 barrels. Lack of new production and the shutting down of several leases due to the low price for the commodity, are the prime factors in the slump.

STEPHENS COUNTY OIL ACTIVITY STILL LAGS

DUNCAN, Okla., July 18.—Oil activity continued to lag in Stephens county at the close of the week.

Paul Turner and associates have a string of tools stuck at 2900 feet in their No. 1 W. M. Andrews, in the NW SW SW of 5-2s-7w, a wildcat six miles south of Duncan, and are circulating oil.

H. J. Brown and the K. D. Drilling company are drilling at 880 feet in their No. 1 Hightower in the SW SE NE of 15-3s-5w, in the gas field southwest of the town of Loco, with gas production due at around 920 feet.

Raccoon Kills 27 Chickens

THERESA, N. Y., July 18. (UP)—The depredations of a raccoon cut a wide swath in the ranks of chickens owned by Paul Cooper. In one night the animal killed 27 chickens.

CARTER COUNTY OIL PRODUCERS PLAN MEETINGS

Declare Isolated Proration Will Not Solve Problem

WAIT LIMITATION OF EAST TEXAS FIELDS

Advise Withholding Action Until Legislature of Texas Meets

ARDMORE, Okla., July 18.—The Southern Oklahoma Oil and Gas association of Carter county has sent letters to all its members pointing out that isolated curtailment of oil production in this area will not solve the oil problem.

"The committee does not recommend any drastic united action by producers in this county until the outcome of the present session of the Texas legislature is made known, particularly with limitation of the East Texas field; unless some other important flush area, such as Oklahoma City, actually succeeds in placing in effect more drastic curtailment. In that case we feel that a mass meeting of Carter county producers should be called to consider similar action here.

"We feel that under present circumstances, isolated curtailment here would simply result in the transfer of a portion of the market of Southern Oklahoma to East Texas; and that the best we can do at the present is to reduce so far as possible the losses incurred by production on the present basis without incurring any more unemployment than can possibly be avoided."

The letter sets out two major steps, however, which it recommends for Southern Oklahoma producers to observe.

"Pending the present low price no unusual expenditures should be undertaken for cleaning out wells or restoring them to production." And "individual producers be encouraged to reduce their own outlet as far below capacity as is consistent with the preservation of their wells; particularly where their neighbors are willing to undertake similar restriction."

Build Refinery

A small refinery with capacity of 70 barrels daily is being constructed by Walter Neustadt of Ardmore, near the Kingston shallow field in southern Marshall county.

The plant is expected to be completed in two weeks and is being built for the production of lubricating oils. McCrory and McCrory of Ardmore have two of the shallow producers which will supply the refinery with oil. An analysis of the oil shows its "lube" content at around 35 per cent.

Despite depressed conditions in the industry, the Heenan-Coe company has declared a dividend and is in good condition, as shown by its balance sheet as of June 30, 1931. Total assets are listed at $312,737.25 while total capital and surplus amounts to $221,162.94. The statement shows the company to be one of the strongest independents in the midcontinent area.

It has approximately 35,000 barrels daily production in the Oklahoma City field, now shut in awaiting bettter market conditions.

Work has been started on four new tests in the Tatums district in Carter county during the past week. All of the tests are located on the eastern side of the area and it is possible that several others will be sunk in case the four now going down are completed for producers.

The Magnolia Petroleum company was ready to start drilling on its No. 5 Mose Dickerson in the center of the northeast corner of the southeast of 24-1s-3w, which offsets production both to the north and south.

The Carter Oil company has purchased a half interest with Edwin B. Cox and Jake L. Hamon in No. 1 Spraggins in the northwest corner of the southwest of 19-1s-2w, and was drilling below 1200 feet. This test is on the southeastern edge of the area.

Drill Below 1000 Feet

K. D. Oil company and Frank Gouin, Duncan, No. 1 M. E. Burton in the center of the south half of the southwest of 30-1s-2w, southeast of Tatums production, was drilling below 1000 feet.

The Carter Oil company was building derrick for its No. 2 Wirt Franklin in the center of the northeast corner of 24-1s-3w, which is two locations east and one north of production.

Work was resumed during the week on an interesting rank wildcat, the D. B. Malernee Oil company's No. 1 Wacker in the northeast corner of the southeast of 24-2n-2w, near Elmore City in Garvin county. The test had been shut down for several days with total depth at 4800 feet on account of water shortage. Latest report shows the well is drilling below 4875 feet.

This test is being watched with interest by Southern Oklahoma operators, since the well if completed for a producer would open a new territory. Formations are being checked carefully.

Batson, Starritt and Autry of Marietta No. 2 Dr. Autry in the southeast of the northeast of 27-6s-2e, seven miles northeast of Marietta in Love county, was coring hard lime and sand at 1015 feet. This test has been making unusually slow progress due to the hard formations which they have been drilling.

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company and Ramsey Petroleum corporation's No. 6 Preston-Culp in the northwest of the northeast of the northeast of 6-5n-9w, deep test in the Cement field of Caddo county, was drilling at 8640 feet in shale.

Hearle-Hudson's No. 1 Williams in the southwest of the southeast of 24-7s-5e, Kingston shallow area, southern Marshall county, was shut down for water at 602 feet in sandy shale.

McCrory, McCrory and Frame's No. 1 Whitworth in the southwest corner of the southeast of 24-7s-5e, was still shut down with total depth at slightly more than 100 feet.

Closing Down of Shallower Leases Brings Drop in District Production

Crude oil movements from the pools of the Wichita Falls district for the week ended Saturday, July 18, 1931, registered an average of 59,614 barrels daily, a drop of 2,264 barrels per day, compared with the runs of the week of July 11. These figures are from the nine counties under supervision of L. V. Hull, umpire. The loss is attributed to the closing down of several leases in the shallower pools, which are unable to operate at low market conditions.

Four fields, the North Texas division, which includes Jack, Throckmorton, Haskell and south Young counties, gained 41 barrels per day over the week of July 11, a total of 5,894 barrels being run. Below is the movement by pools:

Hundreds Men and Women Walking Streets of New England Cities as Result Strikes in Textile Centers

BOSTON, July 18. (AP)—Hundreds of men and women workers today walking the streets of southern New England textile centers, idle, not solely because of depression in the industry, but because of strikes.

There have been strikes in the normally busy textile localities of Central Falls, Pawtucket and the Olneyville section of Providence, R. I., and Putnam and New London in Connecticut.

Three times last week mobs pitted their strength against police guarding the properties of the General Fabrics corporation in Central Falls. In the adjacent city of Pawtucket, an extraordinary force of police was spread around the Royal Weaving company, which opened some of its departments after two weeks of idleness.

The Weybosset mill of the American Woolen company in Olneyville has been silent for ten days as a result of a walkout of its 600 employes. Wages were cut 12½ per cent last December. The strikers want the old scale restored.

The strikes in all three places are attributed by employers to the efforts of the Communistic organizers of the National Textile Workers' union.

At Putnam, Conn., the Bloom company mill silenced its looms Monday because of a walkout of its entire force of 500 hands. They desire a 48-hour week and a slight wage increase. On Thursday 350 workers of the Salz Berg mill struck in protest of what they considered the unjust discharge of a weaver.

Only the strike in Central Falls has developed violence. The General Fabrics plant, which employs about 1,200 hands, was closed in May after its employes struck because of the management's refusal to reduce the number of looms per operator and to raise wages.

Trouble developed when the mills re-opened last week and they were closed again.

The immigration authorities took a hand in the situation at Central Falls and Pawtucket by sending officers to arrest a fiery young Communist, Ann Burlak, organizer for the National Textile Workers' union, upon whom police placed much of the responsibility for the mob excesses. She was brought to Boston, there to await the action of the authorities who seek to deport her to Poland, although she claims Pennsylvania as her native state.

60-Day Moratorium on Production of Oil Would Yield One and One-Half Billions for Industry, Says Harper

By L. C. HARPER
President, Harper Petroleum Corporation

We all are convinced that the petroleum industry's ills can be laid to present over-production, and after one year and six months of sincere efforts to curtail same, we are not much better today.

I wish to do my part as one interested in this industry, and I believe that it is the duty of every man concerned to show his interest, either by words or action to the limit of his ability in assisting the industry; therefore, I am offering a plan which I sincerely believe will be a great help towards prosperity. I feel that the petroleum industry has grown to its present magnitude through the wisdom of the men that are within it, and I for one, would hate to see political interference of any kind of nature. I firmly beleive that the industry, in a short time, can right itself from its present chaotic condition, and will be better in the future for its past experience.

60-Day Shutdown

The petroleum organizations and associations throughout the 10 producing states could, if they so wished, name August and December of this year as "shut-down" months. These sixty days would take from our reserve storage in a neighborhood of 175 million barrels, and this amount of oil off market at the present time would have a healthy effect upon the price structure of both crude and the refined products. Should this plan be executed we would then bring our total reserve of crude storage to the same level as that of 1924 and 1925, when oil was bringing $2 per barrel. This also would be the means of stabilizing the industry in a short time without working a hardship upon the produce or the major line purchasing companies, as they could give all employes a vacation of half pay during "shut-down" time. These same employes, numbering about 50,000, would be assisting in the consumption of the industry's present over-supply of gasoline; thus production would stop, for this period, but consumption would continue. Import crude could be curtailed under the same plan; if not entirely stopped, then, to such an extent that their damage would be small in comparison to the good that would be derived from the plan as a whole.

The plan, to be intelligently workable, should have the full cooperation of all major crude purchasing companies. With this assurance the small crude purchasers and producers could be handled through an association or a committee in their respective districts and also with the assistance of state bodies under a commission for the handling of wells which would be damaged by a complete shut-down and allowed to store crude from all wells of that nature.

Leadership Needed

This plan would not only bring success to the petroleum industry but would assist in general prosperity to the entire nation, as it practically touches every phase of our national industrial structure. We should work to the end of legitimate profits and come out in the open and eliminate from the industry's vocabulary the words "conservation" and "proration" as they have a sentimental meaning only with no basic value to our industry.

The petroleum industry, at this time, needs confidential leadership with a well defined basic plan more than at any period of our existence. We should furnish this leader with a competent petroleum engineering corps for a period of 12 months, and to ask the different petroleum associations and organizations for 50 per cent of their membership dues to carry on an intelligent survey to the end that a number of the petroleum ills might be eliminated.

If our president and our secretary of the United States are justified in recommending a similar cure for our universal ills, I firmly believe that it will be equally as good for our industrial ills.

TRIAL OF SUIT TO FORFEIT CHARTER SET FOR JULY 25

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—Trial of the attorney general's important suit against the San Antonio Public Service company, scheduled to be called in the district court of Judge C. A. Wheeler here today, was postponed until next Saturday by agreement of attorneys.

James V. Allred, attorney general, is trying to forfeit the utility company's charter because it engages in merchandising. The sale of electric and gas supplies is foreign to the purpose for which the company was chartered, to supply electricity and gas to the people of San Antonio, Allred claims, and the company should not be allowed to engage in that business.

Many other utility companies sell supplies and Allred has indicated he will sue some of them, claiming they have exceeded their charter authority.

CONTINENTAL OFFICIALS LEAVE FOR WEST TEXAS AFTER INSPECTION HERE

A group of officials representing the division superintendents of the Continental Oil company who spent the past week in a complete inspection tour of the Continental company's producing properties in the Wichita Falls district, left Saturday for an inspection of the properties in the West Texas fields. In the party are E. J. Nickles, general manager of production, Ponca City; G. H. McIntyre, Texas-New Mexico division, Fort Worth; L. P. Carpenter, Oklahoma-Kansas division; R. S. Shannon, Rocky Mountain division, and A. H. Bell, California division, Los Angeles.

OKLAHOMA OIL WELLS SHUT IN BY LOW PRICES

Individual Producers Await Improved Market Conditions

PRORATION FINDS INCREASING FAVOR

Purchasing Companies Admit Difficulty in Securing Crude

TULSA, Okla., July 18.—While the shut-down program in the Mid-Continent field has no official standing, inquiry shows that individual oil producers and companies are steadily adopting the plan. The result is an increasing shortage of crude oil in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, except the flush East Texas field.

Purchasing companies are admitting that many producers are shutting in their wells and refusing to sell their oil at the prevailing low prices. It is the existence of the low schedule—10 to 22 cents a barrel—that is prompting so many producers to shut in their wells or store their production.

It was reported in Oklahoma City oil field Thursday that two buyers were offering 32 cents a barrel flat for oil there, but Umpire Otto Bradford was unable to confirm it, although he admitted that many producers there were receiving offers to sell their oil at premiums over the present schedule, established by the Humble Oil and Refining company and Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company and followed by practically all other large purchasers.

In the Osage, the action of Barnsdall Oil company in maintaining the old prices for southeastern Osage and Washington counties, has won the approval of producers in that area. The National Refining company is also buying at the old prices in the Bartlesville-Nowata area.

Several of the large purchasers are admitting that they are "planning to increase our purchases in East Texas to replace our losses of connections in Kansas and Oklahoma."

Representatives of the large purchasing companies deny the assertions that they are threatening producers who refuse them their oil with a future connection.

Offer 20 Cents

Confirmation of the reports that many of the purchasers in East Texas were finding it necessary to offer premiums to obtain new connections in the Lathrop, Kilgore and Joiner pools came Thursday when the Sun Oil company wired the Y Oil and Gas company and Hendricks Ranch Royalties, Inc., of Tulsa that they would connect and run their production for 20 cents per barrel on an open division order.

Earl Sneed, president of the Y and Hendricks companies, told of the receipt of the Sun's offer, which amounts to a premium over the average of 12 cents a barrel that has been paid there. Some oils in the East Texas pool are still going under 10 cents a barrel, based on old contracts.

"The demand for East Texas crude is as brisk as it is up here in Oklahoma and over the rest of the Mid-Continent," Mrs. Sneed stated.

Three other firms also sought the Y-Hendricks connections, so Dale Sneed, vice president of the Sneed and located at Tyler, reported over long distance telephone.

The two wells, each having a potential of better than 35,000 barrels a day, are allowed to make slightly more than 300 barrels each.

The 87 deep oil wells in the Oklahoma City field that were on production the last 24 hours made 134,608 barrels, and only 121,906 barrels of the total output was taken by the pipe lines, allowing 12,702 barrels to go into storage.

Three of the purchasers—Oklahoma Pipe Line company, Operators Oil company and Tidal Pipe Line company—moved out no oil at all.

Skelly Oil company was connected up and ready to bail in No. 1 Charles Gibson, in the northwest of the southwest of the northeast of 10-11-3w, at a total depth of 6451 feet, the Wilcox sand topped at 6285 feet. Casing was cemented and set at 6280 feet.

Scott & Co. is still fishing for lost drill pipe at No. 1 Burris, in the southwest of the northwest of the southwest of 2-11-3w. It has already recovered 11 joints and five additional joints are yet to be fished out. Total depth of 6485 feet is reported.

THREE HUNDRED ENJOY IOWA PARK FISH FRY

IOWA PARK, Texas, July 18.—Three hundred attended the fish fry and social on the lawn of the First Methodist church in Iowa Park Friday evening. Men, women and children visited with friends during a social hour, after which the Rev. E. S. Lowrance, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, led in a short prayer.

An abundance of fresh fish was supplemented by salads and slaws, contributed by the ladies of the church, and the crowd filed in lines by tables and served themselves.

The pastor, the Rev. Clark H. Russell, was joined by the Rev. C. W. Dennis, Methodist pastor at Burkburnett, former pastor at Iowa Park, who was kept busy greeting old friends. Miss Edith Dennis of Burkburnett accompanied her father.

SIGNS OF FOREIGN ECONOMIC INSTABILITY HURT BUSINESS

Conditions in Central Europe and South America Create Pessimistic Tone in Business in United States

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY
United Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 18.—Signs of economic instability in various parts of Central Europe and South America had a distinctly unfavorable phychological effect on American business this week and eliminated much of the good feeling engendered by the Hoover debt holiday plan.

With financial conditions in Germany reaching an alarming state, a development which the debt moratorium was designed to prevent, it was feared that benefits from the debt plan might be lost. The unfavorable turn of affairs in South America was indicated by suspension of interest payments on its internal debt by the republic of Chile.

While it was too early to predict effects of these affairs on American business, they nevertheless created a pessimistic tone in this country. Evidence that the worst was not over in all lines of American business was shown in several developments of the past week. Considerable agitation developed in the agricultural sections following a drop in the wheat price to its lowest level in history at around 50 cents a bushel. The oil industry was upset by further drastic crude oil price cuts, which, however, will ultimately be helpful through a freezing out of the higher cost producers. This would result in more stable conditions.

In the steel industry, production receded further, ingot output approximating 32 per cent of capacity, the lowest rate since the start of the year. Dullness in steel reflected the slow conditions in the automobile production lines.

Indications that the export market of the country had been interfered with by political and economic difficulties abroad was afforded in the June foreign trade report made public by the department of commerce. This report showed exports at the lowest level since 1814 and imports at the lowest level since 1915. The balance of trade, however, was favorable, amounting to $11,000,000.

The principal bright spot is the relatively favorable retail trade, compared with a year ago. Prices have continued their downward trend, which has served to attract considerable demand. Retailers' stocks are probable at the lowest levels of the current depression, principally because of fears of further price cuts.

Southwest Review

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 17. (UP)—Wheat and oil news dominated market reports in the Southwest this week.

Both products dipped to new low levels. Oil was selling as low as six cents a barrel in East Texas, while wheat at Dighton, Kan., sold at 24 cents a bushel, the lowest price ever known to have been paid in the state. The Texas legislature met in extra session to consider a program for curtailment of production of oil.

Price adjustment of the livestock industry was the outstanding feature of the week in this line. After several months of fluctuations, the market became somewhat settled and was now believed in good condition. Stocker and feeder catttle was bought at local stockyards at extremely low prices this week.

Range and pasture conditions in western sections of the district were reported suffering from insufficient moisture.

All varieties of crops in the Southwest, excepting Oklahoma, where moisture was needed, were in good shape. Potato growers in the Kaw valley of Kansas and the Ozark region of Missouri made plans to check digging operations in an effort to strengthen prices.

Preliminary reports showed that the usual July flour production increase would be made. Flour prices were down 10 to 30 cents a barrel, with patents reflecting the full decline. Bakers and millers were hesitant regarding the setting of new prices until wheat has been stabilized.

Building activity throughout the district showed no material change over last week, while collections ran under those of last year.

CHAIRMAN SEES AN IMPROVEMENT IN EMPLOYMENT

WASHINGTON, July 18. (INS)—Employment conditions this winter should be somewhat better than last year, Fred C. Croxton, acting chairman of the president's emergency committee on employment, said today.

Certain indicators in commerce and industry may bring the improvement, he said. It was pointed out that consumers' stocks are running so low that it will be necessary to store supplies within a short time.

The committee issued a new appeal to trade associations for cooperation in methods of providing work regularly so far as possible during the emergency, and for suggesting means for better control of business operations with the ultimate aim of greater regularity of income for those depending on business and industry.

Croxton said the country failed to realize in the past that unemployment is always present even during prosperity. Unofficially it is believed permanent unemployment would affect 1,500,000 persons, including probably several hundred thousand of those able and willing to work, and others mentally and physically incapable or unwilling to work.

The committee assumes approximately 6,000,000 person are now jobless as estimated by the census last spring.

Legion Bowlers to Meet

DETROIT, July 18. (UP)—The first national bowling tournament of the American Legion will be held in connection with the organization's national convention to be held here Sept. 15-23.

STOCKS SPEND TWO HOURS IN VIRTUAL IDLENESS SATURDAY

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Inasmuch as the foreign markets were closed and Wall street was unwilling to make a move pending developments at the Franco-German conference in Paris, stocks spent two hours of virtual idleness today.

German government bonds, on the other hand, rallied confidently and other obligations of German origin moved upward with them. Domestic issues were quiet and firm. Wheat eased, but corn and cotton were steady.

Stock transactions totaled 367,170 shares, according to the Associated Press compilation, the smallest Saturday business since Aug. 2 last year. Many traders had gone away for the week-end, but the primary factor in this extreme dullness was the market's decision to await news from the French capital. Meanwhile, there was a notable absence of rumors in the financial district, and expressions of opinion as to what might evolve from the German statesment's visit to Paris were scarce.

Weakness of sterling was a feature of the day's markets here. Cables dipped ⅝ of a cent to $4.84⅝. Reports from London said most of the gold withdrawn from the Bank of England had been for French account and that some minor movements to that country were imminent for next week unless exchange improved. German marks were higher on the basis of nominal quotations, but other European currencies, with the exception of Swiss, dropped.

Stocks opened heavy and extended their losses in the early trading. During the second hour, however, prices firmed slowly with the result that the standard statistics averaged involving 90 issues finished unchanged. Final quotations on such stocks as U. S. Steel, American Can, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Corp. and Montgomery Ward, some of which had been of a point, were exactly the same as the previous close.

REACTIONS FOLLOW OPENING ADVANCES IN COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Slight opening advance in cotton was followed by reactions today, but prices steadied up again in the later trading.

October contracts, after selling off from 9.46 to 9.31, rallied to 9.47 and closed at 9.45. The final tone of the market was steady at a net decline of 1 point on July, but generally 11 to 4 points net higher.

The opening was steady, 5 points higher, in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and some overnight buying orders. The comparatively light demand was quite readily supplied by liquidation and Wall street selling, however, and the market eased off with active months selling about 10 to 12 points net lower during the middle of the morning. The European news seemed to make rather a less favorable impression on sentiment, causing apprehensions that there might be difficulty in arriving at an agreement at today's conference in Paris, while there was continued favorable comment on weather and crop advices.

December contracts sold off to 9.36 under this pressure, but offerings tapered off later in the morning and prices worked up again on a renewal of covering coupled with some trade buying.

There were reiterated complaints of too much rain in some sections of Texas and it was felt that a continuance of recent rains and showers might revive apprehensions of insect damage. The market still seemed to be dominated almost largely by the European news and the action of the stock market, however, and much of the day's trading was attributed to further evening up of commitments.

Liverpool cables said that continental liquidation had been absorbed by trade selling and covering in that market and reported rather a better feeling in Manchester, although offers for cotton cloth were unworkable. The amount of cotton on shipboard at the end of the week awaiting clearance was estimated at 48,000 bales against 50,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, July 18. (AP)—Trading in cotton in today's brief week-end session was moderate. Lights and heavies narrow and developed no particular trend.

After a slightly higher opening in sympathy with better cables than due, prices turned easier on week-end liquidation, favorable crop advices and easier stocks, declining 13 points from the opening figures. In the second hour, there was a sharp recovery on covering induced by official forecast for showers generally during the coming week which traders assumed would be favorable for the spread of weevils.

Liverpool came in 4 to 6 penny points better than due and private cables said the trade called and shorts covered. Manchester cabled the cloth market was brighter and yarns steadier.

Port receipts 3,778, for season 8,876,227, last season 8,765,892. Exports 5,892; for season 6,654,130; last season 6,192,664. Port stocks 2,885,343, last year 1,588,237. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 42,632; last year 43,717; spot sales at southern markets 1,314; last year 2,101.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, July 18. (INS)—Spots cotton was quiet at the opening today, with prices easier. Sales amounted to 4,000 bales and receipts totaled 2,000 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 6.32d, strictly good middling at 5.87d, good middling at 5.67d, strictly middling at 5.37d, middling at 5.12d, strictly low middling at 4.97d, low middling at 4.77d, strictly good ordinary at 4.57d, and good ordinary at 4.37d.

Futures were quiet with Oct. 5.05d, Dec. 5.12d, Jan. 5.15d, March 5.42d and May 5.32d.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, July 18. (AP)—A fair volume of business in the wool market during the past week was confined largely to original bag offerings. Sales of graded wools were restricted because of a number of quality considerable grading must be done to fill recent orders. Occasional sales of moderate quantities of fleeces were closed at slight advances in prices owing to the limited amount available for immediate delivery. Scattered sales of graded territory wools were closed at very strong prices. Original bag lines moved freely with prices showing a moderate strengthening tendency.

CHICAGO, July 18. (AP)—Struggling against heavy arrivals of newly-harvested wheat, and faced by prospects of an augmented influx Monday, wheat prices went lower today. Uncertainties that surrounded financial parley abroad, with wheat export business at a halt, tended to throttle bullish action. The corn market averaged higher, influenced by

GIVE YOUR FAMILY THE PRICELESS GIFT OF PROTECTION

The greatest gift which you can bestow may be the gift of wise provision for your family's future.

They will not see it; they may never hear about it. But if a certain day should come, then they would understand and remember.

They would find that you had made your will, putting your wishes for their welfare into the tangible form of directions for your executor.

They will find that careful plans had been made to protect, for their benefit, your property, life insurance and other affairs.

They would find the burden of estate management being attended to by this bank.

They would find this bank sympathetic and considerate in all its dealings with them. They would know their inheritance was in safe hands.

You should make this vital gift of protection. Then you can give your other gifts with a free heart.

THE FIRST PERMANENT (RESERVE FUND) STOCK ASSOCIATION IN WICHITA FALLS

The merger of the SOUTHERN SAVINGS & LOAN and the WESTERN BUILDING & LOAN ASSOCIATIONS brings to Wichita Falls its first permanent, or reserve fund, building and loan association.

How a Permanent Stock Association Operates

1. The organizers furnish Permanent or non-withdrawable capital. They direct and share the responsibilities of the business.
2. The Permanent capital is invested in the Permanent stock of the association. This stock is the same as the capital stock of a bank or other financial institutions. It is a guarantee against the loss of the savings of the shareholders of the association.
3. The Permanent stock receives no dividend until dividends on all other classes of stock have been paid.

The use of Permanent Stock puts a premium on good management and provides greater safety for the investor.

This Association invests its funds in first mortgages on improved residence property. All loans are held down to a safe percentage of the appraised value of the property. Repayments by borrowers are made monthly, thus reducing the amount of each loan and increasing the margin of safety.

Withdrawal requests are paid out of income only, insuring the investor against impairment of his investment or the security behind it. This Association has never paid less than 7% per annum to its investors.

We invite you to invest your monthly savings, or lump sums, in the time-tested soundness of a PERMANENT STOCK ASSOCIATION.
