Reich Being Won Despite Bitter Stand

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. — The heaviest fighting of the war is raging along the Western front as the German armies make their last savage stand in an effort to stem the American advance into Germany.

The soil of Hitler's Reich is being won slowly. Every yard is contested by Germans fighting as they never have fought before.

The Germans are making the American gains as costly as possible, and they are costly. There is every indication that the fighting throughout the winter will be the same bitter slaughter until a final decision is won.

Did Not Collapse

Three months ago hopes ran high that the war would be over before Christmas. But the German armies did not collapse as expected. The German home front, in its straitjacket of Nazi control, did not fold up as so many persons had thought it would. The enemy showed that he intended to fight to the last, and that is what he is doing now.

There always is the probability of a sudden crumbling of German resistance, but there are no signs of it up front, where the fighting is hard and bloody and where the roar of cannon echoes continuously across the cold, sodden forests and plains.

Much Blood Spilled

A great deal of American blood is being spilled on German soil. No battle in this war — and veterans say none in the last war —can compare in heartbreaking sacrifice and hardship with the battle for Hurtgen forest southeast of Aachen.

So far the Germans have been clubbed back slowly under a terrific artillery barrage, armored assault and, whenever the skies have cleared, by air power. But these all have been secondary instruments of destruction.

Muddy, slogging GI Joe, the infantryman, still carries the burden of the battle.

Defenses In Depth

In Normandy the enemy had only a thick crust of defenses. Once a break was achieved, there was nothing behind. On their home grounds, the Germans have defenses in depth, and doughboys must fight their way through all of them to get at defenders who are under orders to fight to the death.

A sudden breakthrough such as that at St Lo looks virtually impossible to those of us who have been watching the First Army's offensive plowing through the deep mud and thick forests.

The consensus is that the American armies face a long, hard winter of fighting which is to cost much in lives and suffering — a price that must be paid for victory over a fanatical enemy.

Crete Suffering Under Germans

AT GUERRILLA HEADQUARTERS, Outside Khania, Crete, Nov. 30. (Delayed). (AP) — This island has suffered from the German occupation to an even greater degree than the Greek mainland, figures available at this headquarters indicate.

Since the British evacuation of Crete in May, 1941, it is estimated that the Germans have slain 10,000 Cretans, deported 5,000, and destroyed more than 40 villages, leaving several thousand persons homeless.

Crete has gone through her reign of terror under five German commanders. A sixth, Gen. Heinrich Kreipe, is the only one who cannot be charged with brutality. He was kidnaped and captured by the British last April, three weeks after he was appointed.

Heavy Occupation Load

The island has suffered a heavier load of occupation troops per capita than perhaps any other occupied territory. The prewar population of 350,000 had to support as many as 60,000 Nazi garrison troops at a time.

First of the brutal Nazi commanders of Crete was the parachute expert, Col. Gen. Kurt Student, now on the Western front. His regime lasted six weeks. Every village in the areas where the British made their last stand was forced to yield hostages — men, women and children, who were slaughtered by the hundreds. In a single day 1,200 fell before firing squads.

FDR Asks Big Dough Demos To Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — President Roosevelt has directed that members of the One Thousand club of Democratic campaign contributors be invited to the fourth term inaugural at the White House.

More than 600 persons already are understood to have been listed for coveted bids to the ceremony, including those who contributed at least $1,000 to the election of the Roosevelt-Truman ticket and thus became members of the One-Thousand club.

War Bond Drive Here Lags As Series E Redemptions Nearly Equal Purchases

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Cashing of Series E War bonds the last 30 days here has been so pronounced that cautious estimates have placed redemptions at almost the level of Series E purchases.

Those in best position to keep track of bond transactions, yet not allowed by the U. S. Treasury department to announce figures showing amounts of bonds cashed, nevertheless said the ration of redemptions to purchases of bonds has become unusually close.

They would not confirm rumors that, on some days, money realized from cashing of bonds was more than money paid in for bonds.

But neither would they deny the rumors.

The news came at a time when there is a concerted effort to interest the public in subscribing the 5 billions of dollars in Series E bonds called for in the Sixth War Loan drive's overall goal of 14 billions.

And it brought announcement that Lubbock, after two of the four weeks of the drive had been completed, had subscribed only $2,054,683.50 of its overall goal of $4,370,000, including only $201,750 of the Series E goal of $945,000.

SALES PASS ONE-THIRD

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP) — Chairman Nathan Adams of the Texas War Finance committee said today that total sixth war loan sales in Texas amounted to $15,988,923 as of Dec. 1, date of the latest official tabulation. That amount was 36.65 per cent of the over-all Texas quota of $14,000,000. Series E sales totaled $36,846,654, or 34.8 per cent of the Series E quota. The campaign ends Dec. 16.

Christmas shopping apparently was responsible for the shift from investment to spending.

Has Ironic Touch

The news came at a time when it was more ironic than merely illustrative of the inflationary dangers of raising money to compete with others for the relatively small amount of goods on the counters of stores.

Those directing the Sixth War Loan drive made no efforts to hide their concern. Only two weeks ago, their conception of how to direct their campaign was crystallized in an Avalanche-Journal editorial which said no formal campaign to induce bond buying was expected—unless, right at the end of the four-weeks campaign, public interest might require needling.

The public was to be "on its own," it tentatively was planned.

Today, there was a reversal of strategy, an open prediction that house-to-house solicitation would be resorted to within an other week.

Buying Lag Aggravated

As one high in the organization put it, "We are about to realize that not only is there a pronounced lag in buying, but there is an irresponsible cashing of bonds bought in other campaigns."

"The people have the right to cash their bonds, at any time provided in terms of their contract with the government," a member of the drive committee said. "And it is not unnatural that they should want to have something to spend for Christmas. But a note of caution should be infused. A Merry Christmas at home could turn out to be a will-o'-the-wisp chase for empty pleasure if it hurt this nation's chances of ending sooner a war that has drawn the cream of our manpower into dangerous fighting on foreign battlefields. A person who cashes a war bond should be sure what he is doing —act only after a lot of thinking.

"It certainly does no good to buy bonds, then turn around and cash them. That's nothing more than shifting money from one pocket to another—and of no constructive contribution whatever."

Unofficial Peace Feelers Rampant

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — Peace feelers — vague, roundabout and evidently unauthorized —hit the Allied capitals at the rate of about one to two a week.

They all are based, it was learned today, on the assumption that the Allies in the last analysis are willing to make substantial concessions in order to get Germany out of the war. Those taken seriously enough to get any response at all receive, in effect, the form reply: "Unconditional surrender."

Best Fiction Ideas

These feelers, according to diplomatic authorities here, conform to the best fiction ideas of European intrigue. They're made for the most part in hoarse whispers by men in black hats and turned up coat collars.

These shadowy figures flit about the streets, foreign offices and embassies of such neutral capitals as Madrid, Ankara and Stockholm. They live on rumor and gossip.

In addition there turn up from time to time business or other representatives of interests inside Germany — at least so they say.

One may profess to be acting solely on his own authority, another to be a bosom pal of Gestapo Boss Himmler, another to be an associate of Hitler or somebody who knows Hitler.

All Want Some Answer

They all want to know whether the time has come when the Allies have had enough of this war to call it quits, making concessions beforehand in order to get Germany to agree to a "conditional surrender." All these inquiries and proposals are investigated on the spot or relayed to Allied capitals and so far none has proved the have any sort of authority behind it.

Should the German leadership or any responsible part of it capable of producing results ever want to undertake serious armistice negotiations it has one obvious and well used channel through which to approach the United States or other Allied governments. That is the diplomatic service of an interested neutral country.

Nippon Radio Boasts Of New Warplanes

(By The Associated Press)

The Japanese radio boasted today that new Nippon war planes are being used "with brilliant success" in the Philippine theater.

The Ginga (Milky Way), said Domei news agency, is "indeed the pride of the Japanese navy" and claimed "even the Grumman fighter planes cannot match the Ginga in speed."

A second navy-type plane, the Suisei (Comet), added the broadcast intercepted by the Federal Communications commission, "is stirring up a fearful whirlwind in the enemy camp in the Philippines." In speed and accuracy, said Domei, the American Hell-diver is no match.

CAPITAL RE-OCCUPIED

TIRANA, Albania, Dec. 2 (AP)— To the accompaniment of a 21-gun salute and dancing and singing in the streets, the new Albanian government entered the liberated capital of Tirana today and promised defiantly it was ready to fight to preserve the nation's southern boundaries fronting Greece.

Heavy Blows Continue On Jap Shipping

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

HEAVY attacks by American fliers against Japanese airdromes and shipping throughout the Philippines were reported by Gen. Douglas MacArthur today.

As the Yank airmen in the far west Pacific continued to neutralize the Japanese aerial threat to American liberation forces on Leyte island, it was officially disclosed that other U. S. fliers blasted Iwo Jima, in the Volcano islands, along the B-29 pathway to Tokyo. Iwo was hit for the fifth time in four days by AAF Liberators. The island is only 750 miles south of Tokyo. The Japanese have been using Iwo as an aerial base from which to attack the Superfortress fields on Saipan island.

Ground action on Leyte was stalled by continued tropical rains. The bad weather, however, did not ground planes. The Japanese struck in force against Yank Carigara bay positions on northern Leyte. American airmen lashed enemy airfields on Luzon and Mindanao islands, on Leyte's northern and southern flanks, and hit shipping to the west.

Meanwhile the Japanese, without American confirmation, claimed that Nippon paratroops were landed on eastern Leyte a week ago and that air scouts report they "have made death-defying penetrations at important points" on two airfields "and caused great war results."

Chinese reconquest of the Burma road in southwest China was a step closer, yet far to the northeast the Japanese were driving ahead toward a strategic terminal point on the famous supply line.

In the southwest, the Chinese captured Chefang, next to the last Burma road town held by the Japanese on the Yunnan front. American liaison units and Yank airmen aided the Chinese in seizing the town. Only about 24 miles of the Burma road remains to be taken before the Chinese will be in position to hit the China-Burma border city of Wanting.

The Japanese offered little fight at Chefang.

In the northeast however the Japanese were acknowledged by the Chinese high command to have penetrated Kweichow province. Its capital. Kweiyang, is a Burma road terminal some 235 miles south of Chungking. The Chinese reported Japanese units were repulsed just inside the Kweichow border 110 miles southeast of Kweiyang.

The Japanese agency Domei said Nippon forces control the only two roads leading into Kweichow from Kwangsi province as well as the railway. It claimed Japanese capture of Limingkwan

Tech Director Denies Charges

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP) — Karl Hoblitzelle, member of the board of regents of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, denied today he had any part in the appointment or functioning of any regents of the University of Texas.

Hoblitzelle, in a written statement, referred to a Dallas mass meeting declaring against strikes which has figured in testimony before a state Senate committee investigating the University of Texas row. The board failed to re-employ three university economics professors following the meeting.

His Statement

Hoblitzelle's statement said:

"Just before the meeting was called to order, a small group of men came to me and demanded a place on the program. They said they were from the University of Texas. The meeting was to be broadcast on the radio, and the schedule was timed accordingly. We had previously received many requests for a place on the program, but of course it was not possible to grant them. I explained to these men that it was not practical to put them on the program at the last minute. The next day, they criticized our meeting in very abusive language, in newspaper interviews."

Ford To Step Up His Willow Run Output

DETROIT, Dec. 2. (AP)—The Ford Motor company announced today that under a new Army schedule production of four-engined Liberator bombers at the Ford-operated Willow Run plan will be restored to almost the bomber-an-hour rate of last spring and summer.

At the same time the company announced that the 7,000th Liberator to be produced at Willow Run would come from the final assembly line at Willow Run next Thursday, the anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor. Completion of the 7,000th ship will bring the total output at Willlow Run since last January 1 to more than 4,500 bombers.

28 Nazis Downed As Bombers Hit Big Benzol Plant

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 2 — American fighter pilots escorting bombers raiding Coblenz shot down 28 Nazi planes today while a force of more than 500 RAF Lancaster heavy bombers hit a benzol plant at Dortmund.

The German planes were knocked from the air by a force of almost 550 Thunderbolts and Mustangs of the U. S. Eighth Air force which encountered several formations of enemy aircraft over the Bingen area, 25 miles southeast of Coblenz.

19 U. S. Planes Missing

Eight American fighters and 11 bombers were reported missing, but six of the fighters were believed to have landed in friendly territory.

The destruction of 28 German planes in a single operation maintained the pace of aerial warfare which cost the Nazis 636 aircraft in November.

Target for the 250 American bombers was eqipment massed in the Coblez railroad yards ready for shipment to German forces on the Western front. One thousand tons of bombs were aimed by instrument through heavy clouds. Anti-aircraft fire was meager.

Fuel For Nazi Armor

The Dortmund benzol plant on which the British dropped a tremendous 3,000-ton bomb load, had been producing fuel for Nazi armor.

Each time the luftwaffe chose to fight last month it suffered a crushing defeat. In all, these were great aerial battles on four days, which the Eighth Air force's Mustangs and Thunderbolts shot down 421 German aircraft, an estimated 25 per cent of the attacking force, with a loss of 39 American fighters.

Although the German airforce is receiving a beating, an Eighth Air force spokesman today said German fighter production actually is increasing through the use of small widely-dispersed factories, some of them underground.

Gift Ship To Leave Soon For Germany

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2. (AP) — The Swedish ship Saivo is ready to leave on a race with Santa Claus, bearing Red Cross bundles for 49,000 American prisoners of war in Germany.

The neutral mercy vessel, assured safe passage by both the Allies and the Germans, will pull into the Swedish port of Gothenburg just before Christmas if she keeps on schedule.

Three Red Cross boats then will take the cargo to Lubeck, Germany, for distribution.

On her trip here the vessel brought Christmas bundles for 281,344 German prisoners in this country. Each bundle, the Red Cross said, bore a card saying:

"Christmas greetings from the fuehrer and the high command of the German army."

Spur Theater Is Held Up By Young Gunman

An armed robber in western attire took several hundred dollars Saturday night from an employe of the Palace theater in Spur, Lubbock police radio station KGZW was informed early today by Dickens county Sheriff Fred Christopher.

The robber fled from the city in a stolen automobile and abandoned it near Spur when Sheriff Christopher, giving chase, opened fire. The holdup man fled on foot, the sheriff informed officers here.

Approximately $300 in silver of the loot was found in the automobile.

The robber was adjudged about "23 or 24."

First And Ninth Push On Despite Bitter Opposition

By EDWARD KENNEDY

PARIS, Dec. 2—Americ[illegible] entered two anchor [illegible] the main defenses of the [illegible] Reich today — flaming Sa[illegible]ern, important Saar basin [illegible] trial city into which they [illegible] trated deeply, and Julich, [illegible] they drove into the outlying part of the town on the western side of the river Roer.

At both Saarlautern and Julich, the Americans face river barriers. Julich, key point to the Co[illegible] plain, lies mainly on the e[illegible] side of the Roer. Across the [illegible] from Saarlautern, burning [illegible] aerial assaults, Siegfried li[illegible] sitions were dented by othe[illegible] bombardments.

In the terrific battle on the edge of the Cologne plain, the U. S. First Army at Inden and the U. S. Ninth Army at Julich were encountering the heaviest opposition of the winter offensive.

U. S. Seventh Army troops wiped out the last remnants of the German bridgehead at the approaches to the now demolished Rhine bridges in Strasbourg.

Bombs Batter City

Following attacks by nearly 250 medium and light U. S. Ninth Air force bombers which left Saarlautern in flames and tore open nearby Siegfried line defenses, Third Army doughboys entered the Saar city at two points. The Americans then fanned out over most of that part of the city which lies west of the Saar river.

The 90th and 95th divisions, with elements of the Tenth Armored division screening them to the north, now hold a 14-mile stretch along the Saar between Merzig and Saarlautern. The vital Saar basin has been gouged deeply by Third Army advances, but the river still is a barrier to the greater part of this heavily industrial region. The Germans apparently hope to make a strong stand along this natural line.

The penetration into Saarlautern was made by the 95th division in a three-mile drive which put advance units deeply into the city. Other divisional elements pushed beyond Altferweiller, three miles to the southwest, and entered the town of Bisten in the same area.

Nazis Call Mighty Red Smash 'Tragic'

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, Dec. 3.— Russian motorized troops, in a great breakthrough on a 110-mile front in western Hungary, yesterday raced to within 74 miles of the ore-rich Austrian province of Styria, and also sped within 47 miles south of imperilled Budapest.

Overrunning 300 localities south and southwest of Budapest, Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine Army also cut the Budapest-Zagreb-Trieste trunk railway and hurled the enemy back onto the flat plains 28 miles from strategic Lake Balaton guarding the southeastern approaches to Austria.

Nazis Call It Tragic

Among places captured were the strongholds and important communication centers of Paks, Szekszard, Dombovar and Kaposvar, the last only 28 miles from strategic Lake Balaton guarding the southeastern approaches to Austria.

"The breach appears tragic," said a Berlin radio commentator. "The Russians are out to envelop all western Hungary and Budapest on a grand scale."

Speeding forward at almost a mile-an-hour clip the Russians seized a 16-mile section of the vital Budapest-Zagreb-Trieste railway, linking the outflanked Hungarian capital with the Axis front in northern Italy, by capturing Kaposvar.

Kaposvar, the major point taken nearest the Austrian frontier is on the edge of a plain extending to Lake Balaton and the southernmost Reich territory. It is 95 miles southwest of Budapest and 93 miles northeast of Zagreb, Axis puppet Croatian capital.

The capture of Dombovar, another eight-way road junction 16 miles to the east, gave the Russians control of part of the important truck railway connecting the Axis Hungarian-Yugoslavia-Italian fronts.

On the west bank of the Danube other units swept through Szekszard, 77 miles south of Budapest, and went on through Paks, only 55 miles from the Magyar capital.

Great Soviet Strength

A Berlin broadcast made after the Russian announcement said the Russians, attacking in great strength, had reached Dunafoldvar, 13 miles beyond Paks and only 43 miles from the capital's outskirts.

Stalin announced that "units and ships of the Danube flotilla" assisted the push up the river.

It also was likely that Soviet troops smashed across the Danube from the east bank in the Paks area and attacked the rear of German lines in order to speed the break-through drive up from the south.

The Axis commentator, Col. Ernst von Hammer, said the Germans and Hungarians had withdrawn to a 62-mile front extending from Dunafoldvar, on the Danube, southwest to the Kaposvar sector, and added that "Russian pressure both towards the Danube and Lake Balaton has increased.

Hope Fades For 'Sneak' Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP) — Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate Military Affairs committee contended today that a congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor debacle "would just confuse the whole issue."

There simply isn't time between now and Congress' pre-Christmas adjournment to make a full inquiry, he said in an interview. He predicted a resolution by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) for a Senate inquiry will be rejected.

Ferguson said yesterday's War and Navy department pronouncements declaring available evidence insufficient basis for charges against any military or naval personnel only emphasize the need for an investigation by Congress.

Docket Is Jammed

Reynolds, however, said the Senate's docket is jammed and that an investigation started during the waning session would die with adjournment.

"If the next Congress should decide it wants to make an investigation, it would have ample opportunity," he said.

The Army and Navy Journal, unofficial service publication, said editorially "the fact that the Army and Navy probers found nothing to justify the courtmartial of Admiral Kimmel and General Short should end the agitation for full disclosure of the details of the Pearl Harbor disaster, certainly until after the war has come to an end."

Mackenzie Regime Weathers Crisis

OTTAWA, Dec. 2. (AP) — Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King has won almost certain victory for his government after a week of crisis caused by his adoption of a policy of partial overseas conscription for Canadians in the armed forces.

Parliament adjourned debate last night until Monday. Draftee troop disorders on the Pacific coast and civilian demonstrations in the French-Speaking province of Quebec subsided under cautious but firm handling by military authorities and appeals by French-speaking political leaders.

Food Running Out In Norwegian Province

LONDON, Dec. 2. (AP)—Terje Wold, Norwegian minister of justice, reported today that Norwegians in the Arctic province of Finmark who have been turned into freezing, starving bands of wanderers by the Germans, have stocks of food sufficient for only two or three weeks.

In the first full official account of German devastation in Norway, Wold described the forced evacuation of Norwegians as an "exodus of misery" from a section of the country that has been "burned, plundered, and laid waste until it is only a barren desert."

Superfort Crewmen Thought On Island

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 2. (AP) — Keesler field public relations officers said army officials believe seven crew members who parachuted from a Superfortress south of here Monday may be safe on an isolated Gulf coast island.

A field announcement said army crews are searching the shores of small islands which dot the coastline.

Ten crewmen of the bomber bailed out at 10,000 feet over the gulf when an engine caught fire, and three were picked up by army and coast guard craft Monday.

Allies Take Two Faenza Positions

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—Two positions north and south of Faenza have fallen to Allied armies, headquarters announced today, as the German withdrawal through the mountains toward the Po plain continued in the face of threats against the enemy's eastern flank.

Indian troops of the British Eighth Army seized strongly-defended Albereto, a village five miles northeast of Faenza, capturing 100 prisoners.

The U. S. Fifth Army, swinging across the Lamone river which blocks the approaches to Faenza, occupied Monte Giornetto, 11 miles west-southwest of the city.

Nazi Withdrawal

This appeared to be a dividend of the German withdrawal from the Apennines' bulge between Faenza and Bologna to prevent entrapment should the British break across the Lamone river on the east.

The Germans laid smoke screens on the west end of the front south of Massa to conceal movements in an area where it is believed they have been withdrawing their troops to bolster the Bologna-Faenza line. Italian Fascist troops have taken their places in this area.

The Germans threw in a steady series of small counterattacks in the vicinity of Bombiano, 25 miles southwest of Bologna, but these were beaten back. Fifth Army patrols, feeling out the enemy defenses in this sector, ran into sharp artillery and machinegun fire.

(A German Transocean dispatch said Bologna had become an underground city, with tens of thousands of evacuees and refugees from the front crowding into deep subterranean shelters.)

Tenth Annual Yuletide Drive Opens Here!

Goodfellows Seek $1,500 Fund For Needy Kiddies

Lubbock Goodfellows are ready to go again!

But they need your help once more in their effort to make certain that no child 14 years of age, or younger, living within the Lubbock city limits will be forgotten by Santa Claus on Christmas day.

First, they want the names of every child who may be forgotten unless remembered by the Goodfellows. If you know of any such children, please make use of the coupon which appears on Page 10, Section 1, of today's Avalanche-Journal.

Second, the Goodfellows need $1,500 to get the job done. The names of the contributors will be published from day to day in the Morning Avalanche and The Evening Journal.

Remember, Costs Are Up!

The expectation is that the number of children to be remembered this Christmas will be smaller than last year, when they numbered 2,000. But the cost of everything is up, as everyone knows from experience. Consequently, it will cost a little more for each child on the list.

The money will be used to provide for each child a package containing, among other things, a new toy or toys selected especially for the boy or girl receiving it, as

Lubbock County Leading Lynn In Close Race For Ginnings Crown

In their race for the honor of being the top cotton producing county in Texas this year, Lubbock county was leading Lynn county by at least 4,000 bales Saturday, according to figures received by the Avalanche-Journal from both counties.

Through Thursday, gins in Lubbock county had ginned a total of 63,627 bales from the 1944 crop as compared with an estimated 59,000 in Lynn county. E. I. Hill, Tahoka publisher, reported Saturday that some gins of the county could not be contacted for figures, therefore a conservative estimate of 59,000 was placed on the total ginnings.

County Agent Makes Survey

The Lubbock county total was reached by a survey of all gins of the county Thursday by County Agent Jason O. Gordon's office and is an accurate total.

Gordon said a more complete picture of the 1944 crop was obtained by this survey and he has now revised his previous estimate of a 70,000 bale total for the year. He now estimates Lubbock county farmers will produce more than 80,000 bales from the 1944 crop, adding that approximately 80 per cent of the crop has been harvested.

Farmers Sledding Cotton

A few of the farmers of the county are sledding the cotton, he said, but most farmers are waiting for the plants to defoliate more before beginning this practice of harvesting.

A report of cotton ginned prior to Nov. 14 in Texas from the crop of 1944, issued by the Department of Commerce through the Bureau of Census, the 15 counties of the South Plains had ginned 265,044 bales, 29.4 per cent less than at the same time last year.

Lubbock county had ginned 53,906, the report said. This total was 19.9 per cent less than last year's total of 67,291 bales on the same date. Lynn county's total was 46,545 this year, 21.3 per cent lower than last year's figure of 59,098.

Ellis Led On Nov. 14

Ellis county, according to the report, was leading the state on Nov. 14 with a total of 54,440 bales ginned. Nueces county was second, with 54,151, and Lubbock county was third. Authorities point out that when the next report is issued by the Department of Commerce, Lubbock county will probably be leading the state as practically all of the cotton has been harvested in Ellis and Nueces counties.

Three of the South Plains counties had ginned more cotton from the 1944 crop than on the same date last year. Terry county was 6.5 per cent ahead of last year's figure, 18,948 bales, having ginned 20,270 this year. Cochran county, with a total of 7,496 bales ginned this year, was seven per cent over the 6,970 bales last year. Gaines county had ginned 3,835 bales prior to Nov. 14 this year, 18.3 above the 3,135 bales ginned on that date in 1944.

British Flay Press Freedom Plan In Fear Of American 'Domination'

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The press freedom campaign conducted by Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, was attacked yesterday by a British weekly magazine, the Economist, with a suggestion that his program might allow American news agencies" to dominate the world."

The politico-economic publication, established in 1843, included the following in an "American survey" section devoted to short articles on the United States:

"Mr. Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press and author of 'Barriers Down,' is leading a crusade to incorporate a 'charter of freedom for news and communications' in the peace settlements.

Freedom of Access

"In an article in Life he demands freedom of access to news, freedom for agencies to compete or to exchange news and an end to preferrential rates of transmission. Mr. Cooper, like most big business executives, experiences a peculiar moral glow in finding that his idea of freedom coincides with his commercial advantage. In his ode to liberty there is no suggestion that when all barriers are down the huge financial resources of the American agencies might enable them to dominate the world. His desire to prevent another Goebbels from poisoning the wells will be universally applauded, but democracy does not necessarily mean making the whole world safe for the AP.

Confusion On Words

"In this, as in other postwar issues such as civil aviation, commercial practices are habitually confused with such big words as liberty and the rights of man. One of Mr. Cooper's happier suggestions is that news correspondents abroad should enjoy diplomatic immunity, without any of its responsibilities. This would turn the Fourth Estate into a king that can do no wrong. The comments of Marshal Stalin and the Generalissimo on the proposition that the war is being waged to secure extra territorial rights for, say, the Chicago Tribune, would be worth hearing."

COOPER SAYS REUTERS HAS SAME OPPORTUNITY

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Commenting on the published views of the Economist, Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, said:

"Surely the Economist does not want the activities of all news agencies except the British confined to their own countries as was largely the case before Reuters, reorganized and owned by the British newspapers, withdrew its cartel domination over the news activities of many countries foreign to England. If there is commercial advantage to an American news association in making its news service available in other countries, there is, under the plan I advocate, the same opportunity for the Brtish or any other news agency to make its news service available in other countries.

Reuters Branching Out

"For example, the Reuters agency was quick to see this and is now selling its news in the United States and South America for the first time.

"All of this is to the good as long as newspapers in the western hemisphere want the Reuters service. Similarly, if the newspapers of the eastern hemisphere want the services of the American news agencies, or any other news agencies, they properly should have them.

"The Economist's comment as to diplomatic immunity is even more inept. Immunity does not mean that a foreigner, whether a diplomat or newspaperman, can remain in any foreign country where he is persona non grata. It does mean that in such case he would leave the country without being arrested and uncivilly deported and without any other indignities being imposed upon him.

"But if the Economist is speaking for Britain in wanting to maintain, exclusively for British interests, its effective control over vast world communications, a thing that Reuters, the British agency, does not itself demand, then perhaps more than ever the issue that there should be equality for news transmission over all international communications should be fought out even in advance of the peace. The British account of what is going on in world affairs is not the only account of world affairs that should be disseminated."

Florida was discovered by the Spaniard Ponce de Leon on Easter Sunday March 27, 1513.

U.S., Spain Sign Pact On Airlines

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (U.P.) — The United States and Spain today signed in Madrid a commercial aviation agreement entitling each country to "most-favored nation" right to pick up and discharge passengers, cargo and mail in the two nations.

It gives the United States permission to designate American air carriers which will be entitled to stop at Spanish airports at Madrid, Barcelona, and Seville.

Three Specific Routes

The agreement covers three specific routes on which American planes can travel through Spain:

1. From New York through Lisbon, Portugal, to Madrid and Barcelona, enroute to Marseilles, France, and points beyond.
2. From New York through Lisbon to Madrid and then to Algiers.
3. From New York or Miami through South America, West Africa, Vill-Cisneros, and French Morocco to Seville, Madrid and Barcelona enroute to Paris and points beyond.

The agreement provides for return trips over the same routes.

Spanish air carriers designated by the Spanish government to operate under the agreement will be allowed to operate in international traffic at whatever point or points in United States territory are "of similar aviation importance" to those granted to this country.

Work Of Farm Boys, Girls In Spotlight

CHICAGO, Dec. 2. (AP) — The work of the nation's farm boys and girls in wartime along the food production line commanded spotlight attention today as hundreds gathered for the annual 4-H club and third wartime Chicago market fat stock show.

The records disclose that last year alone they raised 145,000 acres of war gardens, 11 million chickens, turkeys and ducks, 580,000 head of live stock, 90,000 head of dairy cattle, and canned 16 million quarts of farm produce.

It also showed that since Pearl Harbor the boys and girls from the farms have collected more than 300 million pounds of scrap and sold more than 140 million dollars worth of war bonds and stamps.

Souvenirs Of Saipan Exhibited At Tech

In recent battles of Saipan and Tinian, 1st Lt. Forrest W. (Chief) Jones, a former Texas Tech student, obtained three Japanese "souvenirs" which are featured this week in an exhibit at the West Texas Museum, on the campus.

Lt. Jones captured from a Japanese officer, who was attempting hari kari, a sword with two bullet holes in the handle. Figures on a white silk Japanese flag, personal property of the officer, showed his service bar and three campaigns he had participated in, including Bataan. Many of his girl friends had signed the flag.

Also included in the display is a Japanese 10-yen war bond.

Gift Drive For Veterans Gains

Approximately 175 gifts had been received Saturday afternoon in response to an appeal by the American Legion and Auxiliary, who are joining other legions over Texas in sponsoring a campaign, "Christmas Gifts for Yanks Who Gave," to be sent to McCloskey General Hospital at Temple.

A. C. Lampe, Lubbock county service officer, said that gifts were still coming in and several cash donations have been received. Today was announced as the deadline for sending the gifts to the legion hall, 910 Texas, but Lampe said that gifts would be accepted Monday morning as they would not be mailed until that afternoon or Tuesday morning. Also, the hall will be open all day today, he added.

Auxiliary Does Wrapping

Members of the local organizations are buying Christmas gifts and asking that Lubbock citizens donate gifts with their personal cards and addresses enclosed. Auxiliary members are in charge of wrapping.

Gift suggestions include books, mysteries, classics, Bibles, comics, dictionaries, westerns, humor, maps of the world, pocket-size books, but no war stories; stationery and games, playing cards, checker boards, chess sets, cribbage sets, folding writing pads, air mail stationery (a few air mail stamps), fountain pens, pencils, pencil sharpeners and address books, picture folders and stands; things to wear, sleeveless sweaters, T-shirts, nice handerchiefs, billfolds, good quality sox, bedroom slippers; toiletries; things for the smoker; and miscellaneous.

High School Starts Solicitation Campaign In Bond Drive Tuesday

Beginning Tuesday afternoon, Lubbock Senior High school students will start a door-to-door solicitation in the residential district to help the city schools reach their quota of $841,050 in the Sixth War Loan drive, according to Floyd Honey, principal.

Junior High school and elementary schools will conduct their campaign using the same methods as they have in the past. There will be no competition among the various schools, the school system will work as a unit to reach their quota of series E bonds, Honey said.

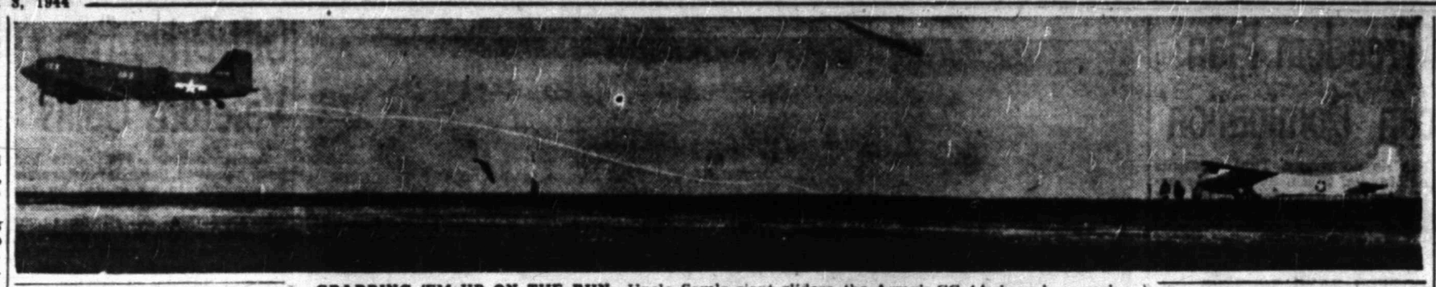

An intensified drive because of approaching Christmas holidays, patriotic and enthusiastic support of every citizen is requested. Each high school student will work the block in which he lives, thus eliminating too much duplication of effort and calls.

Students are to accept checks only, in payment for bonds. No currency or silver is to be exchanged, Honey said. He explained his office would be unable to handle this amount of money and the plan will facilitate bond sales. Checks are to be made payable to the bank with which the purchaser does business.

If someone does not wish to pay for the bond by check, he may give students an order indicating the bank at which he is willing to make payment. In this event, he should sign the order blank and the student will write on it "no money received."

It is of the utmost importance that adults purchasing bonds assist students by signing their full name, for example, Miss Mary Walker or Mrs. Mary Walker Jones. Write in your address, co-owner of the bond, or beneficiary. Credit will be given to any school in the system which the patron designates.

First report on school sales of series E bonds will be made to the superintendent's office at 3:30 p. m. Friday. Final report will be made at the same place and time, Dec. 15.

GRABBING 'EM UP ON THE RUN—Uncle Sam's giant gliders, the Army's CG-4A, have been making the headlines in almost every major airborne operation of the war in recent months, but one feat of the big ghost craft has not been publicized so much until the past few weeks. That is the ability of tow-planes to pick up the gliders off the ground with the plane in flight. This remarkable photograph taken at South Plains Army Air field shows the tow-plane just as it has hooked the towrope from the upright standards in front of the glider. An instant later the glider was in the air. This technique is now being used, whenever practicable, to retrieve gliders which may land off the field, and is being used in combat areas such as Holland to retrieve gliders for additional flights against the enemy. Only the past week the first double pickup of gliders was successfully attempted at SPAAF, the tow-plane picking up one glider then swooping back in and picking up another just as in the shot above. Logistics, Supplies Are Big Problem In Bad Italian Terrain

FIFTH ARMY FRONT, Nov. 28. (AP) (Delayed).—One-third of the officers and men of the Fifth Army fight the daily battle of logistics—feeding and supplying our troops faster and better than the enemy can supply his—and have won such a smashing victory that their techniques have become standard procedure for American armies on every Allied front.

Supply problems have been enormously complicated in Italy by the terrain.

Whatever the terrain, an infantry divisions still uses 400 tons of supplies a day. An armored division uses 20,000 gallons of gasoline daily at rest and up to 50,000 in combat. When the Fifth moved to Rome in June it was burning 400 gallons every minute.

Brig. Gen. Ralph H. Tate of Owosso, Mich., is responsible for supplying the Fifth. He uses tens of thousands of Americans, British, Brazilians, Poles, South Africans and Indians and whole units of bakers, truck drivers, tank repair men and mule skinners. They are the unsung who fight the battle of logistics.

Take Pvt. Glenn J. Funk of Stoneburg, Texas, or Adrain Menges of Fort Scott, Kansas. Last May they were helping operate an ammo dump on a muddy hillside before the Gustav line when the 85th Infantry division sent back an emergency order. In the next 24 hours they and their company of 86 men, including every cook and clerk, handled 4,430 tons of ammunition, loading a continuous line of trucks all night in a total blackout.

Buy untrimmed cauliflower and use the tender insides as one vegetable. Then leaves may be diced, cooked and served in cream sauce at another meal.

State School Head Opposes Oil Treaty

AUSTIN, Dec. 2 (U.P.) — State School Superintendent L. A. Woods today said the proposed Anglo-American petroleum agreement could lead to another world war and it should never be ratified by the U. S. Senate.

Woods said the treaty is a "dangerous agreement" with many ramifications. It could lead to a U. S.-Great Britain-Ireland oil monopoly, and "could even go so far as to cut off the other nations from oil supplies, which, no doubt, would lead to another world war," Woods said.

As his second reason for opposition, Woods said Texas schools are largely financed from taxation of oil, its products and incomes from state-owned oil lands. He believed it would be a "dangerous thing for us to release state control for international control" of the oil industry because of the effect it might have on school income.

Tobacco Plants To Get More Burley

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — Cigaret and smoking tobacco manufacturers will be allowed to buy five per cent more burley tobacco from this year's crop than they used during the 12-month period ended September 30, the War Food administration said today.

The burley crop, which will start moving to market week afer next, is being allocated among manufacturers and dealers by the WFA.

Burley is second to flue-cured tobacco in quantity used for cigarets.

GALVESTON, Dec. 2. (U.P.)—The Lykes Brothers Steamship Co., has bought $1,000,000 in war bonds to apply on Galveston county's quota in the Sixth War Loan drive, James G. Thompkins, manager of the Lykes office, disclosed today.

Numbness In Extremeties

Case History No. 1616; May; Age 69; who had numbness in extremities, especially in the right arm where he stated, "My right arm goes to sleep quite a bit and I am worried about it." He had severe pain in his right arm, said that it was difficult for him to move about without causing excruciating pain. One of my many satisfied patients referred him to this Clinic. After the cause of his trouble was located and corrected during a regular course of chiropractic service he later stated, "I wouldn't take a million dollars for what chiropractic has done for me." This case is now under special service and comes in for a check-up occasionally to be sure that the primary cause of his troubles does NOT return.

Ear Trouble

Case History No. 1330; Lady; Age 36; Swelling of neck and ears; Ears would turn red and discharge pus.. Was hard of hearing and had severe nervousness. This lady had been in a bad condition since 1934; and, having tried almost everything she knew of without relief. One of her relatives who is a patient of this clinic referred here. After the examination the cause of her abnormal condition was located. After a long course of chiropractic service the cause was finally corrected. Her restoration of health was slow but it was sure. All symptoms have disappeared and she feels that her life has been saved from a lifetime of suffering and misery and an early death.

Chiropractic Principles

To be in a normal healthy condition chiropractic contends that the nerves of the body must function normally and be supplied with mental energy. This mental energy is that force, generated in the brain, goes down the spinal cord and branches out to all organs, parts, and tissue cells of the body to control the welfare of the body. If there is any interference between the brain and body thru the nervous system the body cannot and will not function as it should function. Many authorities agree that this is the cause of dis-ease in the body. The chiropractor locates this cause of dis-ease and removes it.

Eight Submarine Survivors Tell Of Perilous Escape And Hunger

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — The story of eight survivors of the American submarine Flier—swimming 18 hours in Japanese-controlled waters to a barren island and living for days on a pair of coconuts—was related today.

The two weeks' fight for survival and rescue by Philippine guerrillas was described by the skipper, Commander John D. Crowley, Concordia, Kas.

Crowley told how the little band, thrown into the sea by an explosion, made its way on a flimsy raft to one of the Philippine islands after days of vainly hunting food on one deserted spot after another.

Raw Sugar Cane Delicious

Raw sugar cane they found after reaching the Philippines was "the most delicious thing I ever tasted," Crowley said.

Loss of the Flier in action against the enemy was announced by the Navy Sept. 19.

"We were cruising on the surface at night in Japanese-controlled waters," Crowley related, "when there was a terrific explosion. I was on the bridge, and in 20 to 30 seconds the ship went down. The night was completely dark and we couldn't orient ourselves. The survivors were gathered together and though you couldn't see beyond three feet, we counted 15 men in the water."

"The nearest land was three and one-half miles away, an isolated island probably occupied by Japs, and in another direction, farther away, were more islands, probably unoccupied. We decided to head for the larger group, with the greater chance of making land.

"We had no life jackets and didn't know the distance. It turned out to be 12 miles to the island we reached.

Eighteen hours after the explosion, about 3 p. m. the eight survivors of the 15 counted originally reached the coral beach.

About a mile from land five of the eight reached a floating palm tree and floated in, while the other three continued to swim.

The island yielded no wood, no water. The men were sunburned from exposure in the water, and their feet were badly cut by the jagged coral. Nights were cold, and they slept covered with sand and hugged each other for body warmth.

Search of hundreds of floating coconuts revealed only one fit to eat. The raft, rigged from bamboo and grass, permitted two men to ride and paddle while the other six swam alongside. In that fashion they traveled from island to island, all uninhabited and yielding no food or water. During the trip they found one other drifting coconut.

Find Deserted Village

Several days later they reached a large island and sighted a group of buildings surrounded by an excellent coconut grove which they found deserted, looted and damaged.

The next morning two native guerrilla fighters, one of whom could speak a little English, appeared and agreed to lead them to food and water. They learned then that the guerilla watcher had seen them come ashore, and came prepared to deal with them as friend or enemy.

Daniel Flays Treaty Ratification Setup

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — Josephus Daniels, secretary of the Navy in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, today said the future peace of the world is endangered by retention of the two-thirds Senate rule governing treaty ratification.

Urging immediate adoption of a resoultion which would amend the constitution to allow ratification by a majority of both houses of Congress, Daniels told the House Judiciary committee:

"Just as long as one-third of the senators can prevent the ratification of a treaty, the sword of Damocles will hang over the head of majority rule in a republic founded upon the principle of consent of the governed."

University Matters High On Agenda For New Legislature

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 2—Pattern of the next biennial session of the Texas Legislature—little more than a month away—was already taking shape today.

To date, the big issue for the session appears to be the University of Texas and its presidency. Method of naming regents, powers of regents, confirmation of regents and a study of what really goes on at the university, all are due to take a considerable part of the session's time.

House Action Seen

Normally the Senate will get first play on the topic when Gov. Coke R. Stevenson sends in his list of regent nominees. The House may grab the ball by an early bill to change the system of naming regents. If the law is not changed very early in the session, Stevenson will select or have selected almost the entire governing board for the university before his term ends.

Terms of Mrs. I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, a staunch supporter of President Homer P. Rainey, and H. J. Lutcher Stark of Orange, anti-Rainey, expire in January. So does the term of Dr. C. O. Terrell of Fort Worth. As member of a committee he helped select Dr. Chauncey Leake to head the university's medical branch. Dr. Terrell was appointed recently to fill a short unexpired term and will be reappointed for a full term, to technically go before the Senate for double confirmation.

Mrs. Fairchild, it is a pretty safe conclusion, will not be reappointed—at least until the governor is informed who was responsible for the report that he was going to name Cong. Martin Dies of Orange—which the governor denies.

Stark told the senatorial quizzing committee he did not expect he would be confirmed if re-appointed, and friends of A. and M. college are pretty reliably reported wanting Stark switched to their board.

Dave Warren, Panhandle publisher, and Dudley Woodward, Dallas, are appointees beside Dr. Terrell yet to go before the Senate for confirmation.

Successor to the late Dr. Judson Taylor of Houston, on the university board likely will be named next week. Dr. Taylor had succeeded Dan Harrison of Houston, who resigned. Dr. Taylor had attended but one regents' meeting.

Eligible Women Listed

Combined request of the council of ex-students and the women's "white house conference" that supplied the governor with a list of eligible women, point to possibility that Dr. Minnie L. Moffett, Dallas, might be named. Other women endorsed by the conference for university regents were Mrs. Jack Little, Dallas, and Mrs. Richard J. Turrentine, Denton, both prominent Texas clubwomen.

Frequent reports are heard that "so-and-so" could not be confirmed. Factually, however, whoever Governor Stevenson appoints is about as good as in. The governor has announced he is not seeking a partisan and if anyone attacks his past appointees, the governor is prepared to show which senators wanted what appointments, and why.

Confirmation, too, is to some extent a matter of trading. If Senator X wants a certain person confirmed for one position, he is not, without strong reason, going to antagonize Senator Y who may want some one confirmed for regent.

Utah Executive Heads Governors' Council

CHICAGO, Dec. 2. (AP) — Gov. Herbert B. Maw of Utah was elected president of the Council of State Governors today, succeeding Gov. Leverett B. Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Maw is chairman of the governors' conference, a component unit of the council.

The group approved a resolution urging the federal government to increase allocations to the states for the administration of their unemployment compensation programs.

EARLY CHRISTMAS

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP)—Christmas came early to 1,705 families in the Southwest. The Eighth Service Command said today that at least that many Army men came back from overseas on rotation furlough to make pre-Christmas visits to their homes in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana.

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Robertson Pool Extension In Gaines And Swabbing Of 44 Barrels In 12 Hours In Dawson Test Highlights

FEATURE items were lacking in the oil development activity on the South Plains during the last week. A large number of exploratory projects were in various stages, but only two of them developed anything of special interest.

A south Gaines county wildcat, which had already tested for commercial production, was completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 201.01 barrels, and a prospector in northwest Dawson county swabbed 44 barrels in 12 hours, to indicate possible daily production of around 100 barrels of oil, when finally completed.

Humble Completes Producer

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Humble fee, (formerly carried as No. 1 Doss), in section 9, block A-24, psl survey, has been completed for a daily flow of 201.01 barrels of 33.6 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 517-1. The pay is a zone at 7,030-80 feet, in the Clearfork section of the Permian, near Fork section of the Permian, and the oil came through perforations. The pay section was treated with a total of 7,000 gallons of acid, in stages of 1,000 gallons and 6,000 gallons.

The new discovery is two and one-half miles west and two and one-quarter miles north of the one well Robertson pool, where the production is from the San Angelo-Permian, around 5,900 feet.

Dawson Test Swabs Oil

Richmond Drilling company No. 1 Nelson, section 34, block M, EL survey, northwest Dawson county development, one and one-half miles north of the single producer in the Welsh pool, swabbed 44 barrels of clean oil from a saturated section at 4,884-4,923 feet, in the San Andres-Permian.

That horizon was shot with 240 quarts of nitro, after the hole had plugged back to 4,923 feet, to cut off bottom hole water at 5,003 feet.

The hole is not yet completely cleaned out to the bottom. The operator likely will not make any more tests until completion.

Gaines Project Testing

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Sparks, extreme southwest Gaines county exploration, in section 3, block A-13, psl survey, is reported by the operator to be testing. Total depth is at 10,604 feet, in lime. No information has been released about where the shows are which are being investigated.

J. F. Smith No. 1 Dodge, section 36, block H, D&W survey, in northeast Gaines, is bottomed at 5,250 feet, in lime, and is waiting on cement, before perforating the casing to test.

Slight oil stains and slight porosity were found from about 5,076 feet to around 5,090 feet. The section between 5,090 feet and 5,105 feet had sulphur water.

There were some minor indications from 5,105 feet to 5,250 feet —and some of the interested operators decided to run the pipe and test those shows, and the zone at 5,076-90 feet. If a well is developed, it likely will be a small one.

Preparing To Drill Ahead

Shell No. 1-B Jones, section 460, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, outpost to the Russell pool, in northwest Gaines, had reached 7,767 feet, in lime, and was preparing to drill ahead. It had tested for 166 barrels of oil, swabbing in 16 hours, after a small shot of acid.

Shell No. 1 Coombes, section 492, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, had progressed below 7,315 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead.

Fikes and Murchison No. 1 Alexander, northwest Terry county possible pool opener, in section 18, block K, psl survey, was swabbing to clean out and test, after treating the pay section at 5,088 feet to the total depth at 5,157 feet, with 3,000 gallons of acid.

Amount Of Oil Unknown

No information has been revealed regarding the amount of oil which is indicated since the treatment. Prior to the injection the well tested for about one and one-half barrels of oil per hour natural. The project is six miles southwest of the closest proven territory on the south side of the Slaughter pool.

DeKalb Agricultural association, Inc., Lubbock, No. 1 Jenkins, in southwest Terry, in section 29, block DD, John H. Gibson survey, had reached 3,455 feet and was drilling ahead in anhydrite, topped at 2,495 feet, according to an unofficial source, over and elevation of 3,417 feet.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Hudson, section 9, block P, psl survey, two and one-half miles southwest of the Slaughter area, in southeast Cochran county, is on a plugged back total depth of 5,135 feet, in lime, testing to locate water, which has appeared since the section was treated with 8,000 gallons of acid. This exploration showed 500 feet of free oil natural, in the hole, in drilling to the present bottom, and no water.

Progress In Other Tests

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Slaughter, central Cochran county wildcat, in labor 49, league 101, Jeff David county school land survey, seven and one-half miles northwest of Slaughter production, had reached 7,818 feet, and was going ahead in lime.

The Texas company No. 1 Montgomery, labor 19, league 70, Val Verde county school land survey, six miles north of Slaughter production, in central Hockley county, was bottomed at 4,820 feet, in lime, waiting for a new cable tool rig to be moved in to continue drilling ahead to around 6,000 feet.

Shut Down For Orders

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 1 Rucker, in the southeast corner of labor 15, league 43, Rains county school land survey, on the north side of the Slaughter field, which found water in the Slaughter pay at 4,957-63 feet, after getting a little gas above that horizon, was shut down for orders, at last report.

Rumors that arrangements had been made to drill this project ahead to around 7,500 feet to test for pay in the lower Permian, have not been confirmed.

Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 Bird, south-central Lamb county exploration, in section 66, block T, Thompson survey, is being plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 7,265 feet, in hard, dry lime.

The test ran low geological, and found no traces of oil or gas.

Jackson Hole Caving

Humble No. 1 Jackson, section 119, block A, Thomason survey, the southeast Lamb county discovery for production at 5,348-6,006 feet, which had tested for around 15 barrels per hour, is still cleaning, and trying to control a caving hole, in the pay section.

Unofficial reports indicate that the operator likely will run a liner through the saturated zone, and produce the oil through perforations in that string of pipe.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Johnston, section 88, block C, D&W survey, in central-east Lubbock county, had penetrated below 8,640 feet, and was drilling ahead, in shale.

Cravens Test Continuing

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Stanolind No. 1 Cravens, north-central Lubbock county exploration, in section 16, block D, L&SV survey, had reached 7,471 feet, and was continuing in lime.

Honolulu and Devonian Oil company No. 1 Storie, northwest Garza county wildcat, in section 1303, EL survey, about two and three-quarter miles southeast of the one-well Payton pool, discovered by the same operators, had reached 3,311 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead.

D. D. Feldman No. 1 Edwards, northwest Lynn county prospector, in section 132, block 3, EL survey, had drilled 5,578 feet, in lime. It is scheduled to go to 6,000 feet, and possibly deeper.

Fishing For Tools

The Texas company No. 1 Edwards, section 158, GT survey, also in the northwest Lynn county sector, had reached 3,786 feet, in anhydrite and gyp, and was fishing for tools.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1-A Bartley, section 1372, block 1, EL survey, in central-east Lynn, was reported to have reached 9,380 feet, in lime, and was slated to continue drilling.

The Texas company No. 1 Johnson, section 41, block 42, TP survey, T-4-N, southwest Borden county wildcat to 7,500 feet, had penetrated below 6,467 feet, and was drilling ahead, in gray lime.

Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Johnson, proposed 8,000 foot exploration in southwest Gaines county, in section 16, block A-28, psl survey, had reached 265 feet, in redbeds, and had set 13 3/8-inch surface casing at 217 feet, with 200 sacks of cement, and was waiting.

Nazi Says V-3 Soon To Raid New York

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—A Stockholm dispatch quoted Nazi labor chief Albert Speer yesterday as saying that Germany's V-3 weapon would be ready for firing against New York by the end of December.

No intimation was given as to the nature of V-3, if such a weapon has been perfected.

NEW YORK IS PREPARED

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Commenting on the reported statement by Nazi labor chief Albert Speer that Germany's V-3 weapon would be ready soon to blast New York, deputy chief police inspector Arthur W. Wallander, chief of staff of the city protective forces, said today: "Our services are ready."

A Stockholm dispatch quoted Speer as saying V-3 would be ready by the end of December for use against New York.

Mayor F. H. La Guardia warned last Nov. 12 that "although there is no reason for alarm, we must be ready."

NOVELIST'S WIFE KILLED

LONDON, Dec. 2. (AP)—A French broadcast announced today the accidental death of Madame Malraux, wife of the celebrated French writer, Andre Malraux, and a novelist herself, but did not say when or where it occurred.

Ex-Student Action Called Unfortunate

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 2. (AP)—L. H. Cullum, district 8 councilman for the University of Texas Ex-Students association, said today he had wired the organization's executive secretary he regretted the action by a council meeting in Austin Nov. 30 in support of Dr. Homer P. Rainey, discharged university president.

The telegram was directed to John A. McCurdy, executive secretary of the ex-students' association in Austin, and read:

"I regret that 11 members of the ex-students council saw fit to pass a resolution on Thursday, Nov. 30, asking for reinstatement of Dr. Rainey and condemning certain members of the board of regents.

"This resolution in my judgment was very unfair and does not represent the wishes of the ex-students and citizens of the state. This action is so partisan that the council has impaired its usefulness in helping to work out the unfortunate controversy at the university."

Nazi Radio Kibitzer Hinders Yank Fliers

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER BASE, Southern England, Dec. 2. (AP) — And now its ghost voices over Germany.

Pilots at this fighter base disclosed today the latest in the continous battle of wits—an English speaking kibitzer with a simulated Brooklyn accent who comes in on their radios with erroneous homing directions.

SPAAF Gift Drive Said Great Success

Wives of military personnel at South Plains Army Air Field Saturday announced that their campaign to collect Christmas gifts for the hospitalized veterans at McCloskey General Hospital at Temple was a huge success with a total of more than 2,300 gifts ready to be flown to Temple for the Yuletide holidays.

Busy making candy and cookies to add to the bulging pack of gifts which were contributed by military personnel at SPAAF and by residents of the surrounding counties, the wives of military personnel at the field expressed their appreciation for the cooperation from everyone concerned in making the drive a success.

More than 800 of the gifts were contributed by residents of the surrounding counties through the efforts of the Camp and Hospital council. The bulk of the presents were contributed by military personnel at the field with the wives of officers and enlisted men preparing and wrapping the presents.

Tentative plans are for Col. James A. DeMarco, commanding officer at SPAAF, to fly the gifts to Temple. The drive was under the direction of Mrs. DeMarco and Mrs. Thos. Danie, chairman of the officers' wives group and Mrs. C. N. Spivey, chairman of the enlisted men's wives group.

Lubbock Flier Back From 35 Missions Over Germany Sings Crew Chief's Praises

IT was supposed to have been an interview with First Lt. Robert O. Akers, but Lt. Akers made a 360-degree turn and insisted upon talking about his crew chief.

"He's a Lubbock boy who used to work for Rigney-Ferguson company here, name of James Fisher," he said. "Funny think how we happened to get together in the same squadron—"

"You here on a rotation furlough?" he was asked.

"Yes. Now we were making a check flight and I see this Fisher and don't recognize him right off, but I know I've seen him somewhere. The uniform does something—"

AKERS

"How many combat missions did you stack up?"

"Thirty-five. Two hundred eighty operational combat hours. When we got in I walk up to Fisher. 'Say,' I say, 'I'm supposed to know you.' Then it hits me. I've gone to school with him all my life. I say—"

"Eee any jet-propelled enemy stuff over Germany?"

"I suppose so; you occasionally see a streak of vapor marked across the sky and, monitoring the fighter pilots band, you hear things. I was saying that this Fisher—"

"You're pretty much in favor of him, eh?"

Fisher Sweats 'Em Out

"Oh, sure. Tell you what: that fellow has taken care of my airplane all the time. He'll stay up all night and day working on it. If the "Duchess' Granddaughter" (that's my plane) comes in late from a raid, you can bet there'll be Fisher standing out there sweating it out till we come in. He does everything to the plane: engines, instruments, the hydraulic gear—"

"You keep referring to him as Fisher; hasn't he got any rank?"

"Gosh, I don't know. Everytime I have seen him he was in dungarees. He works all the time, I suppose. Never anything on the overalls but grease. I don't know what he is—been meaning sometime to ask him."

Saw Other Lubbock Men

Lt. Akers looked like he'd been caught taking off with his flaps down. "Anyway," he said, "his crewing kept the plane flying."

"Fisher's wife (Mrs. Bobby Nell Fisher) is here—works for a five-and-ten store. First Lt. Roger Kuykendall (son of George P. Kuykendall) is a squadron leader in my group. M/Sgt. Joe Bob Johnson, also of Lubbock, is in operations. Lt. Kuykendall bumped into Capt. Horace Humphries recently in London. Capt Humphries (son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Humphries of 2009 Broadway) has been reported in France more recently with an armored division."

Lt. Akers' wife is here. She formerly was Katie Jean Cress, daughter of Mrs. Neil Cress of 2012 Eighteenth. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alva Akers of 2312 Ave. U.

The airman studied petroleum engineering one semester in Texas Tech, then was graduated in 1942 from Carver's Chiropractic institute in Oklahoma City. As to his overseas action—

Fighter Cover Tremendous

"The same thing you've read about. It's a lot alike. Only we see less and less enemy aircraft. Our fighter cover is tremendous. I've seen four P-51 Mustangs dive on as many as 25 German fighters and methodically start knocking them down until the Germans turned tail."

Gleaned from his conversation: He returned from only one mission without getting shell or flak holes, once counting 190; he's been hit on the flak suit several times, but never wounded; his original crew intact when he obtained his furlough; his plane had the "usual things happen to it," like having the hydraulic system shot out of commission, etc.; he returned and landed with his bombs when missions were "scrubbed out" or his ship developed engine trouble; monitoring the fighter band, he'd hear battle conversations, among them the soliloquy of a pilot who yelled in a dogfight with a Me-109, "I'm on his tail! No, he's on my tail! I can't make out who's on who's tail!"

The officer wears the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Presidential (group) Citation. A brother, Charles, is radio operator of a TBF Avenger somewhere in the Pacific area.

Lt. Akers must report Dec. 30 at Miami for reclassification. "I'd like to draw a two-engine interceptor," he said.

Russian Paper Slams Chinese Government

MOSCOW, Dec. 2. (AP) — The newspaper Izvestia asserted today that the recent reorganization of the Chungking government had not eased China's internal political situation and that the "dangerous policy of reactionaries and capitulators has not been eradicated."

The article was the first comment on the Chinese situation by the Soviet press since the removal of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell. Izvestia declared that China's democratic masses and China's democratic allies clamored for real national unity, and intimated little was being done about it.

Pytor Krainov, writer of the article, said that ruling circles in China contended that lack of equipment from the Allies was responsible for the Japanese successes; then he asked if that was really the answer.

Izvestia said objective foreign observers had held that the ineptness of China was due to a policy of the reactionaries designed at interruption of the national unity. These reactionaries were declared to be especially strong among the officers of the Chinese Army.

The newspaper said large numbers of Japanese troops had been drawn out of China because of the battles in the Pacific, but declared that China had done little or nothing to exploit the situation.

PRODUCTION HIKE NEEDED

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP) — Brig. Gen. Edwin H. Marks, U. S. Army Southwest division engineer, in a statement today after returning from a meeting of Army production officials in Washington, said an immediate increase in production of critical items was necessary to step up the pace of U. S. war offensives. He said that a number of plants in this region needed a substantial increase of manpower.

INCREASED PRODUCTION of essential crops is a vital "must" in our war program. Government figures prove there are two ways you can boost crop production—(1) Plant, cultivate and work more land...or (2) Irrigate the land you are now working.

AVERAGE YIELD PER ACRE	CALIFORNIA	ARIZONA
Beans
Irrigated	14.0*	5.5*
Non-Irrigated	7.3*	2.0*
One irrigated acre equals the unirrigated production of	1.92 acres	2.75 acres
*100-pound bags
Oats
Irrigated	41.7 bu.	34.9 bu.
Non-Irrigated	27.3 bu.	12.4 bu.
One irrigated acre equals the unirrigated production of	1.49 acres	2.82 acres

Official Govt. Figures, 1940 Census.

In the chart above compare the production of irrigated and non-irrigated lands when planted to typical crops. Note how irrigation boosts production far above the per-acre yield of non-irrigated lands. You plant no more seed, work no more land, require no more manpower—yet you substantially increase your production over the same land, unirrigated.

And by taking the Pomona road to increased crop production, you not only conserve seed and manpower, but you also gain a priceless advantage that will insure your crops for years to come... protection from crop loss through drought!

IT TAKES PLENTY OF WAR BONDS TO BUILD B-29s

THE WAR in the Pacific is the most costly war America has ever engaged in. It's simple arithmetic. A mountain of special, costly equipment is needed. A B-29 Superfortress used in the bombing of Japan costs $600,000 in War Bonds. And this is just one of the many extra costly implements of war needed to achieve final victory in the Pacific.

That's why the 6th War Loan Drive is so important. That's why you must back it as generously as you have every other war loan drive. Invest in the next raid on Japan...

House Lays Groundwork For Final Scrap Of 78th With White House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)— A divided House Ways and Means committee report laid the groundwork today for what probably will be the 78th Congress' final fight with the White House.

It pointed up the disagreement in the committee itself over the administration-opposed proposal to block a scheduled doubling of social security taxes. The levy will rise automatically to two percent January 1 unless Congress, as it has done thrice before, freezes them.

House Floor Fight

The committee split 17 to 7 in reporting the bill favorably. The issue will be fought out on the House floor starting Monday.

Unless there is a sharp turnover in sentiment, the House and the Senate will send to the White House a "freeze" order expected to draw a veto to enliven the waning hours of the expiring Congress.

Committee action on the social security tax was the House highlight of a week that saw the legislative program stumble forward through a hedge of controversies that seriously threatened the plan to adjourn by Dec. 16.

Some members expected sessions up to Dec. 23 and a few said it might be necessary to come back after Christmas.

Flood Control Bill

The Senate spent most of the week passing the billion-dollar flood control bill, pausing long enough to confirm the appointment of Edward Stettinius, jr., as secretary of state. Senator Langer (R-ND) called Stettinius a Wall Street product and cast the only "no" vote.

The House devoted its week to approving a $1,500,000,000 roads bill and the measure extending President Roosevelt's war powers, while its committees plodded ahead with legislation to modernize legislative machinery and give the House a voice with Senate in passing on treaties.

Missouri Project

Senate action on flood control came after Senator Murray (D-Mont) agreed to hold off a proposed Missouri Valley authority until the next Congress. A conference committee will have to iron out differences between the House on the measure.

The House approved rivers and harbors bill, authorizing a post-war outlay of about half a billion dollars, came up in the Senate and met controversy over the proposed Tom Bigbee project.

Citing estimates that the average annual cost of the social security system will be from four to seven percent of payrolls, the minority declared it was "obvious that the acturial soundness of this insurance system will continue to deteriorate so long as the current rate of contributions is kept at the present low 'evel."

The committee majority said that by the end of 1945, the reserve will approximate $7,250,000,000 without boosting the rate, and that will be "more than two times the amount that was contemplated under the estimates used when the social security system was revised in 1939 and was placed on what was then considered to be a sound acturial basis."

The majority cited social security board estimates that the highest annual expenditure during the next five years will be between $450,000,000 and $700,000,000, leaving the existing reserve from eight to 12 times as much as the highest annual outlay "instead of three times, as recommended by the secretary of the treasury."

Red Raiders Nose Out SPAAF, 7-6

By MACK TURNER
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Texas Tech's Red Raiders rang out the 1944 grid season Saturday afternoon at Tech stadium, setting the Victory Bell to tolling with a narrow 7-6 victory over South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commandos in a game that was played in a slow drizzle of rain and cold wind that greatly reduced the crowds in the stands.

Playing without the services of Walter Schlinkman, Tech's All-American candidate, the Red Raiders failed to produce scoring punch along the South Plains goal line, and the victory was largely a defensive one for the Red Raiders.

Line Stands Out

The Red Raider line played a great ball game all the way, but it was the play of Otis Turner of Wink that stood out head and shoulders above everything else on the gridiron for the afternoon.

Smashing through the line from his linebacker position, the Tech center played his greatest game of the year, and was largely the reason that the entire first half of the game was played in the SPAAF end of the field.

Contesting Turner for honors of the day was Don Dudley from Wichita Falls, the veteran wingman of the Red Raiders played another great ball game, and between the two kept the SPAAF running game well bottled through most of the 60 minutes of play.

Thompson and Birdwell also turned in some spectacular play in the Tech line. Thompson turning up as a kicking star to shine brightly as both a punter, and the lad who booted the game winning point after touchdown. Thompson returned to Lubbock just in time to get into the game after taking his draft physical at San Antonio this week.

SPAAF Line Stars

SPAAF also had some defensive stars, and the play of Tom Lacey at center stood out. The battle of the two centers stood out for both teams. Fowler at end, and Pat Steele at guard played a large part in the defensive play of the Army club, and did much to stop the Red Raiders on the goal line stands that SPAAF was forced to make time after time.

On the offense for the day, Paul Campbell of SPAAF and Claude McClanahan his team mate, and a pair of Texas schoolboy gridders, stood out. Campbell, a product of Breckenridge and McClanahan from Sunset of Dallas made up the scoring punch of the soldiers.

Billy Joe Whitehead, the Mason Mauler, took over in the place of Walt Schlinkman, and played a jam up game for 60 minutes. He ripped through the line time after time for nice gains, and played a bang up game on the defense.

It was Whitehead that scored the Tech touchdown, plucking an intercepted pass from the air and running it over for the score.

Art Shahan was his closest rival in the Tech lineup for offensive honors, while T. M. Cox, Ernest Hawkins and Costin Bufkin also turned in some nice playing.

Stop Army Passes

The Red Raiders completely smothered the famed passing attack of SPAAF's Paul Campbell, and he completed but one pass in 11 tries, while the Red Raiders intercepted four of his aerials, running one of them back for a touchdown.

The Red Raiders never handled the ball in their own end of the field but twice in the first half, each of these times on kicks. Bufkin backed up to his own 45 to take one, and ran it back to the SPAAF 33, and later Norris backed to his own 40 to take a kick, and ran it across midfield to the Army 43.

On the third play after the opening kickoff, Cox intercepted a pass on the Army 37 to set up the first threat. On the next play, Bufkin took a lateral from Cox and roamed through a broken field to the SPAAF 18. On the next play, Shahan went to the 10.

SPAAF ,battling line braced there, and Whitehead, Bufkin and Cox moved it forward only a yard on three tries and the ball went over on the 9.

Tech Threatens Again

On an exchange of punts, Bufkin took a kick on the SPAAF 45 and returned it to the Army 27. Whitehead picked up 4 yards, then broke into the secondary on the next play and stormed down to the 7. Shahan knifed through to the 1, but again the mighty SPAAF line dug in, and hurled the Red Raiders back, taking over on downs on the 4.

Campbell kicked out to the 38, and Tech came storming back again to threaten in the fading minutes of the first quarter. Shahan broke away for 12 yards to the Army 26. Bufkin went down to the 17, then after an incomplete pass. Whitehead stormed to the 11. Shahan failed to gain, then Whitehead went to the 6 as the quarter ended.

In two more plays, Whitehead bulled down to the 3 where the ball went over on downs.

After an incomplete pass, Campbell kicked from deep in his end zone, and Bufkin took the kick on the Tech 45 and returned to the SPAAF 33. Four plays later, Thompson kicked out on the SPAAF 12.

On the second play, Campbell's pass was intercepted by Whitehead on the 20. Whitehead twisted free from one tackler, then picked up his blockers and raced over the goal line standing up. Thompson kicked the extra point from placement.

A few plays later, Cox recovered a fumble on the SPAAF 45. On the next play, Cox raced 20 yards to the SPAAF 25, but there the drive bogged down.

Just before the half ended, Tech threatened again when Cox intercepted a SPAAF pass on SPAAF 45, and ran it back to the 27. Lewis passed to Stark on the 15 as the half ended.

SPAAF came back strong in the second half, and turned it into a ball game. The soldiers took the kickoff on the Army 35, and in three running plays, Campbell made a first and ten on the 45. On the next play, the soldiers scored.

McClanahan broke into the clear, reversed his field twice, and at last broke away for a 55-yard touchdown gallop. Campbell's try for extra point was blocked, and bounded out of bounds.

SPAAF made one more serious threat in the third period. Taking over a kick on its own 43, Army struck again from afar to threaten. After one play gained a yard, Campbell broke over the center of the line, then angled for the corner. He was out in the clear when Don Dudley overhauled him from behind and pulled him to earth on the 18.

There the Tech line came into its own. Turner smashed through to spill McClanahan back on the 20. Dudley and Turner teamed again to stop Campbell for no gain, then Campbell picked up two yards. A pass on fourth down failed and Tech took over.

Tech made one more mild threat, while Turner, Dudley and Company muffled the soldier attack for the rest of the day.

Tech took over on a kick on its own 36 early in the fourth quarter. Whitehead gained a yard in two plays, then Hawkins hit Dudley with a long pass on the Army 49. Whitehead then smashed through to the 38, and Shahan moved on to the 35. Hawkins then passed to Thompson to reach the 23,the closest advance of the ball as two plays later, Shahan fumbled a lateral from Whitehead, and Eager recovered for the soldiers on the SPAAF 22.

Sandies Roll To Win Over Cubs

AMARILLO, Dec. 2. (Special) — Amarillo's Golden Sandies clinched undisputed possession of first place in the District 1-AA footrace here today with a 27-0 victory over the Brownfield Cubs. The game was played in below freezing weather with sleet blowing across the field part of the time.

The Sandies rolled up nine first downs to four for the Cubs, and gained a total of 313 yards to 94 for the Cubs. Only one pass was completed, the Sandies heaving one for a 42 yard touchdown.

The Sandies had already won the right to represent the district again in bi-district play, but needed the win over Brownfield to take undisputed possession of the title over the Pampa Harvesters who had lost only to the Sandies

The Brownfield Cubs put up an almost impenetrable defense in the first half, holding the Sandies to a single touchdown, made when Richard Mixon, big fullback, broke loose and roared 75 yards to score. Miller booted the extra point.

It was the same story as in the past. During Brownfield's three years in the conference, the Sandies have never had more than a seven point lead at the half. But they have always won handily.

The Sandies added two quick touchdowns in the third quarter, striking from afar. Mixon passed to Essary for 42 yards and a touchdown, and a minute later, Essary broke away on a 44 yard touchdown run.

Amarillo second and third stringers played the balance of the game, the second stringers scoring midway in the final stanza when Flaniken went over from the 8 yard line.

Gill, second string back who is waiting to be called to the Navy, played about the best ball on the field. Essary and Mixon were outstanding for the first stringers.

Hill and J. Chambliss were the whole offensive show for the Cubs, who all starred on defense.

Georgia Tech Romps Over Georgia, 44-0

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 2 (AP)—Georgia Tech's Orange Bowl-bound, Engineers stomped a hapless Georgia team 44-0 today, coupling a deadly passing attack with a razzle-dazzle ground offensive.

A glue-fingered spindle-legged halfback, 150 pound George Mathews, scored two touchdowns, threw a pass for another, and caught numerous tosses to add to the rout.

The all-civilian Bulldog team could not cope with the heavier Navy V-12 Engineers and it was not until midway of the third period that they reached Georgia Tech territory. The drive carried 47 yards but was halted at the Tech 19.

Porkers Romp To Win Over Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 2 (AP)—Scoring four touchdowns in the final quarter after counting twice in the second period, the University of Arkansas smothered Arkansas A. & M. college 41 to 0 here today.

Alton Baldwin, Arkansas half, led the Razorback attack, scoring three touchdowns. Two long passes, one of 45 yards and the other 49 yards, by Gordon Long set up two of the Porker touchdowns. An estimated 1,200 spectators saw the game.

In the second quarter, Mike Schumchyk took a long pass and ran 20 yards for a touchdown. Young kicked the goal. A few minutes later Baldwin intercepted a Boll Weevil pass on his own 35 and took the ball to the Aggie 17. A pass from Long to Mike Schumcyk took the ball to the 10 yard line, Beane picked up two yards and Baldwin ran it over. Young kicked goal.

Arkansas threatened several times in the third but failed to score. In the fourth, Long threw a 49-yard pass and Baldwin took it over after catching it on the 10. Halstead's kick was no good.

Now, Arkansas was rolling. Baldwin passed to Mike Schumcmyk who took the ball to the Aggie 30. Frank Schumchyk gained 15 around end. Baldwin picked up 15 to cross the goal line.

Near the end of the quarter, Frank Schumchyk intercepted a pass on the Aggie 33 and scored. Just before the final gun, Bayne passed to Lane to the Aggie 15. Then Bayne passed to Hicks who made a touchdown.

Canady, former University of Texas player, got off several nice runs for the Boll Weevils.

Ohio State Back Is Named Year's Best

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (U.P.) — Les Horvath, the outstanding backfield man on the undefeated Ohio State football team today was voted the John Heismann Memorial trophy as the outstanding player of the 1944 season.

Ballots from sports writers and radio broadcasters, polled annually in connection with the award, named Horvath in the closest vote in the 10 year history of the trophy. Horvath, dental student at Ohio State and also a member of the United Press All American and All Big Ten teams, received the advantage because of a split in the ballots for several outstanding Army and Navy stars.

Horvath, a resident of Parma, O., received 412 votes with Glenn Davis of Army second, polling 287 votes. Felix (Doc) Blanchard, another Army back and All-American selection, was third with 237. Don Whitmire, Navy's great tackle, paced the linemen and was fourth with 115. Others in the first 10 included Claude (Buddy) Young of Illinois, 105; Bob Kelly, Notre Dame, 76; Bob Jenkins, Navy, 60; Doug Kenna, Army, 56; Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma A&M, 54, and Tom McWilliams, Mississippi State, 37.

The balloting is conducted every year by the Downtown Athletic club of New York and ceremonies in which the award will be presented to Horvath, will be held here Dec. 5.

LSU Tigers Pass To Victory Over Tulane

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 2 (AP)—A battle scarred Louisiana State Tiger, whipped in five of eight starts this season, all but passed a favored Tulane Green Wave off the field today to score a 25 to 6 win in the 42nd renewal of one of the South's oldest football rivalries.

The Tigers' passing combination of Y. A. Tittle, 183-pound tailback from Marshall, Tex., to Fullback Elwyn Rowan, Memphis, Tenn., was one of the most effective aerial shows seen here in years. Two of Tittle's pitches scored touchdowns, and the Texans' tossing set-up another.

Tulane got into the game following the Tigers' second score and went 65 yards for their lone marker.

Army Grid Power Rolls Over Navy Eleven For 23-7 Win

By FRITZ HOWELL

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP) — Army's magnificently equipped team hit the heights of gridiron greatness today, clinching the National football championship with a thrilling 23 to 7 victory over rugged, fighting Navy before 70,000 fans in Municipal stadium.

Showing the same power, alertness and deceptive attack which has characterized the Cadets all season, the Army boys converted two intercepted passes into two of their three touchdown marches, blocked a punt for a safety, and rounded out a campaign of nine straight wins—first perfect season for West Point since 1916.

The Cadets, needing this one to wrap up the National laurels, took no chances. They whipped through a 73-yard touchdown march early in the second period to take a 7-0 half-time lead, and won going away with two quick scores in the last session as Navy's defenses crumpled.

Blanchard, Davis Star

With Felix (Doc) Blanchard, plebe fullback from Bishopville, S. C., and Glenn Davis, fleet halfback from Los Angeles, spearheading the attack, the West Pointers were a great and powerful outfit worthy of wearing the crown as America's kings of the gridiron.

Davis, who scored the final touchdown on a 50-yard run after taking a lateral from Capt. Tom Lombardo, sewed up the individual scoring championship in the collegiate field. It was the speedster's 20th touchdown in nine games.

Adding to the Army honors was the fact Dick Walterhouse, place kicking specialist, made good on all three attempts at points after touchdowns to run his total to 47 in 59 tries—a new record eclipsing the 44 out of 57, set two years ago by Clyde Laforce of Tulsa.

The rampaging Cadets, maneuvering superbly from the "T" formation, tore the supposedly impregnable Middie line apart for 210 yards by rushing, while the West Point line held the Navy lads to a net of 87 yards on the ground.

Cadets Heads Up

But it was the alertness of the West Pointers that really paid off, and they cashed in on all of their self-manufactured breaks.

Balked by the stalwart Middies through the first quarter, the Cadets flashed their power and finesse early in the second. Herschel Fuson, center, intercepted a pass on his own 27, and the Cadets were off and running.

Halfback Dale Hall ripped through for 12 yards in two tries, and Blanchard bucked the line for 10.

Davis swung around right end for 21 yards, and on the next play Hall went over left tackle for 24 yards and the first touchdown.

Early in the third period, with Navy backed up deep in its own territory, Army tackle Arch Arnold, of Fort Lewis, Wash., broke through to block a punt by Navy's John Hansen, the ball rolling into the end zone Hansen recovered the ball there, Arnold tackling him for a safety and two Army points.

Angry Navy struck right back, marching 79 yards to its only touchdown after taking a Blanchard punt.

Boasting only a shaky two-point edge going into the last period, Army struck with all its power in a couple of lightning-fast scoring jaunts.

Blanchard and Davis took turns carrying until they reached the nine without a halt, from where Blanchard blasted over right tackle for the touchdown.

Again Walterhouse converted, and Army held a comfortable 16-7 margin, but the Cadets weren't satisfied. Runs by Blanchard and Max Minor moved the ball to the 50 yard line and gave Davis the perfect setting for his touchdown run after taking a lateral from Lombardo. It was a beautiful bit of running by the speedy back, not a hand being laid on him.

Irish Rally Nips Sailors, 28-7

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 2. (AP)—Notre Dame's fighting Irish exploded with all the fury of their football tradition here today to crush Great Lakes 28-7 and close their season with setbacks only by Army and Navy marring a 10-game campaign.

The Bluejackets carried the fight in the first half as they sought their 10th victory against one setback and a tie, but in the second half the Irish struck with tremendous power to make the game a near rout.

The final of the Midwestern western season saw Great Lakes take a 7-0 lead on the first play of the second quarter as Quarterback Jim Youel sneaked across from the one-yard line to cap a 26-yard Bluejacket march. Jim Mello place-kicked the point.

Midway in the second period, the Irish zoomed 56 yards for their first touchdown. Halfback Steve Nemeth booted the first of his four conversions and the score was tied at 7-7.

Smashing tactics gave Notre Dame its second touchdown. Halfback Ed Sanez of Great Lakes was smacked by Guard John Mastrangelo on the goal line, fumbled, and the ball was recovered by Irish End Doug Waybright for a score.

The final quarter produced two Irish touchdowns, the first on a surprising 3-yard pass from Dancewicz to End Bob Skoglund after Notre Dame had marched 46 yards, and the second on a one-yard sneak by Dancewicz after Kelly had streaked 23 yards through an exhausted Great Lakes team to the three.

Army Sergeant Grabs Golf Tourney Lead

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2. (AP)—While the fans were streaming after the Sam Sneads, Byron Nelsons and other hot shot favorites, husky Sgt. Jim Ferrier of the U. S. Army marched through 18 holes with an eagle eye today to grab the lead at the half-way mark of the 72-hole San Francisco Open golf tournament. He knocked in putts from 4 to 25 feet for a sensation six under par 66, the finest round of the tournament. It gave him a 36-hole total of 141.

The blazing round equalled the competitive course record for Harding Park set in 1940 by San Francisco amateur Ed Castagnetto.

Sgt. Ferrier's links feat permitted him to snatch the lead from Mark Fry, Oakland, Calif., pro, who set the first round pace with a 69. Fry, adding a 73 today, rested in second position with 142.

The 36-hole station of the $14,500 war bonds event saw John Geertsen, Salt Lake City, George Fazio, Pine Valley, N. J., and the year's leading money winner, Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., deadlocked in third place with 143. Veteran Willie Goggin, White Plains, N. Y., was close up with 144.

Shands Takes Lead In Class AA Scoring

LUFKIN, Tex., Dec. 2. (AP) — H. J. Shands, star back of Lufkin's Panthers, will enter the bi-district round of Texas schoolboy football next week boasting the state Class AA scoring lead.

Shands has 186 points, 16 more than George Graham of San Angelo finished the regular season with.

Cage Officials Meet Here Today

Arrangements have been made to care for 150 South Plains basketball coaches and officials at a meeting scheduled for the recreation building at 16th and Avenue J in Lubbock this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The meeting was arranged by A. C. "Stumpy" Hamilton, working with the City Recreation department.

A rules interpretation session will feature the meeting, with Coach Polk Robison, head basketball mentor at Texas Tech, conducting the discussion of the rules.

Many letters have been received from coaches throughout the area stating that they would be on hand, and many of them asked for additional information on the meeting. The event looms as a successful venture, and plans are being made to make it an annual event.

All those coaches who have already started basketball play are urged to bring with them a list of results of their games played to date by the boys A team.

Efforts this year will be made to keep complete records of the games played by all teams of the area, both pre-season and conference games.

There will be a time set aside for coaches to get together at the meeting today and fill out schedules, and also meet with the officials of the area, and arrange for the calling of their games.

Several district and county organizations have indicated that they planned to complete their season's program at this meeting.

Baseball Waits For Two Big Meetings

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. (AP) — Minor league baseball may demand a voice in naming a successor to Commissioner K. M. Landis at its 43rd annual convention opening in Buffalo Wednesday, but a policy of "watching and waiting" upon major league action is generally expected.

Only 13 amendments will be considered by the National Association according to President William G. Bramham and all have been overshadowed by the unexpected death of Landis which may result in a complete revamping of the game's legal code.

Both the major agreement, which established the office Landis held and the powers he wielded, and the major-minor agreement by which the lower classification circuits recognized the commissioner are due to undergo extensive renovations before they come up for renewal, January 12, 1946.

In the intervening year many committee meetings will consider proposals expected to limit the power of a commissioner, thus shelving any immediate action. When the big leagues meet in New York, December 11-13, they probably will vote to continue temporarily under the rule of the advisory committee composed of President Ford Frick of the National, Will Harridge of the American and Landis' secretary, Leslie O'Connor.

As matters stand now, the majors select a commissioner by a majority vote and pay his salary. Some influential minor leaguers would like a vote or removal of the "conduct detrimental to baseball" clause by which Landis, in fact, became czar of all baseball.

Tulsa Romps To Win Over Miami, 48 To 2

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 2. (U.P.)—Giving a preview of what Orange Bowl customers can expect from it on New Year's day, Tulsa university, playing its second team through all but the first quarter, shellacked a University of Miami eleven 48 to 2 here last night before 11,234 fans.

Chosen to play Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1, the Golden Hurricane showed a powerful offense in rolling up 27 points in the first quarter, seven in the second and another 14 in the third. Neither team scored in the last period and Miami's two points came in the third when Dean George was caught behind his own goal line for a safety.

Perry Moss, a Tulsa freshman halfback scored 18 points, six on conversions.

Bechtol On All-Southwest Team

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP)—Five of the six member schools placed men on the All-Southwest conference football team selected by the Associated Press with the assistance of coaches and scouts.

Champion Texas Christian and runner-up Texas each got three on the team, Rice and Texas A&M landed two and Arkansas one.

There were plenty of men at each position and in some cases selections were close but there was little argument about the line jobs.

Bechtol At End

Hubert Bechtol, Lubbock boy of Texas, who became a leading candidate for All-America with the first games, and Mike Schumchyk of Arkansas were named at the end positions. The giant Schumchyk, who not only was a fine defensive player and pass-catcher but gained many yards carrying the ball on end-around plays, did the unusual of making all-conference the first time he ever played football.

Clyde Flowers, who for three seasons has been one of the country's top tackles, and Monte Moncrief, the fighting Texas Aggie, were selected at the forward posts without question.

Jim Cooper, the lightweight marvel of Texas Christian, edged into the center spot but Jack Sachse, Texas' fine pivot man, deserved a place on the team so he was shifted to guard. The other guard will be Hamilton James Nichols, jr., 196-pound All-America candidate from Rice.

Bobby Layne, one of the greatest passers in the country and who also could run with the ball with the best in the conference; fleet George Walmsley, the Rice bullet; Norman Cox, Texas Christian's all-around man, and Paul Yates, Texas A&M's top ground-gainer and the conference's leading scorer, make up the backfield.

Second Team Stars

There were three other ends who deserved strong consideration in Merle Gibson, the pass-catching TCU star; Clarence Howell, brilliant Texas Aggie, and Bobby Folsom, freshman standout of Southern Methodist.

John Cooke of Texas Christian turned in a great season at tackle. Jim Meletio of Southern Methodist was one of the better guards. Damon Tassos of Texas A&M and Henry Ford of Arkansas were top guards and Harold Tate of Rice was a dependable center.

Bobby Goff, A&M's great punter; C. D. Allen, Southern Methodist's hard-hitter; Bill Scruggs, workhorse of Rice, and Harold Fischer, who did a fine job at blocking back for Texas got strong consideration for places on the first team.

Leon Pense and Alton Baldwin of Arkansas and Bob Butchofsky and Jim Cashion of A&M were fine backs. Joe Kucera did a great job at Texas Christian but left the team when transferred by the Navy before he could play enough in the title race to be considered for an all-conference job.

Owls Close Season By Beating Pirates

HOUSTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — Jess Neely's Rice Owls and Owlets too — mostly the Owlets — closed up shop for 1944 by outcounting plucky Southwestern university, 18 to 7, this afternoon.

Neely's second stringers came through with two touchdowns in the first quarter. The second stringers had more luck against the Pirates than the first team. J. B. Anderson of Joliet, Ill., scored the first touchdown on a four yard plunge.

Later in the first period, Scruggs intercepted a Pirate pass and passed seven yards to James McBride, Navasota end, in the end zone.

The Pirates touchdown was a faked plunge into the line, and a pass by Freddy Brechtel. The strong armed Brechtel whipped a pass to T. C. Bare, Pirate wingsman, who made a phenomenal catch of the ball over his shoulder for the touchdown.

The razzle dazzle pass, Mason to Anderson to Parrish, was good for 32 yards to set up the final Rice touchdown in the last quarter.

Ponies Trip SWC Champs, 9 To 6

DALLAS, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Southwest Conferene football race ended on a sour note here today as Texas Christian's champion Horned Frogs were toppled 9-6 by lowly Southern Methodist.

The Mustangs, fighting for company in the conference cellar, outplayed the Frogs most of the way and beat them with a second period field goal from the toe of Pete Kotlarich and an end-around touchdown play engineered in the third quarter by brilliant Bobby Folsom.

The Horned Frogs scored on a 77-yard dash by Randy Rogers in the second period.

A crowd of 8,000 turned out for the finale with scouts from Oklahoma A. and M.; Texas Christian's January 1 opponent in the Cotton Bowl, in the stands.

They saw little, however, as the lifeless Frogs staved off repeatedly Methodist drives in the first half, scoring their touchdown with 38 seconds to go on a lateral pass play that followed a Methodist kick-off.

The winning touchdown climaxed a drive that rolled 61 yards with C. D. Allen, Ivan Cunningham and Jimmy Kendrick ripping the Frog line.

Kendrick stepped in for five at left tackle and Cunningham romped through a huge hole in the left side of the Frog line to carry down to the TCU six. Allen jarred left guard for two but Cunningham was held to a foot at the same place. Then Folsom swept wide around left end and crashed over for the score. Kotlarich, who had kicked a field goal and missed another, failed to convert.

Ralph Ruthstrom ran back a low kick from Norman Cox to the Christian 20 late in the second period. Folsom, Cunningham and Ruthstrom swept through the line for a first down on the seven-yard stripe but penalties set the Methodists back. Then Kotlarick stepped to the 22 and booted a field goal.

The crowd figured SMU would be leading at half-time because there were just little more than a half minute to go. But on the kickoff John Hadaway took the ball and lateraled to Rogers who cut down the sidelines and raced 77 yards to a touchdown.

The Methodists had more first downs—16 to 9—and outgained the Frogs 202 yards to 136.

It was mid-way of the first period before either team penetrated the other's territory, the Mustangs driving to the Frog 36 before losing the ball on a fumble. The next Methodist surge which came early in the second quarter reached the Frog 15 but TCU, showing some of the fight that had made it conference champion, threw SMU back for 18 yards in losses and took over.

There followed a brisk punt exchange that ended with Ruthstrom's run to the Frog 20 and the SMU field goal. Then SMU kicked off and Rogers ran to the Frog touchdown.

SMU didn't waste time taking the lead again—this time to stay. The Methodists took the kick-off and staged their touchdown drive.

Oklahoma Wins Over Nebraska, 31 To 12

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 2 (AP)—Stabbing to four touchdowns in the first half and then husking an exploding Nebraska Cornhusker eleven in the second round, the University of Oklahoma rang up its second consecutive Big Six football flag here today 31-12.

The Sooners, performing before 3,000 shivering fans, were impregnable in the first half as they kept Nebraska from touching Oklahoma territory while throwing the Cornhuskers for a minus 11 yards rushing.

However, it was a different story in the second half as the Huskers made up for lost time against the Sooners' second team, recording eight first downs—their total for the game—and bringing up their net yards rushing to 92 against the Sooners' game total of 108. The victory, besides giving Oklahoma its second straight title, is the third time in eighteen years that it has won the crown and the fifth time it has stopped Nebraska in 24 encounters.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—The Austin Maroons, District 15 champions, and McAllen, district 16 champions, will meet in a bi-district playoff at McAllen next Friday, officials of the two schools announced following a conference here today.

Soviet-Landed Tokyo Raiders Get Fine Treatment, Finally 'Escape'

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 — The latest of Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle's Tokyo raiders to be heard from, the five who landed in Russia, "escaped" across one of the world's best-guarded borders, and have returned safely to the United States.

The inside story of their adventure was learned today from an authoritative source. The tale was one of pampered "captives," of prolonged boredom and finally of easy escape.

The five formed the crew of one of the 16 B-25 bombers which hit Tokyo April 18, 1942. This one made a forced landing on the Russian maritime province while the others flew on to China. This crew was interned in the Soviet Union, and left a year later.

Given Country Home

Soon after they first came down without gasoline at an airport near Vladivostok, they turned up in the central Russian town of Penza, between Moscow and Kuibyshev, where they were given a "dacha," or country house.

When the German advance to Stalingrad that summer threatened central Russia, the fliers were moved east to Ohansk.

Admiral Standley visited them Sept. 12, 1942, inspected their quarters and took them for a boat excursion on the Kama, complete with caterers, musicians and an English-speaking hostess.

The fliers had comfortable rooms, plenty of food, servants and an interpreter-guard who taught them Russian.

That winter they transferred to Ashkhabad where, as the Russians put it, they would be warmer and could be "usefully employed." Ashkhabad is on the Soviet-Iranian border, just east of the Caspian Sea.

Drive Across Border

One day they drove across the border in a truck to the Iranian city of Medhed, and never returned.

Soviet officials never drew the attention of the United States embassy to the "escape," and the Americans never mentioned it to the Russians.

The fliers interned in Russia were: Maj. Edward J. York, San Antonio, Tex.; 1st Lt. Robert Gabel Emmens, Medford, Ore.; 2nd Lt. Nolan A. Herndon, Sulphur Springs, Tex.; Sgt. Theodore H. Laban, Kenosha, Wis.; Cpl. David W. Pohl, Wellesley, Mass.

News Briefs

A group of North and South Plains hunters have returned from deer hunting on the Big Ford ranch 20 miles southwest of Brady, in McCulloch county — with two bucks each. And that in spite of bad weather that kept them to their camp part of the time. They were S. B. Summers of route 3 Lubbock; John Neystel of Littlefield; Charlie Adams, Paul Nelson and Louie F. Moore, all of Lubbock, and E. L. (Dinty) Moore of Amarillo. Game was plentiful and fat, they said.

Pfc. Doyce L. Hamblin, husband of Mrs. Reba Hamblin of Amarillo and a former Lubbock resident, was reported by the War department as missing in action in Germany since Nov. 8. He is with the infantry and has been overseas four months. Mrs. Hamblin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Menasco of 1210-B Nineteenth.

Lubbock lodge 609, International Order of Oddfellows, at 8 o'clock Monday night will confer the second degree, of Brotherly Love, at a regular meeting. At the same time, it was announced, officers for the next 6-months "term" will be named. C. C. Jones, recording secretary, asked that every member possible attend.

Four Greek Cabinet Members Resign

ATHENS, Dec. 2 (U.P.)—Four left wing members of the Greek cabinet resigned today on the heels of a warning from British Lt. Gen Ronald Scobie that his Allied troops stood ready to enforce a government order for the demobilization and disarming of all guerrilla forces in the country.

The explosive political situation, precipitated by the refusal of the rival guerrilla factions to surrender their arms, boiled over with the resignation of the four ministers, who announced they were withdrawing to avert bloodshed and in the hope that "real normality" could be restored.

The resigning members were Alexander Svolos, minister of finance, Algelos Angelopoulos, under-secretary of finance, Ilias Tsirimokos, minister of national economy, and Nicholas Askoutis, minister of public works.

Scobie, commander of all Allied forces in Greece, told the Greek people in a radio broadcast last night that he would "stand by" Premier George Papandreou, until a Greek national army can be organized and the nation can hold a free election.

"I will protect you and your government from any attempt at a coup d'etat or any other violent anti-constitutional activity," Scobie declared in a blunt warning to Papandreou's political opposition.

Mexican Officials Watch Investigation

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2. (AP) — The foreign office announced yesterday that it had instructed the Mexican consul in Detroit to keep in close touch with investigations made by state authorities of the killing last October of Jose Davila in Hart, Mich., alleged to have been shot by the sheriff.

The consul in Hart was instructed to ascertain, first of all, if Davila was a Mexican citizen. If this is proven to have been the case, neither efforts nor money will be spared to have the killer punished, the foreign office declared.

Germans Leaving Two Countries

LONDON, Dec. 2. (U.P.)—Danish sources said today that the Germans were withdrawing the bulk of their occupation forces from both Norway and Denmark to reinforce their hard pressed armies on the western and eastern front.

Only sufficient troops absolutely necessary to man fortifications along the Norwegian coast and in Jutland, the mainland portion of Denmark, were being left in the two countries, the Danish press service in Stockholm said.

The report appeared partially borne out by a British Admiralty communique announcing the probable sinking of southward bound, troop-laden German transports off the Norwegian coast Monday. Ten other enemy vessels also were sunk or damaged severely off Norway by the carrier force.

Danish Ships Confiscated

The Danish press service, an organization of Danish newspapermen in exile in Sweden, said the Germans had confiscated a number of Danish ships in an effort to speed the evacuation of their forces from Norway.

Danish patriots repeatedly sabotaged German efforts to sail the vessels, however, the press service reported. Eleven ships were said to have been sunk by patriots recently, eight of them, including two German destroyers and a naval tug, within 24 hours in the Copenhagen naval yard.

Usually well-informed Danes also were quoted as saying that the Germans had ordered the withdrawal of forces from Sjaelland, on which Copenhangen is situated, and the other Danish islands by the end of this month.

Carrier planes of the British home fleet under Admiral Sir Henry R. Moore caught a German convoy consisting of a loaded troop transport, two supply ships and an escorting armed trawler while it was proceeding south between Mosjoen and Rorvik, central Norway, under cover of snow flurries Monday.

Three bomb and numerous cannon hits turned the transports into a blazing pyre that last was seen slowly sinking, the Admiralty said. A large number of German troops were seen struggling in the water or taking to rafts.

The two supply ships and the trawler were set afire and driven ashore. All three could be considered "destroyed," the Admiralty said.

Four railways meet at the Belgian port of Antwerp.

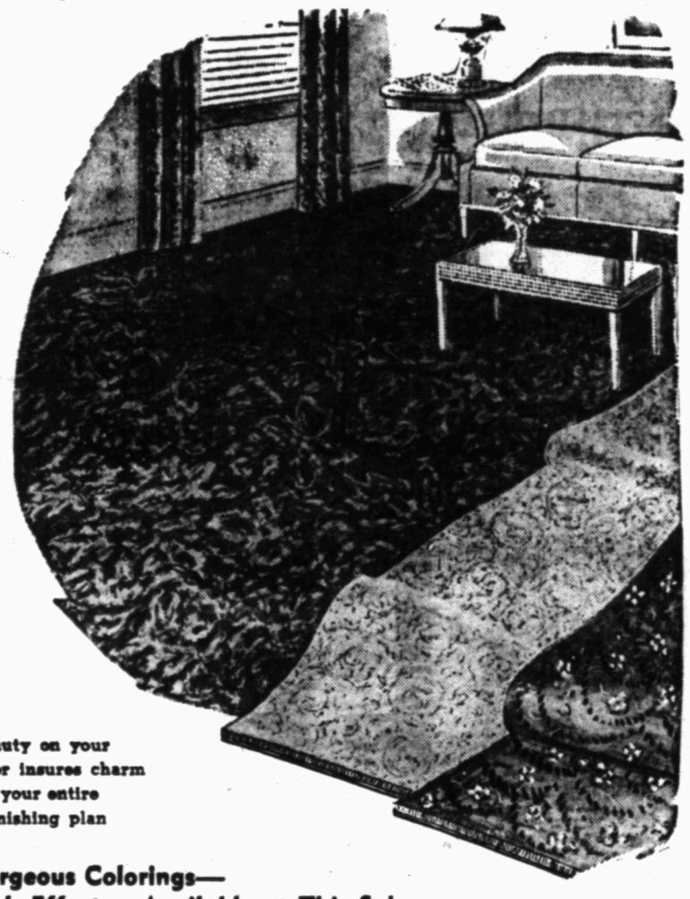

Dr. Holden To Speak On Coronado's Route

The Museum association will present Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the West Texas Museum, in a lecture, "Coronado's Route Across the Staked Plains," 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Museum.

Maps, showing the route taken by the expedition, have been prepared by Dr. Holden to illustrate his speech. Three writers have attempted to trace Coronado's route in 1541 and none agree as to the territory covered. Popular legend has had him passing through practically every town from Coleman to Trinidad, Dr. Holden said.

From a description of five narrators accompanying the expedition, Dr. Holden has carefully gone over the ground, checking the directions, distances, landmarks, topographical descriptions, and Indian sites. He says he believes part of the route can be traced with considerable accuracy and the remainder can only be approximately indicated.

Yanks Slash On Into Germany

the east bank of the Saar river in a potential outflanking threat to Saarbrucken.

In this area, the Germans launched two of the fiercest counterattacks yet made in the current offensive, using 40 to 50 tanks. Fighter bombers came to the aid of the doughboys, knocking out at least six tanks and the attacks were repulsed.

These attacks, however, did permit the Germans to reenter Mackwiller, according to field dispatches.

To the north, at the edge of the Cologne plain, gains of yards were bought at a high cost of American blood in the giant battle of attrition that was entering its 16th day.

Ninth Pulls Up To Roer

(The U. S. Ninth Army occupied Linnich up to the river Roer tonight and has captured Leifarth between Beeck and Lindern, a late field dispatch said tonight.)

Thus, virtually the entire Ninth Army stood on the west bank of the Roer after recapturing two towns lost yesterday. Fighting continued in Beeck, to the west, and before Lindern, now in American hands.

The U. S. First Army tried to break across the Inde river after subjugating all but one pocket in that part of Inden lying on the west bank, but was fought to a standstill in terrific artillery fire that saw shells bursting on American positions at the rate of one a second.

In that vital sector six miles northwest of the Roer stronghold of Duren, the Germans were reported to have trenches so wide and deep that enemy tanks moved through them without being observed—something new in trench warfare.

Heavy Artillery Fire

Both sides were pouring on the heaviest artillery fire since the onset of Gen. Eisenhower's winter offensive.

A British Second Army spokesman declared the Germans were suffering terrific casualties, greater than they could replace, all along the Western front and unofficial estimates from the First Army sector set total enemy casualties there alone at nearly 30,000 since Nov. 16.

The Third Army drive through Saarlautern carried almost to the Saar river.

Most of Saarlautern, a city of 32,000 lies on the west bank of the river. It was the first of Hitler's Saar basin cities to feel the weight of the conquering armies.

Infantry of the 95th division moved in from the west with armored tank destroyers in close support. The Germans made few death stands.

To the southeast, the 80th Infantry division beat off repeated counterattacks eight to nine miles west of the main Saar city of Saarbrucken.

Bridgehead Collapses

The German bridgehead at Strasbourg collapsed quickly after the bulk of the enemy forces withdrew across the Rhine during the night, and only 37 prisoners were taken.

The Germans blew all three Rhine bridges at Strasbourg, and continued to pour artillery fire into the city.

Meanwhile, the Seventh was registering important gains both north and south of Strasbourg, as Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch exploited his advantageous positions on the Rhine plain.

While some of his troops fought into Haguenau, 16 miles north of Strasbourg, other forces swept 10 miles to the northwest across the hills to within ten miles of the Palatinate.

Armored units spearing southward down the Rhine valley in gains of up to four miles reached Boofzheim and Kogenheim, 16 and 19 miles south of Strasbourg.

30 Miles From French

The Seventh's tanks there were no more than 30 miles from the First French Army moving up from the south around Colmar.

In between them, other American and French forces spilling out of the Vosges mountains were consolidating positions within two miles of the road junction of Selestat.

The U. S. Ninth Army, rebounding from yesterday's reverses, recaptured Roerdorf and Flossdorf and then fought on north in Linnich, where bitter house-to-house fighting was in progress.

Ten miles south of that front, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army troops battled to wipe out a strong pocket in the south part of Inden and were dealing with entrenched forces south of the town.

Four miles west of Duren, they were clearing more of the woods in an advance from Jungersdorf toward Merode. Stubborn resistance made progress slow for units closing in on Gey and Brandenberg, four and seven miles south of Duren.

In the Gey sector the Germans threw in two counterattacks, summoning crack parachute troops for the attack, and one made a deep penetration before it was contained.

Restraining Orders Issued Against Eight Butane Gas Dealers

AUSTIN, Dec. 2. (U.P.)—Judge J. Harris Gardner of the 53rd district court today issued temporary restraining orders against eight East Texas butane gas dealers.

On application filed by Asst. Atty. Gen. Bob Lattimore and asked by the Texas Railroad commission, the orders prohibit putting butane gas into tanks not approved in accord with statutes and railroad commission regulations.

Hearing Set For Dec. 9

Named in the orders were: P. W. Morris, Luther J. Railey, C. A. Green and W. C. Smith, all of Tyler; Lee Wright, Chandler; Claude Williamson, Longview; E. D. Lockney, jr., Troup, and Hugh N. Wood, Bronson.

Judge Gardner set hearings Dec. 9 to determine if temporary injunctions should be issued.

Railroad Commission Chairman Beauford Jester said the attorney general soon would file applications for other temporary restraining orders.

Investigations Made

Jester said commission inspectors and state highway patrolmen were making investigations on hazardous conditions of butane systems in all parts of the state.

In consistency on the part of the War Production board in granting applications to purchase butane systems has caused some irregularities in types of butane tanks offered for sale, Jester charged. He said some changes in the Texas law were needed to "cope with the situation during remainder of the time that control of the butane gas industry is held in Washington."

WPB To Get Tough In Manpower Demands

DALLAS, Dec. 2. (AP) — Demands for increased ordnance production which call for 34,000 new workers in the Dallas region within the next sixty days, will be met by a two-fisted War Production board policy that hits at reconversion, George L. Noble jr., regional director, said today.

Following a national policy set Friday, Noble announced that all applications for reconversion in this region will be carefully surveyed to avoid even a threat at interference with the war effort.

Noble said the region's labor shortages are greatest in New Orleans, where heavy shipbuilding and plane production is underway; Shreveport, carrying heavy shell and ordnance contracts; Fort Worth, making aircraft and shells; and Amarillo and the Panhandle, where high octane gas, synthetic rubber, carbon black and zinc are being produced.

Nubbins Decides To Share His New Toys

DENVER, Dec. 2 (AP)—It seemed like a lot of toys for one little boy, so Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman, who celebrated Christmas two weeks ago, told his parents he would like to give some of his 200-odd presents to other children.

The gifts were sent from all over the United States to the three-year-old Cheyenne, Wyo., lad, after a doctor told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hoffman, that Nubbins, suffering a serious bladder ailment, might not live until Christmas.

Five boxes packed full of toys were taken today to St. Vincent's home for orphan boys. One box was opened and the toys distributed for play now, while four others were put away until Dec. 25.

There is a chance now that Nubbins, too, will be able to enjoy another Christmas. A Denver specialist who took over the case when Nubbins was brought to Mercy hospital here said today the boy has improved so much that an operation may be performed early next week.

A hospital attendant said Nubbins was feeling fine today except for a slight cold.

A little further along, help will be needed in preparing the packages. Volunteers will be called for at that time. On Christmas day, more volunteers will be needed to distribute the packages to the children.

This is the tenth Christmas that the Goodfellows have been on the job in Lubbock. During that time they have played Santa Claus to around 32,000 boys and girls. Not once during those years have the generous people of Lubbock failed to over-subscribe a Goodfellow fund.

Contributions will be received at The Avalanche-Journal office, 1211-13 Texas avenue. Or they may be mailed to the Chief Goodfellow, whose identity is secret, P. O. Box 561.

The Chief Goodfellow urges that you send your donation—anything from 25 cents up—at once.

Big Airport Program Proposed For Texas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP) — A billion-dollar postwar program of airport construction and improvement, including $120,923,152 for such work in Texas, has been recommended to Congress by the Civil Aeronautics administration.

The CAA proposes building 3,050 new airports and improving 1,625 existing fields—including clearing, grading, paving, lighting and radio facilities.

Financing of the undertaking by the federal and state governments on a matching funds basis over a period of five to 10 years is proposed.

The program involves five classes of airports: Class 1, designed primarily for private flying; class 2, suitable for feeder airlines and private flying; class 3, suitable for present-day twin-engine planes; class 4, suitable for four-engine and other large planes and class 5, designed for long-range domestic and foreign operations.

Trouble In Bermuda Blamed On Sailors

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 2. (AP) — Rear Admiral Frank A. Braisted today canceled shore leave after 6 p. m. for all enlisted men of the U. S. Navy in Bermuda.

His order was published shortly after Morris A. Gibbons had criticized the "behavior and lawlessness of certain men of the U. S. Navy" in a speech in the Bermuda house of assembly.

Gibbons said that Navy men had been responsible for a series of recent crimes in which women had been attacked, men dragged from bicycles and an elderly couple driven from their home. He recommended that the sailors be denied shore leave at night.

The order issued by Admiral Braisted also prohibits drinking on public streets and provides stringent punishment for violation. Drinking on the street has been illegal in Bermuda for years.

Morton Methodists Open New Building

Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintendent of the Methodist church, will speak today at the opening service in a new and commodious church just completed by the congregation at Morton.

The building, replacing one which burned several months ago, was erected under the pastorate of Rev. W. B. Swim, and cost approximately $25,000.

After preaching and holding quarterly conference at Levelland this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Mr. Lipscomb will speak at 7:30 tonight at Wolffarth, where plans will be discussed for a building program, either taking the form of a new building or enlargment of the present structure which has been declared inadequate for needs.

HOUSTON MAN INJURED

HOUSTON, Dec. 2. (U.P.)—Boyd E. Cooper, 41, was in critical condition in a Houston hospital today following a restaurant fight in which he was struck with a beer bottle.

Hospital attendants said Cooper was near death from the blows.

Stettinius Seeks To Consolidate Agencies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — Secretary of State Stettinius is working on plans to bring the Foreign Economic and Latin American war agencies into the State department.

Incorporation of the office of Foreign Economic Affairs into the department, has been urged by Leo T. Crowley, FEA administrator. Wilder Foote, chief of the FEA information division is scheduled to come to the department as a special assistant to Stettinius.

Following an order by President Roosevelt, the FEA already has begun tapering off some of its activities in the European theater and is concentrating on the Pacific.

It was established as a separate organization last year partly because it was believed it could handle expanding problems more efficiently and partly because former Secretary of State Hull opposed increasing departmental personnel.

The only appointment on which Stettinius has definitely decided in the possible expansion is that of Will Clayton, former surplus property administrator.

Clayton is slated for one of the two new jobs as assistant secretary provided for in a House-approved bill now before the Senate.

There is a possibility that if the bill is passed Nelson Rockefeller, coordinator of Inter-American affairs, will receive the other post as assistant secretary.

Benny Silent About Petrillo's Threat

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (U.P.) — Comedian Jack Benny, unlike his voluble screen and radio self, had nothing to say today about the threat of James Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians to keep his regular Sunday program off the NBC network.

Instead, Benny seemed inclined to wait and see just which way the wind was blowing.

But local NBC officials said the "show would go on" despite the AFM announcement that it would put the wraps on it because of a dispute over non-union engineers employed by the studio.

The network spokesmen said they based their announcement on information from the New York office that new action had been taken.

Local AFM President Spike Wallace said he didn't know anything about that, but he guessed somebody had gotten together with somebody in the East.

Earlier he had said no deadline for settlement of the dispute had been set by his union.

Mist And Fog Grip South Plains Area

A heavy mist and fog enveloped the South Plains Saturday night as temperatures hovered in the thirties.

The same conditions were prevalent in most of the Panhandle and West Texas, Santa Fe's dispatcher at Slaton reported.

The same kind of weather is in prospect for today, with cloudiness and occasional rains forecast. Monday is expected to be partly cloudy and warmer.

Saturday's low temperature was 30 degrees.

Warning Issued On Preparation Of Pork

AUSTIN, Dec. 2. (AP) — The state department of health issued a warning today against the eating of rare or raw pork.

Unless all pork is thoroughly cooked, the parasite "trichinella spiralis" present in the meat of two per cent of all hogs, may not be killed.

This parasite, when present in raw or undercooked infected pork, survives digestive juices and passes through the blood stream to become imbedded in the muscles.

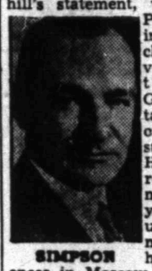

For the week ending Nov. 25, the health department noted a rise in all types of communicable disease on a comparative 7-year median basis.

War Uncertainty Still Paramount

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The war in Europe has turned into the December year-end stretch with no certainty as to just when it will end.

Military observers still were puzzled by Prime Minister Churchill's statement, volunteered to Parliament during the week, changing his previous estimate that organized German resistance would be over by "early summer," 1945. He amended it to read just "summer" of next year. Since his unamplified remark followed his recent conferences in Moscow with Premier Stalin, speculation arose as to whether it flowed out of knowledge gained then as to when, where and how Russia would be ready to strike for Berlin from the east.

SIMPSON

Authoritative Russian comment shared the Allied view, reflected from both sides of the Atlantic, that the battle scene in Europe seemed even now substantially set for the final two-way squeeze upon the foe. A Russian embassy information bulletin issued in Washington said "a vigorous assault by armies of the United Nations to crush Hitler Germany with the shortest delay" was all that was needed.

In the west the main Allied attack was still to come although the upper Rhine, the Saar and the Roer had been reached in preliminary moves of the winter campaign to drive the foe behind the Rhine for his last stand. In the east, similar preliminary Russian moves had made even more marked progress by the week end. A considerable segment of the Nazi forces in the east was trapped on the Baltic flank. In the southeast the Danube below Warsaw had been crossed on a wide front by the Russians and the foe also was being squeezed out of eastern Slovakia; but the most critical front in Poland still was dormant.

ONE DIES IN WRECK

DALLAS, Dec. 2 (AP)—Jefferson Edward Pace, 31, of Vickery was fatally injured when his car was in collision with a six-wheel trailer-truck on a highway north of here last night. Pace, alone in the car, was pinned in the wreckage.

News Briefs

A piece of pecan hull was removed from a lung of 2-year-old Jim Carter Davis of Plainview Saturday night in St. Mary's hospital, attendants said. The youngster, who was reported resting well late last night, is the son of Capt. and Mrs. Jim Davis. Captain Davis is stationed in the South Pacific.

D. Boon, 49-year-old Lubbock man, late Saturday pleaded guilty to a charge of liquor possession and was assessed a fine of $500 and costs by County Judge G. V. Pardue, the sheriff's office announced. Boon was arrested by county officers. Boon paid the assessment.

An 18-year-old Lubbock youth who in the last year has been hailed into local courts three times, Saturday admitted burglary several weeks ago of Police Patrolman Ralph Goldwater's residence at 1513 Ave. L, it was announced by Police Capt. Bill Bell. The youth was being questioned in connection with several other recent house burglaries here. Approximately $30 was taken at the Goldwater residence. At the recent session of federal court here, the youth was placed on probation for three years after pleading guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen car in interstate commerce. Police said that at the time of his appearance in federal court the youth was under a two-year suspended sentence assesed in juvenile court here for car theft. Earlier he had been charged with malicious mischief, growing out of his taking a car not his own and driving it "several blocks."

A 38-year-old Lubbock man was held by police Saturday night for transfer to county authorities to face a possible charge of drunken driving. The man was arrested Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Charles Lackey after his car crashed into the rear of another car stopped for a red light on a downtown street.

Theft of "four or five" sheets of gasoline rationing stamps from a service station at 1419 Ave. K was reported to police Saturday by R. B. Ramsey.

Mrs. Hubert Key, 28, of 3014 Ave. N, suffered a cut on the face, bruises and shock in an automobile collision at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Ave. N and Twenty-seventh, police said. Mrs. Key, driver of one of the two cars, was treated at West Texas hospital but was not admitted, hospital attendants said. Traffic Officer Bill Lamb said Mrs. Key's car was hit in the side by one driven by W. P. Gillit, 36, of Wolffarth. Lamb said the impact swung Mrs. Key's car into a half circle, its rear striking and damaging a light pole at the intersection.

Jamboree Sells $55,750 In Bonds

Hampered by an icy rain which cut attendance to an estimated 125 people, the GI Bond Jamboree added $55,750 to the war bond total for this county in its performance at the Senior High school Saturday night.

Featured on the program were speeches by four veterans of the present war: Pfc. Richard J. McCarthy of Albion, N. Y.; S/Sgt. Normand O. Wright of Orleans, Mich.; S/Sgt. Clyde Mayo of Nevada, Tex.; and Sgt. Howard Baker of Archer City, Tex. The veterans were introduced by Marvin H. Brown, district attorney of Tarrant county.

Crack Drill Team

Other acts on the program, all from LAAF, were the crack drill team from section I, "Three Hits and a Miss," a tumbling team, and music by the 714th AAF band, directed by Chief W/O Ashley Miller.

Pat Murphree of Brownwood, manager of the war bond unit, said in the 14 days of the tour more than $16,000,000 in bonds were bought or pledged. He also stated that this unit is one of the best in the state, and that all members worked and co-operated to the fullest extent.

where the Chinese said enemy units had been thrown back.

Inside Burma, American-trained Chinese soldiers tightened their grip on Bhamo. The 1,000 Japanese troops encircled there face annihilation. They are being blasted by artillery. To the west the Nipponese continued their retreat southward in the direction of Mandalay and Rangoon. Allied airmen struck heavily against troops and vehicles along badly congested roads.

SUGARS LEAD ACTIVE SESSION

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Strength of rails and selected industrials, notably sugars, today enabled the stock market to emerge from a generally satisfactory week with irregularly higher trends on the best volume for a short session in about six months.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 55.8 where it was only .6 under the 7-year top of July. The rail average added .3 of a point at 30.5, highest mark since Dec. 31, 1937. Of 766 issues reistering—broad for Saturday—363 were up against 403 down or unchanged. Transfers of 705,650 shares compared with 358,050 last Saturday and were largest for a two-hour session since July 22.

In the "new high" class on the day were South Porto Rico Sugar, American Sugar, Manati Sugar, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Westinghouse and U. S. Realty.

Railway bonds maintained popularity. Ahead in the curb were U. S. Graphite, Noma Electric, Wichita Oil and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. The aggregate here was 149,645 shares versus 113,365 a week ago.

Earlier Christmas Buying Putting Increasing Demand On Merchants

Calculated earlier Christmas buying generally is reported by merchants who, worried as usual by inability to get satisfactory promises of merchandise deliveries, already are beginning to feel the pinch of insufficient goods and the increasing press of demand from ranks of consumers who having plenty of talking money.

Postal urging that Christmas mailing be much earlier than ever before is attributed by business men as one of the main spurs of early buying; together with economics resulting from fewer goods and greater demand, and more money in the customers' jeans.

Wrapping Department Taxed

The effect on mailing and layaway volume is "something tremendous," it was agreed, and both postal and store personnel continue to be faced with "unsual problems."

"Scarcity of items and realization that selection will be increasingly difficult have lent inevitable sharpness to buying," the manager of a large department store said. "Our wrapping department is taxed to the hilt, and there is no relief in sight."

Quality of goods has deteriorated to some extent, he said, "and the amount definitely is less; the situation in staple goods is tighter."

Buying Earlier Than Usual

Another department store manager analyzed the buying wave and the general picture of supply vs. demand thus:

"A steady buying wave that is much earlier than usual is indicating choice of better, higher-priced merchandise. It appears that toys will be exhausted far ahead of the holiday season's close and their supply will become critical. I was in a Fifth Avenue toy house the other day and was impressed with the near-emptiness of the four-story building which is the largest exclusively toy retail shop in New York City. Dolls especially are scarce.

Shortages Are Listed

"Merchandise, with the exceptions that trace to scarcity of labor in some types of factories, may be slightly improved in quality—that is, as compared with price a year ago. Footwear perhaps has deteriorated more the last six months than any other goods. There will be a definite shortage in sheer stockings, men's bedroom slippers, men's robes and men's dress gloves; 45-and 51-thread sheer hose will be almost impossible to buy very much longer, it seems."

Merchants noted a "rather freakish" disposition of the city purchaser.

Shopping On Fridays

"Lubbock shoppers are beginning to do much of their shopping on Fridays, not wait for the traditional Saturdays," one department store manager said. "That is a welcome relief, even though the practice hasn't become as general as we'd like to see it, to our facilities to serve. It lets the rural buyers, who come in great numbers, have the Saturdays — and they alone swamp us."

"The public generally is more patient than ever before. Three or four years ago we'd have been run out of town if we had given such service as we're now offering, try as we do to keep it up to tradition."

Soldier 'Loses' His Wife On Trip Home; He's In Doghouse

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 2. (AP) —That old doghouse had a new occupant today—Pvt. Hunter F. Crisler, 27, stationed at Amarillo, Tex.

On his first furlough in 18 months, and en route to his home in Jackson, Miss., Crisler—of all things—lost his wife.

The private and Mrs. Crisler left Dallas by automobile around noon yesterday, and stopped for gas at Mineola, Tex.

Mrs. Crisler had felt ill, and had been lying in the back of the car, covered with a blanket.

While the automobile was being serviced she went to a rest room. That's right, Crisler got in the car and drove off.

About 100 miles later, as he drove across the Red river traffic bridge in Shreveport, Crisler discovered the Missus missing.

"Boy, I almost wrecked that car," he told officers.

Frantically he appealed to local police, and a telephone call to Mineola established that Mrs. Crisler had caught a bus and was in pursuit of Pvt. Crisler.

Back along the route sped Crisler, and at Longview, Tex., he found his wife.

"Just shows how excited I was in getting to go home," said Crisler. And as an afterthought he added: "Everything happens to me."

Today the Crislers were en route to Jackson. Crisler wasn't saying much, and right next to him in the front seat sat Mrs. Crisler.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL

Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, December 3, 1944

Misses Reid, Ruth Anthony and Fisher are sophomores; Misses Burns, Cloninger and Virginia Anthony, freshmen and Misses Cade and Bizzell, juniors. Mr. Selznick and his staff made the selections after viewing Technicolor films of the girls, each of whom was allotted three feet of film. In a telegram announcing the choices and sent to Merrilyn Snider, La Ventana editor, Mr. Selznick said "Once more it has been proved there is more beauty in a mile of Texas than in the whole length of Hollywood boulevard." He added "Seeing these girls makes me wish I were 20 years younger and a Tech student."

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

CERTAIN persons are always worrying over why certain other persons associate, whether it be in the business world, the social circles or at church. We have heard of a delightful reply to give to the next one who voices such an inquiry: If it doesn't bother them, why should it bother you?"

SCATTERINGS

IF you are mailing cookies to someone you might like to learn it has been found they keep well if packed amid corn flakes. . . . China's new finance minister is O. K. Yui . . . The area of U. S. S. R. is about two and one-half times larger than that of continental U. S. . . . To the complaint that early workers grab cigarettes that are put out at drug store and cafe counters in the morning, someone replied they should have some compensation for rising before the sun and going to work . . . Cpl. Ivah M. Knight of Lubbock is included in the WACs who have enjoyed the operas in Royal Opera House in Rome . . . It occurs to us if we saw to it that children, shutins and the needy were remembered this Christmas, we might forego a little giving and getting among ourselves until happier days.

Two soldiers passing through Lubbock on the train the other day asked Mrs. M. C. Goodpasture, a member of the Wives of Officers Overseas, to get in touch with two young Lubbock women. She had brief conversations with them while distributing magazines. The men were Jimmy Alford, inquiring about his sister, Grace Alford, and Tommy Baxter, who sent a message to Mary Alice Agee. If the young women will telephone Mrs. Goodpasture she will relay the words . . . Our idea of a handsome working pair: Jason O. Gordon, county agent, and Manuel W. HOW many minutes should business employes take for time out for a cup of coffee? A junior clerk in the city controller's office in Houston was fired because she took 20 minutes for a cup when only 10 minutes are allowed for such. In justification for her tardiness, the employee said she had a hard time getting waited on, that the elevators were slow and she couldn't make it in 10 minutes . . . Do you know what the German abbreviations Oflag and Stalag mean? Oflag—Offiziershager, a prison camp for officers; Stalag—Stammflager, a prison camp for enlisted men. The abbreviations are to be used in writing to prisoners.

COL. KIGHT—The current "National Geographic" carries an article, "New Road to Asia," which is illustrated with pictures of Col. Richard T. Kight, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kight of Lubbock. One picture is of the pilot in the cockpit of a C-54 transport plane which bears insignia of a polar bear painted by the Russian flier who with Col. Kight plans to open the Polar Bear Alaskan-Siberian airline after the war. Col. Kight gained national prominence when he flew the late Wendell Willkie on his world-girdling tour and later flew Vice-President Wallace to China . . . Lubbock Girl Scout workers are trying to get a piano which will be placed in the Little House. They have thought it is possible someone has an instrument she will give them or else has one she would be willing to sell at a reasonable price. If such a person is interested she is invited to telephone either Mrs. Marlin R. Smith or Mrs. J. O. Morgan.

IT'S interesting to watch high school youngsters follow in the footsteps of their fathers. Harold Wall, who has even gone so far as to take over his father's nickname of "Stony," plans to continue a football career when he goes to college. Last two games the Westerners played were a bit hard on Harold, however, who got half a front tooth knocked out in the Brownfield game and a terrific blow to his nose in the Borger game . . . Francys Peters, pretty as a picture and lovingly called "Button" by her classmates, likes to take pictures almost as much as does her father, M. F. Peters, who is about the best shutter bug in these parts . . . There isn't a more beautiful complexion in Lubbock than Jean McKenzie's. She is a high school student.

WORTHY GRAND MATRON—Cover page of the November copy of Texas Eastern Star is a picture of Mrs. Lillian Barnard, worthy grand matron of the grand chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star, and her five daughters, Marie, Pauline, Wanda, Ruth and Aleta. The pictures are arranged in star shape with the mother's picture in the center and her daughters' pictures on each of five points . . . Mrs. Barnard says her family is her hobby . . . Her favorite diversion is fishing and it's said she has some rather unusual fish stories . . . Although her favorite color is blue, Mrs. Barnard wears all colors and will feature them this year in the OES . . . Her theme for the organization this year is "Freedom" and her motto, "Ye Shall Know the Truth and The Truth Shall Make You Free." . . . Friends say Mrs. Barnard's greatest charm lies in her sympathetic understanding and the freedom she enjoys by merely being herself, happy and content with her work and her friends.

For the benefit of those of you who perhaps have never been in the Decorators Studio we thought perhaps you might like to know what you may find there. Small rugs on hand and carpets can be ordered. Draperies, lamps, pictures and accessories to make the home more attractive as well as comfortable. Gifts for men, such as desk sets, waste baskets, paper weights, bottles, cigarette lighters, ash trays, cigarette boxes, game sets and metal boxes for the men in the service, offer a large variety to choose from. There is a large stock of beautiful old silver hollow ware including many silver services. You will find several services of sterling flat ware ready to be wrapped to put on the Christmas tree for the wife. And don't forget they have china—Wedgwood, Spode and Franciscan in bone and earthenware. Pottery is available in unusual combination that only the Studio can give you. Many pieces of furniture are still offered—tables in light and dark Mahogany, chests in leather and decorated wood, and attractive sideboard in mahogany with mirror trim and a smoke stand by Peter Hunt. The game room can be well supplied in the way of all kinds of glasses, trays, bars and accessory pieces. You will find gifts for the hostess who entertains informally in the way of charcoal burners, outdoor barbecue sets and large pottery serving pieces. Lovely old Bristols and figurines for the mantel that perhaps you have needed to complete your room. I could go on and on and possibly tell you about things the girls themselves have forgotten they have.

Pinch-hitting during the Christmas rush at the Studio is Jean Smith who is really up and doing. Ruth Ross has taken over the packages and is doing a good job wrapping and keeping them straight.

So long,
Grandpa Nosey,

LHS Juniors, Seniors Favor Lowering Voting Age To 18

In a student opinion poll taken Nov. 27 in Lubbock Senior High school, 58 per cent of those voting agreed that the legal voting age should be lowered to 18. Forty per cent said it should not, while two per cent voiced no opinion.

The poll, which is sponsored by the Scholastic magazine, is open to only juniors and seniors and was the second of the opinion polls conducted here this year.

According to Mrs. Dick Cozby, faculty adviser, 468 votes were cast in this poll.

Frown On Political Careers

Another question asked was, "If you were to prepare a list of possible careers for yourself, would you include a career in politics (running for public office or seeking an appointment to a public office)?" To this question, 79 per cent voted "no." About 10 per cent were undecided.

The third question was optional, asking if the average school student considered their government with admiration or distrust. Forty-eight per cent believed that as a whole the men an dwomen in politics have integrity, ability, and good character as high as those in any other profession. Only six per cent thought the government to be distrustful.

Some of the opinions voiced by students were: "Voted 'no' to 'Do you think the voting age should be lowered to 18?' I don't think I could vote intelligently when I am 18 and, therefore, I'd vote as my parents vote and that wouldn't be fair to candidates." — Jackie Mueller, junior.

Intelligent Voting Doubted

"Because the majority of the people wouldn't know enough about it and would have more experience at 21, I voted 'no' to the question.—Billie Hutchings, junior.

"Voted 'no' because I don't think anyone would have sense enough to vote at 18 and they would be easily influenced." — Wanda Muller, senior.

"Voted 'no' because I believe that a person is developed more mentally and by that time (21) knows more about political affairs."—Joe Arrington, president of the senior class.

Don't Have Enough Experience

"Voted 'no' because we have plenty of time after we are 21 and I don't think a person has enough experience at 18. Watch elections between now and when yo uare 21, then vote." — Billy Slagle, senior class vice president.

"Voted 'no' because people 18, 19 and 20 are in college and are too easily influenced."—Fred McDonald, senior class vice president.

"Voted 'yes' because I think if a person will die for his country at 18, he should be allowed to vote."—Rue Copeland, senior.

"Voted 'yes' because if you take a boy of 18 and make him go into the armed forces he should be able to vote."—Lois Thompson, senior.

Lubbock Methodists To Aid Relief Fund

Methodists of Lubbock will take part in a crusade to raise $25,000,000 for world relief and reconstruction, of which the First Methodist church of this city is to contribute $7,800.

The fund will be used to feed, clothe, and rebuild the war-devastated areas of the world.

There will be a meeting in Amarillo on Dec. 18 and 19 for the purpose of informing leaders of the local churches of their part in the undertaking. Dr. Roy L. Smith will be the speaker.

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, also announced that Dr. Smith will speak here Dec. 17.

Money Exchange Is GI Gripe In France

PARIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—International finance is a pain in the pocketbook to American soldiers and their gripes reached the ears today of the 17 touring members of the U. S. House military affairs committee.

"The GI's $50 a month doesn't go far here because of the tremendous differential between the American and French exchange rate," said Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ). "Certainly both governments should get together soon on the situation because it is operating against our boys."

Rep. Ivor Fenton (R-Pa) asserted it "was ridiculous" that the Americans had to pay so much.

It is estimated that the Americans are paying five times as much as pre-war normal because of the exchange rate—50 francs to the dollar—but the difficulty was caused experts said, by the Germans, not the French. The Germans undermined the value of the franc by printing huge quantities of money during the occupation.

The artificial exchange rate has long ranked with the cigaret shortage among the GI's gripes, with some of them believing the rate was rigged deliberately against them.

Austin Man To Speak At Tech Services

Rev. Harte will speak at an all college convocation at 10 o'clock Monday morning in Tech gymnasium, and each evening at 7 o'clock in the auditorium of the First Christian church at Broadway and Ave. X.

Influenza Reported In 100 Texas Counties

AUSTIN, Dec. 2. (U.P.)—Influenza was reported in more than 100 counties of Texas today by the state health department. Total cases reported for the week numbered 837 compared with a seven-year median of 539 for this period of the year.

Wide scattering of the cases was shown in the department's weekly morbidity chart. Gillespie county in the hill country of central Texas led counties with 40 cases reported. Grayson county in North Texas had 16; Travis county in central Texas, 23; Webb county bordering on the Rio Grande had 21; Jasper county in East Texas had 22 as did Parker county. Extreme West Texas and the Panhandle seemed free from the attacks and strangely enough the major cities of the state seemed to have escaped.

Dysentery showed highest prevalence over the usual with 614 cases reported for the week compared with a seven-year medium of 39.

With winter hog-killing season coming, the Health department issued a warning against rare or raw pork. "Heat must be allowed to penetrate pork roast until the meat is whittened," said the warning.

Labor Shortage Slows Ft. Worth Plants

FORT WORTH, Dec. 2. (U.P.) — Insufficient labor is preventing Fort Worth's 13 war plants from maintaining production schedules, area war manpower director James R. Ellis said today.

Ellis said the labor shortage was caused by employers in Fort Worth and nearby small towns hiring workers away from their war jobs.

"I am asking parents of boys in service from these smaller towns to use their influence in keeping war workers on the jobs where they are most needed," Ellis said.

"This tremendous turnover will have to be stopped at the source," he added, "and this can be done only through the employers. If they won't hire workers away from war jobs, workers won't quit those jobs."

Sailor Tells Of Attack On Hall

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2. (AP)—The prosecution finally has found somebody who claims to know what happened in that Hollywood apartment brawl last Aug. 5 when Movie Actor Jon Hall almost lost the end of his nose.

Antonio Icaza, a swarthy, Panamanian sailor and actor, claims the the trombone blowing Tommy, incensed at Hall putting his arm around Mrs. Dorsey, picked up a bottle and bashed it across big Jon's face.

"Where did he get the bottle?" asked Edwin Myers, who is prosecuting Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey and their friend Allen Smiley on charges of felonious assault.

"Bottles All Over Place"

That must have sounded like a naive question to Icaza, who sports a very black, closely cropped moustache.

"Why there were bottles all over the place," replied Icaza.

The way Tony tells it, everybody but himself at the party, staged in celebration of Mrs. Dorsey's 26th birthday, had consumed too much liquor.

Myers asked the witness to tell who was drunk. He did. He said Dorsey, Mrs. Dorsey, Smiley, night club singer Jane Churchill, Actor Eddie Norris, "and some fellow who looked like a refugee" all had been hitting the bottles pretty hard and often.

Miss Churchill and Hall, who had preceded Icaza on the stand, hadn't noticed anybody drunk.

Tony said Dorsey took a dislike to several persons sitting on and nearby a sofa with Mrs. Dorsey, and told all to "get the hell out of here, you so-and-sos."

"And then," continued Icaza, "Mr. Dorsey, he say: 'Look at their silly faces.' And he laugh, 'Ha, ha, ha! like that."

Icaza was still in the witness chair when court adjourned until Monday.

Tony brought a $40,000 damages suit against Dorsey the day after the fight, claiming he was injured. When Dorsey got his notice he exclaimed: "Who is this Icaza?"

Well, Tony is one of the reasons the trial is on. Hall wanted to forgive and forget. Not Tony. He came all the way from Panama to tell his story.

No Shortage Seen In Protein Feeds

AUSTIN, Dec. 2. (AP)—No repetition of last year's shortage of concentrated protein feeds for livestock is expected by Grover C. Hill, assistant secretary of agriculture.

Hill, here to visit E. O. Thompson of the Railroad commission, said he believed the plan under which each mill must set aside 20 per cent of such proteins for cattlemen and dairymen, will prevent recurrence of the experience.

Hill, formerly of Amarillo, planned to spend several days here. He speaks at a meeting of sheep men at San Angelo Dec. 5.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: With football season closed at Texas Tech, college dances move into the limelight of students life. Las Vivarachas club entertained with one of the fastest moving dances given this season. The large number of stags made the place really jump . . . Centaur club gave a clever Li'l Abner dance Friday and everyone was having a wonderful time dressed in Dog Patch style. Linda Beth Stokes came from Littlefield to go with Richard Gibson and Beverly Grafa was Jack Waldrop's date to the Centaur hop. However, Beverly and Clyde Black seem to be an ideal "taffy" case . . . The main attraction at the "Club Scarlet" dance given by Theta Sigma Phi Saturday night was Hugette McKnight's Egyptian dance during the floor show. She wore the usual Egyptian costume, too.

Both Kenneth "Scrappy" Hodge and Martha Hughes claim they do not have the "taffy." But a date almost every night for over two months certainly amounts up . . . Ivan Tucker gave an impression of being very impressed with Jeanne Roco at the Vivi dance. Bill Kennedy, her date, didn't like the idea of Ivan being quite so persistent . . . Buddy Boles, Homer Lawson and Clifton "Larry" Riek make a goodlooking trio . . . J. A. Blackwell, former star Westerner, has been visiting friends and relatives. He was seen with Dorothy Daniels. . . . Billie Grace Webb and Pvt. Teddy Waldrip, who is stationed in Amarillo, make an attractive couple . . . May Bonner is planning to spend Christmas with her special boyfriend, stationed in San Angelo. Likewise, with Charlene Taylor, who is planning a visit with Cpl. Harry Runyan in Denver, Colo. . . . Lucky A/S Eddie Keeling dates Mary Alice Bell, the girl with an extra special personality . . . We have heard that cute little 'Westernette' Lucille "Pee Wee" Sikes certainly gets around. Same story goes with Ann Ratliff and Doris Adams.

Alsace-Lorraine Has Known Many Wars; Even Houses Are Fortresses

BY KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Nov. 27 (Delayed)—You wouldn't have to read history to know that Alsace-Lorraine has been the scene of many wars.

It's like a haunted house—only more so. It seems a perfect setting for mass murders.

First there are the forts.

You have read of the Metz fortresses, how long they held back the attackers, how they finally fell one by one and how they combined the modern and ancient machinery of wars. But those are not the only fortresses. Large and small they are scattered through the conutryside, sometimes obviously bastions but more often seemingly something else.

Homes Are Little Fortresses

Hundreds of private homes are veritable little fortresses. They are thick-walled for defense and high belfried for observation.

Under these houses the people of Alsace-Lorraine have dug their their grim philosophy deep. They may have hoped for peace, but they planned for war—they and their ancestors.

Almost every building has a basement of stone or concrete, thick walled and heavy ceilinged. Some are new but even those obviously centuries old still can withstand most of modern warfare's methods.

Countless infantry command posts have been located in these basements. Above those basements buildings have been torn down twice by war during my lifetime alone, and several times during the span of some of the more ancient residents here.

Prepared For Next War

But these people have rebuilt their homes and business establishments on the same sites. They have improved potential living conditions in the basements and thus have been prepared for the next war.

The countryside itself has many features, both natural and manmade which seem designed for defense. There are hills, razor-backed slopes and forest for concealment. You find countless rivers and canals, and they must be bridged anew after the old spans are blown up by retreating forces.

Roads Planned For War

Too, there are dams which can be blown to flood the countryside in front of an advancing army. The road system also seems to have been planned with an eye to possible military traffic. While the secondary roads soon give way at least partially to weather and become ribbons of mud, still even they manage to hold some semblance of solidity underneath. The main highways seem to stand up miraculously under the grinding streams of modern military wheels. Many of these roads were built literally hundreds of years ago.

There's plenty of evidences of previous wars besides the fortresses and basements and road systems. There are trenches, shell craters and ruins still here from the last war. Even all-healing grass has failed to cover many of the scars.

A soldier came up and leaned on my jeep and for a few seconds I didn't realize who it was, but when I did, boy, the 'shouting started.' I have been showing him the town since then as I certainly am not doing any work while he is here. He will be with me until sometime tomorrow. He arrived here last night, but we didn't meet until noon today as I was away from headquarters. I occasionally see fellows I served with in various camps in the states but Ray is the first South Plains boy I have seen since I have been here." Cpl. Chapman, who is with the postal section of the Army, sailed recently from San Francisco to Miami, then to Brazil. Nothing further had been heard from him until the letter came from Lt. At Tarawa, Williams said his narrowest escape from death came in hand-to-hand combat with a Jap officer. The Japs had emerged from their command post after Marines laid seige to this stronghold. The officer emerged swinging his sword and struck hard at Williams. The Marine ducked the sweep of the cumbersome weapon and cut the officer down with his bayonet. On Saipan, Williams saw Japs commit suicide with hand grenades placed in their bodies in preference to capture. Genie Singing Light Clown Air In Film

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2.—Leave it to Hollywood to dream up a technicolor genie with light brown hair and an Aladdin who leaves the Bagdad slick chicks swooning when he warbles a love song.

In a royal ribbing of Frank Sinatra, slick chicks, sad Sams and frail quail, Columbia studio turned the technicolor cameras loose on "A Thousand and One Nights," a fantasy of Old Bagdad with modern jive and the theory that though 12th century glamor girls wore pearl-studded breastplates instead of sweaters, the wolf whistles sounded much the same as the 1944 version.

Cornel Wilde

Cornel Wilde is Aladdin, a crooner who is the Sinatra of his time. When Aladdin sings, the gals swoon. The genie-of-the-lamp, with fast curves and jive chatter, is Columbia studio's best slick chick, Evelyn Keyes, who warns Aladdin early in the piece not to make any puns about "genie with the light brown hair."

Only problem is that some studio genie-of-the-voice-doubles may have to go out and hire hero Wilde a nice crooning voice for a wild sound track. Wilde is no Crosby or Sinatra. He studied singing for a while eight years ago in New York. The studio now has him working with a vocal coach in hopes he may be able to do the warbling himself. But the prospects are not too bright.

• • •

HE'S GOT WHAT IT TAKES

JUST to give you a rough idea of what else goes on in this celluloid version of a hep Bagdad, the genie listens to Aladdin sing and comments, "You're the slickest sender west of Samarkand." And after dancing with him, she says, "You're Bagdad's best rug cutter."

Aladdin's teen-aged swooners haven't any bobby socks to roll down so instead they roll their Oriental panties up above their ankles. Comedian Phil Silvers, as Abdullah, provides the laughs.

Sample: Silvers stopping a voluptuous veiled slick chick in the palace garden and then apologizing: "Pardon me, but I thought you were Lana Turner."

"We're going to have the year's funniest picture or else the worst," director Al Green said. "It's that kind of a movie. It's dangerous playing around with fantasy. You can't tell how the public is going to accept it."

The plot is Hollywood's favorite — the romantic triangle. The genie-of-the-lamp is in love with Aladdin, who is in love with the princess, played by Adele Jergens. The genie doesn't like the idea, but she's a slave to the lamp and that's that.

It all turns out all right, though, in a trick ending when the genie finally gets a chance to make a wish.

GETTING STAR BUILDUP

YOUNG WILDE is receiving a star buildup at Columbia after playing Chopin opposite Merle Oberon in the soon-to-be-released "A Song to Remember." He came to Hollywood via the New York Theater Guild and the toy department at Macy's. His hobby is fencing and he holds 22 championships.

There are two pairs of dual roles in the movie, bringing back memories to director Green. Back in 1922, he directed Mary Pickford in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," in which Mary played the dual role of "Dearest" and Fauntleroy.

In keeping with the lavishness of the story, everything in the picture is on a grand scale. The royal jewels in the Sultan's crown are oversize. The Sultan's harem is stabled with scores, not dozens, of beauties.

Super-colossal Hollywood.

More than 3,000,000 prisoners of war are employed in German industry to make up for the shortage of labor.

Spencer Tracy's Roles Are Varied

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (U.P.)—Now for the first time Spencer Tracy plays the part of a scientist, the inventor of a secret oxygen mask.

As usual, he is immersed in the role. For months he has been moving slowly among gas jets, torches, precision tools, even helmets.

He operates a micrometer as though he had been doing this kind of work all his life. He picks up a small hammer as an inventor would pick up a precision instrument, not as a carpenter about to drive a spike in a plank.

Prepares For Roles

Tracy has prepared for all his roles in a similar manner. Perhaps that is why he has been convincing enough that he often has been asked for professional advice.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, now appearing in "Without Love," the film version of the Philip Barry stage play with Katharine Hepburn and Lucille Ball, previously has played two priests, a newspaper publisher, a sports columnist, a doctor, a general and even a taxidriver and a fisherman.

Didn't Want Priest Role

Each time he has been considered so much to the manner born that fans have written him asking specific questions about these professions.

The role of Father Tim in "San Francisco" seems to have started it. He didn't want to play the part. He thought his previous roles, some of them gangsters, made him the last man in the world who should be chosen for Father Tim.

Now he admits his directors knew better. Tracy even received a letter from a man who said that the role had convinced him to become a priest.

Doesn't Laugh Cynically

For his part in "Woman of the Year," Tracy really studied newspapermen to learn their ways. In a broadcast of "Men in White" he played a doctor and received a letter from a young interne in Berkeley, who said the role was so appealing that he had abandoned his plans to drop his medical studies.

Tracy laughs at all this, but not cynically. He doesn't give people the advice they seek, but he does send them letters saying he is not qualified to do so.

Laird Cregar Loses 105 Of His Bulk In Filming Thriller

HOLLYWOOD, (U.P.)—If the ladies want to know about this reducing business, Laird Cregar is one guy to talk to.

Cregar, whose mammoth and well-padded figure used to take up most of the screen when he was in a scene, has lost 105 pounds.

He lopped the pounds off during 12 weeks, most of it while working in the 20th Century-Fox thriller, "Hangover Square," with Linda Darnell and George Sanders.

Going Wasn't Easy

The going wasn't easy, he admits.

"I love to eat, so making up my mind to lose all that beef was the hardest part. But my doctor told me I couldn't have an operation I needed until I got rid of 100 pounds or more, so I had to do it."

After a physical examination, Cregar said he was given a diet of 500 calories a day.

Knew Vaguely Of Calories

"I'd heard vaguely about calories and 500 seemed like a lot—but when I found out how little food this amounted to, I was pretty discouraged.

"Two slices of crisp bacon, two pieces of dry toast and a cup of coffee with cream isn't much for a guy like me," he reflected.

But Cregar stuck with it — he had to because his doctor examined him twice a week.

"I didn't dare cheat because he knew it when I did."

It was harder on Director John Brahm, who was making "Hangover Square," because he had to shoot everything in sequence.

"I couldn't be fat in one scene and thin in the next," Cregar said.

So the film was made in sequence and Cregar loses his waistline gradually. That fitted into the story's action, but it kept the wardrobe department on the run.

When the picture was over, Cregar's waistline had shrunk 10 inches, his shirts were five sizes smaller and his shoes three sizes smaller.

He can't gain that weight back again, either, he says.

"I gave all my clothes away and got new ones so I wouldn't be tempted to grow back into them."

General Eisenhower Due To Swing 'Haymaker' When Weather Permits

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Berlin commentators continue to insist that General Eisenhower has assigned to Field Marshal Montgomery and his 21st army group, on the Allied northern wing, the task of delivering the assault calculated to break through the Nazi defenses and precipitate the crisis in the battle of the Cologne plain.

Well, far be it from us to argue that point. As a matter of fact, we find no flaw in the idea.

And what captain could handle it better than the great Montgomery.

Time For KO Uncertain

What Berlin doesn't know, however, and what we don't know, is when General Ike is likely to swing his haymaker. My own idea is that it now depends largely on the weather—clear skies for the all-important air forces, and frost that will tighten up the awful fields of mud.

Up to this point there have been other factors causing delay. One, of course, has been the necessity of ironing out strategical lumps in the Allied battleline as a whole. Another vital factor has related to supplies, but this problem now has been solved by the opening of the great port of Antwerp.

Weather Has Been Unfavorable

That puts it up to the weather man, who's been mighty unfriendly to our side. Still, the Allied command was well aware that the old fellow was bound to be short-tempered at this time of year. Thus Eisenhower acted deliberately when he took his chances again with the elements against which he has pitted his wits steadily since the stormy crises of the Normandy invasion.

The supreme commander's reasons seem clear enough. He didn't want to stand still and so give the Germans the leeway of the winter months in which to create fresh reserves and get further set to meet the final Allied onslaught.

CHAIRED UP — Swinging along in a bosun's chair, Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr., whose Third fleet blasted the Jap navy in the battle of the Philippine Seas, comes aboard the carrier Lexington.

Production Chief For Garand Rifle Buried

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP) — Col. George A. Woody, Texas-born Army technician credited with putting the Garand rifle into high speed production, was buried in Arlington National cemetery today.

He died Thursday at the Army's Walter Reed General hospital.

Col. Woody was born at Tilden, Tex., and graduated from Texas A. and M. in 1917. He served abroad in the first World war, and upon his return transferred to ordnance and was assigned to Frankford arsenal, Fort Sam Houston, and the Springfield arsenal.

He entered production engineering and planning in 1941 and is credited with putting the Garand rifle into high speed production and with the development of light machinegun and rifle barrel forgings. He was cited only recently by Maj. Gen. L. H. Campbell, chief of ordnance.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. M. E. Abernathy of Brownwood, Tex., and Mrs. A. E. Pursch of Tilden, Tex.

Skiff Is 'Torpedoed' By Enraged Shark

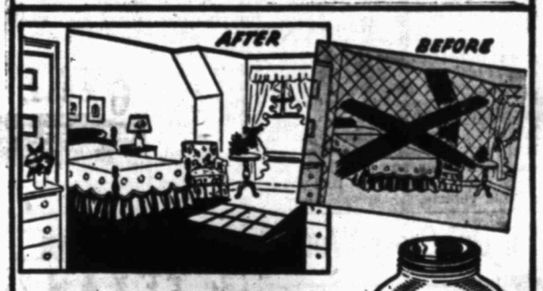

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 2 (AP)—Exhibiting a skiff with holes in its side and shark's teeth buried in it, A. P. Moree, told a story of being "torpedoed" by an enraged shark.

Moree said he and a companion were fishing for mackerel and that the shark persisted in chasing the mackerel away. Moree said he batted the shark, estimated to weigh 2,000 pounds, on the head with an oar. The shark promptly attacked, ramming a hole in the boat, causing it to sink.

Nearby fishermen rescued Moree and his companion, before the shark returned to the battle.

Let's Buy Lives With Money!; Berle's Demands Hamstring Air Parley

It's Dollars, Or Blood

We Say "Save Our Young Men!"

SOME Americans undoubtedly were made unhappy by the announcement from Washington that U. S. lend-lease material will continue to flow to Great Britain after the United Nations victory in Europe and until the Japanese are vanquished. The fact that the German collapse will see lend-lease to Britain cut to approximately 50 per cent of its current total did not impress opponents of the idea, probably because they've always opposed lend-lease in any form, or, at least, think the operation should be halted with Germany's collapse.

It is true, of course, that England's economic stake in the Japanese end of the war is greater than our own.

From a standpoint of national honor, England's stake equals ours because both nations owe to their hallowed dead in the Orient a complete evening of the score against the Nipponese.

With only these points in mind, it well may be argued that "there's no sense in our having to pay England to fight a war which is as much, if not more, her war than it is our own."

But there are other more important points which must be considered.

In the first place, our capacity for production is superior to that of the British, as are many of our products of war. We may best hasten victory over Japan by utilizing our "know how," and its products and if it takes continuation of lend-lease that such utilization may be achieved should continue lend-lease. There is no way a just man may equalize human life and human blood with the money, or the things represented by money. Hence common decency dictates that whatever the cost in exchange, it is worth saving life and blood of the flower of American manhood.

In the second place, we and England for nearly three years now have faced, together, foes common to us both. But England, prior to our entry into the war, faced the German enemy for an additional two years. In lives, in blood, in materiel, in money, England's contribution, comparatively speaking, has been greater than ours. Hence, if we make a greater financial contribution in the latter part of the struggle, we will only be "evening up," financially speaking, with our allies.

We believe we speak for the overwhelming majority of Americans when we decline to argue the lend-lease question on purely a basis of dollars and cents.

Our nation can build and give to England, if necessary, 1,000 tanks—or 10,000—and still not be hurt. But when we lose a young man on a South Pacific island, he loses everything and we, as a nation, lose his entire potentiality as a citizen. The tanks can be replaced. The man cannot. And no tank yet manufactured has been claimed to possess a soul.

We're in a war in which dollars are only symbols.

A million silver dollars are no good to the airman over Tokyo if he needs, at the moment, a machine gun and ammunition to fight off a Jap attacker. If continuation of lend-lease to Britain until Japan is defeated costs us a billion dollars, or two, yet results in an earlier subjugation of the Japs, it will be money well spent.

War's principal basis of exchange is human life, not money. Let's not forget that.

What Is The Difference?

WASHINGTON Correspondent Drew Pearson, in a dispatch the other day, found it hilariously funny that U. S. Sen. Theodore Bilbo, of Mississippi, had trouble in recognizing a difference between fascism and communism. For our part, we see nothing funny about the Bilbo dilemma because we, too, find difficulty in noting any real difference in the condition of the individual in the toils of either of these types of slavery.

We hasten to say that we are not an admirer of Theodore "The Man" Bilbo.

His political talents, it seems to us, comprise all the less admirable ones of Wilbert Lee O'Daniel, Huey Long, Gene Talmadge and Jack Walton rolled into a single package and we believe both Mississippi and the nation would be better off fi his place were taken by someone with at least a modicum of statesmanship. But we believe a man with Mr. Pearson's background could find plenty to criticize the Mississippian for without seizing upon the avenue he chose.

We see no difference between raising the open hand, palm downward, before one dictator, and raising the clenched fist before another. Nor do we see any difference between the regimentation involved.

It occurs to us that the slave of a communist government who is not permitted either to think, or speak, for himself is fully as downtrodden as the slave of a fascist regime.

For our part, both are poison even if they are in, different bottles bearing different labels.

We imagine, too, that Mr. Pearson would find considerable difficulty in choosing which of the two to exist under if he was forced into such a choice.

OUR PLEDGE

We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Biddle's Fitness For High Office Is Questioned

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 — The susceptibility of Attorney General Francis Biddle to the influence of his friend and sponsor, Thomas G. ("Tommy the Cork") Corcoran, lawyer-lobbyist once so prominent in the New Deal, is creating a hot issue here in this post-election period when public interest is turned so sharply to a shake-up in the administration.

It is not good government.

Stokes

It is raising in many minds the question of Mr. Biddle's fitness for his high office.

The current Corcoran - Biddle episode—and it is not the first—revolves about the charge by now ousted Assistant Attorney General Norman Littell that Mr. Biddle tried to get him to settle a case having to do with condemnation proceedings involving the Savannah Shipyards Co., of Savannah, Ga., which Mr. Corcoran represented.

The Maritime commission cancelled this company's contract after an investigation by the Truman committee which followed an exposure by this writer. Maritime asked the Justice department to institute condemnation proceedings. Mr. Corcoran tried to get a settlement at a figure above that fixed by the government, $985,665, and enlisted his friend Mr. Biddle. Mr. Littell refused to go along.

• • •

The "Old Pal" Dodge

This new evidence of the subservience of the attorney general to Tommy Corcoran came as no surprise to Washington. It has been an open secret for several years. Mr. Biddle was one of Tommy's proteges when the latter was on the inside of the New Deal. Tommy was influential in moving Mr. Biddle up from solicitor general to attorney general.

When Tommy left the government in 1940 — after a career in which he had been quite a hounder of lobbyists—he went into the business himself, taking up the practice of what is known here as "influence," though masquerading—as they all do—as a "lawyer." He began immediately to capitalize upon the many men in key positions whom he had helped to place, calling upon them in the interest of his clients. The attorney general was one of his top exhibits, though he had contacts in virtually every department.

• • •

SOME, grateful to Tommy, responded readily, as the history of the past few years discloses, though it is fragmentary and nobody ever has combed it thoroughly enough for the sake of decent government. For Tommy did favors and chores, too, for members of Congress, and Democrats are afraid to touch him. He knows too much.

Mr. Biddle has always been most responsive.

Mr. Littell, in his statement to the Truman committee, referred to a most flagrant case. He described a conference with the attorney general and James Rowe, formerly in the department and later at the White House. He said he told Mr. Biddle that acceptance of the settlement proposed in the Savannah Shipyards Co. case would "break wide open into a public scandal," and that the attorney general then turned to Mr. Rowe and said Mr. Littell was right, that "it would be another Sterling Products case."

• • •

Biddle Remembers Sterling!

The attorney general has a vivid memory of that one.

Tommy was counsel for Sterling Products Co., against which an anti-trust suit had been brought to dissolve patent tie-ups it had with the Nazi I. G. Farbenindustrie, one of the cartel cases which involved, through a subsidiary control of patents, Atabrine, a synthetic quinine, badly needed when the Japs conquered Malaya.

• • •

TOMMY moved right into the department on that one. He hung his hat in the attorney general's office and made his headquarters there. From that office, he sallied out to try to threaten and intimidate lawyers of the Antitrust division who were working on a consent decree. He tried to get the terms modified and, as the decree finally was drafted, it was far too lenient to satisfy some of those familiar with the case. The attorney general was helpful. At one point Thurman Arnold, then head of the Antitrust division, threatened to resign because he thought the terms were not severe enough. Tommy also helped to supervise the drafting of the press release on the case which was termed by experts in the department as "a white-wash." Nobody in the department had ever seen anything qiute like the way Tommy, a private lawyer, moved in and took over.

The Truman committee, which investigated some of Tommy's business, after revelations by this writer, never did touch the Sterling Products Co. case, thought it was announced that it would. Later, Tommy used his influence with Attorney General Biddle and other officials to stop an investigation of the synthetic quinine monopoly of a Sterling subsidiary which investigation had been planned and announced by the Senate Patents committee.

All of this smacks too much of making government a private affair among friends—which it isn't.

Congress should take time now to investigate the whole business.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IF you could choose one quality of all the human qualities that make for success which would it be?

My instant and unqualified answer would be "Personality."

With it you have won the race before you started it, without or with little of it you'll have to climb a hard and rocky road.

Personality is understood differently by different people.

Scientists don't agree on it. Some say it is inborn, some that it can be acquired or at least improved.

You have heard the term "personal magnetism." That is about as good a description of personality as any other.

Roosevelt has it to the n-th degree. Dewey lacks it.

Taking it for granted that both men have equal mental equipment, an equally good background, education and culture, Roosevelt could still beat Dewey on his personality.

• • •

Dr. Raymond B. Cattell, professor of Psychology at Duke university, agrees with me, or, rather, I agree with him.

He has a lot of scientific formulae which don't mean a thing to you or me, but you can use his conclusions for your own self.

Are you slow, unsociable, suspicious, cynical, rigid, pugnacious, resentful, introvert? Then your personality is bad. Dr. Cattell accuses Dewey of having some of these characteristics. Have you?

Are you genial, friendly, playful, sociable, gay, able to relax and an extrovert? Good! Those are some of Roosevelt's outstanding qualities, according to the Duke professor.

• • •

I DON'T think that there is much use in trying to develop a personality which is inherently not yours.

I believe with Popeye "I yam what I yam," although one can probably remedy some of his shortcomings.

If you have what the professor calls a "bad" personality you should be in some calling where "personal magnetism" is not important.

Sociability, playfulness, gaiety, are not expected in a banker, a bookkeeper, a scientist or a teacher. If anything these qualities may count against him.

I myself have never believed in being a hypocrite about anything or in forcing yourself to do anything that goes against your grain.

But you don't have to be an old grouch or a kill-joy just because it makes you happy to see others unhappy.

Don't try to be a good fellow if by nature, you are a wash-out. But before you give up, see your doctor—Maybe it's not your personality but your stomach.

Conference Stalemated

(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—One of the most important international conferences affecting postwar peace machinery — the Chicago air conference—was bogged down all last week and was even threatened with failure because assistant Secretary of State Adolf Berle was determined to grab just a little more aeronautical kudos for the United States.

Berle demands that, when American planes stop in England to take on extra gasoline en route to France, Holland, Belgium and other countries on the Continent, those planes shall have the right to pick up passengers in England for the continent. The British are glad to permit U. S. planes to refuel in England on their way to Europe, but they say that, if these same planes also picked up London passengers for Paris, Berlin, Amsterdam and Moscow, there would be no business left for British planes.

PEARSON

The British principle is somewhat like the American coastwise shipping law which does not permit foreign vessels to pick up passengers in New York or any other American port and take them to Miami, San Francisco or any other port in the USA.

Assistant Secretary Berle, who has now won most of his points from the British at the Chicago conference, has been raising cain for more than a week on this last issue. The deadlock for a time became so bad that Churchill and Roosevelt, with plenty of other things to think about, were exchanging messages on whether U. S. planes could pick up passengers in Britain.

NELSON IN CHINA

MORE details regarding Donald Nelson's trip to China now have leaked out. They indicate the difficult but encouraging job ahead to make China a real partner in the war.

En route to Chungking on his first trip, Nelson spent two days in Moscow. He was met at the airport, brought into town, and spent most of the night dining, drinking and talking with Stalin, Molotov and other big-wigs.

Nelson outlined China's critical situation, pointed out that, in order to have a strong China, we must have a united China. He argued that a victorious united China meant a further guarantee of Soviet borders against agression in the post-war period, and he pledged that he would work toward bringing together the left-wing forces of Northern China with Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang.

He asked Stalin in return to give China assistance in a limited way. Specifically, he asked that Russia permit shipment of trucks to China through Siberia. This Stalin agreed to. Nelson also talked about the Chinese ambassador in Russia and found that the Russians didn't like or trust him.

Arriving in Chungking, Nelson told Chiang of Stalin's gesture of friendship and pointed this up as only a symbol of what could be accomplished through further mutual trust. Chiang unburdened his soul, telling Nelson how he hated both U. S. Ambassador Gauss and General Stilwell, and was anxious to get them out of China. Nelson promised to take this up with the President and recommend that steps be taken.

Nelson had trouble at first in convincing Gen. Pat Hurley on the Stilwell angle. Hurley, only a major general, didn't like the idea of helping to remove a full general. In the end, however, he cooperated with Nelson.

• • •

PROGRAM FOR CHINESE ECONOMY

NELSON next got agreement from Chiang on rebuilding the entire Chinese war economy, stressed the fact that it was more important to import the tools to make more guns and ammunition than it was to bring in meager amounts of finished products from the U. S.

He saw Chiang again after completing his preliminary survey of Chinese industry; said he could quardruple steel production in three months, multiply arms and textile production to an equal extent if given an opportunity. Chiang agreed to this, and put Chinese industry at Nelson's disposal with strict orders to listen.

Serenely puffing on his pipe, Nelson showed how greater profit lay in better, more efficient volume production. He set up a list of China's essential requirements. These include preliminary machine tools to make more machine tools, small steel pots to make more steel pots, chemicals to produce more chemicals, equipment to mine more minerals.

Nelson carried out his share of the bargain, came back to the U. S., told Roosevelt the score, arranged for the removal of Stilwell and Gauss. He also prepared lists of the most essential equipment needed by China to rebuild its economy from the absolute bottom. Orders were swiftly cleared by Roosevelt for production and shipment of this equipment.

Meanwhile, in Chungking, Chiang had recalled his ambassador to Russia, and sent word to Nelson that a new Russian ambassador to China would be helpful. The change was made.

Just before Nelson returned to China, he received word of two more very important new turns in the Chinese situation. First was the Russian agreement to permit passage of several thousand trucks through Russia's borders to China. Second was an agreement Nelson secured from "Hap" Arnold to replace the relatively small cargo planes flying "the Hump" from India to China, with a vast fleet of the newest, most modern giant cargo planes this country has.

This will increase our shipments to China fourfold. Nelson's last act before leaving was to visit General Arnold, get his signature on the order, take it to the White House, have it counter-signed by Roosevelt. The new planes will start their service before spring.

BANDAGE RUN-AROUND

THE Reynier Laboratories, of Paterson, N. J., are trying to figure out how the Army and Navy operate—after trying for two years to sell both services a new rubberized gauge bandage.

Approved by the Veterans' administration and many individual doctors in the military services, the Reynier product is a small gauze roll which can be put over a wound or a sprain by an amateur. The bandage will not slip, permits a fair amount of freedom in movement, and is packed in a two-by-two box which could easily fit into a soldier's pack.

Unaware of the Reynier product, the Department of Agriculture's research organization began work about two years ago to develop a similar gauze. Recently two Naval hospitals tested the gauze developed by the Department of Agriculture, and approved it. Bids on volume production will soon be asked.

In the meantime, Reynier is still trying to get an order for its gauze, which it tried to sell the Navy months ago. It is still getting a run-around.

The Mead committee, formerly the Truman committee, has dug into the question and compared the two products. While the Department of Agriculture gauze is slightly more elastic, the committee doesn't think the difference is sufficient to explain the run-around given the private manufacturer.

Our Curious World

Entertaining History Of Foibles And Fancies

Cohn's "Combustion On Wheels" Is Story Of Early Cars

"IN 1899, the War department at Washington issued an earth-shaking communique: 'Three automobiles have been purchased by the War department for the use of officers,' it read. 'Each is equipped so that a mule may be hitched to it. Should it refuse to run.'"

The War department was wise to play safe if we are to believe the stories which David L. Cohn tells about the unreliable and fearsome early motor cars in his amusing and enlightening book, "Combustion on Wheels" (Houghton, Mifflin.) Advertisements by Duryea, an early manufacturer, described a "thoroughly practical gasolene motor vehicle having a 'complete appearance, not a carriage-without-a-horse look,'" but despite such claims, the early models left something to be desired. According to a Collier's article of 1898, an Ohio doctor cranked his machine for four hours and fifteen minutes, beating all previous records by an hour. Gasoline, electricity, and steam provided the moving power, and "it was a toss-up whether the driver of a steam car would travel straight ahead or straight up." Drivers of every type had to bear the taunts of "Git a horse," when they broke down, and that was often.

Combustion On Wheels)

Attained Garish Maturity

By the time of the 1913 automobile show at Madison Square Garden, the motor car had attained a certain garish maturity. Then, most cars had self-starters, and some had six cylinders and V-shaped radiators. Wire wheels were optional. Prospective customers were tempted by magnificent fittings. The Chalmers limousine, for instance, was finished in canary yellow with upper panels in black and windshield and window mouldings in bird's eye maple. Tan Bedford cord upholstery and interior Pullman lights completed this irresistible vehicle.

This, too, was the day of the Model T, the tin lizzie for the common man. Perhaps you remember the thrills of riding in a Model T as it is described by Lee Strout White, whom Mr. Cohn quotes in "Combustion on Wheels."

A Man Enthroned

"The driver of the old Model T was a man enthroned. The car, with top up, stood seven feet high. The driver sat on top of the gas tank, brooding over it like a mother hen. When he wanted gasoline, he alighted, along with everything else in the front seat; the seat was pulled off, the metal cap unscrewed, and a wooden stick thrust down to measure the liquid in the well.

"To get under way, you simply hooked the third finger of the right hand around a lever on the steering column, pulled down hard and shoved your foot forcibly against the low-speed pedal. The car lunged forward with a roar. After a few seconds of this turmoil, you took your toe off the pedal and the car catapulted directly into high with a series of ugly jerks. Most everybody used the reverse pedal quite as much as the regular hand brake. I still remember with trembling those loud nocturnal crises when you drew up to a signpost and raced the engine so that the lights would be bright enough to read your destination."

Anyone who has ever had anything to do with a motor car will enjoy David L. Cohn's "Combustion on Wheels." Not only is the book an excellent account of the development of the automobile, it is an entertaining history of American foibles and fancies.

Good Suspense

"CRY MURDER (Mill), by Edith Howie.—When Nola Powers came back to little Nasihona after her Broadway triumphs with playwright Gordon Kearnes, the townsfolk wondered if it were to break Chris Latimer's heart all over again. They didn't wonder long, because Nola was murdered. By the time Mary Thorpe moved in to solve the case, another actress was killed and she discovered that it all was tied up with a lipstick and a killing that had appeared accidental five years before. Good suspense in this one.

After all, it isn't so deporable that people talk a great deal about the weather. At least, they usually agree about it.

Recreational Dept. To Take Charge Of Community Center

The City Recreation department has assumed full responsibility for the overall program of the community center, Sixth and Ave. B, according to Mrs. Grace Dyess, city recreational director.

Women of all churches pledged their support as volunteer workers when at a recent joint meeting of the recreational council and Federation of Church Women, it was agreed the recreation department would operate under the council to plan public programs. Effective now, the plan extends through April 1, 1946.

Activities formerly conducted by the church and the Well Baby clinic, operated by the Junior League, will continue their regular operation, Mrs. Dyess said. In an expanded program, the recreation department will act as coordinator of all programs and direct activities.

Operate Under Rotative Plan

Operating under a rotative plan, whereby each city church sponsored activities one month, members of the Federation of Church Women felt theirs was a disjointed program and desired better organization, Mrs. Dyess explained. When one program began operating smoothly, the month ended which necessitated a change of directors and a new program.

All women in Lubbock have contributed to the maintenance and operation of the center. In the beginning they were assisted by the WPA.

Grounds of the Community center are being cleared now. When the recreation department employs a director and receives the complete inventory from the city federation, activities will begin.

It is hoped the center will be open in time to arrange a Christmas program, Mrs. Dyess added.

In 1908, a banquet was held in a Chicago sewer to celebrate the completion of the project located in Franklin Park.

State Recreational Board Is Planned

Detailed arrangements were made for a meeting to be held in Austin Dec. 11, to establish a state recreational board, with a Recreation in the Community conference was held recently at Texas State College for Women, Denton, according to Mrs. Grace Dyess, city recreational director.

More than 500 laymen, within a 300-mile radius of Denton, attended the conference to outline organizational plans for recreational needs of their communities. They were directed by professional recreation leaders.

Mrs. Dyess was accompanied by A. C. Hamilton, athletic director.

15,000 Enemy Troops Are Trapped On Crete

GUERRILLA HEADQUARTERS, Near Khania, Crete, Nov. 30 (Delayed (AP)—Fifteen thousand German and Fascist Italian troops now are effectively bottled up in the northwest corner of Crete without hope of escape.

Several thousand men trained and armed by British and American liaison officers, are holding a 40-mile-long perimeter against the enemy. The German holdings include the Suda bay area.

The guerrillas are headed by Gen. Nikola Papadakis, military governor of Crete for the Greek government.

Illness and industrial accidents account for more than 50 per cent of absences from war work.

Yanks Rated Tops On Mechanics, Offense; British Excel On Defense

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMERICAN FIRST ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 17—(Delayed)—How do American and British soldiers measure up in battle?

William Smith White, veteran Associated Press writer, is in a good position to judge. Since the invasion of France, "Bill" as he is known to newsmen from Dallas to Aachen—has served as a war correspondent with the First Canadian arm, the Second British army and the First U. S. army. He enlisted himself earlier in the war, but a critical illness prevented completion of his officers' training course and he received a medical discharge.

I asked Bill what he thought of Johnny Doughboy and Tommy Aikins, and how each stacked up in combat. This is his reply:

"Nobody who has been with Allied troops very much would care to generalize by saying that troops of such and such a nation were best.

Yanks Not "Rule-Bound"

"From my experience with both British and American armies I should put it about like this:

"If I were a commander and was told that I must take a ridge ahead of me in 18 hours, even though by every normal rule it was a 24-hour job at the very best, I would prefer American infantry, because they have less reverence for the book in military matters. And, very likely, once it had been explained why that ridge must be taken in 18 hours, however impossible it seemed, they would go ahead and take it.

"But if again I were a commander and I was ordered to hold a position—any position, however hopeless and however seemingly pointless — through spring and summer and fall and winter if need be, I'd take the British Tommy.

Tommy Most Persistent

"He is the world's most persistent soldier, the world's most patient and—under his immemorial beefing—he's the world's most cheerful. It's not that he lacks an offensive spirit—it's simply that his greatest role in all history has been defensive—that is, holding on, in every continent and sea, to something that England must have.

"So much for the infantry. In the more specialized arms, and particularly in armor, I believe the American soldier is well along toward becoming the ablest in the world. This is so because his mechanical savvy—his know-how—is far higher than any other soldiers. He might not always fight a tank better than the British soldier, but he will always maintain it better and longer and keep it rolling over small mechanical disasters that would put the British tank back to rear ordnance.

"It's not as silly as it sounds to say that the American soldier is emotionally 'at home' in a tank. It is not the alien environment that it is to the Briton, for the British youngster who knows how even to drive a car before he gets into the army is exceptional.

"The American army one day will be, in my opinion, the world's acknowledged masters or armored warfare just as the French were once the world's masters of artillery."

Col. Dykhouse To Give Lecture Series

Lt. Col. Jay Dykhouse of the pre-induction training branch headquarters, Eighth Service command, Dallas, will address the public schools and Lions club in a series of lectures this week.

DYKHOUSE

Col. Dykhouse was enthusiastically received here last spring when he spoke at a district teachers conference. He was superintendent of schools several years before entering the service.

He will speak at Senior High school assembly at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon in the auditorium. In the evening he will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Lubbock County Vocational Education Teachers association at the Hilton hotel, 6:30 o'clock.

The Lions will hear him in an address at the club's weekly luncheon Tuesday. He will address students of Junior High school at 8:50 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Washington Urged As Security Parley Site

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP) — Two highly placed congressional sources today suggested Washington as the site for the forthcoming United Nations conference on world security.

Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the House affairs committee said he had information that formal announcement of plans for the conference probably would be made "next week, perhaps on Wednesday."

Bloom said:

"The city of Washington is the logical place to hold the conference for security reasons alone. Any place else you stand the risk of being bombed out."

Senator George (D-Ga) predicted the assembly would be held here—probably in February.
