Kitty's Korner

This has been the darndest week! If it were April 1, one might understand all the queer happenings around town, but since it's just the middle of June, we are hard put to explain things.

It seemed to start with the Post Office last week, when some human (pardon me, I meant to say idiot) was awfully mad about the postal rate raise or a giraffe with diarrhea got loose in the lobby. It was the biggest mess I ever saw not to mention smelled, and a dreadful affront to all the members of the community. Much time was spent discussing the caliber of character who would perpetrate such a crime. The kindest thing I heard said was that it was probably a doper, high on drugs, who thought he was whitewashing the lobby. It was really most dreadful, and a federal offense which would send the vandal, if caught, to prison.

I was out of town over the weekend, but all kind of strange rumors were circulating Monday.

We did confirm that another election for the unexpired term of Commissioner of Precinct 1, will take place August 12. We can only hope that will be the end of it, but it probably will not. Which reminds me of a joke I heard at coffee Monday morning, after we had discussed lawyers in some detail. According to the teller of the joke, a fence between Heaven and Hell had been torn down. St. Peter informed the Devil he would have to put the fence back up. The Devil retorted he would not put the fence back up, that St. Peter himself would have to attend to the matter. After several weeks of dissension over the fence, St. Peter informed the Devil that he was prepared to get a lawyer. After a hearty laugh, the Devil said "Sure, and where do you think you'll get one?"

To continue through the week, Tuesday started off all wrong. We got to work only to find all parking spaces taken. The east end of the parking space was taken up by a hippy family's rig, father, mother, two kids and a dog. The mother was fixing breakfast and feeding her family out of the back of a camper trailer which had a lid on it. After littering the park, both father and dog got in the truck and the father lit up a most suspicious looking water pipe.

Back to the parking space. The west end was taken up with a truck load of cantaloupes and a four-man crew. After they set up and put a tarp over their produce, they started out selling cantaloupes. Their truck was sticking out in the highway and created a sort of traffic jam. We couldn't see what happened, but they loaded up and left shortly. Then the hippy family tucked away their cantaloupes, packed up kids and dog and pulled out.

By then, of course, everybody had gotten to town and gone back home to park their cars, and there were just empty parking spaces galore. I started out the door of the office and was almost run down by two horses right on my own sidewalk. I wasn't seeing things either. Each horse had a little tiny girl mounted thereon. They cantered down to the bank corner and pulled up to look around before trotting blithely around the corner and down the sidewalk.

New Election Set For August 12 In Prec. 1

After the run-off election between Marley and DeHoyos was set aside in court action here, March 30, a new election was ordered for June 3. Several reasons were given why the election was not held as ordered by Judge George Thurmond, presiding judge in the civil suit. However, the Stockman has been assured that a new order is in the mail and this election will be held August 12.

Without going into detail over the two-year hassle over the commissioner's race in Precinct 1, we will mention this election will be the third run-off election between Marley and DeHoyos for the post. The first run-off was the regular Democratic Primary, the second was ordered by the U.S. Justice Department after they ruled the precinct lines were illegal, Marley winning both run-offs.

The most recent election was set aside after a court found that there were enough irregularities in the counting and casting of ballots in the absentee box to change the outcome of the election. This was the final result of the civil suit contesting the election in March of this year.

The new order provides for the Commissioners Court to employ two clerks, who shall be deputized as Special Deputy County Clerks, for the sole purpose of conducting the absentee balloting for the election. The two clerks will be responsible for all duties of the County Clerk or her deputies, for this election only.

The order relieves the present clerk and her deputies from any and all duties having to do with absentee voting for the election, including the process of conducting the absentee voting, both by mail and in person, and orders same not to involve themselves in any way in the election process.

The order does provide for the Clerk and her Deputies to receive and sort incoming mail and expressly states that this will not be a violation of the order.

The two special deputies, which were appointed by the court Monday, will be under the supervision and direction of the 63rd Judicial District Court, or its designee, according to the order.

Absentee voting procedure is set out in "Schedule A" and made a part of the order.

Ozonan Burned In Accident

An Ozona man received second and third degree burns on a large percent of his body over the weekend when he attempted to build a fire using gasoline and a smoldering log on his lease west of Ozona.

Larry Hensley, owner of The Frame Shop, employee of Pioneer Natural Gas, and a volunteer fireman, received the burns to his arms, right leg, chest, back, and face Friday night when he tossed a cupful of siphoned gas onto a barely-burning log in an attempt to ignite it for a campfire, according to Scott Hensley, 15, son of the injured man.

According to Scott, his father was standing "a good two feet" from the log when he threw the small amount of gas.

Scott and a brother, Rick, 16, rolled their father on the ground in an attempt to snuff out the fire, but the dirt was too packed, Scott said. Rick retrieved a shirt from the back of his car and began beating the blaze from the man, while Scott went for a blanket. When he returned, he said, the fire had been extinguished.

Hensley is now in Crockett County Hospital, where he is undergoing treatment for burns.

schedule says the period for the request of an absentee ballot by mail shall begin July 13 and continue until 5 p.m. on the 9th day of August, 1978. To be counted, such ballot must be received not later than 1 p.m. on August 12.

The second item sets the period for absentee voting by personal appearance from July 31 at 8 a.m. through August 9, at 5 p.m. Not stated in the order is the place of the election, which was declared the commissioners' courtroom or law library in the county courthouse, during the regular commissioners court meeting Monday.

The schedule sets August 12, as the date of the election and set hours between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. for the time of the election. It further orders the County Judge to send out the Writ of Election on or before July 19, and post or publish the notice of election.

The schedule provides for the Commissioners Court to canvass the returns of the election not later than Aug. 14, and declare the results. The County Judge is ordered to immediately make out, sign, and deliver a Certificate of Election to the person elected for the unexpired term of Commissioner of Precinct 1, and provides that they take and assume office immediately.

In the final provisions, it is ordered that adequate notice of the provisions of the order by publishing a map of Crockett County in the newspaper at least forty days prior to the election, setting out clearly the boundaries of the plan of apportionment, along with provisions of the order in full. Also, the registrar for Crockett County is requested to deliver to the clerks appointed by the court a list of the registered voters in and for Precinct 1 on July 12.

The order had not been received in the clerk's office as of Tuesday afternoon, but spokesmen for both sides said it was a mere formality and assured the order would be entered here this week.

In Regular Meeting Monday-

Court Appoints Special Deputies For Absentee

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday and besides attending to the regular monthly business, appointed two special deputy clerks to handle absentee voting in Precinct 1.

This action was taken after Precinct 1 Commissioner Jess Marley showed the court a copy of an order calling for a new election to be held August 12, for the unexpired term of Commissioner of Precinct 1, with he and Sostenes DeHoyos on the ballot.

Commissioner, Precinct 4, Jesus Castro, nominated Veva Vargas and Marley nominated Barbara Walker. After some discussion about the fact that Mrs. Vargas is a resident of Precinct 4, and might not be eligible, both women were approved by the court. They will work in the county law library, where the election will be held. Salaries will be $30 per day for each clerk and they will begin work July 10.

This action was taken after a grand jury investigated absentee voting procedure in the last election which was contested and ended with a suit against Marley in 112th District Court here. After days of testimony, presiding Judge George Thurmond of Del Rio, threw out the election results and ordered a new election for June 3, due to irregularities in the absentee voting. This election did not take place, for reasons as yet unknown. No official report has come to light, nor was the election cancelled.

The first order of business was approving monthly bills. J. Cleo Thompson, Jr. and Bob Mims, a pilot, appeared before the court and discussed moving the television tower and other airport improvements. After some discussion, Judge Johnny Jones agreed to investigate all possibilities as well as financing.

County Agent Billy Reagor met with the court to report on improvements for 4-H facilities. He had discussed renovating the old facility at the last court meeting and had been told to get some estimates. He said he had found that a new show barn could be built for the cost of remodeling the present facility. It would cost in the vicinity of $50,000 to build the new show barn. The court was of the opinion that two livestock shows a year would not justify the building of a new show barn and suggested that Reagor look into the possibility of building a public facility which could serve the community and be used by 4-H youth as well. They suggested something in the range of 50 by 100 feet with a concrete floor. Reagor said he would have the figures at the next meeting.

Dudley McCary met with the court and reported the work on the swimming pools had been completed. When swimming pools were mentioned Commissioner Jack Williams brought up the many complaints he had received from those living around the north pool about the loud music which disturbs them day and night. After some discussion it was decided to talk to the pool manager.

A new pickup, which was approved for McCary's crew, has apparently been delivered. Commissioner Castro told McCary it was his understanding the vehicle was specifically for the working crew and wanted to know why he was using it instead of the men. McCary said he had every intention of using the vehicle for his crew, but that his own pickup went completely to pieces when the new one was delivered, and he had been forced to take the new pickup. He said he could not have known that his own vehicle would go completely down. There was some little discussion on this matter between the two.

Leaks in the roofs of the civic center and the care center were discussed. McCary said he could not find a leak in the civic center, but that the kitchen at the care center was leaking as usual and that he had secured a roofer to look at it.

A list of equipment was submitted to the court in the Road Department report. The items listed were various used and surplus pieces of equipment. The court decided to try to decide on one of the pickups for McCary's men, and advertise for bids on the rest of it. It was also decided to plant a hedge around the unsightly back of the road department grounds.

Jim Ridge of the Concho Valley Council of Governments met with the court and discussed the Rural Development Act which provides for transportation for the elderly by way of vans in each county. He asked Judge Jones to a meeting in San Angelo Friday where county judges from around the area will go into the matter. The court took no action.

Ridge also asked the court to consider membership in COG for Crockett County as $194.25 per year dues. Ridge said he realized Crockett County is unique and he refused to say there are some problems here which need COG's assistance or planning, but that the state requests the offer be made once a year.

The court felt the elderly in the county had no need of a van to take them to San Angelo or to social events. Commissioner Williams summed it up when he said "We've been through all this before and made it clear that Crockett County takes care of its own. We don't need someone to come in here and tell us we need this or that." He said this was strictly his opinion, but it seemed to be the opinion of all the court as well. Mr. Ridge was thanked for meeting with the court, and no further action was taken.

The Civic Center report was read. It was noted that the center needs a new candy machine. Also $333.75 was approved for a new turn table. The report made note that the kitchen in the center is down to about 90 plates and cups and they need 300. The court authorized the board to get bids from restaurant supply houses and report next month. The report also stated that new water fountains were needed at the center along with a new electric can opener. They were authorized to get bids for the fountains, but no

Hospital Head Is Hired Here

The Crockett County Hospital Board met Thursday night and after reviewing applications for the position of Hospital Administrator, hired Harold Taylor of Uvalde. Taylor accepted the position and will report for duty June 26. Keith Peters, who resigned the position last month to accept a position in El Paso, finished up here Friday.

Taylor has a masters degree in hospital administration from Trinity University and will take the exam for nursing home administration June 14.

Several matters were discussed at the meeting attended by board members Steve Sessom, Pon Seahorn, Donnie Laughlin and Gary Vannoy. Also present were Dr. and Mrs. Don Carlisle, Dr. R.M. Owensby, Dub O'Bryant and Peters.

The financial statement for May was reviewed. Motion was made and passed that the statement be accepted.

Life Safety Code deficiencies in the hospital were again discussed. Work is in progress for the required smoke detectors and fire alarm system, but bids for the sprinkling system were not accepted by the Commissioners Court, according to the report. Some discussion centered around the fact that the Care Center roof still leaks as it has since the beginning, and this was called to the court's attention.

The board recognized Peters for his service to the hospital and appointed Evelyn Yeager as interim administrator.

Labor Reforms?

WASHINGTON—Reform means different things to different people. Most people believe it should stand for change which improves our lives or the laws which govern our social conduct.

Reform is a popular theme in Washington. Attach it to any piece of legislation and it automatically carries with it redeeming social or economic value.

Reform as it has been applied to the so-called Labor Law Reform Act of 1978, however, is so much malarkey. This legislation is not reform in any sense of the word, and the Senate now is engaged in extended debate to separate truth from myth.

Those who favor changes in the National Labor Relations Act claim the only result would be modest improvements in procedures governing collective bargaining.

Those of us in the Senate leadership opposed to this bill recognize it for what it really is: not a modest measure to improve procedures in labor-management at all, but a shrewdly calculated attempt by organized labor to load the dice against business—particularly small business—while making union membership the prerequisite for employment. In effect, George Meany would become the Personnel Director for every business across the country.

In Texas, our strong right-to-work laws have always ensured worker freedoms at the place of employment. Texans enjoy the right to choose whether or not union membership is their cup of tea. That's the way Texans want it, and that's the way it should be nationwide.

If this legislation passes, it won't be. Even a very basic review of the legislation suggests that much more is involved. About the only procedures that would be streamlined would be those working to confer special privilege on big labor unions—particularly to speed up union representation elections.

Of special concern to me in opposing this legislation is that employees would have diminished rights of free choice about whether or not they should join a union. Moreover, the balance of rights between labor and management so painstakingly written into current law would be lopsidedly weighted in favor of unions. Wage and benefit settlements under this legislation could be determined by the Federal government on the basis of nationwide statistics, regardless of the size of business involved.

Those companies who "willfully violate" the law would be "blacklisted" from receiving Federal contracts for a period of three years, yet another example of the drastic change in the nature of the law under this proposed bill from a remedial one to a punitive one.

Such punitive actions against small businesses, the backbone of our economic vitality, would squeeze the lifeblood out of all those small concerns which rely on government contracts for survival.

Combine these provisions with the bill's recognized inflationary impact, which economists have said would add 4.5% to consumer prices in Texas for each 10% increase in labor force unionization, and the result is bad legislation which would make even worse law.

"Reforms" of this kind Texans don't want or need.

AUSTIN—Landslide passage of the California Proposition 13 property tax slash referendum set off political shock waves throughout Texas and the nation.

Candidates for governor promptly picked up the battle cry of "slash taxes."

Republican nominee Bill Clements pledged to work for a constitutional amendment providing ironclad limitations on taxation and the growth of government spending.

Democratic candidate John Hill stopped short of all-out endorsement of California's Proposition 13 (which would limit property taxes to one per cent of fair market value, a cut of 57 percent in California). But Hill said the concept is appealing. Sensing a taxpayer's "rebellion," he urged a legislative committee to study implications for Texas in similar tax ceiling measures. And he pledged anew to work for modest tax cuts for the elderly, small farmers and ranchers and small homeowners.

House Speaker Bill Clayton expressed support of a "realistic" tax limit, taking into consideration inflation and population growth. He said he thinks Texas voters would support a ceiling overwhelmingly.

There is no question the legislature will be considering a version of Proposition 13, said Clayton, since more than a dozen representatives and a senator have indicated they will introduce proposals, and several already are being drafted.

Comptroller Bob Bullock's office warned that a one percent state property tax ceiling would reduce revenue in the state's largest counties (Harris, Tarrant, Dallas, Bexar and Travis) by $600 to $700 million a year.

Texas has no provision for adoption by voters of legislative initiatives like Proposition 13. A tax ceiling here would have to be ordered as a constitutional amendment approved by two-thirds of the legislature and by voters in a statewide election.

Lawyers Sue
Lawyers are suing lawyers over the State Bar's plan to levy $150 assessments on 29,000 attorneys to pay notes on the $8 million Texas Law Center building in Austin.

The charge was approved 12,696 to 8,686 in a statewide referendum, but opponents say lawyers were misled.

Lawyers who don't pay Bar dues and fees by September 1 can be barred from practice in the courts.

Opponents argue the Law Center was constructed without consultation with Bar membership, and directors promised membership fees would not be used to pay the notes.

Lands Leased
The State School Land Board netted another $19.1 million last week from lease sales on Texas public lands.

High bid of $1.7 million was submitted by Superior Oil Company for an offshore tract in Matagorda County. Other high bidders were Rutherford Partnership, bidding $868,320 on two offshore Kleberg County tracts; Mobil Oil Corporation, bidding $748,800 for offshore tracts in Brazoria County; and Kennedy and Mitchell Inc., with a bid of $612,000 for a tract owned by the Texas Department of Corrections.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said average per acre bonuses were $92.34, and offshore acreage went for $105.63 an acre. In addition, the state receives a royalty of one-fifth the value of oil and gas produced.

Courts Speak
Constitutionality of the new Texas law providing criminal penalties for welfare fraud has been upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a 25-year murder sentence given a Nacogdoches County man on grounds a request for selection of a new panel of prospective jurors should have been heeded.

The same court upheld a death penalty assessed a San Antonio man convicted of stabbing an 88-year-old Bexar County woman to death.

The State Supreme Court held Lone Star Gas Company is not entitled to an $809,000 refund of state and local taxes paid on foreign-made pipe running from Pecos to Dallas counties.

The high court refused to order release of documents outlining alleged wrongdoing within Bexar County's community action agency.

Establishment of a San Antonio Savings Association Branch in New Braunfels was upheld by the State Supreme Court.

AG Opinions
Attorney General John Hill held unconstitutional a Texas law barring corporations from giving money to aid or defeat measures on the ballot. (A similar ruling earlier had been made by Secretary of State Steve Oaks).

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: Interest earned on investment of school bond proceeds must be spent for purposes authorized by law. Interest not needed may be placed in a sinking fund or used to refund bonds.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My ex-husband and I have been divorced for eight months. At the time of the divorce, I was not sure of my health and I let my husband have custody of our little girl. Now, I have been cured of my physical ailment. How can I get custody of my daughter?

A: Federal bankruptcy law exempts property which is also exempt under applicable state law. Under the law of Texas, you would not lose your car and your household goods in the event you declare bankruptcy. Beyond that, you'll be allowed to keep your homestead, household and kitchen furniture, tools and books of your trade, family portraits and pictures, one pick-up truck in addition to the car, current wages for personal services, provisions on hand for home consumption like food, all wearing apparel and one dog.

A: In order to change the provisions in a divorce decree awarding custody of the child to one of the parents, the other parent must bring suit to have the decree changed. The burden of proof will be on the parent seeking the change to show how the change can be justified on the basis of circumstances which have changed since the divorce. The paramount consideration will be the best interests of the child.

Q: I was married here in Texas a couple of months ago. I want to keep my maiden name as my legal last name for both personal and business reasons. I'm still going by my maiden name at work and I haven't changed my name on my driver's license.

Q: Problems keep building up, and I'm thinking about moving out and getting a divorce. If I do it, I want to get it over with as quickly as possible. How long does it take to get a divorce in Texas?

A: There is no law requiring a wife to use her husband's last name or any particular name for that matter, so long as one is not attempting to defraud creditors. As far as your driver's license goes, the Texas Constitution prohibits governmental agencies from requiring a woman to use the husband's name on official documents, including a driver's license. However, to make sure that merchants carry accounts in the maiden name, you will need a court order from a district judge making the decision official.

A: After the divorce petition is filed, the law requires a mandatory sixty-day waiting period. You could get back together during that time and drop the proceedings. After this 60 days, the final hearing on the divorce can be scheduled. This will be subject to the caseload of the district court and any complications or problems in your case.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Q: My bills are stacking up faster than I can pay them. If I have to take bankruptcy, what must I give up? Will I lose my car and my household goods?

A LIFT FOR THE WEEK
When we do our best today, we set the stage for doing better tomorrow.

ANOTHER ELECTION AUGUST 12TH

We need your help and support in yet another election between the DeHoyos group and myself on August 12.

I have always represented all the people of my precinct and Crockett County to the best of my ability. My opponent and his outside groups have cost Crockett County and individuals approximately $50,000 in the last two years. I do not know what they propose to do to help any citizen of this county.

We deeply appreciate all the help and support financially and otherwise that we have received. This strong support is needed and will be appreciated in the coming election.

Vote for 10 yrs. experience and a person who represents ALL the people in the county, not just a certain group.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

The refreshing June showers of the last few weeks always pep up our city folk as well as the ranchers. What a difference fine rains can make in the appearance of the countryside and in such a short time!

Oleanders are beginning to bloom this month and produce beautiful clusters of flowers both double and single. They are in a color range from white to shades of yellow, pink, salmon or red. Some are fragrant. The compact foliage makes a fine shrub for specimen planting. The ability of oleanders to tolerate poor, dry soil conditions makes them a good choice for natural hedges and wind break as well. Growth habit is moderate to fast with most varieties reaching a height of 8 to 12 feet. A word of warning— all parts of the oleander are poisonous. Keep pruned twigs and leaves away from animal feed. Never use an oleander branch as a skewer. And do not use its wood for fires: the smoke can cause severe irritation.

You should hurry with those late plantings of gladiolas, cannas, dahlias, caladium and tuberoses.

The floribunda roses will beat the heat of summer, for they are adapted to hot weather. They continue to bloom profusely after the hybrid tea roses begin a dormant period in mid-summer. To conserve growth energy, always snip off flower clusters as soon as they fade. I cut them far enough back to keep the height I want. Water deeply every week or 10 days if no rain.

Petunias are prolific bloomers, but they need a little help to increase branching and flower production, if you plant single-stemmed plants with one or two flowers on the stems, pinch back the growing tip several inches to induce branches to develop. Pinching off faded flowers also helps keep petunias in robust condition, and encourages blooming. This will allow you to enjoy petunias colorful display all summer.

Ozonan To National Finals

Kay McMullan, National Southern Women's Director of the National Inter-Collegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) will be leaving for the College National Finals Rodeo in Bozeman, Montana this week, where she will attend two board meetings of directors and participate in several rodeo events.

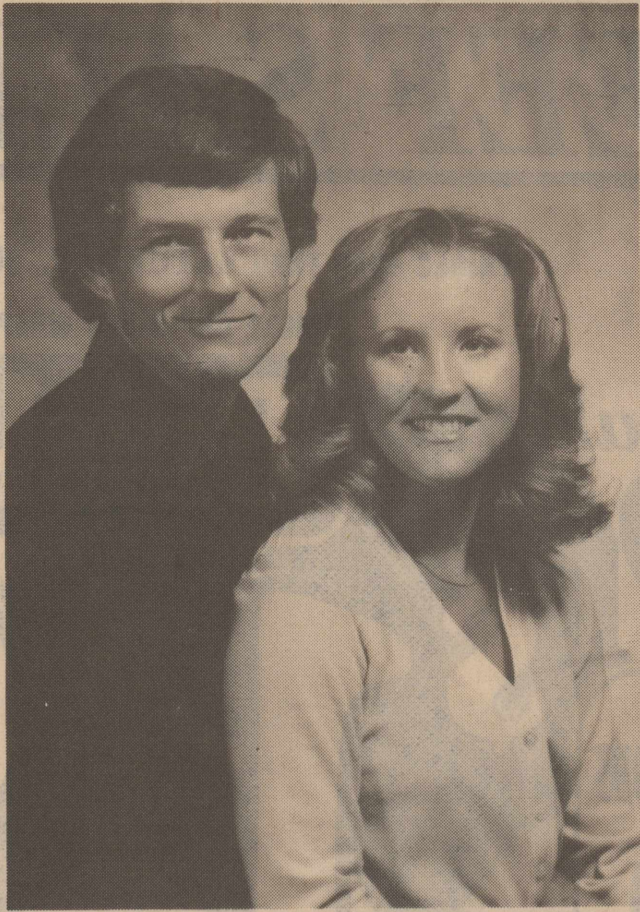

KAY McMULLAN

Although directors are automatically eligible to enter the rodeo, Ms. McMullan qualified in goat-tying at the Regional Finals for East Texas and West Louisiana. She will compete in break-away roping, goat-tying, steer roping, and running barrels at the National Finals, which will begin Monday and end the following Saturday.

A December graduate of Texas A&M University with a degree in Ag-Journalism, Ms. McMullan received an extra year beyond the normal four years rodeoing eligibility through her office as director.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pancho McMullan of Ozona, she has won numerous awards in rodeos.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Dr. and Mrs. K.L. McAlexander of Dallas announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carol Lee, to Mr. John Richard Hunnicutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt. The wedding will be held at Lakeside Baptist Church in Dallas, August 5. The bride-elect is a graduate of Mesquite High School and is a sophomore student at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Mr. Hunnicutt is a graduate of Ozona High School and is a junior at Tech.

4-H Horse Show Is Saturday

Some 45 members of the 4-H Club are expected to participate in this show. There is no entry fee; however the contestants must be notified Crockett County 4-H members and meet the requirements of the 4-H Horse Club to be eligible for the show. There will be three age groups—Senior, Junior and Pee Wee (under 9 years of age).

The classes will include halter, showmanship, western pleasure, reining, pole bending, barrel race, flag race, stake race, breakaway roping, hair pulling, tie down calf roping, goat tie down,

Bill Dudley Attends Science Fair

Bill Dudley, recent graduate of Ozona High School, was an International finalist at the 29th annual International Science and Engineering Fair in Anaheim, California this summer.

Dudley, accompanied by Ozona High science teacher, Frank Reavis, was one of 451 competitors from 47 states and several foreign countries in the contest held in the Orange County Convention Center.

"Photographing Hydrogen Alpha Emission Nebulae" was the title of Dudley's exhibit, which won him first place at the District 11 Regional Fair in San Angelo, and the all-expense paid trip to Anaheim, furnished by Angelo State University and several San Angelo businesses.

As a result of his achievements, the Ozonan was invited to participate as an honorary exhibitor at a science contest in Louisiana later this summer.

Dudley cited his trip to the Fair as "an honor. We heard several top speakers in the science field, and met several prominent physicists."

According to Dudley, 500 judges rigorously judged the 451 entries on content, general appearance and presentation.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

Okra, a popular garden crop, makes a delightful gourmet item—pickled okra. The first recipe is the longer fermented method and is the favorite of Ernestine Edmondson, Ellis County Extension agent.

The second recipe, a quick method, is the standby of Mrs. Lyndon Baines Johnson.

PICKLED OKRA
Wash okra, leaving small amounts of stem on the pods, and drain. Make brine:

1/2 cup plain salt
2 quarts water
1/2 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar

This amount covers one gallon of okra. Place in bottom of appropriate size jar, a layer of dill and two tablespoons mixed pickling spices. Add okra, then another layer of dill and a like amount of spices. If desired, add a few cloves of garlic. Pour brine to top of jar. Keep okra under brine at all times. A stem of dill or some grape leaves added for color will keep okra from floating. Fermentation will begin within three days. Remove the scum that forms on top daily. If possible, keep the pickles at even room temperature (70 to 86 degrees F. is best for brining). Fermentation is faster in hot weather (10 days to two weeks). When fermentation stops, pickles are ready to eat. Seal airtight in brining liquid for storing, or rinse pickles and pack into sterilized jars and cover with fresh brine if desired.

Commercial dill seeds do not give the flavor that fresh dill or dried dill heads with stems give. Note: Carrot strips, green beans, onions, green tomatoes, blackeyed peas and other vegetables may be pickled by same method.

PICKLED OKRA
Fresh okra
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon dill seeds
1 teaspoon dill seeds for each pint jar
1 hot red pepper
1 hot green pepper
2 cloves garlic

Place 1/2 teaspoon dill seeds in bottom of each sterilized jar. Wash okra and pack as tight as possible in jars being careful not to bruise. Bring vinegar, water and salt to a boil and pour this hot mixture over the okra. Seal the jars and allow to stand two weeks. Serve icy cold. Makes approximately four pints.

Processing
Process sealed jars of okra from either recipe for five minutes in boiling water bath while hot—immediately after putting in the jar. Processing destroys any bacteria, yeasts or molds which occur in the air and, therefore, can easily contaminate food in transfer from the kettle to the jar and cause spoilage.

LOVE NEEDS LIGHT

The afternoon sun was streaming through the altar window the day Ken and Carole spoke their vows. She looked even lovelier with the soft transfusion of light upon her face. But, had it been a cloudy day, there would have been no less promise in it for this couple.

Love needs light. But the light that love needs comes not from the heavens but from Heaven itself. It is the light of divine truth . . . of faith . . . of religious commitment.

That is exactly what our marriage vows mean to Christians. This is why we usually prefer to be married in church. Our promises are given not only to one another but to God. Our love looks up to Him who described himself as the Light of the world.

For Ken and Carole every Sunday in church renews the glow on their faces . . . and in their hearts.

I hear good journalists are supposed to be tough and somewhat unfeeling. I intend to be a good journalist, but I sometimes fail to fit those expected characteristics.

Intentions were for this column to be a real shocker—a spicy, alive production to make minds jump and blood boil. While I certainly try to stick with that and keep "Jan's Jolts" as jolty as possible, I cannot ignore that little emotional voice inside me this time. This time, I have to abandon the role of tough kid and say something emotional. So, please pardon me while I get mushy.

Father's Day is coming up Sunday, and I find myself getting silly again. I get this way on such occasions. I can expect it to happen New Year's, Valentine's Day, St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Mother's Day, Independence Day, Halloween...well, maybe not Halloween. But, anyway, you get the idea.

On those holidays, I begin to reminisce and dig deep into my innermost thoughts, and I usually end up off my guard and sentimental.

Take Father's Day, for instance, since that is the approaching holiday. When Father's Day comes around, I start thinking about all the neat stuff my dad has done for me since I popped up one day in 1959. That is a long stretch of unselfishness, even for a father. It's a long time to love somebody who isn't always so lovable. There are so many things to remember...

But, snapping back to the world as seen with a level head, I think Dads get embarrassed when their kids start glorifying them in public, especially right in the newspaper where all their friends can read it. I think they probably hear about it at work. So, I'm going to stifle myself to save face.

I'll tell you, though, you can ask me anytime what he's done for me. Ask what my mom has done for me, too. I'll tell you anytime.

The truth is, I guess I stay pretty mushy most of the time.

Uvalde Man Injured In Accident

Crockett County was the scene of only one automobile accident during the last week, which left a Uvalde man with minor injuries, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Steven Martin McGregor, 31, was traveling westbound on Interstate 10, 13 miles east of Ozona when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and ran off the road into the rear of a parked vehicle.

McGregor was taken to Crockett County Hospital where he was treated for cuts to the face and left arm, then released.

Shari Schreffler of Wills Point, is spending the summer here visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Coates.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cranfill of Clifton, formerly of Ozona, were here last week visiting friends.

Plan now to fight summer's heat. Shade windows with roof overhang, awnings and plantings.

KTVT SHOWS RED CROSS FILM TO OZONANS

Ozona residents will have an opportunity to view a film that could possibly save their lives Sunday, June 18, 8:00-8:30 p.m. on KTVT-TV Channel 11.

The film, produced in cooperation with the American Red Cross is offered as a promotion of home safety by the Gallery of Homes, Inc.

Titled "One Person Too Late", the television special covers five home emergencies, including choking, drug overdose, falls, fires and heart attack.

Goat News

The recent predator management hearing in San Angelo should have convinced federal officials beyond a shadow of a doubt that those who actually deal with predators are strongly in favor of predator control. Of roughly three dozen speakers, only two represented the anti-control faction.

Testimony in favor of stronger control efforts almost invariably included demands for the re-certification of compound 1080 and without exception condemned the U.S. Interior Department's drift away from predator control and toward predator protection.

Examples of the testimony, both oral and written, include:

A mailgram from Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe to Interior secretary Cecil Andrus, calling for immediate experimental use of 1080 on public lands and efforts toward future registration of the compound on private land.

Briscoe also requested that Interior funding be increased to the amount needed to once again place the Department of Interior in the position of carrying out the mandate of the Predator Control Act of 1931.

He had earlier written letters to President Carter recommending 1080's reregistration, explaining that "specialists who have worked on the problem are convinced that 1080 may be used in a controlled manner against coyotes without endangering other species or humans and with little or no adverse environmental impact." Briscoe added that President Ford's M-44-based amendment of the executive order that led to the 1080 ban was evidence enough that Mr. Carter could legally free the compound if he actually wanted to.

Texas state representative Jim Nugent called Interior's de-emphasis of predator control "extremely alarming." Nugent reminded Interior officials that their agency is compelled by law to control predators—"so why don't they get the job done?" He recommended that Interior officials "carry out their responsibilities in accordance with the law," and suggested that 1080 might be the most efficient and effective means of doing so.

State representative Tom Massey advised hearing officials that cattle as well as sheep fall to predators, calling coyotes a "very serious problem" in the cow country of Texas' South Plains. Massey also likened predator losses to thefts in retail business; ranchers as well as retailers, he stated, "cannot tolerate any losses."

Kimble County Judge Wilbur R. Dunk submitted written testimony detailing confirmed coyote kills on 167 sheep and goats belonging to 12 Kimble County producers during a little over four months this year. This in a county that Judge Dunk describes as being coyote-free only ten years ago. As a result, he wrote, "we desperately need some additional tools to work with."

He is not alone in his sentiments.

Don't use utility rooms or storage closets for "junk rooms."

There is danger of fire from spontaneous combustion in a place where paper, old clothing and oily rags are stored.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Billy Rex Fenton announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karla, to Billy Tom Turland, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Turland. The wedding is planned for June 30, at First Baptist Church. Karla is a 1976 graduate of Ozona High School and is employed at Carlisle Clinic. Her fiancé, a graduate of Ozona High School, attended Angelo State and is presently employed with Jay Miller Construction Co.

New Requirements For S.S. Applicants

Everyone who applies for a social security number, regardless of their age or place of birth, must now submit documentary evidence of their age, identity, and citizenship or alien status, Franklin Upp, social security manager in San Angelo, said today.

In addition, people 18 or over who are applying for a number for the first time must apply in person. People applying for a duplicate card are now required to submit evidence of identity. The best evidence of age and citizenship is a birth certificate recorded shortly after birth, and this is preferred, Mr. Upp said. Evidence of identity should include material showing the person's picture, signature, date of birth or age, or other identifying information.

People not born in the United States should provide evidence of their U.S. citizenship or their immigration documents showing they are lawfully admitted to the U.S.

Mr. Upp said that although these new procedures make it more difficult to get a social security number, they are intended to help protect the person's social security record and to prevent anyone else from misusing the person's social security number.

People intending to apply for a social security number should allow plenty of time before it will be delivered. Three to four weeks are needed before the card will be delivered, after all required documents have been submitted.

All documents submitted as evidence may be verified with the agency which issued them to assure they are valid, Mr. Upp said.

A free leaflet, "Applying For A Social Security Number," lists the various kinds of evidence which can be used. Copies can be obtained at the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608. Residents of Ballinger, Big Lake, Brady, Junction, Mason, Ozona, Sonora, and Winters may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise 2058".

The transition between being a teenager and becoming a mature adult can be very painful. The best methods of change is when the individual has careful guidance in becoming an independent and responsible human being.

SUMMERTIME IN DOWNTOWN OZONA-This is the sight which greets tourists and locals almost every day during the summer months at Ozona's beautiful downtown park. Fruit and vegetable trucks, campers and vans are a never ending nuisance. They invariably park right in the middle and front of the parking area although other places are available on other sides of the park.

Screwworms Debut In Texas

Screwworms made their first 1978 appearance in five Texas counties during June's first week, reports Dr. M.E. (Cotton) Meadows, Jr.

It is operated by USDA by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. On June 1 larvae Cecil Welch took from a wire cut in a horse became Howard County's first known 1978 case. The horse is owned by Robert O'Daniel of Coahoma.

The first cases from Bee and Midland counties (Texas) were identified June 2. The Bee County case was collected at McNeill Veterinary Hospital from a bovine by Scott McNeill, Jr. E.B. Cumbie of Midland took that county's first 1978 sample from an infested calf navel. Glasscock, Irion, and Tom Green counties all recorded their first 1978 cases June 5. All three Glasscock County samples came from sheep in the Garden City area. V.L. McWhorter took larvae from a shearing wound 13 miles south of town; ten miles northeast of town March Schafer found them in a docking wound; and a little more than three miles west of town Theora Calverly of Calverly and Hesterly treated a case in a docking wound and another in an udder. R.W. Wales of Canning and Wales found screwworms in the head of a sheep 27 miles northeast of Merton to record Irion County's first official case.

Tom Green County's first 1978 screwworm case was treated by Dr. Percy R. Turner, DVM, of Water Valley. The worms were in a cancer eye of a bovine four miles southwest of Carlsbad. Additional cases were detected in Stonewall, Culberson, and Live Oak Counties during the week.

In Live Oak County E.A. Hines and owners J.C. & Stroman Harris submitted five screwworm samples from cattle; O.J. Tindol took worms from two infested calf navels; and L.R. Johnson of George West found an infested calf navel three miles west of Cadiz.

In Mitchell County Jimmy Rees of Colorado City took screwworms from a wire cut on a horse; while W.T. Stonewall of Aspermont, Stonewall County, found infested castration wounds in two calves.

In Culberson County Rodel Box, foreman of the Delaware River Corp. Ranch, Carlsbad, N.M., recorded a sample taken from brands in four cattle on the Texas side of the state line. W.T. Posey of Van Horn took worms from the vulva of a cow 50 miles north of town.

Vandals Attack Post Office

Vandals committed a federal offense last Tuesday night, when they this time took their toll at the Post Office building at 1106 Avenue F, leading to evening closing of the usually always-open front doors there.

According to Post Office officials Charles Schneider and Floyd Hokit, vandals entered the lobby section of the building sometime during the night or early morning hours Wednesday of last week, and, without causing any further damage, smeared and splattered the walls, floors, ceilings, and boxes with human excrement.

Unconfirmed reports the following day indicated the deed had been done between 9:00 and 9:45 p.m. Schneider said the post office will be closed each night after dark by local law officers making rounds. He added that no special time has been allotted for the doors to be locked, but 11 p.m. will be the latest possible time for the public to enter the lobby.

The hospital report was approved as read and the board was commended for doing a good job.

County Auditor Dick Kirby reported on the proposed new fire department. He said the building committee had contacted the people who are doing the construction on the schools here, and the fee would be 6% of the total cost of the facility. The committee also asked that the cost be kept below $200,000. He said the committee approved of the location at Ave. J and 14th St.

Judge Jones appointed Jack Williams to oversee the project and meet with the architect in order that the court could get an estimate and be in touch with a bonding company. The consensus of the court was there would be no problem in getting the issue passed by Crockett County voters to vote bonds for a new fire department.

The fairgrounds was approved for a carnival location which will be sponsored by the fire department. Other measures approved were $500 for the Little League, a radio for the Justice of the Peace's car, and a new radio for the airport.

Kirby said he needed to know about expenses for the coming year in order to put a budget together and needs some figures by June 23. He said he expected a substantial increase in county taxes and would know more about it after the board meets. He asked the court if they did not want to increase salaries of county employees and elected officials again this year by 10%. After some discussion, the court told Kirby they would have to wait until they knew how much tax monies would be increased before they could commit themselves to such a large raise. One commissioner estimated the action would cost $15,000. Salaries were increased last year by 10%.

The court returned following lunch and reviewed tax renditions. They will meet as a Board of Equalization June 23, and representatives of Pritchard and Abbott Tax Firm will also be present.

Translator Application

KRCT, the only radio station licensed to operate in an unincorporated town in the nation, filed an application May 1 to become the first FM translator station in Texas, according to Rick Whitworth, owner.

Located at 605 12th Street in Ozona, KRCT will be the "mother-station" to unattended stations in Eldorado, Sonora, Big Lake and Iraan, all of which will have local signals to re-broadcast from KRCT.

A new member has been added to the KRCT staff as sales manager for the translator stations as well as the one in Ozona. Jim McWilliams, originally from San Angelo, will be joining the staff June 20.
