Beatrice refuses to quit

Fundraiser will offset liver transplant costs

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Beatrice Gomez needs a liver transplant and her father Albert is planning a fundraiser to help pay for some of the medical bills. The nine-year-old has hung on to life longer than doctor's expected.

Beatrice Gomez is a shy but determined nine-year-old student at Marcy Elementary who will need a liver transplant within the next few years.

Beatrice had a liver biopsy performed on her at the young age of five and doctors told her parents that Beatrice had an underdeveloped liver and had only two weeks to live.

Beatrice did not give up and at the age of seven had her appendix removed. Doctors again said she only had a few weeks to live. "She made it through. Her chances were slim for survival but she wanted to live and she's still with us," said Albert Gomez, Beatrice's father.

The Gomez' took Beatrice to Dallas last week and that is when doctors told Mr. Gomez that his daughter would need a transplant.

"She is on the list to receive a liver in a few years. The doctors said if her body doesn't reject the new organ, she will live a few more years. At best, doctors have seen patients live 20 more years after a liver transplant," added Gomez.

"She has to take five medications a day and it's a miracle she is still here. Since her surgery at age

SS makes Lowe an offer

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Big Spring resident Karen Lowe may soon get another lease on life after the Social Security Administration declared her dead. Lowe has been battling this problem for years, trying to prove that she is alive.

The SSA is now offering her a new social security number and will switch over her earnings. "We are to bring documents that prove from the age of 14 to 18, Karen was not living in the house. The SSA will get that money from her father and return it to Karen," said her attorney Scott Ferguson.

The Lowes and Ferguson are scheduled to take the information to the SSA office in Big Spring late this afternoon. "We will listen to what they have to say. We can't say if we will accept it (their offer) until we see what they have to offer," explained Ferguson.

Lowe was determined dead by the SSA in 1985. In 1985, someone in the SSA was provided with a document that said she was dead and because of the false birth certificate information, Karen had no way of proving who she was.

Lowe has requested the documentation provided to the SSA to prove her death but one office said they could not show her the information because it was confidential and another place told her they were waiting to see the document.

Lowe has explained that she was put into foster care at the age of 14 due to documented evidence of abuse and she has never received any of the money from the SSA entitlement.

Two-fold highway strategy outlined

By TIM JONES
Staff Writer

"If they build it, we will come." No, not "Field of Dreams II" but a highway from Mexico City to Del Rio.

"If Mexico builds a four-lane divided highway from Mexico City to Del Rio, we should meet it with as much highway as we can as soon as possible," said Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Terry Burns, updating Tuesday's meeting of the chamber board of directors on the Interstate 27 issue.

A two-fold strategic approach by the chamber's transportation committee toward I-27 was presented and fully explained by Burns.

He explained the transportation committee thinks the full implementation of I-27 will definitely be a lengthy process. Even assuming

I-27 moves on a pretty good track, Burns said it will likely take 10 to 15 years until the final results are seen.

"A trade route corridor with Mexico," Burns said, "is going to be resolved much quicker than that."

In fact, an April 26 meeting with officials from Sonora, Del Rio and with Mexican nationals will be both supported and attended by Big Spring representatives, Burns said.

The group of Mexican nationals that is coming up on April 26 is supposed to be including the Mexican president's brother, who is the head of transportation for Mexico," Burns added. "We are told that if he wants a highway to come up to Del Rio, there will be such a highway. We've been told on several occasions that there are plans to build a four-lane divided highway from Mexico City to Del Rio."

SMMC honors those who give their time to hospital

By JANET AUSBURY
Features Editor

Scenic Mountain Medical Center showed appreciation for its corps of 53 volunteers during awards ceremonies at the annual volunteer auxiliary luncheon Tuesday at the Big Spring Country Club.

Volunteers received pins recognizing the number of volunteer hours served. "You have no idea how much we appreciate you as volunteers," Marketing Director Julie Wolf told the pink-smocked volunteers as Loma Jean Wynn, 1994-95 president of the auxiliary, helped distribute the pins.

Madred Bradley, past president of the auxiliary, presented roses to each of the 1994-95 officers as they were recognized at the luncheon. The officers, in addition to Wynn, are Jacque Thomas, president elect; Jo Reynolds, vice president; Mildred Buchanan, secretary and Muriel Prokschl, treasurer.

"You have no idea how much we appreciate you as volunteers."

Julie Wolf
SMMC marketing director

The auxiliary presented $2,000 scholarships to several Howard College students. First-year nursing students receiving scholarships were Thelma Colegrove, Rebekah Jackson and Karen Thurman. First-year radiology students receiving scholarships were Michelle Gonzalez, Mike Graham, Tim Marshall and Tracy Moore.

The volunteers donate proceeds from the hospital gift shop, popcorn machine and other projects to fund the scholarships.

Joyce Orr, 1993-94 auxiliary president, mentioned purchase of the popcorn machine as one of several projects undertaken by the auxiliary in the last year. Other projects included purchase of a CPR mannequin, publishing of a cookbook and purchase of a plaque honoring deceased auxiliary members.

Guest speaker at the luncheon was Royce Clay, minister of 14th and Main Church of Christ. Music was provided by Carl Reynolds, Murray Vise and Homer Wilkerson.

Fire department flushing hydrants

The Big Spring Fire Department is continuing its effort to flush city hydrants and check their operation. Most of the work will be done Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and will continue for the next 30 days.

Residents may notice period changes in their water color or pressure. Water may also be on the streets where hydrants are being flushed. This procedure is done twice yearly to ensure hydrants are working properly.

Forden County sets dates for rodeo

GAIL — The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has announced the 1994 Forden County Junior Rodeo is scheduled for June 3 and 4 at the County Arena in Gail.

Eight all-around buckles will be awarded as prizes. Stick horse races will be featured for the younger rodeo stars and a concession stand will help to raise funds.

Rodeo proceeds will fund the annual junior livestock show scheduled annually in January. For more information, contact Connie Stipe (806) 756-4391 or (915) 573-5278.

Celliac support group to meet on April 23

Forsan schedules reunion for Aug. 6

Forsan School's All-Class Reunion will start at 9 a.m. Aug. 6 at the Forsan High School cafeteria.

Ex-students, teachers and friends are invited to renew friendships and exchange notes. Dress is casual. Pre-registration is desired. Fee is $10 per person; students and children under 17 years old are $6 each.

For more information, contact Boyce Hale, HC-76, Box 157-F, Big Spring, Texas 79720, 1-915-267-6957; or Darrell Adams, 2808 South County Road, Midland, Texas 79703, 1-915-697-4352.

Donations are welcomed so the ex-student newsletter can be continued. Please contact other students and let them know about the reunion.

Contributions sought for scholarship fund

The 1941 Study Club has named its annual scholarship in honor of Doris Tiller, who had been a club member for 30 years. This scholarship is given annually to a senior from Coahoma High School, where Tiller taught for more than 25 years. The scholarship has been set up at Coahoma State Bank and anyone may contribute. Contributions may be given in person or sent to Coahoma State Bank, P.O. Box 140, Coahoma, Texas 39511.

Send a donation, obtain free trees

Ten free shade trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during April. The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The ten shade trees are Red Oak, Weeping Willow, Sugar Maple, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Pin Oak, River Birch, Tulip tree, Silver Maple, and Red Maple.

"These trees were selected to provide shade and beauty, and a variety of forms, leaf shapes, and fall colors," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in April or May with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's "Arbor Day" news magazine, The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care, and a membership card.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to FREE SHADE TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by April 30, 1994.

Battered women's center slates annual walkathon

MIDLAND — The Permian Basin Center for Battered Women and Their Children will hold its third annual "Families Matter" Walkathon and Fun Run on April 16 from 9 - 11 a.m.

The center provided a total of 647 shelter nights to residents of Howard County alone during the first six months of 1993. Counseling for members of families who do not reside at the shelter is also provided.

The center also hosts Project ADAM, a program to help men who are verbally or physically violent to better manage their anger, to feel better about themselves and to further promote the chances of family healing.

For more information, call 683-1300, 563-0800 or call the Howard County Mental Health Center, Dawn Dominguez at 263-0027.

Liver

seven, she hasn't had any major problems. The doctors want her to gain weight and grow. She's really slim now.

Beatrice is nine years old but is only in the second grade. Trips to the doctors and two surgeries put her behind a couple of years in school. "I like school. I like coloring and cutting. My favorite subject is art," said Beatrice.

Beatrice's family is planning a fundraiser for her on May 20 at the Tres Amigos Night Club. "Devotion will be there. They are a Tejano band from Sweetwater. Right now, my insurance is paying for things. The money raised at the fundraiser will help with the medical bills after the transplant is done. The insurance should cover most of it, but not all and that money will be used at that time," explained Albert.

Beatrice's underdeveloped liver restricts the flow of blood to the organ. The doctors are not sure how she will do in the future with a new organ.

Albert encourages people to get on the donor list. "There is a long waiting line for liver transplants. It's important for people to sign up and say they will be a donor," added Albert.

Beatrice may be shy but she is not one to let her medical problem get in the way of succeeding in school.

Highway

Therefore, the conclusion of the transportation committee is "pursuing a strategy of opening a trade corridor with Mexico through Del Rio with appropriate short term efforts," explained Burns. "And the security of developing I-27 as our long term strategy."

"Or, if the coalition that we are in on I-27 decides, as they are positioned now, that they do not wish to endorse a route below San Angelo; that we will support the coalition on the I-27 situation and we will begin pursuing a Mexican trade corridor as a separate strategy. We will actually be pursuant of both short and long term strategies," Burns said. "We feel that the Mexican trade avenue is at least as important as the I-27 Highway itself."

The San Angelo chamber cannot endorse a route south from there because of their commitment to San Antonio and Corpus Christi, Burns said. They cannot endorse a route south of San Angelo unless released by those two cities' chambers to do so.

"We are now courting Amarillo," Burns explained. "If you draw a straight line between Mexico City and Amarillo, it directly runs through the dead-center of Big Spring. The best win for Amarillo is joining with us in building a trade corridor west of the highly impacted Laredo-San Antonio I-35 corridor to the east. We feel that Laredo is gridlocked and needs a relief point, and the natural choice for that is Del Rio."

"An interesting fact," Burns said, "is that 65 percent of the population of Mexico lies east of that line. Because of NAFTA, this trade is predicted to more than double in just the next couple of years."

Burns added "Another terribly interesting fact about that line is that the proposed route of our good friends, Midland-Odessa, lies west of the line, on the 35 percent side."

"An editorial in the Dallas paper this week," said Burns, "stated that none of these proposed routes are significant. The editorial," Burns said, "Only identified the Abilene Turnpike route specifically, and proposed instead a massive upgrading of I-35, building an exclusive truck lane."

"Remember, there are more votes in Dallas than in West Texas period. They are a significant force," Burns said.

"This is guesswork now, but we don't think this is going to interfere with the corridor study per se," he explained. "It may greatly affect when the Interstate may actually get built, if there is a serious shifting of highway funds."

"There is good news about the newest appointment of a state highway commissioner," he said. "He is Ruben R. Cardenas, an attorney from McAllen, in the Rio Grande Valley. Cardenas has friends and family in El Paso, and this is something that will help," Burns commented. "Corpus Christi's support may be of great help, as they are significant

"Beatrice likes to play at recess with her friends. She may get a little tired afterwards, but that doesn't stop her. The medicines remind us that she is sick but we are glad she is still here and she isn't one to give up anytime soon," said Albert.

located in consideration of who the new commissioner is."

"The general community does not think Big Spring is as active in efforts to acquire I-27 in comparison to Midland-Odessa," he said. "The reason for that is they have all the television coverage. The TV stations are just beating it to death."

"We've had very good support out of the newspaper and radio stations," he stated. "We're just outgunned as far as the media goes. We feel that's going to be an ongoing problem, which is why we need to get this message out."

Cancer treatment being investigated

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has launched an investigation into a Stafford doctor whose unconventional cancer treatment has been under fire for more than a decade. Harris County Attorney Mike Driscoll says.

The Houston Chronicle reported today that the investigation has been under way at least two weeks and has drawn in Driscoll, who sits on the board of directors of the research institute operated by Dr. Stanislaw Burzynski.

One subpoena was issued for Driscoll two weeks ago and another last week called for the production of records from the county attorney's office.

Deliberations continued in Tilton fraud trial

DALLAS (AP) — Jurors in their second day of deliberations today are continuing to weigh the allegations of fraud leveled at former television evangelist Robert Tilton.

Jurors deliberated for 3 1/2 hours Tuesday afternoon before U.S. District Judge Joe Kendall sent them home for the night.

Tilton, his ex-wife Marte and his suburban Dallas Word of Faith World Outreach Church were named in the lawsuit filed by Mike and Vivian Elliott of Tampa.

The suit alleged Tilton's ministry was a get-rich-quick scheme preying on the troubled and the poor.

But Tilton's attorney Rhonda Johnson Byrd said religious faith is itself on trial.

Hutchison votes against Kelso

WASHINGTON (AP) — Worries over the Tailhook '91 scandal placed Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison in alliance with the Senate's six other women for the first time since the Texas Republican entered Congress last June.

The seven — five Democrats and two Republicans — voted Tuesday to oppose the retirement of Adm. Frank B. Kelso II at his current four-star rank, arguing that he bore some responsibility for Tailhook and its subsequent investigation.

"This is the first time the seven women of the Senate have pulled together (on one issue). It should be noted. It should be heeded. It is important," said Sen. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif.

Tuesday's lengthy debate was as much about the senators' sensitivity to the role of women in society as it was about Kelso. In the end, the Senate approved Kelso's retirement at the four-star level, on a 54-43 vote. Texas GOP Sen. Phil Gramm voted for the admiral's retirement at top grade.

Had Kelso been forced to retire at the lower grade, he would have received $16,873 less a year than a four-star admiral's $84,340 annual pension.

Prison bed audit under review

AUSTIN (AP) — An audit that said there were 5,500 empty prison beds available in the state prison system is being reviewed by the Texas attorney general's office.

Attorney General Dan Morales said his staff would complete the review as soon as possible. But Morales said he would oppose using any prison beds that could place the state prison system back "under the thumb" of federal court control.

If that happened, he said, federal courts would probably place population caps on prisons currently under construction.

"Who knows how many beds that would cost us? Very likely tens of thousands of state prison beds," Morales said.

Delay sought in implementing plan

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the state Senate Natural Resources Committee has asked that a plan for use and oversight of Texas' 370-mile gulf coast be postponed until after the Legislature meets next year.

State Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, on Tuesday told Land Commissioner Garry Mauro that proposed rules for the Coastal Zone Management Plan "exceed the intent of the Legislature."

"I believe it is in the best interest of the state of Texas to hold off the adoption of the proposed rules until the Legislature has had the opportunity to debate the proposals and act on them accordingly," Sims said.

Sims asked that the Coastal Coordination Council delay adopting the plan until Sept. 1, 1995.

Mauro said the council will consider adopting the plan in June, and then decide when to put it into effect.

New look at Waco raid is called for

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Critics of federal law enforcement's handling of the standoff with the Branch Davidians are renewing their call for an independent investigation of the botched raid and 51-day siege.

The American Civil Liberties Union and two guns-rights groups Tuesday kicked off their lobbying campaign for a new probe on the one-year anniversary of the conflagration that claimed the lives of religious leader David Koresh and 78 followers.

The date was also commemorated by a small group of activists picketing outside the FBI and the White House. A loosely-knit organization known as the Committee for Waco Justice organized the White House demonstration and candlelight vigil to keep in the public eye the tragic spectacle of April 19, 1993, when flames swept through the Davidians' camp and.

Waving signs reading "FBI: Skin-heads in Tanks," "Waco: FBI's Hate Crime" and "Never Forget Waco," a dozen or so activists paraded in front of the FBI headquarters as agency employees, tourists and reporters looked on. A larger group later assembled on the Ellipse backing the White House, where small wooden crosses had been erected to commemorate the dead sect members.

Bonnie Haldeman, left, mother of David Koresh, places a cross bearing her son's name on the fence which surrounds the charred remains of the Branch Davidian compound as Davidian Edna Doyle, right, watches during a memorial service marking the first anniversary of the fire which killed Koresh and 78 of his followers Tuesday in Waco.

"I'm disappointed no serious investigation has been undertaken," said Brad Dolan, a Rockwood, Tenn., engineer who traveled to Washington with his wife and two toddlers to attend the demonstration outside the FBI building.

Dolan, who learned of the demonstration on the Internet global computer network, said he doubts Congress will revisit the issue.

"Congress will do what it's pressured to do," said another demonstrator, Burke, Va., homemaker Carol Valentine, who traveled to Waco after the siege's end to meet with surviving Davidians.

States suing for costs of illegal aliens

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Frustrated with the pace of the immigration debate in Washington, a few states are likely to join Florida in suing the federal government for the millions of dollars they say it costs to educate, imprison and provide health care to illegal immigrants.

Some members of Congress also are growing impatient with the Clinton administration's review of immigration policy, due to be completed by next year, and are moving ahead with proposals of their own. They range from making Washington pay the states' bills to developing a tamper-proof Social Security card to make it easier to keep illegal residents out of the workplace.

This week, for example, a few House members are trying to amend crime legislation to require the federal government to pay states for incarcerating illegal aliens convicted of crimes.

"All of a sudden, immigration sort of arrived, or ripened and blossomed as a national issue," said Rep. Anthony Beilenson, D-Calif., an author of the amendment, which will be considered this week.

"It is fair to say the administration is straddling the fence" on his measure, Beilenson said Tuesday. "They are supportive of the concept and they are supportive of appropriating some money for this purpose, but they are opposed to the mandatory nature of the payments."

Governors support Beilenson's effort but are not counting on it to succeed, and instead are turning increasingly to the courts for help.

Florida Gov. Lawton Chiles, a Democrat, sued the federal government April 12, seeking $1.5 billion — roughly what he said it will cost Florida over two years to provide education, health care, prison beds and other services to an estimated 345,000 illegal immigrants in the state.

California is likely to be the next state to take the illegal-immigration debate to court, with New York not far behind.

"We've seen the political process fail us before," said Leslie A. Goodman, deputy chief of staff to California Gov. Pete Wilson, a Republican. "Unless the courts make Congress pay the bill, the political process won't work."

Nixon takes a turn for the worse

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Former President Nixon suffered swelling of the brain in a turn for the worse one day after a stroke left him partially paralyzed on his right side and unable to speak.

He was listed in critical condition early today.

"One has to say his prognosis is guarded," Dr. Fred Plum, chief of neurology at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, said late Tuesday. He said the brain swelling was the most serious threat. "These are critical hours."

For the first time since Nixon was stricken Monday evening, doctors described his stroke as "major."

The 81-year-old Nixon was returned to intensive care late Tuesday, two hours after leaving the unit for a private room. Earlier in the day, doctors had said he was out of grave danger, alert and in good spirits but unable to speak.

"We thought Mr. Nixon was doing quite well," Plum said. But after he was moved to the private room, "it was apparent he'd taken a turn for the worse."

Strokes — damage to part of the brain, caused by insufficient blood supply — are the nation's third-leading cause of death. They strike about 500,000 people annually, killing one-third.

Wilson is visiting the Texas-Mexico border Friday to open a week of events highlighting the costs associated with illegal immigration, capped by plans to file a lawsuit in San Diego. California's case will focus on the costs of incarcerating illegal immigrants.

Wilson estimates it will cost California $403 million in fiscal 1995 to imprison more than 18,000 illegal-alien felons. Nationally, it costs states an estimated $600 million for prison beds and services for an estimated 30,000 undocumented immigrants.

Wilson is expected to file additional lawsuits later to make California's challenge as broad as the Florida case, but decided to proceed first with the crime aspects of the immigration costs.

Share your opinion on possible jail site

More than 2,000 citizens of Howard County have an opinion on the site of the proposed county jail.

And, they have expressed it.

Monday, Howard County Judge Ben Lockhart received a petition bearing more than 2,000 names of citizens supporting a Northside site for the new jail. Previously, 535 business people said they preferred a downtown site for the jail, through a facsimile poll conducted by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

The question is: What is the opinion of the rest of the citizens of this county?

So far, only 16 percent of the county's residents have expressed an opinion as to where the jail should go.

The Howard County Commissioners' Court has to decide where the jail will go. City officials will have some input into the decision, but, since it is our tax money that will be paying for the jail, it is us that should have say where it goes.

The only way to have your say is to let them know.

A public hearing on the jail should be conducted, at a time when most of the citizens of this county can attend.

At that time, citizens can have their say, share their ideas and concerns with the court, and help them to make a decision on something this county can't afford to put off much longer.

Forget about Singapore for a moment. We have flogging in this country, and most of the time it isn't considered a big deal.

Consider what happened to Jose and his twin brother, Angel, who live in Chicago. The flogging they endured makes Singapore justice seem like patty-cake.

And unlike the American in Singapore, who engaged in vandalism, Jose and Angel weren't guilty of anything.

It was simply their misfortune to have a mother who lacked many traditional maternal instincts.

The floggings happened about three years ago, when Angel and Jose were 4 years old.

They were brought to a hospital in rough shape. From head to toe, front and back, they were covered with severe welts.

Plus some fingernail scratches, cigarette burns, space heater burns and other wounds.

The doctors were horrified and demanded that the mother explain what happened.

It turned out that she, like many parents, suffered from stress. You know how kids can get on one's nerves.

So when they became the source of too much stress, she whipped them with a length of cable.

While treating Jose and Angel, the doctors counted the cable lashes. The final tally was remarkable, considering the small size of the children. Each of them had between 60 and 70 flogging wounds.

That would be enough to punish about 20 lawbreakers in Singapore. And it has been a long time since I saw "Mutiny on the Bounty," but I'm sure that Captain Bligh never dished out that many strokes to a smart-alecky sailor.

As an aide to Patrick Murphy, the

Mike Royko

Cook County public guardian, described it:

"Jose's loop marks were of varying ages. He had loop marks in the groin area, some within an inch or two of his penis. His back and buttocks were just covered with lines.

Jose also had two open, healing burn marks on his ankles, which were caused from being held against a space heater.

"Though Jose's injuries were severe and quite horrifying, Angel's appeared worse, or at least, more numerous. Angel's neck was covered with fingernail marks and cigarette burns. He, too, had numerous marks up and down his small body. On his right hip, Angel was burned with a triangular-shaped object, probably an iron. Also, Angel's ankles were bruised."

Fortunately, the doctors blew the whistle, and the law stepped in.

The mother, which is stretching that precious word a bit, was charged with child abuse. The twins were taken from her and put in a foster home.

And now their wounds have healed and their foster parents are talking about adopting them.

A happy ending? Nah, you should know better than that.

Patrick Murphy would like it to end happily, with the children being adopted by people with whom they feel safe and secure. And that is what he is asking Juvenile Court to do.

The twins would like it to end happily, which means they don't want any more to do with a mom who whipped them like galley slaves.

But that would make too much sense. At least to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, which never fails to amaze.

Murphy's office says that DCFS wants to shift custody of the boys to an uncle. And who does the uncle live with? With the cable-wielding mom.

So, in effect, Angel and Jose will be reunited with the person who put all those scars on their little bodies.

A Murphy aide says: "The boys do not want to return home, do not trust (their mother) and in fact, are frightened by her. Moreover, they do not consider her to be their mother. Is it any wonder?"

But this shouldn't be a surprise. Nationally, many social service agencies are obsessed with the idea of reuniting families, even if the family environment was nothing more than a torture chamber.

With obvious logic, Murphy's office says: "The best interests of these children mandate terminating parental rights and allowing them to become adopted by their foster parents. The boys have lived in the same foster home for three years, are bonded to their foster parents and consider the foster parents to be their actual parents."

The social workers disagree, so a judge will have to decide. Let's hope he has more sense than some state bureaucrats.

One thing I will say for the Singapore authorities. They might flog that American youth, but they aren't going to require that he go home with the guy who flogged him and say: "Thanks, Pop, I needed that."

Only in America.

Respect, responsibility, forgotten words

We all know that high school football coaches are tough mothers but tough enough to take a cane flogging?

Coach Daniel Volger of Harlingen has sent a letter to Singapore officials and the White House asking that he be allowed to take the flogging for Michael P. Fay.

Fay, as we all know by now, will be flogged publicly six times in Singapore for his conviction on vandalism, mischief and possession of stolen property.

I have to admit, if Fay had committed those crimes in the United States, a slap on the wrist - not a hard one at that - would have been about all he would have gotten.

Volger believes Fay will learn his lesson and justice will be served if Fay has to watch someone else get flogged in his place.

Now, whether this former Marine sergeant and freshman football coach has a high threshold for pain, why should he take the punishment for an 18-year-old who should have known better?

What is hard to believe is this coach thinks this kid will learn his lesson when someone else takes his punishment for him.

I think Fay, while quaking in his boots, waiting for the execution date, won't be thinking about Volger, but thinking "Thank God it isn't me!"

This generation is going to become the "Blame anyone but me for my actions" generation. Nice thought.

Commit any crime you want and blame it on society, your mom and dad or the guy next door not liking you when you were little.

This has been my problem with cases like Lorena Bobbitt and Lyle and Eric Menendez.

They committed the crime. There has to be some punishment for that.

This country doesn't want to become compassionless so there needs to be some measure that people pay for their crimes, but extenuating circumstances are taken into account during sentencing.

This way, they don't get away scot-free from the responsibility of what they have done and the country still can show its compassion for abused children, abused spouses or other victims.

Coach Volger made a kind offer but one that won't make a responsible man out of Fay.

But, he did have one thing to say that made sense. "It's (Singapore) a respectful country, highly respectful. I think in turn we have to show it our respect."

Every country around this world has its own set of rules and regulations that govern its civilization. Often, they don't agree with the way the rules are set up in this country.

It is simple a matter of respect for that country to understand its rules and abide by them. After all we are Americans in a foreign country, visitors.

Think how you expect visitors to act in your home. Respectful of the furniture, not acting like they own your home and respectful of your and the rules of your home.

That's the same kind of courtesy owed other countries when Americans go to visit. But, it is not a courtesy Americans on trips are known for.

Singapore doesn't want us interfering with how they run their country. If the roles were reversed, we would be telling Singapore, very nicely of course, to stick it.

Someday, we have to learn that we can't have it both ways. We can't expect other countries to respect us and even like us if, in turn, we can't display the same respect and liking.

Yes, we're Americans and, even better, we're Texans.

What we have to remember is that ethnocentric pride we have about our state and our country, other people have about theirs.

That needs to be respected. DD Turner is managing editor of the Herald.

The last of the cowboys

The Harveys discovered Phoenix, Ariz., when THE hotel was the Westward Ho, now a faded retirement home.

Suburban Scottsdale was orange groves, LuLu Belle's restaurant and the Red Dog Saloon. Now its quaint western atmosphere has been supplanted by gargantuan multistoried shopping malls, and the area includes half a hundred hotels, not one with any western flavor.

Now every place looks like anyplace.

Yankees — attracted to the Valley of the Sun by the dryness and the perimeter mountains — planted and irrigated grass and shrubs until the area's 3 degree humidity became 33 degrees.

With one-upmanship, they scarred the beautiful horizons, building roads to ever-higher home sites, each intruder eager to be "King of the Mountain."

But then, as cowboy Perk Carlson says, "If life were logical, it's men who would ride sidesaddle."

I may be the last emigre who still "dresses western."

The bola tie is recognized as official neckwear by state proclamation — yet you rarely see one.

Even the doormen at the historic Arizona Biltmore abandoned their Stetsons in deference to the new Japanese owners.

The few cowboys left in the state have long since traded chaps for jeans and horses for pickups.

The few locals yet to be seen on horseback are tourists renting rides, or else they are imports in town for the rodeo.

And even rodeo broncobusters have switched to saddles without horns.

Paul Harvey

That's a shame.

It was a cowboy coming down at the same time the horse was going up — that's how the yodel was born.

So, as I say, I may be the last Phoenician to dress western, for every year, it is a longer drive to someplace that still sells traditional broad-brimmed hats.

Recently, I drove to Scottsdale to visit a merchant friend there.

I'm wearing my best-west — the boots, the Stetson, the big belt buckle and the bola.

No sooner am I out of the car than a tourist couple, suddenly wide-eyed, approached.

"What a delight," the woman said.

"Imagine meeting you of all people!" the man said.

"Might we take your picture?"

Vainly assuming they wanted evidence for the folks back home that they had met Paul Harvey, I dutifully posed with each.

After which the woman said, "You have made our day!" The man said, "You have made our vacation."

Then she said, "Mister, if you'll give us your name and address, we'll be glad to send you prints of the pictures."

She said, "We're from Connecticut. We've been here for a whole week — and you are THE FIRST REAL COWBOY we've seen!"

We have to work together

Editor:

Have been talking with people concerning the election coming up in May. Let me tell you, I don't think there is anyone as much concerned about the outcome in voters as I am. I hear people that a lot of Hispanic do not come in to vote, which is correct. But let me tell you, I've written about this time to time, that it really confuses a lot of the Northside voters.

The city keeps making changes, and believe me it will probably get worse than better, if any more changes are made. By having the district divided, did a lot of damage, because people don't want to go to two or three places to vote.

Why not leave it as it originally was and maybe the outcome will be better. It's true that a lot of people do not show interests, but stop and think maybe if candidates would show more interest to people or say voters and not only where they're campaigning, things would be different.

It hurts to see less and less Hispanics voting, but I believe if we help and show more interest together as a team there might be more progress.

Just remember there's a north and south to this city, should there be a division line in the middle? I've been working at the voting poll almost 30 years, as county judge and believe me it's very discouraging and disappointing in seeing the voters' concern going down — but it's like I said before, we must work as a team always, not just certain occasions — voters please speak up! Thanks for listening.

Graffiti gang strikes again

Editor:

Well it looks like the graffiti gang has hit Big Spring as it did Odessa. There has been several buildings decorated lately here in Big Spring. The old Furr's Grocery on Eleventh Place is the latest. Why can't they catch these artist by taking finger prints. Then make the artist pay for the paint and supplies it takes to clean the mess up. If they get caught again, send them to the detention center for a while. I think it's a disgrace that the ones who do these things do not have anymore to do than to destroy someone's property. It's not only the graffiti that has gotten out of hand. All these tires they slash are another thing and windshields they bust out. There's got to be a way to stop all this. Put a curfew on these kids that stay out to the wee hours of dawn to do all this.

Grand performance sincerely appreciated

Editor:

In recognition and thanks to Mr. Tim Haynes and for his superb direction of "The Lark," we are hoping for a repeat performance of this electrifying one act play. If you have not seen this play, don't miss any opportunity to see it. The cast and crew give the performance of a lifetime and are unequaled by anything on Broadway.

The spirit and incredible energy confirms that the true philosophy of education and it's instructors can bring forth the untapped potential of our students. Direction, discipline and fulfillment are qualities provided by a very special and talented Mr. Tim Haynes.

Thank you, Mr. Haynes for all of your hard work, long hours and sacrifice.

Thanks Big Spring for all of your help

To the city of Big Spring and some very special people:

I want to thank God for out doing the devil. The devil made our motor blow up, but God let it happen in Big Spring. The people are the very best.

Texas Wrecking gave my husband a job; the city let us stay in the park until Rev. Arnold Tonn of Spring Tabernacle had a place for my family. We feel so good about Big Spring and the people that we made Big Spring our home. I have sent a letter to Gov. Richards telling her what a great town Big Spring is and also how great KBYG and busy every one there is. I also want to thank some very special people. Mr. Jack Boyd, Becky, his daughter, and her friend Nancy. A man called Eddie, the young man with the bag of groceries, the Pro at the golf course and his friend, and Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Fiveash. Rev. and Mrs. Tonn, you'll always be in my heart and in my prayers. I thank God for everyone in Big Spring. Big Spring is the town that makes the world know that there is still hope for America. Mr. Clinton could and should use OUR town as an example.

I Sincerely Thank each and every one of you and may God bless you all.

Oil industry needs grass roots help

Editor:

Recently, my employer attended a meeting with a former United States Secretary of Energy. When questioned about why the oil industry gets no government help compared to other industries, not only does the management actively participate in the political process, but the rank and file members of those industries get involved, write letters, and lobby for help for their industry.

During this meeting, the former secretary pointed out that service companies have been losing more jobs than the oil companies themselves. It was also pointed out that more than 400,000 jobs have been lost since 1981 in the oil and gas industries. Many companies are still announcing more job cuts. In this same time frame, the auto industry gained about 3 percent in employment (20,000 jobs gained). Needless to say, the auto industry received government help - import quotas and tariffs.

It has been estimated that $11 dollar a barrel crude prices will cause 50,000 marginal wells to be abandoned in the next year. With the permanent loss of over a billion barrels of oil and 40,000 additional jobs, while billions of dollars have been spent and continues to be spent on protecting the supply of Middle East crude. For instance, the cost of Desert Storm and the continued military presence in the Persian Gulf.

What has been spent to protect our domestic supply? Nothing. In fact, our government is practically regulating our domestic oil industry out of business.

This is why all of us in this area must get involved — from the grocery clerks to school teacher, even those who seemingly receive no benefits from the oil industry. Most of us live in towns that prospered because of the oil industry. Don't we at the least owe this industry a few minutes of our time?

We need a massive grass roots movement, where ordinary people like you and I take the time to write the president of the United States asking for help to stabilize prices at a fair market value in this country, so we will not become dependent on foreign oil. These foreign powers would like nothing better than to put our domestic industry out of business, leaving us at their mercy.

If you are like me, and are fearing for the security of your country and your own personal well being, I strongly urge you to drop a short, hand written note or letter to the president. Insist that our government establish a national energy policy that will protect domestic oil and gas producers, and guarantee a fair market price for their products.

Prosperity in the oil patch would help create prosperity in many other areas not directly involved in the industry, and guarantee us the time to diversify. We must take action now before it's too late.

Please write to the president at the following address:

President Bill Clinton, The White House, Washington, D.C. 20500

Sincerely,

Ron McPowell

Something's fishy at county library

By JANET AUSBURY
Features Editor

Something fishy is going on at the Howard County Library, and it's all because this is National Library Week.

To celebrate National Library Week, the library has adopted the theme "Explore the Ocean." This is part of the library's ongoing "Exploring New Worlds" theme, which will continue for the next few months.

Jellyfish hanging from the ceiling (don't worry, they're not real) are part of the library's ocean decor. The fishy fun will continue Thursday with a 3:45 p.m. presentation of the movie "The Incredible Mr. Limpet."

Seating is limited to 50 people, so those wishing to attend the movie should preregister either in person or by phone.

The activities don't stop there, however. Each morning this week, the first five library patrons to check out a book receive an "Explore New Worlds" bookbag.

The bookbag giveaway is proving to be popular. "People didn't want us to quit giving them out," said Library Director Loraine Redman. Patrons after the first five will receive bookmarks to accompany the reading materials they have checked out.

The library's stuffed lion will be temporarily accompanied by seafaring decorations such as the jellyfish hanging from the ceiling. The library is celebrating National Library Week, April 18-22, with the theme "Explore the Ocean."

Redman invites individuals and groups to tour the library. Individuals can drop by any time; groups are requested to call ahead for an appointment. She will also visit the local schools to give students information about the library.

Future plans for the "Exploring New Worlds" theme include a summer reading program called "Book a Trip." Each of the seven continents will be profiled at the library.

The "Explore the Ocean" theme is designed to attract children to the library, but Redman hopes older patrons will also join in the fun and explore new worlds amid the books, videotapes and other materials.

School children have spoken. Peanut-butter-and-jelly sandwiches are passe. Milk is no more.

In a poll of 210 fourth- through sixth-grade children at three elementary schools in the Midwest, the Plantation Baking Co. asked the students to name their favorite sandwich to eat at lunch. Turkey was the overwhelming choice, named by 30 percent. PB&J was a distant second, with 12 percent of the vote, closely followed by ham with 11 percent.

Soft drinks were named the favorite beverage by 69 percent, almost seven out of 10 children. Far behind were fruit drinks (12 percent); milk (10 percent), chocolate milk (7 percent) and water (1 percent).

As after-school snacks, apples and other fruit trailed badly, with just 10 percent of the vote. Fruit was bested by brownies, which ranked as first choice by 31 percent, and by cookies (26 percent). Of cookie types, chocolate chip led the pack, to no one's surprise, with almost four out of every 10 children extolling their virtues.

Now that garden time is approaching, seed catalogs are sporting vegetables of purple persuasion: not only purple potatoes, but purple basil, purple bell peppers, purple radishes, purple-tinged leaf lettuces, purple wax beans.

Could there possibly be purple pumpkins? Why not? There are blue ones down in Australia.

New from Ben & Jerry's: Eight flavors with no chunks. It's called the smooth line. Samples were sent to newsrooms, packed in dry ice. In ours, an informal taste test voted mostly spoons up.

"I like it smooth. I got tired of those big old chunks," one taster said.

But there were two spoons down. — "It's good, but I miss the chunks."

— "I much prefer the original ... this new stuff seems like something that would be served in a nursing home."

From the fans, White Russian and Aztec Harvests Coffee got raves. Deep Dark Chocolate was well-liked, also. But Vanilla Caramel Fudge ("not much taste") and "it was okay," and Double Chocolate Fudge Swirl ("too rich") were less popular.

'Lock-up' to raise money for MDA services

Special to the Herald

Some of Big Spring's most notorious citizens will be locked up for "good" on Thursday between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The ERA Reeder Realtors office at 506 E. Fourth will be the lock-up site for "jailbirds" such as Richard Atkins of Big Spring Hardware;

Karen Ray from the Federal Correctional Institute; Tammy Watt of the Big Spring Mall; Murray Murphy, assistant superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District; Kent Brown of Pollard Chevrolet; George White, superintendent of the Forsan Independent School District; Shelly Neighbors of Neighbors Auto; Johnny Palmer of Fraser Industries; Cindy Hopper of HEB and "most wanted" Johnnie Lou Avery.

This list is not complete; there are more to come and some surprise arrests to be made. The public is invited to visit the "prisoners," contribute toward their release or volunteer to be a "jailbird." ERA Reeder Realtors is sponsoring the lock-up.

Funds raised through the lock-up will help improve the quality of life for more than 200 children and adults in the Permian Basin area who are served by the MDA.

These services include monthly clinics, support groups, therapy, orthopedic equipment, genetic counseling and summer youth camp for patients ages 6 to 21. Services are provided at no direct cost to the patients or their families.

For more information contact Patricia Jackson, Muscular Dystrophy Association, P.O. Box 8514, Midland, Texas 79708, or call 1-684-2405 or 1-366-7588.

SMMC gives nutrition, cancer prevention tips

Special to the Herald

Most of us are concerned, curious, and sometimes confused over associating nutrition with cancer. This relationship is complex and easy to misunderstand.

"April is Cancer Control Month, and at Scenic Mountain Medical Center we are taking very seriously the importance of education in cancer prevention," said Vincent Clemons, SMMC clinical dietitian.

According to American Cancer Society data, extensive research is under way to evaluate and clarify the role diet plays in the development of cancer. Evidence indicates that people may reduce their cancer risk by observing these ACS nutrition guidelines:

1. Maintain a desirable weight. Individuals 40 percent or more overweight increase their risk of colon, breast, prostate, gallbladder, ovary, and uterus cancers.
2. Eat a varied diet. A varied diet eaten in moderation offers the best hope for lowering the risk of cancer.
3. Include a variety of vegetables and fruits in the daily diet. Studies have shown that daily consumption of vegetables and fresh fruits is associated with a decreased risk of lung, prostate, bladder, esophagus, colorectal, and stomach cancers.

4. Eat more high-fiber foods such as whole grain cereals, breads, and pasta; and vegetables and fruits.

5. Cut down on total fat intake. A diet high in fat may be a factor in the development of certain cancers, particularly breast, colon, and prostate.

6. Limit consumption of alcohol, if you drink at all. Heavy drinking, especially when accompanied by cigarette smoke or smokeless tobacco use, increases risk of cancers of the mouth, larynx, throat, esophagus and liver.

7. Limit consumption of salt-cured, smoked and nitrite-cured foods. In areas of the world where salt-cured and smoked foods are eaten frequently, there is higher incidence of cancer of the esophagus and stomach.

To learn more about cancer and nutrition, Scenic Mountain Medical Center invites you to attend a FREE health talk program entitled, "Cancer, Immunity and Nutrition," hosted by Clemons. The program will be Thursday, April 21, 7-8 p.m. in the hospital classroom.

Hors d'oeuvres will be served immediately following the presentation. Seating is limited, so call 263-1211, ext. 100 to reserve a space.

Epilepsy drug may calm mania

By DON KIRKMAN
Scripps Howard News Service

People who suffer the mood swings of manic depression may be calmed by an anti-epilepsy drug.

Researchers at the University of Texas say the drug divalproex sodium is the first effective treatment for manic depression's "up" side.

Manic depression victims suffer mood swings that vary from extreme depression to euphoric elation. The "up" side causes temperamental outbursts, delusions, hypersexuality and insomnia.

Led by Dr. Charles Bowden, head of biological psychiatry at the university's Health Science Center in San Antonio, researchers found divalproex sodium helped 48 percent of the manic depressives who received it during testing.

That means manic depressives now can be treated by two therapies: lithium, and divalproex sodium. Bowden said divalproex sodium is invaluable for manic depressives whose mood swings can't be controlled by lithium.

The researchers have asked the Food and Drug Administration to license divalproex sodium for treating manic depression.

Legally, physicians don't have to wait for the FDA, a spokesman for the National Depressive and Manic-Depressive Association said. Because divalproex sodium already is a licensed drug, physicians can use it to treat a variety of illnesses, including manic depression.

If you're a jogger, early morning is the healthiest time to run.

So says Dr. Bernard Goldstein, an environmental medicine specialist at the University of Medicine & Dentistry of New Jersey, who points out that ozone levels are at their lowest levels in the early morning.

Ozone is by far the worst environmental pollutant, Goldstein says. It irritates the airways leading to the lungs, causes chest tightness and discomfort and irritates the eyes, nose and throat.

However, ozone doesn't begin building up until the sun has been out for a few hours, and it stops accumulating after sundown.

Quality.
Why settle for anything
but the best?

Quality is important to you in everything you own. But it's even more important when you're choosing a diamond. Because quality is what gives a diamond its rare beauty, its dazzling sparkle.

What is it that determines the quality of a diamond? The 4Cs - Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat weight - are the important characteristics that give a diamond its value. And to understand the difference between diamonds, Cut is the precise formula for cutting a diamond to allow the maximum amount of light to pass through. Color refers to the different gradations from exceptional white to yellowish. Quality is also determined by Clarity, the degree to which a diamond is free of interior and exterior flaws. Finally, there is Carat weight, the size of the diamond. Fine quality diamonds simply look better, and will enhance any jewelry design. Come in and see our wide selection of fine quality diamonds in elegantly designed settings. You'll see that all diamonds are not the same.

Steers leap into first-place tie

By STEVE REAGAN
Sports writer

For the Big Spring Steers, it was a case of just enough Tuesday.

The Steers had just enough pitching, just enough hitting and just enough defense against San Angelo Lake View, and it was just enough to put Big Spring in a tie for first in District 3-4A.

The Steers scored three runs in the fifth inning, and Todd Parrish and Luis Bustamante made it stick for a 3-2 win over the Chiefs at Steer Park.

The win moves Big Spring (17-5 overall, 6-2 in league play) into a two-way tie with Lake View atop the district standings. Lake View fell to 12-11 overall with the loss.

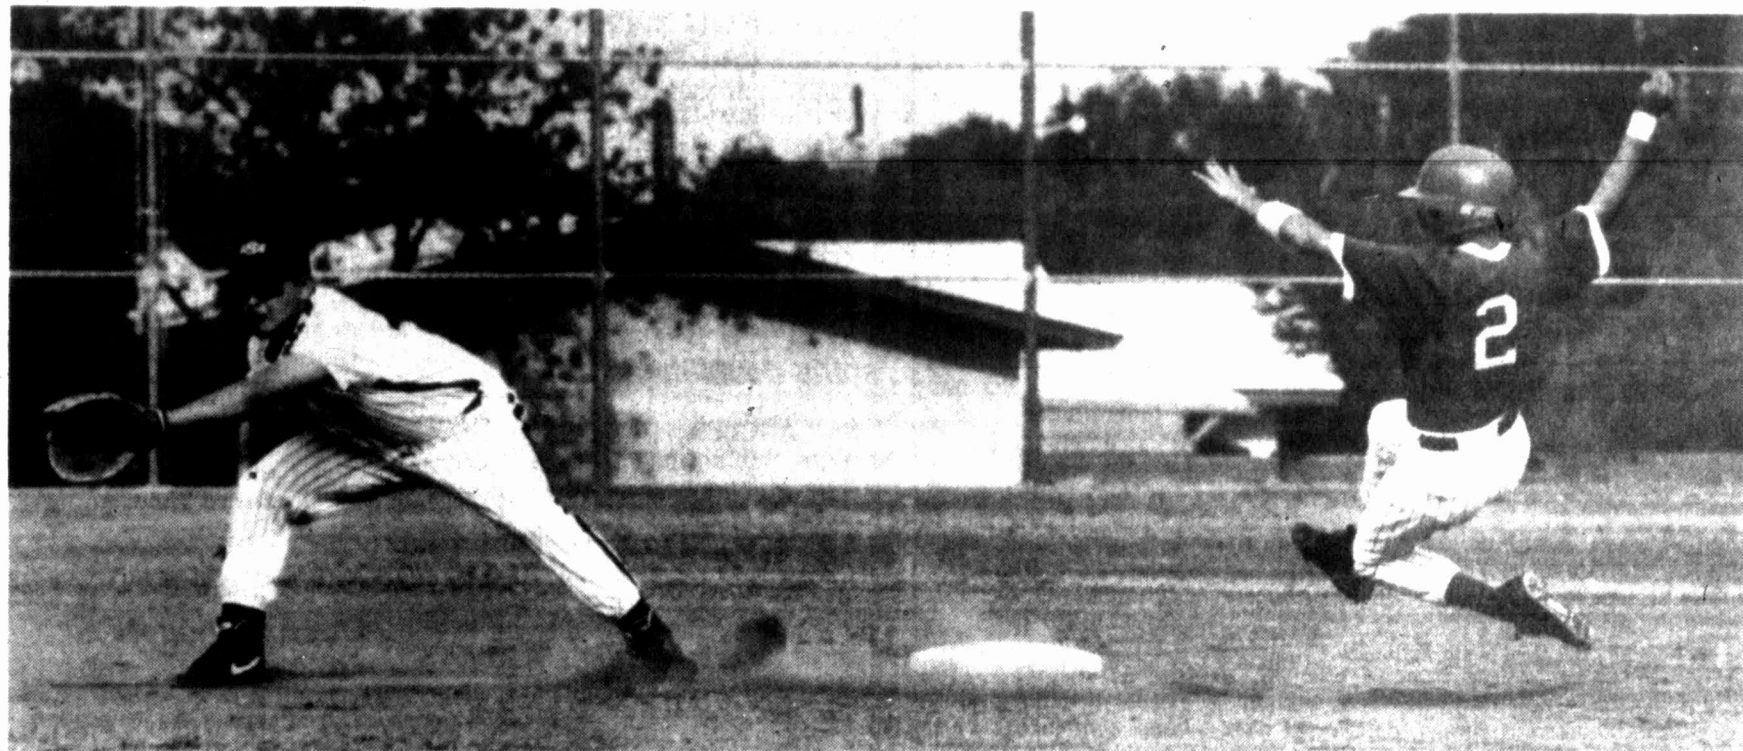

Although Parrish (4-1) tired noticeably near the end, his fastball kept the Steers out of trouble most of the game. Offensively, Big Spring was out-hit 7-5 by the Chiefs, but the Steers took advantage of one big inning to grab the lead.

Up until the fifth, both Parrish and Lake View starter Raymond Rodriguez (6-3) were cruising, but in the bottom of the stanza, the Steers grabbed the lead for good.

Big Spring loaded the bases on a single by Parrish, a fielder's choice grounder by Cody Hedges and a bobbled grounder off the bat of Frankie Martinez.

Then, with one out, Trey Terrazas ripped a single to left field, scoring two runs. The Steers added another when Martinez scored on a fielder's choice, and Big Spring had a 3-0 lead.

Parrish had little trouble making the lead stand until the seventh.

Lake View's Kevin Weidner (2) steals second as Big Spring's Ricky Gonzales takes the throw. Big Spring had the upper hand, however, and defeated Lake View 3-2 at Steer Park Tuesday.

Lake View, which had scratched for one run in the sixth on a RBI single by Marc Childress, started the inning with an infield single by Beau Kiser, who stole second and went to third on a groundout by Kevin Weidner. Alfred Hogeda then beat out another infield single, this one off Parrish's right hand, bringing in Kiser to make the score 3-2.

Brandon Dickson then worked the count to 2-and-0 before BSIS coach Bobby Doe lifted Parrish in favor of Bustamante. The senior right-hander made a fine play on Dickson's grounder up the middle, then forced Rodriguez to fly out to left to end the game.

Lake View coach Bill Savell said the Chiefs, who have a deserved reputation for manufacturing runs, received a bit of their own medicine in the fifth.

"(Rodriguez) just hung a curve ball to Terrazas," Savell said. "The rest of the (inning) was just nickel-and-dime stuff, like we've been doing this year ... It was just a good job of hitting by Terrazas."

Doe said the Steers, who have been playing catchup against Lake View ever since the district race started, are now in a position to control their own destiny.

"I think we were ready to play today," he said. "I think we just got a little tight there at the end ... We've got four games left, and so do they. But they've got to go to Pecos and Sweetwater. Maybe those guys can knock each other off."

The Steers' game with Fort Stockton, originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon, has been moved to Friday. Game time is 4 p.m. at Steer Park.

Light clears district hurdle

By DAVE HARGRAVE
Sports Editor

FORSAN - Last track season, Forsan's Laurie Light placed fourth in the state in the Class A 300-meter hurdles. This season, Light has qualified for the regional meet in Levelland in both the 100 and 300 hurdles.

LIGHT

Not bad for a girl who never ran hurdles before high school.

Even more impressive for a girl who still treats track as a way to stay in shape for basketball.

Track Bests, page 10

Perhaps that's precisely the attitude that has made the Forsan junior such a success. She doesn't put much pressure on herself, as evidenced by her efforts Friday at the District 3-4A meet in Plains. Light turned in personal best times in both events, winning the 100 (16.84 seconds) and taking second in the 300 (47.90).

"That was only the third time she's run the 100 this year," said Forsan girls' track coach Johnny Schafer. "We've only ran it two other track meets, and it's just, well, we haven't been that serious about it, we just thought that since the 300 comes towards the end of the track meet, we've just been running the 100 every now and then just to give her something to do at the beginning of the meet."

That's just another intriguing part about Light and her hurdling success. Light, who stands 5-foot-6, said junior high coaches asked her to run the hurdles, but she wasn't brave enough to try them until high school.

"In seventh grade my coach suggested it, but I was too scared to do it so I told him no. I'd just stick with the 800, because I ran long distance in junior high," Light said. "I think I was just tired of just running the same old race, and it was something new. It doesn't feel so good to fall, but once you get it and you've done it, and you're used to it, it doesn't really bother you anymore. Hurdles aren't as scary anymore."

Light said watching the best hurdlers in the state last season helped her improve her technique, and she also gets plenty of help from Schafer, who ran hurdles at the state meet for Coahoma High School. This week, however, and as far as Light advances, she has at least one other person helping her - Tara DelaGarza, her one and only teammate.

DelaGarza, who runs the 100 and 200 for Forsan, did not qualify. Please see LIGHT, page 8

Blue Jays tear through Texas; Astros keep Cubs 0-for-Wrigley

By The Associated Press

TORONTO — Carlos Delgado has a suggestion for all those AL pitchers who can't seem to stop him.

"I'd throw it down the middle and start praying," a smiling Delgado said when asked how he'd pitch himself.

The rookie left fielder hit his league-leading eighth home run as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Texas Rangers 13-3 on Tuesday night.

Delgado, whose 18 RBIs are second in the American League to teammate Joe Carter's 20, hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning off reliever Rick Reed to give the Jays an 11-2 lead.

Toronto knocked out Texas starter Kevin Brown (0-4) in the fourth inning, just prior to Delgado's homer. Brown, whose ERA is 11.63, allowed 12 hits and 10 earned runs.

"(Delgado) doesn't appear to have any weak spots," Brown said. "If he does, nobody's found them yet."

Delgado said pitchers threw him mostly fastballs in the opening series of the season. "About the fourth game they started throwing me breaking balls. Now, they're just trying to mix it up," he said.

But what Delgado enjoys most about his contribution to the Blue Jays, who lead the American League with 107 runs in 14 games, is he doesn't have to do it every game.

"It can be a frightening thing to have to face a lineup that's as strong as ours from spots one through seven," said Paul Molitor, who had three of Toronto's season-high 17 hits. "Even with two outs this team is capable of breaking out."

Joe Carter got the Blue Jays started in the first with a run-scoring double, the 300th two-base hit of his career. Olerud singled home Carter for a 2-0 lead.

After one-out singles by Alomar and Molitor in the third, Carter hit his sixth home run of the season, a three-run shot to left off Brown.

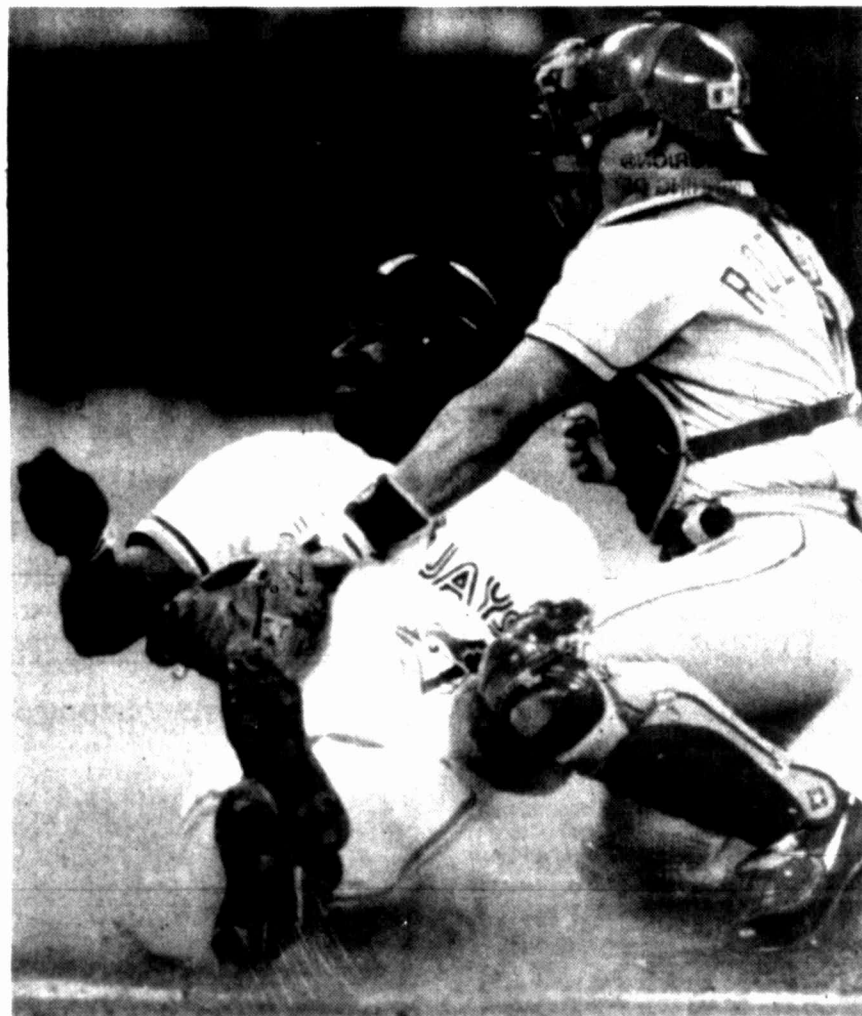

Delgado kept the inning alive with a two-out single and scored on Pat Borders single for a 6-0 lead.

Alomar tripled to score Devon White, who led off the fourth with a single. Alomar scored on Molitor's single. After Carter grounded out and Olerud singled, Delgado followed with a three-run shot to left off Reed.

"Carlos' timing is impeccable," Blue Jays manager Cito Gaston said. "He comes up big with men on base."

Four of Delgado's eight home runs have been three-run homers.

Juan Guzman (2-1) allowed two runs, one earned, on seven hits in seven innings. He struck out eight and walked one.

Toronto Blue Jay Joe Carter slides past the tag of Texas Ranger catcher Ivan Rodriguez during first-inning action in Toronto Tuesday. Toronto won 13-3.

Astros 3, Cubs 0

CHICAGO — Greg Swindell won his third straight start and the Houston Astros hit three solo homers to beat Chicago 3-0 Tuesday night, keeping the Cubs as the only major league team without a win at home.

The Cubs, now 0-7 at Wrigley Field, matched the second-worst home start in team history. The club went 0-8 in 1957 and 0-7 in 1944.

Swindell (3-0), who retired the first

12 batters, extended his scoreless streak to 17 innings, allowing four hits in seven innings.

Jeff Bagwell, Andujar Cedeno and Steve Finley homered leading off the second, third and eighth innings, respectively, off rookie Steve Trachsel (1-1).

Norton set to leave Cowboys for Frisco

By The Associated Press

IRVING — It's a good thing for the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys that the NFL draft is Sunday because sure they have a lot of holes to fill.

A day after learning offensive line-man Kevin Gogan was headed to the Los Angeles Raiders, the Cowboys were told that linebacker Ken Norton was ready to sign a five-year, $8.5 million deal with the San Francisco 49ers.

Norton would become the seventh Cowboy to leave this offseason and receiver Alvin Harper could be next.

Harper wasn't able to sign a deal with Pittsburgh before the midnight deadline Monday for restricted free agents, but he still could be traded to the Steelers.

Harper turned down a three-year, $4.3 million contract with Pittsburgh and still has a $866,000 one-year offer from the Cowboys that would make him an unrestricted free agent next year.

He caught 36 passes last season and his 21.6 average ranked second in the league.

Norton's loss was not unexpected and he said Dallas never even made an offer. The 49ers have courted him since the free agency period began.

"I'm very happy," he said. "From the start, they let me know that I was their top guy, the guy they wanted. It's always nice to be appreciated."

"I think from the outset they didn't let me feel like I was part of their plans for the future, so I had to think about myself and my family and pretty much worry about my own future."

The first six players who've left Dallas went to other teams for a total of $80 million.

On Monday, Gogan took advantage of the Cowboys' success — and the $4.6 million salary cap — and signed a $7.6 million, three-year contract with the Raiders.

Defensive line-man Tony Casillas went to Kansas City for $6 million over four years; offensive line-man John Gaskett left for the Washington Redskins at $4.6 million for three years; and defensive tackle Lammie Jones went to the Los Angeles Rams for $7.7 million over four years.

Quarterback Bernie Kosar took a $1.6 million, two-year deal with Miami and kicker Eddie Murray left for Philadelphia and $1 million for two years.

The Cowboys have spent $8.1 million since the free agent season began, signing fullback Bryant Johnson for three years at $4.2 million and offensive line-man Nate Newton for three years at $14 million.

Dallas also spent $800,000 on guard Derek Kennard of New Orleans in a one-year deal to replace Gogan. Kennard started 32 consecutive games for the Saints and is considered a good run blocker.

Players pessimistic on avoiding strike in 1994

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — While it appears the first half of the baseball season won't be interrupted by a strike, players will meet on July 11 — the day before the All-Star game — to discuss a possible work stoppage.

"I see a 90 percent chance of a strike," Randy Milligan of the Montreal Expos said Tuesday after union head Donald Fehr announced the meeting of the executive board.

"I'm pessimistic. History has shown that it's always been a war," Brett Butler of the Los Angeles Dodgers said.

In 1985, the year of the last strike, the board met in Chicago on the day prior to the All-Star game in Minneapolis and set an Aug. 6 strike date. The two-day work stoppage was settled the following day, after the intervention of commissioner Peter Ueberroth.

"This is what we normally do in negotiating years," Fehr said.

Fehr said the meeting may take

"The strike is a distinct possibility. We haven't heard anything from management and they're the ones complaining, yet we haven't had a viable proposal."

place in Pittsburgh, the site of the All-Star game, or in Cleveland or possibly another city near Pittsburgh. He has said a strike is a "real possibility" because of the lack of progress in negotiations and the fear owners may unilaterally impose a salary cap after this season if there's no agreement.

"I don't have any comment to that," executive council chairman Bud Selig said when told of Fehr's statements.

There have been just four negotiating sessions since owners reopened the labor contract on Dec. 7, 1992, and there has been no substantive bargaining. Baseball has been interrupted by four strikes and three lockouts since 1972, including a 32-day lockout in 1990.

"The strike is a distinct possibility," Expos pitcher John Wetteland said. "We haven't heard anything from management and they're the ones complaining, yet we haven't had a viable proposal."

Fehr said the site of the meeting will depend on whether the commissioner's office makes hotel rooms in Pittsburgh available to the union.

Owners claim they will lose millions this year, partly due to a drop in national broadcasting revenue from $15.4 million per team to $6-7 million.

After five weeks of talks, the sides finally agreed last week on a confidentiality agreement covering financial data owners will turn over to the union in an attempt to convince players of the need for a salary cap.

Briefs

C-City beats Greenwood in extra innings

GREENWOOD — The Colorado City Wolves scored six runs in the top of the 11th inning and defeated Greenwood 7-3 Tuesday.

Key hits from Frank Espinosa (double), Lynn Boyd (single) and Jeremy Epperson (two-run single) keyed the huge 11th for the Wolves.

Daniel Silva (1-3) earned the win for C-City.

The Wolves are 10-9, 3-0 in district. Their next game is Friday at Loraine. Tuesday, they host Reagan County in their next district game.

Big Spring Jazz splits doubleheader

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Jazz, a club softball team, lost to Odessa 15-5 but beat San Angelo 8-6 Saturday.

Against Odessa, which takes players from both Permian and Odessa high schools, Big Spring managed just four hits — singles from Heather Spence, Jackie Martinez, Kathy Greer and Heather James.

The Jazz rapped five hits against San Angelo — singles from Kerri Hall, Mandy Morrow, Teri Gonzales, Spence and James.

Ladies' golf club reports results

Twenty-one players played in the Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association's individual nine-hole, low-ball format Monday.

Scoring even-par 37 to receive the low-gross award was Betty Auckland. Tammy Newsom won second-place low gross with a 42.

Susie Hernandez and Debra Lusk tied for low net, shooting 32.

In the couples best-ball team play Thursday, two teams tied for first with a 4-under-par for nine holes. Rowland Adkins, Patsy Sharpnack and Grady and Dottie Rogers won on a scorecard playoff over Jerry and Ruth Roach and Jim and Georgie Newsom.

Teams are already signing up for the Dolores Hull Memorial Tournament, which will be played April 30. Entry fees are $75 per two-lady team. Send entries to Dee Jenkins or Ramona Harris, c/o the Comanche Trail Pro Shop, no later than April 29.

Two Sidewinders heading to regionals

Casey McKim and Stephanie Stewart, members of the local YMCA Sidewinders gymnastics team, have qualified for the U.S. Gymnastics Federation regional meet in Albuquerque, N.M. this weekend. The duo qualified for the meet with strong showings at the recent state USGF meet in Fort Worth.

Stewart scored 35.9 points in all-around competition to finish third in her age group, while McKim's all-around score of 35.15 placed her 13th in her age group.

Physicals set for Thursday

The Big Spring school district will hold physical examinations for incoming athletes at 5 p.m. Thursday at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The physicals are for incoming seventh-graders, freshmen and anyone wishing to participate in BSISD athletics who hasn't had an examination.

Stallings qualifies for outdoor meet

Jeremy Stallings, a freshman from Stanton running for the University of Florida, ran an NCAA Championship Provisional Qualifying time of 1:48.80 in the 800-meter run at the Barnett Bank Invitational, which was at UF.

Stallings finished second overall and ranks second in the Southeastern Conference.

The NCAA Outdoor Championships are June 1-4 in Boise, Idaho.

Knight's late spurt lifts Spurs

By The Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO — Negele Knight scored 11 of his 15 points in the fourth quarter Tuesday night, helping the San Antonio Spurs clinch the homecourt advantage in the first round of the playoffs with a 90-80 victory over the Houston Rockets.

Knight made a 20-foot jumper to give the Spurs the lead for good at 78-76 with 3:00 left, and after San Antonio stopped Houston on three straight possessions, Knight buried a 3-pointer with 1:14 left to extend San Antonio's lead to 81-76.

David Robinson, who led San Antonio with 22 points, hit six free throws in the final minute and Dennis Rodman added a 3-pointer at the buzzer.

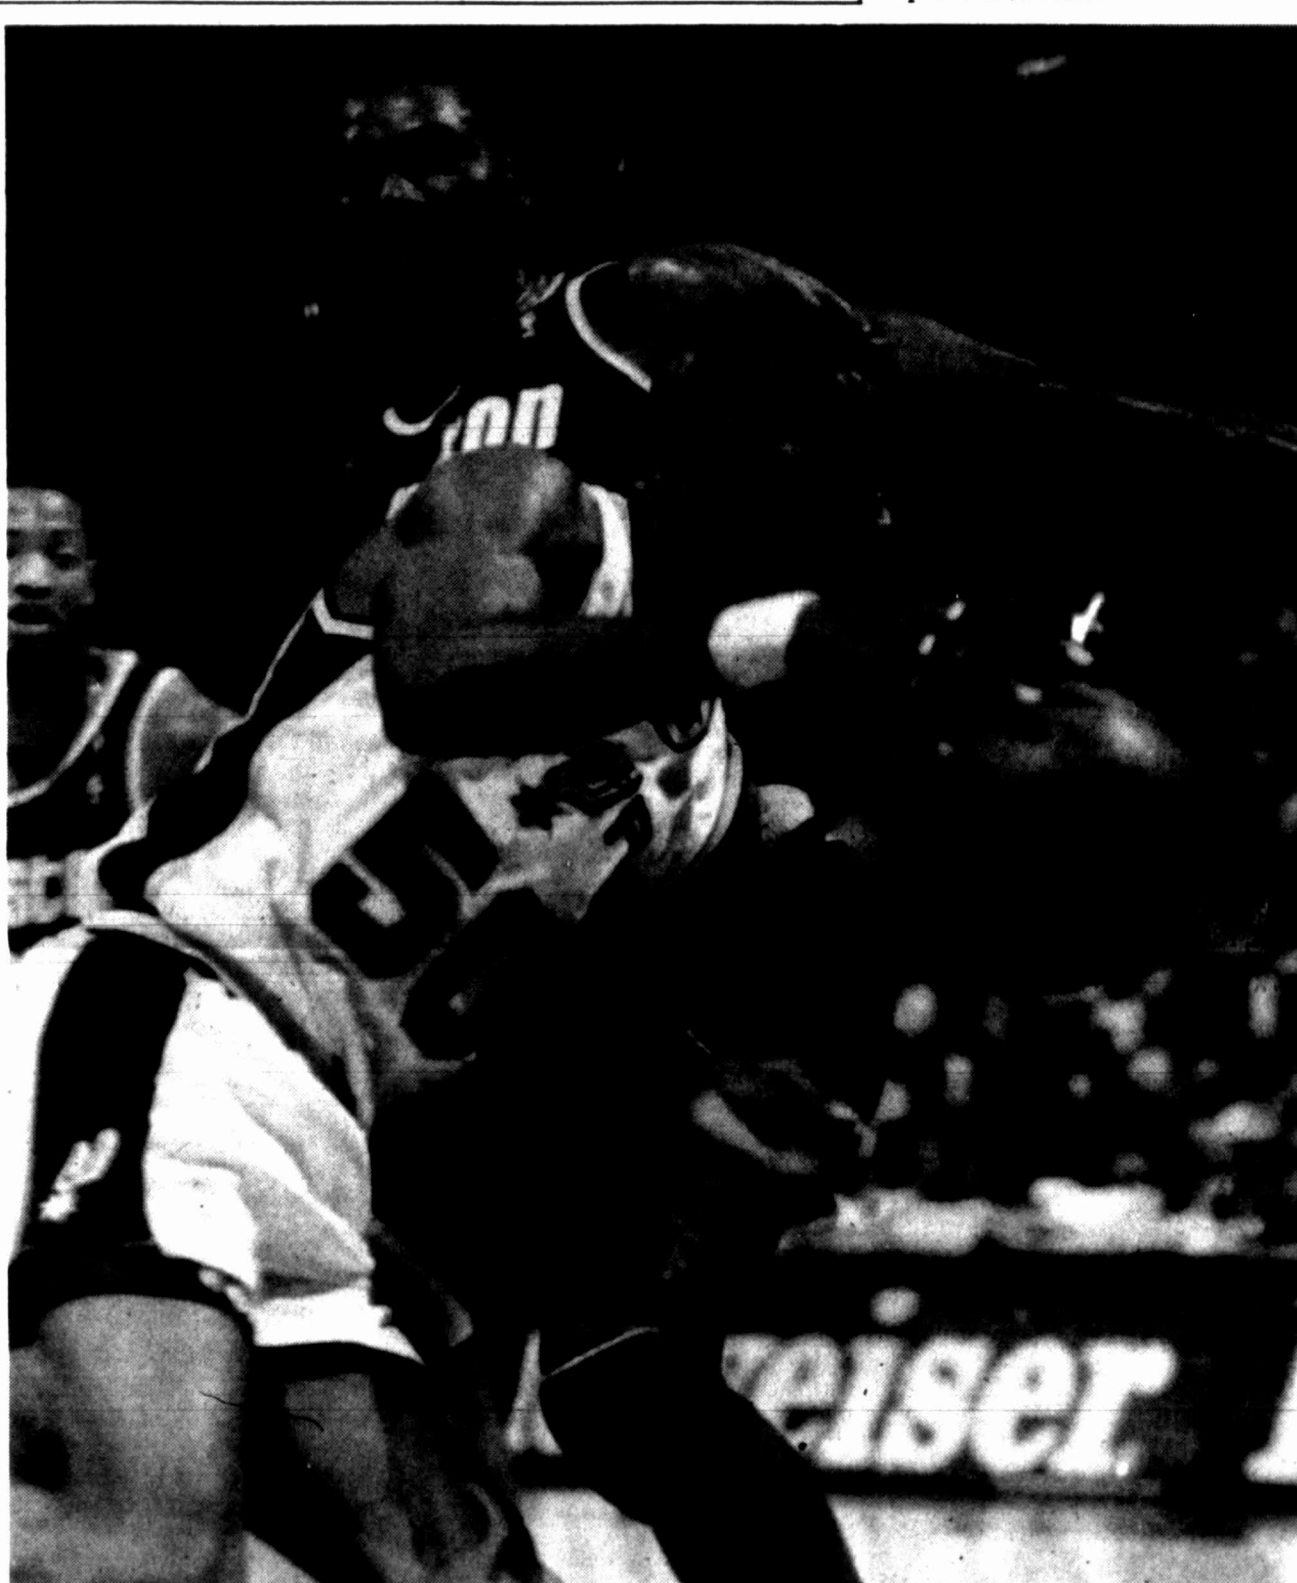

Terry Cummings added 16 points, and Rodman had 11 points and 21 rebounds for San Antonio, which snapped a three-game losing streak.

Hakeem Olajuwon paced Houston with 25 points and 11 rebounds, while Otis Thorpe and Robert Horry scored 16 each and Vernon Maxwell 11. Houston's loss allowed Seattle to clinch the homecourt advantage through the Western Conference playoffs.

Robinson and Olajuwon, the two leading candidates for the MVP award, both had trouble offensively. Robinson hit 6 of 24 shots, while Olajuwon made just 11 of 32.

San Antonio shot 43 percent, but Houston was even worse at 37 percent.

The game attracted a crowd of 32,807 to the Alamodome, the 10th time in 41 home games the Spurs have drawn at least 30,000.

San Antonio Spur David Robinson (50) drives around Hakeem Olajuwon of the Houston Rockets during the first half of the Spurs' 90-80 victory in San Antonio Tuesday.

UT's Gustafson one win from college mark

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN — Cliff Gustafson tied Rod Dedeaux's career record for college baseball victories Tuesday night, picking up No. 1,332 when Texas battled from behind for a 6-5 triumph in 10 innings against Houston Baptist.

Gustafson, in his 27th year with the Longhorns, tied the mark held by Dedeaux, who coached Southern Cal for 45 years before retiring in 1986.

"It was exciting and I guess if you have to celebrate a milestone, it's nice to do it in exciting fashion," Gustafson said after Tony Vasut scored on a sacrifice fly by Wylie Campbell in the bottom of the 10th.

Gustafson's first chance to break the record will come Friday when

"It was exciting and I guess if you have to celebrate a milestone, it's nice to do it in exciting fashion."

Cliff Gustafson
Texas coach

Texas (31-16) plays host to Grand Canyon.

The record, however, means more to him as a boost to his slumping team than as a milestone in college baseball history.

The Longhorns, who sat atop the Southwest Conference at the beginning of the month, have fallen to fourth in the league by winning only seven of their last 15. They still can qualify and host the conference tournament in May.

"The way we have been playing lately, as I have said all along, I just want this team to get each win as the opportunity comes for us and whatever milestone happens for me is an incidental thing," Gustafson said.

Gustafson is 1,332-325-2 in collegiate games since taking over at Texas in 1968. Overall, he is 1,371-329-2, including games against professional or semi-professional teams.

Dedeaux, who just turned 80 and now works outside of baseball in Los Angeles, praised Gustafson, a friend and coaching rival for nearly 20

"I'm pulling for him," said Dedeaux, who led the Trojans to 11 national championships and 28 Pacific 10 Conference titles. We have been good friends for many, many years. I can recall his victories that were at our expense and he deserved every one of them."

The victory record goes along with Gustafson's two national championships, 17 trips to the College World Series, 21 SWC titles and a legion of star former players such as Roger Clemens, Greg Swindell and Burt Hooton.

Although Texas won Tuesday, Houston Baptist (30-15), a member of the NAIA, controlled most of the game.

fy for regional, so her season is finished. Still, you'll find her at practice.

"I'm here just so Laurie would have somebody to work with, and she'll have somebody to push her and make her better. And, also, I'll be along for the ride to state," DeLaGarza said.

Light said: "It's really hard, because it's lonely out here, and Tara and I sometimes, you know, we think about 'Gosh, why are we still out here,' but we keep working hard, and she's a lot of help. I'm glad she's out here with me, because if it wasn't for her I don't think I'd be pushing myself half as hard."

Light said she'll just concentrate on running the best she can without worrying about the competition. That approach netted her that fourth-in-the-state finish last year, and this time around it might be worth a medal.

"Last year I was scared to death, and I just ran my best," Light said. "I didn't realize how close I was to the top three until a long time after it was already over, and I really didn't realize how big it was until way later in the year, and then I thought 'Gosh!' This year I've just set a goal to place in the top three."

Dear Abby - Letters...

Neighbors' snore becoming a bore

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with two children. I live in a townhouse with neighbors on both sides. A new family (mom, dad and two children) moved in next door. The first night I was awakened about 1 a.m. by a horrible noise that turned out to be both parents snoring.
I spoke to them about this (nicely) and asked if there was something they could do about it. They assured me that since they worked different shifts, it wouldn't be a problem again.
Well, it is a problem. Separately, their snoring is bad enough, but now I am faced with it 24 hours a day. Except for a few afternoon and early evening hours, someone is always snoring.
I spoke to them about it again and suggested a sleep clinic at a local hospital. They suggested I move my bedroom or use earplugs. I can't use earplugs because I have two young children.
I have spoken with these neighbors about it and spoken to my landlord. I am desperate for a good night's sleep. What should I do? — KNOXVILLE
DEAR KNOXVILLE: Evidently your neighbors are not aware that loud snoring is often a symptom of serious, possibly terminal, health problems. Tell them that you have just learned that snoring may indicate a health condition which could result in a heart attack or other disorder, and suggest that they reconsider evaluation at a sleep disorder clinic.
If your neighbors still refuse, then it's up to you to protect yourself from the disturbance. Consult a contractor or an interior designer about soundproofing the wall between the bedrooms. Or, you might consider leaving a radio on, or using a machine that makes "white noise" (sounds of the ocean, rain or a stream) to mask the snoring.

DEAR ABBY: I caught a 10-year-old neighbor girl stealing money out of my purse last year. (I'll call her Sally.) I talked to her, and told her I would give her another chance instead of speaking to her parents about it. Sally agreed to this, and I thought she was doing OK.
Since then, I have learned that another neighbor had a few small objects stolen from her home, and I'm afraid the thief was Sally. Should I talk to her and let her know what I suspect? Or should I let the other neighbor know that I caught Sally before, and I suspect her? Or should I talk to Sally's parents?
Abby, I hate to think that beautiful child might grow up to be a thief and eventually end up in prison. Ours is a very affluent neighborhood, and I don't want to be known as a troublemaker. Should I keep silent? — CONCERNED NEIGHBOR
DEAR CONCERNED NEIGHBOR: Tell Sally about your suspicions and observe her reaction. She could be innocent. But if you still have suspicions after confronting her, you should talk to her parents. Sometimes stealing is a symptom of emotional problems. You do Sally no favors by remaining silent.
Abby shares more of her favorite, easy-to-prepare recipes. To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, More Favorite Recipes, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

Electricity Generation By Fuel

Coal provides nearly 55 percent of the total amount of electricity used in the U.S. each day.

If you thought coal was a fuel of the past here's a few things you should know:

• As it was long ago, the mining of coal remains one of the nation's great basic industries, whose total yearly impact on the economy includes $81 billion in goods and services, $4.6 billion in coal exports and one million jobs.

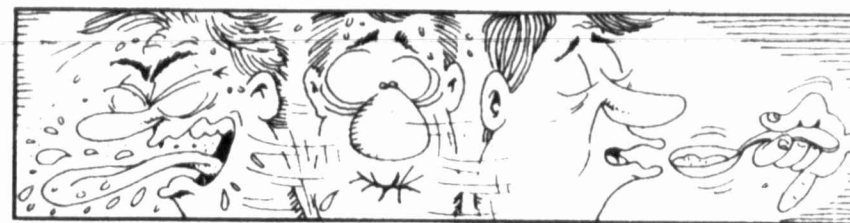

• America's coal reserves total 268 billion tons—enough coal to last nearly 300 years at current rates of use, far more than oil and gas combined.

• Coal provides nearly 55 percent of the total amount of electricity used in the U.S. each day.

• Coal is the largest source of domestically produced energy, more than oil or natural gas.

For more information on the importance of coal in our economy, write COAL FACTS, c/o National Coal Association, 1130 17th Street, N.W. 8th Floor, Dept. NAPS, Washington, DC 20036-4677.

Household vinegar is about five percent acetic acid. That's the source of the sour taste.

Save money. Look good and...

Guard your car's new paint against chipping and scratching: revolutionary Clear Coat available exclusively at Pat Gray Body Works now.

Stina Wilkerson's new car paint is Clear-Coat warranted for 5 years.

West Texas weather is especially rough on car finishes. Now you can shield your new paint with the revolutionary protection of Herberts Standox Cross-Linking Clear Coat. It's the only coating endorsed by Lexus and Infiniti. And in Big Spring Pat Gray Body Works is the trained and certified Standox shop.

In addition to preventing chipping and scratching Clear Coat guards against fading from extreme heat, cold and sand.

If that's not reason enough to order Standox Cross-Linking Clear Coat think about the beautiful extra glossiness your car will have. Many car manufacturers are now advertising, especially on TV, the value of coating. (For example a Chevrolet commercial shows ball-bearings showering down on the painted surface of a new pickup truck to demonstrate chip resistance.)

The expert application of Clear Coat is a specialty at the right price.

WEST TEXAS WEATHER CAN WRECK YOUR CAR'S PAINT.
Our proven European painting system.

at Pat Gray's. An additional guarantee of satisfaction is Gray's qualification by I-Car (the industry's leading educational organization). Among the many courses required for the I-Car Gold Class Certificate is one that's all about painting and finishing. So Gray's warranty is backed up by the best possible technical knowledge.

Herberts Standox Clear Coats is the only product of its kind on the market, and Pat Gray Body Works is the only expert in town.

If your car needs body repair before painting and coating be sure to ask about special pricing. Pat Gray Body Works has a long history of making cars look like new for individual customers and the insurance business.

The company is a member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. Since 1977 excellence has been the standard at Pat Gray Body Works: 700 North Owens, Phone 263-0582

Champion of World's Largest Chili Cook-Off Carries on Family Tradition

Cindy Reed of Houston, Texas, and her "Cin Chili" won the 26th annual Terlingua (Texas) International Chili Cook-Off held November 7 to benefit local and national charities. To those who know the Reed family, this should come as no surprise.

With the Reeds, chili cooking is a family affair. Both of Cindy's parents, Maxine and Don Reed, are award-winning chili cooks. Several other relatives have been competing in chili cook-offs for years. A third-generation cook, Cindy has only cooked and competed for three years. This year was the first year she has competed at the Terlingua International Chili Cook-Off.

"I'm so excited about being the champion and carrying on my family's chili-cooking tradition," Cindy said. "It's truly an honor to win at Terlingua because all of the chili is so good. Every chili cook yearns to be the Terlingua champion, and I feel lucky and proud to be the winner."

Cindy competed against more than 250 cooks at the Terlingua Cook-Off while a crowd of more than 7,000 looked on and tasted samples. Cindy competed in 17 regional and local cook-offs during the past "chili" year (October 1-September 30) to earn the right to cook at Terlingua. Before November 7, Cindy's highest chili cooking honor was winning the Wild Goose Chili Cook-Off in Eagle Lake, Texas in 1990.

The Terlingua International Chili Cook-Off, the largest and only international competition in the world, is held under the auspices of the Chili Appreciation Society International (CASI) and has a logical sponsor: Gaviscon Antacid "The Heartburn Specialist."

CASI consists of 42 clubs, known as "pods," nationwide. Cindy is a member of the "Chili Dynasty," so named because of her family's involvement. Her aunt and uncle started the pod in 1985, and about eight relatives are active members. The chili cooking's all done for fun — and charity. In 1992, CASI will raise more than $4 million for charities at chili cook-offs like the one held in Terlingua.

For her efforts, Cindy received a trophy and will represent CASI throughout the United States during the year. Her award-winning recipe appears here.

Recipes of previous champions can be obtained by sending $3 payable to Chili Recipes, P.O. Box 5900, Kansas City, Missouri, 64111.

1992 (CASI) Terlingua Chili Cook-Off Winning Recipe

Step 1:
2 lbs. beef chuck tender
cut into 3/8 inch cubes
1 tsp. cooking oil
1 tsp. dark chili powder
2 tsp. garlic (granulated)

In a three-quart heavy saucepan, add the above ingredients while browning the meat.

Step 2:
1 8 oz. can tomato sauce
1 14 1/2 oz. can beef broth
1 tsp. chicken bouillon granules
1 tsp. jalapeno powder
1 tsp. onion powder
2 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. red pepper
1 tsp. white pepper
1/4 tsp. oregano
24 oz. spring water
1 tsp. dark chili powder

Combine seasonings and add to beef mixture. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 1 1/2 hours.

Step 3:
1 tsp. paprika
1 pkg. sazón seasoning (MSG)
1 tsp. onion powder
1 tsp. garlic powder
1/2 tsp. white pepper
5 tsp. medium and dark chili powders

Combine seasonings and add to beef mixture. Bring to a boil, reduce and simmer for 20 minutes. You may need to add small amounts of water or beef broth for consistency.

Step 4:
2 tsp. cumin
1/8 tsp. salt
Add the above ingredients and simmer for another ten minutes.

Lace Facts and Fancies

North American Press Syndicate

The passion for lace spans the centuries, charming kings and peasant girls, fashionable ladies and modest brides. Few things on earth can match it, except perhaps nature's frost flowers or a tracery of branches against the sky. The marvel is, this is a beauty wrought by human hands, as it has been since the Flemish and Italians developed lacemaking techniques in the sixteenth century.

More than a precious object to wear, lace is a work of art to treasure, to reserve for special occasions, to give as a special gift and to hand down from generation to generation. The timeless appeal of lace has even inspired a new fragrance collection that's proving immensely appealing to today's hard-working women—women whose hectic pace prompts them to create a private world of romance and relaxation when the day is done.

Called Truly Lace, it's the latest creation of Coty, whose earlier fragrance collection, L'Effleur, celebrated the charm of Victoriana. Truly Lace is a romantic, sensuous, deeply feminine personal scent for bedroom, bath and beyond. Like the drop of a handkerchief or the lifting of a bridal veil, Truly Lace is an invitation to romance. It's a beautiful bridal bouquet of lily of the valley, marigold and lush white florals. This boudoir-inspired collection includes cologne spray, perfumed talc, body lotion, bath crystals and sachet.

Like the luxury of fine lace, women

An invitation to romance: a new fragrance collection for the bedroom and bath was created to celebrate and inspire intimate moments.

will wear Truly Lace for the most important times of their lives, the dressiest of occasions—and the undressiest.

"Like a lacy negligee, Truly Lace was created for intimate moments," says Cynthia Hart, Victoriana expert, author of the book The Love of Lace and package designer of both L'Effleur and Truly Lace. For the latter, she has captured the appeal of this rich, fluid fabric in original photographic montages, draped antique lace and handmade ribbon flowers lounging upon a backdrop of sensuous antique silks.

"Like a precious heirloom, Truly Lace is a special gift—an indulgence to be shared, to be given, to love and to cherish," says Hart. You can find this fine fragrance collection that some say captures the very fabric of romance at many local stores. To find one that carries it near you, call 1-800-528-7228, toll-free.

TIPS ON TRIPS

(NAPS)—When you go on vacation, it's a good idea to take MasterCard along with you. That credit card is now accepted in 220 countries and territories—and if you were to fly a flag in every one of them, you would have more flags than currently fly in front of the United Nations building; its membership numbers just 179 nations.

Vaulting MasterCard beyond the "number 200" milestone of credit card acceptance among countries and territories—the first time a credit card association can make that claim—were the new Central Asia Republics of Armenia, Azerbaijan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan. Also, across the former Soviet Union, now broken into an array of newly-formed or newly-independent nations, international travelers can make purchases, use ATM machines and secure cash advances with their MasterCard.

From Albania to Zimbabwe, from Aruba to Uzbekistan and from Angola to the Ukraine, MasterCard acceptance locations now number 10.3 million worldwide—including locations in Switzerland, Monaco and Vatican City, three states that are not U.N. members.

Fire safety tips for apartment dwellers

Fire safety should be as much a part of high-rise apartment living as a panoramic view, elevators and doormen. Here are some life-saving tips from the Insurance Information Institute that every apartment dweller should know:

- If a fire occurs, do not panic. Staying calm will increase chances of survival.
- Remember that smoke rises. It also kills. Even if you can tolerate the smoke while standing, it is safer to crawl to the door.

- Do not open the door until you are sure there's no fire on the other side. Feel the door knob. If it is hot, the fire may be just outside your door.
- Brace your shoulder or foot against the door and open with extreme caution. Should you be confronted with a high concentration of super-heated air or smoke, close the door immediately.
- If the hall is passable, use one of your pre-designated escape routes.
- Do not waste time gathering personal belongings, but shut the door and take your key.

- Do not use the elevator. It may shut due to heat or loss of power.
- If you must use the inside stairwell check for smoke before entering.
- If the stairwell is safe to enter, walk downward, do not run. Hold on wall or handrail to prevent falling.
- If your escape route is blocked, it may be safer to return to your apartment.
- If you must remain in your apartment, close all vents and ducts. Wet towels and sheets and stuff them around doors.

One beautiful place

Quality.
Why settle for anything
 but the best?

Quality is important to you in everything you own. But it's even more important when you're choosing a diamond. Because quality is what gives a diamond its rare beauty, its dazzling sparkle.

What is it that determines the quality of a diamond? The 4Cs: Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat weight are the important characteristics that give a diamond its value. And to understand the 4Cs is to understand the difference between diamonds.

Cut is the precise formula for cutting a diamond to allow the maximum amount of light to pass through. Color refers to the different gradations from exceptional white to yellowish. Quality is also determined by Clarity, the degree to which a diamond is free of interior and exterior flaws. Finally, there is Carat weight, the size of the diamond.

Fine quality diamonds simply look better, and will enhance any jewelry design. Come in and see our wide selection of fine quality diamonds in elegantly designed settings. You'll see that all diamonds are not the same.
